CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Twenty years ago Tuesday, a 31-pound satellite roared into space from this seaside base to launch America in a catch-up race it won a decade later when men went to the moon.

The success of Explorer 1 was especially meaningful to hundreds of scientists, whose pride suffered 109 days earlier when the Soviet Union proudly announced the successful launch and orbiting of Sputnik 1.

Two Russian Sputniks were in orbit when Explorer 1 blasted off from Cape Canaveral on Jan. 31, 1958.

It was the year that National Airlines began the first domestic jet service from New York to Miami; the year 73 days of arctic cold wiped out orange groves and vegetable fields across Florida; and the year Gen. Charles de Gaulle became French premier, averting a threatened civil war.

The lure of space, which John F. Kennedy later would call the "New Frontier," fired the imagination of scientists. They wrote the rules and developed the technology as they went along.

The seeds of the space program were sown in the early years of rocketry, developed secretly by the military after World War II. But the idea of men traveling in metal capsules in space was still relegated to the Buck Rogers comic strips.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union developed intercontinental ballistic missiles in the 1950s to carry nuclear-tipped warheads across the oceans. The era of pushbutton holocaust had arrived.

The Russians built huge boosters capable of carrying bulky atomic bombs. The Americans didn't need as much propulsive power. So when the satellite age arrived, Soviet rockets lifted tons into space. Explorer 1 weighed only 31 pounds.

The Russians piled up more firsts along the way: first rocket to hit the moon, first photos of the Moon's far side, first animals in orbit and first animals brought safely back to Earth, and the first man in orbit.

The United States led in scientific advances, discovering among other things the Van Allen radiation belts with Explorer 1, and the pear shape of the Earth with Vanguard. There was a series of successful manned orbital flights, then flights around the moon and finally, the first man on the moon in 1969.

Now Americans look forward to man's next step, the space shuttle orbital transport scheduled for launch in the spring of 1979.

Eighty-four team members worked on the Jupiter-C launch that carried the first Explorer into space. Sixty-six of them today are working on the space shuttle, either for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration or space contractors.

"The Explorer launch opened a new world for us," said Jose Gonzalez, a payload instrumentation specialist for the space shuttle program, who was then in charge of instrumentation for the launch.

But things have changed.

"The days of the real glamor are gone," said Kennedy Space Center launch director Walter J. Kapryan.

Economic Outlook Brighter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans generally will be better off in 1978, benefiting from a 5 percent increase in purchasing power, but the nation's economic future remains clouded by sluggish investment activity, Carter administration economists say.

The increase in purchasing power, up from a 4.9 percent increase in 1977, should help propel the economy to overall growth during the year of between 4.5 percent and 5 percent, sufficient to further reduce the nation's jobless rate.

Unemployment should decline to between 6 percent and 6.25 percent by the end of the year, down from the 6.4 percent rate in December, and inflation is likely to remain stuck at about the same 6 percent rate as last year.

The administration's latest projections for this year are contained in the president's annual economic report to Congress, which was prepared by his Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Charles L. Schultze, and released today.

Some highlights of the report were disclosed by the president in his economic message to Congress two weeks ago.

The president's advisers gave this overall short-term assessment of the economy:

"Prospects for continued expansion were favorable as 1977 came to a close. The sectors of the economy were in good balance, inventories were relatively lean and the balance sheets of businesses and financial institutions were strong."

They said the projected growth in the nation's gross national product of between 4.5 percent and 5 percent depends on enactment of Carter's proposed $25 billion in tax cuts. The GNP, which measures the total output of goods and services in the economy, expanded 4.9 percent in 1977.

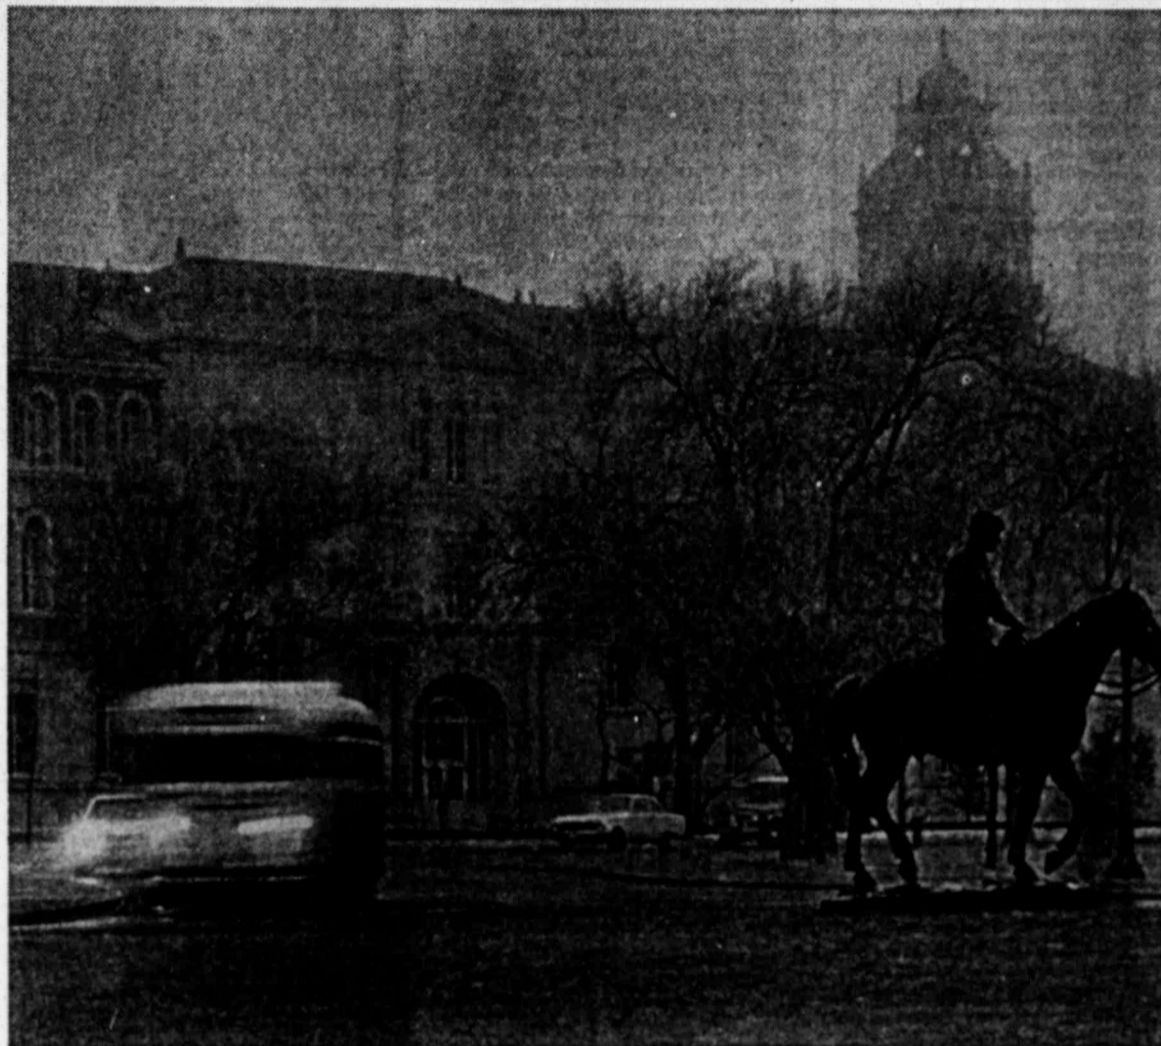

Without the tax cuts, they said, the economy might start to slow down beginning about mid-year and extending into 1979.

But they made clear the economy is not by any means out of the woods, even with the tax cut.

Inflation and unemployment are serious problems, "and great resources of the U.S. economy are still incompletely utilized," it said.

There is good news for consumers and FOG-SHROUDED MORNING — As in other parts of the city, motorists on the Texas Tech University campus had to light on the gas pedal this morning because of freezing mist and drizzle which cloaked the area. Fog, Drizzle Slow Traffic On Plains

A-J News Services

Winty weather brought misery to many sections of the nation today, as troops battled to reach persons snow-bound in the Midwest and fog and freezing drizzle made travel hazardous in the Southwest.

That murky combination of fog and freezing drizzle thwarted air traffic at Lubbock International Airport for the second day, as low visibility prevented aircraft from landing or taking off.

And icy roadways were blamed for at least one area traffic death. A Lubbock woman died early today after a car skidded off an overpass in Slaton.

Although adverse weather conditions here were expected to improve this afternoon, continued cold weather with periods of drizzle and fog — possibly freezing at times — is forecast through Tuesday. A new cold front is expected to sweep into the South Plains late tonight.

Chances of precipitation were placed at 20 percent tonight and 40 percent for Tuesday.

Even more dismal weather was forecast for New Mexico.

Gusty northerly winds were predicted to develop in New Mexico this afternoon, as the dense fog and drizzling rain begins to dissipate. Light snow may begin late tonight in the west and spread over the northern mountains, with widely scattered rain showers at the lower elevations in the west. Precipitation is possible on the eastern plains Tuesday.

An airport tower spokesman said no flights had entered or left the Lubbock airport since 4 p.m. Sunday.

One of the major air carriers had canceled its flight schedule through 3 p.m. Another airline spokesman said an incoming flight this morning was sent on to another airport.

Some form of precipitation or restriction to visibility was reported by weather stations across the state just before sunrise today.

The fog and freezing drizzle combined to cause sick and icy highways and bridges over much of the Panhandle and South Plains. Pre-dawn temperatures were in the 20s in the Panhandle.

Travelers' advisories were issued for the Panhandle and South Plains with cloudy skies and patchy, light rain and drizzle lasting through the morning.

Canal Treaty Revised By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations committee sent the controversial Panama Canal treaty to the Senate floor today, after a last-minute revision aimed at avoiding the need for Panamanian voters to approve the pact a second time.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said the change was "a face-saving device for the (Panamanian) negotiators." But, he added, "I'm perfectly willing to save as many faces as necessary."

Both governments wanted to avoid a second plebiscite, fearing it would generate political problems in Panama and possibly result in the pact being scuttled entirely.

On twin votes of 14 to 1, the panel recommended Senate ratification of the two-part treaty, with changes that would clarify U.S. rights to use and defend the canal after it is turned over to Panama in the year 2000.

The proposal is expected to come up for Senate debate late this week or early next week.

To report the treaty, the Foreign Relations panel was forced to withdraw a vote of last Friday by which it had recommended clarifying the defense and access provisions with a new article tacked on at the end.

Over the weekend, senators learned from colleagues visiting Panama that Panamanian treaty experts said that change would require another plebiscite there. Panama's government said voters there approved the treaty by a 2-1 majority last Oct. 23.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., who had sponsored the plan to add a new article, told the committee that Romulo Escobar Betancourt and Aristedes Royo, Panama's two treaty negotiators, had told the visiting senators that such an action would, under Panama's constitution, require another vote.

The word was relayed back to Washington by the assistant majority leader in the Senate, Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., as they flew home today aboard an Air Force plane from a weekend visit to Panama.

Faced with this situation, the committee agreed to withdraw the 13-1 vote by which Javits' plan had been adopted, and instead to incorporate the same material in language of each of two existing articles of the neutrality treaty, a method originally proposed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

The language, based on a memo of understanding between President Carter and Panama's Gen. Omar Torrijos last Oct. 14, specifies that the treaty would give the United States a right of priority passage in emergencies and a right to use military force to defend the canal after 2000.

As on Friday, the lone dissenter to the treaty was Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

Jury Sought For Trial Of Lackey

A-J Correspondent

SAN ANGELO — Individual examination of the first of 300 prospective jurors in the Clarence Allen Lackey capital murder trial was to get under way here in 51st District Court this afternoon.

Prosecutors and defense attorneys spent the beginning of the day checking and rechecking the list of veniremen who may end up trying Lackey for his life on a capital murder charge.

Lackey is accused of the abduction-slaying last July 31 of Toni Dianne Kumpf, a pretty Texas Tech University Medical School secretary.

Neighbors said the 23-year-old woman was dragged screaming from her Lubbock apartment about 6:30 a.m. that day. Her body was found about two hours later in a field south of the town. Her throat had been slashed, almost to the point of decapitation.

The trial was moved to San Angelo on a change of venue and is being tried here by Lubbock's 137th District Judge Robert C. Wright.

Court officials predict that selection of a panel from among the 300 prospective jurors could take one to two weeks. Jurors will be sequestered for the duration of the trial as they are picked.

The prosecution team, headed by Lubbock County Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin, and defense lawyers Phil Brown and Tom Richards of Lubbock, are preparing for what could then be a multi-week trial.

The prosecution has subpoenaed 40 witnesses and the defense, 30.

Lackey's court-appointed attorneys are being assisted by San Angelo lawyer Jerry Johnson.

Richards was absent from this morning's proceedings due to a reported medical problem.

Lackey, a strapping 23-year-old construction worker, faces either life imprisonment or the death penalty if convicted of the capital charge. Those are the only two punishment options open to jurors under Texas' capital murder law.

Wreck Kills City Woman

Mrs. Sandra Martinez, 18, of 1915 Ave. L died at 1:15 a.m. today in Methodist Hospital from injuries sustained in an automobile accident about 11:30 p.m. Sunday in Slaton.

According to the Slaton police department, Mrs. Martinez and her sister-in-law, Angie Martinez, 14, of Slaton, were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Martinez's husband, Porfirio Martinez Jr.

Their automobile plunged off the US 94 downtown exit overpass in Slaton. According to police reports, the overpass was icy and the Martinez vehicle was the second automobile to skid off. The first car skidded off the overpass shortly before the Martinez vehicle.

Angie Martinez was listed in serious condition at Methodist Hospital today. Martinez was not believed to be seriously injured in the accident. Mrs. Martinez re-

Tougher Grading Policy Takes Toll Of Students

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

As evidence that grading and promotion standards are higher this year, Lubbock's 1978 public school summer program will put more emphasis on make-up work, instead of academic "enrichment."

Lubbock Independent School District administrators say a "back-to-basics" summer school curriculum is needed because more children may be making lower grades — notably F's — than last year.

The administration has retooled the summer school program, especially at the elementary level, to allow students who otherwise would be detained a year to make up deficiencies so they can be promoted.

Previously, the elementary schools' summer curriculum was for "enrichment," explained Jay Gordon, the district's assistant superintendent for instruction.

"We did have a substantial amount of academic work in the summer school program. But the emphasis was on strengthening skills students had already acquired," he said.

And, Gordon said, the focus of the enrichment program was on youngsters who passed the regular school term but either "needed extra help" or wanted to do advanced work.

In contrast, the 1978 summer school program at the elementary level will be better designed for pupils who received failing marks during the regular school-year, he said.

In fact, Gordon said, elementary summer school admissions policies are being changed to enable such students to make up deficiencies by doing remedial work during the summer.

"At the recommendation of their teachers, students who fail will be allowed to remove that deficiency by successfully completing the summer school program," he said.

Gordon said the new summer school curriculum will have "an even greater stress on academic work" than before.

At a school board meeting Friday, Gordon attributed the shift in the summer program to "our change in emphasis in

Peace Movement Called 'Irrelevant' By Critics

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Critics say Northern Ireland's Peace People movement, which won the 1976 Nobel Peace Prize for founders Betty Williams and Mairead Corrigan, has become "irrelevant" and is losing its influence. The criticism has been heightened by the decision of the two Roman Catholic women to use the $141,600 Nobel prize money for their personal expenses, in lieu of salaries. They say they're doing this to keep from drawing on a $475,000 trust fund they raised for community projects to bring Northern Ireland's feuding Protestants and Catholics together.

The movement already was under fire because it has been sitting on the trust fund. Community workers think the money should be used to finance businesses to ease unemployment and build community centers to promote reconciliation. Peace People officials say they are considering several projects, but the movement's only major expenditure so far has been $75,000 to buy a headquarters building in Belfast.

The movement must urgently examine its role before losing credibility completely," said the Rev. Norwood Meldrum, a Protestant minister who heads the government Social Services Council. A Belfast community worker who quit the movement last year said it has lost sight of its original aim and has become "largely irrelevant. ... To all intents and purposes the peace movement is dead."

Ciaran McKeown, a former student radical who is the third member of the movement's ruling triumvirate, admitted Peace People has become "sluggish." He said it is disturbed at charges that it lacks direction and efficiency "and the most serious charge that the movement is in danger of losing touch with its deeper motivation, the spiritual commitment to non-violence and peacemaking."

Mrs. Williams, 36-year-old wife of an engineer on an oil tanker, and Miss Corrigan, a 33-year-old secretary, founded Peace People in August 1976 after seeing three children crushed by a runaway terrorist car. Miss Corrigan was their aunt, and Mrs. Williams has two children of her own.

The crusade aroused considerable support among Northern Ireland's war-weary people. Rallies drew up to 20,000 people, many of them Protestants and Catholics meeting for the first time in a decade.

"Its rallies, with Protestants and Catholics marching and singing together, helped destroy the ghetto ethic that has kept this war going," a government spokesman said. "People on both sides who were sick to death of the violence realized they were not alone."

Mrs. Williams and Miss Corrigan became media superstars and were hailed as heroines abroad. But they were widely criticized at home for spending so much time abroad raising funds instead of remaining in Northern Ireland to work for peace.

The movement also was attacked for its drift, under McKeown's vision of "community government," into the political arena.

McKeown says despite the trust fund, the movement needs money to pay administrative expenses. "We don't want to transfer money from the trust fund because that money is for financing reconciliation projects," he said. "We're trying to make the administration self-supporting. Having Betty and Mairead keep the Peace Prize money and foregoing their salaries helps by reducing our expenditure."

McKeown also has renounced his salary, $9,500 a year like the women's.

"Many people have this illusion that Betty and Mairead are now filthy rich," he added. "But it's just not true. They have no other income and what they have will go on their peace work."

"We'll use the prize money to finance our personal activities for peace," Mrs. Williams said.

McKeown does not believe Peace People's best days are past.

"There's no instant solution to the problem here," he said. "We've got a lot of problems to sort out. We've had to rethink a lot of our original concepts. But we're far from finished."

Ector Sheriff's Deputy Claims Treatment Planned For Inmate

By MARK VOGLER
A-J Correspondent

ODESSA — An Ector County Sheriff's Department official said Sunday he was informed by his superiors four days after Larry Ortega Lozano's arrest that the inmate was to be committed to a state hospital for psychiatric treatment.

However, a Lozano family spokesman says they had been discouraged by the department from having the man committed, and no commitment papers were ever signed for transfer, according to Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught.

Lozano, whose death in the county jail on Jan. 22 is now the subject of an investigation by state and federal officials, was charged on Jan. 10 with three counts of aggravated assault against police officers, criminal mischief, driving at an unsafe speed, and resisting arrest.

The charges had been scheduled to be reviewed by an Ector County Grand Jury Jan. 23, the day after Lozano died.

Capt. Tommy McMeans of the Ector County Sheriff's Department told the Avalanche-Journal Sunday he believed Jan. 14 that the 27-year-old Mexican-American would soon be committed to Big Spring State Hospital for psychiatric treatment.

"I was told (by an official in the department's civil division) that he was to be taken to a state hospital. I'm assuming that they meant Big Spring," McMeans said.

McMeans, who was on duty Jan. 14, said he recalled advising a local bondsman that there was no point in bonding Lozano since "commitment papers were in the works."

Lee Dallaire of A-1 Bonding Company in Odessa told the A-J that after confering with the sheriff's department once on Jan. 13 and twice on Jan. 14, he was convinced that it was not worth bonding Lozano out of jail.

"It was useless at that point. We actually figured it would be Monday or Tuesday (Jan. 23 or 24) when he would be transferred," Dallaire said, adding there was "No question in my mind that is exactly what he (McMeans) was told."

A Lozano family spokesman said the commitment papers to the state hospital were rejected by the sheriff's department.

"The sheriff's office did not want to send him . . . they wanted the money is all . . . $26,000 in bonds," said a relative, referring to the total bond set after the arrest.

Lozano's mental condition seems to be the crucial question, and it will have to be answered by a special six-member jury inquest expected to be impaneled sometime next month.

Faught contends that the inmate belonged in a mental institution rather than jail, while members of the Mexican-American community dispute the charges that the man was mentally ill, and allege he was the victim of a police beating.

Two inmates, who spent a week in the same cell block with Lozano, say the inmate talked of using psychiatric treatment as an alibi in getting transferred out of the jail. They say they are willing to go before the state and federal investigators to dispute Lozano's alleged mental illness and testify he was harassed and physically abused.

Faught said Lozano was transferred into a cell by himself the day he died because he was verbally abusing other inmates. "The man later went berserk and banged his head against the glass window of his cell door," the sheriff said.

Officers rushed into his cell and pulled him out into the corridor to restrain him, but he stopped breathing before the doctor arrived. He died of injuries he received from beating his head against the cell, according to the sheriff.

A preliminary autopsy result has revealed that Lozano died from a cerebral hemorrhage believed to have been caused by a sharp blow to the back of the head.

Quote Misattributed

A quote which read, "He was put on display like an animal," inadvertently was attributed to Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught in Sunday's story on the Odessa jail death probe.

The quote should have been attributed to a cellmate of the dead prisoner.

City Teacher To Seek Post On School Board

Edith O'Brien, a science teacher at Alderson Junior High, has filed for Place 2 on the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees. She is believed to be the first active teacher ever to seek a seat on the board.

"The school board needs a professional educator among its members," said Mrs. O'Brien, 48, of 4520 22nd St. She said her campaign slogan is "back to basics — return to responsibility."

Brad Crawford, an attorney, and Donna Muldrew, an architecture instructor at Texas Tech University, also have filed for the Place 2 post, being vacated by board vice president Bob McKelvey.

In announcing her candidacy, Mrs. O'Brien said she advocates a crackdown on "social promotions," expansion of remedial programs for "low-achieving" students and enrichment programs for gifted youngsters, more academic activities and competition among schools and voluntary desegregation through "magnet schools."

"I share the concern expressed by many people in all parts of the country for a return to basic education and an emphasis on moral conduct and responsibility," said Mrs. O'Brien, who has taught in Georgia and South Carolina schools and is in her third year at Alderson.

She believes that sentiment in Lubbock could be tapped as part of a plan to make Dunbar High and perhaps some other predominantly minority schools "magnets," to attract voluntarily enough white students to meet desegregation guidelines set by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

Mrs. O'Brien suggested Dunbar and a few other campuses Woodward wants desegregated be designated as "fundamental schools, with attendance by choice and a provision for voluntary busing."

"The fundamental school concept of strict enforcement of discipline coupled with a serious approach to academic achievement would provide an atmosphere conducive to true learning. The intrinsic joy of learning would once again be characteristic of the classroom," she said.

Fundamental schools would attract not only students of different races but also "some of the best teachers in town," Mrs. O'Brien said.

Magnet schools also could be established to offer advanced studies in music and drama, science or foreign language, she said.

Mrs. O'Brien said her "primary concerns are for quality education in all parts of town, provision for enriched programs for gifted students and tutorial programs for low achievers."

She advocates "establishment of a minimal standard requirement at each grade level so that low achievers and poorly motivated students can be identified early and so that tutorial programs can be established to bring students in need of remediation to grade level before they are promoted."

A believer in strict discipline — "kids not only need it, they want it" — Mrs. O'Brien also supports open concept schools. She said Lubbock should have a "pluralistic school system, with programs of all kinds."

She and her husband, Dr. L.J. O'Brien, a physician, have three daughters: Sue, assistant director of medical records for a Santa Fe, N.M., hospital; Caryn, who attended Lubbock public schools and is now a teacher aide in Augusta, Ga.; and Judy, a sophomore at Coronado High.

Mrs. O'Brien and her husband attend Cumberland Presbyterian Church, where they teach a college-age Sunday School class. A member of various teacher associations, Mrs. O'Brien does volunteer work for Meals on Wheels and Lubbock's Presbyterian Center.

The school board election will be held April 1. Filing deadline for candidates is March 1. The lone candidate in Place 1, being vacated by board secretary Joan Ervin, is Lynn Stafford.

Mrs. O'Brien, a former medical technician, will be required by state law to resign her teaching position if elected.

She named Bill Miller as her campaign manager and Pat Clark as campaign treasurer.

Police May Use Horse Patrols

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Police Chief Tom Heggy says mounted patrols may replace squad cars in parts of the city in the early 1980s if a study shows hay and oats would be cheaper than gasoline.

Heggy said recently the study on the use of mounted officers in Lincoln Park and possibly the downtown area probably would be made late this summer.

"We are going to look at this seriously after we see how this summer goes," Heggy said. "Mounted patrols are more versatile in many situations, allow better sight distance for officers and also improve contact and visibility with citizens."

Heggy said a cost study was conducted about two years ago and the city council turned down the use of horses as too expensive.

"Energy costs for car patrolling have increased considerably since the other study was made, and the costs now might be more feasible," the chief said. "Horses are much cheaper probably in the long run than the upkeep and bills on cars for covering areas like the park."

City Students Take Honors In Science

ANDREWS (Special) — Students from Lubbock Coronado and Lubbock Monterey dominated the Science Division of this year's Andrews Mathematics and Science Tournament, which closed here Saturday with an awards presentation.

The tournament had more than 450 students from 41 high schools entered in competition in Math and Science Divisions, and then totaled points from both division competitions for a sweepstakes total.

Coronado students placed first in team standings in both the novice and veteran categories of the Science Division, while Monterey students placed second in the same categories. Both schools had students place in the Math Division competitions, and Coronado took third place with a Sweepstakes overall total of 65 points, as compared to first-place San Antonio John Marshall's 118, and second-place Andrews' 72.

In the Science Division, Coronado's Joe Gregg, Tim Hughes and Kim Hobgood took first, second and fourth places, respectively, from a field of more than 100 contestants in the veterans' division. In the novice division, Coronado also took first, second and fourth places, with Kenny Yates, James Fox and Ted Crouch taking the honors. Monterey took the third place prize in the novice division, with Joe Minor the winner.

In team totals for both novice and veteran divisions, Coronado placed first among the 41 schools participating, and Monterey second in science competition.

In the math competitions, Erin Hatch of Coronado took 6th place in the sophomore division, Joe Gregg of Coronado took 3rd place in the junior division, and Nam Nguyen of Monterey took 5th place in the senior division. Each math prize winner was competing with more than 60 other high school students from the 41 schools entered.

The science and math competitions included test preparation, slide rule contests, number sense testing, mathematics, and student congress papers, where students presented a paper or a project.

Andrews High School has sponsored the event for 15 years, and officials said more than 450 students from schools ranging from El Paso to San Antonio were among participants.

Winners for Andrews High school included Mike Taylor, 1st place, Student Congressional Paper; Veterans, Cathy Huckaby, 3rd place, slide rule; Mark Munsell, 3rd place, numbers sense; Novice, Gill Walters, 3rd place slide rule; Ann Nguyen, 4th place, slide rule; Charles Adams, 1st place, numbers sense; and Ronnie Reusch, 3rd place, numbers sense, and in the Freshman Division, David Morris, 3rd Place, slide rule. Andrews did not place in the science division.

Bus Rides Given Senior Citizens

DETROIT (AP) — The City of Detroit is giving its senior citizens a lift.

With the start of the new year, free bus service is being offered to all residents 65 and older around the clock. Previously, they could ride free only during the off-peak hours.

"I believe all of our citizens should be able to make full use of the city's resources," Mayor Coleman Young said.

"This new policy will expand the opportunities for those least able to afford transportation."

To ride free, senior citizens need only show a Department of Transportation identification card to bus drivers on the city's transit system.

Diet Causes Illness

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
 DEAR LAMB — In reply to a reader who requested some advice on weight control I would like to pass on two words — be careful!

The reader spoke of losing 35 pounds in four months after having a weight problem all her life. I too found myself confronting the same situation after losing a great deal of weight in a short period of time. After reaching a weight I thought was adequate I tried to find a plan to maintain my weight. I counted calories and weighed portions of food. I exercised vigorously. I drank coffee constantly to avoid hunger pangs.

I found myself getting very upset, bewildered and confused. I continued to lose weight, all the while becoming more depressed and frustrated about what I could or could not eat.

The saga lasted for nearly nine months. At this point I weighed 80 pounds. I'm 5-feet-3. I was so confused that I tried to commit suicide. Luckily someone cared enough to send for professional help. It was then that I learned of an illness called anorexia nervosa.

A few comments from you could help to clarify the disease and its symptoms for your readers, but I would like to comment to everyone who diets strictly. If you find that controlling your weight becomes the prime motivating force in your life, if you feel lost, frightened and confused, please be careful. Get some help from your doctor. Anorexia nervosa is dangerous. It's a killer.

DEAR READER — Thank you for sharing your experience with others. And you are right, anorexia nervosa is dangerous.

It usually occurs in young girls in their teens. It can occur in males as well, but it is rare. The girl becomes obsessed with being thin as you have described. Such people sometimes are described as having a faulty body image. Even though they are thin they still think of themselves as being fat.

Often a number of psychological problems are present. Commonly, the girl is shy and withdrawn and as the illness progresses, she may be severely depressed, to the point of suicide. Another characteristic is self-induced vomiting. When she does eat a big meal because she can't stand the hunger anymore, she may induce vomiting to get rid of it. The weight loss may be extremely rapid.

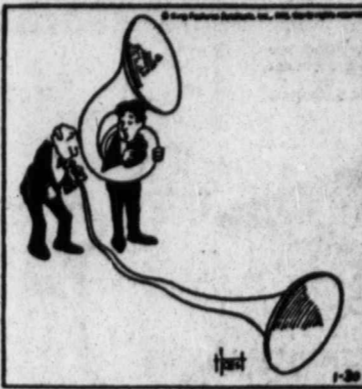

Of course, professional help is the only answer. It is difficult at first to separate the effect of starvation from the other problems and the first goal is to re-establish normal nutrition. That may require watching to be sure she eats and watching to be sure she doesn't vomit.

The occasional occurrence of such a psychiatric problem, however, is no excuse for the obese person to avoid dieting. For both the fat one and the skinny one the proper approach is a well-balanced nutritional diet that contains the right amount of calories. Excessive dieting is an example of carrying a good thing to the extreme. I do think, though, that it is worthwhile to point this disease out so that parents of young girls in particular can be aware of it and be on the lookout to see to it that any do-it-yourself dieting program is not carried to extremes.

When is a depressive mood important? Readers who want information on this and related problems can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life. Send your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, 78292.

Artifacts Of Roman Cities To Be Displayed In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the ruins of the Roman cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum that were buried in the eruption of the volcano Vesuvius 1,900 years ago are going to be brought to America.

The National Endowment for the Humanities said today it has granted $302,000 to finance a three-city U.S. tour of artifacts found when archeologists dug out the ancient cities from their crust of volcanic ash and lava.

The exhibit will open a two-month run in Boston's Museum of Fine Arts April 16 and will visit two other cities to be selected, the agency said.

Pompeii and Herculaneum were buried in 79 A.D. by an eruption from Vesuvius, which overlooks the bay of Naples.

The ash blanket acted as a preservative, "providing a bridge in the last civilization of Roman times," the endowment said.

A $350,000 grant by the endowment helped support additional archeological digging of the sites of the ancient towns in the summers of 1976 and 1977.

Officials said they expected the exhibit to be as popular as that of the gummy found in the tomb of Egyptian King Tutankhamen.

The Tut exhibit has drawn more crowds in Washington, Chicago and New Orleans and is expected to generate as much excitement in Los Angeles, Seattle and New York.

The eruption preserved almost everything in Pompeii — lead pipes of the water system, household furnishings, looms, frescoes, even the life forms of a "cat and a dog."

AMC Reports $1.9 Million Profit

DETROIT (AP) — Despite continuing losses from its automobile business, American Motors Corp. earned $1.9 million, or 6 cents a share, in the first quarter of its fiscal year.

The profit was due to record sales of Jeep vehicles, AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. said recently.

Sales of the firm's passenger cars are down sharply from a year ago and AMC's share of the domestic auto market has shrunk to 2 percent.

It was the fifth straight quarter in which AMC recorded a profit despite sharp declines in passenger car sales.

The $1.9 million included a $600,000 non-recurring credit from a federal income tax loss carryforward. Without the credit, earnings were $1.3 million.

Such a credit arises from losses in the past. In general, a company can use those losses, up to a certain amount each year, to reduce its taxes dollar for dollar.

Sales in the quarter were $559 million, identical to the year-ago period when earnings were $1.2 million or four cents a share.

An AMC spokesman declined to reveal the amount of losses on car operations for the quarter.

In fiscal 1977, ending Sept. 31, AMC reported a profit of $8.3 million. It was the first full year in the black for the nation's No. 4 automaker since 1975. Analysts have noted that for AMC "just to break even at a dismal time" would be good news.

Except for its Jeep and AM General subsidiaries, AMC is struggling. Its car sales finished 1977 a whopping 25.5 percent below comparable 1976 models. And 1978 has started out no better, with sales off 19 percent.

Throughout the domestic industry, sales have been trailing year-ago levels for two months now, but AMC has been unable to attract a stronger share of the market.

By comparison, each of the other major U.S. carmakers reported healthy earnings in the latest reporting period, their third quarters. The Big Three end fiscal years Dec. 31 and their fourth-quarter and year-end statements have not yet been released.

In their third quarters, industry giant General Motors Corp. reported record profits of $402 million, Ford Motor Co. reported earnings of $267 million and Chrysler Corp. posted a $30.4 million profit.

Smog Harms Mexico City Residents

By JOHN VIRTUE
 MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico City's Forensic Medical Service says autopsies performed on 7,500 cadavers last year showed all had signs of pulmonary ailments related to air pollution.

"All residents of Mexico City," said Dr. Ramon Fernandez Perez, the director of the service, "have pulmonary problems due to the high level of air pollution."

A similar study performed on stray dogs showed that most had intolerable levels of lead in their blood. The veterinary department of the National University said the levels ranged from 0.2 to 0.8 parts per million against a tolerable level of 0.3.

Contaminants from automotive vehicles and factories are not the only sources of worry. Virologist Gerardo Varela says that if all the fecal matter in the air was fluorescent, Mexico City would glow at night, since about one-third of Mexico City's 13-million residents lack proper sanitary facilities.

Since 1950, the average visibility in Mexico City has dropped from more than seven miles to less than three. It got so bad on Christmas Day that the international airport had to turn on its lights in broad daylight.

Mexico City's smog problem is aggravated by the city's location — in a bowl-like mountain valley. In addition, the city is built on a drained lake bed and dust storms are not uncommon during the dry season.

"Unfortunately, Mexico (City) is in a valley that doesn't allow the contamination to disappear rapidly," said Alfonso Santa Cruz Barcelo, director of the International Center for the Formation of Environmental Sciences.

The Slim Gourmet

By Barbara Gibbons

Fresh peaches are among our favorite summer fruits, so it's only natural that dried peaches are among our winter favorites. A dried peach half tastes like candy, yet it's low in calories...about 34 per half.

When peaches are to be cooked in winter recipes, we prefer dried to canned. They have more natural sweetness and better flavor. Peaches are picked ripe for drying, but not quite-ripe for canning (that's why commercially canned peaches look better than they taste!).

chicken breasts. Arrange chicken skin-side up in a small shallow baking dish. With a sharp knife, slice dried peach halves into strips.

Place peach strips under chicken. Dilute wine with an equal amount of water and pour over chicken. Sprinkle chicken lightly with seasonings. Bake uncovered in a 350-degree oven, basting frequently, until chicken is tender and sauce is thick, about one hour. (Add a little boiling water if needed.) Each serving, about 255 calories.

If you can't find dried peaches in your supermarket, try a health food store. Dried apricots are another delicious winter fruit, and could be used in place of peaches in any of these recipes.

WINTER 'PEACHES 'N' CREAM' CHEESE PIE

8 dried peach halves (or 16 apricot halves)

1/2 cup peach or apricot liqueur (or fruit juice)

ready-to-fill graham cracker pie shell

8-oz. container low-fat, low-calorie cream cheese

1/2 cup liquid skim milk

3 eggs

3 tsp. honey or 4 tsp. sugar (or equivalent substitute)

2 tsp. vanilla

pinch of salt

POULET ORIENTALE WITH APRICOTS — Season each breast half with two tsp. soy sauce. Substitute dried apricot halves for the peaches. Omit nutmeg and salt.

WINTER PEACH RICE PUDDING

2 eggs (or 4 egg whites)

2 and 1/2 cups skim milk

1 tsp. arrowroot or cornstarch

dash of salt

1 tsp. vanilla or almond flavoring optional: 3 tsp. honey (or sugar substitute equal to 12 tsp.)

1 and 1/2 cups leftover cold cooked rice (unseasoned)

12 dried peach halves, sliced in thin julienne strips

cinnamon, nutmeg or apple pie spice

Beat eggs, milk, arrowroot, salt, vanilla and honey together. Stir in rice and peaches. Spoon into baking dish. Sprinkle with spice. Bake uncovered at 325 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes, or until set. Makes eight servings, about 145 calories each without honey, or 165 calories with honey.

Slice fruit halves in half-inch strips; soak in the liqueur for 30 minutes or more. Drain all the liqueur into blender container. Arrange peach slices in the bottom of the pie shell.

Add remaining ingredients to the liqueur. Cover and blend on high speed until completely smooth. Pour over fruit. Bake in a preheated 300-degree oven about 50 minutes, until filling is set. Turn off heat; open oven door and allow pie to cool slowly. Chill thoroughly before serving. Makes eight servings, about 235 calories each.

POULET AUX PEACHES

serves two (or four)

1 (or 2) whole frying chicken breasts, split

4 (or 8) dried peach halves

1/4 (or 1/2) cup dry white wine

water

nutmeg, salt and pepper to taste

Carefully trim fringe fat (if any) from

PEACHES AND CREAM COTTAGE CHEESE — Dice dried peach halves into bite-size chunks and mix into low-fat cottage cheese (use 4 halves per cup of cottage cheese.) Allow the mixture to chill several hours before serving (peaches will absorb moisture and will flavor the cheese.) Season and spice to taste with a few drops of vanilla or almond flavoring, a dash of cinnamon or pie spice. Total calories: 290.

 1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—Pass. East's overall has robbed you of a sensible response. A bid of either two spades or three clubs would be forcing, and you do not have the values to commit the hand to the three- or four-level. You are not yet out of the auction—partner might be able to re-open the bidding. The only action you might consider is a double, but that is a risky venture with three low trumps.

What action do you take?
 A.—You should not yet rule out the possibility of a slam. If you bid four spades now, you will complete the picture of your hand, and partner might bid on with a fitting card in diamonds and top controls in the red suits.

What do you bid now?
 A.—Avoid three no trump like the plague—partner didn't bid it, so why should you? You must convince partner that your rebid of three diamonds was not simply a preference, but that you have substantial support. Bid four diamonds.

What action do you take?
 A.—There are two schools of thought about this situation. One is to respond two spades, the bid you would have made had there been no interference. The other would consider a raise now as showing a far weaker hand. If you belong to that school, you must pass now, intending to reenter the auction at a later stage.

What action do you take?
 A.—Bid four hearts. Partner has shown extra values by trying for game with two no trump. In support of hearts, your hand is worth 9 points, which is near the top for a single raise. With four good trumps, you should be delighted to accept his invitation.

Foster Homes For Adults New Concept

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
 NEW YORK (NEA) — Betty (not her real name) would just as soon eat peas and carrots and cake — ooh, she loves cake — as anything else. And she loves to waltz at the community center and do the dishes for Mrs. Fuccello at night.
 But mostly she likes to stay in her bedroom with the door shut, although if you knock she'll let you in. And while you sit on her bed with its blue and green comforter neatly tucked in, she'll sit quietly in her chair, a round muffin of a woman, 61, toothless, with bright blue eyes, blunt dark hair and a laugh that says all's right with the world.
 The only clue that things aren't quite right with her is the way her feet tap incessantly on the floor.
 Betty is a schizophrenic. "I was in a hospital in Poughkeepsie," she'll tell you. Also that she has no relatives, but there is one friend in Brooklyn she'd like to visit. And yes, "It's nicer here than in the hospital."
 For the past three years, Betty has been living with Mrs. Carmela Fuccello, a blond, cheerful widow of 61, in her bright six-room house on a quiet street on Staten Island. You can only get there by ferry and it's as far away from a state mental institution as you can get.
 If, like Betty, you're lucky enough to be referred by a hospital to New York City's Foster Homes for Adults program, sponsored by the city's Department of Human Resources and imitated by at least nine states, including Connecticut, Illinois, Florida and Oregon.
 Then you become a "resident" — someone over 18 who's been hospitalized, no longer requires it but can't live alone — and you get to live in a private home in the community.
 The aged, the mentally ill and retarded, these are the 1,100 residents who live in the city's 1,000 private homes. The people they live with are "proprietors."
 Sheldon Newmark, the case worker who attends to Staten Island's 90 proprietors like Mrs. Fuccello says, "Most of them are pretty good because we're there all the time."
 Not just anyone with their own home or spare room can become a proprietor, entitled to the $280 a month doled out for the care of a single resident.
 You must be unemployed because residents require care, and have an independent income. And you must care.
 "We look for somebody really interested in helping, not just making a buck," he says. "I was in an apartment in Queens the other day where the spare room didn't have a door on it and the bed took up the whole room. That's like putting a resident in a prison cell."
 The woman said, "they don't have bigger rooms in a state hospital" and I said, "We're trying to get them away from that." They're trying to get them, instead into a warm home, in the care of a proprietor who can show at all times "they're physically and mentally capable of caring for them." And who'll help them become part of the community.
 The residents, of course, must meet certain criteria. "They're screened when they come out of the hospital and we have the right of return," he says. "What's the use of putting them in the program if in a couple of weeks they're going to be back in the hospital?"

 "So we get a psycho-summary if they need one, which our psychiatrist looks over and then the hospital psychiatric social worker brings the resident and proprietor together and each gets an idea of who they're getting. Beforehand, we do ask the proprietor if they prefer a man, a woman, an older person. Some won't take mental cases at all."
 A day or so after the resident is placed, the case worker makes a "placement visit" and then, he says, "We do an adjustment visit a month later. But we're on call all the time in case there's a problem."
 Sometimes you hear a resident doesn't get enough to eat, or isn't given his medication or taken on required visits to the clinic, he says. If violations continue, the home is taken off the list, the resident placed elsewhere.
 Newmark says you get to know your homes. Twice a year, always informing the proprietor before, the case worker inspects the home and takes the resident aside. What did you have for breakfast? Are you happy? Are you taking your medication and going to the community center?
 He questions staff members at the clinic as well and resident's relatives, if there are any who keep in touch.
 "You have to be there because these people don't know enough to complain. You complain for them," Newmark says. And you leave them a card with your name number and return envelopes that require no stamps. Still, bad homes do exist.
 But, he says, most proprietors are like Mrs. Fuccello, who reared 48 foster children in her time and in her 60s decided it was time to care for adults.
 "I'm not going to say this is all easy," she admits. "If you took care of your parents wouldn't you have hard days? But mostly it's pleasant. Betty is part of my family. We're the same age and we do the same things and I take her for what she is."

 Later, driving back to Manhattan, Newmark says, "Mrs. Fuccello did a marvelous job with Betty. She used to sit on her bed and smoke and wouldn't go out of the house. This woman really brought her out of the doldrums. She even stopped smoking."
 And on a bright day Betty walks to town by herself to buy a candy bar.

Leisure Suit On Way Out
 NEW YORK (AP) — The leisure suit has all but gone the way of the Nehru suit, the buffalo and other now-forgotten American institutions, reports a men's apparel specialist.
 The stores are selling out the last of the leisure suits, but the concept of informality that it fostered has remained, according to Marvin A. Blumenfeld of April-Marcus, Inc., a merchandising consulting firm that serves men's retail shops around the country.
 Blumenfeld says more men will be wearing sport coat and slacks sets and predicts that casual suits such as safari-type outfits will be popular this spring.

Safety Belt Usage Low Survey Shows
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fewer than 19 percent of the nation's drivers use safety belts, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reported in a nationwide survey.
 The study was made from August 1976 through March 1977.
 Among other things, it revealed that drivers' safety belt usage is higher in subcompacts and compacts than in larger models such as intermediates and standards.
 Usage also is higher among drivers of foreign models than domestic.
 More than 27 percent of western city drivers use belts, compared with 12 percent usage in eastern cities.
 Women drivers racked up 20.6 percent usage, compared with only 17.3 percent among men.
 The survey also showed more young drivers (18.8 percent) were seen using safety belts than drivers over 50 (15.4 percent).
 The heaviest use noted was 22.1 percent for drivers in evening rush-hour traffic.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: The following is from a letter I recently received from an out-of-state relative:
 "Let's make a deal. Next year instead of sending each other Christmas presents, send me a check, and I will do the same for you. It will save us both a lot of trouble."
 Abby, I never considered shopping for Christmas presents "a lot of trouble." Besides, what's the sense of my sending her a check for $30, and her sending me the same? How do you feel about it? I should add, this relative needs more money like I need another belly button.
 Bulletin Reader in Philly

Dear Aloha: Thanks, friend. Your answer was better than mine.

 Problems? Tell them to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, write Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Reader: I agree with you. Tell her to just blow you a kiss next Christmas, and you'll do the same for her.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's older brother, who is retired, telephoned us long distance to give us some very bad news. He said his wife had cancer, then he asked me if I would put her on my Blue Cross at work.
 I was startled to learn that his wife had cancer, and shocked at his suggestion that I put her on my Blue Cross. I told him that I didn't think General Motors, for whom I work, would approve.
 He told me that he had once put his neighbor on HIS medical plan at work so he knew it could be done, but if that's the way I felt about it, he was sorry he called. Then he hung up.
 Abby, my wife and I are bewildered. Could I put his wife on my Blue Cross? Legitimately, I mean?
 Bewildered in Ohio

Dear Bewildered: You are correct in assuming that you may not put your brother-in-law's wife on your Blue Cross. In order for her to qualify for your Blue Cross coverage, she would have to be totally dependent on you financially, which is not the case. Your brother-in-law may have been able to legitimately include a neighbor on HIS medical plan, but it was not Blue Cross.

DEAR ABBY: Re the secretary whose boss asked her to return (on her lunch hour) a girdle his wife had purchased. The secretary was humiliated because, after standing in line for a long time, she was informed that undergarments were not returnable.
 You should have told that secretary that if her boss ever asked her to return anything again, she should tell him that her lunch hours were already taken up with her own errands, but she would be

DIET CENTER

THE DIET CENTER WAY
 PERHAPS THE MOST unusual aspect of the Diet Center's approach to attacking extra pounds is that "every single person who comes through our doors is treated as an individual."
 Since its inception in 1970, Diet Center had avoided the group therapy approach, preferring instead to offer each client personal, private counseling and support.
 What we offer dieters in the program is the knowledge that through the thick and thin of their weight reducing period they have a friend — who understands.
 The Diet Center program is based on four phases of dieting from preparing to lose weight to maintaining ideal weight once it's attained. All phases include the private counseling sessions.
 Another important reason for the success of Diet Center, now incorporated with centers in the U.S. and Canada is the quick results of the Program!
 While other reducing plans may set one or two pounds as average weekly losses, Diet Center averages three and one half pounds per week. A conservative estimate of weight loss is between 18 and 30 lb. No crash starvation techniques are utilized nor are drugs or shots used to achieve the losses.

At Wit's End...

BY ERMA BOMBECK

You know what this country needs? Something that doesn't last forever. I never saw the advantages of buying a carpet that would last a lifetime...or a winter coat that never went out of style...or lawn furniture that you never had to replace.

When one has a low threshold of boredom, a lifetime guarantee can be depressing — especially when it applies to things you hate.

In 1953, I bought a set of plastic dishes. They came two shocking pink and two dramatic black plates to a set. The first year we had them I thought they were chic beyond description.

By the fifth year, they began to grate on my nerves and I begged the kids to take them to the sandbox or lose them on a picnic.

After seven years of those crummy dishes (do you know how disgusting liver looks on a black plastic plate?) I resorted to sneaking out at night and putting them under the rear wheels of the car and allowing the kids to sit in them and sled down the hill in back of the house.

There isn't anything biodegradable anymore, with the exception of marriage which seems to decompose before the honeymoon.

The shine on my car is built to outlast the motor. The fillings in my teeth are good for 50 more years after I'm gone and my deodorant is so dependable, I've given up showers.

If American ingenuity keeps pace, I predict all the excitement will go out of our lives. Light bulbs will burn forever, tennis shoes will have to be put to sleep to get rid of them, and we'll never know the exhilaration of tossing away a wafer-thin piece of soap and saying, "I thought you'd never leave."

Maybe it doesn't bother anyone else, but this morning I did a gutsy thing. I took a paper clip which I've been using and reusing for ten years and threw it away. That's right — just dropped it off in a waste can and said, "Bunkie, you're finished!"

Someday, I know as sure as I'm sitting here, strangers from another planet will poke through the rubble of our civilization and try to figure out what we were all about. There's no doubt in my mind a woman will unearth a set of dishes, two shocking pink and two dramatic black plates to the set, and exclaim, "Hey, these look like they'll last forever."

That will be her first mistake.

Women's Rights In France Expanded By Government

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — Skeptics may question the lasting impact of "Women's Year," observed worldwide in 1976 and then rapidly forgotten in so many countries, but it does appear to have added some momentum to the improvement of the condition of the Frenchwoman.

The more important measures adopted recently by the government concern single and formerly married women whose rights, Minister of Health Simone Weil declares, "must be expanded."

There are in France 3,800,000 women living alone. A half million of them are responsible for the care and upbringing of children. They need further help. With the liberalization of divorce and abortion laws the payment of alimony is now not only obligatory but court judgments have considerably raised the ante. For the average Frenchman, his obligation regarding alimony was somewhat illusory as well as inadequate, even in the higher income brackets, and evasion was relatively easy for an ex-husband. Today this has changed. Evasion and nonpayment of alimony can be subject to a heavy fine and even a prison sentence, usually "suspended" but nevertheless put down in the "livret de famille" (family book) which every French citizen is obliged to carry.

Two years ago the government was presented with a proposal to grant financial relief for elderly women living alone, also a special money grant to low-income mothers of children up to three years old. Another measure stipulated that after the birth of a child a woman could stop working for a period of two years and find her job still available if she wanted it. These measures were recognition of the new equality of women. In the same category, a parent staying at home to care for a sick child would receive the equivalent of 50 per cent of his or her salary.

The matter of equality of pay is still in the embryo stage. Last year a proposition was submitted to the government whereby official organizations were called upon to refuse to sign business contracts with any company where this equality was not observed.

As of Oct. 1, minimum income of 1,536 francs (a little over $300) would be guaranteed to women with one child, $100 more for two children. This up to three years old. Unmarried mothers are also beneficiaries.

Social security is open to divorced women and widows for one year following death or divorce. A law passed in 1975 ensures this benefit to solitary women. Finally, mothers taking care of handicapped children automatically benefit by social insurance medical aid.

Women over 55 and widows will now be entitled to a supplement to the state old age pension.

The question of alimony now under study would also provide an ex-wife with

Tech Student Wins Wool Contest

Romona Skinner, Texas Tech University home economics student of Childress, is the first student in the university's history to win the "National Make It Yourself With Wool Competition." The contest was held in Denver in mid-January.

Miss Skinner competed against 26 national contestants after she won District I and State competitions.

With the national title Miss Skinner also received a trip to Hawaii, a sewing machine, a three-piece luggage set, a steam iron, $500 scholarship, jewelry and 24 red carnations.

"I still don't believe I won," said Miss Skinner, who made the outfit last September for a tailoring class. She has been sewing since she was seven years old.

National competition winners were judged 80 per cent on personality, modeling and personal views and 20 per cent on the outfit.

Miss Skinner is clothing and textiles and home economics education major.

Sponsors for the "Make It Yourself With Wool Competition" included the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc.; the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers; the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Auxiliary; Texas Delaine Sheep Association and the Texas Angora Goat Raisers' Association.

Miss Skinner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner of Childress.

High Cancer Risks Shown In Studies

By JANET STAIHAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two separate studies on hair dyes indicate an unusually high rate of cancer among cosmetologists and hairdressers, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health said recently.

Also testifying before a House investigative subcommittee was a National Cancer Institute associate director who said preliminary research shows that several more hair dye chemicals than previous thought may cause cancer in laboratory animals.

At a news conference elsewhere on Capitol Hill, the Cosmetic, Toiletary & Fragrance Association attacked the testimony.

The association said NIOSH ignores two important epidemiology studies, one done by the American Cancer Society and the other by Yale University, which "showed no link between hair dyes and cancer."

The Food and Drug Administration proposed earlier that a cancer warning label be put on permanent hair dye products containing a substance called 2,4-diaminotoluene after the cancer institute said laboratory tests shows the chemical causes cancer in rats.

Dr. Richard A. Griesemer, associate director for the cancer institute's cancer testing program, told the House oversight and investigations subcommittee that preliminary data suggests that as many as nine chemical ingredients which have been used in hair dyes may cause cancer in laboratory animals.

"If this is true," said the subcommittee chairman, Rep. John E. Mica, D-Fla., "consumers utilizing hair dye products containing these ingredients may be facing an unnecessary risk of cancer."

Edward J. Baier, NIOSH deputy director, said that 400,000 workers, primarily hairdressers and cosmetologists, are potentially exposed to 2,4-diaminotoluene. He said a relatively small number of hair dyes also are exposed to the chemical.

Baier said one NIOSH study conducted at the Roswell Park Institute in New York indicates "an excess of genital cancer" among hairdressers and cosmetologists.

He said the other study, which analyzes disability payments made by Social Security, suggests excess cancer of a number of body organs among hairdressers and cosmetologists. Baier said that study has not been completed.

But Baier stressed that these workers are also exposed to a wide variety of other chemicals in addition to hair dyes, "and the epidemiologic studies do not clearly demonstrate a positive connection" between hair dyes and cancer.

"Nevertheless, we believe that the studies give additional cause for concern," he said.

The cancer institute's director, Dr. Arthur Upton, supported the FDA's proposal for hair dye warning labels, rather than an outright ban on the questionable ingredients.

He compared the public's right to use or not use hair dyes to the question of whether or not to smoke cigarettes. He said it should be an individual's choice.

20 pounds ago, I had thick thighs. Can you believe I'm now a size 5!

Judy Boyum's True Story: My husband never said, "You look fat." But he must have thought it. Three years ago, my weight had reached 130, and on my 5'3" build, that was just too much, especially since most of the pounds seemed to be concentrated between my waist and my knees.

It wasn't as if I hadn't ever dieted or exercised. I'd been going to a spa for a long time...and yet, the big change I wanted hadn't happened.

Then a friend began going to Pat Walker's. She told me about her treatments on the passive exercise unit, and how she didn't have to undress, or muss her hair. I couldn't believe it would work, but when she started losing weight, I decided to give Pat Walker's a try.

I became a believer so fast. Within a month, I'd lost eight pounds! Suddenly I had such energy, and I was feeling much happier with myself.

Over the next several months, I went from a size 12 to a size 5. That summer, for the first time in my life, I wore a bikini.

I've been able to maintain my figure from that day two years ago to this. Now, at 31, I'm manager and buyer for a gift shop in Houston, with all the confidence I need to do my job well. And my husband thinks I look super.

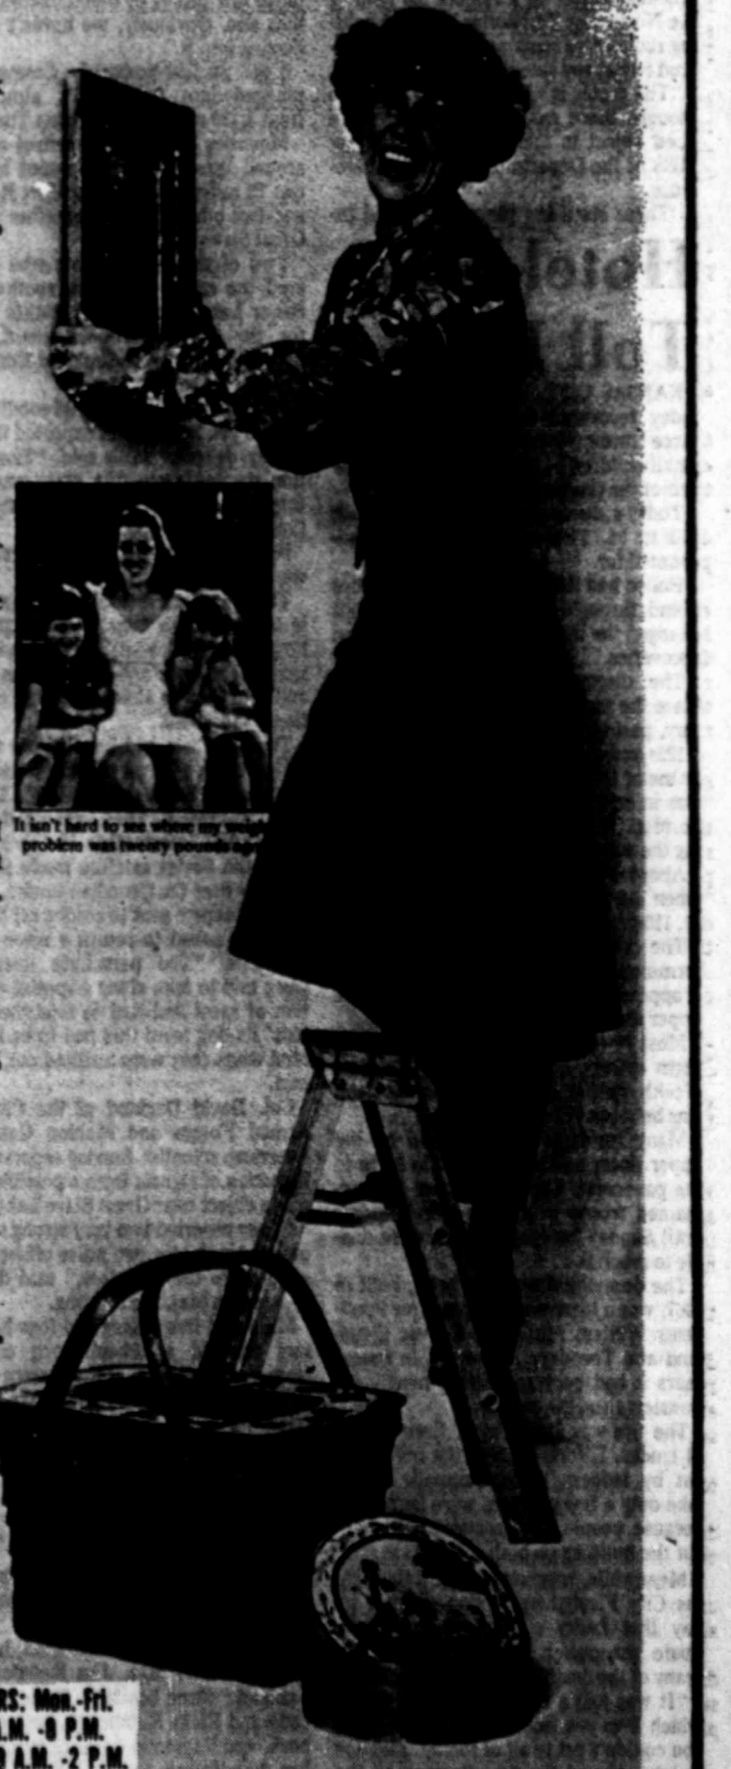

Go ahead. Call for your free figure analysis and sample treatment. No matter what your age, you could be starting a new way of life, just as I did.

Cuba Trying To Gain Interest Of Tourists

By WILLIAM SILBERG
DETROIT (UPI) — The friendly sun-drenched island beckoning to the winter-weary Midwesterner looks like any other tropical haven in the Caribbean except for the inscription at the top of the travel post — "Cuba."

U.S. travel agents, who are busy booking charter tours to the communist island 90 miles from Florida, say it appears Cuba has a bright future as a tourist attraction.

Public response to the Cuba tours that began late last year has been "excellent," said Ted Malys, sales manager for Sunlight Holidays in suburban Dearborn.

"It's a new destination," Malys said. "There is a lot of curiosity."
Sunlight is running the tours from Detroit and Chicago, two of the three U.S. cities from which travelers may now leave for Cuba. Tours from New York are being handled by another travel firm.

About 500 persons have signed up so far for the nine flights leaving Detroit and Chicago weekly through mid-April starting Feb. 9, Jim McLaughlin, Sunlight's Midwest regional manager, said. Bookings are near capacity on some flights. "We'd like to think we'll be sold out," he said.

Service will be suspended for the summer and early fall, but the company plans to resume the flights later in the year.

"We plan to come back hot and heavy with a new program next fall, starting about in mid-November," McLaughlin said.

The three-stop, week-long tours are detailed in a multi-colored Sunlight brochure describing Cuba as "that large, lovely and seemingly unattainable Caribbean island" that now "is attainable once again."

The folder paints a picture of Cuba as comfortable but somewhat spartan, noting the island "is no longer the glittering haunt of the very rich" and that hotels are "at times somewhat basic when compared to those of North America."

While admitting the tours are drawing mainly curiosity-seekers so far, McLaughlin said reactions from travelers on tours last month has fueled the company's confidence about the viability of the venture.

Most of the 140 or so tourists who paid an average of $509 to leave Detroit Metropolitan Airport for Cuba Dec. 22 were extremely pleased when they returned home a week later, Malys said.

"The response was very favorable," he said. "They thought that Havana was very clean, that the beaches were beautiful. Another comment that came back was the friendliness of the Cuban people."

As for Cuba taking its place among other popular tourist spots, McLaughlin is cautious but optimistic.

"We are confident that it will be very saleable," he said. "But it's not going to replace the Acapulcos and the Montego Bays just yet."

McLaughlin was among a group of travel agents who headed to Cuba last month. He said he "thoroughly enjoyed it."

"There are literally no restrictions," he said. "I was impressed with the food, the cleanliness and the attitude of the people."

More U.S. cities could become jumping-off points for Cuba tours eventually "if the market's there," Malys said.

"A lot of people are waiting to see what kind of response we're getting. Right now it's new and I think that's what people are going there for, to see a place Americans haven't been able to go to for 20 years."

RAILROAD GROWTH

STATEN ISLAND, N.Y. (AP) — While the number of railroads is decreasing at a steady rate, model railroading continues to grow. The SMC Model Railroad Center reports. There are more than 200,000 model railroaders actively operating miniature railroads. The center estimates that these hobbyists spend $80 million yearly on new equipment.

TCU Entertains Raiders

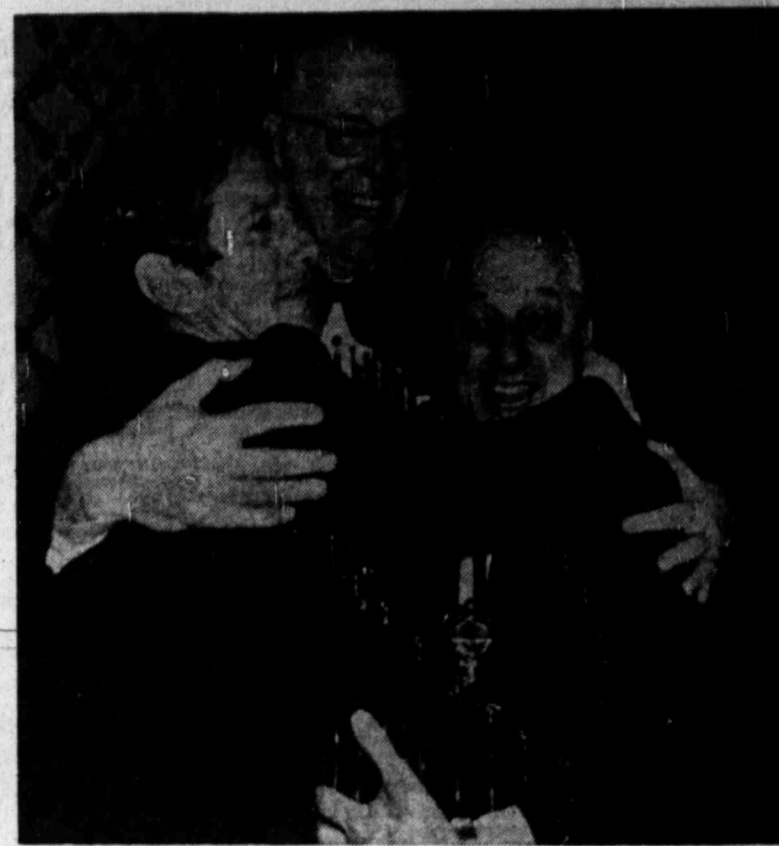

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor
FORT WORTH — Respect must be earned, and today, Texas Tech has more respect for TCU than it did a month ago. The exact measure of that respect will be noted tonight. And they start measuring in TCU's Daniel-Meyer Coliseum tonight at 7:30. Tech didn't handle the Frogs too easily in Lubbock just under a month ago. And that fact, plus Saturday night's loss to Arkansas has coach Gerald Myers seeking a winning effort tonight.

Tech felled the Frogs 69-56 in Lubbock, but the Frogs played one of their better games that night and Tech did not win with the ease which had been expected. Then, last Saturday, Tech dropped a 54-49 decision to Arkansas, a loss which dropped the Techs into a tie for third spot in the standings starting the second half of the Southwest Conference race. And Myers realizes the various aspects of the game, one of which is playing the second time around. "It's usually easier for the losing team the second time around, especially if they played a good game the first time," said the Raider coach. "We had not seen (scouted) them run their man-for-man offense, and they ran it well against us. "I think we're better prepared for it now. But, also they may have more confidence in it (after the earlier game). But, in our favor, our guys know that TCU can be a good team, so I don't think we're going down there with any attitude of having it made." TCU that night shot 50 per cent, one of its best shooting performances to that See RAIDERS Page 3

Earl Scudday Some Notes Slipped Through The Bars

SUPER BOWL INJURIES have knocked Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach and halfback Tony Dorsett out of some of those post-season athletic contests on television. Dorsett had been scheduled to compete in the Superstars event in the Bahamas last week, but the knee injury he suffered against the Denver Broncos prevented him from participating. The promoters did have Tony make the trip, however, and taped an interview with TD for the show. Dorsett will get the splint off his ailing knee in a couple of days, so that the doctors can take another look, and Cowboy officials are hopeful that surgery will not be required.

Staubach is up and around after the surgery on his passing hand, but it is very doubtful that he will be able to compete for the 'Pokes in the Super-teams event in Hawaii next month. He may make an appearance, though, just as Dorsett did for Superstars.

Superteams promoters originally wanted a Cowboy team composed of Staubach, Dorsett, Drew Pearson, Billy Joe DuPree, Ralph Neely, Harvey Martin, Randy White, D.D. Lewis, Cliff Harris and Charlie Waters to participate in the event. If Staubach cannot compete, promoters would be smart to pick linebacker Thomas Henderson as a replacement. "Hollywood" is an outstanding athlete and a most interesting personality, for sure.

Two years ago, the Cowboys battled the Pittsburgh Steelers in the Super-teams show and lost because Robert Newhouse and Ed Jones couldn't get over the wall on the obstacle course. That will be no problem for athletes such as Waters, Harris, Pearson and Henderson, if he gets to participate.

Club officials are not very enthusiastic about these video contests, because there always is the risk of injury to a valuable player. But the athletes lap it up because of the trip to push resorts and the television exposure.

There's no biz like show biz!

THE TOP MEN in the Cowboy organization are awaiting word on whether the Los Angeles Rams are going to hire 'Poke assistant Dan Reeves as their new head coach. Most Dallas insiders think that Danny eventually will take over as Tom Landry's successor, if he stays with the Cowboys. But Danny is an impatient young man eager to run his own team.

Reeves was offered the head job at Atlanta a year ago, but turned it down after serious deliberation. His reasons never were disclosed, but most figured that the Cowboys promised him the inside track when Landry retires. Now Danny may decide that a job in the hand is better than a promise for the future.

Reeves always has enjoyed a special status with the Cowboys, first as a player and then as a coach, and his departure for Los Angeles would disappoint a lot of folk.

HUNTING AND SHOOTING enthusiasts were shocked last week to learn of the death of Jack O'Connor, for many years one of the nation's most renowned hunters and shooting editor of Outdoor Life magazine.

It was ironic that Jack, who flirted with death from the jungles of East Africa to the sheer limestone cliffs of the Canadian Rockies, died aboard a cruise ship while returning from a vacation in Hawaii. You never know!

O'Connor had a lot of ties with the Southwest region. He grew up in Arizona, then was a teacher for a couple of years at Sul Ross College at Alpine. He returned to his home state as the first journalism instructor at the University of Arizona, before making a career as an outdoor writer and gun authority.

During his years as a hunter, spanning half a century, Jack did it all. But his greatest joy was in hunting trophy rams throughout North America. He got all four varieties — Bighorn, Desert Bighorn, White (or Dall) and Stone. One of each is called a "Grand Slam" in the hunting fraternity, and Jack had a double slam long before he got too old for sheep hunting.

Jack made many hunting trips overseas, too. He shot tigers in India, elephant and lion in East Africa, Barbary sheep in the Sahara and rare antelope in Iran. The younger brother of the Shah of Iran was one of his best friends and hunting companions.

Fame never spoiled O'Connor, though. He was as considerate of a beginner in the sport as he was of Dallas millionaire Herb Klein, another of his good friends and hunting partners.

About 20 years ago, when this scribbler first became interested in trophy hunting, Jack provided expert advice and lots of moral support. He introduced me to some of North America's finest guides and greatest hunters. Jack had a dozen places in the Boone and Crockett Club record book at that time, but he celebrated my first entry more than he did his own.

Jack was quite a man, and he will be missed around a lot of campfires when the next hunting season rolls around.

Liberace To Display Wealth, Talent In First Television Special

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Liberace, a legend in spangles and sequins who also plays piano, will star this week (Wednesday) in his first television special, titled "Leapin' Lizards It's Liberace."

The dimpled darling of the keyboard, who has become a multi-millionaire kidding himself and his dazzling wardrobe, will bounce onto home screens for the first time in almost a decade to display his wealth as well as his talent.

The show will spoof a day in the life of Liberace beginning with a tour of his Las Vegas mansion and including Liberace taking a bubble bath in his $55,000 marble tub.

He'll open his closets to select one of more than a dozen costume changes for the show, choose some rings from his priceless collection of jewelry and even show off some of his exotic cars.

In addition to spoofing his opulent private life, Liberace will share some production numbers with Debbie Reynolds — among them a song and dance number from the Broadway hit "Annie" — and a comedy turn with Phyllis Diller.

A brilliant showman, Liberace probably is the only pianist in the world who can pack the 2,000-seat Las Vegas Hilton's show room every night, 17 weeks a year.

The Hilton pays him $175,000 a week. Liberace devotes another 15 weeks annually to concerts, earning as much as $125,000 for a one-night stand.

But then not all of Liberace's customers are purists when it comes to music. They come to see his abominable wardrobe — fur capes, glittering jackets, flashing neckties — his gaudy jewelry and ebullient prancing and joking. Liberace is the first to acknowledge he is as much showman as musician.

"Even the title of this special is kind of a put down," he said during a respite in the bar of his Hollywood hills mansion.

His dress was subdued, a white mink Eisenhower jacket, dark trousers and not a single ring, bracelet or necklace. Offstage, Liberace is a shrewd, no-nonsense businessman who bears little resemblance to the golden boy in the limelight.

"I've made kidding myself a way of life. I try to take the negative reactions I get and make them positive. Most of my lines are inspired from audience reaction to my wardrobe.

"I laugh at myself before the audience does. Then we laugh together."
Liberace's most famous quote many years ago also involved mirth in answer to critical blasts in the press: "I laugh all the way to the bank."

Liberace's Hollywood domicile, a profusion of baroque antiques, gold leaf and plush carpeting, is only one of eight homes. He has three residences in Las Vegas, two in Palm Springs and one each at Malibu and Lake Arrowhead.

He can travel to and from his eye-popping dwellings in any one of 11 automobiles which include three Rolls Royces, a London taxi, a block-long Mercedes stretch limousine, a Chrysler station wagon painted to look like a piano keyboard, an Excalibur and a Model T.

Liberace hasn't always sat atop the show biz world, however. From 1958 to 1961 his career was in trouble. He'd lost his television series, changed management and found concert dates difficult to fill.

His brother, George, said Liberace was near death from kidney failure at Christmastime of 1962 and was given last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Wise guys wrote him off. But after his brush with death, Liberace made a strong comeback with a role in "The Loved One" movie and a triumphant concert return in London.

The CBS special is a rare television appearance for Liberace, who is wary of overexposure these days.

"My career situation is perfect," he said. "There's just enough television to let people know I'm alive and still kicking."

Government Begins Study Of Saccharin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal survey of saccharin studies concludes there is not enough data to know whether or not the artificial sweetener causes bladder cancer in humans.

The new interagency survey released recently said none of eight studies it examined on whether saccharin can cause cancer in humans gave a definitive answer.

The study group concluded there isn't enough evidence to prove or disprove the hypothesis that use of artificial sweeteners, specifically saccharin, increases the risk of human bladder cancer.

The National Cancer Institute and the Food and Drug Administration announced that they will do a nationwide study, as recommended by the study group, to see if saccharin — alone or with other factors — causes cancer.

The lifestyles of 3,000 bladder cancer patients will be compared with those of 6,000 healthy persons of similar backgrounds. The study will see if such things as drinking water, cigarettes, occupational exposure to chemicals and the artificial sweeteners saccharin and cyclamate play roles in the disease.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, deputy director of the institute, said the 18-month study will be conducted in five states and four metropolitan areas. The states from which data will be gathered are New Jersey, Connecticut, Iowa, New Mexico and Utah, and the metropolitan areas are Detroit, San Francisco-Oakland, New Orleans and Atlanta.

The $1.4 million study set to begin in March will be the largest human epidemiology study of its kind to look at the role of saccharin in bladder cancer.

The FDA last April proposed banning the use of saccharin because tests showed it caused bladder cancer in male rats at high doses and because limited human case studies indicated the sweetener may have a role in human cancer. Responding to a public outcry, Congress passed legislation last November delaying the ban until June 1979, requiring warning labels on saccharin products and authorizing further tests.

HINTING OF ADDED LANDSCAPE BEAUTY — The pictured sculptured juniper and white flowering desert willow correctly indicate the quality products and services made available in the area by pros in the field, Creative Landscapes and Kershner's Country Gardens.

Climatically Adapted Plants, Landscaping Service Available

"We believe we can open a whole new world of landscape enjoyment for you through one or more of our several services and products at Creative Landscapes and Kershner's Country Gardens. Of special interest now at Kershner's is the fresh new shipment of bare root fruit trees. An extremely good selection is offered, and now is the time to plant. Choose from apples, apricots, plums, peaches, pears, cherries and grapes. The "drop-in" customer is most welcome... simply come 2 1/2 miles west of Loop 289 on West 19th Street, then turn 1/2 mile north... to Kershner's Country Gardens, a name correctly defining the nature of this business long respected and appreciated on the South Plains. Creative Landscapes (phone 799-3846) affords a most comprehensive service... from design to execution, even including sprinkler systems, concrete work, all kinds of related construction including tropical patios. A complete landscaping service is afforded. Kershner Country Gardens is anticipating a big season, and has stocked and grown accordingly. Owner Charles Sudduth has just returned from Florida where he purchased a great selection of tropical plants that are arriving soon. Kershner has an enviable selection of climatically adapted plants in its own stock, also purchasing in California other plants adapted to this area. Kershner Country Gardens presently is in process of potting roses, with these to be ready by April 15. Pecan trees are due any day, with all the popular varieties offered. Shade Trees Also, depend on Kershner for all the better varieties of growing shade trees in-

Business & Industrial Review

Versatility, Economy, Beauty Enabled By Arcadia Stone Use

"Individuals and contractors alike, throughout the area, have voiced enthusiasm for Arcadia Stone."
 "This is small wonder, for after all, can you imagine a lightweight and durable man-made stone that captures the beauty of natural stone at a fraction of the cost and available in seven decorator colors?"
 This is exactly what one can expect from Arcadia Stone Manufacturing Co., home-owned and home-operated firm at 1922 Ave. E. Lubbock, phone 744-6640.
 Arcadia Stone has been utilized for exceptional beauty and warmth in numerous area situations . . . commercial and residential. It can be used wherever stone or masonry veneer is desired. It can be used to veneer complete homes or to enhance the quality of one's present home.
 Arcadia Stone is an enduring investment, whether for attractive fireplaces, for beautiful wall and floor tiles, for stepping stones, even the very popular exterior use on metal buildings. (Or interior walls for offices, as another practical and functionally-beautiful usage.)
Home Owned
 Arcadia Stone Mfg. Co. is owned by Jim Haynes who takes a pride in every product and operation. The firm has its own installation crews, or one can purchase the stone for "do-it-yourself" projects.
 A turnkey job is available on fireplaces, and now is the time to seriously plan a fireplace that will add beauty to the home this winter and for seasons to come.

Ski Rentals Among Economical, Convenient Chance's Services

"This ski season . . . so why not make the most of it . . . economically!"
 Ski and related equipment rentals are among the several significant situations at Chance's Lawn & Leisure, 3604 50th St., that come in for special note at this time, contributing to one's convenience and savings.
 "Check the following, one by one, for values you likely thought impossible!"
 (1) Snow ski rentals are a key segment of the firm's operation. More than 200 pair of rental skis are stocked, and rental is a modest $6 per day for skis, boots and poles! And . . . there is a free pick-up day and free return day, with two-day minimum charge! How about this for economy and convenience? Ski racks are available.
 (2) Snow chains also are rented for those trips to the ski slopes, and Chance's believes it to be the only local firm offering this service, to its knowledge.
 (3) Chain saw sales is a popular offering of the firm. Featured are Homelite, John Deere and Stihl lines, with 10-inch to 20-inch saws kept in stock. Service also is offered, together with accessories.
 It adds to this:
 Whether the project at hand calls for equipment purchase, service, parts, rentals or reconditioned units, Chance's is the only name one need know.
Extensive Rental Stock
 A full line of rental items is carried, including hand tools, roto-rooters, automotive tools, floor care items, lawn and garden equipment, even tables and chairs, power tools, and even such moving equipment items as tow bars, dollies, and more.
 Now is a good time to look ahead to spring and summer lawn and garden needs, and Chance's comes through with quality products that hardly need introduction.
 Mowers are stocked for sale, from Lawn Boy, Toro, Snapper, John Deere and Yazoo, plus the "best on the market" Trimmer reel-type mowers.
 And there are John Deere garden tractors, riding mowers, even Weed Eaters.
 Briggs & Stratton and Tecumseh parts are stocked.
 And even John Deere tee shirts and caps, and toys!
 Chance's Lawn & Leisure stocks scads of sale and lease merchandise.
 It all is part of the firm's concept of business, wherein a modern, complete full-line rental service, with sales, too, provided in south and southwest Lubbock, worth the drive from anywhere!
 Chance's is home owned and operated, with Sid Chance on the job to assure personal attention 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.
 Primarily a rental firm, Chance's has a most impressive stock in its sales department, and it is unquestionably service oriented.

Lubbock Kash & Karry Grocery Continues Pricing Advantages

"It is a fact . . . grocery savings are possible for each of you in 1978, thanks to Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery!"
 "Many of you have profited — for months — by checking the ads of Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery on these pages, and purchasing accordingly. (Selecting at the same time from the hundreds of other items already marked at 'rock bottom' at this popular Lubbock grocery that recently celebrated its second anniversary).
 "Others of you possibly have yet to learn the money-saving truth . . . that Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery can be a tremendous friend to the family budget.
 Certainly, all will agree that it is advantageous to shop more carefully than ever before . . . for price and value. Then . . . be sure and check the Lubbock Kash & Karry ad.
 (Not only this week, but check each week on representative money-saving staple items provided by this distinctive firm at 901 N. Ave. Q.
 "Did you know that groceries still can be purchased in Lubbock at rock-bottom prices — and — with full carry-out and sacking service?
 "If you are shopping elsewhere, you may be doing much of the work yourself, and still be paying too much; so — try Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery and pocket the savings!"
 Located at 901 N. Ave. Q, phone 747-6033, this firm is Lubbock's only independently and wholly owned and operated wholesale grocery.
Low Overhead
 It takes pride in "selling for less," a policy made possible by its cash arrangement, low overhead, purchases directly from the manufacturer, its policy of "pick it up yourself and save the difference," and local warehousing.
 Co-owners are Tommy Toombs and Noble Sides, with Toombs as manager.
 Sides, formerly with the Ben E. Keith Co., enjoys a wide acquaintance in the area, as does Tommy who also is a long-time Lubbock resident. Both are on the job to give their personal attention.
 In its fully-stocked quarters on North Avenue Q, Lubbock Kash & Karry sells in quantities as small as one-half case lots, and packaged meats, etc., by the package.
 A very good stock of refrigerated products, including these packaged meats, is maintained.
 The firm has enjoyed acceptance and appreciation of those even coming long distances to take advantages of the prices and selection. More than 1,600 items are included in the stock that veritably affords "anything for the grocery business," and housed in a big 6,000 sq.ft. building at the north Lubbock location.
 Staffmembers are on hand to load merchandise for the purchaser, remember: Everything is top quality, with definitely no "seconds" even at the low prices.

EVERY DEPARTMENT FULLY STOCKED AT JENT'S

From Sheet Music To Organs, Jent's Is Complete Facility

Not only is there "so much" at Jent's House of Music, but there is "so much that is right" at this firm located for more than 16 years on the same 34th Street block in Lubbock.

The several distinct departments of Jent's, 2646 34th St., are stocked and manned in a professional manner assuring utmost value received.

Finest in keyboard instruments is one of the prides of the firm, with Yamaha pianos and Lowry organs featured. Elmer Holt, long on the music scene in Lubbock, invites visits in this department where he will render every service possible.

And band instruments... Jent's stocks all major brands, and provides sales, rental and service on these.

Rental-Purchase Plans
(Rental and rental-purchase of new and fully guaranteed used band and orchestra instruments is available, with no limit on rental time, and with rental applicable to purchases.) Let Paul Langley in the band instrument department give full details.

Early last year Jent's reopened its big Combo department, headed by John Ellis. It not only features a complete line of accessories, but there is a guitar and amp for every situation. Gibson guitars and Ampeg amplifiers are featured, with other selections stocked and available.

A complete instrument repair and service department is headed by Lelean Staley, in the repair field for a quarter century in Lubbock. This department and its highly qualified leadership contributes further to Jent's true image as a complete and customer-oriented center.

Pharr Recreational Vehicles Enable New Fun, Convenience

"Do you envy those enjoying the fun and freedom that comes with ownership of a recreational vehicle (RV) that meets the needs and preferences of the owner?"

Then Pharr Trailer Sales should enter the picture!

Pharr Trailer Sales, 1702 Clovis Road, has a wide selection to offer at this time.

Whether the choice is from the Coachmen (No. 1 seller in the nation) mini-motor home, motor home, 5th wheel unit, travel trailers in all sizes, cab-over camper or even pop-ups; the Apollo motor home or the prestigious Silver Streak travel trailer, value and new convenience and luxury is assured.

Pharr also is a service center, together with sales; it is a "first stop must" in readying one's present RV unit for a trouble-free trip ahead.

Harold Pharr calls special attention to the selection of parts and accessories stocked within the attractive showrooms. When planning a trip, or even when just completing one, a person could do well to check for needed accessories "while it is fresh on his or her mind", with Pharr most likely having the very item desired.

Pharr knows recreational units, and this modern Lubbock firm can help immeasurably in correct selection that will give pleasure for years to come. Ask the man who owns a Pharr unit.

El Paso Wholesale, Lubbock Division, Serves Wide Region

"El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division knows that it can make the new year more profitable and certainly more convenient for retail firms throughout the region, ultimately saving for the consumer... you and me."

Located at 206 23rd St., phone 747-1841, in Lubbock, the El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division carries and stocks a full selection of hard line merchandise.

From time to time partial lists of the products have been published on these pages of the Avalanche-Journal, and readers have noted that the products and brand names are ones that can be appreciated, together with the completeness of this wholesale firm.

Among the benefits area merchants find foremost at El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division, aside from the selection, is the freight situation.

Doesn't it make sense that savings are enabled through the regions by virtue of the big-stock Lubbock warehouse that features faster, shorter delivery transport? Let this Lubbock wholesale firm

Agents Of Farmers Insurance Group Dedicated To Service

"Meet two more of the great agents this week that exemplify the Farmers Insurance Group brand of superior service!"

The Lubbock independent agents of the Farmers Insurance Group are being introduced in a series within these pages of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and this week attention is directed to Alline Baxter and Don Freeman, each operating agencies at 3323 82nd St. in Lubbock.

Each emphasize that "if you already are utilizing the services of a Farmers Insurance Group agent, you know the benefits; if not, then you should inquire at soonest possible date for your own profit and wellbeing."

There are several offices manned and headed by Farmers Insurance Group agents in Lubbock; actually there are some 18 such agents affording "anything in insurance."

Alline Baxter is one of the most enthusiastic agents one will meet, exuding confidence in Farmers Group insurance and genuine personal interest in serving each customer.

"I like all aspects of the business . . . the people, the challenges, the opportunities for service; besides it is interesting," relates Mrs. Baxter.

Natives of Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter came to Lubbock in 1972 when he was stationed at Reese AFB, returning later to select Lubbock as a permanent home. After serving at Reese, the Baxters were in Guam for two years, choosing upon his retirement from the Air force (where he was a chief master sergeant) to live in Lubbock where Alline has entered the insurance field and where he is engaged in real estate.

The Baxters have three children: Ross, 26, serving in the Marine Corps; and daughter, Lane, 13, attending McKenzie Junior High School; and Shawn, 9, attending Hardwick Elementary School.

Don Freeman has been in the life insurance business in Lubbock since 1969, and has been with Farmers Group some two years.

Rearred in Abilene, Freeman is a graduate of McMurry College there, moving to Lubbock in 1969.

He and his wife, Wanda, have two children: Donald Jr., 16, attending Monterey High School; and Scot, 13, a Hutchinson Junior High student. Mrs. Freeman is employed as a secretary in the trust department of a local bank.

DON FREEMAN

ALLINE BAXTER

Freeman possibly considers homeowners, life and auto insurance as his specialties. He is a member of the Texas Leaders Round-table, and is a graduate of LUTC (Life Underwriters Training Council).

Don likes to prove "the brand of service and the superiority of the company that I represent, Farmers Insurance Group."

"Anything in insurance" is the correct image of Farmers Insurance Group, Los Angeles based organization celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1978 and one that has been represented in Lubbock for over a quarter century.

Eight office locations are now utilized in Lubbock. These are located at 3323 82nd St. (the district office); 2221 34th St., 5106 Slide Road, 5602 Slide Road, 3534 34th St., 3409 50th St., 4417 50th St., and 7402 University Ave.

Among the local Farmers Insurance Group agents are Jerry Rose, Jim White, Don Busby, Rick Dyer, Gene Cribbs, Gary Jeter, Dick Heath, Alline Baxter;

Joe Schoenig, John Hatchett, Howard Havery, Lee Robertson, Lanny Harris, Don Freeman, Jere Smith, Presley Schofner and Philip Wilbanks. Bill Hatchett is district manager.

Each is thoroughly versed in the full spectrum of insurance services — auto, fire, life, truck, boat, commercial, liability and all.

IRA Outlined
Special attention is directed to the IRA-Plus savings including such features as: Allowable savings contributions are 100 per cent tax sheltered.

Payments, less an expense charge, earn a high prevailing interest rate (currently 8 per cent) with 4 per cent guaranteed. The proceeds guarantee a life income from the date one elects to retire, anytime between 59 1/2 and 70 1/2 years of age.

Funds continue to grow even when payments are suspended.

Payments can vary each year. No current tax on the interest on your capital accumulation.

Systematic methods of savings: Freedom from investment decisions; Your own personal money management plan backed by a large insurance company.

Get full details from a Farmers Insurance Group agent; he is a man worth knowing!

And a further word to the wise: "Don't renew your Homeowner's Insurance until you get all the facts about Farmer's Homeowners Package Policy."

Time, Money Water Resources Saved With Sprinkler Systems

"Sprinkler systems save more than time" is the qualified word from Gilbert & Spencer Enterprises, Inc., 2304 Ave. Q, phone 797-9212, in Lubbock.

According to the Lubbock firm, an automatic sprinkler system will save time, money and water.

Efficient water distribution is the reason. By automatically distributing only the desired amount in only the right places, a sprinkler system wastes no water — something that Lubbockites don't have in quantities to waste.

Bruce Gilbert, the firm's president, said that "although the situation will probably change as the water begins to run out, the majority of our customers have their systems installed for the added convenience."

Once a system is installed, the owner never has to worry whether he forgot to turn it on or off, or whether he'll run over one of the sprinkler heads with the lawn mower. The system does it all. It even makes it appear as if a home is occupied when it isn't, like when a family leaves on vacation.

Master Cleaners, In Two Locations, Assures Professional Garment Care

Take a combination of new convenience, professional care, long experience and there you have Master Cleaners! The convenience factor involves an added location for Master Cleaners, with the firm opening its Number 2 facility in early August at 3420 82nd St. to provide finest service to the area.

Many Lubbock residents have long depended on Master Cleaners, patronizing the still-existing and very popular business at 2301 34th St.

R.D. Barnett, 25 years in business, and president of the firm, still serves at the 34th Street facility, with Dan Barnett, vice president, managing the newer establishment just a block west of Indiana on 82nd Street.

Great For South Lubbock
Everything is designed for customer convenience and for a quality operation at the new and added location.

Large concrete aprons make access easy, with plenty of parking space and two drive-up windows provided.

Professional care remains the watchword at both locations. Master Cleaners watches for tears, rips, missing buttons, etc. . . . all the little things that can be so important; they want your clothing to be right and look right when it is dry cleaned at Master Cleaners. Expert attention is assured by such staffmembers as Clara Dolloff, presser with the firm for 25 years!

Dan Barnett emphasizes that Master Cleaners specializes in such needs as wedding gown cleaning and preservation, leathers, suedes and furs, to say nothing of the very excellent alteration and drapery service.

One-day service is provided at no extra charge. Master Cleaners No. 2 is open Mondays through Fridays from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. with Saturday hours of 8 a.m. until 2 p.m.

(On Saturdays, items brought in by 10:30 a.m. can be out by 1 p.m.)

"For new convenience, for knowing that your clothing and drapes will receive only the finest care, and for knowledge that your business is appreciated, visit the new Master Cleaners now. It will become a habit!"

AT SECOND MASTER CLEANERS FACILITY — Shown at the Master Cleaners 3420 82nd St. shop is Judy Guy, the friendly staffmember most usually working with the customers at the modern plant serving south Lubbock, with Dan Barnett, manager and vice president.

HALE VALUE — The pictured Model 320 is big, roomy and is it is equipped with a safety lighting package. Hale's most popular two-horse trailer. As with all Hale units,

New-Model Trailers Join Hale Manufacturing Firm Selection

The stock of trailers was never more complete at Hale Mfg. Co., Inc., in Lubbock . . . and don't overlook this: "The best trailers are built by Hale, nationwide manufacturers dating from back in 1946."

Providing trailers for area needs, with stock trailers, jackknife units and all, Hale in Lubbock is proud to introduce several new units.

See the new-model two-horse trailer featuring walk-through door at the front, new A-frame type tongue, the spaciousness of 6 ft. 6 in. head room, and all deluxe features standard.

In Lubbock since 1956, Hale maintains a distribution center, retail sales, assembly plant and service-parts headquarters at its facilities on the Idalou Highway just northeast of Lubbock (Rt. 7, Box 429, phone 806-765-8956).

Stan Howle, Lubbock native and with Hale for seven years, is manager, understanding trailers and area needs and preferences.

Hale trailers include units built for horses and other livestock, utility trailers, jackknife units, flatbeds and dump beds.

A full representative stock is maintained here, and units are available at the firm or from its West Texas and New Mexico dealers.

Service Department
A full service department is maintained, with service on all trailers, whether they were purchased from the firm or elsewhere.

Quality-Built
Brake and light sales and installation are available, as is repainting.

Check the following that are among the features standard on every Hale trailer, adding up to Hale value:

A quality vinyl acrylic finish is applied to every Hale trailer. Before the finishing coat is applied, each trailer is smoothed and thoroughly cleaned. Then a primer coat is applied followed by the vinyl acrylic finish. Color selection is from nine beautiful standard colors. Two-tone or special paint colors are available on request.

Lamps are sealed for protection from moisture, and wiring is enclosed in conduit.

The tongue is of 3-inch heavy-wall pipe construction and features positive Locking Bulldog coupler and easy-to-operate Bulldog Jack.

The heavy duty all-welded primary frame features heavy 3-inch by 3-inch angle iron with secondary cross members of 2-inch by 2-inch angle iron.

Tongue and grooved flooring spans the width of the trailer for utmost in strength and safety.

Heavy seven-leaf springs are designed to give the carrying capacity demanded of a stock trailer.

Equalizer Bars Standard
The axle and hub are especially designed for long life. The four-inch drop center axle creates a lower center of gravity as well as lowering the floor of the trailer, making loading and unloading easier.

Cast steel equalizer bars are used for durability and strength.

For a quality trailer, with proven features, built and equipped for its intended purpose, "you need to take a closer look at these great units right here on the South Plains, at Hale Manufacturing Co., Inc., Idalou Hwy. just east of Lubbock.

"May we have the pleasure of your visit, inquiry and inspection?"

Modern, Knowledgeable Service Sure At Harold Harvey Agency

"Is your insurance program up to date, meeting the needs of today and tomorrow?"

"Does your insurance fully serve the purpose of your personal preference?"

"Does it need review by a trusted and knowledgeable expert in the field?"

Then, turn to Harold Harvey, whether the need is for complete planning, for review, for mortgage cancellation life insurance or whatnot.

Harold Harvey's continuing efforts and subsequent successes in insurance service are matter of record.

For a fact, the Harold Harvey Agency (No. 5, Briercroft Office Park, phone 747-6673) can materially assist, professionally and correctly, in the insurance picture.

Harvey takes pride in representing companies with good records, and prompt payments can be (and should be) a big factor in choosing one's insurance agent. Harvey prides in promptness.

The Harold Harvey Agency calls to attention some other situations in which they can be of prime benefit:

"Re-evaluation of one's insurance makes good sense what with property values going up every day."

Harvey points out the value of an "inflation-guard endorsement" that annually increases the insurance coverage of the home. This endorsement can be put on an annual basis on current homeowners' policies at a cost far from prohibitive. It provides a realistic protection of values.

"Specializing in fire and casualty insurance, the Harold Harvey Agency can render services that can be rewarding for every client.

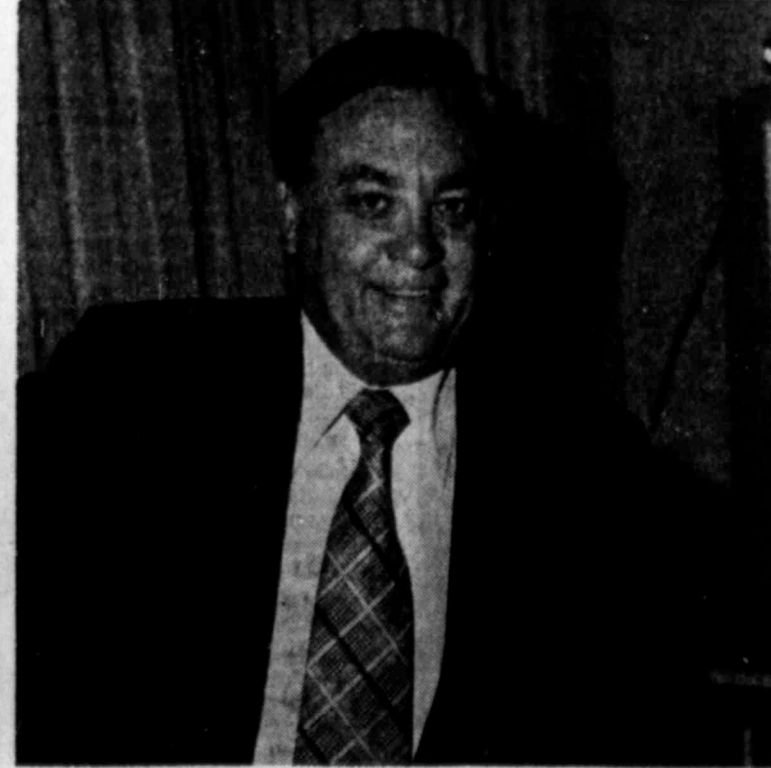

Among the key areas in which Harvey can render a special service is that of home owners mortgage cancellation life insurance, paying off the mortgage in full should the breadwinner die.

The complete homeowners and mortgage cancellation package can be placed through Harvey with one company for maximum convenience and efficiency — with the Floyd West Co. organization with which Harvey has had close contact since back in 1959.

Harvey also is a specialist in bonds, whether the need is administrator, guardianship, various types of court bonds, etc.

In the complex world of insurance, it makes good sense to rely on Harold Harvey, a veteran in the field of "modern insurance practices with old-fashioned service."
