

Sales Show Big Gains

Census Report Reveals Sales Of $17.7 Million

Bailey county's retail sales climbed 35 percent between 1958 and 1963 to an all-time high of $17.7 million, the U. S. Census Bureau revealed Wednesday when results of the 1963 survey were revealed.

The sales record was rung up by 118 retail establishments in the county. The data was gathered in 1963 by the Census of Business, a survey that is made every five years. Results usually are released some 12 to 14 months after the survey is completed.

Retail trade in the county, the Bureau reported, meant jobs for 514 men and women and a yearly payroll of $1.7 million. This did not include proprietors. In volume of business, the county's food stores had sales of $3.7 million, an increase of 62 percent from 1958.

In other retail business, the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $568,000, and gasoline service stations had sales of $691,000.

For the state of Texas as a whole, the report showed a 35 percent increase in retail sales. See CENSUS, Page 5

Charged were Ray Febela, 17; Jose Mendozo, 20; Gilbert Bara, 18, Mauvilio Valero, 18; Joe Gonzales, 17 and Anselmo Incante Gonzales, 18. A 16-year-old also was charged. Officers here picked up the youths Sunday morning after an automobile driven by one of the youths had been identified as the car used to transport the boys to the scene.

Officers said every window in the Midway Fertilizer building six miles north of town was broken, a back door was torn off, and interior of the building was damaged. A coke box was pried open and an air conditioner was damaged by the youths, officers charge.

After the fertilizer office had been hit, the youths drove on to Lazbuddie and wrecked havoc at the Frank Hunt farm, one mile south of Lazbuddie, officers say.

The reception carried out the bride's chosen colors of rose and white. The table was laid with a white lace cloth with an overlay of white lace.

A white carnation centerpiece was used as a focal point beside a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal and silver service was used.

Rim-Rock City is located on the outskirts of Lubbock and is in the planning stages of becoming one of the state's largest zoos.

Next meeting date is March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Noted Publisher Predicts 25% Increase in Newspaper Circulation

Newspaper circulation will increase by 25 percent during the lifetime of present-day publishers.

This is the prediction of Warren McClure, president of McClure Newspapers, Inc. He said the increase will be due to the fact that newspapers provide in detailed news stories which can be handled only sketchily on radio and television.

In addition, McClure said, products and services can be read at a time and place convenient to the buying public.

"Advertisers capitalize upon this because they recognize the newspaper is the only medium through which they are practically assured of reaching the interested prospect sometime during the day or night — and most advertisers don't care when," he said.

McClure spoke to a meeting of the Pennsylvania Publishers Association and the Interstate Advertising Managers Association.

He said evidence for the growth of the daily newspaper business is "overwhelming."

Among his predictions were: —An increase in the weekly sale of newspapers from 400 million to 500 million copies within the lifetime of his audience.

—A 40 per cent increase in daily newspaper gross sale in the next 10 years. He said advertising revenue will double, but profit margins will narrow. —Consumption of newsprint will jump 50 per cent from 8 million tons to 12 million tons annually.

Census ..

whole, the census Bureau reported 96,406 retail establishments with sales of $1,271,400,000 which is an increase of 18 percent from 1958.

Census reports to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

Figures on number of establishments and sales volume for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report called "1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Texas," and are available at $1 from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C. 20542 and at U. S. Department of Commerce field offices.

In explaining how the system works, the Bureau issued this statement:

"Electronic computers at the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census are extracting retail trade data about each county in the United States from tabulations of the 1963 Census of Business, inserting the figures in news stories, typing out the stories at eye-blinking speed, and addressing a story to each one of 16,000 news outlets in the Nation's 3,000 counties.

Three elements are used to produce these "machine-made" news stories:

1. Statistics for 1958 and 1963 on number of establishments, their kind of business and location, their sales volume, employment, etc. This information is stored in machine "memory" and is part of the process of preparing the 1963 Census of Business reports.
2. The names and addresses of the newspapers and broadcasting stations, coded county-by-county.
3. A set of instructions which cause the computer to select statistics concerning each county, print the statistics at the proper points in a news story, and address the story to each newspaper or broadcasting station in a county.

The news stories, accordingly, emerge as by-products of the process of preparing statistical reports from the Census of Business. Although the series will total more than 6,000 stories before it is completed it will require no additional personnel. The stories about retail trade will be followed by a series of stories about service trades in each county.

The Census Bureau pioneered in the use of electronic equipment to tabulate data and to prepare statistical tables, beginning in 1951, but this is the first time such devices have been used to prepare news stories."

Group Protests Cut in Support Price of Cotton

Concern over the one-cent per pound cut in the cotton support price for 1965 brought a committee of 10 farmers and businessmen from the South Plains to Washington last week for meetings. The main purpose of the committee's trip was to urge that the one-cent-per-pound cut be restored. The Department of Agriculture has announced the drop of cotton supports from 30 cents a pound, middling - one inch, in 1964 to 29 cents a pound in 1965.

Congressman George Mahon arranged for the group to have extensive discussions with Vice President Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles Murphy, Representative Bob Poace, vice chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, Representative Jamie Whitten, chairman of the subcommittee of Agricultural Appropriations, and other officials.

"I think I have never seen a group from our district receive a better reception from government officials, nor have I ever seen a group do a better job in stating its case," Mahon said, after participating in the meetings with the committee.

Officials explained to the group that to eliminate the one-cent cut would cost the government 75 million dollars which had not been included in the President's budget. It was also pointed out by key members of Congress that it would be most difficult to secure approval in the House of an additional 75 million dollars for cotton especially without a request from the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Budget.

Last year's cotton support expenditures in excess of 850 million dollars. Congressman Mahon pointed out that there probably was not a 50-50 chance to get the additional 75 million dollars required for the restoration of the 30-cent support price, but he pledged to continue to do everything he could to be of assistance, realizing that the impact of the reduction in the support price last year, plus an additional reduction this year, would make it difficult and in some cases impossible, for farmers to conduct a successful cotton farming operation in 1965.

Mahon stated that there was full agreement on the point that one of the major difficulties confronting cotton farmers is the fact that while the support price on cotton is going down, the cost of production is going up, and the farm labor situation is getting more difficult every year.

While the group came to Washington for the purpose of discussing the one-cent price drop, much time was devoted to discussions of what should be done at this session of Congress about new cotton legislation. Such legislation is required, as the present law expires at the end of this year.

Mahon said that he felt the group did an exceptionally good job in impressing on officials in Washington the urgent necessity for the maintenance of a healthy condition among commercial farmers who produce the great bulk of the food and fiber required by the nation. He pointed out that it is estimated that more than 90 per cent of South Plains farmers would be classified as commercial farmers.

Mrs. Thurlo Branscum and Jane, Mrs. Russell Haberer, and Kathy West were in Plainview Friday afternoon to attend a contest held at the First Baptist Church.

John West returned Saturday from Austin where he had been attending the Southwest Management Institute for the past week.

James and Lyna Pitts, and Carolyn Allison attended the Junior Leadership meeting at Sudan Monday night.

Alice Angeley was in the hospital in Lubbock last Wednesday through Saturday for tests.

Mrs. Nellie Ann Crenshaw, 65 passed away Friday at Paris, Texas. She was buried at Blossom, Texas. Survivors are: her husband J. H. Crenshaw four sons, including Grover, Pleasant Valley, and three daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Crenshaw returned home Monday.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than parimutuel wagering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation. This year there's strong support on, as well as opposition to, both propositions.

ROW FLARES — Tightening of a joint House - Senate rule banning consideration of single-purpose spending measures ahead of the general appropriations bill may mean the difference in the type of pay raise teachers get this year.

Senators adopted 22 - 9 a "compromise" version making the provisions of a stricter House - passed Joint Rule 9-A effective only during the first 120 days of the session. The (See PAY, Page 2) system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

PESTICIDE PROTESTED — A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing. In heavy doses, it can kill a person or leave him mentally incompetent, they said.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale, use or possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon even very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time.

MEDICAL AID — Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not an old-age pensioners.

Wilson asked a House committee to report out his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out to the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

HEARINGS SET — Horse racing and "small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearings this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Pay Scale for Youths in Poverty Program Too High, Connally Charges

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally served notice on the U. S. Labor Department he does not like its directives that unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needed by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of becoming high school dropouts because of financial difficulties. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and local participating units 10 per cent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.25 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages "should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations."

The $1.25 order came out after applications were filed.

"This action," protested Connally, "would place local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced school age students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in the same facility, the average earnings of their own parents, and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school."

Furthermore, Connally noted, a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students administered by Department of Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

BOARD APPROVED — Governor Connally's number one project of the session—creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas—swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it—and there were only a few—had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on to the governor for signing.

Connally has until September 1 to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution. It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college board of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans, to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three board of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the coordinating board plan was adopted.

PAY--

House is expected to agree. Opponents say the rule still will prevent even a committee hearing of teacher pay bills until last 20 days of the session — or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long-range graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $45-a-month across-the-boards raise proposal.

CITIES SALES TAX — Spokesmen for cities urged a legislative committee to recommend that cities be given authority to levy local sales taxes up to one per cent if citizens vote approval in special elections.

They said they have gone about as far as they can with raising property taxes and need additional sources of revenue to provide necessary services.

Union representatives argued there still is plenty of mileage left in property tax. Also a local sales tax would hit little people harder and lighten the load on those most able to pay.

In House revenue and tax committee hearing at same time, tobacco industry spokesmen said a bill to raise the cigarette tax a penny a pack would be a serious blow to them.

Both bills went to sub-committee. REDISTRICTING — Legislators got a sampling of public views on congressional and legislative redistricting during a four-hour public hearing before the House Districts Committee.

As expected, they didn't get much help since every plan advanced met opposition from some quarter.

House committee members heard lengthy testimony on four congressional reapportionment proposals and two bills to realign the state House of Representatives.

Eight more measures remain to be heard. Chairman Gus Mutscher of Brenham said he hopes to set all of them next week and get the job into the hands of subcommittees as the Senate districts committee already has done.

In the Senate, Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is interviewing

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes another look at Viet Nam this week. Anything to get the spotlight off his farm.

Dear editor:
I would like some information. According to an article I read in a newspaper this morning, and I hope you will answer individual senators on how congressional lines should be redrawn. House sub-committees are moving into their second week of similar contacts with the 150 representatives.

SHORT SNORTS
Top bill to oil and gas industry — forced lease pooling — already has approval of both houses and is on the governor's desk.

A bill assuring Lower Rio Grande Valley users that they will continue to receive water under a present court order until a pending suit is finally decided was enacted.

Bills to create a navigation district which would open the Sabine to barge traffic from Longview to the deep water port at Orange got a friendly reception in committee.

Governor Connally has proclaimed May as Senior Citizens Month.

The governor, as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, will testify before the Secretary of Interior on March 10 and 11 on the entire oil imports situation.

Hal Woodward, Coleman attorney, was sworn in for a second six-year term on the Texas State Highway Commission.

Deer and barbery sheep in Palo Duro Canyon southeast of Amarillo are being counted by Park and Wildlife Department personnel using a helicopter.

Senate passed bill to set up new tuberculosis eradication program under State Health Department to start in South, South Central Texas and along the Mexican border.

quick as the situation may be totally changed by tomorrow morning. Gen. Khanh has been removed as head of the South Viet Nam military forces in what the newspapers call a coup and the television announcers call a coo and is being sent to New York as a United Nations observer.

What I would like to know is, is this a reward or a punishment?

I had thought that the United Nations was supposed to be watching what went on in Viet Nam, both North and South, but what they have been seeing is hard to understand. You reckon the South Vietnamese, having been unable at ground level to understand themselves what they're doing, figured the view would be better from New York?

Or do you figure Gen. Khanh was getting bored with the limited confusion in Viet Nam and figured he could get a broader taste of it in the United Nations? Like going from a side-show to the main tent?

I'll admit I don't know a thing about what's going on in Viet Nam, but I don't want to leak out as Washington might want to send me over there as an observer. I've got all the confusion I can handle at home.

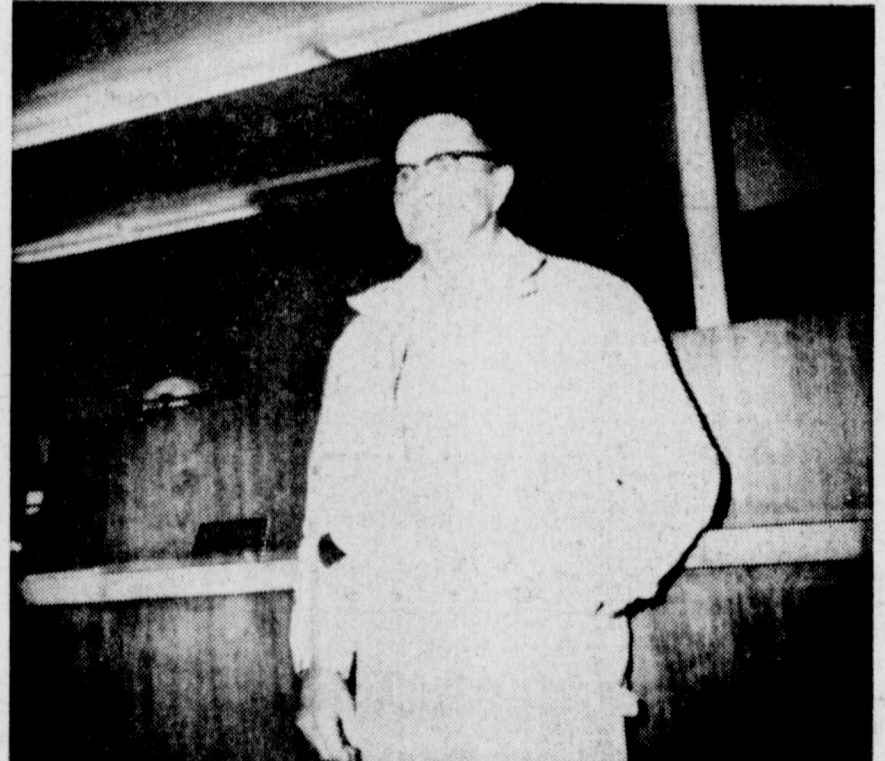

And speaking of the United Nations, as I understand it, the U. N. has a rule that if any country is behind two years in its dues, it loses its membership, but is afraid to vote on whether this rule is still in effect on the grounds that if it does, there won't be enough major powers left in the outfit to operate it. This is like a hard-pressed bank declining to call in its past-due loans on the grounds it would alienate its customers.

It's possible that after Gen. Khanh observes the United Nations a while, he may go home and announce all this earth's countries got problems.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor: You sure have some odd characters and leaders who can talk you folks out of so much money to build an idol monument to a dumb mule. Is everyone supposed to bow when they pass it? It reminds me of the people who made the golden calf when Moses went up to the Mountain to get the commandments from the Creator. If you'll look through your town you probably can find some little children who are cold and hungry in need of a doctor. Beats anything I ever saw.

 You've heard the old saying, "NEVER JUDGE A BOOK BY ITS COVER." These days that's good advice about books... but it also makes a lot of sense when applied to insurance policies. You have to look beneath the surface... behind those sweeping claims of coverage... and pin down all the small print before you know what kind of protection you really have. That's where a responsible insurance agent comes in. We have a personal interest in you and in making sure that you're protected. ### Planting Trees? Try State's Own Tree, The Pecan

If you plan to plant trees this spring, Texas' state tree, the pecan, might be a wise choice. One of the most widely adapted trees in Texas, the pecan serves a dual purpose. Not only is it a stately shade tree, but if properly cared for, it can produce good, edible nuts, says B. G. Hancock, Extension horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

"One of the most important decisions to make is the selection of a proper variety," says Hancock. "Hundreds of varieties are available but only a few are specifically adapted to given areas and interests."

Mahan and Stuart varieties are most widely used for shade purposes because of their strength and desirable habit of growth.

Mahan is the most widely distributed variety. It can be grown in practically every area of the state. Stuart is best adapted to the Gulf Coast and Eastern and Central Texas.

Choctaw, one of our new USDA varieties, shows promise of being a good all purpose shade tree in the Gulf Coast, Eastern and Central Texas.

Desirable and Success varieties are popular where production of high quality nuts is of primary importance. However, because of their structural growth habits, neither is ideal for shade purposes. They are best adapted to Central and East Texas.

Wichita, Western Schley and San Saba Improved are good varieties for nut production in West Texas.

If given the correct cultural care, ample moisture and the proper nutrient elements, pecans can add much to our lives, said Hancock. Not only do they add beauty to our homes, they also greatly increase the value of property and may well serve as a heritage to future generations.

Abraham Lincoln observed his 56th and final birthday on Feb. 12, 1865.

British Dental Crisis Subject Of Lewis' Talk

Dr. Charles Lewis, Muleshoe dentist, and a director in the Association of American Dentists, participated in executive discussion of the dental crisis in England. Releasing a statement from the AAD, Dr. Lewis said: "The time is now, and the place is right here, if we are to prevent the deadly paralysis of socialized health care from invading the American private enterprise system."

Taking note of the threatened resignations of Physicians and Dentists from the British National Health program A. A. D., a national dental organization in the United States has urged Americans to "avoid the pitfalls of socialized medicine and dentistry."

Dr. Warren Hamula, of Fort Wayne, Ind., President of the Association of American Dentists spoke for his organization. Following a special Executive Committee consultation, Dr. Hamula said: "Action by British Doctors was precipitated from the beginning of the National Health Act in 1946. Conflict over fees and payments is inevitable under socialization. One of the many basic faults of the British health care system is that government collects taxes, and pays the doctor, rather than patient to doctor as we do in this country."

"A physician or a dentist must be free to administer to the needs of his patient. He must work for the patient. He must be paid by the patient. He must be free to forego payment when he chooses, for any reason. Under a compulsory plan, the doctor, inevitably, ends up working for the government, and not for the patient."

"The Association of American Dentists has always held that payment of fees should always be from patient to the dentist. If a third party becomes involved, whether government, insurance, unions or trust accounts, payment should be made to the patient. He is then able to meet his personal responsibilities, and his dentist is free to work only for the patient."

Dr. Hamula, representing a relatively new association of private practice dentists, with members in most of the 50 states, defended the British threats of resignation. He explained that British physicians and dentists are not planning to strike. "They are preparing to resign from the British National Health Act care program, and return to private practice," Dr. Hamula said. "The British people will have their health care. It is grossly wrong to charge the doctor there with selfishness or indifference. The British doctor is simply saying he would rather go back to private practice, with an uncertain income, than to continue the terrible frustration and confusion of governmental inefficiency and interference."

"The truth is," he continued "the doctor in England will find it hard going if he does resign. The people are already paying a burdensome tax for health care. There is little money left in many families to pay needed health care bills. Therefore, the British doctor will have to struggle to make expenses and a living."

The AAD is pledged to a position of "non-participation in any health prepayment, or compulsory care plan that introduces a third party between patient and doctor. Dr. Hamula speaking for AAD said "Most of our members would treat the patient, but would refuse to participate in any plan that denied either party their basic American rights".
