Execution Of Texan Delayed

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — A stay of execution has been ordered for a 23-year-old man who was scheduled to be executed Wednesday for the April 17, 1975 stabbing death of a Temple man, prison officials said today.

Warden Robert Cousins said he has received copies of a stay signed by U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts of Austin. The request for the stay for John Shippy was approved and signed by Roberts in the Waco office of the U.S. western district.

Shippy was convicted and sentenced to death in November 1975. Ivan L. Hanks, about 55, came home one night and found Shippy in his home, according to the indictment, which alleged aggravated robbery. Shippy signed two confessions.

In the first confession, Shippy denied seeing Hanks, but in the second one, he admitted he fought with Hanks and stabbed him.

Shippy's attorney, Ed Johnson of Temple, filed a petition last Monday in state district court at Belton, requesting an evidentiary hearing on federal constitutional grounds, but Judge Don Busby denied the plea.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals denied Johnson's request last Tuesday for a stay of execution pending an appeal, but Johnson then went Wednesday morning to Judge Roberts. Roberts granted the stay.

Now that he has the stay, Johnson said the next step will be to go back to Busby's court and again request an evidentiary hearing. His appeal, although on federal constitutional grounds, cannot be taken to federal courts until all appeal efforts are exhausted on the state level, Johnson said.

"It's possible the court will deny an evidentiary hearing, and the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals then would overrule my application for a writ of habeas corpus. With state appeals then being exhausted, it would put me in federal court and allow me to proceed with my application for an evidentiary hearing in federal court," Johnson said.

New Snowstorm Buries Midwest

By United Press International
A powerful snowstorm drove across the Midwest today, stacking highway-closing drifts up to 6 feet deep, closing schools and businesses and bearing down on Ohio Valley states still crippled by the deep snows of a January blizzard.

Schools shut down for the day in Kansas City, Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., and in scores of other cities and towns from the Great Plains to Illinois. The Missouri Legislature called off sessions at Jefferson City.

Many businesses closed in Missouri and Kansas. Federal government employees in Kansas City were asked to report for work four hours late.

Rain, heavy at some times and places, battered Southern California as searchers prepared to renew the hunt for more than a dozen persons missing from Friday's deluge. So far, 11 were known dead in the storm and the flash floods it triggered.

Twelve persons were unaccounted for at Hidden Springs, in the flood-ravished mountains north of Los Angeles, and three were missing elsewhere in Southern California. Fifteen persons previously reported missing at Hidden Springs were found safe Sunday.

"Those mountains are saturated now," a sheriff's department spokesman said. "The danger of slides is greater. Some of the boulders are just hanging there waiting to fall."

In the midlands, drifts 5 and 6 feet high piled up in central and eastern Nebraska and northwest Kansas. Twelve-inch snowfalls were reported at Maryville and Oregon, Mo., and St. John, Kan. Warrensburg, Mo., had 11 inches and Kansas City 8 inches of snow by dawn, with an additional 4 inches predicted.

Many highways were blocked, especially in the Grand Island-Hastings-Kearney area of central Nebraska. Morning classes were called off at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

Speaker Roland Luedtke of the Nebraska Legislature, waiting to see if enough legislators showed up to hold a session, said, "We'll have to play it by snow-pow."

An ice storm added to Missouri's problems. Power lines were reported down in Rolla, Mo., and St. Louis. Kansas City police wrestled with a 20-car pileup. Freezing rain and sleet spread eastward to western Kentucky and southern Indiana.

The storm pushed eastward along a 150-mile-wide path in central Illinois, dropping up to 4 inches of snow in early morning and threatening 4 more inches with high winds expected to build impassable drifts. Hundreds of trucks jackknifed across highways, and police at Peoria, Ill., said more than 50 cars skidded into ditches during the first hour of the storm.

Oklahoma received up to 8 inches of snow from the new storm. Whistling winds piled drifts 2 to 3 feet deep. Northbound lanes of Interstate 35 in Oklahoma were blocked for two hours early today by two jackknifed trucks.

Rain fell heavily in other parts of Oklahoma and in Texas, and thunderstorms spread eastward into Louisiana and Arkansas. A tornado touched down west of Cameron, La., but there were no reports of damage or injuries. Winds damaged three houses at Schertz, Texas, and blew down at barn at Beaumont.

In the Northeast, few residents were ready to welcome more snow.

For many Bostonians, today was their first day back to work since blizzard snows shut down the city and paralyzed much of the northeast. Commuters went to work on slushy roads and crowded

U.S. Land Grab Cited By Jews

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Activist Rabbi Meir Kahane said today that if the United States wants Israel to give up Jewish settlements in occupied Arab territories, then it should first return the state of Georgia to the Creek and Cherokee Indians.

"What we are saying is that those who live in Georgia houses should not cast the first stone," Kahane said.

Kahane, born in New York City and the leader of the Israeli arm of the Jewish Defense League, observed the birthday of Abraham Lincoln with a protest letter delivered to the U.S. Consulate. He was accompanied by 30 demonstrators.

Kahane drew an obvious parallel with U.S. criticism of Israeli settlements in the occupied West Bank of Jordan and the Sinai desert. The United States regards the settlements as illegal under international law.

The letter demanded removal of the settlements of Plains, Atlanta, and Macon, Ga, the right of "Georgian Indian refugees to return to their homelands" and the establishment of a Georgian-Indian entity "preferably linked to Florida."

The latter demand was an allusion to Egypt's call for the creation of a Palestinian state in the West Bank that would be linked to Jordan.

Kahane cited American history, which records that the Creek and Cherokee Indians were driven out of Georgia in 1838 "by the forefathers of white colonist settlers with names like Carter."

The rabbi said the intransigence of the United States in not returning Georgia to the Indians "jeopardizes the peace of the Middle East."

The demonstrators carried several placards, among them ones that said, "Indian Rights, Yes — Carter's Peanuts, No" and "Self-Determination for the Oppressed Indians of Georgia."

Begin Averts Policy Fight

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in a conciliatory mood after harsh weekend criticism of the United States, said today Israel still welcomes U.S. mediation in the Mideast despite "very serious, painful" American criticism of Israeli policy.

Speaking at a news conference, Begin adopted a markedly soft tone compared with his sharp reaction Sunday to Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's latest appraisal of Mideast developments.

Vance, in a Washington news conference Friday, called for disbanding of Israeli settlements in occupied Arab land, Israeli withdrawal from the war-torn areas and establishment of a Palestinian homeland.

At its weekly session Sunday, Begin's cabinet unanimously adopted a resolution accusing the United States of "taking sides" against Israel in Mideast mediation. It was Israel's sharpest attack to date on the Carter administration.

However, Begin said today the dispute "cannot impair ... the very deep friendship between the United States and Israel."

He said Israel looked forward to the return of Assistant Secretary of State Alfred Atherton to Cairo and Jerusalem later this month. Atherton will shuttle between the capitals to try to get stalled peace talks going again.

"We welcome this initiative. Differences that have arisen over Mr. Vance's statement have not annulled our positive attitude toward Mr. Atherton's effort. He is a desirable guest in Jerusalem," Begin said.

In New York, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Vance's statements were the same "he has enunciated many times in the past."

"We have played the role of mediator in the Middle East and will continue to do so," the spokesman added.

Begin said Vance's statements were "for our part, very serious and painful ... we responded to them."

The Israeli leader said Atherton will attempt to bridge differences between Egypt and Israel on the text of the declaration of principles to serve as a blueprint for negotiations.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Atherton's shuttle was the only avenue open to peace and that talks could not resume unless a declaration of principles was reached.

Sadat spoke to reporters in Paris before leaving for Rome, the last stop on his whirlwind eight-nation tour.

City Council Post Sought By Stevens

By PAULA TILKER

Commodities broker Mike Stevens today announced as a city council candidate for Place 1, the mayor pro tem post being sought by Councilman Alan Henry.

At a morning news conference, Stevens, 39, pledged an active issue-oriented campaign before the April 1 election. He addressed four topics he said he considers top priorities, and indirectly took council incumbent Henry to task on two issues.

After noting that "it has been apparent to us all for several years that Lubbock is close to having open prostitution by allowing massage parlors to operate openly," Stevens added:

"It is a sad thing that for four years the man already announced for Place 1 (Henry) who has been on the council has ignored this problem until election time."

Stevens apparently was referring to an ordinance regulating massage parlors that the city council will consider Feb. 23.

Trustees Will Seek Community's Help

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Lubbock Independent School District trustees today said they will seek broad-based community input on desegregation proposals "before any plan is finalized" for submission to Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

And a new umbrella organization, the Citizens' Alliance for Successful Schools, has been formed to take up the school board's invitation for suggestions. The alliance called for, among other things, the development of a "sensible, responsible, effective integration plan for all Lubbock schools."

The group, at its first meeting Sunday night, offered to help the school district in an "orderly and safe" implementation of such a plan.

The district's board of trustees, Superintendent Ed Irons and his Administrative Council, and school attorneys Charles Cobb and Tom Johnson met for two hours in executive session this morning to discuss Woodward's order.

Woodward told the district two weeks ago to submit by April 1 a plan to desegregate Dunbar High, Struess Junior High and seven elementary schools on the city's predominantly minority north and east sides.

Earlier, school officials had said citizen input and support would be solicited only after a proposed new desegregation plan is formulated by the district's trustees and administration.

After today's session, however, the board issued this statement:

"Recognizing that the desegregation of the Lubbock public schools is a community issue, the board of trustees actively encourages public input by individuals as well as interested groups. To better utilize the suggestions and concerns of the people, it is asked that they be sent in writing to Ed Irons, superintendent, 1628 19th St., or to the neighborhood principal."

"As an additional measure to get input from throughout the community, many individuals and several organizations will be contacted soon by school personnel."

"Trustees are charged with developing a plan for desegregation, and they will consider the suggestions and concerns of the people before any plan is finalized. Such a plan should not only comply with the desegregation order but also should be educationally sound."

"Where desegregation proceeds under the mandate of law, the best results require that changes be carefully adapted to local circumstances and supported by the total community."

"With the help of the citizens of Lubbock, the board of trustees is confident that any changes ahead can be accomplished smoothly and an excellent quality of education can continue without interruption."

Irons said he already has received three "excellent" letters on the desegregation. See SCHOOL TRUSTEES Page 14

Phone Calls Traced At Boyle Trial

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — A telephone company official was called to the witness stand today as the prosecution resumed in the murder trial of former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle.

Julius Helvy, an employee of the Chesapeake Patomac Telephone Co. from Washington, D.C., told the court about two telephone calls made in 1969 from the UMW international headquarters in Washington to a number in Middleboro, Ky. At the time of the calls, Boyle had an office in UMW headquarters and the Kentucky number was the home of a former UMW official who was serving a prison sentence for his part in the killing of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

Today's session, which began 90 minutes late because of a conference in the judge's chambers, came after former UMW organizer William Prater, now serving a life prison sentence for conspiring to kill Yablonski, told the court he could not incriminate Boyle in the Yablonski murder plot.

"The FBI strongly suggested that I could incriminate Boyle," Prater said. Boyle, 76, is accused of hatching the plot to kill Yablonski because Yablonski was trying to take control of the 200,000-member union from Boyle.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were shot Dec. 31, 1969.

Panel Approves VISTA Project

By MONA HARVEY
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Lubbock County Commissioners today authorized the recruiting of two Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) workers to serve with Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lubbock, Inc.

Jim Douglass, executive director of the organization which provides adult companionship to children of one-parent families, said under VISTA regulations their work within the county must be approved by the county government. But the county government is not responsible for the workers' actions.

Douglass said 50 to 60 children whose parents have applied to the program are without adult companions.

The VISTA volunteers will help with recruiting adults for the program, paperwork and followup checks on the adult-child relationships, Douglass said.

This Sunday begins Big Brothers/Big Sisters Appreciation Week. "We always get as many if not more kids (whose parents submit their names) than adults in response to our campaigns," Douglass said.

Adults ages 20 and up, including blue collar and white collar workers, retired. See VISTA PROJECT Page 14

Coal Contract Hassle Cuts Fuel Supplies

By The Associated Press
Coal stockpiles continue to dwindle and the United Mine Workers union appears divided, but the 70-day nationwide coal strike goes on.

By a 30-6 vote Sunday the UMW bargaining council turned down a tentative pact. This meant an end to the strike was weeks away, negotiations had to start again and emergency power preparations were begun in several hard-hit states.

Interviewed today, United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said the vote was not the way the rank-and-file would have gone.

"I think 90 percent of our workers want to work and they would have accepted this contract," he said. "If the membership had been given an opportunity to accept or reject the contract, I would have felt better about it."

Miller said he wanted a quick resumption of the talks aimed at settling the longest nationwide strike in UMW history.

A spokesman for the coal operators said they were "reviewing their options." And Joseph P. Brennan, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said he was "appalled" at the rejection of the industry offer.

Miller declined to say when he thought the strike would end, but indicated he would not support government intervention to end the walkout.

"I know the Taft-Hartley law very well and I have been opposed to it since its enactment" Miller said, adding that there was a "strong possibility" miners would ignore it if the government tried to force them back to work.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., today called on President Carter to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to suspend the walkout.

"If Mr. Carter refuses to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, we will have a state of anarchy in the coal regions and a president who refuses to act in the best interests of the public," Goldwater said in a statement issued by his office.

Meanwhile, as Miller said he had rank-and-file support for the contract he negotiated, a union leader said the UMW president was losing support in the coal fields. "Telegram after telegram" is arriving in Washington urging Miller to quit, according to a member of the bargaining council.

The lengthy strike has left some utilities with lower than normal stockpiles of coal. And a task force appointed Saturday by President Carter to find ways of bringing energy from areas of the country which are not affected by the strike was to meet to discuss setting up a headquarters in Canton, Ohio.

Canton is headquarters for the East Central Area Reliability Council, representing utilities serving 33 million customers in eight states.

"We spent a good portion of last year listening to the counsel of those who said, 'If you just go around and pat all these people on the back, they'll do what's right.' It's clear that that doesn't work." — White House press secretary JODY POWELL, commenting on Jimmy Carter's plans to be a "more aggressive president" this year.

Prince Cancels TV Appearance

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace says Prince Philip backed out of a television talk show on religion for "personal reasons."

The palace spokesman, in making the announcement Sunday, said the decision to withdraw had "nothing to do with either Princess Margaret or Prince Charles."

British newspapers speculated that Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, did not want to discuss reports that his son and heir to the throne, Charles, may be planning to marry Princess Marie-Astrid of Luxembourg, a Roman Catholic, and that Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, may get a divorce.

British succession laws ban the marriage of a British monarch as head of the Protestant Anglican church to a Catholic, and Buckingham Palace has denied that Charles will marry the Luxembourg princess. Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, may divorce when their two-year separation is complete.

"The decision to withdraw was an entirely personal one," the Buckingham Palace spokesman said. "There is no dispute or animosity either with the BBC or the program people."

Philip was to have been interviewed this month for the British Broadcasting Corp.'s "Everyman" religious program to be shown later in the year.

Actress Has Blood Clot Treated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Connie Stevens is at home after five days of hospital treatment for a blood clot in her right knee.

Miss Stevens was released Saturday from Los Angeles New Hospital. She entered the hospital last Monday after complaining of a swollen leg. She fell two weeks ago during a dance act at a Las Vegas hotel.

A spokesman for the entertainer said she responded well to treatment to dissolve the clot and would probably rest at her Malibu home for several days.

Employee Says He Burned Portrait

LONDON (AP) — The portrait of Sir Winston Churchill presented to him by Parliament before his retirement from active political life was burned in an incinerator after it was smashed by Churchill's wife, a former employee of the Churchills says.

Ted Hiles, 62, said in a statement to the Sunday Telegraph: "I was called to the cellar one day in the autumn of 1955 to help to clear out some rubbish ... Lady Churchill and another member of the family were there in the cellar ...

"They both reached behind the boiler and pulled out the painting. Lady Churchill then smashed it to the floor. The frame broke up and they threw it on the pile. I was told to take it out immediately."

"I put it all in the trailer of my tractor and took it down to the incinerator pit behind the house. I tipped it all in and set fire to it immediately."

"The whole lot burned quickly as it always did. There was a lot of thick black smoke this time."

The portrait was painted by Graham Sutherland. Churchill had said he disliked the portrait. Executors of his wife's estate recently made public that the portrait had been destroyed by Lady Churchill.

Excuse Me, Am I Wanted?

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dirk Robinson walked into the St. Louis County police station and politely asked to have his police record checked. Within minutes he was under arrest.

Police said that Robinson, 23, was arrested because the record check indicated he was wanted on robbery charges and considered dangerous.

"He said he wondered when we'd come," said officer William Shoemaker, who helped arrest Robinson on Saturday. "He said he thought something was going on when the girl told him the computer was down and he'd have to wait a few minutes."

Pentagon Plan Revealed By British Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — An outcry of British opposition has blown the cover on a closely guarded Pentagon plan to base big refueling planes in Britain.

The Pentagon has refused for months to discuss reports of secret U.S.-British negotiations on stationing KC-135 jet tanker planes at Greenham Common, a base 40 miles west of London.

Senior U.S. military officers in Europe are known to feel strongly that tanker planes, each with a capacity 31,000 gallons of jet fuel, are needed in standby positions in Britain to refuel about the hundreds of fighters and transport planes that would be rushed from the United States in a war emergency. British military officers are said to agree with this concept.

However, as long ago as last summer, a top-ranking U.S. general in Europe told a reporter the future of the plan was in doubt because it posed a prickly political problem for the British government. As he put it, "There has been less than enthusiastic reception to the idea from the locals."

Then last week Parliament member Michael McNair-Wilson, representing Greenham Common, publicly urged the British Defense Ministry to reject the U.S. proposal. He said "the noise will be devastating in what is a heavily populated area."

Confronted with this, the Pentagon acted as though the matter still was secret.

Some U.S. military sources, however, expressed sympathy with the townspeople living near the base, which has been a NATO standby airfield since 1964.

These sources acknowledged that the four-jet KC-135s are noisier than most other planes. The issue underscores difficulties faced by U.S. and North Atlantic Alliance planners who believe it is vital to establish more air and military supply bases outside West Germany, where a congestion of military installations carries the risk of quick destruction in the event of a surprise Soviet attack.

Officials Bracing For Reaction To Report On Abuse Of Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials are bracing for reaction to a State Department report that cites several foreign nations, including some close U.S. allies, for human rights abuses.

The report says the observance of human rights by foreign governments has improved generally in the past year, but the situation still is bleak. Among the nations criticized are Israel, Iran and South Korea.

The State Department report, issued last week, was prepared in compliance with a 1976 law requiring the department to give Congress information on each country receiving U.S. aid or buying U.S. weapons. The U.S. currently provides assistance to 105 nations.

Brazil and Argentina were so offended by last year's report they decided to reject all American aid on grounds their national honor had been insulted.

The reports are supposed to help guide Congress in deciding on economic and military aid for foreign nations, but Congress' response has been uneven.

Israel, Iran and South Korea, although criticized in this year's report, are expected to get increases. But military aid to the Philippines is being held to the current annual level of $37.5 million because of systematic violations, and Nicaragua is having its military assistance reduced.

Here is what the report says of some nations:

— Israel: "Under the military regime that governs the occupied territories, certain of the normal human rights guarantees that are taken for granted in Israel proper have been superseded on security grounds. ...As of July 1977 there were about 3,100 non-Israeli-citizen Arabs under arrest or in prison in Israel proper, most of whom were residents of the occupied territories."

— Philippines: "...The government has relaxed some aspects of martial law, released some political detainees and has announced its intention to hold some form of parliamentary election in 1978, but no real steps have yet been taken toward the restoration of democratic government or the elimination of the more severe intrusions on human rights."

— Iran: "The government has dealt firmly — and at times harshly — with persons from both left and right charged with committing acts against state security or believed to constitute a serious political threat. Iran has relied on a military court system separate from the normal civilian court system when dealing with persons suspected of crimes against state security. ...The State Department does not believe torture has been used recently. We believe the Iranian government is committed to prison reform and that prison conditions have indeed improved."

— South Korea: The government uses emergency measures to make arrests, detentions, warrantless searches and seizures in conflict with international standards for civil and political liberties. "...More than 500 individuals have been charged at one time or another for violation of the (emergency) measures. As of 1977 drew to a close the Korean government announced several significant releases of political prisoners. We estimate fewer than 150 persons remained in prison under emergency measures. ...We do not believe torture is now regularly employed in South Korea."

— Nicaragua: The authoritarian Somoza government had responded to a past terrorist attack "by imposing martial law and press censorship and by initiating a counter-insurgency campaign. Serious abuses of the rights of the person were committed by the National Guard. On Sept. 19, 1977, the state of siege was terminated with elimination of press censorship. Subsequently the political scene has been characterized by vehement and lively press and public debate, attacks on National Guard installations, and steps toward a 'national dialogue' between government and opposition groups."

Unemployment, Poverty Cripple Women's Cause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration efforts to enforce civil rights laws have been significant, but high unemployment and poverty still cripple progress for women and minorities, the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights said today.

In a 129-page report surveying the current state of civil rights, the commission said community acceptance of school desegregation appears to be growing. But it said this may be due at least in part to the limited scope of desegregation plans put into effect last year.

And it said little progress was made in assuring the rights of women. It singled out failure to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment and restrictions on the use of Medicaid funds for abortion.

The report said the commission is "encouraged by the new administration's commitments and initiatives to improve enforcement of civil rights laws," and such efforts "could lead to meaningful civil rights progress in coming years."

At the same time, however, it said it remains concerned by the continuing high unemployment and poverty rates among minority groups and women, and the inadequacy of programs to deal with problems of low-income urban residents.

"The lack of economic progress for minorities and women is especially disturbing since the costs of meeting basic human needs continued to rise and the overall employment position of white males improved," the commission said.

The commission voiced concern about challenges to educational affirmative action plans, such as those raised by the so-called Bakke case now pending in the Supreme Court, and said such challenges "threatened to slow down progress toward achieving equal educational opportunity."

In other areas, the commission said: — Rising costs of housing and various "subtle patterns of discrimination" continue to limit fair housing opportunities and federal programs aimed at aiding low and moderate income people still fall short of meeting needs.

— Positive developments in the area of the administration of justice included proposed revision of the U.S. criminal code and steps taken toward establishing tribal sovereignty with respect to law enforcement on Indian land, but the commission was disturbed that police abuse cases appeared on the rise in some places.

— Full participation in the nation's political process "remains a distant goal" although voting rights of minorities were strengthened. It praised the administration for naming women and minority persons to top-level posts.

Businessmen Wary Of U.S. Prospects

NEW YORK (AP) — When it comes to confidence in this country's economic prospects, American business executives have less of it than executives in eight other industrialized nations, according to a McGraw-Hill survey.

The survey, taken at the end of 1977 and released Sunday, showed businessmen in Britain, West Germany, Italy, France, Spain, Japan, Canada and the Netherlands were more optimistic about their nations' and companies' economic outlook than U.S. executives, McGraw-Hill reported.

Arms Sales Pledge Termed Too Much

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The official in charge of U.S. arms sales concedes the administration promised more than it could deliver in reducing them.

Lucy Wilson Benson, undersecretary of state for security assistance, said this weekend in a speech to the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics conference.

"Skepticism about the (arms transfer) policy has been expressed in many quarters. Part of this problem is our fault. We appear to have promised rather more than we could reasonably deliver, at least in the short run, and we expressed the issue of arms restraint with perhaps too much initial fervor."

"Clearly," she said, "we violated Talleyrand's famous advice to diplomats: 'Above all, not too much zeal.'"

Local Man Robbed At Residence

A 70-year-old Lubbock man told police he was bound and robbed by three strangers who burst into his home Sunday evening.

Claude Walker said he was watching television at his E. 16th Street residence about 5 p.m. when there was a knock at the door. According to Walker, this is what happened next:

A man rushed in and knocked Walker to the floor. After another man and a woman entered, one of them picked up a ceramic statue and hit the victim on the head. They forced him into a bedroom, where they tied his hands and feet with electrical cords and pushed him onto the bed. The trio then covered his head with a blanket and asked him where he kept a shotgun.

When Walker told them he did not have a shotgun, they asked for his pistol, and he told them where to find it.

Reports indicated that after the intruders got the gun, they ransacked the kitchen, as if looking for something else.

The victim was treated at his home after he reportedly refused to go to a hospital.

In other weekend crimes, six doctors told officers their offices were broken into with resulting heavy damage to a 3805 22nd St. building.

Reporting the break-ins were: R.G. Hendon, Carl Page, F. Buren Malone Jr., John Raines, David Gregory and David Lee Ivy. Although relatively small amounts of cash and some goods were stolen, damage estimates ranged in the thousands of dollars.

Another office break-in — this one at 1619 University Ave., Suite 200 — resulted in a $1,650 loss for the occupant.

Walker Metcalf told police he is missing a dictating machine and two typewriters after the weekend incident.

According to William Richards of Paducah, whoever forced a partially open window on his vehicle Sunday night made off with more than $1,100 worth of goods.

The complainant said the property, consisting mostly of clothing and jewelry, was stolen during a two-hour period from a parking lot in the 3600-block of 19th Street.

A teen-age bandit who "acted like he didn't have any money" after ordering a soft drink at a Lubbock drive-in early Sunday, left that restaurant with more than $33 after pulling the city's latest aggravated robbery.

Cook Ruth Ann McCullar told police she didn't suspect anything but a moocher when the 18- to 19-year-old Mexican-American youth began going through his pockets as if he was broke just after ordering a soft drink at Tommy's Drive-In at 117 University Ave. early Sunday.

While she waited for payment for the drink, however, the boy quickly stuck his hand in one pocket, pointed it in the direction of the woman and told her he would "blow your head off" if she didn't hand over the cash.

The attendant said she gave the robber about $33 and he left on foot, walking northeast from the store.

Police were seeking a man about 5-foot 8-inches tall, with collar-length black hair, late Sunday.

Officers also were seeking a 14- to 17-year-old Mexican-American youth in connection with the assault of a 42nd Street resident.

Marc Reed of 3610 42nd St. told officers he was at a 50th Street drive-in about 11:30 p.m. Saturday when the youth became so enraged during an argument the men were having that he struck Reed in the chest with a tire tool.

Burglars broke through a door to Mrs. Elva Alonzo's 109 Ave. A home between 3:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday to get at an $848 television set and stereo.

Rosita Zavala of 218-D Ave. S also told police burglars broke into her home to take more than $190 in clothes, tools and jewelry between noon and 10:15 p.m. Saturday.

Robert Brown of 2317 28th St. reported the theft of a $35 shotgun from a 507 E. Quinn St. residence Friday or Saturday.

Two watches, an eight-track stereo system and about $8 reportedly were stolen from R.L. Qualls' 116 Ave. T, rear, address between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday.

Police were still seeking thieves who took a money box containing $344 and $298 in charge slips from a 912 Slaton Rd. motel between 11 p.m. Friday and 11 p.m. Saturday.

James Ray Gilbert of 705 Beech St. reported the theft of a $300 stereo system from his home Friday night.

Dog-loving bandits apparently broke into a cage housing Ruby Maky's female Doberman pinscher at her 2263 34th St. address. The woman told officers someone who knew the dog must have taken it because the animal, valued at $2,000, was trained as an attack dog.

Leslie Thurman Breaks Hex, Wins Miss Lubbock Contest

By ESTHER LONGORIA
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Leslie Elaine Thurman says she's definitely broken the hex.

"In every pageant I've ever entered, I've always been chosen second runner-up," the new Miss Lubbock said Sunday. "But, I've broken that hex now."

The hazel-eyed brunette said she was a bit apprehensive but mostly excited with the responsibilities that await her as the 1978 Miss Lubbock.

"I'm really looking forward to being Miss Lubbock and representing Lubbock," the Brownfield beauty said. "I'm determined to be the best Miss Lubbock I can be."

Miss Thurman, last year's second runner-up in the Miss Lubbock Pageant, was awarded the trophy in Saturday night's swimsuit competition. The swimsuit honor, along with her rendition of Dan Hill's "Sometimes When We Touch," helped to convince the judges to present the 20-year-old Texas Tech junior with the title.

"After winning the swimsuit competition, I suddenly thought 'I might have a chance,'" she said.

The determined singer-actress, who has been involved in productions at the Lubbock Theater Center and Lubbock's Hayloft Dinner Theater, aspires to be "a professional performer in the theater. I would love to be on Broadway."

An applied voice major, with a drama minor, Miss Thurman has appeared in three operas and four musicals, including "Sweet Charity" and "I Do, I Do," at the Hayloft and "Kiss Me Kate" at Lubbock Theater Center.

"I want to be a professional performer because first, I want to make people happy through sharing my talent and second because I love the theater. I don't think I could live without it," she said.

The new titleholder will be appearing in her hometown's Lions Club talent show Thursday and Friday. "That show is pretty special to me because that was where I had first sung in public," she recalled.

In capturing the Miss Lubbock crown, Miss Thurman won a $250 scholarship, which she said would be placed in a savings account.

The contest winner said she plans to continue her studies at Tech, adding that "I'll just have to work twice as hard to keep my grades up."

Of her new title, she said, "I'll still be the same person—with one difference in that I'll be quite a bit more busier."

During the hectic preparations for the pageant, the coed said she received a great deal of support from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Thurman of Brownfield; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thurman of Memphis; and her voice instructor, John Gillis of Tech's music faculty. "And I received lots of support and love from all my friends, especially from those in Brownfield."

However, the titleholder was back in the Hub City by Sunday afternoon. She and Jack Geddes, coordinator and manager for the scholarship pageant, already were planning for July's Miss Texas competition in Fort Worth.

No Parole Date Expected For Corona

By SUSAN SWARD

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — In May 1971 police dug up shallow graves in fruit orchards by the Feather River here and found the bodies of 25 migrant workers. Five years ago a jury convicted Juan Corona in those murders.

Today, Corona, a burly 43-year-old man, is in the state prison at Soledad, 100 miles south of San Francisco in the Salinas Valley. He is serving 25 consecutive life terms in the machete killings of the workers, all between the ages of 40 and 63.

Furr's Cafeterias Inc. Reports High Earnings For Fiscal 1977

Furr's Cafeterias Inc. ended its 1977 fiscal year on a strong note after bad weather and rising costs had exerted pressures on profit margins during the first half of the year, according to Don Furr, chairman of the board.

Earnings were $2.7 million or $1.22 per share during the 52-week fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1977. This is a decrease of $177,000 or 6.2 percent from 1976 fiscal year earnings of $2.9 million, or $1.28 per share.

Sales were $71.4 million during 1977, an increase of 15.4 percent over 1976 sales of $61.8 million. Investment and employment tax credits in 1977 were 20 cents per share while 1976 investment tax credit was 13 cents per share.

Fourth quarter 1977 earnings were $862,000 or 40 cents per share, compared to $852,000 or 30 cents per share during the fourth quarter of 1976, an increase of 33.3 percent. Sales during the quarter were $18.2 million, an increase of $3 million or 19.6 percent over sales of $15.2 million during the same quarter of 1976.

"Sales and earnings continued their upward fourth quarter and yearly trend due to improved weather, continued cost controls, some price adjustments and the application of innovative marketing tactics in key markets," Furr said.

"The impact of new units on Furr's sales and profits should improve significantly in 1978," he said. "Unlike 1977 where we closed one unit and opened only two, the next 12 months should see us adding between eight and 10 new cafeterias. During the first quarter of 1978, we opened one new unit with very encouraging opening week sales and at least one more of comparable volume will be in operation by the end of the quarter."

Furr said, "Sales increases during the first quarter of 1978 will not be as dramatic as the last two quarters of 1977, however, due to the very inclement weather which blanketed almost all of our market area during much of January. We feel, however, that the momentum established during the later part of 1977 will continue into the remainder of 1978."

interview. He said then it was "impossible" for him to think of spending the rest of his life in jail.

He lives in an 8-by-10-foot cell in the prison yard and lifts weights with other prisoners. From time to time, members of his family visit him.

"He keeps himself occupied very well. He does quite a bit of reading and studying. Other inmates treat him just like anyone else," said R.A. Smith, the prison official who handles his case.

When Corona's attorney, Michael Mendelson, visits him, he finds Corona quiet and somber.

"Anytime anyone has been incarcerated (that long), you don't know what they were like before they were in the slammer. It's like anybody else. It's been my experience there's a general dullness and flatness of personality," Mendelson said.

Mendelson is working to overturn Corona's conviction, arguing Corona's trial attorney, Richard Hawk, had a financial stake in the trial because he was writing a book about it.

"We also have argued strenuously that the so-called experts that testified didn't really link Juan to the murders themselves except in the most general kind of way," Mendelson said.

Corona has blamed his conviction on Hawk's decision not to let him or any other defense witness testify. He said he wanted another trial to tell his story.

Hawk defends his record, saying he never put Corona on the stand in the five-month trial because "I didn't think they came close to proving their case beyond a reasonable doubt to any reasonable, fair-minded jury. This jury was loaded with retired military personnel."

Indiana Turns Off Lights To Set Example

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Cleaning schedules have been changed, flood lights disconnected and chandeliers turned off as state officials try to set an example for other Hoosiers and save energy.

"At this time, it's on a voluntary basis, but we have asked that all the lights be turned off when they're not being used," said James W. Sexson, director of property management for the Administration Department. "We've changed our cleaning schedule, which is done at night, so that we take care of one floor at a time."

With the United Mine Workers strike in its 70th day and Indiana utilities warning of dangerously low coal supplies, the conservation request applies to everyone.

So sunshine and a single desk lamp illuminate Gov. Otis R. Bowen's office. Secretary of State Larry Conrad works under the muted glow of an ornate chandelier. And when Lt. Gov. Robert D. Orr leaves his office for longer than a few minutes, it's lights out.

The House and Senate chambers, where lights used to burn for hours even when no one was around, are darkened once business is done. Flood lights on the bottom of chandeliers in the Capitol halls have been disconnected, resulting in a 50 percent cutback in lighting.

Are you one of the self-employed hit hard by taxes? There's a chance you haven't studied all your options. There may be a way you can lower your taxes today and provide yourself a substantial retirement fund tomorrow. With the help of a professional. Person to person.

Less Stable World Threatens Balance Of Power

(Editor's Note: There are great decisions to be made in human relations around the world in 1978. This and six subsequent dispatches prepared by United Press International correspondents will examine these major problems as they relate to American foreign policy.)

By ROBERT KAYLOR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First it was decisive nuclear superiority, then a less clear "balance of terror" that assured U.S. security. Now a more complex and less stable world makes new threats to the delicate equation of global power.

How does the Soviet buildup of non-nuclear military might in Europe affect the United States? Does Middle East oil hold a future potential for flareup in that region even worse than an Arab-Israeli confrontation? Where do Eurocommunism and Africa fit in?

Although no one disputes the view of Gen. George Brown, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, that "the relationship between the United States and the Soviet Union is the central fact of life" in national security, the other questions are getting increased attention from policymakers here these days.

In strategic power, a decisive edge held by the United States in the 1950's was replaced in the last decade by "rough equivalence" as the Russians caught up.

It is debated today on issues of whether a SALT II agreement now being negotiated will tip the nuclear balance toward the Soviets, as well as recent weapons decisions made by the Carter administration.

Cancellation of the B1 bomber and delay of the new, tunnel-based MX intercontinental missile until at least 1986 means for the next two years the United States will continue to rely on a "Triad" of 1,054 ICBM's from the 1960's, 656 submarine-based missiles and a bomber force, mainly B-52's.

The concept aims to deter attack by its ability to wreak unbelievable destruction on Soviet society in return.

Russia has 1,477 ICBM's — some of them with city-busting warheads that would wipe out entire U.S. population centers at one shot — and 909 sea-based missiles. The Soviets now have a much smaller and less capable bomber force than the United States.

The United States is putting most of its strategic bets for the early 1980's on a fleet of 3,000 to 4,000 cruise missiles that is planned to confound Soviet air defenses but is not yet in production. Cruise missiles are small, unpiloted jet planes that would carry nuclear warheads to targets and fly into them.

"It could put the balance in our favor once again," says one U.S. official, referring to highly developed cruise missiles with supersonic speed that are still years away. But other authorities point out that the Soviets are also making new strategic efforts.

They are improving accuracy of their present ICBM's so U.S. land-based missile silos will be more vulnerable to attack around 1983.

Russian scientists are also working on an entire new generation of ICBM's that may start test flights soon. The U.S.S.R. is also producing the Backfire bomber, a junior-sized B-1 that has caused angry outcries from critics who accuse Carter of exempting it from SALT constraints.

The CIA concludes that Soviet military spending continues to outpace that of the United States by 25 to 40 per cent each year.

A massive Russian buildup in conventional military power has led to concern that the Warsaw Pact — the Soviet Union and its East European satellite states — could overwhelm NATO defenders in a surprise attack in central Europe that might allow the westerners as little as 48 hours to get ready.

NATO planners have reacted by cutting in half time needed to gear up combat forces. President Carter has pledged additional troops and drafted a five-year spending plan that will get equipment stockpiles in Europe into shape and provide for quick reinforcement by three additional U.S. divisions.

Despite fewer forces — a 3-to-2 Warsaw Pact edge in manpower, more than 2-to-1 in tanks and almost 2-to-1 in tactical airplanes — U.S. planners say that as the defensive side NATO forces in central Europe can afford to be smaller. They say improvements are now being made fast enough.

"Everything will depend on whether we and the allies continue adequate improvements in the next decade," says one U.S. expert on the power balance.

But more urgent worries are voiced about NATO's northern and southern flanks. In the north it would be largely a naval war as the Soviet deepwater Navy — a newly developed force in the last decade — leaves its bases to join battle.

The U.S. Navy, which seems unable to cope with burgeoning costs and numerous delays in its shipbuilding program, has been shrinking in size in recent years. That trend is expected to continue.

Some American naval planners fear the Backfire bomber will prove most dangerous at sea. Half the Backfire force is targeted against U.S. fleets. They would streak in at low level, launching deadly missiles up to 250 miles away against the aircraft carriers on which U.S. naval might is centered.

In the Mediterranean, already troubled by the Greek-Turkish dispute over Cyprus that has deprived the United States of bases, there is further concern communist political gains could turn Europe's southern tier into a "soft underbelly" that leaves the rest of the continent vulnerable.

"There is some doubt now whether we would be able to operate in the eastern Mediterranean in a wartime situation," says a senior U.S. Navy officer, speculating U.S. ships might have to retreat to the western part of the sea and fight their way back after Soviet Black Sea bases were destroyed.

Italy, now in a governmental crisis with the communist party threatening to assume greater power, is now the last Mediterranean site for U.S. surface Navy bases. "No one knows what will happen there, but it would be even more difficult if we were deprived of Italy," said a U.S. official.

Gen. Alexander Haig, NATO's supreme commander, has said while the alliance must be prepared to fight at short notice in Europe, the possibility of great powers being drawn into confrontation in another part of the world — such as the Middle East — looms larger.

With the future of peace talks uncertain at best, planners continue to be worried about another Arab-Israeli war. But since world preoccupation with energy worries in 1973, other concerns have arisen.

A CIA analysis that is disputed by some says the Soviet Union will be faced with dwindling petroleum reserves in 10 years time, forcing it to look outside its borders for oil.

Iraq may become a large producer and Saudi Arabia will continue to be the world's biggest supplier of oil, but Iran's production is expected to begin tapering off in the 1980's, introducing the potential of further strains in an always volatile area that is now heavy with U.S. and Russian-supplied weapons.

Carter, in the defense planning document known as Presidential Decision 18, said last year that quick reaction forces suited for use in the Middle East were needed, but plans are not yet in concrete form.

"It's unknown at this point what sort of situation might develop," says a defense planner, "but it is clear that we are going to have to look more closely at the Middle East, and not only in terms of an Arab-Israeli confrontation."

Another troublesome area is Africa, where the Soviet Union seems intent on increasing influence on its own and by using its Latin American client state, Cuba, which now has at least 20,000 troops and other thousands of civilian "advisers" on the continent.

Noting that the Russians have risked world displeasure in airlifting arms to Ethiopia by overflying several states without permission, some analysts believe the Soviet move to be a serious one. They note a permanent Russian naval presence in Africa in the future could threaten oil routes to Europe.

Museum Dedicated To Giant Telescope

BIRN, Ireland (UPI) — A new museum has been opened at Birn Castle to commemorate the "Leviathan" telescope erected there in 1845 by the third Earl of Birn.

The 73-inch Birn Castle reflector was for 75 years the largest telescope in the world until a 100-inch mirror was built at Mt. Wilson, Calif., in 1916.

Among the objects on display at the new museum is a model of the telescope as it was at the time when Birn was at the center of world astronomical science. There is a special audio-visual history of the telescope as well as a collection of eye pieces and lenses and photographs of drawings of some of the more important sightings.

In addition to the new museum, Birn Castle offers visitors a beautifully laid out park, formal gardens and what is claimed to be the highest box hedge in the world.

RENT CARS INCREASE

More than one of every five cars coming off assembly lines in the United States, or 21.8 per cent, is slated for lease-rental service, compared with fewer than 10 per cent a decade ago.

Bid By Lawyers Fails In Trial

By FRANK PATRICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SAN ANGELO — The defense in the Clarence Allen Lackey capital murder trial today failed in a bid to bar jurors information that state medical authorities have deemed Lackey mentally competent.

Defense attorneys sought to bar the information with a motion prior to commencement of Lackey's competency hearing, set for this afternoon.

Lawyer Phil Brown asked presiding District Judge Robert C. Wright to forbid the state's mentioning the fact that Lackey was found mentally competent to stand trial by authorities at the state hospital in Big Spring.

"We do not feel that the panel, which will now judge whether our client is competent, should be given information that he was deemed competent by others," said Brown, who, along with Tom Richards and Jerry Johnson, represents Lackey.

Lubbock Criminal Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin successfully argued that the information would be pertinent in examining or cross-examining medical experts at today's proceedings.

The straw-haired, powerfully built Lackey, a 23-year-old construction worker, was indicted for alleged capital murder as a result of the July 31, 1977, abduction of Toni Dianne Kumpf, 23, an attractive Texas Tech University Medical School secretary.

Neighbors had reported hearing screams from the petite victim's 1001 Ave. W. residence about 6:30 a.m. A man apparently broke down the door of the home and took the young woman away in a pickup truck.

Producer Cites Need For Sense Of Drama

By CANDY SAGON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The man who made the creaking door the trademark of radio drama, told Texas Tech mass communications students this morning that "as a generation, we've stopped listening" to radio. Now we only "hear" it.

Himan Brown, executive producer of two CBS radio dramas, the Mystery Theatre and the Adventure Theatre, began Tech's Mass Communications Week activities with a talk on the recent revitalization of radio drama.

Brown, a New Yorker, is probably best known for some of his early productions in the 1940s and mid-50s, including "Inner Sanctum Mysteries," "The Thin Man," "Dick Tracy," and "Flash Gordon."

Five years ago Brown convinced CBS to reinstitute a nightly radio drama series, and now a new generation of listeners is enjoying weeknight stories on "Mystery Theatre," and, on the weekends, tales from "Adventure Theatre."

Brown told his audience he had a long, tough fight to get one of the networks to agree to a radio drama series. "For 14 years I knocked at the doors of every agency on Madison Avenue, every network, and they all told me to go home and watch television."

He accused the broadcast industry of "living by the computer."

"Nobody worries about anything but logistics. The whole thing is done by a machine. You need a sense of drama to communicate. You have to feel, be creative," he told students.

Miss Kumpf's body — the throat slashed — was found lying in a field south of Lubbock about three hours later.

Because of wide-spread publicity, the trial was moved here from Lubbock on a change of venue.

The defense late last week — during the course of jury selection for the trial — filed a motion for today's incompetency proceeding, which will be heard by a separate 12-member panel.

Lackey's lawyers filed a motion, they indicated, after having their client examined by Dr. Lloyd Downing, a San Angelo psychiatrist and Dr. David McBride, a San Angelo psychologist.

It will be up to the panel to determine whether Lackey has the ability to consult with his attorneys and whether he has a rational understanding of the charge against him.

Defendants are presumed to be competent unless proven otherwise, and it will be up to the defense to establish a preponderance of the evidence in its favor if Lackey is to be adjudged incompetent.

If Lackey is found incompetent, jurors already chosen to hear evidence in the capital trial will be released, and Lackey will be tried later.

Attorneys were still questioning prospective jurors for the competency proceeding around noon today. Officials said they hoped the current proceeding can be concluded in one day.

Along with denying the defense motion concerning results of previous tests, Wright today also refused a defense motion requesting individual examination of jurors for the incompetency hearing.

He allotted each side 10 preemptory challenges of prospective jurors for the hearing, denying a defense request for 15 such challenges.

Brown said radio became a "service medium" in 1959. "It became something you heard — news and music — I was not accustomed to hearing radio, I was accustomed to listening."

It is listening, Brown said, which creates a rapport between the listener and the speaker. "You and the speaker — the most personal kind of communication there is."

When a person listens to radio drama, Brown continued, "you dress the characters, you create the scenery. (Through radio) I can take you anywhere you want to go."

Brown said he has gotten letters from children thanking him "for letting me watch radio," and from mothers thanking him "for giving back my children the world of fantasy."

Brown's speech highlighted Public Relations Day on campus, with other activities to continue this afternoon including a panel discussion with several representatives of statewide public relations agencies.

Tuesday is Journalism Day. Joe Murray, managing editor of the Pulitzer Prize-winning Lufkin News will speak at 9:05 a.m. in room 101 of Mass Communications Building, followed by Ed Hunter, vice president and executive editor of The Houston Post at 10:35 a.m.

At 1:35 p.m. there will be a panel discussion by Tech ex-mass communications students, including Robert Montemayor of the Dallas Times-Herald, Neme Foxhall of The Houston Chronicle and Jeff Klotzman of KMCC-TV Lubbock.

Mrs. Ralph D. Perry

DENVER, Colo. (Special) — Services for Mrs. Tylene Nanny Perry, 80, of Kansas City, Mo., and formerly of Plainview, will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Fairmont Mausoleum here.

Mrs. Perry died at midnight Saturday in Cliff Manor Nursing Home in Kansas City, Mo.

The Brownwood native was graduated from the University of Texas and had done graduate work at Columbia University.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Rhoads, had settled in the Swisher and Castro counties area in 1900. After their death, Mrs. Perry became owner of the Nanny Farms in those counties.

Her husband, Ralph Drake Perry, died in 1954 in Denver, Colo. She moved to Plainview in 1954 from Denver.

She was a member of First Baptist Church at Hart and the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Travel Study Club in Plainview. She had been on the Parapsychology Board at Wayland Baptist College and had contributed to the school.

Mrs. Perry had also contributed to libraries in Tulsa, Dimmitt and Hart and donated the building for Dimmitt's library, now named the Rhoads Memorial Library.

She had written several novels.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Bill (Susan) Allen of Kansas City, Mo., and a grandson, Tom McClung of Kansas City, Mo.

The family suggests memorials be made in the form of donations to the Rhoads Memorial Library in Dimmitt.

L.K. Sampy Jr.

HOUSTON (Special) — Services for Lamar Kendall Sampy Jr., 19, of Houston, a freshman and starting basketball player for Lubbock Christian College, will be 11 a.m. Sunday at Lyons Unity Baptist Church in Houston with the Rev. O.C. Johnson, pastor, officiating.

Burial will follow in Paradise North Cemetery under the direction of Ross Mortuary, Inc., in Houston.

Sampy died about 2:30 p.m. Friday at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital. A ruling on the death is being withheld pending autopsy results. However, one doctor who had attended Sampy Friday said it appeared the cause of death was a coronary attack and respiratory failure.

Sampy, a 6-3, 206-pounder out of Houston's Jeff Davis High School, was the leading scorer and rebounder for the Chaparrals.

He was nearing the 400-point mark, surpassed by only four other LCC players in the past, and had made 200 rebounds, a mark bettered by only five Chaps.

It had been said the physical education major stood a good chance of replacing Ricky Russwurm (1971-75) as the school's all-time leading scorer and rebounder.

Survivors, all of whom live in Houston, include his parents, Lamar Sr. and Frankie Lee; five sisters, Mrs. Eddy Jenkins, Miss Donna Marie Sampy, Mrs. Valrie Rose Sullivan, Miss Anita Louise Sampy and Miss Ruth Evelyn Sampy; a brother, Raymond Larry; and two grandmothers, Mrs. Eddy Lee Thomas and Mrs. Elvira Sampy.

Senators Aware Of Audience

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — So far, the denizens of the cave of the winds have been on their best behavior. It seldom lasts.

But this time, the Senate is on the air—and not only in its own chamber, where long-winded speeches are a longstanding habit.

In its debut on live radio, the Senate is conducting a real debate on the Panama Canal treaties. Instead of long set speeches, and long delays while the clerk calls the roll to take attendance, there is argument, rebuttal and retort.

During its first three days on the issue, the Senate has, as Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. said, provided a national stage to test ideas and judgments, and to point the way to future policy.

Baker said that is what the Senate does best.

But not often.

This time, the contesting senators are constantly aware that they are playing to a far wider audience than the galleries, which accommodate about 1,000 people, and the Congressional Record, which any senator can edit.

Through National Public Radio, the voters can listen for the first time.

That adds some weight to the customary admonitions from Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd to get down to business without stalling or wasting time.

"If we chew up a lot of time in quorums, this is not accommodating the public," Byrd said. Quorums are calls of the Senate roll, ostensibly to determine whether there are enough senators on hand to do business, but more often to kill time for one reason or another.

In normal times, Byrd himself uses that procedure routinely and repeatedly. But during the opening phases of the canal debate, it didn't happen once.

It could have, any time, because attendance generally ranged from a half-dozen to a dozen of the 100 senators. That is about normal, since most of a day's work for any senator is done away from the floor.

But with the microphones open, both sides in the canal debate have lined up their arguments, their speakers and their rebutters. It may not be the gripping program on the dial, but for the Senate, it is a good show.

That unseen audience makes a big difference. Take Byrd, the West Virginia Democrat who made his mark as a technician, not an orator.

"We're not bending the knee," he said in a rising voice after a treaty foe said the United States would bow to extremists to relinquish the canal. "We're not turning our tails between our legs and running."

There was an angry edge to his voice, and the sound was better than the syntax.

For good measure, Byrd stopped talking, something senators are not prone to do. "I'm on the 10th page of a text that is 49 pages in length," he said. Byrd said he'd utter the other 39 pages later.

After all, without timing any talk show is going to bog down.

This one may before it is over. The canal debate is likely to take at least five weeks, and may run longer than that. The magic of radio may run out before all the contestants are ready to vote.

"I anticipate no filibuster," said Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., a walking encyclopedia of Senate rules and therefore one of the most formidable of treaty foes. "That does not mean that the issue will not be fully and carefully discussed."

Allen also said that dozens of amendments should be discussed before the Senate takes its final canal vote. Sometimes it is hard to draw a clear line between full discussion and filibuster.

Either way, there is a lot of talking yet to be done.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't turn your hobby into a military academy for hubby or children tomorrow. You can get the jobs done by making games out of them. They'll be fun instead of chores.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The mind's an amazing phenomenon and can overcome matter. Marshal your positive thoughts tomorrow, and you will accomplish many positive things.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The main problem tomorrow will be that you will have hopes that can be fulfilled, but you lack the ability to get into a position to make the most of your opportunities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Analyze a longtime desire for something. Perhaps you've wanted it for the wrong reasons and would quickly lose interest if you obtained it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) While you may really be grateful to those who will do favors for you tomorrow, don't be surprised if you feel you can't express your gratitude adequately.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against a preconceived notion about what others should be doing for you tomorrow. Just because you didn't expect it is no reason a tip or favor isn't potentially profitable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The burned child fears the fire, but you're not a child any more. Don't forever shun someone because they erred in the dim and distant past.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Where your career is concerned you will be in a strong position tomorrow. Oddly enough, you may foresee disaster instead of success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The areas in which you will be lucky tomorrow may not be readily apparent. It will seem as if you're aiming for the moon and can't see that your shots hit lower targets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Hearth and home should be uppermost tomorrow, but unfortunately this won't be the case. Dividing your devotion will do justice to no one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There will be a hard way to do things tomorrow and there will be an easy way. You'll know the difference, but you might experiment and wind up making things tough on yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're not in a position to close a business deal tomorrow, don't stave it off. Enjoy yourself. Leave economic olives to ripen on the vine.

Archaeologists Find Ancient Fortress

MOSCOW (AP) — Archaeologists have discovered what they believe are the remains of the easternmost outpost of Alexander the Great's empire in the city of Leninabad, in Soviet central Asia about 125 miles from the northeast tip of Afghanistan, the official news agency Tass reports.

The agency said diggers have uncovered parts of the fortress wall of Alexandria Eshata, or Extreme Alexandria, which was referred to in ancient chronicles as the easternmost point of Alexander's advance in the fourth century before Christ.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM The Newspaper Bible.

Mat. 5:36-48, 6:1-4, The Living Bible

36 Don't even swear 'By my head!' for you can't turn one hair white or black.

37 Say just a simple 'Yes, I will' or 'No, I won't.' Your word is enough. To strengthen your promise with a vow shows that something is wrong.

38 The law of Moses says, 'If a man gouges out another's eye, he must pay with his own eye. If a tooth gets knocked out, knock out the tooth of the one who did it.'

39 But I say: Don't resist violence! If you are slapped on one cheek, turn the other too.

40 If you are ordered to court, and your shirt is taken from you, give your coat too.

41 If the military demand that you carry their gear for a mile, carry it two.

42 Give to those who ask, and don't turn away from those who want to borrow.

43 There is a saying, 'Love your friends and hate your enemies.'

44 But I say: Love your enemies! Pray for those who persecute you! 45 In that way you will be acting as true sons of your Father in heaven. For He gives His sunlight to both the evil and the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust too.

your friends, how are you different from anyone else? Even the heathen do that.

45 But you are to be perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect.

CHAPTER 6
1 Take care! Don't do your good deeds publicly, to be admired, for then you will lose the reward from your Father in heaven.

2 When you give a gift to a beggar, don't shout about it as the hypocrites do—blowing trumpets in the synagogues and streets to call attention to their acts of charity! I tell you in all earnestness, they have received all the reward they will ever get.

3 But when you do a kindness to someone, do it secretly—don't tell your left hand what your right hand is doing.

4 And your Father who knows all secrets will reward you.

5 And now about prayer. When you pray, don't be like the hypocrites who pretend piety by praying publicly on street corners and in the synagogues where everyone can see them. Truly, that is all the reward they will ever get.

6 But when you pray, go away by yourself, all alone, and shut the door behind you and pray to your Father secretly, and your Father, who knows your secrets, will reward you.

Somalia Mobilizes Forces

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Somali President Mohammed Siad Barre has called on every Somali who can shoulder a rifle to battle advancing Soviet-backed Ethiopian forces in Ethiopia's Ogaden region, official Somali radio reported today.

Siad Barre made the mobilization call at a mass rally in the Somali capital, Mogadishu, telling the 200,000 crowd: "Death is sometimes preferable to life," the broadcast monitored here said.

Siad Barre said last week Somali troops were being rushed to the Ogaden to fight alongside ethnic Somali rebels battling to win the area from Ethiopia.

Siad Barre was regarded by informed observers as making official long-standing war participation in the five-month war in Ogaden — which Somalis claimed to be 90 percent before the current Ethiopian counteroffensive.

Ethiopia has secured the strategic cities of Harar and Diredawa within the past two weeks.

Confident Ethiopian commanders who took foreign correspondents to Harar yesterday said their troops have driven back the Somalis 20 miles to the north, 30 miles to the south and 27 miles to the east toward Jijiga.

Jijiga is 45 miles east of Harar, which early January was surrounded by Somali forces.

Siad Barre, the radio reported, criticized the recent call by U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance for Somali forces to withdraw from the Ogaden, and again complained about Western refusal to supply arms to Somalia despite enormous Soviet and Cuban aid to its long-standing rival.

"The Russians and Cubans can go back home, but where does he (Vance) want the Somalis to go? Where should they withdraw to? Are they not indigenous people of the land?" said Siad Barre.

Western diplomats report there are now a total of 4,500 Soviet and Cuban personnel in Ethiopia. There are reports that 3,000 more Cuban soldiers are on the way.

A communique broadcast by the insurgents Western Somali Liberation Front claimed an Ethiopian offensive on the outskirts of Harar and Diredawa had been repulsed. The Front said its forces still held Addagalla, 55 miles north of Diredawa and 40 miles from the Somali border, despite Ethiopian claims it had fallen.

At Harar, Ethiopian commanders told reporters that in a separate offensive to the north, the army has advanced along the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroads as far as Medjo, or about halfway from Diredawa to the coast.

Jijiga is the chief objective of the Ethiopians at present, and the heaviest fighting is taking place on that front, the commanders said. The correspondents were taken to Fedis, a village of several hundred huts 25 miles south of Harar and six miles from the southern front.

Col. Seblu Kebrat, the commander there, said his forces drove the Somalis from south of Harar past Fedis in only three days, from Jan. 24 to Jan. 27.

Signs of battle were clearly visible along the road south.

Sixth Victim Of Strangler Discovered

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — An elderly widow who attempted to fight off her assailant before being choked to death apparently is the sixth victim of a killer who has targeted a fashionable 15-block area in Columbus, and women who live alone and are over 60.

The assailant who killed Mildred Dismukes Borom, 78, eluded heavy police patrols spurred by an unsuccessful attack on a neighbor woman the day before.

Mrs. Borom struggled before her death — a broken lamp was found on the hallway floor near her nightclothes-clad body, authorities said.

She was the fifth widow in the Wynnton neighborhood to be murdered since mid-September.

Coroner J. Donald Kilgore said Mrs. Borom was strangled with a venetian blind cord. She probably was killed Saturday, he said, but was found Sunday by police who were called when relatives were unable to get Mrs. Borom to answer her doorbell.

"It was a venetian blind cord," said Kilgore. "He got his tool inside the home — that was the venetian blind cord. He cut it inside the house."

Kilgore declined to say whether Mrs. Borom was sexually assaulted, as were four of the victims.

The body was found only a day after another widow, who lived only two blocks from Mrs. Borom, successfully fought off a masked man.

"He never uttered a sound," said Ruth Schwob, 70, of the man who attacked her before dawn Saturday in her stately brick home.

"I awakened on the bed ... and he had his hands on my throat," Mrs. Schwob said. "And then he wrapped the pantyhose all the way around my neck."

"I didn't get a look at him at all. His face was covered with a mask," said Mrs. Schwob, who frightened her assailant by tripping a burglar alarm.

Police said they could not determine how the killer entered the Borom home. They said a window was broken but screws pinning the window down were intact.

The screws had been installed only recently, said George Woodruff Jr., son of the fifth strangling victim, Kathleen Woodruff.

LONE SURVIVOR — Jim Nixon stands in the ruins of the resort community of Hidden Springs, Calif., which was destroyed by a flash flood last weekend. Nixon's wife and daughter were carried away by a giant wave. (AP Laserphoto)

Flood Survivors Shocked, Dazed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cal Drake and his friend, Jim Nixon, surveyed the scattered remains of what had been their home. Both men lost their wives in the storm that literally wiped the tiny resort community of Hidden Springs off the map.

"My wife and I were standing near the front window when the water came down," Drake recalled Sunday, staring at the spot where he and his wife Mary last stood together early Friday morning.

"It popped the rear wall up. We got outside somehow. I just got away. She was trying to follow me. Evidently, her feet slipped out from under her. She slid right down into the main channel."

"Now, it's a matter of what you can make of it," he said, speaking in a monotone. "Just keep breathing, keep working, try not to think about it."

Drake and Nixon, who also lost a 1½-year-old daughter in the flood, had lived side by side in two units of a triplex, situated just feet away from the normally placid Mill Creek.

Drake said he and his wife moved to Hidden Springs two years ago to have a "quiet life."

There was no reason to fear the raging waters, he said, because the town had survived earlier floods.

"These buildings were here in the 1969 flood," said Drake. "There was no reason to think there was going to be anything different, unless the Forest Service sent some kind of warning."

Apparently, the Forest Service did not see the waters as a threat. The chief ranger for the Monte Cristo station, about a half mile from Hidden Springs, was among the 13 people washed away.

At La Crescenta, Richard Lowe huddled in his garage with his two teen-age sons and several friends, two days after a sea of mud and boulders had smashed into his home.

He was readying for the second round.

"We've had an earthquake, a fire and mud here, and I prefer the first two," said Lowe.

The men expected more mud from heavy rains that began early Sunday evening, but the rain eased around midnight. The watch was split into 90-minute shifts, and they learned of a new worry — yet another storm stirring in the Pacific and scheduled to hit the coast Tuesday.

Sheriff's deputies had warned residents to evacuate because a small dam just up the street appeared likely to overflow and send mud and rocks rushing down the street into houses just as it had Friday.

Although many of the 75 other families in this mountainside neighborhood on the northern edge of the Los Angeles area evacuated, as did Lowe's wife, he and his boys — Curt, 16, and Eric, 14 — stayed.

Elsewhere throughout the ravaged town, sheriff's deputies and county road workers searched mud-caked debris, hoping to uncover bodies of some of the missing 13 people from the area.

Of that number, only one, 34-year-old Bonnie Kopylov of Sunland, was found before new rains on Sunday halted the search.

School Trustees Ask Suggestions

The letters suggested that "fairness be emphasized in any plan" adopted by the district, he said.

"This is a community issue. And a community issue, we think, should have input from everyone in the community," said Irons, who proposed today's statement to the school board in executive session.

He said he hopes to get "recommendations and suggestions from many different groups" including local ministers, the National Association for the Advancement ment of Colored People, the Junior League, the League of United Latin American Citizens and the League of Women Voters.

Representatives of many of those organizations were present Sunday night at a meeting to form the Citizens' Alliance for Successful Schools. About 40 persons attended.

The group adopted a statement, issued today to The Avalanche-Journal.

"We are a group of Lubbock citizens — parents, clergy, educators, housewives among others — who have come together to form the Citizens' Alliance for Successful Schools. Our basic goal is the general improvement of all Lubbock schools.

"Because we favor successful integration planning, we call for the generation of a sensible, responsible, effective integration plan for all Lubbock schools that will give a strong chance of continued as well as initial success; the making of an orderly and safe transition to that plan; and the creation of programs and services to ensure educational excellence in all Lubbock schools."

Representatives of the alliance said they hope to speak to the school board at its public monthly session Thursday. An interim steering committee for the group will meet this week and an open meeting scheduled for a later date.

Several members of the alliance were concerned that the school board may rush into a plan that only minimally complies with Woodward's order. Such a plan, they fear, would be rejected by the judge, appealed by the U.S. Justice Department or — if accepted — fail to produce lasting integration of schools here.

SWC Referees Still Missing

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The Civil Air Patrol searched today from San Marcos to the Lower Rio Grande Valley for a plane missing with two basketball referees aboard.

The Federal Aviation Administration said a Cessna 177 aircraft carrying Bill Horien of San Antonio and Jerry Nelley of San Marcos, both members of the Southwest Basketball Officials Association, disappeared Friday night en route from McAllen to San Marcos.

The plane left Miller International Airport at McAllen at 10:27 p.m. Friday and was due at the San Marcos airport at 1 a.m.

Both men were scheduled to officiate at Southwest Conference games last weekend.

City Post Eyed By Stevens

fuel cost pass-through on natural gas, Stevens noted that "this massive unrestricted, monthly automatic cost-plus increase is the direct result of a motion introduced by the present councilman also seeking Place 1."

Henry told The Avalanche-Journal he doesn't consider that statement to be accurate, claiming that he preferred quarterly increase reviews and that he only acquiesced when that approach did not seem feasible.

Instead of automatic pass-throughs, Stevens suggested that all proposed utility increases be reviewed by the council on a case-by-case basis.

The pass-through has "allowed our utility bills to skyrocket," he said. And the results "are absolutely devastating on our senior citizens on a fixed income."

"No one has a choice of which gas company to patronize — but they do have a choice of councilmen," Stevens added.

Besides supporting law enforcement measures to drive criminals out of Lubbock, Stevens said he favors improving traffic dispersal and opposes "any further tax increase or massive property re-evaluations."

The native Lubbockite explained that he believes the city "must live within its budget just like its citizens."

The city's annual revenue growth of about 17 percent should be adequate to meet inflation and new program costs, he said.

"If you can't live within a 17-percent increase each year, you're not managing your money right," he added.

Stevens called "massive" property re-evaluations "back-door increases" that should be closely monitored. And, he said, citizens' appeals should be heeded.

He is not against evaluating property for taxes, Stevens said, only against the current method, which calls for re-evaluations of large city segments every four years.

In decrying Lubbock's traffic system, Stevens said, "Our city is no longer a small country town. We must have a councilman that will aggressively seek answers to problems of cross-town traffic."

"I want to help you get from one part of town to the other without stopping at every traffic light," he added.

He indicated he doesn't believe the traffic problems have received adequate attention at City Hall. He said he as yet has no specific proposals, explaining that he would have to discuss the matter with citizens and traffic engineers.

When Stevens, who resigned last week as GOP county chairman, was asked whether he anticipates a partisan race, he answered:

"Absolutely not. I feel very strongly that it should be individuals." He added that he believes the "sanctity of the council should not be violated by party politics."

He said his reason for seeking the Place 1 seat instead of the also open Place 3 spot is that he feels "very strongly that if a person is trying to improve government, he must replace someone who is part of the problem."

Henry is vacating the Place 3 spot in hopes of becoming mayor pro tem, a seat Dirk West has held. West is running unopposed for mayor.

Stevens chairs the chamber's agribusiness task force and is a trustee of the Lubbock Osteopathic Hospital. He is on the county election board, active in Boy Scouts and the Youth Football League, and is former board chairman of Volunteers of America.

Noted Newsman Warns Of Population Explosion

Avalanche Journal Staff

Lowell Thomas, one of America's best known news broadcasters and noted world traveler, told members of the press Sunday that the world "is going to hell in a hat" because of the population explosion.

"They tell us that the population will double by the turn of the century," Thomas said, "and there doesn't seem to be room for it. There are already too many people in Houston judging from the traffic on the throughways down there."

Thomas was in Lubbock Sunday to present the keynote address at Texas Tech's Charter Day convocation, and to initiate the first day of Mass Communications Week activities.

In a press conference following the speech, Thomas continued his wry observations, including one which he said he was "sure everyone else would make — (that) America makes it a point not to select it's top people for the presidency. It seems that we get great presidents by accident."

A native of Cripple Creek, Colo., Thomas was attached as a war correspondent to all of the Allied armies from the North Sea to the Persian Gulf during World War I. At the end of the war, he was the first reporter to bring back to the United States an eye witness account of the German Revolution and the final downfall of the Kaiser.

Thomas also said he was one of the few war correspondents during that war who had a cameraman with him on his assignments. Coverage of wars, he said, has not changed drastically since that time except for the availability of cameras on the war fronts.

Thomas now lives in the Berkshire Hills, about 70 miles from New York City, so he can be near publishers, he said. He is the author of 52 books about exploration and adventure-biography.

Until he started broadcasting nightly 45 years ago, Thomas was chiefly known as the discoverer and biographer of Lawrence of Arabia.

He told the crowd of about 700 persons in the University Center Theatre that he believes he is the only biographer of Lawrence of Arabia who actually knew the English Army officer. Thomas told the crowd the only factual portions of the movie depicting Lawrence of Arabia's life were "the camels and the desert."

Though Thomas is nearing his 86th birthday, he said he had no plans to retire.

"The only people bothered with thoughts of retirement," Thomas said, "are those who work for large companies or corporations with scheduled retirement. I'm pleased to hear that Congress is considering raising the retirement age from 65 to 70. I think it ought to be 90."

Thomas, however, refused to discuss his future plans, saying only he wants to do something big as a finale. Currently, he hosts a public television series on aviation and said another television series is being planned but would not be finalized for four to five years.

In addition to kicking off Mass Communications Week, the broadcaster's visit Sunday also marked the celebration of Charter Day for Tech.

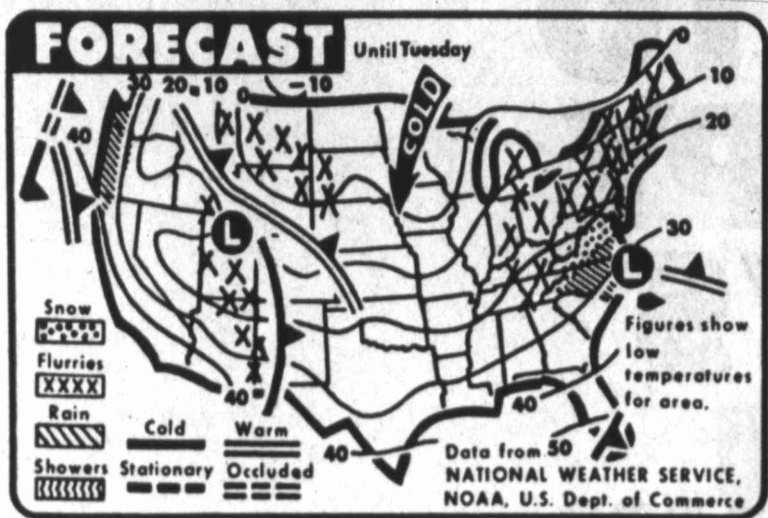

The university annually recognizes the day, 55 years ago, when Texas Tech was officially mandated by the state legislature.

Tech's history began when six men selected Lubbock over 37 other West Texas towns as the site of Texas Technological College, now Texas Tech University. Eight years later those six men finally saw their state university created when the 38th State Legislature enacted the bill establishing Texas Tech on Feb. 10, 1923.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain was forecast today for the Carolinas changing to snow inland and bringing scattered flurries into portions of the Midwest and Northeast. Snow flurries were also forecast in the Southwest and northern Plains. Rain was forecast for the northern Pacific coast. Most areas were expected to be cold. (AP Lasperto Map)

Forecasters Expect More Extreme Cold

By AL ROSSITER JR.
WASHINGTON (UPI) — This winter's cold is rapidly catching up with records set last winter in the nation's eastern half and it appears more of the same is likely for the next 30 days, the government's chief long-range forecaster said today.

The forecast for mid-February to mid-March was due out late today, but Dr. Donald Gilman told a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, "it doesn't look like a very warm forecast."

And a leading climatologist said it appears our climate is becoming more variable which means we can expect more of the extreme weather that has been hitting the nation.

"It's bouncing from one extreme to another," said Dr. Murray Mitchell, of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Last winter's cold got an early start with an unusually cool fall and did not let up until late February. Gilman said this past autumn was warmer with colder-than-usual temperatures beginning in December in the eastern part of the country.

"I just saw the averages for December, January and the first part of February before I left the office and it's beginning to get a little difficult to tell now — over that two and a half month period — really which could be considered the colder winter."

Another indicator that this winter is approaching last year's is gas consumption for heat.

Dr. Norton Strommen, of the government's Center for Climatic and Environmental Assessment, said the latest estimate, based on the outlook for the rest of the season, indicates that the nation's gas consumption this season will be 98 percent of last winter's.

Mitchell said the variability seen recently is a change from the 1950s and 1960s.

"Some of us take the view that really what's happening now is that the weather is more agitated now in a way that was normal — not abnormal — in the recent history of climate."

"Unfortunately, when we look at the climate that way — that the variable is increasing — it has nothing to say about what's going to hit us next. It's just that we're going to be buffeted around now more than we had become used to in the '50s and '60s."

"It's characteristic of a climate, when it's varying, to cause records of one kind or another to be broken quite regularly."

He said this winter and last winter have been extreme, but "I don't consider them part of a trend any more than I would expect the previous four mild winters to be part of a trend."

Mitchell said it is really the weather during the past two decades that was unusual because it was so benign.

"So the climate is getting back to normal. If you don't like the climate that we're suffering through right now, wait a few years or decades."

Gilman, Mitchell and Strommen discussed the weather at a news conference preceding an opening session of the annual week-long meeting of the AAAS, largest general science organization in the United States.

Local Students Third In Meet

About 400 high school students, representing 34 West Texas high schools, participated in the Texas Tech Spring Forensic Speech Tournament this past weekend.

The tournament's sweepstakes award, given to the school amassing the most points in all events, went to Amarillo Tascosa High School. Second place sweepstakes honors went to Muleshoe High School and Lubbock Coronado High School took third place.

In junior division debate, Coronado students took both first and second place while Levelland and O'Donnell High School tied for third. Lubbock Monterey High School took first place honors in championship debate, with Coronado placing second and Amarillo Tascosa third.

Chance Of Showers In Outlook For South Plains Wednesday

A-J News Services
Afternoon clouds were predicted to bluish this morning's clear skies, but forecasters do not expect precipitation on the South Plains until Wednesday when, they say, there's a "chance of showers."

Clouds will begin to gather today over the South Plains, which by Tuesday should be mostly cloudy, according to weather statements.

Describing recent temperatures as "below normal," the National Weather Service forecasts say the South Plains will reach only the mid-40s today. Tonight's low should reach the lower 20s.

Pre-dawn temperatures today landed mostly in the teens in the Panhandle, the 30s in most of North Texas and the 50s in the South. Reports this morning indicated a 38-degree span, from 14 degrees at Dalhart to 52 at Brownsville.

Except for the northeast corner of the state, dawn today revealed a virtually cloud-free Texas, while parts of New Mexico netted forecasts of scattered snow Tuesday. Clouds were expected to travel eastward across the state tonight.

Snow is also included in Panhandle forecasts for the latter part of the week.

Tuesday's top temperature likely will be in the 40s. Forecasts call for maximum readings in the 60s in Big Bend Country.

In contrast to South Plains breezes Sunday — which peaked at 31 mph — today's forecast calls for northwesterly afternoon winds of 10-15 mph to become "light and variable" tonight.

Plains area towns reporting low temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 8:45 a.m. today noted readings in the upper teens and lower 20s.

Big Spring, Seminole and Paducah reported a low reading of 27 degrees. Snyder and Matador read 26, and Jayton listed 25 degrees.

Lubbock's overnight low was 22 degrees.

Students To Tour City

Thirty top-ranking students from the National School for Teachers, Mexico City, will tour Lubbock the week of Feb. 27 and Texas Tech University on March 2.

The tour of the Texas Tech campus and some of the university's facilities is part of "Operation Senoritas y Senores," in which students learn about U.S. customs, culture and living habits.

The project began in 1962 in conjunction with Mexico's Association for International Understanding. This year is the first time for male students to participate. There will be six to eight men on the trip.

The Junior League of Lubbock, a volunteer service organization, sponsors the event to promote good will between the United States and Mexico.

Activities planned for the Mexican students include visiting host families, attending school with the host family's children, touring various banks and savings and loan associations, The Avalanche-Journal and the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Other arrangements for the visitors include visiting local high schools, Mahon School, the Well Baby Clinic, the Educational Service Center, the Ransing Heritage Center, The Texas Tech Museum and the Texas Tech campus.

Students chosen for the visit to Lubbock are selected on a competitive basis by their school.

Farmers To Meet Carter

By MILLER BONNER
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The perils of American agriculture will be explained to a former Georgia peanut farmer this week as striking farmers file to the White House for meetings with President Carter.

"I don't have any butterflies as far as meeting a president goes," said Gerald McCathern, a Hereford farmer and a spokesman for the American Agriculture Movement. "He should be a human being you can talk to and reason with... before President Carter became president, he was just another fellow down there running a peanut shed."

McCathern will join Jim Kramer of Kansas and Bud Bittner of Colorado for a 2 p.m. meeting Tuesday at the White House.

The president has scheduled similar sessions with 23 farm groups on Tuesday, said McCathern.

The Tuesday meetings mark the first time striking farmers will have a chance to voice their complaints and views to Carter. The farmers — numbering as many as 50,000, claim their spokesmen — have been in the nation's capital lobbying congressmen and administration officials since Congress reconvened in early January.

"Judging from his statements, the president has taken the stand to use the current farm bill for a year and see how it works," noted McCathern. "But we've got a locked-in loss for the next year."

"We got to convince the president that it won't work and we want him to make specific recommendations which would expedite a new bill."

"Of course, he's got to take the advice of his adviser," McCathern continued. "But his statements tell me he really doesn't know what we're asking."

One of the farmers' key demands is 100 percent parity, which would theoretically give them the buying power they enjoyed in 1910-14. The Agriculture Department estimates that farmers are receiving about 65 percent parity for their crops.

Without some immediate relief from the cost-price squeeze they are experiencing, claim farmers, America is tottering on the edge of another Great Depression.

By restoring 100 percent parity, farmers would make a profit which would have a positive rippling effect throughout the nation's economy, they claim.

"I've got to be optimistic," said McCathern of Tuesday's talk with the president. "President Carter is this nation's leader and I've got to believe he'd like to balance the budget, get people off welfare and put people back to work."

"A lot of people don't realize this but when agriculture starts going broke, like it is now, it takes about eight or nine months before it catches up to the cities. We're up here to tell everybody that'll listen that that is happening and if they think the crash of '29 was bad, they haven't seen anything yet."

"During the Roaring '20s everybody thought they'd never again see a bad day. Everything that happened then is happening now. Everybody is thinking eat, drink and be merry. Everybody except agriculture."

"I'm hoping the president will listen to our ideas," continued McCathern. "They're not new ideas. During World War II, we fed and provided arms for most of the world and our economy came out of it in pretty good shape. Everybody was doing pretty well and we were all on an equal basis."

"We need Congress and the president to realize what we need... all we want is a fair price."

"And they've got to realize that you can't turn agriculture on and off like a water spigot. Like the Bible says, there's a time for sowing and a time for reaping. If we miss a harvest, we've got to wait 12 months before we have another one."

Car-Truck Collision Results In Death

BEASLEY (UPI) — One person died and three were injured Sunday in the collision of a tractor-trailer rig and a car on U.S. 59.

Police said Rose Mary Gonzales, 19, of Bishop, a passenger in the car, died in the accident.

Investigators said the car was westbound and the truck was eastbound when the collision occurred in the eastbound lane.

The driver of the car, Jose Roberto Moreno, 26, of Corpus Christi was critically injured along with two other car passengers, Mary Ochoa, 25, of Bishop, and Joe Garcia Figueroa, 37, of Dallas.

The truck driver, Jackson Smith, 37, of Houston, was unhurt.

Bella Abzug Aims For House Post

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bella Abzug and her Republican opponent, S. William Green, Sunday began the final stretch of their hotly contested race for the Congressional seat vacated by Mayor Edward Koch.

The former congresswoman and Green square off Tuesday in a special election for the 18th Congressional District seat in Manhattan's wealthy "Silk Stocking District."

Although the 57-year-old Mrs. Abzug is the favorite in the heavily Democratic district, the race has been a heated one, with Green mounting a well-financed media campaign.

ON THE SLOPES — Joan Mondale, right, wife of Vice President Walter Mondale, accompanied by an unidentified Secret Service agent, took advantage of excellent snow conditions to try out her skiing form on the slopes at Vail, Colo., Sunday. The Mondales spent almost the whole day skiing as they relaxed on the third day of a reported 10-day vacation in the winter resort with friends. (AP Laserphoto)

Poll Shows Texans Fear Walking Alone

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — If a poll by Sam Houston State University is correct, most Texans are afraid to walk alone at night and have bought a gun or other security devices because they think they'll be the victims of serious crime within the next year.

The school's crime poll sifted through 642 respondents in a random cross-section.

"The findings from this survey suggest that the public is very much aware of the crime problem," said Dr. Raymond Teske Jr., who directs a twice-a-year survey research program by Sam Houston's criminal justice center.

More than half of the respondents (56 percent) said they were afraid to walk alone at night within a mile of their home and 23 percent said they wouldn't even walk alone within a block of their home.

Three out of four said they had bought a gun or other security devices for their own protection.

Follsters said their results indicated the biggest fear of most of those queried is of career criminals who have previously served time. They were almost unanimous in saying convicted felons should be denied bond if they are charged with another crime and should then have to serve their full sentence.

Seventy-three percent of the respondents said courts are too easy on convicted criminals and only one percent said the courts are too harsh.

About two-thirds said most crime victims are treated unfairly by the criminal justice system.

"The respondents apparently feel the criminal justice system is biased in favor of the defendant," Teske said.

The questionnaire also took up the matter of gun registration. Forty-two percent said all guns should be registered and 25 percent said no guns should be registered.

One Killed, Four Injured in Mishap

HOUSTON (UPI) — A car-pickup truck collision on Interstate 10 Sunday resulted in one death and injuries to four persons.

Police said Antonian B. Caletka, 44, a passenger in the car, was killed and the car's driver, Clark Dale Wilson, 44, was critically injured in the 1:13 a.m. accident.

Officers said Wilson's car was eastbound when it collided in the westbound lane with the pickup driven by Harold Brooks Gardner, 41, of Baytown.

Gardner's wife, Mary Margaret, 31, was hospitalized in fair condition. Gardner and another passenger in the truck, Robert Towler, 18, were treated at a hospital and released.

Candidates Opting To Use Petitions

State and local candidates are taking advantage of a previously little-used provision of the state Election Code to get on the ballot without paying expensive filing fees.

But though the candidates are saving money, the petition drives may end up costing taxpayers more when the time comes to pay for the primary election.

The provision allows would-be candidates to conduct petition drives among voters to get on the ballot, in lieu of paying anywhere from $300 to $2,000 in filing fees.

Ten congressional candidates and a few state representative hopefuls in the Republican Party primary have opted to conduct petition drives, while 13 Democratic candidates, including seven running for Congress plus candidates for assorted other state offices, also have used the petitions to gain a place on the ballot.

That list includes 19th Congressional District candidates Morris Sheats and Kent Hance on the Democratic ballot and Republicans George Bush and Jim Reese.

Jesse George, a Democratic state senate candidate, got his place on the ballot with petitions, as did Claude Cravens of Slaton, a Republican candidate for Justice of the Peace.

Reasons vary for going the petition route, but weighing heavy in most candidates' minds has to be the recently increased filing fees.

The fees now range from $300 for most county offices to $2,000 for a candidate for the U.S. Senate. A congressional candidate must fork over $1,500 (up $500 from last year), and the fees are $750 for state senate candidates, $400 for state representatives, $700 for district judge and $600 for district attorney and district clerk.

"I understand why they did it," said Ann Prestidge, director of the Republican primary. "Fifteen hundred dollars is a lot of money, especially for a Republican candidate in a predominantly Democratic state." In addition, she said political hopefuls are finding the petition drive "extremely

Trust In Man Saves Life

By IRIS SYNDERGAARD
 Kayville, Utah

I saw the man get on his motorcycle as my husband and I came up the trail from the Indian ruins at Hovenweep. Since it was dusk, there were no other tourists at the National Monument in remote southeastern Utah.

I'd have noticed the motorcyclist anyway. Unkempt, bearded young men always made me cringe with fear and contempt.

After his motorcycle roared off I told my husband I was relieved to have the fellow gone. Max chided me for my intolerance.

"Iris," he said, "you make judgments that are unkind because they are uninformed."

Even though I respected my husband's love for his fellow SYNDERGAARD man, I was hurt by his criticism. I kept my head turned as we drove past Hovenweep's ranger station to go south on a road marked on our map "Not recommended." We were anxious to get home, and since the road was short cut to Cortez, in Colorado, Max said we would risk it.

Five miles down the rough road we saw the bearded man from the ruins standing beside his motorcycle. He waved at us hesitantly.

Max slowed. "Surely you're not going to stop," I said. "It's foolish to take such a chance in this wilderness."

"Love thy neighbor, Iris," said Max. I was far from convinced. Still, I didn't say anything as the young man jogged toward our car.

Max told the man to get in with his gear. I was both annoyed and worried. Much as I respected my husband for his Christian attitudes, I often wished he would temper them with more common sense.

I felt our passenger's eyes on me, sensed that he was aware of my irritated suspicion, but he said nothing. Max, too, was silent since he needed all his concentration to maneuver in and out of dry washes, and up and down steep, rocky roads that kept our progress to a crawl.

I began to fear that our small car could not hold up. Max drove with great care, but on a steep down-slope our wheels hit loose rock. I felt the car skid, and although Max fought to regain control we were off the edge of the road. In a cloud of red dust we slid sideways to a grinding, shattering stop against a great rock.

The world, which had been filled with a terrible metallic sound, was abruptly silent. I stared upward, rigid, until I looked at Max.

My husband lay with head back, arms sprawled out. He was too pale and qui-

CAPROCAL HUNTSVILLE CENTER

At Wit's End...

BY ERMA BOMBECK

You all know I how I feel about ailing husbands.

If God had meant for men to be home in the middle of the afternoon he would have created a woman who runs on batteries.

Anyway, my husband took to his bed last week and on my 26th trip to his room, I gave him my "I've given you the best years of my life" speech.

It runs about a minute and a half, but it's brilliant. It touches on how I remained silent when his mother pushed for a funeral mass for our wedding, how I had never questioned his allergies to wet diapers and running noses and how I had given up a successful career as a baton twirler to make a home for him. Then I told him the dumb waiter (me) was out of order and that he should grow up and amuse himself. I turned on the TV and left.

Ten minutes later he yelled from the bedroom, "What's a hysterical pregnancy?"

I poked my head in his room. "Trust me, all you've got is a cold in your kidneys."

"No, no, it's Donna on All My Children. She just told Chuck she's having a hysterical pregnancy."

I flipped the channel to General Hospital. In a few minutes he yelled again, "Come here! What's with Scotty's roommate? He just made a pass at Laura. This is depressing. I think Lamont has the same thing I've got."

"You're being ridiculous," I said as I flipped to As the World Turns. He yelled again, "What's the matter with Karen? I think she's unstable."

"She has amnesia."

"Could you fill me in on Guiding Light? This doesn't make any sense."

"Bill is Hillary's real father and has led a double life for years with Bert Simons. Mike just told Bert that Bill is alive after Bert agreed to vacation with Steve. Georgene broke into Rita's apartment since Evie is blind and wasn't sure anyone was there. Jackie was annoyed to learn that Alan thinks highly of Brandy since she and Justin were living together. Now will you let me get some work done? You're worse than a child."

A few minutes later, he appeared in the kitchen fully dressed. "Well," he said, "I took your advice. I grew up. Took me six soap operas and five hours, but it was worth it."

Cassettes Aid Taxpayers

The time is here to prepare your 1977 income tax forms. Perhaps if you are having difficulty in understanding the tax return form, the Lubbock City-County Library may be able to help you.

The library has recently received a tape designed to help you with your income tax return form. The Taxpayer Education Department of the Internal Revenue Service has provided some public libraries with special audio cassette tapes designed to give step-by-step instructions for completing the 1977 form 1040A and 1040 with schedules A and B.

The audio cassettes are available for use in the library. Anyone interested in the tapes should bring the tax return form also. The tape is designed to be used along with the form at an individualized rate of speed. Headsets are provided by the library.

Tapes will be available until April 15, the end of the current tax filing season. Tapes may be obtained by contacting a reference librarian at Lubbock City-County Library, 1306 9th Street. There is no charge for this service.

FOUR TIMES MERRY

MARSEILLE, France (WNS) — No wonder Marguerite Roustin's three children are doing so well in school. They celebrate four Christmases a year as long as they stay at the top of their classes. "The youngsters themselves discovered that December 25th has been the Christmas date only since the year 356, when Pope Julius decreed it so," explained Mme. Roustin. "Until then it had been celebrated on Jan. 1, March 29 or Sept. 29."

GRACEFUL DESIGN — A very understated monochromatic design forms a graceful motif of "bamboo leaves" in this luxuriously thick new plush carpet. The elegant broadloom is specially woven of soil-hiding nylon yarns.

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKJ10 ♥Q7 ♦954 ♣K1098
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond. What action do you take?

A.—It is not our practice to overcall in a four-card suit, but this is an exception. You are too strong to wait for the auction to develop, yet you can't afford to double because of your heart shortness. If you double and then bid spades over partner's heart response, you would show a stronger hand with at least a five-card suit.

Q.2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠93 ♥874 ♦KJ94 ♣KQ107
The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1♦ Dble. ?

A.—Your response is a matter of style. If you play that a simple raise shows a weak hand while a jump raise shows values without being forcing, three clubs stands out. But if you believe that a jump raise over a double shows a distributional hand with no particular high-card strength, a simple raise to two clubs is all you can afford. You are a trifle weak for a redouble.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠1095 ♥863 ♦AK ♣KQ983
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♦ 1♦ 2♦ Pass 2♦ Pass ?

A.—Since you have opening bid values, you must make an effort to reach game. However, the auction has developed awkwardly for you. For the moment you should do no more than raise to three diamonds. Perhaps that will encourage partner to try three no trump if he has a spade stopper.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South with 80 on score you hold:
♠7 ♥KQ1076 ♦K982 ♣853
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♦ Pass 1♥ 1♦ Dble. Pass ?

A.—Your hand is just good enough for two bids—the quality of your spade suit is the decisive factor. Respond one spade, then support hearts at your next turn.

Q.5—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠A872 ♥A10985 ♦982 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♦ Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass ?

A.—Your hand rates one move toward game—a pair of aces and a five-card suit is a useful holding when opener raises your suit. Since you want partner to evaluate his entire hand, rather than a specific holding in one suit, we would make a general game try by rebidding three hearts.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠854 ♥AK ♦AKQ10 ♣AJ98
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass 1♦ Pass 2♦ Pass ?

A.—Considering our wealth of high cards outside the spade suit, partner must have a very good suit to make a jump bid even though he is a passed hand. A leap to six spades would not be criticized, but we would content ourselves by raising to five spades. This pinpoints our concern about the solidarity of partner's suit.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ983 ♥A6 ♦954 ♣AQ8
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1♦ Pass 2♦ Pass 2♦ Pass ?

A.—If a double to two spades were for penalties, we would be tempted, even though our trump holding is under the gun. However, in the balancing position, a double is for takeout, and the last thing we want partner to do is bid at the three-level. Pass and hope for a small profit.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ1072 ♥A93 ♦K105 ♣83
Partner opens the bidding with one heart. What do you respond?

A.—Your hand is just good enough for two bids—the quality of your spade suit is the decisive factor. Respond one spade, then support hearts at your next turn.

Q.9—Your play that a simple raise shows a weak hand while a jump raise shows values without being forcing, three clubs stands out. But if you believe that a jump raise over a double shows a distributional hand with no particular high-card strength, a simple raise to two clubs is all you can afford. You are a trifle weak for a redouble.

What action do you take?

A.—This is close. Obviously partner expects to beat one spade, and with your defensive values, the set should be sure. However, the fact that you have three clubs might detract from partner's defensive capacity. We would try to complete the rubber by bidding one no trump—not two hearts, for partner's double should be based on heart shortage.

Q.5—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠A872 ♥A10985 ♦982 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♦ Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass ?

A.—Your hand rates one move toward game—a pair of aces and a five-card suit is a useful holding when opener raises your suit. Since you want partner to evaluate his entire hand, rather than a specific holding in one suit, we would make a general game try by rebidding three hearts.

Film Presented At League Meet

"A Place in Time," a documentary film from the National Trust for Historic Preservation, will be presented to the Junior League of Lubbock at its general meeting on Tuesday.

The first general interest film to deal with historic preservation in the United States, "A Place in Time" emphasizes understanding and appreciation of the significance and beauty of existing buildings. The film illustrates the purposes and practices of historic preservation today and details America's current quiet revolution and citizen involvement in historic preservation across the country.

Introducing the film will be Mrs. A. Lee McAlester of Dallas, Texas advisor to the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Following the meeting a bloodmobile from Blood Services of Lubbock will be set up for Junior League members desiring to donate blood.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I think this women's lib thing has been carried too far. When I took my children (ages 2 and 3) to see Santa at our local department store, we found that "Santa" was a woman!

She was dressed in a regular Santa Claus outfit — only "Santa" had long dark hair hanging to her shoulders. And she wore lipstick and eye makeup, too. "Santa" spoke to the children in her normal feminine voice, making no effort whatsoever to come across as the jolly, bearded, white-haired old man the kids had expected to see.

The kids were confused and I was shocked. Abby, I'm all for employing women if they can do the job as well as men, but a lady Santa Claus!!! I think that was unreal.

What do you think?

Horrified

Dear Horrified: I agree. Santa is just not a lady's bag.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed Had Enough sent my blood-pressure right through the ceiling.

Had Enough complained because after dinner all the men (and a few of the women) retired to the living room while the rest of the women got busy clearing the table and doing the dishes.

Well, I, too, have "had enough." I'm sick and tired of going to family gatherings (it's not even MY family — they belong to my husband), and just because I'm a woman, I'm expected to clean up.

I have had it up to here with the women rushing around waiting on the men and cleaning up while the men go into the living room to shoot the breeze or watch a game on TV.

Does a deep voice and a beard excuse a person from kitchen duty? Today, when both men and women work outside the home, the old saying "A woman's place is in the kitchen" is stupid, unfair and out of date.

Local Woman Creates Stoles Depicting Church Seasons

By MARTHA BOWDEN Family News Staff

In a seven year period Mrs. Helen Releford has made 305 liturgical stoles for 98 ministers serving in the Methodist Church throughout the United States. She first became involved in making the stoles when a friend of hers who was to be ordained asked that she make a stole for the special occasion.

"I was pleased with the result," Mrs. Releford said, and I began to make stoles as gifts for different ministers I've known during my many years as a church member and worker."

The stoles Mrs. Releford makes vary according to the liturgical church year observed by the Methodist Church. In the church year there are seven seasons: Advent, Christmas, Lent, Easter, Pentecost, Epiphany and Kingdom Time.

In making stoles for each of the seasons, colors and symbols are very important. Mrs. Releford said. Stoles for Advent and Lent must be purple. Easter and Christmas stoles are white. In the season of Pentecost, stoles are red. The stoles for Epiphany and Kingdom Time are green.

Along with appropriate colors for the stoles of each season, symbols are significant in bearing witness to the major events and teachings commemorated in church history.

Since the season of Lent is now current, Mrs. Releford said she will be devoting a great deal of time in preparing Lenten stoles. Lenten symbols she will be embroidering on the stoles are palms (for Palm Sunday), the crown of thorns, and the cross. An additional unusual Lenten symbol she is creating is that of the line and plummet.

The line and the plummet symbol, she explained, she discovered in reading the Old Testament Book of Amos, in which the Lord declares, "I will hold a plummet line to my people Israel."

The line and plummet symbolize the need for self-examining one's life.

A bowl and towel, representative of Christ's act of washing His disciples' feet at the Last Supper, and a torch, reminiscent of the betrayal and denial of Christ by his disciple, are other Lenten symbols Mrs. Releford will be embroidering on numerous stoles for this year's Lenten season.

"The church is rich in symbolism," Mrs. Releford observed, "and since symbols are a language in themselves, the better one understands the different symbols of the church, the more one can appreciate the beauty and significance of them."

Many of the deas for symbols to use in her embroidery come from reading the Bible, studying songs in the hymnal and listening to sermons, noted Mrs. Releford.

Asked what she considers one of the most rewarding aspects of her work with liturgical stoles, she answered immediately, "It's the people. The ministers I make the stoles for dedicate their lives so fully and whole-heartedly and often get little in return. It's a pleasure to be able to make gifts of my stoles which have religious meaning and also are of practical value."

When not making stoles, Mrs. Releford keeps busy making paraments which consist of altar cloths and covers for the lectern and pulpit.

Mrs. Releford finds great joy in her vocation, but she doesn't consider her work all that unique or out of the ordinary.

"Just the other day I was reading about Samuel," she remarked. "His mother Hannah made a robe for him annually while he lived and served in the temple. Countless other women in the Bible did the same."

Social Attitudes Reflected In Museum Fashion Exhibit

Fashion as the outer expression of inward feelings is the theme of the current exhibit at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

"Women Who Dared To..." is the title of an exhibit of historic fashions illustrating changing social attitudes. The fashions range from prim Victorian elegance to embroidered blue jeans.

Backing the models are historic photographs of fashions in action: the Bloomer girl of yesteryear, beach scenes with women sporting themselves in knee-length swimwear and suffragettes on the march.

The exhibit was conceived by Betty Mills, curator of historic fashions and textiles, to show the evolution in apparel which paralleled a social revolution making it possible for women to enter a variety of new activities.

The exhibit opens with a young Victorian matron, corseted, bedecked in ostrich plumes and adorned in a black sequined gown of chiffon and net.

Beyond is an early swimming dress of scratchy, green wool modest enough to fall below the knees. The exhibit also shows the swim suit which evolved, the bikini.

The Bloomer girl, who adopted a style created by Amelia Jenks Bloomer, was the forerunner of today's fashion-conscious woman in a slacks suit.

The dress of the early coed is displayed. One model is seated before a switchboard, dressed in becoming brown, but still achieving the feminine look with bows of taffeta and polonaise skirt.

"The machine of the Industrial Age," custodian Mills said, "expanded career opportunities for women. Before the age of the machine, women were limited primarily to teaching or dressmaking. When it was discovered that women could operate machines with great efficiency, they found a greater variety of jobs."

Suffragettes show other changes in attitude. No longer was the figure confined by a too-tight corset. Dresses showed the ankle and were loosely fitted, but feminine touches remain in crocheted gloves, purses and ornamental buttons.

One of the most colorful models illustrates the woman who first dared to "bob" their crowning glory. The model wears a dress of pink embroidered net over which is worn a plisse combing jacket.

With the bobbed hair, the stage was set for the "flapper era" of the '20s. The Museum model has the black fringed skirt raised to the knees. The look is straight and boyish, and the makeup is heavy.

The last figures in the exhibit are the women who dare to express a mood: a contemporary teenager in embroidered cutoffs and a T-shirt, a booted figure in a Marimekko smock and knickers and a third model in an evening dress of grey beige polyester.

The exhibit will be on display at The Museum through May. Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays, Sundays from 1-5 p.m. There is no charge.

The Slim Gourmet

By Barbara Gibbons

If you're a reformed Sweet Freak who's turned into a Veggie Fan, beets can't be beat! Here's Mother Nature's sugar way she meant it to be enjoyed... in a ruby red appetite-appeaser as colorful as a gumdrop, but a lot more healthful.

Despite their sweet taste, cooked beets are low in calories; only 16 apiece. That's before they've been turned into vegetable junkfood by syrupy sauces or sugary glazes. Beets are so sweet that adding sugar is a bit like spray-painting peacocks. (If God gave us vegetables the devil must have invented cookbooks and canneries.)

BEST BAKED BEETS
The easiest (and most nutritious) way to cook beets is foil-wrapped in the oven. Don't peel or scrape them. Simply wash under running water, then wrap tightly in aluminum foil. Put the foil packet in the oven and bake about one hour at 250 degrees, or until beets are tender. (If you have other food in the oven at a higher temperature, shorten the beet-baking time accordingly... about 50 minutes at 350 or 65 minutes at 400.)

To peel hot beets, plunge them in cold water until cool enough to handle, then slip off the skins. Slice the beets into a small sauce pan. Add a tablespoon of water and a tablespoon of lemon juice (or other fruit juice) plus one teaspoon butter or margarine per serving and gently heat (70 calories per half-cup serving.)

The Lubbock Duplicate Novice Bridge Club met Wednesday in the Bridge Center. Winning first were Mrs. Charles Clayton and Mrs. Jim Stephens; second, Mrs. Finis Collins and Mrs. Neeley Eichelberger and third Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. C.E. Ratcliff. The club will meet again at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Bridge Center.

CAPROCK

The Caprock Duplicate Bridge club met Thursday in the Bridge Center. Winning first were Mrs. John Krahmer and Mrs. Walter Grub; second, Mrs. Jack Dulaney and Mrs. T.L. Leach and third Leola Hall and Mrs. Cleon McCallon. The club will meet again at 9:45 a.m. Thursday in the Bridge Center.

METROPOLITAN

The Metropolitan Bridge Club met at noon Wednesday in the Women's Club for lunch and bridge. Winning first were Mrs. Billie Mask, second, Maria Farrar and third, Mrs. Boyce Hancock. The club will meet again Feb. 22 in the Women's Club for dessert and bridge.

Baked beets can also be used in the following slim recipes, or substitute canned beets:

ORANGE-GLAZED BEETS I
2 cups sliced, cooked or canned beets 1 1/2 water (or beet juice) 1 3/4 cup orange juice 2 tsp. arrowroot or cornstarch
Combine beets with water or beet juice and half-cup orange juice. Simmer, uncovered, three or four minutes. Stir remaining quarter-cup juice with arrowroot and stir into simmering liquid, until the sauce thickens. Serves four, about 60 calories each.

ORANGE-GLAZED BEETS II
1/2 cup cooked or canned sliced beets 2 tsp. undiluted defrosted orange juice Gently combine ingredients and stir together in a small sauce pan over low heat until heated through. Under 50 calories each serving.

PINEAPPLE GLAZED BEETS — Follow either preceding recipe; substitute pineapple juice for the orange juice.

EASY PICKLED BEETS
2 cups cooked or canned sliced beets 2 onions, sliced into rings 1/2 water, or beet juice 1/2 red wine vinegar 2 tsp. mixed pickling spices
Combine, cover and chill 24 hours or more. Serves four, 5 calories each.

COLD BEET SALAD
2 cups cooked or canned sliced beets 1/2 plain low-fat yogurt 2 tsp. red wine vinegar 1 (or more) tsp. horseradish 1 tsp. honey (optional) Salt and pepper to taste

RED CONFETTI
If you have a food processor or vegetable shredder, simply scrub raw beets well and run them through the shredding disk. Mound on lettuce and sprinkle with lemon juice and a dollop of plain yogurt. For a colorful arrangement, add mounds of shredded raw carrots and unpeeled, shredded, seeded cucumber or zucchini. Under 50 calories per half-cup serving. Candied Carrots, Sweet and Sour Cabbage, Low-Calorie Potato Pancakes and more. For these and other specialties that only seem fattening, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents to SLIM GOURMET UNHEARD-OF-VEGETABLES, Sparta, N.J. 07871.

CHOICE SWEETENER
When you are using red kidney beans for a "baked" bean pot, maple syrup is an excellent choice for the sweetener.

Area Homemakers Win Honors

The O'Donnell Young Homemakers chapter of Area II was recognized as the Outstanding Chapter of Texas during the Young Homemakers of Texas' 16th annual convention, Friday in the Sheraton-Crest Inn in Austin. The Pleasanton chapter form Area X was runner-up.

During the luncheon, Outstanding New Chapter winners were also named. First place went to the Devine chapter, Area VII, while the Union Grove chapter from Area VI placed second.

Brenda Parker from Happy in Area I, received the YHT State Little Sister Award. Selected for her participation and contribution in the field of homemaking.

ORANGE ALMOND BLANC-MANGE
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin 1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice, divided 1 cup sugar 2 cups heavy cream 1 cup whole or slivered blanched almonds, ground finely

In medium saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over 1 cup orange juice. Place over low heat and stir constantly until gelatin dissolves, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in sugar and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice. Cool. Stir in heavy cream and almonds. Turn into 4-cup mold and chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with orange sections and whole almonds. Makes 8 servings.

READ WHAT A LUBBOCK WOMAN

Has to say about PAT WALKER'S

For several years I had slowly been gaining weight, thinking of course, I could lose it by myself anytime. BUT I found out it's not that easy to do by yourself!! When my husband started making comments about my figure I knew it was time I found professional help. Having already read many things about the Pat Walker Program, the idea of being able to lose both weight and inches where I really needed them off, plus not even messing my hair or even having to change my clothes, while doing it really appealed to me. I am so pleased with the success I have had with the Pat Walker Program. Pounds and inches come off to give me a new figure I can be proud of! I can really say I'm glad I did it.

Writers Meet Weekly To Exchange Insults

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
Associated Press Writer

SARASOTA, Fla. — Like the Algonquin Roundtable reincarnated and gone South for the winter, the Writer's Group of Sarasota meets every Friday to self-destruct pomposity and invoke the Muse over a little Liar's Poker.

"The rule of thumb around here is that if you can't say something insulting about someone, it's better not to say anything at all," confided mystery writer John D. MacDonald, a founding member of the literary salon that has been meeting weekly down here since 1952.

About a dozen wits were assembled on the Friday we were invited to break bread with the flower of Florida culture.

The proceedings got under way with a toast to the memory of Leslie McFarlane, an enduring figure in American literature who wrote the enduring Hardy Boys mystery books that are having still another comeback as a popular TV series.

McFarlane's memory is always toasted because he provides the wherewithal for the toast. The Canadian-born author, who died last July, put a codicil in his will leaving a behest to set up the first round of drinks at the group's weekly luncheon.

"He was a man without malice," intoned Philip Van Doren Stern, the Civil War historian, knocking back the immortal libation. "Malice is my business," observed MacDonald, who has authored more than 70 thrillers, including the best seller "Condominium" and the Travis McGee series. "Leave us not knock it."

Payment of the second round of drinks, and all ensuing rounds, depended on the outcome of hands of Liar's Poker, a game played with the serial numbers on dollar bills, which next to malicious conversation about fellow members is the chief item on the luncheon agenda.

Each January the year's worst liar, the group member who bought the most rounds of drinks in the previous 12 months, gets his name engraved on a plaque. Van Doren Stern was the latest addition to a roster that included MacKinlay Kantor, Carl Carmer, Borden Deal and Nick Kenny.

Mention of Kenny's name evoked repetition of an anecdote that is typical of the scoffing regard in which the Group's regulars hold each other. Kenny was the columnist and poet laureate of the long defunct New York Mirror, who among his collected verse penned the immortal line, "Snow is God's dandruff."

It seems that Kenny once gave a volume of his poems to novelist Borden Deal and was solicitous that it be displayed conspicuously on Deal's bookshelves. The novelist had a little wooden display case built with a glass door, a tiny hammer hanging from a chain and a sign "break in case of emergency."

Fresh from this assault on the memory of a dear departed, the Group went to work on a live one: Will Yolen, the eminent authority on kite flying, who was in attendance as a guest.

Yolen was in Sarasota for the annual Ben Franklin Kite Flying Contest, which he had fostered and promoted, but apparently the wind had gone out of his sails if not out of his rhetoric and he had failed in his attempt to fly a huge kite trailing a couple of champagne bottles as tails. The Evel Knievel of the pre-school set found no mercy among the gathered literati.

Yolen lamented that in addition to his kite flying problems, Putnam had managed to lose the manuscript for his latest book.

"Fortunately," allowed MacDonald, "he did not have a carbon copy."

Calvin Hoffman, the anti-Shakespearean scholar, announced to pronounced yawns from the roundtable that he was once again embarked on opening the tomb of Sir Thomas Walsingham in Chiselmurt, England, to prove once and for all that Christopher Marlowe had written the Bard's entire output.

Hoffman said he had tried a number of years ago to open the lead-lined coffin of Marlowe's patron but was blocked in his endeavors by the archbishop of Canterbury.

"What makes you think you'll find anything but a bunch of bones after all these years?" scoffed Ted Irwin, a crime specialist.

"He's a jogger," answered literary agent Max Nickinson before Hoffman could mount his own defense. "Jogging loosens the brain, which is a well-known medical fact. It comes loose and floats in a sea of gelatin."

Hoffman mumbled something about Walsingham having been buried with his hands clutching a tiny box or casket that could contain copies of Hamlet, MacBeth and Othello bylined by Marlowe instead of Shakespeare, but the conversation already had turned to the one subject that always grips serious writers and separates the professionals from the amateurs. Money.

Wilkinson, the agent for Kurt Vonnegut, John MacDonald and others, revealed that the first press run for the paperback edition of "Condominium" would be two million copies. Deep shock set in among the other diners.

MacDonald told of renewed TV interest in his story line for a proposed adventure series about a group of young environmentalists and deep sea divers. "They filmed me last week doing the introduction. I was supposed to walk along a beach and chat about the series. I find it's very difficult to walk along a beach and talk at the same time. I got paid scale for the attempt. $187.50."

Officer's Wife Solves Crime

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Ernest Zwicke has discovered he isn't the only detective in his family.

Judith Zwicke, wife of the Milwaukee Police Department detective and a high school teacher's aide, has proved she is his equal in solving crime.

Her car was stolen from its parking space recently and was recovered a few hours later, stripped and damaged and fit only for the junkyard.

Police, including her husband, searched the car for clues but came up empty.

But before the car was towed away,

Mrs. Zwicke searched it one last time. She lowered the top half of the back seat and found a small piece of paper that turned out to be a class schedule for a 15-year-old junior high school student.

Police investigated and implicated the youth and three others in the thefts of 17 cars.

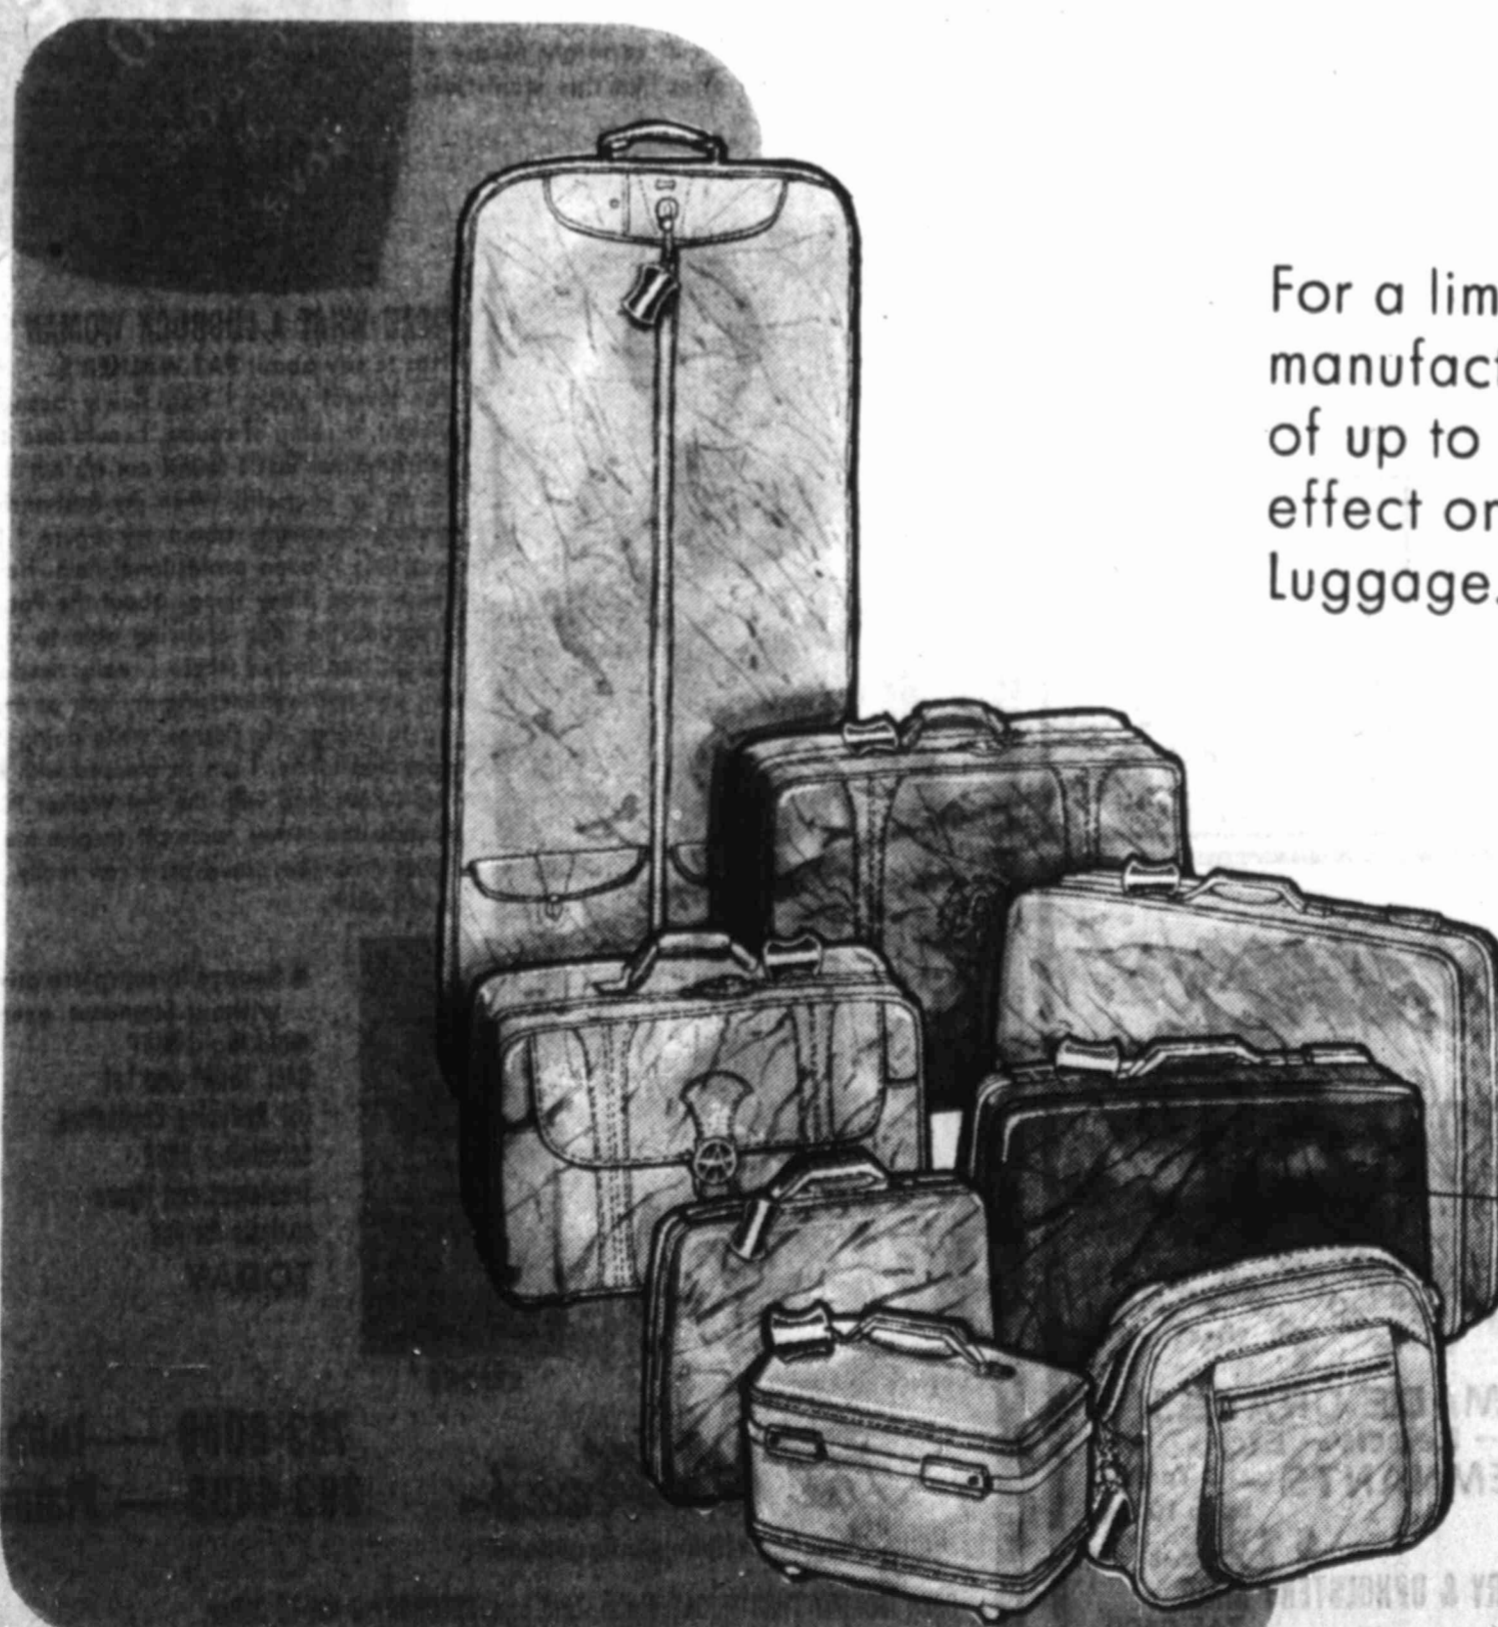

"I'll never let him live it down," Mrs. Zwicke said of her husband.

By MARY TOBIN
NEW YORK (UPI) — It takes more than skills and a willingness to work to make a "good" temporary employee and Manpower, Inc., has undertaken to find the intangibles that make the difference. Manpower has conducted a massive, two-year survey to find out why people turn to temporary help firms. The results will be used to revise interviewing and testing procedures. Mitchell Fromstein, president, said the survey has shown that "by and large all conceptions about temporary help are not correct."

"The characteristics that make a good temporary are not necessarily the same as for full-time employees," Fromstein said. "The survey tested in-depth more than 1,000 temporaries. We have started to find out what makes our people click. The results have been surprising. The worker who likes steady activity is not going to be as happy as a temporary. Our employees must work independently, understand quickly — be flexible."

But Andrei Glasberg, director of international research and development for

Manpower, who calls himself "an economist with no interest in statistics" says "the most exciting aspect of the survey was finding what makes a person turn to temporary work."

"The biggest misconception is that people turn to us in desperation — because they cannot get a regular job," Glasberg said.

"I can only compare temporary work with the title of the book 'Passages' — a passage in life," Glasberg said.

Glasberg said 70 percent of Manpower's employees are young "and 50 percent are under 25. In interviewing our people, we found that they considered us an intermission in their life — a deflection — but we were a definite phase."

Glasberg said the young Manpower employee stays an average of nine months. "The reasons are different and all are valid — the person needs money, or something to do. But they all boil down to the temporary being in a definite career passage."

Many women use temporary work as a re-entry vehicle. "Even this could be considered a passage," Glasberg said. "The woman lacks confidence, or doesn't know how her husband will react, or if she will be able to juggle work with her children's needs."

Glasberg said some women, after working at Manpower for several months decide they can't manage a job. "Again, we have served as a passage. She can stop working without seeing herself as a failure, as she might if she had to quit a full-time job."

Female Tattoo Artist Claims Beauty Title

SEATTLE (AP) — When she bends over, a giant tattooed Phoenix bird — which swoops from her right shoulder, disappears into the folds of her dress and pops out on her left leg — stretches gracefully. When she sneezes, it finches. A tiny ring in her nose also jiggles.

She is Madame Lazonga — the "Most Beautifully Tattooed Female" in America.

Red-haired Madame Lazonga, 29, of West Seattle, just got back from the North American Tattoo club's annual convention in St. Paul, Minn., where she won the "most beautiful" title.

Eight women entered the contest, Madame Lazonga said. She edged out Barbara Chapman of Denver, who is covered with flowers and birds.

Madame Lazonga refuses to divulge her real name. Her nom de tattoo came from a comic book she read once. "I thought it was pretty funny. It's better than taking myself seriously."

How much of Madame Lazonga is a picture album? "About a third of me," she answered with a smile.

She worked with an electronic needle on the arm of a male customer at the Seattle Tattoo Emporium on First Avenue and continued the conversation. There was a waiting line.

A sign on the wall above her chair reads, "This studio presents M. Lazonga, youngest known female skin illustrator in the U.S."

Madame Lazonga began her trade in 1972. "It struck me as a very personal and unique art form," she explained. "Sophisticated society frowns on it and says it's taboo."

"Actually tattooing is one of the oldest art forms. We know it was used in 2000 B.C. in ancient Egypt."

About 50 percent of the Emporium's customers are women, as opposed to a few years ago "when we got a woman in here maybe once every six months," said C.J. Danz, Madame Lazonga's boss.

He does not permit anybody "who is the slightest bit drunk" to be tattooed.

DR. LAMB

Calcium Questioned

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I had an operation last year for the removal of a kidney stone. Before I left the hospital the urologist told me that I should not use milk or any milk products. This was due, I presume, to the high calcium content.

Later I raised the question with the doctor as to calcium, as everything I ate had a calcium content. He replied that I could use a little milk in my coffee. I never use milk in coffee.

Do I get enough calcium in other foods to hold my bones together, or what shall I do? I'm 78 years old.

DEAR READER — I wish there was an answer to that question. A lot of urologists do advise their patients with kidney stones to avoid calcium, but the advice is on rather shaky grounds. It happens because certain types of kidney stones contain a lot of calcium and the idea is that by limiting the calcium intake you can lower the amount that has to be eliminated by the kidneys and, hence, limit the tendency to form stones.

Things are just not that simple. The common calcium stone is a calcium oxalate stone. By decreasing calcium intake the end result is apt to be an increased absorption of oxalate which is far worse and more likely to cause another stone. Dr. William C. Thomas Jr. of the University of Florida, at Gainesville, writes on this subject in the 1977 edition of "Current Therapy" used by many physicians. He makes this point, too, and suggests that the attention should be directed toward limiting the oxalate. Principal sources of oxalate are tea and fruit juices. While he doesn't mention it, a high intake of vitamin C also can result in increased intake of oxalate or an increased amount in the urine.

Dr. Thomas points out also, in the latest edition of Beeson and McDermott's "Textbook Of Medicine" that, "Although dairy products frequently are omitted during test procedures, there is no data to suggest that continued avoidance is beneficial in reducing the incidence or growth of calcareous calculi in man."

On the basis of recent work on this problem I am compelled to believe that, although the practice of limiting calcium intake and, hence, milk in the treatment of renal calculi, is widespread, it is without a sound scientific basis and probably causes more harm than good. It is an old-fashioned idea and doctors need to get up-to-date and revise their thinking about treatment of renal stones.

So you are probably being exposed to the chances of decreasing your bone calcium and becoming more prone to degeneration of your spine and to serious fractures at your age for no real good reason. You should be avoiding tea, colas, beer and limiting your fruit juice intake.

Authorities do agree that the most important thing you can do in treatment and preventing kidney stones is to maintain a dilute urine. You do this by drinking enough water to pass three to four quarts of urine each day — rather evenly spaced throughout the day.

The management of the stone formation then may become a lifelong project, but most can be managed with medicines and diet. I am sending you The Health Letter number 11-2, Kidney and Bladder Stones, to give you more information. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, 78292.

"THE NET PROFIT CROP OF 1977"

Some producers contracted their 1977 Sunflower acreage with "The Sunflower People of West Texas", for eleven cents.

Unlike their neighbor, some producers wanted higher prices than the $11 Cent Per Lb. Contract being offered by "The Sunflower People of West Texas" in their Joint-Venture Contract.

Now when harvest time finally arrived and the crop developed to be the largest in the history of the United States, the farmer who wanted MORE actually got LESS.

Friends, don't get caught again holding the short end of the stick: The "Sunflower People of West Texas" now have contracts available for the 1978 Crop Year.

Long before anyone else establishes a market, "The Sunflower People of West Texas" offer you a Sunflower Production Contract that will give you, the farmer, a price for your product that allows you a Net Profit.

Only by contracting ahead can you guarantee yourself a net profit in planting Sunflowers in 1978.

When you consider that it take less cash per acre to grow Sunflowers than any other crop, one must appreciate the fact that it will greatly reduce cash flow requirements for farming operations.

Each year "The Sunflower People of West Texas" offer new opportunities to the producer who wants to help himself. The "Plant Now-Pay Later" program for Sunflower Planting Seed has allowed many producers to stay in business in hard pressed financial times. The same people again offer this same program to those who would like it.

Rsults of last year's Sunflower Crop show a need for another service to be added: This year you can again contract to have your spraying for Insect Control included and pay for it in the fall when you harvest your crop, should you desire to do so.

So ... if it is Profit You Want, SUNFLOWERS ARE THE ANSWER. CONTRACT WITH "THE SUNFLOWER PEOPLE". For full details about planting seed, contracts, spraying and fall terms on the complete program, contact —

Tax Officers Watch Italian Singers

ROME (AP) — Italian pop singers and other entertainers can count on special attention wherever they travel in Italy. All tax offices have been instructed to keep track of their performances and fees and make a monthly report to the government. Finance Minister Filippo Pandolfi told the Chamber of Deputies today.

Two deputies asked him what the tax collectors were doing about reports of widespread tax cheating by pop singers. "It is the firm determination of the administration to treat this specific category of taxpayers to an accurate and thorough control," Pandolfi said in a written reply.

He said a special section of the tax police was investigating the entertainment and related fields. He said controls would be stricter for pop singers since tax cheating was worse among them.

'Millionaire' Found To Be Disc Jockey

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Giving money away may not be the easiest way to attract attention and gain friends, but it's a nearly foolproof way to draw a crowd.

Officials of a Kansas City, Kan., country-rock radio station counted on those bits of human nature called greed and curiosity to gain publicity for a new disc jockey who started this morning.

John Leslie, dressed in a tuxedo, arrived via limousine at a busy shopping center intersection about lunchtime Monday and began handing out $2 bills from a grocery sack full of money.

He would not say who he was, although many suspected he was an eccentric millionaire a little light on common sense. He reappeared each day about noon.

Former Presidents Thomas Jefferson and John Adams died within hours of each other on July 4, 1826.

since, drawing successively bigger crowds. Thursday he was inundated by several hundred greedy shoppers, despite three armed guards the station hired to protect him. Then the stunt was ended for "getting out of hand."

"It was intended to be a fun thing," Leslie said. "There's been so much negative news over the past few weeks, especially in Kansas City, that we were hoping to direct people's attention away from the (deadly Coates House) fire and police chief hassles."

ABA's Governing Body To Examine Charges

By RICHARD CARELLI
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Stoked by the nation's highest-ranking judge, a heated controversy over charges of extensive incompetency by trial lawyers awaits the American Bar Association's governing body.

The ABA's House of Delegates was expected to consider today what could become the first official rift between the influential professional group and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Delegates at the organization's national convention will hear a resolution from the Illinois Bar Association demanding that Burger either "publicly repudiate" comments made last July disparaging the competency of many trial lawyers or provide proof of their accuracy.

In testifying before an English legal academy, Burger estimated one-half of U.S. trial lawyers are unqualified to represent their clients.

Speaking to the ABA Sunday, Burger acknowledged the pending resolution but refused to back down.

He called trial lawyer incompetency "one of the most serious problems facing our profession," and added, "Until we establish special standards for the right to appear in the courts, independent of admissions to the bar generally, we will not solve our problem."

Adopted resolutions become official policy of the ABA, a group that speaks for nearly 230,000 of the nation's 400,000 lawyers.

But it remained uncertain today whether the state group's resolution even would be debated by the delegates. Carole Bellows, president of the Illinois Bar, anticipated an early vote on a move to reject the resolution without debate — something that would need the support of two-thirds the delegates to succeed.

Optimistic that the resolution would be debated, Miss Bellows said, "Many competent lawyers object to the chief justice's negativism."

Admitting that improving the quality of courtroom lawyers is a worthy goal, she said Burger's statistics appeared to be much too high.

While the ABA's hierarchy has kept a low public profile in the controversy, President William B. Spann has called Burger's statistics "grossly disproportionate" and "exaggerated."

Spann said ABA studies showed the figure to be about 20 percent.

In an obvious answer to Spann, Burger said in his Sunday speech that "even if only 20 percent ... we ought to be doing more about it."

But Burger added, "I stand firmly on the position I expressed" — the 50 percent estimate.

About one in every 10 U.S. lawyers spends any time in the courtroom, and Burger emphasized that his remarks were not aimed at lawyers in general.

"In each situation special training and skills are not simply desirable, they are imperative in the public interest," he said.

Burger said incompetent trial lawyers cost "consumers of justice" money and more. "I am persuaded that one of the major reasons for congestion and delay in the courts ... is the inadequate performance of many lawyers who come into the courts," he said.

BELL AND BURGER — Chief Justice Warren Burger, right, of the Supreme Court was introduced to the American Bar Association convention Sunday as Attorney General Griffin Bell stood by. Burger drew angry response from the ABA president when he repeated his contention that too many trial lawyers are incompetent. (AP Laserphoto) et! Was he alive?

I screamed, "Oh, Max!" and slid upward to touch his face. Then a hand took me by the shoulder.

I had forgotten our passenger. "Are you hurt?" he asked. When I wordlessly shook my head, he told me Max must be taken out of the car.

Together we lifted my husband and laid him on the sand. I sat, limp with fear, while the young man slid his hand deftly along Max's limbs and body. He felt Max's neck with strong fingers.

"Almost certainly a head injury," he said, turning to me. "We must get him to a hospital right away."

It was then I noticed how pale the young man was. "Are you all right?" I asked.

He touched his side. "Broken ribs, I expect, but I'm okay. It's your husband I'm worried about. Can you go for help?"

As the only person not injured, I knew that I had to be the one to go for help. I stood up. "I'll try to get back to Hovenweep," I said.

"Taken it easy. It's a long way," he said. After I knelt to kiss Max, I found myself impulsively touching the stranger's shoulder, and he put his hand briefly on mine.

With this unspoken encouragement I started up the steep road.

By the time I had gone two miles I was walking in total darkness. Except for features faintly outlined by the blue-gold paleness of new moon, everything around me was hidden.

I prayed aloud. In words that were faltering but sincere, I reached out for God. Who seemed very close to me in the desert night.

Often I stumbled and fell, and I was trembling with fatigue when I fell again and found myself lying amid sagebrush and rock. I had lost the road, and not until I crawled around on hands and knees, did I discover that I had missed a right-angle turn. Then I began to cry with relief because that meant Hovenweep was just over the hill.

The shock I had suffered blocked out full memory of the next hours. I recall banging on the door of the ranger station, the sound of a startled voice.

I remember the roar of a helicopter that lifted Max and the stranger from the dry wash, and that had carried me on the rescue mission because I refused to stay behind.

My first really lucid moment came when I woke up in a hospital bed. As I struggled to sit up, a nurse appeared and said, "Relax, please. Your husband is out of danger."

"Oh, thank God! The other man ...?"

"Doctor Sobel? He'll be caring for his own patients within a week."

I was puzzled. "He's a doctor?"

The nurse said, "Yes, Didn't you know? Well, you can thank God for that, too. If Doctor Sobel hadn't given your husband the right emergency treatment when he did, your husband would have died out there in the desert."

I closed my eyes and let the tears come, knowing that Max's life had been saved by the strange traveler he had picked up because my husband tried always to put into practice the Christian principles in which he so strongly believed.

Later, sitting beside Max's bed as he slept, I thought of how patient he had been as he tried to teach me to obey God's laws: "Love thy neighbor" and "Judge not."

Now, finally, I understood. I took my husband's hand in mine and said softly, "Thank you, darling, for teaching me to trust God and His people."

Tech Computer Claimed Outdated By Faculty

By CANDY SAGON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

It's man versus the computer, but in this case both sides are losing.

At Texas Tech, administrators, faculty and students are discovering the university's computer no longer can handle the amount of record-keeping, teaching and research jobs the school demands.

Not only are Tech's computer facilities almost a decade behind the times, but administrators and faculty agree the inadequacy of the computer has caused the university to lose both research grants and potential faculty members.

One professor said faculty members have failed to get research grants because the computer facilities at Tech were insufficient to handle a proposed project.

He also said there has been difficulty hiring "good, capable people" because Tech's computer facilities don't meet their needs.

"I can't disagree with that," admitted senior associate vice president Dr. Monty Davenport, whose area of responsibility includes Tech's Computer Center. "Our computer equipment is inadequate for what we want to do."

While Davenport would not call it a crisis, he did say the situation at the university's Computer Center was "an uncomfortable one" — especially since any significant remedy won't occur for at least another year.

The problem with Tech's computer equipment is not that it is obsolete, but rather that it is not a large enough machine to handle all that the university wants it to do. And the list is a long one.

The current computer, an IBM 370/146, is expected to handle all administrative record-keeping for both the university and the medical school, including payroll, personnel and student records.

It also is used by several thousand students, in classes ranging from physics to home economics, who are learning how to program a computer to analyze data.

Plus there are the faculty members and graduate students who use the computer for statistical and data analysis in their research.

The result of all this is a computer that is taking longer and longer to accomplish any one of these jobs.

Compounding the problem is the fact that the computer has to divide its time between two different modes of processing — "batch jobs," which require punched computer data cards to be run through for analysis, and "interactive or time sharing" jobs, which involve a person using a computer terminal to do computations.

Unfortunately, when Tech's computer is handling time sharing jobs, fewer batch jobs can be processed. The Computer Center, therefore, has had to limit time sharing hours so more batch jobs can be run — and batch job users still are waiting up to 24 hours to get their data cards run.

According to Herman Phillips, director of the Tech Computer Center, an average of 15,000 to 18,000 batch jobs are run every month at the center. Last October that figure reached almost 20,500.

Further indication of the computer's increasing workload can be seen in the number of hours computer terminals are connected to the main machine. In December 1976, the Computer Center recorded 375 terminal connect hours. One year later the number of hours had more than tripled to 1,250.

According to Davenport, the amount of administrative work the computer has to handle has doubled since the current machine was installed in 1973.

"We've gone from a situation of cleaning up all (computer) work during the night, to not being able to do so until the weekend," he added.

The administration is attempting to relieve the situation somewhat by purchasing its own mini-computer by this summer.

However, both Davenport and Phillips admit the $250,000 machine will not have a significant effect on reducing the main computer's workload.

"I don't expect to see a tremendous difference even with the mini-computer, because the large jobs still will have to be run at the Computer Center," Phillips said.

Candidates Employing Petitions

successful as a campaigning tool because it identifies supporters."

Ann Elam, office manager at state Democratic headquarters, said many candidates are running "grass roots campaigns and the petition drives cause the candidates to go out and meet the people they hope to represent."

Although it's easy to understand why candidates chose to circulate petitions, verifying the names on the petition is not an easy task.

"The election code strictly prescribes how the petition has to be completed and the manner in which it must be checked," Miss Prestidge said.

"And any time a lot of people in a volunteer manner are filling out petitions there's going to be problems," she said.

Candidates must collect signatures of at least two percent of the registered voters in their district or precinct who voted for that party's gubernatorial candidate in the last election.

However, if two percent exceeds 500 signatures, candidates need not gather more than 500.

Democrat Morris Sheats, pastor of Trinity Church, filed a petition containing 700 names. "These petitions further demonstrate that our campaign is truly people to people," he said.

His Democratic primary opponent, State Sen. Kent Hance collected 541 names on petitions circulated for a short time in his hometown of Dimmitt.

Former Odessa Mayor Jim Reese submitted petitions containing 900 voter signatures which he said came from all 17 counties of the 19th district.

George Buch, of Midland, collected 707 voters' signatures with the help of about 60 volunteers.

State senate candidate Jesse George hand-delivered his petitions to state Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest. Reportedly his petitions containing more than 900 signatures had more names than any other Democratic in the state.

A spokesman for George said those signatures were gathered in about three weeks time.

Cravens, Slaton Justice of the Peace candidate and Slaton attorney, collected 29 signatures to gain a place on the Republican ballot.

All the signatures have to be accompanied by the person's voter registration number, which is later checked at party headquarters in Austin.

And checking the petitions to see that they are filled out correctly is an "extreme headache," Miss Prestidge said. "I'd have loved for them all to pay a filing fee."

That sentiment is shared by some officials in the Secretary of State's Election Division.

Until about 1968 the entire cost of the primary was paid for by filing fees, Madison Sowder, Lubbock County Democratic chairman, explained.

However, federal courts ruled the system was illegal and the state decided to set lower filing fees and make up the difference in the cost of the election, he said.

Now filing fees are used to defray election costs, with the remainder of the bill footed by the state.

Sowder said he had collected about $7,000 in filing fees this year, but said it would cost "at least double that" to pay for the Democratic primary.

However, the election budget for the Secretary of State was slashed from $4 million to $3 million by the last legislature and election costs are going to be watched very carefully this year, Robert Lemens, director of the Elections Division, said.

The fees were raised, so theoretically the amount of revenue from them should have increased, he said. "But every time a petition is filed, it means that much more comes from the taxpayer."

Earl Scudday Fans Expect Miracle

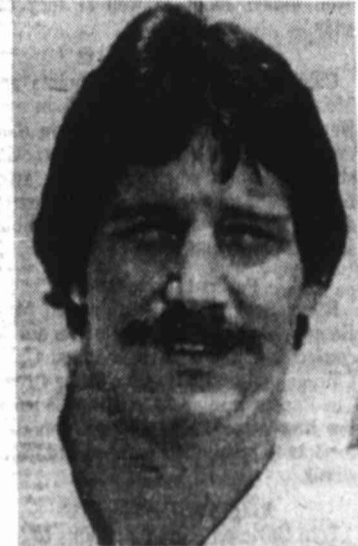

WITH THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL League draft still almost three months away, there's a surprising amount of interest among Dallas Cowboy fans. The only answer must be that they expect the Tom Landry-Tex Schramm-Gil Brandt troika to come up with another miracle and obtain the rights to Texas' Earl Campbell.

Nothing is impossible, of course, but such an event appears about as likely as Jimmy Carter sending birthday greetings to Richard Nixon. The Cowboy moguls pulled a rabbit out of the hat last year in dealing for Tony Dorsett, so now the fans expect them to produce an elephant from the same headgear. That would be some kind of encore!

Schramm and Landry have done their best to nip that impossible dream in the early stages, but when did logic ever overpower wishful thinking? Schramm and Landry both have explained that last year's deal for Dorsett was possible only because the Cowboys had an early (No. 8) first-round draft choice and a couple of extra picks in the second round to trade to Seattle. This year, the 'Pokes will be picking 28th in the first round and have no extras in the second round.

So what do the Cowboys have to trade that would interest Tampa Bay? A young quarterback and a couple of young linemen, perhaps, but Landry says emphatically that he will not trade established players. No one has caught Sir Thomas in a falsehood, so you have to believe that he means what he says. The only loophole might be the world "established," which is open to some interpretation.

THE KANSAS CITY Chiefs, who have been stumbling in recent years, must be operating in their own private little dream world. Lamar Hunt's club will pick second in the draft, right behind Tampa Bay, and the Chiefs are openly seeking bids for that spot. Club officials predict Tampa Bay will pass up Campbell for a quarterback, leaving the Longhorn star up for grabs.

RANDY WHITE

One of the Kansas City officials said the other day that the club would entertain any really good offer for the No. 2 pick. His idea of really good was three of Dallas' top young defensive stars — Harvey Martin, Randy White and Ed Jones.

If any Cowboy official even thought about such an offer, owner Clint Murchison would send the guys in white coats to haul him off to the funny farm. Landry would not trade any one of those young standouts for a draft choice, much less all three.

If that is an indication of the intelligence level in the Kansas City front office, then the Chiefs are in big trouble.

ALL THIS SPECULATION about Tampa Bay's opening draft choice and-or trades may be entirely unwarranted, anyway. There's no confirmation that the Bucs will trade away the top pick. Tampa Bay has faced the same situation the last two years, and Coach John McKay managed to reject all offers and use the top pick to grab Oklahoma ace Lee Roy Selmon and USC's Ricky Bell.

There's a good chance that McKay will do the same thing this time, Brandt believes. The Dallas superscout sees McKay drafting Campbell and teaming him in the backfield with Bell. That would make the disappointing Anthony Davis trade bait.

THE COWBOYS will go into the draft in an enviable position. They can always use a few outstanding newcomers, of course, but they are not really hurting anywhere. The 'Pokes, if they had to, could skip this draft entirely with a minimum of damage.

Landry would not agree with that. The other coaches would kick him out of the union. But many observers believe that the Dallas offensive line is the only area of concern for the mentor.

The Cowboys have several promising young linemen who probably can get the job done, even though Ralph Neely's retirement leaves the tackle spot a bit thin, but it would be great if the 'Pokes could draft Stanford's Gordon King or Ohio State's Chris Ward. Both are big, fast and unfriendly.

There's little chance of that, though. Cincinnati will be picking eighth, with a choice obtained from Philadelphia, and the Bengals fear that Ward and King won't be around by the time they get a shot at them. So they surely won't last until No. 28.

Tech's Dan Irons would have been in that elite group with Ward and King, except for his knee problems. Who knows, perhaps the Cowboys will take a chance on the big Raider if he's still available at the end of the first round? Landry has pulled bigger surprises.

Tech Star Williams Breaks Jaw

Kent Williams, a starter at forward throughout the season for Texas Tech, sustained a hairline fracture of his jaw in Saturday night's game with Texas A&M and will miss one game and possibly two, coach Gerald Myers reported Sunday.

Williams, a 6-5 forward from Hobbs, caught an elbow thrown by Aggie forward Willie Foreman in the first half of the 78-70 victory in College Station. The injury was x-rayed here Sunday, and Myers reported they showed the hairline fracture on the left side.

"He'll definitely miss the Houston game (here Wednesday) and possibly Texas (here next Saturday)," Myers said.

Williams is Tech's chief outside threat and has been one of the team's top weapons against teams which use zone defenses—and UH and Texas both use zones.

"Everybody'll just have to take up the slack," observed Myers after hearing about the fracture. "Kent will have the jaw wired Monday (today), and they'll have the wires in there for six weeks."

Williams is the team's second-leading scorer, hitting more than 14 points a game.

"Our films show that they were coming down court," Myers said, "and Foreman elbowed him. Kent went down then, and we looked at him and he wanted to stay in. He went down court and put up a little shot and then started staggering. He

Trojan Fems Rule State

SAN ANTONIO (Special) —The Christ the King girls basketball team, behind the 23-point performance of Kerrie Moser and the 22-point showing of Shannon Washburn, defeated Houston Marion 58-37 here Sunday afternoon to claim the Texas Catholic Interscholastic League (TCIL) state crown.

The title was the first ever in the history of the Lubbock school.

The Trojans, competing in the 4-AA Division (limited to schools with enrollments lower than 300), mounted a 16-7 first-quarter lead over Marion, upped their margin to 17 points (24-34) at half-time, and then coasted home for the win. The only threat made by Marion was in the third period when it outscored CTK 13-12.

The Trojans defeated Blessed Sacrament of San Antonio 61-26 Saturday afternoon to reach the finals, while Marion disposed of St. Joe's of Victoria in a semi-final game.

Adding support to the Trojan effort were guards Linda Giovannetti, Theresa Lockman and Cindy Bacon. The trio pressured Marion into hitting only 36 per cent of its shots from the field.

Named to the all-tournament team from CTK were Misses Moser, Bacon and Washburn.

CTK — Bacon 14-2, Moser 6-11-23, Opperman 3-2-4, Washburn 9-22, Walsh 3-1-7, Totals 21-16-58.

WEEKEND HIGHLIGHTS

ST. LOUIS — Resurgent Sandy Mayer capped a week of upsets by toppling arch nemesis Eddie Dibbs 7-4, 6-4 for the $30,000 top prize in the St. Louis Classic for his first World Championship Tennis tour event. The 25-year-old Mayer, who had never beaten Dibbs in a pro event, captured the championship in the $75,000 tournament with sharp placements, which kept his opponent off balance. In doubles, Australian Bob Hewitt and South Africa's Frew McMillan bagged their third straight WCT title by thrashing Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Poland's Wojciech Fibak 2-6, 6-2.

SEATTLE — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova failed to defeat third-seeded Betty Stove of The Netherlands 6-1, 1-6, 6-1, in the championship of the $100,000 Seattle tour on the women's pro tennis tour. It was the fourth straight tournament victory for the 21-year-old Miss Navratilova and marked her 25th consecutive match victory without a loss this year.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Teenage sensation Heinz Günthard of Switzerland shocked top-seeded Harold Solomon 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 in capturing the $75,000 Springfield International Tennis Classic. Günthard, who took the $15,000 first prize, capped his story book week which began as an unseeded alternate by winning the final six games of the deciding set.

HAVANA — The Cuban national boxing team, led by two-time Olympic heavyweight champion Teofilo Stevenson, scored a unanimous decision over the United States 8-3 in amateur matches. It was the second boxing meeting between the two nations. Cuba defeated the United States 7-4 in Houston on Nov. 12, 1977. Stevenson scored a unanimous decision over Jimmy Clark, the National Golden Gloves champion from Coatesville, Pa., in the final match of the day.

BOWLING — Dick Ritger blasted strikes in the sixth through 10th frames to defeat Marshall Holman of Medford, Ore., 248-228 and capture his 19th Professional Bowlers Association championship. The victory in the $80,000 event was worth $10,000 to Ritger, who is president of the PBA. Holman pocketed $4,000 in second place money.

FIGURE SKATING

PORTLAND, Ore. — Charlie Tichner, skating steadily to a routine dominated by Flanica music, won his second straight senior men's title at the U.S. Figure Skating Championships. Tichner, who led throughout all three phases of the competition, was awarded first place by all seven judges, finishing with 7 originals (rankings) and 151.72 points. David Santee, 20, of Bridgeville, Pa., was second with 14 originals and 147.86 points. Scott Hamilton, 19, of Millerton, Colo., won the bronze medal, picking up 20 originals and 142.38 points.

Stacy Smith and John Summers narrowly survived a spirited challenge to win the gold dance skating title in a competition highlighted by Spanish rhythms. Miss Smith and Summers, of Wilmington, Del., finished with 15 originals and 153.22 points — just one original ahead of Carol Fox and Richard Daley, who totaled 11 originals and 152.43 points.

CHAMONIX, France

— Phil Mahre defeated Sweden's Ingemar Stenmark by 1/10 seconds in capturing a World Cup special slalom race while Canadian Ken Reid won a slalom race. Mahre, who led during the first run, had a combined time of 1 minute, 38.29 seconds. It was his second World Cup victory this season. Reid won the slalom in 56 seconds to give Canada its first World Cup victory in over two years.

DELSBO, Sweden — Tracy Valentine, 18-year-old cross-country skier, won gold medals in the 10-kilometer and 30-kilometer races. Valentine finished the 10-kilometer race in 34 minutes, 20 seconds. Reid won the slalom in a 1:48.05. Reid won the slalom in a 1:48.05. Reid won the slalom in a 1:48.05.

DePaul Deflates ND 69-68 In OT

By The Associated Press

The homecourt advantage, as everyone knows, is a significant element in college basketball. It usually makes home teams snappy and visitors unhappy.

So what happened to Notre Dame?

The Fighting Irish were playing in the cozy atmosphere of their Athletic Convocation Center Sunday, comforted by the ghosts of seasons' past and the cheers of their enraptured fans.

Then DePaul deadened things with a 69-68 overtime victory over the nation's fifth-ranked team.

"It's typical of what is happening in college basketball this year," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps, by way of explaining how a team like the Fighting Irish lost its first home game in the last 23.

In other words, there is more balance in the sport this season than in many years.

"Sure," said Phelps. "There will be 32 teams in the NCAA tournament and DePaul will be one of them. I hope we will, too. Anyone can win. It all depends on where you are seeded and if you are healthy."

Basketball events over the weekend only served to confirm Phelps' suggestion. Not only was Notre Dame taken by No. 11 DePaul, but No. 7 North Carolina and top-ranked Kentucky were beaten by supposedly lesser teams.

North Carolina, playing its second tough game in two nights, dropped a 61-56 thriller to No. 20 Providence Sunday. Kentucky was beaten 95-94 in overtime by LSU Saturday night.

In other Saturday games, second-ranked Arkansas routed TCU 77-57; third-ranked Marquette whipped the Air Force Academy 76-50; No. 5 UCLA beat Stanford 79-63; No. 6 New Mexico outscored Arizona State 103-92; North Carolina defeated Rutgers 74-57; eighth-ranked Kansas beat Kansas State 75-63; No. 9 Louisville edged St. Louis 63-61 and No. 10 Michigan State trimmed Michigan 73-62.

Also, No. 13 Virginia defeated Virginia Tech 76-68 in the finals of the Times-Dispatch Invitational Tournament in Richmond; North Carolina State defeated No. 14 Wake Forest 80-77; 16th-ranked Florida State beat Memphis State 86-62; Georgetown defeated No. 17 Detroit 83-82; No. 18 Syracuse edged West Virginia 74-73 and Missouri upset No. 19 Nebraska 74-52. Bad weather postponed Saturday night's game between Providence and Niagara.

Consecutive steals by quick-handed Clyde Bradshaw and Randy Ramsey and a basket by Gary Garland with three seconds left in overtime led DePaul past Notre Dame. Those three led a DePaul comeback after the Irish had mounted a seemingly safe 68-63 lead.

"We were very fortunate to win this game," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer. "When it goes into overtime like that, any team can win it. This team doesn't know when they are beat. This team keeps coming back at you."

Meyer, who has been coaching at DePaul since the early 1940s, calls this his most satisfying year.

"I'm very happy about this season," said Meyer. "This is the most pleasing year I've ever had in coaching. I think this practically assures us of an NCAA playoff bid. We don't get the recognition, but this assures us of recognition."

Providence got some recognition, too, beating North Carolina on a jump shot by Bill Eason with 15 seconds left. The second half was marked by rough play and Friar standouts Bob Mesevich and Dwight Williams fouled out before Eason delivered the dramatic game-winner for Providence.

"The biggest thing we did in coming from behind is we kept our poise and our defensive patience against the Four Corners," noted Providence Coach Dave Gavitt, whose team was down by six points with four minutes left.

Providence battled back to the North Carolina at 59 with 2:19 left and a minute later, the Tar Heels went into their famous Four-Corner delay game, forcing a foul. They got it — but Geoff Cronpton missed. Paul Oristaglio grabbed the rebound for Providence and fed Eason for the winning points.

"The thing you cannot do if you're defending against that offense is get impatient," noted Gavitt. "You have to wait for the offense to make a mistake."

Reserves Jordy Hultberg and Willie Sims provided key baskets in overtime to help LSU beat Kentucky after the Tigers' entire starting five had fouled out of the game.

"Somebody else will get my vote for No. 1 tonight," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall. "We've got to play better."

"That somebody could be Arkansas, which routed Southwest Conference rival TCU behind Ron Brewer's 23 points.

"We've got a tough road ahead of us but if we are No. 1 it shouldn't add any pressure," said Brewer. "I guess we deserve it."

Butch Lee sank his first seven shots and scored 24 points as Marquette defeated Air Force. The Warriors shot .630 percent from the field, just off the school record of .636 against St. Louis in 1970.

Roy Hamilton's 24 points boosted UCLA over Stanford, leading the Bruins to their 18th victory in 20 games. Marvin Johnson's 30 points led New Mexico over Arizona State. Phil Ford scored 20 points as North Carolina beat Rutgers. Kansas defeated Kansas State as Wilmore Fowler and Darnell Valentine teamed for 30 points.

Blazer Home Streak Ends

By The Associated Press

The homecourt advantage doesn't mean much if you aren't playing your game. And the Portland Trail Blazers weren't Sunday.

"We just didn't play well," said guard Lionel Hollins. "There were too many turnovers and we didn't do the right things at the right time."

Because they didn't, the defending National Basketball Association champions had their mammoth 44-game home winning streak stopped with a 103-101 defeat by the Denver Nuggets.

The Blazers hadn't been beaten in Portland since they lost a game to Cleveland back on March 4, 1977. Included in their streak was a regular-season 34-game mark, two shy of the NBA record.

"There have been a lot of teams that had them on the ropes," said Denver Coach Larry Brown. "It's great to come in here and beat a great team like Portland."

David Thompson, who had a key basket in the final seconds for Denver, credited the victory to his team's ability to keep Portland from running.

"To run with Portland is almost impossible," Thompson said. "We controlled the tempo of the game. They still got some fast breaks in the third quarter, but we settled down after that."

Portland Coach Jack Ramsay hoped that his team would be able to regain its tempo in subsequent games.

"I've never gotten excited about a winning streak," Ramsay said. "It's just up to us to get over this and get our game going again. Then we'll start to win again."

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 109-99; the Phoenix Suns outscored the Washington Bullets 121-109; the New Jersey Nets edged the New York Knicks 112

Raider Baseballers Young

By CARTER CROMWELL
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Want a concise assessment of the 1978 Texas Tech baseball team? Well, they've got 23 freshmen and just seven returning lettermen on the 34-man squad.

Some persons would refer to this as a rebuilding season. The Red Raiders lost considerable experience and hitting punch when a number of players completed their eligibility following the 1977 campaign, and that was what had kept the Techs afloat that year.

Tech finished 25-24 in 1977 and was 12-12 in SWC play—the most league wins it had ever managed in one season—principally because of its .311 team batting average. The pitchers struggled most of the season, posting a 5.38 earned-run average and allowing 432 hits in 350 innings.

Gone, however, are eight of the top nine batters from 1977, each a .300-plus performer. To put it another way, nearly 70 per cent of Tech's hits last season were made by those eight. The percentages are similar in most offensive categories.

"As far as the total squad goes, this might be the most young people we've had," Raider coach Kal Segrist said, as Tech's Friday opener with Hardin-Simmons nears. "In 1974, when last year's seniors were freshmen, we might have been as young, but that's the only time."

"I think we have some young guys that have good potential, but we need for them to gain confidence. Our inexperience shows. I feel good about the practices we had in the fall, but we haven't had good weather this spring, so it's put us behind."

The pitching staff, weak in 1977, has a very untested look about it in 1978. Danny Whitton, 0-2 with a 9.39 ERA and 39 walks in 32 innings last season, is the only senior on the club, but he must obviously improve his performances. He is nursing a badly pulled hamstring muscle, though.

Segrist said that "if we had to play today," he would depend a lot on freshmen Larry Womble, Rick Hall and Robert Bryant and junior squadman David Bolton (1-0, 3.38) as starters, with Mark Johnston (1-1, 4.25) and freshman Gary Moyer as relievers.

Other hurlers being worked with are freshmen Kenny Cogdell, Lane Davis, Jessie Nevarez and Ron Hickman and sophomore Jeffrey Powell, who didn't play last season.

At first base, squadman Craig Noonan will replace Gary Ashby, a .367 batter last season who set school single-season marks for home runs (11) and runs batted in (53). Freshman Jim Wattenburger could see action here.

Johnny Vestal, a .304 hitter in 1977 and the only one of those top nine batters returning, will handle the second-base duties. Bubba Nix, a two-year letterman with a .258 average in 1977, was a scholastic casualty, further reducing depth.

Brooks Wallace, a sophomore who struggled at bat (.212) and in the field last season, will be the shortstop, while freshman Rusty Laughlin of Midland Lee is currently penciled in at third base.

Larry Selby, an infielder who came on with the bat late in the 1977 campaign to hit .282, has been moved to left field. Randy Newton, a transfer from Paris Junior College, is expected to be in center field.

The right-field spot is up for grabs between letterman John Keller (.225), squadman Mike Farmer and freshmen Steve Elder and Chuck Johnson, the latter a Coronado product.

staggered all the way to midcourt and fell again.

"That's when we took him out. He said later he didn't know too much until late in the game, but he told us that he was all right. The Southwest Conference rules say a doctor is supposed to be present at every game, to assist both teams, but to my knowledge, there was no doctor there Saturday night."

Williams scored only 8 points, 6 of them at the free throw line. And he hit the final four free throws in the contest, sealing the triumph, Tech's 18th in 24 games.

Schoolboy Pugilists Prove GG Crowd Pleasers

By TOM HALLIBURTON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Unlike most golden gloves cards, they probably didn't save the best for last on Saturday night's fights. Well, the promoters intended to but it didn't work out that way.

Many of the top area open fighters missed an opportunity to show their skills for long because of one reason or another. That's not to say that the record crowd of approximately 3,500 fans didn't see some good boxing, though.

The fans didn't get a very long look at Brownfield heavyweight Matt Adams because the defending regional champ needed less a full round to end the hopes of Snyder's Corey Logsdon. The Logsdon corner threw the towels into the Civic Center ring with 1:04 left in the first round after Adams has tossed a few rough punches at his aggressive opponent.

"We'll take the win anyway we can get 'em, though," said Matt's father-coach, Tom. "I don't believe anyone's crowded Matt like that. You've got to give his opponent credit for his courage. He could fight and he can be proud of that but he had no skill."

While Papa Adams was pleased with one son's win, he showed disappointment in the decision when other son, Mark, lost a split decision to Snyder's Luther Williams in the 147-pound open finale.

"I thought Mark won because I thought he landed more punches. He didn't get robbed and I'm not angry about it but it could have gone either way," Adams said.

Another open bout could have gone either way in the 165-pound class as Plainview's Dennis Cravey won a 3-2 verdict from Lubbock's Gary Barsh. The tall and rangy Cravey kept his distance from the gutsy Barsh some of the time but the Plainview fighter needed his long arms to tie up Barsh in the clinches.

While Matt Adams made a quick exit from the ring, two other noted local fighters departed in a hurry, too. Nigeria's olympic fighter, Idika Nsofor of Texas Tech, was doing just fine until his handlers discovered a cut above his left eye early in the second round. The victory automatically went to Amarillo's Frank Valvedez.

Then there was Lubbock Warrior 156-pound Raymond Amalla, who found little competition from Snyder's Joe Salinas. After unleashing a hammering right hand early in the bout, Amalla was awarded the bout on a technical knockout with 1:30 gone in the first round.

With the open fighters cutting their acts short, the preppers turned into the real crowd-pleasers. Estacado nipped Coronado in the final point standings 15-14 followed by Dunbar's 7, Monterey, Idalou and Levelland's 1 each.

EHS heavyweight Samuel Martin and Dunbar's 132-pound Alvin High won their final matches by default. Two more Matadors, Albert Walker (147) and Lions Essia (139), took unanimous decisions over their opponents.

Coronado's pair of football players es-cited the crowd the most, though. Dean Blumrosen (156) and Steve Mathews (178) each have worked out in the boxing gyms for only two weeks. Blumrosen flung his quick punches past Estacado's George Irving to receive a unanimous decision. Mathews slugged it out with Dunbar's Paul Singletary to earn a 3-2 triumph.

In other special awards besides the high-school point tally, the team trophy went to coach Frank Dunlap's Plainview boxing club, the sportsmanship trophy to Levelland's Robin Blake and the Gary Arnold Memorial Trophy to Levelland's Joe Shipley.

Sandies Near 3-AAAA Cage Title

Barry Arwine didn't deflate all the balls at Pampa or try a deep-freeze type of offense but the Amarillo High cage coach learned a lesson from his first close encounter with Pampa.

The Harvesters edged the Sandies 61-60 in the earlier league meeting and Pampa's 6-6 spot Rickey Bunton poured in 34 points. So Arwine watched his films closely and decided his team would have to control the tempo in the Pampa rematch.

Arwine's troops journeyed to the ice land where nearly eight inches of snow was lying on the ground, inside the Pampa pit, things never warmed up either. The Sandies shot only 39 percent on Pampa's freezing 32 from the field.

"I've gone over there and covered games for seven or eight years and I don't ever remember seeing Pampa shoot so close to 32 percent on its home floor," said an Amarillo reporter.

Pampa led between three and five points throughout the first half and owned a five-point halftime lead. The Harvesters stretched it to 27-20 in the third quarter moments before Bunton collected his fourth foul.

"That gave us a mental lift and we just made a great run on them in the third quarter and early in the fourth quarter. But even when we trailed, we were playing a very deliberate tempo and I felt that was to our advantage," Arwine said.

Amarillo figured to counter the Pampa size and Arwine needed the deliberate tempo was his best chance. Pampa started two 6-6 players, a 6-5, a 6-3 and 5-8 point guard. Arwine appointed 6-4 Victor Mitchell on Bunton but the other four Sandie starters measured 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 and 5-9.

However, the slowdown game stifled Pampa's scorers. Bunton ended with only 9 while guard Rusty Ward finished with 13. Meanwhile, Mitchell picked up

Bass Ace

ZWOLLE, La. (AP) — George Wells of Lufkin, Texas, caught 24 pounds, six ounces, of bass during two days of week-end fishing to win a $30,000 tournament at Toledo Bend Reservoir.

Wells weighed in with 11 pounds, three ounces of bass Sunday to overtake first-day leader Sonny Viola of Natchitoches. Viola finishes second with 21 pounds, eight ounces.

Others in top 10: Jim Clark of Lake Charles, 19 pounds, 13 ounces; Oma Fleming of West Monroe, 19-3; Mike Adams of Harvey, 18-14; George Bowman of Dumas, Ark., 17-12; John Fox of Huntington, Texas, 16-10; Walter Klevenick of Magnolia, Texas, 15-4; Mark Jones of Tulsa, Okla., 15-3; and Wade Reed of Zwolle, 14-0.

The tournament attracted 250 fishermen.

SWC-TSN

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference is going to have to hear a full-blown pitch from the Texas State Network for radio broadcast rights to the league's football games before it can sign a contract with the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The condition was part of a temporary restraining order granted TSN against the conference over the weekend by a state judge in Dallas.

A new hearing date on the court order was set for Feb. 22, and the oral presentation to conference representatives by TSN was set for Feb. 17.

Mutual has already obtained broadcast rights to Dallas Cowboys National Football League games.

Southland Race

By The Associated Press
Lamar University, picked to finish not better than third, is getting the attention of the rest of its Southland Conference basketball brothers, including defending champion Southwestern Louisiana.

Lamar is 4-0 and Southwestern Louisiana was the latest to get a severe thumping from the Cardinals 110-80 Saturday night.

Lamar can give some thinkings to Texas-Arlington which stunned McNeese State 73-68. McNeese State is now 3-1.

Hogs-Poll

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — He feels there is a good chance No. 2 Arkansas could be No. 1 in today's Associated Press college basketball poll, Razorback coach Eddie Sutton said Sunday.

Sutton noted that Arkansas is the only team to win 23 games this season and the only major college team with just one loss.

Saying one has to be a realist, Sutton said it would be very unlikely that Arkansas would be 23-1 if it was playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference or the Big Ten, because he said overall competition would be tougher.

But, Sutton was quick to add that it was possible that Arkansas could have just as good a record in either of those conferences.

Sutton said those who vote in the polls would probably still have some question about moving Arkansas up, but added sometimes scores have to be compared, and Arkansas beat Louisiana State University 67-62 at Baton Rouge, "and Kentucky couldn't do that last night."

If Arkansas does achieve number one ranking, Sutton said it would be "a shot in the arm for the Southwest Conference."

SWC Cagers

By The Associated Press
The Arkansas Razorbacks had best not drift away from reality tonight with dreams of being No. 1 in college basketball dancing in their heads.

The Baylor Bears who come calling in Fayetteville can, indeed, be testy. It took Arkansas an overtime period to whip the Bears in Waco earlier in the Southwest Conference campaign.

"This is a crucial week," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton. "But we can't worry about Texas or being No. 1. (Baylor guard) Vinnie Johnson will keep you awake. He is one of the premier players in the country. Our fans are in for a treat."

Sutton also hopes there are no tricks. Never before had an SWC team reached a No. 2 ranking, until Arkansas was so honored. Now, coupled with a 1 rated Kentucky's upset loss to Louisiana State Saturday night, the summit is in sight.

"It (A No. 1 ranking) would mean a lot if we were playing our last game of the season but later on is when we want it the most," said Arkansas' jumping jack Sidney Moncrief.

The No. 12 ranked Texas Longhorns entertain old rival Texas A&M tonight at the Superdome.

"Texas has a tough schedule," said Sutton. "They have to play at Baylor Wednesday night then travel to Texas Tech Saturday."

Sutton said "It seems like we've been fighting all year to catch Texas and now we finally did it."

Arkansas (23-1) and Texas (19-3) are each 11-1 in SWC play, splitting home-and-home games against each other.

Should they remain unbeaten and finish in a tie then a coin flip will decide which team gets a bye for the SWC postseason tournament in Houston.

Both Sutton and Texas Coach Abe Lemons are on record they would rather meet in a one-game playoff on a neutral site but that has been ruled out. The NCAA allows its members to play only a certain number of games and Texas and Arkansas would exceed that.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS

Austin's Confidence Gets Boost

MIAMI (AP) — "This is a great start for me," says Debbie Austin, winner of the first stop on the 1978 tour of the Ladies Professional Golf Association. "It really builds my confidence."

But she says she lost some of her confidence en route to the $50,000 Sunday victory in the 54-hole American Cancer Society Classic, played under sunny skies at the Kendall Lakes Country Club.

She went to a driver on a troublesome hole and wound up in the water for a double-bogey eight. She later admitted she should have stayed with a safe three-wood.

"I was a little down after I made that '8' on the 16th hole, but I didn't give up," said Austin, 30. "I've seen a lot of girls make an eight and their whole round deteriorates, but I tried to hang in there."

She hung in for a one-stroke victory over Japan's Nayoka Yoshikawa, who bogeyed the final hole when her four-foot putt rimmed out.

Austin, winning her sixth LPGA tourney and $7,500, finished with an even-par 72-72.

She started the final round a stroke behind Yoshikawa and had shot five strokes ahead at nine under by the 11th hole. But she blew that lead with two bogeys and the nearly disastrous triple bogey. The two went to the 18th tied at four under.

Yoshikawa, 28 and in her first American tournament, carded a final-round 74 and closed at 213, tied with Beth Solomon. Both earned $4,330.

"I made every effort," Yoshikawa said through an interpreter. "And even though I did not win, I am satisfied with my performance."

Sally Little, Sandra Palmer and Judy Rankin were at 214, and Jane Blalock and Jan Stephenson were at 215. Defending champion Pam Higgins was at 219.

Austin, of Boynton Beach, Fla., had five birdies, four on the front nine, for her nine-under-par, five-stroke lead. But she bogeyed the 13th by three-putting from 40 feet out and the 15th by finding a bunker. Then came the 16th.

"That hole has always given me trouble out here," she said. "I had been playing aggressively all day and I thought I would use my driver (instead of a safer three-wood). But I hooked my shot into the water."

Yoshikawa, visibly tired, said the putting that had helped her in two rounds deserted her Sunday, when she managed on one birdie.

"I did not putt firmly enough on the 18th hole," she said through an interpreter. "And I felt more pressure on me today. This is my first U.S. tournament and I felt it was honorable for me to be here."

She said she plans to play in at least four more LPGA events.

Consumer Leader Cites Movement's Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — In the 1960s the consumer movement surged like a current through the nation, igniting the hopes of millions who felt increasingly helpless in a world of professional marketing.

Reduced to a nub, the problem was one of the amateur buyer, naive in the ways of the market, attempting to compete against the professional seller, sophisticated and even devious at times.

Early on, the movement was characterized by spontaneity, enthusiasm, righteousness, selflessness and idealism as consumers sought to improve their knowledge and power so as to avoid exploitation.

What happened? Repeated efforts to develop a federal consumer agency have failed. Now the House of Representatives has voted, in effect, to put the idea into mothballs.

There are theories that seek to explain what happened.

One of them is that success happened. An amazing amount of success, so much that we easily forget the transformation: automobile recalls, purer foods, clearer labeling, fair credit. Hundreds of successes.

Success is heady; it is power, honor, money. It leads to organizations and vested interests. Professionalism, a sense of duty, replaces amateur enthusiasms. Institutionalization sets in.

What had been a spontaneous reaction to serious marketplace abuses became a concerted search for less obvious offenses that might feed the need of the institution, and keep the institution alive.

That at least is one theory.

Herb Denenberg, one of the original, most energetic and informed of the consumer advocates, still as outspoken as when he was Pennsylvania insurance commissioner, offers this blunt verdict:

"The consumer movement has matured. But it has matured in the wrong way. It now behaves more as a political organization which sells out for jobs and money."

The Carter administration, he charges, has compromised the consumer movement by appointing its leaders to federal positions, "and is now spreading around federal grant money to consumer organizations."

Drug Used In Gout Treatments Also May Aid Heart Patients

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An important new Canadian-American study shows a drug used since 1959 to treat gout appears effective in cutting in half the risk of sudden cardiac death during the risky months following a heart attack.

If the benefits are confirmed by additional research, the drug could save the Sixty-eight cardiac deaths occurred in the entire group, 44 in the group of 742 taking the placebo and 24 in group of 733 taking the drug. When the statistics were corrected for exposure time, the report said there was a 48.5 percent reduction in overall cardiac mortality in the sulfinpyrazone group.

Aspirin has a similar effect on blood clotting processes and a Houston neurologist reported last month that daily doses of aspirin reduced the number of stroke symptoms in people with evidence of cerebral artery disease.

A large study supported by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute is now under way to see if aspirin will reduce lives of as many as 15,000 Americans annually, according to the scientists reporting the findings.

The drug is called sulfinpyrazone and is sold as Anturane by the Ciba-Geigy Corp., of Summit, N.J., to lower uric acid levels in gout victims.

A Food and Drug Administration spokesman said the agency is evaluating the study findings to see if there is enough evidence to support general use of the drug in cardiac therapy.

The report, published in this week's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, said an estimated 1 million Americans suffer a first heart attack annually. Of the 400,000 who survive to be discharged from the hospital, 47,000 die during the first year after the heart attack.

Dr. Arnold Reiman, editor of the journal, said most of these deaths are caused by erratic heart action (arrhythmias) and often occur without evidence of a new heart attack.

"So it must be assumed that sulfinpyrazone in some manner prevented fatal arrhythmias," he said in an editorial. "How this effect might have occurred can only be conjectured at this point."

"At the moment, however, what seems important is that a drug heretofore useful only as a uricosuric agent has now been demonstrated to be effective and safe in the reduction of sudden cardiac death during the risky months after a fresh myocardial infarction (heart attack)."

The clue that the drug might be useful in treating heart patients came from observations that sulfinpyrazone seems to interfere to a slight degree with the blood clotting process in gout patients. When a clot forms in a narrowed artery leading to the heart, the result can be a heart attack.

Ciba-Geigy decided in 1975 to see what happened to cardiac-death rates when one group of heart attack patients was given sulfinpyrazone four times a day and another group was given a dummy pill. The study was directed by Dr. Sol Sherry of the Temple University School of Medicine.

A total of 1,475 patients at 21 American and five Canadian medical centers was studied for an average of 8.4 months.

Workers Find Ancient Bones

ICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — Prehistoric mammals, including an extinct elephant, rodents and birds possibly as old as one million years, have been unearthed at a construction site.

"This is one of the best finds we've had," says Jim Martin, head of the University of Washington archaeology team digging out the rich find of ancient bones.

The remains were uncovered earlier this week at a construction site in this eastern Washington city.

"The neat thing about this site is besides the mammoth (elephant), we're finding rodents, frogs, birds, rabbits and other small mammals, all close together," says Martin.

The bones will be taken to the University of Washington's Burke Museum in Seattle to determine their exact age. They will then be mounted and put on display.

DIVORCE RATE
The divorce rate in the United States doubled from 2.5 per 1,000 population in 1965 to 5 per 1,000 population in 1977, says the Census Bureau. Australia has the second highest rate of divorce, with about 4.3 per 1,000 population, and Russia occupies third place with 3.4.

Think what your neighbors will say when you install Gas air conditioning...NOW!

Your neighbors may talk a bit and raise a few eyebrows when they see Gas air conditioning installed at your house on a cold, wintery day. Let 'em! They will appreciate your good judgement on the first warm days when your home is cool and comfortable while others are still waiting for installation. Call us now for a free cooling survey. No obligation.

Think what they'll say in 10 years... when it's still going strong, still in warranty!

10 YEAR NO SWEAT WARRANTY

*Manufacturer's ten year limited warranty covers all defects in material and workmanship on the sealed refrigeration unit for ten years from date of installation of the air conditioner when it is installed in a single family residence. All other parts are warranted for one year from date of installation.

After a decade of seeing you enjoy cool, comfortable, trouble-free summers, your neighbors can only say "Wow!" Gas air conditioning lasts and lasts without any loss of cooling capacity. There are fewer moving parts . . . and no compressor . . . to wear out. And, Gas air conditioners are built by craftsmen using more stainless steel than in any other unit. Those are the reasons why we can offer a ten-year warranty*. Install Gas air conditioning now and forget about expensive maintenance to your cooling system for at least 10 years!

Mart Shows Moderate Price Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined moderately today, faced with news of renewed pressure on the dollar in foreign exchange.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.38 at 772.61.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was fairly quiet with a number of banks and other investing institutions closed for Lincoln's Birthday.

Analysts noted that the market's mood was also subdued by a new decline in the dollar.

The dollar's weakness was blamed on uncertainty over a weekend meeting in Paris of the finance ministers of the United States, Britain, Western Germany, France and Japan.

News accounts noted concern among European financial observers that the ministers concluded the meeting without issuing any statement designed to reassure currency traders.

Morrison-Knudsen jumped 2 to 34 1/2. On Friday the company posted higher quarterly earnings, raised its dividend and reported plans for a 3-for-2 stock split.

The NYSE's composite index slipped 17 to 49.84. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .16 at 124.48.

Volume on the Big Board came to 7.25 million shares by noon, against 7.94 million at the same point on Friday.

CAR OF THE YEAR
PLYMOUTH HORIZON

ECONOMY . . . 38MPG HWY 25MPG CITY 29 COMB INED

Fuel economy? You bet. Based on EPA estimates, Horizon equipped with manual transmission, is rated at 38 mpg, highway, 25 mpg, city. Your actual mileage may differ, depending on how and where you drive, the condition of your car and its optional equipment.

SPACE.
COMFORT.
LUXURY.

Engine is transverse-mounted 104.7 CID/1.7L 4-cylinder overhead cam power plant with Electronic Lean Burn, 4-wheel drive. Exceptional front and rear seat head and leg room for four passengers. 4 doors plus hatchback to luggage compartment. Full bucket seats in front are standard, individually adjustable.

RAIN.
SNOW.
WIND.

The front wheels both steer and drive, with the weight of the engine over the front wheels, you get good traction, good handling, good control, good stability.

BUMPS.
RUTS.

There's ample suspension travel to absorb bumps, rubber bushings to cushion them, coil springs to soak up road shocks. An anti-sway bar in the front suspension.

Indian Sect Blamed In Bombing

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Newspapers blame the Ananda Marga, a radical Indian sect, for a bomb that killed two sanitation men early today outside the hotel in which Indian Prime Minister Morarji Desai and others attending a 12-nation Commonwealth summit conference were sleeping.

Six other persons were injured, but none of the conference delegates were among them.

Tim Anderson, a spokesman for the Ananda Marga, denied the group was responsible. Desai called the bombing a "mad act of terrorism" but did not link it to the sect.

The Ananda Marga has been committing acts of sabotage in India because its spiritual leader is held there on a murder charge. It has been blamed for several attacks on members of Australia's Indian community, including the burning of the Indian mission in Canberra, the kidnapping of the Indian military attache and his wife and attacks against Indian consulates and Air India offices.

The bomb was in a trash can outside the 43-story Hilton Hotel in downtown Sydney. It went off when the sanitation men dumped it into a garbage truck shortly before 1 a.m., about an hour after the delegates returned to the hotel from a harbor cruise.

Police said a man with a foreign accent warned them of the bomb by phone a few minutes before it exploded.

An Australian official who was in the lobby of the hotel when the bomb went off said one of the sanitation men "appeared to have been blown to bits."

The Commonwealth meeting opened on schedule today under unusually tight security. Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser ordered an air services regiment from its base in western Australia to help guard the hotel. The New South Wales state government cancelled a reception in honor of the government leaders, and the conference security chief expressed concern for their safety on the 100-mile train trip they will take to a country hotel Tuesday.

"This morning we became a fully fledged member of the club of terror," said the Sydney Daily Mirror.

"Until now, this was always the sort of thing that happened to others. That comforting assurance has been blasted away," the Sydney Sun said.

The four-day regional conference is attended by the prime ministers or presidents of Australia, Bangladesh, Fiji, India, Malaysia, Nauru, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Tonga and Western Samoa. It started with a closed-session discussion of world political and economic trends.

Premature Baby Born On Plane

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — A boy was born two months prematurely Sunday in a Yugoslav Boeing 707 jetliner 40,000 feet above Mount Isa in New South Wales.

The cabin crew delivered the baby more than two hours before the jet touched down in Sydney after the mother, 17-year-old Marija Todeva, called for help and told passengers she was going into labor.

The aircraft purser, Radoye Rakocevic, delivered the baby with help of three hostesses, Gordana Colovic, Ana Hribernick and Flavica Ursic.

Mrs. Todeva and her son were taken to St. George Hospital where their conditions were described as satisfactory.

Mrs. Todeva was returning to Australia after visiting relatives in Macedonia in southern Yugoslavia, and was to join her husband in Port Kembla, 60 miles south of Sydney.

Ruptured Men Get $8.95 gift for trying this!

Kansas City, Mo.—Here is an improved means of holding rupture that has benefited thousands of ruptured men in the last year.

Inconspicuous, without leg straps, elastic belts, body encircling springs or harsh pads, it has caused many to say, "I don't see how it holds so easy. I would not have believed, had I not tried it."

So comfortable — so easy to wear — it could show you the way to joyous freedom from your rupture trouble.

You can't lose by trying. It is sent to you on 30 days trial. You receive a separate $8.95 truss as a gift just for trying the invention.

Write for descriptive circular. It's free. Just address the Physicians Appliance Company, 4906 Koch Bldg., 515 W. 75th St., Kansas City, Mo. 64114.

But do it today before you lose the address.

Ohio Man Dies In Fire

GUANAJA, Honduras (UPI) — An Ohio man was killed and two children were missing and feared dead in a fish cannery fire on a tiny island off the Atlantic coast of Honduras, authorities said Sunday.

Twenty-five persons were injured in the blaze, which forced 8,000 people in Guanaja, a fishing village, to evacuate with the aid of the Honduran Air Force.

The known victim was identified as Randy Stewart, 24, of Washington, Ohio, a Soandart Fruit Co. employee. Authorities said Stewart was trying to fight the blaze from an overhead beam but lost his balance and fell into the flames.

Authorities said a small girl and a boy were missing and feared dead.

Although the duke of Windsor briefly reigned as King Edward VIII, there have actually been 11 English kings named Edward, including England's first saint, King (St.) Edward the Confessor.

Flames spread to 40 homes near the fish cannery, Mariscos de Centroamerica, S.A., before firemen brought it under control Sunday afternoon.

Sources said the fire started when a stove in a wooden house near the cannery exploded. The house caught fire and the fire spread to the cannery's gas well, which held 70,000 gallons of fuel, they said.

Progress Made In African Talks

By WILLIAM N. OTIS
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance reported some progress in weekend talks with the South African Pöndence of South-West Africa. But South African Foreign Minister R.F. Botha left the talks early, saying his government would not yield the disputed territory to the nationalist movement recognized by the United Nations.

Vance said there had been concessions by both South Africa and the South-West African People's Organization at the talks. Vance and the foreign ministers of Britain, France, West Germany and Canada held Saturday and Sunday with Botha and SWAPO President Sam Nujoma.

However, "there are some very difficult issues still to be resolved," Vance warned.

Botha said he thought "in some respects progress was made." But he said he was "profoundly disappointed" at "a lack of appreciation of the factual, physical circumstances" of South-West Africa, which the black nationalists and the United Nations call Namibia.

"I am not willing to be a party to handing over that territory to Marxists, putting it in ashes and flames," he told a news conference. He added that by "Marxists" he meant SWAPO, which is fighting a guerrilla war against the South African army from bases in southern Angola.

Botha said "disintegration is taking place" in Angola, where the Marxist government is fighting pro-Western guerrillas, and if South Africa removes all of its troops from South-West Africa, "there will be a total and complete collapse in the northern part of that country."

South-West Africa is a former German colony northwest of South Africa which South Africa administers under a League of Nations mandate. The United Nations has cancelled the mandate and recognizes SWAPO as the representative of the native blacks.

South Africa has said the territory will be independent by the end of 1978, but SWAPO charges it is planning to install a puppet regime which it can control. The United States and its allies are trying to get agreement on a plan for U.N.-mon-tored election of an assembly to draft a constitution.

The plan proposes that the estimated 20,000 South African troops in the territory be reduced to 1,500 and collected at two bases during a four-month election campaign, with total withdrawal after the voting.

U.S. Ambassador Donald H. McHenry, the deputy American delegate to the U.N., said SWAPO has dropped its demand that all South African troops leave before the elections and will settle for a residual force confined to bases. He said South Africa is holding out for 3,000 troops at eight or nine bases.

McHenry said South Africa has agreed to "the idea of a U.N. military presence (through the election) though we have not yet gone into many of the details."

NOW IN CACTUS ALLEY — The Cactus Alley Art Gallery, with Marjorie Hitch (pictured) as director, is now open, with the public invited to view and select from a choice selection of originals in various media.

Cactus Alley Art Gallery Assures Selection, Quality

Quality paintings by award-winning artists — at a price to be appreciated — is the correct image of the new Cactus Alley Art Gallery, 2610 Salem Ave., Lubbock.

No only are original oils, acrylics, pastels, watercolors, and pen/inks featured, but the gallery is stocking frames and art supplies, together with limited-edition prints from southwest artists (Hurley, Gorman, Rippel, Steinke and Sandoval, for example).

Marjorie Hitch brings a host of individual qualifications to her directorship. A native of Lubbock, she was away for some years, returning in 1971. A member of the Lubbock Art Association and the Texas Fine Arts Association, she has studied in Laie, Hawaii; also under Betty Fettig known for her distinctive landscapes, from William Henry Earle of Connecticut; from the Froman School of Art in New Mexico, and from Fred Samuelson of Mexico.

"It is a real pleasure to provide the type shop that the Cactus Alley Art Gallery is designed to be," Marjorie explains. "I not only am glad to provide 'paintings to enjoy' for my Lubbock friends, but I am glad to report 'affordable prices' without resorting to the 'mass production' mill that produces pictures unlikely to increase in value."

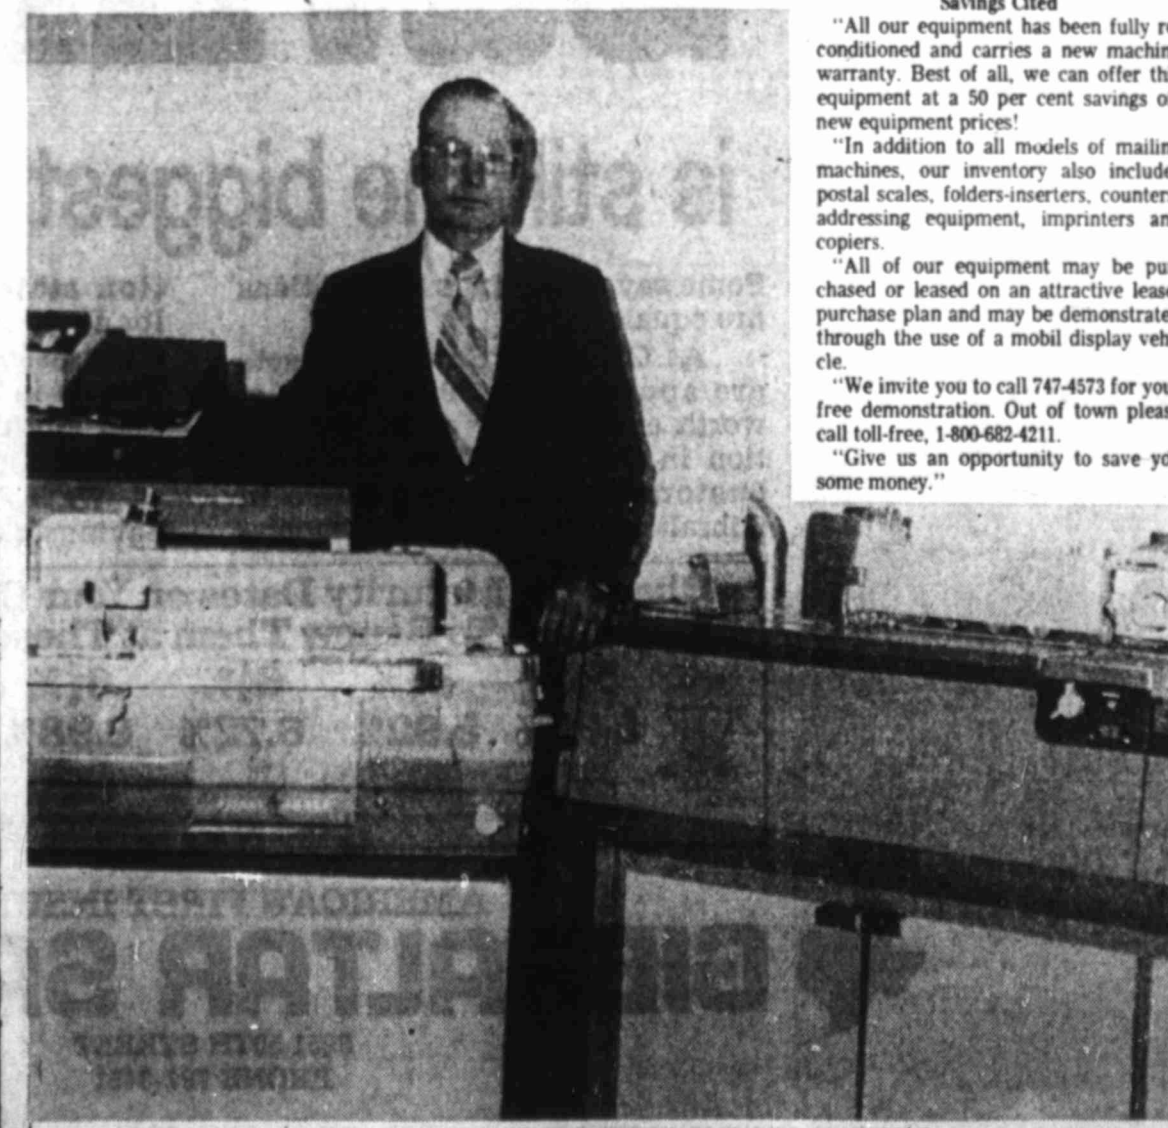

"Everything at the Cactus Alley Art Gallery is legitimate," Marjorie correctly emphasizes.

Among artists whose work is represented are Lubbock and regional personalities including Louise Deering, Terry Gill, Bob and Boots Hurmance, Virginia Jones, Ruth MacNaughton, Kathy Middleton, Polly Pitzer, John Richey, Mutt Still and Carole Suddereh.

"Since purchasing the gallery in early January, I have been most encouraged by the comments of visitors appreciating the type art selected. Also, at the private opening just conducted, the response was more than I dared anticipate. Thanks, every one of you; I look forward to seeing you, your guests and friends at the Cactus Alley Art Gallery at all times when quality fine art is the desire. May I have the pleasure of your visit soon?"

'SLIDE AT BROWNFIELD, WHERE YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE'
Carpet Savings Revealed For Tuftwick Seasonal Clearance

"Have you been following the Tuftwick Carpet ads recently in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal?"
"If so, you have found added proof that Tuftwick goes all out to pass fantastic buys on to you, our valued customer."
Of immediate consequence is the big Tuftwick Carpet Final Carpet Clearance, with red hot specials posted in this sale event.
(The quoted prices are for carpet only, with the pad and installation available for your convenience. The values truly are tremendous, so shop early and save, save, save!)
A shopping trip to Tuftwick is worth the trip from anywhere in the area, and the current sale makes this doubly so. Representative sale values include:
Nylon sculptured shag in camel, coca suede, spring green and toast, at $3.99 per yard (carpet only, remember); and Another extra special... kitchen carpet on H.D. foam back, in brandberry, harvest, cashew and pumpkin, $2.99, carpet only.
Remnants are a whopping 60 per cent off!
Then there is the Sensation palmetto green nylon and poly shag, about 100 square yards, at $1.59 per yard, rather than the suggested retail of $3.95.
And Star Burst sweet lime nylon sculptured shag, about 116 square yards, at $6.39, reduced from suggested $10.95 retail.
Plus many, many more specific savings that one simply must come in to recognize the represented value.
Whatever the selection in the huge stock, including full rolls, short rolls and remnants, one can save by purchasing from Tuftwick during the sale.

Remember... low prices always are the rule at Tuftwick, with exceptionally attractive bargains awaiting in situations such as the current sale.
Extraordinary savings, even for Tuftwick, are presently enabled. Don't delay, shop now at Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., at Slide Road and Brownfield Highway to your profit, selection and complete satisfaction.
All the carpet is first quality, as traditional at Tuftwick.
Easy terms are available, with no money down, and with up to 36 months to pay!
"If you have not been through the showrooms of the big Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., within the last few weeks, you are in for a real treat at your next visit."

First, there is a thrilling selection of patterns and materials.
Secondly, the prices and values simply cannot be beat.
Third reason for a trip to Tuftwick Carpet at Brownfield Highway and Slide Road could well be the most attractive display yet. Everything in the showroom has been conveniently displayed for easy viewing, comparison and selection. It is an attractive, inviting place in which to shop.
The basic reason for shopping Tuftwick has not changed, however, and that is the integrity and experience of a capable staff devoting all efforts to serve the customers carpet needs as only possible with an experienced staff that "knows carpeting" and knows how to please in every transaction.
Pharr also is a service center, together with sales; it is a "first stop must" in readying one's present RV unit for a trouble-free trip ahead.
Harold Pharr calls special attention to the selection of parts and accessories stocked within the attractive showrooms. When planning a trip, or even when just completing one, a person could do well to check for needed accessories "while it is fresh on his or her mind", with Pharr most likely having the very item desired.
Pharr knows recreational units, and this modern Lubbock firm can help immeasurably in correct selection that will give pleasure for years to come. Ask the man who owns a Pharr unit.

Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery Tells 'Money-Saving Truth'

"It is a fact... grocery savings are possible for each of you in 1978, thanks to Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery!"
"Many of you have profited — for months — by checking the ads of Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery on these pages, and purchasing accordingly. (Selecting at the same time from the hundreds of other items already marked at 'rock bottom' at this popular Lubbock grocery that recently celebrated its second anniversary.)
"Others of you possibly have yet to learn the money-saving truth... that, Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery can be a tremendous friend to the family budget.
Certainly, all will agree that it is advantageous to shop more carefully than ever before... for price and value. Then... be sure and check the Lubbock Kash & Karry ad.
(Not only this week, but check each week on representative money-saving staple items provided by this distinctive firm at 901 N. Ave. Q.

"Did you know that groceries still can be purchased in Lubbock at rock-bottom prices — and — with full carry-out and sack service?"
"If you are shopping elsewhere, you may be doing much of the work yourself, and still be paying too much: so — try Lubbock Kash & Karry Wholesale Grocery and pocket the savings!"
Located at 901 N. Ave. Q, phone 747-6033, this firm is Lubbock's only independently and wholly owned and operated wholesale grocery.
Low Overhead
It takes pride in "selling for less," a policy made possible by its cash arrangement, low overhead, purchases directly from the manufacturer, its policy of "pick it up yourself and save the difference," and local warehousing.
Co-owners are Tommy Toombs and Noble Sides, with Toombs as manager.

Sides, formerly with the Ben E. Keith Co., enjoys a wide acquaintance in the area, as does Tommy who also is a long-time Lubbock resident. Both are on the job to give their personal attention.
In its fully-stocked quarters on North Avenue Q, Lubbock Kash & Karry sells in quantities as small as one-half case lots, and packaged meats, etc., by the package.
A very good stock of refrigerated products, including these packaged meats, is maintained.
The firm has enjoyed acceptance and appreciation of those even coming long distances to take advantage of the prices and selection. More than 1,600 items are included in the stock that veritably affords "anything for the grocery business," and housed in a big 6,000 sq.ft. building at the north Lubbock location.
Staffmembers are on hand to load merchandise for the purchaser, remember. Everything is top quality, with definitely no "seconds" even at the low prices.

PERSONALIZED, KNOWLEDGEABLE ATTENTION — award-winning design! All jobs by Gilbert-Spencer included a detailed blueprint for the customer.
 Bruce Gilbert is shown completing a custom design for a residential sprinkler system . . . it possibly could be another

'Sprinkler Systems Are For All Seasons,' Firm Explains

According to Gilbert & Spencer Enterprises of Lubbock, designers and installers of custom lawn irrigation systems, the weather conditions in this part of the country allow their business to operate year round.
 "Unlike areas with a colder climate, we miss only a very few working days each year due to bad weather conditions," says Bruce Gilbert, president of the firm. "And, not only do we install our systems on a year round basis, we recommend that they be used year round to insure the healthiest lawn possible. Of course, the amount of watering during the winter should be considerably less than the warmer months, but it should be done nevertheless. And, with one of our completely automatic systems, it is a simple matter for us to adjust the time to a winter watering cycle."
Won Honors
 Having recently returned from the Texas Turf Irrigators Convention in Houston where the firm outclassed seventy-five others to take a first place in the competition for a commercial sprinkler system design, Gilbert & Spencer is now gearing up for the spring rush.

Early Installation Advised
 According to Fred Spencer, chairman of the board, "Even though we can install our systems during any month of the year, most people don't realize it. Consequently, we have in the past been swamped with jobs in the spring, by people who want more leisure time in the summer. Last year it took us half the summer to complete the jobs that we had contracted in the spring. When you consider that it usually takes us only a week or less to design and install a system for the average residence, you can see why it would pay a person not to wait for spring. And, to help persuade people that the best time to get a Gilbert & Spencer system is now, our prices are now the lowest ever. In spite of our sale, we are still offering the longest guarantee in the area (two years), free estimates, and what we feel are the best systems on today's market."
 "For further information or an appointment for a free estimate, we encourage folks to avoid the spring rush and call (806) 797-9212 today, collect if they're out of town."

ARCADIA SEEN ECONOMICAL
 "Individuals and contractors alike, throughout the area, have voiced enthusiasm for Arcadia Stone."
 This is small wonder, for after all, can you imagine a lightweight and durable man-made stone that captures the beauty of natural stone at a fraction of the cost . . . and available in seven decorator colors?
 This is exactly what one can expect from Arcadia Stone Manufacturing Co., home-owned and home-operated firm at 1922 Ave. E. Lubbock, phone 744-6640.
 Arcadia Stone has been utilized for exceptional beauty and warmth in numerous area situations . . . commercial and residential. It can be used wherever stone or masonry veneer is desired. It can be used to veneer complete homes or to enhance the quality of one's present home.

Gary's Frozen Foods Products Add Nutrition, Zest To Menus Of Area

"A good meal can become an 'out-standing' one if Gary's Frozen Food products have a place on the menu!"
 And likely at no time of the year can Gary's products be more appreciated and enjoyed than in the post-holiday season . . . as a change of pace from the rich foods of the festive occasions.
 "We're hearing some mighty good things about Gary's Bar-B-Que Flavored Delight, newest of the Gary's family of products."
 "Shouldn't you find out for yourself how this and other of the firm's fine products fit into your menu for finest in nutritious food? Discover how Gary's provides the best in barbeque, corn dogs, super dogs, custom cooking, and more."
Custom Cooking
 Gary's is glad to custom prepare any meat, at any time, whether it is wild game or whatnot.
 Or one may simply discover that the Gary's Frozen Food label in a favorite grocery or supermarket opens the way to variety and nutritious goodness.
 Select from Gary's Barbeque Flavor Delight, Gary's Corn Dogs, Gary's Bar-B-

Que Beef Brisket in bar-b-que sauce, and Gary's super dogs. Whether the occasion is a festive meal, a Sunday dinner or even a snack, or a birthday party, one can profit from dependance upon the home-owned, home-operated Gary's Frozen Food firm and its products.
 The Bar-B-Que Flavored Delight is newest of the Gary's family of labels, and it is oh-so-good. A beef, beef suet and textured vegetable protein product, it is a new experience in delicious eating. Keep it frozen, and just heat to eat.
 This new product is available in the area, distributed to retail stores and to institutions. Look for the label.
 The 10-pack Corn Dogs have met with exceptional response.
 Consisting of batter mix around a frankfurter, partially cooked in pure vegetable oil, these, too, are easy to prepare. Simply thaw, remove from bag, place in 375-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or deep fat fry.
 Also, one still can get the delicious Gary's Barbeque Beef Brisket in a favorite grocery or supermarket.

The many quality products and services from Gary's has made possible the continued growth of the firm, thanks to loyal customers who appreciate good food and Gary's sincere desire to please.
 The barbeque brisket, super dogs and other quality items from Gary's Frozen Foods, 109th Street at South University Avenue, make many a West Texas meal something special — whether for a special event or simply a change of pace.
 These products, long recognized as the finest obtainable, are prepared in the modern, enlarged, functionally attractive quarters for Gary's, specifically designed and built for service, in south Lubbock.
 Every Gary's Frozen Foods product is an experience in goodness! School children, their parents and a lot of other people (unexpected guests included) can attest to the deliciousness of Gary's Super dogs, corn dogs — and the Gary's Bar-B-Que package available on retail basis.
 Gary's Frozen Foods products are U.S.D.A. inspected every day, insuring the use of the best meats and finest in preparation.

Tick Tock Clock Shop Tells 'Ideal Valentine Expression'

"Sure, you want to give a Valentine gift to be cherished, one that conveys your thoughts at this happy season."
 "We believe that we at the Tick Tock Clock Shop can help, whether the desire is for a small novelty clock great for family and friends (especially appreciated by students) or for a really fine grandfather clock, or 'in between.'"
 Valentine Day is upon us, but one still can select at the Tick Tock Clock Shop with its wide inventory (located in Monterey Center), and be in time!
 Aside from its huge stock, the Tick Tock Clock Shop has other things "going for it" such as no interest or carrying charges on layaway purchases, and the free delivery and set ups for grandfather clocks.
 There are hundreds of clocks from which to select at Tick Tock.
 New shipments have added to the already extensive and prestigious choices.
 See the weight-driven, cable-wind Vienna regulator.
 And the newly-acquired Heuring Clock Co. line

 And an authentic copy of the Postal Regulator.
 Reproductions of jewelers' regulators are stocked from two quality lines.
 And one simply must see the French Marbler reproduction prayer clock (that not only strikes on the hour but also a few minutes afterward to signal "end of prayer period," hence its name).
 There are some antique clocks stocked, including an 1890 German wall clock.
 And the hand-carved Gazo clock line, every unit handcarved and hand etched.
 Prices of all are most likely much less than one would expect in clocks that are "quality throughout" (Tick Tock would stock no other kind).
 All are of wood cases, with no simulated wood cabinets, no plastic cabinets.
 Full Westminster chimes are stocked.
In-Store Service
 "We service what we sell, with in-store service provided," is further advantage at this better clock shop.
 Actually, there is more than clocks at this fabulous store.

 See the new hour glasses, the paper weights, desk ornaments (including limited-edition brass and silver plate reproductions of the old Mack truck, specification trains, steam engines, etc.) and even gorgeous functional sundials.
Top Of The Line
 One may select from the Gazo line from the Gazo family clock factory. These are "top of the line" and the wall, mantle and floor models are all masterpieces of gorgeous wood carving.
 Other lines include Ansonia, Trend, Howard Miller, Colonial, Ridgeway, Decor, Hamilton, Herschede, New England, Seth Thomas, and more.
 Unusual clocks come in for due attention, too . . . such as the "mystery clock" with the entire unit swinging, rather than just the pendulum. Or one that runs by means of oxygen battery and magnet.
 Locally owned and operated by Al and Shirlene Juno, the Tick Tock Clock Shop is a family operation.
 In-store financing is available.

Woolco Management Outlines Policies Benefitting Customer

The following message is for the attention of all Woolco shoppers.

"The entire management team at Woolco Department Stores would like to thank all of our customers for making 1977 the finest year Woolco has enjoyed. In line with this appreciation, we once again reiterate our policy:

- (1) To give courteous, efficient customer service;
- (2) Provision of quality merchandise at competitive prices;
- (3) Customer satisfaction assured, with replacement or money refunded on merchandise bought in our store; and
- (4) Honesty in advertising.

"We at Woolco have a positive and enthusiastic approach to these four key points, and we make it a part of our employee training."

And remember this:
"If for any reason, at anytime, due to misunderstanding or because of a merchandising problem, feel free to contact one of the floor managers at Woolco and we will do our best to resolve the problem. Again we say 'we want to be your favorite store' and these policies are just some of the many things we are doing to honor our claim."

Valentine Candy, Party Items Among Woolco Considerations.

Woolco comes through with everything for Valentine...even at this last-minute hour there is good selection at Woolco; we plan it that way, so come on to Woolco and secure all your needs.

Boxed Cards
There is a complete assortment of boxed cards, including choice of novelty and Mickey Mouse characters; a large variety of punch-out cards, a vast assortment of individual cards, and actually... a card for everyone and everybody's personality.

Then there are party supplies, of course. See and select from a very good stock of cups, napkins, paper plates and table cloths, a wide variety of decorations; and hearts, cupid, crepe paper streamers and all. Let's have a party!

Something for everyone's sweetheart's sweet tooth, too! Select from quality, delicious boxed chocolates in several price ranges, foil wrapped candies, heart-shaped boxes, candy made in Texas by Pangburns; conversation hearts and heart-shaped cinnamon imperials.

There also are stuffed animals in all sized and shapes, really a great selection. "Surely, you have learned by now that Woolco can be your headquarters in purchasing for most any occasion (with Valentine Day certainly no exception), and that Woolco exerts that extra effort to assure wide and quality selection. If you have yet to recognize this truism, then come on out... we like to back up our claim of wanting 'to be your favorite store'."

VALENTINES, CANDIES AND ALL — Robert O'Neill and Rosa Galarza of the Woolco staff call attention here to beautifully-boxed candies still available for Valentine (together with party needs, etc.)

Agents Of Farmers Insurance Group Dedicated To Service

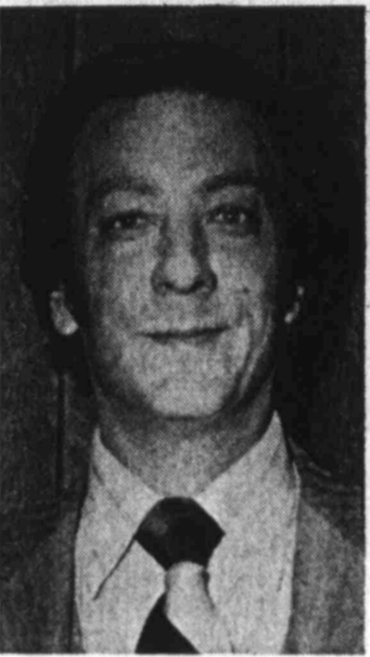

"If it is written, we can write it!"
"Yes, you can count on your Farmers Insurance Group agent for anything in the field of insurance, being assured of doing business with a knowledgeable agent with the personalized approach to insurance that customers have learned to expect (for a half century) from Farmers Insurance Group."

This week meet two more of the capable agents that are recognized for this type of service. Presley Shofner and Lee E. Robertson, each maintaining agencies in unique new quarters at 5106 Slide Road (behind the Windmill and behind the Burger King).

Presley Shofner
Shofner actually is a Lubbock native, being born here but reared in Harlingen where he graduated from high school in 1960. He returned to Lubbock then to attend Texas Tech, majoring in personnel management, and then stayed on! Shofner has been with Farmers Insurance Group for 11 years on March 15. Mrs. Shofner is the former Charlene Sherrod of Acuff. The couple have two sons, Bryan Lee, age 12, and Russell Shawn, age 10.

Presley has written scads of commercial insurance, but in reality he is most adept in all field of insurance. He works hard to earn the confidence that is invited by his slogan . . . "If you don't know insurance program, know your insurance man." He takes pride in carefully spelling out the coverage and all aspects of an insurance program, and he remains available at all times for information and service.

Lee Robertson
Lee Robertson has been in the insurance business in Lubbock since 1969, the last three years with Farmers, an organization that he takes justified pride in representing. He has been at the 5106 Slide Road location since December, coming from a 50th Street and Indiana Avenue office.

LEE E. ROBERTSON

PRESLEY SHOFNER

A native of Hale Center, Lee is a Texas Tech graduate with an MBA degree. Mrs. Robertson, a Lubbock native, is the former Vicki Ingraham and presently is continuing studies at Texas Tech. Robertson's qualifications in rendering the full circle of insurance sales and services are documented, not only by plaques, numerous citations and honors, but in many expressions of customer appreciation.

"Lee Robertson and Presley Shofner . . . these are your kind of folks!"

"Anything in insurance" is the correct image of Farmers Insurance Group, Los Angeles based organization celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1978 and one that has been represented in Lubbock for over a quarter century.

Eight office locations are now utilized in Lubbock. These are located at 3328 82nd St. (the district office); 2221 34th St., 5106 Slide Road, 5602 Slide Road, 3534 34th St., 3409 50th St., 4417 50th St., and 7402 University Ave.

Among the local Farmers Insurance Group agents are Jerry Rose, Jim White, Don Busby, Rick Dyer, Gene Cribbs, Gary Jeter, Dick Heath, Alline Baxter; Joe Schoenig, John Hatchett, Howard Havery, Lee Robertson, Lanny Harris, Don Freeman, Jere Smith, Presley Shofner and Phillip Wilbanks, Bill Hatchett is district manager.

Each is thoroughly versed in the full spectrum of insurance services — auto, fire, life, truck, boat, commercial, liability and all.

Veterans In Business, Texas Testing Lab Outlines Multiple Area Services

Though Texas Testing Lab, at 201 Paris, has been in Lubbock since back in 1929, some may possibly not realize that together with its many other capabilities, the firm offers full service in concrete and asphalt design and inspection, even aggregate analysis.

And soil analysis for engineering purposes.

Also it maintains full lab capabilities for water analysis, using approved American Public Health Association methods and the atomic absorption test.

What a service for cities, for industry and even for residences, all at affordable cost.

Feed and grain analysis is another service.

Appreciated By Contractors
Contractors of the area have benefitted to great degree from Texas Testing Lab, as the firm has tested for numerous major area jobs.

Quality control work for foundries is another service, as is steel tensile testing. Actually, testing never before available in this area at an independent lab is now available at Texas Testing Lab, phone 763-4518, in Lubbock.

This statement cannot be taken lightly, for after all, it comes from a firm proven by decades.

Its history goes still further back, as it was established in Dallas in 1926. The Lubbock branch was added three years later, and now there are four Texas locations for the Dallas-based corporation.

Full-Service Lab
Texas Testing Lab is a full-service laboratory offering services in both chemical and engineering. It offers chemical analysis using modern equipment with electronic balances, pH meters, a spectrophotometer and an atomic absorption unit.

(Texas Testing Lab is believed to be the only lab in the entire region to have this atomic absorption unit with its unique capabilities enabling numerous agriculture tests, biochemistry tests, environment tests, food products, forensic chemistry, geochemistry, industrial analysis, metallurgy, petrochemical, pharmaceuticals and cosmetics, and even plastics and fibers testing.)

This apparatus not only speeds analysis but increases the accuracy of results over the old "wet lab" techniques.

Texas Testing Lab is set up to do analysis on cottonseed, sunflower and other oil seeds. It also is capable of other analysis on agricultural products including vegetable oil, plant tissue and soil analysis. Fertilizer, water, microbiological and other analytical testing is available.

Testing is in accordance with standard of the American Oil Chemist Society, American Public Health Association, the Association of Official Analytical Chemists and other accepted standards.

The professional staff includes Joseph B. Schiel Jr., PhD, who is branch manager. Schiel did his dissertation of "The Ecology and Distribution of Plant Parasitic Nematodes on Three Farms in Southern Illinois."

The chemical section is headed by life-long Lubbock resident Ginger Davis who is a graduate of Texas Tech University with her masters degree in Food Technology and with minor in Chemistry. She is rated among the top 10 in the nation in vegetable oil analysis.

For a revelation in services, in efficiency, in capabilities, visits and inquiry at Texas Testing Lab are cordially invited, even heartily recommended.

Soil results can be ready in two days, with water results the same day!

Analytical services are most comprehensive, whether for cottonseed meal, cake, oil; for sunflower seed and other seed; for tallow, water, agricultural products; and even construction materials testing and inspection, involving concrete, steel, asphalt, soils, etc.

Most, most likely, Texas Testing Lab, chemists and engineers, can perform a vital service in your own operation. May we have the opportunity?

TESTING FOR CHLORINE — Ginger Davis of Texas Testing Lab is shown making one of the water tests popular here for industry, business and residential customers.

ANNOUNCES SALES EVENT — Cecil Gardner of Cecil's Drapery Shop and Interior Decorators is shown at one of the intriguing displays within the big 34th Street store that always has "something new" and where everything in stock is marked down in price for the three-day sale beginning today.

Three-Day Sale Spells Huge Savings At Cecil's Drapery

The eagerly-anticipated Once-A-Year Sale begins today at Cecil's Drapery, 2845 34th St. This means that for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, there are fantastic buys, with everything in the house reduced in price! Examples of these sale values, presented now when they can be so well appreciated after the first-of-year expenses, include: Some drapery odds and ends, values to $10 per yard, now marked 25 cents to 50 cents a yard to clear! And gorgeous upholstery, regularly priced $15 to $25 a yard, now as low as $5 per yard during the three-day sale. Lots and lots of display drapes are available, marked at one-half price! Woven woods are in stock and available at 20 per cent discount during the sale. Levolors also are marked 20 per cent off. And bedspreads also fit 20 per cent discount! (The sale prices are for in-stock items only, of course, and do not apply on custom orders.) Cecil's Drapery traditionally is known for its large stock, and the current season is no exception. There is a host of new materials, including sheers, antique satins, casements, upholstery, and more. Not only is the stock outstanding, but the staff is known for its expertise in every phase of the business. Check with owners Cecil or Harve Gardner or any of their handpicked staff for service and values one can appreciate in every season of the year. Whether planning extensive decoration or not, one always can profit by coming in and checking the new arrivals and the big remnant table, the latter provided at all times featuring one-half price values. There is much that is new, even in a selection that year-in and year-out has been outstanding. Bedspreads Lots of new bedspreads are in stock in one of the best selections of these yet offered by Cecil's. There are exciting new fabrics for drapes and spreads (to match). Possibly one has not realized that fabric materials are sold at Cecil's, as well as the custom drapes, etc. Custom spreads are always "right" when secured at Cecil's, area residents have learned through the years. One of the very largest assortments of drapery fabrics in Lubbock is stocked. Custom window shades are an appreciated service. Or select from the Kirsch rods and accessories that need no introduction. For upholstery fabrics, or for custom upholstery. Cecil's can end a frustrating search. Custom Quilting Custom quilting is another service one might not realize is provided at Cecil's Drapery Shop and Interior Decorators! Wallpaper to match the drape materials is available, together with an exciting array of decorative trim, embroidered sheers and even beds. Long in Business Owners-operators Harve and Cecil Gardner have been in business over a quarter century, and their repeat orders during these many years attest to the satisfaction experienced as to product and service. They head a staff of more than 20 who provide such services, remember, as: (1) Interior decorating by experts; (2) Quilting; (3) Bedspreads (custom made and ready-made); (4) Cornice boards; (5) Upholstery by masters in the trade; (6) Draw Drapes, etc. Don't forget, Cecil's Interiors sells any of its products "over the counter" or provides custom work to the extent desired.

El Paso Wholesale, Lubbock Division, Serves Wide Region

"El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division knows that it can make the new year more profitable and certainly more convenient for retail firms throughout the region, ultimately saving for the consumer . . . you and me." There are a number of carefully planned factors that make this statement possible and true: Selling wholesale only, the El Paso Wholesale Company in Lubbock is the city's complete wholesale firm. Customers include grocery and hardware stores, auto supply houses, service stations, toy stores, sporting goods stores, etc. Located at 206 23rd St., phone 747-1841, in Lubbock, the El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division carries and stocks a full selection of hard line merchandise. From time to time partial lists of the products have been published on these pages of the Avalanche-Journal, and readers have noted that the products and brand names are ones that can be appreciated, together with the completeness of this wholesale firm. Among the benefits area merchants find foremost at El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division, aside from the selection, is the freight situation. Doesn't it make sense that savings are enabled through the regions by virtue of the big-stock Lubbock warehouse that features faster, shorter delivery transport? Let this Lubbock wholesale firm prove it to your own benefit with products such as: Guns by Remington, Marlin and H. and R.; ammunition from Federal and Remington; and gun accessories such as Outer & Hoppes solvents and gun cleaning kits.
