

One Killed, Many Injured As Church Roof Falls

By PAT REMICK

GARLAND (UPI) — The roof of a church collapsed on worshippers Sunday under the weight of a heavy rainfall, killing a 9-year-old girl and injuring more than 50 persons, many seriously.

Some of the first rescuers on the scene said one woman carried from the debris had lost a leg. They reported victims with broken backs and bones, deep gashes and widespread shock and hysteria. Survivors were taken to five area hospitals.

"We had the opening song," said the Rev. Verner I. Ulrich, 35, pastor of the Walnut Village Church of Christ. "One of the elders stood up to give the opening prayer and that's when it happened."

John Shaw, administrator of Garland Memorial Hospital, said 30 persons were treated or admitted. Garland Community Hospital treated or admitted 12, and Presbyterian and Baylor hospitals in Dallas treated and released another 10.

People were scattered in the corridors and rooms of the hospitals on stretchers, chairs and beds. Survivors in Sunday church clothes, soaked and muddy from the ordeal, waited quietly at the hospitals for word of the extent of relatives' injuries.

The elder, lay minister E.L. Griffin, was at the podium starting his prayer, with all heads in the church bowed, when the roof cracked lengthwise in the middle and fell across two-thirds of the congregation of 175 persons. People began running from the building, and then a few minutes later the southwest corner of the roof fell in, hitting more people.

"There was a loud pop," Griffin said. "Most of it fell in front of me and just covered the people up. Why couldn't it have been last night? or later? It couldn't have happened at a worse time."

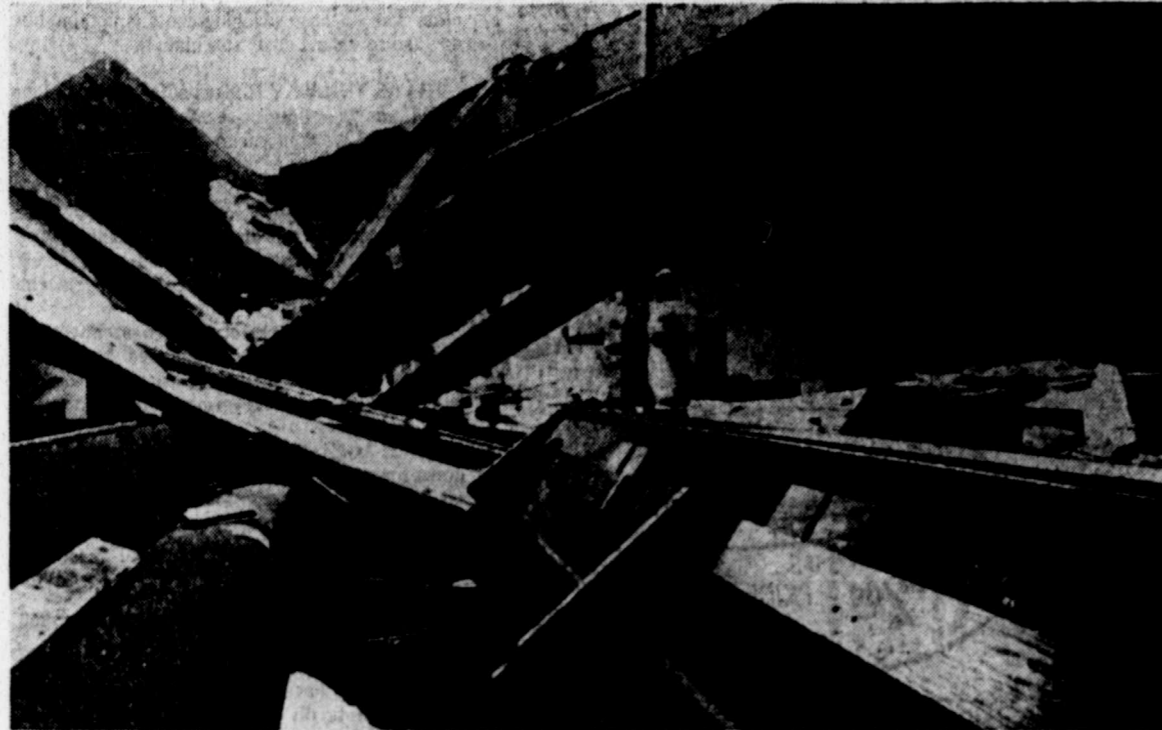

The church was built three years ago at a cost of $200,000. It was a one-story brick structure, rectangular, looking much like a schoolhouse from the outside. The Rev. Ulrich said most of the young people were in the "Children's Church," located in another part of the building.

Early reports that two persons were trapped in the church were disproved by early afternoon. A crane lifted the two main sections of the roof and firemen quickly looked through the sanctuary and were convinced no one was left inside.

The National Weather Service said the flatlands of the Dallas-Fort Worth area received an official 2 inches of rain in the storms that began Saturday evening. However, the NWS said areas of North Central Texas received widely varying amounts from the thunderstorms.

Buford Rose, 43, owner of a nearby service station, said a woman came running up to him in shock at about 11 a.m., screaming, "The church fell in. The church fell in."

Survivors Recount Moments Of Terror During Tragedy

GARLAND, Texas (UPI) — Police Chief Jeff Youngblood helped carry water-soaked Bibles Sunday from the flooded debris in the Walnut Village Church of Christ.

The hysteria and urgency was over. He stopped for a moment, looking relieved despite the disaster. "If we only have one fatality from this, we probably will be very fortunate," he said.

The roof over the sanctuary, laden with tons of water from overnight rains, split in the middle during the morning worship service and collapsed onto 175 persons.

One girl was killed and over 50 persons were injured, many seriously. Many more could have died.

Charles Sams, 43, of Garland said he and his wife had just bowed their heads for the opening prayer when the water, huge wooden beams, roofing material and gravel came down.

"Everything just came down," he said. "And I mean everything. The ceiling. The water gushed in. I thought we were going to drown. The debris was over our heads, smothering us. People were grasping for anybody they could get hold of. We literally walked out on the roof."

His wife, Mae, 62, suffered a broken wrist and lacerations as two huge wooden beams that stretch from the pulpit to the back of the auditorium fell to the ground.

"I had time to see those come down," he said. "I jumped. I pulled my wife back. That may be the only thing that saved us. If we had been sitting three feet to the left we wouldn't be here right now. We're just lucky to be alive."

Minutes later, after many in the congregation had fled, another corner of the roof collapsed, causing more injuries.

The Rev. Verner I. Ulrich, 35, pastor of the church, moved from stretcher to stretcher at Garland Memorial Hospital, where 30 of the victims were taken. The hospital had held a disaster exercise only three weeks ago.

"I was sitting almost at the back of the church with my family," he said. "I heard something that sounded like a bolt of lightning. I knew something was wrong so I pushed my family out toward the walls. There was a lot of commotion. The roof collapsed. I got my family out and then we started getting other people out."

The scene at the hospital was quiet with few tears.

Most who were in church but not injured displayed symptoms of shock — ashen faced, staring at nothing, waiting for word of the extent of injuries of others in the congregation.

Virtually all of those in the sanctuary were adults. Their offspring were in the "Children's Church," a separate room in the same building.

Buford Rose, 43, owner of a service station two blocks from the church, said a woman came to him screaming, "The church fell in. The church fell in."

He and two customers ran to the building.

"The first thing I did was try to get the power off," Rose said. "I was afraid someone would get electrocuted with all the water in there. Everyone was screaming and yelling, looking for husbands and wives. Everyone was covered with blood."

A hysterical woman came out of a treatment room at Memorial, embraced a friend and both cried and held onto each other.

"I don't know what happened," the woman said. "I just don't know what to do. I don't know what to say."

Muscovites Cheer, Jeer At Trial Of Dissident

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow citizens "wrathfully condemn" dissident leader Yuri Orlov, who was sentenced by a Soviet court to seven years in prison and five in exile for his activist work, the Tass news agency said Sunday.

Orlov, co-founder of the group set up to monitor Soviet compliance with the human rights provisions of the international Helsinki accords, was convicted Thursday of "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda."

The Soviet press called the trial "open," but no foreign correspondents, diplomatic observers or friends of Orlov were allowed in the courtroom. Only his wife, Irina, and his two sons were permitted to attend.

The courtroom was filled with a hostile crowd that frequently laughed and jeered and called out "give him more" when the verdict was read.

Two articles on Orlov appeared in a Moscow newspaper last week.

Tass said the newspaper received "mercurious comments by readers, who wrathfully condemn the provocateur and slanderer, and who with one accord support the sentence passed by the Moscow city court."

It said Sunday one group of Moscow scientists present at the trial felt "profound contempt (when) they learned about the criminal activities by renegade Orlov."

"One's heart is filled with wrath and contempt when one learns that there exists such renegades as Orlov whose anti-Soviet actions were given a deserved appraisal by the Moscow city court."

Senator Admits Receiving 'Pocket Money' From Friends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millionaire Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., has done nothing improper by accepting small gifts of pocket money from backers during his long career in public office, an aide said Sunday.

The 64-year-old chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee lists property, partnerships, stocks and bonds valued at between $1.9 million and $4 million, including a 1,389-acre estate in Lovejoy, Ga., according to his Senate financial disclosure report.

The statement also showed the four-term senator received $24,700 for speeches he gave, mostly to groups interested in agricultural or medical issues before committees he heads.

Yet the former Georgia governor, who has held public office now for more than 30 years, says whenever he returns to his home state, he is showered with "small gifts of cash."

"Wherever I go (in Georgia), people entertain me, lodge me, give me small amounts of money," said Talmadge, a former member of the Senate Watergate

Committee, in an interview published in Sunday's Washington Star.

"My out-of-pocket expenses come from donations friends give me — $5, a $10 bill, sometimes $15 or $20," he said. "They come up and say they know I have a lot of expenses back in Washington and they want to help me."

Talmadge said he got along on $25 a week in pocket money, and paid for any major expenses he had with checks.

He said the money was "volunteered as gifts — small, inconsequential amounts."

The newspaper said details of Talmadge's financial affairs surfaced in divorce settlement proceedings with his wife, Elizabeth, a candidate for Congress.

According to the divorce proceedings and court files at McDonough, Ga., Talmadge wrote only two $300 checks between 1970 and 1976 that may have been for personal expenses — None to "cash" and another to himself, the newspaper said.

The gifts of pocket money were not listed as income in his tax returns, Talmadge said, because recipients need not report such gifts. If the money had represented campaign contributions that were converted to personal use, Talmadge would have been liable for income taxes.

The senator also told the newspaper he has received free clothing and has stayed without cost at hotels or motels on frequent trips to Georgia.

Talmadge could not be reached for comment Sunday. But his press secretary, Gordon Roberts, said if the senator said he was getting along on $25 a week in cash, "I take him at his word."

Accepting and using cash gifts for pocket money is not illegal, the aide said.

"There was nothing improper about what was done. I read the story and don't think it alleged anything improper."

Jackson Praises Operation PUSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson said Sunday his motivational program for inner city school children is proving that students will make the proper decisions about their future when given responsibility and support.

Jackson, the civil rights leader and director of "Operation PUSH for Excellence," said an integral part of the program is to allow students to make their own decisions.

"We challenge them," he said, "We've found that when students respond, they tend to take the high road."

But he said student responsibility must be backed with support by the family. He said his program demands commitments from parents and community leaders as well as students and teachers.

Students are asked to sign a pledge that they will study two hours a night with no interruptions or distractions.

Motorists Warned Against Overloads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Holiday-bound motorists who overload their automobiles are risking both their lives and their hard-earned vacation money, a tire industrial official warned Sunday.

"Serious accidents can be caused by an overloaded car," said Malcolm Lovell Jr., chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council. "Too much weight can severely damage tires, cause springs to fail and make shock absorbers ineffective."

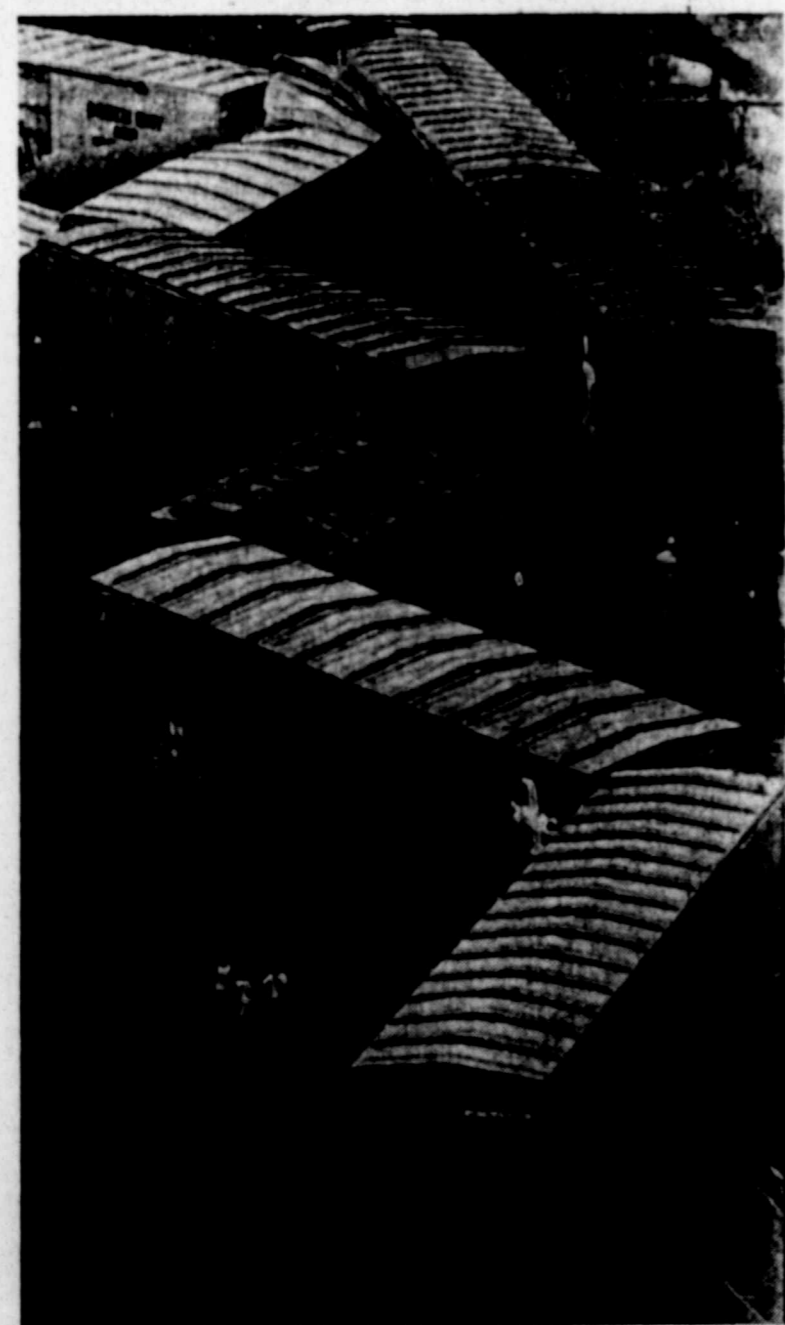

He suggested that vacationers check their car owner manuals for the recommended load capacity, and also look at the maximum load designations on the sidewalls of tires before loading up their autos.

"Take your mother-in-law along if you want to, and even the kitchen sink if you must, but use discretion in what you stow in your car that can make it too heavy for safe driving," Lovell said.

Troubled Marriages Studied At Symposium

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Parents who hold a troubled marriage together because of their children may do them more psychological harm than if they divorce, according to a research team.

"These findings suggest that in the long run, it is not a good idea for parents to remain in a conflicted marriage for the sake of the children," Dr. E. Mavis Hetherington, professor of psychology at the University of Virginia, said at a symposium last week.

"Marital discord is associated with more adverse outcomes for children than is divorce."

But she said the first year following divorce appears to be a particularly difficult period of transition and coping for parents and children alike.

Dr. Hetherington and two associates based their conclusions on the results of a two-year study of 96 white middle class families with children who were 4-years-old when the study began.

Half the families had parents and child living together and half consisted of divorced parents in which custody of the child was granted to the mother.

The behavior of the children at home and in school was measured by a variety of techniques.

In the first year following divorce, the report said, children in the divorced families were functioning less well than those in high discord families.

The children in the high discord families in turn showed more problems than those of families with less parental conflict.

In this period, the report said, children of divorced families were more aggressive, lacking in self control, distractible and demanding of help and attention in both the home and school than were children from the high discord families.

But Dr. Hetherington said the differences were reversed during the second year following divorce, although the effect was more pronounced in boys than girls.

Two years after a divorce, more aggressive and less prosocial behavior was seen in boys from intact families with high conflicts than in divorced families.

The boys in the divorced families were still not functioning as well as those in low stress intact families, although differences had largely disappeared in girls.

The report was presented at a four-day symposium on families sponsored by the Johnson and Johnson Baby Products Co., St. Christopher's Hospital for Children in Philadelphia and Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston.

Planes Enter Besieged Airport

NARITA, Japan (AP) — After a night of violent protest demonstrations, Japan's new international airport handled its first 23 incoming flights without a major hitch Sunday while airport foes rallied outside its barbed-wire gates.

Japan Airlines President Shizuo Asada greeted the captain and crew of the first passenger plane to land on the single runway of the embattled Narita airport, 41 miles from Tokyo. The crew and passengers were given special certificates and free champagne.

Departures from Narita are to begin Monday.

Outside, 2,500 radicals who oppose the airport snake-danced and shouted anti-government slogans while an equal number of riot police watched from behind trenches and steel fences.

The airport opening had been postponed 11 times in seven years because of opposition from environmentalists, radical political groups and local farmers who engaged in bloody clashes with police. Opponents say farmers were forced to sell their land to make way for the airport and that the facility will pollute the environment.

Ceremonies honoring the $1-billion air-port's opening were held Saturday, guarded by 13,000 riot police.

That evening 19 policemen were injured, two of them seriously, when 150 radicals attacked one of the airport's barricaded gates with firebombs and bottles filled with a nauseating chemical.

Opponents stuck to their positions Sunday at 35 barricaded strongholds outside the airport grounds.

"We aim to have Narita closed down," said a nurse at one of the field hospitals run by the demonstrators. "The landing of a couple of planes is no reason for the government to shout 'Banzai' (long life)."

Sunday evening, an unidentified woman called a government office in Tokyo, saying she had thrown bacteria in the water works that serves the airport and 4,500 nearby homes.

Water processing was shut down for at least five hours while officials checked the water, but police said a full day's supply of drinkable water was in reserve.

International flights will gradually be moved to Narita from Haneda airport in Tokyo.

There is no direct rail or bus link with downtown Tokyo. Passengers for departing flights are expected to arrive by car and major tie-ups are possible as security police have promised to inspect every person, vehicle and bag that enters the airport.

Monday's first scheduled departure is a Japan Airlines flight to the U.S. Pacific territories of Guam and Saipan.

U.S.-Chinese Talks Off To Good Start

PEKING (UPI) — Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, got off to a good start in talks with ranking Chinese officials about world problems, U.S. officials and Chinese spokesmen said Sunday.

Brzezinski was to meet for the first time with Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping later Sunday while aides accompanying the U.S. diplomat hold separate talks with their Chinese counterparts.

presenting U.S. views.

On the eve of Brzezinski's arrival at midday Saturday, Teng told 25 American editors and publishers representing United Press International that China's position on normalizing relations with the United States remained unchanged.

The U.S. national security adviser met for three and a half hours with China's foreign minister, Huang Hua. Their talks Saturday were described as cordial and wide-ranging.

Huang later hosted a banquet for the visiting Americans. He and Brzezinski exchanged toasts which were widely reported by Chinese radio.

Brzezinski, who said the Carter administration is determined to join China in resisting attempts by any country for world domination, was quoted in considerable detail by the New China News Agency.

Hua replied that while "China and the United States have different social systems and ideologies," they hold similar views on numerous international issues.

A U.S. spokesman said the Brzezinski-Huang talks covered a wide range of mutual world problems. Brzezinski and his group came to Peking armed with briefing books, maps and other material for the session at which the American spent

Egyptians Vote On Sadat Proposals

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptians voted Sunday on a purge ordered by President Anwar Sadat against his right-wing and left-wing opponents for allegedly attempting to undermine the government. Landslide approval was expected.

Sadat said the referendum was an "important turning point in Egypt's history." He vowed communism will not be allowed to gain a foothold in this country.

More than 10 million voters cast ballots at nearly 23,000 polling stations. The turnout was slow in blistering heat, but later picked up momentum.

Final results will be announced early Monday. An overwhelming "yes" vote was expected.

Egypt's state-controlled press campaigned strongly for Sadat and rebutted opposition charges that Sadat's proposals could bring a return to authoritarian rule.

"We say yes to security. We say yes to a democracy that is capable of protecting us against bloodbaths," the newspaper Al Akhbar said, alluding to alleged massacres carried out by the new Marxist regime in Afghanistan.

The immediate targets of Sadat's offensive are the New Wafd Party, denounced as reactionary by Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem, and the small leftist party of Khaled Mohieddin, once Sadat's colleague in the "free officers" junta that overthrew Egypt's monarchy in 1952.

Sadat, who voted in his native village of Mit Abul Kom, about 30 miles north of Cairo on the Nile delta, addressed hundreds of peasants and workers who gathered to pledge their support. He scheduled a news conference for Tuesday to announce his next move.

The New Wafd Party, which said the referendum could signal a return to dictatorship, urged citizens to boycott the vote.

Voters were asked: "Do you approve the principles announced by the president of the republic, on May 14, 1978, for protecting the domestic front and social peace?"

Sadat's proposals would include a ban on government, union and news jobs for anyone who advocates an ideology that contradicts religious belief — such as Marxism.

His May 14 declaration also said circulation of false or malicious articles and rumors should be considered an act endangering national unity, and called on the Egyptian press to defend the socialist-democratic system of the state, social peace and national unity.

Afghanistan Government Reopens Nation's Banks

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Afghanistan's new leftist government Sunday urged citizens to refrain from withdrawing their money from the country's banks, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said in a dispatch from Kabul.

"We must openly say that the keeping of money at home represents an anti-patriotic act against the revolution," the Afghan Finance Ministry said in a statement quoted by Tanjug.

Banks in Kabul, capital of the mountainous central Asian country, closed after last month's bloody military coup that overthrew and killed President Mohammed Daoud and installed Nur Mohammed Taraki as prime minister and chief of state. Tanjug said the banks now have reopened.

The news agency also quoted the Foreign Trade Ministry as saying Afghanistan's borders have been reopened for free import and export of goods. Merchants and companies were advised to conduct all financial dealings through banks, instead of using private channels as often was the case under the Daoud regime, Tanjug said.

It also said Taraki, speaking at a meeting Sunday, warned his countrymen of "criminal activity of the few reactionaries" who "in conspiracy with reaction from abroad are spreading false propaganda" about Afghanistan.

Tanjug said Taraki, who bears the title of president of the Afghan Revolutionary Council, gave no details of the "false propaganda."

However, Taraki and his government have taken pains to deny reports in foreign media that casualties reached into the thousands in the two-day coup and its aftermath. The new government also has attacked reports that it is Communist and Soviet-oriented, saying it will try to build a new state on the basis of Islamic principles.

Excitement Lacking In Primary

By CARROL W. CAGLE
A-J Correspondent

SANTA FE — With the New Mexico primary elections only a little more than two weeks away, none of the intra-party races have provoked heavy public interest so far.

Most candidates have concentrated on organizational efforts, some are trying to raise money for final media advertising campaigns during the last two weeks, and only two races have featured clashes on "issues" as such.

The main battle on the issues is between Jeff Bingaman and Richard Bosson, Democrats seeking their party's nomination for attorney general.

Normally, the AG's race draws little public attention, even during the general election. But the current office-holder, Toney Anaya, a former aide to such party veterans as Joseph M. Montoya and Bruce King, has turned the office into a highly visible, sometimes controversial agency.

Anaya's now going for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican Pete Domenici and he's riding on his AG record of prosecutorial efforts against various political figures, mostly fellow Democrats, and on behalf of consumers in rate cases before the Public Service Commission.

Bosson, once a legal-aid lawyer in Albuquerque who later served on Anaya's staff, has been claiming Bingaman is too close to the utility companies and other corporate interests and has been claiming he, Bosson, will keep challenging the utilities during the next four years.

Bingaman, a law partner of former Democratic Gov. Jack Campbell, is well-regarded by many fellow lawyers and among veteran party figures. No conservative himself, Bingaman has so far been generally mild in his responses to Bosson and has concentrated on organizational and media efforts.

If there is another "issue" among the other races, it's right-to-work.

That's the phraseology for a law which would ban the union shop — that is, prevent union-organized places of employment from requiring union membership. Unions stoutly oppose the idea and say the words sound good but really amount to union-busting.

COPE, the Committee on Political Education of AFL-CIO, is actively working for Democrat Bruce King — a wealthy, moderate-to-conservative rancher — primarily because King doesn't think "right-to-work" is a good idea and because Bob Ferguson, his Democratic challenger from Artesia, is making it one of his biggest campaign themes.

Other than that, the King-Ferguson race has come down to organizational and media matters.

King's got the majority of Democratic organization figures in his camp and swept the party's convention in April by 75-25 percent. But Ferguson hopes to combat that with as much media advertising as he can get the money for during the final two weeks.

Ferguson, an urbane-looking man who's now the lieutenant governor, no doubt will pick up support during a media push but there's a general consensus among capitol types that King's still got a good lead. On the organizational level, Ferguson — although virtually conceding the party apparatus to King — is being backed by the key political allies of his 1974 running mate, Gov. Jerry Apodaca.

On the Republican side, Joe Skeen similarly dominated the GOP convention and was the only gubernatorial candidate nominated. But the big East-side rancher now will be faced with June 6 competition from Albuquerque State Rep. Bob Grant, who got on the ballot via the petition route. Skeen's considered a heavy favorite nonetheless and is, in effect, already campaigning against the as-yet-unknown Democratic nominee.

Clayton Gives Support Totals

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton said Sunday he may have the support of as many as 133 of the 150 House members for a third term.

Clayton has identified 121 state representatives or candidates as his supporters, and he was asked if anything might "strip away" enough support to throw the election to Rep. Buddy Temple of D-boll.

ALASKA BACK SCHOOLS

Alaska spends more per pupil than any other state on elementary and secondary school education, The Conference Board reports. Its yearly expenditures average $2,700 per student. New York ($2,360) and Washington, D.C. ($2,200) follow. Spending the least are Arkansas ($1,040), Mississippi ($1,060) and Kentucky ($1,090).

Clayton, appearing on the weekly radio-television program Capital Eye, said, "We see a gain in support" that could include 12 more members pledged to his candidacy.

He also said he did not think the secret ballot sought by Temple would change a single vote.

Asked if he would fight a secret ballot if some of his supporters favored it as a "sop" to Temple, the speaker replied:

"Oh, no, no, no, whatever the membership of the House wants, but we have heard from most of them by letter and we have not had one single member state that they would prefer the secret ballot. In fact, nearly all of them single out the fact that they feel like it should be an open ballot."

Asked about his future political plans, Clayton said, "We enjoy the political arena, and if there are some openings we may be looking in those directions. If not, we may be looking toward retirement."

He said he would not be interested "in any way in going to Washington."

He said, however, the next governor might serve only a single four-year term. "Who knows? He might want to do something else."

"Would you collide with (Comptroller) Bob Bullock on that one?"

"Well, Bob and I would probably have a few discussions over the matter."

"What about lieutenant governor?"

"This is a possibility. If (Lieutenant) Governor Hobby decides to vacate that office, to move on to something else, that would be a possibility."

Clayton said thinking four years ahead did not mean, however, that he would run for a fourth term as speaker.

"A lot of people," he said, "have taken a year or two years to put together an organization, and it does require a good deal of time."

HEARTLINE: I am 52 years old. I have been working my whole life in private industry so I am covered by Social Security. I had an accident recently and my doctor says that I cannot work again. He told me to apply for Social Security disability. Can you tell me what the requirements are? — T.J.

- 1 — You must be "fully insured" under Social Security. In other words, you must have worked enough under Social Security to be eligible for Social Security retirement benefit.
- 2 — You must have at least 20 quarters of covered earnings under Social Security in 40 consecutive calendar quarters ending the quarter in which your disability began. In other words, you must have worked five years out of the 10-year period immediately preceding your disability.
- 3 — You must have supporting objective medical evidence showing that your disability will prevent you from doing any substantial, gainful work.
- 4 — Your disability must be expected to last (or has lasted) for at least one full year or expected to result in death.

For people who are on Social Security or for those who are going to be drawing theirs shortly, Heartline has written a book especially for them, Heartline's Guide to Social Security has been developed to aid all people understand what benefits they might be eligible to receive. This book covers regular retirement, disability, wife's benefits, widow's benefits, allowed earnings and many more important facts on Social Security. This book also goes into detail on some of the problem areas of Social Security. You may obtain this book by sending $2.00 to Heartline's Guide to Social Security, P.O. Box 11904, Chicago, Ill. 60611. This book is completely guaranteed and if you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Please allow six weeks for delivery.

HEARTLINE: I have heard that there is a new law in Congress concerning part-time jobs for senior citizens. Do you have any information on this? — N.C.

You must be referring to a provision in H.R. 10126 which will increase part-time employment opportunities for older workers. The House of Representatives approved H.R. 10126 on March 13. Its over-all purpose is to increase part-time career employment within the federal civil service. Included in it is a provision of interest to the elderly. In the final version of the bill, "older individuals seeking a gradual transition into retirement" are specifically recognized as one of the four categories of persons the legislation is intended to reach.

Currently, permanent part-time opportunities are few and limited mostly to low-level jobs. There are people whose productive potential is wasted because they cannot meet the requirements of a standard work week. The bill requires agencies to establish part-time hiring programs. It also requires the Civil Service Commission to provide technical assistance to the agencies and report annually to Congress the progress of the part-time hiring program.

This bill is currently pending action by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

HEARTLINE: I am 39 years old and I have three children (ages 9, 12, 16). My husband passed away last month. He was in a management position with a large company and made very good money. Since he worked in private industry, he was covered by Social Security. Can I now receive Social Security benefits? — J.R.

Yes, you and your children are now eligible for survivor's benefits from Social Security. Your children are all under 18 and you are 39, so you can all receive benefits until they are 18 or until they are 22 if they are students of full-time students. The provision of the benefit that you would and which your husband did not turn 60 years old. You should write your local Social Security office for more information.

New Jersey Casinos Try Gambling Practice Run

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — They put on their finest formal and turned out by the thousands to staff coins in 1,200 brand new slot machines, ogle showgirls and celebrate what one described as the birth of hedonism on the Atlantic Coast.

The elite of Atlantic City this weekend finally got their chance to test their luck in the first legal gambling east of Nevada, the $50 million Resorts International Hotel-Casino that plans to start playing for real money on Friday.

Even the head of the New Jersey Casino Control Commission said his wife got an itch to gamble when the two stopped by the packed casino in the wee hours Sunday morning.

slot machines," he said. "But that's one purpose of the practice, to get out all of the bugs."

Ha said it took seven hours to count the take from the slot machines the first night.

Another purpose of the "dry runs," which ended Sunday, was to train the 500 croupier and card dealers, many of whom are local folk recruited from other jobs.

Working a crap table was Domenick Del Vecchio, 35, of Columbus, N.J. who used to be a beer distributor in Trenton.

"I see a future in this business," he said. "This is my kind of thing, dealing with action."

"My wife was a little apprehensive at first, but I told her I gotta do this thing because I quit a good job."

For Kathleen Efmer of Jackson, N.J., it is as a way to pay for her studies in special education at Georgian Court College. She wants to work with handicapped children eventually.

"This is fun, different, exciting, crazy," said Miss Efmer, a roulette dealer. "I started out cold and here I am. This is going to help me achieve what I want to do."

President Criticized For Snub Of Taiwan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has drawn criticism from at least one congressman for snubbing the inauguration of Chiang Ching-kuo as president of the Republic of China on the same day he sent national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski to Peking.

And Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has warned that Carter risks impeachment if he abrogates the United States' mutual defense treaty with Taiwan without obtaining approval from either two-thirds of the Senate or majorities of both the Senate and the House.

Chiang, son of the late Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, was inaugurated Saturday, with only Taiwan-based U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger representing Carter. Brzezinski, one of Carter's closest advisers, arrived in Peking that day for lengthy talks with officials of the People's Republic of China.

The visit by Brzezinski is being interpreted as an effort by Carter to improve relations with Peking, whose officials have stipulated normal relations can only occur when Washington breaks ties and abrogates its security treaty with Taiwan.

Republic of China while simultaneously currying the communists' favor," Derwinski said, in remarks on the House floor last week that were largely overlooked. "But what has Taipei done to deserve such effrontery?"

Goldwater, commenting in a Heritage Foundation study titled "China and the Abrogation of Treaties," argued that it would be unconstitutional for Carter to independently invalidate the treaty with Taiwan.

OLD TIMER IN THE BUSINESS — Al Haubold, Houston engineer for KUHT-TV station, has been with the station since it first went into operation 25 years ago. The station was the nation's first non-commercial television station. It celebrates its silver anniversary soon and is still plagued with funding problems. (AP Laserphoto)

Houston Public Television Marks 25th Broadcast Year

HOUSTON (AP) — When KUHT-TV was literally kicked on the air 25 years ago, many thought "educational television" would be an extended classroom — a revolutionary way to teach, perhaps, but one doomed to financial insecurity.

As the nation's first non-commercial television station celebrates its silver anniversary, public television — though still plagued by funding problems — has moved far beyond the confines of the classroom.

"Educational programming still plays a large part in our schedule, but since the late 1960s, the station has been heavily dedicated to the whole community," said station manager James Bauer.

The University of Houston, together with the Houston school district, applied for and received the first license to broadcast over one of 242 channels set aside by the Federal Communications Commission for non-commercial television.

W.W. Kemmerer, then president of the university, had seen televised sessions of Senate hearings on organized crime during a 1951 visit to Washington when the potential of television as an educational medium hit him "like a bolt of lightning."

KUHT-TV broadcast its first test pattern May 25, 1953. On June 8, after 90 minutes of power difficulties, an exasperated engineer kicked the transmitter, and FCC Commissioner Freida Henock appeared on the air to dedicate the station.

"Back then student volunteers did everything. They stood in line to get into the studio," said Al Haubold, an engineer who was there when Commissioner Henock, a short woman, kicked off her shoes and stood on a box to show up better. "Now many of those students are managing television stations around the country," he said.

Haubold and Bauer agree the advent of videotape marked a turning point at the station and in educational television.

"We went strictly professional when we got tape in 1958," Haubold said. "We needed fewer technicians and production people. And since February, we've been off the telephone long lines. Now all our feeds come via satellite."

The Public Broadcasting Service began satellite distribution of programs at the beginning of this year to the more than 270 stations it serves. The Southeast is the first segment hooked into the system that is expected to be fully operative by January 1979.

Bauer said academic people grew disenchanted with educational television when they realized videotapes of their classes could be used over and over again.

"Educational television was an administrative concept, and there was great academic resistance to TV as a formal instructional tool," he said.

KUHT plans to celebrate Thursday with a live local broadcast from the Houston Museum of Fine Arts featuring Ella Fitzgerald and Dick Cavett. A half-hour retrospective film beforehand will show viewers what the first 25 years were like — at the station and in the city.

"The station is just at the point where it is beginning to broaden its base. Houston is changing and becoming more sophisticated. And in our latest membership drive, we achieved 125 percent of our goal," said program director Virginia Mampre.

The nation's fifth largest city ranks 15th in the number of television-viewing households. Miss Mampre said considering the size and wealth of the city, KUHT's $1.6 million operating budget is extremely small.

"The station needs to expand financially and physically," she said. "We want to do more local production, but money is always the problem."

Like many other public television stations, KUHT holds yearly marathon auctions and membership drives to raise money — and public consciousness.

Originally a private institution, the University of Houston went public in 1963 and under Texas law could no longer provide funds to KUHT. It does, however, furnish the station's buildings, and UH vice president for development, Dr. Patrick Nicholson, is the licensee representative.

The Association for Community Television was formed in 1969 to generate support for Channel 8. The ACT paid staff now makes up the station's development department.

Instructional programming produced by Gulf Regional Educational Television Affiliates, an organization of public and private schools, accounts for 15 percent of KUHT's income and seven hours of its 17 1/2-hour broadcast day. Community support accounts for 58 percent of available funds.

Bauer said Houston, a traditionally conservative city, is beginning to open its corporate and private wallets and hearts in support of public television.

The FCC recently renewed the station's license but warned KUHT about its minority hiring policies. The National Black Media Coalition and Operation Breadbasket had challenged the renewal, claiming the city's 40 percent black and Mexican-American population was under-represented in the station and on the air.

Senior producer Bob Cozens said the time is at hand to break what he called the production domination by a few public television stations of nationally distributed programs.

"There are any number of possibilities here — all requiring funding, of course," he said. "I'm working on a project for a series on the Texas Medical Center, there's a co-production with the BBC of an archeological series in Mexico. Houston is a natural for a series on energy and related topics."

Bauer said more national recognition is going to programs the station produces for regional distribution. Ms. Mampre said part of the problem of breaking into national distribution is gaining acceptance for new programs and overcoming the "tried and true" syndrome.

Noise Abatement Event Staged

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — To the sounds of soft jazz and banjo picking, the nation's first official "Quiet Community" celebrated Sunday with a festival of low-noise events.

Allentown was designated by the Environmental Protection Agency in 1977 for a two-year pilot project on noise pollution. The program eventually will spread to 10 other communities across the country.

The festival marked the end of the first step in the project, a comprehensive noise assessment study.

Lehigh Park was turned over to non-amplified music, frisbee contests, hot air balloon rides, poetry readings, mime theater and kite flying.

In industrial exhibits, Mack Trucks demonstrated developments in noise abatement and Ingersoll-Rand demonstrated low-noise construction machinery.

Mayor Frank Fiachi said the area's biggest noise problem is traffic.

"Trucks, automobiles and motorcycles are giving us the most problems," he said, noting that cars and motorcycles alter their mufflers after leaving the assembly line and aren't meeting noise control standards.

"Right now we're attempting to enforce an ordinance that prohibits vehicles above a certain decibel level, using sensors," he said.

Allentown first came to the attention of the EPA in 1976 after an attempt at passing a noise abatement law failed.

The EPA found that Allentown residents were willing to spend an average of 59 cents per person yearly in increased taxes, or about $60,000, to reduce noise.

Sherman Taxpayers Battling Hike In Property Tax Rate

SHERMAN (AP) — Jimmy Newman got so angry when he learned what his property tax would be on the building he had just bought in this North Central Texas city that he filed a lawsuit.

That was in the early 1970s. Today Newman's lawsuit has given birth to another legal action that could have wide effect on Texas' property tax.

What Ired Newman was his building was valued on the tax rolls based on its selling price while much of the other property in Grayson County was on the books at values set during the 1930s or earlier.

Newman got State District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker to order the county commissioners to re-evaluate each piece of land.

That 1972 court ruling was the reason for the formation of the Grayson County Taxpayers Association.

The association is fighting the new property valuations and has hired two lawyers to carry on the battle. Members say they have $25,000 in pledges for legal fees.

"The notice they sent me indicated my taxes would be nine times as much as they had been," said Mrs. Charlie Case, 63, who farms 180 acres west of here. "My husband and I have worked 17 long and hard years paying off our land, but a tax hike like this could just squeeze us right off our land."

Mrs. Case and her husband contacted the state comptroller's office after receiving word of the proposed new taxes. There the Cases learned they should ban together with other disgruntled landowners and fight the increases.

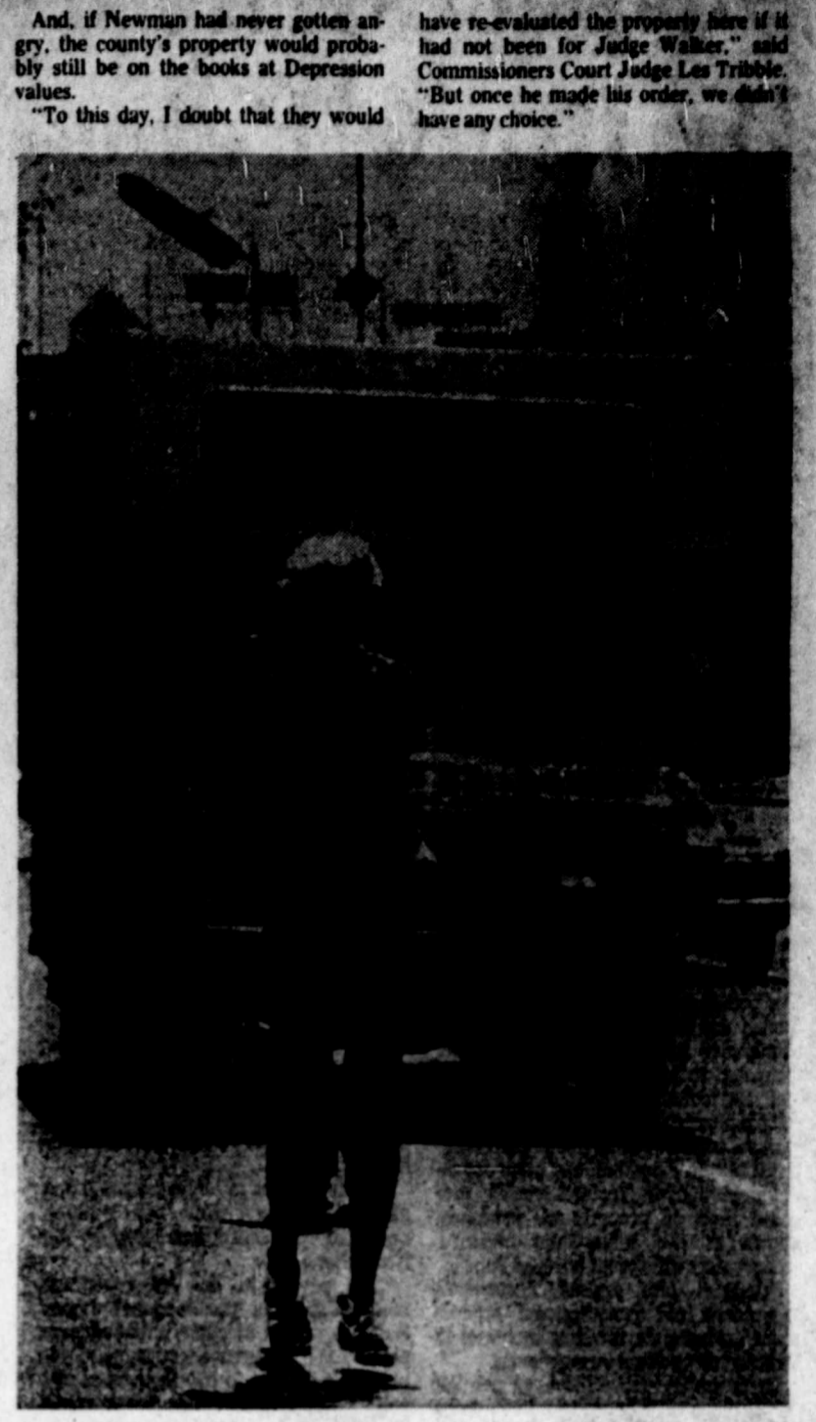

With that Mrs. Case rented the Sherman Municipal Building, got on the CB to announce a meeting and waited. The first meeting drew 1,500 persons.

The association members, who are mainly farmers, say the property tax system is unfair in that while land is taxed other forms of wealth such as bonds and bank accounts are not.

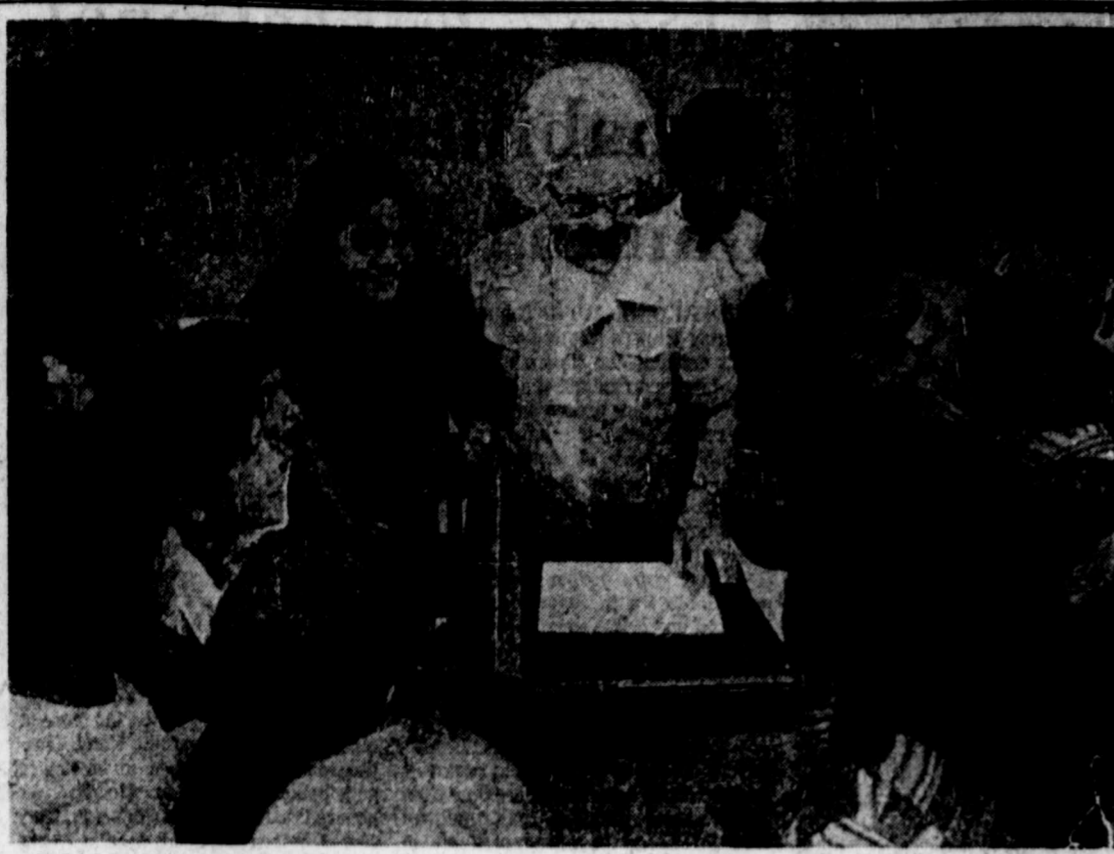

Austin tax lawyer Adrian Overstreet Jr. said testimony last week at a hearing showed that no effort has ever been made by the county to tax county residents' bank accounts.

"And the (supreme) court has already clearly ruled on several occasions that these other forms of property should be subject to taxation," Overstreet said. "But there's always been some technicality that kept it from being put into effect."

The entire re-evaluation problem was complicated by the fact that the county did not even have a set of property maps.

New Deal Teacher Prepares For Retirement From Field

By ESTHER LONGORIA
Avalanche-Journal Staff

NEW DEAL — The bulletin boards in the small, sunlit classroom are filled with Polaroid snapshots of the 18 smiling children at play and work.

In coming years, the photographs will be treasured reminders for Lucy McDonald of her last year of teaching ramunctious fourth graders at New Deal Elementary School.

Mrs. McDonald, 54, retiring after 31 years at the elementary school, estimates she has taught about 2,000 fourth graders in that time. "I'm retiring early, but I started early," the small, freckled woman says with a laugh.

"This year's group is the smallest I've had in years and years," she said. "But, I believe they're the most affectionate I've ever taught."

In the beginning, Mrs. McDonald hadn't really planned on becoming a teacher. "But, my dad promised me a car if I'd get a teaching degree," she said. "The newness of the car wore off rapidly and then I came to realize how pleasurable teaching really was for me."

Mrs. McDonald of 1916 49th St. in Lubbock taught for two years in Lorenzo and a year in Roberson before coming to New Deal.

"I really enjoy working with the kids," she said. "To me, it's a thrill to see a student accomplish something in life and to think that I might have had a very small part in that."

In her 31-year teaching career, she has observed numerous changes in dress and attitudes, adding she thought today's students were freer to do what they wanted.

"I believe students are taught many more things now, but I think much more is also expected of them," she said.

"But, basically deep down, kids are kids," she added.

Mrs. McDonald finds special joy in the fact that she has taught members of entire families — from the father all the way down the line to the baby of the family.

"It's happened quite a few times," she said. "Of course, after 31 years, they do marry and have children."

The New Deal High School graduate says that she really holds a warm spot in her heart for the small farming community, situated 10 miles north of Lubbock.

"It's home: I'm really going to miss it, but I'm ready to do a few things I want to do," she said.

Teaching has been a rewarding experience for Mrs. McDonald, one that she wouldn't "trade for anything."

"I recommend it to anyone if they like kids, but if they don't they just better stay out of it," she advised. "And if you don't have the patience, you might as well not be around."

"I won't miss teaching until the fall — then I know I'll miss being with the kids."

A reception for Mrs. McDonald will be held May 28 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the New Deal community house. All former students, teachers and associates are welcome to attend.

Riot Troops Patrol Peruvian Cities

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Troops patrolled Lima and other Peruvian cities Sunday on the eve of a strike expected to halt all but essential services in this riot-torn nation of 17 million.

Peru's military government declared a state of emergency Saturday and ruled the strike illegal, but it appeared to be resigned to a walkout by workers.

The strike will follow a week of violence in which 17 persons were reported killed, scores injured and hundreds arrested. Rioting started last Monday after the government announced price increases and other austerity measures to help the country's troubled economy.

The CGTP — the powerful Communist-led General Confederation of Peruvian Workers — plus organizations representing agricultural workers, bus drivers, printers, electricians and glass and brewery workers called the 48-hour strike to protest high prices and military rule.

Under the emergency powers assumed by President Francisco Morales Bermudez, public meetings were prohibited, constitutional rights suspended, non-government publications shut down and military commanders given virtual martial law authority in their regions.

Despite the strike call, the government said elections for a constituent assembly will be held as scheduled June 18. The assembly is to be a step toward returning Peru to democratic rule in 1980. The country has had a military government since 1968, with Morales Bermudez replacing another general in an orderly coup in 1975.

The new price increases affected fuel, food, and transportation.

Economic measures decreed in the past two weeks also included higher taxes, massive cuts in government spending, a 13 percent devaluation of the currency, a small salary increase for roughly half of Peru's five million workers and investment incentives and requests for help from private investors.

Price increases ranged from 30 to 120 percent and provoked marches by housewives, workers and students.

Bridges were dynamited, roads blocked with rocks and logs, markets looted and police posts attacked by mobs.

The CGTP called for immediate revocation of the economic measures, a general amnesty for union prisoners, higher salary increases and price controls. "The humble households of our country demonstrate once again that the government has put itself at the side of right-wingers and reactionaries," the CGTP declared.

Other unions said they would join the strike, but only to protest the price increases.

Gen. Morales Bermudez, who defended the new program as "realistic," said the country's fiscal and foreign trade gaps must be lessened to provide for a stable civilian government in the future.

Blacks Assert Carter Failure On Issue Of Inflation Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson, head of Operation PUSH, said Sunday the biggest complaint black Americans have with President Carter is his failure to slow inflation.

During an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press," Jackson also called on the administration to "use economic and political power, indeed perhaps military (force) against South Africa" to bring an end to apartheid and speed that nation's transition to black majority rule.

"We must give the president a mixed report card," Jackson said, when asked about Carter's performance in his first 16 months as president.

"however inadequately funded," and his policy toward Africa which led the president to personally visit that continent.

"Our great quarrel with him is that he has not adequately wrestled with inflation," Jackson said. "It means that the middle class black has had his gains frozen. For the unemployed, it means desperation."

But the black leader said criticism from minorities and the poor should not be limited to the White House, noting that the Supreme Court recently ruled against civil rights groups in a suburban Chicago housing battle, and that Congress has blocked some social legislation.

He also said major labor unions "must take a much more aggressive role in demanding jobs for inner city blacks."

Jackson said blacks in the United States "cannot live out of context with our African roots" and "must be connected to Africa indeed as Jewish people are to Israel."

"And we cannot be satisfied until America is willing to use as much power against oppression in South Africa, or is using its economic and political power as indeed it did against Cuba," he said.

150-Year-Old Suez Canal Worker Dies

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Hajj Youssef Awad Mohammed Burkan, one of the laborers who dug the Suez Canal in the 1860s, died last week at his home in the West Bank town of Hebron, it was reported Sunday. He was said to have been 150 years old.

The Arabic-language newspaper Al Anba reported Burkan served for 35 years in the Ottoman army and for the past 70 years worked his land near the biblical town.

The newspaper said Burkan had three wives and 58 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He married his third wife — who was then 17 — when he was 100 years old. She bore him several children.

China's Educational Rehabilitation Said Gaining Momentum

HONG KONG (AP) — The movement to bring China's youth back from the fields and into the classrooms seems to be gaining momentum, if a flood of articles in the Peking press is any indication.

In recent weeks, the Chinese press has published dozens of stories about students and teachers from grade school through university to illustrate the new focus on Chinese education. Some samples:

— Ten years ago, a factory worker named Ma Po in Inner Mongolia was branded an "active counter-revolutionary" because of his bourgeoisie parents and sent to work in a quarry. Today, at the age of 30, he is a freshman at Peking University.

— During the past few years, 14-year-old Mu Ching of Shenyang in northeast China worked out in her spare time 2,000 mathematical problems and published three articles on the concept of "limit" in Marx's "Manuscripts of Mathematics." Today, she is one of 20 freshmen under the age of 16 enrolled at the Chinese University of Science and Technology.

— For the past 13 years, Tuan Yuanhsing spent every night observing stellar phenomena with a homemade telescope. Recently he discovered a new star with the naked eye and was selected for a postgraduate course in the Peking Observatory.

— Four years ago, Kao Chia-li was secretly studying math and science at home but he said his homework didn't reflect his knowledge because the "Gang of Four" wanted students who handed in blank exam papers and dared "to go against the tide." Today, he is a chemistry student at Peking University.

The new policies of Chairman Hua Kuo-feng and Vice Chairman Teng Hsiao-ping represent an almost about-face from practices during the late Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution and reign of the "Gang of Four," led by Mao's wife, Chiang Ching. That period extended from the mid-1960s until late 1976.

During those years, revolutionary zeal and peasant credentials were the basis of a student's success and academic accomplishments were more or less irrelevant. Young people were required to go to the countryside to "learn from the workers and the peasants." Many professors and teachers, especially those trained abroad, were denounced as "stinking intellectuals."

Today, they have been rehabilitated and are back in their classrooms. The Chinese leadership has revived examinations, restored postgraduate study, emphasized academic discipline and committed itself to improving the quality of education at all levels.

At the fifth National People's Congress in March, Chairman Hua stressed the need to train a large contingent of "working-class intellectuals" and update scientific training to achieve the goal of modernizing China by the year 2000.

At a follow-up national educational work conference held recently in Peking, Vice Chairman Teng called for more attention to "book learning" and fewer classroom hours devoted to ideological and political education. He also announced that a student's work experience should be related to his studies — not just randomly assigned.

The new leadership has claimed that the past decade's radical experiments in education were a costly failure. Teng told the education conference that the "Gang of Four" had sabotaged education and tried to make students "illiterate plus hooligans."

As a major step in returning education to a pragmatic academic orientation, the government held its first college entrance examinations since the cultural revolution last December. In a gesture to the young people who were caught up in the Red Guard movement of the mid-1960s and then sent to the countryside, the leadership opened the exams to anyone under 25 — plus 1966 and 1977 secondary school graduates who were nearer 30.

This gave those students whose educations had been disrupted over the past decade a chance at a university education. But it also put 12 years worth of secondary school graduates into competition for a single year's worth of university spots. In actual numbers, the Chinese press said, 5.7 million students competed for 200,000 places in about 400 colleges.

An American educator, who asked not to be identified, said that while a small percentage of older students passed the exams and are now in universities, millions of 20- to 30-year-olds who failed now must resign themselves to going through life with little formal education.

Federal Spending Lid Sought By Group

LINCOLNSHIRE, Ill. (AP) — About 200 legislators, executives and conservative political activists from 38 states attended the first national Tax-Limitation Conference here to plan a nationwide campaign to put a constitutional lid on state and federal spending.

Participants spent the weekend in workshops and seminars and heard economist Milton Friedman and other speakers urge support for California's proposed limit on property tax increases, known as the Jarvis-Gann measure, which voters will accept or reject June 6.

Friedman also praised Tennessee's two-month old constitutional amendment linking state spending increases to increases in personal income levels.

There are legislative moves or petition drives planned or under way in 25 states to put the tax-limitation issue on the ballot, said Lewis K. Uhler, president of the 30,000-member National Tax-Limitation Committee, sponsor of the conference.

Eventually, the group wants a federal constitutional amendment limiting government spending, said Uhler, once an aide to former California Gov. Ronald Reagan. For now, state action will show that the idea is workable, he said.

State and local governments have increased spending at a yearly rate of 14 percent in the last 10 years, the committee says.

Anti-tax leaders in Michigan and Idaho predicted success with their petition drives to get control measures on the November ballot.

"The people in the grassroots are mad," California tax opponent James Hatch, a retired machinery manufacturer, said at a conference workshop. "People won't be able to pay their taxes and will go on the welfare rolls. We've got to stop this and keep them self-respecting."

In Illinois, a tax-limitation measure was defeated in the legislature but proponents promise to re-introduce it.

Georgia state Sen. Jimmy Paulk, author of a tax-cap bill that did not pass in the Georgia Senate this year, predicted success within two years. His bill would link spending increases by state and local governments to increases in the cost of living.

Paulk and other conference participants identified enemies of spending-limit amendments as groups such as teacher and civil service organizations, government contractors, bureaucrats and "governors who are addicted to spending."

The spending-limit movement is linked with conservative political groups, but Connie Campanella, an aide to the American Legislative Exchange Council, co-sponsor of the conference, said it is not an issue exclusive to conservatives.

"This is only a small part of the conservative movement. This is a growing, more sophisticated movement than ever before," she said. "It crosses all philoso-

210 Inmates To Get Diplomas In Prison

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — A record 210 inmates are expected to receive high school or college degrees at graduation ceremonies June 9 at Washington State Penitentiary.

Len Williams, institution principal, said four inmates will receive bachelor's degrees in general studies from Washington State University, 81 will get two-year degrees from Walla Walla Community College and 125 will win high school equivalency certificates.

Simons Captures Tourney

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Jim Simons, who'd been one-putting all the cold, gloomy day, rolled in the 15-18 foot putt he had to have to save par on the final hole and beat Bill Kratzert by a single stroke Sunday in the Memorial Golf Tournament.

It was the seventh par-saving putt of the day for the baby-faced 28-year-old and finished off a round of 74, two shots over par on the unforgiving, 7,101-yard Muirfield Golf Club course that snapped back at its creator, Jack Nicklaus.

Simons, whose only previous victory in seven years of tour activity had come last season in New Orleans, finished the third Memorial with a 72-hole total of 284, 4-under-par.

Kratzert, expressionless behind his dark glasses and watching from the scoring tent while Simons escaped trouble on the 18th, also shot a 74 in the incredible pressure of the final round and had a 285 total.

Had Simons missed that last putt, the chase for a $50,000 first prize would have gone to a playoff.

Nicklaus, the defending champion, tournament founder and course designer, was in a three-man fight for the lead as late as the 17th hole, but took a double-bogey 6 on that hole and dropped out of the title chase.

He finished with a 74 and a 288 total, even par on the course he built from farmlands he hunted as a boy.

Hard-hitting Fuzzy Zoeller, whose 2-under-par 70 was one of the few subpar efforts.

ANYONE'S BALL — Seattle's Marvin Webster appears to be performing some-kind-of juggling act during a playoff game between Seattle and Washington Sunday afternoon. However, he is actually looking for the ball after a missed shot. (AP Laserphoto)

Sonics Come On Strong, Whip Bullets 106-102

SEATTLE (AP) — Just when Seattle needed it the most, Fred Brown came off the bench to give an offensive boost to the SuperSonics.

Brown, a reserve guard and an explosive outside shooter, scored 16 of his game-high 30 points in the final 9½ minutes as the SuperSonics erased a 19-point third-quarter deficit and defeated the Washington Bullets 106-102 Sunday in the opening game of the National Basketball Association's championship series.

"This ballclub is not going to quit — never," said Brown. "We were down, but we weren't out. All we had to do was play them tough and we knew we could come back and win."

Washington Coach Dick Motta blamed the ease with which the Bullets took control in the early going for their inability to stem Seattle's surge.

"We felt too confident going into the fourth quarter," said Motta. "It came too easy in the first three quarters. We expected them to go to Freddie (Brown). That seems like it's becoming his normal game."

Brown, brought out to midcourt after the game for an interview by the Sonics' radio announcer, Bob Blackburn, gave an assist to the wildly enthusiastic sellout crowd of 14,000 which cheered the Sonics on to victory.

"Thank all of you for showing up to support the Seattle SuperSonics," he told the crowd. "You're one of the main reasons we won."

"I thought it was a super comeback," said Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens. "One thing about these players, and they have done it all year long, is that they don't give up. They don't win all the time, but they fight to the end."

The second game of the best-of-seven playoff finals will be played at Landover, Md., Thursday night.

Washington, led by Kevin Grevey and Elvin Hayes, was in complete command in the early going, leading by as many as 14 points in the second quarter and by 19, at 24-65, with 2:26 to go in the third quarter.

But the Sonics, whose every move brought a deafening roar from the delirious fans, refused to die.

Fittingly, it was Brown — a member of the Sonics for the past seven seasons and the team captain — who ignited the comeback with a short jumper that began a run of 12 consecutive points that pulled Seattle back into the game.

A basket by Washington's Mitch Kupchak stopped that streak, but Brown hit a 20-footer to start a new one for the Sonics. Brown finally brought Seattle even at 82-80, hitting a 22-foot jumper with 6:35 to play.

Brown gave Seattle its first lead of the game, at 93-91, on a breakaway layup with 5:07 to go.

The teams traded baskets for the next four minutes before guard Dennis Johnson put Seattle ahead to stay, 102-100, by sinking two free throws with 1:21 on the clock.

Brown clinched the victory with an 11-

Foyt In At Indy After Poor Start

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Defending champion A.J. Foyt, whose error in a valve setting cost him a chance for the pole position, easily qualified over 200 miles per hour Sunday but will have to start the May 28 Indianapolis 500 from the seventh row.

Foyt, averaging 200.122 mph for the entire 10-mile run, failed to break the one and four-lap records set Saturday by Tom Sneva, but he said, "We didn't extend ourselves; we're just happy to be in the race."

Foyt's best lap, his first circuit around the 2½-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway oval, was 200.803 mph.

Sneva, who qualified at 202.156 mph Saturday, will start the 62nd running of the Indy 500 from the inside of the front row. Next to him will be Danny Ongais, who Foyt matched for second-best speed at 200.122, with rookie Rick Mears, Sneva's teammate, on the outside of the fastest front row in history.

Mears earned his first Indy start with an average speed of 200.078.

Three former winners — Johnny Ruthertford, Al Unser and Gordon Johncock — make up the second row.

Foyt scrubbed Saturday's qualification attempt moments after taking the green starting flag. At first he thought the USAC-installed pressure relief valve was faulty — which would have entitled him to another attempt without penalty — but later he said the trouble was in a setting on the wastegate in his turbocharger.

Foyt said he set the spring tension too low, which allowed the system's relief valve to open and bleed off the manifold

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I'm 35 and have heard so much about the increased costs of Social Security over the years to come that I wonder how I'll ever be able to afford any kind of supplemental retirement income.

A. The question of Social Security programs costs is, of course, a major concern for everyone. But often overlooked, according to Social Security spokesmen, is the importance of that portion of the law which provides that benefits increase in the future as wages and cost of living increase.

Current contributors to the plan are not paying for benefits at the level paid by Social Security today, but rather for benefits which will not only maintain the purchasing power of today's benefits but also reflect increases in living levels attributable to income increases. For example, a worker who will be 65 in the year 2000 and earning $10,000 today, and who continues to earn average wages, can expect to receive benefits of $15,000 a year. His wife would receive an additional $7,500.

A worker who earn the new maximum established by the law through retirement in 2000 can expect to receive $21,000, and over $31,000 for his wife and himself.

The important point, according to the Social Security administration, is that increases in the wage base on which the taxes are paid will mean higher benefits. And after retirement, annual cost of living increases will boost benefits further.

While it is true that taxes to finance the program are increasing, the administration points out that recent reports regarding the impact of the increase have been somewhat exaggerated. Some people will pay three times as much in taxes by 1987 but these are the 10 percent of today's workers who earn the maximums, expected to increase to $42,600 by 1987. The vast majority of those who earn less than the maximum will pay more than they now pay but not the amounts reported.

Q. I'd like to open an account with a stock broker and begin buying common shares, but I don't know how.

A. The N.Y. Stock Exchange's Publication Section, Dept. S, 11 Wall Street, New York City 10005 has an "Investors Information Kit" which answers all your basic questions, and much more. It is obtainable at a cost of $2.50.

Q. I'm worried about a large stock portfolio and would like more peace of mind. I am a woman, 77, and about to retire. My holdings include substantial blocks of General Motors, AT&T, Commonwealth Edison, American Electric Power, Baltimore Gas & Electric, Exxon, General Electric, Consumers Power, Sears and Xerox. Should I sell and put the money into certificates of deposit for 7 1/2 percent? Part of my estate will go to needy causes.

A. As you might infer from my printing your list, I approve of most of your is-ssues. Some of the utility issues are yielding more than 7 1/2 percent (on present market price) and could be retained. If you have losses on any issues which yield less than 5 or 6 percent, sell the stocks so as to take the losses in your last year of employment. If you have profits on any low-yielding stocks consider turning them over now to any charitable, religious or educational institutions you plan to benefit ultimately in exchange for some form of annuity you can begin receiving now.

Whatever money is generated by taking any losses should be put into insured savings certificates for 7 1/2-7 3/4 percent.

Q. I am 68, a widow, getting by comfortable on the estate left by my husband which consists of tax free bonds, 25 percent; corporation bonds, 25 percent; common shares, 31 percent; four-year deposits 17 percent and day-to-day saving accounts 2 percent...I feel comfortable now, but what about inflation and my heirs?

A. I think you have a comfortable setup — well diversified. More inflation protection, theoretically, could come from shifting some of the corporate bond money into common shares.

Let the heirs make their own adjustments when they get the money.

Belated Medal Makes Ex-City Veteran Proud

SAN ANGELO (AP) — An 80-year-old World War I veteran is as proud today of his Silver Star as the day he got it. But then it wasn't long ago. Gilbert R. Quinney of San Angelo received the nation's third highest award for gallantry in combat during ceremonies here Saturday night.

The medal is for heroism he displayed during the battle of Blanc Mont Ridge near the French town of Saint Etienne-Arnes in October of 1918.

"I've had about every thrill and every scare a man can have in battle," said the retired Pecos and Lubbock area pharmacist, "and this (medal) has thrilled and scared me just about as bad as any battle did."

The Silver Star was created by Congress in 1932 and World War I veterans were made eligible to receive the honor based on individual cases. Quinney said he got a letter in 1940 when he was working for the Lubbock draft board that said he might be eligible.

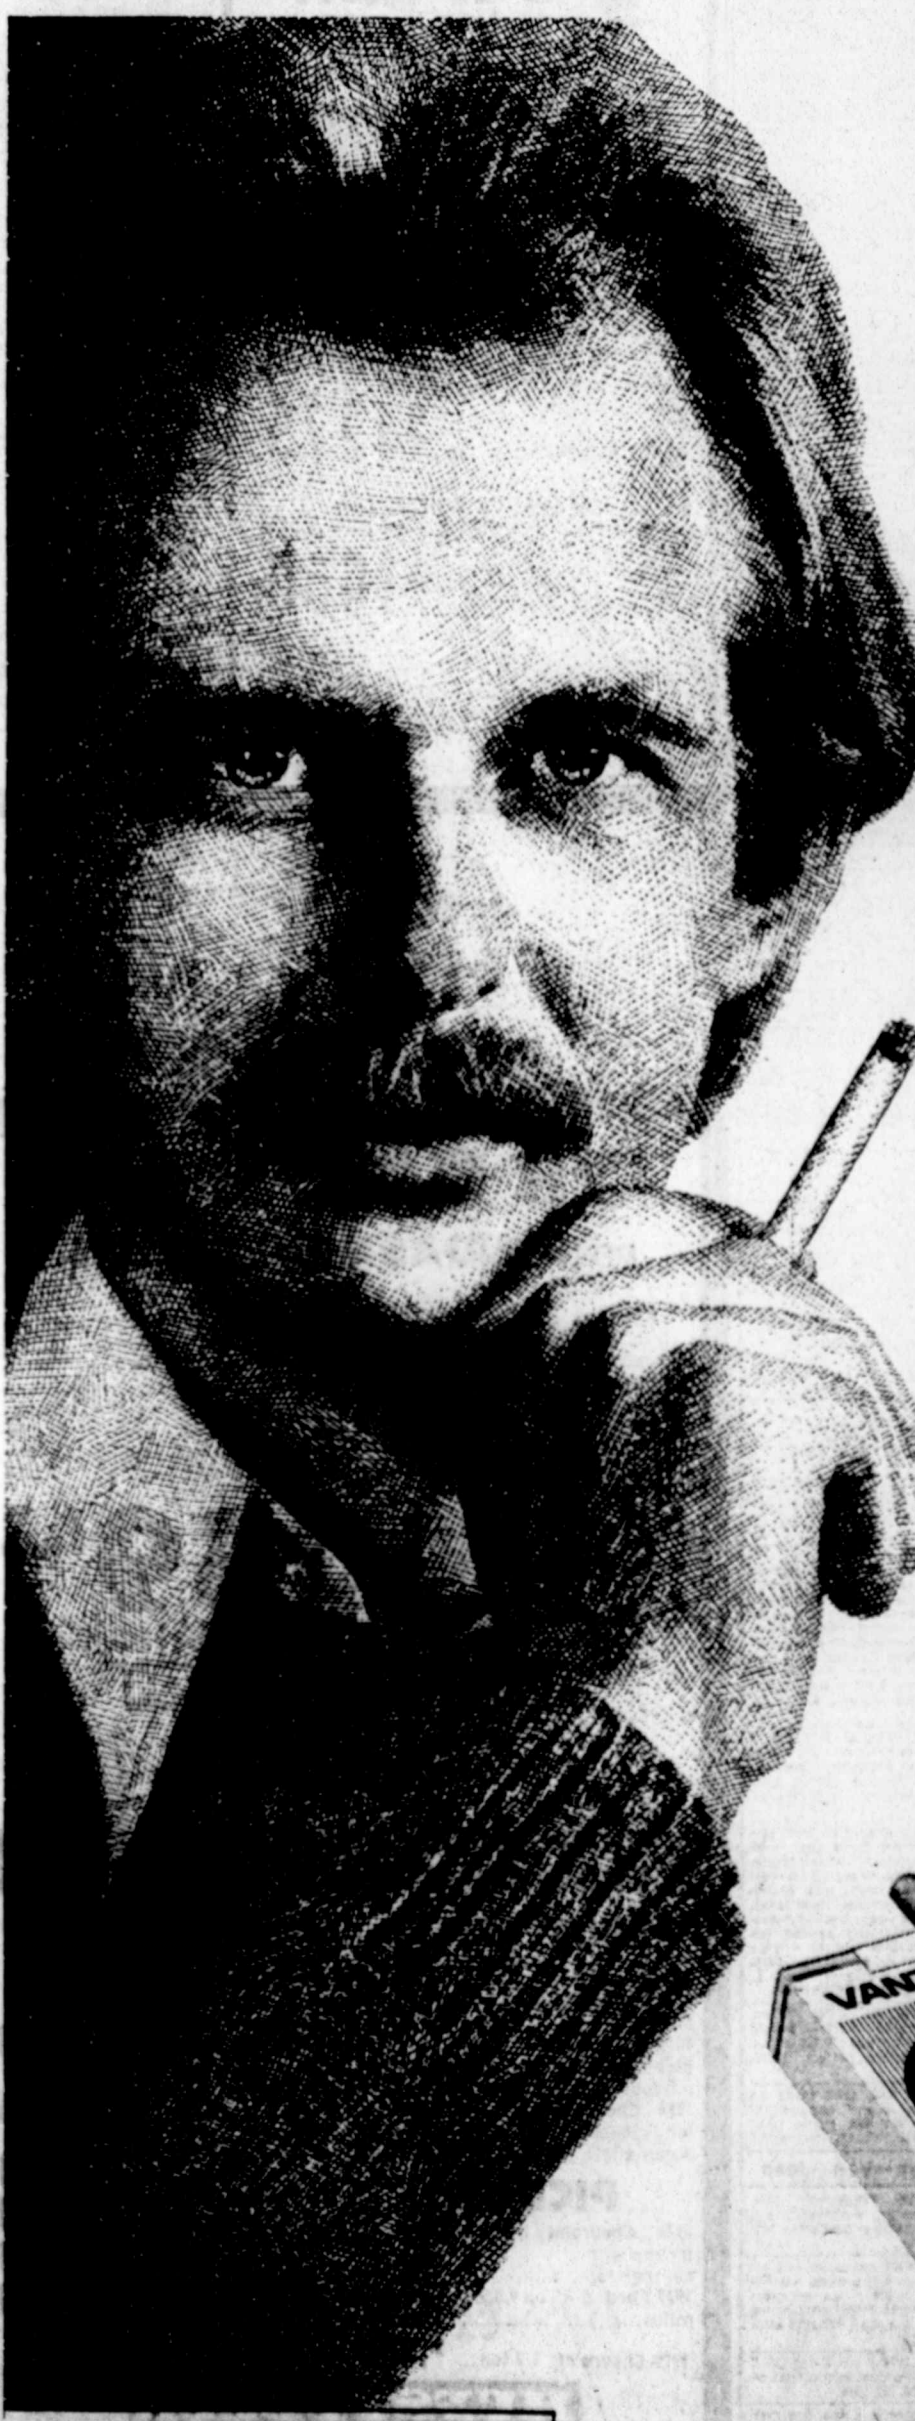

"The war was over and I really didn't see any point in it at the time," said Quinney.

Last April a relative learned he might be eligible and urged him to go ahead and pursue it. Quinney said he called the Marine recruiters in San Angelo and they found he was eligible based on two citations signed by General John "Black Jack" Pershing and Maj. Gen. John A. LeJeune.

Pershing was the commander of the American Expeditionary Force and Gen. LeJeune was the highest ranking Marine in Europe during World War I.

EX-GOVERNOR DIES

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — John S. Fine, former governor of Pennsylvania, died Sunday. He was 85. Fine, the state's chief executive from 1951 to 1955, died Sunday morning at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, according to a hospital spokeswoman. The cause of death was not immediately disclosed. Fine was the center of political controversy throughout his term, leaving office at odds with practically all the other leaders of the state.

'Why I choose to smoke'

"Why kid anyone? I smoke because I enjoy it. I'm the kind of guy who gets pleasure out of a cigarette. But I'm not deaf to what's being said about tar."

"So I searched out a cigarette that would give me taste with low tar. And two years ago I found it in Vantage. Vantage has all the taste I enjoy yet, surprisingly, much less tar than my old brand."

"Why did I choose Vantage? Because I like it."

HONORED GRADUATE — Phyllis Johnson, a graduate of the Robert Spence School in Lubbock, was recently named American Model of '78. She does runway modeling, photography and fashion coordination.

Robert Spence School Begins Summer Class Registration

With the summer months rapidly approaching, Robert Spence School is now making plans for its new classes. "Have you decided what you want to accomplish this summer? If the answer is 'no,' why not give Robert Spence a call. Maybe you want to be a model, or maybe that's the farthest thing from your mind. Maybe you just want to be poised, assured, looking and sounding your best. Robert Spence School, in any event, has the training you desire."

The Robert Spence School is located in the Terrace Center, 4902 34th St., Suite 26-A, phone 797-8134, in Lubbock.

Registration is now underway for the summer classes which will begin June 5. The deadline for registration is June 2.

Classes will be offered with various weekly schedules from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, or 1-3 p.m. Evening classes meet once weekly from 7 until 9 p.m.

Fully Certified

All schools in Texas that are teaching any course of instruction must be certified by the Texas Education Agency. This is not only a protection for the school, but also for the students. The Robert Spence School and its staff are certified by the Texas Education Agency and is owned and directed by Brenda Becknell.

Classes Listed

Classes are offered in Self Improvement and Personal Development, Professional Modeling, the Classic Woman course, the Little Princess course and the Young Miss course, and are designed to assist girls and women toward the self-realization that leads to mature confidence in one's own image.

The instructors can impart the skills taught because the classes at the school are small, no more than eight persons are assigned to any instructor in any phase; and teachers devote individual attention to the needs of each.

The basic course in self-improvement consists of instruction in several fundamental elements which combine to develop the truly poised person. These elements include posture and walking, skin care and makeup application, hair styling, figure correction, speaking, wardrobe coordination and personality development.

Beyond the self-improvement course, the Robert Spence School offers instruction in professional modeling which opens career vistas to many women. The school functions as an agency and has placed many women in modeling jobs in the Lubbock area, Dallas and New York.

The Classic Woman course is designed for the woman who is interested in updating her wardrobe, hairstyles, makeup and is being poised in all situations she may encounter. This course is especially successful for business organizations, clubs and area groups.

The Young Miss and Little Princess courses are designed for girls from age five to 14 to help them develop poise and manners and grooming. Pageant modeling also is offered to all ages who may be interested in entering pageants.

Qualified Instructors

Instructors other than Miss Becknell include Mrs. Jerry (Lynette) Thuet, Mrs. Ralph (Gloria) Madrid, Mrs. Ron (Donna) Chandler, Miss Linda Wilks, and Mrs. Bill (Johnnie) Hardage. They are members of the World Modeling Association. They attend workshops and seminars in New York to update their curriculum and keep abreast of the current trends in the high fashion industry of New York.

The instructors have been speakers in the public schools, social organizations, banking institutions, small groups and clubs. They are available to give lectures and demonstrations to groups and organizations for a minimal fee. They also teach the short courses for groups of eight or more in the surrounding area towns and in the local area.

As a model agency, Robert Spence makes available its professionally trained models and instructors for those special occasions such as conventions, grand openings, fashion shows, commercials and photography.

Top Honors Garnered

Miss Becknell sponsored a group of advanced graduates to the World Modeling Association in New York City and brought home top honors.

Phyllis Johnson won American Model 1978 designation, most beautiful hair and makeup, and photo posing in New York and the Bahamas. Susan Purser was a Teen Finalist and won most beautiful hair and makeup. Robin Becknell was selected to dance in the opening production number directed by Gerry Gaveau of Canada. Another type of honor recently was awarded to graduate Suzette Scholz, named Dallas Cowboy cheerleader.

Miss Becknell is the owner-director of the school. She is a graduate of Texas Tech and a former teacher for Idalou Public Schools. She has taught professional modeling and pageant modeling. She is frequently a guest on "People Place" show, and has modeled and lectured for various organizations in the area.

Mrs. Thuet is a Robert Spence graduate and a resident of Post. She has taught for the school four years and has modeled for television and fashion shows in the area and is well known for her lecturing and seminars.

Mrs. Madrid, a Texas Tech and Robert Spence graduate, is a former teacher for the Lubbock Independent Schools. She frequently appears on "People Place" and is well known for her lecturing and modeling in the area.

Mrs. Chandler is a graduate of Robert Spence and Texas Tech and is involved in the fashion merchandising area and has been modeling in the Lubbock area, as well as teaching in the Robert Spence curriculum.

Miss Wilks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wilks. She is a graduate of Coronado High School and attended Texas Tech. She has modeled for various stores and for television and also instructs all courses at Robert Spence.

Mrs. Hardage is a resident of Lamesa. She is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons and is a former teacher in the Lamesa School District. She has modeled locally and teaches various Robert Spence courses in Lubbock, Lamesa and surrounding towns.

Miss Becknell will be happy to talk to any interested person, and a phone call to 797-8134 can bring complete information.

Special savings throughout May at the A & J Blind & Shade Shop provide a distinct advantage in home improvement for summer and seasons ahead.

One's budget must and should be considered, and A & J, at 1917 19th St. in Lubbock, has posted May specials as a customer-consideration gesture.

When one can secure famous-name lines at such low prices... from a firm that puts the emphasis on value throughout the year, then it would seem that now is a very good time to act, and profit.

Terry Daily

Terry Daily, assistant to the chief engineer, adds his ditto to Rainbo being a great organization, well managed, and providing the finest products.

With the firm five years, but a lesser six months in Lubbock, Daily comes from Memphis, Tenn., and in reality he and his wife still are in process of really getting acquainted here.

Daily and his wife, Sharon, have a son, Lee, age 6, a student at Bean School; and the family attends the Quaker Avenue Church of God.

Terry, like Schmidt, started as a shift engineer, and is progressing through the ranks.

"I really enjoy Rainbo and the men I work with," he emphasizes, adding that "I see Rainbo as a very well managed company, one benefitting the employee and the customer alike."

Don't all this speak well of your friend, the Rainbo Baking Company of Lubbock? We think so."

Engineering Heads At Rainbo Cited With Company's Salute

Many undoubtedly have discovered that not only is Rainbo "your kind of bread" but also that Rainbo Baking Co. of Lubbock is "your kind of people, your kind of progressive enterprise."

Harry Hoopes, manager of the Lubbock firm, will at the drop of a hat reiterate his pride in the staff that makes things run smoothly at the company here, and this is understandable, as quality is a Rainbo watchword in every facet of its operation.

In this light, the Rainbo Baking Company of Lubbock this week introduces and salutes two valued employees heading the engineering operations for the firm, members of the Rainbo family contributing to its total image as a successful business serving area needs commercially and as good friends and citizens.

Slumberland, Direct Mattress Firms Under Single Ownership

"Did you realize that Direct Mattress Co. not only has a new home but that it has new ownership — with the same owners now for this time-honored Lubbock firm and for Slumberland, the one-stop interior design headquarters?"

Direct Mattress is now located at 1115-B Slaton Highway, just across from the Carriage House in southeast Lubbock. Owners are Al Clifton, Curtis Campbell and Reggie Clifton, who also own and operate Slumberland at 3532 34th St.

The same quality staff has been retained at Direct Mattress, through ownership and location change, with some staffmembers marking up to 30 years service with the firm established back in 1916!

The same high quality traditional at Direct Mattress Co. is maintained, with services including renovation and rebuilding.

"We Sell Sleep" Even the same motto, "We Sell Sleep" is correctly utilized!

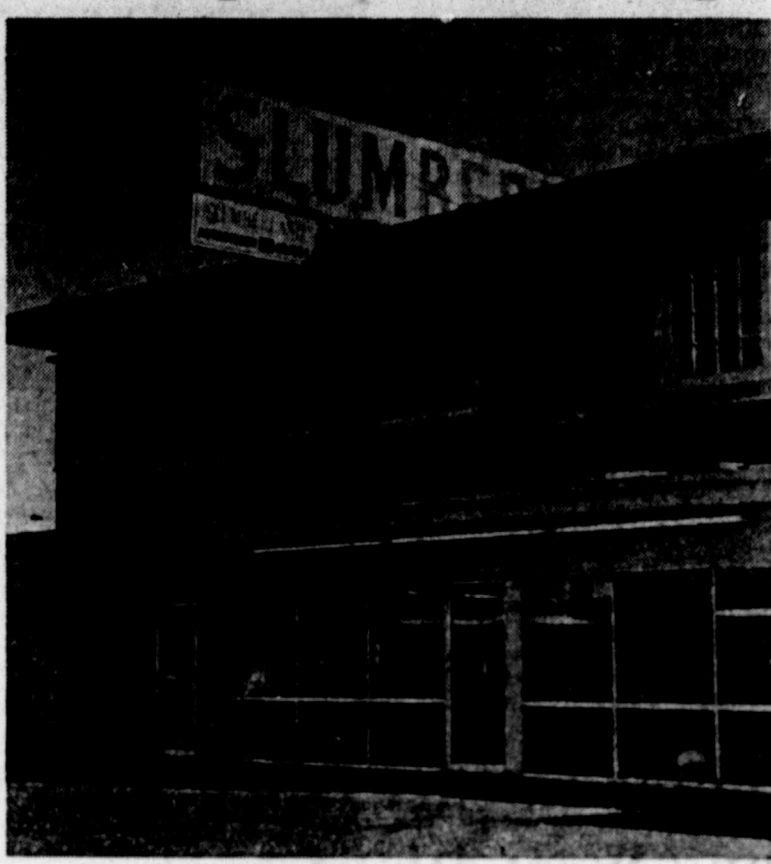

"The proper renovation of mattresses is a highly specialized profession, requiring properly trained technicians and the right kind of equipment. Through the years, Direct Mattress Co. has constantly upgraded methods and equipment, and further steps have been taken by the new ownership to assure that Direct Mattress ranks second to none anywhere for quality work.

So now, take your pick: Direct Mattress at 1115-B Slaton Highway, or Slumberland at 3532 34th St.; most likely you can use products and services from each to a distinct advantage.

More about Slumberland: Owned and operated for about three years by the husband-wife team of Al and Shirley Clifton, the firm now has two new names associated in the ownership. Al's brother, Reggie Clifton, and Curtis Campbell, who is specializing in the commercial, tile and carpet phases of the expanded business.

Campbell is a Texas Tech graduate and is a former teacher and coach at Olton, Levelland, Roosevelt and at Evans Junior High School in Lubbock. An eight-year Lubbock resident, he has been owner and supervisor of apartments here for over two years before his announced association with Slumberland.

Another key situation is noted: Interior Decorating, Design Slumberland in the past has maintained a custom drapery department. Now, the firm has taken the entire second floor of its building for a new and complete interior decorating department, the "Unique Decor and Interior Design."

"We are now able to handle the needs of all our friends and customers in interior design and decorating, both residential and commercial."

"With formation of this department, we have added carpet, ceramic tile, vinyl flooring, new lines of fabrics, blinds and woven woods, and we are even adding a complete line of wallpapers.

Gary Wood, specialist in interior design for four years in Lubbock, heads the residential department. He is a graduate of Texas Tech in Interior Design and has been associated with Slumberland over three years.

"Gary or one of our other professional decorators will be glad to assist in giving new ideas, and they will be glad to give free estimates on any decorating need.

"Everything For Bedroom"

Traditionally, Slumberland has featured one of the very largest selections of bedspreads in the entire state; and this still holds true.

A complete stock of brass beds is stocked. Also, there are gorgeous velvet headboards; and the pillows, satin sheets, round beds, lamps and even sheets and spreads for the round beds add to a complete stock of "everything for the bedroom."

At Slumberland or Direct Mattress, a revelation in quality, quantity and friendliness is assured.

Come by and meet or renew acquaintance with the staff and management. Each can be of definite benefit in just about anyone's decorating plans.

Cinderella Beauty School Explains
Pivot Point Instruction Advantages

"Are you interested in becoming a professional? Then, why not enter the new world of beauty culture?"

Yes, it is a "new world" at Cinderella Beauty School Pivot Point International, located one block west of Slide Road, two blocks north of South Plains Mall, at 5401 Aberdeen Ave.

"Our concept and approach to the Wonderful World of Beauty is new and inventive. We keep abreast of the ever-changing world with the newest of techniques based on the age-old principles employed by such masters as Devincy, Michaelangelo and others; we work with line, form and color.

"Unlike the old masters who expressed their creativity in marble and paint, we at Cinderella Beauty School work with that silk-like fabric called hair!

Hair is material — like silk, satin or burlyap — and should be treated as such! Pivot Point students are trained in the art of precision haircutting, custom perming, dimensional hair coloring and all related arts.

"Our students are taught with the utmost care, assuring them a firm foundation for solid professional achievement.

"In fact, a check in the sum of $600 is sent to each student, for further training, from Pivot Point International after the student has completed basic beauty culture training. The student then goes to Chicago to renew this training," it is explained.

The Cinderella Beauty School is open to the public six days a week; please call us at 792-4439 or 792-4430 for appointment, is the invitation of owner Winnie Vaughn.

"Our prime concern is that we do a good job for you.

"At our school, we discuss the possibilities of you wearing a different hair style, or the proper care for the style you now wear; we discuss the present condition and the care of your hair. It is our duty as professionals to concern ourselves with the conditioning and care for your hair, and your hair style.

"We at Cinderella Beauty School use nothing but the finest in hair care products. Redkin keeps us well supplied with new products and information that relates to you and your hair. We are the only Redkin-approved school in the city, and we do our best to serve you in the best possible way. We are aided in our work by the most modern equipment such as the Tricogram and Tricoscope for proper hair analysis, supplied by the Redkin company.

"Our students are taken from basic beauty culture through more advanced programs such as our Aura program and MLord programs, and on to a masters degree.

"So, enroll now; come in and talk to our registrar who will be happy to answer your questions in detail and help you start on a lifetime career of beauty and achievement."

Byrom Named Assistant Head Bowman's Lubbock Operation

Appointment of John Byrom as assistant manager of the Lubbock operations of Bowman Lumber Co., Inc., at 8301 S. University, has been announced by Joe Swan, manager.

Byrom is a West Texas native (from Abilene), and his move to Lubbock is part of Bowman's continuous program of maintaining a staff that is knowledgeable, customer-oriented and alert to needs of the area.

John marks a background that includes a year of study in building construction at the Texas State Technical Institute (TSTI) in Waco.

In the lumber field since 1971, he was with the Bowman organization in Abilene, and after sale of that unit was with Abilene Lumber for a year. He was hardware buyer and purchasing agent for the Abilene yards, and in Lubbock he is assuming responsibilities as building materials buyer.

Byrom and his wife, Betty, live at 5209 47th St.

Donald L. Smith, president of Bowman's, has expressed appreciation in "having a young man of Byrom's capabilities and drive in our Lubbock operation."

Byrom joins the entire Bowman staff in wanting to serve each customer to the best of their ability.

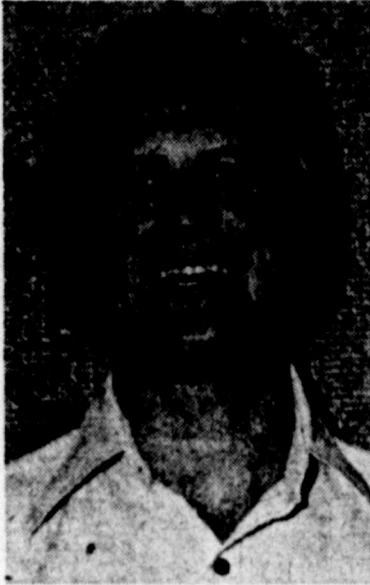

"Whether your home building needs are large or small, we invite you to come to Bowman's (actually a complete home improvement center) and let Swan, Byrom and staff serve you."

Alert to customer service, Bowman's continually makes significant improvements.

Not only does it pride in its staff, but takes second place to none in a wide selection of products and services found to be advantageous to the South Plains.

Whether selection is from contractor needs, from the hardware counters, from the art department or from the very impressive garden center, Bowman has a lot to offer that is of interest and benefit to every family member.

Sale Nears End
"Bowman's, founded back in 1880, remember, traditionally has a policy of keeping the latchstring out, proving that the customer is appreciated and considered first. With this business concept the public has responded in a most heartwarming way, enabling the growth and present stature of Bowman's."

JOHN BYROM

Remember, also, that the big 89th Anniversary Sale continues through Thursday (May 25), so come on out for savings in every department.

Fourth Diet Center In City Opening Today, Holiday (West 4th) Location

A new and added Diet Center, with familiar faces at the helm, opens today in Lubbock!

This new Diet Center is at 4708-B W. 4th St., in Holiday Center, a location most advantageous to residents in that area and in regions west, north and northwest of Lubbock, easy to reach from just most anywhere!

On hand at the new center is Glenda Bratcher, co-owner with Marianne Maestas, with this pair still owning the 2321-A 50th St. Diet Center. Marianne will manage this facility.

"Our reception and consequent business has been so great since opening the 50th Street store in early January, that we find it advisable to open this second unit to serve further and more conveniently in northwest Lubbock," Glenda and Marianne explain. "Thanks for your patronage that has made the expansion possible."

Four In City
There are now four Diet Centers in Lubbock, with Rita Pence and family members owning those in Terrace Center (4902 34th St.) and in Summit Place (3417 73rd St., just south of Loop 289).

So now, there is a Diet Center "near you", wherever your address may be. Glenda Bratcher points out that the newest Center is open six days a week, with special hours provided for working people as necessary, just as in the earlier-established 2321-A 50th St. facility.

Remember, the new location is in Holiday Center, 4708-B W. 4th St., with entry on the north side of the complex; the phone number is 793-1387.

"Won't you come out and share our pride in this latest Diet Center?"

It is aptly pointed out that "getting skinny is the national pastime . . . and there are all kinds of clinics, spas and group programs geared to helping overweight Americans become losers!"

The Diet Center differs from other weight loss operations, says Glenda, because it is a daily program. Dieters come in daily for a weigh-in and a few minutes of encouragement or counseling rather than coming once a week for group meetings.

This is seen as a distinct advantage for those who need constant encouragement and those who are reluctant to stand up in a group and confess their gastronomical indiscretions.

"Feeling good while you lose" is the new program and approach to losing weight available at the Diet Center.

An adjustable program, to fit the needs of the individual, is provided, and all counseling is private.

Essentially a diet program, the Diet Center method also advises light exercise.

The Diet Center program calls for a well-balanced diet, and the clients will not lose the essential fat on the body, but only the extra adipose fat; the dieters will have all the nutrients necessary to maintain good health while losing adipose fat from the body.

Body Fats Explained
It is pointed out in this connection that there are three types of fat on the body:

- (1) The structural fat, necessary to the body as it rounds out the body, giving soft curves to the woman and an angular look to the man. This type of fat is quick energy and easily available to the body.
- (2) The cushioning fat also is necessary as it cushions the bones so they will not hurt us. It is between the joints, on the hips, knees, feet, etc., and this fat does not show on the body, but it must be there. It also is quick energy fat that is easily available to the body.
- (3) The adipose fat is the "extra" fat on the body, fat that is stored to help the body during prolonged starvation periods.

"When a person is on a fad or a starvation diet, or when a person is very ill, the body draws from the quick energy fat that is easily available to the body for emergencies. The person has a gaunt, starved, haggard look. He or she loses structural fat from the face and breast, feeling weak and run down. This type of fat is quickly regained as it is essential to the body and good health."

Diet Well Balanced
"At the Diet Centers in Lubbock, remember, clients are on a well-balanced diet and they will not lose the essential fat on the body, but only the extra adipose fat."

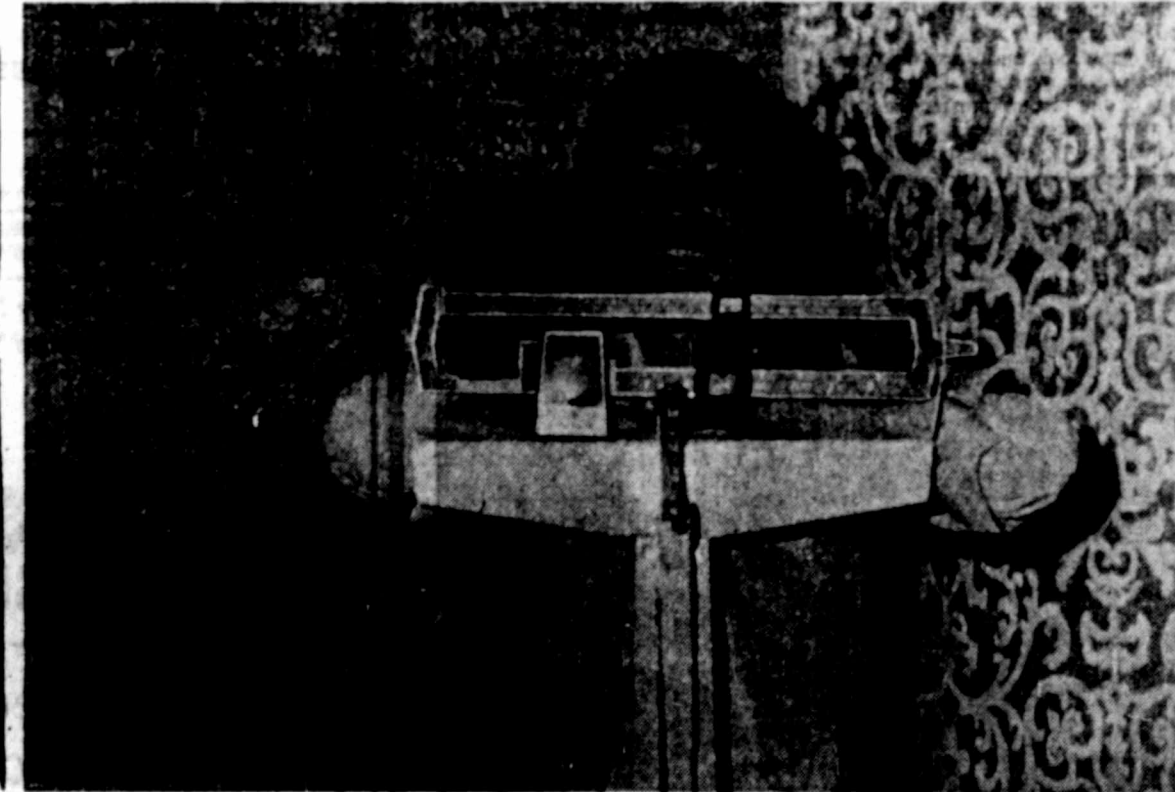

At a very, very modest price, one may avail himself or herself of daily counseling during the weight loss period, counseling during stabilization, and further aid during later maintenance for a lifetime of weight control.

With varied programs available, it could be pointed out that possibly the most popular is a 6-week program in which women usually lose from 18 to 30 pounds, with men losing even more.

To simplify explanation, it could be said that the most popular Diet Center program takes from two to six weeks with an expected weight loss of one-half to one pound a day. When the desired weight has been attained, a sustaining program, at no further charge, is set up. Then if the old programs of stuffing away food return as fatty deposits, a refresher weigh-in quickly sets one on the right path.

The Diet Center approach is strictly dietary, involving a series of tasty menus that are inexpensive and easy to prepare. The diets help keep the blood sugar stable, serve as natural diuretics and keep away hunger pangs!

"You'll feel well, and if you persevere, in no time at all you'll begin to look as great as you feel!"

Woolco Appliance Department Leading In Value, Selection

TV VALUES EMPHASIZED BY LA NELDA GORDON

"Here at Woolco we have all your appliance needs."
 It is as simple as that!"
 Take color television sets, for example: Woolco has a wide range, from 10-inch to 25-inch color consoles. And these carry such well-known and respected names as RCA, GE, Zenith and Sanyo.
 The stereo equipment list is most impressive, and Woolco in Lubbock stocks Electro-Phonic, Sanyo, Sound Design and Kingspoint.
 "For home entertainment, we carry RCA SelectaVision and a wide assortment of TV games."
Laundry Needs
 For the laundry there is GE and Whirlpool.
 For floor care, select from Hoover and Eureka.
 There are microwave ovens by Tappan, and there are gas and electric ranges, also by Tappan.
Air Conditioners
 The Woolco Appliance Department has even more, including refrigerators by GE and Whirlpool; freezers from Revco and Freezmaster; air coolers by Alpine, and refrigerated air conditioners by Emerson, Whirlpool and GE.
 CB's are stocked, too, including Cobra-Midland.
 "See what we mean when we claim to have all your appliance needs? Won't you come on out to Woolco and discover for yourself how we want to be your favorite store, with price, selection and service emphasized?"

WICKER WARE RECOMMENDED BY DAVID SANCHEZ

Outdoor Furniture, Accessory Stock Outstanding At Woolco

"A wonderful outdoor summer can well begin with a visit to Woolco in Lubbock, selecting items that will make it more comfortable... more fun!"
 It is time for picnics, baseball games and just relaxing.
 So... this summer, instead of sitting on those hard bleachers or on the hard ground at the neighborhood ballpark, why not come by Woolco and pick up a discount-priced lawn chair or chaise longue as a solution?

Also at Woolco there are redwood picnic tables, bar-b-que grills, hibachis, charcoal and charcoal starter, picnic baskets, so-convenient and so-practical ice coolers, chair or lounge pads, even wicker furniture and redwood patio furniture.
 There are small round patio tables, portable tables, hammocks, lawn swings with canopy; webbing kits and other accessories.
 "Woolco wants to see you have an enjoyable outdoor summer."

NEW HOME OF KEY AUTO IN DOWNTOWN LUBBOCK, DESIGNED FOR SERVICE

Key Auto Supply Consolidates Downtown Avenue H Stores

"Everything Automotive" long has been the meaningful motto of Key Auto Supply, but now still further good news is revealed:

The downtown facilities of Key Auto Supply have been consolidated under one roof, with Key occupying new quarters at 1613 Ave. H.

This address is just across Avenue H from the firm's former No. 3 store.

The equipment store and machine shop, formerly at 1709 H, has also been made part of the big new store formerly occupied by Direct Mattress Co.

The expanded quarters represent an increase from 5,000 sq. ft. to 12,000 sq. ft. floor space for the firm, it is pointed out by owners Ronald and Cubby Key.

Unique In Field

Key, affording an auto supply business since back in 1957, remains unique in its field, providing auto paint, auto parts, auto equipment and an automotive machine shop, qualifying it as the only firm in Lubbock offering all this, Ronald explains.

Auction Sated

It is announced that in connection with the firm's move and expansion, an auction is to be conducted June 3 to dispose of surplus shelving, equipment, other fixtures and also obsolete parts and some discontinued lines.

The auction will be conducted by auctioneers Jack Faulks and Travis Butler at 10 a.m. on the announced date, at 1620 Ave. H. Some presses, compressors, bench grinders and other tools are included.

All-new store fixtures have been installed at the new location.

Auto equipment is a big item at Key Auto Supply. Among some items of special note are:

Key stocks air compressors and parts and is service representative for West Texas for the Speedaire air compressor line. It is factory outlet distributor for Ausco hydraulic jacks, bumper jacks, etc.

And Key is factory-authorized service repair station for Exide battery chargers, serving as an Exide battery charger and Exide battery outlet.

Cold Storage Advantage seen

"For fur storage in a bonded, insured cold storage vault, one again can turn to Master Cleaners in Lubbock. After all, isn't it time to store winter garments, not only in interest of their care, but also to make room in your closets?"

Then, Master Cleaners should enter the picture, at a choice of facilities at 2301 34th St., or at the added location of 3420 82nd St.

The Vault Master cold storage system utilized at Master Cleaners "does it all"

Key is sales representative for the Dupont auto paint line.

Key serves the industry and the individual, with wholesale and retail sales.

Machine Shop

A full-fledged machine shop is maintained, with two machinists skilled in their trade, enabling turning of drums, boring of blocks, valve work, repair of cracked heads, etc.

Key is open six days a week.

Key Auto continues its business on the same sound principles on which it was founded, the owners emphasize.

"We maintain the most complete stock of the highest quality automotive supply items, and we provide dealers, mechanics and individuals with the best possible service."

fumigates, refrigerates, ventilates and dehumidifies. Each is important . . . and not found just anywhere! Winter garments are stored by Masters at a nominal fee, and further services include two trucks operating out of the 34th Street facility for pick-up and delivery.

Master Cleaners can take care of all your apparel cleaning needs.

And also provide expert drapery cleaning.

Remodeled Stork Shop, In Indiana Gardens, Stocks All Maternity Wear

For everything in maternity wear, in Lubbock it is The Stork Shop, 3416 34th St. (in Indiana Gardens).

Under ownership and active management since February of longtime Lubbock resident Mrs. Doyle (Ida) Langford, the Stork Shop actually dates its record of service back some 30 years!

Since its establishment, it has been located in the same Indiana Gardens location, and under the ownership of Ida Langford it now has been remodeled most beautifully.

Actually, one visiting there this week will discover that beautiful new carpeting has been installed, with other modernization involving painting and rearrangement.

Everything at The Stork Shop says "welcome."

Stocked is everything in maternity needs (with exception of shoes).

Select from new items — from swim suits to hose!

New summer wear dominates, with selection enabled from coordinates, really "dressy" dresses, casuals, slack suits, lingerie.

Even denim jeans and a gorgeous array of sleepwear.

Ida Langford is on hand to render personal service to old friends and new customers alike at the so-pretty store, assisted by Rebecca McKinley.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, and both Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed.

Doyle Langford has been in the dry-cleaning business in Lubbock some 30 years, and Ida, consequently, is no stranger to the public's preferences and needs in apparel.

"I really enjoy providing this kind of shop, serving both Lubbock and regional residents with as complete a selection as I can in maternity wear," owner Ida Langford reports.

It would seem that Indiana Gardens, Lubbock and region, and all in need of maternity wear are indeed fortunate in having the kind of shop and the type of personnel as is The Stork Shop, 3416 34th St., phone 799-5618.

AT THE STORK SHOP — Ida Langford, owner of the popular Indiana Gardens maternity wear store, takes pride in a selection, fashion, value combination, welcoming visits to the remodeled but time-honored store.

Best Corn-Fed Beef, Other Products Excel In Complete-Service Market

"USDA Choice corn-fed beef — and across-counter service by knowledgeable staffmembers — these are just two of the several convincing reasons that one sooner or later finds Red Barn Meat Market the logical place to trade."
Willis Watts, conducting all his market operations at this one location, works hard to assure that the products, facilities and staff merit one's confidence and pride in this complete-service market.
Whether reason for a visit there this week is to stock up the home freezer, to secure meat for a special dinner, to pick up convenience-type items, or just to browse and select where you know quality comes foremost, trading at Red Barn Meat Market is a rewarding experience.
Early this year the Red Barn Meat Market, 8112 Indiana Ave., announced that all beef made available there was USDA Choice corn-fed cattle.
The response to this consideration has been most gratifying, with clients apparently appreciating this quality assurance.
The Red Barn Meat market is thoroughly modern in every respect, yet still retaining the concept of the old-time "service" market.
Over-Counter Service
A lengthy service case is noticed upon one's entry to the spacious market. Knowledgeable attendants are on hand for over-counter service that assures personal attention.
In another area, a self service case makes available 5 lb. boxes of bacon wrapped filets, top sirloins, ribeyes and KC steaks, all individually wrapped.
Then, as further service, convenience type items (necessities for picnics, barbecues, etc.) are stocked including milk, bread, chips, sauces, cookies and more.

Watts points out that now could be a very good time to purchase meats for the freezer, with expected further price increases on both beef and pork.
More about the type of products at Red Barn Meat Market:
"We urge you to look for the grade on the beef you buy," is the suggestion of owner-operator Willis Watts. "All of our beef at the Red Barn is USDA Choice corn-fed cattle. Also, it is 'yield graded.' We don't buy anything above a '2' yield, meaning that we maintain the best of quality and yet keep the fat content as low as possible. In addition to this, we also age our cattle, adding to the flavor and tenderness."
All cattle are from feed lots in the Hereford area.
Watts and his most capable staff take pride in introducing the customer to this "better and complete service market"; a description to which a lot of area residents have attested since in market's opening in mid-1976.
Willis Watts formerly owned and operated the Red Barn facility on the Leveland Highway, selling that unit in June of 1977.
The South Indiana market was planned and functionally designed to not only be attractive, but to be convenient, efficient and thoroughly service oriented. Watts opened this big market in May 1978, and reports that it is the largest independent retail meat market in all West Texas, comprising about 4,275 sq.

ft. floor space under roof, plus a large parking apron with access from both Indiana and from 82nd Street.
It is neat, sanitary, attractive and easy to reach from just about anywhere!
Completeness Explained
A full variety of beef, pork, poultry and fish is stocked. As a complete service market, orders for special cuts are welcomed, and full quarters, halves and full beeves are available.
A full line of cheeses is stocked.
Financing is available with approved credit, with up to six months to pay, nothing down, and absolutely no finance charge!
"The newest thing in buildings can be built in hours... to last a lifetime... whether for farm, industry, commercial, municipal or school facilities, etc.
Unbelievable? But it is true!
Also:
"These same units involve no bolts, no screws, no leaks and they meet all codes!"
Where is all this available?
At Nascos Steel Buildings, on the Idalou Highway just northeast of Lubbock, phone 763-9221.
One may select from 20-ft. to 75-ft. width dimensions, with no penalty for odd widths!
Nascos, locally owned and operated, has its own skilled erectors to enable a turnkey job (including plumbing, electrical work, etc. as needed); or one may purchase the revolutionary spans for "do-it-yourself" erection, as anyone can erect a Nascos building, it is explained.

A-1 Nursery Staging Savings Spree Throughout Wide Stock

Nowhere else but A-1 Nursery!
It is the Sun Spectacular Savings Spree continuing through Thursday at A-1, 7500 82nd St. (just five minutes from South Plains Mall).
Top quality in every item, with selection including shade trees, bedding plants, fruit trees and all; A-1 again comes through with the merchandise and with a price to shout about.
"Come, browse, compare and select at A-1 Nursery, phone 792-6070, at 7500 82nd St., where specials are posted whenever possible, enabling even lower prices than the sensible ones the public long has found at A-1.
Note these, among this week's Sun Spectacular values:
Specific Examples
Bermuda onions, 59 cents per bunch; two for $1;
Really outstanding geraniums, in bloom, regular $1.99 but sale priced at $1.69 or 10 for $15;
Extra fancy hulled bermuda grass seed at $3.49 per pound; and Wonder Gro soil conditioner (lasts five times as long as peat in the soil) at $3.99 or three for $9.99 (3 cu. ft. bags).
Poodles and pom poms are a whopping 35 per cent off, as are multi-trunk live oaks and youpon holly.
Pinon Pine
Windbreaker material (Kettler juniper and Arizona cypress) is 35 per cent off list; and 4 ft. pinon pine is super sale priced at just $27.50, regular $49.95!
Flowering bedding plants in 2 1/2-in. pots, regular 20 cents, are sale priced at 12 cents each, and include petunias, rose moss, periwinkle, ageratium and salvia.
One-gallon crape myrtles, regular $4.95, are just $2.88 or 10 for $25!
Japanese boxwood is 79 cents each or 10 for $7.
All balled and burlaped shade trees are 35 per cent off, and include sycamore, silver maple, honey locust, sweet gum, weeping willow, red bud, purple leaf plum, sunburst locust, morane locust and green ash.

Be sure and select from fancy leaf caladiums, 6-in. pots, regular $2.99, sale priced at $1.99 each!
Plus much, much more as outlined in the A-1 Nursery ads (for better yet, come on out and see for yourself just how very much A-1 has to offer in quality and savings, to say nothing of a tremendous selection).
Long Hours
Remember, A-1 Nursery, at 7500 82nd St., is open weekdays 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Sundays from 1:30 p.m. until 5 p.m.
A-1 has a tremendous selection in its every department... well worth the drive to view and select... and save!
Area residents long have benefitted from the landscape design, installation and maintenance services of A-1, and these and other services still are available — plus the special benefits of the new shipments and the unheard-of sale here at beginning of the season.

For more than 20 years, area folks have been assisted by the services of Winfred Self, owner and operator of A-1 Nursery, since 1973 at its present expanded quarters.
Everything at the modern nursery is coordinated for the very best in service. A complete line is stocked including trees, shrubs, vines, fertilizers, insecticides and the numerous other nursery supplies.
The "know how" of Self and his experienced staff possibly is the biggest asset of A-1, however, as hundreds of customers can attest to the superior help there through the years.
"Come on out during the big sale this week and see for yourself how A-1 Nursery can meet your individual needs, at a price you'll appreciate. Just as your neighbor likely already is an enthusiastic A-1 customer, you, too, can benefit from the experience, the interest, the products and the prices of this firm that knows how to get the most into a South Plains landscape."

BOON TO INDEPENDENT RETAILER — South Plains Wholesale serves the independent area merchant throughout the year, and this month focuses attention on the 25th Annual Toy and Gift Show to be conducted the next three Sundays, May 28, June 4, June 11.

South Plains Wholesale Firm Sets Annual Toy, Gift Show

Designed to be of special benefit to the independent merchants of a wide West Texas-Eastern New Mexico region, the 25th Annual Toy and Gift Show of South Plains Wholesale Variety, Inc., will be staged the next three Sundays in Lubbock.

A personal invitation is extended to old and new customers alike... to the Southwest's largest show of its kind.

Don't forget the dates, May 28, June 4 and June 11, with show hours 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. in the big headquarters of South Plains Wholesale Variety, 1701 Ave. H, phone 765-8039, in Lubbock.

Many new lines and new products are being shown, and grouping on the second floor is arranged for ease in selection and comparison.

There are toys, games, candy, stuffed animals, flowers and wreaths, wrapping paper, ribbon and trees, Christmas lights, craft items, candles, glassware, decorations, toiletries, tree stands, blankets, pillow cases, flower accessories, styrofoam and much, much more in stock.

South Plains Wholesale Variety has been serving the independent merchant throughout West Texas and adjacent areas since 1953. In fact, it has operated under the same name and at the same central Lubbock location throughout this time.

Wayne Davis, who purchased the business about a year ago, continues its operation as a wholly locally owned and operated service type of firm. Key staff members include Virgil Willingham who has been with the firm 22 years and who is of extreme aid to the buyer.

School and many all-season needs are arranged along the downstairs aisles, with special occasion items dominating the expansive upper floor area.

Thanks to South Plains Wholesale Variety, the independent merchant can plan now for full shelves next Christmas, with selection and quality at the Lubbock firm placing the merchant in a very advantageous position in a competitive situation. South Plains Wholesale Variety performs a vital service with its selective stock, its purchase plans and its freight savings.

day shows; we'll be looking for you May 28 (this Sunday) or June 4 or June 11 at your convenience."

Earl Ray Music Suggests Summer As Ideal Fix-Up, Trade-Up Season

"Earl Ray Music Co. maintains the largest band instrument repair department on the South Plains, with fulltime specialists on the job."

And this can be an important consideration now at beginning of the summer season when one should have present instruments serviced, ready for another term.

Or possibly "trading up" would be advisable.

Selection at Earl Ray Music Co. will assure that you are all set — with the best — for school needs and beyond. Service at Earl Ray Music does not end with the sale or rental, either.

"Wouldn't this be a very good time for you as a band student to 'trade up' to a quality instrument to best serve you in the progress that you have made in your music pursuit?"

"Let us at Earl Ray Music Co. show you how easy and rewarding this can be." Reliance upon the Earl Ray Music Co. can solve (and easily so) the many situations for the music minded.

Long a standby as "the South Plains' leading Band House," the Earl Ray Music Co., at 5302 Ave. Q in the Briercroft Shopping Center, pledges the finest in instrument repair and sales, even leasing and trade-up.

For more than a quarter century of being known and trusted by band directors, parents and bandmen throughout the area, Earl Ray Music Co. early in 1974 moved from a former 1502 Ave. Q quarters to the large modern home it now enjoys — a facility that has met with exceptional response from customers who actually are excited about the added conveniences and still-fine service.

Quality Lines
Selling, servicing and trade-rent-lease of fine instrument lines still is the whole business of Earl Ray. Whether selection if from Conn, Vito, Selmer, Bunday, LeBlac, Ludwig, Bach, Olds, Gemeinhardt, etc., quality is assured.

More and more students throughout Lubbock and entire area are learning the advantages of "trading up" to a better instrument at Earl Ray Music Co. As the students progress in their musical careers, the "trading up" is especially advantageous.

"Whether or not you purchased your present band instrument from Earl Ray, they will be glad to give you a price you are sure to appreciate with trade on a better one.

A wide choice of instruments is stocked.
