For the next 12 hours, rescue workers tried to save the survivors - and 70 persons on a second car that had been going down the mountain.

The second car was stranded 800 feet above the ground when the cable gave way Saturday. Although no one in it was hurt, rescuers had to climb the cable car towers and crawl along the cable to reach the car and set up a pulley system to lower those in it.

Idalou Alert Sounded After Funnel Report

A-J News Services
TYPICALLY unpredictable spring weather covered most of the state Sunday, producing a reported tornado in the South Plains region, light rainshowers across most of the Panhandle, fog along the Gulf Coast and strong, gusty winds in central and far west Texas.

A Lubbock County sheriff's deputy reported a tornado on the ground about 4 miles southeast of Idalou about 6:15 p.m. Sunday. The funnel reportedly was moving southeast.

The tornado alarm at Idalou was sounded, a spokesman for the sheriff's office said, but the funnel remained in open ground and no damage was report-

National Weather Service officials, however, could not confirm the twister on radar, and theorized the funnel was a rain shaft.

Elsewhere across the South Plains, light rainshowers leaving only trace amounts of precipitation were reported in communities east of Lubbock. Officially, NWS reports show a trace amount of rainfall for the Lubbock area, but chances of any measurable precipitation today are slight. Under partly cloudy skies Sunday,

Staging Area Feared

The Israelis fear guerrillas would use an independent Palestinian state on the West Bank as a staging area for raids on Israel. Hard-line Palestinians, who have vowed to destroy Israel, oppose Resolution 242.

The Cabinet statement said, "If the Arab states present counter-proposals we will discuss them on their merits."

The opposition Labor Party brushed off the government statement on Resolution 242 as "a play on words" and said it could not be substituted for "a clear and credible policy.

Talks Deadlocked

The party said the dispute over the West Bank had led to a deadlock in peace talks and an erosion of world support for Publication of the statement as a Cabinet document was a small victory for Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan, who has been urging Prime Minister Menachem Begin to tone down his public stance on the West Bank.

Begin, who claims the West Bank belongs to Israel historically, once said Resolution 242 "does not necessarily apply" to the area. This angered the United States and put Dayan in a difficult position explaining Israeli policy. Dayan and Begin drafted the statement Friday. It was later delivered to the U.S.

The statement said:

- Israel accepts Resolution 242 as the basis for negotiations with each Arab state: Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

- Israel's proposal for self-rule in the West Bank and Gaza Strip are in harmony with the principles of 242.

- Israel would listen to other Arab - Resolution 242 calls for agreements with the Arab states, not with the Many Issues Clouded The statement was issued as a guideline to Israeli embassies to clarify Jerusalem's policy, but it left many issues clouded. Naor, pressed by reporters, refused to say that the statement implied an acceptance of the idea of withdrawal from the West Bank. He said this should be left for negotiations.

President Of Italy Appeals For Life Of Former Premier

ROME (AP) — Italy's president told the terrorist kidnappers of former Premier Aldo Moro on Sunday that killing him would be a "fatal error" and would gain them "absolutely nothing."

President Giovanni Leone's appeal for the life of his longtime colleague was made indirectly in an open message to Moro's wife one day after the Red Brigades kidnappers announced that a "people's court" had condemned Moro to

The Brigades kidnapped the 61-year-old Moro and killed his five bodyguar March 16 in a Rome street ambush. His captors announced in six subseque messages left in public places across Italy that he was undergoing a "people trial." On Saturday they said he had been "sentenced to die" for complicity Christian Democrat policies.

"A sense of humanity may induce them (Moro's captors) into a gesture of repentance ... and drive them to spare a life whose sacrifice would gain them thing, absolutely nothing."

Previous Demands Rejected
The government and the Christian Democrats have rejected the Brigades' demands, made through letters written by Moro, for the release of jailed terrorists. Fifteen Red Brigades leaders are on trial in Turin, charged with sedition.

But Christian Democrat leaders, after a three-hour meeting Sunday, said through Deputy Secretary Giovanni Galloni that the party, while "aware of our duties before the nation" was "anguished about the life of (Moro) and therefore on the humanitarine level are feel that the life of (Moro) and therefore on the humanitarian level we feel that this life must be spared by all the means juridically possible and legitimate.'

Christian Democrats in the past have not ruled out the possibility of buying Moro's freedom with ransom money from his friends or family.

The Communist Party, largest of the parties supporting the Christian Democrat minority government in Parliament, urged the nation's leaders to maintain their tough stance.

"Sense Of Responsibility" Urged

The Communist newspaper L'Unita said in a front-page editorial that "emotional feelings (must not) prevail on the coolness and calm necessary in this grave hour' and that politicians "must continue to display their sense of responsibility before the republic."

Meanwhile, party and investigating officials called on Moro's wife, Eleonora, in the northern Rome apartment where she and her four children have re-mained in seclusion since the abduction.

Police continuing the search for Moro set up checkpoints and stopped thou-sands of motorists who left the cities on Italy's first sunny day after two weeks of rain. Some 50,000 police and soldiers have been pressed into service in the hunt, but have turned up no solid leads.

Hospital In City Treats Botulism Outbreak Victims

Canal Treaty Okay Predicted The Panamanian government called the attention of the United Nations to the publican leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said Sunday he expects the Senate will approve the second Panama Canal treaty by a one or two vote margin.

'Based on the information I have, I'm inclined to think Tuesday at 6 p.m. we'll have a close vote, but a successful ratification vote," Baker said. A two-third vote of the senators present is necessary for approval.

Baker, interviewed on CBS's "Face the Nation" program, said only one Republican - Sen. S.I. Hayakawa of California - may change from a "yes" vote on the first treaty to a "no" vote.

Hayakawa said he is upset with President Carter's foreign policy, particulary his dealings with aggressive communist nations. He is to meet with President Carter before the vote.

Baker was critical of the Panamanian handling of its protest over an amend-ment to the first treaty sponsored by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., that says the United States can use military force to reopen the canal if it closed down for any reason, including a Panamanian work amendment as a possible violation of the "The first time I heard about it was when I was told they posted a letter with member states which I found very provoking from my standpoint," Baker said.

"We have a very difficult situation ... on our hands in the Senate trying to hang onto these treaties ... and for the Pana-manians to go without notice to the Unit-ed Nations or at least without notice to many of us in the Senate and post this protest was both a surprise and not the wisest sort of diplomacy," he added.

On another matter, Baker said a substantial tax cut — which could lead to a "staggering" federal debt of up to $80 billion for one year — is the only way to boost the free enterprise system which in

"There is no hope of saving ourselves out of debt," he said. "The only way we're going to ... finally reduce the size of the federal deficit is to stimulate the economy to substantially greater productivity and a tax cut will do that." Baker also predicted Congress would approve the sale of military aircraft to Egypt and Saudi Arabia if President Carter indicated he would be willing to go along with some minor "modifica-tions" in the sale of F-5 fighters to Egypt and restrictions on the sale of F-15 fighters to Saudi Arabia, including where Saudi Arabia bases the planes; the type of equipment sold; and arrangements to see the Saudi Arabian planes would not "fall into hostile hands."

In 1974, 149 major tornadoes killed 313 persons in the United States. The highest death tolls were attributed to the "extreme" tornadoes - those with winds of more then 200 mph, which can lift houses from their foundations. "Some years we don't have many of that type, maybe 10 to 15, but on days such as April 3, 1974, there were 40 to 50 in one day," said Allen Pearson, director of the national center, located in Kansas City.

'Huge outbreaks come every three to four years. It's been four years since we had the last one," he said. "I get a little bit apprehensive the longer we go because it is hard to keep some of the small communities' defenses up.

Pearson said the severe and lingering winter of 1977-1978 may have cut into this tornado season, which moves north with the sun, in some parts of the country. The usual turbulent spring conditions from which tornadoes are spawned

"I have a hunch we're going to come into summer on schedule, in some places even a little earlier. That means we're going to have a compressed spring. I don't thing the tornado season will be as long or as drawn-out in some places.

The tornado season, when the massive funnel clouds are most numerous and severest, is ripe in the south between March 15 and June 15. However, tornadoes are common in other areas from April through June and even later in the

'They tend to come in this 90-day period. It looks like it will be more like a 60day period this year - 70 days at the outside," Pearson said. "I'm cautiously optimistic the Deep South will be spared this year."

The weather service says the tornado season peaks during April, May and June in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas. Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania and the Dakotas face a later season.

The 52-year-old weatherman said January 1978 was an active month. Two deaths attributed to tornadoes were recorded - one in Florida and one in northern Virginia, that area's first January tornado fatality since 1931.

"The cold February shut down tornado activity," he said, "and March was rather quiet. Too much of the sun's energy went into melting snow and evapo-

"We don't want people to go around with a morbid fear of tornadoes," Pearson said. "Just a few simple things will save a person's life."

"Kansas has been overrated," he said. "It has gotten a bad rap as a bad tornado state. Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Missouri have a lot more problems with tornadoes than Kansas.'

Scientists Express Concern About Acids Found In Rain

Pacific News Service

Many scientists are becoming concerned that rain containing acid-some no stronger than weak lemon juice-is causing major ecological changes to lakes. streams and perhaps forests and agriculture crops, particularly in the Northeastern United States, Scandinavia and parts of Canada.

Acid precipitation, which is the existence the existence of such acids as sulfurc and nitric in snow and rain, has been known and studied for years. It has been considered a problem around cities, near smelters or close to fossil-fuel power plants, but now scientists believe the situation is becoming much more acute.

Ellis Cowling, a professor at North Carolina State University and the chairman of the North Central Regional Project on Atmospheric Deposition, said there is no question that each year rain and snow falling in certain parts of the United States is becoming more acidic.

Cornell University scientists have reported that in 1955 and 1956 a pH of less than 4.5-very acidic-was found only in Pennsylvania, New York and certain parts of Ohio. But they said that within the last few years acid precipitation of less than 4.5 has been received in almost the entire Eastern United States.

According to Gene Likens, a pioneer in research at Cornell, that area includes most of Michigan, Illinois, North Carolina and all of Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Massachusetts, Conneticut and Rhode Island.

'What this means is that the relatively weak, naturally occurring carbolic acids once found in precipitation are now being dominated by much stronger acids

'It's not hard to understand," Cowling said, "that if 60 million tons of sulfur are emitted into the atmosphere, 60 million tons of sulfur are going to eventually come down somewhere in one form or another, including rain."

According to Likens, forest growth between 1950 and 1970 has been reduced in southern Scandanavia and the Northeastern United States. However, he said, "It is not possible to state unequivocally that this decline is caused by acid precipitation." Forests are very complex ecosystems and acid percipitation is only one of many environemental stresses.

Carl Olof Tamm, a professor of forest ecology at the College of Forestry in Stockholm, Sweden, reported that except in areas where trees show visible pollution symptoms, it has been difficult to establish that acid rain or other increases in atmospheric acidity effect the growth of trees. However, this does not exclude the possibility that such adverse influences may exist."

Moreover, Tamm said in a report that part of the acidity of rain is due to nitric acid or nitrogen oxides so that the effect nitrogen has as a fertilizer might compensate for any harmful effects. And sulfur compounds, another key ingredient of acid rain, might actually help forests because sulful is an indispensable plant nutrient in some forest lands.

Cowling, however, said that experiments indicate that highly acidic water can cause premature browning of older needles, increase the leaching of inorganic nutrients and organic substances from foliage, affect the reproduction of a simple plants such as mosses and ferns and decrease the availability of nitrogen and other important plant nutrients from the

Carl Schofield, a research associate in Cornell University's Department of Natural Resources, in studying lake and soil effects from acid rain for the past four years, found dramatic effects in the lakes of the Adrirondack Mountains in northern New York. From a survey by researchers at Cornell and the New York Department of Environmental Conservation, Schofield reported that lakes above 2,000 feet were found to be most severly affected by acid precipitation.

"About 50 percent of those lakes were below pH 5.0, which is considered a critical level for survival," he said. And more than 80 percent of the lakes were completely devoid of fish life, "What we are talking about are over a hundred lakes which are no longer capable of supporting fish life."

The researchers observed that in lakes with a pH of less than 6.0, the number and variety of algae begin to decrease. Below 5.7, the insect populations, another food source for the fish, also drop, Fish eggs and newborns begin to die when the pH goes below 5.5.

Eventually, the lakes become populated with only large, aged fish that are incapable of reproducing. When they die or are caught, the lakes becomes essentially The researchers also observed kills of even adult fish when a large surge of acidic water entered a lake, such as during the spring runoff of melted snow. Since there is no industry in the Adrion-dack Mountains, Schofield said, the high levels of acid precipitation found there must be coming from other sources. Norwegian researchers have found that, in the Tovdal River is southern Norway, which was one of the country's main salmon rivers, almost no salmon are now being caught.

Exactly how the fish are killed is only one of perhaps hundreds of questions still unaswered. Charles Hakkarinen of the Electric Power Research Institute (ER-PI), a key sponsor of acid rain research, said three major questions need further

In This Corner...

How many candles the competitors get on their cakes, seems to be the kind of clue the CIA is examining in who will succeed Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Not only have Communist Party birthday parties become hot affairs for Kremlinologists these days, but so have hero medals and books published. The offshoot is that Brezhnev is trying to handpick his successor, bu most of his Politburo colleagues have their man in another corner.

Brezhnev's favorite is Vladimir V. Scherbitsky, Communist Party boss in the Ukraine. His chief competition comes from Fyodor D. Kulakob, Russia's central Communist secretary and Central Committee secretary for agriculture.

Both men were honored recently for their 60th birthdays, with Kulakov coming out ahead - he was awarded the Soviet Union's highest medal, and the government ordered publication of a collection of his speeches and articles, which Prayda reviewed favorably.

While Brezhnev countered with a speech about Kulakov which was described by U.S. analysts as "distinctly cool," his man, Scherbitsky, only received a third-rate award, and so far no one's offered to publish his thoughts.

Only Brezhnev's health will provide the answer, which from the apparent look of things (emphysema, heart trouble, obesity, poor hearing and eyesight) may come soon. But the analysts believed Brezhnev had leukemia last year. Apparently they were wrong.

Bowie Bows As Gigolo

In a part that seems tailor-made for one of his past personae, David Bowie will play a post-WW I Berlin gigolo in "Just A Gigolo." The movie will also mark the return to films of Marlene Dietrich, whose last appearance was a 1961 role in "Judgement at Nuremberg." Rounding out the semi-retirement is '50s sexpot

Kim Novak. In the film, directed by actor David Hemmings, Bowie starts out a penniless Prussian soldier. But he soon moves on to better things, such as being seduced by Novak, then recruited into the service of Dietrich.

Rock star Bowie doesn't sing for his dinner in the film. But fans of Dietrich's song-andchair routine in "The Blue Angel" will be pleased to know those gravelly German vocal chords will vibrate to the tune of the famous '20s number "Schoner Gigolo, Armer Gigolo" from which the film has been developed.

Salesman Pushes Rocks, Rainbows

CUPERTINO, Calif. (AP) - When George Coakley mentions a $3 million pot at the end of the rainbow, he knows what he's talking about. Millions in sales for a poster of a rainbow are nothing for the man who packaged and peddled

In fact, the success of the Pet Rock made him a magnet for wacky ideas, the latest of which is the multi-colored poster of a rainbow, which sells for $4.95. Coakley expects to gross at least $3 million in sales by Christmas.

It all began about three years ago when Coakley, then a successful adman, was approached by copywriter Gary Dahl, who asked him for help packaging an idea he had. With Coakley's help, the Pet Rock was born. It became one of the best-selling novelty items of all time - and Coak-

-Red, white and blue eggs, so people could hatch their own Bicentennial birds. -Canned air from Nebraska, featuring a piece of popcorn

Coakley's cache of ideas now contains, in addition to the rainbow, the following he considers sure winners:

The Galactic Spacevader, a polystyrofoam kite; Roots, a word game using playing cards; The Alaska Oil Game; The Potted Worm, a potful of earthworms for household plants, and an ashtray that sucks up cigarette and cigar smoke.

Coakley has plans to write a book some day laying out all the knowledge he's acquired in packaging and pushing the chemes of others. He says, "I'm thinking of calling it, 'Turning Your Dreams

AN EDITORIAL:

Council's Got PUC's Number

THE LUBBOCK City Council picked firm ground on which to challenge Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s statewide rate increase

Regional differences in the cost of providing service should be considered by the Public Utilities Commission, the Council assert-

It will be recalled that, before the PUC was created, Lubbock's telephone rates were considerably lower than those in cities of comparable size downstate.

The reason was simple: Higher rates could not be justified here on the basis of the inestment Ma Bell had in facilities serving the Lubbock market.

WHEN THE STATEWIDE regulatory commission was established, however, it set out immediately to curry public favor in the populous downstate area and live up to legslative predictions that it would save telephone customers a bundle

Accordingly, the PUC gave Bell only a fraction of the additional revenue it requested in the first statewide rate case the company filed.

In fact, in so doing, the PUC actually cut basic monthly residential service charges in downstate cities in Lubbock's population bracket. Lubbock's rates, however, were raised to the new level set for all cities in our bracket.

The boost was small but the principle, if perpetuated, will penalize Lubbock consumers for all time to come.

AN EDITORIAL:

TO COMPOUND the inequity, the PUC tends to look at all of Southwestern Bell's intrastate revenues as a unit, lumping income from local service into the same basket with income from long-distance intras-

Under that theory, if rate boosts are granted on long-distance tolls in order not to raise basic local-service rates, then the burden will fall more heavily on Lubbock because of its greater distance from other population

It takes no genius to recognize that a Dallas resident calling a Waco number will have a lower toll than a Lubbock resident calling the same Waco number.

IF, HOWEVER, the rate boost is granted on local service, then Lubbock is penalized again unless regional differences in prevailing wage and construction costs are taken into consideration.

The PUC contends that a telephone customer in Lubbock gets the same service as one in Corpus Christi and, thus, should pay the same for it.

While that sounds logical in theory, it ignores the fact that if it doesn't take the telephone company as big an investment to serve the Lubbock customer, then the Lubbock customer should get the advantage of that cost savings and not, in effect, have to subsidize the Corpus Christi man.

It is on that basis that the Lubbock City Council is seeking to intervene in the statewide rate request-and it is a firm basis for corrective action by the PUC.

Shelter promoters often have been able to convince persons in high- or moderate-income brackets that it would be to their advantage to lose money in sheltered investments in order to receive deductions they can apply to income from other sources.

The stinger is that tax law requires a sheltered investment be used with the intention of making a business profit-a fact many buyers don't realize and a few shelter promoters don't mention.

Lacking this income-producing intent, a shelter investor isn't likely to escape the watchful eye of the IRS. 1040, Good Buddy.

WASHINGTON-I like Rippleman because he has an opinion on everything. The other day I asked him how he felt about the neutron bomb and he said, "I like the neutron bomb. It's safe and it's sane, and God knows this world needs another war weapon to protect itself.

'But," I said, "it seem 'so' expensive."

'For a tactical weapon it's a steal. Maybe it night sound expensive today, but let's say by the year 2000, when we give the Panama Canal back to Panama, somebody says the United States can't go through the canal before El Salvador. What do we do?

"I don't know," I admitted.

"WE USE THE neutron bomb. We kill all the people in the area but we don't hurt the canal. Then everyone will say the bomb was a bargain." 'That's a good point. If we used conventional nuclear weapons to blast the El Salvador boat out of the way, no one would be able to use the canal." I said

"The only thing that worries me is that if we build a neutron bomb, Iran and Saudi Arabia and Israel will demand we sell it to them first. Since we're dependent on their goodwill, they have first crack at all our new weapons.'

Then we'll sell it to them. After all, if Iran, Saudi Arabia and Israel offer to buy the neutron bomb from us we can make it a lot cheaper."

"I WAS HOPING that the neutron bomb would be just for us. It would be nice if the United States had one weapon it could call its own."

'We can't build weapons just for ourselves," Rippleman said. "They're too expensive. But if we get every country to say they'll take a gross of I cried. neutron bombs we can bring it in at a price our Defense Department can live with."

'What I don't understand is, if we let a country buy our latest war weapons, how will we have the advantage over them in case they do something stupid like let an El Salvador boat go through the Panama Canal before we do?'

RIPPLEMAN SAID, "It's quite simple. The fact that they buy the weapon from us doesn't necessarily mean they know how to use it. A neutron bomb is a very complicated piece of hardware. Only by lighting the fuse will it go off." 'And you don't think someone can learn how to fire one? "Not unless he's had an American high school education. You take two soldiers facing each other with their neutron bombs, one with an American high school diploma and one with a diploma from Albania. Who do you think will win?"

"The American, of course," I said, "Right," said Rippleman, "But why?" "I don't know

"Because the American GI has been taught to think for himself. If he can't set the bomb off he'll hit the Albanian soldier over the head with

"But isn't there another problem with the neutron bomb?" I said.

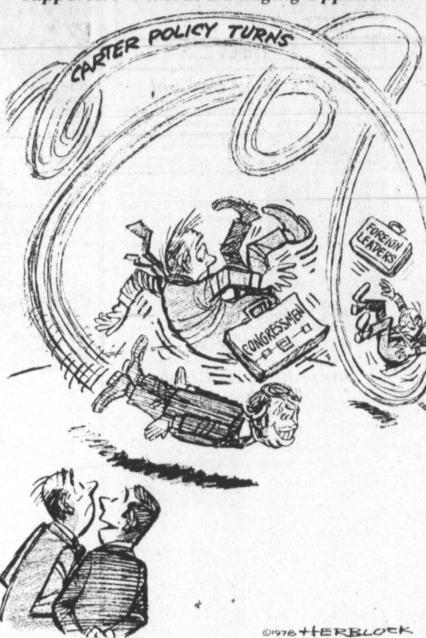

"I understand many GIs want to retire early to get their pensions. Suppose they learn how to use the bomb and then quit the service for their pensions. Who will be left to fire it?'

"I'VE BEEN GIVING that a lot of thought," Rippleman said. "If a GI who specializes in the neutron bomb retires and goes on pension, he would be hired by the Defense Department as a 'civilian specialist' in charge of firing it."

"And then the Panama Canal would be saved,"

"I don't know if it will be saved, but it sure as hell will give El Salvador second thoughts about stopping one of our ships from going through the canal before they do.'

ANDREW TULLY:

WASHINGTON-In re the continuing Congressional effort to "reform" the CIA, I commend to the professional blabbermouths on Capitol Hill remarks at a Senate hearing by George Bush, former head of our No. 1 spook shop.

Bush was testifying against a number of provisions in a 263-page bill (265 ruddy pages!) that to Congress that the bill would require.

Bush singled out one provision calling on the CIA to tell the Senate and House Intelligence committees in advance of any proposed agreement with a foreign intelligence or internal security service.

'I don't believe that kind of intimate disclosure is essential," said Bush, He claimed "some U.S. sources are drying up because foreign services don't believe the Congress can keep secrets."

THAT, OF COURSE, is like saying floods are caused by too much water. But it had to be said. Although I favor increased oversight of the CIA by Congress, I yet fear the tendency of so many lawmakers to reveal national secrets in pursuit of big and bold headlines.

Indeed, I recall a conversation with a French espionage type doing business as a member of his country's embassy staff. He said flatly that if Congress were informed of too many secrets, 'My government will have to be more cautious in our dealings with the CIA. We'd like to keep our people alive." The CIA officials sought to reassure their French colleague by telling him that France would be protected by the same "band of secrecy" given the CIA.

HE MUST HAVE concluded that all was lost. Wrapped in the same protection given the CIA, France might as well ship its intelligence secrets to Moscow special delivery.

In America, as a result of assorted exposes, the average truck driver knows more about his country's spy operations than Britain's Prime Minister knows about his.

The British cling to the old-fashioned idea that policy is not official unless it can be proved that the chief executive is privy to it. But the U.S. has become unique. It has confessed, through the Senate intelligence investigation headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the past crimes not only of the CIA but of at least two Presidents-Elsenhower and Kennedy.

Eisenhower was reported to have ordered the assassination of the Congo's Patrice Lumumba, and Kennedy was charged with trying to get somebody to kill Fidel Castro.

WE ALSO HAVE newspaper columnists, TV and radio commentators, and assorted League of Women Voters and academic types denouncing America as wicked, cruel and possibly afflicted with body odor for having produced the kind of men who indulged in such sordid activities.

Never has there been such a mass of donning of sackcloth and ashes as greeted the CIA's dis-

Bah! All those moralizers, figuratively frothing at the mouth, repel me. Of course spying is dirty business-that's why in rational countries its specifics are kept secret.

But spying is necessary in today's wicked world. No doubt there is a lot of conspiring over at the CIA, but we should not treat the agency as we would a gaggle of Agriculture Department plotters seeking to sell all our grain to Red China for 10 cents on the dollar.

A Dec. 5 staff memorandum containing that warning is consigned to limbo. President Carter's urban plan unveiled March 27 contains not a word about reorganizing the inefficient, sprawling bureaucracy which sprays tax money into the

No such plan will be offered this year. Nor is there any firm commitment for the future.

SINCE THE MESS in urban programs generally (and in the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) specifically) is not disputed at the White House, the reason for not reorganizing it this year is wholly political.

Administration officials privately admit they dare not anger big city mayors and black leaders in an election year.

That shows Carter following the conventional wisdom in politics that he defied in his spectacular climb from nowhere. Preoccupied with global diplomacy, he now relies for domestic strategy on the judgment of conventional politicians.

So the pledge to reorganize government that helped win the presidency sinks to low priority. This was not so clear last Dec. 5 when a staffer named Lester M. Salamon drafted a seven-page memo to his boss Harrison Wellford, head of the President's Reorganization Project.

HE WARNED THAT the evolving urban plan "lacks a coherent focus and consists basically of proposals for expanded funding of existing programs capped by a highly dubious, free-standing development bank that will do as much to contribute to the fragmentation of federal efforts as it will to promote economic growth in the cities." This "leaves the President out on a limb with respect to his campaign pledge to simplify and rationalize existing programs before-adding new dollars or new programs to them," Salamon's memo continued.

"As the institutional embodiment of those pledges, bur failure to protect the President vigorously on this point could be costly

It was too late, said Salamon, for reorganization schemes if the urban plan were released before Christmas. But they could be ready by March. Certainly there was no disputing the need:

"ALL PARTIES SEEM to agree that the fragmented, disjointed character of federal programs in this area is a big part of the problem. "All parties" did not include HUD. The attitude there was epitomized by Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris on NBC's "Meet the Press" April 2 when asked why not one existing program was eliminated: "There were no programs that we felt at this moment should be eliminated because each was meeting a very real need."

HUD's resistance coincided with the program review presided over by Vice President Walter Mondale to establish priorities for 1978.

Mondale, a more conventional politician than the President, was scarcely the one to place reorganization above spending. "When we talked to Mondale about reorganization," one reorganizer told us, "we heard doubts about how much political freight the President can carry.'

"We lost urban reorganization in the politics of 1978," one insider told us. Voluminous option papers presented Carter for determining his urban plan did not mention reorganization.

ALTHOUGH SALAMON'S memo expressed fear that issuing the urban plan "could foreclose important reorganization options," it is not too

Salamon argued then that the urban development bank "would run counter to the President's reorganization commitments by establishing a new entity that duplicates functions already performed elsewhere." Now, Congress may save Carter from himself by delaying action on the bank this year. Even so, who will effectively promote this and other reorganization schemes now that Bert Lance is gone? The logical answer is the man who claimed national credit for modernizing the Georgia state government: Jinmy Carter. But even Carter aides say the President, entranced by his role of world leader, has no time for such tedium.

The Past

"THOSE WHO cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it... That admonition from the pen of George Santayana perhaps as much as anything is strong argument for the presentation of one of the more controversial television events of recent times.

We refer to the current four-night showing of "The Holocaust," which got underway over NBC

Sunday night. Spanning the years 1935 to 1945, "The Holocaust" dramatizes the German effort to destroy the Jews, and its effect on not only individuals and a society, but the world.

It is the story of two families, one Josef Weiss. a doctor, and his family who bear the brunt of the Nazi terror, and one Eric Dorf, a lawyer of sorts, who plays along and aids the Nazis. In between is the wrenching account of a world gone mad, of mankind's most brutal inhumanity to

BECAUSE IT is part fictionalized, mostly factual, and to some part political, it is also the subject of controversy.

Hardly had plans for the show became known than certain groups and individuals started efforts to block it. Letters, phone calls, threats, all were utilized against individual stations and the network itself.

The showing has been branded a Zionist propaganda film, an effort to stir sympathy for Israel during the current Mideast peace talks, a ploy by the network to influence U.S. policy.

Not having seen the full showing, we will reserve judgment on how it was handled, from the standpoint of artistic taste, factual background and any message which may be involved. However, those who have viewed it say it is a balanced account of one of the dark pages in man's histo-

THE SHOWING should have one of the largest young viewing audiences of any recent such minispecial.

It has been chosen as one of a number of programs to be studied and analyzed in detail by students across the nation, Lubbock included.

In that connection, the show is treated at length in the Teachers Guide to Television, a booklet used in many schools, including those here, as a learning resource point for students and teachers.

We heard of one Lubbock mother who objected to her child viewing the show because of its graphic subject matter in some areas. That, of course, is her privilege. But, what she may see did happen, and if she does not understand why or how, could happen again-this time to her, or the mother. There are those who either are not aware of the Nazi persecution which resulted in the planned extermination of an estimated 6,000,000 Jews, or wish to block it from their minds. It can never

ONE OF THE most graphic pictures we recall from our many travels is that of the memorial in Jerusalem to the victims of The Holocaust.

There, on a rocky hilltop only a stone's throw from the cemetery where victims of the War of Liberation are buried, and across the way from the Knesset and ultra-modern Museum, is another Museum dedicated to the premise that the world will never be allowed to forget.

In sharp, poignant pictures and exhibits of everything from the pitiful possessions of the victims and the melted-down gold fillings from their teeth are reminders of the pogrom. Photos of gaunt, life-size faces above skeleton-like bodies -he actual victims-peer from behind barbed

Nearby is a building with an eternal flame. Imbedded in the floor are the names of the pris on camps where men, women and children by the thousands went to their deaths. The names read like a litany of Satan's horror camps-Auschwitz, Buchenwald, Bergen-Belsen,

IT MATTERS not what one might think about the Jewish people, Israel, current U.S. policy. The point here is that one man and his henchmen decided to obliterate as much as possible an entire race of people. If it could happen to one group of people, then it can happen to others-in our time again. There are those today who believe that the entire story of Nazi murders of the Jews was a gigantic hoax, that there were no gas chambers or ovens where people were systematically slain and

It is true that there is no way to set an exact figure on the number of Jews, and non-Jews, including Poles, Russians, even Germans, who died at the hands of Hitler's dreaded SS. But, to argue that The Holocaust itself was not real is to deny one of the most significant chapters of World War II. It is to deny history itself.

IN THE Teachers Guide, there are some disturbing questions, which today's generation should study well.

Why did The Holocaust happen? How were violence and terror used to cow and intimidate opponents? Why was a special Hitler Youth Movement established?

Why did the Nazis take control of the mass media-newspapers, film, and radio? How long did it take before 1,000 newspapers ceased to exist? Why were libraries special Nazi targets? Why were churches believed to be a source of special

It was Judge Learned Hand who said: "Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women. When it dies there, no constitution, no law, no court can save it." It was Harry Truman who said: "No man is free while one remains in chains.' And on July 4, 1941, it was Franklin Roosevelt who said: "It is indeed a fallacy for any American to suggest that the rule of force can defeat human freedom in all parts of the world and permit it to survive in the United States alone. "Hitler. The Holocaust, Freedom, Words from the Past...There is a message there...

By GEORGE McGOVERN As the final, vitally important Senate vote on the Panama Canal treaties approaches, I am still left wondering what the opponents of the treaties expect to achieve should their cause prevail. A number of results have been implied. We are told, for example, that if we junk these agreements we will be free to negotiate with another country for a new sea-level canal-that we won't need Panama anymore.

Then there is a new-found concern for human rights. Some people, while they may think Gen. Park in Korea is doing a fine job, tell us in the next breath that we should not deal with an authoritarian such as Gen. Torrijos.

Or, it is said we can better defend the canal under the old arrangement-that we can have more assurance that the canal will remain secure and the operational if it is in American hands.

Upon closer examination all these claims tend to crumble. Even setting aside feasibility probbuild a new canal, there is no reason at all to believe that we could negotiate a better deal with another country-at least not one with any durability. If it is the 1970s in Panama, it is not the turn of the century in Nicaragua, Colombia or anywhere else.

Nor is there reason to believe that the human rights of the Panamanians will improve should these treaties be scrapped. Most likely the opposite will happen, and Panamanians will suffer both the injury of oppression and the continued insult of a foreign zone dividing their nation.

Similarly, any doubts about our ability to defend the canal under the new treaties should have been long since dispelled both by the explicit testimony of our top military commanders and by simple logic. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, the active duty commanders who have the current responsibility for our security, are firmly for ratification. And so is common sense. It stands to reason that against any threat, a commmon American-Panamanian motivation to defend the canal will be more effective than an American eign policy issue.) But what would be the cost to our vital national interests of such an exercise in national pride?

if we reject these treaties?

the Panama Canal is still ours.

After weighing all the claims, it seems to me we can come down to only one undisputable advantage. We Americans will be able to throw out chests and say

Should the final treaty be voted down, Panamanian leaders would be hard to put to restrain radical student and other groups who could point to rejection of the treaties as vindication of their position that violence was the only way to achieve Panama's objectives.

Rejecting the treaty also would deal a severe setback to our own economic relatins with Panama and to hopes for renewed Panamamian development. Radical groups could point to the failure of free enterprise in Panama and offer socialist or communist models in its place. Rejection of the treaties could bring the power the very group that treaty opponents say they most fear and wish to

But Panama is only one country. While we do not consider our presence in Panama as colonial, Latin America and much of the Third World frankly do regard our arrangements in the Canal Zone under the 1903 treaty as a colonial vestige of the past, at sharp odds with

Opponents of the treaties too often forget that our own history-our own origins, traditions and principles of independence-are among America's greatest assets in international affairs and that one of the great tragedies of our recent history has been our tendency to underestimate the power of these values, while overestimating what can be accomplished by force by arms.

The signing of the treaties brought this country enhanced respect and support all over the world. They are viewed not as a retreat, but as a reaffirmation of American greatness.

(Proponents of the final, most controversial Panama Canal treaty see it as an acid test for both U.S. credibility and the Carter presidency. Opponents call it a surrender of U.S. sovereignty. In the Pacific News Service series, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., former presidential nominee, and Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., tell how - and why - they will vote when the Senate makes its final decision on this hotly disputed U.S. for-

Why should it seem strange to us that smaller countries are more and more resentful of outside interference and that they are demanding a greater say over their own destinies? Two centuries ago the British had a claim to the sovereignty over American which was, by the lights of that time, every bit as valid as our claim to the Canal Zone is today. It would be especially valuable to international standing if, as we consider the final treaty, we could remember our own history as well as others do. There are systems in the world who believe, to their shame, that they have a right to control other nations. We should be proud to say that America is not such a country and that democracy is not such

The political cost of refusing these treaties ought to be reason enough to endorse them-indeed, to welcome them. But there is another cost that troubles me still more.

During the past several months there has been much discussion over whether has been much discussion over whether the United States has retained a right to intervene militarily in Panama should be canal be endangered or our access to be limited or denied. I supported the amendments recommended by the For-eign Relations Committee, to incorpo-rate the Carter-Torrijos understanding on this score into the treaty language itself. It is my contention that if, after negotiation these guarantees with Panama the Senate rejects the treaty it would heighten, not diminish, the risks that our right to fight over the canal will have to be exercised. Opponents of the treaties operate on the apparent assumption that a war over the Panama Canal will be a nice, sterile sort of exercise in which we will show the flag and the adversary will fade away. The terms used are "right to intervene" and "right to defend." No one ever talks about the "right to send young Americans to be killed."

The truth, as the Joint Chiefs of Staff have testified, is that without the treaties, conflict over the canal not only would be more likely, but more dea not isolated terrorism opposed jointly by the United States and Panama, but ar

As we vote on the final treaty, we senators should remember that our choice will bear directly on the risk of war-and that all our talking, no senator has to-fear that he will be required to go down and take part in the lighting.

No doubt there are international causes that would warrant all of these costs and risks. No one should ever doubt our willingness to sacrifice when our own security is at stake or when our friends are under attack.

Sen. Laxalt Leads Senate Opposition To Treaty Passage

(Sen. Laxatt is leader of opposition to the Panama Canal treaties in the Senate. In this article, he argues the Senate should reject the treaty both as a matter of national security, and out of respect for public opinion. He adds that the Republican Party, in 1930, is unlikely to give its presidential nomination to any leader who supports the Carter Administration on Panama).

By PAUL LAXALT

Last September President Carter signed the Panama Canal treaties, and last month the Senate ratified the first of the treaties by the narrowest of margins. As the crucial vote on the second treaty, which would hand the canal over to Panama, draws near, the question of ratification remains the hottest political issue I've seen in all my years in this

I opposed the first treaty, and hope the Senate will defeat the second treaty because I am strongly opposed to ratification on any documents that would surrender control of the Panama Canal. The agreements we are now studying, in their present form, do just that-give away U.S. control of the waterway.

National Security Considerations From a national security perspective, as former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Moorer, has stated, the canal is a vital strategic "choke-point" in the Western Hemisphere and one we must continue to operate and control. The current treaties would not only surrender this facility, but also fail to make clear what our rights are in regards to elemental considerations such as defending the canal and guaranteeing priority passages in time of emergency.

Economic Problems Forseen On the economic front, with 70 percent of all canal traffic either originating in our country or winding up here, the waterway is obviously an important asset. The Department of Commerce has estimated that if the facility were shut down the price of American exports would increase by $932 million annually. A closure would also raise the price of imports by $583 million yearly. And when the Alaskan pipeline is operating at full capacity, approximately 500,000 barrels of oil will be shipped through the canal. Considering the obvious commercial importance of the canal we shouldn't entrust its operation to any other nation, especially one that has promised to raise the passage rates.

Unpredictable Leadership Piled on top of this is the unpredictability of Panama's leader, Gen. Omar Torrijos. He is a dictator with a miserable record in human rights, who finds a perfect role model, according to him, in Cuba's Fidel Castro. And the United States has good reason to distrust Castro's motives for his friendship with Torrijos. The Cuban leader is manipulated by the Soviet Union and does its bidding. Castro's activities in Africa may be a training ground for anticipated involvement in Central America if we are naive enough to surrender the canal. I recently visited Panama to see if there was any way my doubts about the wisdom of handling the canal over could be explained away. While there, I talked with many people, from those who operate the facility on up to Gen. Torrijos. Not one person could convince me that the U.S. security and economic picture wouldn't be detrimentally affected by these treaties. The best Gen. Torrijos could do for me was say that our national security would be in good hands with him. I'd like to think we could do a better job ourselves! The bottom line on the matter as I see it is this. Because of the tremendously complex maintenance job involved with keeping the canal open and the national security and economic questins added, relinquishing control of the waterway is a very dangerous move that must be res-

Because of the compelling arguments against these treaties, a bipartisan lineup of Democratic and Republican congressmen has opposed their passage. Admittedly, the group opposing ratification is weighted with members of the GOP Consequently, I think this is an issue we Republicans can run with effectively since it is a Democratic Administration that is proposing the pacts.

"We've heard a lot-too much-from treaty opponents accusing the opposition camp of being emotional and unthinking in our stand. This, to me, is essentially an insult to the people because public sentiment runs against ratification. Are the people then only reacting emotionally? Some of the most knowledgeable mail I've ever received comes from those across the country asking me to vote "no" on the treaties. And the letters detailing the reasons for opposition evidence an understanding of the issue.

The Republican Party has an opportunity to enlist the support of these people. The majority of Americans wanting the pacts rejected are looking for leadership and we have a chance to provide it.

I would, however, be less than totally candid here unless I mentioned that some of the GOP Party leaders have disppointed many of us with their compromising stand on the canal treaties. While each person has to call his own shots on this particular question, I believe that Republican opposition to the canal treaties is consistent with our concern for responsible foreign policy and the protection of U.S. national security. The Republican platform in 1976 came out foursquare against relinquishing control and, no doubt, the platform in 1980 will reflect the same sentiments. Therefore, I seriously doubt any Republican who votes for the treaties will be able to secure the party's nomination for president in 1980

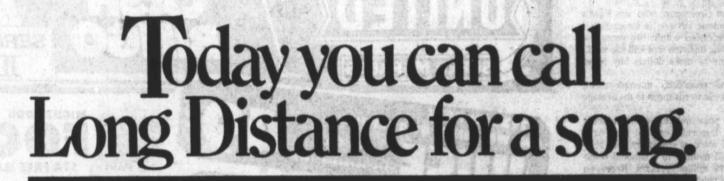

Popular Opinion

The real political question posed by the upcoming vote, however, is whether the Senate's decision will represent the will of the voters. Public sentiment, as expressed in the hundreds of thousands of pieces of mail that continue to flood our Senate offices in Washington, shows that vast numbers of Americans, after months of debate, still oppose the treaties. Politically, it would be just plain wrong to ignore this expression of public

We proponents of keeping the canal firmly in U.S. hands came within a single vote of defeating the first treaty. When it comes down to voting "yes" or 'no" on the bottom line question of surrendering control, I am hopeful that the security risks, economic uncertainties and political problems of voting in favor of this unpopular treaty will produce the votes we need to bury the pact once and for all.

scrimination Claimed Still Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Blacks still are quite likely to encounter racial bias when they try to buy or rent a place to live, particularly in parts of the Midwest, according to preliminary results of a major new survey for the government.

Sources said the computer data, to be made public Monday, indicate that blacks must contend with a 75 percent chance of discrimination on an average search of four or more agencies for an apartment, and more than a 60 percent hance on an average house hunt.

When other key factors are measured "racial steering" of blacks to selected neighborhoods, the discrimination figures are expected to go even higher.

In the most extensive such study ever conducted, the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing hired whites and blacks to pose as prospective buyers or renters all across the country. The $1 million survey consisted of 3,300 checks of real estate and rental firms in 40 metropolitan areas.

HUD researchers, taking into account for statistical purposes the fact that blacks were favored about 25 percent of the time as prospective buyers or renters, concluded that between 20 and 30 percent of the tested firms engaged in discrimination.

But the researchers indicated they sus-

"Racial steering," considered probably the biggest contributor to segregated housing patterns, is prohibited under the 1968 civil rights law

Among factors measured so far are the terms and conditions of a sale or rental; the proportional availability of a particular house or apartment unit to black and white buyers; and the courtesy the sales agent showed the prospective buyer. In ali but a few of the cases, blacks and

Administration To Tackle Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Inflation was the raging problem in the fall of 1974, when President Ford announced a program of voluntary wage and price restraints to retard its growth.

Ford's campaign gave rise to the "WIN" buttons, standing for "Whip Inflation Now." Two months later, the American economy headed into the deepest recession since World War II.

Last week when President Carter said inflation was the nation's top economic problem, he didn't pass out any buttons. But he did tap Robert Strauss, the administration's most persuasive politician, to lead the fight.

As Strauss sees it, "The American public is scared to death of inflation. They're frightened of what's happening to their money, their savings, and their salaries."

Carter will be told Wednesday that the nation's economy experienced little or no growth between January and March, according to Commerce Secretary Juanita

So the question to be answered in the coming months is will Carter's anti-inflation program be swamped by a larger dilemma of worsening unemployment, retail sales and industrial production?

Carter's top economic adviser, Charles Schultze, insists the showing of the gross national product this winter is temporary, that a "snapback" will occur this

But Alan Greenspan, who was Ford's chief economic adviser, is forecasting a possible recession within two years due to worsening inflation that will sap worker's income as more dollars buy fewer Inflation, recession, unemployment What do these words mean to the average American?

Experts point out that unemployment is usually important only to those who can't find work, a significant, but relatively small number in a national workforce of 99 million persons. Recession means the volume of goods and services available for consumers has remained unchanged or declined for six straight months - bad news for the unemployed and belt-tightening for low income folks.

Inflation means prices are going up faster than anybody can afford to pay them. Everyone complains about inflation, Carter lectured on national television last week, but no one wants to make the first

Carter's economists blame most of the recent inflation on higher prices for food and energy, plus the cold weather that portation.

Report Notes Leading Birth Control Forms

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sterilization is now the most popular form of contraception in the world, the George Washington University Medical Center reported Sunday.

It said about 80 million couples worldwide are using voluntary sterilization for birth control - with the woman usually the one sterilized - compared with 55 million using the pill, 35 million using condoms and 15 million using intra-uterine devices.

Another 65 million couples were reported using a variety of other birth control techniques, such as the rhythm method and diaphragms.

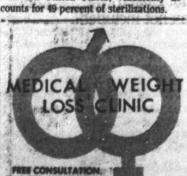

The report, prepared by George Washington's population information program, predicted the popularity of sterilization will increase dramatically and the number of couples taking this course should double to 160 million by 1985.

The university's population informa-tion program publishes a bimonthly journal on population and family planning distributed in five languages to 98 countries. The world survey of sterilization was believed to be one of the few studies of its kind.

It indicated sterilization has been growing in popularity in both developing and industrial nations - the United States being a world leader - despite the onus created by Nazi Germany's use of it on victims, and the opposition of some governments and cultural groups. In most countries, it said, women are far more likely than men to undergo the sterilization -- by an average ratio of 4

John Jay Sets Travel Film

Civic Lubbock Inc. will present its 7th program of the Travel and Adventure Series at 8 p.m., Wednesday in the University Center Theatre.

Global photographer John Jay will introduce his film, "Winter Magic Around the World." The program will include the solitary grandeur of the Rockies, breathtaking scenery of the European Alps, winter resorts of Japan, unusual highlights of Australia and New Zealand.

Jay is not only well known for his creative photography, but his New England humor is gaining wide acclaim. Lowell Thomas has said of him, "I get more laughs from John Jay's shows than any production on Broadway."

Tickets for the adventure program are $2.50, and students with I.D. $2. Season ticket holders will be admitted free of charge,

In-Depth News On 'Segment 3' Proves Great Audience Success

NEW YORK (AP) - There were experts who said it couldn't be done - the networks' evening newscasts couldn't handle reports of five minutes or more on a single subject.

"Segment 3," which does just that, has been an "NBC Nightly News" fixture for seven months and, said anchorman John Chancellor, it's proven those experts were wrong.

"We're pleased with the response to Segment 3," Chancellor said, "because all the news doctors advising local stations had been saying nothing could run more than a minute - a minute and 15

"In the face of that, here we come with reports maybe six minutes long, usually serious in content, and the thing turns out to be a dazzling success," he said.

NBC announced last August that it would break its half-hour nightly newscast into four segments, the third of which would "devote itself completely to coverage of a single story through investigative reports, with emphasis on the hard-hitting type of story that could affect people's lives."

Since then, the "Segment 3" team, which includes five reporters assigned full-time, has produced reports on nearly 130 subjects. On several occasions, "Segment 3" features have continued beyond a single evening, and two, on "The New Mob" and "Blacks in America," ran a full week.

Upcoming Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week is a three-part feature, "Peaceful Death," on how people cope with death.

Chancellor said audience surveys indicate the feature is popular with the "Nightly News" audience, and that the mail response for "Segment 3" is greater than for any other element in the newscast.

"We have an audience of 17 million people," he said, "and the response we've had allows us to say with proof that they're a lot smarter than some people thought they were. "I think we've always sold the audience short," said David McCormick, who has produced "Segment 3" since the end of February. "The reaction we've got is that people really are looking forward to these in-depth reports, having difficult subjects explained."

The departure, Chancellor said, involved a significant investment by NBC because "you can't do it just by shifting assignments.

Five correspondents - John Hart, Brian Ross, Garrick Utley, Betty Rollin and Paul Altmeyer - work full-time for "Segment 3" and handle the bulk of the reporting. McCormick said that through the first of April, 37 correspondents had contributed reports.

McCormick said he's constantly discussing ideas for "Segment 3" with Chancellor and others in the "Nightly News" production.

'Segment 3" often is tied to a current news story, but generally the time is given to examination of broader issues. Multi-part features have dealt with homosexuals, truck and air safety, evangelicals, TV ratings, the White House staff, utility security, counter-terrorism and Vietnam. Chancellor himself reported first for Segment 3" in October on the SALT talks. "That night," he recalled, "I got calls from several station managers and news directors who said they liked the report. And when you get that kind of man-ife tation of support, you know you're on to iomething."

Recycling Of Cans Encouraged

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A record 6.1 billion aluminum cans were recycled in the United States in 1977; earning Americans $45 million, the Aluminum Associa-tion said Sunday.

Most of the cans were turned in at 2,200 recycling centers operated by the aluminum industry and beverage companies across the country. The centers paid 17 cents for one pound of aluminum — about 23 cans, the association said.

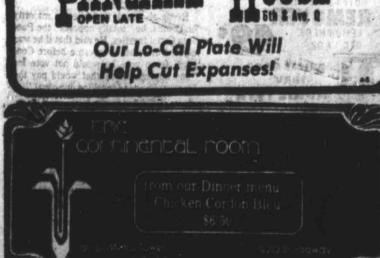

In addition to cleaning the environ it, returning the cans saves "95 perent of the energy it takes to make alumitry gets back the metal it wants," said S.L. Goldsmith Jr., president of the Alu minum Association. The 1977 figure represents a 27 percent increase over the estimated 4.8 billion cans recycled the year before. The recycling system began in 1967 and has since grown into a network of centers and mobile van stops throughout the

and "Romeo and Juliet." Zeffirelli outdid even Zeffirelli with "Jesus of Nazareth," shown last year on American television and currently in theatrical release in other parts of the world.

liet. Zeffirelli created a Christ that seemed relevant and real, quite a departure from the typical movie Jesus, who usually looks like he just stepped onto the screen fresh from a Raphael painting, halo and all. But Franco Zeffirelli had become stuck in antiquity, with a Jesus, two Shakespeares and a Francis of Assisi to his credit, but not one film in which the characters didn't speak in thees and thous. Now Zeffirelli is escaping to mod-ernity with a remake of King Vidor's little classic, "The Champ," a sentimental tale of love between a little boy and his father, a down-and-out boxer.

"Every time, I say I'm going to do a contemporary film and then I'm offered other projects," says the director, sipping from a cup of "awful American coffee" in his temporary home, a hotel room in Beverly Hills. "Now I'm going to do

Zeffirelli could have taken an easier path to modern times. Remaking American film classics is always a thorny task, since a filmmaker is trying to better something that was good to begin with and has, through time, gathered the advantage of familiarity.

Can you imagine a remake of Casablan-

There's also the formidable task of trying to recapture those vague elements that happened to combine at the right time, making a good film something special. There are film buffs who'd fight you for messing with their image of Vidor's "Champ" - little Jackie Cooper throwing his tiny arms around the bulk of Hollywood's greatest dirty angel, Wallace Beery. And of course, there's the advantage of the built-in melancholy of blackand-white film.

In 1956 the Lubbock Police Department consisted of only 129 police offi-cers; the force now includes 224 officers.

For the original, Vidor won a director's

Oscar for "The Champ" and Beery was voted best actor for the title role.

Zeffirelli began to see the problems of remakes before shooting even began.

"We had some trouble finding the actors," he says. "I thought the great trouble would be in casting the child, because in America, there are a great number of actors who are brilliant and right for the title role, the champ, and I thought that nait would be easy.

part would be easy.

"But in fact, it was just the opposite. I finally found a boy — a lovely little boy named Ricky 3chroeder — but I had not found the actor. All the actors — the big stars - were a bit scared.

"They were scared by the ghost of Wallace Beery and the ghost of 'Rocky' and they were scared by boxing, because there'd be a bit of hitting, you know, and playing a fighter requires tremendous health; there's a lot of exercise there."

Just contacting actors about the part was a forbidding endeavor, requiring a tricky journey through a maze of agents and lawyers. "Unfortunately," Zeffirelli noted, "most of the stars here are not actors anymore. They're corporation ford for the part. "A lovely ector, I adore him," he said. "He was educated in Five-ence (Zeffirelli's home) and has that kind of civilized approach to the beauty of life. But, he is a corporation. Before we can get to him, well, it's so difficult."

The director finally found an actor he could talk to in person, one intrepid enough to brave all of the aforementioned haunts — Jon Voight.

"Jon Voight is an actor I really adore."
Zeffirelli said. "He's had a very strange career — he's never pushed for becoming a star, but he's a man of extraordinary talent. He's a very wonderful person, very devoted to his profession."

Zeffirelli himself will admit no fears in tackling "The Champ," the ghosts of Vi-dor, Beery and "Rocky" notwithstand-ing. He thinks it'll be easier to present Miami, in 1978 than it was to bring to life Christ's Jeruselem or Romeo and Juliet's Verona, and he's anxious to start shooting April 24. "I think I'll be very much relieved to do

ites during the weekend, leaving Lubbock police Sunday with follow-up investigations of an attempted murder and numerous assaults.

An apparently irate motorist sent one man to a local hospital with gunshot wounds to the abdomen to spark the attempted murder probe.

Police said the driver became angry when the man brushed against the vehicle during a fight about 7:30 p.m. Saturday near the intersection of 30th Street and Avenue H.

Officers said Walter Scott Rochon of 2905 Ave. H No. 7 was one of two men involved in a scuffle that ended when the men brushed against the vehicle, and the driver fired one shot into the Rochon's Police later found the man, bleeding from his wound, by a nearby storage shed. He was in satisfactory condition after undergoing surgery late Sunday in the Health Sciences Center Hospital.

In reported assaults, 23-year-old Robert Davila of Wilson told police he was walking down the street somewhere near the 2000-block of Ave. M about 3:55 a.m.

Traffic Mishap Kills Lubbock Boy, 10; Services Pending

Services for Ricky Rodriguez, 10, of 413 3rd Place are pending with Sanders Funeral Home.

Rodriguez, the city's eighth victim of fatal traffic mishaps, died about 11 a.m. Saturday after being struck by a car in the 200 block of East Broadway. Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy ruled the child's death accidental. Witnesses said the boy apparently ran south across Broadway from Mackenzie Park just as a 1974 Ford van driven by a 44-year-old Petersburg woman drove through the area.

Three witnesses told police the woman attempted to swerve to miss the youngster as he crossed the street in front of her westbound vehicle.

"Our earliest, most tender and indelible memories are those that center around the old Family Bible of our childhood home. Always in its accustomed place, it symbolized Christianity and right living, and its associations inspired our youthful reverence. For Records

"In its Family Record were written the births, marriages or deaths of our dear ones, some of whom we know, while others lived and passed away before our time. If mother or father died, we tenderly turned its pages to learn the exact dates of birth and marriage, and we in turn solemnly recorded the date of death. We saw there, penned by their own hands, records of similar occurances, many of which but for this record would have children of our own, but can turn back to our father's and grandfather's Family Bible for all such oftentimes valuable and always indisputable information, together with the hallowed recollections of those who have been but now are

"The Family Bible, being in itself a large volume, often comes with encyclopedia and other valuable information and charts that add to its massiveness and beauty. It outlasts generation after generation; its value as a family heirloom and as a constant source of inspiration can hardly be equalled.

"Of all the many and varied styles of Bibles that are now published, the Family Bible still remains in a class by itself, and has a purpose entirely its own.

"Of course our services at Bookbinding & Bible Repair are many; we bind all kinds of books, picture albums, magazines, journals, etc., not overlooking the regular manual Bibles that require flexible bindings; but we have a special place in our heart for the Family Bible. Jones Ornamental Decor Outstanding Source For Indoor-Outdoor Elegance

"Thank you, Lubbock and surrounding areas, for your patronage."

"Our first year in business at Jones Ornamental Decor, 1406 Avenue Q, has been a wonderful experience, and without your enthusiasm and your support it could not have been possible. We will continue to do our best to serve you in the future as we have in the past." What comments do we get from our customers? The most common one is . . . "a business like this is long overdue for Lubbock!"

Jones Ornamental-Decor offers the utmost in ornamental elegance and sophistication, combining quality wrought iron designs with wood and temepered glass to enhance the beauty of one's home, office or business

Indoor Or Outdoor

"Most people likely think of wrought iron as outdoor furniture or decorations. but that if far from being true. We have placed our furniture in some of the most elegant homes and offices in Lubbock and surrounding areas. We specialize in making our customers happy and satisfied by ordering their choice of design, color and fabric, as well as carrying a wide selection of favorite colors and designs in our showroom.

We carry only quality merchandise and name brands, including Woodard, O.

W. Lee, Winston, Tennessee Fabricating; and Kessler will be added to our stock in about six to eight weeks.

"From indoor dining sets to outdoor mesh, we have the best that money can buy. There is a full variety . thing from the best bar stools Lubbock has to offer to elegant bakers racks and tea carts. The furniture is so versatile it can be used to accent any decor.

"Our Woodard 1890 rocker is one of our most beautiful and unusual items; so if looking for something different in a com-

Fifth-Wheel Units, Trailers, Motor Homes Stocked By Pharr

Coachmen, Silver Streak, Apollo, Pharr Trailer Sales . . . these are names to know and appreciate when it comes to travel and vacation enjoyment!

Pharr Trailer Sales, 1702 Clovis Road, likes to prove that travel and relaxation can take on a new enjoyment, new thrill and convenience with the right recreational vehicle (RV) unit, accessories, equipment and service from Pharr, phone 765-6088, at the Amarillo Highway Clovis Highway "Y" on Avenue Q in Lubbock. Special attention is directed at this time to values in new '78 Coachmen 5th Wheel units. For home-style comfort, a 5th wheel is one of the finest recreation vehicles available, and the Coachmen QuinStar is one of the finest 5th wheels!

"Open the door to freedom" with a Coachman 5th wheel now on the big lot at Pharr's. 'For You, Too'

"Do you envy those enjoying the fun and freedom that comes with ownership of a recreational vehicle (RV) that meets the needs and preferences of the owner? Then Pharr Trailer Sales should enter the picture!

Whether the choice is from the Coachmen (No. 1 seller in the nation) mini-motor home, motor home, 5th wheel unit, travel trailers in all sizes, cab-over camper or even pop-ups; the Apollo motor home or the prestigious Silver Streak and luxury is assured. And whether one is interested in one of the exciting new '78 units, or if thinking of readying a present RV unit for the summer. Pharr has much to offer. In citing advantages of Coachmen, Pharr calls attention to its dealership network of over 500 dealers in the nation. Also it has the best warranty imaginable. For example, it is said to be the only manufacturer that offers warranty on all appliances and components, not just on the unit construction itself. Now, isn't this worth full consideration when selecting an RV?

The raised upper bedroom of the fifth wheel offers unique RV luxury, and this year two QuinStars, the 27 ft. DR and the 35 ft. FSDR, even offer a dressing room! On and on the features could be listed, including self-polishing GAF linoleum or optional 100 per cent nylon carpeting, Olefin and polyester upholstery, bath and kitchen area walls that wipe clean easily, and delightful decors available in lime, saffron, poppy or sable! The QuinStar is designed to let one relax and "enjoy yourself". "Top economy and unique fifth wheel comfort also are yours with a Coachman Cadet fifth wheel.

"Does your insurance fully serve the purpose of your personal preference? Does it need review by a trusted and knowledgeable expert in the field?" Then, turn to Harold Harvey, whether the need is for complete planning, for review, for mortgage cancellation life insurance or whatnot.

Harold Harvey's continuing efforts and subsequent successes in insurance service are matter of record. For a fact, the Harold Harvey Agency

(No. 5, Briercroft Office Park, phone 747-6673) can materially assist, professionally and correctly, in the insurance picture. Harvey takes pride in representing companies with good records, and prompt payments can be (and should be) a big factor in choosing one's insurance agent. Harvey prides in promptness. The Harold Harvey Agency calls to attention some other situations in which they can be of prime benefit: "Re-evaluation of one's insurance makes good sense what with property values going up every day."

Harvey points out the value of an "inflation-guard endorsement" that annually increases the insurance coverage of the home. This endorsement can be put on an annual basis on current home-owners' policies at a cost far from prohibitive. It provides a realistic protection of values. 'Specializing in fire and casualty insurance, the Harold Harvey Agency can render services that can be rewarding for every client. Among the key areas in which Harvey can render a special service is that of home owners mortgage cancellation life insurance, paying off the mortgage in full should the breadwinner die. The complete homeowners and mort-.

McWhorter's Lubbock Facilities Seen Beneficial Friend To Driving Public

"Let us prove that McWhorter's, Inc.,

For the big jobs, one can turn to McWhorter's Truck Center at 213 N. Ave. U in Lubbock for service unsurpassed in the southwest.

And for front-end work, wheel alignment, brake work and such, one can entrust the family auto to the big McWhorter's facility in the heart of downtown Lubbock, at 1008 Texas Ave. (One owes it to self and family to assure top-notch performance of the family auto for summer travel . . . so don't delay in the above-mentioned services at which McWhorter's excels.) More about the big truck center that one may not realize: Increased parts stock, added bays, heavy duty front end machine, and even a U-bolt bending machine are among the additions of recent months.

Any U-bolt can be made right here in the McWhorter's shop, with a large stock of materials and the correct machines for fabricating a bolt to order. Now, McWhorter's Truck Center has four truck front end and frame ma-

Luggage, Purses Among Woolco Travel, Gifting Suggestions

For spring and its many gifting, travel and special-occasion opportunities, Woolco presents a very stylish and practical selection of luggage and purses.

Imagine . . . quality-line luggage at Woolco discount prices! Select from Royal Traveler by Samsonite, for example, with its complete selection of colors and pieces, from tote bags to pullman cases with wheels. There are several styles of soft sided luggage. Maybe the preference is heavy gauge PVC luggage with each set containing tote bags and pullman cases. High quality construction is noted, and purchase may be in sets or individual pieces. Heavy nylon luggage is stocked, too, with each set containing tote bags, pullman cases and garment bags. For Graduation "So, the wise word is to shop now for the vacations ahead, and remember, luggage makes an excellent graduation gift."

A tremendous selection of purses, with latest styling, yet with low Woolco prices, is shown, making it easier than ever to move into spring with all the newest styles and materials. There truly is a great selection of purses to compliment any outfit, with any col or, size, and style available. Be sure to see the straw bags for casual spring wear, tote bags for days in the sun or by the pool, organizer bags with "a place for everything," and evening bags for those special spring occasions. New arrivals are reported daily.

All this makes possible the invitation to "come to Woolco and save on purses and all your fashion needs.

Dean "Pappa Daddy" Kirkpatrick runs a pawnshop, the Galaxy Pawn at 1621 19th St., phone 763-3001, in Lubbock. He is one of a group considering themselves a "new breed" of pawnbrokers who are making drastic changes in an ancient industry.

Now, a lot of people, in likely every walk of life, turn to pawnbroker-businessmen such as Kirkpatrick, not only for short-term loan on possessions of every type and price range, but even just to establish credit.

Kirkpatrick, more familiar as Pappa Daddy, is a businessman, and as manager of the Galaxy Pawn performs accord-

His tenure in the business community includes a stint of two decades as general manager of the regionally-based Shugart Studios, as manager for some time of Gibson Discount Centers in Littlefield and Andrews, and other years as owner of his own studio, and even five years spent with a carnival.

Kirkpatrick didn't have to be a pawnbroker; there were plenty of other things he could have done. But he likes his work, reporting that he finds it both interesting and lucrative, and believes it provides a genuine service to the public. Galaxy Pawn was opened in July of last year. Handling everything from tween, Galaxy Pawn is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., six days a week. "We absolutely loan on anything of value, or buy anything of value," Pappa Daddy emphasizes.

"Running a shop like this gives you opportunity to do a little of everything; I make loans to people who can't get the quick cash they need from a bank or other institution, even some are surprisingly well-to-do. I deal with folks in every walk of life. I like selling things, and I like meeting people.

Not only has the image of the pawnbroker changed in recent years because of "self-policing" but also with the help of state laws. Kirkpatrick explains.

One example of these laws is the stipulation that if a pawnbroker accepts stolen goods for pawn, the goods may be confiscated by authorities and returned to the rightful owner without compensation to the pawnbroker. So, not only does this make it risky to run a fencing operation out of a pawnshop, but it tends for added cooperation between pawnbrokers and police, Pappa Daddy

"A lot of folks still think the first thing a thief does when he steals is to head for a pawnshop," he adds, "but in fact I unitems reported stolen in Dallas ever turned up in a pawnshop!"

Some readers may not realize that the terms and interest rates on pawnshop loans are clearly specified by state law Pawnbrokers, Pappa Daddy reports, are allowed to charge 20 per cent per month (or 240 per cent per year) on loans less than $30. Loans ranging between $30 and $100 carry an interest rate of 15 per cent per month; and loans be tween $100 and $300 fall to a 2.5 per cent per month interest rate (30 per cent per year). He cites numerous services, bookkeeping, lengthy storage, etc. that cut the profit on small loans.

"You'd be surprised at the number of substantial residents and businessmen who use our pawnshop regularly to raise cash," Kirkpatrick says.

Of pawned items, diamonds, guns and machine tools are especially good sellers, locally as elsewhere. Galaxy Pawn has all this, plus antiques and just about anything, it would seem.

"Maybe you, too, will find it advantageous to visit Galaxy Pawn, at 1621 19th St. in Lubbock.

After all, an amazing cross section of area social strata and income levels passes through its doors week after week.

Station Loses $200 In Heist

A West 19th Street Fina service station was robbed Sunday night by a bandit who pointed a shotgun to the head of attendant before escaping with about $200 in cash and several credit cards.

David Dozier, 22, told police he had gone outside the station's office to lock up when the bandit suddenly appeared out of the dark. Pointing a 12-gauge pump shotgun at the attendant's head, the robber told him "Let's go."

Once inside the station, the attendant said the bandit threw a sack on the counter and told him to fill it up.

The robber fled east from the station on foot, with about $200 in bills, several credit cards and three checks. He was last seen heading northeast from the station toward Farrah Estates, police said.

The bandit was described as 23-to 26years of age, wearing a green Army fatigue shirt, jeans and track shoes, of medium build with shoulder-length brown hair, and about 5-feet 7-to 8-inches in

"Everyone was on top of everybody."

But Dr. Roy Clayburn of Stockton, the

Nearly 500 witnesses have been questioned and almost 2,000 man-hours have been spent in the search for the gunman who critically wounded Flynt and one of his attorneys March 6 during a recess in Flynt's obscenity trial, police say.

Six county investigators have worked full-time on the case with assistance from the Georgia Bureau of Investigation and Lawrenceville police. Crunkleton said he would probably cut back on the number of detectives assigned to the case because all local leads have been exhausted. "Most likely I will because there's people in this county also suffering at the hands of criminals who need some attention," he said.

"We have run down everything local that we can think of to run down," said county Detective Capt. Burt Blanott. 'We have gone back over everything we've had. Blanott indicated officers may now turn their attention to Flynt's background, although such a check may be hampered by hostility between police and the Flynt organization. Police say Flynt's wife, Althea, has hampered their investigation by refusing attempts to interview Flynt. Mrs. Flynt, who said her husband was not well enough to face police interrogation, has criticized police handling of the case.

Flynt, left partially paralyzed by the shooting, was transfered from Emory University Hospital in Atlanta to Ohio State University Hospital in his home-town of Columbus Friday.

He is undergoing diagnostic tests and hospital officials said Sunday he was in satisfactory condition and had spent "a restful night." The extensive physical exams are necessary, hospital officials said, to determine a rehabilitative program that doctors hope will enable Flynt to regain use of his legs.

"The complete diagnostic procedure will take several days before more is known about the severity, extent and prognosis concerning Mr. Flynt's condition," the hospital said.

Flynt is "very determined" to wall again, according to his wife.

Rhodesia Talks Support Sought

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) - Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and his British counterpart Sunday sought the support of white-ruled South Africa in bringing the new biracial government of Rhodesia to the peace table with black guerrillas.

But Bishop Abel Muzorewa, a black member of Rhodesia's ruling council underlined the difficulty of the British-American mission, saying in the Rhodesian capital of Salisbury his government would be "stubborn, firm and 'uncompromising" if attempts were made to change the constitutional plan it is now following.

Conference With Botha Vance and Foreign Secretary David Owen of Britain flew here to meet with South African Foreign Minister R.F. Botha after their weekend conference in Tanzania with Rhodesian guerrilla leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe.

South Africa can provide important leverage in the peace process because it is the chief trading partner and only outlet to the sea for Rhodesia, burdened by international economic sanctions during the past 13 years of white rule and by its landlocked location.

The United States and Britain, the recognized colonial power in Rhodesia even after that country broke away in 1965, sponsor a plan for majority rule that features a British administrator and U.N. peacekeeping troops during the transition to black control in Rhodesia, a nation of 6.4 million blacks and 263,000 Guerrillas Seek Dominance

In the Tanzania talks, the guerrilla chiefs demanded a dominant role in any transition government. But they agreed to meet with the current Rhodesian governing council. The council, three black moderate leaders and white Prime Minister Ian Smith, has indicated it opposes such a conference, which would in effect reopen discussions between the moderates and Smith that culminated last month in an agreement to form the biracial administration and move toward majority rule by Dec. 31 with certain political safeguards for the white minority

The guerrillas regard the Salisbury agreement as a sellout. U.S. officials traveling with Vance said.

however, that without some conciliation between the moderates in Rhodesia and the guerrillas, fighting the government from bases outside Rhodesia, a black-versus-black civil war may engulf the coun-

Vance and Owen travel to Salisbury on Monday in an attempt to talk the Rhodesian government into sitting down with the guerrilla leaders. Tough Rhetoric

Both Nkomo and Mugabe engaged in tough rhetoric in their meetings with Vance and Owen at Dar es Salaam, Tanzania.

"A luta continua" - Portuguese for "The struggle continues." He said: "It has to be intensified if we have to get sense from people who don't understand by talking - who understand by actual shooting.

Mugabe declared that "the (Rhodesian) army must be our army, pure and simple." The guerrillas are demanding control of the governing council and of the army, and inclusion in the police Warning To Guerillas Bishop Muzorewa, in Salisbury, reacted to tough talk by the guerrilla leaders by saying: "I must give an unequivocal warning. We shall be stubborn, firm and uncompromising if there is any suggestion that the whole or any aspect of the Salisbury agreement should be revised to

He said the Americans "should stop playing Sunday school politics over our country" and that the British should grow teeth, develop a backbone and assume courage. Still, U.S. officials said the guerrilla leaders made some concessions in private, contingent on dominance of the government council. Said one Vance adviser: "They didn't put their proposals on a take-it-or-leave-it basis." The officials said Nkomo and Mugabe gave ground toward accepting the concept of a neutral authority in charge of both army and police. Also, they were said to have moved closer to the idea of stationing a U.N. force in Rhodesia to maintain the hoped-for cease-fire. Before the Tanzania meeting, U.S. officials said, Vance had been led to believe by President Julius Nyerere and heads of the other black states backing the guerrillas that Nkomo and Mugabe would agree to key elements of the British-American

That would have given only four of the 12 seats on the governing council to the guerrillas, and there would have been no major change in the local police force now controlled by whites.

The visit of Vance and Owen to Pretoria also was designed to promote a Western plan for a peaceful transition to independence in South-West Africa, the mineral-rich territory held by South Africa under an old League of Nations mandate annulled by the United Nations

infected with botulism on Friday wouldn't begin showing symptoms until Authorities have made emergency preparations in the event more people "What we fear is that the source of the poisoning is possibly a commercially sold food product, which could mean others in other parts of the country will get hold of it also," Mann said. New Mexico health investigators say those stricken were among 800 people who dined at the swank country club's restaurant between April 9 and April 13. Mann said the restaurant, which has voluntarily closed while officials try to track down the source of the contamination, appeared to have good food management and sanitation practices.

This has led authorities to suspect that commercially prepared food that may have been distributed elsewhere was the source of the food poisoning.

Mann said epidemiologists are continuing their analysis of the cases in an effort to identify the source of the botulism poison. But he said he had heard nothing more from the federal Food and Drug Administration, which is conducting tests

"It will probably be Monday or Tuesday before we know anything," he said. In preparation for more persons becoming ill, the state received 100 new vials of hotulism anti-toxin from the Cen ter for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. said Mann. He said some of the anti-toxin was on its way to a hospital in Albuquerque with the rest remaining at the Environmental Improvement Disvision's office in Clovis.

Military airplanes also were standing by to evacuate new patients to intensive care units in other parts of the state.

Health officials are using lists of persons who attended banquets or a golf tournament or who had made dining reservations at the country club to track down persons and warn them to see a doctor if they become ill.

Botulism, a serious form of food poisoning caused by a bacteria-produced toxin sometimes found in improperly canned food, has early symptoms of blurred vision, slurred speech and muscular difficulties.

According to the latest CDC figures, there have been four verified cases of botulism in the United States this year.

Hill Refuses Commitment On Lo-Vaca

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Attorney General John Hill says he will not necessarily go along with whatever the Texas Railroad Commission decides on the proposed Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. settlement.

"If it came to a conflict or I felt that the settlement could not pass the public interest test, it would be my clear duty to say so, to announce that publicly," Hill said on Capitol Eye, a weekly televisionradio program.

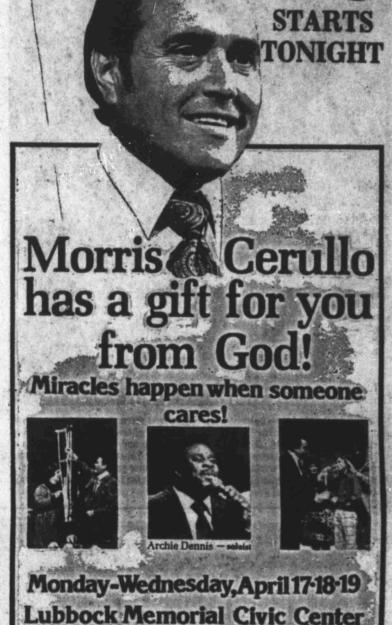

Monday marks the third week of railroad commission hearings on the proposal, aimed at settling more than $1.6 billion in customer claims against the natural gas utility. Hill said the commission should deal with Crystal City's problems with Lo-Va-

Americans Oppose Sending Troops To Africa

According to this recent Harris Survey of 1,529 adults nationwide, it is clear that Americans want to see their government object to Soviet and Cuban military action against Somalia. However, they clearly draw the line at any involvement of American personnel in any armed conflict there.

The key to American thinking on this issue can be found in the 76-13 percent

Although Americans are worried about the presence of Cuban troops in Ethiopia, armed with Soviet military supplies, he public is basically wary of any kind of potential U.S. involvement in armed conflict in that part of the world. Public opinion on just what the United States should do about helping Somalia defend itself shapes up this way:

-By 69-13 percent, a clear-cut majority feels that President Carter should warn the Soviets that we won't agree to negotiating on arms control or trade unless the Russians and Cubans get out of Ethiopia.

-By a narrow 43-37 percent, a plurality favors the United States' sending military supplies to Somalia,

—But by 41-38 percent, most people are opposed to the Pesident's warning the Russians that the United States will send military aid to Somalia if they don't get out of the Horn of Africa. -By 45-36 percent, the public opposes the United States' sending military aid and advisers to train the Somalis in the use of weapons. -By a higher 57-23 percent, a majority of Americans opposes the United States' sending advisers and military personnel in limited numbers to organize and lead the Somali fighting force.

majority that agrees with the view that "once we get involved with military aid and advisers in Africa, we will soon find we are getting in too deep, as we did in Vietnam." There is real evidence that the scar tissue from the long and divisive Vietnam experience is not yet mended. By more than 5 to 1, most Americans are wary of an escalation of U.S. involvement, which might lead to commitment of American manpower. By the same token, there are real signs that Americans are increasingly worried about stepped-up Cuban and Soviet military activity in Africa:

—By 50-24 percent, the public feels that "unless the United States takes the lead in telling the Russians and Cubans they can't take over these countries, Af-

—By a narrow 37-35 percent, a plurality agrees with the claim that "in Africa, the Russians are testing President Carter's will to stand firm, so we had better be willing to take military risks there."

But after they have thought through the implications of what the United States might have to do to stop further communist advances in Africa, the best the public is willing to opt for is that we send military aid to countries such as Somalia and that we let the Russians know we vigorously oppose their military incursions in that part of the world. Most Americans draw the line on sending any U.S. military personnel to Africa, even as advisers.

In the case of a Russian and Cuban threat to take over Rhodesia, a 44-37 percent plurality even opposes sending military aid to that country. By 46-37 percent, most would lso oppose sending any U.S. military advisers to Rhodesia. By 69-15 percent, a big majority would oppose sending any U.S. troops to defend

There are notes about a tree that might provide a better chicken feed. A little deeper in the pile of paper are details about a plant that's a wonderful supplier

And then there are some facts on the gasoline tree.

'There's no reason at all why we have to depend on the Arabs for it when we can grow it right here. We'd need an area about half the size of Texas," the 64-yearold former wildcatter said.

The Houston native has a few gasoline tree seedlings sprouting near his home in the Rio Grande Valley. He got the seeds from a Nobel prize-winning California scientist who has been working with various strains of the Euphorbia plant for a few years. "There's no reason why we can't use plants for energy. For hundreds of years all we had was wood," said Foerster, executive director of the non-profit Vitis Research and Development Corp.

The Euphorbia does not produce the same type of oil drilled from the ground.

But Melvin Calvin, the University of California researcher who collied the term gasoline tree, has reported that a mixture of hydrocarbons suited for fuel uses can be milled from the plant. John Otvos, a chemist in Calvin's campus lab, said no one is sure of the potential of the Euphorbia.

"What we know is that on a very small scale we can produce about 10 barrels of

He said the plants could be grown in areas not now used in the Valley.

Foerster has a row of the seedlings that are just starting to come up. Several larger plants are also sprouting near his small home here. The bushes will grow to about five feet in height and when they are pricked or cut they ooze a pure white

It is that liquid - latex - that is the key to the plant's potential value. Otvos said the latex is mostly composed of hy-drocarbons—"something we think is processable through a refinery."

In September 1977 Calvin told a Tokyo meeting of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry about the

"It looks as though we could make this complex mixture of hydrocarbons at a price of about $10 to $15 per barrel of oil in the fields and another $10 would be required to take the oil from the plants and put it in the barrel. So we are talking about a price of crude oil ... of the order of $20 per barrel," he told the meeting. The processing of the plant is still in the research stages, Otvos said. It involves crushing the stem and extracting the "oil" through a chemical process.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 16, had a physical for athletics at school and didn't pass because his blood pressure was 170/100. Our oldest son, 19, had his checked by a self-service machine in a store. It was 161/98. We are concerned, as we didn't think teenagers would or could have high blood pressure. We both have normal readings. - Mr. and Mrs.

Hypertension in young persons is not common, but it is one of the chief reasons for having the pre-sports examination. A common cause of hypertension at this age is a significant defect (a narrowing) of the upper portion of the aorta the large artery leaving the heart. It is called coarctation, a kind of tightening of the structure. It causes a rise in blood pressure of the upper extremities (arms) and a lowering of pressure in the legs.

The exact cause is not known, but it is one of the more common of birth defects. My source indicates it may occur in from 10 to 15 percent of patients with congenital (birth-related) heart disease. It is found twice as often in males as in females. It is not usual to find this in two brothers, but it was a relatively common reason for rejection of recruits for military service in World War II.

Other causes of such elevated pressure can be kidney disease or possibly adrenal-gland disturbance. You have enough warning to take action, and the boys should be seen by a doctor promptly. At the examination have the pressure taken in both arms and legs. Kidney studies should be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a college student. 17, and on an athletic scholarship. In a recent physical a heart murmur was found. Also, my blood pressure was 160/100. During workouts it reached 204/100. Should I continue my athletic career? - A.H.A.

I am surprised you have been allowed to continue your vigorous activity. The murmur could be related to your hypertension. See the above letter and answer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me what "Class II" means when referring to a Pap smear. The note from my doctor says it is basically a negative report. However, I am to return in six months for another examination. If they suspect something, why wait six months? I don't mind telling you I'm a bit uneasy. What should I do? — Mrs. D.R.

First, get your fingers off the panic but-

There are four types of Pap smear re-cells. Class II means there is no malignancy, but some "atypical" cells (usuall representing an inflammation). Class III means cells are seen that raise some suspicion. Class IV means cancer cells are

The Pap test is about 95 percent accurate in detecting early cancer. The reason for the six-month wait is to allow time for comparison. A test taken in, say, a week, would very likely be identical and meaningless. Long-time readers will recognize your complaint. It is a common one, which I must respond to on occasion. Follow-up tests under such circumstances are almost routine.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes small blemish-like lumps around the aureola of my breasts? I thought at first, until my period came, that I might be pregnant. Could this be a side effect from birth-control pills? - D.L.

The aureola, for the benefit of other readers, is the dark, pigmented area surrounding the nipple. Tiny lumps are quite normal. They are called the glands of Montgomery and are rudimentary milk glands. They may be more prominent in some women than in others.

The production of estrogen in pregnancy may make them more prominent, a part of general breast changes that occur then. Hormones in the birth-control pills

What action do you take? A.—Pass. Over a takeout double, partner's jump raise of your suit is preemptive, not forcing. Since you have a minimum opening bid, you have nothing to add to the auction.

Q.2-Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦Q1072 ♥6 ♦KJ963 ♦764 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 NT Pass 2 0 Pass Pass ?

What action do you take? A.—For partner to bid over your sign-off he must have an excellent hand and, almost sure-ly, a five-card suit. Your hand has improved dramatically. It is worth 10 points in support of spades, so we would waste no time in contracting for game.

It's probably just a rumor, but I heard that a mother in the East admitted to making a "mistake." Is that a crazy?

Right in front of her daugher she said. "I made a mistake and I'm sorry and wish to be forgiven.' Boy, even if it is just a rumor, it's enough to scare you half to death. I mean, what parent in his (or her) right mind would chance letting a child know a parent isn't perfect?

I was 30 years old before I found out. My mother had given me a biscuit recipe and left out the baking powder. My biscuits came out of the oven and looked like a stack of loose change.

Mother looked at them for a moment and said, "I must have forgotten to mention the baking powder. I make a mistake. I just looked at her and felt a little sick like the first time I saw the tooth fairy flushing my front tooth down the john. Mistake! My mother?

There were times when I was growing up that I thought she might "break" but she never did. Like the time she told me not to slam the door and the wind blew it shut and even though I was on the other side of the room she reached over and gave me a rap. All she said was, "That was for all the times you slammed the door and I never caught you.,'

Perfection in parents is an unwritten law. Children seem to sense it right from the beginning. I was telling the story one day of how when my son was a baby I was bathing him on the dryer in the kitchen and turned my back for just a moment. He fell onto the floor. As I told the story he was standing in the doorway eavesdropping and shouted, 'Hey Mom, you made a mistake!"

"Bite your tongue," I said. "I just wanted to see if you would bounce." I have always found parental perfection to be a pain in the neck. I mean it. It's rotten being right all the time...even when you're wrong. It's awesome to always be on the side of goodness, right, and reason. So many times I wanted to lean over and whisper to my child, "I blew it." But I remembered my mother's admonition, "Give 'em an inch...and they'll take a mile." I hope there is a mother in the East who has broken the humble barrier. I hope it starts a trend among parents who can admit to being human.

It would not only raise the age of innocence...it would lower the age of forgiveness...and you can't start too young Alan: "West started out by leading three rounds of diamonds. South trumped the third one high and decided he would make the hand if West held all the high cards as the bidding indicated. So his first play was to lead a spade and take a finesse.

Oswald: "This finesse would have proven catastrophic if it had lost, but it was necessary for South's plan of attack that it succeed.

Alan: "Once the spade finesse worked, South discarded one club on the ace of spades, ruffed the last spade high, played ace and a low trump to dummy, led a club and played his nine spot."

Oswald; "West had his third trick but was through with his trick taking since any lead he made would be disastrous.

Americans Changing FOR YOUR WANT ADS CALL 762-8821 Living Arrangements

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of unmarried men and women living together has more than doubled since 1970, the government reported Saturday.

And the divorce ratio has increased so dramatically in the 1970s that today more than one in three marriages dissolves.

A Census Bureau report on the marital status and living arrangements of Americans shows that as of March 1977, there were 754,000 unrelated men and women sharing households, compared with 327,-000 in 1970.

"Many of the young people who adopt this living arrangement are in a temporary or transitional situation which serves as a prelude to entering into more con-Ventional family living," the report says.

"Although the Census Bureau does not collect information on the nature of the personal relationship between these unmarried couples, it seems likely that most of them were partners, roommates, companions or friends.

The report shows that the divorce ratio increased 79 percent since 1970. That means there are now 84 divorced persons for every 1,000 who are married, compared to 47 divorced persons in 1970.

'This doesn't necessarily mean that Americans have a negative view of marriage, " said Arthur J. Norton, chief of the Census Bureau's marriage and family statistics branch. "People have a high Ideal of marriage, and when it doesn't work, many divorce to pursue that ide-

One result is that four out of five of those who divorce remarry - and 40 percent of those divorce again, Norton said. Other highlights of the report show:

-More people are postponing marriage. In 1977, 45 percent of all women age 20 to 24 were not married, compared with 28 percent in 1960. The proportion of men of the same age increased from 53 to 64 percent in the same period.

-The median age at first marriage was 24 for men and 21.6 for women, an increase of a full year for both sexes since the mid-1960s. The median is the middle point; half marry younger while half marry older.

-There were 17.7 million persons in 1977 who lived alone or with an unrelated person, an increase of 50 percent between 1970 and 1977. About 16 million of these persons lived alone.

-In March 1977, there were an estimated 8.1 million men and women who were divorced and not remarried compared to 48 million married couples.

The report shows that although there were 5.4 million fewer persons under 18 in 1977 than in 1970, the number of children living with only their mother increasd by 3 million.

In 1970, 85 percent of all children under 18 lived with two parents, the report shows. By 1977, this proportion had declined to 79 percent.

The figures show that five out of every Bix persons maintaining families with no spouse present were women. "This finding reflects the higher remar-

Postal Award Goes To Silverton Man

A-J Correspondent
SILVERTON — F. E. Hutsell, rural delivery mail carrier out of the Silverton Post Office has been selected as Rural Delivery Driver of the Month.

Hutsell has been a rural carrier for more than 18 years out of the Silverton Post Office, and has logged 23,000 hours of safe driving. His route covers 84 miles per day, and is performed six days out of every week. His route runs over 56 miles of dirt road and 27 miles of pavement, and crosses three highways and the railroad tracks three times each day.

* Hutsell practices defensive driving to prevent accidents or delay of service to postal customers. He has not been involved in any vehicle accidents or had a traffic violation.

With this selection, Hutsell is now eligible for the Rural Driver of the Year Award in the Lubbock Sectional Center. Hutsell's selection for Rural Driver of the Month was made from all rural delivery offices in the Lubbock Management Sectional Center, including Zip Code Areas 792, 793 and 794.

South Africa Tossed Out Of Davis Competition

the International Tennis Federation Sunday threw South Africa out of the Davis Cup.

The three tennis bodies of South Africa - one white, one black, and one multi-racial - were given until next Feb. 1 to form a new non-racial organization for administering the game. David Gray, secretary of the ITF, said, "If they have not reacmed agreement by that time we will send a committee of inquiry to look into the reasons why."

The predominantly white South African Tennis Union, which is recognized by the ITF, will continue to be recognized until the new body is formed.

That means that South African players may continue to compete as individuals on the tournament circuit.

But South Africa will be barred from this year's team competitions, including the Davis Cup and the women's Federation Cup, which is scheduled for Australia next December.

Philippe Chatrier, president of the ITF, headed a four-man commission of inquiry on a visit to South Africa early this year.

ion, the Southern African Lawn Tennis Union, which is multiracial, and the South African National Lawn Tennis Union. which is all black.

All three organizations expressed readiness to form one multiracial body, Gray said. But the other two organizations demanded that the SATU should have its recognition by the ITF immediately withdrawn.

The committee of management spent 5 hours Sunday considering the commission's report. It decided to continue recognition of the SATU for the time being, and appealed to the other two bodies to drop their demands that the SATU be ousted.

"We feel this will be a test of everyone's sincerity," Gray said. 'We are asking the whites to sacrifice a year of Davis Cup play, and we are asking the non-whites to give up an important card in their bid to control the game in South Africa.'

Protests over South Africa's racial policies have played havoc with the Davis Cup for years. Certain countries consistently have refused to play against South Africa.

"It was a kind of questionable call, but I guess it's got to be a legitimate base hit," said Forsch, shrugging his shoulders when asked by a horde of newsmen for his reaction. "I'm sure if you asked our third baseman about it, he'd be honest. I'm sure that he felt he should have had the hel!"

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) - For the second week in a row, Gary Player came from 7 shots back to victory, this time in golf's prestigious Tournament of Champions and, the little South African said, he wasn't at all surprised.

"After 25 years as a pro, there's nothing in golf that surprises me," Player said after his 5-under-par 67 had lifted him past struggling Severiano Ballesteros and enabled him to duplicate his weekold Masters truimph.

"I'm very fortunate," he said. "Many of my victories have come from well back. I've won from eight behind in the Lucky International. I've won the British Open from eight behind.

'And remember Arnold Palmer? He was seven ahead with only nine holes to play in the (1966) U.S. Open. And he lost the U.S. Open.

Player said he'd played while ill Saturday and was "disheartened" when he shot 76, which dropped him well back. But, he said, he was optimistic starting Sunday's final round and got a break in

"I was lucky the wind was up," he said. "You have a much better chance to make up a lot of strokes if the weather is bad.' Just as he did in the final round of the Masters, he made up seven.

And, again as it happened last week in the agonizing tension of the Masters, the South African put his score on the board early in the day. Just as it was at Augusta, Ga., he then had more than a halfhour to wait and watch - no longer able to effect the outcome - as the game's best players took their shot at his 281 total, 7 under par on the wet and soggy, 6,-889-yard La Costa Country Club course.

No one really came close this time and Player became the first man in more than a year to win consecutive titles on the American tour. He scored by 2 strokes and collected $45,000 from the total purse of $225,000 distributed in the elite event that brings together only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the last

That gave him a total of $90,000 in the last 2 weeks and $99,801 for his brief American tour this year.

Ballesteros, the spectacular young Spaniard who led or shared the lead through the first 3 rounds and had a 4shot margin coming into the final 18 holes, shot himself out of it in a hurry.

He double-bogeved the first hole in the bright, cool weather, blading his third shot into a bunker. He got two more shots in the water, 3-putted the sixth hole, made double bogey 5 after leaving it in a bunker on the 14th and finally finished with a fat 79 that left him well back

It was his last appearance in this country for an undetermined period. He's heading back to his native land for the Spanish Open next week and will play in Europe most of the rest of the year.

The winner of the Greensboro Open a couple of weeks ago, he had been offered a PGA Tour card which would enable him to play in the United States on a regular basis. He indicated he would not accept it and will play in this country next only if he's given an exemption into the U.S. Open in June.

Tied for second behind the black-clad Player were Lee Trevino and Andy North at 283. North shot a 69 on the course still wet and heavy from overnight rains, and Trevino had 71.

Mac McLendon, Bill Kratzert and Leonard Thompson were next at 284. Kratzert matched par 72, Thompson shot 71 and McLendon had 73.

TOWE RETURNS

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Monte Towe, North Carolina State basketball star who guided the Wolfpack to the 1974 NCAA championship, is returning to NCSU as an assistant coach. Towe will assume his coaching duties June 1, filling the vacancy created when Eddie Biedenbach accepted the head coaching job at Davidson. Towe, 24, is a ntive of Converse, Ind. Inks Pact BALTIMORE (AP) - Quipping that coaches "get 30 seconds to make a decision" while lawyers take 30 weeks, Ted Marchibroda has signed a new contract to coach the Baltimore Colts for the next five years at $150,000 a year.

Marchibroda's lawyer has been negotiating with the Colts since December and the coach found the delay amusing, commenting that only he "would have a lawyer who would take forever in resolving the language of a contract."

Marchibroda insisted that he wasn't worried during the delay, saying that he and club owner Robert Irsay had agreed on the salary and the length of the con-

The apparent stumbling block in the signing had been an attempt by the Colts to get their coach a tax break on his new contract. Marchibroda signed the contract before Monday's deadline for submitting tax returns.

Gervin Guides Spurs To Win

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - George Gervin exploded for 25 second-half points and finished with 35 to rally the San Antonio Spurs to a 114-103 National Basketball Association playoff victory over the Washington Bullets Sunday.

The victory gave San Antonio a 1-0 advantage in the best-of-seven, secondround playoff series.

With San Antonio trailing 49-48 at halftime, Gervin took charge, scoring 16 points and teammate Larry Kenon added eight more as the Spurs took an 82-76 lead at the end of three quarters.

In the final period Gervin added nine more points as San Antonio fashioned a 101-85 lead, which the Bullets trimmed to

The Spurs also were more aggressive on the boards in the second half. The final rebounding tally showed San Antonio losing that battle 58-48. But the Spurs shot 50 percent from the field while Washington managed to hit only 40 percent of its shots and a dismal 59 percent of its free throws.

Steve Mix with 19 points and Doug Collins with 18 led eight players in double figures as the Philadelphia 76ers crushed the visiting New York Knicks 130-90 in the first of their seven-game National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semi-final playoffs.

The second game of the series is scheduled here Tuesday with the scene shifting to New York's Madison Square Garden April 20 and 23.

The game was a contest for 10 minutes as the Knicks, the worst defensive team in the NBA, played excellent defense and trailed only 20-18 with two minutes left in the first period.

SEATTLE 111, LOS ANGELES 102

Gus Williams ignited a second quarter rally and rookie Jack Sikma carried the scoring load in the second half to lead the Seattle SuperSonics to a 111-102 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in the deciding game of their best-of-three firstround playoff series.

The Sonics, who lost to the Lakers at Los Angeles Friday night to set up Sunday's third game, will meet the defending world champion Portland Trail Blazers in a best-of-seven series starting Tuesday in Portland.

Sikma finished with 24 points, including 12 in the third period as the Sonics took a 91-78 lead into the final 12 minutes. The 6-11 forward-center hit a pair of free throws late in the third period that gave the Sonics an 83-64 lead, their biggest of the game.

The Lakers put together two 7-point spurts in the final period, the second of which cut Seattle's lead to 99-92 with 5:29 left. Marvin Webster, who had 20 points and a game-high 18 rebounds, kept Los Angeles out of reach the rest of the way, scoring six of Seattle's last 12 points.

Stacy Triumphs

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Hollis Stacy of Savannah, Ga., says it was a little voice of encouragement inside her that helped her win her first LPGA tournament of the season - the $60,000 Birmingham Classic - Sunday.

She shot a 4-under-par 68 in the final round for a 54-hole total of 207 and $9,000 in prize money.

"I've got this little voice inside me that says, 'Come on, Hollis. Don't give up, Hollis," she said.

Three strokes off the pace at 210 were Jane Blalock of Highland Beach, Fla., and Pat Meyers of Ormond Beach, Fla.

The leader after the first and second rounds, Nancy Lopez of Roswell, N.M., scored a 75 Sunday, 3-over par for the 5,-987-yard Green Valley Country Club lay-

BOSTON (AP) - Butch Hobson learned to play with pain during his days as a quarterback at the University of Ala-

Now he's doing it as a slugging third baseman for the Boston Red Sox.

Hobson drilled two singles, including a shot off the wall in left center to snap a 5-5 tie in the sixth inning, and the Red Sox went on to an 8-6 victory, completing a sweep of a three-game series with the Texas Rangers.

'Yes, it hurts, but I can live with it," the soft-spoken Hobson said while un-wrapping a heavy bandage from his right elbow. "I'm afraid it will be this way all season. It hurts to throw the ball and even when I swing, but I'm here to play."

Courtesy of an old football injury, Hobson has bone chips that "swim around" in the elbow. He skipped surgery last winter after hitting 30 homers in his first full season with Boston, but now plans to have an operation after the current cam-"He's something, I'll tell you, he's something," Boston Manager Don Zimmer said. "I'd pay to see him play. He's hurting, but he's tough. I just hope the chips move around from the painful Boston reliever Bob Stanley got the victory, taking over from starter Alan Ripley with the score tied 5-5 and blanking the Rangers until the ninth, when he allowed the Rangers' final run. Tom Burgmeier came on and retired Al Oliver for the final out of the game.

With Carl Yastrzemski collecting three singles and Hobson two, the Red Sox rolled to their fouth consecutive victory. The Boston sluggers shelled Texas starter Doc Medich in the fifth while pulling into a 5-5 tie on a pair of walks, a single by Yastrzemski and Carlton Fisk's sacrifice

DODGERS 8, BRAVES 0-Rick Rhoden scattered seven hits and Steve Garvey singled home two runs as Los Angeles beat Atlanta 8-0, the Dodgers' fifth victory over the Braves without a loss this sea-

Rhoden, 2-0, struck out two and walked four in pitching Los Angeles to its sixth victory in eight starts. The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead against loser Phil Niekro, 0-3, in the first inning on a double by Dave Lopes, an error by third baseman Barry Bonnell, and singles by Reggie Smith and Ron Cey.

YANKS 3, CHISOX 0-Dick Tidrow and Sparky Lyle handcuffed Chicago on five hits, pitching the New York Yankees to a 3-0 victory over the visiting White Tidrow, 1-1, carried the shutout into the seventh inning and when a a single and walk gave Chicago two men on base with two out. Lyle came on to get pinchhitter Wayne Nordhagen on a first-pitch fly ball.

The Yankees nicked loser Ken Kravec, 1-1, for two runs in the second inning, getting the first without benefit of a hit and the second on an RBI single by Graig Nettles.

ANGELS 2, A's 1-Don Baylor opened the 11th inning with an infield hit and scored on an error by Oakland second baseman Steve Staggs as the California Angels defeated the A's 2-1, snapping Oakland's five-game winning streak.

Baylor homered in the fifth inning to stake California to a 1-0 lead but the A's Dave Revering hit his first major league homer in the seventh to tie the score.

BREWERS 9-5, O's 2-7-Gorman Thomas, Larry Hisle and Dick Davis slammed home runs, powering the Milwaukee Brewers to a 9-2 second-game victory and a split of doubleheader against the Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles won the opener 7-5 as Lee May hit two homers and drove in four runs. Don Stanhouse stifled a four-run Milwaukee rally in the ninth inning, fanning Hisle with the bases loaded.

CUBS 5, BUCS 1-Ivan DeJesus rapped a single and two doubles and Greg Gross knocked in two runs with a pair of singles to lead Rick Reuschel and the Chicago Cubs to a 5-1 victory over the visiting Pittsburgh Pirates.

The triumph was the second in three decisions for Reuschel. Don Robinson, a 20-year-old rookie making his first major league start, s iffered the loss although two of the runs off him were unearned.

MARINERS 8-5, TWINS 5-2-Seattle left-hander Tom House suffered a dislocated finger on his pitching hand in the first inning but stayed on to hurl a complete-game 7-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins, giving the Mariners a sweep of their doubleheader.

In the opener, Bob Stinson drove in three runs with three hits as Seattle ended an eight-game losing streak with an 8-5 bases-loaded bunt scored Amos Otis in the seventh inning and led the streaking Kansas City Royals past the Cleveland Indians 2-1 for their sixth straight triumph. Cleveland loser Wayne Garland, 1-1, did not give up a hit until Darrell Porter led off the Kansas City fifth with a single, and nursed a 1-0 lead into the seventh.

JAYS 4, TIGERS 3-Jason Thou son's two-out single in the seventh innit scored Ron LeFlore from third base wit the winning run and Jim Crawford pitched 32-3 innings of shutout relief as the Detroit Tigers edged the Toronto

Blue Jays 4-3. LeFlore drew his second walk of the game to open the seventh, was sacrificed to second by Phil Mankowski and took third as Rusty Staub bounced out to first Thompson followed with a line drive sin gle off the foot of losing pitcher Jim Clan-

"WE SOLVE PROBLEMS. IF YOU THINK THE AUDI 5000 IS BEAUTIFUL SO MUCH THE BETTER."

HERBERT BROCKHAUS, HEAD OF STRUCTURAL TESTING

With us, styling and engineering go hand in hand. If the car is attractive, it's because of the engineering solutions.

Some car manufacturers are more like plastic surgeons—they change the skin. But we built the Audi 5000 from the ground up.

We needed an engine with efficiency like a 4 and performance like a 6. So we were the first to make a 5-cylinder gasoline engine. We knew that harsh interiors could make a driver more aggressive. So we developed interiors which would help the driver to be calm and relaxed. And the Audi 5000 costs about $8,500°—it's the largest German car you can buy for the money.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

In the years since May 1941, more than a quarter trillion dollars' worth of E bonds have been sold to small investors motivated -in the early years -by a desire to help their government finance World War II and, later, by a combination of: Continuing patriotism.

reasonably enough, they could hope to draw benefits taxed at lower income tax

These goals were, and have remained, funds. Most of those who buy shares and stock expect a dividend reward four times a year and bonds disburse interest twice a year -except for Treasury bills and they run only for a year, maximum.

But some E bond investors have let their accounts run on for as long as 37 years without asking for a penny's reward. And they have not only not complained but want to keep it that way, as evidenced by their holding bonds year

Now, however, there is a cloud on their horizon and our government has, so far, done nothing to dispel it. As of current schedules, those E bonds sold in 1941 will come to final maturity in May 1981 (those sold in 1942 will mature in 1982, etc.). As a result, investors who bought these bonds with the hope that they would be able to continue deferring taxes on this long-term loan until their retirement may now find that they will be hit with a tax on a 40-year accumulation of interest right at the time their earnings (and their tax bite reach their lifetime peak.

A government which went on, year after year, extending maturities (and the tax deferral) to suit its own book ought not to call it quits and close the tax net on millions of small investors just when the tax burden would be the heaviest for them.

Interestingly enough, buyers of retirement bonds (a cousin of the Es) may defer their tax on accrued intereset until they, the investors, are 70 years, 6 months old. The same philosophy holds true for Keogh and IRA programs. Further, the government itself has just enacted legislation which says workers may not be forced to quit at 65 (an age arbitrarily set by Bismarck in the last centu-

Why then should not E bond buyers also be allowed to continue working, and keep their money at work, with the taxdeferral benefit extended until retirement? Or until it suits them to either redeem their Es, or begin accepting taxable semi-annual interest they can get by switching to H bonds?

It may not be an earth-shattering matter in a $2 trillion-economy, but it seems to me that those who still hold the $1 billion worth (present value) of bonds they purchase in 1941 and 1942 alone (and even more in subsequent years) should not be forced to turn them in and pay what may well be the highest tax rates of their working lives on 40 years of accumulated interest.

Taxation is a prime government activity, but it need not violate what has become tacit understanding between government and its citizen.

cember 1977, will change the law for earning a quarter of coverage under Social Security. Do you have any information on this? -T.S.

Yes, that bill will change the way a worker earns a quarter of coverage. Under the old law, a worker had to earn at least $50 in one of the calendar quarters ending March 31, June 30. Sept. 30, or Dec. 31 to receive credit for a quarter of coverage under Social Security. Under the new bill, a worker will receive a quarter of coverage (up to a total of four) for each $25 of earnings paid in a year and this $250 measure will be increased every year to take account of increases in average wages. For people on Social Security, Heartline has written an easy-to-understand book. Heartline's Guide To Social Security can be obtained by sending $2.00 to Heartline, P.O. Box 11934, Chicago, IL 60611. Please allow six weeks for deliv-

Ordinarily you can tick off dozens of things make Subaru the best value for your money. Now you can that make Subaru the best value for your money. Now you can tick off one more.

We'll give you a $100 man's or woman's Bulova watch when you buy any 1978 Subaru, provided it's purchased and delivered between March 1 and April 20, 1978.

Which means for as little as $3.179 fin California, it's $3.347) you'll be getting a front wheel drive Subaru that delivers 41 highway and 31 city miles per gallon. (In California, it's 33 highway and 22 city.) Plus you'll get a great car with rack and pinion steering.

power assist front disc brakes, steel belted radial tires and the $EEC-T engine that runs on SEEC-T engine that runs on lower cost regular gas. And a great watch to run along with that
