

Lubbock, Area Dig Out In Record Snow, Chill

Mercury Plummets In Wake Of Storm

By KAY BELL and RAYNIE HARDESTY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

LUBBOCK residents awakened Friday to find almost 9 inches of snow piled against their doorways, the heaviest snowfall for the Hub City since March 1969.

And along with the snow, which ended early Friday morning, came a new record low maximum temperature of 22 degrees, shattering the previous record of 33 degrees set in 1968.

The snow storm brought back-breaking labor for many who had to dig their autos out of driveways and then creep to work — if they got there at all. Public schools in Lubbock and several surrounding towns were closed for the day, and Texas Tech students also got a holiday.

In the downtown area, the work force was a bit smaller than usual. In one office building, only three men out of 16 persons on one floor made it to work all day. But in all likelihood, not all tried.

Despite the unusual snowfall, Lubbock International Airport was operational much of the day.

Officially, 8.7 inches of snow was recorded in Lubbock, yielding almost an inch of moisture, but snowdrifts were a foot or more in some places.

So far this month, 10.2 inches of snow has been recorded, making February the eighth snowiest month in Lubbock since 1912.

The heaviest snowfall recorded in one month was 16.8 inches in February 1956, with 14.8 inches falling between Feb. 25 and Feb. 26. The greatest snowfall recorded in 24 hours was 12.1 inches on February 20, 1961.

In the past, Lubbock snowfall averages have been 9.6 inches per year, with February storms accounting for the greatest total with a monthly average of 3 inches. But so far during the winter of 1977-78, 15.9 inches of snow has been recorded.

An early morning low reading of 11 degrees tied the record low for Friday established in 1928. But that record was replaced with a new low of 3 degrees at 9 p.m. Friday. In just an hour, between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m., the temperature dropped 11 degrees, from 18 to 7. By 8 p.m. thermometers had climbed back up to 8 degrees.

About 1 p.m. traffic clogged streets as drivers unaccustomed to heavy snowfall tried to weave their ways to work or home. About 50 cars careened down Parkway Drive, temporarily blocking traffic. At one point an estimated 75 cars were stalled on the road as drivers lost control of vehicles on snow-packed streets.

About 1:30 p.m., city officials were called to the scene to salt the road and then called for a complete blockade of Parkway Drive from Quirt Avenue until the roadway was cleared.

Similar pileups across the city were common Friday, and about 20 motorists found themselves stranded in an East Broadway canyon about 2:15 p.m.

While the icy roads wreaked havoc with drivers across Lubbock, many youngsters — who got an extra holiday when public schools were closed Friday morning — found that the blanket of snow added an extra dimension to their play.

Several Lubbock children tested the frozen lake at 64th Street and Quaker Avenue before police finally got them to return to safer ground. And numerous reports of "dangerous drivers" were called in as cars trailing impromptu skiers were spotted on Lubbock streets.

Lubbock police also received a call to investigate a "prowler" in the backyard of a residence. Police found the prowler's tracks to be unmistakably similar to those made by a dog.

Snowplows worked through the night at Lubbock International Airport to clear runways by morning, and the first flights were able to land by 10:50 a.m.

But an airport spokesman said they had little air traffic because flights originating at Dallas-Fort Worth were snow-bound. No flight problems are anticipated today, the spokesman said.

Elsewhere across the South Plains, Floydada received 11 inches of snowfall, providing that community with an inch of much needed moisture. Abernathy got 10 inches of snow and .75 of an inch of moisture, while Crosbyton received 9 inches of snow and 1.17 inches of precipitation.

Heavy snow also was reported at Muleshoe, where 11 inches fell overnight and into the early morning, yielding 1.1 inches of moisture. Matador received 9 inches of snow and .75 of an inch of moisture. See AREA Page 14

NO ROADS CLOSED, BUT ... — The Clovis Highway near Shallowater looked like this early Friday, with relatively few vehicles on the road — and some off it. Rural byways generally were free of snow because of winds, but they were treacherous, nevertheless, as the luckless driver of the car above probably would testify. (Staff Photo by Jim Watkins)

Lackey Girl Friend Describes Lover's Slaying Admission

By FRANK PATRICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SAN ANGELO — A woman who loved him uttered words Friday which prosecutors hope will assure a death penalty or life imprisonment conviction for accused killer Clarence Allen Lackey.

With tears streaming down her cheeks and her voice trembling, Mrs. Carroll Jean Johnson indicated Lackey had confessed his guilt to her in the slaying death of Toni Dianne Kumpf.

I asked Clarence if he had heard it the discovery Mrs. Kumpf's body on the radio," Mrs. Johnson said.

She said Lackey told her no. "I told him they had found the body and were looking for a man about 6-1 with blond hair and driving a pickup truck," she said.

He sat there a couple of minutes and then reached over and took my hand and said, 'Baby, I've got to tell you something ...' the 25-year-old brunette said.

Tears flooded her eyes and and there was a silence in the courtroom for several seconds.

"He said, 'I'm the one they're looking for,'" Mrs. Johnson quavered. She then broke down.

The blond Lackey, 23, stared at his former lover as she testified.

A muscular construction worker, Lackey is accused of slaying Miss Kumpf July 31, 1977. The petite blond victim, who worked at the Texas Tech Medical School, apparently was taken forcibly from her 1001 Ave. W Lubbock residence before dawn.

The bloody and scantily clad body of the victim, 23, was found abandoned at the edge of a cotton field south of the Hub City around 9:30 a.m. that day. The body showed severe bruises, and the young woman's throat had been slashed.

The capital murder trial was moved here from Lubbock because of widespread publicity.

Lubbock Criminal District Attorney Alton Griffin, lead prosecutor, rested the state's case after Mrs. Johnson finished testifying.

The bombshell testimony was preceded by a courtroom offer of immunity to Mrs. Johnson, made outside the jury's presence.

Presiding District Judge Robert Wright granted the witness complete immunity, at Griffin's request, from prosecution in any matter related to the murder case.

Mrs. Johnson, smartly dressed in a pantsuit and white blouse, was shivering at the witness stand when jurors finally filed in to hear her testimony.

Griffin asked if she had lived with Lackey. After she said she had, the prosecution rested.

Administration Draws Plan To Seize Mines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration drew up plans Friday for a temporary federal seizure of the nation's coal mines as government efforts to negotiate an end to the 74-day coal strike dragged into the night.

Seizure of the mines was one of three options presented to the president by Labor Secretary Ray Marshall in the event negotiations fail, according to administration sources here and traveling with the president in Bangor, Maine.

The option paper also listed binding arbitration to settle the dispute and invoking the strike-stopping provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

But of the three, a temporary government takeover was listed as "a very serious option," said one source. "We're not playing games."

A takeover of the mines would require congressional legislation as would ordering binding arbitration, according to the sources.

The mere threat of a government takeover in 1950 by then-president Harry S. Truman resulted in a swift end to a nationwide coal strike.

Carter administration officials apparently hoped that a threatened takeover of strike-bound mines with the government setting wages and benefits for miners would have the same effect this time.

However, the sources emphasized that this was not meant as an idle threat.

Carter, speaking at a news conference earlier Friday in Cranston, R.I., said he had asked negotiators to remain at the bargaining table "until a final settlement is reached." He warned of "more serious action" if the talks failed.

Truman's threatened takeover of the industry came on March 3, 1950, after an attempt to get striking miners back to work when a Taft-Hartley injunction failed.

Truman asked Congress for special legislation to permit the government to seize and operate the coal mines in view of the "dangerous" curtailment of coal production.

A settlement affecting 340,000 miners was reached two days later before Congress could act. It ended a series of intermittent strikes that had begun Sept. 14, 1949.

Marshall, working around the clock to find terms to end the present walk-out, shuttled between union representatives gathered at the Labor Department and industry officials at the White House.

Negotiators for the miners' union was offered new concessions by the industry, but held out for more.

Sources close to the negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the revised industry proposal included four major changes in the tentative agreement which was rejected overwhelmingly Sunday by the union's bargaining council.

Included in the offer was a proposal to eliminate penalties against miners taking part in wildcat strikes — a key provision that the miners had found unacceptable.

Another key proposal would restore a

Tech Award Salutes Late Sen. Humphrey

By CANDY SAGON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

THE LATE Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was honored as a defender of freedom of the press at the 6th Annual Thomas Jefferson Award banquet Friday night at Texas Tech University.

In accepting the award on behalf of the Humphrey family, Dr. John DeSanto, chairman of the mass communications department at St. Cloud (Minn.) State University, read a letter to Texas Tech from Sen. Muriel Humphrey, the late senator's widow.

"I regret I cannot be in Lubbock tonight," Mrs. Humphrey, who recently was appointed to fill her husband's unexpired term, wrote.

"I know this is a very distinguished award and one that Hubert would have been honored to accept.

"He strongly believed that freedom of the press is one of the bulwarks of this great democracy and he made every effort throughout his career to safeguard this freedom."

Mrs. Humphrey called the award "a wonderful tribute to Hubert."

The Society for Professional Journalists (Sigma Delta Chi) at St. Cloud State University originally had nominated Humphrey for the Thomas Jefferson award and before his death in January Humphrey told Texas Tech officials he would be honored to accept.

Humphrey's son, state senator Hubert H. Humphrey III, originally had been scheduled to accept the award on behalf of his father, but was unable to attend due to unforeseen circumstances.

Humphrey is the sixth recipient of the Ex-Town Marshal Gets Life In Prisoner Death

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — In a courtroom jammed with more than 120 Mexican-Americans, a federal judge Friday sentenced a former town marshal to life in prison for violating the civil rights of an unarmed prisoner killed in his custody with a shotgun in 1975.

Judge Adrian Spears rejected defense arguments that Frank Hayes, 52, former town marshal of Castroville, could not physically or psychologically endure long confinement.

Hayes was the first Texas law enforcement officer convicted in a precedent-setting civil rights proceeding ordered by Attorney General Griffin Bell after the former Republican U.S. Attorney and former Attorney General Edward Levi refused to intervene on grounds state courts already had acted.

An attorney for the victim, construction worker Richard Morales, 27, hailed the stiff sentence as a warning to other Texas law enforcement agencies to safeguard the rights of Mexican-American prisoners. The League of United Latin American Citizens claims four Mexican-Americans have been killed while in police custody in West Texas in the past 90 days.

Before sentencing, Hayes apologized to the Morales family, seated on the front row of the courtroom which could not hold a crowd which Spears described as the largest ever to gather in his courtroom.

"I'd like to apologize to the Richard Morales family for all the anguish which, through my negligence, I brought upon them," the former military policeman said. Hayes, who showed no emotion on hearing the sentence, maintained his shotgun discharged accidentally and killed Morales and a state jury, containing no Mexican-Americans, had found him guilty of the lesser offense of aggravated assault and sentenced him to 10 years imprisonment.

Spears also sentenced Hayes' wife, Dorothy, to three years in prison and her sister, Alice Baldwin, to serve six months in prison. The two women were convicted along with Hayes because they transported

Convicted City Man Faces New Rape Charge

By PAT PATRICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A LUBBOCK deaf-mute, convicted last summer of rape and assessed a probation sentence, has been charged in Austin with raping a woman there.

Cruz Tijerina, 19, is accused of raping a 39-year-old partially blind deaf-mute resident of the same Vaughn House school for the handicapped which Tijerina attends as one of the conditions of the sentence levied by Dist. Judge Robert C. Wright.

Tijerina's three-day trial last June was a landmark one in which three sign language interpreters were used to make certain the defendant understood court events.

It was the first time in memory a deaf-mute had gone on trial here for a major offense, and because of the legal ramifications it generated statewide attention among persons who worked with the deaf.

A jury June 30 convicted Tijerina of raping a 20-year-old Memphis woman in Lubbock on June 27, 1976.

A punishment hearing was held Aug. 5 at which Asst. Dist. Atty. Tom Cannon vigorously argued that Tijerina should be imprisoned for an extended number of years.

Wright, however, assessed a 10-year probation sentence that also required the deaf-mute to spend 30 days in the county jail.

In addition, the 137th District Judge ordered Tijerina to make immediate application to enroll in a school for the deaf and told him to attend an accredited vocational school to learn a trade.

Belfast Bomb Fatal To 14

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A bomb exploded in a Belfast restaurant where hundreds of people had gone Friday night for dinner and dancing, killing at least 14 persons — many of them children — police said.

A police spokesman said at least 25 persons were wounded and "there could be more dead. It's carnage in there."

Police said the building caught fire and panic-stricken patrons of the restaurant rushed for doors and jumped out of windows, some with their clothing ablaze.

"It exploded without warning," the spokesman said. "The place was packed and the people in there had no chance to escape. The number of dead could be as high as 16 or 20. The bomb exploded without warning and there are bodies all over the place."

Police said they received an anonymous telephone call a few minutes before the blast from a person who claimed three bombs were planted in the restaurant — the La Mon House in the staunchly Protestant Castlereagh district on the outskirts of this provincial capital, which has been torn by sectarian warfare for eight years.

Area Rehabilitation Center To Open Monday

By CARRIE LINE CURTIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff
The patient flashed a grin of triumph to the therapist as he completed dressing himself in the morning.

Not a startling accomplishment — unless one is recovering from a stroke, closed head injury or damage to the spinal column.

Before this month, South Plains residents needing rehabilitation had to go to centers in far away Texas cities, but as of Monday morning, the South Plains will have its own adult rehabilitation center. It will be on the fifth floor of Saint Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock.

Patients will be referred to the facility's medical director by their attending physician. The center, which will be one of the few such facilities in the state, will decide if the patient should be admitted.

Upon admittance, the patient's first week in the center will be spent as an evaluation period, followed by three weeks of therapy. At the end of this period the patient's progress will be re-evaluated by the staff.

During the first week, staff members determine what physical limitations a patient has and the four week evaluation determines what progress the patient has made in his physical capabilities.

A multi-faceted approach is being used by the center to help rehabilitate patients.

The staff, which numbers 30 persons, includes physicians who specialize in treating rehabilitation patients, nurses, physical therapists, occupational therapists and social workers.

The center also will have an outpatient clinic to assist patients once they leave and return to their normal lives.

The hospital's fifth floor, devoted to the rehabilitation center, contains 21,700 square feet of space at a construction cost of $1.2 million. Equipment for the center cost another $197,400.

The center features 30 beds, an occupational therapy room, a dining-training-demonstration room, outpatient examination clinic area, and counseling area.

St. Mary's board of trustees began discussing a need for an area rehabilitation center in January, 1973. A contract was awarded in August, 1975 and work on the center was begun in September, 1975. It was recently completed by the general contracting firm, Page & Wirtz Construction Co. Architects were Brasher, Goyette & Rapier.

Funds for the occupational therapy room were furnished by the Lubbock County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Ideas for designing and equipping the center were given by local organizations and persons who have undergone rehabilitation.

The rooms in the center feature extra-wide doors, cabinets and bathroom facilities for persons in wheelchairs. The center rooms also are larger so mobility is easier for a person in a wheelchair.

Beds in the center are allocated for 10 arthritics, 10 for spinal cord injuries and 10 for persons with strokes, closed head injuries or amputees.

According to Carol Chin, an occupational therapist on the center's staff, a patient's stay in the rehabilitation center varies according to his type of injury.

Mrs. Chin said on average an amputee or arthritic stays two to three weeks, a stroke victim six to eight weeks, and a spinal cord injury victim four to six months.

A patient's daily schedule includes an hour of physical therapy and an hour of occupational therapy. The occupational therapy room will be set up for recreational games during the patient's free time each day.

Physical therapy sessions include exercises designed to strengthen the patient's lower extremities. Occupational therapy sessions exercise muscles of the patient's upper extremities.

In the occupational therapy sessions patients practice brushing their teeth, washing face and hands, shaving or applying make-up, hair care, dressing themselves and the use of special equipment.

Occupational therapy sessions also include practicing skills for meal preparation and serving, and patients transferring from beds to wheelchairs and vice versa.

The center will teach patients to simplify tasks and plan their activities and schedules ahead of time, according to Mrs. Chin. She added that persons in wheelchairs need more rest between activities because they tire more easily than others.

The center's social workers will counsel both the patient and members of his family during the center stay and after the patient returns home. Any readjustment problems, physical or emotional, will be handled through the outpatient clinic physicians or social workers once the patient returns home.

The outpatient clinic physicians and social workers will continue to update patients' cases after they leave the facility.

An open house is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, with public tours of the Rehabilitation Center beginning at 2:30.

Climatologists View World Weather

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is only a 20 percent chance that the Earth's climate by the end of the century will be significantly different from today's, according to a climatologists' opinion survey released Friday.

But the collective educated guesses of the 24 prominent climate-watchers from seven nations also produced 50 percent probability that the climate by the year 2000 will be either slightly warmer or slightly cooler.

The scientists' assessment was gathered in a study directed by the Pentagon's National Defense University. The findings were reported at a closing symposium of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The study, said science does not have the capability to predict future climates, but he said policy makers still must have some idea of what to expect.

He said the survey was inspired by conflicting predictions in recent years that Earth is headed into another ice age or that the buildup of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere will rapidly heat it up. Either development would have major impact on portions of the world.

The two most severe scenarios developed from the survey each was given a 10 percent probability of happening.

Five possible climate scenarios showing a broad range of perceptions were developed on the basis of questionnaires answered by the climatologists.

The salient finding is that the likelihood of catastrophic climatic change by the year 2000 is assessed as being small.

More specifically, the responses to the survey suggest only one chance in 10 that average global temperature in the next 25 years will increase by more than 6 degree Centigrade (11 degree Fahrenheit) relative to the early 1970s.

Likewise, there is only one chance in 10 that it will decrease by more than 3 degree C. (5 degree F.). The survey also showed there was a 25 percent chance the climate would be moderately warmer and 25 percent chance it would be moderately cooler.

STAN MARTIN, OWNER OF HI-FIDELITY, AND SOME OF HIS THOUGHTS ON HI-FI STEREO PRICING

Anyone can get a "price deal" on stereo equipment these days. Just look in any weekend Avalanche-Journal and you'll see stereo systems marked down on page after page.

But most "deals" on stereo systems which show big savings don't give you the equipment value that you pay for. Many times discontinued, outdated components are used in a system along side of high value, name brand current components. Also watch the speakers! Many stereos have "private label" speakers (these are speakers you buy only at XY Audio, and they're made by someone you've never heard of — the regular price is inflated in order to show big savings in the system. More importantly is that the sound doesn't compare with name brand, quality engineered speakers). You'll never be satisfied if you buy such a system.

Hi-Fidelity wants you to be satisfied, therefore we never try to give you a "low priced system", but the very best system available at a low price.

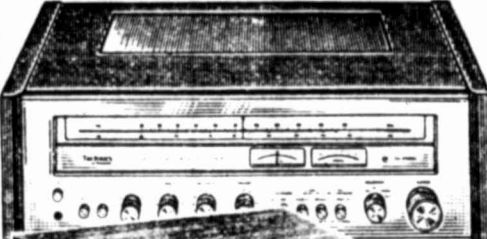

That's what Hi-Fidelity is all about, so step by and find out for yourself. You'll find the most impressive and best equipped Hi-Fi Store in this area. Your first impression may make you feel it's too expensive, but don't let looks deceive you. As you look at one superb stereo system after another, you'll be impressed with the price too. Yes, you'll see systems costing thousands of dollars and worth every penny of it. At the same time you will discover good component systems that start at $349.95, and our compact stereos start at $149.95.

There are a few other things to consider when comparing prices and equipment and that's our "Five Year Protection Plan," "One Year Free Speaker Exchange," "20 Day Exchange Privilege," "Expert Consultation," "Free Delivery and Setup," and a "biggie" — our own quality technical lab to accommodate any service problem you might have.

By-the-way, this is our 20th year and we'll be around when others are not.

If you want to invest a little more, you can't beat this system. The Technics SA5370 AM/FM Stereo Receiver delivers 48 watts per channel (min RMS at 8 ohms 20-20,000 Hz 0.1% THD). Great specs and "gobs" of power, features and quality. The SL-1900 Technics turntable is a direct-drive with fully automatic single-disc play. Protect your records and at the same time enjoy the simple operation of a superbly engineered instrument. The Shure M91ED cartridge is one of the best. When you hear Technics SB-500A speakers you'll be amazed at the great sound. You'll also be amazed when we say save $164.85 off of $914.80 and invest only $749.95 at Hi-Fidelity.

THE STARTER ... is just that, a great way to start your Hi-Fi listening if you don't want to spend a lot of money, but still get a lot of sound and value. We use the Technics SA5070 AM/FM Stereo Receiver (15 watts per channel, min. RMS at 8 ohms, 40-20,000 Hz, 0.8% THD), because we feel it offers more value than the Sansui 221 (8 watts per channel, min. RMS at 8 ohms, 1.0% THD) we used to sell. Both, the Sansui 221 and Technics SA5070 retail for $179.95 separately. Hi-Fidelity has coupled the Panasonic SB-250 speakers, and the Technics SL-20 Belt-Drive Turntable with a Shure M 75ECS phono cartridge. We test every turntable and cartridge to insure your getting the performance you are wanting and paying for ... many cartridges do not meet specs. Always keep in mind our 5 year Protection Plan and One Year Speaker Exchange are free. Retail Price $389.80

Midwest Returning To 'Basics'

By The Associated Press
Peggy Jobes of Ohio turned off her dishwasher for the duration. The Ohio Legislature pulled back the chamber's huge velvet draperies to let in natural light for the first time in years. Thea Hosok of Indiana fed eight dinner guests ham steak grilled outside in sub-freezing weather.

The Midwest is turning off, unplugging and doing without to conserve what's left of energy supplies threatened by the 74-day-old coal miners' strike.

"We're a very affluent society," said Sarah Knight of Peru, Ind. "We have far more than we need and it's good to have some of these things brought to our attention."

Mrs. Knight has used nothing but candlelight and kerosene lamps for two weeks. She's cooking in the fireplace that also heats her living room.

And things could get tighter as the United Mine Workers strike continues. Utility coal supplies across the Midwest on Friday ranged from 25 days in parts of West Virginia to 60 days in northern Ohio.

Coal supplies dropped to the 25-day level Friday for the Monongahela Power Co. which serves parts of Ohio and West Virginia.

Even if negotiators meeting in Washington reach an accord, the pact would still face the lengthy process of rank-and-file approval. If the talks remained deadlocked President Carter could decide to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act and order the miners back. This would still require a period of study.

Utilities are preparing for mandatory curtailments and warning of temporary blackouts in some areas as the supplies drop daily.

"We have no way to measure how much conservation we are getting from customers, but we know it's not nearly enough," said Monongahela Power Co. spokesman Bill Coleman. "It doesn't seem that enough people are convinced of the situation."

At Valparaiso, Ind., Miller's Mart department store is doing its part. Assistant manager Dave Vagnall said the store has turned off 60 percent of its lighting with minimal inconvenience to shoppers. The store is passing out flashlights to customers as they enter the store.

"I was so mad," said Carol Haskell of Cincinnati. "I was out in the cold all afternoon Sunday collecting for the March of Dimes and so many people weren't doing anything. I mean, when they opened the door a blast of heat came out and the radios and televisions were blaring."

Her husband, Mike, an engineer, said he is rigging up batteries to operate the blower on the furnace if there is a blackout. Nardonia High School in Macedonia, Ohio, between Cleveland and Akron, practiced for a 50 percent curtailment this week.

Unfortunately, it was a sunny day so officials could not get an accurate idea of how much was saved. But it did give them an idea of how pupils felt about the energy situation.

"I don't know if I could take it for too long," said Juergen Nolde, 17, a senior. "I don't like cold lunches."

Assistant Principal Hal Carpenter said, however, "There appears to be an understanding by both staff and students to keep the schools open and avoid making up school this spring."

In Kentucky, Louisville Gas Electric Co. reports that one of its customers — a cemetery — has discontinued interior and exterior lighting of its chapel and mausoleum.

"We are making this as near mandatory as possible," said Curtis Craig, vice president of the utility.

Carter Embarks On New England Stump Tour

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — President Carter set out Friday on a hectic, two-day political tour through snow-covered New England, where he peddled his programs and policies and campaigned for fellow Democrats.

On his first campaign swing this election year, Carter's first stop was at Warwick, R.I., where he was greeted at Air National Guard facilities by visiting dignitaries. The public was barred from the airport area where Air Force One landed.

He was hurried to his first stop, the Rhode Island Group Health Association clinic in Providence. His appearance was aimed at underscoring the administration commitment to nationwide development of health maintenance organizations, which are pre-paid group medical programs in which members pay a flat membership fee.

He also called for "tax reduction and energy reform," although he said the economy is strong.

Later, he attended a campaign reception for Sen. Claiborne Pell, who heads a subcommittee on arms control. He called Pell "a special friend of mine" and said, "I became president largely because of the campaign reforms of Claiborne Pell."

When Carter was not engaged in overt politicking, he was campaigning on behalf of his programs and their approval, both in Congress and among the voters — and, obviously, seeking voter approval of his own stewardship.

Before leaving the White House at mid-day Friday, Carter declared Rhode Island, Maine and New Hampshire major disaster areas because of the blizzard that struck both states Feb. 6.

After spending Friday night at the Bangor home of Robert Murray, Penobscot County Democratic Party chairman, Carter promised Hathaway he would join him at a political rally for Carter supporters, students, Democratic workers and labor leaders.

Then, at mid-morning Saturday, Carter will attend his second town meeting of the trip, this one a 90-minute question and answer session for New Hampshire high school students in Nashua.

He returns to Washington on Saturday afternoon.

Pell is not expected to face major Republican opposition in Rhode Island.

But in Maine, Carter faced the critics of three federal efforts expected to figure in an anticipated stiff challenge to Hathaway's seat in the Senate.

These critics oppose a proposed federal Indian claims settlement, a federal plan for a big water power project and a Pentagon blueprint to all but shut down Loring Air Force Base.

Hathaway's challenge is expected to come from Rep. William S. Cohen, a Republican, and perhaps from Longley, who is judged potentially capable of beating both.

Odessa Man Named Outstanding NCO

CLOVIS (Special) — S. Sgt. Larry B. Moore, an Odessa native, was named the most outstanding student for Class 78-A of the Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School recently at Cannon Air Force Base.

Moore, noncommissioned officer in charge of unit administration in the 27th Avionics Maintenance Squadron, received the General Robinson Risner Honor Graduate Award.

S. Sgt. Frankie Davis, a survival equipment specialist, won the academic achievement award for excellence as a scholar and exceptional class effort and, also, the drillmaster award for the best class drillmaster.

The Commandant's Award for overall excellence as a scholar and class leader went to S. Sgt. Gene A. Halberstadt, integrated avionics components technician and section training monitor.

Other honors went to Sgt. Michael B. Knight, war readiness spare kit receiving clerk in the supply squadron, and S. Sgt. Patric J. Clemons of the medical laboratory staff.

Carter toured the clinic, shaking hands with employees and spending several minutes in pediatrics where he picked up some youngsters and patted others on their heads — including Nicole deTarnowsky. "How old are you?" Carter asked. She held up three fingers.

In nearby Cranston, Carter held a nationally broadcast news conference. He threatened stronger action if necessary to end the 74-day coal strike.

Although he said "I don't want to set a rigid time limit on anyone," he indicated his patience will not last another week. He could seek to halt the strike by invoking the Taft-Hartley Act, which would impose an 80-day back-to-work "cooling off" period.

Carter also said the proposed sale of jet fighters to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia will not disrupt Israeli-Egyptian relations.

Christie Raps Plan To Hike Insurance

AUSTIN (UPI) — Former Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie has termed ridiculous a proposed 13.1 percent, $55 million increase in homeowners insurance rates.

The State Insurance Board staff has recommended an average statewide increase in the most popular form of property insurance on private residence of 13.1 percent and an average increase on fire, homeowners and extended coverage policies of 11.4 percent. Christie, who resigned as insurance board chairman to run for the Senate, said his successor should postpone indefinitely.

Caves appear in all of the states but Rhode Island and Louisiana, says the U.S. Geographical Survey.

Area Counties Get Agriculture Grant

AUSTIN — Deaf Smith and Dawson counties are among six counties to share in a $527,500 special grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for special migrant food supplement projects, the Department of Health reports.

Allocation will be made on the basis of $28.75 per person per month, covering both the cost of administration and the program, a department spokesman says.

The funds cover the remainder of fiscal 1978, which ends in September.

Local agencies are to administer the program — with agencies needed Val Verde, Wharton and Van Zandt counties.

Public Health Region 2 will administer the program for Dawson County; DeLeon Migrant Project will administer the program in Comanche County; and South Plains Health Provider, Inc., Plainview, will administer the program in Deaf Smith County.

Calm Shattered At Coalfields

By United Press International

Violence returned to the nation's coalfields Friday as the deadline for a strike settlement drew near, power companies geared for blackouts and officials pleaded with citizens to turn off their lights.

"Chaos is just around the corner," warned Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen, who is urging President Carter to intervene under the Taft-Hartley if the 160,000 members of the United Mine Workers are not back to work in 7 to 10 days.

Under pressure from the White House to settle the 74-day strike by Saturday, representatives of the UMW and the bituminous coal operators worked virtually around the clock in negotiations described as "extremely delicate."

As the talks were going on, about 100 pickets converged on the Monongahela Power Company's generating plant near Clarksburg, W. Va., smashing windows, slashing car tires and scattering glass and nails in the path of non-union employees trying to report to work.

One company employee was cut above the nose when his car windshield was shattered, but there were no serious injuries.

The strikers dispersed when state police arrived.

A caravan of roving pickets in Ohio, who had closed two non-union operations in Carroll and Tuscarawas counties the day before, rolled into Logan to be met by Hocking County sheriff's deputies and state patrolmen.

"I think we got our point across," said John Prout, a UMW organizer from Bellaire, who said there were a few windows smashed and some rocks thrown, but little other violence.

"We have a few scattered non-union mines operating here and there," Prout said. "They try to sneak a few loads out at night when they think they can get away with it. We're going to try and catch them."

National Guardsmen and state police continued to ride guard for a convoy of trucks shuttling coal across southern Indiana.

Bowen, one of a dozen governors from coal-producing states who met with President Carter Thursday, said he was the only one who favored federal intervention under the Taft-Hartley Act.

"You can't let a small group set the policy for the country on such an important issue," Bowen said. "These miners are Americans like anybody else and I think many of them will respond when asked by their country to do something."

John Coppes, director of the Indiana Employment Security Division, said 600 to 700 workers already have been laid off as a result of power cutbacks. He expects a "snowball effect" next week as some utilities invoke mandatory curtailments.

"If the strike continues, Bowen said, "Layoffs would be massive."

"And when people get hungry and cold they take the attitude of survival of themselves and that could be a very dangerous thing," Bowen added. "That is the fear I have by not putting Taft-Hartley into ef-

Michigan utilities have announced plans to begin rotating blackouts starting March 1.

"God forbid!" exclaimed one mother and housewife in suburban Westland. "We might even sit around and talk to each other for a change, instead of watching television."

While conservation efforts and warmer weather have helped some, Public Service Indiana, that state's largest electric utility, plans to begin mandatory cutbacks Monday as its coal supply falls below the 40-day level.

Among other things, power for schools will be cut in half, commercial and business customers by 25 per cent, and residences by 15 per cent.

Ohio Edison, headquartered in Akron and serving more than 700,000 customers, said it is eliminating its back generating capabilities in order to save coal. But a spokesman said that will increase the danger of blackouts, should a major generating unit go down or there is a reduction in power from other states.

Stock Mart Ends Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed out its worst week since early January with a mixed showing Friday.

The market made a weak attempt to rally at the opening, but wound up the session with little or nothing to show for its efforts.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 3 points in early trading, closed with a 60 loss at 752.69 and marked a 34-month low for the third straight day.

On the week the average fell 23.30 points, for its sharpest weekly decline since it took a 37.68-point drop Jan. 3-6.

The daily tally on the New York Stock Exchange showed a few more gainers than losers, but the NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks eased .04 to 49.90.

Big Board volume slacked off to 18.50 million shares from 21.57 million the day before.

Brokers traced the early upswing partly to internal market forces. In particular, they noted short-covering by traders "hated down profits on borrowed stock sold earlier."

Chowchilla Kidnappers Get Life Terms

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Two of the three young men who kidnapped a busload of school children in a wild scheme to get $5 million in ransom were sentenced Friday to life in prison without chance of parole.

The third was judged eligible for parole under a youthful offender's law.

Superior Court Judge Leo Deegan, noting the planning that went into the crime and the men's convictions for causing bodily harm to three of their victims, refused to overrule the prescribed sentence of life without parole for James Schoenfeld and Fred Woods, both 26.

He ruled that the youngest kidnapper — Schoenfeld's 23-year-old brother Richard — was eligible for parole under a youthful offender's law that no longer exists but was in effect at the time of the July 1976 abduction.

The three had confessed to kidnapping for ransom, but had contested the bodily harm counts, which carried the no-parole sentence. In the pre-sentencing hearing, their lawyers tried to convince the judge that the kidnappers had carefully provided for their victims' safety.

After the sentencing, the attorneys said they would appeal and try to overturn the bodily harm convictions.

The kidnapping at gunpoint began a 30-hour ordeal which ended when the 26 Chowchilla, Calif., children and bus driver Ed Ray burrowed out of a buried moving van which served as a makeshift prison.

Deegan had found that stomach disorders and fainting spells, reported by three of the children, constituted bodily harm.

On Friday, the kidnappers rose one by one with their attorneys and faced Deegan as the retired Riverside County judge softly read the 27 counts facing each of the San Francisco-area men and handed down the sentences.

Woods' mother bowed her head and sobbed quietly. Merry Schoenfeld, mother of two of the kidnappers, shook her head and scribbled notes on a legal pad during the sentencing.

"It sounded good for the one of them and sad for the other," she said later. "How can you be happy and sad at the same time? I was happy one minute, sad the next."

The three maintained a stoic demeanor during the sentencing, but Richard Schoenfeld smiled slightly as he left the courtroom. Deegan's ruling made him immediately eligible for parole because he already has served more than the mandatory six months needed for felons under 23 years to be reviewed for parole.

"But I do not wish it to be guessed for a moment that the minimum six months is appropriate in this case," Deegan said.

"It is not necessary that Richard Schoenfeld should spend the rest of his life in prison in this case and I think he knows this."

Richard Schoenfeld's attorney, Edward Merrill, said he was "very, very happy" for his client, but said he did not expect Richard to be released for many years.

The Friday sentence covered three counts of kidnapping with bodily harm and 24 counts of kidnapping for ransom without bodily harm for each.

Jordan's Hussein Seen As Key To Peace Talks

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The United States wants to make a "maximum effort" to draw Jordan's King Hussein into the Israeli-Egyptian peace talks. Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan was quoted Friday as saying after meeting with President Carter.

Maariv, "more and more light is shed on the question: what is holding up progress in the negotiations with (Egyptian President Anwar) Sadat? The conclusion is that he does not want to advance without Hussein and without a fitting definition for the Palestinian issue."

route to New York after his Washington meetings. Asked whether the Americans accepted Sadat's view that it is essential for Hussein to join the now-stalled talks, the Israeli foreign minister replied: "Certainly an effort will be made. If it is a condition for continuation of the negotiations — that I do not know. At this stage the Americans want to make a maximum effort to bring Hussein into the talks."

Dayan predicted intensive negotiations when Assistant Secretary of State Alfred Atherton returns to Israel Monday to start a new Mideast shuttle expected to take him to Egypt, Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Since Dayan departed Israel Feb. 6, Prime Minister Menachem Begin's Mideast peace policy has come under increased fire from the Labor Party opposition.

Former Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said it was "childish" of Begin to constantly refer to international law, and he said "the government has undermined its credibility" by establishing new Jewish settlements in occupied territory within military camps and, in one case, as an archaeological expedition.

Arms Introduction Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter asserted Friday that the United States is not introducing new weapons into the Middle East, despite the fact that one jet being proposed for sale is so new that the U.S. Air Force will not get it until later this year.

Carter was asked at his news conference in Cranston, R.I., how he justified the decision to sell a mix of F-15, F-16 and F-5E jet fighters to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

"As you know, we are not introducing new weapons into the Middle East. F-15s are already being delivered," Carter responded. The United States is delivering the F-15s to Israel in a sale approved by the Ford administration.

However, the F-16, an attack fighter that is smaller and slightly slower than the F-15, is still in the test flight stage and has never been used in the Middle East. The U.S. Air Force will start deploying the F-16s this summer, a Pentagon spokesman said.

Carter's proposed sale of jets to the Middle East includes 75 F-16s and 15 more F-15s for Israel, 60 F-15s for Saudi Arabia, and 50 older, slower F-5E fighters for Egypt.

A White House spokesman, Ed Penney, acknowledged that the F-16 is a new weapon. But he said that by the time Israel begins taking delivery, they will be "somewhat of an old weapon," although they will still be new to the Middle East.

Carter said he expected Congress to approve the sale. The president justified his proposal on the grounds that the United States must help all its allies defend themselves.

"I think it's very good for nations to turn to us for security needs instead of turning to the Soviet Union as they have in the past in the case of Egypt," he said.

Carter added that the Soviets are shipping "massive quantities" of arms to potential enemies of the Egyptians and Saudis, such as Libya and Iraq.

He characterized the Saudis as "among our closest allies and staunchest friends" and said they have "never carried out an aggressive action against Israel."

In negotiations for a set of guiding principles for peace treaties, Israel refused to agree to self-determination for the Palestinians in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip or to the principle of total withdrawal from territories occupied in the 1967 Mideast war.

Hussein has said he will not join the talks until an acceptable statement of principles is reached, including the Palestinian self-determination. Israel says such a principle would lead to establishment of a Palestinian state implacably hostile to Israel. Dayan said of Hussein: "He, in fact, says that the Palestinians have to be allowed to decide for themselves. Both Hussein, the Americans and the Egyptians are building on (their belief) that they (the Palestinians) will prefer to be connected with Jordan."

In another development, aides to British Foreign Secretary David Owen said Owen will visit Israel and other Middle East nations in the next week or two. They said he is expected to stop in Jordan, the Arab Gulf states and possibly Lebanon and Syria.

Firemen Battle Two Blazes

A Shallowater Fire Department spokesman here said there's little hope that the cause of a blaze that took the life of a 74-year-old invalid man early Friday will be determined.

Meanwhile, officials at the Lubbock Fire Department said they knew the cause of a blaze at 1509 34th St., that began late Thursday and ended by gutting two businesses early Friday.

At Shallowater, Vera Potter, 69, tried desperately to drag her husband, K. L. Potter, from the couple's three-bedroom, frame residence after she awoke to find smoke filling her home.

Dalton Potter, the couple's son and the owner of a local barber shop, said he was delivering newspapers Friday when a friend told him his parents' home was ablaze.

"When I got here it was already gone," he said at the scene. "It was completely in flames and they had already gotten him out."

Mrs. Potter, failing to remove her spouse, had hurried to a neighbor's house nearby and summoned help.

"Then they came back here and got him out, but it was too late," the son explained later.

When firemen arrived a short time later the victim's charred body had been removed and lay in the snow about 35 yards from the house, covered by a bedspread.

Shallowater volunteer firemen at the scene watched helplessly as the fire exhausted itself, destroying the home about five miles north of here on FM 179.

Mrs. Potter was taken to West Texas Hospital following the blaze for treatment of minor burns and exhaustion. She was reported in satisfactory condition late Friday.

As firemen watched helplessly in Shallowater, Lubbock firefighters had their hands full at a two-alarm blaze that began about 10:27 p.m. Thursday when a transmission line fell on the roof of Sides Printing Co., 1509 34th St.

On that first late-evening call fireman put the fire out, Fire Marshal A. C. Black said Friday.

Firemen were called back to the scene at 20 minutes past midnight, Black said, when smoke again was detected at the building.

On the second call, however, no fire was observed.

Just before 2:30 a.m. firefighters made a third trip to the business, found flames in a wall in the office area of the building, and extinguished it.

However, the fire apparently was not snuffed entirely.

Black said flames apparently hidden behind the stuccoed walls, which were reinforced by chicken wire, had "arced"

FIRE DISASTERS — The charred hulk of what previously was the K.L. Potter residence north of Shallowater still burns early Friday in a blaze that took the 74-year-old Potter's life. Mrs. Vera Potter, 69, suffered minor injuries in the fire and the couple's home and small car were destroyed. In the photo above Lubbock firemen grapple in the frigid, early-Friday weather with a coupler as they fought a two-alarm blaze at the Sides printing Co., 1509 34th St. That fire, which began late Thursday, and rekindled itself intermittently overnight, ended by gutting two businesses and damaging a third. Sausage Fete Scheduled In Slaton

SLATON—Hundreds of South Plains fans of German cooking are expected to gather here Sunday for the annual wurstfest at St. Joseph's Hall.

Sausage and all the trimmings will be the main event for the benefit for St. Joseph's School. Polkas, schottisches and waltzes will be dished up on the side to make the atmosphere more festive for meals served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the hall.

The sale of take-home sausage begins at 11:30 a.m. in St. Joseph's School across the street. It will last as long as 4,000 pounds of wurst, made by an old Austrian recipe, last.

Women of the parish will be busy today baking homemade bread and cakes to top off the sausage, green beans, mashed potatoes, pickles and the like.

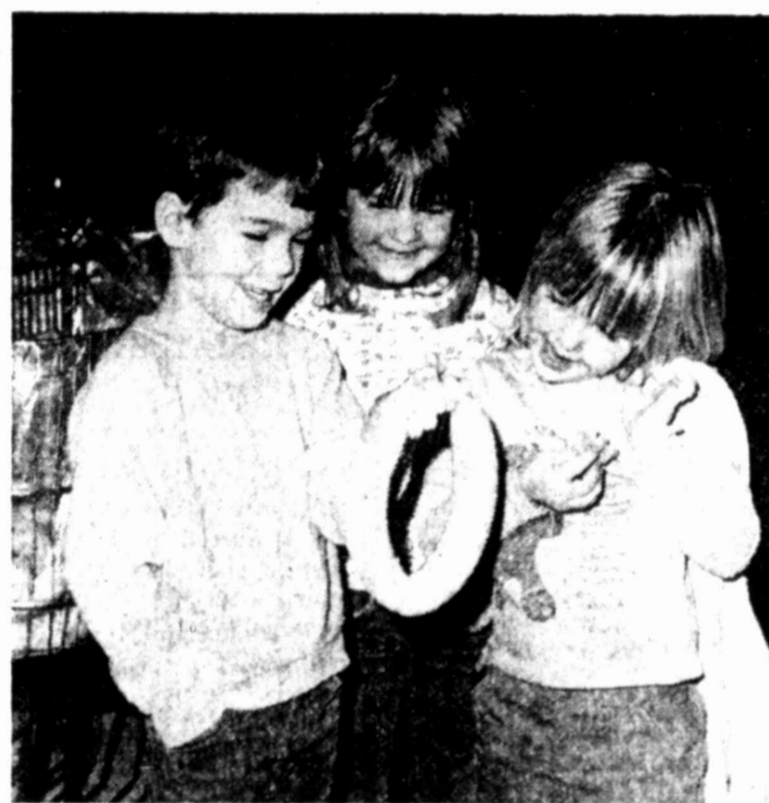

Monday, members of the parish gathered for the day-long session of sausage making, stopping work only for the covered dish lunch centering around barbecue cooking while work was underway inside the hall.

The 5,600 pounds of sausage, mixed in 100-pound batches, went on racks for all-night smoking at temperatures geared to keep hickory sawdust going at just the right peak. A smoking committee baby-sat the sausage all night to assure temperature was constant and sawdust changed often enough for perfect flavor.

Making sausage on Monday instead of the usual Friday, oldtimers noted, will allow more time for curing before the Sunday wurstfest.

Tickets for the meal are $3, $1.50 and 75 cents with sausage to go, already wrapped and marked, going at $2.25 a pound.

Proceeds from the benefit make up a third of the year's expenses for the school.

NOT BAD FOR WURST — Darius Linder, Leann Heinrich and Laura Kay Sokora admire a pint-sized link of German sausage that is about their size at sausage-making festivities for Slaton's Wursthfest today to benefit St. Joseph's School. About 4,000 pounds will be sold by the pound at the school while about 1,600 pounds will be the main ingredient of lunch served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in St. Joseph's Hall. (Staff Photo)

It's nice to know you're needed.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing in response to the teenager who was "sick and tired of being under her parents' thumb." I'm a 16-year-old girl who would hate to think of where I'd be without my parents' thumb. That "thumb" is a symbol of their love for me.

At times I felt their judgment was wrong when I wanted to do something or go somewhere and they said no. Even though I was disappointed (and sometimes furious) I know deep down they said no because of their concern for me. We don't have a lot of money but I feel overprivileged to have a mom and dad who put my welfare ahead of everything else.

I know there are many more parents in the world like mine but I know, too, that there are the other kind — parents who take the easy way out and don't stand up to their kids because they hate the hassle. I'm thankful for mine. — Lucky And Know It

Dear Lucky: I wonder how many teenagers who read your letter today will appreciate their parents just a little more. I wonder, too, how many with "collapsible" parents will envy you the "Thumb." Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from "Grossed Out" about the boy and girl who got carried away under the table in the high school cafeteria prompted me to write.

I don't think your suggestion, "Take your complaint to the principal," was very realistic. The principal is probably a gutless wonder. What's more, one com-

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read recently where you said x-rays are not dangerous. It has been universally proven that ionizing radiation causes cancer. Why in the world would you tell someone it is not dangerous. The scientific world is trying to inform people about this. Now look what you have done. You have set progress back a couple of years. —J.M.S.

I cannot follow your reasoning. To understand mine, talk to someone whose life has been saved because of diagnosis made possible by an x-ray. You might also consider the fact that the incidence of cancer has not increased markedly over the decades following the introduction of x-rays. According to your view it should have! Modern techniques reduce scattering of x-rays.

X-rays deserve the cautious respect of the medical profession and are not to be used frivolously. (For a brief period, they were even being used as a means of measuring feet for shoe sizes!) Today's more prudent use of x-rays is to be commended, but let's keep the matter in perspective.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think of a person taking hydrochloric acid tablets to speed up digestion? Friends of mine take two after every meal and regard it as a cure-all for all sorts of ailments. Can it cause ulcers? —Mrs. F.H.

What's their big hurry? Isn't life speeded up enough without trying to accelerate digestion? In the first place, this is a figment of your friends' imagination. Unless there is deficiency of hydrochloric acid in the stomach (determined by chemical analysis), there is enough being produced naturally to take care of digestion.

Your surmise about ulcers is correct. One factor in ulcer formation is excessive gastric acid, which the tablets might produce. Unprescribed, frivolous use of seemingly harmless substances can have rebound effects, in the stomach and elsewhere. See my booklet, "Stomach and Abdominal Complaints," which discusses this in greater detail. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me at P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told I have chloasma on my face. I thought it was due to aging, plus too much sun. Now I learn it is due to the birth control pill, which I have been taking for years. I am 43. Short of stopping the pills, is there anything I can do to get rid of this? —Mrs. A.C.

There's no medicine to counter this effect, which is found in some women using the contraceptive pills. It is more common (or more noticeable) among women who live in the sunnier climates. Shielding your face from the sun may reduce the darkening, and creams can mask the splotchiness. Other than that, nothing. Women who get this "mask of pregnancy" during pregnancy can expect the same effect from the pills.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Explain in clear language, please, just what a coronary embolism means. —Mrs. H.S.

A coronary embolism is a "wandering" blood clot that travels through an artery serving the heart, eventually becoming lodged in a narrowed section. If that happens blood supply is cut off and a coronary thrombosis occurs—a heart attack. If this occurs in an artery serving the brain it is called a cerebral embolism, which results in what is called a "stroke."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband takes lots of aspirin for his arthritis. Should this affect his sex? —Mrs. K.W.

It shouldn't.

NOTE TO MRS. O.T. — There are three reasons for the government's removing a drug from the market. It is either dangerous or ineffective—or both.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Just what do the initials "ASCVD" mean followed by the word "cerebral"? —Mrs. J.S.

The initials stand for arteriosclerotic cardiovascular disease (15 syllables, by my count). In other words, hardening of the arteries which has affected the heart. Cerebral refers to brain involvement, as in stroke.

BY OSWALD JACOBY AND ALAN SONTAG

Today's hand was played by James Chew of Tulsa, Okla., in the Nashville regionals.

The first interesting thing about the hand is North's bid of the grand slam after finding that Jim held no kings.

He decided that Jim needed eight diamonds to jump to four with two aces and no kings. Therefore, the king of trumps would drop. That allowed North to count 12 sure tricks. The 13th would come if Jim held two clubs or the queen of spades.

As you can see Jim held just one club and the queen of spades was conspicuously absent from his hand, but that did not stop Jim from taking all the tricks.

The first three tricks went to the ace of clubs, ace of diamonds and ace of hearts. A diamond to dummy's eight, a heart ruff, a diamond to dummy's seven and a second heart dropped East's queen of hearts.

Now Jim ran all his trumps. Dummy's last four cards were the ace-king-nine of spades and the jack of hearts. West's were the queen-10-seven of spades and king of hearts. He had to chuck a spade on that last trump.

The jack of hearts was discarded and dummy's spades took the last three tricks. A lucky squeeze, but made possible by the play of three rounds of hearts.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR LADIES:

First let me say that I am not discriminating against you dear gentlemen, but this hint does lend itself to ladies who have long nails and want to keep them that way.

I have long fingernails and I work at keeping them looking nice and strong.

It seems no matter what I do or how careful I am about not using them as tools to open packages or pick at things, I usually end up with a little split or crack on the side that spells disaster.

If it is not taken care of immediately, it never fails that tiny little crack will catch on something, and, before I know it, I don't have nails. I have a nub.

My solution to this is to repair it as soon as possible.

First let me say that I have been going through this for a long time and have tried any and every way possible to fix it, and I think this is the most practical and easiest method yet.

I use a little piece of tea bag.
I tear a piece of tea bag (used) into a strip that is wider and almost twice as long as the crack.

Brush on some clear super-strong nail polish on one side of the piece of paper and then place it over the split, folding the extra length under the nail where the crack is.

I pull it a little taut and press into place a little bit with my finger so that it will be as flat as possible.

I then apply a coat of the clear polish on top of this and let dry completely. If the crack is severe or very deep, I put another "patch" over the spot, but at a little different angle to sort of reinforce it and make it stronger.

I then apply as many coats of clear nail polish that it takes to make the nail and patch as smooth as possible.

Oh, be sure and put nail polish under the nail, over the paper, as well as on top.

When dry, I add the colored polish and I'm the only one who knows that I really am "glued together."

It takes a little skill and experimenting to work on this so it turns out smooth.

One patch will last me almost two weeks and then I can decide to clip off the nail or patch it again and let it grow out further.

Give it a try, and I do hope it helps you

DOUBLE PEANUT GEMS

- 1/4 cup butter (cut into 12 pieces)
- 1 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup salted peanuts
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 tsp baking powder
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 1/2 cup finely chopped peanuts
- 1 cup bran flakes
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg

Grease 12 (2 1/2 inch) muffin cups. Put 1 piece of butter in each, divide the brown sugar among the cups. Put in oven for a few minutes to melt. Put 5 or 6 peanuts in each cup and set pan aside. Combine flour, baking powder, salt and chopped peanuts. Put bran flakes in a small bowl and cover with milk. Cream shortening and brown sugar together, add egg and blend well. Stir in softened bran flakes. Add dry ingredients and stir just until they are moistened. Spoon batter into muffin cups, over peanuts. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Loosen edges of muffins and turn out of pan. Eat while warm. Makes 12 muffins.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
I have three children, a girl age 7, a boy age 2 and a boy 3 months old.

Of course, the baby gets most of the attention and next the 2-year-old.

My little girl sometimes gets left out and after being the only "attention-getter" for 4 1/2 years I'm sure she misses it.

Well, now when people spot the baby they usually say, "Oh, you have a baby!"

I answer, "Yes, I have them in assorted sizes."

Everybody laughs and then spreads the "attention-giving" around.

It seems to make everyone a little happier. -Jenni Rush

DEAR HELOISE:

At this time when linens are costly, try making pillow cases out of the sides of worn sheets.

If the top part of the sheet is used, the hems for the cases are already finished.

Carefully tear the sheet to the needed size so the edges will be straight. If you can tear one piece twice the width or twice the length of the pillow, fold and stitch two sides.

Nuclear Reactors, Cancer Rates Linked

By ERNEST J. STERNGLASS
Pacific News Service

Official statistics on cancer mortality rates indicate that those states with the largest nuclear power plants face the most sharply rising cancer death rates.

A state-by-state analysis shows that cancer mortality rates from 1972-75 (the latest detailed statistics available) rose and fell in direct correlation with the size, number, type and/or location of nuclear reactors in states across the U.S. Thus radioactive releases from nuclear plants — not "ordinary" air pollutants like sulfur emissions from fossil fuels or auto exhausts — apparently have had the greatest recent effect on cancer rates.

This analysis would account for the ironic and startling fact that cancer mortality rates, on the rise nationally, are increasing far more sharply in the comparatively unpolluted state of Washington than in the highly urbanized and polluted New York City. Washington is more heavily nuclearized.

The greatest increases in cancer mortality rates have occurred in those six states with the largest nuclear facilities — Hanford in Washington; Oak Ridge in Tennessee; and Savannah River in South Carolina. or with nuclear reactors that have released large amounts of radiation in densely populated areas: the Millstone boiling reactor between Connecticut and Rhode Island and the Oyster Creek reactor in New Jersey, also of the boiling water type.

These six states recorded the highest increases: Washington, plus 8.9 percent; Connecticut, plus 8.6 percent; Tennessee, plus 8.1 percent; Rhode Island, plus 8.0 percent; New Jersey, plus 5.7 percent; and South Carolina, plus 5.4 percent.

This compares with a U.S. national average increase of 3.4 percent for the same period.

On the other hand, cancer mortality rates declined most sharply from 1972-75 in the four states having no nuclear power facilities at all:

Alaska, minus 10.6 percent; Montana, minus 4.4 percent; New Hampshire, minus 2.0 percent; and Hawaii, minus 1.5 percent.

In Maine, which has only one pressurized water reactor operating since 1972, cancer rates declined by 1.3 percent. Following this pattern, Virginia, with two recently completed pressurized reactors, declined somewhat less, by 1.1 percent.

Most significant is the fact that New York City, with two pressurized water reactors which emit relatively pure radioactive gases than the boiling water type located 30 miles north of the city, showed a decline of 1.1 percent in cancer mortality rate despite its enormous air pollution and socioeconomic problems.

Furthermore, a detailed study of cancer statistics in Connecticut and other New England states indicates that cancer mortality rates increased sharply around two large nuclear reactors in southeast Connecticut in direct relation to the measured impact of accumulated levels of Strontium 90 in the local milk (Strontium 90, a radioactive product of nuclear fission, routinely leaks in small amounts through the cooling systems of nuclear plants into the surrounding air and water.)

The types of cancer that rose most strongly in the Connecticut areas were those types that have been found to be most sensitive to radiation in earlier studies: cancers of the respiratory system (up 37 percent), cancers of the pancreas (up 32 percent), and breast cancer (up 12 percent).

Cancer rates increased most sharply near the Millstone nuclear power plant in Waterford, where the measured strontium 90 levels were highest. Lesser rises were recorded for areas showing lower values of strontium 90 in milk; rates were progressively lower the greater the distance from the Millstone plant.

The Millstone plant started to operate in 1970. Between this time and 1975 (again, the latest date for which detailed statistics are available), the cancer mortality rate rose 58 percent in Waterford,

FCC To Clamp Down On CB Amplifier Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has voted to make it more difficult for Citizens Band radio operators to interfere illegally with television reception and other communications.

The FCC voted 5-1 Thursday to ban the manufacture and sale of linear amplifiers in the 24-to-35-megahertz range that includes the 27-megahertz band used by CBers. It also voted 6-0 to limit the manufacture and sale of linear amplifiers in other ranges to types approved by the commission.

Linear amplifiers are not authorized for use by CBers but can be operated by amateur, or "ham," radio operators. But illegal use of amplifiers by CBers has become the FCC's major enforcement problem.

With use of the amplifier, CB signals can be broadcast hundreds of miles rather than to the normal 5 or 10 miles, interfering with TV and other signals in the process.

The commission accepted a recommendation by Arlan Van Doorn, deputy chief of the FCC's Safety and Special Radio Service Bureau.

It rejected a recommendation by the FCC's chief engineer, Raymond E. Spence, to allow production of the amplifiers to continue but permit sale only of a type tested and approved by the commission.

Van Doorn said that when the sales ban takes effect, at a date to be decided, he expects a rush by merchants "to unload them."

Amateurs who have the amplifiers will be allowed to continue to use them, but Van Doorn said the rule will make it easier to reduce the number of CBers using them.

Van Doorn said the ban will affect amateur operations at 28 and 29 megahertz. However, amateurs will be allowed to build their own amplifiers in that range, he said.

POPULATION PROJECTIONS

Projections by the Census Bureau place the population of the United States at about 260,378,000 by the year 2,000.

Israeli Court Studies Messiah Question

NEW YORK (AP) — Does a Jew who believes that Jesus is the Messiah have the right to become an Israeli citizen under that country's law of return?

That question currently is pending before Israel's High Court as a result of a petition filed by a Bristol, Conn., woman, Eileen Dorflinger, 34, now of Haifa.

It's one of several issues troubling both Americans and Israelis, Christians and Jews, in regard to Israeli policies on religious diversity, equal rights and liberties.

Another controversial issue is a new Israeli law, scheduled to take effect April 1, making anyone offering "material inducement" to an Israeli to change his religion liable to fine and five years in prison.

Also, anyone convicted of converting to another faith for such reason is subject to imprisonment — for three years.

Orthodox Jewish leaders who got the bill through the Knesset (parliament) last December say it was needed to deter non-spiritual leverage on the poor, and point out the law applies equally to Jews and Christians.

But the United Christian Council in Israel, as well as numerous individual pastors there, charge that the law could be "misused in restricting religious liberty" by interpreting any material aid as cause for conversions.

The Rev. Robert L. Lindsey, Southern Baptist representative in Israel, says backers of the new law wanted "legal grounds for further intimidation of Christian citizens and residents in Israel."

However, Yehuda Meir Abrahamowitz, who sponsored the legislation, says, "we merely want to protect our children. There are hundreds of missionaries operating here."

There are about 80,000 Christians in Israel, and some estimates say up to 500 annually are converted to Judaism, usually through marriage. Orthodox Jewish groups say 70 to 80 Jews convert annually to Christianity, but mission leaders say the figure is only about 20.

Religious News

Effects of the law doubtless hinge on how it is interpreted, including answers to such questions as:

Just what is considered a "material inducement"? Would a day-care center or schools open to Jews and Gentiles be in that category? How about a book or pamphlet given to explain the faith? Or food or money given as an act of kindness or friendship?

"Of course we are against any kind of material enticement," says the Rev. Fuad Sakhni, a Nazareth pastor, "but everything we do is done to influence people for the gospel, including preaching, teaching and helping. The difficulty lies in the interpretation which may be given this aid."

As for the case of Miss Dorflinger, whose parents are both American Jews, she insists in her court petition that she remains a Jew although she accepts Jesus "as the Messiah of our people."

"I have not converted to any other religion," she says.

Under the law of return, anyone whose mother is Jewish or who has been converted to Judaism is eligible for Israeli citizenship.

Miss Dorflinger's efforts to be recognized as a Jewish immigrant first were challenged in December 1976, when an Israeli immigration official said she would be expelled because of her professed belief in Jesus. Last November, Israel's High Court said it would consider her claims.

The case is being closely followed by the "Jews for Jesus" group and other Jewish Christians who claim they have not rejected their Jewishness by believing in Jesus but rather are fulfilling it.

Christian Motorcyclists President Visits Lubbock

During the latter part of 1975 and early in 1976, an Arkansas pastor, Herb Shreve, was being lead by the Lord to leave his pastorate at a Hatfield church and enter motorcycle evangelism.

Shreve said in January of 1976, he was hospitalized with open heart surgery. The doctors advised him to give up his church and started full-time to organizing the "Christian Motorcyclists Association." It is now a national organization, and has more than 1,000 members from coast-to-coast.

Shreve, president of the CMA, listed the following purposes of the evangelism on wheels:

—1. To organize and unite individuals involved in motorcycling and to assimilate and distribute information to acquaint motorcyclists with the claims of Jesus Christ.

—2. To promote Christian fellowship among motorcyclists.

—3. To improve the image of motorcycling and motorcyclists.

In May, 1976, Herb Shreve held his first Christian Motorcyclists Association service in a hillside near Kerrville, Tex., in the beautiful Hill Country of Texas. This came during the Kerr County Roadrunners Hill Country Tour.

Shreve said from this point, the Lord has blessed the organization and its ministry and hundreds have been led to Jesus Christ by CMA evangelists.

During 1977, Shreve was in 48 of the 50 states of the U.S. Now the national organization has more than 1,000 members, including those of a Lubbock-South Plains unit.

The Christian Motorcyclists Association is represented in West Texas by Roy Johnson of Levelland, area CMA representative, and Tom Fitzhugh of Lubbock, a national director.

Shreve said the CMA has a 1 1/2-acre campground for weary motorcyclists on U.S. Hwy. 71, 2 miles north of Hatfield, Ark. He said the facility is open to cyclists as a rest stopping point with camping and other facilities for vacation stops.

Shreve, who was in Lubbock Thursday night for a meeting with the local and area CMA members, laughed when he told the meeting how he often rode to state meetings on his motorcycle with his wife accompanying him on hers.

"But," he smiled, "after seeing Lubbock Thursday, I am glad I passed up the motorcycle trip this time."

Lubbock Church To Celebrate First Year Since Founding

Sunday in a $100,000, modernistic church building at 46th Street and Avenue P, Faith Baptist Church, which started with a model piggy bank church in a hospital room at Methodist Hospital, will observe its first anniversary of organization.

Appropriately, the pastor, the Rev. Royce McGowen, who started it all, will be in the pulpit. He will preach at the Sunday morning worship service. A dinner will be served at the church at noon and an afternoon service will follow the dinner, as members celebrate in the "church that faith built."

There will be special music throughout the day.

Here is the story.

Just a year ago, things appeared bleak for Faith Baptist Church, when a young, struggling congregation had to meet each week in the chapel of Resthaven Memorial Park.

And misfortune struck even harder when the pastor, the Rev. Royce

McGowen seriously injured his hand while using a power saw in a shop accident at his home. He was hospitalized and faced plastic surgery and much skin grafting.

The left thumb was almost severed. Surgeons were uncertain if it could be saved at all.

"No flowers, please," Rev. McGowen begged his small congregation, which had started from scratch with no assets but faith and a handful of members in early 1977.

"Give me the money (intended for flowers) to the church building fund," the pastor asked.

The members took Rev. McGowen at his word. Some of them built a little white model church of wood, complete with steeple. It had a slot to receive building fund contributions.

The "piggy bank" church model sat beside Rev. McGowen's hospital bed. Nurses, doctors, and others, got into the spirit of the thing, along with church members

Today, Faith Baptist Church is holding its anniversary service in a handsome brick structure. Rev. McGowen estimated the little 16 by 7-inch church model, brought in $600 to $700 after a feature story and photo of it ran in the Avalanche-Journal, May 1, 1977.

"We started with this and raised $20,000 to pay down on a church building," Rev. McGowen recalled.

As it turned out a "ready built" church building was obtained by Faith Baptist from Crestview Assembly of God Church, which planned to build a new church on Loop 289 west of 34th Street.

The church structure at 46th Street and Avenue P is handsomely decorated and equipped. The auditorium will seat 200 to 250 persons.

Faith Baptist Church went above the 150 members mark during the first year, and still is growing.

Faith Baptist Church is an independent Baptist Church and not affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention.

CHRISTIAN BANKER — Charles R. Battin, who recently was named president of the First National Bank at Levelland, in addition to being a civic leader, is treasurer of the First Nazarene Church at Levelland. He is a graduate of Lubbock High School and Texas Tech, and is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Buford Battin of Lubbock.

Agriculture Missionary Visits Lubbock Church

Ronald D. Preston, an agricultural missionary in Honduras for the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., who is on a tour of 14 churches in the Palo Duró Union Presbytery, will be in Lubbock area Sunday through Tuesday of next week.

He will speak to a family night supper at the First Presbyterian Church of Plainview Sunday night, with Grace Presbyterian of that city also invited. At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, he will address a meeting at Grace Presbyterian Church of Lubbock.

Dr. and Mrs. A.W. Young of Lubbock will be hosts for a tour of agriculture in West Texas for the visitor.

Preston, a native of Burchard, Neb., and a University of Nebraska graduate, previously served as an agricultural missionary in Ethiopia for the United Presbyterian Church. His present assignment in Honduras is in agricultural community development.

During this assignment, the missionary has been instrumental in securing funds for school construction in that region, for the installation of wells and pumps in villages, for grain storage programs, distribution of seeds, insecticides, and animal medicines.

Preston and his wife work in a cooperative literacy program, in a village crafts project, and in the distribution of Bibles.

Now in her 27th year, Queen Elizabeth II has surpassed all but six British monarchs in length of reign.

Wayland To Host Pastors, Laymen Meet

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Wayland Baptist College here will host the 57th annual session of the Panhandle Pastors/Laymen Conference, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Sessions will be held in Herral Memorial Auditorium on the campus of Wayland. The program will include six sessions, one each morning, afternoon, and night of the two days.

The Rev. Doyle Holmes of Lubbock, director of missions for the Lubbock Baptist Association, said: "Each year, the pastors and laymen conference is the most inspirational Southern Baptist meeting held in West Texas."

The program this year will include in-depth Bible study, teaching, inspirational music. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Dr. Dan Vestal, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Midland, will be the visiting evangelist for the conference. Before taking leadership of the Midland church, Dr. Vestal was a full-time evangelist. He is well known for Bible-centered preaching.

The Bible teacher for the conference will be Dr. Joel Gregory, pastor of Gambrell Street Baptist Church of Fort Worth, where he moved from Emmanuel Baptist Church of Waco in 1977. He led the inner-city church at Waco to increase 300 per cent in attendance and other categories in a two-year period. He has a doctorate degree from Baylor University. He will be teaching the subject "The Kingdom of God" in the conference here.

Dr. Charles McLaughlin, secretary of the State Mission Commission for the General Baptist General Convention of Texas, is a frequent speaker in West Texas. He will speak on Tuesday morning on "Bold Missions."

Dr. Winfred Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Amarillo, will preach on "The Second Coming" at the closing session Tuesday night. Dr. Moore is said to have one of the largest television audiences in the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, with religious broadcast.

Rosie Bayer of Houston, will be guest soloist for each of the sessions of the conference.

Mary and Bob had driven out of their way to come to this little country church where Mary's grandparents and great-grandfather were buried.

Mary hadn't wanted to come — but she felt it was her duty since they were so near. Now, standing in the quiet winter sunlight, she sensed a feeling of peace and strength, rather than of loss and sadness, which she had expected. All at once she realized that the faith that had seen her forebears through the complexities of their lives could be an ever-present sense of strength for her too.

But it is not enough to adopt the faith of our fathers. Each person must find their own. The Church stands ready to help, its doors are open to all who search, and within its portals you will find that "peace which passeth all understanding."

Winchester Arms Heiress' Spirit Said To Haunt Former Residence

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — When she was alive Sarah Winchester was troubled by the dead. Half a century after her death, psychics say she is troubled by the living.

Heiress to the Winchester arms fortune, Sarah was mistress of the famous Winchester Mystery House, an architectural curiosity which stands as a memorial to her obsessive fear of the souls, especially Indians, who died at the hands of the famous Winchester repeating rifle.

The house is San Jose's most famous tourist attraction and annually attracts tourists who pay $3.75 apiece to take the mile-long tour of its 160 rooms.

How many tourists is a mystery in itself. The private investors who bought the home from Mrs. Winchester's niece will not say, nor will they identify themselves.

But if psychics who have conducted seances at the house the past two Halloweens are to be believed, Sarah's ghost is unhappy with the rubberneckers.

Jeanne Borgen, a psychic from Pinole, Calif., says she communicated with Mrs. Winchester's spirit during a publicized seance at the house on Halloween two years ago.

"She said she didn't want people in the house," said Mrs. Borgen. "She didn't want anybody nosing about her business. She wanted to be left alone."

Mrs. Winchester repeated her complaints while communicating with three mediums during the 1977 Halloween seance. Both seances were conducted in the room where Mrs. Winchester reportedly communicated with the spirit world.

Roger LaFountain, an assistant manager of the house, says strange noises are still heard there.

"In June, I had some people in waxing and buffing the floors at night. They were waiting for a floor to dry and they heard footsteps up on the third floor which couldn't have possibly been because there wasn't anyone there.

"Our caretaker who lives right here, Brent Miller, he's always hearing weird things. One time he told me that he heard somebody unscrewing a screw and it hitting the floor and bouncing up onto a carpet runner. He went in there and couldn't find anything. Sometimes, he'll lock the locks on the gates and go out and find the locks unlocked."

LaFountain said he himself has had only one unusual experience.

"One day I came in and was opening up the house and the light bulb in the seance room had exploded. There was no reason. I mean it actually just exploded. It wasn't raining or anything. It was in the summertime."

It is said that Sarah, after the death of her infant daughter and her husband 15 years later, became a spiritualist and turned to a seer in New Haven, Conn., who advised her to assuage the anger of the ghosts by moving west and continually building onto her home at the direction of the spirits.

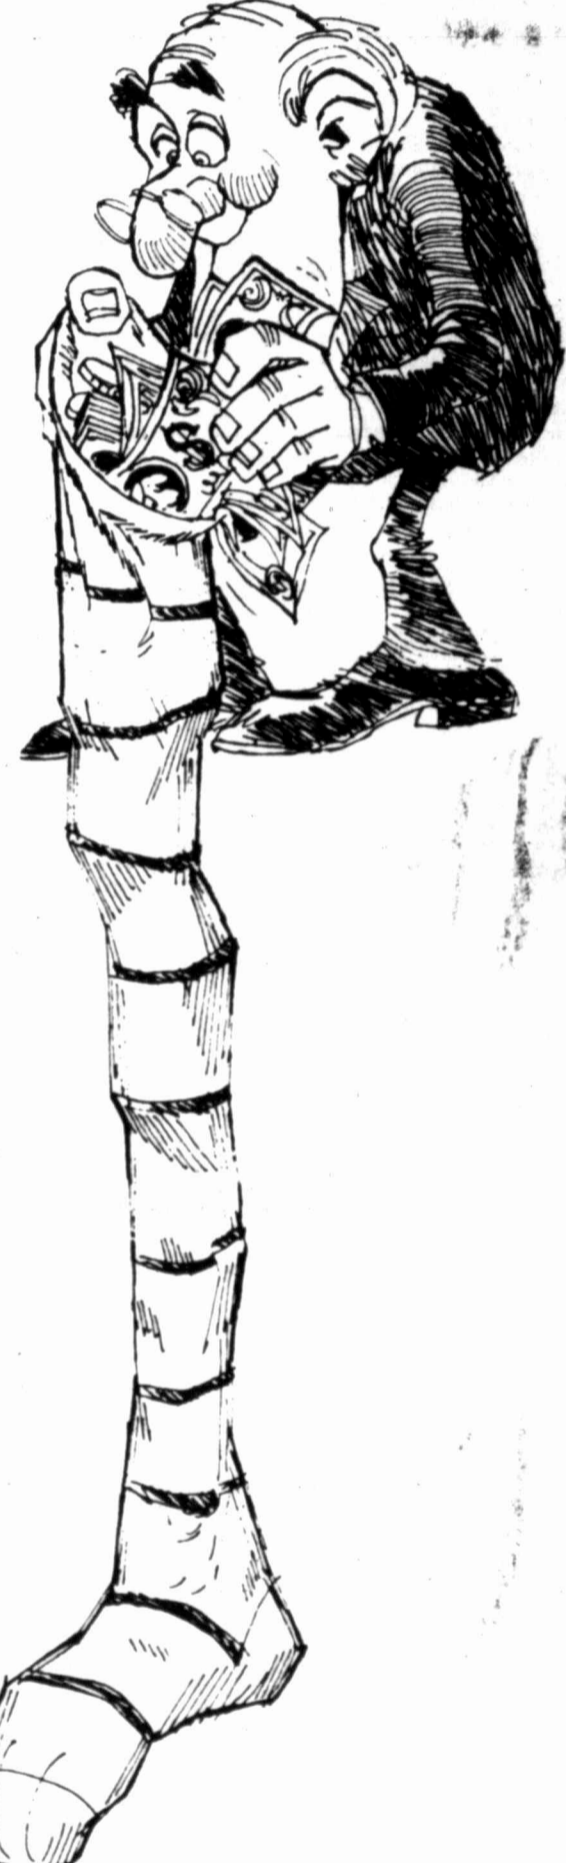

Sometime around 1884, Sarah moved to the Santa Clara Valley and purchased an eightroom farmhouse. For the next 38 years, she kept 10 to 22 carpenters busy around the clock on the house, consulting with the spirits each evening in a special seance room, sketching her ideas on bits of paper and tablecloths.

She eventually spent $5.5 million on the Victorian house.

Councilmen Fight Over Peanuts

WESTFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Westfield city councilors can't decide if eating peanuts in session is proper, so they've referred the question to committee.

At Thursday night's meeting City Council President Edwin Morawiec became annoyed by colleague Charles Medeiros, who sat shelling and eating peanuts. Morawiec asked other councilors to support his complaint against Medeiros, arguing "I'm sick and tired of these antics going on in the City Council...either we all do it or none do it."

Medeiros continued to munch peanuts from a brown bag on top of his desk. "I legislate better when I eat peanuts," he responded, and said he saw nothing in the city charter to prohibit it.

Councilors voted to refer the issue to the ethics committee.

"It'll take a lot of research," commented City Solicitor John Burke.

Women's Group Objects To Contest

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Weber State College is planning a "cleavage contest" to raise money for a campus literary magazine. The local chapter of the National Organization for Women says it will picket the contest if it takes place.

President Cathy Cox of the Ogden NOW chapter said the contest, scheduled to be held within the next week or two, was "offensive to many students" and would exploit people.

H and M Body Works, an off-campus group sponsoring the contest, said money it received would help finance the annual student literary publication, First Stone.

After Miss Cox objected to possible contest advertising in the campus newspaper, The Signpost, editor Val Williams canceled contest ads that would have appeared next Tuesday. Williams said the ads would "undermine the paper's credibility" and he did not want the newspaper connected with the contest.

H and M spokesman Dale Hicks stressed that both sexes could sign up for the contest. He said nudity would not be permitted and participants would be judged in swimsuits or T-shirts. Prizes would be awarded.

Hicks said the women's group had "lost their sense of humor."

'Unsafe Backing' Nets Ticket

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — A man was arrested Friday after driving backwards for about 30 miles because of transmission problems, police said.

Anthony R. Lentolo, 28, of Friendship, N.Y., was arrested when police spotted him driving his pickup-type vehicle backwards on the Southern Tier Expressway.

Lentolo, a swimming pool installer, said the transmission trouble prevented the car from going forward. He said he entered the expressway at Falconer and drove about 30 miles to Friendship.

He was charged with unsafe backing.

State Department Retains Interpreter

NEW YORK (AP) — Steven Seymour, the interpreter who misinterpreted some of President Carter's remarks on his December trip to Poland, remains officially employed by the State Department.

He is currently translating Russian in Soviet-American talks in Geneva, department spokesmen confirmed Friday.

"His status remains the same. He is a language contractor of ours," said Nora Lejins, chief of the State Department's Language Services Branch in Washington.

She described Seymour's current State Department assignment as classified and declined to disclose what the talks involved or how long Seymour's job would last.

Seymour, a freelance interpreter who reportedly earns $150 a day for his services, had been criticized for altering the meaning of some of Carter's remarks when he translated them from English to Polish. After his errors, Seymour was replaced as Carter's interpreter in the midst of his stay in Poland.

Anti-Jewish Play Script Abandoned

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Christian and Jewish leaders Friday hailed a decision by the town council of Oberammergau, Germany, to replace a script for the village's world-famous passion play that has been widely criticized as anti-Jewish.

It's a step of "great significance," said Eugene Fisher, head of the U.S. Catholic Bishops' Office of Catholic-Jewish Relations. "We join in congratulating the people of Oberammergau with great satisfaction and great joy."

The U.S. religious representatives told a news conference at offices of the American Jewish Committee that the Oberammergau town council voted Feb. 8 to substitute a theologically more accurate version for a text that had been used for a century and often assailed as biased and anti-Semitic.

It portrayed the "collective guilt of Jews as the source of the death of Jesus," said Miles Jaffe of Detroit, head of the AJC interreligious affairs commission, noting that the newly adopted version blames the "human sin of mankind as a whole."

"It's a theme of all of us will be able to share," he said.

Church representatives noted that a basic Christian concept is the universal human responsibility for Jesus' death, and that believers share in the redemption only by recognizing their share in that responsibility.

The Rev. Nathan H. Vanderwerf of the National Council of Churches including most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, said the change would be heartily welcomed by Christians in this country.

"As Christians, we must do whatever we can to eliminate the notion that Jews in any collective sense can be condemned for the death of Jesus," he said. "This is theologically unacceptable and untenable."

Leaders of the AJC have conferred with Oberammergau officials in the German Bavarian village twice in the past year, last August and again in January, about the problem. It has caused considerable ferment there as well as elsewhere. The play is produced every 10 years, and draws thousands of visitors.

For the 1980 production, the town decided to abandon the long-used text written in 1860 by a priest named Joseph Alois Daisenberg, and to substitute a play written in 1750 by a Benedictine monk, Ferdinand Rosner, the U.S. religious leaders said.

HIGHWAY OPENS

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A six-mile, $40.4 million stretch of the McAllister Expressway recently was opened officially to traffic across the north side of San Antonio.

Sicily Attracts Many Tourists

TAORMINA, ITALY (UPI) — Sicily is one of the fastest growing vacation areas in Italy, thanks to new hotels, an expanding super highway system, and ever-dependable climate that endeared it through the centuries to Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, Normans and Spanish who called it home.

Because of these succeeding cultures, the Mediterranean's largest island is rich in sightseeing attractions, which an ever-larger number of American tourists are beginning to discover. Package tours, such as Alitalia Airlines' "Sun and Sea" plan including accommodations at Taormina, are helping travelers beat inflation.

The two internationally renowned hotels are the historic San Domenico, which is open year-round and most popular in winter, and the three-year-old Capotaormina, which is open from March to November, the rainless months. The San Domenico, converted from a monastery many years ago, is permeated by the aura of a more formal period, so that its magnificent garden-set swimming pool seems almost an anachronism.

The Capotaormina is one of the few Taormina hotels to have its own beach. The beach and the pool, which overflows into the sea, are several levels below the hotel and must be reached by elevator connecting with beautiful access tunnels blasted from the living rock. Taormina's beaches are shingle (gravel), so don't forget to pack sandals.

Milanes architect G7lio Minoletti anchored the six-floor mocha-colored hotel to a rocky promontory so cleverly that it is hard to distinguish from the native stone at a distance. The circular building, all rooms facing the sea, has a verdant setting of cypress, olive, oleander and cactus and a splendid view of two seagirt rocks resembling Capri's Faraglioni. Interior decor is modern but warm in subdued Mediterranean colors.

"We have very good business in the summer and also the shoulder periods (March-June, September and October)."

ly's most important since the demise of the Venice Film Festival, in July. The 10-day festival is held in the ancient Greek Theater, whose columned, stage frames a panoramic coastal view. The theater offers a three-week international drama and opera festival in August. New York's La Mamma Company performing "Medea," "Electra," and "The Trojan" was the attraction last season.

Exploring the old town, especially the main shopping street, Corso Umberto, and driving to the smoldering cone of 10,500-foot Mount Etna by Landrover are favorite diversions for visitors.

Soviets Rely On Odessa As Port, Tourist Site

ODESSA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — This Black Sea port, touted as the gateway to the "Soviet Riviera," is known to both Soviet and foreign vacationers for its sunshine, excellent beaches and health spas.

Winter visitors to Odessa, however, may well be more comfortable in heavy fur-lined boots rather than sandals.

Even though Odessa is the southernmost major port in the European part of the Soviet Union, it is on about the same latitude as Duluth, Minn., and January temperatures occasionally dip as low as 19 degrees below zero.

Damp, chilling winds gust in off the sea, whipping through the bare multiple rows of trees along Primorsky Boulevard, the city's main seafaring promenade. Only a handful of older residents, gazing out to sea, sit bundled-up on the benches which line the boulevard.

Year-Round Port
While Odessa's none-too-temperate winter climate keeps away most tourists, it doesn't shut down the port, which remains open year-round offering Soviet merchant and naval fleets vital warm-water access to the Black Sea, Mediterranean and beyond.

The highly mechanized port is the busiest on the Black Sea, every year handling hundreds of vessels for an annual total of about 90 million tons of shipping, according to Soviet statistics.

During the 19th century, Odessa emerged as Russia's chief wheat-exporting port at a time when the czarist empire was the biggest exporter of wheat in the world. Grain was loaded on sailing vessels after being brought to Odessa from the rich black-earth agricultural belt of the Ukraine.

Now, by contrast, Odessa serves as the port of entry for much of the U.S. and other foreign grain which the Soviet Union has been importing in recent years.

Cargo passing through the port also includes oil, chemicals, coal, minerals, industrial machinery and various other manufactured goods.

Whaling Fleet Headquarters
Odessa is headquarters for the Soviet Antarctic whaling fleet, whose ships steam every autumn out of the harbor at Sukhoi Liman, 15 miles away, to begin seven-month voyages covering overall distances of up to 30,000 miles.

In addition, a naval harbor just west of Odessa is the homeport for the Soviet Black Sea fleet, with a strength of 60 major surface combat ships and 20 submarines. The fleet ensures that, in military terms, the Black Sea remains basically a Soviet lake.

For crew members of visiting foreign vessels, Soviet authorities operate an international sailors' club as well as a ship chandlery, where the merchant sailors can buy Western cigarettes, liquor and other items for special coupons purchased with foreign currency.

Initial History
Odessa initially owed its existence as a major port to the late 18th-century drive by Empress Catherine the Great for a wider Russian opening on the Black Sea.

In 1789, during the third Russo-Turkish War, a force of Russian soldiers and Ukrainian Cossacks seized the Turkish fortress and town of Hadji Bey which had been built on the site, commanding a wide, strategically important gulf.

Six years later the town was renamed Odessa, after an ancient Greek village called Odessos. Subsequent archaeological studies, however, have found no evidence to confirm the existence of any such Greek settlement along this stretch of the Black Sea coast.

Odessa grew rapidly in the years after Duke Richelieu Armand Emmanuel du Plessis, a descendant of France's powerful Cardinal Richelieu, was appointed mayor in 1803. Customs duties channeled into the municipal treasury financed the construction of theaters, banks, institutes and other public buildings.

Poet Alexander Pushkin, who lived in Odessa while exiled from St. Petersburg in 1823-24, praised the young city's merging of European styles with the exotic wares, accents and pleasures of the Near East, such as hookah water-pipes and thick, bitter Turkish coffee.

Odessa's burgeoning mercantile wealth resulted in the building of several seafaring palaces, designed in classical style by architects including the Italian Boffo and Thomas de Thomon.

Boffo also designed the distinctive 192-step stone staircase — built narrower at the top than at the bottom to create the illusion of greater length — leading from Primorsky Boulevard down to the port area.

The staircase was the scene of mass bloodshed during the abortive 1905 revolution, when Cossack troops moved in to crush Odessa workers gathering at the harbor's edge to greet mutinous sailors of the battleship Potemkin.

In the civil war following the 1917 revolution, Odessa changed hands several times and was temporarily occupied by French and British troops. The last White Russian forces retreated down the "Potemkin Steps" before fleeing by sea in 1920.

Soviet rule has brought extensive industrialization and a more staid tone to life in Odessa, but the city nonetheless retains a reputation for diversity, playfulness and cunning.

Odessa's population of just over a million includes a sizable Jewish community along with Russians, Ukrainians, Armenians, Moldavians, Turks, Greeks, Bulgarians and Gypsies.

This diversity can be sensed as a visitor strolls along Deribasovskaya Street, Odessa's main shopping thoroughfare. Even in mid-winter, women sell various goods not only at enclosed kiosks, but also from open-air tables set out on the sidewalk — fruit, pastries, books, cosmetics, toys and more. On nearby Lenin Street, a Gypsy woman purveys a trayful of leather belts fitted with an assortment of handmade brass buckles.

Keen Wit Traditional
Traditionally, keen wit and a kind of innate disrespect have been considered characteristic of the Odessa frame of mind.

Although the official Soviet spring holiday is May 1, the international Labor Day, Odessa begins staging springtime festivities a month earlier — to mark April Fool's Day.

One Soviet engineer working on the Baikal-Amur railway project in eastern Siberia recently wrote to an Odessa newspaper announcing that he planned to ride the whole distance on his motorcycle — about 4,000 miles — so he wouldn't miss out on the April 1 celebration.

Odessa also has gained notoriety around the Soviet Union due to the near-legendary scope of its black-market operations, nourished by ready access to foreign goods and currency via the bustling port.

On a smaller scale, Westerners walking along Odessa's streets find themselves constantly approached by furtive Soviet entrepreneurs pressing to buy their clothes or exchange rubles for hard currency at black-market rates.

"Kids? Let 'em eat free, I always say."
—Of Doc Chumley

Now that Grand Opening time has arrived, Of Doc Chumley's become generous. His grin is wide and open, and so is his pocketbook. Because all kids will eat free during the Grand Opening celebration at Of Doc Chumley's restaurant at the Hilton Inn.

If that doesn't please all you parents, Doc's prescribing a hearty platter for your grown-up appetite. It's called "Down Home Cookin'." For only $4.95 you can get Texas-size portions of meaty ribs, hot links, red beans, potato salad and corn on the cob.

There are plenty of other platters and entrees to choose from at Of Doc Chumley's. And it's all served in a fun-filled medicine show atmosphere. If you're young at heart, you'll love it. If you can prove it, you'll eat free.

For: Kids only.
Use before: Monday, March 20, 1978.

All kids eat free at Of Doc Chumley's restaurant. That's what the Doctor orders and we have to live with it. So, bring this prescription in to the Hilton Inn before March 20, 1978, and place your favorite order. Your money's no good, but only if you're a kid under the age of 12.

Suddenly-Blind Trucker Steered To Safety By Helpful CBer

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — "Blue Fiche" was busy Friday trying to keep his customers' minds on business rather than his sudden fame, while "Kentucky Rifle," the trucker he says he talked to safety, flew home to Michigan to cope with his blindness.

"Blue Fiche" is the CB-radio name or "handle" belonging to Randy Jones who revealed he guided Francis Gilmore to a safe stop on the Kansas Turnpike when the truck driver suddenly lost his sight. The 30-year-old Jones, an account representative for Eastman Kodak, called on clients during the day but found they only wanted to discuss his role in helping Gilmore.

Gilmore checked out of an El Dorado, Kan., hospital where he spent the night under observation and drove with his boss to Wichita to catch a flight home to Grand Rapids, Mich.

Except for their encounter of only minutes on the turnpike Wednesday, the two men never met. But neither is likely to forget the other's voice, and Jones said he looks forward to meeting Gilmore one day.

"I'm sure we will meet, sooner or later," he said. "I feel like he's a friend. I feel like he's as much a friend as any that I've had in Wichita in three years. We'll be keeping in touch in the mail."

Confused and frightened by his sudden blindness, Gilmore has refused to talk with anyone but his wife, representatives of his Lansing, Mich., truck firm and Jones since Wednesday night.

But his wife, Joanne, said from their home in Grand Rapids Friday that hearing from Jones "made him happier than anything."

Mrs. Gilmore said her husband plans to consult with a Grand Rapids neurologist upon returning home and may check into a hospital later.

A Kansas highway patrolman who drove Gilmore to an El Dorado eye doctor Wednesday said the physician told him that Gilmore suffered from hysterical blindness, a rare disorder caused by emotional stress.

Gilmore was driving a truck carrying eight new cars from Lansing to Wichita when he suddenly went blind about 35 miles short of his destination. Jones saw Gilmore's truck swerving back and forth.

"Somebody help me," Jones quoted Gilmore as saying. "Can anybody see this portable parking lot moving all over the road?"

Jones said, "It was obvious that he was in trouble, and all I did was, I guided him by keeping him informed of exactly where on the road, in relation to the center line and the shoulders, he was. 'Ease on the brake, turn a little to the right, no, back to the left.'"

Jones said he was able to talk Gilmore to a stop on the shoulder of the road, a half-mile short of a series of curves.

He then broadcast for assistance after Gilmore asked him to get help, and several other CB-equipped motorists located the patrolman.

The identity of the man who helped Gilmore was a mystery until late Thursday when after reading of the incident, Jones telephoned Gilmore at the El Dorado motel where he was staying.

"He was super glad to hear from me," Jones said. "He said he was waiting to hear, wondering if I would call. I talked to him and I told him, 'You know, I really feel something very different, because I never saved anyone's life before.'"

PHILADELPHIA EXHIBIT
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Forty-five works of art are included in a current exhibit, "The Last 3 Years: A Selection of Recent Acquisitions," at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts here. The exhibition features oil paintings, watercolors, drawings, preparatory sketches, tapestries and a stained glass window, by artists such as Anshutz, Calder, Kline, LaFarge and Parrish. Closing date for the exhibit is April 19.

County Republicans Set Endorsements

The Active Republicans of Lubbock County (ARLC) are about to do something "unheard of," said ARLC Chairman Bill Wigley.

The group is scheduled to hold its first annual convention today at which Republican candidates for office will be endorsed.

"This has never been done before in this part of the country," Wigley said, adding "for a Republican to endorse a Republican is unheard of."

Although most Republican candidates are expected to attend the convention, to begin at 1:30 p.m. at 7707 Knoxville Drive, the three Republicans running for the 19th District congressional seat and the two Republican candidates for state representative in District 75-A have the most to win or lose from the endorsements.

Congressional candidates to compete for the endorsement are Midland oilman George Bush, former Odessa Mayor Jim Reese and retired Air Force Lt. Col. Joe Hickox.

Running for District 75-A representative as Republicans are Nolan "Buzz" Robnett, a real estate broker, and Jack Chappell, a Lubbock attorney.

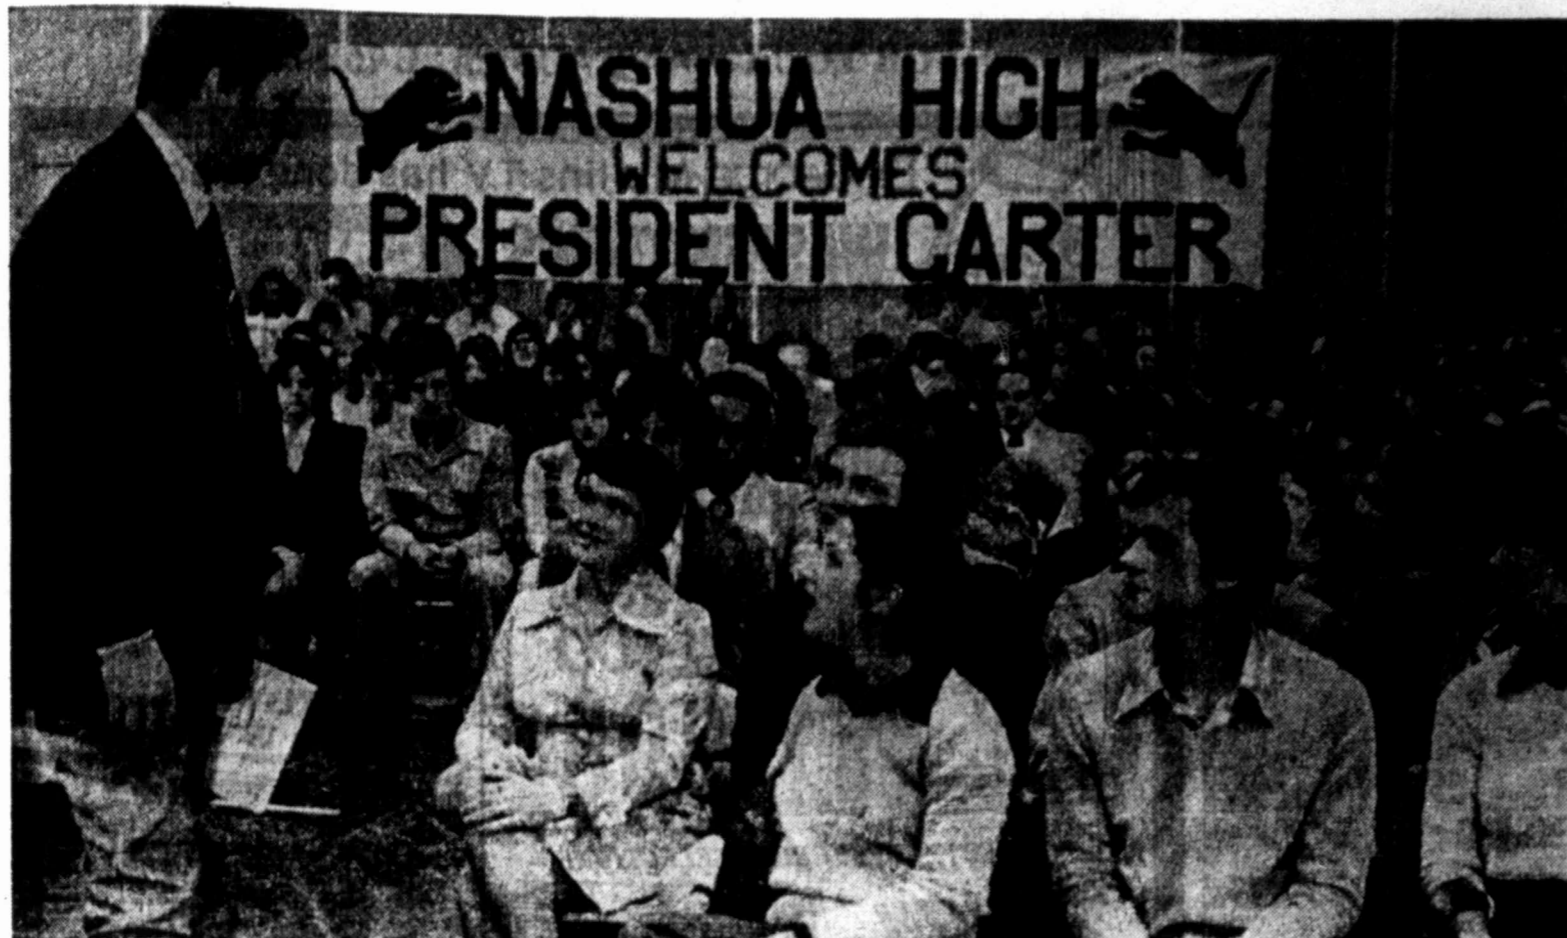

Wigley said candidates would be introduced to ARLC members before the group breaks into caucuses, then the candidates would be individually questioned by the smaller groups.

"If the group feels one way or another" a candidate may be endorsed, Wigley said. However, a vote of two-thirds of those present is required for an endorsement so it conveys a "pretty strong feeling," Wigley said.

The endorsements are expected to "have a very dramatic effect" sometime in the future, but Wigley said it is unknown what impact the first endorsements will have.

ARLC's stand on candidates will have an effect, he said, because three things are necessary to win an election — a strong candidate, money and volunteers. ARLC is composed of the latter, the people who do the work, he said.

However, if no endorsement is made in a race, "it is not intended to be negative," Wigley said.

WHAT WILL YOU SAY TO THE PRESIDENT — ABC-TV commentator David Hartman questions New Hampshire High School students Friday morning during live broadcast of "Good Morning, America" from Nashua High School. The students, from high schools around the state, will meet president Carter Saturday morning in a

City Duo Reportedly Held Six Days

Lubbock man and Hobbs, N.M., woman were reportedly abducted outside Carlsbad, N.M., bar last Friday night and taken on a six-day spree in which they were blindfolded, beaten and held in an El Paso apartment before being shoved out of a car about seven miles southeast of Tucson, Ariz., about 4 p.m. Thursday.

Pima County sheriff's deputies in Tucson were searching this morning for three men who allegedly kidnapped Billy C. Brown, 39, of 2003 52nd St. and Karen L. Young, 32, of Hobbs.

Pima County Sheriff's Det. Ralph Marmion said the couple was shoved out of the suspects' moving car, at which time the victims were able to remove their blindfolds and call for help at a nearby trailer park.

Both were treated and released at Kino Memorial Park Hospital and this morning were reportedly staying at a private residence owned by Victim and Witness Advocate Program, a local counseling organization.

Marmion said he was told by the couple they were fed only a hamburger and cups of coffee during the week-long ordeal. The three suspects—one Mexican-American, and two white males — had numerous arguments about whether to kill the couple, Marmion said.

The leader of the group, Marmion said, reportedly talked with a lip and was known as "Mr. Wayne." The men were driving a cream-colored, older-model Chevrolet stationwagon with wooden sides and Texas or New Mexico license plates.

Brown was said to have lost $2,600 in the kidnapping and his companion was robbed of $40.

While Brown could not be contacted this morning, his wife said here that she talked to her husband about 8 p.m. Thursday at which time he said he was "alive and well."

She said her husband, a sales representative for Phoenix-based Whitfield Tank Lines, Inc., had left Lubbock Tuesday on a business trip.

Pima County deputies were told the incident started when the pair got into Brown's unlocked car outside the bar and a man hidden in the back seat used a knife to convince them to drive to a commercial area, where they met two men in another car.

They were then blindfolded and, they believe, driven to El Paso where they were kept in separate rooms in an apartment, deputies in Tucson said.

However, FBI officials in Phoenix, who have entered the case, said it was not confirmed the kidnap route was through El Paso.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I have about $2,700 in savings and would like to speculate with about half of it in fast turnover situations. I've lost money in other forms of investing. I'm a widow in my mid-60s who has read your column often but have never found one which would help me.

A. I'm afraid you're going to be disappointed again.

I know of no "fast turnover" program I can suggest for a widow in her mid-60s who has only $2,700 to lose.

There is only one place for that money — as I see it — and that is in an insured savings account.

Q. I own some bonds which are to be called in 1982. How can I protect myself?

A. I think you mean that the bonds are CALLABLE in 1982. In other words that the "non-callable" period expires then. I don't think a corporation would normally announce a call four years before the fact. If money rates are materially higher then, it may well decide not to call — to let the bonds remain outstanding.

Secondly, you can't protect yourself. If the entire issue is refunded, you must turn in the bonds for the redemption price. If your particular bonds are among those chosen by lot for sinking fund redemption, you must turn them in.

Q. I inherited some old-line utility stocks which paid well. The broker made me sell and put the money into mutuals, paying quarterly and monthly. But it seems that every time I sell some mutual shares I lose money.

A. There is no such thing as a broker "making" you do anything...any more than you can be "made" to buy a dress you don't like. If you feel you're being unduly pressured, you just walk out.

The stocks you held were providing good income. The bond fund you bought does a good job for you. I am not clear on the second fund. But if your sale of shares results in a net annual decline in your holdings you are evidently drawing too much money every month. You are far too young to begin exhausting capital. Tell the fund you want to reduce your monthly withdrawal to an amount that the fund has shown it can generate

Q. When I was still working I bought $15,000 worth of hospital bonds. Since reading your column I've had reservations about my investment. Shouldn't I have been able to double my investment in 10 years?

A. Money invested at 7.2 percent will double in 10 years — if income taxes on the annual interest are paid from another source. Since you pay no taxes on these bonds and the yield is in this percentage range, you HAVE doubled your money in 10 years.

If you thought that the bond you bought at, say, 100 would go to 200, you failed to understand what you were buying. Bonds — of any sort (corporate or Treasury or tax-exempts) are not a double-your-money vehicle. They are income providers. If you still need tax-free income, you're doing OK.

SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column. For information to check on absolute securities, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your requests to Sam Shulsky, care of King Features Syndicate, 235 East 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Trustee Seeks Re-Election

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Joan Ervin said today she will seek re-election to the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees after all. At a morning press conference, Mrs. Ervin announced she has reconsidered last month's decision to retire from the board.

"A few weeks ago I chose not to seek re-election to serve as a member of the board of trustees. Since that time, I received numerous calls from individuals and groups asking me to reconsider," said Mrs. Ervin, who was first elected to the board in 1970.

"You emphasized the need of a 'people' person, an experienced person, as a trustee as we journey through the days ahead preparing a (desegregation) plan for presentation to the court," she added.

Mrs. Ervin, who holds Place 1 on the board and now serves as the governing body's secretary, said, "It would be very easy for a person to turn his back and walk away from the heavy load" facing school trustees.

But out of "concern" for the community and in light of recent contacts from various individuals and organizations, Mrs. Ervin stated: "I have reconsidered as you requested. I will continue to represent our boys and girls" by seeking another six-year term on the school board.

In 1970, Mrs. Ervin, a secretary in IBM's field engineering division, was elected to fill an unexpired term on the board. She won a full term in 1972.

To retain her Place 1 seat in the April 1 school board election, Mrs. Ervin will have to beat at least three other candidates — part-time secretary and civic worker Lynn Stafford, pathologist Dr. John Ray Jr., and highway department accountant Bill Warren.

Mrs. Ervin is the first and only black to serve on the Lubbock school board. Without specifically referring to that fact, she said she believes it "super-important" that all parts of the city be represented by the district in drafting a plan to meet U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward's desegregation order.

"We are going to comply with the judge's decision," Mrs. Ervin said. She was noncommittal, however, about whether she advocates a minimal-compliance plan or a systemwide integration plan. That issue, she said, is one the full board must decide.

Mrs. Ervin and her husband Clarence L. Ervin Sr. reside at 2806 Walnut Ave. A graduate of Dunbar High, Mrs. Ervin attended Prairie View A&M.

The Ervins have two grown sons — one of them, Clarence Jr., a teacher in the Brownfield school system.

Mrs. Ervin is active in church and community work. She is secretary of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and a member of Black Business and Professional Women. She serves as secretary and young people's director at New Hope Baptist Church.

Mrs. Ervin named Dr. F.L. Lovings as her campaign manager.

Farms, Dairies Offer Tours

NORFOLK, Conn. (UPI) — On the theory that people delight in watching someone else work, several of Connecticut's farms, dairies, nurseries, even a "working" forest, now welcome visitors who want to take a "behind-the-scenes" look at their daily operations.

Great Mountain Forest, near the village of Norfolk in the northwestern corner of the state, sprawls across 6,800 acres of the Berkshire foothills. Unlike Longfellow's "forest primeval," Great Mountain reverberates to the ring of axes and the shouts of loggers, working among the murmuring pines and the hemlocks. A small sawmill and planer convert the rough logs into planks and boards and visitors may inspect the entire process from selecting and felling the trees to finishing the lumber.

During March and April sugarers take to the hills to tap the forest's maples. The sap is toted in buckets to a central sugar house where it is slowly simmered down to its more familiar, golden, breakfast table form.

While Connecticut can claim only 10 or 12 native species of conifers, Great Mountain Forest is the home of more than 100 varieties collected from all over the world.

For reservations write Darrell F. Russ, Forester, Great Mountain Forest, Norfolk, Conn. 06058 at least one week in advance of arrival.

REAL ESTATE MATH & BASIC REAL ESTATE COURSES

Begins Feb. 20 & 28th. The classes will meet Tue. and Thur. from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. These courses cover the fundamentals of business math and provide the initial instruction necessary for license application.

AT FENNER'S PLACE AT THE AUTO SHOW THIS WEEK 1978 MOTOR TREND MAGAZINE CAR OF THE YEAR PLYMOUTH HORIZON

ECONOMY ... 38 MPG HWY 25 MPG CITY 29 COMB INED

Fuel economy? You bet. Based on EPA estimates, Horizon equipped with manual transmission, is rated at 38 mpg, highway, 25 mpg, city. Your actual mileage may differ, depending on how and where you drive, the condition of your car and its optional equipment.

- SPACE. COMFORT. LUXURY.
- RAIN. SNOW. WIND.
- CURVES. BUMPS. RUTS.

Engine is transverse-mounted 104.7 CID V-6, 4-cylinder, overhead-cam power plant with Electronic Lean Burn, 4-wheel drive. Exceptional front and rear seat head and leg room for four passengers. 4 doors plus hatchback to luggage compartment. Full bucket seats in front are standard, individually adjustable.

The front wheels both steer and drive, with the weight of the engine over the front wheels, you get good traction, good handling, good control, good stability.

There's ample suspension travel to absorb bumps; rubber bushings to cushion them; coil springs to soak up road shocks. An anti-sway bar in the front suspension.

Haldeman Book Sparks Denials, Disagreements

By The Associated Press

H.R. Haldeman's book on Watergate and the Richard Nixon presidency sparked new denials and disagreements Friday as "The Ends of Power" officially went on sale, drawing a steady stream of buyers.

The 352-page, $12.95 book was originally to be released Feb. 27, but was rushed out early after excerpts of the manuscript were leaked. The leak to The Washington Post touched off a furor in publishing circles and among newspapers and magazines that had paid thousands of dollars for the rights to publish parts of the story next week.

Most of the key figures — Nixon himself, Haldeman and chief White House domestic adviser John Ehrlichman — were silent or had little of substance to say about the book.

Haldeman issued a statement saying he was not in a position "to respond to the many questions and comments arising from the news reports of portions of my book ... I will simply say that I believe the book in its totality speaks for itself."

There was sharp reaction from Moscow, however, to Haldeman's claim that the Soviet Union asked the United States in 1969 to join in a nuclear attack on China. According to Haldeman, the Russians planned to go ahead on their own after Nixon rejected the offer, but backed away after diplomatic and intelligence efforts by the United States.

The Soviet news agency Tass described Haldeman's account as "nonsensical statements ... a lie from beginning to end." The agency said U.S. newspapers "continued to spread the fabrication," despite denials by American officials.

William Rogers, then secretary of state, said Friday that he had "never heard of anything like" a Soviet proposal for a joint U.S.-Russian attack on China, and added, "I'm sure I would have if it had happened."

Asked if such a proposal could have been made without his knowledge, he said, "No, I don't think so. I can't tell. There are a lot of people in government but I don't believe there could have been anything as serious as this — about an attack on China — without me knowing about it."

Henry Kissinger, then national security adviser, also said he knew nothing about any Soviet suggestion for a joint attack.

Bookstores in Washington said they were swamped by calls. The local distributor said he got 10,000 copies of the book and had distributed 4,500 by noon. "People were lined up as soon as the book hit the dock," said Jose Gonzalez of District News Co.

In New York, Brentano's ordered 2,000 copies of the book for one Fifth Avenue store alone. The normal order for less publicized hardcover nonfiction is less than 100 volumes. At noon, a clerk said the book was selling "steadily," although there were no lines.

Jess Joseph, Brentano's buyer, said "The Ends of Power" is the biggest thing since "The Final Days," an account of Nixon's last days in office by Washington Post reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward. That book, Joseph said, "was the most spectacular hardcover in the last few years."

Woodward, appearing on NBC-TV's "Today" show, said of the book: "These are the people who said the truth is negotiable and I think we have another version of the negotiated truth. I'm not sure that Haldeman has told us everything. I think he's holding back, frankly."

According to Haldeman, the Watergate break-in resulted from Nixon's desire to discredit Lawrence O'Brien, then Democratic national chairman.

O'Brien, now a commissioner of the National Basketball Association, said Friday: "I don't read books on Watergate ... I had no comments on Mr. Haldeman's comments. I think he's theorizing ... I don't understand how any rational person can agree with his conclusions."

Former White House Counsel John Dean, who accused Nixon of the Watergate cover-up, said the excerpts of the book he had seen were "full of speculation, theory, very little hard new information."

In an interview with television station KNXT in Los Angeles, Dean added: "Maybe much of this speculation is actually hard information that he has to put in a speculative vein because otherwise the courts could turn around and say, 'Well, Mr. Haldeman, you didn't know about this before — does that mean your amnesia seems to have gone?' You've got answers to questions we've asked you for years."

Haldeman is now in prison. He, Ehrlichman and former Attorney General John Mitchell were convicted of obstruction of justice, perjury and conspiracy.

Former U.S. Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who headed the Senate Watergate Committee, alluded to Haldeman's perjury conviction in his comments. "I would say that before I would accept his book as credible, I would want it corroborated by all the apostles except Judas. A man that would commit perjury under oath might possibly be tempted to commit it when he is not under oath."

Concerning Haldeman's statement on purported Soviet plans for a nuclear strike against China, Kissinger said simply: "That is not true." Another American official, retired Maj. Gen. George Keegan, then the Air Force intelligence chief, said he was unaware of any formal overtures, but said there were "discreet inquiries and suggestions" on the subject at a lower level.

Another denial came Thursday from Charles W. Colson who disputed Haldeman's statement that Colson and Nixon ordered the Watergate burglary. "False, it just didn't happen that way," Colson said in an interview on ABC-TV.

In San Clemente, Calif., a Nixon spokesman said only: "Nixon's book will come out in May."

IT SMARTS A BIT, BUT AIN'T IT FUN? — Whether it was investigating the icicle sculpture possibilities, wiping the remnants of a snowball from the eyes or just looking for another slope for the sled, hundreds of Lubbock residents took to the white outdoors Friday to enjoy what they could of a snowstorm which crippled the Hub City. Losses Send Nixon Publisher Into Paroxysm Of Paranoia

NEW YORK (AP) — The losses that could result from the leak of H.R. Haldeman's book sent the publisher of former President Richard Nixon's forthcoming book into a paroxysm of paranoia on Friday.

Haldeman's "The Ends of Power" had been scheduled for release by Times Books on Feb. 27. But it was distributed Friday after the Washington Post sparked a confusing series of events by publishing a story in Thursday editions based on what it said was the last two-thirds of the book.

Although the New York Times syndication service has been fearful that syndication agreements would be jeopardized by the disclosure, a spokesman said no one has cancelled. In fact, he added, a Copenhagen newspaper signed up on Friday.

But the Times did try to assuage the roughly 50 publications that bought a five-part, 10,000-word excerpt by offering another 5,000 words as a bonus.

At Grosset & Dunlap, publisher of Nixon's book "Rn," managing editor Laurence Gadd declined to discuss syndication agreements such as those involved in premature release of the Haldeman volume.

"We are overly paranoid by 6,000 degrees," Gadd related, saying the problems that have confronted the New York Times Co. since Thursday have aggravated that paranoia. "That 6,000 degrees is up to a high power now."

The managing editor explained his refusal to say which, how many or even what kind of publications had bought syndication rights by saying that "it's a major thing to us" and that therefore "nothing is discussed." He continued: "What will not happen to us is premature release of material."

Times Books had taken elaborate security precautions to prevent a leak of the Haldeman book. Who leaked the material and how remained a mystery, although speculation centered on a breach of security at the bindery, Haddon Craftsman Inc. of Scranton, Pa.

Special guards were posted at the bindery and, Times Books said, "The security held."

Joseph DiMona, co-author, denied a report that he might have been the source. He said the leaks could cost him an unspecified amount of money — "big money" — through loss of syndication payments. An estimated $1 million is involved in various syndication agreements.

Among them was the purchase by Newsweek of 30,000 words for $125,000, but a magazine spokesman said "we don't feel at all that our readers have been gipped" by the leak. The leak prompted the magazine to release its excerpts four days before publication of only half of them.

Spokesman Richard Lynch said the magazine would determine whether the leak hurt circulation before it decides on any legal action. Its contract with Times Books allows for various penalties, including cancellation, if a leak could be traced to the publisher.

Neither the publisher nor its parent company would talk about the possibility of any lawsuits.

"We don't discuss our internal contractual affairs," Thomas Lipscomb, president of Times Books, said at a news conference in his office.

But he gladly disclosed that the $12.95 book soon would go into a third printing of undetermined size. He corrected to 275,000 the company's earlier assertion that the original printing was 300,000.

He also disputed the statement by another Times Books executive that the 50,000-copy second printing was ordered after Thursday's leak. Although the other executive later insisted that it was so ordered, Lipscomb maintained the decision was made on Tuesday, before the leak.

Asked whether he was distressed by the leak in view of initial runaway sales, Lipscomb replied that it was the "type of leak" that distressed him.

Referring to what he said were his concerns about "standards of journalistic behavior," Lipscomb said that the publication of the Post story "raises some interesting questions." He did not elaborate.

Lipscomb said the newspaper's summary of the book had led to some misunderstanding of Haldeman's views through paraphrase. Only the whole book will give an accurate picture, the publisher said.

He was asked whether this wasn't another way of saying "buy the book." Lipscomb responded, "Borrow the book, but read the book."

He added that the company had "assumed" a leak was possible. Said he, "We were ready for it."

Red Raiders Seek Revenge On UT

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor

Gerald Myers can hear the drum roll even now.

And it's not the little drummer boy, either.

It was those big drummer boys, pounding, pounding, and drumming the Raiders into the floor of Texas' new Super Drum.

It was early January, when the Raiders invaded Austin only to be clipped 101-86, and only twice since then have the Longhorns seen defeat. Tonight (7:30 in Lubbock Coliseum) Texas Tech will host the Longhorns with the seedings in the post-season SWC tournament among the prizes.

A couple of days ago, Myers said the Raiders weren't going into the game with a negative attitude. "We go into every game with an attitude of feeling we can win; that's the way we approach it."

Friday, after his final preparation for the Longhorns, Myers pondered which would be harder, stopping their offense or scoring on them.

"I don't know," he observed. "We tried a little bit of everything (defensively) against them in Austin, and they still scored on us. We'd stick close on (Jim) Krivacs and (Ron) Baxter, then (6-7 forward Tyrone) Brnayan would pop out about 17 feet and hit on us."

"And their zone defense... People say Abe Lemons doesn't play much defense, but his zone is as good as there is anywhere. It has a lot of man-for-man prin-ples to it, and they work at it. He does a good job defensively."

The high-scoring Longhorns zipped through the first half of the conference race without a loss and stand just a game off league-leading Arkansas' pace as the season enters the final week. Texas is 12-2 in the league, ranked 12th nationally, against the Raiders' 10-4 mark.

Tech is battling Houston for third spot in the conference—UH hosts Arkansas this afternoon. Thus tonight's game has added significance for both clubs. Texas, with a virtual lock on second, will want to right itself after dropping a 79-77 verdict to Baylor in Waco, its only loss outside of a shootout in the Ozarks.

In the earlier game, all five Texas starters hit in double numbers for the Longhorns, topped by 6-4 forward Baxter's 25. Brnayan aced 21—hitting seven of ten from the field—and guards Krivacs and John Moore 19 and 18, respectively.

Tech got 24 from Kent Williams, but the chances of a repeat for him are slim. If he plays at all, it will be only in a supportive role. The 6-5 sophomore from Hobbs sustained a broken jaw a week ago and he was able to work out Friday, the fracture protected by a baseball-like mask.

"I'm still not sure I will use him," said Myers. "I want to talk to the doctors again. I'm sure, with that jaw wired shut, he can't be too strong; looks like to me he's lost weight already."

Without his No. 1 shooter and second-high scorer, Myers hopes to pass the scoring around a bit more. Mike Russell scored but 16 points against Texas the first time around.

Freshman Ralph Brewster, after hitting 11 points and grabbing ten rebounds in 14 minutes of playing time in last Wednesday's 81-77 loss to Houston, earned a starting spot at forward and will work inside with Russell and 6-9 Joe Baxter. The guard tandem of 6-3 Mike Edwards and 6-1 Geoff Huston will be intact.

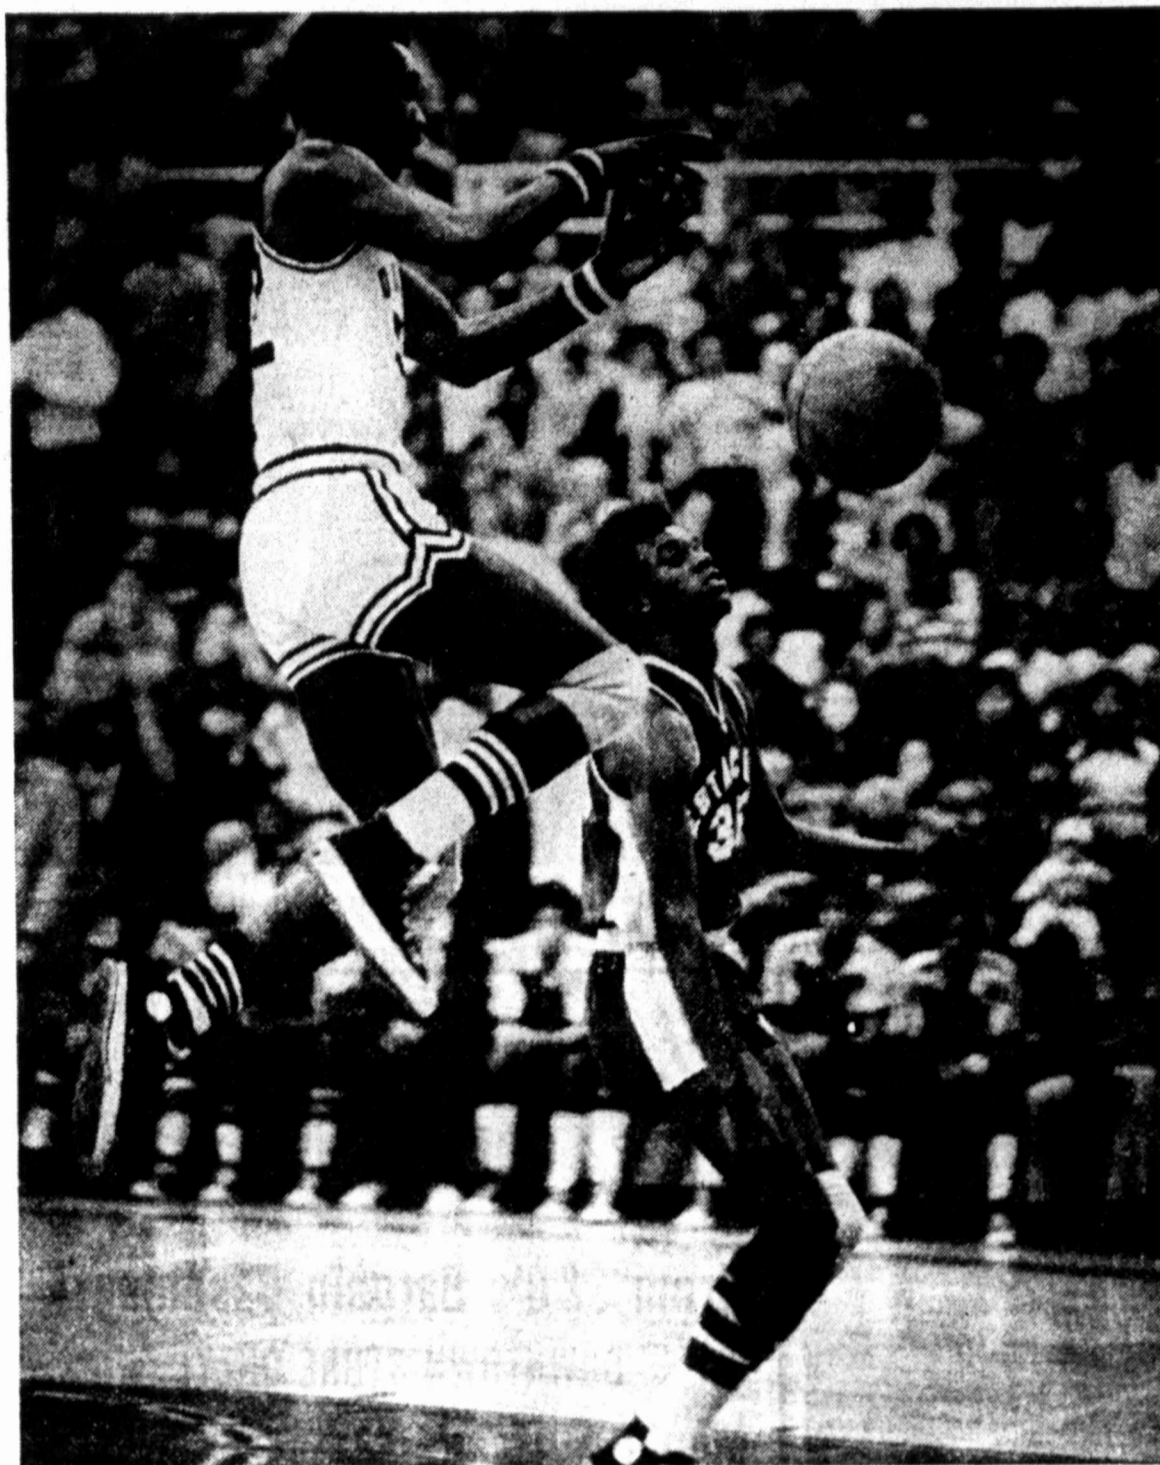

"I don't know how we'll try to match up with them," Myers said. "They shoot so well, it's hard to match up with them."

Russell leads the Raiders in scoring, hitting 27 points and hauling in 11 rebounds in the game Wednesday against Houston.

In addition to the game here tonight and the Houston contest, which will be televised regionally, two games are on the SWC schedule. Baylor plays host to Rice, and TCU plays at SMU.

The regular season winds up next Tuesday, with the four home-site, opening-round games of the conference tournament slated next Saturday.

Morgan Keeps LA Open Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Gil Morgan maintained his lead after the second round of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open by firing a two-under-par 69 Friday for a 135 total. But the optometrist-golfer was wary of Jack Nicklaus, looming just three strokes behind.

Nicklaus, winner of 16 major championships, found his game with four birdies on the final nine for a 66 and a 138 total at the midway point of the 72-hole tournament.

"I took a so-so front nine, turned it around and played golf the way I know how to play," said Nicklaus.

He birdied the 11th hole with a 12-foot putt, the 13th with a four-footer, the 14th with a 10-footer and the 18th from 15 feet.

"That's by far the best nine I've played this year," said the five-time Masters champion who is playing his second tournament of 1978.

Dr. Morgan said after his round that he was aiming for a 69 after shooting a 66 in the opening round over the demanding, par 71, 7,029-yard Riviera Country Club course.

"I think I play better on difficult golf courses," said Dr. Morgan, who graduated from Southern College of Optometry but never has practiced that profession although licensed in both Florida and his home state of Oklahoma.

Morgan, a native of Wewoka, Okla., who had won his only pro tournament in the B.C. Open at Endicott, N.Y. last year, had four birdies, two with putts of 40 and 33 feet and carded a pair of bogeys.

Nicklaus started with a pair of birdies, including two putts from 25 feet, but finished the first nine at even par, missing putts of 12 and 3 1/2 feet at the fourth and fifth holes. Then came his rally.

After Friday's round, the field was cut to 71 for today and Sunday's nationally televised rounds. Scores of 149 or lower qualified.

Barry Jaeckel, who grew up near this Riviera course and was club champion, carded a 70 for 139. The son of character actor Richard Jaeckel said, "I definitely have a good advantage knowing this course as good as I do."

The two golfers who shared second place two strokes behind Morgan after the first round fell back. Danny Edwards shot a 72 for a 140 total. Forrest Fezler slipped to a 76 and 144.

Defending champion Tom Purtzer stayed in the running with a 69 and 141, while Keith Fergus matched that score. Nicklaus' 66 matched Morgan's opening round, but the veteran had opened with a 72, one over par.

Among those missing the cut were former U.S. Open champion Orville Moody with a 76—152 and Pat Fitzsimons, the 1975 champion here, with a 79—156.

Fezler stayed in contention until the final hole when he carded a triple bogey.

Dunbar Nabs OT Victory

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Way back in November—before the first basketball had been jacked up and the only ice buildup was in the bottom of an undrefrosted refrigerator—Dunbar coach Joe McWilliams predicted the Estacado Matadors would be wearing the District 3-AAA laurels this time around.

"They have so many starters (five) coming back," McWilliams lamented.

On the other hand, the two-time loop champs had only three returners.

In the third matchup between the two this year, it didn't matter that the Matadors had five starters gracing the premises. EHS wound up with only three of those returners on the floor when the chips were down, and the Panthers took advantage of that for a 63-62 overtime win in the Coronado gym Friday night.

And in the process they claimed their third straight loop title.

Estacado aces Freddy Ivory and Alvin Harris exited the game with three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, and without their presence in the crucial tilt.

Ali Admits Mistakes, Insists On Comeback

LONDON (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali's flight to Dacca, Bangladesh was detained for two hours at Heathrow Airport Friday after a stopover here from Chicago.

At the air terminal he learned of the delay of his plane's departure because of a minor engine fault to the Bangladesh Airlines Boeing 707. Ali, his wife Veronica and the rest of the boxer's party of 10 spent the time in the VIP lounge.

The flight was due at Dacca at 12:15 p.m. CST.

Ali and his wife spent four hours at a hotel near the airport and drove back to the terminal after a lunch of kippers, smoked herring and Brussels sprouts.

As Ali sat waiting in a car to leave for the airport, he greeted a 5-year-old girl who waved to him.

Ali beckoned Sarah Bevis, daughter of a professor at nearby Brunel University, over to the car and told her, "You're very pretty. I'm really glad to meet you."

Ali had arrived here earlier in the day and said he'd have a new battle plan the next time he meets Leon Spinks.

Spinks, a 24-year-old former Marine from St. Louis, won the world heavyweight boxing title from the 36-year Ali on a 15-round split decision in Las Vegas, Nev., Wednesday night.

Ali told newsmen at the airport on his way to Bangladesh, where he will become an honorary citizen. "It was a long fight and I now realize that my battle plan was wrong."

"I gave away the first five rounds thinking that he would punch himself out. Boy, did he prove me wrong. Next time I will come out dancing and keep moving around the ring and not just hang out waiting for him to hit me."

Ali insisted that he was not about to retire. "I must carry on," Ali said. "I cannot retire without the championship. It would disappoint and humiliate my fans. Very soon I will win back the championship for the third time — the first ever to do it."

He said that he planned "to rest for some time and then have another go to prove I am still the greatest or that time has beaten me. But I must try."

Ali said he was going to Bangladesh because "they have a few things to sort out and want Ali to make their country look great."

Ali was met in the airport's VIP lounge by a Bangladeshi representative in London, who said, "It is a great honor that we welcome Ali to our country. To celebrate the visit he will be made an honorary member of Bangladesh. This is the greatest honor in our country."

Ali said the invitation for his four-day visit, beginning Saturday, came from the Bangladesh government two months ago. The honorary citizenship will be bestowed by President Ziaur Rahman at a reception at Presidential House in Dacca.

The former champion will do some sightseeing in Bangladesh, attend a round of civic receptions, fight an exhibition bout at Dacca Stadium and dedicate a new boxing stadium to be named for him.

If Ali was tired at the airport news conference, he didn't show it. He seemed to be the Ali of old, clowning with newsmen and displaying some of the hijinks that made him boxing's most colorful champion.

Buerkle To Skip Indoor Season

BUFFALO (AP) — The world record-holder for the indoor mile, Dick Buerkle, says he has suffered an ankle injury and will skip the remainder of the indoor track season.

The injury is believed to be a stress fracture of the left ankle, but examinations have not been conclusive, Buerkle said Thursday.

"I've seen one of the best orthopedic guys in the country and he's not really sure."

The 30-year-old optical salesman called the injury "not serious." But he said, "It could be serious if I continue to work out on it. If I just take a few weeks off from heavy training, it'll be all right."

Buerkle, a Buffalo resident, said he expects to return to racing with the beginning of the outdoor track season "either down in Florida or the Penn Relays in Philadelphia in April, the next big race."

He said he withdrew Wednesday from the San Diego invitational meet and has also canceled plans to enter the Examiner Games in San Francisco and the AAL championships next week.

Buerkle set a world indoor mile mark of 3 minutes, 54.8 seconds in Maryland last month.

He said the first time he felt the injury was about two weeks later, when he ran in the Milrose Games. "The next morning it felt really bad," he said. But Buerkle said he does not know exactly when he did the damage. "That's really tough to say."

He noted that there are no indoor tracks here where he can practice, consequently, "I have to work out at the auditorium and on roads. It's probably not the best conditions," he said.

Surgery Unnecessary For Maravich's Knee

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pete Maravich, who has missed eight games with an injured knee, does not need surgery and may be able to rejoin the New Orleans Jazz by March 1, team officials said Friday.

Jazz vice-president Barry Mendelson said that a probe of the star guard's right knee with a penetrable light showed slight cartilage damage but no damage to the vital cruciate ligament, one of the structural ligaments of the knee.

"This is very good news," Mendelson said. "Pete is in a good frame of mind and we are, of course, relieved."

Damage to the ligament would have meant surgery for the National Basketball Association's leading scorer and might have jeopardized his career. A return by March 1 would mean that he will miss six more games.

Dr. Ken Saer, who examined Maravich, said the 6-foot-5 guard will begin working with a bicycle and weights this weekend and will undergo another examination next week. Saer said that Maravich might be able to play again by the first of next month.

Maravich damaged his knee when he made a behind-the-back, through-the-legs pass near the end of a victory over the Buffalo Braves. The Jazz went on to win one more game without Maravich at the end of a 10-game winning streak, but then lost six in a row.

In the last three seasons, New Orleans has gone 91-91 with Maravich in its lineup and 8-29 without him.

Baker Named Citadel Coach

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Furman football Coach Art Baker, former assistant coach at Texas Tech, will become the new football coach at The Citadel, a cross-state rival and fellow member of the Southern Conference, the military school announced Friday.

Baker, 47, told a news conference he will have the option of retaining anyone now on The Citadel's coaching staff or bringing in new assistants.

Baker said he did not seek the job, but was contacted last Friday by Athletic Director Eddie Teague.

"I'm just tickled to be the football coach at The Citadel," he said. "The reason I'm here is because I believe The Citadel is a great college. It's a place which has the facilities and means to be a winner."

Baker replaces Bobby Ross, who resigned last week to become special teams coach of the Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League.

Baker compiled a 27-24-4 record at Furman. His poorest season with the Paladins was a 4-5-2 record last year. His best was 7-4 in his first season at Furman in 1973. Baker shared Southern Conference Coach of the Year honors in 1973 with Sonny Randle of East Carolina.

Earlier Baker was considered for vacancies as head coach at the University of North Carolina and Wake Forest, both members of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Before joining Furman, he was offensive backfield coach at Texas Tech for three seasons and varsity backfield coach at Clemson from 1966 to 1969. Baker said he always made career decisions "in reference to moving with my family. My family is very excited about this opportunity and so am I. The toughest part about leaving is having to meet with the Furman football team and to tell the players I am leaving."

Furman officials said they would reluctantly accept Baker's resignation. Paladin Athletic Director John West said during his five years at Furman, Baker "has been all that we could have desired in a position of great importance to our athletic program."

LCC Competition Postponed

Friday's scheduled game between Lubbock Christian College and Panhandle State was called off and the two schools also wiped out next Tuesday's scheduled game in Goodwell that was originally to have been played Jan. 31.

Also, baseball coach Larry Hays announced that the weekend series between North Texas State (2 games) and University of Dallas (4 games) was off.

"We just haven't been able to decide whether to try and play them the middle of next week or reschedule them for later in the season," Hays said.

North Texas is schedule to play in Lubbock March 18 for a doubleheader.

Tech Baseball Games Delayed

ABILENE (Special) — Poor weather conditions forced postponement of season-opening doubleheaders between Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons, scheduled for Friday and today.

The games will be made up, perhaps early this week, weather permitting, but they had not been rescheduled by late Friday.

outing also appears in doubt. However, Wayland Baptist, which may have its scheduled game with Panhandle State wiped out, was able to get to Wichita Falls Thursday before the snow started and lost to the Indians 69-51.

Midwestern beat LCC 97-82 in Lubbock back on Jan. 27 and is leading the South Zone of the Texoma Conference with a 6-1 mark and stands second in the overall conference with a 7-1 record. The Indians are 17-10 on the season and the only Texas school playing better than 415 ball. LCC is presently 3-20 and must win its last three to avoid its lowest win total since 1958-59, the first year the school played junior college ball.

Two Playoffs On Slate In Area Play

Two playoff games are scheduled in the area today, with Odessa Ector and Monahans settling the 2-AAA title at 8 p.m. at South Plains College's Texan Dome in Levelland and Abernathy and Lockney deciding the 4-AA girls crown at 4 p.m. at Wayland Baptist's Hutcherson center in Plainview.

Lockney's girls were picked fifth in the preseason poll but took the first-half title with a 4-0 mark and lost just once the second round.

Abernathy was the league choice back last October and also finished 7-1 in league play. Abernathy is 22-11, Lockney 25-6.

Winner here will meet the 3-AA winner in bidistrict in 10 days.

The Ector-Monahans winner will play Perryton in bidistrict.

Also, the Motley County-Jayton playoff for the 12-B boys title will be at 2:30 p.m. today in Turkey (Valley High School). The game was slated for Friday, but the teams were unable to travel.

Couture Nips Davis To Lead Bowling Action

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pete Couture wiped out an 11-pin deficit and overtook Dave Davis in the next to last game Friday to take the lead after five rounds of the $100,000 Golden Challenge professional bowling tournament.

Couture averaged better than 226 for eight games and took a 19-pin lead into the final round.

Charlie Venable moved up one notch to third place, averaging 230 and winning six matches. In fourth place was 49-year-old rookie Jerry Smyth.

Butch Soper was fifth, making the biggest jump of the day in the standings. He moved up from 23rd, winning seven of eight matches and averaging 235 for the round.

Defending champion Don Johnson slipped from 3rd to 6th place, 24 pins behind Soper.

"Win or lose, I figured that Dave would shoot at least 210 in his final game," Couture said after he lost his final match with a 199 game.

All Davis needed was a 210 game to take the lead. He shot 191.

"Of course, a lead of so few pins really doesn't mean too much," Couture added. "I was fairly consistent, I think I had four games over 230, but on three on them, I messed up chances to shoot 260 or better in the final frame. I don't think I was too sharp today."

The 24 match play finalists will conclude that portion of the tournament with eight games Friday night. The top five advance to this afternoon's nationally televised finals on ABC.

The winner will get $15,000. The tournament is sponsored by Midas-International.

U.S., England Netters Tied

TORQUAY, England (AP) — Zenda Leiss scored an easy 6-2, 6-1 victory over Britain's debbie Jevens Friday to pull the United States even in the women's final in an under-21 international tennis tournament.

With one more day and three matches still to play, the United States was tied 1-1 with Britain, which has won the women's title here for the last four years, each time beating the Americans in the final.

Leiss, of Daytona Beach, Fla., subdued Jevens right from the start. Jevens was put on the team just before the final started in place of a sick teammate and she clearly was outclassed.

Earlier, the Americans had gone one down when Barbara Jordan, 20, of Palo Alto, Calif., lost 6-2, 6-2 to Britain's top player, Anne Hobbs.

The British girl controlled the match by winning seven games in a row, taking her from leading 3-2 in the first set to 4-0 in the second.

MacAndrew Captures Long Jump

FORT WORTH (Special)—Curtis Dickey easily captured the Southwest Conference 60-yard dash in near world record time Friday night and then said he was anxious to take on sprint king Houston McTear.

And Niall O'Shaughnessy, the Arkansas Razorback from Ireland won the 1,000-yard run and anchored two relay victories to win the Iron Man Award of the annual SWC indoor championships.

The University of Houston, however, captured the team championship for the second straight year with an early rush in the shot put and late victories in the pole vault and 880-yard run.

Texas Tech's Jim MacAndrew gained revenge over the Cougars' Cecil Overstreet, however, in winning the long jump with a leap measuring 24-10 1/4. A year ago, Overstreet bettered MacAndrew on his final jump by less than three inches. This time, MacAndrew won by eight inches.

It was Tech's second gold medal—but first individually—in the short history of the conference indoor meet. The other first for the Raiders was in the distance medley two years ago.

Shot put—1. Mark Baughman, Houston, 59-2 3/4; 2. Randy Coffman, UM, 58-1 1/4; 3. Mark Chew, UM, 55-1 1/4; 4. Robbie Robinson, Texas, 54-2 1/2; 5. Tim Scott, Texas A&M, 54-1 1/4; 6. Randy Scott, A&M, 54-0 9/16.

Distance medley relay—Arkansas, Roddy Gaynor, Vonn Murray, Mike Clark, Niall O'Shaughnessy, 10:07.24; 2. Texas Tech, 10:08.9; 3. Baylor, 10:15.9; 4. Texas, 10:21.15; 5. Rice, 10:22.80. Only five teams finished.

800-yard hurdles—1. Davy Duncan, Baylor, 7:44; 2. Mike Mosely, A&M, 7:47; 3. Dock King, Rice, 7:51; 4. Jeff Matthews, TCU, 7:59; 5. Billy Busch, A&M, 7:41; 6. Mark Scott, Arkansas, 7:52.

400-yard dash—1. Curtis Dickey, A&M, 6:15; 2. Don Collins, TCU, 6:25; 3. Cecil Overstreet, UM, 6:36; 4. Stan Young, UM, 6:44; 5. Sam Castro, UM, 6:45; 6. Carlton Dierker, Rice, 6:46.

1,000-yard run—1. Niall O'Shaughnessy, Arkansas, 2:08.49; 2. Todd Harbour, Baylor, 2:09.21; 3. Tom Camien, Arkansas, 2:12.00; 4. Ken Seynava, Houston, 2:13.35; 5. Ray Cardinal, SMU, 2:15.78; 6. Dan Haskerson, Baylor, 2:16.40.

500-yard dash—1. Pat Mitchell, Arkansas, 1:52.41; 2. Charlie Taylor, Rice, 1:52.33; 3. Mike Fisher, BU, 1:52.4; 4. Keith Schmitt, Rice, 1:52.08; 5. Ted Bell, Arkansas, 1:51.92; 6. Leslie Kerr, A&M, 1:51.46.

2-mile relay—1. Arkansas (Chris Heroux, Tom Camien, Roddy Gaynor, Niall O'Shaughnessy), 14:23.30 record—old record 7:46.11; Baylor (1976); 2. Baylor, 7:43.96; 3. Texas Tech, 7:48.75; 4. Texas A&M, 7:48.18; 5. Texas, 8:02.80.

880-yard run—1. James Hymon, UM, 1:52.41; 2. Don Hughes, UT, 1:52.17; 3. Dan Fergus, SMU, 1:54.33; 4. Larry Davis, BU, 1:55.0; 5. Tim Costa, BU, 1:57.33; 6. Dave Kingsland, UM, 1:57.54.

High jump—1. Bill Wimberly, BU, 7-1; 2. Bob Keith, UT, 6-10; 3. Terry Davenport, UT, 6-8; 4. Mike Whitwell, A&M, 6-8; 5. (tie) Bobby Duckworth, Arkansas, and Greg McAllister, SMU, 6-8.

Foul Trouble Hurts EHS In Overtime

By TOM HALLIBURTON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

As Dunbar and Estacado's basketball teams ended regulation play, the Panther cheering section roared in delight as if their heroes already had won.

What the Panther fans could sense was obvious. Two valuable Estacado starters, Freddy Ivory and Alvin Harris had fouled out of the game while the Panthers still had a full deck. And DHS coach Joe McWilliams played his cards right in overtime, relying on the inside strength of those two reliable aces Billy Don Hardaway and Greg Whitfield. On the other side of the court, Estacado retained only one of its inside stars, Dewey Turner. It was clearly two against one where it really counted.

"We felt like if we could tie it, we could win it in overtime," said McWilliams, whose Panthers trailed most of the game but rallied from a 10-point deficit in the final quarter.

"They showed us a lot of different defenses," the DHS coach continued. "They were using traps and getting a lot of steals but they had to revert back to their basic defense when they got into foul trouble—they had to go back to the man-to-man and 2-3 zone."

With these intricate defensive schemes, Estacado was pulling away 44-34 with two minutes left in the third quarter. Suddenly, jump shots by Daryl Green, Michael Baldwin and Wayne Williams began to narrow Estacado's lead. And the longer the game progressed, the more dominant became the Dunbar duo as the Matadors collected more and more costly fouls.

"We kinda knew we were in trouble when we went into overtime. We didn't really get cautious when we had the lead in the fourth quarter. But we went down there and put it up without having anyone underneath to rebound," said DHS coach J.J. Wood.

In overtime, McWilliams said his strategy was to "score first and make them play catch-up." Williams hit an 18-foot jump shot to move DHS ahead 60-58. After Estacado's Mike Chatham sank one of two foul shots, the Panthers stayed in front and the Hardaway-Whitfield duo stayed underneath.

Estacado's pressing defense provided the Matadors a chance to win in overtime, though Willie Powell intercepted Whitfield's dangerous crosstown pass and Wood called time-out with 17 seconds left.

"We thought they would either go to Turner or (Winston) Gipson," McWilliams said.

Dunbar's defense applied tight man-to-man pressure and prevented the Mats from going inside. Chatham gunned it up from 20 feet to the right of the bucket and Whitfield grabbed the rebound. Though Estacado's Fred Dunn forced a jump ball with three seconds left and the Mats controlled the tip, they lacked enough time for a shot.

"We hoped to get the ball to Powell down low on that shot at the end that Chatham took. If it had been down lower to the basket, we wanted to Powell to cut

Shallowater Girls Drop Stanton For 5-A Title

Terri Stanton sank 17 shots from the field and scored 38 points to lead Shallowater's girls to a 49-40 victory over Stanton in the District 5-A playoff game at Levelland's Texan Dome.

Shallowater took a 10-6 first-period lead and was on top 22-18 at halftime. The winners led 36-26 at the end of the third quarter.

Loretta Young topped Stanton with 20 points, while Bonnie Bloodworth and Terry Heidelberg had 10 apiece.

District 3-AA
Frona's girls defeated Muleshoe 51-48. Rhonda Parsons led the winners with 30 points. Karen Stovall topped Muleshoe with 23.

Dimmitt clinched the girls championship with a 58-52 win over visiting Olton. Dimmitt has one game remaining, but its 4-0 record in the second half insured the title. Olton is 3-1 in the second half. Dimmitt will play the winner of tonight's Aberrath-Lockney game in bidistrict.

Norma Sandoval scored 15, Vicki Cleveland 21 and Lori Dyer 12 for Dimmitt. Melanie Whitten hit 28 and Dusty Kennison 22 for Olton.

Wanda Williams lost the battle of the Williamses, but her Littlefield team won the game over Morton 54-39. Wanda had 23 points for Littlefield, but Morton's Susie Williams netted 24.

District 5-AA Playoff
Ricky Rodriguez scored 18 points and Bobby Burkhalter added 13, as Denver City defeated Tahoka 56-47 and won the District 5-AA playoff.

Denver City will play Colorado City Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Midland Lee High School gym for the bidistrict championship.

Alton Graves sparked Tahoka with 15 points, while Rnandy Meeks and Clifford Bailey scored 10 apiece.

Denver City led 27-18 at halftime, but Tahoka rallied in the third period to capture a 37-36 lead at the quarter's conclusion. However, the Mustangs outscored

SA Lake View Girls Coast Past Dunbar

SAN ANGELO (Special)—San Angelo Lake View handed Dunbar's girls a 57-30 defeat Friday night.

The winners, raising their second-half District 3-AAA record to 2-0, led 13-4 at the end of the first quarter and stretched that to 26-8 at halftime.

Wanda Young led Dunbar with 16 points, while Stella Zaragoza had eight. Dunbar is 1-26 for the season and 0-2 in second-half action.

Super Destroyer Wins Blood Bout

Super Destroyer defeated J.J. Dillon in the German Blood Match at the wrestling matches Friday night at Fair Park Coliseum.

In a non-title match, Johnny Starr defeated Nelson Royal, while Larry Lane—subbing for The Brute—topped Don Kernodle.

In a tag-team bout, Ervin Smith and Ricky Romero defeated Roger Kirby and Dennis Stamp.

In other matches, Rip Hawk outfigured Mr. Ononi, and Alex Perez defeated Tonga Fiffitti.

Dunbar, which upped its season record to 27-4, reeled off 11 points, while the Mats could countered with only 4 during the remaining time to force the contest into overtime. The score was knotted 58-58 at the end of regulation.

In the fifth period, the Panthers outscored the Mats 5-4 on two long shots by Wayne Williams and Rafael Scott and a free throw by Greg Whitfield.

On the other hand, the Mats, now playing without Harris and Ivory (inside threat Dewey Turner played the majority of the game in foul trouble) could counter only with Willie Powell's two free shots and Mike Chatham's and Winston Gibson's lone charity tosses.

During the overtime, the Panthers scored their final bucket (the free toss by Whitfield) with 1:17 remaining.

Estacado, which ends its most successful season ever with a 24-5 mark, missed the final shot of the game when a 25-footer by Chatham hit the rim and bounced into the waiting arms of Whitfield.

After the rebound, Whitfield was tied up by Freddy Dunn and for a moment it appeared the Mats had some new life. However, Whitfield, perhaps the teams' best leaper, controlled the tip and the game.

Dunbar, a late starting team all season, outscored Estacado 22-14 in the final period. However, in the third stanza, the Mats outbit the Panthers 14-8 to hold a four-point an eight-point (44-36) margin.

During the second period, Harris, who wound up with 12 points, was in true form scoring eight points, four of which brought the crowd of 2,500 to their feet. The buckets were of the spectacular lay-up type.

Early in the final period Dunbar outscored Estacado 8-2. Long distance shots by Whitfield and Daryl Green did most of the damage. The quick onslaught cut the Estacado lead to two (46-44).

Dunbar will meet the Mineral Wells, the winner of District 4-AAA in the second round of the state playoffs Tuesday night. The Rams, the state's top ranked AAA team, defeated Iowa Park 54-48 Friday night in Wichita Falls.

'Whatever It Takes' Becomes Bears Motto

NOT "B" FOR BASEBALL—The "B" on the cap stands for Bears, as new football coach of the Chicago Bears Neil Armstrong, left, tries on the headgear supplied by his new boss, general manager Jim Finks. Armstrong was hired Thursday to replace the departed Jack Pardee as the Bears' head coach, and he was introduced publicly at a press conference Friday. (AP Laserphoto)

CHICAGO (AP) — Neil Armstrong, newly named head coach of the Chicago Bears, Friday picked up the team's new motto of "Whatever It Takes."

Armstrong, 51-year-old defensive coordinator with the Minnesota Vikings the last eight seasons, was named the ninth head coach of the Bears in their 59-year history Thursday night and held a press conference Friday.

Armstrong, a native of Tishomingo, Okla., played for Oklahoma State from 1943-1946 when the Cowboys went 21 games without a loss in that span.

He played with the Philadelphia Eagles from 1947 through 1951 as an offensive end and defensive back, was an assistant coach at Oklahoma State and head coach in the Canadian League with the Edmonton Eskimos before joining Bud Grant and the Vikings as defensive coordinator.

"The Bears are a good, young team making progress," Armstrong said. "I'm fortunate to be coming into a situation where a team is coming off a good record. Usually when a new coach takes over he inherits a team that has been through disaster. The Bears made the playoffs last season.

"My philosophy and goal is to win with whatever it takes," said Armstrong, who took turns at the speaker's rostrum with his new boss, Jim Finks, general manager and vice president of the Bears.

Finks said he was relieved that his search for a head coach had ended following Jack Pardee's departure to take over the Washington Redskins last month.

"Neill was my first choice," said Finks, who was associated with Armstrong when Finks was bossman of the Vikings and originally hired Bud Grant as head coach at Minnesota.

"I interviewed other people because I didn't want to leave any stone unturned and I wanted to get a feel of the situation. I talked to six other persons and all of them came to Chicago but Neill was my choice all along.

"I feel we have potential on offense," said Finks. "Our offensive line is good and deep. We are stable at the quarterback position and we have five running-backs that anyone in the National Football League would want.

"We are suspect on defense," said Finks. "We had injuries there last season but we still need help."

Finks said he was unimpressed with labels of a coach being a defensive specialist, which Armstrong is, or an offensive specialist.

"Neill will hire specialists to do their respective jobs," said Finks. "He will wear well and handle the pressures involved in the job. Yes, the fact that I knew him well was one of the reasons he was hired."

Continuing the "Whatever It Takes" theme, Armstrong said "If we have to give the ball to Walter Payton 30 times to win, that's what we'll do. If we have to pass 30 times in a game, then that's what we'll do."

Payton and (quarterback) Bob Avellani are important in the makeup of the team but it takes everyone to make a successful offense," said Armstrong. "But team defense is what wins. Every individual has to fit in the defensive scope."

Armstrong disagreed with those who want to label him as strictly a defensive coach and said "I've coached for 23 years and I was drafted as an offensive player but I ended up playing defense with the Eagles.

"Coaching defense makes you realize what you need on offense," said Armstrong.

Pressed as to what he plans to do specifically, Armstrong skirted the question and said "I know we are going to work hard. Nothing in this game is easy."

Admitting that most teams have their staffs together for the 1978 season, Armstrong said there are a lot of good assistant coaches around who are not working.

"I want to get a staff together as quickly as possible but I also want to make sure that we get the right people for the right jobs," he said. "It shouldn't be too big a problem."

Before leaving the Bears, Pardee had intimated he was not happy with the Bears' playing or practicing facilities nor pleased with the weather conditions.

"I haven't seen the facilities as yet," said Armstrong, "and who can complain about the weather after coming out of Canada and Minnesota?"

Staubach Likes Replays

BOSTON (AP) — Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach said Friday the National Football League should settle officiating disputes with videotaped instant replays — but only if the complaining team uses one of its allotted timeouts.

"I'd hate to lose a game on a key officiating mistake," he said, "but there should be strategy involved. I think replays would take pressure off the officials."

Staubach, who led Dallas to the 1978 Super Bowl title over the Denver Broncos, made his comments to reporters after he had been given a citation by the New England Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

"A team gets three timeouts per half," he said, "and to see a replay on an official's call it ought to cost you a timeout."

The quarterback said he personally rarely would use a timeout for that purpose.

"There were maybe 20 key plays last year that people complained about," he said. "Special cameras could be used just for those selective situations."

Staubach defended NFL officiating in general but added, "With players so much quicker and faster than they used to be, the officiating mistakes become much more significant."

Alluding to the controversial "non-fumble" in the pivotal game between the Baltimore Colts and New England Patriots, Staubach said, "If cameras can prevent a New England-Baltimore situation, I'm all for it."

The Colts apparently fumbled the ball late in that game, but officials ruled the play had ended before the bobble. Baltimore then scored a winning touchdown in the final regular season game and clinched a playoff spot.

On other football matters, Staubach, who turned 36 last month, said he expects to play at least two more seasons.

He conceded that, despite Dallas' Super Bowl victory, the American Football Conference of the NFL is stronger than the National Football Conference.

He said the AFC has better running-backs, however.

"The AFC has more teams capable of going to the Super Bowl," Staubach said. "Right now it's stronger. But things can turn around."

Tomball Police Plan To Check Drug Charge

TOMBALL (UPI) — Police Chief Clarence Holditch Jr. Friday said he will have to investigate allegations of use of a muscle-building drug in the Tomball High School athletic department if no one comes forward to talk about it.

"We would prefer to go into an investigation knowing what we're talking about and to pick the targets of our interviews," Holditch said.

Although he has not talked to the district attorney, he said he understood administering the steroid, Dianabol, without a prescription is a felony punishable by two to 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Three Tomball football coaches resigned Jan. 24 after they were told a limited number of pills containing the steroid were found in a coach's desk. All three, head coach Buck Turk and assistants Joe McFarling and Ronnie Jefferson, now want their jobs back.

Jefferson claimed school Superintendent Poley Parker, who found the pills on a midnight raid of the coach's office, threatened to go to police if the three did not resign.

Holditch said about 20 small, blue Dianabol pills had been inserted into tamin C capsules for distribution to athletes.

"The coaches are talking about lawsuits, the district is worried about civil liability and at least one set of parents is very upset," the police chief said.

If no one comes forward, Holditch said he would begin interviewing the athletes.

Jefferson admitted the prescription drug was in his desk but that it belonged to McFarling. He gave it to his son, Brad, 19, a football player and pole vaulter. Jefferson said McFarling was unavailable for comment.

Andretti Nabs Victory

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mario Andretti captured a comfortable victory Friday in the final race in the 1977-78 International Race of Champions series after surviving a brutal three-car pileup that sent stock car star Richard Petty to the hospital.

Al Unser, involved in the crash, came out with enough points to take the IROC championship, joining his brother Bobby, A.J. Foyt and the late Mark Donohue as IROC titlists.

Petty, who blacked out when his car was punched in the side, came around in the hospital and was held briefly for observation. Doctors said there appeared to be no serious injuries.

Andretti was 7.8 seconds ahead of Darrell Waltrip, with Gordon Johncock third by a hood length. Cale Yarborough, Benny Parsons and Belgian Jacky Ickx followed.

Andretti, running in a draft with Yarborough, pulled away from the pack in the final laps and had the easiest win in the five years of IROC racing here.

The nine starters ran in close formation through 22 of the 40 laps. But coming out of the second turn on the 23rd circuit, Andretti and Al Unser, one-time teammates, touched wheels and Unser went sideways out of control.

The other seven drivers made split second decisions on what evasive tactics they would take. Johncock, in third, tucked in high along the wall right behind Andretti, but the others fanned out in all directions.

Petty ducked in along the infield grass and just missed Unser. Unser started two complete laps when he hit the sodden infield turf. The car skipped along the regular surface, then nosed into a six-foot earthen wall, and vaulted over it. The mutilated car finally came to a stop just a few feet from the infield lake.

Petty, meanwhile, spun back across the track and was t-boned by Johnny Rutherford. It took several minutes for rescue workers to get the dazed Petty out of the wreck. Unser and Rutherford walked away unassisted.

The race restarted with only Andretti, Cager Disappointed

About Star Snub

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Calvin Murphy, the Connecticut schoolboy basketball whiz, says he's disappointed but not bitter about not being chosen for this year's National Basketball Association all-star team.

"Sure, I'd like to be an all-star," said the Houston Rockets ace who is 14th leading scorer in the NBA this season with 22.4 points per game. "But it doesn't bother me."

"The fans vote for the starting team and the coaches name the rest of the squad. And obviously they don't feel I'm an all-star. You don't miss what you don't have, but some day I hope to be there," he said in a telephone interview from Houston.

Murphy, a Norwalk native, has been having one of his finest seasons this year, surpassing 11,000 points for his career. But the Rockets, defending Central Division champions, have been weakened by injuries and are at the bottom of the division.

Johncock and Waltrip on the same lap.

The wreck gave Unser the title because Petty and Yarborough, who dropped hopelessly out of contention because of an unscheduled pit stop just before the wreck, were the only ones in the field with even a mathematical chance to overtake him.

In the first three races in the series (one on the oval at Michigan International Speedway last September and two on the road course at Riverside, Calif., International Raceway in October), Unser won two and finished fourth once.

Twelve drivers started the elite invitational series. Al Holbert, Tom Sneva and Benny Parsons failed to score enough points in the first three races to make the cut to nine for Daytona. Parsons was added to the field after Swedish Grand Prix driver Gunnar Nilsson withdrew because of illness.

The drivers compete in Chevrolet Camaros, all of which are prepared as identically as possible.

Evansville Aides Under Consideration

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Two former assistant coaches of the late Bobby Watson are included in a group of eight candidates being interviewed by the University of Evansville to succeed Watson as head basketball coach.

The position has been vacant since Watson and his team were killed in an airplane crash Dec. 13.

"We've interviewed both Stafford Stephenson and Ernie Simpson," said athletic director Jim Byers. "And we plan to have all eight applicants interviewed by next Tuesday. We would like to name our new coach by March 1."

Byers said school officials were not naming the other six finalists from a field of 55 who submitted formal applications. However, the Evansville Press reported the list includes Dick Walters of DuPage College, a junior college near Chicago; former Arkansas head coach Lonny VanEman, now an assistant at Western Kentucky; Dan Wall, head coach at Southwest Texas State; former Kansas assistant Duncan Reid, now a head coach at Dodge City Community College in Kansas; and Lee Hunt, an assistant coach to Lee Bartow at the University of Alabama-Birmingham.

Hunt has been an assistant to Bartow for eight years, a time span that began at Memphis State and included stops at Illinois and UCLA. The Press also said Phil Worrell, head coach at Milligan in Tennessee, may be invited for an interview.

"After we complete the interviews we're going to decide whether we're satisfied with the people we've interviewed or if we will talk to others," said Byers.

There is some sentiment here that one of the two assistants hired by Watson should be given the job of rebuilding a program that was wiped out by the accident, forcing school officials to call off the balance of the 1977-78 campaign.

"Both Simpson and Stephenson have a lot of things in their favor and some that are working against them," said Byers, a member of the screening committee charged with making the final selection.

"They have integrity, are hard working and are dedicated to following through with the leadership Coach Watson began when he came here last summer," said Byers. "However, Coach Watson was so strong and so much in control of things that some people feel they really haven't had a chance to build their own skills."

Byers said one consideration will be how soon the new coach will be able to assume duties here.

"For recruiting purposes, we really need someone soon," he said.

Foyt Tops Qualifying

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The first of two 125-mile qualifying races for Sunday's Daytona 500 ended as it began, under a caution flag, with A.J. Foyt getting credit for the victory Friday.

Foyt led David Pearson, Donnie Allison, Cale Yarborough and Bill Elliott across the finish line at 80 miles per hour after the caution flag came out on the 49th of 50 laps because of a minor tangle among the backmarkers.

The race started Thursday under caution, and went 10 laps—25 miles around Daytona International Speedway—as officials made a vain attempt to dry the track after a rain storm. By the time the race ended Friday, nearly half of it had been run under the caution flag.

Yarborough, the fastest qualifier for Sunday's $450,000 race, started on the pole position, but Foyt took the early lead Friday on the restart.

Bobby Allison had worked his way into the lead by halfway, but Buddy Baker tried to move in front of him in turn three and the two cars came together. Most of the frontrunners picked up a little sheet metal damage trying to escape the crash.

Elliott, a surprising 22-year-old newcomer from Georgia, took the lead briefly before Foyt took over.

After that point, the race was slowed down by three more caution flags, which effectively kept the level of competition to a minimum.

Foyt, who won the Daytona 500 in 1972 but never a qualifying race, held the lead most of the remainder of the way.

Cedeno Signs Biggest Pact

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros, named in one survey as the lowest paying team in the National League, signed centerfielder Cesar Cedeno to the biggest contract in major league baseball history Friday, a 10-year pact calling for a reported $3.5 million.

"What we have here is a career contract," Astros President and General Manager Tal Smith said in announcing the agreement. "With a 10-year term and the opportunity to extend at that time, that makes it the longest playing contract in the history of baseball and the entire contract package makes it the largest in baseball history."

Cedeno's total contract exceeds the reported six-year $3.1 million contract outfielder Larry Hise has signed with the Milwaukee Brewers. Hise's annual salary would be higher, however, if figured on the basis of the total package averaged per year.

Smith said the Astros and Cedeno had signed a letter of intent that outlined terms of the contract.

"All that remains is for the attorneys to draw up the contract," Smith said.

Sidney Shlenker, Cedeno's agent, agreed that all contract terms had been settled.

The agreement means Cedeno, who started his career in an Astros uniform eight years ago, will be with the team through the 1987 season.

"I'm very pleased that we've finally made an agreement," Cedeno said. "As I've said before, I never wanted to leave Houston. Now I just think I'll be here forever."

Despite all the glamorous features of Cedeno's contract, it does not include a no-trade agreement, Smith said.

"We have not waived the right to waive or assign the contract of any player," Smith said. "We never have and I don't think we ever will."

Cedeno has a career batting average of .292, has appeared in four All-Star games and won Golden Glove fielding awards in 1972 and 1976. He slumped badly in the first half of the 1977 season, hitting .179 as of June 22 before finishing at .279.

Smith said the agreement with Cedeno leaves 18 players on the Astros' unsigned list for the 1978 season.

The Astros president also took strong exception to a Major League Players Association survey that ranked the Astros last in the National League in player payroll behind No. 1 Philadelphia.

"You have to look at the experience factor," Smith said. "The Houston Astros' 25-man roster at the start of the 1977 season had 73 years of major league experience. Philadelphia's 25-man roster had 163 years of experience."

"If you averaged it out based on years of service, I think the Astros would compare quite favorably."

NCAA Hearings On Schedule

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Congressional hearings into the National Collegiate Athletic Association will begin in Washington, D.C., Feb. 27, Rep. Bruce Vento said Friday.

A hearing dealing with NCAA disciplinary actions against the University of Minnesota will be held in mid-March, Vento said.

The hearings will be held by the Oversight Subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. Vento and about 70 other congressmen called for an investigation last year, contending that the NCAA has too much power over student athletic programs.

Vento said the initial hearings will focus on three schools, Mississippi State University, Michigan State University and the University of Minnesota.

The first witness will be J. Brent Clark, an attorney who resigned from the NCAA staff and now is employed by the subcommittee. Vento said the hearings likely will continue for several months.

The University of Minnesota basketball program is on probation because of student-aid violations under a former coach. The NCAA had threatened all men's athletic programs with indefinite probation unless disciplinary actions were taken against three basketball players.

The university at one time said it would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court but ultimately complied. Big Ten scoring leader Mychal Thompson was forced to sit out several games but was restored to eligibility for the Big Ten season.

Slew Owners Give Up Half Interest

MIAMI (AP) — The owners of Seattle Slew have sold a half interest in the 1977 Triple Crown winner to a group headed by a Lexington, Ky., man, an official at Hialeah Race Course said Friday.

Frank Tours, publicity director at Hialeah, said co-owners Karen and Mickey Taylor and Dr. Jim Hill received $6 million for half interest in the 4-year-old from a group headed by Brownell Combs.

Tours identified Combs as the son of Leslie Combs, owner of Spendthrift Farm in Lexington, Ky. He said they were at least two other members of the group but refused to identify them.

Neither Hill nor Taylor could be reached immediately for comment.

Tours said that under the terms of the sale, Slew, last year's Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont winner, will race this year and then be put out to stud next year at Combs' farm.

The sale follows weeks of speculation about the future of Slew, who has been kept out of racing so far this year because of illness. He's been training following his illness, but no date has been announced for his first race.

Jacobs Heads Examiner Field

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Franklin Jacobs and his "slope," which have made the high jump one of the glamor events of indoor track, make their only West Coast appearances of the season tonight.

5-foot-8 Jacobs gets top billing in tonight's Examiner Games, since he set the world indoor record by clearing 7 feet, 7 1/4 inches with his unorthodox "slope" style jump at the Millrose Games in New York last month.

Former record holder Dwight Stones will be among those competing against Jacobs, the sophomore from Fairleigh Dickinson in New Jersey. Olympic champion Jack J. Salsola of Poland and silver medalist Greg Joy of Canada are among the other high jump entries.

"It's a difficult thing to be upset about, losing the indoor record," Stones said as he prepared for the meeting with Jacobs at the Cow Palace. "That's because the event now draws a lot of attention. It's a major event and a lot of kids are getting into it."

"I'm pleased the event is getting the recognition it deserves, and I feel I'm largely responsible."

Meet Director Jim Terrill calls the high jump "our best event, by far," but the entry list includes many athletes capable of stealing the spotlight from the high jumpers.

Houston McTear and Dedy Cooper, who have dominated the 60-yard and high hurdles, respectively, this season will be favorites in the night's first open events. Runners who will take to the track later include Millard Hampton in the 400 meters, Mike Bolt in the 1,000, Filbert Bayi in the mile and Duncan MacDonald in the 3,000 meters.

Other field events will feature such performers as Al Feuerbach, Mac Wilkins and Terry Albritton in the shot put, Olympic champs Arnie Robinson and Randy Williams in the long jump and Mike Tully in the pole vault.

Coed Murder Suspect Held By Police

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Theodore R. Bundy, a fugitive suspected of 36 rapemurders in the West, talked with authorities Friday, but refused to comment about the slaying of two Florida State coeds last month.

"Bundy is talking," said Sheriff Ken Katsaris in Tallahassee, 210 miles east of Pensacola, "although he avoids the FSU murders, talking around the whole subject.

Bundy, who left Tallahassee Saturday night for Pensacola, was living less than a mile from the Chi Omega sorority house when an intruder killed two of its members in their beds.

"It looks real good, although we haven't any physical evidence tying him to it," Katsaris said.

Fingerprints and a paper bag of evidence retrieved from the suspect's room are being evaluated by police technicians.

"He was in Tallahassee and there is a similar modus operandi to the other murders," the sheriff said. "The chance of having two people with the same m.o. in the same community at the same time is pretty remote."

Latin Group Leader Wants Jury Recalled

A-J Correspondent
BIG SPRING — In a letter mailed to District Attorney Rick Hamby of Big Spring, Ruben Bonilla, director of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Friday called for a reconvening of the Glasscock County grand jury which recently no-billed Glasscock County Sheriff Rocco Pruitt and ex-deputy G.B. Thurwanger in the shooting investigation of Tirburcio Grigero Santome. The letter from Bonilla alleged "Santome grand jury should have had among its members a Mexican American and black who could have fairly and justly heard the evidence and rendered a decision that could be fully accepted by the entire community."

Basing his protest on the U.S. Supreme Court case of Castenada v. Partida in 1977, Bonilla asks that the grand jury be repanels, this time "including Mexican-Americans and blacks in a number proportionate to their population in Glasscock County."

Santome was a Mexican national shot and killed by Thurwanger Nov. 6, 1977. Following the St. Lawrence festival in Glasscock County, Santome had been arrested by Pruitt, placed in a sheriff's car and driven toward Garden City. Santome allegedly pulled a knife from his belt and assaulted the two men. During the assault he was shot and killed in the car.

A Glasscock County grand jury returned no indictments following its investigation into the case.

Bonilla also said that the "12 American citizens" on the grand jury could not relate to the testimony of Santome's wife. She employed her children as interpreters while testifying before the grand jury.

According to District Judge Ralph Caton, Bonilla's request is somewhat worn-out.

"His law is incorrect," Caton said.

"There is no way we can reconvene the grand jury, boot off a couple of members and arbitrarily replace them with other people. No one has that kind of authority," he said.

According to District Attorney Hamby, he will not recall the grand jury.

"Much has been said of Santome's rights in this matter," Hamby said. "But to recall the grand jury would be a clear violation of the rights of Pruitt and Thurwanger."

Hamby said he intended to call a Howard County grand jury in early March to investigate the deaths of Juan Galaviz, another Mexican-American man slain by a law enforcement officer in Big Spring.

Assistant district attorney Don Richard pointed out that Bonilla's request for percentage representation is unnecessary.

"We researched the Glasscock County population. There are 13 Mexican Americans registered to vote in a total registration of 575. Several of those 13 could not have been on the grand jury because they testified in the investigation. The Mexican-American population does not have a high enough percentage to warrant one seat on the grand jury," Richard said.

"It is also our duty in handling an investigation to insure that the defendant is not unfairly accused, not that the deceased is well-represented. If a Mexican-American were accused of a crime, I'm sure Bonilla would cry for an all-Mexican-American jury, rather than cite Anglos to represent the victim.

"But," added Richard, "no one has ever accused Santome of being a bad man. We simply provided evidence that he assaulted two people with a knife."

Richard also corrected Bonilla's claim that Santome was "handcuffed to Thurwanger" when he was shot.

"Santome had handcuffs attached to one wrist, the other end dangling empty," Richard added.

Researcher Notes Uses For Cocaine

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Harvard researcher urged Friday that the coca plant, the source of the drug cocaine, be investigated for possible use as an antidepressant, for stomach disorders and as a coffee substitute.

The coca leaf is a South American folk medicine that Indians in the Andes chew to give them endurance. The leaf could be incorporated into a coca chewing gum, a prescription medicine, according to Dr. Andrew T. Weil of Harvard's Botanical Museum.

"The leaf contains essential oils that give it a pleasant odor and flavor and may stimulate gastrointestinal secretion," Weil told the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Coca also contains a number of vitamins and minerals, including nutritionally significant amounts of vitamin A, riboflavin, vitamin E, calcium, iron and phosphorus. It is important as a dietary adjunct in the lives of Indians of nutritionally deficient regions of the high Andes."

Weil said he is planning to apply to the Food and Drug Administration for permission to test the potential medicinal properties of the coca leaf.

"It tastes good," he told a news conference. "The act of chewing it is pleasant. It has a numbing effect in the mouth... a pleasant, warm feeling in your stomach... and there is an elevation of mood."

The drug is not toxic, Weil said, although there are some reports of mouth irritation in some users in South America. Coca products have a long history of use, according to Dr. Lester Grinspoon of the Harvard Medical School. Among users were Sigmund Freud and Thomas Edison.

First Juror Seated In Hawkins Trial

By PAT PATRICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

After a week of work, attorneys Friday finally seated the first juror to try the Samuel Christopher Hawkins III for capital murder.

Chosen and immediately sequestered in a downtown Lubbock motel was Larry Ray Laster, the 32nd prospective panelist to be examined.

Laster, 30, is a registered nurse at the Health Sciences Center Hospital and resides at 4645 Itasca St.

After he was selected, Judge Richard N. Countiss recessed the proceedings until 9 a.m. Monday.

He said he plans 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. or 8 p.m. sessions each weekday until a full 12-member panel is seated for the death penalty case. A Saturday session next week is possible, he added.

The Hawkins trial will be the only thing going on in the Lubbock County Courthouse Monday, which is a holiday in observance of George Washington's birthday.

Hawkins, 34, of Amarillo is on trial for his life, accused of stabbing a six-months-pregnant woman to death.

Abbe Rodgers Hamilton, 19, was found bound hand-and-foot in her Borger home May 3, 1977, stabbed about 10 times.

Countiss — judge of the 84th Judicial District — is trying the case here on a change of venue from Hutchinson County.

Through Friday, the court-appointed defense attorneys Gene Storrs and Russell Busby, both of Amarillo, had used six of their peremptory challenges. The prosecution team, 84th Dist. Atty. Stephen Cross and Asst. DA Linda Walden, had used only one.

If convicted of the capital charge, Hawkins will face either life imprisonment or death, the only punishment options open to jurors under Texas' capital murder law.

Hawkins, a meat company employee, also stands indicted with capital murder in the death of a 12-year-old Amarillo girl and with the aggravated rape of a Hereford woman — crimes which authorities say were committed by a suspect they had dubbed the "traveling rapist."

ANNIVERSARY OF DISCOVERY — It was 48 years ago, Feb. 18, that Clyde Tombaugh, then a Kansas farm boy, discovered the planet Pluto, the ninth and last planet to be found in our solar system. The discovery came after 7000 hours of carefully examining photographic plates of some 30 million different stars. The discovery by Tombaugh, now an emeritus professor of astronomy at New Mexico State University, was voted one of the top 10 news stories of 1930 by the Associated Press. The 72-year-old astronomer is still very active with the NMSU Astronomy Department. (AP Laserphoto)

Expert Continues To Learn About Plants From Friends

By ELVIN McDONALD

Visit a friend while he or she is involved in gardening, maybe grooming or repotting. You'll be amazed at how you'll learn — and share. I thought of this the other day as I followed C.Z. Guest around while she checked her greenhouse plants, having just returned from two weeks out of town.

I helped C.Z. pick off dead leaves and flowers and even removed a couple of fat slugs from the flate of sprouting gloxinia tubers. More important, it was a time when good friends could catch up with each other, surrounded by the wonderful smells of a garden — moist earth, pungent geranium leaves, a snip of rosemary thrust to my nose (honestly, did you ever smell anything like it?) plus a fragrant orchid here and there and a bunch of sweet-scented dwarf citrus in bloom.

In retrospect, I guess I've always enjoyed learning about plants and gardening through a sort of buddy system. In the this mostly by mail. Later, in my 20s, I lived in Kansas City and had the distinct benefit of claiming as my gardening buddies Jack Tillotson, Sr., founder of Flower and Garden magazine, Rachel Snyder, its editor-in-chief, and Kathleen Bourke, then the art director and now a graphic designer and book illustrator.

As if those three were not enough, I was blessed also to be able to follow around in the footsteps of at least three other gardeners who, I swear, have glowing-in-the-dark green thumbs: Vera Dillard and Olga Rolf Tieman, both of whom I knew by mail for many years before we met, and John Philip Baumgardt, then director of Kansas City's Garden Center and now, among numerous horticultural pursuits, the author of a book that is considered a modern-day classic, "How to Prune Almost Everything" (Hawthorn Books).

C.Z. Guest and I became gardening buddies a couple of years ago when her book, "First Garden" (G.P. Putman's Sons) was published. I was sent by House Beautiful magazine to interview and photograph C.Z. among her plants. The prospect of meeting this glamorous woman whose intimates I knew by reading the newspaper included the likes of Truman Capote, the Duchess of Windsor and all the Kennedys excited and scared me at the same time.

Well, it was dumb of me to have worried. I could tell in a minute that C.Z. was a gardener to the trowel born — by the peaceful, happy beauty I saw in her face, by the confident, loving way she handled flowers and by the fact we openly discussed well-rotted manure at our first meeting.

Since C.Z.'s book is somewhat biographical, as is mine, "Plants As Therapy" (Praeger Publishers and Popular Library), both coincidentally published on the same day, we were able to learn a lot about each other quickly, simply by exchanging books. You might say this enable our friendship to blossom early which, in a way, is what I had meant to write about today.

Of course, what I have in mind is coaxing spring flowers to bloom indoors several weeks ahead of their outdoor season. I was reminded of the idea as C.Z. and I admired a dwarf flowering cherry sent to her all abloom as a gift from Andy Warhol, having first been stylishly balled-and-burlapped by New York florist Tony DiPace.

In C.Z.'s coldframe I saw pots of panicles, lily-of-the-valley, tender azaleas, dwarf bearded iris, sweet violets, tulips, daffodils and Hyacinths, all ready to be brought to a sunny window or greenhouse for the final days or weeks of forcing into early bloom. And in her study there were baskets of hardy English primroses already covered with their charming cowslip flowers.

The ground rules for forcing hardy plant materials like these are simple:

1. They should be established in containers or balled-and-burlapped with a generous amount of soil and peat moss about the roots before killing frost in autumn.

2. Through winter they should be stored in a coldframe, sun-heted pit or cold greenhouse where temperatures range between 30 and 40F. Be sure the roots are never dry, but don't let them stand in water, either.

3. Any time after New Year's bring the pre-chilled plants to a sunny, airy, cool (ideally 50-65F) window, fluorescent-light garden, or greenhouse. For the longest lasting bloom season possible indoors, protect them from drafts of hot, dry air, keep the soil moist at all times and do a lot of misting. When the final blooms fade, return the plants to where you chilled them and, as soon as the weather permits, transplant to the garden.

If you'd like to try forcing right now, visit your local nursery or garden center. They probably have all kinds of potted perennials and early-flowering shrubs from which to select. Or, the minute the soil thaws sufficiently, dig, pot up and bring in something from your own garden.

There is no place to prepare hardy plants for forcing, what you need is a gardening buddy who lives in the country and will loan you some cold but protected space. I predict you'll have a lot of fun learning, sharing and even making a few mistakes together.

If you live in an apartment as I do and

Complete List Of Candidates Made Public

A-J Correspondent

CHILDRESS — With the filing deadline past, county officials have released a complete list of candidates for the May 6 primary election. All the incumbent and other candidates are running on the Democratic ticket.

Two last-minute filings turned the open office of county treasurer into a three-way race. Opposing incumbent Ben Hardison for that post are Mrs. Rosemary Smith of Tell and Mrs. Joan Baker of Childress.

The office of county judge also is open and those seeking the county's top position are incumbent Harper Knight and contenders Clarence Darter and Glenn Buckley. Darter is a local attorney and former Childress County attorney, now held by Cliff Campbell, is being sought by Lewis Mullins. Campbell also is a candidate. Incumbent justice of the peace for Pct. 7, Mrs. Dottie Bettis, is opposed in her bid for re-election by J. Paul Goodson.

Unopposed for re-election are incumbents Charles Mock, county clerk; Leonard King Jr., commissioner for Pct. 2; and James Smith, justice of the peace for Pct. 1.

BETTE MIDLER TO STAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Rydell, director of "Cinderella Liberty," "The Reivers," and "The Fox," has been signed by Twentieth-Century Fox to direct "The Rose," in which recording star Bette Midler will make her motion-picture debut. Miss Midler will portray a singing star in this musical love story set in the late 60s.

Commissioners Eye Budget Problems

A-J Correspondent

CHILDRESS — Childress County commissioners faced budget problems when they met in regular session here recently.

County Judge Harper Knight brought a shrinking building maintenance fund to the court's attention. The account pays for utilities and day-to-day operation of the courthouse, and shows a balance of about $1,600.

The judge estimated it will take an additional $15,000 for expenses and utility bills during the remainder of the fiscal year.

After discussion, the court agreed to call a public meeting to propose the transfer of revenue sharing funds into the operation account.

"That's about all we can do," Knight said. "There are two things possible — transfer the needed funds from revenue sharing or borrow the money."

Commissioner Leonard King explained that the only source of funds for the building operation account is a small percentage of local tax dollars, adding that the money used to stretch pretty well until spiraling utility costs multiplied the amount needed to operate the courthouse.

The court agreed to write to congressmen regarding a proposed federal budget cut of $5 billion in USDA funds. It was noted by commissioners that an estimated $700,000 in planned watershed and erosion control projects in Childress County would be affected by such a reduction in USDA funds.

Commissioners also agreed to donate $15 monthly toward utility bills for a planned public health center here. The center is being co-ordinated by Mrs. Margaret Westenburg, regional public health nurse.

When open, the center will offer medical tests and services at no charge, referring patients in need of treatment to doctors. Preliminary plans call for the clinic to operate one day a week. The city of Childress will pay a like sum of $15 monthly toward the center's utility bills.

Mexico's Oilfields Boost Production

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico's southeastern oilfields, in the states of Tabasco, Chiapas, and Veracruz, are now producing 1 million barrels of crude oil a day — about 81 percent of the nation's total production of 1.235 million barrels.

By the end of this year, according to the state oil company Petroleos Mexicanos, Mexico could export 450,000 barrels. Production is expected to reach 1.694 million barrels of crude per day by the end of 1978. Pemex reported that 90 percent of the 9.6 million cubic feet of gas produced in the southeastern zone is being utilized.
