 "TO MRS. ANNA JACKSON"

God has the power to take the common soil, And making things of beauty and of light, He takes the wind, and sunshine, and the rain, And moulds them into forms of great delight.

He takes the rainbow and its colors from the sky And puts them into forms of loveliness; And gives them elements that never die That through the years remain with us to bless

He makes the flowers a part of daily life. And gives to them a fragrance all their own. The pansy is a heartsease from the strife; And roses shine as tokens of His boon.

For many years this lovely flower has bloomed, Has given out a fragrance unsurpassed; Has left to us a legacy, all unearned: Her beauty, rich indeed, will always last.

There gleamed from out her impish, azure eyes, A faith triumphant, love without reserve; A spirit very comparable to the skies In scope of vision: warmth embraced the universe.

God has for her a rich reward above, A token of His heart and will and grace.

We can rejoice that she, inall her love, Is standing now before Him face to face.
