

A District I session of librarians in Plainview last week was attended by Muleshoe's two librarians Mrs. Bernis Camp, Muleshoe Area Public library chief, and Georgia Pena, Bookmobile librarian. The meeting in Plainview was held to discuss a one-day library conference called by Gov. John Connally for March 23 next year. Mrs. Camp said the Muleshoe TLA members at the Plainview institute were "invited to detail their local library problems in order that they may be incorporated in the conference study of overall state problems."

Capt. and Mrs. John C. Gilbreath and son have concluded a visit to the Rufus Gilbreath home. He is enroute to San Francisco and will leave from there soon for an assignment in Viet Nam. The 28-year-old soldier recently completed an armor officer career course at the U. S. Army Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky. He entered the army in 1960 and is a 1956 graduate of New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell and a 1960 graduate of the University of Miami at Coral Gables.

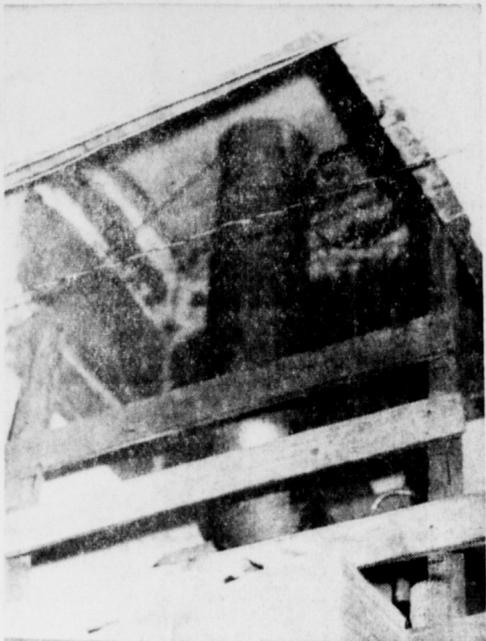

Staff Sgt. R. L. Gabbert, son of Mrs. W. C. McMahon, Muleshoe, is now in Viet Nam in the fight against Communist aggression. Sgt. Gabbert is a radio repairman in the Pacific Air Forces, and is a 1955 graduate of Muleshoe high school.

Muleshoe Area Bookmobile will be in Lums Chapel, Spade Hart Camp and Fieldtin Friday and in Olton and Littlefield Saturday. It was announced by Georgia Pena, the librarian. The bookmobile will not operate today, Thanksgiving day.

Weekend guests in the Art Ryan home in the YL community were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ray from Loveland, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Decker, Tucson, Ariz., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnett in the YL community. Mr. Decker is a retired army officer, and they were enroute to Wichita Falls to spend the holidays with a son and his family. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Decker.

Perryton Nips Mules In Final Grid Game

Muleshoe Mules wound up their 1965 grid season last Saturday afternoon with an elaborate homecoming celebration staged in summer-like sun, but the Mules lost their final game. They were bested 27-7 by the Perryton Rangers who grabbed a seven-point lead in the second quarter, held it through the third and then put on a 13-point outburst in the fourth period to smother the Mules. It was the final I-AAA game for each squad.

Gilbreath Wins Football Prize

This past week's Journal football prizes were won by two men whose names have not appeared on the 1965 list before — Sanford Gilbreath, 212 W. 6th, and Ken Splawn, who won first and second places respectively. Both men missed two predictions, but Gilbreath's guess on the Muleshoe-Perryton score was more nearly correct.

Gilbreath wrongly picked Wyoming over Arizona State, and Kentucky over Tennessee. Splawn missed the Yale-Harvard game and the SMU-Baylor setto.

The contest continues and rules for this week's guessing game can be found in this issue.

AA's Planning Area Meeting In Muleshoe

Muleshoe group of Alcoholics Anonymous Wednesday extended an invitation to "all interested people" to attend a round-robin meeting of area groups to be held in the Muleshoe high school cafeteria Sunday. The session will start at 2 p.m. and will conclude with a supper.

A spokesman for the group said the organization is "issuing a special invitation to police, ministers, teachers, attorneys and all who have contact with alcoholics."

Three speakers are slated on the program, one a highly successful business man in Dallas who helped establish AA in Austin more than 20 years ago. A woman from Midland who has spoken at the organizations state convention, will follow. An Al-Anon, wife of an AA from Amarillo will conclude the speakers' roster.

Yule Lighting Go on Tomorrow

Muleshoe's Christmas lights go on tomorrow night to mark the opening officially of the 1965 Christmas season, but the big day will come a week and a day later; Santa Claus will come to town for the first time this year Saturday, Dec. 4.

Meantime, merchants were hurrying with the unpacking of merchandise, and around town people were beginning to ready their lighting systems for participation in the annual home lighting contest.

Stores already are taking on the Christmas look, and some downtown shops already have converted their showwindows into Christmas fair-lands.

Muleshoe will have the biggest Christmas stock in its history, says Doug Haynes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants committee.

PARMER COUNTY CONTEST PLANNED

Fancy Tail Feathers to Draw Prizes for Pheasant Hunters

While some are still arguing that there aren't enough pheasants in this area yet to warrant a season, Parmer county Game Management Association is going right ahead with preparations for a pheasant contest, opening Wed. Dec. 1 and running through Dec. 7.

Points out the sponsors: Points out association president Jack Patterson: "Around 55 to 70 percent of a hatch is made up of cocks, and since only one cock is needed for eight hens, there are enough birds to assure propagation of pheasants in this area." He points out that only cocks may be hunted.

Longest pheasant trail feathers will determine winners in the association's three separate contests set up at Bovina, Farwell and Friona. Patterson says. The five awards will be

Officers Busy; Murder, Burglary Top Flock of Weekend Crimes

With a murder, a grocery store burglary and a flock of lesser crimes, city, county and state officers here had a busy weekend that even included a threat by two irate Muleshoe women who told Sheriff Dee Clements they were going to "shoot their no-good husbands."

Arrested on a charge of murder after he waked into city police headquarters Saturday night and calmly announced he had killed his son-in-law was David Vester Johnson, a Muleshoe Negro.

A short time later, Sam Harris Jr., 29, the son-in-law, was pronounced dead on arrival at Green Memorial Hospital here. The shooting occurred at a farm northwest of Blondie Puckett's corner on U. S. 84.

Arrested before Justice Joe Vaughn Monday, Johnson pleaded not guilty and was demed bond. He was due to appear before a grand jury this week. Complaint listed the charge at murder with malice.

Sheriff Clements said Harris was struck twice — once in the abdomen and once in the shoulder, by bullets from a 22-caliber rifle. Harris was janitor at Green Memorial hospital and a native of Cushing. Services were at 3 p.m. Wednesday in St. Matthew's Baptist church here with the Rev. Mac Frazier, pastor, in charge. Singleton Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Officers still are looking for a "small-ish" man or woman who was tiny enough to squeeze through an old air-vent opening in the roof of White's Cashway grocery sometime last Saturday night but then apparently forgot what he was doing in the

125 Attend First Golden Age Session, Second Meeting Set

Old folks — 125 of them — got together here Monday for what may be the first of many cozy gatherings during the winter and spring months it plans to form a golden age organization here next month.

Monday's meeting, held in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church, was sponsored by the Bailey County Committee for Senior Citizens, and was in the nature of a "feeler" for such a program in Bailey county. Heading the Committee of Sixteen which is promoting the senior citizen program is the Rev. J. Frank Peery.

Mr. Peery said Wednesday that a second such meeting will be held in December, and at that time it will be decided whether to set up a permanent organization.

Sponsors were "very pleased" with the turnout at Monday's initial session and many expressed the opinion that a permanent organization will be perfected here.

Age of those turning out for the all-afternoon party ranged from 60 to above 90, but regardless of age, all had an "awfully good time," as one 80-year-old put it. There was the oldster who vowed he climbed off a cotton stripper to attend the meeting. He said he was born in 1888.

"However," he explained,

"I'm not actually losing any time off the stripper anyway because the cotton still has too many green bolls."

At the initial meeting there was old-time singing, visiting, refreshments and more visiting. Tye Young led the singing. More than 80 persons signed cards indicating they would be interested in joining a permanent organization if one is established next month.

The second meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 13, also in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church.

Ban Farm Aid? Yes, Says Solon If All Other Aids Eliminated

Congressman Walter Rogers told a Muleshoe audience that he would "favor elimination of all controls and all aids for farm if they will go farther and abolish aid to all industries — rail-shipping, manufacturing, postal, communication and the myriad other industries that are given subsidies in one form or another by our government."

The congressman was making his first swing through his new enlarged 18th district which now includes this county along with Lamb and Parmer counties. With the congressman were several followers and State Representatives Bill Clayton who also formerly served this district.

Rogers pointed to the "complicated society in which we live today, one which is so complex that a power failure such as was suffered recently in the northeast virtually paralyzed an entire section. He said he was leaving this week for Washington to head a committee investigating the power failure in New York and New England.

"We are simply glad that such an event took place at a time when we were not engaged in an all-out war. Maybe through our investigation we can learn the cause of such failures and prevent them in the future."

Rogers said he was glad to be "a part of the larger district, and I am glad to have you folk in the district which I have represented for so long.

Rogers touched on one of his favorite subjects — development of the nation's natural resources. He long has been an advocate of developing these resources.

Rogers is a member of two important standing committees — the committee on interstate and foreign commerce and the committee on interior and interior affairs. As a member of these committees he is chairman of two active subcommittees, both of which exercise jurisdiction over the nation's energy sources. Rogers is chairman of the commerce committee subcommittee on communications and power and chairman of the interior committee subcommittee on irrigation and reclamation.

The communications and power subcommittee has jurisdiction over the adequacy of petroleum, natural gas and electric energy resources for the needs of the nation's expanding economy and its defense; the adequacy, promotion, regulation and safety of facilities for extracting, generating, transmitting and distributing these resources; the development of synthetic liquid fuel processes; the regulation of security issue and control of natural gas pipeline companies; and the administration by the federal power commission of statutes which it administers.

The Irrigation and Reclamation Subcommittee has jurisdiction over irrigation and reclamation matters, including water supply for reclamation projects and easements of public lands for irrigation projects, and acquisition of private lands when necessary to complete irrigations projects; interstate compacts relating to the apportionment of waters for irrigation purposes; the multiple pur-

10 New Books Received Here

Anna Camp, librarian for the Muleshoe Area Public Library, announced the arrival of a number of new books, including the 10 described below:

A Pillar of Iron by Taylor Caldwell; author of Dear & Glorious Physician; Miss Caldwell has written her most ambitious novel. This one, A Pillar of Iron is a well documented account of Cicero and how he tried to save Rome. (New York Times — 9 weeks on best seller list.)

Those who Love, by Irving Stone. A stirring novel of Abigail and John Adams, written by the master of biographical fiction. Chosen as the October selection of the Literary Guild.

Night of Camp Davis, by Fletcher Knebel. Co-author of the best-seller Seven Days in May, has more than matched the drama of that thrilling story, in this, his latest book.

With All My Love, by Penny DeFore — A sensitive, deeply moving account of an American teenager's year of caring for orphans and crippled children in Korea. As the teen-age daughter of Don DeFore, star of the TV show "Hazel", Penny possessed every material comfort of life; and the question is asked, why would such a girl wish to go half way around the world to work as a volunteer in a poverty-stricken land? The answer is in this heartwarming true story.

Three on a Toothbrush, by Jack Paar — This is Paar at his witest best, as he recounts his adventures and misadventures around the world. More than just funny, it's an account of notable personalities, stirring events and side-splitting episodes from every corner of the globe!

The Slender Reed by Noel B. Gerson is the story of the courageous man who led his country to victory over Mexico, and brought Texas into the United States. A sweeping biographical novel of James Knox Polk, a man hounded by the threat of death, who traveled from a simple farmhouse in Tennessee, to the White House. Our 11th president who led the country in the fight with Mexico and won!

The Man with the Golden Gun by Ian Fleming . . . In this his last great adventure story, finished just before his untimely death, the author of the James Bond (Secret agent, 007) stories, pits 007's wits and strength against one of the world's most astute criminals, "Scaramanga". This makes a total of eight James Bond books at the library.

The Mustang Trail by L. L. Foreman, a Double D. Western. Rogue Bishop once again faces his old antagonist Don Ricardo, the suave, shrewd Mexican bandit chief, in a swift moving tale of action with more than a touch of humor.

Relative to Death by Stanton Forbes — a Crime Club special, is author Forbes at his suspenseful best.

Wanderers Eastward, Wanderers West by Kathleen Winsor, author of "To America — With Love" and "Forever Amber". Seven years of writing and research went into this absorbing new novel. The story of the rugged men who first found gold, silver and copper in the West and covering a twenty year span of history of the north-west, this is a robust and romantic novel you won't want to miss.

Of Law and Love

On Drinking A Cigar Held liable for damages, the defendant in a lawsuit angrily demanded that his lawyer seek a new trial.

"The plaintiff deliberately tampered with the jury," he charged, "by treating each juror to an expensive cigar. We have a statute forbidding that sort of thing."

"All our statute forbids," reported the plaintiff, "is treating the jury to 'food or drink'. Cigars are neither food nor drink. Therefore, I am in the clear."

But the court, taking into consideration the purpose of the statute, decided that "food or drink" did include cigars. As one judge explained, we can "drink" the wind — so why can't we "drink" a cigar?

That is an extreme case, of course. But it illustrates why the law is not always content with the definitions given in the dictionaries. A dictionary would scarcely define a cigar as something to drink. Yet the court felt that, to fulfill the purpose of this particular statute, it must reach beyond a mere dictionary definition.

Oddly enough, one reason Lawyer Noah Webster wrote his dictionary was that he found Samuel Johnson's dictionary inadequate in its definitions of legal terms. Still, the law constantly finds it necessary to look further for the last word on words.

Suppose, for instance, that somebody sues you for calling him a "crook."

A dictionary will provide the general meaning of that word. But exactly what did you mean when you said it? Did you growl it, in earnest, at the corporation president in a stockholders' meeting? The difference in meaning is enormous.

The same is true of words you use in making a contract. A dictionary will define "profit" and "approximately" and "guarantee." But the law must

Keep the Change
PARIS, Tenn. (AP) — George Ray has discovered that tearing up a $5 bill can be more serious than the loss of the cash. Ray went to police headquarters to pay a $15 speeding ticket. He dropped a $20 bill on the sergeant's desk and said, "Keep the change."

The sergeant insisted that Ray take the change. Ray walked out.

A police car overtook him and an officer handed him the $5 bill and a receipt. Ray tore both up and tossed the remains on the sidewalk.

The officer arrested Ray for destroying government property and littering, maximum penalty: $30.

Muleshoe FFA Wins Area Prize

Senior chapter FFA conducting team won first place in the Littlefield district contest Saturday and the local FFA will compete in Area 1 leadership contest in Canyon Saturday, Dec. 4, according to Bill Bickel, sponsor. The area includes the South Plains and Texas Panhandle.

Members of the team competing in the Littlefield events were Jerry Redwine, Varylon Scoggin, Ricky Barrett, Neal Knight, Clifford Black, Gus Taylor, Charle Moraw, Larry Crawford, Gary Little and Larry Seales.

The farm radio team, consisting of Benny Bruns, Dean Black and Jimmy King, placed second. The subject was cotton defoliation.

The Muleshoe Greenhand quiz team placed fifth, members were Kenneth King, Carl Gable, Dennis Humiston and Larry Kichen.

Guess What He Said!

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Here's how a weekend of fishing at his clubhouse on the Kaskaskia River occupied Charles E. Nichols, mayor of Belleville.

First, the well pump wouldn't work. The mayor had to haul water three miles from town. While running his trolling, his carbide headlamp flamed and Nichols dunked his cap into the river to put out the fire.

While on an errand after baiting his fishlines, someone stole his new outboard motor from his boat. And when he wanted to report the theft, he couldn't start his car because the motor was dead.

The atmosphere weighs as much as a layer of water 34 feet deep.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson to date on Castro, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
Because a man can't handle more than five or six trouble spots at a time, the newspapers have been neglecting Fidel Castro over in Cuba lately, but I found a newspaper yesterday which brought me up to date. According to it, Castro is having some trouble keeping the Cubans contented and is now doubling up on his promises. For example, he has promised that by 1975 every child in Cuba, if he hasn't left for the United States, will get one and a half quarts of milk a day. You can't beat a promise like that, because by 1975 all children old enough now to read the news will be 15 to 25 years old and wouldn't be interested in that much milk anyway. But Castro doesn't stop there. You don't catch him promising a lot of stuff without saying how he's going to pay for it. To finance this program, he said, Cuba by 1970 will be growing 30 million rabbits a year, which it will export for cash, to buy cows with. Now I don't know how many rabbits Castro has on hand at the moment, but if he has as many as 15 or 20 of the right mixture, he can reach his production quota of 30 million in five years all right, but he wants to watch that sixth year. Then's when the total is liable to jump to 500 million, maybe a billion, and where's he going to get the ships to haul all them rabbits in?

Instead of trying to sell them abroad for money to buy cows with, I believe he'd be on safer ground if he just forgot about the quart and a half of milk per child and promised each one of them a pair of rabbits.

To change the subject, I don't know why New Yorkers don't use bigger fuses to keep their lights from going off, and while it's one thing to be in the dark and another not to be able to figure out why, I recommend that for future emergencies they stock up on kerosene lanterns. Some people say they don't give enough light, but I've seen Ben Cartright walk over to the wall of his living room at the Ponderosa, turn up a coal oil lamp, and get more light than you can find in a television studio.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Teachers Here Attend Confab

Mrs. Mary Maddox, speech therapist, and Mrs. Addie Mae Spence, special education teacher, and Mrs. F. B. Ruthardt, attended a conference for parents, teachers, and specialists Thursday, November 18, at St. Christopher's Corrective Learning Center in Lubbock.

Dr. Robert P. Anderson, Diplomate in Counseling Psychology of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology, reviewed some of the problems which interfere with the child's learning efficiency. New methods, visual aids, and teaching media were discussed and demonstrated.

Dr. Dale Bryant, Professor of Psychology, will lead in a two-day workshop to be held at Texas Tech beginning December 10-11. He is associate professor of pediatric psychology, Albany Medical College, Albany, N.Y.

Keep a set of round-bowl fractional measuring spoons in your kitchen — you'll find them useful. For example, the 1-teaspoon size may be used for making melon balls instead of a regular melon-ball cutter; the table-spoon size does a good job when you are making "drop" cookies.

pose development of water resources (including power dams) and policies related to them; water rights; and the saline water program.

In addition to his subcommittee chairmanships, Walter Rogers serves as a member of two other subcommittees of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, the subcommittee on Mines and Mining and the subcommittee on Territorial and Insular Affairs. As a member of the latter, he has strongly endorsed positions that promote the need for this country to be self-sufficient in all minerals, especially those for which there are strategic defense requirements. Walter Rogers was the author of the bill that established the national program, a program which has as vital helium conservation program, a program which has assigned private enterprise corporations the job of stripping helium from natural gas bound for market and piping it into underground storage reservoirs.

Walter Rogers was born July 19, 1908, in Texarkana, Arkansas. When he was one year old, the Rogers family moved to McKinney, Texas, a town of less than 2,000 population at the time and like so many other young Texans of that day, doing chores on the farm was a part of his boyhood. He worked during high school years in a grocery store and drygoods store, and following his graduation from Boyd High School in McKinney he entered Austin College. Illness forced him to withdraw for several years but upon recovery he entered the law school of the University of Texas and was employed by the Honorable George H. Sheppard, Comptroller of the State of Texas. As a law student he was later employed in the Confederate Pension Division of the Comptroller's office.

Upon graduation from law school, Walter Rogers became associated with the Honorable John F. Sturgeon in the practice of law in Pampa. He then established his own law office. Walter Rogers served as City Attorney of Pampa and in 1940 he was elected District Attorney

From all indications, he took little — possibly only a couple of dollars from the office, Thurman White, owner, said this week.

"We can't even find where he took any cigarettes," the store's owner said, "even though the door to the cigarette storage room was pried open."

He said some money in a cash register was apparently overlooked by the burglar who, after gaining entrance had gone to considerable trouble to break bars off an outside door to permit possible accomplices to gain entrance after he has squeezed through the rough opening.

The entrance was gained by prying the boards off a rooftop hole which once had provided outlet for an air vent. The hole had been recovered when the pipe was moved slightly to the left.

Formation of stamp club is planned for Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the First National Bank, it was announced by Eddie Faust, one of the backers of the proposed club. He said prospective members were urged to bring albums for display and "patch up matters with your husband."

Justice Joe Vaughn also reported six cases filed in his court — one for drunk, three for failure to have driver's license, one for overloaded vehicle operated after dark and one for failure to stop for school bus displaying warning light.

The judge issued a warning on the school bus issue. "We have had several complaints of this offense," Judge Vaughn said, "and I certainly hope that the practice of failing to stop will cease. This is extremely dangerous and could lead to death or serious injury by school children."

He said only the one case had actually been filed in his court but that several others had oral complaints.

A new collection of oil paintings and collages is on display at the library. These were done by Mrs. Dana Arnold and her art students. Especially of interest are the group with a tinge of the early days; and the colorful collages. Those displaying their work are: Mrs. Dana Arnold; Zeffa Shafer; and Judy Schmitz and Bertha Beene of Needmore; Opal McKeveloy of Circleback; Katherine Rogers of Three Way and Cara Jean Schuster; and Sally Schuster Muleshoe.

Seven Muleshoe school administrators attended a guidance conference at South Plains College, Levelland, recently. Going from here were Superintendent Neal Dillman, Ralph Stevenson, R. E. Everett, Milton Oyley, Bill Taylor, O. E. Lumsden and Elizabeth Watson. Speakers included Dr. Wray D. Silvey, professor of education at Iowa State Teachers college; Harold E. Phillips, consultant, Texas Foreman, elementary counselor, Big Spring public schools, and Charles R. Jones, psychologist and counselor, Lubbock elementary schools.

Left fielder Tom Tresh led the New York Yankees in batting last season with .279. He also led the team in homers with 26.

The New York Yankees lost more games at home than they won this year. They were 40-43 in Yankee Stadium. On the road they were 37-42.

boys who may not have hunted pheasants before, the cocks are the colorful pheasants with red heads and long tail feathers.

The fairly good supply of pheasants in Parmer is largely the results of 2260 pheasants that were bought and released in 1962 and 1963 by game association members. Nearly everyone questioned reports they have seen more pheasants this year than ever before. There seems to have been a good hatch this year with lots of young pheasants raised.

"Some people question the benefit of a pheasant season when we are still trying to increase our pheasant population," Jack Patterson, President of the local Game Association, reports that around 55 per cent to 70 per cent of an average pheasant hatch are cocks. Actually only one cock is needed for about every eight hens. These facts point out that about 7 out of every 8 cocks can be harvested and still leave plenty to reproduce. Actually pheasants are better off when there is the proper ratio of cocks to hens. When there are too many cocks they get to fighting and injure or kill each other.

"Pheasant hunting is big business to some areas and Parmer County has the potential of becoming prime pheasant hunting country. This long tail feather contest is aimed to create new interest among farm operators.

"The key to increased pheasant production in Parmer County is adequate cover during the winter. It is hoped that farmers will leave a little sorghum stubble standing on next year's layout ground. This is a good natural cover. The Game Association, at each contest headquarters, is also taking orders from persons who would plant some free shrubs to help provide wildlife cover. The Association is going to distribute 5,000 free shrubs about next April to anyone who signs up. The main shrub that will be distributed will be Multiflora Rose.

"The association is also requesting the assistance of all pheasant hunters to report how many birds everyone killed in the season. This information will help the association make future plans for pheasants in the county. A list for this purpose will be kept at each contest headquarters."

Funeral services were held in Dimmitt Wednesday for a long time resident of Dimmitt, Mrs. Orbie Davis, 67, who died in a Pecos hospital.

Survivors include the husband, John Davis, Pecos; four daughters, Mrs. Christine Howard, Earth; Mrs. Ethel Miller, Roswell, N.M.; and Mrs. Veta Rogers, Houston; also the late Glen Davis, formerly of Muleshoe, was a son. TEXAS BEEF TO EUROPE — Here's the first air shipment, 2200 pounds of it, of chilled Texas beef being loaded aboard a jetliner at Dallas' Love Field. Looking on are (l-r) Texas Farm Bureau President C. H. DeVaney; Jack Estes Jr., Estes Packing Co., Fort Worth, and Don Chappell, Dallas, district sales manager of Pan American Airlines. The meat will be sold in Cologne, Germany during "Texas Week" promotion in a supermarket in Germany.

'Good' Bugs Wins Over 'Bad' Bugs, Survey Reveals

COLLEGE STATION — Insects which destroy destructive pests are commonly known as beneficial insects, and may become even more important in Texas cotton fields, say entomologists at Texas A&M University. R. L. Ridgway, A&M based entomologist with the Entomology Research Division of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, says "evidence continues to mount to support the importance of beneficial insects and spiders in regulating bollworms and tobacco budworms populations."

Ridgway said laboratory work during the past two years has studied 10 different beneficial insects. With a constant supply of the cotton pest eggs and larvae to feed upon, the various predators could destroy from 5 to 100 pests per day. He emphasizes, however, that laboratory conditions were unlike field conditions where the predators have to spend time searching over the plants for their prey. In a field-cage test, however, using 6 x 6 x 36 foot cages and no insecticides, the insect predators gave a remarkable 99 percent control of the offspring of 12 pair of tobacco budworm moths.

During the past season's field studies, in two different locations, the phenomenon of increasing numbers of pests were apparent as the number of predators were decreased.

Some of the beneficial insects studied were the flower bug, damsel bug, big-eyed bug, assassin bug and the green lacewings, plus Lady beetles, red cross beetles and spiders. Ridgway says spiders may have a more important role as a beneficial insect in cotton fields than has been previously noted.

The study of beneficial insects has been done in connection with other research on systemic insecticides. Systemic insecticides, he said, are designed to work from the inside of the cotton plant and be effective on plant-feeding insects. Many of the systemics are selective and will kill only certain insects.

Ridgway said, "If we are to take full advantage of the expected selectivity of systemic insecticides, we must know which beneficial species are the most important and the numbers required to prevent economic levels of certain injurious pests from developing. Indications of adverse effects of some systemic insecticide treatment on certain injurious pests from developing. Indications of adverse effects of some systemic insecticide treatment on certain beneficial species have intensified the need for a better understanding of their behavior. Additional information of this type will aid considerably in integrating systemic insecticide applications with beneficial insects and spiders for cotton insect control," he said.

The researcher's work so far has been with predatory insects, but he now is in the process of identifying parasites collected in field work.

Grapes for Valley RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The government has announced a project to grow grapes in the Sao Francisco River Valley, which cuts a green swath through the northeastern "drought polygon."

Table and wine grapes will be grown experimentally in the region which is periodically flayed by droughts. The Ministry of Agriculture has set aside $32,000 for the project — a part of development plans for the valley of the one constantly flowing river in the area.

The Sao Francisco is Brazil's second-largest river, after the Amazon.

What Paycheck? MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Eldridge Moss dropped by City Hall and asked for the paycheck the city owed him for 28 years.

Moss said he worked for John Gatson Municipal Hospital for one day in 1937, but never picked up his check.

The comptroller's office checked its records and verified the claim.

Based on Moss' old $27-per-month salary, the city owed him 90 cents.

Expert Warns: Get Permission To Hunt First

COLLEGE STATION — Friction between landowners and sportsmen can be held to a minimum if each will give full cooperation in carrying out agreements, believes Wallace G. Klussmann, Extension specialist in wildlife conservation at Texas A&M University. He suggests that landowners consider some basic relations with sportsmen in carrying out their responsibilities.

Klussmann suggests that the landowner:

1. Not sell anything he does not have.
2. Get to know and understand the sportsman; make him welcome to the community and county.
3. Develop a written lease if at all possible to include such things as rate and date of payment; time limits or duration of lease; boundaries of lease area; kinds of game or fish included; names of individuals or families in the lease; guest privileges; associated activities such as fishing, camping, picknicking, etc.; and the use and maintenance of any cabin or shelter included in the lease.

4. Explain the check-out system for reporting kill.
5. Use as much care as possible in selecting hunters.
6. Give hunters the kind and location of livestock in the pasture to be hunted.
7. Encourage the following of wounded game and give explicit instructions in case wounded game crosses a fence.
8. Consider your neighbors in all matters and expect them to consider you.

COLD WEATHER DRIVING EXPERT PREPARES FOR WINTER

Why more motorists switch to the Tiger when it gets cold.

Many cars that ran just fine all summer get into trouble when ear-muff time rolls around — stalling at stoplights and coughing and chugging halfway into town. That's when a lot of people switch to the Tiger. Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline is blended to match the weather conditions in your area — including a special additive to help guard against icing. Result: easier starting, faster warm-up and a lot less worry about stalling.

You'll like the way new Enco Extra behaves on the open road, too. It's the High-energy gasoline with the: (1) cleaning power; (2) firing power; (3) octane power to help preserve the performance of new cars and restore lost power and mileage to many older cars. Switch to the Tiger and get that nice warm feeling. Happy Motoring!

IN GOOD SHAPE FOR AN AILING MAN —

Tower Pleased By UN Refusal To Seat China

By Sen. John G. Tower
Perhaps the most significant news of recent days has been the refusal of the United Nations to seat the Communist dictatorship of Red China.

official membership in the United Nations. This was a reaffirmation of the views of the United States and of the vast majority of Americans.

It is inconceivable that Red China should even be seriously considered as an appropriate government for participation in the United Nations. The United Nations charter specifically states that the U. N. is to be an organization of "peace loving" nations.

Peace is one of the last concerns of the aggressive, militant Communist rulers who now control mainland China. Red China made war against the United Nations in Korea and thousands of U. N. soldiers paid with their lives before South Korea was preserved.

Red China is now assisting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Communists in the war against free South Vietnam. American troops in Vietnam have reported within the last week that Red Chinese military "advisors" are on the battlefields of South Vietnam with Red units from the North.

Red China is proceeding with development of a nuclear weapons arsenal that will enable it to spread terror and subversion over vast distances in Asia and the Pacific. Red China is an active antagonist on Communism's struggle to take over all of Indonesia and Malaysia.

Yet despite this aggressive, warlike attitude, many nations voted to seat Red China in the United Nations. We face the distinct possibility that within a few years seating may be accomplished.

If Red China becomes a U.N. member, it would be eligible to take part in various U. N. activities financed at from 40 to 100 percent by U. S. taxpayers. America would be in the position of strengthening a sworn enemy. Americans would be contributing to Communization of Asia.

This we cannot permit to happen. We must prevent the seating of Red China, because if the Reds are seated the United Nations as we know it will come to an end.

PACT Makes Ready For First Project

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Texas' first major state government program for widespread coordination of public service activities is being activated.

Gov. John Connally soon will reveal his initial plans of the project that will "range across the entire spectrum" of governmental services.

PACT, the Planning Agency Council for Texas, was authorized by the 1965 Legislature — primarily to implement the statewide water program. However, Connally wants to broaden its scope into many other areas.

Legislation authorizing a central state planning agency cited the need to coordinate state efforts in the fields of water supply, recreation, transportation, highways and other programs financed with federal, state and local funds.

Eight major agencies — health, highway, parks and wildlife departments, industrial commission, soil conservation board, Texas employment commission, railroad commission and water development board — were designated by the Legislature as members of the initial PACT.

Connally's office was named administrative head of the planning agency and placed in charge of coordinating its activities.

Growth of government and a steadily-increasing number of federal programs requiring attention at state and local levels call for a "monumental endeavor" by public officials, Connally noted.

Press Conference — At a recent conference Governor Connally said:

He may ask the 1967 Legislature to again submit to the voters a proposed constitutional amendment calling for four-year terms for certain elected public officials holding statewide offices. But this time not at a special election.

He would call an early special session of the Legislature if federal court orders require legal action in congressional and legislative reapportionment cases and the suit to repeal poll tax.

He felt called on to make a statewide pitch for Texas as the site of the $340,000,000 atom smasher, because of the competition among Austin, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston, Amarillo, Lubbock and Odessa for the key scientific facility. He assured site-seekers from the Atomic Energy Commission that all of the state's resources would be available to support whichever Texas site might be chosen.

Redistricting — Next year Texans may be able to elect House members under the new redistricting law.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will urge a federal court at Houston to let voters elect the members, even though the court may believe floral districts are not constitutional.

If the court will allow such action, the 1967 Legislature could pass a redistricting law without floral districts.

This year's redistricting law includes 11 floral districts resulting in a situation where small counties share representatives with large counties.

Judges believe this discriminates against sparsely-populated counties.

Court could declare the entire law unconstitutional and a special session of the Legislature would be needed to pass a new law.

Except for the floral districts, Court indicates new law is constitutional.

Airport Aid — Texas Aeronautics Commission is urging cities on the lookout for airport equipment to let them do the looking as part of the government surplus property program that began 14 months ago.

Presently the Aeronautics Commission locates the surplus at military air bases and effects the transfer. Then the equipment is given to needy cities and towns free.

So far, 41 Texas cities have received surplus property worth more than $120,000 for use in the development and maintenance of local airports.

Grants totaling $64,500 have been approved. This money went to Caldwell ($10,000), Comanche ($12,000), Hallettsville ($10,000), Hearne ($2,000), Kountze ($7,500), Lampasas ($8,000), and Pineland, ($15,000).

Six others may get an additional $68,000 if they finalize acceptance during the next three months. They are Cameron ($10,000), Clarksville ($12,000), Floydada ($12,000), Gatesville and Post ($12,000).

AG Rules — Trial and state's attorneys fees in Justice of Peace courts are abolished by the new code of criminal procedure, but an offender may be assessed other incurred costs, says Attorney General Waggoner Carr. Opinion was requested by Goliad County Atty. Wayne B. Davis.

In other opinions, Carr held that:

Law enforcement officers may seize unstamped cigarettes when they have the legal right to arrest a person possessing them.

Cigarette tax is a valid use levy, and distributing agents must pay and fix stamps to packages before they leave warehouses except on those to be delivered to certain persons designated to seal unstamped cigarettes.

Person cannot hold office of constable at same time he is deputy tax collector and truant officer of independent school district.

Lamesa school teacher who spent 10 months teaching in Germany did not lose Texas resident classification for college tuition purposes.

Oil Allowable — Texas oil production may hit a six-year high in 1965. This thanks to a jump in December allowable to 31.4 per cent of potential.

December production maximum is 3,084,545 barrels daily. Railroad Commission increased the percentage factor from 30 per cent for November. Firm markets and low inventories are given as the reasons for the increase.

Appointments — Hubert A. Henry has been appointed to the new division of automation to be created December 1 in the top administration level of the Texas Highway Department. Governor Connally announced these appointments:

Teacher Retirement Board — Henry M. Bell Jr., Tyler; and C. O. Chandler, Victoria.

Texas Water Rights Commission — Judge Otha F. Dent of Littlefield (reappointed).

Board of Registration for Professional Engineers — Robert E. Moore of Austin and Uel Stephens of Fort Worth.

Civil Judicial Council — Richard M. Morehead, Austin; Clark L. Kempner, Galveston and Judge Solomon Casseb Jr., San Antonio.

Dallas County Flood Control District — Marion Solomon of Dallas (reappointed).

House Speaker Ben Barnes appointed the following five-member committee of Representatives to study operations of livestock auction companies: Nelson Cowles of Hallsville; E. M. Edwards of Pattonville; Roy Arledge of Stamford; Charles H. Jungmichel of LaGrange and David C. Howard of Uvalde.

Courts Speak — Billie Sol Estes' swindling case landed back in the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals after the U. S. Supreme Court reversed the conviction. Court here is expected to send it to Tyler for retrial, without television coverage.

In a case involving student demonstrations against war in Vietnam, the Court of Criminal Appeals refused to say whether a district civil court judge can prevent enforcement of a city parade ordinance. Issue now is moot — no longer a timely legal question — opinion concluded.

State Supreme Court found British-American Oil Producing Company owes $3,866 in sales taxes on the purchase of a computer system.

Supreme Court consented to review a case alleging fraudulent collection methods by an Amarillo loan company.

Attorneys for Longview oilman Clark Sample Jr. argued before Supreme Court that State Railroad Commission is without power to cut future oil production to compensate for over-production in past. Commission is seeking to charge about $1,000,000 worth of oil to operators it claims over-produced.

awards ranged from a black rose corsage to a tiny set of marching forms made out of popsicle sticks.

Also at the banquet Bradley gave out band jackets to the ones who had ordered them.

Recognized at the banquet were Gil Lamb and Magann of KMUL, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Martin of the Muleshoe Journal, Kerry Moore, Leasel Richardson and Morris Nowlin taking pictures for the annual.

The Mighty "M" band held their annual "After-Marching-Season" dinner last Friday. This is an event held to celebrate the end of the marching this year.

At this dinner, awards were given out for the best marchers and the one with the best marching spirit. Named best marchers were Jan Landers, Jan Everett, Hal Anderson, Jane Branscum, Marsha Blackman, Terry Bryant, Lindell Wilson, Pam Kerr, Jimmy Francis, and Ellen English. The one who had the best marching spirit is Marsha Blackman.

Director Bill Bradley expressed his appreciation to the twirlers, Linda Griffiths, Val Moore, and Diane Bryant, and to the drum major, Sonja Bass, by giving them charms.

The highlight of the banquet was when Bradley gave "awards" to the ones who have "bothered him most." These conduct a three-year study of the needs of Texas schools, will be in operation by January 1.

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System named seven committees composed of higher education faculty and administrators to advise on board policies. Veterans Land Board ordered a resolution drawn asking Attorney General Carr to require Irving millionaire C. D. Wyche to pay about $175,000 due on 1,117 acres of Dimmitt County land contracted for in 1963. Connally has designated December 15 as Bill of Rights Day, 174th anniversary of its adoption. Only $30,000,000 of $78,000,000 available in federal funds to the Texas school districts, under a recent federal aid to education act, has been applied for, so a lot of money will go back to the federal government if more districts don't apply for their share.

Weevil Drive On High Plains Is Successful

A concentrated insecticidal attack has been used this fall as a new approach for reducing diapausing boll weevils in the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program.

The new approach, used in this second year's effort to keep the weevil from firmly establishing itself on about 2 million acres of High Plains cotton, was based on findings of Dr. Perry Adkisson and W. L. Sterling of the Texas A&M University Entomology Department.

Their research indicated that a two-phase program could be nine times more effective than last year's single-phase system. Phase I was aimed at the last reproductive generation of weevil with three applications of insecticide (undiluted technical malathion) made at five-day intervals, beginning Sept. 7.

This phase was designed to kill newly emerging adult females before they could mate and lay eggs that could produce potentially overwintering adults. Diapause is a dormant period which allows weevils to survive the winter.

Phase 2 consists of insecticide applications at 10 to 14 day intervals which starts at completion of Phase 1 and continues until frost. The purpose is to kill any adult weevils that might have emerged from eggs laid before Sept. 7 and to kill any adults that may have sur-

He said the youth explained he was afraid his football helmet wouldn't fit atop the mop.

Rogers Views Policy Changes On Public Land

By Walter Rogers Member of Congress 18th District

One-third of the United States is publicly owned. Although States, counties, cities, and other governmental units own a vast acreage, the largest portion by far is that held by the Federal Government. There are approximately 354 million acres of public lands outside of Alaska being administered by various agencies of the Federal Government, and of that total approximately half is uncommitted by legislative authority for any specific use. In addition, the Federal Government owns approximately 365 million. So that you can see the immensity of the land area involved, contrast it with the size of our State of Texas — 169 million acres, Texas, having retained control of its public lands when the Republic of Texas agreed to annexation by the United States, has a very small proportion of federally owned land, unlike most other Western States.

What future policies should govern the use of the public lands? This is the question before the Public Land Law Review Commission, a body established by Act of Congress to make a comprehensive review of public land laws now on the books, the administration of these laws, and to suggest needed revisions. The very able chairman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, Congressman Wayne Aspinall of Colorado, is chairman of the Public Land Law Review Commission. I am among six other House members serving the Commission, which also includes six members of the U.S. Senate and six private citizens appointed by President Johnson. In addition, the Commission will be assisted by an Advisory Council made up of liaison officers from the Federal departments and twenty-five representatives of major citizen groups. State governors are designating representatives to work with the Commission and the Advisory Council.

Recommendations will be reported, according to the Act establishing the Commission, by December 1968. It is certainly too early to foreshadow the direction of possible recommendations, but the problem is certainly clear. For, although the United States is abundantly blessed with natural resources, it is essential that we provide for their conservation and proper use. There is just so much land. The minerals in the land must be properly used and the soil protected. In addition to the

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is happy to find the farm problem back in the news, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: According to a copy of The Avalanche-Journal which my dog who is getting kind of old caught blowing across a field, I think he thought it was a rabbit but you'd figure he'd have noticed it tasted different, after he'd gone a few pages at least, anyway, according to it, after I convinced him it had no food value and had a chance to get at it myself, some U. S. Senators got together and said the answer to the farm problem is to take politics out of farming. "Take politics out of farming and let the law of supply and other pressures for use of available land resources, the United States is now in the midst of a boom in outdoor recreation — and plenty of open space must be properly preserved for the enjoyment of our citizens.

It will be the job of the Public Land Law Review Commission to review the existing body of law and its administration and then ask, "Where do we go from here?" Science has developed new uses for some of the public lands, and yet the existing laws may not permit these new uses. Should the laws be changed? What kind of land, and how much, should be disposed of? How should users of public lands be required to pay? What steps should the Commission recommend to encourage mineral production on the offshore Outer Continental Shelf? These points only begin to touch on the kinds of problems to be studied.

The oil and gas industry has a major interest in the Commission's work, not only because of questions involving the handling of development of Outer Continental Shelf resources but also because the Commission will be studying such areas as the shale-rich lands of Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming and unexplored and untapped land in Alaska. It is of great importance to the industry to know whether and to what extent new sources of oil and natural gas production. As matters stand now, a maze of law and regulation discourages potential developers of mineral reserves; the Public Land Law Review Commission will have made a contribution merely by straightening away the confusion. But, in addition, it is hoped that the Commission can bring forth solid recommendations pointing to future policies for America's future.

A woman's voice alerts B-58 bomber pilots to trouble. At the same time a pilot sees a flashing red light, he hears a pleasant female voice caution: "Check for engine fire" or "Landing gear unsafe" or "The nose is too high." Pilots say the recordings catch their attention fast. "You might ignore a man's voice — but you don't ignore a woman's," one said.

Movies in the Courtroom
 The jurors were duly impressed when the attractive young plaintiff described the leg injuries she had suffered in an auto accident. She was so crippled, she said, that she was forced to wear low heeled shoes at all times.

In short order, the opposing attorney called for the courtroom to be darkened for a movie neatly punctured the plaintiff's claim by showing her arriving at a party — wearing extra-high heels.

Courtroom movies have found their greatest use in deflating injury claims that are either false or exaggerated. However, they have also proved useful in establishing claims that are valid — for instance, by clarifying the conditions that led to an accident, or by demonstrating the effects of an injury.

In fact, movies are so revealing that, though offered by one side of a lawsuit, they may aid the other side even more. For example, in disputing the claim of an injured boy, the defense showed movies of him playing baseball to demonstrate that he was still able to take part in sports. But the movies also showed, more poignantly than words, the handicaps he did suffer in chasing fly balls and running bases. Of course, the law's concern

Tribe Wants Treaty

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (AP) — The government of Minas Gerais State has sent a team of engineers to prepare a 1,000-meter-long landing field near the village of the Maxical Indians which will permit Gov. Magalhaes Pinto to put down there in his official airplane to make a treaty with the only tribe of Indians still surviving in his state.

The treaty calls for the State to give assistance to the Maxical to promote their financial independence through the sales of the handicrafts and to protect them from invasion of their territories and exploitation by squatters.

When their known history began in 1734, the tribe counted 700 persons living under the most primitive conditions. At present there are 273, who speak no Portuguese. Their village is on the Bahia frontier near Teofiloto Otoni between the Murcuri and Jepuitionhona rivers.

is not which side is helped but whether justice is served. There is real danger in the very act that movies are so persuasive, for they may influence a jury beyond fair limits.

With that danger in mind, the law insists on careful conformity to the rules of evidence. Authenticity and accuracy of the films must be proven. Relevancy to the issues must be established. The trial judge may, at his discretion, rule out films that don't meet these tests.

In one case, a film of a stretch of highway was offered to show that the injured pedestrian should have been able to see the oncoming car. However, it turned out that the picture was made in the winter-time, when intervening trees were bare of foliage. Since the accident happened in the summertime, when the trees were in full bloom, the film was excluded by the judge.

But with legal safeguards, movies have an important role to play in the courtroom. Like many other scientific developments, they open new paths in the law's search for truth. A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Four American League teams drew more than one million baseball fans last season.

The original dimensions of the Washington Monument were changed as a result of research by George Marsh, a United States minister to Italy. A true obelisk, he reported, would have a height about 10 times its base width, hence the monument's final proportions: 555 feet 5 1/2 inches high to a base 55 feet 1 1/2 inches square.

Outfielder Ron Swoboda averaged one home run every 21 trips to the plate with the New York Mets last season. The rookie from Maryland hit 19 homers to lead the team.

 This is indeed the age of neat, sensible packaging! Take the vitamin pill for instance, it contains not one, but multiple vitamins, all in one small pill... Another neat, pleasant package is today's modern car, which, in addition to the body and wheels, has radio, heater, air-conditioning and many other desirable features... The insurance companies boasts wonderful packaging, too... For instance, under a Homeowner's policy, protection is almost all-purpose, covering your home, it's contents, your additional living expenses and legal liability! If you do not have this modern, streamlined, trouble-free, one - premium insurance package, we will be glad to explain it to you. You'll be glad you called us.
