New questions raised by court's decision

WASHINGTON (AP) - In knocking down parts of a halfcentury ban on corporate political spending, the Supreme Court is drawing fire from election law watchdogs who say further easing of the restraints could produce a national disaster

A sharply divided court ruled on Wednesday that corporations have a constitutional right to speak out and spend their money on political issue elections The question remaining is whether that eventually may mean intervention by corporate treasuries in the country's candidate elections If corporations also could con-

Drug test requested

WASHINGTON (AP) - Saying the use of hard drugs among US servicemen "is increasing at a serious rate." the White House urged Congress today to reinstate a currently prohibited program of random testing of military personnel for heroin addiction White House drug abuse official Lee Dogoloff made the request in testimony prepared for delivery to the House Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, which is holding a hearing on mulitary drug abuse.

Dogoloff told the committee that the White House considers random sampling of military personnel as a reliable tool in the fight against drug

> In addition to the civil action filed here Wednesday. Lance is reportedly grand jury for possible crimina violations through his banking

The Securities and Exchange Commission and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency filed their civil complaint in U.S. District

The complaint which also named as defendants the National Bank of Georgia in Atlanta and the First National Bank of Calhoun, Ga charged that Lance manipulated the banks to get special loans and overdrafts for himself, his relatives and his 1974 gubernatorial campaign fund

Lance and the two banks were enjoined by the court from future violations of securities laws. The defendants signed a consent order agreeing to the decree but did not admit or deny the allegations. The order was signed on Lance's behalf by consent order. Lance agreed not to manage any bank for the next six months and thereafter to give the appropriate authorities 60 days notice if he planned to do so

Carter launches lobby campaign in Congress

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — President Carter has launched an intensive lobbying campaign on Capitol Hill that includes deployment of his Cabinet even at freshman congressmen in behalf of priority bills.

To start off the new campaign. Cabinet officials this week descended on dozens of congressmen from both parties to seek support for reform of the federal bureaucracy - the same issue that won Carter popularity and votes in 1976.

The legislative push is a direct outgrowth of a searching reassessment of the administration's record and techniques at Camp Dvaid, Md., on April 16.

There, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland Wednesday, Carter attributed his decline in popularity to a "kind of fuzziness" in the public perception of is

Bergland's remarks to reporters at breakfast meeting here provided clues to the president's mood and intentions as his popularity sinks to its lowest ebb. According to Bergland, the "fuzziness" was attributed at Camp David to public confusion about "who is Jimmy Carter? What are his programs and policies?" Carter feels this public image is "fair." but "not the last word." Bergland said.

Bergland said the Camp David talks centered on an analysis of past mistakes and ended with agreement to sharpen the administration's image by focusing on specific "priority" measures every two or three weeks.

White House spokesman Jody Powell said the intensive lobbying effort this week on reform of the Civil Service will serve as the model for the administration's handling of other key mesures, such a tax reform and

American charged in death

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Michael Vernon Townley, a 35-year-old American identified in court as an agent of DINA, the Chilean secret police, was formally charged Wednesday with conspiring to murder Chilean diplomat Orlando Letelier Investigative sources said Townley is believed to have traveled to the United States from Chile about a month before the murder to contract out the bombing death of Letelier, an outspoken critic of the Chilean military regime. The same sources have said in the past that the actual bombing was carried out by anti-Castro Cuban exiles in the United States who were politically sympathetic to the Chilean government.

Townley, who FBI sources said has been implicated in several other bombings in Latin America, all apparently directed against opponents of the Chilean military government, was ordered held without bond Wednesday after prosecutors asked that a $5 million bond be set

Townley is the first person to be officially charged in connection with the Sept. 21, 1976, murder of Letelier and a colleague. Ronni Moffitt. The two died almost immediately from the powerful explosive as it ripped up through the floorboard of the car Letelier was driving en route to the Institue for Policy studies, where both worked at the time. The explosions occurred within sight of the Chilean Embassy here

One Justice Department source said that "as many as 10" persons in the United States and abroad could be charged in connection with the murders of Letelier and Moffitt.

The facts upon which the charges against Townley are based were filed secretly Wednesday by the federal government, and U.S. Magistrate Henry H. Kennedy Jr.'s decision to hold Townley without bond was made without explanation after a closed session with prosecutors and Townley's attorney. Seymour Glanzer Glanzer said he was asking for the secret hearing because "I don't feel I'm free to discuss this case" in public.

Glanzer's request for the closed session came after Assisant U.S. Attorney Eugene M. Propper of the major crimes division asked for the extraordinary high bond of $5 million on Townley because he was an agent of a foreign intelligence service (DINA) that had access to large sums

'It may be worthwhile for them (DINA) to bail him out." Proper said. He also said the high bond was needed because of the possibility Townley might flee if released, pointing out that in the past Townley has used five different aliases and passports from three different countries to travel into the United States on numerous oc-

Townley's name first surfaced in connection with the 19-month-old Letelier murder investigation when he was identified as one of two persons who traveled under false names to the United States on official Chilean passports to meet with persons believed by investigators to be involved in the assassination plot

Stanton, Rankin, Big Lake, Big Spring and Garden City reported some clouds and a chance for rain this morning, although one man said he wouldn't bet on it.

Briscoe pushes for site's sale

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked the chairman of the Texas Board of Corrections to abandon consideration of a Hildalgo County site for a new state prison. Briscoe wrote board chairman James M. Windham today after Attorney General John Hill Issued an opinion Wednesday that a prison site must be within 75 miles of Huntsville.

"In light of the opinion, if you decide to pursue the matter. I am requesting that your Board begin plans to sell the Blue Ridge Farm property and seek another prospective site." Briscoe said.

Hill also said any new land must be purchased with proceeds of the Blue Ridge Farm

In a related development, a spokesman for a prison reform lobby said today his group will not drop its suit over the Hildalgo County site until the state formally abandons consideration of the location.

Charles Sullivan said in a morning news conference that the opinion was only advisory and might still be challenged in court.

A CONVENIENCE STORE in the 2700 block of West Cuthbert Avenue is a little more convenient now after two plate glass windows were broken Wednesday in a traffic accident. Police said Sheila D. Posey, 17, of the 400 block of East Spruce Avenue got into her parked car in the store's parking lot. She attempted to put the vehicle into reverse.

Police were told the car would not go into reverse and that Ms. Posey pressed on the accelerator. The vehicle jumped the sidewalk, and the car smashed through two windows of the store. There were no injuries. Cleaning up the shattered glass is Debby Jacobs, a store employee. (Staff Photo)

Carter delays submitting hot Middle East arms sale package

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - President Carter agreed Wednesday to delay briefly the submission of his controversial Middle East arms sale package to Congress, but reaffirmed his determination to wait only a few days and to fight attempts to block portions of the package

White House press secretary Jody Powell announced the delay, saying the proposed sale of jets to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia will be submitted to Congress" no later than early next week." Friday is considered the most likely day for submission of the proposals.

In a flurry of congressional and executive branch meetings on the topic, there was no sign of an impending compromise that might head off a legislative battle

Several senators predicted, after a meeting with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, that Congress will reject the sales to all three countries on procedural grounds if Carter continues to treat them as a package.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan is to meet Thursday morning with a group of senators at the Watergate Hotel. The arms package is likely to be a major topic. Israeli officials maintained it was not discussed Wednesday during Dayan's lengthy talks on Middle East negotiations with Vance. The Dayan-Vance talks are to be completed Thursday House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., who declared Tuesday that the arms sale proposals would be disapproved by Congress, modified that prediction Wednesday. Told that Chairman Clement J. Zabłocki, D-Wis. of the House International Relations Committee believed that committee would narrowly fail to recommend that the sale be blocked. O'Neill confessed to making "a snap judgment" and said. "I guess Zablocki knows more about his committee than I do.

White House officials continued to predict that Carter will prevail on the issue. But Powell said the fight in Congress is bound to be "very close and very tough

"The real issue, which Congress and the country must decide." he said, "is whether it is in the best interest of the United States to maintain, without deviation, its historic commitment to the security of Israel while at the same time we are seeking closer ties with the moderate Arab nations. The president feels strongly that it is

The press secretary added

'The Congress and the country will have to decide what kind of Middle East we want in the 1980s - whether we want a Middle East where those who seek peace, both among the Arabs and the Israelis, have confidence in the United States, or a Middle East where those moderate Arab nations may be forced to turn to others who don't necessarily share the U.S. commitment to peace and the

BATS IN THE BELL-FRY create a problem this morning as Jewel T. Smith, chief sanitarian with the city of Midland, places an "almost dead" bat in a box in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building. The bat is to be shipped to Austin to be checked for rabies. According to Bell employees, bats have been getting inside the downtown building for about a year although their means of entry has yet to be determined. Smith said today three bats have been killed in the building within the past few days, and that two were still hanging on a third-floor wall. (Staff Photo)

Accident survivor files $7 million suit

A Pennsylvania woman today filed suit in federal district court in Midland for $7,050,000 damages she claimed arose from the deaths of her husband and two children

Yvonne Hayes of Hanover, Pa. filed the suit against Bekins Van Lines Co., a Nebraska corporation; Hussey's Investments and-or Hussey's Moving and Storage Co. Inc., a California corporation, and Merle McWhirter, a California resident

The damage claim arose from a June 22, 1977, traffic accident on Interstate Highway 20 one mile east of Odessa which involved the car in which Mrs. Hayes, her husband and five children were riding and a truck allegedly driven by McWhirter.

The petition alleged that McWhirter was acting as agent for the named corporations at the time of the accident.

The petition said her husband. Harold Hayes, and two of her children. Cynthia Hayes and Karen Hayes, died from injuries received in the accident.

Mrs. Haves claimed that Mc-Whirter's vehicle crossed the highway median and came into the path of the Haves vehicle.

She sought the following damages; - $2 million for alleged loss of J. Fred Bucy, president of Texas financial contributions, assistance and companionship caused by Hayes'

$1,500,000 for damages from claimed "severe and permanent injuries" to Mrs. Hayes which she said have left her partially disabled. $300,000 conpensation to Mrs.

Haves for loss of two children. - $2,450,000 damages to her three surviving children for claimed loss of their father's financial contributions and nurturing.

- $1.5 million for the three surviving children as compensation for their allegedly witnessing the deaths of the other family members.

- $300,000 to the estates of the three deceased family members for alleged conscious pain before their deaths.

Wallace and Poerner

Chairman Mack Wallace and Member John H. Poerner of the Texas Railroad Commission deserve nomination for new terms in the May 6 Democrat primary.

Wallace has been a member of the commission since 1973, and he has become an articulate spokesman for a practical. workable energy policy. He is thoroughly familiar with the energy situation and he speaks out loudly and clearly for what he believes is right and in the best interests of the Lone Star State.

He predicts that if oil exploration is encouraged the life of productive fields will be doubled. This would provide time for coal. lignite, nuclear plants and other energy supplies to be developed without curbing the national economy.

Wallace knows whereof he speaks and he doesn't pull any punches in telling it like it is or in placing the blame for the energy crisis where it belongs - in Washington, D.C.

He campaigned here recently and was scheduled to address the Midland Downtown Rotary Club today noon.

Poerner, who was named to the commission last year and who now seeks the Democrat nomination for the unexpired term, is a businessman and engineer from Hondo. He agrees with Wallace in that American know-how and technology will meet the total energy challenge. provided that free enterprise is allowed to function. Both are determined to protect the natural resources of Texas, while, at the same time, increasing oil and gas

The Hondo resident attended a reception given in his honor here shortly after his appointment to the commission last year. He also campaigned here recently.

Poerner is a veteran of three terms in the Texas Legislature. where he established an enviable record

His hometown newspaper. The Hondo Anvil Herald, had this to say about Poerner in a recent edition.

"John Poerner is a fair-minded man. He is an honest man. He is a man of high integrity and straight-forwardness. He is a strong forthright leader who will never be afflicted with tunnel vision when vital state issues are to be decided.

The Reporter-Telegram endorses Mack Wallace and John Poerner for nomination as members of the Texas Railroad Commission, the state's most important regulatory agency, in the May 6 Democratic Party

The winner of the race for the unexpired term will face James W. Lacy of Midland, who is unopposed in the Republican primary, in the November general election.

The Vietnam vet

The Vietnam veteran had a tougher job than military men in earlier wars simply because of the unpopularity of the conflict and the many difficulties in waging it.

At the same time, he has been shortchanged in national respect and robbed of personal pride in his performance, no matter how commendable his record.

But he does have something going for him.

A handful of congressmen who served in the armed forces during the Vietnam era have vowed to fight the distaste and disinterest to which the Vietnam vet has fallen victim. They've formed a caucus to push for "both substantive programs and symbolic gestures" on behalf of their less fortunate comrades.

Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland and White House adviser Stu Eizenstat to demand a study of the problem of the Vietnam veteran and to seek increased VA benefits for him.

Evidence of appreciation and gestures of encouragement from his friends and neighbors would

ART BUCHWALD O'Toole discovers that things different today

WASHINGTON - I was shocked to turn on the television set last week and see FBI agents taking advantage of the First Amendment to protest the indictments of three of their own for allegedly violating the First Amendment rights of others.

Demonstrating in the streets is not what the FBI does best. Under J. Edgar Hoover and his successors, the role of the FBI was to monitor those people who were organizing and financing protests, to infiltrate those groups that were marching and to report on the "troublemakers" who were using the sidewalks and boulevards to call attention to their grievances

Old habits die hard for some of the agents, and last week's FBI demonstration was no exception.

As the FBI agents and former agents were fiercely protesting in front of the U.S. District Court building, a man was taking photographs of them.

How about National Coal Day when miners pray to the coal god that oil remains high. If fuel oil goes below the price of coal, the miners will be back home watching soap operas.

Perhaps a National Nuclear Day power plant workers praying to the uranium god that OPEC stands fast. Without the need for alternate sources, there'll be cobwebs on the breeders.

The Holocaust, and beyond, discussed by columnist

WASHINGTON — When a human tragedy of the Holocaust's enormity is put into the living rooms of an estimated 120 million people - as NBC's celebrated docu-drama was there is an inevitable shock-wave

The impact of the series, the concurrent rush into acres of commentary in the print media and the consequent conversations people have among themselves combine to create a powerful punch to the American psyche.

The tremors can sober, provide needed education, distort and confuse. When the last bit of emotion is wrung out, there should be reflection on the Holocaust and its implications.

First off, the extermination of some 6 million Jews and 500,000 gypsies by the Nazis is a unique horror in world history. Monstrous leaders have annihilated millions of people before. and countless numbers have been murdered even since the Nazi killings. But nowhere in history were given peoples — Jews and gypsies — murdered solely because of what they

True, the Nazis killed millions of others - priests, nuns, partisans, Communists, anarchists, political foes, "enemies of the state." Brutal and inhuman as these killings were. the victims were selected not for what they were at birth but for what they said or did. If any of the aforementioned complied with the Nazi masters, they were spared. If a Jew or gypsy complied, he was still

Many among these millions could have lived if they converted ideology or religion, became traitors, or just plain signed

The Holocaust also stands alone because it brought together Hitler's insane racism with German efficiency and a dangerous trend in German medicine toward ulitarianisms. Ovens and chemicals were cost-efficient. Long before Hitler's madness, German doctors discussed the forced "good death" of undesirable people.

Indeed, several hundred thousand "defective" Germans were gassed or poisoned in German institutions before the Holocaust. If anyone thinks uniqueness in German character brought on these horrors, consider the strong tendency in the United States to eliminate defectives or potential defectives. With a great show of disapproval.

Anyway. Hitler proclaimed that Germany must be rid of the consummate evil of Jewry, and thus he dehumanized Jews. That was not only immoral but irrational. Jews are humans, are capable of doing good and bad like any other human beings. So it is just as mistaken to dehumanize Jews by regarding them as incapable of making mistakes or of doing wrong

For example, it is an understandable, even well-intentioned mistake for Israel's most ardent supporters to justify that government's policies in terms of the Holocaust. Because the world stood still while Hitler's murderous racism against Jews and gypsies became virulent does not mean that Israel is infallible, clothed in holiness born of the Holocaust.

Any attempt to exploit the powerful impact of NBC's program and the enormous feeling left in its wake is a disservice to Israel in the long run.

Arie (Lova) Eliav is a hero in Israel, though as a member of the Knesset he is strongly opposed to the Begin government's policies. Eliav. a committed Zionist, left the Soviet Union as a small boy when his father was persecuted. As a teen-ager, he used a rifle to guard Jewish settlements in Palestine.

He fought Nazi armies and, afterwards, was part of a Jewish underground which helped rescue survivors of the death camps. Jailed by the British, Eliav escaped and wound up as a daring hero in the Israeli-Arab wars. His wife is a

And most of those Rio Grande crossings have been made on a fourmanpower ferry.

Since 1954, Flores, 47, has been one of the four men whose calloused hands pull a small ferry across the muddy waters near this Hidalgo County community.

The wooden barge, large enough for two cars, is connected to a cable spanning the 150-foot crossing. A second line, anchored to a large tree, runs alongside the vessel.

About 70 times a day, 490 times a week, 1,960 times a month and 23,520 times a year, Flores and the crew grab that thick rope and pull the ferry across the river.

Speaking through an interpreter.

Flores said it's not a particularly bad way to make a humble living. He lives in a small town on the Mexican side and works here seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A Mexican who owns half the operation pays Flores about $4.50 per day. E.B. Reyna of La Joya is the United States half-owner of the ferry line.

Legal ruling stirs nuclear power plant turmoil in California

By LARRY STAMMER and W.B. ROOD

The Los Angeles Times

SACRAMENTO — A California law that enabled the state to block construction of the $3 billion Sundesert nuclear power plant was ruled un-constitutional Tuesday by Attorney General Evelle J. Younger.

In an opinion certain to renew the controvery over nuclear power in California, Younger said the state Warren-Alquist Act of 1976 violated the supremacy clause of the U.S. Constitution.

Whether the state Energy Com-mission would abide by the ruling or challenge it was open to question. There was no immediate response from the commission. But Younger told a Los Angeles press conference, "It is highly unlikely that the governor or the state energy commission will agree with

Younger said the opinion may result in a utility company filing suit to block the energy commission from carrying out the law.

"That is the only way this issue can be resolved," Younger said.

Energy Commissioner Alan D. Pasternak, reached in San Francisco, called Younger's ruling significant.

Pasternak, a proponent of nuclear energy, told the Los Angeles Times, "I think in terms of the consideration that the Legislature has been giving to the Sundesert case it is significant.

"It seems to me that the question now before the political leadership of the state is are we going to allow $100 million already spent on Sundesert to go down the drain on the basis of a state law whose constitutionality has been questioned by both the attorney general and the legislative counsel."

The legislative counsel, the Legislature's lawyer, previously said it believed the Warren-Alquist Act's provisions dealing with nuclear power plant approval was unconstitutional.

According to the Younger opinion, a Minnesota law that attempted to impose on a nuclear power plant radioactive discharge levels substantially more stringent than those required by the federal government was ruled unconstitutional by a federal court in 1971.

Power Co. case was affirmed a year later by the U.S. Supreme Court. Sheldon Lytton, a special assistant to Younger, told The Times the

The campaign simplified: The integrity, experience and proven record of Dolph Briscoe! Against the promises of his opponents.

Just try the other candidates on for size. One of Governor Briscoe's opponents was driven out of office in the wake of the Sharpstown scandal. While in office he presided over one of the most divided state governments of modern times. He was also responsible, first as Lt. Governor and then as Governor, for five tax increases by five successive sessions of the Texas Legislature.

Governor Briscoe's other and most active opponent, John Hill, is a big government man. A big spender in the manner of the 1960's. He's big on promises, but what he doesn't tell you is how he'll keep those promises - with your tax dollars.

If Hill's promises are kept, be assured of one thing: you will be faced with a State Income Tax next year.

Governor Briscoe believes - as do most Texans - that such a tax would be bad for our State, burdensome to our taxpayers, stifling to our economy and a direct contributor to inflation in the years ahead.

There is just one candidate in this primary who has a proven record of appropriate and productive leadership. Let's keep Dolph Briscoe as our Governor.

ALLERGIES: your personal poisons

Skin most susceptible area to itch-inducing allergies

By JOHN BARBOUR The Associated Press

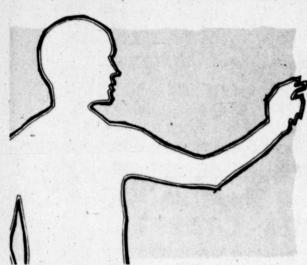

Chapter Four

The skin is the body's first line of defense. It is one of the most versatile of the body's organs. And it is the most affected by allergies.

Nearly a third of the body's blood is servicing the skin at any moment, indicating how vital Nature considers this complex wall between the outside world and you.

Yet, it only weighs some six pounds spread over the 3,000 square inches of the average body. It is barely a fiftieth of an inch thick over the eyelids and a third of an inch on the soles of the feet. It adapts to the area it protects.

In babies, the skin can warn of a susceptibility to allergy. Eczema is an allergic rash that appears as a rough, red and itchy area; often on the neck or face or in the fold of the elbow. It creates small hard blisters which break and weep and crust over. Sometimes it spreads over large parts of the body.

It is extremely unpleasant, and while it usually disappears before the second year, it sometimes persists and the thickened skin becomes more difficult to treat. Sometimes it reappears later in life. Sometimes it signals the possibility of hay fever or asthma in the growing child and adult. It also signals the likelihood that there is an allergic relative in the Allergic eczema is most often caused by foods, most commonly eggs or milk. Some youngsters have such a sensitivity to eggs that merely being around when they are cooked, or touching the shell, can trigger an attack. Some infants are allergic to their mother's milk because it contains allergens to them from the food or drugs she has ingested.

One of the most widespread allergies in America is to poison ivy, that three-leafed weed that abounds in woodlands and other natural areas. It is estimated that two or three out of every four people are allergic to it. Yet there are some people who have no sensitivity and could live in it without a care.

And just because you escaped its vile rash after a first encounter, don't be surprised if you break out at the next meeting. Repeated exposure to the plant increases sensitivity. North America has a near monopoly on poison ivy, and its cousins, poison oak and poison sumac.

If you know you are sensitive to poison ivy and come in contact with it, quickly wash with soap and water to lessen the amount of resin the oil of the skin

But poison ivy and its friends are not only the culprits that can produce rashes in susceptible people. There are a variety, including ragweed, pine, even potatoes. For the allergic person, there is literally no end to the possible causes of allergy, and hence to contact dermatitis.

Any number of common, otherwise innocent products of modern life can cause contact dermatitis in susceptible people - cosmetics, the coins in your pocket, and ink in the Sunday comics, even shoe polish.

Contact dermatitis, for all its unpleasantness, is only one of the ills the skin of an allergic person is heir to. Many people have encountered what doctors call urticaria, or common hives. White welts with surrounding redness erupt on the skin. They vary in size from as small as a pimple to inches in diameter. They have one thing in common. They itch terribly. They might disappear in minutes or they might hang around for days, in which case they can cause loss of sleep and appetite.

They can be caused by drugs, but most people encounter hives after indulging in a passion for a favorite food. The most common are strawberries. tomatoes, chocolate, shellfish. Chances are if you are allergic to apricots, you may also be allergic to peaches, nectarines and plums. If you are allergic to lobster, you may also be allergic to crabmeat. A third threat to the skin from allergies is angioedema, sometimes called giant hives. These come from deeper in the skin than common hives, and they don't itch. But they attack interior tissues as well as the skin, can cause swelling in the mouth, throat, tongue, lips, even the eye. They sometimes occur in the stomach where they are exceedingly

There are a number of things the individual can do for himself. Keep your hands off the affected area. and keep it clean. Protect it. Avoid rough or tightfitting clothing over the rash. Keep in mind that many anti-itch sprays and lotions that contain painkillers can irritate the skin even while producing temporary relief. Avoid frequent washings with soap, since it can aggravate eczema. Avoid dry, heated air that further dries the skin. Sometimes an oatmeal or starch bath can help alleviate itching, but

Most of all, see your doctor. He will prescribe the necessary drugs or ointments appropriate for your condition. He will also take steps to find out what underlies the problem. Here again, he'll utilize your skin and its knowledge of your allergic sensitivities to chart the course of treatment.

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Lena Horne says it's "a matter of geneology" that at age 60 she has been named to a list of America's 10 most beautiful

"My mother was a great beauty," the actresssinger said in an interview Monday. "My father was, to me, one of the most beautiful men I've ever seen."

Although she is uncertain where her father's ancestors were from, his grandmother was a fullblooded Blackfoot Indian and "I come from good stock — I inherited good bones," Miss Horne said.

"My advice is to find some time to be alone or with the people you feel closest to," she said. "Find some time to just be quiet, and have two good friends you can trust. Then you can be beautiful and stay

Prison official says Hill just 'playing politics'

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - A state prison official who is working in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's re-election campaign says John Hill is playing polities with proposed Hidalgo County prison

"Yes sir, I'm sorry but that's the vay it appears to me." Joe La Mantia, secretary of the State Board f Corrections, said about Hill's Wednesday ruling

The attorney general blocked the $8 million purchase by citing portions of the 1978-79 appropriations bill and a 1955 statute.

Hill, a Briscoe opponent in the Democratic primary, said the appropriations bill requires that prison land purchases be made with funds raised from the sale of Blue Ridge Farms prison property in Harris County. And, Hill said, a 1955 statute states that money received for that tract must be used to buy land within 75 miles of Huntsville.

"I don't think the intent of the legislature was to limit the Board of Corrections to owning land within a 75-mile radius of Huntsville." La Mantia, co-ordinator of the Briscoe campaign in the Rio Grande Valley.

He added that he did not want to "second guess" Hill but said East Texas is not a logical site for a new facility.

"From a practical standpoint the most reasonable and economical way for Texas to feed and clothe the inmates sent to us by the citizens is to go where you can produce the most," he

The Corrections Board had planned to use inmate labor to grow food and fiber at the Hidalgo County site.

"East Texas is limited to what it can produce and when it can produce it. They primarily produce it in the summer months there. But people eat 12 months a year," the McAllen resident said.

La Mantia feels the next step in the search for a new prison is to go back to the legislature.

Spokesmen for Big Five Farms. current owners of the land, have said the state offer for the land expired April 1. That deadline passed without a signed agreement between the state and the current landowners.

Hill's ruling was welcomed by Edinburg Mayor Ronald Case. The Gala draws enthusiastic response

"Spring Gala," Permian Civic Ballet's annual spring program presented Wednesday night in Lee High auditorium, was indeed a gala event.

The audience out front was a good one, comfortably large and one of the most enthusiastic and warmly responsive that I can recall for a dance concert - and don't think for a minute that such a happy state of affairs doesn't contribute importantly to the gala-ness of anything, from ballet to a billiard tournament, because it does!

The audience liked everything on the program, and was not hesitant about showing its approval.

A dazzling short work, "Spring Waters," featuring Permian Civic Ballet's artistic director, Bill Martin-Viscount, and guest artist Anne Burton of Atlanta. drew the most enthusiastic response, and not unexpectedly. It has been received with similar warmth on several past spring programs here, and deservedly so because it certainly is a spectacular and dramatic work.

Martin-Viscount and Miss Burton brought equal skill and perhaps more pure balletic artistry to another short work, the "Le Corsaire" pas de deux. It garnered heavy applause for the dancers, who work well together.

These two offerings were, in a sense, dessert -"frosting on the cake," so to speak, and delightful treats they were. But the bulk of the program belonged to Permian Civic Ballet company dancers and a group of talented, younger guest performers. and they collaborated to provide many excellent moments during the evening. It probably should be noted there were some uneven places, a few rough spots here and there, but in the main company members and guests danced well. "Graduation Ball." a hokey comedy ballet, was the major offering of the evening. It is a "fun" piece. and although I would not care to see it often, I found myself enjoying it again after its absence from a PCB spring program for about three years. I have always loved the music for "Grad Ball" - a collection of Johann Strauss melodies as arranged by Antal Dorati.

Jill Murphy of New York City, a former PCB

Larry Taylor of Little Rock, another guest per-former, was excellent as the first cadet. PCB company members Kelly Walker and Sandra Huxman performed well in the dance competition and PCB member Betsy Halvorsen, partnered by guest dancer Mark Rhodes of Wichita, Kan., provided a lovely and very skilled pas de deux in the classic ballet idiom. Guest performer Glenn Edgerton danced the drummer boy. The comedy roles of the headmistress of the girls' school and general in charge of the military academy were played by Timber Floyd and Richard Hartman respectively, and they pleased the audience with their humorous

Supporting the featured performers were PCB dancers as young ladies of the finishing school and a group of local young men as military school cadets. I have saved until last my two favorite works of the evening - the "Vivaldi Piccolo Concerto" and the pas de trois from Act I of the famous "Swan Lake" ballet.

"Piccolo Concerto," choreographed by Martin-Viscount to music by Antonio Vivaldi, is described as an abstract classical ballet. It has the beauty of simplicity but it also makes serious demands of its performers, particularly the prin-

The "Swan Lake" pas de trois presented Miss Murphy, Edgerton and PCB member Kelly Walker. Once again, Miss Murphy's technical skill was much in evidence, along with a certain ease and selfassurance. But Miss Walker, although younger and less experienced, held her own nicely and gave quite good demonstration of her own balletic skill. Edgerton has vigor and strength in his dancing, and quite a lot of poise as a performer. Midland County library gets $100 contribution

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is presenting a gift of $100 to the Midland County Public Library as a gesture of support of the library for its services to the elderly.

This is the fourth year such a presentation is being duplicated across the United States and Canada by Eagles' auxiliaries.

Last year, many of the libraries receiving these grants brought large print books for use by the elderly.

Auxiliaries receive the grants from the Eagles Memorial Foundation. Eagles raise money for the Golden Eagle Fund which makes available grants to charitable organizations working on some project of benefit to

Bad reputation comes easy, but reforming takes time

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal 16-year-old girl with very strict parents. The only time I get away except for one matter. from home is to spend the weekend with my girlfriend, and then I run with a pretty wild crowd. I've never been busted for pot or gone all the way with a guy, but most of my girlfriends have, and know that a girl is judged by the company

I finally got a date with a decent boy for a change, and I acted as nice as I knew how. All he got from me was a goodnight kiss. After two dates, he stopped calling me. He must have heard about my reputation and it scared him off. Abby, how can I let him know that I'm really not that bad and that I have a bad reputation only because of my friends? like him very much and wonder if you can help me get him back?— BROWN EYES BLUE

DEAR BLUE: Unfortunately, a reputation can be damaged overnight, but it can't be repaired that fast. You earned your reputation, so now you'd better set about living it down and building up a new one.

Only by consistent good behavior and strictly staying away from "bad' company can you prove to people that you aren't

She takes guided tours to enjoy people's reactions

By ERMA BOMBECK

My friends say I go on guiden tours for the same reason monks inflict pain on themselves by flogging their bodies with chains. Penance.

"Stay together, folks." "Remember your bus number. 1537731." "There are 45,387,326 bricks in this altar and 373 gallons of mortar." "You have 20 minutes to tour the Louvre. That puts back at the bus by

I don't go on tours for penance. I go because I not only enjoy people's reactions to what they are seeing, but it's interesting to me to see how they relate to the phenomenon they're viewing. Once in New Brunswick as we lined up in rain gear to see the great tidal bore in the Bay of Fundy and a small trickle barely moved the water, a man next to me snarled. "I've seen bigger tides when I flush."

AT WIT'S END

Never have I enjoyed a tour more than the San Simeon estate of the late William Randolph Hearst, just south of San Francisco. There are 240,000 acres of land (50 miles along the ocean), and four castles. In 1958, the state of California acquired 120 acres of it, including couple of castles and his priceless art collection for viewing by the public.

While wondering if the word "casual" could ever apply to her, she chattily mentions taking disco lessons with her husband. Hum.

Even she admits this is not her image, as she reclines in perfect serpentine form at the spacious Midland home of Mary deCompiegne.

Her Midland visit, at the invitation of the Permian Civic Ballet, was as guest performer of this week's annual

It was at the deCompiegne home that she anxiously awaited the next dramatic pas de deux (airborne lift) with partner Bill Martin-Viscount, artistic director of the PCB.

Miss Burton was trained mostly in the English method of ballet (Margo Fontaine is a superlative example of this style). Martin-Viscount on the other hand was trained in Moscow with the Russian method.

The 34-year-old from Atlanta received a Ford Foundation scholarship to the School of American Ballet in New York at age 16, and a year later she joined the New York City Ballet, participating in the company's first tour of the Soviet Union and Europe. With her tiny frame and stately presence, she looks the part of a princess. Obviously others have thought the same since that seems to be her typical role. She says she's a little too short, five-feet exactly, to dance in a line with other adult dancers. But that has worked to her advantage since she has been singled out to dance leading roles and she 'can be partnered easily.

Her princess roles, among them the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy in the PCB production of "The Nuteracker Suite." have strengthened her love for classical ballet. "I love the magic of it-the illusion," she said wistfully. 'Modern dance can get earthy and bizarre. But classical ballet is ethereal. I love the spiritual part of

Taped discussion reduces confusion

A patient often hears little of physician's explanation because of stress and anxiety. One possible solution was offered recently at a meeting of the American Society of Clinical Oncology when Dr. Ernest H. Rosenbaum and Isadora Rosenbaum described tape-recorded discussions during consultations with patients.

The taped discussion, made on a standard cassette recorder, is given to the patient to review at home with family members. This is believed to reduce confusion in the mind of the patient and serves to reinforce the information provided in the consultation such as diet, special procedures and medication.

While Mexicans favor the soft taco... made with a tortilla that is heated but not fried. Americans prefer crisp taco shells and usually fill them with ground beef while Mexicans use shredded meat.

Here are several taco recipes which demonstrate different methods of preparing the shells. One recipe calls for baking buttered tortillas and then folding them. Another employs commercial shells. When making fried tacos, you can fill the tortillas and then fry them, or you can fry and fold the tortilla and then add the meat and other-ingredients.

Sweden's skid over

By MURRAY SEEGER The Los Angeles Times

STOCKHOLM, Sweden - After suffering the first drop in national income since the 1930s, Sweden's economic decline appears to be halting and a new slow recovery beginning.

'We have hit bottom, the worst is over." Tore Sellberg, manager of PK-Banken, the governmentowned savings and commercial bank, said in an interview. "There is a change in psychology."

"Everyone is more optimistic," a professional government economist said "Everyone seems to agee we've gone through the worst of the adjustment period," a labor union economist added. The new optimism in Sweden is based on a series of positive statistics reflecting the country's per-formance in the first quarter of 1978 — export sales have turned up, inflation is moderating, imports are declining and the trade unions have accepted a lower negotiations. Economists agree, however, that Sweden still faces a long period of adjustment and slow growth before it can return to a path of renewed expansion and greater prosperity as one of the world's most than expected wage settlement without long prosperous countries. A crucial test, according to most observers, is whether the coalition government that ousted the Social Democrats in 1976 after 44 years in office will be able to maintain national discipline needed for a long-run stabilization policy, or whether it will relax its controls as the 1979 parliamentary elections come

"This government started badly," Sellberg said. "They were over-optimistic about the world economy and the Swedish economy. They didn't do very much for the first six months in office.

After that initial hesitation, attributed to the newness in office and lack of coordination among the three-party combination of Conservatives, Liberals and Centrists, the government moved to restrain domestic spending, slow the sharp rise in prices and reduce labor costs.

A major step was the raising of the value-added (sales) tax three points to 20.63 percent, the highest in Western Europe. Other consumption taxes were raised on liquor, tobacco and petroleum.

The Swedish kroner was devalued in three stages and was freed from attachment to the German mark within the European currency combination known as the "snake.

While the total devaluation came to 15 percent, a large part was neutralized when Sweden's neighbors and biggest trading partners — Denmark, Norway and Finland — also devalued.

The last step, a 10 percent reduction accompanied by departure from the snake, was only partially matched by the other Nordic states, however, giving Sweden a slight advantage in selling products in world markets.

Breaking loose from its long-time connection with the ever-rising German mark also helped Swedish exporters start to regain some lost markets. West Germany is Sweden's biggest competitor in many product lines.

Internally, the devaluations raised he prices on imported goods and encouraged Swedes to turn back to home-produced items.

"This was one of the few modern deviuations that has worked." a government economist commented.

The same conclusion was reached by Kristen Wickman, former chairman of the Swedish National Bank, in a recent speech to a private meeting of saving bank executives.

Although Wickman is a Social Democrat. he departed from the party's official position and credited the coalition with a grip on labor costs. which were the highest in the world.

The devaluation success was followed by a peaceful settlement in the annual wage talks between the two big labor federations representing blue and white collar workers.

Wage costs for blue collar workers will go up 5 percent and will rise 4.2 percent for white collar workers, figures well below the annual inflation rate of over 12 percent

This settlement, combined with a recent reduction in a payroll tax, will help stabilize labor costs and enhance profit perspectives for industry.

The Swedish Employers Confederation earlier this year predicted that the recent developments will drop the country from its first place rank for labor costs - $9.36 an hour in 1978.

Instead, Belgium and Norway will move into the first rank while Sweden will be almost even with Denmark, the Netherlands and West Germany in the next level. The United States' and Canada's labor costs were 10 percent lower, according to this study.

Sweden, which was hit by the world recession later than most other industrial countries, suffered a decline of 2.4 percent last year while most other countries had modest gains in growth.

The country suffered loss in real personal incomes for the first time in modern history.

While the official forecasts for 1978 are being revised slightly upward, the country will have little absolute growth and individual incomes will gain only slightly.

ATLANTA (AP) - After paying for rail mass transit for six years, people in Atlanta finally have something to look at — though still nothing to ride.

Cranes, barricades and dynamite blasts invaded the city's core, tunnels were dug under famed Peachtree Street, several downtown thoroughfares were blocked and a 12-mile gash was cut for the first line of tracks.

Huge concrete structures rose east of downtown, where much of the rail system is elevated. Several downtown blocks fell to make way for the rails. And Underground Atlanta, the tourist attraction of shops and nightspots beneath a section of downtown streets, lost half its territory to the right-of-way.

Officials at MARTA - the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority — say they will open this year, on Christmas Day, the first 6.7 miles of the 53mile, X-shaped layout approved by voters in a November 1971 referendum.

Money to build the system is from a 1 percent local billion budget for what MARTA officials call Phase A Phase A, the only portion of the plan funded, will extend 8 miles east, 4 miles west, 2 miles north and a few blocks south from a central station at Five Points, a downtown intersection. That much is to be completed by April 1981.

There is no timetable, even tentative, for completing the rest of the system. "It is totally dependent on federal funds," a MARTA spokesman says.

But the authority has projected the number of passengers expected to use each station in 1990 -175,000 daily at Five Points, the busiest - assuming that the entire 53-mile setup is operating, ferrying commuters from the affluent northeastern suburbs and whisking travelers south to the airport.

Projections for the year 2000 assume more than 100 miles of rails in five counties will be operating. Voters in two of those five counties rejected MARTA in the 1971 referendum.

Some critics say a rapid rail system is obsolete, or at best wrong for Atlanta, whose sprawling suburbs sales tax accepted in the same referendum and from will not be weaned easily from the automobile. Is federal taxes, which cover $800 million of the $1.02 MARTA concerned that it might be building for the past instead of the future?

opinion written by Justice Lewis F. tices Act and similar state statutes for Powell Jr., said the Constitution's another day," White contended.

The dissenters said today's decision "casts considerable doubt" on the constitutionality of laws in 31 states which limit corporate political activity. They did not name the states.

The Massachusetts law barring corporations from spending money to oppose any law not "materially affecting" them was challenged by five corporations, which argued their free speech rights were being violated. The state's Supreme Judicial Court upheld the law.

The controversy arose in 1976 when the corporations wanted to spend money for an advertising campaign in opposition to a proposed graduated state income tax in Massachusetts.

The state has only a flat-rate tax on individual income, and the proposed change was defeated.

The corporations appealing the state court's ruling were the First National Bank of Boston, New England Merchants National Bank, the Gillette Co., Digital Equipment Corp.

and the Wyman-Gordon Co. Joining Powell in the majority were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul Stevens.

Dissenting along with White were Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Thurgood Marshall and William H. Rehnquist.

Tom Seaver is still 0-for April. The former Cy Young Award winner made his fifth start of the season for Cincinnati Wednesday night and was pasted for eight hits and five earned runs in four innings as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the Reds

The Texas Rangers' righthander, who had been struggling with a 5.29 earned run average after three poor 1978 performances, scattered four record to 1-1. He retired nine consecutive batters at one point.

But afterward, Alexander continued his season-long refusal to talk to the media. He even refused to appear on the "Star of the Game" post-game radio show with one of the team's announcers.

"I don't have much to say tonight. As a matter of fact, I don't have anything to say," said Alexander, ala former Dallas Cowboys' running back

Thomas, of course, went the entire 1971 season without speaking to teammates or reporters. Alexander's muteness apparently extends only to Torborg, meanwhile, was not at a loss for words.

"He (Alexander) was in control all the way." said Torborg, who caught Alexander while both were with the Los Angeles Dodgers organization in 1970. "He pitched an excellent ballgame. We didn't have very many opportunities. He kept us at bay all

'That's probably the best pitched game against us all season," Torborg added. "He was hitting the corners. He had good control. He changed speed well.

Alexander had issued seven walks in only 17 innings this season, but walked only two Indians. Control is vital to Alexander's finesse style of

"He left before the game ended and he left in a hurry." a team employee said.

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson

was asked about Seaver's quick exit. "Every player on the team has to stay till I walk through the door. They don't have to stay for any writers. They answer to me, not the writers,"

Anderson was then asked whether he had seen Seaver after the game. "He only has to answer to me," he replied, ducking the question. Elsewhere in the National League. the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Montreal Expos 12-2, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2. the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the New York Mets 1-0, the San Diego Padres edged the Houston Astros 2-1 and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Francisco Giants 6-1.

"Tom Seaver motivates you just by playing against him," said Baker. "Our hitting attack is better than it was last year. Rick Monday is healthy and Steve Yeager is a better hitter."

As for Seaver, Rau said, "Seaver had pop on some of his pitches but he looked out of synch on others. I don't know if it was physical or not.

But Reds pitching coach Larry Sheppard said he knew of no physical problems hampering the ace righthander. "If he has anything wrong, he's keeping it to himself." said Shep-

"We are really excited about spring drills and feel like the attitude is great and there are some good prospects," quipped

Junior varsity workouts will begin at 3:30 p.m. each day and winding up at 5:30 p.m. The varsity will follow from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The Rebs are allowed 21 working days for spring training under the UIL rules.

The spring game in Memorial Stadium is set for Friday, May 19 at 8 p.m. The junior varsity will also have a final spring game that same night with the Midland Bulldogs to wind up on the following night with the annual Bim Mims Game.

Bartosh comes to Lee from the University of of New Mexico where he was defensive secondary coach for two seasons. He was also head coach at the University of Texas at El Paso and was at Odessa Permian for two seasons, winning the Class AAAA state championship in 1972. AMARILLO-You could call Wednesday night's game here between the Midland Cubs and the Amarillo Gold Sox a lot of things, but one of them definetly wouldn't be a pitchers' duel.

These two Texas League teams continued to hit the baseball as if they feared base hits might become extinct any minute, and when the smoke finally cleared. Amarillo was the victor for the third night in a row, 14-

All totaled, eight pitchers took their turn on the hill-four each for both clubs-in this fiasco that more resembled a batting practice than a baseball game. The Sox out hit Midland, 15-13, and once again managed to overcome a flood of errors. They committed six more Wednesday, and if you are keeping a running tally, that's 28 in six games. BUT THEY still managed to win.

Barry Biggerstaff, the third of the four Gold Sox hurlers, picked up his first victory of the season while Jack Uhey, 0-1, was tagged with the loss.

Jack Ledbetter started for the Cubs and Jim Stehle for the Gold Sox, but neither one made it past the second inning. Ledbetter came up with arm trouble after the first inning and had to call it quits. Stehle, a hardthrowing lefthander, had control problems right from the start and exited after 1 inning.

The Cubs got to Stehle for six runs before he left, and for a while it looked like the game might be a run away. But not so. Trailing 8-5. Amarillo exploded for six runs in the fourth, all of them coming off of reliever Tom Butler. Butler had his problems, giving up 11 runs in just 2 innings before he got the hook

MIDLAND TIED the game at 11-11 in the fifth on RBI singles by Kurt Siebert and Steve Macko and a run scoring ground ball off the bat of Jimmy Buckner. But Amarillo came right back two innings later, scoring

Tall City hopefuls in regional track competition

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

R-T Sports Writer

LUBBOCK-The Texas Tech University oval will serve as the spring board here Friday and Saturday for berths in the state AAAA and AA track meet in Austin as the Region I thinclads will be running for the first two places in each event.

The top two winners in each event will advance to Austin in two weeks to compete for state championships. Tall City run-ners will be seeking a maximum of nine berths, but that is more hoping than reason really allows. But there will be nine events with Tall City hopefuls in

THE MIDLAND Lee Rebels will have two relays and two individuals seeking state berths while the Midland High Bulldogs will have four individuals eyeing five possible berths. The Pack's Alvin Price is the only Tall City runner entered in two individual events, and both are going to be heated races. Price will be in the 220-yard dash and 100-yard dash. Many think his best bet comes in the 100, where he has clocked a wind aided 9.4 seconds this year, and tied the district record two weeks ago with a 9.6. If he can turn those kind of times again, he could be on his way to Austin.

Price has a state ranked 21.5

in the 220, but he had a 22.3 in district for a second place. This may be the race Price will have to work hard in to earn a state

"I'm a senior, and I've never been to the region meet," Price said recently while looking back on two previous frustrating track seasons. "I would really like to go to state, but just getting here was the important

LEE SOPHOMORE Phil Carleton, who was a young surprise on the District 5-4A track scene this year, will also be making his first regional appearance in the 440-yard dash. Carleton is the only other Midland entry in two events. He will anchor Lee's mile relay hopes in the last race of Saturday's finals.

Carleton won the 5-4A quarter championship with a 50.0, his best finish of the year in a meet finals. He has posted 49.7 in prelim competition, and he will probably have to beat that for a trip to state.
"It feels good to go to the region meet as a sophomore." Carleton said. "I hope to do well. but the experience should help me in the future also."

Lee will also have Jeff Mc-Cowan making his second ap-pearance in the regional war in the shot put. He earned the region berth with a second place toss of 55-71/2 feet.

SEVERAL ENTRANTS in the shot put have better throws this season than McCowan, but the junior has promised a surprise this weekend.

'I said I would be back to the region meet this year," said McCowan remembering his outof-the money showing a year ago as a sophomore. "Now I want to go to state. I'm going to work hard for it. If I can't go, then I'm going to take some of them down with me. I want to beat Sager (Permian's Tommy) for sure."

Midland High also has two hopes in the two distance races with Chuck Stump in the 880 and Jeff Adkins in the mile. And both are lucky to be here after coming down with throat infections before the district meet. They both ran on courage since they spent a lot of time in bed the week before district.

STUMP QUALIFIED for the 880 with a second place 1:57.6 in district, not far off his best of 1:57.0 this year, but he looked like he was on his death bed after the race. He was drained. However, he and Adkins are both fit now.

Stump will have an uphill climb for a state berth with the likes of San Angelo's Ed Bruning and El Paso's Ken Schmidt in the field, but he really wanted the chance. "I was in third in district last year and missed the regional berth." Stump said after his second behind Bruning at district. "But I knew, sick or not, that I couldn't be third this year. I want to run.'

Tall City thinclads

Adkins had a second place 4:28.0 in district behind San Angelo's Lon Albert, but he has 4:23.7 this year. If he could return to his fastest form, he might stand a chance for a state

"I ENDED the regular track season on a down note," Adkins said at district. "I couldn't understand why I ran so bad at San Angelo (third place) and then I had fever that night. I was pretty weak the whole week before district. I just needed time to get back from the throat infection. I'll be ready for the region meet though."

The biggest surprise regional qualifier from the 5-4A district meet was Midland High's David Simmons, another sophomore. Simmons won second in a strong field with a toss of 155-5 feet, near his best. It will take another surprise for Simmons to earn a state berth this year, but as a sophomore, the experience is the important thing. He will know what to expect in the future, and he has a bright one.

"I was a little surprised that some of the guys didn't do better in district," Simmons said. "But I felt I should have done a lot better myself. I'm going to have to improve.

LEE'S 440-YARD relay hopes will ride on the moving strings of Jerry Moore, Jami Berry, Doug Guthrie and Dwight Washington. This group won the 5-4A title with a 42.6, their best time. In a qualifers meet in Hobbs this past weekend, they failed to get the baton around the track, a hazard inherent in this race. Still, they came back with a 1:28.2 in the 880 relay to set a school record. Coach Sam Volpe thinks this team could be the best bet for a state berth for the Rebels.

Washington, Berry and Carleton will be joined by junior Arthur Pertile on the mile relay team. This group posted a 3:20.0; their best of the year, last week to win at Hobbs. This team has improved steadily througout the year, and there may be some potential still undiscovered. Team points are doubled in the relays, so the Rebels could have some muscle in the team run

ONLY TWO finals are set for in the discus finals at 11:30 a.m. and the long jump will be at 12:30 p.m. Running preliminaries will be held Friday at 3:30 p.m. Only Stump and Adkins will not have to qualify for the finals since there will be no qualifying in the mile run or 880 dash.

The shot put, pole vault and high jump finals will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. and the running finals are slated for a 1:30 p.m. run.

He said he had appealed to California Congressmen - particularly Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on communications - for details on money distribution in the series of so-called "winner-take-all" matches involving Jimmy Connors over the last three years.

The Columbia Broadcasting System was sharply reprimanded by the Federal Communications Commission for not honestly revealing the prize money breakdown. Robert Wussler subsequently resigned as president of CBS sports, and the network took to the air to make a public apology for its laxity in failing to confirm that the event was not "winner-takeall," after all.

"The pending FCC action against CBS confirms that there was deception," Schroeder said. "Who else contributed to the total pot? In what amount? For what reason? I am affronted, even if he (Van Deerlin) is Ambassadeur's exclusive "fast-cast" ThumBar is the most revolutionary advance in baitcasting in years. Designed to give perfect control, ThumBar shifts into free spool with one silk-smooth touch of your thumb. Then, because ThumBar is located directly beneath your thumb, you're automatically in position to control the spool before, during and after your cast. And ThumBar's spool can never disengage or trip accidentally while cranking in line or playing a fish.

ThumBar gives you more casts in an average day, too. And that can mean more fish by the end of the day. Because the more time your lure spends in the water, the better your chances are of catching fish. And the easy-to-palm ThumBar makes handling a pleasure, all day long. Every ThumBar comes with classic Garcia Ambassadeur features such as:

 Dual braking systems for greater freedom from backlash · Power precision gearing and stainless steel ball bearings High-speed 4.7 to 1 gear ratios for greater ease when buzzing spinner

· And power handles, standard on all models One hand. One motion. One complete cast. It's that simple Garcia's ThumBar reel is available in three versatile sizes. The all new fast retrieve, narrow spool 4600C, classic standard size 5600C and the larger

So join two time B.A.S.S. Master Classic Champion Rick Clunn, and start trusting all your catches to a Garcia Ambassadeur "fast-cast" ThumBar reel. Market pulls back from rally

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market ran into some selling today and pulled back a bit after the explosive rally of the past two weeks.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had risen more than 70 points over the last 10 sessions to its highest closing level in nearly five months, slipped 4.68 to .832.29 by noontime today. Losers outnumbered gainers by a broad margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Analysts noted that the market had begun to retreat at mid-day Wednesday, leaving prices well below their mid-day highs at the close.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up more than 9 points late in the morning. closed with a 3.38 gain.

That downturn seemed to encourage further selling today by traders who believed the market had reached at least a short-term peak.

Brokers also noted that the dollar declined in foreignexchange trading today, helping to diminish buying interest among overseas investors. British Petroleum topped the active list, up 14 at 141/2 A 105,500-share block traded at 1436.

Blue chip issues losing ground in active trading included General Motors, down 36 at 65%; Exxon, off 36 at 47%, and Sears Roebuck, % lower at 25%.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .22 to 53.66. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .50 at 136.15.

Volume on the Big Board came to 15.91 million shares by noontime, down from 20.21 million at the same point Wednesday.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Home life important

Dear Dr. Solomon: Do nerves have anything to do with the skin rashes you sometimes get when you take certain drugs?-Christie L.

Dear Christie: Drug eruptions, as they are called, are quite common. Some drugs are more likely to cause them than others-antibiotics, for instance—and some people are especially sensitive.
And it is possible that a person's state of mind may have something to do with this.

Dr. Sataoshi Okuse of Sapporo Medical College in Japan has done a study that influences both allergic and neurotic factors are involved in drug-induced skin troubles-especially those due to multiple drugs. He suggests that the doctor take into consideration the patient's emotional attitude as well as the underlying disease and the drug itself. Any unusual effect of a drug-such as a skin eruption-should be brought to the immediate attention of the doctor, of course. It is a warning sign that something may be wrong and that other, more serious results may follow. One must never tell oneself it is "just nerves." It is for the doctor to decide what is amiss and whether it is safe to go on taking the drug.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Is it true that being an only child can make it more difficult to mix with other people and get along well with them later on?-Charlotte T

Dear Charlotte: I think that the quality of home life, the warmth and love that a child gets, are a good deal more important than how many children there are in the family-as far as the child's whole development goes. A recent study of 3,000 school children conducted by a child phychologist of the University of Minnesota, Shirley Moore, should encourage you. The notion that an only child is less popular with other children is, she says, a myth. The single child does enter nursery-age play groups more slowly at first but soon makes up for lost time. One thing that is very important is that single children be thrown together with others at the pre-school level-neighborhood friends or an informal play

Elevator blast witnesses wary

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - State Rep. Joe Hubenak says his legislative committee may have go behind closed doors to obtain testimony from persons concerning reasons that might shed some light on recent grain elevator explosions.

Hubenak said several witnesses have expressed fear of financial reprisals because of pending lawsuits stemming from the recent blasts, especially from insurance companies who might refuse claims.

The committee faces an Oct. 1 deadline and is scheduled to hold six hearings similar to the one conducted here Tuesday before it reports its findings to the Legislature.

"Witnesses have come up off the cuff to give information," said Hubenak, "but they are afraid to do it on the record."

The Rosenburg lawmaker indicated the committee may have to seek special permission to conduct closed-door hearings if witnesses continue to be

Kenneth Hubbell, assistant area director of the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration here, suggested a take-over by the state on elevator inspections might be in order. Hubbell said the federal act that created OSHA in 1970 has no provisions for consultation with elevator operators on safety questions.

Gary Moore, director of safety and insurance of Dimmitt Agra-Industries, said industry officials on the High Plains are "very concerned about the problems" since low humidity in the area is believed to be a contributing factor in the explosions. Moore noted, however, that elevator operators have dif-ficulty understanding OSHA regulations.

Robert Mikeska, a Hubenak aide, said additional funds to research grain dust problems at elevators may be recommended by the House committee in the final report, along with the reinstitution of funds to the Texas Occupational Safety Board for their administration of an inspection program.

Mikeska noted that Texas is one of eight states in the country with no state budget for an occpational safety board.

Voters wipe out gay rights law

By MARY VANDEMARK Associated Press Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - Voters repealed the gay rights section of St. Paul's human rights ordinance Tuesday, approving an initiative by about 2-1. With 140 of the city's 161 precincts counted, there were 46,530 votes in favor of the initiative and 24,989 against. The vote deletes from the human rights ordinance a four-year-old amendment prohibiting discrimination in housing, employment, education and public accommdation on the basis of "sexual and affectional preference." Shouts of "Hallelujah" and "Praise the Lord!" greeted announcements of vote totals at Temple Baptist Church, where about 200 proponents of the initiative gathered after the polls closed. The church's pastor, the Rev. Richard Angwin, was a leader of the repeal effort. He said the vote means homosexuals "will have to keep their sin quiet." In a victory address 90 minutes after the polls closed, Angwin called the amendment, approved by the City Council four years ago, "a travesty that the people of St. Paul would never have stood for had we been given the opportunity to vote."

Kerry Woodward, campaign manager for St. Paul Citizens for Human Rights, said Angwin and hisfollowers based their campaign on "fear, hatred and deceitful tactics."

Unit labor costs point to faster inflation pace

By ART PINE and JAMES L. ROWE JR. The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - A little-known but crucially important measure of inflationary pressures in the economy rose at the fastest rate since 1951 in the first quarter of this year, the government said Tuesday.

The Labor Department reported that so-called unit labor costs-the Labor cost of an average unit of production - rose at an annual rate of 18.3 percent in the January-March period.

That increase was exaggerated by some one-time-only factors — the January increase in Social Security taxes and the minimum wage, the January-February drop in production, now reversed. Analysts said theory is that higher interest rates that, even so, the first-quarter labor costs will heighten pressure on businesses to raise prices.

William A. Cox. the Commerce Department's deputy chief economist, conceded the increase would give "some upward push" to inflation pressures. Another government economist familiar with the report called the new figures "very disturbing.

The figures came as G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, confirmed to Congress Tuesday that the Fed's recent steps to tighten credit and lift will slow down spending and reduce demand.

At the same time, Barry Bosworth, director of the administration's Council on Wage and Price Stability. warned that the inflationary spiral cannot be broken anytime soon unless big unions cut back demands for higher wages.

In remarks to reporters, Bosworth said price restraint also is important. but the major problem lies with wage demands by "the major unions." If wage settlements continue to average 30 percent for a three-year contract. he said, "you might as well forget" suggested Congress and the ad-hourly compensation by an ex-ministration could relieve pressure on traordinary 14 percent, the largst rise the Fed to raise interest rates by in five years. cutting back on spending and reducing the budget deficit.

He continued to press for a delay in the president's proposed tax reductions to Jan. 1, from the Oct. 1 effective date that Carter requested. Miller said the move would save $5 billion to $8 billion. Congress already appears to be heading in that direc-

The rise in unit labor costs stemmed from several factors, some of which economists say are temporary: -Social Security taxes rose sharply

-Output levels declined 1.8 percent, largely as a result of the cold weather and the impact of the coal strike in the early months of the year. At the same time, employers continued to expand their payrolls. The number of hours worked increased by

1.9 percent. As a result, the productivity of American workers - that is, output per workhour, or labor's efficiency declined by a 3.6 percent annual rate, posting its first drop since the second quarter of 1977 and the steepest speed up. Unit labor costs rose by 6.1 percent in all of 1977, compared to the 18.3 percent annual rate posted in the first quarter of 1978.

Worker productivity has been relatively lackluster in the past several months. Output per workhour rose at a modest 2.3 percent annual rate in the final quarter of last year. For all of 1977, it averaged 2.6 perent.

Woodcarver has art throughout Western world

By BEATRIZ RUIZ De La MATA

JAYUYA, Puerto Rico (AP) -Elpidio Collazo's birds have flown all over the Western hemisphere. A remarkable feat if you consider that Collazo's birds are carved out of His delicate creations have found such distinguished homes as the Carter White House, the Puerto Rican governor's mansion and the residences of 23 Latin American ministers of culture who recently visited this island.

But Collazo is more concerned about the fate of the birds that inspire his work than about fame and fortune Sitting in a living room that resembles an aviary, Collazo talks about his birds amid tiny three-inch honeycreepers; the fierce-looking, 18inch-tall guaraguao, a Puerto Ricanbird of prey; and the resplendent mockingbird. The finely detailed figures almost come alive as he says:

have a wealth of birds that we have to save and protect. They are destroying the woods and our birds are vanishing." He blames hunters and developers for the diminishing bird population in the lush green mountains surrounding his home.

In the two years since he started carving. Collazo has become one of the best artisans in Puerto Rico. Hawks, grackles, Puerto Rican todies, mockingbirds, all come alive in his hands and many people who previously had not shown interest in local birds come to his modest home in the shadow of Puerto Rico's highest peak to commission one of his birds.

More than 30 different bird species inhabit the mountains around barrio Veguita Sama, where Collazo's parents and grandparents lived before him. In his daily walks Collazo has become familiar with every single one of them.

A feeding station in the back of his

"I want to carry a message that we house is constantly filled with happily chirping birds.

> Even the fearsome guaraguaos (Puerto Rican hawks) have found a friend in Collazo, who defends them against neighbors' accusations that they destroy the crops and kill the small farm animals.

> "The guaraguao is one of he birds I love the most. People do not understand the good they do." he

> During the past year Collazo's works have been exhibited at a private gallery in San Juan, at the university in the-west coastal city of Mayaguez and at several schools in Ponce, and are in permanent exhibit at the Institute of Puerto Rican Culture's San Juan museum.

> Working between 50 and 150 hours on each bird, he refuses to attempt to carve any bird other than those he is familiar with. Each of his birds comes not only from his intimate knowledge of the species but of the material he uses as well. Cedar is his favorite wood but he also uses walnut, higuerillo and other material he finds around Jayuya. "I like to make the birds in their natural sizes," he says, "and I don't dare to do them until I know them

"Since I was a boy I had a vision and I always liked drawing a little bit. but I did not capture what I want to do until I worked in jail," said Collazo; who was for eight years a penal guard for the Correction Administration.

Since then his workshop has grown and now occupies a room at the back of his house, which he shares with the family's chickens, roosters and geese.

At 39, Collazo is beginning to develop the craftsman's concern about who will learn the trade from him. He complains that his young apprentice has no real talent for carving but then, with a twinkle in his eyes, he reveals that his infant son loves to fiddle with his tools.

Almost 70, 'King Penguin' works on revision of guide to birds

EDITOR'S NOTE — His field guide is synonymous with bird watching, his Illustrations are collector's items. He's traveled to some 80 countries and all seven continents. But Roger, Tory Peterson, approaching age 70, continues to search for the clusive.

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

OLD LYME, Conn. (AP) - Roger Tory Peterson, America's best-known naturalist, has been a dedicated birdwatcher since seventh grade yet he's seen less than half the world's

Not that he's been dallying. Of the 8,600 listed, he's seen about 3,500 and s still counting.

'I hope during my life to see at least half." says Peterson, who will be 70 in The "King Penguin" of bird wat-chers, sets his sights on the elusive between writing a book about penguins and working on the fourth revision of his popular "Field Guide to the Birds," both to be published next year.

The guide, last revised in 1947, will contain all new illustrations and more of them, plus more color and maps.

"It's not that the birds have changed so," says Peterson. "But I've changed during those 30 years. I certainly am more skilled at drawing and painting, and my experience with these birds is greater.

Peterson says he remains as obsessed with birds as he was more than a half-century ago when he was

"From then on my life revolved around birds. They were wonderful things. They seemed to have a great deal of freedom. They could go where they wanted, when they wanted; and when I was a boy. I certainly wished I had that freedom. I didn't like school as much as I should have.' From his first classroom illustration - a blue jay - and his first photograph - a screech owl captured with a camera he bought with money made as a paper boy - grew a profession that has taken him to more than 80 countries and to all seven continents. He has 80 books to his credit either as author, artist or editor, which have sold nearly 8 million copies. He has painted 4,000 birds -

He says the field guide, originally published in 1934, "broke the ice for a great many people." and has sold some 2 million copies.

Peterson's friends call him "King Penguin."

There is a group who likes to give bird names to each of us. When they asked me what bird I'd like to be. I said either a wandering albatross or a

"The king penguin is so unusual looking and you find them in great masses in the Antarctic. They're quite elegant. They intrigue me. mostly as an artist, I guess.'

Peterson and wife Virginia live in an eight-room house on 70 acres of way between his publishers in Boston and the Linnaean Society and the art centers of New York.

His living room is a gallery of reproductions of his bird paintings. His studio, a converted stable with picture windows overlooking a frog pond, has a fireproof vault containing nearly 2,000 bird skins and stuffed birds.

A collection of some 4,000 bird books is scattered among studio, home and office, where two secretaries work.

White-haired and trim at 6 feet and 175 pounds. Peterson keeps fit by jogging, walking, doing calisthenics and sticking to a vitamin regime.

His accomplishment with the most impact, he says, is his "Field Guide to birds by critical field marks.

He spent three years putting it together while teaching drawing and painting at the Rivers School in Brookline, Mass. The guide was published in 1934 by Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston after four other

Britain to increase military pay

The Los Angeles Times

LONDON — The British government, in an effort to stop the drain of key personnel from the armed forces. announced a pay increase of about 14 percent on Tuesday.

The increase would apply to some 339,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen many of whom have asked to leave the services because of the low rate of pay compared to similar civilian occupations.

The loss of skilled military personnel from the British armed forces has wotried senior commanders, as well as NATO officials, since many of those asking to get out ar hard to find facing a shortage of fighter pilots. And some 1,000 serving officers in the army - or the commissioned strength of 30 battalions - have applied to leave the service during the past year.

A government review board recommended that servicemen be given a 32 percent raise to bring their salaries up to the parity with civilian occupations. The board said that servicemen were paid at least one-third less than civilians in comparable occupations. Prime Minister James Callaghan in disclosing the raises indicated that he agreed that the servicemen deserved a higher increase, but that the 14 percent remained within the govern-

Callaghan said the servicemen thus would be getting a basic 10 percent wage increase plus 4 percent more as a consideration for the arduous conditions of military service.

In addition, hazardous duty pay was also raised as well as the renumeration for duty in Northern Ireland. Prime Minister Callaghan said that over the next two years, the pay scales for the armed forces would be brought up to the levels recommended by the review board. The review board said: "Unless corrective action is taken quickly services will lose more and more of the best men.

Callaghan's announced pay increase was immediately challenged by opposition leader Margaret Thatvide for the loss in the standard of living among servicemen and women.

She said the poor pay "saps morale" of men and women in the services and said that the Conservative Party which she heads would restore the deterioration of servicemen's pay.

And Winston Churchill, a conservative member of Parliament, said it was "rubbish for the government to say that it couldn't have done better." Churchill, grandson of the late prime minister, said that many servicemen were putting in a 108-hour week at something less than the equivalent of

Coal deal announced

Adobe Oil & Gas Corp. has announced it has signed a letter of intent with a group of individuals to acquire their coal properties and assets in Northwest Pennsylvania for a cash consideration of approximately $2.5

At present, approximately 120,000 tons of steam coal a year are being mined from the properties.

Execution of definitive agreements is expected by Une 1.

The agreements will be subject to customary verification of assets and accounting and independent engineering confirmation of coal reserves estimated at 2 million tons of mineable coal.

The acquisition would compliment Adobe's fourth quarter 1977 entry into coal operations when it acquired strip mining properties and facilities near these properties.

ing the additional two votes, sources A majority of Senate conferees has already indicated support for the proposal, so the logiam is now on the House side.

The plan cuils for lifting price controls on natural gas beginning in 1985. It was negotiated behind closed doors during the past five months and has the administration's blessings.

The latest snag came when two key Democratic negotiators expected to support the proposal - Reps. James Corman, D-Calif., and Henry Reuss, D-Wisc. - indicated they may vote

Both say the compromise is too generous to the oil and gas industry.

Business poor in talk, rich in purchasing

NEW YORK (AP) - Those surveys of consumer and business expectations appear oddly at variance with the buying mood now appearing in the stock. housing, automotive and other markets.

Consumer confidence in March fell to a two-year low, said the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan. And financial executives too are said to be less optimistic about the economy.

At the same time, sales of many items rose and money poured into the stock market as suddenly as water from a broken dam, fortunately to be soaked up by stocks that had grown dry as an unused The people at the Survey Research Center ordinarilly contend that a poor consumer mood almost inevitably is reflected in future sales, but for the time being they are backing off from that position. People are buying goods, they say, because of fears that future prices will be even higher, a

While such increases are far below double-digit range, they represent a marked changed from attitudes as recently as last October, when financial executives thought inflation would recede. Whatever the reasons for the poor mood, it hardly is being reflected in public statements by executives. Executives of the nation's biggest companies are making statements that haven't been heard in a while. In Denver this week, Frank Cary, chairman of International Business Machines, told annual meeting attendees his company will greatly expand capacity, adding 10,000 manufacturing workers in 1977-1978. Thomas Murphy, General Motors chairman, has been talking bullish for many months, and automotive sales, after lagging during the harsh winter, are documenting his faith. Retiree finds Soviet life not very good

By GARY MIHOCES

GLASSPORT, Pa. (AP) - After too many months in the Soviet Union, 87year-old Charley Puka took a twohour nap and rejoined old friends at American Legion Post 443.

"I don't go no place no more." grumbled the retired coal miner and World War I veteran, who was thrust into the international spotlight by his efforts to get back to this southwestern Pennsylvania town.

"I didn't like nothin' in Russia. That country's no damn good. I didn't eat nothin' but beans and bread over there." said Puka, who lost a pot belly and 36 pounds from his normal weight of 170 while in the Soviet Union. At the Legion post he enjoyed ginger ale. cold cuts, cake, a hand of poker and lots of kisses from women friends.

The 5-foot-2 Puka, sporting a fresh shave, a blue suit and a polka dot bow tie, packed that same suit and bow tie and left for his native Ukraine eight months ago

Just what kept Puka in the Soviet Union is uncertain. Published reports here said he applied at the Soviet Embassy in Washington for a travel visa but instead was issued a Soviet passport. When he arrived in the Soviet Union, his American passport was taken from him and he was sent onto his village. Velvatino.

But a priest in nearby McKeesport says Puka wanted to live out his days in the Ukraine.

"Charley applied for permanent residency," said the Rev. Dimitri Ermakov of St. Mary's Russian Orthodox Church. Ermakov said he helped Puka fill out residency papers and counseled him about his decision.

Puka himself won't say what happened that so soured him on Soviet life. "I won't tell you. Go over and find out yourself." he said.

In any case, Puka decided he wanted out. He got his wish after his letters and efforts by the American Legion led to intervention by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

"Great to be back." Puka told dozens of reporters after arriving Wednesday at Kennedy Airport in New York.

Puka looked weary and haggard when he arrived at the Pittsburgh airport. A friend removed Puka's wrinkled coat and helped him into a red American Legion jacket before driving him back to Glassport in a black Cadillac.

After a nap, Puka made a celebrity return to the Legion Hall, located across the Monongahela River from a steel plant

Puka strolled inside carrying a brass cane given him by a nephew in the Ukraine

"Hi, people." he said as his friends applauded and rushed to pat his back.

Customs employee sues for media access

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - An employee union has filed suit against the U.S. Customs Service, charging that the agency's efforts to control bad publicity by forbidding employes to talk to newsmen is unconstitutional.

The suit involving Customs employes' right to talk to the media was one of two filed Wednesday by the National Treasury Employes Union.

The litigation is the first public indication of recent skirmishes between Customs employees and their bosses. Both suits charge Customs is covering up illegal activities and mismanagment and is trying to cover up the coverups.

A complaint filed on behalf of Charles Boucher, a Customs patrol officer and a union executive, charges high-ranking Customs officials were embarrassed after incidents of mismangement and discrimination were reported by the press starting in 1975 and "commenced an unconscionable scheme to supress future embarrassing information."

The suit said in 1976 Customs ordered that only authorized employees may release information to the media and the "improper disclosure of information may constitute grounds for dismissal...suspension or criminal prosecution. Boucher claims William Hughes, El Paso district Customs director, called him into his office and ordered him not to talk with newsmen about Customs matters after a series of stories about the agency appeared in the El Paso Times last October.

The Times reported incidents of alleged mismanagement and misappropriation of government property by employees of the Customs Air Support Unit. Boucher claims Customs officials "speculatively identified (him) as the source of the embarrassing information.

The Times identified Boucher as a pilot with the air unit until November when he and five other pilots were grounded for a year after they told Customs internal affairs investigators of the alleged misappropriations in the unit.

In the second suit, 10 Customs employees disciplined two years ago are asking for the information used to punish them. The suit contends they were ordered to testify before a federal grand jury about possible illegal activities.

Some were accused of buying marijuana in Mexico and flying it back to the United States where they pretended to find it in order to fortify stoms' statistics.

After their grand jury appearance, internal affairs agents interrogated the employees. The suit said all were assured no civil or criminal action would be taken if they retold their stories. However, they received suspensions ranging from seven to 30 days.

Without the information given to internal affairs, the employees claim they cannot respond to the disciplinary actions. The also claim they cannot develop a case arguing that managerial knowledge, direction and control were responsible for the alleged misconduct.

Odette Atallah was also bern in
