Payments To Disabled Persons Cost Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of helping disabled Americans has become a massive but mostly invisible hemorrhage of dollars from the pockets of the nation's taxpayers, workers and businesses

From Social Security disability insurance to federal Civil Service pensions, the burden of providing for those who cannot work is growing, with no end in '

The problem has largely been hidden by concern over the stability of the whole Social Security system and of private pension plans — much like an infection in a patient who hurts so much from another disease that he doesn't notice the second debilitating illness.

Experts say there are no simple explanations for the soaring costs of disability nor any easy means to halt the rise.

The most visible cost is the disability insurance program run by the Social Security Administration. Its checks to 2.8 million Americans will total an estimated $11.6 billion this year.

The cost is expected to be $26 billion by 1983, when an estimated 3.5 milion people will be drawing benefits.

The exploding costs of this program have depleted the trust fund set aside for it. This pending bankruptcy is one of the principal reasons Congress raised Social Security taxes and allotted more of the revenues to disability programs. Without congressional action, the trust fund would have gone broke late next

The disability insurance program suffers from many problems: inequities, arbitrary rulings and molasses-slow administrative processes.

"The experience of the DI program made evident by the nearly depleted trust fund is simply one dramatic indicator of what is happening to the system as a whole," said a paper by two Rutgers University experts.

But factors outside the program, such as the nation's economy and a greater willingness to apply for all the benefits that one can get, are apparently also at work on this and other disability programs. And disability is hard to quantify.

'Disability is a very subjective thing," said Gerald Parker, vice president of Guardian Life Insurance Co.

City Studies Threat Of Farmer Protest

By JACK DOUGLAS Avalanche-Journal Staff

Uncertainty today clouded plans for a demonstration by dissatisfied farmers reportedly scheduled to hit Lubbock on Tuesday

Mayor Roy Bass and several produce warehouse executives said here this morning they would be better able to plan how to handle an expected massive protest in the city by dissident farmers if they knew what the group is trying to accomplish.

A meeting reportedly had been scheduled this morning between Bass and a farmers' representative to discuss the mayor's proclaiming Wednesday as

Greg Rystad of Hereford, a spokesman for the American Agriculture movement, said strikers driving "a bunch of tractors" are to move into the city Tuesday

Rystad said he hoped all Lubbock's wholesale food warehouses and food processors would shut down "voluntarily" in a show of sympathy towards farmers, who claim they are not making enough profit to stay in business.

The nationwide movement's stated goal is to achieve for farm prices 100 percent parity - the relationship between

While Bass and strike representative Bobby Richey never met today, the mayor indicated he will not proclaim Wednesday as American Agriculture

Several food distribution executives said this morning they had not been contacted by the dissident farmers, and could not speculate whether they would shut down until they were better informed on what the nationwide strike is

Goodfellows Get Ready For Hectic Final Week

Are Goodfellows busy these days? Are we busy?" Chief Goodfellow repeated the question. Then he proceeded to answer it. "Look at those coupons listing boys and girls - thousands of them. We have to check each one. Look at those warehouse piles of toys, candy bars, nuts, apples and oranges! We have got to set up our assembly lines for packaging. Oh yes, and we have to get our volunteers lined up to deliver all this on Christmas morning," he

Anyway you look at it, Goodfellows are indeed busy this week and the pace accelerates as the week progresses.

Wouldn't it be a shame, some of the Goodfellow helpers commented, if there wasn't enough money to go around for these requests. That would mean no Christmas for some boys and girls who really are counting on the Goodfellows.

Mental Test Indicates Lackey Competent

By FRANK PATRICK

Avalanche-Journal Staff An extensive psychiatric examination by officials at the state hospital at Big Spring indicates accused capital murderer Clarence Allen Lackey is mentally competent to stand trial.

Dr. James H. Kreimeyer said in a report to 137th District Judge Robert C. Wright, however, that additional tests could be given to make sure the defendant's rights are absolutely safeguarded.

Wright, in a pretrial hearing this morning, ordered two additional tests to be conducted locally, and also told attorneys the court is working toward a Jan. 30 trial date on the capital case

10 mph tonight

Lackey, a straw-haired heavily built construction worker, was indicted as the result of the July 31 slaying of Toni Dianne Kumpf, 23.

The body of the former Texas Tech University Medical School secretary was found lying beside a dirt road on the southern edge of the city. Her throat had been slashed almost to the point of decapitation.

Neighbors had reported hearing screams from the pretty blonde victim's 1001 Ave. W residence about 6:30 a.m., and said a man apparently had broken down the door of the home and taken the struggling woman away in a pickup

Court-appointed defense attorneys Phil Brown and Tom Richards had requested a psychiatric exam in order to determine whether a competency hearing will be necessary prior to any trial, and also possibly to gain fuel for any later insanity de-

Kreimeyer's report stated officials at Big Spring found "no evidence" of mental incompetency, but suggested that brain scan and glucose tests could still be conducted.

Both tests reportedly are indicators of any organic damage or damage resulting

Wright said he would contact a local physiclan to administer the tests. "I find the defendant competent subject to administration of the two tests,"

Wright stated. During other proceedings, Criminal Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin, chief prosecutor in the case, revealed Lackey had been interrogated the day Miss Kumpf was killed. The defendant was subsequently Griffin stated they in no way should be construed potential oral statements by the defendant once the case goes to trial.

Brown told the court he feels the Aug. 2 account contains material exculpatory to his client.

Ministers Back Anita Bryant

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Two Oklahoma ministers are gathering signatures and donations for a message saying that Anita Bryant's stand against homosexual rights has the backing of citizens in her home state.

"What she has stood for has not been fairly represented," the Rev. Robert Wise said Sunday. "We feel her right to speak has been very much violated."

Wise, pastor of Our Lord's Community Church, and Southern Baptist evangelist Larry Jones have joined to collect indications of support for the Oklahoma native.

Wise said the drive began when NBC announced it would not retain Miss Bryant to host the network's coverage of the Orange Bowl parade Jan. 2, before the football game between Oklahoma and Arkansas. NBC spokesmen said the network wished to avoid possible demonstrations.

The donations are to cover the cost of a "mail-a-gram." publicity and to "bring Anita to Oklahoma to let the nation know where we stand," said Wise.

Memorial Honors James Dean

CHOLAME, Calif. (AP) - This tiny community of five residents has a $15,000 memorial to actor James Dean, killed nearby in an auto accident 22 years ago.

The memorial, erected around a tree a mile down the highway from where Dean died Sept. 30, 1955, was built by a wealthy Japanese businessman, Seita Ohnishi, who said he was an admirer of Dean.

Dean was 24 and had made three films - "East of Eden," "Rebel without a Cause" and "Giant" - when he was killed while going to an auto race.

HHH Will Stay In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Hubert Humphrey will spend his first Christmas in more than 20 years away from his Waverly, Minn., home, and his spirits are as high as ever, his aides and friends say.

Humphrey's top aide, David Gartner, said the 66-year-old senator, who has inoperable cancer, and his wife, Muriel, had considered going to Waverly or to Florida for Christmas but, for now at least, have decided to spend a quiet holiday in their Washington apartment.

"He's all settled in here," Gartner said. "The weather back there is kind of bad and he feels comfortable right where he is. There's no problem with his going places as far as his health is concerned. It has nothing to do with his physical well being."

President Watches Slide Show On Unidentified Flying Objects

By ALICE CUNEO

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter, who once reported seeing an unidentified flying object, discussed the possibility of life from outer space Sunday night with a scientist who believes we are not alone in the universe.

Carter, visiting the home of Vice President Mondale, viewed a 45-minute slide show presentation by Carl Sagan, author and director of the Laboratory for Planetary Studies at Cornell University.

Mondale's home is located on the grounds of the U.S. Naval Observatory, which Carter had planned to tour. But rainy weather prevented the president from personally gazing at the stars and other planets.

Carter was accompanied by his science adviser. Frank Press, as well as Mrs. Carter, daughter Amy, and the Carters' son Jeff and his wife Annette.

The discussions in the Mondale home went on late into the night and when the Carters finally departed, the president carried his sleepy daughter in his arms.

During his term as governor of Georgia, Carter, who is an engineering graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, reported seeing a UFO. He has since expressed interest in scientific reports on the UFO question.

The president reportedly asked for a White House showing of the hit science fiction movie "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," which tells of a visit to Earth by space ships from another world.

Sagan, an exobiologist - a scientist involved in the search for extraterrestrial life - is an adviser to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and served as consultant during the Mariner and Viking surveys of Mars. Among his best-selling books is "The Cosmic

He is currently involved in the production of a television series on "Man and the Cosmos" for the Public Broadcasting Sagan has frequently urged government support for the construction of giant radio telescopes that might pick up messages from other worlds. He expresses near certainty that life does exist elsewhere in space.

"I would be astounded if life weren't coursing throught the cosmos," he said.

However, Sagan was critical of the movie "Close Encounters" for portraying the space visitors as being humanoid in form. He described the portrayal as 'Earth chauvinism.

Human life form was the result of a sort of "cosmic accident" that is not likely to be repeated elsewhere in the universe, Sagan says.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - The Yale University campus should return to normal Wednesday when 1,400 striking service workers go back to work.

The dining hall, maintenance and custodial workers ratified a three-year contract Sunday night, ending an 11-week strike that left the Ivy League campus in turmoil.

By a 13-to-1 margin, the members of the Federation of University Employees, Local 35, approved the pact which calls for pay increases ranging from 96 cents to $1.36 an hour over the life of the contract. Under the previous contract, hourly wages ranged from $4.42 to $7.71.

With the settlement out of the way, Yale trustees still must find a new president for the school. The search already has taken longer than the five-month effort that led to the appointment in 1963 of Kingman Brewster Jr., who resigned last May to become ambassador to Britain. There have been indications that some presidential candidates were having second thoughts about accepting the job, which carries national prestige but also brings with it recurrent labor problems and a budget that will be in the red for at least three more years.

University and union officials credited the efforts of Gov. Ella Grasso and state Labor Commissioner Frank Santaguida in resolving the longest strike in Yale's history. The contract came as a result of a lengthy bargaining session Friday and Saturday with Santaguida bringing the two parties together.

Negotiations between Yale and its blue-collar workers had been deadlocked since last July. The strike began Sept. 30.

Visitor Takes Expensive Cab

NEW YORK (AP) - A West German visitor who asked a taxicab driver to take him to a mid-Manhattan hotel was taken to the cleaners instead

Police said Manfred Fradich of Berlin handed over $97.63 for a mile-and-a-half trip that took some 30 minutes through almost deserted streets. For a little more he could have flown a bargain charter back to Europe.

Fradich said he boarded a cab at the East Side Airlines Terminal at 38th Street and First Avenue at 2 a.m. Sunday and the cab made its circuitous way to the President Hotel at 234 W. 48th St. Once there, the cabbie demanded and received $97.63, explaining that $10 of that sum was for transporting two small attache cases. The ride should have cost no more than $2, including tip.

Police Officer Thomas Biden said the name of the cab company was unknown and that the dashboard lights over the driver's license were out, so the passenger could not read the driver's name or license number.

"This happens a lot," Biden said. "The drivers figure they (the foreign visitors) don't know the exchange rates, and they get away with it."

And That's Way It Was

TWO HUNDRED years ago this month, the success of the American Revolution seemed very much in doubt. George Washington's Continental Army had been defeated at Brandywine, Paoli and Germantown, and the British had occupied Philadelphia, which then was the national capital.

After these reverses, Washington led 11,000 regular troops to Valley Forge, 22 miles northwest of Philadelphia, and established winter quarters there on Dec. 19, 1777.

Washington's plans were well drawn and his staff was efficient in carrying out its duties, but negligence and mismanagement on the part of others-particularly in the commissary department and the transport service-almost destroyed the Continental Army during the encampment.

AN UNEXPECTEDLY early winter, with heavy snows and abnormally freezing weather Christmas week, prevented the receipt of regular supplies. A January thaw brought mud so deep that hundreds of wagons had to be abandoned. Hundreds of men succumbed to camp fever (probably typhus) and smallpox.

On several occasions, Washington expressed fear that only extraordinary efforts could prevent the army from disbanding. Nevertheless, under Baron von Steuben, Washington's inspector general, the remaining men were drilled and reorganized into an efficient army.

News of the alliance with France reached Valley Forge on May 6, 1778, and, on June 18, Washington broke camp and went on to victories in New Jersey and the reoccupation of Philadelphia.

THE FIELD OF the encampment remained virtually as Washington had left it until May 30, 1893, when the land was acquired by the state of Pennsylvania for preservation as a public park and historic land-

Washington's headquarters and those of several of his officers still may be seen in the 2,033-acre park, and there are miles of entrenchments and other military works in excellent preservation.

To this day, Valley Forge remains a symbol of the revolution's darkest-and bright-

But a realistic prospect is emerging on Capitol Hill that next year the Congress will do something about this situation. We may get a little more equality yet.

The problem is familiar to every individual or small businesman who has found himself on the receiving end of some punitive proceeding brought by an agency of the federal government.

In a typical case, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration may have undertaken to rapose a $100 fine for some Mickey Mouse infraction conjured up by an oversealous inspector.

Then there was the guy who took seriously Lubbock's "Love Your Neighbor, Zero Traffic Fatalities This Month" campaign. Stayed home with his neighbor, got shot by an irate husband.

LUBBOCK COULD look with interest at a federal judge's ruling last week that ended court-ordered busing in the Dayton, Ohio, public schools.

Judge Carl B. Rubin decided that the NAACP had failed to provide evidence of deliberate intent by the Dayton school board to perpetuate segregation. He reminded the school board that it has a moral obligation to reduce racial imbalance but ruled that "litigation, however prolonged, is not an end in itself. It is intended to settle disputes, not to perpetuate them."

Interestingly, on the same day that Rubin was ruling in Ohio, the Justice Department filed a brief perpetuating a desegregation dispute that federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward had settled here seven years ago.

"THE PATTERN of the defendants' conduct...shows a pervasive intent to segregate Mexi-can-American and black students," the govern-ment lawyers alleged with reference to Lubbock school officials.

That is merely their theory. Actually, school administrators testified otherwise at recent hear-

Nudity On Television Takes Hold In Italy

JACK R. PAYTON
ROME (UPI) — A bored television viewer in Turin switches channels and the screen lights up with his attractive next door neighbor stripping off her last black stocking and dancing across a stage

In Rome, a viewer who can't sleep tunes in his television to watch 23-yearold Annamaria Clementi, again naked, writhing suggestively on an oriental rug while an off-camera male voice reads titillating passages from a sexy novel.

Another Roman viewer tunes in and sees a young couple assuming all manner of sexy positions on a bed while the announcer explains that it's all about Yoga exercises. The man at home knows bet-

It happens almost every night throughout Italy in homes of television owners who have spent about $40 to put up the special antenna needed to tune in the estimated 150 private television stations that have begun operation in the country over the past several years.

Sales of the special antennas are booming and the private stations report ever increasing audiences for their nude fare. But not everybody is pleased by the new TV-porn. Especially irked are Roman Catholic church groups, feminist organizations and even professional striptease dancers.

The state-run RAI teelevision network also is displeased by the popularity of the more daring private stations and is gingerly broadcasting some nudity of its own in an effort to win back wayward view-

Most popular of the new shows on the private stations is "Let's Strip Together," broadcast by Turin's TeleTorino international from a modest suburban studio headed by a slim and attractive woman, Giuliana Gardici.

The program, broadcast after midnight, features housewives, secretaries and college coeds who take it all off in front of the camera for the rather symbolic sum of $70 plus transportation and a

Housewives Graziella Bongiovanni, 21, and Rita Lanzani, 24, caused quite a stir with their recent appearance on the show and Teletorino officials say they now have a long list of wives waiting, with the encouragement of their husbands, to get on television and show their stuff.

"The idea for amateur strip shows came from the viewers, most of them husbands who said their wives were better than the professionals," says TeleTorino's Gardini. "We didn't imagine there would be so many women wanting to show themselves and so many men wanting to have their wives and fiancees exhibiting themselves on television.'

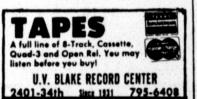

Another favorite program is Turin's "Strip-Quiz" show that features a lavishly dressed model who takes off an article of clothing every time a viewer calls in with the correct answer to questions such as when Julius Caesar conquered Gaul.

Fearing that strip shows alone might become boring, many of the private stations are branching out to nude exercise programs, nude dramas and films usually banned in movie theaters let alone on television. One Rome station even showed a slightly toned down version of the porn classic "Deep Throat."

TeleTorino also has its sex consultation show in which Playmen magazine editor Franco Valabro takes telephone calls from viewers wanting tips to improve their love life. Telephone service officials say the circuits are jammed with about 50 calls a minute when the show is aired.

The private stations report their share of the viewing audience is growing tremendously and appliance shops in the Turin area say sales of the special antennas needed to receive the new shows have jumped 70 percent in recent

To protect what was once its broadcast monopoly, the state-run RAI-TV in spicing up its own programming with periodic nudity on such variety shows as "O-deon" and "Video Sera". It has also begun broadcasting higher quality and sexier films such as the Italian sadomasochistic classic "Investigation of a Citizen Above Suspicion.'

ments still carry great weight in Roman Catholic Italy, has not yet specifically condemned the new television fare its opinions on the subject are clear.

Pope Paul VI has been decrying the breakdown of morality in Italy for years and the monks of one monastery near Florence issued a statement saying a nearby porn station was "sending Satan directly into the homes."

Feminist groups in Turin and Milan have branded the nude shows "disgusting" and degrading," and a professional striptease dancer in Turin complained that the programs were keeping men out of the nightclubs and hurting her busi-

Most worrisome to the private stations, however, is the recent move by state prosecutor Nicola Cerrato of Milan who has begun investigating 18 stations for possible violation of a 1972 law that prohibits broadcasting of films and shows that would ordinarily be banned to those under 18 years of age.

Though the law provides for fines of only $35 Cerrato points out that repeat of-fenders can be shut down and have their equipment confiscated.

Iranian Students Living In Luxury

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Four Iranian students live here. Like most U.S. college students, they make do without servants. They even heat their own water for instant coffee.

But there the similarity ends.

The water is heated in a sterling silver samovar. Persian rugs worth $300,000 each are scattered across 7,000 square feet of Mexican tile and polished onyx.

Italian crystal chandeliers hang from ceilings 19 feet high in the $1.5 million house which they share on a hilltop overlooking the Pacific Ocean in this exclusive extra of Sep Direct sive section of San Diego.

An Omar Sharif look-alike, Behrooz Behbudi, is aided by a scholarship from the Shah of Iran whose personal adviser in real estate is Behbudi's father.

"I like the life here," said Behbudi, who is finishing up doctoral work in urban development at United States International University, a private school across town.

Dr. Karim Haary, the students' uncle, supervised construction of the house over an 18-month period and calls himself their "housefather." Architects from San Diego and Tehran worked on the project.

In the spacious kitchen with a Mexicantiled center island, the walls are paneled with diagonally cut redwood. Cabinets are antiqued custom-made birchwood.

His niece and three nephews cook their own meals and study often, Haary said in an interview.

"We like the educational system very much in the United States, also the style of living which is very casual. We think it's better than that in England." A jewel-toned Persian tapestry hangs over a fireplace, depicting the triumphs of Persian kings — one of only four in the world, Haary said.

There are five bedrooms and six bathrooms, enough to ensure the students' privacy, he said, adding that "they can have the comforts of a Persian home but without all the servants."

"It is good for them to do things for themselves," Haary said.

Simple' Solutions Discovered

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Answer Man is back today with word ton Answer Man is back today with word of a great discovery. Question: Tell us, sir, what is it you have discovered?

Answer Man: Simple solutions. The people in this town get so tied up in the complex problems, they completely lose sight of the possibility of simple solutions.

Question: Well, give us an example.

Answer Man: All right. Finding more money for the Social Security system. The complicated solution is to raise Social Security taxes and then cut income taxes to avoid overburdening the taxpayers. But the simple solution is to just switch the names of the income tax and Social Security taxes.

Question: That's all very interesting, but you've forgotten something. There are a lot of federal agencies depending on the income tax. How would we pay for the Defense Department?

the Defense Department?

Answer Man: Another simple solution.

We require the Postal Service to pay for itself; let's demand the same of the armed forces. For example, we could rent troops to West Germany and South Korea instead of giving them free service. We could charge dues to belong to the National Guard. The states and cities could contribute on the basis of the degree of defense they want: limited war would be the cheapest; nuclear deterrent the most expensive.

Question: Fascinating. What other complicated problems have simple solutions?

Answer Man: All of them. For example, the big controversy about medical school admissions of minorities. All we have to do is limit admission to students who live in the same neighborhood as the medical schools.

Question: All right, how about the energy problem? How would you get Americans to use less gasoline? Rationing?

Answer Man: Yes, but not gasoline

Answer Man: Yes, but not gasoline. Ration road maps. And if that doesn't keep people off the highways, lock up filling station restrooms. Question: What about the Panama Canal? If we give it back, how will we get our Navy between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans?

Answer Man: That's the easiest of all. Build a new canal across the United States — Charleston, S.C. to San Diego, Calif. probably is the best route. Not only would it give us a secure canal, but it would put the unemployed back to work and give the West a new source of water.

Question: Nothing seems to stump you.
How about improving mail delivery?
Answer Man: No sweat. Simply require all letters to be addressed to "occupant."
Nobody has trouble getting that kind of mail.

Question: Here's one I bet you can't solve simply. How about nuclear proliferation? How do you keep all these countries from building atomic bombs?

Answer Man: Easy. Permit nuclear testing only above ground in national capitals.

Question: Tell me, have you passed these solutions on to the president?

capitals.

Question: Tell me, have you passed these solutions on to the president?

Energy Bill Stalemate Product Of Year's Work

WASHINGTON (AP) - Absence may not make the White House grow fonder of Congress, but at least the record looks better from a distance.

It is the habit of congressional leaders, and of presidents if they happen to be of the same party, to boast of the year's work on Capitol Hill no matter what happened there.

On the legislation that President Carter said would be the year's major product, what happened was stalcmate. There is no master energy program. The negotiators are still at work. And now Congress can contemplate the prospect of raising the price of gasoline, perhaps by seven cents a gallon, to keynote a congressional election year.

According to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, the session just ended was the most productive since Lyndon B. Johnson succeeded the assassinated John F. Kennedy in 1963.

"The wheels were spinning pretty fast then," O'Neill said. "Other than that, you would have to go back to 1933." Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Congress had an excellent record, one of "extraordinary achievement." As for Carter, Byrd said, "He has done very well for a new, new president, a man who had no previous experience with Congress or Washington.'

Such getaway speeches are in the grand tradition, even after a less-than-grand year. It just hasn't been quite what was advertised when a Democratic president, the first in eight years, took office to work in supposed harmony with a Democratic Congress.

Carter said in those days that he expected they'd get along just fine — but that he wouldn't hesitate to go to the country if he saw Congress kowtowing to

He made a few remarks like that, especially on the stalled energy bill that was supposed to be the year's monument. But no sooner were such words uttered than White House spokesmen were hasten to add that the president meant no of-

And there certainly was no campaign to mobilize the country and put the heat on Congress. O'Neill told Carter that would be a mistake. It was a risk the president

Instead, he played the game the way it is always played and, at adjournment time, said it had been a very good year. By implication, he took part of the blame for work that went undone.

'We will have a much more carefully considered agenda for 1978, broadly encompassing the commitments that I have made to the American people and the issue that I have identified since I have been in office ... " he said. "I would say it is more an effective presentation because we now know better when the Congress can move rapidly and when they can't ...

"I am not discouraged about it. I am very pleased at what has been accomplished so far, although we didn't conclude 100 percent of what we proposed."

Carter cited the creation of a new Department of Energy, the approval of a $21 billion tax, jobs and public works pro-gram to stimulate the economy, and a new farm bill as among the year's gains.

He also got the authority he sought to reorganize government agencies, subject to congressional veto. Congress approved major housing legislation and has started on his welfare progress. on his welfare program.

But negotiators still are struggling to write an energy program, new department or no. There will be another effort to stimulate the economy next year, with unemployment still running close to 7 percent. There's a new farm bill, but

It wasn't long ago that Carter was say-ing energy legislation was "the major leg-islative product that we expect this year.

Municipal Bond Market Strong

By CHET CURRIER

NEW YORK (AP) — The market for tax-free municipal bonds is closing out 1977 in very strong shape, analysts say, and individual investors get a healthy share of the credit.

By all accounts, public interest in the securitiies of state and local governments has spread substantially in recent years.

According to Merrill Lynch, Pierce,
Fenner Smith Inc., the share of municipal securities held by the so-called house hold sector — as opposed to such other investors as banks and insurance companies — rose from 26.6 percent in 1972 to 32.3 percent at the end of 1976.

In a recent study of the subject, Argus Research Corp. said a combination of several factors "has transformed the investing public's attitude towards municipal securities from one of skepticism, and even suspicion, to one of strong en-

Goodwill Industries Collects Odd Items

NEW YORK (AP) - Three used coffins, minus their lids and once used to raise minnows, one rhinestone-studded suit stolen from an entertainer, an abandoned puppy and diamond rings worth $5,000 tucked away in a pair of woman's shoes are among the items that have turned up in Goodwill Industries of America collection boxes.

The organization recycles such donated tems and trains handicapped people to restore the items for reuse

First of all, analysts note, inflation and the general rise of personal incomes have pushed individuals into higher and higher income-tax brackets, increasing their desire for a tax break.

Also, as Argus notes, many states and cities are in better financial condition that at any time in several years, notwithstanding the continuing problems that prevented New York City from succeeding in its effort to sell $200 million notes last month. The economic recovery since 1975 has improved the revenues of state and local governments, Argus says, while the growth rate of expenditures has slowed. On top of those factors, small investors have responded strongly to a new means of access to the market—the mutual funds investing in tax-free bonds which began to appear in 1976. These funds are currently leading all others in the industry in sales of new shares, according to figures from the Investment Company Institute.

In October, for example, fund managers sold $177 million worth of shares in tax-free bond funds, against $163.1 mil-lion for the much larger body of funds investing in stocks.

vesting in stocks.

One tax-free bond fund which was introduced in the fall of 1976 recently reported that it had attracted more than 17,000 shareholders, for total assets of $165 million, by Sept. 30 of this year.

But Argus, while acknowledging that the present picture is rosy, voices some reservations about the market's prospects from here on out.

"The municipal recurities market to.

The municipal securities market today occupies a position of commanding strength," the firm said. "This very strength makes further gains relative to other types of securities less likely." Beyond that, Argus is predicting a rising trend in long term interest rates next year into 1979. Rising long term rates, in simplest terms, translate into declining bond prices.

bond prices.

And, the firm says, "in a generally declining bond market, municipal issues tend to weaken even more than other long-term issues.

"While municipal bonds falling due in the next few years could remain secure investments for those who expect to hold them to maturity and who can take maximum advantage of their tex-exempt status, they appear less attractive as shorter-term investment vehicles at the present

ARE YOU KEEPING CHRISTMAS?

It is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of time and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity which runs on sun time. But there is a better thing than the observance of Christ-

By CHARLES R. SMITH HONG KONG (UPI) - When the late Communist Party Chairman Mao Tsetung was preparing for China's Cultural Revolution in 1965, he had trouble getting his views published in Peking newspapers.

Frustrated by people he later had purged as "capitalist roaders," he turned to a Shanghai newspaper, the Wen Wei Pao, and a relatively unknown young writer named Yao Wen-yuan.

Yao authored the article that Mao used to really kick off the chaotic Cultural Revolution. The Wen Wei Pao was the vehicle for the article, "On the New Historical Play: Hai Jui Dismissed from Office." Party papers in Peking did not pub-lish the article until after 19 days and considerable pressure from Mao.

Wen Wei Po is doing a bit of self-criticism for its "despicable" role in aiding the "counter-revolutionary" activities of Yao and two other Shanghai leaders who formed what became known as the 'Shanghai Mafia''.

The self-criticism did not go back far enough to involve Mao. Instead it concentrated on the more recent activities of the "Shanghai Mafia" and Mao's widow, Chiang Ching, who made up what now is known as the "Gang of Four"

Shanghai's other major newspaper, Liberation Daily, also joined in the selfflagellation, according to a Shanghai Radio reported monitored in Hong Kong last week.

"In order to push their counter-revolu-tionary political program, the two Shang-hai papers controlled by the 'Gang of Four' created false history at will and used it to attack others," the two newspapers admitted in a joint article quoted by

The title of the article was, "How did the 'Gang of Four' and their followers manipulate the two Shanghai newspapers in trumpeting their counter-revolutionary political program?"

The article dealt mainly with the period in 1976 before the October purge of the four following Mao's death.

'According to rough estimation, in a short period of seven months from late February to early October 1976 when the 'Gang of Four' were smashed, the two Shanghai papers published more than 3,-800 counter-revolutionary articles and reports, totaling more than 8.7 million words. They had extremely adverse effect in Shanghai and many other places of our country," the joint article admitted.

The article did not answer the question posed in its title except to say that the gang had put its "henchmen" in charge of both papers.

"The henchmen in charge of the two Shanghai papers were well aware of the counter-revolutionary intention of the 'Gang of Four' and their followers in Shanghai," the article said. And they, too, have been purged.

riter Tries Brown Bagger' Flight To London

LONDON (AP) - The Duke and Duchess of Argyle did it. Gov. Jerry Brown of California did it. Now I've done it, flown the "Brown Bagger," the no frills, packyour-own lunch flight across the Atlantic.

But they didn't fly back on the Concorde, as I did, which is another story.

Freddie Laker, a British chap who used to sweep out aircraft hangars before he rose up in the world to own his own airline, had to fight his own government for years to bring about his dream of a lowpriced air shuttle service between New York and London.

His Skytrain, already dubbed the Brown Bagger by New York cabdrivers, began service late in September offering no frills flights to London at $135 (or to New York at $105 because of currency differences) and caused Pan American,

TWA and other competitors to provide similar rock bottom flights. Now prices are falling and frills are being snipped from the Miami and Fort Lauderdale

Tickets for the Skytrain can only be bought on the day of the flight, but the ticket office located out on Queens Boulevard in the wilds of Jimmy Breslin country gives telephone advice beginning at dawn on how many seats are still left.

I called at eight in the morning from my Connecticut hideaway and was advised by a pleasant English accent, reminiscent of Greer Garson in "Mrs. Miniver," that 310 seats remained out of 345.

When I reached the ticket window at 10:30 a.m., I handed over my passport for perusal, my credit card for payment, my suitcase for checking and, on the big board, chose seat No. 4A, which was a window in the non-smoking section. The little charmer behind the desk told me I was passenger No. 70.

The place was empty. The whole transaction took three minutes, pretty close to an airline counter record in my two decades of flitting about the globe. She told me to be back at the same office by 9:45 p.m. to catch the last free Laker bus to the United Airlines terminal at Kennedy or else proceed there on my own. Investing 50 cents in a subway ride into Manhattan, I wandered along Madison Avenue peeking into some of the specialty food shops that now pack pienic baskets for the transoceanic shuttle.

For $46, one featured "a Concordestyle supersonic snack for the no frills passenger." It included a thimbleful of caviar, roast squab in little booties and a half bottle of Moet — Chandon bubbly.

I walked over to Zeb's sandwich shop behind Grand Central Terminal and had pastrami on rye with a side order of cole slaw, letting it be known that his handiwork would be consumed somewhere off Newfoundland.

"Big deal," he said, scowling, but he threw in a couple of dill pickle slices for the road.

The last bus to the airport evoked the last train from Berlin, piled high with duffle bags, backpacks, blanket rolls and guitars, as if the occupants, some carrying babies in pajamas, were fleeing with all their earthly impedimenta.

After passing through security, there were no further check-in procedures and the Big DC-10, arrayed throughout with nine seats across the aisle, pulled away from the gate at precisely 11 p.m. Already there were veteran Brown Baggers who knew enough to assert the terriorial imperative. With a tough refugee mentality, they scarted up every pillow and champagne to set off Chef Zeb's delecta-blanket in sight and stretched out on the tion.

empty seats for an all night nap.
Our ranks included 258 passengers and 2 infants that night. I was one of three wearing a tie. As soon as the seat belt sign went off, the 10 stewardesses in tall Trilby hats rolled the drink carts down the aisles, offering liquur at 50 cents and

Four Yale Students Win Rhodes Scholarships

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Four Yale University students are among the 32 college students who have won Rhodes Scholarships.

The selections were announced Sunday by the American secretary of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust, William J. Barber, professor of economics at Wesleyan Uni-

The Yale winners are: Ann M. Olivarius of Park Ridge, N.J., founder of the Yale Women's Caucus; Oliver Miller of Kensington, Calif., who took a leave of absence from Yale to work in the Jimmy Carter campaign; Fred Cohen of Miami Beach, Fla., and Mark M. Foulon of Spokane, Wash.

The scholarships were established in 1902 in the will of British colonial pioneer Cecil Rhodes to improve international understanding.

The first American scholarship was awarded in 1903.

United States students join those from 17 other countries in two to three years of study at Oxford University in England. This is the second year that women have been eligible for the scholarship and 12 women won them. Winners are allowed to choose any field of study offered by Oxford and get an annual stipend of 3,-700 pounds.

There have been more than 2,100 American winners since 1903. Here is a list of this year's winners:

Scott and the attorneys general from Michigan and Ohio said this could cost General Motors as much as $40 million.

Bandits Rob Plush Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) - Police say five men entered the ritzy Hotel Carlyle early today and handcuffed several people, but fled after ripping open less than a dozen of the safe deposit boxes they had come to rob. It was not known how much loot

Police theorized that the robbers, described as five white men, fled when they heard a broadcast over their police radio that a patrol car was headed for 76th Street and Madison Avenue to check out a burglar alarm. Actually, the alarm was coming from a building across the street from the hotel.

Police said that after the bandits fled, shortly after 4 a.m., one of the handcuffed hotel guards made his way outside and signaled the policemen across the Police said the robbers, after handcuffing two guests, two security guards and an assistant hotel manager, tore open 11 of the safe deposit boxes.

Police said they recovered a wig, a false moustache, a police radio scanner, burglar tools, keys, and a small caliber

There were no injuries, police said.

Police noted that the method of operation of the bandits was identical to that of a gang of holdup men who have robbed several other posh hotels in Manhattan over the past few years. We are here to announce a $40 million Christmas present for over 100,000 people," Scott said at a news conference. "It is the largest consumer protection settlement in history."

Also at the news conference were Attorneys General William J. Brown of Ohio and Frank J. Kelley of Michigan, both of whom were instrumental in the six-month negotiations with GM. Scott said the agreement was "extremely fair" and binds GM in the future to "telling people exactly what engine they are getting." The settlement is subject to approval by Judge Frank McGarr of U.S. District Court. A hearing with the judge was scheduled for later in the day.

The settlement was accepted by attorneys generals in 45 states, Scott said. States not accepting terms of the agreement were California, Louisiana, Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee, said a consumers attorney fighting the settlement.

The fracas began in January when Joseph Siwek of Chicago was told by an Oldsmobile dealer he could not replace a fan belt because the Olds Siwek had bought had a Chevrolet engine.

Mail Officials Set Small Stamp Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) - As small as a postage stamp may take on new meaning under a Postal Service plan.

To save money, the Postal Service said Thursday it plans to experiment with a postage stamp one-third smaller than the current 13-cent stamp.

If the experiment gains wide acceptance, the Postal Service believes it can save money, printing 600 stamps on a sheet of stamps rather than the 400 stamps now on a sheet.

To make the test, a new 13-cent stamp picturing an 1877 Indian head penny will go on sale Jan. 11 in Kansas City, and Jan. 12 in Hartford, Conn., Richmond, Va., Portland, Ore. and Memphis, Tenn. The test stamp will also be sold at philatelic centers in larger post offices.

CYRIL RITCHARD

Aussie Actor To Be Buried Wednesday

CHICAGO (AP) - Cyril Ritchard, whose stage career spanned six decades but is most remembered for his television portrayal of Captain Hook in the musical version of "Peter Pan," will be buried Wednesday beside his wife, actress Madge Elliott.

Ritchard, whose 79th birthday was Dec. 1, died early Sunday of heart failure at Northwestern Memorial Hospital. He had been in a coma since Nov. 25, when he collapsed on stage during a performance of "Side by Side by Sondheim.

His foster son, David Bean of Chicago, said Ritchard would be buried in a private service at Ridgefield, Conn., where he maintained one of his homes.

The Australian-born actor was especially noted in the United States for three Broadway performances - as the delightfully devilish Captain Hook in "Peter Pan" in 1954, in Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet" in 1957, and in the musical "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd" in 1965.

It was his role as Hook, with Mary Martin as Peter Pan, that brought Ritchard his greatest fame in the United States.

Despite his long and varied career, including work with the Metropolitan Opera, Ritchard good-humoredly accepted that people would remember him mainly as the pirate captain "I feel when I die that's all people will

Israel, Egypt Give Report On Progress

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - Israelis and Egyptians in an unprecedented briefing today reported progress in their Cairo peace conference, but two major differences emerged over Prime Minister Men-ahem Begin's plan for the West Bank.

Arab Bloc

Critical Of Talks

Syria and Saudi Arabia denounced Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin's peace proposals today, saying they would perpetuate Israeli occupation of Arab land, which the Saudi's called "a dagger in the heart of the Arab nation.

The official radio of Saudi Arabia, an important financial backer of Egypt and the other Arab "confrontation" states bordering Israel, said there is no justification for optimism "as long as Israeli occupation of Arab territory and Jerusalem continues.

'This occupation is a dagger stuck in the heart of the Arab nation ... the dagger must be removed through Arab unity and cooperation," it said.

Syria's official radio said the Begin plan 'actually is designed to retain Israeli occupation of the West Bank of Jordan and the Gaza Strip." It also blasted the proposals for not allowing for the creation of a Palestinian state.

In Beirut, Lebanon, opponents of Sadat's peace overtures to Israel apparently tried to blow up the Egyptian Embassy. Police said an embassy guard spotted a 13-pound dynamite bomb near the entrance to the building, and police experts defused it 45 minutes before it was set to Begin's proposals, which also have been denounced by the Palestine Liberation Organization, would provide civil autonomy for the Palestinian Arabs of the West Bank and Gaza but would continue Israeli military occupation there and Israeli control of Jerusalem. Other details have not been disclosed.

"on the road to peace. Winding up a visit to Washington, Begin said Carter "considers the proposals I brought to him a fair basis to achieve peace." But he conceded that "the American endorsement couldn't be complete, of course. There will be many prob-

Sadat received the message through U.S. Ambassador Hermann F. Eilts, the semi-official Middle East News Agency said, and then left for Ismailia on the Suez Canal, where he will meet with Begin in the second Israeli-Egyptian summit since Sadat's milestone visit to Israel a month ago

The Cairo conference held its second formal plenary session this morning, lasting 50 minutes, with the Egyptian, Israeli, American and United Nations present. It then recessed for 48 hours.

In a historic joint briefing by the Israeli and Egyptian delegation spokesmen, both sides reported that progress had been made by a three-man working committee on setting up an agenda for the

However, according to Egyptian spokesman Mursi Saad elDin, "Some differences remain to be resolved."

The mood of the meeting was described by sources who had been at the closed door conference as cordial and smooth, and there were none of the sharp exchanges which marked the first session

The sources said the conference is in a state of "suspended animation" pending the forthcoming summit talks in Egypt between Sadat and Begin.

Diplomatic sources said two important differences have surfaced between Egypt and Israel over Begin's plan for the future of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan.

The officials said Carter sent a list of points from Begin's proposals presented in Washington, and Sadat took strong exception to the plan on two points: - Sadat was strongly opposed to a continued Israeli military presence on the West Bank, which the Begin plan, as unveiled in Washington, implied

- Sadat also insisted that the West Bank entity, whatever it would be called, must have a large measure of sovereignty over its own territory and must have, as a minimum, the symbols of nationhood, such as a flag and a national name.

These were not mentioned in the six principles listed by Begin in a television interview after his talks with Carter Friday and Saturday.

In the briefing after today's conference session, the Egyptian and Israeli spokesmen said a legal committee reported on its work in trying to agree on an agenda for the full conference.

The spokesmen said the agenda group had not vet agreed on the subjects to be discussed and the three-man committee will meet again Tuesday night.

The spokesmen said the formal conference itself will be adjourned until Wednesday at 11 a.m. (4 a.m. EST).

Utah Crash Of Cargo Jet Probed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Federal investigators are trying to figure out why a United Airlines DC-8F cargo jet with three crewmen aboard left a holding pattern near Salt Lake International Airport before crashing into snow-blanketed mountains 26 miles north of here.

A team of 15 to 20 rescue workers located the wreckage of the jet Sunday, but was unable to find any survivors or remains in snow up to four feet deep. The search was recessed at sundown and was to resume today.

The plane crashed at about the 7,300foot level of a peak on the north side of Bear Canyon, officials said. The wreck was some 21/2 miles from the nearest road, and rescuers had to hike in on

Davis County Sheriff Dub Lawrence said the plane hit just below the mountain top, scattering wreckage a quarter mile up the peak and down the other side. "I don't see how anyone could survive." he said.

United identified the crew as Capt. John Fender, 49, First Officer Phillip Modesitt, 46, and Second Officer Steve Simpson, 34, all of the Chicago area.

The plane was attempting to land in Salt Lake City early Sunday to pick up Christmas mail. The pilot had reported landing gear trouble and was ordered into a holding pattern.

William Lovett, chief controller at the air route traffic control center, said that just before the crash the plane left the holding pattern without explanation, headed east and could not be raised on radio by the tower.

It was the second commercial aircraft crash in the United States within a week Last Tuesday, a chartered DC-3 crashed just after takeoff at Evansville, Ind., killing all 29 aboard, including the University of Evansville basketball team and head coach.

United spokesman Jack Gamble said the jet was loaded with about one-third its 90,000-pound cargo capacity. Another United spokesman said the cargo was "non-hazardous," and included 1,200 pounds of mail.

A 20-member team, including 10 National Transportation Safety Board employees, was to begin an investigation today into the cause of the crash, said NTSB spokesman Brad Dunbar. The team's top priority would be to recover the aircraft's cockpit recorder, he said.

Patterns/Needlework Chewing Gum Connection Found

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Huge profits and a steady rise in Soviet chewing habits have given birth to a "chewing gum connection" on the weekly train from Tehran to Moscow. The traders are migrant workers from Iran's neighbor, Afghanistan.

We have no statistics, but we know a lot more Iranian gum now sticks to Soviet teeth than some years ago. And we are responsible for it," one of the traders

The Afghans, the only non-Communist Asians allowed relatively freely into Russia, claim they sell gum to Russians at 20 times the Iranian price.

"A packet of four pieces sells for 6 cents. But Soviets easily buy it for a ruble ($1.25), sometimes even two rubles," said one of the Afghans, who asked not to be Large numbers of Afghans have spilled into oil-rich Iran in search of jobs. But a tightening of Iranian immigration controls has forced them to look elsewhere for a living. The train has proved to be a good source of livelihood. Profits range up to $100 a trip, with traders usually making two trips a month.

"It's not good money, but it's enough," said one traveler, who claimed he managed to save enough to send money to his family in a village in southwest Afghani-

The Soviet authorities also condoned or ignored the Soviet middlemen involved, the travelers said.

We hardly ever go into the street to sell, although the profits are greater if we do," one of them explained.

The gum packets, tucked discreetly in-to the Afghans' traveling gear, are delivered to Uzbek middlemen in Iravan, the Armenian capital halfway between Tehran and Moscow.

Those few Afghans who speak some Russian prefer to trade in Moscow, where the profits are greater.

"But most like to change their gum into rubles as soon as the train reaches Iravan," said one. "It's good for one's peace of mind. You never can tell, you see.'

The Afghans said the "chewing gum connection" had no harmful effect on Russian or Iranian trade - "it is not smuggling, or we wouldn't be spared" but it had given them employment.

No figures are available on the number of Afghans in the trade because "people

keep dropping out... many manage to travel all the way to Europe and find jobs

The weekly train leaves Tehran every Wednesday, traversing 2,484 miles of track to reach Moscow in five days. The travelers are mostly Western tourists - Iranians rarely travel to Russia - but there is always a sprinkling of Afghans on

The Soviet "market for chewing gum is expanding. So is the Russian appetite for foreign goods, any goods," said one AfHe thought the chewing gum connection could not last by itself.

There are even greater profits in Iranian jeans, perfumes, silk, watches and shoes. A $30 pair of Iranian jeans sells for easily $100," he said.

"But how many jeans can you take there and how often can you travel?" he said. "Most of our people are scared They like to stick to the gum. "It's safe, not dangerous, we meet friendly people who give us food and lodging. We give them our gum.

Equitable Savings will give you information on tax saving retirement plans.

At Equitable Savings, we'd like to help you get ready for retirement with one of our tax deferred retirement accounts called I.R.A. (Individual Retirement Account) or Keogh. They're a great way to set aside a part of your income for retirement every year without paying taxes on it until you retire. By then, you'll likely be in a lower tax bracket.

If you're employed but not covered by a qualified retirement plan, I.R.A. allows an annual deposit up to $1500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less. Savings are fully tax deductible, and earnings compound tax deferred until distributed.

If you're self-employed, Keogh offers the same benefits and allows an annual contribution up to $7500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less.

If you have completed a qualifying program, I.R.A. Rollover is designed to roll your lump-sum distribution over into an I.R.A., to receive the tax advantage.

Diet Aid Hearing Set By CHRIS CONNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is entering the controversy over liquid protein, the fast diet food substitute which the government says may be linked to the death of more than three dozen persons.

Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., will hold hearings on the subject Dec. 28 in Los Angeles. He said Thursday he plans to look into the reports of death and injuries among persons who were on the diet.

Waxman also wants to try to determine whether the Food and Drug Administration needs wider powers to deal with substances like liquid protein. The FDA has proposed putting mandatory warning labels on both liquid and powdered protein diets.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta is investigating the circumstances in 39 deaths and 111 injuries among persons on the modified fast diet, which is geared to provide a quick, large weight

The center's director Dr. William Foege, will be among the federal health officials testifying. FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy also plans to either testify himself or send his top nutrition expert, Dr. Allen Forbes.

The committee also was expected to hear from Dr. Robert Linn, author of a best-selling book that helped popularize the liquid protein diet. Linn, a Philadelphia osteopath, wrote "The Last Chance Diet," which sold more than 2 million copies since its publication last year. Waxman said he wants to compare Linn's commercialized version of the diet with the way liquid protein is used in a weight loss clinic at UCLA. The clinic's co-director, Dr. Leslie Dornfeld, also will Linn's book says the diet is not to be used without medical supervision. Linn, who has clinics in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York and Washington, says none of the 3,000 obese patients he has treated ever became seriously ill.

sometimes too diluted, or too sweet, or not cold enough.

In an effort to reverse this trend, Canteen decided to embark on a quality assurance program designed to see to it that the soft drinks its machines were vending tasted the same as those coming out of cans or bottles.

That's not as simple as it seems, Howard C. Miller, president and chief executive of Canteen, told us, "since every soft drink vending machine is really a miniature bottling plant." In addition, he noted, water quality varies from area to area, sometimes within the same city.

"If you deliver an inconsistent product," Cannon said, "those guys in the plants - who vote every day with their money — will stop buying. You can't get 'street' prices in a captive setting, if you don't provide 'street' quality."

Canteen eventually spent $800,000 to develop new equipment and procedures to upgrade the consistency of its softdrink products, and Miller - a 51-yearold former International Telephone & Telegraph Co. executive who's not accustomed to throwing money around without seeing some bottom-line results - proudly asserts that it paid for itself in less than a year. In fact, it proved so successful, he said, that the quality assurance program has been extended to the vending of sandwiches, snacks, candy bars and coffee.

The tangible results, Miller said, have been impressive. For the first 12 months of the soft-drink program, May 1976 to May 1977, unit sales rose by 4.7 percent, the first time in years that unit sales showed an increase. That meant a pre-tax profit of $1.8 million, he told us, adding: 'That's a pretty decent return on invest-

And the gains have continued. In this year's third quarter, he said, unit sales increased by 6.1 percent over the same period a year ago. He calculates that just for that quarter, the additional gross profit came to $1.1 million, more than the $1 million it costs to run the quality assurance program over the course of an entire year.

Interestingly, the key to the success of the program was the cooperation of those two arch rivals in the soft-drink field, Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola. "In starting the program, I wanted someone with credibility in the marketplace," Miller said. "If Coke and Pepsi say something about quality in their field, it means something. So I went to them and said I want your endorsement and I want it to be visible, something like a Good Housekeeping seal of approval. And I told them they could audit our performamce.

After some hesitation, both giant companies agreed to participate and permit their seals of approval to be placed on Canteen machines.

The Pepsi seal, for example, carries the words: "The Pepsi-Cola products dispensed from this machine meet the specifications established for quality by PepsiCo Inc. These standards are verifed through a continuing program of field inspection and certified by this seal."

In return, Canteen pledged to take seven specific steps to assure the quality of the soft drinks. These are: the use of assure fresh syrup; frequent replacement of filters to eliminate any "off taste" from variations in local water supplies; installation and strict maintenance of new pumps to resist temperature and at-mospheric changes to dispense a precise ratio of syrup to soda; temperature con-trol to keep the drinks at 40 degrees or colder at the time of drinking; properly maintained carbon dioxide tanks to provide the right amount of sparkling carbonation; icemaker units that deliver just enough ice to make up one-sixth of the drink, and maintaining the entire machine in a sanitary condition, inside and

A similar program has recently begun to improve the quality and consistency of the coffee vended in Canteen machines. In addition, Miller said, the sales of candy bars and snacks have been upgraded by the increased use of longer-lasting and more-familiar national and regional brands. This has resulted in unit-sales gains of 2.9 percent for candy bars and a whopping 18.4 percent for snacks during the thirf third quarter of this year. But the real backbone of Canteen's quality assurance program lies in the inplant feeding system the company has in-stalled in the 575 industrial food installations it operates from coast to coast. It has developed a method of pre-packaging and pre-measuring all the non-fresh ingredients that go into the meals served there. The resulting "cooking-by-the-numbers" system — adjusted for regional tastes — guarantees a uniformity of quality and eliminates the vagaries of temperamental chefs, Miller noted. As a result, he said business in such facilities has increased an average of more than 10 percent.

Miller sees the industrial and business catering market growing substantially in the years ahead. "Quality assurance programs," he contends, "will separate the winners from the losers.

County Employees Seek Salary Hikes

By IRA PERRY and JEFF SOUTH

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Upset with salaries they say are so low that some have quit and many must moonlight, Lubbock County employees are circulating petitions for a 10 percent pay hike on top of the cost-of-living raise commissioners have awarded for next

The petitions, initiated by sheriff's department personnel, garnered signatures from perhaps 100 of the county's estimated 370 workers in less than a week.

Response from rank-and-file personnel would have been even greater, partici-pants in the drive charge, had not some department heads and other administrators discouraged their employees from signing — allegedly with threats workers would lose their jobs. Department heads emphatically deny having put any pressure on their employ-ees. Indeed, administrators said they too have been pushing for higher salaries for rank-and-file workers, as evidenced by Court this past summer.

The court itself seems sympathetic. But commissioners say they face in the coming year too many fiscal uncertainties, such as construction and staffing of a proposed new Lu bbock County Jail.

Upgrading of salaries beyond the five percent cost-of-living hike plugged into next year's budget must wait until at least 1979, County Judge Rod Shaw said.

Kathy Powell, director of the United Way's Community Council is ask-ing Lubbockites for help in getting Christmas presents to all 221 of these senior citizens. If they don't receive help, in her words, "They will simply do without. There will be no Christmas for them."

At Wit's End..

A woman in the neighborhood who has chosen to remain childless announced the other day that she and her husband had found a solution to their empty nest. 'Since children are so expensive and make such demands on your time, we've decided to adopt a doll. After all, they do everything a baby does and you don't have all the fuss and responsibility.' We stared at her in disbelief. Is it possible someone could be so naive? "Look, Kay," I said, "I don't know how to tell you but dolls today are not our dimpled, soft rubber, uggable cutesies that you take off all their clothes and sling under the bed. Dolls today move, and demand, and nag and nag and nag. There's Baby Comeback. When you turn her arms down, she walks away, but when the arms start going up she returns to you with arms outstretched and cries. There's Baby Telefoam who yells, "Ma!" until you squeeze her to shut up. There's Baby Won't-Let-Go that grabs tablecloths, fingers, walls, toys, people...anything, until her batteries go. And do you want to fall over Crater Erunchers and drive over Ultrasonic cooters in the driveway?

'Baby Alive" eats and fills her diapers all day long. Her brother comes with all the parts and you'll have to worry about their playing doctor.

"There's also Baby Heartbeat, who comes equipped with stethescope and a thermometer and is sick all the time, and there's the baby who blows bubbles, slobbers all over you and another called Baby Pretend that hangs on the phone

"Wait until you see Tippy Tumbles who stands on her hands to get your attention - and the Mashatron which, when you reach out to strike it, the arms, legs and head fall off."

Kay thought for a moment. "So, I'll get an older child."

'You wanta foot the bill for Cher's wardrobe and her dressing room with an American Indian motif? Or Suntan Tuesday who tans but comes with three homes? Or pick up the tab for Barbie's interchangeable heads? Or Donnie and Marie Osmond's own TV studio?

'How are you going to run a home with a Bionic man and woman running around with their bionic ear, bionic eye and bionic arm? Not to mention the Micronaut Biotron who converts to a tank. Believe me, Kay, you're asking for trouble when you adopt Super Joe Commander. Press his back and he delivers a quick left or right uppercut.

The Slim Gourmet

What tastes rich and expensive, although it's cheap and calorie-shy? (Hint: it rhymes with "gourmet.") Pate, what else! It even sounds expensive: "Dahling Have some pah-tay!" Leave it to the French to make a whole paragraph out of a four-letter word.

Many pates ARE expensive and fattening, but not these: LOW-CALORIE LIVER PATE

1 lb. beef liver 2 tbsp. diet margarine l onion, sliced

I stalk celery, trimmed I clove garlic, peeled

2 tbsp. lemon juice

salt and pepper Cook liver in diet margarine in a non-stick skillet over low heat. (Don't overcook. Liver should be slightly pink in the middle.) Cool. Put liver, onion, celery and garlic through food mill, processor or blender. Add lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. Blend to a smooth paste. Chill thoroughly before serving. Makes six appetizer servings, 135 calories each. TURKEY PATE

2 cups ground cooked turkey meat 2 hardcooked eggs, peeled and shred-

1 tbsp. white wine

salt and pepper to taste pinch of cayenne pepper or chili powder (to taste)

2 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley 3 or 4 tbsp. low-fat mayonnaise

Combine ingredients, adding just enough mayonnaise to make a paste. Chill until serving time. Serve with saltines or crackers. Makes six appetizer servings, about 130 calories each. Here's a hearty chicken liver pate that's a Jewish favorite. Our version is without the unfavored extra calories.

Rejection Hurts In Philippines

By United Press International

MANILA, Philippines — It is no secret in Manila that the Philippine government is keenly disappointed by the United Nations' rejection of its offer to hold the 1978 General Assembly session in the Philippine capital.

Holding the session in Manila would have helped fill the empty rooms in the capital's many new luxury hotels. It also would have given Manila a chance to display before the world its lavish convention facilities and President Ferdinand E. Marcos could have seized the opportunity to defend the policies of his martial law government.

Despite long and hard lobbying by the Filipino delegation to the United Nations, however, the General Assembly decided to turn down the invitation. The major developed nations rejected the offer, citing the prohibitive costs involved and the precedent it would set for future General Assembly sessions.

TAIPEI, Taiwan - Nationalist Chinese military authorities have denied and will continue to deny reports that some of their destroyers are equipped with Israeli-made Gabriel ship-to-ship missiles.

But informed sources say three of Taiwan's 27 destroyers, the backbone of the navy's fighting force, were armed a year age with Gabriels, whose range is not known, but are believed superior to the Styx missiles employed by Communist Chinese warships.

An unknown number of additional Nationalist destroyers in the past year have had the same type of missiles installed

all the ones

and the Nationalists also have acquired from Israel an unidentified type of shoreto-ship missile

In addition, the sources say, the arsenals on Taiwan are producing anti-ship missiles with self-guidance systems supplied by Israel.

SEOUL, South Korea - The controversial Tongsun Park scandal is finally near settlement and it is a foregone conclusion that he will be going to the United States to testify on alleged Korean influence peddling.

Whether his return to American actually will settle the controversy for good re-mains to be seen. Remaining issues in-clude whether he should testify before Congress and whether he will be immune from a perjury indictment after he does

Some government officials in Seoul are viewing the Park scandal with an eye toward the next U.S. elections. Some say the dispute may be kept alive until after the national U.S. polls.

TOKYO - North Korea's foreign trade is in a mess, but Foreign Trade Minister Kye Ung-tae is doing fine.

Kye's government has been stalling for two years on payment of $2 billion owed foreign nations for industrial machinery and North Korea has even reneged on

He has begun sitting in with President Kim Il-sung on talks with visiting dignitaries and North Korea's KCNA news agency recently confirmed what South Korea has long suspected — Kye is now a member of his country's ton decision— Korea has long suspected — Kye is now a member of his country's top decisionmaking body, the Politburo.

TOKYO - Nobuhiko Ushiba, Japan's new cabinet minister in charge of overseas economic affairs, may be a veteran diplomatic negotiator but he probably will find his current job a difficult one, government sources say.

Ushiba's initial task will be to win U.S. approval of a set of new measures his government announced recently to reduce Japan's huge trade surplus with

The United States, however, is not expected to give its support to the measures because they do not include liberalization of certain farm products Washington has

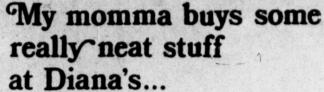

Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda's cabinet. Sources say it may be rough sailing ahead for Ushiba on a mission aimed at coming to terms with the United States.

SINGAPORE - Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew is far from talking about a successor yet, but political observers say there are three "tough-minded, sensitive" men he thinks most likely would fill the bill.

They are Tan Eng Liang, senior minister of state for national development; Bernard Chen Tien Lap, minister of state for defense; and Goh Chok Tong, senior minister of state for finance.

Each is a man of high caliber and, all in their 30's, have been highly praised by Lee publicly for their leadership abilities.

promises to keep up interest payments on the money.

Kye, meanwhile, keeps getting promoted. In December of 1976, he was given the rank of vice premier while keeping sper second second the foreign trade portfolio.

U.S.-Japanese Relations Deteriorating Over Trade

TOKYO (AP) - Japan's minister for external economic affairs said Sunday that American feeling toward Japan "is deteriorating beyond expectation" as a result of the current trade dispute.

Nobuhiko Ushiba spoke at a news conference after returning from trade talks in Washington and Brussels, Belgium. He said he had found it "extremely difficult" to appease protectionist sentiment in Congress caused by Japan's huge surplus in trade with the United States. At the Washington talks, American officials said Japanese proposals to diminish the surplus were insufficient.

WEATHER FORECAST - Rain was forecast today for the mid-Atlantic region. Mild weather was expected for the Gulf coast but most of the country was expected to range from cool to cold. (AP Laserphoto Map)

Dentist Continues Practice At 84

By MARIE HARRIS

A-J Correspondent
PLAINVIEW — Dr. E.H. Kirchhoff of Plainview, who will be 84 on Jan. 21, may be tthe oldest practicing dentist of the 3,000 in Texas—and he likely is the oldest one who still puts in 8 to 10 busy hours a day at the office.

"I love my profession so much," smiled the doctor, "that when I return from a vacation I have to work two weeks to get

In the 59 years he has been practicing, Dr. Kirchhoff figures he has made a little over 10,000 sets of dentures, and still is making about 200 sets a year. During the last half of his practice, Dr. Kirchoff has eliminated all of his work except dentures

Dr. Kirchhoff has done dental work for three, and even four, generations in one family. "You worked on my grandfather, so you ought to do my dental work also," is a common plea.

Mrs. Kirchhoff, a graduate nurse who trained at Good Samaritan Hospital in Vincennes, Ind., has been her husband's assistant since 1935. They were married Dec. 26, 1940.

"We could not have continued without all our good patients," commented Dr. Kirchhoff. He has made dentures for patients from San Francisco, Phoenix, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Chicago, Indiana and San Antonio, as well as for those in Plainview and area. "All were reference cases," he explained.

"During the depression in the 1930s, I never refused service to anyone who could not pay — I never turned down a patient be-cause he had no money, because nobody had any money then," stated Dr. Kirchhoff. "I remember one week I worked busy as could be and collected only $13." He took care of one family with five sons and one of the "boys" is still his patients.

The remarkable dentist has been in the hospital only once in his life. He sees so well he still gets his driver's license without glasses, and has smoked every day for the past 75 years, changing from a pipe smoked in early years to his present choice of cigars. And above all, he still retains his sense of humor.

His folks came to America in 1837 from Germany and Dr. Kirchhoff, who describes himself as "an Irishman from the left bank of the Rhine," was born in Knox County, Ind., on Jan. 21, 1894. The name Kirchhoff means "churchyard" in German.

After finishing high school in Knox County, Ind., he graduated from the School of Dentistry of Indiana University at Indianapolis, and did post-graduate work at Northwestern University in Chicago. For nine years he practiced in the little coal mining town of Bicknell, Ind., before coming to Plainview in 1928. He served in the Army hospital at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., in

Mrs. Kirchhoff, the former Mildred Brooks, also was born in Knox County, Ind., where Kirchhoff as a youth worked for her

In addition to being her husband's assistant, she cleans the office, cooks and does housekeeping at their home at 808 Lexington St., takes care of nine apartments they own and does needlework for relaxation.

In a family of nine boys and four girls, Dr. Kirchhoff has three brothers living, one of whom is Hal Kirchholf of Plainview. The dentist has one son, John Joe Kirchhoff, and two grandchildren, John Edwin Kirchhoff with the Abilene National Bank, and Mary Karen Kirchhoff, who teaches school in Dallas.

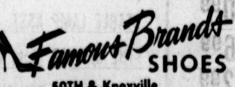

Dr. Kirchhoff thought of retiring two different times, but after being out of the office three weeks he had to get back. "I'm happier working," he said, "but one of these days I'm going to have to sign my practice over."

Good Samaritan' Murdered

KANSAS CITY Mo. (UPI) - Police today held two suspects in the slaying of a 34-year-old construction worker who was killed trying to rescue a woman from a

Officers said the two men were arrested Sunday night in connection with the slaying of Dennis Michael Van Dyke after police received a telephone call from an nonymous tipster.

The tipster also led police to a blonde woman officers believe was the one Van Dyke was trying to rescue early Saturday when he was stabbed while 40 witnesses stood by and watched.

Police said the woman, who was not in custody, may also face charges in the Police said witnesses told them Van Dyke jumped on the man's back and fought him. He fell to the ground after being stabbed and the man, and another in the car, and the woman left the scene

Van Dyke would have celebrated his third wedding anniversary Dec. 26.

"There was no insurance and of course we have bills to pay," his widow said.

"But we'll manage somehow. I'm going to have to go back to work."

James Van Dyke said his brother may have been robbed by his killer.

"When Mike left home Friday he had $200 on him." he said. "When I picked up his personal effects from Truman Med Center there was only $14.90. I have yet to find his billfold or personal IDs ... I can't understand what happened to that.

Scientists Baffled By Blasts

PALISADES, N.Y. (AP) - High-altitude explosions, some equal in force to a 100-ton dynamite blast, have been shattering windows and frightening residents from Connecticut to South Carolina. The explosions have scientists baffled.

William Donn, who conducts acoustical research at Columbia University's Lamont Laboratory here, said his air pressure equipment has detected seven separate explosions. Two blasts on Dec. 2 and five more last Thursday made readings on air pressure instruments, he said.

He said the explosions were much too violent to have been caused by superson-

A Pentagon spokesman said defense officials had no knowledge of the booms and knew of no military tests that could have caused them.

"It's amazing that something like this could happen without anybody knowing about it," Donn said.

The explosions occurred about 50 miles offshore and were too high to disturb ocean wave patterns, he said. Seismic equipment at the laboratory registered no earth movements at the time of the

"What I heard was one loud boom, and the house sort of shook," said Joseph Manger, a police officer in Barnegat Township, N.J., of the Dec. 2 incident.

Donn said people on the South Carolina shore, where one of Thursday's explosions was felt, told him the boom shook their homes and in some cases broke win-

Donn said employees at the Oyster Creek nuclear power plant in southern New Jersey heard the Dec. 2 explosion. "They thought it was an earthquake," he

The exact locations of the explosions remain as mysterious as their cause, Donn said. Simultaneous readings from separate locations would be needed to pinpoint the location but no other research facility in the nation has atmospheric instruments as sensitive as those at Lamont, he said.

Although vibrations from the explosions were felt primarily along the shore, residents from some inland areas felt them, said Donn. "I got a call from a lady who lives 25 miles west of the George Washington Bridge (between Manhattan and New Jersey) who heard it," he said.

Porno Fighter Ends Stay Behind Bars

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - After spending two nights in jail to the distress of his failers and the anger of his supporters, the Rev. Wayne Dillabaugh received a warm welcome at his church.

"The liberals would have us believe that God is dead," he said Sunday, picking up his anti-pornography campaign where it had been interrupted by a dispute over a spanking of a church school

Dillabaugh, 34, went to jail after refusing to post bond on a misdemeaner battery charge stemming from a paddling he gave a 5-year-old student for failing to raise his hand before speaking.

Dillabaugh's attorney says his client is a target of harassment by law enforcement officials because of his leadership in a protest against nude nightclub enter-

Jailers said they were swamped with telephone calls supporting the Northport Baptist Church pastor.

At the jailers' request, he was freed Friday by Dane County Court while about 400 persons attended a rally during which clergymen complained about government interference in church affairs.

Dillabaugh had rejected a $200 bond offer from a nightclub owner, who accused the pastor of "using the jail as his pul-

His church was filled to capacity Sunday for his return. His sermon was aimed squarely at the morals of the city.

"There is a great movement today that is both anti-Christ and anti-God, and that spirit certainly lives in the city of Madison," Dillabaugh told about 200 parishoners and a cluster of newsmen.

Dillabaugh censured teaching of evolution in public schools, saying: "Some of you may look like an amoeba, but that doesn't mean you came from one.'

During his sermon Sunday, Dillabaugh pounded the pulpit, and defended the use of punishment to maintain discipline in his church school.

"Our kids aren't in jail," he said. "They don't use drugs. If they were all like our kids, we wouldn't need police.' A pretrial hearing for Dillabaugh has been set for Jan. 6. Dummy Helps Give Sermon

GORELSTON, England (UPI) - Parishoners at St. Andrew's Anglican Church can say they have a dummy for a preacher without being disrespectful. Their pastor is a ventriloquist.

Charlie, the dummy, was perched on the rostrum for the first time last week alongside the Rev. Colin Cooper to the delight of the congregation. "They did enjoy it," Cooper said. "I don't know if he will increase the size of my congregation. But I did seem to get a good crowd with him in Bermada.'

Cooper, 37, got the idea of using a dummy from a vicar in Islington where Cooper served as curate for several years. Then he took a church in Bermuda and bought a ventriloquism book and Charlie.

"I really use him to help me tell a story. Charlie reacts and he gives an amusing interlude and a bit of light relief," Cooper said.

Actress Makes Presence Felt In Eastwood Film ably Anne Bancroft and Shirley Ma-

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Nearest thing to invisibility for an actress is a costarring role with Clint Eastwood, unless she happens to be Sondra Locke who plays opposite the big guy for a second time in "The Gauntlet."

Sondra's nude scene in Clint's "The Outlaw - Josey Wales" contributed to her visibility two years ago. But audiences traditionally leave an Eastwood film little caring or knowing who played his leading lady.

Eastwood is a formidable figure on screen whose presence dominates the action, of which there is always plenty. Actresses tend to blend into the scenery.

A delicate blonde with soft blue eyes Sondra, at 102 pounds and 5-foot-4 (a full foot shorter than Clint) might easily be lost in their scenes. But she is a powerful actress who leaves a marked impression in "The Gauntlet."

For the first time in an Eastwood epic the feminine character shares fully in the action and decision-making.

"This picture has all the excitement and special effects that most Eastwood movies have," Sondra said. "But there's also a dramatic relationship between the characters.

"Hardly ever do you combine the dramatic element with the commercial aspects of a movie like this. But we provided both.

"Clint was the director, too. He's very generous with his actors, always cutting to the other person in a scene.

Usually I get so immersed in a role I don't think about such things. But this picture was very different from 'Josey Wales.

'My role in 'Josey' was easy and I thought of it as an adventure. The second time around I was truly nervous because of the responsibility I was given. Normally I do a role to please myself because I'm self-critical. If I'm happy, I think others will be too.

"In 'The Gauntlet,' and for the first time in my career, I told myself, 'I've got to please him, Eastwood."

Sondra soon settled down, but she remained aware that she was playing a strong and forceful woman

She walked a fine line between being feminine and strong without emasculating Eastwood, as if such a thing were possible in the first place.

"People associate strength with masculinity," Sondra said. "In this age of action movies specializing in masculine virtues, it's very difficult for an actress to play a

"In the old days Joan Crawford and Bette Davis managed to be strong and feminine simultaneously. So did Irene Dunne. The best example of all, perhaps, was Vivien Leigh as Scarlett O'Hara.

"They dominated the screen, but not the leading man. Actually, a strong woman adds to the masculinity of the man she is playing opposite. Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy played powerful characters to their mutual advantage.

"Claudette Colbert didn't dominate Clark Gable in 'It Happened One Night.' Yet she played a very strong woman.

You need a strong and talented man to begin with if you hope to maintain your femininity. But I think a good many leading men confuse masculinity and strength. They're insecure about women's roles that accentuate strength.

"An actress never has to worry about bowling over an actor like Clint Eastwood who is as secure in his masculinity as any man I've ever known."

Some actresses have managed to get around the conflict between strong men and equally strong women roles by appearing opposite other women, most notcLaine in "The Turning Point" and Jane Fonda and Vanessa Redgrave in "Julia." Sondra, however, doesn't think many such films will be made. She reasons that audiences prefer men and women working together in movies.

Women's pictures aren't the answer," she said. "I think the reason actresses are taking a back seat to actors is that they're putting the wrong woman on screen. "They seem to put a new fashion model in a starring role every year. And being pretty simply isn't enough. It's boring. 'The models look as if they'd all been

Dancer Wins Good Marks From Critic

By MARY CAMPBELL NEW YORK (AP) - Donna McKechnie, who realized sudden Broadway startom three years ago in "A Chorus Line," turned to modern dance last week and scored there, too.

She danced on the opening night of the Theter Dance Collection four-performrun at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in "Spy." The work is based on Anals Nin's "Spy in the House of Love." Mss McKechnie was the wife, sometimes dressed elegantly, sometimes a beach bunny, sometimes in bawdy-house red, taking lovers, going home to her husband. The "masks" she put on, not knowing her own identity, were danced by three other women.

Otten Miss McKechnie danced with SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Helpers may be hard to come by if you treat them disdainfully tomorrow. Remember, Santa keeps his elves because he makes them feel important.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In dealing with youngsters tomorrow you could run into a battle of wills. If you feel your position is fair and just, stick to your guns.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Schedule domestic chores, especially unpleasant ones, early in the day. Otherwise you'll never quite catch up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Check carefully anything in writing be-fore you send it off tomorrow. You could err through haste, and chance your intended meaning.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) When shopping tomorrow, be aware of your bank balance. You have an unfortunate predilection for spending too lavishly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Domestic situations will not be exactly to your liking tomorrow, but they're not as bad as you may make them. Curb impulses to over-

Baker may be an industrial-strength tough guy in films, but in the flesh he's an articulate, soft-spoken, pleasant man. He even holds a degree in business, of all things, from North Texas State.

It was there, he said, he got into the business of acting.

The decision was preceded by much indecision, he added: "When I was a freshman, I said, 'Well, next year I'll know what I want to do.' Sophomore year, I said the same thing.

Bernstein Songfest 'Uneventful' By MIKE SILVERMAN

NEW YORK (AP) - A leaping, lunging Leonard Bernstein conducted the New York premiere of his latest composition last week - a something-for-everybody 'American Songfest" whose whole adds up to less than the sum of its often tuneful, jazzy parts.

Commissioned for the Bicentennial but completed a year too late, the setting of 13 American poems for orchestra and six singers had its first performance two months ago in Washington.

Bernstein wanted a broad range to represent the diversity of the American experience. So the poets span the years from the mid-1600s when Anne Bradstreet wrote to the near-present of writers like Lawrence Ferlinghetti and Gre-

Also included are two blacks, Langston Hughes and June Jordan; a Puerto Rican, Julia De Burgos; a homosexual, Walt Whitman, and a lesbian, Gertrude

Musically the most effective numbers are a moody baritone solo to Whitman's "To What You Said"; a rapturous trio for women's voice to Miss Bradstreet's "To My Dear And Loving Husband"; a witty duet to Miss Stein's prose-poern "Storyette H.M.," and the finale, an exalted hymn for all the singers to Edgar Allan Poe's "Israfel "

Other settings seem derivative and uninspired — as in the too-easy Latin lilt to the Puerto Rican poem or the "West Side Story"-like syncopation in Ferlinghetti's "The Pennycandystore Beyond The El."

The chief problem with the work is the failure of the sequence of songs to produce any clear cumulative effect. One is left with some nice moments, but Bernstein has not achieved the overall artistic statement about America that was his in-

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) - "Dad, I believe there's a plane crash down

Fourteen-year-old Scott Fleming of Shreveport had been looking out the window Sunday on a flight home from a Texas quail hunt when he glimpsed an upside-down plane near Alice, Texas.

The boy's father, Richard Fleming, said he circled his airplane lower for a closer look and saw "a young lady waving frantically" beside her aircraft.

The pilot turned out to be Diana M. Tucker of San Antonio, who had flipped her plane while landing on a freshly plowed field on her first solo cross-country flight.

The woman was uninjured, but frightened. Fleming said he radioed for help and circled the area until a helicopter arrived to pick up her up and carry her to have at least two thirds of the signatures of all county employees for this to be effective.

What the petition drive can accomplish, however, is unclear.

Even if an overwhelming majority of employees support the effort, county officials question whether the grievance committee can be called to hear the ap-

State law provides: "Any elected county or precinct officer who is aggrieved by the setting of his salary, expenses or other allowances by the commissioners court may request a hearing before the committee."

But no mention is made of the availability of the salary grievance committee to non-elected employees.

"They can get signatures from every county employee from here to Dallas, but it won't do any good," said one top Lubbock County official. "The way the law reads, the grievance committee process is only for elected officers."

The only elected officials reportedly expected to sign the Lubbock County petition are some local justices of the peace.

It seems doubtful, however, that an ap-peal by a few Justices of the Peace could be expanded to include all county employ-

Another problem is that actions by the grievance committee are not necessarily binding upon the commissioners court.

The law says: "If, after a hearing, the committee by a vote of six (of a total nine) of its voting members decides to recommend a change in the salary...of the person requesting the hearing, it shall are its recommendations in writing and deliver to the commissioners court, which shall consider the recommendation at its next meeting.

"A written recommendation signed by all nine members and delivered to the commissioners court becomes effective without action of the commissioners court on the first day of the month following its delivery to the commissioners

Voting members of the committee are

Sheriff C.H. "Choc" Blanchard, Tax Assessor-Collector Russell Hardin, Treasurer Connie Nicholson, County Clerk Frank Guess, District Clerk J.R. Dever, Criminal District Attorney Alton Griffin and three citizens chosen by commissioner Smith Keller, Roger Guess and Dr. Felipe

Shaw said he realizes salaries for some categories of Lubbock County employees are below the pay levels of comparable positions in other local governmental entities and the private employment sector. 'We're very much concerned with the situation. Our employees are good, hardworking, dedicated people. We don't want to lose them," he said.

"But folks have to understand that the county right now is going through a period of not knowing what our financial outlay will be for the immediate future."

Millions of Americans are warding off the chill of long winter nights with roaring log fires. Consumers will find it pays to know something about the wood they

Fireplaces seem to be growing in popularity. A spokesman for the National Association of Home Builders said Census Bureau figures show 58 percent of all new homes built in 1976 had at least one fireplace, compared to only 37 percent in

A growing number of people also are using firewood in wood-burning stoves. Since stoves are more efficient than fireplaces the price of the wood burned in them becomes competitive with that of

But it is also important to realize that fires in fireplaces waste energy. As much as 20 percent of the air in your house can be pulled up the chimney in an hour when a fire is burning.

Unless you install special equipment, more than three-fourths of the heat produced by the fire will go up the chimney.

To select the right firewood, you must take into consideration the size of your fireplace and the type of fire you want. The best fires come from a mixture of Softwoods like pine, spruce and fir catch fire easily and burn quickly with a hot flame. They are good to use to start your fire, but a blaze made entirely of this kind of logs needs constant replenishment or it will burn out rapidly. Your expensive woodpile also will disappear

For a long-lasting fire, you should choose denser hardwoods like ash, beech, birch, hickory, maple and oak. They burn with a shorter flame than softwoods but last longer. Oak gives the most uniform flame and provides steady, glowing coals.

Logs from fruit and nut trees such as apple, cherry, hickory and pecan give off some of these after you've got your fire

Most wood will not burn well unless it is dry. The easiest way to make sure the wood is properly seasoned is to buy it several months before you use it. If this isn't practical, look for wood with cracks in the end pieces; freshly cut wood will have tight, solid ends with visible sawmarks.

The most common measure of firewood is the standard cord which measures eight feet by four feet by four feet or 128 cubic feet. A standard cord of dense, dry hardwood generally weighs about two tons and provides as much heat - assuming none of it is wasted as a ton of coal, 150 to 175 gallons of heating oil or 24,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

Few people burn eight- or four-foot logs so most dealers cut the wood into called a face cord. A face cord of 16-inch lengths is one-third the size of a full cord. Look for a cord that is tightly stacked without large gaps between the logs. If you buy according to weight instead of volume, look for the driest wood. Don't pay for extra water.

quate for a season.

You may be able to get free fuel from dumps and landfills. The government's Consumer Information Center says that as much as 30 percent of the debris in some dumps consists of reusable wood fibers, including logs and branches felled

Cheap firewood also may be available at sawmills and lumber yards with scraps to dispose of. If you're ambitious, you may want to chop your own logs, either by cutting dead trees on your own property or on federal land if you live near a whose respiratory illness sparked a rush to yank asbestos ceilings out of school buildings is back in classes. His mother says he may have suffered lung damage. The school superintendent shrugs off her threats of a lawsuit.

A year ago, Joseph Sarraf, 14, began having breathing difficulties. Irene Sarraf, his mother, raised such a furor about flaking asbestos ceilings at the Ramtown School in Howell Township that officials closed six elementary schools over Christmas to remove the ceilings.

Joseph entered the ninth grade at Howell High School in September, recovered from his respiratory illness. He had been taken out of classes after Dr. Michael Quatrella, an Asbury Park, N.J., pediatrician, said his breathing problems might have been caused by inhaling asbestos particles

"Only the future will tell how much damage he suffered," said Mrs. Sarraf, who maintains her son's illness was caused by asbestos, even though Quatrella later changed his diagnosis to mononeucleosis. Asbestos ceilings were widely used in the 1950s as a fire preventive measure, but the practice was stopped when scientists linked the inhalation of asbestos particles to respiratory disease and lung can-

"Something bad has to happen before someone will do something to correct the situation," Mrs. Sarraf said. "All evidence is there to tell these children will have problems.

Schools Superintendent Sidney Zaslavsky said replacement of the ceilings which cost the school system $68,000, is 95 percent complete.

He said other New Jersey school districts received state and federal funding to remove the asbestos, but Howell Township had to foot the entire bill.

Mrs. Sarraf said she still plans to file a $20 million law suit against the school board, but the suit is being delayed while lawyers investigate the case. Official notice of her intentions was filed with the board last March. She is seeking $10 million in compensatory damages and $10 million in punitive dam-

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) - A man walked into police headquarters, beat a radio dispatcher and critically wounded a police sergeant and a bail bondsman Sunday night, authorities said. Other officers shot and critically wounded the gunman.

Sgt. Robert Wayne Cupid was wounded in the head and shoulder and was in critical condition at Our Lady of the Lake Hospital. Br dsman August Arnold, 44, was shot in the arm, but doctors said the bullet may ave passed into his body and lodged near his spine. The gunman, whose name was not released, also was in critical condition.

'He just walked in and started blasting," said a police spokesman. "I understand he's been arrested before."

The spokesman said the shooting may have been racially motivated. The gunman was black.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM

11 Then he told me, "You must prophesy further about many peoples, nations, tribes, and kings.

CHAPTER 11

I Now I was given a measuring stick and told to go and measure the temple of God, including the inner court where the altar stands, and to count the number of worshipers.1

2 "But do not measure the outer court," I was told, "for it has been turned over to the nations. They will trample the Holy City for forty-two months.2

3 And I will give power to My two witnesses to prophesy 1,260 days2 clothed in sackcloth.

4 These two prophets are the two olive trees,3 and two candlesticks standing before the God of all the earth.

5 Anyone trying to harm them will be killed by bursts of fire shooting from their mouths.

6 They have power to shut the skies so that no rain will fall during the three and a half years they prophesy, and to turn rivers and oceans to blood, and to send every kind of plague upon the earth as

7 When they complete the three and a half years of their solemn testimony, the tyrant who comes out of the bottomless pit⁴ will declare war against them and conquer and kill them;

8,9 And for three and a half days their bodies will be exposed in the streets of Jerusalem (the city fittingly described as "Sodom" or "Egypt")-the very place where their Lord was crucified. No one will be allowed to bury them, and people from many nations will crowd around to gaze at them.

10 And there will be a worldwide holiday-people everywhere will rejoice and give presents to each other and throw parties to celebrate the death of the two prophets who had tormented them so much!

11 But after three and a half days, the spirit of life from God will enter them and they will stand up! And great fear will fall on everyone. 12 Then a loud voice will shout from heaven, "Come up!" And they will rise to heaven in a cloud as their enemies watch. 13 The same hour there will be a terrible earthquake that levels a tenth of the city, leaving 7,000 dead. Then everyone left will, in their terror, give glory to the God

tion Of Food To Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Food production in the developing countries will fall as much as 145 million tons short of deas much as 145 million tons short of de-mand by 1990 — more than three times the shortage experienced in 1975, a new study said Sunday. The report by the International Food Policy Research Institute said that despite good crops over the past two years, long term food prospects remain unfa-vorable, particularly in the low-income, food-deficit countries.

In those countries the food deficit will rise from the 12-million-ton shortage of 1975 to 70 to 85 million tons in 1990, the study concluded.

Production shortfalls also are projected for the middle- and high-income food-deficit countries, though their needs are generally less urgent than those of the low-income group, the report said. The shortfall for all food-deficit countries in 1975 amounted to 37 million tons. The report said even if the projected market demand is met, large gaps would still remain between the 1990 consu tion levels and recommended dietary levels in the developing countries.

"To meet both projected market demands and dietary needs would require 170 to 185 million tons more than to 100." jected output of major staples in 1990,"

"In most low-income countries, policy choices to cope with the food problem are limited," the study said.

rapid increases in food production," the study said, and commercial imports needed to fill the projected deficit are doubtful because of the large amount of foreign exchange that would be required and the need to finance other development activities.

"Prospects for obtaining such massive amounts of food aid also appear unlikely," according to the study.

The report recommended that development efforts "emphasize policies to radi-cally improve (food) production perform-ance," but warned that even with more efficient crop and livestock production, there will not be enough of an increase to provide the 4 percent rise needed to meet

India will account for about one-third of the projected deficit in Asia, the study said, and Bangladesh and Indonesia will have sizeable 1990 deficits.

In sub-Sahara Africa, the study said, Nigeria will have a deficit almost as large as India's. It noted that production has been rising at one-half of 1 percent a year but population has been growing at 3 per-

For middle-income developing countries, the deficit is expected to double by 1990, according to the study, but it said some of them have favorable foreign exchange prospects and others, like Brazil, have had rapid increases in food produc-

Sterilization Asked For Blind Girls

By DAN HALL HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Parents of three adolescent girls who are blind, deaf and retarded are waiting for a federal judge to act on their request for an order that their daughters be sterilized.

The six parents, who have not been publicly identified, went to U.S. District Court after the John Dempsey Hospital and five other hospitals refused to perform uterectomies, surgical removal of

The parents argue that the girls are incapable of dealing with their developing exual urges. Sterilization would eliminate the threat of dangerous complications that would accompany pregnancy in their cases, they say.

The girls must be sedated even for routine physical examinations, and it is uncertain how they would react during pregnancy, the parents say. The girls range in age from 12 to 15 and are residents at the Oak Hill School for the Blind in Hartford.

State law permits sterilization by physicians only after a patient has given legal

"The Dempsey Hospital as well as the other hospitals denied the parents the operation mainly because the law is that parental consent for an incompetent pern is not informed consent," said attorney John McNamara, a University of Connecticut counsel who represents the hospitals in the case. Dempsey Hospital is part of the University of Connecticut Medical Center in Farmington. U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumen feld, who is hearing the case, has said it is uncertain whether his court has jurisdiction in the matter. He could recommend that it be referred to another court, such as Probate Court.

Judge Blumenfeld has appointed three lawyers as legal guardians for the girls in the case. The guardians have filed a series of motions seeking more medical and other information.

President Opposing Assistance

By JUAN J. WALTE WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Carter iministration gives every indication o tions violating human rights amid signs Latin American nations are less demanding of neighboring countries.

Development loans to Argentina totaling nearly $200 million were opposed by the Carter administration because of charges the nation's military rulers violate human rights.

But the four loans from the Washington-based Inter-American Development Bank were granted to Argentina anyway, with most of the IDB's 11-member board of directors rejecting links between political and economic issues.

Many Latin American members argue injection of an issue such as human rights into loan voting procedures is a violation of the hemispheric bank's charter.

Administration officials have confirmed that the U.S. representative on the bank board voted against the four loans following a State Department decision to vote "nay" rather than abstain as has been done in other recent human rightsrelated decisions

The decision to oppose the loans for Argentine industrial and energy development plans came at a time when some believed the Carter administration was softening its human rights policy.

President Carter as recently as last Thursday reaffirmed his administration's emphasis on human rights.

Other governments and the dissidents in Eastern Europe and the political prisoners on Latin America and Asia know where we stand," Carter told a news con-"We have strengthened our foreign policy on human rights. We are letting it be known clearly that the United States stands for the victims of repression; we stand with the tortured and the unjustly imprisoned, and with those who have

The $194.9 million in loans for Argentina were approved by the IDB's board of directors, representing the bank's 41

The loans, two of which were approved Dec. 8, included a $36 million loan for the construction of a 215-mile gas pipeline construction of a 213-mile gas pipeline linking southern Argentina (Tierra del Fuego) with the greater Buenos Aires metropolitan area; a $53.9 million loan to build a long-fiber cellulose and paper plant in Misiones province; and two loans for $105 million for the construction of a petrolchemical complex in the port city of Bahia Blanca, south of Buenos Aires.

Many Americans Changing Views On Panama Treaty, Ford Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Ford says significant numbers of Americans are shedding their "emotional attachment" to the Panama Canal and now believe that ratification of the canal treaty is in the national interest. Ford told a news conference Sunday that accelerating public support for the treaty, which would relinquish American control of the waterway by the year 2000, probably will result in Senate approval

Bus Driver's First Mishap Kills Three

NASHVILLE, Tenn (AP) - The driver of a Greyhound bus, which crashed killing three persons and injuring 32 others, had an accident-free record in 24 years of service for the company, police say.

Traffic officer Mike Windsor said Sunday he interviewed the driver, William Logan, 49, of Franklin, Tenn. 'It appears to me he just hit his brakes and hydroplaned," Windsor said. The Saturday night accident occurred when the bus, bound from Chicago to Miami, swerved on a rain-slickened section of Interstate 24 and slammed into a jagged, rocky wall along the highway. Six persons were hospitalized Sunday

- two of them in critical condition. Windsor said Logan told police the bus was traveling at about 45 to 50 mph, and was four to five bus lengths behind the nearest vehicle when the it began to

Logan, who was treated and released from Vanderbilt Hospital, could not be reached for comment Sunday. His wife, Emily, said doctors had advised her husband to rest.

Windsor said Logan told police it was raining heavily before the accident, and that he applied his brakes when the cars ahead of him began to slow down near a

"He said he saw brake lights come on and applied his brakes. The bus began sliding, so he let up on the brakes, looked over and saw the left lane was clear. He pulled into the left lane, applied the brakes again and slid into the rocky embankment," Windsor said.

One of the dead women was identified as Daisy Smith, 49, of Peru, Ind.

Windsor said the second woman was nidentified late Sunday. The third victim, Torre Rogers, 5, of Arvada, Colo., was hospitalized after the wreck and died Sunday night, according to officials at Nashville General Hospital. MILLVILLE, N.J. (AP) — It may be difficult to deck the halls with boughs of holly this Christmas because of skyrocketing demand and Nova Scotia robins, say operators of holly farms in this Cumberland County community, known as the "Holly Capital of the East." Production of cut holly and holly plants for the commercial market has more than doubled here, but the supply from the groves has been curtailed sharply by frost damage.

More than 100,000 pounds of cut holly were distributed through mail orders and bulk buying during the fall to customers and wholesalers throughout the country and beyond, said Daniel G. Fenton, president of American Holly Products Inc., the only specialty nursery outside of Oregon dealing exclusively in holly products.

With specially designed "noise guns" timed to go off every four minutes to frighten away berry-eating Nova Scotia robins, more cutting among the 5,000 trees on the 55-acre "Hollyland, USA," began after Thanksgiving.

There is "no way" the demand can be met, Fenton said, adding the demand seems to increase every Yuletide.

Holly trees have grown abundantly hroughout this area, but preserving the colorful berries for the Christmas season against the elements and the robins gives commercial growers many anxious mo-

Almost on schedule, migrating Nova Scotia robins, a hardy black-trimmed species, began coming out of the wetlands, where they have been feasting on teaberries, and invading the neat groves of holly trees and their white, red and yellow berries.

Today state prosecutors announced a $40 million settlement of cases involving thousands of 1977 model-year car buyers who received Chevrolet engines in other GM makes.

Analysts said continued weakness in the dollar was keeping the market on the defensive.

Wall Street is unhappy about the dollar's recent slump against the Japanese yen and several key European currencies because of its tendency to deter foreign buying of U.S. stocks.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was down .11 at 51.50. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gave up .21 to 125.38.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 9.17 million shares by noontime against 8.80 million at the same point Friday.

Bethlehem Ups Price Of Steel

steel company announced plans today to raise the price of steel used in consumer goods early next year, and a spokesman for the government's inflation-monitoring agency said there were no plans to try to head off the increase. Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second largest producer, said it would hike prices approximately 5.5 percent on most rolled sheet products effective Feb. 1 and raise structural shapes and tin mill product prices a like amount March 1. The Bethlehem announcement followed one Sunday by Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel, the ninth largest producer, which said it would raise its prices on flat-rolled and galvanized sheet products by an average of 7 percent effective Jan.

The products are used in the automo bile and appliance industries and such price increases are generally passed along to consumers.

anies had not yet indicated whether they would join in 1977's second base price increase. Some, including U.S. Steel, the nation's largest producer, have indicated higher prices are needed.

Bethlehem blamed rising costs, "which cannot be offset by improved volume and or productivity alone," for its action. Bethlehem's announcement of smaller increases seemed likely to force Wheeling-Pittsburgh to reconsider the size and effective date of its planned increases. In Washington, Tom Joyce, spokesman for the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said: "The government has no plans to call these people in." In the past, the council and other administration officials have summoned steel officials to Washington to explain their price increases. By not doing so this time and by not criticizing the increases, the Carter administration appeared to be taking a neutral attitude. It has no legal authority to force a rollback in prices. Barry Bosworth, director of the wage and price council, said after Wheeling-Pittsburgh's announcement that the increase appeared "awfully big." But smaller, and neither he nor Bosworth actually criticized the increases.

Bosworth said several weeks ago that any steps by the government to protect the domestic steel increase from lowerpriced imports would give U.S. producers an excuse to raise prices and probably would not help increase production employment.

However, in unveiling its steel aid plan two weeks ago, the administration said it was designed only to protect the industry against unfair low import prices.

Officials also pointed out that the high-er U.S. steelmakers raised prices, the less help the plan would provide.

The plan provides that the administration will fix a fair price for imports, based on the cost of producing steel in Japan. Steel priced below this level would generally not be allowed without the payment of special import duties.

By raising their prices, U. S. steel producers would receive less help from the protection price will be based on foreign production costs, not on domestic prices. "Bethlehem is fully aware of the current efforts of the administration and Congress to alleviate the serious prob-lems faced by the domestic steel industry," Bethlehem said in a statement.

Bethlehem said that details of the Carter plan had not yet been announced, however, and it could take six months to determine whether the relief package was effective.

The company closed two plants in Johnstown, Pa., and Lackawanna, N.Y., this summer, and reported a $477 million third-quarter loss, the largest quarterly loss ever announced by a U.S. corpora-

"No steel producer in the free world can afford to ignore the inadequate profitability for sheet products emerging dur-ing recent years," Wheeling-Pittsburgh President Dennis J. Carney said in a statement Sunday. He said Wheeling-Pittsburgh needed

Two Lubbock Schools To Present 'Messiah'

Students of Lubbock and Dunbar high schools will combine talents Tuesday for a Christmas presentation of "Messiah," the first time G. F. Handel's classic work has been performed by high schools here. The Lubbock-Dunbar performance headlines a list of several Yuletide concerts by local public school youngsters. Concerts will be presented tonight by the Lubbock High School band in the Lubbock High auditorium at 7:45 p.m.; by Atkins Junior High School choral groups in the Atkins auditorium at 7:30 p.m.; and by Coronado High School choral groups in the Coronado auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday performances include a repeat of the Atkins choral concert in that school's auditorium at 7:30 p.m.; the Mackenzie Junior High choir's Christmas show at 7:30 p.m. in the Mackenzie auditorium; a concert by the band, choir and orchestra of O.L. Slaton Junior High at 7:30 p.m. in the O.L. Slaton auditorium.

Also on Tuesday, the Wilson Junior High School band will perform at 7:30 p.m. in the Wilson auditorium; Hutchinson Junior High choral groups at 7 p.m. in the Hutchinson auditorium; and the Monterey High School choir, in a per-formance of "Ave Rex," at 7:30 p.m. in the Texas Tech University recital hall. "Messiah" will be performed Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lubbock High School auditorium, by the combined choirs of Lubbock High and Dunbar and the Lubbock High orchestra.

Parts of the traditional Christmas portion will be presented, featuring such student soloists as Evelyn Ruff, Randole Hinds and Trina Foster.

The Lubbock High orchestra is directed by Boyce Wyrick; the Dunbar choirs by Charlotte Greeson; and the Lubbock High choirs by Garland Jarvis.

About 200 students will be participating in the performance.

Sale Of Plaque Sets Record

DR. LAMB

Low Fat Diets

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am on a low fat diet. Are peanut butter and soy bean oil harmful to a low fat diet? What is the difference between saturated and unsaturated fats? And oils? How do these oils figure in the manufacture of cholesterol?

DEAR READER - You are not on a low fat diet if you are eating much peanut butter or are using much of any oil, including soy bean oil. Low fat means restriction of all kinds of fat, saturated and unsaturated (both mono-and poly-unsaturated).

Fatty acids (which is what we are interested in) are chains of carbon atoms. When these contain all the hydrogen they can hold they are saturated. When there are spots on the chain that could hold more hydrogen it unsaturated. If there is only one spot it is monounsaturated fatty acid, and if there is more than one spot it is a polyunsaturated fatty acid.

Many scientists believe the saturated fatty acids are more likely to cause the liver to form more cholesterol and relatively large fatty particles that are associated with a higher risk of heart and vascular disease, as compared to the unsaturated fats. Some scientists think the polyunsaturated fats may offer some protection, but the majority opinion is that any more than 10 percent of your total calories as polyunsaturated fat is

The fat in foods contains different amounts of saturated, monounsaturated and polyunsaturated fats. This includes the oils, such as soy bean oil, which is 15 percent saturated fat, 20 percent monounsaturated fatty acid, and 52 percent polyunsaturated fatty acids. Coal Miner Never Looks Back To Day Of Cave-In Disaster

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) - Ronald Adley, the rugged coal miner who was rescued from a flooded coal mine after being buried alive for nearly five days, is working in the same mine with no second

"It didn't bother me a bit," said the 38year-old Adley, who returned to the same mine two months after a March 1 disaster nearly claimed his life

"That's what kept me alive. I never looked back

Adley is a sharp-featured, gutsy man content with his privacy. He seldom talks about the ordeal he survived.

It was his savvy and guile that helped him escape a killer wave of water that burst through the floor of the Kocher Coal Co.'s Porter Tunnel in the heart of Pennsylvania's hard coal region.

He endured the agonizing wait while rescuers feverishly jackhammered their way through a 45-foot seam of unyielding antracite to his air pocket a mile inside 400-foot high Big Lick Mountain.

"I say it was a freak thing," Adley said in recalling the terrifying rush of water that splintered support timbers, triggered cave-ins and killed nine fellow min-

No coal is being dug in the section of mine where Adley found safety. And the cause of the accident is still under inves-

After crawling through an escape hatch gouged out by rescuers working around the clock, Adley rode an electric coal train to freedom on a misty March 6

He has spurned the many offers he's had to leave the Williams Valley, and he plans to work the mines the rest of his

"Why not? It's a good life," he said during a recent interview

But he still can't dismiss all the things that happened - the uncertainty that rescuers would find him, the days alone in the blackness and the knowledge that two of the dead lay just below him.

"As far as forgetting, you never forget. It makes you sometimes sit back and think," said Adley.

"It's something that burns in your mind. I see it happening over and over. Sometimes I get restless when I'm sleeping and I think, 'Oh, no.' But you have to put it behind you.

RESCUED MINER BACK AT WORK - Ronald Adley, a coal miner who was rescued after being trapped underground for five days in a mine tunnel flood last March, is shown leaving the same mine entrance after a day's work recently. None of Adley's fellow miners died in that mine disaster at the Kocher Coal Company in Tower City,

Eight-Hour Day Still Standard For Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) - The traditional five-day, 40-hour workweek still remains the standard in most companies in the United States, despite such recent work scheduling innovations as job sharing and flextime, according to a survey conducted by the Bureau of National Affairs.

The survey indicates that the eighthour day still prevails for plant or service employees in 83 percent of the companies, for office workers in 74 percent of the respondents and for salaried employes in 75 percent of the companies

Bigger Games Ahead

TEXAS STADIUM, Irving — Forget all the ballyhoo about the Dallas win over Denver being a preview of the Super Bowl. And ignore the talk about the Cowboys gaining a victory for the honor of the good ol' National Football Con-

This is not to say that the game had no importance. There were some confidence and morale factors involved, and it gave Cowboys Roger Staubach and Tony Dorsett a chance to shoot for individual honors. But the contest had absolutely no bearing on the playoffs, so any attempt to build it up to heroic propor-

The theme for the game - another day at the office - was set in the Cowboy locker room about four hours before the kickoff. Veteran offensive tackle Ralph Neely and center John Fitzgerald, always the first to arrive at the stadium, were engaged in their seemingly endless card game. They play pitch for an hour or so every game day, to while away the hours of waiting, and keep meticulous records of the results. After 20 weeks of play this season, they stand exactly

"I'm the world's greatest card player," Fitz boasts. Ralph snorts in disgust, as only he can. The Cowboy players don't call Neely "Ralph Rotten" for nothing.

SUNDAY MORNING, during the fierce combat for high, low, jack and the game, a visitor asked the gridders if they approached the Denver game with anything like the same attitude they would have in the playoffs.

'Are you kidding?" Neely glared

"No way," added Fitzgerald. Since the not-so-gentle giants did not appear willing to elaborate, the observer

Cliff Harris, a fellow much easier to deal with, was more helpful.

Sure, we want to win. When they blow the whistle, we'll get after them. But this game won't have the same intensity as the playoffs. It will be for fun and pride, kind of like an exhibition game against a strong opponent. It's important in a way, but there's just not as much at stake."

CLIFF IS AS GOOD a prophet as he is a safetyman. When the whistle blew, both teams played with a satisfactory amount of determination, if not inspiration. There were some good licks out there on the rug, although no one was foaming at the mouth or imitating a kamikaze pilot.

Compared with those recent Cowboy-Cardinal and Cowboy-Redskin brawls. this was a rather mild affair.

It did have its moments, though.

Denver quarterback Craig Morton had paid a very brief visit to the Cowboy locker room before the game, shaking hands with a couple of his former teammates and swapping insults.

"How come you never visited us when you came here with the Giants?" a Cowboy joked. Morton just grinned.

"Hey, Craig! We're going to blitz on every down!" lineb; ker D.D. Lewis

That bit of conversation proved prophetic on the third plays the game, when Randy Hughes blitzed and sacked the not-so-mobile Morton. field limping a bit, so the Denver coaches decided to rest hi for the opening

That tells you something about the importance - or lack of it - that the coaches placed on the game.

IF THERE WAS a real winner Sunday, it was Staubach. After another fantastic start this year, mid-season injuries took their toll and dropped the spiritual leader of the 'Pokes down to mortal status. Then came back-to-back losses to St. Louis and Pittsburgh, and boos were heard in Texas Stadium.

Where are you, Don Meredith? Staubach has come back strong the last two games, however, completing a total of 29 out of 39 passes for 380 yards and five touchdowns against San Francisco's famed "Gold Rush" and Denver's feared "Orange Crush" defenses. All that makes Tom Landry's statement at the height of the furor look good indeed. Sir Thomas said there was no one he would rather have at quarterback going into the playoffs than Roger.

A lot of NFL coaches will agree.

SO, IN A SENSE, a meaningless game emerged with some importance. Unlike a year ago, when the offense was staggering and the defense was carrying the load, the Cowboys enter the playoffs with good balance in the air and on the after scoring 56 points against two highly rated defensive teams. A year ago, Dallas closed the regular slate by losing to Washington. This time the Cowboys beat Denver to run their season record to a remarkable 12-2. Razorbacks Face First Big Test Of Campaign

It was a year ago this week that the Arkansas Razorbacks demonstrated what they could do.

They whipped the Kansas Jayhawks in Lawrence and two nights later they downed Kansas State in Fayetteville. And they went on to post a 26-1 regular season record.

Now it is time for the Razorbacks first major test of the 1977-78 campaign. It will come against Kansas Wednesday night in Little Rock. The Razorbacks are undefeated in six games and rated No. 5 while the Jayhawks have lost only to topranked Kentucky and are ranked 17th.

"Kansas is one of the strongest teams, if not the strongest, in the Big Eight," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton. "They're much better than they were a year ago when we beat them because basically they have everyone back and they had a great recruiting year. "They had a chance to tie Kentucky with a couple of free throws with 1:20 left." And the Southwest Conference favorites need a few tests along the way since as many as five other teams in the league have gained enough confidence early in the season to feel they can successfully tackle the Razorbacks.

They have lined up like this:

· Houston (6-2), losers by one point on the road to Arizona and Arizona State and winners over the weekend of the Bluebonnet Classic for the 15th straight year. The Cougars humiliated North Texas State 137-94 in the finals.

. Texas (6-1), which won its sixth con-

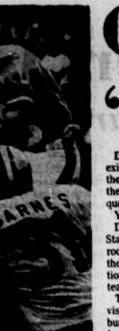

. Texas A&M (6-1), losers for the first time this season in the opening round of the Birmingham Classic, but a consolation winner against Samford Saturday night 106-91.

• Texas Tech (6-1), like the Aggies a loser for the first time in the first round of the Volunteer Classic. But the Raiders lost to 15th-ranked Utah and bounced

After Houston defensive end James Young tackled quarterback Ken Anderson in the end zone for a safety in the third quarter, Anderson hit Pat McInally with an 11-yard TD pass to pull the Bengals to a 15-13 deficit

Houston retaliated with field goals of 27 and 26 yards by Tom Dempsey to put the game away. Bahr added a 24-yard field goal with 44 seconds left in the See SWC CAGERS Page 3

card because Minnesota clinched the NFC Central Division title Saturday night with a 30-21 victory over Detroit.

Also on Saturday, Miami remained in the playoff picture by beating Buffalo 31-14. But the Dolphins needed a loss by Baltimore to win the American Conference's East Division title. For more than two periods, things looked fine for them, because New England led the Colts 21-3.

Then Jones struck for three touchdown passes and the Colts, aided by what some felt was a questionable call, roared to a 30-24 victory that kayoed the Dolphins' playoff plans.

In Sunday's other berth-deciding action, Pittsburgh, which beat San Diego 10-9 in a game it really didn't have to win, backed into the AFC Central title when Cincinnati tossed it away by losing 21-16

The Bears had to settle for the wild ard because Minnesota clinched the AFC West champ Denver 14-6 and Oak-IFC Central Division title Saturday night land, the AFC wild-card team, nosed out Kansas City 21-20. Here, then, is how next weekend's play offs shape up. On Saturday, in the AFC, Oakland is at Baltimore and Pittsburgh is at Denver (where the Broncos beat the Steelers 21-7 last Nov. 6). A week from today, in the NFC first-round games, Chicago is at Dallas and Minnesota is at Los Angeles (where the Rams routed the Vikings 35-3 last Oct. 24).

Both conference championships will be played Jan. 1. If the Cowboys beat Chica-go, they'll host the NFC title game. If the Bears and Los Angeles win, the Rams are the hosts. And if the Bears and Vikings win, Minnesota is the host since Chicago, as a wild-card team, cannot play a playoff game at home. In the AFC, Denver hosts the title game if it beats Pittsburgh. If the Steelers and Colts win, Baltimore is the site - and if the Steelers and Raiders win, Pittsburgh is the host since Oakland,

"The quarterback was in the grasp of the tackler and I blew the whistle," said referee Fred Silva. "The ball came out.

Said Chuck Fairbanks, coach of the disconsolate Patriots: "I thought it was a fumble, but there were a lot of plays which could have decided this game. That one came at the wrong time.

And in Miami, equally distressed Coach Don Shula said: "It's unbelievable to think a season can end like it did," and said it was "evident Jones fumbled and New England recovered . . . I just feel so bad for our players and their families."

The Steelers, naturally, were a mile high after finding out Houston had given them a present. "We should give Bum

Phillips the game ball," said Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw. Runningback Sidney Thornton scored from a yard out and Roy Gerela kicked a 27-yard field goal in the third period to Errol Mann atoned for a pair of extrapoint misses by kicking a 28-yard field goal with 6:33 to play, giving the Raiders their victory over Kansas City. He also missed a 23-yarder with 3:16 to play but Jan Stenerud responded by missing a 25-yarder with six seconds left.

Bucs 17, Cards 7

Gary Huff's passes of 61 and 62 yards to Morris Owens scored one TD and set up another score as the Bucs, loveable losers only two weeks ago, beat the Cardinals for their second straight victory. Tampa

Falcons 35, Saints 7

Steve Bartkowski threw for two TDs and Haskel Stanback ran for two against the Saints. Meanwhile, Atlanta wound up allowing only 129 points all season, four lower than the 14-game record set by the 1969 Minnesota Vikings.

The game was supposed to be a showcase for Walter Payton, trying to surpass O.J. Simpson's single-season rushing record of 2,003 yards. He needed 199 to do it. The Seahawks took over on their own 20-yard line, and the writers were about 40 yards behind them, standing in back of the end zone. It was the worst possible place to watch the ensuing play, a 52-yard pass that was intercepted and led to prior to the games, but the writers and sportscasters have to an interference call.

"What's he complaining about," someone asked. "I think he thought Ron Howard wasn't set," another

The writers who weren't sure what they had seen were better off than those in the second elevator. They were in transit when the big plays took place.

There was some consolation for the writers. The players weren't always sure who made the plays either. Asked who made the tackle on Cleveland's Dave Logan on the final play of the game when the ball was jarred loose, Eddie McMillan, who grabbed the ball and ran it back for Seattle, said, "I think it was Cornell Webster." Webster denied it. "It wasn't me, but I made a terrific

Panthers Open League Chase

By JIM FERGUSON Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The "fun" part of the Dunbar Panthers' schedule is over - at least until next week's Caprock Tournament. And as Boss Tweed would say, "It's time to get down to some serious work."

That's right. It's district time and the Panthers, the defending District 3-AAA champs, have been pegged with the dubious honor of opening the loop chase.

San Angelo Lake View invades DHS gym at 8 p.m. tonight and Dunbar coach Joe McWilliams is the first to admitt that Chiefs are "a real mystery." Also other action tonight the Monterey boys and the Coronado girls both travel to Morton for a pair of contests with the Indians. The boys start at 8 p.m. "I really don't know what they've got down there (Lake View)," McWilliams said with a grin. " But I know they will play us a good, solid game. They always The Chiefs, now 3-9, will have to play more than a solid game to whip the Panthers, a team that sports the city's second best won-loss record 10-3. (District and crosstown rival Estacado stands at 13-1). "This is the best start that I've seen since I've been here," the fourth-year coach said about the '77 squad. "In the past, we have always lost our first three or four games before we could really get started. Although the lofty mark might indicate the Panthers are a team of first-class caliber, McWilliams says there is still room

"I am really pleased with the play of the team this year," McWilliams said, putting a little extra emphaisis on the word team. "But there are a few things that we need to work on and improve before we can start doing the things we need to do to win. "

McWilliams believes the Panthers are not as sound fundamentally as they need to be, especially on defense.

"We have really been giving up a lot of shots— high per centage shots — under the boards, " McWilliams said. "And that shows that we are now guarding our men the way we should. We are not getting the position under the boards either.

The play of the younger players - the juniors on the team - is something McWilliams raves about.

"We've been able to count on the younger kids to come in and take up the slack," McWilliams said about the play of Dan Boyd, Todd Knighten and Thomas Braxton, in particular. And of course there is the play of the big men. Billy Don Hardaway, Greg Whitfield and Dwight Brown, by name. Hardaway, last year's loop player of the year, is averaging a smidgen or two over 22 points a game, while Whitfield has been the careem leader . Although Hardaway has been hitting with pinpoint accuracy from the 5-10 foot range, McWilliams pointed out that the 6-6 senior might be called on later in the McWilliams said he is concerned with some of the "bad habits" the Panthers have been picking up during the last three weeks, a period which saw the team play in two tournaments and numerous other contests.

"We haven't had the time to get into the gym and correct those things," the coach said. "But after the game with Lake View maybe we can.'

Bobcats' Rawls MVP At Reese

By JIM FERGUSON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff If there was ever a classy basketball player who doesn't look like a classy basketball player, it would have to be Dimmitt's Rocky Rawls. The bespectacled-Bobcat senior looks like he would be more at home in a laboratory surroundered by test tubes and white mice, or maybe even in a math room figuring, rather than on a cage

But that's until he steps on the the hardwoods, friends.

Rawls, named the Reese Air Force Base Christmas Classic basketball tournament's most valuable player in the President's Division, captivated the crowds at the three-day event with his slick ballhandling and airmail shooting.

"I've been told by other coaches that Rocky doesn't look like a ballplayer but that doesn't matter because he is one, all right," said Dimmitt coach Ken Cleveland about the 5-11 Rawls, who has helped lead the 'Cats to a 13-2 record this

Cleveland, who said he has seen his share of top notch cagers come and go during his tenure as the Dimmitt head honcho, believes Rawls is one of the classiest he has had.

"And to top it off," Cleveland said. "He is just a heck of a kid."

Rawls, an all-district performer as a junior, hit 34 points in Dimmitt's 83-50 win over Class AAAA Big Spring to lead the 'Cats to the third place crown in the President's Division.

'It would have been hard to do it without him, " Cleveland said.

Four Corners Play Of Heels Irks Catlett

Gale Catlett doesn't call it basketball. like O'Koren does.

Actually, the view of the four-corner ofense depends on where you stand — the using or the winning side.

"Non-conference teams are just not gsed to it," said O'Koren after North Carolina's controversial offensive weapon forpedoed Catlett's Cincinnati team 67-59

"No doubt about it," added O'Koren. The four-corners won again.

Catlett, on the other hand, was more of he opinion that "Carolina didn't win it we lost it.

"The best team didn't win," Catlett immered. "If Carolina had played ball the last seven minutes, instead of the ur-corners, we would have won.'

Like it or not, it was a typical victory for the nation's fifth-ranked team. The Par Heels took a small lead midway arough the second half and built on it with the help of the four-corners, which of only slows down tempo but opens up fensive opportunities.

The high-tension game, which North arolina Coach Dean Smith called "a typal early-season matchup between Top Ten teams," resulted in the first loss this season for the sixth-ranked Bearcats.

In other games involving the ranked teams, No. 1 Kentucky blasted St. John's 102-72 in the finals of the Kentucky Invitational tournament at Lexington; No. 3 Marquette defeated Bowling Green 86-54; No. 7 Indiana State whipped Eastern Michigan 81-72; No. 8 UCLA beat UC-Santa Barbara 71-55 and No. 9 Nevada-Las Vegas buried Loyola of California

Also, No. 11 San Francisco won the Golden Gate Invitational in San Francisco with a 98-93 victory over Baylor; 15th-ranked Michigan took a 92-79 dedision over Central Michigan; No. 16 Detroit stopped Ball State 103-70; 18thranked Maryland beat Long Island University 94-64; No. 19 Kansas State dropped a 67-63 decision to Texas-El Paso in a consolation game of the Sun Bowl Classic in El Paso and No. 20 Kansas outscored St. Louis University 85-65.

The tournaments in Lexington and San Francisco were two of many around the country over the weekend.

Utah won the Volunteer Classic in Knoxville with an 85-80 victory over host Tennessee; Dayton defeated Georgia Tech 65-63 to win the Dayton Invitational; Houston won its own Bluebonnet Classic with a 137-94 rout of North Texas; Memphis State edged Army 77-76 in over-time to win the Sun Bowl Classic; host Santa Clara took the Cable Car Classic with an 82-79 decision over Portland; Plorida State defeated Navy 82-55 in the mals of the Vulcan Classic in Birmingam, Ala., and Southwestern Louisiana took the Bayou Classic in Lafayette, La., with a 98-81 triumph over Ohio Universi-

O'Koren and Hal Wood each scored 12 points and Phil Ford directed North Carlina's four-corner offense with his usual plomb as the Tar Heels won at Greensoro, N.C. With the help of their famous ffensive manuever, the Tar Heels outpored the Bearcats 12-2 in the final five

The inside scoring of massive Mike Phillips and the outside shooting of guards Kyle Macy and Truman Claytor Gred Kentucky past St. John's. The victory was Kentucky's sixth in a row this year and gave the Wildcats their 18th title in the 25th renewal of their tournament.

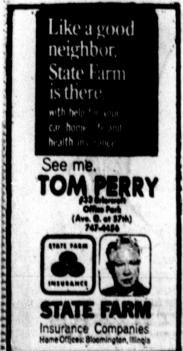

Kentucky settled the game late in the first half, using a 20-6 surge over the final 5:52 to build a 46-28 halftime lead. Phillips led Kentucky's balanced attack with 20 points, while Macy and Claytor scored 16 each.

Marquette overpowered Bowling Green behind Ulice Payne's 16-point performance. The defending national chamions, undefeated in five games, took command with a 10-point spree early in the first half and intimidated the Falcons he rest of the way with quickness on defense and superior size under the boards. "We played about as bad a game as I can remember," said Bowling Green Coach John Weinert. "We embarrassed ourselves. Even though you lose, you can lose with pride and determination. We lost our pride."

As for Marquette, Weinert said he was impressed with the depth of the Warrior

"This is the deepest I can remember a Marquette team," he said. "They shoot better than many of the Marquette teams. They can all put it up."

Larry Bird, the nation's leading scorer, poured in a game-high 31 points to lead Indiana State past Eastern Michigan. Bird, who leads the country with a 31.8 average, also took game rebounding honors with 13.

Led by Raymond Townsend's perfect shooting performance, UCLA held off a strong comeback in the second half by UC-Santa Barbara to beat the Gauchos. Townsend, the only senior on the Bruins' roster, made all nine of his field goal attempts as he collected 18 points to lead UCLA to its sixth victory.

"We played good defense in the first half, but we still had problems with our rebounding," said UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham. "I was disappointed that we were outrebounded in the first half. You have to give Santa Barbara a lot of credit for their disciplined offense. They played about as much to their potential as I thought possible."

Jackie Robinson's 27 points and 10 rebounds powered Nevada-Las Vegas over Loyola of California. Winford Boynes, James Hardy and Chubby Cox combined for 76 points to overcome a 43-point performance by Baylor's Vinnie Johnson and lead San Francisco to the championship of the Golden Gate Invitational.

Alan Hardy's career-high 24 points spurred Michigan over Central Michigan. Terry Tyler scored 23 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and blocked eight shots to lead Detroit over Ball State.

fense." Dooley said. "I hope our offensive linemen can give him some creases.' Hipp, a dedicated weight lifter, can bench press more than 350 pounds and holds the Nebraska football record on the leg sled with 915 pounds.

"He'll run through tackles sometimes and it looks like somebody has done a poor job of tackling but he's so strong he can break tackles. He's strong, but he does have elusiveness - an unusual combination.

Osborne says Berns, the No. 2 tailback, is also a good runner. He gained 992 yards last year and netted 664 yards this year. Osborne was asked about playing Hipp and Berns in the same backfield.

"You could expect it," he said. "We're definitely going to work toward that end, if not in this game, at least in the future."

Osborne said he had been disappointed in the Nebraska passing attack. He said the Cornhuskers had completed 55 to 60 per cent of their passes the past four or five years, but hit on less than 45 percent of their passes this fall.

Still, Dooley says his team has not faced an I-formation team "that has the diversification in their offense that Nebraska has. I don't think there's any doubt it will be the sternest test we've faced.'

"We're not starting Jack," coach Darrell Price explained of the 6-2 freshman from El Paso Andress, "because we feel he's more valuable coming off the bench. And we feel he'll have better success than as a starter.

The Chaps will go with 5-11 Robert Watts and 6-1 Edwin Miles at the guards and 6-7 Lowell Walker, 6-5 Mike Kahler and 6-3 Lamar Sampy, like Miles and Watts a freshman, on the front line.

Adams State has also lost to Mesa (96-89), Northeast Missouri (79-65) Northern Colorado (76-61) and Western (Colo.) State (90-80) and beat Washburn (85-75).

Probable starters will be 6-1 Gerald Campbell at point guard, who is averag-ing 17.8 a game. Ed Jackson (6-5) will be at the post and Duane Bussey (6-8), Darrell Finch (6-7) and Ken Niven (6-6) across the forward line.

Little Ed Taitano (5-7) could start at guard in place of one of the forwards.

LADIES WEAR MANAGER HONORED - Billie Thigpen is shown being congratulated here by Lubbock Woolco Manager J. G. Treadaway upon her selection as "Outstanding Employee of the Month." Billie has been with the Woolco store since its opening: in fact she counts more than three decades of Lubbock service with Woolco and the Woolworth stores. She started with the firm in 1934 at the downtown store, later serving in the Monterey location and now at Woolco. An avid football fan, she follows the programs of both Texas Tech and the Dallas Cowboys. She has two children, Malissa, who works for SPAG, and Van, who is a college student. "I am thoroughly sold on Woolco," she relates, "as I believe they have the best merchandise for the money in town."

SPECIAL GLASS ART PRESENTATION - Buck Bowling, familiar at fairs (including the Panhandle-South Plains Fair where he has appeared eight years), at malls, retail stores, etc. in a wide southwest area, currently is displaying, demonstrating and selling at Woolco. He points out that glass art makes the perfect gift as "everyone likes glass." He uses Pyrex glass which can be repaired. Bowling has followed the trade professionally for 13 years, and his wife currently is working in Odessa where she is blowing glass. A number of other family members, including some from former generations, work with glass. (A son enjoys football more than glass blowing, Buck reports, however, "and wants to go to Texas Tech."

"Continuously providing name-brand, first quality clothing at relief from retail ", the Outhouse Factory Outlet, 2425 34th St., has further situations of special interest at this time:

(1) Several super items have been received just in time for Christmas; and One-Week Specials

(2) For this week only, a number of Special Pre-Christmas Bargains have been posted. For example:

There is one table of slacks, all sizes, for only $1.99!

And for teens there are quilted denim jackets with bandana print lining for just $13.99 (which is 30 per cent reduction); Overalls, sizes 31-36, while they last are marked at 15 per cent off.

Men's jumpsuits, for this week only, are 10 per cent off while they last (two styles available).

More about the arrivals just in time for Christmas:

There is a new line of fashions including jeans, skirts, matching vests and plaid shirts to complete the "just right" look. The jeans and skirts, regularly retailing for $28 to $30 each are marked down to $15.99 each! And the vests are $9.99. What a buy! These are really good looking, with snazzy pockets and trim. Then there are other brand-name shirts, some western, priced from $8.99 to $11.99.

Ski Coats To conquer the cold weather, there are down vests at $22.99; men's ski coats at $34.99; and women's ski coats at $24.99. These are good quality, washable, fiber filled, fur collars and fleece lined.

There are jeans, slacks and cordurovs for everyone, priced from $7.99 to $17.99. And children's sizes from 4 up.

Any member of the family can save at Outhouse Factory Outlet, Inc., just east of University Avenue on 34th Street), the folks there want to prove. (Infants wear is not stocked, as an exception.)

The 34th Street store (the only Outhouse Factory Outlet, Inc. store in Lubbock) has been in its present location for one year, Mrs. Emma Lou (Louis) Fry. longtime area resident, is manager, and Jimmy Stennett is owner.

The Outhouse Factory Outlet started in Amarillo in 1974, and as the business grew it "became apparent that by buying in large quanities from various manufacturers, better quality and lower costs name brand goods could be obtained. So . . satellite stores were established in

Plainview, Lubbock and Wichita Falls, with each of these locally owned, although all buying was centrally done in

Due to the early success of these stores, others went into business, and now there are more than 40 in a multi-state area.

Buying power has increased many times due to the expansion of the business, and the local management points out how opportunity thus has been provided for the customer to buy at factory direct prices.

The Outhouse Factory Outlet, Inc., store in Lubbock is open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, and both Master Charge and Visa pur-

Bacon, Sausage Hickory-smoked Canadian bacon; country-cured bacon; smoked sausage, and smoked turkey breasts.

For the small family, Prater's comes through with smoked chickens at a 3·1/2-4 lb. average size.

It's all at Prater's. A spacious display room with self-service refrigerated cases makes viewing and selecting especially convenient at Pra-

Brown-and-Serve

The brown-and-serve baked turkeys are marinated by Prater's then completely cooked, ready to eat. They are cooked in foil to retain all the delicious juices, then placed in plastic bags and vacuum packed. The average turkey requires only 1 1/2 hours oven time to be ready for the table. (It is advised to remove the foil from the breast and legs during the last 15 minutes of preparation to bring the bird to a golden brown.)

Prater's turkeys have a better finish, are fatter and juicer than turkeys that have been quick-frozen and which may have remained frozen for weeks or even the new dynamic nut cracker (electric) that it offered last holiday season. The response at that time was so great that Gary again is offering this "satisfaction guaranteed" unit with a full one-year guarantee. The price: $49.95, at Gary's, 109th Street at South University Avenue, phone 745-1933.

This electric unit, cracks any size pecans. English walnuts. Brazil nuts. etc... with little or no damage to kernels. Each nut is locked and cracked automatically! Kernels and shells fall out for fast repeat. A safety shield prevents against flying shell particles. Actually "it is the fastest hand-fed nut cracker available," with nothing to adjust; one machine cracks all, and the estimated life is 10,000 lbs. pecans!

Custom Cooking And don't forget the custom cooking services, and the other fine Gary's prod-

Gary's is glad to custom prepare any meat, at any time, whether it is wild game or whatnot. Or one may simply discover that the Gary's Frozen Food label in a favorite grocery or supermarket opens the way to variety and nutritious goodness.

Product Variety

Select from Gary's Barbeque Flavor Delight, Gary's Corn Dogs, Gary's Bar-B-Que Beef Brisket in bar-b-que sauce, and Gary's super dogs. Whether the occasion is a holiday meal, a Sunday dinner or even a snack, Winter picnic, pre-game meal or a birthday party, one can profit from dependance upon the home-owned. home-operated Gary's Frozen Foods firm and its products.

The Bar-B-Que Flavored Delight is newest of the Gary's family of labels, and it is oh-so-good. A beef, beef suet and textured vegetable protein product, it is a new experience in delicious eating. Keep it frozen, and just heat to eat.
