Herrera's 'corny' dream is better than fiction

DALLAS (AP) — Efran Herrera had this dream Saturday night, but it was just a little too corny to believe. "I dreamed I would win with a 50-yard kick," said the sidwinding Dallas Cowboy placekicker from Guadalajara, Mexico, a former UCLA star. Herrera told a few teammates of his premonition before Sunday's National Football League battle of the unbeaten against Baltimore and they laughed it off. AS A fiction writer would have it, Herrera kicked a pressure 32-yard field goal with three seconds left to play to defeat Baltimore 30-27. Herrera, who had to beat out Toni Fritsch to win a place on the Dallas roster during the preseason, was almost matter-of-fact after the game. "Drew (Pearson) made it easy with that catch on the Baltimore 14," said Herrera. "I thought I had a good shot at 50 yards, if I had to kick it that far.

Dallas pulled some razzle-dazzle out of its bag after Roosevelt Leaks had charged three-yards to give Baltimore (2-1) a 7-0 first period lead. Pearson took a handoff from Doug Dennison and whipped a 39-yard touchdown pass to Golden Richards on the double reverse. The enraged Colts took a 14-7 halftime lead when Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones caught the Cowboy secondary napping and sneaked six yards for a touchdown. HERRERA KICKED a 37-yard field goal to cut the count to 14-10 but Linhart countered with a 30-yarder. Dallas tied it 17-all when Staubach found Richards on a 31-yard scoring strike and Herrera's 18-yard chip shot put Dallas ahead 20-17 midway of the fourth period. That just set the stage for the fireworks ahead. Don McCauley high jumped two yards for a touchdown but Staubach struck back on a 38-yard scoring loft to tight end Billy Joe Dupree with less than four minutes remaining to put Dallas ahead 27-24. Then Linhart did his thing which put Staubach, Pearson and Herrera front and center. "I THOUGHT anything could happen but I never thought we would lose," said Cowboy cornerback Mel Renfro. "The Colts were tougher than I expected. I guess I underestimated them." Landry said "The odds on us moving for a field goal in the final 30 seconds wasn't too good. Roger just had a perfect day. He's super." Colt Coach Ted Marchibroda said "It was a good game for the fans, there's no doubt about that. It was a tough game to lose but we had our chances. Dallas had their chances and won. "Staubach couldn't have thrown any better." Perhaps Leaks summed up the day: "Dallas has a great team, particularly when times get tough. We're just going to have to get tougher ourselves."

John Madden never told Rae that he would start

HOUSTON (AP) — Oakland Coach John Madden, never got around to telling rookie quarterback Mike Rae he would start Sunday's National Football League game against Houston. Somehow Rae, getting his first NFL start, figured it out. He flipped touchdown passes of nine and 33 yards to Houstonian Cliff Branch to lead the Raiders to a 14-13 victory, with an ample assist by the Raider defense. "I'M STILL waiting to be told," Rae joked. "But even though no one told me, I figured I would start."

With starting quarterback Ken Stabler injured and Raider defense playing with rookie Charles Phillyaw and much-traveled John Matuszak in the defensive line, the Raiders stitched together their third straight victory. For Rae, who hit 13 of 22 passes for 170 yards and out performed Houston's Dan Pastorini, it was a long-awaited chance in the NFL spotlight after three years in the Canadian Football League. "I CALLED most of the play," said Rae, a former Southern Cal quarterback. "It's really a big thrill. It's been a long road for me. But under the circumstances, I feel I may have reached the turning point."

The turning point for Oakland came in the second quarter when Rae hit his first NFL touchdown pass, a nine-yarder to Branch, who leaped high in the end zone over safety C. L. Whittington to put the Raiders ahead 7-6. The Oilers held a brief 6-0 lead after the first quarter on field goals of 22 and 40 yards by Skip Butler. Then in the fourth quarter Branch got a step on Oiler safety Mike Weger in the corner of the end zone and hauled in Rae's 33-yard bomb for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Houston, which dropped to a 2-1 record, came within one point at 7:26 when Pastorini hit tight end Mack Alston with a four-yard touchdown pass.

Javelinas tie state record

By The Associated Press The Texas A&I Javelinas, small college football's defending national champions, rolled over Abilene Christian 38-10 Saturday night in a Lone Star Conference opener...this is a recording, this is a recording, this is a recording. When Texas A&I plays you could just about replay some old broadcasts of its games from the previous three years. The Javelinas tied the state collegiate record of 30 consecutive victories set by Texas from 1968-70 with its rout of ACC Saturday night. A&I also broke the LSC record for consecutive wins which was held by East Texas at 29. Sam Houston, Angelo State and Stephen F. Austin joined A&I in opening LSC victories. Sam Houston thumped East Texas State 22-17, Angelo State survived Southwest Texas 14-12 and S. F. Austin nipped Howard Payne 10-3. Texas A&I goes over the state all-time victory streak record Saturday night in Nacogdoches against Stephen F. Austin. In other games, Southwest Texas is at Abilene Christian, Howard Payne is at East Texas, and Angelo is at Eastern New Mexico. "I'm going to take all the blame for that," Phillips said. "It was my fault I made the wrong decision. When we were inside the one and inside the five they just beat us." Phillyaw and Matuszak, obtained two weeks ago on waivers from Washington, were superb in relief for the Raider defense. Phillyaw batted down three Pastorini passes, had two sacks and teamed with Rowe for a third. MATUSZAK, WHO was Houston's first round draft choice in 1973, had five tackles and three assists, including stopping Pastorini on the Oilers' fourth down TD try in the fourth quarter. "Playing Kansas City last week and Houston this week has been an extraordinary thrill," said Matuszak, who was traded by Houston to Kansas City, which waived him. Branch, a native of Houston, said he fed his second touchdown play to Rae. "I told Mike I could beat the guy covering me," Branch said. "We called the sideline play and he threw a beautiful pass."

Rankin adds to earnings

CALABASAS, Calif. (AP) — If money's the yardstick for professional sports, then women's golf in the United States has come of age, and Donna Caponi Young has one word for it: "Dynamite." Mrs. Young pocketed a sizeable chunk of the Ladies' Professional Golf Association's 1976 prize money Sunday, taking home $35,000 for winning the $205,000 Carlton, the richest tournament in women's golfing history. She'd won $6,000 the weekend before for her triumph in the Portland Classic, and her earnings this year are nearly $80,000. As the winner of the Carlton, she'll receive some additional prize money in a couple of weeks since a percentage of the gate—estimated at around $5,000—will be determined and added to her $35,000 prize. Judy Rankin, who earlier this year became the first woman golfer to win more than $100,000 in a year, picked up $19,300 for a share of second to run her 1976 bankroll to nearly $140,000. Sharing second with Mrs. Rankin at 287 was Jane Bialock, who battled back from an opening round 77 to fire a 69 the final day. Pat Bradley and Kathy Martin picked up $9,750 each for finishing fourth, six strokes off the lead at 288. Mrs. Young said before the tournament started that she didn't play Calabasas "seriously," so she didn't think she had a home course advantage. But she smiled Sunday when asked if she'd had anything to do with the Carlton being played at Calabasas.

Darkness slows Cup play

ROME (AP) — John Newcombe of Australia sought revived prestige for himself and his team here Monday as he faced Italian idol Adriano Panatta in the decisive match for the semifinal of the Davis Cup tennis tournament. The 32-year-old Australian and Panatta, 26, were squared off at a set each—7-5 for Newcombe and 8-6 for the Italian—and two games apiece when their match was called for darkness Sunday at the Foro Italico Sports Center. Earlier, Kohn Alexander had tied the score for Australia beating Corrado Barazzutti 6-2, 6-2, 5-7, 4-6, 6-2 in a marathon 3½-hour match. The match between Newcombe and Panatta featured fine play by both players before a crowd of 8,000 that backed Panatta, but also gave the Australian his share of approval when he scored. Both sides expressed satisfaction over the interruption, and vowed to win the match—and the semifinal—because of it. The two players had served beautifully, scored a number of aces, and placed their first service shot with speed, power and accuracy most of the time. The two sets and a fraction lasted nearly 2½ hours, but there were no signs of the crowd getting tired or bored, as had happened in the earlier match. Newcombe returned Panatta's service more steadily in the first set. Panatta pulled himself together and replied more effectively to win the second set. There were four service breaks. The decisive breaks were in the 12th game of the first set, which gave Newcombe a 7-5 win, and in the 13th of the second, which gave Panatta a 7-6 lead. "I was a bit nervous when the match started, feeling the pressure after Barazzutti lost to Alexander, but then I cooled off," Panatta said. "I was lucky it happened soon because Newcombe was playing tremendously well, and I needed all my concentration and drive to keep up with his service. "I was playing well too, but I just couldn't get to beat him. It was an amazing change from his performance in the singles and doubles so far. "I was lucky he wasn't feeling well; had he been in perfect condition what would he have done?" Newcombe had been suffering from a sore shoulder and arm, and there were reports he had tonsillitis.

"How is lignite coal helping my electric bill?"

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

By using lignite coal to generate electricity, Texas Electric will be saving its customers $44 million in 1976.

We've turned to lignite because natural gas, our main fuel, is running out. New supplies of gas just aren't available in the huge quantities we need. Those supplies that are available have soared in cost.

In 1976 the lignite and the plants that use it will cost less than new natural gas alone. Here's how:

- $86 million
- 42 million
- $44 million

The additional natural gas we would need in 1976 if we weren't using lignite.

The cost of lignite and the one-year cost for plants to use it in 1976.

Money our customers won't have to pay in 1976 because we're using lignite coal.

These savings will continue in the years ahead. In fact, they will increase as we add more lignite power plants and our nuclear plant.

This doesn't mean rates will go down. But we will be able to keep increases in your electric bills as low as possible.

Firms fear policy costing U.S. Vietnam market

By JACQUES LESLIE
The Los Angeles Times

HONG KONG — American companies here, impatient to do business with Communist Vietnam, fear they are losing the market to Japanese and European entrepreneurs while Washington and Hanoi continue their antagonism.

"I would assume we are going to find a very cold climate for some time to come," said Stanley Young, executive director of the American Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong, after President Ford ordered a veto of Vietnam's membership application to the United Nations.

The American chamber already had formed a Vietnam Commercial Relations Committee, and was surprised that 45 representatives of firms here attended the committee's first meeting.

But, Young said, the committee is "stymied" because of the trade embargo that the United States imposed on Vietnam following the Communist victory over the Saigon government last year.

The April, 1975, fall of Saigon did not halt private U.S. trade efforts, however.

Last November the Asia-Pacific Council of American Chambers of Commerce, which represents American chambers in 16 nations and territories, passed a resolution calling for the establishment of commercial relations with Vietnam.

In addition, the Bank of America branch here recently began publishing an Indochina newsletter similar to one it has put out on China for several years. Despite the barrier to American business in Vietnam, the circulation of the Indochina newsletter has increased twice as fast as the China newsletter did initially, a bank official said.

As it now stands, however, not only is U.S. trade with Vietnam illegal, but Americans face formidable obstacles in visiting Vietnam. They must get a waiver from the U.S. State Department if their passport is to be used during the trip, and they face prosecution by the U.S. Treasury Department for "trading with the enemy" if they spend money there.

Little hope for immediate modification of the U.S. stance was seen here, especially in view of Ford's instructions to U.N. Ambassador William W. Scranton to veto Vietnam's application to the world body, and the later postponement of the membership vote until November.

American businessmen's enthusiasm for Vietnam is based on several factors. Chief among them is the common belief that while Vietnam's government is Communist, it is far more flexible and alert to the needs of Western firms than is China, whose U.S. trade has grown only slowly since it began in 1971.

"Vietnam will go much faster than China in opening to Western trade," predicted a businessman who is familiar with Communist economies. "Vietnam won't be under the same restraints that China was in its first 15 or 20 years under Communist rule."

Businessmen also are attracted by the prodigious assets left behind by the U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Factories seized included three large textile mills, pharmaceutical plants, two large paper and cellulose mills, several refrigeration plants, and one large cement plant. The Americans also left consumer goods ranging from IBM computers to televisions, refrigerators and air conditioners.

Sales of aerosols drop sharply despite vague report on danger

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Scientists say more time is needed to determine the degree of danger posed by fluorocarbons in aerosols, but some consumers, legislators and manufacturers already have decided they'd rather switch than study.

Production of fluorocarbons has decreased. Sales of aerosols are down — partly because of the controversy and partly because of the recession. Two states have passed laws regulating fluorocarbons in spray cans. And a government official has recommended that consumers stop using aerosols and switch to spray pumps or rollons instead.

A long-awaited report by the National Academy of Sciences was released earlier this month. The group concluded that "selective regulation of fluorocarbon uses and releases is almost certain to be necessary at some time..." It also said, however, that "neither the needed time nor the needed severity can be reasonably specified today."

The academy recommended further study — for a maximum of two years — before regulatory action is taken. Meanwhile, it said, aerosols that do contain fluorocarbons as propellants should be clearly labeled as such so that consumers can decide whether to use the items.

Over half of the fluorocarbons produced in the United States are used as propellants, primarily in personal grooming products such as deodorant and hair spray. The arguments have centered on these fluorocarbons — rather than the ones used as refrigerants and in manufacturing — because they are the ones that are released into the atmosphere immediately.

Scientists have said that fluorocarbons weaken the layer of ozone that surrounds the earth and is a primary shield against ultraviolet radiation which causes skin cancer.

The question still to be answered is how severely and how rapidly the ozone is being depleted.

The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association said 1975 sales of aerosols were about 10 to 15 per cent lower than a year earlier.

although Gus Fromuth, associate director of the group, said part of the drop was due to the recession. "People were not buying discretionary products," he said.

Some manufacturers of grooming products have been pushing other finger-driven pump sprays and rollons as cheaper, nonaerosol alternatives. The market research firm of Towne-Oller said a study showed that nonaerosols had a 23.5 per cent share of the women's hair spray market in dollar terms in the last quarter of 1975, up from only 4 per cent in 1973.

Bills on fluorocarbons have been introduced in about a dozen states, but only two states have acted — Oregon, which will ban fluorocarbons as aerosol propellants effective March 1, and New York, which is requiring labeling, starting next year, to the effect that fluorocarbons in spray cans may be harmful to the environment.

Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., has introduced legislation in Congress requiring a similar warning label, but there is no time for action on the measure this year.

Defense opens in Hicks drug trial

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys for Joe Dee Hicks and two others charged with being a part of an international narcotics ring were to open their defense in a federal court here today. Hicks, his wife, Janet, and Charles Lidge Bolts are charged with conspiracy to import and distribute heroin and cocaine.

Progressive country music star Willie Nelson is among those subpoenaed to testify for the defense. Witnesses testified last week that Hicks hired men to travel to Vietnam and South America to buy drugs for sale in the United States. Another country music star, Ray Price, testified Friday that he refused a request to launder money through his ranch operation for Hicks.

Price and his 17-year-old son Clifton were called as government witnesses.

The singer testified Hicks asked him to take money, make it appear that it came from Price's sale of horses in Mexico, pay taxes on it and return the balance to Hicks.

"I took it to mean to wash some money," Price said. Price added, "I told him I just couldn't do it because all my recording procedures are accounted for." The elder Price said he met Hicks, a used car dealer, about five years ago while purchasing some vehicles from him.

Price also testified that he refused to loan Hicks $10,000, even though Hicks promised to repay 25,000 within three to six months.

Clifton Price testified Friday that government prosecutors told him he and his father might be indicted. However, Asst. U.S. Atty. Jay Ethington later told newsmen that he never told young Price "that he or his father would be indicted."

Ethington said Price was subpoenaed to testify before a federal grand jury last summer because prosecutors knew the singer was "an acquaintance" of Hicks.

grant from the federal Community Services Administration to the Zavala Economic Development Corp., headed by Guterrez.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has said the project would result in a "little Cuba" that was both "un-Texas and un-American."

Guterrez said over the weekend that Briscoe opposes the federal grant because the farm's operation would compete with the governor's large land holdings in South Texas.

Guterrez, 31, is the founder of La Raza Unida political party that controls Zavala County.

"Hill wants to be governor, and it looks like Briscoe is helping him out... attempting to tear La Raza Unida up," Guterrez said.

Hill's suit contends the grant illegally bypassed the state government's review and approval process in violation of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968.

Guterrez said the project's money is already being spent.

The money will be used to employ 800 persons on a farming cooperative and in savings and loan and export businesses, Guterrez said.

Four hurt when tent collapses

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Four persons suffered minor injuries Sunday night when two big show tents collapsed at the El Paso County Fair during a windblown rain storm. Several witnesses told of sighting a tornado funnel just before the canvas tops caved in, and one said the Ferris wheel tilted briefly.

One tent was sheltering livestock on exhibit at the fair, which was completing its last day, and the other housed displays by El Paso merchants. The site is adjacent to the municipal airport.

Peace officers and firemen extricated the injured, who were among about 150 persons in the tents at the time.

Suit charges 'Little Cuba'

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — A South Texas communal farm, described by Mexican-American activist Jose Angel Guterrez "as American as apple pie," has become the target of a suit by Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Hill filed suit last week to rescind a $1.5 million

Evangelists' support for Carter wavering

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — In June the Rev. Bailey Smith couldn't help proselytizing for Jimmy Carter as he gave the keynote address to 15,000 Southern Baptist leaders at their annual convention.

Carter insisted on kneeling and praying before they went before the Oklahoma Baptist audience. "I, the preacher, just stood there, but Carter, the politician, got down on his knees and just prayed heaven down. He prayed for me: 'Dear God, bless this person as he preaches, fill this person with your presence.' He prayed that people be converted. He said, 'Help me to say what you want me to say.'" tional Religious Broadcasters, Mr. Ford said his Christian commitment "has a tremendous subjective impact" on decisions he makes. The President said he reads the Bible daily for inspiration, doesn't hesitate to pray in the Oval Office, tries to follow "the teachings of Jesus" and feels it is his duty to "set an example" to the country to live a life morally beyond reproach.

"I have a deep concern about the rising tide of secularism," Mr. Ford said. "There is an apparent increase of irreverence for life. I do not believe in abortion on demand. I think the Supreme Court went too far in its 1973 decision, which invalidated the rights of the states to make their decisions on abortion."

There are three main reasons evangelicals have cooled to Carter since the primaries.

First, as issues have been increasingly discussed, they perceive him to be too liberal — not only politically but theologically.

Second, they, more than any other segment perhaps, are troubled by the "morality" involved in the Playboy interview.

Third, they think there was a complacency on Carter's part, that he felt he had their vote locked up. They felt ignored as Carter wooed the Catholics and the Jews.

Many evangelicals now see Carter as "big spender" on social programs and not strong enough on defense to suit their anticommunism.

They worry that he would legalize marijuana, and they've read an interview in which he said he would not object to the idea of having an ambassador to the Vatican.

Today Mr. Smith — who last winter brought Carter to speak to his 10,000-member First Southern Baptist Church of Del City, Okla., the largest church in Oklahoma — isn't even sure he's going to vote for Carter. Smith is not unique among America's evangelicals — those roughly 50 million Baptists, Methodists and followers of a variety of smaller Protestant denominations who have suddenly been "discovered" and examined by politicians, pollsters and the press as a potential political force in this year's presidential election.

Pollster George Gallup calls this, politically, "The Year of the Evangelical."

In interviews with evangelicals across the country over a two-month period a shift was noticeable. Many who once spoke euphorically of supporting Carter and "spreading the word" about him, principally because he was a "man of God," are now cautious and confused. Some are disillusioned and have turned to Episcopalians Gerald Ford.

While there is no such thing as a solid evangelical bloc — John Birchers and far left anti-war protesters have been evangelicals — most tend to be conservative and have voted Republican in the last two presidential elections.

Never before, however, has a major presidential candidate called himself a "born again" Christian — a phrase that tells all evangelicals he has had a personal religious experience, a personal relationship with God.

Many evangelicals like Mr. Smith were drawn to Carter primarily if not solely by Carter's professions of piety. Over and over, when interviewed, they spoke of their pride in a presidential candidate who would speak so openly of his Christian faith. "There was great pride to think that 'one of us' might be in the White House," one minister said.

"I felt he would die for his faith," said Mr. Smith, who recalled how

Twisters smash Indiana

By The Associated Press Four tornado-battered Indiana counties tried to sort out the debris today following a rash of twisters that left one person dead and at least 24 injured. The National Weather Service said at least three tornadoes, spawned by thunderstorms moving ahead of a cold front, churned through Jackson, Bartholomew, Decatur and Jefferson counties late Sunday. Seymour, in Jackson County, was the hardest hit, with damage estimated at $1 million by county Civil Defense director Lyman Goben. A twister slammed into the Sky Haven trailer park on Seymour's west side. Lavina Arnold, 52, a resident of the trailer park, suffered fatal injuries. The twister destroyed five mobile homes and damaged five others, authorities said. A tornado also struck near Westport, Ind. Extensive property damage was reported. Twisters touched down near Columbus, Ind., resulting in considerable damage but no injuries. Earlier in the afternoon, a tornado struck near Alvin, Tex.
