City Police Protection Outlay Reported Lagging

ALTHOUGH Lubbock has a larger population, it spends a smaller percentage of its money on police protection and has fewer sworn personnel per capita on the streets than its counterpart to the north, Amarillo.

Information received by The Avalanche-Journal last week also showed Lubbock to have one of the highest crime index figures in the state, and proportionately one of the smallest protection rates of other comparable-size

The study was based, in part, on a copyrighted story by The Detroit News, in which cost figures for police protection in several of the nation's larger cities were analyzed. The probe revealed that Detroit paid more than any other major American city to keep one marked unit with two uniformed officers on the streets around the clock last year: $1.46 million. The average cost to answer a single call was set at $226.

Lubbock's police budget for October, 1976, through September, 1977, was $4,995,479, which represents 8.54 per cent of the city budget. According to LPD figures, the city's population May 1 was 178,000.

Amarillo Police Department figures set that city's population, as of January, at 150,039. However, its $3,829,524 spent on police protection represents 21 per cent of the entire city budget.

According to Capt. Frank Wiley, head of LPD's Planning, Research and Evaluation Division, it cost, on the average, $300,932 to keep a single patrol car on the streets during the past fiscal year; a single call was calculated to use $57.49 of the department's budgetary allotment.

The average costs were calculated, as in Detroit, by dividing the total police budget by the average number of marked units on patrol, followed by the number of shifts for that time period and average number of calls answered. Amarillo authorities, who also made similar calculations based on the Detroit study, however, used a much more refined method, and, consequently arrived at different types of figures.

According to Bill Tandy, crime analyst-statistician for the Amarillo Police Department, only those factors directly included in "patrol" were consi-

Among the items of 24-hour patrol for a year were: special equipment, vehicle cost and maintenance, wages and benefits, training of replacements and internal operations support system, which includes the radio room and all other office equipment.

Based on these calculations, Tandy provided that it cost $4.19 for a two-man unit to answer a call and $1.93 for a one-man unit to respond. The aver-age length of a call, from the time dispatched until completed, was set at 19 available in Lubbock.

LPD now has 129 marked units, resulting in an average 16.6 patrol cars on assigned beats. This does not include marked units driven by supervisors or any of the 40 unmarked cars.

The average (authorized) number of sworn personnel here is 222, which represents 82.5 per cent of LPD personnel; there are 40 civilian personnel. According to Wiley, the per capita cost of police protection here in 1976 was $28.06. As expected, that cost has risen steadily each year from $15.01 fine years are five years ago.

However, it is the number of sworn personnel — or rather, the lack of it —

However, it is the number of sworn personnes—to relate, there which has some observers worried.

The percentage of officers, including all ranks, for 100,000 population in Lubbock is 124; in Amarillo it is 152. Amarillo's patrol area includes 75 square miles; Lubbock's covers 87 square miles.

A new police class, containing 17 to 20 new recruits, begins here today. The patrol division, authorized at 149 policemen, now is operating at a depleted strength of only 134, and concern has been expressed that by the time the new officers are on the streets — January — the department will have lost in Geneva before the end of the year, urged Israel to recognize the "legitimate rights of the Palestinian people" and to grant the Palestinians a role in Geneva negotiations.

The joint declaration, aimed at reconvening a Middle East peace conference

Israel claimed the declaration would stiffen Arab policy toward Israel and hamper efforts to resume the peace conference, which met only briefly in December 1973 after the last Arab-Israeli

Informed sources in Cairo said a "very important" message from President Anwar Sadat, commenting on the joint declaration, was dispatched Sunday to Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, who is in New York for the current Carter Due Message

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said Fahmy will meet President Carter within the next two days to pass on Sadat's message.

Egyptian state radio said Cairo welcomed the declaration as a "positive step toward a breakthrough in the stalemated Arab-Israeli conflict." But the state radio commentary criticized the declaration for failing to recognize the PLO as the representatives of the Palestinian people.

The declaration, issued Saturday by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, did not define the so-called "rights" of the Palestinians. A State Department spokesman said later those rights should be negotiated at Geneva.

The statement represented the closest cooperation between Moscow and Washington on the Mideast since they cochaired the first Geneva talks. It called See ISRAEL Page 12

Village-Threatening Volcano Loses Fury

KALAPANA, Hawaii (UPI) - A fiery lava flow that threatened the seaside village of Kalapana began to cool to a harmless black rubble Sunday on the outskirts of town, slowed by a sudden halt of eruptcons at Kilauea volcano.

But so much lava had already oozed down the slope that civil defense officials said 120 evacuated families could not return to their homes until it was certain the flow's own momentum would not carry it over the residences.

Instruments at the Hawaii Volcano Observatory indicated the mountain was quieting down. Geologists camped at the eruption site said there were no signs of the lava fountains that had shot spectacularly from Kilauea for six days.

ficials estimated the lava was between a half-mile and three-quarters of a mile from the picturesque village and was moving at an almost imperceptible rate. Kalapana's residents, about 250, were DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) - Loyal govincide with the five-day siege of a hijacked Japanese jetliner at Dacca airport. Officials reported scores of dead in the short-lived coup attempt.

In a brief speech broadcast by the state weapons fire at the airport and in down-radio, Bangladesh leader Maj. Gen. Ziaur town Dacca. Rahman assured this military-ruled Asian nation of 80 million that the rebellion had been put down.

Rahman, who is both president and chief martial law administrator, accused "selfish quarters" of trying to exploit his government's preoccupation with the airport seige.

Five heavily armed members of the ultra-leftist Japanese Red Army forced a Japan Air Lines jetliner to land in Dacca Wednesday.

Bangladesh government negotiators secured release of more than 100 hostages in exchange for a ransom of $6 million and release of six prisoners from Japanese jails. The plane later left Bangla-desh for the Middle East.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Coffee cups clinked. The lobbyists closed the hotel room door to keep out a reporter. Then they discussed their assault on the core of President Carter's energy package.

Mobil Oil was there. So was a lawyer

But cheek by jowl with big oil sat the Consumer Federation of America, the Teamsters union, the cotton growers, the airlines, and a dozen other farm, labor and business groups who are often at each other's throats.

The crude-oil tax, which Carter has called the centerpiece of his energy strategy, is being attacked by oil companies who seek the money for themselves.

New Ammonia Process Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have developed a simplified way of making ammonia - the base for much of the world's fertilizer - that greatly reduces the amount of energy now required for the process, the American Chemical Society reported Sunday.

While the experimental technique is not ready for commercial application, its developers say its potential for energy savings is "enormous.

Gerhard Schrauzer and Ted D. Guth of the University of California at San Diego say their method produces ammonia at almost room temperatures and normal atmospheric pressure.

This contrasts sharply with the commonly used Haber-Bosh Process, which makes ammonia by forcing the combination of nitrogen and hydrogen at temperatures of 500 degrees Centigrade and put wet gauze over the catalyst, passed pressures 350 times that at sea level. # Friendships Form On Skytrain

BUSINESS FLIGHT - Businessman Robert Brush, 49, of Syracuse, N.Y., reads a book while fellow Skytrain passengers Lola Aglialora, 54, right, and Jim Craft, 41, left background, both of New York City, take naps during their New York to London flight. They were among the people taking advantage of the new Atlantic low fares offered by Freddie Laker's airline. (AP Laserphoto)

LONDON (AP) - Freddie Laker is winning over the "mums" and the businessmen as well as long-haired, backpacking students with his bargain-basement jet service between New York and London.

"My children told me I would be the oldest person on the flight," Lola Aglialoro, 54, said after we boarded the Laker Skytrain in New York.

"That didn't bother me, and it turned out not to be true," she said. "I've made two good friends tonight," said passenger Robert Brush. "People are more open, more communicative than on other flights."

Mrs. Aglioloro, of New York City, had to travel to England on short notice because of a death in the family. She would have had to pay $675, she said, if the $238.25 Skytrain fare was not available.

Brush, 49, was traveling from Syracuse, N.Y., to Italy for a business confer-

I was probably more typical of the 294 Laker passengers on board the flight. Unsure when I could get away for a three-week vacation, I was too late to get a charter flight or a cheaper advanced-purchase ticket. I decided to turn to the Skytrain service, which is first-come-first-served on the day of the flight.

Laker, who began Skytrain service last Monday, says Brush and Mrs. Aglialoro are the kind of passengers he's looking for — the businessman, the holiday tourist and the person who must make an unexpected trip, as well as young people with no time commitments.

A look around the inside of the DC10 jetliner indicated that perhaps half the passengers were over 30 years old. Among the calmest was Josephine Murphy, a white-haired, 74-year-old woman traveling from Augusta, Ga., to visit rela-

"This has been the most orderly flight I've ever been on," she said as we stood in a long customs line at the end of the flight.

To get aboard the Skytrain I first checked the ticket availability through a recorded message and then took a leisurely subway ride to Laker's Queens, N.Y., terminal. I bought the 107th ticket of the day — the plane has 345 seats and spent 10 minutes in the terminal, including checking my suitcase.

Returning to the terminal at 9 p.m., I boarded Laker's charter bus full of cheerful passengers for the ride to Kennedy. Some grew less cheerful when we learned the flight would be 21/2 hours late because of a continuing strike by British air traffic control assistants.

The Skytrain is somewhat more spartan than a regular jetliner, though clean and comfortable. But once in the air, the flight was similar to most others. Typical, unappealing airline meals were served, at additional cost, drinks were sold — 50 cents for a shot of Scotch — and a movie was shown — "Swashbuckler." Many people quickly dozed off. There were differences, however. Younger passengers brought sandwiches, cookies and bottles of wine. They chatted quietly, some saying they enjoyed a feeling of rebelliousness in joining Laker's challenge of the major airlines.

The service was slow and the 10 flight attendants appeared harried, though few passengers seemed to mind. I didn't get my cold-chicken dinner until 3:30 a.m., two hours after we took off.

One who did object was Dr. Frederick Leitch of Manchester, England, who couldn't find any other way home from a conference in Toronto. "This is just cattle service," he said. "It's just been an absolute drag ... I'd rather fly the Concorde and pay the outrageous fee than go through this bloody hassle." Round-trip fare on the supersonic Concorde is $1,515.

After clearing customs in London, most Skytrain passengers caught the train from Gatwick Airport to London's Victoria Station, about an hour away and as convenient to the city as Heathrow Airport, where the major airlines land

President Carter, however, appears to be readying a proposal that would sugarcoat his reform proposals by reducing the tax rate for most taxpayers even while closing many of the so-called loopholes that most middleincome wage earners now enjoy.

BY THE TIME Congress has digested, debated, deleted, disparaged, deliberated and discharged the tax bill in its final form, however, it may bear little resemblance to the one Carter initially lays out.

On the plus side, the President's plan probably will simplify the tax forms used by most taxpayers. On the minus side, the reason more taxpayers will be using a simplified form is that many of the itemized deductions they've been taking no longer will

Strategy To Delay

The possibility of so deadly a delay signals a faltering of the White House "full-court press" to sell the treaty to a stubborn Senate and country.

the treaties-Gerald Ford and Henry Kissinger. Former President Ford has decided he will not testify for the treaty

Intense Republican opposition is rubbing off on the two most prestigious Republican endorsers of

IN THE SENATE'S own subtle way, the word is spreading that the treaties are more vulnerable today than on Sept. 7 when they were signed at the Pan-American Union building. That theatrical signing ceremony apparently failed in its purpose: to galvanize national attention and reverse the anti-treaty tide helped along by well-organized conservative forces. Putting off a Senate vote would please most senators, particularly those up for re-election next year and most especially Senate minority leader Howard Baker.

While Baker is suspected of inclining toward approval, that would not help his 1978 campaign for re-election in Tennessee, nor his probable 1980 campaign for the Republican presidential

INDEED, IF Senate action on the treaties does not come before the 1978 election, the matter could very likely be shelved until after the 1980 presidential election.

That would raise serious questions in Panama undermining Jimmy Carter's authority throughout the world

Senate majority leader Byrd, who is scrupulously keeping his own counsel, says nothing out loud to dash President Carter's hopes for Senate approval early next year. Actually, Byrd could well end up supporting the treaties. But he is largely responsible for the deepening perception in the Senate cloakrooms of along, long wait.

MEANWHILE. REPUBLICAN sentiment building against the treaties has begun to engulf Ford, whose widely-advertised presence as Carter's houseguest for the signing ceremonies angered some party colleagues. Partly as a result of that anger, the former President has confidentially informed Sen. John Sparkman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that he will not be able to testify in favor of the treaties.

Ford's regrets constituted one setback to the administration. Another is looming in the person of Dr. Kissinger. Senators have learned that Kissinger is troubled about the treaties and wants a change spelling out U.S. rights to intervene militarily if the canal's neutrality is threatened.

Neither Kissinger nor Ford, moreover, is happy that the U.S. signed away rights to build a future sea-level canal unless Panama itself approves.

UNDERLYING THESE adversities is the Senate's guileful ways in using the calendar to duck difficult political issues.

Sparkman has scheduled a maximum three weeks of hearings, ending Oct. 14 shortly before Congress quits for the year. there will be no hearings during the recess. Given the emotional politics surrounding the canal issue, hearings are certain to be resumed next year. But Congress now plans an unusually late return on Jan. 17, and almost all of February is given over to election-year campaigning.

Intimates of the starkly realistic Byrd say he doubts whether the treaties can even get to the floor before late March or early April at best. That could well delay a vote until summer, on the eve of the congressional election campaign.

Assuming no sudden national swing behind the treaties, Byrd by then will be under heavy pressure not to bring the treaties up at all.

AT THAT POINT, unless the majority leader is certain of the required two-thirds vote, he would be in position to set the treaties aside-claiming more important work requires the Senate's atten-

This prospect signifies that Carter has failed to seize the initiative on the treaties. Furthermore, the closer the issue moves to next year's election, the harder it will be for senators to run against the anti-treaty tide. The newly troubled President must now confront the possible death of the treaties through inaction, with all that implies for the presidential leadership of Jimmy Carter.

Watch It Vanish.

THE SENATE Finance Committee has proposed increasing Social Security taxes again. The Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink, making their political hay, have bankrupt the Social Security system. In truth, the Washington overspenders have borrowed every last penny of the Social Security money that belongs to the public and spent it.

If this is not a bamboozle, what on earth would you call it? For millions on millions among us, the Social Security tax is more burdensome than the federal income tax. But who would know it? When our government began deducting the Social Security tax in the initial 1937-49 period, guess what the yearly Social Security rate was? Shared equally by employes and employers alike, the tax was a combined $60 a year. Now this rate has been increased more than 1,500 per

THE INCREASE is about four times as much as the benefits payable from it. But, again, who would know it?

The cash paid in is deducted from all wage payments. You do not even see it. It simply vanishes from your hard-earned pay. This is bad enough, for the weekly pay envelope remains the most important thing in most However, this cash paid in is merely shoved into the U.S. Treasury like other taxes.

We suppose that the payments are properly earmarked, but they are not. They simply vanish there again, like a conjurer disappearing into the smoke of his own fire.

Our government replaces it with the U.S. government's own bonds; the government's own IOUs. And, like the public's gold at Ft. Knox, this is gone with the wind.

THE AMOUNT earmarked in government IOUs was supposed to be between 75 and 125 per cent of a year's payout. It is now down to less than 50

And even the earmarked amount will vanish within three years if the trend continues.

Effective in September 1972, the Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink voted a 5.9 per cent increase in Social Security benefits. The year 1974 was a national election year. Eyeing this to attract votes. Congress voted another 20 per cent increase in benefits.

In July 1975 still another raise (5.9 per cent) was paid out and in January 1976 an escalator providing for additional automatic-automatic -rises. Then in December that same year Congress voted to increase the rises 11 per cent.

This year's Social Security outlay will be nearly $100 billion-much more than the entire federal budget in 1957. Between 1950 and 1973 Social Security taxes increased 20 fold, but the benefits increased 60 fold.

Nor does the 60-fold expansion include the great 1974 disability and health insurance bene-

THESE GO STRAIGHT up. The Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink have extended Social Security protection to deceased workers' surviving dependents.

And, behind the scenes, the expansion of Social Security benefits has far outstripped the growth of our economy and of wages and prices. During the 60-fold increase, our nation's gross national product expanded only 40 times. Social Security taxes grew from 12 per cent of federal revenue in 1950 to 32 per cent this year. It stood second to personal income taxes as a source of federal revenue. It was 70 per cent as

MOSCOW (AP) - Pravda strongly reasserted Sunday that "it is not the fault of the Soviet Union" that the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation agreement is expiring Monday with no SALT-2 accord ready to replace it.

But the Communist party newspaper gave a generally upbeat assessment of the two countries' continuing arms talks and suggested that a new agreement may soon be reached.

Pravda's weekly "International Review" quoted "the unanimous opinion of American observers" that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's talks with President Carter last week brought some progress on the road to a SALT-2

Gromyko confirmed in a Soviet television interview telecast here Saturday night that "the two powers, the Soviet Union and the United States, have now stepped onto the road which leads to

But the Pravda review, by commentator Vladimir Bolshakov, reiterated the long-standing Soviet line that Washington has grasped for "one-sided advantages" in the SALT negotiations. It also criticized such "opponents of detente" as Sen. Henry Jackson. D-Wash., for expressing concern about the U.S.-Soviet decision to informally prolong SALT-1 until SALT-2 is settled.

'The obvious challenge from the 'saber-rattlers' testifies that the U.S. military-industrial complex will continue to seek decisions favorable to the military establishment and to reactionary policies, as it was in the case of the neutron bomb and the Cruise missile," Pravda

'We are just going to hope that the striving of the American people for positive development of Soviet-American relations will win out over the self-interested point of view of the arms kings and of the politicians who serve them.

"It is not the fault of the Soviet Union that so far there has not been success in reaching a new agreement.'

Jackson has alleged that the separate statements issued by Washington and Moscow saying they will prolong the current SALT agreement until a new one is reached amounted to a formal agreement and should therefore have been subject to congressional approval.

He said last week that he will insist on congressional consideration of the move

Gromyko said in his Saturday night interview that some questions on a SALT-2 agreement still remain, "but I would put them in second place.

Age Of Space Race Continuing Into Era Of Cooperation

MOSCOW (AP) - When the Soviet Union launched the world's first artificial earth satellite 20 years ago, not every in the West professed to be astounded.

Then-President Dwight D. Eisenhower initially dismissed Sputnik 1 as "one small ball in the air." Nonetheless, the Oct. 4, 1957, launching of Sputnik — a 185-pound silvery sphere equipped with four whisker-like antennas oulted both the Soviet Union and the United States into an era of intense and expensive space rivalry.

That single "ball in the air" has led to hundreds of ever more sophisticated sat-ellites whirling around the globe, with missions ranging from biological experiments to secret military communications and reconnais

Another Soviet space first, the orbital flight of Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin in 1961, compounded the mounting Soviet-U.S. technological competition with crash programs to develop manned space exploration

The launching of a new Soviet space station, Salyut 6, last Thursday has increased speculation among Western observers that Moscow may be planning a major space spectacular to mark not only the Sputnik anniversary but also the upcoming 60th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution next month.

Soviet officials, however, have denied that any such spectacular is in the offing. Where does the Soviet space program stand today, 20 years after Sputnik?

Despite the Soviet failure to achieve a manned moon landing, Western scientific observers say the Soviets have forged ahead with a space effort that on balance is larger, more diverse and better-funded than current U.S. space activities.

According to an authoritative study compiled by the U.S. Library of Congress in Washington, the number of successful Soviet space launchings in recent years has been running at a level about three times higher than American launches.

The Soviet program has put greater stress on military applications of satellites and other space technology.

Data from the Library of Congress study show that from 1957 through 1975, the Soviets conducted a total of 586 launchings for apparent military purposes, in contrast to their 292 launches of civilian space vehicles.

By comparison, during the same period there were 326 U.S. military launches and 323 U.S. civilian launchings

There is nothing funny about the court's job. It is basic to the Common Market, and much like the task that Chief Justice John Marshall performed for the young American republic 150 years ago. By carefully reasoned decisions the European court is drawing the nine sovereign states of the Common Market into a closer European union, though the union may never be as close as the one that the

These bills are passed, amended or turned down by a council representing the member governments, much as the U.S. Congress used to represent the country in the early days of the republic.

Basic rules are laid down in treaties, notably the Treaty of Rome of 1958. This treaty reads like a constitution, and has much the same status. One article gives the European court a power that the U.S. Constitution did not give to the Supreme Court: the European court is specifically authorized to declare an action of the council - that is, of the member governments — to be contrary to the treaties. That means the action is void, just as when the U.S. Supreme Court declares a law of Congress unconstitutional. Kutscher takes pride in the rulings of the court that have affected the lives of actual European citizens, not just their legal and business institutions. He pointed to a treaty article that guarantees equal pay for women.

cult because of certain laws

Many job applicants unwittingly make boners on both their resumes and in job interviews that prevent them from finding new positions. What are some of the most common mistakes in job hunting? UPI asked the experts:

Arlene Covney, placement counselor, Career Blazers Agency Inc., New York City: "First of all, salary expectations often are very unrealistic. Most people will put down a very high salary requirement for their minimum when they haven't gone out and priced the market. When applicants indicate they want to work in a certain industry, they're so specific that they rule out other areas. On the other hand, some applicants are so general about fields of interest that they don't give the employment agency any direction. What hampers most people is that they simply don't have enough informa-

"On resumes, many job seekers list their age, race, sex and marital status, which is a big mistake. It's against the law for employers and agencies to use this kind of information. A lot of people submit pictures with their resumes, which is a gimmick. Resumes often come in various sizes on different colored paper. They range from subtly impressive to outrageous and pompous.

"On job interviews, people either don't answer questions directly and project a poor image, or they oversell themselves. Most applicants lie about being fired. It's always hard to determine whether someone has been fired or laid off. Getting ref-

Reeducating Bears' Palates Cost $176,000

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Yosemite bears are being told. through some neat tricks of persuasion. that they'll have to do without ham and cheese sandwiches.

Park officials say they are happy to report the bears are complying and have returned to feeding on vegetation.

It hasn't been easy or inexpensive to get them to cooperate, though, as evidenced by the $176,000 their reeducation has cost. The problem of the gluttonous bears goes back to the 1920s when tourists started coming to Yosemite in great numbers and the bear population was about 120. Black bears, the only bear species found in the park, are normally not aggressive, not given to acts of violence unless provoked. They have insatiable appetites, however, which the tourists only

Before long bears became regular visitors to the campgrounds. Tourists ignored signs imploring them not to feed the bears.

Predictably, the bears became finicky. if not voracious, eaters. Wild berries and acorns would no longer do, and with 2 million to 3 million people visiting the park annually, there was always someone around to feed them.

"What happened is that their natural habitat became augmented by artificial food sources." said Dale Harms, a wildlife biologist at the park.

As a result, the bears went out and multiplied. By the early 1960s the park's bear population had more than tripled

In the early 1970s, park officials began experimenting by "bear proofing" garbage containers in the park. They also started an extensive campaign urging visitors to cooperate in controlling the park's bear population by not feeding them.

Visitors began to refrain from feeding the bears, and secured their food supplies in places inaccessible to bears. The bears, however, were not about to be denied their epicurean delights. They took to pillaging campgrounds in search of food.

They also began "clouting" cars, which Harms said they had come to associate with people and thus with food. Black bears range in size from 200 to 300 pounds, and have been known to crumple automobile metal with relative ease.

In 1975, the park received a grant from the National Park Service to use in re-educating both bears and park tourists.

It worked. Three years ago park visitors reported 975 incidents of car "clouting" or camp raidings, resulting in $113,-000 in damage. Last year, only 688 such incidents occurred and the damage bill dropped to $55,290. Indications are the damage figure will be cut in half again

Some of the methods include install experimental "food lockers" at one of the park's major campgrounds, handing out pamphlets explaining the project to incoming visitors and increasing the number of signs around the park warning persons against feeding the bears. All of the park's 250 large "dumpster"

City, Iowa.? Or, for that matter, with towns like Manawa, Wis.; Wakarusa, Ind.; Commerce City, Colo.; New Tazewell, Tenn.; or Cucamonga, Calif.

These communities spotted across the United States are homes for one of America's biggest small town industries - the manufacture of recreational vehicles.

It is a $4.3 billion-a-year industry and it's located in small-town America.

Twisting country roads, lined by cornfields and neat farmhouses lead to this small Michigan community 60 miles north of industrial Detroit.

The RV industry is located away from major urban areas, partly by design and partly by chance.

think in terms of one or two at a time. "That means quality is more important," says John Malaspina, Travco vice president and general manager.

'When you're in Detroit or Cleveland or Chicago, you're dealing with metal knockers not wood workers and the product shows it," Malaspina said. "The people here are part of the company and there is a lot of community pride in what we do here.

"In a factory like GM's Lordstown. Ohio, plant, the people come to work and then they go home. There is a whole different attitude.'

But more than quality is involved in selecting small-town America

Labor costs are cheaper and most RV plants are nonunion. Travco is one of the few whose employes do belong to a union, but Malaspina says the relationship between the company and the union is completely different than in most urban

"We can't compete with the wages and benefits they pay in the auto industry," he said. "If we had to compete, the cost of our product would have to be a lot two. higher.

Travco already is at the high end of the as a parts manager in a nearby John motor home price scale. Its 22-foot L'Esprit tags out at above $23,000 in a market where most units cost around $15,000. Its 27 to 32-foot full-size motor homes are referred to as the "Cadillacs" of their class

If Travco doesn't compete with the auto industry's wages and benefits, the companies which are even smaller would be forced out of existence if they were unionized, according to several execu-

"On an $11,000 unit at retail, labor costs tend to be more of a factor than on a $30,000 unit," says Richard DeCamara, executive vice president for Midas International Corp. "If we tried to build our units in Detroit, we'd have the United Auto Workers to deal with and that would put us out of business.'

Midas builds its motor homes in Elkhart, New Tazewell and Cucamonga.

"In Tennessee, the workers are mostly hill people," says DeCamara. "They're willing to put in a day's work for a day's

"The RV industry also is very cyclical and that may be one reason for locating in small communities. Many workers have farms and it doesn't bother them so much if they get laid off for a month or

"We were in the pig business for a while, running about 150 head," Scott said. "Farming and hogs couldn't sup-port two families, but Ron didn't really want to move away."

Indiana and California are the production and sales leaders in the RV industry with Michigan in third spot.

The industry's products range from simple camping units that are less than 10 feet long to massive motor homes over 30 feet long. They come equipped with bathtubs, microwave ovens, ice makers, television sets and pop-up bars.

Prices range from less than $1,000 for the simplest folddown camping trailers to more than $50,000 for the completely self-contained home on wheels.

Indiana manufacturers built nearly 160,000 RVs in 1976 in places like Goshen, Elkhart, Wakarusa, Bristol, Milford, Middlebury, Nappanee, Bremen and

Malaspina says the Elkhart area got its start in the RV business because there were steel fabricators in the area and that has now led to the growth of many small companies who supply the RV industry with parts.

"If you have a garage and a pair of hands, you can build a motor home in the Elkhart area because you can get supplies," said DeCamara of Midas. "The small guys flock into the market when times are good and drop out when the market drops "It's both good and bad to have the small shops, though. They are good for innovation and new ideas, but if they build unsafe vehicles the whole industry gets a black eye."

Some manufacturers are moving into even smaller towns in Indiana because of the stable work forces provided by the Amish and Mennonite communities.

Travco's work force averages less than a 2 per cent absentee rate, compared with better than three times that amount in the auto industry.

But Malaspina said there are problems peculiar to having a manufacturing facility located in a rural area. During deer hunting season, we do have to close down completely for two or

Good Environment In Family Reduces Homesickness Risk

BALTIMORE (UPI) - Homesickness. the empty feeling that hits when a college freshman leaves home and finds himself surrounded by strangers, usually strikes students who come from rocky family situations.

counseling and psychiatric services at Johns Hopkins University, recently experienced one of the busiest times of her year: the first cases of homesickness.

Cases crop up during the first week of Dr. Ghislaine Godenne, director of school and the final weeks of the first semester, when students are faced with final exams, Dr. Godenne said.

> "Homesickness is generally the one situation which surprises freshmen," she said. "They're so pleased to get away from home, but they become quite surprised when they find they are lonely. The most acute time is the first week.

> Dr. Godenne, who has published an article in which she outlines the hazards that cause anxiety and depression among freshmen, says college life is not hazardous to a young person's life, but she quickly adds that her statement is made with some reservations. Students who have grown up in a good family environment rarely suffer from homesickness, Dr. Godenne explained. She said usually it hits students who have had an insecure family life.

"Students never really get homesick if they had a good relationship with their parents. If you love your family, it might be sad, but there won't be any anxiety. "But unconsciously, a person who feels he isn't loved or feels he doesn't really love his parents - he'll get homesick,' Dr. Godenne said. Her prescription for curing homesickness is not to allow the student to return home within the first week.

"The anxiety might be so great, he might not want to come back to college." she said. "We tell them it's okay if they want to go home, but not before one week. I've never had a student go back home after he's decided to stay.'

Toward the end of the first semester, homesickness strikes again because the student is "getting tired, has to study and the excitement of college is over." For other students, anxiety builds up when they are thrown into coeducational living where "sex talk, if not sex deeds, is more open now than ever before, and thus (they) may feel forced into sexual relations for which they are not yet psychologically ready.'

She said some students are "absolutely not prepared (for sexual experiences) and they get really scared. They're pushed into it because they want to be accepted."

"People do mature at different ages, but it is hard for a student to feel comfortable with the fact that he or she is still a 'virgin' when so many others brag of sexual exploits," she said.

But as she pointed out in her article. 'So many kids brag about sexual experiences because it looks good in our day not to be a 'virgin.' Yet, if one really looks at their histories, they've never had intercourse.*

Financial sacrifices placed on a family who sends a child to college also can cause anxiety.

Dr. Godenne said parents should not hide their financial problems from their child, but at the same time they should not "rub it in" that they are doing without certain things for the sake of the child's education

"College is pretty expensive these days and some parents really do mortgage their homes. Some students will begin to feel guilty if they don't do well," she said

Dr. Godenne said the Johns Hopkins counselors see about 11 per cent of the student population each year, which she admitted is a very high percentage.

"But we go after it - it's not that students here are any sicker than any place else. This year I hope to get 12 per cent; that's optimal and equal to about the same percentage in the general population which needs counseling help."

Broadcast Funds Due Big Push

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter will ask Congress for more than $1 billion over five years to bolster public broadcasting, an administration official said Sunday.

The request is "a decisive move to strengthen public broadcasting in the immediate future," the official said.

"The White House is in the final stages of consultation with key members of Congress and with others directly concerned with public television," said the official, who declined to be quoted by

Carter reportedly will make his request this week.

The money, the largest proposed contribution ever to public television and radio by the federal government, will be only part of the President's package.

Other parts will be designed to give public broadcasting a greater journalistic independence from government interference and greater ability to produce national programming.

Carter promised during his campaign to improve public broadcasting.

The nation's public broadcasting system is composed of two authorities. One is the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, created by the 1967 Public Broadcasting Act. It distributes federal funds.

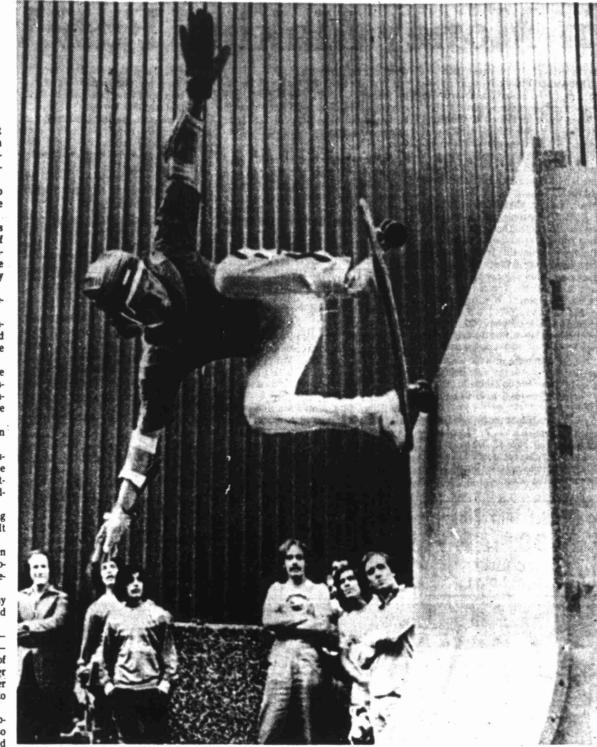

The other is the Public Broadcasting Service, representing local stations. It distributes programs. Carter's package is said to strengthen the Public Broadcasting Service's programming role and is designed to decrease internal feuding. The New York Times reported Sunday that the $1 billion authorization would become effective in 1981.

One-fourth of the federal money about $45 million to $50 million a year would be allocated for the production of national programming, the newspaper said, giving public television greater ability to create programs comparable to those of the British Broadcasting Corp.

Local stations will be asked to contribute matching money, the Times said, so that the national programming fund might reach $100 million a year during pellate judge who has set racial precedents throughout his career has advanced to a runoff election for mayor of New Orleans against a white opponent. But the opponent probably won't be known before Tuesday. Judge Ernest "Dutch" Morial, the first black ever to seriously campaign for mayor, finished first by more than 4,500 votes in a crowded election field on Saturday. However, he fell far short of the 50 per cent total needed to avoid a runoff on

Sen. Nat Kiefer and City Councilman Joe DiRosa claimed they earned the second runoff spot in the race to succeed Moon Landrieu, who is forbidden by law from serving a third term.

Rosa in complete but unofficial totals

'We don't know whether all the absentee votes have been counted," said Police Chief Clarence Giarrusso, whose officers compiled the unofficial totals. "We don't have all Ph.D.s working on the polls or operating the machines here at police neadquarters.

Giarrusso said it would be Tuesday, when voting machines are opened, before it is known how many of the estimated 1,400 absentee ballots were counted on Saturday

The unofficial totals showed Morial with 42,185 votes, Kiefer with 37,656 and DiRosa with 37,549.

State Rep. Toni Morrison, the son of a former mayor, finished fourth with 32,-009. None of the other seven candidates polled more than 5,500 votes.

"I am certain that in a race that is this close, that we will have a recount," Di-Rosa said after the figures were released. "I'm sure that the people would want

Morial, 48, was the first black to graduate from Louisiana State University Law School and the first to be elected to the state legislature and to an appellate bench.

He had to sue to get into the mayor's race, overturning a state law which prohibited sitting judges from running for political office. Although the campaign was free-spending, the most recent campaign funds report showed he had spent under $100,000. less than a quarter of what other major #### candidates listed.

"I would hope that all the voters of the city of New Orleans take note of the quality of the campaign we conducted with meager funds," Morial said. "We are now going to get our organization together to move to what will be the most significant victory in the 260-year history of the city.

About 42 per cent of New Orleans 219,-328 registered voters are black and a sampling of black precincts showed Morial got almost 60 per cent of that vote.

High Court Opens New Term Today

mal opening of its 1977-78 term Monday, the Supreme Court starts two weeks of arguments on issues such as mandatory retirement, the sick leave rights of pregnant women, and the much-discussed test of "reverse discrimination."

Only brief preliminaries follow the traditional "oyez, oyez" by Marshal Albert Wong as the nine black-robed justices emerge once more from behind the heavy red draperies and take their places at the high mahogany bench.

First there is admission of a few attorneys to practice. Then Chief Justice Warren Burger announces that the court's orders are available in the clerk's office. His words are meaningless to the hushed spectators in the marble-columned chamber but they release to reporters and the public the justices' disposition of hundreds of appeals that have piled up during the summer recess.

Usually a score or so of the perhaps 800 cases on the list are accepted for argument and written opinion. The rest must stand on judgments of lower courts.

Cases to be argued in the October sessions were carried over from the term that ended June 29.

Ex-Official Tells Of Ire Over Agnew

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) -Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson and former Solicitor General Robert Bork were prepared to quit a month before the Saturday Night Massacre" because of concern over the investigation of then-Vice President Spiro Agnew, according to Bork.

Bork said in an interview published in The New Haven Register on Sunday that he and Richardson were prepared to quit when they approached President Nixon in September 1973 on the investigation into Agnew's alleged acceptance of bribes while governor of Maryland.

Richardson quit a month later after refusing orders from Nixon to fire Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox. Bork then fired Cox, who had sought the Watergate tapes.

Bork said he and Richardson went to Nixon in September 1973 in an attempt to convince the him that indictment proceedings should be started against Agnew in connection with the bribery in-

He said he and Richardson were convinced that Nixon did not want the indictment because of arguments by his key aides. Bork said the Nixon aides felt that Agnew could only be impeached, not indicted, because he was a sitting vice president.

The resignations of Bork and Richardson were averted when after a hour's discussion, Nixon agreed to allow the indictment process to go forward, Bork said.

"Imagine what it would have been like if Lyndon Johnson had been under indictment the day John Kennedy was shot," Bork remembered Richardson saying.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - With the for- The lawsuit challenging mandatory retirement was filed by a former United Air Lines employe, Harris McMann, who was retired much against his will at age 60 under a company plan in existence since 1941.

The 1967 Age Discrimination in Employment Act forbids discrimination against persons between 40 and 65 but allows for carrying out "bona fide" pension plans. United said its long-standing plan could not be violating a law so recently enacted. But the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said early retirement must have an economic or business purpose and not rest on age alone, regardless of when it originated.

Sick pay for workers on maternity leave is at issue in cases appealed by the Nashville (Tenn.) Gas Co. and the Richmond (Calif.) School District. In the gas company case certain seniority rights are also at

The cases follow the much-publicized 1976 General Electric decision that employers could exclude pregnancy from their disability insurance plans without violating federal law. The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to over-

The reverse discrimination suit originally brought by Allan Bakke, a twice-rejected white applicant to the University of California Medical School at Davis, comes up Oct. 12. The lawyer for the University is Archibald Cox, Harvard professor and former U.S. Solicitor General, who was fired by Richard Nixon as special prosecutor in the Watergate cover-up investigation. Bakke, who is represented by San Francisco attorney Reynold Colvin, claims he was prevented from getting a medical education because the university reserved 16 of its 100 first-year places for disadvantaged minorities.

Church, medical, legal and ethnic groups have filed such a wealth of material pro and con that a justice would need a strong passion for homework to get through all of it.

The Carter administration urged the court to find racial considerations permissible in an admissions program and intimated opposition to quotas.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) - Jacob Mugisha is a 36-year-old Ugandan refugee now living in the Kenyan capital of Nairobi. There is little to mark him out from the thousands of other Ugandans who have sought sanctuary in Kenya to escape the tyranny of the rule of Idi

But Mugisha says that until the end of his days he will carry a burden of guilt from which there is no escape.

Two and a half years ago he spent more than one month in one of Amin's prisons, he says, and there he was forced to batter to death more than 20 of his fellow prisoners, one of them a friend.

Mugisha was brought into contact with The Associated Press by another Ugandan refugee. He produced a written account of his experiences and this was expanded upon by him orally during ques-

Travel to Uganda by news correspondents is sharply restricted and thus independent confirmation of his account is not available. Nor could the exact details of prison life in Uganda be confirmed through other Ugandan refugees here. But Mugisha's story is consistent with the stories of terror told by many other Ugandans who have fled prisoners to kill each other.

Nobody knows how many Ugandans have died in this manner. But Mugisha says that at the prison of Amin's muchfeared Public Safety Unit (PSU) on the Kampala-Jinja road, about three miles from the capital of Kampala, it is the most favored form of execution.

The PSU, the military police and Amin's secret police, the State Research Bureau, are the three organizations of terror though which Amin maintains his power. They are staffed almost entirely by Moslems from the southern Sudan and Amin's own minority Kakwa tribe.

Mugisha said he was arrested by the PSU on April 20, 1975, while on vacation from his job as a clerk at Barclay's Bank in Kampala. He said he was accused of helping to steal 100,000 shillings (about $20,000) from the bank.

He said he was taken to the PSU "death camp" at Naguru and put in a cell in the block where he claimed the killings are carried out. He described the block as an oblong, black building with a courtyard in the middle, surrounded by a compound cut off from the rest of the prison by a wire fence

After being taken to the cell, Mugisha said, he was then beaten to unconsciousness. Two days later, he said, he was selected to be killed that night along with three other prisoners. He named them as Fred Musoke, Tom Galabuzi and a Mr. Lutymanga

"One of the cells in the block is reserved for those who have been chosen Various international human rights to die," he said. "We were taken to the agencies have estimated that as many as cell and at about 9:30 p.m. the camp killer (Cpl. Nyanzi) came with two policemen. They started calling us out oneby-one into the courtyard and then the compound. Musoke was the first to be

He described how he was forced to execute his victims:

On the instructions of the prison guards he would carry them from the courtyard to the compound and throw them on the ground. Then with the heavy iron bar, he said, he would hit them with all his strength on the back of the neck. After that he was ordered to batter his victims' faces into a pulp so they could not be recognized, he said

More than 200 people were killed in this way during his time in the camp, Mugisha estimated.

He said his worst memory is of killing Musoke, whom he described as being 17 years old. Musoke was accused of stealing money, but denied this.

After his month as a camp executioner, Mugisha said, he was taken before a court in Kampala and sentenced to one year in Luzira Prison after pleading guilty to stealing the money.

Before he completed his sentence, he said, he was able to raise 5,000 shillings (about $600) to buy his freedom. He fled to neighboring Rwanda but returned last

After his return he was employed as a sports teacher at St. Henry's College at Masaka, some 80 miles south of Kampala. "Back at Makindye we were all badly beaten and then crammed in a cell with about 40 other people, including members of the Express football club, which was banned earlier this year," he said.

"Because of this experience I fled to Kenya," he said.

New PBS Series Uses Gorilla, Frog To Prove Music All Around

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new public television series called "Music" uses a gorilla, a knight in armor, game shows and a frog to prove that music is all around us.

The 10 programs, each 30 minutes in length, will be carried on the Public Broadcasting Service at 7:30 p.m. EDT next Saturday night and on successive Saturdays, although local stations may choose to air them at a different time.

Although the series is aimed primarily at upper elementary school children, it should be entertaining and instructive to adults who are not knowledgeable about music. That is one of the reasons it is being shown in prime time.

"As a conductor, I think the most important thing to me is to be able to share music, to share my love for it, with an orchestra and an audience," said Murry Sidlin, conductor and chief actor in the lively series.

We hope adults will share the program with their kids. Families used to listen to music together in the old days. In Oriental countries parents are expected to play musical instruments along with their kids. There is nothing better for the family environment than for all members to enjoy something together.'

Sidlin, 37, handsome and personable, is the new music director of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra following a fouryear stint as resident of the National Symphony Orchestra here. During that time he conducted many youth and pop

Seen in preview, the first program is highly entertaining. Sidlin takes the audience through the Jewish Yom Kippur worship service, to African tribal rituals, a steel drum oand, the music of the Renaissance and concludes with the finale of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

Following its prime time showing on PBS, the series will be repeated for classroom use beginning Tuesday, Jan. 3, at 11 a.m. EST. There is a 64-page teachers guide, available in limited quantities for teachers who ask their local stations for

The programs have been produced over the past two years by WETA-TV in Washington, financed by a contract of $480,000 with the office of education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and a $300,000 grant from Allied Chemical Corp.

The executive producer is WETA's Ruth Leon, who has produced many television programs including "In Performance at Wolf Trap," winner of a Peabody

2401-34th Since 1835 795-6408

Each program in the 10-part series explores a different aspect of musical experience: rhythm, melody, harmony, tone color, form, composition, conducting, improvisation and style. It ranges from baroque to rock and most things in between: calypso, dixieland jazz, gospel, blues, symphony. Films, tapes and animation are used, and Sidlin sometimes dons a Groucho Marx mustache, stethoscope and other physician's gear to pose as "Melody Doctor."

"In America, in the realm of symphonic music, we have thrown out a few leaves but there are no roots. We have to do a better job of planting the seed."

He urges that people not call the series music appreciation - "It is understanding, enjoyment and love - a lot of love

"Beethoven said it best, when he inscribed his solemn mass with: 'From the heart may it go to the heart.' That's what

Natural Gas Price Battle Continuing

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The high stakes battle over natural gas prices haunts the Senate for a third week Monday, while the House readies action on labor legislation bristling with controversy -

Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd wanted adjournment by the end of the week, but the West Virginian will be lucky just to settle a filibuster that has grounded the Senate for two weeks. Backers of ending 2$-year-old federal controls on natural gas prices appear to be gaining ground, but Sen. James Abourezk, DS.D., an architect of the filibuster, vows to continue the fight.

Final resolution of the multibillion dollar issue of gas prices lies in an inevitable House-Senate conference committee which will resolve differences between the Senate measure and the House-passed plan offered by President Carter.

Byrd said leaders of factions favoring and opvosing deregulation would meet before resumption of debate to map a that has both sides filibustering.

Marketbasket Survey Shows Food Prices Slightly Lower

Associated Prsess Writer

Supermarket shoppers got a break last month, with prices edging down almost 1 per cent, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

Continuing declines in the cost of coffee and pork chops, along with scattered variety of helped offset increases, mainly in the price of orange juice.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that the marketbasket total at the checklist store declined during September in 10 cities, dropping an average of 1.9 per cent, and increased in three cities, rising an average of 2.9 per cent. On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores was eight-tenths of a per cent lower at the start of October than it was at the start of the preceding month.

Improvement Over August The situation was an improvement over

August when prices remained fairly steady, with the marketbasket total increasing at the checklist stores in six cities, decreasing in six cities and remaining the same in one. The average markethasket bill decreased about a third of a per cent during August.

Comparing current prices with those at the beginning of 1977, The AP found the marketbasket bill was up an average of 8.2 per cent. Most of the increase was due to the higher price of coffee which, despite recent declines, remains $1 or more a pound above Jan. 1 levels. When coffee was removed from the list, the average marketbasket bill showed an increase of only 1.5 per cent over the past nine

Government economists have predicted that food prices alone will rise 6 per cent during 1977 and will continue to go up at a rate of from 3 to 6 per cent next

The government figures show that food prices have risen 27 per cent since 1973 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its reand authorities say more than 90 per cent of the increase has gone for labor, pack aging and marketing.

The trend is likely to continue. Supermarket News, a trade publication, quoted government economists recently as saving that highly manufactured or processed foods will lead the way in price increases next year while farm commodities - with relatively few labor and marketing costs - will decline slightly

The latest changes in The AP survey generally reflect changes at the wholesale level and mirror the supply situation. Pork Supplies Plentiful

The declines in the price of pork chops, for example, result from an abundant supply of hogs and pigs. Prices for hog feed have remained relatively low, encouraging farmers to raise more animals. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported there were 3 per cent more hogs on farms in September than there were a year earlier. The number being kept for breeding was up 8 per cent from last year, an indication that supplies will continue adequate for some time.

A look at the over-all number of items in the AP survey showed about fewer increases during September than during August. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases

Aug.Sept. Up 25.123.1 Down 22.121.0 Unchanged 51.854.9 Unavailable 1.01.0

No attempt was made to weigh the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what per cent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item

The USDA marketbasket issued each

tics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from port, says the figures do not correspond family food spending and used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle

The diplomats said an aide to the chief Bangladesh negotiator Vice Air Marshal Abdul Gaffar Mahmoud was among those killed in the rebellion. Airport sources said Mahmoud, the deputy chief martial law administrator, was not hurt, but this could not be confirmed.

Marked By Rebellions Military rebellion has marred the brief history of Bangladesh, which won independence from Pakistan six years ago in the Indian-Pakistani war.

The first president and prime minister, Sheik Mujibur Rahman, was killed in a coup by pro-Pakistani officers in August 1975. Rahman was replaced by a martial law administrator, Khondakar Mushtaque Ahmed, who was overthrown three months later. A left-wing coup in November 1975 brought Ziaur Rahman to power as martial law administrator.

Rahman assumed the presidency in April of this year and one month later won overwhelming support in a referendum for a 19-point program designed to ease the nation's massive economic and social problems.

Solon Doubts Reagan, Ford To Run In 1980

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) - House Minority Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz, says he doesn't expect former President Gerald Ford or his 1976 rival, California ex-Gov. Ronald Reagan, to seek the Republican presidential nomination in Instead, Rhodes said in an interview that he expects the GOP will see a field of "newer faces" competing for the presidency in three years.

"I think he'll stay active and will want to have a say in who the nominee is, but I can't see Gerald Ford running again,' said Rhodes, who succeeded Ford as House Minority Leader in 1973.

The Arizona Republican also said Reagan is more likely to try to exert his influence in choosing the nominee rather than seeking the nomination for himself.

"I think Gov. Reagan is a very important figure in our party and I think he will continue to be," Rhodes said. "I don't really think he'll be a candidate."

He predicted that Reagan would continue to command a following through the conservative Citizens for the Republic group which was formed from the 1976 Citizens for Reagan organization.

Rhodes was in Kentucky to address about 300 persons attending a GOP fund-raising dinner

Gunfire erupted at the airport shortly after the 60 were released, signaling the start of a brief attempt by army rebels to oust Bangladesh leader Maj. Gen. Zaiur Rahman.

Government officials said scores were reported killed in fighting at the airport and in the Bangladesh capital of Dacca, three miles away

Witnesses said at least four army officers at the airport were marched out to a hangar by the rebels and executed by gunfire during the short-lived rebellion.

Rahman later broadcast a message on the state radio accusing "selfish quarters" of trying to exploit the government's preoccupation with the hijack crisis. Rahman, the president and martial law administrator, assured the nation the rebellion had been quelled.

After the fighting ended at the airport, the hijackers handed over a group of more than 40 hostages in return for safe pessage from Dacca. The hijacked jet had sat at an isolated berth near the marshy fringe of a runway

Land Auction Order Delayed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - An Iranian court has suspended a government decision ordering California businessman Hashem Naraghi to auction off more than 50,000 acres of farmland to pay outstanding debts, his lawyer said Sunday.

Attorney Reza Shams said the auction order was suspended pending a court trial in the city of Ahvaz, about 325 miles southwest of Tehran.

Naraghi, 60, came to Iran from California in the late 1960s and became a pioneer in Iran's agricultural industry, buying huge quantites of farmland in southwest Iran

He was credited with introducing several vegetables that had never before been grown in Iran, like asparagus and corn. But the government refused his efforts to expand and purchase better quality farmland.

Naraghi's son, Mohammed, was killed in a midnight brawl with a truck driver in 1973. The father gave up his business and left Iran soon after his son's funeral.

"We're operating at the bare minimum," said Maj. Carrol Bartley, head of the uniformed services division. "I don't think the danger (for policemen) is greater, but the response - delay time - is greater. Calls are backed up with the result that we have to set priorities on calls."

One of the most controversial aspects of modern law enforcement is oneman versus two-man patrol units. For the past several years, Lubbock has used primarily the single-person system for street duty.

Advocates of the one-man system believe the officer alone in his car can concentrate better on his patrol and not have to worry about what another person is going to do. Proponents of the two-man patrol, however, point to added safety and the fact that another car does not have to be called as back-

One-Man Units "Observant" "In one-man units you are more observant," opined Lubbock Police Chief J.T. Alley. "There's no conversation and there's no visiting as with the two-on a call is the "most efficient" system because "it provides more cover-Most Lubbock police seem to agree. They say that since the inception of

Alley also expressed definite belief in the idea that sending back-up units

the "fleet plan" and the addition of more marked cars, a wider area can be

The way the system is set up, a unit responds to a call, and another unit is radioed to proceed to the same location, in the event the initial one man encounters trouble. Police also point to a "psychological advantage" in such a situation of having two marked patrol cars converge on a site, rather than

The theory, however, does, at times, fail. Because of the manpower shortage within the department, it is not uncommon to hear a radio dispatcher request a patrol officer to "go off beat" (his assigned area) and even to contact more remote units in an effort to find a backup.

In such a case, say police, one of two things happens: if it is a relatively minor, routine incident, the first officer will handle the call, or, if more serious, or if a potential of danger exists, he will wait for the backup before entering the immediate area.

Frequently Heard Criticism

A frequently heard criticism of last year's police study concerns the fact that projections for the future did not take into consideration that, even though the original call is only assigned to one officer, with the back-up system, two men go to the scene. With that result, police respond to more calls than there are actual incidents.

Police sources say a recent monthly average, per man, per shift on patrol was 9.6 calls for that particular tour of duty.

One patrolman reportedly recently made 27 calls during an eight-hour shift. Although most police say this is an inordinately high number of calls, they admit 15-20 is not unusual, depending on the time of day and activities, such as football games, that are in town. As one officer stated, "That leaves little time for anything but 'hello' and 'good-bye.

A drawback to computing "average" figures, however, is the basic inability to compare a call such as a bike theft with one of a murder. And it is the more serious crimes which involve the greatest number of units beyond the one officer who will write the original offense report. Lubbock Crime Index Higher

According to Cal Killingsworth, manager of the Uniform Crime Reporting Bureau of the Department of Public Safety in Austin, Lubbock's crime index figure, based on a population of 161,323, for the first six months of 1977 is 4,059.6 per 100,000 population. Amarillo's is 2,749.8, and even Houston's is Killingsworth also said Lubbock is surpassed only by Fort Worth in the number of burglaries per 100,000 population. Fort Worth carries a figure of 1,527.0 and Lubbock has the second-highest in the state with 1,374.9.

Joseph A. Schulte

HEREFORD (Special) - Services for Joseph A. Schulte, 56, of Hereford are pending with Smith and Company Funeral Home here.

Schulte died at 9:10 p.m. Saturday when the pickup he was driving ran off the road into a pile of railroad ties and some concrete tile, according to County Judge Sam Morgan, Morgan, who ruled the death accidental, said the collision apparently broke a butane fuel line in the vehicle. The fuel line ruptured, Morgan said, which apparently caused the pickup to burst into flames while Schulte remained inside.

The Nazareth native was a farmer, a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford and was a World War II veteran.

Survivors include his wife, Edna: four sons, George and Michael, both of Wichita Falls, Conrad of North Glenn, Colo. and Gerald of Odessa; two daughters, Patricia Ann Naul of Corpus Christi and Sherrie Birkenfeld of Lubbock; three brothers, Albert, Eddie and Clarence, all of Nazareth; three sisters, Mrs. Rose Hindman of Nazareth, Mrs. Elizabeth Britting of Amarillo and Mrs. Theresa Wills of Groom; and nine grandchildren.

Arson Suspected In Church Fire

Fire department investigators late Sunday were checking the possibility of arson as a cause for a minor fire at a West Lubbock church earlier Sunday

Preliminary investigations indicated the fire began about 8 p.m. in or near a trash container outside the Green Lawn Church of Christ near the Lubbock Christian College campus on 19th Street.

Firemen and police officers investigating the blaze said the fire may have been started by several small children playing near the building, which is under con-

Preliminary estimates indicated fire damage to the building would be slight, but that smoke damage would be extensive throughout the three-story facility.

Poorer Nations Need U.S. Banks Help

NEW YORK (UPI) - The next two exports of goods by 1978," UNCTAD years will be critical for the poorer counsaid. tries of the world and America's commercial banks could be at the eve of the storm whether they like it or not:

Developing countries that do not have oil will run a $38.9 billion trade deficit in en era of prosperity. 1978 and by the end of that year will have amassed debts of $253 billion, according to an estimate by the U.N. Trade and Development agency

A lot of that money will be owed to American banks

"Because of this increase in debt and the hardening of terms of capital flows throughout the 1970s, debt service will absorb 25 per cent of the earnings from

Your

Without changes in the debt situation of the world's developing countries we may be heading for a global depression that will make the 1930s look like a gold-

A "long, loud bugle call" of warning came recently from Sen. Jacob Javits. R-N V in testimony before the Senate international finance subcommitteee.

Javits said there is "the danger of a severe economic depression — perhaps as early as in 1979 or 1980 - if adequate economic and political measures are not taken to shore up the fragile structure of the international economic system.'

American bank loans to less-developed countries, commonly known as LDCs, are a hot topic. Critics claim the banks have overextended themselves to the Third World, running the risk of losing millions in bad debts.

The banks have countered by pointing out that their debt losses overseas have been less than their losses at home and that in any case they have avoided lending money to the world's economic "bas-

The major bankers of Britain, Germany and Japan echo the sentiments of their American colleagues.

Dr. Penelope Hartland-Thunberg, Director of Economic Rsearch at the Center for Strategic and International Studies of Georgetown University, in Washington D.C., feels there is a danger, but not to the banks. "There really is a wolf, but he does not crouch on the threshold of the banks: he is stalking the LDCs and endangers the world's economy and political stability such as it is," she wrote.

Another warning came in a report prepared by the staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's subcommittee on foreign economic policy.

The report warned that the growing surpluses of the oil producing countries and the corresponding deficits of the oil importing countries are creating an imbalance in the world economy that threaten "the stability of the United States banking system and, by extension, the international financial system...

"There is no evidence that either the U.S. government or the governments of other major industrial countries are prepared to tackle seriously the basic underlying cause of the present situation namely the total dependence of the industrial West on the OPEC cartel," the

OPEC Wealth Hurts Third World There is a very definite linkage in-- The developing countries, unable to quadruple the price of their products as the OPEC nations have since 1973, are forced to borrow to pay for the oil they - This increases their indebtedness to the western banking system. - The oil-producing countries themselves canmot import enough to spend their vast surpluses of petrodollars

- Those OPEC surpluses have to be invested somewhere. After the money has been inserted into the international banking system it often finds its way back to the LDCs either through bank loans or through bond issues on the eurocurrency

- But eventually the burden of debt service payments can force the developing countries to cut back domestic growth and spending because the easiest way to enforce austerity programs is to

- If the LDCs cut imports, that automatically means the developed countries can export less.

- When that starts happening, it causes recession in the industrialized west, including the United States.

This means the indebtedness of the less-developed countries is not something over which western governments can afford merely to shake their heads and express pity.

If the developing nations can't buy, we can't sell.

Borrowing to pay for oil and other imports can only be a temporary solution. and borrowing more money to pay off debts obviously must come to a halt somewhere.

Dr. Thunberg warned: "Incomplete data indicate that 80 per cent of the total debt service burden of all LDCs represents payments to the private banking eystem. This approximates the level of new credits flowing from private sources in 1975.

"Clearly the LDC's debt-service requirements and new-loan proceeds are threatening to converge. Today, the international banking system can cope: but whether the economies of the LDCs can cope is another matter.' The possibility of the poorest getting poorer certainly exists, but the ability of the rich to get richer is in danger.

Commercial Banks Involved Commercial banks all over the world, but especially in the United States, are involved for two major reasons: 1) intergovernmental bodies like the IMF, the World Bank and the various regional development banks do not have enough funds to fill the needs of the LDCs and 2) those intergovernmental organizations in the past have tended to impose tougher conditions on lending.

When the poorer countries of the world are asked about international banking, they tend to look beyond the immediate topic and raise the question of the "New International Economic Order.'

The topic gets talked about enough. A just-concluded special session of the U.N. General Assembly looked at progress made toward a new economic order in the so-called North-South dialogue that ranged the rich northern hemisphere against the poorer southern hemisphere. The answer was: pretty much no prog-

Whether they like it or not, America's major banks are making decisions that affect U.S. foreign policy when they lend money overseas.

The banks don't like to think so. They reject claims that like the International Monetary Fund they impose economic policies on countries.

The year-long saga of Peru's debt problems is a case in point.

demonstrate against an austerity budget designed to ease the nation's balance of trade deficit, U.S. banks were blamed for making harsh demands on the govern-

American bankers deny the charge. "We did not lay down the conditions," one banker said. "The Peruvians needed to borrow more money. We told them we could not make the loan while we were not confident of their ability to repay. "They came to us with an austerity program they said they would impose," the banker said. "We indicated we did not think it would be sufficient and they came back with other proposals. "We did not tell them what to do," he said. "The Peruvians recognized they had to show us they were taking their debt problems seriously." The oil producing countries have to play their part, according to Dr. Thun-"If the new administration ... does not lead or at least participate in a major initiative to increase the flow of resources from industrial and OPEC countries to the LDCs, it will be fostering an additional deflationary force that will, at best, retard world economic recovery and, at worst, contribute significantly to the next world recession." she said

"Poland and Egypt (and Peru) give recent evidence of the popular reaction to attempted official reductions in imports and real incomes .... Many developing countries, however, do not have political regimes as secure as those of Egypt and Poland. In the more stoical societies, popular resentment may take time to manifest itself, but civil strife and mounting terrorism are very real dangers." OPEC has set up a $1.6 billion fund to provide loans to deserving oil-poor nations but the size of the fund has been criticized as little more than a token. Loan Demand To Grow

An IMF survey estimates that loan demand from the developing nations will grow in 1977 at about the same rate as it grew in 1976 - more than 20 per cent. While bankers appear willing to continue to finance their principal overseas customers, their attitudes appear to have hardened in regard to large-scale lending for balance of payments purposes to countries with substantial and persistent deficits," it said.

Therefore, a few countries may face not only a higher cost for funds and shorter maturities but also lower levels of new loan commitments than in the recent past. This may, however, change in cases where the authorities are embarking on appropriate adjustment policies, particularly if such policies are supported by access to (IMF) resources.'

Irvin S. Friedman, Citibank senior adviser for international operations, said

Citibank would continue to make loans to developing nations, although obviously with great caution. He expressed confidence that the developing nations knew what was expected of them.

"The achievement and maintenance of credit worthiness for external bank credit will increasingly be of decisive importance in domestic policymaking in the developing countries," he said. "The alternative of doing with less capital and technology will mean even more drastic cutbacks in the standards of living of peoples in these countries ....

"Developing countries will give highest priority to servicing their external debt." Of the $11.5 billion Citibank lent to developing countries in 1976, $9.4 billion went to oil exporting countries - yes, and the higher income countries. Loans to lower-income developing countries totaled $344 million, of which they are still decribed as "developing" - most were guaranteed. Citibank estimated that only $50 million of its total outlay was to "country risk" nations.

Most of the money lent overseas goes to specific, trade-related projects in which repayment comes within weeks or months. And most of it is to the higherincome, growing economies - such as Taiwan, Brazil, South Korea, Argentina and Mexico.

In 1975, for instance, four countries -Brazil, Indonesia, Mexico and Spain received fully 54 per cent of all bank loans to LDCs.

Doubt Expressed On Lending At the outset of 1977, several large Amrican banks expressed doubt that the level of lending to developing countries could continue at the same rate.

Chemical Bank said: "Concern has been expressed that these countries (LDCs), many of which have borrowed heavily in the last three years to finance economic growth and the rising cost of oil imports for their energy needs, may soon face difficulty in paying off their foreign debt. While these fears are not to be ignored, we believe they are overstated in respect to many developing coun-

"We believe strongly that it is now time for international institutions, such as the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, to assume a greater share of the credit requirements of the non oil producing developing countries.

Carter Confidence Quota Drops 25 Per Cent

In the aftermath of the Bert Lance case, it is clear that President Carter has much ground to make up if he is to restore the level of confidence his administration formerly enjoyed. As a special ABC News-Harris Poll of 1,500 adults nationwide pointed out, the public's rating of Mr. Carter on "inspiring confidence in the White House," dropped from 75 per cent last March to 50 per cent in Sep-

There were also other areas in which confidence in the President declined, and these could prove as costly as the Lance affair. 'His handling of foreign policy matters," which enjoyed a slim 43-40 per cent positive rating in July, fell to a 52-34 per cent negative rating in September. (In particular, Americans now give the President a negative score on the way he is carrying on relations with both China and the Soviet Union.) On handling the economy, Mr. Carter has also dropped from a 51-41 per cent negative rating to a 57-35 per cent during the same period.

The decline in confidence in the way Mr. Carter is managing foreign policy could have far-reaching implications. It puts heavy pressures on the White House to try to score some early breakthroughs in highly senstive areas such as the Middle East, the SALT talks with Russia or the highly volatile African situa-

The President may be headed for even deeper trouble in the area of the domestic economy. His score on "cutting the rate of unemployment" has now slipped to a low 62-32 per cent negative rating, and on "keeping down the high" cost of living" to 68-29 per cent negative. Declines in these two key areas are usually a prelude to a lower overall rating of the way a president is handling the economy. The sustained impact of continuing high prices and high joblessness is apparently taking its toll on the American people.

The President's ratings also have slipped in two other key areas, and here the Lance affair seems to have had an impact. On his "handling of relations with Congress," Mr. Carter has dropped to a bare 46-44 per cent positive rating, down from a much higher 51-38 per cent in June. While the acceptance of Lance's resignation eased the confrontation between the White House and Captol Hill on the matter, the President now must convince the public that he is capapble of moving his energy program, the Panama Canal Treaty and other key issues through the Congress.

On his "appointments to high office," the President has alipped form a 55-25 per cent positive rating last February, just after he made his major job choices known, down to a 46-40 per cent negative marke in this latest reading. From now on there will be a much closer and more critical scrutiny of future appointments, and there may even be second guesses about the caliber of some of the ments, and there may even be second guesses about the caliber of some of the people he has serving in his administration.

Of course, none of this means that Mr. Carter's troubles are irreversible. A 53 per cent majority still gives him positive marks for the overall job he is doing, and a 55-40 per cent majority gives him high marks on "the way he has taken over the leadership of the country." While down from previous highs, these expressions of approval give the President a base from which to recoup. What Jimmy Carter must do is to use presidential initiative to rebuild the confidence

Complex Trial Rages Over Deaths

HOUSTON (UPI) - Dr. John Hill, a man dead in the grave for five years, essentially has been put on trial for the death of oilman Ash Robinson's daughter in a $7.6 million wrongful death suit filed against Robinson.

In fact, Hill's part in his first wife's death has become the mainstay of a defense against the suit filed by Hill's survivors - including Robinson's grandson which claims Robinson bought Hill's murder for $25,000 to avenge the death of his daughter.

Robinson, at the outset of the complex lawsuit, denied that he was indebted to Hill's widow, Connie Hill, 37, for anything or that she suffered injury or actual damages by the doctor's death.

In his answer to the suit Robinson also claimed Hill abandoned Joan Robinson Hill to marry Ann Kurth, his second wife, that he was a womanizer, drug abuser, homosexual, and failed to give proper

Carter Turns 53, Gets One Cake

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) - Jimmy Carter celebrated his 53rd birthday Saturday, and in a way it was a comedown. He got just one cake.

It was pistachio nut - his favorite. One year ago, as he campaigned for his presidency, he got a birthday cake at every stop.

Carter, who figures he has aged "probably three years" in the nine months since he took office, rode a helicopter to this presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains in Western Maryland late Friday. He was accompanied by his wife, Daughter Amy, 9, stayed at the White House for a violin lesson early Saturday, then arrived here by car.

The President was up by 7 a.m. reviewing options for his tax revision pro-medical attention to his paitents. Robinson, 79, claimed that he was "potentially incapable of causing the death of anyone," that he had been falsely accused by Hill's surviving family, and that he had been denied the pleasure of his grandson, Robert Ashton Hill, 17.

In addition, the defense has tried to show Hill's inability to earn from his practice, his loss of interest in medicine, and his steady moral decline.

For the first five weeks of testimony the defense maintained the allegations of conspiracy by family lawyer Ray Bass had not been proven and that the accusers brought suit after the two-year statute of limitations on wrongful death ex-

Hill was shot to death Sept. 24, 1972 and the lawsuit was filed March 5, 1975. No criminal case has ever been brought against Robinson.

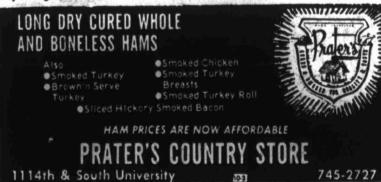

But having been overruled on those points in a request for an instructed verdict - a judgment favoring Robinson -Robinson's lawyers immediately took up the gantlet.

Lawyers in the suit are forbidden to ers, but there apparently have been no overtures by either side for an out-ofcourt settlement.

Robinson has waited since 1969 - the year his daughter died - to have Hill revealed as the cause of her death, and Hill's survivors have sought for nearly four years to have Robinson revealed as the agent of Hill's death.

"Money is not the only cause in this lawsuit. We want justice," Bass said midway through the trial.

The Lubbock Independent School District will receive a federal desegregation grant this year after all.

School officials say they have been notified by the U.S. Office of Education that the district's application for continued funding under the Emergency School Assistance Act (ESAA) has been approved.

Earlier, federal authorities had put the application on "fiscal hold" due to scarcity of ESAA monies and unusually keen competition for the funds among the nation's school systems.

But now, they indicate, enough money was left over after the first round of awarding ESAA grants to approve Lubbock's application.

The Office of Education will give Lubbock $113,455, about the same as last year, to provide six additional reading and mathematics teachers and some special personnel at schools most affected by the district's 1970 court-ordered desegregation plan.

Warner Sims, director of special projects for the school district, said Lubbock was "very fortunate" to get the ESAA grant approval. Although the district's application was "strong and ranked very high," Sims said, the federal government prefers to award ESAA monies to school systems with massive forced busing pro-

Lubbock's 1970 court order required relatively little busing here.

Lubbock's ESAA application two years ago was denied. But the district did receive funding for the 1976-77 school year. The current year's grant will be used to continue last year's efforts, Sims said.

The $113,455 grant will be used to place an extra reading teacher and math teacher at Dunbar High School, an additional reading teacher at Lubbock High, another math teacher at O.L. Slaton Junior High School, and an extra reading teacher and math teacher at Struggs Junior

"In addition to the six reading and math teachers, we will employ a community liaison person who will assume responsibility for cultural exchange programs and assist in interracial social and cultural experiences in the school and community," school officials said in a memo explaining the ESAA program.

"We will also employ a half-time music special needs of students in the project schools. Students will learn songs, dances, improvisations, skits and one-act plays that reflect cultural and historical

Well Baby Clinic Aids Medically Indigent

Wanda Minten was shocked when she found out her daughter had meningitis and encephalitis last February. Would her 10-month-old infant live? Wanda didn't understand what was going on. The baby's heart had stopped twice. Would there be brain damage? Who could give her the answers she needed? Who would explain what was happening to her little girl?

Wanda found her answers at the Well Baby Clinic, a United Way agency. The clinic will receive $90,405 as its sole support from the United Way's 1978 goal of $1,461...

Wanda began her visits to the Well Baby Clinic after being re-ferred there four years ago when her first child was born. She brought her son to the clinic for the doctor's examination and for immunization shots.

However, when Wanda's second child Bess became severely ill, Wanda found that Well Baby Clinic did something else very important. A nurse from the clinic began helping Wanda by explaining the medi-cal terms and treatment Bess was receiving while she wrestled with the sometimes fatal diseases. The nurse offered guidance to Wanda and often provided transportation to the hospital for the worried mother while Bess was sick.

"I didn't have anyone to talk to at the time," said the 24-year-old mother. "Something like this just hits you and I just felt kind of lost. I don't know what I would have done without the people at the Well Baby Clinic.

And now, while Bess is still recovering, Wanda said she feels the clinic is even more important. For example, Wanda explained, because of Bess' illness, the doctor advised her to quit her job of three years and stay home with the child. When she had trouble obtaining welfare payments, a nurse from the clinic advised her how to get the money.

Wanda explained that the nurses of Lubbock make weekly visits to her home to check on the child's well-being and see if any assistance is needed. Wanda aslo attends regular classes at the clinic on nutrition, and she proudly admits that when Bess hest qualified for the clinic's milk program she was underweight. Now, the child is healthier but somewhat overweight and still qualifies for the program.

The clinic also helped Wanda's son Brad with an asthma condition. The clinic has referred him to a doctor for allergy tests and has worked out a diet program that helps to cope with his allergies.

According to Sue Belew, executive director of the Well Baby Clinic, the purpose of all the programs at the clinic is more one of preventative treatment for the children. "The purpose of the clinic," she said, "is to promote good health in infants and children who come to the clinic. Basically, we serve low income or medically indigent families - ones who could not afford a private doctor.

The clinic, Mrs. Belew said, sees from 90 to 120 children from infancy to age 5 for shots, sickness examinations or referrals. The clinic maintains a volunteer doctor program on Thursday and the Family Practice Department at Texas Tech University Medical School participates twice a week. Also, volunteers from the Junior League assist nine staff members at the

Writer Questions Walking Tips

BY CELESTINE SIBLEY Women's News Service

Now, I purely love how-to pieces. I am always certain that I'm going to read a few easy lines and immediately pick up know-how and skill enough to put me in a class with the experts. But I had to laugh aloud the other day when I was poking around in an old book and found a piece on how to take a walk.

Don't plan your walks, said this authority. Let them be spontaneous. Have no destination in mind when you start but go where your fancy dictates. Don't hurry. Be leisurely and take a look at everything

Now I don't propose to argue with an expert — at least not much. Some of us have to plan our walks as to time and destination. If I don't take my walk in the early pre-dawn or sunrise time of day I don't get one. As for destination, how do you know how far to walk unless you've measured it? Past and halfway up the next hill is a measured mile and by going there I get in my two miles

Why two miles? the expert might ask. Because it's a minimum exercise need, of course. I should be walking eight or 10 miles a day but I don't seem to have time for that. So-I alternately gallop and stroll down the road every morning, knowing full well where I'm going. But that doesn't detract whit from my pleasure in the sweet fragrances of the earth or the way the early sun edges trees and freshly plowed furrows with gold.

I don't think I miss many flowers that bloom or the progress of one low-flying brown thrasher. Over the sound of my own puffing and blowing I can usually hear the field lark's rusty call and once or twice I have actually stopped under the black walnut tree at the edge of the pasture to listen to a mockingbird run through his repertoire.

But the expert made no mistake to take up the subject of walking. There are plenty of people who don't know how to walk with other people. It's a lesson children could learn with proft.

Recently my grandson, Ted, and I talked about this. Ted is a good walker. But he is like other members of his age group, an erratic walker. He will alternately dash ahead and hang behind. In a burst of exuberance he may tear out unexpectedly to try to beat a traffic light. Or some interesting sight might attract his attention and he'll stop stock-still to ex-

Latvian Songs, Talents Provide Annual Festival

By EMIL SVEILIS

RIGA, Latvia (UPI) - No matter what the occasion, get a group of Latvians together and they break out in song.

"Latvians love to sing," said Arvids Darkevics, an expert on the origin of music. "Latvians have songs for almost everything. Folk songs, songs for birthdays, name days, for the seasons of the year, naughty songs - you name it and we got

They also like to show off their talents and every few years arrange extravagant, expensive song festivals with thousands of performers. This year was no excep-

Back in 1864 a country preacher gathered together a group of men from four local choirs for a 19th century-type jam session of traditional Latvian folk songs.

The audience liked what it heard and nine years later the first Latvian Song Festival was held in Riga with 1,003 singers, 200 of them women - very progressive for those days.

Despite setbacks, the tradition flourished to the point that this summer's 17th festival, a two-day happening at an overall expense of $3.4 million drew 20,000 performers and an estimated 100,000 spectators to Riga's Forest Park outdoor concert stadium. Not even a driving rain could mar the final evening's performance.

"In the old days Latvia was ruled either by German land barons or by Czarist Russia," Darkevics said. "In an effort to try to keep an individual identity, and expand its culture, Latvians turned to song and folk dancing.

The first choir was organized in 1848 under the direction of Kristianis Valdedays helped expand the musical knowledge of Latvians," Darkevics said.

This was because teachers were required to play at least one instrument and their musical education was passed on to others. Perhaps the man who helped most was Janis Cimse, who started collecting Latvian folk songs in 1843. Also a teacher, he traveled across the country in search of material and asked his students to help by sending folk songs to him. By 1872 he had published the first book consisting of a collection of Latvian folk songs. Darkevics said Cimse's efforts were very influential in the decision to

But I understand why little boys then't particularly eager to stick close by their stage the first song festival a year later. The performance consisted of 16 songs. 'It was a colossal affair for those days, matically reaching for my grandchild's but the German barons did not like it because they thought Latvians were getting and what 12-year-old boy is going to put huge argument developed. "One of the Germans said that allator only made great coffee, wait until though one could speak in the Latvian you taste hot spiced punch in the same language, one could not write in it or sing in it, because it was not a literary lan-bigger festival with 2,000 participants in three categories: religious, contemporary and choir competition. By 1904 an estimated 9,000 performers were ready to go on stage when Czarist officials, who were now in power, got worried that it would turn out to be a nationalistic demonstration and refused permission to hold the festival "The Czarist repression broke down the whole choir culture and it was not until six years later that Latvians managed to put on a festival, but with much trouble." Darkevics said. In 1938 the Republic of Latvia staged the ninth and last song festival before World War II, a huge affair with 14,000 There was inuch enthusiasm, but the festival also consisted of so-called defense choirs whose ideology leaned toward fascism," Darkevics said. The next festival was held in 1948, three years after Latvia's absorbtion into the Soviet Union

Reminded that this year's 17th festival was dedicated to the 60th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution and contained songs glorifying Lenin and communism,

"Art and ideology go together. If ideology helps national culture to grow, it is good, but if it does not, ideology should be eliminated.

Preceeding this year's performance, all participants staged a three-hour parade through downtown Riga showing off their exquisite native costumes from various regions of Latvia

Crowds lined the streets and cheered loudly. One group caused the audience to sands of metal pieces fastened to the edge of their sleeves and dresses creating the sound of tiny bells.

"All our singers are amateurs," Dar-kevics said. "If you belong to a choir, practice is obligatory. We have agreements with labor unions and companies to allow these people to go to practice during working hours.

Darkevics said choir conductors get a salary, as do pianists. The members get free voice training.

Festival officials said staging of the extravaganza from the beginning to the end cost $3.4 million. They said this sum includes full salary to the choir members, food, lodging, transportation and folk costumes. Income from ticket sales was

What action do you take? A .- Bid two spades. Had partner's double been in the direct seat, i.e., immediately behind the no trump bidder, you would have been delighted to pass for penalties in the expectation of a substantial pickup. In the balancing seat, however, partner's double does not promise more than an opening bid. which makes it too close to play for penalties, especially since partner's values are in front of the no trump bidder. What do you bid now? A.-Since partner was not forced to bid over the interference, his voluntary offering of one no trump should show a hand that is better than minimum. You have a useful hand, and your action should be dictated by your partner's nature. If he is a timid soul, take the pressure off him by jumping to three no trump: if he is aggressive, two no trump will do

Unfortunately, you have no cue-bid available to show how much your hand has improved. Therefore, we suggest you jump to five spades. Partner will realize that the only thing that could have brought you to life after a negative first response is a fit for both his suits but no outside control

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West - Pass 1♦ Pass 2 NT Pass What do you bid now?

A .- We would not fault you greatly if you simply bid three no trump. However, that might not be the best spot-or even the right level. If partner has a long club suit, or a four-card heart suit that he failed to mention, with good diamond support and not too much in spades, you could make slam on a hand where three no trump might be defeated. We would continue to describe our shape by rebidding three hearts to see what that gets from partner.

What action do you take? A .- This problem is similar to the last. Again, we suggest that opener would be better off showing his concentration of strength in hearts rather than signing off in three no trump. Responder has shown an unbalanced hand, and there is a possibility that you have only one spade stopper and do not have nine running tricks. Game or slam in any one of three suits might be there while three no trump cannot make.

My street used to wake up lazily to chirping birds, an occasional clatter of milk bottles, and the gentle thud of a newspaper as it lodged in the spouting. Not any more. Joggers in an assortment of shapes and stages of deterioration parade in front of our house 16 abreast like a Russian revolution. Cars zoom in and out, honking and screeching. Dogs bark and occasionally snap a thigh in their teeth. The sweat alone is enough to raise the humidity significantly

My husband is one of them.

He panted into the kitchen yesterday where he grabbed either side of the sink, bowed his head and gasped for breath. "I don't want to alarm you," I said,

Have you ever seen a happy one? It's usually serious and contorted. If he's a masochist, he's having a great time. If he's like you or me, he's having a heck of a bad time. He's right, you know. Look at that guy...there's nothing in his face but

"That's because the turkey is running against the traffic. You should never make eye contact with the driver of a car. Besides, you're just jealous because you don't have the discipline to get out there every morning and keep fit.

You mean like the guy jogging along beside you this morning with a cigarette dangling from his mouth?"

He's awfully good with dogs, though. What you don't understand is that we joggers share something special out there...an esprit de corps, so to speak. We're special and we know it. We're doing something for our bodies and our country and it's worth everything we have to sacrifice. There's a name for it."

For the last 20 years it has been wedgies, platforms or boots. Women looked like combat Marines or construction workers paid to trample the asphalt.

Let's face it. High heels are sexy. They never were intended to be comfortable or functional. The idea is to get a woman up on her toes. The higher the heel, the smaller the foot looks, the arch and instep appear curvier, the legs look longer and more shapely. The hips wiggle more when she walks. The sexiest shoe has a

LIZA AND BARRY — Liza Minnelli and Barry Nelson pose for photographs for their new stage musical, "The Act." The show, which critics generally dislike but which audiences like, opens on Broadway, Oct. 29. (AP Laserphoto) generally dislike it. Audiences seem to enjoy it. The pattern is likely to be repeated when Liza > Minnelli opens "The Act" on Broadway on Oct. 29.

"The Act," formerly "Shine It On" and before that, "In Person," is the most written-and talkedabout stage musical in recent times. Most of the writing and talk has been bad, yet the show has been virtually a sell-out in Chicago. San Francisco and now here at the Music Center.

"I'm amazed, at the reaction" says Ernest Martin, who with partner Cy Feuer has produced "Guys and Dolls," "Silk Stockings" and other hits.

"Ordinarily, you open a show quietly in a small town and proceed normally to opening night on Broadway. This show has been in a goldfish bowl every minute. I believe there has been more tumult and excitement than are warranted by the facts. But listen, controversy only creates ticket sales, and the show has played to full houses every performance.

has already recovered half of its $800,000 cost. "Barring rejection by New York audiences, we are guaranteed financial success at this point," said the producer.

Minnelli is contracted for 39 weeks in New York, where operating costs will be substantially lower than on the road. The show has been booked into the Majestic, which housed "South Pacific" and other big hits.

"The Act" is a show within a show, and its form has confused audiences as well as critics. Minnelli plays Michelle Craig, a Hollywood star who tries to cure her career and personal doldrums by appearing in a splashy Las Vegas act. Interwoven with the musical numbers are scenes with her producer-husband, Barry Nelson, a boyfriend, Mark Goddard, a songwriter, Arnold Soboloff, and oth-

The troubles started in Chicago, where the transitions from onstage to the personal story didn't work Netiehr did the costumes. Thea Van Runkle, who had just worked Scorsese in "New York, New York," bowed out for a film assignment. She was replaced by

For the San Francisco run, author George Firth ("Company," "Twigs") wrote a more serious approach to the story, John Kander and Fred Ebb ("Cabaret") supplied new songs. Cumbersome scenery was scrapped, along with the title, "In Person," which made the show sound like a concert.

"Everyone agreed that the title should be 'The Act,' which is what the show is all about," explained Martin. "But A.C.T. - the American Conservatory Theater - is well established in San Francisco. To avoid confusion, we chose the title of the opening song, 'Shine It

Film maker Scorsese ("Taxi Driver") had never worked on the stage before, and some of the onthe-job training proved difficult. But he has shown himself to be "a tough little guy," said Martin, and Scorsese has stuck with "The Act" despite personal travails. At the party following the Los Angeles premiere, the director admitted his marriage to Julia Cameron had

Fort Worth said after sending the city a $6 check for a garbage bill she re-plus former keyboard player Patrick Moraz, released solo albums in 1975-76. All were commercial failures.

"I don't think the solo albums are a mistake. If the music is decided upon by how many albums are sold, then we're in a sorry state," lead singer Jon Anderson said after three sold-out shows at New York's 20,000-seat Madison Square Gar-

THINGS

The new album and tour has put the group back on the top of the rock world. To Anderson, the band's sophisticated sound "is a little bit of magic here and there, a little bit of science and music, and a little bit of heavy rock as well." The band's lyrics, sung by Anderson in a light, airy voice, usually are nonsensical since the words are selected for how they'll sound in the context of the song, rather than for their meaning.

The emphasis is on the fantasy-laden music, a clever hybrid of English folk tunes and space rock that has an orchestral feel similar to Emerson, Lake and

"At the moment we're just in a good, entertaining kind of musical direction,' Anderson said. "Over the last few years we've been lucky enough to learn a lot more about the directions that are available, such as a symphonic kind of approach, a more instrumental kind of approach. At this time, we seem to be kind of relaxing and using some good songs, good production on songs.'

Yes, formed by Anderson and bassist Chris Squire in 1968, went through several personnel changes before achieving mass popularity with the release of the single "Roundabout" several years ago. The success of the single was a complete surprise to Anderson, who admits the band's galactic approach in the past may have confused some listeners.

'We felt that on the 'Going For The One' album, it was important that we try to put down a few different ideas, try to make it as listenable as possible, and that's the way we headed. I feel the next couple of albums should be more so.'

The British band's music stands out in sharp contrast to the sounds that seem to be sweeping their homeland - punk rock. The growth of the primitive punk sound doesn't bother Anderson.

"I think its a good thing because maybe we're a bit too classy, a bit too big for a lot of kids. They don't want to know what Yes is about — it doesn't matter," he said. "They just want to go into a smelly, dingy place like I used to love to do when I was their age and have a beer and watch some guy smash his guitar up

"People like The Who and The Move, they were the punk rock of the 1960s." he said. "Maybe they had a bit more musical knowhow, whereas the kids today are a little bit wild. In England especially, they haven't gotten the musical back-

Kristy McNichol Enjoying Life Just Being Teen-Age Actress

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - It doesn't take a keen reportorial eye to detect the fact that one of this year's unmarried Emmywinning actresses has a crush on a bachelor musical star.

The walls and the mirror of her dressing room are plastered with photographs and posters of the handsome young man.

So far as is known, her love is unrequited. But the brilliant young actress and the handsome singer will be seen together when she makes a guest appearance on his show this fall.

She hopes viewers will be unaware of her not-so-secret feelings. ABC-TV already has taped the show and even the young man may not be cognizant of her devotion because, "I really played it

The young lady is Kristy McNichol, 15year-old star of the "Family" series. The object of her affection is Donny Osmond, 19. They will be seen on a segment of "The Donny and Marie Show."

Pound for pound - and she tips the scales at 90 - Kristy is probably the finest actress on the tube.

She wheeled up to the 20th Century-Fox commissary in a jazzy little golf cart during a lunch break the other day. Dressed in blue jeans and open shirt, Kristy was all smiles.

Pubescent actresses generally are a pain in the neck to those who live and work with them. Almost without exception their precocity and ennui rivals that of, say, Mae West

So blase are the likes of Tatum O'Neal and Jodie Foster one suspects they were born at age 40. By the time Linda Blair was Kristy's age she was living with a 24vear-old actor.

It was, therefore, with misgivings that young Kristy was approached. But surprise, surprise. Kristy is a genuine 15year-old chronologically and psychologically - the kind of child you'd like to have around the house.

"I like being a kid," she said. "And it's easy for me to act my own age except it's hard to be 15 and not be able to drive a car yet. I have six months to go before I get my learner's permit. I can hardly

"I'd maybe like a little more freedom. I can't go out on dates until I'm 16, and I haven't really got a boyfriend. But it's no biggie. I'm in no rush. I've got all my life

"Right now I'm leading a pretty normal life even though I'm an actress. I can't go anywhere without being recognized. But I don't mind because I understand. I'm that way myself. I'm a fan and I love to see celebrities.

There wasn't a hint of makeup on Kristy's face despite the fact that she was working in a scene.

"Makeup is phony," she explained. 'The only time I use it is to cover up pimples. But I never have more than one or two at a time. Boy, am I lucky.

Kristy lives at home with her divorced mother and brothers Jimmy, 16, and Tommy, 13. Jimmy has a top role in "The Fitzpatricks," a new dramatic series similar to "Family."

The McNichols recently moved to a new home, complete with swimming pool and tennis court, in the San Fernando Valley. Kristy spends most of her free time with her brothers riding a dirt bike on nearby trails. She's been acting since age 8, beginning in commercials and moving on to episodic television. Much of the success of 'Family' is due to her extraordinary performance as Buddy.

Kristy's never had an acting lesson and chooses not to examine her work.

'Most of the time I go in and be myself." she said. "Sometimes I act. When they ask me to cry I think of my dog who was killed a long time ago.

"Playing Buddy is easy for me because she's a lot like me. I've turned Buddy into me. I like Donny Osmond so I asked the producers if I could put a poster of him on Buddy's bedroom wall. So they've made that part of the story. Yeah, what's with Kristy and Donny?

'He's the nicest person I've ever met," said. "He's good looking and talented too. I guess you could say I'm sort of hung up on him."

That's about as sophisticated as Kristy McNichol gets. "I don't want to play kids all my life," she said. "But this is the time for me to play young girls. I love drama and come-OPEN 7:15 $2.50 & 1.00

"Right now I'm given all kinds of mov-ie scripts which really aren't for me. They all imply sex and drugs and boose. I-don't want to get involved in all that stuff, that I hate. Acting is pretending, but I' can't even pretend to be that sort of kid.

"I'm not sophisticated. I don't know how. But I can try to be adultish at award shows or at important meetings.

Mormon Meeting Closes In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Even the blind can see spiritual light, N. Eldon Tanner of the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) said in an addre broadcast Sunday as the church's semnual conference came to a close.

"We know that without physical light we cannot see the things around us or even where we are going, and without spritual light we cannot have knowledge or understanding," President Tamer said in a speech broadcast on radio and television stations throughout the United States and by satellite to other countries.

We should note that many who cannot see with their physical eyes are not left in darkness because they have the same opportunity as others for enli enment of their minds through spiritual

Mobile Chapel Serves Nation's Truck Drivers

SEATTLE (AP) — Just before dawn about a year ago, trucker Joe Katancik, driving to work, said he "noticed a fiery red cross on the roof of a (tractor) cab. I saw it coming and the Lord spoke to me just as clear as we're talking now,' he recalled. "I wanted to turn around right on the freeway and follow that chap-

That's just what Katancik did. Sort of.

He still drives a tractor-trailer rig, but now his load is a mobile chapel. Katancik and his wife, Midge, drive up and down the West Coast and into Canada in a chapel on wheels, one of five rigs operated nationally by Transport for Christ of

"Our primary reason is to show truckers the way to salvation through Jesus Christ; we connect that with safety," Katancik said while visiting truck stops in

He said he is, through Transport for Christ, a "commissioned chaplain." Katancik, 47, showed up at the Evergreen Truck Stop off Interstate 5. Within 10 minutes he was greeted with the good will he says is typical of the truck stops he visits: a free wash job for his rig.

"We get what we need. We don't pass the plate like they do in church," he The chapel is open to people of all Christian denominations: It has to be, he

The trailer, with a capacity of 40 for services, was overfilled with 82 truckers on one occasion, the trucker said. There is a piano, a projector and a screen, but

The projecter and screen are used for safety films, including shorts on patience and attitude and how to operate forklifts. On request, he will show a 'blood and guts'' film made by the Ohio State Patrol.

On-the-road life is bound to cause problems, Katancik said. A trucker often is away from his family and home church for long periods of time, and frequently needs someone to talk to Katancik's territory includes 11 Western states and western Canada. But he said he doesn't log many miles.

"Mileage doesn't mean nothing to us. We go by hours. We move as little as possible" because of the high cost of fuel, he said.

River Plunge Kills Six

BRIDGEPORT, Mich. (AP) - Six Saginaw youngsters died Sunday when the car they were riding in ran off a road, plunged into the Cass River and sank, state police said.

The driver of the car, Charles Marcoux, 17, opened his door and swam to safety, troopers said. His six passengers, packed into a Chevrolet Vega, drowned. The dead were identified as Lorena Laporte, 13; Rose Zapata, 14; Jeica Riv-eria, 16; Bennita Martinez, 11; David Vargas, 15, and David Herrera, 15. Troopers said the car ran off State Street within Bridgeport city limits about 7 a.m.

committee proposed on Sunday rearranging the income tax breaks available to homeowners to favor those in lower and middle income brackets.

This and other changes proposed by the House Banking subcommittee in a report, the panel said, also would tend to encourage building and rehabilitation in central cities.

Real estate taxes and interest paid on mortgages now may be deducted from income subject to the federal income tax.

The subcommittee proposed substituting a tax credit of 20 per cent of the interest and real estate tax.

A tax credit, subtracted directly from the amount due the government, gives the same dollar saving to taxpayers in any income bracket. A deduction is worth more to those in higher brackets, because the income tax rates are higher.

It said, however, that taxes for homeowners in the $10,000-$15,000 income category would be reduced by an average of $370 and for those in the $15,000-$20,000 category by an average of $215. Homeowners with incomes between $20,000 and $30,000 would have an average reduction of $19, but some in that range would have an increase. Taxes would go up for most homeowners with incomes over

"No one ever deliberately designed tax policy to favor suburban development at the expense of central cities, but it has worked out that way," Rep. Henry S. The subcommittee also recommended phasing out tax shelter subsidies for construction of new office and commercial buildings and directing residential construction subsidies more to low and moderate income housing.

It said changing to tax credits would help stabilize urban neighborhoods by making ownership more attractive to lower income persons and reduce the tax advantage of purchasing expensive suburban houses.

The subcommittee also recommended ending special fast tax writeoffs which it said favor construction of rental housing over rehabilitation of existing housing.

It said the present system under which local governments may issue tax-exempt bonds to subsidize industries locating in their jurisdictions should be revised so as to provide subsidies only in areas of high

Dock Strike Talks Remain In Abeyance

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for shippers and dockworkers in a selective strike at Atlantic and Gulf ports awaited word Sunday on when talks would resume while New Orleans longshoremen scheduled a vote on whether to scale down their complete walkout.

Wayne L. Horvitz, federal mediation director, ordered a recess in talks Saturday to allow both sides to assess their positions. There was no immediate word on when the negotiators would be called back to the bargaining table, but a spokesman for the International Longshoremen's Association said he expected some indication by Monday morning.

About 50,000 dockworkers called a strike against handling containership cargo after their contract ran out at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Dock workers in New Orleans, the nation's second largest port, called a complete strike, however, and the waterfront was quiet over the weekend. A spokesman for ILA local 1419 said the total walkout resulted from confusion during voting Friday night. He said the union membership would vote Tuesday whether to go along with ILA leaders' request that they limit their walkout to container-

ILA president Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason has assured the shippers, represented by James J. Dickman, president of the Council of North Atlantic Shipping Associations, that dockworkers would load and unload conventional, or breakbulk, freighters, passenger ships and carriers of perishables.

Except for a U.S. postal embargo on waterborne overseas mail, no immediate effects of the walkout were felt, since containerships left the struck ports before the strike began.

Containerships, as the single biggest eliminator of longshore jobs, were targeted for the strike in which the No. 1 issue was job security. In the past decade, the Port of New York, which is 60 per cent containerized, has lost 16,000 longshoremen's jobs. New York dock workers are protected by a guarantee of being paid for 2,080 hours a year whether they work or not, with other ports having lesser guarantees, down to none at all in Providence, R.I. The National Labor Relations Board ruled against the ILA two years ago over the issue of make-work, a contract clause under which ILA members unpacked and repacked the 20-and 40-foot containers that can be crane-loaded directly between boats and trucks.

In addition to stemming the loss of jobs, a concern of union negotiators was that with each advance of contain tion, the fund for the guarante income was being further drained

The union also sought a $3-an-lie crease in the basic scale of $8 under the just-expired three-year contract.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. My husband is 31, earns $16,000 a year. We have about $5,000 to invest for our retirement. Would you suggest a long-term savings account or E bonds? We are afraid of the stock market; don't

A. Nothing wrong with that attitude. Fear and caution are certainly far more desirable than the complacent manner in which many approach the stock market - as though the market were put there to serve them at their convenience and in the manner which best suits their partic-

The stock market is to be feared or, at least, approached cautiously because of the damage it can do if used in a careless or offhand manner. In this respect, it is not too far different from a power saw. It won't do to let your thoughts wander while you are using it.

However, frightening or not, the equities market has its uses and before you rule out its employment entirely you must 1) consider how you might reduce its dangers and 2) the alternatives open to you if you decide to pass up investment

There IS risk in every issue traded on any exchange or over the counter. Let no one tell you otherwise. But there are ways of evaluating the amount of risk you want to assume. (One can always decide not to make that auto trip during the worst of a sleet storm; or if the trip is necessary a 35-mile-an-hour speed is safer than driving at 70.)

All stocks are not 100 per cent risks. If you don't want to take the chance of being wiped out you stay away from high risk ventures and restrict your investing to the tried and true. I'm not saying you may not sustain a loss, but the odds against it are materially reduced.

Second — the alternatives. Savings accounts and E bonds are certainly other investment courses you can pursue. If you put money into a savings account for the next 30 years, the savings institution can give you a very good estimate — today - of what you will have in the year 2007 when you begin thinking of retirement, (assuming certain interest rates). The same can be said of the accumula tion of E bonds which today grow at the rate of 6 per cent a year. Given the protection of federal agency or strong state

A. Medicare will pay for home health care, if the patient qualifies. Hospital Insurance (Part "A") pays for all services for as many as 100 home health visits after the start of one benefit period and before the start of another. However, the visits must be medically necessary and be furnished by a participating home health agency. The benefits can be paid for up to a year after the patient's most recent discharge from a hospital or participating skilled nursing facility.

Here are the qualifications for Medicare coverage from a home health agen-

- The patient was in a participating (or otherwise qualified) hospital for at least three days in a row.

The continuing care includes parttime skilled nursing care of physical or speech therapy.

- The patient is confined to hir or her home.

- The doctor who determined home health care was needed must have set up a plan for it within 14 days after the patient's discharge from the hospital or participating skilled nursing home.

- The home health care is for further treatment of a condition for which the patient received services while in the hospital or skilled nursing facility.

India's Prime Minister Backing Drive To Oust John Barleycorn

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) - India has launched another of its battles against the bottle, this time with the personal encouragement of a teetotaler prime minis-

"There has to be prohibition by law and total prohibition," Premier Morarji Desai said in a recent speech that brought groans from the parched throats of hotel owners, tourist officials and everyday tipplers.

Desai, 81, is a puritanical man who shuns alcohol, cigarettes and most foods except fruits and nuts. He counts himself an associate and follower of the late Mohandas Gandhi, architect of India's independence and a lifelong campaigner against the demon rum

Desai, who took office last March, told state government officials India should be completely dry "within a maximum of four years."

Although prohibition would cost India an estimated $500 million or more in annual taxes. Desai says that's no argument against a ban on liquor because such money is tainted. "Would you commit a robbery to raise money for building a hospital?" he asks. Desai contends that only about 15 percent of India's 625 million citizens drink habit in a poor country. Imported Scotch can cost $25 to $50 per fifth in government-licensed shops. Indian whiskey, which can give a Westerner a headache with the first sip, costs about $5 a bottle. Beer, some of which is passable, runs a bit under $1. The wine is a little less subtle than kerosene and would be overpriced even if free. Each year hundreds, if not thousands, of Indians kill themselves drinking vile and lethal concoctions of furniture polish or derivatives of methyl alcohol.

There are no western-style bars, although the hotels catering to tourists do have bars attached. Indians can drink there except on "dry days," which used to be Wednesdays and the first and last days of each month. But the dry days are changed often enough to confuse the most dedicated alcoholic.

The loudest cries against prohibition, aside from those of Indian journalists, have come from people in the tourist

"Prohibition will definitely affect tourism," one travel agency executive said.

"Foreigners are so used to their drinks that they will not accept its absence. From our experience in Tamil Nadu, for liquor, we know that if there is total prohibition they are going to think twice before coming to India.

Tamil Nadu, the southern state formerly known as Madras, and Gujurat, the western state that was home to Mahatma Gandhi and Desai, are the only two of India's 22 states that are now dry.

"Of course I'm an alcoholic," a senior Tamil Nadu government official laughed in an interview earlier this year. He explained that anyone knowing the right doctor could buy a certificate of alcoholism for about $5, which entitles him to drink legally. "All my closest friends are alcoholics, too," he said.

The system has since been changed, with permits now coming from the prohibition commissioner and government officials barred from drinking. But to beat the new rules, Tamil Nadu residents hurried to get certificates while they could. The number of permits was 27,000 on March 31, 1976. It shot up to 59,000 a year

TILTING WINDMILLS - Army reservists from the 413th Civil Affairs Company assemble a windmill tower for Treehouse Village, a foster home for girls to be located west of the Lubbock Lake Site. The 40-foot tower, supporting a mill 14 feet in diameter, will pump water from 150 feet underground for the home, which will also be solar heated and cooled by wind-generated electricity. The dozen men have worked on the windmill tower twice in the past two months and hope to have the tower erected by the end of October. The company welcomes other similar projects, as long as the beneficiary is a non-profit organization. (Army Photo by Sgt. Dan English)

Shula gave credit to Miami's defense which sandbagged the Oilers in the fourth quarter, stopping three running plays from inside the Miami four.

"It was one of the fine goal line stands that we have had," said Shula.

Harris, who caught five passes for 87 yards and a touchdown, said, "There's no way they can stop all of us. Maybe next week Freddie (Solomon) will have a great game. Harris, Solomon, and Nat Moore make up the Dolphin's outside re-Harris said the Houston used man-to-

Benny Malone ran for 53 yards and a touchdown and Norm Bulaich scored on a 1-yard plunge to add to the action in the opening quarter.

Houston was scoreless until the second quarter when Albert Burton recovered a Benny Malone bobble at the Miami 19. Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini bootlegged the final three yards of the scoring drive untouched. Tony Fritsch converted to close the gap to 21-7.

Garo Yepremian missed the final extra point but kicked all three of Miami's other conversions.

Houston threatened again after Art Stringer stole a Griese pass in the third quarter and the Oilers drove to near the Dolphin goal. But Miami, in the key defense series, held against three running plays inside the four and Houston surrendered the ball without scoring.

Griese completed 13 of 20 passes for 188 yards, hitting Duriel Harris with passes of 11 and 21 yards in an 80-yard scoring drive on Miami's first possession. The drive ended with Bulaich scoring from the one.

The Dolphins' second possession also resulted in a score. It began when Larry Gordon recovered Ronnie Coleman's fumble on the Houston 27 and ended with Griese hitting Duriel Harris with a 16yard TD pass.

behind his line, hit Leroy Harris with passes of 23 and 27 yards as the Dolphins went 82 yards in eight plays for the club's third touchdown of the opening quarter.

Raiders' Defense Held Up Against NC

In adjacent rooms, film projectors whirred a tune of activity. But, in a lull from the duties of the afternoon, Tech coach Steve Sloan sat studying a pamphlet listing the scores and schedules of teams throughout the country.

Just as well see how the others are

Twenty-four hours earlier, he knew how is Raiders were doing. One doing. One thing he was sure about — and he didn't have thing he was sure about and he didn't have to check any national publications for verification: His defense had played well.

Now, he had not had a chance to grade the films - his assistants were already busy doing that - and he had not had a chance to see how well Arizona had been doing - he would look at that later in the afternoon. But, memory and sideline observation told him about the defense.

"Our defense did play well," he said. "They've played well in four games. You have to take that (effort) and try to build upon it."

What his defense had done was hold North Cárolina to 198 yards total offense. Only twice did the Raiders let North Carolin inside their 35-yard line. And one of those came when punter Mike Mock

Brownlee Blasts Dallas Civitan Foes

DALLAS (AP) - Blonde Vivian Brownlee, a 30-year-old Ladies PGA tour regular who had never won a professional tournament in her two years as a proshot a one-over par 73 Sunday to capture the $7,500 first prize in the 22nd Dallas Civitan Open.

The Atlantic City long-distance hitter carded rounds of 75-69-73 for 217 and a one-stroke victory in her "greatest tour-nament performance." She finished in a tie for 16th at Brookhaven Country Club here last year, winning $700.

Miss Brownlee attributed her improved game to two day's hard work on the practice tees before going into the event Fri-

Tied for second at 218 were Mary Bea Porter, who was one under par Sunday, Jo Ann Washam, even par 72 Sunday, and perennial contender Sandra Palmer, who also carded a par 72 for the final round. "My Florida instructor, Irv Schloss of Dunedin, saw me on television in the California tournament a week ago and cautioned me about fallng back into my bad habit with the driver," said a smiling Miss Brownlee. "I'm sure the tip and my practice paid off."

The 5-foot-9, 165-pounder was even par after the first two rounds. On the final 18 holes, she birdied the second with a 12. footer and the 16th with a 16-footer that put her one under par for the round and broke the logjam for the lead. She suffered bogies at the fourth, seventh and slipped trying to punt. The other time Stoan used as an example of the Raiders' defensive effort.

Two strokes off the pace at 219 were Debbie Massey and top tour money win-ner Judy Rankin, who soard to a 76 on the final round.

"Just like on that big play they made (a 46-yard paass to the Tech 18). Our defense didn't get down. It was (cornerback) Eric Felton's responsibility on the pass play, but he came right back and made two big plays behind the line (to shove NC out of good field goal range)."

Sloan said he had not checked the films close enough to know who played exceptionally well on defense, but offensively, the 150 yards rushing from fullback Billy Taylor was most evident. Also, the performance of sophomore quarterback Mark Johnson added to the Raiders' offensive performance.

"With Rodney (Allison) still out," said Sloan, "we knew we had to compensate some way. So, we had planned to give Taylor the ball at least 25 times. We told him we were counting on him and would give him the ball a lot."

"And, with a grin, "That's like tossing raw meat to a dog. He came out and really played."

Taylor carried 35 times, just two carries off the school record established by Cliff Hoskins in 1972.

Sloan said the team came out of the NC game without many additional injuries. Linebacker Mike McCright sustained an arm injury which concerns the coach.

This week, the Raiders will take on an Arizona team which lost 13-12 to Wyoming in a Western Athletic Conference

By The Associated Press Coach Bud Grant, traveling a familiar road, won his 100th National Football League regular season game Sunday when the Minnesota Vikings defeated Green Bay 19-7 Sunday.

The victory, like so many of Grant's previous ones, was constructed by quarterback Fran Tarkenton, who engineered three long scoring marches to wear down the Packers. Ironically, Grant's first regular season victory with the Vikings 10 years ago, also came against Green Bay.

Elsewhere, quarterbacks Archie Manning and Terry Bradshaw led New Orleans and Pittsburgh to decisive victories. Manning ran for three touchdowns and passes for a fourth as the Saints walloped Chicago 42-24 while Bradshaw reversed that production, passing for three TDs and running for a fourth in the Steelers' 28-14 victory over Cleveland.

In other games, the New York Jets stung New England 30-27, Atlanta whipped the New York Giants 17-3, Detroit defeated Philadelphia 17-13, Baltimore topped Buffalo 17-14, San Diego stunned Cincinnati 24-3, Denver dropped Seattle 24-13, Washington beat St. Louis 24-14 and Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 34-14. Oakland plays at Kansas City tonight.

Bradshaw connected for TD passes of six and 14 yards with Lynn Swann and found Frank Lewis with a 65-yarder as the Steelers tagged Cleveland with its first loss after two victories. Bradshaw also accounted for Pittsburgh's final touchdown himself with a 1-yard plunge.

Bradshaw finished with 10 completions in 17 attempts for 143 yards.

Manning helped New Orleans to its first victory with touchdown runs of eight, two and 11 yards as well as a 35yard scoring pass to Chuck Muncie against Chicago. The Bears added two other touchdowns on Bob Pollard's 52yard fumble recovery and Jim Merlo's 57-yard interception.

Jets to a 30-27 victory over the New England Patriots. Mike Haynes fumbled a punt and Al Palewicz recovered for the Jets with one minute left after the Patriots had tied the score on Steve Grogan's 27-yard TD pass to Darryl Stingley with 1:27 left.

Bert Jones completed 20 of 30 passes for 175 yards, moving unbeaten Baltimore past stubborn Buffalo. Jones' 15yard TD pass to Don McCauley following Buffalo's fifth turnover, supplied the Colts with their winning touchdown.

Dexter Bussey ran 14 yards for one TD and then caught a three-yard pass from Greg Landry for another as Detroit defeated Philadelphia. Steve Mike-Mayer kicked a 45-yard field goal for the Lions.

Atlanta's defense sacked New York quarterbacks nine times for losses of 81 yards as the Falcons defeated the Giants. Haskel Stanback paced the Falcon attack, rushing for 84 yards and catching six passes for 46 more.

James Harris completed 14 of 20 passes for 200 yards, leading San Diego past Cincinnati. Harris hit Charlie Joiner with two touchdown passes and also scored the other Charger touchdown from one vard.

John Cappelletti and Lawrence McCutcheon ran for two touchdowns apiece, moving Los Angeles over San Francisco. Both of Cappelletti's TDs and one of McCutcheon's were on one-yard bursts. McCutcheon also scored from six vards out.

Billy Kilmer hurled three touchdown passes - one apiece to Jean Fugett. Frank Grant and John Riggins — leading Washington over St. Louis. Kilmer's connections of 12 yards to Grant and 27 to Fugett built a 14-0 Redskin lead and then the veteran quarterback hit Riggins on a 53-yard score.

Craig Morton completed 12 of 21 passes for 181 yards, tossing a 47-yard scoring 7-yard interception. pass to Rob Lytle and scoring another TD himself in Denver's victory over Seattle.

Leonard, Goltz Get 20th Wins

By The Associated Press
Kansas City's Dennis Leonard and Minnesota's Dave Goltz became 20-game winners Sunday as the baseball's 1977 regular season ended.

Leonard and the Royals blanked the California Angels 2-0 as Kansas City, the American League West champion, finished with 102 wins and the best record in the major leagues. Leonard scattered six hits, struck out nine and walked one while George Brett slammed his 22nd home run of the season.

Goltz hurled a seven-hitter while American League batting champion, Rod Carew, knocked in his 100th run and finished with a .388 average, the best in the majors since Ted Williams hit .388 for the Boston Red Sox in 1957, as Minnesota defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2.

Kurt Bevacqua slammed a 2-run double as Texas erupted for five runs in the third inning to lead the Rangers past the Oakland A's 8-7 and close the Rangers' most successful season. The A's dropped t 63-

98, their worst season since moving to Oakland in 1968.

Gary Woods scored from third basee J wild pitch in the 11th inning to give the Toronto Blue Jays a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a doubleheader. In the nightcap, reliever Rick Waits held Toronto to one hit through four innings as the Indians nipped the Blue Jays 5-4.

The Seattle Mariners, behind Dan Meyer's 2 RBI, edged the Chcago White Sox 3-2. Elrod Hendricks slammed a gametying, 2-run double and Dell Alston squeezed home the winning run in the eighth inning as the New York Yankees. the AL East champions, nipped the Detroit Tigers 8-7.

The Baltimore at Boston game was rained out.

In the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates swept a twinbill from the Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 5-1. In the opener, rookie Mike Easler drove in three runs with his first major league home run and a pair of singles. Easler doubled in the ninth inning of the nightcap, scoring the winning run on a single by Ed Ott. J.R. Richard gave up four hits and struck out 14 batters in hurling the Houston Astros to a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Dave Winfield's triple backed Bob Shirley's five-hitter as the San Diego Padres downed the San Francisco Giants 3-1.

Barry Bonnell drove in 2 runs and scored another pair to pace the Atlanta Braves over tthe Cincinnati Reds 6-3. The New York Mets downed the St. Louis three hits and 2 RBI.

Cardinals 6-4 behind Joel Youngblood's Larry Christenson allowed three hits in seven innings to lead the Philadelphia Phillies, the NL East title-winners, over the Montreal Expos 5-3. Home runs by Mike Easler and Al Oliver powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Dodgers Crack Attendance Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers failed to make the three-million mark in attendance, but broke the major league record Sunday with 2,955,087 for the

The final figure exceeded by 199,403 the attendance record they set in 1962, the first year that Dodger Stadium was open. The Dodgers probably would have hit the threemillion mark had it not been for three rainouts.

Sunday's attendance figure at the Dodgers' game with the Houston Astros was 46,-

Baffle Dumas Coach Kansas Rules

The Dumas Demons found out the hard way, that when you play in someone else's back yard, you play by their rules or you don't play at all.

The backyard belonged to Liberal, Kan., and the rule was one the Texas school had only vaguely heard of - an overtime period of the game happened to end in a tie after four regulation period.

FOOTBALL CONFERENCE
Eastern Division ended in a deadheat.

But it didn't and that's where the story "That's the first overtime I've ever been in and I certainly hope it is the last," Demon coach Jack Moss said, with a hint of discust in his voice. In other words, Kansas is a nice place to visit, but he wouldn't want to play football there.

'We knew we had the better team Friday night...we played well," Moss said. And it is a shame the game had to be decided the way it was.'

Moss pointed out the hometowners never pushed the ball inside the Dumas 40 the entire night. But the Demons never managed to shove the ball into the end zone although they did have their

Art & Sammie Schellinger.
FOURTH FLIGHT

1:1 — Harry Jones-Jackie Fry, 110 — Louis & Co Maryfield, 100 — Tom & Nell Cooper, 99 — Neal & Versa Mankins

Verna Hawkins.

The Los Angeles Dodgers played their first 737 home games without a rainout. The string was broken April 21, 1967.

Dumas ended the night with 300 yards total offense, while Liberal notched only a meager 160.

"We knew they had some different rules when we went up there to play, " Moss said. "We had worked on a few of them but never in my wildest dreams did I think we would have to play an overtime Never "

Moss again said, "It just doesn't seem fair to let three or four plays decide a football game.

Liberal's only overtime TD came on a 6-yard pass after the had managed to get only four total y yards during their first two tries from scrimmage.

Despite the loss, Moss feels his troops still are strong enough to challenge for the District 1-AAA title. Loop action gets underway for Dumas in two weeks when they meet pre-season favorite Perryton. So far, this season the Demons have played what Moss calls "a heck of a schedule for a AAA team.'

After a 49-15 opening night loss to Palo Duro, the Demons have beaten Pampa 30-0, fallen to Tascosa 41-12 and whipped Guymon, Okla. 28-10. Then, of course, there's that 7-6 setback suffered in Kan

"You can look down our schedule and see that there is not a pansy on it," Moss

Barber Grabs PGA Victory

NAPA, Calif. (AP) - Miller Barber, who began the day six strokes out of first place surged into a tie for the lead midway in the final round of the $200,000 PGA event by recording four birdies on the front nine. He was momentarily ahead of George er got his first birdie of the day, at the ninth hole, a few minutes after Barber had made the turn. Both players were 13 under par for the tournament with nine holes to play on

Silverado Country Club's North course. Archer took a four-stroke lead into the final round after tying a course record with a 63 Saturday. Mac McLendon was second, on stroke ahead of Jim Dent. McLendon was 11 under par, two behind the co-leaders, after nine holes Sunday and Dent had slipped to nine under for the tournament. Grier Jones and John Schroeder were three strokes off the lead, 10 under for the tournament Howard Twitty posted a 30, six uner par, on the front nine to move up on the leader board. He was nine under for the event, tied with Dent, Bruce Lietzke and Lon Hinkle, while those at eight under included Masters and British Open champion Tom Watson.

said. "Palo Duro and Tascosa are both good AAAA team and Guymon played Perryton a heck of a game the other night. (Perryton managed a 20-7 win over Guymon.)"

Moss believes the field-direction of quarterback Ken Hazen and the bruising running of Towne are the two reasons Dumas could challenge for the loop

"I think Hazen is the best quarterback in the Panhandle," Moss said.

Anchoring the offensive and defensive line for the Demons are Brian Millard and Clayton Shaw. Moss says the duo can block with the best of them.

But the future wasn't what the Demon mentor seemed to have on his mind Saturday afternoon, the loss to Liberal there are a lot of things in life you don't like but you have to accept them and live with. That's what I told the kids after the game. I hope we all learned by it."

Federal Abortions Debate Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee planned to try again Monday to decide under what conditions the federal government will pay for abortions for poor women during the next 12 months.

The conference committee has been deadlocked since July, and the dispute has stalled an appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

The agencies' funding technically expired at midnight Friday but payments for welfare, unemployment and other services will continue indefinitely, government officials say.

Meamwhile, a private study concludes that if the government ends abortion payments, the gap between the rich and poor in unwanted child-bearing will widen, while teen-age illegitimacy rates and pregnancy-related deaths and diseases

The study was conducted by researchers at the Alan Guttmacher Institute, the research arm of the Planned Parenthood

The study also estimates that nearly a

F THE

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Mon. October 3, 1977 quarter of a million Medicaid-eligible women who wanted abortions in 1976 were unable to obtain them because some states lacked abortion services or restricted the practice.

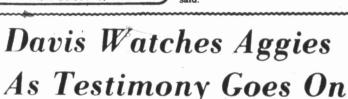

Another factor was that some states paid less than the actual cost of abortions to clinics or hospitals, the report said.

The government paid for 300,000 abortions last year at a cost of $50 million. On Aug. 4 it began restricting federal payments for abortions to instances where a woman's life was jeopardized by a full-term pregnancy.

The average cost of an abortion in the United States is $280 with highs of $460 in Delaware, Mississippi, West Virginia and Wyoming and lows of $160 in Louisiana, North Dakota and South Dakota, the report said.

The average welfare payment for an entire family's food, clothing, shelter and other necessities is $238 a month. The highest welfare payment is $363 in Hawaii and New York, while the low is $48 in Mississippi. The figures are from the Aid to Families with Dependent Children

Under these circumstances, it seems clear that not very many women on welfare will be able to get together the money to pay for their own legal abortions—and if they do, it will be at the sacrifice of basic necessities of food and shelter for themselves or their families," the report said

AMARILLO (UPI) — The weekend was a particularly difficult one for millionaire murder defendant T. Cullen Davis. The Texas Aggies lost 41-

"Damn lousy game," Davis said when the game and testimony in his trial for the murder of his stepdaughter ended Saturday and a deputy indicated it was time to actual to all until Monday and a deputy indicated it was time to return to his cell until Monday morning.

Davis, 44, viewed the Texas A&M-Michigan game in a reception area of State District Judge George E. Dowlen's office and was joined by Karen Master, 28, hcs girlfriend and daily luncheon companion.

Davis watched his alma mater build a 3-0 first quarter lead, then when the Aggies fell behind, he returned to the courtroom to hear his attorneys whittle away at prosecution witnesses.

whittle away at prosecution witnesses.

Dowlen and Davis returned to the television set to find the Aggies losing 20.3

"Terrible," Davis muttered when the score reached 34-3.

The defendant's freedom to rome in and out of the court caused prosecutors to ask that Dowlen restrict Davis' movements during the trial. Dowlen said he may rule later on the request.

Testifying Saturday was Benny L. Thompson, a policeman who investigated the Aug. 2, 1976 slayings. Prosecutors guided Thompson through testimony designed to re-enforce Priscilla Davis' account of the assaults period.

She has testified her estranged husband shot and wounded her, killed Stan Farr, 31, and was dragging away his body when she slipped outside. Davis is on trial for the murder of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12, during the assault.

But, Mrs. Davis testified, Davis found her on the patio and was pulling her back to the house when a car arrived. The car carried Gus Gavrel Jr., 22, and Beverly Bass, 19:

Thompson testified he measured the route Gavrel and Miss Bass took to the side of the house where they were greeted by the gunman. Thompson said the path would have required a 33-second walk and testified a similar amount of time would have been taken by the gunman from the point he dropped Mrs. Davis to the point where he met the couple.

Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes questioned Thompson about the accuracy of the officer's measurements and off-duty security work Thompson did for Mrs. Davis.

Army Captain Handles Odd Damage Claims

HEIDELBERG, West Germany (UPI)

— Army lawyer John Madden's checkbook contains some of the strangest entries that ever separated the American taxpayer from his tax dollars.

Take the prize-winning bull from Bavaria. Allegedly frightened by a low-flying helicopter, he muffed a clean jump over a barbed wire fence, thus damaging important parts of his anatomy. Madden's office paid about $1,200 at current exchange rates after expert witnesses testified the bull couldn't sire any more calves.

"I call it a hidden cost of defense," said Madden, who is in charge of paying damage claims. It is big business in West Germany. This year he will shell out about $17 million in some 40,000 cases to account for roughly half the Army's budget Most cases Madden's office handles are mundane traffic accidents and damage to crops or roads, but even these can take a bizarre twist.

Like the GIs who drove their Sheridan tank into a hundreds-of-years-old church in the town of Roth in 1974. The Army eventually settled for $640, but only after a three-star general and his staff spent a day negotiating the release of the crew, held hostage by angry townspeople who surrounded the tank.

Last year a tank crew tried to get across a Roman bridge that was too narrow in the town of Ingolstadt and lopped off the parapets on each side. The town has claimed $69,000 for restoration of the ancient span. Madden is still haggling over that one.

Tech Slates College Rodeo The Texas Tech rodeo club will to

The Texas Tech rodeo club will present the annual Texas Tech Intercollegiate Rodeo in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum for four action-packed performances Oct. 26-29.

Fifteen colleges and universities from the Southwest Region will enter their top cowboys and cowgirls in the event.

Vold Rodeo Company of Pueblo, Colo., will be the stock producer. Bucking stock from the Vold string have consistently been voted by professional cowboys as some of the toughest stock in the Added attractions include beautiful pageantry that add big time, big league showmanship to the program. Top rodeo specialty acts will be performing during all performances, and comedy bull fighting clowns will bring added thrills and comedy to the show.

Performances start at 7:30 p.m. each day. Wednesday is Family Bargain night with all tickets priced at $3. Prices for Thursday, Friday and Saturday range, from $3.50 to $5.50 with $1 off for children 12 and younger. A limited number of series tickets for all four performances is available at the box office only. Prices are $12 and $15 and include only the better seats. Mail orders to College Rodeo, P.O. uct (2) knowledgeable service-minded personnel, and (3) appreciative customers . . . and there you have the ingredients of a success story. Right?

Such is the situation at Lubbock Cash Register Co., 3033 34th St., a firm that marked its first anniversary under ownership of Max Christopher this July. The growth of the Lubbock firm is well documented, as witness the honors accorded Christopher by the Sweda Corp., for example.

Ranking first in its size category for Sweda throughout the entire nation, Lubbock Cash Register Co. has been presented the pictured plaque reading First Place Award to Max Christopher. Lubbock Cash Register Co., for outstanding sales, fiscal 1977.

Christopher is most humble and appreciative, expressing "thanks" to customers of the firm, at the same time pledging continued service to the best of the skilled staff's ability. In keeping with the firm's policy of

Overhead Automatic Doors Affording Full Convenience, Important Safety

"Don't lift it ... just call 797-4141!" "Or better yet, come by Overhead Door

Co., 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop) and discover how an automatic overhead door installation can benefit in your own situation

Convenience, safety and protection this is the whole story of automatic overhead doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock

Serving with the same fine products and desire to please, traditional with the firm for over 20 years, the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock is in relatively new location and in large, modern quarters. For those who looked to the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock for years at its former 5283 34th St. location, the present location and expansion can be especially appreciated. The new facility is much larger than the former home, with greater storage, and even parking, to give the maximum of customer service.

So ... what better time is there to visit Overhead Door Co., to arrange for an automatic overhead door for the family's benefit now and for seasons to come, upgrading a present nome or in building a rew one

"Give your home distinction and new convenience at low cost. Give your family the Overhead Door electric operator from Cverhead Door Co. of Lubbock."

Auto-Mate 80 Special attention is called to the Auto-Mate 80, the ultimate garage door opener with all the features one would expect,

Security and convenience are synony mous with the Auto-Mate 80. The simple touch of a button on the remote transmitter is all it takes to open, close and lock the garage door. Added security is as automatic as the door itself since when down, the door is securely locked. A powerful 1/3 h.p. motor, operating on standard 115 V household current, provides smooth, quiet, dependable and positive operation of the door. Complete Operation Safety An instant reversing mechanism insures complete safety should the closing door encounter an obstacle. Should a power failure occur, a spring-loaded door to manual operation and is simply reconnected by hand. This heavy duty, UL-approved operator can handle sectional or one-piece doors up to 18' by 8' or two single car doors

Overhead doors are available and recommended, also, for commercial and industrial buildings

Whether selection is from a steel, woor or fiberglass overhead door, Tim Hatch ar Overhead Door Co. assures the very best value in installation and sales, resulting in lasting satisfaction.

Year Warranty A full year warranty is one of the features at Overhead Door Co. where its own servicemen are on the job to speed every operation

"If you are planning a new home soon, or would like to upgrade the convenience and safety of your present home, check the many advantages offered by automatic garage doors from Tim Hatch and his reliable staff

With the Auto-Mate, the garage door unlocks and opens and the garage is flooded with light, all automatically, while you are still in your auto. Just drive up and drive right in; the remote signal has the garage door open in seconds.

After you drive in, you push the button in your auto again and the garage door closes and locks without your leaving the safety of your car. (When leaving the garage, of course, the action is reversed with corresponding safety and convenience in the process.)

Security Factor Security is one of the big factors in seeking the automatic feature. Eliminate worries about any danger lurking in the dark. Also, chances of intrusion and theft are reduced. When the door is closed, it is locked. And the family is snug, safe and warm!

Reliability is another characteristic of the automatic doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock.

All components, subassemblies and complete units have been thoroughly tested in laboratory and in field use. The radio controls are designed by engineers lamous for their work in guided missile electronics

Thousands of Auto-Mate operators, designed to open even the largest doors, have been in use since 1934. Many, many are in Lubbeck!

"You enjoy a houseful of automatic appliances and drive an automatic car. Then why not operate this biggest moving part of your home automatically, too? It is not a luxury, not at all."

Spray-on ThermoCon affords temperature, sound and fire control in one appli-

Because of its chemical content, it permanently bonds to steel, wood and masonry surfaces painted or not! It provides a strong color-stable environmental system that will not chip, shed, flake, dust or be subject to rot or fungi. ThermoCon is odorless and non-toxic.

Because it forms a monolithic seal, it can be used wherever temperature, sound or fire control is needed on ceilings or walls, exposed or unexposed. No lathing, undercoating or preparatory base is required! Because of its workable fibrous texture. ThermoCon can expand and contract with your building without losing its hold. Its built-in flexibility makes it easy to cut, saw, mold, shape or paint.

Because of its application by pneumatic spray, it is much faster and more economical than conventional insulation. Ulmer emphasizes

WOOLCO HONORS ANOTHER — Monthly designation of outstanding employees at Woolco has focused attention on the type staffmember that proves Woolco "wants to become your favorite store". Recognizing that the firm's success and track record relates in large part to the qualifications and dedication of its staff, manager J.G. Treadaway takes pleasure in relating these awards. Shown with Treadaway is Mrs. Myrtle Evans, this month's honoree. With the organization for 18 years, she started at the Lubbock downtown Woolworth store in 1959. She has served in the Woolco cosmetics department as manager for the last several years, starting when Woolco first opened its doors in 1971. Mrs. Evans is a longtime Lubbock resident, coming here in '59 from West Virginia. She has five children and nine grandchildren. Her husband, Cullen, is retired, and Mrs. Evans plans retirement at end of this year. "It will be a big loss for our store", Treadaway assures.

RIGHT FOR FALL — Betty Moreno of the Woolco shoe department proves here that Woolco has the footwear desired for the fall season. Featured are women's knee-hi boots, priced from $17.96 to $36.96. Colors include brown, black and maroon. Winter slippers also are in the big assortment of foot-

Texas Ranger Manager Bill Hunter yet. hadn't gotten a chance yet to look at his minor leaguers. So he played some of them Sunday against the Oakland A's and liked what he saw.

The Rangers - or at least some Ranger reserves and six farm hands wearing Ranger uniforms - battered the A's 8-7 Sunday to end their most successful season since the franchise moved to Texas in

"I did that in order to take a look at some of the younger players we had.' said Hunter, who started six players called up recently from the minor Ranger coach Connie Ryan immediately dubbed the group "Hal Keller's Killers" in honor of the Rangers' minor league director.

Kurt Bevacqua, a major league journeyman called up from Tucson earlier in the season, lashed a two-run double to key a five-run outburst by the Rangers in the third inning and help give 23-year-old John Poloni his first major league win.

Reserve catcher Bill Fahey's basesloaded single in the fifth inning sparked a three-run eruption for Texas.

"Poloni did all right," Hunter said of the rookie who lasted five innings. "He forgot to cover first base once and that cost us a run, but I expected young mistakes like that."

Hunter also started rookies Keith Smith, Lew Beasley, Pat Putnam and fleet 20-year-old Eddie Miller, who swiped 83 bases in the Texas League this

"I was impressed with Miller's offensive ability and speed, but I thought his center field play left a little bit to be desired," said Hunter. "He's still young

Miller got his first two major league hits, both infield singles, scored two runs and knocked in another Sunday's loss, coupled with Seattle's 3-2 victory over Chicago, dropped the lowly A's behind the expansion Mariners and into the cellar of the American League West. Oakland's 63-98 record was its Texas, however, finished at 94-68, eight games behind champion Kansas City in the West and 10 victories better than their previous high of 84 wins in 1974.

The Rangers also set team records in every offensive category except triples and drew more than 1,250,000 fans for the Oakland grabbed a 1-0 lead when Mike Jorgensen lofted a towering solo home run into the right field seats. Jorgensen later rocked another solo homer in the eighth inning.

The lead was erased, however, w the Rangers battered A's starter Matt Keough (1-3) for four hits and five runs in the third. They then chased Keough in the fifth with three runs on Fahey's two-

In other AL games Sunday, Cleveland and Toronto split a doubleheader, Toronto winning the opener 2-1 and Cleveland taking the nightcap 5-4; New York edged Detroit 8-7; Seattle nipped Chicago 3-2; Kansas City blanked California 2-0, and Texas downed Oakland 8-7. Baltimore at Boston was rained out.

Dave Goltz scattered seven Brewer hits for his 20th victory as the Twins exploded for three runs in the eighth inning to clinch their victory over Milwaukee.

Blue Jays 2-4, Indians 1-5 Reliever Rick Waits held Toronto to one hit through four innings, striking out one and walking one as Cleveland nipped the Blue Jays in the second game of their doubleheader. # Carew's Stats Over Last Five Years Truly Amazing ceived a lot of well-earned attention for his lofty .388 batting average this season, but few people realize the amazing consistency with which he has played the game of baseball over the past five years.

In winning his sixth American League batting champi ship and fifth in the last six years, Carew ripped, slapped and bunted for 239 hits, the most the major leagues has seen since Bill Terry collected 254 for New York Giants in 1930.

But his five-year performance record from 1973 through 1977 has been unmatched since fellows such as Rogers Hornsby and Ty Cobb were playing in the first two decades of this century Since 1973, Carew has totalled 1,052 hits in 2,935 at-bats for a half-decade average of .358. Only once in that span did he hit below .350 and only once did anyone usurp the A.L. hitting crown normally reserved in his name. In nearly every way, the 1977 season has been Carew's best, although he could help his team to no better than a fourth-place finish. He equalled his season high for home runs with 14 and drove in 100 runs for the first time in his

Not bad for a "singles hitter." He scored 127 runs, establishing a new personal high, breaking a team record and leading the league with the highest total since Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris each scored He drilled 38 doubles, led the league with 16 triples and struck out less than nine per cent of the time he was at bat. He sprayed hits to all fields. He bunted for hits when the infield layed back. He bunted for hits when the infield came in. And perhaps as important to him as all that, he played a superb first base, committing only nine errors in a busy Twins infield.

"A Gold Glove would be a perfect cap for the season, Carew said Sunday after the Twins' final game of the year."I thought I played as well as any first baseman in the league this year and a Gold Glove award is what I want most to Carew is the top candidate for Most Valuable Player in the American League this year as well. That, with all the other honors he has accumulated, would be welcome, but he admits he would gladly trade a few for a chance to play in the

rates,

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds did everything this year but win their division titles-literally. While the Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers claimed the Eastern and Western divisions of the National League, the Pirates and Reds ran off with all the significant individual races. Among them was John Candelaria, the Pittsburgh lefthander who became the first pitcher since 1965 to lead the league in earned run average and winning percentage while winning 20 games. That puts Candeleria in pretty good company, since Sandy Koufax was the last to do it. 'I think I should have a good chance to win the Cy Young Award," said Candeleria. "No one had a better year."

Candeleria's credentials speak as loud as his words-a 20-5 record for an .800 winning percentage and an ERA of 2.34. Along with Candelaria, the Pirates had unofficial league leaders in two other important categories as their regular season ended Sunday with a 5-1, 3-2 doubleheader sweep of the Chicago Cubs. Dave Parker finished the season with the best batting average in the National League, 338, and Frank Taveras led in steals with a club-record 70. Parker, who also led the league in hits with 215 and doubles with 44, is hardly modest about his season in the sun. "I'm wall-to-wall and 10-feet tall," the broad shoulder giant says in a quaint figure of speech. The Reds, meanwhile, won a fistful of significant personal honors, two of which were claimed by one man-George Foster. The runaway power leader in baseball this season, Foster finished with an extraordinary total of 52 home runs and 149 RBI. Incidentally, Foster's RBI total was a club record, exceeding Johnny

Bench's figure of 148 in 1970. "It would have been nice if my big figures helped us win the pennant, but they said Foster. "I'm confident, though, that next year we'll be where we should be-on top.

Cincinnati's Joe Morgan, meanwhile, established a fielding record for second basemen, finishing the year with only five errors in 153 games. The former mark of six was held by Tito Fuentes of the San Francisco Giants in 1973.

Despite committing four errors in Sunday's 6-3 loss to the Atlanta Braves, the Reds also set a team fielding record of 90 errors in a 162-game season, five less than the Baltimore Orioles did in 1973.

In this so-called Year of the Hitter, another conspicuous fielding record was set when Ken Reitz played perfect defensive ball in the St. Louis Cardinals' 6-4 loss to the New York Mets Sunday, thus finishing the season with merely nine errors at third base. The old National League record was set by Don Money in 1972 at Philadelphia.

In other National League games Sunday, the Houston Astros beat Los Angeles 6-3, Philadelphia stopped the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the San Francisco Giants 3-1.

Pirates 5-3, Cubs 1-2 Mike Easler and Al Oliver rapped solo home runs to lead Pittsburgh over Chicago in their first game. The Pirates won the second game as Easler, a 26-year-old rookie, doubled in the ninth inning and scored on a single by Ed Ott.

Braves 6, Reds 3 Barry Bonnell drove in two runs and scored two to pace Atlanta over Cincinnati. Atlanta rookie pitcher Mickey Mahler (1-2) notched his first career victory in his fifth start, allowing three hits-Mets 6. Cardinals 4 Joel Youngblood drove in two runs with three hits and Steve Henderson scored three times, leading New York over St.

Phillies 5, Expos 3

Larry Christenson allowed three hits in seven innings as Philadelphia defeated Montreal. Padres 3. Giants 1

Lefthander Bob Shirley fired a five-hitter and Dave Winfield's triple highlighted a three-run second inning as San Diego beat San Francisco. Astros 6, Dodgers 3 The National League Western Division champion Los Angeles Dodgers lost their final game of tge season Sunday 6-3 to Houston Sunday. But nobody seemed to Dusty Baker slammed his 30th home run to give the Dodgers a major league record, Manny Mota hit his first homer in five years and Glenn Burke hit his first

All this despite the four-hit, 14-strikeout performance of the Astros' James Rodney Richard, who ended his season

"I was there when Hank Aaron hit his 715th home run and I was so excited that I thought I had hit it," the jubilant Baker said after the game. "I feel the same way today. If I hadn't hit it, I probably would have walked around all winter wondering why I couldn't have hit just one more."

Dave Lopes said Baker's dramatic home run just might be the lift Los Angeles needs for its NL playoff series with Philadelphia, which begins Tuesday eve-"If one thing can motivate us or perk us up, this just might be it," said Lopes. What the heck, this club has made history. I really think it can have a positive effect for the playoffs.

"I know this, it relieves a lot of the pressure from Dusty. I'm sure he will be a lot more relaxed for the playoffs."

Sunday's Dodger Stadium turnout of 46,501 boosted the Dodgers' home attendance to a major league record 2,955,-087, nearly 200,000 more than the 1962 Dodger club played to, which was the previous major league record.

Los Angeles ended the season with a 98-64 record, 10 games in front of Cincinnati. It's exactly what the Dodgers trailed the Reds by in 1976. Houston was third, 17 games back, with an 81-81 record.

Baker's home run was one of three in the sixth inning by Los Angeles. Mota led off the inning with a pinch home run, and then Baker and Burke homered back-to-

Roberto Castillo scattered eight hits back. They accounted for three of the four hits off Richard.

Customer Service Among Sure Factors In Firm's Achievement

'Take a combination of (1) right product (2) knowledgeable service-minded personnel, and (3) appreciative customers . . . and there you have the ingredients of a success story. Right?

Such is the situation at Lubbock Cash Register Co., 3033 34th St., a firm that marked its first anniversary under ownership of Max Christopher this July.

The growth of the Lubbock firm is well documented, as witness the honors accorded Christopher by the Sweda Corp., for example.

Ranking first in its size category for Sweda throughout the entire nation, Lubbock Cash Register Co. has been presented the pictured plaque reading "First Place Award to Max Christopher, Lubbock Cash Register Co., for outstanding sales, fiscal 1977."

Christopher is most humble and appreciative, expressing "thanks" to customers of the firm, at the same time pledging continued service to the best of the skilled staff's ability.

In keeping with the firm's policy of providing the "newest and best," three new products are being offered for November delivery, including:

(1) The firm's own electronic scale, suitable for grocery establishments; (2) The new model 445 Sweda register;

(3) The New L35 general merchandising machine with 500 programmable op-

Overhead Automatic Doors Affording Full Convenience, Important Safety

"Don't lift it ... just call 797-4141!"

"Or better yet, come by Overhead Door Co., 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop) and discover how an automatic overhead door installation can benefit in your own situation."

Convenience, safety and protection this is the whole story of automatic overhead doors from Overhead Door Co. of

Serving with the same fine products and desire to please, traditional with the firm for over 20 years, the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock is in relatively new location and in large, modern

For those who looked to the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock for years at its former 5283 34th St. location, the present location and expansion can be especially appreciated. The new facility is much larger than the former home, with greater storage, and even parking, to give the maximum of customer service.

So ... what better time is there to visit Overhead Door Co., to arrange for an automatic overhead door for the family's benefit now and for seasons to come, upgrading a present home or in building a

"Give your home distinction and new convenience at low cost. Give your family the Overhead Door electric operator from Cverhead Door Co. of Lubbock."

Auto-Mate 88 Special attention is called to the Auto-Mate 80, the ultimate garage door opener with all the features one would expect. and more

Security and convenience are synony mous with the Auto-Mate 80. The simple touch of a button on the remote transmitter is all it takes to open, close and lock tomatic as the door itself since when down, the door is securely locked.

A powerful 1/3 h.p. motor, operating on standard 115 V household current, provides smooth, quiet, dependable and positive operation of the door.

Complete Operation Safety An instant reversing mechanism insures complete safety should the closing door encounter an obstacle. Should a power failure occur, a spring-loaded quick disconnect instantly converts the door to manual operation and is simply reconnected by hand This heavy duty, UL-approved operator can handle sectional or one-piece doors up to 18' by 8' or two single car doors hooked up tandem

Automatic Doors represent a wise gesture by the head of the family. With these doors, the wife can open the garage, enter and lock it without leaving her vehicle - quite a convenience benefit in inclement weather (wind, rain, dust, snow), and a definite safety factor on dark

Overhead doors are available and recommended, also, for commercial and industrial buildings.

Whether selection is from a steel, woor or fiberglass overhead door. Tim Hatch at Overhead Door Co. assures the very best value in installation and sales, resulting in lasting satisfaction.

Year Warranty A full year warranty is one of the features at Overhead Door Co. where its own servicemen are on the job to speed

"If you are planning a new home soon, or would like to upgrade the convenience and safety of your present home, check the many advantages offered by automatic garage doors from Tim Hatch and his reliable staff.

With the Auto-Mate, the garage door unlocks and opens and the garage is flooded with light, all automatically, while you are still in your auto. Just drive up and drive right in; the remote signal has the garage door open in seconds.

After you drive in, you push the button in your auto again and the garage door closes and locks without your leaving the safety of your car. (When leaving the garage, of course, the action is reversed with corresponding safety and convenience in the process.)

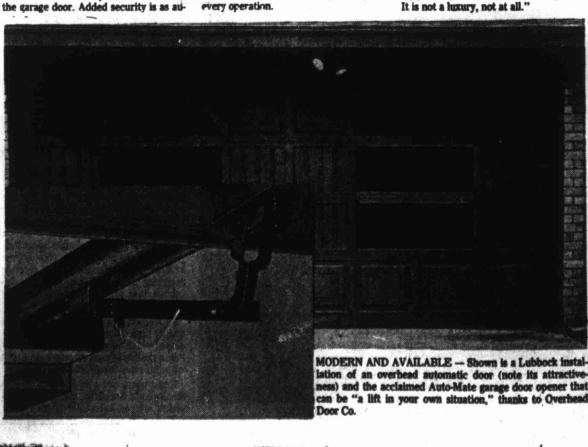

Security Factor Security is one of the big factors in seeking the automatic feature. Eliminate worries about any danger lurking in the dark. Also, chances of intrusion and theft are reduced. When the door is closed, it is locked. And the family is snug, safe and warm!

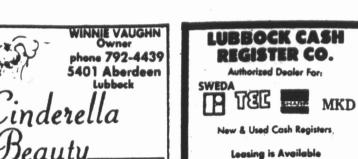

Reliability is another characteristic of the automatic doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock.

All components, subassemblies and complete units have been thoroughly tested in laboratory and in field use. The radio controls are designed by engineers amous for their work in guided missile electronics.

Thousands of Auto-Mate operators, designed to open even the largest doors, have been in use since 1934. Many, many are in Lubbock!

"You enjoy a houseful of automatic appliances and drive an automatic car. Then why not operate this biggest moving part of your home automatically, too?

Specializing in ThermoCon spray-on and loose-fill for residential, commercial and industrial applications, Jerry Ulmer and staff are masters in their field. For full details see Ulmer at the lockeny facility, write Box 591, Lockney, Tex. 79241, or call (806) 652-3348.

Spray-on ThermoCon affords temperature, sound and fire control in one application!

Because of its chemical content, it permanently bonds to steel, wood and masonry surfaces painted or not! It provides a strong color-stable environmental system that will not chip, shed, flake, dust or be subject to rot or fungi. ThermoCon is odorless and non-toxic.

Because it forms a monolithic seal, it can be used wherever temperature, sound or fire control is needed on ceilings or walls, exposed or unexposed. No lathing, undercoating or preparatory base is required!

Because of its workable fibrous texture. ThermoCon can expand and contract with your building without losing its hold. Its built-in flexibility makes it easy to cut, saw, mold, shape or paint.

Because of its application by pneumatic spray, it is much faster and more economical than conventional insulation, Ul-

'ELEGANT INTERIOR - ANOTHER REASON FOR CHOOSING GOLDEN FALCON'

Davis R.V. Service Center Adds Golden Falcon Trailers

For the pursuit of happiness . . . Golden Falcon travel trailers are heartily recommended!

Better news yet is that the Golden Falcon line, built and backed by Skyline Corp., is now available at Davis R.V. Service Center, 220 Paris Ave. in Lubbock.

Presently in stock are 31 ft. and 28 ft. models.

Standard features, sturdiness of construction, floor plans in a variety of styles to assure a plan for every perference, are among the features of this quality line. Also, the Davis firm (located east from Avenue Q and the Clovis-Amarillo "Y") stocks and presents exceptional values in those great Avion travel trailers . . . and Mobile Villa 5th Wheel units.

Now is the time to think of winterizing one's travel unit, and Davis is glad to perform the entire operation, or it stocks non-toxic anti-freeze for one's own appli-phases of the firm's operation. Davis is Avion travel trailer dealer for 16 area counties, also being exclusive dealer for the Wilderness line of practical economy trailers and 5th wheel units. Equalizer hitches are stocked and installed. Installation also is available on air conditioners and awnings

The Davis firm services any make or brand of recreational vehicle, and it is wisely suggested that the units be kept in top condition for ready use as vacation and trip opportunities avail themselves. More about the Avion: it is designed and constructed very much like an airplane ... and very beautiful. It isn't a hap-

WOOLCO HONORS ANOTHER - Monthly designation of outstanding employees at Woolco has focused attention on the type staffmember that proves Woolco "wants to become your favorite store". Recognizing that the firm's success and track record relates in large part to the qualifications and dedication of its staff, manager J.G. Treadaway takes pleasure in relating these awards. Shown with Treadaway is Mrs. Myrtle Evans, this month's honoree. With the organization for 18 years, she started at the Lubbock downtown Woolworth store in 1959. She has served in the Woolco cosmetics department as manager for the last several years, starting when Woolco first opened its doors in 1971. Mrs. Evans is a longtime Lubbock resident, coming here in '59 from West Virginia. She has five children and nine grandchildren. Her husband, Cullen, is retired, and Mrs. Evans plans retirement at end of this year. "It will be a big loss for our store", Treadaway assures.

RIGHT FOR FALL — Betty Moreno of the Woolco shoe department proves here that Woolco has the footwear desired for the fall season. Featured are women's knee-hi boots, priced from $17.96 to $36.96. Colors include brown, black and maroon. Winter slippers also are in the big assortment of footwear for the entire family at Woolco. One can select from fur and vinyl for women, Disneyland character slippers in sizes for infants and children, and corduroy and leather slippers for
