

Drunk is Drunk Too Many Times, Judge Hurls 'Enhancement Clause,' Sets $400 Fine

It's getting so that a guy's record follows him wherever he goes — like even the matter of getting drunk too many times.

Actually it's all part of that new penal code, and to be more specific it's article 61 of said penal code.

Judge Glen Williams of the county court has been using Article 61 to hand down some pretty stiff fines lately. In fact Judge Williams believes in enforcing the law, and Article 61 comes in pretty handy to help him in this matter of law enforcing.

County Attorney Roger Gorrill pointed to Article 61 a few weeks ago when a few assorted cases were brought before the judge. He mentioned the fact that the particular defendant up before the judge on a worthless check charge had been in the same judge's chambers not too many moons ago on a similar charge. Judge Williams read Article 61 of the new Penal code and he liked what he read there, because Article 61 said that judges may now "save up" misdemeanor convictions and drag them out of the files as need be when the same defendant comes up again on a similar charge. The new law comes in real handy with drunks, for instance, who land in the hoosgow too often; or with check writers who don't always have enough money on deposit to cover the checks which they write.

The clause is called "enhancement" clause.

To read from the law book: "Second and subsequent conviction for a misdemeanor: If it is shown on the trial of a misdemeanor that the defendant has been once before convicted of the punishment prescribed for such offense in ordinary cases, and upon a third or any subsequent conviction for the same offense, the punishment shall be increased so as not to exceed four times the penalty in ordinary cases."

All of which is by way of saying that Joe Bloo, convicted of a misdemeanor two or three times in the past, had better watch his step and not do that same misdemeanor again — or he can get four times the sentence that he would have got back there when he committed misdemeanor No. 1.

Anyway, Judge Williams has been using the clause rather effectively. He has one customer who had to dig deep down into his jeans to rake up quite a number of $10 bills to pay off his fine. He finally made the ripple, but, as we said, it cost him plenty to write a relatively small — but worthless — check.

This week was no exception, only this time it was a drunk who was hauled before Judge Williams. It was not the first time this particular defendant had stood before Judge Williams. In fact, it was not the second time — or even the third. In fact, the defendant and the judge were fairly well acquainted with each other although they did not go around in the same social circle.

The defendant admitted that he had partaken too generously of the fermented barley. And he also admitted that it was somewhat of a habit with him.

Now, public drunkenness is a misdemeanor and usually the fine runs to, say, $30. However, it may be as great as $100 if the judge so desires to set the fine that high.

And that's just what Judge Williams did — he set it high. He set it at $100 and invoked the enhancement clause, if such it can be classified. Article 61 said that it shall "not exceed the penalty in ordinary cases." Well, if the ordinary fine is $100, then the judge could set a $400 fine — plus costs.

And that's just what he did! At last report, the drunk was still in jail.

Meantime, Judge Williams is getting a reputation for being a very fair — but firm — judge and for assessing some pretty stiff fines.

The defendant who is brought before Judge Williams isn't likely to get off with a little lecture on the evils of hot check writing or too much John Barleycorn. He isn't much for the routine, "naughty, naughty, next time you are bad you're going to land in the jug."

Because in Judge Williams' court chances are that you are going there right off, especially now that Article 61 is in the penal code.

Incidentally, the name of the drunk who was assessed the $400-plus-costs fine will be revealed by the Journal if anyone is that much interested.

Big Hereford ... It's Next On Mule List!

Muleshoe Mules have another of the "big ones" on schedule this week. The Mules go 13

With the Journal Staff

Bailey county voters favored six of the proposed constitutional amendments in Tuesday's special election, following pretty much the state-wide trend. Voters in county favored No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 5, No. 6 and No. 8. Vote by issues, with "for" listed first, was as follows: No. 1, 225, 126; No. 2, 203, 145; No. 3, 232, 111; No. 4, 155, 199; No. 5, 227, 115; No. 6, 244, 104; No. 7, 110, 207; No. 8, 216, 124; No. 9, 147, 201; and No. 10, 122, 220. State-wide the proposal to increase state terms to four years was defeated, but most other amendments were favored by Texans.

Muleshoe Country Club named these new officers: Don Bryant, president; Earl Richards, vice-president; James (Sugar) Glaze, secretary-treasurer; and Houston Hart and Bill Jim St. Clair, new board members. The club held its annual membership meeting at the clubhouse Wednesday evening.

Wildcat Re-Entry Test Scheduled In County

C. L. Craig and Julian B. Smith of Plainview have scheduled a re-entry wildcat, No. 1-A Dewey Ross, 12 miles southwest of Muleshoe in central Bailey County.

The operation will deepen a 2,383-foot dry hole to 3,000 feet for tests of the Queen zone. It is 467 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of Labor 8, League 170, Hale County School Land survey.

The No. 1 Dewey Ross, 660 feet from the south and east lines of Labor 24, League 171, is reportedly recovering frac-oil as well as an undetermined amount of new oil at a depth of approximately 2,600 feet in the Queen formation after perfring and sand oil frac.

Hereford for a conference game that should see plenty of action with both teams trying to avenge unhappy experiences from last week.

The Mules lost to Tulia 28-0, and the Hereford Whitefaces lost a moral victory; they wound up in a 13-13 tie in a battle with Perryton Rangers.

Of that game, the Sunday Brand said: "The score was 13-13 with eight minutes left in the game. And after the final second had elapsed, it remained the same, although the 'Faces and Perryton's Rangers exchanged possession of the ball six times in between in a finish which kept the 4000 on-lookers on their feet."

At the start it had looked like a Hereford victory; the Whitefaces had jumped to a 7-0 lead in the game and continued to hold the advantage at halftime, 13-6. But a blocked punt gave Perryton the TD it needed to tie things up four minutes into the final quarter.

Fire Flattens Old Barracks

Two fires, one of which may have involved arson, left slight damage to one building, but totally destroyed an old Spanish-American barracks, at the east edge of Muleshoe.

The barracks, ready to collapse by the time firemen could reach the scene, left two families homeless shortly after noon Tuesday.

The second blaze, occurring at 7:30 that evening, did slight damage to the Barrett Potato shed. Chief Earl Ladd said there were "indications the second blaze may have been started", probably by children playing in the building.

SPOOKS EVERYWHERE — Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce staged its second annual spook parade for the small fry last Saturday afternoon. The parade got off to a late start, the reason: There were just so many participants that it took the judges more than an hour to pick the winners. Here are some of the spooks getting ready to march. Spooks, 3 to 14, March in Second Halloween Parade

Spooks, pint-sized and some jigger sized, strutted down Main Street Saturday in the second annual Chamber of Commerce Halloween parade, and when the smoke had cleared away, Shannon DeVaney, Mary Perez, Gene Rogers, Keith Buice, Nora Gonzales and Joyce and Carol Camp had been picked as winners.

Abernathy Man Again is Winner

Joe Dell Hoster, Box 845, Abernathy, again was winner of the Journal's weekly football guessing game, with a perfect score on all the college games and only slightly off on the tie-breaker.

He missed the Muleshoe-Tulia score on the tie-breaker by only four points. He figured a 27-3 win for Tulia, and the final score was 28-0.

Bucky Taylor, 701 E. Birch, Muleshoe, placed second. He had three wrong guesses and his Muleshoe-Tulia prediction was off 18 points.

The contest continues this week. Rules will be found on Page Four.

Schools Set Open House For Parents

Parents will trek to school next week to see how Junior is making out in his school work this year.

To see the improvements made in school plants, including one entirely new building and additions to others.

This announcement was made Wednesday by Superintendent of Schools Neal Dillman, who said the school program is all part of the American Education Week slated for Nov. 7 through Nov. 13.

lake comes here for the opening game of the 1965-66 cage season.

Flooring also is being replaced in the old DeShazo gymnasium, badly damaged by rain several weeks ago after a chimney at the old building being razed crashed through the gym roof.

American Education Week has been proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson, himself a one-time teacher.

In proclaiming Nov. 7-13 as American Education Week, the President said:

"I urge parents to acquaint themselves fully with both the problems and the promise of their schools. And I urge each community to study the needs of its schools and to use all the resources at its command to make equal educational opportunity a reality for all Americans."

Mindful of the 1965 AEW theme of "Invest in Learning," the President noted in his proclamation that education brings benefits without limits.

"It endows men not only with the ability to make a living, but with the precious capacity to live with purpose."

Calling education the "richest legacy this generation can bequeath to the next," President Johnson warned that Americans must strive to enrich the educational system so that the benefits of education will be available to all.

— See SCHOOLS, Page Five —

Parents will visit junior and senior high schools Monday evening, get acquainted with Junior's teachers in those two schools and, in turn, receive a first-hand report of Junior's scholastic progress," Dillman explained.

"Then the following night they will visit Mary DeShazo, Richland Hills and Hilltop for the same purpose. Of course at all schools they will see many improvements, and those who visit Mary DeShazo, of course, will see a completely new building."

Meantime, progress is being made at all the buildings which were not completed before the opening of school. Dillman said the laying of maple flooring in the new junior high gymnasium is under way. That gym, of course, will be used also for varsity ball games, the first coming up Nov. 23 when Spring

Election, Micronaire, Skip-Row All on Cotton Schedule

Cotton farming yearly becomes more and more complicated, and this year is no exception. The cotton farmer has an election coming up Nov. 23, and then he's finding that he's bumping into rulings this season on micronaire and skip-row cotton farming.

The election is nothing new; cotton referendums have been held for many years. November 23 is the date that has been set for a growers' referendum on marketing quotas for the 1966 crop of upland cotton, according to Charles Daniel, Bailey County ASCS manager.

He says that the ASCS committee will meet soon to set up the election procedure. Ernest Locker, Muleshoe, is chairman and other members are Pete Tarlton, Maple, and Chester Setliff, Bula.

The national acreage allotment for the 1966 crop has been announced at 16 million acres, the smallest permitted under present law in view of the supply-demand situation; a national reserve of 200,000 acres has also been announced to take care of minimum farm allotments.

The national marketing quota for 1966 crop upland cotton is 15,267,000 bales.

Notices of individual farm allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the referendum.

The chairman pointed out that the farm bill, now awaiting signature by the President, contains a number of changes in provisions of law for upland cotton. While it does not change the requirement for establishing by Oct. 15 a national acreage allotment and marketing quota, as announced, it would enable producers to voluntarily reduce their cotton plantings and become eligible for income-maintaining payments if marketing quotas are approved.

Details of the new cotton program will be announced as soon as possible after it is enacted into law. The new program should result in a lower production than the announced national marketing quota.

Farmers who engaged in the production of the 1965 upland cotton crop will be eligible to vote in the Nov. 23 referendum. If at least two-thirds of those voting approve the marketing quotas, the quotas will continue in effect.

If quotas are not approved for the 1966 upland cotton crop, allotment program will remain in effect and price support at 50 percent of parity will be available to growers keeping their cotton acreage within the farm allotment. Meantime, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. pointed to the matter of micronaire readings and changes in skip-row planting regulations.

Micronaire, or fiber fineness, is a fiber quality factor useful in determining spinning potential. PCG pointed out. Mill men and the trade have used "mike" readings to adjust cotton prices for some time. Speaking for PCG, Executive vice-president Donald A. Johnson said: "Cotton farmers here and elsewhere generally find little or no basis for criticizing micronaire premiums and discounts on cotton that goes into the loan.

"Even so," Johnson said, "High Plains farmers do have a legitimate gripe. The premiums and discounts were injected into the program just as the High Plains is beginning harvest operations while most of the cotton from other areas is already sold or in the loan."

PCG has a complete breakdown of the micronaire reading schedule. Of far greater import to the High Plains were the changes made in skip-row planting regulations. These, in effect, levy acreage penalties on farmers who use skip-row patterns leaving less than four blank rows between rows of cotton.

Says PCG: "It will be noted that the patterns which involve skipping four rows were not changed from present methods. But the most widely used planting systems on the Plains have been two in-one out and two in-two out.

"For producers whose moisture conditions require that they plant in one of these patterns the change simply means from 18 to 23 percent reduction in the land on which they can plant their allotments.

"As an example, a farmer with a 100 acre cotton allotment this year could plant two in-one out and scatter his cotton over 150 acres of land. Next year if he utilized the same system he could only cover 115.5 acres with the same allotment — a 23 percent cut.

"With a two in-two out pattern, he could have planted a 100 acre allotment on 200 acres this year. In 1966, using the same pattern, he will have to stop at 153.8 acres — 18.1 percent less.

Hereford

The Hereford coach, Jack Meredith, in summing up the Ranger-Whiteface game, said Hereford's defensive exhibition was the best this year, stymying Perryton's tries on many occasions.

Among those who did good jobs for Hereford's defensive outfit (and they will be trying to stop Muleshoe's scoring drives this week) were Mike Davis, Bill Watts, Ed Mims and Ricky Fangman.

The Whitefaces — following the first play — had no indecision when it came to calling the Rangers the most powerful team they have faced this year, Meredith said.

Halfback Greg Richards dashed 57 yards to Perryton's 20 to set up the first score (aen Drummond rounded end and dashed to the touchdown. Richards boot was good to make it 7-0.

With two minutes left in the first quarter, the Rangers evened things up, however, after recovering a second Whiteface fumble.

Hereford managed to keep a drive alive by way of a penalty against the Rangers, then quarterback Steve Hodges shot a pass to end Roger Owen, which was good for 45 yards and the Herd's second touchdown.

Trying from the seven for two extra points, Drummond was stopped short of the goal, leaving Hereford with a six-point margin. Hereford stopped a Perryton drive on the Herd's 17 in the fourth quarter.

Then a penalty put Hereford in a third and ten situation on the 17, then Hodges' punt was blocked by the Rangers' D'Allen Miller. He picked up the ball on the second bounce, then scored to tie up the game.

In demanding that the educational needs of the Nation must be assessed and those needs met, the President placed himself on record as supporting the original purpose of American Association and the American Legion. (Later the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers joined as sponsors.)

Begun 44 years ago to correct conditions that allowed an alarmingly high proportion of youth to be illiterate and physically unfit, AEW through the years has been traditionally a time for parents and other interested citizens to visit the schools to see for themselves not only the great current needs, but also the achievements of education.

ities, the overall theme, "Invest in Learning" will be spelled out day by day during the week by focus on the following sub-themes:

Sunday, Nov. 7: Strengthening of moral and spiritual values in developing the student's ability to form his own opinions and judgments.

Tuesday, Nov. 9: Personal fulfillment through the customary formal education and then building upon it with each new experience at every stage of life.

God Bless...

God bless Mommie, Daddie, and all my friends at church...

"Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God."

God's word has a great deal to say about prayer, for prayer is our means to communicate with God. Through prayer we can give thanks, petition for our friends, and seek God's wisdom for our daily living.

Make prayer a daily practice in your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

"we hope those who have not been contacted will send in their checks direct to campaign headquarters."

The campaign this year seeks $13,500 to be divided among 10 agencies which exist solely on funds raised here, it was explained.

Lamb estimates the campaign will run through the first two weeks of November, and he considers this as "making good time" since the campaign didn't open until the middle of October.

The possibility of a "victory celebration" is being considered at the end of the drive, Lamb said.

Battle Shaping Up On Poll Tax Issue

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — State attorneys are set to make a hard-nosed defense of the Texas poll tax law now under federal court attack.

Pre-trial conferences in the suit were held quietly here and in San Antonio last week. Trial date has been postponed from mid-November to Dec. 1 in order to allow both sides more time for preparation.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Hawthorne Phillips scheduled a flight to Washington this week to take a deposition from U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach in effort to show that Katzenbach once testified before Senate Judiciary Committee that Texas' poll tax is not discriminatory toward Negroes.

In view of late trial date and certain appeals to U. S. Supreme Court regardless of initial ruling here, the three-judge trial court issued a statement in effect advising Texans who want to be sure they qualify to vote in state and local elections next year to pay their poll taxes.

Leaders of massive poll tax drives just now getting under way already had concluded there was no other safe course. Outlook now is that if repeal is ordered, first major state and national elections affected will be those of 1968.

Workman's Comp. Rate — State Insurance Board staff has recommended revised workmen's compensation rates that will result in average reduction of 2.9 per cent for Texas employers.

Rates for some of 600 categories will advance, others will be substantially slashed. Overall effect is a decrease. Same rating formula produced a 2.3 per cent increase last year. Board Chairman Wm. Hunter McLean concluded that the industrial safety record of Texas businesses has improved.

Board Thursday (Oct. 21) held public hearing on the recommended slash, which would reduce premiums about $4,500,000 next year.

Rulings — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr cleared the way for state participation in two federal welfare programs.

In one opinion, he held that State Department of Public Welfare can pay out of federal allocations cost (estimated at $5,000,000 a year) of training adults to become self-sufficient. In another, he said Department can set up advisory committees, with state agency employees as members, and pay their travel expenses out of federal allotments when they are working on such federal programs as day care services for children.

Other rulings by Carr held that:

— Department of Public Welfare may make a contract with a private insurance company for the protection of trainees on various projects and pay for the premiums with money from the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

— A substitute member of a joint board appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a federal employe and he may receive his salary for his services as an examiner for the Texas Railroad Commission.

— No license is required for a beauty shop at the rest home operated by Order of Easter Star for retired members.

— Mixed fertilizers must be registered prior to distribution, but those falling below minimum chemical content (less than 24 per cent of nitrogen, phosphorus or potassium cannot be registered).

— Dallas County school trustees are not liable when school buses are used for extracurricular activities under outlined procedures.

— Jefferson County auditor's maximum salary is $15,000, with a minimum of $1,200 allotted for his service to special districts.

College Board Meets — During its second meeting, the new Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, unanimously endorsed proposed constitutional amendments to create $85,000,000 student loan fund and to boost state property tax five cents for building purposes at 17 institutions.

Board also heard report that public junior colleges face potential financial crisis due to a 35 per cent jump in enrollments and fixed level of appropriations.

Members certified adequate financing is in sight for new higher education programs approved by Board's predecessor agency and gave clearance to a million dollar repair program for 1966.

They further agreed to participate in the new federal program to establish regional technical services and accepted job of administering the higher education facilities (building aid) act.

Board will meet again Nov. 15.

Appointments — Gov. John Connally named Dr. Noble Price of Lamesa and Dr. William Kenneth Thurmond of Fort Worth to State Board of Health. He reappointed Dr. Hampton C. Robinson, chairman, to another term.

Dr. Richard M. Botard of Kingsville and Dr. Kenton R. Fickes of Houston have been appointed by the Governor of the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. They succeed Dr. Max Pachar of Orange and Dr. Victor L. Kothmann of Mason.

Al Ramirez, Mayor of Edinburg, is Connally's choice for Deputy Director of Migrant Programs in the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity. He will coordinate all migrant-related programs under the Economic Opportunity Act.

Victor B. Fain, publisher of the Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel, was named a member of the Texas Commission on Indian Affairs, succeeding the late W. R. Beaumier, publisher of the Lufkin Daily News.

Three members, reappointed to the Board of Regents of Lamar State College of Technology, are Garland Shepherd and J. B. Morris of Beaumont and A. H. Montague of Orangefield.

Edwin N. McKay of Waco has been named Legislative Director for the Texas Farm Bureau. He is charged with coordination of state and national legislative activities of the Bureau and policy development of its training programs.

Texas Hospital Association appointed Spencer Guimarin of Austin as director of its $12,000,000 health careers program, designed to recruit youngsters into health service.

State Bar of Texas named Walter C. Holloway IV of Dallas as its assistant general counsel.

Beautification Act — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, concerned with security of federal highway funds for Texas, asked the Legislative Council to make a study of the new Federal Highway Beautification Act.

Act would control outdoor advertising and junkyards along highways and provide for landscaping and scenic enhancement. States failing to comply by January 1, 1968, would be penalized in federal aid allotments.

About 17,500 miles of interstate and federal-aid primary highways in Texas are affected by the law. Smith asked the Council to determine effect on city zoning ordinances and type of new state legislation needed to comply.

Courts Speak — Fifty-third District Court here approved settlement of suit brought by a West Texas group to halt construction of $20,000,000 Robert Lee Dam in Coke County.

Out of court settlement guaranteed Colorado City water service equal to that of cities in Colorado River Municipal Water District. City had filed suit to cancel the permit for the dam granted by Texas Water Commission on September 1.

State Supreme Court agreed with lower courts that state has no authority to require Southern Pacific Railroad Company to employ five-man and three-man train crews because they operate in interstate commerce.

Rail Car Shortage — A critical shortage of rail cars confronts the West Texas grain harvest areas, reports Agriculture Commissioner John White.

White said top officials of three railroads assure that priority consideration is being given to sending new hopper cars to the loading areas.

West Texas problem is part of nationwide shortage of rail cars for moving harvest from temporary storage to major shipping points. Shortage, White said, leads to increased handling costs and sometimes vulnerable exposure of crops awaiting shipment.

Financing For Civilian Workers At Bases Studied

WASHINGTON — Congressman Walter Rogers said that the defense department is drafting a plan to assist uniformed and civilian homeowners who face financial losses because their jobs are terminated at military installations ordered closed. The plan is to be completed for review by Defense Secretary McNamara by mid-November, Congressman Rogers said he was informed.

"This is good news because for weeks it appeared that the defense department was doing nothing to implement Housing Act provisions aimed at giving relief to homeowners affected by base closings," Congressman Rogers said. "If the plan is a good one, it will offer extremely important help to residents of Amarillo and other U. S. cities near military installations being closed."

Congressman Rogers also expressed hope that Congress would move swiftly in the session beginning in January to provide funds for Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration programs to assist distressed homeowners in areas near affected bases. Congressional action completed last week failed to appropriate a proposed $1 million — $500,000 for each agency — with which mortgage relief could be offered under provisions of the new housing act.

"The problem was simply this: the appropriations committees were erroneously led to believe that no one in the vicinity of these closing bases wished to apply for the relief authorized in the new housing law enacted in August," Congressman Rogers said. "No one had applied because the FHA and VA had not outlined the application procedures — and they had not done so because they were waiting for an appropriation to begin the program. It was a tragic round-robin of misunderstanding and poor communication."

The Congressman said he was encouraging homeowners in the Amarillo area to prepare "informal applications" which he would make available to the appropriate agencies and committees.

"Under terms of the Housing Act, civilian base employees who lose their jobs as a result of a base closure and are unemployed and thus are unable to make mortgage payments could be assisted, if money is appropriated to assist them," Congressman Rogers said. "All of us who know of this problem are doing our best to be sure this appropriation is made."

It's Hunting Time Again, So State Comes Up With Dates, Bag Limits

The annual Texas sportsmen's grab bag — free hunts on management areas — will accommodate 2,680 big game hunters, according to the Texas Wildlife Department. Thousands apply.

Last year, 21,767 persons applied for permits to harvest surplus as a part of the Department's game management program.

In 1964, hunters on the management areas bagged 970 deer against a desired kill of 1,070 surplus head. The success ratio for the 2,689 hunters was 35.9 per cent.

Big game hunts will be on the Black Gap Area in Brewster County and Sierra Diablo Area in Culberson County, both in far west Texas; the Gene Howe Area in the Panhandle; and the Engeling and Angelina (Cherokee Unit) Areas in deep East Texas.

Small game hunters will get action in a quail hunt on the Gene Howe Area near Canadian, in the Panhandle, and squirrel hunts on the Engeling and Angelina (Cherokee and Devil's Pocket Units) Areas in East Texas. The first area shoots will be for squirrel hunters.

In 1964, the largest combined bag of 213 antlerless and 159 antlered deer or a total of 372 mule deer, was taken on the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area in Brewster County which has been authorized 1,000 permits for this fall. Details cited.

Rats Must Go

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — This capital of Argentina has three million people — and three million rats.

That, anyway, is what a group of expert exterminators estimated in a report submitted to City Hall this week.

The modern "Pied Pipers" said it will take them up to six months to bring the rodents under control — at a cost of 271.7 million pesos, about $1.5 million at the official exchange rate.

There are black rats, gray rats and even some albino rats — the experts estimate — there will be three rats for every man, woman and child within three years unless the city does something about it quick.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editors note: The Sandhill's Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on a different angle in the Who-Discovered-America controversy.

Dear Editor:

According to three different newspapers which turned up on the same day on this Johnson grass farm last week, a record so far, there is now some doubt whether Columbus was the first man to discover America.

As I understand it, some professors at Yale University have come up with a document showing two other fellows discovered America and drew a map of it years before Columbus came over. This has thrown the historians into a tizzy and has made a lot of Italians mad.

I was talking to a friend of mine about this who has a college degree and he said he had been thinking it over and had come to the conclusion it's possible the Yale professors have been the victim of a fraud.

His theory is that the map is fictitious, that it was drawn on worm-eaten paper and planted by present-day descendants of Columbus who had just as soon he hadn't done it.

"Discovering America seemed like a fine thing at the time," he said he could hear his descendant's saying, "but now...

I don't know that I go along with this theory, but you reckon on if the Supreme Court hears about that map and believes it it'll throw out all the examination papers of everybody who went to school and passed American History by answering Columbus to the question, Who discovered America? Why I'll bet even everybody on the Yale faculty would have to take first-grade History over again, or lose his teaching certificate.

I hadn't thought the Supreme Court could top some of its decisions, but when the day comes it rules everybody in the United States is uneducated, I'll take my hat off to it, if the weather is pleasant.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Doctoring Or Killing Hogs, It Was Do It Yourself In Early Days

By Sena Stevens
 "Some things are of that nature as to make one's fancy chuckle, while his heart doth ache"
 John Banyan

In appreciation of this information given to me by Mrs. W. A. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bickel, Fred Determan, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rubinec, and Elmo Stevens.

Pleasant Valley is the thriving, prosperous community in the northwest corner of Lamb County. The slogan of our community is "Pleasant Valley, a Good Crop Every Year" and it could as well be "Pleasant Valley, a Good Place to Live."

The good people who work together, play together enjoy success and help each other in trouble, make up a community which has been built on a solid foundation and which continues to grow steadily.

We, who are justly proud of our community, like to have others know about it, often we go back in memory to the early days, history is the true gauge of progress and those who turned our fields from grass land, laid off our first roads and built the first school are the ones to be remembered, they laid the foundation for what we are and what we have today.

In 1920 and 1921 the highway from Muleshoe to Olton was being built. It was a mile north of the present Highway 70, through Pleasant Valley. In the descriptions of locations of the old farms I will use the present local roads and the highway. There were few families in the community at that time. Mr. A. W. Coker was a cowboy who lived in what was then called "The East Camp" which was located one mile north of the highway, up Central Ave. and one-half mile east. Mr. Fort lived on what was later called "the Willis Branscom Place" which is north of the highway on Farm Road 303. Mr. and Mrs. Hare, their daughter, Julie, and son, Roy, lived on the county line road and Ave. C. Mr. Jube Crawford and his family lived on what is still often called "the Crawford place" and is located two miles north of the highway on County Line Road. A Mr. Sweet lived on a place owned by Mr. Lavigne and later called the "Lavigne Place. It is one mile north of the highway on the county line road. Mr. and Mrs. Bickel and their family lived one and one-half miles north of the highway on the County Line Road. The Carl Goff family lived one mile north of the highway on the Pleasant Valley Road. The Moller family lived one mile south of what was called the Crook Place, on Ave. B and later the Rubinec family lived there.

South of them, one-half mile was the Axtell family. Fred north of the highway on the County line road. Tony Determan lived one-half mile man lived on Ave. B and the Pleasant Valley Road and later Fred Determan lived there, and it is still known as the Determan Place. The Pleasant Valley School was just across the road west of the Determan Place. Mr. R. L. Brown and Elmo Stevens were building a house one-fourth mile west and three miles north of the highway on the Pleasant Valley Road. Mr. Brown had brought D. and Rosie Moon here and they were the first colored people in the community. They lived here until D's death when Rosie moved to Clovis so her son and daughter could go to school. There were 14 families in all.

The first school teacher was Miss Virgie Angeley, later Mrs. Hap Bearden. Mrs. De Shazo and a Mr West taught and in 1925 to 1929 Miss Jewell Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stevens taught. The school began sending Pleasant Valley pupils to Sudan School by bus.

In 1921 fields were being fenced for protection against range cattle and irrigation of crops had begun. The Bickel Moel-ler, Fyie, Sweet and Crawford farms had irrigation wells. These first ones were set in deep pits and not like the modern wells of today. People knew little about irrigation, or leveling land, and putting the water where it was wanted, but they began and out of their trial and work has come our profitable farming methods.

Pleasant Valley residents of 1921 used teams of horses and mules for farming. Gardens were irrigated from windmills. Trees were set out and water carried in buckets to water them. In 1922 or 1923 Mrs. S. Vance, Faulkner, and Brown began selling ranch land for farms. A new house was built on the corner of Ave. B and Central Road to give prospective buyers lodging while they were being shown the land for sale. Many people bought land but never moved here. Others moved their families, went to work building a new life. Well remembered by most of us today are the W. A. Stevens, J. R. Moores, Puchells, Vernons, Schultz, Eskridges, Edgar Broyles, L. Stephens, Tiptons, and Ashford families. Shortly after these families came, the Horsburger, Worthlein, Angeley, Rodgers and other families.

In these early days, recreation was not thought — it was home-made. These first families were close, getting together to celebrate birthdays, taking good food to eat, spending the day visiting. It was on a Sunday and this "Birthday Club" was the first community club and it lasted for many years — even after a home demonstration club had been formed. There were no Christmas trees or ornaments to be bought but many times large tumble weed was used, decorated with pretty trinkets in the farm homes, and with popped corn strung and colored papers. There was no lack of Christmas Spirit. Rabbit drives were a community event. The men spread out to work abreast across a section of land, shooting rabbits as they flushed them.

The women and children gathered at farm homes where they prepared food for the noon meal and visited and sometimes quilted. Hog-killing days marked the beginning of winter. Families killed hogs, rendered lard in big iron pots in the yard, salted down bacon and hams, making sausage, and dividing the fresh meat among the neighbors. Chilling bread was always baked for dinner on hog-killing day. Nothing could be wasted — even the cracklings from the lard was made into soap to be used for laundering clothes the rest of the year. The woman took great pride in the quality of soap she could make, and in the whiteness of the clothes she hung out to dry. Most women baked "light bread once or twice a week from "ever-lasting" yeast. If one lost the starter yeast a neighbor saved an extra amount when she baked to replace it.

There was a Dr. Matthews in Muleshoe, but people seldom went to a doctor except for broken bones or something very serious. These people were experienced in nursing and went gladly to any home to help out for as long as they were needed to nurse the sick, cook, clean and care for a new-born baby.

Not every family owned a car, nor were there many roads on which to drive them. Except for the highway, which was not paved, the roads were just usable trails. When the lumber for the house Mr. Brown and Elmo Stevens were building was hauled from Muleshoe it had to go by the old E. R. Hart place in Bailey County, then north and east by U. L. ranch then to the Crawford place and across a pasture to the building site — a long bumpy route. To have gone south from Pleasant Valley to Muleshoe was a sandy strip and there were two gates to be opened and closed and a trail then could be followed into Muleshoe by way of the stock yards. People bought some coal for fuel to be used sparingly during the most severe winter weather but the most commonly used fuel was gathered in sacks from the range land around.

In the early 1930s, tractors began replacing the horses and mules on the farms and farmers began farming larger acreages. Irrigation began to be used by more farmers in the 1940s and by 1947, and 1948 nearly all farms had at least one well. Electricity had come to the farm by R.E.A. and farm life was much easier. Trees that had been planted and watered by hand had grown and added beauty to the community. The trees are living monuments to the first families — their hopes, their willingness to work for a place of beauty and abundance for themselves and their children — and the result; Pleasant Valley, our community — our home.

Explore, Kentucky
 LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Being one who believes in advertising the state, Ed Easterly had an "Explore Kentucky" tag attached to the license plate slot on the front of his car.

He stopped at one small town later, and the proprietor of a store walked over, looked at the tag and shook his head.

"Where exactly are you folks from?" he asked. "I thought I knew this state pretty well, but I sure ain't never heard of Explore, Ky."

Need To Get A Dinner In A Hurry? Then Serve Fried Chicken In Basket

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

When we're in a hurry, and guests are coming for supper, we sometimes offer a chicken-in-the-basket main course. This is one of the easiest ways of serving that we know.

The chicken is fried ahead and about half an hour before the meal, it goes into the oven to get piping hot and crisp. We have shallow rectangular baskets ready, lined with paper napkins filled with potato sticks, finger salad (cherry tomatoes) and celery — plain or stuffed) and tiny paper cups filled with water-melon pickle. The chicken is quickly added to the baskets and then the guests "come and get it."

The baskets are inexpensive ones that we picked up in a basket shop here in New York. They're the kind into which a glass baking dish (11 3/4 by 7 1/2 by 1 3/4 inches) fits, so a few of them do double duty. We have some smaller round baskets in which we offer dessert — usually fresh fruit and bar or crisp cookies. The coffee goes into paper cups; if it is hot, we use the cups in plastic holders. If we serve iced coffee, we use tall paper cups or glasses.

One of the good things about this plan, as you'll find if you try it, is that there's little cleanup for the cook to do.

The following recipe for fried chicken gives a very crisp coating. In dipping the chicken pieces into the seasoned flour, the egg mixture and back into the seasoned flour, use both hands. Reserve one hand for use with dry flour, the other for use with the egg mixture. Or you might prefer to use tongs.

Make-Ahead Fried Chicken
2 broiler-fryers (about 2 pounds each)

1 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons paprika
1 egg
1-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
shortening.

Have each chicken cut into 10 pieces; use necks, giblets and wing tips in some other dish. Wash and drain chicken, but do not dry.

In a shallow dish (a pie plate is fine) stir together the flour, salt and paprika. In another shallow dish beat the egg enough to blend yolk and white; stir in milk and lemon juice.

Mixture will look curdly. Roll chicken pieces in the seasoned flour, dip in egg mixture, and then roll again in the seasoned flour. Let chicken stand about 20 to 30 minutes for the coating to dry. If necessary, sprinkle flour over moist spots.

Heat the shortening in a large skillet (10 or 11 inches); add as many chicken pieces, skin side down, as will go in without crowding. Use moderate heat and fry until golden brown on one side — about 15 minutes. Turn and brown other side — 10 to 15 minutes or until cooked through. Continue frying this way until all chicken is cooked, adding more shortening if necessary. Drain on absorbent paper and cool. Cover and refrigerate. Before serving line a large shallow pan with foil and place chicken on it. Heat in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 20 to 30 minutes or until chicken is thoroughly hot and coating is crisp. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
