

District attorney candidates seek quick justice

Trey Lohmann

Vern Martin

Reduction of crime through prompt, thorough prosecution of criminals in Midland County is the aim of two Midland attorneys running for 142nd District Attorney's post. Incumbent Jim Mashburn is not seeking re-election.

Trey Lohmann views disposing of the backlog of criminal cases and making the office more responsive to the needs of the community as the means of more efficiently handling the job.

Vern Martin said he will seek the trial and punishment of criminal offenders who create a threat to the safety and welfare of the community.

The Reporter-Telegram gave both candidates a questionnaire concerning the race. The questions and their answers follow:

TREY LOHMANN

Please provide a thorough biographical statement:
Born in Sweetwater, April 6, 1944. Grew up in Wink, attended high school in Monahans. Attended North Texas State University; received a B.A. in government with a double major in English. Attended University of Texas, received a Juris Doctorate degree in 1969. Practiced law in Dallas through 1971 and general practice law in Midland since then.

Describe the duties of the office which you seek, and assign priorities as you view them:

1. Effective prosecution;
2. Efficient administration;
3. Total cooperation with all members of the community.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

1. To dispose of the backlog of criminal cases.

2. To make a more objective analysis of seeking future indictments and an effective prosecution of them.
3. A more thorough use of plea bargaining and an office more responsive to the needs of the community.

What policy or operations changes do you propose (or plan to continue) if you are elected:

I am a self-employed attorney, native Texan, 45 years of age. My wife and I have five children; the two youngest boys are still at home.

A thumbnail sketch of my qualifications for the office of district attorney follows:

Bachelor of Science degree in government, East Texas State University, Doctor of Jurisprudence degree, University of Texas School of Law, licensed in state and federal courts; law clerk for federal judge; attorney for Veteran's Land Board; Determination officer for OASI; investigation of foreign claims and participation in numerous courts martial, U.S. Navy;

Full time general law practice since 1963, in Midland 11 years; heavy courtroom experience in all phases of criminal law, including actual trial of many felony jury cases in Midland County and practice before the Court of Criminal Appeals.

An extensive background in legal medicine; scientific evidence, working with interpreters and a broad based civil practice.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

Describe the duties of the office which you seek, and assign priorities as you view them:

The duties of the district attorney are defined by statute Article 2.01 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure states that each district attorney shall represent the state in all criminal cases in the district courts of his district, except in cases where he has been, before his election, employed adversely. When any criminal proceeding is before an examining court in his district or before a judge upon habeas corpus, and he is notified of the same, and is at the time within his district, he shall represent the state therein, unless prevented by other official duties. It shall be the primary duty of all prosecuting attorneys, including any special prosecutors, not to convict, but to see that justice is done. They shall not suppress facts or secrete witnesses capable of establishing the innocence of the accused.

Rather than attempting to assign priorities to specific matters, I intend to devote my full time toward vigorous prosecution of all criminal cases within the authority of the office. My goal is to offer an energetic prosecution to every violation of the law brought to my attention; and I am particularly concerned about crimes which threaten the lives and property of people and especially the drug pushers, who threaten the welfare of everyone.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

Crimes that threaten the safety and welfare of this community present the greatest and only challenge of this office. My intention is to accept this challenge and to seek the trial and punishment of criminal offenders who create this threat.

What policy or operations changes do you propose (or plan to continue) if you are elected:

Not an issue in this race since the incumbent, Jim Mashburn, is not seeking re-election.

I would consider it irresponsible to advocate any dramatic changes in the policy and operation of the office at this time and believe that the best interest of this community will be served by working as closely as possible with Mr. Mashburn, his staff and the local law enforcement agencies to make the changeover as smooth and efficient as possible in order to maintain the present level of effective prosecutions.

Future changes in the operation of the office should and will take place only after a study and testing period and with due regard to whether such change will actually further the goals of the office.

My basic policy will be to identify the criminals and get them off the streets of Midland; and put crime out of business in Midland County.

Church thefts solved

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans said Wednesday that two of the five persons charged with kidnaping and attempted murder after a high speed chase and shootout have signed statements concerning church robberies in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri.

Evans did not identify the two who have signed the statements. The five were also charged Wednesday with aggravated robbery.

Ford to tell plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is making final preparations to announce his long-awaited proposals to control the spread of nuclear technology and weapons.

The White House received seven weeks ago the report of a government commission assigned by Ford last July to review American policy and recommend changes.

Since that time, diplomatic sources report, American embassies abroad have been told to brief the 14 members of the nuclear "suppliers club" on the new U.S. proposals and rally support for them.

The club — including the U.S.S.R., France, West Germany, East Germany, Japan, and Great Britain — has been meeting privately in London since 1975 to consider the way it will provide nuclear technology to the developing world.

Ford's proposals will be the U.S. position when the club meets again, perhaps next month.

The timing of Ford's announcement also has political ramifications, coming in the final week of the presidential campaign. Since May, when he spoke on the subject at the United Nations, Democrat Jimmy Carter has been accusing the administration of lack of leadership on the nuclear proliferation problem.

The problem is the increasing likelihood that conventional nuclear reactors and fuels intended for the generation of electricity can be used by recipient countries to make atomic bombs.

India demonstrated the potentialities to the world when it detonated a nuclear device in 1974, using nuclear fuels and technology that it had been given for peaceful purposes.

Craddick, Corley to speak

Candidates for state representative from Midland will discuss their qualifications and proposals in a "High Noon Forum" Friday in the Midland College student center.

The forum, sponsored by the college student senate, will feature incumbent Tom Craddick, a Republican, and his Democratic opponent R. L. "Bob" Corley.

The event is open to the public.

Peaceful power change in Rhodesia fading fast

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The negotiations that may provide the last chance for a peaceful transition to black rule in Rhodesia open today, but the prospects for agreement between the black and white leaders look increasingly poor.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, whose shuttle diplomacy laid the groundwork for the conference, ordered his chief expert on Africa, Asst. Secretary of State William Schaefele Jr., to Geneva. He also indicated he might go himself if necessary.

Kissinger told a news conference in Hartford, Conn., that he does not expect a stalemate. But he said if the negotiations between Prime Minister Ian Smith and four black nationalist leaders falter "the United States will do its best to get them started."

"We will do what is asked by the parties to bring the negotiations to a successful conclusion," Britain, the colonial power in Rhodesia until Smith's unilateral declaration of independence 11 years ago, called the conference to make plans for an interim government of blacks and whites after Smith's white minority regime agreed in principle to hand over power to the black majority in two years.

However, the conference is deadlocked at the interim government, and none of the leaders give any indication of modifying their positions.

Smith says he agreed to a proposal by Kissinger for the whites to retain a veto during the transition period and also to retain control of the army and the police. He contends that the secretary of state told him the blacks had accepted that arrangement.

The blacks reject the Kissinger plan and demand black control immediately, including control of the army and police.

Both British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland and Kissinger say the plan put before Smith was a basis for negotiations, not a binding commitment.

Black leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe made additional demands earlier this week. When the British failed to support them all the way, they accused them of collaborating with the white Rhodesians to "wreck the conference."

Nkomo and Mugabe said "the conference will be in jeopardy" unless Smith met their demands for an immediate end to antiguerrilla warfare and the freeing of an estimated 800 political prisoners.

Ivor Richard, the British ambassador who is chairman of the conference, asked Smith to comply with only one of the demands — the release of political prisoners.

Ferry pilot was almost drunk

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A coroner says the captain of a Mississippi River commuter ferry was "almost legally drunk" when his craft collided with a tanker last week, killing an estimated 78 persons.

"This guy had been drinking...it is difficult to say how much," said Orleans Parish Coroner Frank Minyard, who released an autopsy Wednesday on Capt. Egidio Auletta, 35.

Minyard said the autopsy showed a blood alcohol content of .09 per cent — "just a tad under 0.1...which is the legal definition of being drunk in the state of Louisiana."

The coroner said that to have a blood sample with such a high alcohol content "a man would have to have been drinking quite heavily."

Doctors checking Mossler

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Medical examiners say they'll need more tests before determining what caused the death of Candace Mossler. But they say early findings indicate she died of a sedative overdose.

Mrs. Mossler, who gained worldwide fame in 1968 when tried and acquitted for the brutal murder of her millionaire husband, Jacques Mossler, died Tuesday in her sleep at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

"Gross findings are consistent with a drug overdose death," Dr. Joseph Davis, Dade County's chief medical examiner, said Wednesday after an autopsy. "Preliminary toxicology tests indicate the presence of more than one drug and include ethchlorvynol."

That drug is often used to induce sleep.

Your Sheriff Must Control His Temper, If He Is To Control Lawbreakers...

ONE OF THE BIG REASONS WHY MIDLAND COUNTY REMAINS THE CLEANEST COUNTY IN TEXAS IS SHERIFF ED DARNELL'S FIRM BUT FAIR AND CONTROLLED WAY OF DOING HIS JOB. HE DOESN'T CREATE INCIDENTS, AND WILL NOT TOLERATE PHYSICAL ABUSE OF CITIZENS IN ANY WAY.

But how about the other Candidate?

The prosecutor in the Midland County Attorney's office, during 6 of the 7 years Dallas Smith was a highway patrolman here, has said:

"When I was in the County Attorney's office, many instances involving the use of physical force by Patrolman Smith were reported to me. These reports against Mr. Smith far exceeded those against all other officers."

EVEN MORE SIGNIFICANT IS THE TESTIMONY OF PATROLMAN DALLAS SMITH HIMSELF IN THE CASE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS VS. FRANCISCO LUNA SUBIA, NO. 19,567 IN THE COUNTY COURT OF MIDLAND COUNTY, ON FEBRUARY 16, 1970. PATROLMAN SMITH SAID, IN HIS OWN WORDS:

"I felt I needed a little action, so I reached over and got him by the front of the shirt, by his collar, and yanked him around in the seat."

And again:

"I grabbed him by the collar portion of the shirt, and I yanked him and jerked him around hard, and told him to shut up. And I said it loud, said it plenty loud."

and again:

Question:

"At the time you did grab him, did y'all prior to that time shove one another, or anything like that?"

Patrolman Smith:

"NO, SIR... I grabbed him and yanked him around, and I slung him, more or less."

and again:

"And I kicked him. I kicked him on the neck, here."

and again: after the man was handcuffed:

"I think when I pitched him in the car, I was pretty upset, myself, and I wasn't none too careful about putting him in the car. I just grabbed him by the arm and handcuffs and back of the seat and just loaded him up."

Unfortunately, "rough stuff" is sometimes necessary when an officer is physically resisted or attacked first - but THAT WAS NOT THE CASE HERE, AS PATROLMAN SMITH HIMSELF TESTIFIED. The point for Midlanders to seriously consider is the fact that this man used excessive physical force far too often... far more than any other officer... to the extent which makes his conduct and attitude a matter of concern. Whether a person is innocent or guilty of an offense is of no consequence: that person is entitled to fair treatment, and should not be subjected to physical abuse. This is no way to enforce the law. These are legitimate concerns of every Midland voter who wants our county to remain a fine, clean community, where all our people—no matter where they live, or where they work, or the color of their skins—live in harmony under laws fairly enforced by mature officers, who recognize that "Spoiling for a fight" is no way to do their jobs.

Officials say South Korea critical to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials are worried that disclosures of a Justice Department investigation into South Korean lobbying activities could lead to diminished U.S. public support for South Korea's defense.

The Korean peninsula is considered one of the most likely areas where a great power confrontation could take place, and officials here are hopeful that recent disclosures will not divert attention from the high political stakes in that region.

Furthermore, the disclosures come at a particularly sensitive time. Congressional support for South Korea has been waning because of concern about what is viewed in some quarters as a dictatorial regime there and because of the desire to cut back U.S. forces overseas.

In northeast Asia, the interest of four great powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, China and Japan — all intersect. U.S. acquiescence to any North Korean military conquest of South Korea would, according to officials, have a disastrous effect on Japan.

It would lead to Japanese accommodation with one or both of the superpowers, producing a major shift in the world power balance.

Thus, each American administration since that of President Harry S. Truman has made defense of South Korea a top commitment. But as the South Koreans are well aware, the commitment of an administration means little unless it is shared by Congress.

This explains why the South Korean government has a special interest in how Congress votes on legislation affecting it. Just how far South Korea has gone in its attempts to influence Congress is the subject of the Justice Department investigation.

News reports have quoted investigators as saying that South Korean agents dispensed between $500,000 and $1 million yearly since 1970 in cash and gifts to congressmen and to U.S. officials to ensure that Korean interests are protected in Washington.

As many as 90 former and present members of Congress are reportedly under investigation.

The investigation centers on the activities of a South Korean businessman, Tongsun Park, who reportedly carried out his operations under the direction of President Park Chung-hee. The South Korean government has denied any connection, past or present, with Tongsun Park.

The State Department has said it is cooperating fully with the Justice Department investigation. A State Department spokesman says U.S. officials have made it clear to the Korean government that allegations of illegal action such as this case involves must be fully investigated "regardless of who might be involved."

South Korea is dependent on Washington's support in much the same way that Israel is. But some officials believe that South Korea's situation is more perilous.

For one thing, South Korea lacks the widespread public support that Israel has in the United States. Furthermore, while Israel's neighbors have shown a willingness to negotiate a settlement recently, South Korea's lone neighbor, North Korea, has not.

Youngsters win honors at fair

DALLAS — Young people from the Midland area won a number of honors at the Junior Livestock Show at the State Fair of Texas.

A Limousin heifer owned by Susan Holcomb of the Martin County 4-H Club was reserve champion in its class in the junior beef heifer competition. The heifer is named Yackley Fantastic 4466 and it was calved May 19, 1975.

V Bar Miss LI T603, owned by Kendall Newman of the Martin County 4-H Club was reserve champion Hereford heifer. The heifer was calved Jan. 21, 1976.

Kathy Knox of the County 4-H Club placed second in the junior beef heifer showmanship contest for all breeds.

Among Angus heifers calved between March 5, 1975, and April 10, 1975, an entry by Tim Tate of the Grady Future Farmers of America placed eighth. The heifer is named Knudsen Elba.

In class four Limousin heifer Susan Holcomb's entry placed first. Third place in class five Limousin heifer competition went to Sharalyn Holcomb of the Martin County 4-H Club for her entry, Yackley Miss Carn 191G.

In Hereford competition, Kendall Newman placed second among entries in the under-10-month-old calf class with his entry V Bar Miss LI T603. Fourth place went to Kathy Knox with her entry TY Miss Tiberius 624.

Karen Perry of the Ector County 4-H Club placed fifth in the winter heifer calf Hereford competition.

Among senior Hereford heifer calves, Lady Onward, owned by Leland Kay of the Grady Future Farmers of America, placed sixth and TK Bell BICH 582, owned by Mike Holcomb of the Klondike Future Farmers of America placed tenth.

Kathy Knox placed sixth in spring Hereford yearling heifer competition with her entry 07 Lady Tiberius 58. In the same group, Mike Ralston of the Midland Future Farmers of America placed eighth with his entry L1 Lady Onward W570 and Leslie Mauldin of the Midland Future Farmers of America placed ninth with his entry L1 Lady W551.

Kathy Knox placed third in junior Hereford yearling heifer competition with her entry Ty Miss Axtell 59. Winning fourth place in that contest was Sheila Martin of the Martin County 4-H Club with her entry BR LI Domwette 4075.

Chamber backs air bond issue

By DEBBIE PIERCE

The proposed Dec. 14 bond issue on improvements at Midland Regional Air Terminal received the official endorsement Wednesday by directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

The board followed the recommendation of the chamber's aviation committee in endorsing the bond issue.

Chamber directors also agreed to urge the city council to give serious consideration to the proposed upper level parking contained in the airport bond issue. The group agreed the additional space would be needed in future years.

Rocky Ford, chamber president, announced a citizens group has been formed and will start work after the general election to educate the public on the airport and downtown park bond proposals, both of which are expected to come before voters Dec. 14. The city council will hold a special session Nov. 18 to call a bond election for those two proposals.

Directors also heard a report from chamber public relations director Grant Billingsley. He said the chamber's retail committee, prompted by last year's survey of shopping habits and shoppers in Midland, will hold "Christmas Shop Midland" this year.

The event will begin the week after Thanksgiving and run through the city's annual Christmas parade Dec. 4, Billingsley said. The committee's target is to urge Midlanders to look here in the city before shopping elsewhere.

In other action, chamber directors:

- Heard a report that the annual chamber banquet will be held Jan. 18, with Alabama humorist Shearen Elebash as guest speaker;
- Heard that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will hold a prelegislative conference Dec. 2 and 3 in Fort Worth, and will hold its annual mid-year meeting today and Friday in Brownwood;
- Noted that the Board for Lease of University Lands will hold its next public auction sale of oil and gas leases in Midland April 7, 1977, at the Midland Hilton;
- Learned that, due to congressional inaction, a bill to allow private industry to get into the uranium enrichment business failed, and efforts by the Garret Corp. to secure a uranium plant in Midland or some other Texas city will need to wait until next year;
- Heard that the chamber executive committee is seeking input from the board on another Objectives for Midland study;
- Learned that the chamber executive committee had voted to support El Paso's efforts to get the site for a solar research unit;
- Noted that directors may submit nominations for 1977 directors in the chamber to W. J. "Bill" Mewhorter;
- Learned that the Texas Aeronautics Commission hearing examiner had given favorable recommendation to the TAC board on an application by Southwest Airlines to serve Midland-Odessa and four other Texas cities;
- Were urged by the chamber president to contact their representatives for aid in efforts to obtain more air service by major carriers here; and,
- Noted that the chamber had asked for $60,000 from the city budget for economic and tourist development purposes.

SLIPPING LOW IN THE SEAT, Susan Rogers, 21, of Canfield, Ohio, escaped serious injury driving in Youngstown when a truck passenger side window. The pole only grazed Rogers. She did complain of a headache afterward, though.

Vindicated Gurney bitter after verdict

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Former Sen. Edward J. Gurney, his name cleared after a long legal battle, blames his ordeal on "vindictive people from the government."

"They destroyed a United States senator, blackened my name, besmirched my character and ruined me economically," Gurney said Wednesday after a jury found him innocent of perjury.

Gurney, 62, was accused of lying to a 1974 Jacksonville grand jury about a major political fund-raising operation. He had been acquitted of five bribery, conspiracy and perjury charges at a trial in Tampa last year, but the government ordered him retried on one perjury charge on which the jury reached no verdict.

"We've beaten these mean, vicious and vindictive people from the government," said the former Republican senator, who retired because of the scandal.

The grand jury had charged that Gurney

"deliberately and willfully lied" when he said he didn't know that his onetime fund raiser, Larry Williams of Watergate hearings in 1973.

Asked whether he thought this had anything to do with the government's prosecution, Gurney said, "I can only conjecture about Watergate...I expect it probably did. But I don't know."

Justice Department lawyer Edward Barnes, the ninth federal prosecutor assigned to the case over three years, had no comment.

Gurney, a World War II hero who served three terms as a congressman before his 1968 election to the Senate, gained national prominence as the tough-questioning

Peso devaluation upsetting

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Anger and confusion greeted today a second sharp devaluation of the Mexican peso, ordered by President Luis Echeverria's outgoing administration in apparent close consultation with the International Monetary Fund.

Mexicans — from bankers to housewives — expressed deep concern the move will further upset their daily economies, already shaken by a 58 per cent devaluation that Echeverria had ordered last month to cure some of Mexico's mounting financial ills.

After 22 years of being pegged at 12.50 pesos to the U.S. dollar, Echeverria ordered the Mexican currency "floated" Aug. 31 and allowed to seek its own rate on international money markets.

As a result, the peso's value plunged down to 19.90 to $1.00, with only slight fluctuation, after the government stopped selling dollars from its reserves to support it.

But two weeks later, the Echeverria government re-pegged it at that rate in relation to the U.S. dollar, bowing to widespread protests from labor and business leaders that Mexicans were unaccustomed and unsettled by the uncertainty that a "floating" rate was generating.

Subsequently, the government imposed price controls and allowed prices of essential goods and services to go up between 15 and 25 per cent, and in effect ordered a 23 per cent increase in salaries nationwide to take some of the sting out of the devaluation. Taxes were also raised to sop up some of the inflation that it had generated.

However, in a sharp turnaround Tuesday night, the government ordered the peso "refloated" in what it said was an effort to stem a massive flight of capital money out of Mexico.

Echeverria ends his constitutional six-year term in office Dec. 1, and many Mexicans fearing the complicated move was heralding another devaluation have in recent weeks been converting their surplus pesos into dollars and other "safe" currencies.

Sources at the Banco de Mexico said the subsequent run on the peso was quickly eating away at that Federal Reserve institution's capital which he refused to disclose. People were buying foreign currencies mainly dollars — quietly but like mad.

"It was purely a question of confidence in the peso and psychological attitudes," said one source connected with the reserve bank.

Tuesday night, the bank announced it would not sell any more dollars to support the peso's current rate of 19.90, causing another sharp drop in its value the following day — plus another rush.

Private bankers said that following that announcement, they were swamped Wednesday by people wanting to buy dollars.

More minority students in colleges, universities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Minority enrollment in the nation's colleges and universities rose 11.7 per cent between 1972 and 1974, with major strides in private colleges and universities, the U.S. Office for Civil Rights announced today.

The government survey showed that white enrollment in public institutions actually decreased during the two years, from 3,986,450 to 3,964,292. White enrollment in private schools rose modestly from 1,405,862 to 1,448,368.

Minority students represented 11.9 per cent of the total higher education enrollment in 1974.

During the two-year period, black enrollments in private schools increased by 27.9 per cent, Spanish-surnamed by 105.4 per cent, Asian-Americans by 33.7 per cent and American Indians by 6.4 per cent, the agency said.

Total minority enrollment in 1974 was 587,835 in public institutions and 227,301 in private institutions.

Across the board, American Indian enrollments were up 2.3 per cent from 33,919 to 34,692; blacks up 19.2 per cent from 489,496 to 539,500; Asian Americans up 8.7 per cent from 67,662 to 73,527; and Spanish-surnamed up 20.8 per cent from 138,631 to 167,417.

The one exception to the trend was in graduate schools, where enrollments of American Indians and Asian Americans declined overall.

Loving food disastrous 'Come as you are' breakfast held

By JOHN BLINN
Los Angeles Times

BEVERLY HILLS — "I love to eat — and that's disastrous!" Actor Richard Crenna was digging happily into cold salmon at the posh Saloon, a favorite watering place of the stars. It was hard to see what was disastrous, since Crenna's predilection for gourmet fare has left him neither unhappy nor misshapen.

The affable Crenna is a true Renaissance man. He's well versed in the culinary arts (he's even written a cookbook, inspired by an imported Chinese barbecue oven); he's an artist, director, producer and horticulturist; he's also an enthusiastic husband and father and an incurable do-it-himselfer.

"There's absolutely nothing I don't like to eat. That's funny because I was a very finicky kid. If I didn't so much as like the color of the food, I wouldn't touch it. It wasn't until I was 30 years old that I began to discover all the wonderful things I'd been missing."

Richard, now starring in All's Fair on CBS-TV, grew up during the Depression in downtown Los Angeles, where his parents owned and managed a series of small residential hotels and where his back yard was a hotel lobby.

"I probably had the only Italian mother in history who couldn't even boil water. We ate all our meals out. Even Christmas dinner was in a hotel dining room, full of maids, porters and bellhops! That's probably why I enjoy family meals so much today. One of the things my wife, Penny, has always insisted on is making dinner a pleasant experience. We never discuss anything heavy at mealtime, and the kids are never criticized or asked about their homework at that hour. It's always fun and something we all look forward to. The Crennas have three children: Seana, 24; Richard, 17; and Maria, 11.

"Mealtime was always the time when the family members got together in Penny's house," Richard said.

"She's the youngest of nine children and the family is very close." Penny grew up in Dayton, Ohio, and came to Hollywood to work as a secretary. The couple met at Malibu Beach through a mutual friend and went together four years before they wed. "I was sick one day and Penny brought me over some chicken soup. Since I was in a feverish state, I went ahead and proposed," he said.

"I used to do some of the cooking chores, but I've finally turned them all over to Penny. I don't even make the barbecue sauce anymore, because she's such a terrific cook. She's taken Chinese cooking courses from Marcella Lau and turns out Cantonese, Hunanese and Szechuan dishes; lately she and some friends have been taking special classes from Grayce Flanagan."

Penny and her friends, Mrs. Norman Jewison, Mrs. Mike Connors and Mrs. Ross Martin, are currently practicing new versions of easy, make-ahead dinners for family or relaxed party-giving. Entertaining chez Crenna is always informal. "It's a big night for us when we invite eight people!" said Penny.

Penny gave me several recipes she likes to prepare for her family or guests. "I enjoy the classes with Grayce Flanagan. We all learn how to fix something new and then we get to eat what she's prepared for lunch. It's a lot more fun than going to a fancy restaurant!"

Recipes from Penny Crenna follow, the first originated by her cooking teacher, with embellishments by Penny.

CHICKEN FLORENTINE
Serves 6

4 bunches fresh spinach or 5 10 oz. boxes frozen chopped spinach
2 whole, boneless chicken breasts, weighing about 2 lbs.
about 1/4 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. white pepper
1 tsp. powdered chicken stock

1 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
Wash, pick over spinach carefully. Wilt spinach in large kettle by heating (without adding water) over low heat. Cool, squeeze liquid from spinach; chop coarsely with knife blade of food processor or sharp knife. Or cook frozen spinach according to directions. Cool, squeeze dry. Arrange spinach evenly in bottom of buttered au gratin or shallow baking dish. Sprinkle spinach with few drops of lemon juice. Wash, pat-dry mushrooms in 2 tbsps. butter over low heat until limp. Set aside. Separate chicken breasts; slice each single piece horizontally twice; you will now have eight pieces. Melt remaining butter over low heat; remove from heat. Dip chicken pieces in melted butter, then in flour to coat. Arrange chicken on top of spinach in a single cooked mushroom; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour chicken stock and then whipping cream evenly over all. Sprinkle evenly with layer. Top with the sliced

Late thought better than none at all

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

My readers are famous for their quick thinking, but it isn't always necessary to be brilliant, like a flash of lightning. Even belated thought is better than no thought at all.

West stolidly played low on this trick. Declarer next led dummy's king of clubs, and West discarded a spade. South cashed his three spades, and West discarded a low heart on the third spade. It was West's last chance to shine.

With eight tricks in, South led a diamond and shut his eyes, opening them to see that West had won with the king of diamonds.

"Very unlucky," West remarked, as he led hearts to give South his ninth trick.

West could have played the king of diamonds when South first led the suit. West could have discarded the king of diamonds on dummy's king of clubs or on the third spade. How unlucky for West that he didn't get a fourth chance!

If West gets rid of the king of diamonds he cannot be stuck in the lead. East will win a diamond trick, and then a heart return through South will defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION
With both sides vulnerable, the player at your right deals and bids one diamond. You hold: S863 HAQ8764 DK6 C53. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid one heart. This is a borderline bid because your suit is so weak. If your long suit were clubs instead of hearts you would pass, for you could not afford to bid at the level of two.

DEAR ABBY

Preachers could lose their licenses

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would please stop sending people to doctors just because they aren't sex maniacs. My husband, at 58, mind you, started listening to all those sex-crazy men at work and decided that something must be wrong with him because he lost interest in sex. Then he went to the doctor who told him that some sex expert named Kinsey took a vote and found out that most men NEVER wear out.

Well, anyhow, this doctor told my husband if he wanted to get his manhood back, he should imagine that he was in bed with a beautiful young woman he had seen in the movies or on TV! How do you like the nerve of that doctor giving my husband permission to think all those filthy, adulterous thoughts while he was in bed with me!

I'm a God-fearing, church-going woman, Abby, and I think that doctor should lose his license for handing out immoral advice. Your opinion.

please.—DISGUSTED IN ATLANTA

DEAR DISGUSTED: Although fantasies are a part of every normal person's life, there is a Biblical injunction against "thinking adulterous thoughts." If such advice were given by a preacher, he might lose his license to preach, but doctors aren't preachers.

DEAR ABBY: A handsome little fellow in our neighborhood has been pretending that he is a dog ever since he was a toddler, and now he is nearly kindergarten age.

He doesn't just "pretend" he's a dog, he actually ACTS like one. He makes barking and whining sounds just like his dog. I think he would eat and sleep with his dog if he were allowed to.

It is not the normal way of a boy for his dog, Abby. I asked him why he likes to pretend he's a dog, and he said, "Because it's more fun to be a dog!" He cannot talk plainly but he seems intelligent otherwise.

Shouldn't his mother be told that her child may need special guidance or treatment? Sometimes parents are so close to a situation they can't see it. How can I tell her? We are just nodding neighbors.—CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's awkward to go from a nodding acquaintance with your neighbor to a heart-to-heart discussion about her child's development. If you're truly concerned, initiate a closer friendship with her. (P.S. When the child goes to kindergarten, his teacher will surely recognize the problem, if there is one.)

DEAR ABBY: Seems like many of your female readers are fascinated with silicone. What are they trying to prove?

I live in a city that thinks it needs to be bigger. They put up large, cheap buildings that make the city look bigger. But it's still the same old city—only its troubles are magnified. In other words, bigger isn't necessarily better. A gentle, modest curve beneath a sweater remains alluring, and realness in personality and everything else is more appealing than affectations.—ADMIRING OBSERVER

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

History of flag is given Wednesday Club

The regular meeting of the Woman's Wednesday Club was held in the parlor of the Midland Woman's Club.

Mrs. Alan Leeper presented a program on the history of the flag. She gave a review of all the flags of the United States, from the first Hostesses to the social hour were Mrs. William John Cabot when he landed in Nova Scotia in 1497, to the Stars and Stripes, the Betsy Ross F. Shaw, was a guest of the club.

Bride-elect honored

Linda Hagler, bride-elect of Terry Smith, was honored with a bridal display shower in the home of Mrs. Ed Poulter, 3323 Fannin St.

Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. Dan Cipriani, Mrs. John Ellis, Mrs. Eldon Herndon, Mrs. Jack King, Mrs. O. L. McKinney, Mrs. Neal McDonald, Mrs. Jack Moss, Mrs. Bryan Pollard, Mrs. Bill Prude, Mrs. Latham Ryan, Mrs. L. R. Woodard, Mrs. Sam Volpe and Mrs. Wanda Knight.

The serving table featured blue flowers, candles and crystal appointments.

Miss Hagler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Hagler of Midland, and Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Smith of Abilene, will be married Dec. 4 in the Golf Course Road Church of Christ.

Retired group meets

The American Association of Retired Persons, Midland chapter, met in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church for a business session, program and dinner.

Alta Williams emceed the program given by Glenda Pruitt and Dr. Douglas Brown, who sang a medley of old-time popular songs, including Western and Spanish. They were accompanied at the piano by Carol Hall.

It was announced a bus service is available for those needing rides to various parts of Midland. Additional information can be obtained by dialing 682-7577 between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The chapter's Thanksgiving dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 15. Visitors are welcome.

Recognized as a new member was Mrs. Obera Deysey. Guests attending were Hall, Pruitt and Dr. Brown.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RICHTER

(FRI., Oct. 29)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Daytime is no time for you to get involved in any arguments or discussions with others. Nor is it time to make any important changes or to be in a rebellious state of mind. However, aspects change radically tonight and you find you can have a very good time at recreations and get the good will of a bigwig.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Steer clear of an unpredictable friend in the morning. But in the evening all will work out better socially.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't jeopardize your present security in any way or you regret it later. A credit affair can be worrisome early, but by afternoon you handle it efficiently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't put so much emphasis on responsibilities you may have at this time. Later you handle them confidently and get good results. Close ties can be annoying, but take it in stride.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't put so much emphasis on responsibilities you may have at this time. Later you handle them confidently and get good results. Close ties can be annoying, but take it in stride.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) A partner can be very trying but remain calm and this person will soon be back to par. Don't be forceful with one who is being very unreasonable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) You are bored with your work, so do only what is necessary and take time for recreation. Show cordiality toward co-workers, although you are not in a good mood.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Do important tasks during early morning hours. Plan for recreation later in the day. Don't lose your temper with one of whom you are fond.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Do not annoy one at home or there can be trouble best avoided. Plan now to make conditions better quietly in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Exercise care and avoid possible accidents; then you can visit friends and relatives in the afternoon safely. Associates could prove to be somewhat annoying during the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Relieve financial pressure and gain goodwill of others today. Try not to be critical of others so much. Show more respect for bigwigs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to understand the views of others instead of being so demanding and you get along better. Put your affairs in order and then make the evening a delightful one socially.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't try to get out of any promises you have made or you could get into serious trouble. Keep your temper under control, also.

Schools set annual Halloween carnivals

Parent-teacher association units of Midland schools have scheduled annual Halloween carnivals Friday and Saturday.

Trinity School's carnival will be held from 6-8:30 p.m. Friday.

The event will be highlighted by the Faculty's Folly, a spook house, games and prizes. Dinner also will be served.

A pumpkin judging contest will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at Bonham School, prior to the carnival slated for 6-9 p.m. Saturday.

At the Saturday carnival, hot dogs and Frito pie will be served in the cafeteria beginning at 5:30 p.m. A costume judging contest will be held at 8:30. Many booths also will be open, including a cake walk, jewelry engraving, helium balloons, a spook house, buried treasure and post office.

Rusk School has scheduled its carnival for Saturday. Frito pie, chili, hot dogs and chili dogs will be served in the school's cafeteria from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Booths will open at 6 p.m. and continue operating until 8:30. A costume judging contest is planned for 5 p.m. Prizes will be awarded.

Lamar School will conduct its carnival from 6-9 p.m. Friday at the school.

Smoking divorces

A government survey says more than half of all divorced and separated Americans are smokers, compared to only about a third of those who are married and living with their spouses.

AT WIT'S END

Her plans for more romance go awry

By ERMA BOMBECK
Diary Of A Housewife Who Is Going To Put More Romance Into Her Marriage Beginning With Tonight's Dinner:

4:30 p.m. Fred deserves more than he gets. Works like a dog in that Xerox jungle. Up at dawn, the long ride in and back . . . and what for? Just to make things easier for us. Tonight's going to be different. I'll even cook with unsaturated fat so he'll live longer.

4:45 p.m. Won't he be surprised. I've got all his favorites. Lasagna, red wine and chilled forks and plates to go with the salad. Never knew a man could be so paranoid about serving salad on a plate that comes steaming out of the dishwasher. So I'll indulge him.

5:00 p.m. Let's see, have I forgotten anything? Salt and pepper on the table glasses that match and I gave the fork that fits the overbite to one of the kids.

5:30 p.m. Poor Fred. Cooped up all day with that dingy secretary who still wears her typing pin with the 30 on it. There's something wrong with a secretary when I call my husband and she asks me to spell my last name. No wonder he has to work so hard. He's doing the work of two.

5:45 p.m. He's late. Oh well, probably couldn't be helped. My goodness, a wife should be happy her husband works a little overtime. Shows he's ambitious and takes his work seriously. Lucky I understand these things. I'll turn the oven down to 275.

6:00 p.m. You know the trouble with Fred. He's incompetent. Always has been. Some men just cannot estimate how much time a job will take. They're not realistic about themselves. I'm certainly not being unreasonable. It seems to me if everyone else can bust out of there at closing time, so could Fred . . . if he wanted to.

6:15 p.m. Close that oven door! What do you mean, 'What is it?' It's lasagna with hardening of the mozzarella . . . just the way your father likes it!

6:35 p.m. It's funny. I never wanted to get married. Anyone whose first words were "Room Service" should never have been forced into marriage in the first place.

7:00 p.m. He's doing this just to annoy me. When I called him at noon and told him it was going to be a special evening, right then and there he made up his mind to put me in my place. He hung up the phone and said, 'Hey, Ginger, slow it down. Old whatshername . . . is doing the Cosmopolitan number tonight.' I just bet they had a big laugh over that!

7:10 p.m. There's his car in the driveway now. Listen to that. He just slammed his door in slow motion. You can tell.

"Hi Honey."

Theatrical crowd convenes

ODESSA — Theater buffs, theater directors and theater educators from a five-state area will attend sessions of the Southwest Theatre Conference here this weekend.

Southwest Theatre Conference, affiliated with the American Theatre Association, draws its membership from community, college and university theaters in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas. The Odessa meeting is hosted by Permian Playhouse, Odessa's community theater, whose managing director, Enid Holm, is current SWTC president. Special guests at the conclave include Tom

Other participants in conference programs will include Drs. Paul

Reinhardt and Coleman Jennings from The University of Texas-Austin; Bob Telford of Tulsa, Lee Edwards of Baton Rouge, Dick Eschelmann and various other members of SWTC. The conference opened this morning in the Inn of the Golden West here, with the first general session to be held there this afternoon. Visitors will see a performance of PPH's "Paint Your Wagon" tonight. Friday's sessions will be climaxed with a performance of "Story Theatre" currently playing at Odessa's Globe Theatre. Saturday's events will include sessions in creative dramatics and directing, followed by the SWTC annual business meeting. A dinner that evening in the Inn of the Golden West ballroom will have Tom Jones as featured speaker. Jones, a graduate of UT-Austin and former resident of this region, now lives and works on the East Coast.

Following the dinner, conference guests will attend the premiere performance of "Castle Rising" at Permian Playhouse. The drama by Michael Jones of Albuquerque is the winner of SWTC's recent new-play project. It will have a series of public performances at the Playhouse next month.

The annual conference will conclude with a brunch and wrap-up session beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Trinity 'Faculty's Folly' returns for fourth season

Back for the fourth spectacular year is the "Faculty's Folly" at the Trinity School of Midland. The traditional Halloween entertainment for grown-ups while the kiddies are attending the Trinity School carnival, will take place Friday evening in the St. Francis Commons. Two performances are planned, preceded by dinner served at 6 and 7:30 p.m. Seating is limited and reservations for either show may be made by telephoning 697-3281. This year's opus, "A Man For All Reasons," will feature a cast made up of Trinity School faculty and staff members, headed by the Rev. P. D. Petersen, Trinity's new headmaster. The script is by faculty member Bill Coombes, with Bill Pomeroy as lyricist. Choreography is by Laura Williams, and Maneeta Heckathorne will provide piano accompaniment. The production is directed by Liz Pennabaker. The "Faculty's Folly" was planned and presented in 1973 as a one-time-only event. That first production, "Lawrence of Midlandia" was so well received that additional productions have been given each succeeding season in response to popular demand.

LUBBOCK — "Susan Slept Here," a comedy chronicling the hilarious complications of a quick marriage, is the current attraction at Lubbock's Hayloft Dinner Theater.

The comedy is having a series of preview performances night this week and will officially open Friday night at the theater, located just off the Brownfield Road in southwest Lubbock. The box office is open Tuesday through Saturday each week to accept table reservations for all performances through Nov. 27. The play, directed for the Hayloft by Conrad Guy Wolfe of Florida, centers around Joe, a 35-year-old playwright who marries a 17-year-old waif, Susan, who has no place to go on Christmas Eve except a detention home. The complications that ensue from this hasty arrangement provide the merriment in the show.

'Washington!' closes Saturday

"Washington!", Midland Community Theatre's Bicentennial production, will have final performances this weekend.

The concluding presentations are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Theatre Centre. Information on available seating for the pair of performances is obtainable from the box office, 682-2544.

"Washington!" is a new drama by American playwright Barrie Stavis, commissioned by MCT through a grant from The First National Bank of Midland. The production was designed and directed by Art Cole. Gloria Stephenson is stage manager.

Tech schedules stage thriller

LUBBOCK — "Gas Light," Patrick Hamilton's classic stage thriller, will open a limited run Friday night in the Texas Tech Lab Theater.

The cast includes a student from Midland, Kitty Moore, a sophomore theater arts major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Moore.

"Gas Light," directed by Texas Tech graduate student Jack Bilbo, is a tense and suspenseful drama about a man attempting to drive his wife mad.

Performances of the drama will be at 8:15 p.m. Friday through Nov. 3. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for area students, with TTU students admitted free upon presentation of ID cards.

Pentagon giving attention to Iranian air request

By GEORGE C. WILSON
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is giving top-level consideration to letting the Northrop Corp. use Iranian money to modify a U.S. Navy plane for the Shah's air force.

The unusual deal worked out between Northrop and the Shah received official standing — though not approval — in the Pentagon on Oct. 26 when it was reviewed by the Defense Systems Acquisition Review Council. Under the proposition, Iran would give Northrop $8 million to start developing a land-based version of the Northrop carrier-based F-18 fighter being built for the Navy.

The Navy at the review council session told Malcolm R. Currie, director of Defense research and engineering who chaired the meeting, how Navy and Iranian F-18 needs could both be met. Managing the Iranian program, however, would require a staff of 60 people, the Navy briefer said.

The Navy plans to buy 800 F-18s being built by the aerospace team of McDonnell-Douglas and Northrop at the McDonnell-Douglas plant in St. Louis. Iran plans to buy 250 land-based versions of the F-18 to be produced at Northrop's plant in Hawthorne, Calif., outside Los Angeles.

But Northrop executives are hopeful of selling hundreds more of the Iranian version, called F-18L, to other countries as well. Aerospace executives complained in interviews Tuesday that the Pentagon is helping Northrop's F-18 sales drive by giving official standing to the Iranian deal. They said DSARC meetings are supposed to be reviews of government weapons programs, not of a company's sales program.

Alan Woods, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, confirmed Tuesday night that a DSARC meeting had been held on the F-18L plan Oct. 19. He said the Pentagon review was important to make certain the two F-18 programs "do not interrupt or interfere with one another."

Another reason for checking the Iranian deal, Woods said, is that it will be subject to Pentagon review as a foreign military sale if consummated.

It will cost about $250 million to tailor the Navy's F-18 to the Shah's needs, according to Pentagon sources.

The F-18 is being built for the Navy for about $6 million a copy. Its jobs will be to knock down enemy airplanes and bomb shore targets.

The F-18L for the Shah would be lighter than the Navy's version since it would not have to be built to withstand the impact of landing on aircraft carriers.

THE HOSPITAL INDEMNITY PLAN

Between 1950 and 1974 hospital care expenditures per capita have increased 790%. In 1975, an average hospital stay was $1,017.00 and costs will rise much more this year.

If you have any doubt about your present protection, now is the time to do something about it. Don't wait until it's too late.

We have recently compiled information to help you determine the actual value of your present policy in light of today's soaring medical costs. And we have designed a special supplemental plan that will help give you the security you need when you need it — up to $50.00 additional per day at the rate of $350.00 additional per week for as long as you are in the hospital.

Hamming it up during a rehearsal of the annual "Faculty's Folly" at the Trinity School of Midland are, from left, Doris Watson, Peter Clark, Butch Traeder and Betty Daley. This year's folly will have dinner presentations at 6 and 7:30 p.m. Friday at the school, 3500 W. Wadley Ave.

Trinity 'Faculty's Folly' returns for fourth season

Back for the fourth spectacular year is the "Faculty's Folly" at the Trinity School of Midland. The traditional Halloween entertainment for grown-ups while the kiddies are attending the Trinity School carnival, will take place Friday evening in the St. Francis Commons. Two performances are planned, preceded by dinner served at 6 and 7:30 p.m. Seating is limited and reservations for either show may be made by telephoning 697-3281. This year's opus, "A Man For All Reasons," will feature a cast made up of Trinity School faculty and staff members, headed by the Rev. P. D. Petersen, Trinity's new headmaster. The script is by faculty member Bill Coombes, with Bill Pomeroy as lyricist. Choreography is by Laura Williams, and Maneeta Heckathorne will provide piano accompaniment. The production is directed by Liz Fennebaker. The "Faculty's Folly" was planned and presented in 1973 as a one-time-only event. That first production, "Lawrence of Midlandia" was so well received that additional productions have been given each succeeding season in response to popular demand.

Theatrical crowd convenes

ODESSA — Theater buffs, theater directors and theater educators from a five-state area will attend sessions of the Southwest Theatre Conference here this weekend. Southwest Theatre Conference, affiliated with the American Theatre Association, draws its membership from community, college and university theaters in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas. The Odessa meeting is hosted by Permian Playhouse, Odessa's community theater, whose managing director, Enid Holm, is current SWTC president. Special guests at the conclave include Tom

Jones, co-creator of the hit musical "The Fantasticks" and other stage successes; Morgan Woodward, film and TV actor; Alvey Moore, TV actor-producer, and Strother Martin, TV character actor. Other participants in conference programs will include Drs. Paul

Reinhardt and Coleman Jennings from The University of Texas-Austin; Bob Telford of Tulsa, Lee Edwards of Baton Rouge, Dick Eschelmann and various other members of SWTC. The conference opened this morning in the Inn of the Golden West here, with the first general session to be held there this afternoon. Visitors will see a performance of PPH's "Paint Your Wagon" tonight. Friday's sessions will be climaxed with a performance of "Story Theatre" currently playing at Odessa's Globe Theatre. Saturday's events will include sessions in creative dramatics and directing, followed by the SWTC annual business meeting. A dinner that evening in the Inn of the Golden West ballroom will have Tom Jones as featured speaker. Jones, a graduate of UT-Austin and former resident of this region, now lives and works on the East Coast. Following the dinner, conference guests will attend the premiere performance of "Castle Rising" at Permian Playhouse. The drama by Michael Jones of Albuquerque is the winner of SWTC's recent new-play project. It will have a series of public performances at the Playhouse next month. The annual conference will conclude with a brunch and wrap-up session beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Lubbock's Hayloft Theater presents 'Susan Slept Here'

LUBBOCK — "Susan Slept Here," a comedy chronicling the hilarious complications of a quick marriage, is the current attraction at Lubbock's Hayloft Dinner Theater.

The comedy is having a series of preview performances night this week and will officially open Friday night at the theater, located just off the Brownfield Road in southwest Lubbock. The box office is open Tuesday through Saturday each week to accept table reservations for all performances through Nov. 27. The play, directed for the Hayloft by Cot Wolfe of Florida, centers around Joe, a 35 playwright who marries a 17-year-old wai who has no place to go on Christmas Eve detention home. The complications that en this hasty arrangement provide the merrim show.

'Washington!' closes Saturday

"Washington!", Midland Community Theatre's Bicentennial production, will have final performances this weekend.

The concluding presentations are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Theatre Centre. Information on available seating for the pair of performances is obtainable from the box office, 682-2544.

"Washington!" is a new drama by American playwright Barrie Stavis, commissioned by MCT through a grant from The First National Bank of Midland. The production was designed and directed by Art Cole. Gloria Stephenson is stage manager.

Tech schedules stage thriller

LUBBOCK — "Gas Light," Patrick Hamilton's classic stage thriller, will open a limited run Friday night in the Texas Tech Lab Theater.

The cast includes a student from Midland, Kitty Moore, a sophomore theater arts major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Moore.

"Gas Light," directed by Texas Tech graduate student Jack Bilbo, is a tense and suspenseful drama about a man attempting to drive his wife mad.

Performances of the drama will be at 8:15 p.m. Friday through Nov. 3. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for area students, with TTU students admitted free upon presentation of ID cards.

Pentagon giving attention to Iranian air request

By GEORGE C. WILSON
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is giving top-level consideration to letting the Northrop Corp. use Iranian money to modify a U.S. Navy plane for the Shah's air force.

The unusual deal worked out between Northrop and the Shah received official standing — though not approval — in the Pentagon on Oct. 26 when it was reviewed by the Defense Systems Acquisition Review Council.

Under the proposition, Iran would give Northrop $8 million to start developing a land-based version of the Northrop carrier-based F-18 fighter being built for the Navy.

The Navy at the review council session told Malcolm R. Currie, director of Defense research and engineering who chaired the meeting, how Navy and Iranian F-18 needs could both be met. Managing the Iranian program, however, would require a staff of 60 people, the Navy briefer said.

The Navy plans to buy 800 F-18s being built by the aerospace team of McDonnell-Douglas and Northrop at the McDonnell-Douglas plant in St. Louis. Iran plans to buy 250 land-based versions of the F-18 to be produced at Northrop's plant in Hawthorne, Calif., outside Los Angeles.

But Northrop executives are hopeful of selling hundreds more of the Iranian version, called F-18L, to other countries as well. Aerospace executives complained in interviews Tuesday that the Pentagon is helping Northrop's F-18 sales drive by giving official standing to the Iranian deal. They said DSARC meetings are supposed to be reviews of government weapons programs, not of a company's sales program.

Alan Woods, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, confirmed Tuesday night that a DSARC meeting had been held on the F-18L plan Oct. 19. He said the Pentagon review was important to make certain the two F-18 programs "do not interrupt or interfere with one another."

Another reason for checking the Iranian deal, Woods said, is that it will be subject to Pentagon review as a foreign military sale if consummated.

It will cost about $250 million to tailor the Navy's F-18 to the Shah's needs, according to Pentagon sources.

The F-18 is being built for the Navy for about $6 million a copy. Its jobs will be to knock down enemy airplanes and bomb shore targets.

The F-18L for the Shah would be lighter than the Navy's version since it would not have to be built to withstand the impact of landing on aircraft carriers.

Among top winners in Midland Arts Association's current Fall Regional exhibition are, from left, Byron Rogers of San Angelo, third place in photography;

Sara Gilstrap of Midland, first in crafts, and Jane Lunson of Fort Stockton, first in painting. The MAA show closes Saturday.

MAA exhibit ends Saturday

Midland Arts Association's 12th annual Fall Regional Art and Crafts Exhibition continues through Saturday in the County Exhibit Building.

ART NEWS IN BRIEF

Fauvism show closing soon

FORT WORTH — "The 'Wild Beasts': Fauvism and Its Affinities," a comprehensive exhibition of one of the most important and influential art movements of the 20th Century, will close this weekend at the Kimbell Art Museum here.

The show presents outstanding works by some of the most important names of 20th Century art, including Matisse, Derain, Dufy, Braque, Mondrian, Roualt, Marquet, Kandinsky and Von Dongen. Organized and circulated by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, it is the first major retrospective show of fauvist art in 25 years and the first in-depth exhibition of the fauve movement in the Southwestern U.S.

New display at UT

AUSTIN — Selected works by William deKooning, one of the acknowledged masters of 20th Century art, make up a new exhibition in the Michener Gallery of The University of Texas.

The display includes more than two dozen lithographs done during the years 1970-72, six large paintings completed within the last two years, and a group of bronze sculptures.

The deKooning works will remain on view through late November in the Michener Gallery, located in UT's Harry Bansom Center at 21st and Guadalupe streets. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and 1 to 5 p.m. each Sunday.

Cisneros to exhibit

SAN ANTONIO — Jose Cisneros, an artist whose life is a fusion of two cultural heritages, is represented with a new exhibition of pen and ink drawings at the Witte Memorial Museum of San Antonio, 3801 Broadway.

Cisneros, born in Durago, Mexico and reared in the state of Chihuahua, has resided in El Paso for the last 40 years. His drawings, sensitive to life in northern Mexico and the American Southwest (predominately of ranch life in these areas) show incredible detail as to clothing, saddles, weapons and other trappings of soldiers and missionaries, itinerant public officials, prospectors and cowboys, from the days of the Conquest until recent times.

The exhibition will remain at the Witte until Nov. 8. Cisneros has had numerous such one-man shows at museums and galleries in recent years, including one at Midland's Museum of the Southwest.

Hours are noon to 7 p.m. daily. Admission is free.

Graphics: Awards of merit to James Broderick of Lubbock, W. B. Weiborn of Abilene, and Marian Ford and Pat Metts, both of Midland; honorable mentions to Maudie L. Salmon of Fort Stockton and Pat Metts and Marilyn Todd, both of Midland.

In addition to first, second and third place winners, awards of merit and honorable mentions also were given in the various exhibition categories of the show, as follows:

Painting: Awards of merit to Alice Lasater of Pecos and Marilyn Todd of Midland; honorable mentions to Lonnie Kelly of Pecos and Joan Mills and Gregory Price, both of Midland.

ENTERTAINMENT

Sculpture: Awards of merit to Ted Rose of Abilene and John Vinklarek of Midland; honorable mentions to Jimmy W. Ford of Odessa, Orvall Smith of Lubbock and Denny Pickett of Midland.

Crafts: Award of merit to Don Brimberry of Abilene; honorable mentions to Bill B. Bagley of Lubbock and Stan Jacobs, both of Midland.

Photography: Award of merit to Byron Rogers of San Angelo, honorable mention to Jim Fierro of Big Spring.

Judge for this year's show was Tom Manhart, professor of art at the University of Tulsa, Midland Arts Association member Joan Mills is general chairman of the show, with Julia Chandler as co-chairman.

Dallas art museum surveys creativity

DALLAS — One of the state's oldest and most important surveys of the creativity of Texas painters and sculptors has opened at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

The triennial Texas Painting and Sculpture Exhibition, dating back to 1938, has through the years become an important showcase for state talent. This year's show, which will continue at the DMFA through Dec. 26, presents the work of almost two dozen state artists represented with 26 paintings and sculptures. The works were selected for inclusion by Christopher Wilmarth, a New York sculptor.

Charles T. Field of San Antonio has been named top winner in the show for his painting, "Reclining Figures No. 2" an oil on canvas. He received the DMFA's $1,000 cash award for the work.

Other money winners in the exhibition include Felicitas Wetter for a steel sculpture, "Phoenix," which garnered the John D. Murchison Award, and Dan Rizzie's "Untitled: 4 Boxes," which received the Pauline Gill Clements cash award. The Dallas Art Museum League award has gone to Andy Feehan for a work titled "Rosa's." A watercolor by Corpus Christi artist

Randolph Flowers, titled "A Path to Mountainless Country," received the Clark Foundation award and H. J. Bott of Galveston is recipient of an award from Mrs. Henry C. Beck Jr., for his sculpture, "Flasher III."

A plan of action is needed to fight the alarming 111% increase in felony crime in rural Midland County.

Theft and vandalism place an unnecessary burden on the oil men, farmers, ranchers and other property owners in rural Midland County.

This burden can be lessened with organized patrol procedures and a program of cooperation with the citizens to determine the potential trouble spots to stop crime before it's committed. This can be done more effectively with uniformed deputies and marked patrol cars.

DALLAS SMITH will bring proper recruitment, proper training and improved internal organization to the Midland County Sheriff's Department.

The citizens of Midland County deserve a modern and efficient law enforcement agency capable of dealing with today's criminal.

What will the schools think of next?

By JUDITH MARTIN
The Washington Post

Several Ohio elementary schools have instituted courses in toothbrushing, and the experiment has proved such an educational breakthrough that the Ohio Health Department plans to double the program next year.

"At first we thought it would be hard to get four schools for the school toothbrushing program," said a consultant, "but once the word got around, more schools wanted it. It's almost like the demand is greater than the supply."

When he explained that one of the beneficial results was that "children even reminded the teachers it was time to brush their teeth," it is easy to see the appeal for pupils. In less enlightened times, a kid could be kept after school for the rest of his life for a remark like that.

However, it may yet prove difficult to cut through the plaque with which society has surrounded the question of toothbrushing. There are parents who feel that this is a personal thing, that it is part of their duty to teach their children themselves. Suppose your child is taught something contrary to the traditions and beliefs of your family? Tooth-powder people will resent having their children lured away to practice heretical brushing with paste. Three-times-a-day-people will not want their children attending schools where twice-a-day is tolerated as a doctrine. What about the different factions of electric brushes, cordless and manual? Do you want the school system messing in emotional questions like that?

Nevertheless, the basic idea is another step forward in the primary schools' development of an educational program in the art of basic living.

For some years now, for instance, eating has been taught in elementary schools. No class worth its salt omits some form of cooking as a teaching method, a great preparation for life, where all the great decisions are made over lunch.

Then there is interpersonal relations, which used to be known as "but he hit me first." And communication and self expression. Ideally, each child should be encouraged to spend classtime discussing his innermost feelings with his classmates, skills which he will find useful later if he hopes to be a successful adult who is able to tell strangers at parties all the details of his divorce.

Faster, bigger linemen take toll of passers

By The Associated Press
They fall each week like so many wooden Indians, one after another. And pretty soon, you begin to wonder whether the word is out around the National Football League to get the quarterbacks.

Half a dozen teams are operating with backup signal callers after their main men were kayoed. The injuries haven't been exactly trivial either.

Buffalo's Joe Ferguson is out for the year with four broken bones in his lower back. Steve Bartkowski of Atlanta is out for the year after knee surgery. Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw missed two games with spinal shock, after he was turned upside down and bounced on his head on a sack. Joe Namath of the New York Jets and Roger Staubach of Dallas are doubtful this week after suffering injuries last Sunday.

"OBVIOUSLY, THE defense is told to get the quarterback," said passer Mike Boryla of the Philadelphia Eagles, who suffered a concussion against St. Louis. "And when they get to him, they give him a good shot. That's their job."

Then Boryla paused. "What people don't realize," he added, "is that defensive ball players are bigger, stronger and much faster than they used to be."

Bob Avellini of the Chicago Bears agrees. "The big reason some guys are getting hurt is that the linemen are getting bigger and faster. And more and more, the quarterbacks can't outrun them anymore," he said.

"It's a race between a 270-pounder and a 200-pounder and something's got to give. Usually, it's the 200-pound body."

CURRENTLY, AVELLINI has a huge knob on his throwing elbow, a souvenir of last week's game against Dallas. He blames that one on the artificial surface at Texas Stadium.

"Have you ever been bounced off asphalt?" he asked. "I wouldn't have these elbows and shoulders if I weren't being bounced off asphalt."

George Allen, coach of the Washington Redskins, likes Avellini's turf theory. "I think the artificial turf doesn't help quarterbacks," he said.

Allen cited Bradshaw's injury as an example. "Bradshaw might have been injured on grass, but not that seriously," he said. "He would have bounced."

What Allen didn't know was that Bradshaw was injured on grass at Cleveland. He did not bounce.

Bradshaw was hurt when he was forced to scramble out of the protection of the pocket against the Browns and was caught by Cleveland's Joe Jones. He thinks the nature of 1970s football is as responsible as anything for the rash of injuries suffered by quarterbacks.

"I THINK the game is changing and the quarterbacks that come into the NFL are better athletes, more well-rounded athletes. They can run, throw on the run, throw left, throw right and have good speed. They are better coached than the guys were 10-12 years ago," he said.

"I don't think there are many cheap shots. It's just a rough game and it's gotten rougher. The defense realizes that their chances of victory are going to increase the more they get to him, the more they shake him up. He's gonna think about that rush coming and it destroys his train of thought." Sometimes, it can destroy other things, too. There was, for example, Bartkowski's knee.

The Atlanta quarterback blamed his injury on, of all things, the NFL regulation that requires chin straps to be fastened.

Bartkowski was hurt when he was sacked by New Orleans' Andy Dorris. In the middle of the tackle, Dorris grabbed Bartkowski's face mask and threw him down.

"WHEN A guy has you by the face mask like that, your body does what it wants to do," said Bartkowski. "He slung me down and either he or somebody else hit my knee and I felt something snap. If the chin strap hadn't held me, the helmet would have come off and I'd be okay."

Many running quarterbacks like Bradshaw and Staubach have perfected a method of reducing danger to themselves by sliding to the ground before a defender can put them there forcefully.

Martin beats out KC's Herzog for Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin, who restored pride in the New York Yankees' pinstripes and guided the team into the World Series in his first full season at the helm, today was named The Associated Press' American League Manager of the Year.

World Series," said Martin, whose club was swept in four straight games by Cincinnati. "But I still think we had a heckuva successful season."

"We won the pennant for the first time in 12 years and we brought back pride and tradition back to the Yankees. This year we got to the World Series; next year we'll win it."

Battling Billy is managing his fourth major league team after stormy stints with Minnesota, Detroit and Texas.

Billy Martin ...AL manager of year

Martin received 164 1/2 votes and edged Kansas City's Whitey Herzog by 9 1/2 votes in the nationwide balloting by sportswriters and broadcasters. Gene Mauch of Minnesota was third with 20 and Chuck Tanner of Oakland was fourth with 15 1/2.

BATTLE SCENE Dodgers return to Texas League

BY TED BATTLES

As the Texas League gets ready for its fall meeting this weekend, the air is polluted with rumors of possible franchise juggling that could give the Class AA baseball loop a face lifting by next season.

Some of the possibilities depend on what happens in other leagues, specifically at the AAA level, affecting the TL with secondary shock waves.

To get Reporter-Telegram circulation service in your city, call the number listed below:

Address	529-4416
Benedum Camp	682-5311
Big Lake	884-2857
Big Spring	263-7857
Crane	558-2530
Garden City	558-2530
Lamesa	872-3804
Midkiff	683-6868
Rankin	683-2238
Stanton	758-2340

However, one change seems fairly certain, although it has not been officially announced. The Texas Rangers are out at San Antonio and the Los Angeles Dodgers are in.

It's too bad the Rangers are gone, barring perhaps another unlikely vacancy elsewhere in the TL, but it's good to get the Dodgers back after a four-year absence.

LOCATED IN El Paso, the Dodgers withdrew from the TL after the 1972 season, opting for the AA Eastern League. It was a move the Dodgers soon regretted and the LA organization has been anxious to return to the TL for several seasons. So now it looks like they are back.

In 1972, the Dodgers had folks like Lee Lacy, Rick Rhoden, Geoff Zahn, Bernie Beckman, Henry Cruz, Terry McDermott and the club-house wrecking Eddie Solomon and they again should prove an exciting and colorful addition to the league.

It also makes the TL an all-National League farm circuit...the lone exception being the California Angels in El Paso. That could mean the end of the Designated Hitter in the league. In fact, last year, the All-National League East Division did not use it.

THE OTHER changes hinge on what happens in the Pacific Coast League and International League and maybe the American Association.

Tulsa's American Association franchise has been shifted to New Orleans for one season while the decaying Oiler ball park is renovated. Tulsa would like a one-shot season in the Texas League, a proposal President Carl Sawatski frowns upon.

Memphis joined the International League in 1973 and was forced to pay a $35,000 travel indemnity to each of the existing IL members each season. The former Texas League lodge brother has been losing money like water over Niagara Falls and reportedly wants out of the IL and in the TL.

HAWAII, IN desperate financial straits, is in the midst of a save-the-franchise campaign, but if it doesn't work, the PCL might tap El Paso as the eighth member.

Attendancewise, El Paso can make it, but General Manager Jim Paul, named the minor league executive of the year in 1975, prefers to remain AA, where the operating price is right.

If pressed, Paul would probably sell the franchise. Midland Cubs General Manager Bill Rigney, Jr., predicts that despite all the possibilities that exist, "The only change I see is a move from Lafayette," possibly to Baton Rouge, which last year operated in the Gulf Coast League.

SWC now known for long kickers

NEW YORK (AP) — At one time, the Southwest Conference was known as the league of great passers, boasting such quarterbacks as Sammy Baugh, Davey O'Brien, Don Meredith and Chuck Hixon.

Now it's the home of the long-distance kicker. Russell Erxleben of Texas leads the nation's major college kickers in punting, and his 49.6 yard average for 27 attempts puts him into position to break the all-time high of 49.3 held by Kirk Wilson of UCLA.

Tony Franklin, Texas A&M's barefooted, soccer-style kicker, is tied for second place nationally in field goals per game at 1.71 (12 in seven games) after booting five last Saturday. Franklin has had more long kicks than any kicker this year—including boots of 65 and 64 yards.

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the Major League Baseball Players Association has a solution to the cold weather problems of the World Series: start the Series earlier, then work back on the schedule.

"There is no magical formula," MLPBA executive director Marvin Miller said Wednesday. "The logical approach is to decide the best time for starting the World Series and then ask what is a reasonable schedule to fit into that format."

"If the owners remain adamant that they cannot reduce the present season schedule of 162 games, then you are just beating your gums. You might knock out eight games and still not solve all the problems."

Campbell has poor statistics

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It seems remarkable, but Texas fullback Earl Campbell has scored only one touchdown this season. The heart of Texas' Wishbone-T formation has been held down by swarming defenders and a leg injury. At the rate he is going, he could be beaten for all-Southwest Conference honors by sophomore George Woodard of Texas A&M. Coach Darrell Royal says the 232-pound Campbell—a rare big man with speed and agility—"is healed, but he hasn't had much place to run" with defenses keying on him. Royal adds, however, "He's not playing as well either." Campbell, a junior, gained a total of 2,046 yards as a freshman and sophomore, scoring 19 touchdowns and averaging 5.7 yards per carry each year.

Reds to shun Free Agent draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are so good they won't be shopping at the free agent supermarket. The Montreal Expos are so bad they would like to buy out the store. The Reds, two-time defending champions with lots of talent down on the farm, announced Wednesday they will not participate in the Nov. 4 free agent re-entry draft. In contrast, the Expos say they will be going all out to show up a weak team that is looking in all directions. Cincinnati President Bob Howsam, who has balked at free agent pitcher Don Gullett's request for a five-year contract, said: "In fairness to the players who have won the world championship for us two years in a row and with consideration to the way our organization is structured, we do not think it would be right for the Cincinnati club to get into the bidding contests that must come out of this draft. 'Nearly all of our players have remained loyal to this organization and we are hopeful that we can maintain this relationship in the future to our mutual advantage.'" Howsam added. "The Reds are a team of stars, and any inflated bid for a free agent would have severe economic repercussions from stars like Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan and Pete Rose. Also, the knowledge that the Reds are still a super team makes it easier for Howsam to stick to his principles and not sign or re-sign Gullett. The Expos, who had the worst record in baseball this season, have no stars. Only once in their eight-year history have the Expos finished worse than they did this season. That was in 1969, when they came into the baseball world as a new expansion team and recorded a 52-110 record. This season, the Expos finished dead last in the National League East with a 55-107 record, 46 games out of first place. But when it comes to the Nov. 4 draft, worst is first. The two leagues will be alternating selections for the 25 free agent players and, because the NL won a coin toss, Montreal will pick first and the Chicago White Sox will go second.

Ozark's last laugh turns out to be best

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies' manager Danny Ozark has the last laugh on his critics. He was voted National League manager of the year in the annual Associated Press poll of the media. But the 52-year-old Ozark refused to gloat over those who predicted the Phillies would never win anything under his managership. He was humble after being notified about the honor. "I don't think this will change me as a person," said Ozark by telephone from Hilton Head, S.C., where he is on a golf holiday. "I am glad you people thought enough of me to vote for me. Maybe hard work paid off." Ozark said he was surprised that he received 197 votes to just 79 for Sparky Anderson, manager of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, and 55 for Houston's Bill Virdon. "Sparky did another super job," Ozark said. "He brought 'em (Reds) in. He's a world champion." Ozark said that despite his team's three game wipeout in the National League Playoffs by the Reds, that the Phillies still were a very good team. "We all learned something from that playoff, and we'll be back." Ozark, whose team won 101 games and took the National League Eastern Division by nine games, passed his honor along to his team. He said the Phillies were good enough to win the division regardless of who was the manager. "They (the players) put me there because they played so well," Ozark said. Ozark HAS been under intense criticism ever since he signed as manager in December 1972, after 33 years in the Los Angeles Dodgers' organization as a minor league manager and later Dodgers' coach. Most of the media expected Dave Bristol to get the job. But despite the criticism, Ozark improved the Phillies each year of his regime. He led the team from 59 victories to 71 his first season, moved from last into third place with 80 wins the following year, to second with 86 in 1975, and first with 101 in 1976.

Ham becomes several dinners

By ARTHUR SCHWARTZ
Newsday

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — To crave a ham steak is one thing. To be able to afford one is another. Ham steak has gotten almost as pricey as porterhouse.

But there is a way of getting around the madness of $2-and-better-a-pound-for-center cuts of ham.

Buy a whole ham. Or, if 20 pounds of ham is just too much to cope with, buy half a ham.

To use a whole, or even half a ham, you need either a lot of hungry diners or a lot of ingenuity. The ingenuity is what we're interested in here.

The idea is to get a big thick ham steak for much less than it usually costs and to use up the rest of the ham over a number of meals and in such a way that it doesn't get boring having ham several times in a two-to-three-week period. Cured ham does not freeze well. Because of the high degree of moisture in the meat, its texture changes when frozen.

First, buy your ham on a Monday or Tuesday, a slow marketing day when you can have the full attention of the butcher. Otherwise you will need a hacksaw to cut through the bone yourself.

Ask the butcher to cut off the ham steak. An inch-thick steak is perfect for pan frying and provides at least two servings. For baking, a 2-inch steak is better and serves at least four, and as many as six, depending on the rest of the menu.

Half a ham, either end, should yield at least 2 inches of steak, so you will get at least one thick or two thinner steaks.

With a shank end, you can also have the butcher cut off the very end of the ham. This is the ham hock and it's perfect for a meaty tasting soup or a dish of beans, lentils or dried peas. Cook it whole with the soup or beans. Then, once it has flavored the dish well, flake off the meat and mix it into the pot.

The rest of the ham can be baked in one glorious piece. Or, some can be sliced and layered in a casserole with broccoli, cauliflower or summer squash and cheese sauce, chipped into pieces and heated slowly in cream with a bit of nutmeg until the cream gets thick enough to sauce hot biscuits, chopped for a ham spread that will hold several weeks in a crock or jar, or simply sliced for sandwiches.

And don't throw away the bone, especially if it has little bits of meat clinging to it. Add it to the soup pot, a bean casserole or boiling greens.

Following are some recipes to use up a whole ham, including a menu using the precious ham steak.

- MENU:
Peanut Soup
Milk-Baked Ham Steak
Spoon Bread
Applesauce
Collard Greens

MILK-BAKED HAM STEAK

- 2 teaspoons powdered mustard
- 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1-4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1-2-inch-thick ham steak

- 3 cups milk, approximately
1. In a small bowl, combine the mustard, brown sugar and ginger. Rub well into both sides of the ham.
 2. Place ham steak in a shallow casserole or baking dish just large enough to hold it. Pour in enough milk to come level with the steak.
 3. Place in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1-1-2 to 2 hours or until milk is all absorbed and ham has a deep brown crust. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

PEANUT SOUP

- 6 tablespoons butter
 - 2-3 cup fine-chopped onion
 - 2-3 cup fine-chopped celery
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 quart chicken stock or canned broth
 - 1 cup creamy peanut butter
 - 1 cup half and half
 - 1-4 teaspoon fresh-ground black pepper
 - Salt, if necessary
1. In a saucepan, heat butter and stew onion and celery slowly until very tender, about 30 minutes.
 2. Blend in flour and cook another 15 minutes. Beat in chicken stock and bring to a simmer. Simmer for 15 minutes.
 3. Add the peanut butter and stir until completely dissolved. Add half and half, pepper and salt (only if necessary). Puree, then heat through without boiling. Makes about 6 servings.

SPOON BREAD

- 2 cups milk
 - 1 cup white cornmeal
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons sugar
 - 1 tablespoon baking powder
 - 3 eggs
1. In a small saucepan, bring the milk to a boil. Remove from heat and sprinkle in the cornmeal, stirring constantly to avoid lumps.
 2. Place the butter in a 1-quart casserole and place casserole in a preheated 400-degree oven.
 3. In a mixing bowl, beat together the milk, salt, sugar, baking powder and eggs. Beat in cornmeal mixture, making sure there are no lumps.
 4. Remove the casserole from the oven. Tilt casserole to cover sides and bottom with butter; then pour remaining butter into batter. Mix quickly and well, then pour into casserole.
 5. Bake for about 25 minutes or until top is brown and edges well set. Center should still be slightly loose. Makes 6 servings.

HAM PASTE WITH GREEN PEPPERCORNS

- 4 teaspoons green peppercorns, drained
 - 1 large clove garlic, mashed
 - 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 6 tablespoons sweet butter, at room temperature
 - 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
 - 4 cups fine-chopped baked ham
 - 2 to 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - Salt, if necessary
- (This recipe is easiest to prepare in a Cuisinart food processor, although an electric blender is a big help for part of it. If neither is available, you will need a mortar and pestle to mash the garlic and green peppercorns.)
1. Mash the green peppercorns and garlic together in a mortar with a pestle. Or combine green peppercorns and garlic in a blender jar or food processor and chop very fine.
 2. In a mixing bowl, combine the pounded mixture with cinnamon, butter and mustard. Cream together. Or add cinnamon, butter and mustard to blender jar or food processor and blend until smooth. Set aside.

3. Use food processor to chop ham fine. Or chop with a sharp chopping knife, in a wooden bowl with curved chopper or put through a meat grinder.

4. In a mixing bowl, combine the ham with the creamed mixture and mayonnaise. Add salt, if necessary.

5. Pack into a crock or serving bowl. Best made a day ahead. Store tightly covered in the refrigerator. Will hold for several weeks.

Meal's habit can be broken

By LEIGH FENLY
Copley News Service

Breakfast is a most maligned meal. Someone nameless decided years ago that only things like bacon, eggs and toast — or grits for die-hard Southerners — should be eaten for breakfast. Unfortunately, the trend stuck.

And that's a shame, not because eggs and bacon aren't great foods, but because breakfast traditions have drastically limited one of the most enjoyable times to dine.

Grilled cheese sandwiches, tuna fish sandwiches, hot dogs and hamburgers also make natural breakfast foods, just as they make natural luncheon foods. Fish is another natural choice for breakfast, because it cooks quickly and is low in calories and cholesterol.

Even cheese and fruit platters make elegant breakfasts served with toasted chunks of French bread. Or how about yogurt, or a Caesar salad or egg rolls?

The following recipes provide a good start to a nutritious day:

EGGS ON THE HALF-SHELL

- One serving:
2 tps. butter
2 eggs at room temperature
1 tps. milk
Salt and pepper to taste
5 to 8 pitted ripe olives, sliced
One-fourth tsp. chopped chives
1 ripe avocado half-shell, peeled
- Four servings:
3 tps. butter
8 eggs at room temperature
One-fourth cup milk
Salt and pepper to taste
One-half cup pitted ripe olives, sliced
1 tsp. chopped chives
4 ripe avocado half-shells, peeled
- Melt butter in fry pan. Mix eggs, milk, salt, pepper and sliced olives. Beat until frothy. Add to melted butter. Continue to cook, using pancake turner to flip eggs until set. Spoon into prepared avocado half-shell(s).
- To make avocado half-shell: slice around avocado lengthwise. Twist to separate halves. Remove seed by whacking it with a sharp knife and twisting. To peel, hold the avocado cut-side down in the palm of one hand and peel skin back.

SPRINKLED CRULLERS

- Three-fourths cup water
One-fourth cup almond-flavored liqueur
One-fourth cup butter or margarine
One-half tsp. salt
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs
Oil, one-and-one-half-inches deep, heated to 365 degrees
One and one-half cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tps. almond-flavored liqueur
Colored sprinkles
- In a saucepan, heat water, one-fourth cup liqueur, butter or margarine and salt until boiling. Stir in flour all at once until a ball of dough is formed. Remove from heat and beat in eggs, one at a time.
- Place dough in a pastry bag fitted with a large star tip. Brush a pancake turner with oil and pipe a circle of dough on turner. Place pancake turner with oil dough into hot fat and let fry for one minute.
- Carefully remove cruller with a sharp knife. Let fry until golden brown on both sides.
- Drain on absorbent paper and cool. Repeat, using remaining dough. In a bowl, mix confectioners' sugar and liqueur. Spoon mixture over crullers. Dip into colored sprinkles. Let dry at room temperature. Makes 14 crullers.

PSYCHEDELIC CEREAL CONES

- 1 (five-and-one-third-oz.) can evaporated milk
One-third cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
One-fourth cup sugar
3 cups peanut butter cereal
12 ice-cream cones
- Pour milk into an eight-inch pan. Freeze until ice crystals appear on sides or in center of milk, about 45 minutes.
- Beat at high speed on electric mixer until soft peaks form. Add orange juice concentrate and sugar. Continue beating until blended, about two minutes.
- Fold in cereal. Spoon into 12 ice-cream cones. Freeze until firm. Makes 12 cones.

NEW HORIZONS GRANOLA

- 5 cups oats, quick or old-fashioned, uncooked
1 cup chopped apple
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1 cup raisins
Three-fourths cup butter or margarine, melted
Three-fourths cup firmly packed brown sugar
One and one-half tps. cinnamon
- Toast oats in ungreased jelly roll pan in preheated moderate (350-degree) oven 10 to 12 minutes.
- Combine toasted oats and remaining ingredients; mix well. Place in ungreased jelly roll pan and bake in preheated moderate (350-degree) oven 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown, stirring occasionally to brown evenly.
- Cool; stir until crumbly. Serve as a snack or as a cereal with milk or cream. Store in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator. Makes about nine cups.

Pet Rocks profitable

LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — The Pet Rock, the superstar of the 1975 gift-giving season, made a lot of money for Gary Dahl, its creator — an estimated $4 million.

Dahl says he still has a few Pet Rocks lying around and that he might use them to pave his driveway here, headquarters for him and his Rock Bottom Productions.

The Pet Rock, Dahl said, was inspired by all those disobedient, destructive and dirty run-of-the-mill pets, like dogs, cats and birds. Rocks are relaxed, clean and they don't bark.

He said he's putting a piece of his Pet Rock proceeds into a saloon.

Rescue green tomatoes before first frost arrives

COLLEGE STATION — Green tomatoes, picked before the first frost, can be used many ways that add more flavor to them and will prevent losing them to winter frost, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist, points out.

"Green tomatoes aren't as top quality as the vine-ripened red flavorful ones, but they can be a delicious accompaniment to any meal. Try this method — especially good with Mexican food — slice, dip in buttermilk and flour, slat them and deep fat fry. The flour, salt and pepper and the fat add flavor to the green tomatoes," she said.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

"They are also delicious as ingredients in relishes or chow chow, mincemeat, marmalade, spiced pickles.

"But remember to harvest them before the first frost, because after they've been touched by frost, they aren't suitable for eating," she said.

GREEN TOMATO CABBAGE RELISH

4 quarts (about 24 to 28 medium-sized) chopped green tomatoes
4 quarts sliced cabbage
3 cups chopped onion
1 cup chopped sweet red pepper
¼ cup salt

1 teaspoon ground allspice
2 teaspoons celery seed
2 teaspoons mustard seed
2 cups brown sugar
1 quart vinegar

Sprinkle layers of tomatoes, cabbage, onion and sweet pepper with salt. Let stand overnight; drain. Add allspice, celery seed, mustard seed, sugar and vinegar. Boil 25 minutes or until there is just enough liquid left to moisten ingredients well. Pack into clean, hot, sterile jars. Fill jars to top; seal. Process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

SWEET PICKLE RELISH

4 quarts green tomatoes
4 quarts onions
24 sweet red and green peppers
2 bunches celery
2 ounces mixed pickling spices
5 pounds sugar
2 quarts vinegar

Cut and seed the tomatoes. Halve the onions and peppers. Let the tomatoes, peppers and onions stand overnight in salt water. The next day, grind these vegetables with the celery. Squeeze out as much juice as possible. Tie the pickling spices loosely in a cloth bag. Bring the sugar, vinegar and spices to a boil; then add the other ground, drained vegetables. Cook until the onions are tender and mixture is clear. Remove the spice bag. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Process in boiling water bath for ten minutes.

INDIA RELISH

6 pounds (22 medium) green tomatoes
½ pound (3 medium) onions, peeled
1 large stalk celery
½ pound (2 medium) sweet red peppers, quartered
1 medium green pepper, quartered
1 cup granulated sugar
1 ¼ cups distilled white vinegar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
¼ teaspoon turmeric
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 ½ teaspoons celery seed
3 tablespoons salt

Wash, trim vegetables. Quarter, remove stem end from tomatoes; put all vegetables through medium grind of food grinder. Drain excess liquid. Heat sugar, remaining ingredients to boiling. Add vegetables; simmer ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Continue simmering while quickly packing one hot, sterilized jar at a time. Fill to one-eighth inch from top. Be sure vinegar solution covers vegetables. Seal each jar at once and process in boiling water bath for ten minutes. Makes five to six pints.

GREEN TOMATO MARMALADE

Wash green tomatoes, trim, and cut into small pieces or slices. To four pounds of the prepared tomatoes, allow two pounds of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt and five lemons. Remove the peel of the lemons, cut it into thin slices, and boil for five minutes in one cup of water. Discard the water and repeat the parboiling if the bitter flavor in the rind is not desired. Slice the lemon pulp and remove the seeds.

Combine the tomatoes, sugar, salt, sliced lemon and drained peel. Heat slowly and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Continue stirring and boil for one hour, or until the mixture is somewhat thick and the fruit clear. Pour at once into hot sterilized jars and seal. Process in boiling water bath for ten minutes.

GREEN TOMATO CHOW CHOW

4 cups green tomatoes, after running through chopper
¼ cup cabbage
2 medium-sized onions
2 medium-sized sweet green peppers
3 cups vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup raisins
1 teaspoon cinnamon, ground
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon mixed spices
2 tablespoons salt

Put all ingredients together and cook for 30 minutes. Pack in sterilized jars and process for 15 minutes at simmering temperature.

GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT

1 peck green tomatoes
5 cups brown sugar
4 cups raisins
2 cups beef suet
½ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon nutmeg
2 cups chopped apples
1 tablespoon ground cloves

Slice the tomatoes thin, or put them through a food chopper, allow to drain. Cover with cold water, place over fire and boil for five minutes. Drain well, add suet, vinegar, fruit and seasonings, return to fire, and allow to simmer for thirty to forty-five minutes. Pack while hot, and process in hot water for 20 minutes.

SPICED GREEN TOMATOES

6 pounds of small whole green tomatoes
4 pounds of sugar
1 pint of vinegar
1 tablespoonful of cinnamon
¼ teaspoonful of cloves
¼ teaspoonful of allspice
¼ teaspoonful of mace

Small green fig or plum tomatoes are suitable for this pickle. Scald and peel. Make a syrup of the sugar, vinegar, and spices. Drop in the whole fruit and boil until the tomatoes become clear; pour all into trays, cool quickly; pack cold into jars, strain syrup over them, seal and process.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE

1 gallon of green tomatoes
½ dozen large onions
3 cupfuls of brown sugar
¼ lemon
3 pods of red pepper
1 pint of vinegar
1 pint of water
1 tablespoonful of whole cloves
1 tablespoonful of allspice
1 tablespoonful of celery seed (crushed)
1 tablespoonful of mustard seed
1 tablespoonful of ground mustard

1 tablespoonful of whole black pepper

Slice the tomatoes and onions thin. Sprinkle over them one-half cupful of salt and let stand overnight in a crock or enameled vessel. Tie the pepper, cloves, allspice, and celery seed in a cheese-cloth bag. Slice the lemon and chop two pepper pods very fine. Drain the tomato and onions well. Add all seasoning except one pepper pod to the vinegar, then add the tomato and onion. Cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice-bag to prevent darkening product. Pack in pint jars and garnish with slender strips of the red pepper, placing them vertically on the opposite sides of each jar. Process for fifteen minutes.

Meatless meals cut food costs

By DARLA WELLES
Copley News Service

When it comes to cutting the food budget, probably nothing pares down the costs like eliminating meat from a few meals each week.

To satisfy heartier appetites, turn to pasta meals. Recipes for those dishes follow.

NOODLE CASSEROLE

8 ozs. medium egg noodles
Salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 tbsps. salad oil
3 cups frozen small whole onions, thawed
1 large garlic clove, crushed
1 (16-oz.) can tomatoes, undrained
1 (8-oz.) can tomato paste
2 tbsps. sugar
2 eggs
1 (16-oz.) container creamed-style cottage cheese
2 (10-oz.) packages frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained
3 cups grated Cheddar cheese
1 tsp. sage

Gradually add noodles and one tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a large saucepan, heat oil. Add onions and garlic; saute over medium heat, stirring constantly, until onions are almost tender, about three minutes. Stir in undrained tomatoes; break up tomatoes with spoon. Stir in tomato paste, sugar and one-half teaspoon salt.

In a large bowl, beat eggs until light; stir in cottage cheese, spinach, one-half cup Cheddar cheese, sage and one-half teaspoon salt; mix well.

In ungreased 13x7-inch baking dish, arrange in layers: one-third tomato sauce, one-half noodles, one-third Cheddar cheese, one-half spinach mixture. Repeat layering.

Spread remaining sauce on spinach layer. Sprinkle remaining cheese around edges of casserole. Cover with foil and bake in a 400-degree oven for 25 minutes. Uncover, bake five more minutes or until mixture is hot and bubbly and cheese is melted. Serves six.

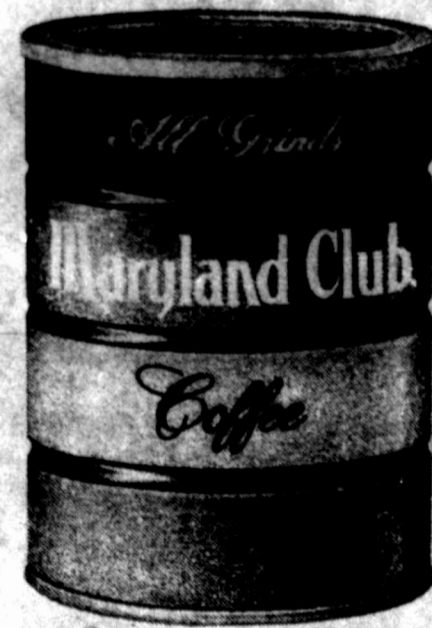

NOODLES WITH SAUCE

8 ozs. medium egg noodles
1 tsp. salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
2 cups milk
One-half tsp. salt
One-fourth tsp. pepper
1 tsp. dry mustard
One-fourth tsp. Worcestershire
2 tbsps. lemon juice
2 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 (10-oz.) package frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained.

Gradually add noodles and one tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Meanwhile, in medium saucepan, melt butter; stir in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils one minute. Add salt, pepper, mustard, Worcestershire and lemon juice. Add cheese and stir over low heat until cheese melts. Stir in vegetables. Serve sauce over egg noodles. Serves four.

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST!"
 a mellow, brassy, vigorous movie, rich in adventure.

"The Man Who Would Be King" is a prince among pictures. IT IS FLAT-OUT ENTERTAINMENT—a headlong story, head-crunching action, good acting, intelligent and witty dialogue, a mind-wiping, exotic setting and it has been craftily directed by John Huston.

"GREAT FUN! HIGHLY ENTERTAINING."

MC to start another six short courses

Lip reading is one of six Midland College community service courses scheduled to begin this week. The course will be taught by Karen Palmer from 3 to 4 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for seven weeks. There is no charge for the class, which will meet in the First Christian Church conference room. The course is designed for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Two sections of beginning piano will be taught, from 7 to 8 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m. Mondays for seven weeks. Both sessions will meet at Memorial Christian Church. Class is limited to six students in each session and fee is $14. The course focuses on music literature with familiar melodies, music fundamentals, story and technique.

Belly dancing will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for four weeks. Karen Sharma, instructor, will teach basic body movement using the stomach muscles as well as other muscles in the body. The class is primarily geared for building muscle tone in the female body. Class is limited to 20 students and will meet in room 100, occupational-technical building. Fee is $16.

Typing brush-up will be taught six weeks on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in room 158A, occupational-technical building. The keyboard, machine parts, typing techniques and tabulating problems and spacing rules will be taught. Speed and accuracy drills will be given in each class. Fee is $20 and Thelma Stalcup is the instructor.

More information concerning registration and courses may be obtained from the department of community services at the college from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Survey shows Ford favored

BROWNWOOD — A West Texas Chamber of Commerce mail survey of its membership shows President Ford favored over Jimmy Carter by better than a ten to one margin.

WTCC president W. H. "Bill" Collyns made the announcement today at the WTCC mid-year meeting in Brownwood.

The survey was mailed Oct. 13 and, based on a 27.6 per cent return as of Oct. 26, the presidential voting intentions showed Ford receiving 88.6 per cent, Carter 9.8 per cent, undecided 0.6 per cent.

Jurors to eye CB cases

The Midland County grand jury will be probing into 70 to 90 cases, mostly dealing with thefts of citizens band (CB) radios, beginning at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Dist. Atty. Jim Mashburn and his staff will present evidence in the cases for possible indictments by grand jury.

The Midland police department is "cracking down" on the thefts of CB radios taken in the burglary of motorcars and trucks, a spokesman for Mashburn said today.

Other cases to be considered by the 12 grand jurors include burglaries, thefts and other crimes against property, and narcotics-related cases.

Fuller appointed AP president, manager

BOSTON (AP) — Keith Fuller has been appointed president and general manager of The Associated Press by the Board of Directors of the news cooperative. He succeeds Wes Gallagher, who retired.

Fuller, 53, has been responsible for the general operations of the news service since May, when the AP board designated him as Gallagher's successor. He held the title of vice president and deputy general manager.

Fuller has been with the AP 27 years. While chief bureau at Little Rock, he supervised coverage of the integrated crisis there in 1957, which brought AP a Pulitzer Prize.

Fuller was born in Arlington, Kan., Jan. 10, 1923, moved to Beaumont, Tex., in boyhood and started in journalism by editing his high school newspaper. While attending Lamar College he worked fulltime as a reporter for the Beaumont Enterprise.

He joined the Air Force in World War II, became a bombardier and spent 14 months as a prisoner of war as his plane was shot down over France.

After the war, he continued both his education and newspaper career.

Record number of voters registered statewide

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas has a record number of voters eligible to go to the polls next Tuesday. Secretary of State Mark White announced Wednesday.

He said a poll of county tax assessor-collectors who issue voting certificates show there are now 6,286,707 registered Texas voters. The record total is up 17.3 per cent from the registration for the May primaries and shows an increase of 27 per cent over 1975.

Predictions of the turnout next Tuesday have ranged from 2.5 million to 3.5 million voters.

In 1972 there were about 3.44 million voters out of 5.5 million eligible. In 1968 only 3.16 million voted.

Carter gets approvals

By The Associated Press

Georgia's two biggest newspapers, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution, have endorsed Jimmy Carter, a former governor, for president.

The Springfield (Mass.) Daily

News, the Moultrie (Ga.) Observer and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette also endorsed Carter in next Tuesday's election. Pittsburgh's other daily, the Press, the Richmond (Va.) News Leader, the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Baltimore Evening Sun announced support for President Ford.

District attorney candidates seek quick justice

Trey Lohmann

Vern Martin

Reduction of crime through prompt, thorough prosecution of criminals in Midland County is the aim of two Midland attorneys running for 142nd District Attorney's post. Incumbent Jim Mashburn is not seeking re-election.

Trey Lohmann views disposing of the backlog of criminal cases and making the office more responsive to the needs of the community as the means of more efficiently handling the job.

Vern Martin said he will seek the trial and punishment of criminal offenders who create a threat to the safety and welfare of the community.

The Reporter-Telegram gave both candidates a questionnaire concerning the race. The questions and their answers follow:

TREY LOHMANN
Please provide a thorough biographical statement:

Born in Sweetwater, April 6, 1944. Grew up in Wink, attended high school in Monahans. Attended North Texas State University; received a B.A. in government with a double major in English. Attended University of Texas, received a Juris Doctorate degree in 1969. Practiced law in Dallas through 1971 and general practice law in Midland since then.

Describe the duties of the office which you seek, and assign priorities as you view them:

1. Effective prosecution;
2. Efficient administration;
3. Total cooperation with all members of the community.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

1. To dispose of the backlog of criminal cases.

2. To make a more objective analysis of seeking future indictments and an effective prosecution of them.

3. A more thorough use of plea bargaining and an office more responsive to the needs of the community.

What policy or operations changes do you propose (or plan to continue) if you are elected:

A more responsive and open door approach to all citizens of the community except criminals in an attempt to obtain more trial time from the district court.

VERN J. MARTIN
Please provide a thorough biographical statement:

I am a self-employed attorney, native Texan, 45 years of age. My wife and I have five children; the two youngest boys are still at home.

A thumbnail sketch of my qualifications for the office of district attorney follows:

Bachelor of Science degree in government, East Texas State University, Doctor of Jurisprudence degree, University of Texas School of Law, licensed in state and federal courts; law clerk for federal judge; attorney for Veteran's Land Board; Determination officer for OASI; investigation of foreign claims and participation in numerous courts martial, U.S. Navy;

Full time general law practice since 1963, in Midland 11 years; heavy courtroom experience in all phases of criminal law, including actual trial of many felony jury cases in Midland County and practice before the Court of Criminal Appeals.

An extensive background in legal medicine; scientific evidence, working with interpreters and a broad based civil practice.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

Describe the duties of the office which you seek, and assign priorities as you view them:

The duties of the district attorney are defined by statute Article 2.01 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure which states that each district attorney shall represent the state in all criminal cases in the district courts of his district, except in cases where he has been, before his election, employed adversely. When any criminal proceeding is before an examining court in his district or before a judge upon habeas corpus, and he is notified of the same, and is at the time within his district, he shall represent the state therein, unless prevented by other official duties. It shall be the primary duty of all prosecuting attorneys, including any special prosecutors, not to convict, but to see that justice is done. They shall not suppress facts or secrete witnesses capable of establishing the innocence of the accused.

Rather than attempting to assign priorities to specific matters, I intend to devote my full time toward vigorous prosecution of all criminal cases within the authority of the office. My goal is to offer an energetic prosecution to every violation of the law brought to my attention; and I am particularly concerned about crimes which threaten the lives and property of people and especially the drug pushers, who threaten the welfare of everyone.

What are the most important challenges in that office during the next term:

Crimes that threaten the safety and welfare of this community present the greatest and only challenge of this office. My intention is to accept this challenge and to seek the trial and punishment of criminal offenders who create this threat.

What policy or operations changes do you propose (or plan to continue) if you are elected: KM not an issue in this race since the incumbent, Jim Mashburn, is not seeking re-election.

I would consider it irresponsible to advocate any dramatic changes in the policy and operation of the office at this time and believe that the best interest of this community will be served by working as closely as possible with Mr. Mashburn, his staff and the local law enforcement agencies to make the changeover as smooth and efficient as possible in order to maintain the present level of effective prosecutions.

Future changes in the operation of the office should and will take place only after a study and testing period and with due regard to whether such change will actually further the goals of the office.

My basic policy will be to identify the criminals and get them off the streets of Midland; and put crime out of business in Midland County.

Church thefts solved

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans said Wednesday that two of the five persons charged with kidnaping and attempted murder after a high speed chase and shootout have signed statements concerning church robberies in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri.

Evans did not identify the two who have signed the statements. The five were also charged Wednesday with aggravated robbery.

Ford to tell plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is making final preparations to announce his long-awaited proposals to control the spread of nuclear technology and weapons.

The White House received seven weeks ago the report of a government commission assigned by Ford last July to review American policy and recommend changes.

Since that time, diplomatic sources report, American embassies abroad have been told to brief the 14 members of the nuclear "suppliers club" on the new U.S. proposals and rally support for them.

The club — including the U.S.S.R., France, West Germany, East Germany, Japan, and Great Britain — has been meeting privately in London since 1975 to consider the way it will provide nuclear technology to the developing world.

Ford's proposals will be the U.S. position when the club meets again, perhaps next month.

The timing of Ford's announcement also has political ramifications, coming in the final week of the presidential campaign. Since May, when he spoke on the subject at the United Nations, Democrat Jimmy Carter has been accusing the administration of lack of leadership on the nuclear proliferation problem.

The problem is the increasing likelihood that conventional nuclear reactors and fuels intended for the generation of electricity can be used by recipient countries to make atomic bombs.

India demonstrated the potentialities to the world when it detonated a nuclear device in 1974, using nuclear fuels and technology that it had been given for peaceful purposes.

Craddick, Corley to speak

Candidates for state representative from Midland will discuss their qualifications and proposals in a "High Noon Forum" Friday in the Midland College student center.

The forum, sponsored by the college student senate, will feature incumbent Tom Craddick, a Republican, and his Democratic opponent R. L. "Bob" Corley.

The event is open to the public.
