Questions Raised About Theory Of Evolution

Associated Press Writer By GEORGE W. CORNELL

THE WORLD gives forth a myriad stream of variations, differences in colors, races and conformations. It continually modifies the landscape, plants and creatures. Life changes, evolves. But to how great an extent?

That problem has absorbed scientists for more than a century and lately has aroused new questions, occasional challenges and conflicting interpretations, particularly about the beginnings of humanity

"Things have become a lot more confusing in the last 10 years than they were before," says Marquette University anthropologist Claude Stipe.

Living Things Change "The process used to be seen as very simple, but so many difficul-ties have come up." However, to some degree, changes in living things obviously go on — an observable evolution within kinds.

It can produce taller corn, faster horses, hornless cattle, sweeter grapes. It yields enormities and miniatures, white turkeys, pink grapefruit, short-legged sheep and red-eyed fruit flies, tendencies and novelties.

That sort of generic differentiation, called "speciation" or changes within interbreeding species, producing new ones, is universally recognized and demon-strated, a limited so-called "special" or "micro" evolution. From experimental observations, it stays within the taxonomic fam-

But the theory of general evolu-tion, holding that all living forms, including human, developed grad-ually from simple, chance organisms through diversifying, branching lines across class boundaries, has run into continuing unresolved puzzles, impasses and read-

Predominantly, scientists affirm it. "There always are disagree-ments in detail, but it makes sense of a lot of phenomena in the natural world," says New York University anthropologist Clifford

J. Jolly. Evolution Not Scientific But some question it.
"Evolution does not have a good case," says Northern Illinois University biochemist Garret Vander-kooi. "It's philosophic, not scientific."

The mostly quiet, interdiscipli-nary ferment is on a matter that most modern American probably regarded firmly settled, impressed from elementary biology texts that general evolution was throughly verified, disputed only by cranks and backwoods bigots. But the soporadic questioning comes from scientists themselves.

"The concept of evolution doesn't have the central place in biology it had 20 years ago," says Haroid Manner, head of the biology department of Loyola University in Chicago. "It doesn't seem to have much future.

"It's an academic exericse, handy as an explanation, but it doesn't push knowledge forward. It locks in the questions. There is no concrete evidence that one life form changes enough to change into a different lifed form."

Efforts to demonstrate that it could happen have gone on unavailingly ever since Charles Darwin's "Origin of the Species" in 1859 and his later "Descent of Man" postulated that thesis. It has become the broadly assumed Religious Beliefs Rule Although most Bible scholars see no basic conflict between it and judeo-Christianity, early attacks on it stemmed from religious beliefs rather than neutral considerations. It was equated with free inquiry in the 1925 Scopes trail, becoming popularly regarded as the only enlightened, intellectual position.

But nowadays, a minority among scientists reject it. "It's dogmatism, not science," says natural scientists John N. Moore of Michigan State University. "It doesn't make sense in terms of today's scientific knowledge. "Darwin's Mistake," an article by philosopher-writer Tom Be-thell was titled in Harper's magazine last year, pointing out the now generally recognized "tautology" or meaningless re-dundancy in the "survival of the fittest" idea, since it offers no testable criteria of fitness and thus says merely that the survivors survive.

Darwin "is in the process of being discarded," Bethell writes, but "it is being done as discreetly and gently as possible, with a min-imum of publicity."

However, a preponderant majority of scientists espouse the evolutionary pattern as the only natural, non-miraculous explanation available, and cite extensive circumstantial evidence for it, although noting the uncertainties.

"There still are scientific questions about it." says anthropologist Margaret Mead of New York's American Museum of Natural History. "The mechanisms have not been spelled out. They may never be...Some points always are in death. ways are in doubt.

But we have a fair estimate of the probabilities by which life de-veloped on this planet. Man did not descend from the ape. There were paralled lines of develop-ment. Both branched off on dif-See QUESTIONS Page 3

Shutdowns Set

BATTALIONS OF angry, picketing farmers shut down many Lubbock businesses with tractor blockades Tuesday night as a 24-hour siege on the city called "the greatest show of agriculture force" yet in Texas and possibly the Southwestern United States

More than 1,000 tractor-transported Texas farmers rumbled into Lubbock late Tuesday in protest of low farm prices, closing major food processing plants and distribution centers whose owners refused to voluntarily do so and setting up strike forces to enforce agreements other owners had made.

Long chains of tractors, pickups and other farm vehicles entered the city about 9 p.m. Tuesday, but even before then, Lubbock residents and businessmen were bracing for the promised onslaught.

Police Studying Possible Traffic Tie-Up

Ranking police department officials early today were meeting in strategy sessions in attempts to determine whether the tractors were causing enough traffic problems to warrant police intervention.

A department spokesman said any action interfering with traffic movement would "not be tolerated," but he added no decision had been made as to what action would be taken if that situation evolved.

Movement spokesmen confered with A-J General Manager Robert Norris late Tuesday. Norris said the A-J has given the farm movement front-page coverage since picketing forces struck Missouri Beef Packers in Plainview last week.

Longer Blockades Threatened Strike leader Greg Rystad of Hereford indicated the blockade would last only through midnight today, but striking farmers at some locations indicated 48hour shutdowns would be enforced if a plant did not voluntary comply with the demand for a 24-hour business halt.

Bitter farmers, many heralding signs bearing impassioned pleas for government assistance, began converging on the city about 7 p.m. in streams of traffic at times more than 35 miles long.

REPRESENTATIVES of the American Agriculture movement Tuesday presented The Avalanche-Journal with a petition demanding among other things a public apolo-gy for a term used in a recent editorial.

The editorial published in the Dec. 16 morning edition warned striking farmers against adopting "the anti-social tactics of union goons." Such tactics include business blockades, violence and ille gal actions.

Folklore weather prognosticators across the country predicted in early au-tumn that it would be a bitter winter, with snow and cold weather coming early and staying late. They now believe winter -which makes its debut at 6:24 p.m. EST Wednesday - may be worse than they first expected.

Arctic cold and snow had swept much of the midlands by mid-Autumn, but Helen Wohlschlaeger, a Fenton, Mo., dog groomer who fortells the weather from wooly bear caterpillars and dog fur, says the worst is yet to come.

The Fenton area has been chilled by autumn snows, bitter cold and ice - all predicted by Mrs. Wohlschlaeger.

'I told 'em before it hit." she said. "That was just an aperitif. The after dinner drink is gonna hit after Dec. 21. And the worst is gonna hit after Christmas. There'll be lots of snow. It's gonna

A sure sign of a tough winter was the wooly bear caterpillars. "They were the blackest woolv bears I've ever seen — and with the heaviest coats," she said. "The darker and thicker the woolly bears' coat, the worse the winter. And I've never seen their coats blacker or thicker. Corrine Smith, a Galena, Ill., area farm wife, said squirrels were feeding voraciously in early autumn and that means a bad winter.

She said fall snows and an autumn cold snap were only the beginning

"It (the weather) has been bad but it's gonna get worse," she said. Jack Wingate of Bainbridge, Ga., says wintry weather hasn't hit the South yet "but it will." Wingate says early migration of dove and teal and cypress tress that turned yellow in August are omens of impending bitter weather.

Folklore omens also call for heavy snows in the West. "It'll be a good year for the resorts - plenty of snow," said Carl Simon, a ski buff and parttime ski instructor in Aspen, Colo. "There were lots of misty mornings in August-and that means lots of snow struck southeastern Iran before dawn Tuesday, devastating three isolated villages near the ancient walled city of Kerman, officials said.

Official reports on the number of dead varied. Eighty bodies were pulled from the debris by nightfall, said the Red Lion and Sun, the Iranian equivalent of the Red Cross. But government broadcasts quoting rescue officials said the death toll was at least 343.

Massachusetts Hit By Tremor

WESTON, Mass. (AP) - An earthquake registering 3.1 on the Richter scale and felt for a radius of 35 to 40 miles was recorded in southeastern Massachusetts on Tuesday, the Weston Observatory of Boston College said.

No damage was reported after the four-second tremor struck at 12.44 p.m. near Wareham, three miles north of the Cape Cod Canal and about 40 miles south of Boston, said Prof. Edward Chiburis, observatory director.

Startled residents and workers in New Bedford fled their homes and office buildings and called police to say they thought they heard thunderstorms or trucks overturning, authorities said.

"This is classified as a small earthquake," said Chiburis. "Nothing to be alarmed about."

"These tremors are not common, but they're not uncommon. We have registered four or five in the past 18 months

The quake hit at 3:36 a.m., catching most of the 5,000 residents of the villages asleep in their beds. Survivors fled their crumbling homes into below-freezing early-morning cold.

The Red Lion and Sun reported the quake registered 6.2 on the Richter scale, but the U.S. Geological Survey recorded it at 5.5.

Government spokesmen said soldiers and other rescue workers were digging through the ruins by the light of kerosene lanterns Tuesday night in search of more bodies or victims trapped alive in the de-

Seismologists in Mashad, in northeastern Iran, reported that another tremor, registering about 5 on the scale, struck at 10:30 a.m. somewhere 600 miles from Mashad. That could be anywhere on an arc through southern Iran, or northward in the Soviet Union, but apparently not in the 200-square-mile area rocked by the first quake.

There was no verification of the second quake from other scientific sources.

The early-morning quake destroyed the villages of Bantangal, Gisk and Sarasiyab-bagh in an arid region between the Lut Desert and the foothills of snowcapped, two-mile-high Kooh-Kerman, Iran's third-highest mountain.

The villages, 430 miles southeast of Tehran, lie between the agricultural town of Zarand and Kerman, a onetime Moslem fortress city. The area is 250 miles west of the Afghanistan and Pakistan borders.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi ordered the armed forces in the area to help in the rescue efforts, and hundreds of helicopters were dispatched from a huge helicopter center in the central Iranian city of Isfahan, government spokesmen said.

Helicopters and military transport planes were flying tents, food, water, blankets, medicine and doctors to the stricken region. Small tent encampments were set up outside the villages for the homeless residents. Rescue workers said the main problems facing the villagers were the cold and a lack of drinking water. Rainy weather forecast for today would make the rescue effort more difficult.

It was the most devastating quake to hit Iran since 1968, when one that rocked the northeastern part of the country killed 12,000 persons. In 1962, about 10,-000 persons were killed in an earthquake that hit the Ghazvin region, 100 miles west of Tehran.

Nation Prepares For Grim Onslaught As First Day Of Winter Approaches

By The Associated Press

Much of the nation braced for a grim first day of winter Wednesday - storms and high winds on the East and West coasts and snow through vast stretches of the northern United States.

On Tuesday, high winds spawned a dust storm and caused two traffic deaths in California, as snow fell on much of the north-central United States.

A storm raging in the Pacific Ocean was advancing slowly toward Northern California and was expected to bring strong winds and rain and to dump snow in the state's mountains by Wednesday

Another storm advanced on western New York from the Midwest, where snow fell Tuesday from eastern Wisconsin through northern Illinois and into the hake Erie area. And a nor easter was due in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with snow and winds of up to gale force. Lowland areas were warned there might be flooding, with tides up to three feet above normal. Winter storm watches were posted for West Virginia's Northern Panhandle, northern Ohio, mountainous areas of Pennsylvanian much of New York and for parts of Maryland, Delaware and northern New Jersey. Travelers' advisories were in effect for North and South Dakota, and for parts of Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota.

In the Pacific some 360 miles north-West of San Francisco, the ocean storm triggered a rescue drama centered on the andering Panamanian freighter Malaysja Permai, with 33 crewmen on board.

A merchant ship reached the vessel and was standing by, but the towering waves cracked the hull of the Coast Guard cut-

Any miraculous phenomena are beyond natural limits, generally the scientific bounds, but evolutionary theory also goes beyond empirical verifation in arraying evidence about an unrepeatable, unobservable past.

"There's a natural tendency to reject any criticism of evolutionary theory because it so often has come from crackpots," says Louisiana State University chemist Dewey Carpenter, vice president of the American Scientific Affiliation, a growing organization

Because of the low unemployment rate in Lubbock, Brownlow has been unable to find the people, and her staffers have started "going to the pool halls" to find people who might want a job, she said. The Title VI program, also called Public Service Employment, is designed to give jobs to the long term unemployed. People who have exhausted their unemployment benefits and still do not have a job, those who are eligible for unemployment benefits but do not choose to take them and especially veterans are eligible. "As it is, most schools teach evolution as an established fact, as the only acceptable scientific position, intimidation students with a totally naturalistic viewpoint, a religious position in itself, accommodating atheism. It's so built int the establishment that it's lide questioning motherhood itself to question evolution. But the data can be interpreted either way.

Supernatural Theory Hit Reflecting the way evolution sometimes is tied to attitudes, the American Biology Teacher has demanded editorially, "Why do people cling to belief in the supernatural?" - and calls this a retreat from the scientific search for answers which should be restricted to the natural world.

The minority of scientist agree that the two should not be mixed. but maintain there is evidence of beyond-natural occurrences in life's appearance in the past just as objective as evidence for naturalistic evolution in the past, and that open pursuit of truth demands allowing consideration of data behind both possibilities.

Evolutionary Theory Revised

As for evolutionary theory, its premises have been extensively revised since Darwin's time Years ago, the idea was abandoned that external conditions or acquired traits determined changes, such as a giraffe's long neck resulting from reaching for leaves or a duck's webbed feet from trying to swim.

The rise of modern genetics showed that only the internal 'gene architecture" - that microsocopic, complex linkage of coding nucleotides - determined inheritance. This has left the role of natural selection less important, some saying it largely influences variation only within kinds.

In "neo-Darwinism," the main mechanism for change now involves "mutations," those rare unexplained quirks in the genetic code, nearly always harmful. But it is held that given enough time through the eons of the earth, the one-in-a-thousand, fortuitously successful "mutations" could have provided the basis for the radiating diversity of life.

Critics maintain the odds are so heavily against it as to make it essentially impossible, citing massive statistical improbabilities on a scale they say would have promptly discredited a scietific phypothesis in any other area. But defenders disagree.

"Semulated on a computer, it fits pretty well," says anthropologist Jolly. "A selective change of less than 1 percent per generation would become drastic if there was enough time for it. But it takes too long to see it work at that low Lacks "Predictive Value" Purdue University biochemist Larry Butler says the trouble with the evolutionary theory is that it lacks "predictive value" and can be tailored to fit anything, real or imaginary, such as considering a cat's "two tails" if it had them, as much an evolution-produced benefit as its real "two ears. It will fit something that doesn't happen as well as something that does

Whether mutations are random accidents or are brougt about by some special, unknown inner factors, aside from the unpredictable but real effects on genes of radiation and some chemical treatments, also is a matter of academic argument.

But genetics have brought out graphically the biochemical simi-larity of all living things, their differences deriving from the infinitely variable arrangement of that directing genetic code, an organizing methold apparently common to all life, a kinship in basic

Area Hospital Accepts Emergency Room Plan

A-J Correspondent BROWNFIELD - A new phase in the medical facilities at the Brownfield General Hospital was entered following action by the board of directors to contract physician coverage for the emergency room at the Tuesday evening board meet-

To help provide a better quality of emergency room care, the board will contract the services of doctors, primarily Texas Tech Medical School residents, to serve six nights a week from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. This will relieve the local physicians in the evenings and it will also be a tremendous help to the nursing staff when emergency treatment is needed, until the patient's own physician can be called. This will go into effect the first of the year.

At the present time, it was noted, doctors have been serving during the week-

The audit report for the fiscal year, October to October, was presented by George Sommers, CPA. The report showed the hospital to have $8 million in assets and a net gain for the year of $244. 000 including hospital monies and tax

The board reappointed the hospital medical and dental staff, including medical staff consultants for 1978. Bob Greenlaw of Spaw-Glass, Inc., of Houston, a construction management firm, was on hand to talk with the board about management and construction methods in preparation for the building program now being formed.

Next week planning meetings will be held to help further define the scope of the building project and to determine long range plans for the hospital.

Attending the meetings will be medical staff, department heads, hospital staff and architect and planner, Bob Billington and Bob Cox.

AN EDITORIAL:

A Friendly Word To Farmers

HAVING ALREADY focused public opinion on their financial complaints, "striking" farmers now run the risk of inflicting grievous and perhaps irreparable harm on their cause if they carry their protest too far.

By "too far" we mean interfering with the rights of others-farmers, warehousemen, processors, consumers—to go about their affairs without harassment.

On the heels of Saturday's "tractorcade" at the South Plains Mall, it is difficult to conceive what more the dissident farm group might expect to achieve by additional demonstrations in Lubbock.

AS THE AVALANCHE-JOURNAL said in an editorial on Dec. 11, agriculture "is what fuels our economy, our retail sales, our employment in Lubbock.

We said then, and repeat now, that all of us who live in this region, on or off the farm, need to understand-and do-that the farmers' problems are real and that all of us will suffer with them unless they get a fair price for what they produce.

We believe this attitude of support for the farmer is shared by every thinking resident of Lubbock, but we can think of no faster way to turn this attitude into hostility than for the farmers to push their demands too

We draw the line, first of all, at the point where any person blocks another from his place of business, his job or his right to buy, sell and ship any time he pleases.

WE ARE SURE that all farmers on the South Plains want higher prices for their production. We doubt, however, if very many of them really want to accept the kind of regimentation that would accompany the guarantees being demanded by the strike

In demanding 100 per cent parity, the American Agriculture movement is in effect asking that farmers be guaranteed a profit at the end of the year.

We do not believe that a guaranteed profit is the American way, any more than we believe that a city dweller has a right to a guaranteed annual wage.

NOR DO WE BELIEVE that one farmer has the right to demand that another man not ship beef when he wants to. We support the right to work without belonging to a labor union and without interference from strikers, be they labor union members or

This nation's great standard of living, as The Avalanche-Journal often has said, is based in large measure on the productivity of the American farmer and rancher.

Through the years, we have supported -and will continue to support-the farmers' best interests as we see them, politically, economically and otherwise.

WE WILL DO SO, however, within the context of letting the American system of free enterprise work with a minimum of government interference, regulation and

We are secure in the belief that the vast majority of West Texas farmers share our commitment to an orderly marketing system in which no man must yield all of his production and marketing freedom to some central planning committee.

And we hope that those who are engaged in heated protest will let their emotions cool long enough to recognize that, in Lubbock, they are protesting to their friends and they should do nothing to strain that friendship.

ART BUCHWALD:

No Christmas Carol Like A New Christmas Carol

"UNCLE," SAID Bob Cratchit, "why not come to our house tomorrow for a three-martini Christmas dinner?"

"Bah, humbug," said Scrooge. "I don't believe in three-martini Christmas dinners.

"But Uncle, if you come we can discuss business and then the dinner will be tax-deductible and I will be able to afford to buy poor Tiny Tim a bird."

"I'm against all tax-deductible dinners and lunches too. I don't believe in them even when they come at Christmas time.

"Oh, Uncle, what a terrible thing to say. Where, would we all be if we couldn't deduct our holiday lunches and dinners as legitimate entertainment?

"BAH, HUMBUG," said Scrooge as he went home to have a peanut butter sandwich.

Scrooge put on his nightcap and sat by the fire when suddenly there appeared before his eyes the apparition of his old friend Bert Lance. Lance still had all his bank books, ledgers and deeds, and was holding in his right hand a diplo-

Scrooge said, "What do you want, Bert?" "I came to tell you that you will be visited by three spirits. Listen to what they have to say, Scrooge. Otherwise you will be like me, doomed forever trying to unload my stock in the National Bank of Georgia. This really frightened Scrooge, as he knew Lance was in a bad way.

THE FIRST SPIRIT showed up exactly at midnight. "I am the martini of Christmas-past," it said. "Come." The spirit took Scrooge back to his farm. "Do you see that happy man behind the

"It's me," said Scrooge. "Who paid for the plow and the land and the peanuts you couldn't sell?" "The taxpayer."

The martini spirit said, "And you never said a word then about the tax laws being unfair and a Tears filled Scrooge's eyes. "They didn't seem unfair then. But getting farm rebates is different than having tax-deductible lunches and dinners.

THE SECOND MARTINI showed up an hour "I am the spirit of Christmas-present, Scrooge

Come with me The spirit took Scrooge to a convention where a sandy-haired fellow was sitting on the stage drinking beer and talking about his kinfolks. "Why, it's my brother Billy," Scrooge said.

"Yes, and do you realize where he'd be today if conventions weren't tax deductible?" "Stop," begged Scrooge.

The third martini showed up. "I am the spirit of Christmas-1980. Would you like to see what will happen to your tax reform bill by the time the House and Senate get through with it?"

"No more," cried Scrooge. "I have been per-

"GOOD," SAID THE third martini. "Then you know what to do."

Scrooge went out and bought the biggest bird he could find, for which, of course, he got a receipt. He then went to Bob Cratchit's house and presented him with it. "I'd like to talk to you about the Whitney Account over dinner.

"Of course, sir. And I shall order a very good bottle of burgundy as long as we're at it. After all, a business Christmas dinner comes only once Scrooge chuckled and after stuffing himself until he thought he'd explode, he wrote in his little book "Dinner with Bob Cratchit and Tiny Tim. Purpose-Business-to discuss new stools for Counting House Annex."

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK:

SALT Tastes Murky

WASHINGTON-A confidential warning dispatched from congressional critics of the prospective SALT II agreement only intensifies this dilemma of Western Europe: it regards a critical part of the treaty with horror yet cannot raise a whisper in protest

The warning, a memo sent to serious Western European politicians, asks for more than a whisper. It wants a shout from across the Atlantic against the proposed limitation on groundlaunched cruise missiles.

Otherwise, the silence from Europe will be used to promote Senate approval of SALT II. Indeed, the Europeans are becoming entwined in Carter administration strategy for winning the two-thirds vote needed for ratification.

Yet, European political leaders have avoided public criticism of cruise-missile limitation. A clear explanation for silence comes from a senior West German diplomat

ANDREW TULLY:

Of Ends

WASHINGTON-Neither Egypt nor Israel is enchanted by the United Nations' interest in meddling with the fragile machinery abuilding to bring peace in the Middle East.

An Egyptian diplomat here put it this way: The UN is too much under the influence of the Communist bloc and some of the more irresponsible governments in the Third World." I join in the hope peace negotiators will be spared too much help by the UN, which is about as united as Cain and Abel. And yet it is ironic that the United States exercises so little influence in that organization of elegant cutpurses, because the UN could not have survived financially without the taxes paid by American working stiffs.

Since the UN was formed in 1945, the argument has always been that the U.S. should be its dollars-and-cents angel on account of we had most of the money

THE U.S. AS always, contributes about a third of the UN budget, due to a formula by which assessments are based on the gross national product of the member-nations.

Possibly, the UN would become more responsible if the formula were altered to make assessments proportional to population, thus dropping the U.S. below such people-filled countries as the Soviet Union, China, and India.

The idea commmends itself to the thoughtful, as the president of Harvard would say. It is in line with humanitarian arguments that people are more important than money Indeed, the Russians and Indians have always insisted they are a touch more equal than other UN equals because they represent so many bod-

Russia, incidentally, has three votes in the UN, based on the myth that the Ukraine and Byelorussia are independent principalities, yuk, yuk. At any rate, if influence is allotted in favor of population why not also give these centers of massed humanity the honor of getting up a fair share of the UN's financing? ONE RESULT WOULD be that smaller countries would get a dues break, which in most cases is deserved. Another, perhaps more important, dividend would be the softening of anti-UN sentiment in the U.S. where many taxpavers tend to regard the organization as a poor relation dominated by our enemies.

The Communist bloc has always opposed such a change, for obvious reasons. Those Redniks love to boast about their booming economies but somehow, at assessment time, they doctor the figures so they are revealed as on the brink of bankruptcy.

Meanwhile, the U.S. is not now that well off. What with inflation, unemployment and a lousy balance of payments situation, many of us have had a hard time making ends meet.

It seems to me Congress should consider legislation which would base the U.S. contribution to the UN on the country's population. It is true Congress has no power to revise the UN's financial procedures, but should it withhold funds for support of that curious club until changes are made in the dues structure, I suspect the free oaders would get the message.

"We are linked to you 100 per cent, a condition that discourages argument.'

THE EUROPEAN dilemma is part of broad strategy in gaining Senate approval. Senior administration officials have privately given up on Sen. Henry M. Jackson, leader of the Senate's defense-oriented Democrats, supporting the treaty which is emerging from strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) in Geneva.

With an expected 30 out of 38 Republican senators aligned against the treaty, Jackson and three other Democrats could block ratification.

The administration's strategy against such odds is to pose the catastrophe of a new treaty with the Russians failing Senate approval.

At high levels of the State Department, there are tentative plans to help convince the Senate by getting European members of NATO to declare the necessity of the treaty. What actually disturbs the Europeans more than possible rejection of the treaty is the 600-kilometer (360-mile) limit on ground-launched cruise missiles. In private, the British and Germans are pressing hard for a 2,000-kilometer (1,200-mile) range that would deal with new-generation Soviet weapons and reach Communist second-echelon reserves deep inside Eastern Europe and West-

THE 600-KILOMETER limit is contained in the three-year protocol attached to the treaty. But political pressures in the NATO democracies would make it nearly impossible to break the ban after three years.

This point is made in the confidential warning from Captiol Hill critics of SALT.

Secretary of Defense Harold Brown himself conceded this fact in typically frank conversation with reporters last week

'Clearly, at the end of that time (the three years of the protocol) there will be political pressures that will urge continuation of limitations.

Nevertheless, Brown was trying hard to reassure the Europeans at the recent NATO meeting in Brussels. He hirded strongly that the U.S. would not accept any limit on the right to transfer cruise missile technology to NATO allies.

He added that the range limit would apply only to deployment-not to testing-of groundlaunched missiles.

AT BRUSSELS, BOTH Brown and Sec. of State Cyrus Vance tried to paint a rosy picture of European acceptance of SALT II. The reality is that the Germans and British fear that the treaty will be the first dangerous step toward "decoupling" defense of the U.S. from the defense of Western Europe.

One Western European defense expert last week strongly implied to Dr. Zbigniew Brzezinski, the President's national security adviser, that the cruise missile limitation would actually result in "decoupling."

The mere thought of "decoupling" gives the Europeans the shakes. Could they then be forced political accomodation ("Finlandization") with the Soviet Union? The Gaullist alternative of the French is to stay clear of SALT II entirely, neither endorsing nor rejecting but keeping all options open.

CONSEQUENTLY, THE French are studying independent development of their own cruise missiles in the 2,000-kilometer range. But apart from the possibly unbearable cost, France (even collaborating with Britain and West Germany) may lack the necessary technology for targeting.

Instead, the warning from the Capitol Hill SALT critics urges a public campaign for language making absolutely clear that after the three years expire, NATO has the specific right to deploy 2,000-kilometer cruise missiles.

Paul Warnke, chief U.S. negotiator, has been urging the Soviets to accept murky language in the protocol designed to assure European passivity and help the push for U.S. Senate approval. Signs so far are that the canny Warnke is correct.

JAY HARRIS:

It Takes People...

AS WE HAVE often noted, it is those with whom you come in contact that make or break a trip, especially one abroad.

Almost everyone you meet has a story to relate, often a very interesting one, if you are willing to

Some of our fondest memories of globe-hopping have been of the people we have met around the world-not only those who push the buttons and make things happen, but the man in the street, the workers, the young and the elderly.

What such persons have to say, not only about their own countries, but the United States as well, is most revealing. It was in that context that we approached the latest jaunt to South Africa and Europe, including brief stops in Frankfurt, Athens and Rome.

SO, BEFORE turning our attention to some traditional Christmas columns in the immediate days ahead, we would like to share impressions of a few of those we met...

Among the more interesting persons were two young stewardesses on the Pan American flight homeward across the Atlantic. Since the PanAm 747 was nowhere near full-a rare exception during the rush season-the women had a few moments to pass. One was from upstate New York, a native of Seattle. The other, also living near New York, is a native of Holland. Both are married to men who travel and they make their schedules mesh so as to be home together. Both say their marriages are better for occasional separations. Both exude a calm confidence that seems to reach out to those they serve. In a half hour of conversation, we didn't hear a pessimistic thought from either. The Seattle girl credits a deep religious faith for her happiness and success. Both were like fresh breezes in a world too often spoiled by the spoiled young.

ON A FLIGHT from Frankfurt to Athens aboard a spick and span Lufthsansa Airliner, we met a young West German who knew what made the plane tick from the engines to the landing

He was a specialist with the airline on his way to the Far East. His family was to join him later for the holidays.

We were fascinated with his travels and vast storehouse of information. But, he was equally fascinated when he learned we were from Lubbock-it's Luebeck over there-Texas. It seems that he once came through Lubbock, enroute from Dallas to Phoenix to train on the planes, with a stopover in Amarillo. Speaking in broken German-English, he told us how he was impressed with-and he spread his arms wide-the "huge open spaces, the city out in nowhere, and a side trip to Dumas..." He observed that U.S. motorists "go slow and look everywhere but the road while we Germans go fast and look ahead... Clean cut, hard-working, family-oriented, again a plus point in a once hippie world. Besides, he was one of the few we met who had heard of Lubbock!

AND THEN THERE was the man with whom we shared a South African train booth enroute to cover the Bophuthatswana Independence Celebration near the Botswana border.

He was Robert Letts Jones, former president of the Copley New Service in San Diego, and a veteran journalist. We had the distinction of being the only two U.S. newsmen on the trip.

Bob has knocked about all over the world in more than four decades of reporting, soldiering known the great and near great.

Now a free-lance writer who contributes to a number of papers in the U.S. and abroad, he has an objective view of what a newsman's job is. Unlike many of the "activists" in the trade, it is

ON THE WAY home, we ran into Dennis D. Brown, who lives in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Dennis is employed by a company which furnishes specialists of different sorts to the advanced American peace-monitoring mission in the Sinai Desert passes in the Mideast. His work is fascinating. He quit a good job to join the Sinai Field Mission and is home on holiday leave. The Texan represents a vast army of Americans, many of them from Texas incidentally, who are working around the world in various capacities, from recreation jobs to helping train Iranian helicopter pilots and Saudi Arabian oil workers.

IT REMAINED for an unnamed security officer in heavily guarded Frankfurt-Main Airport to ing friends for the U.S. in the process.

If all are as dedicated as Dennis, they are mak-supply a bit of comic relief .. In the wake of the recent Lufthsansa hijacking and daring rescue and subsequent threats from terrorists, West German security is probably the tightest in the world.

In addition to the usual luggage check, X-rays and such, the West Germans take other precautions. There are armed guards at key points. If you do not show up to identify your heavier luggage just before boarding, it is taken to a special pressure" room for explosive tests. And in addition to being bodily frisked, carry-on luggage and packages are thoroughly hand examined. While going through the Christmas gifts of a young man headed for Bangkok, the guard deliberately tripped the button on one of those 'laughing" box toys.

The raucous canned laughter brought a grim grin from the security people, smiles from waiting travelers-a commentary of sorts on the world terrorists have forced all of us to live in.

Imprisoned Mitchell To Be Granted Brief Medical Furlough

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell will be re-leased from federal prison next week on a medical furlough for a detailed examina-tion of his arthritic hip, the Justice Department announced Tuesday. The examination, by Mitchell's own doctors, is to determine whether he needs an

Mitchell, 64, still will have to serve the rest of his 1-to-4-year term for the Watergate cover-up, said Michael Aun, a spokesman for the Bureau of Prisons.

Mitchell entered the minimum security prison at Maxwell Air Force Base near Montgomery, Ala., on June 22. He would be eligible for parole next June 21.

"The bureau doesn't have authority to let him out permanently," Aun said. "Our furlough authority extends only 30 days. We're letting him out on the 29th of December and asking for his doctor's evaluation by Jan. 12."

Aun said it has not been determined whether prison or civilian doctors would perform the operation if it is needed. The former attorney general's lawyer, William D. Hundley, has said in court that prison is not the place for such a delicate operation.

Normally, federal inmates requiring major surgery are transferred to the medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo. But Norman A. Carlson, head of the federal prison system, said it would be inadvisable to transfer Mitchell there because of "security considerations."

"It's a type of degenerative arthritic condition, a rare form of arthritis that eats away the hip bone," said Hundley. "They take out what's left and put in an artificial hip bone.

The lawyer said he talked with Mitchell and "he's naturally glad that the Bureau of Prisons took the position that they are not equipped to do the operation."

Mitchell's release will leave only two other Watergate figures in prison. John D. Ehrlichman, former Nixon domestic counselor, is scheduled for parole April 27.

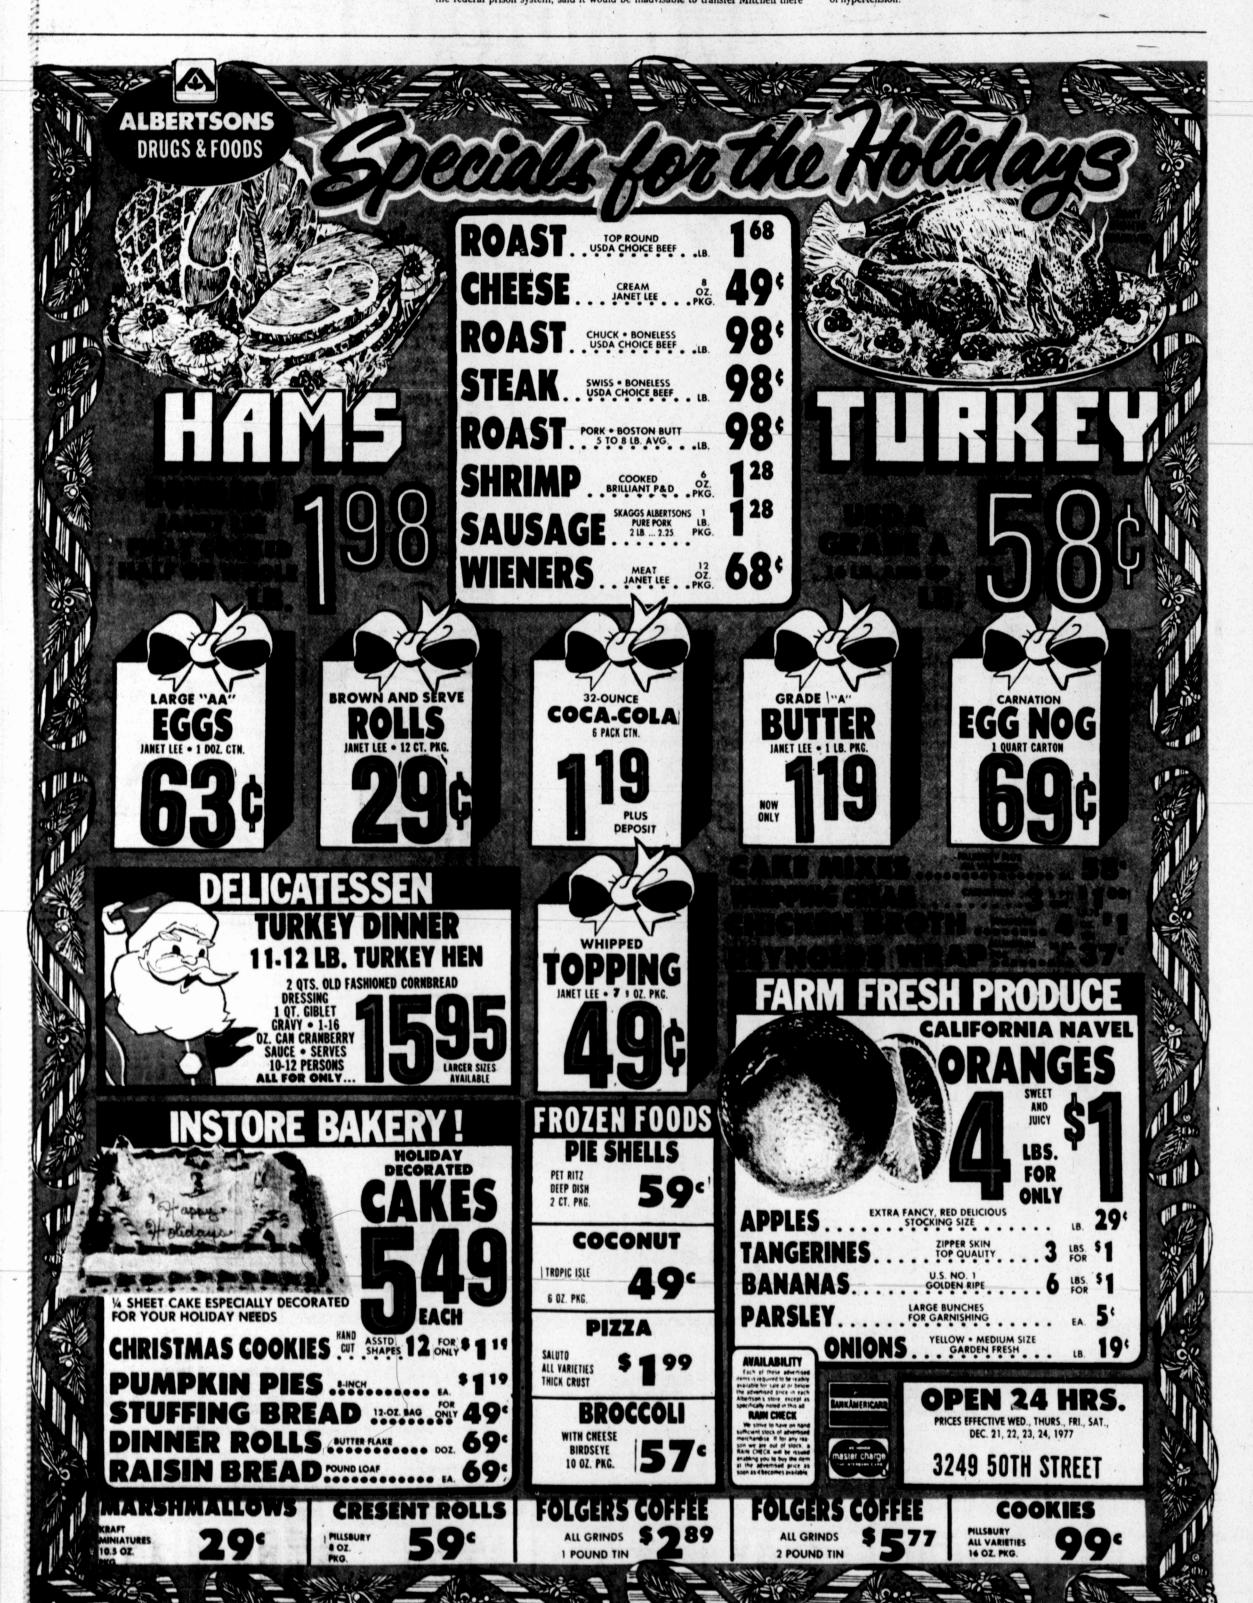

Former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman is eligible for parole in June, the same time originally set for Mitchell. Haldeman and Ehrlichman both are being allowed to spend the Christmas holidays outside their prisons.

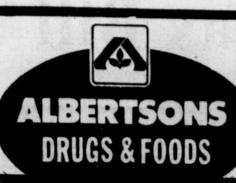

In a September petition asking that Mitchell's sentence be reduced, his lawyer said the former attorney general needs an artificial right hip.

Carter Lauds Social Security Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter signed into law Tuesday a measure raising Social Security taxes $227 billion by 1987, but he pledged that the overall tax burden of Americans will be reduced next year.

Carter said the increase aimed at maintaining the solvency of the Social Security system was "absolutely mandatory." The higher payroll taxes will not go into effect until 1979, although increases already are scheduled for next year under prior law.

To offset the increased Social Security taxes, Carter said, "in 1978, we'll have tax reductions, which for every taxpayer, will result in a lesser tax burden."

said, "everyone in this nation who values the concept of Social Security has been well served

"This guarantees that from 1980 through 2030 the Social Security system will be sound," said Carter, seated at a small brown table in the Indian Treaty Room of the Old Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

about $3,046 that a higher-paid worker is likely to pay in 1987 under the new Social Security law signed by President Carter on Tuesday compares with the maximum $30 anyone paid in 1937 when the program's financing began.

By 1987, the maximum amount of the tax itself will be about $46 more than the entire amount of annual earnings - $3. 000 — that was subjected to tax in 1937. The earnings figure, called the wage base, is expected to reach $42,600 in 1987.

Includes four unrelated welfare amendments, the chief of which authorizes the federal government to pay $187 million in state, city and county welfare costs over the next nine months.

Experts have warned that without more money, the Social Security system's fund for disabled workers would have gone bankrupt by 197$ and the old-age fund would have been out of money by

Percentage Going Up

The biggest tax increase will be applied to workers earning $42,600 a year or more by 1987, and their employers. But most of the money will come from the paychecks of low-and middle-income workers and their employers.

In 1977, a worker paid into Social Security 5.85 percent of the first $16,500 earned during the year. That $965 maximum tax was matched by the employer. The tax already was scheduled to go up on Jan. 1 to 6.05 percent of the first $17,-700, or a maximum $1,071.

The old law and the new tax increase will mean that by 1987, the tax rate will be 7.15 percent on the first $42,600 earned, or a maximum tax of $3,046.

Total Increased

For a higher-paid worker, the total tax to be paid under the old law would have been $15,201 over the coming decade. The new law raises that total to $21,457. Thus, compared to prior law, the highestpaid worker would pay an additional $6,-256 over the 10-year span, which means about $12 more a week.

The government estimates that someone considered today's "average" worker earns $10,000 a year but by 1987 will be earning about $18,600.

That worker paid $585 in Social Security taxes in 1977. In 1987, presuming earnings reach $18,600, payments will be about $1,330 under the new law. The worker would have paid about $1,200 at that salary if the law had not been

To Continue Increasing Thus, the payment will increase about $2.50 a week more under the new law in its 10th year.

The new law raises the tax rate to 7.65 percent in 1990 and thereafter. The wages subject to the tax will continue increasing as average wage levels rise.

The Social Security tax increases won't be enough to maintain present levels of benefits over the long run, even if optimistic official projections hold up.

See Long-Range Deficit The official projections call for a baby boomlet which would result in more persons entering the work force to pay into Social Security, a drop in inflation to 4 percent per year and for workers' income to increase faster than the cost of living by 1.75 percent a year.

But even if these things happen, the new taxes won't be able to maintain the system's solvency for 75 years. A projection in the final congressional staff report on the Social Security legislation says the system will be left with a long-range deficit of $1.46 for every $100 of wages subject to Social Security withholding.

AUSTIN (AP) - Ballots in the 31st Senatorial District run-off election, apparently won by former Congressman Bob Price with a 241-vote margin, will be recounted

Secretary of State Steve Oaks anquested by state Rep. Bob Simpson, D-Amarillo, the apparent loser

Oaks said all the legal requirements for requesting a recount had been met. Committees will be appointed in each of the district's 25 counties where recounts of paper ballots will occur.

To insure that the recount is conducted fairly and efficiently, I have requested each candidate to submit to this office a list of suggested committee appointees from each appropriate county within the 31st Senatorial District, and a date will be set for the recount as soon as these lists have been received by this office," Oaks said

The special election was called to name a replacement for former Sen. Max Sherman, D-Amarillo, who resigned to become president of West Texas State his left foot and ankle amputated.

At the time he said it would take "a miracle" to lure him into a re-election battle next year.

Teague is the fourth long-term Texas congressman to announce plans to retire "I have given the job of representing at the end of this term. Reps. George Mahon and Bob Poague, both 77, and Omar Burleson, 71, also have announced their intention to leave the House of Representatives Equitable Savings will give you information on tax saving retirement plans.

At Equitable Savings, we'd like to help you get ready for retirement with one of our tax deferred retirement accounts called I.R.A. (Individual Retirement Account) or Keogh. They're a great way to set aside a part of your income for retirement every year without paying taxes on it until you retire. By then, you'll likely be in a lower tax bracket.

If you're employed but not covered by a qualified retirement plan, I.R.A. allows an annual deposit up to $1500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less. Savings are fully tax deductible, and earnings compound tax deferred until distributed.

If you're self-employed, Keogh offers the same benefits and allows an annual contribution up to $7500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less.

If you have completed a qualifying program, I.R.A. Rollover is designed to roll your lump-sum distribution over into an I.R.A., to receive the tax advantage.

We'll help you get where you want to be. EOUITABLE SAVINGS

RAMP LAUNCHES A SKATEBOARD WAR - Stung with a speeding ticket while riding his skateboard, sidewalk surfer Bob Preston built this skateboard ramp in his front yard so he could wheel in peace. He started a war. Neighbors complain of the noise and city officials say the 12-foot ramp violates an order banning front yard structures. Last week the city building inspector posted an order to dismantle the $400 ramp. Preston plans to defend his ramp in the courts.

Skateboard Ramp Causes Dispute With Neighbors

PACIFICA, Calif. (AP) - After being ticketed for skateboarding in the street, Bob Preston built a $400 plywood ramp in his oceanfront yard. But now his neighbors are complaining about the noise and officials want the ramp disman-

One neighbor griped that the din from Preston and his skateboarding buddies is "drowning out the roar of the ocean." Another lodged a formal complaint with the building inspector, and two more raised objections in anonymous telephone calls to city officials.

City officials say the 40-foot-long horseshoe-shaped ramp at a cottage that Preston, 27, shares with Kirk Thompson, 26, violates an order banning front yard structures. Last week, the building inspector posted an order to dismantle it. Preston and Thompson ignored the order and were told to meet with the city attorney on Wednesday. If necessary, they say, they will defend their ramp in the courts. Preston says he was once given a $5 ticket for using his skateboard on a public street, and when he failed to pay it was arrested and had to pay $175 in fines to get out of jail.

There are a lot of excellent adult skaters like us around the Bay Area, but there's no public place for big guys to work out on the boards.

Preston and Thompson haven't gotten any sympathy from some of their neighbors. "The neighbors are alleging there's too much noise and that the view is somewhat interrupted by the ramp," says building official Phillip Mayo. "And sometimes they lose control of their skateboards and slide off the ramp and into the neighbors' vards."

Adds city planner Dan Kakos: "Noise is a factor. And the ramp gathers a lot of people in the afternoon, a lot of kids like to come there and ride. No, not kids. They are adults, ranging in age from 18 to 30.

Rep. Walt Parker Designated To Run State School Tax Assessment Board

AUSTIN (AP) - Rep. Walt Parker, D-Denton, a real estate man, rancher and pro football referee, was chosen Tuesday to run the newly created School District Tax Assessment Practices Board.

Soviet Doctors Report Serious Flu Epidemic

MOSCOW (UPI) - Soviet doctors re- severe cases but there is no real cure. ported Tuesday an epidemic of highly contagious influenza of the type that and predicted it may ultimately infect 39 million people.

Since the first case in the Siberian port of Khabarovsk a month ago, an epidemic has swept the Soviet Union. The Health Ministry estimated 39 million Soviet citizens would be hit, although no deaths have been reported.

Western diplomats have speculated that one of the flu victims may be President Leonid Brezhnev, who disappeared from public view Dec. 8.

The virus, called type A1, caused outbreaks throughout the world from 1947 to 1957 when it gave way to the Asian flu. The world's stocks of flu vaccine are based on the A2 Asian flu virus and have little effect on the A1 virus, experts said.

There is no way to contain the epidemic once it has begun, Dr. Georgy P. Nikolayevsky, deputy director of the ministry's Epidemiology Department, said in an interview.

"What do we do?" he asked. "Can we close off a city? This is impossible. And in other countries, they would have to put everyone coming from the Soviet Union in quarantine for two weeks. Surely this is impossible too.

Minor outbreaks of the A1 flu have occurred in Hong Kong and Southeast Asia but so far the only other country in Europe which has reported any cases is Italy, Nikolayevsky said.

Nikolayevsky described A1 flu as moderately severe. He said a case usually lasts five to seven days with high fever, headache, muscular pain and general weakness.

The incubation period ranges "from a few hours to many hours," he said.

It was expected to strike hardest at the elderly, children and young adults born too late to acquire a natural immunity from previous epidemics.

Treatment includes gamma globulin in Inspection Takeover By Food, Drug Administration Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Senate committee urged Tuesday that the Food and Drug Administration be given new legal powers, more independence, a higherpaid boss and thousands of meat and poultry inspectors now employed by the Department of Agriculture.

The proposal would, in effect, create a larger, stronger and semi-independent food inspection service within the Department of Health, Education and Wel-

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, in the latest in a series of reports on problems in federal regulation, strongly criticized the 70-year-old food inspection system as "often duplicative, sometimes contradictory, costly and unduly complex.

The report declared: "Precious resources needed for effective food regulation are squandered. It particularly criticized the U.S. Department of Agriculture's meat inspection service, citing a case in which "footdragging on the part of USDA resulted in fractured protection of the public health and safety and, most likely, the death of

The committee also said Congress has given FDA too little money to do its job well. The FDA, which has jurisdiction over non-meat food processing plants, has so few inspectors that it can call on the typical processing plant only once every three or four years.

The report said "common sense dictates that FDA's triennial or quadrennial inspections of processing facilities cannot possibly assure that the food processing industry is performing within the requirements of law."

The report urged that the Agriculture Department be stripped of its meat and poultry inspection functions because, it said, there is a "natural conflict" between encouraging farmers to produce and protecting consumers from dangerous food products. It also said food regulation spending accounts for only 2 percent of the department's budget. "Food regulation resources are overwhelmed by subsidy programs," it said. The report urged Congress to appropri-

Violence Flares In Attempt To Collect Overdue Loan

Pre-Christmas burglaries and thefts continued unabated through Tuesday, but the only violent incident was reported Monday night after a man went to collect a past-due loan.

The victim, a 24-year-old Lubbock man, was uninjured, but he reported being shot at twice after he arrived at a "friend's" residence in South Lubbock to collect $150.

Police reported evidence of pellets in the side of the young man's car, but no one had been arrested Tuesday.

Elsewhere, Delbert Carter of 1507 42nd St. said someone broke through a window at his residence Monday, then picked up five guns before leaving. Carter said the four shotguns and rifle were valued at an aggregate $845.

Mrs. E. F. McMahan of Route 5 said someone broke into her van Monday while it was parked at a home in far West Lubbock. Stolen were an estimated $1,-000 worth of locksmith tools, Mrs. McMahan said.

Vandals put a damper on Monty Smith's yuletide spirit early Tuesday, after someone sprayed red and white paint on the Abernathy resident's blue and white car. Smith, who said the incident occurred in the 2800-block of Weber Drive, estimated the damage to his vehi-

Veteran Civil Rights Leader Dead At 74

DALLAS (AP) - Funeral services have been scheduled for Thursday morning for A. Maceo Smith, a Dallas black community leader who died Monday at the age 74.

Smith was a veteran civil rights advocate and Dallas businessman who was active in interracial committees and sought to eliminate desegregation by dealing with the power centers in business and politics.

"My main strength - and it shows no great wisdom," he said once in an interview, "hinged on my dealings with persons who could bring change.

Smith said too many preachers and social workers handled race problems so he dealt with bankers, corporate heads and hotel and restaurant owners. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall once said of Smith that "his integrity is of the first quality ... he knows his own rights and those of his people and how to protect them." Smith had been active in the black community since he arrived in Dallas from Oklahoma City in 1933. He helped reorganize the Negro Chamber of Commerce and then was active in the struggle for civil rights. He organized voter registration drives, and was instrumental in raising money for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) to argue the 1944 case that guaranteed blacks their right to vote in Texas prima-

As a former teacher of business adminstration in Dallas public schools, he led the fight for equal salaries for black and white teachers. In the field of higher ed cation, he encouraged the Texas NAACP to file suit to force the state to admit blacks to law schools.

Commission Okays Plan For Highways

A-J Correspondent BROWNFIELD — The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has approved a three-stage plan to guide highway reconstruction, rehabilitation and construction in Texas for 20 years.

The first five years of the plan includes projects for right of way acquisition and construction, including the widening and reconstruction of US 380 from 1.1 miles east of US 62 and US 82, east to Lynn County line, 10.6 miles. Projects in the second five-year segment will consist of route studies, environmental reports, public meetings and hearings, schematics, determination of right of way requirements and acquisition of right of way where previously approved. Insufficient financing over the next two decades as projected from current arrangements do not allow the inclusion of all the "backlog" of highway work identified in department studies of recent vears.

B.L. DeBerry, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, warned that it is impossible to be able to forecast or foresee needs exactly over a period as long as 20

He pointed out, "Any appreciable change in financing - either up or down would create the necessity for revising the plan to fit changed conditions. Projects - both those now included and others that might not be - would be reconsidered at each revision."

He said workers are stymied by red tape in attempts to get jobs, and the Labor Department thinks growers aren't looking hard enough for domestic labor while the growers feel that crops are threatened because the process simply doesn't work fast enough.

Committee clerk John Cross said later that new legislation may be proposed to streamline the many-layered procedures outlined by Lewis and Leonel J. Castillo, commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"Our main concern is a better Labor program to get workers to the growers when they need them," he said.

Lewis said that demand for the foreign labor has come primarily from Florida sugarcane farms, apple orchards in New England, New York, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland, sheep ranches in 11 western states and logging operations in New England.

In anticipation of promised massive shutdowns, many Lubbock food distribution centers - some major suppliers of city supermarkets and schools - announced by noon Tuesday their decisions to voluntarily close in sympathy with, or under threat of, the farmers' demands.

Even with the announcements, Rystad said troops of 30-50 tractors would be ordered to cut off major entrances and exits of most of the complying businesses 'just in case.

Oil Price Rift Seen In OPEC

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) - Oil ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries delayed a working session for six hours Tuesday, causing speculation that a deep rift had developed over the question of raising oil prices.

During the lull, Mana Saeed Otaiba of the United Arab Emirates told reporters his country would bolt the group if his OPEC partners vote to increase oil prices. Otaiba and Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia made the same threat last year, causing an OPEC split over prices and effectively scuttling a twotiered hike voted by the majority. Otaiba and Yamani have been the most vocal supporters of a price freeze among the seven Arab OPEC members. The Shah of Iran also has expressed support for a freeze, but said his delegate, Mohammed Yeganeh, would be a 'bystander" rather than an active participant in price negotiations.

Irag. Libya and Algeria have indicated they favor an oil price increase, with the Iragis proposing 23 percent. OPEC president Abdul Aziz bin-Khali-

Elderly Without Families, Facing Bleak Christmas, To Receive Gifts

Christmas will be revived for the more than 200 family-less persons living in Lubbock's senior citizen homes, thanks to an overwhelming response by Lubbockites to a plea for help

People in Lubbock deserve a great big thank you," said Cathy Powell, director of the United Way's Community Council. "Everyone in the homes will get what they asked

Mrs. Powell issued an appeal in The Avalanche-Journal Monday for contributions of gifts for those senior citizens who otherwise would again be passed by Christmas. She said that all lines at the United Way office were full for two hours Monday morning with callers wishing to make contributions. There has been a steady stream of contributors ever since, "This is just more response than I ever expected," said Mrs. Powell.

By Tuesday afternoon, the United Way office was filling

"We've been swamped with candy," added Mrs. Powell. "Everyone at Quaker Manor will be receiving sweaters this year," she added.

In addition, students at the Roosevelt School are trying to raise $200 to sponsor several senior citizens while one woman has offered another $100. Also, Dean Blackledge, activities director of the Pioneer Hotel, says all persons living in senior citizen homes in Lubbock are invited to a Christmas dinner at the hotel at 7 p.m. today. Several other individuals have offered to take dinners to the homes or have the senior citizens in their own homes for Christmas meals.

Mrs. Powell also noted the contributions of the Salvation Army's League of Mercy in its annual effort to get gifts to all the senior citizens without families.

Persons can still bring gifts to the United Way office at 2201 19th St. but must do so by early Thursday morning. Persons wishing to take gifts directly to the homes can call 747-

Parole Hearings To Conclude Soon For American Returnees

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Parole hearings are expected to conclude Wednesday for the last of 233 American convicts returned from Mexican jails under the pris-oner exchange treaty, U.S. Bureau of Pri-sons officials said.

Most of those Americans had been convicted on drug charges.

Of those returned, 67 were eligible for immediate mandatory release because they had served two-thirds of their Mexican terms or had accumulated enough good behavior and work time to be freed. said exchange coordinator James Meko.

Seven of those eligible for mandatory release were arrested on detainers alleg-ing a variety of offenses in the United States, he said.

Officials earlier reported a total of 234 prisoners had been repatriated under the treaty. But Meko said an unidentified prisoner remained in Mexico because of citizenship problems.

Officials estimate at least 400 Americans remained in Mexican prisons The historic exchange, the first of its kind, began Dec. 9 when a chartered jetliner ferried 36 Mexicans jailed in the United States to Mexico City and returned with the first of four flights carrying Americans. Fifteen more U.S. convicts crossed the border into this country by bus from Tijuana's La Mesa prison.

Upon arrival in their homelands, both Mexican and Americans complained of abusive treatment while they were jailed.

About 100 prisoners ineligible for mandatory release remain locked in the Metropolitan Correctional Center here where hey were taken for initial processing.

About 66 more have been transferred to prisons near their homes to await disposition of their cases, Meko said.

Because of processing delays, those determined eligible for parole will be released beginning in mid-January, he said.

mental groups and the chemical industry, in an unusual alliance, have asked the Texas Air Control Board to adopt a federal policy for dealing with air pollution.

In a Houston hearing Monday, spokesmen the Texas Chemical Council said its member industries believe federal emissions policies "are inequitable and a disincentive to pollution abatment, there seems to be no other means for construction of new facilities, thereby maintaining growth in Texas."

Leo H. Vautrain, head of a Phillips Petroleum Co. complex at Sweeny, near Houston, said if the state doesn't act it could mean an end to expansion plans at his plant. Also calling for adoption of the federal policy were spokesmen for the Citizens' Environmental Coalition, the Citizens' Clear Air Advisory Council and the Houston League of Women's Voters.

The Environmental Protection Agency EPA) recently denied Texas a waiver from enforcing the offset requirements what sadly must be done - implement for new industries. At an air board meeting one week ago, a board member hinted the state agency might challenge the EPA decision in court. Regional EPA Administrator Adlene Harrison said the agency will enforce emission offsets if it has to, but would prefer that the state run the construction permit program.

The federal policy requires industries wishing to build or expand in areas which not meet national air standards to insure reductions in existing pollution to offset the new plant's emissions.

In prepared statements, both the Houston and the Pasadena chambers of commerce said the air board faces a choice of no growth if it continues to reject the federal requirements, or a limited growth if it accepts them.

the offset policy.

Jill Robinson, representing the League of Women Voters, told the board "to go forward, as other state have had to do. administering an imperfect program, but it is the only one we've got.

Most people change occupations at least once in their working lives, The Conference Board notes. In fact, between 1965 and 1970 alone, almost one-third of the work force switched fields or job categories. The desire for increased earnings, better working conditions or more interesting work and the lack of opportunity in a particular field are key reasons for the change. Due to less-specialized skills and lower pay, younger workers are the most mobile. Two out of three persons switching occupations are under

Energy Conferees Seek Carter's Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - Key congressional energy negotiators prepared Tuesday to seek President Carter's support for a proposed natural gas pricing compromise that would guarantee gas producers steady increases in prices.

But there was no immediate indication the new plan could muster enough support among Senate liberals to break a weeks-old stalemate on the gas-pricing section of the president's energy bill.

Top House-Senate energy conferees were meeting behind closed doors to put the finishing touches on a measure that would permit gas prices to rise more than proposed by the Carter administration.

Sources said the proposal would cost consumers about $2 billion more through 1985 than Carter's price control plan which was passed previously by the House.

But the measure would fall far short of the price deregulation contained in legislation approved by the Senate.

Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, the chief are agreed to by the group, the plan would be hand-delivered to Carter.

"He will have an opportunity to review it and suggest any changes," Ashley said. Generally, the proposed compromise would retain tight price controls on natural gas through 1984, then replace them with less restrictive controls

These price controls would apply to both gas shipped in interstate pipelines and currently unregulated gas used within states where it is produced.

But there was no sign that nine Senate conferees, who in the past have staunchly supported stiff price controls, would go along with the proposed compromise.

"They're going through a charade," said Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio. "They haven't counted right."

"What difference does it make whether you deregulate prices or let the prices rise to the levels they would have under deregulation?" he asked. "It amounts to the same thing for producers and con-

This would not only include newly discovered gas but additional gas supplies made available when older contracts between producers and industrial customers expire, they said.

The House-Senate conference commit-Sources close to the conferees said key tee handling the president's energy program has been stalemated over differences between House-passed legislation continuing price controls and a Senate bill deregulating prices after two years.

"Things are looking up slightly. Ever-yone recognizes that the hour is getting late," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La, leader of pro-deregulation Senate confer-

Carter proposed lifting the price ceiling for newly discovered gas - now set at $1.46 per 1,000 cubic feet - to $1.75 and extending this regulation to gas used within the borders of producing states.

Conferees were reported close to an agreement that would allow the proposed $1.75 price ceiling to rise by annual increments of 4 percent plus inflation, now running at about 7 percent.

Staff aides said that by 1985, such an increase could cost consumers $2 billion more than the original Carter plan approved by the House.

Congressional economic analysts claim the original House bill would result in consumer costs of about $20 billion by 1985, compared with more than $70 billion under the Senate bill.

Key conferees have been meeting in private sessions in hopes of producing a compromise that can be voted on publicly by the full conference panel Wednesday. The compromise then would be included in an overall energy bill to be voted on by Congress early next year. Rep. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., com-plained that the absence of key senators, including Senate Energy Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, has made if difficult to strike a compromise agreement favorable to consumer interests. Jackson returned home to Washington state because of illness in his family. Moffett accused senators of not taking the president seriously when he urged the conferees to continue meeting this week. "We're sitting in a room with a lot of empty chairs across from us," he said. Metzenbaum, one of the few senators who has attended the closed-door sessions, agreed. He said there seems to be a mood among conferees to make too many concessions to the oil and gas industry just to produce a compromise

Suit Charges Phone Company With Monopolistic Pricing

AUSTIN (UPI) - Attorney General John Hill contends Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has overcharged residential customers to help finance a price war against Texas competitors using business switchboard systems.

Hill, in a brief filed with the Public Utility Commission, argued Bell has used its monopoly position in the business switchboard industry to keep prices artifically low on the switchboard systems and use revenue from regular telephone customers to supplement its costs.

The attorney general's brief filed with the Utility Commission supports the position of Fisk Telephone Systems of Houston and five other Texas companies which compete with Bell for business switchboard business The brief contends Bell combined its costs of development and research of the Dimension PBX system with that of ordinary telephone units, allowing it to subsidize the cost of developing the units and therefore to sell them at lower prices than the competing telephone compa-

"Competitors do not have the ability to competitors in this market must be cost related," Hill said. "Southwestern Bell's competitors cannot choose to behave as an aspiring monopolist and obtain monopoly power by selecting marketing techniques which focus on market share

He said Bell has 96 percent of the busition, plus the cooperative pricing efforts of an integrated Bell system, which permit the company to offer its PBX equipment at prices below those of competitors, the attorney general said.

The Utility Commission is expected to rule this month on Fisk's allegation that Bell was pricing its Dimension business value and financing the price war with overcharges to residential and other Texas basic service customers.

"Each policy decision made (by Bell) in connection with the development and marketing of the Dimension PBX was designed to promote and solidify Southwestern Bell's monopoly position in the Texas market through the elimination or restraint of competition," Hill said.

County Still Awaits Authority For Short Guard Staff At Jail

By JEFF SOUTH Avalanche-Journal Staff

Because of a mixup, the Texas Com-mission on Jail Standards still has not granted the Lubbock County Jail the authority to operate with fewer guards than the state prescribes.

That leaves open the possibility the county may be forced to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars over the next few years for more employees than local offiials say are unnecessary.

State standards say county jails must provide one corrections officer for every 45 inmates or fraction thereof on each detention floor.

The five-story Lubbock County Jail houses about 60 prisoners on its third and fourth floors. Rather than create another around-the-clock position for each of those levels, county officials several months ago asked the TCJS for a "variance" or exception to the state-mandated

The staff of the state commission opposed the requested variance for safety reasons. But in November, the TCJS governing board approved it, on grounds that the variance is not so great it would endanger anybody and that the situation would be temporary - until 1980, when a new Lubbock County Jail is opened.

The only problem was that the commission did not have a quorum at its November meeting. And so last month's decision was to serve only as a recommendation to the full body's December session, held Monday

However, it now turns out that the proposed variance was not even considered by the commission Monday. "We didn't act on that," said Guy Van Cleave, executive director of the TCJS.

He said Criminal Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin, Lubbock County's legal counsel, "withdrew the manpower variance at our last meeting. He indicated that the county would reapply at a later date.

But Griffin said Tuesday he did no such thing. In fact, he said, of the slew of variance applications submitted to the state agency, the one dealing with manpower is our No. 1 priority. It's what we've all been waiting for."

Griffin said he did ask last month that one requested variance be withdrawn. It concerned a rule that would have required the county to install an intercom system, with eight to 10 speakers on each jail floor, for audible communication between inmates and guards.

Griffin wanted that request delayed until the TCJS had a chance to inspect the Lubbock County Jail and "see for themselves" that such a system is not needed

Oddly enough, the TCJS had failed to withdraw the requested variance on intercom devices. The proposal was considered - and turned down - by the commission on Monday, meaning that Lub-parents cause except that the body's blood-forming machinery (bone marrow or spleen) just produces too many red cells. That is called primary polycythemia. In others, the cause can be traced to a specific problem (secondary polycythemia). That's the more common type.

The causes are many. Living at high altitude, where there's a greater need for oxygen, prompts a higher level because the red cells carry oxygen. The 47 per cent figure is expected normally at sea level.

Lung and heart problems can bring an increase, as can kidney, liver, even uterine cysts or tumors. More common causes include high blood pressure, obesity. high blood cholesterol, iron deficiency. and other factors that affect blood chemistry (uric acid, as in gout, for example).

Circulation is often affected, and this appears to be M.F.'s situation. The increase in red cells tends to thicken blood, impairing flow. If arteries in the head are affected, dizziness and headache may result; if in the heart, chest pain (as in angina); if in leg vessels, calf pain when walking.

The cause must first be found. In secondary polycythemia correction of the problem brings the red cell count back to normal. In primary polycythemia the ancient art of bleeding or the modern use of radiation therapy (to slow the production of red cells) helps and may be all that's

John said he and his brothers weren't allowed to attend the funeral or burial. 'Nobody told us what was happening. All I knew was that my mother was always in the bedroom crying. My mind is a blank about his death after that. All I have are my fantasies."

Mourning is a psychological way of adjusting to the loss of a loved one. Experts say children are often and wrongly discouraged from mourning.

"The surviving parent usually is so" perplexed and overwhelmed with grief that he or she can't explain the death to the children," says Dr. Roberta Temes of Grief Groups in Brooklyn, N.Y. "Quite often the result is that the child becomes unable or afraid to ever love again, so they don't marry or form close relationships.

Such problems can be avoided if death is explained to the child when the parent

In her book "Death, the Final Stage of Growth," psychiatrist Elisabeth Kubler-"We routinely shelter child-Ross says, "We routinely shelter child-ren from death and dying, thinking we are protecting them from harm. But it is clear that we do them a disservice by depriving them of the experience.

One case referred to the Barr-Harris center involved an 8-year-old boy who wanted to stay home from school after his father's death. He was hostile to his 2-year-old sister and hated to be away from his mother.

The mother feared he would suffer more if the father's death was discussed, but counselors told her that the boy's reactions were normal and encouraged her to be "supportive and honest" during his mourning period.

"Be honest with children," Altschul advises. "They must confront death. Answer all their questions, but don't burden them with more than they ask. Death has been a taboo subject with too many people, especially when they're talking to Joseph Palombo, Barr-Harris' administrative director, says children over 3 should attend funerals and burials and other religious ceremonies involving the dead parent.

"Our religious rituals are important to the living, including the children," Palombo says.

Holidays are a special problem. "The first Christmas without a mother or father is very sad."

Children react to death differently, depending on age.

Between ages 4 and 6, children generally begin to have a greater sexual identity. Palombo says. A boy whose father dies loses a role model. A boy losing his mother loses a "caretaking function.

Six-to 8-year-olds may be the most vulnerable. "They feel the loss intensely, but they don't have the skills to cope with the guilt or responsibility they may feel."

Eight-to 10-year-olds "don't like to talk about it. They divert themselves by keeping busy." Palombo says. "We're not sure what this means. They seem to handle death better now. But they may be Palombo says children over 10 aren't included in the studies, among other reasons, because puberty brings on "a whole new set of factors.

Children of the same sex as the parent who died often fear to identify with the parent. "A boy who loses his father doesn't want to think that he too can die. The boy could also very likely fear reaching the age at which his father died. "We'll be following the children we've dealt with over the next 10, 15 or 25 years," he says. "Some of the children received intensive counseling, but most did not - we mostly told the surviving parent how to help their children adapt. "There really isn't very much known about this subject, and maybe our followup will help us determine how children can best be helped.

What we will look at are the milestones in a person's life. People who lose a parent in childhood often have difficulty finishing things. They don't graduate from school. They don't get married. They don't have children. They can become emotional cripples.

But an understanding of death, of mourning, of living without a loved one can enhance life. Says psychologist Kavanaugh, "The main purpose in openly discussing death with children is to enable them to live more freely.

Dear Ann: Enclosed are some practical aspects of the Golden Rule, to which I would like to add the four initials made famous by Ann Landers - M.Y.O.B.! Just sign me - Daily Reader In New

1. If you open it, close it.

2. If you turn it on, turn it off. 3. If you unlock it, lock it. 4. If you break it, repair it.

5. If you can't fix it, call in someone who can. 6. If you borrow it, return it

7. If you use it, take care of it. 8. If you make a mess, clean it up. 9. If you move it, put it back.

10. If it belongs to somebody else and you want to use it, get permission. 11. If you don't know how to operate it, leave it alone.

12. If it doesn't concern you, don't mess

Dear N.Y.: Thanks for the excellent suggestions. They are sure to help lubricate the machinery of human relations. If you add my M.Y.O.B. it makes thirteen an unlucky number. So - may I add just one more?

I wangled an introduction and found him absolutely charming. I finally asked why he wasn't dancing. He replied, "I wear a brace on one leg and I limp. I don't want to inflict that on anybody. I said, "Maybe we could try the next slow number." Well, we did, and he was a magnificent dancer. I felt like a duchess. We attracted a lot of attention, and before long he was waltzing off with somebody else. After that, nearly every girl there wanted to dance with him because he was clearly the best slow dancer in the room. Wherever he is, I hope he's healthy and happy and still dancing. Americans Enjoy Caroling Only Recently

By GENE WHITE

Written for UPI The first Christmas carol written in America was composed in 1642, but it was more than 250 years later that the practice of caroling in this country was established

Although one of the oldest customs associated with Christmas, the practice as we know it in this country did not emerge until 1910.

Ironically, it happened in Boston - the strictest of the Puritan colonies where at one time Christmas observances, including caroling, were against the In 1895 a man named Frederick M. Briggs of Newtonville, Mass., after spending a musical Christmas in the British Isles, wished for a more joyful celebration of the season in America. Sometime later he organized Boston's first Christmas Eve celebration - the Beacon Hill Carols. Nothing permanent came of it, but at least it made enough of an impact that it was not forgotten. Fifteen years later, a woman known to us today only as Mrs. Cram remembered legends of medieval England where "waits" - night watchmen - went caroling through the streets. She remembered stories of wassailers (private carolers) who sang carols from house to house. As she became involved in holiday preparations, her Christmas spirit grew She found that many of her neighbors also had a high festive mood. Several agreed to meet with lighted candles one evening about dusk and go through the neighborhood singing carols, as the Briggs' group had done a few years

carolers and continued the singing from house to house.

The evening was such a success that another caroling party was planned the next year. Results were even greater, and the group expanded each year.

Third In A Series

Within a few years the practice had spread to other communities, and Boston's Beacon Hill became famous as the home of American caroling.,

The first American Christmas carol was written in 1642 at the height of Puritan opposition to Christmas. It was the following year, 1643, that Christmas was outlawed in England, and 16 years later that holiday observances were outlawed in the Massachusetts Bay Colony (Boston).

The composer, a missionary whose name has been lost, that year built a small chapel of cedar and fir deep in the woods of Ontario between Lake Hu-

For the Christmas of 1642, the Huron Indians arranged their own manger scene. Instead of constructing the scene as it might have been in far off Palestine - a scene which perhaps none of them could have understood - the missionary helped the Indians make a scene similar to their surroundings.

For the Christmas worship service that year, the missionary wrote the following carol, the first in the Americas:

'Twas in the moon at wintertime

When all the birds had fled That mighty-Gitchy Monitou

Sent angel choirs instead

Within a lodge of broken bark

The tender Babe was found. A ragged robe of rabbit skin

Enwrapped His beauty round

And as the hunter braves drew nigh, The angels song rang loud and high

The earliest moon of wintertime

Is not so round and fair As was the ring of glory

On the helpless Infant there While chiefs from far before Him knelt

With gifts of fox and beaver pelts

O children of the forest free, O sons of Manitou

The holy Child of earth and heaven Is born today for you.

Come kneel before this radiant Boy Who brings you beauty, peace and joy

Carter's Urban Policy Hints At No New Spending Increases

tion officials say President Carter will March. seek almost no new spending for cities in next month's budget message, but may ask for a supplementary appropriation

Post Office Worker Aids Santa Claus

DALLAS (AP) - Writing letters to Santa Claus does more good than some cynics might suspect.

That's because of Carol Keeley, 42, and the fulltime job to which she switches every year from Thanksgiving to Christmas Day. She reads all the mail sent to the personal post office box of Santa, drafts replies to more than 5,000 letters and forwards them from Dallas to the North Pole for signatures by St. Nick.

The rest of the year Mrs. Keeley works for the U.S. Postal Service at more prosaic chores. "Mail begins to come in heavily in November," she said, "but Santa gets. mail all year long.

It's delivered to his special address the North Pole, Dallas, Texas 75200.

Most of the letters come from children sending lists of what they want for Christmas. About 50 especially needy youngsters every year send a special plea for themselves or their parents. In the special cases Mrs. Keeley arranges for volunteers to help where Santa often cannot.

"People always call us every year to see if there is any way they can help out needy individuals," she said. "I'll give them one of the letters from a needy child and have them check out the letter. It's then up to the volunteer to decide if he wants to help.

One such letter this year came from a Dallas girl of 12 who wants a trip for her mother. She wrote, "I want my Mom to visit Orange in SOUTHEAST Texas and see my grandparents. We haven't seen them in 315 years and my grandpa is very sick. My father is also sick but my brother can take care of him while Mom and me visit my grandparents."

Mrs. Keeley said, "Hopefully, we'll be able to get her a trip to Orange. Volunteers in the business com-munity provide stamps, envelopes and stationery for the Santa replies drafted by Mrs. Keeley.

"One of the most touching letters I ever received," she recalled, "was from a woman with two daughters. The daughters had been told in school that there was no Santa Claus.

"This woman didn't want anything for Christmas — all she wanted was for Santa to tell her daughters that he was alive as the spirit of Christmas. And that's what we did."

The decision to delay urban aid decisions resulted from Carter's rejection of a proposal to focus help on "distressed cities" drafted by the Cabinet-level Urban and Regional Policy Group.

Carter met with budget officials and the group's proposal. One White House official, who asked not to be identified, said Tuesday that Carter viewed the initial draft of urban recommendations as a laundry list of budget fantasies disguised as an urban policy.

The proposal would increase urban spending by $5 billion to $10 billion, but administration sources now say a $2 billion target would be more realistic.

The policy group urged several new programs, such as creation of an urban development bank and a $1 billion public works fund, as well as spending increases for current economic development, employment and urban aid efforts.

The policy is being reworked by aides to domestic adviser Stuart Eizenstat and officials at the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Highlights of the urban plan may be included in next month's State of the Union message, but the full policy is unlikely to be completed before March.

White House and HUD officials say that while most urban spending decisions will be delayed until March, several areas will be covered in January's budget message. Among them would be more money for youth employment, a priority with Congress due to high teen-age jobless rates, and extension of the revenue sharing program that funnels federal aid to cities with high unemployment.

One White House official said it is unfortunate that the urban policy is being discussed at the same time budget-cutters are completing the 1979 fiscal plan. The secretary of HUD, Patricia Harris, was in Carter's office on Tuesday arguing met the budget office axe.

HUD officials say they are not disappointed by Carter's decision to delay spending decisions on new urban pro-

The president has never received a substantive briefing on the urban proposals," said HUD spokesman William Wise. 'It's crazy to make money decisions before you make policy decisions. There was no indication how the White House would alter the evolving urban plan, except that orders were out to make it "sharper and more specific." One official said Carter remains committed to emphasizing aid to hardship cities, but is aware that any national urban plan must also offer help to cities in better condition.

He said the Domestic Council may wish to put more emphasis on long-range programs of economic development rather than seeking big increases in current federal programs that ease everyday budget problems faced by mayors and other local government leaders.

'We're talking about an opportunity to take a long-term look at urban problems," the official said. "Job levels are eroding in many of these cities. We've got to be prepared to talk about stabilizing

Rep. Lester Wolff said the United States would abstain from voting on the proposed budget despite serious reservations about it, but would "seriously consider" voting against future budgets unless excesses were removed and salaries of U.N. personnel were kept "in line."

The New York Democrat, a member of the American delegation, noted that the United States opposed items comprising 40 percent of the budget as unnecessary. and said he was prepared to sponsor legislation in Congress to withhold U.S. contributions for such bodies as the new special unit on Palestinian rights.

The immediate, permanent and binding arms embargo was adopted unanimously following South Africa's suppression of black organizations and newspapers. This action, in turn, came after demonstrations protesting the death in South African police custody Sept. 12 of black consciousness leader Steve Biko.

The 1977 General Assembly also adopted a cluster of non-binding resolutions denouncing South Africa's apartheid system, including one urging a cutoff in for-eign investment and an oil embargo.

Sermons Stress Peace Roman rite and Protestant churches usually look very much like their western counterparts. Sermons speak of the importance of world peace and what that means in relation to the Christmas cele-

Catholic. Protestant and Orthodox Christian churches usually are stuffed fuller than a roast turkey.

Most believers attend midnight services because the holy day is not a holiday in the Soviet Union.

State's Lures Ignored Young people will most likely turn out in force this year, although officials claim the churches are havens only for old babushkas (old women) nearing death. The state probably will do its best to draw attention from the religious ceremonies. Last Easter, it offered midnight showings of western movies and televised rock concerts. The churches were still filled to capaci-

outside of churches. Many Services Held Also from Moscow, UPI correspondent

Douglas Stanglin reports on the Russian Orthodox celebration: Thousands of worshipers, mostly elderly, pack the city's remaining 45 orthodox churches for midnight rites each Jan. 7 despite bitter cold and steady anti-Christmas propaganda. Churches often hold four or five services during the three-day celebration.

Crowds gather early.
Old women bundled in woolen overcoats, scarves and black felt boots begin arriving as much as two hours before the services. Some bring small folding stools or mats to sit on.

Young women rush in briefly on their way home from work.

Bearded, robed priests carrying vials of incense move through the crowd. With a small golden brush, they paint tiny crossss on women's foreheads, then present their rings to be kissed.

The highlight of Moscow's celebration is services at Yelokhovsky Cathedral, officiated by Patriarch Pimen of Moscow

The elaborately decorated cathedral, its altar richly furbished in gold, is traditionally filled to capacity. From the balconies, two choirs sing Russian Christmas anthems, joining the baritone voices of the priests.

Many of Latvia's 2.5 million inhabitants still celebrate Christmas unofficially. If Dec. 25 happens to fall on a weekday, people try to take off from work to join families and close relatives. Because the Soviet New Year a week later includes decorating a fir tree, Latvians can buy their "ziemsvetku egle" (literally, Christmas tree) at government-run shops. Although artificial decorations are available, many Latvians still prefer to trim their trees with such things as fruit. brightly wrapped pieces of candy and spicy pepper cookies

Fire Hazard Courted Many shun electric bulbs for candles, although newspapers campaign yearly against the fire hazard they pose.

Before dinner on Christmas Eve, the whole family bathes and dons best clothes. This is a carryover from the days when baths preceded special occasions, especially among the country folk who insist on baptism as a condition of Some Latvians say today's traditional looking after the child for a working Christmas Eve dinner consists of "whatever is available in the stores." The government tends to stock the stores better during the holiday season. But last year, Riga residents lined up for up to two

Legal Fees Object Of New Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Winners of federal civil law suits would find it easier to recover attorneys' fees if a bill proposed by the Carter administration Tuesday is enacted.

The Justice Department said the proposal would remove financial barriers that discourage many individuals and groups from filing suit over environmental, civil rights and consumer concerns.

'The major innovation would be in public interest litigation," said Peter Rient, a Justice Department lawyer who helped draft the bill. "It is not always possible now to recover a fee when you

Current federal practice permits the award of legal fees only under limited circumstances.

The plan, unveiled Tuesday, would also apply to cases in which the government prevails in a suit brought for what the court finds to be frivolous or malicious

Rient said the proposal was partly inspired by a Supreme Court decision in 1975 which denied attorneys' fees to environmentalists who sued to block construction of the Alaska pipeline.

The environmentalists won a court-ordered change in the pipeline's route, but the Supreme Court ruled they were not entitled to recover the court costs.

The bill states: "A private party would be eligible for an award if he prevailed in substantial measure ... and if he acted in the public interest or his opponent acted frivolously or in bad faith "By contrast, the government could recover attorneys' fees only if, as a defendant, it prevailed completely, or as to all but an insignificant portion of the matter in controversy, and the opposing party acted frivolously or in bad faith.'

Assistant Attorney General Daniel J. Meador described the plan as an effort "to lessen economic impediments of meritorious cases."

Under existing federal law, a litigant can recover court costs if he is representing a general fund and is not the only one who gains, such as in a fraud judgment against a labor union pension fund. A defendant can also be reimbursed if a suit is deemed frivolous or if it is in a specific category established by Congress, such as many civil rights suits. Rient noted that since the mid-1960s a number of federal laws have included provisions for recovery of attorneys' fees to encourage public interest suits. But he said if the Justice Department proposal is adopted, that incentive would be extended generally to cover all such laws even if they lacked specific authori-

He added that most states have adopted similar rules governing legal fees in

Murder Suspect Dies In Brooklyn Shootout

NEW YORK (AP) - A man who was wanted for murder walked up to a patrol car near a Brooklyn police station and opened fire Tuesday, touching off a shootout in which he and a retired detective were shot to death and three other officers wounded, authorities said

Police said the shooting erupted about 1:30 p.m., within yards of the Sixth Avenue stationhouse in the Park Slope section of Brooklyn.

Officials did not immediately release the name of the retired detective. Police identified the other dead man as William Wakefield, 27, and said he was wanted for the murder of a bank manager during a robbery at the East New York Savings Bank last Thursday

Detective Vito Navarra said he and another officer had planned to get a warrant for Wakefield's arrest from a court about the time of the shooting and suggested that the wounded officers might have been assigned the task of looking for

According to James Taylor, acting police commissioner, the retired detective was giving information on a minor traffic accident he had been involved in to officer Larry Broom, while Broom's partner, Fred Connor, interviewed the other drivreadily apparent reason, started shooting at the men, killing the retired detective.

The shots drew two other officers, Fred Simon and detective James Stewart, who opened fire on Wakefield and killed him, police said.

Stewart was shot in one arm, Broom was critically wounded in the chest and one arm and Connors was hit in his right leg but was listed in satisfactory condition, according to Methodist Hospital.

According to Chief of Detectives John Keenan, Wakefield, a former security guard, was suspected of a number of bank robberies.

Authorities theorized that since he was masked at the time of the shoot-out, Wakefield may have been about to try another robbery nearby. Temperatures were in the upper 30s to low 40s and few other persons on the streets were wearing such a cold-weather mask.

Perry Garber, who operates a store on Flatbush Avenue, said he heard sounds "like firecrackers" and looked out his window to see "cops all over the place" running to the scene.

"Then I saw people ducking behind cars," he said. "There were so many I couldn't count them."

American Dollar Plunges On European Markets

By The Associated Press

The U.S. dollar plunged to historic lows against Swiss, West German, Dutch and Belgian currencies in Europe, staged a late recovery in New York and slipped slightly in Tokyo against the yen in foreign exchange trading Tuesday.

The embattled American currency fell on European money markets to less than the value of two Swiss francs, a psychological barrier that once breached precipitated increased downward pressure on the dollar.

Dealers on both sides of the Atiantic said that dollar buying in New York and technical factors late in the day resulted in a slight rise for the dollar from its aftcroon lows in Europe. They added that there were indications the dollar would continue to gain some strength overnight. In New York, the dollar fell against the rope's strongest currencies. It gained against the French franc, the yen and the Canadian dollar. The British pound closed lightly higher.

Dealars said wide rate swings were due to the extreme pre-holiday thinness of the market. "Anything and everything is moving the market," a dealer said. "For all practical purposes, there is no foreign exchange market."

"The average deal is down to 1 million marks," a trader said, with each dollar transaction closing at a much lower rate than the previous one.

The possibility of an oil price freeze also influenced the market In Europe and New York, dealers said. If the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries freezes oil prices, some dealers said the dollar would benefit. But others said an much unless it eventually translated into a reduced U.S. trade deficit. All dealers agreed an increase in oil prices would hurt the dollar.

In Caracas, Venezuelan President Carlos Andreas Perez opened the OPEC ministers meeting with a call for an increase of between 5 percent and 8 percent in oil prices.

In Tokyo, the dollar fell 1.400 yen to close at 240.725 yen, compared with 242.125 yen Monday. Analysts in Tokyo expect the dollar to continue falling because of Japan's large trade surplus with the United States. But they added that the dollar probably will remain steady as the Christmas holiday approaches.

In Paris, one dealer said the dollar seems doorned to drop further against the Swiss franc and Deutschemark over may get a temporary respite once or twice due to profit-taking."

Meanwhile, the price of gold, which in contrast to the dollar has been very calm lately, moved down slightly in value Tuesday.

The dollar plunged to a daytime low of 1.9955 Swiss francs Tuesday, at which point the Swiss National Bank entered the market to support the dollar, dealers said. It recorded a late rate in Zurich of 1.9975 francs, up slightly from the low but well below Monday's 2.0285 francs.

In Frankfurt the dollar fell below 2.10 marks to 2.0975 before the West German central bank entered the market. The dollar had a late rate of 2.1110 marks, below Monday's rate of 2.1160. Today's fall, on top of other recent severe drops, makes the 50-cent mark a real possibility.

Four years ago it was worth 31 cents. It also seems to indicate that last week's measures taken by the German central bank to stem the dollar's fall are insufficient, dealers said. The dollar's steady drop in value this year is a result of the United State's economic problems-inflation, high unemployment and a trade deficit expected to reach $30 billion by the end of the year. The U.S. policy has been to allow the dollar to fall rather than intervening in the marketplace to support it.

travelers abroad are able to buy less with their U.S. money. And the cost of Japanese. Western German, Swiss and other foreign goods in the United States is greater, making them less competitive with American products. In New York, closing rates for the dollar included 2.1213 marks, up from 2.1070 Monday: 4.7528 French francs, down from 4.7551; 2.0288 Swiss francs, up from 2.0128; 240.38 yen, down from 240.78. The Canadian dollar cost 91.53 U.S. cents

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) - Final exams loomed 36 hours away. But the girls of Aquinas Hall shunned their books to decorate for Christmas.

The best-dressed room was to win $25, the most elaborate dorm at Providence College would get $100.

Lights and popcorn were strung through the halls. "Merry Christmas" was scrawled on windows with spray snow. There was a traditional snowball in, shoying girls to the windows.7 In room 406, which won the $25 decorating prize, three freshman girls smashed the windows with their fists.

Ignoring the pleas of fire fighters rushing to raise ladders, freshmen Barbara Feeney of Taunton, Mass., and Donna Galligan of Closter, N.J., jumped 40 feet to their deaths as flames consumed the walls behind them.

Roommate Christine Manuel of Newport, R.I. waited. Seconds later, she was Four coeds - trying to reach a narrow staircase - were found dead of smoke inhalation. A fifth was dead on arrival at a nearby hospital. Twelve were hospitalized - three with severe burns.

Outside Aquinas Hall, the scene was grim. Shivering girls in nightgowns were bundled in blankets and escorted away.

Fire fighters worked quickly in the predawn darkness with the help of students. They helped raise ladders and even lifted parked cars out of the way so trucks could get through.

Corey Shaker, a volunteer fireman back home in Middlebury, Conn., brought his camera to take pictures but put it away. "Being a fireman, I just couldn't see

"We can do this because this is a school that has a common denominator of Christian faith," said the Rev. James Driscoll. a religion professor. "The spirit of the college will see everybody through."

Some Dominican friars and other college representatives attended wakes and funerals for all of the victims and offered

Ford Eyes Political Arena Despite Year Of Absence

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Calling President Carter's new taxcut package insufficient, Gerald Ford Tuesday proposed a gradual $68 billion reduction over the next four years to hold the real tax burden at its 1977 levels.

Ford, in a dinner speech after meeting with Carter, also got in a good-natured

"I must tell you that being a former president is a most enjoyable experience. As a matter of fact, I can honestly say that I recommend it to President Carter at the earliest possible date."

As Ford interpreted it in his speech to the American Enterprise Institute, Carter's reported plan to trim taxes by $20 billion to $30 billion next year is "just not good enough ... What we need now are not paper tax cuts, but real tax cuts."

He said the United States is in danger of creating a new class of Americans: the middle class poor. Under the administration's approach, there still would be a net tax boost of some $45 billion by 1981, he

Saying the target should be the middle class; Ford explained he was urging a commitment to "holding the total or real tax burden exactly where it is today."

"Instead of allowing inflation and other factors to push up taxes every year, as we do now," he said, "we should enact a steady series of tax cuts to hold down the tax burden to its current level. The total tax cut that I recommend would amount to approximately $68 billion by 1981."

To keep the economy from being overly disrupted, the cuts should be phased in

Ford called the Carter plan "modest," and one that will "only barely offset the tax increases" imposed through inflation, the Social Security law, and any new energy levies that may be enacted. With so large a tax cut, Ford conceded it would be difficult to balance the federal budget. But he said it was all the more important for Carter and the Congress to hold down spending.

The troubles that afflict our economy today are long-term in nature, and they cannot be solved by overnight stimulants," he said, and the solutions will require "great acts of political courage."

Ford also said the failure to enact needed energy legislation this year, "after all the fanfare, is a grave setback for the Ford, who leaves for Denver Wednes-

Q. I had my 62nd birthday in June and my husband will have his sixty-eighth in January. I am covered under my own Sochil Security for working years for the minimum coverage and my husband is still working and has always received the maximum in salary.

I am contemplating applying for my own benefits at this time, but I do not want to jeapordize any benefits I might receive as a widow. I have been told that if Lapply at this time, I have to apply for the wife's benefits. If my husband should retire before I am 65, then I would go onto the reduced wife's benefits which would also mean if I am widowed before 63. I would have a big reduction in widow's benefits.

I would also like to know if I do not colleet on either my own or the wife's benefils before 65, whether I could collect my own until age 65 and then go on full widow's benefit at that time. - D.W.

A. If you want to draw Social Security benefits on your own record at age 62 you will have to take a reduction in benefits. At age 62 you would get 80 percent of your age 65 benefits. If you sign for your own retirement benefits and your husband is not drawing his, you are not eligible to draw wife's benefits; you have to sign up for them - you are not automatically put on Social Security wife's bene-

Once a person starts drawing his or her Social Security retirement at a reduced rate, that person will continue to receive this reduced rate as long as he or she is drawing benefits. This also means he or she will get reduced rates if he or she goes on wife's or widow's benefits at age 65 if benefits have been started early. But, of course, you have to take into consideration that if you do take early Social Spearity benefits at a rate reduction you also will be drawing for three more years than if you wait until you are 65. Your husband never received any So-Security benefits, then as a widow, our percentage of his benefits are figared on his unreduced, age 65 benefit. If our husband was drawing Social Security benefits at his death, then your widow's benefits percentage is based on the amount of money he was drawing. If you are age 65, and become a widow and haven't drawn any Social Security benefits, then you'd be entitled to 100 percent of our deceased husband's benefit.

Textile Center Gets 'Twister' Machine

The American Volkmann Corp. of Charlotte, N.C., has donated a "Two-for One Twister" to the Textile Research Center (TRC) at Texas Tech University.

This type, considered a significant advancement over conventional ring twisters, is designed to produce plied yarn at least twice as fast as older models, according to Jim Parker, TRC director.

The twister incorporates four types of Volkmann machines and will work with four different spindle sizes. A unique feature is that it can twist and singe at the same time, a great advantage in processing of thread, he saids.

Parker said that because of the twister's great versatility it will be used for producing two and three-ply yarns in a variety of research programs. Cotton wool, mohair and man-made fibers will be used on it.

Since we first learned about this new concept of twisting, we have wanted this machine in our operation." he said. "We consider it to the latest development is plying yarns.

Valued at $40,000, it is the only one of its kind in the Southwest. Parker said that the TRC's fabric work has increased considerably within the past two years and a greater demand for plied yarns will make the twister an asset of the TRC's

The TRC at Texas Tech employs a fulltime staff of 55 researchers. Current emphasis is on open-end spinning, garment development for geriatric and handiwool and mohair in yarns and fabrics produced in the cotton system of manufacturing, said Parker.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN: THE DRINKING CONTEST

Santa And The Pigwidgen

(Synopsis: The Pigwidgen says he will lift the curse if Claus can eat more pig than he. The Pigwidgen eats five except the bones but Claus secretly throws his five pigs in the fire which eats bones and all.)

By LUCRECE BEALE

The Pigwidgen could scarcely believe it. While he had eaten five roast pigs leaving only the bones. Claus had managed his five roasts bones, tails and all.

"I have won the contest," said Claus. "You must now lift the curse."

"No. no." cried the Pigwidgen. There must be a drinking contest. If you can drink more than I. perhaps I will lift the curse."

He rushed out to the great hall and ordered the pygmies to bring two urns of chocolate milk. The urns were so large and so heavy it took 15 pygmies to carry each one. They set them on a cloth-covered table and went off to get the milk.

While they were gone Claus said, "Before we begin I would like to step outside for a breath of

"By all means," agreed the Pigwidgen. "Take your time."

Claus went out with Tweedleknees. He told the elf that it was the fire and not he that ate up all the roast pigs. "But how can I drink so large an urn of milk!" he groaned.

"Drink what you can and do not worry," said the elf. "I shall use my wits as you advised and I am sure I will think of something

The elf scurried back to the castle and left Claus walking gloomily by the lake. Meanwhile, the Pigwidgen has been busy. While Claus was away the little creature secretly inserted seven hot water bottles beneath his shirt. Then he called for the contest to begin

Claus sat at one end of the clothcovered table and the Pigwidgen sat at the other end. Patrick Tweedleknees was nowhere to be

"Where could he be?" wondered Claus anxiously. "If ever wits were needed it is now!" He thought he might somehow dump out his milk if only the elf were there to distract the Pigwidgen's

THe two great urns were filled with foaming chocolate milk. They were too heavy and brimming to lift from the table. The only way to drink was through large rubber straws.

"Begin!" ordered the Pigwidg-

Once more Claus looked around for Tweedleknees. The elf was gone. There was nothing for it but to drink. HE bent over his urn and sucked desperately on his straw. He drank and drank and drank. Slowly the milk went down until half the urn was empty.

Try as he would Claus could not swallow another drop. He sank back in his chair and gasped, "I have done!

The Pigwidgen bent over his own urn and made mighty sucking noises. Actually the end of his straw led to the seven hot water bottles under his shirt and not to his mouth at all.

The hot water bottles burst, spilling chocolate everywhere.

THe milk flowed from the urn until all the hot water bottles were full but when the Pigwidgen looked up the urn was still full The Pigwidgen blinked in surprise. He began to drink the milk himself. He sucked and he huffed and he puffed and he swallowed and he gasped and still the urn was full The Pigwidgen's face turned blue and his stomach swelled. Suddenly there was an awful explosion. The seven hot water bottles burst open and spattered chocolate milk all over the table.

The Pigwidgen stared popeyed at his urn still brimming with milk. Claus leaped to his feet crying. "I have won!

The recovered alcoholic still has to drink SOMETHING, usually great quantities of coffee, and that opens up possibilities suggested by Michael Weir, relaxation therapist at a chemical dependency treatment center.

"All kinds of things for making coffee or tea are good," he said. "You've got percolators, drip machines, expresso machines - the latter are great but they run around $150 to $200 - or various kinds of little teapots.

Violence Marks Christmas In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) -Silent night, holy night,

'All is calm, all is bright The immortal strains of Franz Gruber's hymn sanctifying the first Christmas morn wafted across the frosty December

The packed congregation in the small Presbyterian church in southwest Belfast rendered it with all the traditional Christ-

But to the three muffled figures crouched in the ghettolike crumbling alleyway, the hymn carried no message of hope, no triumph of Christian rejoicing.

In their hands they carried gasoline bombs, in their hearts sectarian hatred. Round yon Virgin mother and child Holy infant, so tender so mild.

In her three-bedroomed, two-story home near Black Road, Mrs. Stefanie Trodkin put her infant son into his cot, lingering a moment before softly closing the bedroom door. "Sleep in heavenly peace "Sleep in heavenly peace."

The first of the three dark hooded figures darted across the street, weaving between the shafts of light spearing out like

But the mission was no prank. The trio was intent on spelling out their anti-Christian message with bricks and bombs. "Silent night, holy night "Shepherds quake at the sight.

For the moment, the only sound to break the silence of the night was the exultant singing of the hymn.

Mrs. Trodkin could hear the triumphant verses as she tiptoed down the carpeted stairway. She had hardly reached the last step when the first gasoline-filled milk bottle crashed through the window of her tiny living room, smashing into jagged pieces of glass, but mercifully not touching off a blaze.

"Get out or we will burn you out," screamed a hate-filled voice from the

In the terrible, frightening silence that followed the attack, the gentle refrains from the church could still be heard. "Christ the Savior is born, "Christ the Savior is born.

A second crashing noise seemed to shake the seemingly fragile little home. This time it was a brick smashing through the front window.

'There's more to come unless you clear out." the snarling voice shouted. "We'll give you no peace." "Silent night, holy night "Son of God, loves light."

The gentle refrain seemed to shock the intruders into silence. They spoke no Mrs. Trodkin ran upstairs, picked up her infant and held him tightly to her

"Oh God," she sobbed. "May this little one know a peace denied to me. Let him grow up in a world where we can all pay our honor to Thee together in peace. And from the church came the thundering crescendo: "Jesus, Lord at Thy birth, "Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.

Seminoles Use Key, Find Ground Game

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Larry Key rushed for 1117 yards during the '77 regular season, more than half again as many he had gained in any previous campaign. The main reason, he figures, is quite simple.

"I've gotten the ball a lot more this year," the 5-10, 180-pound senior said. The statistics bear him out.

The most carries Key had in any previous season was 144 in 1976. He had 386 rushes in his first three seasons. This year, however, he's carried the ball 239 times, and his yardage figure took a significant jump.

In seasons past, Key rushed for 602, 522 and 712 yards, averaging 4.9, 4.4 and 4.9 yards per carry, respectively. This season, the yardage total exceeded by 505 his earlier high. However, his average was 4.7, quite similar to his averages in past years and further indicating the value of the extra carries.

"I think if I can get the ball, I can gain the yards," Key said, via telephone this week, matter-of-factly. "I had never had the ball a whole lot before. Our offensive line has really helped this year, too. It was really young at the start, but it really jelled and came on strong.'

Second-year head coach Bobby Bowden concurred with Key's theory. 'We've gone to him a lot more this year, and he's done a fine job for us. We used the veer offense last season, but we switched to the "I" this year because our quarterbacks don't really run well enough for the veer. In the I, of course, the tailback is your main runner.'

Key's emergence as a top-flight performer-he finished second in the nation in all-purpose running in addition to his rushing total-hasn't surprised Bowden.

"He started for three years before this, and he played well for me last year. He had a good spring and a good fall, so I'm not suprised at the season he's had. He's the finest little runner I've coached."

Key, who holds every Florida State individual rushing record, has the quickness one would expect of an outstanding runningback, but his strength is somewhat suprising and, obviously, a fine as-compared notes on prospects as well as their receptions.

"Both of us have gotten good receptions," Robertson said. "Heck, we're both working for a dad-gummed good school. I know that not one of the young men that I talked to that was committed to come for a visit has backed out. And I think that's the case with Bud. Some have changed weekends when they're coming, but none canceled competely.

Both Casey and Robertson were recruiting for a school they knew little about, had seen only briefly. They were working for a new boss, too.

"I JUST TRIED to sell them on why I came to Tech," the new coach commented "I told them that I was working for Rex, I knew him and I knew he was a

"But, basically, I just wanted to introduce myself as a new coach, that was working for a great school, with a great reputation, and therefore both of us should be interested in it. "I tell them that we could learn about Texas Tech together. I told them that the university (football program) was in great hands and will not miss a beat. "I tried to sell them that we have a good program.

"And I've had a good reception. Ricky Bates (a former Tech athlete and student assistant) has been down in that area and did an excellent job of staying on the road and keeping the athletes that we're interested in abreast of what was happening, then reassuring them that the program was ir. good hands.

"I've gotten a warm feeling from both the players and the coaches."It's hard to assess where we stand, but so far, it's looked good," said Robertson. "We're going back home now-spend Christmas at home-and get together with the staff cause of his quickness and strength.

"Even though they have good quarterbacks and receivers, he's the main man of their offense. He makes things happen. If you stop him, you have a good chance of controlling their offense.

Florida State has a very good passing game-it ranks 10th in the nation in passing with 224.2 per-game average and a 54.5 percent completion rate-but Key has had a hand in that. His running keeps the opposing defense from concentrating solely on the pass.

Of course, it works the other way, too. The success of FSU's passing attack means that opponents can't stack their defenses to stop key alone. Key, who has gained more than 100 yards in each of his last five games, has caught 22 passes this season for 245 yards and one touchdown. He is the team's third-leading receiver.

Florida State's success this season-a 9-2 mark, the No. 20 national ranking by Associated Press and the Tangerine Bowl berth-hasn't surprised Key.

"It may seem strange, but I never anticipate losing a game,' he said. "I've always had confidence in this team. You have to go all the way back to spring training. You could feel then that we were getting everything together. "I think Coach Bowden has been a real big factor for us. He's made us a much closer unit than we were before." In the three seasons immediately be fore Bowden's arrival in 1976, the Seminoles posted 0-11, 1-10 and 3-8 marks. Bowden's first team won its last three games to finish 5-6, setting up the 1977 Key, of course, hopes to stage a rousing Allison Headed For Canada?

Texas Tech quarterback Rodney Allison is reported ready to sign a three-year professional contract with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League following the Raiders' Tangerine Bowl game here Friday night, The Avalanche-Journal has learned.

Allison, a Heisman Trophy candidate before the 1977 season began, has had a subpar year because of a cracked bone he sustained in his left leg during the third game of the year against Texas A&M. He has started the last four Raider games but hasn't been at full speed because of the injury.

The salary considerations of the contract have not been revealed.

Two Tech products are currently in the CFL. Ecomet Burley, an exall-SWC performer for the Raiders, has played defensive end for Toronto the past two seasons. Quarterback Joe Barnes, an all-SWC choice in 1973, has been with the Montreal Alouettes the last two years, although his 1977 season was cut short by a shoulder separa--CARTER CROMWELL

WOLFFORTH (Special)-Tonya Ivy's 33 points boosted Frenship girls past Coronado 63-40 here Tuesday.

A close contest until the end of the first quarter, Frenship pulled ahead with 20 points in the second quarter while holding Coronado to only 5. Frenship's Vanessa Parker tallied 12 of those 20 points and Ivy added the other 8.

The two teams battled to a nearly even in the second half. Frenship is now 9-5 for the season while Coronado came out of the contest 8-5.

Parker trailed Ivy in total points with 18, as the two players accounted for most of the scoring for Frenship. Kathy Wyett topped the losers with 17 and Dona Boyd

To Western New Mexico

ALAMOSA, Colo. (Special) - Western New Mexico University rolled to an early lead and went on to drub Lubbock Christian College 98-78 in the third-place game of the Adams State Basketball Tournament Tuesday.

The Western team, which fell to Eastern New Mexico Monday night in the first round, built a 48-38 halftime lead and continued to increase its lead throughout the second 20 minutes.

Johnny Joe Marrejo paced Western with 16 points, with Jay Johnson and Tim Reese each tossing in 12 more. Dale Parker had 10 points.

However, Lubbock Christian's Lamar Sampy drilled 10 of 15 field shots and made five of six from the line for 25 points, the most by a Chaparral this season, Lowell Walker of LCC grabbed a dozen rebounds as the Chaparrals outrebounded their foes 37-26.

LCC will take a Christmas break following the tournament and its next game will be at Oklahoma Baptist University on Jan. 6. The loss dropped LCC to 1-12 for the

Landry Lauds Bears' Payton As Best Back

DALLAS (AP)-Dallas coach Tom Landry praised Chicago's Walter Payton Tuesday as the best runningback in the National Football League and said the Cowboys would have to "slow him down" to defeat the Bears in the first round of the National Conference play-

"Nobody is going to stop him," said Landry. The only thing that stopped him last week (against the New York Giants) was a frozen field.'

Asked if there was any particular stress area for the Cowboys when Payton got the ball, Landry answered "Yeh, there's pressure on all 11 men."

KC Hires Levy As Head Man

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Mary Levy, fresh from coaching the top team in the Canadian Football League, signed a five-year contract Tuesday as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, one of the two worst squads in the National Football League this season

"Usually when a team is 2-12, it's better than that," said Levy, 49, in reference to the Chiefs' 1977 mark

'And usually when a team is 12-2, it's probably not that good. I'm very pleased and honored to come to Kansas City. I'm looking forward to setting our sights very Levy led the Montreal Alouettes to the Grey Cup championship this season, their second title in his five years as coach there. Montreal built a 50-34-4 record in his tenure.

Chiefs' owner Lamar Hunt, who made the coaching announcement at a hastily called news conference, praised Levy as one of the brightest people I ever met.

"Mary Levy brings with him a record of proven success in pro football," said Hunt, who Monday fired interim coach Tom Bettis. "In five years, he has made three appearances in the Canadian Football League's Grey Cup championship game and his 13-5 record this past season was the best in the league.

Levy, inheriting a team that will get the No. 2 choice in the next college draft, declined to speculate on who the Chiefs

"On evaluating our personnel, I think it would be very premature for me to say very much," he said. "I plan to sit down with Les Miller (Chiefs head scout) as soon as possible and I'm hoping to talk individually with all of the current staff."

Hunt on Monday fired the entire coaching staff, which was a holdover from the regime of Paul Wiggin, who was dismissed Oct. 31.

Levy stopped short of saying he might retain any of the former assistants.

"I've been on some staffs who were fired myself," Levy said with a smile. 'We'll just have to see what happens. But I do have some definite thoughts in mind as to who I might want on my 31-21 last year. Landry said, "Chicago is a much improved team. They play with a lot of confidence.

Landry said Chicago's lack of playoff experience shouldn't be such a big factor in Monday's game at Texas Stadium to determine an opponent for the Minnesota-Los Angeles survivor.

Chicago hasn't been in the playoffs since 1963 when the Bears defeated the New York Giants for the NFL title.

"The pressure is not as great on you when you haven't been in the playoffs because you are just very happy to be there. it's been a real struggle for them," said Landry.

Chicago won its last six games after Houston mauled the Bears 47-0 Nov. 6.

"I'm sure we'll be favored but all I know is that we made it to the Super Bowl two years ago as the wild card team," said Landry.

The Cowboys were rated 10-point favorites, and Landry said he felt better going into the playoffs with his team this year than he did in 1976.

'There is more of a confident feeling,' explained Landry. "I know (quarterback) Roger (Staubach) has a better feeling about the team. Of course, we have a running game this year. We have Tony Dorsett, and he can break for a touchdown on any play. We didn't have that against Los Angeles.

Paterno Fears ASU Defense

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Arizona State's defense could be the key to the outcome of Sunday's Fiesta Bowl contest between Penn State and Arizona State, according to Penn State-coach Joe Pater-

The eighth-ranked Nittany Lions had only one loss during the regular season a 24-20 defeat to Kentucky. Arizona State, co-champion of the Western Athletic Conference, has a 9-2 mark.

"The best defensive team we played all year is Kentucky," Paterno told members of the Phoenix Press Box Association on Tuesday. "And, I would say that Arizona State rates very favorably with Kentucky.

In addition, Paterno said he was impressed with the Sun Devils' offense.

You're not going to stop Arizona State's offense." added Paterno. You've just got to slow it down and play a delay game.

All season, ASU coach Frank Kush has belittled his offensive line, but Paterno says he thinks "their offensive line did quite well.'

"If you get 400 yards a football game against that kind of competition, and if you're doing it without an offensive line. then Kush is going to get my vote for coach of the year," said Paterno.

Meanwhile, Paterno acknowledged that there was disappointment when the team didn't get invited to the Orange Bowl. But the team is glad it's in the

Williams was named first team all-America quarterback by The Associated Press, edging Stanford's Guy Benjamin for the honor, and will be playing on Benjamin's home field Dec. 31 while Stanford is meeting LSU in the Sun Bowl at

"I hope he'll perform here like he has all of his years at Grambling," said Rob-

Another all-America, defensive lineman Art Still of Kentucky, will be doing his best to stop Williams.

Kentucky Coach Fran Curci, an assistant to East head coach George Welsh of Navy, noted that the 6-foot-7, 255-pound Still was voted the outstanding player in the Southeastern Conference and he called him "one of the very finest players I've coached.'

That statement put Still in a class with Minnesota Vikings runningback Chuck Foreman and Oakland Raiders linebacker Ted Hendricks, who played at Miami when Curci coached there. Frank Busse, managing director of the annual game played to benefit Shriners' hospitals, reported that ticket sales are over 50,000.

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Tony Dorsett, who rushed for over 1,000 yards in each of four seasons at the University of Pittsburgh, has given the school's athletic department a $1,000 share of his pro pay-

That gift has been matched by $1,000 from Nelson Goldberg, Dorsett's promotions agent.

The announcements were made Tuesday by Robert Heddleston, executive director of Pitt's Golden Panthers. "It's a great gesture on Tony's part,"

"He's been very good to Pitt, and Pitt has been very good to him.

Dr. Allan Watson, vice president for university affairs, said the basketball program was penalized because more than one paid visit to the campus was provided for two student athletes. The LSC agreed that the athletes would retain their elegibility if the cost of the trips is repaid by the time SWT plays again on

"As soon as the incident came to our attention, we initiated our own investigation and voluntarily reported our findings to the LSC," Watson said, "We are convinced the violations were inadvertent."

Both Miller and Watson expressed confidence in coach Dan Wall who has guided the team to a 6-2 season this year.

Under terms of the penalty, the school will be allowed to play in the LSC postseason championship tournament but cannot win the title or go to the NAIA playoffs. The top two teams in the LSC advance to the NAIA District 4 playoffs. Games played against SWT will count in the LSC standings.

Wall, in his first year at the San Marcos school, said: "We are going to play like we are playing for the LSC title. . . this is just a temporary roadblock we will over-

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Nebraska quarterback Randy Garcia, a criminal justice major, got some practical experience in larceny Monday night, stealing a Liberty Bowl victory from the grasp of North Carolina.

Garcia, who season-long shared quarterbacking duty with junior Tom Sorley. came off the bench nursing a cold to throw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes and rally the 13th-ranked Cornhuskers to a 21-17 victory over the 14thranked Tar Heels.

"This is a like a dream. I didn't even expect to play and I sure didn't want Tom to have to leave the game," the 6foot-1, 196-pound senior from Los Ange-

Sorley left the game in the third quarter with an elbow injury. With Nebraska trailing 17-7, Garcia threw an 11-yard TD pass to wingback Curtis Craiger and cut the margin to a field goal with 10:51 re-

Garcia, evading blitzing defenders, found a wide-open Tim Smith who scampered in untouched from 34 yards

Tar Heel Coach Bill Dooley who had seen his team jump go into the final period leading 17-7, said his squad played well enough to win.

"We have just as good a team as they do." he said. "The difference in the game was the two big pass plays. That's the way Nebraska does things-they run at you and run at you and, boom, hit you with a pass.

North Carolina, 8-3-1, led the nation in defense against scoring during the regular season allowing an average of 7.4 points per game. Nebraska, 9-3 and Big Eight runner-up, was the only team to score more than 14 points against the Atlantic Coast Conference champions. After a scoreless first quarter, North Carolina drove 60 yards in 11 plays for the game's first score-an 18-yard pass from quarterback Matt Kupec to tight end

Bobby Williams. Nebraska's Dodie Donnell knotted the game at 7-7 on a 15-yard scoring run, but the Tar Heels used their next possession to march 83 yards, scoring on a 10-yard pass from Kupec to fullback Bob Loomis.

Senior Tom Biddle kicked a career record and Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal to make it 17-7 with 4:17 left in the third quarter.

Then came Garcia, whose heroics won him the trophy for the Cornhuskers' top offensive player. Rival quarterback Matt Kupec, who riddled the Nebraska defense for 75 yards and two TDs on seven of 11 passes, was voted the game's most valuable player about five minutes before the game ended with North Carolina up

"This is certainly no great thrill considering the way the football game ended," Kupec said afterward. The two-foot-high MVP trophy sat on the dressing room floor unnoticed

End George Andrews took the Cornhusker defensive award and linebacker Buddy Curry was North Carolina's defen-

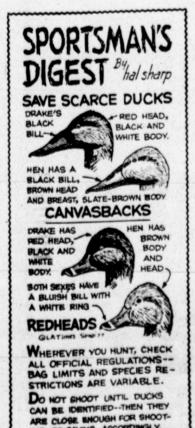

Parcells Picks First Assistant

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) - Bill Parcells, chosen last week as head coach of the Air Force Academy's football team, Tuesday selected Ken Hatfield of the University of Florida as offensive coordinator as his first appointee.

Parcells, a coach at Texas Tech, who will succeed retiring Falcon coach Ben Martin, said Hatfield had been offensive receivers and runningbacks coach at Florida the past four seasons.

Hatfield has been on the Florida staff since 1971, serving as defensive secondary coach for three years before moving to the offense. He was on the West Point staff in 1966 and 1967, the same period Parcells was on the Cadets' staff.

The new Air Force coach said Hatfield would join his staff in January.

Woody Shows Off Team Before Locking Gates

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Coach Woody Hayes sent his 101-man Ohio State football squad through a crisply choreo-graphed picture session Tuesday after-noon, exposing his team to public gaze for the last time before getting down to serious preparations for the Sugar Bowl.

Although Ohio State doesn't meet Alabama until Jan. 2, Hayes brought his team in early to avoid the chance that snow might cancel outdoor practices if he

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Fred Pancoast, whose Vanderbilt football teams have gone two seasons without a Southeastern Conference win, wants school officials to tell him where he stands.

"If I'm a detriment to Vanderbilt and the football program, they are free to buy up my contract or whatever," he said in an interview. "But if I'm not. . . well, I want someone to say so.'

Pancoast said he asked for a vote of confidence Monday afternoon when he met with athletic director Clay Stapleton and Chancellor Alexander Heard. He didn't get one.

"The chancellor is not one to make quick decisions," the coach said. "I came out assured he would do what's best for Vanderbilt. And, that's what I want. He gave me no timetable as far as hearing from him, but said that he would 'get on with the matter."

Pancoast said his needed to be certain of the program's direction. Two assistant coaches, offensive coordinator Tom Goode and quarterback mentor David Lee, have signed up with former Vandy coach Steve Sloan, recently hired away from Texas Tech by Mississippi.

This is a big reason I must have some people, as soon as possible, come off dead center and let me know something," Pancoast said. "It's not just for Pancoast got a four-year contract when he came to Vanderbilt from Memphis State three years ago. It was renewed after he coached a squad with 22 seniors to a 7-4 record in 1975. The Commodores had six seniors in 1976 and a young team again this year. Pancoast has logged consecutive 2-9 records. The contract, which pays an estimated $40,000 annually, was not extended at the end of 1976. It has two years to run.

A group of alumni and former lettermen calling themselves "Friends of Vanderbilt" have placed advertisements in both Nashville newspapers asking Heard to remove Pancoast, Stapleton and Pete Naylor, the assistant athletic director in charge of business.

"If I were or am a detriment to the football program at Vanderbilt, I'll be the first one to admit this and resign, Pancoast said. "But I don't want to hear it from people on the street or somebody that won't come to my office and tell me about it. I want to hear it from the chan-

ACU Coach Gets Honors

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Dewitt Jones, who guided Abilene Christian University to the Division I football championship in his rookie season of collegiate coaching, has been named NAIA Football Coach of the Year.

Jones, 34, a graduate of Abilene Christian, was selected in the balloting of NAIA coaches by a narrow margin over Otis Delaporte of Southwestern Oklahoma State.

Jones went to Abilene after a successful five-year stint in Texas high schools, His Abilene Christian Wildcats posted a 24-7 victory over Delaporte's Bulldogs in the Apple Bowl in Seattle. Abilene finished the season 11-1-1 and at the top of the NAIA national rankings.

Here are the coaches who were selected top mentors in their NAIA areas:

Bob Shoup, California Lutheran; Otis Delaporte, Southwestern Oklahoma; Ron Steiner, Wisconsin-Stevens Point; Jim Fuller, Jacksonville State (Ala.); Jim Harkema, Grand Valley State (Mich.); Bill Hayes, Winston-Salem State (N.C.), and Al Jacks, Clarion State (Pa.).

Pats Learn Of Death

BOSTON (AP) - Leon Gray, New England Patriots tackle, did not mention his brother died in a fire the day before when he played in his team's last National Football League game of the season

Gray had been criticized as not caring about the team when he refused to attend part of preseason camp because be-cause he was holding out for a better con-

The Patriots played the Baltimore Colts at Baltimore Sunday, a game that meant nothing to New England so far as getting into the playoffs this year. New England already had been eliminated.
"My mother called and told me... She told me to do what I had to do," said Gray in an interview the day after the Colts beat New England 30-24.

Preston Gray, 21, died Saturday in a fire in the family home in Mississippi.

Leon, the oldest of 10 children, said Preston was "the closest to me in the family.

Tuesday morning that his practices for the Sugar Bowl football game will be closed to press and public.

"All it would take would be for one writer who knows something about football to write about what he saw," Hayes id, mentioning-without going into detail—that he expects to add some knew wrinkles for Alabama.

Hayes personally directed every facet of Tuesday's session before the cameras, breaking up groups on one side of the field and forming new groups at other spots with crisp blasts of his whistle.

'We use these pictures in recruiting," he said, explaining a series of small-group poses of athletes from different of the country. "We send the pictures back to their hometown papers. I don't know how much good it does, but every little thing helps."

He told an assistant coach that he wanted a separate picture of athletes from the Canton-Akron area of Ohio. "Who do we area?," he asked, correcting his grammar in mid-sentence in a manner befitting an English major turned coach.

He was gracious, smiling and responsive, displaying none of the irritability that marked some of his sideline performances over the seasons.

The Sugar Bowl matchup will be the first meeting ever for Alabama and Ohio State. It's been 40 years since Ohio State met a Southeastern Conference team and 47 years since Albama met a team from

But Hayes said he doesn't feel that the Jan. 2 game could be used as evidence that one powerful conference is stronger

"No single game is ever a worth-while measuring stick," he said. "I think we have two worth-while teams in it,

Picketing Farmers Want Fair Return

Avalanche-Journal Staff
To farmers striking across the South Plains this week, their plight is a simple one: without a guaranteed fair return for their crops, they cannot afford to farm.

One supporter of the American Agricul-ture movement told The Avalanche-Journal that another year of 1977 crop prices will force him to abandon farming.

This year and the last saw farmers losing money on corn crops, said Hart farm-er Harold Bob Bennett, who said he is representative of farmers. "And none of us young ones have enough equity built up in land and equipment to stay long,"

"We'll be going out of business pretty quick." Bennett said, adding he knows of few young farmers who have been re-financed to plant again next year.

Bennett and Donald Ray Clark, another Hart farmer and movement supporter. paint a bleak picture of farming today. inflation, constant trips to the banks for financing, poor market prices and adverse weather add up to a hard row to hoe for farmers, they say.

"We don't receive for our crop what we put in for it," Bennett said. "We plant and work hard for a good crop, expecting to get rewarded for it. But not on the market we don't."

He and Clark estimate that the average farmer spends about $200 per acre of corn planted and loses about $30 per acre at current market prices.

They estimate basic costs to include about $16 to buy seed for each acre, $30 to plow each acre, $35 for fertilizer, $55 for irrigation water, $40 for harvesting, $10 for herbicides and $15 for pesticides.

The $200 figure doesn't take into account equipment use and repair, labor and the farmer's cost of living, Bennett and Clark said. And if the farmer rents his land, the usual fee is one-third of his

The figures add up to the reason farmers are demanding 100 percent parity on their crops, Bennett said. Without the government supplement, the farmers will not be able to plant.

The effect will be noticeable in more areas than the grocery shelves, Bennett

"We contribute to Lubbock's entertainment dollar, Tech, businesses, restaurants and the cotton oil mill," he explained.

"It's up to our economy to keep Lubbock's going," he added. "If ours fails, Lubbock's fails." The farmer's financial plight is woven into the nation's economic health as well,

"I think someone ought to tell the people that the American farmer is the biggest consumer in America," he said, ex-plaining that farmers buy clothes, fuel, tractors and other expensive pieces of large equipment, and food.

So it would hurt the economy elsewhere if farmers go out of business," he

Today's picket of certain food proces-sors hopefully will make Lubbockites aware of that, he said. The purpose of trying to prevent food deliveries to stores is to cause a temporary shortage, Bennett

"We'll try to make people realize what stores would look like if we were out for a year," he said. And that will happen if the farmers do not plant crops next year,

"A bunch won't plant because it's not profitable. They're losing money," he American consumers should consider another point, Bennett said. "The city dweller is giving the same or more for a loaf of bread today and we (farmers) are receiving 50 to 100 percent less for wheat than what we got last year.

"His bread hasn't gone down, though,"

The middlemen between farmers and consumers are the problem, he said. They continue to profit while farmers

Clark summed up the problem by say-

"When we (farmers) go to buy some-thing, we ask how much they will take for it. When we take our crops to market, we ask what they will give for it."

Bennett echoed him, saying, "We don't have the ability to set our own prices like other businessmen. And we don't even have an agency in Austin we can go to and say 'Look fellas, we're not getting

Clark has farmed South Plains soil for 18 years and Bennett for seven. Now they are not sure whether they will plant again next year.

Bennett said he probably will give it at least one more try. "I haven't gotten word from the bank yet, but I hope to,"

Clark said, "I don't really know yet. I haven't sold my crop yet. After I do, it's up to the banker."

Re-financing a losing proposition and fighting the weather are two problems farmers can't seem to escape, the pair

"We have to settle up with the bank. Our notes always come due" whether crop prices are good or not, Bennett said. As for the weather, he said, "We've got farm in all elements - cold, wind,

"It's a 12 to 14 hour work day, so it's not a gravy train," he added.

Farmers' Demands For Proclamation Refused By Mayor

By ESTHER LONGORIA

Lubbock Mayor Roy Bass Tuesday steadfastly refused striking farmers' demands to proclaim today as "American Agriculture Day" in the city.

Seventeen farmers from across the South Plains met with the mayor Tuesday afternoon in an hour-long, closed-door session, attempting to convince him to issue the pro-

However, at the conclusion of the meeting, Mayor Bass told reporters that he didn't think the previous picketing activities of the dissident farmers were proper.

"I don't think these farmers should be out there preventing these wholesalers from shipping their goods; just like I don't think I have any right to blockade a farmer's driveway because I don't like the price of his tomatoes," the mayor added.

"I won't issue such a proclamation because I think it would be construed as condoning the closing of businesses,' the mayor said. "And, I don't think that city government ought to be in that kind of position."

After the meeting, a somber Gerald McCathern of Hereford, spokesman for the farmers, said, "All we did is ask the mayor to declare Wednesday as 'American Agriculture Day' but he refused us.'

However, McCathern said that he hopes the city of Lubbock understands what the farmers are attempting to accomplish by today's demonstration.

"Our purpose is not to inconvenience the city but to gain additional publicity so that the Carter administration will do something about our problems," he said. The militant farmers, protesting low prices for their products, have asked wholesale food outlets here to voluntarily honor their request for 24-hour sympathy shutdowns. Farmers from Anton, Hale Center, Smyer, Levelland, Sundown, Hereford, Ropesville, Shallowater, Dimmitt and Lubbock County met with the mayor Tuesday after-

However, 30 miles west of Lubbock, today will be "American Agriculture Day." Levelland Mayor Daryl Pults Tuesday morning officially declared the day with a proclamation saying, "We are an agricultural community, and as long as their demands are within reason, we're willing to support our farmers in their efforts to re-

No special activities are planned in the city, Pults said.

Support Observed For Farm Strike

By MONA HARVEY and FRANK COATS

Public reaction to the American Agricultural movement's efforts to secure better prices for farm products appears to show overwhelming support among Lubbock County Residents.

In interviews conducted Tuesday by the Avalanche-Journal, some persons expressed reservations about the strikers' methods or timing but almost all agreed with their complaints.

LaRita Cannon, who has several farmer relatives, said "I can see that they do have a problem. The government's not taking them into consideration enough. If they get a good crop they don't get a good price because of overabundance. That's the way it always is. There's no way out for them.

A grocery store assistant manager said, "This is the worst week of the year to do this. More groceries are sold this week (than any other.)'

The attitude of most food retailers, he thought, was to "humor them (the farmers), but don't hurt us (retailers). When people get hurt, they get mad."

Lorene Cox of Lubbock said, "I don't blame them. If they (farmers) don't raise those vegetables for us to eat we'll have to pay to get them shipped in from somewhere else

"I think they're picking a bad time of year for it. Other than that, I'm all for them," said Linda Gryder of Plainview. Farmers picketing a meat packing plant in Plainview last week succeeded in closing it for 48 hours.

"I don't blame them a bit in the world. If they'd all shut down across the U.S. for 30 days and not sell anything, they could get anything they wanted," noted a Lubbock man, who declined to give his Ernestine Woodson, manager of the Hallmark store in Plaza Shopping Center, pointed out, "I know it takes money to grow a crop but then again they get paid for not planting.

"Anybody ever pay you for not working?" she asked.

I sympathize with them. After all, the farmers are the backbone of the economy. We need them, expecially in this neck of the woods."

Christmas Decoration Safety Tips Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Millions of Americans are busy decorating their homes for Christmas this week, and the Consumer Product Safety Commission urges cau-

The commission estimates that some 3,500 persons will be treated at hospitals for holiday-related injuries ranging from the child swallowing pieces of a broken ornament to fire caused by a tree igniting.

Freshness is the most important safety factor with a natural tree, and one way to be sure is to cut it yourself at a local tree farm.

If you buy a cut tree there are several ways to check for freshness. Brittle branches and shedding needles are a sign of dryness: fresh needles bent between the fingers won't break. Tap the tree on the ground to see if many needles fall off. And don't depend on that nice green color, it might be sprayed on.

Keep the tree in water, of course, set it up away from any heat source and remove it when it begins to shed needles in quantities.

used. The only way to illuminate a metal tree safety is to use colored floodlights placed in different parts of the room. And keep the lights away from children, they can become quite hot.

Plastic trees should be fire resistant and should also be away from heat. Lights should be approved by Underwriters Laboratories and checked every year.

AGRICULTURE

By DUANE HOWELL

"WE SUPPORT THE PRINCIPLE OF KEEPING farmer to consumer channels open and will continue to oppose the efforts of any group which, by force or intimidation, denies buyers the freedom of choice in the marketplace." So says a recommendation adopted by the resolutions committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the nation's largest general farm organiza-

The recommendation is among the proposed policy resolutions which will be considered by voting delegates at the AFBF's annual convention, Jan. 8-12, in the Texas FB convention earlier this month in Houston provided a forum for airing the controversial farm "strike" issue.

MOTION PRESENTED FROM THE FLOOR would have placed the Texas FB in support of "the American Agriculture movement" and would have directed the state organization to "encourage the membership to back the movement on an individual basis."

The delegates overwhelmingly voted the motion down after about two hours of debate. The issue was resolved in an orderly manner with no disruption of

Officials said the gist of recommendations developed by the AFBF's resolutions committee call for the Farm Bureau to "take an aggressive attitude in an effort to see that farm producers get adequate prices for their commodities in order to compete with other industries and still make a fair profit."

The committee recommended that the Farm Bureau "take aggressive steps" to solve marketing problems through the expansion of existing marketing projects and the development and implication — either directly or through affiliates — of new FB owned, managed or controlled programs.

IN OTHER ACTION, THE COMMITTEE recommended that Farm Bureau to "make every effort" to prevent the new farm bill from "being administered in ways that would make farmers dependent on government payments on a continuing basis or establish a government-controlled stockpile of agricultural

We favor, a market-oriented agriculture because we believe farmers will fare better under the market system than under any type of government-managed system," the committee said.

The committee added that a sound national farm policy should assure farmers unrestricted access to domestic and world markets and programs to help farmers obtain needed crop and market information.

Any support programs, if needed to avoid disaster, should be "carefully designed and implemented to avoid conditions that are self-perpetuating, to protect our competitive position in world markets, and to avoid undue interferences with market-directed adjustments in production and marketing," the committee said.

Dr. Russell D. Pettit of the range and wildlife management department says clearing out the oak may increase, rather than decrease, ranchers' problems.

Pettit listed eight reasons for maintaining sand shin oak stands.

The oak stands help minimize wind erosion, particularly in the spring months when high winds are prevalent, he said. The oaks are particularly helpful in preventing erosion of exposed hilltops.

Sand shin oak stands help provide emergency forage during droughts, when there is little if any grass available for Shinnery oak has been found to be a valuable food source and cover for wildlife, which apparently are not affected by its toxicity during the spring, Pettit said. The oak is considered a necessity for the lesser prairie chicken, and pronghorn antelope would not be in this West Texas except for the shinnery oak stands.

The hybrid types of sand shin oak, which grow somewhat taller, provide shade for livestock, which is extremely important during the summer when soil temperatures can reach 150 degrees. The oak's shade also aids in microbial growth in the soil. The microbes are essential in decomposition.

Pettit said because the shinnery oak is more deeply rooted than any of the other plants in the area, it helps recycle soil nutrients to the topsoil.

The oak brings the nutrients up to its leaves and, when the leaves fall in the autumn, they return the nutrients to the soil surface through decomposition. This recycling process has been determined by soil samples

Oak stands aid in preventing livestock from grazing some grasses, especially when the stands are dense. This protects seed sources which are needed to re-seed the grass in the spring.

The Tech instructor added that many people find the oak stands aesthetically pleasing because the stands break the monotony of the flat Plains and because of the leaf coloration in the fall.

Becuase there are advantages to the sand shin oaks. Pettit suggested that controlling rather than eradicating the oak would be more beneficial in the long run.

He said if the oak were eliminated, a combination of overgrazing and wind erosion would probably result in making the West Texas area a virtual desert within 10 years. Much the same thing happened in the Sahara Desert.

Pettit suggested partial clearing and thinning of the stands would result in improved grazing while at the same time preserving the advantages of the sand shin oak stands for the West Texas re-

High Production, Low Income Predicted In Upcoming Year

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite attempts by American Agriculture to boost commodity prices by encouraging a na-tionwide strike, the odds favor another year of spectacular farm production and a tighter rein on farm income.

The Agriculture Department says that by the end of 1978, farmers will be even more deeply in debt and that land prices, after soaring for years, will have cooled

Barring bad weather next spring and summer, department experts say that 1978 looks like another banner year in terms of farm output.

According to department economists, the livestock sector is expected to continue its expansion, largely because of relatively cheap corn and other feed, including:

-Four to 6 percent more grain-fed cattle going to slaughter plants, compared with this year. However, total cattle slaughter may be down 5 to 7 percent from 1977 because of a large reduction in slaughter of cows and other non-fed beef

-Ten percent more pork, continuing an expansion in hog production which resulted from cheaper grain prices. -Four to 6 percent more broiler and turkey production. -Another rise in milk output of 1 to 2 percent from this year. The outlook for 1978 crop production is much more uncertain. Wheat farmers are faced with a 20 percent acreage set-aside program in order to qualify for 1978 fed-cent program has tentatively been an nounced for feed grains. "While acreage may be cut in 1978, production inputs such as pesticides and fer-tilizer are expected to be in ample supply and should therefore contribute to large nomic Research Service.

"Fertilizer application rates are expected to increase on acres planted and no supply problems are indicated for either diesel or gasoline for the coming year."

As in any year, because so many different commodities are involved, not all farmers will do well or poorly in 1978. But the department experts agree, apparently, that net farm income is not expected to gain much, if at all, from this year.

The most recent measurement points to a 1977 net farm income - the amount farmers have left over after paying expenses - of about $20 billion. It was $21.9 billion in 1976.

It is this point with which the group calling itself American Agriculture is mostly concerned. The cash flow of farmers has been hurt the most by depressed market prices, mainly of grain, it says.

If farmers refuse to sell crops and not buy anything but essential products, market prices will go up, or else the government will have to step in with a better plan to help improve their incomes, the Colorado-based group says.

But the department, including Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, assumes the strike will not be effective. Thus, the financial balance sheet fort farmers collectively in the coming year shows some grim statistics but also a few bright spots, according to the experts.

The grimmest figure, of course, has not been officially projected by the department, but some experts believe that 1978 net farm income probably will not improve from this year's $20 billion.

Meanwhile, on paper, at least, farmers continue to amass wealth in the form of land and other property associated with their business

This Jan. 1, according to the department, total U.S. farm assets are expected to be worth $729.6 billion, up 9 percent from $670.9 billion at the beginning of

The assets are dominated by real estate valued at $546.9 billion, up from $497.2 billion last Jan. 1, but they also include bank deposits and currency estimated at a record of $16.4 billion, up from $15.9 billion last Jan. 1.

But against those record assets, the department says that this Jan. 1 farmers will owe a record of $118.7 billion, up-from $102.7 billion last Jan. 1, a record climb for a single year of $16 billion.

When total debt is deducted from assets, farmers now have an equity in their holdings of a record $610.9 billion, compared with $568.2 billion last Jan. 1, according to the report. That was a gain during the year of $42.7 billion.

Thus, despite the record climb in farm debt this year of $16 billion, the equity of farmers — what they would have left if they settled their bills - rose much more rapidly. The kicker is, however, that this is a paper indicator and does not tell? much about the financial well-being of individuals.

Calf Vaccination Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says that farmers, particularly in the South, need to pay more attention to vaccinating calves against

The practice of routinely vaccinating heifer calves is especially desirable for herds in the relatively high-risk areas of the South," according to Frank J. Mul-hern, head of the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. 'But it's also desirable for the northern dairy herds that produce many of the replacement heifers for Florida and other outhern states." Mulhern's recommendaton was included in a recent background paper on the brucellosis problem. Also called Bang's Disease, brucellosis has been the target of federal and state eradication efforts for many years but still costs farmers an estimated $30 million annually. Eleven states currently account for more than 90 percent of the nation's cattle herds with brucellosis problems, Mulhern said. Those are Florida, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri.

Of 3.8 million calves vaccinated nationwide last year, only 500,000 or 14 percent were in the 11 states, he said. Yet, those produce about 20 million calves a year, 40 percent of the total U.S. calf crop.

"Sunny" Sunflower says...

ARE YOU KEEPING CHRISTMAS? It is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of time and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity which runs on sun time. But there is a better thing than the observance of Christmas Day, and that is, keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignor what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put rights in the background, and your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow-men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; to know that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but what you are going to give to life; to close your books of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around you for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness -are you willing to do these

Then you can keep Christmas. Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weakness and laneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and ask yourself wi you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want, without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it rill give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your sho will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and a garden for a

There was reason for her irritation. She had risen at 5 a.m. to be made up and fitted with a wig, and she reported to the Temple location precisely at 7, punctual as always. By late morning, she had still not appeared before the camera

Even in good humor, she can be formigable. Lord Snowden has been here to do special photography for "Death on the Nile," and he admitted, "When I first photographed her, my hands were shaking so that I could hardly hold the camera. That's what it was like to be in the presence of such a legend.

Tourists Seek Ghost Historian

CHICAGO (UPI) - Tourists can take "Mary is staging a real ghostly revival," sightseeing buses if they want to see Chi-Crowe said. "She was buried in her favor-four hours of ghost stories including tales about Resurrection Mary and the phantom car which dumps the bodies of mutilated girls. Crowe rarely does ay ghost hunting himself, mostly he just hunts for their stories as a city historian. "I prefer hearing about things that happen to other people," he said.

But he has had some experiences, including one on Chicago's South Side "There was this dark car, and it just disappeared." he said. "I'd had only one beer, so you couldn't blame it on that. When you see something like that, you either react with extreme fear or take it "all in I feel like I'm an observer, but then I realize it's happening to me."

Some areas are charged with psychic energy. Crowe said, and they attract other things, like ritual murders. Take the 1957 killings of Patricia and Barbara Grimes. Their bodies were discovered along German Church Road in an area that had been covered with Indian trails. There is a ghostly reenactment of the dumping of the bodies," Crowe tells his tour. "Those living along German Church Road have heard a car screech to a halt along the guard rails. It opens its doors, dumps something out, and slams its "On at least one occasion, the car was visible as well as the ghostly sound. A resident called the Cook County police and behind one happening. Residents around Woodlawn Cemetery thought the ghosts of dead circus animals had come back to haunt them. On warm summer nights they could hear elephants

Part of the cemetery was reserved for circus performers killed in a 1918 train wreck outside Gary, Ind. Many thought animals killed in the crash also were burted there.

Sgt. John O'Rourke was patroling the cemetery area one night when he heard the trumpeting. He shined his flashlight on the stone elephants marking the showmen's section resting place. He froze.

And then, Crowe said, the answer came to him. Brookfield Zoo was nearby and the breeze carried the animal sounds

Crowe's interest in Chicago ghosts dates back to his youth. He grew up on the South Side and one of the first ghost stories he heard was that of Resurrection Mary, a girl who would go to dances and accept rides home from young men. Blonde Mary died at a young age, possibly from tuberculosis.

Early Santa Claus Painting Revealed

CHADDS FORD, Pa. (AP) - An oil painting on display here that depicts Santa Claus with a sword and an impish grin may be the oldest known portrait of the Christmas elf as we know him today.

Until recently it was common belief that cartoons in the 1860s by Thomas Nast first visually captured the St. Nicholas described in Clement Moore's famous poem, "The

Then last year an illustration from the New York Mirror of 1844 was discovered,

Now, the Brandywine River Museum has on display an 1838 oil painting of Santa by Robert W. Weir, a friend of Moore, that appears to be the granddaddy of them all. The museum says the painting was first displayed at the New York Academy in the late 1830s. It's on loan from the Butler Institute of American Art in Youngstown,

"To our best knowledge, this is the oldest color portrait of Santa Claus in the United States of any consequence," says Joan Gorman, Brandywine's associate curator. "If anyone has an earlier one we'd love to see it."

Whatever, Weir's Santa is a far cry from today's department store variety. He's a gnome-like figure in fur-trimmed red cape and black boots, "laying a finger aside of his nose" and about to rise up the chimney. In two stockings by the fireplace he has placed presents, in a third coal and a switch, and then in a gesture of apparent forgiveness, he has attached a jumping jack to the

The painting is reminiscent of a Dutch Christmas, with painted tiles on the fireplace, a broken clay pipe on the floor (evidence of Santa's visit) and an orange, symbolizing the ruling Dutch House of Orange.

Although Weir is Ittle known today, he was one of the more popular of American painters during the Civil War. An instructor of drawing at West Point (accounting for Santa's sword?), he taught both Gens. William C. Sherman and Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson at a time when military officers were expected to sketch terrain and fortifica-

Blackbirds Considered Menace

WASHINGTON (AP) - The birds congregate by the millions. Swarming flocks blot out the sun.

Their numbers are so great no accurate population estimate is possible. Today's observers sound like pioneers describing once-great flights of passenger pigeons when they state, "They flew across the sky in an endless stream.

Blackbirds fly in the face of general alarms of vanishing wildlife. But their presence is rarely welcome.

"Blackbirds are our No. 1 bird pest," says Nelson Swink of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "Sooner or later they get on people's nerves.

Farmers hate the birds for driving cattle from feeding bunkers. City and surburban homeowners dislike the birds' habit of whitewashing houses and cars. The screeching and clucking of roosting birds annoy others

Blackbirds have been sucked into jet engines. One commercial airline crash has been attributed to blackbird-induced engine failure. Accumulated droppings create the potential for histoplasmosis, a disease spread by windborne spores sometimes found in the droppings.

The blackbird nemesis even extends to the highest office of government. The White House is attempting to discourage blackbirds from roosting in two magnolia trees on the South Portico. The most recent survey of 723 major winter roosts estimated 538 million birds used the sites. But the survey did not include small roosts, "and some major roosts may have been missed," said Cal Royal, a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service blackbird specialist.

The nation's largest roost - the Great Dismal Swamp on the Virginia-North Carolina border - contains an estimated 25 million blackbirds. A total of 118 roosts have been found containing a million or

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service spends nearly $3 million each year on research and programs to disperse flocks containing red-winged blackbirds, common grackles, cowbirds, starlings and, to a lesser extent, rusty blackbirds.

The service fires propane cannons and shellcrackers in attempts to frighten roosting birds. It plays tape-recordings of blackbird distress calls and sets off flashing lights under roosting trees.

It has sprayed sites with Tergitol, a detergent-like substance designed to strip the protective oil from a bird's feathers and cause the bird to die of exposure. It has thinned trees in rocsts and spread poisoned bait.

We've tried about everything imaginable to repel the birds," says Swink. But no scheme has been found that will always disperse or kill concentration of blackbirds.

What works in one area won't be successful in another," explains Swink. The blackbirds are winning the biologi-

Gunsmoke's Doc, Restless At 73

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Milburn Stone, who played crusty old Doc Adams on "Gunsmoke!" for 20 years, is quietly going bananas in retirement.

He made a rare trip to Hollywood the other day to appear with 120 other stars for CBS-TV's 50th anniversary celebration, a series of two-hour shows to be telecast next March celebrating the network's golden anniversary.

His appearance marked a reunion with Jim Arness (Marshal Matt Dillon) and Dennis Weaver (Deputy Chester Goode) who starred with Stone when "Gunsmoke!" first went on the air back in 1955. "Damn, it was good to see those guys again," Stone said. "I felt bad because Ken Curtis (who played Festus) wasn't included. Amanda Blake (Kitty) was invited, but she couldn't make it. But Jim and Dennis and I spent the whole day talking about the good times we had together.

'Jim said, 'I guess we didn't know how lucky we were.' And I told him, 'Maybe you didn't, but I sure as hell did.'

"I really miss 'Gunsmoke!' and I'd dearly love to go back to work. I'm really getting bored with retirement.

Performing Arts Center Has Deep Financial Difficulties

WASHINGTON (AP) - The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington "has serious financial problems for which no simple solutions exist," the General Accounting Office said Tuesday.

The GAO, an investigative arm of Congress, called on the lawmakers to consider the problems. "Congress alone can make both the value judgments and trade-offs involved in solving the center's WILTON, Conn. (UPI) - Actress Cinda Blair, who starred in the movie "The Exorcist." was one of 32 persons arrested Tuesday in a major drug investigation, a Drug Enforcement Administration official confirmed.

An estimated $3 million in cocaine was seized in Florida and Texas, investigators said. Miss Blair was charged with conspiracy to commit a felony in the alleged sale and purchase of cocaine.

Peter Grudin of the Connecticut DEA told United Press International his agents and members of the Wilton police department served warrants on the 18year-old Miss Blair at 1 p.m. as she left her Ridgefield Road home in Wilton in Her car. Grudin said the charges originate with the federal investigation centering in the Houston, Texas, area as well as Jacksonville, Fla.

Lynn Scarborough, who was charged with four counts of conspiracy to commit felony, was released on $6,200 bond; John was freed on $1,576 bond.

Scarborough told reporters at the Jackonville sheriff's office that the arrests came as rather a shock to myself and my wife ... I don't know what else I can tell you.

Undersheriff John Nelson said one and a half pounds of pure cocaine was found in the luggage of two men police described as leaders of the ring, and "a little more than two pounds" was seized by authorities in Houston. The estimated reet value of the confiscated cocaine vas $3.5 million.

Nelson said the roundup began with the arrests of Garland Wade Atkinson and Andrew Jinks Inglet, both of Houston. when they flew to Jacksonville Monday night to complete an alleged deal with undecover agents. The two were arrested at Jacksonville Airport when they went to claim their luggage. In addition to the cocaine, police said they found three guns in their bags.

Inglet was charged with two counts of conspiracy to commit a felony and Atkinson was charged with five counts of conspiracy to commit a felony, possession of cocaine and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. Both were held on $100,-000 blanket bonds.

Nelson said the sheriff's office became aware of the ring in mid-September when a sheriff's office undercover agent infiltrated it. The police official described those arrested as "a cross-section of the

Q. Would you please comment on making an investment at this time in auto stocks? Has the new model year removed any of the uncertainties?

A. With a national energy policy still to be determined. I don't see how too many automotive problems could be considered solved. However, I am not an expert on the industry, and so prefer to turn to one who is - Arthur G. Davis, analyst, who watches the industry for the Stock Exchange firm of Prescott, Ball & Tur-

He sees the 1978 market as a battleground for the automakers, and expects that it may be somewhere between the first and second quarter of 1978 before positive signs of long-line leadership become apparent.

He feels the 1978 model year should produce a leaner model mix and a shading of consumer buying, especially at the upper end of the market as Detroit promotes small cars to meet the federally-

Q. I was for many years a registered representative in a big brokerage firm and have enjoyed your columns. But I don't understand why you fail to appreciate the importance of the big discount (from asset value) available in many closed-end investment companies. I think it's like paying for 100 shares and having 125 working for you.

A. Yes, indeed. But how well do the 125 shares work? Aye, there's the rub! I think closed-ends - now called publicly-traded investment funds - have done a job for investors for many, many years. (They do antedate the mutuals.)

Mart Drops In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market closed lower in moderate trading Tuesday, extending its losing streak for the fourth consecutive session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed down 1.73 points at 806.22. The decline brings the Dow's net loss in the last four sessions to more than 16 points, including a drop of more than 7 points on Monday

Market watchers said several factors continued to weigh on the market, including concern over the decline of the dollar in foreign exchange trading and the effects of seasonal selling by investors for tax reasons as the new year ap-

"Its more of the same - weakness in the dollar, some concern over the economy... and tax selling," said Newton Zinder, an analyst at E.F. Hutton Co.

by a commission subcommittee. Ector County officials made their pleas for time extensions Monday, and the commission voted approval.

Strict standards governing all aspects of county jail construction and living conditions, including the temperature of cells, width of corridors and number of singleoccupant cells, guide the commission to asure the "health and But the body has certain leeways in enforcing those standards, and can grant time extensions when it feels a county is making "good faith progress" towards compliance.

Underpinning both counties' requests for extensions were claims that the cost of remodeling present facilities would be wasted, since new jails are planned.

Also, the commission found that the conditions which did not meet state standards were not serious enough to endanger inmates' or guards' health and safety. Ector County officials received a two-year extension of compliance. Depending on the city of Odessa, the county has two future options.

If Odessa opts to participate in a joint city-county facility, a new building will be

Christmas Becomes Time For Sharing, Caring

The spirit of Christinas - it means many things to many different people, yet it is alive and real in spite of attempts to disclaim it, bringing to people all over the world a time of joy, a feeling of brotherhood and a sense of renewal - of friendships, love and hope.

Christmas for some is a deeply religious experience. For others, Christians and non-Christians alike, it is a joyous time to gather with family and friends, to send cards and letters to all those we may have neglected in the past year, and to shop for all the lovely presents that will sit temptingly under the tree until Christmas Day.

Most Special List Indeed, the Christmas gift list is a very special part of the loving Christmas spirit it's something different from any other list of names in the world. It may be large or small, filled in with everything from the practical to the extraordinary, but every list of Christmas plans is a very personal expression of friendship and love.

No mere shopping guide, the Christmas gift list is an important extension of the joyous spirit of Christmas itself — a time for caring, sharing, a time to stop and reflect on a year's worth of memories and those who made them special.

As we write down the names of the friends and relatives we wish to present with our holiday packages, we recall all of the qualities of each person listed. Christmas is the time when every present must be special, every package filled with delight.

To find such gifts involves more than a casual thought. In a sense, the Christmas shopper places himself ahead to Christmas Day, to the moment when the wrappings are undone and the ribbons scattered, in hopes of finding just the right item to light up a face and widen a smile.

Spontaneous Memories

The answers may come to us as we drive to work, while cleaning the attic or reading the Sunday paper. Suddenly we remember the look on mother's face the day she spotted that special blue dress ... or the little hints that dad's been dropping all along for a new rod and tackle ... or the extra attention the young tomboy-turnedteenager has been paying to her wardrobe and the way junior's been spotted practicing with a tie in front of the mirror.

We remember a friend's favorite color, or fragrance, or how much she admired a certain style. We even intercept Santa's letters on their way to the North Pole in the hopes of keeping up with St. Nick in spreading Christmas joy to the children!

A list this personal, this loving and thoughtful, requires a great deal of planning,

Plan early for your Christmas gift buying, so that you can be certain the presents you select will carry with them that special message of thoughtfulness and love. Even the best plans can use some help.

This year's offerings for Christmas are better than ever, combining the best of rich, nostalgic, romantic items with an array of modern wizardry to set the head

It's the perfect year for all the special women in your life — mothers, wives and sweethearts will all appreciate the beautiful return of romance as seen in the latest fashions and accessories. Ruffles, lace, silks and satin are all making fashion headlines, and what prettier way is there to show her how pretty you think she is!

But pretty women are also modern, liberated women and can use some of the sleek new appliances and gift items to make life easier and more fun.

Open Mind, Open Choices A calculator for a conscientious home accountant, a dishwasher for the woman who has better things to do than dabble in water, a hair styler or dryer for the gal on the go who wants the most from her looks with a minimum of primping time spent.

She might even appreciate a new tool kit, or even a power tool or craft kit — it's amazing how many women would rather be their own handymen!

The Boy In The Man

For the men on the list, it's the perfect time to remember the boy in each and every one of them. There's a whole new line of electronic games and devices on the market which are sure to keep him whiling away many a happy hour in the year to come - new video games, calculators, or a CB or police scanner for that little bit of Kojak in them all.

Men always appreciate a gift in the apparel line, and there's no time like Christmas to give him a fragrance set, one that speaks especially for him and lets him know that he deserves a little pampering, too.

Teen-agers seem to present the greatest stumbling block in the planning of a Christmas list - or so it would seem.

Actually, teen-agers are very receptive to just about anything new and unique. They are very interested in making a good appearance, so a gift of clothing — or better yet a personal care appliance — is sure to please. You could give the young lady in the house her own telephone, or imagine gifting a young man his first elec-

Teen-agers also have definite tastes in music, and while you may not know the difference between Rod Stewart and Jimmy Stewart, a look through their current record collection and a chat with the salespeople at your local record store should give you a fairly good idea of what's popular and pleasing on the teen scene.

Babes In Toyland

Children are always a delight to shop for at Christmas, and this year there are more wonderful selections than ever before to choose from.

There are dolls of every kind for boys and girls alike - dolls to play grown-up with, dolls to lead them through all of their wonderful fancies and fantasi

There are games for future athletes and budding Einsteins, and toys that talk, walk, fly, dive, laugh, cry, teach, tickle and love.

As always, if you should have any doubts as to what would be most appreciated, just listen in when they crawl up on Santa's knee.

But whether you're shopping for youngsters or grandparents, newlyweds or singles, students or career builders, relatives, friends or the gang at the office, remember that the most important part of any Christmas gift is the time and thought put into it by you, the giver, and the joy you'll receive when they open the packages

Things To Remember

New Year's is the traditional day for resolutions, but Christmas should be the day for "remembers."

•Remember - the good times you've had and be thankful for them. •Remember -- your family loves you; return that love. •Remember - your pet depends on you for his food, his lodging, his health; give him a good life.

 Remember — your friends, it is your responsibility to keep them as friends. •Remember - people in hospitals need you more now; pay a brief visit with a cheery smile. •Remember -- nursing home patients love to see a friendly face; drop in for a working on Christmas Day to make your life happier; a pleasant smile and a friendly voice will make them happy.

•Remember - the true meaning of Christmas: Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Man

Homemade Christmas Brings Back Old Days

Whatever happened to homemade spice cookies and tree decorations, handcrafted toys and bees wax candles? If you're longing for the good old days when grandmother did everything herself instead of buying Christmas at a store, here are some ideas to bring back those holiday memories without a lot of work.

Decide on a total holiday color scheme. Whether you choose gold and silver, red and white or some other combination, you'll achieve a richer effect if you concentrate on just two colors. Then select the products to help you create an unforgettable Yuletide setting.

•TREE TRIMMINGS - Dramatize your Christmas tree with garlands of cranberries alternated with fluffy popped corn. Highlight the crisp red and white motif with tiny bows of velvet or satin.

To bring the winter wonderland indoors, spray tree boughs with aerosol "snow" and scent the room with a pine spray. For a safe holiday season, keep a fire extinguisher within easy reach of the tree.

Tree trimmings make an ideal family project. Take colored construction paper and cut out angels, reindeer, candy canes or chains of paper dolls. Spray them with glue and sprinkle with glitter. Tie them to the tree with color-coordi-

Use uncooked pasta in the shape of wagon wheels to make a garland. Spray paint the pieces before stringing them together and weaving them around the •FESTIVE FOODS - The cookie-cutter crowd will enjoy making gingerbread Santas and stars while you bake spice cookies and fruitcake muffins. For in irresistible treat, make brownies and garnish them with whipped cream and •WREATHS AND WINDOWS - Wreaths - of evergreen, pine cones or plastic fruit - can be glamorized with silver or gold paints. For a highlight, add sprigs of holly or Christmas balls.

You can bring Old World charm into your home by making stained glass windows. Buy sheets of colored plastic at an art store. Then cut them into geometric shapes to depict a scene or random design. Spray your window with adhesive, and press the plastic pieces on the glass until they stick. Leave a little space between the segments for strips of black masking tape to simulate the

Spray aerosol "snow" on the corners of the window panes, and the interior of your home will look cozier than ever •HOLIDAY WRAPPINGS - A little creativity can elevate your Christmas gift wrapping to an art. To personalize gifts - and Christmas stockings - cut out stars, snowmen and St. Nicks, or make block letters of felt or patterned fabrics. Then glue them on packages or stockings. Buttons, ribbons or other trimmings from your sewing box can add luster to your artistry.

There are lots more projects you can dream up. All it takes is love, imagination and holiday spirit.

Christmas Very Special

For Elderly Dallas Pair of more than average significance to Robert Womack, 95, and his wife Ursie, 87 - it's also their 70th wedding an-

And they'll celebrate at their home in a North Dallas area where you might least suspect it, a Greenville Avenue neighborhood full of restaurants and

"singles only" apartment complexes. Their marriage on that long ago Christmas in 1907 capped a courtship of three years after Womack, a young farmer just getting started, met and paid suit to 14-year-old Ursie Earles.

Mrs. Womack, their main spokesman now because her husband is growing deaf, finds nothing strange about a mar-

"He has his ideas and I have mine," she said. "I wasn't an angel when I married him, and I didn't expect to marry an angel. I guess, as much as anything, that's part of staying together.'

Both were natives of McMinnville, Tenn. Womack migrated as a young man of 22 with an aunt and uncle to Mount Calm in Hill County. Ursie moved there with her parents at the age of seven months. She quit college at 17 to marry.

They attached no special importance to their getting married at Christmas.

"It was handy for us to get married on Christmas Day," recalled Mrs. Womack. We knew we had to get out to the farm to put down early crops, so it just seemed like the thing to do. You know how us farmers are."

Along with cotton, corn, oats and wheat they raised a family of four child-

Toys' Educational Value Eyed

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) -Many highly touted "educational" toys really don't educate, says a Purdue University professor.

"Parents shouldn't let themselves be swayed by the television gimmicks," said Loretta M. Hatfield, head teacher and assistant director of the Child Development Laboratories in the School of Consumer and Family Sciences.

"It's time to go back to the basic blocks, cardboard boxes and homemade

Mrs. Hatfield said toys educate when they challenge children to think creatively, to reason, or to advance their ability to solve problems.

Records Make Handy Yule Gift Items

NEW YORK (UPI) - Relatives and friends who don't know what to give this Christmas can find an answer in longplaying phonograph records.

Most Americans grow up on music and few have tin ears. So the only problem would seem to be determining what kind of records to give.

Teen-agers generally will settle for rock, especially the punk variety that is the current craze. Those men and women who have moved out of their teens and may be pushing 30 should enjoy listening to "Love Songs" by the Beatles in a Capitol album. The songs released previously, include "Yesterday," "Michele" and "Norwegian Wood."

An album with "White Christmas" should be a must.

The Irving Berlin popular classic is in-cluded in "Bing Crosby's Greatest Hits" in an MCA album. The selection showcases typical Crosby hits, among them "I Surrender Dear," "Swinging on a Star," "You Are My Sunshine" and "Where the Blue of the Night Meets the Cold of the Day.'

Elvis Presely music will be popular for some time to come. Most rock tunes he popularized are packaged in multi-record albums

One is "The Elvis Presley Story," a five-LP set from Candlelight Music.The other is RCA's "Elvis in Concert." It contains the sound-track of the postmortem special and selections from Preslev's June tour.

Angel has re-issued Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance" on its low-budget Seraphim label, a two-disc album that is full of good light music. Those who wish to splurge can't go wrong with "Beethoven-Nine Symphonies;" by Herbert Karajan conducting Berlin Philharmonic. Deutsche Grammaphon is making this tremendous, eight-LP project available at a special low price. It is a good investment.

Deutsche Grammaphon also has is-sured a splendid new recording of Verdi's "Simon Boccanega" with Mirella Preni, Piero Cappuccilli, Nicolai Ghiau-rov, Jose van Dam, Giovanni Foisani and Jose Garreras. Although "Simon Bocca-nega" is not as familiar as "Aida" or "La Traviata, it is a masterpiece. This Puzzles, peg boards and dominoes are good examples, she said.

A toy is frustrating, not educational she said, if it is beyond the child's ability or developemental stage. For example, a 16-piece puzzle would be beyond comprehension for a two-or

A puzzle map of the United States for a three-year-old child could only frustrate the child, whereas a four-piece puzzle would not challenge a five-year-old. Super-expensive toys may not give children anything to do, Mrs. Hatfield

As example of toys that are very educa-tional, she named building blocks, Erec-tor Sets and Tinker Toys because they give children a chance to use their imagination and creativity.

"Parents should also select at least one toy or game the whole family will use or play together." she said. "It is an educa-tional setting for the child, learning social skills at home." Homemade toys bought at bazaars are more creative and stimulating to child-

child to clearify and sort."

She said simple things such as tires, spools, pots and pans also stimulate children's imagination.

In selecting toys, she urges consumers to ask themselves: •Does the toy encourage cooperative play so the children may learn to share

•Does it have flexibility so children may do different things with it?

She said good choices include toys that develop small-muscle coordination such as climbing apparatus, balls or bicycles, and toys that develop motor-coordination such as peg boards or lacing sewing

Also, boxes that educate children to recognize various shapes, beads to string, teach concepts of mathematics, unit blocks that also develop the math con-cept, motor coordination and social shar-

Parents should examine toys for durability, sound construction, appropriateness to the child's age level and appeal to the child, Mrs. Hatfield siad.

Precious Moments Recorded

Your vacation pictures are tucked away in a drawer, mixed in with other pictures and papers. Give your home a Christmas present and buy an album or show-off cast for those snapshots

Your child caught a terrific candid shot of mother during the summer. Have the picture enlarged and framed and brighten vour home

Or select a series of pictures of the whole family and frame them together in

You'll not only perk up your home, you'll perk up your family as they recall memorable and pleasant moments each time they pass the pictures during their daily routines. A really snappy idea is to have a frame made with a turnscrew back. Make several montages of pictures and rotate them according to the season.

Another way to give your home a Christmas present and give your child a long-lasting glow is to take pictures he days and frame them to hang on a wall in his room or the family room. If there is a real talent in your house, has drawn in school or at home on rainy think big and get a piece of canvas. Let the talented member of the family paint a picture on the canvas and then glue it to the wall with the proper adhesive. The canvas can be removed at any time without harming the wall itself, and it can then be stored and kept for a Christmas present when the artist is older and has his own house to decorate.

Perhaps you have musical talent in your house. Tape record the musician and send the tape to a family member who lives in another part of the country. The whole family can join in Christmas greetings on the tape and give a truly personal touch to a far-away relative or good

If you're looking for a gift for mother that's easy on the budget yet filled with loving thoughts, why not give her a promise of your time and help for Christmas?

It might take the form of so many days work of after-dinner cleanup and dish duty. Or an offer to take over the ironing for a week ... or a month!

Even a vow from teen-agers to keep a close-tospotless room in the upcoming year will make any mother beam with contentment.

Make a list of all the jobs your mother has to do - just in one day - and see where you can be of help to her.

Then, make a vow to yourself to keep the promise of your gift and you'll be well on the way to giving mother one of the best Christmas presents

For Santa's pack is a mixed bag. Even more so than in any other holiday season.

It bulges with gifts that are extravagant, elegant, that emphasize concern about our ecology, our energy supply, physical fitness, his and hers items, and if you can abide one person's appraisal, a lot of things you don't want and wouldn't give except as something for the someone who already has everything.

Women's Wear Daily, the trade publication, reported that "quality sparks holiday catalog sales." Check the catalogs, as I did, of some 50 retail stores around the nation, and the conclusion is right — there is an abundance of luxury items, and upgrading that should be some indication of the state of the economy.

The larger "saucer" is available in 1979, the smaller in the coming year.

But if I had my druthers, I'd elect for $130,000 the full-length coat made of Russian lynx bellies (almost totally white fur). The lynx is so rare and so in demand that

Gift Items For Kitchen Lead List

NEW YORK (UPI) - Christmas giving each year has its mostwanted gifts, no matter what the cost. This season items for the home, and the kitchen in particular, lead the list.

An informal survey of the "10 most desired" leads off with the food processor, which you can buy from any trusted manufacturer for less than $300. Food processors do just about everything except pay the supermarket bills and empty the garbage.

Just behind the processer, we found the favorite gift item was a minifryer that seems to fit better into small kitchens and small fam-

Add to the "most wanted" the wok, the cooker that is as much a part of China as the Great Wall. The wok is the rounded, all-purpose utensil that probably owes its current U.S. popularity to the surging interest in Chinese cooking at home and the schools springing up like bean sprouts. specializing in Chinese cuisine.

A sleeper gift is the Italian coffee machine, with an electric platform that creates, the ads say, just the correct temperature that will surge steam, not water, through the coffee grounds.

Add in the home computer, to reinforce last year's favorite, the home calculator

Then there are the home copy ing machines, the electronic games to attach to the home television screen, and the his and hers jogging suits.

The most sought of all seems to be connected with the movie "Star Wars."

All toys with the theme are sold out - one New York store said its supply of batterypowered sabers was gone before it reached the sales floor.

And a company which is producing a line of "Star War" toys announced it was issuing IOU's for purchasers.

Video Games Attached To TVs Should Not Damage Screens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prolonged, continuous use of electronic video games, popular Christmas gifts this year, may leave permanent patterns on televison screens, the Federal Trade Commission warned Monday.

However, if the devices are not subjected to "abnormal or extraordinary" use, they should not damage the screens, the commission said.

The FTC urged that manufacturers and sellers warn consumers prior to sale that prolonged display of a vidco game with a fixed pattern is likely to result in a permanent image of the pattern on the TV screen, particularly that of a black

The best way to prevent marring a screen with an imprint is to shut off the game when it is not in use, the FTC empha-

The games attach to home TV sets and use the screens to project playing fields on which players can take part in electronic versions of hockey, tennis, war games, handball and dozens of other games.

The FTC said its findings are based on tests conducted by the National Bureau of Standards and other evidence.

To date, it said, it has received no consumer complaints. Most reported problems appear caused by continuous display of games by dealers on showroom sets, it said.

The FTC said imprinting on TV screens is most likely to occur if the games are used continuously, if the game has a high brightness level and if the set is black and white.

Tests showed that games with high brightness levels left imprints after 100 to 200 hours of continuous usage on black and white sets, and after 350 hours on color sets.

Where imprinting does occur, stationary details of a game's image remain on the screen, although the image will be less visible when the set is turned on, the agency said. The commission recommended that consumers look for games and program cartridges that have low brightness video signals and use constantly changing brightness levels and colors when the game is left on but not being played. The set's controls should be adjusted for a normal picture and then switched to the game, it said. The commission said it would continue to monitor marketing of the games and their promotion and advertising.

Plan To Make Holidays Less Hectic

Warm reveries and family togetherness fill the holiday season. However, preparing for hectic holidays with their steady flow of guests can leave you ex-hausted long before the doorbell rings.

To have enough time and energy to enjoy the festivities, be sure you plan ahead and organize your holiday chores. These suggestions may help:

·Making this year's holidays memorable should not be your responsibility alone. Arrange for help from all mem-bers of the family; assign tasks — large or small — and make each person responsible for his specific chore.

·Make sure the house gets a major cleaning ahead of time, so all that's left is some light and easy housekeeping.

•Prepare cook-ahead meals. Cakes, pies, cookies and many main courses such as casseroles can be prepared weeks ahead of time and put into the freezer. The days when guests are ex-pected, just defrost and reheat for a delicious holiday meal.

TREE SAFETY

Keep in mind that a dry Christmas tree can be destroyed by flames within minutes, thereby threatening the entire home. Remember to keep the tree well watered at all times and dispose of it when the needles begin drying and falling easily from the branches.
