Snowstorm snarls Permian Basin

MIDLAND FOOTBALL FANS wrapped themselves warmly and huddled in the stands to brave a heavy snowstorm that hit the Permian Basin Friday afternoon to watch Midland Lee defeat Midland High, 15-6, at Memorial Stadium. Lee's drive for the District 5 4-A football championship will have to wait until today as the Permian-Odessa game was postponed.

and JUDY JOHNSTON

It may be hard to tell the children from the snowmen today as Midland children frolic and roll in the snow, perhaps being sorry that today is Saturday so the schools couldn't close and give them a holiday.

And there'll be plenty of the white powder because the weatherman said it is due to continue falling during the day and tonight, ending and becoming mixed with rain Sunday. Playing in the snow will be a great deal safer than driving in it, with hazardous driving conditions throughout the area.

Today's high is not expected to be above the mid-30s, which may produce a boom in the demand for hot chocolate after the construction of the family snowman has been completed. The low tonight is due to be near 30 and the high Sunday in the 40s. Some drifting snow can be expected because of the wind, a weather bureau spokesman said.

The snow began about 4:30 Friday. causing Midlanders leaving their severe visil By late Friday there were the three inches of snow on the ground at the air terminal and up to six inches in parts of Midland. But three inches of snow is the equivalent of only .14 inches

The probability of further precipitation is 70 per cent today and 60 per cent tonight. It is not expected to be as cold Sunday, the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal said. Winds are due to be 10 to 15 mph from the east and southeast.

Only the diehard fans turned out for the Midland-Lee football game Friday night, but three other area games were postponed or cancelled. The Rankin-Van Horn game at Rankin was cancelled, as was the McCamey-Marfa game at Marfa, due to roads closed in the Balmorhea Permian and Odessa High Schools will play today at 1:30 p.m., the game having been postponed from Friday night. The Stanton-Shallowater game at Stanton was called, with the score 0-0, at halftime. The two schools decided not to reschedule the remainder of the contest.

Continuing snow also caused hazardous road conditions throughout the Midland area. Starting about 5:55 p.m. in Midland, police reported 18 minor accidents and no major accidents by late Friday

Midland Department of Public Safety reported working no major accidents but about 20 minor accidents on "hazardous, slick and Odessa roads also were slick, resulting in a large number of minor accidents. A police dispatcher said he was answering the telephone as fast as he could, but that many of the minor aecident victims were gone by the time police arrived. "They were tired of waiting, I guess," he said.

Odessa Department of Public Safety reported no major but quite a few minor accidents on state roads in the area, including a number of jackknifed diesel trucks.

In the Midland-Odessa area, Highway department road crews were busy late Friday spreading a mixture of sand and salt on culverts and steep grades. A department spokesman said they had been trying to grade the roads, but the method was not work-

Other area cities reported equally hazardous road conditons. Big Lake had several cars slide off the roadway but no major accidents resulted from weather conditions.

In Rankin, sleet began falling between 2 and 3 p.m. and snow started about 4:30 p.m. No snow-related accidents had occurred late Friday.

Apathy about basic shots causes doctors concern

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - All of the nation's programs to prevent disease by vaccination, are in severe danger, leading medical authorities agreed

Meeting at the National Institutes of Health, they heard reports indicating that vast segments of the public and industry are no longer enthusiastic about the "shots" that have long been a part of almost every American's Vaccine-makers are so worried about lawsuits over the rare ill-effects from vaccines that they "may not and I think will not be willing to produce vaccines" in the near future, said Dr. David Sencer, head of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta and director of the swine flu program.

The doctors were also told that four children in 10 from ages one to four are not getting the shots against measles, polio, diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus, long given virtually all children:

The reason is "public apathy" and wide unawareness that deaths and diseases from some of these conditions are continuing, said Dr. Theodore Cooper, assistant secretary for health in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He said the swine flu vaccination program is no longer expected to reach the nearly 200 million Americans that federal health officials originally saw as their target. Next week the government may decide not to try to vaccinate the 40 million children aged three to 18 who have been left out so far. That decision alone would remove nearly 20 per cent of the population and one of the most susceptible parts of the population from the program. Cooper admitted that the government failed to conduct enough public discussion to win support before launching the program.

Some doctors reported that new rules requiring that the public be 'fully informed" on all possible vaccine dangers so they may give "informed consent" are causing some persons who read them to walk out of flu clinics without being injected. Cooper said some people think the same rules should apply to all shots in doctors' offices, and many doctors are complaining that this practice "would play havoe" with their alreadyfaltering vaccination programs. He urged the conferees - who included polio vaccine developer Dr. Jonas Salk and anti-establishment critics like Dr. Sidney M. Wolfe director of Ralph Nader's Health Research Group-to tackle these problems in three days of discussions.

In an interview Cooper said it is 'urgent" to deal soon with the "increasing reluctance" of the country's big pharmaceutical firms to help develop and make vaccines.

He said HEW officials will give Congress a broad series of suggestions to deal with this and other problems by Celestine Tate and her daughter Niya.

But Unitarians don't like their theology too cut and dried anyway, and Wise has encouraged me to seek group participation whenever possible, And since, as often as not, Unitarian "sermons" have nothing to do with religion per se, we'll probably get into journalism ethics and other fields dear to my heart.

Wise tells me the local Unitarian sanctuary is not a store-front but, in fact, a modernistic structure built a couple of decades ago, when there were more Unitarians and fewer neighbors out on Wadley.

And, although they're not ready to get into sausage making as a church project, they are trying barbecue tonight thanks to Harold Harris, who has offered to feed the local flock. Chow time is 7 p. m. at the church, and there will be at least one element similar to the great St. Lawrence festival of last week: beer to wash it

Mr. Harris really just offered to feed members of the church, but Wise thinks a few interested guests will be welcome if they'll call social activities director Ann Hicks at 694-3533 in advance.

I have been associated with Unitarian groups in El Paso, Abilene, and San Angelo, and it will be nice to meet some of the Basin variety.

Limbless mother beats move to take away child

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Celestine Tate, the limbless unwed mother who fought welfare officials' efforts to take away her 1-year-old daughter, Friday was awarded "full and free custody." "You have to have faith in yourself or you never make it at anything," Miss Tate said Friday after Family Court Judge Edward Rosenberg awarded custody at a sixmonth review of the case.

"Mr. Rosenberg is a very nice man, and I'm sure he sees that I only want the best for my child," Miss Tate said after the ruling.

"If he would have thought anything bad would happen to my child, I'm sure he would have ruled against me," she said.

The Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare had challenged Miss Tate's ability to care for the child. But she stunned hushed courtroom spectators last spring by diapering and dressing her daughter, Niya, with her lips and tongue.

Rosenberg affirmed her custody right at that time but ordered her to return to court in six months for review. At Miss Tate's request, Rosenberg agreed Friday to check the status of the case again next May. Prior to the hearing, Miss Tate expressed confidence that Rosenberg would rule in her favor. Miss Tate, who was born without arms or legs, said she plans to marry 23-year-old Community College student on Christmas Day and then move into their own apartment.

The DPW declared me unfit to be a mother because of my physical disability, but they failed to realize my mental capacity," she said.

Miss Tate and Niva live with Miss Tate's grandparents in northwest Philadelphia.

but there were only two minor accidents, including one in which a car ran into a house. Stanton had had no accidents late

Friday night in spite of about four inches of snow No special advisories had been issued late Friday for any mountain regions of Texas, a DPS spokesman said. Guadalupe Pass was expecting eight inches of snow Friday night and crews were sanding the road. Flights at Midland Regional Air Terminal were not seriously interrupted by the bad weather. No air carriers had to be diverted to other destinations, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said. Several small aircraft had to land in Abilene and San Angelo, however, the spokesman said.

Elsewhere, at least one death was blamed on the storm.

Police said one person died and another was injured in a two-car collision caused by bad weather near Seagraves. The snowstorm first dumped eight inches of snow on the Guadalupe Pass and then moved west, the Associated Press reported. By late Friday night the storm had moved into the western one third of the state. A high school game in Colorado City was played in four inches of snow. Abilene was expecting to get abour three inches.

Alpine recorded two inches early in the afternoon. More was expected.

The National Weather Service issued travelers advisories for most of the western portions and north Central portions of the state ranging east as far as Dallas County

The Department of Public Safety said accumulation of snow on Interstate 20 west of Abilene was slowing down traffic considerably.

The Weather Service said road conditions would deteriorate during the night as temperatures continued to drop and freezing rain fell on bridges and overpasses.

Meanwhile, South and Southwest Texas were under cloudy skies and cold temperatures with rain extending from Del Rio to Cotulla north to Corpus Christi and into San Antonio. Corpus Christi had winds gusting up to 30 miles per hour.

Rain forced at least one Southwest Airlines flight to return to Houston after circling over the Harlingen airport late Friday evening.

Commissioners accept Bostick resignation

LAMESA - The Dawson County commissioners accepted the resignation of Clyde Bostick who has served as county treasurer for the past 26 years.

His resignation will take effect at the end of this year.

To fill the vacancy the commissioners will appoint someone to fill the two remaining years of Bostick's term until the next general election. Applications will continue to be accepted until the Dec. 13 meeting of the county commissioners.

New president to be installed

CRANE - Larry D. Sheppard, the newly-elected president of the Crane Chamber of Commerce, will be installed into office at a Nov. 22 chamber banquet in the school cafeteria here.

He succeeds T. J. Barton. New members of the chamber's board of directors are Ann Smartt, Bob Anderson, E. L. Tipton, Benny Phillips and Steve Holifield.

Retiring as board members are Wayne Negley, E. F. McGlothlin, Jack Gothard and Barton.

Marjorie Gallion and Herb Currie are retiring as associate directors.

The incoming president is a funeral home owner here.

Carter plans to wear top hat for inaugural

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) - President- would not be Monday as Mondale had mmy Carter has viented't, ''people-oriented' modest. inauguration but he still plans to wear a top hat, ride in a parade through Washington and attend a formal inaugural ball Jan. 20, a press aide said Friday.

Carter reviewed inauguration plans Friday at his home with directors of his inauguration committee. He also discussed transition plans and White House staffing with Hamilton Jordan and Jack H. Watson, Jr., amid reports of a rivalry between the two top aides.

Jordan, Carter's campaign director, and Watson, head of the staff directing the transition from the Ford to the Carter administration, also denied at a news conference in nearby Americus Friday afternoon that they were competing with each other for Carter's attention. They said the differences were slight, but Jordan refused to reveal what they were.

Rex Granum, an assistant press secretary, told reporters that "several hundred thousand invitations" would be mailed out for the inaugural ceremonies but he said he did not know for what events the invitations could be used.

'Obviously they can't have several hundred thousand physically at the swearing in," he observed.

'We want to take away some of the aspects of a coronation," Granum said at a briefing. But he conceded that Carter would appear in formal attire, including a top hat.

Despite the number of invitations, he said, "the main direction ... is setting a tone that is more modest" than previous inaugural ceremonies.

The inauguration traditionally involves the actual swearing-in ceremony on the east side of the Capitol, a parade along Pennsylvania Avenue and a series of inaugural balls to which party faithful are invited and for which they pay.

Normally there is seating for less than 100,000 at invitational events but not all of those invited can always attend. Granum said fees will be levied for some events "but the plan is to keep them in the range of the ordinary He said there may be some seats reserved for VIPs "but it will be a minimum." "The governor is particularly interested in making this as accessible, as people-oriented as possible, Granum reported, saying that this was designed to set the tone for the Carter administration. Granum also revealed:

-That Carter met for a half hour with Secret Service officials to review their work at the White House and in Plains: -That since election day Carter has received congratulatory messages from the leaders of 126 countries; -That Carter would meet Saturday morning with Dean Rusk, the former secretary of State, in Plains, to talk about foreign affairs;

—That Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale would meet with Carter in Plains sometime next week but that it Under questioning Granum said that Carter had not received any communications from former President Nixon since the election.

Watson, an Atlanta lawyer, said that he did not anticipate that Carter's final choice for top Cabinet positions would "come as a total surprise to the public" because the candidates will be interviewed by Carter and their names will thus eventually become known.

He said that 200 top-priority decisions have been outlined for Carter dealing with both policy matters, appointments and structure of the White House staff.

Harris named Firefighter of month

Lt. Troy Glen Harris was honored this week as the Firefighter of the Month by the Midland Downtown Lions Club. Harris, 33, is a 10-year veteran with the Midland Fire Department. A native of Midland, he now serves at Fire Station No. 2 at New Jersey and Baird Streets.

The honoree currently is a state certified firefighter, a state certified Emergency Medical Technician, a CPR instructor for the American Heart Association and the American Red Cross, a standard and advanced first aid instructor for the American Red Cross and a member of the PTA. Harris graduated with honors from Midland College with an associate degree in fire science technology. He served four years in the U.S. Air Force, was a first aid skills instructor for EMT classes, was an ambulance attendant and served as vice chairman for the Firefighter of the Month and Year committee.

In his spare time, Harris enjoys hunting and camping and is a CB radio enthusiast. He and his wife Michal reside at 3221 Kessler Ave. and have a son and a daughter.

Briscoe sees no need of new taxes in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Gov. Dolph Briscoe said Friday he sees no need of new or added taxes in Texas for many years, "if we maintain a sound fiscal program."

Briscoe made the statement to newsman after appearing at the annual meeting of the Texas Research League where several speakers predicted Briscoe's 1977 legislative aims, along with others, were likely to call for a big tax bill in the future.

"It's all a matter of determination," Briscoe told the news conference. "I'm confident that what we have done in the past we can do in the futre. If we maintain a sound fiscal program there is no doubt in my mind that Texas can for many years in the future meet its needs without new or added taxes."

At the morning session of the League, which is largely financed by large corporations in Texas, James W. McGrew, executive director, said there must be "major modifications" in proposals before the 1977 legislature if they fit within available funds. Then he added that none of the proposals, including Briscoe's for public school financing and highway relief, were for just one year.

"Once initiated, it could be expected that they would be continued, and the overwhelming likelihood is that they would increase as the years went by," McGrew said. "And that, in turn, means that eventually there will develop a need for additional state revenues that will dwarf any tax bill enacted by the Texas Legislature in the past.

"I stand with my programs," Briscoe told the news conference. "I know of no need of any change with the programs I presented.

Dr. Glenn Ivy of the league staff recommended, in a speech, that local school district continue paying 20 to 25 per cent of the cost of operating schools, instead of dropping the local contribution to 10 per cent as Briscoe recommended.

John Poerner, a Briscoe aide active in drawing up the school financing program, said Ivy's speech "was very biased, full of half truths." He said the League approach was a "warmover of the John Connally approach in McGrew told the annual meeting that he estimates the 1977 legislature will have about $2.8 billion for increased state spending. However, he estimated that spending proposals and tax relief plans now widely discussed would cost about $4.1 billion. These include $1.8 billion more for current services because of inflation and population growth; $500,000 for utility tax relief; $1 billion to let the state take over more school operating costs and relieve local property taxes, and $800,000 to help out the state highway fund.

'There must be a major modification of these various proposals before they will fit within the limits of available funds, 'McGrew said, "but probably they can and will be scaled down to fit within those limits.

William H. Seay, chairman of the board of Southwestern Life Insurance Co., Dallas, was announced as the 1977 chairman of the league. Vice chairman is John P. Harbin, Dallas, and treasurer, Robert T. Present,

Israel accuses U.S. of discrimination

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - Israel accused the United States Friday of anti-Israel "discrimination" by backing a United Nations Security Council statement critical of Israeli policy in the occupied Arab territories.

The foreign ministry issued a sharply worded statement saying Foreign Minister Yigal Allon had summoned U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon for an "urgent meeting" to give him Israel's reaction to Thursday's Security Council

The Israeli statement said that United States and Israel may differ on matters of policy, "but disagreements should not be exposed at any time or in any forum. A hostile Egyptian initiative ... is not the proper occasion for airing such disagreements.'

The Security Council consensus, responding to a complaint by Egypt, "sharply deplored" Israel's policies in the Arab territories won during the 1967 war and termed them "an obstacle to peace.

Israel has established 70 Jewish settlements in the occupied territories. It has moved some 35,000 Jews into Arab East Jerusalem and has said it would never give up that

The Israeli foreign ministry statement noted that part of the speech given at the U.N. meeting by the American representative, Albert W. Sherer Jr., had been friendly toward Israel.

The main concern of the Vietnamese is postwar reconstruction aid, pledged by the United States in the 1973 Paris accords. The Ford administration backed off from the pledge when the North Vietnamese overran the South 18

Porpoise-netting ban in effect

A federal court order barring the use of a tuna fishing method that poses a threat to porpoises went into effect Friday, and the tuna industry is predicting smaller catches and higher prices.

The method, known as "fishing on porpoises," involves locating yellowfin tuna, the most desirable species, by watching for porpoises frolicking on the water's surface. For reasons still unknown, porpoises often travel with tuna schools. Both species are then scooped up in giant purse-seine nets, which have mouths of up to three-quarters of a mile wide. According to Ed Silva, vice president of the 315-member American Tuna Boat Association in San Diego, yellowfins caught this way account for 60 per cent of all tuna caught.

Porpoises, warm-blooded, air-breathing mammals, sometimes get their snouts caught in the nets and drown, or are smothered under the tuna catch, despite the fishermen's efforts to rescue them and return them to the sea. In 1972, the Marine Mammal Protection Act identified porpoises as mammals "in danger of extinction or depletion as a result of man's activities" and ordered enforcement of fishing methods that would bring the porpoise kill "to insignificant levels approaching zero mortality." The National Marine Fisheries Service set a 1976 kill

But according to U.S. District Judge William Enright, on the basis of information from the National Marine Fisheries Service, which has observers aboard tuna boats, the fishermen already have killed 78,000 and must stop using this method for the rest of the year. He handed down that ruling meanwhile continued fishing. On Wednesday, the bring us to the (tuna) schools. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Enright's ruling, giving the fishermen three days to comply.

Since Enright's ruling, according to San Francisco environmentalist Stanley Minasian, a participant in the court case, 18,000 to 20,000 more porpoises were

After the fisheries service set the 78,000 quota, environmentalists went to court, charging that 78,000 was far from approaching zero mortality. That battle continues, but meantime, the fisheries service set next year's quota at 29,000.

Silva said that stopping the porpoise-spotting method of fishing just for the rest of this year will result in a loss of 20,000 to 30,000 tons of tuna (the year's catch to date has totaled 250,000 tons) and for next year "there will be an enormous loss," if the 29,000-kill quota is enforced. (There is no commercial tuna fishing on the East Coast.) Not all of those areas are covered by the regulation, Silva said, so he could not guess how much the crop would be reduced, or how much the price would rise."We don't want to kill

In last week's article I wrote about the orgin of won-derful orb called the "eye", at which time we told you how the evolutionists decided that the eye came into being. I likewise tried to show that the Genesis account of God making a man complete at the time of creation made a lot more sense than the nonsense produced by this so called science. Let me persue this theme with our readers a little more today, then I'll get off the subject.

Did you ever wonder about your legs? No, I don't mean how fat they are or how shapely they may or may not be. But how come man to have legs? Now I believe that when God made Adam he made Adam with legs. But let us listen to the reasoning (?) of the evolutionists. They tell us that our legs came in much the same way as our eyes did. A little animal that did not have any legs was wiggling along one day on his belly, when all of a sudden without any previous warning or advance notice, a wart appeared on his belly. The little animal found it could use that little wart to work itself along with. It finally began to depend on that little wart, and that developed the wart into a leg. Now friend, you did not know that the leg came from a wart just like the eye came from a freckle, did you? Well that is exactly the orgin of the legs according to some evolutionists! I'm just glad that wart appeared on the belly instead of the back or on top of the head. Our whole history would have been different.

Can you imagine people who say they can believe this nonsense but cannot believe the simple story of the Bible? The foolishness of this is that it is a guess and it isn't even an educated guess, but that is what some of these fools try to tell us and our children.

The plain truth is that "in the beginning God created... that is the first cause behind all that is.

I have read much from the pen of DARWIN who is the I have read much from the pen of DARWIN who is the champion of most evolutionists, and I can honestly say that I have never read a comic strip more funny than his writings. I speak of his reasoning (?) along the lines of evolution. These theories relative to the eye and the leg is the product of the "deep" thinking of Darwin.

Someone says at this time, "Odom why are you so opposed to evolution?" My answer is simple: "EVOLUTION IS A LIE!" It is not science! Science is "classified knowledge" and the theory of evolution is nothing more than guesses—they are NOT facts. I know where the eyes and the look area of the says and their did not arrive from and the legs came from and they did not spring from

Kissinger can relax

The election has produced a reaction around the world that might best be summed up like this: For better or for worse, the "Kissinger era" in U. S. foreign policy is coming to an end.

The certainty of Henry Kissinger's departure as secretary of State tends to overshadow the uncertainty which foreign leaders are sure to feel about the advent of a President Jimmy Carter. The former governor of Georgia did none of the foreign traveling that often precedes a bid for the presidency.

The recent campaign, however, has told them that a Carter foreign policy is not likely to differ in its general aims from that of the Nixon-Ford years. Mr. Carter approved of the global policy that former President Nixon put into place - a new relationship with mainland China, accompanied by detente with the Soviet Union and a pursuit of arms limitation agreements. His criticism was aimed mainly at "deception, secrecy and drift" in the way foreign policy was conducted, and a lack of "morality" in our relations with countries under authoritarian or repressive governments.

As a diplomat-negotiator given a loose rein by two presidents, Mr. Kissinger has taken more credit and blame for developments in our foreign policy than usually flows to a presidential adviser or secretary of State.

Statesmen abroad who know Mr. Kissinger well may have mixed feelings today. Arab leaders who think the United the Carter administration.

States has been too pro-Israel in its Middle East policy say they are glad to see Mr. Kissinger go. Ironically, the same sentiment has been expressed in Israel, where Mr. Kissinger's stock had fallen after the 1975 Sinai agreement with Egypt.

That there should be continuity in our foreign policy despite a change of administration is all to the good. Mr. Carter's choice of a secretary of State is likely to come from among foreign policy experts who went into official exile during the last eight years and have been among his campaign advisers.

An indication of whether Mr. Carter will be as forceful in his conduct of foreign policy as he hopes to be will come early when he begins to present his programs to Congress. In recent years Congress has continued to encroach on what has traditionally been the executive branch's foreign affairs turf. It may continue to do so with Mr. Carter.

As a neophyte in foreign affairs, Mr. Carter may have much to learn about the day-to-day conduct of diplomacy, just as our friends and foes abroad have much to learn about him. That he will find another Henry Kissinger to serve as a globetrotting minister juggling various issues of national security and foreign policy is doubtful, but from what we know of Mr. Carter, that's not what he's looking for.

Nevertheless, the need for continuity of foreign policy is such that the Kissinger influence will linger on, whatever its name in

Talks with Hanoi

News that diplomats of the United States and Vietnam soon wil'l meet in the first talks between Hanoi and Washington since the end of the Vietnam war is e neouraging, to say the least.

The first order of business must be a complete accounting for all Aniericans missing in action. There are 699 MIAs and many others who are listed as dead but whose bodies never were recovered.

It may take years to conduct the kind of full field investigation ne cessary to establish the facts. Teams of American investigators likely will have to be sent to Vietnam to conduct such investigations on the spot.

An agreement covering the investigations should be signed as soon as possible. It is the necessary first step toward United Nations membership, trade relations with American business, and eventual diplomatic recognition of the Hanoi government by the United States.

But if Hanoi believes that the U.S. is going to carry out the promises of reconstruction aid made in the 1973 Paris truce agreements, it fails to reckon with the power of American public opinion. Those agreements no longer are valid. They were breached long ago by the Vietnamese on both sides of the war.

WASHINGTON - Some awkward questions have been raised about the huge campaign chest that House Democratic leader Thomas "Tip" O'Neill has accumulated to fuel his drive to become the next Speaker.

In past columns, we have reported that the big-boned Bostonian has raised over a quarter of a million dollars ostensibly to help his Democratic colleagues with their election campaigns. But his real objective has been to boost his own campaign for the Speaker's chair.

He has spread the boodle around to key Democrats, whose support he sought. Some had no serious opposition and, therefore, no real need for campaign cash. Now we have learned that generous sums were lavished on his associates not to help them win elections but to wine and dine them, repair their cars and buy them gifts. What this amounts to is an oldfashioned, jackleg political campaign, one that might not go over so well with the newcomers to Congress who have been elected in this new age of political morality. "We do not believe that our internal notes and memoranda should be furnished to the (subcommittees)" wrote assistant commisssoner S.B. Wolfe to commissioner Donald Alexander's right-hand man, Thomas Glynn.

Then the Los Angeles Times learned that the IRS was stalling the subcommittees. The newspaper's inquiries spurred the IRS into sudden action. Nervous IRS offficials rushed their delayed responses up to Capitol

Glynn acknowledged to us that the Los Angeles Times' inquiries caused the IRS to "scurry around" and gather the explanations that the subcommittees had requested. The intent was to deliver it to Congress, he admitted, before the story appeared.

But the IRS messenger found no one in the offices of the House Ways and Means Oversight Subcommittee. The staff was meeting in another room upstairs. So the messenger left the material next door in the office of Rep. James Haley, D.-Fla., who was unauthorized to receive it. The same material was delivered, however, to the House Commerce, Consumer and Monetary Affairs subcommittee

Among all the explanations prepared for Congress was a confidential memo, which declared that the tax haven probe could be endangered by the IRS's blunder. This embarrassing. memo was never supposed to have been sent to Capitol Hill. It was, the IRS concluded, another dreadful mistake.

THE BIBLE

CAN YOU QUOTE IT? By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER

1. Tiberias is mentioned little in the Gospels as a city. It was built over a graveyard, which made it unclean to the Jews. Herod used force in ordering people to live there, so it was populated by the under-privileged. After the fall of Jerusalem it became important for Rabbinic teaching, and here the "Jerusalem Talmud" was compiled. What body of water was near? John 6:1:

Lima axis and the radicalization of the (Peruvian) regime was dizzying," the Chilean magazine said.

Gen. Gustavo Leigh, chief of the Chilean air force, blamed the Soviet Union for talk of possible war with Peru. He complained that the Soviets "move information in a clever way, in a scientific way, to pit one country against another.

Presumably Leigh was referring to the recent reports that Peru was negotiating purchase of Soviet jet fighter-bombers for its air force, and to speculation that Peru was girding for a war with Chile.

Brady indicated that was a topic he discussed with the Peruvian president. Morales Bermudez told him that the military aircraft the Peruvians are buying abroad are intended to replace outdated planes the Peruvian air force now uses.

Actually, the Peruvian air force already is at least numerically stronger than Chile's. A year ago, Peru reportedly had a dozen French-built Mirages among its 94 combat planes.

Chile is just now beginning to take delivery on the 18 U.S.-built F-5 Tigers it ordered several years ago during the administration of President Salvador Allende. Although they are not as fast as the Mirages, F-5Es and F-5Fs are said to be easier to fly and maintain and better suited to conditions in Latin America

If Peruvian critics of the Peruvian military government are to be believed the Mirages do not constitute much of an advantage. One Peruvian observer has said that "the best weapon against the Mirage is a Peruvian air force pilot," by which he meant that a number of the supersonic French jets have been lost due to pilot error.

Of course, there is much in the history of Chilean-Peruvian relations to encourage bitter feelings on both sides of their common border. Neither country has forgotten the War of the Pacific in which Peru and Bolivia fought against Chile from 1879 to 1883. Peru, beaten, ceded the province of Tarapaca to Chile. Chile also took other territories from Peru and Antofagasta from Bolivia

Recent Chilean efforts to work out a land swap under which Bolivia may again have an outlet to the Pacific have revived memories of that 19th Century conflict in all three countries. Still, as Chileans see it, the differences over their border lands should be worked out diplomatically. are de facto military regimes, as are most of the other governments in the 'Southern Cone' of the hemisphere for that matter. They should find it easier to reach an understanding, without recourse to arms, than civilian regimes that have to carry favor with the voters.

INSIDE REPORT:

Unholy partnership limits panel's monitor travels

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROEBRT NOVAK WASHINGTON - The federal

commission that left for Europe at dawn Nov. 5 aboard a U.S. Air Force jet to monitor Communist compliance with the Helsinki agreement will not set foot in Soviet-dominated nations thanks to an unholy partnership between the Kremlin and the State The commission, composed of 12 members of Congress plus three executive branch officials, will be limited to Western Europe and Yugoslavia during three weeks in Europe because Communist countries refused to issue visas. Not only did Secretary of State Flenry Kissinger fail to prod the Soviets, but there is evidence that he concurred with this obstruction from the East.

The reason for Dr. Kissinger's negative attitude toward the commission is the same as the reason for its existence: the Ford-Kissinger policy of using "quiet diplomacy" to handle chronic So viet abuses of the Helsinki agreement on human rights and thus avoid public criticism that might damage detente. That policy is widely opposed by both parties in Congress, so much so that it invited the congressional intervention in foreign policy abhorrent to any President - and most particularly to mitments to human rights made at Helsinki in return for legitimatizing post-World War II boundaries. Following Kissinger's line, Mr. Ford first ignored Soviet violations, then praised Helsinki as a Soviet defeat.

The inevitable result was the congressional commission to do what the State Department would not do. Although the Department urged a veto of the commission bill, that would have been suicidal for a President fighting for his life against Ronald Reagan. Mr. Ford signed the bill June 3 without comment.

But that only began a cold war waged by the State Department with greater guile and tenacity than it often shows in international relations. With Kissinger calling the tune; the President at first refused to name the commission's three executive branch members. After months of delay, he complied by selecting members below the assistant secretary level normal for such a commission.

Moreover, one of those three appointments proved to be a Trojan horse: Washington lawyer Monroe Leigh, who is now State Department legal adviser. Leigh, an expert at legalese, drove the commission staff to distraction with tendentiously phrased objections. "When Leigh brought up the commission's lack of constitutionality for the ninth time.' one staffer told us, "we had to remind him that, after all, the President had signed the bill."

Leigh played his trump card the week of Sept. 27, with Congress rushing madly for adjournment. He informed Spencer Oliver, the commission's executive director, that the original bill probably failed to authorize funds for foreign travel and suggested he check the General Accounting Office (GAO). Oliver did so and found the GAO, obviously primed, had a ready answer: sorry, but there is no way to finance any travel. That would have ended the factfinding trip, to the State Department's delight, were it not for Rep. Dante Fascell of Florida, the commission chairman. On the night of Oct. 1 with Congress about to adjourn until January, Fascell accomplished the nearly impossible by getting a clean bill authorizing travel pay through both Houses (telling a great deal about their intense sentiment).

At that point, the State Department barred the three executive branch members from going into Eastern Europe. In fact, nobody was going.

Except for Yugoslavia, the Soviet Union and all other Communist embassies in Washington (including Poland and Rumania) turned down visa requests in nearly identical The State Department did not lift a

Two ships continue search

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) With 19 crewmen from a sunken lumber ship still missing Friday in the stormy Pacific Ocean, wind-whipped seas drove off one rescue ship while two others pressed on with the search

The Coast Guard said 13 of the 33 crew members of the Carnelian-1 have been rescued from the chilly waters and one was known dead. The ship sank Thursday 1,400 miles northwest of Honolulu.

The Panamanian-registered ship Hunter picked up two crew members and spotted the body of another, kept afloat by a life jacket, before leaving the scene early Friday because of deteriorating weather, the Coast Guard said.

The freighter Wisteria plucked eight of the shipwrecked seamen to safety before dawn and three more shortly after daybreak. Coast Guard spokesman Larry Clark said in San Francisco, where rescue efforts are being coor-

A Japanese ship, the Shunyo Maru, reached the disaster scene shortly after dawn, Clark said. A C130 airplane circled overhead, its crew trying to spot survivors and reporting winds of up to 57 miles an hour.

Clark said the first 10 seamen pulled from the 55-degree waters were "in pretty good shape, Some of the crew were wearing survival exposure suits." But there was no immediate report on the condition of the crewmen rescued after

Some of the survivors had been clinging to floating logs from the scattered cargo of the Carnelian-1. Others had been perched atop an upside-down lifeboat from the 486-foot ship, and a few had been seen in rubber rafts dropped by planes.

The Coast Guard said the Carnelian-1 was carrying 17 Chinese and 16 Burmese crew members, with a cargo of lumber from the Pacific Northwest. The crew of the Carnelian-1 first reported trouble in a radio message at 10:15 a.m. PST Thursday after a deckload of lumber broke loose and crashed over the side in stormy weather. Two hours and 40 minutes later. the vessel's radio operator said he was leaving his post to stand by his lifeboat station.

A Navy plane arrived more than an hour later, and its crew reported seeing shipwrecked sailors clinging to logs.

The ship went under some time after the men abandoned ship, the Coast Guard said

Stock market drops after short-lived rally

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market slipped into a modest decline Friday after Thursday's rally died in the face of renewed economic worries.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, up 7.39 Thursday, dropped 3.74 to 927.69. The average finished the week with a net loss of 15.38 points.

The over-all daily count showed losers outnumbering gainers by about a 7-6 margin on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.55 million shares, up from 13.23 million Thursday-Veterans Day.

The Dow traced a downhill path through the morning to minus-8 at noontime on Wall Street. The afternoon brought a gradual recovery which stalled at about the minus-2 level shortly before the close.

Brokers traced the early selling to uneasiness over an accumulation of sluggish signals from the economy in recent days. One big item on that list was a series of price concessions and temporary plant shutdowns announced by major auto manufacturers.

Also mentioned were some layoffs in the steel industry, and a disappointing 2.8 per cent decline in retail sales last week, as reported by the Commerce Department Thursday. As Wall Street closed for the weekend, the Dow stood 38.38 points below its reading before the Nov. 2 election and 87.10 short of its closing high for the year on Sept. 21. In auto stocks, General Motors fell more than a point and Ford and American Motors gave up fractions, but Chrysler gained nearly a point.

The Army picked Chrysler over GM to develop an advanced battle tank.

Steels mostly recorded fractional declines, and retail issues were mixed

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks dipped .19 to 53.10.

In other markets, the American Stock Exchange market value index lost .04 to 98.55 and the NASDAQ composite index of over-the-counter stocks was down .05 at 88.10.

Copley News Service "My husband and I just don't talk. I don't know what to do!" "I really don't like school. I don't see any point to it." "Our teen-age daughter doesn't listen to us anymore." "I really feel insecure with people. I'd like to find a way to change that." Those may not sound like questions one would take to a minister, but they are among the everyday concerns that are being laid on the thresholds of them for want of somewhere else to turn. So a growing number of members of the clergy have been responding to this need by specializing in pastoral counseling, which is now a recognized part of caring for souls.

The Foundation for Religion and Hebrew Bible endures throughout centuries

By JOEL EPSTEIN Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) - Like the message it carries, the world's oldest complete Hebrew Bible has survived invasions, fire, pogroms and the passing of centuries.

For more than 1,000 years, Jews have guarded the "aleppo crown" codex, ransoming it from Gentile conquerors, hiding it from maurauders and finally smuggling it from Syria to Israel.

Some of the parchment pages are badly faded and about a quarter of it was damaged by fire during an anti-Jewish riot 28 years ago.

The Hebrew University in Jerusalem recently published a facsimile edition of the codex. The publication, of value to Jewish and Christian scholars alike, is the fruit of a $130,000, four-year research

The 600-page reproductions, printed by the university's press, cost $400 a

He said, "Ritual demands that the Hebrew Bible, unlike secular books, be spelled and read absolutely correctly. The aleppo crown was the first manuscript ever to include instructions on all the correct spellings and readings."

MIDLAND CHURCH ROUNDUP First Methodist sets personality seminar

A seminar on "Development of Religion in Personality" will be offered next Friday and Saturday at Midland's FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH.

The study series will be led by Dr. Ken Lawrence, chairman of the department of religion at Texas Christian University and one of the faculty members for the 1976 School of Christian Living in Midland last January.

The seminar, which begins with a session from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Friday and continues from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, will explore the foundations for growth of religious faith from early childhood to the teenage

Additional information on the study series and registration procedures for it may be obtained from the First United Methodist Church office.

Columnist to speak

Newspaper columnist Sam Pendergrast will be featured speaker at the Sunday morning service of the UNITARIAN CHURCH OF MIDLAND, 3400 North A St.

Pendergrast has been affiliated with Unitarian Churches in Abilene and El Paso and has spoken before Unitarian groups in San Angelo and elsewhere. His talk at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service here will be open to the public.

Dr. John Campbell, professor of organ at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, will present a short organ recital during the Sunday evening worship service of Midland's FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Dr. Campbell is a Midland visitor this weekend while serving as guest clinician for a special piano workshop for Sunday school department pianists and assistant pianists in this area. The workshop is being held today at First Baptist Church.

Dr. Campbell holds a doctorate from Eastman School of Music and has studied organ in Germany. He is the brother of David Campbell, minister of music at First Baptist Church here.

Rev. James Schoenrock

Lubbockite to be revival evangelist

The Rev. James Schoenrock of Lubbock will be the evangelist for revival services next week at Dellwood Baptist Church, North Midkiff and West Ohio streets. Mr. Schoenrock is pastor of Lubbock's Central Baptist Church, a post he has held since August 1975. He has been preaching more than 25 years and has served as pastor of a number of Texas and Arkansas churches. A native of Levelland, he is a graduate of Odessa High School, holds an associate degree from Jacksonville Baptist College and received a bachelor's degree from Stephen F. Austin University. He received his master of divinity degree from Baptist Missionary Theological Seminary and has done additional graduate work at Texas Christian University and The University of Texas at Arlington. He has been active in denominational work in addition to his work as a pastor, and has served on numerous church boards and committees.

Dr. Chapmond Davis, pastor of Dellwood Baptist Church, announced that the revival emphasis will begin with Sunday morning and evening services and continues with services at 7:30 p.m. daily through Nov. 21. All will be open to the public. Richard Jackson, newly-appointed director of music and youth at Dellwood Baptist Church, will serve as singer and song leader for the

Mental Health is one of a number of organizations across the country that have been formed in recent years to foster the education of counselors and the establishment of communitybased centers where people may go for help without traveling great distances or spending more money than they can afford. Started in 1968 in response to requests from interfaith groups of local members of the clergy, the foundation administers 11 centers in the more than 45 communities in the Greater New York area. They include counseling centers in the crowded Yorkville section of Manhattan; the inner core of Jersey City in New Jersey; in the affluent bedroom community of Stamford, Conn.; in localities throughout Westchester County; and as far to the north as Middletown and New Paltz, N.Y., which are in the heart of farming

What binds together these centers and their staffs totaling more than 75 pastoral counselors and lay therapists?

"It is a desire to help men and women and young people find ways to improve the quality of their lives,' explains the Rev. Robert C. Hamlyn, president and co-founder of the foundation.

Hamlyn, an Episcopal priest and pastoral counselor, says that the counselors are confronted by calls for help from those whose anxieties, doubts and lack of self-knowledge are making their lives unsuccessful and unhappy. The counselors also see people who are working inefficiently or below their potential; with the lonely, insecure and puzzled; and with older people who feel a nagging sense of emptiness or who have lost their faith.

The counselors and consultants on the foundation staff include men and women of many faiths. The rabbi counsels Jew and Christian alike in the study of his synagogue.

A Roman Catholic nun and priests with special training in counseling have brought an additional dimension to the foundation's work, Hamlyn noted. Several counselors are members of conservative, evangelical bodies, while most have been ordained in the major mainstream Protestant faiths Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopalian, United Church of Christ, Baptist, Reformed Church in

Some of these clergy fill pulpits while serving as foundation staff counselors. Quite a few have left the parish to become full-time counselors, regarding this as their ministerial calling.

Hamlyn reported that he is often asked how religion enters into counseling provided by ministers trained in psychological techniques.

His response is that religion is "there" because the client knows that the counselor is a member of the clergy and consciously or unconsciously may be seeking help from a minister for that reason.

"We are dedicated to the vision of human potential in the face of human problems," he said. "People who come to us are not manipulated. They identify their own problems and learn how to solve them. We are the facilitators in this process. We don't tell you what you must do. We help you answer questions such as 'Where are you?' 'What are your goals?' 'Who are you really?"

There is a place for religious faith in this kind of therapy, Hamlyn finds, pointing out that the pastoral counselors have had to learn to deal with their own religious problems and crises in order to recognize the needs

"Faith can be a positive value and support in helping people solve their problems," he said. "We are trying to bridge the gap between religion and mental health and help people to grow and develop into what they can really

The growth of the specialty of pastoral counseling has been so rapid that a few years ago a nationwide accreditation and standard-setting body was formed. The National Association of Pastoral Counselors lists several hundred members, all of whom have met its standards for training and clinical experience, and they are to be found across the

The Foundation for Religion and Mental Health may be the largest of these organizations in terms of counseling hours and number of people trained.

Several hundred men and women are enrolled every year in the postgraduate courses in counseling and Transactional Analysis-Gestalt offered by its Training Institute in Counseling and Therapy. Three master's degree courses have been added in cooperation with the University of Bridgeport and New York Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Peter C. Haskell, a Russian Orthodox priest, historian and Navy chaplain, says the concept of America as a land whare all religions were always tolerated is something Americans unwarrantedly read into their own history.

"The early Americans weren't concerned very much about religious freedom for anyone but themselves," Haskell said in an interview.

"The desire of the Baptists, for example, not to have a state church was mainly due to the fact that they weren't the state church, not because of some dedication to the principle of ODESSA - Wally Fowler, "Mr. Gospel Music" himself, will headline the second annual Odessa Country-Gospel Music Festival scheduled tonight.

The four-hour show in Ector County Coliseum will feature almost a dozen television, radio, stage and recording personalities headed by Fowler who was named Mr. Gospel Music in 1964 in Nashville. He will be accompanied here by his "Tennessee Top Ten" band and his Nashville Quartet Boys. Fowler also headlined the first country-gospel music show here last year and is given much of the credit for making that show an outstanding success.

Other noted vocalists booked to appear in this year's featival are Jeanette Lunsford, the tall Texas girl from Nacogdoches who will sing selections from her newest LP album, including her hit, "One Day At A Time," and West Texas recording artist Terry Jordan who will be singing his hit song, "Telephone Call From God," as well as more recent hits.

A special attraction of this year's show will be superstar Hank Williams Jr., performing with his "Bama Boys" band. Williams will be singing some of the songs made famous by his father, the legendary Hank Williams, and also will sing some of his own Rounding out the gala event will be performances by such other noted ensembles as the Singing Christians, the Hanks Family and the Calvary Singers and Gloria Henson. The festival will lead off with a "Stars of Tomorrow" talent contest beginning at 5:30 p.m., in which some 50 participants are expected. The festival performance itself will get under way at 8 p.m., continuing until midnight. General admissions are priced $4 for adults and $2 for children if pur-chased in advance. At-door ticket prices are $5 and The tickets are on sale in advance at Skaggs

Je nsen, 58, a vertebrate paleontologist, is a leading authority on dino saurs.

He: discovered the bones of the larg est and smallest dinosaurs ever four id, and has dug up the remains of a deozen species of dinosaurs never before identified.

And Jensen is convinced that there is a surviving "dinosaur" still roal ming the earth - the ostrich.

'I am convinced the ostrich and the other so-called flightless birds, the emu, rhea and cassowary, are descendants of dinosaurs, and, in fact, are the world's sole surviving dinosaurs," Jensen says.

He says many museums have bones in dinosaur collections of struthiomimus and ornithomimus ostrich-like animals.

"They were ancestors of the present-day ratites, the ostrich, emu and other feathered reptiles," says

Jensen has authored scientific papers describing the ostrich as a feathered reptile and not a bird. The ostrich, he says, never did fly and, in fact, is not equipped to fly.

"The ostrich-like animals of the

D.C. Bar Arizona center bids to aid whole person

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Under the guidance of professors who have abandoned traditional education methods and accepted massive salary cuts, a small experimental college here in northern Arizona is offering tailor-made education as an alternative to the conventional four-year

The Prescott Center for Alternative Education espouses an active, innovative education based on experience instead of textbooks and lectures, according to James Stuckey, the center's president, who is also the fund raising director, communications coordinator, psychology professor and mountaineering coach.

"It's the education of the whole person — emotionally and intellectually," he explains. "There are no spoon-fed lectures, 'textbook answers' or perfunctory examinations. For the student without goals, the student who has learned only how to play test-passing games, the Prescott Center experience can be completely unnerving."

There are no institutionalized requirements, Stuckey explains, but rather individualized requirements giving students expertise in their "Students actually sign a contract (we call it a proposal) drawn up by the student in collaboration with faculty and upperclassmen in that field. In the beginning, research projects, specific courses, reading assignments and working experiences are tailored to the student. Later, the student recommends his own projects, shouldering the responsibility for learning.'

The center calls this "selfdirection" and, beyond an intellectual education, it is a primary goal, To meet the center's mandatory graduation requirements of "selfdirection" and "professional com-petence," upperclassmen increasingly use the professional world as a classroom. Students can be found working in veterinary hospitals, at the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, organizing wilderness programs for juvenile delinquents and conducting wildlife surveys under contracts from the Bureau of Land Management.

As the student develops emotionally and professionally — a judgment made by the faculty — tuition decreases on the theory that "selfdirected" students demand less of the Prescott Center is a college without time requirements, Stuckey explains. 'If after six years a student cannot give proof of professional competence (with resumes, portfolios, working experiences, outside activities or job offers, for example), the center will not graduate him. If it can be done in less than four years, that's fine." Orientation here is a three-week wilderness immersion, including a three-day "solo" without a supply of food, "designed to prepare students emotionally for the higher education experience," says Stuckey. "Using the wilderness as a classroom, students develop the same techniques for survival and self-reliance they will need to survive in the professional

And in the field of survival techniques, the center can justifiably claim expertise: as a direct extension of the now defunct Prescott College, it survived a financial disaster.

The center's predecessor had been described as everything from "a wild West dude ranch" to a first-rate academic institution. Students from around the country were attracted by innovations that had established the 10-year-old liberal arts college among academia's upper echelons. But as the recession accelerated, declining endowments spelled disaster for the overbuilt college.

"Within 24 hours of Prescott College's demise, a handful of students and professors began the task of rebuilding a college using the techniques for survival and selfreliance the school had taught, Stuckey recalls. "professors agreed to massive salary cuts and a currioulum was devised so the institution could function on the basis of student fees.'

Operating in the cramped basement of a 48-year-old hotel, the school began its first semester as scheduled while the $6-million campus lay abandoned. Through a grant from the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation, the center recently made a down payment on a new campus: the somewhat dilapidated former Mercy Hospital, currently being renovated by students and faculty. Ironically, the Prescott College campus is still deserted, held in limbo by the bankruptcy courts.

Recruiting with a nickel-anddime budget, the center has an enrollment this semester of 100, nearly 25 per cent of its predecessor's maximum enrollment. And beginning its second year offering courses like White Water Rafting, Ecology of Psychology and Personal Growth and Religious Experience and the Environment, the center is operating in "The innovations for which Prescott College was famous, Stuckey says, "were purified and strengthened through the closing of the college and the center's opening.

To underscore his claim, Stuckey points to last year's graduates - 100 per cent were employed in their respective fields at graduation.

Though the center itself does not offer a degree, it offers students a recognized undergraduate degree through an affiliation with Johnston College, an experimental branch of the University of Redlands.

Convertibles a la trucker

CHICAGO (AP) - U.S. auto makers stopped producing convertibles at the end of the 1976 model year, but a truck driver has inadvertently turned four 1977 Cadillacs into the open-air variety.

Authorities said the driver, iden-tified as Jesse Pitt of Woodhaven, Mich., was hauling the cars on an automobile carrier down a Chicago street Monday when he misjudged the clearance of a concrete overpass.

Before Pitt could stop, the carrier passed under the bridge, shearing off the tops of the four luxury cars.

Manges blames Connally, FDIC for bank problems.

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Clinton Manges, a banker-rancher and former ally of power-broker families of South Texas, blamed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and former Texas Gov. John B. Connally Friday for problems faced by his First State Bank and Trust Co. of Rio Grande City.

At the same time, Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra announced he will launch a grand jury investigation to determine if there were any law violations by persons spreading rumors about a "run" on the bank.

He said he intended to subpoena FDIC regional director Charles M. Pickett of Dallas.

Manges made the charges as he watched dozens of small depositors withdraw their money from the $19million bank following an an-nouncement by the FDIC that it no longer would insure deposits at the Manges and other bank officials said it was the bank that voluntarily withdrew from the FDIC, but FDIC officials said the insurance termination was initiated by the federal agency because of "unsound" banking procedures of the financial institution.

Manges, a Freer rancher with considerable oil and gas leases in Duval County, has been involved in South Texas politics in recent years and at one time was believed to be aiming for political control of the county following the collapse of the Parr family empire.

Manges said the rush of withdrawals was caused by rumors spread by the FDIC in an attempt to close down his bank and called them part of a campaign that started when Connally was Secretary of the Treasury.

"Some of Connally's buddies were on the board of directors at Groos National Bank of San Antonio when I bought it," Manges said. "That irritated Connally." Manges also claimed that the fact that South Texas voted overwhelmingly for President-elect Jimmy Carter was also a factor in the campaign against him. Connally campaigned for Ford.

He said the FDIC has urged officials at the Bank of the Southwest in Houston not to do business with him and to "call" his notes. Manges says he always has done business with the Houston bank and pays it $250,000 monthly from oil and gas royalties he gets for leases at the Duval County ranch.

The FDIC, he added, also has times larger forbidden him to have an account or state agency.

Midland Lee stays alive with 15-6 victory

Robert E. Lee's Rebels keep hopes alive for coveted District 5-4A football

In 25-degree weather only fit for fools and Eskimos, the Rebels punched across two second half touchdowns to topple the battling Midland High Bulldogs, 15-6, Friday night in five inches of snow in Memorial Stadium.

Trailing 6-0 midway in the third period, Lee scored after the spunky Purple Pack had turned the Rebels away at the MHS two when Chris Gaddy pounced on a fumble by quarterback Brad Wright. One play by the Pack netted one yard so Rusty Maroney got off a 24-yard punt into a strong wind and Lee went in for the tying score on a 27-yard run by junior fullback John Marks. Jerry Moore toed the extra point for a 7-6 Lee advantage with 5:08 left in the third Midland had taken a 6-0 lead in the opening period with halfback Phillip Ward displaying two amazing runs on the slick, icy surface.

Andrews loses

The talented 178-pound senior broke on a 45-yard run down the Eastern sidelines and displayed some great balance and tight rope running as he got all the way down to the Rebel 15. Maroney was stopped for no gain, but Ward went 15 yards for the score and a 6-0 Midland lead with 4:10 left in the opening period. On the snap-back to holder Thomas Anderson, the slick ball was bobbled and Robert Montgomery never got the kick off.

Paul Boruff, 212-pound junior tackle had put Midland into business with a fumble recovery by fullback Brian Crowell at the Midland 25.

Midland kicked off to Lee and on the ensuing kickoff, Clyde Gary almost broke all the way and would have, but for a TD-saving tackle by Alvin Price at the Lee 40.

Both teams went toe-to-toe the rest of the first half, sometimes punting on third down with nobody back to field the punts, due to the weather. Midland turned Lee away in the second period after Rebel Robin Barnett pounced on a fumble by Maroney at the Bulldog 24.

Gary was tossed for a one-yard loss by Gaddy and Anderson made a great defensive play on a Brad Wright to John Lowery pass.

Wright was thrown for a loss on fourth down and Midland got the ball at its own 17.

Lee got all the way down to the MHS 20 just before halftime, thanks to a 30yard pass from Wright to wingback Robert Ochsner and an eight-yard pass from Wright to Moore, but on the last play of the first half, a pass from Wright to Lowery in the end zone was trapped and ruled no good, so the two Tall City rivals trotted off the field to try and get warm in going to the

In Lee' second posession of the third period, the Rebs marched all the way from their 35 to the MHS five where Gaddy and Tom Ready made super defensive plays with Gaddy coming up with Wright's fumble. BY TED

Not to be outdone, Midland drove from its 47 to the Lee 29 where on two consecutive passes from quarterback Kevin Wider, tight end Larry Murphy dropped the ball on plays that would have given the Pack first downs. A 24yard pass from Widner to Brently

Marks broke for 14 yards and Crowell capped the sevenplay drive by scoring standing up from seven yards out. David Hobbs passed to tight end Eric Stewart for the twopointer and the Rebels had a hardfought 15-6 victory over the Pack.

ANDREWS—Andrews football fans may never enjoy another white Christmas after suffering a heart breaking snow plagued 3-0 loss to Monahans here Friday night in the District 2-AAA title decider.

Monahans won the right to enter the AAA bi-district playoffs next week against Perryton, the 1-AAA winner. Monahans will carry an 8-1-1 record into the playoffs while Andrews will sit at home with a season ending 9-1

Andrews was seeking an undefeated season to go along with the state's No. 8 ranking among AAA schools, but an 18-yard field goal by Tracy Lisman in the second period ended the Andrews dream.

Andrews lost a fumble at their own 37-yard line to set up the score. Monahans drove to the one-yard line, but decided on the field goal on a fourth down and one-yard situation. It proved to be the right decision.

Andrews marched to the 18-yard line of Monahans in the second period, but missed a fourth and two try at that point to lose any hope of making the playoffs. The game was played in a blinding snow storm. Andrews dominated the statistics. Andrews had 264 yards rushing to Monahans' 88, and 45 passing to 17 for the Loboes.

Mistakes, however, made the difference. Andrews lost four fumbles while the Loboes lost none.

Abilene shocked by Cooper

ABILENE-Led by the running of Tim Orr and Randy Jones, the Abilene Cooper Cougars upset Key City rival Abilene, 14-0, here at P.E. Shotwell Stadium.

The Cooper duo each scored once Jones on a 36-yard run in the first quarter, and Orr on a six-yard run midway through the third period. Orr paced the Cougar rushing attack with 81 yards on 13 carries, while Jones racked up 66 in eight tries.

Poor field conditions once again contributed to the non-success of Coach Dewitt Jones Abilene offense which had a reputation as the fastest in the league. But against Cooper, the Eagles could manage only 47 yards on the ground, and failed to take advantage of four Cougar fumbles.

Cooper finished the season with a 4-6 slate, winning only two of seven district contests. Abilene also dropped to 4-6, and finished with a 3-4 district slate.

San Angelo takes win in finale

BIG SPRING-San Angelo got off to a slow start Friday night, but came back strong in the second half to topple the basement-bound Big Spring Steers, 20-6 in a snow-filled stadium

Bill Woodard, the sensational Bobcat running back, who surpassed the 1000-yard mark against the Steers, scored all of Central's touchdowns on runs of 15, 17 and and one Coach Don Robbins Big Spring team surprised a small but brave crowd by jumping out to a 6-0 lead at the 8:57 mark of the second quarter, when quarterback Bubba Stripling scored from 11 yards out. The twopoint conversion failed.

It wasn't until the 4:45 mark of the third quarter that Woodard evened the count on his 15-yard run, and with less than a minute gone in the final canto, the bruising 200 pounder, put the Bobcats ahead for good, going over from the 17.

Coach Smitty Hill's Central squad finished the season with three consecutive victories for a 5-5 overall log and 4-3 in district, while Big Spring lost all seven 5-4A contests and could manage only a 1-9 overall mark.

McAdoo defeats

Rangers

MCADOO-The Greenwood Rangers lost their first basketball game of the year here Friday night in a 67-54 loss to McAdoo.

Jay Sanz scored 20 points and Jim Young 18 points as McAdoo lowered Greenwood's record to 3-1 on the year. Russell Brooks had 14 points for Greenwood while Mark Swafford and Gordon Williams each had 12 points.

The Greenwood girls ran their record to 3-1 with a 46-31 win over McAdoo. Cindy Brewer led all scorers with 26 points while Russan Ratliff managed 12. J. Rigsby led McAdoo with 25 points. The Greenwood girls will travel to Rankin Tuesday. The boys game has been cancelled since Rankin is in the football playoffs.

The McCamey-Marfa battle may also be played today, but no confirmation could be obtained Friday night. Coaches are to decide Saturday morning whether the game will be played or not. Neither of the 6-A games have any bearing on the district race since Rankin has already sewed up the playoff berth.

Reagan nudges Mason, 13-12

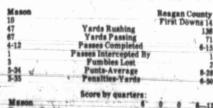

BIG LAKE—The Reagan County Owls upset District 9-A playoff representative Mason, 13-12, here Friday night in what could have been a snowy championship battle if the Owls had not lost to upstart Junction

Mason will enter the playoffs with a 7-3 record against DeLeon next week while Reagan County ends the season with a 6-4 reading and a 4-2 district record. Mason finished with a 5-1

Mason grabbed an Owls' fumble at the 22-yard line in the first period and quarterback Pat Ziriax threaded a 20yard snow bomb to Mitch Rasberry for the 6-0 lead. The extra point try failed. Reagan County came back in the second period to score on a 70-yard eight play drive directed by quarterback Jennings Teel. Teel ended the dirve with a six-yard sweep. Larry Heintzleman then toed what proved to be the winning margin in the snow banked contest. The Owls' Mark Noland bounced on Mason came right back with a quick score, however, to make things scary. Ziriax returned the kickoff to the Owls' 35 yard line, and nine plays later, Ken Jordan scored from a yard out. Mason lost the game when a pass for the two-point conversion failed. Reagan County dominated the game with a 136 to 47 rushing advantage, and a 71-67 lead in passing.

Cotton-wishing Hogs wary of revenge-seeking Ags

BY TED BATTLES

You probably wouldn't be able to convince Steve Sloan, but while Texas Tech is marking time for its Southwest Conference showdown next week, Arkansas and Texas A&M grab the spotlight with their nationally televised game at 3:05 p.m. today in Little Rock.

Razorback Coach Frank Broyles can't be blamed if he's apprehensive. even though the Aggies apparently are out of the running for the Cotton Bowl with a 3-2 SWC record.

The Aggies have been waiting for this rematch ever since Arkansas pulled the rug from under their national championship and Cotton Bowl aspirations with a 31-6 mugging which took place before a national TV

NOW, THE Aggies are in position to return the favor. Arkansas is 5-1-1 for the season and 3-0-1 in SWC, still very much a Cotton Bowl contender.

Bill Yeoman's Houston Cougars catch their breath after last week's 30-0 win over Texas before going to Lubbock for what could be the Cotton Bowl decider next week, but Sloan's Red Raiders have a 2 p. m. homecoming date today at Lubbock's Jones Stadium against SMU.

The Mustangs are 2-7 for the year and are coming off a 41-34 loss to Rice, but after last week's 14-10 fright at TCU, Tech's 7-0, fifth ranked nationally Matadors aren't taking anything for granted.

"I've always said that the sun don't shine on the same dog every day, but we sure didn't expect an eclipse," Sloan said of the TCU game.

"THE MUSTANGS are a team that plays with a lot of emotion," says Sloan, "And Arthur Whittington can hurt you in a hurry. Quarterback Ricky Wesson is still a doubtful starter for the Ponies, but Coach Ron Meyer will have Tony Black, who completed 8 of 16 against Rice for 125 yards, ready.

Tech still is feeling the effects of the bruising Texas game. On the "Waitand-see" list for today's game are safety Larry Flowers, cornerback Mike Patterson, wingback Brian Nelson, wingback Godfrey Turner, center Terry Anderson, linebackers Gary McCright and Don Kelly. On the brighter side, quarterback Tommy Duniven, out since the A&M game, has resumed practice.

In other SMC action, Baylor, 4-2-1 and 1-2-1, tries to keep alive its hopes for a bowl bid somewhere in the face when the Bears meet Rice, 3-5 and 2-4,

TEXAS, OUT of the title picture, now has as its main objective to finish above .500. The Horns are 3-3-1 and 2-2and will be at Fort Worth to play TCU, 0-8 and 0-5. The Horned Frogs come off a strong showing in a 14-10 loss to Texas Tech and it's uncertain what kind of emotional effect the resignation of Coach Jim Shofner during the week will have on the Frogs' performance this week. Texas A&I will be shooting for its 36th in a row when the Lumberjacks host Howard Payne at 7:30 p.m. A&I, 9-0, figures to clinch its third straight Lone Star Conference title against HPU, 1-6-1, while retaining its roost of an aerial blitz by Tommy Kramer 4-3-1; Abilene Christian, 6-2-0, is at Sam Houston, 1-6-1 and S.F. Austin, 1-7-1, plays at Cameron, Okla., 2-7-0, in other games involving LSC teams. All are night contests.

> UT-EL PASO will be playing in what amounts to the Western Athletic Conference championship game, despite a 1-8 record, at the Sun Bowl 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The Miners have no chance at the title, of course, but if Wyoming, 7-2, beats UTEP, it virtually wraps up a Fiesta Bowl berth for the Cowboys, who have made a remarkable comeback in two seasons under Texan Freddie Akers. UTEP last week gave the other Fiesta contender, Brigham Young, fits before losing, 40-27, and the week before lost to tough San Diego State, 27-16, so Wyoming isn't home free yet. In the Southland Conference, Arkansas State, 4-6, is at UT-Arlington, 4-4. The Mavericks share the SLC lead with McNeese State. A both 2-1. McNeese plays at Lamar this week.

West Texas State, 3-5, hosts Northeast Louisiana, 2-6, at Canyon, 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Coach Gene Mayfield's Buffs are on a two-game winning streak while NLU has lost five in a row.

GRID GRIST - TCU's Mike Renfro snagged five passes for 127 yards against Tech last week to raise his total to 27 for 518 and a 19.2 yard per reception average..."The way we played against Texas Tech is the type of football team I've been expecting us to have all year," observed Frog Coach Shofner, and if the Frogs had started earlier, Jim probably wouldn't have resigned...

Southwest Texas State fullback Kevin Jurgajtis and Angelo defensive ack Wylie Turner were named Lone Star players of the week and for the third straight Texas A&I's Larry Collins, the LSC leader with 114.8 per game, went over the 1,000-yard mark....Little Gary Blair, Cleveland Franklin's back up, has proved a life saver for Baylor. Blair is the Bears leading rusher with 407 yards . Franklin is questionable for today's game because of a hyperextended

When the Aggies play Arkansas today, they better be prepared for some aerials. "We are counting too much on Ben Cowins and Jerry Eckwood to break the long one, or our defense to get the ball for us in good field position. We have to realize the pass is part of our offense," says Frank Broyles, "We are working to throw the ball more."....

Abilene Christian is pointing for a strong finish and the spot in the San Jacinto Shrine Bowl in Pasadena Dec. 4 that goes to the second place team in the LSC. The opponent will come from the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference...Three 5-4A exes figure big in the Wildcats' success. Jim Reese is the LSC passing leader and Chuck Sitton has five interceptions. Both are from Abilene High, Odessa Permian's Ray Nunez is the ACU tackle leader...

Lowitt likes Giants, Cards in pro upsets

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Nobody loves a loser ... except your ol' Pro Pigskin Picker.

To get right to the point, there are two teams which haven't won a game this season, the New York Giants and Tampa Bay Buccaneers. By Sunday night, that number will be zero. That's right. We're picking the Giants to shock Washington and the Bucs to stun the New York Jets. That's a pair of real Upset Specials. 'That's ridiculous!'' someone told us as the predictions were made. "That's not nice," we replied as the laughter got Nevertheless, that's what we're looking for. Want another one? Okay. How about St. Louis over Los Angeles? Now how about calling a psychiatrist?

By the way, how about last week's results? The 10-4 mark put the season record at 90-35-1 for a .720 percentage. Giants 17, Redskins 14

If New York had played another of its typical games, namely a dreadful one, against the Cowboys, we wouldn't have considered making this pick. But the Giants' defense showed its stuff and the offense showed it could move the ball, barely missing a victory in the closing minutes.

Buccaneers 23, Jets 17 For one thing, this is probably Tampa Bay's last decent shot at a victory this season. For another, the Rick Hampton scored a team is in an angry mood following what it thinks third period power play was Denver's roll-up-the-points act last week. And for goal to give the Cleveland another, the Jets' defense is evey bit as lousy as > Cardinals 28, Rams 20 St. Louis knows how to go out and get a lot of points in a hurry. Los Angeles doesn't. So if the Cards are behind, they'll be able to come back. If they're ahead, they'll stay there. Steelers 24, Dolphins 16

Pittsburgh's scoreless string has to end sometime-but not it's winning string. Remember when they were given up for dead? They're alive and kicking-everyone in their path. Vikings 38, Seahawks 7

Seattle sure looked good last week-but look at what Jim Zorn was looking at. Minnesota is a lot different than Atlanta. Welcome back to reality, Seahawks. Cowboys 31, Bills 14

Maybe O.J. Simpson should come out swinging at Cleveland went ahead on the Cowboys on Monday night. After all, the fight Wayne Merrick's goal at racket is Cosell's thing. It sure ain't football. Bears 28, Packers 14

Last week was robbery in the daylight in Chicago. Graves scored on a short This week the Bears won't let the Packers get the Bengals 28, Oilers 10

Houston's high hopes are dead. After Ken An-Atlanta scored his first derson and his Cincinnati playmates get through, its NHL goal with a 20-foot players will look the same. Broncos 24, Chargers 17 Denver won't run it up the way it did a week ago.

For San Francisco, time may be running out on a the last four games, is 5-7- bid for a playoff berth. It ran out on Atlanta a long

McKay loses his cool

John McKay's emotional outburst after his Tampa Bay Buccaneers lost to Denver's Broncos, 48-13, Sunday wasn't the kind of cool one expects from a coach who has won several national champiomships

McKay not only refused to shake hands with opposing coach John Ralston, but accused him of deliberately running up the score amd statistics against his injury-riddled 0-9 NFL expansion team.

McKay referred to Ralston as "that horse's ass' and made the comment that when he has been in the league as long as Ralston, he expects to have a

He also brought up his own successes at USC.

RALSTON CONTENDS the Broncos' defense contributed three touchdowns to the rout and noted, "If anything, we were adamant about not throwing against them. Those were defensive points we scored. You can't tell a linebacker who intercepts a ball not to run with it.

The feud between Ralston and McKay is a personal thing and dates back to the days when Ralston coached at Stanford and McKay at USC and, perhaps, directly from the two years Stanford beat USC to gain Rose Bowl bids.

Ralston really couldn't be blamed if he tried to run up the score against McKay, who apparently balks at swallowing his own medicine.

McKay allegedly said once that he would score 2,000 points against Stanford, if he could.

AS FOR boasting of his national champions while inferring that Ralston is a loser, that's debatable. Considering the disparity in material, Ralston's two Rose Bowl teams while at Stanford are more impressive than McKay's numerous championships at USC, which attracts more top grade talent without even trying than any other college in the nation. A look at the pro rosters verifies that.

When you come right down to it, the verdict is still out on McKay as a pro coach. There's no questioning his competence, but at USC he was always playing with loaded dice. He won, but he should have won with the edge he enjoyed in material.

upset of the week. As everyone is aware, this is Missouri's week to lose.

Maybe in a few years, McKay will prove he is worth the money Tampa Bay paid to get him, but if we were an expansionist owner, McKay wouldn't have been the first guy we picked as a coach. If you want a proven coach, get somebody who can win at an Iowa State, Baylor, Pitt, Indiana, Brown or even Stanford.

Venezuelan veteran Jorge Andrew 6-2, 6-4, 9-7 Friday night in the opening singles match of the second round of first set, but recuperated and outplayed Andrew, Venezuela's secondranked player.

The American fell victim to the Venezuelan's fast backhand several times, but won many points by the net and on the baseline.

Playing before a poor crowd of 400 spectators and under cloudy skies at the Altamira Tennis Club, Stockton and Andrew failed to give their best upset at the hands of Purdue, hosts Illinois.

The rest of the Top Ten finds Southern Methodist at fifth-ranked Texas Tech, the Southwest Conference leader; Clemson at No. 6 Maryland, which is after its third straight Atlantic Coast Conference playmates.
"You don't get to play No.1 every day," says West Virginia's Frank crown; No. 7 Georgia at Auburn, with the Bulldogs seeking to nail down a Sugar Bowl berth; No. 8 Ohio State-tied with Michigan atop the Big Ten-at Minnesota; No. 9 Nebraska, the Big Eight leader, at coach. "This is a tremendous challenge and opportunity for us. But Iowa State and No. 10 Alabama at No.

Forest at No. 20 South Carolina. Twelfth-ranked Houston is idle.

If you thought Michigan's Bo Schembechler was whistling in the dark with all the nice words he had for Purdue before last week's upset, lend an ear to Bo's peeps this week:

"I think Illinois is a better team than Purdue. This is a very capable team with some excellent personnel. It has been an up-and-down team all season. The Illini have beaten Missouri and Purdue both on the road. I think they have a better passing game than Purdue while Purdue may have a little better running game. Illinois is probably the better over-all team because of defense."

And on his own deposed Wolverines:

"I think we'll find out now what this Michigan team is made of.'

U. S. gals take Wightman lead

LONDON (AP) — Terry Holladay, the 20-year-old California left-hander, made an impressive Wightman Cup debut Friday night with a 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Britain's Glynis Coles, as the United States took a 3-1 lead in the seven-match series. Americans Rosie Casals and Chris Evert defeated Virginia Wade and Sue Barker 6-0, 5-7, 6-1 in the doubles. But, the night belonged to Miss Holladay, who joined the team at the as a replacement for the injured Billie Jean King.

MISS HOLLADAY, of San Diego, started off unsettled, but gradually found her form, and by the time the second set was half over she was in total command.

Miss Coles had the American locked on her baseline early where, unhappy and frustrated, she took some time to gauge the pace of the court. Miss Holladay's crisp serving prevented the British girl from taking command, but Miss Coles was steadily profiting from errors.

The Californian dropped service only once, in the fourth game, but that was all Miss Coles needed for the set. But as the opening set went on, Miss Holladay's game improved with almost every shot. She started to leave the false safety of the baseline, made forays to the net that sometimes were successful, sometimes not., but she kept trying to vary length, pace and direction.

MISS HOLLADAY had her reward at the start of the second set when three service winners gave her the first game and boosted her confidence. From then on she was always in command. A couple of angled volleys, taken runnng in, brought the American breaks for a 3-1 and then a t-1 lead. She held for the set at 6-1 and got another break in the third game of the final set to go 2-1 up. Then, Miss Holladay used her reach and speed to unsettle Miss Coles, and brushed aside a mini-crisis in the sixth game when on the brink of dropping service.

Trailing 15-40, she sent two backhands past Miss Coles to reach deuce, and a couple of angled backhands left the Briton stranded in the wrong side of the court.

From then on all Miss Holladay had to do was to hold service for the of the free agents available came from Baltimore. They're all asking big money. You can sign only one or two. The Orioles had all four last year and they didn't win. Why should signing one of them make another club win?" The four Oriole free agents are outfielder Reggie Jackson, second baseman Bobby Grich, pitcher Wayne Garland and minor league outfielder Royle Stillman. Six other free agents-outfielders Don Baylor and Joe Rudi, catcher Gene Tenace, infielders Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando and pitcher Rollie Fingers-came from the Oakland A's. They didn't win either.

WHY THEN, wonders Grant, should one or two of them turn other franchises around? "I don't know what one single player will do for these clubs," he said. "If a team invests in a free agent and that team doesn't rally, then they've wasted millions."

The Mets selected eight players and sent telegrams to each, inviting them to inquire about playing with New York's National League club. It was not the most aggressive approach

Avoid greedy play to assure contract

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Its hard to be satisfied with your contract when an extra trick is practically in your pocket, but a cautious player remembers that it's always brightest just before the lights go out.

> South dealer Neither side vulnerable NORTH 763 ♡ K9 ♦ AQJ52 754 WEST • AKQ ♣ J 10954 ♥ 652 ♦ K1098 ♦ 7 ♣ Q862 ♠ K 103 SOUTH 9 8 2 ♡ AQJ108 ♦ 643 AJ9 South West North East Dble. 2 ♦ 2 ♠ Pass Pass 3 Pass Pass 4 ♥ All Pass South ruffed the third spade, finessed with the jack of diamonds. drew three rounds of trumps and led another diamond.

Opening lead - ♠ K

West played the king of diamonds, and South happily played dummy's ace, expecting to win five trumps, five diamonds and the ace of clubs.

South's happy smile faded when East showed out of diamonds. Now it was clear that dummy's long suit could not be brought in. South would win only three diamond tricks instead of the five that he had been expecting.

The only chance was to try the clubs in the hope that East had two honors. The nine of clubs lost to West's ten, and South went out ingloriously.

LESS GREEDY If South hadn't been so greedy he'd have made his game contract. The correct play is to let West win the second diamond with the king. This leaves South with a third diamond, which he can lead to take the rest of dummy's suit.

Give West credit for a fine deceptive play. If West hadn't put up the king of diamonds, South might have thought of playing low from the dummy to make sure of his game. DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: SJ10954. H652 D7 CQ862. What do you ANSWER: Bid two spades. You are tempted to jump to four spades because of the trump length and side singleton, but you haven't enough playing strength for this leap. Change one of the low hearts to a low club and you would risk a shutout response of four spades.

parties and a formal black-tie dinner party on every working day of the U.N. autumnal busy season - the threemonth-long General Assembly. These are held at the United Nations and in U.N. missions and hotel ballrooms scattered

After the luncheon given by the German ambassador, U.S. Ambassador William Scran-It pointed out that the ton said he sent von

"Any reasonable way that the amount of entertainment can be cut down would be a great step forward for the U.N. because of the cost and time lost," said Scranton.

The American delegation has 13 such events on its fall schedule, three of them luncheons given by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger while he was at the United Nations.

Most of the time, diplomats can't skip out. The hosts tend to count the house on these occasions, and to regard the representation of Country X by its third secretary rather than its ambassador as a barometer of their political relation-

These events are not totally useless: They serve as diplomatic bazaars, where information is exchanged and political deals are made.

There has been some informal talk among diplomats about the possibility of organizing regional, rather than national, receptions, but nothing has come of it because these events not only serve individual political purposes but become expressions of national pride.

The main victim of all this lunching, drinking and dining is the secretary general, who has to show up at just about everything. So far he has had to throw 13 social events of his own this season for visiting presidents and prime ministers. His office estimates that these affairs soak up at least four hours of his working day, almost every day. Before the social crunch of the current assembly session started, Waldheim made a public appeal (naturally enough, it was at a long U.N. luncheon in his honor, this one thrown by the U.N. press corps) to all U.N. delegations to curtail their partygiving and thereby improve the good name, the good health and the good work of the United Nations.
