Aides say Ford gave Playboy 'runaround'

Trustees won't fight vote ruling

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Midland school trustees Tuesday decided not to contest in court a U.S.
Justice Department ruling which requires change in the manner in which school board members are elected, school board president Joe Dominey said.

The trustees met in executive session to be briefed by attorney
Charles Tighe on its options.

The Justice Department has ruled that a 1973 election law change from an at-large to a place system of ecided not to contest in court a U.S.

Dominey said Tighe told the board it could go to court in Washington, D.C., to attempt to keep the present system but it would "likely be unproductive" to pursue court action.

Having decided not to go to court, the board has two options, Dominey

It can go back to the system which was in effect through 1973. That system called for all candidates to be listed on the ballot together. Voters could select the number of candidates to match the number of positions open and a plurality vote was sufficient to

A second option outlined to the board Tuesday was a combination of et-large and precinct positions, Dominey said. The precinct concept is relatively new in Texas, he said.

Dominey said the consensus of the board is not in favor of such a system now, "but we have an open mind."

The board will study the situation further and take action at a later date, Dominey said.

Both Ford and Carter spent Tuesday campaigning in the Chicago area, underlining their concern about the importance of the Illinois vote to the outcome of next Tuesday's Ford spent the day criticizing Carter's foreign policy proposals. And he said in a broadcast political advertisement that his administration differs from that of Richard Nixon because "there's no dictatorial authority" under Ford.

Carter defended his foreign policy plans and expressed indignation at a pamphlet being distributed by the Ford campaign committee. The pamphlet, titled "Heartland," ridicules Carter, who said Ford "should be ashamed of himself" for allowing it to be distributed.

allowing it to be distributed.

And Carter said if he is elected he will immediately start working "to restore a sense of cooperation bet-ween the president and the members of Congress."

Both the vice presidential candidates, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, were also on the campaign trail.

Mondale called on Ford to repudiate Dole's suggestion that World War II was fought because of the Democratic party. And Dole later backed away from his characterization of World War II as a "Democrat war." An aide said Dole backed off because of widespread adverse reaction to his comments.

Some Republicans have been hoping to use Carter' Playboy in-terview against him.

Playboy executives, obviously risyboy executives, boviously irritated at GOP barbs being thrown at the magazine, issued a statement Tuesday saying the White House had first suggested that the publication do a Ford interview.

G. Barry Golson, Playboy assistant managing editor, said the White House offered an interview with Ford after the satirical article, "I Am Jerry's Brain," was published in the September 1974 issue.

"The White House press office called and said the President had read the article and invited the writer to spend a few days at the White House to see how the real Jerry Ford's brain works," Golson said. But he said the writer had other assignments and did not accept.

Playboy said a later effort to set up a brief interview with Ford was unsuccessful because of scheduling conflicts and that the White House was cooperative in that effort.

But Ford's spokesman, Ron Nessen, said Playboy was being given the runaround and that Ford never had any intention of letting Playboy writers ask him any questions.

Nessen said Playboy's account of the first contact was false. "I can't find a scrap of evidence in our files to back it up," he said. "I can't find anyone in the White House who contacted Playboy about a possible

Southwest's new service bid advances

AUSTIN - A hearing examiner with the Texas Aeronautics Commission today recommended that Southwest Airlines add five additional stops, including Midland-Odessa to its existing route system.

Hearing examiner John Soule released his report saying public testimony indicated "an over-whelming desire for Southwest's lower fare, increased frequencies and (existing) service."

If the six members of the aeronautics commission approve Soule's recommendation, Southwest would begin flying to Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock and Midland-Odessa, connecting with existing service to Love Field at Dallas, Hobby Airport at Houston, San Antonio and Harlingen in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Soule, who heard both public and technical testimony on Southwest's application for expanded service over a period of several weeks, predicted the new routes "would stimulate significant intrastate air passenger growth in Texas," and could save two million passengers up to $28 million in fares during the first year, if in-terstate airlines were required to match Soutwest's lower fares in the local markets.

Principally, Soule is falking about Texas International and Braniff Airways, both interstate lines regulated by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The two major lines were joined by several smaller commuter services in an attempt to oppose Southwest's application being heard by Soule.

Those hearings, which brought city and state officials across the state favoring Southwest, also sparked charges that Soule was partial towards the commuter line, owned principally by Lamar Muse of Southwest now flies 112-passenger Boeing 737 jet aircraft. If the aeronautics comission eventually approves, Southwest proposes to add the following non-stop routes: Austin-Corpus Christi, Austin-Dallas, Austin-Harlingen, Corpus Christi-Houston, Dallas-Lubbock, Dallas-Midland-Odessa, El Paso-Midland-Odessa and El Paso-Lubbock.

Now a federal grand jury is probing Park and the money that allegedly flowed from his rice deals into the pockets of congressmen as part of a reputed Korean effort to win favorable treatment in Congress.

The Korean goverment issued formal statement Tuesday that disclaimed any connection with Park or his lobbying activities. "Park has never been employed by the Korean government nor does he have anything to do with President Park Chung Hee," the statement said.

Nixon lawyer upset by tape release ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) -Richard Nixon's Watergate conversations with his associates were quoted extensively in print and made headlines during the 1974 coverup trial. Now, the public may be allowed to hear those incriminating and sometimes earthy tapes.

A court ruling Tuesday to allow copying, broadcast and sale of 30 White House tapes used as trial evidence displeased Nixon's lawyer.

"The effect of the (U.S. Circuit) Court of Appeals decision is to permit the commercial exploitation of the recordings of presidential conversations subpoenaed for use in a criminal trial," Herbert J. Miller said. "Accordingly, we will appeal that decision.

The court noted that "the tapes already have been played in a public forum" and said Nixon's claim of "intrusion on the sensibilities of those whose voices appear on the tapes" is groundless.

'The tapes at issue are not recordings of bedroom or other intimate conversations," the court said. "The embarrassment Mr. Nixon fears is not republication of highly personal matters. Rather, we deal with conversations between business associates admitted into evidence as proof of criminal misconduct.

"The embarrassment Mr. Nixon anticipates is largely that which results whenever misconduct or questionable conduct is exposed."

The tapes involved cover 18 to 22 hours of conversations in the Oval Office and Nixon's Executive Office Building hideaway, including the June 23, 1972, presidential order to derail the FBI's investigation of the Watergate break-in that occurred six days earlier.

Nixon had fought through the courts to withhold that tape and 63 others from Watergate prosecutors. When the Supreme Court finally ordered him to provide them as evidence, Nixon made the contents of several June 23 conversations public and resigned three days later.

The appeals court ruled 2 to 1 that the common-law right to inspect and copy judicial records extends to exhibits, such as the tapes.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who presided over the Watergate cover-up trial, had blocked public release of the tapes until the convicted defendants had gone through the appeals process.

The appeals court recently upheld the convictions of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and former domestic counselor John D. Ehrlichman. Their convictions, however, are being appealed to the Supreme Court.

Sirica was told by the appeals court to work out a plan for releasing the tapes and that 'distribution should be prompt, and on an equal basis to all persons desiring copies."

Broadcasting networks, a broadcast-news directors group and a maker of phonograph records had sued for the right to copy the tapes.

NBC said it plans to "make some program" out of the tapes. ABC said it will not make a decision until it knows in what form the recordings will be released. CBS had no comment immediately.

Warner Communications, Inc., said it plans to release a condensed version of the tapes on one or two long-playing records, as well as a full set for use in libraries.

Christians warn against Arab peacekeeping force

Christian leaders vowed today never to let Arab League peacekeeping forces police their areas of Lebanon, and they predicted that the civil war would continue.

An Arab League summit con-ference in Cairo endorsed a peace plan for Lebanon on Tuesday but failed to agree that Syria should two-thirds of the proposed peace force to enforce the plan.

The Christians also demanded total control by the Lebanese government over Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon and pledged to continue an 11-day-old campaign to drive the guerrillas from southern Lebanon.

The declarations put the Christians on a collision course with President Hafez Assad and the 21,000 Syrian troops he sent into Lebanon to bolster the Christians against the Palestinians and their Lebanese leftist Moslem allies.

Syrian-Christian friction surfaced Tuesday in a clash at Roum, a village in southern Lebanon occupied by the Syrians. Three Christians were reported killed and 12 were reported wounded.

The peace plan calls for revival of a 1969 Cairo agreement that gave the Palestinians the use of southern Lebanon as a staging area for raids into Israel and control of all Palestinian refugee camps in

"This is a concession we shall never accept," said Bashir Gemayel, the commander of the largest Christian militia. "The guerrillas must submit to the authority of the Lebanese state unequivocally. Otherwise we shall remove all refugee camps by force.'

Former President Camille Chamoun, who controls the secondlargest Christian militia, said he would "definitely" not let Arab peace forces into Christian areas. The Cedar Guards, a small extremist Christian militia, took the same position.

A spokesman for a Saudi Arabian-Sudanese peacekeeping contingent already in Beirut said Christian mortars shelled the Beirut airport during the night, damaging it badly. But he said none of the peacekeeping troops based there were injured. The airport has been closed to traffic for months.

Hospitals and militia sources reported that three persons were killed in other minor clashes in Beirut during the night.

The Cairo summit approved the cease-fire and peace plan worked out 10 days ago at a minisummit in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. But Iraq, South Yemen, Algeria and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) refused to agree to the inclusion of the Syrian troops in Lebanon in the 30,000man Arab peacekeeping force to enforce the peace plan.

The presidents and kings instructed Arab League Secretary-General Mahmoud Riad to try to work out arrangements with the Arab governments individually for the makeup and financing of the force, an announcement said would withdraw any of its forces from Lebanon. Riad was expected to try to get Syrian President Hafez Assad and the radical Arab governments to agree on a compromise figure for the Syrian contingent in the peace force.

Meanwhile, the 2,200 Arab League peacekeeping troops which have been in Lebanon for months were ordered to do what they could to maintain the cease-fire that began last Thursday. Saudi Arabian reports said the force would be increased to 7,000 troops by the end of this week.

The PLO and the radical Arab governments demanded that Syrian participation in the peace force be cut to 10,000 troops, or only a third of the total. This was opposed by Egypt, Syria and Lebanon's Christian president, Elias Sarkis, who was elected with Syrian backing.

Conference sources said it was generally agreed that the force would include Saudi and Sudanese troops. But the Palestinians demanded that their own troops participate along with troops from Libya and Algeria.

Presidents Assad and Anwar Sadat of Egypt embraced during the summit, demonstrating their reconciliation at the Riyadh meeting after 14 months of acrimony. Assad broke with his Egyptian ally after Sadat signed the second Sinai agreement with Israel without securing an Israeli withdrawal from Syrian territory.

Peso thaw begins today

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The Mexican government is freeing the peso today from its fixed value for the second time in two months, allowing supply and demand on international money markets to determine the rates of exchange.

Some banking sources speculated that the peso might remain steady at 19.9 to the dollar, or just over five cents. Others predicted it might fall to 22 or 25 to the dollar when the banks opened for business today.

Meanwhile, black leader Joshua Nkomo rebuffed a bid for unity from two of his rivals, Bishop Abel Muzorewa and the Rev. Ndabanngi Muzorewa and Sithole said on their arrival in Geneva Monday that they would present a united front at the conference with Nkomo and his ally, Robert Mugabe. But Nkomo said in an Robert Mugabe. But Nkomo said in an interview that only he and Mugabe No Fords can speak for the 6.4 million Rhodesian blacks.

Nkomo also warned that failure of the conference to arrange the transfer of power to the black majority would turn four years of guerrilla skirmishes into "real war. It will be short and sharp.

Ivor Richard, Britain's ambassador to the United Nations and the chairman of the conference, met separately with Smith and the four black leaders and announced that the conference would open at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) Thursday.

The basic black-white disagreement over the conference's purpose remained unresolved. Smith says the conference must accept without change Secretary of State Henry A. What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

A. to reduce the backlog of about 475 criminal cases and to institute within our court a more rapid (90-day) period for the final disposition of criminal cases filed within Midland

B. to reduce the backlog of over 1,000 civil cases on file and to institute within our court a more rapid (180day) period for hearing such cases.

What policy or operations changes do you propose (or plan to continue) if you are elected:

A. by instituting a program of pretrial hearings in all cases to reduce the points of controversy. This program will speed the judicial process by getting early settlements and weeding out those cases that can be resolved prior to trial by points of law

B. by instituting a program whereby jurors complete a form of basic information so that selecting a jury will not be as time consuming;

C. by being available in the courthouse from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily to insure all business before the court

Police seek charges

Authorities have taken steps to connect five persons charged with kidnaping and attempted capital murder after a highspeed chase and shootout last Sunday with robberies of churches in five states.

Three of the five suspects were charged in Weatherford Tuesday with two such robberies in Parker County and Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans has said that authorities also were trying to connect them to robberies in Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

The five suspects William Lew Plumb, 46, of Springfield, Mo., and Iris Pratt, 24, Juanita Martin, 18, her brother, Danny Martin, 17, and Charles Edward Hall, 32, all of the Fort Worth area — stood in a lineup Tuesday.

After the lineup before witnesses to April 7 and May 7 robberies of rural churches near Azle in Parker County, robbery charges were filed in Weatherford by Disty. Atty. Alex Tandy against Hall, Juanita Martin and Danny Martin.

Kidnaping charges were added Tuesday to the attempted murder charges in Fort Worth against the three men and two women who allegedly broke into a suburban Fort Worth home and terrorized hostages Sunday before police arrived. An ensuing 30-mile freeway chase culminated in the shooting of Fort Worth patrolman T.P. Stewart.

The three, along with Plumb and Pratt — remained in Tarrant County jail on $30,000 bond each on the kidnaping charges and $50,000 bond each on the attempted murder

Appellate court upholds county jury's conviction

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Court of Criminal Appeals today affirmed the 10-year sentence and $2,500 fine assessed Marshall Bennett Davis by a Midland County jury for theft of property over

The court opinion stated Davis was employed as a shop foreman for a Lincoln-Mercury dealership in Midland and that on Jan. 15, 1974, he requested permission to drive a 1974 demonstrator automobile to Temple for medical treatment.

The car was to be returned the following day, but "appellant left and never returned," the court reported. Two months later, Davis was located in Salem, Ore., with the car which he then claimed belonged to him, the opinion said. Davis appealed the conviction on grounds that there was insufficient evidence to support the conviction and that the state had not shown who the owner of the car was. The appeals court rejected the contentions, saying it found "no reversable error."

Trustees set dates for meetings to learn community school goals

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Midland school trustees will conduct a series of five community meetings in November to find out what goals citizens would like to see adopted by the school district.

In its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon the board set Nov. 11, 16 and 18 as dates for the meetings. Each meeting will be attended by three board members.

The view of the community, as expressed in the meetings, will be used in formulating a survey questionnaire and will be the first step in defining goals for the school

Each of the five meetings will be for a geographical area of the city. A meeting for Fannin, Rusk and Emerson patrons will be held at Fannin. Bonham, Jones, Henderson, Brunet and Long patrons will meet at Long. The meeting for Houston, West, Lamar and Bowie elementary schools will be at Houston. South, Washington and Travis patrons will meet at South. Meeting at Crockett Elementary School will be Crockett, Milam, Pease and De Zavala patrons.

Each meeting will be open to all residents of these elementary school attendance areas.

Two meetings will be held on Nov. 11, one on Nov. 16 and two on Nov. 18.

Meeting times will be designated at the next school board meeting.

Schools superintendent Dr. James H. Mailey said if more than three board members attend any one meeting it will constitute a special school board meeting.

Format for the meetings was left open but each will cover the following topics: facilities and boundaries, personnel and evaluation, educational programs and methods, government and public interface, athletics and finance. The board also heard a report on a Title IX self-study performed as part of regulations prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sex.

Mailey said some action has been taken already toward compliance with the Title IX regulations, including establishment of grievance procedures, an anti-discrimination policy statement and district-wide action to build up firls' athletics.

The report was compiled by a steering committee and presented by Garland Chapman, assistant superintendent of schools for administrative services.

One area in which change was recommended was in equality of facilities. Chapman said equal use of school gymnasiums and an end to the "boys gym" and "girls gym" concept was one such recommendation. The girls gym is usually smaller.

Another area is in encouraging women to qualify for administrative positions. At present there is only one woman principal and one assistant principal in the school system.

Committee recommendations were that women be encouraged to qualify for administrative positions and be given preference, where professional qualifications are equal, until a more suitable balance is reached

Mailey said such affirmative action is required. Other recommendations dealt with sex stereotyping of certain course offerings, such as homemaking, although no courses now are limited to one sex.

The trustees also approved appointment of a textbook committee composed of professional employes of the school district.

Mailey said state law requires formation of such a committee to choose among approved textbooks those that will be used by the district. The law further requires that it be made up of professional educators and that the superintendent serve as chairman. The committee includes member specializing in each of the subject areas for which textbooks will be adopted this year. It will study the state-adopted books, meet with representatives of the publishers, provide an opportunity for citizens to object to particular books and recommend books for adoption by the school board, Mailey said.

Trustee Don Sparks introduced a motion to require notification of all school board members when a state or federal agency requests a meeting with a school board member as representative of the school district and the superintendent. The motion also included a provision that other board members be given an opportunity to attend such meetings.

The motion was defeated in a four to three vote but the board unanimously approved a motion by David Grimes to request the staff to study the question and present a recommendation on incorporating the content of the motion into district

Sparks said his intent in introducing the motion was to give each board member an opportunity to attend any official meeting initiated by a federal or state agency.

He said no specific problem has developed so far but he is concerned that a problem might develop at a future date since there is "more and more federal involvement in school system." Vernon Chandler of the Midland County Farmers Union presented statement to the board from organization commending it and the U.S. Justice Department for a "fair and workable" desegregation plan.

The trustees also approved bids for re-roofing and painting at the Carver Building, which is being renovated for use as a cultural exchange center The re-roofing contract was awarded to Lydick Roofing for a bid of $37,357 Other bidders were Branch Roofing at $51,300, Stanley Roofing at $54,640 and Frank Sheppard Roofing $66,968. The contract for painting went t Ruel Hoffman with a bid of $5,676. No other bids were received from the six companies receiving bid notices.

A contract for 25 band blazers for Edison Freshman School was awarded to Sol Frank Uniform Co. for $1.507. Other bids were from Fruhauf Uniforms for $1,645, Uniforms by Ostwald for $1,672 and Wilsie Cap and Gown Co. for $1,750.

The board also accepted bids for $26,253 for musical instruments.

The majority of the instruments will be purchased from May and Duncan Music Co., with several purchases going to John Coffey Music

Board members heard attendance reports for two home football games. Attendance at the Oct. 15 Midland High School-Abilene High School game was 5,072 and total receipts were $7,735.50. At the Oct. 8 game between Lee High School and San Angelo Central High School, attendance was 4,717 and total receipts were $8,204

Council postpones action on offer of funds for developing city park

By DEBBIE PIERCE

The Midland City Council Tuesday was offered funds for the development of a park in the northwest part of the city, but council postponed action on the matter.

Hank Krusekopf, a member of the Midland Kiwanis Club, appeared and restated his club's offer of $10,000 over the next three years to develop a four-acre park in northwest Midland.

He said the funds would be used to help with surface development of the proposed Kiwanis Park, with $4,000 of the total going toward first-year development of the facility.

Councilman Martin Neill suggested it would be "improper" to act on this or any city park until council can hold the proposed bond election in February for parks improvements. The acquisition of land for a northwest park is included in the bond proposal

Krusekopf agreed the Kiwanis Club could postpone its offer until after the bond election.

Council also considered a request by the Midland Girl Scouts for the lease or purchase of three acres on Ventura Drive.

Paul Davis, representing the group, told council the girl scouts' present location on Front Street had problems of vandalism and safety. "We've been on that site free of charge since 1949," he said. "But we're now prepared to go to a major fund-raising project to build a $250,000 program center.

The group was seeking a site next to the Cerebral Palsy Center, but council suggested a tract of land north of that facility, rather than west of it. Davis said that suggested location would be unsuitable to the girl scouts, however Council then agreed the matter should go before the city Planning and Zoning Commission for its recommendation.

The city gave its approval to a request by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for an easement for the relocation of its pipeline on Midland Regional Air Terminal property

Council noted that Pioneer wanted to construct a new pipeline around the perimeter of Air Terminal property, not across and below the proposed new extension of runway 16 right 34

In other action during its recordshort session, council: Approved on first reading establishing a 25 mph speed limit for trains within the city limits; - Heard a request by Human Relations Council president Susan Edwards for a public hearing to receive citizen input on a mass transportation system, and agreed to give the matter further study; Approved on first reading an ordinance amending city zoning regulations pertaining to requirements of the multiple family, office and local retail districts to make them more consistent: - Approved the 1976-77 contract with the Human Relations Council; - Declared its intention to amend the cooperative agreement with the Midland Housing Authority, to include not only low rent housing but also rehabilitation of homes of low income persons in its definition of "projects," and noted that work would be done through a loan or grant

- Agreed to authorize the advertisement for bids for a tract of city-owned property adjacent to the north side of Scharbauer Drive between I and L streets;

- Approved the sublease of a hangar and office space from the Rich-Air Co. to El Paso Products; Authorized agreement with the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission to cover the city's share of the unified work program for the 1976-77 budget year; - Agreed to follow the recom-mendations of the city traffic engineering department and have a marked school crossing zone with a reduction in speed limits on Midland Drive at its intersection with Neely Avenue, rather than the requested flashing lights there; - Approved the affirmative action plan in connection with Department of Housing and Urban Development regulations regarding Community Development funds; Approved current and prior years' agreements with the PBRPC for operation of the police academy; Authorized rental of Alamo Junior High School to conduct driver's education classes; - Approved on second and final reading a request by the Jade Garden Restaurant for a specific use permit for on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages in the 3200 block of Wadley Avenue;

 Approved the vacating and abandoning of a north-south alley along the east side of the Jade Garden Restaurant's property;

- Approved on second and final reading amending the commercial garbage charges;

- Authorized the advertisement for bids to clean up the area around the old Collins caliche pit in the western part of the city, plus the area near the water reservoir at Hogan Park;

- Cited city tax assessor-collector Virgil Jones Jr. for the city's 99.03 per cent collection of taxes rate;

- Approved the relocation of school crossing guards from Main and Big Spring streets to Dakota and Big Spring streets, and from Indiana and Tilden streets to Illinois and Stoneybrook streets, with an updated study to be conducted next year on all school crossing guards;

- Confirmed action of the city manager in authorizing emergency repairs to the air-conditioning system at the Public Safety Building.

 Authorized the advertisement for bids for a six-month supply of petroleum products, for two backhoe and front-end loader combinations and one street sweeper, and for an estimated annual quantity of chemicals for use at the water treatment plant;

Agreed to remove eight dilapidated properties near DeZavala School as soon as funds become available;

- Agreed the city had made an error in issuing a building permit for a parking lot for a new continental restaurant in the 2800 block of N. Big Spring Street, and recommended the owners go before the city Planning and Zoning Commission and seek rezoning to planned district instead of parking district:

- Awarded a contract to Zenith Cleaners for $24,026 for cleaning, pressing and laundry services for the boxes: police and fire departments for Nov. 1, 1976, through Oct. 31, 1977;

- Awarded a contract to Prismo Universal Corp. for $9,300 for 1,000 gallons of white and 1,000 gallons of yellow traffic marking paint;

- Awarded a contract to Rohan Co for $6,720 for 500 15- by 13-inch meter

 Approved purchase of the balance of SPCA supplies and equipment at the city animal shelter for $2,043.89; and,

Approved statements from the Midland Chamber of Commerce totaling $1,230.65.

Ford didn't plan to have interview

said he turned down an interview request "with an emphatic no." Playboy's publisher Hugh M Hefner accused Ford of "an improper and reprehensible attempt to damage the Democratic candidate through guilt by association, as though granting an interview to Playboy were equivalent to posing naked in the center of the magazine."

Ford, doing a TV commercial in Chicago with sportscaster Joe Garagiola, said Tuesday his ad-ministration differs from Nixon's because 'there's no pomp, there's no ceremony, there's no dictatorial authority.

The program, in a talk showtype format, has Garagiola serving up questions that Ford wants to discuss. Ford said in the program that he runs a "people's White House" that allows individuals to walk in and tell him

But Carter told Illinois crowds that Ford had kept too many Nixon of-ficials in the government. Ford, he said, did not bring into government "new, aggressive, dynamic people to change things that were wrong" with the Nixon administration.

Carter said Ford had done nothing to control inflation and unemployment. "Instead of moving forward or standing still, our nation has slipped backward," he said. "You can't stand still and cling by your fingernails to the past."

Dallasite pays employes to vote

The Dallas Times Herald

DALLAS - Larry Klein was disgusted with the political apathy of his employes, so he vowed he'd get them to the polls Nov. 2 come hell or high water.

"I was talking to some of them a few weeks ago and asked if they were going to vote," says the owner of Dallas-based L.E. Klein Co., Inc., "They just said 'Well, uh ...' So then I said I'd give them a half-day off if they'd vote and they went 'hmm ...' Then I said I'd give them a $25 bonus if they'd vote and they said 'Yes.

Klein should have no legal problems with the offer, according to Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade, since Klein said he would not particular candidate, although Klein says he plans to vote for Eugene Mc-Carthy.

"I told them I didn't care who they vote for - white black, Chinese or orange ... just quit complaining about the government and get out and do something about it."

Klein said this was the first time he has thought of the idea ("I'm Scotch. and I don't give $25 to just anyone"), but said he is offering the bonus because he was "fed up with apathy," and hoped some larger companies would follow suit.

"I know that even if all my people vote, it won't make that much difference," said Klein. "But if one of these giant corporations around here picked up the idea, it could swing a ci-

Klein said he would also offer the bonus at future elections, including city elections, although it may be a strain on his budget.

"I don't know whether I'll get a tax break or not, but if I have to, I'll take it out of my own pocket," said Klein, who admits he was also politically apathetic in earlier years, but at age

56 is "just waking up to life."

Klein, a dealer of liquified petroleum gas equipment, says he will vote for McCarthy because he doesn't like the way Republicans and Democrats run the elections.

Appellate court upholds county jury's conviction

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Court of Criminal Appeals today affirmed the 10-year sentence and $2.500 fine assessed Marshall Bennett Davis by a Midland County jury for theft of property over

The court opinion stated Davis was employed as a shop foreman for a Lincoln-Mercury dealership in Midland and that on Jan. 15, 1974, he requested permission to drive a 1974 demonstrator automobile to Temple for medical treatment.

The car was to be returned the following day, but "appellant left and never returned," the court reported.

Two months later, Davis was located in Salem, Ore., with the car which he then claimed belonged to him, the opinion said.

Davis appealed the conviction on grounds that there was insufficient evidence to support the conviction and that the state had not shown who the owner of the car was.

The appeals court rejected the contentions, saying it found reversable error.

Trustees set dates for meetings to learn community school goals

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Midland school trustees will conduct a series of five community meetings in November to find out what goals citizens would like to see adopted by the school district.

In its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon the board set Nov. 11, 16 and 18 as dates for the meetings. Each meeting will be attended by three board members.

The view of the community, as expressed in the meetings, will be used in formulating a survey questionnaire and will be the first step in defining goals for the school district. Each of the five meetings will be for a geographical area of the city. A meeting for Fannin, Rusk and Emerson patrons will be held at Fannin. Bonham, Jones, Henderson, Brunet and Long patrons will meet at Long. The meeting for Houston, West. Lamar and Bowie elementary schools will be at Houston. South, Washington and Travis patrons will meet at South. Meeting at Crockett Elementary and De Zavala patrons.

School will be Crockett, Milam, Pease

Two meetings will be held on Nov. 11, one on Nov. 16 and two on Nov. 18.

Meeting times will be designated at the next school board meeting.

Schools superintendent Dr. James H. Mailey said if more than three board members attend any one meeting it will constitute a special school board meeting.

Format for the meetings was left open but each will cover the following topics: facilities and boundaries, personnel and evaluation, educational programs and methods, government and public interface, athletics and finance.

The board also heard a report on a Title IX self-study performed as part of regulations prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sex.

Mailey said some action has been taken already toward compliance with the Title IX regulations, including establishment of grievance procedures, an anti-discrimination policy statement and district-wide action to build up firls' athletics.

The report was compiled by a steering committee and presented by Garland Chapman, assistant superintendent of schools for administrative services.

One area in which change was recommended was in equality of facilities. Chapman said equal use of school gymnasiums and an end to the "boys gym" and "girls gym" concept was one such recommendation. The girls gym is usually smaller.

Another area is in encouraging women to qualify for administrative positions. At present there is only one woman principal and one assistant principal in the school system. Committee recommendations were that women be encouraged to qualify for administrative positions and be given preference, where professional qualifications are equal, until a more suitable balance is reached.

Mailey said such affirmative action is required.

Other recommendations dealt with sex stereotyping of certain course offerings, such as homemaking, although no courses now are limited to one sex.

The trustees also approved appointment of a textbook committee composed of professional employes of the school district.

Mailey said state law requires formation of such a committee to choose among approved textbooks those that will be used by the district. The law further requires that it be made up of professional educators and that the superintendent serve as chairman.

The committee includes member specializing in each of the subject areas for which textbooks will be adopted this year. It will study the state-adopted books, meet with representatives of the publishers. provide an opportunity for citizens to object to particular books and recommend books for adoption by the school board, Mailey said.

Trustee Don Sparks introduced a motion to require notification of all school board members when a state or federal agency requests a meeting with a school board member as representative of the school district and the superintendent. The motion also included a provision that other board members be given an opportunity to attend such meetings.

The motion was defeated in a four to three vote but the board unanimously approved a motion by David Grimes to request the staff to study the question and present a recommendation on incorporating the content of the motion into district

Sparks said his intent in introducing the motion was to give each board member an opportunity to attend any official meeting initiated by a federal or state agency.

He said no specific problem has developed so far but he is concerned that a problem might develop at a future date since there is "more and more federal involvement in our school system.'

Vernon Chandler of the Midland County Farmers Union presented a statement to the board from the organization commending it and the U.S. Justice Department for a "fair and workable" desegregation plan. The trustees also approved bids for re-roofing and painting at the Carver Building, which is being renovated for use as a cultural exchange center. The re-roofing contract was awarded to Lydick Roofing for a bid of $37,357. Other bidders were Branch Roofing at $51,300, Stanley Roofing at $54,640 and Frank Sheppard Roofing at

The contract for painting went to Ruel Hoffman with a bid of $5,676. No other bids were received from the six companies receiving bid notices. A contract for 25 band blazers for

Edison Freshman School was awarded to Sol Frank Uniform Co. for $1,507. Other bids were from Fruhauf Uniforms for $1,645, Uniforms by Ostwald for $1,672 and Willsie Cap and Gown Co. for $1,750. The board also accepted bids for $26,253 for musical instruments.

The majority of the instruments will be purchased from May and Dunean Music Co., with several purchases going to John Coffey Music

Board members heard attendance reports for two home football games. Attendance at the Oct. 15 Midland High School-Abilene High School game was 5,072 and total receipts were $7,735.50. At the Oct. 8 game between Lee High School and San Angelo Central High School, attendance was 4,717 and total receipts were $8,204

By DEBBIE PIERCE

The Midland City Council Tuesday was offered funds for the development of a park in the northwest part of the city, but council postponed action on the matter.

Hank Krusekopf, a member of the before the group and restated his club's offer of $10,000 over the next three years to develop a four-acre park in northwest Midland.

He said the funds would be used to help with surface development of the proposed Kiwanis Park, with $4,000 of the total going toward first-year development of the facility.

Councilman Martin Neill suggested it would be "improper" to act on this or any city park until council can hold the proposed bond election in February for parks improvements. The acquisition of land for a northwest park is included in the bond proposal.

Krusekopf agreed the Kiwanis Club could postpone its offer until after the bond election.

Council also considered a request by the Midland Girl Scouts for the lease or purchase of three acres on Ventura Drive.

Paul Davis, representing the group, told council the girl scouts' present location on Front Street had problems of vandalism and safety. "We've been on that site free of charge since 1949," he said. "But we're now prepared to go to a major fund-raising project to build a $250,000 program center."

The group was seeking a site next to the Cerebral Palsy Center, but council suggested a tract of land north of that facility, rather than west of it. Davis said that suggested location would be unsuitable to the girl scouts, however.

Council then agreed the matter should go before the city Planning and Zoning Commission for its recommendation.

The city gave its approval to a request by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for an easement for the relocation of its pipeline on Midland Regional Air

Terminal property. Council noted that Pioneer wanted to construct a new pipeline around the perimeter of Air Terminal property, not across and below the proposed new extension of runway 16 right 34

In other action during its recordshort session, council: Approved on first reading establishing a 25 mph speed limit for trains within the city limits; - Heard a request by Human Relations Council president Susan Edwards for a public hearing to receive citizen input on a mass transportation system, and agreed to give the matter further study;

 Approved on first reading an ordinance amending city zoning regulations pertaining to requirements of the multiple family, office and local retail districts to make them more consistent; - Approved the 1976-77 contract with the Human Relations Council: Declared its intention to amend the cooperative agreement with the Midland Housing Authority, to include not only low rent housing but also rehabilitation of homes of low income persons in its definition of "projects," and noted that work would be done through a loan or grant

- Agreed to authorize the advertisement for bids for a tract of city-owned property adjacent to the north side of Scharbauer Drive between I and L streets; Approved the sublease of a mendations of the city traffic engineering department and have a marked school crossing zone with a reduction in speed limits on Midland Drive at its intersection with Neely Avenue, rather than the requested flashing lights there: - Approved the affirmative action plan in connection with Department of Housing and Urban Development regulations regarding Community Development funds:

- Approved current and prior years' agreements with the PBRPC for operation of the police academy; - Authorized rental of Alamo

Junior High School to conduct driver's education classes; - Approved on second and final reading a request by the Jade Garden

Restaurant for a specific use permit for on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages in the 3200 block of Wadley Avenue; Approved the vacating and abandoning of a north-south alley along the east side of the Jade Garden Restaurant's property;

- Approved on second and final reading amending the commercial garbage charges: - Authorized the advertisement for bids to clean up the area around the old Collins caliche pit in the western part of the city, plus the area near the water reservoir at Hogan Park;

 Cited city tax assessor-collector Virgil Jones Jr. for the city's 99.03 per cent collection of taxes rate; - Approved the relocation of school crossing guards from Main and Big Spring streets to Dakota and Big Spring streets, and from Indiana and Tilden streets to Illinois and Stoneybrook streets, with an updated study to be conducted next year on all school crossing guards;

- Confirmed action of the city manager in authorizing emergency repairs to the air-conditioning system at the Public Safety Building.

- Authorized the advertisement for bids for a six-month supply of petroleum products, for two backhoe and front-end loader combinations and one street sweeper, and for an estimated annual quantity of chemicals for use at the water treatment plant;

- Agreed to remove eight dilapidated properties near DeZavala School as soon as funds become

Back on the track

For a brief period, the death by heart attack of three elderly persons in Pittsburgh, Pa., soon after they received swine flu vaccine appeared to be derailing the nationwide immunization program.

Then when President Ford rolled up his sleeve for his injection, and Pittsburgh announced that its vaccination clinics would reopen, it was obvious the program was back on the track.

The scare was felt in Midland, with a sudden slump in the demand for the vaccine closing two of three sites used during the inoculation campaign by the Midland City-County Health Department. But, as in other areas, interest and demand again are on the increase. A bivalent strain of swine flu inoculations now also is being offered in Midland, intended for those persons over 64 years of age and those in chronic bad health. The demand for vaccine was considerably under expectations in a clinic at Dallas last Sunday, but interest there also should mount in the coming weeks.

Lacking any evidence of a connection between the vaccine and the heart attacks at Pittsburgh, there is no reason to form a different opinion about the safety of the vaccine or the wisdom of the immunization program.

As a federal health official has pointed out, there are about 11 deaths every 24 hours among every 100,000 persons between the ages of 65 and 75 in the nation's population. Statistically, then, it stands to reason that some deaths are going to occur in any large group of older persons receiving the vaccine. Those who have heart conditions and are sensitive to stress even could be vulnerable to the experience of lining up to receive a shot in the arm.

State health officials who suspended their swine flu programs until the air was cleared certainly cannot be faulted for their caution. The important thing is to establish whether there is any cause and effect relationship between the vaccine and any illness or death of persons who receive it. As of now there is nothing emerging from the laboratories to suggest that there is, and the swine flu immunization program should be able to continue as an effective, voluntary way for Americans to protect themselves against a bout with influenza and a potential epidemic.

It is simply a matter of rolling up one's sleeve for the shot, if he or she is so inclined.

Chief stalls probe of law firm

WASHINGTON - Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander violated his own orders

recognizing the potential for a conflict, alerted John Hanlon who was then the assistant commissioner in charge of compliance. They recommended that, for the sake of propriety, Alexander be kept out of the tax haven investigation.

Hanlon immediately told Alexander's right bower, Burke Willsey. about the possible conflict. Our sources say that Willsey objected to the idea of withholding the details from Alexander. But Willsey told us he informed Alexander only that his former law partners were under investigation, omitting the specifics of the investigation.

By late January 1974, the IRS legal department also became aware that Alexander's erstwhile firm was involved in the Tradewinds investigation. Joseph Salus, who worked with the Tradewinds agents, wrote a confidential memo which was eventually presented to the IRS chief

The memo reiterated the recommendation of the intelligence division that Alexander should have nothing to do with the tax haven investigation. Again in mid-1975, the intelligence officials warned Hanlon that it would look bad if Alexander became involved in this operation. And Assistant Commissioner Warren Bates, who is in charge of enforcing standards of conduct inside the IRS. was also informed of Alexander's potential conflict.

Yet the commissioner soon became involved in impeding the investigation. It began with the intelligence agents, themselves, who became concerned that their evidence might not be admissible in court. Not only had the Rolodex been stolen by an informant, but the revelations may have violated federal evidentiary laws. The IRS legal division sought the opinion of the Justice Department, which asked for more information

But Chief Counsel Meade Whitaker ignored Justice's request for more facts and recommended that the agents be stopped from accepting intelligence information from inside Bahamian banks.

This recommendation was put in a confidential memo, dated July 28, 1975, to Commissioner Alexander Yet Whitaker had been fully informed of Alexander's possible conflict.

The following day, Alexander requested a public hearing before the House Ways and Means Oversight subcommittee. He promised to produce "sexy, front-page" news at the hearing. Our sources say Alexander planned to cite the tax haven investigation, particularly the stealing of the Rolodex containing his former partner's names, as an example of intelligence abuse.

The Justice Dept. learned. however, that Alexander intended to discuss the tax haven investigation at a public hearing. The department solemnly advised the subcommittee that the publicity would hurt the investigation. The subcommittee immediately cancelled the hearing.

Yet Alexander, who received the same advice, ignored it. On Sept. 29. 1975, he held a press conference and divulged the confidential information that he had intended to discuss at the Alexander's subordinates, meanwhile, held a secret meeting to discuss the stolen materials. They decided that the information was "tainted" and recommended that Alexander prohibit the use of this information. He gave his approval within 24 hours - a decision, of course, that had the effect of obstructing the investigation involving his former law firm.

Right or wrong, the decision raises questions about conflict of interest.

His firsthand version of conditions in Chile differs markedly from the horror tales one most often hears.

LoCicero had been invited to their country by Chileans who wanted to express their appreciation for the charitable work he had done.

He had opportunity to tour future hospital sites in Valparaiso, Santiago's port city, to visit service clubs and other groups, and to meet Chileans from Pinochet down to orphans in child care centers. "I went to Chile to see the people and I found that they are united in support for their leaders and the goal of rebuilding the nation," LoCicero

He reported that he "saw firsthand the love and respect people have for Pinochet." He noted, as others have before, that, although there is a curfew in effect during the early morning hours, security measures are less obvious in Santiago than in most other world capitals.

INSIDE REPORT:

Jimmy Carter's troubles way out west are revealed

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK LOS ANGELES - Suffering a severe drain to President Ford of white, middle-class nominal

Democrats in Southern California, Jimmy Carter's hopes for this state's potentially decisive 45 electoral votes rest on farm labor organizer Cesar Chavez turning out minority, student and other liberal voters for Carter

Chavez' United Farm Workers and the California left generally are making a massive effort to pass Proposition 14, which would make easier Chavez' organizing of farm laborers. Since Carter has endorsed Proposition 14 at the price of alienating his remaining conservative support, the farm workers are at the core of a new Carter get-out-the-vote operation. With that operation, Carter's California campaign somnolent for three months - began anew Oct. 18. Besides farm worker muscle. Carter's effort to get minority voters to the polls is fueled by the belated arrival in the campaign of Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown's top political operatives and the dispatch from Atlanta of $255,000 for telephone banks. But it may be too late. Although statewide polls show a virtual dead heat, there is foreboding among experienced Democratic politicians here that Carter has lost California - and because of that, perhaps the presidency.

Actually, California Democrats are strong and unified, California Republicans are weak and divided. But Republicans have momentarily set side profound ideological differences, despite deep scars from the Ford-Reagan struggle, in order to back Mr. Ford.

One reason is the performance by Republican national committeeman Mike Curb, a young Hollywood entertainment magnate and political neophyte who has persuaded fellow Reaganites to back the President. But Curb's efforts were possible only because of the Republican right's view that, whatever Mr. Ford's deficiencies, Carter is incomparably

Such a judgment was by no means certain during the summer when polls showed that Carter, winning California in a landslide, was capturing those pockets of conservative white Democrats (mainly Southern migrants) that have eluded Democratic presidential candidates here. "I thought we had a candidate who could get the redneck vote that not even Jack Kennedy won," a Democratic leader told us.

But when post-Labor Day surveys showed Carter trailing the entire ticket for the "redneck vote," plans to tie state legislative candidates to his campaign were dropped. Key Democrats here feel that Carter's leftward lunge last August embracing Ralph Nader and Warren Beatty alienated conservatives without winning over liberals.

This sudden erosion of Carter's base left him no real choice on Proposition 14. Newly reliant on the party's left, he could not take a neutral position costing him the support of Chavez and perhaps of Gov. Brown. Nevertheless, the endorsement burned Carter's bridges with the central valley farmers, his original California supporters, and probably lost other white conservatives.

Accordingly, Carter's chances for California are linked to the same liberal coalition that (except for the 1964 anti-Goldwater landslide) has lost every presidential election here since 1948. That is why deep-seated suspicion toward Carter by California liberals could prove catastrophic. Just last week, when state assembly majority leader Howard Berman urged support for Carter at a dinner of liberal activists, embarrassing silence was the response.

But in the euphoria following Carter's nomination, there was no interest in cultivating California liberals. When Jerry Brown visited Plains in August, he suggested that experienced California politician Joe Beeman manage Carter's California campaign. Carter declined, insisting that outsiders run his state campaigns. The result has been a becalmed Carter campaign here, helped little by two ineffective Carter visits, and a disappointing voter registration effort.

Complacency over California has long since fled from Atlanta. Charles Kirbo, Carter's closest adviser, has been telephoning Los Angeles asking what's wrong. After two weeks of negotiations, Beeman and Tom Quinn, Brown's top political agent, finally entered the Carter campaign Oct. 18 - but that only brought on disagreements. Quinn was dubious about $255,000 for telephone banks and has urged new Carter television spots for California.

Nor is Quinn happy about plans for Carter's California visit the day before the election, particularly a proposed Monday afternoon rally at the 15,000-seat Los Angeles Sports Arena which invites disaster. Quinn is seeking an election eve telethon here by Carter, who wants to return to Plains that night. Moreover, Brown telephoned Carter last Tuesday and urged him to visit California the week

In fact, however, Democratic leaders here feel Carter will not change his plans, his TV commercials or himself enough to make a dif-ference. While praying that Proposition 14 will energize liberals for Carter, the real hope of California Democrats is that President Ford will lose the election in the Midwestern industrial states. They dread the outcome if the election hinges on California late into the night of Nov. 2.

Postal union leaders assembling

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Leaders of the nation's biggest postal union this week may decide when, or if, most Americans will get their Christmas cards, packages and bills.

More than 40 regional chiefs of the 200,000 member American Postal Workers Union here Tuesday to decide how to solve job problems that don't seem especially earth shaking to postal patrons. But their decision could affect everybody who gets or sends mail.

The issues before the union war council are basic and explosive to the 600,000 rank-and-file mail movers and could lead to a "job action" that could take the form of a slowdown or strike. If it comes it would be during the critical Thanksgiving-to-Christmas period when the already-jammed U.S. system has to move more mail than the rest of the world is required to deliver in a full year.

Most union leaders are as anxious as management to play down strike talk. Members are benefitting from a contract that gives them regular flat pay raises and also regular guaranteed cost-of-living boosts. In the last 16 months total salary of postal workers has gone up $900 per year in basic wages, plus another $624 per employee in cost-of-living increases.

In addition, many postal workers are getting heavy amounts of overtime (and headaches) thanks to the 15-state strike by the private United Parcel Service. That has sent many package customers back to the U.S. Postal Service and jammed up facilities around the country even before the big Christmas rush begins. A strike or slowdown now would have maximum impact - but cutting off regular paychecks plus the overtime dollars would also have maximum impact on employees too.

Union leaders who don't want a strike (and some local militant leaders want one very much) are afraid that the membership might get ahead of them as it did several years ago. At that time national union leaders were talking about a strike over wages. But few of them really expected one. But militants in the New York Area, in Philadelphia, Chicago and Houston didn't follow the game-plan and called a walkout which at its peak had 220,000 employees (mostly in the northeastern part of the U.S.) out on

Despite the laws against striking (penalty is dismissal, a $1,000 fine and-or a year and a day in jail) the government didn't crack down. President Nixon granted a 14-per cent wage hike in return for union support of the concept of a semi-independent postal corporation.

Since that time unions have dealt with the corporations managers - rather than the President or Congress - over wages, fringes and working conditions.

One of the things they have won, and kept, for two contract periods is a promise that the U.S. Postal Service - which is trying to automate would not lay off any workers. But USPS managers (who spend 80 cents of every dollar they take in on salaries and fringe benefits) have found a way around the no-layoff pledge. It is called "excessing", which combines routes or inside jobs.

Beverage price fixing charged

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) - An indictment accusing the Lubbock County Beverage Association, four liquor retailers and three of their executives of conspiring to fix alcoholic beverage prices between 1967 and 1974 was returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday.

The one-count indictment named the beverage association, a non-profit group made up of persons involved in the retail sale of alcoholic beverages; Cecil's, Inc., of Lubbock; Craft Keys Package Store of Lubbock; Pinkie's, Inc., of Odessa; All Star Co. of Lubbock; Bob J. Grimes of the Lubbock division of Pinkie's, Inc.; Herbert Odom, president and general manager of Cecil's; and Kenneth F. Odom, secretary-treasurer and manager in charge of operations

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward is to arraign the defendants Nov. 4. If convicted, the corporations face possible fines of up to $50,000 and the individuals face fines up to $50,000 and jail terms up to one year if convicted.

The investigation reportedly began in August 1975 when FBI agents surveyed Lubbock liquor store prices.

Before returning the indictment, grand jurors listened to testimony from about 70 witnesses and reviewed hundreds of sales records, invoices and other liquor store records.

The U.S. Justice Department filed a civil suit against four companies in the non-profit association Tuesday. The government seeks an injunction to prevent the companies from engaging in alleged price fixing procedures in the future.

With LBJ looking on from his portrait in the Texas Senate chamber, Frank Erwin, former Democratic national committeeman from Texas, criticizes presidential nominee Jimmy Carter. Erwin claimed Carter never retracted nor apologized for his remarks about former President Johnson.

LBJ friends form anti-Carter group

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Close associates of former President Lyndon B. Johnson have formed a Johnson Democrats Against Carter Committee' because they say Jimmy Carter never denied, never apologized for and never retracted remarks he made about Johnson in a Playboy magazine interview.

The committee was announced Tuesday at a news conference by Frank C. Erwin Jr., an Austin attorney who formerly was a Democratic national committeeman and is president of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Foundation. He said he would serve as chairman with Jack Lentz, Victoria, and Warren Woodward, Dallas, as cochairman.

He said the group would raise money for newspaper advertisements and other media releases in the remaining days of the campaign.

"Mrs. Johnson has not seen this statement and had no part in preparing it," Erwin said.

Erwin said that Carter in the Playboy interview accused the late president of "lying, cheating and distorting the truth.

Erwin said that on Sept. 21, the day the Playboy article was in news stories. Mrs. Johnson got a telephone call from Carter. He said Carter told Mrs. Johnson that his words had been 'taken out of context."

"In his only conversation with Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Carter never denied making the reported remarks about President Johnson, he never apologized to her for those remarks and he never retracted them," Erwin

Erwin said the following day, Sept. 22, Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, told the press that Carter had conveyed his apology to Mrs. Johnson "and left the clear impression that Mrs. Johnson has accepted his apology, but this she could not have done because Mr. Carter had tendered no apology to her."

Erwin said that Mrs. Johnson said ter's remarks about her late husband that she was "distressed, hurt and perplexed." He said "she has not since applogized for or retracted those words."

Erwin said the announcement of the "alleged apology has mislead many of President Johnson's friends because they have expressed to me their satisfaction over the fact that the apology was made and accepted."

He said that any candidate "who would make slanderous and untrue statements about President Johnson ... and then compound those insults by attempting to mislead the people by claiming the benefits of an apology to Mrs. Johnson which he never made, does not have the moral integrity to hold the office of president."

Friend says Robinson owned murder weapon

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) - The shotgun that killed East Texas black civil rights leader Frank J. Robinson

civil rights leader Frank J. Robinson earlier this month was one he owned, according to a tentative identification made by a friend of Robinson.

Palestine Police Chief Kenneth Berry said Tuesday a friend of Robinson saw photographs of the shotgun and "tentatively" identified it as one Robinson owned. The shotgun was found next to Robinson's body last Oct. 13 when he was found shot to death in his garage. death in his garage.

Carrillo to testify

Carrillo, charged with alleged official misconduct as a county commissioner in Duval County, was expected to take the stand today as his trial apparently neared an end.

One of his sons, Bobby Carrillo, testified Tuesday the late George Parr told him to use a Duval County truck to haul privately owned grain in July 1974.

"He said not to worry about it, that he would take care of it," Carrillo

Asked what he understood that to mean, the son said he assumed Parr had already paid for the truck or had made arrangements for its use.

When he learned a year later that Parr had not paid the county for the truck, the son said, he gave a $280 cashier's check to the county treasurer, figuring $20 a load for 14 loads.

The father was county commissioner at the time the truck was used and is accused of misapplying

If convicted, Carrillo could get up to 10 years in prison.

Chief Berry, however, noted that ci-ty and state officials are still working the case as a possible homicide although current evidence seems to indicate a suicide.

An official inquest into the circumstances surrounding Robinson's death will be conducted Nov. 16 by Palestine and state officials.

Robinson had been shot once in the head. The shotgun had three spent

Two of the spent shells were fired against the side of the garage. The third killed Robinson. Black leaders and Robinson's widow asked for an official investigation into his death claiming that it was political assassination caused by resentment over Robinson's political involvement in East Texas

Robinson, a retired school superintendent, had successfully fought redistricting battles in Ander-son County aimed at increasing black representation.

Berry said he originally believed Robinson's death might have been a suicide, but abandoned the theory when Mrs. Robinson said she had never seen the shotgun found in the garage. She noted, however, that Robinson owned a shotgun.

But Berry was quoted Tuesday as saying that a friend of Robinson viewed a photograph of the weapon and stated it appeared to be "similar" to one Robinson owned. The friend said he could give a definite answer if he could hold the weapon.

The shotgun is in the Department of Public Safety's laboratory in Austin where it was sent for testing.

On Tuesday, principals in the Nov.
16 inquest met in Palestine Municipal Judge Alex Nemer to determine what evidence of value is on hand and what additional avenues need to be explored before the hearing.

Candace Mossler, 55, dead in Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH (AP) - Candace Mossler, the Georgia farm girl who married a millionaire and rose to sensational fame in the mid-1960s as his accused murderer, is dead.

Police say the flamboyant blonde apparently died in her sleep Tuesday at the Fontainebleau Hotel. Her body, dressed in a pink nightgown, was found face down in one of five plush pillows spread about her bed.

Mrs. Mossler's age was in doubt. By er previous statements, she was 55. Records in Georgia indicate she was seven years older.

The death was being investigated by the Dade County Medical Ex-aminer's office, routinely called in on unattended deaths. Office spokesmen said a preliminary autopsy report might be available today. Police said they had no reason to suspect foul play. They said she had been treated early Tuesday for a migraine headache, receiving Demerol, a mild pain killer, and Phenergran, which combats nausea. She had flown to Miami Beach from louston on Monday to preside over a board meeting of the Central National Bank, part of the empire she inherited from Jacques Mossler after he was slain on June 30, 1964. Mossler, Candace's second hus-

Voters to solve dilemma

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A single-member district plan for electing members of the San Antonio City Council will be placed before voters in a special Jan. 15 election.

The city council voted informally Tuesday to place on the ballot a 10-1 council districting plan.
Under the proposal, voters in 10 district city council districts each would elect a single city council member. The mayor would be elected by all voters.

Chinese trade likely to expand

The Washington Post

HONG KONG - In the wake of the purge of four leading Peking radicals, China's foreign trade minister has told a top U.S. business delegation that trade between the United States and China is likely to expand.

Christopher H. Phillips, president of the National Council for U.S.-China trade, which sponsored the delegation, said in an interview Tuesday that his two-week journey through China this month convinced him the purge was "an entirely positive move" as far as Chinese relations with the rest of the world was concerned. He said the Chinese foreign trade minister Li Chiang, in a rare one-hour interview in Peking with the trade group four days after the purge reportedly occurred, said China would continue to pursue its plan for comprehensive modernization of the Chinese economy by the year 2000. The moderniza-tion policy had been challenged in the last few mon-

this by the radicals, who argued it made China too reliant on foreign technology.

Li, stressing in the interview the continuity of previously announced trade plans, indicated China was interested in buying American fully constructed plants, machinery, technical information, lumber products and possibly cetters according to a sumproducts and possibly cotton, according to a summary of the Li interview released by Phillips. China, Li said, would continue to seek U.S. buyers for its non-ferrous metals, light industrial products, tex-tiles, pharmaceuticals and chemicals.

The U.S. delegation, led by Monsanto Co. President John W. Hanley, was granted a rare guided tour of China's principal oil field at Taching. Phillips said he considered the tour a significant gesture to the American business community.

We have to be terribly careful with this thing," said Phillips, referring to the impact of the ouster of Mao Tse-tung's wife Chiang Ching and three other powerful radicals, "but as an immediate reaction, as far as China looking out at the world, it is an entirely positive move. I am entirely convinced that there is a good future for U.S.-China trade."

Phillips said Li put more stress during this visit than in the past on the need to discuss lowering of U.S. tariffs on Chinese goods. Other sources familiar with Chinese trade have said the Chinese have begun to show interest in discussing unfreezing Chinese assets in the United States even before the two countries normalize their diplomatic relations.

Phillips said the delegation visited six cities and Taching between Oct. 8 and Oct. 21, and saw much of the political tumult that followed the reported arrest of Chiang, Wang Hung-wen, Chang Chun-chiao and Yao Wen-yuan on Oct. 7.

Virginia denies McCarthy vote

The Washington Post

RICHMOND - A federal judge has ruled that Virginia supporters of in-dependent presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy will not be able to cast write-in ballots for the former Minnesota senator next Tuesday.

Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr.'s deciion means that, as of now, McCarthy's name will appear on ballots in 30 states with 360 electoral votes in next Tuesday's presidential election. He has failed, however, to be listed on ballots in Maryland or the District of Columbia, although voters there will be able to write in his name.

In the Virginia case, Merhige denied a motion for a temporary restraining order that would have cleared the way for McCarthy's name to be placed on the ballot in one of two ways: by providing the space for write-ins on voting machines or by placing McCarthy's name on the machine with the usual lever to register votes.

The state contended that if either procedure were ordered, election officials would not have enough time to change 3,000 voting machines throughout the state so that Virginia could participate in the national elec-tion on Tuesday.

The state also contended that a vote for McCarthy would amount to a 'wasting" of votes. Presidents are officially elected by the electoral college and since McCarthy has no statecertified electors in Virginia any votes cast for him would not count.

However, Virginians will be able to cast write-in votes in the Senate and House races next Tuesday since senators and representatives are popularly elected, rather than by electors.

James M. Yeager, McCarthy's press secretary, said in a telephone interview, "We think it is unconscionable that we have not been put on the ballot in Virginia. We are sur-prised that we had to go to court and we are surprised that the court did not rule in our favor.

Yeager said the question of wasting a vote could have been taken care of by a court order requiring that a write-in vote be considered a vote for the electoral slate proposed by Mc-Carthy when he failed to obtain the required number of signatures to qualify the slate.

Yeager said the decision would not be appealed. The most active opposition to put-ting McCarthy on ballots around the country has come from Democrats because it is generally agreed that McCarthy will take votes away from Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter.

Democrats have listed eight states in which the potential McCarthy vote could give the state to President Ford. They are Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, New York, Illinois and Oregon.

The newspaper poll shows Ford with support from 50.6 per cent of those answering, to 46.7 per cent for Jimmy Carter and 2.9 per cent for in-

Editor Jerry Hofstad said the poll confirms his impression of how the election will go. He said many residents oppose Carter "because he wants to give everything away, and they're full of it - welfare, food stamps and crap like that.

"They also like some of the things Ford has done, like the vetoes of the big spending bills."

"Carter backers," said Ms. Whitmore, "seem to think it's time for a change...and they were mad about the grain embargoes.

Ford may have lost some support by firing former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, Hofstad said. "The farmers here thought Butz was doing a good job for them.

Carter's controversial Playboy magazine interview seemed not to change many opinions in the county. Hofstad said, "but I understand that issue (October) was a sellout here."

Howe keeps on campaigning

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The polls show him far behind. His party isn't supporting him, and most of its leaders rate his chances zero. But still Rep. Allan T. Howe doggedly campaigns on and insists he may still win re-election to his congressional seat.

Howe, a Democrat and a 49-year-old father of five. was convicted in two courts last summer of trying to buy favors from two police decoy prostitutes. He resisted party pressure to drop out of the race.

"The people are sticking with me," he says. "I'm very hopeful and surely it's possible for me to win." Hardly any Democratic politician shares this view. and many feel Howe's presence on the ticket is huring other Democratic contenders.

The latest poll showed Howe trailing Republican Dan Marriott by 50 to 27 per cent. Veteran Sen. Frank E. Moss trails Republican newcomer Orrin Hatch in a bid for a fourth term, and Democrat Scott Matheson, a railroad lawyer supported by retiring Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, holds a narrow and shaky lead over Republican Atty. Gen. Vernon B. Romney in the governor's race.

"In the early part of the campaign, the Democrats had a very hard time really getting off the ground because every place they went somebody wanted to talk about Mr. Howe's problems rather than the issues of the campaign," Rampton says. Howe maintains he's encountered few difficulties.

"The campaign is just rolling along," he says. "I've been getting excellent response from the people. We're walking in the neighborhoods several hours every day ringing doorbells and shaking

He said his staff reports that campaign contributions fell off last summer, but that money coming in since his conviction "is in the form of $10. $20 and $50 donations."

Howe has put his family to work on the campaign, which contends with the party-endorsed, write-in candidacy of Daryl McCarty, who trails Howe in the

Oriental rugs topic of MCC program in the Oriental rug business 55 years prior to retirement, presented an informative program on the ancient art for the Midland Country Club Ladies' Association.

Rejebian, whose grandfather was in the merchandising of Oriental rugs in 1893 in New York City, said the making of Oriental rugs is one of the oldest forms of artistic expression.

Born of Armenian parents in Turkey, the speaker came to America as a young man and entered the Oriental rug business.

He noted that in 1947, Russian archaelogists excavated the tomb of a prince, who was wrapped in an Oriental rug believed to have been made in 2500 B.C.

Rejebian also noted the influence of the various cultures producing the handmade rugs and the creations of the different artisans of their cultures through their design.

He said someone well informed on the history of the art can detect the origin of rugs from the design and production. The actual execution of an Oriental rug also was discussed by the speaker, who displayed several rugs, noting the different forms of dyes and number of knots tied to the

Vineyards developing

"West Texas climate is as conducive to growing wine grapes as California and other lush vineyard areas," John Crosby told members of the Pyracantha Garden Club whey they toured the Experimental Vineyards in the Greenwood Community.

Crosby explained how he vines are trimmed back severely the first three years in order to strengthen the main trunk of the vine. Not until the seventh year is a paying crop expected.

Some water wells supply the drip irrigation system used, said Crosby, but still much of the water must be hauled in due to the brackish nature of the well water.

The main purpose of the experimental vineyard is to determine which of the many varieties of grapes planted there will "thrive best in this area. When the cutting process is completed about 750 cuttings will be ready for replanting to extend the present vineyard."

One-way-design knit pattern has seamstress stumped

By BETTY W. KINSER Copley News Service

What do you do when you are right in the middle of laying out a pattern and you are having trouble and a letter is too slow? Well, if you are Twilla Wallace, Baldwin City, Kan., you just pick up the phone.

Twilla was laying out a pattern on a one-way-design knit. It called for the waistband inset to be laid lengthwise on the fabric. However, in doing that, the one-way design was then lying on its side rather than upright.

Not liking the looks of that, Twilla asked. "Is it all right to lay the band crosswise rather than lengthwise?"

It's OK, but ... The crosswise grain of knit has more give than the lengthwise. Therefore, your band could stretch out of shape. Why not underline the band with a lightweight iron-on interfacing or a lining fabric?

Another question Twilla had: "The pattern layout shows a couple major pieces turned wrong side up. Is this going to affect the one-way design?" Not at all. However, if you were working with an uneven plaid...but that's another story. One more point on one-way designs or nap fabrics. Never fold the fabric CROSSWISE for a layout. This will make half of your design go one way, and the other half the other way.

Schools popular

VIENNA (AP) - Thanks to an extensive campaign by the city administration to promote the profession, 1,110 women and 46 men have applied for the fall semester in nursing studies.

This is more than the number of places available in the municipal schools, but authorities said they intend to expand the facilities to cope with the steadily increasing demand.

Currently there are 1.171 female and 65 male nurses in training. It is expected that 257 diplomas will be awarded this year and 265 in 1977.

Seminar Do-it-yourself ideas sponsored given for Halloween

COLLEGE STATION - Halloween is a children's playday that should be fun and practical. Instead of buying Halloween paraphernalia, consider letting children make their own, suggests Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. She suggested some do-it-yourself projects.

Halloween Cat-cut a large cat's head, body and tail from black construction paper. Glue egg carton cups with glass marble centers on the cat's head for wild eyes. Attach the head, body and tail with brass brads. Change the cat's position to make him look as if he is falling, running, frightened or just scary.

Jack-o-Lantern mobile-cut an irregular ring out of heavy orange paper. Cut three triangles and one moonshape out of heavy black paper for the eyes, nose and mouth. Don't forget the stem for the pumpkin. Hang the eyes, nose and mouth on strings to dangle inside the orange ring. Hang the mobile by a longer string attached to the stem of the pumpkin.

Paper Plate mask-draw a scary face on a heavy paper plate. Cut out and/or paint the facial features on the plate. Use rug yarn or straw for hair. Punch a hole above the ears on each side of the plate. Attach a shoelace on each side and tie around the head.

Noise makers-large, dried gourds painted with scary faces make excellent Halloween noise makers. The seeds inside the gourd make a nice "shushing" sound A small paper bag painted or decorated in a Halloween theme can be filled with dry beans, pop caps or jingle bells and attached to a stick. This is a great hand rattle.

"And for Halloween, every child yearns for a Jack-o-latern. There are a few rules to follow in making this Halloween favorite."

Select a fresh pumpkin. The size will depend upon your needs and the amount of money you want to spend.

-With a sharp knife, core out a small lid at the top (large enough to get your hand in the pumpkin).

-Remove the seeds and fiber from inside the pumpkin.

-Draw the desired face on the pumpkin with a pencil or crayon. -Carve the Jack-o-lantern.

-Place a votive candle in a candle glass or small can inside the pumfollowing the design you desire.

-When the candle is burning. remove the pumpkin to prevent scorching the top. Burn your Jack-olantern and enjoy its glow a long time.

-Once Halloween is over, make all kinds of goodies out of the pumpkin meat. If your pumpkin is too large to use at one time, freeze it and use the pumpkin later to celebrate fall harvest, the specialist suggested.

DEAR ABBY

Mother still 'hurting'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a young married woman. My father died last year, and my mother who was devoted to him is still grieving.

They would have been married 33 years last Sunday had my father lived. On the date of their anniversary, I invited my mother to my home for dinner. I purposely didn't make a party of it, and carefully avoided wishing her a happy anniversary. (I knew it was anything but happy, and figured the last thing she needed was another reminder of what day it was.)

Well, a few days later, my mother told me that she was very "hurt" that I didn't even wish her a happy anniversary. Abby, no amount of wishing could have made that day

Under the circumstances, do you think I was wrong?— —MEANT

DEAR MEANT: No. Such a wish would have had a hollow and futile ring. Your mother was probably "hurt" because she's still hurting from her loss and not because you didn't wish her a happy anniversary.

DEAR ABBY: I belong to a senior citizens' group. I'm a widow, over 65, and that is as far as I care to go when people get on the subject of age.

Abby, nearly everyone in our group tells their age, which makes me feel self-conscious because I have never told anyone my age and I don't intend to. I would never lie to my doctor, or falsify my age on a legal document, but I can't see what's to be gained by telling it to others.

Is there any harm in keeping my age a secret? When casual acquaintances ask me how old I am, I always say, "That's a subject I don't care to discuss." I know this sounds abrupt and unfriendly, but that's the way I feel.

Please tell me how to handle this question of age without seeming unkind or unfriendly.—AGELESS

DEAR AGELESS: Simply say, "I'm not telling." And if you say it with a smile and a twinkle in your eye, you won't be thought of as abrupt or unfriendly.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the employer who will hire a married man in preference to a single man if both are equally qualified for the same position interested me.

I find this deplorable. Single people are taxed more, which is unfair considering most single people are not adding to the population problem.

I am 29, male and single. I enjoy traveling, going to the theater with other singles who pay their own way and going out to dinner with no cranky kids around.

My brother is 25 and on his second marriage. He has five kids, is up to his neck in bills and spends his vacations staying home and baby-sitting.

I have missed only three days of work in the last 10 years. I am always on time and work a full day for a day's

So, Abby, please pass this on to that employer. My boss must appreciate the fact that I'm responsible, though single, or I wouldn't have kept my job this long. - SINGLE AND LOVING IT

You or I would go after the clubs at once. Win the first trick with the ace of spades, cash the ace of clubs and ruff a club. Get to dummy with the ace of hearts and ruff another club. By this time you know that the clubs are going to break normally. CONTINUE CLUBS

Return to dummy with the king of hearts to ruff another club. This sets up dummy's last club. Give up a spade, take the diamond return with the ace, refusing to finesse, ruff a spade in dummy and lead dummy's last club to discard the queen of diamonds.

What if the clubs break badly? You'll find this out very early. You will have time to fall back on the diamond finesse in that case. If the finesse loses, you may have a bad taste in your mouth, but your head will still be unbowed and your partner will still look placid. As you get older you realize that any partner is a good partner if you can walk away from Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: SKJ5 H73 D10982 CKJ97. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 2 NT. The combined count is 24 to 26 points. Partner will accept the invitation to game if he has 17 to 18 points, and he should have a reasonable play for nine tricks.

Studies say men still paid more

By MARGARET A. KILGORE Los Angeles Times

Despite strides made by the women's liberation movement and an overall improvement in the economy, men still are paid more than women in most fields, government and private studies show. The median family income with a male as the head of a household is more than double the income of a family with a woman at the head.

"This is partially because husband-wife families more often have a greater number of persons contributing to the family's total income and partially because men in general have higher incomes than women," according to a statistical portrait of women in the United States developed by the Census Bureau of the U.S. Commerce Department.

"Women workers are concentrated in low-paying, dead-end jobs. As a result the average woman worker earns less than three-fifths of what a man does, even when both work fulltime year "round," the department said.

Families headed by males had a median income of $13,347 this year compared with female-head-ofhousehold salaries totaling about $6,500, the bureau said. Those figures fluctuate proportionately from month-to-month, but still show the wide disparity in average income.

Mean family income for Californians averaged $12,226 compared to $6,526 for those headed by females.

Of the 6.8 million families headed by women nationwide in March, 1974, 3.7 million, or 54 per cent, were in the labor force, the department added. Twothirds of these women workers were the only earners in their families. About 1 out of 10 women workers headed a family.

According to the Census Bureau portrait:

-In July, 1975, the female population in the United States was about 109.4 million, representing 51.3 per cent of the population and outnumbering males by 5.6 million. With increases in the total population, by the end of the century, women are projected to outnumber men by 6.9 to 7.9 million — despite a decline in the birth rate.

"The changing social and economic role of women is most evident in the increase in their labor force participation. Between 1950 and 1974, the number of working women nearly doubled, while the number of working men increased only by about one-fourth.

Last ship going down

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, announced that the last of 12 Liberty Ships is scheduled to be sunk offshore near Freeport today.

"This will be the final step in one of the most significant fisheries enhancement projects Texas has ever undertaken," Schwartz said in a statement. It will be the last of four fishing reefs-each consisting of the hulls of three ships-constructed by the Texas Coastal and Marine Council. The others have been built offshore in Matagorda Bay and near Port Aransas and South Padre Island. Schwartz also said reefs will be built in inshore waters using discarded automobile tires, with the dropping bundles of tires from the Goodyear blimp.

Denmark's political joke becoming deadly serious

COPENHAGEN (AP) — He would recall all Denmark's ambassadors, eliminate 4,300 government jobs a month for the next two years, make tax-free everyone's first $10,000 in income, and reduce the national defense to a telephone-answering service that says again and again, 'We Surrender.'

Mogens Glistrup and his program used to be the bad joke of Danish politics, but suddenly his Progress Party has become the second political force in the country behind the ruling Social Democrats, a phenomenon taken with dead seriousness in an autumn of conservative advances in Sweden and West Germany.

A Gallup Poll asking Danes last month who they would vote for tomorrow gave Glistrup 22.8 per cent, a gain of more than six points in six months. The Social Democrats had 30.7 per cent.

The Progress Party holds 23 seats in the 179 seat Danish parliament, and claims about 20,000 members throughout the country. In elections for a new parliament in January 1975, it won about 13.6 per cent of the total feeling and saying."

Glistrup is a 50-year-old lawyer and a member of parliament who became a public figure by showing it was possible to manipulate Danish tax law so as to pay no income tax at all. He is now on trial on 3 100 sewate of tax won about 13.6 per cent of the total now on trial on 3,100 counts of tax fraud, but his popularity has ex-"We thought he would just disap- panded as a symbol of general

Dalai Lama's brother adapts to suburbia as school custodian

Sam, as he is known, is 45 and lives with his wife and two children in a suburban home. He has been a monk, an official in Tibet's government, housekeeper at his brother's palace in Lhasa, social worker in India, envoy to the United Nations Refugee Commission in Geneva and proprietor of a handicrafts store in Manhattan.

He also had dinner with Nikita

Khrushchev and Mao Tsetung, together, in Peking 22 years ago. "Someday, I hope to write a book," he said. The Dalai Lama has written several books, and so has another brother, Thubtennofbu, who teaches at Indiana University, Samden said.

CHRISTMAS LAY-A-WAY SALE!!

Lives 28 days on raft

Bruce Collins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - When he left the University of Southern California business school, Bruce Collins was faced with a choice: work for an accounting firm or sail yachts to tropical Pacific isles.

He chose sunshine and brisk winds on blue seas rather than fluorescent lights in some airconditioned office building. It was a decision which nearly cost him his life.

On Sept. 27, a storm splintered and sank the 42-foot ketch Spirit about 900 miles west of San Francisco. But Collins, hired as navigator and skipper, climbed into a canopied life raft with Camilla Arthur, 21, and Jim Ahola, 25. They quickly became separated from another raft carrying Durel Miller, 28, and Nancy Perry, 21.

Miller and Miss Perry were rescued 24 hours later. But, at the whim of winds and currents. Collins' orange raft drifted for 28 days, until a Coast Guard search plane spotted it Sunday.

Collins was the only person on board. dehydrated and covered with sores, he told rescuers that his two companions were dead and buried at sea. But he refused to make any public statements about the ordeal until he could talk to their families.

He was scheduled to arrive here late Tuesday aboard a Coast Guard

Collins' 16-month mariner's adventure started as a long vacation. He kept his career options open. An accounting firm had agreed to hold a job for him for six months while he sailed to Hawaii and New Zealand.

Later, he talked the firm into an extension so he could touch more exotic ports, like Fiji and Bali, and get the miles under his belt to become a master seaman. He crewed for yacht owners on his island-hopping journey, but now and then found it necessary to hop a plane.

Meanwhile, he wrote his parents infrequent but long letters, trying to convey his passion for sailing while easing their disappointment.

Sometimes he needed money from his savings, or would ask his parents in Walnut Creek, Calif., to cash some of his inherited stocks. It wasn't much, but enough to keep wind in his sails and a little meat on his lanky 6-foot-3

"Around September, we got a long six-page letter from him saying that he loved sailing so much and wanted to make a lifetime of it," his mother, Kathryn Collins, recalled in an interview. His last letter, from Honolulu in September, said he wanted to decide where he wanted his life

Collins was spotted after a search of some 30,000 square miles. The pilot of the Coast Guard search plane, Lt. James Skelton, said, "I want to find out what gave him the will to live.' "I knew if anybody would make it, Bruce would make it," said his friend and longtime sailing buddy, Henry Coles, 24, of Saratoga, Calif. "He always got the job done and was never one to quit. I sent a letter to his parents saying that he would be okay, and he

Kansas State is in last place with a 1-6 over-all mark and the powerful Big Eight, which used to be Oklahoma and the Seven Dwarfs, is now more like K-State and the Seven Giants.

The Big Ten and Pac-8 have two teams sharing the lead while the Southwest Conference and Ivy League are blessed with three-way ties. The Southeastern Conference finds four clubs within one-half game of each other while five of the eight Western Athletic Conference teams have one loss or less.

Only the Atlantic Coast Conference, where Maryland appears to be a shoo-in, isn't really up for grabs.

The close races make forecasting a hazardous chore at best, despite last week's score of 52 right and 18 wrong for a .743 percentage. The crystal ball did come through with three Upset Specials—Missouri over Nebraska. Oklahoma State over Oklahoma and Iowa over Minnesota. For the season, the scoreboard reads 337 right, 134 wrong and 10 ties for .715.

Having been so successful in the Big Eight last weekend, let's go back there for openers this week.

Missouri at Oklahoma State: The Missouri Tigers have invaded such snakepits as Los Angeles, Columbus and Lincoln and come away with victories, so why should they be leery of Stillwater, Okla.? Because the Cowboys of O-State kayoed Oklahoma last week, that's why...Missouri 28-17.

Oklahoma at Colorado: Barry Switzer says crippled Oklahoma is "in the worst shape" of any of the five teams tied for the Big Eight lead. "We must play three teams that are in the race. Everyone else has got two." The Sooners may get Mike Vaughan, the man-mountain tackle, back for this one...Oklahoma 24-17.

Nebraska at Kansas: Nebraska "would have liked a chance to win the national championship, although I'm not sure we ever set that as our goal." says Tom Osborne, whose Cornhuskers were the preseason choice.

"It's going to be difficult to do that now. We'll see what kind of team we have now. I think we have good character, and now we'll find out"...Nebraska 31-14.

Kansas State at Iowa State: K-State's last three opponents were Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas. Its next three foes are Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado. This week, it's...Iowa State 24-14.

Texas at Texas Tech: The rumors are getting stronger than ever that Tech's Steve Sloan will succeed Bear Bryant at Alabama. Right now, Sloan would like to succeed Texas' Darrell Royal, Arkansas' Frank Broyles and Texas A&M's Emory Bellard, who tied for SWC honors last year. Just a hunch...Texas 22-21.

Mississippi State at Alabama: State's Bulldogs would like nothing better than to compile the best record in the SEC. However, they're on probation, can't win the title officially and can't go to a bowl. Another case of the master (Bear Bryant) vs. the pupil (Bob Tyler) and the Bear hardly ever loses one of those...Alabama 20-

Cincinnati at Georgia: Those are the Bearcats of Cincinnati, not the Bengals, in the Top Twenty for the first time. Their on-field record is 5-1, but it's 60 if you count the game Southwestern Louisiana had to forfeit. The Bearcats are unbeaten and untiedwith one loss. Too bad their next two games are on the road against Maryland and...Georgia 35-14.

Minnesota at Michigan: Bo Schembechler says his Wolverines are "an excellent team, but to find out whether we're a super team we've got to be tested against some tougher opposition. I don't think there's a super team in the country, certainly no one as strong as Oklahoma the last two years." Minnesota may have been looking ahead while losing to Iowa last week, but looking ahead in vain...Michigan 28-14.

Syracuse at Pitt: Can Syracuse stop Tony Dorsett? No one else has...Pitt

UCLA at Washington: UCLA's Terry Donahue expects a tough game with the Huskies. "First of all, they

Beer limited at pro games

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - A beer company gave Schaefer Stadium its name, but town officials want to limit the amount of beer at National Football League games.

The Foxboro board of selectmen decided Tuesday night to ask concessionaires not to sell beer in the stands at Schaefer in an effort to curb drunkeness. The selectmen said beer sales should be restricted to areas under the stands in order to avoid disturbances such as occurred at a New England Patriots game against the New York Jets Oct. 18.

They also said they wanted admittance refused to those who were intoxicated and those who refused to open their coats for liquor searches. The selectmen are proposing that an area be set aside at the stadium to hold those arrested for infractions at

Landry feeling good about Redskin game

DALLAS (AP) — Did Monday night's mud-spattered 20-10 victory over St. Louis take something out of the Washington Redskins? Dallas Coach Tom Landry figures it probably did.

Landry said Tuesday the quick turnaround for Sunday's crucial National Conference Eastern Division game "could hurt" the Over-the-Hill-

Gang.
"They weren't as sharp after their other Monday night game but it went into overtime," said Landry. "I don't remember a Washington team ever being beaten 30-0 like Chicago beat them. Washington still has a pretty good record and you can't be critical

"They are still able to get up for the big game. That crowd in R.F.K. Stadium helps them emotionally. It's a very loud crowd." Landry said he liked Dallas' position going into Sunday's game in Washington. The Cowboys, who are 6-1, lead Washington and St. Louis by a full game. "We're still on top whether we win or lose," said Landry. "That's a have. If we win, it won't eliminate Washington but will make it tough for them to get into the playoffs." Landry said a 10-4 record would

Former Longhorn grid assistant has Wyoming back on trackagain

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) -Remember Wyoming?

The football team that served as a springboard to bigger and better things for such coaches as Bowden Wyatt, Phil Dickens and Bob

That supplied the National Football League with such running backs as Jerry Hill, Jim Kiick, Dave Hampton and Vic Washington?

That won four of five bowl games until an incident involving 14 black football players plunged its football program into near-obscurity in 1969. Well, the Cowboys are back.

Under 37-year-old Fred Akers, a former disciple of Darrell Royal at Texas, Wyoming has surprised the Western Athletic Conference by winning six of its first seven games, including a victory over Arizona State, and the conference leadership. This after a 2-9 record in Akers' first year as head coach, 1975.

"Wyoming has a football tradition. The people in this state are used to having winning football," Akers said. "What we're doing isn't the first time it's been done. When it's tough is when a school has no winning tradition in its background-no real deep fibers you can refer to."

The tradition started with Wyatt in the early 1950s, before he left to become a major-college winner at Arkansas and Tennessee. Later it was Dickens, who coached at Indiana after Wyoming, and Devaney, a big

But it stopped with Lloyd Eaton in 1969, two years after he led the Cowboys to their greatest football day with a losing appearance in the 1967 Sugar Bowl, 20-13 to Louisiana State.

After describing the 1969 team as his best ever at Laramie, Eaton removed 14 black players, including some of his stars, for demanding that they be allowed to wear black armbands in Wyoming's game against Brigham Young, owned by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

The 14 wanted to protest policies of the Mormons that they said discriminated against blacks. Eaton said no and booted the players when they insisted.

Wyoming beat BYU and won its next game.

Then the Cowboys lost four in a row that season and finished 1-9 in 1970, when the racial issue swelled and hampered recruitment of black players. His successor, defensive coach Fritz Shurmur, was unable to produce a winner in four years.

Akers immediately mounted a nationwide drive designed to lure quality recruits, many of them black, to the school of 8,300 students in an isolated prairie town of 22,000 in a state with a miniscule black population.

He also hired a new staff of young assistants and showed a propensity for hard work that rubbed off on the team and the staff. Akers attributes Wyoming's resurgence more to that coaching philosophy than to his

Running backs head city stats

A pair of talented seniors are having great years for the Midland Bulldogs and the Robert E. Lee Rebels on the football field this season.

Rusty Maroney, 200-pound Bulldog fullback and Crowell, an 180-pound fullback for the Maroon Platoon, head their team's rushing stats going into games this week with Odessa and Odessa Permian.

Maroney has rushed for 604 yards in 104 carries for an average of 5.8 yards per carry while Crowell has carried the ball 73 times for 446 yards and a 6.2 average.

Lee, Bullpups to try Odessans in JV contests

The Midland Bullpups entertain the Odessa High JV at 7 p.m. Thursday in Memorial Stadium while the Stonewall Brigade from Robert E. Lee, takes on the Permian JV at the same time at the Permian Field in Odessa.

Midland sports a season record of 4-3-0 and is 1-2-1 in District 5-4A JV play. The Pups tied San Angelo, 28-28, last Saturday in San Angelo with fullback Robert Montgomery scoring three touchdowns. Randy Moore added the other Pup TD.

Craig Heineman had a 50-yard punt return called back and intercepted a pass and returned it 63 yards to the Angelo three.

John Beane, Burt Jennings, and Jimmy Zachery stood on on defense for Midland. Lee, meanwhile, scored 29 points in the second half to come from behind to down Big Spring, 36-22 after trailing 22-7 at intermission.

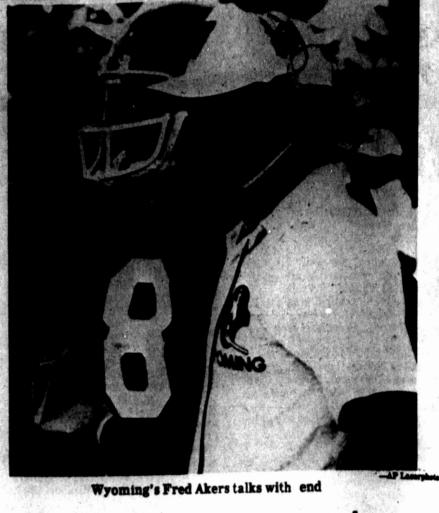

OHS sports a 5-2-0 season record and is 3-1-0 in loop play after dropping a 20-18 decision to the Abilene JV Permian is 7-0-0 and 4-0-0 and beat Abilene Cooper.

Pensacola Open has strongest field ever

Hometown hero Jerry Pate, the sensational rookie who may be pro golf's outstanding player of the year, heads the strongest field ever assembled for the $125,000 Pensacola Open, the final individual event on the tour this year.

The slender, 23-year-old Pate this month won an important Japanese tournament, adding the Pacific Masters title to the United States and Canadian Open crowns he won earlier in the season.

Pate, however, will have no temptation to rest on his record in this one. "This is my hometown," said Pate, a longtime resident of Pensacola who finished a strong fifth in this tournament last season before gaining his full playing rights on the tour. "You always want to play well at home." Opposing him in the 72-hole chase

Mojo invades Memorial Stadium

By BOB DILLON

Friday night's Robert E. Lee-Odessa Permian battle in Memorial Stadium grabs the headlines in the torrid District 5-4A football race.

Mojo, with a perfect 7-0 season record and 4-0 5-4A record, holds a slim one-game lead over the Rebels, Odessa High and Abilene.

A Lee victory will throw the race wide open. However, a victory by the Black Cats would put Permian one game closer to the throne room.

Last week, this corner hit 37 out of 40 games for 92.5 per cent and hit all four 5-4A games on the button. On the season, the record reads 237 correct and 35 incorrect for an 87.4

ODESSA PERMIAN has a lot more offense than last year's outfit that went all the way to the Class AAAA finals, but Mojo does not have the defense it had last year. ABILENE HIGH has a great team and has come on strongly since losing to Permian. The Eagles a have too much speed for the San Angelo Bobcats, so the Warbirds should prevail by 28-13 over the Concho Cats to stay in 5-4A title picture...

MC men golfers host WJCAC play Thursday

Midland College hosts the Western Junior College Athletic Conference men's golf teams here Thursday, October 28, in a one-day tournament. The event starts at 8 a.m. at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

The Chaparrals will be attempting to improve their standing, although the home course advantage has meant very little in the first three tourneys this year. New Nexico Junior College from Hobbs currently leads the field with 24 points based on 10 points for a first place finish, nine for a second, and so on. Western Texas College in Snyder is second with 221/2. Howard College, Big Spring, and Odessa College are tied for third with 18 point; Amarillo is fifth with 17½; Midland sixth, 15 points; New Mexico Military Institute seventh, nine points; Clarendon eighth, six points, and Frank Phillips College ninth, five points.

Leading the Chaparral golfers is Wally Brodzik, a sophomore let-terman and All-Conference player from Lancaster, N.Y., with a 72.3 average for three tournaments. Doug Adams, a sophomore letterman from McCamey, has a 73.3 stroke average: Tim O'Conner, a freshman from Sioux City, Iowa, has a 75.0 average; and Rick Harvey, a sophomore transfer from Sul Ross who now lives in Midland, is averaging 75.7.

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Northern Michigan, the defending National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II football champions, strengthened its hold on the top spot in the 1976 NCAA Division II standings.

The 8-0 Wildcats recorded their 16th consecutive victory last week when they defeated Division I rival Central Michigan. Northern Michigan was unanimous choice atop the polls for the fifth straight week.

Alcorn State, which upset second-ranked Southern University last week, moved into the runnerup spot with a 5-1 record. Akron, 6-0, moved up to No. 3 while Southern dropped into a fourth place tie with Montana State, both at 6-1.

Cuevas nabs boxing win

KANAZAWA, Japan (AP) - Jose Cuevas of Mexico stopped Shoji Tsujimoto of Japan in the sixth round Wednesday night, retaining his World Boxing Association welterweight championship.

The end came at 2 minutes 29 seconds of the round after Cuevas already had knocked down Tsujimoto twice early in the sixth, once with a left-right combination and once with a right cross.

With Tsujimoto helpless against the ropes, referee Carlos Berrocalo of Panama stopped the fight and raised Ceuvas' right arm in victory.

For the first five rounds, Berrocalo had the score 25-25, judge Roque de Larios of Mexico had Cuevas leading 24-23 and Japanese judge Takeshi Mikimura had Tsujimoto ahead 25-24.

New York Rangers too strong for Cleveland

By The Associated Press
The New York Rangers turned on the power and burned up the Cleveland Barons.

"They're the best power play team in hockey," said Cleveland Coach Jack Evans after watching the Rangers beat the Barons 5-2 Tuesday night in a National Hockey League game.

Three of New York's goals came on power plays.

"We compounded one of them by being two men short," noted Evans. "We talked earlier about not taking

The Midland High girls volleyball team polished off the Abilene girls, 15-4 and 15-7, Tuesday night to move back into a three-way tie for first in the District 5-4A standings with Big Spring and Odessa Permian.

The win kept the Purple Pack in the thick of things, setting up Thursday's battle with San Angelo in the MHS Standouts for the Pack in the defense blocking department was Jo Ann Johnson and Diane Fisher. Diane was sensational in her lob dinks as she cut the ball into the hardwood numerous times while Jo Ann was so effective on her blocks that she almost single-handed stalemated the Eagle offensive attack.

Midland's spiking attack was led by Amy Grimes, Miss Johnson and Kathy Moore, Miss Grimes had the hot hand from the end line as she hit on 14 straight rifle shots and kept her

In the other NHL games, the St. Louis Blues whipped the Vancouver Canucks 5-2 and the Los Angeles Kings nipped the Detroit Red Wings 3.

Pat Hickey added two goals for New York as the Rangers won their fourth road game in five and ended a threegame unbeaten string for the Barons. New York's Phil Esposito had two assists, raising his career total to 701 and making him the seventh NHL player to join the 700-assist club.

"Our line has had quite a few chances, but until tonight we hadn't contributed much," said Berenson. "There's no telling what kind of a lift scoring from the second line can do."

Kings 3, Red Wings 2 Tommy Williams' power play goal with 11 seconds left lifted Los Angeles past Detroit. Williams, in scoring his sixth goal of the season, took a pass from Marcel Dionne in front of the goal and shoved the puck past Detroit goalie Ed Giacomin.

Nicklaus heads field in Australian Open

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A star-studded field of 132 golfers, headed by lour-time winner Jack Nicklaus, will tee off Thursday in the $200,000

Australian Open Golf Championship.
After an 18-hole practice round at the Australian Golf Club, Nicklaus said, "I don't think the winner will shoot 279 as I did last year. It will probably be a bit higher. It's tough, but it's a good course."

Nicklaus won the Australian Open in 1964, 1968, 1971 and last year and finished tied for second behind Gary Player in 1965. Spain's young Severiano

Ballesteros, co-runnerup in the British Open in July, has given the seasoned campaigners sufficient warning that he is a distinct threat. The 19-year-old winner of the Dutch Open shot a blistering seven-under-par for the last seven holes during a practice round Tuesday. He com-pleted the 18 holes with a four-underpar 68, a round which included five birdies, an eagle and three

Australia is placing much of its hopes on 21-year-old newcomer Greg Norman, who last Sunday won the $43,750 West Lakes Golf Classic in

Norman finished at 13-underpar 271 and won by five strokes over ex-perienced countrymen David Graham and Graham Marsh. Meanwhile, Nicklaus has urged the tournament organizers to move next year's competition to mid-November to insure its rating as the world's fifth major tournament after the U.S. and British Opens, the U.S. Masters and the U.S. PGA championships.

"This Australian Open clashes with tournaments on the U.S. circuit and the only reason I was released to play here was because I am the defending champion," he said.

Lee to hold Junior boys tennis tourney

The West Texas Zone of the Texas Tennis Association will hold a Zone Qualifying Tournament for boys ages 12 through 18 at the Lee High courts

The two winners in each bracket will compete against zone winners for the State Zone Team Championship in Austin during December.

Matches will begin at 9 a.m. Nov. 13. Entry fee of $3 must accompany the application. Deadline is Nov. 9.

Arkansas' Cowins wins honor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) -Ben Cowins considers himself one of the fastest shot putters in the world. And, he isn't bad as a college football running back.

Cowins, who has 4.5 speed in the 40 and won the Missouri high school shot put championship as a senior, ran away from Houston on an 89-yard touchdown run Saturday night that proved to be the difference in Arkansas' 14-7 victory. He finished the game with 186 yards on 21 carries and was named Offensive Player of the Week in the Southwest Conference. Cowins, a 193-pound sophomore, Cowins' 186 yards in one game is the sixth best performance in Razorback history. His 633 yards rushing is the 15th best total by a Razorback in a single season. If he continues to average 126.6 yards a game, he would finish the season with 1,393 yards. The Arkansas record is 1,298 yards by Dickey Morton in 1973. "All year long he has shown his ability to hit that small crack in the line with great quickness and be able to explode for the long runs," said Jesse Branch, who coaches Arkansas' running backs. "This seems to be his biggest asset."

Congressman Mahon PRODUCES For The Petroleum Industry!

GEORGE MAHON is an acknowledged Congressional leader and spokesman for the oil and gas industry. As Chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee—the most powerful of all committees in Congress— George Mahon opens doors, exercises tremendous influence in getting the true story of the petroleum industry before other members of the House of Representatives and all government officials.

Here's what industry leaders-and the President of the United Statessay about George Mahon's work for the Oil and Gas Industry:

"No man has fought harder for the petroleum industry in Congress than has George Mahon. The deep respect he commends and the key position he holds are invaluabel assets for us as we try to improve our position in the U.S. House of Representatives.

-Charles Fraser and Russell Ramsland, President and Past President, Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

"I don't know what we'd have done without George Mahon's leadership and influence for the oil and gas industry."

-J. Ed Thompson, Executive Vice President, Permian Basin Petroleum Association

"George Mahon has accomplished more for the petroleum industry than any man in Congress. We need him there. Everyone in the oil and gas industry can be certain the George Mahon is our friend. He gets the job done."

-Frank Ikard, President, American Petroleum

"If I lived in George Mahon's district, you can be sure I'd be voting for him."

"I listened to a political speech coming from the big mouth of one Senator Walter Mondale, the Democratic candidate for the vice presidency of this great county. I, for one, am sick and tired of hearing the likes of this pea-brained politician lambasting the major oil companies for political reasons.

'He says, and I quote, 'they own most of the coal, uranium, oil and gas in this country, and if the sun becomes a major source of energy they will buy it.' What the Senator from Minnesota seems to forget is the fact that the production of energy is the only business these people know; and for

Engineers take office

Six members of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME have assumed office as SPE directors and have begun serving three-year terms on the Society's governing body.

The six new directosrs are: Jarl P. Johnson, Kewanee Oil Co., Tulsa, Okla.; Jack E. Little, Shell Oil Co., Houston; Joe E. Wirsching, Exxon Co.-USA, New Orleans; Albert H. Mathena Jr., Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., Charleston, W. Va.; Paul Holbrook, Gaffney, Cline & Associates Ltd., London, England; and Michael Prats, Shell Development Co., Houston.

Johnson, who will serve as director for SPE Region IV, is manager of engineering for Kewanee in Tulsa. He joined Kewanee in 1955 as a junior engineer in Crane, after working two years for Phillips Petroleum Co. in West Texas and Eastern Kansas. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

Wirsching, division inland drilling manager for the Southeastern Division of Exxon, will serve as director of SPE Region VIII. He has worked for Exxon in various capacities since graduating from Texas A&M University in 1948. He has held offices in the SPE Permian Basin and Delta Sections. He has been active on SPE committees.

Little is a division engineer in holds B. S., M. S., and Ph. D. degrees from Texas A&M University. He joined SPE while a student at A&M and has been active in the Gulf Coast and San Joaquin Valley sections.

Mathena, manager of the depletion department of Columbia Gas Transmission, is a graduate of the University of West Virginia. He will be director of the society's Region IX. He has held SPE offices in the Appalachian Petroleum Section of SPE.

Holbrook, a native of Bristol, England, is supervisor for the Southeast Asian, European and Latin American operations of Gaffney, Cline & Associates. He will be Region X director. A graduate of the University of Bristol, he has served as chairman of the SPE London Petroleum Section.

Prats will serve as director-atlarge. He is a consulting research engineer for Shell Development. A member of the Shell organization since 1951, Prats graduated from The University of Texas. He has served in several committee posts with SPE, has been a SPE short course lecturer. and an award winner.

done a damn good job of providing it to the American people at a very reasonable price.

"Not until Mr. Mondale and his like took over control of our Congress, did they pass so many adverse rules and regulations that it forced these companies to go overseas to find more profitable place to drill and produce oil that this country became stagnant in its search for new reserves at home.

"This man has been told for more than sixteen years that the day was coming when we would become so dependent on foreign sources of energy that we would be at the mercy of these oil producing countries. Now all these warnings were disregarded by Mr. Mondale, and his like, and the day of the oil embargo arrived.

"Now, our great benefactor, Mr. Mondale, through his stupidity in letting this happen, didn't tell the American people that he was sorry, I made a mistake, and I will try to rectify this error. No, he immediately hollered rape by the major oil com-panies. He also had a part in holding up the building of the Alaska pipeline to bring in millions of barrels of Alaskan crude oil, found at great expense, by these same major companies just because he didn't want the reindeer to have to change their deer-runs over the frozen tundra.

"Now, at every opportunity he has had to vote legislation adverse to the people that have found, produced, and refined oil and gas for the benefit of the American people, he has done so with a stroke of his pen and his big, loud mouth.

"All thru the 40's, 50's and 60's the people of this country were buying gasoline for very little over 30 cents per gallon and natural gas for 161/2 cents per thousand cubic feet. Mr. Proxmire's cheese had gone from 25 cents per pound to $1.40 per pound, Mr. Jackson's shingles had gone from $2.75 per bundle to $11.50 per bundle; yet the price of oil was still $3.50 per barrel and natural gas 161/2 cents. The 271/2 per cent depletion that applies to oil and gas was successfully attacked and reduced. More price controls were placed on the oil and gas producers of this country.

"The rapidly declining oil and gas reserves in this country were being used up at a price for which they could not be replaced. Yet, Mr. Mondale, was, and still is, hollering rape. In my opinion, Mr. Mondale is trying to kill the goose that lays the golden egg and I for one would like to see his big mouth, so far as the blasting of major oil companies are concerned, shut.

"In my opinion they have done a great job of providing cheap energy for this country.

"And if the sun becomes a major source of usable energy, I would be willing to let the major oil companies buy it, because I believe they would do a good job of producing, refining, and marketing that energy. Lets let the people that know the business run it - not Mr. Mondale, who can go to Europe and pay $1.35 per gallon for his gasoline, or a federal oil company that would have the same ability to run the energy business as they have in running the railroads.

"We would be back driving Model "T" Fords 30 miles an hour on dirt roads with only one exception, the Model "T" would cost $25,000 and a gallon of gasoline would be $5.00.

"I would like to give credit where credit is due-the major oil companies and their people who have given many hours of their time to the communities in which they live and to the large contributions of their money to our schools, hospitals and charitable institutions for a better way of life to all American people.

Four wildcats slated in West Texas areas

Four wildcats have been scheduled for South Plains sectors.

Deepest of the tests is a 9,000-foot venture in Crosby County, 10 miles south of Crosbyton. It is Amoco Production Co. No. 1-A L. R. French

Drillsite is 763 feet from south and 1,156 feet from east lines of section 115, block 8, H&GN survey. There is no nearby production. SCURRY PROBE

NFC Petroleum Corp., operating from Pearsall, Tex., will drill No. 1-74 Harrell, a 7,500-foot explorer in Scurry County, 14 miles east of Snyder.

Location is 660 feet from north and

Yoakum try swabbing oil

Amoco Production Co. No. 1-D Clanahan, Yoakum County wildcat, four miles west of Tokio and in the Prentice field area, swabbed 30 barrels of oil and 113 barrels of load water in 14 hours.

The recovery was through per-forations at 8,062-8,098 feet, which had been acidized with 4,000 gallons. Testing continued.

Earlier, it tested through perforations at 8.362-8.372 feet, swabbing new oil and load water after being acidized and fractured. Location is 1,787 feet from north and 167 feet from west lines of section 6. block D. John H. Gibson survey.

west lines of section 74, block 2, H&TC survey, three miles northwest of the depleted Camp Springs, South (Pennsylvanian) field. COTTLE VENTURE

Rex B. Moore of Abilene filed permit application for a 7,500-foot exploratory test in Cottle. It is No. 1 Richards Ranch.

Drillsite is 467 feet from south and 1.400 feet from east lines of W. Newcomb survey, abstract 183, 18 miles northwest of Paducah and six miles north of the Cee Vee (Pennsylvanian reef) field. KENT PROJECT

The Kent County wildcat is Samedan Oil Corp., Midland, No. 1 Wallace, five miles southeast of Clairemont.

It spots 990 feet from north and 2,170 feet from west lines of section 4, block 98, H&TC survey, one mile southeast the Clairemont, South (Pennsylvanian) field.

Executives appointed

CLEVELAND, Ohio - Alton W. Whitehouse was named vice chairman of Standard Oil Co. of Ohio Tuesday, and Joseph D. Harnett was named to succeed him as president and chief operating officer.

Both appointments will be effective Jan. 1, 1977, in anticipation of Chairman Charles E. Spahr's retirement at the end of this year,

Long tour completed

Stanford L. Downs, area engineer in the North Engineering area at Midland for Atlantic Richfield Co., has completed 25 years of service with the company. He was presented an award by E.

M. Pringle, engineering manager. He joined the firm in 1951 at Dallas, and transferred to the Midland area the following year. He has been in his present post in the Permian District since 1972.

Downs holds the B. S. degree in petroleum engineering, graduating from the University of Oklahoma in

Reentry scheduled

Amoco Production Co. has scheduled the reentry and deepening to 7,200 feet for tests of the Strawn at No. 1-A S. Neustadt, former Canyon producer in the SMS field of Kent

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 2,200 feet from west lines of section 3, block 2, H&GN survey, 14 mile northeast of the Spring Branch (Strawn "C") field, and 12 miles northwest of Clairemont.

Discovery potentials

Amoco Production Co. No. 87 W. G. Frazier, South Hockley County wildcat, two miles southwest of the Abo pay opener in the Slaughter field, has been completed from the Abo.

It had a 24-hour potential of 173 barrels of 20.6-gravity oil and 60 barrels of water, with gaz-oil ratio measuring 180-1.

Production was through per-foratioms at 7,904-7,965 feet Treat-ment, if any, was not available

Drilled to 8,500 feet, it has 51/2-inch casing set on bottom. It also tested through perforations at 8,026-8,197 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons, swabbing water with a trace of oil and gas. Location is 1,328 feet from south and

2,419 feet from west lines of section 10, block X, PSL survey, four miles south of Sundown. It also is 24 miles northeast of the Kingdom (Abo) field of Terry County.

Craig takes SPE reins

F. F. Craig Jr., manager of petroleum engineering with Amoco International Oil Co. (AIOC) in Chicago, has assumed office as president of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME.

Craig assumed his present position with AIOC in April, 1975, and is charged with the overall engineering efforts of the entire AIOC organization. In addition to his SPE Mong Monograph "Reservoir Engineering Aspects of Water-flooding," Craig has written more than 20 papers on various facets of reservoir engineering and improved oil recovery techniques. He holds eight patents on miscible and thermal recovery techniques.

Craig's association with SPE-AIME has included service as chairman of the Society's Mid-Continent and Chicago Petroleum Sections and the Transactions Editorial and Continuing Education Committees. He also served as a Distinguished Lecturer in 1971 and is currently a member of the AIME Board of Directors.

A graduate of the U. of Pittsburgh with a PhD degree in chemical engineering, Craig was a member of the research committee of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, representing the State of Illinois from University lease sale to be held in Midland

The Board for Lease of University Lands will hold its next public auction sale of oil and gas leases in Midland at the Midland Hilton April 7, 1977.

Due to the efforts of the citizens of Midland, this will be the first sale of oil and gas leases ever held outside of the state capital, James B. Zimmerman, geologist in charge, Midland office, University Lands,

"Until the law was changed in the last session of the state legislature, all sales had to be held in Austin," Zimmerman pointed out.

At the urging of members of the Midland Chamber of Commerce under the leadership of former president Ken Jastrow and other interested persons, Sen. Pete Snelson and Rep. Tom Craddick, introduced and pushed to a successful conclusion legislation allowing the sales to be held in the Tall City, Zimmerman added.

Zimmerman said the Snelson-Craddick bill had the support of both the Board for Lease of University Lands and the Board of Regents of the University of Texas System.

Zimmerman made the announcement that the lease sale would be held here at a Chamber of Commerce meeting today.

The Board for Lease is composed of two members of the Board of Regents and the land commissioner, Bob Armstrong. Armstrong is chairman of the Board for Lease, while Dan C. Williams of Dallas is vice chairman and also serves as vice chairman of the Board of Regents. Dr. Joe T. Nelson of Weatherford is a member of both boards.

Zimmerman said all board members have expressed their satisfaction about having this special sale in Midland.

Plans are being made to expand the event to a two- or three-day affair.

"University sales are big business. Since 1936, the university has amassed more than $253 million in lease bonus monies from 65 public auction sales," Zimmerman said. "As much as $16 million have been collected in one day, and individual tracts have sold for as much as $4

To pay high price for gas

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - City Public Service (CPS) San Antonio's municipally-owned utility, will pay almost $2 per thousand cubic feet for natural gas in October, the highest price ever paid to Lo-Vaca Gathering

CPS officials said the higher cost of adjustments on customers' November gas bill could be offset by a lower electricity fuel adjustment charge. The lower electric fuel adjustment charge is due to CPS' turning from natural gas to oil burning at some of its power plants, CPS officials said. The exact Lo-Vaca gas cost is twotenths of a cent below $2 thousand Lo-Vaca had projected steadily increasing rates, but did not expect a $2 rate before next January, CPS officials said.

Five cents of the hike is due, officials said, to decrease in demand for gas for which LoVaca must pay, whether it is consumed or not.

RRC okays gas sales

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The railroad commission yoted Tuesday to permit Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. to make emergency natural gas sales for up to 10 days without requiring a public hearing.

Such sales could be made, the commission said, where the public health, safety or welfare is concerned. Hearing examiner John Hays said now if a city's gas supply was cut off, Lo-Vaca could not provide gas service to the city until a hearing had been The amendment to a July 10 order will allow a commissioner, director. assistant rate director, any gas utilities hearing examiner or the commission's special counsel to authbrynh .ergency sales.

In other action, the commission:

—Dismissed Lone Star Gas Co.'s appeal of Garland's refusal to grant a rate increase because it was not filed -Gave Southwest Texas Municipal

Gas Corp., a non-profit corporation, permission to increase natural gas rates in the unincorporated areas ofFort Davis in Jeff Davis County and Saragosa, Brogado and Toyahvale in Reeves County.

The bill for a Fort Davis customer using 10,000 cubic feet of gas a month would rise 15 per cent, from $20.05 to $23.06. The cost for the same amount of gas in the Reeves County towns would rise 18.8 per cent, from $15.95 to $18.95, the commission said.

million. University Lands is one of the few agencies which uses the public auction method wherein a professional auctioneer cries the bids. The auction is a reserve auction with the board reserving the right to reject any and all bids."

Zimmerman said Midland is the logical site for the sales because more than 80 per cent of the lease bonus money is spent by Midlanders, either as individuals or representatives of oil and gas companies, and since 1937 University Lands has maintained its one and only land office in Midland in the heart of its 2,100,000 acres of land.

"The University of Texas constructed its own building in Midland in 1968 - the Hal P. Bybee Building at 808 West Wall Street," Zimmerman pointed out.

Zimmerman said the university sales are followed nationwide as one of the main indicators of future activity in the Permian Basin. He added that University Lands now produce more than 90,000 barrels of oil daily.

"If the lands were an individual state, the hypothetical state would rank eighth in the nation in oil production," Zimmerman revealed. The lands also produce a volume of gas sufficient to supply Houston or the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex."

Zimmerman announced that in the near future the Board for Lease will asking for nominations of desired acreage. All oil and gas operators then nust have all tract nominations in to the Midland office by mid-January. The Midland office will then compile the sale list for approval by the Board for Lease Jan. 21. A brochure will then be distributed listing all tracts to be offered for sale.

Zimmerman said the 2.100,000 acres of University land is located in 19 West Texas counties, stretching from Schleicher County on the east to El Paso County to the west, and that more than $500 million worth of minerals are produced from the lands

The lands contain more than 5,000 oil and gas wells and 281 oil and gas fields. The first major oil discovery in the Permian Basin was on University Lands in 1923 when the historic Santa Rita No. 1 was brought in in Reagan County to open the Big Lake field.

Zimmerman said that since 1923, more than 1.2 billion barrels of oil have been produced by the school lands and $850 million dollars in bonus monies and royalties have been accumulated in the University Permanent Fund. He added that the earnings from the fund are allocated one-third to Texas A&M University and two-thirds to the University of

New Mexico areas gain wildcat tests

Three wildcats and projects in three undesignated sectors of Eddy County, N.M., have been scheduled. Also, a Lea workover is planned.

Depco, Inc. of Odessa, will drill No. Loco Hills Deep, an 11,500-foot Morrow prospector in Eddy, seven miles southwest of Loco Hills. Drillsite, surrounded by production

Union Oil Co. of California has filed application to reenter and clean out to around 13,600 feet for recompletion attempt in the Morrow, at No. 3 Pipeline Deep Unit-Federal, former Morrow opener of the Quail Ridge, North field of Lea County.

It was drilled by El Paso Natural Gas Co. as No. 1 Mescalero Unit, and completed in 1961 through per-forations at 13,160-13,212 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 7-19s-34e, 10 miles southwest of Buckeye.

Basin sectors report trio of explorations

Wildcat sites have been staked in Fisher, Nolan and Stonewall counties. Amerada Petroleum Corp., Dallas, will drill No. 1 Reef, a 5,300-foot prospector in Fisher, four miles northeast of Royston.

Drillsite is 1,015 feet from north and 1,353 feet from west lines of section 88, block 1, H&TC survey, in the Round Top, Northwest area.

NOLAN TESTS

James K. Anderson, Inc., Dallas, accounted for two ventures in Nolan. about five miles northwest of Nolan

Both are slated to 5,600 feet, and are in section 53, block X, T&P survey.

U.S., U.S.S.R. discussing joint space ventures

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The United States and the Soviet Union have discussed the possibility of setting up networks of orbiting satellites to search for stranded ships and downed aircraft and to measure worldwide air pollution.

These two possibilities emerged as strong candidates for the next joint Soviet-American space missions after talks last week between space scientists of both countries at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters and the Smithsonian Air and Space Museum in Washington.

The talks were exploratory, with neither side committing resources to any specific joint mission proposal. The talks were held at Soviet request, to coincide with a trip to California by Intercosmos Chairman Boris Petrov to attend the annual meeting of the International Astronautics Federation.

"We wanted to identify what kinds of scientific endeavors we might attempt together in the next decade," said Dr. Alan M. Lovelace, NASA deputy administrator who headed the U.S. delegation to the talks. "We exchanged ideas on what would be feasible and agreed to study a few in

One global satellite system the two countries will study is a network to pinpoint the locations of crashed airliners and ships in distress anywhere in the world. These satellites could be run by the United States and Soviet Union almost as a fledgling International Red Cross operation in earth orbit, Lovelace said.

"We suggested this one and the Soviets saw immediate merit in this idea," Lovelace said Tuesday in an interview. "Both sides agreed to look very hard at this sugestion."

A second suggestion is a Soviet idea to monitor air pollution from space of the earth's upper atmosphere. Fears are growing that jetliner and power plant exhaust along with the wastes from aerosols, forest fires and fertilizers may damage the ozone shield that protects people from the ultraviolet rays of the sun.

"We may attempt the first of these using two manned orbiting spacecraft," Lovelace said. "Instruments can be used by men in two approaching spacecraft which give a nice vertical profile of contaminants leaking out of the upper atmosphere."

WARSAW - Since I was standing in the rubble of the sacked Communist party headquarters in Radom last June, interviewing workmen about the riots there three days earlier, I was not especially surprised when two grimfaced men appeared in a black sedan. They took my documents and showed me theirs. They were from the security police - the Polish equivalent of the Soviet

But what happened after that arrest shows a good deal about Poland's readiness to have outsiders examine the problems facing the country — a novel feature for Eastern Europe.

In fact, I had not expected the Poles to let me go to Radom at all. considering the sensitivity of the situation there. Yet all I did was rent a car in Warsaw and drive off. It could have been France.

Sitting behind a locked door in police headquarters though, matters did not look so bright. After a short wait, my Polish escort and I (he was a young freelance interpreter tank-top shirt and platform shoes) were brought into an office where two different men greeted us coolly: a young man I took to be a captain and an older man who was probably a major.

"Who are you and why have you come?" asked the major.

I said if there was to be any questioning I would have to call for a consular official at the American embassy. The major said that would not be necessary and left with my passport and my escort's papers. Clearly he was calling Warsaw for instructions. We were in the captain's custody.

Gradually, the young officer began to talk and in minutes was engrossed in telling us the circumstances surrounding the incidents in Radom, the background and the implications. I was busily taking notes, pleased with the unexpected opportunity to quiz the security police

After about 40 minutes, the major returned looking extremely chagrined. My guess is that his bosses were furious. Here they had given me a visa into the country on a day's notice (waiving the usual twoweek wait), and had made no effort to block my reporting. Now these provincial zealots were blotting the image.

"It was all a mistake," said the major, practically bowing, "the men who picked you up had no right to do that. You are free to go and see what you want."

"Actually," I replied, "we're having a very interesting discussion here and there are a few more questions I'd, like to

"Oh no," said the "we are not major, competent to answer any of your questions."

Whereupon the captain, who had been talking nonstop blanched, shot out of his chair and had us out those locked doors and into the street in seconds. As far as I know, we weren't even followed.

Students give ghosts new 'home'

Ghosts and goblins will find a home tonight, Thursday and Saturday at the corner of Mississippi and Weatherford streets where the Lee High School chorale will have its Halloween spook house.

The spook house will be open from 7:30 to 10 p.m. each of the three nights and admission is 50 cents. There will be six rooms of ghosts and other frightening phenomena, a fortune teller and a refreshment stand run by the Lee Chorale Booster Club.

The chorale is raising money to pay its expenses for a trip to Kansas City in March to perform for the Muic Educators National Conference. The group will be the only one from Texas to perform at the conference.

Distrust may cause problems

WASHINGTON - One of every 10 black men was not counted in the nation's 1970 Census, and officials responsible for the accounting have no assurance that they can do much better in 1980.

Public cynicism to government and controversy over confidentiality of the census returns poses another pro-blem for the census officials who fear millions of Americans may refuse to file the forms.

At a time of penny-pinching, the cost of the census is soaring. The 1970 count cost $220 million and earlier this years the estimate for 1980 ranged from $450 to $500 million. "And it's going up," said David L. Kaplan, who is sible for the 1980 count. "Right now I'm afraid to figure what it's actually going to cost."
Indeed, as Kaplan and his

Census prepare for the next national nose count in 1980 they face no shortage of problems.

Yet, the census has never been more important: With one-personone-vote court rulings, the apportionment of local, state and federal legislatures is based on population, as is the disbursement of some $30 billion in 102 federal aid pro-

"Religious scruples of some ... fears of some that it (the census) was intended as the foundation of attacks

... indolence of the people and negligence of many of the (census) officials" affected the accuracy of the nation's first census in 1790, George Washington wrote in 1791. Thomas

Today, the Census Bureau may not have any better idea of why people weren't counted, but there is a much clearer idea of how many people were missed. By using national data on births, deaths, immigration, Medicare enrollment and past censuses, bureau statisticians have developed an estimated population that they have compared with the actual count. In 1970, they concluded that some 2.5 per cent of the population had not been counted (compared to 3.3 per cent in 1950 and 2.7 per cent in 1960).

Of particular concern is the disparity between white and black populations. "We are vitally concerned about the fact that 2 million of the 5 million persons who were missed in the 1970 census were black," said Robert B. Hill, director of research for the Urban League. The bureau estimated in 1973 that 1.7 per cent of the white population was missed, compared with 7.7 per cent of the black population. "Thus," continued Hill, "areas with disproportionate numbers of racial minorities are being systematically shortchanged with regard to both their political and financial

Further, Hill's research unit estimated that New York City lost $6.7 million in revenue-sharing funds alone in connection with the undercount in New York of 493,774.

Preparing for 1980 the bureau according to top officials there, has taken several steps: Census forms will be printed in Spanish and will for the first time be used in Spanish-speaking communities outside of Puerto Rico; local officials will be consulted and given a chance to review census data prior to its official release; 90 per cent of the forms will be sent and returned by mail and greater emphasis will be placed on an accurate address list; double checking will be done by team rather than by single enumerators.

The greatest effort will involve public relations and community involvement. Key operatives, says Kaplan, will be county representatives, "people working at the grass roots ... who don't look like bureaucrats." Representatives of black, Spanish, Asian and Indian ethnic groups have been advising the Census Bureau since 1973. Hill now chairs a Census Bureau advisory committee on the black population. Even black activist Bobby Seale stopped in on a planning session, in contrast to 1970 when both Black Muslims and Black Panthers urged blacks not to participate in the census. "We're trying to sell them on the usefullness of the census," said Kaplan referring to the federal funding for housing, transportation, educational and other social programs triggered by census data. "It's for their minority community."

for their minority community."

Nonetheless, said Hill, "We're going to have an undercount in the 1980 census. I think there are things being done that will help to make it less than what it might have been."

There is a persistent controversy over confidentiality of census forms which worries bureau officials, particularly in the wake of Watergate, Central Intelligence Agency and Federal Bureau of Investigation scandals. There is cynicism, top census officials concede, that prompts some not to complete the forms. Despite census assertions that the information remains confidential. There remain suspicions of the use to which government forms are put, according to Kaplan. This is especially true among minority groups.

"There are perhaps thousands to millions who just avoid us," says Kaplan. That results in an incomplete entitlements. they are living together. It's a very human situation." Perhaps they are refusals," he said. "There's also the problem of lifestyle. Consider the way reluctant to complete the census form a lot of younger people live today, for example unmarried partners when "for fear that a mother-in-law or a housing manager might see it." he

Greek caves yield many new remains

ATHENS (AP) - A fossilized, paleolithic-age animal skeleton dating back 1.5 million years has been discovered in underground waters by the Greek Spelaeologist Assn., one of several finds considered of vast archaeological, scientific and economic

Mrs. Anna Petrochilou, president of the association popularly known as "the cave hunters," said the kind of animal has not yet been determined nor is its extraction possible at this stage since it is located at a depth of 30 meters in what is called the "big

The cave is at Diros, in the Peloponnese, southern Greece, and is rich in stalagmites and underground passages and streams. Although it was discovered several years ago, the association president said that newly found openings disclosed passages and cave-rooms "adorned with rare jewels of underground nature."

It was at the Diros caves that Mrs. Petrochilou's husband was killed during a steep descent.

Mrs. Petrochilou said an underground vertical precipice was found in another part of the Peloponnese, which she claimed was the biggest in the world. She said that at a depth of 418 meters it surpassed the Devil's Precipice in Mexico so far considered the deepest at 410 meters.

At Leonidi, also in the Peloponnese, original investigations into a small water spring led to the discovery of an underground river which has been traversed to a length of 600 meters without its end yet being reached.

Mrs. Petrochilou said adjoining passages with running water were also found, all of which could be used for the badly needed irrigation of above-ground surrounding plains usually parched during the summer.

In Ioannina, northwestern Greece, the explorers went into the catacombs underneath the Castle Museum of the city, which were once used by Turkish Ottoman ruler Ali Pasha as an ammunition store, and found an adjoining enormous cave. The association president said it was richly adorned with stalagmites and stalactites, lowceiling smaller caves, lakes and waterfalls.

A similar find, but this time with the stalagmites protruding above ground, was made along a riverside near the Albanian border in the northeast. Mrs. Petrochilou said these stalagmites contained fossilized

The last significant find made recently by the association was the tracing of a shallow mountain lake at the Omalos Range on Crete Island in the southern Aegean Sea.

Census questions show changes in U.S. society

Newsday
WASHINGTON — While the numbers amassed by the census every 10 years provide a statistical portrait of the nation, the census takers' questions themselves reflect the society and what's on its mind.

Census bureau planners are discussing a host of questions for the 1980 census, including some that touch on ethnic awareness and changing the relationship between men and women. There have been similar discussions in the past as social trends developed or disap-

Questions on slaves, asked in the first national census in 1790, ended after 1880. Questions identifying the farm as a residence first were asked in 1880 after the Industrial Revolution began pulling people into cities. From the late 1880s to 1910, there were separate categories for inmates of prisons, poorhouses and asylums, for the blind, for the insane, for idiots and the feeble-minded and for the physically disabled. (In 1880, there was a question on the size of the head: small, large or natural).

Questions on the number of radios in a home first appeared in 1930; on the number of television in 1950. In 1960, mobile homes were first listed as a place of residence and questions were asked on commuting and the number of automobiles per home.

Of particular interest this year are Of particular interest this year are proposed questions dealing with ethnic origin. "There's been a tremendous drive by the Spanish community across the country," said David L. Kaplan, director of the 1980 census planning, and as a result there likely will be a question on the short form that everyone receives to identify those of Spanish origin are descent. Market increases slightly

NEW YORK (AP) -The stock market showed a slight gain today in the aftermath of Tuesday's broad rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, up 10.14 on Tuesday, was up another 1.24 at 949.38 by noontime today.

Gainers outpaced losers by slightly more than a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Dow climbed more than 3 points at the outset in a carryover of buying interest from Tuesday's close. But it began fading after that, with analysts noting some skepticism about the durability of the upturn because of the absence of any strong trading volume. American Telephone topped the active list, up 1/8

The NYSE's composite index mf all its listed common stocks edged up .04 to 54.01. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .09 to 98.26. Volume on the Big Board continued to set a sluggish pace, totalling 6.42 million shares over the first two hours against 6.90 million in the like period Tuesday.

General Foods slipped 36 to 33% in active trading. The company reported a 22 per cent earnings gain for the quarter ended Oct. 2, but said it didn't expect profits in the current quarter to match year-ago levels.

Chrysler tags EPA lawsuit 'unbelievable'

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) "We were really shocked," said Sydney Terry, Chrysler Corp. vice president for public responsibility and consumer affairs. "Incredible, unbelievable," he

Chrysler had just learned it was being sued for $91 million because, said the Environmental Protection Agency, it had produced 9,100 cars that failed to meet standards model amplifier. of the Clean Air Act.

"Incredible," said Terry again. "It was a simple, unintentional human error. It was insignificant. It was reported by us. It was corrected by us." The offense, he said, was more in the paperwork than in the quality of the vehicles.

The problem originated with the discovery by Chrysler that it had placed on some 1976 Plymouth and Dodge cars a vacuum amplifier for the exhaust gas recirculator that was different from the one it described to the EPA.

The tiny $3 or $4 item is designed to reduce the formation of oxides of nitrogen, a pollutant. In 1975 EPA permitted 3.1 grams per mile to be exhausted into the air; the 1976 requirement reduced that to 2 grams per mile.

On Jan. 27, in keeping with its obligations, Chrysler notified owners and dealers, and managed to reduce the number of potentially offending vehicles to 1,800 Then, said Terry, the company learned it was to be sued the maximum $10,000 penalty, and on all 9,100 cars. Since, said Terry, "the only basis for action was on a technicality.'1 Chrysler lawyers met with the Justice Department.

"They told us to pay $1 million and sign a consent decree," said Terry. "We said that sounds like blackmail. We made an honest mistake." Justice Department, he said, informed Chrysler it would sue.

Chrysler expressed its surprise in a Sept. 29 statement. On Oct. 8 Russell E. ERIE, Pa. - Republican vice presidential candidate Sen. Bob Dole Tuesday criticized Jimmy Carter for saying he would not send troops to Yugoslavia if the Russians invaded that country. But, asked whether he would send troops to Yugoslavia in similar circumstances, Dole said, "No, but I wouldn't tell in advance what I had in mind."

Later, the Kansas senator was asked whether he misspoke. "I guess you could say that," he said, adding, 'Of course as vice president I wouldn't send troops anywhere. It would be up to the President."

Dole's prepared speech, in which he criticized Carter for saying he "would not go to war in Yugoslavia even if the Soviet Union sent in troops," was part of an intense Republican effort, led by President Ford, to make the Democratic presidential nominee's statement a major campaign issue.

Ford also campaigned Tuesday in Pennsylvania, a crucial swing state, as did the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Minnessota Sen. Walter Echoing Ford's statement Tuesday. Dole told a small downtown rally in this western Pennsylvania town, 'Gov. Carter may be a nice, decent, honest, trustworthy man. At least he tells us he is.

"But he is very naive ... and inexperienced in the conduct of foreign policy ... Mr. Carter, out of innocence or ignorance or an uncontrollable impulse to shoot from the hip, his advocating foreign policy position that would mean disaster for this nation and for the free world."

Carter's Yugoslavia statement, Dole said, "tipped his hand to enemies and to potential enemies alike, telling them in advance what he will or will not do if he becomes Presi-

"I am afraid Mr. Carter has told the Soviet Union more about himself and his foreign policy than he has told the American people," Dole said.

Despite his earlier statement that he would not send troops to Yugoslavia, Dole seemed to criticize Carter for not leaving the door open to military intervention.

a major American interest, but not Mr. Carter," Dole said.

"Six Presidents have also said that the United States will never be reconciled to Soviet rule in Eastern and Central Europe, yet Mr. Carter says a revolt by any of these oppressed peoples against the Soviet Union would be considered an 'internal affair' of the nations involved."

Dole also attacked Carter for threatening economic retaliation in the event of another Arab oil embargo. "Even if that were the way to go, to say so before hand leaves little room for bargaining and a lot of room for back-tracking," Dole said.

The Erie stop was a low point in Dole's campaign, which has been overshadowed as Ford has taken to the road in head-on confrontation with Carter.

Although it took place at noon on the main downtown thoroughfare, the Erie rally attracted fewer than 200 people, conspicuously outnumbered by three brass bands. Lunchtime passersby buttoned their coats against the cold without stopping to hear the candidate.

After the rally, Dole appeared at a Republican fundraising luncheon in a nearby hotel, receiving lukewarm response for a rambling speech. The loudest applause came when he told the group, "I'm touched to be here, but not as touched as you are." In this last tense week before the election. Dole has abandoned his freewheeling off-the-cuff speaking style in favor of prepared texts closely coordinated with the President Ford Committee.

Dole seemed to leash himself in late Tuesday when, after his recent attack on the Democrats for leading the country into war, he read a statement in Troy, Ohio, declaring that Vietnam and World War II "were not partisan wars in the sense that a clear division of political philosophy separated the party in power from the other party when the fighting broke out. They were fought for what was perceived to be the national interest ... "No, I don't believe World War II was a Democrat war and I don't believe Vietnam was. But I do know that no country is likely to attack us or attack our allies if we are strong, and through strength, Gerald Ford has given us a world at peace."

ble charge that World War II was somehow a partisan matter and not an American effort in which all Americans were united," he said. The Minnesota senator said Dole's statement was "despicable" and "divisive" and indicative of the kind of leadership the nation could expect from President Ford and Dole, if they are elected. "What this nation desperately ne eds is a new sense of purpose leadership that will help pull the nation together to help solve our real problems of unemployment and inflation and the other issues that so adversely affect our people, he said. We cannot have leadership that reaches out in this kind of desperate way - not to unite us - but, instead, to pursue outrageous charges that deeply divide this country," he said.

By coincidence, Dole's plane had landed at the airport here minutes before the arrival of the Mondale entourage. The two men never met. But an aide said Mondale "was aware of Dole's presence in the area."

Mondale again attacked Dole's comments on World War II at a visit to an American Legion post here and a political rally in Albany, N.Y. He did not bring up the matter in an appearance before a senior citizen's group in Philadelhpia. But an aide predicted that the senator would resurrect and again attack Dole's statements whenever a convenient setting presented itself. "I just can't believe that Dole said what he said,' the aide said shaking his head.

Blood drive set student senate is sponsoring a community-wide blood drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the college student senate, said. student center.

The drive is being held in cooperation with Midland Memorial Hospital and West Texas Blood Service of San Angelo' which supplies area hospitals.

Donors are not paid but will be enrolled in the Blood Assurance Program, which guarantees the donor and his family will receive as much blood as needed at no cost for the blood during the next six months.

The program is honored nationally and the only expense for the patient is for actual administration of blood.

Cost of blood for nondonors at Midland Memorial Hospital is $45 per pint, Bruce Palmer, chief of medical technology, said.

However, a $22.50 credit is given for replacement donations That means that a patient is not charged for blood if two persons donate blood in his name for each pint

Palmer said that approximately five to 10 per cent of those who donate blood and are covered by the Blood Assurance Program use the service for themselves or their families.

Of the blood donated during the blood drive. 25 per cent goes directly to the hospital and the remainder to West Texas Blood Service, Palmer said. There is no difference in cost to the patient between blood coming directly from the hospital and that furnished by the blood service.

Donors must be between 18 and 65 years of age, or 17 with consent of parent or guardian, must weigh at least 110 pounds, must not have given blood within the past two months and must never have had hepatitis (jaundice), malaria or cancer, other than skin cancer

Oldtime general store remains part of life in farming town

By BILL MARTIN

WELLINGTON, Nev. (AP) - The penny candy is gone. It costs two

And so is the handsome console radio that once attracted men and boys anxious to hear the big fights. Gone too are the well-worn easy chairs where men of the village gathered on rainy days to swap frequently well-worn stories.

But Wellington Mercantile remains a genuine general store.

Rene and Mary Cardinal, pro-prietors, maintain the tradition of natural cordiality for their neighbors and stock a wide variety of goods to suit their requirements.

"I know it sounds very romantic to most people," says Cardinal. "But in the owners' mind it's utilitarian. We're no different than people in a thousand other places.'

But the general store has nearly vanished as a way of life in America, replaced by neighborhood supermarkets, department stores and hardware stores.

In the agricultural community of Wellington, however, the Mercantile is a tradition to be maintained, a constant marker around which the town's roots can be wrapped.

To lifelong residents of the area, the general store is just something that has always been there and it takes a curious visitor to get them to recall what the store was like a half-century

Those who move away know that when they return Wellington Mercantile will still be sitting 75 yards back from State Route 3. They'll smile to themselves and think, "Some things never change."

"The people are one thing you cannot forget about," says Cardinal.
"They don't think of the store as mine or Mary's —it's theirs."

The Cardinals brought their children, then aged 5, 8 and 9, to Wellington in 1963 from San Francisco. where Cardinal, then 37, was an accountant concerned about the effect of the city on their upbringing.

While they confess a lingering affection for San Francisco, the couple has seldom regretted the small town experience and its effect on themselves and their children. The store originally was built at Hoye's Crossing a few miles away in 1866 by a pioneer stage stop operator. As travel patterns changed, he literally moved the store here about 1870. Virtually the entire structure remains - from the square nails in the rafters to the handset, rock-walled basement to the wood floors and the front doors and the original counter. Residents of the fertile Smith Valley no longer hitch their horses to a railing in front, but each day a steady stream of people drives up to buy groceries, clothes or various implements.

"You have to stock up on a lot of various things, because you can't send people somewhere else if you don't have what they want," Cardinal explains.

"And out here, everybody has to do it himself. You can't call a plumber if the sink is stopped up. You have to be helpful to your customers — and your neighbors."

So the Cardinals keep on hand such diverse items as galvanized washtubs, Dutch ovens, tin wash basins, saddle blankets and hay hooks, as well as meats, groceries, hand tools, health aids and clothing.

Mrs. Cardinal is a Wellington native, while Cardinal grew up in the small northern California community of Loyalton. Both remember general stores from their childhood. Mrs. Cardinal, in fact, worked at Wellington Mercantile in her youth.

The store remains a place where residents can keep up on the local news and visit with friends. The cracker barrel is gone, but a wooden bench is conveniently located near the front door and a well-fueled pot belly stove is installed each winter.

"It's not your basic tobacco chewing, bib overall type of conversation," says Cardinal, for times and topics of conversation have changed.

Operating a general store is a six-day-a-week proposition and the Cardinals are open from "about eight in the morning until about five at night," although the hours vary and they live next door, enabling a neighbor to ask them to open up for an emergency.
