TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Bill Sales Into Sunset

"SUNSET" BILLS, like most reforms that actually could have an impact on the way Congress operates...

HOWEVER, ONCE the bill actually sailed through the Senate governmental affairs committee...

WHAT THE bill (S.2) says in essence is that every single federal program must be reviewed and reauthorized by Congress every six years...

SUNSET LEGISLATION offers one useful mechanism for cracking down on wasteful and unnecessary government spending that contributes to inflation.

No longer then could Congress blithely ignore the fact that scores, if not hundreds, of existing federal programs simply do not work.

If rules committees send a resolution instead of a bill to the Senate floor this week, backers of real reform will be licked before they even step out to bat.

In the past two years, 25 states have enacted sunset legislation covering some or all of their own programs and agencies.

A resolution cannot provide for termination of federal programs, since all are created by law. And without the real threat of an automatic termination, committees will have no incentive to undertake a serious review of existing programs.

In the past two years, 25 states have enacted sunset legislation covering some or all of their own programs and agencies.

It would be outrageous to pass something labeled sunset reform that actually doesn't do anything, but that's what reform foes seemed determined to accomplish.

Ex-Reaganites Line Up For Dole

WASHINGTON—Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., is making political points where it counts in Republican party politics.

DOLE AND HIS political advisers are building his future on the assumption that neither Reagan nor Ford will be active candidates for the GOP nomination in 1980.

POLITICAL ADVISERS of Sen. Dole are convinced that Sen. Baker by supporting President Carter on the Panama Canal Treaty issue has seriously crippled his chances for the 1980 GOP nomination.

Of immediate political importance, Dole has begun to add campaign aides of Ronald Reagan, the party's top conservative leader, to his growing number of supporters.

Two males were discussing moving some office furniture when a female co-worker interrupted. "If you want an expert on moving furniture why didn't you ask a woman?" she asked.

THE DOLE STRATEGY will be to consolidate that political base and build on it by taking the lead in the Senate on issues supported by voters in these states.

IF ANYTHING, my report to you today is belated, for in recent years, you have been pouring your excess cash in mounting volume into these funds rather than into funds that concentrate on stocks.

What's more, the age of investors in tax-exempts has been falling steadily, dramatizing the fact that younger Americans with middle incomes have been switching to these investment mediums side by side with the traditionally older, wealthy investor.

THE TREND TOWARD younger ages is probably even more striking in muni-funds because minimum investments in these can be as low as $100 for the initial investment with subsequent additions of $25.

Firms Guard Against Mergers

By PHILIP GREER
And MYRON KANDEL

Read any good proxy statements lately? A lot of shareholders apparently aren't paying much attention to those scene-setters to annual meetings and, as a result, they've been giving away virtually the only thing that's made stocks move up in the market during the last couple of years — the power to sell out or merge.

As the takeover wave has gathered steam — one scorekeeper says the number of big mergers was up 89 percent in the first quarter of this year — corporate managements have become more and more feafull that they'll wake up some morning and find their company being bought out from under them. So they've been asking — and getting — changes in by-laws that don't do much except protect their own jobs. Sometimes it's a fat long-term contract, but more often it's a requirement that any merger or sale be approved by a "super-majority" of stockholders — anywhere from 60 percent to as much as 95 percent of the shareholders voting.

Since management proposals generally don't have much trouble gaining approval at annual meetings — because shareholders don't bother to read the fine print or they can't decipher the legalese when they do try — control of the company's fortunes often is placed in relatively few hands. If a company adopts an 85 percent rule to approve a takeover — as food manufacturer J.S. Smucker Co. did last year — it means that any person or group holding more than 15 percent of the stock has a veto power over any merger. In Smucker's case, the Smucker family owns nearly 20 percent of the stock, so a takeover attempt — if any should come up — would have to be on terms acceptable to the family.

Hundreds of companies have made similar moves over the last five years or so, including such well-known names as Walt Disney, Bally Manufacturing and Pennzoil. This year, Control Data is one of the bigger companies asking stockholders to make it tough on would-be raiders. Just last week, Mohawk Rubber changed its rules to require a two-thirds vote for a merger or takeover.

The question that's being asked now is whether all this rule-changing does any good for the stockholders who, theoretically at least, own these companies. Robert S. Salomon Jr., who runs the stock research department at Salomon Brothers, wrote a report recently with a warning that when shareholders approve the changes, they "give up something of potential future value for which they have received nothing in return." We asked Salomon what the shareholders could be given and he said, "the implication of that statement is that they shouldn't give it away."

"Is it reasonable for shareholders to allow management to protect itself?" Salomon asked. "In the current crummy market, one of the few attractions shareholders have is that somebody might come along and tender for their stock at a price way above the market."

(Salomon's comments are particularly interesting because Salomon Brothers was the leader in arranging the "midnight raid" that gave Sun. Co. a 34 percent interest in Becton Dickinson Corp. Business law in New Jersey, where Becton is incorporated, requires a two-thirds vote to approve a takeover — unless the company votes a different minimum, which Becton never has. Although Sun hasn't given any indication of what it plans for Becton, it has at least the power to stop any other possible merger or sale.)

There is a way to get around the super-majority requirement, but many companies are protecting themselves from that, too — again, with shareholder approval. Directors are elected by simple majority and, if a raider can get 51 percent of the stock, it can put its own people on the board. The board can then arrange to issue more stock, diluting the strength of any concentrated holdings.

To counter that possibility, many companies are beginning to stagger the terms of their directors — electing, say, only three or four a year — so that it would take several years for an outsider to gain a majority.

'Tropical' Alaska Revealed

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Alaska wasn't always frozen wastelands and wintry climes; some 45 million years ago it grew mangroves, palm trees and other tropical vegetation, according to a U.S. Geological Survey Report.

The conclusion, based on detailed studies of fossil plants, suggests not only climatic differences in the two periods, but a difference in how the earth rotated on its axis, said Dr. Jack A. Wolfe, author of the report.

"The earth's axis of rotation must have been straighter and less inclined toward the sun if these plants were to get enough sunlight," said Wolfe, a plant geologist at the Geological Survey's research center.

Burmese lacquer trees, mangroves, feather and fan palms, and groups that now produce nutmeg and Macassar oil once blossomed in the regions of Alaska, the report by the Interior Department agency claims.

The findings were based on a detailed study of the remains of fossil plants found in rocks exposed near the Malaspina, Bering, and Martin River glaciers near the Gulf of Alaska in south-central Alaska.

"The fossil plants that I have studied could not possibly have grown in Alaska under the present light conditions," Wolfe said. "Even if current temperatures were suitable, the plants would be unable to produce sufficient food under the present winter-light conditions."

"These broad-leaved evergreen plants would literally consume themselves during the winter using up more food than they could produce by photosynthesis with available sunlight," he said.

"The only solution is that this part of Alaska must have received more sunlight than it presently does."

Wolfe said there were two possible explanations: either Alaska was located much farther south 45 million years ago or more sunlight was reaching the north.

"Recently uncovered geologic evidence does indicate that at least parts of Alaska originated near the equator and later migrated north," Wolfe said.

But he added: "This northward migration apparently ended, however, about 20 million years before the time of the plants. When the fossil plants were growing, therefore, Alaska was at least as far north then as it is now."

"In fact, the plants may have been even farther north than their present latitude, because during the last 45 million years, the Alaskan land mass has apparently rotated southward," Wolfe said.

"The only other conclusion left to explain the apparent sunnier conditions is that the axis of rotation of the earth was less inclined towards the sun than it is today..."

Thanks Given For Citation

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Connecticut State Trooper James Breznjak got a thank you note in the mail recently.

It read: "Last Saturday, you stopped my wife and issued her a citation for going 66 mph in a 55 mph zone."

"Unfortunately, she inherited a genetic mutation from both her parents that has not been overcome until our meeting with you. That is: a lead foot."

"After we left you, we continued to Milford, Mass., at a pace which I consider gratifying and pleasant. I actually saw the state in its clear form and not as a blur. I was relaxed and very pleased that the incident had occurred."

"Thank you for your efficiency and the help that you've given us both."

"Good luck to you."

Police released the contents of the letter Thursday, but withheld the man's name.

European Adds Stripper's G-String To Collection

NEW YORK (UPI) — A European collector has added a new item to whatever it is he collects — one of Gypsy Rose Lee's G-strings.

The collector, who was not identified, phoned in the winning $500 bid Thursday at an auction of the late stripper's belongings, including a mink loincloth centered with a small fox face.

The crowd acted like Miss Lee, who died in 1970, was on stage herself during the auction at the Plaza Art galleries.

It was like the 1930s when Minsky's audiences used to beg, cheer and whistle until the queen of burlesque would waft a garter into their midst.

The highest bid of the day was $14,500 submitted by the same European collector for a full-length monkey fur coat, designed by Christian Dior for Miss Lee.

Gypsy herself would have been most pleased by the purchase of Myrna Balsam. She paid $400 for Gypsy's gold-sequined G-string for her act as a belly dancer.

Boyd Bennett, Miss Lee's one-time personal assistant, said, however, that the famed fan-dance queen never actually wore either of the two G-strings that were auctioned.

Utility Chief Predicts Electricity Shortages

By MARTIN MERZER
NEW YORK (AP) — There is little chance that the United States will avoid spot shortages of electricity during the next 10 years even if "short-sighted" political and regulatory leaders mend their ways, the new leader of the nation's electric-utility industry says.

William McCollam Jr., former president of New Orleans Public Service Inc. and a one-time lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, last week took over as president of the influential Edison Electric Institute (EEI).

Virtually all of the 190 privately owned utilities in the United States belong to the institute, which has a budget of about $10 million to formulate industry-wide policy and research projects. In addition, the 150-member National Association of Electric Companies will be merged into the EEI within a year.

Sitting amid empty bookcases and bare walls in his New York office, McCollam, 53, agreed during an interview with statements by other experts that there was virtually no chance of avoiding spot shortages of power in the 1980s. Like most observers, he blamed the situation largely on faulty predictions of electricity demand and on uncertainty over which fuel the government wants utilities to use.

But he also cited the lack of adequate financing as a major factor.

"The major problem is that utilities still aren't getting adequate rate relief to finance future construction," McCollam said. "There are many areas where we still have serious difficulties with local regulatory bodies in granting the rate relief necessary for construction."

McCollam said many state regulatory boards, such as public service commissions, continue to find it politically expedient to refuse or limit rate hikes even when it is demonstrated that without the hikes, utilities will not be able to build the power plants necessary to avoid blackouts in the future.

"It's extremely short-sighted; extremely political," McCollam said. "They are not willing to look at the realities of the situation."

In the past several months, various industry and government officials have been warning that by the mid-1980s, reserves of electricity in most areas will fall below the level generally considered safe.

At times of peak demand — for instance, during rush hours on very hot or cold days — utilities might have to black out certain areas on a rotating basis to ensure power for other customers, the officials said.

With conventional power plants, those burning oil, gas or coal, needing about eight years before regulatory actions and construction are completed and nuclear plants needing 12 years, officials say it already is too late to avoid the problem of falling power reserves.

In addition, as part of its energy policy, the Carter administration wants utilities to switch much of their oil-and-gas-burning plants to coal. The industry, however, generally prefers nuclear technology.

McCollam said the recent coal strike, which resulted in power cutbacks in sections of the industrial East and Midwest, might help persuade the government to reduce its emphasis on doubling coal use by 1985.

"Because of the many constraints — labor, environmental and production conditions — it is our judgment, and it has been reinforced by the coal strike and the turbulent labor conditions, that it's very unlikely we can double our coal capacity," he said.

"One of the untold stories of the coal strike is the role that nuclear power played," he said. "They (Midwest utilities) simply wouldn't have made it without importing tremendous quantities of electricity and a good bit of that was produced by nuclear plants."

"The obvious lesson is that we can't put all of our eggs in the coal basket. We must have a diversity of power sources."

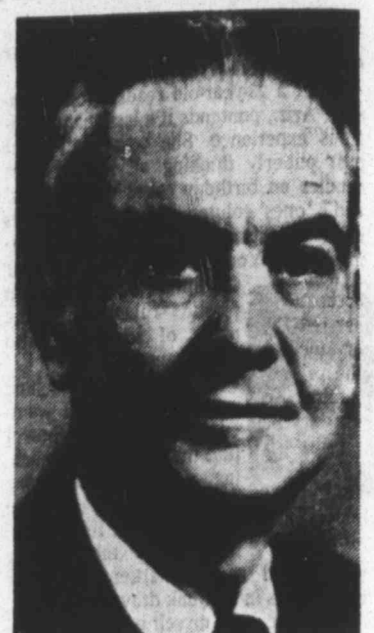

He also expressed the belief that U.S. Department of Energy officials learned another lesson from the recent power crisis.

"They stood back and let the utility industry solve the problem voluntarily with the assistance of the federal government rather than having the government move in and mandate various steps that simply would have created more obstacles to solving the problem," he said.

But McCollam believes that the industry still must improve its relationship with the federal government, and to that end EEI is moving its headquarters to Washington and will be settled there by next March.

He said he accepted the EEI's top post with a degree of reluctance because he didn't want to leave New Orleans, but he nevertheless feels challenged by the post.

he said. "I have had a good bit of experience on the Washington scene and I understand what needs to be done there."

Ocean Water Crops Grown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists at the University of California at Davis are successfully cultivating experimental crops with sea water, National Geographic reports.

Dr. Emanuel Epstein, director of the project sponsored by the Department of Commerce and the National Science Foundation, says that 22 strains of barley were carefully selected for their sensitivity to salt.

After the seeds were planted in a sandy plot, part of the plantings received water direct from the Pacific Ocean, part were irrigated with diluted sea water and a third section got fresh water.

The first crop yielded an average 900 pounds per acre, compared with 2,000 per acre on a normal farm, Epstein said, adding that the second crop's yield was even greater.

The barley did not appear to be unusually salty, chemists at the university said. Farm animals will be used to make the final taste test.

President's Inflation Speech Raises Questions

By United Press International
Boston Globe

President Carter's approach to the problem of containing a national rate of inflation that has now reached an annual rate of 7 percent has the virtue of being flexible and of stressing voluntary cooperation. But it offers neither carrot nor stick to business, labor and individuals, all of whom give self-interest a very high priority.

It is all very well for the president to use example as a weapon by announcing a hold on federal executive salary increases. And it is venturesome for him to ask federal employees to accept lower salary increases than their counterparts in the private sector and to attack soaring lumber prices by asking for more logging of federal lands.

But the president has raised a difficult question about price increases and labor contract settlements. Individual firms and labor unions may forego larger price or wage increases to avoid the risk that the President will change his mind about controls; or they might maximize increases out of fear that they would be left behind if controls are imposed. The president has based his program on persuasion and has tapped one of the best persuaders in his administration, trade negotiator Robert Strauss, to play a special and still undefined role in the fight against inflation.

But there are some major risks. For one, the president will have to develop a fall-back position if persuasion fails or if other factors do not brake inflation. He has renounced controls. He has ignored suggestions, at least in public, calling for taxation of wage and price increases in excess of some figure such as 5 percent.

Curbing inflation without driving the country into another severe recession will not be easy. Carter must be prepared to do even more if he can't talk inflation down.

The Los Angeles Times
In his campaign for the presidency two years ago, Jimmy Carter said he would try to make the government as good as the people.

In his anti-inflation speech last week, the president suggested that the people should now try to be as good as the government. And he gave an "example" of his administration's willingness to sacrifice while the rest of the populace goes its willful, money-grubbing way.

Carter said he was going to impose a one-year freeze on the salaries of high executives of the government, including senior members of the White House staff. And he thought it would be fitting if business and labor unions also would freeze the pay of their executives.

What Carter did not say is that his top hands at the White House are hardly hurting for a raise. He gave them two last year — one of 25 percent, the other of 7.05 percent — and many of them are now earning $56,000 or more.

No wonder 3.5 million other federal employees are up in arms over the president's proposal to hold them to a 5.5 percent increase this year, which even he must know is below the inflation rate. And no wonder business and labor unions are reluctant to follow the administration's example of restraint. Raises totaling 32.05 percent are rather more than they had in mind for their executives.

A government as good as the people? We will settle for one as good as its word.

Tulsa World
Confronted with nearly 200 costly, sometimes duplicative education programs, the Carter administration has come up with the classic Washington solution to an unmanageable problem: create another Federal agency.

The proposed cure is a new cabinet level Department of Education with a starting budget of around $17.5 billion.

If education programs could be re-evaluated, reorganized and reformed in a sensible manner through the creation of a new bureau, fine. But what we have here is a mere transfer of the waste from existing agencies into a new office with a new army of top-salaried managers.

Fortunately, there is a good chance the plan will founder on political feuding within the existing educational establishment. Many of the officials now running various programs are fighting gallantly to protect their domains. No bureaucrat worth his salt wants to surrender control over anything, no matter how duplicative or unnecessary.

What is needed is a study of all Federal education expenditures and some hard decisions on which ones are worth keeping. If that could be done, it would not be too important whether the surviving programs were managed by existing agencies or transferred into a new department.

Changing labels and re-drawing the organizational tables cannot convert unnecessary and uneconomic programs into worthwhile activities.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
In responding to disciplinary action against him by Attorney General Griffin Bell, J. Wallace LaPrade, head of the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, provided a perfect illustration of what was wrong with the FBI during the many years the bureau was under the autocratic control of Director J. Edgar Hoover.

LaPrade didn't even bother to deny charges that he lied during an investigation of numerous illegal FBI activities in connection with an effort to apprehend radical Weathermen fugitives from 1970 to 1972. Instead, he simply counterattacked with charges that the Carter administration, with the approval of the president and Mr. Bell, is itself engaged in illegal operations through the conduct of warrantless searches. Moreover, he had the effrontery to encourage mutiny in the FBI ranks by suggesting that agents engaged in such "warrantless investigations" stop work until they had written orders from the president.

The disturbing aspect of LaPrade's reaction is that it typifies a long-time attitude — and one still prevalent in FBI ranks — that the agency is above the law, that if its methods are intended to catch suspected criminals, it need not comply with the Bill of Rights...

The case of LaPrade and other agents who allegedly violated the law is one that should be pressed to a conclusion by administrative action or in the courts, if necessary. The nation cannot accept LaPrade's demagogic attempts to tar the administration and foment rebellion in the FBI just at the time when the agency has a new director who is trying to re-establish its authority and legitimacy after years of law-breaking.

The Nashville Banner
As reorganization is usually mentioned in the same breath as regulation, there was an interesting story last week of why reform is needed, and why it is such a formidable task.

A bureaucrat named Harry Cain gave up his $42,000-a-year job with HEW, threw up his hands at the "bureaucratic swamp," and headed for higher and drier ground. He said he couldn't hire the people he wanted, he couldn't fire those he didn't want — and that was too much.

Part of the problem was that when the federal government went from encouraging the building of hospitals to concern about over-building, it found itself with a lot of people who were experts on the original policy but not the opposite one. As the civil service system guarantees that employees whose jobs are abolished will be found work elsewhere in the system, something had to be done.

And Harry Cain said, "We end up with

Potato Crop Added To Export Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potatoes have been added to the list of commodities the Agriculture Department finances for sale to foreign countries under an export credit program.

Under the program, the department finances the sale of specified commodities to eligible countries under agreements that enable them to pay for items over periods of up to three years. Regular bank-rate interest charges are part of the arrangement.

The export credit program has been part of USDA's overseas marketing effort for many years and include an assortment of eligible commodities.

Those range from almonds, breeding cattle and swine, corn, cotton, soybeans and wheat to tobacco, tallow, rice and non-fat dry milk.

DR. LAMB

Patience Helps Dieter

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it true that excess weight gained during childhood causes the fat cells to increase, thus making it difficult to lose weight as an adult? If so what can I do? I'm 40 and have been on a 1000 calorie diet which has not helped much.

DEAR READER — It is true that victims of childhood obesity have more trouble as adults — but there are exceptions. Whether this is a carry-over of bad eating habits or some other factor is not clear. Lack of exercise as a child seems to be a very important factor in childhood and later in adult obesity.

I'm not convinced that it makes a lot of difference whether the excess fat is stored in 100 fat cells of 1000 fat cells. A fat cell is capable of enormous expansion, somewhat like a balloon, and what counts is the total amount of excess fat stored — in small balloons or large balloons. And the fat goes off just as readily out of a lot or a few fat cells.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which includes my recommendations for a program to help people lose weight. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

If a person sticks with such a program he or she will lose weight. But it does require patience. The usual diet gimmicks that promise large weight reductions in short periods of time are often harmful and may induce only temporary effects. You need a plan like this, that also provides the basis for a well-balanced diet after you have lost your excess fat. That is how you avoid putting it back on.

When people tell me they have been on a 1000 calorie diet and have not lost weight I know that in most cases they have not counted their calories correctly or they are very inactive. A good physical activity program does wonders to improve any dieting program. Get out and walk every minute you can to help maintain your muscles and burn off fat. If you are able, add additional exercise programs to your plan.

The other problem is lack of patience. A person may spend a year putting on weight and want it all off in a week. That is ridiculous and dangerous. People often lose weight in plateaus, going weeks without any appreciable loss of weight, then suddenly losing four or five pounds. Then another period of time passes before there is any more apparent weight loss.

What causes this? The food you consume and the fat you use from your body for energy is all broken down to carbon dioxide and water. The carbon dioxide is eliminated at once from your lungs, but the water may stay in your system. You can pick up five extra pounds of water and hardly notice it. But you will notice it when you start flushing it out all at once. The next day you may feel a little weak until your salt balance, which includes potassium, readjusts itself.

Even simple table sugar — which you should not be using on your diet — reacts with oxygen to release water. You wouldn't think there was any water in sugar and there isn't — until it is broken down by your cells to yield its energy. So don't get discouraged, but stick with the program. A pound or even a half pound a week average loss is fine and if continued will eventually produce good results.

TV Detective's Adventures Fail To Frighten German Children

BY GALE WILEY
BADEN-BADEN, West Germany (UPI) — Kojak's television shoot-em-ups don't frighten West German children, but let some bad guy threaten one of Lassie's hairs and the kids will be petrified.
 It's not that they are unmoved by the gunplay, say two researchers who spent six months studying 10 kids as they watched television. It's just that Germany has more collie dogs than bald New York detectives.
 "The child identifies with everything that is part of his immediate world, and this includes other children his size, father figures, mother figures — and household pets," said researcher Gustav A. Baehr.
 "When something happens on film that aligns with the child's own situation, something that appears to endanger or threaten a world parallel to the child's, then the child is deeply wounded and hurt."
 "Lassie makes a deeper impression on children than does Kojak," Baehr said. "An animal is part of a child's trusted and immediate world. We have found that a child suffers more honestly with an animal than he does with a human being."
 So Kojak's rumblings through New York streets were literally foreign to the kids, aged 4 through 7. But a recent program showing a thief sneaking into a room to give a sleeping boy an injection set their hairs on end.

 "The situation was perceived by the children as very dangerous because they could identify so well with the boy in the bed," said researcher Imme de Haen.
 "They showed all kinds of signs of being very much afraid. They recognized their reality and they could easily imagine that they might be in this situation."
 Baehr and de Haen said the young audience also was particularly affected by science fiction, because the children were young enough to still believe in magic and cartoons because most of the characters were life-like.
 The kids were restless in their sleep for several weeks after viewing a sci-fi flick showing a man who turned into a wolf, de Haen said.
 "They cannot really separate or distinguish reality and fantasy ... That is the difficulty with television. It is part of their imagination. Therefore, they think that very many things on television are true."
 "If there is a little boy and a mother in the cartoon, and the boy is in danger, it is the same," de Haen said. "But it would not be the same if the 'Pink Panther' were in danger because the 'Pink Panther' is not a little boy."

 De Haen said she was impressed by the immediate signs of fear the children showed when watching a particularly fearsome scary television show.
 "They will try not to look at the television. They shut their eyes. They put their hands over their ears. They turn their heads away. They try to get out of the room."
 "But sometimes they are so fascinated with the television — it's so magnetic — that they want to go out but cannot. They step in the direction of the door, but then they came back."
 De Haen said she hopes that as result of her study, commissioned by television station SWF, stations may start warning parents that a frightening kiddie program is about to go on.

Greta Garbo Denies Knowledge Of Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Garbo, who was reclusive even at the height of her acting career, has circulated a brief affidavit denying any knowledge of a biography claimed by its publishers to be in Miss Garbo's "own words."

The affidavit and other signs that legal action might be in the offing prompted a Paris publisher, Seuil, to cancel a $110,000 contract with Simon & Schuster for French rights to the not-yet-published book. The New York Times reported recently.

The manuscript by Antoni Gronowicz was purchased by Simon & Schuster for a reported $150,000 advance and is to be published only after Miss Garbo's death. "I have known Miss Garbo since 1938. She thinks the book will damage her reputation. I had many interviews with her.

She is trying to destroy me," the Times quoted Gronowicz as saying of the actress who retired in 1941.

But the Times also carried what it said was an 87-word affidavit by the 71-year-old Miss Garbo, notarized by attorney Michael A. Schub.

"I have never at any time entertained any type of human relationship whether of friendship, acquaintance or otherwise with Antoni Gronowicz," the statement read.

Richard E. Snyder, president of Simon & Schuster, issued a statement saying that before acquiring publishing rights, the company had "examined the circumstances surrounding the manuscript and determined to go forward with the publishing agreement."

"It is currently our impression," Snyder said, "that there has been a conspiracy of international proportions to censor and prevent publication of this work. If we remain satisfied that the work is what it purports to be, we will prosecute to the limits of the law those figures involved in attempts to suppress this book."

According to the Times, people who have seen the manuscript which includes a description of the author's alleged relationship with Miss Garbo and alleged details of her sexual encounters, described it as "sensational stuff."

Love Walk Yields Only Blisters

MEDFORD, Ore. (UPI) — Ken Kinsner walked 1,000 miles to claim a bride, but by the time he got there she had left with another man.

Yet even with love's labor lost, the 50-year-old Kinsner remains as romantic as ever. "The dedication of the walk was for all of them," he said, "to all women, for love and marriage and the whole institution."

Kinsner quit his job as a manager of a service station in Calabasas, Calif., north of Los Angeles, on March 10 to walk to Medford with a petition bearing 1,001 names asking Judy Fay Zin to marry him.

When he arrived 40 days and a dozen blisters later, the 30-year-old Miss Zin had sold her home and gone off to Washington on a vacation with another man.

"She's moved. She isn't here. She's taking a vacation in Washington. She's met her chosen partner," Kinsner said. "I knew about it 12 days ago that she wouldn't be here."

He said he continued his hike anyway because so many people showed so much interest in his fanciful foray.

Miss Zin told Kinsner "no" last year after they had dated for several months while Kinsner visited his mother in the Medford area. He returned to Calabasas "to give her time to make up her mind."

He painted a large heart in the window of the service station and wrote inside it: "Oh Judy Fay Zin — Who lives far away — In Medford, Oregon town — Please hear my plea — And marry me."

Miss Zin had been married once and said she wasn't ready to take another plunge so quickly. But Kinsner's faith in holy wedlock is unshaken despite two previous marriages and he says his 1,000 petition signatures back up that faith.

"The main thing was somebody who'd stand up and say, 'I love somebody,'" he said. "It hasn't lost its appeal to the public."

He said throughout his walk, mostly along U.S. Highway 101, people stopped their cars to offer him rides or encouragement. He said he never accepted a ride.

New Budget Talks Open In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A blueprint of the nation's priorities for the next five years has been drawn by Congress to help the lawmakers thrash out a new federal budget.

As the Senate today began several days of debate over the government's spending plan for fiscal year 1979, it had before it a more detailed picture than ever before of what the budget and national priorities might be each year through 1983.

The Senate Budget Committee has proposed $498.9 billion in federal spending in 1979, $500 million less than President Carter proposed, with a deficit of $55.6 billion.

Projecting decisions implicit in the 1979 budget proposal, the committee estimated spending would increase to $681.5 billion in 1983. It said the budget could be balanced then if the economy is reasonably healthy.

The committee report spells out suggested national priorities five years ahead in some areas. In others it presents only budget figures which are hard to interpret.

Among specific five-year projections: — Continued "real" growth in defense spending to modernize strategic nuclear forces and bolster NATO.

— Funds to permit expansion of aid to the poorest areas of the world.

— Sales and grants of weapons to fewer countries.

— Money for the civilian space program would be less than needed for inflation. Therefore, to finance projects such as a fifth space shuttle orbiter, other space projects would have to be pared.

— Similarly, the committee recommended less than full adjustments for inflation in the areas of science, federal law enforcement, some air and water transportation activities, operation of the Executive Office of President, the Treasury and the General Services Administration.

Not included in the projections were proposals which the committee said are likely to be made in Congress and which could add as much as $466 billion to the five-year budget if all were adopted.

They range from national health insurance to grants to make drinking water safe. The panel made no recommendations on them.

Sen. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, ranking Republican member, said that though the panel has made a start it "has not dealt as effectively as it should with the issue of national priorities."

By continuing many programs at current levels plus inflation, Bellmon said, the committee's proposed budget "freezes priorities and grants to each program its same relative share of resources now and in years to come."

Montana Area Shaken By Earthquake

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — A "moderate" earthquake that shook much of western Montana is not likely to be followed by a more intense shock, a geology professor says.

Residents in several cities felt Sunday afternoon's quake, measuring 4.5 on the Richter Scale, but no casualties or major damage were reported.

Dan Cainan said he was pumping gas at his station when the quake occurred.

"I had one hand on a car and one hand on the gas pump, and all of a sudden the car started to move and so did the pump," he said. "It felt like a wave under my feet."

Anthony Qumar, director of the University of Montana's earthquake laboratory, said earthquakes in Montana are usually followed by several smaller ones, rather than leading to stronger ones.

The tremor's center was pinpointed in the Seeley Lake region about 30 miles northeast of Missoula, said Waverly Person, a geophysicist at the National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo.

An aftershock that followed 12 minutes later measured 3.7 on the Richter Scale, he said.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. An earthquake of 4 on the Richter Scale can cause moderate damage in the local area, 5 considerable damage and 6 severe damage.

Satellite Re-Enters Earth Atmosphere

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A non-nuclear Soviet satellite re-entered the earth's atmosphere but apparently burned up before impact, a spokesman for the North American Air Defense Command said.

Capt. Tom Koch, information officer at NORAD, said radar indicated the Cosmos 849 satellite re-entered the earth's atmosphere about 7 p.m. CST Sunday. The re-entry apparently occurred somewhere in the ocean north of Australia, Koch said, but a more accurate location wasn't immediately calculated.

Koch said "chances are very great" that the craft burned up upon re-entry. The satellite was launched in August 1975 and its orbit recently deteriorated, officials said. Interest was created in the re-entry because of the recent Soviet nuclear-powered satellite which crashed in northern Canada.

INMATES — Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, right, is now considered a model prisoner, more than two years after she was carried shrieking from the court in which she was sentenced to life in prison for the attempted assassination of then-President Gerald Ford. Two Women Differ In Prison Reaction

By SUSAN AGER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than two years after she was carried shrieking from the courtroom where she was sentenced to life, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme is considered a model inmate.

But Sara Jane Moore, who pleaded guilty here saying she wanted to make peace with her conscience, is a troublemaker. Her former attorney says Mrs. Moore, serving time in a room one floor away from Squeaky's, is "in and out of solitary all the time."

Both are in the maximum security unit of the Federal Correctional Institution at Alderson, W.Va., serving life terms for attempting to assassinate then-President Gerald Ford in September 1975.

Their attempts occurred 17 days and 90 miles apart — Squeaky's outside the California state Capitol in Sacramento, where the gun she pulled was wrestled away; Sara Jane's outside a posh hotel in San Francisco, where the shot she fired went astray.

At one time, they lived down the hall from each other in prison. But warden Carson Markley said in a telephone interview that as far as he knew, they had no relationship at all, friendly or hostile.

Both women become eligible for parole in September 1985. Miss Fromme, acting as her own attorney, lost an appeal of her conviction. Mrs. Moore, also representing herself, filed opening briefs in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here last month after winning approval to proceed as an indigent, without paying court fees.

The tiny, red-haired Miss Fromme, now 29, spends her time much like the other 21 women in the unit, Markley said. Her job assignment is "general maintenance," he said, which involves mopping floors and other clean-up duties.

All the women have private rooms with a bed, dresser, mirror, chair, toilet, sink, wall locker and TV set. Markley said they decorate their rooms with plants and often paste pictures on their lockers.

"You can assume in Lynette's case she would have some Charlie Manson pictures up," he said. But despite her devotion to the convicted mass murderer, who is serving a life term 3,000 miles away at San Quentin, and an occasional outburst at her trial, she has been a model prisoner and given authorities no trouble, Markley said.

Mrs. Moore, now 48, is another story. The warden would give no details of prison problems with her.

But she is known to have lived for the past few months in a room apart from the other women, in a unit reserved as a "temporary jail" for inmates who cause trouble. She is there because she refused to move back with the other women and refused to do her job assignment, it was learned.

"She's having all kinds of discipline problems. She's in and out of solitary all the time, for everything," said Peggy Garrity Edwards, a Torrance, Calif., attorney who represented Mrs. Moore until she quit the case in March because of the distance between California and West Virginia.

At Terminal Island, Mrs. Moore spent her time reading, doing needlepoint and writing for a creative writing class she took there, Mrs. Edwards said.

Burmese Hold Raid On Heroin Plants

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burmese troops raided six heroin factories operated by rebellious tribes in the hills 350 miles north of Rangoon and seized more than 400 pounds of raw opium, officials report. But they said the refined heroin apparently was carried into Thailand by rebels who escaped.

The officials said the factories were jointly operated by six rebel groups, including the Kachin Independence Army, the Shan State Revolutionary Army and groups from the Lahu, Kokang and Wa tribes.

Soviets Refuse Limits On Backfire Bomber

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's talks in Moscow may have eased Soviet opposition to the United States telling its NATO allies how to build the cruise missile, but the Russians refused to agree to limits on their Backfire bomber.

Both were key bargaining issues in Vance's three days of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on a new SALT pact to limit nuclear weapons.

Vance told reporters as he left Moscow for London Sunday: "There was some progress during these meetings toward a SALT agreement and we hope to carry these efforts forward in subsequent meetings." The next round is likely late in May when Gromyko visits the United States for a U.N. debate on disarmament.

U.S. officials with Vance hinted that the Russians eased their opposition to U.S. sharing of cruise missile technology with the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The missile is a small, pilotless, long-range drone that could be launched from bombers out of range of Soviet anti-aircraft defenses and would fly at very low altitudes beneath Soviet radar beams.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown has said no new arms pact would be signed without provisions for sharing the missile technology with the other NATO members.

But the U.S. officials said there was no relaxation in Soviet refusal to put limits on production and deployment of their new Backfire bomber, a long-range plane which can make low-level attacks at supersonic speeds. Most analysts say a pact without such restrictions might not get through the U.S. Senate.

A third unresolved issue was the U.S. demand for curbs on new Soviet long-range missile systems.

Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, who joined the Vance-Gromyko talks on Saturday, acknowledged for the first time that "energetic efforts" are required from his government as well as the United States to reach a new agreement.

His statement to reporters appeared to signal a softening of Soviet policy from the last round of top-level arms talks last year, when the Russians rejected the Carter administration's first treaty proposals and accused Washington of seeking "one-sided advantages."

U.S. officials said Vance in his Kremlin talks also expressed U.S. concerns about Soviet intervention in East Africa, where Russian advisors and Cuban troops are aiding Ethiopia in its war against rebel guerrillas. But the sources gave no details of these discussions.

Vance briefed the British, French, West German and Canadian foreign ministers on his talks with the Soviets in London Sunday night and said he remained hopeful a new arms pact would be signed this year.

The five ministers met to plan strategy for the U.N. General Assembly's special session on the future of South-West Africa, or Namibia, opening in New York today.

The ministers from the five Western members of the Security Council announced they would seek the assembly's endorsement of their plan for the transition of the territory to independence this year under U.N. supervision. The plan was recently submitted to South Africa and the South-West Africa People's Organization, which is fighting a guerrilla war against the South Africans.

The ministers agreed that Canadian Foreign Minister Donald Jamieson would address the assembly Tuesday on their behalf. British officials said he probably would ask the assembly to give the five more time to try to get agreement to their plan.

South Africa has agreed to Namibian independence, but SWAPO fears that the South Africans will rig the transfer and the first elections so that control passes to pro-South African factions.

Student Protesters Quieter Than In 1968

By G.G. LABELLE Associated Press Writer

Mark Rudd spoke at Columbia and the demonstration followed. But the year is 1978, not 1968, and today's student movement — against South Africa — is a far chant from the days when a fiery, young Rudd led radical youths across the nation's campuses, parks and politics.

The growing movement is more sophisticated in its goals, more quiet, less violent and sometimes even polite.

An example: "We don't want to inconvenience him any more than we have to," said a Wesleyan University student, explaining why protesters sitting in at the president's office took off their shoes so as not to harm the carpet and spread papers to protect furniture.

This time the students do not seem so alone, either. Churches and civil rights groups are protesting South Africa's racism. Some banks are refusing to lend to the country. The Portland, Ore., City Council has passed a resolution condemning ads for South African gold coins.

The target of the protests is apartheid — government-mandated racial separation — and the complaint is that American corporations doing business in South Africa help perpetuate it as a way of life.

The students' chant is "Get out of South Africa," but it is not as ambitious as "Get out of Vietnam." They are not trying to move an entire government, just their schools. They want colleges to pull out investments in companies doing business in South Africa.

It is estimated that $1.7 billion in American capital is invested in South Africa and that U.S. banks hold $2.2 billion in loans to the country. A Senate subcommittee report lists 260 American businesses involved in South Africa. Among the largest are Mobil Oil, Exxon, Standard Oil of California, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, IBM, Control Data Corp. and NCR Corp., the old National Cash Register.

In turn, colleges and universities have large investments in these companies.

Brown University in Rhode Island has $23 million invested in 44 firms that operate in South Africa. Indiana University has 20 percent of its endowments in such companies. The University of California's $793 million in common stocks include $449 million in these companies.

The demonstrations have been mostly in areas where the 1960s student movement started — the Northeast, California, parts of the Midwest. From Amherst in Massachusetts, to the University of Minnesota, to Stanford in California, administrators have both agreed and balked.

Some 1,000 students demonstrated at various University of California campuses last year, and some 300 students disrupted a regents' meeting. In response, the regents will consider forming an advisory council including students to recommend when a corporation "appears to be in violation of fundamental social and moral considerations."

This would change the policy of basing investment on financial return alone.

At Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., some 200 students picketed with signs that read: "Don't Bank on Apartheid."

Two other New York schools also saw protests. Students blocked the exit last week when Cornell University's investment committee met. At Syracuse, 2,200 students signed petitions asking the university to get rid of $8 million in companies that do business in South Africa.

THEN AND NOW — Mark Rudd, remembered for his role in the 1968 Columbia University strike, is shown, left, addressing a student rally in 1968, while at right he is shown last week during a return visit to the university where he took part in a discussion seminar. (AP Laserphotos)

A committee of Syracuse's trustees approved a proposal to keep the stocks but call on the companies to follow a set of principles, adopted by a number of colleges, that urge equal pay for equal work, integrated work forces and other ways of improving racial relations.

Not all the protests have been as mild. At Stanford University, 200 students were arrested for refusing to end a sit-in. Some went limp and had to be carried out, but there was none of the fighting resistance of the '60s protests.

At the University of Wisconsin, 25 protesters tried to crash a regents meeting in February. Police shot Mace into the crowd and arrested three people for disorderly conduct.

The university's regents later voted to divest itself "in as prudent but rapid a manner as possible" of investments in companies which by their actions condone discrimination. They have since dumped $5.74 million in such stocks and have about $5 million to go.

Such success has not resulted from every demonstration. During protests against South African playing in the Davis Cup tennis matches at Vanderbilt University in Tennessee, students raised the questions of the university's investment policies.

Vanderbilt refused to cancel the matches, and Treasurer Harold F. Miller said: "If we make changes in our investments, it will be on an investment basis only. We don't make investments by asking what firms do business in South Africa and which don't."

At the University of Chicago, trustees refused to get rid of $70 million to $75 million in stocks, and Vice President D.J.R. Bruckner said: "The primary concern in investments is to get a good return... For the board to commit the university on any social issue would endanger the individual freedom of members of this community."

He noted that Chicago never banned military recruiters during the Vietnam War because of its commitment to an open university.

There have been picketing and demonstrations at Chicago since January, but none of it has been violent. At Columbia, where Rudd spoke last week and where his now-solved problems with the law began with the riots of 1968, some 300 students chanted "Stop the lies, cut all ties, divest now," and then went home peacefully.

Rudd, who walked with the demonstrators but did not lead them, stopped for a moment when he saw a campus policeman who had been there in the truncheon-swinging '60s. They hugged and shook hands.

"How are you? Have you been promoted?" asked the onetime radical, now 30 and a construction worker in New Jersey.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM The Newspaper Bible. Matt. 21: 33-46, 22: 1-3, The Living Bible. 33 Now listen to this story: A certain landowner planted a vineyard with a hedge around it, and built a platform for the watchman, then leased the vineyard to some farmers on a sharecrop basis, and went away to live in another country. 34 At the time of the grape harvest he sent his agents to the farmers to collect his share. 35 But the farmers attacked his men, beat one, killed one and stoned another. 36 Then he sent a larger group of his men to collect for him, but the results were the same. 37 Finally the owner sent his son, thinking they would surely respect him. 38 But when these farmers saw the son coming they said among themselves, 'Here comes the heir to this estate; come on, let's kill him and get it for ourselves!' 39 So they dragged him out of the vineyard and killed him. 40 When the owner returns, what do you think he will do to those farmers?' 41 The Jewish leaders replied, 'He will put the wicked men to a horrible death, and lease the vineyard to others who will pay him promptly.' 42 Then Jesus asked them, 'Didn't you ever read in the Scriptures: 'The stone rejected by the builders has been made the honored cornerstone; how remarkable! what an amazing thing the Lord has done?' 43 What I mean is that the Kingdom of God shall be taken away from you, and given to a nation that will give God His share of the crop. 44 All who stumble on this rock of truth? shall be broken, but those it falls on will be scattered as dust.' 45 When the chief priests and other Jewish leaders realized that Jesus was talking about them—that they were the farmers in His story— 46 They wanted to get rid of Him, but were afraid to try because of the crowds, for they accepted Jesus as a prophet. CHAPTER 22 1, 2 Jesus told several other stories to show what the Kingdom of Heaven is like. 'For instance,' He said, 'it can be illustrated by the story of a king who prepared a great wedding dinner for his son. 3 Many guests were invited, and when the banquet was ready he sent messengers to notify everyone that it was time to come. But all refused! 4 All who were invited to the wedding were invited to the wedding. Climbers Celebrate Conquest

By BILL BEECHAM ZION NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP)

— Their hands bloody, their bodies exhausted, mountain climbers George Willig and Steve Matous celebrated their conquest of Angels Landing with meals to order.

Safely down from the almost vertical climb up the 1,500-foot peak in southern Utah, Willig asked for two cheeseburgers and iced tea. Matous dined on chicken and a glass of milk.

Then they showered away two days of red sandstone grime. "Man, I feel great, absolutely great. It was fun and exciting, but it's sure great to be back down," said Willig, 28, who survived a 30-foot fall from a ledge only minutes before reaching the top.

It took Willig and Matous 23 hours to inch up the steep north face of Angels Landing, giving a weekend thrill to millions of Americans watching on television and from the mountain's foot.

It was not the first time a Willig climb was witnessed by a crowd. Last May 26, he scampered up New York's 110-story World Trade Center and gained instant fame.

Willig fell when the rock ledge he was standing on gave way at about 1,350 feet up. He fell straight down, turned head over heels, and was caught by an anchored rope held by Matous.

It appeared Willig struck his head as he was jerked against the cliff face by the sudden stop. "Just knocked the wind out of me," he said a second or two later. "I'm OK." He resumed climbing within minutes.

About two hours earlier, Willig had slipped but caught himself during a free climb. "I almost bought it," he said. "Bought the ranch, eh?" replied Matous.

"Man, I almost died," Willig said. Willig and longtime friend Matous, 23, a professional guide now living in Boulder, Colo., were paid by ABC-TV, which sponsored the climb for its "Wide World of Sports."

Portions of the climb were telecast live — including Willig's dramatic fall — on Saturday and Sunday. The network also extended its Sunday show to televise the two climbers reaching the top.

That raised questions about ABC's involvement, such as whether the network controlled the schedule so the climbers would reach the top during live coverage. Matous's brother, Ron, noted that the climbers risked a night climb — they went about 200 feet between 7 p.m. and 1 a.m. Saturday night — because they "thought they were behind schedule."

The nighttime climb was possible because there was a full moon and the climbers wore helmet lamps. Larry Kamm, who directed the "Wide World of Sports" segments, said before the climb on Friday that the network "in no way, absolutely no way, would interfere with their climb. This is a sporting event, a happening. We just record it."

Smithsonian Swarmed By Gift Bug Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small invasion of crickets and beetles looms in the capital as hundreds of patriotic bug fans respond to an invitation by the Insect Zoo to help keep its cages populated.

The zoo, part of the Smithsonian Institution, has received more than 400 inquiries since March, when The Associated Press wrote about the zoo's need for gift bugs.

Would-be bug donors included children, Boy Scouts, 4-H club members, parents, a doctoral candidate in invertebrate zoology and a desert explorer.

"This butterfly hatched out of a pupa last night..." she wrote. "Please tell us if it arrived alive and a better method of packing it if it did not."

A Toledo, Ohio, man is willing to part with Boris, an African black scorpion. Boris measures approximately six inches fully extended, and has a large venom sac.

A woman in California offered 22 species, including earwigs, click bugs and dirt doobers. The zoo is picking up some bug lore, too — especially about tarantulas, a zoo

"superbug." A Sheboygan, Wis., fancier wrote about his: "I kept it in a 30-gallon aquarium. In winter I've been giving it mealworms. It has molted once since I've had it and that was on Halloween."

He didn't offer to donate his pet. But a Logan, Utah, youngster said, "I have four tarantulas and want a good home for them."

One 8-year-old from Elkridge, Md., decorated her letter with drawings of a butterfly, bee and ant and said she'd "like to collect insects for the insect room."

"As you know, Texas grows some goodies... Would you be interested in my Texas Bug Collection?" wrote a Princeton woman.

Zoo employee Sheila Mutschler said she was "especially pleased" with the responses "because many are from the South and Far West which have insects we need most."

The zoo offers prepaid mailing labels and packing instructions to those who'd like to help the cause. The address is: Insect Zoo, NHB Stop 101, Washington, D.C. 20560.

Liquor Group Drops Campaign

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The leaders of the group that led the fight to legalize liquor by the drink in Oklahoma say they don't plan to revive their campaign, and have let their group die. The liquor by the drink movement is "dead and buried" in Oklahoma, said Eugene Swearingen of Tulsa, president of the state Chamber of Commerce and an active member of the now defunct Fair Alcohol Control Today group.

"Let's face it," Swearingen said. "People simply don't want to make it (liquor by the drink) legal. We were beaten soundly in the last election. We have no thoughts of trying again."

to buy an alcoholic drink at most of the state's private clubs without bringing the required bottle, even though the practice is illegal. He said Oklahoma is playing a "hypocritical game" with its liquor laws.

"We've had it," said Alice C. Lowd of Tulsa, who was co-chairman of the Tulsa-based Fair Alcohol Control Today group. "We'll just continue to lick our wounds and leave it to the next generation to end this silly, Mickey Mouse game Oklahoma is playing." In 256 B.C. the Romans defeated the Carthaginian fleet off the promontory of the Sicilian seaport town of Licata.

Player Rally Nets Houston Title

HOUSTON (AP) — One of Gary Player's standard comments, almost a code with the South African globe-trotter, is: "Golf is a very humbling, very strange game."

In the last three weeks he's turned it into a truism.

His victories have been among the more unusual in American golf history and the game has, indeed, been a very humbling one — to his competitors.

In the final rounds of the last three events he's made up an incredible 17 shots and won all three — the Masters, Tournament of Champions and now the Houston Open.

And there's no let-up in sight.

He'll try the New Orleans Open this week for a fourth consecutive title, which was last accomplished by Jack Burke in 1952.

"Oh, no. You don't dare let yourself start thinking you can't be beaten. You never think that," he said, and repeated, "Golf is a very humbling game."

"But," he continued, "I'll tell you this. It's much easier doing it this way, playing 10 tournaments in a row and having your family with you, than commuting to South Africa, as I've done for the past 20 years."

Player came from 7 shots off the pace in the last rounds of the Masters and Tournament of Champions. On Sunday he came from 3 strokes behind — actually he was 5 behind at one time during the final 18 holes — with a solid, no-bogey, 3-under-par 69 that left him a single stroke in front of big Andy Bean.

His winning total was 270, a distant 18 shots under par on the 6,997-yard Woodlands Country Club course and the best 72-hole total on the tour this year.

It made him only the 10th man in PGA Tour history to win three consecutive titles; the first in two years; and the first foreign player to sweep three in a row since Bobby Locke, also of South Africa, turned the trick 31 years ago in 1947.

Player also won $40,000 from the total purse of $200,000. That pushed his earnings for the last three weeks to $130,000 — more than he'd collected in any full season in the 22 years he's been playing the American tour. And he's the first man to win three American titles this season.

Importantly, the 42-year-old physical fitness buff is the winningest player in the game this year and says he's playing better now than at any time in his 25-year pro career.

Murphy, who had a closing 70. Mike Reid was next at 67-274 and was followed by Jack Renner, a 21-year-old rookie. Tom Kite and Kermit Zarley at 275. Zarley closed with a 66. Kite shot 70 and Renner 71.

Bean took a 5-shot lead over Player with his second consecutive birdie on the fifth hole, but bogeyed the next.

He held a 4-stroke advantage when Player, in the group ahead of him, went to the tee on the ninth. Gary birdied the hole with a 6-iron from 10 feet. Bean hooked his drive into the woods, played out into a fairway bunker, missed the green with his third, chipped on and 2-putted for a double bogey. That cut the margin to a single shot and opened the gates for Player's move.

Bean lost sole control of the top spot with a bogey on the 14th. Both birdied the par-5 16th from a greenside bunker and Player took the lead alone with a 20-footer on the 17th hole.

REBOUND FOR SPURS — San Antonio's Billy Paultz (5) reaches onto rebound in closing minutes of playoff game against Washington Sunday. Others trying for ball include

Spurs' Mike Green (23) and Bullets' Elvin Hayes, obscured by Green, and Wes Unseld (41). Bullets won 98-95 to take 3-1 lead in best-of-seven series. (AP Laserphoto)

Stacy Bows To Alcott

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Amy Alcott knew she'd wrapped up the $55,000 American Defender Golf Classic title when Hollis Stacy blew a seven-foot birdie putt on their first hole of a sudden death playoff.

"When she missed, I knew I had won," Miss Alcott said after she calmly dropped in a five-foot putt Sunday afternoon and picked up the $8,250 winner's check for the Ladies Professional Golf Association event.

"I felt I'd worked so hard all week that I didn't want anyone else to win," she added. "There was no way anyone else was going to win even though it was against tremendous competition."

A 22-year-old fourth-year member of the LPGA tour, Miss Alcott had a chance to win the tournament without a playoff, but she suffered her only bogey of the day on the 18th hole to set up the sudden death situation.

Miss Alcott turned in a final-round 68 over the 6,123-yard North Ridge Country Club course while Miss Stacy shot a stizzling, 6-under-par 66 as both women wound up with 10-under 206s after 54 holes.

76ers Complete Sweep; McGinnis Fumes

NEW YORK (AP) — George McGinnis says he feels like the world's largest yoyo, and he doesn't like the way Billy Cunningham is pulling the string.

"I'm in the lineup one minute and out the next," said the 6-foot-8, 235-pound forward of the Philadelphia 76ers, a starter and former National Basketball Association all-star. "If I gotta be in that system, I don't want to be here."

McGinnis' discontent was the lone sour note for the Sixers Sunday as they completed a four-game sweep of the New York Knicks in the playoff quarter-finals with a 112-107 victory. They now await the winner of the Washington-San Antonio series for the Eastern Conference crown.

Washington took a 3-1 lead in that best-of-seven set by beating San Antonio 98-95 and can wrap it up Tuesday night.

In Western Conference action Sunday, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Portland Trail Blazers 99-84 to take a 2-1 lead in that series, and the Milwaukee Bucks routed the Denver Nuggets 143-112 to trim Denver's series lead to 2-1.

McGinnis played just 21 minutes Sunday, scoring 10 points. While his teammates celebrated in the Sixers' locker room, he dressed hurriedly and avoided most questions from newsmen.

"It seems if I don't play his way, I'm on a string," McGinnis said of Cunningham's method of changing personnel. "It's like he's saying, 'If you don't do what I think you're capable of doing, I'm taking you out.' We won 55 games during the regular season and it didn't happen then."

Cunningham, a former star forward in the NBA who took over from Gene Shue as coach of the Sixers early this season, said he hoped McGinnis would accept the principle that a player's performance dictates the playing time he gets.

"Number 1, every basketball player wants to play 48 minutes," said Cunningham. "I was that way. I hope George and everyone else realizes it's a matter of playing whoever is doing the job. McGinnis wasn't playing that effectively today,"

Earl Scudday Landry Looks Ahead

DALLAS COWBOY COACH Tom Landry, taking a breather from draft preparations last weekend, gave the Cowboys and the upcoming season a searching look and almost smiled. Almost. The Pokes are talented, young and deep at most positions, but the mentor found a few things to frown about.

"We're coming off a year that was super for us," Landry noted, with no pun intended. "Going into 1977 we didn't really feel we were going to be as strong as we showed in the playoffs and in the Super Bowl, mainly because of the number of key personnel changes that had to be made last summer.

"The young players who stepped into the defense were especially important to our success. They have the ability to get better, and they must continue to do so if we are to stay strong and in contention," Landry emphasized.

The Cowboys have plenty of incentive this year, with the opportunity to become the first team ever to win three Super Bowls. Several other teams have had that same chance, though, and did not succeed.

"In returning to the level of performance that won it for us last year, one of the big problems will be that of complacency," Landry warned. "It can occur as an unconscious, relaxation-type thing that seems to creep into a team after a big year.

"The schedule is going to be tougher, too. It will be tougher for all the contenders, because the good teams will be playing each other more.

"Depth is going to be very important this year because of the two extra games. I don't believe teams now can play through the full year without having some injury problems along the way. So, hopefully, we'll be able to back up our regulars with good, strong replacements. This will be one of our major goals in training camp."

THE UNCERTAIN STATUS of the offensive line and injured place-kicker Elren Herrera loom as the two headaches for Landry at this point.

"The biggest concern in 1978 is the offensive line," Landry admitted, "because Ralph Neely has retired and Rayfield Wright never really came back from knee surgery in 1977.

"If Rayfield comes through for us again and returns to form, then we really don't have too much to worry about. Pat Donovan was one of our individual bright spots last year, subbing for Rayfield, and he will anchor one of our tackle positions this year. He could continue at right tackle, or move over to the left to replace Neely.

"We need to develop good backup strength. We have some young players like Jim Eidson, who missed last year with a knee injury but is a good prospect, and Burton Lawless, who is coming back for his fourth year.

"Andy Frederick really has a lot of physical ability and showed promise last year. He's a tall boy and has a big frame. He should continue to improve."

Jim Cooper, who was cut by the Cowboys after training camp and then recalled when Eidson had surgery, impressed Landry as a rookie.

"I think maybe Jim has as good potential as any of the backups in the offense,"

Otis Signs With Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals fullback Jim Otis has expressed relief over the fact that he finally has a contract with the National Football League team.

"It's been a year and a half since I've signed a contract," said Otis. "I'm glad it's over. There is now a feeling of security."

Otis, who was a free agent, signed the contract Saturday after the Cardinals agreed to match an offer made to Otis by the Washington Redskins.

Monday, LA Again Leave Astros Ailing

By The Associated Press
In 1977 Rick Monday suffered through most of the baseball season with a painful back and an injured ego. So he made a new year's resolution for 1978.

"The number one thing was convincing people that my back was all right," he said.
Getting off to the best start of his career has certainly done that. Monday's back is fine — and so is his bat for that matter. The Los Angeles outfielder continued to hit like a man obsessed Sunday, blasting his eighth home run and driving in three runs as the Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 7-3.

"I'm delighted that I'm able to do so many of the things that I could not do last year," said Monday. "Everything is really a combination, however. I've got 19 RBIs, but I wouldn't have if people weren't getting on base in front of me."
"I happen to be swinging the bat pretty well. I'm enjoying it — I don't know how long it will last. But I'm not concerned about that because on this club when I tail off, someone else will be hot."

While Monday continues to hit homers, Don Sutton continues to give them to him. Bob Watson's shot Sunday was the eighth off the Dodger right-hander in just 22 1-3 innings so far this year.

"I've just gotten a jump on the rest of the league, that's all," said Sutton, shrugging off the exceptionally high figure. "I'm sure it bothers a lot of other people more than it bothers me. I gave up two other runs today without benefit of a home run and no one was really worried about that."
In other National League action, the Cincinnati Reds edged the San Francisco Giants 2-1 in 10 innings. The Montreal Expos turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2. The Chicago Cubs defeated the New York Mets 3-2 in 12 innings. The San Diego Padres beat the Atlanta Braves 5-4 in 12 innings and the Pittsburgh Pirates walloped the St. Louis Cardinals 14-7 in the first game of a doubleheader before the second was called after six innings by curfew with Pittsburgh in front 5-4.

The Dodgers took a 6-2 lead over the Astros after three innings. Reggie Smith had a scoring fly ball and Ron Cey and Dusty Baker smashed run-scoring singles in the first inning as the Dodgers jumped to a 3-0 lead against loser Joe Niekro.

Rangers Halt Eight-Game Skid; A's, Jays Receive Mound Gems

By The Associated Press
The Toronto Blue Jays and Oakland A's may not have too many thrills this season so they probably should savor the pitching gems turned in for them Sunday.

The Blue Jays, who had the worst record in the majors in finishing last in the American League East in their first season last year, can boast proudly to Jesse Jefferson's three-hit, 4-0 blanking of Chicago Sunday. The A's, who were 63-98 and last in the AL West in 1977, are expected to be near the bottom of the division standings again this year, so they might want to remember rookie John Johnson's six-hit, 5-0 whitewashing of Seattle.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City edged Baltimore 6-5, Milwaukee topped the New York Yankees 3-2, Detroit and Texas split a doubleheader, the Tigers taking the opener 9-4 and the Rangers the second game 2-1 in 11 innings and Boston split with Cleveland, the Red Sox winning the first game 6-3 and Cleveland grabbing the nightcap 10-7 in 11 innings.
The California-Minnesota game was postponed by inclement weather.

For Jefferson, it was his first major-league shutout and the first three-hit game in Toronto's short AL history. And he accomplished the feat against his former team, which surrendered him in the 1976 expansion draft.

"There wasn't any added incentive against them," Jefferson said. "They've got five or six real good hitters and you're really got to buckle down. They're a much better team than when I was there."
Even so, only Ralph Garr, with a double to open the game, and Chet Lemon and Wayne Nordhagen, each with singles, could manage hits off the six-year veteran right-hander.

"It just shows what you can do when you concentrate and throw strikes," Jefferson, 1-2, said.

"That's what pitching can do for you," said Toronto Manager Roy Hartsfield. "He had excellent command of all his pitches and changed speeds well."

Oakland's Johnson, obtained in the Vida Blue deal last month, led the surprising A's to their 10th victory in the last 11 games. Johnson, 2-4, has beaten Seattle for both victories.

"I wasn't trying to throw it by people like I did the first game," noted Johnson. "I used my slider and changeup and spotted the ball."

He did such a good job of spotting the blazer that Mariners' Director of Baseball Operations Lou Gorman said, "He had average stuff but he made us look like idiots. We're going to put that club in the World Series."
Oakland Manager Bobby Winkles was naturally overjoyed by left-hander Johnson's performance.

"We were overloaded with right-handed pitching in spring training," said Winkles, "and the Big Chief's taking advantage of it." Johnson is part Popawatomie Indian.

Mike Edwards drove in three runs with a triple and single for the A's.

Royals 4, Orioles 3
Hal McRae drove in three runs with a home run and a two-run double, and a quartet of Kansas City relievers held off the Orioles.

"Every guy I brought in did the job of the first hitter he faced," said Royals Manager Steve Herzog of relievers Larry Gura, Whitey Mingo, Doug Bird, Al Hrabosky and Marty Pattin. "But Marty was the only guy who didn't mess up later."
Gura replaced KC starter Steve Busby with one out in the first inning and the bases loaded. But he pitched out of the jam. In the sixth, he left with the bases full and Mingo fanned Ken Singleton.

Mingo left with two Orioles on base in the seventh and Bird got Doug DeCinces to hit into a double play. Then Bird filled the bases before Hrabosky came in to strike out pinch-hitter Carlos Lopez in the eighth.
Hrabosky, however, then surrendered a two-run single to Eddie Murray. So he came Pattin to strike out Lee May and retire Baltimore in the ninth. The save was Pattin's first and the Royals eighth of the season in 12 games.
"We never have a dull moment," said Pattin. "That was a wild game."
Brewers 3, Yankees 2
Larry Sorensen pitched eight innings of five-hit ball and Bob McClure retired New Yorkers in order in the ninth. The Brewers are 4-1 against the Yankees this year.

Reds 2, Giants 1
George Foster's infield hit with the bases loaded in the 10th led Cincinnati over San Francisco in a game played before a Bat Day crowd of 30,510, the biggest in San Francisco Bay Area baseball history. Joe Morgan's major league record streak of consecutive games without an error for second basemen came to an end at 91 as he made a wild throw past first in a rundown situation in the second inning.
The Reds' winning run came off reliever Randy Moffit, who retired the first two batters in the 10th before Pete Rose singled and Ken Griffey doubled. Morgan was walked intentionally to load the bases and Foster then hit a grand slam to the right of shortstop Johnny Lundermaster, who fielded the ball but threw to second too late for a force play.

Expos 3, Phillies 2
Dave Cash, Ellis Valentine and Larry Parrish drove in runs in a three-run sixth as Montreal defeated Philadelphia. Steve Rogers pitched 5 2-3 innings for the Expos before leaving with a blister on a finger of his pitching hand. He gave up five hits while walking seven and striking out 11, tying a personal career high in that department.
"Rogers had a little trouble finding himself early this season, but he's a pro and he adjusted," said teammate Darold Knowles, who saved Rogers' second victory in four decisions this year. "He got behind on a few hitters but he came back and struck a few guys out."

Cubs 3, Mets 2
Joe Wallis' single with two out in the 12th inning drove in the winning run as Chicago nipped New York.
"It was a curve that came in on me," Wallis said of the pitch he hit for the game-winner. "It would have been a strike, but the count was 3-and-1 so I could have taken it. I fought it off and didn't really hit it that well. I guess I'm just lucky it fell in for a hit."
Padres 5, Braves 4
Shortstop Darrel Chaney's second error of the 12th inning allowed San Diego to score its winning run over Atlanta. With one out in the 12th, George Hendrick was safe when Chaney bobbled his ground ball. One out later, Bill Almon and Ozzie Smith both singled to load the bases.

Atlanta pitcher Eddie Solomon then wild-pitched Hendrick home to tie the game. Jerry Turner was walked intentionally to reload the bases and Gene Richards then hit a slow roller to Chaney, who threw the ball away, allowing Almon to score the winning run.

Pirates 14, Cardinals 7
Dave Parker and Rennie Stennett each drove in three runs, leading Pittsburgh over St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

The Pirates led 5-4 in the second game when play was suspended after six innings by mutual agreement so the Cardinals could catch a plane connection to Montreal.

Parker had a home run in each game, collecting five hits in all and driving in four runs.

Weekend Briefs

INA, Japan — Kuo Chia-hsing of Taiwan fired a 4-under-par 66 and his 23-under-par winning total of 285 beat American Bob Byrum by 11 strokes in the International Open golf tournament. Two Japanese, Hideto Sugimoto and Kosaku Shimada, shared third place with 29 total strokes. Australian Graham Marsh finished fifth at 30 and a final-round 73.

BARCELONA, Spain — Brian Barnes of Scotland won the $55,000 International Spanish Open Golf Tournament by a stroke over Britain's Hubert Clark. Barnes shot a final-round 64 and finished with a 12-under-par 276, while Clark carded a 70 for a total of 278. In a third place he was Spain's Salvador Balbuena and Antonio Carreira with 289.

PORTLAND, Ore. — The Portland Trail Blazers announced that center Bill Walton will miss the rest of the club's National Basketball Association play-off games this season because of an ankle fracture. Team spokesman John White said doctors discovered Walton had a fracture on the inside of his left ankle and placed him in a walking cast. Walton, who scored 10 points and pulled down six rebounds Friday night before leaving the game with intense pain in his left foot, sat out the second half of Portland's 94-83 second-game victory over Seattle when the Trail Blazers evaded the Western Conference best-of-seven semifinal series at 1-1.

TOKYO — Bjorn Borg of Sweden mastered Jimmy Connors 6-1, 6-2 in the finals of a $200,000 four-man Invitational tennis tournament. Manuel Orantes of Spain beat Argentina's Guillermo Vilas 3-6, 7-6, 6-4 for third place. Connors, who won 150,000 for second place, beat Vilas 6-4, 6-1 and Borg beat Orantes 6-1, 6-4 in Saturday's semifinals.

NICE, France — Yusef Higuera of Spain won the men's singles of the Nice International Open Tennis Tournament with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over unseeded Yannick Noah of France. Billie Jean King and Julie Anthony defeated Irina Chevchenko and Yelena Granaturova 6-1 in women's doubles and Mrs. King and John Whittinger captured the mixed doubles 6-3 over Miss Chevchenko and Alex Metreveli. Vadim Borisov won the men's singles with a 7-4 victory over Whittinger and combined with Tim Kukulka to defeat Ben Testerman and Whittinger 2-1 in doubles. Kukulka and Miss Chevchenko defeated Testerman and Miss Anthony in another mixed doubles.

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Unseeded Bernie Milton of South Africa defeated top-seeded John McEnroe 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 to earn a berth in the finals of the $50,000 Santa Clara Valley Grand Prix tennis tournament. Milton, who defeated second-seeded Arthur Ashe in the quarterfinals, will play McEnroe in a 3-5 p.m. CDT. The game, which the Pirates are leading 5-4, will be completed June 26, before the next scheduled meeting in Pittsburgh between the clubs.

Sunday's Races: CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Pa. — Kahoutek, 58, 40, edged out Jiva Coolip by a neck to win the $20,000 Newmarket Handicap at Phipps.

TRIDENT, N.J. — Gordon Johncock won the Trenton 200-mile race for the 1978 American Sportsman's Club. The veteran championship car driver's victory was made easier by a scoring error on the part of the U.S. Auto Club after Danny Ongais, driving a Ferrari Formula 1, made a lengthy pit stop for a fire change late in the race. Although Johncock accumulated nearly a full lap lead over the Hawaiian-born driver, USAAC scoring continued to list Ongais as the leader until, during subsequent caution periods, he was not allowed to pass the pace car and close up on the rear of the field. Ongais's car owner, Vel Milovich, filed a protest with USAAC after the race, asking that Ongais be given second place. The final ruling according to USAAC scoring, the racing organization took the protest under advisement.

MARTINSVILLE, Va. — Darrell Waltrip won the $110,000 Virginia 500 Grand National stock car race, erasing Richard Petty's 1967 record of 200 laps in the 200-lap race. Waltrip, driving a Dodge, crashed into each other 50 laps from the end, took the next two places, more than three laps in back of the winner.

BOWLING: AKRON, Ohio — Anthony defeated Teala Semit 237-192 to capture $30,000 and his second Tournament of Champions title. Anthony's victory enabled him to join Jim Godman and Dave Davis as the only two-time winners in the 20 years that the tournament has been held. Semit, seeded third in the five-man finals, defeated Mark Roth 247-210 in the second game and edged Nelson Burton Jr. 193-180 in the next to tie for first place with defeated Wayne Zahn of Temple, Ariz. 228-205 in the first game.

(Continued From Page One) Landry declared, "He shows excellent ability to block, pass block and has good size. He's very determined and a person with good character. He might show the biggest improvement this summer." DESPITE THE FEW areas of concern, Landry is optimistic about the Cowboys and their chances. Sir Thomas made his reputation in the NFL as a defensive player and coach, and he finds a lot to praise in the "Poke defense." "The defensive line was one of our strengths last year, and it could get even better," Landry asserted. "Randy White gave us an extra dimension when he moved into the line last summer." Randy has a lot of help, of course, from fellows like Ed Jones, Harvey Martin, Jethro Pugh (status still uncertain), Larry Cole and Bill Gregory. Five of the six linebackers are young and improving, and the secondary boasts two All-Pro safetymen in Cliff Harris and Charlie Waters. Reserve safety Randy Hughes could start for most clubs. Dallas fans have reason to yell "DEEEE-fense!" THERE ARE PLENTY of bright spots on offense, too. Quarterback Roger Staubach seemingly improves with age, and he's backed by a very capable Danny White. Glenn Carano showed promise as a rookie. Tony Dorsett put new zip in the offensive backfield as a rookie, but Landry surprisingly rated his performance as only average, considering the lad's ability. "Tony played a lot on instinct last year," Landry explained. "He was trying to learn our system and was hurt quite a bit. If he's willing to work hard all year and prepare himself physically, then there's no limit to what he can achieve." Tony has strong support from stubby fullback Robert Newhouse, veteran tailback Preston Pearson and dedicated Doug Dennison. Pearson has been trying to get his contract renegotiated, but probably will return for another season. The Cowboys' receiving corps is awesome. Wide man Drew Pearson and tight end Billy Joe DuPree are Pro Bowlers, with Golden Richards and Butch Johnson only a step behind. Tony Hill showed great promise as a rookie and could be the best of all, in time. No wonder that Landry barely can suppress a smile when he evaluates his chances this season!

Chicago Absorbs 12th Straight Playoff Loss

By The Associated Press
The Boston Bruins have a couple of days to sit back, relax and wait to see which team they'll be playing in the semifinals of the National Hockey League playoffs. The Chicago Black Hawks have all summer to get over the longest post-season losing streak in league history.

"I'm glad it's over in four games," said Boston Coach Don Cherry after a four-goal first period carried the Bruins to a 5-2 victory over the Black Hawks and a 4-0 sweep in their best-of-seven quarter-final. "We seem to thrive on having time off."

Having handed Chicago its 12th consecutive playoff loss, Boston has plenty of time off. There is only one thing certain: they will not play the Montreal Canadiens in the semifinals, but any number of other possibilities remain.

So the Bruins will practice, watch a game or two on television and wait as the remaining six teams go through their paces.

It will take at least two more games to decide the series between the New York and Toronto and the Maple Leafs scored a bruising 3-1 triumph Sunday night to even the set at 2-2.

The defending champion Canadiens pulled within a victory of eliminating Detroit, blasting the Red Wings 8-0 Sunday for a 3-1 series lead.

The Philadelphia Flyers are in a similar position, taking a 3-1 lead over the Buffalo Sabres with a 4-2 victory Sunday night.

The Bruins scored early and often on Chicago goalie Tony Esposito, getting two goals from Peter McNab and the first two from Brad Park, taking a 4-0 first-period lead and cruising home.

"We wanted to get a couple of quick goals to demoralize them," explained Cherry, who got just what he wanted when McNab scored his first of the game at 51 seconds. "When you're down three games to none and fall behind early in the fourth game, it makes it tough."

Coach Bob Pulford, who guided Chicago to the Smythe Division title in his first year at the Black Hawks' helm, said only the loss "was a bad way to go out."

Especially because it was Chicago's 12th in a row in the playoffs. The Black Hawks lost the last two games of their quarter-final against Buffalo in 1975, the four games of their 1976 quarter-final against the Montreal Canadiens, both of their preliminary-round games against the Islanders last season and the four to Boston this year.

"We knew we had lost all those games since beating Buffalo in 1975," admitted the Black Hawks' J.P. Bordeleau. "It preyed on our minds, but there was nothing we could do about it."

Now all they can do is think about winning one next year. The previous record of 10 consecutive playoff losses had been shared by the Philadelphia Flyers and the New York Rangers.

Ferry O'Reilly had the other goal for the Bruins. Stan Mikita and Ted Bulley scored for Chicago.

Canadiens 8, Red Wings 0
There was little for the Detroit fans to cheer. Doug Risebrough and Bob Gainey scored shorthanded goals 24 seconds apart while teammate Steve Shutt was in the penalty box in the first period to set an NHL playoff record and power the Canadiens past the Red Wings.

Guy Lafleur broke out of a scoring slump with two goals and three assists and Steve Shutt also scored twice while Ken Dryden faced just 20 shots for his ninth career playoff shutout.

Pierre Mondou had the other goals for Montreal, which recorded its eighth straight victory — going back to 1956 — over Detroit at the Red Wings' Olympia home.

Though 50 octopi and other debris littered the ice during Friday night's game, the surface remained unblemished during Sunday's contest.

Flyers 4, Sabres 2
Bob Kelly, Ross Lonsberry and Rick MacLeish scored first-period goals to carry Philadelphia past Buffalo and bring the Flyers within a victory of the semifinals.

Philadelphia, which lost to the Sabres 4-1 Saturday night, didn't start playing defensively and protecting their lead until it reached 3-0.

That was a lesson they learned when they let up while leading 1-0.

"We learned you can't stop after one goal," said Flyers captain Bobby Clarke. "We're dumb, but we still learn when we get a lesson like that."

Craig Ramsay scored both Buffalo goals.

Maple Leafs 3, Islanders 1
Borje Salming and Stan Weir scored second-period goals 16 seconds apart to carry the Maple Leafs past the Islanders and tie their hard-fought quarter-final series at two victories apiece.

Salming later suffered a serious injury to his right eye when he fell on the stick of New York's Lorne Henning during a Toronto power play in the second period. Salming, bleeding profusely from the inch-long gash on his right eyelid, was hospitalized and is expected to miss the fifth game of the series Tuesday night.

Pat Boutette added an insurance goal for the Maple Leafs. Bob Nystrom scored for New York, which won the first two games of the series but lost 2-0 Friday.

so I used (Steve) Mix and (Joe) Bryant more.

"You can't worry about their morale. I respect them, they're great guys, but if I don't try to help them win, then I am not doing my job."

New York led 50-37 midway through the second period before the Sixers got rolling, cutting the deficit to 2 by half-time. The second half was close all the way, the Sixers taking the lead to stay 98-97 with 3:13 to play on a free throw by Julius Erving following a technical foul against New York's Lonnie Shelton. Mix hit a bank shot and Doug Collins converted an offensive rebound to give Philadelphia a comfortable 5-point spread.

Collins led the Sixers with 24 points, Erving scored 23 and Lloyd Free 17. Bob McAdoo topped New York with 24.

"The turning point was the way we played defense in the second half," said Cunningham. "Our offense wasn't clicking in the first half, but our defense and defensive rebounding got us going."

Bullets 98, Spurs 95
Elvin Hayes' slam dunk with 46 seconds left put Washington in front 98-95.

Hurricane

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Flanagan scored on a rebound off the Houston crossbar at 69:14 to give the New England Tea Men a 1-0 North American Soccer League victory over the Houston Hurricane in the Astrodome Sunday night.

In a rough, physical game, the experienced New England squad showed Houston how to play defense with backs David D'Errico, Peter Carr and Larry May consistently running away the Houston attack.

For the first time this season, the Hurricane was outshot as the Tea Men managed 21 shots on goal to 17 for Houston.

A bright spot for the losers came in the form of rookie goalkeeper Keith Van Eron, who had eight saves, at least three of the spectacular variety.

The victory improved the Tea Men's record to 2-1, while the Hurricane dropped to 2-3. After a Detroit victory Sunday, the Hurricane also dropped out of the lead in the central division of the NASL's American Conference.

Aeros

HOUSTON (AP) — After playing six years with the Houston Aeros, goalie Wayne Rutledge knows what playoff hockey is all about.

"You've got to come up with the big plays and get some help from the people who haven't contributed a great deal during the regular season," said Rutledge, who kicked out 22 shots in the Aeros 5-2 World Hockey Association playoff triumph over the Quebec Nordiques Sunday night.

Rutledge, who played in only 12 games during the regular season, came up with big saves time and time again as Houston narrowed Quebec's lead in the best-of-seven quarter-final series to 3-2.

The sixth game will be played in Quebec Wednesday night. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played Friday night in Houston.

Paul Terbenche, who was obtained in a February trade from Birmingham and didn't play for Houston during the regular season because of a broken jaw, scored Houston's first goal on a deflection at the 14:49 mark of the first period. Cam Connor added his first goal of the playoffs just 47 seconds later to boost the Aeros into a 2-0 lead at the end of the period.

Scott Campbell added a second period goal for Houston, but the Nordiques came back with a pair of late period tallies by Paulin Bordeleau to pull within one goal at the end of the period.

Ted Taylor tacked on Houston's final two markers, the first on a wrist shot midway through the third period and the second on a shot into an empty net with 10 seconds remaining in the contest.

Taylor, who came out of retirement early in the season after playing the last five years for Houston, said the series is far from being over.

"This (win) gives us three more days to get healthy," Taylor said. "Wayne played fantastic tonight. We all needed to come up with a big effort."

Houston, the only team to win two league titles, played without goalie Ernie Wakley, who has a pulled hamstring, and right wing Rich Preston, out for the remainder of the season with a fractured ankle.

Quebec Coach Maurice Filion said the Aeros played well, but his team just couldn't come up with the big play.

"We outshot them 14-5 in the second period but only scored two goals," Filion said. "That was the turning point. We should have scored more than that."

River Oaks

HOUSTON (AP) — Brian Gottfried solved the high-flying spins of Romanian lie Nastase in the finals of the $175,000 River Oaks World Championship Tennis tournament, but the hard part came after the match when he had to rewrite his acceptance speech.

"After that first set I was already preparing my acceptance speech as the runner-up," Gottfried said Sunday after he had recovered for a 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory in the title match. "I was going to compliment lie on how well he played."

But starting with the second set, Gottfried began charging the net and played his own aggressive serve and volley game.

It was like crossing a mine field to get there, but once Gottfried was able to take charge of the net, Nastase's confusing spin shots were numbered.

"I decided I had to get into the net any way I could," said Gottfried, who earned $30,000. "I would come in when I could, sneak in, anything."

Gottfried's tactics paid off spectacularly in the third set when he broke the fading Romanian in the second, fourth and sixth games and rarely missed the forehand volleys that plagued him in the first set.

The tournament was the last on the WCT tour and filled the final three spots for the eight-man WCT championship tournament in Dallas next month.

Gottfried, who started the week in a tie for 10th in the race for Dallas, made it along with Italy's Carraro Barazzutti, a semifinals loser, and Dick Stockton, who lost in the second round.

Vitas Gerulaitis, Sweden's Bjorn Borg, Eddie Dibbs, Mexico's Raul Ramirez and Nastase already had clinched spots.

Although Gottfried broke Nastase in the first game of the match, Nastase continued his opponent with his series of spin shots and Gottfried was hampered by a faulty forehand. Nastase broke Gottfried in the fourth and eighth games to win the first set.

"It took me awhile to get used to his style," Gottfried said. "It's hard to attack the way I like to when the ball comes in so high in the air and is moving around so much."

As for Nastase, he walked immediately off the court with his $15,000 runner-up check and his strangely strung racket to a waiting car and headed for the airport without showering or talking to the media.

Asked if he thought Nastase's racket, which has the middle four strings unwoven to allow added spin on the ball, was an advantage, Gottfried had the obvious answer.

"Not today," he said.

SWC Baseball

By The Associated Press
Arkansas and Texas A&M tangle in a three-game series in Fayetteville Friday and Saturday to determine the Southwest Conference regular season baseball champion.

While the Razorbacks and Aggies collide in their showdown, the Baylor Bears can punch a ticket into the SWC post-season tournament by winning just one of three games against Texas Christian. Texas has to win three times against Texas Tech.

The Aggies set up the showdown by sweeping a three-game series from Texas Tech climaxed by a no-run, no-hit effort from left-hander Mark Thurmond.

While Thurmond was no-hitting Texas Tech 5-0 in the seven-inning opener Saturday, Houston was blitzing Arkansas 14-4 to split a doubleheader against the Razorbacks.

Arkansas and A&M are each 18-4 in the SWC race.

The first four teams in the league get into the SWC post-season tournament in Austin May 12-15. Houston has clinched third place.

Baylor is 10-8 while Texas is 10-11.

The Longhorns suffered the indignity of losing to Southern Methodist over the weekend for the first time since 1968.

Therefore, the perennial powerful Longhorns will have to win all three games against Tech and Baylor would have to lose all three of its games to TCU to tumble out of fourth.

SWC Tennis

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Southern Methodist's Mustangs took the bows as the Southwest Conference Tennis champs Sunday, but Houston's Nduka Odior stole the show.

Odior, named the outstanding player of the tournament, became the second freshman in the past three years to win the SWC singles title when he stepped Mustang Jai DiLouie 6-3, 6-3.

The Mustangs tallied 74 points for the conference victory. Houston was second with 66, followed by Texas, 65; Arkansas, 62; Texas Christian, 52; Texas A&M, 31; Rice, 18; Baylor, 17; and Texas Tech, 2.

Employing a deadly backhand return, Odior jumped on DiLouie's ineffective serve en route to becoming the first black player ever to win a SWC tennis title. He joins Mark Vines of SMU as the most recent freshman winners. Vines captured the championship in 1976.

Last Friday, Odior waded through second-seeded Kevin Curren of Texas and then stopped defending champion Randy Crawford of TCU Saturday. Crawford was seeded third in the tournament.

Odior's teammate, Dan Valentincic, boosted Houston to yet another title in the No. 2 singles class, whipping Longhorn Gary Plock 6-3, 7-5.

The Arkansas Razorbacks were not without a couple of singles winners themselves. Ron Hightower battled Texas' Steve Denton in the No. 3 position, finally taking a hard-won 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory. In the No. 6 class, teammate Mark Johnson drubbed TCU's Jim Allin with a pair of 6-2's.

For Texas, Brad Nabers got the No. 4 victory, beating Tom Cain of SMU by a 6-4, 6-4 count. Vines claimed the No. 5 title, squeezing past Guillermo Stevens of Texas, 7-6, 7-5.

SWC Golf

TYLER (AP) — Houston, battling for a fifth straight Southwest Conference golf crown, did just that Sunday and shattered its old conference mark in the process.

The fearsome Cougars were led by medalist winner Terry Snodgrass and Kalua Makalena, who arched many an eyebrow with his closing round of 66, just two shots off the course record.

Makalena was joined at the rare double-six level by Arkansas' Eddie Jones. Jones' dead-eye shooting helped the Razorbacks move from sixth to fourth place in the team standings.

Snodgrass, the 1977 Texas Amateur Champion, edged Texas A&M's Dave Ogrin by a stroke, 212-213, despite a bogey on the final hole. He was four under par for the tournament. Mike Klein and Arkansas' Bobby Baker tied for third at 216, even par.

As a team, Houston fired 11 under par in the final round, making up four strokes and finishing the day with a two-over, 54-hole total of 866. Their old record set in 1975, was 869.

Freshman Fred Couples added a four-under 68 and Klein, a 73, to give Houston an incredible 277 in the final round.

Texas finished 12 strokes back at 878, followed by Texas A&M at 891, Arkansas, 894; TCU, 897; Baylor, 903; SMU, 907.

Robertson-Long Nab Pinehills' Crown

Rex Robertson birdied the final hole to provide the winning margin in the Pinehills Partnership Golf Tournament.

The birdie lifted Robertson and partner Steve Long to a 1-stroke lead and the championship over the charging duo of Al Clary of Wilson and Jimmie Johnson of Levelland.

Clary and Johnson fired the day's best round, an 8-under-par 64 for a 129 total. And the two had finished and waited at the 18th green as Robertson and Long played out. Robertson's birdie was worth a 6-under-par 66 and a 128 total for the two-day tournament.

Long and Robertson had the first-round lead after an opening 62.

Sunday, Long and Robertson played without a bogey, getting six birdies. The strong, winning stretch came midway of the round as they went birdie-birdie-birdie-par-birdie on holes 9 through 13.

Nasco-Fabricated Buildings
 Serving Multiple Area Needs

"The newest thing in buildings can be built in hours... to last a lifetime... whether for farm, industry, commercial, municipal or school facilities, etc. Unbelievable? But it is true!
 Also:
 "These same units involve no bolts, no screws, no leaks and they meet all codes!"
 Where is all this available?
 At Nasco Steel Buildings, on the Idalou Highway just northeast of Lubbock, phone 763-9221.
 Local Company
 Founded in Lubbock seven years ago, Nasco is headed by Delmer Hightower, president.
 Hightower was born and reared in Levelland and has been a Lubbock resident 16 years.
 Nasco serves the entire South Plains and adjacent regions, and the firm likes to prove it can deliver a building to one's specifications and have it up most often within two weeks!
 And... in addition, Hightower reports that these buildings are up to 20 per cent cheaper than conventional buildings.
 One may select from 20-ft. to 75-ft. width dimensions, with no penalty for odd widths!
 Nasco, locally owned and operated, has its own skilled erectors to enable a turnkey job (including plumbing, electrical work, etc. as needed); or one may purchase the revolutionary spans for "do-it-yourself" erection, as anyone can erect a Nasco building, it is explained.
 Conventional and K-Span units are fabricated right here in the Lubbock plant of the firm.

Texas Insulation Systems, Lockney, Affords ThermoCon Process, Products

"Know Texas Insulation Systems, Box 591, Lockney, Texas, phone 652-3348, and profit."
 Specializing in ThermoCon spray-on and loose-fill for residential, commercial and industrial applications, Jerry Ulmer and staff are masters in their field. For full details see Ulmer at the Lockney facility, write Box 591, Lockney, Tex. 79241, or call (806) 652-3348.
 ThermoCon spray-on insulation for metal buildings is one of the fine product-service combinations. Let one of the Texas Insulation Systems technicians give full details, showing what this application can do in your own situation.
 Spray-on ThermoCon affords temperature, sound and fire control in one application!
 Because of its chemical content, it permanently bonds to steel, wood and masonry surfaces painted or not! It provides a strong color-stable environmental system that will not chip, shed, flake, dust or be subject to rot or fungi. ThermoCon is odorless and non-toxic.
 Because it forms a monolithic seal, it can be used wherever temperature, sound or fire control is needed on ceilings or walls, exposed or unexposed. No lathing, undercoating or preparatory base is required!
 Because of its workable fibrous texture, ThermoCon can expand and contract with your building without losing its hold. Its built-in flexibility makes it easy to cut, saw, mold, shape or paint.
 Because of its application by pneumatic spray, it is much faster and more economical than conventional insulation, Ulmer emphasizes.
 (ThermoCon, incidentally, is a national company with dealers throughout the nation and in Canada.)
 Appropriate buildings for this ThermoCon system include farm buildings, airplane hangars, industrial plants, warehouses, auditoriums, gyms, showrooms, supermarkets, mobile homes, apart-

'Better Hearing Aid Center' Provides Added Clovis Office

"Did you realize that services of James O. Davidson, certified hearing aid audiologist, are not only available at the Better Hearing Aid Center in Lubbock, on one-day-a-week basis at numerous area towns, but now also at the Clovis Hearing Aid Center?"

A lot of regional folks have depended on the Better Hearing Aid Center, No. 30 Redbud Square in Lubbock, for a long time.

Then it was arranged so that on Wednesdays, Davidson would visit area towns on an announced schedule. This still is in practice.

But in addition, as an added service to friends in New Mexico and the western Panhandle and South Plains, Davidson has provided the Clovis Hearing Aid Center, at 117 E. 7th St., phone 793-6900, in Clovis.

"So take your pick of the center and service most convenient to you; James Davidson renders the same great service at each. He is in the Lubbock Center on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at Clovis on Tuesday, Thursday and on Saturday morning.

"We are indeed appreciative of the friends, the customers and the benefits of years past, and we trust that with our new arrangement, we can serve you even better in months and years to come."

More about the Lubbock center:

Located about midway between 4th Street and 19th Street on Slide Road, the firm is a multi-line dealer, specializing in all-in-the-ear models. Service and repairs on any make of hearing aid is expertly rendered.

Not only can one purchase the best in hearing aids at the Better Hearing Aid Center, but James O. Davidson, certified hearing aid audiologist there, is most helpful in assisting one "after" the purchase. A few months ago he announced the helpful C.A.R.E. program for this assistance, with the program including a video unit with a series of tapes that explain graphically how to enjoy and use one's aid to the fullest. It helps, among other things, in "learning how to listen," in adjustment of the aid, and even helpful hints on "attitudes."

Area Service
Other benefits also are provided at Better Hearing Aid Center. Davidson makes scheduled trips throughout the area, and those desiring service or consultation "near to home" are invited to check his ads appearing each Monday on these pages to learn of his current schedule.

In West Lubbock
"If you hear ... but do not always understand ... maybe all you need is the custom-made, all-in-the-ear hearing aid from Better Hearing Aid Center, Redbud Square (on Slide Road), phone 792-0507."

Learn about the convenience and utility of the tiny unit that fits all in the ear, helping nature help you hear better.

For hearing loss suitable to correction and improvement through amplification,

AT LUBBOCK CENTER — James O. Davidson, certified hearing aid audiologist, and staffmember Agnes Vanderveer at the Better Hearing Aid Center in Redbud Square, invite inquiries regarding the firm's services in sales and repairs at its two big centers and at appointed times throughout the area.

a "Contour" hearing aid by Dahlberg offers a special kind of hearing help for mild, moderate or moderately-severe hearing impairment.

Starting with an exact impression of your own ear, a plastic shell is formed which duplicates the contours of your ear. Dahlberg's evaluation committee then analyzes your hearing loss supplied by your hearing aid specialist and selects the most suitable degree and type of amplification. Dahlberg's manufacturing staff then assembles the electronic components specified and makes your "Contour" to order within your own contoured shell ... providing your personal hearing aid.

"Individually made to order for you, no two are alike."

And remember ... at the Better Hearing Aid Center there is a liberal hearing aid trial rental plan.

Davidson, a Lubbock resident since 1948 and an area native, is most sincere — and qualified — in his invitation to call 792-0507 or come by the center for professional assistance. He is most enthused, and rightly so, about the two custom-made, all-in-the-ear aids (1) the Miracle Ear and (2) the Contour all-in-the-ear model, both from Dahlberg.

Protection Plan
Davidson and customers alike express enthusiasm for the related "Dahlberg Consumer Protection Plan" in which a 30-day money-back privilege is afforded (with exception of custom made ear-molds and dispensing fee).

Long-Established Policy
"See your doctor first, then see us," long has been the sensible suggestion of Davidson, multi-line dealer service 22 counties in Texas and eastern New Mexico, a policy initiated without prompting of government regulations.

Miracle Ear
"Our new variable compression settings enable fitting the hearing aid to your individual loss. We have numerous models, one of which will parallel your hearing loss.
"Mild nerve deafness? Then 'Miracle Ear' may be all you need to hear clearly again. It fits entirely in your ear and is ideal for the majority of persons who can still hear but have trouble understanding words."

"If you hear sounds but don't always understand words (a classic symptom of nerve impairment), our recommendation is Miracle Ear, developed and patented by Dahlberg Electronics, Inc."

Aids Electronically Tested
At the Better Hearing Aid Center, all hearing aids are electronically tested before going to the customer.

"Do not hesitate to visit or call (phone 792-0507, or residence phone 799-0333). Likely Jim Davidson, hearing aid audiologist, can help you, too."

SPIC & SPAN — WHERE CLOTHING CARE IS RIGHT

Clothing-Related Hints Given By Spic & Span Professionals

Spic & Span One Hour Cleaners has served the people of Lubbock for 29 years.

Experience is important. "So, the wise suggestion today could well be to entrust your drycleaning to the Spic & Span One Hour Cleaners, at one of its two Lubbock locations: at 50th & U, or 70th & Indiana."

Spic & Span likes to help in every way possible, and it is happy to pass on hints and observations, with three being singled out this week: (1) Fashions for the new summer season, (2) Closet Management, and (3) Wise Purchasing.

Fashion Trends Told
Fabrics making the most news at this time are printed cotton lenos, gauzes and voiles; cotton lace and nets; linens, silk blends and a growing number of pastel and bright clear colored madras plaids.

Dresses are very popular for spring and summer '78, and are appearing in cotton interlock prints, tissue linen, crinkle-cotton gauze and poly-silk jacquards. Most of the new dress styles have new touches such as bat-wing sleeves, peplums and new waistline treatments. Also lace, ruffles, tiers and flounces are incorporated into most of the dresses.

Silky fabrics with textural touches such as waffles, mini-twills, satin stripes and embroidery are an important part of today's separates.

(To retain the beauty of all these great fashions, let us as your professional dry-cleaner care for the garments for longer-lasting wearability.)

"Purchase Wisely"
Buying new clothes often is an exciting event, related to happy times, holidays and great expectations. But one should not become so absorbed in selecting just the right fashion or in meeting the budget that cleaning and laundering is forgotten. The time to begin thinking about drycleaning a garment is at the time of purchase.

Good care practice begins with the inspection of the labels and tags, and with asking questions before purchase.

The care necessary to keep something clean and attractive may be important in deciding whether or not to buy it in the first place.

Garments that are both washable and drycleanable may be labeled washable with no mention of drycleanability. However, garments labeled washable generally can also be drycleaned.

Drycleaning is particularly effective in removing greasy, oily soils and stains from the synthetic fabrics, which have an affinity for oils and cling to them.

Closet Management Advised
"Likely, with the change of seasons, you have commenced cleaning and re-organizing the closets . . . or you are thinking about it!"

The following are some helpful hints for good closet management:

Out-of-season clothes should be cleaned before storing for the warm months.

Don't keep clothes you don't wear anymore. If they are still usable, give them to charity. You can claim the "fair market value" of usable clothing as a deduction when you give it to charity.

After wearing a garment, promptly hang it on a hanger that is shaped for it. Shaped wooden or plastic hangers are for jackets and coats. Clamp type hangers are for skirts and pants. Don't hang sweaters or knits. Lay them flat in a drawer.

Always remember, proper closet care means longer wear, and out-of-season apparel should be cleaned before storing. Let your drycleaner help.

Pros on the Job
And remember, further: Chester and Janette Holder, owners of Spic & Span Cleaners, specialize in one thing only: "the dry cleaning industry". They are real pros in the drycleaning field and both are active workers in the business, keeping their minds alert for anything new that comes on the market. Spic & Span is member of local, state and international trade associations in the field.

Attention is called to the added plant (at 70th and Indiana) which has proven especially convenient to "all you people who have migrated on south and west!"

The original plant, at 2109 50th St., is going strong, so now one has a choice for Spic & Span service, on 50th or further south and west on Indiana.

Remember the Spic & Span motto: "Some bigger, none better; no brag, just fact!"

Earl Ray Music Advises 'Trading Up', Choosing From Fine Instrument Lines

"Wouldn't this be a very good time for you as a band student to 'trade up' to a quality instrument to best serve you in the progress that you have made in your music pursuit?"

"Let us at Earl Ray Music Co. show you how easy and rewarding this can be." Reliance upon the Earl Ray Music Co. can solve (and easily so) the many situations for the music minded.

Long a standby as "the South Plains" leading Band House," the Earl Ray Music Co., at 5302 Ave. Q in the Briercroft Shopping Center, pledges the finest in instrument repair and sales, even leasing and trade-up.

For more than a quarter century of being known and trusted by band directors, parents and bandmen throughout the area, Earl Ray Music Co. early in 1974 moved from a former 1502 Ave. Q quarters to the large modern home it now enjoys — a facility that has met with exceptional response from customers who actually are excited about the added conveniences and still-fine service at Earl Ray's.

Selling, servicing and trade-rent-lease of fine instrument lines still is the whole business of Earl Ray. Whether selection is from Conn, Vito, Selmer, Bunday, LeBlac, Ludwig, Bach, Olds, Gemeinhardt, etc., quality is assured.

More and more students throughout Lubbock and entire area are learning the advantages of "trading up" to a better instrument at Earl Ray Music Co. As the students progress in their musical carers, the "trading up" is especially advantageous.

"Whether or not you purchased your present band instrument from Earl Ray, they will be glad to give you a price you are sure to appreciate with trade on a better one.

A wide choice of instruments is stocked.

"Selection at Earl Ray Music Co. will assure that you are all set — with the best — for current school needs, and beyond."

Service does not end with the rental or sale at this leading band house. Earl Ray maintains the largest band instrument repair department on the South Plains, remember, with fulltime specialists on the job.

Hallie's Thrift Shoppe Seen Cutting Expense For Wardrobe

Has wardrobe expenditure been sacrificed for other needs? Is your clothing budget less than desired and needed?

The answer to either likely will focus attention on a sensible solution... recognition of Hallie's Thrift Shoppe as a great place to trade.

Hallie's Thrift Shoppe, 3510 Ave. Q, can appreciably aid the fashion need and the economy need "for you, too" in every season of the year.

It's a reality: One can beat inflation, beat the rising apparel costs, by depending upon Hallie's Thrift Shoppe for the right apparel at lowest prices.

At Hallie's Thrift Shoppe there is lots of new merchandise plus consignment items that are strictly "first class" that can be a smart solution to the wardrobe budget.

With the seasonal expenses now present, and with the increased costs at every hand, it is exciting to find a firm that can greatly reduce some of this cash outlay.

One can dress smartly for every season, and at a cost "that can be lived with," thanks to Hallie's Thrift Shoppe's full selection and unique business concept.

Hallie's, primarily a resale shop for better merchandise, has been at its present 3510 Ave. Q location (with off-street parking) more than four years, with owner-operator Hallie Payne formerly at another Avenue Q location for five years.

The exceptional stock, attractively displayed with plenty of room for selection and fitting, involves top quality new and nearly new formal wear, school and street wear, etc.

There are clothes for the entire family (sold on consignment) and the prices are most appealing.

"If you have items suitable for consignment, call Hallie's at 744-6772 for appointment and arrangements."

Though a wide stock is on hand, Hallie's at the present especially solicits consignments of top quality and fashionable long dresses and men's wear.

New merchandise from area stores also is stocked by Hallie's.

Easy off-street parking at both front and rear is just one of the conveniences at Hallie's Thrift Shoppe.

"We'll cater your party, business meeting, school functions, family get-togethers and all!"

"That's right, now we can bring the same great food you have enjoyed at Southern Sea right to you anywhere in the South Plains and High Plains area!"

All this is made possible by the facilities, experience, dedication, expertise and consideration of the folks at Southern Sea, Indiana Avenue at South Loop 289, phone 799-6555, in Lubbock.

Bob and Priscilla Sims are owners, staying in the lead in providing better eating, in the restaurant, for take-out, and now via catering.

"We can serve any item from our popular menu in our catering service, and other items can be custom prepared."

Cowling Furniture Presents Selection, Price Advantages

There are outstanding "In-Store Specials" now in effect at Cowling Furniture!

And the largest selection of recliners the firm has ever offered.

Plus more! With an enlarged, yet most discriminating, selection offered, Cowling's Furniture, 1210 Ave. Q, has "what's right and what's quality" for every furniture need.

Opening in late 1975, Cowling's has become recognized as a good firm, with good merchandise, with integrity and with a quality-savings combination to be appreciated.

With so very much presented in its selection, it is impossible to enumerate all, but these arrivals likely should come in for special note:

The best selection of sofas yet stocked by Cowling's is currently presented.

Rattan Now Stocked
New groupings for every room of the home are available.

Some extremely good quality Rattan furniture has been added to the extensive stock.

A very good supply of credenzas, consoles, bedroom and dining room groupings is another present situation, all in readiness for one's Spring redecorating.

All in all, Cowling's has the largest stock yet; they have continually stocked good lines and are staying with these respected and well-known brands.

Both investment art and just "plain pretty art work" is stocked in a beautiful array of selective paintings, tastefully arranged throughout the attractive store.

"This is an out-of-the-ordinary furniture store," more than a few customers have found, and Ken Cowling and family want the opportunity to personally show this as the truth. Modest on the outside, the big store is most impressive within; actually, entry is into a whole new world of quality furniture at prices to please.

"If it is all-around good taste that you appreciate, then let Cowling's friendly family staff serve you. The firm is a family store, family owned and operated, with each member doing his and her best to bring your own family the very finest home furnishings to fit your budget."

Financing is available, and personal attention in every visit and transaction is a watchword at Cowling's, just south off Broadway, on Avenue Q. Both an east and north entry is provided, with appreciated off-street parking at the north.

"Yes, most emphatically, you can enjoy the privacy of 'at home' living with the security of a protected environment, at Westridge Manor, West Texas' most exclusive and unique retirement living facility, at 4304 West 2nd St., Westridge Park, Plainview (west of the Coca Cola plant on Interstate 27)."

Not a nursing home... and not an apartment complex but an "in-between" service, that is Westridge Manor in Plainview.

 Designed to be nice enough for his own mother, Turner planned Westridge Manor "for anybody's mom and dad."

Auctions Offer Good Furniture

By JOHN F. SIMS
 NEW YORK (UPI) — If you've put off getting new furniture because of its high cost or poor construction, auctions may have a lot to offer.

"Americans are getting smarter," says William J. Doyle, president of the New York auction gallery that bears his name. "Most new furniture is garbage. Good new furniture is too expensive."

"So the place to buy solid, worthwhile furniture is at auctions. A lot of young people are buying what they need at a mere 10, 20 or 30 cents on the dollar."

Doyle's auction house is handling a lot of that kind of furniture as well as vast quantities of silverware, dinnerware and other household items of a quality that's difficult to find at a reasonable price if you're buying new.

"An awful lot of good stuff is coming on the market," Doyle said in an interview. "Grandma used to live in an eight-room apartment stuffed with furniture. Now, because of taxation or inflation, she is moving to a smaller apartment or maybe her heirs are getting rid of the old stuff."

"Europeans who fled to the United States in the 1930s are dying and the furniture they brought with them is coming on the market," he said. "There was no market for the heavier European furniture until the last five years."

"But now, ironically, it is Europeans who are buying it to ship home. There was a lot of looting after World War II, and some of that material is going back," he said.

Doyle has been in the antique business 30 of his 36 years. He began as a child when he and his four brothers would clean out a neighbor's attic or garage — for a fee — and then sell anything of value they found to the second hand and antique dealers in Boston, where he grew up.

Doyle is one of 10 children, grandson of James H. Doyle who preceded John "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, grandfather of President John F. Kennedy, as chairman of Boston's board of aldermen.

Doyle has advice for anyone thinking about buying antiques at auction.

"The important thing is first to like what you're buying," he said. "If what you buy turns out to be a good investment, you're a double winner. And if you are buying for investment purposes only, always buy the best of any particular line."

There are other trends the fast-talking Doyle has spotted.

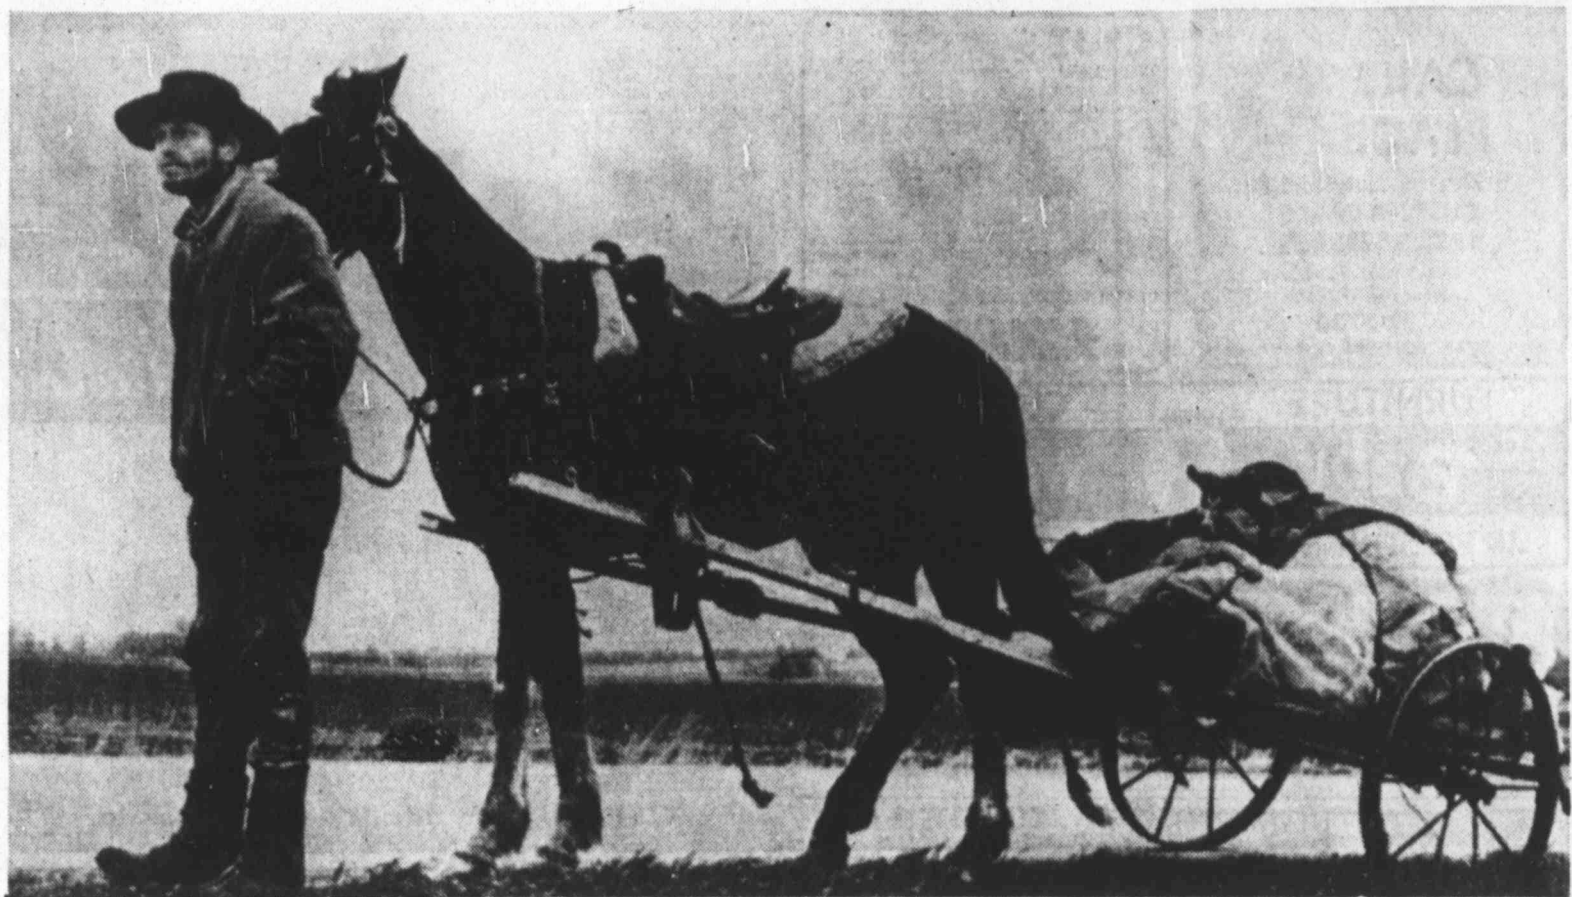

"French furniture is even more in demand than ever," he said. "Pictures generally go back to London. Although it is no longer the overall auction center, London is still the place to auction fine old paintings."

The items appearing at auctions sometimes come from unlikely sources.

"Inflation and increased insurance are forcing religious orders, museums and the like to weed out their collections," Doyle said. "Foundations and churches are going through the same pressures and about 20 private clubs have closed their doors."

The growing divorce rate also has put a lot of household goods on the market as separating partners turn their acquisitions into cash for settlement purposes.

It's all grist to Doyle's auction mill. The Doyle Galleries opened five years ago and already is handling in excess of $6 million in sales each year.

USDA Completes Chicken Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it has wrapped up its chicken-buying campaign for the current school year.

Officials say a further purchase probably will be made this week but that the buying will be ended after that.

Since the program began last July 1, USDA has bought about 15.9 million pounds of canned boned chicken for distribution to school lunch operations. The cost has been about $15.4 million.

Eaglet Worries Zoo Officials

WACO (AP) — Central Texas Zoo officials, forced to feed a rare baby bald eagle when its parents refused, are concerned that the eaglet will grow up thinking it's a human.

The eaglet, named "Texas," was hatched last week, making headlines as the second of his endangered species to be born in captivity.

But the bird's parents quit feeding him, and zoo keepers are handling the task.

Dr. Ken Riddle, a veterinarian and eagle specialist, says that could lead to problems since eagles identify future mating partners when they are five to eight weeks old. That makes it important to soon return "Texas" to its parents.

Riddle has suggested putting another bird in the nest first — such as a baby hawk — to make sure the parent eagles will accept their baby.

If the eaglet cannot be returned to his parents, Riddle said a "bald eagle puppet" — a stuffed bald eagle — will be put into the incubator at meal times to get it to identify with other eagles.

This could cause concern for the parents, however, because they do not want their offspring to grow up and marry a dummy.

'Why I choose to smoke'

"Why kid anyone? I smoke because I enjoy it. I'm the kind of guy who gets pleasure out of a cigarette. But I'm not deaf to what's being said about tar.

"So I searched out a cigarette that would give me taste with low tar. And two years ago I found it in Vantage. Vantage has all the taste I enjoy yet, surprisingly, much less tar than my old brand.

"Why did I choose Vantage? Because I like it."
