Jury finds Lozano death accidental

R-T Staff Writer

ODESSA - "This is where justice is determined; rights are determined.' Ector County District Attorney John Green told the six-member inquest jury probing into the Jan. 22 death of inmate Larry Lozano.

"You're the justice system," said Green, who later said that the Lozano case had turned into a "race issue." With that, the jury went into deliberation at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and came back 25 minutes later with its verdict: Lozano's death in the Ector County jail was accidental.

In its two-day hearing before Peace Justice Virgil Lumpee, the threeman, three-woman jury had listened to the testimony of 37 witnesses, plus two by deposition.

Jury foreman Clifton Monroe Riggs, a 57-year-old Odessa real estate man, said the jury had no difficulty reaching a verdict. It came on first balloting.

"The testimony of all of them (witnesses) was important." he said immediately afterward.

Lozano, described by a sheriff's deputy as having "super-human strength," died in the county jail after eight men, including five deputies. subdued Lozano after he apparently went "berserk" in his padded isolation cell on Jan 22 - his 12th day in jail on a charge of assaulting peace

The jury's verdict, which essentially ends the chances of the case going to the grand jury, coincided with the opinion of Houston forensics pathologist Dr. Joseph A. Jachimc-

Lozano) suffocated to death." said Jachimczyk, the Harris County chief medical examiner.

He had examined autopsy findings and Lozano tissue slides taken by two other pathologists: Dr. Kris Challapalli of Odessa and Dr. Frederick Bornstein of El Paso. Both testified that Lozano died of throat injuries - suffocation - rather than by injuries to the head and abdomen. as previously held by the latter two pathologists. Bornstein testified that Lozano "was killed.

Big Spring couple dies in accident

COMSTOCK — A Big Spring couple died early Wednesday morning from injuries received in a one-car accident about seven miles east of Comstock on U.S. 90 in Val Verde County.

Leocadio D. Valadez, 66, and Francisca Valadez, 66, were fatally in ured when the car ran off the road in a construction zone and struck a concrete abutment, the Texas Department of Public Safety said. The accident occurred about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

he replied Jachimczyk said he saw no evidence that Lozano had been kicked Sheriff Faught, who had maintained Lozano committed suicide by repeatedly ramming his head against the glass window of his one-man padded isolation cell, said he regretted the death of his prisoner.

"Of course," the sheriff told The Reporter-Telegram, "you know it's a serious thing that happens where there's a death any time, any place.

"No one hates his (Lozano's) death any more than I did," he said.

While Lozano was jailed, Faught said he had tried to get the prisoner confined to the hospital for psychiatric help. The man was prone to violence bordering on the berserk, he said.

"Hopefully, in the near future, we'll get a lock-up unit in the hospital (Odessa's Medical Center Hospital) where we can keep our mental patients," Faught said.

The sheriff said he has respect for his deputies and others who were suspected by some of intentionally killing Lozano.

"There's nothing else that I can say, but that I am pleased with the verdict." Faught said. Among those not pleased by the ODESSA - With Sheriff Elton Faught and several deputies watching from the roof of Ector County Courthouse, protesters of the verdict in the Larry Lozano case gathered today on the sidewalks in front of the courthouse.

Lozano's death in the jail here on Jan. 22 was ruled accidental by a sixperson inquest jury Wednesday. Carolina Rodriguez, a Brown Beret major, said: "We are protesting the outcome and the fact that we couldn't get back into the courtroom after it was cleared yesterday. No one was surprised at the outcome."

She said a spokesman for Attorney General John Hill had informed her that within a week or so action might be expected from Hill's office in the Carlos Garcia, another Brown Beret, said: "The verdict was just a one-sided story. It was just a circus." Security by the Odessa Police Department was heavy in the courthouse vicinty, but police chief Jack Tomlin said he expected no trouble.

By mid-morning a crowd of about 100 persons, predominantly youthful and Mexican-American, began a chanting march around the courthouse

Many carried signs like that of Nathan Duke, 3, which read: "I protest the cover-up in the Lozano case by John Green.

Adam Rodriguez, who has served as a spokesman for Mexican-Americans in Odessa since the beginning of the Lozano case, said during a called press conference at 9 a.m. that the people of Ector County "are not taking Mr. Green's and Mr. Lumpee's little charade seriously.

Kennedy may run

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has told his intimate friends and colleagues that he is seriously considering running for the presidency in 1980, the Christian Science Monitor reported today.

The newspaper said the Massachusetts Democrat believes President Carter may be vulnerable, and that 1980 may be Kennedy's "last chance," as one Kennedy friend put it.

But in Washington, Kennedy's administrative assistant, Ken Feinberg, called the report "pure conjecture.'

Kennedy is said to be resigned to having the issue of Chappaquiddick brought up again if he does run.

A car Kennedy was driving went off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island in 1969, and a woman passenger drowned in a

Carlsbad area found ideal for WIPP project

CARLSBAD, N.M. - "If in 10 years from now we determine the storage of radioactive wastes to be successful here, it may be decided that this would be the best place in the country for the storage of high-level commercial nuclear wastes." Department of Energy's number two man said here Tuesday.

The statement by DOE Deputy Secretary John O'Leary came in response to a question at a public information hearing on the proposed Carlsbad Waste Isolation Pilot Plant 25 miles southeast of this city of

At that hearing, DOE officials explained that tests conducted since 1972 have shown the area ideally suited for construction of a $370 million underground facility that would store both low- and intermediate-level radioactive wastes as well as high-level radiation waste from defense projects and spent fuel rods from nuclear reactors. The proposed WIPP site is ap-proximately 40 miles from a potential future source of Midland's water beneath the T-Bar Ranch, in Loving County on the New Mexico-Texas

O'Leary said Tuesday that if the salt beds in the area of the WIPP site began seeping into this watershed "you'd have as much of a problem as you would with the radiation." Because of the geological stability of the area, O'Leary said he could not foresee that kind of contamination occuring.

The city has water rights to the 920,000 acre-feet of water beneath the ranch. At the city's present con sumption rate, city officals have said this untapped underground water could supply the city's water needs for the next 62 years.

The WIPP is part of the nation's first attempt to form a policy on nuclear wastes.

O'Leary said that the absence of satisfactory long-term disposal facilities from spent fuel rods used in nuclear reactors has eliminated nuclear energy "as a viable option to the nation's energy problems. We are trying to get it back."

To retrieve the atomic energy program, O'Leary said, was th reason for the expansion of the WIPP from the original "mission," declared in 1972, as a storage area for low- and intermediate-level transuranic wastes that are by-products from various defense projects.

"But even if another nuclear power plant were never built, we would still have an enormous problem of what to do with the wastes we have already accumulated." O'Leary noted.

"We don't enjoy coming into an area like this and facing all the hostility of people who don't like the idea of a nuclear dumpsite near their homes. We could ignore the problem. Other administrations have done that. But we feel its the place of the government to come to grips with the nuclear waste problem," O'Leary

O'Leary admitted that the United States "got into the nuclear energy business" with haste, before waste

Though seated next to Green through much of the hearing. Maeso did not question witnesses, which included sheriff's deputies. Texas Rangers, present and former county jail inmates, the pathologists, police officers and Department of Public Safety troopers, mental-health people and others

Green had charged Hill with concealing evidence in a criminal case (Lozano) in which "he does not now nor will ever have jurisdiction."

Maeso, however, told The Reporter-Telegram Wednesday that the attorney general's investigation into the Lozano case "is still going on."

And in alluding to a Monday night meeting he had with Ector County jailer Jackie Perkins, Maeso said, 'It's not true that I offered immunity - totally untrue .

'The only person that can do that is Green." Maeso said.

Perkins, the jailer on duty at time of Lozano's death, was the 18th witness called by Green to testify at the inquest.

The 26-year-old jailer said Lozano had been placed in the padded isolation cell because "they had trouble with him earlier that day (Jan. 22)

He said "several inmates . . said they were having trouble" with Lozano in his tank cell. He said Lozano had busted out with his shoes a thick (about an inch) glass window in the cell.

Perkins said he checked on Lozano when he heard a banging in the second-floor isolation cell. That was about 7 p.m. on Jan. 22, a Sunday.

"I seen Lozano coming down violently on the glass (window),' Perkins testified. "He was butting his (and) was bleeding from his head head

Perkins said he tried to calm Lozano

"I was trying to tone him down, trying to get him under control before he hurt himself

But Perkins said he "never got a response out him. "I was in total shock how the man went berserk," he said. "I houestly thought the man was going to knock the (steel) door down Perkins said he called for assistance from other peace officers. By 7:10 p.m., the first of eight men, including deputies, reserve deputies, a game warden and a Department of Public Safety trooper, arrived to help quell the "major" disturbance, Perkins said.

'Our concern was to try to get Larry Lozano out (of the one-man cell) to get him medical at-Perkins said under examination by Green.

One deputy sprayed Mace, a gaseous defense product similar to tear gas, into the cell. ". . It didn't bother him." Perkins said.

Perkins said Lozano had in his hand a brass "ring." about 10 inches in diameter, unscrewed from a drainage hole, and apparently used that and his head to shatter the glass. After coaxing Lozano up to the door and getting him to stick the ring partially through the "bean hole" (for giving food to a prisoner), deputies tore the ring from Lozano. Perkins then unlocked the door, and the officers rushed in, wrestled the "fighting" Lozano down to the floor and finally managed to handcuff him. Perkins said. Just before the officers lunged into the cell. Perkins said he heard Lozano utter that "He was going to see what the next world was all about Other than that. Perkins said he couldn't understand what the man was saving. 'The noise that he was making was so great that you couldn't hardly hear anything." he said. He said Lozano had pieces of glass in his hand when the officers entered the cell.

Once brought down and handcuffed, Lozano, still kicking and fighting, was pulled or carried to the passageway just outside the isolation cell.

He said one deputy put on "headlock" onto Lozano to help bring him down. Lozano, placed in a prone position.

was being held down by several of the men. The heaving Lozano finally seemed to relax. Within minutes, he was dead. Perkins said.

On Tuesday, approximately 260 people, including uniformed members of the Brown Beret, listened to proceedings in the crowded courtroom, which is just above the jail.

On Wednesday, fewer than 200 were

Justice Lumpee cleared the cour troom of spectators after many, in unison, uttered a low-pitched and rumbling "no," as if in disbelief when jailer Perkins said:

"I honestly thought the man (Lozano) was going to knock the (steel) door down." Lumpee allowed members of Lozano's family, including relatives and the members of the press to remain in the courtroom.

Earlier, he had warned the spectators not to make an "uproar" during the hearing.

disposal problems had been resolved. But we got into it purely as a means of national survival. That's the reason for our haste." he added.

'I tell you that we will not do it (the Carlsbad WIPP) if it can't be done safely for both humans and the environment... It is something we should do in the national interest.' O'Leary added.

The WIPP would cover 60 surface acres, according to the present proposal. Surrounding that would be a tightly controlled buffer zone, with a width up to three miles.

Waste disposal would be accomplished at two levels below the ground in a large salt deposit. At 2,100 feet below the surface, a disposal area of up to 2,000 acres would be prepared for transuranic wastes with a low degree of radiation. In 1985, about 95 acres are expected to be used for the storage of four million cubic feet of these wastes. After 1985, approximately 250,000 cubic feet of wastes are planned to be added each

At 2,600 feet, transuranic wastes requiring "remote-handling" will be stored. In 1985, 100,000 cubic feet of these wastes will be stored in a 10acre facility. These are intermediatelevel radioactive wastes. The DOE task force also proposes the facility be used to demonstrate 'the permanent disposal of up to 1,000 spent fuel assemblies discharged from commercial nuclear power plants.

Each spent fuel assembly contains approximately 47 atomic fuel rods. These are high-level radioactive wastes. One thousand of them would weigh approximately 500 tons. Plans call for them to be stored at the 2,600-foot level. The demonstration would require no more than 20 acres. An additional 20 acre facility at the 2,600-foot level would be used for research and development of storage techniques for high temperature. very high-level defense and spent-fuel wastes. No permanent storage is proposed for this material. O'Leary said the DOE probably will ask the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for a license during March 1979. A decision from the NRC could be expected in early 1981. If the project is approved, it would take four Visitor warns failure in Mideast may have 'severe consequences'

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu met with President Carter at the White House Wednesday to warn that the world faces "severe consequences" if efforts to achieve a Middle East peace settlement fail.

In his remarks during the welcoming ceremonies. Ceausescu said an equitable settlement must include withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Arab lands occupied in 1967, creation of an independent Palestinian state and guarantees for the integrity of all nations in the

His comments provoked special interest because Romania has ties to both Israel and the Arab states that, in the past, have enabled Ceausescu to play a middleman role in the Middle East. He helped to arrange last year's meeting between Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli prime minister Menachem Begin.

But, while the Middle East was among the main topics of Ceausescu's 90-minute meeting with Carter, U.S. officials said the talks involved a general exchange of views and did not nclude discussion of any specific Middle East peace plan.

Reports from the Middle East in ecent days have said that Ceausescu had given Sadat a proposal for resuming the Middle East talks with the participation of the Palestinian Liberation Organization. These reports have been denied by Egyptian government sources.

Despite a mutual interest in the Middle East, U.S. sources said, the real main purpose of Ceausescu's visit is to keep open the lines that have given Romania a special relationship with the United States. Although Ceausescu is making his fourth state visit to Washington, it is the first since Carter took office. Romania is unique among the Soviet Union's Communist allies in the East European Warsaw Pact because it has followed a frequently independent course in foreign policy. It is the only Warsaw Pact country to have diplomatic relations with Israel, and it has pursued friendly ties with both the West and Moscow's adversaries in China.

Among the benefits of that policy have been Washington's granting of most-favored-nation tariff status to Romania - a position that has increased trade between the two countries tenfold in the last decade. Ceausescu. U.S. sources said, is keenly interested in having that status renewed.

If there is a potential cloud over the visit, it involves Romania's record on internal human rights. In contrast to his liberal foreign policy, Ceausescu has been accused frequently of keeping a tight, often repressive rein on dissent within Romania.

Carter recently received a letter from 66 members of Congress, who expressed concern about apparent restrictions on emigration of Romanian Jews to Israel. It called on Carter to confront his visitor "candidly and forcefully" on human rights

However, such issues were glossed over at Wednesday's meeting, where Carter praised Ceausescu as "a great leader of a great country." A White House spokesman, Jerrold Schecter, said the human-rights questions was not discussed at Wednesday's meeting, but Schecter added that it could come up at later discussions.

In greeting Ceausescu, Carter caused a brief flurry of excitement when, in talking about Sadat's Israel visit, he described Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. The United States does not regard the city as having that status.

The White House later rushed out a statement acknowledging that the president had made a slip of the tongue. It carefully reiterated the long-standing U.S. position that Jerusalem's status should be decided in a peace settlement between Israel and the Arab countries.

"Free enterprise is in danger of being the 'greatest story never told.' " Nineteenth Congressional District candidate Jim Reese told members of the Midland Downtown Lions Club Tuesday.

He said "unproductive" members of society, his term for government workers and Social Security and welfare recipients, outnumber "productive" persons by 10 million.

The former Odessa mayor claimed that America has been the only place in the world where the individual has been allowed to keep what he earned.

Between 1830 and 1930, only 12 percent of the Gross National Product was attributed to government spending, he said.

The government now accounts for 40 percent of the GNP, Reese said, adding that even without additional legislation it would account for 50 percent of the GNP by 1985.

"We don't have a shortage of energy, we have a surplus of government," Reese told the Lions.

BIG LAKE - June Brooks of Ardmore, Okla., widely-known as "a one woman - free enterprise system," will be the speaker tonight at the annual ladies-night banquet of the Reagan County Lions Club.

The function is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Ms. Brooks, who heads the June Brooks Oil & Gas Co., has been in the oil business more than 35 years. She was the first woman trained by Magnolia Petroleum Co. to be a landman. She is a director of the Independent Petroleum Association of America and is active in the American Petroleum Institute. She is nationally-known "spokes-mam" for the independent segment of the oil industry. Her speeches have gained her the title of "The Mad Mam from Ard-

Shevchenko, the Russian maverick at the United Nations, is reported demanding money and U.S. protection before he will resign and relieve Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim of a difficult choice between firing him and facing Soviet wrath.

U.N. spokesman Francois Giuliani said the top Soviet U.N. employee wanted "a mixed bag of money and personal security" to resign from his $76,000-a-year job.

When he resigns, Waldheim told reporters in Vienna, "this will become an affair between the Soviet and U.S. governments.'

Some diplomats expressed concern that the affair would foul the atmosphere for Secretary of State

Alleged Nazi object of scorn

CHICAGO (AP) - Even if he wins, even if a judge finds that Frank Walus did not lie to immigration authorities about an alleged past as a Nazi terrorist, the victory may be empty. Walus has already lost a great deal.

His teen-age son, who wants to attend West Point, threatens to leave home. His lawyer is pressing for payment of $60,000 in legal fees.

Strangers scrawl swastikas on his home. Some of his neighbors shout epithets at him. Others testify against

"I have lots of phone calls threaten meeting to open at 10 me and also my tenants," said Walus a.m. in an interview in his neat living room. He rents out the second floor of his modest two-flat building. "They say they will blow up my house. They put lots of swastika on the sidewalk and throw eggs at my house."

Walus, 55, a small man who speaks with a heavy Polish accent, is accused of lying to immigration officials and covering his alleged Nazi background to become a citizen

Eleven witnesses swore in U.S. District Court before Judge Julius Hoffman that they recognized Walus as the Gestapo agent who 35 years ago was seen to murder and beat Jews in the Polish cities of Kielce and Czestochowa. He would have been a teen-ager then.

Walus maintains he has never killed anyone: "I am innocent, clean like a blank sheet of paper.'

Walus first visited the United States in 1959. In 1963 he returned, to reside quietly on Chicago's southwest side until Jan. 26, 1977, when federal officials thrust a civil complaint into his Informed sources said Shevchenko wants the money he has paid toward the U.N. pension for which he is not yet eligible, a lump sum for the two remaining years of his contract and assurances he can remain in the United States.

One Soviet informant predicted he would get more than $100,000.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Tom Reston said Shevchenko "is free to stay here, return to the U.S.S.R., or go to another country as far as we are concerned."

The 47-year-old / Ukrainian was scheduled to return to Moscow on leave this week but instead left his job as undersecretary-general for political and Security Council affairs April 5 because of "differences with his government," a spokesman for Waldheim announced Monday. He Shevchenko's American lawyer. Ernest Gross, says the missing man is in seclusion near New York but is not a defector. Gross said Shevchenko intends to remain a Soviet citizen.

The Soviet government accused the U.S. government of a "detestable frameup" and a "premeditated provocation" and charged that U.S. intelligence services were holding Shevchenko under duress. The State Department denied the charges.

Although Shevchenko's post is reserved for a Soviet citizen nominated by the Soviet government, Gross contended that the U.N. Charter prohibits Waldheim from firing him at the demand of the Russians. But a well-placed source said the Soviet mission asked Waldheim to get Shevchenko's resignation, and the secretary-general told Soviet Ambassador Oleg A. Troyanovsky he would do his best to get it.

Powerful 'sermons'

Three distinguished persons each from entirely different backgrounds and careers but all loyal, concerned Americans spoke out forcefully for America and its free enterprise system in talks delivered here within the last week or 10 days. This is a most encouraging sign, reflecting as it does a nationwide trend which seemingly is gaining momentum. And what better time for such a groundswell than in an election year. Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson (Ret.) of San Antonio, and a Midland resident back in the 1930's, was one of the speakers who spoke out in a firm, patriotic tone in brief remarks made at a luncheon given in his honor by Walter H. Walne Jr. of Midland, the general's aide during World War II years. The occasion marked the general's 83rd birth-

"We've got a great country," Gen. Johnson said. "We don't know how great it really is until we've seen other countries. "We've got to keep it a'going and a'rolling." He credited the free enterprise system with being one of the things which make this nation

"We did our job (in the war). We did it with our heads up," he

Another speaker, a noted entertainer who performed at a High Sky Girls Ranch benefit here last week, concluded his routine in a serious vein.

Justin Wilson urged his listeners to love their country. "The United States is your country," he said. "Sometimes it's not worth a damn, but I won't stop loving it."

He then spole out for free enterprise, saying "The free enterprise system is rapidly going by the wayside because of overregulation up there in Washington, D.C."

He explained that bureaucracy is the No. 1 saboteur of free enterprise. He said that this faceless, burgeoning bureaucracy is, after the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, becoming the nation's unofficial "fourth branch" of government.

"We must stop this trend of fading free enterprise," he declared.

The third speaker was Wallace A. Moritz of San Angelo, president of the Texas Association of Realtors, who addressed a dinnermeeting given in his honor by the Midland Board of Realtors, in cooperation with Boards of Realtors of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder. Moritz declared himself for the free enterprise system in words loud and clear. He urged that others stand firm in their support of the system which has made this nation great.

In urging his audience to be alert to legislative matters and to become more involved in governmental affairs from local to national levels, the veteran West Texas Realtor said, "Our business, like most others, is threatened by too much government involvement." "It behooves us, then, to become involved in politics." he continued. "I know many of you have been cautioned in the past that you must do this but we have procrastinated. I say to you, it's later than you think. You can no longer leave it up to George. because George has sent a message that he is tired of doint it

"This is your country and your government. It's time to elect good, conservative candidates who share your philosophy and our philosophy Remember, this is an election year."

Congressman McCloskey blows the whistle on Israel

WASHINGTON - Rep. Paul "Pete" McCloskey (R-Calif.) is urging his colleagues to vote a cut-off of military and economic aid to Israel if Israel is guilty of any further misuse of cluster bombs (CBUs) as is apparently the case in Lebanon, where civilian areas were hit by the devastating device.

It takes courage for a congressman to suggest that Israel is capable of making mistakes. McCloskey recentiy went through the tedious process of twisting the Carter Administration's arm to get it to admit that Israel did indeed violate its arms purchase agreement by using CBUs in

The cluster bomb is a hideous device which creates a blizzard of steel fragments over areas as large as 25 acres, causing any humans around to be killed or mained. The U.S. sold them to Israel with 'he strict stipula-tion that they were to be used for defensive purposes and only on mlitary targets. Israel originally said it needed CBUs to attack SAM antiaircraft missile crews.

McCloskey is against CBUs, period When it was reported in the American press that Israel had used them on civilian areas, he got sore, and phon-ed the Defense and State departments who replied that they had no such nowledge. So on March 22, McCloskey had a letter hand-delivered to President Carter, protesting the "reported" use of the CBUs and urging him to "terminate the sale or transfer" of them to Israel. McCloskey described the horrible injuries Laotian villagers had suffered from CBU bombing in the Vietnam war.

McCloskey asked President Carter to convey this message and articles describing the horror of CBU bombing to Israeli Prime Minister Begin who was then meeting with Carter. Israel Defense Minister Exer Weiz-man once described CBUs as "marvelous to use on personnel."

When a McCloskey staffer asked the Israeli embassy about the Israeli CBU action in Lebanon, he was told "to take the report with a grain of salt." (Israel eventually admitted using CBUs in Lebanon. U.S. correspondents report that many U.S. manufactured CBU canisters and parts have been found in civilian areas there.)

Meanwhile, with no response from the White House, McCloskey kept dog-ging State, Defense, and the CIA for confirmation or denial. Finally, on April 8, State confirmed that Israel had apparently broken its contract on CBUs, by using them in Lebanon.

So McCloskey wrote Carter again. stating that "whatever the provocation" for Israel actions, "the use of U.S.-supplied CBU cluster bombs against civilian areas in Lebanon was h an outrageous decision by an allied government that the U.S. should make it clear in the most direct form possible that we will cut off military assistance to any nation which uses CBUs against civilian targets."

Carter ordered his Cabinet

From time to time, we have private conversations in this space.

He repeated his request for Carter to let Mr. Begin know how horrible CBUs are, and to act to prevent Israel from using CBU again or transferring them to other nations. Finally, he asked: "Does the U.S. still deliver or offer to deliver CBUs to Israel?"

McCloskey referred to press reports that Ethiopian aircraft used CBUs to terrorize civilians in Eritrea. and that Israel was providing CBUs to Ethiopia. If Israel transferred the U.S.-supplied CBUs to Ethiopia, Israel is in gross violation of its arms contract with the U.S.

Now, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, in an April 5 reply to Reps. Charles Whalen (R-Ohio) and Paul Findley (R-Ill.), reported that Israel may have violated its arms agreement through its military operations in Lebanon. But Whalen and Findley were concerned about the overkill aspect, not specifically CBUs.

Why does McCloskey push so hard against cluster bombs? "In 1971 I went to the Plain of Jars in Laos and learned of the carnage from CBUs," McCloskey says. "I also learned that 1,277 of the 2,500 men in my old regiment (Fifth Marines) suffered wounds from booby traps set in Vietnam by old people and children who had survived saturation bombing by the U.S. Civilians develop deep hatred for anyone conducting heavy bombing or using CBUs. He was twice-wounded in Korea where, as a Marine infantry officer. he led assaults on Chinese positions. Fifty-eight of his GI men were killed or wounded. "I once monitored an air strike with napalm on a village." he said, "and when we got in there, we learned that the Chinese had forced 80 old people and children to remain in the houses. Farmers heading home after defeat of farm bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Protesting farmers who massed thousands strong outside the White House to decry House rejection of an emergency farmaid bill say they're heading home to work for the defeat heading home to work for the defeat of their enemies on Capitol Hill.

The farmers — brought here by the American Agriculture movement — had jammed the House gallery for Wednesday's 268-150 vote defeating the farm bill.

They had lined the White House fence - 3,500 of them - telling Jimmy Carter through a bullhorn directed at the Executive Mansion that they wanted to talk to him.

Now they are leaving the city they've lobbied so heavily for almost four months, determined, says one, to "cook" the 193 Democrats who voted against the bill.

"In two years' time, the American people will regret this day ever happened." Bobby Jackson of Levelland, Texas, said outside the White House

"It will be amazing what this will do for the Democrats in the next election. This'll cook 'em," he said. "Come on out, Jimmy, we want to talk to you." yelled fellow Georgian Oliver Odom, pressing his bullhorn against the White House fence.

Carter, who was inside entertaining visiting Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu at a state dinner, said later he had not been aware of the protest.

Carter had repeatedly threatened to veto the bill if it had reached his desk. He said it would have sent the country's inflation rate skyrocketing while raising farmers' feed grain

He said the defeat of the bill, which had narrowly passed the Senate earlier this week, was "good for the farmers of the United States and very good for consumers."

The dissident farmers didn't agree.

"This is going to cause a lot of bankruptcies this year in rural America." said Texan Gerald Mc-Cathern.

While the Democratic chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. Rep. Thomas S. Foley of Washington. said he doubted Carter's veto threat was the key to defeat of the bill, the measure's Republican authors charged that the president's "heavy-handed pressure" and "scare tactics" had been responsible.

Opponents said enactment would have added between 58 cents and $2.14 to what a three-person urban family spends on food a week.

The concept is that lighting is an important element in the design and furnishing of any room and that it should be up to the people who live in the house to decide where the lights should be. Generally, when an existing house has electrical fixtures in the ceilings of all the rooms, it was built a long time ago. In recent years, most ceiling fixtures have disappeared except in the klichen and bathroom. with occasional other exceptions in

To most persons, lighting has been an afterthought when furnishing a home. First, people choose carpeting, a sofa, then some chairs and end tables, then the rest of the furniture. Standing lamps, table lamps and desk lamps are selected from a variety of standard, existing pieces. Fairly recently, lighting has come into its own as an integral part of the furnishing process.

"The reason for this," says Dan Thomson, president of Halo Lighting. "is that homeowners now have available, in miniature, the kind of directional lighting that once came only in sizes and shapes designed for large commercial showrooms. galleries and museums. The miniaturization of lampholders entered a new phase with the introduction of a series proportioned and styled with an exciting European flair rather than the traditional

Residential track lighting, easy to install by the do-it-yourselfer, makes it possible to illuminate those areas in the house which are the last to see the light and to dramatize a room by focusing on such objects as a hanging plant, a collection or a painting. In residential track lighting, the track itself contains two thin copper wires, making it a continuous linear power source. You can move the lampholder anywhere along the track and twist it to point in the desired direction. No separate electric wiring is necessary because the electrical connection is made automatically as the lampholder is snapped on to the track. You can change the direction of the light at will as easily as moving a clothespin along a clothesline. A twist of the wrist unlocks the lampholder from the track; another twist reat-

In addition to its versatility, the use of the track can add to the living space of a room because it doesn't take up any floor or table space.

Angry posters say Peking mayor allied with 'Gang'

By LINDA MATHEWS

HONG KONG — Wall posters in Peking have accused the city's mayor, Wu Teh. of allying himself with the purged "Gang of Four" to put down a demonstration that resulted in the deaths of several protesters and the sacking of a political rival, Teng Hsiao-ping.

A cartoon depicting the mayor as a marionette, swinging first to the left and then to the right, was posted over the weekend in Peking's Tien An Men Square, the scene of the demon-strations that Wu helped quell in April 1976. According to eyewitness accounts from Peking, thousands of Chinese who have filed past the poster have laughed openly at the caricature of Wu, the latest in a series of attacks

Wu, once considered close to Chiang Ching and the rest of the radical "Gang of Four," has been subjected to intermittent criticism ever since the radicals were ousted from the Politburo 18 months ago. But the latest attack, reminiscent of the poster campaign against the gang, is by far the most savage.

The cartoon strip, for example, included a pun on the mayor's name. It showed Chinese characters that have the same sound as Wu Teh but mean "without decency." And in another obvious reference to Wu's hasty shift to the moderate faction after the purge of te radicals, the cartoon said, "Swing to the left, then swing to the right. When will he fall?"

Posters blaming Wu for the bloodshed during the Tien An Men riots have also been unfurled along bustling Changan Boulevard, a main shopping thoroughfare. At the bottom of one poster, a passerby, an evident agreement with the sign's message, has scrawled. "Wu owes the people a debt. Sooner or later, it will be set-

Despite the periodic public attacks on him, the 64-year-old Wu has managed to retain both his government post and his membership in the Politburo, the ruling organ of the Communist Party. But Communist sources here who attended last month's session of the National People's Congress in the Chinese capital say the Politburo may transfer Wu to a job in the provinces until passions in Peking cool.

One poster has indicated that only the removal of Wu will satisfy the current protesters. "You had better roll up your bedroll and move on," it said, apparently addressing the Wu may have escaped punishment so far because his role in the demonstrations, the most violent in recent Chinese history, has never been clear. What actually happened in Tien An Men Square on April 5. 1976, when an impromptu memorial service for Premier Chou En-lai deteriorated into a brawl, has been obscured by official propagandists. Their accounts of the incident have been written, and rewritten, as the political winds have shifted.

What seems reasonably clear is that 100,000 persons, by official count, filled the square to join or watch an unprecidented public protest against official neglect of the memory of Chou En-lai. Mayor Wu appealed to the demonstrators to disperse, and when they refused, police and soldiers were ordered in to break up the crowd.

By the end of the day, dozens of policemen and demonstrators were badly bloodied, several vehicles had been burned, one building had been looted, and thousands of people had been arrested. Some participants also claimed there had been some fatalities, as did some foreign observers in the square.

According to an official Chinese transcript of Wu's speech, he warned the demonstrators that they were being duped into committing "counter-revolutionary sabotage" by "bad elements." particularly that 'unrepentant capitalist-roader, Teng Hsiago-ping." That was the first open denunciation of Teng, who was drummed out of the Politburo the same week and restored to power only last July.

What is troubling, however, is that foreign correspondents present in the square say Wu never mentioned Teng by name or blamed the riot on him. If their accounts are true, then the transcript of Wu's speech must have been doctored to fit with the campaign that the radicals launched against Teng.

The Washington Post

JOHANNESBURG - South Africa's efforts to eliminate racial discrimination are hedged with so many its, ands or buts that it is often hard to assess how much things have really changed.

Some recent examples: -Sports Minister Piet Koornhof declares there are no obstacles to racially mixed sporting events. A few days later, 300 white university students are refused permission to attend the first multiracial soccer game in the black residential area of Soweto. The explanation: there are no bathrooms for whites at the stadium.

-Blacks and persons of mixed race are admitted to the University of Stellenbosch, the alma mater of the last four prime ministers. They are not allowed, however to live with the other students. They must board with people of their own color off campus.

-The government announces that all theaters can open to all races. Each theater, however, must apply for a permit to have mixed audiences.

South Africans from mine workers to university rectors will tell you there is a mood for change in thiscountry, but the government is not harnessing this mood. Instead, it appears to drift, causing confusion about where it is going and allowing its ministers' directives to be sabotaged by lower-level bureaucrats. The reasons for this state of affairs tell much about the government here and its style of rule.

Prime minister John Vorster is haunted by the fact that he was the only National Party leader to preside over a split in the party since it came to power in 1948 and the only one to lose seats to an opposition party (in the 1970 election).

The party now bulges with its largest parliament majority in history, 133 seats out of 165, and includes men with varying opinions on how fast South Africa should move to eliminate racial discrimination Vorster consequently sees his role as the congealer, not the initiator. He dare not become controversial lest he preside over anothr split. Direction of change, therefore, is left to individual

"Vorster is not a great man because he has no vision," said one disgrun-tled Afrikaner. "If he would only come and say, This is what we are going to do in the next five years,' and then start to do it ... Instead he rules ad hoc, always leaving the impression of giving into pressure. Another inhibitor of change is the bureaucracy. Nigel Mandy, head of the modern Carlton office and shopping complex said: "I spent more time trying to get one multiracial toilet at the top of my building than the government spent on its public relations after the (Steve) Biko affair," he said, recalling his months of negotiating

A third point is that the ruling party's greatest asset, conservative rural support, becomes its greatest handicap when it wants to eliminate racial discrimination. Rural districts have greater/weight in the electoral process than urban areas. These conservative voters, who put the National Party into power, now hinder it fom moving forward speedily with changes.

There is also the government's attitude. "Government spokesmen rarely use the word 'change." That would be admitting they had been wrong." an observer said. "They speak in their own code, usually announcing an 'adaptation' policy."

Texas wheat harvest to decline sharply

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas wheat production this year will drop 37 percent, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said Wednesday.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service's first spring report forecast 73.5 million bushels for the summer harvest. based on surveys from sample field plots in growing areas.

"We have no way to determine from the survey the exact reasons for the cutback," Brown said, "but the combination of low prices, 138 million bushels in carryover stocks and organized efforts to cut back production, plus drought conditions on the Plains were factors."

Brown said the 73.5 million crop forecast was in sharp contrast to the 117 million average between 1975-77 "when our farmers were encouraged to plant fence-row to fence-row without adequate markets for their crop.

He said the 5.7 million acres seeded this year was 600,000 fewer acres than last year.

Low moisture during the growing season on dryland wheat in the Plains has already wiped out some production.

Irrigated fields are in good to excellent condition now.

Soviet defectors slows

By BILL DRUMMOND The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Americans dissent frequently and vocally, and some have even renounced their U.S. citizenship for political reasons. But defection by a U.S. official to a Communist country is rare indeed.

In the last 18 years, the most notable defection by official U.S. personnel involved a pair of low-level workers at the National Security Agency at Fort Meade, Md., who flew to Cuba June 24, 1960.

And while the pair, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin, worked at the code-breaking federal agency. they reportedly had no access to classified information about any

Riots indirectly help non-whites gain news posts

The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — While city after city exploded into riots in the mid-1960s, George Lane was hauling a mailbag in Denver, Colo. On weekends, Lane, then 27, worked as a copyboy at the Denver Post but he didn't think he could be a reporter.

The newsroom, he said, was all white. In 1968, there were fewer than 100 nonwhite journalists among 38,000 professionals; today, there are 1,700 nonwhites among 43,000.

But three things happened in quick succession to change Lane's mind and to alter the status of minorities in the news business. As the cities burned, some black janitors, switchboard operators and copyboys were upgraded, many only momentarily, to reporters. Then in 1968 the Kerner Commission, in its study of the causes of the riots, implicated the insensitivity and minority employment practices of daily newspapers. It called the employment record shockingly backward."

Reacting to all these pressures, a summer program to train and place nonwhites in the communications industry was started at Columbia University. George Lane was a member of that first summer session in 1969 and returned to the Denver Post as a full-fledged reporter.

"It took a bunch of brothers burning Watts and Detroit for an assistant managing editor to say 'Why don't you quit the post office?' And I was reluctant because the post office was security," Lane recalled last week. He was one of 100 alumni of the summer program, now run by the Institute for Journalism Education (IJE) at the University of California at Berkeley, who attended a conference here on minorities and the

"But over half of the (1,750) daily newspapers employ no minorities in reporting or editing capacities. The industry is still segregated."

Sitting in the hallway of the Capital Hilton Hotel, the headquarters for he two-day conference, George Lane laughed uneasily. "We now have four black reporters and a Chicano reporter who covers sports. But the changes are slow. They try to cover minorities more objectively but it's not a mecca yet," said Lane. George Lane has experienced many of the trends and attitudes that have been common to the black journalistic experience in the last 10 years: the period of being the Arthur Ashe of the

"Now the sensitivity comes from a respect for me, the individual, and the changes in editors, many are younger. But the only time the story is suggested by them is when it's riot potential, a crowd in the shopping

Many of the summer program alumni were sales clerks, librarians, unemployed, census takers or students before trying journalism. Lance warns editors censorship possible

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Bert Lance. portraying himself as a victim of a "prosecutorial press," warned the nation's editors Wednesday that the press may face government cen-sorship unless it improves its stan-sorship unless it improves its standards of reporting.

Lance, who resigned as budget director eight months ago as a result of questions about his past financial activities and who is being investigated by several federal agencies, also defended his continuing close relationship with President Carter. He said he still periodically advises the president.

advises the president.

His warning to the press came at the conclusion of a speech at the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

"In the absence of self-discipline and internal reform," he said, "other groups may find it necessary to step in and subject the press to the same rigorous standards of ethics and truthfulness that the press applies to the rest of us. the rest of us.

"That threat is called censorship," he continued, "and I may be mistaken, but I think it is a con-mistaken, but I think it is a conceivable outcome of what appears to be a headstrong refusal to get your own house in order."

The Lance-Carter relationship also was defended at the ASNE convention by White House Press Secretary Jody Powell and political aide Hamilton Jordan, two other Georgians who are close to both Carter and Lance. They discounted as irrelevant any political liscounted as irrelevant any political amage the relationship may cause Carter.

Still another Georgian in the Carter Administration. Attorney General Griffin B. Bell, told the Los Angeles Times Wednesday that he will give Carter a status report on the Justice Department's investigation into Lance's banking and financial practices by Monday. Earlier, Bell had said, "if people will be patient, the Lance thing will be brought to a head."

head."

Republicans have publicly questioned whether Carter's continuing embrace of Lance might adversely affect the outcome of the Lance investiations, which include a grand jury probe in Atlanta.

Some White House aides have expressed concern to The Times that continuation of the relationship, while Lance remains politically active and under investigation, may cause serious political damage to Carter.

At a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing, Sen. Charles McC Mathias Jr., R-Md., questioned Bell about a Jan. 20 Democratic party fundraising dinner in Atlanta where Carter said lnace had "come out of Washington a hero" and was the only member of the Carter administration "who has been a complete success so Mathias questioned whether such statement might affect the actions of grand jurors in the investigation. Bell agreed that they might and predicted that after he gives Carter a status report on the investigation, the president will stop making public comments about Lance.

Lance told the editors he realized that many of them had negative impressions of him. "If I were to describe them." he said, "they would probably go something like this:

'He's a shady character. "He has a tendency to cut corners.
"He exploited his public office.
"He exploited his relationship with the president." Lance denied that any of the impressions were correct, but said they were projected by enough newspaper "to create a pervasive impression that I'm a shady operator who's been caught with his hand in more than one

Although Lance said he could spend many hours citing examples of "careless, erroneous or biased reporting," he questioned no specific cases of reporting that preceded his resignation under fire.

Actually, he cited only several reports, including a March 9 Washington Post story which reported that a bank holding company was seeking a contempt citation against him for failing to answer questions about his role in an alleged attempt to take over the company. Lance faulted the Post for failing to report that a federal court denied the request for the contempt citation

Theft under investigation

Midland County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft of $1,500 in cash from inside a locked car parked on the county employee's parking lot at the intersection of Illinois Avenue and Baird Street.

The money was taken before noon Wednesday from a money pouch resting on the car's dashboard. The pouch contained thirteen $100 bills, and ten $20 bills, a Sheriff's department spokesman said.

Thieves entered the car by using a bent piece of wire to open the locked door, deputies said.

The money belonged to a secretarial employee of the Sheriff's department, officials said.

Man with microphone talks women out of their brand

By ERMA BOMBECK

There is no conversation in this world as absolute. .as unquestioning. . .as joyous as that of the women on candid television commercials.

WAYNE ULRICH, administrator of

Within seconds after being confronted by a pitchman with a microphone in his hand, they drop a product they've been using for 35 years like a bad habit and become instant disciples of a new detergent, a pain remedy, or a bucket of chicken.

I watched a supermarket interview with a woman the other night who, when asked which her husband would prefer with his chicken - potatoes or stuffing

- replied confidently, "Potatoes, of course." When they got that turkey on the phone, he said,

I'd give him stuffing - right up his nose. That or woman had probably asked him for years what he wanted for dinner and he said, "I don't care."

When the narrator asked her what she was going to do, in true television tradition, she smiled and asnwered brightly, "I'm going to serve stuffing from now on." (I hope he breaks out in a bread rash.)

I've been keeping house now for 28 years and I have yet to work up to the pitch of the woman the other night who came out and exclaimed, "Joyce! Your bathroom! What have you done? It smells so clean!" She had a look on her face like she had just witnessed God.

Joyce said, "It's my new bathroom tub and tile cleaner - gets away germs and odors fast!" But her guest didn't hear her. She was climbing into her coat and running out into the darkness to buy a bottle.

I'm suspicious. Any seven-year-old boy left in that bathroom for 37 seconds could turn that place into a

Made Me Go to Pat Walker's

I had been overweight all my life. When I graduated from high school, I weighed 185 pounds. By Christmas, 1976 I had reached 202, later in January, 1977, my Mother showed me some family pictures taken at our reunion. I had not seen them before. My Aunt had taken one of me from the back view and it was horrible. I had never seen that angle of my body before and I was so shocked to see the big rolls of fat I cried. I decided that I would do anything to lose this weight — anything. My husband had been trying to get me to seek professional assistance for years but I didn't want anybody to see me bending over, etc., not even my husband. Then I heard about Pat Walker's. My figure analysis and courtesy treatment was a pleasant surprise. The treatments were private and were natural and gentle. They couldn't possibly hurt my bad back.

The thing that impressed me most about Pat Walker's is that they don't just help you lose weight, they counsel you in good nutritional eating habits so that you can keep it off when you have completed the program. It is a total figure correction program. They care about you. Pat Walker's has been the answer to my prayers.

I have felt good the whole time I have been losing the weight. I have never felt tired or starving. Everyone has commented that my skin hasn't sagged as most people's do when they lose a lot of weight. When I started with Pat Walker's I was wearing size 20's and they were skin tight. Now I am down to size 6's and I don't think I have to tell you how happy I am with my new figure. Just look at my after picture and you can see that I can wear party clothes, casual clothes or anything I want to now and feel good about myself.

> Thank you, Pat Walker's for giving me back my figure and my pride.

Just to hear him speak it to know that Spire Malas has a rich, deep singing voice.

Just to hear him tell of his heritage is to know that he is a coinnoisseur of food, with great partiality to the food of his Greek ancestors.

Malas, a bass-baritone, has starred on the opera stage and on television with Joan Sutherland and Beverly Sills. He has made recordings with both. He was born in Baltimore, to parents who were born in a village "two hours by mule from Sparta."

His father came to this country as a stowaway, he said. "He began selling peanuts from pushcarts, then hot dogs, then had a little food shop, then a bigger one, and at last he bought a restaurant and kept its name. That's why you'll find the best Greek food in

Canal treaty outcome uncertain

By RUDY ABRAMSON The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Leaders of both parties predicted Wednesday that the Panama Canal treaties will win final Senate approval next week, but a key aide in the pro-treaty ranks said, "right now the situation is still hairy

Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., who threw the debate into an uproar in recent days, told the Los Angeles Times Wednesday he would not be part of any effort to clarify the reservation he sponsored to the first treaty.

Senate Majority Whip Alan Cranston D-Calif., also said ranks of supporters were firm. "We have not yet lost a vote and I hope we will not lose any," Cranston said.

But Democratic Leader Robert F. Byrd, D-W. Va., and Republican Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., predicted the second pact would be approved by the same votes the first, is to 32 - or one vote more than the two-thirds needed on a treaty.

Others, however, like the pro-treaty aide were not so sure. As a result, almost a month after the razor-thin approval of the first treaty, enough senators were still wavering on the second pact to make the outcome uncertain. The DeConcini reservation declared that this country would have a right to use troops to keep the Panama Canal open after the year 2000. It infuriated Panamanian political leaders and raised the possibility that the treaties would be rejected in Panama, even if finally approved by the Senate.

Undersecretry of State Warren
Christopher discussed the situation with DeConcini for an hour Wednesday morning, but an expected meeting between the freshman senator and President Carter was postponed.

DeConcini and Christopher refused to discuss their meeting.

Earlier in the day, however, the senator told the Times he was being asked by the State Department to agree to some kind of additional documents of ratification which would soften the impact of his reservation.

"I am willing to make a speech clarifying my intention." he said, "to make it very clear that it was never my intent to interfere in Panama's legal affairs."

'But I can't be party to any effort to make it part of the treaty or protocol or whatever. And that is what I am being asked to do." A close associate of DeConcini's, asking not to be identified, said he was convinced DeConcini would vote against the second treaty if anything is put into the ratification documents to soften the impact of his first reser-DeConcini plans to introduce a similar reservation to the second treaty, which deals with the period up to the year 2000. His reservation would declare that the United States has the right to use troops to keep the waterway open during the period of joint U.S.-Panama operation between now and 2000.

With th approval of the Panamanian govenment, Democratic Leader Byrd and Republican Leader Baker successfully sponsored an amendment to the first treaty saying the United States may use troops to en-force neutrality of the canal in the DeConcini's statement of reservation went considerably further, saying U.S. troops could be deployed to open the canal if it was closed for any reason-such as a strike. Both Byrd and Baker said Wednesday they saw no necessity for a statement to soften the impact of the DeConcini reservation.

Some senators feared that an additional statement stressing U.S. commitment to a policy of noninterference might undermine the Byrd-Baker amendment at the same time it made the DeConcini reservation less offensive to Panama.

"Things are still very sensitive and uncertain," Baker acknowledged to reporters. But he added: "If we don't get another shell through the hull, the boat won't sink."

Besides DeConcini, Senate sources said those regarded as uncertain on the second treaty include Sen. Paul G. Hatfield, D-Mont., Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., and Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev. All voted for the first

Meanwhile, Sen. Floyd K. Haskell, D-Colo., who vote for the first treaty. created some confusion early Wednesday when he raised the possibility that he might switch to the opposition in the second pact. Haskell charged that he had been misled by

White House assurances that the DeConcini reservation to the first treaty would create no problem in Panama.

The senator asked President Carter to spell out the administration's interpretation of the controversial DeConcini reservation.

the Colorado senator still leaned in favor of ratification, adding that chances were he would vote that way But both treaty supporters and opponents agreed that the outcome probably will boil down to DeConcini.

Later, however, a Haskell aide said

The Arizona senator told reporters his position could be changed only by overwhelming evidence from president Carter that he is wrong.

While the maneuvering went on to line up the 67 voters, the Senate continued to reject one effort after another to attach minor amendments to the second treaty.

Company nurses help alcoholics

NEW YORK (AP) — "Confidentiality is a major reason employees with a drinking problem can and do feel comfortable discussing that problem with the company nurse," Dorothy M. Saller, executive director of the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses, says.

"Today, with five million employees suffering alcoholism at an annual cost of at least $15 billion, industry is increasingly active in encouraging employees to seek help with the problem; and the nurse in the medical department is the logical source." she The long-established tradition of "in complete confidence" that exists in the nurse-client relationship eases the fear many employees have of losing jobs and being embarrassed if their problem becomes widely known, the executive director said. 'What's more," she added, "occupational health nurses not only respect employee trust, but they are also in a strategic position to offer day-to-day support and counsel — right on the job."

Midland High School Youth Center chatter

By DINAH BOYD, SHERI BAILEY,

It won't be long until we can count

It won't be long until we can count on our fingers the number of school days left. The Seniors were delighted to receive their caps and gowns Wednesday. They will get their graduation announcements Friday.

While the Seniors are preparing for graduation, the Juniors frantically are awaiting the results of the election for 1978-1979 Student Council president and vice president. Many students participated in this election and we want to wish them all the best of luck:

Next Thursday morning, the Senior class will hold its annual breakfast. The place is the Midland College Gymnasium and the time is 7 a.m. Tickets for the breakfast will be on sale next week. The infamous Dubious Awards will be announced. so if you are a Senior, mark this date on your calendar and don't miss out on the fun!!

The Junior Lion for this week is Joe Mowles. Congratulations, Joe! The Junior class officers remind everyone that the Junior-Senior prom is May 6. X-caliber will provide the music. The time is 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the Youth Center. Keep this date in mind !!!

The Wide World of SPORTS at MHS brings you the most exciting weekend of your life. If you enjoy tennis, golf, track or baseball, you are welcome to watch the MHS athletes perform this watch the MHS athletes perform this weekend district competition.

The state champion tennis team will perform at 9 a.m. at the Lee High courts this Friday and Saturday. They have already proven who is the best team in the State, so this weekend they will prove which school has the best individual players. GO GET 'EM!!!!!

The sirl's golf team will participate

The girl's golf team will participate in its last district tournament today at Hogan Park. The team played very well last weekend in San Angelo and we wish the players the best of luck today! WIN, WIN, WIN!!!!

The boy's golf-team also will play its final match of district Friday at San Angelo. Friday's match will determine which teams go to Regional. GOOD LUCK, BOYS!!!

The track team will perform at the Midland Stadium Friday. We have a very good team this year, so everyone go to the Stadium and support the team. GO GO GO!!!

The baseball team defeated the Abilene Cougars 3-2 last Saturday. Although the Rebeis defeated the Bulldogs Tuesday, they will take revenge on the Permian Panthers this Saturday at 2 p.m. at Odessa. GOOD

That's life. Dinah, Kim. Sherry

P.S. We are glad that Tom Hunter and Tim Baird are back in school, after being sick for 3 weeks.

Carter due invitation

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) - President Carter should receive an oversized invitation this week from a pint-sized group of Americans trying to persuade him to schedule a specialized news conference. Nearly every contributor asks about Carter's daughter, Amy, and suggests he bring her with him to this community of 7,500. The invitation is actually 400 individual letters written by fifth-and sixth-graders. They want Carter to hold a news conference just for them.

The letters are held together by 180 yards of masking tape to form a spread 14 feet by 17 feet.

Like many of the students, fifthgrader Cameron Stewart was direct in his attempt to coax the president. "I am a Baptist and a Democrat and I'd like to meet you." his letter

A message for teen-agers who have nothing to do

The following words were delivered

The following words were delivered by a juvenile court judge, one who speaks to young people every day:

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager, "What can we do?"

"Where can we go?" The answer is clear: Go Home! Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the minister, priest or rabbi. Help the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons, and when you're through, and not too tired, read a book.

In regard to the above, if you wish to get out of the house, then go somewhere that is safe, fun and enjoyable. Do not go out and get involved in things that are illegal, disruptive to others, destructive to other's pro-perty or one's self. The Midland-Lee Youth Centers are available to all high school students and are two of the best places in the city for teenagers to go and have a good clean time. I for one cannot understand the need to be out driving up and down the streets burning gasoline that the world is short on, getting drunk (that is very dangerous plus other things), and upsetting people who are minding their own business when we have the Youth Centers that were good enough for the parents of most of the teen-agers in Midland.

I agree very much with the Judge in the above message. I only wish that

Persistant cough needs attention

ar Dr. Solomon: My husband had Dear Dr. Selemen: My husband had a bad cold about a month ago, and he still has a nasty cough. He's not one to rush off to the doctor, and every time mention that it seems to be hanging on, he just says it will go away and not to worry. But don't you think he really ought to see the doctor?—Nancy R. Dear Nancy: Yes, he should. Any cough that has lasted that long indicates something is wrong. It may not be anything serious—but it should be checked with the doctor in any case. Just as a general rule, one should not let chronic coughs drag on, because prompt treatment can be extremely important.

Dear Dr. Solomon: With all the inms of children, I cannot remember ding about pediatricians in the an-mt world. The ancients had physicians, but did they have pediatricians, or is this branch of medicine relatively recent?—B.L.

Dear B.L.: You are right to notice mention of pediatricians in the anent world. We tend to think we have ways had pediatricians, but actualthe pediatric specialty is little more an 100 years old in our country. Filled with unusual information out how the Jewish people have

It was he who in the 1860s established our country's first medical clinic for children and became the nation's first children and became the nation's first pediatrics professor. The lectures he gave at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York are widely cited as "the starting point of clinical and scientific pediatrics in this country." Owing to Dr. Jacobi's efforts, by 1870 the treatment and feeding of infants were for the first time being approached as a science in this country.

Tall City hosts 5-4A track meet Friday

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Beginning 11:30 a.m. Friday at Memorial Stadium, 28 regional berths in both girls and boys divisions will be up for grabs in the District 5-4A track and field extravaganza.

Only the top two finishers in each race will earn a trip to the Lubbock regionals in two weeks, and if this meet lives up to past 5-4A runs, there should be a lot of surprises when the curtain falls. Field event finals begin at 11:30 a.m. while running preliminaries start at 1:30 p.m. Friday's finals will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the girls 440-yard relay.

San Angelo, Odessa Permian, Abilene Cooper and Midland Lee all appear to have a shot at the team title in what could be the tighest race for team honors in many years. The others have enough strength to keep it

WHEN ALL is said and done, however, it will be the ones earning regional berths that count. The top two finishers in the region meet will earn a trip to the state meet, which will be held in Austin one month from Friday night's run.

If the meet ran according to times posted this season, which it never does, it would appear that Lee would have an outside shot at gaining two relays and four individuals for the regionals. Midland High, on the other hand, could possibly qualify one relay and five individuals. This would appear to be the very best both squads could muster, but there are some boder line cases involved. Still, the chance is there.

Lee's best chances come in the two relays, 440-yard dash and shot put. There is an outside chance in the 880 if things fall just right.

MIDLAND HIGH'S best hopes lie in the 100, 220, 880 and mile runs. There is an outside chance at qualifying a 440 relay team and both 100 berths.

The Pack's Alvin Price owns the best times in both the 100 and 220 this year with 9.4 and 21.5 times, but there is a bundle of talent in both races. Cooper's Charles Rainey owns a 9.5 in the 100 while Creighton Blahak of Cooper, Huff of Big Spring and Danny King of Permian all own 9.7. Jerry Bundage of Midland High has a 9.8 while Doug Guthrie and Dwight Washington of Lee both own 9.9. Rainey has a 21.7 in the 220 while Blahak, King and Huff in are in the 22.2 range. Abilene's Eddie Guillen's 22.4 was an upset over Price last week

Permian's Danny Abbott, with a 49.7, and Lee's Phil Carleton, 49.8, are the big favorites in the 440 while Paul Pieper of Permian and Lee's Jami Berry own 51.5. Carleton is only a sophomore, but he has been the most steady performer for Lee all year.

THE 880 looks like a two-man run between San Angelo's Ed Bruning, 1:56.4; and Midland High's Chuck Stump, 1:57.0. Stump has never beaten Bruning, the defending 5-4A champion. If either should fail, San Angelo's Frank Rodriquez, 2:00.5 or Lee's Arthur Pertile, 2:01.5 could step in for a regional berth.

Only a week ago, the mile run looked like just another battle between San Angelo's Lon Albert and Midland High's Jeff Adkins. Albert has a 4:24.4 this year while Adkins owns the best mark of 4:23.7. Still. Lee's Steve Hooper pulled a big uspest over both the favorites last week in San Angelo with his best of 4:26.7. Hooper now knows he can win, and that could make a difference.

In the relays, where points are doubled, the Rebels look strong for two regional berths. Big Spring owns a 42.3 in the 440 relay while Cooper and Lee stand at 42.7 and Midland High owns a 43.2.

LEE'S EFFORT in the 440 relay will be handled by Jerry Moore, Berry, Guthrie and Washington. The Pack runners will be Jeff Robnett, Chris Sliger, Bundage and Price.

In the mile relay, San Angelo owns a 3:20.0, posted last week, while Lee has a 3:21.2, also posted last week in a loss to San Angelo. Pertile, Washington, Berry and Carleton have improved almost weekly in this event. and own victories over San Angelo this year. Permian is next with a 3:27.5 and Abilene High and Cooper both own better times than the Jeff McCowan, 55-6 this year, is Lee's major hope in the shot put. Permian's Tommy Sager is the favorite with a 55-8 this year. Lee's Rodney Taylor has a 53-74, and has been on the upswing.

Outside of those events, it looks as if the other 5-4A members will get the lion's share of regional qualifiers, but the competition is stiff in nearly every event, especially the two hurdle

Knicks scorch Cavs, 132-114

By The Associated Press

The home-court advantage doesn't mean a thing if the visiting team is hitting 61 percent of its shots.

That's the formula the New York Knicks used Wednesday night to beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 132-114 at Richfield, Ohio, in the opener of their first-round National Basketball Association playoff series.

"That was a great ball game, one of the best this team has played all season long," said Coach Willis Reed after enjoying his team's explosive offensive display that featured 41 points by center Bob McAdoo and 16 apiece by Earl Monroe and Spencer Haywood.

'When the shots fall," added Reed, "a lot of things work. This is a great shooting ball club and when two or three guys get going ..."

He didn't have to finish the sentence. Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch knew exactly what he was talking

"It was a long night at the OK Corral," he said. "They never did have a cold streak. What's impressive is they got up 12 points and just continued to take it easy and work on offense. If New York plays this well, they'll not only be tough for us, they'll be tough for everybody. That's a tough team to defense."

Two other best-of-three first round playoff series got underway Wednesday, with the Washington Bullets beating the Atlanta Hawks 103-94 and the Seattle SuperSonics defeating the Los Angeles Lakers 102-90. Milwaukee beat Phoenix 111-103 Tuesday night in another playoff

The second game in each series will be played Friday night, with third games, if necessary, on Sunday.

McAdoo scored 15 of his points in a 36-point third quarter as the Knicks took a 99-90 lead into the final period and then drew away. New York's 132 ints were the most scored against Cleveland all year.

"Their execution surprised me," said Cleveland forward Jim Chones. "They let the guys who shoot well do the shooting and let the rest of the guys do the hard work ...They just

Best of all was McAdoo, who was equally effective shooting from the outside or driving to the basket, hitting on 17 of 25 from the field.

"I ran to the open spots and I was just hot," McAdoo explained. "The adrenalin was flowing and they (the Knicks) knew I was hot and were giving me the ball. All you have to do is move and they'll get it to you.'

Forward Campy Russell led Cleveland with 21 points and reserve guard Terry Furlow scored 20.

Bullets 103, Hawks 94 Washington built a 75-57 lead in the third period and hung on to beat Atlanta, getting 14 points from reserve guards Larry Wright and Charles Johnson in the fourth quarter to turn back a Hawks rally.

"They were coming at us pretty good," said Washington Coach Diek Motta, who saw the lead dwindle to six points in the fourth quarter. "With 7 minutes to go we slowed up too much, got a little cautious. It was a natural thing, but we shouldn't have played against the clock so soon."

Told that it had not been a pretty game, Motta said, "I don't think you'll see any Atlanta game that's pretty. If they played in a dark alley, they'd be arrested. It was hardnosed basketball, no place for the timid or weak at heart."

Beb Dandridge led Washington with 20 points despite sitting out the final period because of a recurrance of a pinched nerve in his neck.

Sonies 102, Lakers 90 At Seattle, Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar picked up his fifth personal foul 30 seconds into the fourth quarter and the Sonics ahead 73-68.

He sat out the next five minutes, during which time the Sonics stretched the lead to nine points. The Lakers could come no closer than five after that as Sonics center Marvin ter scored seven of his team's Gus Williams led the Sonics with 23 points and Webster and Fred Brown added 19 points apiece. Abdul-Jabbar topped Los Angles with 26.

5-4A netters invade Midland

By PAUL DOMOWITCH

The District 5-4A tennis tournament opens Friday morning at the Lee High courts, as 96 young men and women go after a dream that few, if any, will

The dream is a state championship, and this two-day affair is the first hurdle standing in the way. The top two finishers in each of the four events will earn berths in the regional tourney up in Lubbock, and from there it's non-stop to Austin.

Play begins at 9 a.m. Friday and will continue until completion of the first two rounds. Semifinal and final round action is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Midland High's Vicki Vasicek, last year's girls singles champion, is the only 1977 district winner back to defend her title. Kirk Farquhar, another Midland netter, who teamed with Jeff Bramlett to win the boys doubles title a year ago, is back also, but he has a new partner this time

The Pack won two of the four crowns up for grabs at the 1977 tourney in Abilene, and they should dwell, if not better, this weekend. They go in as the favorite in three events — girls singles and boys singles and doubles — and a sweep of all four, while not likely, is not out of VASICEK WILL be favored to win her second straight 5-4A girls singles crown, but the young junior is by no means a shoe-in. She made it all the way to the state semifinals a year ago, but she's been up and down ever since.

A case in point is the Abilene Invitational two weeks ago, where she was upset in the finals by Lee's Karen Broe. Broe has been living in the shadows of Vasicek for two years, but the 17-year-old senior has been playing very well on the winter tournament circuit the past few months, and she could very well win it

Not to be taken lightly is Midland High sophomore Mary Morgan, who gave Broe all she could handle in the semifinals of the Tall City Classic last month and plays the kind of game that can give Vasicek fits as well.

Pack Coach Larry Burgin had been debating whether to use Morgan in singles or doubles. Two weeks ago at Abilene, she teamed with Cary Garton in doubles and they made it to the finals before succumbing. But in the end, Burgin decided to play the youngster in singles.

Two other girls who could surprise are Debbie Vaughn of Abilene Cooper and Lee's Sharon Snyder.

MIDLAND'S BRAMLETT will move over to the singles event this year, and the 5-foot-7, 135-pounder will be the boys' favorite. His biggest challenge will probably come from Abilene Cooper's Brent Proctor.

Proctor beat Bramlett when they met in a dual meet in January, but in a return match two weeks ago in the finals at Abilene, Bramlett took him

Bramlett's teammate, Jeff Rea is a solid player, and could muscle into Saturday's finals and earn a trip to Lubbock. Lee's two players in this event will be Ed Barrera and Randy

UP UNTIL last month. Larry Burgin had absolutely no idea who would be his number one boys doubles tandem by the time the district tourney rolled around. Then, he decided to pair Farquhar with Joe Love in the L.D. Bell Tennis Festival early last month

He wasn't sorry. They lost in the finals of that one to the highly-regarded Dallas Highland Park team of Talbot Davis and Chris Doane, but after that they went on a tear, winning it all in the Tall City Classic, Lubbock and Abilene. They are favored to continue their streak this weekend

In the Tall City and Abilene finals, the Midland pair beat Steve Ashley and Mike Madden of Odessa Permian and the two Panthers figure to give them their biggest challenge this weekend again. Other teams capable of the upset are Jeff Boykin and Joe Snailum of Abilene Cooper, Permian's other tandem of Steve Tinsley and Stan Gifford, Midland's number two team of Duncan Kennedy and Craig Aldridge, and Steve Black and Tim Nelson, and Tim Carter and Jon Lanier, Lee's two pairs.

THE ONLY event Midland High is not favored in is girls doubles, and yet, two days ago, it was the event Burgin was most optimistic about. After experimenting with different

SAN ANTONIO - Mickey Hatcher hit a two-run homer and knocked in four runs to lead the San Antonio Dodgers to a 10-0 win over the Midland Cubs here Wednesday night as Dave Stewart combined with Gary Biggerstaff to pitch a five-hitter.

It was the Cubs second straight loss in the season opening Texas League series. The teams meet again at 7:30 p.m. today with Ted Power hurling for the Dodgers while rookie Herman Segelke will go for Midland.

Hatcher's two-run homer came in the second to put the Dodgers ahead 2-0, but for a while it looked like left fielder Eric Grandy had robbed Hatcher with a leap above the fence. Starter Ron Davis for Midland retired the first five batters before walking Mike Sciosia and then Hatcher

In the third, the Dodgers added four more runs as Davis failed to retire a batter. Mark Bradley had a run scoring single and and Hatcher a two-run double. Davis was lifted during the rally for another rookie, Jack Uhey was driven to cover in the seventh by another four-run burst, this time the big blow was a three-run double down the right field line by Marvin Garrison, who won Tuesday's opener with a three-run pinch double. Jeff Albert finished up in runless style, but the damage had been done.

FOR THE Cubs, it was a night of frustration. Although Stewart went seven innings, Midland had runners on base in every inning.

In the first inning, Steve Macko walked and went to third on Joe Hernandez' hit and run single. Hernandez stole second, but Stewart

In the second, Grandy, who had two hits, tripled and it looked like Kurt Seibert had driven in the run with a shot into the hole on the right side, but second baseman Jack Perconte made a great play.

In the third, Hernandez singled and Rosinski hit a 400-foot drive to the warning track in center, a few feet to homer instead of being caught. It has been 13 years since the Baltimore Orioles had a poorer start than the 0-5 record that has dropped them to the bottom of the American League's East Division.

The Seattle Mariners haven't even been around for 13 months. But they are suffering a similar affliction: a fivegame losing streak and a lengthening list of disappointments. "This is a nightmare," said Orioles Manager Earl Weaver after a three-run outside-thepark home run by sickly Amos Otis and an inside-the-park shot by slow-footed Darrell Porter carried the Kansas City Royals to a 5-2 victory Wednesday night. "I'd like to wake up."

Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson

might have been thinking the same thing after watching a creditable pit-ching performance by Rich Honeycutt ruined by errors in a 4-3 loss to the Oakland A's.

"Honeycutt pitched outstanding baseball," said Johnson, though the rookie's wild pitch permitted a run to score in the A's' three-run seventh. Seattle came back to tie the game 3-3 in the eighth, but Jeff Newman led off the A's' ninth with a game-winning home run.

"It's a tough way to lose, but ..." ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - It was shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday night when visitors to the Texas Rangers locker room were startled by a strange and bizarre scene.

Relief pitcher Roger Moret stood frozen like a statue before his locker. holding a shower shoe in his extended right hand and not uttering a word. He remained in that position almost an hour before he snapped out of the trance-like state.

At 9:35 p.m., he walked to an ambulance and was taken to the Arlington Neuropsychiatric Hospital with Ranger Owner Brad Corbett and Executive Vice President Eddie Robinson holding up their coats to screen curious onlookers.

Team physician Dr. B.J. Mycoskie said Moret had gone into "a definite pitching - trimmed the New York Yankees 5-3 and the Chicago White Sox nipped the Toronto Blue Jays, 5-4.

The loss left the Orioles the only winless team in baseball (Seattle at least has won twice), and brought Baltimore within reach of the 0-6 start that marred the 1955 season.

"I'll keep making changes until I find a club that can go out and win," said Weaver. "One swing of the bat can change this game around." Actually, it was two swings - on consecutive pitches - that doomed Otis, who had spent the morning in the hospital with kidney stone troubles, cracked the three-run homer that wiped out a 1-0 lead Baltimore had taken on Eddie Murray's second-inning homer.

Then Porter, the lumbering catcher, sent Mike Flanagan's next serve down the right field line and past the Orioles' Ken Singleton.

While Singleton chased the ball, Porter chugged around the bases and slid into the plate just ahead of the

"I was running out of gas as I came around second and was hoping they'd hold me at third," said Porter. "That wasn't a slide at home plate. I was collapsing."

Newman's ninth-inning swing won the game in Oakland, although just 1,742 people were there to watch it the second consecutive sub-2,000 night for the A's at their Oakland Coliseum home.

The A's carried a team batting average of .199 into the game against Seattle, but their pitching has been so strong (an earned run average of 1.04 on seven earned runs in their first six games this season) no one seems to

Oakland had shut out the opposition for 29 2-3 consecutive innings before the Mariners scored twice in the top of the seventh. Tigers 3, Rangers 2

Fidrych survived a two-run, firstinning homer by the Rangers' Al Oliver and permitted Texas just five other hits in helping Detroit come back to win.

"I was overthrowing the ball early," said The Bird, "But I decided I was still going to throw my best pitches at the Rangers. I struck Oliver out in the ninth inning with the same pitch he hit a home run off me in the first. You lose in this game when you give up.

Texas may still have been recovering from a strange pregame scene in its locker room. Pitcher Roger Moret stood like a statue in front of his dressing area, in a trance-like state, for nearly an hour. A shower shoe was clenched in his extended right hand. He didn't say a word.

Hours later, after the application sedatives, he was taken to Arlington Neuropsychiatric Hospital for observation, rest and tests.

Angels 9, Twins 5 Rick Miller's first home run since 1974, a grand slam, highlighted a ninerun first inning and carried California to its victory over Minnesota.

Frank Tanana survived a home run and a triple by Rod Carea before getting help from the bullpen. Dan Ford also homered for Minnesota.

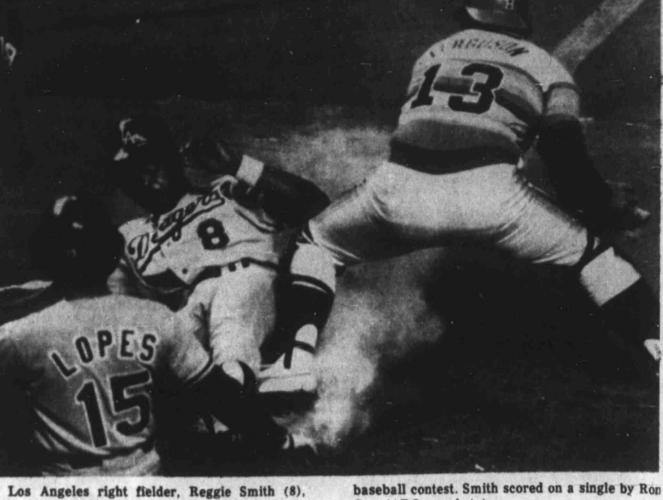

Brewers 5, Yankees 3 A two-run, tie-breaking double by Don Money backed the club record 14strikeout performance by Haas and carried Milwaukee to its fifth consecutive victory.

The Brewers continued their power barrage. Larry Hisle cracked the team's 11th of the season - his third - to tie the score 3-3. Sal Bando had homered earlier for Milwaukee. Haas fanned New York's Reggie

Jackson four times. Graig Nettles homered for the Yankees. Red Sox 6, Indians 3

Home runs by Jim Rice and Fred Lynn and a two-run single by Jerry Remy paced Boston's victory over Cleveland. Andre Thornton connected for the Indians. White Sox 5, Blue Jays 4

Jorge Orta slammed two home runs while Ralph Garr and Wayne Nordhagen hit one apiece to power Chicago past Toronto.

Reds finally like Blue

By The Associated Press

"My team colors are orange and black, not red and white," said Vida

Wednesday night, however, his colors were more like black and blue.

Blue made his National League debut - finally - against Cincinnati, of all teams, and the Reds treated him rather rudely even though his picture, biography and pro baseball record are prominently displayed on page 23 of the team's 1978 media guide.

That, of course, was before Commissioner Bowie Kuhn blue-penciled the off-season deal in which the Reds thought they had acquired Blue from the Oakland A's for first baseman Dave Revering and $1.75 million.

The hard-throwing left-hander, who now toils across the bay from Oakland in San Francisco, was tagged for 10 hits and six runs - five earned - in five innings as the Reds pounded out 20 hits and walloped the Giants 12-3.

Elsewhere, the Houston Astros edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-10, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1, the Montreal Expos nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Mets 4-2. San Diego at Atlanta was rained out.

Astros 11, Dodgers 10

Pinch hitter Jesus Alou's grounder scored Jimmy Sexton from third base in the bottom of the ninth inning to end a 29-hit slugfest. Art Howe opened the inning with a double, pinch runner Sexton moved to third on Wilbur Howard's grounder and scored when Alou's grounder was fielded by shortstop Bill Russell too late for a play at the plate.

The Astros failed to hold an 8-3 lead built with five runs in the fourth inning on Howe's three-run homer and Bob Watson's two-run double. Enos Cabell also homered for Houston while Rick Monday connected for Los Angeles.

Cardinals 5, Pirates 1

Bob Forsch hurled a four-hitter, striking out nine, and Mike Tyson doubled home the tie-breaking run in the fourth inning as the Cardinals beat Pittsburgh ace John Candelaria. A two-out throwing error by shortstop Frank Taveras helped the Cardinals snap a 1-1 deadlock. Ken Reitz reached second base on the error and scored on Tyson's double.

Forsch used sliders and change-ups to accompany his fast ball and curve. but said: "The fast ball was still the best pitch. It's the one that sets up the others. If you don't have a good fast ball, nothing else works."

Expos 8, Phillies 7 Gary Carter and Chris Speier slammed two-run homers and Larry Parrish added a two-run single but Montreal needed a ninth-inning run off Gene Garber on Pepe Frias' double and Andre Dawson's single to withstand a two-run Philadelphia rally in the bottom of the inning. Cubs 4, Mets 2

Ray Burris' five-hit pitching and two-base errors by New York outfielders Steve Henderson and Bruce Trillo singled.

Boisclair helped Chicago to victory. The Mets got their runs off Burris in the first inning on Tim Foli's single. Henderson's triple and Willie Montanez's sacrifice fly.

Norton, Holmes

liked him since the first time I met him," says Ken Norton of Larry his feelings when he meets Holmes June 9 at Las Vegas. On that night, Holmes will be trying to wrest Norton's World Boxing

Council heavyweight championship. "They call me the Easton Assassin," Holmes said Wednesday, 'but after I get done with Ken Norton, they'll be calling me the Easton Can Opener.

Norton didn't betray even a hint of a smile at the remark, which drew laughter at a news conference to announce the scheduled 15-rounder at Caesars Palace. It will be nationally televised by ABC.

"I just don't like the man," said Norton. "That's all. He's trying to emulate a man ((Muhammad Ali) he can't. His wit isn't as quick and he can't fight as well. Some people just rub me the wrong way."

"People think there's something bad between Norton and me," said Holmes, of Easton Pa., "We just don't see eye to eye."

Promoter Don King is delighted. Grudge matches are attentiongetters, and the two fighters helped build the image even before the news conference.

Photographers asked Holmes to pose with Norton. Holmes moved next to Norton, but Norton turned his back. There were some words and Holmes walked away.

Later, Holmes said he asked Norton, 'Mr. Norton, can we have our picture taken together?' He said, 'Yea man, when I'm ready."

But Holmes also said of Norton, "You have to respect the man. He is the champion." Norton became champion when the WBC withdrew recognition from Leon Spinks, claiming he violated an agreement that he would fight Norton in the first defense of the title he won from Ali Feb. 15. Spinks, still champion in the eyes of the World Boxing Association, is scheduled for a rematch against Ali at the New Orleans Superdome Sept. 15. Spinks and other critics have called Norton a "paper champion." "You're always a champion on paper," said Norton. "It's what you do after you get it that counts. I would like to fight again before September. I want to fight as much as possible." King said he would try and promote the winner of NortonHolmes in a title defense in August or September. The WBC's No.1 contender is Jimmy Young, who also will appear on the June 9 card, but it is not likely he will get the first shot at the Norton-Holmes winner. In fact, someone close to Norton, said Young would not be Norton's next opponent.

Norton and Holmes both mentioned a fight against Spinks, but that isn't possible until next year, and Holmes mentioned George Foreman, who appeared for a few minutes at Wednesday's news conference. The entry-exit of the former champion, who plans to come out of retirement, was so quick that many people weren't aware he had been there.

The purse structure for Norton and Holmes, King said, calls for the champion to get about $3 million and the challenger about $500,000.

King said ABC is paying $3.2 million for the entire package, which also includes a bantamweight championship fight and Young's scheduled 10rounder against Ossie "Jaws" Ocasio of Puerto Rico. King added that financial arrangements still were being worked out with Caesars Palace.

The 26-year-old Holmes, 27-00, with 19 knockouts, earned his title shot with a one-sided dicision over Earnie Shavers March 25. Norton has not fought since scoring a split 15round decision over Young Nov. 5 in a fight now recognized by the WBC as a title bout. His record is 40-4-0, with 32 knockouts.

In the bantamweight title fight, WBC champion Carlos Zarate of Mexico, 51-0-0, with 50 knockouts, will meet Yung Shik Kim, the Orient champion from Korea.

Cubs plan LL clinic

The Midland Cubs will hold a baseball clinic for Little Leaguers April 22 at Cubs Stadium and on the same day photographers from the Midland Reporter-Telegram will shoot Little League team pictures.

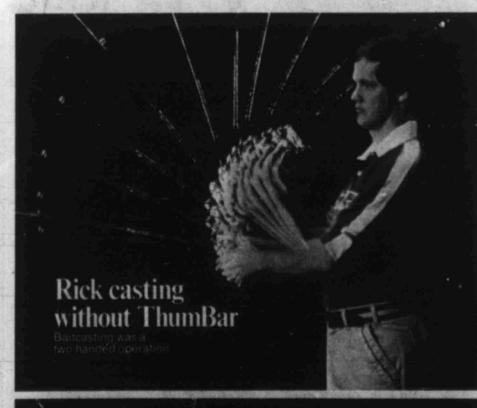

Cubs players and Manager Jim Saul will begin the instructional portion of the clinic at 11 a.m. Team pictures will be taken earlier, starting at 9 a.m. with the teams from the Mid-City LL. The North Central LL is scheduled for 9:30 a.m.; the Eastern at 10 a.m.; the Western at 10:15 a.m. and the Tower LL at 10:30 a.m.

The photos will be run in the baseball section to be published in

A form will be filled out before shooting the pictures. Each league is asked to report about 15 minutes prior to the times listed for their league pictures to permit time for filling out advance in baitcasting in years. Designed to give perfect control, ThumBar shifts into free spool with one silk-smooth touch of your thumb. Then, because ThumBar is located directly beneath your thumb, you're automatically in position to control the spool before, during and after your cast. And ThumBar's spool can never disengage or trip accidentally while cranking in line or playing a fish.

ThumBar gives you more casts in an average day, too. And that can mean more fish by the end of the day. Because the more time your lure spends in the water, the better your chances are of catching fish. And the easy-to-palm ThumBar makes handling a pleasure, all day long. Every ThumBar comes with classic Garcia Ambassadeur features such as:

· Dual braking systems for greater freedom from backlash Power precision gearing and stainless steel ball bearings

High-speed 4.7 to 1 gear ratios for greater ease when buzzing spinner

And power handles, standard on all models

One hand. One motion. One complete cast. It's that simple Garcia's ThumBar reel is available in three versatile sizes. The all new fast retrieve, narrow spool 4600C, classic standard size 5600C and the larger 6600C. All have the same built-in quality that's made the name Garcia Ambassadeur the one you can trust whenever you're looking for durable,

So join two time B.A.S.S. HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) -Top-seeded Martina Navratilova says it was 'strong serves and consistent play" that helped her to a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Remarks Virginia Ruzici in the second round of a women's tennis tournament at Sea Pines Plantation.

"Neither one of consistent on the baseline," said Navratilova. "But I never lost my serve."

She also teamed with Billie Jean King in doubles Wednesday to defeat Ruzici and Mima Jausovec, 6-4, 7-5.

In other singles mat-ches Wednesday, fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull defeated Caroline Stoll 6-4, 6-1. Kerry Melville Reid defeated Florenza Mihai 6-0, 6-1 and Kathy May defeated Jausovec.

Chris Evert faced Jausovec, Tracy Austin played Janet Newberry, Pam Shriver faced Navratilova and Rosemary Casals played Valerie Ziegenfuss in Thursday's matchups.

The tournament is sponsored by Family Circle Magazine.

Harvard trackmen face faceless defeat

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Don't toss of 188 feet, 4 inches. say Harvard trackmen can't face Against Northeastern University

Tuesday, they faced it with faces that forced dozens of about-faces. "We did it to psyche them. I guess it didn't work," said Harvard's javelin Kinney and three teammates on the 40-member squad showed up for the meet with faces painted in the style of the rock group Kiss — black and white grease paint from chins to the hair Northeastern's team blinked then won the meet 85-75.

Kinney and his pals — Joe Pelligrini, Mike Stewart and Dan Sullivan - had planned the masquerade for a week. "When we came out everyone was shocked," he said. "Then they gasped. Then they roared - except for my father. He wouldn't talk to me for 10 minutes." Then, Kinney won his event with a Sullivan won the high jump; Stewart was second in the javelin and Pelligrini was third in the discus.

A college pal of the athletes had applied the makeup, using a Kiss album cover as a guide. Harvard Track Coach Bill McCurdy took it in stride "These are solid kids," he said. "I hope it didn't bother anyone. I don't think anything surprises me anymore. I looked right at them myself and the paint didn't even register." McCurdy, in his 28th season as coach, said he learned long ago that athletes on the Cambridge campus like to think for themselves. He recalled ordering trackmen to show up at meets in "formal dress," meaning Harvard track uniforms. A pole vaulter several years ago decided that "formal dress" called for a tuxedo.

He did, however, remove his jacket before competing.

Golf tourney is low key

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — There's a decided, low-key, relaxed, easy-going atmosphere about the $225,000 Tournament of Champions.

The world's finest golfers, winners of more than 50 international titles in the last 12 months, took it easy for a couple of days in the wake of the emotionallydraining Masters.

Only today, in the first round of one of the most prestigious events on the PGA Tour, did they really get to work.

Three of the favorites for the $45,000 first prize defending champion Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open winner Hubert Green and British Open titleholder Tom Watson — didn't arrive at the posh La Costa Country Club until Wednesday.

And Gary Player, the little South African who won the Masters, took a day off from his usual, on-stop schedule for complete relaxation, a massage, no golf. Many of the others in the elite 29-man field — winners all — followed his example skipping practice rounds for a visit to the spa. Leisurely lunches replaced the usual intense preparations.

"After the Masters, or any major tournament, there's a natural letdown for a few days," said Nicklaus, five-time winner of this event.

"It's inevitable. It takes a couple of days to get over it. But the Masters is over now. There's nothing that can be done about it. Now there's this tournament. Once it gets started, once you get into it, it gets your interest."

Despite the letdown, Nicklaus and Player — who said he came into this tournament "absolutely said he came into this tournament "absolutely drained, completely exhausted" — ranked as the top choices in the 72-hole chase over the 6,855-yard, par-72 La Costa Country Club course.

Other leading contenders included Green, Watson, PGA champion Lanny Wadkins, Hale Irwin and Tom Weiskopf, all multiple winners in the 12 months since the last Tournament of Champions.

Dr. Gil Morgan, Ray Floyd and veteran Miller Barber also won twice in the last 12 months.

The rest of the field consisted of Ed Spand Jim Barber also won twice in the last 12 months.

The rest of the field consisted of Ed Sneed, Jim Simons, Ben Crenshaw, Lee Trevino, Dave Eichelberger, Mike Morley, Bill Kratzert, Andy North, Leonard Thompson, Jerry Pate, Mike Hill, Bill Rogers, Mac McLendon, Gene Littler, Jerry McGee, Jay Haas, South African Bobby Cole and Spain's Severiano Ballesteros.

Among them, they represent the current national open champions of nine countries — United States and Ireland (Green), Britain (Watson), Canada and Morocco (Trevino), Switzerland, France and Japan (Ballesteros), South Africa (Player).

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market swung upward today, shrugging off forecasts of some bad news on the interestrate outlook. The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.20 at 769.49. The over-all count of New York Stock Exchange issues showed gainers outpacing losers by about a 4-3 margin.

The advance came in the face of predictions that the Fed would report a big jump in the money supply, in creasing the likelihood credit-tightening, when it makes its weekly statistical report late today.

"The market has been acting much better than the news lately," said Eldon A. Grimm at Birr, Wilson & Co.

Grimm also said traders seemed pleased that the House had rejected by a wide margin a bill to provide emergency aid to farmers which critics had called inflationary. The action saved President Carter the need of vetoing the measure. which he had promised to do.

Gulf Oil led the active list, up 1/4 at 241/4 A 442,000-share block of the stock traded early in the session at 2414.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks rose .16 to 50.59. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .33 to 132.87.

Volume on the Big Board continued to set an active pace, totaling 12.16 million shares by noontime against 10.75 million at the same point on Wednesday.

Income tax cuts proposed by British

By WILLIAM TUOHY
The Los Angeles Times

LONDON — The British Labor government announced Tuesday a nearly $5 billion stimulus to aid the economy and reduce unemployment, mainly in the form of personal income tax cuts.

The proposals were made by Chancellor of the Ex-chequer Denis Healey in announcing the budget for the forthcoming year - a package that offered something for nearly everyone.

However, Healey said that one of his main concerns was to avoid another ruinous round of inflation in Britain and to try to keep the inflation rate sinking as it has been for the last few months.

Personal income taxes were generally slightly lowered across the board, pensions were increased more money was allocated for education and health services, school-children from the ages of 7 to 11 were given free lunches and the basic learning rate was raised by 1 percent.

However, the company tax rate remained unchanged as did duties on liquor, beer and most other luxuries. But cigarettes with a heavy tar content were raised about 12 percent.

The budget, though it was designed to appeal to most Britons, did not please everyone, mainly some Labor spokesmen as well as industrialists who had hoped to see a bigger stimulus to Britain's ailing in-

However, other political commentators said that Healey had walked a careful line, avoiding an excessive boost which would push the inflation rate up

BY SOME CALCULATIONS, the average British family will receive about $4 to $6 a week extra from the tax cuts and allowances.

Healey's decision to try to keep inflation down was quickly reflected in the financial community, where the stock market rose somewhat and the pound strengthened by the end of the business day.

For the past several years, Britain has been running a double-digit inflation rate, only recently dipping below 10 percent.

Healey said that he expected the inflation rate to be reduced to 7 percent by this summer and wanted to insure that it remained at least at that figure. Healey said he also wanted to see the national productivity rise by about 3 percent, which he said would encourage other European governments to reflate their economies slightly without sending the inflation figures rising again.

Thus, in political terms, Healey's budget was being viewed as a "cautious one" and not specifically designed for voter appeal in early elections.

Political analysts said that if Healey and Prime Minister James Callaghan were actually planning on early elections, the stimulus would probably have been greater to please labor unions, the average householder, and some segments of industry.

In this view, new elections are probably not plann ed before next fall, or even until next spring. However, the government can, if it chooses, either dampen down the economy or stimulate it some time in the summer or autumn if it thinks that this would be politically expedient.

PREDICTABLY, the opposition Conservative Party challenged the budget as mostly window dressing. Tory leader Margaret Thatcher charged that the reduction of the income tax was not enough and that the whole budget message was only "election deep." And John Grenburough, president of the Confederation of British Industry, said: "The chancellor said that the key to growth and high employment must lie in an improvement in our industrial per-

"This budget will not achieve this. He has done far too little for those who must lead the revival of our trade and industry - managers, skilled workers, the owners of small business who can provide much of the extra employment.

"It is a particularly timid budget." Some labor union leaders and labor parliamentarians who had called for a stimulus of as much as $8 billion joined industry spokesmen in calling the budget overly cautious. The chancellor's tax cuts were "chicken feed" said Sidney Sidwell, a Labor member of Parliament who belongs to the left wing faciton of the party. "The tax cuts are chicken feed and will be forgotten by everyone in a matter of weeks." However, Len Murray, the general secretary of the labor umbrella organization, the Trades Union Council, said that Healey "had got his priorities right." MURRAY SAID the budget would give a significant boost to the economy but also reflected social and industrial priorities that were shared by the Murray admitted that an $8 million boost might have been better, but he added that "I fully share the chancellor's belief that the increase in real income and living standards will be the key to restoring confidence in both sides of industry. "No trade unionists will dissent from the chancellor's emphasis on getting inflation down and Britain has one of the highest income tax systems in the world, reaching 83 percent at the top levels.

But it also has many socialized medical and welfare services which are free. The chief gainers from the Tuesday easing of the tax burden were at the lower income scale - those in the so-called "poverty trap," where it becomes more profitable to go on public welfare than to work for a Healey said that about 4 million workers at this level would be aided - by as much as $4 a week.

While there were tax cuts across the board, middle-income taxpayers complain that the reductions at their level were not nearly enough to keep abreast of the rising cost of living or to encourage enterprise in initiative by these wage earners.

THE LIBERAL PARTY, which gives the Labor government its parliamentary majority, wanted to see personal income taxes reduced even further.

However, Liberal Party leaders said they would not make a parliamentary issue of the matter, though they would try to convince the government to give bigger personal income taxes. David Steel, leader of the Liberal Party, said that the budget "was not adventurous enough" in reducing income taxes. The Labor Party leaders traditionally prefer to see lower direct income taxes and higher indirect taxes in the form of sales or similar taxes.

"The income tax changes will not create the incentives necessary to get the economic growth we need," said Liberal Party economic spokesman John Pardoe. "Liberals remain absolutely convinced of the need for major reductions in income tax."

The overriding concern of the government in this current budget appeared to be to keep the inflation rate down even at the risk of being accused of not giv are the same as those who contribute for any other major state race. I can't be bought. One of the purposes the legislature had for making a commissioner a six-year term is to take the politics out of the office. And I think the commission bases its policy on what is best for the people.'

He said it was a "constant effort" to see that industries are regulated in the public interest. "We have to prevent windfall profits." he said.

Wallace was appointed Railroad Commissioner by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in September 1973. He was elected commission chairman on Jan. 1, 1977.

By EVAN MAXWELL The Los Angeles Times

ANAHEIM, Calif. - In the wake of several traffic accidents involving police cars, Anaheim Police Chief Harold Bastrup has imposed a 50m.p.h. speed limit on all emergency 'Code Three' driving on city streets.

The new policy also would limit all freeway Code Three runs (any emergency response with flashing lights and siren) to 70 m.p.h. and would prohibit extended high-speed pursuits, as well as blocking or ramming suspects' vehicles. The policy changes are among the most severe restrictions adopted by a police administration anywhere in the state, and are an effort to prevent accidents that injure civilians and police officers, as well as exacting a heavy toll in police equipment, Bastrup said. The changes, which he said have been under study for several months, were immediately challenged by the Anaheim Police Association, which represents most of the 300 sworn officers in the city, with a population of more than 200,000. Jack Jansen, president of the group, said that the change in policy amounts to a limitation on the amount of judgment officers are allowed to use in their jobs.

"We could probably live with the new policy, which limits our speed to 15 m.p.h. over the posted limit, in most normal emergency situations, but not if it applies to pursuit of a dangerous felon," Jansen said. Jansen said the association officers will meet with Bastrup Friday in an attempt to change the Anaheim policy, or at least to clarify some Bastrup, while maintaining that the policy was under study even before a series of recent accidents, said the new policy is an attempt to encourage different tactics in emergency driving ...

and in pursuits of suspect. "I want my men to hang back and get the suspect vehicle to slow down." he said. "We have had good luck with that tactic. We also want to do away with 'caravaning' in which a large number of cars get into the chase. We want pursuits to be of a short duration, and we want no more than two

The matter of high-speed driving in either emergency or pursuit situations is one of growing concern for police administrators, with some disagreement among chiefs about the . proper methods to minimize accidents and fatalities.

Many police administrators and officers claim that their ability to pursue and apprehend suspects is critical to the deterrence of flights by criminals or even by violators of routine traffic laws.

Others, including many veteran officers, maintain that aggressive police tactics provoke many highspeed cases and that the potential deterrence value does not justify the

One National Highway Traffic Safety Administration study indicated that as many as 400 persons are killed, and perhaps 5,000 injured, in the estimated 8,000 pursuits that take place in the United States each year.

Gulf Oil Corp. has announced location for a 30,000-foot wildcat operation in Pecos County, 25 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

The wildcat, if it reaches its contract depth will be the deepest hole ever drilled in Texas. The world's deepest hole is in Western Oklahoma 31,441 feet It was drilled by Laughlin Brothers Drilling Co. for Lone Star. It was plugged back and completed from an upper zone near the 13,000-foot level. The Gulf Operation is No. 2-1 Emma Lou Unit, 2,656 feet from north and 2.640 feet from east lines of section 59, block 101, BBB&C survey.

The site is 14 miles south of Gulf No. 1. Emma Lou which was completed recently from perforations at 22,156-22,196 feet to open the Puckett, West (Bend) field. It finaled for a calculated, absolute open flow of 8.8 million cubic feet of gas per day.

The No. 2-1 Emma Lou is 21/2 miles southest of the Puckett (Ellenburger) field production.

WINKLER TESTS

Gifford, Mitchell and Wisenbaker of Midland announced locations for a pair of wildcats in the Cheyenne (Capitan) area of Winkler.

The projects, scheduled for 3,400foot bottoms, are 13 miles northwest of Kermit. The depth will allow for wildcat tests in a zone above the regular Capitan pay.

No. 7 Little Wolf is 1,092 feet from south and 1,660 feet from east lines of section 16, block C-23, psl survey. It is 908 feet northwest of production.

CHAVES STIKE

Petroleum Development Corp. of Albuquerque, N. M., No. 1 Hudson-Federal has been completed as a Mississippian gas discovery in Chaves County, N. M.

The strike, a workover project 25 miles northeast of Hagerman, was completed through perforations from 9.746 to 9.782 feet.

Four point gauges ranged from 3,220,000 cubic feet per day, through a 22/64-inch choke to 1,355,000 cubic feet per day through an 11/64-inch choke. Tubing pressure varried from 1,465 to 2,202 pounds.

Total depth is 10,460 feet and plugged back depth is 10,000 feet with 41/2-inch casing set at 10,019 feet.

The strike is seven miles southeast of Devonian oil production in the White Ranch field. There is no nearby Mississippian production.

The project originally was drilled by Sohio Petroleum Co. as No. 1 Monterey-Federal and plugged in 1959 at 10.640 feet. Petroleum Development has staked a south offset to the discovery, No. 1 Estelle-Federal.

No. 1 Hudson-Federal is 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 27-12s-30e and 15 miles southwest of Caprock.

MORROW TRY

Michael P. Grace II of Carlsbad, N. M., staked location for an 11,500-foot Morrow test one mile west and slightly north of production in the La Huerta area of the Burton Flat field.

It is No. 1-E Corinne, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 25-21s-26e and four miles northwest of Carlsbad.

RED LAKE TEST

Shell Oil Co. No. 1 Edwards Deep Unit, re-entry project in Ward County, has been completed as a long west extension to the Scott (Delaware) field of Ward County.

The well, No. 1 Edwards Deep Unit, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 76 barrels of 41.8-gravity oil and 150 barrels of water, through a 20/64-inch choke and perforations from 4,759 to 4,890 feet.

Gas-oil ratio is 5,263-1. The pay section was acidized with 2,950 gallons and fractured with 10,000 gallons.

Originally completed as a Mississippian gas well in the Barstow field, it is 4,100 feet from northeast and 1,320 feet from northwest lines of section 41. block 33. H&TC survey and one mile west of Barstow. It is 31/2 miles west of other production in the Scott field.

Total depth is 18,124 feet and plugged back depth is 6,510 feet. Operator set 9%-inch casing at 11.593 feet.

Mexican official says gas stalemate 'ironic'

HOUSTON (AP) - A top ranking official in the Mexican petroleum industry says the present stalemate over the price of Mexican natural gas to U.S. importers is "ironic" but expressed hope an agreement can be Speaking to an international trade conference here Wednesday, Ignacio de Leon, assistant director general of Petroleos Mexicanos, or PEMEX, said the addition of Mexican gas to the world supply, rather than forcing energy prices up, would help hold world oil prices down.

He also implied that although Mexico would like to sell gas to the U.S., the country is fully prepared to use its gas and export oil instead.

"But let me assure you that PEMEX has already developed an alternative plan," de Leon said, 'which will permit the complete absorption of all available gas supplies within the Mexican economy, substituting largely for oil."

Six U.S. interstate distribution companies reached a tentative agreement last August with PEMEX to purchase the gas at $2.60 per thousand cubic feet. Energy secretary James Schlesinger says that price, compared with the $2.16 now being paid for Canadian barrels of oil and two billion cubic feet gas, is too high.

De Leon told the Fifth Annual International Trade Conference of the Southwest that Mexico was prepared to build the pipeline branches necessary to carry the gas to the border if the U.S. government approves the "reasonable" price. The $2.60 figure is pegged to the price of No. 2 fuel oil Mexico would use for its domestic needs in place of the gas exported. An 821-mile natural gas pipeline from southern Mexico to a point about 80 miles south of Brownsville, Texas, is scheduled for completion early next year. The Mexicans say the extension they would make to the border towns of Reynosa, Mexico, and McAllen, Texas, would eliminate costly shipping charges for the importers.

De Leon said after his speech that Mexico could convert from oil to natural gas for domestic energy needs "in a matter of days."

He said after the speech that Mexico will be increasing imports of energy-related goods and, referring to high U.S. prices, said when quality is roughly the same, lower prices will be the determining factor.

De Leon said Mexico expects to have a surplus of about one million of natural gas daily by 1980.

Ward pool House Republicans may save Carter plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Republicans, long left out of efforts to frame compromise energy legislation, think President Carter may turn to them in hopes of salvaging his plan.

One House negotiator, Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, said the sentiment has arisen in the "the last few days." Archer's fellow Republicans generally are more sympathetic to the kind of compromise backed by Senate negotiators than are Democratic House conferees, who are holding out for tighter federal controls over the price of natural gas.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, said on Wednesday that the president told the Republicans he'd like their sup-

Rex Granum, a White House spokesman, said later in the day that Carter was flexible on a deregulation date. "Continued inaction on energy will cause far more serious damage to the nation's economy than the kinds of compromises that are under consideration," he said. House Republicans point to past Democratic failures to break the deadlock among themselves and say they think Carter will come to them as a last resort - even if it means angering some liberal House Democrats on the conference com-

House Republicans have been excluded from the sessions, even though three GOP senators have attended.

DOE chief says Carter has plan

HOUSTON (AP) - A compromise energy plan from the Carter administration that might be more palatable to gas-producing states could break the present congressional impasse over new energy legislation. according to Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Schlesinger told a Houston news conference Wednesday he couldn't give details of the proposed com-promise but said it is one that will 'help both those in the gas-producing states and those in the states that need natural gas."

The energy chief spoke with reporters after briefly addressing the 46th annual meeting of the Edison Electric Institute convention.

Schlesinger said more effort must be made to develop alternative sources of energy as the days of oil and gas as primary energy providers are numbered.

Thomasville.

Thomasville designers have researched carefully the motifs of country furnishings and created a beautiful dining room grouping of true character. All furniture with colonial themes was inspired by the heritage of early settlers from their native England. These design motifs are seen throughout these handsome dining room pieces. Authentic details include the dentil molding just under the deep cornice top. A country English motif is noted in the arch form on the china cabinet. The wooden grille follows the same attractive shape and adds authenticity. Thomasville's attention to detail is seen in the deep beveled panels of the lower doors and the important bracket foot. The tables and chairs are reproductions of New England Queen Anne styles. In keeping with the charm of the country character, native woods of oak veneers and solids are selected. The rich fruitwood finish is hand-padded and heavily distressed to achieve the look of fine antiques. In this grouping are the treasured design elements which create 'that Thomasville look.'

Sharpstown scandal. "I don't think he did nything legally wrong." the blue-eyed Miss America of 1964 said. "I think he used poor judgment, and that certainly is a human fallacy.'

In the six years since his conviction, she went through divorce and a difficult child custody decision and resumed life as a single, working Until now, she has said little about those years. In a book published recently, "The Outer You, The Inner You," she explains her side of Sharpstown.

Miss Axum, who has taken her maiden name. discussed Sharpstown, the disintegration of her marriage to Mutscher and her new book in an interview at KTBC-TV. where she hosts a noon television show.

Although she divorced Mutscher two years after his conviction on charges of conspiring to accept a bribe, she said the marriage would have crumbled even without the strain of Sharpstown.

"The basic problem within our marriage was communication. Lack of communication before the marriage as to what was expected of the other individual," she said.

"Gus was a 37-year-old bachelor when we met in September of 1968," she wrote. "Our dates that followed always took place in large social and political gatherings seldom on a personal, one-to-one basis. We really never got to know one another as individuals."

Only six pages of the book deal with her life with Mutscher and later divorce. Personal grooming and personality development, subjects Miss Axum became familiar with during beauty pageants, take up most of the book.

"The point of the book was not a vehicle from which to talk about Sharpstown," she said. "But (without including Sharpstown) I could not tell the whole story, or use it as a point of reference in making a

"I could not have written this book, the part about Sharpstown just after I experienced it," she said. "One, because it was too painful. And secondly, because I could not be as objective about it at that point. You're not beaten, kicked and spit on, you know, for a year-and-a-half without feeling some anger. Time does a lot. It heals wounds.

She learned of her husband's involvement when the Securities and Exchange Commission announced an investigation of the Sharpstown State Bank, owned by Houston financier Frank Sharp.

"I learned that, without discussing it with me, he had borrowed these large sums of money (from Sharpstown State Bank) to buy the stock - a community liability," she wrote of a January 1971, conversation with Mutscher.

"I felt very frustrated because I found myself as an innocent party in all of this," she said of the discovery.

Mutscher later was indicted on charges of selling political influence in 1969 to assure passage of two controversial banking bills.

Media coverage of the Mutschers turned from stories of a glamorous courtship and marriage to hard questioning about the loans and Mutscher's relationship with Sharp.

Pioneer plans gas storage

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN-The Railroad Commission has authorized Pioneer authorized Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to begin a gas storage program in Howard County to benefit customers in the southern portion of its transmis-sion and distribution system in the South Plains and Panhandle regions.

Pioneer plans to use a depleted air reservoir on the eight-acre site near Big Springs. The reservoir is estimated to have a storage capacity of one oillion cubic feet of gas.

Declarer refused the first diamond and won the second with dummy's king. He then led a club, whereupon East stepped up with the ace to lead a third diamond.

3 NT All Pass

Declarer took three clubs, ending in dummy, and tried the spade finesse. West won with the king of spades and cashed the rest of the diamonds, defeating the contract.

Who was the criminal, and what should he have done to keep out of the hands of the law?

South was the criminal, and his crime was one of timing.

After winning the second trick in dummy with the king of diamonds. South should try the spade finesse, losing to the king.

West can return a diamond, but he can never get back to cash his tricks. South can later develop the clubs in South cannot make the contract if West has both the king of spades and the ace of clubs; South cannot lose if East has those two cards. South must play to assure his contract if those key cards are split, and the method is to develop spades first.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S9876; HKQ84; DQ86; CA4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards. If he bids either two spades or two hearts, you will raise to four of his suit. If he bids two diamonds, denying a major suit of four or more cards, you will jump to 3 NT.

House members join Hill-Briscoe battle

By ANDY WELCH Austin Bureau

AUSTIN-Ten House members, including John Hoestenbach of Odessa. have taken an active stand in the gubernatorial race between Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Atty. Gen John Hill, and some political observers believe these battle lines in the governor's campaign will carry through to the start of the next legislative session.

Seven of those House members have undertaken a three-day campaign swing though 12 Texas cities on Hill's behalf, charging Briscoe is ignorant or uncaring of their legislative programs.
