

Bailey County's Pay-Outs For Relief Among Lowest In State, Only $2000 A Year

Bailey county commissioners pay out only $2000 a year - give or take a few dollars either way - for relief, and only two persons are on the rolls to receive "regular" help from the county.

This is several thousand dollars less than amounts paid by neighboring counties. For example, one area county has an annual pay-out of around $800 a year, and another West Texas county with about the same population as Bailey county has an annual relief load of around $10,000.

The two persons who are receiving monthly aid from the county are both women. One has been unable to work for several months. She has no relatives and is taken care of by a friend who provides her with a place to live and much of her food. The county "kicks in" $75 a month to help in maintaining the woman.

Then there's the little old woman who has been bed-fast for several years. She is able to provide herself with food and she has a place to live, but she can't afford nursing care. Accordingly, the county pays $1 month for a telephone for her so she can call a friend in case she becomes suddenly ill.

"And that's it," says County Judge Glen Williams. "Except for those two women, the county has no one on its 'regular' rolls. All other cases are emergency matters, and are paid for as the need arises."

There was the case of the woman who developed tuberculosis. Her family had no money, not even enough to get her to the tubercular hospital near San Angelo. Accordingly, the county paid ambulance fees to the hospital.

And soon two young women will go to the hospital to have babies. Both are without funds. The county will pick up the tab in both cases.

Then there was the case of the young Mexican national who was working on a farm near Muleshoe. Christmas eve he fell off a tractor and broke his neck. Said Judge Williams: "He had no money and no family in the States. We couldn't just let him lie there and die, so we chartered an airplane and took him to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, one of the few places in Texas where he could receive the help he needed. The county, of course, paid the charter fee."

Judge Williams said the man, said to be around 25 years old, made progress for awhile, and the county was considering buying neck braces for him which would have permitted him to return to his home in Mexico. However, he developed pneumonia and is not responding to treatment, the judge explained.

There was also the woman who got out of work and found herself in difficult circumstances. She had four small children to feed. Her husband is in the penitentiary. The county came to her aid by providing groceries for the woman and her four children. "But it was only for a short time,"

Judge Williams said. "We bought groceries for her for a few weeks, but as soon as she got a job, her grocery-buying stopped. Ever since then she has managed to maintain herself and her four children."

There have been other such cases when the county has come to the rescue to provide food. "We have been fortunate in this area in that we have an unusually low number of persons who are out of work and can't find work," the judge said. "In almost every case, the help has been for only a short duration - occasioned by lack of work or by illness. But, except for the two cases mentioned, there are no 'regulars' on our relief rolls."

Sometimes - although the instances are the exception rather than the rule - persons given aid do pay back the money which the county advances. Judge Williams recalled such a case. "Sometime ago a woman from south Texas who had been working in the Needmore area suddenly found her job folded up."

She needed to get back to South Texas, but didn't have sufficient gasoline money. The (See RELIEF, Page 3)

Last year 13 farmers, located in different sections of the county, conducted variety demonstrations in cotton, grain sorghum and vegetables (the last named mostly in tomatoes) as a project of the Extension Services' Program Building Committee.

This week the results of those demonstrations on 71 different varieties was made public. The tests also showed results of fertilizer usage and trace elements to make it a complete and comprehensive variety test.

Thirteen different farmers cooperated in the tests, some carrying on several different demonstrations in various parts of the county.

"We feel," said a spokesman for the committee, "that the demonstrations' results are of special value to farmers in that they were very carefully carried on and the results revealed are purely local. In other words, the demonstrations were conducted on 'Neighbors' farms to make the tests highly applicable."

Cooperators who conducted the experiments included Lewis Scoggin, Leon Lewis, Marlon Inman, Inman & Towns, John Miller, Bryan Brady, A. P. Childers, John Gunter, Byron Gunter, A. P. Childers and J. G. Arm.

A complete report of all the various tests is available at the county agents' offices. The report states:

"Results of demonstrations... were possible because of effort, time, money and materials furnished by farmers, fertilizer dealers, seed dealers and members of the Bailey County Program Building Committee."

Eight grain sorghum variety demonstrations were made on the Lewis Scoggin farm, 10 miles west of Muleshoe. Results were as follows: Asgrow Double T, 7805 pounds yield per acre; Pioneer 829, 7528 pounds; Steckley's B-166, 7467 pounds; PAG 665, 7275 pounds; Texas 660, 6-579 pounds; PAG 515, 6-515 pounds; Lindsey 551, 6338 pounds; and NK-222, 5892 pounds. The NK 222 and Lindsey 551 and Texas 660 were harvested about 30 days ahead of the other five varieties.

Six demonstrations on the Leon Lewis farm 5 miles north of town, showed these results: Texas 660, 7771 pounds per acre; PAG 515, 7441 pounds; Steckley's R-106, 7307 pounds; Pioneer 819, 7263 pounds; Asgrow TT, 7229 pounds; and Lindsey, 6335 pounds. The demonstration was conducted "fairly in every case except shortage of water on outside rows of Lindsey 788".

Grain sorghum tests on the O. Schmieter farm conducted by Marlon Inman, 25 miles northwest of Muleshoe:

Pioneer 846, 6092 pounds; R-12, 5843 pounds; WAC 750, 5519 pounds; Tomco Genetic Giant R-106, 5436 pounds; Same except R-112, 5459 pounds; NK-310, 5286 pounds; Texas 660, 5263 pounds; NK-222, 5225 pounds; Asgrow Double T, 5188 pounds; Pioneer 829, 5090 pounds; Tomco Gen. Giant No. 555, 5045 pounds; WAC 700, 4977 pounds; Bonanza, 4962 pounds; Standking, 4962 pounds; and Red Head, 4955 pounds. (This dem- (See VARIETIES, Page 5)

2 Claim Same Wife; Shoot-Out Follows

A shooting affray in front of a cafe in the Negro district of Muleshoe Sunday afternoon put a 57-year-old Negro in the hospital with two bullet wounds and sent a 44-year-old Negro to the county bastle.

Sheriff Dee Clements said the two men were arguing over a woman whom both men had taken a fancy to.

Seems that the younger Negro carried a .25 automatic with which he blasted forth at the other man. One bullet landed in the man's arm, breaking the bone enroute through the flesh. The other landed in his leg.

"To make it worse," the sheriff said, "the bullet went into the older man's amputated leg."

Seems a previous scrape had resulted in the 57-year-old man losing a part of his leg. But his assailant Sunday managed to fire a bullet into the portion of the leg which had been left by the surgeon.

For his part, the older Negro apparently didn't shoot, or if he did, the 44-year-old managed to dodge.

The older man went to the hospital, the younger one to jail.

Officers said the argument arose over which of the two men was actually married to a certain woman.

Both claimed the honor, and the shooting was to settle the question once and for all. The man who lived would get the woman for his personal wife.

The woman in question could not be reached for comment.

Gotta College Name?

Do you have a name for the proposed junior college in the Muleshoe area?

It's premature even to think of a name for a college which is barely past the preliminary stage, backers of the movement pointed out, but just the same, what to name the school when and if it is approved, already is being considered.

Several names have been suggested. There's Muleshoe Junior College, for example. But there's the possibility that the school will not actually be located within Muleshoe, and since it's not just a Muleshoe school, maybe some other name might fit better, even though many junior colleges in Texas do bear the name of the town where the college is located - Tyler Junior College, Longview Junior College, for example.

Another name that has been suggested is "Sandhills Junior College," an appropriate name for a college in this area.

Or the school could be named for the life-giving water formations under the ground. "Olgallala Junior College." Or it could be called by another area name, "Llano Estacado."

Or it might be called "State Line Junior College."

Anyway, those are some of the names that have been suggested.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION VIEWED - Because he is vitally interested in school building programs as part of the overall junior college program, Dr. C. C. Colvert, Austin (third from left) looked over construction at DeShazo school while he was here for a survey last week. With him are Harold Brown, construction superintendent; Alex Williams, chairman of the junior college committee, and Roy Davis, Chamber manager. (Journal Photo)

Junior College Expert Winds Up Survey; Outlook Is 'Optimistic'

Backers of a proposed junior college for the Muleshoe area set back with their fingers crossed this week after Dr. C. C. Colvert, University of Texas junior college expert, completed a whirlwind three-day survey of possibilities.

Dr. Colvert, who talked with many people, made a speech at a public meeting and dined with the Chamber of Commerce's junior college committee, made no comment when he left Muleshoe Saturday for his home in Austin, but local backers (and that seems to be just about everybody in Muleshoe) felt a strong fringe of optimism.

The expert will study the notes he gathered here and prepare them into a detailed report. This report he'll bring back to Muleshoe possibly in early May, and there'll be another public reading. At that time the man who has been dubbed "Mr. Junior College of Texas" will read the report.

If that report is favorable, the first hurdle in the tedious process of securing a junior col- (See SURVEY, Page 5)

The program is a national project, and Babe Ruth League is a United Fund recipient.

Egg Hunt Turns Up Bunny, Too

It turned out to be a pretty good day for Larry Puckett after all. But for awhile, it looked pretty gloomy. Larry, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Puckett, went to the big Jaycee Easter egg hunt in northeast Muleshoe Saturday afternoon.

While most of the hundreds of kids were scooping up eggs by the handfuls, Larry found only two. He went back to the car and sobbed to his mother. "I just shouldn't have come. Only (See HUNT, Page 5)

Yankee Sporis Editor Writes Of Muleshoe

George L. Gross, Muleshoe, who is stationed at Indiana, came across the following column in the Indianapolis Star, written by Bob Collins, sports editor. Gross added: "Muleshoe has made the front page of the Star several times since I have been stationed at Fort Harrison."

Collins' column follows:

AUGUSTA, GA. — Terry Dill plays out of Muleshoe, Texas. This, alone, is going to bring him a certain degree of notoriety on the professional golf tour.

Since columnists have more time than reporter-types, sooner or later they are going to notice this and drop by to ask, "is there really a Muleshoe, Tex?"

On top of that the fresh-faced young man from the Panhandle has — quite accidentally — come up with a new way to upstage the established stars. Last year he broke into print, sensationally, in his first crack at the Open.

Terry waited until he reached the 18th hole on the final round. He couldn't have picked a better spot, since 18 is where most of the crowd and most of the lazier columnists kill time.

So what did he do? He sank a putt that measured 110 feet.

Yesterday, playing in the Masters for the first time, he again won a certain measure of fame by getting penalized two strokes for slow play. In a game where some of the competitors would finish third in any race with a tortoise and a broken legged elephant, this, in itself, would bring him to the attention of the press.

But Terry added frosting to the cake by going before the rules committee, making an eloquent plea and getting his two strokes returned. This gave him an even par 72 for a long day.

Dill, 25 years old, is 6-3. He walks over a course with the speed of a man who is late for dinner. But he confessed, "after ah git thah, ah cain't make up mah mind what to do."

Under prompting, Dill thought for a while and decided that, "yes" he was the most famous citizen ever to come out of Muleshoe.

He also revealed that he only lived in Muleshoe for five years but was smart enough to realize that Muleshoe behind his name would keep him in the minds of columnists who like to write about places called Muleshoe — provided, of course, he can continue sinking 110 foot putts and getting two-stroke penalties rescinded.

Dill was playing with Tommy Aaron, who shot a splendid 67 and they fell three holes behind the twosome ahead because, "we jest kept gittin' in trouble."

But, he explained that they had caught up by 18, thus, the members of the rules committee showed that their hearts were in the right place. In this case, that would be Dill's wallet. Terry pointed out that a difference of two strokes in a major tourney could mean as much as $6,000.

And, no matter how you cut it, there is nothing slow about $6,000.

Dear Fellow Texans:

The Medicare bill which recently passed the House will be considered in the near future in the Senate. Although much attention has been given to the major provisions of this bill there are several smaller changes which have been given little attention, even though they are important.

Perhaps one of the most important of these changes is to give a larger medical care program to the needy and the medically needy. The amount which the Federal government will contribute to medical care for the aged under matching grants with a State will be increased from the present law of 50 - 50 Federal - State sharing basis, to a 75 per cent Federal share, with the State putting up only 25 per cent.

There will also be an expansion of the services for maternal and child health, crippled children, and the mentally retarded. The provision which presently limits the Federal government from participating in public assistance to aged individuals in tuberculosis or mental disease institutions will be removed under the new law, providing Federal help will improve their medical care.

A new provision is also added which would authorize a 5-year program of "special project grants" to provide comprehensive health care and services for needy children of school age, or for preschool children, particularly in areas with concentrations of low-income families.

All of these programs which have been largely neglected in publicizing the bill are important in meeting the medical and health needs of our country, and will go a long way in providing a more comprehensive medical program in this nation.

Zing into spring! in a new Chevrolet

If you've been sitting tight waiting for just your kind of car, with just your kind of power, at just your kind of price—wait no longer!

Chevrolet. It's a bigger, more beautiful car this year. Which is why that handsome silhouette could be mistaken for cars costing a thousand—even two thousand—dollars more.

Chevy II. No car so trim has a right to be so thrifty. But thrifty it is, with money-savers like brakes that adjust themselves and a long-lived exhaust system.

Chevelle. This one's got lively looks, spirited power, a softer ride—and remarkable room atop a highly maneuverable wheelbase. No wonder it's today's favorite mid-size car.

Corvair. Ask any '65 Corvair owner how it feels to drive a car with such easy steering, tenacious traction and responsive rear-engine power. And be ready to do lots of listening.

Survey

 Looking over the situation after the expert left, sponsors said the outlook is good, but that the big "if" in the entire matter is the matter of students or the college.
 One of the committee members said: "If a junior college territory in this relatively sparsely settled territory to justify a college, then I believe Dr. Colvert will make a favorable report."

That territory, it was pointed out, but be a territory large enough to provide at least 500 2-th grade graduates every year. Then the school itself must have reached an enrollment of 500 by the start of the fourth year.

For this reason, the district must encompass much more territory than that served by the local school district. Dr. Colvert in his talks here, suggested that the district be made up of all of Bailey and Parmer counties, part of Lamb county and part of Castro county — possibly all of the last - named county. Such a district would provide the necessary 500 - per - year graduates needed to assure a college.

Meantime, the citizens' committee will leave no stone unturned as it seeks to interest all the area involved. They will make personal contacts with as many people as possible in the counties named, attempting to line up support for the proposal. Much interest has been shown by nearby people, and several communities sent representatives to Muleshoe last Thursday night to hear Dr. Colvert's discussion. Parmer county, apparently, is greatly interested in a junior college in this area.

Dr. Colvert's report will include such things as building costs, territory to be served, tax and bond costs, operating costs, tax evaluations, salaries, population trends (this area is increasing rapidly in population), and the need for additional job skills.

If Dr. Colvert's report is optimistic, then the committee will proceed at once with step No. 2 — securing signatures of at least 10 percent of the qualified voters in the territory to be served. That many names will be needed in order to petition for forming such a district.

Then the board will look over the survey and the petition and decide when its members will make a second survey, some of the board members themselves journeying to this area for that survey.

If they approve, then the problem is virtually licked, but between now and the time the state board makes its survey much work will have to be done. Scores of figures must be assembled, and the cost portion of the project will have to be figured down to the last penny.

Dr. Colvert pointed out that the cost for supporting a junior college "is the lowest tax any taxpayer pays," adding, "even the biggest land owner would pay only a relatively small tax."
 He also pointed out that a junior college would serve four purposes:
 1. For students who intend to transfer their junior college credits to a senior college to work toward a degree.
 2. Technical courses for those who have completed four years of high school work.
 3. Vocational courses even for persons who have not finished high school.
 4. Adult education and community services.

He pointed out that last year more than 5000 persons — adults — took courses at South Plains Junior College in Levelland. Some of these courses were only three - day short courses while others were for a full year.

 county advanced her $20, "and she insisted that she was going to pay that money back as soon as she got back to her home and went to work." Judge Williams said,

"And do you know what she did? We received a money order from her for $5 and a few days later she sent another money order for the same amount. Then a few weeks later she sent still a third money order, this one for $10, to wipe out her 'debt'. She asked that we send her a receipt, with the 'bill' marked in full. And we did just that."

But, the judge hastened to point out, such repayments are unusual. "I can recall only three or four such payments in the years I have been in the judge's office," he concluded.

Of course this account has dealt only with relief payments for the county; it does not include payments made by the State, such as Old Age Assistance, child care and the like. These rolls are kept secret.

Then his mother discovered a movement in a bush. Larry hopped out of the car and made a grab for the bush. He came up with a cottontail, which he proudly trotted over to the judges. "Look," he told the Jaycees who were to pay off the prize money. "other kids just got eggs, but I found the Easter bunny that laid all these eggs. Isn't that worth a prize?"

They agreed that it was. Eggs most anybody can find at an Easter egg hunt, but not very many kids can find the bunny that laid those eggs.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

SEED SAVED MAY MEAN MONEY LOST

Cotton farmers who save and plant their own or their neighbor's seed — a predominant practice on the High Plains — may well lose lint production worth over $30 per acre at 27 cents per pound.

This is the conclusion drawn by Lavon L. Ray, Assistant Agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, following comparative yield tests of "farmer - saved" seed lines and a line from the seed producer. Ten lines of a popular variety saved by farmers for planting in Crosby County averaged 565 pounds lint production per acre, compared with 621 pounds per acre yielded by seed of the same variety coming direct from the seed producer. The 116 pound difference, at 27 cents, amounts to a dollar - loss of $31.32 per acre. "And since all seed lines were planted and grown under identical conditions, the inevitable conclusion is that the seed themselves were responsible for the variance in yield," Ray said.

"The production of quality planting seed requires a great deal of technology, skill and attention to detail," Ray continued, and added that: "Most farmers, even if they have the required know - how and managerial ability, are not equipped to properly handle and process planting seed and cannot give the attention needed for a good job."

In 1963 a "planter - box" survey was conducted in Crosby County by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., with the cooperation of the SPREC, Texas Planting Seed Association and others, and the ten farmer - saved seed lines were among over 80 samples of one variety taken from growers at planting time. All of the 80 samples were of seed saved by a farmer from his own or a neighbor's crop, as were 97 percent of all samples taken in the survey. When planted in yield trials in 1963 these eighty samples produced yields varying as much as 300 pounds lint per acre, and in view of the wide yield differences, the five high and the five low yielding lines were saved for further testing in 1964. The 621 pound production from the seed producer line in 1964 was 87 pounds above the average of the five "high" lines and 144 pounds better than the "low" average.

Ray pointed out that: "Even making the high average for farmer - saved seed, at 27 cents per pound a farmer is losing $23.49 per acre, and that figure applied to the High Plains as a whole reveals a staggering income loss to the area." Yield losses from farmer - saved seed, Ray believes, is because of the difficulty in maintaining a pure variety under ordinary field conditions. He bases this belief on the fact that most seed breeders agree it is more difficult to maintain a cotton variety than it is to develop that variety originally.

To avoid such losses and achieve maximum lint and dollar production per acre, Ray suggests farmers follow three simple rules:

- (1) Select a good, high-yielding variety that will produce a quality fiber;
- (2) Use sound seed with good germination, avoiding seed which have been weathered in the field or stored at high humidity and temperature, and also of prime importance, seed source supplies you with the best and purest available seed of the variety you have selected.
- (3) Make certain that your seed source supplies you with the best and purest available seed of the variety you have selected.

FARM BILL OMITTS BUT BEARS ON COTTON

Much that is in the Administration's farm bill, if passed into law as introduced by Congressman Harold Cooley, would relate to cotton either directly or indirectly although cotton is not among the commodities specifically provided for in the measure. The bill, sent to Congress by the President April 5, has been dubbed H. R. 7097 and referred to the House Committee on Agriculture.

Bearing directly on cotton and cotton producers would be the section titled Transfer of Allotments. Under this section the Secretary, if he determined it would not impair the effective operation of a given commodity program, could permit the sale or lease of farm allotments to any other owner or operator of a farm, or could permit the owner of a farm to transfer all or part of his farm allotments to any other farm owned by him. This section would presumably apply to any allotment, including cotton allotments, with the following provisions:

- (1) Allotments could not be transferred across state lines;
- (2) Would be subject to agreement by any mortgage or other lienholder;
- (3) Would be subject to approval by the County ASC Committee in the county to which the allotment was being transferred;
- (4) Would have the effect of transferring acreage history with certain exceptions in the case of an allotment leased instead of sold;
- (5) Would be adjusted, at the discretion of the Secretary, to provide for different yields between the two farms involved, to provide reasonable limits on the size of resulting allotments, and "such other terms and conditions" as the Secretary might see fit to impose.

The effect of this provision for sale or lease of allotments on the High Plains area is to some extent unpredictable, but it is generally thought that it might aid in getting more cotton acreage. Assuming that the price were right, and that the Secretary's "other terms and conditions" were not prohibitive, many farmers in this area would likely jump at the chance to buy or lease allotments from farmers in other parts of the state who annually fail to plant their allotments. And, if properly administered, this device could help to get the 15 - acre or less farmer, who some have long contended has been a stumbling block to realistic cotton legislation, out of the cotton growing business once and for all.

H. R. 7097 proposes specific programs for wheat, feed grains, rice and wool. The wheat program purports to transfer some of the cost of supporting wheat prices from the Government to the consumer in the form of what critics refer to as a "bread tax," which would reportedly add about a cent to the cost of a one - pound loaf. As of this moment, at least, there is no indication that the Administration proposes to apply this line of thinking to a program for cotton. However, the "bread tax" would enable the price for domestically consumed wheat to be supported at about double the level of wheat grown for export, and it is this price support dualism which may well influence things to come for cotton.

Similarly, the President's program for rice incorporates this same philosophy. But here, for some reason not fully explained, there would be three price support levels — one price for the first 50,000 pounds of a farmer's production, another and lower price for that falling between 50,100 and 150,000 pounds, and a still lower support for production in excess of 150,000 pounds.

Cotton producers have almost traditionally fought against direct compensatory payment type programs for fear that limitations on the extent to which any one producer could participate would be imposed. And advocates of this type program have most often cited the wool program to cotton producers as evidence that direct payments did not necessarily lead to limitations.

But alas, H. R. 7097 would inject limitations — in the form of tri - level support payments — into the wool program along with wheat and rice. The first 2,000 pounds of a sheep man's wool would be supported at not less than 75 or more than 90 percent of parity, the next 5,000 pounds at between 70 and 85 percent, and the excess over 7,000 pounds at from 65 to 80 percent

Tech Medical School Vetoed By Governor

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Governor Connally vetoed the bill authorizing Texas Tech to establish a medical school in Lubbock.

Connally said that not enough study had been given to the idea and that he preferred that his recently created college coordinating board be the supreme authority in new college programs.

Veto drew critical attacks from West Texas proponents of the school, including Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Sen. H. J. Blanchard, both of Lubbock.

A new governor moved into the chief executive's office in the capitol this week — but only for a day.

Following tradition, Gov. John Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith left the state Tuesday — clearing the way for Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Senate president pro tempore, to take a 24 - hour turn as governor.

Creighton invited homelinks from Callahan, Clay, Denton, Eastland, Jack, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Stephens and Wise counties to his "inauguration."

He also turned out the usual volume of proclamations and commissions — and received praises of his colleagues.

Creighton, 36, an attorney, brought along his pretty wife, Sue, and three children to the governor's mansion.

NEARS PASSAGE — After a two - week delay, the Senate was ready to take final action on the bill to create a "Little Hoover Commission" to curb waste and inefficiency from state offices and agencies. Bill is sponsored by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria and Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado.

An amendment which Patman considers crippling was tacked on by Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo. Amendment makes the lieutenant governor and the speaker chairman and vice chairman of the commission, replacing a provision that the members would elect the commission leaders.

GUIDELINES SET — Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham says the House Districts Committee aims to get a congressional reapportionment measure to the floor by May 1. Mutscher is chairman of the committee.

Three optional plans for state House of Representatives redistricting also are due from sub - committees by May 1.

Committee has adopted these tentative legislature redistricting guidelines:

Population variance between districts should be held to a maximum of 15 per cent over and below the mean average; "At least one attempt" will be made to eliminate "flori-

LIBRARY WEEK - The week of April 25 to May 1 has been proclaimed by Gov. John Connally as Library Week in Texas, and Muleshoe is joining in the celebration. Pictured are Lewis O. Seibert, San Angelo, vice-chairman of Texas Library week committee; Mrs.

al" districts; Small counties without population sufficient to justify a representative of their own will not be divided;

Two or more representatives will not be allowed to run at large in two or more counties.

Committee also approved Senate - passed bill to permit up to 15 per cent population variance in forming legislative districts.

House Speaker Ben Barnes is optimistic that the Legislature can solve the thorny redistricting problem without need for a special session.

AMENDMENTS — State representatives returned from their brief Easter Vacations to find amendments high on their work assignment list.

Governor Connally finds the balky House Amendments to clear for debate measure to increase terms of governor and other officials elected statewide from two to four years.

Committee also approved redistricting plan - easier calling for increase of State Senate membership from 31 to 39, but stripped from it provisions to lengthen upper house terms to six years.

Pressure for submission of both measures to Texas voters (in November and August 7 elections, respectively) were intense.

NEW LAWS ADOPTED — Dozens of bills have been given final passage in one house and sent to the other for further action.

Two bills by Rep. Dick Cory would authorize commissioners courts in all but the largest counties of the state to give county officers raises of up to 20 per cent.

Sen. Don Kennard's bill to create a North Central Texas Airport Authority in Tarrant County, which is opposed by Dallas, was passed in the Senate, but the House version ran into a filibuster by Dallas delegation members in the committee hearing.

Bill by Sen. W. T. Moore would authorize Texas A&M to accept James Connally Air Force Base for the state and REPEAL FAILS — Proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax fell four votes short of getting the necessary two-thirds in the House of Representatives. But measure was kept alive by a parliamentary maneuver.

Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi is sponsor of the bill.
TOUGHER THAN EVER — Appropriations bill conferees failed to make the April 15 deadline set by House Speaker Ben Barnes for completion of their work.
Despite any sharp differences between House and Senate bills, the budget-writing job in general is tougher than ever this year. That's because of creation of new state agencies and transfers of duties — particularly in hospital and water fields — plus impact of federal programs just being evolved on state finances.
LOAN BILL ADVANCED — Legislation which opponents charge would mean the highest interest rates on loans in the nation for Texans received tentative Senate approval 16-14.
Measure by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg would allow annual interest rates on installment loans of $9 per $100 up to $6,500. An amendment, finally accepted after strong objection, exempted small loan companies from terms of the bill. Another amendment exempted mortgage loans on real estate.

AID PROPOSED — Proposed constitutional amendment to make old age assistance to non-citizens who have lived in the U. S. for at least 25 years received heavy support in a House Committee hearing.
Rep. Joe J. Bernal of San Antonio, sponsor of the bill, said only three other states require citizenship for such assistance. Many thousand long-time Texas residents, who have not qualified for citizenship for such assistance due to language or other barriers have no income at all today, Bernal told the committee.
COLLEGES GET FEDERAL FUNDS — With $11,200,000 presently allotted for distribution in federal grants for college construction in Texas, the Texas

Commission on Higher Education already has requests from 24 more colleges and eligibility established for 12 junior colleges.
Applications received amount to an additional $12,500,000 of construction requests under the 1964 Higher Educational Facilities Act. Grants pay for 40 percent of the actual cost of new construction for approved college facilities.
STUDY URGED — John T. Carr Jr., weatherman with the Texas Water Commission, says long-range experiments in weather modification should be undertaken in Texas, even though at present conditions do not seem favorable and existing methods are expensive.
Carr says that ideal conditions for rain-making are infrequent in Texas. However, experiments have shown there are effective methods to bring about rain where it would not have fallen naturally and to increase the yield of rain clouds.

Rev. Peiman At Galveston Meet

The Rev. Herbert F. Peiman, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church, Lariat, and his wife Madge, are spending this week in Houston and Galveston, with their daughter and family, the Ray Petersons, in Pasadena, and attending the Texas All-State Pastors and Teachers conference in Galveston.
Traveling by train they left from Muleshoe Sunday afternoon and plan to be back on the morning train Friday.
The Galveston meeting, which opens Tuesday at 10 a. m. and closes Thursday at noon, the local minister will serve on the Public Relations Committee, helping to prepare newspaper and radio releases and editing the Convention Daily.
For the 10:30 service at St. Sunday morning Peiman will assist other area Lutheran pastors with the installation service for the new Clovis pastor, the Rev. Henry L. Schaefer of De Soto, Missouri.
The Lariat pastor has served the Clovis church at 11th and Prince as interim pastor since January 3, when the Rev. David P. Bergmann was transferred from Clovis to El Paso.

Here's cotton growers' first step in the Chemagro Practical Cotton Program

Give your crop an early, vigorous start by protecting against early-season pests with Di-Syston—the proven systemic insecticide

Di-Syston is your first insect-control step toward a high quality cotton crop. This proven systemic insecticide prevents stunted, crooked plants caused by aphid, mite and thrips damage during the early seedling stage. Cotton sets fruit and squares early to make a good bottom crop. Di-Syston is applied with seed at planting time and works from inside the plant where it is unaffected by weather. And, since Di-Syston is inside the plant it will not harm beneficial insects . . . kills only the insects that suck plant juices. Start your cotton off right this season. Apply Di-Syston at planting time.

Administration Takes New Look At Cottonplan

The administration is represented as being still undecided on how to cope with the cotton problem. As complex and controversial as the issue has become, such indecision wouldn't be surprising. But the chances are when a solution arises it will be along the lines envisioned by the International Cotton Advisory Committee.

In its meeting next month the committee will discuss a plan by which producing nations would establish a fund to be used for three purposes: 1. Research on the development of new uses for cotton. 2. Market research in Western Europe, where cotton's competition with synthetic fabrics is acute. 3. An intensive advertising campaign to convince consumers that cotton fabrics are superior in quality and comfort to rival materials.

Moisture Needed Over West Texas

Drying fields in the eastern half of Texas permitted farmers to plant during the week, John Hutchison, director of the Agricultural Extension Service, said.

Reporting at midweek, the director said farmers and ranchmen are waiting for overdue rains in the west and northwest. However, the cotton committee is undoubtedly on the right course in search for ways to increase cotton textile sales. There are already enough people in the world to use all the clothes that could be made from cotton and the other fabrics together, and the population is growing. The problem is to get the people and the fabrics together. And the system of production quotas, price supports and subsidies used to date is obviously the wrong way to go about solving it. (Fort Worth Star Telegram)

Spotted, generally light rains fell in the South Plains and Panhandle later in the week, but there was no relief to speak of.

Ranges improved in favored area. Livestock also looks better, the director said. Moisture was short over the Panhandle. Wheat is approaching a critical stage and must have general rain soon.

Moisture in all the South Plains is short. Irrigation was heavy. Irrigated wheat is in good condition. Rain ranging from showers up to 1.50 inches fell over the Rolling Plains but didn't relieve the shortage. Grain was helped in some counties. Grain mites and greenbugs are causing damage. Grain sorghum planting has started. Far West Texas needs general rains. Ranges were greening up where moisture was available. Grain is heading and some cotton has been planted. Very good lamb and calf crops have been reported. The shearing of sheep and goats is in full swing. Moisture is getting short in West Central Texas and pastures and grains especially need rain. Sorghum and some hay crops have been seeded. Fruit prospects are excellent. Sheep and goats are grazing well on pastures. A heavy movement of milk lambs moved to a strong market.

Fields in much of Central Texas are too wet to work but some planting is being done. Grains need rain. Pastures are above average.

Out of town guests were from Kress, Slaton, Midland, Lubbock, Brownfield, Sudan, Olton, and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Safe 'n Sound

By Lee R. Pool
 WE NEVER SLEEP! Actually, that claim isn't literally true... because we do get our forty winks or more. But in another sense the statement couldn't be more true... and it tells an important story about our service, like your family doctor, our agency is on call every hour of everyday... or night... whenever an emergency arises. Doctors will tell you that babies always seem to be born at night... and in the insurance field we know that accidents, fires and other catastrophes do not conveniently happen only during working hours! That's why we are always available... to all of our clients... 24 hours a day... whenever trouble comes.
