West Texans Join In Movement For Farm Price Hikes

A-J News Services
TEXAS FARM strike leaders Tuesday night promised temporary business clos-ings in several rural communities in an economic show of strength they hoped would lead to profitale negotiations on

The farmers' unity appeared strongest in West Texas and the Panhandle where today — the first day of proposed nation-wide farmers' strike — farmers from Dumas, Dalhart, Sunray, Gruver, Texhoma and Texline were to join tractor parades. Officials of American Agriculture Movement — the group organizing the strike — said all businessess in Paducah would be closed today in sympathy and establishments in Childress, Friona and Pearsall had been asked to close in sup-port of farmers' requests for a profitable return on their crops.

A rally also was planned in Paducah but politicians were not invited. We're tired of their promises,"

Graves said. A similar shutdown was to take place in the South Texas community of Dilley and farmers around Floresville indicated they would join. However, most farmers in the Rio Grande Valley, where planting of winter vegetables was taking place, of winter vegetables was taking place, were indifferent to the movement.

South Plains Hotspots

Across the South Plains, sympathy for the movement also seemed strongest in Hereford, Dimmitt and Friona.

In Dimmitt, most retail stores and all implement houses and agricultural busi-nesses will be closed today in support of

An American Agriculture spokesman in Dimmitt said Tuesday they did not want to see any Dimmitt business hurt economically by the strike, but, he added "many of our implement dealers already are suffering" from low farm prices.

The spokesman also hinted that American Agriculture pickets may be set up at various shipping points in Amarillo today and that the group expected the truckers and rail lines to honor the picket lines.

In Hereford, Mayor Bartley Dowell and Deaf Smith County Judge Sam Morgan Tuesday signed proclamations designat-ing today as "American Agriculture

The mayor urged all city businesses to close their doors in support of the movement. Among the 25 Hereford businesses to be closed today include the grocery chain of Taylor and Sons, Hereford Grain Corp. and Pitman's Grain Elevator.

Residents, who apparently anticipate a long strike, began stocking up on food items Tuesday. It was reported late Tuesday that no bread could be found in Hereford while a spokesman for the Dimmitt Supermarket said that everything from fresh vegetables to canned goods and milk was scarce.

"About 40 businesses are committed to close their doors today," said Conrad Renner of Friona. "Everybody is voluntarily supporting this thing."

Henry Harnly of American Agriculture in Pampa said grain elevators in several area towns would be closed.

In Oklahoma, Ernest Campbell of Guymon said farmers around that city would park their farm vehicles and line up at unemployment offfices "to get food stamps or whatever." Farmers he said, would park pickup trucks along U.S. 54 leading to Guymon and those trucks would be covered with strike signs. "We're not going to try to hurt anybody," "We're not going to try to hurt anybody, Campbell said.

Avalanche-Journal Staff
THE LUBBOCK chapter of the NAACP plans to push for an appeal if U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward won't order "systemwide integration" of schools here.

That extent of integration would require some mandatory busing of stu-dents. But such a remedy, leaders for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said at their December session, is necessary to correct decades of "systemwide, intentional discrimination" against blacks and Mexican-

Participants in other recent community meetings, however, disagree. Among them is T.J. Patterson, freshman adviser for Texas Tech University and editor of an eastside weekly newspaper.

"Would Not Work"
"I'm for the neighborhood school concept. Busing would not work here," Patterson said at a panel discussion spon-sored by the university's philosophy club. He said schools in Lubbock's predominantly minority areas have been neglected. But Patterson said the answer is no busing those students out of their neigh-

"Integration to me is not the disappearance of that minority group," he said. In-stead, Patterson advocated "upgrading all educational facilities" in the city so that equal opportunities are afforded to minorities and whites. Neighborhood Schools Backed At the same discussion, Jack Strong, former mayor and longtime civic leader, also gave endorsement to neighborhood schools. "There's no sense in the world in my little granddaughter living two blocks from a school and having to get bused across town," Strong said. "I can't believe getting my kiddo on a bus every morning is the answer to school integration."

Added Dr. Rodric Schoen, university law professor and past unsuccessful can-didate for the Lubbock school board: "There is no assurance that busing per se will bring about equality education. However, Schoen noted, school trustees may not have much choice in the matter. If Woodward finds the Lubbock Independent School District guilty of the U.S. Justice Department's charges of dis-crimination, it will be Woodward's task to formulate a remedy. Woodward is ex-pected to rule on the matter in January.

Schoen said the school system and Justice Department will have an opportunity to suggest remedies. "While some busing would have to be involved, the school board can suggest other devices" to cor-rect a finding of systemwide discrimination, he said.

Schoen said the school district may be able to minimize busing by use of "creative alternatives," such as magnet

ed effect and must be coupled with some mandatory busing. Tom Burtis, a member of the local chapter's education committee, told his group's monthly gathering the NAACP should stand ready to take Woodward's upcoming decision to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, if necessary "We need to be prepared to join in an appeal if the (federal district) court does

Some NAACP members also have proposed magnet schools as part of a city-wide school desegregation plan. But they say such alternatives can have only limited effect and must be coupled with some mandatory busines.

Energy Spokesman Pans Price Lids

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The gas industry, if left to its own devices, would be able to satisfy the nation's energy needs well beyond the predictions of government doom-sayers, gas industry officials were told here today. 'The idea that our energy problems will be solved through some kind of crisis management is—I think—unfortunate," Edward Erickson, professor of business economics at North Carolina State University, said in an interview following his keynote address at the annual meeting of the Natural Gas Supply Committee.

Erickson, an avowed follower of the free-market philosophy, told energy officials that any energy crisis in the United States will be one that the U.S. government creates

"If we do slide off of an energy cliff, it will be a cliff of our own design," he said.

Erickson said adequate price incentives will ensure supply increases, but he added that with greater demand comes greater industry responsibility to meet

In explaining his views, Erickson said that inevitably higher energy prices will force inevitable changes in American li-chart a specific course for the future and make things fit into that course.

He said government attempts to lower the price of energy will have the opposite

For example, he said, dollar-a-gallon gasoline will come more quickly if price controls are continued than if the controls are removed. He said price controls cause supply shortages, which in turn require foreign imports, which in turn raise world energy prices.

Erickson, who is a paid consultant for the committee, said if demand for foreign oil continues at the present rate, the world price of oil could be $25 to $30 a barrel by the 1980s or 1990s. That would be nearly double that current average

At the $25 price, he said, gasoline at the pumps would be at least $1 a gallon.

He said it would be better to lift price controls and let domestic oil rise to $15 a barrel, which would raise gasoline prices to 75 or 80 cents.

Erickson said that sources of energy will progress on a natural, evolutionary scale, if the flow is not interrupted by

Electric Capacity Held Ample

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission said Tuesday that the United States appears to have enough electric generating capacity to meet anticipated peak demands this winter.

The commission staff, in its regular survey, said generating capacity in the nation as a whole has a reserve margin averaging some 31.6 percent.

This compares favorably with the range of 15 to 25 percent reserve capacity usually considered necessary to cope with unusually heavy demand, powerplant breakdowns or other problems. In most areas of the United States, electricity demand is highest in the summer and reserves are usually larger in the winter.

The staff said the Texas area, which is not substantially connected to other electric power regions, projects reserve generating capacity of 41.5 percent this win-

It said the western region, including all of Wyoming and Colorado, most of Montana and New Mexico, western corners of South Dakota, Nebraska and Texas, and all of the more westward states, apart from Alaska and Hawaii, reported generating reserves of some 21.2 percent.

The western region is considered essentially a separate system, since its connections with the eastern region are inade-

The rest of the nation is tied together by strong interconnecting transmission lines which allow transfers of power between areas. This large region projects overall generating reserves of some 33.5

'Round 'n 'Round She Goes...

'Round she goes and where she stops, nobody knows.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat set the wheel in motion with his visit to Jerusalem last month. Events since then have been so dizzying that foreign offices around the world seem bewildered by the pace and the possible consequences of Sadat's unorthodox quest of a lasting peace in the Middle East.

The questions are many and the answers few. Is Sadat, for example, now willing to conclude a separate peace with Israel? If not will Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin try to satisfy some of the demands that Sadat made in his speech to the Knesset-total Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands and the establishment of an independent Palestinian

CAN SADAT survive domestically without some peace agreement and can he survive within the Arab world if any agreement fails to meet the conditions he himself outlined in the Knesset?

How much support will he receive from Saudi Arabia? Can even the veneer of Arab unity be restored after the anti-Sadat "summit of resistance" in Libya and Egypt's prompt reaction in severing diplomatic relations with the five Arab hard-line states that participated in the Tripoli conference.

THE ANSWERS are not likely to be forthcoming at the Cairo conference. All of Sadat's Arab "brothers" rejected his invitation. Washington agreed to attend, without

THE MIDDLE EAST peace conference much enthusiasm; the Russians replied with scheduled to open in Cairo today is like a big a resounding "nyet." Israel's acceptance gamble on a wheel of fortune: 'Round 'n means that the Cairo conference will be attended only by representatives from Egypt, Israel, the U.S. and UN.

The phenomenon of an Arab head of state dealing face to face with his enemy is hardly as "unprecedented" as many pundits claim. Arab leaders or their representatives have been meeting with their Zionist enemies for

What is unique about Sadat's encounter with Begin and other top Israeli officials is not that they met but that they met publicly.

WHATEVER SOLIDARITY the Arabs have achieved throughout their history has been essentially negative, a temporary coalescence against a common enemy, be it the Ottoman Turks, the European colonalists or, since 1948, the Israelis.

But confrontation rhetoric did not always reflect reality. Within a year after the state of Israel was established in 1948, representatives from Egypt, Israel, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon and the Palestinians were meeting under the auspices of the UN-sponsored Palestine Conciliation Commission.

King Abdullah of Jordan, who resumed direct contact with the Israelis after PCC talks dragged on for two years, was assassinated in July 1951 and, according to Author Jon Kimche (The Second Arab Awakening -1970), "the hope of an early settlement died with him.

It remains to be seen whether Anwar Sadat's open diplomacy will be more successful in bringing peace to the Middle East.

All For One 'n One For One

Marcos, facing possible expulsion in a national referendum this weekend, describes his country's form of government as "constitutional authoritarianism," a euphomism for the martial law he imposed there in 1972.

The reason for his action, he said, was the "threat from lawless elements who are waging an armed insurrection and rebellion to supplant our existing political, social, economic and legal order with an entirely new one...based on the Marxist-Leninist-Maoist

PRESUMABLY Marcos was referring to the Muslim guerrillas who have been fighting government forces in the southern Philippine islands for several years. Goal of the Muslim rebels is political autonomy for all the southern islands.

But the revolt also has deep economic roots, for the Muslim provinces are rich in rice, rubber, coconuts, pineapples, bananas and minerals.

"Most ordinary Muslims are not aware of the competition for their natural resources, but the Muslim leaders are," accordingn to a policy study compiled for the American Enterprise Institute.

The question of human-rights guarantees, which are of equal concern to the Carter administration and to Congress, may complicate the negotiations.

There is some concern that American aid given in exchange for the use of Philippine military bases could be used at least indirectly to support the offensive against the Muslim insurgents.

'Ham' In Panama

WASHINGTON-Hamilton Jordan, whose reguar job is minding the White House store for President Carter, made a clandestine trip to Panama City to spend the Dec. 10-11 weekend with his new companion, Panamanian dictator Omar Torrijos-a visit that might possibly determine the fate of the embattled Panama Canal treaty.

Jordan's trip, so secret that top State Department officials knew nothing about it, was personally arranged in the White House.

ANDREW TULLY:

WASHINGTON-Individual liberties took a slap on the wrist the other day when the Supreme Court ruled by 6 to 3 that a policeman can force a driver to get out of his car when stopping him for a minor traffic violation.

It was not one of the Court's more felicitous decisions because it took a nip out of search-andseizure law by weakening the protection constitutionally guaranteed the individual against interference with his private life

But blame the violence of the times. The Court was faced with a Hobson's choice. It was forced to decide how much security should be given a cop in a country over-supplied with criminal lunatics who appear to get their kicks out of pulling a gun or a knife on anybody who causes them in-

The case at issue involved Philadelphia police officers who in 1970 stopped a car with expired license tags and ordered the driver to get out. Noting a bulge under his sports jacket, the cops frisked the man and found a loaded .38 caliber re-

NOW, NOBODY KNOWS whether the man, a Black Muslim, would have turned the firearm on his inquisitors. It is fair to argue that, like so many Americans these days, he was armed against a confrontation with a mugger, or a per-

Accordingly, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that the out-of-your-car order was unconstitutional because it was an "impermissible sei-

The Supreme Court majority reversed the lower court out of "legitimate concerns" for the officers' safety, which it said out-weighed "what is at most a mere inconvenience" for motorists. To bolster its ruling, the Supreme Court cited its 1968 decision upholding the detention and frisk by an officer who believes "that the persons with whom he is dealing may be armed and presently dangerous," and has fear "for his own and others' safety.'

The case involved a Cleveland patrolman who saw two men taking repeated looks in a store window and conferring in a manner that suggested they were casing the shop with larceny in mind.

The two men were joined by a third, with whom they had conferred earlier. The cop asked for their names and when he got what he called 'mumbled" responses, frisked one of the men and found a pistol.

IN SHORT, the Court voted its faith in the average policeman's judgment, employed in the performance of his duty to protect the public. To the minority, that was pretty flimsy stuff.

Citing the Philadelphia case, Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote that the officer "had no reason to suspect foul play," that all he had to go on was an expired license plate.

Justice Stevens' dissented more harshly. He denounced the majority decision as eliminating "any requirements that an officer be able to explain the reasons for his actions." and authorized "the indiscriminate invasion of the liberty of every citizen stopped for a traffic violation no mat-

Marshall and Stevens have a point. The decision will produce abuses by cops who, say, dislike blacks or people with long hair, or consider a bra-

But-blast the times! On balance, the Supreme Court majority was right, by a hair, as the authoritative observer of a society in which cop-killing has become a major sport.

The explanation given by senior aides is that Jordan was on a tourist jaunt to see the famous canal. But there is suspicion he might have carried secret instructions from President Carter asking Gen. Torrijos to accept amendments to the THE AMENDMENTS being pushed in the Senate deal with "expeditious passage" of U.S. war-ships in time of war and the U.S. right to intervene in defense of the canal. Unless Panama agrees to them, the treaty may never win the required two-thirds vote of approval in the Senate. Jordan and Torrijos became close "beer-drinking buddies" during the dictator's visits in Washngton on treaty matters.

Torrijos, called "the Cowboy" by some of his Latin American colleagues, shared Jordan's liking for wearing boots and good-ole-boy humor. So, if anyone could persuade Torrijos to accept changes in the treaty, Jordan is regarded as the U.S. official most likely to succeed On the other hand, some key U.S. diplomats worry whether Jordan's lack of substantive knowledge about the canal negotiations could lead him into trouble. PRESIDENT CARTER has quietly reduced the influence of Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy Dobrynin as a channel of U.S. policy to the Kremlin in favor of much heavier use of U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon in Moscow

That means less frequent usage of intimate luncheons with Dobrynin, a technique favored in the days of Henry Kissinger, to signal U.S. intentions to the Kremlin.

This move is not retaliation against anything Dobrynin has done. Rather, it is a studied effort to reverse the embarrassing dispartity in the Nixon-Ford-Kissinger years between Dobrynin's unchallenged influence and the contrasting impotency of the U.S. ambassador in Moscow Dobrynin understands the U.S. better than an-vone in the Soviet Union," a key presidential aide told us. "But Carter is tired of the Russians downgrading his man in Moscow."

PRESSURE BY CARTER has had this dramatic impact: three separate meetings between Communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev and Toon in the past year.

Moreover, Carter is pressing Moscow to give Toon as free a run of the Soviet Union as Dobrynin has of the U.S. He wants Toon to have cultural and social exposure to the Soviet establishment equal to Dobrynin's exposure here.

BOTH THE CARTER administration's continued blunders in handling Congress and its ideological mindset on national security matters were demonstrated recently when an important committee chairman was snubbed and a very junior member of the committee got red carpet treat-Rep. Melvin Price of Illinois, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, never really did get an answer from the President when he privately critiqued the administration's defense program in a closely-reasoned letter. Rep. Bob Carr of Michigan, a liberal serving his third year in Congress, was answered personally by Carter in two days when he wrote to support the President's opposition to a new bomber.

Price, an undeviating Carter supporter on domestic issues, wrote the President a rare complaint Sept. 15, expressing "deep concern" over defense policies. His worries included abandonment of the B-1 bomber, cancellation of the short-range attack missile (SRAM) and vulnerability of the U.S. Minuteman force by "mid-1980s" and others. A brief acknowledgment of the letter came on Sept. 21 from Frank Moore, chief White House congressional lobbyist. Moore wrote that the President had "directed" him to turn the letter over to Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's national security adviser.

Then, silence. Not until two months later did Price receive a real answer-not from the White House or Defense Department but from the State Department.

A Nov. 23 letter signed by Asst. Sec. of State Douglas Bennet routinely defended the Carter policies.

In contrast, when Carr wrote Carter Oct. 5 opposing a new U.S. bomber, he received an answer over Jimmy Carter's signature Oct. 7.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Lunch Is Not Free

BY THE TIME President Carter gets through 'reforming' welfare to ease the burden of helping poor people, there's apt to be a lot more of us

Taxes being what they are, a 100-per cent increase in our welfare tab might be just what it takes to switch us from the ranks of those who pay for the program to those who need it.

This probably isn't what the administration has in mind. The whole idea of welfare reform is to 'reduce the cost burden"-which Carter says is now up to around $27.9 billion-by spending $2.8

And if that strikes you as some kind of funny arithmetic, stick around.

According to the Heritage Foundation, a public policy research group, the Carter method of addition and subtraction would flunk him out of Math 101. What it's really going to cost us is more like $17.8 billion more, and the real increase is nearly 100 per cent.

"Reductions" like that we don't need.

WHERE CARTER went wrong, says Heritage analyst Samuel T. Francis, is in his estimates. To begin with, he has overestimated what we're paying out for welfare right now.

For instance: when the President says welfare is costing us around $27.9 billion a year, he's including $8.6 billion in "temporary spending" that doesn't belong there. So that lowers the actual welfare tab to $19.3 billion.

But don't start cheering yet. The gist of the re-port is that Carter's figures on what his reforms" will cost are cockeved too.

As the President (with an assist from HEW) explains it, the total bill will come to around $34.1 billion, which is an increase of $14.8 billion. Francis says it will be at least $37.1 billion, or 'nearly double the present $19.3 billion.'

Where Carter went wrong, it seems, is in underestimating the "built-in" cost escalators.

ONE OF THOSE is the earned-income tax credit, which HEW says will be another $3.4 billion. However, Francis points out, since the tax credit will apply to incomes up to $15,600 a year, this will add $3 billion more.

The President also left out Medicaid services in his welfare package, since he plans to deal with those in a separate health care plan. But this, too, will make welfare cost more, due to the automatic linkage of cash assistance with Medicaid.

Then there's the "hold harmless" provision. It's complicated, but it involves a requirement that he states pay 90 per cent of their current welfare costs for the first year of a three-year transition period.

Then, under the "hold harmless" bit, Uncle Sam will foot the bill for certain expenses above the 90-per cent level to make sure benefits con-

As anybody can plainly see, this is a free ticket to politicians to increase benefits at the last minute, gather the glory (and the votes) and pass the higher costs on to Washington.

THE CARTER "reform" plan would also, for the first time, hand out cash to unemployed single adults, childless couples, and working families in which no one is blind, disabled or aged.

The administration estimates this will add 2 million people to the welfare roles. Skeptics think many more than that will consider this an offer they'd be crazy to refuse. And nobody's going to check too closely on the income of these cash recipients. The only provision for control of fraud is that they turn in regular reports. How often they're supposed to do this and how honest they have to be isn't spelled

On top of everything else, the Carter plan is based on today's cost-of-living indexes. And you don't have to be an analyst to know that by 1981, when the "reforms" will take effect, inflation will send welfare costs up along with everything

LOOK WHAT'S happened in the past eight

The food stamp program went from $24.8 million a year to $5.4 billion...unemployment insurance from $2.5 billion to $14 billion...and Medicare from $6.6 billion to $21 billion.

Medicaid rose from $2.3 billion to $9.9 billion...veterans compensation and pensions from $5.5 billion to $9 billion...military retirement from $2.4 billion to $8.2 billion...and Social Security from $26.7 billion to $92 billion. Lump welfare in with all those zeroes and the tab for what we call "income support programs' comes to a quarter of a trillion dollars every year. A tab that's shared by 55 million people, of whom only a fifth qualify as the traditional 'poor.'

Keep this up, though, and that fraction's bound to grow, too

Americans Freed From Mexican Prisons Paroled, Head Home

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Forty-one American prisoners brought home from Mexican jails as part of a historic swap treaty gained their freedom on parole Tuesday. Most rushed from the gates of a federal prison here into the arms of waiting relatives or friends.

Alison Margaret Baughman, 24, of Jefferson Town, Ky., was the first to be freed from the Metropolitan Correctional Center here. As a group of reporters sur-rounded her, she kissed an unidentified friend. She declined to comment other than to say that freedom "feels fantas-

James Robert Douglas, 27, of Austin said: "The first thing I want to do is get a drink. I've got a little bar picked out right over there.

Douglas, who spent four years and three months in Mexican prisons for co-caine possession, said, "I'm afraid my life is going to be changed. Right now, I'm not sure just how. I think I'll go work in a circus.' As many as 44 men and women were eligible for immediate release, either because they had served two-thirds of their sentences - which made them eligible under the treaty between the United States and Mexico - or had enough "good behavior" time to reach that level.

Of the 142 Americans who have been returned, most were flown from Mexico City last weekend after the return of 36 Mexicans from U.S. jails. Fifteen of the Americans were bused from La Mesa prison in Tijuana last Monday.

Two more airlifts, carrying about 100 more prisoners, are scheduled to arrive in San Diego on Friday and Saturday.

The prisoners being released Tuesday were given a change of clothing, a bus or airline ticket home and up to $100 cash depending on their needs, said James Meko, exchange coordinator for the U.S. Bureau of Prisons. They must report to a probation officer within 72 hours and must make periodic reports to probation officials for the remainder of their terms.

Some of those who hoped for release were kept in custody because they are sought on other charges in this country,

One woman released was Dorothy Elizabeth Tetterton, 33, of St. Petersburg. Fla., who said she was jailed for four years for possession of cocaine.

"I just want to go home and see my kids," she said, trembling. "I have two children, 14 and 16."

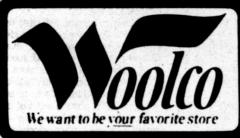

Anxiously waiting for one prisoner was Edith LeGrand of El Cajon, Calif., and her daughters, 3-year-old Tory and 5-year-old Tammi. They had come to take home Mrs. LeGrand's mother, Elizabeth Lankton, 60, of Oceanside, Calif. The white-haired grandmother of nine spent three years and nine months in a Mexico City prison on a cocaine conviction.

"We're all getting together for Christmas," said Mrs. LeGrand. "Right now, we don't know what we're going to do. There are so many of us that want to see

Three-Year-Old Survives Crash; Family Killed

KERRVILLE (AP) — A 3-year-old girl, trapped for 35 hours in the wreckage of a small plane with the bodies of her parents and brother, was rescued Tuesday by searchers who found her "mumbling and groaning."

Rescuers unstrapped Shera Sneed from the back seat of the plane, which had crashed on an 1,800-foot hill about 50 miles northwest of San Antonio, and took her to a nearby hospital where doctors found she had a fractured arm and leg.

The plane had been spotted Tuesday morning by a helicopter, and a rescue team headed for the site in four-wheel drive vehicles.

The searchers also found the bodies of Shera's father, San Antonio attorney Gerald Wayne Sneed, 33, her mother, Susan Parr Sneed, 32, and Shannon, her 5year-old brother. The family had been returning home from a visit to Shera's

"Shera was just mumbling and groaning when we got there," said Dan Waters of First Texas Flying Service, a family friend and the first at the scene. "It was nothing you could understand. She had a few abrasions but other than that she looked pretty good."

Waters said he tried to comfort the girl but she did not recognize him and apparently did not know what had happened.

The plane crashed Sunday night during a persistent drizzle. Air traffic controllers in San Antonio had received a distress signal from a plane reporting that it was low on fuel and was attempting to reach the Kerrville airport.

Spencer Treharne of the First Texas Flying Service said the plane apparently came within about 20 feet short of clearing the hill.

"He knew the Kerrville airport and was trying to get in." Treharne said of

"He knew the Kerrville airport and was trying to get in," Treharne said of Sneed. "When the engine started to sputter he could not get in. The hill is on the boundary of the airport you might say."

The crash site was three miles northeast of the airport.

Air rescue efforts had been hampered by the rain and the aerial search had begun only Tuesday morning.

Sheriff Paul Fields said the nose of the aircraft was buried in the loose dirt. Justice of the Peace Spencer Brown said Sneed's body was in the pilot's seat.

Mrs. Sneed was in the seat next to her husband's and their son was in the back

"It was not like they hit the side of the hill. They kind of almost skimmed over it. Like they were trying to land on the hill," Brown said.

The Sneeds were on a flight from Winters, Texas, where they had visited Shera's grandparents. The family lived in Boerne, a rural community 25 miles northeast of San Antonio.

LoVaca Bankruptcy Seen As Panel Decision Goal

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission apparently felt in ordering LoVaca Gathering Co. to stick by its natural gas contracts and to refund more than $1 billion that LoVaca could not possibly do Commission sources said Tuesday the order was designed to encourage an out-of-court settlement of $1.6 billion in claims against LoVaca or to force the company into bankruptcy.

"This will either settle this lawsuit," said the source, who asked not to be identified, "or if it is not settled, you probably will see bankruptcy and reorganiza-tion, which are in the public interest,

In the Monday order, commissioners Mack Wallace and Jon Newton specified that any refunds should be passed on from LoVaca's 400 customers to consumers, such as homeowners. Commissioner Jim Langdon dissented, pleading unsuccessfully for more time to

It is doubtful that Texas consumers will see lower utility bills as a result of the or-

LoVaca and its parent firm, Coastal States Gas Corp., said they would appeal the order. The first step would be a motion for a rehearing, which could take up to 60 days. If the commission rejects that motion, the companies could file suit in an Austin district court.

Another commission source predicted a legal challenge would wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court, which might take several years. "It's fight it in the courts or go out of business - there's so much at stake," the source said.

Analysis

The refunds, for example, would total an estimated $150 million for Austin; $75 million for the Lower Colorado River Authority; and $50 million for Southern Un-

Other major LoVaca customers include

San Antonio and Corpus Christi.
"I don't think there's any possibility we're ever going to see that money or that gas price rates will be set back to where they were. The money is just not there," said Don Butler, utility lawyer for Austin.

The commission order said that in an effort to gain short-term profits LoVaca sold low-price gas "whenever and wherever possible," although the company knew as early as 1967 that its gas supplies were dwindling were dwindling. LoVaca contracts from the early 1960s set gas prices at approximately 21 cents per thousand cubic feet, not high enough for the company to recover its gas costs as supplies grew short.

So, in 1973, the commission adopted a special order allowing LoVaca to charge its customers whatever it had to pay for gas, plus five cents per mcf.

Refunds would be the difference in original contract prices and what LoVaca has charged under the 1973 order.

As LoVaca's costs have gone up, monthly utility bills have soured, touching off demands for price curbs by the millions of Texans who rely on LoVaca for gas.

The new commission order, howe would allow LoVaca to continue char its costs plus five cents per mcf until an court appeal is final, so immediate relie seems out of the question.

The order says, in effect, that the ra in this state to seek relief from their con-tractual obligations."

"It would be preposterous," Newton said, for the commission to give LoVaca "complete absolution" for its "sins of utility mismanagement," and at the same time give LoVaca a full rate of return as though it "had never transgressed upon the public interest."

Voter Initiation Plan Sparks Lively Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to let voters play a part in the enactment of federal laws is misguided because "people are ignorant," a political scientist testified Tuesday.

"What it would come to is a contest between money and power groups," Pro-fessor Peter Bachrach of Temple University told the Senate subcommittee on the Bachrach was testifying on a proposed constitutional amendment to permit voters to initiate legislation - and have it put on the ballot - by obtaining a certain number of signatures.

He said the proposal was misguided and misfocused because "the people are ignorant and irrational when it comes to the simplest kind of issues. But two other political science professors, Larry Berg of the University of Southern California and Henry Abraham of the University of Virginia, supported

"I think it comes down to a belief in the people," said Abraham. "Perhaps it sounds corny, but I think it does come down to that.

Berg argued that in an initiative campaign "the public's attention would be focused on debate and discussion of the merits or demerits of public policy issues rather than just on style, looks, image, and other similar aspects of many modern campaigns."

Under present statutes in 23 states, voters may seek the enactment of state laws through the initiative.

Under the proposed constitutional amendment it would take signatures of 3 percent of the nation's registered voters to put a measure on the ballot nationwide. The signatures would have to come from at least 10 different states.

If enacted, an initiative law would go into effect within 30 days unless vetoed by the president. It would take a twothirds vote of both houses of Congress to repeal or amend it within two years Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., the chief sponsor of the proposed amendment, who has announced he is not seeking reelection next year, predicted it would be submitted to the states for ratification 'very soon after I leave elected politics.'

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the subcommittee, said he had "serious reservations about the initiative proposal on the federal level," but did not elabo-

Sen. Orrin L. Hatch, R-Utah, said it could lead to "every special interest in the country sponsoring some legislation" by the initiative method.

"I can see demagoguery of people who do not have the benefit of sitting through the hearings and going through the constitutional processes," Hatch said.

Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., sponsor of a similar measure in the House, re-plied, "I don't think it will do away with demagoguery or increase demagoguery."

Abraham, a professor of government at the University of Virginia, conceded he had "been around too long...to have many illusions about ready public comprehension of often highly complex publ-throught the initiative would "potentially nurture the citizen's public education and revive his interest in public affairs."

Hatch said he liked the idea of "Letting people tell Congress off once in a while, but added that at the same time he had "a lot of questions" about the proposal.

"I think one of the first initiative petitions would be to balance the budget, and I believe it would pass," Hatch said. The senator said that although he believes in a balanced budget, a law requiring it by a specified date could create "tremendous problems that would take us a century to

New County Expert To Handle Computer

The man hired to "computerize" the Lubbock County Courthouse will begin in January developing a system he says can save taxpayers money and provide better county services.

Bill McCullough, 27, has been hired by the Lubbock County Commissioners Court to fill the newly created post of "director of information systems serv-

Basically, his job will be to organize an in-house computer system for tasks that the county has been "farming out" to private firms - at an annual cost of about

McCullough said Tuesday he believes that for the same amount of money, the county could have a computer of its own, capable of handling the already "computerized" tasks as well as many chores now being done by hand.

He said his first objective will be to write specifications for leasing a computer that will accommodate the four functions - maintenance of the ad valorem tax roll, voter registration roll, vehicle registration and county clerk's property records - now handled under contract with private firms.

McCullough said he hopes to have a computer installed for performing those tasks by September, 1978.

Then, he said, other services - such as scheduling of courts and maintenance of the delinquent tax roll, court records, county welfare department information, and payroll and accounting — gradually will be added to the computer system. MINERS-A

The computer also will be able to handle the counting of punch-card ballots, should Lubbock County commissioners decide to buy a punch-card election system, McCullough said.

Use of computers in county government will not result in an immediate reduction of county employees, he said.

"But a computer will allow county employees to do their jobs more efficiently. so that as their workload grows, we won't be hiring more and more employees," McCullough said.

McCullough currently is employed by Computer Services of the Southwest, which handles the maintenance of records for the Lubbock County tax office.

The largest wave of United Mine Workers pickets to hit non-UNW mines in the week-old nationwide coal strike sparked outbreaks of violence Tuesday. Authorites sought court injunctions to limit picketing activity.

Car caravans of hundreds of pickets, some wielding baseball bats and crowpars, have descended on non-UMW operations in coal-rich Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky and forced them to shut down. The pickets also stopped trucks and dumped their loads.

At least 15 miners were arrested Tuesday in Kentucky after violence broke out a non-UMW mine in Davies County. Two sheriff's deputies were among those injured in a rock-throwing incident.

Police lobbed tear gas into the group of some 400 pickets, who were read an injunction ordering them to disperse

Large Compensation Expenses Prompt Superintendent's Memo

Avalanche-Journal Staff

Because of frequent resignations prompted by low wages, the Lubbock In-dependent School District finds it must hire two, sometimes three persons a year to fill each job in such departments as transportation and maintenance.

That high annual rate of employee turnover is a reason why the district's unemployment compensation tab may be unexpectedly large, Superintendent Ed Irons says.

In a memo to school trustees, Irons has proposed that the Lubbock district join with others across the state in administering an unemployment benefits program. Beginning Jan. 1, Texas school systems will be required under a new federal law to provide compensation to their out-of-work employees

Irons said the best way to meet that provision is to enter into a plan offered by the Texas Association of School Boards. Under this proposal, he said, the Lubbock district would pay the association's designated insurance agency $16,-500 a year, plus reimbursement for the actual cost of claims.

In return, the insurance agency and TASB would manage the district's account, handle legal matters arising from unemployment compensation claims and help school officials here minimize costs of the program, Irons said.

Also, he reported to the school board, notification has been received that the Lubbock school system has been included as a party plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging the Federal Unemployment Compensation Amendments of 1976.

The school board in October agreed to contribute $2,500 toward the legal fees borne by the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers in contesting the constitutionality of the new federal requirements as they apply to state and local governments.

The City of Lubbock and several other public entities across the country are plaintiffs in that suit.

Under the federal law, local governments for the first time would be forced to pay benefits to their employees who are laid off or otherwise terminated. School officials here, who have the option of paying the money through the Texas Employment Commission or a private insurance agency, fear they may be required to provide compensation to teachers during the summer and to seasonal employees.

Irons' memo said unem claims against the Lubbock school system may be exorbitant because of the drastic turnover of employees in such business services departments as custodial and grounds, transportation, warehouse and maintenance

For example, during the 1974-75 school year, the maintenance department with about 70 positions - experienced a turnover rate of 203 percent, the memo

That is, the district hired an average of three persons to keep each maintenance position filled that year, because so many workers kept leaving the district's em-

Turnover in the maintenance department for the 1975-76 school year was 161 percent. And last year, Irons said, it was

Experience in the other departments hasn't been any better, the memo said. For the past three years, the turnover rate in the 240-position custodial and grounds operation has been 118, 64 and 91 percent: in the 50-position transportation department, 104, 180 and 90 percent; and in the 10-position warehouse operation, 86, 76 and 105 percent.

"Keeping these jobs filled can be a real problem," said Robert Knight, the district's personnel director. His staff constantly is in search of bus drivers, custodians and other workers to fill job vacancies in the school system.

The 100 percent turnover in some departments - meaning that on the average, every position was vacated by one person and filled by another during the same year - is costly for taxpayers, Knight said.

Processing each new employee, a task which requires interviews, extensive pap-erwork and other chores, costs about $100, Knight said.

School officials attribute the high employee attrition to the district's low wage scale for non-classified workers.

Last year the starting hourly wage for warehouse storekeepers, custodians and laborers was $2.51; for groundsmen, $2.76; and for bus drivers, $3.38.

Salaries for non-classified workers were raised six percent at the start of the 1977-78 school year. In his memo, Irons said there are three requirements of the federal unemployment compensation law: -Setting up a fund within the Texas Employment Commission. Irons said the ways the school system could meet the district would be required to ante up $198,000 to do this. -Administering the program through the school district itself. The cost here is unknown because the district does not know how many claims might be paid

-Authorizing the TASB's insurance agency to represent the school district in 500 a year, plus the cost of claims.

His recommendation to participate in the TASB plan will be considered by school trustees at their monthly meeting Thursday at 7:15 a.m. in the district's ad-

Strike's Threat To Supplies Unki

By Associated Press
A loosely-organized new farmers' group is calling on farmers across the country to go on strike starting today. But whether - and when - the strike will threaten food supplies is unknown.

One reason is that the strike has its greatest support among grain producers, mostly in the Midwest and West. Grain can be stored, so it could take a long time for shortages to show up.

In Texas, for example, where strike organizers claim heavy support, most grain elevators are already well stocked now.

On the other hand, areas producing perishable products - the ones that could put a quick dent in supermarket supplies - are showing less interest in the strike. If they strike, these farmers will have to dump milk or watch produce

So a number of officials and spokesmen for agriculture-linked businesses predict that dairy farmers, even in the Midwest, will not take part to a great degree, nor will California's fresh produce growers.

"It's impossible to keep milk off the market and these farmers aren't going to dump it," says Ken Tvaden of Land O'Lakes, a major milk processor in Minnesota. "The dairy farmers have been doing reasonably well in the past few months and they're not about to throw it

"I don't see the strike as having any impact on our stores," says Ralph McCotter, a spokesman for King Sooper, a 32store Denver supermarket chain. He points out that wheat and grain farmers are the most enthusiastic about the strike. However, he adds, "if the strike

Policy Aired At Childress

A-J Correspondent CHILDRESS — Following a complaint concerning fees charged by the Childress Ambulance Service, a more detailed contract for the subsidized operation appears likely, according to City Councilman Larry Moore. The service is under contract with the City of Childress and receives subsidies from the hospital district and county commissioners court as well as the city, Moore explained. The ambulance service is paid $500 monthly by each of the three governing bodies, with a total of $400 per month set aside in an escrow fund for equipment replacement.

The operator of an independent ambulance service here, Milton Havins, recently appeared before the city council with two complaints concerning fees charged by the Childress Ambulance Service.

One of the complaints involved charges for a call to an area Veterans Hospital. The patient said the portion of the fee he felt was excessive was refunded by the service when he protested.

Havins's second complaint involved an ambulance call where two persons were taken to hospital at the same time, with both patients charged for the call. After councilmen agreed that the con-Service is not specific about fees to be charged in such cases, a meeting of representatives of the three subsidizing

In attendance were Moore, representing the city council; Jim Parker of the county commissioners court; Ronny Leach, a member of the hospital's board of directors; and Bob Russell, operator of the ambulance service.

Moore said the meeting did not result in immediate action but that all in attendance agreed that the ambulance service's contract should be more specific in outlining rates and charges to be

No action will be taken, Moore said, until the three entities can agree on which body should have the policy-mak-

He added that the committee plans to continue meeting until the matter is re-

The group calling the strike is 90 days old, bases itself in the wheat-producing hamlet of Springfield, Colo., and calls itself American Agriculture.

It has no membership rolls, and there is no way to gauge its size. Its gripe is with farm prices. It has called on American farmers to keep their products off the market and to stop buy-ing farm supplies until officials in Washington act to bring farm prices to 100 percent of parity.

At full parity, farmers theoretically have the same purchasing power for the items they sell as their forebears had early in this century when prices and costs were said to be in step.

By comparison, farm prices as of Nov 15 averaged 66 percent of parity, one of the lowest marks for the indicator in 44

Anticipation of a strike was having some effect in parts of South Dakota. Grain sales have been down for the past several weeks in Huron, S.D., and sales at a Huron supermarket were up by as much as 35 percent on Tuesday apparently as farmers stocked up on food.

Nebraska farmers were also stockpiling groceries - some said they had a month's supply on hand. And some farmers in Florida and Tennessee also were selling livestock more quickly than usual, apparently out of fear they won't be able to get grain.

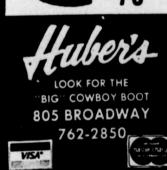

But Chet Davis, manager of the Sioux Falls, S.D., Hinky Dinky grocery, has noticed no recent difference in sales. And in Hutchinson, Kan., Gail Riffel, a wheat buyer for Far-Mar-Co Inc., a major marketing and co-op group, said, "We're buy-Ambulance Fee ing normal amounts (of wheat). We should have a pretty good surge at the end of the year, but that's for income tax purposes of farmers selling them."

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland has predicted that the strike will fail, and on Tuesday, his department reiterated its Minister Menahem Begin will fly here Friday to confer with President Carter on how best to continue the move toward a just peace settlement in the Middle East," the White House announced which the Cairo talks are part. Tuesday evening.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, read the announcement at a hastily convened news briefing. The formal statement said Begin requested the meeting. Begin proposed the meeting to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, currently touring Middle East capitals, late last week, Powell said. Carter extended a formal invitation last Sunday.

Cairo Talks Open The Israeli leader's visit will come two days after the launching of direct preparatory peace talks in Cairo between Israeli and Egyptian representatives.

The White House announcement began: "The president has accepted with pleasure a request from Prime Minister Begin for a meeting in Washington on Friday, Dec. 16.

After adding that Carter by then will have received a detailed report from Vance on his Middle East mission, it con-

"The president looks forward to discussing with Prime Minister Begin the latest developments in the search for peace in the Middle East, a process in which the prime minister is actively and positively engaged.

"Continue Peace Move" "The president and the prime minister also will be able to exchange views on how best to continue the move toward a just peace settlement between Israel and its Arab neighbors.'

This second Washington visit by Begin since he became prime minister earlier this year was understood to signal no breakthrough in the quest for a settlement but rather, in the view of American officials, a positive step in a continuing

Begin will arrive in Washington Thursday and meet with Carter Friday morning, Powell said.

Nothing Specific

Asked what the prime minister specifically had in mind in asking for the session, the White House spokesman replied, "I have no information to provide on what the prime minister might wish to discuss with the president.'

Powell acknowledged that he had an idea of what was involved but was not free to talk about it.

In response to a question about a possible trip here by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, Powell said, "There are no plans for other such visits.'

The spokesman said the Egyptian government was informed of Begin's travel plans on Monday "and I can characterize their reactions as positive. He also discouraged any speculation that Carter would expand his forthcoming world tour to include Israel or neighboring countries. Weekend Plans

Carter will proceed with plans to fly to Favetteville, N.C., Friday afternoon to attend the wedding of a nephew there on Saturday.

In Cairo, Egyptian and Israeli delegates huddled in a hotel room Tuesday night, sipping coffee and discussing procedure hours before the start of the Cairo conference that participants hope will lay the groundwork for Middle East peace.

The meeting in a room of the centuryold Mena House hotel lasted 90 minutes and focused on technicalities of how the talk should be conducted when they begin today, an Israeli spokesman said.

The other Arab governments invited to the talks have refused to attend, but the presence of Egyptians and Israelis still marks the first time in the 29-year history of the Arab-Israeli conflict that any of the parties have negotiated openly and without intermediaries.

The conference also will be attended by representatives of the United States and the United Nations.

Egyptian spokesman Mursi Saadeddine said, "All the parties came over for discussions, with good will.

from the great pyramid of Cheops, was off limits to reporters.

Delegates sat down after a few minutes of searching for one another in the unfamiliar hallways of the hotel, where workers scurried about polishing wood and brass and tacking down stairway carpets over which several guests had tripped. Earlier, American delegate Alfred Atherton met with Meguid for nearly 30 minutes and then with Ben-Elissar.

Atherton arrived in Cairo after leaving the party of Secretary of State Vance, who is touring the Middle East. As the Cairo delegates met Tuesday, Vance was in Damascus trying to reassure Syrian President Hafez Assad of the U.S. commitment to a Mideast settlement that will bring in all the Arabs involved in the confrontation with Israel.

Fewer Young Men Going To College

WASHINGTON (AP) - Young men are finding college less attractive, even though that's where the women are, a Census Bureau study shows.

The report released Tuesday suggested fewer men are enrolling because they are not eligible for GI education benefits or they no longer need Vietnam war draft deferments

It speculated another reason may be that young men now consider a college education less important

The proportion of 18 and 19-year-old men who have completed one year of college declined from 13.6 percent in 1970 to 10.9 percent this year, the report

However, during the same period, a higher proportion of women the same age completed the same education, increasing from 12.9 percent to 13.2 per-

Larry Suter, who heads the education statistics branch, said women have exceeded men in education at that age group for three years. But any gains they are making are caused mainly by declining male enrollments, he said

Among 20-and 21-year-olds, men with a year of college education dropped markedly from 46.8 percent in 1970 to 38.5 percent in 1977. Women gained from 35.8 percent to 38.4 percent.

The larger gap in the 18 and 19 age group may be because women enter college at an earlier age, Suter said.

The report said more men may have been in college seven years ago because

"Many apparently attended college during the 1960s to take advantage of draft deferments," it said. "Others who entered the armed forces returned fo college in the 1970s to take advantage of GI benefits.

"It appears likely as the number of young persons eligible for GI Bill benefits decreases, lower proportions of future generations of men are apt to enter col-Education researchers have said most people thought a college education was a necessity in the 1960s but that in this decade it has not always paid off as well. The report said the decline among young men "might be due to a decrease in the attraction of a colege education.

The report also shows that persons in their late 20s in 1977 were twice as likely to be high school graduates as those 60 years and older. Only 42 percent of persons 60 years and older, compared with 85 per cent of persons 25 to 29, had graduated from high school.

The average person over age 14 had completed 12.3 years of school, the report said. The ratio was the same for men and women, but it was 12.4 for whites, 11.3 for blacks and 10.4 for people of Spanish origin.

and Wolfforth is "very good considering the distances involved. But it's still not fast enough when you're talking about how quickly a fire can spread."

Also, Biggs said, even if the community already were organized behind the volunteer fire department proposal, it may be a year or so before papers of incorporation are filed, equipment is purchased and the department gets in operation.

It was Biggs who helped draft the new compensation plan for the county's rural fire departments and added the amendments supporting a new unit south of the City of Lubbock and cautioning departments about their responsibility to answer all "reasonable" calls.

'That is not meant to be a threat," Biggs said of the latter provision. "All of the fire departments are made up of fine, dedicated people. I'm sure none of them would ever refuse to answer a fire call, no matter how far away it might be." But, he said, the commissioners court needed some safeguards built into the new compensation system.

Under the existing arrangement, the fire departments are paid a fixed fee for every run they make into unincorporated Beginning in 1978, however, commissioners will take their total annual fire service budget of $100,000 and divide it among the various departments in lumpsum fashion, according to the percentage of the county's fire calls each department handled this past year. Some commissioners feared that some departments would no longer be as aggressive in making rural fire runs since they will be assured of a predetermined subsidy regardless of the number of fire calls answered.

Under the per-call compensation arrangement, "we've really made them work for their money," said one commissioner. "Under this new plan, there might be a temptation to slough off a lit-

Commissioners were particularly wary of fires that might occur on the boundary between two rural fire zones, They feared that the departments involved might pass the buck, with each disclaiming responsibility. (Under the current arrangement, one or both of the departments would be required to go in order to get paid for answering that call.) Except for that one point, however, the new plan for compensating fire departments has several advantages, Biggs said.

First, it allows the county to contain the cost of fire service. Under the old plan, the county never knew how many fires might occur or how much money would be doled out in a given year. The new system allows commissioners to budget a fixed amount and be assured that all fires will be answered within the budgeted funds. Also, Biggs said, the new compensation plan will encourage fire departments to try to hold down the number of fire in their areas by launching fire prevention efforts and coordinating runs with other departments.

Some Republicans contend the Carter administration is fighting the tuition credit because Republicans are pushing hardest for it. Roth pointed out that Vice President Walter F. Mondale, while a senator, introduced a similar proposal on May 26, 1976, allowing a $200-per-student tuition credit.

Earlier in the day, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., displayed his optimism about passage of Social Security legislation by scheduling a morning session today of the Senate-House conference committee. The panel had broken up in disagreement over the tuition credit last Fri-

On the House side, a leadership aide said the Rules Committee is ready to give whatever clearance is necessary to allow the House to take a final vote on Social Security on Thursday.

"I'm highly optimistic," Long told reporters after the Senate Finance Committee had discussed Social Security and other problems for two hours. "I think an agreement will be reached. I think we will have a Social Security bill."

In all the maneuvering, there was increasing evidence the Senate would drop its insistence that the tuition-credit amendment remain a part of the Social Security bill. Because President Carter so badly wants the Social Security legislation, backers of the credit say, he could not veto the measure even though he opposes the credit.

A majority of the House conferees have said they are so opposed to the credit and that they can never vote for it, even if to do otherwise would kill the Social Security bill for the year. They voted 8-2 against the provision last week.

Draw Little Senate Support WASHINGTON (AP) - House energy

cap" to prevent runaway prices once the id is removed. His vote could be crucial since Senate conferees have been deadlocked, with nine on each side, between keeping controls on natural gas and removing them.

"I think we ought to try to find a mid-dle ground," Haskell told reporters. He is the first of the nine Senate conferees in the administration camp to publicly state that he might support a form of deregulation.

The developments came as Congress prepared to adjourn Thursday for the ear without completing work on President Carter's energy program. Later in the day, key House and Senate negotiators met privately and, according to participants, agreed there was only a slim chance of reaching accord before

'It looks grim," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the top Senate negotiator. Jackson also declared that the latest proposal by House conferees was unacceptable to a majority of Senate negotiators.

Sources said that deregulation backers among Senate conferees may make a move today to try to win support for lifting price controls after five years but to give the president authority to reimpose them if prices rise too rapidly. Such a motion is expected to be made by Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., the sources said. But even if the measure could pick up the 10 votes needed to break the Senate deadlock - and Haskell could provide the "swing" vote - it seemed unlikely that House conferees would go along. House conferees, who have supported the administration gas pricing plan, voted 16 to 9 Tuesday to back away from that program slightly in hopes of breaking the logjam over this part of Carter's energy program.

They agreed to abandon Carter's proposal to extend the government's allocation powers to gas used in states where it is produced.

If the federal government had such authority, gas intended for use in industries in Louisiana and Texas could be sent to meet residential shortages in Ohio or

Fire Kills Seven Coeds In College Dormitory

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - A fire surged through the fourth floor of a women's dormitory at Providence College early Tuesday, killing seven coeds, two of whom jumped to their deaths seconds be-fore firefighters could have rescued them with ladders.

At least 15 other students were injured, authorities said.

Hours after the disaster, the hard-frozen, snow-covered ground below the dormitory windows was stained with drops

One student said a rash of recent false alarms at the school may have kept some residents from getting out of bed in time.

Many of the victims had stayed up late Monday to decorate their rooms, win-dows and hallways for Christmas, and fire officials said the blaze may have been caused by faulty Christmas lights or by a hair dryer left on in a closet to dry

"All I know is some people won't be going home for Christmas," said Nadine Rhodes, a freshman from East Providence, who lived on the same floor of Aquinas Hall as the dead and injured

Aquinas Hall, a U-shaped brick building built in 1939, and other campus buildings were decorated late Monday by students competing for the top prize of $25 in an annual Christmas contest.

According to several of the school's 4,-100 students, Aquinas Hall won the contest. Fire officials said there was a lot of flammable material, including paper decorations, hanging in the hallways.

The fire broke out on the top floor at 2:56 a.m. and flashed down the hallway, quickly reaching three-alarms.

"At first I thought it was a joke," said Jan Walsh of Needham, Mass., who was awakened by the clarm. "We've had so many lately.

Residents said they awoke to see heavy smoke billowing through the hallways, around door jambs and into the rooms.

"A little after 3 (o'clock), we heard somebody running down the hall," said one coed who declined to give her name.

"There was smoke going through the door. They were yelling for help. We saw a girl jump."
Witnesses said some women tried to run through the burning hallway and were overcome by smoke. Two others jumped to their deaths, ignoring pleas by firefighters to wait in their room.

A roommate of the two girls who plunged to their deaths onto the frozen, snow-covered ground was rescued within seconds after her friends jumped. "If they had waited five more seconds, they would have been saved," a fire investigator said.

Some students stood in the snow and cried, some walked about expressionless dents find shelter in other buildings.

The dead women were Gretchen Ludwig, 18, Saugus, Mass.; Catherine A. Repuci, 18, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Jacqueline Botelho, 20, Bristol, R.J.; Barbara Feeney, 18, Taunton, Mass.; Donna Galligan, no age given, Closter, N.J.; Deborah Smith, 21, Milford, Conn.; Kathryn Andresakes, 20, Upper Montclair, N.J.

The dormitory holds 300 persons, but authorities said they did not know how many were in the building because there is a break between classes and exams. The dorm had no fire sprinklers.

Iondale Hints At New Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration may have tried to accomplish too much too soon in its first year, but 1978 will be different, Vice President Walter F. Mondale said Tuesday.

Mondale predicted the administration's legislative initiatives next year would be "a strong salvo, wisely scheduled."

"One thing we found out was in this first year one must be careful not to overcrowd the institutions to try and solve too much too rapidly," the vice president told a group of reporters in a breakfast interview. He acknowledged that President Carter was more optimistic than old Washington hands about the speed of the congressional process.

"If you try to do too much at once, it's hard for all of us to follow it, it's hard for the institutions to handle all of these matters at the same time," said Mondale, who served in Congress for 12 years before becoming vice president.

In the wide-ranging interview, Mondale discussed the administration's problems winning congressional approval of an enin general, difficulties stemming Japa-nese imports, farm prices, the Middle East and his role in Carter's White

But a host of other issues - election law reform, the proposed $50 tax rebate, labor's common situs picketing bill, hospital cost containment, the consumer protection agency, to name a few — have been defeated, dropped or remain in the congressional mill.

In addition, there is no likelihood that an energy program will be completed this year. Carter has said that enactment of a national energy plan would be the ulti-mate measure of his first year in office.

Mondale said Carter, in his first year in the White House, "was more optimistic about the expediency with which the congressional process works than many of the oldtimers.

"Now he's had a year's experience and he's anxious that in succeeding years what he's learned about that process permits him to better schedule his proposals," the vice president said.

He said "we've cleared the platter" of some of the major pieces of legislation Carter wanted to submit — welfare revision and Social Security refinancing, in addition to energy. And Mondale said the White House is "seeking to develop a range of priorities for presidential action next year."

He suggested that it might be helpful if the administration submitted general objectives for specific pieces of legislation, rather than precise wording, which can be honed after congressional debate.

Turning to juvenile crime, Workman said the Texas Family Code "needs to be rewritten" so that the "gross offender, the habitual offender" cannot commit serious crimes, "be in and out of institutions and it never shows up on their records" as adults.

He admitted being "bothered," too, by what he called "automatic release" of juvenile offenders at age 18 — "no matter what their offenses."

Workman wants to see Texas move more toward the local detention system for juvenile offenders, and he praised the proposed regional juvenile detention center for the 15-county Lubbock area. "It will be the first and only one of its kind, funded partly by the youth council with state Criminal Justice Funds."

Workman said the state has long need places for minor offenders to be key near their homes, rather than being shu

"If there's a serious offender who needs to be out of the community, both for his own sake and the community's, it will still be there. But the local facility will be available later to help phase the youngster back into the community."

Workman also said that, as a sens he will work for more efficiency and reduced costs in Texas' youth institutions, once the youth council gets out from under a federal court order which now rules

"I think that's very bad...It has a tendency to create obsolescence in the classroom unless there's some updating.

"You could increase faculty salaries and you still couldn't do anything about quality," Workman said. "And if you're 100 percent tenured, you could have an outstanding person you want to bring in and couldn't do it."

He took a stand for higher public school teacher salaries, and a fervent anti-crime and anti-criminal attitude.

'Society is going to have to recognize that people with problems, they're going to have to lock them up to deter crime and to protect the community.

"Most people say the criminal is product of his environment, being disad vantaged. I find it interesting that Lub bock and Corpus Christi had the highes crime rates recently. And it just so hap-pens that those two cities also had the lowest unemployment rates and one of the highest affluency, per family income,

I wish when a TV set would "go," the wood would warp, the rollers would fall off, the paint on the knobs would chip and it would start to smell.

You wouldn't feel so guilty about getting rid of it.

But our set looks so great and majestic as it stands there in the living room...21 inches of shiny mahogany topped off by a bowl of fresh flowers.

The only thing wrong with it is when the Bionic Woman jumps over a building

Not only that, the picture will occasionally go into a spin and you expect to see an orange and two cherries lock into place when it stops.

The other night when we were watching the three angels, my husband said, "Something's wrong with that picture and I can't put my finger on

"I think it's because Jaclyn Smith looks like Raymond Massey.'

"That's it!" he shouted, "Is it possible we need a new set already?' "I'm afraid so. Fifteen years fly when you're having fun.' The new set was only a matter of selecting and having it delivered.

The problem is how do you dispose of an old TV set?

I called my daughter at her apartment. "How would you like an extra TV set?" "Is it the one that makes John Wayne look like Woody Allen?' 'It has a beautiful cabinet." "I'll pass."

I called my son at school. "How would you like your own TV set?"

'Is it portable?' "It depends on how many of you are there to lift it."

"Maybe we could keep it in the spare room," I told my husband. "I'll bet if someone is handy, they could fix it for

"You said that about the one in each bedroom, the kitchen, the garage and the basement. The old one on the porch is even beginning to smell." Thank goodness.

eral observations. First, you have an overly pessimistic outlook

Secondly, radiation is not an all-or-nothing matter. Radiation alone will arrest some cancers, either by killing the cells or preventing them from multiplying. Other cancers lend themselves to surgery only. Another kind may be helped by a combination of surgery and radiation. Chemotherapy (use of drugs) is a third approach, and advances are continually being made in this. So, you see, there are really three weapons at the physician's disposal in arresting cancers.

The confusion arises from the fact that we can effectively treat only localized cancer. This is why early detection is so important - to get at it before it spreads in the system

You mention side effects. New drugs are constantly being evaluated to help minimize these, some even as you read

You say that some victims die despite radiation therapy. Sure they do, but many survive because of it. Not all cancer victims die of cancer. At a recent meeting of the College of Physicans, a speaker noted that he had successfully treated cancer in five patients. Later they did die, however, but autopsies showed no detectable evidence of the previous cancer. Death was attributed to other factors, such as heart attacks.

Cancer patients under any form of treatment should be as positive as possible about it. What is more important, they should keep themselves in as good physical shape as possible, nutritionally and otherwise. There are several bright spots in the cancer picture, and more, I'm sure, to come.

Breast size usually follows that of the mother. What was your own experience?

CHRISTMAS SEAL COMPETITION - Bowie Elementary School students Lori Hutchison, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hutchison, and Tracy Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Headlee, are working on ideas for 1979 Christmas Seals. The main idea of the project, open to elementary school students from kindergarten through third grade, is not to have the student design a "Christmas Seal," but to have the child paint his concept of the meaning of Christmas. One painting from each state, the District of Columbia and three territories will be selected. The project is sponsored by the National Art Education Association and the American Lung Association. # Youngsters Join Grandmother In Sculpting Clay

Avalanche-Journal Staff

'Over the meadow and through the wood" isn't exactly the way Jeff and Tyler Roberts get to grandmother's house. Like other modern youngsters, they find it simpler by street and avenue.

But, the "hooray for the fun" is just as hearty for the special things for them to do at grandmother's house. One of the big specials for Jeff and Tyler is taking part in one of the many hobbies going for grandmother, Mrs. Evan Roberts of 3615 47th St. This time of the year, it's making ornaments for the Christmas tree. For them, tinsel, paper and glue go by the board for tree decorating. They dive hands first into clay for their creative efforts.

It's a lot like playing mud pies, only better.

Their efforts - created with a lot of gooey fun involving rolling out dough like quite the artistic creations of grandmother's, but they are different and something special for the season.

Jeff, 6, and Tyler, 4, have been working with clay for a year now, starting as most potters do with pinch pots - taking a ball of clay and, with pinching and pulling, creating a small pot

Jeff has gone on to things like turtles while Tyler figures the best is worms, as many as his clay will make after he has worked it to a slimey slab with diligent application of extra water. They, almost, are big enough to try out Mrs. Roberts's first hobby, painting.

She will start them off in water color So far, they are not too interested in her weaving, except for the finished product. All of her hobbies began as something for the grandchildren or just something Early animal paintings decorated Jeff's walls and first clay creations were special animals for grandchildren's amusement. "One of a kind" clay art is her goal, although it doesn't always happen that way.

She began tree ornaments to have something different, something Robertsmade on the Roberts tree.

Combining her artistry with a brush with craft ability in clay, she made one of such things as a rocking horse, elf, birdhouse, etc.

A successful 1976 debut led into more for this season plus duplicates for

By the time the yule season rolls around next year, she plans to have a completely new set, this time of fairy tale figures.

The South Plains Association of Governments endorsed a $75,000 City of Lubbock application for a grant to implement a crime prevention and research project at its monthly meeting Tuesday. The grant would come from the Crimi-

The board also voted to apply for a $20,000 grant from the Governor's office which is offered for innovative ideas for energy conservation.

Truett Mayes, SPAG's executive director, presented to the board plans for an infra-red photography study which would detail the amount of heat loss in homes Infra-red film is sensitive to heat and because of that it has often been used in Mayes proposed hiring Texas Instruments of Dallas to fly over the 15-county SPAG region and photograph the dwellings. The resultant photographs would be able to show heat losses in homes requiring insulation. Well-insulated homes would show up as dark spots, and homes with a high degree of heat loss would be lighter colored on the photograph.

Mayes originally suggested the project for the cities of Lubbock, Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield and others, but the motion adopting the proposal suggested extending the project over the entire 15-county region.

Mayes estimates that extending the project over the entire region would cost $50,000, including $20,000 from the Governor's office $10,000 in SPAG matching funds and the rest possibly supplied by the electric and gas companies.

The program is a pre-school development program for poverty children which prepares them for first grade.

Senior Citizen Site Delayed

Who said we were just a junior Store?

Unanimously accepting a subcommittee recommendation, the Parks and Recreation Board Tuesday postponed selection of a site for a senior citizens center.

The Rev. Adolphus Cleveland, head of the committee charged with locating suitable sites, told the board the Calvary Baptist Church at 1921 18th St. is the group's first choice. But the church wants $748,000 for the building and adjacent property, a sum the board believes is too high.

Board members decided to seek a more satisfactory price for the church and at the same time study other options, such as converting the Godeke Branch Library into a senior citizens center.

Board members plan to meet next month with the city council and Library Board about the library conversion possi-

The city council has authorized about $500,000 for a new center, which board members say ideally should be located within a half-mile of 19th Street and Ave-

Besides Calvary Baptist Church and the Godeke Library, the only other suitable building is one vacated last year by Sears. Roebuck and Co., Cleveland said. But the price tag for that building and adjacent property is about $1 million.

The board will ask city council members to approve an open-air "interpretative information" center at Lake 1 of the Yellowhouse Canyon.

The council already has set aside $12,-000 for such a center. Board members okayed plans for an octagonal shelter containing graphics depicting the history of the Yellowhouse Canyon and the city's water reclamation project in it.

Randy Henson of Tech's park administration department suggested the plan. saying the center would provide shade in the area and introduce lake visitors to the canyon's history.

Bold Scam Brings In $1

CHICAGO (AP) - The deal was too good to be true. Indeed.

The ads said only $16.95 for a digital watch. Order two and get a free pocket calculator as a bonus. Ideal Christmas presents.

Countless thousands of persons were stung last year in a one-man nationwide scam, lured by the next-best thing to a giveaway. It was a giveaway, all right.
They all gave to Dennis L. Roberts.

Nothing In Return Orders - estimated at more than 100,-000 - poured in with payments for the watches and calculators. But the thousands of bargain hunters got nothing in return except their canceled checks.

A year later, none of the victims has been recompensed. Although authorities have recovered almost half of the money, it sits tied up in bankruptcy proceedings. It's possible that at least some of those funds will not revert to the rightful own-

And more than half the money is hidden in Mexico and may never be found. Roberts, father of the scheme, is spending his time these days at Chicago's downtown federal lockup appealing his fraud conviction.

Before he was caught, Roberts, a businessman audacious enough to use national advertising in the modern-day Christmas spirit, built himself a tidy little nest egg. One to the tune of $1.9 million.

He ran advertisements in nationally circulated publications such as TV Guide and Parade magazine and in small-town newspapers aimed at attracting suckers

But he was too successful.

Roberts, alias John Rodine, attracted too much attention to his Teltronics Ltd., a phony setup he managed to pass off through an advertising agency to the magazines as a legitimate enterprise. But he wasn't uncovered before arranging for transfer of more than $1 million of those vestments. Only 20,000 Complain Many persons who were snookered complained to Illinois authorities, who funds to Mexican bank accounts and in-discovered strange doings. They found, for one thing, that there were no watches. For another, that there were no pocket calculators. They eventually received ,000 complaints.

Roberts is appealing consecutive threeand five-year sentences, compli his May 25 conviction. A U.S. District Court jury found him guilty of 50 counts of mail fraud, and the judge who sent-enced him in July said of the massive evidence: "I don't think I've ever seen a smoking gun in a mail fraud case be-

Roberts had set up Teltronics as a sales representative for a firm in Hong Kong that allegedly manufactured the digital watches to sell for $16.95 or $17.95 apiece. He apparently displayed a few watches to convince the magazines of legitimacy. But there were no others.

Funds Withdrawn Last December, before the heat of public attention entangled him, and with slightly less than $2 million already deposited in Teltronics accounts in four Chicago-area banks, Roberts withdrew almost $750,000 and wired the money, un-banks in Mexico City.

He managed the transfer of another several hundred thousand before the Illinois attorney general's office was able to block it.

An involuntary bankruptcy proceeding was filed against Roberts and Teltronics early this year on behalf of certain temporary-help services, claiming unpaid expenses totaling $15,000.

Other Actions Blocked

"We're up the creek," says Jonathan McPhee of the consumer fraud protection division in the attorney general's office. "That automatically stays any other actions.'

The federal bankruptcy petition, filed by attorney Louis Levit, has frozen all the recovered funds — $836,000 in bank accounts and another $50,000 in gold coins, recovered in a safety deposit box in Milwaukee. The state's attempts in contesting the petition to allow return of the sumers' money have been unsuccess-

"We've filed a complaint for reclamation," says McPhee, "which essentially says that the money was taken by fraud. We already have a judgment (Roberts' conviction) to that effect. Since it was taken by fraud, we feel he did not have title to that.

Judge Unsympathetic We are entitled to keep this $900,-

000 out of a receiver in bankruptcy. It belongs to the consumers." But, adds McPhee, bankruptcy Judge Thomas James has not allowed his petition so far. Roberts, says McPhee, "is trying to brazen this thing out. He's a really cocky everybody."

Roberts, who likely will be eligible for parole in three years if his conviction is upheld, even tried to strike a deal with federal prosecutors to get his $500,000 cash bond lowered, offering to bring back $386,000 from Mexico, says McPhee.

"Some people were saint to come in

"Some people were going to come in and say nice things about him" and to pledge substantial holdings as collateral to raise bond money.

Prior Scheme Cited

McPhee said the character witnesses had been involved with Roberts in a previous scheme to sell computer games to bars and taverns. "They pledged all this supposed equity, and when it came time for them to put up or shut up, they disap-

McPhee said George Kemp of the firm of McKey and Poague Inc. has been named receiver to return the money to the customers. "He has established a procedure for cataloging the complaints.... The problem is getting to that point." Roberts's scheme was thoroughly plot-

McPhee said that he started by apparently duping a national credit-rating agency into providing a favorable report for anyone inquiring. He hired Christenson Barclay and Shaw, a Chicago advertising firm, paying it some $55,000 up front to test his ad first in Ohio. Response was good and, without ever sending any customers watches, he was able to parlay that into advertising in TV Guide, said McPhee.

ExcuseOffered Teltronics ads offered nine watch models. They began appearing in late Sep-tember or early October and ran four or five weeks

When orders came into his office in the suburb of Des Plaines, he photocopied checks and envelopes. Women were hired to type gummed labels and mail customers a note blaming delivery delays of the non-existent watches on a fortuitous United Parcel Service strike. Once complaints began, the attorney general's office, having only civil authority, alerted postal officials, who initiated mail fraud prosecution.

Product Appeared Good Roberts fooled so many people initially, says McPhee, because he offered a product which appeared to be good at a very low price.

'Most of the reponses came from kids, from convicts, from people who wanted to get their parents a Christmas gift," said McPhee. "The appeal was to people of lesser means and it looked to be a straightforward deal, and he traded on the reputation of TV Guide, a fact that they (the magazine) acknowledged lat-

The normal advertising response to the magazine, estimated at about one-half of 1 percent of its 23 million circulation, in effect guaranteed that Roberts would be inundated with orders. "The reputation of TV Guide, of course, is very high, and a lot of people feel that when they see something in it you can trust it," McPhee added.

Incident Called Abnormal

A spokesman for the publication in Radnor, Pa., said the magazine has always "tried to take care in reviewing advertised products. In this particular case, we did have watches, we did have advertising copy, our representatives did eir office, they did pull out watches forth." He called the locident ab

Jury Finds Valentine Guilty

It took a federal jury here Tuesday only 25 minutes to convict a Lubbock man of the July 13 break-in of the post office at Petersburg.

Found guilty after a two-day trial in U.S. Dist. Court was Jerry Ted Valentine, U.S. Dist. Judge Halbert O. Woodward ordered a pre-sentencing report, and will assess the defendant's punishment at a later date. Maximum punishment for the offense is five years imprisonment and/or a $1,000 fine.

Key witness for the prosecution was Carl E. Ross, 25, who earlier had pleaded guilty to being an accessory to the break-Ress told Asst. U.S. attorney Bob Slough that he had driven to Petersburg with Valentine July 12. The witness stated that he and the defendant had been questioned by a Petersburg policeman late that night. He said he and Valentine then drove around, and that he eventually let Valentine out of the vehicle near the post office.

Ross said he picked up Valentine a short while later, and that the defendant had told him that an alarm had gone off as Valentine attempted to open a safe. The witness said he and Valentine then drove back to Lubbock.

Former Petersburg policeman Donney Walker testified he had noticed Ross and Valentine near the post office late July 12, and had questioned them at some length. He said he had checked the post office after talking with the pair, and saw no signs of anything wrong.

Postal authorities said the office was broken into, apparently after Walker had

CHAPTER NINE: THE SNAKE NEST

Santa And The Pigwidgen

(Synopsis: On their way to destroy the Pigwidgen, Claus uses the magic arrow to slay the giant. Later Tweedleknees insults a witch who turns him into a donkey.)

By LUCRECE BEALE The donkey gazed at Claus from large brown eyes. He rolled his lips back from his big yellow teeth and swung his heavy head.

"So it's you!" sighed Claus. "You made the witch angry and she has betwitched you. Now what are we to do?" The donkey brayed piteously.

Claus remembered the magic ring the elves had given him. It could be used once to change a creature's shape. Claus took the ring off his finger and slipped it on the long tail of the donkey. He twisted the ring three times, saying, "Change to your natural shape."

The donkey vanished. Patrick Tweedleknees stood there rubbing his ears. "Am I glad to get rid of those donkey ears," he cried.
"They itched terribly and I had nothing to scratch with."

"Perhaps I should have left you as you were," said Claus. "It would have kept you out of trouble. Now we have used both the ring and the arrow and still have not met the Pigwidgen."

"Never mind," said Tweedleknees airily. "We have other weap-

"yes," said Claus. "But you must be careful and control your temper.

Tweedleknees promised to be very, very good and they continued on their way. Now it was truly cold. The snow was many feet deep. As they trudged on with their heads bent aginst the wind they saw a rabbit shivering in a snow drift

"How cold he looks," murmured Claus.

"I will warm him under my coat!" said Tweedleknees. He reached for the little creature. The rabbit took one look at the elf and scurried away.

"What gratitude!" exclaimed

"Never mind," said Claus. "He doesn't know what's good for him.'

show him," "I'II growled Tweedleknees. He ran after the rabbit. The faster he ran the faster the rabbit ran. Claus ran after them both shouting, "Let him go! What does it matter?

Suddenly the earth gave way and Tweedleknees plunged headlong into a deep pit while the rabbit went merrily on his way. Claus crept up and stared over the edge of the pit.

"I've fallen in some kind of a trap," puffed Tweedleknees. "Here, help me out."

Claus leaned down but he could not reach the elf. He dragged up a fallen log and dropped one end into the pit.

But Tweedleknees screeched. "It's not a trap! It's a snake nest!" Claus peered over the side and saw hundreds of snakes wiggling around the elf.

The snakes approached the terrified elf.

'Climb the log!" shouted Claus. But tweekleknees was too petrified to move. He stood there staring as if hypnotized, too scared even to shake. The snakes were annoyed at being awakened from their long winter sleep. They twisted and curled into a tight circle around the elf.

Claus pounded on the snakes with the log but they slid out of the way. He shouted and threw rocks into the pit. But the only one hurt was poor Tweedleknees who was to frightened to duck.

The snakes' sleepy eyes glit-tered. Their pointed tongues darted in and out. It was clear they were getting very, very angry.

The dog belongs to Keith's 23-year-old brother, Jack, who got her three years ago when she was about a year old.

Last June, Jack was en route to California when he had an auto accident on Interstate 80 near Lincoln, Neb. He said he blacked out, and his dog, who was traveling with him, ran off.

Jack said witnesses told him they saw the dog limp away from the wrecked car toward the North Platte River.

Jack is convinced that Jesse sniffed her way back home." But Dr. Lester Fisher, director of Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago, said this would be impos-

"Now and then we hear of lost cats or dogs traveling great distances to come home," said Fisher. "How they do it remains a mystery. It can't be odor or sight. We know it is sort of an instinctive thing, but can't explain it.

Birds and herds of animals migrate. But that is a survival necessity, motivated by need of finding water and food," he said. "But for a dog or cat to wander miles back home - well, it's like coming to a fork in the road, and picking the right one to follow."

> Sears SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

The City of Lubbock will receive $13,-000 less than expected in fourth-year Community Development (CD) funds, but one official says the city still will come out ahead.

CD Coordinator David Kitten explained that the city had received $18,000 more than expected each of the past three

"So the net is that we're still ahead," he added. The city still will have $4,521,-000 to spend next year.

And, Kitten said, because the fourthyear allotment will be about $800,000 less than last year's anyway, the additional $13,000 will not be missed much.

Probably no proposed program alloca-tions will be cut, Kitten said. Instead, the $403,303 contingency fund probably will be reduced by $13,000, he said.

Except to suggest that allocation procedures had been "further refined," Kitten could offer no explanation for what appears to be a federal government vagary.

"We're actually ahead of schedule," a phenomenon that is satisfying but also unexplained, Kitten said. When the CD act first was passed by Congress, he noted, Lubbock was to receive $5.31 million for each of the first three years.

Instead, the city netted $5.328 million

ach of those years, he said.

The $4.521 million for the fourth-years hecome available un rogram will not become available until une 1, 1978. And the Department of ousing and Urban Development (HUD) il must approve the city's plans to end the money.

Q. My late husband worked in the rail-road industry for many years. After he died, I elected to receive a residual lumpsum death benefit in lieu of future monthly railroad retirement widow's benefits. When I turn 65, will I be eligible for Medicare?

A. If you are insured for monthly railroad retirement or Social Security benefits on your own or someone else's earnings, you would qualify for Medicare on that basis. If not, you could still have Medicare coverage but the cost would be higher. In addition to monthly medical insurance premiums, you would also have to pay monthly premiums for hospital insurance coverage.

For persons not insured for railroad retirement or Social Security benefits, the monthly premium for Medicare hospital insurance is $54. Because persons insured

PRESENTS STOLEN — Andrew Martinez of Abilene looks at the present-poor Christmas tree from which burglars stole more than $300 in presents. His wife had been buying presents for their children and relatives since last summer.(AP

Thief Takes Christmas

ABILENE (AP) - 'Twas two weeks before Christmas and all through Andrew Martinez' house not a creature was stirring except a burglar or two.

Martinez, a truck driver in this West Texas town, told police that crooks got away with $300 worth of presents from under the family Christmas tree.

"The children were all happy and joyful wrapping Christmas presents the night before," Martinez said, "And the next day when I came home, they were all crying and broken-hearted."

He said his wife started buying presents for the four children during the sum-

Police said the burglars apparently got into the house through a bathroom window, scooped up the gifts, and departed.

Among the missing presents is a CB radio, a digital clock and a camera. My kids have been going around the neighborhood trying to find out who it was. They said, 'We're not going to let anybody take away our holiday,' " a di-

FBI Reveals Probes By Agents In Secret Underground Groups

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Two FBI agents who infiltrated the ultra-secret political underground say they trained in the desert with a tiny band of revolutionaries who were preparing a new campaign of violence.

According to one high FBI official, the group "was talking about assassinations, about sniping, about blowing up buildings, about putting a bomb under the seat of some judge's car.

Five persons, including the 62-year-old "patriarch" of the leftist underground movement, are now in custody, facing arraignment Wednesday on charges stemming from an alleged plot to bomb the office of Rep. John Briggs, R-Calif., an outspoken opponent of homosexual

Though the FBI was able to engineer the arrest of five persons allied with the radical Weather Underground, leaders of the revolutionary group — such as the best known, Bernardine Dohrn — remain

Audit Team Payroll Scrutinized

AUSTIN (AP) - State Insurance Board Chairman Hugh Yantis says Department of Public Safety agents have joined an investigation of possible irregularities in the payroll of a board audit

He said Tuesday the investigation began after questions were raised about large amounts of overtime payments with no work results to show for the ex-

The team was auditing Mobile Insurance Co. and Mobile County Mutual, which were placed in state receivership two years ago. As in all such audits, the companies are paying the costs.

Employee Resigns

Mobile and Mobile County Mutual were the state's chief insurors of mobile homes along the Gulf Coast of Texas. Their collapse left thousands of families without insurance on their residences.

Yantis said Harrol Caffey, a board employee supervising the audit, had resigned. Another source said that a payroll clerk for the companies, Gloria Eacret, had been relieved of her duties, leveled against Mr. Caffey," Yantis said.

He said the DPS entered the investigation "at our request. It is a joint investigation. We thought it was a highly prudent thing to do. . . . We thought they may have information that we do not have that we do not even know about that would tie into what we are doing,"

The board chairman said that if payroll irregularities are discovered, they would amount to approximately $20,000 in funds belonging to the two defunct insurance comp

A source close to the investigation said the audit payroll included a 14-year-old boy who received $2,000 for two months work and a girl between the ages of 16 and 18 who received more than $2,000 for five months work.

Report Awaited
Yantis said the investigation began after the audit team failed to produce a report as soon as expected.

There was a lot of pressure on that particular audit team to produce a report and get its findings in. They simply didn't come up with a report. . . . Over a period of several months this overtime egan piling up, and still no report," he

"That got somebody wondering, if all this overtime was building up, why ha-ven't we gotten this report. . . . It led to suspicious about the payroll," Yantis

Youthful Ghouls Facing Charges

NEW YORK (AP) - Four teen-agers have been arrested on charges of body-stealing and receiving the stolen body of a dead person, allegedly to sell the skulls to a witchcraft cult.

The suspects allegedly entered two Queens cemeteries and stole the skulls of two women who had been dead for more than 20 years. The skulls are believed to be worth $500 each on the oc-

"A CAR FOR CHRISTMAS"

ne that looks class and so many don't

That gets good gas mill With features we want

I covered the town After test driving all of th Here's what I found A great little car With a great price to beel And so many options Besides that, its cute Reclining front soats For a nice long Siesta GLC's got it But not Ford's Flesta

A sept that moves form With the touch of a tee The GLC's get if Buy a Henda? Ch, Net

Are both protty nice But GLC's nicer At a much cheaper price GLC's comfort will surprise hor I bet More head room and leg room Than Chevy's Chevette

Each time I drive it The better I feel I'm felling in love With an automobile

Minister Enters Plea In Tax Case

A-J Correspondent BIG SPRING - Rev. Roy Honea, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church here, entered pleas of "not guilty" to two counts of willfully subscribing to income tax returns he knew were false in an appearance Tuesday before Federal District Judge D.W. Suttle in Midland.

A federal grand jury indicted Honea Nov. 29 for filing tax returns for 1972 and 1973 which the government maintains Honea knew were incorrect.

The IRS maintains that substantial amounts of income were omitted from Honea's tax returns both years.

Willfully subscribing to false income tax returns constitutes a felony and carries a penalty of three years inprison-ment or a $5,000 fine or both for each

Judge Suttle set Jan. 25, 1978, for Honea's trial.

The case was investigated by special agents of the I.R.S. in Midland. Representing Honea is James Alsup, a Midland attorney.

Clayton Says Pride Needs To Be Restored

AUSTIN - The fact that the overvhelming majority of Americans singled out our Constitution and governmental system as special objects of pride made us unique in the world only 20 years ago.

A report of recent studies based on polls taken over the past 20 years has concluded that most Americans no longer point with pride at their political and governmental institutions.

No one needed a study to tell us that our feelings about our government have about this study was that it showed a remarkable consistency in attitudes by the American people for the past 200 years, with only a few exceptions.

I conclude from this that It is not the American people who have changed toward their government.

Americans don't point with special pride at our constitutional institutions today to the same degree they did in the past. It is because for most of us they are changed in 20 years. The interesting thing not functioning. We are not led by Congress, the Courts, and our President today as much as we are ruled by administrative agencies. It is these agencies, staffed by civil service employees, that are immune to action by the electorate. While I realize that the root of our problem is the federal bureaucracy and the attending state and local bureaucracies which are largely the result of federal action, I do not believe that we can ernment to collapse under its own weight. We must do what we can, no matter how small, on the state and local levels to restore the luster to our government.

I would be interested in knowing if there are those in Texas who share these feelings and have ideas that could be useful in helping regain our pride in govern-

MHS' Alford Selected On All-America Team

Monterey offensive tackle Scott Alford has been selected to the 22-man high chool All-America team chosen by Football News, it was announced Tuesday.

Football News, the nation's oldest football weekly and based in Detroit, picked five Texans among the first 22. Alford, Perryton runningback Brad Beck, Euless Trinity center Mike Baab, Houston Furr defensive lineman Gary Chachere and Kerrville Tivy defensive lineman Maceo Fifer were chosen from Texas.

A 6-5, 245-pounder, Alford earned all-city and all-district honors during the past two seasons when Monterey went to the state semifinals and quarter-finals. He was also selected to Texas Football magazine's preseason prep all-state

Midland Lee Coach Submits Resignation

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The voice over the telephone tried to blend a touch of humor into the rather unhappy prevailing mood.

"Well, coaches are kind of transit people, anyway," said veteran coach Jim

The head football mentor for the past eight seasons at Midland Lee submitted his resignation Tuesday afternoon to the Midland school board, ending four months of intense public pressure and

Acree's Rebels were placed on probation on Aug. 24 by the District 5-AAAA executive committee for violating University Interscholastic League rules which prohibited the use of any illegal contact equipment during the first four days of fall workouts, Aug. 15-19. Three days after the probation ruling. Mid-land's public school Board of Trustees issued a public reprimand to Acree at an emergency meeting. Though the trustees retained their coach, speculation continued throughout the season that Acree would not return next year. "I thought it would be good for the school and me both. It's been a thing that gradually seemed to be the right thing to

UT Prospect May Never Play

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas basketball coach Abe Lemons says he does not think freshman Henry Johnson, co-player of the year in Los Angeles high school competition last year, will ever play at Texas.

The 6-6 Johnson hurt a knee in a preseason game, and Lemons says: "He'll never play. I don't expect him to do anything. He (Johnson) says it (his knee) hurts, but he won't take antibiotics time and I finally decided last weekend. I felt like it was time to do something else," Acree said.

The former Texas Tech grid assistant under J T King in 1968 and 1969 accepted the Midland job in 1970. His teams compiled a record of 47-33-2 during those eight seasons, including one outright district title in 1976 and one cochampionship in 1974. The resignation becomes effective Jan. 16.

"I wasn't aware that he was going to submit the resignation until I was at the school board meeting today," said Midland athletic director Sam Cox Tuesday. "It's unfortunate that circumstances have made it difficult and have created a situation from which he felt he had to remove himself. We managed to work together quite well.' Acree indicated he had received a few offers to remain in Midland as a private businessman but remained uncertain about his future's direction.

"I really don't know. I haven't thought that far ahead about it. I guess I'm sort of like a kid in that regard. I don't know whether or not I'll get away from Mid-land. I've enjoyed the coaching situation and the associations with the people here. It's been eight good years. I guess I'll just have to sit back during the holidays and decide what to do," h said.

A considerable amount of public criticism leveled off during the football season until late October when the Texas High School Coaches Association rapped

A week aftter the regular season's end, Nov. 18, Acree's lawyer, David Lashford, filed suit against the Midland Reporter-Telegram for alleged character damages. # Air Academy Names Parcells Head Coach

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Bill Parcells "realized" his "profession ambition" Tuesday when he was named head football coach at the Air Force

"I've been waiting for this day," said the 36-year old Parcells, defensive coor-dinator at Texas Tech for the past three seasons. "I will make every effort to rep-resent the Air Force Academy with the integrity and dignity for which it is known. I regard it as the ultimate chal-

Specifically, the challenge is rebuilding a program that has deteriorated lately and posted a dismal 2-8-1 mark in 1977 under Ben Martin, who vacated the head coaching post after 20 years.

'It is a great honor to replace someone of Martin's stature," Parcells said at a news conference at the Air Force Academy Tuesday, at the time his selectin was announced. "He is very well respected in the coaching profession.

"I have no specific timetable for building a winner, and I haven't appraised the personnel yet, but we first have to win more than we lose and then as many more as possible.

HAPPINESS TO

"I've got to get a pulse on recruiting and talk to the people here who have been involved in recruiting." Air Force has a full-time staffer who contacts potential Academy candidates who are also athletes, which will obviously help ease the transition.

"I don't anticipate many major adjustments in going from a large state school to a small (4400 cadets) academy," Parcells said. "The organizations at state schools, like that under coach (Steve) Sloan, are very professional, and I hope my organization isn't much different."

Air Force Academy athletic diseases

Air Force Academy athletic director Col. John Clune said at Tuesday's press conference that three main factors led to the hiring of Parcells—his youth, his previous experience in successful programs, and his coaching experience at a military academy.

Parcells coached the linebackers at West Point from 1967 to,1969. He graduated from Wichita State in 1963 after making all-Missouri Valley Conference two seasons as a linebacker and accepted a coaching position at Hastings (Neb.) College. After a year there, he returned to Wichita as an assistant for two years.

Following his stint at Army, he coached the linebackers at Florida State from 1970 to 1972 and was defensive coordinator at Vanderbilt in 1973 and 1974 before moving to Tech in January 1975. Aft-

By JIM FERGUSON Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The Dunbar Panthers were up to their old tricks again Tuesday night.

You know, like pulling basketball games out of a hat and a few things like

Mark Wilson and Narnie Darnell would have certainly been proud of the trickery,

The Panthers, who for the second straight night grabbed a commanding lead only to see it sift through their fingers, had to hold off a late Coronado charge in the CHS to post a 73-69 win.

Dunbar grabbed the lead nine seconds deep into the ballgame when Gary Baldwin drove in for an easy layup to give the visitors a lead which they would never

But they tried, mind you.

In the second quarter, Dunbar mounted a 17-point margin, and it appeared the Panthers were about to drive the Mustangs right out of the gym and onto 34th Street where, luckily, they would be put out of their misery by a car loaded down with Christmas shoppers.

Instead, Coronado, behind the stellar 31-point performance of Jay Norton, who hit eight of eight shots from the field. pecked away at the DHS lead until it managed to nip the margin all the way down to 3 with 1:48 left in the game.

That is when master magician Billy Don Hardaway went into action. Hardaway, who also had 31 points as he hit 14 of 20 shots from the field and three of four from the line, scored all of Dunbar's points in the final 1:29. First he hit an easy 3-foot jumper and then countered with three of four free

Mustangs from cashing in their chips in the early going. The CHS senior hit 12 of the Mustangs' 17 points in the second quarter to keep the Ponies within striking distance. 'I don't know what is the problem," Dunbar coach Joe McWilliams said, referring to the Panthers' inability to hold a sizeable lead. "We talked about it during halftime, but that didn't seem to do too much good. It's a mystery to me, all

McWilliams, who believes the Panthers played "well and under control," pointed out that maybe-just maybe-the team is a bit overrated second halves. The difference in the two team was fouls. Coronado, which did not have a one-and-one opportunity in the second half, hit five of eight free tosses, while the Panthers, cashed in on nine of 11.

And, despite the fact East Bernard was not the favorite to win the 26-A race, the Brahmas could rate a slight pick over Seagraves in the Class A championship contest at Brownwood Saturday after-

"This is the way it should be," reported East Bernard mentor Hank Kotzur. "Seagraves is No. 1 and we're No. 2 (in the Harris Ratings) and this is an excellent way to end the year."

Kotzur saw 18 lettermen depart after a 9-1 campaign a year ago when East Bernard shared the crown with Brookshire-Royal but watched the playoffs from the Only five starters returned from that squad. The Brahmas have only a dozen seniors, but they've provided the leadership necessary this fall, Kotzur feels.

championship game back in August and have had a determination to win all year. "We were pretty well set defensively from the start, but we experimented for three games offensively trying to find the right combination. And when we found it, we really took off." East Bernard played only one road game in nondistrict and suffered a 3-0 setback at Schulenburg. Since then, however, the Brahmas have have posted five shutouts, allowed 7 points four times, 14 points once and 2 points twice en route to a 13-1 mark.

In the playoffs for the first time since 1964, this is East Bernard's first advancement past the quarter-finals, a plateau the Brahmas attained in 1958.

That 17-7 score was the closest game East Bernard had been involved in since the Schulenburg contest.

The Brahmas' defense has been superb this year, allowing less than 200 total picked off 34 enemy aerials, with all-state candidate Walter Shorter getting 10 and halfback Lee Bangston 8.

Linebackers Ricky Kramr and Jason Hlavinka are averaging 13 and 12 tackles per game, respectively.

The offense revolves around the run, although sophomore quarterback Greg Losack has hit 48 of 97 passes for 883 yards and 12 TDs, including eight of 16 for 104 last week against Arp.

The top rusher is reserve tailback Marvin Davis, a sophomore who has gained 1,072 yards. Fullback Norris Powell, a junior, has 934 yards and tailback Lee Bangston, a senior, has 930 steps. Shorter, a split end offensively, has 23 catches for 451 yards and 3 TDs.

East Bernard's will take a 354 yard pergame offensive average into Saturday's 2 p.m. contest at Brownwood.

Motion Carries EHS To Win Over Morton

By TOM HALLIBURTON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Estacado achieved much better results against Morton's 2-3 zone defense when-ever it decided to move a little bit.

For a half Tuesday night in the EHS gym, the Matador offense looked more like a stationary object. By intermission, Estacado trailed 39-29, so coach J.J. Wood gassed up his troops with high oc-tane fuel, and the Matadors ran away in the second half with a 71-65 victory.

"We just started moving better in the second half. We got on the boards after-

Morton entered the game with a 9-0 series edge on the Matadors during Wood's tenure. But the easy-going Estacado coach has guided this team to a number of "first evers" for EHS basketball. Last week, the Matadors won the Snyder tourney for the first time. In the tourney's semifinal. Estacado downed Monteres for the first time in a varsity basketball

And the 11-1 record at this stage tops any other previous Decembers in Mata-dor roundball land.

The visitors provided more than enough opposition on this night, though. Morton watched Estacado commit turnover after turnover and foul after foul in the first quarter. The Indians foared ahead 22-14 after one period. By half, the 8-point lead increased to 10 as EHS stood 3-for-10 from the free-throw line to Morton's 15-for-20. However, Freddy Ivory and Willie Powell rushed the Mats to within a bucket after three quarters (51-49) as Morton scored only 2 points in the first four minutes of the period.

Finally at the start of last quarter, Estacado tied the count at 51 on Mike Chatham's jumper. The score remained even during the next three minutes. But with five minutes left, the Matadors gained the lead for good.

Tied at 59, Estacado's Alvin Harris chased for a loose ball near midcourt.

the field during the game which saw the hosts grab an early lead and coast home of the win. Borger is now 7-3 for the year. For the Westerners, who hit 38 percent of its shots, James Williams hit 16 points and Craig canned 13 points.

Morton never nudged any closer than 3 points of Estacado's lead the rest of the way. Ivory and Powell leaped high to block a couple of those Morton shots in the last two minutes to make sure of that. Powell paced all scorers with 21 points while Morton's Rusty Lamar followed with 20, including 12 foul shots. Ivory and Chatham each contributed 14 to the winning cause while Harris added 10.

Ivory and Powell's rebound strength prevented the defending Class AA champs from getting near the number of shots that Estacado attempted. Morton hit 23 of 53 from the field to Estacado's 31 of 72.

GOLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Young Warren Powers, who brought football respectability to Washington State in one brief year, came back to Missouri Tuesday and predicted even more

"I didn't come here to place second, third or fourth. I came here to win the conference and go to bowl games," said Powers after being named head football coach at the University of Mis-

The announcement by chancellor Herbert W. Schooling at a news conference in Columbia represented a homecoming of sorts for Powers, a Kansas City native who once played and

"It's always been a dream of mine to come back here and coach," said Powers, who had led Washington State to a 6-5 season, its first winning campaign in five years. Among the victories was an upset win over Nebraska.

"Even when I was at Nebraska we (Powers and his wife, a Missouri graduate) talked about what it would be like to be a

But the fulfillment of his dream was accompanied by some stiff and unprecented conditions from Washington State, which lost its third coach in three years. Powers, 36, had been rumored for more than a week to be the top candidate to succeed Al Onofrio, who was fired Nov. 23 after leading the Tigers to a 4-7 record.

Washington State officials had said they would fight his departure, and they made good on the threat Tuesday by requiring a settlement of $55,000 from Powers for the release of the final two years of his contract

We believed this is the first instance when a football coach has been required to compensate a university to satisfy the remaining years of a contract," Washington State athletic director

Sam Jankovich said at a news conference in Pullman, Wash. The money is to be paid over three years with interest, said Jankovich. About $5,000 has already been paid. Schooling said Missouri would not be involved in the contract settlement.

"It's something me and my wife will have to work out," Powers said in Columbia.

Powers will be paid about $35,000 a year at Missouri, about $3,000 more than he was earning at Washington State. Onofrio's salary in his seventh year at the Tiger helm was about $33,000. Powers will have a three-year non-binding agreement with the Tigers similar to the one they had with Onofrio

Onofrio, who compiled a 38-41 record with the Tigers, was fired four days after a season-ending 24-22 loss to archrival Kansas. The defeat, Missouri's sixth in seven years to the Jayhawks, was considered by many observers to be the main reason for Onofrio's dismissal

Ironically, Kansas also beat Powers' Washington State team this season, 14-12.

The selection of Powers was based on the recommendation of Missouri athletic director Mel Sheehan and the university intercollegiate athletic committee, said Schooling. The chancellor said Powers' record as a player and a coach and his familiarity with Missouri and the Big Eight were major factors in his selection. Schooling added he was confident that Powers would maintain "the wholesome philosophy toward athletes" developed by his predecessors at Missouri. Powers emphasized that honesty and integrity would be paramount in building a winning program for the Tigers.

"Great programs are put together honestly. Programs that are put together with cheating. . . don't have a good foundation to offer." Powers said.

-Be a member of IPTAY ("I Pay Thirty a Year," the Tigers' athletic booster club) before July 1:

-Contribute at least $100: —Or be a student.

Even then it wasn't certain. IPTAY secretary George Bennett says, There were just not enough tickets to go around. I know that we have some people who are really upset, but we had money in hand for over 50,000 tickets."

Left out were faculty members less they gave more than $100 to IPTAY

— all IP-TAY contributors of $30 to $100, and more than a third of the $100-plus contributors.

Students and dates grabbed 9,000 of the $10 tickets.

The 34 IPTAY members who gave $1,-000 or more to the fund got to buy 12 tickets - if they also bought season football tickets. The 136 $1,000 contributors could purchase 10, and so on.

Clemson used a lottery plan drawn up several years ago in deciding which of the $100 contributors got tickets.

The nearly 5,000 $30 members will join the rest of the nation in watching the Tigers on television.

By The Associated Press Three points cost North Carolina three places in the national college basketball

The Tar Heels dropped a 78-75 decision to lightly regarded William & Mary last week and fell from second to fifth place in The Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Replacing North Carolina in the No. 2 slot behind Kentucky is unbeaten Notre Dame, which ran its winning streak to six games. The Fighting Irish won three games last week including a three-pointer of their own, 69-66 over UCLA. That earned Notre Dame nine first-place votes and 872 points in the nationwide ballot-

Kentucky maintained its No. 1 ranking with victories over Indiana and Kansas. There were 42 first place votes and 1,014 points for the Wildcats.

The state apparently was the first to reduce shooting hours to protect native ducks, which comprise about 25 percent of the ducks harvested in Minnesota. The shorter shooting hours were implemented in 1973 by the state Department of Natural Resources and were an offshoot of the department's waterfowl policy committee. Rogers Holmes, 41, department wildlife chief, was a member of the committee which began formulating plans in 1967 to help protect the state's dwindling native duck population.

"The overall objective of the regulation is to protect the brood stock of ducks in Minnesota," said Holmes. "It is shifting the harvest of ducks in Minnesota onto some populations that are harvested at a

Holmes says there is heavy hunting pressure on ducks in Minnesota as soon as the season opens, when home-grown ducks comprise most of the population and well before the migration begins from Canada. Minnesota hunters account for about 20 percent of the duck kill in the Mississippi flyway, he says. The 4 p.m. closing gives the ducks some daylight time to feed and rest. "It provides at least one time during the day when they can rest and feed undis-

Holmes said the shorter shooting day was put into effect primarily to benefit the mallards but has also helped increase the population of the wood duck.

He says there has been a phen increase in the wood duck population. However, conservationists have been unable to come up with exact counts because the wood ducks frequent areas that aren't clearly visible in aerial surveys.

population has tripled since the shooting hours were shortened. Holmes said the 1972 spring breeding count showed 34,000 mallards statewide, and the number has shown a steady increase to 110,000 the past spring.

"I'm not saying those counts are strictly due to the 4 p.m. closure," said Holmes. "We have no way of proving

Despite the apparent success, the shorter shooting hours have not been popular with hunters.

Pacers Swap Dantley For LA Backup Center

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Indiana Pacers, seeking a dominating center to transform them from National Basketball Association also rans, traded high-scoring forward Adrian Dantley for 7-foot-1 rookie James Edwards in a four-player deal with the Los Angeles Lakers

The Pacers also sent veteran backup center Dave Robisch to the Lakers and obtained second-year guard Earl Tatum and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Dantley, last season's NBA rookie of the year with the Buffalo Braves, is the league's third-leading scorer, averaging 26.5 points a game. The Pacers obtained him and forward Mike Bantom earlier this year for forward Billy Knight, the NBA's No. 2 scorer last season.

'You just can't win consistently in this league unless you've got that big man in the middle," said Pacer coach-general manager Bobby Leonard.

Edwards, a third-round draft pick from the University of Washington, averaged 14.8 points and 7.2 rebounds a game for the Lakers. He started 21 games after Kareem Abdul-Jabbar broke his right hand in the season opener and led the Lakers in that span with 17.1 points and 8.2 rebounds a game. "It boils down to some long-range planning," Leonard said. "We feel there are no big men in sight. In 1980, there could be, but you'd have to fall in the right place in the draft, really be lucky. I can't wait that long."

Leonard said the 6-5 Tatum, averaging

14 points this season, adds more firepower and quickness to a Pacer backcourt that already includes John Williamson and Ricky Sobers. Tatum also could be used as a small forward, he said.

inner Selected Horse Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) - Seattle Slew, who became history's first unbeaten Triple Crown winner, is the 1977 Horse of the Year, snapping Forego's three-year string as the nation's top thoroughbred

"We thought that he deserved it," said co-owner Mickey Taylor after Seattle Slew's honor was announced Tuesday by the Thoroughbred Racing Association (TRA), "and next year he'll show that it was the right vote.

Seattle Slew is scheduled to race as a 4year-old-a departure from the course followed in recent years by many top 3year-olds who were syndicated to stud. Taylor said the colt would open his 1978 camapaign in mid-January in Florida, and he is being pointed to the Jan. 28 Hialeah Challenge Cup.

Seattle Slew edged Forego, 1051/2-841/2, in Eclipse Award voting by the National Turf Writers Association, the Daily Racing Form and the TRA. One voter split his ballot. There was only voting for firstplace for Horse of the Year, while there was voting for the top three horses in each of the division championships.

Seattle Slew, of course, was voted the best 3-year-old. Loblolly Stable's Cox's

Ridge was runner-up. Forego, Martha Gerry's Horse of the Year in 1974-75-76, was voted the best 4year-old and up, beating Connie Ring's Crystal Water.

In other division races, Louis Wolfson's Affirmed beat Calumet Farm's Alydar as the best 2-year-old colt or gelding; Ran-dolph Weinsier's Lakeville Miss topped Jean-Luis Levesque's L'Alezane, Canada's Horse of the Year, as best 2-year-old filly; Calumet's Our Mims was chosen champion 3-year-old filly over Dan Galbreath's Cum Laudie Laurie, and B.J. Ridder's Cascapedia beat George Weasel Jr.'s My Juliet for top filly or mare, 4 years old and up.

My Juliet also was runner-up for champion sprinter, an honor that went to Mrs. Bertram Firestone's What A Summer; Dana S. Bray Jr.'s 3-year-old Johnny D. was named top grass horse over Ogden Mills Phipps' Majestic Light, and Augustin Stable's Cafe Prince was voted Steeplechase or hurdle champion over Beverly R. Steinman's Bel Iman.

The awards will be presented at the

Eclipse Awards banquet Jan. 27 in Miam-

Other Eclipse Awards — such as top ockey and trainer — will be announced

"Naturally all of us felt super," said Taylor, who is co-owner of Seattle Slew with veterinarian Jim Hill. "Billy (trainer Billy Turner) was relieved. He felt more pressure than the rest of us because the colt didn't race in the fall." This week Turner parted company with Tay-

The fact that Seattle Slew was the narrowest winner of the Eclipse Award for Horse of the Year in its seven-year history obviously was because Seattle Slew did July 3 for the only loss of his career. The colt was scheduled to return to action in October, but a fever and cough upset that Seattle Slew, purchased for $17,500 as a yearling on Hill's recommendation, won the 1976 2-year-old championship on just formances.

The son of Bold Reasoning-My Charmer opened his 3-year-old campaign by set-ting a track record in winning a sevenfurlong allowance at Hialeah in 1:20 3/5. He then won the Flamingo and Wood Memorial to set the stage for becoming the 10th Triple Crown winner and the first to win the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes without having lost a race.

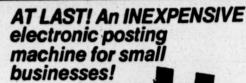

Seattle Slew overcame traffic problems in the first quarter-mile of the Derby and went on to win by 134 lengths over Run Dusty Run. In the Preakness, he ran the fastest mile in the history of the race, 1:34 4/5, and won by 11/2 lengths over Iron Constitution. The Belmont was a not race after finishing a badly beaten Iron Constitution. The Belmont was a fourth to J.O. Tobin in the Swaps Stakes romp, Seattle Slew leading all the way and winning by four lengths over Run Dusty Run.

Ohio Attorney Seeks Grid Helmet Standards

COLUMBUS. Ohio (AP) - Citing a 'phenomenal" increase in injuries and lawsuits, an Ohio lawmaker called Tuesday for a law requiring standards for football helmets used by high school

The proposal filed with the House clerk by Rep. Scribner L. Fauver, R-Elyria, would direct the education department to establish standards by Sept. 1, 1979. The measure will be formally introduced when the General Assembly convenes 1978 sessions early next month.

High schools throughout Ohio would have to comply with the standards, starting with the 1980 season. Fauver said no school could permit a player to participate in football unless he wore a helmet that met specifications.

"The problem addressed in this bill is the phenomenal number of personal injury lawsuits which have been filed recent-ly due to football injuries and claims of faulty helmets," the Lorain County law-

Currently, he said, lawsuits involving football helmets total more than $100 million nationwide - 10 times the annual sales of all helmet manufacturers.

Fauver stressed that schools, as well as helmet manufacturers, are being named as defendants in these actions. "Appar-ently, the theory is that the school should be held responsible for a faulty helmet since they permit pupils to use them," he

His legislation ties in with a product liability bill already approved by the House and under study in the Senate Judiciary Committee

Under that legislation, a manufacturer or seller of a product would have a defense against a liability suit if it could show that a product was in compliance with officially established standards. The bill also sets statutes of limitation which provide that suits may not be filed after a specific length of time. Fauver said his legislation also prov ides that the education department will adopt standards for other types of protec-tive football equipment. However, no deadlines are provided for those standards, he said.

Fauver's bill, similar to a law enacted recently in California, "assures that pro-

By DUANE HOWELL

THE BASIC FUNDAMENTALS OF WORLD cotton supply and demand for the 1977-78 marketing year are taking shape. As of now, says M. Daniel Troxler, associate director of demand economics for Cotton Inc., it appears that:

 World cotton production probably will hit a new record of around 65 million bales, almost 7.5 million more than last year's output.

 World cotton consumption will reach about 62.1 million bales, unchanged from 1976-77

- World cotton stocks will increase almost 4 million bales, with most of this increase occurring in the United States. This picture could change over the next few months, however, as several factors now clouded with uncertainty come into sharper focus, Troxler points out.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY ACTIVITY, for example, has been adversely affected by sluggish worldwide conditions for most of 1977. A gradual improvement in textile business is likely during the early part of 1978, Troxler points out. But, he adds, "this prospect is not certain, especially in view of the erratic course of re-

Troxler also points out that the tight availability of world cotton supplies experienced for most of 1976-77 resulted in the substitution of more readily available and cheaper synthetic fibers in many countries.

While the bumper 1977-78 world crop has brought prices to low levels, the ample cotton supplies won't necessarily mean a quick recovery in cotton's market share, Troxler says, since a serious over-supply situation now exists in the world's synthetic fiber industry.

"Extremely low synthetic prices — prices far below the cost of production will be used to maintain, if not increase, synthetic fiber market share," he says.

THERE HAVE BEEN RELIABLE REPORTS, for instance, of continuing sales of U. S.-produced polyester staple to the Far East at 42 cents per pound delivered.

Sales also have been made to the People's Republic of China at even lower prices, reportedly at 38 cents per pound.

However, Troxler points out, "no product can be sold indefinitely at below total costs. Synthetic fiber prices will go up. Meantime, having been sold on the basis of cheapness, synthetics will become associated with cheapness. That is not a strong association to acquire.

Another uncertainty surrounding both cotton and synthetic fiber consumption prospects in 1977-78, Troxler says, is the controversy now stirred up regarding

How this is resolved, he points out, will be an important factor in determining the course of world fiber consumption during the remainder of this marketing

CONCERNING THE U.S. PICTURE, Troxler says the tempo of business has slowed in comparison to the pace earlier this year, although there seems to have been an improved tone lately in mill sales.

All in all, the Cotton Inc. economist says, the U. S. economy appears still headed on a course of slow upward growth, at least through mid-1978.

"This," he says, "is almost certain to have a positive effect at the retail counter and on the textile industry."

During the first six months of this year, 4.5 percent more pounds of cotton moved across the retail counter as compared with the corresponding period of last year, Troxler says, quoting data from the Market Research Corp. of America. During the third quarter, he says, 6.2 percent more pounds of cotton textile products were purchased by consumers, while synthetic products showed a gain of 5.5 percent from the year-earlier period.

"For the nine-month period of January through September," says Troxler, cotton's share of the market notched up to 36.2 per cent from 36 percent in 1976 and a full percentage point ahead of 1975."

Feedlot Population Up From Year Ago

Cattle and calves on feed in Texas High Plains feedlots totaled 1.4 million head as of Dec. 1, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Tuesday.

This was down from 1.426 million head a month earlier but up from 1.284 million

The total reflected a sharp 43 percent decrease in placements during November from the month before, coupled with an 11 percent boost in the number of fed cattle sold during the month, as compared with October.

Cattlemen marketed 307,000 head in November and put into the lots 293,000. Other disappearance, which includes death losses, shipments to other feedyards and transfers from the feedlot to pasture, accounted for 12,000 cattle.

Meanwhile, Texas showed no net increase in cattle on feed, from a month earlier but the state maintained its hold as the No. 1 cattle feeding state in the na-

There were 1.85 million head being fattened for market on Dec. 1, according to the reporting service. This is 7 percent above a year ago but unchanged from last

Nebraska followed in the No. 2 position with 1.67 million head in feedlots, trailed by Iowa and Kansas with 1.52 million and 1.28 million head, respectively. These were the only other states with more than 1 million head of cattle and calves Texas cattle feeders placed 400,000 head into their lots in November, 5 percent above the same month a year ago but 39 percent below October.

There were 380,000 head of cattle marketed last month, 35 percent above November 1976 and 9 percent above October.

Other disappearance from feedlots across the state was estimated at 20,000 head, compared with 34,000 the previous

By Reuters
CHICAGO — On a turnover of about 7,-977 contracts, live cattle futures settled 30 points lower to 27 higher Tuesday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Distant January was off the most while distant December held the best gain. Evening-up in front of the day's cattle-onfeed report from the Agriculture Department led to the choppy trade.

A possible constructive cattle report was offset by heavy cattle receipts and mostly lower prices, traders said.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported a total of 8,567,000 head of cattle and calves were being fattened for market in the seven major cattle feeding states as of Dec. 1. The total was 7 percent more than the number on feed a vear earlier.

Feedlot operators put 2,048,000 head into their yards during November, a 5 percent decrease from the year before, and they sold 1,496,000 head, 12 percent more than during the same month in General comments of traders on the exchange floor leaned toward the positive side. As a result, a higher opening in cattle futures is anticipated today. Some look for a pattern with January to gain on February, February on April, April on June, and so on.

Meanwhile, wholesale beef was unchanged at 68 1/4 cents per pound for all weights, highest since May 1976. Cash cattle were off $1 to up 50 cents with the top at $44.50 per hundredweight.

top at $44.50 per hundredweight.
The day's slaughter was estimated at 152,000 head. The six markets expect 22,-000 head to arrive today.

Hog futures climbed 30 to 122 points in a heavy trade of about 7,625 contracts led by the nearbys. December jumped to a new season's high and the highest level since September 1976.

Prices were litted almost seven cents per pound above the November low on aggressive short covering triggered by the possibility of reduced livestock shipments as a result of a farmer's strike threatened to begin today.

An early loss of 22 points on lower cash hogs was quickly erased.

Wholesale hams were unchanged to off 1 1/2 cents per pound at $5 to $1.01 1/2, f.o.b. river points. Cash hogs were off $1.50 to up $1 with the best top at $44.25, a one-week low.

The major terminals expect receipts of 28,000 head today. Tuesday's kill was reported at 327,000 head.

Pork belly (bacon) futures recovered after an initial loss of five points and ran up 85 to 105 led by May which was up 110 points early in the session. Sales amounted to 4,703 cars.

Aggressive support developed after Monday's setbacks as traders noted light kills and reduced storings along with the threat of the farmers' strike which could Demand came in the face of lower cash hogs. Wholesale bacon was unchanged to up one-half cent at 40 1/4 to 45 cents per pound, f.o.b. river.

Parity Sore Point For Farmers

By BERNARD BRENNER WASHINGTON (UPI) — Parity, a concept born in the 1920s to insure that farmers keep purchasing power in a changing economy, has become the rallying point for a threatened nationwide farm strike. But it is a standard for farm prices increasingly discounted by many experts.

And Congress has all but abandoned its use in establishing the level of govern-ment price supports for crops.

Yet parity remains alive in federal law. Parity, by law, is the price that will give a farmer's crop the same purchasing power it had in the 1909-1914 period when crop prices and the cost of items farmers bought theoretically were in bal-

To calculate parity prices today, the Agriculture Department each month col-lects actual prices of crops ranging from wheat to sweet potatoes and compares them to crop prices before World War I. It also assesses farm expenses ranging from taxes and interest to barbed wire and fertilizer, and compares the figures with 1909-1914 farm costs. If farm costs are seven times as high as in the 1909-1914 period, at 100 percent of parity, farm prices should be seven times

Farm prices now average 66 percent of parity, or two-thirds of the level that would give farm products the same buy-ing power they enjoyed in the theoreti-cally fair period six decades ago. While government subsidies for wheat, corn and cotton had been set in a 75 to 90 percent of parity range for many years, the system was abandoned in 1973 in fa-vor of price supports based largely on competitive world market prices.

In 1977 legislation, congressional and administration leaders agreed on a new concept for several major crops. Support target prices, which serve to trigger income payments to farmers if prices are low, were tied to a newly developed cost of production formula making no mention of parity.

Large Cotton Reserve Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp increase in cotton production this year will mean the largest buildup of U.S. cotton reserves in nine years by the time the 1978-79 marketing year begins next Aug.

The Agriculture Department said this week that by then, the cotton stockpile may be about 6.3 million bales, compared with 2.9 million left over last Aug. 1 when the 1977 crop was ready for harvest.

Last week, the department estimated 1977 cotton production at 14.4 million bales, up 4 percent from indications a month ago and 36 percent more than the 1976 crop of 10.6 million bales.

Officials said Monday that domestic textile mill use of cotton will be about 6.8 million bales, only slightly more than 6.7 million used in 1976-77.

Cotton exports were projected at 4.5 million bales, down from 4.8 million last

Thus, total "disappearance" in 1977-78 is expected to be about 11.3 million bales out of a total supply - counting the Aug.

The report said also that corn experts are expected to be 50 million bushels more than had been projected excites because of a larger demand in Europe for 11 S faed grains.

U.S. feed grains.

As a result, total corn exports in the current marketing year, which ends next Sept. 30, are now projected at a record of 1.75 billion bushels, compared with about 1.68 billion last season.

Movie Allows Segal To Eat Well

PARIS (AP) — When George Segal first came to Paris 25 years ago, he was an exchange student living on the Left

"Paris was different then," he recalls "There were still very few cars on the street. I was boarding in a little room with a toilet down the hall. The food? The big treat was when our teacher boiled potatoes in oil."

Returning to Paris as a movie star in 1977, Segal is ensconsed with his wife and two daughters at the Hotel Raphael, one half block from the Arc de Triomphe.

And he is eating high on the hog.
Segal is starring with Jacqueline Bisset, Robert Morley and a distinguished group of French and Italian actors in "Someone Is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe.' The film may be picketed by Weight Watchers. Along with a murder mystery, it will serve up a gastronomical feast such as the screen has never provided.

been tasting the delights in the top restaurants of Venice, Paris and London, location sites of "Great Chefs."

The $7-million production, co-sponsored by Hollywood and Munich companies, is a large responsibility to place in the hands of a 33-year-old man who has never produced a movie before.

He is William Aldrich, a tall, quiet-spoken graduate of the University of Southern California film school. He has been around movie sets all his life, his father being Robert Aldrich, maker of "The Dirty Dozen," "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "The Longest Yard." The younger Aldrich started working on his father's films as bit player, "gofer," handyman, and served as associate producer on "The Choirboys."

Like many sons in the shadows of their famous fathers, Aldrich wanted to branch out on his own. He saw the chance last September when an agency sent him the 1974 novel by Nan and Ivan Lyons, "Someone Is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe.'

"I got the book on a Tuesday, read it on Wednesday, and, on Thursday morning, made the deal," said Aldrich.

He could act swiftly because of the Aldrich Company's close connection with Lorimar Productions, partners in "Twlight's Last Gleaming' and "The Choir Boys." Aldrich learned that Paramount had optioned "Great Chefs" and dropped it. Thus he could make a tougher deal for the film rights, declining the authors' request to write the screen play. (They are reportedly peeved by Peter adays, but Aldrich found a solution. Aldricd-Lorimar had been associated with Bavarian Films with "Twlight's Last Gleaming." The erstwhile producer had the "Great Chefs" script translated into German and took it to Munich for a read-

Hallmark prints 1,000 new Christmas card designs each year for its customers. In addition, 700 styles are issued in one form or another, although the company strives to avoid repeaters-even popular

"we really don't care what the top selling card is," said Don Fletcher, product manager of seasonal greeting cards. "The card is just one in 1,000" The greeting cards are created by a staff that sit in a quiet maze of individual white cubicles. greenhouse plants and an occassional stuffed animal dot the large room. A consumer panel meets in a nearly room to give feedback on possible cards.

The operation for each of Hallmark's line of CHristmas cards begins with an analysis of past cards, Fletcher explained. Each card is analyzed and broken down into 80 categories, with the results fed into a computer to aid in planning the new cards.

Hallmark then decides how many cards it will produce, develop card lines, such as Juvenille or religious, and then issues guidelines to is staff.

Cards are evaluated through research going around that sending Christmas as well as sales figures. The computer cards was a dying tradition," said Bob evaluation "takes out a lot of the subjection." McCloskey, head of Hallmark's contem-

Hallmark, which prints eight million greeting cards each day, has an annual sales figure of about $500,000. The firm also produces items ranging from candy to candles and calendars.

Still the greeting card business remains important to Hallmark. Sending Christmas cards became deeply ingrained in a custom that began in England in the

"We are talking about tradition," Fletcher said. "Christmas is a time of year when there is a lot of introspection," and the cards serve "as a link between friends and families."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. 1 bought some Hawaiian Telephone bonds due in the year 2000. They came highly recommended but I can't get a prospectus. How can I tell how safe they are? Where are they listed? Are they marketable? At what price?

A. The bonds were originally sold to the public, as a new issue, in 1970. That's when buyers received prospectuses, required on all new issues. The data include in a prospectus printed seven years ago would have little meaning now -except for indenture terms.

Your bonds are not listed, but are traded over the counter (as are most bonds). This means nothing much one way or the other since, I assume, you plan to be a long-term investor. But you can sell at any time. If you want a current price you'll have to ask the broker.

The AA rating is your "seal of approv-al." I don't see anything to fret about just because you weren't given a lot of legal gobbledegook or can't watch any daily 1/4point fluctuations.

Q. I was surprised to read in your col-umn that bonds may lose market value, just as common shares may. How can a government bond I buy for $18.75 (which matures at $25) lose any dollars and cents

ROTC Military Kudos Awarded To Students

Tech University has concluded activities for the fall semester with an awards pro-Five major awards were presented at the ceremony, with cadet officer David L. Lance of Lubbock presiding.

Receiving the Military Science-1 award for the best first-year cadet of the semester was Richard L. Draehn of Richardson. Best second-year cadet of the semester was William D. Rich of Fort Worth, and best Corpsdette of the semester was Margaret Suzanne Prince of Andrews. George B. Morris of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce presented awards to the cadets. Five cadets received the Distinguished Military Student award presented by Lt. Col. George T. Kimbro, professor of Mili-

Lubbock, Nancy H. Davenport of Dallas,

Smith of Flint and Gerald G. Gibbons of Lubbock. The award is presented to cadets who are in the upper half of their academic class and have shown exceptional ability as military cadets, Kimbro said. Cadets Robert H. Morgan, El Paso, and Gregory P. Koenig, Hereford, were awarded three-year full scholarships. The scholarships are based on academic achievement and potential of becoming quality military officers, Kimbro said.

The ceremonies were concluded with the changing of command of the ROTC program. Gibbons will replace Davenport as commander next semester.

A. That $18.75 E bond will NOT lose dollars and cents value. It steps up in dollar and cents value every year until it matures at $25 and then continues to grow at the rate of 6 percent a year.

Your error derives from carrying over the same stability to other bonds which are negotiable. (E bonds are not). Any bond which sells in the open market will fluctuate in dollar price according to the affairs of the company which issued the bond and according to interest rate changes in the money market.

Q. How does one invest a large inheritance? I don't mean $10,000 or $20,000 but one running into seven figures. I would like to invest it for income.

A. "Uneasy lies the head that has a buck" (modified Shakespeare). So you can imagine the unease that comes with a

However, don't feel too bad about it. A million dollars can accomplish a lot even at today's prices. They can provide $82,500, plus, in taxable income from the very best corporation bonds; or about $60,000, tax-free, from municipals; or anywhere from $30,000 to $80,000 a year from common shares with some hope of

You don't give your age or any other data, but it seems to me that a million dollars is not some amount with which you "go for broke." There's no need to. Play it close to the vest.

Q. I'm curious as to how pensions are

A. Generally, the amount you receive depends on the years of service. Often factored in also are average wages for the last several working years, as well as annual contributions to a special fund.

The American Council of Life Insurance, Dept. S., 1850 K. St. N.W. Wahsington, D.C. 20006, has a "Pension Answer Book" which you may have free for the # Equitable Savings will give you information on tax saving retirement plans.

At Equitable Savings, we'd like to help you get ready for retirement with one of our tax deferred retirement accounts called I.R.A. (Individual Retirement Account) or Keogh. They're a great way to set aside a part of your income for retirement every year without paying taxes on it until you retire. By then, you'll likely be in a lower tax bracket.

If you're employed but not covered by a qualified retirement plan, I.R.A. allows an annual deposit up to $1500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less. Savings are fully tax deductible, and earnings compound tax deferred until distributed.

If you're self-employed, Keogh offers the same benefits and allows an annual contribution up to $7500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less.

If you have completed a qualifying program, I.R.A. Rollover is designed to roll your lump-sum distribution over into an I.R.A., to receive the tax advantage.

We'll help you get where you want to be. EOUITABLE SAVINGS
