Syrians take over Lebanon's capital

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian troops and tanks of the Arab League peacekeeping army rolled into Beirut today to complete the occupation of the Lebanese capital and try to end the 19 months of Christian-Moslem civil war.

Spokesmen for the warring Lebanese and Palestinian factions said the invasion was a 99 per cent success by midmorning. But sporadic firing continued between radical Palestinians and right-wing Christian militiamen in the rubble-strewn heart of the city.

The Syrians controlled the city's radio and television stations, the central bank and government offices, and the 300-yard-wide buffer dividing the city for three miles.

Heavy machine gun fire and artillery and rocket explosions that began during the night still shook Beirut as the 6,000 Syrian troops and 400 tanks, many decorated with roses and olive branches, moved into the city from the north, east and south at dawn. The fighting later subsided.

Jubilant residents rushed to balconies and lined the streets to greet the Syrians with chants of "ahlan wasahlan" — Arabic for welcome. Housewives tossed rice on the camouflaged tanks and sprayed crews with rose water as they rumbled into an area of fashionable cafes. One man climbed onto a Syrian jeep and kissed two young soldiers.

It was the first time that Beirut had been occupied since 1958, when U.S. Marines landed to put down a Moslem uprising against Christian President Camille Chamoun.

The first Syrian casualties since the occupation began five days ago also were reported. An infantryman's legs were blown off by a land mine in Ein Rummaneh, a Christian slum area. Another soldier was killed when an armor-piercing grenade mounted on his rifle went off accidentally, and the blast wounded two soldiers.

Syrian forces were also moving into other areas of western Lebanon. There was no word, however, of Syrian penetration into Moslem-held Tripoli and Sidon, 60 miles north and 25 miles south of Beirut. The Syrians also were staying away from the southern border, apparently to avoid friction with Israel.

Bulldozers smashed through concrete and sandbag barricades in the streets while tank columns created a five-mile security belt along the city's crescent-shaped Mediterranean seafont.

The Syrians took control of government office buildings, the water and electric plants and the deserted barracks of the Lebanese army.

The occupation was authorized at Arab summit meetings last month in Cairo and Riyadh where leaders called for a pan-Arab force of 30,000 to end the war.

Strong earthquake rocks Peking today

TOKYO (AP) — A strong earthquake struck Peking today, rocking tall buildings and sending people screaming into the streets, according to reports from the Chinese capital. There was no immediate word of damage or casualties.

The National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., said the quake registered 6.5 on the Richter scale and the Seismological Institute in Uppsala, Sweden, rated it at 6.8. That would make it considerably weaker than the July 28 killer quake in Tangshan, southeast of Peking, but still capable of causing severe damage.

The earthquake that devastated Tangshan registered 8.2 on the Richter. Kyodo said today's quake was apparently an aftershock from the July blockbuster.

The official Chinese media made no mention of the quake. Japan's Kyodo News Service, in a dispatch from Peking, said the tremor was felt at 9:54 p.m. — 7:54 a.m. CST. The Japan Meteorological Agency said the quake was apparently centered in the northern Hebei province.

The Kyodo correspondent wrote that the 15-story apartment where his Peking bureau is housed swayed vigorously. He said screaming people ran out of apartment houses in Peking's foreigners' quarters.

After the Tangshan quake the Chinese refused any foreign aid and never announced casualty figures or estimates of damage. But unofficial sources estimated the death toll in the tens of thousands.

Young Atlanta attorney added to Carter's team

By MARGARET GENTRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young Alabama lawyer who has fought for the rights of blacks, women and poor people will be President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition representative at the Justice Department.

Joseph Levin Jr. comes to the Carter transition team after six years fighting civil rights cases in the courts — and winning a victory in a major case involving women's rights.

Department officials say they have been told that Levin will handle criminal justice matters involving the department and some other federal agencies during the transition to the new administration.

In a telephone interview, Levin said he expects Carter to push quickly for a system of selecting federal judges on the basis of ability instead of politics.

Levin declined to predict whether FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley will be asked to resign.

"I don't think that decision has been made yet," Levin said.

Department officials are doing their own guessing about the changes Carter may bring.

The most obvious will be changes at the top levels of the department and its various agencies. Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, Deputy Atty. Gen. Harold R. Tyler and Solicitor General Robert H. Bork are virtually certain to go.

In all, 307 department officials are political appointees who could be replaced. This includes 94 U.S. attorneys and 94 U.S. marshals across the country. About 50,000 other department employees are civil servants.

Levin declined to discuss who Carter is considering for attorney general. The names mentioned in early speculation include Griffin Bell, a Georgia lawyer and former judge on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals; Burke Marshall, head of the civil rights division when Robert F. Kennedy was attorney general, and James Vorenburg, a Harvard professor.

Levin acknowledged that his own major interest lies in the civil rights field, but he declined to predict what changes Carter might bring to the enforcement of federal civil rights laws.

For the past four years, Levin has been legal director and general counsel of the Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery. He and Morris Dees, a well-known civil rights lawyer in the South, founded the center after practicing together as law partners.

Levin, 33, has handled several major civil rights suits, including the Frontiero case that produced a landmark Supreme Court decision for women's rights in 1973. He argued the case before the court, which for the first time said classification by sex was inherently suspect.

Weekend snow hazards fading

By JUDY JOHNSTON

Traces of weekend snow still pose potential traffic hazards in shady areas of Midland, especially in the shadows of the Tall City's downtown buildings.

Midland received a total of five inches of snow over the weekend. The most recent snow of any appreciable amount this early in the year occurred in 1968, when the city received two and one-half inches, the weatherman said.

Although much of the snow melted with the return of the sun Sunday, many patches of ice remained on downtown streets and other shaded areas of the city.

City of Midland street department crews worked throughout the weekend clearing ice from the heavy traffic streets. Mike Anderson, assistant Public Works director, said. They will continue to work today, he said, to scrape or put brine water on the icy patches.

Meanwhile, the weatherman predicts that the fair weather which followed the snow will continue through Tuesday. Temperatures should be a little warmer through Tuesday, a spokesman at the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal said.

Low tonight should be in the lower 30s, with a high Tuesday in the mid-50s. Winds should be light and variable tonight.

Area cities reported generally sunny conditions late this morning, with only traces of the weekend snow in shady areas.

Andrews reported about 32 degrees at 8 a.m., with a few clouds and no wind. Lamesa had 31 degrees at 8 a.m., with scattered clouds and no wind.

After an overnight low of near 30, Big Lake woke up to a heavy frost.

Tito expected to seek new 'hands-off' pledge

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev arrived today for a three-day visit and welcoming bear hugs from President Tito, who is expected to seek reaffirmation of Yugoslav independence from Soviet domination.

The 84-year-old president, looking thinner than he did before his recent illness, stepped forward to meet the Soviet leader as Brezhnev's limousine pulled up at the carpeted ramp in front of the White Palace. The two spread their arms, kissed and exchanged three bear hugs.

Brezhnev, during his last visit in 1971, endorsed the 1955-56 declarations in which Nikita Khrushchev and Tito agreed that relations between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union would be based on mutual respect for the sovereignty, independence, integrity and equality of each nation.

They also pledged not to interfere in each other's internal affairs "for any reason — economic, political or ideological — because questions of internal system, different social systems and various forms of development of socialism are the exclusive affair of peoples of individual countries."

Yugoslav Communist leader Jure Bilic, in an interview with the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia during the weekend, stressed that "strict adherence to these principles gives to the development of Soviet-Yugoslav relations a complacent character, free of crisis and tensions."

Tito in 1948 was the first foreign Communist leader to reject the Kremlin's domination. In recent years, a number of Communist parties have followed his lead.

Recently there has been a resurgence of pro-Soviet activity among Yugoslav Communists, resulting in the arrest of about 100 persons. With Tito's long rule drawing to a close and factional strife within his party likely after his unifying influence is gone, he is expected to press his guest for another affirmation of Yugoslav independence.

The two leaders were to discuss a number of other matters.

One undoubtedly will be the policies U.S. President-elect Jimmy Carter is likely to follow toward the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia. During his election campaign, Carter said he would not use American troops to help Yugoslavia if the Soviet Union attacked it.

Yugoslavia would like to obtain Soviet assistance in its conflict with Austria over the Slovenian minority in southern Austria and with Bulgaria over the Macedonians in Bulgaria.

Terlingua coverage draws almost total opprobrium from Terlingua

TERLINGUA—The reaction is in from the home folks, and it is only fair to readers to point out that my coverage of the Tenth Terlinguid received what must be nearly 100 per cent disapproval from the permanent residents of the town that I expect to be very lonely at cook-off time next year.

I'm not at all surprised by the negative reaction from Terlingua residents, since I charged the owner of Terlingua — pony-tailed Paul Vonn—with contributing to the adulteration of the traditional booze-and-fellowship festival by inviting every available gendarme in Oestexas this year, and since I had an unpleasant confrontation with the other correspondent over parking my car in what he alleges is his front (or back, I forget which) yard to which I had been directed by some of the cook-off officials.

Vonn says the fleet of Highway Patrolmen roaming the wilderness roads (on which to drive really fast represents suicidal tendencies) "prevented at least 18 bad wrecks, one death, and over 30 hospital cases. Those were the numbers from last year..." He also views with pride his estimation that there were no "dope peddlers" openly pushing their wares this year and "only a few pot smokers were 'busted'..." and there were "only seven DWI arrests." Vonn himself only collected $1,000, and the Lions collected another $1,000 for their charity fund, Vonn says in a letter addressed to the editor.

Larry Staton, in a letter addressed to me, doubts that I remember seeing him "because you were drunk when you arrived and drunk when you left..." After charging "Frank Tolbert is the only person who has made a profit from the Terlingua cook-off," he adds: "As far as moving the cook-off, I hope they have it in your yard next year..." and the like.

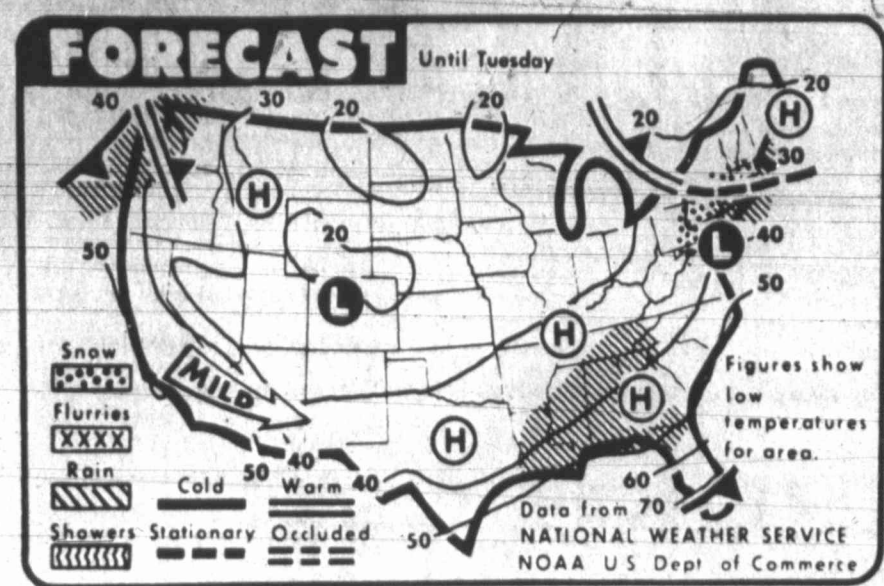

I'm excerpting the Terlingua letters in the interest of journalistic objectivity, but it must be clear to readers that I do not agree with most of the views herein expressed.

To say that all those lawmen "prevented 18 bad wrecks", etc., is (Continued on Page 2A)

Gary Gilmore still awaits firing squad in Utah state prison

By BOBBE DABLING
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Today was to have marked the end for Gary Gilmore. He wanted it that way.

Instead, more legal battles loom over the fate of the 35-year-old convicted murderer, who forewrote appeals and demanded to go before a firing squad on schedule.

Last week, after court rulings first delayed the execution and then restored the original schedule, Gov. Calvin L. Rampton stayed the execution pending a review of the sentence Wednesday by the state Board of Pardons.

So today, instead of drinking the six-pack of beer that he had asked for as his final meal and then facing the firing squad, Gilmore waits in state prison as the fight goes on.

Dennis Boaz, Gilmore's lawyer, said he plans to ask the pardons board for another early date with the firing squad. Boaz said his client wants to avoid the "lingering death" of waiting.

Boaz said that if the state is unwilling to execute Gilmore on schedule it should release him, on grounds that he would otherwise be imprisoned without a legal sentence.

Meanwhile, attorney V. Jinks Dabney of the American Civil Liberties Union said the ACLU is preparing strategy to prevent the setting of another execution date.

The ACLU opposes the death sentence as cruel and unusual punishment, and Dabney said ACLU representatives hope to outline their arguments for board chairman George Latimer before Wednesday.

Gilmore killed a motel clerk during a robbery. If he had been executed today, it would have been the first death sentence carried out in the United States since 1967.

Utah law gives condemned criminals a choice of death by hanging or the firing squad, and Gilmore had chosen the latter.

On Saturday, the London Daily Express quoted Gilmore as saying he wants to marry his girl friend, Nicole Barrett, in a Death Row ceremony. Boaz said Sunday that no formal request had been made.

Prison officials said the request would be considered if made, but they also complained about the circumstances of the interview.

Boaz admitted that the London newspaper paid him $250 for setting up the interview. On Saturday, Prison Warden Samuel W. Smith accused Boaz of violating prison rules by allowing Gilmore to make a telephone call to the newspaper's reporter.

Boaz introduced himself to Gilmore as a free-lance writer and later replaced the court-appointed attorneys whom Gilmore fired after they appealed his death sentence against his will.

Governors eye help from Carter

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Seven Democratic governors from the economically depressed Northeast have emerged from their first major conference with high hopes of getting help from President-elect Jimmy Carter.

The major idea proposed for regional cooperation was a Regional Energy and Development Corp. The governors also prepared an agenda of federal aid programs that would redress what they called federal discrimination against the Northeast.

The agenda prepared at the weekend conference here will be handed to the new president and the new Congress, and the governors were confident of its prospects.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp talked in terms of "B.C. — before Carter." He charged that the last two national Republican administrations had treated the region with "blatant neglect."

He and other governors complained that their region was not getting its fair share of federal tax dollars and has been slower to recover from the recession than other parts of the country.

Carter adviser Stuart Eizenstat told the conference Saturday night that the president-elect looked favorably on the regional approach taken by the five-month-old Coalition of Northeastern Governors.

"Come on down," Eizenstat told the governors. He promised that Carter would "not turn his back on regions that now need help; you can count on that."

The coalition, organized by New York Gov. Hugh Carey, also includes Shapp, Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, Ella Grasso of Connecticut, Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts, Philip Noel of Rhode Island and Thomas Salmon of Vermont.

Maine's independent Gov. James Longley attended the conference as an observer and said he might join the coalition. Gov. Meldrim Thomson, New Hampshire's Conservative-Republican, turned down an invitation.

The regional energy corporation would start with "seed money" from member states and then sell taxable bonds to raise investment capital for strategic energy, transportation and other development projects within the region. The key is a federal guarantee for the corporation's bonds, which would significantly lower the interest costs to the corporation.

Eizenstat said he could not absolutely endorse the federal guarantee plan on Carter's behalf, but he said he was enthusiastic.

The governors also endorsed an immediate increase in the federal share of welfare funding, at an estimated yearly cost of $2.5 billion. Federal subsidy currently pays 50 to 80 per cent of each state's cost, and the proposal would lift that to 75 to 90 per cent.

Many supermarkets turning to 24-hour daily schedules

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of supermarkets are staying open around the clock these days, hoping to boost sales by offering 24-hour service to customers who cannot shop during normal business hours.

There are no industry-wide statistics on the number of stores now operating 24 hours a day, but Dick Bragaw of the Super Market Institute in Chicago said, "There's been quite an increase in the past decade."

The initial boom in 24-hour supermarkets came in the early 1970s, partly as a result of the relaxation of local regulations that limited business hours. In most areas, the stores that operate around the clock are open seven days a week if so-called "blue laws" do not interfere.

Supermarkets General, a New Jersey-based company which operates the Pathmark chain of supermarkets in the Middle Atlantic states, was one of the first to try 24-hour operations, opening an around-the-clock store in May 1972.

Crime has not been a problem for the 24-hour operations because the stores do not keep large amounts of cash on hand and because grocery products are not high-value items from a thief's point of view, the spokesman said.

Safeway, the nation's largest chain, has only a handful of 24-hour stores. But A&P, the second-largest chain, opened its first 24-hour store early in 1975 and now has 535 round-the-clock operations across the country, representing about one-fourth of all A&P outlets.

"They are doing very well," an A&P spokesman said.

What makes a 24-hour operation a success?

The Pathmark spokesman said that geography per se has little to do with it. The industry and lifestyles in a community are more important than its location, he said, adding that 24-hour stores do well in areas where there are concentrations of people who work on a three-shift basis, such as airline or hospital personnel.

The growth in 24-hour operations has been accompanied by an increase in Sunday openings, according to Progressive Grocer, a trade magazine.

Another study, meanwhile, shows that Americans spent just under $129.3 billion in grocery stores in 1975, an increase of about 10 per cent from 1974. The study, by Supermarketing magazine, showed that about $101.3 billion went for foods and food products; another $15.6 billion was spent on other grocery products — including paper goods, soaps and detergents, pet foods and tobacco items; and $12.3 billion went for non-food items such as health and beauty aids, magazines and newspapers.

Weather boosts Texas fatalities

By The Associated Press

Harsh winter weather Friday and Saturday and a four-fatality wreck Sunday swelled weekend traffic fatalities in Texas almost to the 20 level, while deaths from all kinds of violence passed the 30 mark.

Early today, The Associated Press had counted 31 deaths from violent causes, including 19 traffic fatalities, seven shooting deaths, two drownings and three asphyxiations.

The tabulation includes death that occurred between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The four-fatality wreck Sunday came in a one-car crash 14 miles north of San Angelo on U.S. 277. The Department of Public Safety said the car apparently ran off the road, spun around and hit a tree, bursting into flames. The victims were identified as Kevin Patrick Wade, 18; Douglas Bryan Tucker, 20; Johnny D. Wise, 18; and his brother Joshua Wise, all of Abilene.

Clemat Matheny, 36, and Mrs. Louise Holland, both of Borger, died Saturday in a two-car accident on Texas 152 about 45 miles northeast of Amarillo. Officers said ice was about three to four inches thick when Matheny's automobile struck an automobile driven by Jerry Jones of Dumas.

Three members of a South Dallas family were found dead of apparent accidental gas asphyxiation in their home Saturday. They were identified as Mrs. Doris Evans, and her two children, Latrice, 6, and Charles, 5.

Five persons died in a two-car accident on a Houston street Saturday. They were Robert Cuellar, 31, Irma Cuellar, 21, Jesse Cuellar, 11, Rachel Cuellar, 3, and Rexanna Cuellar, 2, all of Houston.

Octavio Rodriguez, 31, of Dallas was killed early Sunday when his car skidded off a Dallas highway, hit another vehicle and struck a guard rail.

Lane Kirk Washington, 20, of Wharton, died Saturday when his automobile slammed into a guard rail at Houston.

A service station attendant at Shamrock in the Panhandle died Saturday after he was shot during a robbery at the station. Officers identified the victim as Frankie Griffin, 20.

Two men died and three were rescued early Saturday when an oil rig service boat sank in the Gulf of Mexico about 70 miles southeast of Galveston.

Problems to continue

A leading spokesman for the petroleum industry, Maurice F. Granville, board chairman and chief executive officer for Texaco Inc., warns that the industry must expect its legislative problems to continue when the 95th Congress convenes in January.

Granville, who was elected to another term as chairman of the American Petroleum Institute (API) at its recent convention at San Francisco, told the conference that the industry faces legislative battles during 1977.

He said the industry must continue its efforts to make the country aware of the dangers of dismembering the big oil companies.

He is as right as can be, but other industries, trade groups and business in general should and must lend full support in this particular endeavor.

This is a matter of tremendous importance to all Americans.

The API chairman said the problems the petroleum industry will face in the next Congress will be a continuation of those it has just encountered.

He said further that no alternative energy source will replace oil and natural gas in the United States "for at least 15 years."

Thus, there must be a greatly expanded effort to produce oil and gas "within our own borders."

Granville went on to say that with a newly-elected President and a new Congress, the nation "is in a good position to set confrontation aside and to set a new energy course."

He said the oil and gas industry is hopeful that a new energy course "will strengthen" its ability to implement a sound national energy policy.

Yes, this would be great, but who knows what will happen at this stage of the game. Meanwhile, the industry must be geared for action.

Preparing itself for the coming legislative battles, the API set up a new major committee — the Committee on Public Issues — headed by Randall Meyer of Houston, president of Exxon Co., USA.

The panel will have the responsibility of defining public issues concerning the oil industry, developing a position and establishing a basic strategy to deal with it.

A 'right' upheld!

A majority of the folks up Massachusetts way have spoken out in favor of the right to keep and bear arms, a right guaranteed in the Bill of Rights.

The voters of Massachusetts, in the recent general election, defeated 2 to 1 a measure to ban the sale of handguns in that state. This is highly satisfactory with many other persons across the land who favor the right to keep and bear arms. In fact, it is hoped that the attitude of the Massachusetts voters reflects the majority attitude of the nation.

The measure proposed on the Massachusetts ballot would have required handgun owners to turn in their firearms for reimbursement by the state.

Forfeiting the handguns would have been a mandatory measure. This would have been a flagrant violation of a cherished right of the people. Furthermore, it possibly would have established a precedent for the federal government to follow.

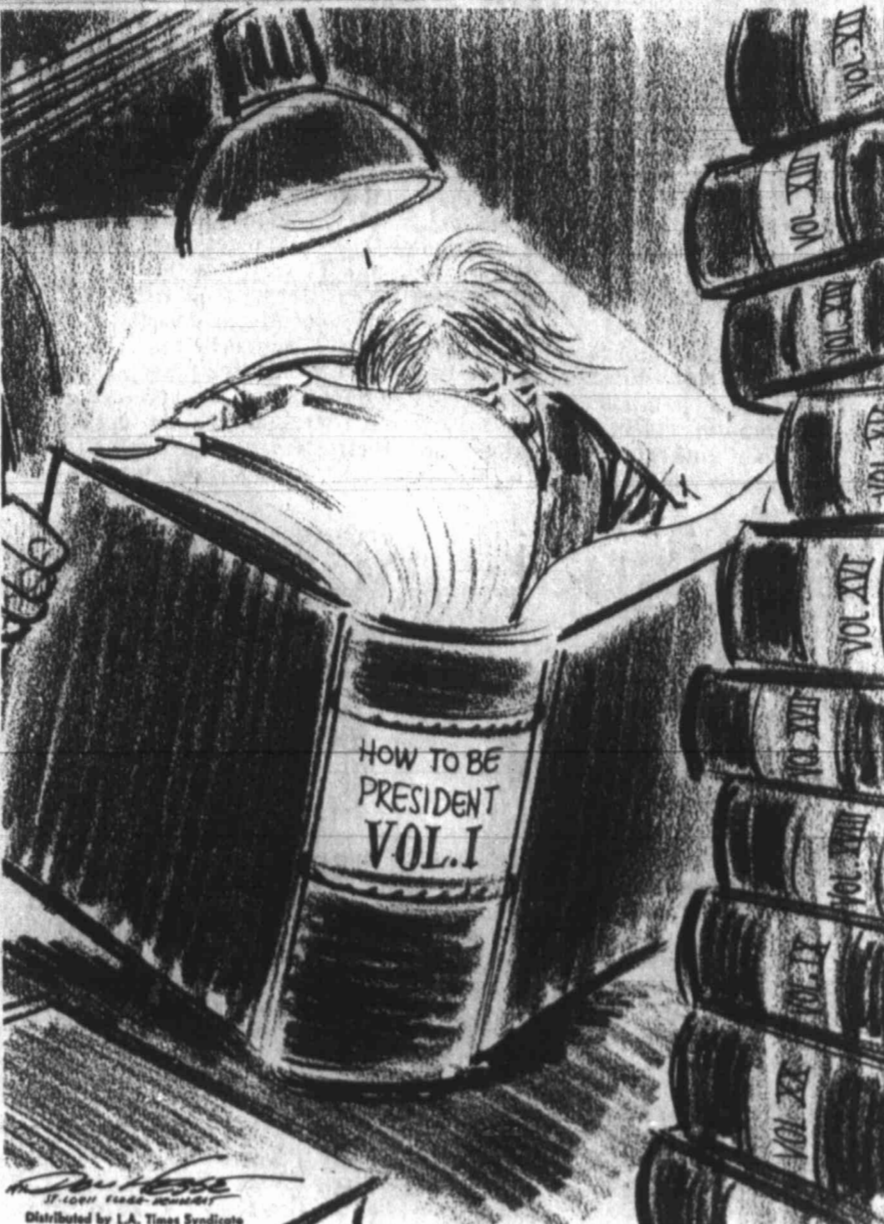

It is hoped that those members of Congress who again and again propose gun control legislation will get the message sounded by Massachusetts, which is very much in line with the views of a majority of Texans, as well as residents of a number of other states.

Taking guns away from the law-abiding citizens of the land is certainly not the answer to solving the death-by-gun problem. This would not keep firearms out of the hands of would-be criminals.

Solution to the problem rests in strict laws and certain severe punishment for anyone who is convicted of carrying a gun in committing a crime.

WASHINGTON MERRY — GO — ROUND

Hebert leaves and Army grieves

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon delivered its biggest bicentennial salute this year not to one of our dead military heroes, but to Rep. F. Edward Hebert, the crochety old Democrat from Louisiana, who is still very much alive.

The crusty Congressman is finally stepping down after a 36-year career dedicated primarily to championing causes dear to the hearts of the brass hats.

Hebert was a member of the House Armed Services Committee from its inception in 1947, and served as the committee's chairman from 1971 to 1974 when a group of feisty freshmen deposed him in favor of someone less inclined to carry water for the Pentagon.

Hebert had indeed been a one-man bucket brigade for the military. From the center of a two-tiered curved desk, with two small American flags flanking him, he ruled the committee with the stern hand of a drill sergeant. At times, he appeared to be playing Charley McCarthy to the Pentagon's Edgar Bergen. Perched upon the Defense Department's knee, he opened his mouth and the military spoke.

The brass hats deeply appreciate such faithful service, so they decided to bid farewell to the old soldier in style. As an occasion for the ceremony, they chose homecoming weekend at Tulane University, in Hebert's hometown of New Orleans. Tulane, appropriately enough, was playing Army.

With a blaring of trumpets and rolling of drums, military officials assembled the night before the game to say goodbye. The Secretary of the Army was present, as was the Army Chief of Staff, the West Point Commandant, and a host of lesser lights.

Four military bands, one from each of the services, played swan songs for Hebert. The Army had flown in its 60-man Chorus and Herald Trumpets, which usually plays only at the White House in honor of visiting heads of state. The 80-member Army Chief of Staff's band, decked out in special bicentennial uniforms, was also there.

The Chorus and Herald Trumpets led the other bands in a ceremonial military tattoo. It was the first time such a tattoo had ever been performed on a college campus.

Hebert, according to eyewitnesses, was "visibly moved" by the military's farewell for him. The taxpayers should be moved as well; it cost them $27,158 to bid aloha to Eddie Hebert.

Footnote: A military spokesman claimed the money spent in honor of Hebert's departure was not wasted. The ceremony, he said, "provided good local exposure for recruiting."

ASIA MEMO: U. S. - Vietnam talks are warmed by oil

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

The decision by Washington and Hanoi to hold preliminary talks on normalization of relations was understandably greeted with applause and fresh hope by members of families of American servicemen missing in Vietnam.

Concern for the MIA (missing in action) Americans will be a top priority at the talks. But in the background there is another subject that has spurred considerable U.S. interest in getting back on speaking terms with Vietnam.

That subject is oil. Because of the high paraffin content of oil produced in the People's Republic of China and the attendant political problems of trying to tap that source, American oil men have been looking elsewhere in Asia.

Their moves have been given scant press attention, but high-level talks have been going on between representatives of U.S. oil companies and the Vietnamese Ministry for Oil and Gas headed by Dinh Duch Thien.

American oil firms had several projects fairly far advanced off the Vietnamese coast when the war ended much more abruptly than most experts had forecast. The prospect that the Hanoi government would be receptive to some U.S. oil operations as part of a war reparations package deal has sent expectations soaring in New York, Houston and Singapore executive offices.

Mobil and Shell were further along than most other firms in the Vietnam area when the war ended.

At the moment, two European petroleum service firms with Far East headquarters in Singapore are bidding on a contract to build an oil servicing facility at Vung Tau, the former Cap St. Jacques of the French colonial era.

One firm, Comex Far East, is a French corporation with multinational ties to American oil interests.

The Comex operation would be based at the former U.S. Air Force base and port at Vung Tau. Since the Comex representative was the only foreign petroleum official allowed to remain in Saigon after the fall, it is likely that this firm will win the contract.

The other Singapore firm, King-Wilkinson, also has affiliations with U.S. firms.

It would construct a base at Vung Tau or possibly on Con Son Island, best-known for its "tiger cages" political prison.

Another firm active in the Vietnam oil picture is Broken Hill Proprietary Co. of Australia.

In the background is a Norwegian group which also may enter the picture in some way. Vietnamese officials have been in Oslo recently to talk about Norwegian participation.

Correspondent Ho Kwan Ping, writing in the Far Eastern Economic Review about the possibility of a new oil boom in Vietnam, reports that the Vietnamese have been shopping in Singapore for used drilling rigs.

Because American offshore exploration technology is so far advanced, it is unlikely that the Vietnamese would turn their backs on American interest.

There will be denials from both our State Department and Hanoi that oil has anything to do with the reopening of talks between the two governments.

Don't be misled by these denials. The talk of New York petroleum circles is already heavy with anticipation of "getting back in on the ground floor" in Vietnam.

There is much dusting off of seismic surveys and production studies done a few years ago when it was expected that the war in Vietnam might have a different ending.

INSIDE REPORT:

Moscow vs. 'world Zionism' has reached new peak

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Escalation of the internal Soviet campaign against "world Zionism" and its "agent," the state of Israel, has reached a new peak which for the first time since the infamous doctors' plot of 1952 is posing this grave question: Is a massive anti-Jewish purge in Russia now a serious possibility?

No answer is possible at this time. But the shrillness of the campaign, now becoming known in the West through intelligence transmitted secretly by Jewish activists, has deeply alarmed serious American students of the historic anti-Semitism in Russia. At the very least, it is aimed at stalling U.S. Arab-Israeli peace efforts.

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, a leading U.S. guardian of the interests of Soviet Jews, was so distraught by the formalized new Soviet onslaught against Zionism that last September he wrote a confidential letter to the Soviet ambassador here, Anatoly Dobrynin. Javits asked Dobrynin this question: does the anti-Zionist campaign have the full backing of the Soviet state, as it would appear, or could it partly be unsanctioned harangues from anti-Semitic extremists?

Javits had heard nothing from Dobrynin or the Soviet embassy as of early last week and quite likely never will. So, the Senator has asked the State Department's help in investigating whether the lethal new attack does or does not have official sanction of the Kremlin.

The answer would overwhelmingly appear to be in the affirmative. For one thing, the official state newspapers — Pravda and Izvestia — have been preaching fearsome anti-Zionism for years. Following the first Brussels Conference on Soviet Jewry in 1971, Pravda labelled Zionism "an enemy of the people" — a phrase echoing the great purge of the 1930s. After a brief respite, the new, more virulent anti-Zionist campaign was triggered by the second Brussels conference.

The new state-supported campaign is manifested by an official Communist party lecturer named Valery Yemelyanov, a candidate of economic sciences and a professor in the prestigious Institute of Foreign Languages. What makes Yemelyanov's anti-Zionist campaign so insidious is that his harshest rhetoric came in a Moscow interview with a newspaper closely connected to the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

Yemelyanov delivered opinions that must have startled even anti-Israeli PLO activists who are trying to establish a mini-state of their own on the Israeli-occupied West Bank. "World Zionism has become a great power in the world," he said, elaborating as follows in a breath-taking spiral of charges:

Eighty per cent of the economy of non-Communist nations is concentrated in the hands of "Zionist capitalists"; 95 per cent of the propaganda efforts undertaken in the capitalist world are concentrated in the hands of the Zionists, 99 per cent in the U.S.

In words reminiscent of the notorious "Protocols of the Elders of Zion," Yemelyanov told his PLO interviewers that the world Zionist organization "works in a strictly secret framework" which includes "all the presidents and parliaments of the developed capitalist countries." The only way to fight this "world" Zionist movement is to establish a world counter-movement which the Arabs themselves should lead "because they are the prime objective of the Zionist movement and the leaders of the world struggle against one of its agents — the state of Israel."

Such nonsense would not be worth a second glance were it not for the likelihood — voiced in Javits' letter to Dobrynin — that behind it is the weight of the Soviet state and its multiple propaganda apparatus.

Yemelyanov's appeal directly to militant PLO members is obviously designed to thwart American efforts to find a political solution to the Arab-Israeli wars. As such, it plays on primitive anti-Israeli Arab passions (deeply felt by all Palestinians) in a way calculated to arouse them to highest pitch.

Yemelyanov attacked the second Brussels Conference on Soviet Jewry, calling it "anti-Semitic." That was true, he said, because Zionists in Russia conduct anti-Semitic "terrorism" in order to frighten Jews into leaving the Soviet Union and going "to Palestine (Israel)...and there drive out the Palestinians."

If Palestinian nationalists need more anti-Israeli fervor, that is the way to provide it, at the same time spicing the hate of Zionism and Israel with hate for the United States and the West. An explanation may lie in the modest successes of U.S. diplomacy in cooling down the Mideast since the 1973 October war. If so, Moscow is once again playing with a fire that could consume not only Israel but the true and understandable national aspirations of the Palestinians; it is doing so by keeping the Middle East in a continuing state of rising tension or semi-permanent war.

Lawyer also hot dog vendor

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Monday through Friday, Steve Potter is Hall County's chief deputy attorney. On Saturday, he wears an undersized suit and a handpainted tie and tosses hot dogs to the fans at a football stadium.

"It's a thing of pride with me to be able to place a hot dog in a fan's hand," he said. "The hot dog becomes a football, and the fan becomes a tight end."

Potter, 31, has been a vendor since 1963, and his throwing skill and distinctive dress have helped him build up a clientele among University of Nebraska football fans at Memorial Stadium in Lincoln.

Potter said Cornhusker followers have approached him in places as far away as the Florida Keys with a gleam of recognition in their eyes.

"You'll think this is crazy," they say, "but aren't you the hot dog man?"

Potter claims that on a windless day he can throw a hot dog three fourths of the way up the single-tier grandstand. He said the fans never fail to toss him the 50 cents in return.

The attorney points out that selling hot dogs is just one of a wide variety of occupations he's tried. He is a registered pharmacist, and he held a night job at an Omaha drug store while he attended Creighton Law School. He still helps out now and then at his father's drug store in Gothenburg.

He's also a part-time instructor at Kearney State College, where he teaches psychology and three criminal justice courses.

Potter has studied art in New York and worked as a drug counselor in Omaha and a bartender in Lincoln.

Installment utility payments proposed

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill has proposed that Texans be allowed to make installment payments on utility bills during summer months when electricity usage is highest.

"We are going to have to face the fact that the day of cheap energy is gone," Hill told the annual meeting of the Texas Municipal League Sunday. "I think the utilities have a moral obligation to let the public pay off unusually high bills on an installment plan."

Nearly 3,000 city officials from across the state are expected to attend the municipal conference that runs through Thursday.

Hill said he discussed the deferred payments proposal with the Texas Utilities Commission and believes it will be adopted.

Under the program, Texas residents would be able to spread out payments of their utility bills over a period of months so that no individual month's charges would be too great.

"In the summer months when everyone uses their air conditioners, homeowners sometimes get electric bills for $200 or more," Hill said.

"Why not spread this figure out into the winter when use of electricity is much less?" Hill also told the Municipal League members that he would not support legislation that would not allow utilities to get a fair rate of return on their investments.

"There is a wave of distrust today that causes the public to believe high utility bills are the result of a giant conspiracy," Hill said. "This sentiment has brought many proposed bills to the state legislature next year that I think are bad."

Among the legislative proposals are bills that would require a public hearing on any pass-through utility rate increases and would establish a "lifeline" discount electric and gas rate for low income residents.

In another speech Sunday, TML utility counsel Don Butler said Southwestern Bell is seeking new rates that are five times greater than the amount it needs.

The Austin attorney said some of the findings of TML research consultants indicate Bell could get by with as little as $17 million in added revenues next year. Bell has asked for a $299 million rate hike in Texas.

The Rev. Glennon King tells the crowd outside the Plains Baptist Church he plans to return next Sunday to become a member of the church.

Four men vie for House Democratic leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four men are seeking the job of House Democratic leader. After months of soliciting support from fellow Democrats, the candidates report pledges that add up to more than 500.

The only problem is that there are only 290 Democrats in the House.

These exaggerated and conflicting claims of support are part of the stiff leadership contest to succeed Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, who apparently is unopposed to succeed retiring Speaker Carl Albert.

The Dec. 6 secret balloting will choose a winner for the No. 2 post of majority leader from among Reps. John McFall of California, now third-ranked as majority whip; Philip Burton of California, chairman of the Democratic Caucus; Richard Bolling of Missouri, and James Wright of Texas.

If McFall loses, it would be the first time in recent history that a step-by-step progression up the leadership ladder had been blocked.

Burton is generally conceded to be ahead, but he is said to have lost much of the early lead he compiled during the last 18 months.

McFall is usually considered to be last. His prospects are said to have been hurt by the disclosure two weeks ago that he had accepted $3,000 in cash from Korean businessman Tongson Park two years ago.

Park also gave McFall a party when he became majority whip in 1973 and gave him a silver service tea set. Three months ago, McFall was given a digital watch by a South Korean legislator.

At least 22 present and former congressmen are reported to be under federal investigation about allegations that they took cash, campaign donations, jewelry, furniture, vacations or other gifts from Park and agents of the South Korean government who reportedly wanted to influence U.S. attitudes toward Seoul.

O'Neill also has been linked to Park. He was the beneficiary of a 1973 birthday party given by Park at a fancy Georgetown private club. Aides say he took no gifts or money from Park.

McFall aides ridiculed rumors that McFall would withdraw and throw his support to Wright. Bolling also declined to speculate about the impact of the Park donations on McFall's campaign.

One variable that could affect the outcome is the question of whether O'Neill will state his preference. He says he won't. Another uncertainty is how the large bloc of newcomers will be swayed by the candidates.

Officer, suspect killed in West Dallas shootout

DALLAS (AP) — A shooting incident late Saturday at a West Dallas housing project left both a Dallas policeman and his alleged assailant dead.

Patrolman Alvin Moore, 26, died in the emergency room of Parkland Hospital.

A tactical squad of officers broke into an apartment bedroom and shot to death Adolph Rider, 16, after Rider cut one of the officers with a knife, police said.

Officers said Moore elected to try to talk with Rider rather than merely cover the rear entrance to the apartment. Moore was shot twice in the chest. Sgt. David Lane said Moore staggered out of the apartment, walked a short distance and told Lane: "Sergeant, I'm shot. I can't breathe." Doctors at Parkland unsuccessfully administered open-heart massage.

Moore was the first black policeman to be killed in the line of duty in the history of the Dallas department and the first officer killed since Alvin Hallum, who was shot to death Aug. 21, 1975.

Moore was married, and his wife, Jannette, will receive $50,000 under a recently passed federal law making that payment to the survivors of law officers killed in the line of duty. The couple had no children.

Supervisors described Moore as a model officer.

Police Lt. W. J. Newman said "It's hard to assess the impact of Moore's death."

"The men are in kind of a state of shock. Everyone takes it personally. It's like losing a member of the family," Newman said.

Producers to gather at Lubbock

LUBBOCK — More than 150 cattle producers are expected to learn, among other things, proposed revisions to the U.S. standards for grades of feeder cattle at a conference held at Texas Tech University Dec. 9.

"Beef Production — Tools of the Future" is the theme of this second annual beef business conference featuring talks by a leading beef producer and several animal scientists.

Ned Tyler of the livestock division marketing service, United States department of agriculture, will discuss the proposed revision standards for grades of feeder cattle.

The possible use of wind and solar power by ranchers will be discussed by Dr. James H. Strickland, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Texas Tech.

Rob Brown, cattle producer from Throckmorton, Tex., will make a joint presentation with Dr. Leif H. Thompson on artificial insemination.

Brown has been using artificial insemination techniques for almost eight years in the breeding of purebreds. Thompson, assistant professor of animal science at Texas Tech, has as his current research interest reproductive physiology.

Genetics in improved beef production efficiency will be the subject of animal science professor Dr. Robert A. Long's discussion.

Range and wildlife management professor Dr. Billie E. Dahl will talk on brush control.

Current beef cattle research at Texas Tech will be reviewed by Dr. Max A. Lennon.

Carter church votes to end race barriers

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter says that when his small Baptist church decided during an emotional meeting to drop its racial barriers, "it was just one of the church members."

He later welcomed a black man to a worship service.

Carter, according to his fellow Baptists, exerted no pressure during the two and three-quarter hour meeting Sunday. Nonetheless, the congregation did as he has advocated since 1965.

It opened the church's doors to all who want to worship, regardless of race. And, it voted 107-84 to retain the pastor who agreed with Carter's pro-integration stand, The Rev. Mr. Bruce Edwards.

The church decision began a week for Carter in which he plans to hold a news conference today at the auditorium of the Southwest Georgia Agricultural Experimentation Station near here. Wednesday, he will meet with Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale and congressional leaders near Atlanta.

The church also voted to set up a screening committee consisting of the pastor and four deacons to be elected by the congregation in about two weeks.

"We felt the whole world was looking at Plains today," said one of the church's deacons, Frank Williams.

The church controversy was started by the Rev. Mr. Clennon King, a non-denominational minister from Albany, Ga., onetime Republican gubernatorial candidate and civil rights activist. Just before the Nov. 2 election, he tried unsuccessfully to join the church in a move many saw as an effort to embarrass Carter.

Sunday, Carter waited in the rain and said after the votes were announced, "I think it's wonderful. It vindicates the church. It vindicates the people of Plains."

Carter attended an evening service Sunday with about 65 other persons, including the black Secret Service agent who frequently accompanies him to church. The whites-only policy, adopted in 1965, had been ignored for black reporters, agents, and the tourists who came to Plains during Carter's candidacy, until the Rev. Mr. King publicly challenged it.

Midway through the service, a black man from Selma, N.C., Roger Sessoms, entered the church and sat in the pew in front of Carter.

"Then the congregation set up the committee to screen applicants for church membership. Finally, it voted 88-68 for a motion offered by Jerome Ethredge, a Plains resident preparing for missionary work in western Africa, that 'The doors of the Plains Baptist Church be open to all people that want to come in and worship Jesus Christ.'"

Bill Wilkinson, the imperial wizard of the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, stood outside the church in his white robe and said after the decision was announced, "My reaction is one of anger."

'Martians' case may hurt sidewalk Santas

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — The city attorney says he's worried that the conviction of two "Martians" could make sidewalk Santas vulnerable to arrest this Christmas.

City Atty. Larry Harrington said he will ask the city commission to revise a 1924 ordinance, enacted with the Ku Klux Klan in mind, which forbids any "assemblage of persons" to gather or march in public "with masks over their faces or other covering device which conceals their identity."

The law was invoked most recently in August when two young residents, dressed as Martians with aluminum masks, gloves and antennae, surprised a friend in what they intended as a joke.

But it was 2 a.m., and the friend, a grocery store clerk, feared a holdup and called the police.

A judge ordered Bernard Wink, 18, and Bonnye Bell Bacon, 20, to do 20 hours of public service work. Wink, who did not show up for his assignment, eventually was fined $103.50.

Harrington said he doubts that the law is applicable to Santas standing alone, but he added that he also would have doubted it could be applied to two "Martians."

"It might constitute disorderly conduct for two people to masquerade as Martians at 2 a.m. in the morning, but I question whether it constitutes a violation of this ordinance," he said.

"It prohibits Martians, it prohibits Santa Claus too," Harrington said.

Harrington noted that as it stands, the ordinance could cover Halloween trick-or-treaters in groups.

But he thinks the ordinance does serve a purpose. "Whatever the demonstration may be, it is important that the public know just who is demonstrating and to be able to observe them," Harrington said in an interview.

To clear up the ambiguities once and for all, Harrington said he will ask the city commission to consider a revised ordinance which "would not prohibit small groups of people from depicting characters to carry out the intent of a parade or some other humorous purpose."

25 Midlanders to attend meet

AUSTIN — Twenty five Midlanders will attend the Texas PTA Convention in Fort Worth Tuesday through Friday at the Tarrant County Convention Center.

Pansy Carroll, president of PTA district 17, and Pat Humes, president of the Midland City Council PTA, will be among those in attendance.

Business meetings, workshops and social functions are scheduled for the three-day meeting.

Those attending as representatives of individual PTAs include Margie Titus, Gean Ward, Jackie Hamilton, Rita Wilkes, Pat Aubrey, Terri Marshall, Virginia Ezell, Glenda Pruitt, Shirley White, Mary Cosby, Jan Kallil, Nell Furgeson, Socorro Nunez, Robert Southerland, Parker Humes, Earl Booker, Jean Ward and Gloria Veloz.

Principals attending are Jack Francis, Royce Adams, Bill Sherman and Clint Adams. Dr. Douglas Brown, assistant superintendent of schools for instructional services, will represent the school administration at the convention.

Other business facing the board includes an audit report, budget amendments and the tax office error and correction list.

Trustees to hear progress report

Midland College trustees are due to hear a report on progress in the construction program for the campus at a meeting Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the administration building.

A report from James Bramlett, director of community services, on that department's activities also is scheduled.

Other business facing the board includes an audit report, budget amendments and the tax office error and correction list.

Meeting includes film

"Ciphers in the Snow" is the title of a film which will be shown at a meeting of the Midland Association for Children with Learning Disabilities at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at First Christian Church. The meeting is open to the public.

College trustees to meet Tuesday

BIG SPRING — Howard College trustees are scheduled to consider bids for brick for the cafeteria addition when they meet Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in the board room of the student union building.

The board also is due to consider a tax appraisal contract and the college financial report and current bills.

YMCA sessions end

PALACIOS, Tex. (AP) — Approximately 200 delegates from 60 countries began returning home today following the conclusion of the YMCA World Youth conference.

The five-day conference at this South Texas town of Palacios ended Sunday with delegates passing resolutions dealing with human rights, social and economic justice and excessive military spending.

The conference was the first to be held by the World Alliance of YMCAs.

The delegates emphasized quality of life in their discussions and resolutions, citing a wide gap between rich and poor countries as a roadblock to world peace.

Any kiwifruit?

LA GRANGE, Calif. (AP) — The kiwifruit looks like a hairy brown chicken egg, but enthusiastic farmers are calling it "the fruit of the future."

Forty years after its vigorous, twining vines first took root in the United States, the kiwi is being distributed ever more widely. Growers say they expect production to skyrocket in the next few years.

It is a drab, even ugly fruit, covered with hair and a thin brown skin. But the emerald green pulp underneath has a tangy, strawberry-like taste, and even the pinhead-sized black seeds can be eaten.

"It's the fruit of the future," says Ted Shurtleff, who with several partners has put in 20 acres in San Luis Obispo County. "It's delicious, can be stored for weeks in home refrigerators and makes a spectacular jam."

In addition, the kiwifruit is subject to few insects or diseases. Growers say it is chock full of vitamin A and has twice as much vitamin C as orange juice. An average-sized kiwi has about 60 calories.

Kiwifruit, now selling for up to 50 cents each in markets, can bring growers $2,000 to $3,000 a ton. Mature vines yield about five tons an acre.

Joe Hall, a grower and nurseryman in this little Stanislaus County community, said he was "one of the first in the state to grow them" when he started planting kiwis 10 years ago. "I have 10 acres now, and I'll be putting in 10 more soon."

The kiwi, native to south central China, was introduced into New Zealand in 1906, where it was called the Chinese gooseberry. New Zealand, which produces most of the world supply, began exporting it as the kiwifruit in 1953.

Kiwi plants reached the United States in 1935, but the first serious commercial ventures began in the mid-1960s, when two growers imported several thousand plants from New Zealand to set up California's first kiwi vineyards. "Kiwi" is a nickname for a New Zealander.

Use This Method To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss ... grow, more hair.

Have you faced the fact that you have a hair loss problem? Hair loss occurs so gradually that men and women often ignore it. Until it's too late. Even though you see yourself in a mirror every day, many of you won't admit to abnormal hair fall.

If you think, honestly, that you might be in this category, look at a picture taken a year ago—three years ago. Notice a difference? If so, now's the time to stop your hair loss. You could be going bald.

If it appears that you are already losing hair, whatever your daily hair routine is, if you continue to follow it, your hair will probably gradually thin away to nothing.

But it doesn't have to happen. Often hair fall is NOT normal. Now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that not only stops hair loss, but actually grows hair! And you don't even have to take their word for it.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially by mail. Adv.

Freezing rain and sleet were forecast today for the southern Appalachians and travelers were warned of hazardous driving conditions, especially at higher elevations.

The warnings were posted for southern Virginia, eastern Kentucky, eastern and mid-Tennessee and extreme northern Georgia.

A travel advisory due to fog also was in effect over much of northwest Florida. Some ice and glaze also was likely at higher elevations in the Carolinas.

Rain, drizzle and fog continue over the Southeast, except southern Florida. Rain and snow lingered over parts of the southern Plateau and central Rockies into the central high Plains.

Rain also continued to be widespread from central California northward with snow in the mountains. Travel advisories were posted through Monday over the interior mountains of northern California.

Skies were mostly clear from the northern Rockies through the upper Great Lakes region, in Nebraska and West Texas.

Except in Florida, temperatures were unseasonably cool east of the Rockies with sub-freezing temperatures widespread except in the Gulf and south Atlantic coast states.

Early morning temperatures ranged from seven at Hibbing, Minn., to 78 at Fort Lauderdale and Key West, Fla.

One man's story could lift spirits

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: For the woman who lost her husband to a younger woman, here's one man's story:
 I loved my wife dearly, but after six children and 35 years of marriage, our relationship became so platonic I felt sure I was losing my manhood. I blamed it on her devotion to our home and children rather than on my age.

Depressed, I left home under the pretense of seeking work in a distant state, but I had other things in mind. I found a willing young girl who looked up to me adoringly, lifted my spirits and restored my lagging sense of manhood. I felt as though I had found the fountain of youth, so I filed for a divorce solely on the grounds of sexual incompatibility.

A loving one like she hadn't done in years! Of course I knew that some of her passion was faked, but we men are gullible, and I loved her all the more for it.

You guessed it. She brought me back home, bound hand, foot and heart with nothing but chains of love.—HOME AGAIN

DEAR HOME: Another classic example of a woman casting herself in the role of a sex object to get what she wants. It may be fine for some women, but the Women's Libbers would have her scalp for such a degrading ploy.

As soon as my wife got word of this, she did what every woman who really loves her husband should do. She caught a bus and travelled 1,900 miles to win back her man. She didn't whine or hire any lawyers, or even scold me for what I had done; she came courting me like a sweetheart, and she laid

Snack supper scheduled

RANKIN — Plans were made to provide a snack supper for the Pecan Show queen contestants prior to the show slated Nov. 22 at a meeting of the Omicron Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Phi. HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RHYTER
 Tuesday, November 16, 1978

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy at tasks you planned for today and don't run off to what you think are greener pastures. Coworkers are very cooperative and will go along with a new plan you have.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are tempted to jump into a new project without being fully prepared, so be sure to study it further instead. Have a good time with a close friend, but don't spend too much money.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid an outsider who wants to waste your valuable time. Do something constructive about a tense situation at your home. Make sure bills are paid on time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make better arrangements for handling daily tasks so they will be easier and will give you more spare time. Come to a true understanding with partners. Make evening a happy one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can add appreciably to present income if you are more practical and apply yourself more seriously. State what you want from others and see that they follow your wishes. Be tactful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study personal problems and give attention to details that are important. Later in the day you can be with congenials for good time. Stay within your budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Organize all those small tasks you have to perform and get them done efficiently. You now get the right answer to a problem about which you have been doing research work.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Schedule your activities so that a plan you have in mind will work out to your advantage. By contacting a good friend after lunch you gain needed support. Use diplomacy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal time to show that you are a fine citizen by getting involved in civic affairs. Pay bills promptly and improve credit rating.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of obligations precisely and efficiently, but avoid a talkative friend for best results. Use your intuition and please friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what partners want from you and arrive at a better meeting of minds. Avoid one who does not see eye to eye with you on a certain issue. Try to understand this person.

"I Never Thought I'd See the Day I Could Walk Into A Size 7, But I Can Thanks to Pat Walker!"

... Says Helen Jourde

All through junior high and senior high school I had to wear homemade clothes because it was hard to find ready-made clothes that would fit me. I would look at the slim girls in their cute current fashions and wish I could look like they did. But how could I lose when I didn't like to exercise or diet?

Helen Jourde before coming to Pat Walker's

By the time I was in my first year of college I weighed 140 pounds. Relatively few of the girls at college were overweight, and seeing all those slim, fashionable girls made me determined to lose weight! But I was dismayed because I knew I could not do it on my own; I had tried and failed before.

When I saw Pat Walker's ad in the newspaper I decided that this was my chance to finally shed this excess baggage that I was needlessly carrying around.

I was surprised and delighted when I lost weight after just one week of Pat Walker's Figure Salon. Now that I'm down I am very happy indeed. I never thought I'd see the day when I could walk into a size 7, but I can! And I couldn't have done it without Pat Walker.

(Signed) Helen Jourde

After losing 23 1/2 lbs. and 28 1/2 inches, Helen Jourde now wears a size 7

KEN HOUSTON, Washington Redskins, can't hang on to a New York Giants pass intended for tight end Bob Tucker, right, in NFL game at East Rutherford, N.J. Giants won their first game of the season, 12-9.

Steelers best around, but can they make it?

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The defending National Football League champion Pittsburgh Steelers are the owners of some pretty impressive statistics.

—They haven't allowed a touchdown in five games.

—After allowing 110 points in the first five games of the season, they have allowed only nine points in the past five.

—They have outscored their opponents 132-9 in the past five games.

—They hadn't given up a point in 15 quarters, including three consecutive shutouts, until Miami's Garo Yepremian kicked a field goal in the third quarter of Sunday's 14-3 Steeler victory.

left gave Cincinnati, 8-2, its victory in a game which seasawed back and forth all afternoon.

"We were desperate," said Anderson, who passed for three TDs and ran for another. "I was looking for the big play."

Bears 24, Packers 13

Chicago's Walter Payton became the first player in the NFL to surpass the 1,000-yard mark this season, running for 109 yards and a touchdown, giving him 1,008.

Vikings 27, Seahawks 21

Fran Tarkenton set a club record for completion percentage, 26 of 31 for 84 per cent, and threw for two touchdowns as Minnesota came back to beat upstart Seattle, which led 21-20 at one point in the fourth quarter.

Tarkenton now has 301 career TD passes.

Saints 17, Lions 16

New Orleans' Warren Capone picked up a Detroit fumble and ran one yard for the winning touchdown. Bobby Douglass also threw a 69-yard scoring pass to Larry Burton.

Broncos 17, Chargers 0

Denver shutout San Diego for the second time this season as quarterback Steve Ramsey threw for 224 yards, including a 59-yard scoring pass to Rick Upchurch.

Jets 34, Buccaneers 0

The Jets posted their first shutout in 13 years, and Joe Namath came off the bench to ignite a first-half scoring burst, passing two yards to Rich Caster for one touchdown.

BUT THE Steelers also must face some pretty depressing realities.

Playing perhaps the best football in the NFL now, they still could miss the playoffs and a chance for a third straight Super Bowl, trailing Cincinnati by two games in the American Conference Central Division with a 6-4 record.

And, for the second time this season, quarterback Terry Bradshaw is injured.

Patriots 21, Colts 14

Quarterback Steve Grogan ran for two touchdowns, and New England, 7-3, moved to within a game of Baltimore in the AFC East title chase.

Grogan's three-yard scoring run as the first half completed the scoring as the two teams battled scorelessly through the second half.

Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones was intercepted twice by cornerback Mike Haynes, stopping potential scoring drives.

"That was a big play," Grogan said of his second TD run, "but the major thing was that our defense shut out a very high scoring team in the second half."

Cardinals 30, Rams 28

Jim Bakken's field goal with four seconds left provided the winning margin for St. Louis, 8-2, as Los Angeles, now 6-3-1, failed to pick up any ground on San Francisco in the National Conference West.

Cards' quarterback Jim Hart completed 20 of 33 passes for 324 yards, and Terry Metcalf ran for two short touchdowns.

Giants 12, Redskins 9

Joe Danelo kicked four field goals, and the Giants—still unable to score via the touchdown route—picked up their first victory of the season. All of Washington's scoring came on field goals by Mike Moseley.

Washington moved to the Giants seven in the waning seconds, but a Joe Theismann pass was intercepted in the end zone by Jim Stenke.

Falcons 21, 49ers 16

Scott Hunter threw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to Alfred Jenkins as the Falcons, 3-7, dealt San Francisco, 6-4, its third straight loss. Both Hunter scoring passes came after 49er fumbles.

Raiders 21, Chiefs 10

Ken Stabler threw two touchdown passes, upping his league leading total to 20, and Oakland picked up 211 yards rushing, the most this season. Mark van Eeghan led the ground attack with 95 yards.

Browns 24, Eagles 3

Cleveland, 6-4 and tied with Pittsburgh in the AFC Central, won its fifth game in the past six on Brian Sipe's two TD strikes. Browns' cornerback Ron Bolton intercepted a Mike Boryla pass in the fourth quarter and ran it back 37 yards for a touchdown.

Bengals 31, Oilers 27

Ken Anderson's 47-yard touchdown pass to Isaac Curtis with 42 seconds

BATTLE SCENE

Lee Rebs stun experts

BY TED BATTLES

After going 0-for-21 years, the Tall City now has come up with two District 5-4A playoff representatives in the last three years, courtesy of a Midland Lee Rebel football team that didn't believe the experts and didn't know when to quit.

This year's championship isn't accompanied by that long "We finally did it" sigh of relief of two years ago, but it just might be more satisfying on a couple of other counts.

For one thing, there are no strings attached this time. The Rebels won it outright, whereas two years ago Lee shared the title with San Angelo, advancing into the playoffs by virtue of a regular season victory over the Bobcats.

LEE HAD finished 5-1-1 in 1974 with a loss to Abilene Cooper and a tie with Midland High. This year, Lee ended what was beginning to look like an annual event by beating instead of tying cross-town rival Midland in the Blizzard of '78 and assured itself of at least a share of the championship, if not a bi-district berth, regardless of what happened in the Permian-Odessa game Saturday.

Odessa High had the playoff spot for the taking Saturday, but couldn't beat Permian, a result that left both sides weeping apparently, judging from Permian Coach John Wilkins' post-game, "I'm just sorry that Midland Lee has to represent the district."

Another gratifying aspect to this year's success was that outside of Coach Jim Acree and Lee fans, it wasn't really expected.

AFTER ALL, Odessa Permian had gone to the state AAAA finals last year in what was labeled as a "rebuilding" year and the only question in the minds of the experts was whether there was anybody in the state that could deny the Panthers the title that eluded them last year.

As for Lee, it was just one of many "pretty-good" teams that were destined to be listed among the "also-rans". Regarded as the most unlikely most-likely candidates to unfrock Mojo were such perennials as San Angelo, Abilene Cooper, Odessa, maybe Midland with Lee and Abilene regarded as darkhorses.

Lee's start didn't hint of anything exciting at the end of the rainbow. Plagued by key injuries here and there, the Rebels didn't raise any eyebrows in easing by El Paso Austin, Plainview and El Paso Irvin in non-district tuneups.

THEN CAME that loss to Odessa

when the Broncos rallied from a 14-0 deficit going into the last quarter to win 15-14 and the discovery later that the Broncos had 12 men on the field in scoring the winning two-pointer was enough to drown a team's spirit.

But the Rebels showed their mettle, and determination, by bouncing back a week later to give Acree his first victory over Abilene Cooper, then destroying San Angelo and finally exposing Permian's Panthers as mere mortals after all.

It was an uphill struggle, but the Rebels didn't tarry on the "might have beens", but did their jobs week after week and were rewarded when all of the pieces fell into place.

ONE THING about this year's bi-district game at Abilene Saturday afternoon, it will almost seem like just another 5-4A game and an extension of the city series with John Reddell, former MHS coach, across the field as coach of unbeaten Trinity Eules.

Acree and Reddell have played ties the last two times they've met in the Midland-Lee game, but one thing about this revival, somebody has got to walk away a winner.

Cyclones create chaos

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who is Iowa State and why are the Cyclones doing such bad things to the Orange Bowl?

The Cyclones have gone along for years serenely minding their own business as one of the doormats of the Big Eight Conference, with a brief flurry of excitement when Johnny Majors took them to the 1971 Sun Bowl and the 1972 Liberty Bowl and then took off for Pittsburgh. Even so, this is only their third winning season since 1960.

So it comes as quite a surprise to see Iowa State—unheralded, unranked and, as yet, uninvited—tied for the lead in the rugged Big Eight Conference with Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado and Oklahoma State.

AND YOU can bet it came as a shock to the Orange Bowl people when the Cyclones upended ninth-ranked Nebraska 37-26 Saturday and put the onus of selecting a host team for the New Year's Night game squarely on the shoulders of the selection committee.

And as of late Sunday night, the committee still was scratching its collective head trying to solve the dilemma because the odds are that the race will end in a three-way tie among Colorado—which has only lowly Kansas State left—and the winners of the Nebraska-Oklahoma and Iowa State-Oklahoma State games.

Matters reached this confusing state when Iowa State topped Nebraska while 14th-ranked Oklahoma downed No. 11 Missouri 27-20. No. 17 Oklahoma State trounced Kansas State 45-21 and No. 19 Colorado whipped Kansas 40-17.

IOWA STATE'S victory also may have cost the Orange Bowl a shot at No. 1-ranked Pitt since it is unlikely the Big Eight will have a team in the Top Ten to offer as an attraction when this week's ratings are released.

After the top-rated Panthers defeated West Virginia 24-16 behind Tony Dorsett's 199 rushing yards and three touchdowns, a source close to the team told The Associated Press: "To me, it looks like we'll go to the Sugar Bowl. I think the kids would rather go to New Orleans to play a 10-1 team than to Dallas (the Cotton Bowl) to play an 11-0 team."

Seventh-ranked Georgia, 9-1 with one game left, won its way into the Sugar as the Southeastern Conference representative by drubbing Auburn 28-0. Meanwhile, fifth-ranked Texas Tech, 8-0 with three games to go, remained atop the Southwest Conference with a 34-7 rout of Southern Methodist.

Mark Lye captures golf title

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—California's Mark Lye fired a five-under-par 67 Sunday and scored a one-stroke come-from-behind victory in the Champion of Champions golf tournament with a 12-under 278 on the Victoria Golf Club.

Third-round leaders Simon Owen of New Zealand and Ken Nagle of Australia fell back as Owen shot a 70 for a 277 total and Nagle a 71 for a 278.

Lye, who shot a 68 on his birthday Saturday, said he felt like slacking off after the Chrysler Classic last week

Midland High girls trek for playoff

ABILENE—Coach Jo Ann Martin's Midland High girls volleyball team, with a sparkling 22-4 season record and the 5-4A championship, will take on Fort Worth's L. D. Bell at 7 p.m. Tuesday in a Class AAAA bi-district playoff game here on the campus of McMurry College.

Midland High's nine member team is a balanced squad, and all nine members play in every game. The Bulldogs run a 4-2 offense, and the two sets carry the extra touch that has carried the Bulldogs to the district championship.

Midland High is strong in the departments of relays, sets and spikes, but the biggest asset of the Bulldog attack comes from the serve line. The serves have kept their opponents off balance at crucial times during the season.

Midland High is an experienced senior outfit. Junior Jo Ann Johnson is the only player on the squad that is not a senior.

THE SENIORS have played together since they were sophomores, and the group has produced a three year overall record of 72 wins against only nine losses.

The Amarillo Aquatics Club captured team honors Sunday afternoon, in the Autumn Invitational "A" Swim Meet, an AAU affiliated event sponsored by the City of Midland Swim Team at the COM pool.

The Panhandle team accumulated 1198 1/2 points in the three-day competition, easily outdistancing host COM, who finished with 685 1/2 points. El Paso Aquatics Pose took home third with 538 points, while Midland College was fourth with a 502 total.

Eight pool records were shattered by the time competition had concluded Sunday afternoon, and four of them belonged to Amarillo Aquatics' Lisa Martinez, who established new marks in the 100 backstroke (1:05.4), 100-butterfly (1:03.1), 200 backstroke (2:21.6) and the 1650-free (19:41.8). Miss Martinez competed in the senior girls division.

Other record setters were the Amarillo 13-14 girls 400 medley relay team, who were clocked in 4:29.7, the El Paso 10 and under boys 200-free relay team, 2:07.1; and COM's fine 11-12 girls division swimmer Gretchen Koch, who established new marks in the 500-free (5:32.24), and the 50-free (26.8).

Sunday's Sunland

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. (AP) — Pao L'Vo will feature horse race Sunday at Sunland Park with a starting upset victory over Governor's Lark, 11-12. Pao L'Vo covered the six furlongs in 1:13.50 seconds to break the track record. The 3-year-old colt, owned by Dr. Robert Buchholz of El Paso, earned $100,000 for his owner and $20,000 for his trainer, Steve Haskins. Haskins' other horses, including the 3-year-old colt, were also in the race. The race was held at Sunland Park, N.M., on Sunday, Nov. 15, 1978.

MD's prescription methods 'appalling,' FDA head says

By MORTON MINTZ
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The chief of the Food and Drug Administration, who is leaving office this month, says he is "appalled" at the ease with which physicians overprescribe and misprescribe drugs that can cause serious and sometimes fatal injury.

FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said he has "a strong conviction that we have to upgrade postgraduate and continuing education in clinical therapeutics" so that doctors can avoid such practices.

He noted that the overprescribed and misprescribed drugs include postmenopausal and other estrogens, amphetamines and tranquilizers. Testimony at congressional hearings has documented the disastrous effects of such misprescribing, he said.

The postmenopausal estrogens, which have been prescribed for an estimated 5 million to 6 million middle-aged women at any one time, were found a year ago to multiply the rate of womb cancer by five to 14 times the rate normally encountered in nonusers.

In addition, a more recent study repudiated an often-made claim that the pills prevent genital as well as breast cancer. The study raised the possibility that the hormones, in long-term use, may cause breast cancer.

In a farewell interview, Schmidt had some advice for his successor: Make it a condition of taking the job that you'll quit — and tell the public why — if any of your bosses puts improper pressure on you.

He said that is what he did when he agreed to leave academic life to take over the agency 3 1/2 years ago.

"I made it clear to the White House, the Office of Management and Budget, and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that the FDA had to have a high degree of independence to pursue its mission," he said. Schmidt is returning to the University of Illinois on Dec. 1 to be vice chancellor for health services.

"I said the first time I got what I considered to be pressure from any of those sources I would resign and state why publicly," he recalled. He said he has received inquiries now and then, but no improper pressures.

Schmidt, 46, is the fifth commissioner of the FDA since 1946. President-elect Jimmy Carter will choose the next commissioner, who need not be a physician. But he or she ought to be trained in some health-related science, Schmidt said.

Schmidt announced in July that he would return to the University of Illinois this winter. After his announcement, House members and senators with oversight responsibility for FDA praised his integrity but said the agency still needed to be overhauled.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said Schmidt attacked FDA's problems "with integrity and honesty. He has been a hard-working administrator."

Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-N.C.) said, "The key to a more effective FDA lies in the appointment of officials who are dedicated to enforcing the laws FDA administers with vigor and objectivity."

Schmidt discussed his views in his office. Here are highlights of what he said about:

—The Pharmaceutical Industry: "The industry is schizophrenic in that it is a public service industry — that is, also dedicated to maximizing profits. That is the best argument for a regulatory agency."

—Greatest single frustration: The frequent excessive slowness of the FDA. Schmidt assured a Senate subcommittee Jan. 21 that the Bureau of Drugs could revise the labeling for the postmenopausal estrogens — to warn against a heightened risk of womb cancer —

"within a week or two," but the bureau did not propose a revision until Sept. 26, nine months later. Why do such delays occur? Mainly because the FDA has too few "first-class scientists with good judgment who can write the English language."

—Uses of openness: "By the time I leave, the only thing that will be closed" will be meetings on aspects of matters such as drug safety and efficacy that involve purported "trade secrets," which he has asked Congress to define more narrowly. He has opened up the agency as much as possible because "in my experience, performing ... in the open improves your performance."

—Informational leaflets in user packages of prescription drugs: The FDA now requires these only in the case of oral contraceptives, but proposes to require them also for postmenopausal estrogens. "A consumer has the right, indeed, the obligation to know what medicine he or she is taking, why, what good or bad effects might result from it and what he or she should do to ensure the best possible therapeutic result."

—Banning food additives used only to enhance the appearance of food: Such a step, favored by 80 per cent of 791 women polled by the

Gas plant to be built

BIG LAKE — A new, efficient refrigeration gas processing plant will be built near Big Lake as the result of acquisition of facilities by Big Lake Gas Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Regal Petroleum Corp.

Announcement of the purchase from Pecos Co., a subsidiary of El Paso Natural Gas Co., was made from Dallas corporate headquarters by Regal president Guy A. McDaniel.

The Barnhart plant and facilities in Reagan and Crockett counties include Pecos Co.'s existing plant, land, gathering system and loading facilities, McDaniel explained.

Big Lake Gas Corp. will assume all of the contracts previously held by the Pecos-El Paso group in both the Barnhart and Farmer fields.

Plans also are being made to lay additional gathering systems to pick up any unconnected gas in the vicinity.

Corporation officials estimate the initial investment will be in excess of $1 million. The plant will be increased in size as warranted by additional gas development in Southeast Reagan County.

A contract has been let to Carroll E. Gregg of Dallas, hydrocarbon processing engineer, for the engineering and construction of the Big Lake Gas Corp. plant. The facility is expected to go on stream in the first quarter of 1977, McDaniel added.

UT grant accepted

AUSTIN — President Lorene Rogers of The University of Texas at Austin and Dean Ernest F. Gloyns of the College of Engineering recently accepted a grant of $15,000 from the Halliburton Education Foundation of Dallas.

The gift is for the Halliburton Chair of Engineering at UT-Austin for the 1978-79 academic year and is the 12th annual grant awarded to UT's College of Engineering by the foundation.

Dr. Kenneth E. Gray, professor of petroleum engineering, is the Halliburton Professor.

Mabee elects new president; appointments made in Midland

TULSA, Okla. — The board of directors of Mabee Petroleum Corp. has announced the election of C. Arnold Brown as president, replacing C. D. Forrest, who has headed the firm since November, 1964.

Mabee Petroleum, headquartered in Tulsa, is an oil and gas production and exploration firm, solely owned by the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation, Inc.

Brown is a 26-year veteran of the oil and gas industry, and graduated from the University of Tulsa in 1950 with a B. S. degree in petroleum engineering. He worked for Skelly Oil Co. from 1950-1955 and for Crawford Production Co. from 1955-1959.

He joined Keplinger and Wannenmacher in 1959 as a staff reservoir engineer before creating his own consulting firm, KWB Oil Property Management, Inc. in 1963. He has served as president of KWB since its inception, and in 1969 he formed Brown and Associates, a KWB subsidiary. After joining Mabee, he will continue to direct both KWB and Brown & Associates.

Brown has announced two new appointments in Mabee's Midland, Tex. Division office.

Andy Snyder joined Mabee as Midland Division manager, supervising production and exploration efforts for South and West Texas and New Mexico. Snyder has been with Amerada Hess Corp. for the last 22 years, most recently as manager of technical services for the Southwest region. He is a petroleum engineering graduate of the University of Tulsa.

Steve Daniel, a 1969 petroleum engineering graduate of The University of Texas, has been named senior production engineer for the Midland office. He will perform reservoir and production activities for Mabee properties in the Midland Division.

Daniel graduated from The University of Texas at Austin and has served on the reservoir engineering staff of Mobil Oil Corp. in Midland.

West Texas counties gain explorer sites

Wildcats were scheduled in Culberson, Howard and Martin counties, and a field project was planned for Andrews. Also, a Pecos area gained an extender.

Exxon Corp. will drill No. 1 Elcor Chemical Corp., a 12,800-foot exploratory test in Culberson, 36 miles northeast of Van Horn.

Location for the rank test, is 958 feet from north and 1,825 feet from west lines of section 10, block 93, PSL survey.

Amoco Production Co. filed application to drill No. 1-A F. J. Barrett, a 7,900-foot venture in Culberson, nine miles southeast of Pine Springs.

Drill site is 1,060 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 4, block 64, T-2, T&P survey, five miles northwest of the depleted Signal Peak (Strawn) gas field.

HOWARD PROJECT
Beach & Snoddy, Midland, will drill No. 1 General, a 9,100-foot prospector in Howard, one location northwest of the depleted Wright Ranch (Cisco) opener.

Drill site is 990 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 41, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey, 17 miles northwest of Big Spring.

MARTIN WILDCAT
Beach & Snoddy also staked site for No. 2 Fraser, as a 3,600-foot venture in Martin, one location northwest of a depleted Spraberry well in the Trend Area.

It spots 1,787 feet from south and east lines of section 8, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey, five miles southeast of Lenora.

ANDREWS PROJECT
Wood, McShane & Thams of Monahans will drill No. 2 G. T. Hall as a 4-mile northwest stepout to the five-well Yates gas area of the Block A-34 field of Andrews.

Drill site is 1,980 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 3, block A-34, PSL survey, 13 miles north of Andrews. Planned depth is 3,400 feet.

King sector gains test

Taubert, Steed, Gunn & Medders, Wichita Falls, No. 1-II, S. B. Burnett Estate, will be drilled as a 6,500-foot wildcat in King County, five miles northeast of Guthrie.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 34, S. Lazarus survey, abstract 606.

Division relocated

The Orloff Corp. has announced the relocation of its Gulf Coast Division to a new site at League City near Houston.

The Midland company's Gulf Coast Division is the Houston-based construction arm of the firm.

The Gulf Coast Division was established in 1975 at offices in Clear Lake City.

The new division headquarters is located on a 3.5-acre site which will provide expanded office space and warehouse room.

PECOS COMPLETION

Mobil Oil Corp. No. 3 Virginia Crockett has been finalized as the third Permian General gas well in the Abell field in Pecos County.

It had a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 69,000 cubic feet of gas daily, producing through perforations at 3,354-3,840 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 4½, block 3, H&TC survey.

Allowable decreases

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' average calendar day oil allowable is 3,684,233 barrels, a decrease of 248,916 from Nov. 1, the railroad commission reported Monday.

The commission said 174,773 wells are operating on oil allowables set by the commission.

The allowable for November, with some exceptions, is 100 per cent—the 56th consecutive month of all-out production.

K. F. Wells appointed

HOUSTON — Kenneth F. Wells has been appointed division manager, Houston Division of The Texas Pipe Line Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Texaco Inc.

Wells was graduated from The University of Texas at Austin in 1956 with a B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering.

He joined Texaco in 1956 as a junior petroleum engineer at Pierce.

Following assignments at various field locations, he was named assistant coordinator-Pipelines (International) in Texaco's Supply and Distribution Department in New York in 1970. In 1971, he was appointed assistant to the vice president of that department.

In 1973, he was placed in charge of the Oil Traffic Division for The Texas Pipe Line Co. at Houston.

Line work nears end

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Construction activity on the pipeline portion of the trans-Alaska pipeline project in 1976 is drawing to a close.

At the beginning of November, four of the project's five pipeline construction segments were nearing mechanical completion. The pipeline portion overall is about 97 per cent complete.

By the end of the 1976 construction season, additional work completed on the project's northernmost construction section will increase pipeline progress overall to more than 98 per cent complete.

Peter Demay, vice president of project management for Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., said some pipe insulation, hydrotesting, right-of-way revegetation and final cleanup will be carried over into the first half of 1977.

Cleo C. Wilson

Long tour completed

Cleo C. Wilson of Big Spring, senior foreman in Continental Oil Co.'s Ackerly Post Area recently completed 40 years of service with the company.

He was presented a jeweled emblem in recognition of his long tenure and also was given a 40-year safety award. J. E. Whitman, division production manager at Midland, made the presentations.

Wilson joined Conoco in Forsan in 1936 as a roustabout. Following service in the U. S. Navy during World War II, he returned to Forsan as head roustabout, and he has progressed through various supervisory assignments to the post of district superintendent, serving in that capacity at Wichita Falls, Borger and Hobbs, N.M.

He was transferred to Big Spring in June, 1973.

Midland office opens

Famariss Oil Corp., a subsidiary of Southern Union Oil Products Co., has opened offices in Midland.

In charge is Earl N. Crain III. The office is at 300 W. Wall in the Midland Savings and Loan Building.

Borden well potentials

James P. Dunigan, Inc., Abilene, has completed No. 1-530 Miller as a 1¼-mile southwest extension to Ellenburger production in the Borden County part of the Fluvanna, South-west field.

It finished to flow 120 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio measuring 70-1. Production was natural, through a 7-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,443-8,448 feet.

It has 4½-inch casing set at 8,481 feet, total depth.

Location is 660 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 530, block 97, H&TC survey, eight miles west of Fluvanna.

OPEC drawing up price plans

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Economic and financial experts of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries met today to draw up recommendations for an increase in the price of crude oil.

The OPEC commission met at the organization's headquarters under tight police guard. The session was expected to last a week or 10 days, and no communiques or statements were expected.

Informants said such a recommendation by OPEC's economic commission was unavoidable "in view of the inflation in the Western countries and the subsequent erosion of the purchasing power of OPEC oil."

The oil ministers of the 13 member countries of the oil cartel will act on the recommendations at a meeting opening Dec. 15 in Qatar. Although not required to abide by the recommendations of the commission, they are expected to increase the present base price of $11.51 a barrel to at least 10 per cent.

A 10 per cent boost would add an estimated $12 billion a year to the oil bill of importing nations. Officials of the U.S. State Department disclosed that the U.S. government has been consulting with the Japanese and West European governments to try to devise a strategy to head off an increase.

OPEC last raised the price of oil 10 per cent on Oct. 1, 1975. The oil ministers met last in May, on the Indonesian island of Bali. They decided there to hold the price line until the end of the year. But since then nearly every Arab oil country has signaled that the Qatar meeting will vote an increase.

The 13 countries supply about 80 per cent of all oil traded in the non-Communist world.

Terry gets Abo project

Amoco Production Co. will drill No. 96 W. G. Frazier, an 8,900-foot Abo test in Hockley County, ¾ mile southeast of the one-well Frazier (Abo) field and three miles northeast of the Kingdom, North (Abo) field of Terry County.

It spots 467 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 10, block X; PSL survey, five miles southeast of Sundown.

Amoco filed application to drill the test in the Kingdom, North field.

Gerald G. Calhoun

Calhoun promoted

Pennzoil Co. has announced the promotion of Gerald G. Calhoun to the position of senior geologist in its Western Division at Midland.

Calhoun joined Pennzoil in May, 1974 as an advanced geologist.

He earlier was associated with Exxon Co.-USA, working in North Texas, and with Texaco Inc., working in the Permian Basin. He also has experience as an independent and as a consultant in the Permian Basin.

A graduate of the University of Oklahoma, with a degree in geological engineering, he is a member of American Association of Petroleum Geologists, West Texas Geological Society and is a certified petroleum geologist.

Superport decision due soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary William Coleman says he'll make a final decision by Dec. 4 whether to allow construction of a superport in the Gulf of Mexico off either Louisiana or Texas.

Groups of oil companies are planning the deepwater ports off both states.

Coleman made his announcement Friday after the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) claimed that the way the oil firms planned to operate—the ports would hold down competition and drive up consumer oil costs.

"The Justice Department said that 'the integrated oil company owners of the proposed ports have attempted to maximize their profits through various overt and subtle requirements which will have the effect of restricting port throughput by limiting port capacity and access, thus enhancing the owners' profits in downstream product markets.'"

Coleman said although there were still "major problems," he would make his decision within three weeks.

Reformed white slaver now lives with mother

By JIM BRIGANCE

DE SOTO, Tex. (AP) — Tom Usleton rides a motorcycle and makes pizzas. He says he used to drive Cadillacs and make money. Tom has a sometime girlfriend. He used to have four of them. They all worked for Tom. They went to bed with men for money. And they gave the money to Tom. There are names for people like

Tom. Some call them gentlemen of leisure, players, panderers. Really, Tom says, he was just a pimp. "Yes, I was one for nearly 10 years. I'm glad I'm out of it. I'm finally getting my life together," he said. Tom Usleton, 31, moved to Dallas from Amarillo last summer, ending what he said was a lucrative career as a white slaver. "It started when I was 13. I talked a 16-year-old girl into it. I really don't know why," he said. A year later his military family moved to Germany. "I had a 22-year-old girl working with me, then." Tom served a stint in the Navy in the Philippines where he discovered opium. And more girls. He returned to Amarillo. "That's where I really started rolling. I managed a porno movie house, took dope and sold women. The money was excellent. We were even making porno movies. I was getting out with maybe $200,000 a year, trips to Hawaii, Vegas, what have you. A good girl can make $200 or $300 a week. That's a bunch of money in a week. With four girls working that's a bunch of money." Tom said he never used coercion. "You don't have to. I just showed them a good time, took them places, talked them into it. I love women. I respect them very much. I don't respect what I had them doing." But something came over Tom Usleton, something he says was just a feeling that "there's a God up there. He sees what you do. I saw what I was doing, too. I didn't like it." Tom entered a drug rehabilitation program in Oklahoma City. "I turned the girls loose. I told my wife what I had been doing all those years. She's divorcing me. I wish her well. I lost everything and that's the best thing that ever happened to me," he said. Legalize prostitution? "No. You've got to have that control. If it was legal it would just degenerate into a bad thing. A worse thing," he said. Tom manages a pizza parlor in this Dallas suburb. He lives with his mother, a regular church-goer. "I don't make much money. I work hard. I just take one day at a time. I want no part of that life again. I don't know what I'm going to do. I know what I'm not going to do." "Well, if he's going straight now, let's give him the benefit of the doubt," said a metro squad detective.

Teacher finds crime-free Mexican communities

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Imagine your city without funds for police, courts or prisons. What would happen? Crime? Total Chaos? Everyone at the mercy of the criminal? Perhaps.

But some Indians in southern Mexico are demonstrating to a Vanderbilt University professor that communities can maintain a near-absence of homicide without formal police, judicial or imprisonment systems. Through a combination of shared community responsibility for even the most minor decisions and gentle, consistent disciplinary practices toward their children, they have existed almost crime-free for generations, perhaps centuries, says Dr. John Paddock of Vanderbilt University.

"Not only do anti-violent communities succeed where others fail, but they do so in the notable absence of the procedures we use so ineffectually," says Dr. Paddock, who is also director of the Institute of Oaxaca in Mexico.

Dr. Paddock and his colleagues report the anti-violent communities, like their more violent neighboring communities, are made up of Zapotec Indians in the Valley of Oaxaca (pronounced wa HA ka), a flat plain set in the mountains of southern Mexico halfway between the Yucatan Peninsula to the east and Mexico City.

Both kinds of communities share the same culture, language, climate, ecology, and poverty as well as the perennial problems of boundary disputes and abundant use of alcohol, says Dr. Paddock.

Yet he has found that in the anti-violent communities, the Indians have managed to hold onto their lands without fighting. Through their child-rearing practices and community codes, they have produced men who show almost no machismo and women who take a strong social role.

Outside of marriage, adult relationships center in community life rather than in close bonds between adults of the same sex. The communities produce almost no professional people and show marked resistance to education beyond 14, the age when their children finish an average of six elementary grades and are eligible for marriage. In San Francisco, one of the anti-violent Mexican communities, children aged 1 to 3 are firmly, gently and consistently disciplined. Good behavior is expected and rewarded while misbehavior is ignored, Dr. Paddock said his studies show.

Children aged 3 to 7 are kept close to home, disciplined verbally and taught to run away from quarrels or appeal to adults to arbitrate, he said.

"Merit Delivers More Taste Than Higher Tar Cigarettes."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste testing shows Merit delivers flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The bottom line was conclusive:

In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion,* smokers from across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.

What's really startling — and of major importance to all smokers — is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Less tar. Yet more taste.

That's the report on a remarkable new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT.
