

COURTHOUSE SCENES - Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum cited new jail facilities as one of the great needs, and at least one Muleshoe club has started work on the project. The "outdoor-indoor plumbing in the top picture can be found just outside the offices of the collector and sheriff on the second floor. Bottom picture is the old records vault just off the jail. Some of the old records, incidentally got damp Monday when one of the jail water pipes burst. Cord in the foreground leads to one of toilets where the original wiring has gone on the blink.

High Winds Batter Area, Interrupt Phone, Power Service; Woman Injured

High winds that kicked up New Mexico farms and sent them swirling over West Texas, knocked out telephone and power service in Muleshoe for a time Monday and indirectly accounted for injury to a Muleshoe woman.

The winds, which gusted to 60 mph, caused a power line break near Main Street, knocking out a portion of downtown service, including traffic lights. The broken power line fell on to General Telephone Co. long-distance lines, shorting out service and leaving Muleshoe isolated from 3:50 Monday afternoon until 5 p.m. In-town telephone service was not affected, and only a small portion of downtown Muleshoe was without electric power at the height of the storm.

Long-distance telephone service, operated through Littlefield offices, was partially restored at 5 o'clock when seven circuits were restored, the telephone company reported. Three more lines were added at 5:40 and by 6:10, all long-distance circuits were back in working order.

Plant Chief for General said it was one of the first times he had ever seen a heavy cable "literally melted by a power line break."

The winds blew in from the southwest, cutting visibility to one city block at the height of the storm. The condition was general throughout west Texas and New Mexico.

The airport here was pretty well locked in by the storm, and Morgan Locker, operator, said winds there reached a high of 65 mph. He said no planes were in the air at the time, and no damage was done to any of the aircraft at the port. One plane tied down, "caused us a little uneasiness, but it rode the storm all right," he said.

Mrs. Locker said the airport is "somewhat protected" by the town, and winds probably were not as high at the airport as they were in Muleshoe proper. She said she knew of areas in the general Muleshoe region where the winds were reported as high as 95 mph.

The high southwestern winds were followed by an abrupt switch to the north late Monday as a cold front moved through the area, plunging the mercury into the '20's, and sending a smattering of "dry" snow over Muleshoe.

The usual West Texas calm followed the blustery siege, and frost laid a heavy blanket over Muleshoe Tuesday morning. "the toughest frost I've seen so far this year," one farmer said.

No accidents, other than the one mentioned, were reported by Police Chief Carl Neeley. "We consider ourselves pretty lucky, considering the fact that visibility was at a minimum." (See WIND, Page 5)

Woman, Youth Hurt In Falls

Two persons were hurt in falls Monday, with 60 mph winds playing at least a part in one of the accidents.

More seriously injured was Mrs. Lois Shook, a school cafeteria employee, who fell in the back yard of her home, 321 W. 3rd. Wind was blamed for the fall.

Taken to Green Memorial Hospital by a Singleton Funeral home ambulance, x-rays revealed she had fractured her left arm in two places near her wrist. She also had bruised a hip, but physicians said the bone was not broken.

Shortly before Mrs. Shook fell, a high school youth, Winston Pattie, toppled from a ladder at senior high school, striking the back of his head on the floor.

At Green Memorial Hospital it was revealed he had suffered a mild concussion. The youth was working on scenery for "The Music Man" at the time. He was retained at the hospital overnight.

Crowd Giggles Through Clever Music Man Show

"The Music Man," Meredith Willson's Broadway comedy-musical, kept a capacity audience in stitches Tuesday night at the Muleshoe High School art department's first presentation of the elaborate show.

It was the first of three presentations by the fine arts group and was the most ambitious show ever attempted in the school's history. The show will be repeated Thursday and Friday nights.

The 90-man cast, which had been working on the show for several weeks, romped through the comedy with professional skill. Just about every age in the entire school system, baring the first four grades, had a part in the production.

MONDAY IS DOLLAR DAY

Broken Pipe Floods Jail, Two Courthouse Offices

"I sat in the bed and just hoped the water wouldn't get that high."

Thus a woman inmate of the Bailey county jail summed up an early-morning break in a top floor pipe at the courthouse.

"It flooded the entire jail, and I could hear the water running down to the second floor," she said. "I could just picture what kind of a mess they would be in."

She was right; they were in a mess! Sheriff Dee Clements said he was called at about 6 a.m. Monday and arrived at his office to find it standing several inches deep in water. The water dripping down from above also had covered the desks and chairs in his office but fortunately had not shorted out radio equipment.

The office next door, the tax assessor-collector's office also was flooded by the jailtop water.

"I had a number of boxes filled with old receipts and forms, and the bottom layers were soaked," said Jean Lovelady, county assessor-collector. "I guess they shouldn't have been stacked just on the floor, but I had no other place to put them."

An old records' file on the top floor also was damped, and boxes of records on the floor of the vault were dampened by the flood.

By noon, however, the water had been mopped up and things were back to normal - except for a few damp corners. The water failed to reach the first floor.

Since the jail has no accommodations for women, the woman mentioned earlier was being kept in the "run-around" the outer entrance to the jail.

The flood was the second excitement for the jail recently. The fire department was called (See PIPE, Page 5)

Burns Are Fatal To Former Area Pastor's Child

Fifteen-month-old Laura Kay Gleaton, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Tommy Gleaton, died in a Plainview hospital early Sunday from burns received Saturday afternoon when she toppled into a bathtub filled with hot water.

Mr. Gleaton, who is education director of First Methodist Church in Plainview, was formerly pastor of Progress Methodist Church in Bailey County.

Services were held at 3 p.m. Monday in the First Methodist (See BURNS, Page 5)

'Quiet' Weekend, Only 6 Ticketed

Generally speaking, operators of automobiles and trucks in the Muleshoe area over the weekend were "Good," check of the blotter at Justice J. D. Vaughn showed.

Highway patrol picked up six persons for various alleged violations and filed charges in Justice Vaughn's court.

One person was arrested for operating a vehicle with defective brakes, another was ticketed for failure to have a tag, and two were picked up for not having operators' licenses.

One was arrested for traveling at unsafe speed, and still another for speeding.

Approval Of Titles Still Slows U.S. 84

Another title approved by state highway department attorneys Monday inched land-buying of property along U. S. 84 a notch higher, but the county still lacks eight valuation approvals before the next step in the tedious widening project can be taken.

County Judge Glen Williams said he expected the attorneys

No Candidates Filed To Date

Fewer Than 1000 Probably Can Vote In '64 Elections

Unless John Q. Public beats a hasty path to the courthouse during the next two and a half days to pick up that voting permit known as a polltax receipt, fewer than 1000 persons will be eligible to cast ballots in this spring's elections. Of course the number of eligible voters will be swelled somewhat by those who are 60 or above and thus have exemptions.

Up to Wednesday, Jean Lovelady, county tax assessor-collector, said only 551 tax receipts had been issued by her office, but added: "Business is picking up sharply. After the story appeared in the Journal recently warning people that the deadline is near, poll tax payments increased greatly."

Meantime, city officials said to date no candidates have filed for the city council posts to be filled in an election Tuesday, April 16. Filing period is now open, and will continue until March 6, city officials said.

The school board election, set for Saturday, April 3, will be officially "called" when the school board holds its February session Feb. 8, and candidate filing will be started shortly thereafter. Mrs. Lovelady announced that her office will be open only until noon Saturday, its usual closing time, but that Muleshoe Jaycees will set up poll tax payment stations in downtown businesses and will continue to sell receipts all that afternoon.

Under Texas laws, the deadline

Civic Center, New Courthouse Listed In Category 1 For Area Improvement

(Editor's Note: Public forums held recently brought out a number of suggestions for the improvement of Muleshoe area. Summarized by West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the suggestions were classified into six divisions. Below is a condensation of the first portion of the summary, this one dealing with community improvement and education.)

The greatest number of suggestions made by people attending the Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum sessions dealt with community improvement and education.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which summarized the suggestions, said 29 percent of the total suggestions concerned these phases of the program. Said the report: "Specific projects were discussed in each of the sessions and positive action was urged.

Under "community improvement" suggestions were classified under "short range" objective and "long-range" objectives, 11 in the first portion and eight under the latter. The education portion contained two long-range objectives and seven short-range objectives. Beautification was mentioned by a number of those attending the forums. The report said "City-wide periodic clean-up programs were suggested, including alley and street sanitation, maintenance of vacant lots and controlled enforced sanitation ordinances."

A traffic study was suggested with additional signal lights and traffic control signs, together with the enforcement of traffic ordinances.

Still another suggestion under "short range" portion recommended improvement of highway approaches to the city and improved welcome signs at city approaches.

Another recommendation recommended improved street lighting and street numbering and house numbering systems. More frequent garbage and trash pickup was suggested, together with periodic insect spraying program.

Safety controls at railroad crossings were suggested, and elimination of offensive odors from stock pens. Additional police personnel were recommended. Improvement of telephone service was also suggested. (Editor's note: Both General Telephone and Five Area Telephone cooperative have extensive improvement programs under way.)

Two other short-range suggestions included enforced stock and pet control and extension of city mail delivery.

Here are the long-range suggestions made under this (See IMPROVEMENTS, Page 5)

The setting was 1912, and costumes, even to high button shoes, were in addition to the big stage cast, an 18 - man stage band set the musical pace for the show, and a crew of 10 did the back - scene chores as stage hands. Susan Birdsong had the busy task of keeping piano accompaniments rolling on schedule.

Others who starred in the show included Jane Branscum, Dwayne Calvert, John Guley, Nine Ed Bovell, Mark Baker, Tony Welch, Tanya Powers, Jane McGuire, Neil Finley, Jimmy Francis, David Walls, Jane Landers, Bruce Purdy, Ann Phelps, Betty Harbin and Linda Johnson.

Directors of the elaborate production are Leasel Richardson, Elizabeth Black, Bill Bradley, Bob Breckenridge and Kerry Moore.

Officers took over traffic direction and kept traffic moving after the traffic signals went out of service.

The sandstorm and wind were general throughout West Texas. Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and Lamesa in the area just south of the Caprock all reported weather similar to Muleshoe's, and even Dallas and Fort Worth were dusted with sand.

Cotton trailers, parked in open fields near Muleshoe, were toppled over by the winds, and a few television aerials were knocked down. But in the main, damage was slight.

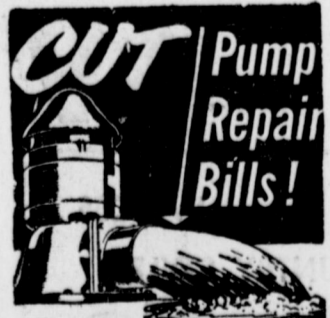

The wind toppled a sign at a Deep Rock Station, on West American blvd, and crashed it through the station's canopy.

Chances For Fair Trial Not Jeopardized By The Press

By JOHN S. KNIGHT
Editor, Detroit Free Press

Although some will disagree, the practice of law is not a more honorable or ethical profession than journalism.

Yet the American Bar Association and several state organizations have launched an "educational campaign" designed to convince the public that newspapers, TV and radio are jeopardizing the rights of an accused individual to a fair trial.

It is contended that pre-trial publicity can influence a juror's decision. Yet there are no known instances to support this position.

In Philadelphia, the Bar Association would deny newsmen access to police reports and bar them from offices of certain public officials.

The bar would prohibit release of information concerning a suspect's police record, or descriptions of loot, weapons or "other physical articles."

Newspapers could not publish evidence until it is developed in court and becomes a part of the record.

Recently, the New Jersey Supreme Court ordered a ban on pre-trial statements to news media by prosecutors, police and defense attorneys about guilt or innocence in criminal trials.

The lawyers usually cite Britain's severe restrictions upon newspapers as the ideal of open-handed justice they seek in this country. They fail to mention, however, that the British popular press is filled with gore, crime and smut to a degree that is unknown in this country.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association has the world market."

Certified growers who wish to plant the HINN soybean for 1965 may contact the High Box 1267, Plainview, Texas. This year's supply of good quality, high germination (89 to 96 percent) will be allocated on a first-come basis.

were made in 1959. In keeping with the Foundation's policy of doing research that will help the agricultural economy, the soybean was released to Certified Seed Growers from throughout the West Texas area.

Highest yield reported to the Foundation for the year of 1964 came from Ewald Quebe, a farmer near Lockney, with a field average yield of 45 bushels per acre. Average yields from the total area in which the HINN was released ranged from 39 to 35 bushels.

Dr. Collister has reported that under optimum conditions at the Foundation, yields were up to 53.4 bushels per acre. Net returns from this yield were $119.88 per acre.

One new aspect has been developing from the HINN soybean is the current study underway by the American Soybean Association to test the HINN for human consumption. Dr. Collister said "It's sheer speculation at this time of esplanation at this time, of course, but if the tests do prove out, it will put the HINN soybean in a premium category on this to say about responsibility in news reporting:

"Uphold the constitutional right of free speech, respect rights of privacy and serve the public by helping to protect all rights and privileges guaranteed by law."

Newspapers have long been conscientious investigators of wrongdoing, both in criminal cases and the "auditing" of government at all levels.

Were this not so, the criminal scum and crooked officeholders would enjoy even greater "freedom" to rob, kill and loot the public treasury.

Former Supreme Court Justice Thomas D. McBride made this incredible statement before the Pennsylvania Bar Association:

"Freedom of the press is the right to print, not to gather news. Newspapers have no more right to barge in on the police or district attorney than any other citizen."

And yet it is a fact that most pre-trial statements which could be considered prejudicial come from lawyers representing either the defense or the prosecution.

When a man of Judge McBride's position says that freedom of the press does not include the right to gather news, he convicts himself and must stand judged as a person unfamiliar with Article I of the Bill of Rights.

The bar associations which are presently recommending "guidelines" for the conduct of the press might better employ their talents to the policing of their own members.

For it is the shady criminal lawyers, working in collusion with sleazy law enforcement officials, who far too often make a mockery of justice.

The newspapers, along with other print and the electronic media, provide protection for the people. Ralph Sewell, president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, has this succinct comment:

"The public has a legitimate right to weigh the performance of officials and institutions, including the courts."

In countries where there is censorship of the press — either official or by intimidation — the citizens read only the news which is processed for them by the government.

We want no such suppression in the United States, whether through "managed news" or codes of journalistic ethics drafted by lawyers and accepted by a supine press.

There can be no "truth in news" if reporters are shackled by punitive restrictions and forced to accept bar association's concept of what should and what should not be printed.

A Miami police chief said recently: "Frankly, I don't think the Miami newspapers give enough coverage to our major crimes. The people should know about the criminal background of some of our characters. They might then better understand what we in the police department are up against."

"Freedom of the press" is sometimes derided as unbridled license to engage in irresponsible journalism. The critics forget or choose to overlook the libel laws which afford protection against untruths and harmful misrepresentation.

The growing challenge to the news media by the bar association endangers protection of the public by press. If vital trial information can be kept secret for six months to two years, what would prevent a corrupt, prosecuting attorney or police official from removing damaging evidence from the files?

In recent years, we have seen a regrettable trend in the direction of "easy justice" by the courts and a corresponding rise in the national crime rate.

Some of the "needed reforms" now in vogue favor the law-breakers and penalize police officers in the performance of their duties. Washington, D. C. is a notable example. Its crime rate is up 83 percent in the last seven years.

Hinn Soy Bean Passes First Growing Tests

The first soybean for the High Plains of Texas has passed the rigorous growing season of 1964 with flying colors. The HINN was developed to give Texas a better soybean as well as another high yielding cash crop, and was released to Texas Certified Seed Growers early in 1964. Over 6,000 bushels were turned over to farmers to get this new soybean into production throughout the irrigated belt of the Plains.

Desirable qualities of the HINN soybean are: generally a higher yield over other varieties grown in West Texas; good standability, that is, the beans will not fall down or lodge; has a high degree of shatter resistance; fruits high off the ground, about 4 to 6 inches, for better harvesting. All of these qualities of the HINN make it a soybean much sought after by the area farmers.

The HINN was developed by Dr. Earl H. Collister, Director of the High Plains Research Foundation. Later work was taken up by Barry Love, Agronomist for the Foundation. The first selections of the new bean

INCOME DOWN
Farm marketing income down in Texas in September - Texas farmers and ranchers received -199.5 million during September from the sale of all products, reports the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Cash receipts from all marketings were down 3 percent from September 1963.

Agriculture is big Business U. S. farmers spent nearly $40 billion in 1963 for business outlays and home consumption. Farm production expenses, including labor, amounted to over $29 billion compared with $10 billion at the beginning of World War II and $21 billion a decade ago. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that with the unfolding of newer farm production technology, purchases by farmers of industrial products for farm production are expected to continue to increase.

Because London is located on the estuary of a tidal river near the humid Essex marshes, it has always had the type of soupy fogs that have been plaguing the eastern United States.

 STOP, THIEF! All too often that cry is heard, bringing headache to another burglary victim. Just as often there is no outcry when the burglar comes at night perhaps while you're out for the evening. Locked doors are not proof against him. He'll pick the lock, worm his way in . . . and walk out with a bagful of your most treasured possessions. . . jewelry and furs, china and silverware, radios and other valuables. And if these things aren't insured, it's your loss. . . the burglar's gain. We can arm you against this loss with Burglary Insurance. WHO OWNS WOUNDED GAME?

Suppose you are hunting and shoot a deer or a duck, which falls mortally wounded. Before you can get to it, another hunter beats you there and claims the fallen game as his own. What are your rights?

Jim had been hunting all day without success, and had headed for home when he finally saw a deer. He took careful aim and hit the deer with his first shot. Although mortally wounded, the deer managed to run a short distance, with Jim in hot pursuit.

Roy was also deer hunting. He heard Jim's shot and saw a deer running toward him. However, before it reached the spot where he was standing, the deer fell to the ground.

Although it was obvious that the deer was about to die, Roy walked to within three feet of it, delivered the finishing shot, and quickly put his tag on it when Jim ran up and claimed the deer. Roy said that such deer were wild animals, and belong to no one until killed. Since he was the one that killed the deer, Roy claimed that it belonged to him.

Which hunter has legal title to the deer?

High Plains' Problems To Highlight Cotton Council's Meeting in March

Progress and problems in producing cotton more efficiently on the Texas High Plains and in western areas will be highlighted at a conference here March 2-3, the National Cotton Council has announced.

General chairman will be Roy Forkner of Lubbock, president of the Plains Cotton Growers Association, which will be local host for the conference.

The conference program will include 21 agricultural authorities who will discuss various aspects of growing higher quality cotton at a lower cost. Practical techniques will be emphasized.

Attendance of growers, researchers and education workers, and representatives of commercial companies is expected to total 500.

This will mark the first time for the conference to be held in the High Plains area. In prior years, it has been scheduled in Fresno and Bakersfield, Calif., Phoenix, Ariz., and El Paso, Texas.

Pointing out the program is designed to provide growers with practical and useful information, Mr. Forkner has urged all cotton producers in the area to make plans to attend the meeting. No registration fees are involved.

Co-sponsors are the Council and the Southwest Five - State Cotton Growers Association. Cooperating in the meeting will be the agricultural chemicals industry, U. S. Department of agriculture, Arizona Cotton

And in other cities, civilian review boards have been established to hear complaints against law enforcement officers. "This practice," says FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, "could damage effective law enforcement and reduce the orderly processes of community life to petty bickering, suspicion and hatred."

"The police executive," Hoover continues, "cannot become a mere pawn of bureaucratic committees. He must have full responsibility for the performance, discipline and control of his officers."

President Lewis F. Powell Jr. of the American Bar Association scoffs at "a great deal of talk about a so-called right of the public to know everything."

But Brother Powell forgets that it is in the American tradition to see that the public is informed. Otherwise, how can our democratic processes function effectively?

Let us talk less about freedom of the press and more of the freedom of the public to know what is going on.

Speaking as one editor, I would never subscribe to any bar association proposed codes of ethics or any other regulation designed to muzzle the press in the performance of its true responsibility.

Others may speak for themselves.
