Early turnout points to heavy vote

By The Associated Press

A heavy turnout marked the early voting today as Americans chose between Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford to lead the nation as president over the next four years.

Democrat Carter cast his ballot in a cinder-block building near the railroad tracks in Plains, Ga. Republican Ford voted in an elementary school in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Historically, a large turnout generally favors the Democrats, the majority party. If the trend continues throughout the day — and the weather was generally good — analysts agreed it could help Carter in his bid to oust Ford from the white House.

The analysts said the election was poised on knife-edge, probably one of the closest of the century. However, a late Roper poll gave Carter a four-point lead — 51 to 47.

A heavy turnout was reported all along the East-Coast — in New York, Maine, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina.

The same pattern held true in Louisiana, Ohio, Michigan and Tennessee.

Carter's 98-week campaign came to an end in Plains, his rural home town. "I feel a sense of satisfaction," he said. "I did the best I could."

Ford, home in Grand Rapids, was asked if he felt lucky. "Sure do," the President replied. "Don't you think we have good reason?"

Carter's running mate, Walter F. Mondale, also voted early, in Afton, Minn., his home town. He joked that he was "undecided," but then assured reporters he had voted for "Jimmy Carter and his running mate."

The fourth man in the celebrated quarter, GOP vice-presidential candidate Bob Dole, planned to vote later in the day in his home town, Russell, Kan. At a rally Monday evening in Independence, Mo., he sat in former President Harry S. Truman's chair in the local courthouse "for luck."

Ford and Carter ended their campaigns Monday night with rallies in Michigan, barely 100 miles apart.

Public opinion analysts predicted that barely more than half the 150 million voting age Americans would go to the polls. In 1972, the turnout was 55 per cent. Historically, a large turnout benefits the Democratic presidential candidate.

Dixville Notch, N.H., generally the nation's first community to tally its votes, gave Ford 13 and Carter 11 early today. There are 18 Republicans in the little resort town and eight Democrats.

For months the candidates traveled back and forth across the nation, east and west, north and south, speaking in

Midland polling places doing brisk business

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Midland polling places did brisk business this morning as Midland voters cast their votes in moderate to heavy numbers.

A check of several precincts just before noon showed that large numbers of Midlanders were voting. Several precincts reported lines of people when the polls opened at 7 a.m. but at noon most did not have long lines.

At De Zavala Elementary School 269 persons had voted and a line was forming. Lines were long all morning at Goddard Junior High School, where 781 had voted at noon, election judge Mrs. John Barbe said.

At Lee High School, volume was steady after an early-morning surge in the number of voters. Slightly more than 700 persons had voted by noon, election judge Kathy Taylor said.

Roger Robles, election judge at Alamo Junior High School, said the 249 voters who had cast ballots by noon indicate a heavier than usual turnout. "I think we're doing much better than in the past." Here, too, there was not a long line, but rather a steady flow of voters.

Midland voters are turning out in heavier than expected numbers today, according to poll workers. Lines of voters, such as this one at Midland High, were a common sight at polling places around the city.

Walker brothers lose try to reverse ruling

A ruling by State Dist. Judge Perry D. Pickett that two Midland bondsmen, brothers Odell and Thomas Walker, did not have adequate assets to back up $120,000 in bail bonds has been upheld by a state appellate court in El Paso.

Pickett based his December 1975, ruling in part on a court hearing a month earlier. In that courtroom clash, Dist. Atty. Jim Mashburn argued that the Walker brothers were devoid of enough assets, including property holdings, to make the bonds valid.

Odessa attorney H. Thomas Hirsch, the bondsmen's counsel, took the opposing view.

The dispute followed the arrest, charging and subsequent bailing out of three men accused of possessing more than 800 pounds of marijuana here Sept. 23, 1975.

Three days later, the three men were bailed out of jail on Walker-underwritten bonds of $40,000 each. They were Juan Geras "Johnny"

Zarate, 21, and Mike Quiroz, 20, both of Midland, and Sammy Hernandez, 24, of Stanton.

After Pickett questioned the validity of the Walker bonds, the threesome was rearrested but released when new bail bonds totaling $120,000 were made outside the Walker ranks.

In criticizing Pickett's ruling, Hirsch contended that the judge had "no authority to override the discretion of the sheriff (Ed Darnell)," who had approved the Walker bonds on Zarate, Quiroz and Hernandez.

The crux of the November 1975, hearing before Pickett was this: speculation on the Walker brothers' assets.

Mashburn presented evidence indicating the Walker brothers only paid taxes on $8,700 in property listed on the tax rolls. That assessment came from Virgil Jones Jr., tax assessor-collector for the City of

The 953 voters who had turned out at Fannin Elementary School represent the usual number of voters, election judge Vic Hollrah said. He said the volume of voters had been steady. "At the rate we're going, we shouldn't have too long lines any time today," he said.

The turnout at the Carver Building was heavier than usual, Freddie Nelms, assistant election judge, said. By noon, 338 persons had voted. Nelms said the lines have not been long, however.

A record number of Midlanders voted in 1972 when 24,290 votes were cast. In 1968, 23,529 cast ballots in the presidential election.

By The Associated Press

Perfect weather greeted Texas voters today as they turned out in large numbers to cast their ballots in the presidential year election.

Houston officials reported as many as 500 persons were waiting to vote at some precincts when the polls opened.

At one precinct in north Dallas, about 250 persons were standing in line as the election officials unlocked the doors.

Former Texas Gov. John Connally, President Ford's Texas campaign manager, stood in line about an hour to cast his ballot before going to his downtown Houston law office.

Election officials at a precinct in Austin said there were still about 35 persons in line after the usual early morning rush. The officials said the post-rush line was the first ever for that precinct.

Long lines were also reported at Corpus Christi, El Paso, Wichita Falls and Midland.

Voters were deciding not only between President Ford and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter but also on a U.S. Senator, a state Supreme Court justice, Congressional representatives and a number of other officials.

"According to national polls, the size and makeup of the turnout would determine the final outcome, allowing state Democrat and Republican leaders to make nervously confident predictions of victory.

"We always cut them close in Texas," said Democratic state chairman Calvin Guest as he predicted that presidential candidate Jimmy Carter would carry the state "by 40,000 to 100,000 votes."

Meanwhile, Ford campaign leaders in Texas dismissed reports of Carter's lead in the state and said their own polls showed President Gerald Ford was moving ahead.

In any case, the state's 26 electoral votes — fourth largest total in the nation — could be a deciding factor in the presidential race nationally.

"Texas is such an important state," said Carter's Texas campaign coordinator, Chuck Parrish. "Without Texas, the Republicans can't win."

Neil Tillotson, Dixville Notch, N.H., town moderator, checks the tally, which shows the first "notch" for the GOP slate.

Winning trivial when you're fiddlin' around

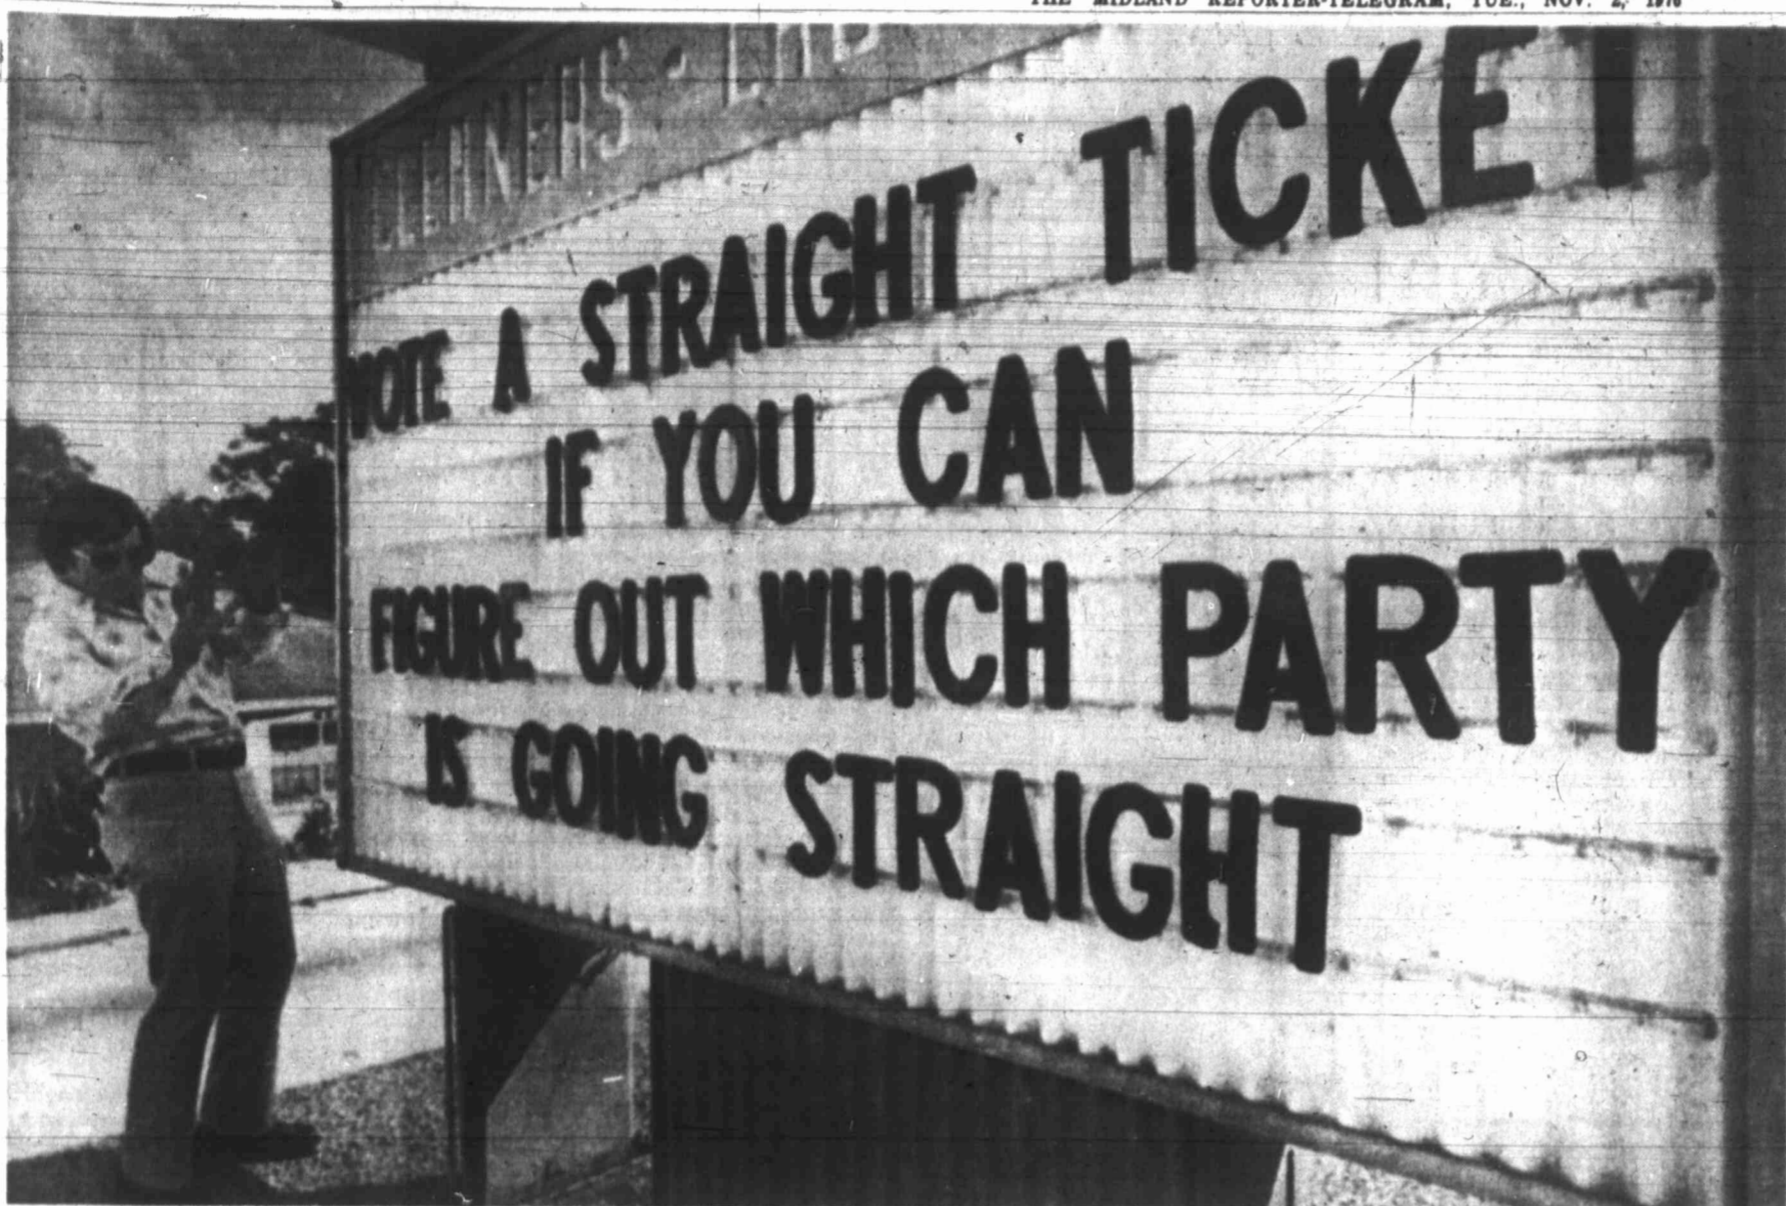

ODESSA — A sophomore student from Permian High School put the Big O City back in the win column Saturday afternoon by outfiddling some two dozen pros at the Second Annual Winwood Mall Old Fiddlers contest. Ricky Boen, 15, plays in the Mojo band, and I'd love to hear his "Clarinet Polka" in the middle of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony sometime.

I was admittedly a bit uneasy about appearing half a dozen blocks up the street from Permian High Saturday afternoon after the Midland Lee Rebels used "Pendergrast chili" to upset the Mojo 14-13 the night before, according to a Friday cartoon by cartoonist Norman Johnson. But the Odessa folks have always been congenial, and I think everybody knows I like both teams and think most of the teams in District 5-AAAA could beat any schoolboy team in the country more often than not.

But, as Artesia, N.M., fiddler Roy Laman said in accepting his second place award in the over-60 division, the prize money is nice but it's the (Continued on Page 3A) fellowship that counts. (I was surprised and indebted to San Angelo string ace Bob Kendrick for using his old-timers division championship acceptance time to observe that San Angelo lost a good man when I was promoted to the Basin, and it was a happy note to find in the audience Savannah Ruth Caperton Belcher, now of Odessa with the Arthritis Society, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Buford and Mr. and Mrs. "Big" Hudman of Bronte—all of whom lived up the block when I was born there in 1932.)

Elbert Phillips of Monument, N.M., and an audience-stirring performance by Kent Walker—also including the peppery "Spanish Two-Step" and the classic "Gray Eagle" and the hauntingly beautiful "Over the Waves." But, fortunately, I didn't have to pick winners among 25 mostly top-rate fiddlers. Other winners in the over-60 group were Ted Clark of Rogers, N.M., Castle of Big Spring, and H. R. Gardner of Rogers; in the 41-plus: Clint Keys of Midland, R. C. Burkhalter of Perryton, Chester Derrick, and L. O. (Bigon) McCall of Odessa; and—Cheryl's only opponent—Dee Phillips of Odessa in the 21-to-40 class.

But there was some four hours of good fellowship and better music on hand as Damon Boyd, 52, of Imperial won the 41-to-59 division and the delightful Cheryl Kiner of Texas Tech in Lubbock won the 21-to-40 category.

My fiddlin' buddy Chester Derrick says he'll put together another play-off next year if the Winwood Mall can come up with another $850 for prizes, and Ron Thomas of the Mall promises to do just that.

I was kidding when I said it'd be a tougher contest to judge if she had worn a gunny sack over her head, but she is as vibrantly beautiful as her fiddling is melodious.

And, after hearing all that good contest music plus the "Pendergrast special" request of Keys, Derrick and Phillips on the "Orange/Blossom Special" and the yeomanly interim performances of bluegrass and spirituals by the Charlie Pierce Family (which includes three more beautiful and talented girls) from Stanton—I'd rather do it about every week or two.

My personal favorites of the afternoon were Kendrick's "Lime Rock" and "Billy and the Low Ground" and Tom Castle of Big Spring's "East Indies Waltz" and the "Jack of Diamonds" by 87-year-old the collateral backing any one bail bond must be worth twice the amount of the bond itself.

The law, in effect, looks at one bail bond at a time and not at a batch of them underwritten by one guarantor.

The Walker brothers still write bonds but none with a face value of $40,000 or more.

At that same hearing, Sheriff Darnell said he had confidence in the Walker brothers' resources to back a $40,000 bond. Otherwise, he said, "I would refuse them."

Mashburn and Rusty Wall, his chief assistant prosecutor, said that the bondsmen had underwritten some $600,000 in bail bonds.

and where it can go from here. "The promises I've made have been very cautious and I'm going to keep them," said the Democratic candidate.

Ford recalled the difficult period in which he became president, taking office after the resignation of Richard M. Nixon. "America has turned around," he said. "I put the ship of state on an even keel. I held a firm hand on the tiller for a steady course."

With the two candidates running so close in so many states, no one could predict on what the election might turn, whether it would be on pocketbook issues such as taxes, jobs and inflation, or on defense and foreign policy and voter perceptions of which man would keep the nation at peace.

Or would other issues tip the balance? Carter's controversial interview with Playboy magazine and the Watergate questions that continued to dog the Republicans. Carter called a news conference Monday in Sacramento, Calif., to express his disagreement with fellow deacons of the Plains, Ga., Baptist Church, who canceled services on Sunday rather than admit a black minister who tried to gain membership in the church.

The former Georgia governor said that although he disagreed with the action he would not resign from the church. "I can't resign from the human race because there's discrimination," he said. "I can't resign from America because there's discrimination. I can't resign from my church because there's discrimination."

Black leaders campaigning with Carter, including Goretta Scott King and C. Delores Tucker, Pennsylvania secretary of state, defended the candidate's record on civil rights.

Although national attention was on the presidential candidates, thousands of other offices will be filled today by the voters.

on the ballot. McCarthy chastised the press for what he called its failure to expose "violations of constitutional freedoms," as he described the methods used to keep him off the ballot in the nation's two largest states, California and New York.

McCarthy conceded he has no chance of winning, but he said he hopes to get about 5 per cent of the vote anyway.

If McCarthy does that well, it could hurt Carter in key states. It is assumed most of the votes for McCarthy will come from Democrats.

Watergate brought about one major change in presidential campaigning, the method of financing. The Ford and Carter campaigns were financed by $21.8 million in public funds plus another $3.2 million from each of the party national committees. Neither candidate was allowed to raise any additional money for his campaign.

The $25 million available for each man's campaign was far below what was spent by each presidential candidate four years earlier.

If the poll takers are right in predicting a close election, it could be a long night for people who stay by their television sets to watch the returns until a winner is declared.

Carter's greatest strength appears to be in the East and South, where the returns will be available the earliest. But as the night wears on and the returns start coming in from the Midwest and West, Ford's strength should be at its height.

Some early signs of unusual strength for one man or the other might be found in such states as Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, South Carolina and Florida.

Connecticut usually is among the first states to have complete returns. It's considered a toss up in most surveys, and if Carter should run very strong, it would be a sign that the abortion issue did not hurt Carter as much as some of his supporters feared. The state has a large Catholic population.

National Gallery gets bust as gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bust of Louis XVI has been acquired by the National Gallery of Art.

The bust was executed by the 18th-century royal sculptor, Simon-Louis Boizot. It was a gift to the gallery from the Versailles Foundation.

The Democrats are expected to retain control of the House and Senate. All 435 House seats are up for election, as are 33 Senate seats. Fourteen governorships also will be decided.

And Ford and Carter aren't the only candidates for the presidency.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy wound up his campaign as an independent candidate for president in California, where his name will not be

Balance of cash grows

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' cash balance grew by $200 million during the last fiscal year to a record $1.6 billion by Aug. 31, State Comptroller Bob Bullock reported Monday.

He said in an 81-page report to Gov. Dolph Briscoe and others that the state collected $8 billion in total revenue and spent $6.4 billion.

"Texans regained confidence in the economy quicker than the average national consumer and their spending—combined with inflation—pushed all consumer tax revenues to new highs," Bullock said.

All state revenues reached record highs, he said, including taxes of $3.9 billion.

New York dislikes ad

NEW YORK (AP) — A minor party candidate, who bought $95,000 worth of election eve television time to charge that Jimmy Carter is bent on nuclear war, has drawn hundreds of protest calls.

The attack on Carter — an admitted effort to elect President Ford by siphoning off votes from the Democratic candidate — was made by Lyndon H. LaRouche Jr., candidate for president on the U.S. Labor party ticket.

After the telecast, which vied with a half-hour paid telecast by Carter on CBS, NBC reported receiving hundreds of calls protesting the LaRouche speech but did not say on what basis the protests were made.

It's time to relax!

Well, here we are on general election day in the Bicentennial year — 1976. And things in general seem to be just a bit quieter than they were yesterday... and the day and week and month before.

The pressure seems to be off, and temperatures appear to be dropping slowly from the high mark on the weekend before election.

Election campaigning in Midland warmed up considerably during the last week, when tempers flared and things were said which perhaps would have been better left unsaid. But that is in the past and all ill feelings hopefully will be forgotten promptly.

Residents of the city and county today are going about their business of voting for the candidates and issues of their choice.

Campaigning for the offices at the various levels of government has been underway for months and months now, and most persions perhaps are glad that all the electioneering has ground to a halt. It was a long, hot summer for the campaigners in many instances. All were glad to see the somewhat more pleasant fall weather take over in the closing days of campaigning. And now all the campaign activities have closed down altogether.

Thousands of flags hopefully are unfurled throughout the city, denoting a very special occasion — Election Day!

It is somewhat of a letdown, isn't it, when the campaigning shuts off suddenly? Certain adjustments will have to be made in our schedules, activities and conversations.

But those adjustments will come rather quickly, with the holiday season coming on, and with Thanksgiving Day just around the corner. The overall pace again will quicken before we realize it, as we are swept into new and different activities.

Who will emerge victorious in today's balloting? Well sir, your guess is as good as ours. We could make some wild predictions, but perhaps we best had just wait and see... and then join hands in pressing forward towards an even greater city, county, state and nation.

This is the American way!

The next 'domino'

Not many bets were placed on the survival of parliamentary democracy in Thailand when the experiment began three years ago. Its collapse in a military coup was a surprise only in the swiftness with which the country's governmental problems came to a head.

The triggering event was the return to the country of the exiled Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn. Though he maintained he was returning as a Buddhist monk and not as a politician, the same kind of student rioting that drove him from power in 1973 erupted upon his reappearance.

It is hard to avoid the conclusion that Thailand is ungovernable at this point by anything but a dictatorship. With the army's Gen. Sangad Chaloryu emerging as the head of the "National Reform Council," we can presume it will be a dictatorship of the right rather than the left. Fear of communism — from within the country and from the new pressure of a unified Communist Vietnam — runs high in Thailand, and for good reason... it is now regarded as the potential next "domino" if the domino theory of Communist expansion in Southeast Asia has any validity.

The U. S. presence in Thailand is a shadow of what it was during the Vietnam war. We can hope that the way will remain clear for Americans to maintain a policy of friendship and assistance toward the Thai people.

NICK THIMMESCH

What the President can tell us about ourselves

WASHINGTON — Whoever is elected President has lots to do, but the republic really isn't in crisis. We are more overheated than overtroubled. The United States is rich, favored by history and at peace. We all need to appreciate life more than we need to speed it up.

Nick Thimmesch

The confusion and noise about the well-being of the United States comes from the anguish of the Sixties and the Nixon Administration, but all of that is behind us now. A sensitive, straight-talking President has a great opportunity to teach the citizenry that we can have good times indeed, providing we use common sense.

We have suffered assassinations of leaders. We experienced the soul-wrenching of the civil rights movement and the mental torment of the Vietnamese war. The burning of our cities was incredible and made us fearful. We went through the nightmare of Watergate and the expulsion of a Vice President and President, and endured the foul vapors which followed. We had to grit our teeth at the hypocrisy of the great Watergate hunters in Congress, some of whom turned out to be sinners themselves.

Our softness was exposed when we got hit with a gasoline and fuel shortage, and we became worrywarts when inflation and unemployment — the old bugaboos of Western industrialized nations — afflicted us. We began to read economic indicators like a heart patient worrying over his electrocardiogram.

All this doesn't make for pleasant living or joy of life. So the President, in 1977 and on, should remind us to appreciate life more, to use a little less gasoline and a little less food and show a little more concern for the aged, the sick and the truly poor.

The President must reassure us that the quantity in life is not as good as the quality. We are the world's most wasteful people. Goods and services rush through us on their way to the world's richest dumps. In the United States, obesity is a far greater threat than starvation.

It might be difficult for the President to admonish Americans to take better care of themselves, instead of relying on doctors and hospitals to do repair jobs. And he will surely catch hell from vested interests if he points out that enormous spending does not guarantee good education.

Indeed, our educational system is sorely in need of vast restructuring. Instead of more buildings, audiovisual gimmickry and permissive courses designed to help children find a "lifestyle," we need basic education so youngsters can be equipped to think.

The President should dare to suggest that parents of schoolchildren should be issued federal vouchers to

WASHINGTON MERRY — GO — ROUND

Vernon Thompson and his people

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Vernon W. Thompson is chairman of the Federal Election Commission. It is his sworn duty to administer the election law.

Now it looks as if he may have to crack down on some of his own contributors. They formed a "People for Thompson" organization in 1974 to elect him to Congress. But, unhappily, he was unseated by Rep. Alvin Baldus, D-Wis. Thompson found new employment running the Federal Election Commission. He thought his fund-raising friends had disbanded but they turned up unexpectedly, still bearing the "People for Thompson" banner, in this campaign.

These people for Thompson, they are now for Adolph Gunderson. He is a former Thompson aide who decided to run for Congress himself. The "People for Thompson" group, accordingly, coughed up $5,000 for Gunderson. The way the law is written, unfortunately, the group must be registered as a multicandidate committee before it can contribute over $1,000 to a campaign. Having neglected this formality, the group then compounded the felony by making token $25 contributions to four different candidates. The purpose was to qualify the group as a multicandidate committee. But this, too, failed to comply with the legal technicalities. Then the group made another illegal $2,885 contribution to Gunderson.

COMMISSIONER'S REQUEST: Donald Alexander, the Internal Revenue Commissioner, is supposed to direct tax investigations of others. Yet he has repeatedly come under investigation himself. Just recently, he tried to find out whether the Treasury Dept. is keeping criminal files on his activities.

Alexander works for the Treasury Dept., which has jurisdiction over the Internal Revenue Service. Yet astonishingly, he lodged an official request, under the Freedom of Information Act, for any files the department might have on him.

The Customs Service is also a Treasury agency, which cooperates closely with the IRS. Yet Alexander submitted a separate Freedom of Information request for the Customs Service's files on him.

Under the Freedom of Information Act, American citizens are entitled to know what's in their federal files. But it is unprecedented for a high official to request his personal files from his own associates.

Perhaps it shouldn't be surprising that Alexander is apprehensive. He was accused of blocking a tax audit of Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M. Alexander also impeded another tax investigation, which involved his former law partners. He protested his innocence in both cases.

be spent on education at any one of a variety of schools — public, parochial, nonsectarian, old-fashioned private. The public school monopoly must be broken so that people of all incomes can choose the education they think works best for their children.

If blacks want to establish schools in their neighborhoods, they should be allowed to do so. Same with Catholics, Lutherans, Mennonites, Baptists, atheists, you name them.

People in a given neighborhood should be able to spend these federal vouchers on a school that they themselves created. We sorely need diversity and more parent control and involvement. Good teachers won't lose their jobs if there is a plenitude and variety of competing schools.

We need more fast trains to connect our major cities, less reliance on the car, and smaller engines for those cars. The President should chastise us for our addiction to motorism and chastise the housing industry as well for not showing initiative in solving the housing problem. Are we to become a nation of trailer camps which fold in the night after a decade?

If the President tells the whole truth on foreign policy, there will be screams of outrage. But he will do the nation a service. We must look more objectively at the Third World, especially the African, Arab and Latin American nations. They are on the move and do not want to be our enemies. Only our blindness can make them so. We can and must guarantee Israel's security and sovereignty, but we must be poised and intelligent about it.

Friend Clancy tells of work ethic 1976

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One of the big issues of the presidential campaign has been unemployment. We've had so many different figures on who is out of work and who isn't, that nobody knows what to believe any more. One of the reasons we can't get hard figures on unemployment is that there is a certain segment of the population that isn't sure whether it wants to work or not.

Sometimes this segment is included in the figures and sometimes it isn't. I discovered this the other day when I was having a drink with my friend Clancy.

Clancy has a 21-year-old son who is unemployed. As Clancy explained it to me, his son Robert is screwing up the unemployment statistics because some days he wants to work and other days he doesn't.

"This morning I went into Robert's room," Clancy said, "and he was sacked out after arriving home at four in the morning. I shook him and asked him if he was going to look for work today. He said he might in the afternoon. I told him most jobs advertised in the newspapers were taken by afternoon, and that if he was serious about wanting a job he had to get up early in the morning to find one. Was I being unreasonable?"

I told Clancy I didn't think so. My friend said, "The problem seems to be that Robert isn't certain he wants a job. He claims that most of the jobs being offered are not very interesting and require you to do things you weren't trained to do."

"What is Robert trained to do?" "Nothing," Clancy said. "He has three years of college and majored in psychology. There are very few jobs open for someone who has three years of psychology. It's not enough psychology for some personnel managers, and it's too much psychology for others."

"Did he say what he would like to do?"

"He isn't sure. He told me he would like to make a lot of money so I wouldn't bug him all the time about getting a job. I think he would like to start off as an executive vice president of a large corporation where he could get stock options and bonuses at the end of the year and have the use of the company airplane on weekends."

"Well, you have to admit he has set his sights high."

"In one way he has, but in another way he says while he wants to make a lot of money, he doesn't want to be corrupted by the system. He told me he's not going to 'sell out.'"

"That's admirable," I said. "I admire someone who wants to make a lot of money and doesn't want to 'sell out.' He hasn't told you how he plans to do this, has he?"

"He says in our system it can't be done, so why should he look for a job?"

"That three years of psychology must have had a big impact on him."

"I feel terrible about it," Clancy said, "because I know Robert is being carried on the labor statistics as being one of the seven million eight hundred thousand unemployed. It's correct that he isn't working, but if he isn't looking for a job I'm not certain that he isn't flying under false colors. There are so many sincere people trying to find jobs that it seems unfair to have someone like Robert lumped in with them. I guess there are thousands of kids like him who want to start at the top, so it's impossible for the Labor Department to know how many jobs they have to provide to make the economy strong again."

"Maybe Congress could pass a special bill for people like Robert. They could set aside 300 or 400 executive vice presidential positions that kids who dropped out of school could apply for," I suggested.

"It would be a solution," Clancy admitted, "providing the government was willing to interview them after two o'clock in the afternoon. You can't expect kids like Robert, with their educational backgrounds and upbringing, to start looking for work in the morning."

Kissinger obstructs officials from Helsinki monitoring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is barring three administration officials from a congressionally approved mission to the Soviet Union and 23 other European countries to monitor human rights under the Helsinki agreement.

Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the 15-member American Helsinki commission, charged Kissinger late Monday with "obstruction" for his decision.

The commission was set up by Congress last spring to check on whether the Soviets and their allies were carrying out the Helsinki agreement's provisions for free exchanges of ideas and people. The 15 members consist of six from both the House and Senate and three from the executive branch.

The Ford administration, cool to the idea of congressional oversight, had delayed three months in naming its representatives. When President Ford eventually named the three executive branch commissioners, he said they were being appointed as observers and that they might not participate in all actions by the commission.

The Ford administration also had objected that foreign governments might regard the commission as interfering in their domestic affairs.

The commissioners were scheduled to leave later this week for Brussels and after meetings there, separate into smaller groups for visits in Eastern Europe.

Commission sources said the three executive branch representatives had already made plans for stops in Eastern Europe when the State Department gave notice they could not go beyond Brussels. Fascell said that among the Eastern European countries the group had intended to visit, only Romania had given permission for the visit.

Kissinger accused Fascell of "partisan politics" for criticizing the decision, and the congressman, through aides, charged Kissinger with "an intemperate and unwarranted personal attack."

Leaving Friday on the 18-day tour are Sens. Patrick J. Leahy, R-Vt., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and Reps. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y.; Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J.; Sidney Yates, and Paul Simon, both D-Ill., and Fascell.

According to commission sources, the three executive-branch members had the following travel schedules: Monroe Leigh, State Department legal adviser, was to visit Czechoslovakia, Austria and Italy; James Poor, deputy assistant secretary of defense, to go to Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia; and Mansfield Sprague, counselor to the secretary of commerce, to go to the Soviet Union, Finland and Sweden.

Endorsements aid Lebanese peace chances

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prospects for a lasting truce in Lebanon's civil war improved somewhat today with the agreement by two important Christian leaders to allow the Arab peacekeeping force to police their territory.

"We do not oppose deployment of the pan-Arab police force in any Lebanese area provided this force gains the confidence of the Lebanese people and becomes a source of security," said Pierre Gemayel, the head of the Phalange party.

Former President Camille Chamoun, the leader of the National Liberal party, told President Elias Sarkis that he also would accept the peace force, a spokesman for Chamoun said.

Gemayel's son, Bashir, the commander of the Phalangist militia, and Chamoun previously vowed to bar units of the Arab force from the 800-square-mile Christian sector north and east of Beirut. They said the enclave was controlled by the legitimate government of Lebanon and could look after its own security.

Hassan Sabri Kholi, the Arab League mediator from Egypt, told a news conference a detailed program for deployment of the 30,000-man force would be finished by today "and deterrent forces from Arab countries will then start moving into specific locations within 48 hours to impose peace and disengage combatants."

An unspecified number of troops from Saudi Arabia, North and South Yemen and Sudan are expected to arrive Wednesday via Damascus to reinforce the 2,500 peacekeeping troops already here.

Syria, which has 21,000 troops in Lebanon, is expected to supply the bulk of the peace force.

Battlefronts were generally quiet Monday, but Christian Phalangist and National Liberal militiamen battled each other in Beirut's Ashrafia quarter. A Christian communique said three persons were killed, but other sources estimated the toll at 10 dead.

The cause of the clash was not known.

Nation's welfare rolls hit record low in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government said today that the nation's welfare rolls dipped last June to the lowest level in 18 months, due in part to the shrinking size of the American family.

The announcement by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said there were 11,247,679 persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children in June, the latest month for which figures are available.

That was the lowest since January 1975, when there were 11,175,000 AFDC recipients. The number of AFDC families increased during the 18 months from 3,379,559 in January 1975 to 3,554,311 last June.

Robert Fulton, administrator of HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service, said welfare rolls have been declining because of smaller families, a stronger economy, the drive to weed out ineligible recipients, and the year-old campaign to collect support payments from absent parents.

HEW said the size of the average AFDC family has decreased from 4.1 persons to 3.2 persons during the last decade.

Twins' parents take no chance

BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — Muhamad and Loretta Mattar of Beaverton will have a son named after the next president — regardless of whether Gerald Ford or Jimmy Carter wins.

The couple named their four-day-old twin boys Jimmie and Jerry.

Mattar, a native of Lebanon, said he and his wife moved here from war-torn Beirut recently because their import-export business and apartment were leveled by bombs and shells.

Rhodesians hit black positions, kill hundreds

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesian government forces returned from Mozambique today after a 36-hour invasion during which they killed hundreds of black Rhodesian guerrillas and destroyed seven guerrilla camps, security sources reported.

Casualties among the Rhodesian government forces were not known.

Mozambique's black government accused Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority regime of a "major military assault on an independent sovereign state." It said its forces were battling fiercely to expel the invaders.

The Rhodesian government said its forces were exercising the right of "hot pursuit" of guerrillas who had been attacking positions in Rhodesia.

The Zambian government newspaper accused Smith's government of trying to wreck the Geneva conference to negotiate the transfer of power from the 278,000 Rhodesian whites to the 6.4 million blacks.

It was the second major Rhodesian attack inside Mozambique this year. The first was made in August, after mortar fire from Mozambique killed four white Rhodesian soldiers. Smith's government said its raiders killed 300 guerrillas, 30 Mozambican soldiers and 10 civilians. The government of Mozambique claimed at least 618 persons were killed and said they were defenseless civilian men, women and children.

Some 10,000 black Rhodesian guerrillas are believed to be operating from bases just across the 800-mile border between Rhodesia and the former Portuguese territory on the southeast coast of Africa. The Rhodesian government announced Monday that at least 2,766 persons have been killed in nearly four years of fighting, including 1,995 guerrillas, 179 black and white Rhodesian soldiers, 539 black civilians and 53 white civilians.

African leader ousted Monday

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — President Michel Micombero of the tiny central African republic of Burundi was overthrown in a military coup Monday, a rebel broadcast claimed today.

The broadcast, by a station calling itself the Voice of Burundi Revolution, did not identify the leader of the coup.

Micombero, a member of the minority ruling Tutsi tribe, took power 10 years ago, replacing a Tutsi monarchy with a Tutsi republic.

The majority Hutu tribe attempted to take over in 1972 but failed, and United Nations officials reported that the Tutsis massacred at least 80,000 Hutus. Other reports said between 100,000 and 150,000 were killed.

A German colony before World War I, land-locked Burundi was administered by Belgium from 1919 to 1962. Surrounded by Zaire, Rwanda and Tanzania, it has an area of 10,747 square miles, or about half the size of Lake Michigan, and a population estimated at 3.8 million.

Rainbow order vetoes all Iowa chapters after black girl joins

By VAL CORLEY
Associated Press Writer
INDIANOLA, Iowa (AP) — The International Order of the Rainbow, a service organization for young girls, canceled the charters of all 136 Iowa chapters after one of them voted to admit a girl whose mother is black.

"It hit us like a bolt out of the blue," said Carol Holdsworth, grand deputy for Rainbow assemblies in an area of south central Iowa that includes Indianola.

She and other Rainbow officials said they learned Monday that the order had expelled Iowa's assemblies, with a membership of 5,000 girls, because the Indianola branch voted in October to admit Michelle Palmer, 12.

"The kids balloted and they wanted Michelle," said Mrs. Holdsworth. "They did the right thing."

Michelle's father, Dwaine Palmer, who is white, said he was "stunned by the whole thing. Nothing like this has happened to us before."

Helen Kline, supreme inspector of the Rainbow Order in Iowa, said the revocation was ordered by the supreme assembly of the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls in accordance with a 54-year-old "unwritten law" prohibiting blacks from becoming members.

"I can't get over it — it's just tragic," said Mrs. Kline, of Málvern.

Asked whether she considered that the revocation implied a policy of racial discrimination, Mrs. Kline said, "We call it selective membership."

The Rainbow organization, which includes preteen and high school-age girls, is affiliated with the Masons and its women's auxiliary, the Order of the Eastern Star.

At the organization's headquarters in McAlester, Okla., Herbert Groat, supreme inspector of the Rainbow Girls, said he had no comment on the matter.

The head of the Iowa Masonic organization issued a statement repudiating the canceling of the charters.

"From this date on, no Rainbow assembly which is affiliated with the international supreme council will be permitted to use the facilities of any Masonic Lodge under our jurisdiction," said W. Ross McCulla, grand master of Masons in Iowa.

McCulla, of Brooklyn, said, "The Grand Lodge of Iowa has a policy of nondiscrimination by reason of race, creed, color or national origin."

Newcomers won't affect basic Senate makeup

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite prospects of a dozen or so newcomers, the party line-up in the Senate is expected to be little changed by today's elections.

Democrats are confident they will maintain, and possibly even increase slightly, their majority in the 95th Congress that will convene Jan. 4.

Republican campaign aides foresee no chance of capturing control of the Senate, saying they doubt if they can make a net pickup of more than two seats.

Democrats now outnumber Republicans in the Senate 62-38, counting Independent Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia with the Democrats and Conservative Republican James L. Buckley of New York in the GOP column.

Byrd, who votes with the Democrats on the organization of the Senate, is expected to win re-election. But Buckley is one of the incumbents the Democrats are counting on unseating.

Buckley's Democratic opponent is Daniel Patrick Moynihan, former ambassador to the United Nations. Virginia Republicans put up no candidate against Byrd, but retired Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, former chief of naval operations, is running against him as a Democrat.

Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, seeking a fourth term, is the Democratic incumbent GOP strategists say they are most confident of defeating. His Republican opponent is former Indianapolis Mayor Richard G. Lugar.

Republican spokesmen also predicted their candidate in Utah, 42-year-old trial lawyer Orrin G. Hatch, would unseat Sen. Frank Moss, another Democratic veteran running for a fourth term.

In addition, Republicans express confidence they will pick up the seats of Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who are retiring.

However, the Democrats expect to win the seats of retiring Sens. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., and Hiram-L. Fong, R-Hawaii, and to unseat Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., as well as Buckley.

Altogether eight senators in the present Congress are retiring, including Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Democrats say they expect to hold Mansfield's seat, but the rival candidates for Scott's seat, Reps. William Green, a Democrat, and H. John Heinz III, a Republican, were regarded as running a close race.

Other tight races also were seen in California, New Mexico, Nebraska, Tennessee and Ohio.

Republicans said they had hopes of unseating Sens. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., and Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.

Democrats likely to keep decisive House control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have a fast start toward keeping decisive control of the House: 44 of them were virtually elected the moment the polls opened today because they have no major opposition.

Only six Republicans had no major opposition.

Democrats control the current Congress 2-1, with 290 seats to the Republicans' 145. The Democrats appeared certain to keep 220 of those seats in today's election and were favored to win another 60 or so.

But Democratic campaign officials concede that Republicans are likely to win back some of the 43 seats they lost in 1974 because of Watergate. The GOP could win up to 15, the Democrats say, if the voter turnout is low.

Republicans hope for more but consider 15 their most realistic bet.

Some of the most interesting races to watch tonight:

—House Ethics Committee Chairman John J. Flynt's rematch with Republican challenger Newt Gingrich, rated a toss up in Atlanta.

—Ohio Democrat Thomas L. Ashley's effort to keep his seat and stay in line to become chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee.

—Kansas Democrat Martha Keys' effort to win re-election against allegations that her divorce and remarriage to Indiana Democrat Andrew Jacobs raises questions about her area loyalty. She calls those allegations sexist, saying no such question is raised against Jacobs.

—Democrats' efforts to unseat three veteran Michigan Republicans

—Reps. Elford Cederberg, Philip Ruppe and Garry Brown. All three are favored to win, but not as easily as they have before.

Utah Democrat Allan T. Howe is expected by Democrats and Republicans to lose because of his two convictions of soliciting sex from police decoy-prostitutes.

But allegations of sexual or financial misconduct do not appear to have hurt more than a dozen other House candidates.

Even if the Republican-Democrat lineup stays about the same, today's election will change the House's philosophical tone somewhat by installing a second huge crop of freshmen.

There will be at least 53 freshmen because of a record number of retirements. Upsets of present congressmen could boost the number of freshmen close to the 92 freshmen elected in 1974.

Voters opting for 14 governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in 14 states are choosing governors and Democrats are almost certain to retain their present hold on executive mansions around the country by a margin of nearly 3 to 1.

In Delaware, there is a duPont running; in West Virginia, a Rockefeller is favored, and Illinois is a state in which the gubernatorial race has complicated the presidential election.

Otherwise, few of the candidates are well known nationally. In four states incumbents seem destined for re-election. In Washington and Vermont, the Democratic candidates are both women.

There are currently 36 Democratic governors, 13 Republicans and one independent. In today's elections, Republicans are favored to win Illinois, Delaware, Utah, Indiana and Missouri. Democrats are given the edge in North Carolina, West Virginia, Arkansas, North Dakota and Rhode Island.

In Illinois, Democrat Michael J. Howlett, the handpicked candidate of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, is matched against Republican James R. Thompson, a former U.S. attorney in Chicago who successfully prosecuted several Daley aides on corruption charges. Thompson is heavily favored.

In Washington state, Democrat Dixy Lee Ray, 61, a former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, won one of the year's tightest gubernatorial primaries and is now involved in a close race with GOP candidate John Spellman, the choice of popular Gov. Daniel J. Evans, who is retiring after 12 years in office.

In Vermont, Stella B. Hackel, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, is a conservative state treasurer who won an upset in the primaries, and now faces State Rep. Richard A. Snelling. The race is close, complicated by the entry of Liberty Union candidate Bernard J. Sanders.

In West Virginia, Democrat Jay D. Rockefeller is taking his second shot at the governor's mansion and this time is expected to defeat Republican Cecil H. Underwood, a former governor who has accused Rockefeller of being a freespending outsider. Rockefeller, a member of the famous Rockefeller family, moved to the state 12 years ago as an antipovtry worker.

Republican U.S. Rep. Pierre S. duPont has sought to shed the corporate image identified with his name and is favored to defeat incumbent Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt, whose administration has been troubled by repeated budget deficits.

Truck-weight station clucks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Truckers never mistake Hugh Fletcher's truck-weighting station for any other. It's the only one that clucks.

"I didn't get the chickens on purpose," says Fletcher, 59, who has nine in a fenced area behind the scales. "The chickens fly off poultry trucks as the trucks pull away from the scales. I holler at the drivers, but they never hear me. Sometimes the chickens are injured falling from the trucks. I nurse them back to health."

Fletcher weighs trucks carrying not only chickens but crushed automobiles, watermelons and tires among other things.

AT WIT'S END

Plot poses problems

By ERMA BOMBECK

According to my mail, people all over the country who have never won so much as a Reader's Digest Sweepstakes or a Pillsbury Bake-off have finally hit it lucky.

They pick up their phones and a husky-voiced lady informs them they have just won a cemetery plot. Choked up at the idea of being an instant landowner, they cannot see the ramifications of the offer.

What begins as a simple family discussion over your eternal future ends up as a shout-off in the Domestic Olympics.

Here's what happened to one couple in Florida. According to Phyllis, when she told her husband Cecil they had won a plot he said, "You can have it."

"What's that supposed to mean..." she asked. "Where are you going to be buried..."

"Not where," he said smugly, "but when."

"I'm not surprised," she snorted. "You never go anyplace with me. I thought at least we could be buried together... maybe even be cremated and have our ashes intermingled in the same urn."

"I do not plan on spending my eternity resting ash to ash with anyone. Besides, knowing your mother and her aversion to dust, we'd get thrown out the first week with the newspapers. I swear she throws out newspapers with the rubber bands still on them."

"I do not believe you are saying these things," said Phyllis, weeping softly into her handkerchief.

"Why are you so upset..." he asked. "IT'S YOUR ATTITUDE. It's going to be just like Christmas eve, isn't it?"

He put down his paper. "You've lost me, Phyllis. WHAT is going to be like Christmas eve?"

"My funeral. You're going to whip out at the last minute and throw something together. If Revco doesn't have it, I'll go without it."

"You want me to shop..."

"There are a lot of options. There's the talking tombstone, for example, with a picture on it."

"You're putting me on, Phyllis. Say you're putting me on."

"I am not putting you on. They have them with recordings and a picture of your loved one."

"If you think I'm paying good money to stand in front of a stone and listen to a recording of your nagging 'Cecil, take out the garbage before it smells, you're crazy."

"Let these words go forth around the land, Cecil Hardheart, if you put on my stone that picture of me taken last year in Florida when I was sick as a dog on that fishing boat, you'd better hope you win a cemetery plot of your own."

Sometimes, even when you win, you lose.

Exercise adds life

There is much truth in the old expression, "exercise may not add years to your life, it will add life to your years." There is no scientific proof at this time that exercise alone will make you live longer. It is an accepted fact that appropriate exercise is one factor in helping you to have a healthier life. Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education-aging specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

family, so what should I do?—BOILING OVER: Ask your future mother-in-law to urge Delia to either leave her baby home or stay home with it. And request that she leave your name out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that may not seem like much to you, but it's more than enough for me.

I am a 17-year-old girl, weigh 130 pounds and am 6 feet tall. That's my problem. I'm just too tall.

I have never had a boyfriend, and that's what I really want.

Friends, both girls and boys, say I have a pretty face and a beaming personality, and they are forever trying to fix me up with dates, but it's always just a one-night thing.

My mother says that one day the right man will come along, but I'm doubtful. Can you give me some tips on how a tall girl can get steady male companionship? I'm really desperate.—TALL AND LONELY

DEAR TALL: Lift up your chin, throw back your shoulders and think of yourself as a beautiful, long-stemmed model. Keep a smile on your beaming face, forget about yourself and concentrate on the other person.

Don't feel sorry for yourself, don't slouch, and NEVER mention your height. Show a genuine interest in fellows who are shorter than you. (Good things sometimes come in small packages.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY
Smorgasbord is distasteful

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I belong to a gourmet cooking club that meets once a month. We are six middle-aged married couples who enjoy learning how to prepare foods of the various foreign countries.

Recently, the conversation has turned more and more to sex, which has made my husband and me very uncomfortable. One couple keeps talking about "group sex." At first I thought they were kidding, but now I'm not so sure.

Last evening we learned how to make a typical Mexican meal, and the subject got around to "hot stuff," and they were back on sex again. Several other couples seemed interested in the group-sex idea.

Abby, we aren't prudes, but we couldn't remain in the club if they ever went for group sex.

I'm afraid if they put it to a vote, we'd be outvoted. Then what would we do?—OLD-FASHIONED COUPLE

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: Resign. Tell them their kind of smorgasbord doesn't suit your taste.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon at a beautiful, formal church wedding, but something came up yesterday that disturbs me terribly.

My future mother-in-law told me that Delia, my future sister-in-law, who is coming in town for the wedding, plans to nurse her 4-month-old baby during the wedding ceremony!

The baby's feeding time is the same hour as the ceremony, which Delia doesn't want to miss, and she feels she just can't skip her baby's feeding.

I don't want any babes in arms at my wedding, Abby. They could cry and carry on and ruin the wedding. I've seen it happen. And I surely don't want anyone to nurse her baby during my ceremony!

Delia is very obese and likes to draw attention to herself. I hate to get off on the wrong foot with my fiancée's

Q. What is hydrotherapy?

A. Hydrotherapy is a method for treating diseases by using water. Doctors often prescribe various kinds of baths, showers and sprays with water of various temperatures. These may be applied to the surface of the body or directly into the body cavities. Exercises in water help patients regain strength in weak or partly paralyzed muscles.

See your doctor first, then bring your prescription to the courteous pharmacist at...

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite some obstacles that are in the path of your desires, you are able to enter in some new lines of activity that can be very beneficial to you in the long run. However, it is necessary that you consider well the various angles and responsibilities connected with it so you don't make mistakes later on.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Think over what you really want out of life and the best means to attain it. Evening is especially fine for social pleasures, advancements.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Find the right way to gain the favor of higher-ups and state your true position to them. Give more attention to a loved one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Enjoy persons who like and admire you. Help them gain their personal aims. You can advance appreciably via the social ladder.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Handle those problems connected with career and public work carefully and efficiently. Improve credit. Avoid the social tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Think over how best to put some new plan of action in operation intelligently and you gain your goals. A new contact has good ideas but you have to ask for them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Study your responsibilities well and find the best means of discharging them. Expend time and energy wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Meet with a clever partner and get that new project working in a most intelligent and efficient way. Take time for civic work.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You have an important job to do so plan it well before you tackle it. Listen to what co-workers have to suggest and gain their cooperation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Participate in recreational activities you enjoy during spare time. Put your special talents to work that can lead to advancement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take care of family affairs that are difficult at this time. A plan you have been considering could be finalized today if you use more practical methods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18): Use ingenuity in handling regular duties and you get good results, particularly where selling is concerned. You are thinking cleverly and can be very convincing.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Concentrate on increasing your income so that you need not feel lack and can meet costs easily. Make needed repairs to property.

Judge stops contempt try on Yarbrough

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge has denied a motion to hold Texas Supreme Court nominee Donald B. Yarbrough in contempt of court in connection with a civil lawsuit.

State District Court Judge Wyatt Heard refused to grant the motion Monday holding Yarbrough in contempt for allegedly failing to turn over documents to L. C. Butler, a former client.

Heard ruled that Yarbrough had complied with a May court order and said he did not see "a significant amount of evidence to hold anyone in contempt."

Butler had contended Yarbrough withheld documents from him after he had requested them several times.

Yarbrough, the Democratic nominee for the state supreme court, has no Republican opposition in today's general election.

However, he faces two write-in candidates, Tom Loran, Houston lawyer, and State District Court Judge Sam Houston of Denton.

Yarbrough declined comment to newsmen who tried to get his reaction to the contempt ruling.

Bates bribery trial begins

HOUSTON (AP) — Testimony began today in the trial of State District Court Judge Garth Bates, charged with accepting a $59,000 bribe after promising a defendant would not be sent to prison.

A jury of six men and six women was selected Monday in the court of visiting Judge John Barron of Bryan.

Bates, 51, has pleaded innocent and claimed he was framed by two Houston police detectives.

He stepped down from the 174th District Court bench after being indicted July 16 and released under a $118,000 bond.

The indictment charges Bates accepted the bribe through an associate, Ed Jay Riklin, 45, in return for a promise not to send Nukie Fontenot, 38, a pawnbroker, to prison.

Fontenot had been scheduled to go on trial Aug. 18 in Bates' court on a robbery charge.

Riklin was indicted with Bates. Fontenot was not indicted.

Bates has no Republican opposition for a new four-year term in today's general election but Wes Hooker, 35, a Houston lawyer, conducted a write-in campaign for the office.

Fontenot testified in a pretrial hearing that he allowed police to plant a microphone in a false plaster arm cast to monitor conversations between him and Riklin.

Defense lawyers Joe Reynolds and Marvin Teague argued unsuccessfully against allowing tape recordings of those conversations as evidence in the case.

During the hearing Joe Reynolds said he had listened to 23 taped recordings in the case.

Reynolds said the two detectives helped frame Bates and at one point went to Fontenot and told him: "We want something big out of you, Nukie. We want you to get us a judge. That is the only way you are going to get out of that burglary rap."

Reynolds did not say during the hearing why anyone would want to frame Bates.

Texas voting rise foreseen

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston television station said Monday a survey indicates that 55 to 58 per cent of Texas' eligible voters, or about 3,800,000 persons, will cast ballots in the state in today's presidential election.

Television Station KTRK commissioned the survey which was conducted by Staples & Staff Inc., a Houston firm which specializes in surveys.

John Staples, head of the firm, said the survey also showed 56 per cent of the eligible voters in Harris County will vote.

This would be a turnout in the county of about 456,000.

If the 3.8 million total prediction for the state holds up it would mean 350,000 more than voted in 1972.

The survey gave three reasons for the higher than originally expected turnout for the state—because both presidential candidates spent a "disproportionate" amount of time in Texas during the week before the election; because other polls show the race to be a toss-up in Texas; and those interviewed indicated they did listen to the presidential debates and found "significant" differences in the two candidates' positions.

Staples said the survey for the state was based on surveys taken here and in other parts of the state.

For the Harris County survey, he said, 102 adults were interviewed by telephone between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. Sunday night.

The group included 36 per cent in the 18-34 age group, 27 per cent in the 35-49 age group and 37 per cent in the 50 and older age group.

Charges were dropped against Bill Gene Marcy, 56; Jerry Robert Parker, 47; Billy Ray Davenport, 47; Arthur James Taute, 53; and Billy James Westbrook, 45.

They were accused in the indictment of accepting bribes from 1970 to 1974 to approve ships ready to receive grain.

Voting wrongs alleged

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A Brownsville election official says duplicate absentee ballots were mailed to some persons in Cameron County, allowing them to vote twice. The absentee balloting irregularities were reported to the U.S. attorney's office in Brownsville Monday by local Republican party Chairman Bill Perrin. Perrin said he discovered the irregularities while putting absentee voters in alphabetical order by precincts. "We got the list of absentee ballots sent out and put them in order so we can strike them from our get-out-and-vote telephone campaign," Perrin said. "By doing this, you automatically run into persons that are on the list more than once."

BRIDGE

Keep surface calm but work underneath

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's not a bad idea to behave like a duck: keep calm and unruffled on the surface, but paddle like the devil underneath. At the bridge table, the duck is equally admirable.

West dealer Neither side vulnerable NORTH: A Q, 8, K J 9 7 4, A K J 4 3. WEST: K 8 4 3 2, J 9. EAST: J 10 6, A K 10 7 6 5. SOUTH: 9 7 5, Q 4 3 2, Q 2, Q 9 5 2. West North East South Pass 1, Pass 3, Pass 3 NT, All Pass. Opening lead - J.

When today's hand was played at the recent national tournament in Salt Lake City, East executed a duck at the first trick (by playing a low card instead of winning the trick). It is the sort of good play you'd expect from Henry Francis, once a leading Boston expert and now an official of the American Contract Bridge League in Memphis.

If East took the first heart trick he could get his two top hearts, but his hand would then be dead and South would easily win nine or ten tricks. If South took the first heart with the queen, West would get in with the ace of diamonds and would lead his remaining heart. East would then defeat the contract with the rest of his long suit.

DUCK MEETS DUCK As it happened, Frank Castillo, of Portland, Ore., showed what happened when one duck meets another. As South, Castillo ducked the first trick.

Now the defenders could get three hearts and a diamond; but East could not run the hearts, and South was sure of his contract.

DAILY QUESTION Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S975; H432; DQ2; CQ952. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart. Some experts will respond with one of your four-card suit, no matter how weak. Most experts avoid a response in a hopelessly weak four-carder. Almost all agree that a four-card suit headed by the queen is quite strong enough for a response.

To keep ants out of the house, brush No-Roach across window frames and door sills. Ants will not cross the coating. Use No-Roach with confidence.

No-Roach kills all crawling insects

Does she or doesn't she? Chances are she does...have roaches, ants, and other crawling pests in her home. But let everyone, she hates to admit it. Don't be embarrassed, "Mrs. Homemaker," these pests have been with us since prehistoric times, and all we can do is rely on science to provide ways to prevent and destroy them. There are many products which offer temporary solutions but only one which offers protection 24 hours a day for months and months.

Johnston's No-Roach (comes in an amber bottle with a free brush attached) is different, and it is different for many reasons. No-Roach eliminates the need for frequent application of messy, unsafe sprays and powders, and No-Roach is easy to use. Simply brush this odorless, colorless liquid around baseboards, inside cabinet doors and on shelves. Use Johnston's No-Roach in bathrooms and everywhere else cockroaches may breed. No-Roach dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills roaches, ants, spiders, silverfish and all other crawling insects, and best of all it continues to kill effectively for months.

Bureaucrats ponder future

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Federal bureaucrats around the Washington area are suffering the traditional pre-election anguish, perhaps more so this year because the bureaucracy itself has been a star villain in the campaign rhetoric of both presidential candidates. "I'm under tremendous pressure and anxiety," said William Warfield, a deputy assistant at the Department of Housing and Urban Development. "I can't sleep at night. I've had three recurring nightmares where I saw Jimmy Carter in the Oval office."

Warfield is one of an estimated 2,200 Republican political appointees in government agencies who could lose their jobs to 2,200 new Democratic appointees, or even to a "new all-Ford team." "I should have planned ahead," Warfield said. Formerly employed as a salesman and a coach, he has a wife and two children. "I guess I can sell flowers outside the HUD Building. That seems fairly lucrative. We might all be doing that. You can see the parachutes floating down all over the place. It really is scary."

Joel Segall, a deputy undersecretary in the Labor Department, faces the prospect of losing what he is convinced is "the best job in government" if Carter wins. Also the father of two, he came to Washington six years ago from the University of Chicago, intending to stay only one year. Now he is reluctant to uproot his family and return to academia.

"There is a certain amount of anxiety in the family," he said, "but I expect Mr. Ford to win." Some federal workers have decided to leave no matter who wins, and others have already resigned, leaving subordinates to fill the vacancies temporarily.

"I'm an 'acting' deputy special assistant," said Vera Hirschberg, at the Treasury Department. "My boss is an 'acting' special assistant. There is a lot of 'acting' throughout the government these days."

According to watchful civil servants, many political appointees have been busy typing resumes, calling up old friends in the private sector, quietly making preparations to find other work in January if necessary. Other political appointees, they say, have tried to dive into civil service jobs which are protected against change by a new administration - and "burrow into the bureaucracy," a charge that has been leveled in the past at appointees of both major parties. A spokesman for the Civil Service Commission maintains that "political appointees must compete for those jobs on the basis of merit, just like anyone else."

Shipping stress studied

WASHINGTON (AP) - A joint effort to find out more about shipping stress on cattle moved long distances has been launched by federal, state and industry interests.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that one of the main goals will be to study the causes and effects of stress on young feeder cattle during the two to four weeks involved in their weaning, shipping and reestablishment in new surroundings.

Officials said shipping stress causes a variety of diseases, especially respiratory afflictions among young feeder calves moved from southeastern U.S. farms through feedlots and then to slaughter. Stress and related diseases cause an estimated $500 million loss annually to the cattle industry.

The department said the research project will require at least three years for just the first phase and will involve studies of an estimated 10,000 cattle.

Colts kick oil out of Houston

Baltimore's Lydell Mitchell, 26, is pulled to the ground by Houston's Ted Washington after gaining a first down against the Oilers Monday night in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Motivation takes many forms. For Joe Ehrmann, it was the presence of national television. For John Dutton, it was the memory of a rookie season best forgotten. And for Lydell Mitchell, it was the fact that it was "a big game."

Whatever turned them on, Ehrmann, Dutton, Mitchell and the rest of the Baltimore Colts were ready for Monday night's nationally televised game against Houston, and the Oilers could do nothing to dampen the spirit.

THE COLTS, playing in their first Monday night National Football League game in four years, turned Houston turnovers into early touchdowns and held the Oilers' explosive offense in check for a 38-14 victory.

The triumph was the Colts' fifth in a row and gave them a 7-1 record and a two-game lead over New England in the American Conference East. Houston now is 4-4 after losing its third consecutive game.

"We were high," said Ehrmann, who had four tackles and a quarterback sack from his right defensive tackle position. "A lot of it was team pride; not a feeling that we had been slighted by TV, but we just had the chance to say, 'Hey, here we are.'"

THE COLTS gave up 190 net yards to Houston, but most of them came in two late touchdown drives. At the half, the Oilers had minus-seven yards passing and just 54 yards total offense.

Dutton, the third-year defensive end who also had one of the Colts' six sacks, agreed that TV helped get the team up for Houston. But for himself, Dutton added, it was the lingering image of a 2-12 record his rookie year with Baltimore that provided the boost.

"I've been there (with a loser) and I don't ever want to go back," he said. "It's a force that keeps us all working very, very hard. It was a learning experience, I guess, but I don't want to relive it."

MITCHELL, whose 136 yards pushed his AFC-leading total to 796, said he wasn't thinking that much about national exposure or atoning for past shortcomings when he took the field Monday night.

"It was a big game, that's all," he said. "In a game like that, all you have to do is wire me up, let me out there and I'm ready to play."

"It used to be I wasn't sure of myself in comparison to other backs. Now, I seriously consider myself the No. 1 back in football."

The Colts' defense forced two key turnovers early, first recovering a Ronnie Coleman fumble at the Houston 13, then intercepting a halfback option pass by Coleman at the Oilers' 22.

BOTH TIMES Baltimore followed with touchdowns, the first by Roosevelt Leaks on a four-yard run and the second by Don McCauley on a one-yard plunge. Leaks and McCauley each finished with two TDs.

The lead swelled to 21-0 by halftime and grew to 31-0 by early in the fourth quarter when Baltimore Coach Ted Marchbroda pulled his regulars.

Houston Coach Bum Phillips also pulled one of his starters early, but his decision to bench Dan Pastorini resulted from what the quarterback called "a disciplinary thing." Neither man would discuss specifics of the incident.

Tech's Raiders continue climb

Unbeaten Texas Tech continued its steady climb in The Associated Press' college football ratings today, moving up to fifth place behind holders Michigan, Pitt, UCLA and Southern California.

The Red Raiders of Tech were unranked in the preseason AP poll and did not crack the Top Twenty until the second week. However, in the last seven weeks they have climbed from 20th to 17th, 15th, ninth, eighth, sixth and now fifth. Tech boasts a 6-0 record following Saturday's 31-28 triumph over Texas.

THE TOP four spots are filled by the same teams for the second week in a row. Michigan, which has been No. 1 during the entire regular campaign after standing second to Nebraska in the preseason ratings, received 57 first-place votes and 1,228 of a possible 1,240 points after raising its record to 8-0 with a 45-0 rout of Minnesota.

Pitt, a 23-13 winner over Syracuse, received the other five first-place ballots and 1,078 points. Last week, Michigan's point lead was 1,184-1,068.

UCLA DOWNED Washington 30-21 and received 976 points while Southern Cal turned back California and totaled 758 points. Texas received 703 points in rising to fifth. The Red Raiders replaced Maryland, which turned back Kentucky 24-14 but slipped from fifth to sixth with 668 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Georgia, Ohio State, Nebraska—which remained seventh, eighth and ninth—and Florida, up from 12th after a 24-19 decision over Auburn. Missouri, No. 10 a week ago, dropped to 16th following a 20-19 loss to Oklahoma State.

THE SECOND Ten consists of Notre Dame, Florida, Oklahoma State, Colorado, Alabama, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas A&M, Houston and Texas.

The Top Twenty includes five teams from the Big Eight and five from the Southwest Conference.

Last week's Second Ten consisted of Notre Dame, Florida, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma State, Alabama, Mississippi State, Colorado and Cincinnati.

Mississippi State dropped out of the rankings following a 34-17 loss to Alabama while Cincinnati disappeared after bowing to Georgia 31-17. Meanwhile, Texas A&M returned after a three-week absence by crushing Southern Methodist 36-0 while Houston reappeared following a one-week hiatus with a 49-21 thumping of Texas Christian.

Mark Hayes captures Pensacola title

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Mark Hayes won the struggle for first place while Bob Murphy won an invisible battle, invisible but perhaps the most important one in pro golf.

Hayes, who had had nothing but trouble for two months, found the combination for a five-under-par 66 and his second victory of the season, a two-stroke triumph Monday in the rain-delayed final round of the $125,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

"This year was the first time I've been exempt—and that's the most important thing on the tour," Hayes said. "I really didn't know what to expect, but I certainly didn't expect to win two tournaments and $151,000."

"I could have used my Ryder Cup exemption for most of the year, but making the top 60 is a matter of pride with me,"

Murphy said. "I haven't missed it yet and I didn't want to this time."

HAYES, A quiet, soft-spoken, self-contained young man, had won most of his money—and his lone title—early in the season, culminated by his first tour title in the Byron Nelson Classic. But he came into this event with a background of problems.

"I'd missed the cut in three of the last four tournaments I'd played," he said. "I was really playing very, very poorly. I was beginning to wonder what was happening. I was experimenting with my swing, with my clubs, with everything."

"I finally got a set of clubs that I'm comfortable with and just this week I started using an old putter I'd used once before."

"BUT I still didn't think I was playing well enough to win. To win you have to have a swing that will stand up under pressure and I just didn't have that

It looks like the battle between Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter will be decided long before the six area football district races. At this time, it's just too close to call.

With only two weeks of play left in area grid circles, there is not one team confident enough to start printing playoff tickets. "Running scared" might be the best term.

District 6-A, 5-A and 2-AAA became a four team scramble. So 16 teams are still in the running for a meager six playoff berths.

For all practical purposes, Marfa eliminated Van Horn from the 6-A running Friday with a 28-0 win, but Rankin is still in the way of Marfa after beating Wink by the same score.

UNDEFEATED RANKIN got four touchdowns from Hilton Luckie to down the Wildcats and to move to 8-0 on the year.

Mason is 4-0. Reagan County still has a chance at Mason, so that loop could also end up in a three-way tie.

DISTRICT 7-AA, which is a small four-team loop, opened district play Friday with Ozona and Kermit taking the league lead.

Ozona got past defending 7-AA champion Crane, 13-0, and remained undefeated on the year. Kermit, the preseason favorite, won a narrow 17-14 decision over Sadora.

PECOS, WHO has won or shared the 2-AAA title the last four years fell from the race with their second straight loss.

District 3-AAA is still a three-team race even though undefeated San Angelo Lake View holds the inside track. Lake View is 4-0 and enjoyed the night off Friday, but Lamesa and Lubbock Dunbar both own 3-1 records.

The Wall Hawks managed to keep slim hopes of a 9-A playoff berth when they downed the Reagan County Owls, 13-7.

remain a question mark with all four teams still a playoff possibility. More will be known after next week when the winners meet winners and losers meet losers.

It is a little strange that no team has captured a district title outright by this date since there are still five undefeated teams left in the area.

Maryland Terps join feud with Big Eight coaches

HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Hanging out the College Football Wash:

It seems as though the Big Eight is always mad at someone...or someone is always mad at the Big Eight.

The latest feud pits the Big Eight against Maryland, which is peeved at comments from Big Eight coaches last week about its supposedly weak schedule.

"That's typical Big Eight jargon," Maryland quarterback Mark Manges snapped after the Terrapins beat Kentucky 24-14 for their 12th victory in a row, including a 13-0 Gator Bowl triumph over Florida last season.

"Last season they said they'd wipe up everybody in the bowls and they went 1-3. If we wind up playing a Big Eight team, we'll show them."

All Coach Jerry Claiborne will say about the criticism and the rankings—Maryland is No. 6, its seventh straight week in the Top Ten—is that "at the end of the season, that will take care of itself."

But Kentucky's Fran Curci says: "There are not many better teams than Maryland. On any given weekend they can beat anybody."

Michigan, Pitt, Texas Tech and Maryland are all unbeaten and untied. So why is Michigan No. 1, Pitt No. 2, Texas Tech No. 5 and Maryland No. 6?

One reason is that Michigan began the season No. 2, Pitt No. 9, Maryland No. 12 and Texas Tech No. nothing. "There's not a lot we can do about it," says Pitt Coach Johnny Majors. "There are some things you can control...and some things you can't. But when (quarterback) Matt Cavanaugh is well, I think we can play with Michigan on a day-to-day basis."

Now that Colorado State has knocked off Western Athletic Conference front-runner Wyoming, Coach Sark Arslanian is going to give the Cowboys all the help he can.

"The first time we played up there in Laramie," Arslanian said, "they beat us 35-3 and kind of rubbed it in. I vowed we'd never lose again to Wyoming as long as I was coach." And the Rams haven't. But that's all over and done with...for 1978.

"We're going to try to help them out now," adds Arslanian, who still has to play challenging Arizona. "I'd like to see Wyoming go to the Fiesta Bowl."

When Florida demolished Houston 49-14 back in September, Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said it would be a national disgrace if the Gators ever lost another game.

Thus far, they haven't. But Coach Doug Dickey says Yeoman probably "got carried away with our exploits that night. Since then, we've played just well enough to beat everyone we've played."

Since then, the Gators have aged Dickey a few years, downing Mississippi State by four, LSU by five, Florida State by seven, Tennessee by two and Auburn by five. This week, it's a Southeastern Conference showdown with Georgia in Jacksonville.

"Georgia is the best team we've played," says Dickey. "They've accomplished more statistically and they're higher in the rankings."

Alabama hit Mississippi State with a trick play in whipping the Bulldogs 34-17. Quarterback Jeff Rutledge handed off to halfback Tony Nathan, who pitched it back to Rutledge, who connected with end Ozzie Newsome on a 62-yard touchdown play.

"We used to use it all the time when Joe Namath was here," Bear Bryant remembers.

When the Syracuse team returned home from Pittsburgh Saturday night, Coach Frank Maloney and quarterback Bill Hurley went over to the Onondaga County War Memorial to meet President Ford, whose campaign trail had brought him to town.

Pursley takes second place

PECOS—Alan Pursley, assistant pro at the Midland Country Club, took second place in the third annual Pecos Pro-Am golf tournament here over the weekend.

Pursley's 138 was one stroke behind winner Lloyd Moody of Bowie. Tom Sweeney of Burnet was third with a 142.

Pursley had rounds of 70 and 68 on the par 71 course.

Pro grid game sours Lou Saban

CINCINNATI (AP)— Lou Saban needed to speak frankly and quickly.

He knew even before the matter was brought up Monday that the major question surrounding his acceptance of the job as athletic director at the University of Cincinnati was, "How long would he stay?"

Saban's answer was, "As long as they'll have me."

Would he be interested in a professional offer should one come along?

There was precedent for the question. In 1966 Saban quit the Buffalo Bills to take the head coaching job at Maryland. He signed a five-year contract there, but left after one season to become head coach of the Denver Broncos.

"Many times a coach has to make changes and there are always some gripes," said Saban. "I've always tried to examine all the evidence. My decisions haven't always been popular, but I've always gone ahead. You can't look back, because it's too late."

"I still had five years to go on my Buffalo contract, but I didn't want it. I've been in search of such a position for the last three years, a position in which I could fit."

Saban said he had stopped enjoying it in the professional ranks, and in fact admitted he had gotten a "little soured" by the time he resigned from the Bills job last month.

The 55-year-old Saban has had a long association with the pros. He coached the original American Football League Boston Patriots, was with Buffalo twice and spent five years with the Denver Broncos.

He noted what he termed the "tough decisions" faced by today's professionals, such as Buffalo's star running back O.J. Simpson, who agreed to play after a tough negotiating period.

"They must decide whether to stand by basic principle or to take financial security," Saban said. "Now the courts are involved. There are a whole conglomerate of things which are having a tremendous impact on the game."

Bostick leaves SMU

DALLAS (AP)— Senior linebacker David Bostick quit the Southern Methodist football team Monday after he was informed he was being demoted to the second-string, Coach Ron Meyer announced.

"Knee and thumb injuries had affected his performance and we moved other personnel ahead of him," said Meyer. "It was basically David's decision. He has been nicked up and decided he wanted to get well and make a career in baseball."

Meyer said Bostick's decision shouldn't "be blown out of proportion. He was hurt we were not doing better and dejected with himself."

Bostick, who was recruited by former SMU Coach Dave Smith, did not start last Saturday's 38-0 loss to Texas A&M.

Meyer emphasized he was not trying to run anybody off, saying "I'll never turn my back on a senior. But the player who deserves to play will start."

Sophomore Putt Choate was moved ahead of Bostick at linebacker.

Meyer said such seniors as quarterback Ricky Wesson, offensive tackles Wayne Simpson and Jim Duggan, and safety Mark Howe would continue to start.

SMU takes its 2-6 record against Rice 2-5 Saturday in a Southwest Conference game that Meyer calls "so important."

"If we can beat Rice it will give us a tremendous bounce into our last two games against Texas Tech and Arkansas," said Meyer. "I really think we're going to win our last three games."

"If we go 3-0 it will be dynamite to our program," added Meyer.

He said that realistically SMU's program was still three years away from being competitive.

"By 1979 we should have an outstanding team," said Meyer. "Of course, schedule-wise we've got to grow up quick."

Boosters to eye films

The Robert E. Lee Rebel and Midland High Booster Clubs will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in their respective cafeterias.

The Lee fans will look at the great 14-13 victory over Odessa Permian game while the MHS boosters will watch the MHS-OHS film.

Scouting reports will be given on Abilene and Abilene Cooper.

Sue Ann Clark, Dinah Boyd, Elizabeth Ruwwe, Cary Garton and Amy Tompson; back row, Jeff Rea, Kevin Hopson, Billy Hickey, Tim Baird, Joe Love and Jim Johnson.

State team tournament to be held in Midland

Sixteen of Texas' top high school tennis teams will invade Midland Friday and Saturday to battle for the state championship, an event sponsored annually by the Texas Tennis Coaches' Association.

Midland High, which finished seventh in this event last year at Abilene, the first year it was held, is one of this year's favorites.

The Bulldogs won the West Texas regional tournament.

Each of the state's four regions hold qualifying tournaments with the top four teams earning bids to the state.

Midland High topped the Western division, followed by Abilene Cooper, Odessa Permian and Abilene High.

San Antonio Alamo Heights tops the Southwest area with San Antonio Churchill, San Antonio Lee and San Antonio Roosevelt following in order.

CLEAR LAKE won the Central region, with Clear Creek, Humble and Galveston Ball the others qualifying.

From the Dallas-Fort Worth region, Dallas Highland Park and Wichita Falls Rider were first, followed by Wichita Falls High and Wichita Falls Hirsch.

In regional tournaments, there were a total of 18 matches, six boys singles, six girls singles, three boys doubles and three girls doubles.

The team winning the most matches advances and if there is a tie, the number of games is counted and if they too are tied a coin is flipped to decide the winner.

Unlike the UIL state meet in the spring, no individual championships are decided. Only overall team play is considered.

MIDLAND HIGH will be represented in this weekend's matches by Jeff Bramlett, Bill Hickey, Kevin Hopson, Tim Baird, Jim Johnson, Jeff Rea, in singles; and Hickey-Johnson, Joe Love-Hopson, Baird-Bramlett in doubles.

In girls competition, it will be Vicki Vasicek, Cary Garton, Dinah Boyd, Amy Tompson, Sue Clark and Elizabeth Ruwwe in singles while Garton-Tompson; Vasicek-Boyd and Clark-Sherry Armstrong will team up in doubles.

The tournament will be open to the public and matches will be played at Midland High, Midland Lee, Midland College, Racquet Club and Midland Country Club.

Play begins at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Nets displease Loughery

By The Associated Press

Kevin Loughery is playing before smaller crowds, but he hasn't changed his act. He's still one of the most explosive court-side performers in basketball.

The volatile New York Nets' coach continues to storm and rave while his team continues to lose. Loughery blew up and the Nets went down again Monday night—this time by an 82-75 margin to the Cleveland Cavaliers.

"The big thing is that the guys on the front line aren't hitting for us," said a disappointed Loughery, considerably calmed down in the dressing room after watching his three starters up front shoot 7-of-27 from the field. "They were open shots, too."

Loughery didn't do his team any good by allowing his formidable temper to get the better of him. He was called for two technical fouls and ultimately kicked out of the game.

Actually, one can't blame the Nets' coach for a lack of patience. He is minus superstar Julius Erving and has attempted to rebuild his game plan around a new offensive setup. Also, Erving's loss has triggered a dismaying backlash from protesting Nets' fans, who are staying away from home games in droves. The house count was 4,681 Monday night.

"We're still in the process of putting in some new offense," admitted Loughery, whose team now is 2-5 for the season.

Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch, who has seen bad times himself, could sympathize with Loughery.

"The Nets are not wearing black bands on their sleeves, they're wearing their hearts on their sleeves," he said in regard to the devastating loss of Erving to the Philadelphia 76ers. "They lost a superstar. You might say they lost the battle—but in the long run, they'll win the war."

In the only other NBA game, the Kansas City Kings beat the New York Knicks 105-101.

Dick Snyder scored 15 points, including a big basket and two free throws in the last two minutes of the game, to give Cleveland its victory over the Nets. Three free throws by Tiny Archibald had given the Nets a 75-74 lead with 2:27 left when Snyder came through with a three-point play for the Cavs.

Snyder later gave Cleveland a 78-75, lead with a free throw at the 1:31 mark after a technical against Loughery. The Cavaliers then held on to win their sixth game, highest in the NBA.

Kings 105, Knicks 101. Guards Ron Boone and Brian Taylor combined for 40 points as Kansas City upended the Knics. Boone, who was acquired in the American Basketball Association dispersal draft, scored 22 points while adding eight rebounds and two blocked shots. Taylor, a newcomer acquired in an off-season trade with the Nets, popped in 18 points and picked up six steals.

Rozelle Rule due decision

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A decision is expected in about two weeks on whether a federal appeals court will rehear its own ruling on the so-called "Rozelle Rule" in professional football.

Attorneys for the National Football League asked the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Monday for the rehearing, but did not say why the National Football League wanted it.

The court ruled last month in favor of a lower court decision which termed the rule a violation of federal antitrust laws.

The rule, named after NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, says that a player may become a free agent after he has played out his contract, but that the commissioner can determine what compensation must be given to the team losing the player.

Seattle, Toronto seek young players in draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The two men who will be at the controls for baseball expansionists Seattle and Toronto will be pressing the same buttons.

Peter Bavasi, vice president and general manager of the Toronto Blue Jays, and Lou Gorman, director of player operations for the Seattle Mariners, both say they will be fishing for youth Friday at the American League's expansion draft.

"Fundamentally, we hope to draft young players," said Bavasi. "But some of our draft choices will be veterans who can provide stability for an otherwise young lineup. "We're going to go after the best young talent available," said Gorman. "We'll also sprinkle in some veterans for stability. But you have to build with young talent."

THIS IS the fifth time a league is allowing newcomers into baseball's select circle. The two expansion clubs each will draft 30 players at a cost of $175,000 a head.

The 12 established teams each will lose a total of five players. Each team can protect 15 players and all minor leaguers signed after 1975. As soon as one player is drafted from its roster, an established team can protect three others.

Washington and Los Angeles joined the American League in 1961, and the National League grew to 10 teams the following year with the New York Mets and Houston.

IN 1969, Kansas City and Seattle—which moved to Milwaukee one year later—joined the AL and San Diego and Montreal entered the NL. During that expansion, Bavasi was part of the San Diego organization and Gorman was with Kansas City.

"It's been proven that the best way to build is with young players," said Gorman, who was Kansas City's director of player procurement in 1969. "The Royals are one of the most successful expansion teams ever, and they went with young players."

The Royals won the AL West Division flag this season, eight years after they came into the league. That tied them with the Mets for the fastest rise into the playoffs for any expansion club. The Mets won the NL East, the NL pennant and the World Series in 1969.

THE METS stocked their original roster with a preponderance of veterans. In that first year, the Mets lost more games than any team in history.

"You have to realize that when the Mets became winners," Gorman said, "it was with the players from their farm system—Tom Seaver, Jerry Koosman, Gary Gentry and Bud Harrelson.

"It was the same way with the Royals. The club that won this year was mostly from the farm system."

BAVASI SAYS that in the 1969 draft, Montreal drafted older players, while San Diego picked mostly for the future. The Patsies have shown steady improvement each year. This season, the Expos finished with the second worst record in their eight-year history.

"It won't be an exact balance of age and youth," said Bavasi. "It will be a blend of age and youth with a view more clearly toward young players."

NFL faces contract problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League is back at the negotiating table in an effort to resolve differences between the owners and players over a new labor contract.

Nevertheless, it is doubtful that any collective bargaining agreement could be reached by the Super Bowl in January, if then.

Representatives of the NFL management and the players union met for three hours in the nation's capital Monday and agreed to establish four subcommittees to consider major issues which have been roadblocks to an agreement for the past 33 months.

The NFL Players Association presented to management a seven-point "plan for responsible action." The owners agreed to six of the points but rejected a request to reinstitute a check-off of union dues for 1976 in return for a non-strike pledge.

The two groups agreed to establish a task force "to consider a workable and legal draft and modified reserve system. The task force shall be authorized to hire outside advisors to meet with representatives of other sports and take other reasonable steps to seek a solution to this complex problem area."

Other items include grievance procedures and player contracts, pension and insurance programs and outstanding labor relations matters such as those now on appeal to the National Labor Relations Board.

The subcommittees were directed to report back to the full committee on or about Dec. 1.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who described his role at the meeting as that of a moderator, said the tone of the session "was basically healthy, both sides indicating they would like to have an agreement."

The meeting, the first since the two sides last met on June 28, came in the wake of two major court decisions declaring the college draft and the Rozelle compensation rule illegal.

"We told them we have the best opportunity to reach an agreement than we have had in the last 2 1/2 years in view of the two court cases," said Sargent Karch, executive director of the management council.

"Those decisions removed all union liability to bargaining on the option compensation and the draft, issues over which they have refused to bargain. We think that has been laid to rest," he said.

Dick Anderson of the Miami Dolphins, union president, said, "Our hope is that we will get to the subcommittees and see where each side stands. In view of the two court cases, the atmosphere looks better. We have to see some change."

However, the union representatives expressed dismay that the owners decided, on the same day as the meeting, to go into the U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis to seek a rehearing on the Rozelle Rule decision.

"They want the Rozelle rule upheld," said Ed Garvey, union executive director.

Rookie goalie paces Toronto over Barons

By The Associated Press

How are they going to keep Mike Palmateer down on the farm after he has seen the big leagues?

"He's done a big job in the nets for us since he has joined us," Toronto Coach Red Kelly says glowingly about his rookie goaltender.

Palmateer, a minor leaguer just a week ago, is giving the Maple Leafs big-league netminding these days—and Monday night, he helped them to their third straight National Hockey League victory.

"He made the saves when we needed them tonight," acknowledged Kelly after a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Barons.

Palmateer, who admits to nervousness that keeps him sleepless on the eve of NHL starts, turned back 21 Cleveland shots. His performance throughly frustrated Barons Coach Jack Evans, who is having trouble sleeping these days, too.

"It's something you can't put your finger on," said a dejected Evans. "We played terribly against the New York Rangers (at home) and badly tonight, after two good games on the road. With two bad games back-to-back in our building, I have to be concerned about that."

In other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens stopped the Buffalo Sabres

3-2 and the New York Islanders trimmed the Vancouver Canucks 3-2.

Darryl Sittler and Lanny McDonald each scored two goals and Borge Salming contributed four assists, as Toronto improved its record to 4-5 after losing five of its first six games.

Canadiens 3, Sabres 2

Steve Shutt fired his 11th and 12th goals of the season as Montreal defeated Buffalo. The Canadiens skated to a 2-0 lead in the opening period with Mario Tremblay notching his fourth goal of the season and Shutt his 11th.

In the second period, Buffalo's Craig Ramsay took advantage of sloppy Montreal defensive work and scored his second goal of the season. Shutt added his second goal of the game in the final period when his 30-foot shot went between the legs of Buffalo goalie Gerry DeJardin with 5:33 left for the game-winner.

Islanders 3, Canucks 2

Clark Gillies scored a goal on the only shot New York took in the third period, lifting the Islanders to their victory over Vancouver. Gillies scored his third goal of the season as the Islanders capitalized on a four-on-one break to snap a 2-2 tie. Denis Potvin, who assisted on Gillies' goal, scored New York's first two goals.

Young takes lead

Mino, Japan ZAP) — Donna Caponi Young of the United States fired a three-under-par 71 Tuesday and took a three-stroke lead after two rounds of the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Mizuno Classic.

The round gave the 31-year-old Young a three-under-par 145 for 36 holes over the 6,925-yard, par-74 Hanayashiki Golf Club course in western Japan.

Playing in fine weather, the two-time U.S. Women's Open champion had five birdies and two bogeys.

First-round leader Beth Stone of the U.S., shooting a three-over-par 77, slipped to second place with a 148 total.

Japan's top woman pro, Hisako "Chako" Higuchi, was third at 149 after a second-round 77.

Young said, "I played my best golf in several years. If I can shoot two-under-par tomorrow (Wednesday) I think I can win."

In fourth place was Japan's Noriko Kobayashi with a 150 total. Tied for fifth at 151 were Canadian-born Sandra Post, Sally Little of Ireland, Pat Bradley of the United States and Japan's Michiko Okada.

Post shot a second-round 73, Little and Bradley had 74 and Okada a 78.

Defending champion Shelly Hamlin of the United States was in a 28th place tie at 156.

A field of 70 leading women golfers is competing in the 54-hole tournament, which carries a first prize of $15,000.

Roth wins Pitt's Ramano carries Tony Dorsett's spears

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mark Roth of Staten Island, N.Y., had two late wins to hold off Paul Colwell for the title Monday in the $60,000 Northern Ohio Open bowling tournament.

It was the fourth championship of Roth's Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) career and third of 1976. The $6,000 paycheck upped his earnings for the year to $59,200, second on the money list.

Roth finished the 42-game tourney with a total pinfall of 10,013 on 9,563 actual sticks spilled, a 227 average, and 450 bonus pins; 30 each for his 15 match play victories.

Colwell, of Tucson, Ariz., finished 419,914. He had closed within 80 pins of Roth with three games remaining. But Roth came through with his two highest scores of the tourney, 268-256.

NEW YORK (AP) — When you play football on the same team with Tony Dorsett, you might as well accept it—you are little more than a spear carrier.

But Al Romano doesn't mind. "Sure, Tony is getting the headlines, he's the guy that everybody wants to talk to, he is the hero, but I don't know of a guy on our team with a single trace of jealousy," insists the 6-foot-3, 230-pound middle guard of the University of Pittsburgh's unbeaten Panthers.

"We are all proud of him. We are a close-knit team. We know it is largely because of Tony that we are 8-0 on the season and No. 2 in the rankings. More than that, we think we are No. 1.

"As far as I personally am concerned, if we can win the rest of our games, finish the season unbeaten and go to a major bowl, they can stick me in a closet and forget me. The other guys feel the same."

Romano is more than just one of the other guys. He is the key in what Coach Johnny Majors calls the most underrated asset of the current Pitt team—the defense.

"Romano," says Majors, "is an outstanding nose man—comparable to anybody in the country. He has tremendous quickness and strength. He can handle a center one-on-one all day long."

The defensive ace, who came out of Syracuse, N.Y., is a leading candidate for the Outland Trophy, which is the inner lineman's version of the Heisman Trophy. The Heisman, awarded yearly to the best players in college football, is almost a cinch to go to Dorsett, who has rushed for more career yardage—5,477—than any player in college history.

A superb runner—quick, fluid, explosive—Dorsett has erased marks set by such players as Gale Sayers, O.J. Simpson and Archie Griffin.

Dorsett, Romano and Majors were guests of the New York football writers Monday as a prelude to the Pitt-Army game Saturday. "Linemen don't get a great deal of attention," Romano said.

Fund raisers silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Korean Cultural and Freedom Foundation are refusing comment on allegations that only 8 per cent of the $1.3 million the organization raised in fiscal 1975 actually went for charitable purposes. New York Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz has been asked by the state's Board of Social Welfare to bar the fund from making new solicitations because it allegedly spent most of the $1.3 million on overhead. On Monday, the foundation's president, Bo Hi Pak, denied in a news conference statement that either he or his organization took part in a scheme to buy favorable treatment from congressmen on behalf of the South Korean government. But Pak, 47, a retired lieutenant colonel in the South Korean army and a close associate of Korean evangelist Rev. Sun Myung Moon, refused to answer any questions. He only said that "all the contributions received for the (foundation's) Radio of Free Asia were properly recorded and managed. No funds were ever 'siphoned off for use by Korean agents here.' This is ridiculous." The Washington Post reported Oct. 24 that funds raised through contributions to Radio of Free Asia were to be "siphoned off for use by Korean agents" in the influence-buying scheme or for general Korean intelligence purposes. The Post also reported that South Korean businessman Tongsun Park was using his commissions on federally subsidized U.S. rice sales to South Korea for the same purpose. Pak denied that he and Park met with South Korean President Park Chung-hee and Korean CIA officials in 1969 to plan the scheme. Pak, who lives in McLean, Va., gets $26,000 a year as president of the KCF, which was founded in Washington in 1964 as an anti-Communist organization with the endorsements of many well-known Americans, including former Presidents Harry Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower, as well as Richard Nixon, then a former vice president. KCF created Radio of Free Asia as an offshoot in 1966, and until last year it beamed anti-Communist broadcasts into China, North Korea and North Vietnam. In recent years, it had concentrated on broadcasting information about American prisoners of war in Vietnam, according to its executive director, Donald L. Miller. Miller said in an interview that the KCF's primary role now is as a medical relief organization; its mail solicitations for funds, which once strenuous warn about children dying of malnutrition in Indonesia, the Philippines and Korea and seek contributions for a Children's Relief Fund (CRF), begun in 1973. But Bernard Shapiro, executive director of the New York State Board of Social Welfare, said that "mighty little of the money collected is going for these children."

Planners buck resident protest

By DEBBIE PIERCE
The Midland Planning and Zoning Commission Monday agreed to recommend several zone change requests to the city council, despite opposition from residents in various neighborhoods. Commissioners approved a request by Allen V. Manning for a zone change from local retail to commercial at Rankin Highway and Hicks Avenue, and a similar request by Joseph Bynum for a zone change from local retail to another classification of local retail at South Big Spring and Dakota streets. Manning told the group he was using that property for a used car lot and had just found out it was not zoned for that purpose. Bynum said he needed the zone change for a used car lot and that a building permit had been issued in error. In conjunction with these two requests, the commission agreed to recommend to the city council approval of a city-initiated study to rezone from single-family and local retail to local retail and commercial an area south of Florida Avenue, east and west of South Big Spring Street-Rankin Highway, to Marlins Street. About six residents of the area appeared, but no opposition to the requests was voiced. City planners voted a 3 to 3 tie on a request by James Crume for a zone change from single-family to planned district in the 3200 block of Wadley Avenue for construction of townhouses. Midland realtor John Williams presented the request, which the commission had recessed on during its last session. Clarence Kissel of 3200 Camarie St. appeared as spokesman for other Camarie Street residents in opposition to the request. He said more than 50 residents of the area opposed the change and cited as reasons increased noise and traffic in the neighboring alley, safety of children, lack of privacy from the structures and the proposed entry on Whitney Drive rather than on Wadley Avenue.

Williams said the four one and one-half story, owner-occupied duplexes and additional "bachelor" units would be the best use of the property. The request will go to the city council with the tie vote. Commissioners then approved a request for a specific use permit for a child care center at 401 W. Nobles St., as sought by Samuel H. Rodriguez. Several residents of the area appeared to protest the request, noting it would bring about noise and change the character of the neighborhood. Commissioners approved the request, provided the parking area in the rear be paved and the hours of operation be from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. In other action, commissioners approved: — A request by Greg Pulliam for a zone change from parking district to planned district on .32 acres at 2800 W. Michigan Ave.; — A request by George William Berry for a zone change from single-family to office district at Pecos and Louisiana streets; and, — Changing the regular meeting date from Nov. 15 to Nov. 22.

Automobile dealers to meet in Midland

Texas Automobile Dealers Association members will hear a discussion of a program on customer relations and see a videotaped appearance by Gov. Dolph Briscoe at their annual workshop in Midland Wednesday.

The seminar will begin at 8:45 a.m. in the Midland Hilton and be attended by automobile dealers from 17 counties. Gov. Briscoe will present, via videotape, his proposals for increasing highway funding to allow new construction and upgrading obsolete roads and bridges. Briscoe said Aug. 4 there will be no state or federal funds available within 10 years for new construction or upgrading projects if steps are not taken immediately. The one-day session will include discussions on the growing consumer costs and confusion resulting from government regulation of the auto industry. A major portion of a dealer's time is spent in explaining "the often contradictory, always expensive, requirements which have been imposed on every transaction," Gene Fondren, executive vice president of TADA, said.

"I foresee a growing rebellion against the assumption that people have too little sense to transact any business without the guiding hand of big brother — especially when it costs them money," Fondren said. The Automotiv Consumer Action Panel (TADA AutoCAP) will show its new "Let's Talk About It" campaign assisting consumers in handling complaints. Other speakers scheduled for the meeting are Bob Townsley, director of the motor vehicle division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation; Bob Brewer, motor vehicle division chief of titles; Phil Brooks, head of motor vehicle division's internal review section; Jack Ridgway, association general manager, and David Sapp, the association's assistant general counsel.

GM announces record payout for year-end

DETROIT (AP) — A prospering General Motors Corp. has announced a record year-end common stock dividend of $3 per share. The payout, which will total about $859 million, brings the year's total dividend to $5.55, also the largest in the firm's 6-year history. In 1975, GM common stock dividends totaled $2.40. It was the first time since 1946 that dividends were down from the year before. The other big auto makers, also hit by sales slumps, had similar declines. The latest GM dividend is payable Dec. 10 to about 1.25 million common stock holders. GM common stock closed at $74.87 1/2 on the New York Stock Exchange Monday, a new high for the year. Earlier this year it was available at $57.75. "The dividends declared by General Motors in 1976 reflect the improvement in the over-all economic situation and GM's improved earnings and capital position," said Thomas Murphy, GM's board chairman, and GM President Elliott M. Estes in a joint statement.

Fruit cake sale begins

Midland High School band boosters have begun their annual fruit cake sale to raise money for the band's spring concert tour. The Manor Texas Fruit Cakes are $4.95 for a two-pound bar, $5.95 for a two-pound ring packed in a tin, $8.75 for a three-pound ring and $13.75 for a five-pound ring. Orders may be placed with any band member or by calling 683-2632.

Father faces murder charge

ORE CITY, Tex. (AP) — A football player for the Cleveland Browns from 1948 to 1951 has been charged with the fatal shooting of his 20-year-old son at their Upshur County home Sunday. Forrest "Chubby" Grigg, 50, of Ore City, was freed on $50,000 bond Monday after being charged with murder in the death of his son, Forrest Michael Grigg, according to Justice of the Peace E.S. Simpson. Simpson said the younger Grigg was pronounced dead on arrival at a Longview hospital Sunday about 30 minutes after the shooting. He had been shot once in the head with a .22 caliber pistol. Sheriff Doyle Johnson of Upshur County arrested the elder Grigg at his home Sunday night.

Sign disturbs GOP faithful

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The large banner near a polling place today read, "Carter, we love you." Republicans were upset when they thought up early and saw what they thought was a glaring testimonial to the other guy. Tarrant County Clerk Madrin Huffman said the GOPs apparently didn't make the connection between the sign and the location of the voting precinct. "The sign was at Carter Riverside High School," he said. "They're getting ready for a football game there."

Plains folk prepare to feast, regardless

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — It is axiomatic in the land of cotton that when anything emotional occurs, happy or sad, a wedding, a funeral, a birth or a barn burns down, the women head for the kitchen. Today, a man from the Deep South may be elected president of the United States for the first time in more than a century, and the ladies in his home town, Plains, population 683, not including Billy Carter's last baby, have been working tremulously at their microwave ovens. Win or lose, there will be cakes, pies and cookies, on long tables tonight outside of the old train depot, which is now Jimmy Carter's headquarters, to provide the sustenance necessary to hear the verdict of history. "Miss Allie" Smith, a reserved, graying woman in a rust-colored pants suit, baked her butternut pound cake Monday. "I knew I'd be too nervous on election day," said the mother-in-law of the Democrat candidate. That nervousness was by no means limited to kinfolk. Mrs. Ralph Cornell, for example, who has been baking plum cakes for years to ecstasie reviews, baked her plum cake the day before to be certain that in the unlikely event the tension produced a failure, there would be time to make a comeback. W.C. Lamb Jr., a one-man city hall who is city clerk, police chief and water superintendent, estimates there are about 200 eligible voters within Greater Metropolitan Plains. He further estimates that if they all turn out, the vote will be at least nine to one, or 180 to 20 for Jimmy Carter. But what if he loses, a possibility not lost in the regional pride of Jimmy Carter's neighbors? The Rev. Eugene Cariker of the First United Methodist Church in nearby Americus, a tall thin man, considered the question with a visible shudder and answered, only in partial jest: "If Jimmy loses, the churches will suddenly have to find a lot of counselors to make condolence calls. Either that or there will have to be a

Youths injured in accidents

Two Midland girls were treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital for injuries they received in two separate accidents Monday. Elizabeth Faye Preston, 6, of 1007 Denton St., received minor injuries when she and a car driven by Donna Huffman Radobenko, 30, of 4312 Harvard Ave., collided about 2:57 p.m. Monday in the 3500 block of West Cuthbert St. Tracie Dee Williams also was treated and released from the hospital for injuries she received when the car she was driving and a car driven by Albert O'Donnell, 63, of 3107 Sentinel Drive, collided.

Clues offered to pick winner

WASHINGTON — When an estimated 100 million Americans sit down before their television sets tonight to watch the election returns, they'll be guided by a sophisticated vote analysis planned by all three networks. But there are a variety of clues which the informed viewer can use to make his own judgment about what's happening, in some cases before the network makes its call. Here are some of the usually reliable indices: Connecticut often is the first state to come in with complete election returns. By common consensus it is leaning to President Ford. If Jimmy Carter carries this state, it could well signal a quick presidential victory for the Georgian. There are three big states in the East which have been battleground states in the presidential race — New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Carter is supposed to win New York, and a loss there could be the signal that an upset is in the making. But Ford must win one of these states or virtually sweep the middle west and Texas to carry the election. One of the interesting clues may come from Kentucky, the first border state to report. If Carter fails to win 55 per cent of the vote here, it could be an indication of trouble in more conservative states farther south. Two Southern states on the Eastern seaboard also could be harbingers. Virginia is considered one of Ford's two best Southern states (Louisiana is the other), and a Carter victory here could indicate a Southern sweep. As the cameras and voting returns move west, watch Ohio. Carter is supposed to be slightly ahead in this state, which Ford probably must carry to win the election. Ohio, also, may be a guide to how well Carter is running in relation to the rest of the Democratic ticket. Democrat Howard Metzbenbaum is locked in another tight race with Sen. Robert Taft Jr., and the ticket splitters are likely to determine the outcome. Illinois usually votes with a winner (every time since 1892 except for 1916), and both candidates are counting on it this time. Normally, the Republican candidate needs about 60 per cent downstate and in the Chicago suburbs to withstand the city's big Democratic vote. Three other states in the heartland are critical, and Ford must win at least two of them. Every winning projection for the President has counted on him carrying his homestate of Michigan, which is now too close to call. He also must carry Indiana. Wisconsin, the third state, is rated a tossup. Is Eugene McCarthy going to be a factor in the 1976 election? The first clue will come, in all likelihood, either from Wisconsin or Illinois, where he is on the ballot. Later on, look to see if the McCarthy vote in Oregon is greater than the difference between Ford and Carter in that state.

Painting acquired

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Memorial Art Gallery of the University of Rochester recently acquired a 16th-century Italian painting it calls "rare and important." The painting is by Niccolo dell'Abbate. Gallery director John A. Mahey says it was "one of the great acquisitions made by an American museum this year, and certainly one of the greatest in the Memorial Art Gallery's history."

Dole counts votes, not sheep

By MARGOT HORNBLOWER
The Washington Post

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Sen. Bob Dole, his voice worn but a smile on his face, returned Monday night to this city where 74 days and 61,000 miles ago, he was nominated for the vice presidency.

President Ford would win Tuesday's election.

"I feel good," he told an Omaha Airport press conference. "We've peaked at just about the right time. There's momentum and it's on our side."

The Kansas senator said he awoke "early this morning. Instead of counting sheep, I'm counting electoral votes."

He began the day before election day with a breakfast for 400

Republicans in Peoria. "As the American people caught on to (Jimmy) Carter, we caught up and now we're ahead," he said, referring to Monday's Gallup poll.

"Gov. Carter can go back to Plains, where he can reflect, shell peanuts, and all those other things he's always wanted to spend more time doing — whatever they are."

Dole criticized Carter for playing a "shell game" with the American taxpayer by saying he would balance the budget and, at the same time, provide new programs which would, Dole claimed, create or expand 22 government agencies.

Carter "shifted positions" on a tax cut, Dole said, asserting that the Democratic nominee backed off his statement that a cut would be "almost inevitable."

In a telephone conversation with Ford Monday morning, the President told Dole to emphasize that, should there be a $60 billion windfall as Carter has suggested, the Republicans would give it back to the people in a tax cut, Dole said.

Dole attacked his Democratic counterpart, Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale, for bringing up the subject of Watergate, for "massaging Watergate," as Dole put it. "They can't talk about their own programs, because they don't have any," he said. "So Mondale says Watergate, Watergate, Watergate."

At an enthusiastic shopping center rally in Council Bluffs, Iowa, Dole sounded like a man who expected to be vice president. "President Ford reminded me that I will have an important role to play in America's agriculture starting in January," Dole said.

"I was on the House Agriculture Committee for eight years and the Senate Agriculture Committee for eight years. I understand rural America. I hope farmers will pay attention to that." Later, Dole said his role, yet to be defined, would be in the field of agriculture export "because much of our balance of payments comes from farm exports."

Although he did not mention Monday Ford's controversial 1975 grain embargo which has hurt the Republicans in the farm states, Dole has sought to reassure farmers over the past weeks that an embargo would not recur under a Ford administration.

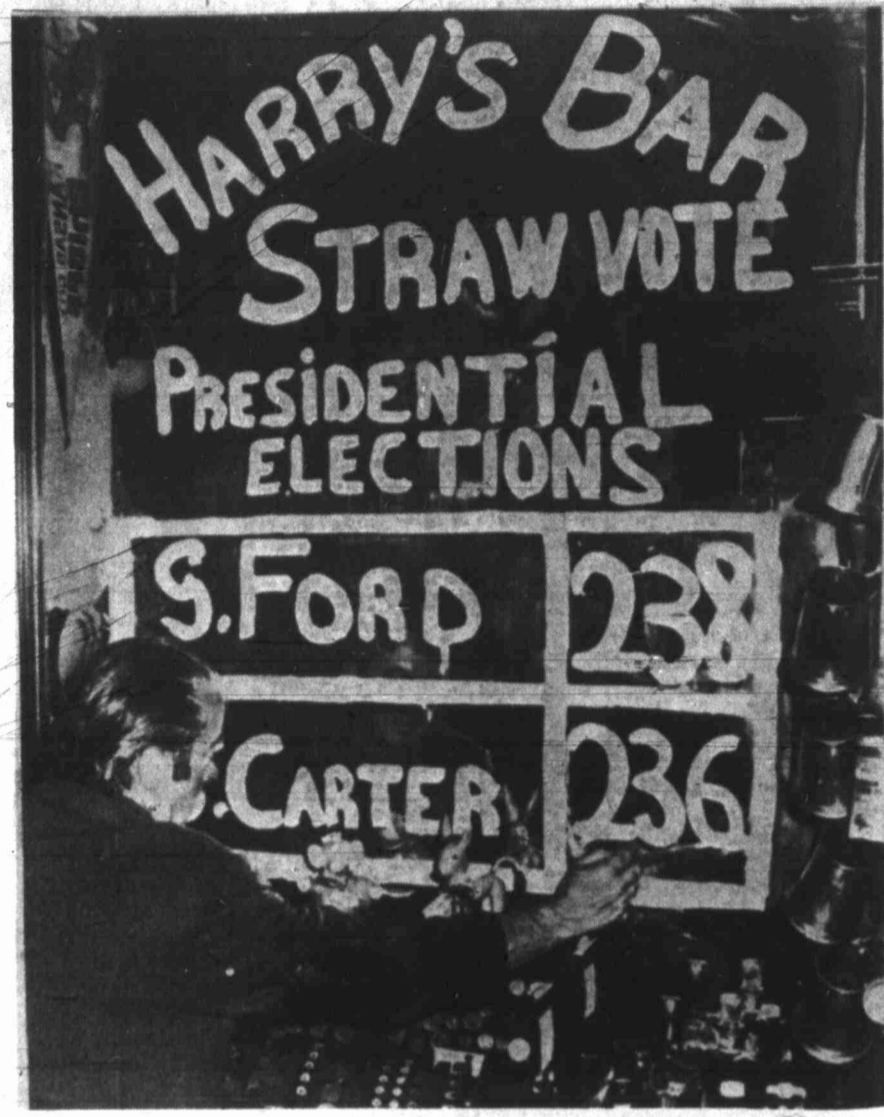

He praised Ford throughout the day as "a man who has demonstrated his firmness and his commitment to (military) strength."

"Gerald Ford has faith in you," he told Peoria Republicans. "It's never wavered. He's never said America wasn't great. He's never apologized for America."

"I remember Gov. Carter saying America is weak, America is not respected. But there's a lot right about America. And American voters are going to stand up for America tomorrow."

At a rally of several hundred cheering Republicans in Columbia, Mo., Monday afternoon, Dole said "our opponents have sought to divide our nation, to open old wounds and not to heal, not to unite us — which has been the purpose of all our great leaders throughout our history."

They have tried to set region against region, income group against income group, labor against management."

Mondale ends drive predicting victory

By WARREN BROWN
The Washington Post

GARY, Ind. — By the time Sen. Walter F. Mondale landed here Monday afternoon, he had predicted victory for the National Democratic ticket at least four times. He had attacked the Republicans' record on unemployment and inflation an equal number of times — and, just as often, he had urged local Democratic workers to get out the vote.

In short, the Democratic vice presidential nominee was ending his campaign in much the same manner he had conducted it — with confidence, with an unrelenting attack on what he perceives as Republican failures, and with the realization that his effort's rank and file fails to get voters to the polls.

Monday was a good day for Mondale, despite a rocky early morning start at Grand Central Station in New York. There, with a nearly captive audience of thousands of commuters, the senator's microphone failed. As a result, only a few of the passengers in the train station's main concourse heard his speech.

Things improved greatly on the next stop at the Philadelphia International Airport, where Mondale was greeted by a small but enthusiastic crowd that included Philadelphia Mayor Frank L. Rizzo.

Rizzo's appearance was significant. Only a few days ago, the mayor had declined an invitation to appear at a Philadelphia rally with Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter. The mayor was miffed because the Carter staff had also invited persons who had sought a recall vote to remove him from office earlier this year.

Because of that incident there was some speculation that Rizzo would cost Carter thousands of Philadelphia votes by discouraging local party officials from working for the ticket.

But an ebullient Rizzo discounted that speculation Monday by saying, in effect, that it was the product of media misinterpretation.

"There's always been unity (among Democrats) in Philadelphia," Rizzo said. "That rally had no effect whatsoever on the (local party) organization I represent. I just refused to sit at the rally with some of the people who are trying to do me in," he said.

Things continued to improve for Mondale when he flew back to New York State from Philadelphia to attend a Democratic-labor rally at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Buffalo. The senator was mobbed by about 3,000 enthusiastic supporters who, later, repeatedly interrupted his standard campaign speech with applause. Also, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Mondale's political mentor, helped to fire up the Buffalo audience with a telephoned speech from Washington, D.C.

Humphrey reminded the Buffalo Democrats that he lost to Richard Nixon in 1968 because, he said, the rank and file did not work hard enough for the Democratic ticket on that election day. "If a few more people who call themselves Democrats had gotten out to vote, Richard Nixon would have never left California," Humphrey said. He urged the audience not to let history repeat itself.

Mondale stopped here briefly before moving on to Detroit — where he received another rousing welcome — and then to Flint, Mich., where he was to have a joint campaign appearance with Carter. From there, Mondale was to fly to Minneapolis, and then by car to his home in Afton, Minn.

Saddle club plans contest

Barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing and goat tying will be among the activities sponsored by the Little Britches Saddle Club of Odessa Friday at the Sheriff's Posse Arena on the Andrews Highway at 9 a.m.

A $75 belt buckle will be awarded to the first place in each event. Age groups will include six and under, seven to nine, ten to twelve, 13 to 19, and 20 and over.

There will be a $3 charge for each event.

Whitney Museum founded in 1930

NEW YORK (AP) — The Whitney Museum of American Art was founded in 1930 by Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney.

It was founded "to encourage and support American artists and present the public with the finest achievements in contemporary American art, an art which until then had been too often neglected in its own country."

Threat puts water system under guard

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Officials kept Philadelphia's water system under tight security today after an extortionist apparently failed to carry out a threat to dump 1,000 gallons of heating oil into the water unless he got $1 million.

Hille Levinson, city managing director, emphasized that there was no cause for alarm. He said the worst effect of that much oil would be some cases of nausea, and that the biggest problem would be cleaning it up.

"We hope it's a hoax, but it's too early to tell," Water Commissioner

Carmen Guarino said shortly before a midnight deadline for the money set by the extortionist in a tape-recorded message. Early today, Guarino said no attempt to contaminate the water had been detected.

"We have people stationed at all our facilities and others riding around in their cars," Charles Vickerman, deputy water commissioner, said. "And the police have been alerted to watch for anything suspicious."

A man's voice on the tape cassette, which was found in a city hall conference room about 9 a.m., had ordered the city to drop $1 million from a helicopter over a site that would be marked by flashing lights along the Delaware River.

Officials in the nation's fourth largest city said they followed the instructions but spotted no flashing lights. They refused to say whether they brought money on the flight.

Levinson told a news conference that fire hydrants would be opened periodically to test for contamination. He said residents had been urged to examine their water carefully before drinking it.

Philadelphia's water system includes three main reservoirs, three treatment plants, 10 pumping stations and 3,200 miles of water lines.

Assault charged

Robert Jurado of Midland was formally charged with aggravated assault Monday in connection with a shooting in Midland County Oct. 22.

Bond was set at $7,500.

The victim, Frank Castleberry of Midland, reported his car ran out of gas on FM 114 and he left his sons in the vehicle while he went to get gas. The Midland County sheriff's department said.

Castleberry said when he returned he became involved in an argument with a man who lived nearby and was coming toward the car to speak with his sons. Castleberry was hit once in the left temple with a .22 caliber pistol bullet, which Castleberry said was fired as he got into his car to drive away.

He was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Sculpture exhibit set

An exhibition of 11 limited edition cast bronze pieces depicting wildlife by noted sculptor Clark Bronson will be on display through Friday in the main lobby of The Midland National Bank Tower.

The public may view the display from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

The pieces in the exhibit are presented by the American Masters Foundation of Houston. Those shown will be "The Red Rascal," "Uninvited Guests," "It's Mine," "Escaped to the High Country," "In Trouble Again," "Narrow Escape," "Hooked," "Bighorn Ridge," "Desert Duel," "Wild Wings" and "Heading for New Cover."

Many of Bronson's works already are part of the collections of several Midlanders and are familiar also to readers of Southwest Art which has featured them periodically. Other publications, including Sports Afield and National Wildlife, have solicited and published his works.

Midland trio free on bond

Bonds were set at $10,000 each for two Midland men and a woman arrested Saturday on felony marijuana charges.

Freed on bond were Patrick Armstrong, 22, 521 W. Cowden Ave.; and Jackie L. Lydia, 23, 415 E. Dengar Ave., and Linda Jean Armstrong, 521 W. Cowden who was freed on a $10,000 personal recognizance bond.

Justice of the Peace Robert H. Pine set the bonds Monday for the three persons following their arrest by police in the 3400 block of Wall Avenue shortly after 8:30 p.m.

$25,000 bail set for three on pot charges

An Odessa couple and a 19-year-old man remained in jail city jail this morning in lieu of $25,000 bond on felony marijuana possession charges.

Jimmy Wayne Evans and Evelyn D. Evans, both of Odessa, were arrested Saturday night, along with Homer Ray Willis, 19, of Redway, Calif., in the 4300 block of Anetta Drive, police said.

Eight hundred pounds of marijuana worth an estimated $800 was seized from the vehicle they were traveling in shortly after 6:30 p.m., police said.

Justice of the Peace Robert H. Pine set the bonds Monday afternoon.

This school really stinks

ROCKAWAY, Ore. (AP) — When students at Neah-Kah-Nie High school in this coastal community came home and told their parents that "school stinks," they really meant it.

Principal Jess Kennison said that Halloween pranks had turned five skunks loose in the building overnight.

When officials opened the doors Monday, their noses quickly told them it would be impossible to conduct classes.

Administrators chased the skunks away, sent home the students who had already shown up, and began fumigation efforts.
