Ford sweeps Midland County

Republican candidates swept the national races in a record tornout for a general election in Midland County. A total of 27,369 persons, 67 per cent of the registered votes in the county exercised their right to vote. Incumbent president Gerald Ford and his running mate Robert Dole received a total of 19,178 votes, the highest received in the county, against 7,725 for the Carter-Mondale

Ford and Dole drew heaviest support from the northern precincts of Midland. Carter and Mondale were strongest in precincts one, five and 10, in the east and southeast sections of

Other presidential candidates finished as follows: Thomas Anderson and Rufus Shackleford of the American Party, 140; Peter Camejo and Willie Mae Reid of the Socialist Workers' Party, 10; and Eugene Mc-Carthy of the Independent Party, 106.

Mrs. Linda Allison, chairman of the Midland County President Ford Committee, said today: "We were disappointed by the Texas and national outcome, but proud of the President's showing in Midland. On behalf of President Ford, I want to thank the hundreds of volunteers and thousands of Midland voters who supported our President.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., a veteran South Texas campaigner, has won a second term in the U.S. Senate by beating back a surprisingly strong challenge by North Texas Republican Alan Steelman.

Bentsen, who put on a campaign blitz in the last few weeks while Steelman was being hurt by lack of funds, was in trouble in the large metropolitan areas of the state, but he offset his losses with huge gains in the smaller counties and the rural areas. Latest returns from the Texas Election Bureau, with 4,887 precincts reported out of 5,422, gave Bentsen 1,773,365 votes, 57 per cent, and Steelman 1,302,567, 42 per cent. Marjorie Gallion, a Crane housewife, trailed far behind with 14,010 votes.

Democratic coalition puts Carter in power

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presidentelect Jimmy Carter's long, oncesolitary journey from Plains, Ga., will carry him to the White House in January with a victory forged from the traditional Democratic party coalition of the Old South and industrial North.

Carter was declared the victor over President Gerald Ford early today when his electoral vote total reached 272, two more than the 270 needed for election. Wisconsin and Mississippi were the states that established the Democratic candidate's majority in

The Associated Press tabulation. Three states - Oregon and Maine, where Ford held a slim lead, and Ohio, where Carter was ahead remained too close to call. If Ford were to carry all three, Carter's victory margin would remain just two electoral votes.

The lead in California passed back and forth through the night with Ford finally declared the winner near davbreak

Returning to Plains from his election headquarters in Atlanta, Carter received a tumultuous, emotional welcome from a crowd that included most of the town's 683

Beaming his now-famous smile, Carter told the crowd, "I told you I didn't intend to lose.

But when he tried to continue speaking, his voice choked, he turned his head and then embraced his wife, Rosalynn, who was sobbing.

"It was a long night," he said when he regained his composure. "But I guarantee you, it's going to be worth it to all of us."

The latest returns showed Carter carrying 22 states and the District of Columbia with 272 electoral votes. Ford had 25 states with 231 electoral

The popular vote totals from 96 per cent of the nation's precincts gave Carter 38,848,599 and Ford 36,980,456.

"I pray that I can live up to your confidence and never disappoint you," Carter told jubilant supporters in Atlanta after the results were clear. "It's time for us to get together, to correct our mistakes, to answer difficult questions and to make our nation great.'

Carter praised Ford as "the most formidable opponent that anyone could possibly have." And he called his defeated opponent "a good and decent man. Neither Ford, the first incumbent denied a new term since Herbert Hoover was swept from office in 1932, nor his running mate, Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, appeared at a Republican "victory party" in Washington.

A White House spokesman said Ford had gone to bed before Carter was declared the winner. Voters' desires for a change in Washington overcame their qualms about Jimmy Carter and their respect for Ford's experience in office, an Associated Press poll showed.

Carter won by coaxing support from the traditional Democratic blocs, despite their feelings, expressed in the survey, that he has promised more than he can deliver and that he will be a less than excellent president. The former Georgia governor drew strong support from the lower income groups, labor union members, blacks and the less educated, all the traditional bases of Democratic Thus, on Jan. 20, 1977, James Earl Carter Jr. will take the oath as the 39th president of the United States.

Taking office as vice president will be Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, a man who once toyed with the idea of running for president himself, but then decided against putting himself through the rigors of a national campaign.

Carter will be the first deep Southerner to reach the presidency by election since Zachary Taylor in 1848. And after eight years of Republican control of the White House, the Democrats once again will be in command of both the executive and legislative branches of government. Democratic domination of the House and Senate was unchanged by Tuesday's election results. Although the party lineup in the Senate will be familiar, a lot of the faces will be new. At least 16 newcomers will take Senate seats in January.

Battling for an electoral mandate to the office he reached by appointment, Ford was unable to survive the tide of Democratic votes that flowed from the Old South and the industrial

Smith upsets Darnell; Martin, Pickett win

By JUDY JOHNSTON

A political institution in Midland County came crashing down Tuesday. Republican Dallas Smith, a political newcomer, upset Democratic Sheriff Ed Darnell, ending Darnell's 35-year reign in the county's top law enforcement post. Smith received 13,962 votes to 12,720

In another closely-contested race, Republican Vern Martin defeated Democrat Trey Lohmann for the district attorney's position. Martin received 14,919 votes to 9,658 for Lohmann.

Martin will succeed Jim Mashburn, district attorney since 1965, who decided not to seek re-election.

A DPS officer for seven years, Smith, 34 claimed Darnell's office had an excessively high turnover of personnel and that the department needed better training and recruitment techniques and more efficient investigation methods.

Smith also advocated the formation of a narcotics division in the department and making the sheriff's department vehicles and officers more visible as a crime deterrent.

Darnell drew great strength from east Midland, in winning precinct 5, Carver School, by a 586-62 margin. Smith's greatest support came from northern precincts.

In general law practice since 1963, Martin has worked in Midland 11

He holds a B.S. degree in government from East Texas State University and a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from the University of Texas School of Law.

His background includes participation in numerous courts martial in the U.S. Navy, investigation of Foreign Claims and work as an attorney for the Veteran's Land Board.

A native Texan, Martin is married and has five children.

Voting for Martin was heaviest in north Midland. Lohmann's greatest strength came from east and southeast Midland.

The only opposed Democratic candidate to win a local race was incumbent district judge Perry Pickett, who received 14,747 votes. His opponent, Jay H. "Timber" Floyd, received 10,705 votes.

County voters pick Craddick, Newton

Tom Craddick of Midland was elected to his fifth term as Texas state legislator in general elections Tuesday, defeating R.L. "Bob" Corley, his Democratic challenger.

Republican Craddick drew 18,780 votes as compared to 6,976 for Corley in Midland County. The Craddick-Corley vote in the other counties of the four-county district were as follows: Glasscock, 220-162; Reagan, 627-534. and Upton, 831-637.

The total for the district was Craddick, 20,458, to Corley, 8,309.

Corley, an independent oil landman, advocated repeal of the 55 mph speed limit, popular election of federal judges and of state insurance and utility commissioners and repeal of that portion of the Texas Criminal Code which could make a homeowner liable if he uses a gun to protect his home.

Craddick, 34, is chairman of the House Natural Resources Committee, member of the Energy Committee, and representative to the National Conference of State Legislatures.

By appointment of the Speaker, Craddick has represented Texas at many conferences concerning oil and gas regulation and other natural resources, he said. He is a former member of com-

Lubbock County provided the largest margin for Mahon, who also won heavily in Dawson, Hale, Parmer and Terry counties.

Reese carried Midland, Andrews, Ector, Gaines and Yoakum counties with his heaviest margin in Ector

Reese campaigned heavily, contending that Mahon had lost touch with West Texas after so much time in Washington. He stressed that Mahon does not maintain a residence in Lubbock, which is Mahon's home city.

Other aspects of Reese's campaign were his contention that Mahon has a liberal voting record. He was critical of Mahon's voting on busing.

Much of the thrust of the 1...se campaign was against the "liberal Congress." Welfare, national defense, farm policy, crime, evergy and inflation were issues raised in the campaign.

Mahon defended his record as a conservative, emphasizing his voting on energy. He said if the majority of Congress had voted as he has, the budget would be balanced now.

Mahon's campaign emphasized his role as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

I had already decided President Ford was going to carry Midland County and Texas, but the flap over segregation of Jimmy Carter's own church in Plains, Ga., convinced me Ford was going to win the whole ball game (if not the popular vote).

I expected Alan Steelman to carry Midland and Dallas Counties and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen to carry Texas. U.S. Rep. George Mahon should be leading the ticket in blasting Jim Reese out of the challenger's saddle. The races closer to home were more difficult to predict, in some cases, but Sheriff Ed Darnell could easily have gotten a higher percentage of the vote than Rep. Mahon. (Elected lawmen reflect more voter confidence-or lack of it-than any slot on the ballot, and it didn't seem to me that opponent Dallas Smith came anywhere near challenging Big Ed's image. Texans in most every section give Carter mandate

By The Associated Press

Texans said "Yes" to Jimmy Carter Tuesday.

The Georgia peanut farmer came to the Lone Star State courting hard hats, blue collar minorities and those he said were ready for "a leader-for a change.

He got them all—those in the little backwash communities, and those in the big, urban sprawl. He got the rural Democrats and the disenchanted minorities. He scored with labor along the Gulf Coast, and ramsacked some conservative areas.

Voters close to 4 million strong ignored predictions of voter apathy and stood in long lines to say their piece. The weather was ideal.

Carter and Ford had blitzed the state throughout the campaign. courting Texas voters in a spirited waltz of promises and folksy endearments. Ford mingled with cattle at the state fair in Dallas: Carter ate a chicken box lunch in Fort Worth.

Most of the state's largest newspapers had endorsed President Ford. But most voters ignored endorsements which said Ford is, at least, a known quantity. Jimmy Carter, they said with their votes, was playing a nice tune. He promised tax reform and an end to top heavy government.

With nearly 90 per cent of the vote counted, Carter outscored Ford in most every region except in the state's two biggest cities-Houston and Dallas— and oil-rich Ector and Midland counties. It seemed Carter's soak-the-rich image was unwelcome among West Texas oilmen.

With 60 percent of Texas' eligible voters headed toward the polls, Carter's strength took hold like a slow giant rising to its feet. President Ford ran neck and neck with the former Georgia governor in early vote returns but as the evening wore on Carter's muscle slowly bulged ahead of Ford from across the state.

Here are the latest Texas Election Bureau returns at 3 a.m. today from 250 of 254 counties reporting, 189 complete: President Carter 1,839,853; Ford 1,667,696; McCarthy 15,746; Camejo 9,152; Anderson 1,608.

Bentsen 1,926,852; Steelman 1,414,526; Gallion 14,332; Vasquez

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen coupled the Democratic presidential win with a keen score of his own over challenger Alan Steelman, a Republican congressman suffering from a lack of campaign money and voter identification. Bentsen had plenty of both. Steelman's campaign was effective in the state's big metropolitan areas-a surprise to Bentsen forces— but Bentsen's good showing in small counties and rural areas pushed him comfortably over the top.

Carter campaigners employed no tricks or complex game strategies. they said. The Carter camp went to Texans with "our eye on the issues." said Bob Armstrong, co-chairman of Carter's Texas forces

"It was basically a straighton effort that turned out to be successful, no surprises or big game plan, other than getting people together and explaining what Jimmy Carter stands for. There was very little difficulty in getting organized, no problem with any statewide officials. They were not only willing, but eager to work," Armstrong, Texas Land Commissioner, said.

State Democratic Chaimran Calvin Guest said voters had "spoken loudly...for a fresh approach to the national problems. The Texas vote was a mandate for a change in leadership. It's a great day for all Texans and our nation, whether you are Republican, independent or Democratic."

But former Texas Gov. John Connally, a Democrat turned

Republican, was one of the president's campaign captains in Texas and he found Ford's loss a 'disappointment. We didn't have time to build an organization after the convention. The president overcame a massive Carter lead in this state but I guess it wasn't enough. The Democrats had a lot of time to get it together. They had their convention in July and Carter went there already as Carter said he "wants to eliminate the winner. The Republican convention was not until August and it a lot of (tax) incentives." This, too, would have tended to turn off Texas wealthy.

But none of these issues ever were issues in Texas.

The line seemed clearly drawn between those who felt Ford was, at least, a known value and those who didn't care.

Food dollar value varies

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Grocery shoppers in San Antonio are getting the most for their food dollar and Corpus Christi shoppers the least, the Texas Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday. It was the second consecutive month for San Antonio to rank as the No. 1 food bargain area

The McAllen-Edinburg area was the most expensive for food in September, but Corpus Christi moved ahead in October, the department said.

Agriculture Commissioner John White said the October survey of 70 supermarkets in 12 cities showed that the price of 20 commonly purchased items in San Antonio averaged $17.20, an increase of 42 cents from September

The same items cost $18.89 in Corpus Christi The statewide average was $18.26.

Other cities surveyed Oct. 19 reflected the following food basket prices: Austin $17.79, down four cents from September: El Paso $17.97, down 10 cents; Tyler $18.21, down three cents; Dallas $18.27, down five cents; Abilene $18.31, down 41 cents; Houston $18.38, down 13 cents; Laredo $18.38, down 18 cents; Fort Worth $18.43, down 23 cents; Lubbock $18.49, down 24 cents; and McAllen-Edinburg $18.83, down 22 cents from September.

TI adds new flight to D-FW

Texas International Airlines has added a new early morning flight from Midland-Odessa to Dallas-Fort Worth, beginning Saturday.

The new flight will leave Midland Regional Air Terminal at 6:50 a.m. and arrive in Dallas-Fort Worth at 7:40 a.m. The arrival allows connections to cities across the country or a full business day in Dallas-Fort Worth, a TI spokesman said.

New return service from the D-FW airport also begins this weekend with a flight timed to allow inbound connections from cities all over the world. The new flight will depart D-FW at 8:50 p.m. and arrive in Midland-Odessa at 9:43 p.m.

This new roundtrip addition brings TI's weekday departures to five, with three of the flights continuing directly to Houston's Hobby Airport downtown. Beginning Dec. 15, the new 6:50 a.m. flight also will operate direct to Houston from D-FW.

Other departures from Midland-Odessa leave at 9:52 a.m., 12:43 p.m., 4:30 p.m., and 7:17 p.m.

In the race for U.S. Representative of district 19, Midland voters opted for Odessan Jim Reese over the incumbent Democrat George Mahon. Reese's total was 13,782 as opposed to Mahon's 12,602

Voting for Mahon was heaviest in the southeast and east precincts, while Reese was strongest in the north part of the city.

Reese campaigned heavily throughout the district, proposing to make defense a priority and to balance the budget. He claimed Mahon was becoming increasingly liberal and increasingly removed from the needs of the district.

Mahon began campaigning actively in the district early in October. A member of the House of Representatives for 42 of his 76 years, Mahon stood on his record and his power as chairman to the House Appropria-tions Committee as the primary reason for returning him to Congress:

Smith to seek Darnell's advice

"I want to speak to the sheriff. Tell him the sheriff is calling.' With those words Ed Darnell heralded the end of 35 years as Midland County sheriff. His Republican challenger, 34-year-old Dallas Smith was elected sheriff on a narrow 13,962 to 12,720 vote margin. Although the campaign was bare-knuckle rough, especially in the final days before the vote, the mood Tuesday night was one of conciliation.

'Our goals are not to disrupt the department. We are going to look at our weaknesses and work on them.

The patrol aspect of the department needs some changes and that will be our first project," Smith said in a victory speech outside his campaign headquarters. There, more than 200 supporters and friends gathered to wish the newly elected sheriff well. A Midland policeman stopped by to shake his hand. So did a state trooper and a deputy sheriff.

Following his speech Smith said. 'We want to make the department a little more professional. But there are some things I don't know about the office and I hope Ed Darnell will Both good men and true had campaign points: Martin's local trial experience and the Lohmann camp's conjecture that Martin's many clients might cause problems for Martin as a prosecutor. And it's difficult to gauge the impact of Lohmann's last-day ad and this newspaper's front-page characterization of the ad as a "smear" tactic. There was also heavy advertising in all media and great use of big and little signs in this race (the latter of which I think has virtually no impact on voters).

But I would expect Martin to be the victor simply on the basis of an image as a longer-term local court figure. That's seven prognostications, so you can subtract 14 points for each Darnell hung up the phone.

He looked around the office and said, "I never took a vacation and I'm going to get in all the hunting and fishing I can.'

Earlier, stern, tense-looking faces of off-duty deputy sheriffs gathered around the desk where Darnell was listening to the election returns. There was no talking. As the final tally was being figured more than one deputy was misty-eyed. A well-wisher and longtime friend from the courthouse was barely able to say, "I'm sorry, Ed.

A wave of depression might have engulfed the room, but "Big Ed" just stood up from behind the desk and said, "Well, I'm not. They were wonderful years.

IT WAS A LONG NIGHT of tallying election results for Rosenelle Cherry, Midland County clerk.

Andrews sheriff gets voters' reassurance

Sheriff J. A. "Bud" Gregory, 48, challenged by late-coming write-in candidate Alton J. Montgomery, got the voters' assurance for another four-year term in office by outrunning his charger 2,594 to 851 votes. Gregory, a Democrat, was the only local candidate challenged.

The 4,036 who cast ballots in Tuesday's general election here overwhelmingly chose Democratic party candidates.

But there were exceptions to the day's rule: voters favored Republican President Gerald R. Ford over Democrat Jimmy Carter 2,127 to 1,777; selected Republican challenger Jim Reese over U.S. Rep. George Mahon, a Democrat, 2,302 to 1,572. and picked Republican Alan Steelman .882 to 1,796 over U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., a Democrat. Following is a rundown of other election results here:

Judge wins re-election

After 22 years as state district judge, Perry D. Pickett won yet another term Tuesday.

Pickett said he was pleased about the 14,747 to 10,705 vote victory.

"I think I've done a real good job as district judge and I think the people realize that," he said of his election. Another factor Pickett cited in his victory was name identification.

"I'm pleased about the vote Because of the political complexion here, I'm not surprised." Pickett said he is thankful for the results and expressed "my thanks for their vote of confidence" to the voters.

Nuclear power plants fail in six elections

By The Associated Press

Voters in six states turned back attempts to restrict nuclear power plants; Massachusetts said no to controls on handguns; but New Jersey voted to make Atlantic City the "Las Vegas of the East."

Those were some of the results Tuesday in state ballot propositions with national implications.

In Massachusetts, voters turned down by a 3 to 1 margin a proposal to ban the sale of handguns. It was the first measure of its kind ever to go on a state ballot.

New Jersey, where two years ago voters turned down a measure to allow casino gambling if communities wanted it, voted to allow it in Atlantic City, the decaying coast resort. Civic leaders there had been seeking the goahead for years in an effort to make the city into a gambling center.

But Delaware, adjoining New Jersey to the South, rejected a proposition that would have permitted slot machine gambling. The state has had betting this fall on professional football with less financial success than expected. The rejection of proposals to control nuclear development by imposing strict safety standards on any atomic plants followed the failure of a similar proposal in California last spring. The proposal lost in Ohio, Arizona. Washington, Montana, Colorado and

The rejection of proposals to control nuclear development by imposing strict safety standards on any atomic plants followed the failure of a similar proposal in California last spring.

The measures were voted down by margins of nearly 2 to 1 in Ohio, Montana, Washington, Arizona and Colorado. Oregon voters turned back the proposal 60 per cent to 40 per cent.

There were also proposals on several state ballots to ban throwaway beverage bottles and

In Michigan, a throwaway ban passed by nearly 2 to 1. In Maine, it won by about 3 to 2. In Colorado, it was defeated about 2 to 1.

A throwaway measure in Massachusetts trailed by about 2,000 votes out of more than 500,000 cast, with one-fourth of the precincts

Colorado voters also rejected by a 3 to 1 margin a constitutional amendment that would have required a majority of registered voters to approve any new tax measures. Officials had warned that the amendment would make new taxes virtually impossible and require voter approval of such things as golf course fees and school lunch tickets.

Arkansas voters rejected a move to change the right-towork law by a margin of almost 2 to 1. The amendment would have let management and labor at any local business set aside the provisions of the right-to-work law at that business.

Mrs. Stanley Erskine, introduced by Mrs. Solon P. Crain, program chairman, presented the program for a meeting of the Aaron Estes Chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Mrs. Erskine reviewed "With Santa Anna in Texas" by Lt. Col. Jose Enrique de la Pena, published by Texas A&M University in 1975. This is de la Pena's diary, written daily, often on horseback.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Edward Brannon of 4501 Cardinal Lane. Following breakfast, the president, Mrs. Max Perry called the meeting to order and the chaplain, Mrs. John Cross, gave the opening prayer and led members in the pledge to the American Flag and the Texas Flag. The ritual was concluded with the singing of the state song, "Texas, Our Texas.'

It was announced several members plan to attend the Saturday district meeting at the Walker Ranch near Fort Stockton. The meeting will convene at 9:30 a.m. and adjourn after lunch. Mrs. R. L. Walker, District I representative, will be hostess for the meeting, which will include chapters from Alpine, Fort Stockton, El Paso, Midland and San Angelo.

The chapter endorsed Mrs. John P. McKinley for the office of fifth vice president general of the state association. The election will be held during the state convention slated for May 1977 at Dallas.

The next meeting, a workshop, will be held Jan. 28 at 9:30 a.m. in the Nita Stewart Haley Memorial Library

Going without brassiere could be called out of bounds

DEAR ABBY: I have minded person and have age. tried to look at things from all points of view. but this has me stumped.

I have a 16-year-old daughter I'll call Barbie. Well, Barbie believes that it's everyone's right to do as she pleases as long as it doesn't hurt anybody and there is no law against it. This includes going braless, and that's what Barbie does.

She's a nice-looking girl, but she's "topheavy." Her teacher has called me three times to tell me that if I keep letting Barbie come to school without a bra, she will be expelled.

Abby, do you know of any 16-year-old high school girl who lets her mother dress her? Neither do I, and that's my problem. She's a good student and I've never had any trouble with her until now. Can you help me?-BARBIE'S TROUBLED MOM

DEAR MOM: Does the school have a dress code? It it does, and a bra is required. Barbie could be out of bounds in more ways than one. If there is no dress code, the complaining teacher is guilty of making threats she can't carry out, and SHE is out of bounds. Call. the high school principal and get the facts.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old woman whose husband left me for a younger woman. I cried my heart out, then I met a young man I could really relate to. We fell in love, and now we have a beautiful relationship unlike anything I've ever known. This last year has been the happiest in my entire life!

The problem: He is only 23. Abby, is it possible for two people who love each other to overcome such a bit difference in age? He's older in the head and I look younger in the face, so we look fine together. I have two sons, 11 and 13.-ON CLOUD 8 IN CHICAGO

DEAR ON: Ride those clouds a little longer before you make any permanent decisions. If it's the real thing, it will last. If everything else works, the age difference is unimportant.

'Geneva Conference'

Another "Geneva Conference" is meeting — this one to plot the course for transforming Rhodesia into a new state of Zimbabwe under rule of its black majority. It's taking place amid concern that it will bog down in the kind of stalennate that has kept the Geneva Conference on the Middle East in recess for almost three years.

Whether that pessimism is justified depends on what is going on in the minds of Prime Minister Ian Smith and the four black. nationalist leaders who need to come to terms on the composition of an interim government.

Sm ith is publicly committed to bring, ing majority rule within two years. However, he also seems committed to a formula for intering government that reserves key positions for white ministers

— the control of police and military forces. Some of the black leaders already are on record as oppossing that idea. This is one of the issues that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger tried to finesse in his African shuttle for the sake of getting negotiations started on the broader basis of the commitment to m ajority rule within a specified

That commitment may be the only thread holding Kissinger's pea.ce-package together, but it is a strong one. The question is wh ether both sides are willing to compromise on issues that are arising as the Geneva Conference convenes. The problem is compounded by the fact that even if Smith is flexible on his side, the four leaders claiming to represent the black population are at odds amiong themselves and represent

Smith is in a good position to argue that bringing peace to the countryside must come first, and ministries free of the factional rivalry which divides the black nationalists will have the best chance of maintaining a ceasefire. The extent of the problem was dramatized when Robert Mugabe, who leads a guerrilla army and wants to be recognized as leader of the Zimbabwe African National Union, declared that his forces will keep fighting until there is an agreement at Geneva which satisfies him. He and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, his rival for leadership of the national union, are both delegates

Smith has contended all along that negotiations to give blacks a greater voice in governing his country have been impossible because of this factionalism. Kissinger's plan relies on the help of leaders in the alreadyestablished black nations surrounding Rhodesia to acheive a unanimity among the Zimbabwe factions that will permit negotiations to proceed. Geneva will see a stalemate if they fail.

The achievement of Kissinger was that he generated a willingness among whites and blacks to accomplish by peaceful means a transition that otherwise was bound to occur sooner or later through bloodshed. At this point some of the delegates gathered at Geneva still seem to be too impressed with the military power they command to make the concessions and compromises that any peace conference demands.

A dim look at nuclear energy

By JACK ANDERSON with LES

WASHINGTON - Hidden in a technical report, stamped with stern secrecy warnings, are findings that could affect the lifestyle of every

The 78-page study strongly suggests that the nuclear reactors, which the government is counting on to produce electric power, may never get beyond the blueprints. This could mean that Americans tomorrow may no longer enjoy the unlimited use of lights, heaters, air conditioners and other home appliances. Even automobile driving may be restricted unless government planners stop making promises and start developing other fuel sources.

Only a few key officials have had access to the disturbing study. This terse warning appears on the cover: "Recipients ... must not show or release its contents for purposes other than official review and comment under any circumstances.'

We have reason to believe, however, that the stark findings may be watered down before they are released to the public. The American people are entitled to know the truth in its original scientific form, without political censorship. We have summarized the highlights, therefore, of the secret General Accounting Office

It deals with "liquid metal fast breeder reactors," which the technicians know by the initials LMFBR. The study, characteristic of scientific research, is cautious. But these clear conclusions cen be drawn:

- The development of the fast breeder has been impeded by bureaucratic balkanization. There has been absolutely no government coordination worth noting. More than 100 separate agencies, committees and other entities have a voice in the development.

 Its financing by private industry. contrary to official statements, probably will prove impossible. The technology has already cost a hefty $2.8 billion.

- Government planners are concentrating almost exclusively on the fast breeder, with an all-the-eggs-inone-basket abandon. Yet it not only may never work, but the economic fuel reprocessing may never be achieved. Theoretically, the fast breeder should produce more fuel than it uses. But a failure to achieve reprocessing would eliminate it as a cheap energy source.

- Even if the fast breeders overcome all the obstacles and become operative, it will cost an estimated $153 billion to build the same energy capacity that could be constructed for $128 billion with conventionel reactors and $95 billion with coal-fired power

- If the LMFBR program fizzles, as now seems likely, the nation will have no alternative but to enforce energy conservation on the public. This would introduce the strict, regulated use of energy. For alternate energy sources, such as fusion, solar energy, sea wave generators, wind energy and shale oil, are either inadequate or a generation away.

- As evidence that the nuclear program is stalling, the report declares: "Only four new reactor plants (of any kind) were ordered in 1975 and only one plant was ordered during the first six months of 1976. Since the beginning of 1974, orders for over 200 reactors were deferred and nearly 30 were cancelled.'

Public opposition to nuclear plants has gathered support in many states. Not only environmental but financial obstacles have blocked construction.

The fast breeder, meanwhile, is so experimental that even a small, 380megawatt test plant cannot be ready before 1983. And "no single, commercial-sized reactor hes been tested or even designed in the U.S.," the study points out.

The nuclear development is snarled almost beyond hope in a maze of agencies and committees, with conflicting jurisdiction. Declares the report dismally: On Capitol bill alone, "33 committees, 65 subcommittees and one panel claim some jurisdiction over the Energy Research and Development Administration Twenty-nine different federal agencies share responsibility for recommending comprehensive national emergy policy."

This doesn't take into account the numerous private utilities, financial houses, manufacturers and citizens groups that are also involved in the program. These factors all add up to

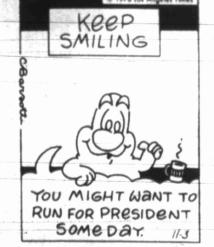

At best, it will take 13 years to build a commercial reactor, 10 years to get the fuel fabricated and 12 years to construct a fuel reprocessing facility.

As Castro has said, the Soviet Union and its satellites are the principal purchasers of Cuban sugar and the main suppliers of Cuban imports. foremost of which is the crude oil that fuels the island nation.

Yet, quite obviously, Cuba has much more sugar stockpiled than it can sell on the depressed world market, and Cuba needs more petroleum than it has been getting from the Soviet.

Recently, there were reports that Cuba had started buying some lubricants and other refined petroleum products from Venezuela. But its crude oil has to keep coming from the Soviets for technical reasons. Cuban oil refineries were built originally to process Venezuelan crude and were converted to handle the Soviet product in the early 1960s after the Castro dictatorship confiscated them. Reconversion would be both expensive and time-consuming. The possibility that the Soviet Union may be loosening its ties with Cuba is dismissed by most observers. Raul Castro, Fidel's younger brother and chief aide, recently returned from a pilgrimage to Moscow and, at last report, Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, the veteran Communist who was a member of President Fulgencio Batista's cabinet and is vice premier now, was visiting the Soviet capital.

Recently too Soviet naval units visited Cuba and participated in joint maneuvers with the Cuban navy.

Of course, U.S. intelligence reports indicate that the Soviet Union itself is suffering a recession. That the gross national product in 1975 grew at the lowest rate in Soviet history, that the Soviet foreign trade deficit this year. as last, is around $5 billion, that there are food shortages. All that could be impacting on Cuba.

LOWER WATERFORD, Vt. -Rural America still lives in New Fingland. If you have any doubt just visit Lower Waterford and chat with Mrs. Derothy Morrison or her husband, Arthur.

They have lived here most of their lives in this quiet little Vermont town of less than 700 people. Not much has changed over the years There is still only one street in Lower Waterford although State Highway No. 18 passes on one side of the village. Mrs. Morrison is the former sichoolteacher and now the post-

Her husband is a handyman who helps around the home and the post office as well as taking care of an excellent garden. Arthur Morrison. now retired, was born in the house which is now the post office, and has spent all 73 years of his life in this

Mrs. Morrison, 65, came to Lower Waterford in 1939 to teach in one of the six country schools the town of Lower Waterford ran then. Talking about those days she says quietly, with a pleasant smile, that the school was one room with no electricity or plumbing. Depending on the students, some years she taught one or two grades and others as many as eight.

"By needing less, you can get rich enough to afford what

She loved her work and the children and she always joined them at play during recesses and lunch periods. She instilled in them a love of books and a desire to read and learn, which has remained through their lives. Her bright, interested eyes twinkle as she talks about her and Morrison's lives and how their romance began. Arthur Morrison was a superintendent of the Sunday School.

"He used to pick up the children for the class and he picked me up too,' she recalls.

At the time they were married Mr Morrison's mother was the postmistress, and when she died the young Mrs. Morrison took over the job. "It sort of kept it in the family," she says.

On these chilly fall mornings Arthur Morrison gets up before dawn, walks down the street and builds a fire in the wood stove in the town post office. A little later his wife arrives to open up the office for the day's business. She also operates a library with some 5,000 volumes. Mrs. Morrison says it is operated on an honor system and "we've lost a few books but nothing like they do in the big city libraries where they have

With a wonderful philosophy she says the best thing about living in Lower Waterford is that "everybody knows each other and they're always ready to help if you need it.'

The Morrisons, as you might expect, are Republicans. Mr. Morrison is a retired member of the state Legislature. He represented the town of Lower Waterford in the Vermont House, and when legislative reapportionment did away with most single town districts Mr. Morrison won election as the district representative. While he was not a leader of the party he was known as a hardworking, diligent and sincere legislator who had a great sense of public service and a strong belief in our system and the way it works.

In addition to her other duties, Mrs. Morrison is secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School at the Union Baptist Church in nearby St. Johnsbury. Looking back on her life she says she has no desire to change a single thing and one of her problems is deciding what to do most nights since there are three or four choices possible.

She says she realizes that life is changing even in rural New England. One of the developments that bothers her is the fact that rising land values, inflation and even higher taxes have forced some of the farm families off their family land. Now many out-ofstaters with more money come in and buy up these properties, which has driven up the price. "People have had to sell their homes because they could not pay

Yarbrough wins over 2 lawyers By Associated Press Houston lawyer Don Yarbrough spent $300 in winning the Democratic nomination for the Texas Supreme Court last spring, a victory he called "a miracle, so to speak." Tuesday, Texas voters elected him over two write-in candidates, but the spectre of possible disbarment loomed over the result.

Some 15 civil suits against the 35year-old justice-elect caused the State Bar to initiate disbarment proceedings against him, and it was unclear whether the State Constitution would allow a disbarred attorney to sit on the bench. Yarbrough beat State District

Judge Sam Houston of Denton and Tom Lorance, another Houston attorney.

Latest figures showed Yarbrough with 1,160,435 votes against Houston's 248,959 and Lorance's 123,710.

Both Houston and Lorance said they ran more to stop the unopposed Yarbrough than for a real desire for the seat. They each acknowledged that education of voters to the write-in process and the fact that a straight Democratic vote was a vote for Yarbrough would be problems. They were right.

The constitutional question comes from a phrase which says a Supreme Court justice "shall have been a lawyer." Interpretation of that phrase will be up to none other than the Texas Supreme Court, which must decide if a justice must be a lawyer while sitting on the bench.

Yarbrough invited a fight with the State Bar, which he said "would stop at nothing to get me."

He said the bar's pride is a powerful moving force. "Some of the complaints against me are laughable," he

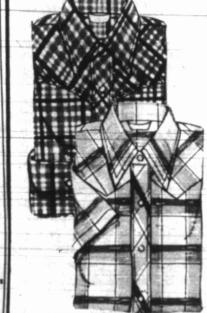

"The State Bar is faced with the fact of sailing out into the harbor with their flag flying. They know full well, if I sink their ship, all the king's horses and all the king's men can't put Humpty-Dumpty back together again. I can assure the State Bar if its has the gall to put that ship out into the harbor, they will face a fight."

Bound to crop up again was an old charge that voters throught they were voting for former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough or for yet another Houston attorney named Don Yarborough, a longtime voice in Texas politics. Yarbrough said that a survey showed identification with the Yarboroughs hurt him in a try for state treasurer in 1974.

Claiming the media have reported his legal difficulties inaccurately, Yarbrough said, "I just may file libel suits to bring their bad reporting to their attention.

Shipwreck proves dream find for Danish schoolboy

COPENHAGEN (AP) - It was every schoolboy's dream come true. A sandy beach and a wrecked ship packed with gold coins.

A Danish schoolboy, Jesper Egersoe, 16, found the ship — not on some palm-fringed coral strand, but right at home in Denmark. His find won the amateur archeologist local fame and a reward. Jesper found the remains of a 14thcentury trading vessel in the water near his family's summer cottage on the west coast of the island of Zealand while diving with a simple mask and fished up an antique pewter plate, which he sent to the Danish National Museum. This summer he made the big catch - 94 gold coins.

To keep away yandals, Jesper kept his find a secret, except for telling his parents and the National Museum. which sent professional searchers to the spot. They found a further 16 coins, pewter plates, part of a bronze cooking pot, sailcloth and some textiles

There were remains of animal bones, possibly from the last meal for the crew before the ship foundered on the Danish coast near the Skaggerak.

It was probably on its way to the Baltic for trading.

Archeologists identified the coins as English nobles minted in the reign of Edward III (1327-77). There were 74 nobles, 30 halves and four quarters. None was from the time of Edward's successor, Richard II, making the wreck at least 600 years old. There was one gold gulden from Luebeck. Germany and a silver coin from Flanders, Belgium.

At the time they were minted the gold nobles would have bought 450 cows - a fortune for those times. Experts valued the coins at present day prices at about $100,000.

The ship was a kogge, or sailing barge, 45 to 60 feet in length. It was lost between Tisvildleje and Raageleje on the west coast of Zealand. The exact location of the wreck is still a secret as the National Museum hopes to raise the wreck and they don't want anybody tinkering with it. The plan depends on raising money as neither the Museum nor the Maritime Museum of historic ships at Roskilde have enough funds.

Jesper used only a mask and snorkel for his search. But now he plans to buy a real scuba outfit with part of his finder's reward. The Museum awarded him $2,450. They said he deserved more, but that was all they could afford. Jesper said he was content, although he would have liked to keep just one gold coin as a souvenir.

He said he was first attracted to the area when he found the pewter plate. He took a look at the ribs of what local people said was the wreck of a fishing boat. But when he saw wooden nails in the ribs, he knew he was looking at an ancient vessel. He dived and dived, scraping at the sand for the brief time he was able to stay under.

Then his fingers touched the first gold coin. He rushed home with it. clutching it to his stomach so people on the beach would not see it. Next day he went back and retrieved another 93 coins.

Submarine archeologist Ole Crumlin-Pedersen hurried to the spot after Jesper's tip. He and his assistants pretended to be tourists camping on the beach while they searched for more treasure.

The National Museum recently opened a special exhibition of "Treasure from Sea."

FOA chief active

By WILLIAM TUOHY The Los Angeles Times

ROME — A few months ago, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations was badly shaken by the public accusation that it was overstaffed and underworked and clogged with paperwork, studies and conferences.

The Rome-based agency, the largest of the U.N.'s specialized organization, was especially staggered because the criticism came not from a disgruntled outsider but from its newly elected director general, Edouard Saouma.

Since then, the stocky, single-minded Saouma has tried to whittle down the 6,400-member staff of the agency and redirect the efforts of FAO which is designed to fight the poverty and malnutration that affects half the world's people.

In so doing, Saouma, a 49-year-old Lebanese Christian and 14-year veteran of the agency, has brought the FAO, in his words, "to a turning point in its history" and has become its most controversial employe.

Saouma's supporters say that he is the kind of strong, forceful per sonality the sprawling agency needs to lead it. His detractors say he is a ruthless martinet misguided in his aims

Some critics even draw attention to the $26,000 he spent to redecorate the director general's office with suede-lined walls and to have his desk mounted on a slight podium called "the throne room

In his refurbished of fice. Director General Saouma, who serves a six-year term, admits that there is a morale problem, but says he believes it is only temporary Saouma's words have been accompanied by action: He canceled 330 new posts approved by his predecessor. He dropped 155 international meetings. And he junked 94 publications.

He thus effected savings of nearly $20 million in the $167 million biennial budget, and thereby was able to set up an $18.5 million emergency field fund for

In principle, almost everyone has applauded aouma's effort to cut down the tangle of bureaucratic meetings, conferences, reports. studies and programs that sometimes seems to

LOS ANGELES - The ice industry. which fell on hard times about the time the refrigerator was invented in the '20s, has rebounded into a $200 million industry by capitalizing on the demand in the recreation industry for packaged ice.

Everyone thought we were dead about the time they quit cutting ice out of frozen rivers to deliver it doorto-door for ice boxes," says Fred W. Osborn Jr., board chairman of the National Ice Assn.

He noted that at the turn of the century there were about 3,000 to 5,000 icemaking companies in the United States producing about 50 million tons of ice a year. Now, there are about 600 manufacturers producing 6 million

Most of those manufacturers belong to the ice trade association which is meeting this week at the Century Plaza here. Some ice firms have been acquired in recent years, but the majority are still family-owned.

The ice industry began its resurgence after World War II when Americans began playing more, packing freezers to the brim with food and drink. Partying, pienicking, camping, hiking and boating picked up - and so did the demand for ice.

years has doubled and "social ice" accounted for much of the use. Almost no business, except for bars, restaurants and liquor stores with refrigerated icemakers, produces its own ice commercially. Most of the large supermarkets or convenience stores buy their ice from one of the large suppliers, then have it bagged under their own names. The traditional method of rectangular metal cans which took up to 32 hours to freeze. It was then Annual production in the last 10 sawed into chunks or ground up to be sprayed over poultry or produce.

In recent years, this process has given way to the turbo method or the Voght system. The turbo method freezes ice in thin layers, like sheets of plywood, ranging in thickness from five-eights to one inch. The sheets are then fragmented into irregular chips, sorted, bagged and sold. No one seems to know why, but Osborn says that consumers in the Northeast favor 25 minutes.

manufacturing ice involved freezing the larger size fragments, Southerit in 300 and 400-pound blocks inside ners and Westerners prefer the smaller pieces.

> The Voght system, which he says is gaining in popularity among manufacturers, freezes ice around the outside of a metal tube, which is then slipped out. The resulting cylinder is sliced into small circular pieces, each with a hole in the middle. Osborn says the Voght method is said to contain a larger cooling surface for a faster chill. Both new methods mean the water can be frozen within

The industry has had some problems, however. Osborn and Nikolaj M. Petrovic, the association's manager, say they have been working closely with the hotel-motel industry! which has come under attack for providing guest ice in open bins that may not be sanitary. Legislation has: been introduced in five states to require more sanitary vending of ice by the lodging industry.

Petrovic says the trend of the future will be to provide packaged ice dispensed by vending machines in hotels.

"It's been a bad day for incumbents in Senate races across the nation," he said. "From New York and Maryland to Tennessee and Indiana and points west, incumbent senators are being voted best of my ability during the next six years."

Meanwhile in Dallas, Steelman, who gave up a District seat to take on Bentsen, refused to concede defeat early in the evening despite a comfortable 65-35 percentage lead by Bentsen, but late at night he called Bentsen to congratulate

He declined to make any comments.

Steelman, 32, carried Dallas and Denton counties and put up a good fight in Harris County (Houston) early in the evening, at times leading by nearly 50,000 votes, before Bentsen surpassed him.

Steelman also was strong in some West Texas oil counties.

But the rest was Bentsen country as the veteran politician, who had also run statewide last May in the presidential primary and the primary for the Senate nomination, rolled on to secure his second term in the Senate.

It was a battle between a party loyalist, Bentsen, and a Republican maverick who was on record as saying he was not accountable to party bosses and opently courted liberal Democrats.

Both Bentsen and Steelman were Texasoriented in their philosopical approach although Steelman, because of his record in Congress in favor of environmentalist legislation and his support of minority business enterprises, appeared to have a more liberal image.

Bentsen openly endorsed Carter in the last when Mississippi went to Carter, completing the Georgian's near sweep of the states of the Old Confederacy. Only Virginia voted for Ford.

Carter ran equally strong in border states such as West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland.

The other element in Carter's formula for victory was the big cities of the North. New York City and Philadelphia came through as they have in so many past elections with big Democratic majorities that overcame Republican votes in other parts of New York State and Pennsylvania.

Ford led in the returns from New York State until early this morning when a surge of Democratic votes from New York City gave the state to Carter by a margin of 150,000.

Add to those the two strongly Democratic New England states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Mondale's home state of Minnesota, plus Hawaii and Delaware, and Carter had the votes to keep his oftenstated pledge, "I don't intend to

Elements of the coalition Carter put together showed up in the AP survey. made among voters outside 100 polling places in the country.

On the basis of interviews of voters as they left the polling places, it appeared Carter drew support from the following:

-Labor union voters, 59 per cent; —Blacks, 85 per cent; -Persons with incomes below

$15,000 a year, 55 per cent; -Persons who didn't finish high school, 67 per cent.

Among the groups that voted strongly for Ford were college graduates, 58 per cent, and persons making more than $20,000 a year, 67

The survey also found that Carter drew about 53 per cent of the Catholic vote, slightly below the percentage but far better than Sen. George S. McGovern's vote from Catholics in

The figures appeared to indicate that Carter was not hurt as badly as some had predicted among Catholic voters by his refusal to endorse a constitutional amendment that would overturn Supreme Court decisions that made it easier for women to obtain abortions early in pregnancy.

Carter received a majority of the vote among every age group except one. Only those between the ages of 45 and 54 went for Ford, and they gave him their votes by a four-point

Carter's biggest edge was among voters in the 18 to 24 age group. They preferred the former Georgia governor by an 11-point margin.

With his mandate in hand, what are

Carter's plans?

Charles Kirbo, an Atlanta lawyer who is one of the president-elect's closest advisers, said in an interview that he expects the Carter administration to get off to a fast start. "You'll see him move reasonably quickly on a lot of different subjects.

Kirbo said. A major Carter campaign theme was his intention to streamline the executive branch of the federal govern-

"I think you'll see him moving before the end of the year to get bills introduced to give him the authority to authorize these moves he wants to make," Kirbo said.

Hamilton Jordan, Carter's cam paign manager, echoed Kirbo's belief that as president Carter will push hard for authority to proceed with reorganizing the federal bureaucracy.

"I think he's going to be preoccupied with the economy," Jordan

Ford's two years in the White House were marked by repeated clashes

Hubert H. Humphrey received in 1968, with the Democratic Congress. Ford Democrats and 38 Republicans in the vetoed more than 60 bills passed by Congress, and Carter made an issue of the antagonism between the legislative and executive branches, saying there would be more cooperation with the Democrats holding power both in Congress and at the White House. The party lineup in the House and

Senate will be identical to what it was in the 94th Congress: 290 Democrats to 145 Republicans in the House and 62

But the Senate will see one of the largest turnovers in recent years.

Eight veteran senators, four Democrats and four Republicans, did not seek re-election. They included Senate Majority Leader Mike

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

NEW YORK (AP) - Bo Schembechler and the Michigan Wolverines never have been known as the Happiness Boys, but they are capable of making an occasional joke.

Here is one courtesy of Scheembechler: "We have to keep our momentum going. There are teams left on our schedule that can still beat

And from quarterback Rick Leach: "You can't take any Big Ten team for granted."

Well, yes, there still are teams on Michigan's schedule that can beat the Wolverines. There is Ohio State on Nov. 20 and whatever team they play in whatever bowl they go to. But first there is Purdue this Saturday and Illinois next week. The last time the Wolverines lost to those teams was 1966, when Purdue won a 22-21 squeaker and Illinois prevailed

So, in this election year, the immediate choice lies between Michigan and Purdue, and here is one vote for ... Michigan 35-6.

Last week's score was 48 right, 23 wrong for a .676 percentage, making the season's count to 385-157-10-...710.

Florida vs. Georgia at Jacksonville: This game always is played in the Gator Bowl, but both teams are shooting for the Sugar Bowl, where the Southeastern Conference

The performance earned the Red Raider strong safety The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week award

"My dad was at the game and he was thrilled to death," said Dupre. "In fact, he was as thrilled as I was."

Young Dupre hasn't had all that many goose bumps. He was listed as a backup behind free safety Greg Frazier when the season began. He was moved to strong safety when Allen Emerson went down.

"I was a little discouraged but I knew eventually I would get my chance," said Dupre. "I thought I was going to score when I intercepted that pass. (Mike) Cordaro threw it right to me. I saw some daylight it closed fast. Later I looked at the films and I

Four-way tie possible in 5-4A

By BOB DILLON

The torrid District 5-4A football race goes into its final two weekends with two mighty big games on tap.

Robert E. Lee's Rebels take on the dangerous Abilene Eagles in Memorial Stadium while Odessa Permian, smarting from last week's 14-13 loss to the Rebels, fights for its life in San Angelo.

There is a remote possibility that the 5-4A race could wind up in a fourway tie. That's right folks.

Here's how it could happen and remember that nothing is impossible

Abilene would have to knock off Lee and San Angelo trip Permian Friday. That would give both the Rebels and Panthers two losses each.

Then the following weekend. Permian would have to upend Odessa High while Lee and Abilene would have to beat Midland and Cooper. That would have Lee, Permian, OHS

New Orleans trips Boston in NBA play well as we can we would have beat

By The Associated Press

The early results are in and it appears that the New Orleans Jazz have established themselves as a candidate for the most improved team in the National Basketball Association.

Last season, the Jazz compiled a 38-44 record and finished fourth in the Central Division.

Tuesday night, New Orleans handed the defending champion Boston Celtics their first setback of the season, 115-97, before a Superdome crowd of 17,104 for its fourth victory in six games.

In other games, the Milwaukee Bucks topped the Seattle SuperSonics 125-113, the Golden State Warriors beat the Detroit Pistons 111-98 and the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Atlanta Hawks 129-116. Pete Maravich, who entered the game as the league's leading scorer with a 30.7 average, collected 43 points in triggering the Jazz attack. He scored 26 points in the second half when New Orleans expanded its 48-45 halftime edge. Dave Cowens' 30 points and 17 rebounds paced Boston, which had won its first four games.

New Orleans Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said, "It was a great win in front of a great crowd but people often forget that it's not who you beat but how many teams you beat that counts in the NBA

'We wanted to take the run away from Boston and force them into a patterned game to make them earn their baskets. You can't give a team like this easy baskets."

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said, "The Jazz played as well as they can and they beat us. But if we play as

Penguins finally post victory ball Association ONTERNCE Division IN NHL with win over Kings

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Penguins have their first victory in eight games and the National Hockey League club figures it finally is putting things together.

"Tonight we got off on top with two first-period goals and then we didn't make any mistakes the rest of the way," said Syl Apps, after contributing two goals and an assist in a 7-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Kings Tuesday night.

In the only other NHL game Tuesday night, the New York Islanders opened a four-point lead over Philadelphia in the Patrick Division by defeating the Colorado Rockies 5-1.

In the World Hockey Association, Phoenix topped Quebec 5-3, Calgary edged the Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-3, Houston overcame Winnipeg 3-1 and San Diego nipped Birmingham 4-3 in overtime.

The Penguins, who had three losses and four ties in their previous seven games, got some strong goaltending from Dunc Wilson.

"When Wilson had to make saves, he stopped everything they could throw at him," said Pittsburgh Coach Ken Schinkel. "He made several key saves in the first period which might have turned the game around."

Rick Kehoe had two goals and an assist for the Penguins. Pierre Larouche scored in the first 15 seconds of play and Pittsburgh 16-0 deficit to run their Big Eight record to 3-1, tying them with Nebraska and Colorado for the conference lead.

"I've never been around a better halfback than Terry Miller," beamed Oklahoma State Coach Jim Stanley. "If you ask me, he's the best athlete in the country.'

After reviewing the game film, Stanley said: "On 18 major plays, Terry was instrumental, and he also expect more of him than the others and that's part of what makes him so outstanding," Coach Beck said. "I also think he realizes it's our livelihood.'

Beck now has 1,567 yards rushing and 128 points this season. He's also thrown nine halfback passes and completed all nine, including seven for touchdowns.

"We run the option sweep and the quick pitch and Brad runs with such authority, defenses have to come up for the run and he just dumps it over their heads," Coach Beck said. "It's been quite effective."

Texas Democrats gained a new U.S. House seat and flirted with another early Wednesday as at least 22 of the state's 24 incumbent congressmen won re-election.

The lone race still in doubt overnight involved Republican incumbent Ron Paul of Lake Jackson, who held a miniscule lead over Democratic challenger Bob Gammage of Houston.

When the count was halted in the wee hours of Wednesday morning, Paul, 41, led the former state senator by a meager 1,632 votes from a total of

The two were battling for the 22nd District seat long held by Rep. Bob Casey, who resigned to accept a federal appointment. Paul won a special election last April to finish the unexpired term.

The only seat "open" for grabs in Texas went to Democrat Jim Mattox of Dallas, who captured the 5th District seat relinquished by Republican Alan Steelman.

Steelman surrendered his seat to oppose, unsuccessfully, incumbent Democrat Lloyd Bentsen's re-election to the U.S. Senate.

Mattox, 33, a state legislator, took a seesaw victory over Nancy Judy, a former Dallas School Board member whose conservative challenge was directed at Reagan and Wallace voters.

The triumph by Mattox gave the Democrats a 21-2 edge in the Texas delegation with the GOP hoping Paul's race could salvage a third seat for the Republicans.

In most cases, the incumbent House members scored impressive if not landslide triumphs, although there were several notable exceptions:

-Powerful Lubbock Democrat George Mahon, 76, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, was less than invulnerable in his contest with Odessa stockbroker Jim Reese. Mahon got about 55 per cent of

-Rep. Richard White, El Paso Democrat, received only about the same percentage in dumping Republican Vic Shackelford, an Odessa businessman.

-Although winning a sixth term, Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston was unimpressive in his victory over Republican Nick Gearhart, a Houston

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - It took the biggest voter turnout and the smallest victory margin in state history to produce President Ford's narrow victory early today over Jimmy Carter for Oklahoma's eight electoral votes.

Ford defeated the Carter by less than one per cent of the total record voter turnout of nearly 1.1 million. It marked only the fourth time since statehood that Oklahoma has supported the presidential loser. The last previous time was in 1960 when Oklahomans voted for Richard Nixon and the nation voted for John F. Kennedy.

With 99 per cent of the votes counted, Ford led by about 7,400 votes. He had 532,353 votes, or 49.7 per cent, Carter had 524,922, or 49 per cent, and independent candidate Eugene McCarthy had 13,772, or 1.3 per cent.

The race was a fierce seesaw contest from the time the polls closed at 7 p.m. Tuesday until Ford pulled ahead to stay shortly after 1:30 a.m. today.

Carter swept rural Oklahoma, winning 56 of the state's 77 counties in making a strong effort to become only the second Democratic presidential candidate to carry Oklahoma since Harry Truman's 1948 victory over Thomas Dewey.

But most of the 21 counties Ford won were big ones and his dominance in the cities, particularly Tulsa and Oklahoma City, gave him the victory. Ford led Carter by approximately 70,000 votes in the state's two most populous counties and he carried eight of the 10 heaviest voting counties.

Carter carried only Muskogee and Pottawatomie counties among the larger ones, losing Oklahoma, Tulsa, Cleveland, Comanche, Garfield, Kay, Payne and Washington counties to Ford.

The record voter turnout topped the previous record of 1,057,396, set in 1972 when Nixon swamped came at the expense of Atlanta George McGovern and became the only Republican to sweep all 77 Oklahoma counties.

Supporters of both presidential candidates had said the race might be the closest in state history and it was, eclipsing the previous low, a 12,000-vote margin William Jennings Bryan forged over Republican William Howard Taft way back in 1908. Only about 250,000 people voted in that one.

Ford's victory was the six for the GOP in the last seven state presidential elections. Lyndon Johnson's Washington sex scandal to beat Port 1964 landslide over Barry Goldwater was the only Lavaca radio station manager Dean Democratic triumph since 1948. Carter had appeared to be far ahead early in the campaign, due largely to unpopular Ford farm programs and heavy unemployment in some areas. But Ford caught up in the final weeks before the election, helped considerably by Carter's controversial Playboy magazine interview. Carter scored decisive victories in the traditional Democratic strongholds in southern and eastern Oklahoma, but the voter turnout, while extremely heavy in all areas, was lighter in the Democraticdominated southeast than in any other section.

Ford was hurt by less-than-normal support in northwestern Oklahoma. Wheat farmers in that area usually give Republican candidates huge majorities, but Ford's wheat embargoes were extremely unpopular and he wound up having to struggle to stay ahead in many northwestern counties.

Midland County's new district attorney, Vern Martin, seated center, joins his family in recapping his election victory on a

GOP Martin 'very relieved' at conclusion of election

By DEBBIE PIERCE

Vern F. Martin was "very, very relieved" at the outcome of Tuesday's general election.

Midland voters gave Republican Martin district attorney's post by more than 5,000 votes over Democratic challenger Trey Lohmann, who polled 9.658 votes.

First results showed Martin grabbing an early lead, and the final tally reflected the initial trend.

'Of course, we expected to win, but we didn't know by how much, and we're very thankful to the voters," Martin said. "We intend to do the best we can not only to carry on the traditions of this office but also to

Martin, who holds a BS degree in government from East Texas State University and a law degree from The University of Texas School of Law, has practiced law in Midland 11 years. He is a native Texan, is married and has five children.

"I'd like to thank the voters who went to the trouble of educating themselves in this race," Martin said. "This is the big reason we won the election."

Martin's opponent, Lohmann said he was "totally disappointed" at the outcome of the election.

"It's awful embarrasing to get beat by someone so totally unqualified," Lohmann added.

Lohmann, who holds a law degree from The University of Texas and a BA degree in government and English from North Texas State University, has practiced law in Midland since 1971. He is a native of Sweetwater and attended high school in Monahans.

He expressed the belief that "hard-core Republicans" had "put on a big money push last Wednesday, and this cost us the election." He said that, in addition to the Republican funding, "there was a tremendous Republican voter turnout for some reason this time.'

Lohmann said he intends to continue his law practice in Midland, now that the election is over.

McDonnell Douglas winning sales battle

By JOHN SAAR The Washington Post

TOKYO - Though McDonnell Douglas Corp. executives aren't chalking up the "kill" yet, they apparently have beaten two other American aircraft manufacturers in a sales dogfight to supply Japan's Air Self Defense Force (ASDF) with $2 billion worth of fighters.

Japanese air force generals want to replace their aging F104J interceptors with 100 to 150 McDonnellmade F15 Eagles, and the deal is likely to be approved by the defense minister, National Defense Council and the full Cabinet in the next two months.

"I'm pleased to hear it. I hope its true," said Alexander Marshall, the St. Louis-based aircraft company's international marketing director. The other contenders - Grumman, with the swing-wing F14 Tomcat, and General Dynamics, offering the lightweight, low-cost F16 - are pessimistic but plan to stay in the sales war until the final decision. The FX competition - F for fighter,

X for model unknown - to re-equip Japan with a mainstay fighter, illuminates the tactics and philosophy employed by American defense contractors to make foreign sales deemed vital to the well-being of their corporations: In the last 30 months, the three aircraft makers have spent up to $10 million apiece and supplied masses of classified data on the advanced technology of three combat planes only now coming into service with U.S. forces to a foreign country which is an ally but an industrial

The FX competition is also the first major trading deal in Japan of the post-Lockheed era. The scandal over Lockheed's payment of bribes to sell TriStar jetliners to a Japanese domestic airline has forced both buyers and sellers in the fighter purchase to avoid any hint of impropriety. The three manufacturers million fighters for the U.S. Navy, and scaled down their sales efforts and the shah of Iran is buying another 80. signed pledges that they would not employ such questionable techniques fighter is not yet operational but 348 as bribery at the request of the Japan Defense Agency (JDA). Also, neither Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark Grumman nor General Dynamics was represented by Japanese trading companies. Pre-Lockheed, that would have been an impossible handicap; in today's climate, it is acceptable, even

The U.S. Air Force is buying as many as 729 of the single-seater, twinengined F15 Eagle as its first-line fighter. More than 100 are already in service, and Israel is buying an undisclosed number. Grumman's F14 Tomcat is the U.S. Navy's chosen air defense fighter, with a highly advanced fire control system enabling it to engage six targetrs simultaneously holidays of New Year's at ranges up to 110 miles with its Day, July 4th, Thanksgiv-Phoenix missiles. The Navy has around 230 F14s in service. The final order will total 400 to 500 of the $19 economy measure.

The F16 single-engined air superiority were/sold to four NATO countries and Norway — last year in "the arms deal of the century." The first of the U.S. Air Force's 650 F16s rolled out of General Dynamics' Fort Worth, Texas, plant last week.

All three planes were developed with U.S. government funds, and represent the leading edge of American technology in engine, avionic and airframe construction. All incorporate computer-aided flight, navigation, radar and missilelaunch systems.

A condition of the FX competition provided that the winning plane would be produced under license in Japan.

Alyeska Pipeline develops system to monitor quakes

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA - The Alyeska Pipeline Service Company has developed a new earthquake monitoring system which will provide almost instantaneous analysis of earthquake activity along the 800mile pipeline once it goes into operation.

Conceived by Dr. Douglas J. Nyman, Alyeska seismic engineer, the system will sense the occurrence of an earthquake along the line, determine how severe it is and fix the approximate location of its epicenter-all within a matter of seconds.

The system will then estimate the levels of shaking at points on the line and within minutes provide enough information so that Alveska operations can determine whether to shut down the line, where to go to inspect for damage and what types of damage to look for.

According to an article on the system in Alyeska Reports, a quarterly magazine published by the pipeline company, the system is being

Israel looks to Africa for help with energy

By THOMAS O'TOOLE

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Israel is understood to have signed to long term agreement to buy coal from South Africa, in part to reduce its dependence on the oil it now buys from Iran.

Neither the Israeli nor the South African embassy would confirm or deny that an agreement had been reached, but highly placed sources in the Ford Administration and the oil and coal industries said it had been signed to let Israel move from an economy electrified entirely by oil from the Middle East to one energized at least partly by cheaper coal from a source outside the Middle East.

"Israel is making this move for two reasons," one Ford Administration source said. "Price and security." The coal agreement is fresh evidence of the growing economic ties between Israel and South Africa, ties that were strengthed by the visit to Israel last spring of South Africa's Prime Minister John Vorster.

First step in what sources described as a 10-year coal agreement is a contract for South Africa to supply coal to an electric power plant being built by Israel between Haifa and Tel Aviv. The Plant had been conceived three years ago as an oil burner, but soaring world oil prices and the Arab oil embargo turned israel against using oil for this plant. The next step is said to be an agreement by South Africa to supply coal to one of three oil burning electric plants that israel plans to convert

Sources said they did not know which plant would be converted to coal. There is an aging plant in Haifa, a newer one in Tel Aviv and a third plant in Ashdod. Together, the three plants generate 1.5 million kilowatts of electricity.

The coal to be shipped from South Africa to Israel will be carried by rail from the coal fields in the Transvaal and Natal to a new coal port South Africa has built at Richard Bay on the Indian Ocean. The coal will then be carried by ship up the Gulf of Aden to the Red Sea and on to the Israeli port of Elat on the Gulf of Agaba.

South Africa has contracted with Israel to build a railroad from Elat to Beersheba, where it will join existing railroad lines. South Africa wil provide the steel rails, Israel the construction workers.

Sources said that Israel had not made up its mind about how many of its three oil-burning plants to convert to coal. They said that Israel would probably convert them piecemeal, doing the first in the coming year and then possibly converting the others once it had conversion experience. Israel has one of the most electric intensive economies anywhere in the world mostly because it uses so much electricity to pump water out of the Sea of Galilee for irrigation and drinking. Israel has projected electrical needs of 20 million kilowatts by the end of the century

The three Israeli electric plants now burning oil are understood to get most of their oil from Iran, which Israel is said to believe is drifting into the Arab camp. The price of oil is three times the price of South African coal, which is an even more important reason for the Israeli move to coal Israel now suffers one of the highest inflation rates in the world.

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Her eye was swollen, her body bruised, her arm and thigh fractured when her parents brought Misty Maness to the hospital. Four days later their infant daughter was dead - a victim, doctors said, of 'battered child syndrome."

At first the father told police he was esponsible. Then he said later he ony had been trying to protect the mother, and at his trial for manslaughter he attempted to focus suspicion for the beating on her.

But the rules of evidence prevented the father from cross-examining the mother, from presenting witnesses he said would discredit her, and from introducing letters he declared would show she was lying when she said she was not present when the baby was fatally struck. Legal technicalities often are blamed when the guilty go free. But in to hear, technicalities are being blamed for the conviction of a Florida man whose attorneys say never had a fair chance to show his innocence. Now, the Supreme Court has decided to review a long-standing rule of evidence - the rule that prohibits the defense or prosecution from im-

a case the Supreme court has agreed peaching, or discrediting, its own witnesses. The rule - called the "voucher" rule — has been traced to early English trial practice. But despite its historic origins, it is under increasing assault as a needless impediment to learning the truth.

The rule, widely used in the states, s based on the common law principle that a party who calls a witness stands behind, or "vouches" for, that witness. "I don't know what value the rule has in a modern criminal trial. It can only prevent a defendant from presenting his version of what happened," says Albert G. Caruana, a Miami attorney representing the father in the case before the Court Maness v. Wainwright, 75-6909). * "In this case, there could only have been one other suspect - the mother . The father says he didn't do it and calls the mother as a witness. But under the rule the judge won't let him impeach his own witness.'

However, one man's technicality is another man's principle of law. And on the other side of the dispute, the state of Florida is defending the voucher rule - along with the other rules of evidence - concerning relevancy and hearsay testimony that played a part in the case. Such rules are vital to fair and orderly trials, the state contends.

"All rules of evidence by their very nature may keep from the jury some information that might help in the search for truth." says Florida State Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur Joel Berger. 'But I don't think the Court wants to throw out the rules of evidence and create a free for all. That would destroy the judicial system." The case originated in 1971 when the father. Army serviceman Gary Maness, was charged in Dade County, Fla., with manslaughter in the death of his baby daughter. Maness pleaded not guilty. He epudiated the incriminating statements in which he said he had struck the baby twice before taking her to the hospital.

Election could give necessary stimulus to lethargic market

NEW YORK (AP) - Don't look for the immediate stock market reaction to necessarily represent approval or censure of the presidential election

A possibility, say many analysts of market behavior, is that stocks might and generate a spasm of trading. rally briefly in any event, simply as an expression of relief from indecision. Uncertainty weakens the market.

There is the chance too that the market might shrug off the election results, being once again unable to make a sharp determination of whether the news is good or bad. It wouldn't be the first time this year it has happened. Reviewing the thoughts of the market letter writers, one can detect the confusion. A good many analysts, for example.

can only be made - and lost - when stocks move

In that context, the election event could provide the reason for some of the large institutions to promote activity, hoping that the general public then will join in the excitement Such emotions have been arisen throughout the year, but never have they been sustained, another illustration it is said of the reluctance of Americans to commit themselves to an uncertain future. This attitude has been evident in various ways. Industry, to cite one instance, has been wary of spending for capital expansion, that is, for the improvement and enlarging and equipping of production facilities.

This failure of industry to enlarge its capital commitments, especially since borrowing costs have dropped sharply from last year's levels, has distressed many economists and investors, who fear that if business doesn't'd can consumers be blamed if Individuals too have been less than who insist that the current market, eager to invest. Money that in more locked into a monotonously limited exurberant times might have gone range since last February, is looking into the market has been going in-

Lone Spandau prison inmate apparently due to die there

By MURRAY SEEGER The Los Angeles Times

BERLIN - The late autumn sun barely burns through the Berlin overcast at 10 a.m. these days. It is even later before it penetrates the small, barred windows of the century-old Spandau prison.

But at 7 a.m. each day, the sole remaining prisoner of the old red-brick pile gets slowly out of bed and starts another day not much differently than he has for more than 30 years.

Rudolf Hess, prisoner No. 7, is now 82. For 10 years, since the last of the other Nazi leaders convicted of war crimes at Nuremberg in 1946 were released, he has been alone to serve out his life sentence.

"He is hale and hearty," a member of the american West Berlin mission said recently. "But it certainly looks like he is going to die in there.'

The reason the gaunt, slim old man with the deeply set eyes and beetle brows is still behind bars after his fellow Nuremberg convicts have been freed is clear - the Soviet Union, one of the four powers with authority over his life, will not consent to his release.

Earlier this year, as they have annually for several years, the other powers operating Spandau prison the United States, Great Britain and France - formally requested that Hess be permitted to spend his remaining years with his wife, Ilse, now 76, and son, Wolf Reudiger Hess, a 38-year-old Munich engineer. As before, the Soviet representatives used their veto power over Hess to reject the application.

"He would become a symbol for all the Nazi groups still active in Germany," a Soviet journalist commented. "And then we must remember the question just why he flew to England. Only the Foreign Office knows the answer to that."

Hess, according to the few witnesses who know his mental state, has never regretted his early allegiance as chief civilian deputy to Adolf Hitler.

He was convicted of conspiring with Hitler and other leading Nazis to start a war of aggression and to break world peace. Of the seven Nuremberg defendants sent to Spandau, three had life sentences, but only Hess remains.

"If they ever let him out, he will prove to have risen above his ordeal," Albert Speer, a Nuremberg defendant who left Spandau 10 years ago, said earlier

In addition, many Western experts believe that Hess has never fully explained, at least publicly, the reasons for the mysterious solo flight he took to England in a Messerschmitt fighter plane in May, 1941, just over a month before the Nazi army invaded the Soviet Union.

Hess has always claimed he had undertaken "a peace mission" and wanted to prevent further war between Great Britain and Germany. Soviet experts believe his purpose was to tell the British about the planned Nazi attack on Moscow and to arrange a deal so that the Western powers would neither interfere nor divert Hitler with an invasion from the West. Hess sat out most of the war as a British that was an exceptional year."

Spandau, Hess admitted that he knew of the planning for Operation Barbarossa, the attack on Russia, but would not say if he had told the British about them. Official Soviet histories claim that the "second front" invasion of occupied France by Allied troops was delayed until 1944 after it had become clear that the Soviet army could defeat the Nazis. This deep suspicion has clouded all East-West relations in the postwar era.

While Hess has been described as "the loneliest man in the world," and the "most examined man in | 33MOTORCYCLES history," interest in his case waned until earlier this year. Then Speer, who had been Hitler's architect and then director of war production, published his second volume of memoirs, which concentrated on his | MAUCTIONS

And it is likely to increase even more after the recent publication of a new American biography of ASPORTINGS GOODS Hitler, the release of a documentary movie which | MANTIQUES AND ART covers the Nuremberg trials and the production of other new films about World War II.

German interest in Hess is probably less than in AFROZEN FOOD LOCKERS surrouding countries and the United States. It is il- #FIREWOOD legal in West Germany to promulgate Nazi propaganda or for a political party to call itself "National Socialist" - Nazi.

The small group of individuals promoting Hess' release call themselves the "Citizens Initiative." The few former party members who hold reunions to wallow in the glory of the old Nazy days are mostly STARMEQUIPMENT elderly pensioners with little following.

While other middle-aged Germans harbor nostalgic feelings for the old days, they rarely express 61 APARTMENTS FURNISHED themselves publicly about such sensitive issues as 62 HOUSES FURNISHED the confinement of Hess. Two neo-Nazi agitators, Manfred Roeder and Ot-

Hess was convinced in the first years of his im-

In more recent years, according to Bird and Other witnesses, Hess has alternated in his feelings between accepting the fate of a lonely death in prison witnesses as a nold man beyond danger as a instruction each Thursday in the content of the conten His son, Wolf, said earlier this year:
