

70 Combines And 100 Trucks Needed For Wheat Harvest

Sherman County needs 70 more combines and approximately 100 trucks to complete a successful wheat harvest, according to the requests placed by Sherman County farmers with the Extension Service Labor Office, Arthur Folsom said this week.

It is impossible to give the exact number of combines and trucks that will be needed during the harvest rush at this early stage, Mr. Folsom said, but all present indications point to a shortage in both combines and trucks for the expected harvest rush the latter part of the week and the first of next week if weather conditions permit normal operations.

Practically all transient labor, custom truckers and combine men are registered with Mr. Folsom at the Garrison Motor Company office for the convenience of farmers who are in need of additional help during harvest.

Mrs. Maedgen Injured Fatally In Accident

Mrs. William L. Maedgen, a sister of Royal and J. R. Pendleton, and Mrs. W. W. Steel, died Monday morning in a Farmington, N. M. hospital as the result of injuries sustained in a car accident near Farmington Wednesday of last week.

According to reports, Mr. and Mrs. Maedgen, and a nephew, Billy Maedgen, were returning to their home in Troy, Texas from Salt Lake City, Utah where they had been to look after business interests. They were driving along the highway at a speed of about 45 miles an hour when a front tire blew out, causing the car to swerve and turn over in a deep ditch.

Mr. Maedgen suffered shock and shoulder injuries while his nephew escaped with only minor injuries.

Funeral services were conducted in Troy Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Steel, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pendleton, W. L. Pendleton, Mrs. O. H. Finch, Dalhart, and Mrs. John P. Foster of El Paso, were at Mrs. Maedgen's bedside at the time of her passing and accompanied the remains to Troy where funeral services were conducted.

Other survivors are: Mrs. Joe Storey, Dalhart, George Pendleton, Channing, and Mrs. Mary Rudolph, Panama City, Florida.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my appreciation to our friends for the visits, cards, letters, and flowers presented during my illness which made my hours in the hospital seem shorter.

Mrs. Cone Donelson.

REA Power Line Construction To Start Soon

Construction of approximately 40 miles of phase A rural electrification power lines will start in Sherman County within 60 days according to Hollis W. Harris, consulting engineer of Amarillo.

The immediate construction is result of the approval of a $500,000 loan by Congress Tuesday of last week. R. C. Buckles and Sam Wohlford attended the meeting of directors of the Rita Blanca organization in Dalhart Friday night at which time an amendment to the construction contract was made which included the construction of 40 miles of power lines in Sherman County.

The phase A REA lines serve agricultural homes in the south and southeast part of the county.

Beginning in the east part of the county the lines will extend through the properties of E. W. Carter, Arthur Cartrite, Cline Gilbert, and westward to the R. K. Everett and W. W. Steel homes. It will serve most rural homes northward to the Arthur Milton home.

Materials for construction of the line are on hand with the exception of a few insulators and transformers. It will be the policy of the co-op to start construction of the line in hope that needed materials will arrive before the end of the 30 day period which it is estimated will be required for completion of construction.

A few easements on land over the route of the lines have not been signed but interested parties may secure and execute these forms at the County Agent's office.

Phase B Construction Possible

Possible construction of 70 to 80 miles of phase B lines for which material has been ordered and delivery promised before the end of the summer, may be made during the year. The phase B plans would serve most all rural homes in the agricultural section of the southern half of the county and extend northward almost to Stratford.

A map showing the planned construction plans is available in the office of County Agent Goulet for interested parties who wish to make a study of construction plans.

The Rita Blanca organization serves Sherman, Dallam, Moore and Hartley counties, some 120 miles of line being under construction.

Congested Traffic Calls For Caution

Congested traffic during the harvest season will make it necessary for local drivers as well as transients to be more careful in their driving habits if serious accidents are to be avoided, law enforcement agencies pointed out this week.

The most serious accidents are expected at the intersection of U. S. 287 and 54 where tourist travel is reaching the season's highest peak along with commercial trucking, now even more congested by wheat hauling trucks.

Stop signs at this intersection are usually observed by local residents except those making right and left hand turns. Drivers have been observed to merely slow down at this intersection and speedily make a right or left turn into the traffic lane. During the congested traffic season accidents are expected unless drivers observe traffic signals and come to a complete stop at this intersection.

The local church had more representatives present than any other church in the district.

not know whether she had on a dress at all.

Clarice Scott, USDA clothing specialist, has designed four summer work dresses which come pretty close to this ideal.

The Texas A. and M. College Extension Service clothing specialist Mrs. Dora E. Barnes, says Miss Scott's designs offer complete freedom of movement with no pulling or binding anywhere. "They are made for an easy fit, which is quite different from oversize," she points out.

The designs are based on studies on safety and comfort in dresses for such jobs as gardening, canning and washing. The four dresses were scientifically planned for convenience and durability; they flatter the wearer, too.

Since the dresses are for summer use, they have no collar and no sleeves. Wings used in place of sleeves are double-layered to hold shape and crispness. Pockets are at hand level, with the openings slanted for convenient use. Ties, belts and sashes are made to fit closely and to fasten out of the way at the back.

Skirts are about calf length and just wide enough for the normal stride, long or full skirts drop about the feet when the bearer stoops and may be caught on shoe heels or stepped on.

Each dress is easy to put on and take off, and easy to wash and iron. Paper patterns for the four new dresses are now being put out by commercial firms, according to Mrs. Barnes.

It looks like Stratford will not be represented at the inter-post meeting at Amarillo. All those who planned to go had something happen that made it impossible for them to attend. That's too bad, because they would have had a grand time.

Texas City Gets New Fog Fire Fighter

TEXAS CITY, TEX.—Smoke filled the skies again here, but it was good smoke, the kind people like to see. It came from oil fires set by the Texas City Volunteer Fire Department when demonstrating the fire fighting abilities of their new F.M.C. high-pressure Fog Fire Fighter, a gift of the manufacturer.

Top picture, taken on the grounds of a Texas City refinery, demonstrates how an oil fire can be extinguished in 10 seconds with 10 gallons of water. The new fire-fighting unit is self-contained, carries its own water and releases it in fog form under 800 pounds pressure. The value of this unit was proved in the Texas City disaster when a duplicate unit belonging to the Pasadena, Texas fire department fought fire continuously for 60 hours.

How I do feel sorry for newspaper columnists who have a deadline to meet every day, it's a job to meet a deadline once a week. I can never seem to get at this until the last minute, when Brown starts looking around for something else to fill up the space in the paper that this occupies. Then everything I had in mind to put in here escapes me, and I have to think up a whole column in fifteen minutes. I sometimes wish the man who invented the clock had never been born, or had turned his inventive genius in other directions. Without the clock what a different world it would be, none of these split second schedules to meet, and no infernal noise breaking into your sleep at 6:00 A. M. It must have been great fun to have lived in the stone ages when they didn't even know or care what year it was.

Polio Control Measures Approved

Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following statements and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is now occurring in certain sections of the State.

At one time it was generally believed that this infection was transmitted primarily by discharges from the respiratory tract. It is now believed that poliomyelitis may be another of the several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must include clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate house-flies, mosquitoes, and rodents to destroy their breeding places. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems, and secure safe water supplies. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is necessary to install and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All swimming pools should maintain those standards approved by the Texas State Department of Health. This includes maintenance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed to the public.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from filth and insects. All food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State Law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation, should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitation standards.

Approved milk supplies, rodent control measures, high sanitation standards, and strict personal hygiene are all important. Polio cases should be quarantined for 14 days and excreta from cases and

Clayton Caravan To Visit Here Friday Morning

A caravan of Clayton, New Mexico business men and ranchers are due to arrive in Stratford Friday morning at 10:15 to extend an invitation to the people of this territory to attend their sixth annual rodeo celebration July 3, 4, and 5.

The caravan will visit Dalhart, Stratford, Texhoma, Guymon, Elkhart and Boise City Friday.

$2,500 in prizes will be offered in the rodeo. A $250 purse will be given the winner of the mile derby race.

Other rodeo events include calf roping, loose rope ride, steer riding, cutting horse contest, bulldogging, bronc riding, wild cow milking, kid pony races, 5-8 mile races, relay races, 1-4 mile races, cow girl races, and the rope horse races.

Boy's and girl's athletic races will be held the morning of the fifth. The grand parade will be at 10:00 A. M. the 4th of July.

contacts should be handled and disinfecting with the same scrupulous care as in typhoid fever or bacillary dysentery.

Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. It is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts, especially in children during an outbreak of this disease. It is not advocated that schools, churches, and theaters be closed.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

WHAT IS FREEDOM OF INFORMATION?

Clear-headed executives of press organizations and syndicates seem to think it is safe to agree that international peace and security will not be helped by any effort to broadcast so-called American propaganda to foreign countries. On the other hand, our best journalists favor absolute freedom of information and news of the kind distributed through newspaper organizations.

In other words, the United States Government has no need to propagandize at home or abroad, or to color the news. We don't have to tell them how good we are. When we tell Europe, Asia, and Africa the news of our country, that is all there is to it.

Mechanized farming has enabled United States farmers to produce a third more with 10 per cent less total labor than during World War I.

Texas' poultry industry is one of the state's largest, worth $200 million dollars.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

So many articles have been published in the home magazines about being on guard against the man who tries to sell you on the "re-setting" of your furnace, that a lot of people overlook the actual need for such a job. Objection is made to the method of taking the furnace down, and then refusing to put it back up again because of defective parts, thus practically forcing you into the buying of a new furnace.

One should, of course, make sure that the re-setting is done by a reputable company, and then there can be no reason for running a risk. After some years of use your furnace does become loose at the joints; the heat burns out the fire cement. Furthermore, the castings do become rust-coated with scale. The purpose of a re-setting job is to clean off all the castings and to make the joints airtight again with fresh cement. That is a necessary thing to do, for otherwise the leaks in your furnace create a balky, smoky fire which is most unsatisfactory and wasteful. Then, too, the loose joints and cracks permit the escape of deadly monoxide gas. The re-setting of your furnace is as normal a thing to do as the periodic overhauling of your auto or any other piece of mechanical equipment.

There will come a time when this re-setting will divulge some cracks or bad warping in the castings of your furnace,—that's only inevitable, considering the terrific service which your furnace is subjected to. These cracks and warpings cannot be repaired, for there is no way of doing so. At that time, it may be more to your advantage to invest in a new and modern furnace rather than try to get along with the old one.

er during National Dog Week, which will be observed this year September 21 to 27.

Choice of winner is to be made from nominations submitted to Harry Miller, director, Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. Complete data, and if possible a picture, should be in before September 10. The actual selection will be in the hands of a committee of prominent dog folk now in process of formation. The number and variety of services the dog performs will constitute the only basis of judging. Pet dogs or working dogs are equally eligible; age, size, color or breed will not be considered. Final decision will not be made until the leading candidates will have been seen and investigated, Mr. Miller states.

$200 Scholarships Added To 4-H Food Awards

State winners in the 1947 National 4-H Frozen Foods awards program have the opportunity to win a $200.00 college scholarship in addition to a Chicago 4-H Club Congress trip, the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work has announced.

"To further encourage learning how to freeze foods, four national scholarships of $200.00 each have been added to the 4-H awards provided by International Harvester," the Committee announced. "Last year the state winner could compete for only a national award, which was a Chicago trip. The trip is now a sectional award, and the winner also receives the national award of a scholarship. County and state awards remain the same as in 1946."

In this activity, club members learn the foods best adapted to freezing, and to develop skill in preparing, packaging and freezing. They are also encouraged to demonstrate that an ample supply of home grown food is one of the advantages of living on a farm, and to show the desirable variety that frozen foods can add to the home-raised supply.

County extension agents will provide information and suggestions for carrying on the activity.

Grow Worms And Crickets For Fish Bait

Fishermen sometimes find live-bait hard to get. The bait business employs hundreds of people, part time, to supply the commercial market.

H. S. Swingle and colleagues, Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station, Auburn, have made remarkable strides in raising fish-bait at home.

The English "red-worm" is the best kind of worm-bait. They reach maturity in 6 months but make bait size in 3 or 4. You can keep them continuously year after year. For worms you need:

1. Suitable soil, a clay loam, not sand, with some organic matter, leaves or straw.

2. Enough constant moisture.
3. Food, lard and cornmeal every 2 weeks.

TO KEEP YOUR ENGINE HEALTHY

Change FILTER ELEMENTS Regularly

Diagrammatic sketch showing filtering operation

The oil filter on your McCormick-Deering tractor protects the engine against wear caused by dirty oil. But unless the filter element is periodically replaced its purpose is defeated and no protection results. For your engine's sake... and the sake of your tractor investment... be sure to renew the filter element each time you change oil. Remember, the new-style "umbrella" element keeps oil clean and your engine protected for 120 hours of hard use (100 hours for Diesel engines). Take home a supply of these protective elements the next time you are in town.

HOW THE "UMBRELLA" FILTER ELEMENT WORKS

The element is made of two large sheets of special creped, impregnated cellulose—accordion-folded to form a double-walled cylinder. Oil from the crankcase is pumped under pressure into the filter housing where it completely envelopes the element. The oil is forced through tiny pores in the element and all sludge and dirt is retained on the outer surfaces. The clean oil passes down between the two sheets and goes back to the crankcase.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER FARM EQUIPMENT HEADQUARTERS

The Buss Carson family, Hollywood, California, are among the many special attractions which will add speed and color to the Range Riders Rodeo in Amarillo July 4-6. Five thrill-packed performances are promised for the three days.

By Mayor's proclamation Waddy Week June 30 through July 6, is an annual occasion for Amarillo.

By invitation it is a four-state event, and every community in the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico, Western Kansas and Oklahoma is urged to join in keeping alive the old western spirit.

Delbert Dalby, president of the Will Rogers Range Riders who are sponsors of the event, urges every community to start making its plans to have its Western delegation present in Amarillo on July 4, the day of the big parade and first day of the Range Riders Annual Rodeo.

The Waddy Week invitation committee is sending out wires to every Chamber of Commerce or town mayor inviting them to participate in the July 4 parade and Waddy Week activities.

From Monday through Sunday the week will be studded with parades, Western dance festivals and rodeo performances.

Governor Beauford Jester, flanked by other celebrities of regional and national prominence, will lead the July parade.

He will also open the Will Rogers Range Riders three-day rodeo which gets off to a start Friday afternoon. This is Governor Jester's first official appearance in Amarillo since his inauguration.

Grow Worms—

4. A tub or half-barrel indoors, or an outdoor bed covered with boards, where you raise the worms.

Maybe you like crickets for bait. You can grow them indoors. You'll need to have:

1. A suitable can, garbage can or something similar.
2. Four to 6 inches of sand (for eggs) in the bottom, kept moist.
3. Five inches of wood excelsior for cover.
4. A drinking fountain as for chicks with cotton in the saucer to prevent drowning.
5. Food, poultry laying mash in a saucer.

Get 30 crickets, half male and half females. (The females have a long "egg-depositor" at the rear.) Crickets are full grown at 3 months, but reach fishing size in one. Four hundred crickets can be raised in a can of 24-inch diameter every 3 months, on 8 pounds of laying mash.

Economic Highlights

The report of the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training is one of the grimest and most thought-provoking documents ever made public in this country. There is certainly nothing new in compulsory military training, the armed services were urging it long before World War II began. But the reasoning behind this report, which was the result of six months of study by the Commission, gives it an unusual degree of force. So does the Commission's membership. It did not include a single military man or professional jingo. Its chairman was the distinguished physicist, Karl Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Other members included Daniel Poling, editor of the Christian Herald; Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric; Dr. Harold Dodds, president of Princeton; and ex-ambassador to Russia Joseph E. Davies.

It is stated that, at the beginning, there was a wide diversity of opinion among the various members. But, at the end, all of them came "reluctantly" to the same conclusion. That conclusion consists of an eight-point security program of which compulsory training for all males at the age of 18, or after finishing high school, is the keystone. That would affect from 750,000 to 950,000 young men each year, and the annual cost of this part of the program alone is estimated at $1,750,000,000.

The suggested training plan is an interesting one, and in some respects it is novel. The Commission believes that it should be placed under the control of a three-man commission, reporting directly to the President, of whom two would be civilians and only one a military man. Training would be in two parts. Part one would be of six months duration, and would consist of military training in an Army camp or aboard a Navy ship. Part two would offer a number of options, including enlistment in the Army or Navy for a two-year period, enrollment in the National Guard or the Reserves with 48 evenings a year of drill plus two-week periods in summer camps for three years, or enrollment in college R. O. T. C. courses.

In addition to this, the Commission feels that national security demands seven more ingredients: a united and informed nation; a coordinated intelligence service; stimulated scientific research and development; industrial readiness for war; an air force ready to strike on little notice; better equipment and training for all the services; and unification of the armed forces. It said that it viewed "with horror" the total cost of this program, and could not estimate it. But, it added, the alternative was an "invitation to extermination."

The Commission believes, as do all military authorities, that the next war, if it comes, will arrive with unbelievable speed. It observed that the obliteration of twelve American cities in a single day, along with essential communication, transportation, and power resources was not at all impossible. Our monopoly of atomic weapons, it said, will end about 1951, and by 1955 an all-out atomic attack could be mounted against us. The program it advocates would take six years and perhaps longer to achieve significant results. So, if the Commission's findings are correct, we must start in the near future to prepare for the possibility of global war of unprecedented savagery and destructiveness.

The report does not confine itself to atomic war. It takes into consideration chemical and bacteriological warfare, along with the possibility of another war with traditional weapons. It found that "our military forces are a hollow shell," that the army and air forces are virtually dismantled, and that at the present time the ground forces have not more than 2 1-3 divisions available for combat duty.

The Commission forecast that its universal training program would produce a long list of benefits. First and foremost, of course, it would provide a trained force which could be rapidly absorbed into the services in time of emergency, and thus tremendously shorten the time necessary to effective mobilization. In addition, the report goes on, it would improve the quality of the regular establishments in peace time, it would provide a large, trained group in each community capable of dealing with problems of civilian defense and mass disaster in the event of bombing and other attacks, it would help to channel young men into scientific and vocational training important to national defense, and it would give greater military strength at less cost than would be provided by a large standing force. And, to quote the report directly, the program would reduce as far as possible "the disruption of normal family life which inevitably attends the calling of young men from their homes in the national interest." In another paragraph it met an obvious objection to compulsory training by saying that "we are convinced that it is entirely possible to provide for American youth a wholesome, moral, and religious environment in training camps." It pointed to the widely-publicized experimental unit at Fort Knox in substantiation of this.

The report is 448 pages in length, and a brief summary can touch only the high spots. The big point is the commission's somber belief that preparedness for war on a scale never attempted by this country in time of peace is absolutely vital if we are not to risk the chance of being exterminated.

ue of Savings Bonds outstanding has grown almost 10 per cent.

Production of all types of food crops is likely to be higher this year than in any of the last three years.

Raising food for the two billion people of the world is a big job, and already millions of those people are going hungry because the soil was not cared for properly.

-AND MONEY!

There's no "three-cornered stool" in the dairy business today. Families used to "keep a cow" for the babies, but cows bring in BIG money today for many folks in our area. It's truly a "land of milk and money." Butter, cheese, evaporated milk—and all of the other dairy products that come out of our territory are making money for thousands of farmers.

We have so much confidence in the dairy industry—and all other industries we serve—that we are investing 35 million dollars in a building program. This expansion program in our territory will bring more dependable electric service to home, farm and industry and better living—electrically—to everyone!

State 4-H Club Round-Up September 4-5

The State 4-H Club Round-Up, the biggest event of the year for Texas' 4-H Clubbers, has been set for September 4-5 on the campus of Texas A. and M. College.

J. W. Potts and Lorene Stevens, state 4-H Club leaders of the Texas Extension Service, have announced that each county may send to the Round-Up two 4-H boys, two 4-H girls, one woman club leader and one man leader.

The 1946 Round-Up, first of that type program held in Texas, was planned by and for 4-H'ers, who ran the whole show for three days of entertainment and instruction at Texas A. and M. College. Plans in the making now call for a similar program, with maximum participation scheduled for the youngsters.

Potts and Miss Stevens explain in addition to the county attendance quota, 4-H members who are taking part in the state dress revue, rifle matches, or who are on any other part of the scheduled program will attend the get-together. All boys and girls, however, must be at least 14 years of age to make the Round-Up trip.

When English peas are grown under warm weather conditions, they need an application of dusting sulphur once each week to prevent powdery mildew.

An acre of sudan grass for each dairy cow will provide inexpensive feed and maintain production when permanent pastures play out.

The long-time value of legume crops is the fertility that they add to the soil, and the fact that they prevent erosion by holding the soil in place.

2 Seconds To Go! By NORMAN S. BORTNER

I WONDERED why I shouldn't let Carl Bullard drown. It wasn't that I hated him. He was a nice enough fellow. Just a boy, of course, and too sentimental and too soft and too rich. If only he hadn't married Constance. I'd have saved him in half a minute, but for that... Instead, I watched the water swirl over his head—and wondered.

No one could know what I had done—that I had killed him almost as much as if I had pushed him down and held him under the surface.

How could they ever know? I was quiet and still on the edge of the pier with my feet dangling in the cool water and a cigarette between my fingers. Behind me sat Carl Bullard's wife talking calmly with some of her guests, and behind her the shore-line of Carl Bullard's land stretched away serene and smooth to Carl Bullard's roomy house on the opposite side of Carl Bullard's cove.

And I stared down between my toes at Carl Bullard's white body in the water.

He had looked straight at me as he went down. It was a queer, tortured, pleading sort of a look, as if he knew exactly what was happening to him and was trying to tell me with his eyes. He had opened his mouth to cry out, shipped a full gasp of water into that boyish chest of his and gone down with hardly more than a ripple. Cramps, I guess. I'd seen the same thing before, but not so quick.

The cove was twelve feet deep at the end of the pier, and greenly translucent to the yellow, sandy bottom. It seemed almost too clear—too innocent—to kill a man, but I knew it was happening. I could see Carl Bullard's slow, convulsive thrashing. He was not yet half-way down.

How long would it be before he touched the sand? Two seconds? Ten? But how eternally long a second can be...

Constance had warned him. Said it was too soon after lunch. Said he ought to wait a while. But he had laughed in that small-boy way he had and chucked her under the chin. And then he had run across the pier to jump in over my head. I could still feel the little breeze of his passing. It was cold on my wet back.

It was the chin-chucking, I think, that made me sit still while he sank. Constance was not a woman to be chucked under the chin. You wouldn't sing swing in a church, would you? That's what I mean.

I'm a fine one to talk about churches, but that's what Constance does to me. Yesterday I saw her for the first time in three years, and it's worse with me now than it was then. A lot worse. Deeper. Not boy-and-girl stuff any more. Man and woman. And she's married to Carl Bullard.

How long would it be before he touched the sand? Two seconds? Ten? But how eternally long a second can be...

She would have married me if things had gone right. They hadn't, though. I thought a year in Buenos Aires—at an unbelievable salary—would give me my start. Instead of that, three years in Buenos Aires and amazing bad luck at any and all forms of gambling gave me a taste for living and little to live on. Three years...

There had been letters between us, the first few months. "Gee, I miss you, Connie. Wish my year was up." "I miss you too, Aleck. Seems like a year already. Keep writing often."

BUT the letters slowed down after a while, and then stopped altogether. My fault, I know. I couldn't keep lying to her about the money. I was supposed to be saving it.

It was well in my second year that I heard she'd been married. The news filtered down to me one way or another. I didn't mind, then. I had other diversions.

Three years is a long time. Almost as long as it was taking Carl Bullard to reach the yellow sand. He was near it, now, and not clearly outlined. Just a slow-moving blur... Three years was enough to give me a lifetime's fill of everything Argentinian.

Somehow Constance heard I had come back, and she wrote to me. Just a friendly, welcome-back note. That meant she held no hard feelings. The boy-and-girl stuff was done with.

And yet I suddenly wanted to see her, talk with her. I found her here at the cove. She was still the Constance I remembered, if a little subdued, a little settled and satisfied.

But there was something in her eyes, when she looked at me, that made me wish I'd never gone away from her. A glow. Not just friendliness. More than that.

It was the glow in her eyes that kept me at the cove. I wouldn't have stayed at the Bullard place except for that.

A flock of guests as dull and chattering as guests always are. A husband who kept grinning at her like a gawky-boy, and patting her arm and chucking her under the chin. The glow in her eyes—whenever she looked at me—made up for all of that.

I wanted to take my stare from Carl Bullard's body—now nearly on the sand—and look over my shoulder toward Constance. I wanted to see those glowing eyes again, meeting mine. But I didn't move.

Instead I thought of something very interesting. If I were to sit still only a little longer, the pier and the house and the cove—and a great deal more—would belong to Constance. She'd be wealthy, and with a glow in her eyes when she looked at me.

Three years in the Argentine for nothing, and three minutes on Carl Bullard's pier—for everything I wanted. Why shouldn't I let Carl Bullard drown?

IT'S STRANGE, when you're tense and still, how all your senses become sharp beyond normality. While I watched the greenish-white blur that was Carl Bullard, the feminine voices behind me, which before had been unintelligible, became clear and distinct. Constance talking to her guests.

"That water looks so good," she said. "I wish I could go in." "Why don't you, Connie? I wondered why you hadn't."

"Sh-h. Doctor's orders." There was a pause. "Connie! You don't?"

"You might as well know now as later, I guess... It'll be in December. Haven't you noticed the way I've put on weight?"

"Why, my dear, we had no idea! But now I know why Carl has been so attentive. And that sparkle in your eyes, Connie. All the signs..."

The sparkle in her eyes. The glow. Carl Bullard's body was on the sand at last, tumbling awkwardly, shapelessly.

My cigarette dropped into the water. I heard it hiss. And then I dived in without taking time to stand. Carl Bullard's grip nearly broke my arm...

YOU CAN WHIP NERVOUSNESS

After we'd spent an hour together in his hotel room, this man and I, I was almost as nervous as he was. During that hour he had paced up and down, his hands shaking, his eyes glancing furtively to all corners of the room.

I don't need to tell you, do I, how ineffective a personality he was? You know, of course, that nervousness is fatal to a personality, yet nerve specialists tell me that three out of four persons "wear their nerves on the outside of their clothes."

Take the most successful person you know, the one with the most effective personality. Was not that person a serene person?

Some men and women tell me that they are nervous because they were born nervous. I think the man who had the most calmness and serenity I have ever known, when I commended him upon these things, remarked that he wasn't born with them at all. He said he had to acquire them.

"Up till three years ago I was the most nervous person in the world," he told me. "Then an old doctor put me on the right track. He advised me, each night when the day's work was done to go home, take a leisurely hot bath, put on pajamas and get into bed for twenty minutes, not to sleep, but merely to relax all over."

That practice not only robbed him of nervousness, but made him much more effective in everything he did.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Our Heritage From Ancient Israel

LESSON TEXT FOR JUNE 29—Psalm 119:105; Isaiah 2:2-4; Micah 6:1-8
MEMORY SELECTION—He will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths.—Isaiah 2:3.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.
AT THE end of the road the Hebrew nation may have—yes, should have—stopped to look back and see what it had accomplished. Israel was now in exile, to return only in part, and with greatly limited greatness and glory.

What was God's purpose for Israel? It was threefold:

- (1) To be a repository for his truth in the earth.
- (2) To be a channel for the coming of the personal Redeemer to the earth.
- (3) To be a national witness to the one true God to the other nations of the earth.

The first two they fulfilled. They kept for us the Word of God as revealed in the Old Testament, and from their nation came most of the men through whom the Holy Spirit wrote the New Testament. It was through their nation that the Son of God came as Jesus of Nazareth, our Saviour and Lord.

But they failed to be the witness that God had meant them to be—and for this they came under his judgment.

Were they then a complete failure? Certainly not—our lesson makes that clear in three ways. Teachers will find the scriptures not too well selected, but they do serve as a background for these thoughts. The nation Israel showed us:

I. The Enlightening Word of God (Ps. 119:105)

LET US never forget that the precious Word of God, which is our light on the way through this dark world, came to us through Jewish hands.

The Old Testament, which we come to appreciate more and more as we grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord, was committed to Israel by inspiration of the Holy Spirit, and preserved by the Jewish nation even at the cost of their own lives. Nothing was more precious to them than the sacred Scripture. We owe them a great debt of gratitude, and ought to honor them for their service to God and man.

We may say then that the Bible, unsurpassed in all the world of literature, and beyond comparison as the guiding light for man's heart and life, was given to us through Israel. We could well say a hearty "Thank you" for that right now if we have never done it before!

II. The Exalted Worship of God (Isa. 2:2-4)

THE prophet looks into the future to that glorious and blessed day when the nations shall have learned to live in peace and righteousness, when war shall be no more, and the worship of God shall be the desire and the joy of men.

When will that day come? Will it be brought in by the efforts of the church, or by conferences of national leaders? Not for a moment would we minimize the value of every true effort to spread peace and righteousness through the earth. We honor those who faithfully try to bring concord in the affairs of men.

But the clear teaching of Scripture, which has been so abundantly proved by experience, is that we can expect the delightful condition of which Isaiah speaks only when the Prince of Peace himself has returned to reign, namely, our Lord and Saviour and coming King, Jesus Christ. We look for that day!

In that blessed time Israel shall worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness, even as their history under the hand of God in days past was one of true worship of the Lord.

Here again they made an enduring contribution to the life of the world. Then note their witness to

III. The Effective Work of God (Mic. 6:1-8)

WE HAVE here words of another Hebrew prophet. He speaks of God's plain dealings with his people, his judgment upon their sin, and the need of a careful and a worthy walk before him.

Back of all the admonition and appeal is the remembrance of how God had worked on behalf of Israel, delivering them from bondage, giving them effective leaders, going before them in battle, in fact, proving his goodness and love by his mighty works.

Israel's service for God and man is an example of what God can and will do for those who obey him and walk with him. It is equally true that they thus reveal the inevitable judgment which comes upon a sinful and disobedient nation. Let us not miss that lesson, for we need it today. Southern Cross Brazil's monetary unit, cruzeiro, was named for a constellation known as a guide to countless mariners in waters south of the equator—the Southern Cross. Records show a drawing of the Southern Cross was one of the first souvenirs sent to King Manoel of Portugal by Pedro Alvares Cabral, following his voyage of discovery to Brazil in 1500. To day the stars of the great constellation are depicted in Brazil's flag and coat of arms as well as in its money.

Petroleum Distillates

Distillation products of petroleum form the base for contact sprays applied to dairies and other food processing plants, warehouses, public buildings and residences, for controlling flies, cockroaches, bedbugs and other pests. Large quantities of petroleum products are also applied to plant life in the form of emulsions for the control of such pests as scale insects. Petroleum sulfonates are used as emulsifying and wetting agents.

Grading Eggs

Egg grades are determined by the size, internal quality, and external appearance. The size grades commonly on the local retail market are "extra large," "large," "medium" and "small." The quality grades usually on the local retail market are designated AA as top quality, with A, B and C as qualities of less desirable grade, but all of which are wholesome and nutritious.

Border Ancient Decoration

The border is one of the earliest elements found in decorative arts. In primitive drawings it was a simple line which marked the edge of the decorative area. It becomes ornate, as seen in Egyptian and Greek art. In tapestries, rugs and textiles it became a part of the design.

Hardwood Flooring

Harder species of wood floors will carry concentrated loads of almost 5,000 pounds per square inch without being marred by crushed or deformed fibers. Oak is the most widely used hardwood flooring because it combines strength with beauty and durability.

Plucking Eyebrows

Before plucking your eyebrows, wash the brow with warm soap water. This will remove all outside matter from the pores and guard against infection. After plucking the stray hairs, touch a few drops of antiseptic to the brows with your finger tips.

School Lunch Program

The first school lunch program on record was established in Munich, Germany, in 1790. In that year soup kitchens were established to feed poverty-stricken school children along with the unemployed.

Use Outside Greens

Learn to use the leafy tops of young beets or outside green leaves of the lettuce and cabbage. These like other greens are cheap sources of vitamin A, and also contain other vitamins and iron.

Overcooking Cauliflower

Overcooking causes cauliflower to turn cream color and have an undesirable odor and taste. It may be served piping hot with butter or a cheese sauce.

Free From Elm Plague

Neither of the two diseases threatening elm trees in the nation have yet been found in Wisconsin. They are the Dutch elm disease and a disease called phloem necrosis.

Crabs Camouflage

Certain crabs have their shells covered by a forest of growing seaweed and sponges, which are "planted" there by the crabs themselves and which afford a very effective camouflage.

Candy Industry

In the candy industry, there are 1,400 manufacturers and 12,000 jobs covering approximately 1,000,000 retail outlets.

Sparkling Bough

Brushing white paint on evergreen boughs will make them glisten and sparkle as if they were covered with frost or snow.

Model Locomotive Tours U. S.

Guaranteed to attract the eyes of model train builders the world over, is this $50,000, quarter-size model of a modern type 4-8-4 Timken Roller Bearing equipped steam locomotive.

The locomotive model was built, not as a toy, but rather as a graphic presentation of the rapid strides made in the railway applications of roller bearings.

Shown examining the model and the regular bearings used in full-sized locomotives, pictured along the sides of the exhibit, are Walter C. Sanders, left, General Manager, Railway Division, of the Timken Roller Bearing Company, and Lawford H. Fry, Director of the Steam Locomotive Research Institute.

Old Blow Land Produces Fine Strawberries

Add one more example to the already overwhelming evidence that the term "Dust Bowl," applied to the Panhandle region in the early thirties, is outmoded. During the current season an experimental plot containing one and one-fifth acres at the Panhandle A. & M. College produced 262.9 twenty-four quart crates of strawberries. The state average during normal years is around sixty crates per acre as compared to the panhandle yield of 219 crates.

Two varieties, both one crop berries, were used, the Dunlap and Blakemore. One crop berries rather than everbearing were used due to the shortage of labor. Of the two varieties the Blakemore, although falling somewhat short of the Dunlap in total yield, seems best adapted to the panhandle conditions. It is a somewhat harder berry, the fruit is medium in size, regular in shape, and a light red color. It is a little too acid to be considered a high quality dessert berry but lends itself remarkably well to the preserving and freezing processes used at the college.

The yield of the Dunlap was cut considerably because of extremely high winds and temperatures ranging from 95 to 101 during the period that should have been peak production for them stated Professor R. A. Peck, college agronomist. Production began on the Blakemore on

Convenient Anesthetics

The use of intravenous anesthetics, such as Pentathol, was of great importance to military surgeons during the war. On board ship and in hospitals near battle areas the use of explosive ether or anesthetic gas and oxygen mixtures becomes a serious hazard. The use of cumbersome cylinders, masks, and carbon dioxide removing material is a practical impossibility. Two small ampules, one of Pentathol and one of distilled water, a 25-cubic centimeter syringe and a fine needle are all of the basic equipment required for anesthesia. The anesthesiologist may carry supplies for an entire day's work in his handbag, and replacements may be easily carried by air.
