Of unexplained smoke and a disappearing poodle

DOVER, Del. (AP) — It was a brisk and moonlit night when Gov. Pierre du Pont IV tried to coax out some of the ghosts who live in his official residence.

Nation's output declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic output dropped for the first time in three years in the first quarter of 1978 as businesses and consumers curtailed their spending. the Commerce Department said

The report was bad news for businesses and unemployed workers, who are counting on economic growth to provide jobs and stimulate pur-

The nation's gross national product. or output of goods and services, declined at an annual rate of 0.6 percent in the first three months of the year, the department said. That was the first drop since a 9.6 percent slide during the first quarter of 1975, at the end of the recession.

Severe winter weather and the coal strike held the economic output down by about 2.5 or 3 percentage points, the department estimated. That means that even with mild weather and no coal strike, the economy would have grown by only about 2 to 2.5 percnt

Economists say it takes a growth rate of about 4 percent a year to keep unemployment, which is now 6.2 percent from worsening

Contrasting with the latest decline. economic growth in the first quarter of 1977, during another severe winter, was a robust 7.5 percent. Since then, it trailed off to 6.2 percent in the second quarter, 5.1 percent in the third quarter and 3.8 percent in the fourth quar-

The inflation rate, as measured in gross national product figures, was 7 percent in the first quarter, compared with a 6.1 percent rate last fall.

The Commerce Department said the biggest reason for the drop last quarter was a 1.3 percent decline in business sales after a strong 6.1 percent increase in the final three months of 1977. The declines were in consumer spending, construction, exports and government purchases.

Despite the weak first quarter, other economic indicators have shown that the worst was in January and February and that business activ ity was improving in March. The department said Tuesday that housing construction rose 32 percent in March although it was still below December levels. Americans' personal income and their retail purchases also have begun to increase. Consumers spent $24.5 billion more in the first quarter than they did at the end of 1977, but the gain was far less than the $40.6-billion gain in the October-December 1977 period.

Purchases of such long-lasting goods as autos and home appliances declined $2 billion. Businesses increased their investments by $4.2 billion after increasing their spending by $6 billion in the previous quarter.

The Commerce Department tries to remove the effect of seasonal changes and inflation in computing the growth figures. Including price increases, the gross national product rose $31.1 billion, or 6.5 percent, to $1.992 trillion.

doing on a cold night in April?' mused du Pont as he inspected the trunk of a gnarled old poplar tree on the grounds of Woodburn mansion, Legend says one of Woodburn's ghosts, a chain-rattling pre-Civil War Southern raider, was hanged at the tree after trying to recapture runaway slaves hiding in the mansion.

At least three more spirits are said to haunt Woodburn: a "tippling ghost" who regularly empties decanters, one spotted on the stairs by an evangelist in the early 1800s, and a young girl in a red-checked gingham dress who was first seen by the garden pool in the 1940s.

Mrs. du Pont's only previous encounter with a Woodburn ghost involved Caesar Rodney's portrait in the dining room-she says it shifts

Mrs. du Pont and the reporter consulted a Ouija board that told them ghosts were in the house. Skeptical at first, Mrs. du Pont later said, "I'm torn between being a believer and being frightened.

The ghostly activities began when Mrs. Wood's gray poodle, still wear ing a leash and jangling tags on his collar, disappeared from her closed second floor bedroom and was found two floors below in the basement. although no one had seen or heard the dog leave the room

After a wine glass was filled with sherry and placed on the stairs to attract the tippling ghost, everyone went to bed at 12:30 a.m.

Things began to go bump in the night at about 2:30 a.m. Heavy objects thundered down the roof. No one was seen outside but a light flickered in the garden. The little girl in the gingham dress?

Suddenly came a heart-stopping shriek from outside. An instant later there was a scream from the downstairs hall.

An exploratory trip downstairs revealed the wine glass was two-thirds empty. A lighted candle had appeared on the second stair.

The dignified grandfather clock in the main hallway chimed three times as the household settled down again, only to be roused by the honking of an automobile horn. This time, the tousle-haired, pajama clad governor went into the du Pont youngsters'

"I think there's something funny going on here," du Pont said to a sleepy Benjamin as they looked out the window to see the light that had reappeared in the garden. Downstairs, the wine glass was empty. When du Pont left the children's room, they asked him to leave the hall light on and the bedroom door open.

Five hours later at breakfast, there was little talk. "I was ready to take back everything I said about ghosts,' Benjamin commented.

Gazing down upon the group in the dining room was Caesar Rodney, in a painting that seemed to have moved a ly approving the Panama Canal treaties, the Senate has handed President Carter a major foreign policy victory whose domestic political impact may be felt at the polls in November.

By a vote of 68 to 32, the Senate on Tuesday accepted the second and final treaty setting forth the terms by which the United States will relin quish control of the canal to Panama by the year 2000

Under the treaty, the United States reserves the right to use military force if necessary to keep the canal 'open, neutral, secure and accessible," while forswearing any attempt to interfere with Panama's "political independence or sovereign integri-

Carter's 15-month old administration are up for re-election in November. Many senators face uphill political campaigns as a result of their support for the agreements, which stirred broad public opposition in most parts of the country Among them are Democrats Sam Nunn of Georgia and Paul Hatfield of Montana and Republicans Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and Clifford Case of New Jersey

Within an hour of the dramatically close vote Tuesday night - the identical vote by which the Senate on March 16 approved the first treaty guaranteeing the canal's neutrality -Carter acknowledged the political risks of supporting the agreements.

The 67th and deciding vote for the second treaty was cast by Majority Leader Byrd, who said: 'I wanted to take the heat if any body had to for the 67th vote.'

Unlike Byrd, fellow West Virginia Democrat Jennings Randolph is running for re-election this year. Randolph acknowledged Tuesday that his vote against the treaties was largely influenced by a tough election fight.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker, who is running for re-election in Tennessee, was asked about the impact of his role in helping guide the treaties to final approval.

"The votes are good for my country, good for my party," he said. "If they are good for the country and the party. I can't help but believe that they are good for me too.

The House and Senate must still approve legislation implementing treaty provisions on financing and transfer of U.S. property to Panama.

House opponents of the treaties promised a stiff fight against the agreements, but congressional sources said Carter will not send implementing legislation to Capitol Hill until next year, thus averting another electionyear treaty battle.

As approved by the Senate, the treaties will not take effect until Oct. 31, 1979, unless Congress approves implementing legislation before then. The chief Senate strategist against the treaties, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., conceded defeat Tuesday night. "We lost the battle of persuasion," he said.

In the hallways outside the Senate chamber, jubilant White House and administration officials jumped up and down and hugged one another in

Merit pay revision adopted By MARLENE RAY

During a special meeting Tuesday. the Midland public schools Board of Education adopted the framework for a revised merit pay program for teachers developed by a 14-member merit pay committee

The board authorized the com mitee, made up of teachers, principals and administrators, to continue its study of the merit pay program in order to "flesh out" the details of the revised plan

In addition, the trustees approved the committee's recommendation to distribute $240,000 as a special salary supplement to all certified teachers who were employed with the school district at the beginning of this school year and who will continue working in the 1978-79 school year. Each of these teachers will receive a one-time salary supplement of $280 under this recommendation.

The $240,000 was set aside by the board last summer as a special merit pay pool for teachers employed with the district this school year. Following approval of the merit program plan and the special salary supplements, board President Johnny, Warren said he hoped the school board's actions would put teachers and trustees "back on a nonadversary position. Under the merit program plan, teachers, as well as counselors and assistant principals, would be eligible to receive merit pay if they meet the requirements for one of the four levels of achievement, according to committee member Maridell Fryar. For Level I. teachers must demonstrate excellence in teaching and must have earned a bachelor's or master's degree or both to qualify for merit pay

In Level II. teachers must show they exercise leadership among other teachers in their school building, in addition to excellence in teaching. Master's degrees are required for this

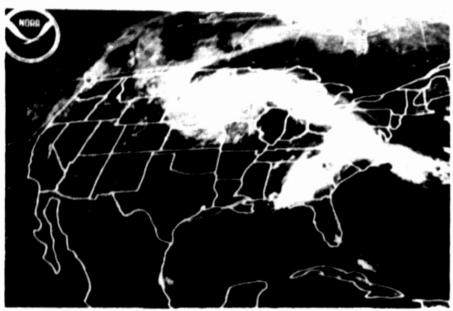

Under Level III, teachers who hold at least a master's degree plus 15 hours of graduate study, may qualify for merit pay, as long as they meet the specifications in Level I and II and prove they play a leadership role in

Blowing sand awakens Midland, Basin towns

Blowing sand was reported in Midland early today while some area towns were getting the wind without the sand

Temperatures were expected to be cooler today throughout the Permian Basin with the high only reaching the mid-70s. The low tonight should drop to 45 degrees, while warmer temperatures are expected Thursday with the high near 80, according to the National Weather Service at Midland

Regional Air Terminal

Northerly winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour were expected today, but should decrease tonight.

Lamesa and Stanton reported clear skies and little wind. Andrews, Rankin, Big Lake, Big Spring, Crane and Odessa reported the wind was starting to gust and, although no sand was reported blowing, dust storms appeared likely for later in the day.

Commission seeking more funds repaired by the commission. "I'm not

The Midland Commission for Local Community Development needs another $70,000 to $100,000 in order to meet its stated goal of rehabilitating 50 owner-occupied houses.

The commission was appointed by Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. after the city lost a grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to do similar re-

Commission member Bob Southerland said Tuesday the group was or ganized inNovember but did not start getting the bulk of the $67,000 raised thus far until January

The money already raised is enough to do 27 houses for elderly or handicappped owners, Southerland said. We hoped to have been through by June, but we're not going to make it, he said, adding that money now is coming in slowly

Contributions are coming from individuals and churches Southerland

He said the program works to complement "Christmas in April," which is a volunteer rehabilitation program that now also is seeking to raise

Human Relations Council Execulive Director Susan Edwards said Tuesday some churches have reduced their contributions to "Christmas" this year in order to contribute to the commission. "We won't know until the 29th (of April)" whether the overall effort for "Christmas" has been hurt by the commission, she said.

Southerland said "Christmas" is able to rehabilitate some houses the commission cannot, because the commission is limited to houses which can be brought up to city code standards.

He said the commission program is costing somewhat less per house than the HUD program last year because the Midland Community Action Agency is insulating some homes this year

The commission's program is carried out by commercial contractors Horace Berry, inspector, said the average cost per house this year is $2,552, compared to last year's per house

"These are not as bad as I have seen." Berry said of the houses being writing up (for repairs) any that are real bad until we get more money," he added.

Berry said common repairs include new roofing, new plumbing, painting, new floor covering and sometimes new doors and windows.

"They're not new houses when we get through with them, but they look pretty durn good. We fix them up so it's a long time before they (the owners) have to spend any money on them," he said.

Berry took members of the local news media to two of the houses under repair Tuesday. Among renovations to a house in the 4000 block of Thomason Drive was the replacing of a glass sliding door with windows. The house had been burglarized through the glass doors twice. Berry explained

Hospital trustees plan payment

By BROOKS KELLER

President Mickey Cappadonna of the Midland Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees told trustees Tuesday the hospital had a $334 711 operating profit for the past nine months

This will enable trustees to make a payment of about $75,000 on a note owed to Midland National Bank at the end of this month, he said

Trustees voted to recommend to hospital district directors that a piece of property at Texas Avenue and I Street be sold to a Midland physician at a price to be negotiated

They also set up a study group to see to it, that on a long-range basis plans for adequate parking will keep pace with any future additions to the The Building Committee chairman.

Eugene Abbott reported that construction on the hospital was on schedule and no unusual problems were at hand hospital's bad debt percentage ratio for March was down from around 10 percent to 7.3 percent. He said the hospital had added a new collector to its staff to give further help on this

Cappadonna said that a new and major piece of medical equipment, an $84,000 automated clinical analyzer. has been installed in the hospital but is not yet in use. The Hospital District Board has budgeted $125,000 for new equipment he said

Dr E R Mickle said the hospital is facing its annual survey by the Joint Commission on Hospital Ac creditations, a commission sponsored by major American medical and hospital societies to survey, approve and certificate those warranting it

Groups to schedule Lozano protest march

ODESSA - Citizens concerned about an inquest jury's verdict of ac cidental death in the case of 27-yearold Larry Lozano are to decide Sunday on a time and day to stage a protest march here. Odessa attorney

Jerry Lopez said today. Those citizens, including members of the Mexican-American community and "soldiers" in the Brown Beret, a Mexican American activist group, are to meet at 1 p.m. Sunday at St. Joseph Catholic Church here, Lopez said Last week, the inquest jury ruled that Lozano, an inmate in the Ector County jail, died accidentally on Jan 22 after law officers tried to restrain him after he allegedly went berserk in his padded isolation cell.

Brown Beret members and others contend that Lozano was beaten and kicked to death by some of the eight officers, include sheriff's deputies. The deputies, however, maintain they were trying to calm Lozano, who, they said, had been banging his head into the shattered glass window of his barred cell

Protesters, include San Antonio lawyer Ruben Sandoval, have said they will ask a federal grand jury to investigate the death

The Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department is to study a transcript of the two-day inquest hearing and other facets of the case to determine if Lozano was at any point denied his civil rights.

"Basically, polo started off as a war game." Wilson said after the workout. Centuries ago in India and Persia (Iran), princes were taught the sport of polo to prepare them to "fight a war" on horseback. Wilson said. In the 1860s in India, British cavalry officers took up the game as a pastime and brought it to England and to nobility And in 1876, so one version goes, American publisher-sportsman James Gordon Bennett Jr. picked up some mallets and balls in England and got cow ponies from Texas in order to play polo in New England. "It's a lot faster and rougher" than most people realize. Gomez said of the game. "People get killed. . . . ! injured.

On Aug. 4, 1977, Wilson was knocked unconscious and suffered a broken collar bone following a mishap in a polo match. He was in intensive care for five days, but was back into the game before the month was out.

"It's the most dangerous game in the world." Wilson said. Gomez agreed

"In football, you can loose teeth." Gomez said. "But in polo, you can get

Just last month, the pony Gomez was riding was hit broadside by another galloping pony and was killed. It's spine was broken.

You can get your eye knocked out with a mallet." said Wilson.

The polo field is a spacious lot — 300 yards by 200 yards. Four players are on each team, and the game is divided into six seven-minute chukkers (periods). Each player is allowed the use of six horses during the game.

For Wilson, polo is a game, he can play for as long as he can command a pony and swing a mallet.

Well, (with age) you're not as good." Wilson said. "but you can play a long time. I never figure on being

"I just like to play." said Wilson, who's an international player. "I don't like anything you have to bet on to have fun. Polo's my game."

Board adopts merit pay revision program receive merit pay

In Level IV, teachers must meet the requirements of all three previous levels and must demonstrate their contributions to the total teaching profession. "We are asking for creative teachers," Mrs. Fryar said. Educational requirements for this level include a master's degree and 30 graduate study hours As it stands now, the merit pay program plan allows teachers. counselors and assistant principals to apply for merit pay after three years' experience with the school disrict.

It provides that principals and teachers work as a team in preparing the application for merit pay and gathering supporting evidence. his process, beginning at the start of the school year, is designed to take an entire school year with teachers receiving notice of whether they've qualified for merit pay in May. If teachers qualify for merit pay. they will receive it for the following four school years unless it is revoked due to a drop in performance. At the end of two years, they may seek application to a higher level of

During the fourth year of receiving merit pay, teachers must decide whether to apply for the same or a higher level of achievement or risk loosing their merit pay Schools Superintendent Dr. James Mailey said following the advice of the school attorney, the merit pay committee decided to let those teachers who receive merit pay under the current program remain unless they leave the school district. Presently, 142 teachers get salary supplements of $500 each.

Although the amount of merit pay under the revised program hasn't been decided yet, school board members indicated they were leaning towards a supplement between $750 and $1,000 per year. Some of the board members hesitated to set a definite amount right now since base salaries for teachers still have not been outlined.

recommended a minimum of $1,000 merit pay for each level She estimated that 30 percent of the teachers now would qualify for merit pay under the revised program.

Board member Joe Dominey said he thinks the amount of merit pay should increase as teachers achieve a higher level. "The incentive needs to be tangible." he said

However, Mrs. Fryar said teachers would receive a specific amount of merit pay for every level they reached. Thus, if merit pay were set at $1,000 per level, a teacher who qualified for Level III would get $3,000 in supplemental salaries.

Board member Marshall McCrea questioned the plan, saying it seemed safer for the teachers to stay with a lower level of achievement than risk losing their merit pay by trying for a higher level. Mrs. Fryar replied that she hoped teachers applying for a higher level would do so only if they were sure they could justify it. She said this would eliminate the chance that once mittee devised a plan that it thinks will avoid the "pitfalls" commonly faced by merit pay programs in school districts. She said these problems are: (1) Limiting the number of teachers who can receive merit pay. (2) The idea of "once good, always > for merit pay at one time automatically receive that pay in succeeding years. (3) Ambiguity of standards which teachers must aspire to in order to good." meaning teachers who qualify

(4) Too much subjectivity in the process of selecting teachers for merit pay. Mrs. Fryar said often whether teachers are awarded merit pay depends on how they get along with their principals. (5) Secrecy

Mrs. Fryar said the revised merit plan was developed to adhere to a 'threefold philosophy.' which provides teachers with a way of improving themselves and giving them incentives for doing so by providing financial rewards. The strengths of this plan, she said. include establishing specific requirements for levels of merit. aiding the teacher evaluation process. removing the "mystical elements" of merit pay and creating a "team effort" between the principal and teacher in achieving merit levels. At the close of the meeting, the school board scheduled an informal meeting with the teachers' communications committee at 6:30 p.m. April 25 with the place to be an-

Bush for Congress!

Probably the most important 1978 political race for voters in this section of West Texas is the selection of a Congressman to replace retiring U.S. Rep. George

Three Republicans and two Democrats are competing in their respective primaries for the responsibility to become the 19th District representative. George Bush of Midland, Joe Hickox of Lubbock and Jim Reese of Odessa face each other in the Republican primary, and Kent Hance and Morris Sheats, both of Lubbock, are the Democrat contestants.

George Mahon has served in the Congress for 44 years. He is the only representative the district has had since it was created. His shoes won't be easy to fill.

But after weighing the issues and the backgrounds of the Republican candidates. The Reporter-Telegram strongly feels that George Bush is the best qualified candidate to represent all of the large and diverse 19th Congressional District.

Bush is a young, energetic businessman who has traveled across the district many times to get acquainted and to air his views on the problems facing the district and its residents. He has first-hand knowledge of the oil and gas business, gained through his work as an independent land man and producer. He will be able to articulate the problems of the oil industry to his fellow Congressmen, and fight for the lessening of federal controls and 6 primary the need for natural gas deregulation NOW.

Additionally, Bush seems to have the ability - the best of any of the candidates - to understand and relate to the problems of farmers and ranchers who make up such a large constituency in this district.

Bush has lived in both West Texas and Washington, D.C. He has seen the continuing encroachment of the federal government into our daily lives; he is very much aware of the urgent need to eliminate inflationary policies and increased federal spending. He will fight for all working men and womem to protect the value of their earnings and savings.

Bush also recognizes the need for a strong national defense and a U.S. foreign policy negotiated from strength, not weakness. Overall, George Bush has the qualifications and the desire to represent all of the West Texans in the 19th District. At 31 years of age, he has the maturity to serve, yet the time to accrue the seniority necessary to become a congressional leader. Each county, large or small, in the 19th District may rest assured that George Bush will represent its interests fairly and completely.

The Reporter-Telegram strongly encourages Republican primary voters in the 19th Congressional District to consider the candidacy of George Bush and cast their ballots for this outstanding young leader in the May

Jobs for teens

The federal minimum wage. now $2.65 an hour, is an effective barrier to jobs for teen-agers.

Employers understandably are reluctant to experiment with youths entering the job market. The tasks they ordinarily would perform are increasingly left undone or absorbed by other employees as the minimum wage base moves toward an alreadyadopted floor in excess of $3.

Reps. Paul Simon. D-III., and Robert Cornell, D-Wis., have introduced in the House a promising remedy to encourage the hiring of young people. They have proposed that a special minimum be enacted for new employees of age 18 or less. For the first six months they would be paid at 85 percent of the legal

Sicilian, U.S. links revealed

WASHINGTON - A secret intelligence report, filed last month by U.S. agents in Italy, reads like an episode from the "Godfather" movies. But it has far more significance than a mere crime story: the report reaffirms the deadly link between the Sicilian Mafia and organized crime in the United States.

According to this secret account. a swarthy visitor from New York City turned up recently in Palermo, Italy. He was identified by the . Italian carabinieri (police) as John LiVoti. who is listed in U.S. files as a Mafia figure with a nasty reputation.

He did not go to Palermo, apparently, to see the sights. The carabinieri have linked his visit with a violent reorganization of the Mafia in Palermo. A local Godfather, named Ignazio Selta, was removed from power on Feb. 15.

It happened quite abruptly while he sat in his automobile with two bodygurads, Girolamo Silno and Rosario Vitale. The care was ventilated with bullets, killing all three. The Italian authorities, according to the intelligence report, believed "LiVoti was involved in the mur-

Two days after the killings, LiVoti appeared in Legnano, Italy, for a Mafia meeting to readjust the line of authority and settle differences arising out of Selta's demise. Apparently the mediator was supposed to be Girolando Alberti who is described in the intelligence report as the Naples "comorra boss." Explains the report: "Comorra roughly

The carabinieri disrupted the meeting, however, before Alberti showed up. All the assembled Mafia dons, including LiVoti, were arrested and charged with "criminal association.

Footnote: The intelligence report ties LiVoti to Tommasso Buscetta, a fugitive from the United States, who fled to Italy and wound up in Palermo's Ucciardone prison where he is "awaiting trial for murder." The report also alleges that "Buscetta" was a major white heroin trafficker and moved narcotics through Mexico to the United States.'

through negotiation."

The note is signed ominously by the 'Argimiro Gabaldon Revolutionary Command," the Venezuelan group claiming responsibility for the Niehous kidnapping.

In an earlier column, we reported how a secret ransom attempt by the kidnappers last year through Owens-Illinois' European offices failed because of a tragic mishap. Until now, not another word has been heard from the terrorists.

Niehous intimates are desperate to learn the fate of the missing businessman. Once again, we are willing to serve as intermediaries in any negotiations.

TAX CUTS - In past columns, we have described the quiet tax revolt that is spreading across America. Middle-class Americans, who bear the brunt of the tax burden, will express their anger at the polls in November, we have predicted.

The message has gotten belatedly to Capitol Hill. Suddenly congressmen are scurrying to rescind the Social Security tax increases they voted only four months ago. They are anxious to get the higher taxes off the books before they are deducted from the voters' paychecks.

This has thrown President Carter's tax program into disarray. Earlier he had introduced a $25 billion tax cut that would become effective next Oct-1. But he needs the scheduled increases in payroll taxes to keep the Social Security funds from going bankrupt.

The huge drain has been caused by Medicare and disability payments which are drawn from Social Security taxes. The president's chief economic adviser, Charles Schultze, has recommended confidentially that these payments should be taken out of general revenues. "There is late recognition of the need to use some general revenues for Social Security." he told the Cabinet behind closed doors. But any revision of the Social Security taxes this year would compel the president to revamp the tax program he has already introduced. So Schultze recommended that "the matter be reconsidered next year."

Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal made the same point to the Cabinet. The Treasury Department, he said, "is trying to keep any proposed changes to the Social Security legislation from interfering with the Administration's tax bill. The president himself emphasized that they should not "reopen the subject this year and should resist Congress' efforts to do so.'

But House Democrats are listening more closely to the voters than is their president.

Cuba's African army: Eritrea could be next

By JAMES CARY Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - Cuban artillery and what appear to be two armored battalions are now in position near the Eritrean border in Ethiopia, signaling a buildup for a coming new offensive in the horn of Africa, informed sources report.

THE HORN OF AFRICA

The massing Cuban units are facing Eritrean rebels dug in near Asmara. capital of the rebel Ethiopian province, and its port city of Massaua, both key targets in the expected attack.

The sources report the artillery has been in position for some time but was recently joined by 3,500 other Cuban troops - almost the precise number that would be involved in two armored battalions - and more are expected.

The recent arrivals have been redeployed since the Cubans and Ethiopians drove Somali forces out of Ethiopia's Ogaden desert in a combined assault in March.

That assault, particularly the key battle of Jijiga, involved use of a Cuban airborne brigade, or at least some elements of it, in an enveloping movement launched with massive use of helicopters, the sources said.

The Soviet choppers, reportedly up to 60 of them, airlifted both the airborne forces and light tanks while combined Cuban and Ethiopian troops joined in a massive frontal assault covered by artillery fire, the sources reported. The attack shattered the Somali positions.

The Cubans are also known to have at least one infantry battalion in Ethiopia, and used two armored hattalions in the Ogaden offensive. presumably the same two now reported deployed on the Eritrean

The Soviets have participated by providing an estimated 1,000 advisers to train the Ethiopians, plus massive amounts of military equipment.

The sources agree with U.S. government estimates that a total of 16,000 to 17,000 Cubans are now fighting alongside the Ethiopians in their efforts to put down the twin insurrections in the Ogaden and Eritrea.

But they differ strongly with government claims that only small Cuban units have been deployed toward Eritrea, or are involved in the fighting there.

"Some of the artillery has been in position since at least last Decemthe sources said. "Furthermore, Cuban and Soviet personnel control the Eritrean port of Assab in the south. The growing Cuban-Soviet adventurism in Africa is causing great concern in the United States, particularly the drive in the horn of Africa bordering the narrowest part of the vital Red Sea tanker route.

Major amounts of petroleum destined for Western markets move along that route. If the Cubans, Soviets and Ethiopians drive through Eritrea to the Red Sea, they would be in a position to hamper those shipments.

Such an attack is expected to be more difficult than the route of the

The Eritreans are dug in and they are receiving military equipment from moderate Arab nations, including Egypt and Saudi Arabia, through Sudan. Sudan borders Eritrea in the north.

"Furthermore, the Eritreans have no place to go." the sources reported. 'and there are lots of them.

Preparations for a Cuban-Ethiopian attack are reportedly still far from complete. One source estimated at least another six weeks would be needed to mass the needed troops and equipment.

Cuban pilots are already reported flying bombing missions against the Eritreans, however.

If the Eritrean offensive is successful, some U.S. Cubans next to move into the Rhodesian fighting on the side of two anti-government groups; one based in Zambia under Joshua Nkomo, and one based in Mozambique, under Robert Mugabe

South Africa reported on March 23 that 300 Cubans, 250 Soviet tanks, 35 Soviet MiG-21 jet fighters and Sovietmade SAM anti-aircraft missiles had arrived in Mozambique.

Neither the rebel forces nor the Mozambique regular forces are believed capable of handling such advanced arms.

The Cubans in Mozambique reportedly number less than 1,000 and so far are believed to be only instructors. It could take a year or more to train the rebels to handle such equipment, unless Cuban combat units are brought from Ethiopia to handle it themselves.

Mark Russell says

Some experts claim that we are getting so good at birth control that the government may have to start paying people to maintain the population. The theme would be "Get Careless For a Growing America."

There would be governmentsponsored TV shows such as "Eight Is Not Necessarily Enough."

Under a Federal Procreation program a couple notifies the Department of Multiplication of each attempt to make a baby. The D of M sends them one multiplication stamp for each attempt.

When the book is filled it may be taken to any Multiplication Redemption Center in exchange of prizes.

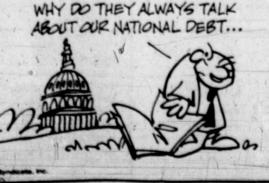

This should motivate people to increase the population. You know what they say - when the going gets tough; the tough get going.

Ruse not ruled out as LaSalle's sunken ships located? Moro search proceeds

ROME (AP) - The search for former Premier Aldo Moro's body continued today amid speculation that the Red Brigades' announcement of his execution was a ruse.

Divers, trained mountain dogs and hundreds of others were searching in and around snowbound Lake Duchessa, 72 miles northeast of Rome, where a communique received Tuesday said the body would be found. Experts said the message appeared to have been written by the terrorists who grabbed Moro four weeks ago and killed his five bodyguards. But no trace of the body was found Tuesday, leading officials to speculate that the communique was a trick to take police away from the hunt for the kidnappers or a hoax to further the terrorists' psychological warfare against the "bourgeois" state.

The search was widened under floodlights during the night to a flooded stone quarry beside a highway six miles from the lake. Investigators said the metal fence between the road and the quarry had been cut, and there were signs of automobile tire tracks on the ground.

Snow up to 12 feet deep blocked roads through the pine and chestnut forests surrounding Lake Duchessa, so military helicopters took the searchers in from the village of Corvaro, three miles away.

We looked in that lake and another one nearby, but there was nothing,' Police Col. Federico Marzolla said. But we are going to continue the search.

"What puzzles us is that the surface of Lake Duchessa was completely frozen and covered by a thick layer of snow, with no indication that anyone could have been there in months." He said there were dozens of small lakes in the area to be checked. "The place is full of snow," he said. "There are so many lakes besides the ones the terrorists mentioned. You have to dredge all of them.' Searchers in green battle fatigues and frogmen in black wetsuits found a few tracks but they were unable to determine when they had been made or if they belonged to people.

Ghetto resistance anniversary marked

By GEORGE BRODZKI no hiding place left for WARSAW, Poland (AP) - Little children play now in a big downtown square on the site of the Warsaw Ghetto, where the Jews launched their heroic and hopeless uprising against the Nazis 35 years ago today.

The Germans created the ghetto by rounding up Jews from different parts of Poland and segregating them in an old quarter of the city. In 1940, they forced the Jews to build a wall around the mile-square area, sealing it off from the rest of the city.

By early 1943 the Nazis had shipped 300,000 Jews from the ghetto to the gas chambers of the Treblinka extermination

On April 19, 1943, some of the 100,000 people remaining in the ghetto opened fire on the Nazis in a last, deperate attempt to "save human dignity," Yurek Wilner, a leader of the upris-

A second map of the site was sketched by LaSalle's engineer, Minet, and shows a shipwreck at the bay's entrance, Pass Cavallo.

Guns outnumber people in war-ravaged Lebanon

The Washington Post

BEIRUT — This war-ravaged country went through a revival of violence last week that again exposed the fragility of coexistence between Lebanon's Moslems and Christians.

The occasion was the anniversary of the violent clashes between the two communities that sparked 18 months of civil war and destroyed the countrys' political life.

The setting was Ain Rummaneh, a Christian suburb where the Lebanese civil war began just three years ago.

And as has become customary. there was much destruction and at least 50 victims to add to the roughly 60,000 persons killed in the civil war and its aftermath.

This latest outburst of killing was sparked by an incident involving an Ain Rumaneh man named Salim Hamoud.

During a visit to the neighboring and rival - Moslem suburb of Shiyah he was pushed around, slapped and bitten on the shoulder in a disagreement with some fellow dealers in arms, hashish, cocaine and whatever else is for sale in Lebanon's freewheeling underworld.

The incident was neigher more or less trifling than those which touched off some previous round of violence here. One, for example, stemmed from a disputed pinball machine game.

Nor was it particularly surprising.

There are more guns than people in this Connecticut-sized country, now condemned to coexist with seven armies: its own fledgling national outfit. the Palestinians, rightwing Christians, leftwing Moslems, the mostly Syrian 30,000-man Arab deterrent force, the growing U.N. force - now

2,000 strong — and the Israelis.

For days before the incident, Beirut had buzzed with rumors that the anniversary would be violent. The lawschool chancellor at the Catholic University on the Christian side of this divided city, for example, published a notice for the week dropping the usual mandatory attendance requirement and ordering lectures on nonessential subjects.

Once the fighting between Shiyah and Ain Rummaneh got going in a massive way, the Syrians intervened - at the nominal request of Lebanese President Elias Sarkis.

The Palestinians, who traditionally help the Moslems of Shiyah, stopped fighting. But not the Beirut area Christians. Thry had humiliated the Syrians in February-killing more than 80 of them - in shooting stemming from an incident at a Lebanese army barracks.

This time the Syrians took their revenge, using cannon, rockets and other heavy arms. The death toll at Ain Rumaneh was 37. All but two of the victims were civilians.

pense of the Beirut Christians.

Following their letdown when the Israelis stopped at the Litani River rather than sweeping all the way north to Beirut - the Christian warlords had kept that wild dream alive and adopted a new strategy designed to weaken their arch enemies, the Palestinians.

The Christians hoped to turn the Moslem half of the country against the Palestinians - the Shia sect because they had suffered at the hands of the Palestinians in the south and had their homes detroyed in the

Jubilation in White House greets treaty ratification

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON Associated Press Writer

Cheering in the streets of Panama City, jubilation in the White House, and outright relief in the Senate greeted final approval of the Panama Canal treaties.

redictions in washington that the controversy and debate will continue as the House considers legislation to implement the treaties, which gradually give Panama control of the canal over the next 22 years and which guarantee the waterway's continued neutrality thereafter.

Speaking on his nation's television, Gen. Omar Torrijos, Panama's chief of state, said he had been prepared to resort to violence if the second treaty had been defeated. From Senate opponents of the treaties came condemnation.

The package's approval, they said, was a retreat from national greatness and ignored the fervent wishes of the great majority of Americans.

Even Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd, a leader of pro-treaty forces, said that if a majority of the country was in favor of the treaties, it was 'paper thin" and that a vote for them was "an act of

But President Carter said he is convinced Americans eventually will accept the treaties as being in "the best interest of our nation."

"These treaties can mark the beginning of a new era in our relations, not only with Panama, but with all the rest of the world," Carter said.

"They symbolize our determination to deal with the developing nations of the world, the small nations of the world, on the basis of mutual respect and partnership. Panama's citizens listened to the voting by radio, then hundreds of them flocked to celebrate in what one observer called "a big drunken street party." In his statement in the White House, President Carter referred to the sensitivity of the Panamanians over the intervention issue as expressed in an amendment to the neutrality treaty.

That reservation, offered by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., expressed the "right" of the United States to intervene after the year 2000 to assure that the canal remains in operation.

It later was softened by language asserting tha the United States has no intention of intervening in Panama's internal affairs.

"That is a right we neither possess nor desire, Carter said." Senate leaders said rejection of the treaty would have dealt a catastrophic blow to U.S. relations with all of Latin America. And in initial reaction Latin American leaders hailed the ratification vote. "The United States has taken a sincerely important step toward the establishment of better-balanced relations with greater respect for the interests of the countries of Latin America," said President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela. But many opponents of the canal treaties continued to voice objections. Sen. Paul Laxalt, D-Nev., said a grave mistake had been made and that he doubts whether the Panamanians ever will be able to handle their new responsibilities. Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan called the treaties "flawed" and added: "I feel this is a very extreme case of ignoring the sentiment of the people of our country. They were overwhelming in their disapproval of the treaties." Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., a leading treaty opponent, said he was not surprised at the outcome, but I'm relieved that it's all over.' But Sen. John Culver, D-Calif., said that, "when the smoke of the sometimes heated debate has cleared, April 18, 1978, will be remembered for what it is — a proud and honorable day in American history."

Protest fails to dampen spirits of Panamanians dancing in streets

By CHARLES GREEN

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) - Panamanians danced in the streets long past midnight, celebrating the U.S. Senate's approval of the treaty giving them control of the Panama Canal in 22 years. A brief protest by about 200 treaty opponents failed to dampen the fiesta mood. Several thousand people drinking free beer jammed into Cinco de Mayo Plaza in downtown Panama City after the Senate's 68-32 vote. The crowd danced under Christmas lights while smaller groups gathered on street corners singing and swaying to bongo drums. Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, the Panamanian strongman who once called his country's desire for a new canal treaty "the only religion uniting all Panamanians," laid on the free beer and declared today a national holiday. He said now that Panama has a sense of national unity, all political exiles will be allowed to return "without strings or conditions" and political parties soon will be allowed to resume

Leftist students from the University of Panama tried to demonstrate in protest against the treaties, demanding that the canal be turned over to Panama immediately, but attracted little support. They clashed briefly with pro-treaty students, but the fighting was broken up quickly. Many drifted away to join the celebrants. On the Atlantic side of the country, President Demetrio B. Lakas led a happy parade through the despite all the (U.S. military) commands.... We have had 10 years of preparations. Torrijos also warned the United States against trying to intervene in Panamanian affairs after Panama takes over the canal. "If they invade," he said, "they will find a canal destroyed. If they try to invade, we will destroy the

The general said in a TV address that he never considered renegotiating the treaties, which were approved by the Panamanians two-to-one in a plebiscite last fall.

Meanwhile, there was gloom and anger among the 10,000 Americans in the Canal Zone. "I'm really sad," said Mary Gibbs, 34. Her 9-year-old son, Warren, who was born in the zone, said: "I've come from a place that isn't going to be here anymore." "I am sick and disgusted that the senators admit to being bribed and threatened," said Ed Steele, 51, a dredge engineer.

Others thought Torrijos had rubbed it in with his talk of sabotaging the canal.

"Whether it is true or not, he didn't have to say that," said one canal company employee.

Soviet's sea-land maneuvers intimidating to Danish

The Los Angeles Times

Twenty years ago, the Soviet army practiced landings along the Latvian coast. Ten years ago, the exercises were held in Poland. Now these sealand maneuvers are held at Ruegen Island, East Germany, close to West Germany as well as Denmark.

Soviet ships running between Den-mark and Norway now patrol con-stantly through the use of at-sea fueling. Soviet ships patrol also the south-ernmost point of Sweden while the Poles are stationed between Ruegen and the Danish island of Moen.

In addition to these routine, roundthe-clock patrols, the Warsaw Pact sends ships on "navigational training" through the tiny passages between Zealand, the Danish island on which Copenhagen is located, and the small island of Fuen and the Jutland Peninsula. This area is strictly Danish water but the passages are open to

Eastern bloc freight traffic through the narrow channel between Denmark and Sweden has nearly doubled since 1975. About 22,000 ships make the trip each year. This development has paralleled the growth of Eastern bloc maritime trade around the Warsaw Pact air patrols seem to originate from Latvian bases and follow the Baltic coast to the Danish and German borders. The planes routinely turn back well short of Danish airspace but sometimes seem to "play chicken" by coming closer, forcing the Danes to scramble some fighters.

In addition, Aeroflot airliners transport Soviet troops from their homeland to training and duty stations in East Germany, flights that could land in Denmark in a few more minutes

There is little Western military power in the Baltic to counter the Warsaw Pact pressure. Large North Atlantic Treaty Organization ships, including U.S. Navy units, rarely enter the Baltic because Denmark, want to raise tensions any higher.

West Germany has been expanding its fleet of small patrol boats to help the small Danish fleet keep track of the Warsaw Pact activities. Sweden has an active navy on patrol and a keen intelligence operation that monitors most Baltic activity.

TOKYO - Japan's trade and current accounts surpluses are beginning to expand with a rolling snowball-like momentum, figures released by the Finance Ministry reveal. In three months. Japan's annual trade surplus expanded by nearly $3 billion — from $17.6 billion in calendar 1977 to $20.57 billion in fiscal 1977 which ended March 31.

The Los Angeles Times

A compilation of the trade surplus for the first three months of 1978 showed that the snowballing was accelerating still more. With a trade surplus of $3.1 billion for March alone, the surplus totaled $7.7 billion for the first three months of the year - an annual rate of $30.8 billion.

The figures, revealed as the Finance Ministry announced preliminary results for March, were certain to add political pressures upon Japan as an International Monetary Fund committee meeting is held later this month. Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda also is expected to face troubles when he visits Washington early next month and attends a sevennation economic summit in Bonn in July.

In current accounts -the total of the Nation's trade surplus minues such non-trade payments as shipping. insurance and tourism - Japan registered a $14.13 billion surplus for its fiscal year 1977. That, too, represented a $3 billion snowballing of the 12-months rate above the $11.1 billion current account the nation had in calendar 1977.

For January through March, the nation already had compiled a $5.9 billion current account surplus - annual rate of $23.6 billion and a snowballing that amounted to more than double 1977's current account surplus.

By comparison, in calendar 1977, the United States suffered a $20.2 billion deficit in current account payments. West Germany, the only advanced nation other than Japan to enjoy black ink in its current accounts, recorded a 1977 surplus of $3.6

The Japanese performance which belied three different government forecasts last year - was all the more eye-popping in that exports accelerated their pace of growth even in terms of volume during the fiscal year. The Finance Ministry pointed out that in the first quarter of fiscal 1977 (April to June last year) exports rose in volume only 3.4 percent over the same period a year earlier, but in the last quarter of the fiscal year rose 8.5 percent compared with the same period a year earlier.

The export increase, in real terms, came despite a 34 percent increase in the value of the yen which occurred since the beginning of 1977. The increase forced up the dollar price of exports but apparently had little effeet on reducing the competitiveness of Japanese products in foreign markets. In dollars, which reflects the effects of the change in exchange rates, exports for the year rose 20 percent compared with an increase in imports of 8 percent.

Imposts, valued in yen, however, declined by 6 percent during the fiscal year - a reflection of the lower amounts in yen paid for incoming items because of the weakening of the dollar on exchange markets.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment has been adopted by 35 states, but an additional three states are needed by March 1979 before it can become the 27th amendment to the United States Constitution.

And some people, among them those working for the ratification of the ERA, are predicting it will not be accomplished.

But Liz Carpenter, longtime journalist turned woman activist, who is co-chairman with Elly Peterson of ERAmerica, is not among the pessi-

Ms. Carpenter was in Midland Tuesday to speak to an open meeting of the Junior League of Midland.

The immensely entertaining woman, who joined Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in the campaign for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket and eventually became executive assistant to the vice president and then press secretary and staff director for Lady Bird Johnson, is "proud that Texas was the seventh state to ratify the ERA," but she feels like women have "been had too long," she said.

"And I bet they didn't worry about coed bathrooms on the Chisholm

Approximately 250 women turned out to hear Ms. Carpenter talk about life and what we do with our span of time on this planet. She discussed where women have been and where they are today, and she touched on working women with children and offered some helpful hints on living through the trials and tribulations encountered by women in this catego-

"We women--you, me and our daughters and grandmothers-are, I believe, the hope of this country. We were left out in Philadelphia 202 years ago and that was their mistake. We intend to correct it with the ratification of the ERA in three more states. It can be a better country because of

"When I ponder where women are today--where thinking women are today--we are in the seminars, and most verbally-we're moving into the marketplace and into back-to-college symposiums to take a better look at ourselves. And we're into political action," said Ms. Carpenter.

The journalist pointed out that because those active in the women's movement are pioneers in the women's movement and are guinea pigs in their own personal world, 'they feel two headed. So quickly has the women's movement grown, so catalytic has it been since 1971 that we who are deeply involved in it find ourselves both pioneers and experts charting the course and receiving the

'We meet here," said Ms. Carpenter, "at a time when women are more and more in a constant revolving door between homemaker and breadwinner, between office and kitchen, between the responsibilities of young children at home and the new time and freedom which come when they are off to college.

"Our lifestyles are changing radically. Few of us think the same way we thought five years ago. We see these changes most clearly in the lives of our daughters--the young women of this country. They are bright. They want to be where the action is. They want a piece of the action and they are capable of balancing home and job in a way that defies all the old arguments."

Ms. Carpenter, who lived through seven presidents, 10 vice presidents and "what seemed like 140 attorney generals," said "women of all ages are seeing these changes in themselves even as they cherish and hang onto the old roles.

Women are doing all sorts of things, she said, as they become the topic of conversation around the country, in the corporate board rooms which have suddenly realized they might need us, in the state houses and courthouses, and on the campuses where we are going back to school just for the joy of learning something new whether it is useful or not. We are finding new dimensions of life that feed our soul that have nothing to do with husband or children.

She also informed the women she should be counted as a working mother who lived to tell about it. "As a word of encouragement, I would do it

"The working parents of this country, particularly working mothers," said Ms. Carpenter, "are doing a juggling act that is equalled by Barnum and Bailey, and getting very little help from government or business, although enlightenment may soon set in out of necessity."

All working mothers, she said, have typical problems, and not all are in poverty, "though a lot of them are," and working mothers quite often are there by choice, "though many of them aren't. Working mothers are becoming more of us (53 percent of the women between 18 and 64 need or choose to work, and a lot of them have babies and want to.)"

Ms. Carpenter advocates a Universal Day Care that would "do a lot to convert taxeaters into taxpayers.

Ms. Carpenter now serves as a part-time consultant to the Friends of the LBJ Library and is writing another book on the women's move-ment. After the Johnson amdinistration, she wrote the best seller, "Ruffles and Flourishes," about her Washington experiences.

House Texans favor beaten parity' plan

WASHINGTON - Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Apr 7 through 13.

HOUSE

FARM BILL. Rejected, 150 for and 268 against, the conference report on the emergency farm bill (HR 6782). Although the Senate had passed the legislation (see vote below), this vote killed the slim chance the bill had of becoming law over President Carter's promised veto. Farmers in the American Agricultural Movement lobbied in Washington for more than three months for the bill.

HR 6782's most controversial feature was a

ROLL CALL REPORT

"flexible parity" plan under which wheat, feed grain and cotton farmers could benefit from sharply increased 1978 price supports by taking more land out of production. The bill also raised federal loan rates for those crops and hiked the borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Members voting "nay" opposed the emergency

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1. Charles Wilson, D-2, Ray Roberts, D-4, Jake Pickle, D-10, W. R. Poage, D-11, Jack Hightower, D-13, John Young, D-14, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Omar Burleson, D-17, George Mahon, D-19, Henry Conzalez, D-20; Robert Krueger, D-21, Bob Gammage, D-22, and Abraham Kazen, D-23, voted "yea."

Reps. James Collins, R-3, Jim Mattox, D-5, Bill Archer, R-7, Jack Brooks, D-9, James Wright, D-12, Barbara Jordan, D-18, and Dale Milford, D-24, voted

Reps. Olin Teague, D-6, and Bob Eckhardt, D-8,

HISTORIC PRESERVATION. Passed, 326 for and 76 against, a bill (HR 11662) to preserve the most historic features of Lowell, Mass., by including them in the National Park System. Lowell, founded in 1822, is considered America's first planned city. The bill establishes a precedent of interest to other deteriorated industrial cities of historical significance, for it marks the first such extension of the National Park Service protective umbrella to a central city. It authorizes $40 million in fiscal 1979, about half of which is for property acquisition and development. It was sent to the Senate.

Members voting "yea" favored passage of the bill

Hall, Wilson, Mattox, Eckhardt, Brooks, Pickle, Poage, Wright, Hightower, Young, de la Garza, White, Jordan, Mahon, Gonzales and Milford voted "yea." Collins, Roberts, Archer, Burleson and Gammage voted "nay." Teague, Krueger and Kazen did not vote.

POSTAL SERVICE. Adopted, 203 for and 189 against, an amendment dealing with the U.S. Treasury's annual subsidy of the U.S. Postal Service. It was attached to HR 7700, the postal reorganization bill reasserting limited congressional control over postal operations. HR 7700 was later passed and sent to the Senate.

The amendment requires the Postal Service to identify, through more sophisticated accounting procedures, those operating costs which result from its "public service functions" — for example. delivery to remote areas, six-day door-to-door deliveries, and the location of post offices on the basis of consumer convenience rather than costeffectiveness. This figure would guide Congress in determining the amount of the annual subsidy of the Postal Service.

Rep. Tom Corcoran, R-Ill., the sponsor, called it "incredible" that there is presently no such accounting. He added: "I do not believe we in Congress should continue to present subsidy without establishing a procedure for such an accounting."

Rep. James Hanley, D-N.Y., an opponent, said he was "terribly apprehensive" about letting the Postal Service "establish itself what are public service costs" and in effect dictate the amount of its subsidy. Members voting "yea" favored the amendment.

Hall. Collins, Mattox, Archer, Brooks, Pickle, Poage, de la Garra, White. Burleson, Mahon and Gammage voted "yea"
Wilson, Eckhardt, Wright, Hightower, Young, Jordan, Gonsalesand Kasen voted "nay."

Roberts, Teague, Krueger and Milford did not vote

FARM BILL. Adopted, 49 for and 41 against, the conference report on HR 6782, the emergency farm bill. The measure was later killed by the House (see vote above). With such provisions as "flexible parity" linking price support levels to the amount of acreage set aside, the bill sought to immediately hike farm income. President Carter had promised to veto the legislation as too inflationary.

Senators voting "yea" favored passage of the emergency farm bill.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D. and John Tower, R. voted

Texas could lose highway millions

By LARRY SPRINGER Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — If the state plan for controlling air pollution in Texas is not revised in a manner acceptable to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Texas will lose an annual average of $390 million in highways monies.

In a letter to the Texas Air Control Board, the director of the Department of Highways and Public Transportation, B. L. DeBerry, notes that under provisions of the 1977 amendments to the federal Clean Air Act, the secretary of transportation "may not approve any highway program or project unless a state has an approved State Implementation Plan in effect

DeBerry further advises in the letter that the federal air quality statute prohibits any local planning organization from approving any highway project involving federal funds without an approved

Mexico City dig may yield Aztec Temple

By LEONARD GREENWOOD
The Los Angeles Times

MEXICO CITY — Inspired by a priceless archeological find 10 feet under the trolley tracks on narrow Calle Guatemala, behind the downtown cathedral, Mexico has plunged into a project first begun 200 years ago and virtually ignored the past half century.

The goal is to excavate and restore the Great Temple of the Aztecs, smashed by the Spanish explorer Hernan Cortes in his conquest of Mexico in 1521.

The mammoth undertaking promises to:

—Create endless traffic confusion in the busiest part of one of the busiest cities in the world. Streets will have to be closed off for several blocks adjacent to the Zocalo the open, block-square plaza fronting the Metropolitan Cathedral and the National Palace at the city's heart.

—Involve immense sums of money. Hundreds of thousands of yards of earth, rubble and rock will have to be carefully dug up then sifted and sorted and evaluated by teams of archeologists.

+Create controversy. Building by building, the decision must be made as to which should be preserved as a relic of Spanish colonial days, or give way for the treasures of an earlier civilization.

POPULAR IMAGINATION was first aroused Feb. 23 when workmen digging a ditch for power and telephone cables under Calle Guatemala struck a large rock with strange markings.

Archeologists were called in, and their initial enthusiasm swiftly became elation: The "rock" — 10 feet in diameter, 3 feet thick and weighing 20 tons — was an almost perfectly preserved carving of the Aztec moon goddess, Coyolxauhqui.

Gaston Garcia Cantu, director of Mexico's National Institute of Archeology and History, declared it of "incalculable historical value." Archeologists compared it to the unearthing in 1792 of the great, round Aztec calendar stone.

Their professional excitement generated popular support for the long-ignored Great Temple project, now under the general direction of archeology professor Eduardo Matos Moctezuma. With the blessing of President Jorge Lopez Portillo's government, "digs" already in progress have yielded several lesser but important finds.

EVENTUALLY, the ambitious plan calls for the establishment of a spacious open-air museum with tree-lined gardens, recreating the days when the area was Tenochtitlan, the island in the middle of a lake and the center of Aztec religion.

The project's modest beginnings date back to 1790, when Mexico was still a Spanish colony. The viceroy ordered the area around the Zocalo cleared in a search for relics of the Aztecs. Among hundreds of other items, they found three great monoliths, including La Piedra del Sol — the Aztec calendar, regarded by experts as the greatest Aztec sculpture ever found.

The search soon went into limbo, however. It was resumed in 1900 and another series of monuments and altars — where the Aztecs sacrificed humans and offered their hearts and blood to the sun god — were recovered.

ANOTHER HIATUS FOLLOWED, but renewed digging in 1913 — again in Cale Guatemala — uncovered the outer foundations of the Great Temple, which gave evidence of four separate epochs of the Aztec Empire dating back to 1325.

Despite those exciting discoveries, the projected cost of moving into major excavations again interrupted the work. The land above the area that the temple was presumed to cover was densely built up, and the structure then included some of the most important buldings of Mexico City.

In the six weeks of renewed activity since the discovery of the moon goddess, however, three teams have already started work, including seven of Mexico's top archeologists and 60 specially trained workmen.

One team is searching for the southern perimeter of the temple, another is digging below a former parking lot, looking for the back of the temple, and a third group, which began work a week ago, is seeking the northern wall.

SEVERAL NON-ARCHEOLOGICAL teams, also are at work, such as one examining the chemistry of the soil at various diggings. Matos, the general coordinator, explained that artifacts recovered might have been affected by the soil's chemical content and have to be given special treatment for their preservation.

Already the stone of the moon goddess has been cleaned, vacuumed and treated with silicone to protect it from Mexico City's smog, even before its removal from the discovery site.

The carving, declared a superb work of art, appears as though it had just been completed. The single fault is a crack entirely across it, probably caused, Matos said, by the weight and vibrations of the trolley cars passing above it.

It depicts Coyolxauhqui after she had been dismembered and beheaded by her brother, the war god Huitzilopochtli, according to one of the more gruesome Aztec legends.

It tells how Coatlicue, the goddess of the earth, had 400 children — the stars — and her moon-goddess daughter, Coyolxauhqui. One day in the temple, a piece of cotton floated down from the heavens, entered Coatlicue's body and made her pregnant.

COYOLXAUHQUI, angered and jealous, summoned all her brothers and sisters to kill their mother. But as they advanced on the frightened Coatlicue, the baby in her womb told her: Do not be afraid, mother. I will defend you."

Huitzilopochtli then was born, armed with a turquoise snake, and fell upon his siblings and drove them away — except Coyolzauhqui.

Chinese painting classes offered

Chinese brush painting classes will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Central YMCA, 800 N. Big Spring St. The course will run for six weeks on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

The course, taught by Susan Rutherford, will include instruction in Chinese calligraphy (writing) and painting such subject matter as bamboo, orchid and narcissus.

Students will use a bamboo brush, rice paper, ink stone and ink stick as well as traditional brush stroke methods of Chinese painting. A slide presentation on Chinese masterpieces and a talk on the philosophy of Chinese and Japanese art will be included.

The cost for YMCA members is $15 and for non-members, $25. More information may be obtained by calling the YMCA at $82-2551.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market, undeterred by word of an early-1978 decline in economic activity, turned upward again today after Tuesday's setback.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.51 at 807.78.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. The Dow had fallen 6.85 points Tuesday after soaring nearly 44 points in the three previous sessions. Before the opening the Commerce Department reported that the nation's gross national product

declined at an annual rate of 0.6 percent, after adjustment for inflation, in the first three months of 1978. Analysts noted that a weak showing had been expected because of winter storms and the coal strike. And Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps said strong growth in output of goods and services was expected through the spring. In addition, brokers said, traders' attention was be focused more on the market itself than on any outside news developments following the recordbreaking outburst of trading activity over the past several days.

American Airlines climbed % to 11% in active trading. The company sharply higher reported earnings for March and voted a 10 cents-a-share dividend, its first payout since 1971.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .23 to 52.39. and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up .16 at 134.82.

The trading pace continued to drop off from the hectic activity that culminated in a record volume of 63.51 million shares on Monday. Today's NYSE turnover came to 14.43 million shares by noontime against 18.30 million at the same point Tuesday.

Government gets bigger, Reese says

Government is becoming bigger and more impersonal, while people are getting smaller, Jim Reese, 19th Congressional District candidate, told members of Midland West Rotary Tuesday in "I think I can turn it (the trend towards bigger government) around. If I didn't think so, I wouldn't be here with you," Reese, a Republican from Odessa, said In his speech, he said he is a businessman, not a politician. If elected, Reese said he and his family would not move to Washington, D.C., but would keep their "roots" here Reese plans to set up a mobile office, which would move from town to town to keep in touch with the

"I don't want to become a professional politician." he said. Citizens should represent citizens in

When a newly elected person is sworn into Congress, Reese said, he's thinking about how he is going to get re-elected.

If terms were limited in number, he said, the result would be "better representation" because the legislators would be thinking of the next generation instead of getting re-elected. He advocated limiting the presidential term to six years and preventing senators from serving more than two terms.

Reese said limiting numbers of terms does not have enough support because it still is a "fresh idea." but he thinks the public will favor it once it becomes known.

Calling the Panama Canal Treaties a "smelly he said approval of the treaties will cost Texans millions of dollars and jobs. He said it is a 'dark day' since the treaties have been passed by the Senate. Some American banks are backing the treaties, Reese said, since they have loaned money to the president of Panama, Gen. Omar Torrijos. The only way these banks can recover their money, he claimed, is to let Torrijos obtain control of the Panama Canal so he (Torrijos) can raise the tolls.

Saying he would have no difficulty representing both farmers and oilmen. Reese held that both groups are producers and both are "handicapped with government regulations."

He maintained more farmers are beginning to support deregulation of natural gas prices because they believe it is in their best interest

'You have to place your faith in the free market or in the judgment of politicians and bureaucrats, Reese said, asserting that Republicans have a record of supporting free enterprise.

Reese is running for the Congressional seat vacated by retiring Congressman George Mahon. Other candidates for the post in the May 6 Republican Party primary are Midland oil producer George W. Bush and Joe Hickox, a retired U.S. Air Force colonel from Shallowater

Rodeo slated to begin today

The opening round of the four-performance American Junior Rodeo Association (AJRA) rodeo will get under way at 7:30 p.m. today in the Thorp Arena northwest of Midland.

Approximately 460 youths from the Southwest are entered in the event.

'This is the largest rodeo in the history of the AJRA," said Gerald Nobles Jr., chairman of the Midland Jaycees' rodeo committee. The Jaycees and Joe Thorp, a Midland horse stabler and rodeo promoter, are co-sponsoring the show.

The Hagers brothers, best known for their singing appearances on the television show "Hee-Haw," are to be at the rodeo tonight, Thorp said.

A calf scramble for boys and girls age 12 and under is to be held midwey in each of the four nightly shows. Other mid-show entertainment is to include a bull-riding contest, called "Challenge of the Bulls," Thursday night. At the Friday and Saturday night shows, a calf-dressing event, which Thorp calls 'putting on the bloomers," will be held Stock producer for the rodeo is Bobby Kelly of Stanton. Clowns will be Tommy "Hoss Fly" Atchison and Terry "Toro" Kelly, both of Stanton. Rodeo events will include tie-down calf roping, ribbon roping, barrel racing, pole bending, bull riding, bronc riding and steer wrestling. For AJRA competitors, the rodeo will be in three age categories: boys and girls through age 12; 13 to 15 and 16 to 19.

The rodeo also is open to non-AJRA members. The Thorp Arena is just off Farm Road 868 and about a mile west of Holiday Hill Road.

Teachers to hear program on Indians

Lee High School teacher Cindy Marsh Thursday will speak about American Indian culture during an in-service training workshop for Midland public school teachers in the Bowie Elementary School The teachers also are scheduled to hear an outline, given by Midland Public School Coordinator Dr. Robert Carter, concerning ethnic contributions to American culture

The workshop is one of a series which began in mid-April for fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade teachers who specialize in reading and mathematics.

On April 29, another workshop will be held with Dr. Prentice Baptiste of the University of Houston and his wife, Maribelle Baptiste, a Houston elementary school principal, talking about approaches for reaching all students. The Baptistes are writers and lecturers on multi-cultural education. Their presentation is set from 9 a.m. to noon in the Bowie

The final workshop will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. May 4 in the Bowie cafeteria. The program will involve a presentation by Carter.

Presley funeral case hearing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - A 19year-old man accused of killing two young women with his car in front of Elvis Presley's mansion last August was to appear in Criminal Court Judge William Williams was expected to set a trial date for the accused man, Treatise Wheeler. Wheeler, 18 when he was charged, was ruled competent to face trial in January after a University of Tennessee psychologist examined him.

Wheeler is charged with two counts of second-degree murder in the deaths of Alice Marie Hovatar and Juanita Joanne Johnson, both 19 and from Monroe, La. The women were killed and a third,

Tammy Baiter, 17, of St. Clair, Mo., was injured during the pre-dawn hours of Aug. 18, the day of Presley's funeral, as they kept a vigil outside Graceland mansion. The singer died Aug. 16.

Wheeler was arrested a short distance from the accident scene. He was also charged with driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident.

He is being held without bond in the Shelby County Jail.

Graham plans crusade return to Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Evangelist Billy Graham says he plans a return engagement here this sum-mer, the scene of a 1967 crusade he calls "the most outstanding crusade ever held in America."

Graham was in Kansas City Tuesday to announce plans for the Mid-America Crusade. He said services would run Aug. 27-Sept. 3 in Kemper Arena, winding up Labor Day, Mon-day, Sept. 4 in Royals Stadium of the Harry S. Truman Sports Complex.

The 1967 crusade averaged 30,000 persons a night in the old Municipal Stadium, according to Graham.

Kemper's 16,500-seat arena might not be large enough to accomodate the crowds, Graham said, prompting consideration of two services nightly or closed circuit television to other auditoriums. He said three of the services would be televised nation-

Royals stadium, with a seating capacity of 40,600, was available only on the final day of the crusade, Graham

The Kansas City stop will mark one phase of a busy summer and fall for Graham. He said he would appear in Memphis before coming here, then follow with crusades in Stockholm, Sweden; Oslo, Norway; five cities in Poland, and Singapore.

Graham touched on wide-ranging issues in meeting with newsmen to announce the crusade. He said he was not certain of the validity of the conversion of porno publisher Larry Flynt, who claims to be born again. He said he is "hoping and praying the conversion is gen-uine" and that Flynt recovers fully from gunshot wounds he suffered on a Georgia street earlier this year. Graham said Flynt had tried to get in touch with him prior to the publisher's announced conversion, but Graham had not returned the calls.

He said he was "thrilled and amazed" by the conversion of former White House aide Charles Colson, that Colson had proven his conversion by the way he is living now.

Graham, noting he had been close to many presidents, said the job was a killer for one man. He suggested there might be two offices, one of them ceremonial, to share the daily burdens of running the country.

He wouldn't evaluate the performance of President Carter, other than to say he had entered a very tough job with the added burden of not knowing Washington.

Touching on race relations, Graham said the church "should be out in front...it should have been done a century...three centuries ago.

He said he has long stated that 11 a.m. Sunday "is the most segregated hour of the week."

"It's Christ's church...anyone ought to be able to be a part of any

Asked about the Unification Church and its Moonies, Graham said he believed Rev. Moon to be "a false prophet" who "doesn't represent true Christians." He said he would refuse to contribute money to the group.

One-time minister makes career of teaching how to change jobs

The Washington Post

Americans may be the job-huntingest people around. A restless breed, many change jobs, or try to, about as often as they change cars - as if the perfect career-gadget-mate is just out of reach.

The average worker under 35, goes on a job hunt once every year and a half, one study shows. For the worker over 35, it's once every three years. And experts estimate that the average worker today will change careers — not just jobs — three to five times in his or her lifetime.

But the way they go about it is totally, utterly wrong, if you ask Richard Bolles.

Bolles, a jovial California cleric who confesses to being a "confirmed leisureholic," is the author of a top-selling book on career planning called "What Color Is Your Parachute?" The book, subtitled "A Practical Manual for Job-Hunters & Career. Changers," has made him something of a guru among people trying to change their jobs and their

Since it was published in 1972 by Ten Speed Press. a small Berkeley company whose biggest success until then had been a book on bicycling, it has sold 650,000 copies, made Bolles a pile of money, and been acclaimed in such establishment publications as Business Week and the Harvard Business Review.

The Review called it "one of the finest entributions to literature on life-work planning ... A guide that can be used effectively by any individual interested in determining his job objectives and career goals." Bolles, who is now being called on to conduct workshops and deliver speeches all over the country. believes that the traditional ways people are told to find jobs, and the assumptions they carry into the job hunt with them, either don't produce jobs or lead people to jobs they're unhappy with.

"If people are having trouble with the job hunt, it's not them," he says. "It's the Neanderthal system of job-hunting we have in this country.

Bolles thinks there's a better way. And he has set out to convince people of that. (Bolles notes that a crusading zeal seems to run in his family. His brother Don Bolles was the Arizona Republic reporter killed while investigating political and business corruption in that state two years ago.)

Bolles operates from Walnut Creek, Calif., where he runs a career development project for the United Ministries in Higher Education, a coalition of nine major Protestant denominations offering services on college campuses around the country.

Whatever missionary zeal Bolles had in his first career as an Episcopalian parish minister seems to have carried over to his second. "Life-work planning takes seriously the brevity of this life we have," he

One of its main goals, says Bolles, is to get people to try to blend achievement, play and learning in their work - "the idea that you should enjoy your job and learn on the job," not just perform the work.

Hieu Khac Ngo managed to get out of Vietnam with a sister shortly before Saigon fell to the North Vietnamese in 1975. Several Americans his father had befriended helped them settle in Fullerton, Calif. But their parents and seven other brothers and sisters remained in Vietnam.

"It was as though a shell covered me during my first year in the United States," the high school senior said in an interview here. "I was shocked. American society was so open, there seemed to be no respect. Kids my age would kiss in public without shame."

Hieu said he was afraid of nearly everything he encountered. But curiosity and loneliness pushed him through the door of the Fullerton Boys' Club.

"Maybe that day my shell cracked," he said. 'The executive director took me around just as though I was somebody. Everyone was friendly and said hello."

However, Hieu said he was still bothered by what he felt was a lack of respect of the teen-age club members for their older advisors. "But I learned that things are different here. People show their emotions, and I have learned to show mine, too."

The aspiring engineering student credits his experience in the Keystone Club — the section of the Boys' Clubs that concentrates on teen-agers — with helping him adapt to American life.

He is remarkably fluent in colloquial English for someone who you. Are you a corporation lawyer who sneaks away from the office to spend your days in art galleries? Maybe you should find a job in the art world that uses your abilities.

Normally, though, Bolles says, people start out with some idea of the field they want to go into. Somewhere down the line they find out how their skills mesh - or don't mesh - with a particular job.

What he thinks they should do, whether entering the job market or switching jobs, is to figure out beforehand what their skills really are by "atomizing" their previus achievements into component parts. (If you've ever been a salesman, for example, you're probably good at dealing with people and working with figures.) They should then decide what they want to do based on the skills they enjoy using, and finally focus on what specific jobs will enable them to do what they want.

"A crucial point, a devastating point," says Bolles, "is that we may have certain skills but not enjoy

Bolles has particular criticism for the traditional job-hunting process

"Did you know that only one out of every 1,470 resumes sent out by all people ever links someone up with a job?" he says. Not much better in his opinion are employment agencies, job counselors, classified ads, and the other accepted devices for helping people find work.

"All these traditional job-hunting mechanisms know only about one-fifth of all vacancies available at any one time," he says. "And using them, you find you are not simply going somewhere (where) there's a vacancy, but somewhere that's let it be known there's a vacancy. The thing to do is to ignore whether a place has a vacancy and just go to places where you want to work. Two-thirds of job-hunters find their jobs through friends and contacts, says Bolles - a fact that he is not the first to cite. But while going through friends and acquaintances may yield a job, he says, it will not necessarily guarantee a job that mak s you happy - not unless you have already done the necessary homework to figure out what you want, and can then use those contacts to find the right job.

What qualified Bolles for his present job, and for writing a book about job-hunting?

"Very simple," he says, "I was fired."

But in job-hunting for his next job he started examining the whole process. And when he joined up with United Ministries, he set out to write a pamphlet to help unemployed college ministers.

He traveled all over the country doing research on how to job-hunt, and by the time he was done, he says, "instead of a 32-page pamphlet, I had a 231-page book." The title "doesn't mean anything," he adds, other than that he was thinking of "bailing Compared to even a decade ago. Bolles says, people today have become more critical of their obs. They expect more and are more willing to leave their job if it doesn't measure up." He attributes this partly to peoples' growing tendency to look inward, partly to the increased emphasis on "feeling good." and partly to "the replacement philosophy of our technological society: We're trained to replace rather than repair, and I think this carries over to relationships and jobs as well as things." AILS

Beekman Enterprises, Inc. of Midland No. 1 Robinson and others will be drilled as a 5,000-foot wildcat in Loving County, 12 miles northeast of

The test site is one location north of a 4,666-foot dry hole and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block 56, T-1, T&P survey.

CROSBY WILDCAT

Delton Caddell of Ralls spotted location for a 4,950-foot Clear Fork wildcat in Crosby County, four miles south of Caprock. It is 3.5 miles southeast of production in the Ridge, South (Clear Fork) field.

Drillsite is 467 feet from north and west lines of section 1150, K. Aycock survey, Abstract 497. It will be drilled

FIELD TEST

The same operator also staked location for a project one location east of a well in the Ridge, South (Clear Fork) pool.

It is No. 1 Anna Belle, 467 feet from north and west lines of section 5, K. Aycock survey, Abstract 432, three miles southwest of Caprock. It is to drill to 4,300 feet.

EDDY WILDCAT

Anadarko Production Co. of Eunice, N. M., will dig its No. 1 Power-Federal Communitized as an 11,550foot wildcat in Eddy County, N. M., 11 miles southwest of Maljamar.

The location is 2,200 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 26-17s-30e. It is 3% miles east of the Loco Hills (Morrow) field.

RUNNELS TEST

John W. Barbee of Abilene No. 1 Dolph Richards is a 4,100-foot wildcat in Runnels County, 13 miles northeast

The site is % mile west of a 3,951of the Ashton (Dog Bend) field.

The location is 2,872 feet from south and 1,400 feet from east lines of SA&M survey No. 7. Ground elevation is

RE-ENTRY SET

Ronald R. Perkins of Dallas announced plans to re-enter the former Karl Hoblitzelle No. 4-A S. W. Horton and make tests as a wildcat. The project is 330 feet from north and east lines of G. D. Cole survey No. 291/2. The elevation is 1,814 feet. The project was drilled to 4,620 feet by Southern Production Co. and abandoned in 1956. It later was re-entered by Hoblitzelle.

The project will be operated by Perkins as the No. 1-B S. W. Horton.

MCCULLOCH PROJECT

Production Services of San Angelo spotted location for a 1,900-foot wildcat in McCulloch County, 10 miles north of Lohn.

It is No. 1-F Miller, 230 feet from north and 300 feet from east lines of Henry Cox survey No. 1186. It is 1/2 mile southwest of the Lojon (Strawn

PECOS RE-ENTRY

MG&H operators announced plans to re-enter a Permian 3800 producer in the Abell multipay area of Pecos County and test for production in the 3200 and 2200 zones.

The project is No. 1 Hodges, 1,980 feet from south and 672 feet from east lines of section 31, block 9, H&GN survey and eight miles east of Imperi-

The well originally swas drilled as No. 1 D. W. Smith. It is 41/4 miles east of 3200 production and 3½ miles southeast of Permian oil production.

B&C Operating Co. has announced completion of a pair of wells in the Abell (Clear Fork) area of Pecos

The operator's No. 1 Boys Ranch, a re-entry project, was finaled for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 725,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations from 2,940 to 3,492 feet after 4,000 gallons of acid and 40,000 gallons of fracture solution.

Total depth is 3,950 feet and plugged back depth is 3,450 feet. Four and one-half-inch casing is set at 3,950

The location is 31/2 miles east of other Clear Fork gas production in the same zone and 1,500 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 32, block 9, H&GN survey.

B&C No. 2 Boys Ranch, one location east of Abell (Clear Fork gas) produc-tion, finaled for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 950,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations from 3,043 to 3,479 feet. The pay was acidized with 1,100 gallons and fractured with 38,000 gallons.

Location is 600 feet from south and 683 feet from east lines of section 32, block 9, H&TC survey.

CRANE WELL

Lario Oil & Gas Co. No. 3 J. B. Tubb is a new well in the Sand Hills (McKnight) field of Crane County, 15 miles northwest of Crane.

Operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 4.6 million cubic feet of gas per day. The gas-liquid ratio was 20,950-1.

Production is through perforations from 2,922 to 3,099 feet. The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons.

A re-entry project, it is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block 32, psl survey.

SUTTON EXTENDER

Amoco Production Co. No. 3-D Edwin S. Mayer Jr., a Canyon gas producer, has been recompleted to extend the Whitehead (Strawn) gas field of Sutton County2 % miles north-

The operatior reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 1,225,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 7,708 to 7,956 feet. The zone was fractured with 75,000 gallons.

Location is 1,145 feet from north and 1,199 feet from east lines of McMullen County School Land survey No. 4 and 15 miles northwest of Son-

Operator has requested permission from the Railroad Commission of Texas to comingle the two zones.

BORDEN TEST

Cobra Oil & Gas Corp. of Wichita Falls will drill No. 2 B. J. Belew 1,650 feet northeast of the Wolfcamp discovery of the Myrtle, North field of Borden Counth, 15 miles northeast of Gail. There is one Wolfcamp well in

The new project will be drilled 2,200 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 480, block 97, H&TC survey.

SCURRY TEST

T. F. Hodge of Midland will re-enter his No. 2 N. G. Landrum in Scurry County and attempt completion in the Varel, North (San Andres) field. A former Glorieta well, it is 1,484 feet from north and 2,006 feet from east lines of section 487, block 97, H&TC survey and three miles east of Flu-

Coal slurry line slated

HOUSTON (AP) - Energy Transportation Systems Inc. announced Tuesday a 400-mile extension for the slurry pipeline it proposes to build to move coal from Wyoming's Powder River Basin.

The addition would expand the line to 1,400 miles and extend its southern terminus from Arkansas to Baton Rouge, La.

The original 1,000-mile proposal was announced in 1974.

E. J. Wasp, vice president, said the extension will greatly increase the line's flexibility in serving a wide variety of utility and industrial customers anywhere along the route as well as various Midsouth terminals.

Wasp made the announcement at the American Petroleum Institute's annual pipeline conference. "As the Midsouth region in particular adopts plans to convert from oil and natural gas as fuel for electric generating facilities, the coal slurry pipeline alternative is proving to be increasingly attractive," he said. "One factor which contributed to the decision to serve this market was the strong support received from the states of Louisiana and Oklahoma last year in their passage of eminent domain legislation."

He said that while plans currently do not call for the line to serve markets in the Texas the passage of eminent domain rights by the Texas Leg-islature provided moral support for the concept.

G. T. Abell gets award

George T. Abell, a Midland independent oil and gas operator, has received the Public Service Award presented annually by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

The award was presented last week at the annual convention of the AAPG in Oklahoma City, Okla. Abell was unable to attend the awards ceremony and the presentation was made to his son, Duane Abell, of San Antonio and Midland.

The citation accompanying the award recognized Abell's more than half a century of distinguished work in the oil and gas industry and a lifetime of serve to public affairs.

He was cited for 11 years service on the board of trustees of Midland Memorial Hospital, four years as a member of the board of trustees for the Midland Independent School District, 40 years service to the Boy Scouts of America, and five years as a member of the National Executive Reserve for the Department of Interior.

Abell also was recognized for having conceived and being the principal organizer of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library & Hall of Fame in Midland.

"These and many other contributions and achievements in the area of public service preeminently qualify George T. Abell for this award and recognition," the citation said. Kenneth H. Crandall, a California geologist, was presented the AAPG's Sidney Powers Memorial Medal Award, the highest award presented by the association. The award is given in recognition of distinguished and outstanding contributions to petrole-

Crandall retired from Standard Oil Co. of California in 1969 and is now a consultant and visiting professor at Stanford University. He served as AAPG president ina 1969-70, was made an honorary member in 1972, and currently serves as a trustee of the AAPG Foundation.

Daniel A. Busch of Tulsa, Okla. another past president of AAPG, was awarded honorary membership for his service to the geological profession and to AAPG.

The association's Human Needs Award was presented to Vincent E. McKelvey, former director of the U.S. Geological Survey. This award recognizes outstanding contributions to the national and world community.

Awards for distinguished service to the association were presented to Robert H. Dott Sr. of Tulsa and to Frank Gouin of Duncan, Okla.

DOE says decision due on LNG terminal

HOUSTON (AP) - A public hearing on a proposed $500 million Matagorda Bay terminal to receive imported liquefied natural gas from Al-geria ended Tuesday with no indication when Department of Energy officials will rule on the project.

David J. Bardin, head of the Economic Regulatory Commission, made no response to a plea by Malcolm Dungan, San Francisco lawyer for El Paso LNG Co., for immediate action. Dungan said further delay could prompt Algeria to cancel its 20-year contract to supply about 1 billion cubic feet of gas a day. "They could cancel at any time," he

Bardin earlier had heard environmentalists criticize the project and had heard Matagorda Bay area residents offer both criticism and praise. 'We have heard a diversity of points of view and concern, matters that must be weighed by the Department of Energy," Bardin said. 'We have a number of very serious aspects to grapple with, including the project's strategic importance to the After adjourning the two-day hearing, Bardin left for Matagorda Bay to

Nitrogen studied

The injection of pure nitrogen is being studied as one possible method of increasing the oil recovery both onshore and offshore, said Dr. Paul B. Crawford, assistant director of Texas Petroleum Research Committee and professor of petroleum engineering at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Crawford addressed the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers meeting at Ranchland Hills Country Club Tuesday night. Dr. Crawford has been doing research to determine the feasibility of increasing oil, condensate and gas recovery by injecting pure nitrogen at high pressures. The nitrogen would replace the scarce and more expensive natural gas.

Pure, dry cryogenic nitrogen costs less than one-forth the price of intrasate gas, Crowford said.

By the injection of pure nitro laboratory researchers have obtained oil recoveries greater than 90 percent of the oil originally in place, but the recovery in an oil field would only be about half of this due to irregularities in the rock, Crawford said.

Nitrogen is obtained by liquefying air and separating the nitrogen and oxygen by distillation. Crawford said that this process results in a pure, dry, non-corrosive nitrogen that can be injected into a petroleum reser-

Pure nitrogen can be used in oil reservois that have light crude oils. That is, those crude oils that pour like water, not crude oils which are thick and pour like honey, Crawford said.

Nitrogen may also be used for pressure maintenance and in condensate reservoirs, he said. Condensate reservoirs require gas injection to maximize the oil recovery

"Here in the Permian Basin, pure nitrogen will find application as a chase gas for carbon dioxide miscible floods. Pure nitrogen will cost less than half the cost of carbon-dioxide coming in from Colorado.

The shortage of natural gas, together with high prices, has required that suitable substitutes be developed to replace natural gas, Crawford said. Nitrogen isreadily made from the air, he added. It can be used as a substitute for natural gas. "Nitrogen is not quite as good as natural gas, but natural gas is in very short supply and intrastate natural gas cost four times as much as nitrogen", Crawford said

The first plant using pure nitrogen has been in operation for more than a year. A second plant was installed ten months ago.

Additional plants can be expected to begin operation during the next two years, Dr. Crawford predicted.

"I question the right of El Paso to jeopardize that investment," she

promoted Harper

The promotion of H. Steve Harper of The Ortloff Corporation to project manager has been announced by Ortloff President W.L. "Bill" Barnes.

Harper joined Ortloff's process engineering group in 1975 as a senior engineer and was later promoted to staff engineer, performing a variety of project engineering duties.

In his new position he is responsible for managing the execution of engi-

Tailor uses hammer, not needle, thread

By DAVID LARSEN
The Los Angeles Times

GLENDALE, Calif. - Claudio Mazzoli undresses with a can opener. His wife doesn't wash his clothes. She polishes them

That is because part of Mazzoli's wardrobe consists of suits of armor. His hobby is making them.

"I started with it when I was a boy in Italy ," he said. "By the time I moved to this country two years ago. I had designed and put together 10 armored suits.

Eight of them are still in museums and houses in Europe but the other two greet visitors to the den of his Glendale home.

Most tailors work with a needle and thread. Mazzoli uses a hammer.

libraries and then I make a drawing." he explained. "Next I order some iron. In no time at all - maybe six to nine months - I have a suit.

The 35-year-old Mazzoli, a production designer with WED Enterprises, does everything by hand. Even the rings for the chain mail are in-dividually punched.

"A typical suit weighs about 70 pounds but they are more mobile than you might think," he said. "I even danced in one at a costume party."

He figures it costs around $3,600 to make one of his armored creations but they're not for sale.

Metal garments had their finest hour in the 15th and 16th centuries but faded in defense importance as firearms became more powerful. By the 18th century, they were obsolete except for sporting and ceremonial occasions.

"I occasionally go over to England and joust on horseback in tour-naments," Mazzoli said. "But two hours inside one of those suits is about all you can take. Gets a little warm

He has also posed in his metal apparel for a liqueur ad in an Italian magazine.

"It takes 15 minutes just to get into one," he said. "My brother, Valerio, has to help me."

His wife, Mercedes, puts the armored suits to good use. On the chest of each is a brace for the lance. She uses it as a clothes hanger.

The suits really aren't of much other practical use anymore. although knights reportedly could be buried in one

Calif. (AP) - A treat for the eyes, motorists call it. the last piece of thriving earth they can glimpse from the freeway as they commute between landscaped subdivisions and concrete-and-steel offices.

It's a good, healthy chunk of farmland, 88 acres of cabbage and lettuce sprawled near the junction of Interstate 680 and California 24.

It is the last big farm bordering the highways of Contra Costa County. where 20 years ago nearly everything in sight was alive and growing and the air was ripe with the scent of manure.

'It's a respite for my eyes and heart, just to be reminded that this hasn't always been all houses and concrete," says Janet Lampson, 43, who drives by the farm often on her way from San Jose. "But Lord, just look around it and you can see it couldn't last forever."

Developers agree. The green they see growing hereabouts is profit. Plans call for 300,000 feet of office space to replace the cabbages.

interview. "But I get provide jobs and an ac- The agency director Research indicates 'crib death,' apnea are related disorders

By HARRY NELSON The Los Angeles Times

Babies who die suddenly in their cribs and overweight middle-aged men who have heart attacks in bed may share a common problem sleep apnea.

Sleep apnea is a prolonged cessation of breathing that occurs during sleep.

One of the nation's pioneer sleep researchers, Dr. William Dement of the Stanford Sleep Research Center. estimates that 100,000 Americans mostly males - have sleep apnea. Typically they stop breathing for 30 to 50 seconds perhaps 100 or more times during the night.

Studies by Dement and other sleep researchers have revealed that persons with sleep apnea have profoundly abnormal heart rhythms during the night, although their electrocardiograms may be normal during the day.

Presumably the oxygen deprivation that results from the prolonged periods of nonbreathing is the root of the abnormal heartbeats, which perhaps trigger a heart attack in a susceptible individual.

Dr. Elliot D. Weitzman of the Sleep-Wake Disorders Unit of New York's Montefiore Hospital has done extensive studies of people with sleep apnea. He and other sleep researchers believe it may be possible to identify apnea patients by the way they snore.

Snoring, of course, is common in men, but the snoring pattern of apnea patients is quite different, according to Weitzman. While normal persons snore with each breath, the apnea patient's snore is followed by silent periods during which he does not breath for many seconds. There are, however, brief gasping sounds as he attempts to take in a breath. Most of these patients have some kind of an obstruction in their airway. One type of obstruction appears to be due to an oversized pharynx, which partially blocks the airway at the base of the tongue. In another type, the throat muscles repeatedly open and close during sleep.

Last week at a meeting of the Association for the Psychophysiologic Study of Sleep in Palo Alto, Calif., it was reported that tracheostomy - cutting a hole in the throat through which the patient breathes - decreases the abnormal heart rhythms and other symptoms of the potentially lethal condition.

According to a panel of authorities assembled recently at the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, sleep apnea is one of the leading theories for explaining the sudden infant death syndrome

SIDS, or "crib death," is the leading cause of death between the ages of 1 month and 12 months. It claims between 7,500 and 10,000 babies a year in the United States.

Theories about the cause of SIDS are numerous. They range all the way from bacterial infections to milk

However, the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development panel listed apnea and spasm of the larynx - which has the same oxygen-depriving effect as apnea as two of the theories that best fit what has been learned from epidemiological research and autopsy findings on SIDS.

According to Dr. Christian Guilleminault, who also works at the Stanford Sleep Research Center, all infants normally stop breathing during sleep - but only for a few seconds. This has been known for about three years.

Assuming the theory that SIDS babies die of apnea is an accurate one, why do infants not resume their breathing? Does it have anything to do with the various stages of sleep?

It is known that the brain normally monitors a wide variety of physiological functions taking place throughout the body during both wakefulness and sleep. In the area of respiration, two of these activities are chest movement and carbon dioxide level. Guilleminault said in a recent interview.

However, he said, there is some evidence in animals and human infants that carbon dioxide monitoring, which provides an important index of how well the body is being oxygenated, does not always occur. Normally when the brain senses too little oxygenation, a feedback mechanism causes the body to take action aimed at correcting the deficit.

In dogs. Guilleminault said, it has been shown that the carbon dioxide feedback mechanism does not operate when the dog is in the REM stage of sleep. REM, which stands for rapid eye movement, is the stage when dreams occur.

There also have been studies of socalled "near miss" infants showing that they did not always sense a carbon dioxide buildup - at least not as efficiently as do normal babies. Near miss babies are those who very likely would have been SIDS casualties had they not been rescued by a parent. The panel of SIDS experts agreed that SIDS babies have subtle anatomic and physiologic defects which affect the nervous sytem, the heart and respiratory system and perhaps body metabolism. By studying the SIDS victims and the near miss babies, investigators hope to be able to identify these defects.

It is possible that a part of the brain controlling ventilation during sleep does not work appropriately in some infants during sleep, Guilleminault said. This might be because those infants' brains did not reach an adequate state of maturity before

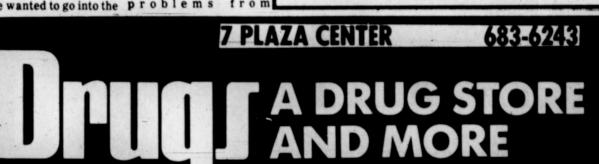

In support of the hypothesis that there may be a relationship between crib death and a particular stage of sleep, the Stanford researcher pointed out that most crib deaths occur between 2 and 4 months of age, the point in time when most babies begin to sleep all night without awakening

HOLDING a plaque presented to him Monday by Midland College Board of Trustees President Murray Fasken, left, is former trustee Robert Leibrock. Leibrock, who served as a trustee since 1969 and who was board president from 1975-77, was honored for his "outstanding service" to the board. Upon accepting the plaque, Leibrock said the college "has measured up to expectations in every way," and he said this was a "small indication" of what it could do in the future. Leibrock did not seek re-election to the board in the April 1 trustee elections. (Staff

Clements, Rasure trigger Lee victory

By BOB DILLON

Robert E. Lee had its hitting shoes on Tuesday

The Rebels feasted on San Angelo pitching as they pounded out 18 hits to romp past the Central Bobcats, 16-2, at the Lee diamond in District 5-4A baseball action.

Lee had already beaten the Bobcats, 20-9, in San Angelo and with the 18 hits Tuesday, the Rebs wound up collecting 36 runs and 40 hits in the

The Rebels powered seven doubles and four triples as Todd Clements and Don Rasure led the attack with three hits each. Clements had a single and two triples while Rasure chipped in with two singles and a three-bagger. Clements knocked in four runs while teammates Pat Moore, John White and Terry Willis had two RBIs each. Don Rasure had three RBIs. Lee broke open a 4-2 game with a four-run outburst in the fourth inning and added nine more in the fifth on eight hits as sophomore Todd Fields surrendered all 18 base blows before being lifted for relief pitcher Mike McLaughlin. The sophomore was already shell-shocked by that time,

LEE LIKES to score bundles of runs after two are out and Tuesday was no exception as the Rebs scored two runs after there were two down in the bottom of the first. Clay Calhoun doubled and Craig Van Horn followed with a single for a San Angelo first baseman Jody Martinez connected on a fast ball by Willis for a solo homer in the top of the third to cut the lead toto 2-1, but Lee countered with a run of its own to make it 3-1 in the third.

Steers bombard Midland, 11-2

By PAUL DOMOWITCH R-T Sports Writer

BIG SPRING - Midland High pitching took another pounding here Tuesday afternoon as the host Steers lashed out 14 hits enroute to a convincing 11-2 win.

Ricky Goode, who was tagged with the loss, and Bud Brigham were the victims of the Steers' offensive barrage. Goode started, but went only two innings. He gave up only four filts but also walked four as Big Spring scored five runs during his brief stint.

Brigham faired no better, giving up 10 hits and the final six Steer runs.

Charley Vernon, Big Spring's big righthander who lost a 4-3 decision to the Pack in the first half of district play, was tagged for 10 hits, but got some fine defensive assistance, which included a pair of rally-killing double plays, and went the distance.

Midland is now 9-13 overall and slips to 0-2 in the second half of 5-4A competion. Big Spring is 9-15 overall and 1-1 in district

Midland got both its runs in the first on a home run by catcher James Allen. But that was one of the few bright spots of the day.

The Steers tied it in their half of the first without the benefit of a base hit, as Goode walked three and hit yet another batter.

Big Spring put it out of reach in the third when they struck for six runs, knocking Goode off the mound and then taking vengence out on Brigham. The big blow was a two-run homer by Steer catcher Tony Mann.

Midland threatened in both the fifth and sixth innings, but both times, double plays proved their undoing. In the sixth, Coach Larry Peel's team loaded the bases on consecutive singles by Steve Cole, Tracy Gann and Archie Booth before the Steers made the twin killing on a ground ball hit by Brigham.

For a little insurance, the Steers added three final runs in the sixth on RBI singles by Larry Smith, Johnny Mize and Charlie Vernon.

whacked his first two-bagger into left and scored on a solid single into right by Clements. After two were out in the top of the fourth, the Bobcats scored their final run of the long afternoon

Steve Bennett doubled and raced home on David Whitfield's base hit to cut the lead to 4-2.

THEN CAME the four-run outburst that started the rout in the fourth

Rasure legged out an infield single and White ripped a triple up the power alley in right-center to make it 5-2. Willis singled in White and pinchrunner Richard Josefy scored too on a ringing double by Doug Schmidt.

Clements scored Schmidt with his triple for a 6-2 advantage. Nine runs poured across the plate in the bottom of the fifth and all nine were unearned as Lee scored them after two were retired. White was safe on an error by Whitfield at short and this opened the gates for the outburst.

Willis singled in White after the junior speedster stole second and went to third on an overthrow by McLaughlin at second Alcorn doubled Willis to third and both scored on Moore's second double of the game. Clements bounced a triple over the left fielder's head for two more runs and Calhoun singled in Clements.

Van Horn doubled Calhoun to third and Rasure singled sharply for two more runs and a 15-2. Rasure scored moments later on a ringing double by White and the final 16-2 tally.

CENTRAL THREATENED in the sixth after one was out when Mark Freeman tripled off reliever Van Horn, but the senior pitcher struck out Bennett and Whitfield, swinging, to end that small threat.

After two were out in the top of the seventh, Martinez single past second and McLaughlin walked. Roy Valdez hit a popup to Chris Sapyta at third, but Sapyta dropped the ball and alertly fired to Calhoun at home who tagged out Martinez for the final out of the game.

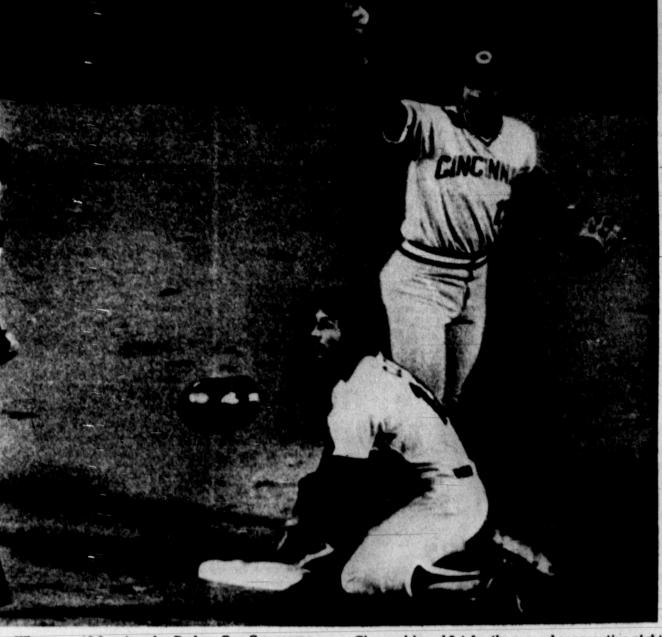

Lee is now 17-7 on the year and 2-0 in sharing first place with Abilene and Abilene Cooper who took wins over Odessa and Permian Tuesday.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS: Although Lee pounded out 18 hits in a game that featured 14 extra-base blows between the two rivals, there were some fine defensive plays made by both sides. Whitfield made an amazing grab of a hot shot off the bat of Van Horn in the third inning, got up and threw to first for the putout while John White made a fine running catch of Fields' drive into right...Rebel centerfielder Pat Moore also made a great diving catch off his shoelaces in the fifth inning on Martinez' sinking liner.

San Angelo is now 11-9 on the year and pretty much out of the running for the second half title with a 0-2

Lee travels to Abilene Saturday for an important date with the Cooper Cougars in its next outing.

Montefusco loses, 1-0 despite three-hit gem

By The Associated Press

John Montefusco gets plenty of respect from the opposition in the National League - but he hasn't been getting too much support from his teammates this year.

It was another one of those games Tuesday night.

The swaggering pitcher known as the "Count" didn't have too much to swagger about, despite pitching brilliant three-hit ball against the Atlanta Braves.

All he had to show for his hard work was a 1-0 loss and possibly some kingsize paranoia. Probably that was the reason that he disappeared after the game without a word to anyone.

"I guess he must be upset," understated Atlanta's Jerry Royster. Montefusco, in fact, has pitched pretty efficient baseball so far this season but has little to show for it. In three starts, the rangy right-hander has given up just three earned runs in 19 1-3 innings and has yet to win his first game. The Giants have given him just five runs to work with in that period and some shoddy fielding sup-

TUESDAY NIGHT, for example. the Braves' run was unearned Preston Hanna, who combined with Adrian Devine on a one-hitter for Atlanta, was the beneficiary of it.

"I really wish I could have kept on going, but I wanted to play it safe." said Hanna, who pitched seven innings before his arm tightened.

The only hit off the 23-year-old right-hander was a clean single through the middle by Johnnie LeMaster in the third inning.

The victory, incidentally, broke a four-game losing streak for the Braves and was only their second of the season.

"That's what we needed — a shutout," said Atlanta's Jeff Burroughs. "If you can't win with a shutout, you're in trouble." Elsewhere in the National League.

JV tournament set

The annual Midland Junior Varsity Invitational Baseball Tournament gets underway Thursday at the Midland Lee and Memorial Stadiam diamond with a field of seven teams entered in this year's tourney.

Lee takes on the Class AA Crane varsity at 2 p.m. at the Lee diamond followed by the Odessa-Big Spring clash at 4 p.m. at Lee. Odessa Permian takes on the Midland Bullpups at 2 p.m. at the Memorial Stadium diamond while Lubbock Coronado draws a first round bye, playing the winner of the Permian-Bullpup game at 12 noon Saturday.

The winner of the Lee-Crane battle meets the winner of the OHS-Big Spring tilt at 10 a.m. The loser of the Permian-Midland game drops into the loser's bracket.

The consolation finals are set for 2 p.m. Saturday at Lee with the championship tussle set for 4 p.m. at the same same diamond sicne since a varsity baseball game between Midland and Abilene will be played at the Memorial Stadium diamond on Saturday.

There will be a 10-run rule with trophies being given for first, second and consolation honors.

the Cincinnati Reds routed the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-3; the Chicago Cubs edged the Montreal Expos 2-1; the New York Mets nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 and the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 5-1. Rain postponed the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game.

Montefusco struck out nine and walked none in his fine, eight-inning performance. The first hit off the San Francisco starter was a double to leftcenter by Burroughs, scoring Royster from second base with two out in the fourth. Royster reached first on a throwing error by LeMaster at short and then stole second.

Reds 11, Dodgers 3

Ken Griffey slugged a three-run homer, Joe Morgan a two-run shot and George Foster and Johnny Bench bases-empty blasts to lead Cincinnati over Los Angeles.

Fred Norman recorded his second victory without a loss with relief help and also had three of Cincinnati's 16 hits off four Dodger pitchers. Don Sutton took the loss, giving up three of the Cincinnati home runs.

Cubs 2, Expos 1 Ray Burris and Bruce Sutter combined to pitch an eight-hitter and batterymate Dave Rader drove in the eventual winning run, leading Chicago over Montreal. Burris was touched for a run in the first inning on Gary Carter's RBI double, then blanked the Expos the rest of the way

The Cubs scored both their runs in the second, one on a double-play grounder by Manny Trillo and the other on Rader's single. "I'm mentally more hungry this with eighth-inning relief help from year," said Burris, who has victories in his first two decisions. "I want a great season. I want to show myself I can go out and be consistent all year. I kept myself in shape during the winter and went into spring training with determination and desire. "I am determined to be aggressive and do the right things consistently,' Mets 3, Cardinals 2

Pinch-hitter Bobby Valentine smacked a two-run double with two out in the seventh inning to snap a 1-1 tie and lead New York over St. Louis. Valentine's hit down the left field line followed Willie Montanez's one-out double and walks to Lee Mazzilli and pinch-hitter Ed Kranepool that loaded Rookie New York right-hander

Mike Bruhert handcuffed the Cards on three hits, all in the third inning. before he was lifted for Valentine during the Mets' winning rally.

Astros 5, Padres 1 Right-hander Joe Niekro fired a four-hitter and drove in two runs to spark Houston over San Diego. After bunting home a run during a two-run Astro rally in the second inning off losing pitcher Bob Shirley, Niekro singled home another off Padre reliever Rollie Finges when the Astros scored two more in the eighth.

Bob Watson paced Houston's 13-hit attack with three hits while Niekro. Art Howe and Joe Ferguson each had two. Oscar Gamble singled in the Padres' run in the third.

El Paso evens series with Midland Cubs

BY TED BATTLES It was the kind of game you could miss without feel-ing any great void in your sports viewing life. El Paso squared the Texas League series by defeating the Midland Cubs, 9-4, at Cubs Stadium Tues-day night, avenging Monday's 9-8 ninth-inning loss with a little poetic justice.

Just as the Diablos' defense had given away Monday's game, Midland's de-fensive lapses in the second inning enabled El Paso to get a foot in the door with three unearned runs, something from which the Cubs, now a woeful 1-7, never recovered.

One thing the game didn't lack was base runners. In only one inning did either-side go down in order, El Paso in the eighth and Midland in the first. El Paso left 16 runners and Midland stranded 17 during the threehour, six-minute game. That may sound like a lot of action, but unfortunately most of the runners reached base as a result of walks or errors. El Paso had 11 hits, only two extra basers and Midland had nine hits, none for extra bases. Few came in the clutch, however. The Diablos left the bases loaded twice and Midland did it three times. In the words of the immortal Bard of the Avon, 'Twas Much Ado About Noth-

THE SAME clubs go at it again today, 7:30 p.m., with Mark Wulfemeyer, 1-0 from Fullerton, Calif., scheduled to pitch for the 5-2 Diablos while Lee Smith is the probable starter for

Herman Segelke, 0-2, who walked nine of the 13 surrendered by three Mid-land pitchers, lasted five innings while Dave Steck, 2-0, from San Diego, notched the win. Three El Paso pitchers teamed up for 11 walks, bringing the game total to 24 which adds up to a lot of pitches.

Floyd Rayford and Bob Clark led the El Paso attack with three hits each while Jimmy Buckner and Aaron Randall had three hits each Segelke walked three of the first four batters he faced in the first inning, yet had two out, thanks to a whiff of Bob Clark and catcher Duane Gustavson's sanp throw to third baseman Javier Fierro to catch Bob Slater trying to steal third. Segelke not only got out of the inning, but El Paso didn't even get a bat onthe ball. The second inning was something

With one out, the rookie who last year was 13-8 at Pompano Beach, walked Jay Peters, which considering the way Jay abuses Midland pitchers, is just common sense. Orlando Ramirez grounded to short and this is where the game began to resemble Monday's contest. Shortstop Steve Macko fielded the double-play ball mov-ing toward the bag, but was so close he couldn't make up his mind whether to tag the base himself or flip second baseman Kurt Seibert. Inde-

After Don Lyons popped up (that's four outs), Fierro booted Slater's grounderand Segelke followed with a wild pitch that allowed Peters to score. Floyd Rayford walked and then Clark tapped a two-run single to right.

cision led to an error.

A COUPLE of walks and run scoring singles by Clark and Ewing made it 60 in the sixth and finished Segelke.

Australian John Neceombe's comeback attempt with

Hall team passing up Trenton By PAUL DOMOWITCH

With Al Unser still woozy from last weekend's crash in College Station and the car he was driving diagnosed as irrepairable, the Chaparral-Lola racing team has had to drop out of this Sunday's Gabriel 200 USAC championship event at Trenton, N.J., International Speedway.

The 37-year-old Unser was released from St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan Sunday afternoon and doctors expect him to be as good as new in a few weeks. Unfortunately, the same cannot be said for the machine he drove into the wall at Texas World Speedway during practice for the Coors 200

"It was totaled," owner Jim Hall said Tuesday of the car that Unser drove to a third place finish at Ontario and unofficially broke the Indianapolis speed record with. "It's completely irrepairable. All we can do is try and salvage some of the parts

That leaves Hall with only the team's unfinished second car, which finally arrived from the Lola factory in England a few weeks ago. With Hall's crew putting in plenty of overtime, they should have the machine ready in two weeks, in plenty of time for the May 6 opening of Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

'We've already started work on the second car." Hall explained, "and this time around we'll try to correct the deficiencies we had in the other car." The particular deficiency Hall is concerned with is the one that was responsible for Unser's accident last weekend. While he can't be absolutely positive of exactly what did go wrong with the car, it appears there was a malfunction with the car's suspension, which caused the front end of the Lola to drop onto the race track. It then may have hit a bump on the track, forcing the car out of control and up against the wall.

THOROUGHBRED RACES TOP WEEKEND ACTION

This weekend's racing schedule is highlighted by top Thoroughbred action at Sunland Park. Saturday's slate features the $3,500-added SUNSHINE HANDICAP at six furlongs for threeyear-olds. Thoroughbred competition continues with Sunday's $4,000-added THUNDERBIRD HANDICAP at five and one half furlongs.

Racing under the lights begins Friday evening at 7:30 with Saturday and Sunday posts set for

Station last week, the 42-year-old Hall had expressed concern about the condition of the raceway's two-mile oval, and it looks like his worries were justified. Several other racing people familiar with the Texas track commmented prior to the race that it was in the worst shape they had seen it in

"It hadn't been resurfaced in quite a while." Hall commented. "After the accident, I went out and inspected the area where Al had lost control and there was one small bump that stuck up at least three-quarters of an inch. It appears that's what he hit."

Hall has already been in touch with Eric Broadley of Lola, who built the first two cars for him, and the English company will begin work immediately on yet another Indy racer. With luck. Hall will have it in time for Indy qualifications, which get underway May 14.

NEW YORK (AP) - She is a dead Vilas, the French and U.S. Open tennis champion, and four other males in table tennis, badminton and racketball in the second annual tournament next month.

The event is scheduled at the Atlas Health Club, San Diego, May 6, for airing on CBS-TV June 11.

"I don't feel uneasy about going against the men at all." Hilary said. 'It seems I have been competing against men all my life - my father and two brothers - and I have an autographed dollar bill to show that I once beat Bobby Riggs in paddle tennis.

It happened in 1973. Riggs, the former U.S. and Wimbledon titleholder known as the "Happy Hustler," had beaten Margaret Court in California in the first of his "Battle of the Sexes" challenges and was pointing toward his ill-fated meeting in the Houston Astrodome with Billie Bobby said the same thing to Billie Jean after his Astrodome debacle, but he has been left dangling.

Miss Hilton, proficient in many sports and winner of national and world titles in three, insists that the male dominance that exists on the tennis court where power and endurance are such vital factors don't hold true in the offshoots of the game where the arena is more condensed notably paddle tennis, squash, badminton, table tennis and racketball.

"In these sports, strength are not as much a factor as finesse and quick reflexes," she said.

Hilary is the only athlete, male or female, ever to hold three different racket titles the same year. In 1975, she grabbed national trophies in tennis, paddle tennis and platform respect." Hilary doesn't consider herself a militant women's libber.

"I am a female competitor, not a protagonist," she insists. "I think in most sports men are stronger and better, but I agree with Billie Jean that women deserve equal prize

"I think women's sports need both their Billie Jean Kings and their Chris Everts — Billie Jean to fight and win the battles. Chrissy to give us the aesthetic, feminine aura.

Navratilova will wait for papers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Martina Navratilova, one of the top women tennis players in the world, will have to wait at least two more weeks before learning whether she can become a U.S. citizen without waiting the full five-year period.

In a parliamentary maneuver, the House declined Tuesday to take up a private relief bill that would have permitted the 21-year-old Navratilova to gain citizenship immediately, without waiting until Oct. 6, 1980, the date she would normally become

Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., one of three Republicans who screen private bills before they reach the House floor, asked that the measure be passed over without prejudice, thus keeping it alive on the docket and eligible to be acted on within two

It is doubtful, however, that the bill will come up for vote in the near future because of opposition to shortening the waiting period.

Rep. Jim Collins, D-Tex., sponsor of the bill, said he was disappointed that Bauman had asked that the bill be passed over, a maneuver which normally indicates that the "objector" wants more time to study the

'Their idea is to object to anything that is unusual," said Collins of Bauman and his two colleagues, Reps. Chalmere Wylie, R-Ohio, and John Rousselot, R-Calif., who blocked the bill two weeks ago. "They come out here every Tuesday and decide what bills they don't want any action

"It really hurts me that a Communist defector wants to become an American and can't." he said.

Navratilova also was upset. As soon as Bauman made his motion, she left the chamber and was seen crying in Navratilova defected from Czechoslovakia and applied for U.S. citizenship Oct. 6, 1975.

Collins said if she could become a citizen by July she would be eligible to play on the U.S. team in the Federation and Wightman cups. She also would be able to receive a visit from her parents who remain in Czechoslovakia, he said.

Player seeking third straight

HOUSTON (AP) - Gary Player of South Africa. seeking a rare third consecutive victory, heads the of the American pro golf tour this week in the $200,000 Houston Open

With Player's last-round heroics setting the pattern, foreign players have won the past three major events on the American circuit and have led or shared the lead in nine of the last 12 rounds.

Although holding the hottest hand on the tour. Player wasn't about to predict a continuation of that string in the 72-hole test that begins Thursday on the 6,997-yard, par-72 Woodlands Country Club course.

"Golf is the hardest and the most unpredictable sport in the world," Player said. "When Rod Laver was at his peak, he was winning every time he played. It was predictable. Golf is never predictable. "I'm playing very, very well right now," said Player, who has come from seven shots back in each of the last two weeks to win the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. "But," he said. "there are so many things that can enter into it in golf, no one can really say, 'I'm going to win this tour-

"Three weeks ago, I lost by five shots in Greensboro. But I probably played as well there as I did the last two weeks.'

Spain's Severiano Ballesteros won that tournament and led or shared the lead for three rounds before Player broke through in the final round last week. Ballesteros returned to Spain, but the remaining foreigners in the 156-man field offer a decided threat to the $40,000 first prize.

Among them are former American title winners George Knudson of Canada, Victor Regalado of Mexico. John Lister of New Zealand and the very dangerous David Graham of Australia

Others include Argentina's Florentino Molina, who led most of the way at Greensboro, Cesar Sanudo and Tony Cerda of Mexico, Vicente Fernandez of Argentina and Bob Shearer of Australia.

Lanny Wadkins, the current PGA champion, and Lee Trevino, currently on a hot streak and a runnerup last week, lead the Americans.

Some other standouts include Ben Crenshaw, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller, Jerry Pate, Bill Kratzert, Bruce Lietzke, former Houston winner Lee Elder, defending titleholder Gene Littler and Barry Jaeckel, who won last week in Talahassee.

NBC-TV will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and

Nordiques take WHL playoff win

HOUSTON (AP) - Quebec's Marc Tardif knew his club's World Hockey Association quarter-final series against the Houston Aeros wasn't going to be easy.

These first two games were real tough," said Tardif, who scored at 2:59 of overtime Tuesday night to give the Nordiques a 5-4 victory.

The triumph evened the best-of-seven playoff series at 1-1. The series shifts to Quebec Thursday and Friday for Games 3 and 4.

The other two WHA matchups continue tonight. The Winnipeg Jets take their 2-0 series lead to Birmingham for Game 3 against the Bulls, and the New England Whalers visit the Edmonton Oilers with hopes of improving their 2-0 margin.

'I think this was the longest game ever," said Tardif, whose 20-foot slap shot beat Houston goalie Lynn Zimmerman to give the Nordiques their first playoff victory ever over the Aeros. We had to win one game here, but I don't think the series is over. We'll have to work hard and give-150 percent the rest of the way." said Tardif.

The Nordiques used goals by Bob Fitchner, Paul Baxter and Real Cloutier in a three-minute span late in the third period to wipe out a two-goal Houston lead and take a 4-3 advantage.

But with the Houston net empty in favor of a sixth attacker, Morris Lukowich tapped in a rebound with 41 seconds remaining in regulation time to force the · Tardif, the WHA's leading scorer during the regular season, put Quebec out in front 1-0 with his first goal of the game at 8:45 of the first period. John Tonelli tied the score for Houston less than two minutes later with his first goal of the playoffs.

Andre Lacroix put Houston into a 2-1 lead with a 15foot wrist shot at 8:15 of the third period. Ron Hansis added the Aeros third youl on a rebound shot less than four minutes later, preceding Quebec's late-

Jackson, Tiant star for Yanks, Red Sox

By The Associated Press

"Reg-gie! Reg-gie!" chanted the 15,628 fans at Yankee Stadium. "Loo-ie! Loo-ie!" chanted the 18,928 fans at Fenway Park.

heard the chants Tuesday — and both responded with typical performances. Jackson, New York's prolific home

Reggie Jackson and Luis Tiant both run hitter, greeted Baltimore reliever Tippy Martines with a leadoff homer in the ninth inning, giving the Yankees a dramatic 4-3 victory over Tiant, Boston's crafty righthander.

made his first relief appearance since 1972 and his first appearance this season - hours after coming off the disabled list - and pitched three hitless innings as the Red Sox rallied with two runs in the ninth inning for their sixth straight victory, a 7-6 decision over the Milwaukee

"I hear it all; I know what's hap-pening," said the highly aware, highly sensitive Jackson, an electrifying performer. "When the people sense a home run, they holler, 'Reggie! Reggie!"""I felt ready a long time ago," said the sly, wily Tiant, a crowd-pleasing performer with the herky-jerky motion. "I didn't even remember about the finger (he dislocated the index finger on his pitching hand during spring training). I just wanted to get someone out."

Each time Tiant got someone out. the familiar cry of "Looie! Loo-ie!"

reverberated from the fans. Tiant got everyone out, except for a walk in the ninth inning.

he Kansas City Royals blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 5-0 for their eighth consecutive triumph on Paul Split-torff's five-hit pitching and Amos Otis' grand slam homer, and the Seattle Mariners turned back the California Angels 8-1.

Three other scheduled games were rained out — Chicago at Detroit.

Texas at Cleveland and Oakland at Minneasta.

The Red Sox' victory was almost as stunning as New York's. Boston trailed 6-2 after 51/2 innings before rallying for three runs in the sixth on Butch Hobson's two-run triple and Rick Burleson's sacrifice fly, then tied it in the ninth on Hobson's single. a sacrifice and Jack Brohamer's RBI single, his fourth hit of the game.

Brohamer went to second on the throw to the plate, and after Carl Yastrzemski was walked intentionally, Carlton Fisk ripped a two-out double off the left field wall, driving in the winning run.

"The Red Sox will put you into the grave," sighed Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger. "They never quit

.no lead is safe in Fenway Park." Larry Hisle rapped two doubles and a two-run homer for the Brewers, and Sal Bando smacked a three-run homer.

Royals 5, Blue Jays 0 Otis connected for the first grand slam homer of his career in the opening inning following singles by Willie Wilson and Hal McRae, a strikeout, a double steal, a pop out and an intentional walk. "I was just trying to get a hit - and stay warm," said Otis.

The temperature at the start of the game in Toronto was 50 degrees, but a 30 mile-per-hour wind made it feel much colder. 'The wind blew me off the mound twice in the first inning, so I cut off my windup." explained Splittorff, who limited the Blue Jays to five singles while striking out four and not walking a batter.

Bruce Bochte scored two runs and drove in a third as Seattle parlayed four hits into a victory over Nolan Ryan and California. Seattle curveballer Paul Mitchell scattered six hits and was never seriously threatened after the fourth inning.

Ryan was hurt by six walks and three wild pitches. The California right-hander struck out seven to pass Sam McDowell and move into 13th place on the all-time strikeout list with a total of 2,459. Sancap will control the tough broadleaf weeds that escape your preplant.

Bowie Kuhn against re-entry drafting

ATLANTA (AP) - The biggest problem facing major league baseball is the free agent re-entry draft, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn

'As long as it was being used by the weaker teams to make themselves. competitive, the free agent situation could be viewed as a good thing." Kuhn said Tuesday.

"But in the past year, it's been used by the strongest teams to make themselves even stronger." he said. "In the last year, over 50 percent of the free agents have been signed by only five of the clubs."

The problem can be olved through collective bargaining with the players' union. Kuhn said:

"I know the owners are anxious to find a solution, and I believe most of the players now recognize that the present program is creating competitive imbalance." he said Perhaps some form of compensation for those clubs which give up these better players would help alleviate

Kuhn, here for a speaking engagement, said in an interview that he feels the A's will not leave Oakland until next year. He also said the present system of fan voting to pick the all-star team is the best of many imperfect systems.

A's owner Charlie Finley wanted to

"There is some possibility that something could be worked out before this season is over, but I wouldn't want to mislead you." Kuhn said.

The all-star ballot is drawn up during spring training, Kuhn said, acknowledging that the practice causes some problems.

Quite frankly, there are some mistakes on the ballot, but I don't think it undermines the public confidence of the allstar team." he said. "What we have is the result of what was expected in spring training." he said. "We worked closely with the clubs themselves in these evaluations. The ballots have Atlanta's Jeff Burroughs at first base, even though he is playing outfield this year. Rookies and young players off to hot starts are missing.

Despite the problems, the system of voting by fans "is the best we've got." Kuhn said. "We have great fans and this gets them involved. The average baseball fan is a lot fairer than most people give him credit for. I honestly think fans will vote for the most qualified players."

Soviets seeking power in tennis

NORCROSS. Ga. (AP) - The Soviet Union has decided to become a tennis power and will be one within the next three or four years, says Larry King, husband of Billie Jean King, and one of the founders of the American-Soviet tennis series that opens here tonight.

The four-day event, which has a day off Thursday and ends Sunday, will feature player-coach Billie Jean King. 15year-old Tracy Austin and Stan Smith leading a six-player

American squad. The Russians will be led by veteran Alex Metrevelli and 24year-old Natasha Borodina, the No. 1 ranked woman in the Soviet Union. The matches will follow a World Team Tennis format of one point per match. There will be six matches each day consisting of men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and two mixed doubles matches.

In the featured matches tonight, Metrevelli is expected to face Smith and King will meet Brodina. "The Russians have improved each year." said Larry King, who inaugurated discussions with the Soviet Union for this event in 1975. "When they really get a tennis program going, they'll probably be the best in the world outside of the United States.' Play in the twice-a-year series began in March 1976 with matches played in the Soviet Union and the United States.

There are two reasons the Russians will be a power," King said. Whenever an East European nation wants success, they have the ability within their society to apply their resources.

"Over the last three years, the Soviets decided they wanted tennis players. They will be a huge tennis power over the next three or four vears." he said.

"The second reason is that the Soviet Union has 300 million people The quantity of numbers is going to generate champions," said King. "It was only a matter of time when they decided they wanted to become a tennis power. As for this series, King said the

"They know quite a bit about our players but we don't know anything about theirs, except Metrevelli. That's part of the problem with the Soviet Union. They're so secretive about their athletes, they don't allow them out of the country until they're full-grown stars. They need to travel and play more players from other countries," he said. Others on the American squad include Julie Anthony, 23-year-old John Whitlinger and Ben Testerman. 16, the top junior player in the United

The other Russian players are Irena Chevchenko, Yelena Granaturova, Vadim Borisov and Teimura Kakula

Ed Podolak is retiring

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The retirement of veteran running back Ed Podolak is all but official, according to Kansas City Chiefs Coach

Mary Levy. "Podolak has indicated to me he planned to retire and he d esn't figure in our plans," Levy said Tuesday. "I'd say he has left himself less than a 1 percent opening of returning. As a result of that, we're going ahead in our plans with the idea he won't be returning." Levy, in making his first extensive comments on the Chiefs since being named head coach after the 1977 season, also announced the imminent retirement of linebacker Billy An-

Neither Podolak nor Andrews were expected to report to the Chiefs' offseason mini-camp for veterans that began today. Punter Jerrel Wilson is also leaning toward retirement, but Levy said he planned to discuss the matter with Wilson at the mini-camp. Levy, whose Montreal Alouettes won the Canadian League's Grey Cup last season, said the Chiefs would also abandon the four-man rush in favor of a 3-4 defensive alignment to take advantage of their personnel and new rules allowing offensive linemen greater use of their hands.

Dear Mrs. K. S.: Kelp. which is a seaweed, contains a lot of iodide. And that is known to make acne flare up or cause badly infected pimples when taken in excessive amounts. You need only a trace of iodide in your diet — about what you would get from iodized salt. But a single kelp tablet is ver apt to contain 75 to 100 times what you need. And I have seen reports of girls on so-called health diets swallowing some 10 or 12 kelp tables a day.

Explain this to your daughter. See if you can urge her to forget about the kelp. If her skin doesn't improve prompt-ly, then I think it would be best to see a der-matologist right away and get treatment started as soon as possible.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Does sex have anything to do with getting acne!

Successful series slow to profit

By MARTIN MERZER and MICHAEL L. GECZI

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "Happy Days," one of the most popular television programs ever, has grossed millions for the studio that makes it, the stars who appear in it and the network that shows it. Some of its stars and producers have contracts which promise them a share of the profits. But until just recently there were none ... at least on paper.

And this is causing a widening rift between actors.

producers and writers, on the one hand, and production firms such as Paramount, Warner Bros. and Universal, on the other.

The fact is that the accounting ledgers of most TV series, even the most popular, show losses during their initial network runs. There are top salaries for the stars, an advertising bonanza for the networks. endorsements and all the rest. But profits? Usually not. So, when those with the profit-sharing contracts try to collect, the cupboard is bare. And thus, the fights are starting.

In the case of "Happy Days," American Broad-casting Co. has grossed at least $100 million from commercials since launching the series in 1974. ABC, in turn, has paid at least $20 million to Paramount Studios, which owns the series and has made the 110 episodes filmed so far.

ABC has made money from its $80 million share and Paramount has retained fees from its $20 million, industry sources say. But Paramount didn't declare a profit on the show until last year, after it earned additional millions in daytime reruns of "Happy Days." And superstar Henry "Fonzie" Winkler and the show's executive producers. Garry Marshall, Thomas Miller and Edward Milkis have contracts guaranteeing them more than 50 percent of the show's profits, in addition to their big salaries. So the quartet has commissioned an audit to see where the money went.

The networks accumulate their multimillion dollar grosses through hefty advertising revenues (up to $85,000 for a 30-second commercial on "Happy Days''); the production companies keep various fees (Paramount receives more than $200,000 from ABC for each episode of "Happy Days" and keeps at least $30,000 off the top); and the "creative talent" makes handsome salaries (Winkler gets about $80,000 for each of 24 episodes produced annually and the three executive producers divide at least $10,000 per titled to percentages of the profits. As a result, disputes are becoming more frequent. The problems are similar to those in the movie and recording industries. But unlike those industries, the battles in television have not yet reached the courtroom, although that day seems near.

The Associated Press has learned that an outside audit commissioned by Winkler, Marshall, Miller and Milkis questioned at least $400,000 in expenses mostly for sets, props, salaries and benefits - that Paramount charged against the show during its first 31/2 years. Every dollar kept by Paramount to offset expenses is one less dollar of profit to be shared with Kinkler and the executive producers. Paramount's chief accountant. Arthur Barron, said that none of the parties involved is bitter and Paramount is negotiating a settlement.

Other TV shows also are being audited. "It seems like it's becoming a tradition." said Marshall. "The studios say, 'Here's the money. Come and find it." "Happy Days," which has been one of the top five rated shows in recent years, is by no means the only hit series that took a long time to show a profit.

"All in the Family." just completing its seventh year, came out of the red about three years ago. The Mary Tyler Moore Show," on the air for seven years before closing down last spring, is just now beginning to be profitable with reruns. In fact, according to Arthur Price, a spokesman for Miss Moore's production company, the program lost money in each of its last five years.

The path to profitability for a TV series often lies in syndication, in which a series is rerun in non-prime time. The syndication fees are high, sometimes in the millions.

In an earlier Garry Marshall success, "The Odd Couple," one of the stars, Tony Randall, negotiated a clause giving him 22.5 percent of profits. But Randall says he hasn't received a nickel of profit, although the show was popular during its network run, has been syndicated in 81 U.S. cities and has drawn big audiences abroad.

"All we've seen are statements issued to me saying they're still in the red." Randall said. "I don't see how it could be possible." Paramount responds that even a hefty syndication deal can't result in profits until losses are recouped.

Here, based on information gathered in interviews with network and studio officials, actors, producers, and show-business lawyers and accountants - and using "Happy Days" as an example - is how a smash hit can be a loser:

"Happy Days," riding a wave of 1950s nostalgia, began its run as a midseason replacement in January 1974. ABC paid Paramount the thencommon rate of about $125,000 per episode, out of which came all production costs - salaries, sets, etc.

That money is called a license fee. As in any business, the networks try to pay as little as possible

But Paramount, like most production companies. takes 15 percent of that fee (in this case $18,750) for what it calls overhead costs, which include studio rental, salaries of studio employees who watch over the show, and legal and accounting services. There also is a 10 percent distributing fee (in this case have negotiated in the past decade say they're en- $12,500 per show), which the studios say covers the costs of their advertising sales staffs.

That left about $94,000 for actual production of "Happy Days." But if a show's producers want the program to exhibit better-than-average production values - perhaps more outdoor scenes, more extras, better scripts (all of which give it a better chance for success) - a production costs more than the network

Price, the spokesman for Miss Moore's production company, says about 95 percent of the current shows are in deficit financing.

This was the case with "Happy Days." Although precise figures are closely guarded. Ken Ziffren, a lawyer for Miller and Milkis, said the show had a perepisode loss of about $50,000 during most of its run.

However, because the license fee paid by ABC has nearly doubled to $200,000, the producers say the weekly loss has slowed somewhat.

In its second full year, "Happy Days" ratings improved steadily as Winkler's role became larger than the supporting part it previously had been. Soon, he was a teen-age hero and the show routinely was in the top five. But success bred a problem.

Winkler was making about $750 a show when the program began, without the profit-sharing his contract now includes. As the new star, he successfully renegotiated his contract several times and now is earning an estimated $80,000 per episode, plus the profit cut.

The "Happy Days" license fee of more than $200,000 per show is partly to cover higher salaries. but there still isn't enough money in the budget to pay $80,000 per episode to just one cast member.

Sources said that ABC, unwilling to risk the loss of such a popular actor, and Paramount, which wanted to keep Winkler happy so he would make movies for the studio, agreed to put up some of the money.

So there were plenty of costs to make up when daytime reruns of "Happy Days" began appearing on ABC in September 1975. This is grossing more than $3 million per year for the production company. The money comes from ABC, which earns it from commercials on the reruns.

And merchandising deals in which pictures of "Happy Days" stars appear on posters, T-shirts, games etc. earn a six-figure income for the production company each year. But even all that wasn't enough to get the show out of the red until recently. And as the show's potential earning power became clear, Winkler and the three producers followed the now-common practice of paying an outside accountant about $15,000 to check Paramount's books.

The producers and studios say the industry's problem originates with the often inadequate license. fees paid by the networks. "The networks now are in a tremendous buying position," says Ziffren. "There are only three buyers and hundreds of pilot ideas each year.

About four years ago, the U.S Justice Department filed suit against the networks, charging that their business practices reduced competition for programs and limited profit potential of most shows. NBC signed a consent agreement, but ABC and CBS are still fighting the suit in court.

NBC consented to certain provisions and guidelines regarding its relationship with suppliers of TV programs.
