Ornament Making here for a visit in the home of A Cottage Industry Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spurlock

Fergus Falls, Minnesota, are

Those colored glass ornaments that we hang on our Christmas left Monday for Temple, Texas, where they plan to go through mas trees used to come from Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland. A small number were made in Japan. When the war cut off these supplies, Misses Wilma and Faydene American glass manufacturers, who Watkins visited their parents of had never bothered with these prod-Wichita Falls, in the home ucts before, turned part of their faof their sister in Goodnight cilities over to making the pretty gewgaws. Mechanical methods were soon developed that could blow as many ornaments in an hour as Mrs. Lucy Kelp visited Mr. and a European glassblower could make Mrs. Dudley Green in Hereford, in a month. Thus modern efficiency may doom this picturesque little industry, carried on in the mountainous towns of eastern Europe. Ornament making is a typical "cottage industry" in the little villages that cling to the steep mountainsides. Families specialize in certain shapes and designs, patterns that may date back for hundreds of years unchanged. The father, using a bunsen burner, carefully blows the thin glass tubing to the desired shape, with the aid of an iron mold. His son acting as mold boy, removes the hot ornament to a cooling table. Next the mother silvers the inside, and finally the daughter applies paint and perhaps decorative designs.

Christmas Rose Has Real Significance

Legend tells us that a young shepherd girl was weeping bitterly as she watched the Wise Men on their way to take gifts to the Christ Child.

An angel appeared, and after ascertaining why the young girl was crying, she waved her wand, and instantly the ground was carpeted with glittering white Christmas roses. The young girl quickly gathered these blooms. When she presented her gift, the Christ Child smiled, and as his fingers touched the white flowers the petals became tinged with pink.

Something New In Overshoes

When it's time to put on overshoes, it's time to do the same for the car. That is the theme of pretty Margaret Noussias, who stands ankle deep in the new Winter-Cleat tire designed for bad-weather driving.

Dutch. They used their wooden shoes instead of stockings.

When the Dutch come to New Amsterdam, this custom came with them-the wooden shoes being gradually replaced by stockings made for the occasion out of net-like materials. As nearly every home had a fireplace the usual place to hang the stockings was over the fireplace.

Treating Trees To Preserve Needles

Dropping needles or leaves of Christmas trees, which strip the trees of color and litter the floor, long have been a Yuletide bane. Therefore, the discovery of the New York State College of Forestry that waterglass spray will prevent the spruce leaves from falling comes as welcome news to family and housewife alike.

Besides preserving the foliage, the waterglass spray adds to the decorative effect of the spruce by leaving a slight silver sheen to the green of the needle-like leaves. The waterglass also has been found to be a good fire retardant.

The college found that the shedding of spruce leaves also can be retarded by placing the base of the tree in a bucket of moist earth, peat moss or water. Users have reported the success of this treatment.

Our Most Famous Christmas Trees

Most famous of the nation's Christmas trees are growing on the wooded rolling acres of the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y. Developed as a result of a hobby which occupied much of the late Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt's spare time, the groves of Yule trees now are scattered on odd patches and parcels of land throughout the estate. The trees, about 270,000 in number, are principally of Norway spruce, white spruce and Douglas fir, with a few balsams also included.

Although the tree growing was a hobby with the late president, he insisted that the project pay its own way. Consequently about 2,000 te 3,000 trees are marketed every Christmas season.

A sharp axe cut into the sturdy trees. When a clearing had been made, the axe and other hand tools were used to cut and fit the logs. All of the wood used in construction of the house was cherry and walnut, with blue ash for the floors. The doors were held together with wooden pegs and fitted with handwrought hinges and intricate home-made locks. There were often quaint closets and carved mantels. Stone fireplaces with great hearths provided for heating and cooking.

> Kentucky is first in many things, such as caves and caverns, cannel coal, native asphalt, race horses and hemp. It always has ranked high in tobacco, coal and distilled spirits.

In mineral wealth Kentucky has rich bituminous coal beds as well as cannel or gas coal. It has a consistent production of oil and gas, the oil of very high grade. Near the Green river are rock asphalt beds. Kentucky iron is mined near Cumberland Gap, and in Trigg, Lyon and Caldwell counties in the west. Other minerals include cement lime-

There are times when some of the men in positions of power or influence in this country seem like pitiful, ant-like figures confronted by a vast wave about to overwhelm them which, like Canute, they are commanding to stand still.

Their voices, loud out of all proportion to the roar of the oncoming wave because we all are standing near them, still seem puny and insignificant. What they are crying out to the SunDAY'S lesson is based on the wave approaching them is: "We will pay you to subside. We will give you billions of dollars and raw materials and manufactured commodities, if you will simply subside and behave yourself." They are trying to buy off what is a world cataclysm.

The world is far worse off than even the loudest calamity howlers of the state department have implied. The two world wars, the vast increase of world population during the 19th century, the industrial revolution with its evil social results, the dire shortage of food in the world, the demoralization and chaos of most Bromfield governments, the intrigues of Russia in a distintegrating world are not merely incidents of comparative historical insignificance to be repaired overnight by a few billion dollars.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infec-tion—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

I mean, by picayune efforts, four billions loaned to England and dissipated quickly, 20 billions poured into Europe to vanish perhaps without result overnight, or even billions and billions more. Waves of history, like earthquakes and hurricanes, are not to be bought off. They are simply not in the market.

The unrest, the perpetual strikes, the unwillingness of British coal miners to produce more, the despair of absurd and destructive Nihilist philosophies like Existentialism, the inertia and the despair of whole peoples, the prevalent philosophy of living from day to day, the evil tactics of Russia in exploiting all these elements and many more, are all a part of that wave of history.

Money will not cure the despair of a twice-defeated Germany. It will not get more work out of the British coal miners, who constantly seek more and more pay for less and less work in a desperate nation on the verge of bankruptcy. It will only permit the miner to relax a little more before the final catastrophe which may engulf us as well. It is significant that the abler and more honest European leaders are showing some recognition of this fact.

THE PLOW THAT TAMED THE WILD PRAIRIE

TEITHER bitter hardships nor hostile Indians could daunt the pioneer farmer, but the rich prairie soil of the new West broke his heart. With no plow to turn the greasy, black loam after the first breaking, the frontiersman was forced either to grub an uncertain existence from it or to move westward to new virgin land.

In 1837, at Grand Detour, Illinois, a plow tamed the wild prairie! It was John Deere's new plow with a steel moldboard which shed the sticky prairie soil. At last, the pioneer farmer could unhitch his emigrant wagon and take root in the fertile plains of the West.

Times, methods, and machines have changed, but John Deere Plows have never relinquished their century-old leadership. Let us show you how it will pay you to own a John Deere.
