Crime Rate Soars East Of University Avenue

By PAT CARLSON Avalanche-Journal Staff

If you live or work in an area east of University Avenue, particularly between 4th Street and 34th Street, your chances of falling victim to certain crimes are disproportionately greater than those of residents in any other part of Lubbock.

Based on a 176.812 population figure, about 10 per cent of all Lubbockites live in an area bounded by Avenue A-University Avenue and 4th Street-34th Street. However, from April 1977 until January, 23.58 per cent of police calls came

During all of 1977, part of that same area led the city in reported business burglaries with 123. It also had the second-highest number of business robberies during the 12 months

An adjoining section just east of Texas Tech University saw many of the city's residential break-ins - almost 13 per cent - even though less than 5 per cent of

Lubbock's population is concentrated there. The one-square-mile area between Avenue Q-University Avenue and 4th Street-19th Street also had the third-highest number of business robberies and the second-highest number of rapes in the

The only parts of town west of University Avenue showing appreciable crime rates during 1977 were northside sections bounded by Quaker Avenue and extending to Regis Street. The southernmost portions of these areas, however, border on the other high-crime sections around 4th Street and University Ave-

Not all types of crime have been considered geographically. For example there were 33 homicides in the city last year. However, the relatively small number would offer a distorted view if computed on the basis of the 18 areas used by the Lubbock Police Department.

Until recently, little useful data other than number of reported incidents was available on the Lubbock crime situation. Now, thanks to a foreseeable computer system, LPD is pinning its hopes on being able to retrieve reams of information with the push of a button

On April 1, 1977 LPD initiated a new reporting system, whereby detailed information on crimes, victims and suspects now are recorded. Even though the computer system is not yet operational, the three-man Planning, Research and Evaluation Division has been compiling the long-needed data manually for the

Capt. Frank Wiley, Sgt. Don Bridgers and Cpl. Gordon Hoffman have spent the past few months detailing the multi-faceted crime situation in Lubbock, with some useful results.

City Jury Convicts Hinojosa

By FRANK PATRICK

Avalanche-Journal Staff Robert Torrez Hinojosa was convicted today of aggravated assault in connection with a 1976 shooting incident that left a Texas Tech University student paralyzed. Jurors in Judge Robert C. Wright's 137th District Court deliberated about 45 minutes before returning the verdict.

The panel apparently heeded the words of prosecutors Phil Gamble and Bob Jones, who argued the 23-year-old defendant had deliberately fired the bullet which lodged in the spinal cord of Walter O "Trey" Ford III.

When you fire a gun in the direction of a crowd of people, you know somebody is going to get shot," Jones said.

The defendant had taken the witness stand Wednesday to claim he had tried to fire over the heads of a group of Tech students in order to frighten them after an argument. Gamble said it was impossible to "look into somebody's head to examine their motives," but said the results spoke for themselves.

Actions sometimes speak louder than words," he argued. "We know for a fact one of those bullets hit Trey Ford." Gamble argued that "people in this community have the right to go places at

Talks In Cairo Fail To Break Deadlock

Minister Ezer Weizman flew to Egypt today and hurried into a meeting with President Anwar Sadat, but Cairo radio said afterward that the session made no progress toward resumption of peace

Following the meeting. Weizman and aides left Sadat's villa for further consultation with Egyptian officials. There was no indication how long the Israeli minister would remain in Egypt.

War Minister Mohammed Abdel Ghani el-Gamassy, Egypt's representative at Weizman's previous negotiations on Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert, was waiting at Cairo airport with a helicopter when Weizman landed aboard a carnouflage-painted Hercules C-130 transport.

The two defense chiefs took off at once for Sadat's villa north of Cairo. Reporters were kept at a distance from the house and were not allowed to speak to Weizman or Sadat. But the radio quoted an Egyptian spokesman as saying after the two-hour meeting that "the stance is the same" on the reconvening of negotiations in Egyptian-Israeli military and political committees

"The work of the two committees has stopped and the two committees will not meet until a new basis has been created identified official was quoted as saying.

According to the radio report, Sadat and Weizman also discussed Israel's occupation of south Lebanon, and Weizman assured the Egyptian leader that Israeli forces would withdraw as soon as the U.N. peacekeeping contingent for Lebanon is fully deployed.

Cairo radio said Gamassy and Egyptian Vice President Hosny Mubarak also attended the meeting. Photographers allowed a brief picture-taking session said an unidentified Israeli aide was present

Carter Disavows Rift With Begin

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) - President Carter today declared his confidence in Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin as a leader "completely capable" of negotiating peace in the Middle East.

Carter said the Begin government has the ability and the flexibility to come to terms with Egypt and other Arab na-

But Carter told a timed-for-television news conference that he can offer no clear solution to the most intractable of Middle East disputes, Begin's refusal to commit his government to ultimate withdrawal from occupied Arab lands.

Carter dismissed as completely false reports in Washington and Jerusalem that administration officials had said Begin stands in the way of settlement and that peace prospects would be better without

On the U.S. economy, the president disclosed that he plans to announce an antiinflation program soon after he returns home next week from his trip to South America and Africa.

Carter said his administration "during the last couple of weeks has been evolving a complete analysis of what we can do" about inflation. Asked whether the program would change the voluntary nature of the government's current anti-inflation efforts, the president said: "I'll address the details when I get back

The questions at the news conference alternated between Brazilian and U.S. newsmen. Carter wore an earphone to provide him with simultaneous translation from Portugese questions.

The president did not make an issue of his continuing concern over Brazil's human rights record, saying that shared concerns and friendship are more impor-

He said those common interests "bind us in harmony with Brazil."

Nonetheless, human rights and U.S. differences with Brazil over a planned nuclear power program were raised repeatedly during the news conference, broadcast by radio and television to the United States at breakfast-time in Washington.

Carter said his commitment to human rights has not faded, but culture, the common defense requirements and trade ties bind the people of Brazil and the United States together.

The president said he has no authority to stand in the way of Brazil's nuclear deal with West Germany "but as a friend of both countries we reserve the right to express an opinion." The administration's opinion is that the power development risks nuclear proliferation because it could be converted to weapons production. Brazil says it has no such intention.

Carter also took the occasion to sharply criticize the price increases posted by two major U.S. steel producers. He said the $10.50-a-ton increases are inflationary and unjustified.

On the Middle East, Carter said: "I think that Prime Minister Begin and his government are able to negotiate in an adequately flexible way to reach an agreement with Egypt and later Jordan and other countries." He also said, "We have not given up on the possibility of a negotiated settlement in the Middle

Yarbrough's Penalty Set

preme Court Associate Justice Donald B. Yarbrough today was sentenced to two to five years in prison for lying to a Travis County grand jury that was investigating forgery allegations against him.

Yarbrough, wearing a blue pinstripe suit, was called before District Judge Mace B. Thurman Jr. in a crowded courtroom. He asked the judge to have the rear door of the courtroom closed so e would not be photographed during the brief sentencing, then declined further comment before officially being seatenced on the aggravated perjury convic-

Defense attorney Waggoner Carr im mediately announced the conviction will be appealed, and Carr said he expects Yarbrough to remain free on bond pend-ing the outcome of his appeal. Yarbrough, faced with glaring television lights and a crowd of reporters as he left the courthouse, hurried away, telling the reporters, "Fellows, we'll continue this at a later time."

That was his only comment. Carr said the appeal will be based on contentions Yarbrough did not get a fair

"I don't think he'll ever have to go to prison," the attorney said. "I think everybody, whether he be a cotton chopper or a former Supreme Court justice, has a right to a fair trial, and I don't think he had one.

Carr said a major point in the appeal will be that prosecutors introduced extraneous evidence at the trial that was unrelated to the aggravated perjury charge, and that enflamed the minds of jurors against Yarbrough.

"I was really shocked at the way it was conducted. It was very unfair, that's not justice," he said. "He was convicted because he admitted he lied, but the harshness of the penalty that was given was prompted by the extraneous things brought in for which he was not supposed

Carr said Yarbrough now faces a problem of raising the money necessary to fi-nance an appeal, and said the former jus-tice must either persuade friends to prov-ide the approximately $2,000 needed, or ask the court to declare him a pauper and have the state pay the appeal costs.

Yarbrough was elected to the high court in 1976 but served only six mo

Jay Naman of Waco, president of the Texas Farmers Union, said the Wednesday announcement by Vice President Walter Mondale of $100 payments per acre for idling an additional four million acres of feed grains and an additional million acres of cotton is "a nonsensical gesture which is virtually meaningless."

Naman explained that the change amounts only to an incentive to plant the same acreage as was planted last year. In panel discussions in the past week in Austin, Houston and Dallas, he said, people wanted to discuss not the agricultu

Before announcing his council candida-

Stevens said he considers the letter 'dirty politics and a flagrant attempt to violate the nonpartisanship of the job."

Sowder contends that "partisanship already has entered the race." The reason he mailed the letter, he said, is that he was told by several Republicans that Stevens pressured them to vote for him because of party affiliation.

Stevens dismissed that claim as untrue. "I can't imagine that," he said. "As a matter of fact, when the campaign started, three of the prominent Republicans in town, including the state executive committeeman and one of the precinct chairmen as well as the party's chief legal counsel, advised me not to run against Alan, as they are his supporters."

And, Stevens said, "It would have been much easier to have campaigned had I had an organized political machine be-

Rep. Flood Undergoing Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tests are being conducted to determine if Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., has pneumonia. "Congressman Flood has a long medical history and could well do without this probable complication," Small said. Flood has been examined annually since it was diagnosed that he had cancer of the throat.

suddenly announced he was going to rob him and leaped at him with a knife. "I shot him across the counter about this far away," McClenton said, spreading his hands about two feet apart.

Paving Policy Lauded

one giant step forward in requiring that developers-and not the taxpayers-bear the cost of paving residential streets in rural subdivisions. There is still an essential extra step needed, however: State law and local practice should have teeth making it impossible to circumvent the subdivision requirements by selling off homesites without getting approval of a subdivision plat.

Commissioner Alton Brazell, who spearheaded the long fight to save the taxpayers the cost of a development's street paving, needs encouragement to take this next step.

NEW REGULATIONS adopted by the Commissioners Court will require developers to pave their streets, or make a guaranty to that effect, before their subdivision plats are approved and before lot sales be-

In the past, some developers have led prospective purchasers to believe that the County would pave the streets just as soon as a few houses were built.

LUBBOCK COUNTY Commissioners took the streets and provide utilities.

The County's new subdivision standards also specify that developers must meet private sewage facility regulations. If within five miles of the Lubbock city limits, a subdivision also must meet the City's requirements before it will be approved by the County.

This is an excellent provision, especially in regard to street and alley widths, lot depths and other standards which create conditions that City taxpavers ultimately will inherit as Lubbock grows.

NOTWITHSTANDING all these requirements, they are not worth the paper they're written on if unscrupulous developers are allowed to sell off acreage for residential development without going through the platting process.

Lawmakers and local prosecutors have been reluctant to close this gaping loophole in the law. As a result, cities throughout Texas are plagued by the growth of substandard neighborhoods which are a blight on the countryside and an inordinate drain on tax revenues.

Having made a good start, Lubbock County needs to lobby hard to stengthen the law ty, where developers are required to pave in this regard.

The juvenile center does not need to be plush. It does not need to be "over-designed." It does need to be sturdy, plain, simple and serviceable.

County Commissioners have the ultimate responsibility, along with the juvenile judges, to see to it that the building is designed and built for the most economical initial cost and operating

Just because "free" federal money will be used is no excuse to let the designers and bleeding hearts get away with extravagance in building a Juvenile Center.

Collisions Of The Begin Kind

WASHINGTON-One man, one vote; one man, one rule, are the conflicting ideas which, given time, approach and collide on a worldwide basis. Capitol Hill, golden in springtime beauty as a girl student, seemed to contradict that generalization. We could see the orderly picketing of the gant minuet of the Senate debate. Yet the Mideast was afire with one war, and another in lower Africa still smoldered. Only in America are peaceful politics and one man, one embattled farm lobby, and could watch the ele-

vote the norm. Elsewhere, it was ex-terrorist Begin of Israel versus active terrorist Yasser Arafat of the PLO. Ian Smith is still head man in minority-ruled Rhodesia versus the guerrilla gangs from the bush. So it goes from Cuba to Peking, throughout Latin America, and in the Philippines.

AND SO IT SOON may be in the power struggle between Jimmy Carter, representing the meekness of his sincere but devious democracy, and Menachem Begin, minority premier of a country which really never has been at peace, and expects to live or die by the sword.

Ever since coming to office, Carter has tried to maintain the cease-fire and disengagement of Israel with Arab allies. This specific attitude befits

He has clung gratefully to the step-by-step approach which former Secretary Kissinger hoped would lead the antagonists to the table of negotiation at Geneva. The President has received the major Mideast opponents, and paid them visits, acting in the blessed role of peacemaker, as his Bible enjoins him and as America wishes. BUT IN A SEARCHING article in the January Foreign Affairs, Prof. Amos Perlmutter (American U.) shows that docile acceptance of the status quo never was Israel's foreign policy. It is the very antithesis of Begin's 40-year career as a man Begin is the true Zionist political heir of the warlike Ben-Gurion, who retired in 1963. He left the doctrine that the country once called "mandated" Palestine be predominantly, if not absolutely, populated by Jews, with the exception of Jerusalem where the religions as well as the people mixed But the new city of Tel Aviv would be the capital of Zionism and strictly a Jewish citadel. Menachem Begin, whose rise to power was as unpredictable and unexpected as Carter's, did not waste any time asserting his militant policy of expansionism. He chose his country's three most prominent generals for his cabinet. These included, as Foreign Minister, the patcheyed Moshe Dayan, who was very good at fighting Egyptians and Syrians.

No sooner was Begin firmly in office than he increased Israel by planting, and militarizing, additional settlements in occupied lands, and this happened while Carter was diminishing the United States by the Panama Canal treaties.

The only similarity between the Israeli and American leader that Perlmutter finds is in "moral, principled, even puritanical stance and commitment." Is this going to be enough to maintain one of the most enduring alliances of the post-war period?

Characteristically, Begin reacted to a PLO terrorist raid that killed more than 30 Jews by mounting a mini-war across other nation's borders to "cut off the arm of evil."

Yet, paradoxically, the Mideast dust cannot be made to settle unless the American President and the Israeli premier-with all their wide differences-work together.

Think You Can Plow Through Farm Quiz?

SINCE THE VAST majority of us frankly admit we know next to nothing about farmers, government food and farm policies, and the deep changes occurring in U.S. farming, this quiz may help clarify some of our befuddlement about the

Q. How does protecting farmers against falling prices protect us, as city consumers, against soaring grocery bills?

A. It doesn't protect us in any one year but it does help consumers over the longer term. For it keeps our farmers from being forced out of business and it's in our interest to maintain an adequate number of farmers and enough competition to produce our food efficiently.

Today's farm policy encourages farmers to sell their output in the marketplace at whatever its value above minimum loan levels. We, as consumers, have a stake in these programs because they result in relatively low food prices.

THERE IS A trade-off between relatively low food prices and the income payments the U.S. makes to keep farmers operating.

Q. Are income supports to farmers any different fundamentally than welfare payments to other Americans?

A. Both are similar in the sense that they are income transfers through government, says Ken Farrell, acting administrator for the Agriculture Department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

But the difference is that with farm subsidies, actual commodities - such as wheat or corn change hands, while welfare payments are direct income transfers.

Q. WHY DON'T farmers cut back production themselves if they can't earn enough instead of going to the U.S. for help? Other industries don't demand subsidies when they have a bad year.

A. First, because, for any single farmer, both the weather and disease can cause disaster to his crops. He can't follow his plans or alter them eas-Second, because his costs continue to rise with inflation - especially the land, fertilizer, pesticide and machinery - whether or not he cuts back on production. Third, farmers aren't like other producers. They are scattered geographically, are individually small on average. They can't organize to con-trol production on their own, as can for instance, the steel or auto industries. Fourth, farmers traditionally have had strong supporters in Congress, and have long been a potent part of the American political scene. Thus, the informed belief is that it is in our as well as the farmer's best interest for the U.S. to try to control production to reduce the inherent instability of farm prices and to guarantee us an adequate supply of food.

Q. WHY IS A LOAF of bread more expensive today than last year when the price of wheat has fallen sharply?

A. In 1977 as a whole retail bread prices averaged about the same as in 1976 despite the fact that the value of wheat in that bread sank from 3 1/2 cents in '76 to 2 1/2 cents in '77.

What we have done is create an elaborate food processing and distribution system in the U.S. which gives us variety and convenience - and we pay for these services.

In bread, the costs of the system - bakers, millers, wholesalers, retailers, others - are so large and the amount of wheat involved so small that changes in the farm value of wheat have little impact on the final price of bread.

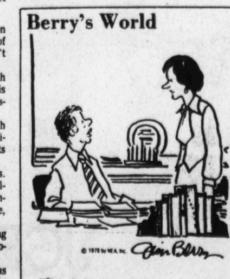

In '77, even though wheat prices fell, producing and marketing costs rose, due to higher energy, labor costs primarily. Thus keeping the retail price of bread steady.

Q. DO PRICE SUPPORT programs cover all types of agricultural commodities?

A. No. The major support programs center on food and feed grains, tobacco, peanuts and dairy products. There are no programs of this type for the livestock, poultry, fruit and vegetable indus-

In the view of the memorandum authors, this taken over by Panama, will be used to flood this country with heroin.

THE MEMORANDUM is an integral part of an effort to show why information relating to the Panamanian drug traffic is relevant to future U.S. relations with the Torrijos government.

Their contention is that Panama's takeover of customs immigration and the Courts in the Canal Zone, as proposed, will greatly increase the drug threat to the U.S. Noting that the only arrests in the "Panama connection" were made by U.S. officials in the Canal Zone, the Helms group stresses that U.S. control of Customs was and is still crucial to drug detection and enforcement in the region. "Without the Canal Zone, we would have never broken the back of the heroin trade as it existed as recently as 1972," the memorandum notes.

"We were able to do so in the face of the determined opposition of Panama. The exercise of our sovereign powers in the Canal Zone, the presence of U.S. officials on the spot, the control of the facilities and installations were the key elements

Club Offers 'Psychic Healing'

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) - Step into the Little Rock Athletic Club for a massage and you can get a "psychic healing" session instead of a routine rubdown.

Club owners Bert and Jamie McLuin say they are combining their jobs and spiritual growth by teaching methods of inner peace to their clients.

Apart from the club, they also give lectures and conduct discussion groups on personal awareness, allowing them to offer just about everything from astral projection to racquetball.

"It's not as way out as it sounds," said Mrs. McLain, a mother of three. "We just try to keep our energy up the best we

"We work with a lot of healing energy, and this is part of massage work. By relaxing and touching a person's body, I can tell what's off inside them." Passing the knowledge to the customers is part of the service Mrs. McLain said she and her husband try to render. And she said it has been readily accepted by bankers and insurance men who drop by the club for a rubdown.

'They're wanting to know what's going on inside their body," Mrs. McLain said. 'They know they're not feeling good, and they know (they need) something more than a pill.

Mrs. McLain's healing has been more along the lines of curing headaches than making cripples walk. But she described her art by saying, "In some of the religious terms, it's called laying on of

Four years ago, Mrs. McLain was an unhappy secretary in Iowa ("My energy just wasn't there") when she learned about the "gift of healing."

"I realized that my hands could talk," she said. But she was quick to add, "Anyone can do it. We just need to be more aware that we have these gifts."

While Mrs. McLain and her husband work to keep the athletic club "mentally cleansed," she said, they spend their spare time in the back of the building conducting group sessions on various forms of spiritual energy. The clientele is almost entirely different from the club, she said.

She stresses that the groups have no gurus, that the emphasis is on the powers all human beings possess for happiness. And she said the only reason to practice astral projection (projecting one's spirit outside the body) or delve into possible past lives is to apply the knowledge on a practical level in the here and now.

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) - New contracts signed by Amtrak and Missouri Pacific Lines will mean faster trains in Arkansas and possibly more punctual arrivals and separtures, Amtrak spokesman Joe Vranich has announced.

Speed limits for the Inter-American, which stops in Little Rock on its run from St. Louis to Laredo, have been in-creased, Vranich said, and the train will cut about two hours off its trip each way. No new arrival and departure times for Little Rock have been announced yet.

Vranich said the contract calls for Missouri Pacific to receive extra payments if the trains are on time 80 percent of the time during any month. By the same token, penalties will be assessed if the efficiency falls below 70 percent.

Electronic Message Program Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Postal Service announced this week an $895,000 test of an international electronic message service using satellites to transmit messages between the United States and overseas.

The program will be run jointly by the Postal Service and the Communications Satellite Corp. and will involve five or six other countries.

"There is an indicated need in today's society for a less costly and more rapid exchange of information, particularly in international communications," Postmaster General William F. Bolger said in announcing the project. He said the test with Comsat demonstrates the Postal Service's commitment to explore what its role should be in electronic communications. The contract signed by the Postal Service and Comsat calls for development of an international electronic message service system and a one-month operational demonstration in February 1979. A decision on whether to proceed with the field trial will be made before the expiration of the contract. The system will use the satellites of the International Telecommunications Satellite Organization and Comsat-operated

United States earth station facilities to send messages electronically between two sites in this country and several overseas locations. The Postal Service said New York and

Washington are being considered as the sites for the U.S. transmission points.

Bolger said the Postal Service has been looking into the use of electronic technologies to transmit mail since 1969 and currently is considering ways it might usefully become involved in electronic transmission systems within the United

The Postal Service policy has been to avoid entering the electronic field where private businesses are willing to offer such service to the American public The electronic system being tested will convert the original mail document into digital electrical signals. These signals will be transmitted by earth and satellite communication to receiving stations overseas. There, a duplicate of the original document will be made and delivered to the addressee through the mail system in those countries.

City Couple Tours Black Sea

A-J Travel Editor

A leisurely cruise of 13 days, while traveling nearly 3,000 miles, will allow a traveler to walk among the ancient ruins of beautiful Athens, shop in the exotic bazaar of Istanbul, and see a Russian city where "hero buttons" are worn with

If such a cruise with all the comforts of home seems too good to be true, then just ask Mr. and Mrs. Gene Linn of Lübbock about their Greek Isles-Black Sea

The Linns began their odyssey with a flight to Athens, Greece. Gene Linn, president of Linn Travel Agency, believes a visitor to Athens should schedule a tour of the National Museum before continuing on any tour of that part of the world.

'The museum gives you a history of the region and an understanding of the culture of the Greek people," noted Linn. "It's a good background to have before you visit the Greek Isles, Turkey and

At Piraeus, the main port for Athens, the Lubbock couple boarded the Royal Viking Sky. Describing the cruise ship as having all the comforts of home (depending on your idea of a home). The modern ship has a gymnasium, sauna, beauty and barber shop, hospital, laundry, library, movie theater, bar and lounge, post office, swimming pool, and musicians for dining and dancing

Perhaps the best part about this "home sweet home" is that it transports you to your next port of call while you sleep in comfortable quarters.

The following morning the ship cruised through the Dardanelles; it passed through the Bosporus Strait about noon time, and then under a bridge at Istan-

"It is the only bridge in the world that connects two continents," noted Mrs. Gene (Vema) Linn. "Europe is at the north end, and Asia is at the south end of Varna, Bulgaria, some 500 miles from Athens, was the first port of call. There the Lubbock couple stepped onto the soil of a Communist bloc nation, and saw one of the most important industrial and shipping cities in Europe.

'We enjoyed a luncheon there," recalled Mrs. Linn, "where a team of 30 dancers performed folk dances in native

Gene Linn's attention was drawn to a table where he sampled lamb shish ke-bab. "We were also served a vegetable salad that contained some of the best tomatoes I've ever tasted. I'll always remember there were bunches of huge black grapes on the tables for our party. Those grapes were absolutely out of this world. They were delicious!"

continued on to Odessa, Russia. The name of Odessa in Texas may have come about because of the Odessa in Russia. The Texas city is said to have acquired its name from Russian railroad laborers who compared the flat, sun drenched country to their homeland on the steppes of Russia.

The Lubbockites learned that the Bol-, shevik Revolution had its beginnings at Odessa, Russia. When some Russian sailors in 1905 became disenchanted with their working conditions under the czar, they rebelled. After the uprising was put down, 192 of the sailors had been killed. Today 192 steps, leading from the harbor to a monument of honor, commemorate the dead sailors.

"From Odessa we continued on to Yalta," said Mrs. Linn, "to tour the famous city on the Crimean Pininsula where the conference was held between Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin in 1945.'

The building where the conference was held was originally a palace built by a czar. The white Renaissance structure is located in rolling countryside approximately 10 miles from the city. It is quite evident that the 100 acres of beautifully landscaped grounds had served as a summer retreat for a czar.

"We went on a complete tour of the building," recalled Mrs. Linn, "and visited the room itself where the meeting was held. As far as I could tell, the room had not been changed since the meeting had

A large round table that can seat 20 people is in the center of the huge room. The chairs for Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin are located equidistant, one third of the way around the table, from each other. On one wall is a large painting depicting the scene of the Yalta Confer-

From the countryside of Yalta with its From the countryside of Yalta with its castles and palaces, the Lubbock couple cruised to Sochi, Russia. The area around Sochi with its vast flower gardens, parks and hot sulphur springs is considered to be the heart of the Rivera of Russia.

Most of the vacation resorts at Sochi are owned and operated by labor unions. "You'd see one that was pethaps owned by the auto manufacturers of Leningrad, or the televison set assemblers from Moscow," recalled Linn.

He explained, "The factory employees go to these vacation resorts for one or more weeks; the cost is part of the dues more weeks; the cost is part of the dues they pay. The places operate all year, and I guess the more seniority you have, the better time of the year you get to choose for a period of rest and relaxation. "

Every Russian city visited by the Lub-bock travel agents seemed to have its share of Lenin statues -and then some. But, no other statue of a political figure was to be seen.

In a city park, the Lubbockites came upon a first for them. The water fountains in the park were coin operated. It was also noted that there was one communal tumbler per fountain.

Next on the agenda was a visit to a tea plantation some 30 miles from Sochi. Linn recalled, "It was one of the most delightful days of the trip for me."

The plantation boasts that it is the northern most point in the world where tea is produced. There, in a lodge-type structure that serves as a visitor center, the world travelers enjoyed cups of fresh-ly brewed tea and a bite to eat. On the ridge of the hill, waist high tea bushes could be seen covering the surrounding

Workers at the platation proved to be some of the friendliest, happiest, and carefree people the Linns met in Russia. It was learned that each worker was paid according to the amount of leaves that he or she picked each day.

"They seemed to really be enjoying their way of life," noted Linn. During the Black Sea tour, "hero buttons" noticed from time to time. The buttons -worn by men and women, young and old -denotes outstanding sevice the nation. In some cities, large bill-boards advertise names of people that have been awarded the prized button. Beside the name of a military hero, might be the name of a scientist in bold letters, or a worker that helped a factory to increase production.

Even when it was time for the return trip to Athens, the ship continued to make for other interesting ports of call. "On our return trip the cruise ship stopped in Istanbul," said Linn. He noted, "The city is famous for its bazaar. It would take a dozen South Plains Malls to added Mrs. Linn, "It's an amazing scepe of numerous tunnels; hundreds of shops, and people everywhere hawking their wares. It's something else and a place that everybody should see."

From Istanbul the cruise continued on to Izmir with its Biblical history and ruins dating before Christ. A side trip via a bus took the Lubbock couple to the city of Ephesus where Saint Paul was imprisoned, and the last home of the Virgin Mary. Most visitors to Ephesus find the area worthy of a stay of several days.

area worthy of a stay of several days.

On their way back to the ship, the Linns were reminded of earlier days in West Texas when they saw people picking cot ton while pulling long cloth sacks behind

From Izmir the cruise headed for the Greek Islands and the barren isle of Palmos where John the Apostie wrote the Book of Revelations while in exile. Mykonos, Rhodes and Crete were also visited. "I was really impressed with Crete and its history," recalled Mrs, Linn. "We learned that it is the only place in the world that is roughly an equal distance between three continents — Europe, Asia, and Africa." Asia, and Africa."

Crete's 4,000-year-old history can be easily traced in its prehistoric sites, Roman ruins, Venetian castles, oriental minarets and the WW II concrete lookouts. Crete is definitely a major crossroads for history.

Linn recommends cruising the Greek Islands and the Black Sea in the month of September. "That time of the year you're away from the days of hotter temperatures. The weather is quite stable and you don't have choppy seas. Also, the autumn scenery is beautiful."

For the Linns, the cruise had been a journey to the birthplaces of human wor-der and historical significance. It was the kind of journey that ends with a thousand

Exiled Liberationist Continues Fight For Country

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mustafa Barzani was 3 years old the first time he was jailed for taking part in the Kurdish liberation movement. He went to prison with his mother.

Now, 72 years later, he is a prisoner of another sort — living near the capital of an alien country with exiles of many

There are Cambodians who can't return to Cambodia, Vietnamese who can't go back to Vietnam and Lithuanians who maintain a government in exile for land long since annexed by Russia.

Barzani, who lives in Washington's Virginia suburbs, has close-cropped grey hair, a bristly mustache, and a rigid bearing. He looks like a military leader.

But beneath his physical appearance, his lungs are ravaged by cancer and his greatest hope remains unfulfilled: to return to an independent Kurdish state.

"Of course I have hope. No one can live without hope," he said in an interview conducted through an interpreter.

The Kurds, among the least known of this country's exiles, are a mountain people whose homeland is in parts of Tur-key, Iran and Iraq.

The struggle for an independent Kurdistan began before the breakup of the Ottoman Empire. One early revolutionary are Responsive older better house ary was Barzani's older brother, hanged when Barzani was 14.

More recently, Barzani led the inde-pendence struggle from Iraq. For a time, when Iraq and Iran were at odds, the Shah of Iran helped the Kurds, he said.

According to Barzani, a delegation of Kurds came to Washington under Iranian sponsorship and met with U.S. officials, including then CIA Director, Richard Helms.

The Americans promised "to support Kurdish autonomy in Iraq and supply us with military aid until we achieved it," Barzani said. Within a few weeks, the Kurds began receiving European-made weapons from Iranian agents.

But less than two years later, the Shah patched up his differences with Iraq and stopped supporting the Kurdish move-ment, Barzani said. When the flow of

Panel To Investigate Agency's Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Appropriations Committee will investigate the spending policies of ACTION Director Sam Brown, whose agency runs the Peace Corps and Volunteers In Service to America.

A committee spokesman said Tuesday that Rep. Robert H. Michel of Illinois, the House Republican whip, asked for the investigation.

During an appropriations hearing last month, Michel intimated that Brown, a former antiwar activist, overpays his workers, gives old friends favored treatment for ACTION grants and uses too many paid consultants.

The CIA has never challenged Barzani's views, but declined comment. So did Helms, now a business consultant.

After his insurgency collapsed, Barzani fled to Iran and then came to the United States for cancer treatment.

Now, he wants to call international attention to the plight of Kurds still living in Iraq. He claims they've been forced out of their homelands in the mountainous north and sent to detention camps in the south, which is Arab territory.

"All we ask is to have someone protect them so their rights are not abused," he

For the approximately 700 Kurdish refugees admitted to the United States, Barzani said he wants the same benefits offered to Cuban and Vietnamese refugees.

'We need only to have doors opened, to have courses in language and job training," he said.

Bush Not Making Issue Of Father In Campaign

Avalanche-Journal Staff

George Bush, former Central Intelligence Agency director and father of the Republican congressional candidate with the same name, is something of a ghost in the Republican primary. Some see the elder Bush peering over his son's shoulder and coaching his campaign efforts from the sidelines. Others, however, don't see the presence of Bush's father at all. At a press conference Wednesday candidate Bush admitted he "knew when he entered" the congressional race his father might become an issue. "But," he said, "I'm not making him an issue." Bush said the recent comments about his father's activities from the camp of opponent Jim Reese were "to be expected. Reese has contended the elder Bush is running his son's campaign from Houston and often mentions Bush's voting record while in Congress and his membership on the Trilateral Commission. Reese also asserts many 19th District voters do not realize just which Bush is "Originally there may have been confusion," Bush acknowledged, but said every television ad and personal appearance should dispel that belief "People need to realize it is I who's running and not he," Bush said, and denied he was riding his father's political coattails. Bush said his father would not be doing any campaigning in the 19th District race unless there is "heat on the name and the family," and labeled "political haymaking" all the talk about his father's role in the campaign. However, Bush said his political background (his grandfather was a U.S. Senator from Connecticut) and his famous name would "open doors in Washington and help this district."

As for recent charges by his other Reublican opponent, Joe Hickox, that Bush is too closely alligned with the oil industry, Bush said "there's no such thing as being too closely alligned to the oil business in West Texas."

Bush, a Midland independent oil and gas producer, said his energy background was "very important" in representing the district.

However, Bush pledged to either sell his oil and gas holdings or put them in a blind trust if elected so he would not be accused of a conflict of interest

Stevens Says City Wastes Fresh Water

Likening Lubbock's dwindling water supply to natural gas shortages, a city council candidate today proposed that the city use waste water on the cooling er of its holly Avenue electric pi At a morning news conference, Place 1 council candidate Mike Stevens said the city should follow Southwestern Public Service Co.'s example by using effluent water on its cooling tower. Currently, fresh water is used at Lubbock Power and Light's Holly Avenue station, Stevens said, charging that is a perfect example of poor management, ty on the part of our city council. Waste of the "precious natural resource" is a daily violation of the "taxpayers' trust," he added.

"I've been saying over and over the number one problem is inflation caused by big government," he said. Bush said the survey "showed I'm willing to listen on the different issues," and said it had stimulated interest and response to the George Bush candidacy.

He said the passage of the Panama

Canal treaty against the popular will is an example of politicians failing to listen before they act. "Politicians who talk and don't listen are going to be left behind," he said. "It's clear West Texans are ready to do some talking themselves. I will continue listening to people so that I may better represent the independent values that make West Texas great."

Some of those responses happened to be financial, and more than $3,200 in contributions averaging $30 each flowed into the campaign coffers following the mail-

"The survey was never considered a fund-raiser," Bush said, although there was a "passing reference to contributions being appreciated.'

Bush said he had raised about $75,000 to date and expects to spend "everything we can raise" in the primary. If the election were held today, Bush predicted, he would get the most votes, but not a majority of the votes. However, on May 6 the situation will have changed, he said. "I think we can win on the first ballot by virtue of a strong showing in Midland

900-Pound Man Sent To Seattle Hospital

SEATTLE (AP) - Jon Minnoch, whose wife estimates he weighs 900 pounds, was so weak from a vegetablesonly diet that he could not budge from bed. It took a dozen firefighters and an improvised plywood stretcher to move him into another bed - in a hospital.

The 36-year-old Minnoch had been lying on his side, practically immobile, for about three weeks, said Louie Marker, a friend living with the Minnoch family. Marker said Minnoch had injured his foot and, after spending a few days in bed, found it impossible to get up. Minnoch, covered with painful bed-sores, finally consented to pleas from his wife that he enter a hospital. He was reported in fair condition Wednesday, undergoing treatment for complications related to obesity, a University Hospital spokeswoman said.

Economic Help Seen In Missile Base

AMARILLO (UPI) - Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Texas, said Wednesday a nuclear missile base being considered for northwest Texas would provide an economic boost to the area.

The Air Force is conducting studies in Texas and nine other western states as potential sites for a proposed MX intercontinental ballistic missile system.

Northwest Texas counties being considered are Bailey, Lipscomb, Dallam and Deaf Smith. Other Texas counties the Air Force is studying are Culberson, Cochran, Reeves, Pecos and Gaines

Hightower told the Amarillo Globe-News after a luncheon speech that his support for the missile system right now is limited. "My full support will depend on results of tests and investigations being made by the Air Force, but I certainly support the concept," he said. "A nuclear missile base nearby certainly would provide an economic boost to the area." he said. "And location of a site near here would not make this area more vulnerable to nuclear attack than any other area. More likely it would provide greater protection.

Higgins Mayor Hilton Menser said he is concerned that if the missile base were ever located in Lipscomb County "somebody might blow us up." However, Menser said the system would help the economy. In Dalhart, city manager David Maddox said he does not know enough about the missile to form an opinion. "We don't really know enough to be either in favor of it or against it." he said. "But from an economic standpoint, it would be a real good thing for Dallam County and the city of Dalhart."

The Air Force says the studies are only preliminary to determine which expected to be selected until 1980 or 1981.

What is your opinion of the salaries and benefits the school district has set for its teachers and other employees?

I feel we should have a complete review of benefits for teachers and other employees as it appears that benefits have not improved in relationship to the cost of living.

When you consider the preparation, qualifications and responsibilities in relation to what others are making, salaries are too low. The argument that teachers work nine months is no longer valid. The summers are shorter and demands for continuing education greater. A one-year contract offers little security. Many valuable and talented teachers, especially the young male teacher with a new family, can't make it and are lost to the school

There is a need for increase of both. In order to attract and keep good teachers and employees, we must be competitive in salaries as well as benefits, for both.

Salaries should be raised, must be raised. Whether they can be raised locally is the big question. Some additional benefits are in order, I believe, such as a revision in the sick-personal leave policy.

What would be your approach in preparing the district's annual budget?

My approach in preparing the budget would be to place major emphasis on the use of the tax dollar where it would be most beneficial to the education of the students. I believe each expenditure should be justified.

I would be certain that value for the tax dollar is received, money is spent wisely and there is no waste.

Be open-minded, getting the best available for the dollars spent.

I have no comments or suggestions un til I have been through the process and witnessed the actual operation.

How would you propose to get input on

I will propose more meetings like the one held early this month (on integration). I feel instead of one large meeting we should have several small meetings so more of the community would have an opportunity to speak on the issues.

From the people - students, parents,

Total community input is the greatest solution to any problem. I extend an invitation to all citizens to participate. I am and will continue to be the trustee with a listening ear to citizens at all times.

I would propose an informal communi-cation network in which the school board a month or two before any decisions are made - announces an area of con-cern. PTAs then would have time to discuss the subject, and teachers also would provide input through their principal or teacher association representative. This input would go directly to the board.

Recently a local high school asked the district's administration for permission to establish a supervised outdoor smok-ing area for students. How would you

I think the school trustees handled this properly since they rejected the request.

I am against students smoking on school property.

There is no way I could go along with smoking in our public schools.

I do not feel that our tax dollars should be used to encourage smoking in our schools by establishing a smoking area. Yet, non-smokers should not have to be punished with smoke.

There is a policy against student smoking. Therefore, the request must be de-

Would you support participation in the ational School Breakfast Program?

Yes, I will support the National School

Yes. I see no justifiable reason to deny children in need nourishing food before beginning the school day. This should be done in such a way that they are not sin-

Though philosophically opposed, I certainly support obeying the new law which provides for this program.

Recently a group of parents protested the showing of certain films by some public schools here. How would you have

Selection of films should be screened by supervisors and coordinators and rec-ommendations made as to what films are available and should be shown for a par-ticular subject area. All films should be previewed by the teacher before being shown to students.

I would assure parents that in the fu-ture, attendance would be voluntary and their prior permission must be obtained. I would provide parents an opportunity to preview films that are controversial. If ction is overwhelming, they would not be shown at all.

This should be the choice of parents. If one does not want his child to see certain films, then he should not see them, unless the student can convince the parent otherwise. This should be a volum

Candidate Stances Diverse

By JEFF SOUTH

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Midway through the campaign, one candidate for Place 1 on the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees bemoaned the "lack of issues. There just isn't anything to argue about, to separate one candidate from another."

After talking with trackers parents

After talking with teachers, pare and school officials, The Avalanche-Jo and school officials, The Avalanche-Journal put together a three-page questionnaire that will indeed allow Saturday's voters to discern differences among the four Place 1 hopefuls.

In answering the A-J queries, for example, Joan Ervin and Lynn Stafford said they would support election of school trustees by single-member geographical districts. Bill Warren and John Ray Jr. want to retain the at-large election system.

Mrs. Ervin said she would back a police requiring teachers to assign a minimum amount of homework to students on certain days of the week — a part of the "back-to-basics" movement some other districts have adopted. Her opponents say homework requirements should be at the discretion of individual teachers.

Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Errin would

Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Ervin would support full disclosure of standardized achievement test scores, including public districturide and school-by reporting of districtwide and school-byschool scores. Ray and Warren say such data should not be reported to the public.
School board places are filled by an atlarge vote. That is, citizens from throughout the Lubbock Independent School District on Saturday will be voting for both a trustee for Place 1 and a trustee for Place.

Unlike city council races, school board seats here may be won by mere plurality. The top vote-getter for each place on the board is declared the winner; he or she need not pull a majority of the votes cast. In contrast to council races, there can be no runoff election for school board (un-less two or more candidates for the same place should happen to tie for the highest imber of votes).

The plurality aspect makes this year's school board elections particularly interesting because of the large number of candidates — and their political strength — running for each of the two seats up for grabs. Political observers and candidates themselves say capturing 30 to 40 percent of the vote may be enough to win a place.

Terms on the school board last six years. Candidates for Place 1, in the order they will appear on the ballot, are:

-Warren, 50, of 3004 32nd St., a chief accountant for the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Warren has run a low-budget campaign so far, spending just $325. He has stressed his experience with fiscal processes and the need to continually evaluate school programs and expenditures.

—Ray, 52, of 3024 56th St., a physician and associate clinical professor in dermatopathology at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine. To date, Ray has spent $922 on his campaign. He bills him-self as a "concerned and interested par-

(elementary school secretary).

—Mrs. Stafford, 37, of 4421 10th St., a homemaker and part-time secretary. She has spent $2,150 on her campaign so far. Mrs. Stafford has stressed her experience as a former teacher, volunteer in various civic projects and member of a legislative advisory committee on drug and alcohol

Mrs. Stafford filed for Place 1 on Jan. 27, the first candidate to do so. It was on the same day that Mrs. Ervin disclosed she would not seek re-election to the school board.

Political observers said Mrs. Stafford's contacts and financial backing make her: appear a formidable opponent. That, they say, may be one reason why the other early candidates filed for Place 2, being vacated by board vice president Bob McKelvy.

After Ray and Warren events ounced for Place 1, Mrs. Ervin decide to run after all. She said she was persu ed to do so by various citizens and gro concerned about her possibly leaving

Mrs. Ervin, current school board secre tary, was elected to the board in 1970 to: fill a two-year unexpired term. She won-that year by less than 100 votes, making her the first black elected trustee and the first woman to serve on the board since

Mrs. Ervin ran unopposed for a full term in 1972.

All four Place 1 candidates agree on such issues as the need for some evening school board meetings, voluntary tools of desegregation, more community input on school district decisions, ma school district decisions, maintaining competitive teacher salaries and benefits and banning student smoking on campus. Warren listed his top priorities as a school trustee as "obtain the best teachers possible and encourage them to stay in the teaching profession, settlement of the school desegregation case, and better communication between the community

Carter's Farm Plan raws Senate Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senior members of the Senate Agriculture Committee say the Carter administration's farm revisions are too little and too late.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, chairman of the committee, issued a statement saying, "While the administration has finally agreed that farmers should not bear all of the brunt of inflation in our economy and has agreed to take a small amount of land ative, does not go nearly far enough."

Because of those shortcomings, the Georgia Democrat added, he will call Senate and House conferees back into session on Monday to resume work on a major farm bill that the administration opposes.

Sen. Bob Dole, ranking Republican on

verson, in response to my legislative initi- announcemwent "should be a clear signal to American farmers - and consum ers as well - that the administration really doesn't care.'

Sen. George McGovern, a member of the panel, said, "We can only assume that the actions of the administration are a thinly disguised effort to divide the Senate and House conferees.

The Carter administration, vowing to veto an emergency farm bill now before Congress, is ordering an alternate plan into effect that it says will boost farm incomes without accelerating the increase in consumer food prices.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced the plan Wednesday. It does not require congressional approval, and Bergland said instructions on its implementation are now going to Agriculture Department field offices.

The program will not stop consumer food prices from increasing. But Bergland said it should not cause prices to climb more than the 6 percent to 8 percent increase already projected for this

He said the package "will not change the food price factor at all,"

McCathern said arguments that 100 percent parity would cause more inflation and dry up export markets are not viable. Why should agriculture, the greatest industry we have in this nation, be required to carry the burden of feeding this nation and the world for a price less than the cost of production?" McCathern asked. "I see no reason why we're any different than any other industry." He said there are half as many farmers now as in 1948, when he said farm prices were about the same as they are now, and that there will be half as many in 10 years as there are now if nothing is done.

"Some say this is good," he said. "I say it's bad. I think people should be going back to the farm instead of leaving the Saying the Wednesday announcement by the Carter administration was an attempt to destroy movement goals, he said, "It's not going to work. We're determined to win this battle. We'll continue to fight it until we do."

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Birch Bayh says he doesn't believe Tongsun Park's allegation that Park contributed to his 1974 re-election campaign. But the sublicity is as damaging to him as if he had taken the money, Bayh says.

Bayh said Wednesday the Senate Ethics Committee told him of the South Korean's claim that he contributed $1,500 ro $1,800 to the 1974 campaign. The president's Brazilian agenda included meetings with two Roman Catholic leaders who have been critical of the military government there. Carter said he wants to meet not only with government leaders abroad, but with people from other walks of life. He said he reserves the right to confer with whomever he chooses.

Other data has been calculated randomly, but, according to Wiley, enough information exists to establish certain 'trends.

For example, it probably would come as no surprise to anyone to learn that most business break-ins occur during the night and that most residential burglaries occur during the day. Also, the overwhelming percentage of last year's 294 reported aggravated robberies happened at night.

It also now is known for sure that most of the heists were perpetrated by black men, most of whom were acting

It has been showed that 58 of the incidents reportedly took place at residences and that most of the victims, according to available data, were white women in their late teens or early 20s. Of the suspects described, most were in the same age group, with slightly more being Mexican-American men.

In the future, LPD reportedly will have further data relating to socio-economic factors of each geographical area of Lubbock; reflections of reported crime in certain areas and unreported crime in others; and factors of certain areas which may contribute to the opportunity to commit certain types of SYDNEY, Australia (AP) - Brian McBride, leader of an anti-smoking group, brought assault charges against Caligera Filipazzo, claiming the man blew smoke in his face while they were riding on a bus. Filipazzo admitted he was smoking but denied blowing smoke in McBride's face.

"This is a test case, and we want tobacco smoke to be legally defined as a form of assault," McBride declared. The judge said he had no precedents to refer to and would rule on the complaint next week.

Carolyn Lanier, Lubbock league president, said the 30-minute forums will preempt the national news on the station beginning at 5:30 p.m. on the successive Saturdays.

She said each candidate will be given bout two minutes to introduce himself, then will be questioned by league mem-bers. The candidates will have a few minutes at the end of the program to partisan. A burglar does not check voter registration before breaking in, nor does

TERRORISTS ON TRIAL - Accused Red Brigade terrorists are chained together and guarded by special police as they arcurred on the parking lot of a fast-food restaurant located near the Town and Country Shopping Center and north of the intersection of 4th Street and University Avenue.

Witnesses explained that trouble started when a car containing two men came down the wrong side of the street and cut into the line of vehicles passing through the fast-food line.

Hinojosa was identified as a passenger

Testimony indicated that words were exchanged between occupants of the car and the students in the Blazer before gunfire erupted. Defense attorney Mark Hall said he was not trying to justify Hinojosa's actions. "There's no question he didn't exercise good judgment. There's no doubt he pulled the trigger," Hall said. But Hall told the jury panel it was not

He then argued that Hinojosa's witness stand account that he had panicked and tried to fire the weapon into the air made "There is no testimony about bullet

Bellevue-Stratford To Get New Name

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The landmark Philadelphia hotel closed because of poor business stemming from its association with the first outbreak of what came to be known as "Legionnaire's disease" is reopening under a new name.

Rubin Associates said Tuesday that agreement had been reached on a $26.7 million financing package to pay for ren-ovating the 72-year-old Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and reopening it in September 1979 as The Fairmont Hotel. Many of the 29 people who died from the mysterious disease in the summer of 1976 had attended an American Legion convention at the Bellevue.

And finding the right numbers is no easier than wading through the federal bureacracy.

Phone company information operators can find one of the four correct hotline numbers. City government operators can give you one more. Operators cannot find the other two, although at least one is staffed all night.

The problem started when Washington's city government switched to a new telephone system. Telephone company officials say the city never gave them the information needed to switch callers from the old to the new numbers.

But district government spokeswoman Linda Berger says the city failed to tell the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of only one number change.

SECRETARY OF STATE STEVEN OAKS

Votes 'Lost' To Moves

By SYLVIA TEAGUE

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Nearly half the eligible voters in Lubbock County are not registered to vote in the May 6 primary election because they have moved since they last registered, Secretary of State Steven Oaks said here

Oaks, in town to personally register voters at South Plains Mall and at Texas Tech University, said 19,000, or 41 percent, of the 48,000 eligible voters in the county have moved and are not registered to vote. The voters have been "lost" in a re-registration process mandated by the last legislature which is aimed at purging the voter registration roles.

Oaks said the voter registration certificates can't be forwarded under the new law. As a result, many voters have been taken off voting lists and must re-regis-

Those with old blue voter registration certificates are entitled to vote through June 30, he said, but must re-register to vote in the general election.

However, those who are not registered have until midnight on April 6 to complete the registration form.

Oaks, who was appointed to replace Mark White Nov. 7, said there are many firsts about voter registration this year.

"For the first time voter registration in Texas is postage-paid," he said. It is also the first time voter registration applications have been printed in both English and Spanish.

People have said they can't vote in the run-off election because they didn't vote in the primary, he said. They can still vote in the run-off, Oaks said, but if they voted in the Democratic primary, they can't vote in the Republican run-off and Oaks has been personally registering voters around the state for four days a week since Feb. 3 and predicted he will have visited "every major population center by April 6."

His goal is one million new registered voters by the April deadline through a

So the Secretary of State has another job to do when registration ends - get voters to the polls.

Already there are public service ads on television urging Texans to vote, and Oaks plans a voter assistance campaign before the May 6 primary.

Upheld Abuse Decision

Texas has been told to immediately start complying with a lower-court decision requiring prompt hearings and legal aid for children who are taken from their parents, a ruling that strikes down much of the state's child abuse law.

The state had asked Justice Lewis Powell to stay an Oct. 12 order by a threejudge U.S. district court in Houston. The state asked that the current laws remain intact until an appeal could be made.

The lower-court panel struck down parts of the Texas child abuse law be-

I am very big for my age, and sometimes I have problems about it. The father has offered me money to let him touch me, but I have never accepted.

Abby, the reason why I don't tell my Toster mother is that I don't want to be

West led the jack of hearts, and the contract was not all bad. If declarer could guess the location of the queen of spades, or if the king of clubs were onside matters could be handled. However, the opening lead was almost surely a singleton, so declarer had to guess the trumps immediately.

Declarer won the ace of hearts and was off to a good start when he led a spade to the jack, which held. Next declarer cashed the king of spades, and West dropped the queen!

This allayed declarer's fears about a possible heart ruff and presented him with a line of play that seemed to guarantee the contract regardless of how the clubs were divided. ## Picture Sparks Idea For New Novel

By REBECCA MOREHOUSE Women's News Service

NEW YORK -She writes at bus stops. She writes on coffee breaks. She writes at home, "I work anywhere," said Frank-cina Glass, the black author of a winning first novel, "Marvin and Tige."

Published in hardcover by St. Martin's Press, the book is in a second printing. Fawcett Publications paid more than $100,000 for the paperback rights. Movie rights were sold to Abilene Films, a new company out of Texas.

Miss Glass is 22, from Atlanta. "I hadn't been out of Atlanta until I came here for the book." she said. "I didn't have any money and there was no reason to leave anyway. My parents are separated and my mother was hard up. "Marvin and Tige" hits the funnybone

Suicide Rates High In Medical Profession

United Press International Each year the equivalent of the graduating class of a large medical school, about a hundred doctors, persons who have devoted their lives to curing illness and saving lives, commit suicide.

There is abundant evidence that members of the medical profession destroy themselves at a rate one and a half to two times that of the general public. Studies also show that alcohol and drug abuse and certain mental illnesses plague doctors at a higher ratio than the population in general. One survey showed 15 percent of the drug addicts in several western nations were doctors. These are tragic figures, tragic losses, not only to family and friends, but to thousands of patients, both present and future, who will be deprived of their services.

These are men and women who exerted Herculean efforts well into their early adult years to master a large and difficult field of knowledge. They had much to give mankind, not only in the application of their healing arts, but also in the limitless possibilities of discovery, forever irrecoverable.

A good case can be built to show those entering the medical professions may be the brightest among us. Why, then, when they are in their prime years of service taverage suicide age of male physicians, 49: females, 40) do so many of them suc-

If this can be answered, then it logically follows: how can it be pevented? The answer to both questions, at least initially, lies with the medical profession itself. And present indications are that until recently the profession has done little to address itself to either regard.

BOOKS.

Charles

The growth of literature on suicide has increased dramatically, particularly since the 1920s. Psychiatrists, psychologists, sociologists, statisticians, researchers and writers have rushed into the subject by the score.

Much of it concludes that the incidence of suicide, attendant depression, alcohol and drug abuse in the medical profession is, in a word, alarming,

Dr. Irving Rosoa, professor of medical sociology at the University of California colleagues reviewed the death certificates in California from 1959 to 1961. They found physicians and health care workers as a group have twice the rate of suicide of the general population - an annual rate of 77 per 100,000 for physicians to 38 per 100,000 generally.

Rosow's study, published in the Archives of General Psychiatry, December, 1973, appears to be among the most statistically valid available. His suicide figures were based on death certificates while other widely quoted studies use less accurate figures.

The tendency to self destruction is twice as great among health care workers as it is among others of similar social class. It is evident that suicide is a general problem of major proportions for physicians and health care workers.

Rosow says further research is necessary. His suggestions include followup interviews with next of kin and a large study based on psychological testing of medical students to help spot suicide traits. And, Rosow said, "Physicians should become more alerted to the existence of this problem and be more attentive to a colleague's cry for help."

Rosow, in an interview, had other thoughts on a particular type of physician. "Some doctors get into the habit of playing God," he said. "Their position is tremendously authoritative and they develop a certain sense of omnipotence, not literally, hence they tend to find it difficult to admit any weaknesses from all the work pressures, which, are very severe.

"They also don't want to see it in colleagues, symptoms of breakdown, bacause that means there is a possibility of it in themselves.

Are statistics understated? There are difficulties with physicians treating physicians.

Dr. Robert Erwin Jones, associate medical director at the Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital, a psychiatric clinic in Philadelphia, reviewed the case histories of 100 physician patients admitted

Comparing them with all patients of the same period he found the proportion of depressive diagnosis was greater for doctors than the hospital as a whole (52 Medical Center, San Francisco, and two per cent to 43 per cent). Of the 100 physicians, 37 had tried to commit suicide or about impairment of physicians and programs to help them, three states stead-fastly maintained there were no disabled had given serious thought to it.

Jones said the percentages of those diagnosed to be mentally ill or alcoholic may be understated because doctors attending doctors hate to stick their colleagues with such potentially damaging labels as "alcoholic" or "schizophrenic" which might lead to loss of license.

Jones said that although drug abuse appeared as the primary diagnosis in only 12 percent of the cuses, the doctors' medical records showed 52 percent of them had a significant drug or alcohol prob-

In another study more than a decade ago, Dr. Herbert C. Modlin, a Topeka, Kan., psychiatrist, and a fellow research er investigated drug addiction among physicians and found the problem so severe - 30 to 100 times greater than the general population - that it could be classified as an occupational hazard. One set of statistics covering several western nations showed about 15 percent of the known addicts were physicians.

David Whieldon, national editor of Practival Psychology for Physicians, writing on the subject in the magazine's November, 1977 issue, said a pervasive problem is the denial by the physician in question that anything is wrong with

Usually the sick physician refuses to believe he is ill, is confident that he can st p using alcohol or drugs whenever he wi. 'es, and shuns offers of assistance from colleagues and family, Whieldon

He said even physicians collectively may deny that problems in this area exist. When the American Medical Association surveyed state societies not long ago

- Nearly half of the physicians in America have unsatisfactory marriages. - High achievers are overrepresented among impaired physicians, with a large proportion having graduated toward the top of their medical school classes. A theory begins to evolve: Somewhere THE FRESHEST along the difficult road to mastering the art of medicine, the disabled and suicidal physician did not learn the art of living. 'All medical teachers must conside what they want their students to learn of a way of life as well as a technically demanding profession," says psychiatrist Alan Morgenstern. "When we love the humanity of ourselves and our family, we will love our art all the more.' Another therapist, Thomas E. Bittker, believes medical schools are wrong in presenting faculty members who work 70 ours a week as desirable role models He believes selfawareness groups should be organized to help students adapt to a physician's role and then continued by medical societies after graduation.

Most of the studies on medical suicides, drug abuse, alcoholism and emotional illness offer some thoughts on alleviating the problem. At present, though, it is an area fairly short on specific steps taken.

Among the ideas are that more efforts should be made at all levels to get the physician to "cherish himself," to treat himself more gently and humanely, to gather a few flowers along the way.

More effort should be made by the profession to attach less stigma to the whole area of suicide, to see these manifestations as just other physical ailments like broken legs or hives so there is less hesitation in seeking help. Also, more sympathy and less aversion is needed from the sick physician's colleagues. "They just don't ignore him, they turn their backs on him," one psychiatrist said.

Medical school programs might give certain predisposed students better insights into some of the problems they will eventually face. And once into med school they should be given easy access and encouragement to seek therapy.

And perhaps a realization, after all, among physicians, that they are only human, that medicine is an art, that much of what makes man sick and well is unknown, and that doctors, like all of us, are fallible and must be forgiven - most of all by themselves.

Protein Requirements

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - Can protein powder and soy lecithin granules taken in juices supply sufficient protein to maintain reasonably good health in people over 65 who are not on medication of any kind? Would they have any real value as a dietary supplement for meat?

DEAR READER - Protein powders contain the same amino acids found in good protein foods such as meat and milk. All proteins, animal and vegetable, are made up from various combinations of one or more of abut 22 different amino acids. Think of proteins as words and the amino acids as letters of the alphabet. Just as you can use combinations of letters to make many words, you can use different combinations of amino acids to make many proteins. For the person who has a well-balanced diet - and that can also be a well-balanced vegetarian diet - additional protein powder is just another source of calories. The extra protein is converted by your body to carbohydrates and fat and handled as such. You gain nothing and lose money from buying it.

Protein supplements are useful for people who cannot or will not eat a well-balanced diet. This is sometimes the case in older people or those who live alone. They are also useful in people with certain illnesses who need increased protein intakes, particularly digestive disorders. These are usually characterized by persistent diarrhea symptoms. To give you more information about protein requirements and foods for protein I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-6, Proteins: Part II. We are so stuck on thinking of bacteria as harmful that we sometimes overlook the point that some bacteria can be helpful. The harmless bacteria that inhabit the colon help prevent the growth of harmful ones. To a limited extent yogurt may help in the instances you mention.

But before I set off a renewal of the fad of eating yogurt I should add that changing the type of harmless bacteria in the colon may not alter a person's life or improve his health at all. That is about all you could expect from yogurt in most instances.

And I must add a note of caution, commercial yogurt may not do the trick, as all of the lactobacillus that occurs in naturally fermented yogurt may have been killed in the process of making commercial yogurt. In addition, the commercial yogurt may have been thickened with nonfat dry milk powder, markedly increasing its lactose content and making it more difficult for individuals with borderline lactose (milk sugar) intolerance

Library Opposes Efforts To Move Copy Of Gettysburg Address manuscripts by George Washington be moved from the library to his Virginia home, Mount Vernon, which is maintained as a park.

By W. DALE NELSON WASHINGTON (AP) - The Library of Congress, which has two of the five own manuscripts of the Gettysburg Address, is fighting efforts to move one of them to the national battlefield park at Gettysburg, Pa. The issue, simmering since last year, flared up at a Senate Appropriations sub-committee hearing when Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., told Librarian Daniel Boorstin replied that the library must promise donors "to preserve ... manuscripts for posterity and to protect them against loss, dispersion or deterioration." He said preservation experts at the li-

By CAROLYN A. LESH TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) - For decades, a man who never lived in Kansas has been responsible for giving the Sunflower State the image of a gray, tornado-infest-

But now, several people think it's time to set the record straight about the way Kansas is portrayed in the book and movie called "The Wizard of Oz."

L. Frank Baum, the classic's author, grew up in New York state. He never lived or worked in Kansas and several literary critics say the Kansas scenes in his book were probably descriptions of the prairie lands of South Dakota, where Baum edited a small newspaper in the late 1890s.

"That book and movie are just a terrible misrepresentation of Kansas in terms of the tornado image," said Allen Pear-son, director of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City and one of the nation's experts on torna-

"Dorothy should have lived in Arkansas or Mississippi or Texas or Oklahoma," Pearson said. "They all have more tornadoes than Kansas.

Person said Kansas does not even rank in the top 10 among states where tornadoes occur.

"I honestly have had letters from people who were moving to Kansas and said they were really terrified about being zapped by a tornado," Pearson said. "I just tell them I'm the chief tornado forecaster and I live in Kansas and I've never even seen a tornado. They're shocked when I set them straight.

The weather forecaster, however, saw some positive aspects to the misunderstanding about tornadoes in Kansas.

"If they're keeping people away, maybe that's not such a bad thing," he said. "We don't really need an influx of people around here. In the 25 years since the weather department started handling air pollution alerts, Kansas has had only one in 25 years. Some cities have five or six a year. We've got nice, clean air out here and I hope it stays that way."

In the opening chapter of his book, Baum uses the word "gray" nine times in the space of four paragraphs to describe Kansas. The area he apparently had in mind was near Topeka, according to hotes in his manuscript.

In truth, the area around Topeka is a little flat, but full of trees and green grass in the spring and summer. On a clear day, the sky is a brillant blue. "That passage in the book with all those grays certainly is a misrepresentation," according to Ed Bruske, secretary of the Economic Development Department — the state agency in charge of promoting tourism. "It's not gray around here. But what can you do? We can't write a second version of the book to change that image."

Bruske said his agency took a survey fast year with several hundred persons in 16 states to see how they would describe Kansas.

"The word they most often used was 'drab." he said. "Maybe some of them thought that because of the movie.

But Bruske said he thought "The Wizard of Oz" was a delightful, well-written book - even though it may have been the perpetrator of certain myths about Kan-

The site of a trappers' camp and a Russian fort in the 17th century, the Russian village of Khabarovsk was established 120 years ago and at the start of World War II already had 200,000 people. More than 95 percent of the popula-tion today is from the European part of the Soviet Union. But Oriental faces seen on the streets remind one of the Mongol and Eskimo tribes that originally populated the area and the closeness of the Chinese border.

Khabarovsk is the administrative center for the Soviet Far Eastern military region, but this correspondent saw no evidence of a big military presence in the city itself.

However, Soviet armored units carry out maneuvers on the frozen Ussuri, and out maneuvers on the frozen Ussuri, and there are reports of sporadic border clashes. ## USDA Says Ag Prices To Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has come up with some projected figures for 1978 which indicate that farm commodity prices will continue to edge up gradually at least through late

Involved are figures published this week by the department's World Food and Agricultural Outlook Board, which included the group's new estimate that retail food prices now are expected to climb 6 to 8 percent instead of the 4 to 6 percent forecast earlier.

No absolute dollar figures for specific commodities were included in the report. Instead, the forecast was incorporated in index numbers based on a 1967 average of 100 percent.

For example, prices of commodities received by farmers in all of last year averaged 183 percent of what they did in 1967. That included quarterly readings last year of 187, 189, 176 and 179.

Thus the 1977 numbers show that on the average farm prices in the second quarter rose from the first but then dropped sharply in the third and gain slightly in the fourth. Therefore, average for the year was about 183 percent.

Since farm prices of livestock and grain have climbed from their low marks of last summer and fall, this has helped push up the overall USDA farm price in-

According to the report, department analysts expect the "prices received" index in the first quarter of this year -January, February and March — to average 193 percent. That represents a boost of more than 7.8 percent in the price index average in the fourth quarter of last

Further, the report showed that the index will gain further in the second quarter to an average of 199 percent and rise to 202 percent in the third quarter. No projections were made for the fourth quarter or for all of 1978.

Although specific commodities were not mentioned, the report did show that prices farmers get for livestock products as a group will show the most sustained increases this year.

On the other hand, crop prices are expected to edge higher through the second quarter and then drop in the third, reflecting new harvest supplies of grain and

Using the same methods, the report also indicated that farm expenses will continue their long-time rise. The "prices paid" by farmers index for all of 1977 averaged 202 percent of the 1967 base.

The prices paid index is expected to rise to an average of 211 percent in the first quarter of this year, 214 percent in the second and 217 in the third.

CHICAGO (AP) - Nearby soybean futures plummeted the 30-cent daily limit on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday, as Brazil's lowered soybean crop esti mate and new export restrictions failed to measure up to traders' expectations.

Analysts said speculators thought Brazil would slash its crop estimate to about 8.5 million metric tons. Instead, officials projected a yield of 9.2 to 9.8 million metric tons, as compared to an earlier esti-mate of 9.8 million metric tons.

ecret Service Men Not Riding On Cargo Planes

By FRANK CORMIER

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) - Some of the bodyguards accompanying President Carter on his south-of-the-equator tour can be grateful to fellow Secret Service agent John L. Samuelson.

It was Samuelson who filed a complaint last year with a Labor Department agency about bodyguards being flown aboard the Air Force C-141 cargo transports that haul presidential limousines. Samuelson contended that gasoline sloshed out of the tanks of the armored vehicles, creat-Ing a fire hazard.

Since the complaint was lodged, the Secret Service has changed its policy on us-Jng the C-141s to provide cheap transportation for its agents.

A service spokesman declined to ac-

"the matter is in litigation." He referred to a half-million-dollar suit against the Secret Service by Samuelson, who alleges his fingerprints were lifted from his confidential complaint so he could be identified and disciplined A senior agent readily acknowledged the change, however. While as many as 25 agents used to fly on the "car planes," he said, the only regular riders now are the drivers and mechanics who are required to stay with the vehicles.

In addition, he reported, six to eight agents making up "jump teams" also may be assigned to the C-141s.

"Jump teams" are used in leapfrogging operations when the president is moving from city to city, as Carter is doing now

Carter so they will be in position on the ground when he arrives.

Of course, other agents are in each city long before even the "jump teams" arrive. They make up advance teams that check out local security arrangements days ahead of the president's arrival.

Anyhow, thanks to agent Samuelson, some colleagues who otherwise might be jetting around Latin America and Africa this week on bench seats next to autos are patronizing commercial airlines or, at least, enjoying more comfortable inflight accommodations on other planes.

Carter's hemisphere-hopping entourage, including a 165-member press corps, probably numbers well over 300, including security and communications personnel. The White House couldn't, or wouldn't, provide an exact count.

Whatever the number, each individual - Carter included - has to carry along proof of current immunization for smallpox, yellow fever and cholera. They also

In addition, they have been encouraged to take a shot of gamma globulin, to protect against hepatitis, and be immunized against typhoid, tetanus and polio. Carter's personal physician, Rear Adm. William Lukash, told a reporter the president did not have to take any of the shots for the trip. Lukash reported that Carter provide Carter with recommendations for his visits to hot and humid Nigeria and Liberia.

For one thing, he's supposed to drink lots of fluids - but not the local water. In addition, the president has been urged to avoid prolonged exposure to the African sun. That could be a problem since Carter never wears hats.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The option to select your own alternative may be taken from you tomorrow if you put yourself in a position where you rely too heavily upon others.

Lubbock's COUNTRY Entertainer MORNINGS 7 A.M.-12:00 NOON

Saturday is Election Day and your present City Councilman is busy trying to LOOK ACTIVE . . . Where was all this activity BEFORE he drew an opponent?

Lubbock needs Mike Stevens

As a Man of ACTION, Mike Stevens will represent the citizens of Lubbock on important civic issues.

ACTION . . . to help control your rising utility costs.

ACTION . . . on taxes and massive reevaluation of your property.

ACTION . . . on traffic safety problems and congestion.

ACTION . . . to protect your home and family from crime.

The citizens of Lubbock have been subjected to 5 murders, 6 rapes, 61 assaults, 27 armed robberies, 81 car thefts, and 313 burglaries during the month of February alone. In one month Lubbockites suffered $568,413.00 in property losses to crime. Based on steadily growing statistics, crime in our city will reach an incredible high unless something is done to stop it - and done NOW. Mike Stevens is calling for the creation of a Crime Prevention Unit for the Lubbock Police Department to interface with the community needs, and bridge the gap between public demand and Police Department demands.

Truly an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Prominent businessman John H. Thomas, convicted earlier this year of defrauding the federal government out of approximately $2.5 million in cotton price support payments, was sentenced Wednesday to three years in prison and fined $129 000

Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward also fined Thomas' company, corporate defendant Jon-T Farms, Inc., $215,000. Woodward imposed the punishment after emotional pleas by the former ton said of his client's business career. "This effectively has destroyed John Thomas' reputation...it will destroy his company," Shelton said. The attorney said the hearing was a difficult thing to face since he and other members of the defense had believed "strongly that evidence from the government's own witnesses exonerates" the Shelton also noted the government had launched administrative procedures designed to get back price support money. "If he's wrong, the government will get its money back," he said. Assistant U.S. Attys. Bob Slough and Roger McRoberts, who prosecuted the tedious case, made no recommendations before sentencing.

Thomas, a 45-year-old entrepreneur who seemingly possessed a Midas touch, was convicted of illegally receiving price supports in 1972 and 1973 under provisions of the Upland Cotton Program then

The bulk of the allegations against Thomas, who has since moved his business headquarters from Brownfield to Houston, charged him of willfully and knowingly converting Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) funds to his own use or the use of another and of supplying false information to the government

Prosecutors alleged during a hardfought, 19-day trial that Thomas converted CCC property by causing payments to be alloted to individuals-members of joint farming ventures-who, the government claimed, had no substantive interest in land leased from Jon-T Farms.

Under provisions of the program, there was a $55,000 cotton price support ceiling to individual farmers.

The government contended Thomas evaded the price ceiling through the joint venture plans in which participants leased land from the Thomas company.

Testimony showed that persons signing up as joint venturers invested capital to lease land from the company and to raise a cotton crop. The individuals then received government support payments.

The crux of the case was whether or not venture participants had a "substantive interest" in the leased land and whether they were "actively engaged" in farming operations.

Prosecutors elicited testimony from former venture members, testimony which they contended proved the members never exercised any degree of control over Gaines County farm operations.

Prosecutors said members never voted on who would join the ventures, did not select the land to be leased and attended few if any meetings.

The prosecution argued that the only duty of the venturers was to sign necessary documents to make sure government checks were issued.

The defense claimed that Thomas had sought the advice of both his Brownfield attorney and of government agriculture officials before embarking on the joint venture idea.

Thomas was convicted on 91 counts. Technically, he was sentenced Wednesday to serve three years for each count, with the terms to be served concurrently. He was fined $3,000 each on 43 counts, to DETROIT (AP) - Air bags are "more dangerous than a hangman's noose," according to a retired Ford Motor Co. engineer who says he helped develop the auto safety devices.

Emil Greneir, 67, of Ann Arbor says he is so convinced air bags are dangerous he has filed for a U.S. patent categorizing them as execution devices. Greneir said Wednesday the force of an

Uganda Finishes Costly Building The World Bank has not granted loans

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Uganda, which has one of the heaviest foreign debts in black Africa, has built a gleaming, multimillion-dollar headquarters for its U.N. delegation. It is three floors taller than the U.S. Mission's 12-story building next door.

Uganda House, which occupies a 50-by-80-foot lot just behind the U.S. building, is topped by a penthouse with a landscaped terrace.

Ugandan diplomats refuse to say who is going to occupy the penthouse. But it presumably could be used for visits by President Idi Amin, who laid the cornerstone of the building in October 1975.

Mostapha Musa Marjan of the Ugandan Mission says Amin will dedicate the building. He may come for a special session of the General Assembly on South-West Africa scheduled April 23-May 3, but he will "definitely" show up for the assembly's 33rd regular session starting Sept. 19, Marjan says.

The building is 90 percent complete. and the mission can start moving in in two weeks. Ugandan diplomats refuse to disclose the construction cost; other sources put the total figure at about $6

It is not known how the Ugandans financed the building. The central African country's outstanding public debt totals nearly $220 million. On this, it pays more than $22 million a year in interest and principal, a staggering amount for a country which takes in less than $5 million a year in net foreign

Last year Amin appealed for $15 million in assistance from a special U.N. fund set up to help the countries hit hardest by the high cost of oil.

Only a few nations, mostly big powers, own buildings bigger than a five-story to house their U.N. delegations. Among them are China, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Korean architect Jae YY. Ko designed Uganda House, and the Rochester, N.Y., firm of Wilmorite Inc. built it. Ozzie Rodriguez, a vice president of the company, says it it as a "normal, standard" New York City building. It includes an exhibition area on the street floor for Ugandan art, office space, a ballroom, five apart-ments on upper floors, and the pent-

Writer Tom Wolfe To Speak At Tech

Noted journalist and writer Tom Wolfe will speak on "The ME Decade" at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the Texas Tech University Center Threater.

Tickets are on sale at the UC Ticketbooth and will be available at the door the evening of the speech. Tickets are $2 for Tech students with identification and $3 for the general public. Wolfe will discuss American society's recent preoccupation with self. He feels that people see themselves too much as individual, not as part of society or the lifestream.

Praised for his style and keen wit, Wolfe is well-known for his books, "The Kandy-Colored Tangerine-Flake Streamline Baby," published in 1965, and "The Pump House Gang" and "The Electric

> LEGAL NOTICE General Telephone Company of the Southwest has filed tariffs with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to implement the Federal Communications Commission's telephone equipment registration program (FCC Docket 19528). The tariffs have an effective date of April 15, 1978. The proposed changes will reduce rates for extension telephones and 25 foot long cords; will one-time restructure charges for service connection, moves and increasing changes, some and reducing others; and will offer reduced monthly rates for one-party business and residence customers who provide their own primary telephone instrument. The proposed changes in rates, with some increasing and others decreasing, will reduce General's gross revenues from its Texas operations by $2,565.00.

This Jimmy Carter Net Expert

By TOM HALLIBURTON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Here's a guy who could trade his American Express card with the President of the United States and most folks wouldn't know the dif-

But yes there is a difference. Not all Jimmy Carters are alike. One Jimmy Carter can meet with his Cabinet to decide the fate of a nation. Another Jim Carter can look in his cabinet and check if any tennis rackets have been stolen.

Our not-so-famous person with a famous name coaches tennis at Coronado high school. He says he receives an occasional crank telephone call from "people who just want to talk to Jimmy Carter."

While one Jimmy Carter abides in a famous Oval Office near the banks of the Potomac, another guy with the same name barely claims an office. It's so small that Carter is running out of wall space to hang a picture of each CHS tennis team. Goodness knows there's no room for trophies because the Coronado netters collect them too quickly.

The bald-headed coach vanished from his native Kansas and headed for Texas in the sixties because the warmer weather aided the state's youth tennis programs. While Co-ronado graduated its first senior class in 1966, Carter latched onto an assistant's tennis coaching job at San Angelo the same year. Three years later, he accepted his present position and CHS has captured nearly everything in district tennis ever since. Carter's first team (1970) captured the first district title for the school in any sport. In those days, one district tennis trophy was combining boys and girls performances. Since 1975, separate boys and girls team trophies have been awarded. Overall, Carter's boys have won seven of nine district titles while the girls are six of nine.

While local fans discuss Coronado's many failures in athletics, they have to omit tennis from the list. Carter believes part of his suc-

"It leads to a lot of stability when you have the same coach working with kids. My first year was the first time the public schools had gone to a full junior high program. Bill Shive (Mackenzie junior high tennis coach) has been here since I've been here. Bill Tarro is in his fifth year coaching tennis at Wilson. Those are our two junior-high feeders. In other sports, we haven't had that kind of stability at Coronado," Carter said.

But the coach realizes other factors help Coronado's tennis success. Carter calls his school's tennis area "the best high school facility anywhere in the state" he's ever seen. Whether or not he admits it, another factor is Jim Carter.

A national tournament entry at ages 17 and 18, the Arkansas City, Kansas youth could have rebelled in his environment very easily. Be-fore young Jim's second birthday, his father was killed in an explosion at a meat-packing plant. His first stepfather died during World War II. By the time Carter entered the first grade, he was obeying a second stepfather.

"After seeing what happens to some young people, I consider my-self fortunate. My mother was strong as the dickens. She had to be. But two gentlemen helped me a lot," he said.

Raymond Judd and Curly Vaughn each coached tennis near Carter's home. Judd, a local coach See CARTER Page 5

one of the staff's major objectives this spring, along with building confidence and the team concept within the young Tech squad.

Six quarterbacks will be fighting for the No. 1 spot in spring training, and the obvious hope of the staff is that one will emerge as the clear first-teamer.

However, Dockery says that there is no No. 1 quarterback now. In the race for the job are Mark Johnson and Tres Adami, who shared the duties last season after Rodney Allison was injured; sophomores-to-be Richy Ethridge, David Stone and Darren Reagan; and redshirt Johnny

"I really don't know what to expect. I'm just glad to be playing again," the popular, soft-spoken Geiberger said before teeing off today in the first round of the $240,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) -Nancy Lopez, who is 21 years old and joined the ladies' tour less than a year go, could be the golfer all the others are atching in the $305,000 Dinah Shore Winners Circle.

Despite her brief time on the tour, Loz ranks as one of the players to beat in the tournament, richest on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit.

She has already won two events this year and has been one of the most consistent players on the tour, leading the 1978 earnings list with $46,000. That ineludes a $14,600 runnerup check in the recent Kathryn Crosby tournament.

But she faces a top field in the seventh edition of the Winners Circle, a 72-hole affair that begins today and wraps up Sunday at the 6,302-yard, par-72 Mission Hills Country Club course.

All the past winners of the tournament

Despite his health problems and lack of competition, he ranked as one of the key figures in a weak field that was chasing a $48,000 first prize over the 6,984-yard, par-72 Forest Oaks Country Club course.

With most of the game's great names taking a pre-Masters vacation, Lon Hinkle was the top money-winner in the 144man field. He's No. 8. Only five - Hinkle, Lou Graham, Howard Twitty, Jay Haas and Andy North — of the top 20 money winners are on hand.

The New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Baltimore Orioles waged an exciting down-to-the-wire race in the American League East last year and all three managers are optimistic heading into

Billy Martin, Yankees: "I feel good about the 1978 Yankees and once again I see us taking it all.

Don Zimmer, Red Sox: "Last year at this time I said we would be in the pennant race right to the finish, and that's what happened. I feel the same way again this year.

Earl Weaver, Orioles: "We think we will be solid contenders again this year. Even though we did not sign any big names from the re-entry draft, we think we can improve on our 97 wins.

Those 97 wins were enough to tie the Orioles and Red Sox 21/2 games behind the Yankees. But while the Yanks and Bosox have added some big-name free agents (New York: relievers Rich Gossage and Rawly Eastwick; Boston: starter Mike Torrez), the Orioles again suffered a loss when 14-game winner Ross Grimsley signed with the Montreal Ex-

Ironically. Torrez bolted the Yankees after a brilliant relief job in the final game of the playoffs and two completegame victories in the World Series.

Still, the Yankees have no shortage of pitchers, a good thing because Catfish Hunter must prove he can still be a consistent winner, injury-prone Don Gullett has been sidelined all spring with a sore shoulder and Andy Messersmith will miss a couple of months with a shoulder separation.

New York probably will open the season with a rotation of Ron Guidry, Ed Figueroa, Hunter, reliable Dick Tidrow and possibly 6-foot-6 rookie Jim Beattie. Gossage and Eastwick join Cy Young Award winner Sparky Lyle in what Martin says might be the best bullpen in the history of baseball.

The rest of the club will be the same as last year. Thurman Munson is one of baseball's premier catchers and the infield includes Chris Chambliss at first base, Willie Randolph at second, Bucky Dent at short and Graig Nettles at third.

Roy White and Lou Piniella will again share left field with Mickey Rivers in center and World Series hero and candy tycoon Reggie Jackson in right. For designated hitters, Martin can choose among Piniella, Cliff Johnson and Jim Spencer.

As usual, the free-swinging, power-laden Red Sox will go as far as the pitching can take them. The starters are Torrez, Luis Tiant, Bill Lee and Mike Paxton, but Tiant will miss the start of the season with a finger injury. People laughed a year ago when Weaver insisted the Orioles were contenders. No one's laughing this time, even though the Birds lost Grimsley via the free agent route and traded fellow lefty Rudy May to Montreal. In return, they picked up Don Stanhouse and Joe Kerrigan, who will join Tippy Martinez and Nelson Briles in the bullpen.

Jim Palmer, seven times a 20-ganie winner, is the pitching ace, but he was hampered by arm trouble during the spring. The rest of the rotation includes Mike Flanagan, who finished 15-10 after a 2-8 start; Dennis Martinez and Scott McGregor. It does not seem as strong as last year and if Palmer is sidelined for any length of time, forget it.

However, first baseman Lee May becomes the DH, with DH Eddie Murray, the 1977 Rookie of the Year, taking over in the field.

The outfield has two fine hitters. Ken Singleton, coming off elbow surgery, in right and Al Bumbry in center. The third spot will go to either Andres Mora, Pat Kelly or Carlos Lopez, possibly a platoon.

The Detroit Tigers may be a team to keep an eye on. Mark Fidrych, the rookie pitching sensation of 1976, returns from an injury-plagued summer and his spring showing indicated he was all the way

The third outfield spot probably will go to Paul Dade, who Torborg says "will play somewhere because he is an offensive catalyst." There doesn't seem to be any room in the infield, which has Andre Thornton at first. Duane Kuiper at second, Buddy Bell at third and either Larvell Blanks or Tom Veryzer at short. Willie Horton is the DH.

Fred Kendall and Ron Pruitt are capable catchers. The staff they'll be handling starts with sometimes brilliant Dennis Eckersley and Wayne Garland, again battling arm trouble. Jim Kern is one of the league's top short relievers but the rest of the corps must prove itself.

The Milwaukee Brewers dipped into the free agent market for Larry Hisle, the AL's RBI king, but the real problems were on the mound so they hired Baltimore pitching coach George Bamberger as manager With Bill Travers on the disabled list, the starters include youngsters Jerry Augustine, Moose Haas, Lary Sorensen and Gary Beare, with Bill Castro, Ed Rodriguez, Bob McClure and Mike Caldwell in the bullpen. Experienced catcher Ray Fosse is also disabled, another problem. Sixto Lezcano, Ben Oglivie and Von Joshua join Hisle in the outfield but the Brewers' strength is an infield of Cecil Cooper at first, Robin Yount at short, Don Money or Lenn Sakata at second and Money or Sal Bando at third. Either Money, Bando or Oglivie will be the DH.

The Toronto Blue Jays, 2 years old, are still very much an expansion club. The top hands are outfielders Bob Bailor, Otto Velez and Al Woods, third baseman Roy Howell, DH Rico Carty, first baseman Doug Ault and pitchers Dave Lemanczyk, Jerry Garvin and Jim Clancy.

The World Boxing Council stripped ex-Olympian Leon Spinks of its version of the crown when the new champion decided to give Muhammad Ali a rematch before meeting Norton.

Sulaiman referred to agreements signed by both Spinks and Ali before their Feb. 15 title fight in Las Vegas that the winner would first defend against Norton. Such a bout was arranged with Norton to get only $200,000 and Spinks $1 million.

Then came the proposition for a rematch with Ali, and the Spinks purse soared to an estimate $5 million for such

The World Boxing Association continues to recognize Spinks, but the larger WBC, with 92 nations as members, goes with Norton and has ordered him to defend prior to June 15 against undefeated Larry Holmes of Easton, Pa.

Promoter Don King estimated that Norton would earn $3 million for a Holmes bout with the challenger getting about $300,000. Las Vegas is expected to be the site of the fight in late May or ear-

A pair of guards, 6-0 Marshall Smith Jr. and 6-3 Bill McGee, have become Lubbock Christian College's first cage recruits of the year.

Smith hails from Albuquerque Highland and played on the 1977 Class AAAA state-runner-up team. This year he was voted All-City on the players team and All-District on the coaches team. ## Schmidt New Phil Captain

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) - Third baseman Mike Schmidt, the most prolific major league home run hitter in the past four seasons, has been named captain of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The decision to appoint Schmidt was made Wednesday after a 100 per cent vote of the players, said Danny Ozark, manager of the two-time National League East champions.

"I don't think it's any big deal," said Schmidt, 28. "I'm not going to have a big "C" on my uniform. I'm not going to be any different as a person than I am now.

"It might add another dimension to my game, a dimension of responsibility," he continued. Schmidt, a three-time major league home run champion, lost his league title to George Foster of Cincinnati last sea-

He still has hit 150 homers in the last four seasons. The next closest is 124 hit by Reggie Jackson of the American League.

In a little over five seasons, Schmidt has blasted 169 homers, driven in 474 runs and compiled a career batting average of .256. Last year, he hit .274 with 38 homers and 100 RBI.

Schmidt has often been booed at Veterans Stadium because he strikes out so much and takes home a big paycheck.

"The easiest way to settle this thing is for me and Spinks to fight. I really don't think that will happen very soon.

"I'll fight Holmes right off and I'll fight Spinks and Ali right off the bat, too. But I'm really not looking past Holmes at this point although I'll fight any of them.

"It is obvious that Ali doesn't want to fight me and neither does Spinks."

Sulaiman said the WBC was "treated in bad faith and fooled" when it approved the Ali-Spinks fight even though Ali had promised to meet the winner of a 15round bout between Jimmy Young and Norton before having another title fight.

"I do not believe in champions ducking No. 1 challengers," said Sulaiman, who termed Ali a great champion willing to face all comers until the last two years.

'We are very proud for what we have done for boxing," the WBC president

When asked what he thought of a court suit in Las Vegas attempting to thwart the recognition of Norton, he commented: "I would say if we are going to be sued for respecting the law, I would gladly accept a suit every day. We have done the proper thing, respecting our constituton and trying to bring integrity and hon-

He said both Spinks and Ali had signed statements before notaries agreeing to box Norton.

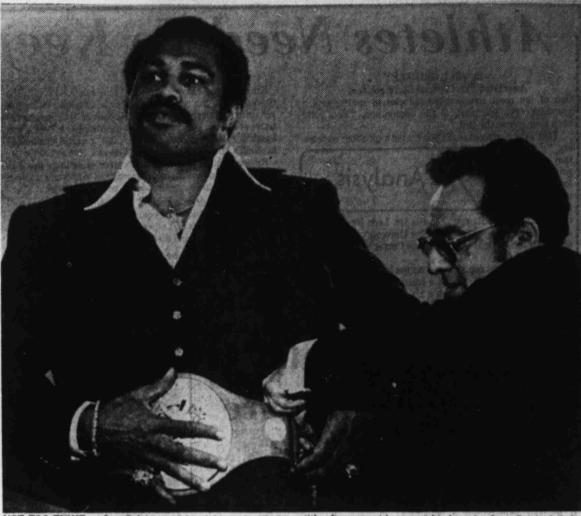

The new WBC champion has had two previous fights for the undisputed title. He was knocked out by George Foreman in Caracas, Venezuela, and lost to Ali in a close 15-round decision in New York in 1976. Before that, he beat Ali in San Diego and lost a split decision in Los Angeles when they met in non-title bouts. His re-

Norton's manager, Bob Biron, said he felt there were grounds for a suit to halt the planned Spinks-Ali rematch based on the prior agreement with Top Rank, Inc., of New York for a Spinks-Norton title

The question is whether we want to get into lengthy litigation," Biron said. There is no question Norton would de-

Of the WBC decision to name Norton its champion because of his victory over Young, Sulaiman said: "We have good faith. We will not let anybody rule boxing outside the rules. On Dec. 16, Spinks agreed to fight Norton if he beat Ali. He will have the doors open by the WBC to meet our champion anytime."

IOC Ready To Toss Out LA Olympic Bid?

has been the only bidder for the 1984 Summer Olympics up to now, but the cit-'s desire to stage the Games at no cost to local taxpayers has the International Olympic Committee in a furor.

So much so, in fact, that many IOC members reportedly are ready to throw out Los Angeles' bid and invite applications from other cities.

There appeared to be no problem as far as Los Angeles' bid for the 1984 Games is concerned until the IOC received the city's answers to a questionnaire, the Associated Press learned. IOC members are bristling over the tone of the answers.

IOC members say the answers were arrogant, even insulting. Particularly resented was the city's open avowal that it will be responsible for television rights and will basically receive all television revenue. This is in defiance of IOC rules.

Los Angeles is scheduled to present its bid for the 1984 Summer Games to the IOC at Athens in May, IOC members said at least five cities would be ready to take over the Games if asked. Possibilities mentioned were Montreal, Mexico City, Moscow, Munich and Tokyo.

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - University of Wisconsin All-American Mike Eaves won't be suiting up in a Cleveland Barons uniform this season, but the college hockey star will continue playing hockey. Barons' General Manager Harry Howell said the college star has turned down a multiyear contract offer from the Barons, and will not turn pro this season.

The IOC has insisted in the past that it must have the final word on television contracts. It has a regular formula for splitting up the revenue, with a little more than one-third going to the IOC and the rest to the local organizing commit-

Every city applying for the Olympics has to fill out a questionaire, in which it is required to outline its basic plans for the Games and agree to certain conditions laid down by the IOC.

The 86 members of the IOC have been sent copies of the Los Angeles questionaire and were surprised to find the city taking a strong independent line.

Los Angeles said that "every reasonable effort will be made to accomodate the needs of the IOC and the federations," but it added that "all final decisions must be reserved to the local organizing committee."

On television revenue, Los Angeles said it will take it all, adding that "it is anticipated that the organizing committee will enter into an agreement to remit an appropriate portion of the television rights net revenue to the IOC."

IOC members, speaking privately, say if Los Angeles persists in its attitudes, it will lose the Games. No applicant city has ever dared to take such a line with the IOC. IOC members are puzzled by a complete change in Los Angeles' attitude since four years ago when the city applied for the 1980 Games, losing out to Moscow. In the 1980 bid, Los Angeles made a highly favorable impression on the IOC and its answers to the questionnaire were a model of what was expect-

The belief was that Los Angeles, knowing it is the only applicant for 1984, assumed it was certain to receive the bid and therefore was in a position to dictate

"We still love them," said John Argue, president of the Southern California Committee for the Olympic Games, speaking of the IOC.

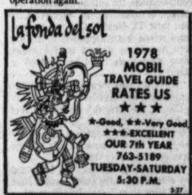

'They (the IOC) have a rule that all the television money goes to them and then is divided up," said John R. MacFaden, vice president of the Southern California organizing group. "We're seeking an exception to that rule in that the television revenue will come to Los Angeles and will be divided up with the IOC. I don't think that's arrogant.

Athletes Need To Keep 'Both' Eyes On Ball

Associated Press Special Correspondent
One of the most compounded fallacies in sports, says a prominent eye specialist, is the admonition, "You gotta keep your eye on the ball.'

That's the reason baseball players get a hit about once every four times they go to bat, golfers blow sixfoot putts and players miss shots that ought to be easy putaways," insists Dr. Leon Revien, optometrist of 30 years out of Columbia University and director of the Athletes Visual Skills Training Center in Fresh Mead-

"You don't just keep your eye on the ball. You must keep both eyes on the ball. It's all a matter of improving visual skills. I am positive that, with a little work, I could fix it so that Dave Kingman would hit 60 home runs a year and Rod

Kingman, the rangy ex-Met and ex-Yankee now with the Chicago Cubs, has one of baseball's classic home run swings yet suffers from "strikeoutitis." He fanned 143 times in 439 times at-bat last season. Carew, of the Minnesota Twins, was baseball's leading batter whose .388 average challenged baseball's last .400 hitter - Ted Williams, .406 in 1941.

Revien, who now is making a career of refining the eyesight of some of the leading personalities in sports, said he is amazed at the little attention given to proper vision.

"Go into any dressin room," he added, "and you see millions of dollars' worth of equipment - exercise machines, chest pulls, weights and other gadgets. Huge sums are spent for special trainers and dieticians

"Nothing is ever done for the eyes. No other part of the anatomy is as important to the performance in most sports.'

The doctor's clients have included the entire New York Islander hockey team, Coach Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, tennis stars Billie Jean King and Virginia Wade, minor league baseball affiliates of the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers as well as golfers and football players. With the baseball players, he claims to have reduced the strikeout ratio by 50.8 per cent and improved the contact ratio - bat meeting ball - 38 per cent.

Britain's Miss Wade, who beat Chris Evert for the Wimbledon ladies' title last year, gave much of the credit to Dr. Revien. "He speeded up my eye reflexes and I gained greater effectiveness on the court," Virginia said.

Similar credit came from Glenn Resch, all-star goal-tender of the Islanders, who said visual training enabled him to record one of the best goals-against records in the National Revien contends 100 per cent of the errors made in sports, other than mental mistakes, can be traced to misjudgment through improper vision.

When you look through a stereoscope during an eye checkup, you usually see two circles, showing your two eyes are not in the same focus," he said.

"I have developed rotars - some call it a hypnotic wheel - to improve visual skills. It takes 4-10ths of a second for a pitched ball to reach home plate. The batter has 2-10ths of a second to get the bat around. We have cut that ratio to 1-100ths of a second#

Revien said apparently only one of Kingman's eyes follows the ball while the other is wandering off into space somewhere, creating a blur. "Ted Williams had wonderful eye control," he added. "He could follow the seams on the ball as it sped toward the plate at 100 miles an hour. Hank Aaron said he saw the ball hit the bat. Carew also has great visual skill. But even these great hitters have called upon only about 75 per cent of their visual skill. Imagine the results if Kingman or Carew made contact with the hall 30 or 40 more times a season.

The optometrist, who plans a golfers' clinic at the American Optical Classie in Sutton, Mass., Aug. 10-20, said Jack-

Nicklaus undoubtedly would grade high on any visual scale: "Few men are better able to read the subtleties of the green," he said. "Few have Jack's ability to concentrate, but even Nicklaus could profit from a session with my ma-

'What do you mean they're on the same day?" was the first reaction of Scotty Connal, the network's vice president of sports operations, when he learned that NBC had acquired matched tourneys the Dinah Shore Winners Circle and the Greater Greensboro Open.

"If something like this had happened any other time in the year, I would have taken a vacation," said Jack Bennett, a former cameraman turned technical su pervisor. "But the weather's lousy at the

NBC, which has had the Greensboro stop on the men's PGA tour for the past two years, negotiated successfully last September for the ladies' Dinah Shore classic in Rancho Mirage, near Palm Springs, Calif. It may not be a marriage made in heaven, but Connal now considers the partnership "a real challenge."

There's no question we're going to do it and do it well," Connal said. "But it really is staggering when you consider the logistics involved.

The normal army of foot soldiers, cap-Nicklaus' exploits into America's living rooms automatically had to be doubled Ditto for the tons of equipment and miles of television cable.

NBC has one basic crew that works on golf events. This veteran team will be heading for Palm Springs and the ladies' event pretty much intact.

'We don't think Greensboro's coverage will be any weaker or stronger than the Dinah Shore," said Connal. "But we felt like keeping as many people together as possible. We've been to Greensboro before. We know the course and its technical problems. The Dinah Shore is a mons-

Bailey Picks School Over NBA Draft

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) - Rutgers University basketball star James Bailey announced Wednesday that he will return to school and not apply to the National Basketball Association hardship

Bailey, a 6-foot-9 center, made his decision after spending a few days with his parents in Boston and conferring with ceach Tom Young. It was expected Bailey would have been one of the top five picks in the NBA June collegiate draft. Bailey was not available for comment.

"Obviously I'm pleased he is staying," aid Young. "I have respected James as a person and player for three years, and I respect him even more today. This says a ot for Rutgers University and its basketball program."

Bailey considered the decision a private matter and refused to speculate at any point during the season as to which department, ripped up the road, laid the wires and repaved with blacktop. NBC, of course, had to foot the bill.

Doubling the number of cameramen presented a special problem. "Golf cameramen are specialized," said Bennett. "It's not like covering any other sport. It isn't easy following a tiny ball when it's hit 300 yards away.

Bennett estimated that cameramen lose about 20 per cent of the long-range shots. "You just have to fake it." he said. "Slow zoom back and a slow zoom down - and pray." But if divine intervention hasn't helped, the director then gets involved, giving us those dandy reactions from caddies, cuties in the gallery or the golfer himself.

"If the sun is behind the golfer, then it can be very rough," said Bennett. "Anywhere else, it's like a white marshmallow in the sky.

More than 360 people and at least 33 cameras will assemble to provide seven hours of weekend golf action. Jim Simpson, Arnold Palmer and touring pros Marlene Floyd and Susan O'Connor will describe the Dinah Shore event. Teaming up at Greensboro will be John Brodie, Bruce Devlin, Jay Randolph and Bob

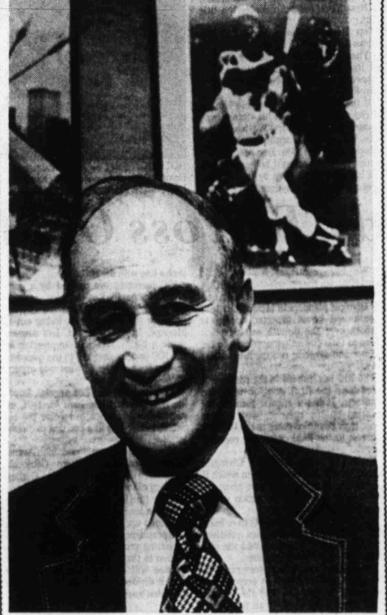

Will the folks at home sit still for 31/2 continuous hours of golf?

"I think so," said Connal. "Your golf viewer is sophisticated, a real hard-core. He'll watch golf."

And NBC is banking that the male golfer will also be watching the women.

"Ladies golf can be more interesting to watch," said Larry Cirillo, producer of NBC's Dinah Shore coverage. "I can't play like Jack Nicklaus or Arnold Palmer, so I can learn more from watching the women.

'Your average golfer is not going to duplicate what Jack Nicklaus does. But he can do what the ladies do."

MIDLAND (Special) - Jeff Harp clouted a solo home run over the left field fence in the ninth inning to lift Monterey past Midland Lee 7-6 Wednesday.

Harp pounded a high fast ball beyond the 350-foot marker in left field on the first pitch of the final inning. The Plainsmen catcher drove in four runs to lead the MHS win.

Harp's homer preserved the win for MHS pitcher Ron Reeves (5-0), who struck out 13 and walked 1. Reeves calmed two Lee uprisings as the Rebels placed a potential winning run on second base in the bottom of the seventh and potential tying run on second in the bottom of the ninth.

The win lifted MHS to 9-3 for the year and extended the Plainsmen winning streak to six. Lee fell to 12-6 overall. Monterey jumped to a 6-0 lead with 2 runs in the first and 4 more in the second. Returned to the baseball diamond earlier this week by federal court order and against the rules of the UIL, Miss Williams, 18, Wednesday became the first Texas girl to challenge the governing body of high school sports and play in a boys' baseball game.

With one day of practice behind her, Coach Lugene Jones sent Miss Welliams to right field in front of a more experienced boy, and she failed.

Miss Williams committed a four-run error on her only tough fielding play. She went hitless in two official at-bats and she sagged dejectedly on the bench after her team wus beaten 7-0.

World 600 Offers Most Money Ever

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - A purse of $350,000 was announced Wednesday for the World 600 stock car race on May 28 at the Charlotte Motor Speedway. The purse, highest ever for the 600-mile chase, put the World 600 second only to the Daytona 500 in money posted for stock car races. Daytona paid a total of $453,000 for this year's race in February. Officials of the Charlotte track said the winner of the World 600, longest event on the 30-race NASCAR Grand National circuit, could take home more than $70,000 by having a flawless performance. That would include the winner's share of $40,-000, another $15,000 for leading the race and $15,000 for winning the pole position. Richard Petty, defending World 600 champion, earned more than $69,000 in last May's $303,000 World 600. His total was a record for stock car racing and exceeded all the prize money Petty's father Lee collected when he won the Grand National championship in 1959. Second place in the World 600 will be worth $25,000 and third place will earn $16,000, not including qualifying and lap

And when you don't compete you don't lower your times any, some say.

Despite the poor overall performances, there were still a pair of top showings registered by Hub City competitors.

At the Hobbs meet, which saw the New Mexicans sweep the Texicans 1-2-3 in the overall standings, Monterey high jumper Chuck Perry registered a 6-8. His previous best had been a 6-7, eighth in the

Although the jump would have been enough to win most meets by a few inches, Perry had to settle for the silver medal. He and a leaper from Clovis both leaped the height but Perry had more misses on earlier attempts, so..

The 6-8, however, is still good enough to lead the city by seven inches. Bringing up second is Pat Randolph of LCHS at 6-

Freddie Ivory of Estacado also left his mark on the Big Spring meet, leaping 23-1 in the long jump and tossing the discus 156-4 for a pair of wins.

The long jump mark topped his previous best by a little more than six inches. However, the EHS senior's discus toss was five feet short of his city-leading 161-

Ivory is currently the Hub's top fieldevent performer, leading the long jump and discus along with a fifth in the shot

Joe Robinson, the Plainsmen's top hurdler, cut his time in the 120 highs from 15.6 to 15.2 at Hobbs and remains the city's number one high stepper.

The only significant change in the City's Top Six came in the 440 yard relay where Estacado droppedits previous best time by almost a full second to overtake rival Dunbar for the lead. The Matadors clocked a 43.4 Saturday, while Dunbar's best remains at 43.8.

After the race, Estacado coach Percy Hines said he believes the Matadors are now on their way to some much quicker times. He predicted a clocking somewhere in the 42s may be just a baton

Dunbar, which has been suffering through a-rash of injuries since the start of the track season, got a shot in the arm Saturday with the return of speedster Kenneth James.

James, a state qualifier last year, recorded a 10.2 for his best time in the 100 this year. Kenzie Burrell of Estacado still holds the lead at 9.9. However, a healthy James is expected to pass that mark without much difficulty.

Also returning after a week of R&R was Dunbar's Billy Don Hardaway. Hardaway, like teammate James, a state contender a year ago, heaved the shot 50-51/2. In his best event, the discus, Hardaway is still well off the 180 foot range it will take to make the Austin trip again. Hardaway's best plate throw remains at 159-10, three feet behind Ivory. The five Lubbock high schools will attempt to better their best marks Saturday

MR. HOCKEY' HONORED - New England Whaler Gordie Howe wears a wide grin Wednesday as he peers out from behind a giant birthday cake presented to him on the ice shortly before the Whalers-Cincinnati game at Springfield, Mass. at junior high, senior high and college levels for 26 years, compiled an .826 winning percentage. Vaughn coached at Winfield, 12 miles north of Carter's home.

"The only thing they ever asked of me was to do my best. They said that if I played my best, the win-ning and losing would take care of itself. And that's the way I've tried to coach. We never discuss winning. We really have a low-key approach and we don't get up more for one team than we do for any other. The way I look at it, the win ning and losing is secondary to being happy... And I couldn't be happier," Carter said.

The Coronado coach works daily with approximately 25 players. That's the same number he's had in the past but he claims today's players are better athletes and better coached when they reach the senior high level.

"We've started getting the athletes now while we didn't in our first few years. After about three years, the winning attitude caught on. A lot of those good athletes might have played something else if we hadn't done so well," he said. Carter stresses conditioning, fundamentals and situation tactics. His players run a mile three days a week in the fall. Then there's reaction sprints and tennis players have to run lines the way football and basketball players do, too.

Oh yes, and tennis players emerge in living color on the television set the way football and basketball players de ten Obriguele. ketball players do, too. Obviously, the exposure aids the worldwide tennis boom. Yet it causes some unique problems for a coach.

"You know it makes things tougher too. It's hard to discipline when they have these guys like (Jimmy) Connors and (Ilie) Nastase who are so good and yet they throw temper tantrums," Carter

The CHS coach has entertain offers to coach at other schools and various tennis centers. However, when he accepted the job in 1969, Carter intended to stay at Coronado and he still does.

"I don't like moving around. I feel like I'm better off than anybody in my job and I love what I'm doing," he said.

That's another way of saying this Jimmy Carter shall not seek and will not accept the nomination of his party for President of the Unit-

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) - Three goals by Mike Rogers helped the New England Whalers celebrate Gordie Howe's 50th birthday with a 6-1 victory over the Cincinnati Stingers.

And Howe, a hockey legend, was noncommittal about retirement.

He quoted baseball great Al Kaline, saying the former Detroit Tigers star had told him there were nights, near the end of his career, "that he felt good when games were rained out.

too much is expected too quickly of quarterbacks that were successful in high

BUT SOMEONE MUST develop quickly this spring. All the quarterbacks are even at the start, but the field must be narrowed down soon.

Hodgson said, "Being new here, I haven't been able to form many opinions about any of the guys. It would be unfair for me to. But it would be great if someone really stepped forward this spring."

The Tech staff is contemplating installing parts of the I formation into its attack, and the likelihood of this occurring will be greater if the quarterback situation does not develop favorably. There is somewhat less pressure on an I quarterback than on one who operates the split-back veer. Since there is currently no clear-cut No. 1 quarterback, none with Allison's ability and none that now possesses a combination of good run-pass capabilities, it appears that Tech may employ some sort of a dual quarterback system next Obviously, that also would depend on the development or non-development of one or more of the candidates. As Hodgson said, "If you have an Allison, a Bert Jones or a Terry Bradshaw, that takes care of your problem.

seasons, is not in school this semester because of scholastic problems. There is a chance, however, that he can regain his eligibility this summer and play next fall.

Offensively, the Tech staff is considering installing some facets of the I formation into its attack, but that will depend largely on how the quarterback situation develops. Whatever happens, though, the split-back veer will still be the Raiders' basic offensive set.

Tech will also change its basic defensive alignment this spring, going from the even front of the past two seasons back to the five-man front that was last employed in the 1975 campaign.

That, of course, will add one down lineman and subtract one linebacker from the defensive set. The Raiders have a number of line prospects but not enough linebacker types to to be able to go with the three-linebacker setup that they used in 1976 and 1977.

Don Kelly, who started in 1977, is the only linebacker returning with much experience, although junior-to-be Jeff Copeland, a good prospect, saw some action last season. Sophs-to-be Rusty Maroney and Jeff McKinney and junior-college transfer Ricky Kempf are other candidates here.

Curtis Reed, a defensive tackle the past two years, will be worked some at noseguard this spring, as will soph-to-be Jamie Giles.

With starters returning in wideouts Brian Nelson and Godfrey Turnerand tight end James Hadnot, Tech is currently in good shape at receiver.

back memories of when he was a teenage sensation and signed to a $125,000 bonus by the Texas Rangers in 1973. Clyde, less than a month out of Houston's Westchester High School, broke in impressively with the Rangers five years ago. He allowed only one hit in five innings and was the winning pitcher in a 4-3 Texas victory. Since then, his career plagued by an entrapped nerve in his left pitching shoulder that resulted in surgery in 1976 — has gone downhill.

After going 4-8 with Texas in 1973, 3-9 in 1974 and 0-1 in 1975, Clyde spent the rest of the time in the minors, including last year when he was 5-7 at Tucson. And the Rangers finally gave up on him this spring, trading him to the Indians. The new environment apparently has benefitted the 22-year-old Clyde.

"I've learned how to relax," Clyde said after allowing four hits, walking four three in the second inning - and striking out one against the Giants. "I'm a million miles ahead of where I was at mid-season last year," he added. "I'm keyed up, but I'm controlled. I was trying to throw the ball right down the middle. If I get by the first or second inning. I'm okay.

While the Indians had to be encourged by Clyde's performance, the Giants had to be concerned over the condition of Ed

Halicki, scheduled to be San Francisco's opening day pitcher, suffered a slight muscle pull in his left side and left the game in the seventh inning.

In addition to Clyde, several other pitchers were standouts in Wednesday's exhibitions. California's Frank Tanana went seven scoreless innings in the Angels' 10-4 rout over the San Diego Padres.

Rick Wise tossed seven shutout innings as the Boston Red Sox blanked the Pitts-

He grabbed a metal bat Steve Carlton keeps in his locker and banged it angrily against a couple of the dressing cubicles. Before he was finished showing his frustration, he had broken a radio and a few of the plastic name plates above the lockers. For good measure, he broke a few batting helmets, too.

The whole thing was over in two or three minutes and afterward Luzinski was sorry for what he did.

Luzinski had some trouble understanding the fuss which followed his flareup.
"I break a few helmets and it hits the papers like World War III," he said.

You look at him and at the 235 pounds he packs on his oak-like 6-1 frame and get the idea he has the same kind of hide as a rhinoceros. But, actually, he's highly sensitive and that's why it upset him last sea-son when some questioned his motive after he purchased $20,000 worth of tick-ets for the Phillies' home games and had them distributed to crippled kids and various charity groups.

"I did it from the bottom of my heart but some of the press said I only did it as a tax writeoff," says the Phils' husky 27-year-old left-fielder. "If it's such a great tax write-off, how come more people didn't do it?'

Luzinski doesn't care what anyone says. He's doing the same thing this year. Last year, he had the kind of year all ballplayers dream of, driving in 130 runs, hitting 39 homers, batting .309 and leading all other National League outfielders in votes for the All-Star team

Despite all that, Cincinnati's George Foster, who had an even better year, was named MVP.

"I congratulated him when I saw him." says Luzinski. "He's a super individual, but I'll admit not winning the MVP was a little bit of a let-down. Particularly after we lost the playoffs."

Luzinski hit .286 in the playoffs but what everybody remembered most about him was how he failed to come up with Manny Mota's long smash to deep left in the ninth inning of the third game.

The Bull got his glove on the ball but it bounced off for a key double that helped the Dodgers score three runs and win the game. Afterwards, Ozark was secondguessed for not having replaced Luzinski with Kerry Martin for defensive purpos-

"There are a thousand 'ifs' in this game, and Danny (Ozark) would've been criticized either way," says Luzinski. "If he had put Martin in for me in the top of the ninth and Martin hadn't caught the ball, and then came to bat in the bottom of the inning, they would've said 'Why did he take Luzinski out?' This way, they said 'Why did he leave him in?'

"It's a funny game, isn't it?"

WACO (AP) - Shane Nolen and Fritz Connally drilled home runs Wednesday to spark Baylor to a 10-4 nonconference college baseball victory over Hardin-Sim-mons and a split of a doubleheader. Hardin-Simmons won the first game 10-3.

Nolen hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Connally added a three-run shot in the sixth. Andy Beene, 1-2, was the winner and Don Lawson was the los-

In the first game, Allen Lakatta knocked in four runs with a double, single and a two-run homer. Ron McCloud, 43, went the distance for the victory, while Kyle Morrille, 1-1, was the loser. Baylor's record is now 17-9-2, while Mardin-Simmons has a 19-13 mark.

Pocoroba is hitting .419 this spring. "Biff has the best swing in camp," said Braves Manager Bobby Cox. "It's a picture swing. He can flat hit."

The picture was almost on somebody else's wall when Pocoroba and the Braves got into a money dispute in the offseason and the Californian demanded to be traded.

"I gave 'em a list of three clubs, all on the West Coast. I figured if I was gonna be traded, I might as well try to get back home," Pocoroba said.

The Braves said they couldn't swing a fair trade and, after some more squabbling, they and Pocoroba settled their differences.

Rookie Dale Murphy, a catcher who is playing first because of Pocoroba's work, started the Braves' winning rally in the eighth with a single. Barry Bonnell was safe on an error, then a sacrifice and an intentional walk set the stage for Roys-

Pete MacKanin opened the extra inning with a double off losing pitcher Tom Dixon. Sam Mejias bunted for a single before Papi and Carter drove in the runs.

Larry Parreski singled in a run in the seventh for Montreal. Houston scored an unearned run in the eighth and another in the bottom of the ninth on a single by Terry Puhl, a double by Dennis Walling and Wilbur Howard's sacrifice fly.

Second baseman Art Howe twisted an ankle in a hole in the Astros' dugout Wednesday, pitcher Floyd Bannister has been suffering with tonsillitis for two weeks and outfielder Cesar Cedeno is having knee problems.

Houston had no options left on Stanton, a Phenix City, Ala., resident who has pitched in seven major league games during the past three seasons. Stanton was 11-6 with Charleston last season. Syracuse is a Toronto farm team.

HOUSTON (UPI) - A shortened fourweek summer training period hus caused Houston Oiler Coach Bum Phillips to seek a West Texas training site with a drier climate than the East Texus camps he has used the last three preseasons.

Phillips says he is almost certain the Oilers will go to the campus of Angelo State in San Angelo for training camp this summer. A few details still have to be worked out before the announcement is made, he said.

A week ago Phillips said his team's training site would probably be Texas A &I University in Kingsville. His two-day visit to San Angelo this weekend changed his mind. The past three seasons the Oilers have trained in the hot, sticky weather at Huntsville and Nacogdoches.

The company announced the 2.2 percent price increase, effective April 1. on Wednesday. Later in the day, Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. declared an identical price boost, also effective April 1.

The increases, which analysts said could boost the cost of the average automobile by $10 to $15, were immediately attacked as inflationary by the White House Council on Wage and Price Stabili-

It was the steel industry's second price rise of 1978. An industry-wide price increase averaging about 5.5 percent took effect in the first quarter of 1978.

U.S. Steel said that throughout the nearly four-month coal strike, it incurred 'sizable, abnormal and emergency costs" in order to minimize cutbacks in production and employment.

The council said, however, it "esti-

WASHINGTON (AP) - Striking mine construction workers can restore labor peace in the coal fields next week if they ratify a contract offer unanimously endorsed by the United Mine Workers' district leaders.

The union's bargaining council approved the tentative agreement Wednesday, scheduled a ratification vote next Tuesday and predicted it would be approved.

Union officials also urged construction workers to remove pickets that have kept an estimated 18,000 union miners from returning to work, forcing dozens of mines to remain shut.

Meanwhile, UMW President Arnold Miller was reported in stable condition at a Miami hospital after suffering a slight stroke early Wednesday, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Miller, 55, was stricken while on sick leave. His doctor had told him to take a rest following last Saturday's signing of a new three-year contract with the soft coal industry to formally end a 31/2-month nationwide strike by 160,000 miners.

If the construction workers approve their accord, they could be back at work by next Wednesday, said union officials.

J. B. Trout, a bargaining council member from District 30 in eastern Kentucky, said he expects construction workers to approve the new accord.

"I don't think there will be any problem with ratification," he said.

"It's not a bad contract," said Don Lawley, a council member from District 21 in Arkansas.

Mitzi Gaynor's TV Special Studies 'What's Hot'

By VERNON SCOTT HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A considerable segment of this country's populace is mesmerized by what's "in" and what's 'out;" who's important, who isn't.

They are captivated by anything "trendy." They read scandal sheets, gossip columns. People and Us magazines to hang in there with the jet set, rising celebrities, fading stars, rumor and speculation.

This sizable group of Americans lives largely vicariously. They feel almost as if they know Jackie O., Andy Warhol, Marisa Berenson, Margaux Hemingway, Halston, Bianca Jagger and other "smart" folk, many of whom have achieved little else but celebrity.

Their parties, pranks and peccadillos are chronicled with all the zeal of news coverage of the Middle East powder keg. Curiously, few of the trendy, smart clique registered all that well with several hundred newspaper editors polled by producer Jack Bean, who is also Mitzi Gaynor's husband.

Bean's research was instigated for the theme of Mitzi's annual television special, the title of which this year is "Mitzi ... What's Hot, What's Not," beaming April 6 on CBS-TV.

Mitzi said the other day, "We tried to get the Harris Poll and the Gallup Poll to find out who and what people most admired these days. But they didn't have

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) - If the American television audience liked it the first time, chances are they'll love it in reruns.

Before the over-40 crowd assumes a superior posture, how many remember sitting through Saturday afternoon double features at the local movie house as many times as curfew would allow? It's something in our natures to never get enough of a good thing - well, maybe good is the wrong word, but that's a matter of taste. Whatever the reason, one of the peculiar truisms of the television business is that when popular shows go into reruns, they lose little in the ratings. The Nielsen ratings for the week ending March 26 illustrate the point. In the top 11 shows there was a tie for tenth place) six are

At the bottom of the list, among the last 11 shows only two are repeats and they are programs that haven't been scoring well as first runs — "Hardy Boys-Nancy Drew" and "Kojak."

> CBS suffered mild disappointment on the reception of its "CBS: On the Air" 50th anniversary show opener March 26,but it could have been worse. Matter of fact, it looked worse in the overnights from New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, in which CBS took its time period only in New York.

> In the national Nielsen ratings, "On the Air" tied in its two-hour time slot with the ABC Sunday movie, "SST: Disaster in the Sky" in its share of audience.

The top network television programs for the week ending March 26, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1: "Three's Company;" 2: "Laverne & Shirley;" 3: "M-A-S-H;" 4: "Charlie's Angels;" 5: "Eight Is Enough;" 6: "Little House on the Prairie;" 7: "Perry Como's Easter;" 8: "Soap;" 9: "SST: Disaster in the Sky;" 10: (tie) "Quincy" and "CBS: On the Air."

'Star Trek' Fans Eagerly Await Movie

By JERRY BUCK
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "Star Trek" motion picture, finally in sight of a friendly planet, probably will have the most loyal waiting audience in the film industry's history.

The original cast of the "Star Trek" television series - including Leonard Nimoy as the Vulcan Mr. Spock - has been assembled for the movie, which has been floating in space for years.

Michael Eisner, president of Paramount Pictures, has said that demands from "Star Trek" fans all over the world had spurred the studio to reach agreement for the major motion picture.

He said it would include extensive special effects and cost more than all the original 79 TV episodes. That would place the budget at about $15 million.

Eisner said the popularity of "Star Trek" could be credited to the fact that "at a time when some people say we won't last another 40 years 'Star Trek' takes an optimistic view of the future. It says that man's adventure has just be-

Production was announced at a news conference that resembled a miniversion of Star Trek conventions. It attracted more than 200 newsmen, as well as Barry Diller, chairman of Paramount, and Charles Bludhorn, president of Gulf and Western, the studio's parent company.

"Finally, after some years of trying we've got it all together," said Diller. "It

Nimoy denied that he was a holdout from the movie cast, saying it had been "a complicated relationship with Paramount for the last several years. The main reason was that the mail service between here and Vulcan is slow."

Nimoy said he looked forward to playing Mr. Spock. "I wouldn't want any one else to play Spock and I wouldn't want to see a 'Star Trek' movie without him." The "Star Trek" series, which aired on NBC in 1966-69, has been one of the most profitable ever placed into syndication. The movie will be directed by Academy Award winner Robert Wise and be produced by Gene Roddenberry, creator of the TV series.

The Starship Enterprise, namesake of America's first space shuttle, is now being assembled under tight security on four sound stages at Paramount

Dow Jones Drops 1.99 To 759.79

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices fell today as analysts said large institutional traders are concerned about inflation and what the government will do to fight it.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 1.99 to 759.79. Losers outnumbered gainers 605 to 466 among issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange. "Inflation fears are running wild here," said one analyst. President Carter's chief economist, Charles Schultze, has said that inflation is more serious than administration previously thought. Carter plans to return an anti-inflation plan. "I think he's going to have to do something more than just jawboning," the analyst said.

Percy Foe Backed By President

CHICAGO (AP) - Jimmy Carter, only the second president elected in the 20th century without carrying Illinois, is mending fences here with support for the underdog opponent of Republican Sen. Charles Percy. "If - when - I upset Percy in November I will have turned this state around for the Democrats, and Carter will be in good position to turn it round in 1980," said Alex Seith, the easy winner in last week's Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate.

"I've told them - and I'm sure Carter and his political operatives know - they can't plan on winning re-election in 1980 without bringing Illinois back into shape. They feel my campaign against Percy is the best place to start."

After meeting with Seith in Washington last week, Carter reversed an earlier refusal and said he would attend a Cook County Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago on May 25. Carter's refusal had angered Chicago Democratic Party officials, who believe Carter has ignored them since becoming president.

Carter also sent his mother, Lillian, to Chicago for campaign appearances today on Seith's behalf. Seith said the president will campaign personally for him as the election nears.

Carter's assistance will help establish his credibility, Seith says.

"In the past, presidents dealt with only one Democrat in Illinois - (the late) Mayor (Richard) Daley," Seith said. "Now there are several people who can get things done because of their connections ... If I can get this done as a candidate, look what I could do as the U.S.

Seith, 43, is a partner in the prominent law firm of Lord, Bissell and Brook, where he is a specialist in international

But he is a political unknown and in this first run for office his biggest problem is name recognition. Seith says Percy is known by 98 percent of the state's voters, "while my name is way down there."

Percy enters the race a heavy favorite in a state that fairly evenly divides its vote, the rural downstate counties voting mostly Republican to balance heavily Democratic Chicago. Illinois has a Republican governor, James Thompson; senators of each party, Percy and Democrat Adlai Stevenson III; and a congressional delegation split 12-12.

The last president who won without Illinois was Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

Percy has established a national reputation as a liberal Republican who champions the causes of Israel and tax re-

He first won his seat 12 years ago by beating the popular Democratic incumbent, Paul Douglas, his former law professor at the University of Chicago. Six years ago, Percy trounced his challenger, veteran Rep. Roman Pucinski, with 61 percent of the vote.

But a Seith victory would give them something to talk about," Seith said. "Democrats don't like to talk about it, but traditionally the party in power loses 30 to 40 House seats in the mid-term election. But if, when, I win, the national news won't be about the seats the Democrats lost. It will be about the upset in Illinois ... And it will show that Carter can help turn around a key state.

Lawyers Await Ruling In Murder Case

Lubbock attorneys for a 16-year-old Aspermont youth, held here in connection with the Jan. 24 slaying of three members of an Aspermont family, are awaiting a Texas Supreme Court ruling that may allow their client to be tried as a ju-A hearing to determine whether the youth should be tried as an adult originally was scheduled for Wednesday, but Judge William P. Ratliff granted a defense motion for continuance, which postponed the hearing until April 13. In the meantime, Lubbock attorneys

Clifford and Mike Brown are awaiting a Supreme Court ruling on their request for a writ of mandamus. The court has been asked to grant their motion for an adjudication hearing, in which the youngster would be tried as a juvenile. Lawyer Mike Brown said Wednesday the motion essentially is a request for a speedy, juvenile trial.

Brown said both he and co-counsel, Clifford Brown, have presented "sufficiently unique" legal questions in the case that the motion must be heard directly by the Supreme Court, as an original, rather than appellate, action.

The motion for the writ of mandamus was filed with the state's Supreme Court on March 17, Brown said. The young suspect has been in the Lubbock County Jail since Feb. 1, following an order by Judge Ratliff, who presided at a detention hearing for the youngster. If the youngster were tried as a juvenile, he would circumvent the possibility of facing murder charges. Early on the morning of Jan. 24, H. W. Swink, 38, general manager of the Stonewall County Feed and Supply store in Aspermont, his wife of four months, and his 14-year-old son from a previous marriage, were slain in their modest Aspermont home.

For the moment, the 16-year-old suspect has been accused of delinquency in connection with the shooting.
