The Rams were 2-2 with Namath at the Fran Tarkenton also might be giving a helm before Haden again got the call little thought to the prospect after his against New Orleans and came out on the winning end of a 14-7 score. The rout of defending NFC champion Minnesota ended any doubt that Haden was No. 1 and that Namath, acquired from the New York Jets as a free agent, was No. 2.

Haden credited his teammates on the offensive platoon, saying: "They just gave me great protection all night. Most of the time I had time to count the house. eat a snow cone and then throw the ball."

Haden ran seven yards for the first touchdown and passed two and nine to Charlie Young and Harold Jackson for the next two. Late in the game, he accepted the suggestion of guard Dennis Harrah and called a play on which Wendell Tyler dashed 44 yards for the final touchdown

Coach Chuck Knox declared: "This game puts an end to the quarterback controversy." Former Southern California star Haden added: "Yes, I expect to start against New Orleans next Sunday

Now 4-2. Los Angeles is tied with Atlanta in the NFC West Division, Minnesota, despite the loss, stays atop the NFC Central Division at 4-2

Even at the game's end, Knox kept Namath on the bench and inserted No. 3 quarterback Vince Ferragamo to finish

'I didn't want to put Namath in on a situation when we are ahead 35-3," said Knox, "We felt it was a good chance to give Ferragamo some work." Knox has wrestled with the youth vs. age quarterback situation since Namath joined the team last summer.

Haden hit 12 passes of 21 attempts for 116 yards and the two touchdowns and rushed three times for 13 yards and that initial score.

Tarkenton, the 37-year-old Minnesota quarterback, hit 10 of 27 for 108 yards and had two picked off-both by cornerback Pat Thomas. And both led to scores by Los Angeles. Thomas commented, "It was great to be in position where you could get those balls. You have to give credit to the defensive line which kept the pressure on Tarkenton all night." Haden said he called most of the plays

Officials Have Power To End Gridiron Mayhem

Perhaps Pete Rozelle's little letter wasn't enough. Perhaps it's getting to the point where the commissioner of the National Football League is going to say, in effect, "It's time we made an example of someone

Let's hope it doesn't reach that point

Let's hope he lets the guys who get paid to enforcethe laws do their job.

Let's hope he demands it.

If Rozelle chooses, he can single out Mel Morgan of Cincinnati, who flattened Pittsburgh's Jon Stallworth, or Mel Blount of Pittsburgh, who leveled Cincinnati's Bob Trumpy, each in a game eight nights ago.

Or perhaps he could choose someone from Baltimore or New England. Last Sunday a few guys on the Colts and Patriots wound up late-hitting and swinging at each other.

Or he could choose someone from almost any club. At least once a game someone gets belted.

Good, hard football is one thing. After all, the fans who pay $10 or $15 a ticket for a few hours of entertainment aren't in the mood to watch touch football. They want to see their guys go all out.

But when push comes to shove, hit comes to concussion and tackle comes to fracture, it's time for somebody to do

It's up to Rozelle-but not up in his office.

He has before him the cases of Morgan and Blount. He could fine or suspend either a player-a week and a half or so after the fact. Whether he does or doesn't is not the point. The point is, the commissioner, who sent a pre-season message to all 28 NFL clubs warning that excessive violence department and should take a stand, too. 'I think it's the coaches' fault because some allow it to go on," Vermeil said from his vantage point as the coach of a last-place team. "They see the films after the game and they can do something about it. When we see it, we correct it. We relatively healthy instead of wounded? And does he really expect the rest of the coaches to voluntarily say, "Now, fellows, things are getting a bit nasty out there on the field, so why don't we take it a bit easier, hmmm? don't we take it a bit easier, hmmm?"

There are probably a dozen coaches whose teams have winning records sniffing at Vermeil's comments. Observations of a loser, they're saving

Vermeil's stance is laudable. But it's not going to change

What's going to do the job is a referee, head linesman, field judge or some other official pointing at a guy the moment the foul takes place and saying, "You're gone!"

Sloan pointed to three major areas about Texas which impressed him.

First, they have an outstanding kicking game, probably better than A&M's, since (Russell) Erxleben is such a great punter, as well as field-goal kicker.

Then, they have so much speed. I don't think I've seen any team as fast overall. They have three receivers who run 9.5, 9.5 and 9.1.

'And, they have several outstanding football players-and surrounding them are others playing superb football.

Andy Thomas should be ready to return to defensive end, the coach said, and linebacker Mike Mock and defensive tackle Curtis Reed are improving. "I hope (linebacker) Mike McCright should be better.

"We're not going to concede Campbell any yardage." Sloan said, turning the conversation back to the Longhorn fullback. "A lot depends on how often they run him-we think maybe 35 times-but. I have a lot of confidence in our de-

He explained, "It wasn't in the game plan. Harrah kept telling me all through the third quarter that it would work. More or less to shut him up, I called it."

The play was a slant through the right side of the line and the 257-pound Harrah said, "John Williams and I got together at halftime and between ourselves we changed our blocking assignments on the

"The idea was to let linebacker Matt Blair come through, I would block him to the left and Williams would move to the right. That's what we did and it gave Tyler the running room that he needed."

Earlier, a 13-yard run by rookie Tyler from UCLA set up a one-yard touchdown plunge by John Cappelletti.

We're all going to be out there wearing skirts," said the Pittsburgh Steeler tackle, upset by what he sees as misdirected and excessive efforts to control violence on the field.

'We're all going to be wearing fashion panty hose before long," Greene added in a tone that was hardly dainty after a win Sunday over Houston.

To Greene, the referees have been lax in taking immediate action against 'flagrant fouls' - NFL jargon for downright dirty plays.

"The referees aren't doing the job. Throw the player out of the game and penalize the team," said Greene. He also tackled network television

"The TV networks got Rozelle running," Greene said.

He referred to NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle, who met Monday in New York with cornerbacks Mel Blount of the Steelers and Mel Morgan of the Cincinnati Bengals to discuss hits they made in a game here.

It remains to be seen what action Rozeelle takes against the two. In the game, Morgan drew a 15-yard penalty after his one-handed belt to the head of Steeler receiver John Stallworth. Blount got no penalty later when he hit Bengal receiver Bob Trumpy, cracking his face mask and knocking him cold But ABC broadcasters Frank Gifford and Don Meredith threw their own yellow flags on Blount. "It's another hit that, well, it shouldn't take place like this

There isn't any room in football for it," said Gifford. "I agree, Frank," said Meredith.

Greene didn't agree. To him Blount's hit was hard-nosed football.

By the action, the committee hoped to have the probation lifted and also hoped that the NCAA will decide to have the ineligibility of the two players lifted or at least shortened.

"I had a gut feeling that this was coming, but it was still a shock," he said. Thompson had been accused of selling

Sunday

FORT WORTH (UPI) - That seemingly terminal case of down in the dumps has been cured at Texas Christian University.

Dr. F.A. Dry and his group of young interns have found just the right medi-

"Whatever was left of the down feeling has been destroyed," Dry said Monday. "Actually, our freshman players were never a part of it. It wasn't ingrained in them at all.

"And the older players have become better because of the enthusiasm the youngsters are showing. Whatever was here in the past has been totally wiped

What was at TCU in the past, of course, was a losing habit. The habit lasted 15 straight games, and it was hard to break. But the Horned Frogs have put together two straight victories - one that was expected over the Rice Owls and one that was totally unexpected against the Miami Hurricane

And this week the Horned Frogs catch the University of Houston at just the right time, when the Cougars are trying to regroup following a season full of disappointments. 'Against Miami (a game TCU won 21-17 with a touchdown in the final two minutes), there was no lull period," said the first-year Horned Frogs coach. "We had no ups and downs. It was all level.

"And we had a chance to quit right there in the first quarter. We give them a fumble and a pass interception and a partially blocked punt. They had three excellent chances and all they got out of it was two field goals.

Dry, who came to TCU this year from Tulsa, knew the situation was a difficult one when he took the job. But as the weeks went by he discovered the task was going to be harder than he thought.

"I was surprised after our first game (against SMU) how much we lacked fundamentally," he said. "And I realized we had to continue teaching fundamentals all year. "We couldn't worry about how many offensive plays our players knew or how many defensive formations we could use. We just had to worry about executing - how to block and tackle. I know that sounds like an old cliche. But it is so important. And we had to improve on our poise, which really hurt us early in the season. We had an awful lot of penalties. Dry's stress of fundamentals has obviously paid off, particularly on defense.

We still need to improve, of course. the coach said. "But we are probably 80 per cent better on defense than we were in the first game.

We are so very young and our players have had a hard time getting together as a team. They had to learn that what they did had to coincide with what the guy next to them did and that what they both did coordinated with the whole

"During the week off we had before Miami we spent several sessions simply on tackling and how to get into position to tackle and how to cover, how to break on the football, how to strip the ball loose when the runner is carrying it poorly

Dry, naturally, doesn't buy the theory that his Horned Frogs are in excellent position for another upset.

All we can do is to try to make the best of our opportunities." he said. "Bill Yeoman is too good a coach to let Houston get down. The Cougars are going to be around, you can bet on that.

Bill is a very good friend of mine and I have a high regard for him. I know he will get his team together. But I hope he waits until a week from Saturday to do

Cowboys

DALLAS (UPI) - The Dallas Cowboys had trouble reaching a competitive edge against the Philadelphia Eagles last Sunday. At least, in the minds of the players they did.

"This was the kind of game you wanted to hurry up and get over with and hope you win by one point," said Dallas linebacker Thomas Henderson following the Cowboys' 16-10 win over the Eagles.

"It amazes me to play like that and still win," said Jay Saldi, the backup tight end whose fourth quarter block of a punt was the turning point of the

But if Dallas had trouble getting up for the Eagles, what are they going to do this week after looking at films of the Detroit Lions.

Detroit comes to Texas Stadium next Sunday and produced little to scare anybody last Sunday in losing to the previously winless San Francisco 49ers 28-7. But if Dallas does win it would mark the first time in the Cowboys history that they have gone unbeaten through the first half of the season. The Cowboys have actually been a little stale in their last two games. Coach Tom Landry said following Dallas win over Washington two Sundays ago that his team was without emotion during the first half. Against Philadelphia, the Cowboys appeared to be without emotion for both halves. "Everybody knew we were flat," said Landry. "We kept trying to get ourselves up, but you don't get up on Sunday. If you're not ready by Sunday, there's not much vou can do. "But, just like in our earlier games, we hung tough. That continues to be a good characteristic about this club. Somebody had to make a big play and it was made "That's been the history of this club so far. "We didn't seem to be on or up like we should have been," said flanker

Drew Pearson, who dropped a pass near the goal line but caught four others for

"It's lucky we played the way we did and got out with a win. But that's what Joins AP good teams are supposed to do - to play like that and still win.'

'I don't know what the statistics showed (they showed Philadelphia gained only 113 yards on the ground), said defensive tackle Bill Gregory, "but I felt like they were pushing us around in the middle all day.

'We thought we had them in control, but they still did some things we didn't want them to do. But we won. That's the big thing."

Fem Golf

HOUSTON (AP) - Freshman Alicia Ogrin of Oklahoma State University fired a four-under-par 67 Monday for a 36-hole 138 and a six-stroke lead in the third annul Houston Baptist University's Women's Golf Invitational.

The University of Florida took the team lead with a two-day total 299, four strokes better than first-day leader Texas with 613

Southern Methodist was third in team play with 614 followed by Oklahoma State 616 and Houston Baptist 621

Lori Garbacz of Florida was second in individual competition with a 144 and Sherry Donovan of Houston Baptist was third at 146.

Longhorns

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas muffed eight possible pass interceptions and made several mental mistakes in getting penalized 108 yards, but coach Fred Akers says the Longhorns' 30-14 victory over Southern Methodist was better than av-

"It was not just average," Akers told his weekly news conference. "Our defense against the rush was outstanding." and except for a 49-yard pass completion we played very well defensively.

He also said he was impressed with Texas' "quick striking power" as it rolled up 20 points late in the first half to take a 20-7 halftime lead.

Johnnie Johnson got Texas' only interception although freshman quarterback Mike Ford of SMU threw 46 passes.

Ford completed 21 for 253 yards and two touchdowns — the first in six games against Texas' first-team 'defense. Akers said Texas dropped possible interceptions on both of SMU's touchdown

"I haven't seen that many opportunities missed before," Akers said of Texas' inability to latch onto errant passes Maybe we got it out of our system.

Asked if being No. 1 offered any "spe cial incentives" to his team, Akers said the Longhorns "have done a great job of taking games one at a time.

"I'm not getting concerned over problems we can't control - polls being one of those things," Akers said:

Akers said the coaching staff had for the fourth week in a row selected running back Earl Campbell as the most valuable offensive player for Texas. Campbell ran 32 times for a personal record of 213 yards, including a 58-yard touchdown dash.

Akers said it was probably the best offensive performance in the nation.

The coaches selected senior co-captain Morgan Copeland, who had 13 tackles, ur behind the line of scrir mage, as the best defender in close competition with sophomore middle linebacker Lance Taylor, who also had 13

Akers said of Copeland, "Some of his tackles you could hear 'em.

Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers' reasoning in Sunday's 27-10 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers appeared to be that a one-legged Dan Pastorini was better than John Hadl on two legs at quarterback. Oilers coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips said Monday however that subbing Hadl for the hobbled Pastorini wouldn't have helped the Oilers' situation. Pastorini, obviously hindered in mobility by a sprained ankle, played the entire game while the 37-year old Hadl watched from the sidelines. Pastorini was sacked five times and threw five interceptions.

Hadl's popularity with the Houston fans has dipped since he threw a pair of interceptions two weeks ago that led to a Cleveland victory over the Oilers.

I guess we could have used him (Hadl) since we were on the road," Phillips said, referring to Hadl's unpopularity with Oilers fans. "But it wouldn't have helped."

Phillips said Houston's game plan was based on Pastorini playing and being able to move. The game plan did not include roll out passes however.

"We couldn't put in a plan of attack where we roll the quarterback away from the rush on passing situations, Phillips said.

but that's only one reason he likes the off

The other reason? It comes before the Floydada game. Presently, Idalou is the only 4-AA team without a loss in league play as the district schedule reaches its halfway point this week.

Thus, the Wildcats' chances of their first league crown as a AA school may be only a victory away. But don't tell Ritchey that. Three of Idalou's four shutouts have come on the road and the state's No. 4 team has scored fewer than 22 points in only one game- that on the road against Class A Petersburg.

The state rankings have helped us, but at times we've been a little overconfident," Ritchey says. "A couple of time we've played poorly and I think it's because we took opponents too lightly. But, overall, I think the kids are proud of where they're ranked.

"Naturally, we'd like to win the next two, but we'd also like to get in the playoffs any way we can. But, at the same time, we'd like to play as well as we can while we're getting into the playoffs." Floydada, the perennial 4-AA champ must face Idalou on the road. "I think that's a benefit to us in that it's just a little bit more convenient to play at home

NEW YORK (Special) - ABC-TV announced Monday it would televise five college football games Saturday on a regional basis, but the slate does not include Southwest Conference teams.

There had been indications that the Texas Tech-at-Texas game would be shown, but Monday morning, officials of the two schools were notified their game was not on the list

Talking about his schedule, Ritchey said he felt Idalou's two league foes to date (Tulia and Abernathy) have "been pretty good and played extremely well against us. We're just happy to be in this position (2-0, 8-0) and hope we can improve some the next three weeks."

Assessing his team, Ritchey said he felt backs Larry Murphy, who has more than 1,000 yards rushing, and Ricky Hobbs, who has passed the 650 mark, have both run the ball well along with quarterback Paige Burlesmith.

Buckles Bryant has blocked well as the wingback and also caught the ball well. Defensively, Bryant (safety), Danny Weems (end), Robert Anciso (end), Ken ny Phillips (tackle) and Dwain Bunting (end) have played well. "We really haven't had any stars. But we do have a bunch with real good attitudes, who play real good together as a team and make each other look pretty

Before the postponement of the fight on energy taxes, Sen: James Abourezk, D-S.D., tried and failed in an attempt to have the bill ruled out of order on procedural grounds.

It was Abourezk along with Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who led last month's Senate filibuster on another key portion of Carter's energy plan, the pricing of interstate natural gas.

In the House-Senate negotiations over the energy plan, House members of the conference committee voted 23-1 against the Senate proposal to outlaw the manufacture of fuel-inefficient cars. But the committee is free to consider the proposal again later.

To Resubmit

Later, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who sponsored the ban in the Senate, said he will modify the proposal and submit it again to conferees. He said he was hopeful there could be a compro-

The restriction on automakers would have begun in 1980 with cars that got less than 16 miles on a gallon of gasoline. Instead. House conferees indicated they planned to stick by the administration's gas-guzzler tax.

Since Senate conference leaders indicated an equally strong intention to stand behind the rival Senate plan for a ban, the development produced the first maior apparent deadlock of the conference committee.

Meanwhile. President Carter raised again the possibility that he might cancel a planned four-continent trip scheduled to begin on Nov. 22 if Congress does not complete work on the energy bill by then Trip Contingent

More than 70 senators were on the floor when Humphrey entered the chamber at 2 p.m. The galleries were filled.

For five minutes senators and onlookers applauded while the Minnesota Democrat moved around the chamber shaking hands. He embraced Robert C. Byrd, who beat him in the contest for majority leader, and Vice President Walter F. Mondale, his Minnesota protege.

The long fight with cancer has wasted his body, but the Humphrey grin was broad as he acknowledged the prolonged applause.

Rarely are so many senators on the floor. Never are spectators in the galleries encouraged to demonstrate their suphe spoke longer than all of them com-"I got wound up," apologized Humphrey. "I didn't intend to be that long,

Mexico Prisoner Swap Approved By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House gave final congressional approval Tuesday to a measure that could bring several hundred Americans imprisoned in Mexico back to this country by Christmas. The vote was 400-15.

The bill establishes the rules and procedures to implement treaties authorizing transfers of prisoners between the United States and Mexico and the United States and Canada

The prime beneficiaries are expected to be the estimated 600 Americans held in Mexico. Most were convicted of acting as couriers for drug smuggling operations, the State Department says.

When the Mexican treaty takes effect, 30 days after President Carter signs the enabling legislation, most of those prisoners will be eligible to apply for repatriation. The Justice Department says an initial survey of those jailed in Mexico indicated that about 300 would be eligible and willing to return. To be eligible, a prisoner must have at least six months remaining on his sentence and have no active appeals under way in Mexican courts. The prisoner must voluntarily waive his right to seek freedom from a U.S. court by challenging the procedures used to convict him.

That waiver requirement gave pause to many constitutional experts, who felt it might be unconstitutional to allow an American to waive such a fundamental right. Doubts about it partly accounted for the 11-month delay between signing of the treaty last year and final congressional approval.

The bill stipulates that a prisoner cannot waive his appeal rights without the See PRISONER Page 14

Scotland Yard 'Minus Guns, Politics

By CANDY SAGON Avalanche-Journal Staff

TO MOST AMERICANS, the major difference between British and American policemen is in the guns they each carry. British policemen, for the most part, don't.

However, the former head of the London Metropolitan Police (of which Scotland Yark is headquarters) said here Tuesday the differences between the U.S. and British criminal and justice systems go much further than merely guns.

We have no district attorneys. none of our judges are elected, and the police do the prosecuting of criminals." Sir Robert Mark told an audience at Texas Tech Tues-

"There were 565 murders in England last year, about twothirds of the number killed in Detroit alone," Mark said. "An average of one to two British policemen are killed annually, and in the past 32 years British Service police have killed only four civilians." Mark said he does not intend to criticize the American police force or justice system. "After all, (England's) system is not perfect."

And Mark should know. He orchestrated one of the most widely publicized and controversial police reform campaigns in the history of Scotland Yard.

When Mark took over in 1972, Scotland Yard was being rocked by a series of earlier probes that revealed corruption and scandal in the police organization's top investigative division.

Detectives were being accused of accepting bribes and cultivating too close relationships with the criminals they were supposedly keeping an eye on.

Mark set about reforming the police force in a series of moves which included setting up a new branch, known as A10, under which both uniformed and plainclothes policemen could be investigated for misdeeds.

Corrupt detectives were brought to trial as a result of the Mark clean-up campaign, and nearly 200 officers were dismissed.

Retired now from the force, Mark says corruption is always a risk in any police force. "And if you can't prevent it, you've got to catch up and deal with it."

He said police corruption usually begins from one of three sources. The first source is the detective who doesn't believe in the system of justice and bends the rules to achieve the conviction of someone See FORMER HEAD Page 14

By BOB CONRAD

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) - The American Heart Association says diseases of the heart will account for 52 percent of all deaths in the nation this year.

First In A Series

I came closer to being one of those statistics than I like to think about. This is the story of that experience. It should be subtitled The Diary of a Fool.

If you are going to have a heart attack, a doctor's office is as good a place as any, and that's how it happened with me.

But let's back up at least a couple of years because that is how it began with me, and it illustrates how stupid I was to ignore the warning signals I had.

The American Heart Association says, "No heart attack is really sudden ... Coronary disease has in all likelihood been building over the years, helped along by the patient who has ignored the risk factors and failed to heed the early warning

In the first place, there was a history of heart trouble in my family. My father and mother had it. A heart attack killed my

A couple of years ago, I noticed that slight exertion or mental strain would produce pressure in my upper chest that made me slow down or stop what I was doing. Like the night I had 10 minutes to make a deadline when I was covering President Ford on a visit to Newport, R.I.

I tried jogging to a phone booth and the pressure hit me. I made it by two minutes. But that was one of many such instances that were to bug me in the months ahead and I did nothing about it. I usually figured it was indigestion.

XXXX

I also thought it was because I was a rather uptight guy and more frequent and intense. And there were other signs, like awakening in the night choking desperately to get my breath.

I was all too easily fatigued. But I thought that was just because I was getting to be an old goat and you have to expect to slow down. Then I found I couldn't walk up a slight grade without having to absolutely stop in my tracks. 'Waiting can be fatal." That's what the American Heart Asso

The signs can differ with the individual. They may involve pains in the shoulders or arms, dizziness, shortness of breath, This went on until last winter, when the pressure would build up several times every day, and I had to make excuses for avoiding walking with people from the parking lot to the Capitol because I had to stop and wait for it to subside.

Then, during the week before Easter, I found I was losing sensation in my left arm - another clear sign. I booked an appointment with a heart specialist. The night I got there, he took one look at the electrocardiogram tape and booted me right into the Coronary occlusion. That was the name for my problem. As every school kid knows, the heart is a big muscle that pumps blood throughout the body. In my case, a main section of the plumbing for the return of blood to the heart had become almost totally "occluded" - or shut off. The auxiliary system the body builds when the main plumbing gets rusted out wasn't doing the job. About three weeks of special care in the hospital with medication and intravenous feeding and oxygen and total rest began to turn things around.

Many other conditions can contribute to heart disease and produce heart attacks. Medical science can cope with these roubles most of the time

But it needs a little help from people who are affected. That means using the old brain, if a person suspects trouble. Maybe the diet is wrong or includes too much salt. Maybe smoking is a contributing cause. I quit smoking about 15 years ago.

But the key is a checkup. That's the part I almost flunked.

A panel of federal referees known as The Board of Geographic Names - representing the collective wisdom of agencies ranging from the Post Office to the CIA - heard arguments in the dispute over whether North America's highest mountain should be renamed "Denali." a Tanana Indian term meaning "The Great

Rep. Ralph Regula, a Republican from McKinley's Ohio homestate district, said the assassinated president deserves the hohor and, besides, if America starts adopting original Indian place names. where will it all stop.

The Denali forces appeared to have the upper hand, although more hearings are in store, because Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus will eventually decide the issue Spokesmen said Andrus is a Denali man But Regula battled hard before a fivemember panel of the Board of Georgraphic Names

Former Marine Found Guilty In Klan Rally Assault Case

Marine who said he despised racism was convicted Tuesday of eight counts of aggravated assault for ramming his car into a Ku Klux Klan rally in President Carter's hometown.

After 13 hours of deliberation, a jury of six blacks and six whites convicted Buddy Cochran, 30, of Americus of breaking up the July 2 rally in Plains at which at least 32 persons were injured, none of them Klansmen

The jury reported Tuesday morning it was deadlocked, but was sent by Judge William F. Blanks back to the jury room

The jury foreman, Thelma J. Beecham, wept slightly as she delivered the verdict about 3 p.m.

Cochran's wife Mary Sue also cried, but Cochran remained calm.

No sentencing date has been set, but Blanks said Cochran will be sent to Central State Hospital in Milledgeville for mental testing prior to sentencing. He could receive a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison on each count. Defense attorney Robert Bryan said he

He said racism has "a place in the trial because it has a place in Buddy's mind," adding. "The real issue is what state Cochran's mind was in at the time. Buddy's state of mind was certainly not the behavior of a normal person."

Cochran testified that his closest friend in the Marines was a black man who "got me through overseas" and later was killed in Vietnam. He also said he had seen two black Marines who had been hanged in North Carolina shortly after a Klan rally was held nearby

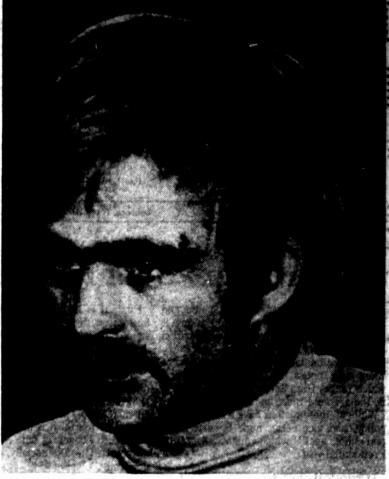

A psychiatrist said Cochran identified strongly with his country as a result of military training and considered racism un-American.

But Sumter County Dist. Atty. Claude Morris said, "If Cochran blacked out, it was because of his voluntary state of intoxication. He was looking for trouble and when he couldn't find any, he started some himself.

Scheel said that if the government had bowed to the kidnapers' demands and released 11 jailed terrorists, "that would probably have been the start of the wild fire of which I spoke."

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and his cabinet joined leaders of German industry and business in paying respects to Schleyer, who was found shot to death last Wednesday in an abandoned car in Mulhouse, France.

Schlever, 62, was abducted Sept. 5 by the Red Army Faction. Police believe he was slain last Tuesday after West German commandos foiled an air hijacking staged to reinforce his abductors demands. Three terrorists on the kidnapers' ransom list were found dead in their cells that day in what the government called suicides

Their deaths triggered attacks on German property throughout Europe by extremists who believed the three were murdered The foreign ministry announced Tuesday it was stepping up security at West German embassies and consulates around the world.

when one notes the projected itinerary, which ranges from South America to Nigeria, India, Iran, France and Poland.

While all these nations have a stake in U.S. Presidential visit.

ALTHOUGH THE White House has held out the possibility of a delay in the journey if the energy bill is being debated hotly at that point, plans now are for Mr. Carter to leave Nov. 22 and return Dec. 3.

First stop will be Caracas, Venezuela, a nation which supplies, at a hefty price, much of this nation's oil needs. The next stop will be Brasilia, Brazil, with whom Mr. Carter has had his differences over his human rights stance.

Next on the agenda is Lagos, Nigeria, not exactly a key point in the African dilemma. In quick order after that will be New Delhi, India, Tehran, Iran, Paris, Warsaw and

AFTER THAT, Mr. Carter will return to Washington where he still is regarded as an enigma within a puzzle-almost as much of one as he is in some of the nations he will

In fact, Mr. Carter's critics claim part of the reason for the trip is to take the nation's mind off a number of problems at home, from the Lance affair to the stalled energy program.

Zbigniew Brezinski, the President's national security adviser, says the purpose of the trip is four-fold.

IN VIEW OF his troubles at home and First, it is to conduct important bilateral abroad, one can be forgiven for asking if business with nations with "which we have significant relations." Second, it is "to underline traditional ties of alliances, of be-

And fourth, it is to symbolize our willreal "hot spot" which might suggest a ingness to cooperate with systems that are different than ours socially, politically, eco-

> IN EFFECT, the trip is an expression of the President's stated commitment to the promotion of constructive change, worldwide, and of America's engagement in that

That's a pretty big order, and is subject to all sorts of interpretations. Does that mean the President is willing to back down on his criticism of Brazil's human rights position? Does it mean a bid for holding the line on oil prices in Venezuela?

Does it mean even closer ties with the Shah of Iran and his devastating military force, which we have helped him build? Can the President placate a France splintered by Socialism, Communism and indecision? Will he urge greater freedom and human rights

One can see from the questions alone that the President faces some toughies. We wish him well on his journey and hope it indeed does aid in better understanding

Meanwhile, back home, there's still Inflation, the Energy problem, and a feeling that what we need is someone who will start acting as a leader. Such an image here might go a long way toward leaving the same feeling

M. STANTON EVANS:

Stick Out Your Tongue And Try To Say 'Aahhh'

WASHINGTON-Advocates of national health insurance might have a more persuasive case to make if they could cite a country where such a system has actually worked.

The favorite example used to be Great Britain, which has had a national health service since 1948. But it has long since become apparent that the British system is in serious trouble

Enormous waiting lists, assembly-line medicine and a general deterioration of medical care have been the end results of government control of health care delivery in that country.

So perceiving, the advocates of NHI switched over for a time to Sweden, which went in for socialized medicine in the 1960s. In short order, however, all the problems that had plagued the British system popped up in Sweden, too, so still another model was required.

This led the NHI proponents to Canada, which didn't nationalize its health delivery services until 1969, and where the results have been slower in Canada, we have been told, is the place where socialized medicine really works, and whose example the United States should be induced to fol-

NOW, HOWEVER, WE are getting the readouts on the Canadian system, and, astonishingly enough, they conform quite closely to the experience of Sweden and Great Britain. Such, at any event, is the informative testimony of Dr. William Goodman of Ontario, who is chief of otolaryngology at North York Branson Hospital, a professor at the University of Toronto Medical School and a careful student of medical eco-His analysis of the Canadian situation is impressive. He points out that in his province of Ontario, the overcrowding of facilities, ballooning of expenditure and resulting official efforts at rationing have closely followed the British pattern. On his discussion, the Canadian "success" with NHI is a dismal failure like all the rest.

THE PROBLEM WITH such a system, according to Dr. Goodman, is rooted in some simple facts of economics: when people are told they can have a valuable service "free." they rush to take advantage of the offer.

Demand (and government bills for health care) rapidly increase. Government then reacts to the problem it has created by rationing health care imposing cost controls, trying to limit physician services, deploying a network of bureaucratic regulations

Dr. Goodman points out that the Ontario provincial budget for health care increased from $72 million in 1970, the first year of the service, to $788 million in 1975, a hike of almost 1,000 per

The province, in part as a result of this expenditure, is deep in debt. If the trend keeps up, without any major change in patterns of official spending, "the entire provincial budget will be used for health services alone by 1985.

REACTING TO THESE runaway spending figures, the government has set up a massive system of controls: limiting the number of places in medical schools, discouraging immigration of doctors and directly or indirectly encouraging other doctors to leave the country.

Moreover, the physicians who remain are actively discouraged from seeing more than a certain number of patients. Hospital wings and other medical facilities, meantime, are being closed.

In other words, the perverse effect of government intervention in the medical economy has been to reduce access to medical care-first by flooding the system with unlimited demand, then by trying to correct this original mistake through vernment controls.

In Canada as in Britain, similar causes bring similar effects. We may be certain the same results will follow in the United States, and in fact have already begun to do so.

TO WHAT EXTENT should a City go in setting an example for its citizens in the matter of ecology, pollution and overall esthetics? It is a legitimate question, considering the burgeoning growth in Lubbock and some of the problems associated with the need for more lighting, wider streets and other facilities. Some time ago, it will be recalled, there was more than a small furor over the installation of those towering monstrosities on 34th Street, more or less accomplished without benefit of prior public hearing. Now and then, various thoroughfares have had to be widened, utility poles and lines moved and steps taken which haven't exactly been pleasing to homeowners involved.

LEGALLY, THE City owns the parkways. However, the homeowner or businessman is obligated to keep the parkway up. Which means clean, in grass, rocks, pebbles or something-and

So, Okay. But, when the City decides to widen a street, it seems to us that the least the planners could do would be to try not to place utility lines. light poles and such in a manner which would detract from the property.

Granted, Progress is a great thing. And in the final analysis, what is good for the common good is supposed to be good for all.

But, we can think of one or two "fer instances" where this isn't necessarily so. Currently, a major project is underway on Slide Road between 34th and 50th Street, where a widening job is on the books. All sorts of things have had to be moved. including utility lines. It's too bad the latter couldn't be placed underground, but we understand the cost factor. The problem is that Progress also can be costly in the matter of esthetics And some attention should be given to what happens in that area.

SLIDE ROAD Sam Says: Sunday is the day we bow our heads-some to pray, some to putt

THE OFFICE Philosopher Opines that the man who said he would rather be right than president probably realized how impossible it is to be both.

SPEAKING OF Slide Road, we note that the City is installing a control light at 42nd St on the busy speedway.

It doesn't come a decade too late

For years, that mile-long segment of town has been Dragway Unlimited. There have been numerous wrecks on the thoroughfare, including some with fatalities

If the powers that be at City Hall are really serious about cutting down on speeders, fatalities and perhaps adding to the coffers in the process. one or two patrol cars in that area a couple or three nights a week would do wonders. And it might even help save the good motorists!

Pacific News Service "Take a deep breath," the speaker said. In the vast, darkened room, about 900 people inhaled. A soothing slide of Yosemite Valley was projected on the wall. Now hold for a count of five, and slowly exhale.

By LESLIE GOODMAN-MALAMUTH

The hall was filled with a gentle rushing sound, then was quiet. "Take five of these deep breaths, and with each exhalation give yourself the suggestion that you are feeling more and more relaxed," said Carl Thoresen, one of the country's leading experts on stress.

Thoresen, a behavioral therapist who heads a research program at Stanford University, was demonstrating an exercise to relieve insomnia, one of many ailments arising from inability to cope with stress.

He spoke at a symposium of health professionals who met in San Francisco recently to discuss the phenomenon of stress and its effects on health. The gathering was sponsored by the University of California Medical Center, the Institute for the Study of Human knowledge and the International Institute of "The problems that stress can create in the individual can affect every aspect of man's physical and mental health," Thoresen says. Some people become short-tempered and irritable. Others feel helpless, lose their self-confidence and motivation. Still others develop headaches, tight muscles, increased heart rate and blood pressure, depression, fatigue and insomnia.

'The common response to stress in our society is to say, 'I want to go back to a simpler time," Thoresen says. Yet each person can create a "simpler time" by learning to relax and rearrange his or her life so as to avoid chronic stress patterns.

Therapist Suggests Keys To Coping With Stress

In his Self-Management Research Program at Stanford, Thoresen aims to help people make the necessary changes.

He recommends that his clients stop work one hour before bedtime to allow time for relaxation before sleep. If still troubled, they are urged to breathe deeply while focusing on a single pleasant image. Once relaxed, they instruct themselves: "This is not the time to worry. I will think about problems tomorrow."

To encourage a wiser use of time, Thoresen urges people to keep a log of personal activities so they can find out which ones cause them stress To improve the self-image, he suggests writing down three positive thoughts

"People's reactions to stress are a result of habit," Thoresen says. "They may lack the skills to do anything differently, but as they become more aware of negative behavioral patterns, they can learn to form healthier and more construc-

Such learning is particularly important for people stress researchers have labeled "Type A." These are intenssely driven, aggressive, impatient people who suffer from habitual sense of urgency. They chronically try to do too much in too little time. They are usually urban dwellers. Type A behavior has been correlated with coronary illness by Drs. Ray Rosenman and Meyer Priedman of San Prancisco. The stress they place on them-selves may be as dangerous to their hearts as smoking, improper eating habits or lack of exercise, the two cardiologists have found. Yet stress in itself is not the cause of allments, contended Dr. Hans Selye, 70, president of the International Institute of Stress in Montreal and the man who first identified the stress phenomenon. Some people thrive on stress, he pointed

"You have to run at your own pace," he said. "You have to know where you want to run and find your own stress level and don't let anybody tell you you have to run as fast as you can to win. A turtle can't run faster than a race

What's important, he said, is self-acceptance and self-knowledge: "Most people don't know where they want to go. But no wind blows in favor of a ship that has no destination.

More than 120,000 books and articles relating to stress have been published since 1956, when Dr. Selye's The Stress of Life appeared. It was the fruit of a discovery he made as a medical student in Vienna, a discovery as important as it was simple: he observed that all the patients he treated had one similar characteristic - they looked sick.

Selve called this characteristic "the syndrome of just being sick" and presented the concept to his professors. "They all thought I was crazy," he recalled.

Yet on that key perception, Selye built others that eventually led to a new view of sickness as an interplay between mind and body, organism and environ-

Movie Houses No Longer Free Of Commercials

NEW YORK (AP) - If you hope to escape the noisy barrage of commercials on television by taking in a movie, you may be in for an unpleasant surprise. Starting today, up to three minutes of commercials will appear before feature films on the silver screens in 1,800 theaters in major U.S. cities

But the big-screen commercials won't be as obnoxious as many of those on television, says a spokesman for one theater chain.

Because the cost of the movie commercials is high - about $18 per 1,000 viewers compared with about $4 per 1,000 viewers for many television commercials industry officials expect a "high class" product in the movie houses.

Trade Head Urges More Awareness

HOUSTON (AP) - The chairman of the U.S. International Trade Commission said Tuesday governmental intervention in economic affairs at times "seems an expedient way of uniting unresponsiveness with confusion.

Daniel Minchew, speaking a conference of the Center of International Business, said during the past "two years, I have been very hard on the federal government for its lack of efficiency and attentiveness in the international trade

"The government has truly been slow to respond to the increasing importance of international trade over the past decade. Government is the most conspicuous offender in this area, but business and the general public must also share in any of the criticism.

Minchew then called on the federal government to become more aware and to "accelerate the pace in responding to the needs of international trade and the problems that result from this complex and challenging issue. The Center of International Business was formed to develop international trade and investment and to create a greater public awareness of the importance of international business

Also speaking at the conference was Henry P. de Vries, director of the Inter-American Law Center at Columbia University, who said:

"United States regulations imposed on enterprises organized or doing business abroad impinges on the sovereignty of foreign nations. We have ignored the lessons of history, that politically-motivated trade controls and boycotts are not only costly, but are ineffective as a means of compulsion

No other nation, Dr. de Vries said, "has so expanded the scope of its domestic legislation, expecially in antitrust, to the point of exercising regulatory control over the economic activities of other countries

He suggested that the executive branch of the government continue its decisionmaking policies over import control, but that export controls should be "subjected to congressional review and revision

Mandel Considers New Career As Air Commentator

BALTIMORE (AP) - Maryland's suspended governor may do a series of political commentaries on radio and television, says his former chief of staff

Frank A. DeFilippo, the former aide, said Marvin Mandel had been approached by a group of businessmen willing to back the venture DeFilippo also said that one radio station has expressed interest in the project. Neither the busine essmen nor the station were identified. The topics of such a commentary series would be "anything from the Panama Canal to your local sewage problems," said DeFilippo, now president of an advertising agency. "I mean, he has that breadth of knowledge.

mercials, not the kind of hard-sell commercial you see on TV for deodorants," said one spokesman.

"They'll be scenes like beautiful footage of skydivers falling through the sky and landing into logos of soft-drinks. That sort of thing.'

In addition, spokesmen say that, unlike TV commercials, the movie ads will not interfere with the continuity of the show.

"Sure, the initial reaction might be resentment," said a spokesman for New York-area movie exhibitors. "After all, people leave their homes and televisions because they don't want to see commer-

But he and others involved in the new trend say commercials in movie theaters are needed to help offset declining earnings. And, under one plan, proceeds from the commercials will be used to produce movies to counter what some theater owners say is a shortage of films.

A few theaters around the country have been experimenting recently with local ads for neighborhood businesses and some theaters have for years used still slides to advertise local businesses. But two new operations are set to begin using the commericals in movie houses on a nationwide basis.

Roger Hautchuel, a Frenchman whose firm already sells $20 million worth of movie-house advertising each year to European clients, said the American operation will begin Wednesday in 1,800 walkin theaters in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and other major cities. Under Hautchuel's plan, each theater will run three minutes of commercials before each feature film. Movie-house owners will share in one-third of the pro-

Another firm, Cinemavision, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., plans to begin producing three-minute blocks of commercials by mid-November. Within three months, the firm expects to be serving 4,000 thea-

The two programs together would involve 5,800 theaters, most of them walkins. There are about 16,000 theaters, including drive-ins, in the United States.

Cinemavision spokesman Bill Woosley said some of the proceeds will go to a fund administered by a group which represents 5,500 exhibitors. The fund will be used to produce feature films to be offered for showing by theater owners who participate in the plan

The real problem (facing movie-house owners) is a terrible shortage of product." said a spokesman for one group of owners. The exhibitors also say that profit margins are slipping as major movie production companies demand high rentals for movies.

This makes it a very severe market and it's hard to survive," said Malcolm Green, a spokesman for a chain of 45 theaters in the Northeast. He said that without the advertising income, some theaters would have to close or boost ticket prices.

The industry spokesmen said research projects showed there would be little adverse movie-goer reaction to the commercials. But to help offset any possible resentment and criticism, many exhibitors are planning to distribute handbills to customers, explaining why the commercials are necessary

Inclusion Of Federal Workers In Social Security Opposed

ministration announced Tuesday it opposes bringing the seven million federal, state and local government workers under the Social Security system.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph A. Califano said in a letter to every member of the House that the administration wants the pending House bill on Social Security to be amended to leave the government workers out of Social Security

Participation in the Social Security system is now optional for the government workers and federal employes have lobbied hard to keep it that way

The issue is expected to come to the House floor Wednesday in a vote on an amendment by Rep. Joseph L. Fisher, D-Va The Fisher amendment would remove from the bill a provision extending Social Security to government workers.

The administration supports the amendment to be offered by Rep. Fisher." Califano said.

The committee-approved measure would provide for mandatory coverage of government workers, effective Jan. 1.

"We believe this is a complex matter that deserves careful study first, and an opportunity for the Congress to consider on what terms coordination of the different systems might best be accomplished, and an opportunity for the millions of affected employes to express their views," Califano said.

The Fisher amendment would eliminate mandatory coverage of government employes and instead authorize a study of ways to integrate these other retirement systems with Social Security.

The House Ways and Means Committee approved the provision as part of legislation to raise revenue for the Social Security system, which has been losing money in recent years.

The committee's plan also would raise the Social Security tax Workers earning $19,900 or more would pay $1,203 next year, or $238 more than this year's maximum payroll tax. Steeper increases would come later and all workers would have some increase in 1981. The employes' taxes are matched by employers.

Arab Emirates Assassinated

(AP) - A top official of the United Arab Emirates was shot and killed Tuesday in a burst of gunfire apparently meant for Syria's foreign minister.

Police sources said a white-robed Palestinian gunman from Syria was arrested while trying to hijack a Czechoslovak cargo plane after the shooting at Abu Dhabi airport, but three other gunmen escaped.

Saif bin Ghobash, 47, minister of state and No. 2 man in the foreign ministry, was shot while seeing off Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam. Ghobash suffered bullet wounds in the chest and arm and died at a nearby military

Khaddam, who was not harmed, later told reporters in Damascus there were several gunmen and "they came from Baghdad," seat of the government in Iraq. The two countries are ruled by rival factions of the socialist Baathist party.

Syria has blamed Iraq for several terrorist attacks in Damascus in the past year, including an attempt to assassinate Khaddam Dec. 1. Two gunmen on a motorcycle wounded him in the arm. The Syrian government is also opposed by extremist Palestinians who object to its stated willingness to reach a political settlement with Israel and its intervention that ended Lebanon's 1975-76 civil

There was little doubt in this emirate confederation at the mouth of the Persian Gulf that Khaddam, one of Syrian President Hafez Assad's closest advisers, was the target of Tuesday's attack.

Black Panther Newton Named As Girl's Slaye

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — An Oakland prostitute testified Tuesday that she saw Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton laughing over the body of the teen-aged streetwalker he is accused of murdering.

Testifying at Newton's pretrial hearing in Oakland Municipal Court, Raphaelle Gray, 32, told a jammed courtroom that Newton accosted her and Kathleen Smith after they had solicited him.

Miss Gray, a key state's witness in the case against the 35-year-old cofounder of the once-militant Black Panthers, was the target of an assassination attempt over the weekend, according to Deputy Alameda County Dist. Atty. Tom Orloif. Orloff said in court Monday that three

Sheldon Otis, Newton's attorney, objected to Orloff's comments Monday and denied that Newton was involved. He said the prosecutor's statements were "further indication of the government's effort to tarnish Newton's reputation."

The dead gunman, believed to have been killed in a shootout with a neighbor of Miss Gray but later found to have been killed by one of his companions, was identified as Louis T. Johnson, 27, whose last known address was Black Panther headquarters here.

A slight, articulate woman, Miss Gray gunmen tried to kill Miss Gray on Sunday testified Tuesday that she and Miss

She said she yelled, "Hey, baby" at a silver luxury car which first sped past them, then returned about 10 minutes later and parked.

She said Newton got out, approached and asked which one of them called him. When neither responded, she said, Newton struck Miss Smith with his fist.

Miss Gray said she asked Newton, "Hey, brother, why did you hit my girlfriend? She didn't do anything to you." At that point, she said, Newton pulled a small silver gun from his shirt pocket. According to her account, she yelled, "Run, Kathy, run," and then ran into a nearby hotel.

Several other prostitutes in the area also ran into the hotel but Miss Smith was not among them, Miss Gray said. Noticing her friend missing, Miss Gray said she started to run out when she heard a shot, then saw Newton standing over the

"He laughed," she said, adding that Miss Smith's assailant fled.

Throughout the testimony, Newton remained impassive, showing no emotion. In his cross examination, Otis sought to destroy the credibility of Miss Gray and cited a long list of aliases she used and asked if she denied having been arrested

Avalanche-Journal Staff For economic and other reasons, the City of Lubbock jail should be closed as soon as possible, with all prisoners booked directly into the Lubbock County Jail, an ad hoc committee of municipal and county officials said Tuesday.

The committee is of the unanimous opinion that there should be one and only one jail facility to serve all of the law enorcement agencies and governmental entities in Lubbock County, and that that facility should be the Lubbock County Jail," Criminal Dist. here necessitates "far too much duplication of effort" by the Lubbock Police Department and the Lubbock County Sheriff's Department Last year, Griffin said 2 600 prisoners were booked into the municipal jail, only to be transferred a day or two later to the county jail. Such transfers require manpower and repeated book-in procedures.

Griffin's committee suggested that "to eliminate any duplication... "It is further recommended that duplicates of all records pertaining to the arrest and booking of the criminals be prov-arrested by the police department are

Such cases now are filed in municipal court, and fines paid by the defendants are collected by the city, not the county.

The Federal Trade Commission claims Pillsbury's acquisition of Fox Deluxe Foods - for $3 million - gives it too big a share of the frozen pizza market at 16 per cent.

But Pillsbury says pizza is pizza, and that its share of the overall pizza market - frozen, dry mix, homemade and restaurant - is tiny.

Judge Dufresne wanted to see whether he could tell one kind of pizza from an-

Eventually, he will make a recommendation to the FTC on whether Pillsbury should get rid of Fox Deluxe Foods.

Pillsbury employes brought in 10 trays of pizza Tuesday, one at a time, and invited Defresne and others to sample and try to guess how it was made. Roger J. Leifer, FTC lawyer from Washington, D.C., protested the taste test as "unseemly and undignified" and refused to try the pizza. Pillsbury attorney John French suggested that one bite might be enough since the platter:

But Dufresne munched, sipped some water, munched again and again, and managed to down every bit of every sample.

When the tasting was done, Pillsbury witnesses revealed the sources - two pizzeria pies, five frozen brands, including two by Pillsbury's own Totino's and one by Fox; one refrigerated style; one made from a ready-made crust and one made from a dry mix. Dufresne didn't say how they tasted, but took notes after each piece.

Havnes did not disclose the identity of the proposed gunman, but told the jury in Davis' capital murder trial: "We intend to show the connection between W.T. Rufner, Horace Copeland, Priscilla Davis, Stan Farr and one John Smith."

Havnes said the defense intends to show that the three key state witnesses took liberties with the truth and all had a profit motive in doing so.

'And we will demonstrate the lack of motive for Cullen Davis to participate in the events of Aug. 2-3," Haynes stated. The state contends the 44-year-old industrialist was the "man in black" who killed the defendant's stepdaughter. Andrea, 12, and his estranged wife's lover, Humphrey, who earlier told reporters he was ready to plunge in and work for support of President Carter's program, appealed to his colleagues to work out their differences.

There are no problems between the differing points of view in this body that could not be reconciled." he said.

When he arrived at the Dirksen Senate Office Building, Humphrey was greeted by a crowd of reporters and he declared himself ready to plunge into the energy debate, to fight for his full employment bill and to help win votes for ratification of the Panama Canal treaty

Humphrey was pale and far thinner than when he last was in Washington, but he was clearly glad to be back.

"It's just a joy to be around," he said. An aide tried several times to get Humphrey to move toward the entrance to the building and on to his secondfloor office, but the senator took his time and continued to answer questions

The benefits to Americans who return from Mexico include immediate eligibility for parole, which Mexico does not grant to drug offenders. They also will be placed in prisons nearer their homes. where they understand the language and where they and their families do not have to pay for food and shelter. The treaty also will remove an irritant in U.S.-Mexico relations, according to its backers. Mexico, at the behest of the United States, cracked down on drug traffickers in the early 1970s.

When it did so, however, the State Department, at the behest of prisoners' families, complained that the prisoners were being mistreated by the Mexican justice system. Mexico was agreeable to negotiating the treaty and ratified it within a month. The Canadian agreement was added later, although there was no similar public pressure for a prisoner exchange. Several European nations have similar exchange agreements, but these will be the first entered into by the United

Country Blacksmith Still Going Strong

A-J Corresponent

Blacksmiths are fading fast from the American scene. Each year more blacksmiths retire and few are replaced. Farmers are faced with the problem of where to go for repairs to equipment.

Government statistics on occupations in America stated that of the 9,000 blacksmiths in 1974, almost two-thirds worked in factories, mines or for railroads. The remainder worked in small shops, and most were self-employed.

Bert Barker of Ladonia is one of those fading remnants of yesteday. Not only does Ladoria depend on Bert for repairs, but people come from as far away as Oklahoma as well as from cities such as Paris, Commerce and Dallas, Many bring their plows during the winter months and return for them in the spring to have them sharpened before planting.

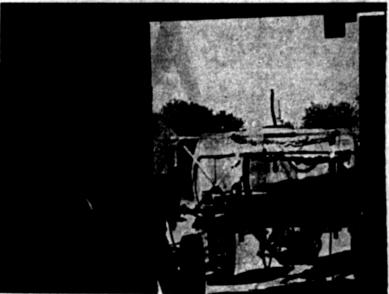

Bert is one of seven children and has two brothers who also are blacksmiths. "I guess it's in his blood," said Velma, Bert's wife of 50 years. "It's a dying trade. When Bert is gone I doubt if anyone will put in a shop in these parts again. Besides, we're happy here, we've got good water and good people to live with. What else could one ask for?" Bert and his wife had not intended to stay in Ladonia when they came there in 1952. They were going to remain until their daughter got her degree at East Texas State University at Commerce. But Bert began to get more business at the shop, so they decided to retire in Ladonia and live on what Bert made plus

Minority Problems Plague Policemen

Pacific News Service

A Latino newly promoted to the rank of sergeant in the San Francisco Police Department returned to his car after work and found a dead skunk on the seat. At a precinct station across town, a photograph of a group of monkeys was posted with the caption: "Minority Sergeants

Chicago police officer A.A. Majerczyk told the board of education there last August that he and many other white police can be expected to get blue flu when called to protect school buses....we will not be used to destroy our schools." Maerczyk's comments prompted a black police officers' association to demand he be fired for refusing to protect black children bused into white school districts.

Less than one-fourth of the black police officers in Washington, D.C. - whose police force is approximately 42 per cent black - feel they have a good or excellent relationship with white officers. Less than one-third trust their white supervisors, and more than 80 per cent believe they are discriminated against in job assignments and promotions, according to a Howard University survey completed

Ten years after the U.S. Riot Commission's famous report on ghetto uprisings pinpointed racial antagonism among primarily white police and minority communities as a major and explosive source of disorder and urged police to recruit and promote more non-white members. racial strife continues to plague the police departments of many of the nation's big cities. And the very solution proposed more minority recruitment - has worsened the problem. "I think we have made a lot of progress in trying to recruit minorities," says Dr. Richard Staufenberger of the privately funded Police Foundation in Washington, pointing to the fact that the percentage of non-white officers in U.S. cities has more than doubled in the past decade. "But racial tensions in police departments are probably higher now because white officers perceive this minority recruitment as reverse discrimination.

'The issue has changed," Dr. Staufenberger notes. "In 1968, minorities were demanding jobs in police departments, but now they are aiming for political control of the police and city government." Since 1970, court battles over the issue of police discrimination in hiring and intensified racial splits in numerous de-

In Chicago, where 20 per cent of the police are minority in a population over 42 per cent non-white, a judge last year upheld a five-year-old civil rights suit filed by the Afro-American Patrolmen's League (AAPL) and ordered the department to fill 42 per cent of all new patrol officer vacancies with black and Spanish surnamed men and 16 per cent with women. He also ruled that 40 per cent of all officers promoted to sergeant be black or Spanish-surnamed. Police administrators agreed to comply with the court ruling this year, after the city lost an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. In March, AAPL Director Renault Robinson met with U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell. As a result, Bell-filed similar suits in Los Angeles and Baton Rouge.

A similar legal battle has been on-going in San Francisco since 1973, when the predominantly non-white Officers for Justice (OFJ) sued the police department. Although minorities comprise about half of that city's population, OFJ lawyers contend only 12 per cent of the 1.700 SFPD officers are non-white. Of the 75 permanent lieutenants and captains. none are minority. The case - set for trial this November - has had a devastating effect on police morale. While minority police continue to press the courts for relief against alleged discrimination, urban experts and minority community leaders alike are more alarmed by the larger problem of policecommunity relations in the ghetto it re-

"In many areas of the country, distruse, suspicion and fear of the police still are facts of life in minority neighborhoods," says Gilbert Pompa, acting director of the U.S. Justice Departments community relations service. Earlier this year, the Police Foundation released a survey of six U.S. cities showing that blacks comprised 78 per cent of those Homicide has now passed accidents and single diseases to become the leading cause of death for young non-white males in U.S. cities, according to a study reported in the September "New England Journal of Medicine." Killings by police mostly recorded as "justifiable" homicides - accounted for 13 per cent of these deaths, the study showed.

A recent study by the Afro-American

Patrolmen's League showed that blacks in Chicago are more than six times as likely to be killed by police as are whites. Some critics see the still mostly white police force as one cause of disproportionate violence toward black suspects.

There is a general disrespect on the part of white officers toward the black community." charged Henry Dotson, president of the NAACP, Los Angeles branch. "They're not out to enforce the law - they're out to crack some heads." The L.A. Police Department is less than six per cent black and less than nine per cent Spanish-surnamed, the U.S. Department of Justice charged in a suit against the city filed last summer. And the Los Angeles Police Commission held hearings in September to investigate why 28 people - many unarmed, mostly blacks or Chicanos - have been shot to death this year by policemen there. My gut reaction is that we probably have less actual brutality from policemen than in 1967," countered Dr. Staufenberger of the Police Foundation. "But that's partly to do with minorities' increases political power. The smacking of minority heads is not longer going to go unchallenged.....Police officers are just as racist today, but they're probably more cautious.

"It's ridiculous for a government to have a war on crime and not include the people in the midst of the crime," argues AAPL Director Robinson. "We endorse. the use of more blacks to fight crime in their own communities.

But Rand Corporation researcher Robert Yin warns against misinterpreting statistics. "You can have the right proportion (of minority officers) and still have a racist police department," he

You may have a black police officer. but he also lives in the suburbs, so there may be an income gap between him and the urban black," Yin added.

Although Yin supports the conclusion that a predominantly white police force was "a dangerous irritant" in the ghettos in the 1960's, he contends that "police today are doing less to be aggravating. Now residents don't feel so antagonistic toward the police."

Puerto Rican Nationalists Taken Off Statue Of Liberty

NEW YORK (AP) — Puerto Rican nationalists occupied the Statue of Liberty for nine hours Tuesday and draped its forehead with a Puerto Rican flag before officials moved in and rounded them up.

The protesters, members of the New York Committee to Free the Puerto Rican Nationalist Prisoners, had demanded independence for Puerto Rico and an end to discrimination against Puerto Ricans.

Officials moved in at nightfall — about nine hours after the group came ashore from the day's first ferry run — and peacefully arrested 25 to 30 persons.

It was not immediately known where they were taken or with what they were charged.

U.S. Attorney Robert Fiske said members of the group would be charged with criminal trespass and other offenses if any damage is found on the island. He said they would be arraigned Wednesday in federal court.

Earlier, a federal judge had issued a temporary restraining order telling the demonstrators to leave the island. They refused. Fiske said the group later was given an opportunity to leave the island peacefully and not be prosecuted. He said that offer

Liberty Island — at the mouth of New York Harbor — was closed to tourists and non-essential workers immediately after the non-violent, mid-morning invasion. Persons living on the island, which is administered by the National Park Service, and visitors who were on the boat with the demonstrators were removed by boat.

Vincente Alba, a spokesman for the demonstrators' committee, said the group was unarmed. He demanded amnesty for those involved.

He said that besides an independent Puerto Rico, they wanted the release of four persons still jailed for the shooting of five congressmen during a 1954 attack at the House of Representatives

Five persons were convicted and sentenced to lengthy prison terms for the attack. The leader of the group, Andres Figueroa Cordero, who has terminal cancer, was granted elemency several weeks ago by President Carter and has returned to Puerto Rico.

Alba had said the demonstrators would occupy the 305-foottall statue, which was given to the United States by the people of France 91 years ago, until "Lolita Lebron, Rafael Cancel Miranda, Irving Flores and Oscar Collazo are released from prison".

Late Tuesday afternoon, U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Gagliardi issued a temporary restraining order requiring the demonstrators to leave the island. The order was served by U.S. attorney's office representatives, but there was no indication whether it would be honored.

Alba and other supporters of the demonstrators held an impromptu news conference earlier at Battery Park on the tip of lower Manhattan across the bay from Liberty Island. The group on the island had originally scheduled a news conference, but officials would not allow reporters to attend.

Alba would not say what action might be taken if the demonstrators' demands were not met, but "that does not mean we don't have the right to take up arms."

dependence for the island commonwealth and freedom for four persons serving prison terms for the 1954 shooting of five U.S. congressmen. (AP Laserphoto)

Collegiate Rodeo Opens Today

Chutes slam open at 7:30 p.m. today on the best in college rodeo as a family bargain night launches the 31st edition of the Texas Tech Intercollegiate Rodeo.

Rodeo fans will pay $3 a seat for today's opening round of competition between cowboys and cowgirls and the tough rodeo stock of Harry Vold. With no seats reserved, early arrivals get the best seats in the house.

Competition for 15 colleges and universities in the Southwest Region of National Interscholastic Rodeo Association ends with the Saturday finale

Traditionally a fast-paced rodeo, the 1977 Tech session will add a production angle to the arena action to give fans a little more for their money. Warming up the crowd each night will be some horseback pomp and pageantry by spotlight performed by the Abernathy Riding Club, which has been practicing with the show producer, Stan Steen of Montana.

Also in town whooping up the Tech rodeo is a former competitor in NIRA from Tarleton State, Darrell Barron, who recently joined the U.S. Tobacco Co. rodeo promotion ranks which already contain one Walt Garrison, a continuing favorite at any cowboy gathering, be it Dallas or otherwise.

Barron, come rodeo time, will be working behind the scenes to keep the arena action flowing. Siding him will be Tech rodeo hands, against whom he once competed.

Kirk Taylor, a junior agriculture-education major from Lubbock, will leave the chute on the hurricane deck of a bareback bronc in the opening round today, then be around to help with the stock end for other performances.

He was a senior in high school before he tried out bareback broncs one Sunday during a buckout at Dub Parks Arena. Armed only with a few pointers from friends, Taylor lost the contest, but undaunted and completely won by the sport went back for more. He finds the thrill of competition where "you have to have everything together to get aboard" a new way of life he'd like to carry into the teaching field.

Dusty Johnston of Shamrock, also an ag-ed major on the junior level, usually makes the rodeo scene as a bullrider, but this week the member of the Tech rodeo board will be working up a good head of steam behind the chutes, lining up the roping calves, getting stock to the bucking chute and undertaking dozens of other activities involved with the production of a fast rodeo.

Johnston got on his first bucking bull at the age of 14, the time he persuaded his mother to let him try out all the things he had learned with the bucking barrel he and all the other youngsters had been riding for years. About that time, "it was a big deal to be a cowboy" in Shamrock, and the youngsters did what the cowboys did, starting with the barrel.

Settling down on a big bull's back, he doesn't think of the damage the bull could do him. His concern is for the way the bull might buck and whether he has everything, including his rigging, right when the chute gate swings open.

Accident Spawns Chili Cookoff

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) - A tricky bridge and dense fog combined to make 45,-000 pounds of what had to be the hottest chili ever Tuesday morning. Don Riffel, 39. Moore, was hauling a load of canned chili from Seymour, Tex., to Cincinnati when he missed a turn on a multi-lane bridge south of Ft. Sill on

'There was a lot of lights around the bridge and in the fog I couldn't see," he said. "It was definitely the fog which caused the whole thing. Riffel's rig smashed into a guard rail and then plunged off the end of the bridge and down an embankment.

Riffel got out of the overturned cab moments before the rig exploded into flames. He was treated at the Southwestern Clinic hospital for minor burns and scratches and released.

It took firemen several hours to extinquish the smoldering fire. The whole town of Lawton smells like a big chili factory," Riffel said.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a 12-yearold boy who was born during the 1964-65 rubella outbreak. He is hard of hearing, had a cataract removed from one eye and has a heart defect. He leads a relatively normal life, takes no medication and is not restricted in any activities. The reason I am writing is because of his weight He weighs only 62 pounds and is 4 feet, 7 inches tall. I've had him to a number of doctors, and no one seems to know why he is so thin and short. Is it possible that the German measles (rubella) had anything to do with his retarded growth? Has there been any follow-up on those rubella babies as to how they are doing 12 years

This child has several strikes against him from the beginning. It takes a special kind of parent to deal with these very special children, and from your letter you appear to be one of them.

As for his height, you must consider your own and his father's height. If neither is tall, he may not be tall. For his age and height he is about 10 pounds under average weight. He still has a lot of potential growth left in his adolescent years, so it's too early to judge. An endocrinologist might be able to predict by examining the state of the ends of his long

It is possible that rubella affected his pituitary, where the growth hormone originates. This would be pure speculation, however. Just feed him well, and bide your time. Much can happen in the next few years. Meanwhile, don't betray your concern about his height since this could make matters worse for him.

You raise an important point about these periodic tragedies affecting so many youngsters. A physician who is in charge of a program training special-education teachers talked to me about it several years ago. Even then, such programs were being speeded up to handle the predictable needs following that outbreak. I trust enough were trained at that time and are now in the special-education classrooms caring for the needs of these youngsters who are now in such a sensitive stage of life.

The second important point in your letter can be read between the lines. It is important for the young woman to be protected against rubella before she reaches childbearing years! As you know, rubella's effects begin in the womb of the pregnant woman.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Despite good health I am getting wrinkles. I read once of someone who uses ice water on the the signature of a leading skier on it. My husband seemed to hink it was because I was the only woman on skis earrying a handbag.

I can't help it. Do men actually believe women enjoy lugging around a handbag everywhere they go? By the time everyone in the family unloads their stuff on me. I feel like an anvil salesman

I don't know when it all started, but somewhere in history someone decided women were the keeper of the nose tissue, fingernail clippers, breath sprays, band aids, change for restrooms, pins, hair spray, sticks for chapped lips, road maps, combs and scratch pads. I never see a film clip of Queen Elizabeth with that large handbag slung over her arm that I don't half expect to see Prince Phillip lean forward and say, "Got any gum, Ducky?"

History was kinder to its women than they are nowadays. Did you see Joan of Arc carrying a Gucci to war? Did Pocahontas lug around a pouch to match her moccasins? And I don't know where Lady Godiva carried her credit cards, but it wasn't in a handbag. I would have noticed

Believe me, there is nothing that detracts from a woman's aura of mystery and intrigue like wearing a black suede over-the-shoulder bag with a pale blue bathing suit.

I think it's time we women stopped carrying supplies for the entire family. If children don't have room to carry their own toys, if men don't have pockets in their pants, tougho.

Things are clearly out of control. I didn't mind rummaging through my bag for the ring at the wedding ceremony. I didn't raise my voice when I went to surgery with a tote bag over my chest. But the other day, I realized things had gone too far. My husband said, "These Life Savers are stuck together. Where did you have them?

Informational Booklet Required With All Estrogen Prescriptions

By CHRIS CONNELL

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - The government is now requiring that women who receive prescriptions for drugs containing estrogen be given a brochure in simple language explaining that estrogen may cause cancer

Estrogens, the female sex hormone are used by five million American wornen during and after menopause. Dr. Donald Kennedy, the commissioner of food and drugs, said the government hopes the warning label will cut this use at least in Estrogens are valuable drugs, with many beneficial medical purposes," said Kennedy. But he said the FDA fears they are being used too frequently and for too long. For women who use estrogen drugs during and after menopause "for longer than a year the risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus is about five to 10 times greater than for women who have never taken estrogens," Kennedy said.

He added that "women who use estrogens after menopause are about two and one half times as likely to develop gall bladder disease requiring surgery.

Kennedy said in a news conference the least necessary use of estrogens is after menopause. He said there was "no good evidence that estrogens are effective in helping to keep the skin soft or to promote more youthful feelings in the postmenopausal woman. Yet they are widely used for such purposes.

The brochure, which drug manufacturers must print and supply to pharmacists and other dispensers of estrogen, advises women to take estrogen drugs for the shortest time possible and in the lowest effective dose for treatment of menopausal symptoms. The FDA says about eight million women also receive estrogen as an ingredient in many contraceptive pills, but there is no evidence linking that estrogen use to cancer. However, since 1970 the FDA has required that birth control pills be dispensed with a warning about their possible health risks to women and their babies. FDA officials said they feel that the post-menopausal use of estrogens is the most serious problem

The most commonly prescribed brand is Premarin, and other brands are Hormonin, Estratab, Evex, Menest, Femogen and Ogen, the FDA said.

The agency proposed requiring a leaflet with estrogen prescriptions in July. Original effective date for the brochure requirement was Sept. 20. The date was pushed back after the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association and the American College of Obstetricians and

HOG DRIVES

Though not romanticized by TV shows such as "Gunsmoke", the hog industry had its trail drives also. In fact, before the Civil War, herds containing as many as 2,000 to 3,000 hogs were trailed hundreds of miles from Illinois, Kentucky. Indiana and other states to assembly points at Cincinnati, Ohio and Madison, Indiana. Both places were known as "Porkopolis.

Gynocologists challenged the FDA action in court suits

A federal court in Delaware refused to issue a preliminary injunction against the FDA The opponents of the brochure requirement also have filed suits in federal courts in Louisiana and Oaklahoma that are pending

Last year the FDA told physicians to prescribe estrogens in the lowest possible doses for the shortest possible time, and to re-evaluate a patient's use of the drug every six months

The brochure repeats that warning for the patient. Kennedy said that the FDA action would not have been necessary if the agency felt doctors were aleady discussing fully with their patients estrogen's risks and benefits.

Dr. Richard Crout, director of FDA's bureau of drugs, said a study found that with contraceptive labels, 90 per cent of the women said they had seen the short warning brochure when it was dispensed with the pills, but only one-third recalled seeing the brochure given out by physi-

Her two sons, Andy, 13, and Joe, 16, wanted her to coach, so she consented to do the job with their help.

"At first, the boys would see how much tle hard to handle them, but after a while tice or to a game when she needs him to get the boys "straightened out." "Boys

Coffee 'Kitty' Falls Short

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Members of the Iowa House of Representatives and their visitors will be paying next January for the higher price of coffee.

Legislators and their guests in theory have been paying for coffee by putting coins in a cigar box near a large coffee urn at the back of the House chamber.

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) - Garland VanDinter has more ice cream than he can eat - or keep frozen - and doesn't know who to thank.

He was awakened by the doorbell at 5 a.m. one day this week. No one was in sight, but on his front porch was a three-gallon keg of chocolate ice cream. "The Pink Milkman Strikes," said an attached note

VanDinter called the police, guessing that a creamery had been burglarized

Insulation Rules Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Farmers Home Administration has issued new requirements on the amount of insulation that must be included in rural homes which are purchased or built with financial help from the agency.

The administration said current standards were inadequate. The new rule - known as a "thermal performance standard" - covers construction begun after next March 15. Officials said the agency has had to take possession of some houses in the past because the owners could not afford to pay both the mortgage and the heating bill. In considering mortgage assistance, therefore, officials say they are "compelled to examine not only the initial cost of purchasing a home but also the operating costs over the life of the mortgage."

Detailed tables of insulation requirements for homes are included in the standard, based on heating needs in various parts of the country These tables will be supplied to local Farmers Home Administration offices for use by potential home buyers and In addition to the insulation standards, the rule covers roof overhang, structure and other general recommendations -Arrange plantings with evergreen buffers on the north

British Leyland Recalls Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reports that British Leyland is recalling about 5,000 TR-7 automobiles.

Officials said accelerator cables may fail in some of the 1975 and 1976 cars, resulting either in the engine running wide open, or shutting down.

The agency said the firm is contacting owners of the autos and will replace the defective cables. Drivers whose auto begin running open should shift into neutral and turn the ignition off, officials said.

Industry Urges Tire Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tire Industry Safety Council warns that tire pressure should be checked often, particularly with the arrival of chilly autumn weather

Cold temperatures reduce the inflation pressure inside the tire, and officials say this can lead to wasted gasoline and rubber and a shortened tire life.

If the tire is more than four pounds below recommended pressure it is seriously underinflated, according to the National Bureau of Standards. The tire council says pressure should be checked when the tires are cold, preferably in the morning. And they recommend using a hand tire gauge because the air towers at service stations are often inaccurate.

"Underinflated, soft tires can cause erratic steering and excessive tread wear as well as make the engine work harder to overcome rolling resistance," council officials said

O'Neill Loving Father

"I am not the greatest father in the world," confesses actor Ryan O'Neal. "But I am a loving father, not perhaps so much a loving husband. I don't find it easy to fall in love Deep love is not an easy act for me. So much else goes with it -selfessness, for instance. That I haven't got.

Marriage is certainly not in the stars for O'Neal, although he does admit that raising children, especially 13-year-old Tatum, should be a two-people job.

"It's hectic bringing up a child on your own," says O'Neal in Us magazine. "One-father families are rarer than one-mother families. The presence of a woman's hand is missed at home, because children do need a balance. Children are not born to be raised by just one parent or by a riest." 🏈 Adds O'Neal, "Just the same, I am not remarrying. Certainly not for the sake of giving Tatum another mother. I am not remarrying for anyone's sake except my own.

Killy Changes Style

"When I returned from the Algerian War in 1962, I had lost 20 pounds and was hospialized with hepatitis," recalls Jean-Claude Killy, the world's premier skier.

"I found that by skiing upright -rather than low down, as was then the style and by relaxing my basic body position, I could ski more effectively than I ever had in the past."

Concorde Affair Generating Resentment, Frenchman Says

Avalanche-Journal Staff

A French journalist, on a speaking tour of several Texas colleges, said in an interview with The Avalanche-Journal Tuesday there is resentment in France over the unfriendly reception the Concorde supersonic transport jet received in the United States.

'The resentment is probably more against the New York Port Authority than against the United States," Pierre Guillemot noted, saying the protests against the huge plane landing in New York were covered in the French press. Protesting New Yorkers said the noise were above maximum safety levels.

However, Guillemot said many French citizens felt Americans feared the competition from the jet more than the sound

The plane was given court authority to land in the U.S. earlier this month, but Guillemot said many Europeans felt the delay in getting U.S. approval forced France to scrap the manufacture of the planes after the initial 16 were built.

"It is a pity the Concorde was a failure," Guillemot said. "But you can't stop progress and hopefully the next supersonic jetliner will be built by Europeans

Aside from the issue of the Concorde. Guillemot said relations between the U.S. and France are better now under French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, then they had been under Charles de

The French journalist said Europeans generally seem to view the United States as having reached a period of stability following the riots of the late 1960s and the Watergate scandal.

However, in terms of U.S.-USSR military negotiations, Guillemot said Europeans "feel they are spectators in the U.S.-Russian dialogue. Whatever decision is reached (between the two powers). Europe won't have a voice in it. Guillemot said the nine-country European Common Market, on the other hand, is preparing to ratify elections in each member country for a European Parliament. "The European Parliament will be the first step toward political union in Europe - sort of like the United States of Europe," Guillemot said.

Guillemot, in addition to being the bureau manager for Agence Central de Presse, a French news agency, has authored 10 volumes of history, including one on the American Civil War, and about 30 novels.

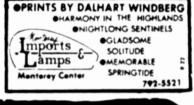

Three million copies of his books have been sold, including translations into Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, Dutch and

Missing Housewife Triggers Search

Caccavaro had two months of activities written into her personal calendar when she plunged into a crowd at the annual Vermont summer festival last July to round up her five children. She never re-

The children found their way alone to their father, James, who now takes care of three of them while the other two stay

Theories on what happened to Mrs. Caccavaro vary, but each day her family and friends grow less hopeful they will ever see her again.

Caccavaro believes his wife suffered a breakdown; her mother fears she is dead; her friends say she may have just decided to leave.

The slim 31-year-old brunette disappeared at the Cracker Barrel Bazaar on July 29. The three months since have been "a nightmare," says Caccavaro, once a cheerful Vermont logger, now nervous and unemployed. He has moved from the home in Newbury to his mother's house in Newton, Mass., where relatives help him with the children.

"I can't describe this hell," he says of the disappearance. "I've spent $50 having pictures of her printed. I've walked into hospitals and talked to doctors about what could be wrong, and I've been back and forth from the police to the newspapers trying to find her Police traced Mrs. Caccavaro to Monroe, N.H., where they say she attended a street fair two days after the Newbury bazaar and spent the night in a cabin loaned to her by a man who picked her up hitchiking. Vermont State Police say the man went back to the cabin the next day, and Mrs. Caccavaro asked him to take her to Maine.

The man, whose identity has not been disclosed, dropped her off at the intersection of routes 12 and 116 near Eastern Township, N.H., police say. She carried no identification and no money

That's where the trail ends. State Police Cpl. Clint Gray says New Hampshire and Maine police are cooperating in the search, but all leads have Caccavaro says he's puzzled by the report that his wife wanted a ride to Maine "She's never been there - she doesn't even know anyone there. Wherever she is, he says, he's sure she's working with her hands. She can't keep her hands still. She's either knitting. working with animals or washing dishes, ning like that."

He says his wife "loves the ocean, riding horses and dancing. She was married at 17 and had five kids by the time she was 22, but she took it like an old veteran. She was a family girl - her family always came first. It took an awful lot to make her go.

He admits there were problems, mostly involving money, in the couple's 15 years of marriage, "but we had good times,

Mrs. Caccavaro seemed depressed prior to her disappearance, her husband says. "She lost 18 pounds in a year, she couldn't sleep and her appetite was gone. In Newbury that night, she didn't look

"It had been a normal day, but she was walking around not talking much. Something was bothering her.

Susan Huntoon, a friend who is caring for one of Mrs. Caccavaro's daughters, agrees that the missing woman seemed distraught. "She looked strange, somehow. She didn't say much. But I didn't think much of it because there were a lot of times when she didn't say much," Mrs. Huntoon says. She says Annette Caccavaro, 13, who has been staying with her, has been upset since her mother vanished. "She has bad days, sometimes, when she just sits and crys for her mother. Other friends describe Mrs. Caccavaro as a quiet woman who loved her family and worked hard. When she disappeared she had two part-time jobs in Vermont at a Wells River restaurant and a Bradford factory Beverly Rollins, a coworker at the restaurant, describes Mrs. Caccavaro as 'quite happy and friendly, but a hard person to know

"She lacked confidence in her job, but she was much more capable than she thought. We do miss her here.

In a letter to her mother written six days before she disappeared, Mrs. Caccavaro said she "loves working" and that "the kids are all doing fine." She wrote enthusiastically about the family's new Caccavaro says his wife looks more like a 16-year-old than a wife and mother. She has a light complexion and a small tattoo of a butterfly on one shoulder.

Vermont State Police say anyone who sees Mrs. Caccavaro should contact pol-

"We want to determine, first of all, if she's all right; if she wants to go home or not, and why she left. If she didn't want to come home, she wouldn't have to. There's usually a reason for why people do things. I'd sort of like to know. So would Caccavaro, who says: "All I have left are the newspapers and God."

HOUSE CARGO PREFERENCE Defeated, 165 for and 257 against, a bill (HR 1037) requiring that nine-and-one-half percent (9.5%) of all imported by the U.S. be carried by U.S.-flag ships manned by American crews. Presently about three per cent is so carried. This bill was particularly controversial because of charges it rewarded the maritime industry's 1976 election year support of President Carter and key members of congress. The vote was a defeat for the shippers and their

Rep. John Murphy (D-N.Y.), a supporter, said the bill "would strengthen the national security posture of the U.S. by reducing this nation's nearly total dependence on foreign -flag vessels for the carriage of America's energy imports... In addition, the employment of American workers and the use of American vessels will generate individual and corporate tax revenues."

Rep. Paul McCloske (R-Calif.), an opponent, asked: "Why should we give a blank check to the U.S. shipping industry, which already gets a 50 per cent construction subsidy and 73 per cent of its wages paid out of the federal treasury?" He added that U.S.-flag carriers have shipping rates at least half-again higher than competing foreign rates.

Members voting "yea" favored passage of the cargo-perference bill.

Reps. Samuel Hall (D-l), Charles Wilson (D-2), Jim Mattox (D-5), Olin Teague (D-6), Bob Eckhardt (D-8), Jack Brooks (D-9), Jake Pickle (D-10), James Wright (D-12), John Young (D-14), Kika de la Garza (D-15), Richard White (D-16, Barbara Jordan (D-18), Henry Gonzalez (D-20. TUFTS AND G'TOWN Adopted, 215 for and 202 against, an amendment appropriating $9.1 million in grants and $7.2 million in loans for developing 'intercultural centers' at Georgetown and Tufts universities. The amendment was attached to HR 9375, an appropriations bill later passed and sent to the Sen-

The purpose of the federal money is to strengthen existing international relations programs at the two schools. Georgetown and Tufts are viewed by this bill as "models" whose expertise in educating career diplomats from throughout the world should be emulated by other schools seeking to strengthen their international-relations curricula.

Rep. Silvio Conte (D-Mass.), a supporter, said: "National survival is of the highest priority and diplomacy is essential to it. Both if these schools have been providing a great service to the U.S. by obtaining highly qualified career diplomats and ambassadors.

Rep. Marjorie Holt (R-Md.), an opponent, said: "I have no intention of denigrating the excellence of the international programs which are offered at the universities.... But we cannot continue to shovel the taxpayers' money to everything that is merely desirable.

Members voting "yea" favored spending the money.

Wilson, Mattox, Eckhardt, Pickle, Wright, Hightower, Young, de la Garza, White, Jordan, ZJahon, Gonzalez, Lujan, Kazen and Milford voted "yea."

It was attached to HR 3816, a bill changing certain FTC procedures and authorizing operating funds for the agency. The bill was later passed and vidual and class action suits could be brought as n outgrowth of an FTC finding against a company, so that parties who lost money as a result of unfair trade practice could seek financial redress. With this vote the House killed the section of the bill (Section 7) that would have allowed such suits. Rep. Bob Krueger (D-Tex.), sponsor of the amendment, said Section 7 would open up the possibility of a kind of vigilante or posse justice" in which a business could suffer irreparable harm to its reputation "as a result of mere accusations" that may later have proven un-

Rep. Bob Eckhardt (D-Tex.), an opponent of the amendment, said: "Section 7 raises a single very clear issue: Are we willing to assist the weak and the small in dealing with unfair practices by the large and the powerful?"

Members voting 'nay" favored the filing of consumer law suits.

RETIREMENT Rejected, 45 for and 48 against, an amendment on the issue of whether college professors and highlypaid business executives should continue to face mandatory retirement at age 65. With this vote the Senate said they should. The amendment was proposed to HR 53833, later passed and sent to conference with the House. It raised the mandatory retirement age to 70 years for virtually all workers except executives with pensions of at least $20,000 annually and professors. Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.), sponsor of the amendment, sid: "A blanket exclusion of educators and business people merely because of the category of work involved bears no relationship - none at all - to the matter of competence."

Sen. John Chafee (R-R.I.), an opponent of the amendment, said that because of tenure too many college professors stay in the job too long. That works a hardship on "the young, bright, innovative people that we have to have if our universities are going to make their contribution to this society...

Lost Baggage

MESSAGE - I am a Sergeant in the Army and I have been transferred from Germany to Fort Carson, Colorado in the past few months. My problem is that when I transferred the Army apparently lost my luggage. I shipped two crates and a long box when I departed from Germany and was told they would arrive here at Fort Carson no later than a month ago. I still haven't received the boxes, and they contain some very important goods - military clothing, all my family's winter clothing, kitchen appliances, etc. No one here has been able to help me locate the boxes and I was hoping you could help. - H.E., Fort Carson.

SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS - Your boxes should arrive shortly. The Army tells me the problem was that the shipper who handled your goods shipped them through the Port of Houston and backlog there caused the delay. Since the shipper had been instructed not to send your material through Houston, because of the backlog, you may be entitled to a payment for your inconvenience. You should file a claim with the transfer officer at Fort Carson

ENDANGERED DUCKS MESSAGE - I have just been alerted that the U.S. Fish an Wildlife Service has closed duck hunting in parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Southwest Texas. The reason is apparently that an endangered species, the Mexican Duck, is suffering from harassment. This last-minute closure is arbitrary and sets a bad precedent. What can be done to lift it? -S.N., El Paso

SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS - Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus advised me that the Fish and Widlife Service placed a total ban on duck hunting in eight Texas counties on instructions from a Federal Court. The service, in fact, after extensive public hearings and deliberation, had decided not to impose a ban. But environmentalists took the issue to court where the decision was overturned. In another development, some officials in the Fish and Wildlife Service contend that the Mexican Duck does not rightfully belong on the Endangered Species Lest, so a review is underway to determine the duck's status. This could ultimately result in a lifting of the hunting ban, but don't look for that to happen anytime in the near future.

Election Fund Bill Withdrawn In House

WASHINGTON (AP) - A plan for partial public financing of House races was withdrawn Tuesday after a committee voted to extend coverage to primaries as well as general election campaigns.

The withdrawal kills the bill for the current session of Congress. The plan was one of four election proposals backed by the Carter administration.

The House Administration Committee voted in a morning meeting to make federal funds available to primary election campaigners. But Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., the panel's chairman, called a second session later in the day and suggested withdrawing the measure.

There's obviously a great problem with public financing here," said Thompson. "I rather doubt that there are the votes for it here now.

The committee had estimated that providing federal matching funds only for general elections could cost $42 mllion the first year. Thompson said the cost could rise to $500 million if primary coverage were included

The committee also had agreed before the bill was withdrawn to eliminate references to party membership in the requirements imposed on candidates seeking federal matching funds. Officials said the vote would have added to the plan's

Under the bill, any candidate able to raise $10,000 in contributions of $100 or less would qualify for federal funds.

The bill would have limited the amount of federal funding a candidate could receive to $25,000. The maximum expenditure allowed for a candidate accepting matching funds would have been $150. 000, but no limit would have applied for candidates accepting no federal money

Hijackers Remain

Unknown

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - One week after West German commandos stormed a hijacked Lufthansa jetliner at Mogadishu Airport to free 91 hostages, the true identity of the four hijackers remains a closely guarded secret.

The one terrorist who survived the raid, described as an attractive chestnuthaired woman of about 20, was reported recuperating Tuesday at Mogadishu's Medina Hospital from gunshot wounds in her right shoulder and leg.

Diplomatic sources said the other three hijackers have been secretly buried. But beyond these reports little is known about the terrorists.

The Somalis have given out no official information on the hijackers. Diplomats here appear to be virtually in the dark. but a series of conflicting reports on the hijackers' nationalities and even their sex are circulating in the diplomatic community.

It remains unclear whether the surviving woman will be tried, or held in Somalia, thereby inviting retaliation, extradited to West Germany or perhaps spirited out of the country.

A consessus appears to have emerged among diplomats that the four hijackers are linked in some way to an extremist Palestiniar guerrilla organization. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine is the one most often mentioned.

The huackers also appeared to have some connection with the Red Army Faction, a West German terror group, as evidenced by the similarity of the hijackers' demands and those of the West German group who kidnaped and later executed German businessman Hanns-Martin Schlever

Both units sought release of 11 imprisoned German anarchists. The hijackers also demanded freedom for two Palestinians jailed in Turkey.

One version of the identities of the hijackers, allegedly based on photographic evidence, says there were two men and two women. The other contends there were three men and one woman. Both reports agree that the terrorists were young, prebably between 19 and 25.

A source who asked not to be identified said photographs of the hijackers include a shot of a blond European called Johann who was believed to come from Holland. "he others are described as a strikingly attractive dark-haired" woman who was killed, the surviving woman and a dark-haired man, all apparently from the Middle East or nearby nations.

The source said the four apparently were traveling on Iranian passports. But Iranian officials say they have no information to support or refute this claim. Newspaper reports in Stockholm said the leader of the hijackers called himself Captain Walter Mahmoud," and carried a Dutch passport in the name of Johannes Gerdus. The newspapers said a second heacker carried an Iranian passport made out to a Reza Abasy. The woman also carried Iranian passports, the survivor in the name of Shanaz Gholan and the dead woman in the name of Sorava Ansary, the newspapers said in reports quoting West German sources.

Even if Iranian passports were used, it is generally agreed that this is no indication of nationality since terrorist organizations usually resort to false identity documents for cover.

The woman in Medina Hospital reportedly has sharply rebuked Somalia in fluent Arabic for allowing the West German rescue raid to take place. Arabic is not normally spoken by Iranians.

A Western analyst here, who has closely studied international patterns of terrorism over several years and coauthored two books on the subject, believes the injured woman is a Palestinian born in Haifa, Israel, and connected with the Popular Front guerrilla movement.

WHITE MAGIC Wrongway German To See West Coast

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) - Erwin Kreuz, the wrongway German tourist who began his vacation in Maine and thought he was in California, will visit the West Coast after all. Kreuz Tuesday agreed to accept a newspaper's offer to be flown to San Francisco all expenses paid.

The San Francisco Examiner reached Kreuz through United Press International while he was visiting Augusta. Kreuz agreed to fly to San Francisco if the paper would also pay the way of one of his Maine hosts, Ralph Coffman of Bangor.

The paper agreed and Coffman said he and Kreuz will leave for San Francisco Friday or Saturday.

"I guess taking me is his way of thanking us for making his stay such a nice time," Coffman said. Kreuz will then hook up Oct. 31 with the charter flight he left when he mistook Bangor for San Francisco and make the return trip from California to Germany.

"We thought it was a damned shame he hadn't gotten to come here since it was his original destination," said Donald Canter, urban affairs reporter for the Examiner. "We knew he was having a good time in Maine, but we wanted him to see San Francisco, too.'

Earlier in the day Kreuz visited the Maine Statehouse and was greeted as "one of us" by Gov. James B. Longley. Tuesday was Kreuz's 50th birthday and Longley wished him happy birthday in German while the West German brewery worker toured the Statehouse.

White House To Get New Christmas Tree

WASHINGTON (UPI- Workers Tuesday began planting a 32-foot blue spruce behind the White House to serve as the nation's permanent Christmas tree - replacing last year's permanent tree which was decaying and will be used as this year's yule log.

A National Park Service spokesman said last year's tree was deteriorating and was cut down this summer. The new tree was donated by a couple from the Washington suburb of Potomac, Md. The tree was on their front lawn for 25 years.

A crane lifted the tree into a hole in the Ellipse across the street from the South Lawn of the White House.

Previously, trees as tall as 60 feet were cut from national forests and brought to Washington for the annual presidential tree-lighting ceremony. But conservationists and others lobbied for a living tree which could be redecorated each year.

A 42-foot blue spruce from Wilkes-Barre, Pa. was donated and planted in 1974. But the Park Service spokesman said a change in elevation and Washington's pollution provided "a poor chance for survival."

"Although the specialists could not determine exactly what went wrong, the tree was deteriorating and did not lend itself even to holding ornaments," the spokes-

Corporate Profit Levels Stall In Third Quarter

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the economy in general, profit levels for U.S. corporations appear to have stalled in the third quarter, economists say.

Third quarter reports from hundreds of companies that have come out in recent weeks suggest improved profit levels compared with a year ago. But several economists say they expect little change from profit levels reached in the last

Overall business profits, after taxes, reached $97.2 billion in the first quarter and grew to $104.3 billion by the second, but the third quarter results are expected to show little change from that level, according to a number of economists.

Bob Lewis of Citibank projects corporate profits in the $103 billion to $105 billion range, when earnings reports for the third quarter are completed.

Citibank's analysis of more than 500 corporate earnings reports so far suggests they are running 15 per cent above profit levels in the third quarter of 1976, or about the same level as the year-to-year comparison in the second quarter, said

AMEX Officer Faces Charge Of Perjury

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Stock Exchange Tuesday said it is confident a former exchange vice president will be cleared of charges in a state investigation of options trading on the ex-

The former Amex executive, Robert Reid, surrendered to the state attorney general's office Tuesday morning on perjury charges involving a probe of the alleged listing of phony prices on the Amex options ticker

A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said Reid, of Darien, Conn., was to be arraigned on charges of 20 counts of perjury in the first degree.

Reid, who was in charge of the exchange's options program in its early stages in 1975, had been indicted in an investigation by Lefkowitz into the alleged printing and placing of fictitious transactions on the options tape.

A spokesman for Lefkowitz said the alleged perjury occurred during questioning by assistants in the attorney general's securities bureau last February and May.

Reid joined the Amex exchange in February 1975, a month after it started trading in options. He left in October of that

-An Amex spokesman said in a telephone statement that the exchange and the SEC conducted separate, extensive investigations on the matter over a year

"Upon the basis of the exchanges's inquiry, we believe there were no grounds for any action and that the individual harged will be cleared when all the facts re presented," the Amex said.

The spokesman said Reid was hired to elp implement the options program and eft when the program matured and the to planning and adminstration

Durable Goods Orders Climb In September

WASHINGTON (AP) - New factory rders for durable goods increased six enths of one per cent in September, nainly because of growing demand for irplanes and ships, the Commerce Deartment said Tuesday

Durable goods orders, an important inlicator of future production, had inreased 2.7 per cent in August but had eclined 2.6 per cent in July. Durable oods are long-lasting products such as rucks, furniture, machinery and office

Aircraft and shipbuilding accounted or virtually all of the 5 per cent increase n new orders for transportation equipent. New orders for durable goods other than transportation equipment howed a seven tenths of one per cent decline. Most of that was in the machinery industries, where new orders were down 1 per cent

New orders for non-defense capital goods, an important indicator of busiess confidence, increased 5.7 per cent to $15.6 billion, the largest increase since a 9 per cent rise last December. Most of the September increase was in the communications equipment and shipbulding industries. However, the total was only lightly ahead of the $15.5 billion in nondefense capital goods orders last June.

Durable goods orders totaled $15.6 billion, while shipments were $58.6 billion, an increase of three tenths of one per cent over August. All of the figures are adjusted for seasonal variations in de-

The backlog of unfilled orders rose two tenths of one per cent to $174.6 bil-

The volatile defense capital goods new orders showed a 6 per cent decline to

Economists have had difficulty drawing a trend from the durable goods orders this summer because of the cancellation of the B1 bomber contract, unusual activity in the steel, auto and aircraft industries, and the change in the end of the fiscal year from June 30 to Sept. 30.

The government often increases its es as the fiscal year comes to an but the Commerce Department it is still trying to determine how to are the new fiscal year into its season-

But many of the largest corporations ings for the most recent quarter, Nationhave not yet issued their earnings. When results are all in. Lewis says the year-toyear third quarter results may show overall profits somewhat weaker, in the 10 per cent to 15 per cent range.

The flattening in profit growth, says Lewis, "is mainly due to the slow economic growth, real growth in the economy slowed to 3.8 per cent at an annual rate (in the third quarter). Profits are very responsive to changes in volume.'

Dimitris Balatsos, vice president and economist at Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., sees much the same situation. "A lot of the froth has been blown off from corporate profits. Judging from the preliminary numbers, profits have flattened out in the third quarter," he said. While Balatsos cautions that his reactions are "very impressionistic" since many of the major industry reports are still to be announced, he feels the economic slowdown may have affected industry segments differently.

"The basic industries most likely did not fare so well in the third quarter because of sluggishness of sales and rising costs. But some of the consumer-oriented companies have done better."

Earnings reports so far suggest a decidedly mixed pattern in such industries as oil, chemicals and banking while too few reports are in from consumer-oriented sectors as retail chains and automotive concerns to note a pattern. Reports from steel industry companies showed, as expected, profit losses which the companies said were due to some strike-related problems, competition from imports, and reduced production.

Although such giants as U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have not yet released earn-al Steel, the nation's third largest producer, said its profits fell 46 per cent; earnings of Republic Steel Corp. were down 47 per cent and Armco Steel reported an earnings loss of about 8 per cent.

The chemical industry showed a sharp earnings mix. While the Du Pont Co., the nation's largest chemical company, reported a 41 per cent increase in third quarter profits, Dow Chemical Co., second largest, reported a 13.9 per cent decline. Monsanto Corp., which took a large writeoff on its plastic bottling operations, reported a 61 profit loss. Among others, Celanese Corp. was up 61 per cent and Allied Chemicals, 3 per cent better than profit levels in the third quarter of 1976.

Exxon Corp., the nation's largest corporation, cited declining chemical sales as one factor in its flat earnings for the quarter. It reported that earnings of $635 million were unchanged from the 1976 period. Profits from the chemical divisions were down 10 per cent while earnings from oil and natural gas operations increased 3 per cent. Other oil industry companies did better. Occidental Petroleum, reported third quarter profits up about 57 per cent; Standard Oil of Indiana, up 8 per cent; and Phillips Petroleum Co., up 25 per cent and Shell Oil Co., 2 per cent and business machines companies and, because of demand of the housing market, improvement in building supply corporations.

Reports issued so far suggest fairly con-

International Business Machines, which is among the 10 largest corporations in America, said record sales of data processing equipment helped boost its earnings 17.6 per cent in the quarter. Among others in the industry group were Burroughs Corp., up 16 per cent; Control Data Corp., up 7 per cent; and Xerox Corp., up 10 per cent.

Georgia Pacific Corp., a leading building supply company and the nation's number one producer of plywood, saw profits up by 35.8 per cent, while Champion International Corp., the second largest forest products producer in the U.S., reported profits up 27.2 per cent, and Boise Cascade, an increase of 22 per cent.

But Weyerhaeuser Co., the largest producer of lumber, was an exception. Its earnings declined 5.8 per cent despite a slight increase in sales. Officials said an increase in the company's effective tax

Great Western Finance Corp., the nation's largest savings and loan association, also cited the active housing market as a factor in its profits climb of 48 per cent from levels a year earlier

Results were mixed for the banking industry as a whole. BankAmerica, the nation's largest commercial bank, said profits in the most recent quarter were 18 9 per cent above a year earler. But Citibank, the second largest, reported an 11 per cent decline.

It was not known whether Prince Charles ate any of the small green jalapeno peppers that are served with such dishes but at least one well-wisher warned him against it.

'They're super-hot," a young lady told the prince.

A cheering crowd of about 2,000 persons, some waving British flags, greeted the prince when his plane landed in this South Texas city at 10:30 a.m. He shook hands and exchanged greetings as he walked to a waiting limousine.

A motorcade sped the prince downtown to the Alamo, where he again was cheered by about 2,500 persons who had waited under mostly sunny skies and 80degree temperatures.

Prince Charles, who studied history at Cambridge University, was given a private tour of the Alamo, the shrine of Texas liberty and the scene of a bloody 1836 battle in Texas's war for independence from Mexico.

Inside, with the Alamo curator at his side, the prince viewed exhibits ranging from paintings to a long rifle of the type used by Davy Crockett in the famous bat-

"It looks it would take a long time to load," observed the prince. Outside, later, Prince Charles laid a wreath of yellow and red flowers in front of the shrine in memory of those who died in the battle. Then, after pausing to chat with a small group of schoolchildren, he walked about two blocks to the Paseo del Rio, or river walk, where he and his party boarded a flat-bottomed barge. Accompanied by Mayor Lila Cockrell.

the prince rode about one-half mile through the heart of downtown. Thousands lined the route from the Alamo to the river and waved at the prince from the river walk.

He smiled and waved back, sometimes shouting to cheering admirers. High school bands and vocal groups played music and sang from bridges over the river as the prince passed below.

At the Arneson River Theater, the prince left the barge and was greeted by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to begin a walk to the nearby historic La Villita area for the lunch and reception.

After lunch, Mrs. Cockrell presented the prince with a Western-style leather belt that he immediately tried on. It fit.

Briscoe, who sat next to Prince Charles, praised the ties of Texas and Great Britain. He noted that Great Britain was one of the first nations to recognize the infant Republic of Texas in the

The 28-year-old prince, here on the eighth day of a 12-day U.S. tour that would take him next to Los Angeles, said he had found the Alamo most intriguing. He added. "I couldn't have been made more welcome." And the crowd cheered,

West Point Commander Breaks Tradition, Embraces Changes

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The superintendent of the nation's oldest military academy said Tuesday that the traditionbound institution has stopped resisting change and is now embracing it.

"I think a deeply ingrained resistance to change has characterized the institution," Lt. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster said in his first interview since taking command of the 175-year-old U.S. Military Academy in June. "I regard that as one of my main tasks, to establish a new attitude toward change.

Goodpaster, a 62-year-old former presidential aide, said he hoped to adopt within a year nearly all the 226 recommendations of an Army study group formed in the wake of last year's West Point theating scandal.

We are going to safeguard the deep and the great values of this institution, but in the process of doing that we are going to welcome change, and we are going to move to new methods of doing things," he said

He said there is no room for officers who do not adhere to that philosophy, and added, "I think people understood.

Among other things, the former Supreme Allied Commander outlined such forthcoming changes as a reduction from 48 to 40 in the number of courses required of the 4,400 cadets to graduate.

Consequently, next fall West Point will adopt a new curriculum that discourages what Goodpaster termed "smorgasbordism" and encourages specializing. That, he said, was "the key." Another priority will be altering the schedule so the first semester ends by Christmas.

The academy has shortened the length of class periods and the school day. It has cut in half the amount of trivia plebes must memorize for the sake of memorization, such as the range of certain mis-

Referring to the 1976 cheating scandal, which resulted in the ouster of 152 cadets involved in honor code violations on graded homework, Goodpaster said the institution was then a "pretty grim" place but did not, as the study group had

"It shook them," he said of the scandal, "I'm sure it just shook them right down to their shoe soles.

Because the scandal reflected an "institutional failure of a very serious sort," Goodpaster said, restoring the health of the honor system was "in many ways" his most important task.

He said West Point is trying to teach cadets an "honor ethic" to use as a standard of integrity everywhere, and is introducing new ethics courses.

He said the 173 female cadets are doing well, that they are capable of more physical development than had been expected, and that the academy is trying to anticipate problems women may have in the future, such as the consequences of extra freedom they will enjoy next year as jun-

Q. I am 65, with money in savings at 7 3/4 percent. I've been offered a $10,000 annuity which will pay me $81.51 a month for life with any unpaid balance going to my heirs. Could this payment be reduced because of poor market condi-

A. No. The payment is fixed. The plan you are discussing, offered by a highly reputable life insurance company, says it will pay you $81.51 a month "for the rest of your life, no matter how long you live" for the $10,000 you pay into the contract now. If, at death, the total of the annuity payments does not equal what you paid in, the payments will be continued to your beneficiaries until they do equal the sum paid in.

So, your decisions must rest between 1) $10,000 earning the current rate of 7 3/4 (no one can predict interest rate levels for the balance of your lifetime) plus the assurance you can leave that $10,000 to your heirs, and 2) taking $81.51 a month for life with nothing left in your estate if you live long enough to collect the $10,-

A long-term AA grade corporate bond, as this is written, would yield about $835 a year... fully taxable, subject to refunding if interest rates decline. Principal fairly safe.

The annunity (81.51 times 12) yields $978.12 or 9.78 per cent at your present age, with only the interest included in that $978.12 subject to income taxes. Income fixed for life, and -if you live long enough -leaving nothing for heirs. Over to you.

Q. You talk of corporate bonds, but if I can get 7 3/4 percent from an insured $5,-000 savings account, why should I worry about the bond market?

A. If you worry about the bond market, stick to insured savings. There isn't enough difference to lose any sleep over.

Loan Arguments: I'm getting considerable mail from readers who insist that you can make money by borrowing at 9 31 or 10.2 percent (or some other similar rate) from a bank and leaving an amount equivalent to the sum borrowed in the bank at 5 per cent or 6 per cent. These come in response to a recent column in which I pointed out that you can't borrown at 10 percent and leave money on deposit at a 5 per cent and come out

In every case, the reader complaining about my arithmetic overlooks one cardinal fact: If you borrow, say $4,000 for three or four years and begin paying back principal and interest the next month your average loan is not $4,000, but only $4,000, plus the last payment, divided by

So, the bank has lent you an average of only about $2,000, plus; whereas the money you have working in the bank during this period remains at full strength, $4,000 -and compounded.

The eligibility of children is not affected by divorce or by remarriage of a surviving spouse (except that a stepchild relationship would cease when the stepchild leaves the veteran's household) A child adopted by the widow within two years of the veteran's death has eligibility for medical benefits.

Lance Links Dollar Drop, Need For Oil

BRUSSELS (AP) - Bert Lance Tuesday blamed the decline of the dollar in European money markets on increasing American dependence on foreign oil im-

The former Carter administration budget director told a news conference here the only solution is to deal with the energy problem and with inflation

It looks like we're now in a vicious cycle where the (U.S. trade) deficit continues to grow (because of increased oil imports), and as the deficit grows, interest rates continue to rise in the U.S. and the dollar continues to decline," he said, adding. "all is a cause and effect relationship

Lance was in Brussels on his first trip abroad since quitting his post under criticism for his business practices as a banker before joining the administration. He had been invited here before his resignation in September to address an international economic conference.

Lance said rising interest rates in the United States "don't help anybody." "One way of putting it," he said, "is that interest rates will stop going up when the dollar stops going down. The ex-budget chief blamed blamed paper work for the Carter administration's inability to spend all the money it has, and predicted there would be a shortfall of $10 billion to $11 billion this year in government spending. "It takes six months for them to write the rules and regulations," he said. "Then it takes another six months for the lawyers to interpret the rules and regulations, so you've already lost a year in that part of the process."

A. You do not have any problem with this During the last session of congress, legislation was passed that requires states to "pass through" federal cost-ofliving increase in SSI benefits directly to recipients, instead of using increases to

1 John 2 25-29. 3 1-7. The Living Bible

25 And He Himself has promised us this: eternal life. 26 These remarks of mine about the Antichrist are pointed at those who would dearly love to blindfold you and lead you astray. 27 But you have received the Holy Spirit and He lives within you, in your hearts, so that you don't need anyone to teach you what is right. For He teaches you all things, and He is the Truth, and no liar, and so, just as He has said, you must live in Christ, never to depart from Him. 28 And now, my little children, stay in happy fellowship with the Lord so that when He comes you will be sure that all is well, and will not have to be ashamed and shrink back from meeting Him. 29 Since we know that God is always good and does only right, we may rightly assume that all those who do right are His children.

CHAPTER 3

I See how very much our heavenly Father loves us, for He allows us to be called His children-think of it-and we really are! But since most people don't know God, naturally they don't understand that we are His children.

2 Yes, dear friends, we are already God's children, right now, and we can't even imagine what it is going to be like later on. But we do know this, that when He comes we will be like Him, as a result of secing Him as He really is.

3 And everyone who really believes this will try to stay pure because Christ is pure. 4 But those who keep on sinning are against God, for every sin is done against the will of God. 5 And you know that He became a man so that He could take away our sins, and that there is no sin in Him, no missing of God's will at any time in any way. 6 So if we stay close to Him, obedient to Him, we won't be sinning either; but as for those who keep on sinning, they should realize this: they sin because they have never really known Him or become

7 Oh, dear children, don't let anyone deceive you about this: if you are constantly doing what is good, it is because you are good,

THE 1978-CROP U. S. COTTON LOAN level is calculated unofficially at a base rate at average location of 43.97 cents per pound.

This would be down from 44.63 cents for 1977-crop cotton on the base quality of strict low middling 1 1/16th inches, 3.5-4.9 micronaire.

The USDA must announce the base loan rate by Nov. 1. But all the necessary input figures now are known, and private analysts have been busy making their own-calculations.

The official rate may vary slightly from the private estimates, but the base level is virtually certain to be within a very few points of 44 cents.

A fall-back provision under the new farm program will be the governing factor...The loan level is to be set at the lower of 85 per cent of the average U. S. spot market price for the base quality during the four preceding marketing years (weighted by market and month) or of the fall-back calculation.

HERE'S HOW THE FALL-BACK LOAN RATE is calculated:

est priced growths of those quoted for strict middling 1 1/16th inches, c.i.f. (cost, insurance, freight) Northern Europe, is plugged into the formula.

This two-week average then is adjusted downward by the six-month average difference between it and the U.S. spot price of SLM 1 1/16th from April 15 through Oct. 15. The fall-back loan rate then is 90 per cent of that adjusted Specific figures illustrate how this works.

The "A" Index of the Cotton Outlook of Liverpool, the index used in the formula on the Northern European price, averaged 59.39 cents during the first two erage was 10.53 cents. Deducting this difference from the two-week index average leaves an adjustment price of 48.86 cents. And 90 per cent of that puts the base loan at 43.97 cents.

THE FALL-BACK PROVISION IS INTENDED to assure that there is no loan interference with U. S. cotton's competitiveness in world markets.

Since the current fall-back calculation is below the four-year spot market computation of 50.28 cents, it will be the controlling factor in the setting of the 1978-crop loan level

Some farmers have had the misunderstanding that the spot market average would prevail and have been planning to carry 1977-crop cotton forward in the current loan, thinking it ultimately would come under the pricing umbrella of a higher floor for the 1978 crop.

But there still are differing views on how much effect, if any, the 1978-crop loan announcement - when it is officially made - will have on loan-movement or selling decisions on 1977-crop cotton.

Disaster Payment Limit Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate gave final congressional approval Tuesday to a measure that would immediately remove limits on federal disaster compensation for farmers.

The ceilings would have been removed next year under a bill enacted less than a month ago.

With a 61-to-26 vote, the measure was sent to President Carter. The Agriculture Department has supported the bill, even though it will add an estimated $29 million to its budget this fiscal year. The ceiling on federal payments to wheat, feed grain and cotton farmers now is $20,000 per farm. It is $55,000 per farm for rice growers.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the Budget Committee chairman, opposed the measure, saying it violates the budget limits Congress has adopted for the year beginning Oct. 1 and that Congress already has liberalized farm programs far beyond Carter's requests.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., the senior minority member of the budget panel and a grain farmer himself, agreed, saying farmers knew the limits of the programs when they planted 1977 crops and there's no need to change the rules after the season's over. "This is an undeserved bonanza to a small number of large farmers," said Bellmon, warning that the money to pay for it probably would have to come out of funds now earmarked for agricultural re-have about 800 acres of wheat, about 650 acres of corn or at least 200 acres of cotton destroyed by a disaster to reach the present limit. Thus, they argued, small farmers aren't hindered by the limit.

However, proponents of the bill said this year's depressed farm prices, wide-spread drought and numerous floods make the new benefits necessary now. The House approved the bill last week by a 265 to 127 vote.

Tech Seeks Improved Feedlot Output

Expansion and renovation of the feed mill at the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo could result in discovery of means to substantially reduce costs and energy output at feedlots without noticeably reducing cattle weight gain and quality, says a Texas Tech researcher.

Dr. William L. Mies, director of the center, hopes to attain these goals and to increase research by the enlargement of

The feed mill expansion was approved by the Texas Tech Board of Regents in September. The expansion is funded by a portion of the money recently appropriated by the State Legislature to the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Fabrications of some of the steel structures needed for the expansion has been started and the contractors expect to be on the Amarillo site Tuesday, with projected completion about 90 later.

"A feedyard today uses a lot of energy to produce that beef," Mies said, "so we would like to study the possibility of altering grain processing, or possibly reducing it, in order to conserve energy and fuel and to substantially reduce costs.

The expansion of the feed mill will enable it to handle four types of grain and three types of roughage as opposed to with reduced processing. We want to see if we can harvest grain in a high moisture form, meaning earlier harvesting, then putting preservatives on it and either not processing it or processing it only lightly, Mies said.

We want to see if the grain would still be nutritionally valuable for the cattle. Mies said future tests should determine the effect less processing might have on the nutritional value of the grain and onweight gain by the cattle.

This kind of research and our tests of feeding technique can really help reduce feeding mistakes," Mies said. "And in ? feedlots there are no small mistakes.

Unions Aim For Shorter Work Week

DETROIT (AP) - Representatives of more more than a dozen unions met Tuesday in what organizers said was a move aimed at a nationwide drive for a shorter work week.

"It is our position that it would be cheaper to employ these people than to pay for their unemployment," said one of the organizers. Frank Runnels. Runnels is president of United Auto Workers Union 22, a 10,000-member local of Cadillac workers.

The meeting included representatives of the United Steelworkers, United Mine Workers, Retail Workers, Machinists, Longshoremen, Electrical Workers and others.

Runnels said backers of the shorter work week would not propose a specific number of hours at this time.

"The labor movement has spent too much time arguing over how many hours should constitute a shorter work week and not enough time on the principle that a shorter work week would be good," he said. "It is up to each union and local to determine what it needs. A committee of 20 members will be established to continue the work of the organization meeting. Runnels said. Backers of the shorter week were arranging an "all unions" conference to be held in Dearborn in April. "Workers in America today need only look at the layoffs and cutbacks in steel today to see what is going to happen in every industry in our country if the hours of work are not adjusted in such a manner that we provide everyone in American a job and an opportunity to earn a living," said Bill Andrews, president of United Steelworkers Local 1010 at Inland Steel in East Chicago, Ill.

The steelworkers' union has been hurt by layoffs resulting from increased imports of Japanese and European steel.

Many unions, including the UAW, have campaigned for a shorter work week since Congress established the 40-hour week in 1938.

Some companies have made shortweek contracts with employes by permitting them to eat on company time or by giving them more paid holidays.

risk," he said. Kennedy said the furor over the FDA's proposal to ban saccharin as a suspected cancer-causer was "quite typical of what will happen when such a discovery is made" about a popular substance. But he said new scientific knowledge is turning up new dangers in familiar food addi-

The FDA chief defended the government's move to require labels in some drugs warning the consumer in plain language of their risks. Birth control pills and estrogens contain such inserts and in-

Operators Call For Oil Decontrol

By MAX B. SKELTON

DALLAS (AP) — Independent oil operators asked Congress Tuesday to reject

President Carter's energy program usiless it is revised to include natural gaprice decontrols and specific tax incentives that would stimulate oil and gas explorations plorations The Independent Petroleum Associa tion of America also called for decontrol of oil prices.

Resolutions adopted at the concluding session of the 5,000-member trade group's annual meeting said Carter's pro-posed crude oil equalization tax "is nothing more than a massive income redistribution plan.

The House bill now before a conference committee includes the crude oil tax and would extend natural gas price controls to intrastate markets. The Senate has voted to decontrol new gas prices and the Senate Finance Committee has rejected the equalization tax.

Should the Carter objectives prevail in the conference committee, the independents voted to mount an all-out campaign in both houses to reject the conference

The natural gas resolution asked the conference committee to deregulate all sales of new gas "as promised by Candidate Carter one year ago this week."

It was just a year ago that Carter, dur-ing the presidential campaign, sent the trade group a telegram saying he could be more effective than President Ford in working with Congress to decontrol new gas prices.

The conference committee also was asked to prevent the new Federal Energy Regulatory Commission from intervening in intrastate gas markets.

A tax resolution said there is an urgent need to revise the pending legislation to include specific, positive incentives to encourage and enable producers to maximize development of domestic oil and gas reserves.

The resolution asked for enactment of an energy development investment tax which would allow a credit against federal income tax for exploration and development expenditures."

The independents said oil price decontrol would be the most efficient way to maximize efforts to increase crude of supply, to reduce demand, to avoid unnecessary hardship on the economy and to maintain national security.

The resolution called for immediate decontrol of new crude oil prices and phasing out as quickly as possible of all price controls on all old oil.

Railroad Panel Reduces Crude Oil Production

AUSTIN (AP) - The Railroad Commission reduced Tuesday by five per cent the most efficient rate of production (MER) for the Salt Creek Field in Kent County, southeast of Lubbock.

The MER was lowered from 37,800 barrels a day to 36,000 barrels.

The new MER also applies to wells outside the Salt Creek Unit that have been operated by General Crude Oil of Houston since the field was discovered in 1952.

Witnesses for General Crude testified in August that the field has 125 productive wells and, as of June 1, cumulative oil production totaled 152.5 million barrels, with the field expected to yield another 125 million barrels.

Octogenarian Artist Expert With Color

MEMPHIS (AP) - At an age when walking sticks and rocking chairs usually fall to hand, 81-year-old Billie Hill has taken up the paintbrush with an attention-grabbing vengeance.

Last week, as her brightly colored scenes of barns and mountains and covered bridges hung in a Memphis State University cafeteria, the sprightly Mrs. Hill began talking about selling some of her paintings.

It began three years ago when her daughters heard about a special program at the school. They wanted her to keep her mind occupied. For a small fee, senior citizens would be permitted to attend classes on a non-credit basis.

'They started on me," the dimunitive grandmother said. "I don't know why they thought I needed anything extra - I had enough to do. But they decided Momma should do it.

Under some pressure from the younger generation, Mrs. Hill showed up at Memphis State with the idea of perhaps studying journalism or art history. But there was a vacancy in a freshman art class - color fundamentals - taught by Janie Poodry, an associate professor. "I have a lot of students who take this course." Mrs. Poodry said. "But not very many of them like it. ... It's a tough course, but it separates the serious students from those who are not.' Mrs. Hill wasn't fond of the class at first. Mrs. Poodry's students spend hours at a time on exercises designed to teach color use.

'I had a student come up to me one day and say, 'I wish you'd say something to Billie. She's unhappy'," Mrs. Poodry said. "I said, 'Who's Billie?' and she said, 'She's that nice little old lady over there.' She didn't like those exercises. She wanted to paint barns.

But Mrs. Hill stuck it out and her work soon caught the eye of her teacher. 'It wasn't any time until she let me paint a barn," Mrs. Hill said, laughing.

The octogenarian artist painted covered bridges and log cabins and cloud formations and churches and mountains - all with youthful splashes of color. "I can't draw," she said, pointing to her acrylic of a Pennsylvania Dutch barn.

Color — that's my characteristic But her paintings show an unusual amount of detail and accuracy. Much of her work is drawn from recollections of her travels.

"I've seen so many, many things I can recall through my life that would make beautiful paintings," she said. "A redbird flying through the falling snow in East Tennessee. ... A late-afternoon thunderstorm building over the city. Mrs. Hill and her mentor scoff at comparisons of her work and that of the late Grandma Moses. "Grandma Moses was a primitive — she didn't have any training." Mrs. Poodry said. "Billie is - well I think you should label her an artist. She has more sophistication. Billie has wild, joyous color. She knows how to use color. She is an artist.

BILLIE HILL-At the age of 81, Billie Hill has begun two new undertakings-being a student and an artist. Mrs. Hill is one of the star pupils in her art classes at Memphis State University. But Mrs. Hill and her teacher, Janie Poodry, scoff at comparisons of Mrs. Hill's work with the late Grandma Moses. (AP Laserphoto)

Hospital Guidelines Rapped At Childress

By Shirley Anderson A-J Correspondent

The administrator of Childress General Hospital has called for a letter-writing campaign here to protest proposed government guidelines that would drastically reduce the number of hospital beds lo-

Robert Maynard, hospital administrator, said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently published proposed guidelines that would limit the number of general hospital beds in a community to four per 1,000 population and would require hospitals to maintain an average occupancy rate of 80 per cent.

"At the ratio, Childress General with its present 75 beds would be reduced to 28, and the facility at Paducah would have only eight beds," Maynard remarked.

The administrator further explained that such a rationing of beds, coupled with previously-announced ceilings on allowable patient days, could mean that one in every four patients needing hospital care would be turned away in Child-

Maynard said other proposals in the guidelines would require a hospital to have a minimum of 500 births per year to maintain obstetric services. Fewer than 150 infants are delivered annually at Childress General. Still another proposal calls for at least 20 beds in a hospital pediatric unit, with average annual occupancy of 65 to 80 per cent. The pediatric occupancy here falls well below that figure. Maynard said.

Maynard said it is his opinion that the proposals are totally inconsistent with congressional intent of the public law which resulted in the plans. He further stated that the proposals are wholly incompatible with health service regulations and that they ration hospital admis sions without any scientific basis.

"I believe the proposed standards would limit the quality of patient care without regard to medically-determined needs," the administrator said, "We are not as over-bedded in Texas rural areas as we are under-doctored.

The past census of Childress General shows that when the city has more doctors, the doctors, the hospital occupancy rate increases, Maynard said, adding,"We don't need more legislation; we need more doctors.

In stressing his opinion that more doctors would solve low occupancy problems in smaller hospitals, Maynard remarked, "I think the answer is so simple everybody is overlooking it.

He said that while part of the stated purpose of the standards is to reduce health care cost while improving patient care, no consideration is being given to the medical needs of the community. In calling for the community to protest the proposals by way of a letter-writing campaign, Maynard said that while the plan now is the talking stages, "It could go through if no one speaks up. HEW has asked the public, as well as physicians and hospitals, to comment on the guidelines, setting a closing date of Nov. 22 for such comments.

Maynard urged area residents to write to the Health Resources Administration. Room 10-22, 3700 East-West Highway, Hyattsville, Md. 20782, or to state sena tors and represenatives:

"We also are finding a different kind of traveler," Miss Watson said, adding that because of the lower fares there is a dramatic increase in the numbers of the young and the elderly going abroad. Americans also are going to other places than the beaten paths of western Europe and the Mediterranean, she said. After the popularity of Alex Haley's book 'Roots' about the search for his ancestors in Africa, she said, "now we are having weekly flights to Dakar (in west Afri-

Even Jet Ferry Slowed By Fog

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - It was a fog that would make Sherlock Holmes seek out the Hound of the Baskervilles to use as a guide dog.

It was a fog to take the crease out of your trousers. It was a fog that made matches so soggy you couldn't light that first morning cigarette. A fog to take the curl out of a permanent

And it was fog enough to make the Larkspur ferry dock almost 20 minutes late. The Larkspur ferry is one of America's last great commuting adventures. The sleek, turbine-powered boats fairly fly across San Francisco Bay, shuttling Marin County residents back and forth in air conditioned (or heated) comfort.

Each of the three jet ferries has two bars serving a variety of alcoholic concoctions, although even the most jaded commuters stick to the coffee and doughnuts on the 6 05 a m run that docks at about 6:45 on San Francisco's waterfront - normally Not so on Tuesday

Halfway through my morning coffee and newspaper, I looked out the large window by my table. I was on the lower deck but couldn't see the water. That's fog.

And not quite on schedule, the GT Sonoma slipped and bumped into its moorage And passengers, some of them kidding, "Is this Monterey?" or, "We've never docked in Redwood City before," headed for the offices in the financial district

Some commuters have their trains, subways, traffic jams and crowded buses. Late or on time, or even lost in the fog, I'll take my Larkspur Ferry, thank you.

The revolutionary new protective sealant that is not a wax ar polish and can only be applied by your new car dealer GUARANTED
FOR THREE FULL YEARS — Your auto purchase today is a necessity. Buy with the future in mind...

POLYGYLCOAT PRESERVES! NO NEED TO EVER WAX

NO NEED TO EVER WAX YOUR CAR AGAIN!

Polyglycoat is a paint and chrome sealant finish — guaranteed to protect your car against fading, corrosion, oxydation, and loss of gloss for three years. Comprised of Dow S00, paraffin, sinicone, with a kerosene base, Polyglycoat breaks through the sinity paint pores in the surface, and penetrates 2-3 layers into the paint-sealing it and shielding it against the toreign elements that cause corrosion, rust, and loss of gloss.

Not only will Polyglycoat eliminate the need for waxing, but it will virtually maintain your car's showroom finish, thereby enhancing resale potential. It should be applied to all new cars and properly prepared used.

Heart Triumphs Over Adversity

United Press International

Anne Wilson looks very earnest when she talks about her music

And there's an angry glint in her eyes when she talks about the past year, the things that got in the way, the hard lessons learned.

"All the things that happened to us. she says, "all the elements that caused us to change went together to just slap us in the face with how life in the rock biz wasn't all sweetness and light.

A year ago, sisters Anne and Nancy Wilson seemed only a half-step away from superstardom. And their band, Heart, was one of the hottest new groups in what proved to be the best 12 months of rock 'n' roll in a long, long time. Heart's debut album, "Dreamboat An-

Then it all fell apart.

Money issues, disputes over promotion and advertising methods and a general collapse of confidence led Heart to break with Mushroom. The company, in turn, sued and tried to get an injunction to stop the band from recording. For a new group, such a move could have spelled disaster

"Our career — our brand new little career — was really being threatened with being squashed like a cigarette, being just stamped out by this huge legal hassle," says Anne. "They were asking for an injunction to stop us from recording Luckily the judge looked at the situation and said, 'I won't stop these young

He says, "In the 1930s propaganda art really didn't work. You end up having to manipulate characters to push an idea. It doesn't have artistic value. When I'm writing, I try to separate myself from propaganda.

The song is from a poem by Chapin's wife, Sandy. "It scared me. It said, when you're gone, you cease to exist to your children in a way and they don't expect you back. If you don't show them they matter to you, they'll show you that you don't matter to them. "She was zinging me for running Chapin wrote a song from her poem and he also started saying no to some requests for benefits and scheduling himself to spend more time at home. The Chapins have six children.

In a recent weekend, Chapin says, he gave a concert on Thursday night in Monroe, La., finishing at 11:30 p.m. He and his brother, Steve, who plays piano in his group, drove to Jackson, Miss., caught a 2.35 a.m. flight and he got home at 8 a.m. for a family breakfast. On Friday night he drove to a college

He sleeps in cars and on planes, he says, "and in those four days I spent more time with my family than the average commuting father would spend at home." He writes movie scripts and plays on the Long Island Railroad on days he visits New York City on business. Last fall he had a book, "Looking, Seeing," come out, with 49 poems and 10 His most-requested song is "Taxi," from "Heads and Tales," the first of his seven LPs on Elektra Records. It takes an act of will from somebody who wants to be a successful communicator to get back to the environment that caused his creativity in the first place. IT WAS QUITE a surprise. For a change, when the summer football magazines blossomed on the news stands. there was not a lot of orange to them. And not a great bit of the cardinal shade of red. Lots of maroon and scarlet and crimson, though.

And, at the bottom of the stack, there was a heavy layer of purple. All this was before a drop of sweat soiled the jerseys, before white shoes received a coast of green dust from artificial grass, before a single splat of coaching tobacco had discolored the turf.

Strange, but autumn has a way of changing the colors of the surroundings on college campuses. Northers haven't had as much do to with it as, say, ill winds and some spring spadework.

Two months, then, has done a lot for the grass across the state of Texas and also the grass-mashers. Seldom has there been such a turnabout in Southwest Conference fortunes. In the past, one, maybe two teams, would surprise, but this year, practically every team has suffered some setbacks or pulled some surprises which were not expected.

THE U. OF Texas started the season with no championship consideration whatsoever-and this is probably the first mistake the predicters made. Just in national polls, where if a guy is asked to pick the top five teams in the country, he won't be too far off by going through the Ohio State-Michigan-Alabama-OU-Notre Dame bit, so the Longhorns should be included anytime titles are being discussed.

A year ago, the Longhorns slid, all the way to 5-5-1, and they had to recover in that sentimental Darrell Royal-farewell game to reach .500. That, plus the fact that Earl Campbell had been hurt and the fact that Texas had stumbled along it showed some signs of emerging against all year without outstanding quarterback. Oregon, before bursting loose against leadership left the impression that the Rice. Longhorns, in '77, would not be strong.

Also. Houston had just about everyone back except Wilson Whitley, and the Cougars were more than impressive in sharing the SWC title with Tech but sharing the Cotton Bowl spoils with no one.

Tech and Houston have felt the same injury pains-right in the quarterback. Danny Davis, who led the Cougars to the Cotton Bowl, went out against Penn State, and Rodney Allison limped to the sidelines against A&M. Both offenses have suffered as a result. Yank Reliever Named Cy Young Award Winner

NEW YORK (AP) - Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees, who has never started a game in 11 major league seasons, became the first American League relief pitcher to win the Cy Young Award.

In balloting released Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America, Lyle picked up 561/2 points to top Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles, a previous three-time winner, who had 48 points. Strikeout king Nolan Ryan of the California Angels finished third with 46 points, followed by Dennis Leonard of the Kansas City Royals, who had 45.

The left-handed Lyle, whose 201 career saves are a major league record, received nine first-place votes, three for second and 21/2 votes for third place. That gave him his total of 561/2 points under the system which awards five points for first, three for second and one for third.

Lyle, 33, led the Yankees to the AL East title for the second straight year with a 13-5 record, 26 saves and a leagueleading 2.17 earned run average. His vic-

You know, I just might get nervous for this game," the Texas Tech runningback said Tuesday. "This game," of course, is Saturday's battle with topranked Texas in Austin, an important clash for national prestige and position in the Southwest Conference race.

"I never get nervous before a game." Taylor added, "but I started thinking about this one last week, and I've stayed

NEW YORK (AP) - Mel Morgan, defensive back for the Cincinnati Bengals, has

HOUSTON (UPI) - The University of Houston, having lost its No. 1 quarterback, been placed on probation and losers of two games in a row, has had about enough hardship for one year.

So the Cougurs are not about to have their last television apperance in two seasons taken away from them.

In an attempt to rejuggle the late season collegiate television schedule, ABC-TV asked Houston officials last week to alter its contract with the network which calls for the Cougars to meet Texas A&M in a nationally televised game Dec

That will be the last TV appearance for the Cougars until at least 1979 because of an NCAA-imposed probation.

Houston and A&M originally agreed to move their game from Oct. 8 to Dec. 3 for television purposes. If Houston had left the game where it was, it would have faced the Aggies the week after their humiliating setback to the Michigan League All-Star teams.

A spokesman for the Cougars said Tuesday ABC had asked the school to allow a change in its contract with the network thus allowing the network to televise the potentially critical game between Texas A&M and Texas Thanksgiving week

The spokesman said the Cougars declined.

No school is allowed more than five television appearances in a two-year period, and A&M has already filled its quota. In order to televise the A&M-Texas game, the Houston-A&M television appearance would have to be cancelled.

But even if Houston had agreed to ABC's wishes, the Texas-Texas A&M game apparently had little chance to be televised anyway.

A&M officials said that ABC had wanted to put the Aggies and Longhorns on Thanksgiving Day, instead of their originally scheduled Saturday, Nov. 26 date.

And Aggies coach Emory Bellard told the television people that he would not, under any circumstances, allow the A &M-Texas game to be moved to Thursday. That would give his team only three days prepration for what could be its most important game of the season.

Texas Climbs To Top; Tech Drops On One List

Unbeaten Texas, which figured as an also-ran in the Southwest Conference this season, moved into the No. 1 spot Tuesday in The Associated Press' college football poll. Texas Tech, which plays the Longhorns in Austin Saturday, held onto its 13th spot in the United Press International rankings but dropped a peg in the AP list, after being idle last Saturday.

The Longhorns boosted their record to 6-0 with a 30-14 rout of Southern Methodist last Saturday while Minneosota upset previously unbeaten Michigan 16-0 and sent the Wolverines skidding from first place to No. 6 in both polls.

Texas attracted 65 first-place votes and a 1,336 of a possible 1,340 points from a nationwide panel of 67 sports writers and broadcasters; it landed 38 of 39 firstplace ballots from the UPI Panel of

The two AP voters who didn't pick Texas No. 1 chose the Longhorns second on their ballots, and Alabama garnered a UPI first-place vote.

Alabama, third last week, took over to second by crushing Louisville 55-6. The Crimson Tide landed 1,077 points.

Ohio State moved from fourth to third with 963 points after its 35-15 beating of Northwestern. Oklahoma, a 35-16 winner over Iowa State with 952 points, grabbed the No. 4 berth.

Notre Dame, which stopped Southern California 49-19, vaulted from 11th to No. 5 with 740 points. The Trojans, meanwhile, dropped from fifth to 10th.

No. 6 Michigan drew 719 points while Kentucky moved from eighth to seventh with 610 points by blanking Georgia 33-0. Arkansas, which topped Houston 34-0, advanced from No. 9 to eighth with 505 points. Penn State, which defeated West

CHICAGO (AP) - Commissioner Wayne Duke of the Big Ten and athletic director Paul Giel both were emphatic Tuesday that the University of Minnesota's action to get back into the good graces of the NCAA has nothing to do with the possibility of a football bowl bid.

The university's Assembly Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics Monday declared basketball players Mike Thompson and Dave Winey ineligible, ending a year-long feud between the university and the NCAA The entire Minnesota athletic program has been on indefinite probation because the university refused to declare the players ineligible after Thompson was accused of selling complimentary tickets and Winey allegedly accepted free lodging from a Minnesota booster. The announcement came after Minnesota upset Michigan 16-0 last week to boost its record to 5-2 giving the Gophers a chance to finish with a 9-2 record which could attract a bowl bid. Duke said discussions among the university, the NCAA and the Big Ten had been going on for several weeks and if the matter was not settled, the Big Ten conference stood a chance of incurring penalties by the NCAA.

USC Turns Attention To PAC-8

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The $64,000 question now, Southern California Coach John Robinson said Tuesday, is how good are his Trojans.

As USC prepares to meet Cal in Berkeley next Saturday, Robinson hopes USC is a better football team than it appeared in the stunning 49-19 loss to Notre Dame.

Our big thing now is not to go around in a state of mourning." the Southern Cal coach said. "We have to keep our confid-

The Trojans, who dropped five notches to 10th in the national college poll because of last Saturday's loss to the Irish. now turn their attention to the Pacific-8 race. USC is 5-2 overall, but still in excellent shape in the run for the roses, sharing the conference lead with Washington at 3-0.

Before last Saturday, I believe we were considered maybe a cut above the rest of the teams in the Pac-8," Robinson said. "But now, we're lumped in there with the rest

Reflecting on the long afternoon in South Bend, Robinson said Notre Dame's change to green jerseys was wrongly pointed to as giving the Irish the psychological edge that made the difference in

'The key to that game wasn't their green jerseys; it was because they were so carefully prepared, so ready.

I believe so many sports legends have been made out of things like green jersevs and halftime talks," Robinson remarked. "But the difference is preparation and execution. The reason we lost in South Bend was because we didn't play a good game.

"Our kids wanted badly to win that game. I can't fault their dedication and determination. We just weren't sharp.

Odom Praises Morris For Control Of Game

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The majority of time, when a coach is asked who was the outstanding ballplayer on his team the previous week, he will utter an offensive back's name.

After all, the backs are used to getting the girls as well as the headlines.

Monterey coach James Odom took exception to the rule this week. He said an offensive lineman, one George Morris was his nominee.

Aw, coach come off it. "We were able to control the line of scrimmage against Plainview and that was one of the main reasons that we were able to beat them (21-0)," Odom said concerning his lineman.

Odom went on to add that Morris was one of the real assests in our win. Morris, who graded 88 per cent, has been named the offensive lineman of the week by the Avalanche-Journal for his performance in the Plainmen's crucial District 4-AAAA victory Saturday over the Bulldogs.

"Most of the time we ran at the weak side of the line," Odom pointed out. "And that is where he (Morris) plays. During the game he was able to control his man and help open some holes for Morris, a 6-5, 240-pound junior, is seeing his first action on the varsity this season. Last year, he was play exclusively on the junior varsity unit.

This year he (Morris) has really improved quite a bit, "Odom said. "He has some agility and is quick."

Odom said Morris' strong point was just coming off the ball and straight-up blocking the man across from him.

Also nominated for the offensive line man honor were tight end Shawn Williams of Lubbock Christian High, who had three catches for 77 yards; Kevin Lusk of Dunbar, who coach Van Jefferson called "one of our steadiest players;" and Coronado's Mark McLain.

"You know that when a fan is at a game, he is watching the backs run," Odom said. "But not the coaches. We know that we win and lose ball games on

Garnering the offensive back of the week honor is LCHS quarterback Kent Allison

So far this season, Allison has hit 36 of 61 attempts for 436 yards.

LCHS coach George Harper also nominated Allison for the top defensive back of the week. The senior signal caller picked off a pair of ACHS tosses.

Also cited were Dunbar's Kenneth James, who had a 39-yard touchdown run to lead the Panthers to a 21-12 win over Brownfield; and Ron Reeves of Monterey, who rushed for 85 yards on 18 car-

Top Schoolboy Teams Win

Only Jacksboro's tie with Lake Dallas and Motley County's loss to Valley kept the top 50 teams in the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll from sweeping the opposition last week.

And the top rated teams, Port Neches-Groves in 4A, Gregory-Portland in 3A, Bellville in 2A, Seagraves in A and Wheeler in B, all remained firmly in command of their divisions. Jacksboro, ranked No. 2 in Class 2A much of the season, was tied by Lake Dallas 7-7 last week but still remained in the top 10 as the No. 6 team this week.

Motley County, ranked No. 6 last week in Class B, also survived a 34-0 loss to Valley but remained in the rankings in the No. 10 spot this week.

Although there were no losses among the 3A ranks, defending champion Beaumont Hebert, ninth a week ago, jumped ahead of Andrews and San Angelo Lakeview into the No. 7 position this week and polled two first place votes.

Petersburg wedged its way into a tie for the No. 10 spot in A with Blooming Grove as the only newcomer in any clas sification this week.

While the rankings have been a tough fraternity to break into the past two weeks, there are several teams standing in the wings should there be any upsets.

Unbeaten Highland Park, which garnered one first place vote this week, and once-beaten LaPorte are possible choices

Kaufman, Whitehouse, Brady and Dayton are among the also rans in 2A. Lovelady in A and Sundown in B, also narrowly missed the rankings in their classifica-

Mitts'-Gamble Pays Dividends

By WALT MCALEXANDER

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Al Mitts' experiment at Kress this fall seems to be paying dividends. The Kangaroos are presently tied for the 3-A lead and, in all likelihood, will go into that Nov. 11 showdown with Vega with the loop title on the line.

We're not going to overlook Bovina or Springlake-Earth at all," Mitts explains, but it sure would be nice to go into that game (against Vega) making it the big

Explaining his experiment, Mitts says this year we tried to bring our boys along a little slower. In the past we've gotten too high too soon and got burned out. The last couple of years we've concentrated hard in the early going to correct our mistakes and worked hard on

"This year, we tried not to play with so much emotion early in the season and the boys responded well. We've had two emotional games (22-14 and 43-28 victories over Hart and Fapwell, respectively) the last two weeks and have really played

"Our staff and scouts have done an excellent job this year and deserve as much credit as anyone (for Kress' 6-1 record).

'We havent's sat down and ironed out the mistakes on offense and defense we've just brought the team along slow. working on technique and play timing and on improving the mistakes we were making earlier.

The Kangaroos have the schedule in their favor, as they have only one road encounter left-that this week against

That contest against Farwell was a real thriller, with the lead changing hands three times. And Mitts said he had no qualms about electing to go for a twopoint converions (which put Kress up 29-28) with 11-minutes to go.

"I talked to the officials at the half and we were behind in penetrations and first downs then (with the score tied 14-14). I didn't know how they stood them, but I wasn't about to settle for a tie . . . that's not what we were out there for."

Kress' only loss was a 49-20 decision to Petersburg before the Kangaroo fans the third week of the season.

"Petersburg has a real fine club, there's no doubt about that. But this goes back to what we were trying to do this year. Even though it was an important game, we didn't want to get our kids too

Washington State Expects SRO Crowd

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) - Washington State officials predict the Cougar football team will play before its third straight capacity house at home Saturday afternoon, in a Pacific-8 contest against Ore-

Although both clubs are coming off losses and have little hope of contending in the league, more than 27,000 fans are expected at 27,600-seat Martin Stadium.

The visiting Ducks carry a 1-6 record and three straight Pac-8 losses into the game. WSU is 3-4 overall and 1-3 in the WSU coach Warren Powers said Monday defensive ends Dan Reardon and Scott Pelluer and safety Bob Gregor are injured and might not see action.

We still feel like we have about as tough a district as there is around. We feel very fortunate to have bea ten both Hart and Farwell

Mitts had words of praise for Eddie Johnson (116 yards on 14 carries, two TDs and 12 tackles from a linebacker spot), Eddie Gonzales (fumble recovery and 15 tackles as linebacker) and Carlos Amador (14 tackles as defensive tackle) for their showing against Farwell.

Taylor Sees Need For More Offense

lor, either

'Defensively, they're extremely quick and have real good team speed," he said. "Their speed really shows. They have great pursuit. A lot of times when I watch a film. I can see times at which, if I made a certain cut. I could go all the way for a touchdown, but I can't say that after looking at the films of Texas' first five

Much has been made of the youth on Texas' defensive unit. The starting 11 includes eight sophomores and just one senior, defensive tackle Brad Shearer.

I'm surprised that they're so young but have still played so well. It's kind of a 'But they've proved that they can play by beating Oklahoma and Arkansas. After watching Oklahoma against Ohio State, I didn't think anybody could hold them without a touchdown, but Texas did. Their defense has proved they can play under adverse circumstances.

Shearer and free safety Johnnie Johnson are the leaders of UT's defense Shearer is coming off a junior year in which he was bothered by a bad knee. He missed spring training because of knee surgery but has come back strongly this

"He's the key in the middle for them. Taylor said. "He's quicker and stronger than he was in 1976, and he's become their defensive leader, like (Wilson) Whitley was for Houston last year.

Texas is expected to be a big challenge for the Tech offense, which has gradually gotten better since the loss of quarterback Rodney Allison against Texas A&M a month ago. Taylor sees much room for improvement, though.

I don't think we've played nearly to our potential, offensively. The last time we came close to it was in the first quarter against A&M. The defense has been leading us all season. Losing Rodney and the two guards (Greg Wessels and Greg Davis) has hurt because it took some experience out of the lineup. We've had other injuries, too

"The last three or four games, we haven't had the confidence we had at the start of the season, but we're slowly getting it back. We've done some good things, but have stopped ourselves with penalties and stuff. Nobody's really stopped us.

Taylor has not been happy with his performance thus far. He's the team's top rusher with 425 yards, has a 4.4-yard average per carry and is the team leader in pass receptions with 15, but he expected much more in this, his senior campaign.

Top Michigan Cager Faces Knee Surgery

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - Star center Phil Hubbard, who led Michigan into the NCAA basketball tournament the last two seasons, is scheduled to undergo knee surgery Thursday to remove torn cartilage, team officials said Tuesday. He will be lost to the Wolverines indefi-

We certainly hope to have Phil back playing with us in the near future," said Coach Johnny Orr, whose team opens its season Nov. 26 at Western Kentucky.

Hubbard, who was All-Big Ten last season and third team All American, injured his left knee in Sophia, Bulgaria, last August. He was playing for the United States' team against the Soviet Union squad in World University Games compe-

Hubbard was sent home early to rest. He reinjured the knee during the first day of practice for the upcoming season, Oct. 17, a university spokesman said.

Last season Hubbard led Michigan in scoring, with a 19.6 average, and rebounding, with a 13.0 average.

The exact extent of the injury has not been determined and the prognosis for his return is incomplete at this time, said team physician Jerry O'Connor can look at film and see instances in which I just didn't make the right cut. and that's not normal. Usually, my cuts are natural, instinctive.

'I think it's just mental. Maybe it started with that knee injury in the fall I'd never had one before "Taylor was having a fine fall until he suffered a hyperextended knee and missed some work.

But we've got to get going now. This is the stretch, and I think we can make it to the Cotton Bowl if we win these last

NOTES: Head coach Steve Sloan said injured quarterback Rodney Allison was much improved Tuesday over Monday but is still a doubtful participant for the Texas game. . Sloan said Mark Johnson would be Tech's quarterback starter. based on Tuesday's practice.". Sloan added that strongside guard Greg Mahoney probably will not be able to play versus Texas because of a severely pulled harmstring muscle. Right now, secondteam center Joe Walstad is Mahoney's replacement. . Strongside guard Greg Wessels has resumed working out this week. A back injury has kept him out of action since the A&M game. Punter Mike Mock hasn't punted in practice since the Rice game, in which he suffered a pulled groin muscle. Sloan said it's a wait-andsee situation now. "We'll try him as a punter today or Thursday and see how he does." Freshman walkon Eric Jones is the backup punter

Raiders Prepare For Denver Tilt

OAKLAND (AP) - The Oakland Raiders began what could be the most important practice week of their season Tuesday, preparing for Sunday's rematch with the Denver Broncos

"We usually win the first game against them," said wide receiver Cliff Branch. 'Now it's going to be tough. They have the advantage because for them to get to the playoffs, they have to at least split with us. Now we have to split with

The Broncos took the American Conference West lead by beating the Nation al Football League champions 30-7 here Oct. 16 and remained unbeaten by downing the Cincinnati Bengals last Sunday while the Raiders were edging the New York Jets 28-27.

"The Jets game may have done us some good, because we did pull through as a team at the end," said safety Charles Phillips. He added, "We'll have to be ready Sunday because we'll have 75,000 fans against us

The Raiders, 5-1, and Broncos will meet at sold-out Mile High Stadium in Denver The Raiders have not lost in Denver since the 1962 season.

In 1976 Michigan averaged 103 159 in attendance for its seven home football

LAS VEGAS (AP)-Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis remained in guarded condition at a local hospital Tuesday as doctors tried to determine if the legendary "Brown Bomber" suffered a heart attack

Louis, 63, was admitted to Sunrise Hospital late Saturday after suffering chest pains at home.

JOHNNY MAJORS

Tennessee Record 'Realistic'

Majors thinks the University of Tennessee's 2-5 record "may be the most realistic thing" that ever happened to the school's football fanatics and says things might get worse before they get better.

But in the next breath he adds that things are looking up; it may take three or four years but we're gonna make prog-

This season is quite a comedown for Majors, who returned to his alma mater following a 12-0 record, the 1976 national championship and Coach of the Year honors at the University of Pittsburgh.

Tennessee has been in a downslide recently and it may not have bottomed out yet," Majors said during a quick visit to New York this week-Tennessee has an open date next Saturday-before heading home for some heavy recruiting. "I told our alumni before the season that we're not very big but we're slow."

Once a national power, Tennessee won't be on television for the first time in a decade or so. Ten of the top 44 players are freshmen and Majors says the Vols are "finding a different way to lose each week. But we haven't been out of any game and we're fighting better each week, that's the encouraging thing."

When he took the job, Majors warned Tennessee supporters not to expect miracles. So far, they haven't sent any moving vans to his house, a fate that befell his predecessor, Bill Battle.

The letters have been 100 per cent positive," he said. "I think our fans have gotten a bad reputation which they don't really deserve. We put 83,000 people in the stands every week and they're not all gonna be ladies and gentlemen. The only good job I've really done is to convince em that we have a long road back to the

Despite the lowly record, Majors is developing a strong affection for his gutty, if outmanned, squad.

"I didn't like this team very much during spring practice and early fall prache said. "but the more I see of them, the more I like them. Unfortunately, we've had more injuries than any team I've had in the last 10 years and we just can't afford that

Because of the NCAA's annual 30scholarship limit-95 overall in effect at any one time-Majors knows he can never again rebuild by bringing in 70-plus recruits as he did his first year at Pitt.

The 30 rule is unrealistic." he said Sixty over two years would be okay if you could have 35 one year and 25 the next. Right now, five more players would make a tremendous amount of differ-

"I can't wait to recruit the next few days. I told my wife that all I want is 100 per cent improvement next year and she said that shouldn't be too hard.

Meanwhile, Back At Pittsburgh. . .

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Jackie Sherrill talked Tuesday about Tulane, but two bigger ones ahead crept into the conversation.

"There are still some games down the road that won't be easy, and this is one of them," said Sherrill, coach of the 13thranked University of Pittsburgh football team that meets Tulane University here Saturday.

Nonetheless, Pitt's biggest regular season game figures to be its finale with ninth-ranked Penn State at Pitt Stadium.

Just before Sherrill's press luncheon Tuesday, Pitt announced the date of the Penn State game had been switched from Nov. 19 to Nov. 26 to accommodate a national telecast by ABC that will enrich each school by $250,000.

The game will remain at Pitt Stadium, unlike the past two years when it was moved to Three Rivers Stadium where lights were available for night-time tele-

'We'll need that extra week to prepare for them and get some people healthy," said Sherrill.

However the move may cause some stomach tension among major bowl committee members, who might wind up waiting that extra week to decide whether to select Penn State or Pitt.

The bids can be extended Nov. 19, but Sherrill figures the big bowls will wait if Pitt and Penn State keep winning.

Sure they will," said Sherrill. "If we win, they'll wait. If you were a bowl committee you'd wait too, you'd say, 'we'll take the winner."

And what about the loser? "He'll have to hustle," said Sherrill.

Undefeated Season Surprises Landry

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry said Tuesday he never expected his team to be unbeaten at this stage of the National Football League campaign but quickly added he could live with being a frontrunner.

"I'd rather have a big lead if I had a preference, but unless you keep playing quality football you can lose it almost overnight," said Landry whose Cowboys are three games ahead of Washington and St. Louis in the National Conference Eastern Division

Landry said Dallas' 6-0 start - which ties the best beginning in the club's 17year history - could be traced to "confidence and conditioning.

The enthusiasm of the young players gives the older players incentive and this leads to a confident team," said Landry "Our conditioning is the best it has ever been. That's definitely a factor in the fourth quarter. The Cowboys have outscored their op-

'Randy is in the right place," said Landry. "He will stay in the line now.

MEMPHIS. Tenn. (AP) - Memphis got its second professional sports franchise in as many months Tuesday when the North American Soccer League announced that it is coming to town.

The Memphis team is to play 15 games in Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium next

Braves Fire Bristol

ATLANTA (AP) - Dave Bristol said Tuesday he is surprised the Atlanta Braves offered him a front office job when they fired him as field manager.

"I'd rather stay in uniform if I could," Bristol said in an interview. "I might have to take a coaching job to stay in uniform though.

In the first two years of his three-year contract with Atlanta, Bristol coached the Braves to 70-92 and 61-101 seasons. worst in the National League

The team suffered severely from injuries this season and was stocked with young players Bristol said will make At

There are some players here that are going to be real good and they have the right kind of character and attitude and they're going to play good," he said.

It will be something of a replay for Bristol who worked with a young team players included Pete Rose, Johnny Bench, Gary Nolen and Tony Perez - in Cincinnati prior to being fired in 1969.

Bristol managed the Milwaukee Brew ers, then an expansion club, from 1970 until May of 1972. He was a coach with the Montreal Expos until being hired by the Braves for the 1976 season.

A report in the New York Daily News said Yogi Berra, the great Yankee catcher who managed the New York Mets to the World Series, and is now a coach with the Yankees, has been offered a threeyear contract by the Braves.

Braves player personnel director Bill Lucas said a list of candidates had been drawn up and Berra's name was on it. But, he said. Berra had not been offered a job because the Braves had not talked to the Yankees to ask permission to discuss a job with Berra, as is required by league rules

Bristol said when he heard reports that some members of the Braves board of directors wanted his scalp he called Lucas, who assured him he would have a chance to defend himself before the Bristol came to Atlanta, he said, to meet with the board, but found he had been removed Monday night, and offered a job as Lucas' special assistant.

He said he didn't believe reports that some of the players had wanted him

As long as I live." Bristol said, "I'll never believe the report that several players said that. I believe I could look them face to face and I don't believe they could tell me that. In fact, I know they couldn't.

Braves owner Ted Turner, who last season valked Bristol and sent him for a few days rest, is under suspension by Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, and could not legally have played a part in the decision to fire Bristol

Turner who turned the managing job back to Bristol after Kuhn kicked him out of the dugout, saying league rules prohibit an owner from doubling as manager. was in New York on business and could not be reached for comment.

Salinas Sentenced To 12 Years In Prison

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A San Antonio federal judge sentenced Enrique Salinas, a South Texas businessman, to 12 years in prison and fined him $25,000 Tuesday for conspiring to misapply almost $2 million in funds of the now-closed Citizens State Bank of Carrizo Springs.

Salinas, an Eagle Pass resident who was the principal stockholder of the bank when it was closed by state banking officials in June 1976, was sentenced by U.S. District Court Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Judge Wood also sentenced former bank president Lewis Woodul to seven years in prison for his part in the conspiracy. Dan Sanchez Jr., the former vice chairman of the bank's board, received a four-year prison

The judge allowed the three men to remain free on bond pending the appeals of their convictions.

The trio was convicted last August following their indictment last spring by a federal grand jury of violating federal banking laws.

Salinas' wife, Gretchen, was also indicted but she was found innocent during the August trial.

Black Leader's Autopsy Shows Damage To Brain $\label{eq:continuous} JOHANNESBURG, South Africa~(AP) — A government autopsy showed "extensive brain injury" caused the death of detained black leader Steve Biko, informed$ medical sources said Tuesday.

Biko, the 30-year-old founder of South Africa's black consciousness move died Sept. 12 in security police detention. His death set off protests in South Africa and abroad against the white minority government

State pathologists performed the autopsy the day after Biko's death, in the presence of doctors appointed by his family, but its findings have not been published. Justice Minister James T. Kruger said Monday he was sending a report on the autopsy to Transvaal Attorney General J.E. Nothling to decide whether a "judicial post-mortem inquiry is necessary.

Kruger first contended, then denied, that Biko died as a result of a hunger strike. He said last week he had no information that Biko died as a result of a police assault, but indicated there might have been a struggle to handcuff him.

"I believe they must have beaten him up," Biko' widow Ntsiki said here Tuesday. She said her husband was not the type of man who would have struggled with

According to sources, the pathologists' report said Biko's brain injury caused a reduction of circulation to the other organs and widespread "intravascular coagulation." It also reported evidence of an injury on the left side of the chest and "acute renal (kidney) failure and urema," the sources said.

Book Charts Santa Fe Trail

The story of the Santa Fe Trail, an account of business efficiency which grew and prospered despite terrors known and unknown on the American frontier, is the subject of a new book "Broadcloth And Britches" by historians Seymour V. Connor and Jimmy M. Skaggs.

The duo has written the first historical overview of the famous trail to be published in 50 years. Their account deals with the opening of the Missouri to New Mexico trail in 1821 to the opening of a rail route in 1879, when even the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad reckoned the Santa Fe stop worth no more than a spur track.

Connor is a history professor at Texas Tech University. Skaggs, who earned his doctorate at Tech, is chairman of American Studies at Wichita State University. Both are known for books and articles on western and American history.

The principal appeal of Santa Fe and the New Mexico territory, the authors state, was the "profit potential that its relative isolation afforded American merchants

It started with manufactured goods being trekked to Santa Fe and furs returned. While the traders from Missouri wanted gold or silver bullion for their wares, they often settled for barter. Livestock in New Mexico was described by one pioneer as being in either one of two categories: "poor and sheep," and wool became one export returned to the manufacturing east.

Despite hazards of unknown terrain, marauding Indians, possible imprisonment and even death at the hands of Mexican government officials suspicious of traders, and increasing tariffs, the trade grew and prospered.

It was worth the hazards. One report said that almost every wagon train was attacked at least once by Indians. Graves along the trail told a gruesome tale. A slant cross meant death by violence, a straight cross death by natural causes. Most markers bore a slanted cross

The Mexican War and the American Civil War impeded traffic. But when the Civil War ended and more soldiers could be assigned to protect the West against the Indians, merchants discovered new markets in supplying the army posts.

The authors describe the social appeal of Santa Fe, but hold that the "principal appeal continued to be the profit potential that its relative isolation afforded American merchants.

The authors said, "The Santa Fe Trail was blazed by profit-conscious businessmen who sought to fill an economic vacuum, a vacuum in which demand far outstripped supply. Those eager entrepreneurs annually shipped an ever increasing volume of goods along the trail to exploit this market of opportunity, only to see their own efficiency eventually erode their excellent profit margins

'And finally they were replaced by the railroads, which offered more efficiency

The book, published by Texas A&M Press and written both for the scholar

Robert Ewing Campbell, 36, is a graduate student at The University of Texas at Austin. He has written for ten years and a number of his short stories have been published. This year his first published novel appeared by Nefertiti Head Press of Austin

He considers it significant that the book has received favorable reviews from the Library Journal, a national publication. The magazine said of it:

"A skilled, tight, fragmentary narrative that seems to be occurring cinematically right before the reader's eyes. The story - about a hurricane, a lost love, a murder and a cameo bracelet - is intercut with Hunt's, the protagonist's, memories of an earlier hurricane in which his father was killed. Intense stillness, potential violence permeate this book. Finally, the storm relieves the tension only to leave behind it a pall of relentless doom, sewage and annihilation. A first novel notable for its sure craftsmanship.

Campbell noted in a recent interview that portions of the book have previously appeared in such literary journals as the Dalhousie Review and the Mississippi

He said he wrote parts of the book as short stories first. When he sat down two years ago to complete his manuscript, he rewrote and edited his stories to mesh them into "Weave It Like Nightfall.

"I have an obsession with writing," he said. "This isn't my first novel. I wrote several when I first started 10 years ago. They were no good. Continuing, Campbell explained that he was an unskilled writer when he began and through a continuous process of writing, reading and studying he has been able to reach standards set for himself. That process includes rewriting, he

They are seated in a gimmick-filled room that looks like a control center from "Star Wars," and they all look painfully serious: Henry Fonda, Olivia De-Havilland, Richard Widmark, Fred Mac-Murray, Katherine Ross, Richard Chamberlain, Brad Dillman.

Standing before them is Michael Caine with the bad news: "The fact is that we have been invaded by a mutant species of the African killer bee.

Dr. Chamberlain pooh-poohs the theory that the bees could have been carried by hurricane from Venezuela to the United States; besides, they should be called Brazilian bees. Dr. Fonda counters that their wenom is enough to kill a man with three stings; the bees "are deadlier than anything we've encountered.'

"Cut! Print!" shouts the enthusiastic director, Irwin Allen. "Speak to me, cameras." Crew members on the three cameras confirm that nothing has gone awry, and the cast is dismissed until the next

"So far 'The Towering Inferno' has earned $128 million in rentals - not theater gross - and it will be reissued in 1978, 1980 and 1982, shortly before it will appear on NBC Television. 'Poseidon' has earned $102 million in rentals. In view of those figures, I take great pride in having them called Disaster Movies, or

Luxury Liner Aimed At American Beach Arab Owners Say

PARIS (AP) - The new Saudi Arabian owners of the luxury liner France have Florida's Daytona Beach as their "primary target" site to bring the mothballed giant to life again as a hotel and leisure center, Mansour Ojjeh said Tues-

The 25-year-old American-educated son of international financier Akkram Ojjeh, who bought the liner last week, said they would fly to Florida on Thursday or Friday in their private Boeing 707 to start negotiations

We have three Mideast sites in mind, but the American continent is the prime target, Florida is ideal for weather and my idea is Daytona Beach - near Disneyworld. the Kennedy Space Center and other attractions," Mansour Ojjeh

We'll see if they are interested in bringing more tourist trade to the area.

Ojjeh bought the liner, mothballed since the French government cut a $20 million annual subsidy for its transatlantic service in 1974, for between $12 million and $20 million, in cash.

"It's all our own private finance," Mansour said, stressing that reports of Saudi royal family involvement were incorrect.

'We are not related to the royal family," he said.

The liner will still be called the France and the Ojjehs intend to make it a showpiece of French

The purchase was more than a business venture, it was "a sentimental thing, to keep up the image of France and the French. It would be a pity to see it broken up or something," Mansour said. He described plans for a French-run hotel aboard, French cuisine "with only French wines" and boutiques selling French products.

"What we paid for the liner was only a start," Mansour said. "It will probably take twice that amount again to get the project into operation.

He said a target date for completion of the project has not be set.

Akkram Ojjeh, 54, has been a major figure in Franco-Mideast trade since World War II and is generally considered a key man in French arms sales to Saudi Arabia though the Ojjehs do not talk about military deals.

He was named a chevalier and later an officer of the Legion of Honor "for services to France." Born in Damascus, Syria, of a Saudi family, he studied law and psychology at the Sorbonne in Paris. is married to a French woman and is a self-proclaimed francophile.

Britain To Host Experimental Nuclear Site

Sewage Plan At Silverton Lake Okayed

SILVERTON - The Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority Tuesday approved a proposal by the Texas Water Commission regulating the use and installation of private sewage facilities

John McCammon, acting manager for the lake, accepted the state agency's proposal, which would delegate to the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority the licensing, regulation and enforcement functions for the control of sewage disposal within the lake area.

As proposed, the Texas Water Commission order would designate the "regulated area" as that lying within 1,500 feet from the edge of the lake.

The order would require that a license be obtained from the authority for the construction of any private sewage disposal facilities in the regulated area

Developers wishing to create a subdivision within the controlled area also would have to obtain approval from the authority of their plan for sewage dis-

Others attending Tuesday's public hearing included representatives from the Texas Department of Water Resources and the Texas Department of Health

"Our main concern is for water quality at Mackenzie, since eventually the lake will provide water for the cities of Silverton, Tulia, Floydada and Lockney, said Ron Freeman of the Texas Department of Health. "I've reviewed this proposed waste control order and it looks good to me.

Jim Wilson of the Texas Department of Water Resources added that he thought the authority's concern with setting up sewage regulations now was a good idea since very little building has taken place at the lake.

Before the order takes effect, it must be published in the Texas Register for 30 days and must be approved by the threemember Texas Water Commission. Within 20 days after commission approval, the order will become law

In exchange for the project, the sources said Britain is believed to have agreed to trim its demands for West German payments toward maintaining British NATO troops in Germany

Besides America and the Soviet Union. Japan also is engaged in a fusion experi-

The idea of JET is to produce a controlled nuclear fusion reaction in which atoms of hydrogen are fused together at temperatures in excess of 100 million degrees centigrade. This reaction is the same force that creates the sun's energy. The project is expected to take five years to complete.

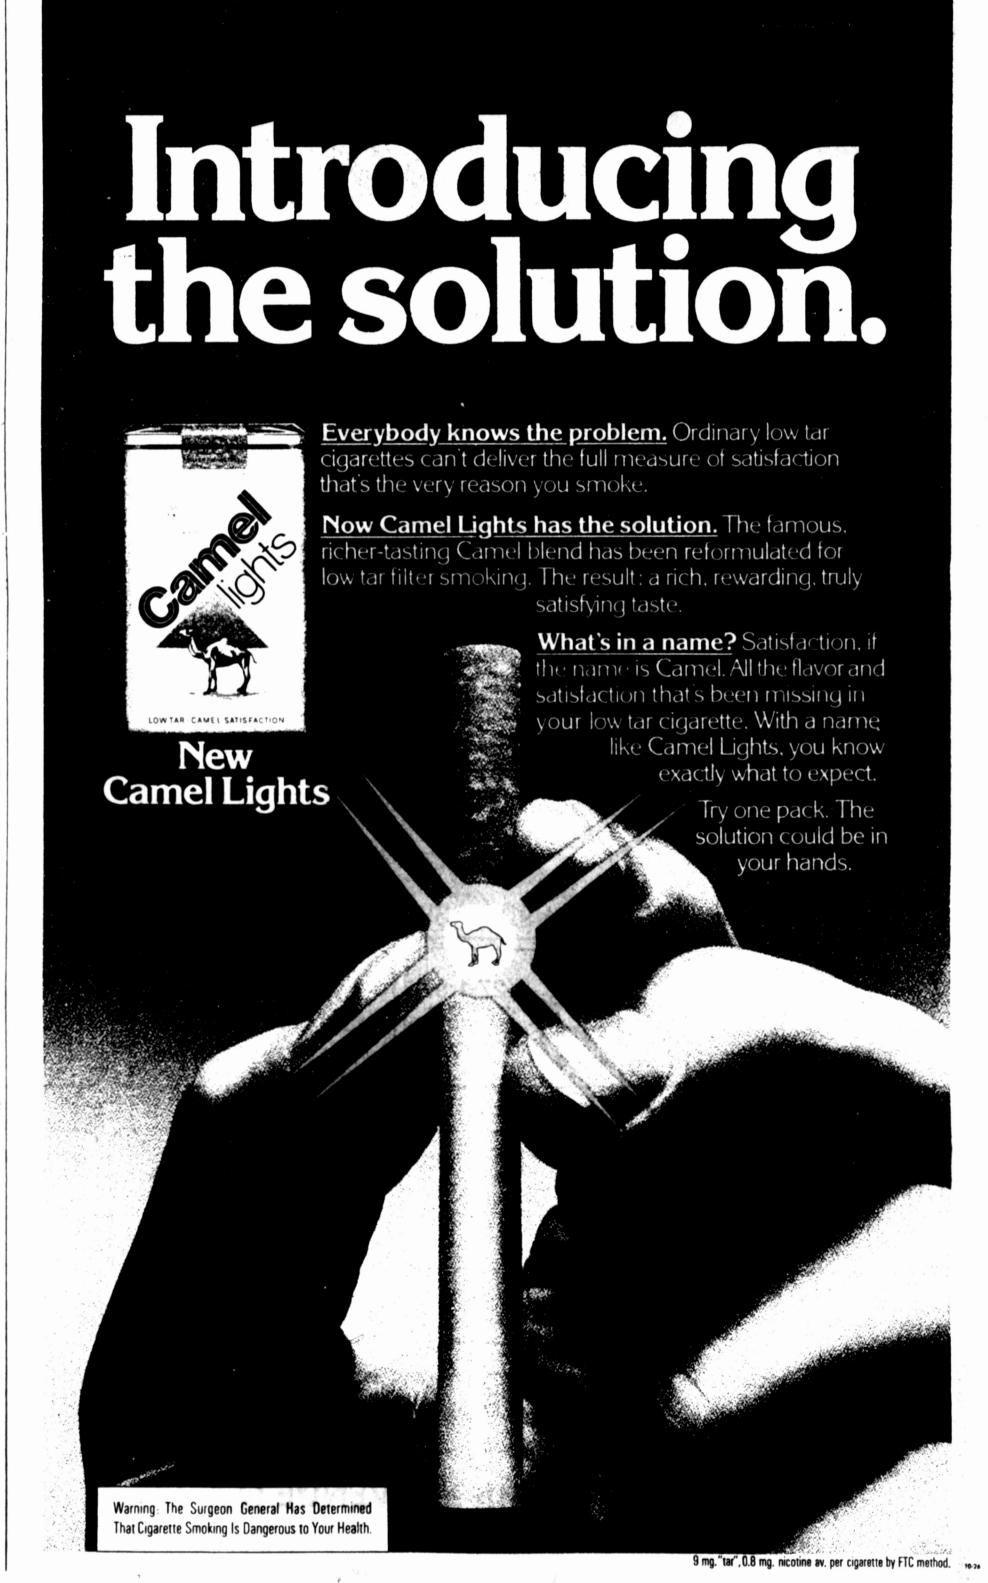

Fusion generation offers several benefits over current fission energy systems in which atoms are split apart. Among them, fusion leaves no long-last radioactive wastes, it uses little fuel, and that fuel can be taken from the sea.

In a fusion reactor, the elements Deuterium and Tritium are injected into a doughnut-shaped vessel — the torus — where they will be fused at high temperatures. The mixture is kept from the sides of the vessel by powerful magnetic fields and the heat released is used to generate electricity. JET will not show whether fusion power is economical or practical, explained Dr. Basil Pease, the director of the project. What it will show is whether it is possible at all. If it works, fusion could become the least extravagant form of energy production ever. Scientists predict a 2,000 megawatt power station would use about one ton of fuel a year. In contrast, the 2,000 megawatt power statiion in Didcot, England, near the Culham site, currently uses 18,000 tons of coal a day.
