

MULE UNVEILING — Several thousand persons stood in the broiling sun Saturday noon to see the unveiling of the first monument ever erected to a mule. The mule unveiling had Attorney General Waggoner Carr as the principal speaker, and Cindy Smith was mistress of ceremonies. The station is located at the north end of Main Street just west of the Santa Fe station. It will draw many visitors to Muleshoe to see the statue.

Second Winner Is Mrs. J.M. Hall; Lenau Wins Again

Look who has been out selling new subscriptions to the Journals — and therefore he tops two others who also had perfect scores in Quiz 3 Muleshoe Lingo - Subscription contest!

Paul Lenau wins again. He sold four renewals and one new subscription.

Second place winner, with personal subscriptions running to 5-27-66 is Mrs. J. M. Hall of Route 1, Box 187. She is a newcomer in the race for the cash grand prizes and will receive $3 for her win of Quiz 3.

In order of running, next tied-up with no mistakes in quiz 3, was Joyce Adams. Missing only one were Mrs. A. W. Black, Lanetta Small, Alton Epting, Joe Adams and Scott Bliss. Some others missed more than one.

Most often missed was Jinete, which is a bronc buster or an excellent rider. A Mule is naturally a mule skinner, such as Gil Lamb, president of the Mule Memorial styles himself on his radio program.

Last quiz number four, winners will be announced in Sunday, July 11, Bailey County Journal. Previous winners include Lenau, Scott Bliss and Mrs. A. W. Watson.

Quiet Weekend; Only 5 In Jail

Only five persons landed in jail here over the long July 4 weekend, a check of city and county records revealed Tuesday, marking it as one of the quietest, "crime-wise" in weeks.

The sheriff's office arrested two persons and lodged them in jail on charges of giving worthless checks.

The Highway Patrol said no accidents occurred in rural areas.

"Guess everybody was just too busy with all the celebrating we were doing here to get into 'meanness,'" one officer commented.

School Building Project Nears Finish; Final Phase Under Way

Except for the junior high gymnasium, Muleshoe's elaborate $1 million school building will be completed by the time school opens Sept. 1.

That was the opinion of Neal Dillman, superintendent of schools, who said Wednesday that "everything is moving along on schedule, and we can see no reason now why the entire program, except for the gymnasium, can't be completed by the contract deadline of Aug. 15."

The school gym contract was set for a later finish.

He said Wednesday that remodeling of the old junior-senior high cafeteria got under way Tuesday, a $26,000 separate project being handled by Panhandle Engineers and Contractors. This is the same company which had the contract on the other projects.

The old cafeteria will be converted into rooms for the vocational department, home-making and distributive education.

Contract was due to be let this week for razing the old West and East DeShazo buildings, Dillman said. Except for the gymnasium-auditorium at DeShazo, the two old buildings will be razed, making room for the handsome, modern structure which is nearing completion. The cafeteria also will be retained.

Several of the new units are virtually complete, and at DeShazo workmen have been moving in equipment and putting it in place, the superintendent said. "Barring some unforeseen hitch, everything will be ready," Dillman said, "but we are still using the word 'tentative' in setting the opening of the 1965-66 term at Sept. 1."

Dry weather during the early phases of the program speeded construction, and by the time the June rains arrived the buildings' walls and roof had been completed, permitting workers to continue with their projects.

The entire building program, financed with bonds voted by the patrons last year, is to cost $855,000, plus $30,000 for remodeling and equipment. DeShazo, for example, will use much of the furniture from the present structures, the superintendent explained. "We feel that we are fortunate in having usable furniture for that building, thus cutting expenses sharply," Dillman said.

The new junior-senior cafeteria, one of the biggest school cafeterias in this area, was making rapid progress and could be called in its final stage. The cafeteria, located on land formerly occupied by the vocational agriculture department will seat 600 persons.

Work has virtually been completed on the new vocational wing on the south side of the senior high campus. This unit, in addition to housing the vocational agriculture department, also will have a complete wood-working department and an auto mechanics' department. This will be the first time Muleshoe high school has offered these two courses. The unit is 186 by 50 feet.

After the conversion of the old cafeteria into the new home-making department has been completed, the rooms formerly occupied by the home-making department will be converted into badly-needed additional classrooms at senior high, Dillman said.

Junior high school is being extended both to the east and the west. The east unit, which will provide eight new classrooms, is nearing completion, and construction is well under way on the gymnasium at the west end. That unit, of course, is not due for completion until later in the year.

The school system has submitted to Washington for approval the desegregation of three additional grades this school year - first, sixth and seventh. All other grades have been previously desegregated.

This plan, if approved by the federal government, will leave only second, third, fourth and fifth grades at Hilltop, the present independent school, Dillman figures enrollment at the school for Negroes, will be cut to approximately 70 pupils.

The sixth grade, which has previously been a part of the DeShazo and Richland Hills elementary systems, will be moved to junior high this autumn. This will mean both DeShazo and Richland Hills will have pupils only in the first grade. Junior high will have sixth, seventh and eighth grade, and senior high will take care of ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

Four-Day Mule - o - Rama Is Highly Successful

Muleshoe's Big Celebration Ends In Blaze Of Glory

With an American flag waving out the theme of the day in fireworks, Muleshoe's big four-day celebration came to an end Monday night, literally in a blaze of glory.

Success crowned the entire event, from the hanging of an historical marker Friday afternoon at the old Muleshoe ranch cookhouse, to the dying sputter of the fireworks spectacular which ended the entire Mule - o - rama late Monday night. Many motorists stopped at Muleshoe entrances for "hospitality" visits.

Unveiling of Pete - the - fiberglass - mule, Saturday noon jammed downtown Muleshoe with thousands of visitors who stayed on until the parade was over. In fact Saturday, one of the busiest days ever seen in Muleshoe, Hundreds turned out bright and early for the fly-in breakfast at the airport and for the unusual airshow which followed. Feature was a 1927 aircraft piloted by TV-man Dan True from Amarillo. Sky jumpers leaped from the old plane at dizzy heights of 14,000 feet. And there was also a striking display of the ultra modern in aircraft for the people to gawk at.

Morgan Locker had hung out his biggest welcome sign for the crowds which exceeded all expectations, and Jaycees dished out thousands of pancakes for the breakfast which started the airshow rolling.

Saturday also saw old-timers from far and near who gathered for their annual get-together and watched a style show, featuring western paintings.

Rains Improve Area Pastures; Cattle Prices Up

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Water remains very much in the spotlight over the state. As June ended, cattle were in better than average condition, says the US Department of Agriculture. Pastures and ranges continued to furnish good grazing and rising cattle prices have resulted.

On the High Plains heavy showers boosted range prospects, but grass growth was slowing in many areas because of high temperatures which sap soil moisture.

In the Trans - Pecos ranges some farmers and ranchers were forced to begin supplemental feeding. Some farmers have been combating the rain problem by irrigating their crops. A joint study by the USDA, the Texas Water Commission and the State Soil Conservation Board indicates that irrigation in Texas rose significantly from 1958 to 1964. Amount of water used

Several hundred turned out Saturday night for the buffalo beef barbecue, and then Sunday morning the continuing celebration opened with a chuck wagon breakfast and preaching services in the circle of wagons brought here by the Rolling Plains Muletrain from Spearman. Speaker was the Rev. Don Boles, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Sunday afternoon's program featured two events - a parade of antique cars and a junior rodeo, and then that evening a historical musical program was presented at the First Baptist Church.

The big talent show drew 36 different individuals or acts, but elimination auditions at the high school auditorium Monday afternoon whittled the number to 23 for the Monday night finales.

In the junior division, a 15-year-old ballet dancer from Clovis, Marianne Jones, took top money, $190, for first place, and another 15-year-old, Randy Jones, Route 1, Farwell, finished second with $65, with a piano solo. Forty dollars and third prize went to Shelia Harvey, 14, Clovis, for a vocal number, and the fourth prize money $20 went to The Tyrants, a modern combo from Friona. The members were Johnny Claborn, Terry Fite, Eddie

People Should Know First Aid For Snake Bites, Expert Warns

The chances for cases of snake bite increase as more and more campers and outdoor recreation enthusiasts take to the field. "Although chances of dying from snake bites are about the same as from lightning, people should know how to recognize a poisonous snake and how to give first aid for bites," says Wallace Klussmann, Extension specialist in wildlife conservation, Texas A&M University. There are four types of poisonous snakes in Texas, belonging to two families. The rattlesnake, copperhead and water moccasin (cotton-mouth) belong to the pit viper family. A "pit," which has nerve endings that are sensitive to heat are located between the nostril and eye on each side of the head. The three kinds of snakes of this family have several similar distinguishing characteristics. The head is wider than the neck and is somewhat triangular. They have facial pits, hollow movable fangs, hemotoxic poison (works on the bloodstream and elliptical eye pupils or cat-eyes. Each snake has its own individual color markings. The coral snake, representing the family of cobra-like snakes, is the other type in Texas. Coral snakes are small and slender with distinctive pattern of yellow, red and black rings around the body. They have round eye pupils, short and permanently erect fangs and the head is not distinctly wider than the neck. The poison works on the nervous system. There is a long standing superstition that the coral snake is more poisonous than the rattlesnake, says Klussmann. The fact is that the venom of the coral snake is more toxic but is usually not carried in sufficient quantity to be fatal to the average adult. Because of its short fangs, it must bite, hold on, and chew to deliver the venom with certainty. On the contrary, the rattlesnake has large movable fangs and sometimes carries three times as much venom as is needed for a fatal dose. The best thing to do if bitten by a poisonous snake is to remain as calm as possible, advises Klussmann. Persons bit-

Check Insect Damage Early In Grain Bins

Farmers can save money by taking a few preventive measures against insects in stored grain, says Max Meisch, assistant Extension entomologist, Texas A&M University, and J. K. Adams, county agent here.

"Insects destroy an estimated two percent of the nation's farm - stored grain each month," he adds. Meisch made this statement as farmers across the state are storing portions of the current wheat crop and preparing for the approaching fall harvest.

Proper preparation of storage bins is the first factor to be considered. Grain should be stored in bins which have been thoroughly cleaned and all old grain removed. Cracks should be covered with builders molding or some other suitable material to prevent grain from collecting there. Grain and other material beneath and near bins should be destroyed.

After proper cleaning of the bin, the inside surfaces should be sprayed with methoxychlor 2½ percent or malathion 2½ percent at a rate of about two gallons per 1,000 square feet of surface area.

The grain itself should be treated with an insecticide during or shortly after the time of final storing, Meisch explains. If the insecticide is applied when storing, premium grade Board; Mary Farley, Past Mother Advisor and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williams.

Grand Assembly for 1966 will be held in Corpus Christi, according to Mrs. John Farley.

malathion is recommended. It may be applied as a liquid spray or a dust formulation. If a spray formulation is selected, one pint of 57 percent malathion may be mixed with 50 to 55 gallons of water and used to treat 1,000 bushels of grain. The dust formulation is available in the form of an impregnated wheat flour which has a recommended application rate of 60 pounds per 1,000 bushels of stored grain.

If the grain has already been placed into the storage bin, fumigation offers the most effective insect control, Meisch states. Several fumigants are available for treating stored grain. Among the more effective liquid fumigants are ethylene dibromide, ethylene dichloride, carbon tetrachloride, and carbon disulfide. The two most commonly used gaseous fumigants are methyl bromide and hydrogen cyanide.

Meisch warns that extreme care should be taken in the application of fumigants. Persons applying fumigants inside bins should wear gas masks with a full facepiece and proper canister approved by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. The gaseous fumigants should be used only by people experienced in their application.

If small quantities of grain are to be stored for planting seed, they may be treated with three percent DDT or methoxychlor dust at a rate of one ounce per bushel. Planting seed, free of insects, can be protected for several months by storing it in bags treated with an insecticide. Treated bags are sold by various bag manufacturers. Treated planting seed should never be fed to livestock, warns the entomologist.

More specific information concerning insect control in stored grain may be obtained from Leaflet L-17, available at the local county agent's office, Meisch concludes.

mules we have known. My grandparents lived near Cullman, Ala., later moving to town. The home was on the farm, and Granddad had a picture made about 1908. The mule was a beloved animal, and Grandpa wanted him in the picture as well as the chickens. Grandfather was born March 31, 1844 and died in 1926, and Grandma Rasco was born April 2, 1844 and died July 15, 1926.

"In 1922 our family went to the state of Washington for a year (we did not sell our home or farm) and lived near Walla Walla, Wash. My brother worked on a big wheat ranch where the land was planted one year and then the next year was just cultivated - not planted. The land was "high" or hilly. They even had plows with one wheel or wheels larger than those on the "down" side of the mountain, and small wheels on the "up" side of the hill.

"Many mules were used to each plow.

"My mother (Mrs. Cora Ras-

Mrs. W. T. Vereen.

-MULESHOE--MY HOMETOWN

Muleshoe — My Hometown
Did you say Muleshoe? Say, that's my hometown
Finest little town anywhere around
Come there as a kid, oh, many years ago
And I grew up there and watched Muleshoe grow

New schools and churches, and pretty homes too
Businesses and street lights all came into view
KMUL and the Journal tells us all the news
Keeps us well informed and chases our blues

When there's some thing special, Muleshoe goes all out
And the whole county makes it a big turn-out
Folks there take time to help their fellowman
They pitch in and do everything they can

co) and I plan to attend the celebration, and we are looking forward to enjoying the fine programs you have planned."

Air Jumps, Sleek New Planes, Antique Aircraft - All Were Here For Air Show

Aircraft flocked to Muleshoe last Saturday for a fly-in breakfast and an airshow that drew thousands to Muleshoe Airport for an air-minded day.

Although Morgan Locker, manager, had succeeded in inducing many manufacturers to send in their newest aircraft, it was a noisy Fairchild of 1927 vintage that drew the biggest crowd of spectators.

From the time the clumsy (as compared with today's planes) 8-passenger former airliner bounced down here until it chugged back toward Amarillo from which it had come, the Fairchild held the spotlight.

Of course one reason for the intense interest in the old plane was the fact that it was piloted by Dan True, popular TV-10 weatherman from Amarillo who bounces around the country (between TV shows) to show off the Roaring 20's flying job. He also took passengers up and down all morning, and used the old craft as a 14,000-foot launching vehicle as a springboard for some exceptionally good sky diving.

The morning got off to an early start with a fly-in breakfast served by the Muleshoe Jaycees.

Locker estimates that 3000 people flocked to the airport for the day's events, and this didn't include many more who watched air antics from downtown or from their front porches.

The weather smiled on the show, providing unusually good weather for all sorts of air traffic.

ANCIENT AIRCRAFT — As airplanes go this 1927 Fairchild is a museum piece, but it still does a good job of flying. This is the old plane as it landed at the Muleshoe airport Saturday.

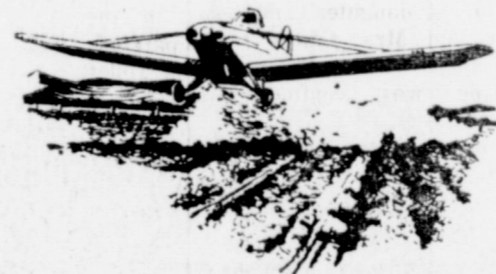

NEW PLANES AT SHOW — Some 25 new aircraft, all of them shiny and new, came here Saturday for the big air show. This shows only part of the planes at the Muleshoe Airport.

TRUE & FRIEND — When Dan True landed his 1927 Fairchild here Saturday, one of the first to greet him was Terry Boatman, 11, who lives in the Hub community.

DIVERS MAKE READY — Dan True brought along four sky divers for Saturday's air show here. This is two of the men, all rigged out in their diving gear, making ready to take off for one of the many dives of the day.

MORE NEW AIRCRAFT — Manufacturers flew in their latest models - 50 or more of them - for exhibition at Saturday morning's air show. This is another view of the new aircraft.

DIVER NEARS LANDING — While hundreds stood and squinted into the sun, first of four sky divers neared touchdown. The four men made numerous dives from Dan True's 1927 Fairchild.

LATE BREAKFAST — Muleshoe Jaycees served breakfast to several hundred persons as a part of the big Saturday morning air show. Here are a few of the late pancake eaters.

Entrance Fees For Many U.S. Parks Are Set

Federal recreation agency officials today listed areas in Texas where entrance charges will be required this year. The list of eight areas includes all National Forest recreation areas for camping and picnicking; National Parks, Monuments, and Historic Sites and Wildlife Refuges where entrance charges will be made. Melvin Evans, manager of the Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge, said he had not learned whether fees will be charged here or if so when they will go into effect. Special fees may be charged for use of cabins, boats, well-developed camp, picnic, and trailer facilities, and other services.

Many Federal areas in the State remain available for public use without charge. Under the new Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, charges are made only where there is investment in recreation facilities and where collection of fees is feasible. Proceeds from the charges are channeled into the Land and Water Conservation Fund to provide additional State and Federal outdoor recreation opportunities. The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation of the Department of the Interior administers the Fund. The entrance and special service fees apply to many Federal areas for the first time. However, a number of National Parks and other areas have been charging entrance fees for some years. A new $7 Federal Recreation Conservation Sticker available this year will admit the holder and occupants of his car to all Federal recreation areas which require entrance fees. The Sticker will remain valid until March 31, 1966. Persons not wishing to purchase the $7 Sticker may pay one-day entrance fees. An individual area seasonal ticket is also available. This is valid only at a specific National Park or all charge areas in a single National Forest for which it is purchased until the end of the year. It is attractive to individuals who normally use only one particular Federal area.

Meet the MULESHOE STATE BANK CUSTOMER of the Week

Jim Henery Hanks

Our customer of the week is Jim Henery Hanks, dairy farmer, living 8 miles east on the Plainview Highway. Hanks and his wife, Altha, have four children: Kenneth of Muleshoe, Derrell Gene, Midland, Mrs. Ross Haney, Lamesa and Mrs. Leon Atchison, Austin. The Hankses attend the First Christian Church. Hanks said he had banked with the Muleshoe State Bank since 1953 and "They have been pretty nice to me. Always been satisfactory." We are proud to recognize this customer of the week.

Redistricting Due 3 Courtroom Tests

BY VERN SANFORD
 Teyas Press Association

AUSTIN — Two of the three redistricting plans passed by the Legislature soon will come under courtroom attacks.

In a legislative redistricting case in Houston, motions will be filed asking that the new plan for dividing Texas into 150 districts for the House of Representatives be declared unconstitutional.

State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. has announced that the Harris County plaintiffs in the Congressional redistricting case, headed by George Bush, will drop out of active roles in the case because that county was treated fairly in the redistricting plan.

But the Republicans plan to bring in new plaintiffs from Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant, Midland, Ector, Jefferson, Orange and Brazoria Counties to try to convince the three - judge federal court in Houston that the new law violates several apportionment principles.

On legislative redistricting, state Reps. Jake Hohnson of San Antonio and Robert C. Eckhardt of Houston, who joined in the suit which led to present reapportionment procedures being declared unconstitutional will ask the court to say that the new plan violates the U. S. Constitution, too.

Main attack is expected to be purely on the question of whether county - wide districts with more than one legislator serve to discriminate against minority racial and political groups.

No attack is expected on the plan passed to divide the Texas Senate into 31 new districts.

RATES TO GO UP — A hearing confirmed the earlier warning that auto insurance rates will go up an average of some 13.4 per cent on Aug. 1.

Actually, new rates for property damage, liability and collision lines carried by most motorists will be increased more than 20 percent in most areas.

A rising toll from traffic accidents is blamed for the hike. Insured drivers paid $404,000,000 in premiums last year against $198,000,000 settled by companies on claims. Another $16,000,000 in pay-outs is pending. Board decides premiums should go up when more than 63 cents of the premium dollar goes to pay claims and adjustment costs.

BUILDING, SALES DOWN — Texas building and retail sales dropped off in May, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Sales fell off about one percent from the April level, in contrast to a normal seasonal gain of about three percent. The January - May total is four percent above the same period for 1964 but has not kept pace with the nationwide increase. Trade is expected to improve with repeal of federal excise taxes.

Building authorizations decreased 13 percent last month to the second - lowest level in last 12 months.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court affirmed Court of Civil Appeals finding that the two - year - old law which placed bonded liquor exporters along the Mexico border under state regulation is unconstitutional.

In two separate opinions — from Harris and Matagorda counties — court held that holders of hurricane insurance policies which specifically excluded water damage coverage could not collect for flood water damages to their homes from the Sept. 11, 1961, Hurricane Carla.

AG SPEAKS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has held that San Marcos Consolidated Independent School District cannot use Martindale District tax assessments for 1965, though the districts have consolidated. All property throughout the district must be assessed at an equal and uniform rate, Carr concluded.

In other opinions, the attorney general ruled Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner may not approve a credit union as a depository for other credit unions;

Dallas County Junior College may contract with the county tax assessor - collector to assess and collect its ad valorem taxes; and

Celebration

Wood and Eldon Long, all 15 and 16-year-olds.
A vocal solo by Byron Thom as Witten, 5 was good for fifth prize and $15, and final prize in that division went to Keith Ann Howard, 16. Dimmitt, for an organ solo.
In the senior division, a drum duo from Whiteface, Jessie Esquivel, 20 and Dennis Martin 18, took the $100 first prize.
The Trade Winds, Littlefield folk singers, won second prize.

Rains

increased nearly one third, to 12,500 acre feet or an average of 18 inches per irrigated acre.
Amount of irrigated land increased by about 15 percent during the six-year period. Much of the gain occurred in the High Plains — in the upper parts of the Canadian, Colorado, Brazos and Red River Basins — but some of it also was in the basins of the Rio Grande and Nueces Rivers.
By next September studies to show how much water will be available in 2020 from Texas reservoirs and ground water strata already in use will be complete.

Then will come the job of finding additional sources to match yields to needs. This will involve searching for new surface water supplies as well as desalination of poor underground water.

When in-basin sources are checked out against the needs of each river basin, the planners expect to find some of the heavy rainfall regions will have more water than they will need, even in 2020, while others will not have enough.

The group is composed of Jacke Heffington, Roy Dale Pierce, Tommy Ivey, Steve Lowe, Mike Greer, Rickey Miller, Jackie Maner and Verna Chambers, all 5 and 16 years old.

Third prize was won by The Trade Winds, a modern combo from Earth. Their names were not listed on the information sheet. Fifth place went to the Muleshoe Minstrels, a folk singers' group composed of Marsha Blackman, Susan Birdsong, Brenda Tanner, Leasel Richardson, Don Douglas, John Sulley and Gary Edwards.

A guitar and vocal solo by Danny Mack Winn, Springlake, won sixth place.

Prettiest, tallest and longest beard wearers were picked at the start of the talent show vying up a contest sponsored by Muleshoe Jaycees. Prettiest title went to Ernest Martin and bestliest to R. A. Cross. The longest beard ended in a three-way tie between Richard Puckett, Sonny Shoemaker and David Pierce.
