Hua rise to power comfirmed in China

TOKYO (AP) - A Chinese government spokesman announced that Premier Hua Kuofeng has been appointed to succeed the late Mao Tse-tung as chairman of the Chinese Communist party, Japan's Kyodo news service reported today from Peking. The announcement followed reports that Mao's widow and three other Politburo officials were under arrest.

Wall posters appeared in Peking last week reporting the succession of the 57-year-old Hua, but there had been no official announcement. The spokesman said it had been delayed to allow the entire Communist party organization to be informed in advance, Kyodo said.

There still was no confirmation of unofficial reports from Peking that Mao's widow, Chiang Ching, and three other high ranking officials associated with the party's radical wing had been arrested, accused of plotting a coup. These reports suggested that serious infighting was going on and that positions still might not have solidified since Mao died on

The official Hsinhua news agency had not reported Hua's appointment. In a communique on the establishment of diplomatic relations with Papua New Guinea, Hua signed as premier, Hsinhua said.

However, in a story Saturday, Hsinhua referred to the party Central Committee "headed by Comrade Hua Kuofeng.'

Hua, a big, friendly man relatively unknown to the outside world, first made his name in party circles as an agricultural specialist and local administrator during the 1950s. At some point, he came under the wing of Mao, who named his public security minister in 1971.

Last April he was named premier and first party vice-chairman, second only to Mao, after Teng Hsiao-ping was fired as vice premier and party vice chairman. Teng, who had been expected to succeed his mentor, Chou En-lai, as premier, instead became the target of a massive campaign of criticism, accused of trying to restore capitalism in China.

Chou's death Jan. 8 touched off a power struggle between the moderates led by Teng and party radicals led by Chiang Ching.

Foreign analysts saw Hua as a compromise candidate, and it seems unlikely that his elevation will settle the intraparty differences.

Negligence called cause of Mexican train wreck

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP) - Five Americans, all of them believed to be from New York City, were among the 17 persons killed and 63 injured in the collision of a two-car sightseeing train and a freight train in the mountains of northwest Mexico, officials report.

The government railway administration blamed the engineer and conductor of the passenger train for the wreck Sunday afternoon. The Chihuahua district attorney's office tentatively identified three dead Americans: Mary Jennier Loya, 30; Catherine Lloyd Baker, 28; and Mary Gertrude Mortellaro, 25.

It said two Americans were injured: Paul Joseph Callsen and Mary passengers - most of them Mexican travel agents - were aboard the two self-powered, glass-domed railcars. They were en route to the Tarahumara Indian reservation and the Pacific coast via the scenic route from Chihuahua across the moun-

Accident kills Lee custodian

A 53-year-old Midland man was killed Monday night in a two-car collision on Fairgrounds Road. Charles Roger Byrd, 601 S. Webster St., a custodian at Lee High School, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace John Biggs. Byrd died from massive chest injuries received in the collision, Biggs said.

Police said Byrd's car and one driven by Charles L. Cone, Rt. 2, Midland, collided. Cone's car was heading south on Fairgrounds Road when the accident occurred at 8:22 p.m., police said.

Cone was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital where he is in satisfactory condition with cuts and bruises, a hospital spokesman said this morning.

CBs useful for much besides just speeding

After I wrote Sunday's column or citizens band radio, but before it appeared in print, I had a pleasant surprise in the form of an invitation to dinner at La Bodega with what turned out to be half a dozen CB nuts.

I was the surprise in the birthday cake for "Lady Tail Feathers," the mate of "Tail Gunner," and the other guests were "Lady Bea Keeper," "Lady Doodlebug" and "Captain Firefly.

And the evening was as informative

as it was nice.

I had dipped briefly into Channel 19 have been a real drag without "ears." But "Tail Gunner" and his friends opened the new world of Channel 22. which is used for local com-

The only tax reform that interests MacBride is abolition of the income tax, something he views as a longrange goal of a MacBride administration. More immediately he would abolish the CIA and FBI and the Federal Reserve System. MacBride also advocates repeal of laws against what he calls victimless crimes such as gambling and smoking marijuana.

Daly supports legalizing gambling and prostitution. Another plank in the Daly platform would direct police to shoot on sight all dope peddlers.

Taxes also are a big part of Trent's campaign. He's for loopholes.

Before that, he was dean of international affairs at Florida International University and president of the National Urban Coalition.

The federation currently operates more than 700 clinics throughout the United States. Its objectives are to insure that people have available to them the knowledge and modern methods for voluntary fertility regulation and to bring about an orderly reduction in world population growth.

MCAA board of directors picks Mohler as temporary director

By SAM RENNICK

Jim Mohler, the executive director of Tom Green County Community Action Agency, was made temporary executive director of the Midland Community Action Agency (MCAA) by the agency's board of directors at a meeting Monday night at the Carver school building.
Coming with Mohler, who is expected to arrive around the end of the week, will be a bookkeeper, whom the board authorized to be the agency's temporary bookkeeper.

The contract specifies Mohler and the bookkeeper will each be paid per diem and mileage which were estimated to amount to roughly $300 per month for each individual. Margarito Perez of the Texas Department of Community Affairs (TDCA), Austin, said the two will make the trip from San Angelo to Midland twice a week.

Perez said Mohler must have authority to take executive action. He will supervise all staff, take responsibility for revising the bookkeeping system and restructure the operation of the program asnecessary in order to give the board a better idea of what is going on.

Mohler, Perez said, has eight years' experience.

Perez also said MCAA should advertise for a permanent executive director. He said this should be done for a period of four weeks, rather than the usual two, in order that the broadest possible cross section of candidates be obtained. He said Mohler and TDCA will help train the new

One aspect of the new bill extends the time an investor must hold a property before taking a tax benefit on profits from its sale. This change in capital gain provisions will retard investment because it is more difficult to predict what will happen within the longer period, he said.

Bayless said there will be some shifts in the kinds of tax shelters investors will be seeking as a result of the tax bill.

Another long-term factor in inflation will be oil prices. "You cannot repeal the law of supply and demand," he said. Increasing demand and declining supply of petroleum has a "double-barrel" effect on the price and will cause it to continue to rise until a satisfactory alternative energy source is found. Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter, at home today in Plains, Ga., denied rumors about his love life amid charges that they were spread by the Ford campaign. And Ford campaign spokesmen denied spreading the rumors.

Ford scheduled meetings today with representatives of groups representing Americans of Polish, Hungarian, Lithuanian, Latvian, Estonian, Czech, Slovak, Serbian and Ukranian descent.

Ford will attempt to make up for his remark during last week's debate with Carter when the President asserted, "There is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe."

That remark brought immediate outcries from leaders of various groups representing Americans of Eastern European descent. The next day, Ford began backing off the comment and later said he did not concede Soviet domination of Eastern European countries.

meeting with Ford today, Aloysius Mazewski, head of the Polish American Congress, got a call last week from Ford, who reportedly apologized for the statement.

A White House aide said Ford called the meeting in hopes he can "put the Eastern European matter behind him" before he departs for a campaign trip into New york and New Jersey.

At a Columbus Day ceremony Monday in Washington, Ford again tried to smooth over the debate remark by saying: "People of the Old World still look to the New World as the champion of freedom, the champion of human rights. America has been their hope and their help and we will never let them down."

Ford held a strategy session at the White House on Monday, and one of those attending was Sen. Bob Dole. his running mate. Dole, addressing the Eastern Europe issue, said Ford's debate statement has had no adverse effect other than a "ferocious outpouring of bitter words by Mr. Car-

A spokesman for Ford's campaign committee denied any role in spreading the rumors about Carter, but columnist Jack Anderson, who first reported the story, said the rumors were fed to him by four staff members of the President Ford Committee.

Anderson, who refused to name the four Ford sources, said he had found no truth to the rumors.

Anderson said on ABC's "Good Morning America" show that "Ford's campaign aides have been searching Jimmy Carter's past for a sex scandal." He said the Ford campaign sources supplied him with the name of a woman they suggested had once had an affair with Carter and that they later offered him the names of four other women.

William Greener, a spokesman for the Ford committee, replied: "Speaking for the top people of the committee, I absolutely deny that they had anything to do with the story, nor would they. If anyone around here were found doing such a thing, he would be fired on the spot."

But Anderson said later that three of the sources in the Ford headquarters work for Greener.

Gulf set the trend

Fifty years ago this coming Friday, Gulf Oil Co. established its West Texas headquarters offices in Midland, thus becoming the first major company to locate district offices here.

Gulf's move to Midland thus established a trend, which, in a few years, was to make of Midland the oil and gas headquarters city of the vast, booming Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

It is great that Gulf is going all out in celebrating a half-century of operations in Midland and the Permian Basin, but it is even more fitting for the Tall City of Midland to celebrate the observance, community-wide.

Guif came to Midland and stayed ... and during the intervening 50 years many other companies have come and remained, to make of Midland the great petroleum center which it is today.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., thoughtfully and wisely, has proclaimed "Gulf Week in Midland," beginning Friday. The official recognition certainly is well-merited, and it is hoped that all Midlanders will join in a snappy, sincere, citywide salute to Gulf Oil - a good corporate citizen of the community for 50

Gulf, in commemoration of the historic date, has scheduled a Friday night dinner session for company personnel and invited guests, to launch the observance of Gulf Week.

Gulf's move to Midland in 1926 certainly must have caused quite a stir in the then small. predominately ranch town of approximately 3,000 persons. A number of geologists and land men, representing various oil companies, had been in and out of Midland, with several stationed here, since the discovery of the Big Lake field in 1923, but Gulf was the first firm to locate an office here.

promptly made arrangements to build several houses for the newcomers — — the first residential construction which had been done here in eight or 10 years.

Gulf's move to Midland, according to Charles Vertrees' "History of the West Texas Geological Society," came about

"Two of the companies which in 1925 had established offices in San Angelo, decided to find locations closer to the center of the Permian Basin. Midland was one of those places and in the fall of 1926 Gulf Oil Company moved from San Angelo to Midland. In a few months Prairie Oil and Gas Company followed. By 1929, after the Hogan Building was completed and modern office space became plentiful, others came."

Midland had its beginning as an oil and gas center with the coming of Gulf Oil ... and the Tall City forever will be grateful to the Orange Disc firm. Gulf, way back there now, displayed faith in Midland's future, and that confidence yet holds as the company looks forward to another half-century in the Tall City.

Gulf also had confidence in the Permian Basin as a potentially great oil and gas producing region, and that confidence has paid off richly for Gulf. It is said that fully one-third of the company's total domestic production comes from its Midland District.

Through the years, Gulf has been a top corporate citizen, supporting community institutions and all phases of community life. Its employes also have been and are good citizens, assuming active roles in a wide variety of civic, cultural, youth welfare and religious activities. Many have served on official boards, as well as providing topquality leadership in various groups and organizations.

Midland and Midlanders, proud of their long association with Gulf, join in congratulating the firm on its 50th anniversary in Midland and in wishing for it and its personnel the very best of everything

ART BUCHWALD Poland is free but Reds don't know It

WASHINGTON - Probably the country most affected by last week's presidential debates was Poland. President Ford in his startling statement on Russian influence in Eastern Europe said, among other things, that Poland was not dominated by the Soviet Union and would remain free as long as he was President.

The Polish people received the news with joy, and a friend in Warsaw told me on the telephone it has changed their lives overnight.

As soon as I heard the news I called my friend Woljijowicz in Warsaw. (This is not his real name as I don't want to get him in trouble.) He told me, "This has been a great week for us. The day my brother-in-law Simcowitz heard the news we were free he drank half a bottle of Vodka and went out in the street and told a Russian soldier to get the hell out of the country.'

"That's wonderful," I said. "Let me speak with Simcowitz.' You can't. He was hauled off to jail for insulting a foreign tourist.' "That's too bad," I said. "It's the price you have to pay for being in a free country," Woljijowicz said. "My friend Bedicovicz wrote an editorial in the newspaper, Red Truth, pointing out that Simcowitz should not have been arrested because, according to Mr. Ford, Poland was an independent,

A CHANGING WORLD:

Old political methods no longer work

By JOHN PINKERMAN Copley News Service

The experts say that scientific studies show 54 per cent of eligible American voters will not go to the polls Nov. 2.

This, of course, is a disgrace. It is the first time such disinterest or disillusionment with the democratic process has exceeded 50 per cent since the Calvin Coolidge-John W. Davis race of 1924.

In 1924, the Teapot Dome scandal background had a lot to do with turning off the voters. In 1976, the disgust with things in government is a legacy Richard Nixon and most of the crowd that surrounded him.

This potential abandonment of citizen responsibility at the polls should tell us a few things.

One is that Nixon's transgressions, as disgraceful as they were, have left a far greater and more profound impact on this country than special prosecutors, courts or congressional inquiry committees ever imagined. They have turned off a majority of American people on government. They have, and there is a poll to prove told the voters, "Nobody in Washington cares about me. Nothing I say, or want, or do, means anything to those people back there."

Another thing it tells us is that neither are the American people as dumb as the politicians think. President Ford and Jimmy Carter should know this, but they don't.

Neither has been able to arouse much interest among the voters except with the professionals, the quasiprofessionals, ward heelers and other hangers-on in the most politically partisan circles.

The reason they don't turn on the voters is that the Nixon nightmare hasn't persuaded them or their computers or their advisers or their speech writers that the old political methods just won't work anymore; the Nixon style of campaigning is in low esteem with the people of America. The people want to be told the pure, unvarnished truth. They want it proved to their satisfaction that Mr. Ford is as clean and as forthright as he claims to be.

Or, that Carter is the fresh, new face — not the hop-skipping politician who skips and hops from conservative to liberal stances in accordance with the part of the country he happens to be campaigning in.

Carter's sickly smile of selfsought to link the President to Nixon's wrongs was an insult to the American people. Mr. Ford, in piously announcing a start toward peace and eventual black rule in Rhodesia, insulted our intelligence in refusing to say one word of praise for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. It was Kissinger, not Mr. Ford, who made this sensitive breakthrough possible. The President seems to think he has to please the Kissinger-haters who were a big part of Ronald Reagan's support in Reagan's futile pursuit of White House candidacy.

The President has treated Vice President Nelson Rockefeller just as shabbily in his quest of votes from Reagan people.

The American people, contrary to politicians' belief, notice these things and their disgust forms them into a different kind of "silent majority" a majority that shuns the political process like the plague.

Carter matches Mr. Ford, and probably tops him, in this type of political hypocrisy. He rants and raves about businessmen's "$50 martini lunches" and tells the lessaffluent man "you are paying for these excesses."

It is said that civic leaders

Amtrak passengers get off at a whistle-stop called Lany, 18 miles from Santa Fe, and are hauled to town. It's a wonder they don't use stagecoaches.

Most of Santa Fe is a tangle of winding streets, as crooked as any in old London, because they were built on Indian paths. Settled residents are leery of any proposals to tame this tangled web, so many streets are ruts or potholes, thus a source of pride.

A vigilant historical association and tough zoning laws have preserved ancient adobe buildings and other old structures in the center of town. No neon or billboards are allowed, and no structure can be more than four stories high. The downtown area, with la lovely plaza as a centerpiece, is

Even at the Tourist Division of the State Department of Development, which is supposed to bring bucks to Her Mexico, staffers complain about

Santa Fe's growth and express negative opinions about expanding the tourist trade. "If you want to believe the chamber of commerce figures, go ahead," one staffer told me. "But they don't really know."

The Santa Fe chamber, a subdued operation, still claims that nearly 2 million tourists visit here annually and generate $40 to $50 million in business. But who knows? Santa Fe isn't even sure how many people live here. The best guess is 50,000. The town has long been a haven for people who couldn't fit elsewhere, and this means there are plenty of losers here. Psychiatrists keep busy. The word "remittance" is often heard, and it describes those exiles and drop-outs who live on money sent them. Santa Fe is laced with small offbeat shops, whose owners live on "remittances," not profits.

There is a sizable "gay" community which encounters no trouble. No one stares at actress Greer Garson, a longtime resident. Santa Fe is a tolerant place. Writers like Truman Capote find it quite comfortable. John Ehrlichman found a measure of solitary solace here, and turned out a successful novel as well.

Many years ago, Charles Lind-burgh, then a giant hero, visited here and asked to enter a museum by the back door to avoid people. He was told to use the front door because no one would bother him.

"You could strip naked and paint yourself blue in the plaza, and nobody would mind," an understanding native explained. The Spanish have an innate courtesy which has survived. People care enough about you to leave you alone. There is no political or economic power structure. The poor live next to the rich. Artists walk the same broken roads as laborers. There is no rising middle class to boost Santa Fe, because Santa Fe mostly wants to be left alone. Tourists are tolerated, but never enthusiastically welcomed. Bands of dogs roam the streets. The water supply goes down as the popula-tion increases at an annual rate of 2 per cent. There is a modified manana feeling here.

Most American communities are quite the opposite, endeavoring for growth and new business and industry. But the prevailing sentiment in Santa Fe, the go-slow attitude, is finding appreciation in many places, and the politics of limitation are bound to have their day in America.

Dear Midland,

Back in 1920 it was said," There isn't a barrel of oil west of Abilene". Sulf Oil Company refused to believe that, and because we did, today, fully one—third of our company's total U.S. production comes from the Midland District. In fact, almost 25% of all the oil produced in the United States and some 29% of the natural gas, flows from the Permian Basin. Fifty years and 15 billion barrels of oil. Now, as America enters its third century and we later our second half century weld like to take this time, and space to thank the over 900 Sulf employees and all the other residents of Midland for allowing us to make this our home for the past fifty years. And to assure you that with over 55% of the known reserve still underground, we plan to be around for years to come.

May the next half century be as happy, comfortable and productive for all of us as the first.

Top entertainer Tillis had trouble finding seat

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) -Moments before the nationally televised 10th annual Country Music Association awards show, Mel Tillis was still trying to find his wife and his assigned seat.

It's a good thing he finally found them, because 90 minutes later he was chosen entertainer of the year the CMA's top award.

But the most honors Monday night went to entertainers Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson, who shared three awards - single of the year for "Good Hearted Woman," vocal duo of the year, and album of the year for 'Wanted - The Outlaws' along with Jessi Colter and Tompall Glaser.

Jennings was not present for the awards show at the Grand Ole Opry House because of "personal and private reasons."

The versatile Tillis - a singer, songwriter, comedian and television personality - was chosen over Jennings, Nelson, Dolly Parton and Ronnie Milsap for the most coveted

'I was completely surprised,' said Tillis, known to country music fans as the entertainer who stutters except when he sings.

"I had no idea I had a chance with Waylon and Willie being so popular and Ronnie Milsap and Dolly being in there," the 43-year-old Tillis said. Moments before the show began,

Dean spices Watergate book with humor

WASHINGTON (AP) - John Dean's Watergate book offers no new bombshells, but his 415-page memoir is sprinkled with humor and detail to fascinate confirmed Watergate addicts and others.

The former White House counsel's book, "Blind Ambition," being published by Simon and Schuster, plows the already well-cultivated ground of the break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex here and the ensuing White House conspiracy to keep the lid on the scandal.

But Dean's plow has unearthed a bit of sex, a dash of drama and even a hint of mystery to freshen the familiar soil.

Dean, whose revelation of White House involvement in the coverup was a major breakthrough in the investigation of the scandal, recently revealed that a member of President Ford's Cabinet made an obscene slur against blacks. Other sources later identified the Cabinet member as Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who then resigned in the resulting con-

In his book, Dean lets go with these anecdotes:

-Shortly after Dean joined the Nixon White House, he started collecting intelligence of interest to his bosses and came across a report that a potentially embarrassing address book kept by Xaviera Hollander, the "Happy Hooker," might surface in New York.

"I began asking the more adventurous men at the White House if they might have anything to fear from Xaviera Hollander's address book," Dean wrote. "When I whispered my story to Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, his face went white as a

-When Dean was in New York, he was offered the apartment of a former aide, John J. Caulfield, and Caulfield's investigator, Tony Ulasewicz.

"It was then being used for a special Ehrlichman-approved assignment which required a luxurious ambience, and Jack had described it as 'quite a pad.' (John Ehrlichman was Nixon's chief-domestic affairs aide.)

"...I walked to the apartment with my blind date.... The woman, who had high expectations of the counsel to the President, had one quick drink and left. The apartment looked like a Chicago whorehouse — red velvet released wallpaper, black lace curtains, white Salvation Army furniture, and a fake-

Syrian attack claimed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -Palestinian guerrillas claimed Syrian forces launched a new offensive today toward the port of Sidon.

The reported attack came hours after Syria threatened to punish the Palestinians for attacks on Syrian property overseas and half a day after a new cease-fire agreement was and ounced in Lebanon's civil war.

A guerrilla communique said the armored assault got under way at midday after a six-hour barrage of artillery and rocket launchers on guerrilla positions eight miles east of

Syrian armor is attacking in two columns to the west and southwest from the Christian town of Jezzine, blasting positions of guerrillas and their leftist Lebanese allies on roads leading to the port, the communique

Right-wing Christian militia spokesmen earlier claimed their forces entered Marjayoun, a major leftist stronghold in southern Lebanon six miles north of the Israeli border.

The reported offensive came on the heels of a Syrian threat to strike against guerrillas in retaliation for attacks on Syrian embassies abroad. The threat dimmed hopes that the cease-fire plan could succeed.

Arab League mediator Hassan Sabri Kholi said the accord was reached in secret deliberations Monday between Syrian, Lebanese and Palestinian representatives in the Syrian-occupied town of Chtoura. Kholi told reporters in the eastern Lebanese town that the plan had been sent to Syrian President Hafez Assad, Lebanese President Elias Sarkis and Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat for approval.

"The Chtoura debates have ended in 100 per cent success," Kholi said. "The accord will be announced after a final Chtoura meeting Wednesday if it is approved by the three leaders. A cease-fire throughout Lebanon will then go into immediate effect."

But the Syrian government's Damascus Radio ignored Kholi's statement and said the talks were still bogged down over 'points of discord that have to be ironed out Wednesday." More than 50 previous truces in the 18-month-old civil war have collapsed.

Another Damascus broadcast promised a "decisively preventive and crippling retaliation" for attacks by three-man Palestinian squads Monday on the Syrian embassies in Rome and Islamabad, Pakistan.

The raiders apparently were after the Syrian ambassadors, but neither was at his embassy at the time. Officials said one Palestinian was killed in Islamabad and a Syrian diplomat was wounded in Rome.

Syria blamed the attacks on "traitors to the Palestinian cause" and "gangs seeking to deviate the conventional spindle Palestinian revolution" from its pickers to gather their course, terms usually applied by crop since stripping is a WESTWOOD Palestinian revolution" from its pickers to gather their Damascus to Arafat's Palestine once-over operation. Some fashions just unlucky

By ERMA BOMBECK

You always hear about fashion's success stories.

But what about the losers? The fashions that came in and went out the same day? The hopes and dreams of designers that were shattered by the sound of 50 million women . . .

Some styles, for one reason or another, just don't make it. These are some of them.

Scratch and Smell T-shirt. This should have been a smash. The principle was great: you scratched and voila . . . a scent was circulated that ran the gamut from perfume to pizza. Unfortunatly, there were too many imposters. People scratched for status and stirred up only perspiration. This gave the official scratch-and-smell shirt a bad name . . . not to mention the smell.

The Gladiator Boots. Remember them? They were the polished leather boots that hit just above the knee. You could look stylish in them or sit down. You couldn't have both.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - The Tampa Bay Buccaneers' offense, which has scored only 26 points in five games, took on a new look today following a shake-up in the coaching ranks and a tentative agreement to hire quarterback Terry Hanratty.

John Rauch, offensive coordinator and quarterback coach, unexpectedly resigned Monday night

shortly after the winless National Football League expansion team Bucs reached a reported one-year agreement with Hanratty.

The former Pittsburgh Steelers reserve said he

"Everything went smoothly," Hanratty, 28, said after talks with the Bucs Monday. "There are a few details that have to be worked out. It's because I

Bucs' officials said he definitely would have to compete for the job.

"This is an opportunity for us to look at a guy under our system and see if he's capable of helping the team," said Ron Wolf, vice president of operations. "We're not signing Hanratty to hand him the some sliced backhands quarterback job. We'll have to see how he does."

and barely beat the throw. He might not have if Rivers had hit the cutoff man. But the throw sailed past second baseman Wille Randolph, and shortstop Fred Stanley had to make the relay. That was the error of omission.

Earlier, Royals' shortstop Freddie Patek had finessed Chris Chambliss on the basepaths. Chambliss was on first base in the third inning with New York leading 3-2. Carlos May bounced a single into right field and Chambliss took off for second. Waiting for him was Patek, faking a play that sent the runner sliding in, safe by 200 feet as the ball bounced into right field. Another mistake. In the eighth innning, the Royals wrapped up their popfly attack of looping singles by Frank White, Patek and Buck Martinez, a trio of hitters who never will

Silent giant rips Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tommy Hart proved the silent giant of the San Francisco 49ers as he smashed through the line, tossed Los Angeles quarterback James Harris for losses on six occasions and didn't say a

"I didn't say anything to him and he didn't say anything to me," was the response of the 251-pound Hart after his 49ers had upset the Rams 16-0 in their nationally televised National Football League battle.

SAN FRANCISCO quarterback Jim Plunkett threw touchdown passes of 36 yards to Willie McGee and six to Tom Mitchell in a third quarter blitz, but few defensive lines have done the job of the 49ers' front four.

They tossed the 210-pound Harris for losses 10 times, a 49ers' club record, and reminded the big quarterback when he was playing for the embroyo Buffalo Bills.

"That," said the 6-foot-4 Hart, "was the greatest game of my career," and no one would argue with the nine-year pro veteran from Morris Brown College who has been the starting defensive left end for the 49ers the past six

HIS GREATEST game propelled San Francisco to a 4-1 record and ahead of the 3-1-1 Rams in the NFC West after the Southern California team had been favored by 13 points.

The Rams dominated the first quarter but picked up four penalties for holding. As Plunkett saw it, "That was the only way they could keep our defensive guys out."

Coach Chuck Knox of the previously undefeated Rams admitted, "They have one of the most active defensive lines in the league. They just got us in situations they would like us to be in. We tried adjustments in our blocking, but it just go to be third and 12 and here they come.'

power and size, it was quickness." AND FOR the record, Williams is listed at 6-foot-3 and 256, so the 49er player and his Ram opposite are about the same size.

"We knew if we could stop the Rams' running game, particularly on the first down, we could beat them," Hart explained. "They have the best running in the conference and usually are good for four to six yards on that first down. We stopped them, and that is the difference.'

In the first two league games, both Lawrence McCutcheon and John Cappelletti, the 1-2 running attack of the Rams gained more than 100 yards

The 49ers stopped McCutcheon at 72 yards on 16 carries and throttled Cappelletti at 12 yards in seven carries. San Francisco, after a 0-0 first half, whizzed 73 yards in four plays after taking the second-half kickoff. A Plunkett to Del Williams pass gained 20 yards and another eight when the receiver fumbled out of bounds. On the next play, Plunkett hit McGee for the touchdown

THEN HART'S sacks on Harris with resultant fumbles set up the second touchdown and an 18-yard field goal by Steve Mike-Mayer-all the scoring in 5 minutes 56 seconds of the third quarter.

The game marked the first time the Rams had been shut out at home in a regular season game since they came to Los Angeles from Cleveland in 1946. The 49ers' new head coach, Monte Clark, who played his collegiate foot-ball with Southern California at the Coliseum, site of the pro football clash, commented: "I can't tell you how proud I am.

They just came out and gave an utlimate effort. We found no weakness in the Rams' offensive line. We did camouflage some of our defensive moves which helped."

The 49ers appeared to have a man getting behind the Rams' offensive front wall, cutting across the middle and then going straight in on the harassed Harris.

"It's the first time that everybody has done what they're supposed to do," Clark added. "It was a total effort and it came against the best team we've played all season."

Pittsburgh's two-time Super Bowl champion Steelers have lost four straight and there are great expectations for No. 5 when they play Cincinnati's Bengals this week. Another loss here would just about seal the Steelers' hopes of reaching the playoffs, if that isn't already the

The plight of the Pittsburghs brings back the memory of the Dallas Cowboys, Pittsburgh exhibition game in Texas Stadium. It was a brutally hot, muggy August night and recalled are the TV gllmpses of quarterback Terry Bradshaw watching the second half, in street clothes from a runway

At the time, we wondered if Terry would have decided it was too hot to play if Joe Gilliam were still breathing down his neck.

It never occured to us to wonder what the infantry, still laboring on the frying-pan hot turf below, might have thought of Bradshaw's night off.

We might be seeing the reaction now. Consciously the Steelers would never admit to throwing away a chance at that playoff loot. Yet,

Reds seek Series berth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Danny Ozark discovered what was wrong with his Philadelphia Phillies, but it may have been too late to save the Eastern Division champions from elimination in the National League playoffs.

"We've been out-luckied," explained Ozark, the master of the Ozark hoped the Phils luck changed in today's third game of the best-offive series in which the Phils trailed the Cincinnati Reds 2-0. Left-hander Jim Kaat, 12-14, pitched for the Phils, and Gary Nolan, 15-9, tried to put the Reds in the World Series for the second straight year.

THE PHILLIES, who won 101 games enroute to the East title with the help of an often spectacular defense, had fallen apart in the field during the playoffs. They had made only two physical errors in the first two games, but mental miscues-throwing to the wrong base against the aggressive running Reds was very damaging.

Ozark insisted at Monday's workout at Riverfront Stadium that the Phillies had not been intimidated by Cincinnati's tactics. He pointed to his players, who were bantering as they worked, and asked if it appeared they were tight.

"If they were standing around (quietly), I'd be very embarrassed having them out there," he said.

THE REDS' Joe Morgan, howe disagreed with Ozark. "When we're doing our thing we create pressure," said Morgan, who had walked five times in two games but had yet toget a hit. "It's not the pressure of the playoff that has been forcing Philadelphia to make mistakes. It's been us.' Morgan said. Morgan used the sixth inning of Game Two, in which the Reds scored four runs, as an example.

'Take Pete Rose. He's on first. (Ken) Griffey singles. Everybody in the world knows that Rose is going to third. The guy out in center (Garry Maddox) knows he has to make a perfect throw to get him. He tries too hard and Griffey winds up at second,"

THE PLAY described by Morgan was the key to the big inning. Three of the four runs followed.

Morgan said.

"We're the kind of club," said Morgan, "that is able to do whatever we have to do.

Morgan said the Reds' strategy would be different for the third game. We can play for the big inning now, because we're two games up. That doesn' mean we'll take it easy. We're going to play like it's the seventh game of the World Series. But we can take more chances.

The 37-year-old Kaat, who at Min- and see.' nesota pitched in one championship series and one World Series, believed the Phillies were in a relaxed position

"WE'RE TWO down, and nobody gives us a chance to win (the series) now," Kaat said. "No one expects us to win three here. We just might shock a lot of people. If we win tomorrow (Tuesday), we have a good chance of going all the way. "We can throw (Steve) Carlton at them Wednesday and come back with (Jim) Lonborg. My own feeling is that we're at rock bottom. What have we got to lose.

Kaat was prepared for the Reds' basestealing game. "I'll have to hold them in close," said Kaat, who has a good pickoff move. "But the main problem is to get 'em out before they get to first.'

Kaat was 2-1 against Cincinnati during the regular season, but gave up 39 hits and 14 runs in 25 2-3 innings.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said the Reds would not be able to run on anybody," said the second baseman who swiped 60 bases during the regular season and two in the first two playoff games. The 28-year-old Nolan was Cincinnati's biggest winner in the drive to the Western Division championship. He was second on the staff in complete games with seven, and was involved in three shutouts. Nolan was 1-1 against the Phillies this season. He was, however, battered for 22 hits and 12 runs in 20 innings against the East champions. How much of a chance did the

Phillies have to sweep three games from the Reds? "I'd say about 33 1-3 per cent," said

R. L. (BOB) CORLEY'S 6 Point Program

1. Initiate action through the Texas Legislature in conjunction with other state legislatures to force Congress to call a Constitutional convention for the purpose of amending the Federal Constitution to provide for the election of Federal Judges by popular vote.

Read article 5 of your Federal constitution. The framers of this wonderful contract provided a way for the people, through their legislators, (the closest to the people, of all government representatives) to change their government and free themselves of Federal tyranny. Oh yes, and while you're reading article 5, turn to the 10th amendment. No Federal Judge has read that one in my lifetime!

"I think I made a very strong challenge," Royal told his weekly news conference Monday. "The ball is in their park—the next move is up to them, and my prediction is nothing will happen.

ATLANTA (AP) - General Manager Pat Peppler, who never has served as a head football coach above the high school level, was on the practice field today as the new coach of the Atlanta Falcons.

During his tenure, Campbell had a record of 6-19, with the end becoming apparent Sunday when his team was embarrassed 30-0 by the New Orleans Saints. It was Atlanta's fourth defeat in five games this season. Atlanta never got untracked this year, having trouble during both the exhibition and regular seasons. The team faced what many considered its most favorable schedule in years.

"It is a sad day for me," Smith said at a news conference. "It was difficult because I love Marion Campbell. We are such close friends."

Disgruntled Rose wants to join Phillies

CINCÎNNATI (AP) — Pete Rose, a red-blooded member of the Cincinnati Reds, talking about switching

That possibility surfaced Monday as the Reds were attempting to eliminate the Philedelphia Phillies in three straight for their second National League playoff sweep.

Unhappy over references to his age during recent negotiations with the Reds, Rose has told friends he is disgruntled with annual contract haggling with the Reds' front office and is considering a move that could land him with the Phils.

"Sure I'm unhappy. But it didn't just come up. I've been unhappy with my salary a long time," said the 10time All-Star.

Rose, who ironically has been the chief tormentor of the Phils during the regular season and in postseason play, could wind up in a Philadelphia uniform m

He hit .442 against Phils' pitching during the season and went into today's game with a 5-for-10 effort.

Rose is reportedly irritated over the Reds' initial contract offer which called for a two-year contract at $200,000 a year. He is currently receiving $190,000 a year. Teammates Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan are the highest paid players on the world champions, both at a reported $250,000 a year.

According to a close source, "Pete is tired of hearing that he is just a singles hitter. He feels he is as big a draw on the club as Bench and Morgan, but the Reds' officials tell him they can't pay him the same Rose would neither confirm nor deny the report, saying: "My lawyer has met with them and we're still talking. I don't want to get into it now. This is not the right time to discuss

When pressed on the trade possibility, he told The Associated Press: "Philadelphia is the only other team I'd like to play for. I could play left field there.'

A Reds' spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous, said the report "is strictly rumor at this point." He added, "I have to believe that Pete Rose will always be in a Cincinnati Reds' uniform.

Phillies' left fielder Greg Luzinski said Monday at workouts that he would welcome the deal.

"I'll take him. I'd move any place where it would help the team most,' said Luzinski.

He said it wasn't the first time he has heard Rose mentioned in a deal with Philadelphia. "A couple years ago when he was having trouble negotiating with them (the Reds) we heard talk about such a trade,' Luzinski said. "We didn't hear what they were asking for him.'

Rankin still undefeated

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

The highly respected Rankin Red Devils managed to remain undefeated through six weeks of area high school football action with a 13-6 victory over the winless McCamey Badgers, but it wasn't easy.

The stubborn Badgers, now 0-6 on the season, took the Devils to the limit Friday before fumbling away a chance at one of the state's top upsets of the week at the 11-yard line of Rankin.

Junior quarterback Bobby Acosta was jarred loose from the ball when McCamey seemed ready to punch one in for what could be an upset in the making. It seems that Acosta suffered a like fate a year ago against Crane when he was sandwiched between Crane defenders and the ball popped into the air and was returned 90 yards for Crane's winning touchdown.

THE UPTON County championship battle was that kind of game. Rankin scored twice on the one-yard and 36vard runs by fullback Hilton Luckie. Luckie had 124 yards on the night, and that effort earned him The Reporter-Telegram's Player-of-the-Week honors. Rankin's Mike Vick and McCamey's John Anglada also received notice for effective defensive

The biggest surprise of the week was posted by the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, however. The Tors, not expected to make a serious run at the 3-AAA crown, won their third straight contest with a 9-6 upset over the Snyder Tigers despite a lackluster offense that generated only 76 total yards. Snyder had 253 yards, but Lamesa captilized on some serious

Tiger errors. The victory moved the Tors into a first place tie with San Angelo Lake View for the 3-AAA lead after two weeks of loop action. That's surprising, even at this early date. IT WAS bad news, however, for the other two area teams Friday. Crane's three game winning streak was halted by Coahoma, 10-0, and Stanton fell to Anson by a 9-0 count.

Coahoma's victory came on a 45yard touchdown by Jim Bob Phillips, but both teams pulled up on the play when the team's thought an official had blown his whistle. Phillips was the only one who didn't stop, however, and went on in to score.

Crane's luck wasn't any better in the second quarter when they got to the Bulldogs' three-yard line only to have time run out on them before they could get it in.

The Stanton Buffaloes continued their up and down streak in the loss to Anson. Only the week before, Stanton rolled over New Home, 77-6, but the offense didn't generate much with only 87 rushing and 67 passing yards. Stanton now has an open week to regroup for the 5-A run.

REAGAN COUNTY and Andrews enjoyed open dates Friday. Andrews, one of the four unbeaten, untied teams left in the area, will begin 2-AAA play this week against Semimole. The Owls of Big Lake remain at 3-2 and 1-0 in District 9-A play, and the open week seems to have come at a good time for the Owls.

The Lake View Chiefs took over the leadership of 3-AAA with their sixth straight victory, and Ozona gained even more respect with a 12-7 win over Alpine to extend their winning streak to six games. Lake View, Andrews, Ozona, and Rankin are the only unbeaten, untied teams left in the market. Fort Stockton is 4-0-1 and Lubbock Dunbar is still unbeaten with a 3-0-2 mark. Plains stands at 5-0-1.

Pecos fell from the elite list in a 32-30 loss to tough Artesia, N.M., as did Sonora in a 7-6 loss to Burnet. Both games were heartbreakers for the

Cowboys join spy feud

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Cloaks and daggers may soon replace the traditional X's and O's in preparing for college football games, if Darrell Royal and Jim Stanley are to be believed.

Royal, the Texas coach, says Oklahoma received secret information via a spy prior to its game with the Longhorns last week.

Stanley says he has heard the Sooners did the same thing last year before they played his Oklahoma State team.

And Stanley also believes Arkansas may have been involved in some espionage before the Razorbacks met the Cowboys this season.

After Royal's weekend offer to resign if the Sooner coaching staff would take and pass a lie detector test regarding his accusations of spying, Stanley said Monday that he heard a man posed as a painter and watched Cowboy practices from a women's restroom for a week before last year's game with the Conners

"This is all hearsay but information came to me from the Texas staff that there was spy," Stanley said, who added that he had reason to believe Arkansas was guilty of similar tactics. "It's the most unethical thing a guy can do."

Oklahoma State lost both games in question, but you won't hear any mea culpas from Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer or Arkansas boss Frank Broyles.

"Do they practice in the ladies' restroom?" Switzer laughed Monday night. "I needed this. I've been watching films of Nolan Cromwell and Laverne Smith and I needed a

McCord boosts NAIA lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Quarterback Scott McCord of Lewis and Clark College, passing for 1,226 yards in four games, has a solid hold on the individual total offense and passing leads in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

McCord, completing 110 of 172 attempted passes, has thrown for 306 yards a game and rolled up an average of 299 yards total offense.

Steve Smith of Carroll is the top rusher in the nation, averaging 177 yards for a three-game total of 532 yards. Leading all scorers is Jeff Rodman of South Dakota State with 66 points in five games.

Rodney Allison named SWC's week leader

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan's nerves jangle everytime he thinks what might have happened if he had redshirted Rodney Allison this year.

The brash, fiery Martin has been the center of controversy since the championship series, now even at one victory apiece, began last Saturday in Kansas City.

First he engaged in an insult duel with Gura, the Royals' left-handed pitcher who was traded by Martin early this season and who lost the first game of the playoffs. Neither of the men care for each other and it showed Saturday.

Then Brett, the young Kansas City third baseman, accused Martin of shouting ob-scenities at him while he was on the field Saturday. Brett had earlier charged the New York manager with trading his brother, Ken Brett, to the Chicago White Sox this summer after promising to keep NORMAN, Okla. (AP) - Barry Switzer and Darrell Royal will come and go but the Oklahoma-Texas game will continue, Switzer said Monday as he reviewed the Sooners' 6-6 tie with the Longhorns.

The game was played amid a furor sparked when Royal charged that an Oklahoma fan had spied on Longhorn workouts. Switzer was asked if such controveries threatened the future of the intense rivalry.

SWITZER SAID Kansas, Oklahoma's next foe, will present more problems offensively than did the Steers.

"They're a better wishbone offense than Texas because of the speed and running ability of the quarterback (Nolan Cromwell) and Laverne Smith.

"They talk about Johnny (Lam) Jones' speed in Texas. Well, Laverne Smith was the Big Eight 100-meter dash champion this past spring with 10.1. He scored two touchdowns on us last year. He's complemented at the other halfback by a guy with 4.4 or 4.5 speed in Campfield (Bill).

The Jayhawks stunned the Sooners 23-3 a year ago for Switzer's only loss as head coach.

Switzer had little to say about the spying allegations. He didn't discuss the subject during his weekly press luncheon.

AFTERWARD HE told reporters that "to me it didn't happen. If it did, I didn't know about it.'

"I never close our practices," he said. "I never have but once or twice. I ain't paranoid about it. "

He said he was sure Royal was "convinced" the spying occurred but he planned no further comment on the matter or Royal's challenge to Switzer, defensive Coach Larry Lacewell and the fan to take lie detector tests

"I don't have to answer to him," Switzer said.

Switzer was upset by the blocking in all phases of the Sooners' wishbone, saying linemen repeatedly missed assignments. He added, "People are not putting their hats on the right way.

HE SAID the fullbacks didn't block well and "we blocked terrible at halfback.... We blocked so poorly that I don't care what kind of runners the other guys are, we're probably going to put some of those guys in there and give them an opportunity to see how poor of blockers they are, or how good, hopefully."

The Oklahoma coach heaped praise on cornerback Terry Peters and linebacker Obie Moore. A hit by Peters sidelined Texas' fine split end. Alfred Jackson, and Switzer said Peters "made a great play" in holding Jackson's backup, Mike Lockett, to a short gain on a reverse.

SWITZER WAS asked why Oklahoma, after being stymied offensively all day, was able to punch in the tying touchdown after recovering a fumble on its own 37 in the final "One reason is that we had field position," he said. "We were in fourdown zone.... I think we had an emotional uplift. We kind of got our bucket full right there... "We did a better job blocking and we did a better job of running. Thomas Lott was improving the whole ball game, coming off and turning up, not being unsure.

Lott, a soph starting his first game, filled in for the Dean Blevins, who had a swollen testicle, a condition caused by strain and known as orchitis. He is not expected to be ready until at least the Oklahoma State game Oct. 23.

Hong Kong gasoline station first for China outside its own border

This brightly painted gasoline station beside a busy street in an outlying district here is ordinary in every way e'.cept one - it is China's first gasoline station outside its

The station, which opened last month, has sparked interest because it may mark the beginning of an attempt by China to expand its oil exports. China is known to possess bountiful reserves of petroleum, but so far most of its production has been consumed internally.

The international oil giants that account for most sales of petroleum products in Hong Kong - Mobil, Esso, Shell and Caltex - are believed to feel some concern about their new competitor, FEOSO, an acronym for Far East Overseas Oil Ltd.

The gasoline station is the first of five FEOSO will open by the end of next year. But most oil specialists

In fact, the decision to build the stations is the result of circumstances that seemingly apply only to Hong Kong. In early 1974, at the peak of the international energy crisis, Hong Kong authorities looked for a way to guarantee a supply of oil. China agreed to supply about 10 per cent of Hong Kong's petroleum needs — the amount of the projected shortage. In return, China was given the right to use a 10-acre plot on an offshore island to build a petroleum storage

China's decision to aid Hong Kong probably was based partially on the responsibility it feels for this colony of 4.5 million people. China formally claims possession of Hong Kong, and this could become a fact when the treaty ceding a part of Hong Kong to Britain expires in 1997.

Asked why China agreed to set up gasoline stations here, one Western oil expert answered, "Representation, pride, waving the flag and providing service to compatriots in Hong Kong.' None of that means, however, that the FEOSO station's procedures will vary from the intensely competitive practices that characterize business elsewhere in Hong Kong. Its prices are identical to those offered by other companies here. Like any good businessman, station manager Chan Kit Chun, 39, argues that the station has an advantage over

"The most important point is that our gallons are full gallons," he said. 'We're very honest.' But Chan denies any Communist

Purchase announced

Flag-Redfern Oil Co. of Midland has announced the acquisition of sub-stantially all of the oil and gas leasehold interests owned by Great Expectations Oil Corp. of Fort Worth.

The announcement was made here by Arden R. Grover, Flag-Redfern vice president. He reports that the acquisition represents an interest in 471 producing oil and gas wells on 63 leases in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The acquisition was effective Sept. and adds 300 net barrels per day to Flag-Redfern's production. Purchase price was not announced.

French very serious about energy savings

By DON COOK

The Los Angeles Times

PARIS - France went on daylightsaving time this summer for the first time in 60 years as an energy-saving measure and, with winter approaching, laws forbid any public building or business premise in France to be heated above 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

The French are deadly serious about their energy-saving program and have demonstrated their concern in many ways.

The price of gasoline has just gone up once again by government decree to $1.85 per gallon (60 per cent is tax). Student drivers now are given additional instruction on how to handle an automobile to economize on gasoline. Industrial users of fuel oil pay a special levy of 150 francs ($32) per ton on any oil which they use in excess of a quota based on their 1973 consumption, and the levy goes into a special fund for research on energy-

The French are dependent on imported oil for 65 per cent of the energy they consume, making them considerably more vulnerable than either Britain or West Germany, both of which have large reserves of coal. In the case of Britain, there is the North Sea oil and gas as well.

France's oil bill amounts to about 18 per cent of the country's total imports, and is a sizeable strain on the country's balance of payments.

Saving energy is a matter of vital concern to the French government. To show that the government means business, Prime Minister Raymond Barre not only hiked the gasoline price in his latest package of economic measures to fight inflation, but also set a ceiling on oil imports for 1977 of 55 billion francs ($11.5 billion).

"These measures are unpleasant. I agree, but there is no other way to proceed," Barre told the French

Landmen employed

Texas Oil & Gas Corp. has announced the employment of two landmen in its West Texas District Office in Midland.

They are Charles M. Francis and

David E. Salter. Francis, a graduate of West Texas State University with a B.A. degree, formerly was with Texaco Inc. in Salter, another former Texaco employe here, is a graduate of Texas Tech University where he earned a B.B.A. degree in Management.

old agency for energy saving, Jean Syrota, adds: "We are having to change the rules of economic use of energy by making fuel costs higher, to correspond with the larger national objectives."

Price and persuasion are France's two major weapons in getting the country to cut down on energy consumption - and they use plenty of both. In the aftermath of the 1973 Arab oil embargo and enormous price hike by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), President Valery Giscard d'Estaing decreed an initial ceiling of $10.2 billion on the amount France could spend on imported oil in 1975 and 1976.

Thanks to the conservation campaign, the abrupt rise in gasoline and heating-oil prices for both private and industrial consumers, generally mild weather for the last two years and the economic recession, the French have been well within that ceiling.

But in the meantime there have been additional OPEC price increases since the first ceiling was fixed and the economy is beginning to pick up, which means that industrial as well as consumer demands for oil are on the rise. Hence the new ceiling of $11.5 billion fixed by Barre - and the new rise in gasoline and fuel-oil prices - to hold consumption within it. Meanwhile, the energy-saving agency estimates that the measures which it began promulgating from early 1975 have saved around 12 million tons of fuel oil, or its equivalent in energy sources, worth a little over $100 million (or approximately 1 per cent of Giscard d'Estaing's original $10.2 billion import ceiling) Among special measures France has taken to conserve energy are

-A prohibition on all advertising which tends to encourage increased energy consumption, including the advertising of such energy-consuming products as portable

-A restriction on illuminated advertisements and shop-windows, which have to be extinguished except for small lights for security purposes from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m. -A new law requiring that in dwelling places with common heating systems, individual meters must now be installed to record heat and hotwater consumption by each tenant.

Market drifts lower

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market drifted lower today, still in the grip of the sharp decline that began two weeks ago.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, off 72.31 points in the last 10 sessions, was off another 2.82 at 938.00 by noontime today. Losers held a slight edge on gainers in the over-all count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. The market was mixed for most of the morning as it tried to stabilize. But little buying interest developed, with the specter of the widespread recent damage still dominating the market's mood.

International Telephone & Telegraph topped the active list, down 1/6 at 30%.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks gave up .11 to 54.21. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .27 at 98.45.

Volume on the NYSE continued to set a sluggish pace, totalling 7.36 million shares over the first two hours against 6.59 million in the comparable period on Monday.

Universal Leaf Tobacco, subject of a $32.50-a-share acquisition bid by Congoleum Corp., jumped 5¼ to 30.

Control Data advanced ¾ to 23%. The company reported a sharp rise in quarterly earnings.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were $1.10 a bale lower to $2.25 higher at midden midday.

Traders evened up positions prior to release of the government cotton crop estimate anticipated after the close of the market today, brokers said.

The average price for strict low middling 11-18 inch spot cotton was unavailable Monday because of the Columbus Day haliday.

$2.25 higher than the previous close $1.90, Mar $2.75, May $2.45.

New Hampshire has hot scrap for statehouse

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - New Hampshire is having one of its liveliest governor's races in years. The outcome may provide the first test of what effect thousands of new residents will have on the state's politics.

Republican Gov. Meldrim Thomson, a conservative known for his outspoken views, is pitted against liberal Democrat Harry Spanos in the November election. Thomson is trying to become the second governor in the state's modern history to serve three straight terms. New Hampshire, which despite its small size grabs national attention every four years with the country's first presidential primary, traditionally has been conservative and overwhelmingly Republican. But in the past six years more than 80,000 new people — about 10 per cent of the state's population — have settled in New Hampshire, many of them seeking to escape higher taxes in other states. New Hampshire is the only state with neither a sales nor an income tax. The Thomson-Spanos race, according to a number of veteran politicians, is expected to test the sentiments of those new voters because Thomson and Spanos have opposing views on a litany of issues. including the emotional subject of taxes. In their first joint appearance at a chamber of commerce breakfast in Manchester, Thomson called Spanos an "ultra socialist" after Spanos accused Thomson of "one man rule" and undermining government operations during both his two-year Spanos, 50, a former state senator and an articulate spokesman for the progressive wing of his party, surprised many politicians by defeating two other Democrats in the primary. Thomson easily defeated a moderate Republican to get the GOP nomination, rolling up 65 per cent of the votes. Thomson, although remaining the favorite, is facing the stiffest race yet because of a divided Republican party and a Democratic party which has captured three of the state's four congressional seats — two since 1974. "You're going to find the electorate is changing," said John Lynch, executive director of the Democratic state committee. "The election is going to be an indication of the changing mood of the electorate." Peter Thomson, the governor's son and campaign manager, agrees the election may give an insight on the changing electorate because the candidates have "real philosophical differences." "If these people came to New Hampshire to escape taxes in Massachusetts they'll vote for Meldrim Thomson. If they came to continue the policies of Massachusetts than they'll vote for Harry Spanos." said the younger Thomson.

Thomson has banked his campaign on his unwavering opposition to the imposition of either general sales or income taxes and his generally conservative fiscal policy. Spanos, who as a state legislator voiced sympathy with a graduated income tax, has said in the campaign that he is opposed to any such tax at this time.

Lighter cars may cut state revenue

DALLAS (AP) - The trend toward lighter, more compact automobiles will reduce state revenue from auto license fees and the gasoline tax, a report to the Texas Highway and Public Transportation Commission predicts.

The recently released report recommends that the 1977 Texas Legislature overhaul the forumla for determining the license fees paid each year by Texas automobile owners.

As cars become more compact and steel is replaced by aluminum and plastic, auto license fees. based on the weight of an auto, will generate less revenue for the maintenance and construction of highways, the study by a consulting firm says.

The trend toward the energy-conserving cars will also reduce the state's income from the gasoline tax. which is based on the number of gallons used, the study adds.

However, the consultants reject proposals to increase present license fees and gasoline taxes. In-stead, the report recommends that the 1977 Legislature approve a plan to base the auto license fees on the increase in value of cars each year, as well as their weight.

Reese criticizes Mahon's record

By DEBBIE PIERCE

Republican Jim Reese attacked Rep. George Mahon's voting record on money issues this morning in a press conference at Midland Regional Air Terminal

"In fact, if you'll check his (Mahon's) voting record, you'll see it's worse than that of liberal Congressman Morris Udall's," congressional candidate Reese said.

Taxpayer Action, a group interested in protecting taxpayers' interests, has said that Mahon is one of 48 cogressmen designated as "spending targets," Reese said. By this, the group means "not only big spenders but leaders in the drive for ever more government spending at the expense of the taxpayers," Reese added. The former Odessa mayor noted that, "Personally,

I like George Mahon — I just can't agree with his 'go along to get along policy practiced in Congress. It leaves us unrepresented when he agrees to go along with the liberal Democratic caucus just to keep his chairmanship. He's been caught up in the system for 42 years, and it's time we had a change."

Reese said he really didn't want to run for Congress, "but somebody had to." He added, "It's all right to compromise on method and procedure. but I draw a line at compromising on principle. And that's why I agreed to run for office."

Reese noted that he'd "be ashamed to claim a power base in Washington (like Mahon does) and be responsible for what that Congress has been doing to West Texas. Why doesn't he (Mahon) use that effective base in our behalf and stop that spending. instead of adding to it? The congressional candidate also touched base on forced busing, noting that "forced busing doesn't work for equal educational opportunity for all. I like the freedom of choice way, rather than some court telling people their kids have to get on a bus and go all over town." Reese said he could be effective in Congress "from the very first day there" in a way Mahon has not. He added that, "Those who don't like what's been going on in Washington will vote for me." From here, Reese will continue making stops and shaking hands across the district, he said. "I'll spend lots of time visiting with people after the election, too," he added.

22-year-old Stanton woman reports rape to officials

A 22-year-old Stanton woman reported she was raped about 11 p.m. Friday about one mile east of Fairgrounds Road on 868, Midland Sheriff's Deputy Dewey Lee said.

The woman said she was visiting her sister in Midand with a cousin and one other person and had stopped for drinks in a couple of lounges on Lee

As she walked north on Lee Street toward her sister's home, she said she passed a parked car with two men inside. The men called to her, asking where she was going. She told them to her sister's and identified the sister.

Stating that they knew the sister, the men offered to drive her to where the sister was. They drove her to the east of Fairgrounds Road on FM 868, where one of the men made a pass at the woman, she said. When she resisted, the men made her leave the car and they drove away, she said. Later one of the men returned and offered to drive her back to Midland. Then he pulled to the side of the Tax divorces save for pair

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) - Mr. and Mrs. H. David Boyter are preparing for their second divorce, to be followed by their third marriage.

Boyter, 36, and his wife, Angela, 31, say they get TORMS along all right - it's just that they are incompatible with the Internal Revenue Service.

The Boyters say their divorces are a way to protest accepted the "absurdity of the tax laws" which require married couples to pay higher federal income taxes than single persons in the same tax bracket who live together.

The Boyters, married for the first time in April 1966, had their first divorce in Haiti last Dec. 9. They remarried on Jan. 9, at the Howard County Courthouse here. This year, they plan a midNovember vacation in the Dominican Republic, with a stop at the capital of Santo Domingo for a $350 quickie divorce. They will wait until after the first of the year to remarry. A New York City couple will also be in Santo Domingo to get their second tax-protest divorce, according to the Boyters. "We take the trip for a vacation," Mrs. Boyter said

Monday. "People spend over $1,000 just to do what we are going to do - swim and get a sun tan on the

WASHINGTON (AP) -Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld hae canceled plans for trips to California, Washington, Texas and Colorado to avoid the appearance of political activity. Pentagon officials said Monday that Rumsfeld's tour this week and next to review military activities - was called off when he learned of speculation linking it with President Ford's election campaign.

Rumsfeld's trips might not be intended to un-derscore Ford's defense spending policies. Rumsfeld was Ford's top aide at the White House before moving to Rhonda Mack, secretary, the Pentagon last and Vicki Green, Abilene Eagles down to November.

FIREMEN RESCUE a skeleton from the Haunted House operated by the March of Dimes to raise money following a fire at the South Side Milwaukee structure. Officials were reported investigating the possibility of arson.

Young lead South Africa revolt

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - Hector Petersen was one of the first blacks to die in the racial upheavals that jolted white-governed South Africa for three months this spring and summer. He was killed by police bullets on the sunny morning of June 16 while protesting government school regulations in the giant segregated township of Soweto, outside Johannesburg.

He was 13 years old. They call him now "a child of apartheid."

His age is important because Hector and other black youths have been at the forefront of the widespread confrontations here between blacks and the white government.

The students and other youths burned schools, attacked police, assaulted workers defying calls for a black strike and scorned the leadership of their parents and elders.

The older blacks largely remained aloof, refusing to become involved in the mounting violence, defying student efforts to organize strikes, appealing for calm. The generation gap was widely visible, although the growing number of students and other youngsters killed and jailed by police slowly began to radicalize some adults. But why should older blacks, who have lived longer and under South Africa's race policies, reject the demands of youth to confront the

A partial answer may be found in the contrasting experiences of the two generations. The parents of today's young blacks were born in an era when whites ruled Africa from Senegal to Kenya and south to the Cape of Good Hope.

With the exceptions of Ethiopia and Liberia, all of black Africa was under colonial administrations of Britain, France, Belgium, Portugal and Spain.

Even as late as 1950, there was no clear evidence of the "uhuru" (freedom) that would sweep the continent as emperial flags were struck for the last time.

They were born under white rule, lived under white rule and appear to have accepted what appeared then to be the inevitability of continued white rule whatever their grievances. There was, for older blacks, no visible alternative.

Many confide privately that their lives were uplifted by contact with white-run churches, hospitals and schools.

Thousands came to South Africa's cities from squalid rural homesteads of mud huts and thatched roofs and entered a cash economy.

For the first time, many were able to afford a radio or a bicycle and lived in a brick home, however humble, that could not be matched for comfort in the tribal village.

A few enjoyed the luxury of elec-tricity, running hot water, flush

While poorly paid in comparison with whites and discriminated against daily, they found a better material life in the white-run cities and white-run economy than they could have dreamed of as children in

They also found it possible to envision a better economic future for their children by saving money for clothes, books and education.

By comparison with their rural brethren, city blacks lived healthier, wealthier and wiser lives. White technology and industry provided more and more jobs as South Africa's economy grew over the decades.

Compare this with the experience of Hector Petersen's generation.
On the day he was born in 1963, most of black Africa had been liberated as the European powers dismantled their empires south of the Sahara

But there remained lingering outposts of white rule, especially in southern Africa, which continued to isolate South Africa from the rest of the continent.

X-rays find missing ring

ODESSA — Two Midland women are free on bonds of $20,000 each today after being charged with two counts each of theft involving diamond rings stolen Saturday at two Odessa jewelry stores.

Justice of the Peace Harold Sligar set bond at $10,000 each on the four theft charges for the two women, Mary Helen Dickens, 22, and Joyce Iglehart Alford, 23.

The women were both charged with the theft of a $499 diamond ring from Gerson's Jewelers about 3 p.m. Saturday and with the theft of a diamond ring valued at $1,600 from the Casa del Silva, 3952 East 42nd St. about 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

X-rays were used, by order of Sligar, to locate the $1,600 ring in the lower abdomen of the Alford woman after the women were arrested at the Casa del Silva.

An employe at Casa del Silva reported the $1,600 diamond ring missing. The women told police they did not know where the $1,600 diamond ring was and refused permission to undergo x-rays.

After Sligar ordered the x-rays, the ring was recovered Sunday at Medical Center Hospital. Police said the ring had been identified as the one taken from the jewelry store.

Sligar earlier had issued a search warrant and a search of the women's car produced the $499 ring reported missing from Gerson's Jewelers.
