Red Cross Complaints Aired Here

By ESTHER LONGORIA Avalanche-Journal Staff

VOLUNTEERS of the Lubbock American Red Cross chapter have decided to resume serving the local chapter for one more month, provided administrative problems are ironed out in that time.

More than 40 volunteers, who last week had opted to withhold their services from the local group, reaffirmed their allegiance and support for the local group during Monday's special membership-board meeting at the local office

More than 90 of the volunteers, which include first aid team members and first aid instructors and instructor-trainers had signed a petition last week which said in part:

Support Claimed Lacking "Due to the lack of support, direction, organization, cooperation, commitment and efficiency of the chapter manager and the current executive board of the Lubbock County chapter, we hereby send notice that we withhold our services from the Lubbock County chapter." At the 21/2 hour session, volunteers aired complaints which included the manner of purchase and distribution of first aid supplies, a feeling on the part of first aid teams of not being wanted at board meeetings and the inadequate recognition given first aid teams by the chapter manager (Joe Herber) for their work at public events.

"Our executive committee and our board of directors have worked hard to solve all the problems of the chapter, Ernest Knox, board chairman, said. "We expect no changes in the leadership of the Lubbock chapter at this time.

Resignation Asked

Board member Paul Johnson then made a motion asking for Knox's resignation as chairman. "I'm not going to get out ...not under fire," the chairman said. "If you want someone else, you can elect someone else in May.

At the meeting, Red Cross volunteers David West and Charlie Scott accused Knox of not seeing fit to take the chapter's problems to the full board.

"We as members came here today wanting something besides excuses," an emotional Scott said.

"The Lubbock County chapter is not subliminal, if you would only allow these volunteers to expand; I gave my ob for this." Dixie Hess, who resigned as the group's safety programs director Jan. 23, said.

Accusations Aired

At a previous board meeting, Hess had alleged that the local chapter manager was making a profit with Red Cross instructors' manuals by selling them over allowable cost and that Red Cross instructors' cards had been given to some who were not qualified to be getting them. "It took me two weeks to get that man (Herber) back in line, and I wasn't hired to manage the management," she

Board member Bill Dean praised Hess for a "job well done" and said that any fault lies with the board. The gathering applauded Dean for that statement. At the 21/2 hour meeting came to a

Muriel Humphrey Takes Senate Oath Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) - Muriel Buck Humphrey took the oath of office as U.S. senator Monday and promised to help pass the legislative program left behind at the death of her husband, Hubert.

"I hope I can do as well," she said. "I hope I can fill Hubert's shoes."

She told reporters after the brief ceremony on the Senate floor that she has not decided whether to seek election in her own right in a special election to be held 10 months from now.

She said she will make that decision within two months and added, "I'll try not to keep everybody hanging."

Mrs. Humphrey, wearing a powder blue suit, waved to family members and friends in the Senate visitors' gallery and replied with a quiet, "I do," when Vice President Walter F. Mondale administered the oath of office.

Senators, staff members and those in the gallery stood and applauded the new senator. It was the first standing ovation in the Senate since Humphrey himself returned to Washington from Minnesota last Oct. 25 after his doctors at home had decided the cancer from which he suffered was inoperable.

Mrs. Humphrey, who will be 66 on Feb. 20, was welcomed to the Senate by most of its members with handshakes and, more often, kisses. She became the first woman senator since Margaret Chase Snith of Maine lost a re-election bid in November 1972.

Study Says All-Volunteer Force Costly

all-volunteer military force have cost $18.4 billion more than the military draft system, far in excess of the Pentagon's own estimates, the General Accounting Office said Monday.

The congressional auditing agency said in a new study that there is unlikely to be any reduction in the current $3.6 billion higher cost of the volunteer force annual-

The study was released by Comptroller General Elmer Staats at a hearing of a Senate armed services subcommended by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga.

Nunn said the 2.1 million-member volunteer military is costing so much that it is taking away from other major defense programs and will inevitably mean a 'steady erosion" of U.S. defense capabil-additional cost since the draft ended in 1971 has gone to pay substantially higher salaries to new enlistees and junior officers in all the services.

Assistant Defense Secretary John P. White acknowledged that the $14.2 billion should be attributed to the volunteer force, but said military pay would probably have risen anyway far above the low salaries paid low-ranking soldiers in the

In the 1980s, White said, there will be 15 percent fewer young Americans in the age group from which military enlistees are drawn. The result, he said, will be even higher enlistment costs attributable to the voluntary force.

Another additional cost uncovered by the GAO was $276 million paid because of the high flunkout rate among Army inductees over the past six years.

Contrary to the predictions of early voluntary Army supporters, about 40 percent of new inductees fail to qualify and are eased out withing the first 90 days.

For those would-be soldiers the cost is $86 million in training, $75 million in separation benefits and $115 million in civilian unemployment benefits, the GAO

Among other additional costs cited by Staats were:

-$1.4 billion for recruiting and adver-

-$932 million spent in recruiting and higher pay for doctors and dentists, who nonetheless have signed up in insufficient

-$1.2 billion in higher military housing -$178 million for hiring civilians who now do most housekeeping chores like KP, which used to be assigned to lowranking GIs.

The GAO conceded that $289 million had been saved taxpayers through phasing out the selective service system.

Pentagon officials have acknowledged in congressional testimony that the volunteer force had cost between $300 million and $500 million more since the end of the draft years, Nunn said.

He quoted Army Secretary Clifford Alexander as saying, "The all-volunteer force is a bargain for taxpayers," and said the Army official had claimed that rather than costing money, the all-volunteer force saves $40 million annually

Nunn scoffed at that and said he asked the GAO for its study because the Pentagon ignored his repeated requests for a detailed examination of costs.

Nunn, an early critic of the all-volunteer concept, stopped short of calling for a return to the mandatory military draft. But he said a broad military-civilian national service conscription plan should be

NEW YORK AP) — David Begelman, whose talent for putting together box-office hits helped pull Columbia Pictures Industries Inc. from the brink of bankruptcy, has lost his job for the second time because of a financial scandal that has shaken the movie business.

Begelman was suspended Oct. 3 from his $4,000-a-week job after a company investigation concluded that he took $61,-008 in corporate funds, including $10,000 that he obtained by forging actor Cliff Robertson's name on a check.

But he was given back his job Dec. 19 because company officials didn't want to lose his money-making touch - responsible for such hits as "Funny Lady,""Shampoo" and "The Deep" and instrumental in Columbia's current smash, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

Productivity Study Reveals Slower Rate

NEW YORK (AP) - The combined forces of man and machine steadily have increased the nation's productivity since World War II, but the pace of growth has slackened in recent years, a study released Monday concluded.

The Conference Board, a non-profit business-research group, found that "total factor" productivity-a measurement of output combining total worker hours and capital investment- peaked at an annual growth rate of 3 percent in the mid-1960s. It has since grown at a slower annual rate of 1.3 percent.

The study suggested several reasons for the apparent slowdown in its measurement of "total factor" productivity.

One is prolonged experience with lessthan-full employment conditions in the 1970s, during which much of the economy's productive capacity has been operated at less than the most efficient rates," the report said.

But it also suggested that increased spending for poliution-control equipment and the changing nature of the work force were other factors.

Productivity may have been slowed in part because of "the shift in the labor force mix in recent years toward a higher percentage of women and youth, who on average are less-experienced workers,' the study suggested.

The report, based on a study of govern-ment figures, said that the ratio of total capital investment per worker rose 50 hetween 1948 to 1976, fro erage of $28,000 to $42,000, in inflationadjusted 1972 dollars.

At the same time, the output of goods and services, relative to both hours per worker and capital investment, rose at an average rate of 2.7 percent between 1948 and 1957: accelerated to 3 percent between 1957 and 1966 and rose at a moresluggish rate of 1.3 percent for the next 10

For all industry groups in the period since 1948 total factor productivity averaged 1.5 percen annual growth, the report said

Among specific industry groups, farming showed the biggest productivity gains, averaging 3 percent a year during the 1948 to 1976 period.

"That, my darling, you'll never know," said Jean Vagnini, Columbia's public relations director.

The Begelman affair and the press scrutiny it spawned have rocked the entertainment industry in Hollywood and New York. Part of the fallout from the scandal has been allegations that moviestudio managements for years have been siphoning profits from the sale of films at the expense of actors, producers, writers and others involved in films.

New York and New West magazines reported in a copyright article that Judy Garland's former husband, Sid Luft, says he has evidence that Begelman "mishandled" up to $100,000 of Miss Garland's money when he was the late singer's agent in New York. Begelman's attorney has said he will sue the magazines and Luft because of the report.

The Begelman revelations also split the top echelon at Columbia. A majority of the eight-man board of directors of the movie-television-record giant wanted the 56-year-old executive reinstated because of his value to the corporation.

Columbia President Alan Hirschfield and other board members opposed that. But they relented, trying to restore harmony within the company.

Muriel Humphrey Takes Senate Oath Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Muriel Buck Humphrey took the oath of office as U.S. senator Monday and promised to help Monday and promised to help pass the legislative program left behind at the death of her husband, Hubert.

"I hope I can do as well," she said. "I hope I can fill Hubert's shoes."

She told reporters after the brief ceremony on the Senate floor that she has not decided whether to seek election in her own right in a special election to be held 10 months from now.

She said she will make that decision within two months and added, "I'll try not to keep everybody hanging."

Mrs. Humphrey, wearing a powder due suit, waved to family members and friends in the Senate visitors' gallery and replied with a quiet, "I do," when Vice President Walter F. Mondale administered the oath of office.

Senators, staff members and those in the gallery stood and applauded the new senator. It was the first standing ovation in the Senate since Humphrey himself returned to Washington from Minnesota-last Oct. 25 after his doctors at home had decided the cancer from which he suffered was inoperable.

Mrs. Humphrey, who will be 66 on Feb. 20, was welcomed to the Senate by most of its members with handshakes and, more often, kisses. She became the first woman senator since Margaret Chase Snith of Maine lost a re-election bid in all-volunteer military force have cost $18.4 billion more than the military draft system, far in excess of the Pentagon's own estimates, the General Accounting Office said Monday.

The congressional auditing agency said in a new study that there is unlikely to be any reduction in the current $3.6 billion higher cost of the volunteer force annual-

The study was released by Comptroller General Elmer Staats at a hearing of a Senate armed services subcom chaired by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga.

Nunn said the 2.1 million-member volunteer military is costing so much that it is taking away from other major defense programs and will inevitably mean a 'steady erosion" of U.S. defense capabil-

The GAO found that $14.2 billion of the additional cost since the draft ended in 1971 has gone to pay substantially higher salaries to new enlistees and junior officers in all the services.

Assistant Defense Secretary John P. White acknowledged that the $14.2 billion should be attributed to the volunteer force, but said military pay would proba-bly have risen anyway far above the low salaries paid low-ranking soldiers in the

In the 1980s, White said, there will be 15 percent fewer young Americans in the age group from which military enlistees are drawn. The result, he said, will be even higher enlistment costs attributable to the voluntary force.

Another additional cost uncovered by the GAO was $276 million paid because of the high flunkout rate among Army inductees over the past six years.

Contrary to the predictions of early voluntary Army supporters, about 40 percent of new inductees fail to qualify and are eased out withing the first 90 days.

For those would-be soldiers the cost is $86 million in training, $75 million in separation benefits and $115 million in civilian unemployment benefits, the GAO said.

Among other additional costs cited by Staats were: -$1.4 billion for recruiting and advertising. -$932 million spent in recruiting and higher pay for doctors and dentists, who nonetheless have signed up in insufficient

-$1.2 billion in higher military housing

-$178 million for hiring civilians who

now do most housekeeping chores like KP, which used to be assigned to lowranking GIs.

The GAO conceded that $289 million had been saved taxpayers through phasing out the selective service system. Pentagon officials have acknowledged in congressional testimony that the volunteer force had cost between $300 million and $500 million more since the end of the draft years, Nunn said.

He quoted Army Secretary Clifford Alexander as saying, "The all-volunteer force is a bargain for taxpayers," and said the Army official had claimed that rather than costing money, the all-volunteer force saves $40 million annually.

Nunn scoffed at that and said he asked the GAO for its study because the Pentagon ignored his repeated requests for a detailed examination of costs.

Nunn, an early critic of the all-volunteer concept, stopped short of calling for a return to the mandatory military draft. But he said a broad military-civilian national service conscription plan should be

Productivity Study Reveals Slower Rate

NEW YORK (AP) - The combined forces of man and machine steadily have increased the nation's productivity since World War II, but the pace of growth has slackened in recent years, a study released Monday concluded.

The Conference Board, a non-profit business-research group, found that "total factor" productivity-a measurement of output combining total worker hours and capital investment- peaked at an annual growth rate of 3 percent in the mid-1960s. It has since grown at a slower annual rate of 1.3 percent.

The study suggested several reasons for the apparent slowdown in its measurement of "total factor" productivity.

"One is prolonged experience with lessthan-full employment conditions in the 1970s, during which much of the economy's productive capacity has been operated at less than the most efficient rates," the report said.

But it also suggested that increased spending for pollution-control equipment and the changing nature of the work force were other factors.

Productivity may have been slowed in part because of "the shift in the labor force mix in recent years toward a higher percentage of women and youth, who on average are less-experienced workers,' the study suggested.

The report, based on a study of government figures, said that the ratio of total capital investment per worker rose 50 erage of $28,000 to $42,000, in inflationadjusted 1972 dollars.

At the same time, the output of goods and services, relative to both hours per worker and capital investment, rose at an average rate of 2.7 percent between 1948 and 1957; accelerated to 3 percent between 1957 and 1966 and rose at a moresluggish rate of 1.3 percent for the next 10

For all industry groups in the period since 1948 total factor productivity averaged 1.5 percen annual growth, the report said.

Among specific industry groups, farming showed the biggest productivity gains, averaging 3 percent a year during the 1948 to 1976 period.

The Begelman affair and the press scrutiny it spawned have rocked the entertainment industry in Hollywood and New York. Part of the fallout from the scandal has been allegations that moviestudio managements for years have been siphoning profits from the sale of films at the expense of actors, producers, writers and others involved in films.

New York and New West magazines reported in a copyright article that Judy Garland's former husband, Sid Luft, says he has evidence that Begelman "mishandled" up to $100,000 of Miss Garland's money when he was the late singer's tive." agent in New York. Begelman's attorney has said he will sue the magazines and Luft because of the report.

"That, my darling, you'll never know," said Jean Vagnini, Columbia's public re-lations director. The Begelman revelations also split the top echelon at Columbia. A majority of the eight-man board of directors of the movie-television-record giant wanted the 56-year-old executive reinstated because of his value to the corporation.

Columbia President Alan Hirschfield and other board members opposed that. But they relented, trying to restore har-

Terrorists: Hang 'Em High

TERRORISTS, generally speaking, have been having a tougher time of it lately.

It hasn't been so long ago that the only governments taking anything resembling effective counteraction were Israel-with its firm no-concessions policy backed, if necessary, by military force-and the U.S.-with its elaborate airport security procedures which have reduced the onetime hijacking rate of one successful attempt every 20 days to a single on in the past five years.

Life's A Bowl Of Pits For KGB Agent In D.C.

WASHINGTON-It's tough to be a KGB agent in Washington, D.C., mainly because the home office has no idea what you re talking about.

I happened to be outside a public telephone booth the other morning when I heard a Soviet secret agent make a person-to-person call to Mos-

I know it's impolite to listen in when a secret agent is calling but I couldn't restrain myself. 'Anya, is Vladimir, speaking from Public Tele-important job.

"I'm not making this up, Anya. All the newspapers have been full of Allen. The TV stations have taken off regular programming to put on special stories about firing.

No one in Washington is working because they're all talking about Redskins.

The firing of a coach in this town is considered a very serious step. To most people it's even worse than impeachment.

Is important that Politburo know all the facts ause without football coach Washington is a weak and helpless giant.

YOU WANT MORE? All right. George Allen been coach of Redskins for seven years. He has new contract, yes?...But he won't sign new contract...Why won't he sign new contract? Because he wants to be coach of Los Angeles Rams.—R.A.M.S.

Yes, Anya, that is another football team in California. I do not know why Allen wants to be coach of Los Angeles Rams more than he wants to be coach of Washington Redskins...Is maybe something to do with Nixon. Hold it, Anya, I'll try to explain.

"Allen is great friend of Nixon. Nixon is great friend of Allen. Nixon lives in California. "Allen doesn't always tell the truth. Maybe he wants to be closer to Nixon on those occasions

This town has priorities and no one will do a thing until they know who the new Redskins leader will be.

"WHY IS THIS important to the Kremlin? I'll tell you why. Because Allen has left behind a team of wounded football players and no draft choices...I said no draft choices.

"Wait, will you please wait? The U.S. Army does not have a draft. That is true, Anya. But the National Football League still does.

Reader Has Solution How To Solve Our Problems

Editor, Avalanche-Journal: I saw in a newscast where it was said that President Carter wanted to become a missionary to a foreign country after he left the Presidency. He thought he might help save the country

The thought occurred to me that if he would step up his timetable a wee bit, like maybe next week, he could help save the United States. If he would take Andrew Young along to do the preaching and Mondale to be the singer, that would increase our prospects.

After that was done, then maybe we could find a way to export about 20,000 professional politicians and 200,000 professional bureaucrats.

When all that has happened, the United States would stand a good chance of being governed by the people from all walks of like as it was originally intended by the writers of the Constitution. K. O. Godsev, 8012 Beaufort

On Thursday, Jan. 19, President Carter gave his first State of the Union address. It will be a day I'll never forget not because of his address; but because I had my first personal experience with his administration

I am employed as Director of Communications for the Southwestern Division of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., Plainview, Texas. Pioneer is one of the largest farm seed producers in the world...and, coincidentally, was founded by Henry A. Wallace, former Democratic Vice President of the United States.

Late Thursday morning, the president of our Pioneer division received a call from one of our farmer friends. The farmer asked that we telegraph and/or telephone the White House...to request that President Carter and Sec. of Agriculture Bergland meet with representatives of farmers in Washington who are protesting present deplorable farm prices. At that point, both Carter and Bergland had refused to even set a date to meet with the farmers.

Thursday afternoon, I was asked to contact the President's office and request the meeting. Never have I been treated more rudely. The woman who answered the phone at the Presidential Comments Office tried to cut me off before the first sentence in a three-sentence remark was completed. She tried to hang up again with a curt, "cute" remark after the second sentence.

Then, finally, after managing to struggle through the request which ended "...please meet with the farmers presently in Washington, D.C.," I got the following "pleasant" comment:

'Yeah, yeah, I know the farmers are in Washington. I was late to work this morning because of them. And, I don't know if I'll be able to get home tonight because of them." With that, she abruptly hung up the phone.

I have two questions! First, if the message from the President of a rather large company is treated with such unconcern, then how is a private citizen treated? Second, who does that woman, a government employe, think employs her? Yes, she gets her check from the U.S. government. But, it's my understanding, that private citizens like myself, and companies like Pioneer, are the U.S. government...or has our government become so large that employes of government don't have to answer to their employers (us) any-

Reader Offers Argument For Panama Canal Pact

Editor, Avalanche-Journal

Your editorial on Saturday, Jan. 21st, which describes Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as "missing the boat" on his reasoning in support of the proposed Panama Canal Treaties, in itself misses something more important: A clear understanding of the nature of the Canal controversy.

Many Americans perceive the proposed treaties as a giveaway of "sovereign" United States' territory and possessions. Yet, does anyone stop to ask just how we came to "own" this important tract of real estate? Does it matter that the revolution which gave Panama its independence from Colombia in 1903 was organized in New York Ci-

Or that the U.S. Navy intervened at Theodore Roosevelt's request and prevented Colombia from quelling the disturbance? Or that the current treaty was never negotiated by a Panamanian, but rather by a French industrialist? These are common historical facts which every Panamaman knows.

The whole point is this: Do we continue with the status quo and risk the inevitable rioting, sabotage, and violence to which nationalistic Panamanians will ultimately resort as they did in 1964.

Will we continue to attract the condemnation of other Latin American nations, and severely cripple our foreign policy objectives there? Or, on the other hand, do we show ourselves to be the apable, strong, and peace-loving hemispheric leader which we truly are?

By ratifying the treaties we are not giving anything away; rather, we will retain the right to militarily defend the canal, insure expeditious passage of American vessels in time of emergency, gain respect as a fair and honest nation throughout Latin America, and insure our involvement in a future sea-level canal. Are we a weak giant incapable of standing up for our rights as the A-J suggests? Not quite. I am sorry, A-J. but on this one you not only missed the boat, you even forgot to purchase a ticket for the voyage Andrew D. Perona, 3401 83rd Drive

Lubbock Family Makes Big Break, Unplugs Television

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

After several years of aggravation it has happened. We have unplugged our television and put it in the closet. The reasons? First, because of the constant barrage of violence, cheap sex and vulgar language. As a Christian family we could no longer stand for the vain use of God's name in our own living room. Second, because of time. The average American spends three hours daily before the TV. We now spend our extra time reading a good book or playing with the kids.

We finally asked ourself what we wanted our children to learn. Was it the values of a television writer somewhere in Hollywood or the time honored values that can only be taught with what kids want most, Time with their parents?

Excessive television is not an easy habit to break, but when you do, its the kids who are the stars and the moms and dads who are the heroes. Steve Smart, 1810 3rd St.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

THE SOVIET merchant marine is burying us at sea. The U.S.S.R. is determined to put the Hammer and Sickle flag on top on the high seas.

Behind the scenes, the Soviet has completed its massive merchant marine project covering seven years and is now a formidable maritime power with a cargo fleet double the size of 1970.

Only seven years ago the U.S.S.R. ranked 21st in world trade. Today it ranks sixth. Before World War II and our lend-lease deliveries-for which the Soviets never paid or returned-Russia's vessels carried only 10 percent of Soviet trade. By 1958 it was 58 percent. Today it is 75 percent of all Soviet seaborne commerce.

Russia, relative to its size, has an amazingly short coastline-only about 10,000 miles compared with its 8,647,250 square miles. And Ivan is not a traditional (or natural) sailor. The Soviet pays sailors only about $120 a month-less than a fifth the wages paid Western seamen.

TO CAPTURE trade routes, the Soviet systematically undercuts tariffs 18 to 40 percent.

Today Soviet vessels carry 95 percent of the cargo between Russia and the Netherlands, three-fourths between it and West Germany, twothirds between the U.S.S.R. and Britain, onethird between North Europe and the Mediterranean, one-fourth between South America's West Coast and Northern Europe, one-fifth between Japan and the U.S. West Coast.

The Soviet has the world's largest number of general cargo vessels. About 20 percent of all new container freight ships are being built for Russia. Automation—automatically handling cargo from the dockside or aboard by machinery-is the key to competition. It reduces the normal crew of 45 to 20 or 22.

Automation is, as well, the key to the Soviet fishing fleets, staffed by men and women, the world is now deluged in a flood of Soviet fish.

IN ONE OF history's flip-flops, Russia's agelong enemy, Japan, contributes heavily to the big Red leap. The Japanese trust the Russians like a bulldog trusts a tramp.

But Japan is now the world's leading shipbuilder, especially true in constructing supertankers up to 300,000 tons. Japan's own merchant fleet includes 2,145 ships of more than 1,000 tons.

The Soviet pays for Japanese-built ships by barter deals or in Russian gold. They are typified by the general-cargo 12,000-ton "Orenburg" and dry-cargo "Okhotek" classes (first-rate workhorses) and immense supertankers.

Oil, along with gold, is the Soviet's most remarkable commodity. Oil is also the Kremlin's sharpest raiding weapon in its economic war against the West.

And the U.S.S.R. has displaced Venezuela from second place in the world's petroleum produc-The Soviet, however, is not depending on Japa-

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

BY DUANE HOWELL

NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL ECONOMISTS have pointed to several factors which could help to ease the difficulties farmers face in view of this season's sharply increased production and only slightly improved demand.

They reported on the cotton outlook at the NCC's annual meeting in Houston. The meeting, preceded by committee sessions, opened Monday and closes

Dr. Arlie Bowling, head of the council's economic and market research division, said that — unlike in previous years — cotton producers now have a new farm program with special provisions that will aid in the orderly marketing of this year's 14.5-million-bale crop.

He said the extended loan portion of a provision designed to minimize the excessive price flucutations that have plagued cotton in recent years seem likely

AN ENCOURAGING VIEW OF THE EXPORT outlook was reported by foreign trade economist Charlie W. Russell. He said prospects appear good that exports may exceed USDA's 4.7-million-bale estimate, despite generally weak textile markets in many countries and intense competition from man-made fibers. Among the factors he cited were:

- A moderate increase expected in total foreign cotton consumption in 1977-

- A rebuilding of foreign stocks which at the beginning of the current season were at their lowest point in six years.

- Mid-January export commitments of more than 5 million bales. - A major increase in U. S. export credit funds for the current fiscal year.

ALTHOUGH COTTON'S LOW PRICES POSE a serious problem for most producers, they should stimulate increased mill use of the natural fiber and give it an opportunity to regain some of its lost market share, market research manager Gaylon Booker reported. Domestic mill consumption declined almost 600,000 bales to a level of 6.7 million in 1976-77, largely because of cotton's limited availablity and higher price. Booker said it now appears consumption may range from 6.5 million to 7 million bales in 1977-78, and could fall near the upper end of this range if cotton's improved market performance in late 1977 carries over into this year.

A key factor in cotton's outlook in the months ahead will be the general economy's overall health, the economist said. Positive signs for textile market growth include the recent improvement in personal income, prospects for a 1978 tax cut, the reasonably healthy level of retail sales, the high rate of new housing starts, and a good sold-ahead position in fabrics.

The report indicated interfiber competition in the next few years will be strongly influenced by several non-quality factors.

TEXTILE IMPORTS, FOR EXAMPLE, ARE continuing to siphon off some growth in domestic mill fiber consumption. Recently negotiated bilateral agreements with Hong Kong, Korea and India provide for some reduction in import growth rates, but whether they actually will hold down import levels will depend on how strictly they are administered and enforced.

Regarding resource availability, Booker said petroleum-based synthetics face an even greater potential impact from limited energy resources than cotton. He added that a cotton price which will be competitive with man-made fibers inthe years ahead should be profitable enough to allow cotton to compete with other crops for land resources.

With the fiber promotion battle for markets continuing, he said, it is encouraging to see the payoff now materializing from Cotton Inc.'s expanded promotional efforts

Farmers Address Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 94 percent of the American population that doesn't produce food or fiber is fed, clothed and economically spoiled at farmers' ex-pense, the House Agriculture Committee was told Monday.

"If left uncorrected, we stand to lose hundreds of farmers who can no longer carry this inequitable load," said Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Texas, opening seven days of special hearings on the farm

"It is depressing to live in an area in which there are no younger people..., said Ken Lane, a farmer from Haskell County, Texas, where the population has dropped by half in 35 years.

"Our businesses are deteriorating or

Parity is a measurement by which the government determines what kind of purchasing power is being enjoyed by farmers on the basis of prices they receive for their products. Under 100 percent parity, theoretically, today's farmers would have the same purchasing power as that of farmers who harvested crops in the period of 1910-14, just before World War I.

The Agriculture Department estimates that the average of all surveyed farm, prices is running at about 65 percent of

Bentsen To Co-Sponsor Incentives Bill

WASHINGTON (Special) - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., Monday agreed to co-sponsor legislation, proposed by Senate Agriculture Committee member Robert Dole, R-Kans., that would provide higher target price incentives to farmers who reduce their production.

"Over the past three weeks I have met with numerous farmers, ranchers and businessmen from agricultural areas of Texas," he said in Senate remarks.

"These discussions have borne out what many of my colleagues have become increasingly aware of in recent years: the American farmer is caught in

The bill Bentsen is co-sponsoring would increase target price incentives up to par-ity levels for an individual farmer, depending on how much of his land is held out of production.

The proposed target prices for wheat, for example, would start at $3 a bushel for a farmer who sets aside 20 percent of his land and range up to $5.04 a bushel for a 50 percent set-aside.

The target price for corn would range from $2.10 a bushel for a 10-percent setaside to $3.45 for a 50 percent set-aside, and the target price for upland cotton would go from 54 cents a pound for a 20

Tracing was extremely light market.

Wheat prices were supported somewhat by another announced sale to the Soviet Union, reports of reduced production in Argentina and expectations of increased export clearances.

Also lending support to the market were recommendations by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland asking approval of a 10 percent feedgrain set aside.

Cash grain sales were reported somewhat curtailed again as another winter storm moved through the Mildwest.

Later hedge setting and speculation by commission houses and commercial traders trimmed earlier gains.

Soil Service Lists Damage

Temple (Special) — About 920,000 acres of land in 66 West Texas counties was damaged by wind erosion during November and December, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) reported. George C. Marks, state conservationist for the SCS here, said the total compares with 111,602 acres damaged during the corresponding period last year.

This year's damage figure is the highest for November and December since 1973 when 946,952 acres were affected.

Emergency tillage to reduce wind ero-sion was applied to 685,880 acres of cropland during this period.

"THE NET PROFIT CROP OF 1977"

S ome producers contracted their 1977 Sunflower acreage with "The Sunflower People of West Texas", for eleven cents.

nlike their neighbor, some producers wanted higher prices than the $.11 Cent Per Lb. Contract being offered by "The Sunflower People of West Texas" in their Joint-Venture Contract.

N ow when harvest time finally arrived and the crop developed to be the largest in the history of the United States, the farmer who wanted MORE actually got LESS.

Fiends, don't get caught again holding the short end of the stick: The "Sunflower People of West Texas" now have contracts available for the 1978 Crop Year.

ong before anyone else establishes a market, "The Sunflower People of West Texas" offer you a Sunflower Production Contract that will give you, the farmer, a price for your product that allows you a Net Profit.

only by contracting ahead can you guarantee your-self a net profit in planting Sunflowers in 1978.

W when you consider that it take less cash per acre to grow Sunflowers than any other crop, one must appreciate the fact that it will greatly reduce cash flow requirements for farming operations.

ach year "The Sunflower People of West Texas" offer new opportunities to the producer who wants to help himself. The "Plant Now-Pay Later" program for Sunflower Planting Seed has allowed many producers to stay in business in hard pressed financial times. The same people again offer this same program to those who would like

R sults of last year's Sunflower Crop show a need for another service to be added: This year you can again contract to have your spraying for Insect Control included and pay for it in the fall when you harvet your crop, should you desire to do so.

o ... if it is Profit You Want, SUNFLOWERS ARE THE ANSWER. CONTRACT WITH "THE SUNFLOWER PEOPLE". For full details about planting seed contracts, spraying and fall terms on the complete program, contact -

The ship was later refloated, but within hours some oil had washed onto ice-encrusted rocks and beaches at South Portland about a mile and a half away, the Coast Guard reported.

The 223-foot Harold Reinauer, with a seven-member crew, was shuttling light No. 2 oil from the King Resources tank farm on Long Island to the Texaco pier in Casco Bay in South Portland about 1 a.m. when it ran aground in 15 feet of water on Diamond Island Ledge, said John Bablitch, a spokesman for the Coast

The ship is owned by Boston Fuel Transportation Inc., said Bablitch.

Cmdr. John Ekman of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Portland said an investigation will be conducted Thursday "to determine what happened, why it happened and who was at fault."

The grounding punctured one port tank below the water line, but the Coast Guard said the leak later stopped when the pressure of water entering the tank became equal to that of the oil seeping

The Coast Guard said the leak app

ently was confined to the No. 1 tank, which contained nearly 60,000 gallons.

Personnel from the Coast Guard's Marine Safety Office and its Atlantic Strike Force, a team of oil spill experts on call 24 hours a day in Elizabeth City, N.C., were called in for cleanup operations, which were expected to be complicated by wind and waves kicking up in advance of a northeaster heading toward Maine.

Officials of the Maine Department ot Environmental Protection said they hoped much of the spilled oil would be blown out to sea.

Ekman said the spill appeared to be the largest in Casco Bay since 1972, when the Norwegian tanker Tamano spilled 100,-000 gallons of industrial oil. The Tamano spill blackened shorelines for 70 miles.

Meeting Slated Today

The union's 24-man bargaining council, which must approve the pact before it goes before the rank and file for ratification, plans to meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Washington to hear Miller present the settlement.

It could be 10 days before a contract is ratified and late this month before the mines get back close to full operation.

Many utility companies in the Midwest and Central Appalachians have reported coal stockpiles down below 30 days, federal officials say, and some industries are expected to close for want of coal-generated power even though the strike ends

Hint Given Earlier

The break in the lengthy impasse had been rumored since Miller told the Charleston, W.Va., Gazette over the weekend that he felt fairly confident of chances a settlement could be reached before Tuesday.

The chief federal mediator, Wayne Horvitz, wanted to hammer out an agreement before the UMW Bargaining Council meeting Tuesday. The 24-man council. which includes presidents of most UMW district's and the union's international executive board, had been scheduled to

Amputation Blocked By Woman's Lawyers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Lawyers for a 72-year-old recluse told the state Court of Appeals Monday that she does not want her gangrenous feet amputated even though she knows they will not heal. Doctors fear Mary C. Northern may die without the surgery

The state already has court permission to authorize the amputations if doctors feel the surgery is needed to save the woman's life, but the woman's court-appointed lawyers were arguing Monday that such amputation would violate her constitutional rights.

It was the fourth time the case has been before Tennessee's courts, and the second time it has been before the Court of Appeals.

This is an absolutely unprecedented decision that the state is asking the Court of Appeals to make," Philip M. Carden, one of her attorneys, said. He said that no duly constituted court ever has ordered such surgery against a patient's will. In mid-January, in a somewhat similar case. New Jersey Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr. ruled that Robert Quackenbush, 72, did not have to have his gangrenous legs amputated even though doctors said he would die within three weeks if they weren't. Doctors decided not to appeal the ruling, and Quackenbush remained in fair condition in Morristown Memorial Hospital on Monday.

The Tennessee spinster was reported in fair condition Monday at General Hospital, 20 days after police removed her from the home where she had lived alone since her parents' deaths in 1959 and

A fire had damaged the house Jan. 11. A Jan. 25 Chancery Court order made the state responsible for Miss Northern's welfare after a judge decided her life was in imminent danger because she refused the operation.

On Jan. 28, two members of the appeals court, visited Miss Northern at her bedside, conferred with her doctors, and gave Human Services Commissioner Horace Bass and the hospital's two top surgeons authority to order the amputation.

Their order described Miss Northern as "an intelligent, lucid, communicative and articulate individual who does not accept the fact of the serious conditions of her feet.'

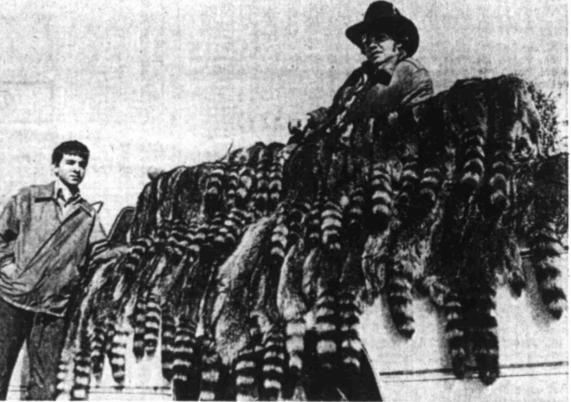

Then, last Monday, Justice William Harbison of the state Supreme Court refused to step in and delay the operation, and the case went back to the appeals

Carol McCoy, a lawyer for the woman, challenged as unconstitutional a state law allowing persons over 60 years of age to be placed in protective custody by the state Department of Human Services. She said the statute's vagueness violated Miss Northern's right of due process under the 14th Amendment and endangered her personal liberty.

The lawyer also said the Chancery Court based its original decision to permit amputation on evidence which should not have been admitted.

"It's not a question that she can't consent; it's just she won't," McCoy said. "Anybody who looks at Miss Northern's feet knows they will not revive without a miracle.

Patricia Cottrell, assistant attorney general, argued the statute did not violate Miss Northern's legal rights and that she was not competent to make such a decision

Young Burglary Suspect Captured After Confronting Armed Homeowner

Lubbock residences and businesses for years, but at least one reported intruder had a surprise awaiting his entry into one home in a reported weekend break-in. Roger Dale Pope of 702 Municipal Drive told police he was sleeping about 9:55 p.m. Saturday when he began to hear noises outside his home. Upon investigating, the 27-year-old Lubbockite said he saw someone outside his front door and then observed shadows moving around to various windows to his home.

By that time, a friend had also noticed the intruder's movements and telephoned police from another residence. Before officers arrived, however, the man reportedly had entered through a back window of Pope's home.

Pope told officers he got a pistol and went into a bathroom to await the intruder's entry. While he was waiting, a man carrying an eight-track tape walked past the room where Pope was hiding, he Police still had not arrived, but Pope said curiosity got the best of him so he grabbed the man by the arm, pointed a .357-magnum revolver at him and began to ask questions.

Officers arriving said they drove up to find the friend standing outside and Pope standing inside with the revolver still aimed at a 15-year-old Lubbock youth's head. The boy was arrested for burglary. Another Lubbock man, Mel Nava of Rt.

Smoking Area Request Denied At Monterey

Randles confirmed the report Monday. And while he understands the administration's reasoning against the proposal, the principal believes the idea of student smoking areas is a sound one.

"Let me make it clear that I do not approve of smoking," said Randles, who like Irons is a nonsmoker.

"But we have to face facts that some kids are going to smoke. We just don't have the personnel to supervise every restroom to keep them from smoking. It's an impossible task," he said. "As long as some students are going to smoke. I'd rather they do it in an open patio than in the restrooms. This is not for the sake of the students who smoke, but for those who don't. They deserve to be able to use the restrooms without the nuisance of other students smoking," Randles said.

Randles' proposal was discussed by the school system's Administrative Council, composed of Irons and his top assistants.

"It was turned down as contrary to board policy," Irons said. "We realize the difficult job our schools have. They can't supervise every restroom every minute of the day. Nevertheless, we don't believe a smoking area would be consistent with the policies set by the school Randles said he sympathizes with the position of the board and Administrative Council. "I don't mean to sound critical of them. I respect their decision. And as long as there is a rule against smoking.

to enforce it," he said. andles said he did not mean to suggest he condones smoking by his proposal to create student smoking areas.

we're going to do everything we be smoking lounges. They would be outdoors — not inside the school building."

And, Randles said, only students who have their parents' permission would be allowed to smoke there. "We'd make sure every student who used the smoking area has written permission from his parents. We'd come down hard on students caught smoking on the patio without their parents' approval. Much of the problem in enforcing the existing no-smoking policy is that many parents do allow their children to smoke. Thus, the threat of getting caught at school is little deterrent, Randles said.

Also Problem Elsewhere Monterey is by no means the only school troubled by smokers. Throughout the city, high schools - and even junior highs - report similar problems. Many students flock to the restrooms to smoke during the "pass" between class periods. On longer breaks, they often go outside to smoke on schoolgrounds, across the street from campus or in their cars.

"Passing periods are smoking periods," Randles said. Trying to catch smokers is difficult because students keep a lookout for teachers and administrators on patrol, the number of adult supervisors is so limited, and students must be caught "in the act" - not with just circumstantial evidence - to be disciplined, he said.

"As hard as we try, stude want to smoke are going to find a way to do it," Randles said. Suspensions Provided

Students caught smoking at Monterey receive three conduct marks. he said. When a student has totaled 12 marks, he must serve an in-school suspension, Randles said. Smoking in restrooms pollutes the air for students, especially those with asthma or allergies to smoke, Randles said. "It's so bad kids who do not smoke do not want to go to the restrooms during passing periods.

Bands of smokers in the restrooms also inflict vandalism there - something Randles said a designated smoking area would help reduce.

A survey of 358 Monterey students by The Mirror found that 25 percent smoke - and of those students, 60 percent do so at school. The survey suggested 74 percent of the students are opposed to smoking in the restrooms, and 59 percent favor a designated smoking pro and con to the proposed smoking areas. Said one supporter: "There are so many people (in the restrooms now) standing and smoking that you can hardly get to the stalls, sinks or mirrors.

Restroom Space Scarce The Mirror received comments

But another student said, "A smoking lounge would only encourage smoking, sort of give the school's approval of it."

Smoking problems have been discussed at other schools, too. One Coronado High student said recently in a letter to The Coronado Crest: "The opening of a smoking lounge would result in cleaner restrooms, less hassle and in all probability, fewer tardies." The Westerner World, the Lubbock High School paper, suggested an alternative to designated smoking areas - that students themselves establish "smoking and nonsmoking bathrooms."

Under that proposal, explained The Westerner's Inez Russell, 'Smokers can use the bathrooms in the science wing and those on the third floor. First- and secondfloor bathrooms are for those students who do not smoke '

The Lubbock school board unanimously reiterated its ban against students smoking on campus only last October.

Canal Treaty Debate Opens Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate agreed unanimously Monday to begin debate on the controversial Panama Canal treaties Wednesday, but Senate leaders cautioned they cannot assure President Carter the accords will be rati-

"This battle is still to be won," Republican leader Howard Baker of Tennessee told reporters.

"As of today, I agree," said Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia. But Byrd said he still is cautiously optimistic, particularly following Carter's fireside chat on the treaties last week.

A UPI poll indicates 54 senators now favor, or are inclined to favor, the treaties; 24 are against, or leaning against, and 22 are undecided. A two-thirds majority - 67 senators - is required for ratification.

Baker said he expects quick approval of a treaty amendment planned by the Senate leadership to clarify U.S. defense rights after the waterway is turned over to Panama in the year 2000. The amendment was recommended by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it approved the treaties by 14-1 votes.

The Senate can amend the treaties with majority votes and the leaders expect votes on some 30 other amendments, some of which could prove unacceptable to Panama

Meanwhile, the administration moved swiftly to reveal details of the implementing legislation both House and Senate will be required to pass and to answer nagging questions about unexpected costs to U.S. taxpayers.

Sadat Draws Line On Middle East Peace Concessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Monday he already has made all the concessions he plans in the current Middle East negotiations, and called on the United States to help make Israel reciprocate.

In a major speech that followed a weekend of intense, private talks with President Carter, Sadat accused the Israelis of taking a "hardening" position in U.S. officials described the speech as tough and unyielding, and saw it as a basic restatement of the position Sadat held before arriving in Washington Friday. Sadat said he plans no further conces-

"This is the case where one party has voluntarily declared its willingness to meet its obligations on the basis of reciprocity," he said. "In other words, that party has already fulfilled its share of the bargain. U.S. Influence Urged

Now, he said, the United States is in a unique position to exert influence in the Middle East.

"The constructive American role, as we conceive it, is more than that of a gobetween," he said. "You are a full partner in the establishment of peace."

Sadat said he told Carter during their summit at Camp David that, "efforts will have to be doubled if we are to reaffirm the faith of many people in the area that peace is attainable.

While Egypt remains committed to peace, he said, events in the past several weeks have caused him concering. Israeli Position "Hardens"

For example, the study showed that federal aid has saved the owner of a $50,000 home in Newark, N.J., almost $1,300 a year in property taxes.

If the economic stimulus program were to be entirely eliminated in the new budget year, taxes might have to go up $2.58 for every $100 of full market value on property in Newark if all other economic conditions remained unchanged.

The least impact of $35 a year - 7 cents per $100 of assessed value would be in Houston, the study showed. The average increase for the nation's 48 largest cities would be 46 cents per $100, or $230 a year on the owner of a $50,000 home. There are three parts to the administration's economic stimulus package.

They are local public works, job creation and anti-recession funds. The stimulus package allocated $15.8 billion to state and local governments over the 18month period ending Sept. 30. Of this amount, $3.2 billion was allocated to the 48 largest cities which have 17 percent of the nation's total population. The sum amounted to nearly 3 per-tried to get as much as possible out of every dollar. I feel the same way about government - that it should spend as little as possible of the taxpayers' money,' said Hester, 49, of 4301 N. Boston Ave.

Ironically, Salinas worked for Hester for a number of years.

Salinas faces cotton gin accountant Jerry Airhart in the Democratic primary.

Member Of Zoning Board Hester is a member of the city Zoning Board of Adjustment and a former president of Downton Lubbock Inc., a group of businessmen committted to promoting the central business district. He now works for Caprock Business Forms.

Chappell was one of many caught flatfooted by Robbins' withdrawal from the 75-A race. He had just finished reading a strident anti-Robbins campaign statement when found out the news.

The incumbent has "demonstrated a marked lack of response as well as a lack of depth" in representing the district, said the attorney who added he had been 'gearing up" for the campaign for the

Of Alleged Abuse One of the officers, a three-year veteran of the department, and a newly-commissioned rookie were en route to talk with the reported victim of an assault when they passed the man they later arrested. They claim the man, who was carrying a large stick resembling an axe handle, shouted an obscenity, but said they continued to the complainant's

> When the two officers got to the residence they were given the description of a man who had threatened the complainant with a stick. After going back down the street, they caught up with the suspect they had seen and told him to stop walking. As the rookie approached the man on foot, the suspect tried to hit him with the stick, which resembled an ax

The two officers tried to subdue him as he continued to struggle violently and shout a stream of obscenities. Police also noted the man was "bleeding previously from a small cut on the right wrist."

After the third officer arrived, the suspect was handcuffed with "necessary force." The officers' report states, "At no time during struggle was the victim struck by officers, but held to restrain

When they arrived at the jail's booking room, the prisoner was placed on the floor because he was "still violent." As two of the officers tried to help the man get up, he kicked one of them in the leg, and "fell and hit his nose against the

The report said further that the jailer told the officers the prisoner would have to be checked at a hospital before he could be booked, and that one of the policemen called an ambulance. The bleeding man reportedly refused treatment at Methodist Hospital after removing himself from stretcher restraints several Police reports also indicated the prisoner was bleeding on the way to the jail, and the rear seat of the patrol car was stained with blood.

Jailers' reports differ somewhat from police accounts.

According to a booking officer, he heard loud noises and a commotion from the jail's lobby. When he entered the area, he saw the policemen dragging the prisoner on his stomach by handcuffs which were fastened behind his back.

The report states that one of the officers knelt next to the prisoner and grabbed him by the hair and smashed (his) face into the floor."

Because the man was bleeding from the ear, nose and mouth, the jailer told the policemen the suspect would not be accepted until he was examined. Following a discussion among themselves, the officers "dragged (him) into the public booking hall and slung him into the bars," according to the county report. The report indicated the prisoner lost a tooth at that time and then was dragged out of public view.

Another jailer who was called to the area said that as the prisoner tried to stand he was kicked in the ribs by police. According to another jailer's report, after the officers dragged the prisoner through the electronically operated doors outside the booking area, they refused to leave their weapons outside, as is the jail's policy. The report notes the weapons were not brought out until after the officers had taken the prisoner inside the booking room. The jailers said they repeatedly explained to the policemen why they 'could not and would not' accept the prisoner without a medical examination.

The county employees maintain there was considerable "velling and name calling" on the part of the officers as they awaited the ambulance.

Polanski Told Of Sentence Before Scheduled Session

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Before he fled to Europe, Roman Polanski knew he would go to prison and face deportation if he remained in the United States for sentencing in a sex case, the judge in the case disclosed Monday. Superior Court Judge Laurence J. Rittenband said he had revealed in advance to Polanski's lawyer his plans to deal harshly with the Polish-born director of such films as "Knife In The Water" and 'Rosemary's Baby." The judge said it could be assumed that the lawyer relayed the word to Polanski.

Polanski, 44, fled the country last Tuesday to avoid sentencang on a charge of unlawful sexual intercourse with a 13year-old schoolgirl he had recruited as a photo model. He pleaded guilty last Au-

Polanski, a French citizen, has been reported to be in Paris. The district attorney's office said Monday it had begun efforts to extradite him, but had little hope of success.

"What I wanted was to get him out of the country," Rittenband said in a telephone interview from his chambers in Santa Monica. "He doesn't belong here."

Rittenband said that although his decision "wasn't definite," he had discussed with attorneys a plan to sentence Polanski to 48 days in prison, to be followed by Polanski's voluntary deportation.

If he had not agreed to voluntary deportation, Rittenband said, Polanski would have been ordered to remain in prison for a longer term. Polanski could have been subject to forced deportation had he been sentenced to a year or more in prison. But any effort to force deportation could have led to a long legal fight.

If Polanski had agreed to the 48-day sentence, it would have meant a total 90 days incarceration. He had already spent 42 days behind bars for psychiatric diagnosis, having been released early from a 90-day examination period.

"I intended that he at least serve a full 90 days in state prison," the judge said. Then, if he agreed to be deported, he would be released. In that case, he could not come back here, because he was guilty of a crime of moral turpitude. That would satisfy us."

Rittenband has acknowledged that he often tells attorneys in advance of the sentence he plans to impose on their Rittenband conceded on Monday that it could be assumed Polanski fled because he was told of the planned sentence by his lawyer, Douglas Dalton. Dalton was not available for comment.

The judge has given Dalton until Feb. 14 to coax Polanski back for sentencing. If Polanski does not appear, he could be sentenced in absentia. Rittenband said he would hold the sentencing earlier if he is informed by Dalton that "Polanski is adamant about not returning

Reactions Mixed On Fuel Pricing Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite indirect White House endorsement, a new proposal aimed at breaking a Senate natural gas pricing deadlock drew mixed reactions Monday from deeply divided Senate energy conferees.

CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF

Both liberals and conservatives on the panel indicated they needed more time to study the measure, although there was general agreement that if the impasse was to be broken, it would happen this

The administration, although still remaining officially neutral on the proposal by Sen. Henry M. Jackson for phased natural gas deregulation, was quietly seeking support of consumer groups for the effort, it was learned

The proposal would lift price controls by 1985 on gas from new underground and offshore reservoirs, but would give either the president or Congress the opportunity to reimpose them for a single two-year period.

One administration source said there is a good chance the president may publicly announce support for the measure within the next few days.

Top administration energy aides met privately with a number of leading consumer lobbyists at the White House on Saturday to see if the proposal could win their support.

One participant said it was clear the White House intends to support the proposal and is in the process of "jiggling its igures" to show that the Jackson proposal would cost consumers less than other possible compromises.

Another who attended that session, James Flug of Energy Action, said he was concerned that there might be an effort "to steamroller" the Jackson proposal through Congress without adequate study of its cost to consumers.

"We suggested (to the administration officials) that there were some serious problems with their calculations," Flug Jackson has said his proposal would cost consumers $9.2 billion more through 1985 than the House-passed administration plan for continued price controls. Flug claimed that the Jackson proposal, although less expensive than the broad deregulation bill approved last October by the Senate, could cost the average family who heats with gas "between $500 and $1,000 more" through 1985 than the House-passed bill.

Meanwhile Jackson, the chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said he still could not predict whether the measure could muster enough support to end the impasse.

"We'll just have to wait and see," said Jackson, D-Wash.

Jackson has said that if the proposal or something closely resembling it does not win acceptance by this week. then there is a good chance Congress will have to abandon efforts to deal with natural gas pricing this year.

Jackson said he plans to call a meeting of all 17 Senate energy conferees on Tuesday to see if the proposal will fly.

None of the nine senators on the panel who have previously supported a more sweeping form of deregulation indicated a willingness to support the Jackson compromise" as written. However, Sens. Bennett Johnston, D-La., and Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo., spokemen for this group, indicated they might support it with some modifications. And Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker told reporters that "there is movement .- . - . an improved chance of getting a bill. I would not be surprised to see a break before long.

Court Fines Trio Of Eagle Hunters

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Three men were fined a total of $6,000 Monday for their conviction of federal charges they conspired to kill protected golden eagles from a helicopter over the rugged hill country of Real County in Southwest

But U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. declined to order jail terms for any of the trio. He said the case was the most controversial he has heard in eight years on the federal bench.

Former federal predator trapper Andrew Allen, 31, was fined $2,000 and sentenced to one year on probation.

Norman M. Pape, a ranch foreman in Real County, was fined $3,000.

Lanny Leinweber, a Real County commissioner and rancher, was fined $1,000. All three men were convicted of conspiring to hunt golden eagles, which many ranchers claim are predators that kill their livestock.

Additionally, Allen and Pape were convicted of illegal airborne hunting and of killing eagles.

The maximum penalty was one year in prison and a $5,000 fine on each count. Wood, in an unusual speech from the bench to the defendants and their lawyers, said he had received "a mountain of presentence mail, reports, petitions, newspaper articles and other material, amost all of which contend that eagles are predators and destroy livestock and should be exterminated as mortal enemies of the area ranchers."

"I have been impressed and, in fact, convinced by the very able investigation and reporting of the West Texas area news media that the law in its present form is probably one that needs Congressional attention....," the judge stated.

Wood also implied the defendants would have had a better defense in their trial had they claimed self defense, or self-preservation of property.

Allen, Pape and Leinweber all swore on the witness stand they did not kill any eagles, but Wood said the jury's verdict against them was "supported by the evidence" and the issue of self defense was never raised.

Prior to his sentencing, Pape told the court: "I just don't see how a sentence can be imposed on people out in the country who are trying to raise food to feed starving people and are having to fight predators that are trying to kill that food. There are little kids starving and we have laws protecting the predators that are eating the food they need."

OH, THOSE EYES!

The heaviest of all the invertebrate animals is the Atlantic giant squid, "Architeuthis Princeps." The largest specimen ever recorded measured 55 feet overall (head and body 20 feet, tentacles 35 feet) captured on November 2, 1878 after it had run aground the Tickle Bay, Newfoundland. Its eyes were 9 inches in diameter.

I was sitting chatting with Barbie Squicciarini while she was setting her hair with heated electric rollers recently.

Just before putting the curler in her hair, she dipped it in some water she had drawn in the sink, shook it about three times and then put it in.

Now I have used electric curlers ever since they came out and have never seen this. (I thought I knew it all.)

She said that it just seemed to give her a better set and that it would hold longer. 'I like steam curlers because they are supposed to be less damaging on your hair than dry heat, but they don't seem to give as tight a set as the dry rollers for

I tried this the very next time I set my hair, and, maybe it was psychological, but I like it far better.

Now I don't mean soak the curler because all you will have is damp, limp hair. Just dip it in the water and give a shake or two.

Give it a try and see for yourself. Hugs.

Tune In Tomorrow

By JON-MICHAEL REED

NEW YORK - "The coffee, tea and sympathy syndrome of some soap opera characters is a dreadfully difficult acting assignment," according to Dorothy Fielding. She has portrayed "a human pillow for other people's sorrows," as Sarah Dancy on NBC's "The Doctors." But such characters are on the wane, and Sarah in particular is finally coming into her own storyline after a year or more of being a "person with a total lack of per-

Miss Fielding herself does not lack personality nor a range of experiences that would make lackluster Sarah foam at the mouth with envy. Dorothy was born in Orem, Utah, "into a small family by Mormon standards," Dorothy declares. "I Tune in tomorrow to see how Sarah's was an outsider as a youth: terribly awkward and shy, an unshine person, and not group-oriented as most Mormons are Fun was restricted if not totally forbidden, or at least things I thought of as fun. I had nothing to contribute to the community. I rebelled by drinking and smoking and, worst of all, dyeing my hair blonde.

The Fieldings moved to Connecticut when Dorothy was 15 and her father became a history teacher at Wesleyan. She attended Barnard, but "dropped out after 10 minutes." She worked as a clerktypist for a New York book publisher and somehow got into the social whirl of literary personalities. I was gaga over all the glamor, but I still felt like a knock-kneed imbecile among that crowd." Dorothy joined a top advertising company and moved from the switchboard into a $15,000-a-year job as a copywriter. 'That was big bucks in those days. I still felt rootless and was a wanderer in search of something. Like everyone else in those years, I wandered right into the drug and pill scene," she says with a shudder.

She also wandered to Europe and then to India, via cattle-car trains and camel caravans. India provided her with a profound awareness that somehow brought me full-circle back to a religious experience."

She joined a Tibetan Buddhist monastery in Nepal for six months, "meditating like mad - to the point where I didn't notice the nits crawling through my hair and over my body. DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you please tell me the difference between angina pectoris pain and a stomach problem? My doctor told me to take stomach medicine, and if the pain disappears that's the problem. If not, I am to take Nitrostat. What is that? These answers don't satisfy me. -- Mrs. E.C.

The symptoms may be similar. Sometimes relief with certain medicines is one of the clues to the cause, but there are other, better ways. A detailed history of the type of pain, its location, when it occurs-after activity, meals-and

For angina, a stress electorcardiogram (after exercise) should give telltale changes. For a stomach problem, an Xray might show hiatal hernia, ulcer, or gall-bladder disease. Antacids, which may be what you mean by "stomach medicine," may also relieve angina pain. On the other hand, Nitrostat (a form of nitroglycerine) can relieve stomach distress along with the heart pain of angina.

A thorough health history and physical examination are more in order to pinpoint the pain source. If the simple antacid approach shows no improvement, that is very likely what your doctor will insist upon.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been bothered with an intestinal ailment for two months. I have diarrhea. I had a checkup including blood tests and x-rays of the colon. The tests were negative.

I was told to avoid coffee, tea, colas, and to eat fruit, but to avoid vegetables. I didn't get any detailed diet, but was told to drink milk. Do you have any other diet suggestions? I would like your booklet on colitis. -Mrs. S.B.

There are too many causes of diarrhea for me to be specific in my answer. Too many possibilities -- the effects of a bacteria or virus infection, an emotional episode ("nervous bowel"), or some other interference with proper digestion of foods. Perhaps an allergy. Whatever the cause, an appropriate diet can help get you over the problem. For some reason your digestive system is not up to par. Food is not being assimulated and is entering the colon (large bowel) in an abnormal manner (your diarrhea). The xrays show no structural abnormalities (as narrowing or obstruction) and the blood tests show no signs of infection. This narrows causes down to nerves or to the after effects of an infection in the past.

If an allergy is involved, milk would be a prime suspect, so avoiding that is worth a try. My booklet on colitis discusses diet in more depth and has a section of diet suggestions. You might study this. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, selfaddressed envelope to me. Beware of dehydration during this time. Get fluids.

How to Win At The Losing Game

THE DIET CENTER WAY PERHAPS THE MOST unusual aspect of the Diet Center's approach to attacking extra pounds is that "every single peron who comes through our doors is reated as an individual." Since its inception in 1970, Diet Cen-hey have a friend — who understands. The Diet Center program is based on ur phases of dieting from preparing lose weight to maintaining ideal weight once its attained. All phases in clude the private counseling sessions.

Another important reason for the suc cess of Diet Center, now incorporated with centers in the U.S. and Canada is the quick results of the Program! While other reducing plans may set ine or two pounds as average weekly loses, Diet Center averages three and one half pounds per week. A conservative estimate of weight loss is between 18 and 30 lb. No crash starvation techniques are utilized nor are drugs or shots used to achieve the losses.

printed a poem sent by a fan (author unknown) about lies. I remarked when I ran it that I remembered the poem from my high school days - it made a big impact on me, but I had the feeling the reader who sent it had left off four or six lines. I then asked if anyone in my reading audience could supply the missing links. Well, Irma Henry of Stark City, Mo., did just that. I was almost right. Eight lines were missing. Here's the poem in its entirety I believe it's worth repeating. In fact, it's worth framing. First somebody told it, Then the room wouldn't hold it, So the busy tongues rolled it Till they got it outside; Then the crowd came across it, And never once lost it, But tossed it and tossed it, Till it grew long and wide. This lie brought forth others. Evil sisters and brothers, And fathers and mothers. A terrible crew. As headlong they hurried, The people they flurried And troubled and worried As lies always do So, evil-boded, This monstrous lie goaded, Till at last it exploded,

In sin and shame.

But from mud and from mire

The pieces flew higher,

Till they hit the sad liar,

And killed his good name.

Today's slam is easy to bid when you see all the cards. It is almost impossible to bid at the table. The writer, who used it as an example, explained the bidding by pointing out that North's jump to three spades was highly invitational, but

South's four-club bid was a slam try below game. North's four-heart call showed the ace of hearts and denied the ace of diamonds, so South signed off at four more would have quit in real life. He he went past game with a five-diamond bid. As the writer pointed out, North was showing second round diamond control.

At this point in time, North who had bid his full values and maybe a trifle

This overbid was enough for South. He bid six spades.

South won the first trick with the ace of clubs and would have claimed six, if trumps had broken 2-1. As it was, he had to draw three rounds of trumps. That meant that he could only ruff one diamond, but South was able to cope with that. He cashed the king of clubs, led to dummy's ace of hearts, discarded the four of clubs on the kings of hearts, led the 10 of clubs from dummy. If East doesn't cover, South discards his last dia-mond with dummy's last trump and is home with six.

I had gotten to the point where I didn't care and didn't want to see anyone. I was so nervous and nagged my family all the time. Then my hairdresser told me about Pat Walker's.

I'm glad I decided to go for my health's sake, too. Now my family is so proud of me.

In a few months I have lost from 151 % lbs. to 131 ½ lbs. and most important I lost 39 ¾ inches. Before I was wearing a size 14 and now 6's and 8's. My health is so much better and I look on life in an altogether different light. I am 63 years old and now have so much energy for everything.

I drive 165 miles to take my treatments and it has been money well spent.

The Counselors are so nice and ready to help you. All you have to do is relax. When I'm so tired from my work at home and think I can't take another step I go down to Pat Walker's and take my treatment and walk out feeling like a new wom-

ctor To Make Brief Return To TV Production

The show being "The Waltons," you can bet that it will all turn out well in the end.

Richard Thomas was filming his return to the series in the daytime while appearing

"It's a strong play," said the 26-year-old actor. "We've had the paramedics at the theater three times to take care of people who have collapsed. One night I broke my

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - "It's nice to be back, and yet it's nice not to be back," said Richard Thomas of his return to "The Waltons." "Do you know what I mean?"

Not exactly. So he explained: "It's great to be back among my old friends, who are almost literally part of my family. But I also enjoy knowing that I won't have to stay."

During this sixth season of the popular Lorimar-CBS series, Thomas has returned for one two-hour show and another hour show. Throughout the season, the family has explained that John-boy has been off in New York City working for the Associated Press. Now he returns.

"The time is 1939-1940, and most of the country is emerging from the Depression," the actor explained. "An exception, of course, is Appalachia, and the AP sends me back to my old country to find out why.

"I discover that prosperity is obviously not around the corner, and I try to help the people find work by reopening a mine in a neighboring town. It had been shut down years before because of lack of funds. The men go to work without adequate safety precautions, and there is an accident.

"Now the men are trapped inside the mine, and the women are on the outside. I am caught in the middle, because it was my idea.'

"Streamers" and another local play last spring, "Merton of the Movies," have been the only professional work for Thomas since departing from the seris. He and his wife and year-old son, Richard wthomas V, spent the summer in New York with his parents. Thomas also completed his second book of poems.

Some actors might fret about such inactivity. Not Thomas.

"Some actors don't know what they can do, and when they leave a series, they panic.

"I'm a great believer in letting time do its thing. If producers see me only in terms of one role, then I can wait. There are many things I can do. Do you realize that Im coming up to my 20th year as an actor this summer? I started in summer stock when I was six, at seven I was on Broadway in 'Sunrise at Campobello.'

Volkswagen Goes Nautical

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A runaway Volkswagen was back on dry land Monday after floating 15 miles down the rainswollen Los Angeles River.

The car's voyage began after it was reported stolen early Sunday. Police said the Volkswagen apparently crashed into another car while still being driven by the thief but shortly afterward was spotted in the riverbed near Elysian Park with its headlights on and windshield wipers going. Before a tow truck arrived, a gush of water hit the car, unwedging it from the debris it was stuck in and sending it downstream.

Finally a fire truck attached a cable to the car as it floated by, and the "water bug" was hauled ashore. One police officer fell into the river during the recovery operation, officials

Township Needs Fire Trucks

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - Residents of Prairie Township think they've got a pretty nifty new fire station for a community their size. Now they'd like to have a fire truck to

But perhaps it's just as well there's no equipment available, for the building has no floor, no lights, no plumbing, according to Fred Farmer, a member of the board of the Wyandotte County township, population 976.

Board members voted in 1976 to use federal revenue-sharing funds to start their own fire department, since residents were being served by departments some distance away. Since those departments were required to protect their own communities first, residents of Prairie township were sometimes without fire protection.

Township fathers said they purchased land for the firehouse first because of rising land costs. And they built the building because "you can't put a pumper truck in an unheated garage or barn."

Officials hope the area's financial plight will ease soon so they can finish the station and get a truck.

Winner Gets Shopping Spree

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - "If it costs a lot, I want it," said Wright State University student Steven Bissett after he completed a three-minute shopping spree in the college books-

Bissett, 19. of Kettering, collected $875.40 worth of goods by winning first prize in a contest sponsored by a felt tip pen company. The most expensive item he collected was a $188.50 diagnostic kit used by medical students. The least expensive, an afterthought, he said, was a $1.95 paperback book. A crowd of students and university administrators cheered as Bissett, an education major, raced through the store and collected medical and art books, a calculator and some medical supplies. "I got most of what I wanted," he said. "I plan to keep @

most of it. The medical stuff's for my fiancee, who's in medical school, but the other stuff I might sell.

Bissett, who was selected last week from among 17,000 en trants, could keep all he carried in his hands and arms, but was allowed to take only one item of a kind.

Israeli Documents Stolen

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The deputy commander of the Israeli Defense Force was robbed of a briefcase and its contents were found later scattered in a parking lot, police said Monday.

Gen Yekoutiee Adam, 50, said he left the black-briefcase in a downtown restaurant booth Sunday afternoon. It was gone when he returned.

During his absence, police said a tall, thin man in a black raincoat picked up the briefcase and left with it.

Early Monday, Israeli state documents were found scattered over the Community Concourse parking lot a block away from the restaurant, police said, and the briefcase was discovered nearby.

Adam told police that besides the documents, the briefcase had $2,300 in cash, his passport, a miniature calculator and airline tickets.

Neither police nor Israeli government spokesmen in Washington would say if any of the documents was missing.

Carol Burnett Quits Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Carol Burnett, whose weekly comedy series is the longest-running prime-time show currently on television, is calling it quits after 11 seasons, her husband, producer Joe Hamilton, said Monday. He said Miss. Burnett will continue to do specials for CBS.

Modern Children's Books Turning From Make-Believe To New Realism

CHICAGO (AP) - Children's books are turning from happily-ever-after endings to death, divorce, and the strife of everyday relationships, supposedly mirroring the reality of a child's world. "People have tended to feel that children exist in a play world," said Diane Farrell, chairman of the 1977 Newberry-Caldecott Committee of the American Library Association. But adults increasingly "have come to the realization that children need to be dealt with honestly, that their intelligence needs to be respected.

Farrell, children's services librarian for the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System, headed a 23-member committee that screened 2,000 children's books published in the United States in 1977 and presented the coveted Newbers ry and Caldecott Medals at an American Library Association convention in Janu-

Modern children's books portray their young characters relating to real, fully developed adults in realistic, day-to-day situations instead of frolicking in an unreal world from which adults disappear

Authors of fiction and nonfiction children's books are looking realistically at death, child abuse, broken homes, single parenthood, divorce, alcoholism and irresponsibility among adults, she said:

That correlates with the dreadful statistics. ... Fiction mirrors what is happening in society," Farrell said.

The books that are successful are honest and depict their characters and their situations honestly," she said. "People think of children's books as having happy endings, but many have honest and open endings. Often it wouldn't be a fitting conclusion to have the book end 'happily ever after.

Among 80 finalists for the coveted 1977 Newberry Medal were eight books that dealt with death, not as something unpleasant but as a natural phenomenon, she said.

Farrell cited the Newberry Medal winner, Katherine Paterson's "Bridge to Terabithia," as an example. The book is the story of a boy defeated in a foot race by a new girl in his school. He subsequently forms a fast friendship with the girl, then must come to grips with her death after she opens to him a new world of imagination.

The elfin blonde cutie had an opportunity to find out when she agreed to star in the TV movie, "The Great Wallendas," a dramatization (Feb. 12 NBC) of the famed wire-walking family, best known for their horrendous falls.

HAND NAILS

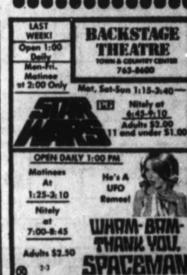

Until a Frenchman invented a wire nail-making machine in 1834, all nails were made by hand. These cut nails, fashioned from strips of iron, were so valuable old barns and houses were once burned down to salvage them from the ashes. Nails are still sold in pennyweight sizes. For instance, a three-inch nail was called a 10 penny because that's what it cost for 100 of them.

Richard Thomas of his return to "The Waltons." "Do you know what I mean?" Not exactly. So he explained: "It's great to be back among my old friends, who are almost literally part of my family. But I also enjoy knowing that I won't have to stay." During this sixth season of the popular Lorimar-CBS series, Thomas has returned for one two-hour show and another hour show. Throughout the season, the family has explained that John-boy has been off in New York City working for the Associated Press. Now he returns

"The time is 1939-1940, and most of the country is emerging from the Depression," the actor explained. "An exception, of course, is Appalachia, and the AP sends me back to my old country to find out why.

"I discover that prosperity is obviously not around the corner, and I try to help the people find work by reopening a mine in a neighboring town. It had been shut down years before because of lack of funds. The men go to work without adequate safety precautions, and there is an accident.

'Now the men are trapped inside the mine, and the women are on the outside. I am caught in the middle, because it was my idea.

The other Thomas segment concerns John-boy's bringing home a fiancee from New York - "and that should be fun.

Richard Thomas was filming his return to the series in the daytime while appearing nightly in something far different - the play "Streamers" at the Westwood Play-

"It's a strong play," said the 26-year-old actor. "We've had the paramedics at the theater three times to take care of people who have collapsed. One night I broke my toe onstage and after the performance I went across the street to the UCLA Medical Center. A man who had a seizure in the theater was also being treated there. He apologized for disturbing the performance and wanted to know what happened in the rest of the play."

"Streamers" and another local play last spring, "Merton of the Movies," have been the only professional work for Thomas since departing from the seris. He and his wife and year-old son, Richard wthomas V, spent the summer in New York with his parents. Thomas also completed his second book of poems.

Some actors might fret about such inactivity. Not Thomas.

'Some actors don't know what they can do, and when they leave a series, they panic. "I'm a great believer in letting time do its thing. If producers see me only in terms of one role, then I can wait. There are many things I can do. Do you realize that Im coming up to my 20th year as an actor this summer? I started in summer stock when I was six, at seven I was on Broadway in 'Sunrise at Campobello.'

'None whatsoever. Five years is a long time to spend nine months of the year in one character. How long can you stay fresh in that character? Besides, all the other characters in the show were maturing but John-boy wasn't. He was at the age when he should have gone out into the world. But he was still up in his room, writing. Thomas is also waiting for Universal to issue his starring film, "September 30,

"Universal doesn't know what to do with it" said the actor. "It's a different kind of story -how the death of a media hero (James Dean) affects a small town. I think it will find an audience. I hope so. It's an important film for me.

Volkswagen Goes Nautical Seniors Learn Self-Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A runaway Volkswagen was back on dry land Monday after floating 15 miles down the rainswollen Los Angeles River.

The car's voyage began after it was reported stolen early Sunday. Police said the Volkswagen apparently crashed into another car while still being driven by the thief but shortly afterward was spotted in the riverbed near Elysian Park with its headlights on and windshield wipers going. Before a tow truck arrived, a gush of water hit the car, unwedging it from the debris it was stuck in and sending it downstream.

Finally a fire truck attached a cable to the car as it floated by, and the "water bug" was hauled ashore. One police officer fell into the river during the recovery operation, officials

Township Needs Fire Trucks

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - Residents of Prairie Township think they've got a pretty nifty new fire station for a community their size. Now they'd like to have a fire truck to go with it.

But perhaps it's just as well there's no equipment available, for the building has no floor, no lights, no plumbing, according to Fred Farmer, a member of the board of the Wyandotte County township, population 976.

Board members voted in 1976 to use federal revenue-sharing funds to start their own fire department, since residents were being served by departments some distance away. Since those departments were required to protect their own communities first, residents of Prairie township were sometimes without fire protection.

Township fathers said they purchased land for the firehouse first because of rising land costs. And they built the building because "you can't put a pumper truck in an unheated garage or barn."

Officials hope the area's financial plight will ease soon so they can finish the station and get a truck.

"People have tended to feel that children exist in a play world," said Diane Farrell, chairman of the 1977 Newberry-Caldecott Committee of the American Library Association. But adults increasingly "have come to the realization that children need to be dealt with honestly. that their intelligence needs to be respected.

Farrell, children's services librarian for the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System, headed a 23-member committee that screened 2,000 children's books published in the United States in 1977 and presented the coveted Newberry and Caldecott Medals at an American Library Association convention in Janu-

Modern children's books portray their young characters relating to real, fully developed adults in realistic, day-to-day situations instead of frolicking in an unreal world from which adults disappear

after Chapter One, Farrell said. Authors of fiction and nonfiction children's books are looking realistically at death, child abuse, broken homes, single parenthood, divorce, alcoholism and irresponsibility among adults, she said:

'That correlates with the dreadful statistics. ... Fiction mirrors what is happen ing in society," Farrell said.

The books that are successful are honest and depict their characters and their situations honestly," she said. "People think of children's books as having happy endings, but many have honest and open endings. Often it wouldn't be a fitting conclusion to have the book end 'happily ever after.

Among 80 finalists for the coveted 1977 Newberry Medal were eight books that dealt with death, not as something un-pleasant but as a natural phenomenon, she said.

Farrell cited the Newberry Medal win ner, Katherine Paterson's "Bridge to

Former Gymnast To Act In Upcoming TV Movie

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL-Tuesday Morning, February 7, 1978-8-5

Rigby, gymnast-turned-actress, says it's one thing to prance on a four-foot balance beam and another to keep your footing on a circus high wire 50 feet in the air.

The elfin blonde cutie had an opportunity to find out when she agreed to star in the TV movie, "The Great Wallendas," a dramatization (Feb. 12 NBC) of the famed wire-walking family, best known for their horrendous falls.

Cathy, a two-time member of the United States Olympics gymnastic team, cos-tars with Lloyd Bridges (who plays patri-arch Karl Wallenda), Britt Ekland and John Van Dreeland in the biographical film which covers some seven years of the Wallenda family saga.

It was necessary for the entire cast to learn to walk the wire for close-ups of the family's spectacular stunts — and falls. "I play Jana," Cathy said. "She was the one who perched on top of the pyramid of seven people, the Wallenda's most famous high wire act. "On the third or fourth performance of that stunt, the pyramid collapsed and the whole family plunged 50 feet to the ground. It happened in Detroit in 1963. Two of them were killed. We made the picture on location down in Sarasota (Fla.) because that's where the Wallendas make their headquarters and that's where all the equip-"All of us worked with Karl on the wire for a week before we started shooting. It really wasn't as difficult as we were afraid it would be. In two days time all of

"I look at it this way, in gymnastics you know you're going to fall and get hurt. But on the high wire you know you're going to fall and get killed. Or at least paralyzed for life. There's no way anydy could get me up there. "But it doesn't seem to bother the Wal-lendas. They are religious people and sort of fatalistic about falling. I guess they just don't think about it.

These cut nails, fashioned from strips of iron, were so val-uable old barns and houses were once burned down to salvage them from the ashes. Nails are still sold in pennyweight sizes. For instance, a three-inch nall was called a 10 penny because that's what it cost for 100 of them.

The dancing, too, is done exuberantly: Betty Alridge as Mamie, the lusty, obvious tart; Shirley Myles as Mimi, the possessive lover; her husband Thomas Myles as her man, Kid Bunky, who does her wrong (with Mamie, of course); and Norman Mills as Benny Black, the bad man Mimi should stay away from and Kid Bunky shouldn't play cards with.

Mardi Gras plays a big role — it gives the show a setting of pageantry and celebration, and also its name. (In French, Mardi Gras means "Fat Tuesday," the wild day before Lent begins, which just happens to be today).

The plot, if you can concentrate on it, is as obvious as an Italian opera's. Boy meets girl and they find bliss. The Other Woman arrives, then seduction, jealousy

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. We have always read your housing articles and would like you to explain your warning against "owning a home free and clear.

A. I don't warn against owning a home "free and clear." But I do try to get home owners to figure their housing costs realistically - especially when they own their home free and clear. Example: An elderly widow getting by on a tight budget, tells me she doesn't want to move out of her $70,000 (free and clear) home because her "rent" (taxes, heat, water, repairs, etc.) comes to only a few thousand dollars a year. She makes the common mistake of overlooking the fact that her $70,000 equity could bring in anywhere from $4,000 to $6,000 a year if invested elsewhere. In fact, its reasonable to argue that if she didn't own the house but held, in instead $70,000 worth of high grade bonds she could be living "rent"

Again: Young people such as yourselves often tell me that they want to speed up the payment of a reasonablecost home mortgage in order to achieve "free and clear" status. I think that may often be a mistake since wiping out the mortgage earlier than required does NOT enhance their profit on any sale of the house, prevents them from making attractive equity investments and, eliminates a mortgage which might make their home more saleable, if they were so interested.

A "free and clear" home does NOT necessarily make for cheaper "rent." Wiping out a mortgage could of course, ease the pressure on a modest budget since the monthly payments on a mortgage must include a mortization as well as interest, which means the monthly out-of-pocket costs of servicing a mortgage will most likely exceed the income derived from any funds retained and invested elsewhere. (Example: A $20,000 15-year 8½ percent mortgage requires monthly payments of $196.95. But if that same $20,000 - which could wipe out the mortgage — is retained and invested at 81/2 percent, the monthly income is $145.83.)

Q. May E bonds be held only 10 years beyond first maturity? Or longer?

A. Longer. Many E bonds have already gone beyond several extended maturities and are still earning interest. In fact, every E bond issued since May, 1941 is still "alive" and earning interest. And there may be further extensions. As matters stand now the earliest date any bonds would stop earning interest is 1981.

Q. I'm told that if I reinvested dividends in additional shares of stock last year I will not have to pay a tax on those dividends, come April 15. Right?

Q. We have retired on a fairly comfortable income, including dividends from a large block of an ex-employer's stock acquired over a 30-year period at a fraction of today's market. There is no need to leave an estate. How can we convert this into an annuity? A. If you are considering the purchase of an insurance company annuity you would have to sell the stock, pay the capital gains tax and then apply proceeds to the lump-sum purchase of an annuity.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The Full Moon has all sorts of interesting influences in effect. Be with longtime friends and wind up any pending interests and activities with them. Make as many new and more compatible group social meetings with new allies.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Analyze personal aims and then go after then go after them wisely. Be cooperative with others. Meet with others for amuse-

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study business and personal aims well and then go after them directly and precisely. Contact as many influential persons as you can and gain their advice, support and approval. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put those plans to work that can help you advance appreciably in your career. Get into some avenue that is also promising. Those of new progressive businesses can be helpful also. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Rearranging promises you have made can make them easier to carry out. More thought for a loved one brings excellent results. Take no chances with your good reputation. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Iron out any wrinkles in you dealings with partners so there is smoother sailing ahead. Any civic work you do can bring more benefits your way

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Tackle work ahead of you early and gain proper benefits from it. Work is the panacea for all ailments now. Be more pleasant with co-worker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact good friends early for future get-gethers. Emotions tend to dim your logic. Give ideas time to develop. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get those ideas working that will make your home more a haven of rest and accord. Do some entertaining at home that can prove pleasant SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get the data you need that will make your operations more productive. Listen to suggestions of a good partner and follow

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use a more efficient system where monetary matters are concerned. Make repairs to property that make it more valuable, comfortable AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine new ideas that should be put in operation without delay. Get involved in social affairs that can brng you more PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take time to plan the future more wisely, whether alone or with a trusted adviser. Have a talk with a loved one and come to a better understanding. Be careful in motion.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be able to understand modern systems, since your progeny will want to help others with their problems. Teach early to be courteous and gentle with everyone and not to lose control of temper.

FOOD PRICES

In 1896 William Jennings Bryan said it best, "Burn down your cities and leave our forms, and your cities will spring up again as if by magic, but destroy aur forms and the gress will grow in the streets of every city in the country."

As long as the North American former can supply our food at a price that allows us to speind the greatest part of our income for our cars and TVs greatest part of our in-come for our cars and TVs and recreational items, our high standard of living can continue. But, when our farmers can no longer produce our low-cost food, or when they have no eco-nomic incentive or ability to produce this food — truly, again, "the gress will grow in the streets of every city in the country."

statistics can't tell you how great it feels to have all that head room and leg room. Six footers can sit up straight in front with their hats on. In back, they can sit up straight - hats off! And there's stretch-out room for legs and knees, in the back as well as front. The seating is pure comfort. Full bucket seats in front are standard. They're individually adjustable to suit the short, medium and tall—bless 'em all. As for luxury? Even the basic Horizon starts at an attractive level-and you can upgrade from there to the optional Custom or Premium interior trims. Pure elegance!

Politicians Declare For Upcoming Races

themselves for the political season ahead. However, the full results of the filings for the Democratic and Republican primaries May 6 may not be known for at least two days because mailed filing fees postmarked before 6 p.m. Monday will

The only major development on the final day of filing came with the payment of $1,500 by veteran politician Jerry Sadler to get into a railroad commission race with John Poerner, Hondo, recently appointed to serve until the November election, and Ray Lemmons, former state representative from Houston.

A Republican candidate also got in the commission race Monday - James W. Lacy of Midland.

The winner in the November election will get to serve on the commission until Jan. 1, 1981.

Sadler, 70, of Grapeland lost a hot runoff battle for the commission in 1976 with present commissioner Jon Newton. Sadler led the field of eight candidates in the first primary although he said he spent only $900 for campaign expenses.

He served on the railroad commission prior to World War II then later was elected as a state representative and as land commissioner.

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace had no opponent in either party for re-election to a full six-year term. Another statewide candidate filing

Monday was Donald R. Beagle, 56, Nederland welding shop operator, who says he wants to be Texas governor so he can straighten out the domestic relations courts situation. Beagle, treasurer of Men International, filed as a Democrat.

Other Democratic candidates for governor include Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Attorney General John Hill, former Gov. Preston Smith and Ray Allen Mayo, San Juan author-publisher. Republicans in the race are William Clements, Dallas businessman; Ray Hutchison, Dallas, former state GOP chairman; and Clarence Thompson, Fort Worth dairy worker.

Four other persons filed declarations as independent candidates for governor which means they will have to gather lengthy petitions from voters who did not vote in either the Democratic or Republican primaries.

There was no change in the lineup for the U.S. Senate race, which will pit Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., against either Congressman Bob Krueger, New Braunfels, or Joe Christie, former state insurance board chairman.

Statewide candidates filed with state Democratic and Republican headquart-

The budget deficit for next year has been estimated by the Koch administration at $457 million. The new state aid commitment, coupled with $174 million in budget cuts that Koch says he plans, leaves the city with a projected gap of just $83 million.

"There were no problems. We both realized what was needed," a beaming Koch said as he and Carey ended nearly two hours of meetings in the Governor's offices here. "As far as I am concerned, the state is meeting its responsibilities. The governor was more than helpful. Very forthcoming.

However, neither Koch nor Carey would specify the components of the $200 million in fresh state funds. Carey said that state and city budget officials would continue to examine the new commitment to insure that the funds were handled with good budgetary and accounting

We might have to refashion or restructure the aid flow to meet that $200 million amount," Carey said.

On another matter, Koch said he plans to announce Tuesday the closing down of a city agency with approximately 200 employees. He declined repeatedly to identify that agency.

The remaining $83 million budget gap were to be the subject of meetings scheduled for later Monday between Carey and U.S. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal and a second meeting between Koch and Blumenthal.

Koch said he was counting on the federal government to make up at least some of that gap.

Raiders Start Uphill Climb

By DON HENRY

Executive Sports Editor
DALLAS—"Well, maybe we could have opened up on them a little bit earlier," deadpanned Gerald Myers, as he thought about his last encounter with SMU in relation to the one tonight.

Myers couldn't have waited much longer to salvage the last game, as guard Mike Edwards' jumper from the key was in the air at the buzzer for a 45-43 verdict in Lubbock three weeks ago tonight.

And, now, on the Mustangs' home court, the Raiders start into the most difficult stretch of the season, and Myers knows that it won't be any pleasure jour-

Throw-in will be at 7:30 p.m. Prior to the contest, the Texas Tech women will take on SMU.

With Texas and Arkansas holding a two-game edge over Tech, the Raiders are fighting to hang as high in the standings as possible, with an eye on the postseason tournament. SMU is fighting for the same thing, only in its case, fifth spot in the objective, that spot bringing a coveted home court for the first round

And winning at home in the regular season is almost a must to land a high spot in the standings.

SMU coach Sonny Allen realizes this. "We're 5-5, but in every game, we've been in it and could have won," admitted the SMU coach.

"We're playing pretty good. Arkansas and Texas only beat us by 1 and 2 points. And we're now playing pretty conconsistently. We're getting better guard play (from sophomores Phil Hale and Mark Davis), and we have four people inside that are playing well.
"We just need to win some games."

And since the Raiders have beaten SMU seven straight times—the last six by 6 points or less-there could be a factor of revenge.

"The entire league is so even, that probably 80 percent of the games are decided in the last minute."

And, with better play on the part of the Mustangs, Myers realizes his position, with A&M (on the road), Houston, Texas and Arkansas (on the road) ahead.

"SMU has settled on a lineup now, and See RAIDERS Page 2

But—and that's a big one—he has to get by Blaine Builderback during the regional Golden Gloves tournament which opens at the Civic Center tonight at 7.

Then, next time downcourt on offense,

Baxter found himself outside, about 18 feet from the goal. No one came out to challenge him, so the 6-9 junior jumped and fired. Some fans might have flinched, but this time, there was no rebound, as the shot slipped the cords. The shots were falling better for Baxter

Saturday night (six of ten from the field); fact is, the shots are falling better in this part of the season for him. This is helping both Baxter and his coach to relax a bit For Baxter, it just took a while to get into the groove.

MYERS AND HIS aides saw Baxter play in a post-season, junior-college allstar game last spring. He had played at Lon Morris Junior College, averaging 14 points and 11 rebounds and rating all-But, the performance in the all-star game especially impressed the Raider coaches, who also had seen him play as a schoolboy at Richardson Pearce. So, they made a run at him and signed the 6-9er. Center was a position which Myers needed to fill. He had lost Rick Bullock a year earlier, and Mike Russell filled it last year, even though his natural spot was at forward. Baxter, the Raider coaches felt, might just be the man to allow Russell to play more on the wings.

And despite starting from the opening whistle, Baxter had a tendency to be tight; even around the goal, his shots lacked a soft touch. Playing time, and the confidence Myers showed in him, helped.

"Playing time is nine-tenths of it," the junior said Monday. "It's a transition period, from junior college to a major school. I don't think it's as big a change as coming out of high school. But, it is a transition-mainly off the court. . . grades, school, the whole bit.

"You're affected by everything. But, now, everything's straight. And Coach Myers has shown a lot of confidence in me. He always told me to take an open shot if I had it."

standing close to their work, they need to be near to the goal, for both rebounding and shooting. The rest of the floor is for the smaller guys to operate

But, at times, Baxter will drift farther out, which is okay. "Right around the free throw line is a good percentage shot," observed Baxter.

Naber Named Sullivan Winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Olympic swimming champion John Naber, an ambassador of goodwill for non-professional athletics, was named Monday as winner of the James E. Sullivan Award as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete.

Naber, 22, won four Olympic gold medals and one silver at Montreal in 1976 but won his 1977 award off his victories for the University of Southern California where he returned for his senior year despite big money offers to turn profession-

"It was a great shock for me to win because my amateur career was over in late the gregarious 6-foot-6-inch swimming star said.

He had been runner-up to decathlon champion Bruce Jenner a year ago and Naber admitted, "Bruce deserved it, but I was so disappointed, I actually pouted a couple of days.

Naber, a backstroke record holder, has been the high-point man in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships the past four years and won a record 10 NCAA individual titles.

Naber won the Sullivan trophy with 2,-500 points, compared with 1,343 for the runner-up, Edwin Moses, a hurdler from Morehouse College, and 626 for diver Cynthia McIngvale of Dallas. Naber said there was no doubt he would return for his senior year at Southern Cal, explaining. "I made the decision halfway through my freshman year that I would finish there, and I do not regret coming back for my final semester."

Naber thanked his parents, Southern Cal coach Peter Daland and his Christianity for making the Sullivan Award pos-

"This is the most meaningful award I've ever been voted," he said. "My most thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Naber.

"Mom got up at 5 a.m. to see that I had hot food before going to practice and Dad had a knowledgeable insight into what makes a championship swimmer," said Naber, who now is a marketing representative at Disneyland, pursuing the public relations career he envisioned even as a champion swimmer.

Both his mother, Joan, and his father, Phillip, were on hand for the presentation ceremony and the latter said, "Neither of us are swimmers. We can stay afloat but we don't go forward.

The winner said, "There was no way my parents could envision their son as an Olympic gold medalist or winner of this Sullivan Award. Swimming in the United States is a sport, not a career as in some other countries.

At the 1977 NCAA championships, Nabor won both the 100-and 200-yard backstroke events in American record time. He also captured both events in the AAU short course nationals in April.

Then he lowered his American records for the 100-and 200-meter backstroke eyents when his collegiate team toured the way they're playing, it's hard for us to match up with them. They always play well in Dallas, too."

The lineup which Allen has been using for the past two weeks has 6-10 T.J. Robinson and 6-7 Jeff Swanson at forewards, and 6-6 Reggie Franklin at the post. Hale and Davis work outside, Davis handling the point-guard duties.

This is a change from the game in Lubbock, where 6-7 Joe Swedlund was opening at forward in place of Robinson. Even now, however, Allen rotates the four on an equal-time basis, and even as a reserve, Swedlund is hitting 10.6 points a game and scoring on 57 percent of his shots.

"That lineup makes it harder for us," says Myers. "When we put (6-7) Mike Russell on Franklin, that forces us to use (6-9) Joe Baxter on T.J., and (6-5) Kent

Williams on Swanson. Russell got 23 points in Saturday night's game against Baylor, to continue to lead the team in scoring. Swanson is SMU's top man with a 12.8-point average, followed by Robinson with 11 per game and Franklin with 12.7.

"It's uphill for us the rest of the way," commented Myers. "It's tough all the way to the tournament. I imagine we could have the toughest schedule in the league the rest of the way.

Two more games will be played in the conference tonight, Houston (7-4) will visit Baylor (3-7), and Texas, tied for the conference lead with Arkansas at 10-1, will play at Rice (2-9).

After 14 Years, Holtz Reaches New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - Lou Holtz is moving at an even faster pace these days than his Arkansas Razorbacks did in sprinting past heavily favored Oklahoma 31-6 in the Orange Bowl.

Holtz covered so much ground over the past weekend that even the original traveling man would have looked like a stay-at-home. Here's his schedule, calculated to drive any travel agent up the wall: Left Fayetteville, Ark., Friday morning. Friday afternoon, Cherry Hill, N.J., just outside Philadelphia. Friday night. Columbus, Ohio. Saturday morning, Atlanta. Saturday afternoon, Boston. Saturday night, New Sunday morning, Atlanta, again. Sunday afternoon, back home to Fayetteville to catch up on some urgent recruiting.

Monday afternoon, New Orleans. Monday night, Dover, Del. Luckily, Holtz has "a friend's jet" at his disposal. Commercial airlines would be hard-pressed to keep up with him. Holtz' schedule brought him to New Haven to accept the Walter Camp Football Foundation's Coach of the Year award for leading Arkansas to an 11-1 record in his first year season as the school's head coach. He hit town shortly before 6 p.m. and was gone by 11. "That's not an unusual pace," he insisted. "It's been that way an awful lot with recruiting, clinics and awards. I'm probably one of those guys who tries to cram too much in, but I feel obligated to do certain things. It's supposed to help your recruiting. I don't mind the traveling. There are only two things you've got to remember to do-keep breathing and wake up every morning. If you do that, everything else will pass.

that convincing rout of Oklahoma did. "There's no comparison," he said. "So many fine atthletes who wouldn't even have talked to us a year ago are seriously considering the University of Arkan-

But all the traveling in the world wouldn't have helped Holtz' recruiting like

Holtz' trip to New Haven, as quick as it was, actually came about 14 years late. In 1964, while an assistant at the University of Connecticut at Storrs, he applied for the head job at Southern Connecticut State here but was turned down. "I was heartbroken," he recalled. "I wanted that job so bad."

Ironically, that Connecticut staff produced three pro head coaches- Holtz, who coached the New York Jets in 1976: Rick Forzano, who went on to the Detroit Lions and Sam Rutigliano, just hired by the Cleveland Browns.

"You know," quipped Holtz, the only non-Italian of the three, "I was the only one who couldn't read sign languague.

South Plains Trips New Mexico 94-89

Avalanche-Journal News Services Kit Carson hit 25 points, and Walley Hutchinson and Tyrone Dixon canned 19 points each to pace South Plains College to a 94-89 Western Junior College Conference win over visiting New Mexico Junior College at Levelland Monday

The Texoma Conference is facing a 3 and 2 count from its Texas members and indications appear the next pitch will be strike three and the end of the ball game as far as the three-year old league is concerned.

Reports from the Mextoplex area Sunday and Monday reveal that Texas Wesleyan and Dallas Baptist have followed the lead of Midwestern State University in officially pulling out of the TAC and have applied pressure on Lubbock Christian College and Wayland Baptist College to do the same.

"Yes, I've been getting those rumors, too," Bob Clindaniel, the Wayland Baptist cage coach who doubles as the TAC president, admitted Monday.

"The chances are that there will be a Texas League formed because of all the confusion that exists over the present Texoma Conference. It's hard for the fans to understand why winning the conference championship is not the major objective. And that's bad."

The Texoma Conference was originally formed to allow church-supported shchools in Texas and Oklahoma to compete with institutions of basically the same size and which had the same financial situation. An exception was made to allow Midwestern to compete. But Oklahoma is in District 9 of the NAIA and Texas is in District 8 and 4, with the TAC members competing in District 8.

Therefore, winning the Texoma championship does not guarantee a team a berth in the national playoffs. Rather, it's how a team fares against teams within its zone of the NAIA that determines Playoff berths. Plus, both Districts have gone to relying on the Dunkel Ratings the past two years to help determine the playoff situation-

"I have mixed emotions about the move," Clindaniel said. "I've always liked the concept of the Texoma Conference, but it's not good that the conference championship doesn't mean anything.

"The big thing that will hurt us is track. We have a good rivalry with Oklahoma Christian and that (no strong track powers in the Texas league) will be something we'll have to consider. But if the other schools withdraw, it will leave us in a very undesirable position if we remain in the TAC.

Clindaniel indicated that he felt the league would be completely restructured. The TIAA (non-scholarship) league will have five members next year (Sul Ross. McMurry, Austin College, Tarleton and Trinity) and the winner will get an automatic spot in the playoffs.

And it's rumored that LeTourneau College of Longview and East Texas Baptist would like to join a conference. Therefore, if that duo teams up with Midwestern. Dallas Baptist. Texas Weslevan and either-or-both LCC and Wayland. that league would have an automatic playoff spot for the wnner.

The two remaining playoff berths would be decided on basis of the Dunkel Ratings, which include all 15 District 8 schools which play basketball.

"The main thing most of the Texas school object to," explained LCC cage mentor Darrell Price, "is having to make two trips to Oklahoma, which is what the 1978-79 schedule calls for. And since we'll be playing home-and-away conference series, that will constitute about 20 games. And we only had 29 scheduled this year, so that really limits our outside play.

"We at LCC felt something needed to be done for scheduling purposes, but cancelling 12 games this late date might cause some difficulties. And it's n;ot fair to the Oklahoma schools to put them in this bind, because they need to be

Midwestern, back last fall, announced its intention of withdrawing from the conference and making a bid to go NCAA Division II. However, many schools across the nation compete in both Division II and the NAIA at the same time. DBC cage coach-athletic director Steve Sherion would only say Monday that his school ws "strongly considering that possibility"; and that "we're not ready However, he did admit "I don't feel like it (the TAC) is helping us as far as the conference should. We don't get anything out of it publicity wise and it doesn't mean anything toward the playoffs, so I don't feel it's helping us that much." TWC cage boss John Howerton said his school hadn't made an official decision, either, but like DBC was seriously considering the move. "I understand DBC was supposed to get a letter off to the conference office early this week informing them of their decision to withdraw," Howerton said. "One of the main reasons we're trying to get a new Texas group formed is that by dropping down to four teams you lose your automatic berth in the playoffs. This is one of the keys to having a conference. Even though everyone is on the Dunkel, you like to haave a conference to be assurred of getting the winner

there (the playoffs). "To my way of thinking the Oklahoma schools will welcome this, too. There's a lot of travel and expense involved and next year you're talking about two and possibly three trips to Oklahoma. We both get games with teams closer to home that the fans know more about and can identify with better.'

Larry Hays, the LCC baseball coach will assume the basketball duties next fall, felt "the Texoma is not really folding, we're just getting into a conference that fits us better. I don't think it would make any difference to baseball, any-

'The only affect it would have would be to give us more time to coach and less time explaining what the Texoma has to do with the playoff procedure.

Sometimes I don't even understand that. "But right now no decisions have been made and can't be made until we have a meeting. So things are only in the talking stages and something in that stage they get blown out of proportions. But I think this is something we're all ready

Since TWC and DBC will make the Lubbock-Plainview swing for games on Feb. 24-25, indications are that Midwestern will join the four schools either here or in Plainview that Saturday for a meeting to map out final plans.

Nolan Named Mentor Of Lowly NO Saints

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Dick Nolan succeeded Hank Stram Monday as coach of the New Orleans Saints- a team that has never had a winning season in its 11 years in the National Football League.

Nolan is the fifth head coach hired by team owner John Mecom Jr. None of Nolan's predecesssors produced better than a 5-9 season

Nolan, who was head coach for the San Francisco Forty Niners for eight years, said he was not afraid of taking a team with a losing tradition.

'At San Francisco, when I came there in 1968, they hadn't won in 25 years," he said. He moved to San Francisco from Dallas, where he was defensive coordinaor. As a head coach at San Francisco, he compiled a 54-53-5 record and won three division championships. However, after back-to-back losing seasons in 1973 and 1974, he was fired.

He moved to the Saints as an assistant last season. Nolan said he had been talking to other NFL teams, hoping to land a he coaching job somewhere, when Stram was fired.

Berg Joins LPGA Hall

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) -The newest member of the PGA Hall of Fame is Patty Berg, winner of more than 100 professional and amateur golf

A native of Minneapolis, Minn., and a longtime resident of Fort Myers, Fla., Miss Berg was inducted to the Hall Sunday. Her achievements and contributions to the game have made her one of the most widely known women golfers. She received this year's honor over four other outstanding candidates.

Mecom said he started with a list of a dozen possible replacements for Stram, talked to five of them, then settled on Nolan- all in 11 days.

Neither Mecorn nor Nolan would discuss the terms of the new contract. Mecom was known to be unhappy with Stram's spending habits, but he said it was failure to produce a winner that led to Stram's firing after two seasons as head coach. "I think I deserve better, and the people of this city deserve better," Mecom said, "That's why I brought this man in." Although Mecom didn't actually say so, he indicated that another reason for his unhappiness with Stram was that Nolan was not made full use of as an assistant. Under Stram, Nolan coached lineback-"Dick Nolan was brought in to coordinate the defense," Mecom said. "As time went on, that did not happen. The input was not there, as was the design when he was brought here. Mecom said he has established no timetable and no win-lose goals for Nolan.

"I did that in 1977," Mecom said. "But for 1978, with the neW system of 16 games, I don't know." The owner said he expected a 10-4 season last year but got, instead, a 3-11 "Everyone thought we were a 10-4

team, and I'm speaking as a fan," said

Nolan said his first priority will be to rebuild the Saints' defense, and that he's hopilng to do so through the college draft.

Area Cage Play Winding Down

It's a good bet that Silverton's boys and Nazareth's girls will be the first to wrap up league championships and those 5-B squads can do that tonight.

But four other district crowns could find a wearer tonight: Sudan's girls in 6-B, Jayton's girls in 12-B, Whitharral's boys in 7-B and Shallowater's girls in 5-A. And, as usually happens at this late date, numerous other teams can inch closer to the throne room.

Silverton and Nazareth compete in a four-team league that goes on a straight schedule. Both teams are 4-0 and wins tonight would given them at least a twogame edge with just one contest remain-

Silverton (19-8) goes gunning for its second straight crown by hosting Valley and defending state champ Nazareth (28-4) travels to Happy

Jayton's girls are ranked No.1 in the area and are 28-1, including 2-0 this round and a road victory over McAdoo would give the Lady Jays the title.

Whitharral is presently 22-4 and a win over Anton, which is also 2-0 this round, would wrap things up.

And in Stanton, the Shallowater fems can clinch things, but the hosts, who were No. 1 in the area before losing to Shallowater in the first round, will be out for revenge. Shallowater is 21-7; Stanton

Elsewhere around the area tonight: District 3-AAAA - Pampa, which shared the firsthalf title with Tascosa and Amarillo, can clinch a tie for the secondhalf crown by besting Palo Duro at

District 5-AAAA - Abilene Cooper (25-4) and Midland (19-10) will attempt to stay on that collision course that collides Friday by facing Big Spring and Odessa tonight. Both Cooper and Midland are 4-0 this round; Abilene won the first round with a 6-0 mark and faces San Angelo tonight, hoping that the second-half leaders

District 1-AAA - A Borger win over Levelland would give the playoff rights to an idle Perryton

District 2-AAA - Ector and Andrews collide for the second-half lead. Both teams are 2-0 this round and first-half champ Monahans, which lost to Ector, is

District 3-AA - Dimmitt's in the drivers seat here, with the boys 2-0 in the second round and the girls first-half champi-

Texoma Conference outing. The Chaps are 3-18 on the year but have won two straight, dealing Eastern New Mexico University's playoff hopes a severe blow with that 54-51 win Saturday

And that led WBC mentor Bob Clindaniel to quip Monday, "We knew it would be tough, but it didn't help any when they beat ENMU . . . now they'll think they can play.

WBC, 9-14, still has an outside shot at the District VIII playoffs. The Pioneers were listed sixth in the lastest Dunkel ratings, but fell 84-75 to No. 4 McMurry Friday night in Abilene.

'We only shot 41 per cent and they shot 57 per cent and got us," Clindaniel said. 'We've been scoring well, but then so have the other teams.

"We haven't seem much of 'Big Mo' this year," Chaparral boss Darrell Price said, "but it stands to reason that we've got some momentum going.

"I just feel like the kids have gained a little confidence. The big thing is in maturity. Our internal situation has settled down the last three weeks and that's playing them one at a time. Wayland's in a desperate situation. They're a wellrounded Club, but but doesn't have any real outstanding individual. They're especially tough at home, even though they don't have much of an inside game.

And Clindaniel confirmed that, "LCC has some rebounding strength and that'll probably give us trouble because we're not strong on the boards and are getting only about 34 rebounds a game.

"Sampy (Lamar, LCC's 6-3 freshman. who is leading the team in scoring and rebounding) will probably give us a lot of trouble. But we've got to win if we want to get into the playoffs, there's no way

Amish Outbid Land Developers

INTERCOURSE, Pa. (AP) - The Amish are digging their calloused hands into the pockets of their plain black trousers for the money to preserve the Old Order culture in Lancaster County.

The Plain People, whose ancestors fled Europe 250 years ago to escape being burned at the stake or tied into sacks and dumped into rivers, are paying record prices to keep their farms from being swallowed up by an encroaching civiliza-

Though some have moved on to less congested areas, others are outbidding developers and land speculators to keep the land.

"They are determined to continue their simple farm life in this part of the country. They have made a decision that they're willing to pay the price to maintain their lifestyle," said Darvin Boyd, farm loan manager at National Central Bank. The Amish had developers scratching their heads at a series of auctions late last year. Long after the builders had dropped out of the bidding, the bearded faces of Amish farmers kept nodding as the prices went up and up. Isaac Huyard paid $510,000 for a 95-acre dairy farm. John L. Stoltzfus and David King shelled out $569,140 for a 114-acre farm. And Eli M. King bid $305,-

000 for a 47-acre tobacco and dairy farm. King's bid amounted to a price of $6,400 an acre, the highest price ever paid for land that will remain a farm in Lancaster County.

"For production to pay for a farm, it's just impossible for those kinds of dollars," said Robert Bucher, farm loan manager at Commonwealth National

"But they might own two or three farms. And a common thing in the past few years is they'll lend money to their own people. They usually don't have any terms on such a loan," he added.

"The Amish are a little more devoted to farming. It's going to take a lifetime to pay for that farm. But they figure if they don't pay for it, the kids will finish it said Carl Brown of the Farm Credit Administration. "I can live to a ripe old age and the Amish will still be here farming. If they aren't, their kids will be. They're going to be here a long, long time," he added. Lancaster County, the oldest and third largest Amish settlement, has about 12,000 Old Order people living here. Nationwide, they are found in 18 states. A splinter group of the Mennonite Reformation, the Amish have worked the rich limestone soil here since William Penn granted them religious freedom in 1727. They live without electricity, cars and modern farm machinery, content to survive in simplicity on the tenets of faith, farm and family.

They educate their children in one-room schools. They hold their Christian church services in private homes. And they get around in horse-drawn buggies on roads crowded with flashy cars and roaring trucks.

But their world collides with a modern one.

and tobacco fields. Gift shops and tourist spots peddling shoo-fly pie and Amish dolls made in Japan surround the plain Amish farms. And a modern amusement park with a roller coaster and other rides sits on the site of a former Amish homestead. Since it's an Amish custom to provide a farm for each son, the Plain People have to struggle to keep their old ways. Jay Irwin, Lancaster County's agricultural agent, said the county had 322,800 acres of land used for field crops. Since 1930, over 113,000 acres has been lost to "That's our biggest problem - to keep our children on the farm. There's just no more room to grow," said Joseph Beiler, an Amish minister and owner of a 64-acre dairy farm. "Some of the families have money to buy farms. They can ask an uncle, or grandfather or brother-in-law for help. The ones who can't, well. Some have gone to work in factories. Others are leaving," he added, sitting in a rocking chair next to a coal stove in his kitchen illuminated by a gas lamp.

Biorhythm Idea Fails

Under Examination

Lancaster County is my home. All the roots are here. Leaving here would be like pulling a plant up by the roots. But I would do that, if that's what it takes, before we give up our faith. I would rather my children leave the county than see them work in a factory," added Beiler, a father of eight.

Deaths Of Five Elderly Women Terrorize City

COLUMBUS, Ga-(NEA)-Police here responded quickly the other day when a woman phoned to say she heard noises outside her home. One patrol car was dispatched to the scene and several others were notified to stand by. In the end the cops found the lady had heard acorns falling on her roof.

Everyone is skittish in this Georgia border town these days. And with good reason. Since September five elderly women have been strangled to death in their homes. Police believe a long psychopath is responsible for the slaughter, People in the apparent target group are jumpiest of all. Mariana Harrison, a woman in her 60s who administers a retired peoples service program, says she and her friends are terrified: "When I go home I check under every bed in the house. I turn on every light and leave them

Other older women have here are going to even greater lengths to protect themselves. Gun shop owners say they have suddenly begun selling weapons to women of all ages. Everything from .22 rifles to Dirty Harry magnums. Says one salesman: "I tell them just to point, shoot and pray for a hit."

Exasperated police say the house checks and aresnal building is understandable, but very likely futile. They reason that the killer is obssessed and therefore may be virtually unstoppable by his victims. There is also the worry women may begin taking potshots at shadows that turn out to be milkmen.

Officers are not discouraging older women from improving their personal security. Police have held a number of workshops to promote such measures as the installations of deadbolt locks on doors. And yet, as one detective reluctantly admits: "If this nut wants to get someone, he will get her."

This melancholy admission is rooted to the strangler's damnably successful record. Since beginning his rampage with the late night rape-murder of 59-year-old Ferne Jackson, a Columbus health educationist, the murderer has dismanted a deadbolt to get to one victim, and removed door hinges to get one other.

Indeed, the killer is beginning to develop a reputation of invincibility. Local-law enforcement has launched one of the largest manhunts in its history, with as many as 60 city and state investigators assigned, but the murderer remains free. Only one suspect has been arrested; he was subsequently cleared and that may be involved. This is the South, they sigh, and they are caught between the rock and the hard place. "If we say we're looking for a black person, it inflames both the liberals and the bigots. But we can't help that; the fact is the killer may be black."

Whatever the color of the perpetrator, he has made reality of the worst fears of older people here. Mariana Harrison says a survey of her social group (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) suggests that crime is its number one concern. "We also worry about finances, but what good is money if you are dead?"

Now that crime has come in its most hideous form, then, many seniors are close to panic. Besides guns, some elderly women are mail ordering MACE (the aerosol self defense chemical.). Canned air horns are also popular. Some women have sent to California for a new anit-rape skunk perfume.

Real estate brokers say that at least a few older women have put their homes on the market and moved. More commonly, people in the target group are taking extended vacations out of the city. Many of those who stay here are now bunking with each other, alternating the use of their homes.

As yet, there is no sign that older people are isolating themselves in thier rooms. Police say that since all the murders have taken place in homes, the streets may be the safest place to be. Even so, officer Jack Wall tells of a woman in a cafe asking if she could sit near him for a few minutes peace. Meanwhile, a total of $17,000 reward has been posted for the killer. Governor

Goerge Busbee has announced formation of a new crime prevention program to aid the elderly in Georgia. And at least one older lady has even closed off her fireplace chimney in a desperate attempt to secure her golden years. City Health Department percent of the county's prenatal care. The maternity clinic, like other services (except dental) mentioned in Brown's report, are provided at no charge to persons receiving the services. Dental clinic charges are dependent on a "sliding scale" based upon patient income and number of dependents.

The immunization clinic at the department recorded 11,348 "visits," accounting for 22,690 shots given during 1977. VD clinic staffers reported 5,928 visits were made to their clinic during the year.

Social Experiment Achieves Success

DARTINGTON, England (UPI) -Though fashionable now, going back to the land was an oddity when Leonard Elmhirst and his American bride bought a semi-derelict estate over half a century

Dartington Hall was the largest medieval house in southwest England, built between 1388 and 1400 by Richard II's halfbrother. The Elmhirsts purchased it in 1925, restored it and used it as the launch pad for their then unique experiment in bringing economic and social vitality back to a depressed countryside.

Today it is the hub of a still-expanding, complex community coverng 4,000 acres and embracing progressive education, the arts, industry, farming and research.

It is administered by a charitable trust established by the Elmhirsts, now dead, who sought to create a working community in which people could find scope for personal development and a sense of fulfillment besides earning a living.

Leonard Elmhirst was the son of a landowning family in Yorkshire who after World War I worked his sea passage to the United States. He studied agriculture at Cornell University, where he met Dorothy Whitney Straight, war widow and daughter of millionaire statesman William C. Whitney, who left her a considerable fortune.

They married in April, 1925, and bought Dartington Hall six months later. In September, 1926, they began what became one of England's leading independent progressive schools.

The Elmhirsts were heavily influenced by the Indian poet and philosopher Rabindranath Tagore, who believed Western city-dwelling man led a fragmented life in which work, education, community and the arts existed in separate worlds.

Tagore unknowingly set some guidelines for space-age urbanites trying to re-cover lost values. He believed the revitalization of decaying traditional communities, which still maintained the vestiges of the old values, was a solution.

During the 1930s Dartington gained an international reputation in agricultural economics and the arts. Painter Mark Tobey, theater director Michael Chekhov, potter Bernard Leach and ballet master Kurt Jooss were among those in resid-

A college of arts was formed after World War II for courses in theater, music, art and design. Teaching is based on the idea that the value of artistic activity is not to be reckoned alone according to some intrinsic value, but mostly on the basis of the benefit derived from it by all sectors of the Dartington community. The college also runs a program of con-certs, plays, films and exhibitions open to the public.

Many of the estate's 810 employees live in houses built and owned by the trust, which also plans to make available to estate tenants a number of smallholdings for intensive agricultural production.

Agriculture and forestry were Leonard Elmhirst's initial main interests. Farming on the estate was scientifically run and combined with research projects. Mechanization, intensive dairy production, soil surveys and artificial insemination of farm animals were pioneered in England at Dartington. A 2,00-acre forest was started.

Restoration work on Dartington Hall was partially responsible for the estate's commercial expansion. The builders formed a contracting company that at one time was the most important in southwest England. Local industries were reestablished - a tweed mill, cidermaking, a sawmill, a joinery works. A glassworks was opened in 1967, followed by a pottery training workshop and a retail crafts center.

Canada, measured at its greatest width, is 5,780 miles in breadth.
