Plane Sale Dispute Clouds Begin Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin arrived in Washington today for a White House reception celebrating Israel's 30th birthday, amid continuing differences with the Carter administration over the sale of warplanes to Saudi Arabia and Egypt.

Begin was greeted at Andrews Air Force Base by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. They left together for several hours of meetings at the State Department and later with President Carter at the White House prior to a reception hosted by the president.

"We are very grateful to the president" for the reception, said Begin. "We do hope the peacemaking process will continue."

Vance, in his remarks, said Israel's security was something Americans feel a deep commitment to, a commitment "on which Israel can depend."

Carter has invited about 1,200 rabbis and other Jewish leaders to join him and Begin at the White House reception.

Just 24 hours earlier, however, Vance and Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan were taking opposing public viewpoints on the proposed sale of U.S. warplanes to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia. The two men appeared on separate television interview shows.

"You would be preparing the Arab countries for the next war against Israel by supplying them with American warplanes," Dayan said.

"These are killing machines, not washing machines. And who are they going to use these killing machines against?"

Vance called the proposed sales "an important part of the search for peace in the Middle East. They're important because they fill the needs, the requirements for each one of these countries."

Carter sent his $4.8 billion arms sales proposal to Congress on Friday, automatically establishing a timetable for a congressional decision.

Congress has until May 28 — 30 days — to express its opposition. If it fails to do so within the time limit, the sale would go through.

Israel would receive 75 F-16s and 15 F-15s under the package, while Saudi Arabia would receive 60 F-15s and Egypt would get 50 less sophisticated F-5s.

Carter stopped referring to the sales as an all-or-nothing package, but Vance confirmed Sunday the whole proposal would be withdrawn if Congress rejects or seriously alters any part of it.

Carter's relations with Egypt also took a turn for the worse Sunday when an Egyptian newspaper quoted the president as saying a peace settlement is possible without an independent Palestinian state and without complete Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Kamel summoned American Ambassador Hermann Eilts to explain Carter's statements.

Eilts admitted that Kamel was disturbed by the report, but an administration source, who asked not to be identified, said in Washington that Carter's comments did not represent a change of position.

Court Supports News Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newspapers cannot be criminally punished for publishing truthful information about secret governmental proceedings, a unanimous Supreme Court ruled today.

The high court struck down a Virginia law making it a crime to report about a state judicial commission's confidential investigations into judges' fitness to hold office.

That law was invoked against Landmark Communications, publisher of the Virginian-Pilot newspaper in Norfolk, after the paper published on Oct. 4, 1975 an accurate report that the state's Judicial Inquiry and Review Commission had studied complaints against a domestic relations court judge.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

— Said it will rule on how much discretion judges have in deciding when to keep reporters and the public out of court proceedings.

— Rejected arguments by a former Army doctor that he was denied the right to a speedy trial because authorities did not charge him with murdering his pregnant wife and two young daughters until five years after their deaths. The justices ordered him to stand trial.

— Turned down a request by 60 House members that it block the Panama Canal treaties from taking effect until it considers an appeal filed by the legislators, who contend the House should have the right to vote on the pacts.

— Let stand a decision by Michigan's highest court that local governments are not authorized to enact anti-obscenity ordinances.

"The article published by Landmark provided accurate factual information about a legislatively authorized inquiry ..."

Jury Selection Opens Spy Trial

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) Jury selection began today in the trial of an American who held a top security clearance and a Vietnamese national, both accused of spying for Communist Vietnam.

The panel of prospective jurors filled the courtroom to capacity, so that members of the public and news media were not admitted.

The defendants, Ronald L. Humphrey, 42, and David Truong, 32, were charged in a seven-count indictment with espionage, conspiracy and failure to register as foreign agents. The counts carry maximum penalties upon conviction ranging from five years to life.

The case involves constitutional questions which likely will wind up in the Supreme Court.

Attorneys have estimated that the jury trial, which begins today, will last about three weeks. U.S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan Jr. has denied a motion by federal prosecutors to sequester the jury, but said he might reconsider if circumstances warrant.

Humphrey and Truong were arrested Jan. 31. They were accused — largely on the basis of extensive electronic surveillance — of channeling sensitive or secret documents obtained by Humphrey at the U.S. Information Agency, where he was employed, through Truong and a woman courier to Vietnamese officials in New York City and Paris.

Humphrey was unable to raise bail of $150,000 and has remained in jail since his arrest. Truong was freed on April 14 on $250,000 bail raised when his sister put up the deed for a house in Los Angeles and other friends and organizations pledged securities and bank certificates.

Tornadoes Slam Into Deep South

A-J News Services
A tornado ripped through Selma, Ala., today, and a church which played a prominent part in the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s civil rights campaign, of the 1960s was heavily damaged.

No injuries were reported. The roof was torn off the First Baptist Church on Martin Luther King Drive, state police said. The church, a few blocks from downtown Selma, was a major assembly point for blacks during King's campaign. Some damage was reported to a nearby housing project and several businesses.

And in Columbus, Ga., power was knocked out when a tornado touched down in the Benning Hills area, the National Weather Service said. Trees and power lines were down throughout much of the city.

In Oklahoma, officials estimated damage at $2 million in Oklahoma County from tornadoes that hit homes—and downed power lines Sunday night. No serious injuries were reported. In the rural Piedmont area, at least 25 homes were destroyed or heavily damaged by a twister, said Clyde Mitchell, director of the Emergency Operations Center.

Tornadoes also were reported at Shattuck, Guthrie, El Reno, Coyle and Agra, and funnel clouds were spotted at Fort Supply and Carney.

Another round of precipitation and turbulent weather is expected in the Southwest tonight and Tuesday, with a 60 percent chance of rainfall tonight on the dry South Plains.

Some severe storms are expected to accompany precipitation this afternoon and tonight in North Central Texas, including the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex.

After a night of turbulent weather and tornadoes in the Panhandle and North Central Texas, Lubbock is given a 60-percent chance tonight and a 40-percent chance Tuesday.

Generous rain is a necessity this month, with sub-soil moisture depleted and farmers needing to plant cotton before the first of June.

Only 21 inch of rain fell here in April, which normally produces 1.80, so May flowers are dependent on May showers this year.

As it has done for the past several weeks, Lubbock got only wind Sunday night as much of the rest of Texas had thunderstorms.

Tornadoes also harassed North Central Texas and the Panhandle, but did only property damage.

Heavy thunderstorms early this morning in Houston and Trinity counties in Northeast Texas caused the National Weather Service to issue a tornado watch there.

Tornadoes hit Sunday near the Panhandle towns of Perryton and Booker.

Deputy Joe Hataway of the sheriff's office at Perryton said one touched the ground several times northeast of town, United Press International reported.

"There was a tank battery that had exploded and moved across the roadway," Hataway said. "And there was a heater treater, which is a part of a tank battery that heats the oil. It exploded and burned. We believe the oil fire will burn itself out."

"We had some damage to farm buildings also," he said. "Some roofs were torn off and utility posts snapped here or there. There'd be two or three ripped down here and then it would move a mile or so down the road and snap some more."

A farm house was destroyed 15 miles southeast of Booker, where eight members of a family escaped injury by moving into a cellar only moments before a tornado lifted their house off its foundation and moved it 15 to 20 yards, the Associated Press reported.

Dan Atwood said he walked outside his home and saw the funnel just in time to get his family and his dog into the cellar.

Lipscomb County Sheriff Basil Duke Jr. said the twister stayed on the ground for 12 to 15 miles and tore up farm equipment, farm buildings and power lines.

Tornadoes also were reported Sunday near Arlington, southwest Dallas, south Fort Worth and Cleburne.

In south Tarrant County, a tornado took the roof off a hangar at Oak Grove Airport.

Grocery Prices Up At City's Markets

By PAULA TILKER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

What $20 would buy at local grocery stores last month will cost about 25 cents more in May, an Avalanche-Journal marketbasket survey shows.

In April, $20.02 would have bought 16 staples singled out by the A-J. Today's total for the same items would be $20.28, about $3 more than for the same period last year and almost $4 more than in May, 1976.

With the exception of six items — eggs, canned green beans, bacon, sugar, frankfurters and chicken — the cost of staples remained constant.

The cost of a dozen medium-sized eggs dropped from 67 cents to 65 cents. It had reached a yearly high in March of 75 cents, which was 20 cents away from the 95-cent mark set early in 1977.

And the cost of a No. 303 can of whole green beans also showed a decline, from 43 cents to 38 cents.

The remainder of the price changes were increases, with a one-pound package of all-beef frankfurters leading the way.

The wieners, which cost $1.67 this month, showed a 14-cent increase from April. The frankfurters have shown one of the largest price increases in the marketbasket survey, rising from a low of 99 cents in May, 1977.

Sugar also has hit its high point for the past 12 months. A five-pound bag of the sweetener this month will cost $1.23, compared to $1.15 in April and $1.07 in May, 1977.

Chicken and bacon continue to rise in price. A pound package of hickory

Moro's Family Receives Terrorists' Ultimatum

RÔME (AP) — Aldo Moro's family has received a new ultimatum setting a deadline of a "few hours" for the ruling Christian Democrat Party to open negotiations with his terrorist kidnapers in order to save his life, a Rome newspaper reported today.

Il Tempo said the ultimatum was delivered Sunday in a telephone call to the former premier's son, Giovanni. The family believes it was an authentic message from the Red Brigades extremists holding Moro, the paper said.

It was this threatening call from an anonymous woman that caused the family to issue a statement Sunday night bitterly attacking party leaders for their refusal to deal with the kidnapers, Il Tempo said.

The statement said the Christian Democrat leadership's "immobility and refusal of all initiatives ratify the death sentence," the Red Brigades said a "people's court" ordered for the 61-year-old Moro, a five-time premier and current party president.

Christian Democrat leaders were to meet later today to discuss the latest developments, but there was no indication Premier Giulio Andreotti and other party chiefs would be swayed by the family's statement. The nation's largest newspaper, Corriere della Sera of Milan, commented:

"On the one hand, there is a man who is desperately trying to save himself. On the other, there are men who must seek the safety of the entire national community."

The family said that if the party leadership "doesn't want to assume the responsibility of declaring itself available to negotiations, it should at least call a meeting of the national council" of the party.

Observers said the family's stand could divide the party and might undermine the alliance of Christian Democrats and Communists which Moro himself worked out to give Andreotti a majority in Parliament. The Communists are strongly opposed to any dealings with the Red Brigades, who are to the left of the Communist Party and attack it for its support of the Christian Democratic government.

The family's statement was issued after seven letters attributed to Moro were received over the weekend.

Billy Carter Dislikes Larry Flynt

AMHERST, Ohio (AP) — If Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt is a born-again Christian, "he's reborn a lot worse than he started out with," says Billy Carter, the president's brother.

"I don't believe anything about Larry Flynt," Carter told a gathering at an auto dealership Saturday. "I've met him and I don't like him. I can't stand him. In fact, I was even accused of having him shot. My statement made to columnist Jack Anderson was 'if I had him shot from 30 feet with a rifle, he wouldn't be paralyzed.'"

CB Group Honors Betty Ford

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Betty Ford, who helped popularize citizens band radios through her use of a CB during the 1976 presidential campaign, has been named "CB Radio's First Mama" by an industry trade association.

"First Mama" was the CB handle, or nickname, the former first lady used in her drive to gather votes for her husband.

Former President Gerald Ford was to accept the award today for his wife, who has been hospitalized in Long Beach, Calif., for treatment for addiction to a pain-killing drug and alcohol.

Burglars Get Musician's Guns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock-musician Steven Still was not at home when burglars took cash and pistols worth about $520 from his house in the Bel-Air Estates.

Police said Sunday four men knocked on the door and persuaded caretaker Melvin Choate to let them in.

Sgt. Bill Achen said the men tied up Choate, then searched for valuables. The weapons taken Friday were a .357-caliber Magnum revolver and a .25-caliber Italian pistol.

War Political, Archbishop Says

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The archbishop of Canterbury, Donald Coggan, says the sectarian war between Roman Catholics and Protestants in Northern Ireland is not a religious battle.

Coggan, head of the Church of England, told a news conference Sunday that despite the religious labels used in Ulster, the dispute is political.

"It is not religious and not worthy of the name religion," he said. "So many of the religious emphases are of days gone by. That is where the mischief lies."

COGGAN — Sectarian strife between the Catholic minority and Protestant majority in British-ruled Northern Ireland erupted in August 1969 and so far has claimed 1,835 lives.

Carter Bypasses Press Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Jody Powell says President Carter wanted to attend the annual White House Correspondents Association dinner because Carter "seldom has an opportunity to dine with an institution held in lower public esteem."

However, Powell, during his tongue-in-cheek speech, said Carter couldn't be there Saturday night because he was "too exhausted." The president spent the weekend at Camp David, Md.

Powell, filling in for his boss, said the president wanted him to express his regrets, but "time does not permit me to say all the things we find regrettable about White House correspondents."

Many of the approximately 1,800 guests, including reporters and publishing executives, failed to see the humor in Powell's lines.

It was the first time in the 64-year history of the dinner that a president, first lady or vice president had failed to show up. The dinner recognizes reporters for outstanding journalistic accomplishments.

Paw Prints

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — If parents buy memory books to record every detail of their offspring's first years, why wouldn't dotting pet owners do the same for their dogs or cats?

Two Toledo authors think they will, and have designed pet memory albums they hope to have on the market by Christmas.

The albums are called "My Dog's First Five Years" and "My Cat's First Five Years" and contain spots for the pet's photographs, family tree and paw prints.

"People treat their dogs and cats like they do their children," said author Marge Conrad, 53. "They'd buy them anything."

The Toledo housewife got the idea for the book when her daughter received a puppy for Christmas in 1975. She said it occurred to her that "they should have a baby book for dogs."

She said she took her idea to Tom Metcalf, a family friend. Metcalf's first reaction was laughter, but later changed to "if pet rocks will sell, so will this."

Beauty's Career Comes First

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — Judi Lois Anderson, the beauty queen from Hawaii who won the 1978 Miss USA title, says she is not going to let her personal life interfere with her career.

"I don't want to get married for awhile until I find out what I want to do and have an interest in someone," said the 20-year-old blonde stewardess Sunday — the day after she was crowned before a national television audience.

"But I don't consider myself liberated." Although she does not have a steady boyfriend, Miss Anderson said she would like to settle down in about five years.

The 5-foot-9, 130-pound Honolulu native was selected from 51 contestants for the right to represent the United States in the Miss Universe pageant July 24 in Acapulco, Mexico.

She also received an $11,000 cash award, a $10,000 personal appearance contract, a new car and a new wardrobe.

For the next year, the new Miss USA will travel around the United States and to 12 foreign countries to appear in various events.

After that, she said, she wants to pursue a career in fashion design or entertainment.

"I'd like to get into television and dancing — that sort of thing," said Miss Anderson, the daughter of a sportswear manufacturer.

She said her other career goal is to be a clothes designer, like her mother, whom she considers the "greatest person in the world."

Before she joined Hawaiian Air several months ago, Miss Anderson attended Bennett College in New York for a year.

to study fashion. She also modeled and worked as a salesgirl and a bit actress in television.

First runner-up in the pageant was Dianne Pollard of Massachusetts, second runner-up was Barbara Horan of Texas, third runner-up was Jayme Buecher of Indiana and fourth runner-up was Marlena Garland of New Mexico.

Man Faces Tax Charges

TIFFIN, Ga. (AP) — E.L. Fowler has refused to pay federal or state taxes ever since the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed racially segregated public schools in 1954. He calls it a "passive protest" against government waste and immorality.

Fowler also refuses to charge state sales tax or to withhold taxes from the paychecks of workers at his tombstone business.

The 68-year-old Fowler now faces up to five years in prison and a fine of up to $50,000 on charges, brought by the Internal Revenue Service, that he failed to file tax returns from 1971 to 1975. The case is scheduled to be heard in Atlanta on June 12.

Fowler, a white-haired father of five, has a litany of complaints about the government, which he charges contributes to the "delinquency" of Georgia's young people.

"My conscience will not allow me to pay for abortions," he said. "My conscience will not allow me to buy these filthy books for our children in the schools we have now, the filthy books that are too filthy to be sent through the mail."

He is especially harsh toward Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano, whom Fowler calls "King Califano," because of HEW's role in school busing for desegregation.

Over the last 10 years, Fowler said he has refused three different IRS agents access to his business' financial records.

"Fowler, who intends to act in his own defense in court, said he will ask the federal judge to disqualify himself since 'ages' salaries are paid by tax money."

"As far as being legally right, I know I'm legally right," he said. "If I didn't know and I hadn't studied it, I wouldn't dare do what I'm doing."

Governor Asks Citizens To Reaffirm Allegiance

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Gov. Meldrim Thomson today asked citizens to reaffirm their allegiance to the law in a Loyalty Day declaration timed to coincide with the first anniversary of the Seabrook nuclear power plant occupation.

Thomson, a staunch nuclear power proponent, urged citizens to "publicly reaffirm allegiance to our flag, country and the laws under which we are governed."

The declaration fell on the anniversary of the May 1, 1977 occupation of the Seabrook plant, at which more than 1,400 persons were arrested.

The Clamshell Alliance, which sponsored the occupation, staged an "anniversary ball" Saturday night which was held only after the state Supreme Court prevented Thomson from canceling it.

The dance went off without a hitch. About 700 persons attended and spent most of the evening chatting with friends and listening to anti-nuclear songs at a national guard armory.

As a follow-up, the Boston Clamshell Alliance sponsored a 50-mile bicycle trip from Boston to Seabrook. However, state police and guards at the plant construction site said the cyclists didn't stay long. They said fewer than 100 cyclists showed up, and were gone in a few minutes, piling aboard a bus which took them home again.

Thomson, a staunch proponent of nuclear power, tried to cancel the agreement calling for rental of the armory because he felt proceeds from the dance would finance a planned Seabrook occupation June 24. The alliance said the money collected would help pay the $100 rental fee and about $450 in other costs.

The dance turned out to be more of a media event than a dance because of Thomson's intervention. Clamshellers posed for photographers (one member wearing an "I Love Mel" shirt) and television crews elbowed each other to get shots of dancing, drinking and general merriment.

State officials are gearing up for June 24 demonstration, at which they expect more than 5,000 demonstrators. Last year, several hundred of the arrested protesters spent up to 12 days in national guard armories before being released.

Betty Ford Returns To Hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Betty Ford returned to the Navy's alcoholism and drug abuse center Sunday evening following "an enjoyable weekend with her family" at the Ford's desert home, a spokesman said.

"She enjoyed her weekend," the spokesman said. "The president, Jack and Susan were all here. The weather was beautiful — sunny, temperatures in the low 80s, although a little windy."

The former first lady left Long Beach Naval Hospital by car Friday morning for a weekend furlough at her Rancho Mirage, Calif., home, about 100 miles away.

Family spokesman Bob Barrett said the 60-year-old Mrs. Ford may be permanently discharged within a week or two.

"We're looking at a week or two weeks, although it's still somewhat speculative. It's just like any other disease. You have to wait."

When Mrs. Ford entered the hospital April 11, she issued a statement saying she had "developed a dependence" on pain killing drugs she takes for arthritis and a pinched nerve. Later, she issued another statement saying she was also being treated for alcoholism.

The former president and son Steve said she volunteered for the treatments because her family was growing worried about her condition.

45 Since David called Him 'Lord,' how can He be merely his son?
46 They had no answer. And after that no one dared ask Him any more questions.

CHAPTER 23

1 Then Jesus said to the crowds, and to His disciples,
2 "You would think these Jewish leaders and these Pharisees were Moses, the way they keep making up so many laws!
3 And of course you should obey their every whim! It may be all right to do what they say, but above anything else, don't follow their example. For they don't do what they tell you to do.
4 They load you with impossible demands that they themselves don't even try to keep.
5 Everything they do is done for show. They act holy by wearing on their arms large prayer boxes with Scripture verses inside, and by lengthening the memorial fringes of their robes.
6 And how they love to sit at the head table at banquets, and in the reserved pews in the synagogue!
7 How they enjoy the deference paid them on the streets, and to be called 'Rabbi' and 'Master'!
8 Don't ever let anyone call you that. For only God is your Rabbi and all of you are on the same level, as brothers.

9 And don't address anyone here on earth as 'Father,' for only God in heaven should be addressed like that.
10 And don't be called 'Master,' for only one is your master, even the Messiah.
11 The more lowly your service to others, the greater you are. To be the greatest, be a servant.
12 But those who think themselves great shall be disappointed and humbled; and those who humble themselves shall be exalted.
13, 14 Woe to you, Pharisees, and you other religious leaders. Hypocrites! For you won't let others enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and won't go in yourselves. And you pretend to be holy, with all your long, public prayers in the streets, while you are evicting widows from their homes. Hypocrites!
15 Yes, woe upon you hypocrites. For you go to all lengths to make one convert, and then turn him into twice the son of hell you are yourselves.
16 Blind guides! Woe upon you! For your rule is that to swear 'By God's Temple' means nothing—you can break that oath, but to swear 'By the gold in the Temple' is binding!
17 Blind fools! Which is greater, the gold, or the Temple that sanctifies the gold?

Groups To Be Asked To Hold Down Fees

ATLANTA (AP) — President Carter's administration will meet soon with professional groups about holding down fees in line with Carter's anti-inflation offensive, the head of the government's inflation-monitoring agency said today.

"We do not intend to limit our efforts to the industrial wage and price arena," Barry P. Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting here of The Associated Press.

"In the very near future we will begin meetings with leading representatives of professional groups — such as physicians, dentists and lawyers — to determine what specific steps they can take to ensure that fee deceleration meets our target."

"And we will be asking that increases in executive compensation be held to 5 percent," he said.

Bosworth said meetings already have been held with industrial and union leaders.

Earlier this month Carter asked business and labor to cooperate in a new effort to slow down inflation. He said he expects industry and labor to keep price, wage and salary increases significantly below the average rate for the last two years.

Bosworth said the underlying inflation rate has been "stuck on a plateau of between 6 and 7 percent."

Bosworth said the 0.8 percent rise in consumer prices for March, which translates into an annual inflation rate of more than 9 percent, reflected higher energy costs resulting from the United Mine Workers settlement, higher meat prices and increases in the minimum wage.

"It seems pretty clear now that unless we can get some improvement we will begin to see an acceleration in the underlying rate of inflation," he said.

Bosworth repeated the administration's opposition to wage and price controls, saying they would not be a permanent solution.

Methodist Hospital Sets Symposium

Methodist Hospital is sponsoring a free health symposium for the public Wednesday and Thursday with presentations on "handling emergency situations" or "what to do until the doctor sees the patient."

Wednesday's session will be 9:30-11:30 a.m., and Thursday's will be 7:30-9:30 p.m.

The two-day symposium will be held in the George M. Brewer Assembly Room on the eighth floor of the hospital's east building.

Program topics will include treatment of minor injuries in the home, handling injuries to bones and joints and life threatening situations.

Football Wound Plagues Rhodes

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This has got to stop," House Republican leader John Rhodes says in explaining why he's finally going through with an operation on his shoulder.

Forty-eight years ago, the Arizona Republican dislocated his shoulder in a high school football game. It hasn't been right since, but the final straw came in January when the shoulder was dislocated twice the same day. The 62-year-old congressman will enter a hospital here Thursday and expects to be out by next Monday.

World's Workers Hold May Day Celebrations

By The Associated Press
From Moscow's traditional Red Square parade to an unprecedented show of strength in post-Franco Madrid, millions of workers around the world today celebrated May Day, the international labor holiday.

Violence flared in Spain's turbulent north, where riot police firing rubber bullets and smoke grenades scattered a large group of Basque separatist youths after they stoned a Spanish flag during a demonstration by 35,000 people in Pamplona.

In Istanbul, Turkish authorities took strict security precautions in Taksim Square to prevent a repetition of disorders last May Day that claimed 34 lives. An estimated 100,000 persons turned out for today's rally in the central plaza.

Although leftist unions for years have marked the day in Britain, today was the first government-recognized May Day holiday. Ordinary Britons enjoyed an extra three-day weekend.

The Red Square celebration, featuring floats and flowers, balloons and martial music, placed an unusually heavy emphasis on praise for Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

More than 100,000 tightly organized marchers poured through the sunny square for two hours carrying Brezhnev posters, Brezhnev quotations and praise for Brezhnev's new book of wartime reminiscences. Images and references to the Soviet president overshadowed the usual portraits of Marx, Engels and Lenin.

As he does every year, Brezhnev arrived at the stroke of 10 a.m. at the mausoleum of Vladimir Lenin, founder of the Soviet Union, where the Politburo had its reviewing stand.

He was greeted by more than a minute of cheering from thousands of marchers ready to begin the parade.

In Spain, Communists and Socialists led hundreds of thousands of workers through the rain in a march through central Madrid, the biggest May Day event in Spanish history. They sang the leftist "Internationale" and chanted "If this is not the public, where is it?"

The leftist parties were banned during Gen. Francisco Franco's 36-year dictatorship. Since his death in 1975, the Madrid government has legalized most parties.

Organizers of the peaceful demonstration claimed more than one million took part. The Interior Ministry estimated the crowd at 800,000.

Celebrations in city piazzas throughout Italy centered on an anti-terrorism theme. The powerful Communist Party has been among the most adamant in calling for a tough stance against dealing with the terrorist kidnapers of former Premier Aldo Moro.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from Peking that this May Day for the first time in many years the Communist government allowed city residents to enter Peking parks without special passes.

Tanjung said the parks were decorated as usual for the holiday but, apparently for reasons of economy, there were none of the usual fireworks.

About 4.5 million people massed at more than 1,000 rallies throughout Japan, demanding government action to overcome a lingering recession and fight unemployment.

In Thailand, two major labor organizations pulled out of the day's celebrations at the last minute because the events had been organized by the military government. Only about 400 of a predicted 10,000 people took part in a Bangkok celebration addressed by Prime Minister Kriangsak Chomanan.

Labor dissatisfaction with the Thai government has been growing in recent months. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos took the occasion to order a pruning of a list of "vital" industries in which strikes are prohibited under his martial-law government.

Women Protest News Coverage

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — About 50 women barricaded themselves inside the offices of the student newspaper at the University of Massachusetts Amherst campus today, demanding improved coverage of women's issues.

The group will block access to the offices until its demands are met, according to spokeswoman Julie Melrose, women's news editor of the Massachusetts Daily Collegian.

She said the women wanted guaranteed space for stories on women's issues, editorial control of such stories and the choice of future women's news editors.

given to women's department staff members.

The takeover began Sunday afternoon, when the women entered the offices.

Campus Policeman Struck By Auto

ARLINGTON (AP) — A 28-year-old University of Texas at Arlington campus police officer was seriously injured Sunday by a car that knocked him 12 feet into the air.

Roland Selvidge was taken to a hospital with head injuries.

He had stopped a car for a traffic violation, and another car with three occupants drove up as he was questioning the driver of the first car.

When they began taunting the two youths in the first car, the occupants of the second car were ordered to leave. As they started to drive off, the car lurched into reverse, hitting Selvidge.

Jamey Dean Resgan, 17, of Arlington, driver of the second car, was arrested and charged with aggravated assault on a police officer. He was in Tarrant County jail Sunday on $7,500 bond.

No new taxes. What does it mean to you?

Dolph Briscoe understands that the surest way for a government to strangle its economy is to overburden its taxpayers. In contrast, his most active opponent in this year's Democratic Primary does not. That opponent — by nature and by his own admission — is an activist intent on becoming an activist governor. That means only one thing. It means government regulating our lives with bureaucratic red tape. And it means a governor whose reckless spending promises, if kept, would result in the imposition of a State income tax on you in 1979.

Governor Briscoe has pursued — and throughout his tenure as Governor will continue to pursue — a firm policy of no new taxes. This policy has served the people of Texas well. It has produced the strongest economy in the United States today. And in the process it has enabled the extension of more and better state services to our citizens than ever before in our history — without new or additional taxes.

When Dolph Briscoe became Governor, he set a course of making state government better without new taxes.

In 1972, the experts — as well as Dolph Briscoe's opponents in this year's Governor's race — said it couldn't be done.

Dolph Briscoe proved that it could. He proved that saying "no" to new taxes is saying "yes" to economic prosperity.

Since Governor Briscoe has been in office:

- 1,200 new industries, representing an annual economic impact of more than $11 billion, have moved to Texas.
- More than 850,000 new jobs have been created.
- Texas has been universally acclaimed as having the best political climate in the world for economic investment and growth.

To keep Texas on this course of prosperity without a State income tax, let's keep the candidate with a proven record. Let's keep Dolph Briscoe as our Governor.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

'Steady As She Goes?'

THE LATEST nationwide polls reflecting President Carter's overall job rating at its lowest point yet raise some interesting questions.

One has to do with the lack of confidence in the President by the American people and the effect this might have in Mr. Carter's dealings with Congress and leaders abroad.

The other is whether the continued slump in his ratings will cause the President to do something drastic to change the surveys, rather than something constructive on a long-range basis.

OF THE TWO, the first is of more immediate concern. It is significant that the latest poll, taken by the Louis Harris organization, came immediately after the Senate ratification of the Panama Canal treaties, which Mr. Carter pushed and said would represent a major victory for the administration.

If the survey results are any indication, the victory is a somewhat hollow one.

According to the survey on Mr. Carter's job rating, a 44 to 37 percent margin of the people did not think the treaties were "a good thing" for the nation. And by a 56 to 33 margin, a majority also gives the President negative marks on the way he handled the treaty matter.

ON HIS HANDLING of the economy, the President has plummeted to a 72 to 22 negative rating, the lowest he has chalked up on this crucial bread and butter issue.

On foreign policy, his rating is now 63 to 29 percent negative, sharply down from a 48 to 43 percent negative mark in January.

In other words, the nationwide polls are saying what a lot of knowledgeable observers have been pointing out, that the administration in the eyes of the public isn't getting the job done.

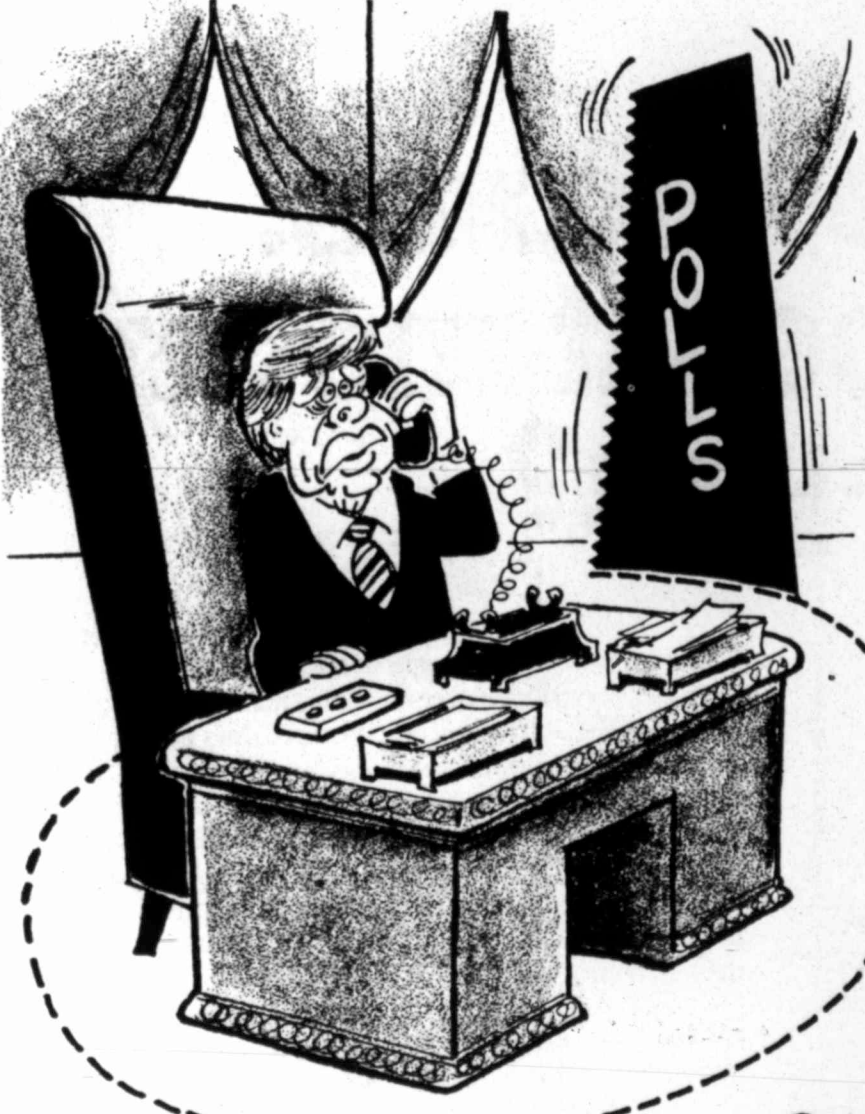

WHAT THE White House reaction will be to all this remains to be seen. Hopefully, changes will be made.

A more sensible energy package should be forthcoming. The Social Security structure should be given a new look. U.S. foreign policy and its "double standard" human rights application needs a shaking up, as does U.S. Ambassador to the UN Andy Young.

As for the economy, the President has his hardest row to hoe. It won't be easy to jaw-bone both labor and industry into holding wages and prices in line.

If he fails here, the President might well resort to federal controls. Hopefully, in attempting to correct all the ills, Mr. Carter will not swing the pendulum too far in the opposite direction. There is something to be said for a "steady as she goes" course.

'Hello, Oval Office'

James J. Kilpatrick:

'No-Fault' Has Its Faults

WASHINGTON—Back in the days when they taught "civics" in the public schools, children learned about federalism. You seldom hear the word anymore, but the wise principle of federalism lies at the very heart of the continuing controversy over "no-fault" auto insurance.

Maybe we ought to take a fresh look at old lessons. Under existing law, the states individually regulate automobile insurance. Under the proposed law, a single national statute would be imposed upon all states alike.

The new law would be based upon a principle that has been talked about for at least ten years, the principle of "no-fault."

Somewhat oversimplified, this means that if some drunk smashes into your car, and you suffer a broken leg, you don't recover from the drunk or from his insurance carrier; you recover from your own insurance carrier.

A SPECIAL AUTO insurance committee of the American Bar Association has just published a study of the no-fault issue. The study reflects the view of the trial lawyers, who understandably oppose the no-fault concept; if they ever were deprived of personal injury accident suits, many of the trial lawyers would be out of business.

But the study is not more biased against no-fault than other studies are biased in its favor, and the committee makes some valid points.

The experiments began in Massachusetts in 1971. In the following year, five other states—Delaware, Florida, Oregon, South Dakota and Virginia—adopted their own versions of a no-fault law.

SINCE THEN, 18 additional states, through their own legislatures, have begun to test the concept. Several of the adopting states, such as Florida, have amended their original enactments to deal with unforeseen problems as they arose.

This is precisely how federalism is supposed to operate. A body of experience is being developed in the real world of highways, courts and insurance agencies.

Seven years after no-fault came to Massachusetts, it is beginning to be possible to form some conclusions on whether the idea is good or bad.

IF THE EVIDENCE were overwhelmingly in favor of no-fault, the most dogged States-Rights might yield his ground. After all, Americans live on the wheels of 140 million registered vehicles; this traffic surely constitutes commerce among the several states; some uniformity might be useful.

If the evidence proved that no-fault reduces court congestion, reduces insurance premiums, and speeds up the settlement process, perhaps a moral objection to the whole idea of no-fault could be suppressed.

But no such evidence exists. After seven years, on the contrary, the record strongly suggests that no-fault simply is not all that it has been talked up to be.

ONE MAN'S OPINION
 Kenneth May
 'The Enemy Is Us'

THIS IS MONDAY, May 1. May Day. Five days before the primary elections, May Day, May Day.

Most of the candidates and their campaign promises are like cowboys and their ropes. They throw a wide loophole.

As he understands it, says My Neighbor Twice Removed, The Gov't doesn't know what Bert Lance has done wrong but it wants him to stop whatever it is—and Lance says he ain't done nothing wrong but, whatever it is, he won't do it any more.

My Sweet Wife says she's aghast at paying $1 for a head of lettuce—until she remembers that the dollar is practically worthless nowadays.

The Pentagon is talking about closing dozens more military bases in an economy move. One possible use for the abandoned bases is to turn them into retirement villages for military personnel who retire on pensions-for-life at age 40.

THE SLOW WHEELS of justice ground to their inevitable result Friday, when the Texas 7th Court of Civil Appeals upheld the validity of a $26.4 million Lubbock municipal bond issue.

As Mayor Dirk West said, "there never has been any question" but that the law would be interpreted in favor of the City.

However, the man who brought the suit was entitled to his opinion and to his day in court.

The delay has been frustrating because some of the capital improvements the bonds would finance are long overdue, but if the appellate court's opinion settles the law of the matter once and for all, the wait will have been worthwhile. "Getting it settled" was a valid reason for the City Council to wait on the court's ruling rather than enter into a negotiated settlement with plaintiff Jimmy Marshall.

This way, both the City and Marshall can be certain of the law on the points he raised and there should be no question about handling future city bond issues in a legally proper manner.

Accusing opponents of pulling up his yard signs, Congressional candidate Morris Sheats said a campaign "should be run on issues."

The Office Cutie says she's never heard a yard sign discuss issues.

THE ONLY PEOPLE who can get us out of the mess we're in, says J. Fred Bucy, are the people who are responsible for getting us into it.

"Our trouble is that too few of us realize that 'they' means 'we.'" Bucy told the 60th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here Friday.

Repeating a theme he has played for other business groups in recent talks, the Texas Instruments president said business has brought Big Government woes onto itself.

Hiring quotas, minimum wage controls, the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, OSHA, EPA and other agencies and bureaucratic rules have come about because "a small number" of employers failed in their responsibilities.

THUS, AMERICAN business is being used by government to enforce its social engineering plans, Bucy said. The way to escape being used is to become active in politics and responsive to the public, he added.

The concern of business for individuals will be returned as concern of individuals for business, the TI chief asserted.

Bucy's seven "basic issues" by which to judge candidates for public office in Texas are worth repeating:

1. Fiscal responsibility. Is the candidate for a budget that not only is balanced but "small enough not to crush" us?
 2. Right-to-work. Texas products are competitively priced, job opportunities are expanding and new industries are attracted because it has a right-to-work law.
 3. Preserving the incentive to work. Some welfare recipients actually would suffer a loss of income if they went to work; the programs need to be restructured.
 4. LABOR POLICY. Migrant laborers should face open borders but go home after completing their work, not get citizenship. The minimum wage law needs amending so that youths and others could get jobs.
 5. Crime control. We'll clean up our cities by cracking down on our criminals.
 6. Direction of Texas' future growth. As oil plays out, Texas must shift from being a supplier of raw materials to a supplier of high technology.
 7. "Most pressing of all": Continue working toward removal of controls on gas.
- These are good points to remember.

Young Ideas For An Old World

WASHINGTON—Socializing isn't my bag, but sometimes I get out among folks, and do you know what I learn? I learn that the world doesn't stand still, and that it may not be going to the dogs, although I clearly hear them barking.

There was this buffet supper in a narrow apartment, and you would hardly think that an idea could creep in edgewise. I mean we had a shipping tycoon there who had sent his chef to prepare a seafood dish so delicate that the flavors were merged into ambrosia.

I knew all the tycoon's ideas because his ships could not do commerce in the Mediterranean unless there was an arms-balance between Turkey and Greece, and only the U.S. was capable of bringing this about.

IT MEANT THAT Congressmen with Greek restaurateurs had to find a compromise with the President whose state and defense departments, not to mention the industrial-military complex, are pulling the poor man this way and that.

There were two powerful foreign correspondents, whose books were influential if not best-sellers, and these authors easily justified their desire for action.

They said that the American inertia in the Mideast, in Africa and Asia too much favored the Red revolution which, unless blocked, would soon engulf us.

Yet I heard nobody cry "To Arms," not even to my modest proposal that there never was a better time for the U.S. to finish what the Kennedys muffed, and give Cuba back to the Monroe Doctrine and the Western Hemisphere.

BUT I FOUND MYSELF on the sofa, a plate on my lap, and beside me a soft-spoken, rosy-complexioned lady of middle years. I asked her her nationality, by way of conversation, and she said she was South African, by which I judged either English or Dutch descent.

"No," she said, "I'm colored."

Since she was married to an American, she was not a lady-without-country, but by South African terms she was raceless, not black, not white.

As we talked, it developed that she strongly opposed the South African policy of different race, different states, the chance for separate peoples to develop skills and civilizations of their own.

For my part, I do not believe in "majority rule," per se, for this has probably led to tyranny or genocide. I said I knew of no better way than our own Constitution—republican or representative in form.

But this lady had lived where the rule was power. The overt army and the secret police were the government. To own and control that power was the only freedom and dignity she could envision for herself and peoples.

Then, I lunched more recently with an American of the new generation, the product of three great universities.

He sees how the deadly armament on both sides cannot lead to a shoot-out, but only to a détente (by whatever name) which will allow the advanced technology of both superpowers to make life for the common man more worthwhile.

Sylvia Porter:
 Try To Beat Inflation Before It Beats You

EVEN THOUGH THE pace of our cost-of-living is accelerating to a destructive 7 per cent in 1978, you can beat it! You can do better than that, in fact, just by scrupulously obeying basic money-saving guides in major spheres of your everyday life.

Do not fool yourself into thinking that your country can go on indefinitely piling a yearly inflation rate of 6 to 7 per cent on top of a previous yearly rate of 6 to 7 per cent on top of...etc.

For at 7 per cent, the marketbasket of goods and services that costs you $1 in April 1978 would cost you $1.97 in 1988, almost double in only 10 years!

Putting it another way, the $1 that is worth 100 cents in your local stores in April '78 would be slashed to 51 cents in 1988, and to a puny 26 cents in 1998.

YOU CANNOT PLAN ahead with confidence for anything with your cost of living surging relentlessly upward at this rate—not for the education of your children, support of your elderly parents, or independence in your older years.

The very structure of our economy would be undermined, our society as you have known it would crumble.

Whether President Carter's recently ballyhoed anti-inflation proposals will help curb the dangerous trend cannot yet be foretold. Much depends on the cloud, but behind the words, the extent of voluntary cooperation by big business, big labor, you and me.

And the U.S. is caught in a near-intolerable dilemma, as a result of the shilly-shallying of policymakers for so long a time.

If we now adopt a too-tough anti-inflation stand, we will invite another business recession in the near future; if we adopt a too-soft stand, we invite a continuing wage-price spiral that would feed inflation and a self-fulfilling inflation psychology which would eventually lead us into a much worse business crash.

Here, for illustration, are a few fundamental guides in the areas where you spend the most.

* FOOD. Shop the weekly specials, buying as early in the day as possible, and cut your meat bills alone as much as one-third. Substitute foods on which prices are spurring, whenever you can, buy other similar foods on which prices are holding the line.

Switch to less expensive foods in the same category when fancy-label versions become too costly. Eliminate foods that are of no real value and even of harm to you.

Follow the seasons, buying fruits and vegetables when they come to market in abundance. Try no-frills foods which are just as nutritious as the most expensive versions.

* TRANSPORTATION. Of course, try to join a car pool or use public transportation to cut travel expenses. When buying a new car, don't overload with optional equipment which however alluring can double the car's cost to you. When financing a car, get all the facts on financing through your auto dealer, then compare terms offered at a local bank or credit union; these terms are almost always more favorable to you.

It's also all but certain that you'll get the same auto insurance coverage at lower cost from your regular insurance agent than from an auto dealer.

* HOUSING. Rent if you think you'll be in your area for only a year or so. But buy when you are relatively sure you'll remain in the region. Over a span as short as 10 years, buying always will be cheaper than renting.

Shop for the most favorable mortgage terms to you at all types of financial institutions, for terms can vary widely. On home improvements, use today's "miracle" materials and gadgets to do many money-saving jobs yourself and save as much as 50 per cent or more on the cost of un-complicated home improvements.

Never agree to any loan terms offered by your home improvement contractor (already thoroughly investigated by you) without checking the (nearly always better) terms offered by other local financial institutions.

CLOTHING. CUT YOUR clothing budget by 30-50 per cent, and even more by buying clothes off season, stocking up on certain basic items when on sale, buying standard sizes, steering away from frills.

The above is just a sampling. None of these moves demands sacrifice on your part. Only learning the rules and disciplines.

By SERGE SCHEMANN
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's acceptance of the Western settlement plan for South-West Africa has set the scene for a head-on diplomatic clash between the Soviets and the West over Africa.

Foreign Secretary Donald Jamieson of Canada, speaking for all five Western authors of the South-West African settlement plan, has made clear that the Western blueprint for a democratic transition to an independent Namibia, as the territory also is known, was on a "take-it-or-leave-it" basis. South-West Africa is administered by South Africa and a settlement could mean independence by Dec. 31.

"We are not speaking of concessions one way or another," Jamieson declared at the United Nations in New York, where South-West Africa is currently the subject of debate in a special General Assembly session.

The speculation here is that the militant South-West Africa People's Organization, called SWAPO, will impose conditions on the plan, prompting the organization's Soviet backers to veto it when it comes before the U.N. Security Council. In a statement at the United Nations recently, Soviet Ambassador Oleg A. Troyanovsky declared: "We support the transfer of all power in Namibia to the political forces headed by SWAPO."

A Soviet veto would be in effect a gauntlet cast by the Russians before the United States, Britain, Canada, France and West Germany, since by officially sponsoring the plan and by winning South Africa's acceptance the five have taken direct responsibility for its success or failure.

Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa stressed this point in his letter of acceptance when he said: "Bearing in mind... the assurance by the five Western powers on the Security Council that their proposals are now in a final and definitive form, and that the five are giving them their unreserved backing, the South African government accepts these proposals."

Should the Soviets reject the plan, the Western five would appear to be bound to recognize a South Africa-backed "internal settlement" in the territory, whose population is made up of 722,000 blacks and 99,000 whites.

How the Russians, South Africans and Western powers resolve the issue could in turn determine how they tackle Rhodesia, a far more complex problem since an internal settlement already exists there, a guerrilla war is in full force and South Africa has only a limited ability to direct the course of events.

In Rhodesia, the British and Americans have limited themselves to a set of negotiable proposals and to promoting, again and again, a meeting of "all parties concerned" — Prime Minister Ian Smith, black moderates Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole and Sen. Jeremiah Chirau, and guerrilla leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe.

Success in Namibia, however, could embolden the British and Americans to assume a tougher stance and to promote their own Rhodesian plan with greater force.

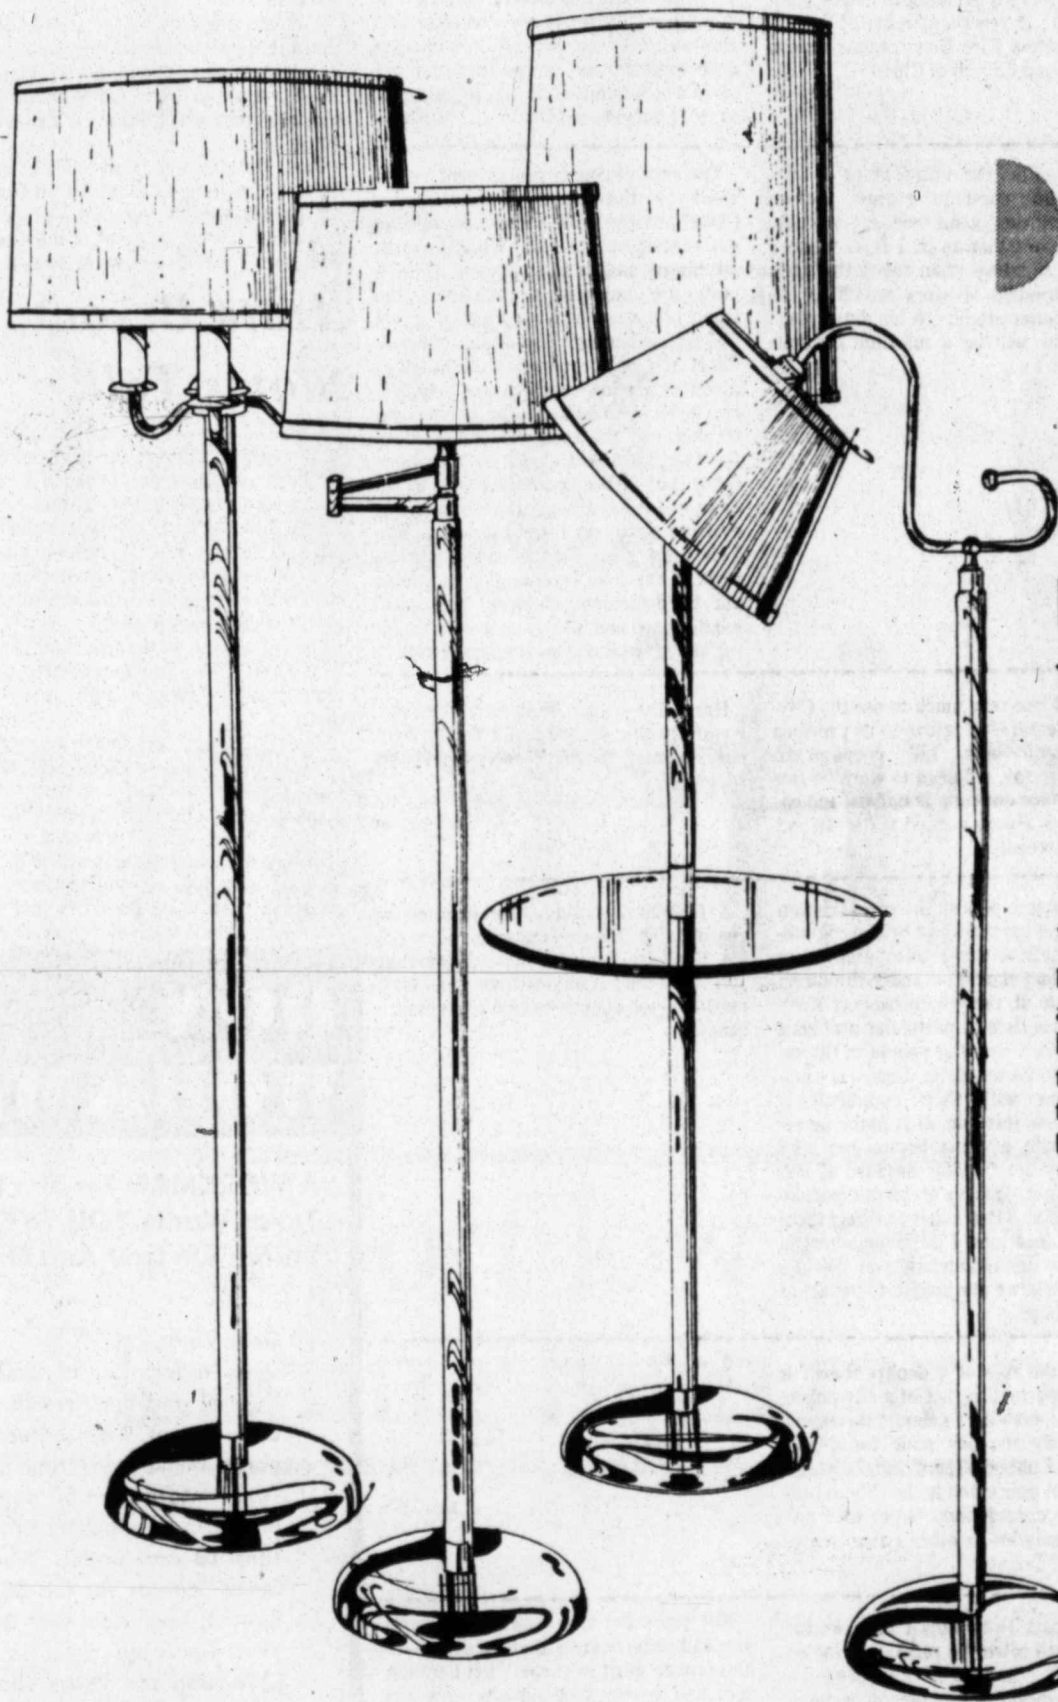

The West's role in Namibia was enthusiastically welcomed by both liberals and conservatives in South Africa, where the United States has been seen in recent years as helpless in the face of a Soviet and Cuban presence on the continent.

Among the most cherished concepts on this continent of tribal and ideological divided nations is "territorial integrity," and that is what the Russians and Cubans defended in Angola, Mozambique and Ethiopia. At the same time the Soviets consistently backed black African attacks in international forums against the "racist regimes" of southern Africa, while the West appeared to support South Africa with trade and Security Council vetoes of economic sanctions.

Smoking Gardeners Risk Spreading Plant Virus

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gardeners who smoke risk stunting the growth of their plants and causing the leaves to pucker, researchers at Mississippi State University warn.

Pathologists at the university said gardeners who smoke cigarettes and cigars can spread a plant virus when handling plants.

Dr. William Moore of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service in Starkville said tobacco mosaic virus is easily transmitted on contact from the gardener who smokes.

"The tobacco mosaic virus is usually found in about 60 percent of cigarettes and the home gardener that smokes can easily pick up the virus and transmit it to plants," Moore said in a telephone interview.

Moore said the virus, although not harmful to humans, often is not taken out of the tobacco before being rolled into cigarettes and cigars.

He said scientists have known about the damage smokers can do to plants for some time, but many gardeners were unaware they could be damaging their work by smoking. He said some large-scale plant producers have had serious problems with the virus.

"The greenhouse producers are very much aware that a person who has been smoking can cause serious damage to plants just by brushing them," Moore said.

Moore said tomatoes and peppers are among the plants susceptible to the virus.

Dr. W.W. Hare, a pathologist with the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at Mississippi State, said, however, there are a number of ways to prevent smokers from transmitting the virus — including the smoker dipping his hands in milk.

"We found that the proteins in the milk would inactivate the virus," he said.

Candidates Discuss County Issues

This is the third in a series of interviews with candidates whose names will appear on Lubbock County ballots in the May 6 primary elections. Views of the two persons seeking the position of County Commissioner, Precinct 2, are presented today. The names of the candidates, both of whom are Democrats, are presented in the order in which they will appear on the ballot.

BIGGS

Coy E. Biggs, 45, is a former longtime machine shop owner and assistant manager of Slaton Gins who was appointed Precinct 2 county commissioner 14 months ago after the death of Commissioner Max Arrants. He was educated at Slaton High School and Draughton's Business College. He and his wife Johnette have two daughters, Tyra Ann and Rhonda Kay. They live in Slaton.

ENGER

Paul Enger, 51, is a longtime Lubbock grocer and service station owner who was runner-up in a multi-candidate race for sheriff in 1972 and among 10 persons who applied for the vacancy created by the death of Place 2 County Commissioner Max Arrants in 1976. He and his wife Elwanda live at 913 44th St. in Lubbock. They have a son, Paul Jr. Enger has a high school education.

What qualifications do you possess that you consider pertinent to the office of county commissioner?

For 23 years owner and operator of Biggs & Son Machine Shop in Slaton; 2 years assistant manager of Slaton Coop Gins; 14 months as Lubbock county commissioner; 15 years a member of the Slaton Volunteer Fire Department; deacon in the Slaton Church of Christ.

There is no one in the area who has come in contact with more people in every walk of life. My association with the wholesale dairy and bakery business and more than 27 years in my own retail grocery business, plus serving on numerous civic, fraternal and service organizations, all of which required decisions pertaining to strict budget controls.

How do you perceive the role of a county commissioner?

As the cities and urban areas of Lubbock County continue to grow, the demands on the commissioners will become greater than ever. I foresee more frequent meetings than the second and fourth Mondays of every month. If the commissioner attends to his duties thoroughly, he will be a full-time commissioner.

The units of county government, supervised by the County Commissioners Court, are the most important units of government in the U.S. With their tax levying and tax spending powers, as these units are properly administered, the whole of government will be good or bad—weak or strong. The Commissioners Court may be compared to the board of directors of a huge corporation, responsible to its stockholders—the people and taxpayers of the county. Not only does the Commissioners Court do the above today, but is the connecting link to receive and expend large sums of tax money from state and federal governments. This court gives one an opportunity to work in the field of education of youth, aid to dependent children, the aged, handicapped and needy—as well as building and maintaining good county roads.

In what specific areas do you feel that city-county cooperation is most important?

I would like very much to see the City-County Health Unit return to its previous arrangement with full cooperation. Needless to say, we need to work on fire protection for our rural residents, and cooperation is always needed at the jail and in law enforcement.

Rural fire calls; combined city and county health departments; Health Sciences Center Hospital; adequate water supply.

How do you feel about consolidating precincts for road maintenance purposes as opposed to a four-precinct system?

I will have to oppose the consolidation of precincts for road and bridge maintenance. I believe that road operations in each precinct should be under the direct supervision of the commissioner. Each precinct has its own particular problems and situations, and the people in the rural areas have an easier means of communications with their commissioner and his crew foreman. It is much better to have men working in an area with which they are familiar because of hidden pipelines, erosion problems, personalities, and also it is easier to direct them to special locations. I do favor a central repair shop for maintenance of sheriff's cars and jobs we are unable to handle at precinct shops.

At this time I would not feel justified in consolidating the precincts for this service. However, I am for the utilization of all county road equipment wherever it is needed in the county, in case of an emergency.

Should deputy sheriffs continue to be paid less than city policemen?

I think the role of a deputy sheriff is just as important as that of a city policeman, and their salaries should be comparable. While the pay scale for deputy sheriffs in Lubbock County might be less than that of policemen in the City of Lubbock, it is considerably larger than policemen's salaries in other cities located in Lubbock County.

No.

What would be your approach to providing rural fire protection in Lubbock County?

In the past 15 months I have worked very hard to solve the rural fire problem in Lubbock County. I have succeeded in the organization of a new department at the Roosevelt-Acuff community, and would like to see one and maybe two more volunteer units established in the near future. The volunteer units have done Lubbock County a great service in agreeing to protect our rural taxpayers. I would also continue an effort to solve the difference with the City of Lubbock.

For years the city answered all rural fire calls effectively and efficiently. With the proper spirit of cooperation between city and county governments, this can still be accomplished.

Is there any issue not covered by the above questions on which you would like to comment?

Lubbock County is financially stable, and we need to see that it stays that way without increasing taxes.

Yes. Autopsies should be performed locally. I prefer a full-time medical examiner.

GOP Leaders Draft Policies

EASTON, Md. (UPI) — Some 40 leading Republicans concluded a two-day conference with a rebuke to President Carter's foreign policy and a list of alternative domestic programs.

The conference included Republicans from Congress, legislatures, governorships and other posts across the country. They gathered at this small resort on Maryland's eastern shore to flay the Democratic administration and spotlight GOP policy positions.

On Saturday, the group took stands in favor of equal opportunities but no quotas; giving states more control over federal revenue sharing funds; lowering tax rates, and stimulating economic growth through tax incentives.

On Sunday, the final policy statement, drafted by Sen. William Roth of Delaware, concluded:

"In the vital search for peace, any agreement on arms limitations must fully protect the security of the United States and our allies.

"The interest of world peace will be best served by maintaining a balance of power involving conventional and strategic forces. The current Democratic policy of unilateral U.S. disarmament in the face of mounting Soviet military aggression is a serious mistake."

Rep. William Frenzel, R-Minn., said Carter's mistakes have caused a deterioration in the U.S. position in the world, and Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., criticized Carter for "consistently underestimating, misjudging and ignoring" the capabilities of U.S. adversaries.

"We cannot allow the Soviet Union to behave like a rogue elephant in other countries while working on an agreement with us," Anderson said.

Indiana Attorney General Theodore Sernak said the administration has junked all rational aspects of America's foreign policy in favor of U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young's "nosy neighbor policy."

GOP Chairman Bill Brock of Tennessee, see, said the Democrats are "just plain wrong, dangerously so," on foreign policy.

The GOP conference, a brainchild of Sen. Robert Packwood of Oregon, also adopted policy statements:

—Chastising Carter and Congress for failing to enact a national energy program.

—Supporting bipartisan state election commissions to supervise redistricting based on the 1980 census.

"The real key is what we do after it's over," Packwood said in summing up the weekend. "If day after day we draft legislation and amendments that embody these policy statements, then this conference will be a success."

ABC NEGOTIATING American Broadcasting companies, Inc., has announced that it is negotiating with Plitt Theatres, Inc., for the sale to Plitt of all of ABC's motion picture theatre operations.

Senate Debate Expected On Energy Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate consideration of an Energy Department nomination could become a full-scale debate on what some consider a "revolving door" relationship between government agencies and the industries they regulate.

The nominee is Lynn Coleman, a Texas lawyer with long experience in oil and gas cases, named by President Carter to be general counsel or the top lawyer of the new department.

The Senate Energy Committee approved the nomination by a 12-6 vote Feb. 9, and the full Senate was expected to call it up for debate this week.

Both sides say they consider Coleman eminently qualified for the job. He is a partner in the Houston law firm of Vinson and Elkins and has often represented well-known energy firms.

But the opposition contends he cannot be a good, impartial energy industry regulator in light of his past commitment to the companies regulated.

During confirmation hearings, Coleman assured the Energy Committee he could step aside for any legal matter affecting clients of his law firm.

But Sen. John Durkin, D-N.H., told UPI that, considering the companies Coleman has represented, "he would have to excuse himself from so many cases. His job would turn out to be an honorary post."

A memo prepared by the staff of Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said Coleman "will have to maintain a scoreboard to keep track of the voluminous number of cases from which he must disqualify himself."

One Metzenbaum staff memo said Coleman, working as a lobbyist for Houston Natural Gas Co., drafted a proposal that ultimately became part of the House energy bill, giving certain gas pipelines

"a dumping ground for their surplus gas ... at exorbitant prices."

But Coleman's nomination is considered likely to be approved, with votes from senators who support him outright combined with some who feel Carter has the right to name his own choices to appointments under his jurisdiction.

For example, Sens. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, said jointly they approved the nomination in committee even though they had reservations about the Energy Department "having, for its chief lawyer, one who has been so closely associated with energy industry interests."

Metzenbaum, Durkin and Sens. James Abourezk, D-S.D., and Wendell Anderson, D-Minn., however, pressed Senate colleagues to vote against Coleman's confirmation.

"President Carter," said Durkin, "promised he was going to end the revolving door that existed for too long between regulated industry and the regulators — having the special interests regulate the special interests."

Durkin recalled that Carter once called the energy crisis "the moral equivalent of war," and said, "During the moral equivalent of war, you do not hire somebody from the enemy camp."

DON WORKMAN • STATE SENATE

A WORKMAN For The People Of West Texas Wants YOU To Know ... Where He Stands On Law And Order.

Dear Voter:

As a member of both the Texas Youth Council and the Juvenile Justice Board, and as a parent, I am naturally concerned with youth crime and crime in general in West Texas. More than 50 percent of crimes committed in this country are committed by persons 18 and under. When elected as your State Senator for the 28th State Senatorial District, I will deal with the crime problem in West Texas by:

- ☑ Moving the Texas Youth Council toward a regional detention center concept, separating children in need of supervision and truants from serious and habitual offenders and serving as an alternative to jail while juveniles are awaiting trial;
- ☑ Urging a change of Title III of the Texas Family Code which deals with juvenile delinquents, allowing a sentence of an habitual or serious offender to extend past his juvenile age limit of 18;
- ☑ Introducing a bill which, first of all, enables a jury, upon request, to have an offender transferred from Texas Youth Council facilities to the Department of Correction when reaching adult age; and secondly, provides that a serious or habitual offender would have a permanent police record after age 18;
- ☑ Working toward a plan that denies bond to any person who has been convicted of a major crime and is a chief suspect in a similar crime and also deny bond to someone who is already under bond for a serious offense and is a chief suspect of another similar crime.

It's time the benefit of the doubt goes to society, the victims, and not to the offender. As your State Senator I will work to abolish slow tedious trials and light sentences and bring swift and powerful justice back to the state.

Sincerely,

Don

New National Smoker Study:

Merit Taste Matches High Tar Competition!

High tar smokers report low tar MERIT delivers flavor of leading high tar brands.

Can low tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco measure up to the flavor delivery of high tar cigarettes?

Read the research results of a new national smoker study conducted with high tar smokers—smokers like yourself—who taste-tested MERIT against leading high tar brands.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

Money Group Endorses Economic Growth Plan

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A coordinated approach to world economic growth, with West Germany and Japan taking the lead and the United States taking a breather, has been endorsed at a high-level meeting of the International Monetary Fund in Mexico City.

The chairman of the meeting of the IMF's interim committee, Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey of Britain, said the coordinated approach is needed to make further progress in reducing unemployment around the world and to prevent the economies of many nations from slipping into a dangerous downward spiral.

"We all agreed the present outlook is not a satisfactory one. It is really very desirable this effort be made," Healey told a news conference at the close of the meeting of finance ministers Sunday.

The ministers also agreed to a U.S. proposal for tighter supervision of currency exchange operations. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal's delegation argued that tighter supervision could prevent the kind of financial imbalances that led to the plunge in the value of the dollar during the past year.

The managing director of the IMF, H. Johannes Witteveen, said details of the proposal will be worked out in coming weeks.

"Surveillance will be much tighter and I hope more effective," he said.

Healey said the surveillance of exchange rates will focus as much on countries whose currencies have been overvalued as on those whose money has been undervalued. He said this was the chief aim of the U.S. proposal.

Blumenthal told reporters the United States agrees that more economic stimulus is needed throughout the world to reduce unemployment and increase unsatisfactory economic growth rates.

"The general feeling is that if these problems are not brought under control, pressures for protectionism will intensify," he said, referring to tariff barriers by countries against the exports of others.

He said the United States assured the other nations it will meet its 1978 target for economic growth of about 4.5 percent, down from 4.9 percent last year, if President Carter's proposed $25 billion tax cut is enacted.

Witteveen and Healey indicated they agreed that the U.S. economy has been growing fast enough compared with the growth of other major economies, notably those of West Germany and Japan.

"The United States already has made strong progress, and some slowing down of its growth rate may have to come about to avoid a recurrence of inflationary pressures," said Witteveen.

He said if the coordinated economic strategy is to work, more stimulative economic measures by West Germany and Japan "probably will be needed."

Both West Germany and Japan have agreed to increase economic growth over their 1977 levels, although the IMF and some other delegations questioned whether West Germany could meet its growth target of 3.5 percent. The IMF estimated the rate would be only 3.1 percent, compared to 2.5 percent last year.

However, West German Finance Minister Hans Matthöfer told reporters his government would not be pressured into adopting measures that could increase inflation and be counter-productive in the long run.

"We will not be pushed by anybody who cannot possibly know our problems as well as we do," he said.

A communique issued after the meeting said the coordinated strategy is for the period through 1980 and should take into account the current economic conditions in individual countries.

The endorsement of the coordinated economic approach is not binding on individual members, but it is certain to influence the economic policies of a number of nations. It probably will also be a major topic at the seven-nation economic summit conference in West Germany in July, when President Carter will meet with the leaders of West Germany, Japan, France, Britain, Italy and Canada.

The communique also said most members agreed to the need to increase contributions, or quotas, to the IMF by 50 percent. This would mean a hike in the funds the IMF can lend to about $70 billion. A final decision was not made, however.

The committee also agreed to give further study to a plan to trade the IMF's special drawing rights, also called paper gold, for surplus U.S. dollars held outside the United States by foreign governments. U.S. officials say they see little point to the plan, but they agreed to the study.

New Afghan Regime Cites Russian Ties

By BARRY SHLACHTER
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Afghanistan's new military government signaled continued close ties with the neighboring Soviet Union by naming a reported leftist prime minister and announcing the Kremlin's recognition of the fledgling regime.

And a Yugoslav report from Havana today said Cuba, in a statement equivalent to recognition, expressed friendship toward the Afghan people and their new leaders.

Radio Kabul, in the Afghan capital, said Nur Mohammed Taraki, a civilian, was named prime minister of the "Democratic Republic of Afghanistan" and chief of its new Revolutionary Council.

The broadcast said Taraki was a "nationalist and revolutionary personality."

The United News of India said he was a leader of the Socialist Party, which was outlawed before the coup last Thursday and Friday. But the British Broadcasting Corp. said he was a leader of the pro-Communist People's Faction Party, an underground opponent of the previous government. It said he was one of several persons arrested in leftist protests that preceded the uprising.

The government reported 200 persons killed in the rebellion, including President Mohammed Daoud. But travelers arriving in Pakistan from Kabul after the border reopened Sunday for departing foreigners put the toll at about 500 soldiers and civilians.

The borders remained shut to persons wanting to enter the country and commercial communications channels still were closed. But Kabul radio said the capital's airport, whose runway reportedly was damaged by bombing during the coup, reopened to international flights today.

There was no confirmation from Moscow of the Kabul radio report that the Soviet Union, Afghanistan's northern neighbor, had become the first nation to recognize the new government.

The Havana dispatch from the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug quoted a Cuban government announcement, issued Sunday night, as saying Cuba "welcomes the decision of the revolutionary council of the Democratic Republic of Afghanistan to remain a member of the non-aligned movement..." Tanjug said the statement was interpreted as official recognition of the new Afghan government.

Daoud had proclaimed a policy of non-alignment and neutrality in foreign relations and succeeded in obtaining aid from the United States as well as the Soviet Union, which was its chief supplier of arms and military equipment, trained most of its officers and was also its biggest trading partner.

Immediately after the coup, the new government described itself as "democratic, Islamic, reformist and non-aligned" and said it would "remain faithful" to its "international commitments."

Tanjung said the military leaders were in constant session at the Defense Ministry and were expected to announce basic foreign and domestic policy guidelines within the next two days.

Afghanistan's official Bakhtar news agency, quoted by Kabul radio, said "complete peace, security and discipline prevailed throughout the country." But a Frenchman who arrived in Pakistan Sunday said: "The military government is still not in complete control... and is facing resistance in certain places."

Aussies Set Probe Of Vietnamese

By CARL D. ROBINSON
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Immigration Minister Michael MacKellar ordered an investigation of reports that Vietnamese refugees in Australia have formed a group to work for the overthrow of the Communist government in their homeland, ministry sources said.

MacKellar acted on the politically-sensitive subject following reports that 200 Vietnamese refugees met here Sunday, the third anniversary of the fall of the Saigon government, and set up an Australian branch of the Greater Overseas Alliance for the National Restoration of Vietnam.

The Alliance, founded last year by refugees in the United States where it claims several thousand followers, uses the flag and anthem of South Vietnam and has published a manifesto calling for formation of combat units to overthrow the Hanoi government, which now controls all of Vietnam.

Vo Dai Ton, a former South Vietnamese army colonel and deputy information minister, was elected president of the Sydney chapter. Ton, who came here in 1976, has recently worked as a security guard with a Sydney company.

He reportedly brought tears to the eyes of many of his listeners with an emotional appeal for their support.

Several leaders of the conservative wing of Australia's Liberal Party also attended the meeting, which set off a political controversy here.

Australia has accepted more than 4,000 Vietnamese refugees in the past three years while trying to maintain good relations with Hanoi. Canberra gave $40 million in aid to the Communist government last year.

"We are ready to accept genuine Vietnamese refugees as long as they leave their old feuds behind them," said an Immigration Ministry official. "By becoming overtly political as this group has apparently done, they are jeopardizing all future refugee entries into Australia."

Word of the Vietnamese nationalist group came as MacKellar was seeking an increase in the quota of 2,000 Vietnamese to be allowed into Australia this year.

Thousands of refugees have been living in temporary camps in several Southeast Asian nations awaiting permission to immigrate to the United States or Australia. Others have made the long journey to Australia in all manner of frail vessels without having immigration permits in advance.

The influx has brought growing complaints from the public, who claim the Vietnamese are a welfare burden or are taking much needed jobs from Australian natives.

Bank Panel Approves Transfers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board voted today to let banks transfer money automatically from customers' savings accounts to their checking accounts to cover overdrafts or to maintain a minimum balance.

The service, to go into effect Nov. 1, would be at the customers' request at banks belonging to the Federal Reserve System.

The board originally had wanted to penalize customers for switching money to checking accounts. It had suggested either a service charge or a forfeit of interest.

However, the board, which regulates many state-operated banks, decided to let the banks themselves decide whether they wanted to charge customers for the service.

Under the transfer service a customer could open a savings account and a checking account at a bank, with any balance he chooses. If he writes a check that is larger than the balance in his checking account, the bank automatically pays the check from money in the client's savings account.

Many banks favored the proposal, although some feared they would lose money because depositors would not leave as much money in their checking accounts. Savings and loan associations vigorously opposed it because most of them cannot offer checking accounts.

The regulation falls short of the Negotiated Order of Withdrawal account considered by Congress and now practiced in some New England banks. In a NOW account, a customer can simply draw interest on a checking account.

Lawyers for the Federal Reserve said they thought they had the legal authority to put the new rule into effect, but some savings and loan organizations have been considering a lawsuit.

In proposing the rule Feb. 2, the banking agency noted that customers can already switch funds from a savings account to a checking account by calling the bank by telephone.

The board was divided over whether to charge a minimum 50-cent fee every time the accounts were transferred, but Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller said the penalty would hurt small investors the most.

"I think we regulate too much," he said.

The board agreed to consider within a year possible penalties or forfeiting of interest.

Two-Year Feud Ends In Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-year feud between two families that began over a fallen clothesline pole ended with a 49-year-old mother of three was shot to death and her husband was critically wounded, police said.

Police said John Cracchiolo, 22, was charged with homicide early today in connection with the shootings of Lorraine DiOrio and her husband Anthony, 54, on a street in downtown Brooklyn Saturday.

Doctors at Long Island College Hospital said DiOrio, who had not been told of his wife's death, was in guarded condition today following emergency surgery.

Brooklyn detectives said they were still looking for Cracchiolo's father, Sam, 50. John Cracchiolo also was charged with attempted murder and possession of firearms, police said.

The feud between the DiOrios and the Cracchiolos reportedly began after a clothesline pole in the DiOrios' yard fell into the backyard of the Cracchiolo home, breaking a window in the house and damaging shrubbery.

After Cracchiolo sued his neighbors for damages, the families confronted each other in court at least nine times over two years, police said, threatening each other whenever they met.

The final showdown, police said, came Saturday when Sam and John Cracchiolo approached the DiOrios in downtown Brooklyn.

The neighbors started to argue and then John Cracchiolo allegedly pulled a gun and began firing in front of at least 200 witnesses, who ducked into doorways and dove behind parked cars.

Vacationers Warned Of Dangers Incurred By Pulling Trailers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of economy-minded American families are spending summer vacations camping out and many of them unknowingly put themselves in danger by failing to take proper safety precautions before they hitch up their trailers.

It is particularly important to make sure that the towing and towed vehicles are compatible, that you have the proper pulling device and that you do not overload your trailer or camper.

No one should be allowed to ride in the trailer while it is moving. It not only is dangerous, it also is illegal in many states.

Before you buy or rent any trailer, check the braking and suspension systems and the wheel and tire combinations of the car or truck you will be using as a towing vehicle. Read your owner's manual to make sure your car or truck can handle the load you will be pulling.

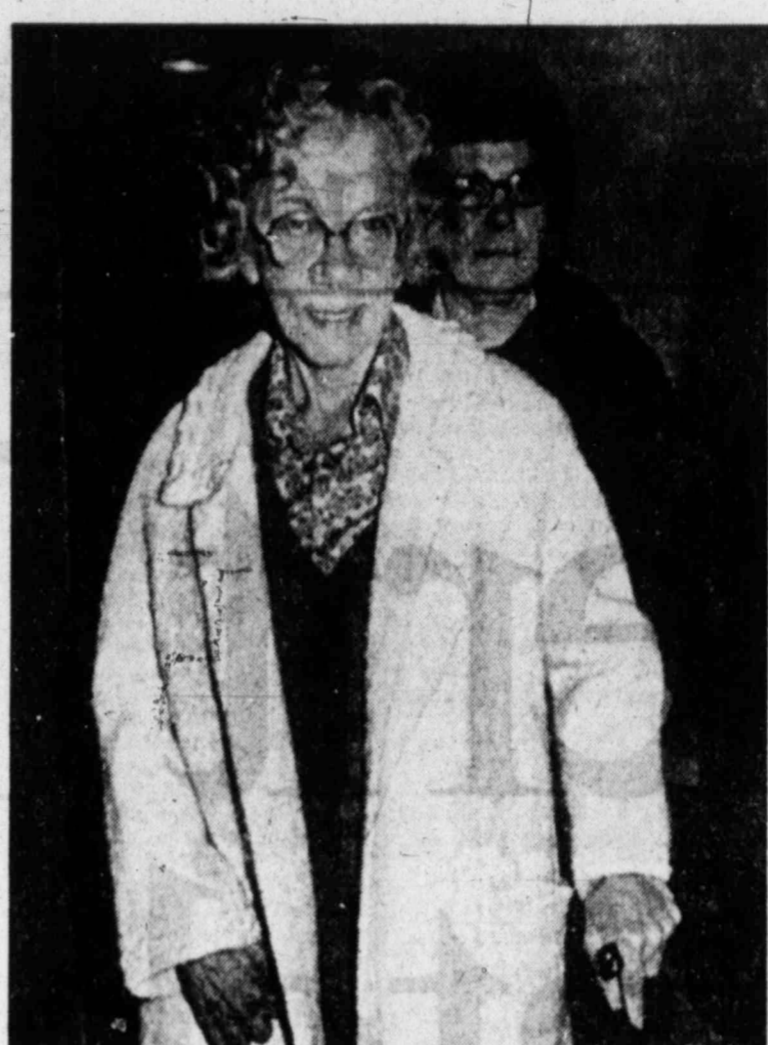

There are two general types of hitches. The weight-carrying hitch is mounted on the bumper or frame — or both — of the towing vehicle and is used for pulling lightweight trailers. It concentrates weight on the rear end of the towing vehicle. The weight-distribution hitch is mounted on the frame of the towing vehicle. It is designed to distribute weight among the towing vehicle's front and rear wheels and the trailer wheels.

No matter which hitch you use, make sure you can connect safety chains which prevent the two vehicles from separating completely in case the trailer is accidentally disconnected from the hitch.

One problem with many trailers — particularly older ones — is overloading. Trailer suspension systems are designed to carry a maximum load, consisting of the weight of the trailer itself, plus items like food, water, clothing, etc. that might be added. The maximum load plus the weight of the trailer tongue — the part attached to the hitch — equals the Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR). If the GVWR is too close to the unloaded weight of the trailer, the suspension system may not support the equipment you need to take on your camping trip.

Another critical figure, according to the Department of Transportation, is the Gross Axle Weight Rating (GAWR), which is the maximum weight a specific axle is designed to carry.

Since 1972, manufacturers have been required by law to attach a plate to all trailers indicating the GVWR of the unit

ELLEN CORBY AT WILL GEER MEMORIAL — Actress Ellen Corby, who plays Grandma Walton in the television series "The Waltons," leaves a memorial service for the late actor Will (Grandpa Walton) Geer at the Santa Monica civic auditorium Sunday. Mrs. Corby, who suffered a debilitating stroke one year ago, returned to the series in only the last show of the past season, also the last in which Geer appeared. Geer died on April 22 of respiratory arrest at the age of 76. Grandpa Walton will not be replaced; his death will be part of the show when it resumes in the fall. Lake Revenue Hike Shown

A completed audit of Buffalo Springs Lake's revenue for 1977 presented at the lake's governing body's board meeting today showed an increase from $301,803.33 in 1976 to $353,013.27 in 1977.

Lubbock County Water Control and Improvement District board members also offered West Texas Power Boat Association three dates — July 16, Aug. 13 and Sept. 17 — in which the association can sponsor boat races. All four dates fall on Sunday.

The association has not accepted the dates yet, because the district is not offering to have the gate receipts with the association during the racing dates as has been done in the past.

The board discussed a master plan being drawn up by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper Inc. which will show future improvements, such as construction of more sewer lines and roads at the recreational facility.

Two Local Men, Visitor Wounded By Gunmen

Three men were wounded in separate shooting incidents this weekend when gunmen approached their cars.

Most seriously wounded was 32-year-old Ventura Vasquez of Basfield who said he was sitting in a car in the parking lot of an E. Broadway Club shortly before midnight Saturday when a man walked up and demanded his money.

The next thing Vasquez knew, the stranger pulled out a pistol and shot him twice, in the chest and arm, and drove away without taking anything.

Vasquez was in serious condition today at West Texas Hospital.

Luis Saenz, 18, of 3111 Erskine St. told officers he and a friend were driving around a 1st Place park about 2 a.m. Sunday when two men in a pickup forced them to a curb. After all four men got out of the two vehicles, one of the ones in the truck fired a shot, hitting Saenz in the leg.

The victim said he stayed the rest of the night in the car at the park, and after he went home his mother took him to a hospital.

According to Rodolfo Salinas Hernandez, 19, of 2718 Emory St., he was sleeping in his car next to a 41st Street park about 4 a.m. Sunday when two men in a pickup approached. One of the men reportedly walked up to the parked vehicle and shot Hernandez in the arm. After firing at, but missing, Hernandez' friend who was in the front seat, the assailant returned to the pickup which then left the scene.

In recently reported break-ins, William Royce Armes told police whoever broke through a window at his 5527 17th St. home late Sunday or early today made off with $7,554 worth of property including two diamond cluster rings and a stereo.

Vandals wreaked havoc at a church and school Sunday afternoon after they got inside by prying a window and a door.

The burglars who broke into St. Christopher's Episcopal Church at 2807 42nd St. tried to get money from a soft drink machine, and when their efforts to pry it open failed, they attempted to set it afire.

They then moved on to another room, where they poured red paint on a new carpet, and to another, where they poured blue paint on a white carpet and large mirror.

At All Saints School, which is next to the church, they went through the same routine with another soft drink machine, but apparently had to leave without stealing anything.

Jimmy Henry Williams of 2121-A 7th St. complained that whoever pried a window at his residence Sunday got away with two watches and some rings, valued at $375.

A window reportedly provided entry for a burglar at Kathleen White's 2810-B Cornell St. apartment this weekend. According to the victim, a $200 stereo was stolen.

Reporting stolen tools from their vehicles recently were Jay Wesley Vaughn of 2504 27th St., Butch Stephenson of 4521 Brownfield Road, No. 215, and Don Byers of 5428 30th St.

Jimmy Bridgers of 4901 4th St. told police he lost a CB, tape player and $420 worth of tapes Sunday to a car burglar.

Mistaken identity may have started a Saturday ruckus, but police said unruly tempers definitely finished it.

While ambulance attendants checked Donald Ellwood Dykes of 2303 14th St. for serious injuries in the stabbing incident police found out the man who stabbed him may not only have been guilty of assault, but theft as well.

Dykes, 27, told officers he had had a bicycle stolen from his home a few days ago when about 2:35 p.m. Saturday he saw a man riding down the street on what he thought was the exact same bicycle.

After pursuing the man on his own vehicle, Dykes told the rider to "pull it over," he told officers, but the man refused.

Dykes told officers he had offered not to call police if the man would just give back the bicycle, but the man didn't seem to think there was any need to give anything back. He told Dykes it wasn't Dykes' bicycle, and he wasn't getting it back.

The complainant told officers the man then pulled a knife and took a swing at him, slashing Dykes across the face with the blade.

Witnesses reportedly watched both men chasing each other down the alley in the 1100-block of University Avenue for several minutes before the man fled. Officers arrested a 19-year-old man a few blocks away from the scene of the altercation for aggravated assault.

Lubbock policemen were posed with another problem a little out of the ordinary when they were sent to investigate an armed robbery only to find out the reported victim could not hear or talk.

Bystanders told police the man's story.

About 4:45 p.m. Saturday, Willie Heron Brown of 1614 Zenith Ave. told police he was working in the 2200-block of Quirt Avenue when he picked up a man and drove him to an address near there. When the man got out of the vehicle, though, he also took Brown's wallet, containing about $45.

Car burglars managed to remove about $1,475 in camera equipment from an automobile owned by Royce L. Acuff of Levelland while the auto was parked on the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center's parking lot about 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Louis Jimenez reported the theft of a $60 gun from the office of the 500 E. Broadway motel where he works.

Jack Hodges of 3811 37th St. told police someone took an $855 golf club set from the racks at Meadowbrook Golf Course between 5:30 p.m. and 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

In the 16th century, Afranio Albanesi of Pavia developed a reed instrument from an ancient Serbian bagpipe which was shaped like the letter H.

WATER ON HIS MIND — Bruce Nevins, president of Great Waters of France, American distributor of Perrier mineral water, escorts Margaret Trudeau to a theater performance in New York last year. Nevins, a marketing whiz who introduced

Levi's jeans to Hong Kong several years ago, feels he can make the bubbly water popular in a sweet-conscious American market. (AP Laserphoto)

Naturally Bubbly Perrier Water Challenges Soft Drink Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the marketing whiz who put Hong Kong in Levi's turn America on to water?

Salesman Bruce Nevins believes he is on the way. He is promoting Perrier, a liquid that differs from river water mainly because it has natural bubbles, into the newest fad drink in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

(Sorry, folks, but the Avalanche-Journal could not find a bottle of the stuff at neighborhood grocery stores. However, the bottled spring water can be found in several local liquor stores.

It costs $1.29 for the 23 fluid-ounce bottle, and 69-cents for 11 fluid ounces. Dealers say they have stocked the water for about 10 years, but it did not become popular until about two years ago. Liquor store managers say Perrier, pushed as a health drink, is commonly used to mix drinks.)

The soft drink industry, with $10 billion in annual sales, hardly feels threatened.

But Fred Sipper, president of Irvings Food Center on Manhattan's 9th Avenue, has 300 cases of Perrier stacked inside his store entrance for quick delivery. "In 28 years in this business I've never had an item that took off so quickly," he said.

Sipper said that in all of 1976, he sold 400 cases of the bottled water. Now he sells that much every two days.

Such sales have encouraged Perrier to spend $35 million in doubling production and seriously attacking the U.S. soft drink market.

Nevins, president of Great Waters of France, the U.S. distributor, has become as much a jet set darling as his product, squiring Margaret Trudeau around elegant Manhattan nightspots that dispense his product at prices up to $7 a glass — that's at the disco Regine's, where every drink costs $7 — and giving newspaper, magazine and TV interviews.

The water creating this fuss has been bubbling out of a spring at Vergeze, France, for at least 2,000 years and has been a familiar presence in Europe's toniest restaurants for the past century.

The Indian club-shaped green bottles have been on sale in U.S. gourmet stores for decades but only "Perrier freaks" tried to track down the expensive — more than $1 for a 23-ounce bottle — liquid.

American kids hate the medicinal-tasting liquid, reflecting tastes in a country where sugary soft drinks outsell mineral waters 65-to-1. In Europe mineral waters are twice as popular as soft drinks.

Selling only 1 million bottles a year in America, Source Perrier SA, the parent company, gambled two years ago that U.S. tastes were changing in the direction of health drinks. They hired the 40-year-old Nevins to run the campaign on the strength of his success in cracking the Hong Kong and Australian markets for Levi-Strauss.

After a year, Nevins says, Perrier is reaching its five-year goal of selling 70 million bottles annually and is setting records monthly.

"We believe the American market will one day be bigger than Europe for us," said the tanned Nevins with the confidence of a man who never fails.

How do you mass market a product hitherto desired mainly by snobs?

— Cut the price. Two years ago a 23-ounce bottle of Perrier cost as much as $1.29. Today, Irvings Food Center sells it for 59 cents. Perrier believes it can compete in pricing because its costs are limited to bottling and handling. The stuff gushes from a spring at 21,000 gallons an hour, every hour.

— Raise the profile. The green Indian club bottles have been moved from the back shelves of gourmet stores and into the aisles of supermarkets. A six-pack is available at prices similar to regular soda pop. The advertising budget has been raised to $3 million "but we try to remain dignified," Nevins said.

— Get onto the health kick. People who drink Perrier are not only elegant but healthy, says Nevins who is quick to expound upon his water's "unique and special qualities" for the diet conscious. Perrier has helped sponsor several running events on the East and West coasts and soon will set up several dozen "paracourses" in city parks offering way stations to assist joggers and the exercise-conscious.

— All this activity pleases Fred Sipper of Irvings Food Center who hopes to sell 1 million bottles of Perrier this year, as much as was sold across the country two years ago.

"You remember the Hula-Hoop?" Sipper asked. "This is bigger."

Federal Workers Cite Incompetence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government survey says a majority of federal workers think their bosses are incompetent. The study by the National Center for Productivity and the Quality of Working Life also produced a word from the bosses.

A majority of them admitted they are underworked and overpaid. Most feel locked into their jobs. And nearly half didn't believe they could get a private sector job that paid as well as the government.

trusting in you

When a child puts his very special trust in you, you're obliged to honor that confidence by protecting and guiding him through the stepping-stones of life.

Many people nowadays are making their funeral arrangements in advance. Making advance arrangements not only assures your peace of mind, it also protects and guides the "special people" who rely on you.

DR. LAMB

Natural Bran Preferable

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Do Surfak Stool Softeners and all-natural raw bran do any damage? Would they give you canker sores? Is it safer to take a laxative once or twice a week? It seems everyone you talk to has trouble. There are times when fruits and vegetables don't do any good and too much roughage is hard on the stomach. If you will answer, we will all thank you.

DEAR READER — Before I started writing this column I knew many people had trouble with their bowels but I had no idea that it was such a common concern.

No, stool softeners and bran do not cause canker sores. Nervous tension can contribute to bowel disorders and canker sores though. That may be why you got the idea.

I don't think chemical laxatives that induce colonic contractions to empty the colon are ever useful. They can be, and often are, harmful. The first problem most people have is getting over the idea that you have to have a bowel movement every day. The frequency of bowel movements depends a lot on what you eat. If you don't eat foods that contain much bulk you cannot expect to have much indigestible residue and the net result is not enough bulk to stimulate daily satisfactory bowel movements.

The Surfak Stool Softeners do not contain any chemicals to induce colonic contractions and are useful only to soften the stool for people who are ill or who need to avoid harder stools for various reasons. I can assure you a recent hemorrhoidectomy patient would be grateful for soft stools.

The secret to good bowel function for most people is a proper diet. I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation to give you a program you can follow to help maintain good health bowel function. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. It will give you needed information on laxatives, enemas and diet.

It helps to develop a regular pattern. You do that by eating a good breakfast that includes bulk and at least two large glasses of fluid. The training process may take some time but you can do it.
 Bran is sometimes difficult for people to handle. I am not convinced that the bran in breakfast foods is very irritating to the stomach after it is thoroughly soaked in milk before eating. It simply is not right to call that soft material roughage. It is really softage. The cereal fiber soaks up moisture and keeps your food residue moist and soft. It may look and feel rough when it is dry but it is not going into your stomach dry nor will it be dry in passage.

It usually takes several weeks for a person to adjust to adding bran to the diet. More gas than usual is noted. Some people have to start with very small amounts and gradually increase it until their system can handle it. A good way to do that is to switch to whole wheat bread first. Then add more bulky salads to your meal. Eliminate the sweets and fats. Then start adding more bran gradually to your diet. Doing it slowly and sticking with the program long enough for satisfactory results are the essential component for success.

Walking and other forms of exercise also help to improve bowel function. A good walk in the evening after your last meal helps the bowels, and tranquilizes the soul to prepare you for a good night's sleep.

League Board Rejects Plea From Girl

SKIATOOK, Okla. (UPI) — Nine-year-old Lance Johnson can't understand why Rebel Lorton can't play baseball. Neither can Lance's father, and he's the coach.

"I'm amazed at what has happened," said Jimmy Johnson. "I thought we were beyond the horse and buggy days."

Rebel Lorton can't play baseball because she's a girl.

"What difference does that make?" asked Lance.

"I don't know," replied his father.

The directors of the Caney League teams voted 5-1 against allowing girls to play on the teams when the season starts at the end of next month. The Caney League is not affiliated with Little League, Inc.

Johnson, who is coach of the Skiatook 68ers, and Kenny Lorton, Rebel's father, said they reminded the directors that Congress had changed the law in 1974 to prohibit sexual discrimination. But that did not persuade the board to vote for Rebel.

"I wasn't surprised that they were initially opposed to it," said Lorton, a Tulsa fireman.

Lorton said it was difficult to tell his daughter of the decision.

"When I explained to Rebel that the league had decided not to let her play, she was quiet for a few minutes," he said. "Then I told her that it wasn't final and that we could fight it and win if she wanted to go through with it."

"I warned her, though, that not everyone would be 100 percent in favor of her. She was fighting hard to hold back her tears when she told me, 'All I want is to play baseball.'"

New Device May Help Stop Pain

By KAREN SOUTHWICK
 PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A specialist reports modest success in tests of a push-button pain control device that uses the body's own nervous system to block unbearable agony, but cautions it's "just one more tool" in a never-ending battle.

"There is no single treatment for chronic intractable pain that's successful all the time," said Dr. Ruben Tenicela, director of the Presbyterian University Hospital's pain control clinic. "We're still trying different things."

He said the new device has only been tried on a handful of patients with about 30 percent getting some relief.

In many cases, he said pain is a needed warning "telling us something is wrong with our bodies. But when everything has been done and nothing can be found, then pain serves no purpose any more. That is the pain we are trying to control."

The current "gate control" theory of pain suggests that the nervous system contains two signal channels: smaller nerves carrying pain and larger nerves carrying other commands which may counteract pain, such as vibration, touch and pressure.

There are two ways to control pain in the spinal cord or elsewhere: blocking the pain-carrying nerves themselves or stimulating the larger fibers to prevent pain impulses from reaching the brain.

The second method was tried by surgeons implanting electrodes in the spinal cord, but it meant cutting the bone which surrounds the delicate cord and risking possible injury.

The electrode was attached to a transistor which stimulates vibrations in the larger fibers to block the pain.

"The results in most cases were not satisfactory," Tenicela said. "We had to go back and remove the electrodes."

The Peruvian native then tried the new technique — implanting the electrode in a space around the cord, thus avoiding the risk of surgical procedure of cutting into the bone.

"The most important part is its simplicity," Tenicela said of his technique, which he first began testing in the early 1970s.

"If it doesn't work, we pull the electrodes out. It's inexpensive, fast and doesn't require much time from the surgeon or the pain specialist."

He said the success rate is very low. "In most patients we have to remove it because it just doesn't work." However, he noted, "we have not hurt the patient any more either."

The electrode also can be implanted in nerves in other parts of the body, but chronic back pain is what drives most people to Tenicela.

"We get the ones that have been through at least 10 to 20 physicians for the same pain and it's still there or worse."

Tenicela's most successful patient has been Samuel Librizzi, a 47-year-old former auto mechanic from New Castle, Pa. Librizzi's back became locked in a painful position when he reached out to catch a 250-pound automobile transmission in 1966. X-rays showed a collapsed lumbar disc exerting pressure on the sciatic nerve.

Librizzi underwent a series of operations that left him with severe pain and limited movement.

In September 1976, Tenicela implanted his device and Librizzi has gone the 18 months since with little or no pain.

"This was my last resort," said Librizzi. "I went through just about every test there was to go through. It's proved itself with me. I certainly hope it will work for other people."

NOCTURNAL CREATURE
 The dormouse is similar to a squirrel in that it dwells in trees and is accustomed to sitting on its hind legs holding its food in its forepaws. This member of the family Gliridae, however, is a nocturnal creature while the squirrel is not.

Wes Pool Following In Dad's Footsteps

By RAYMUNDO PEREZ
DALLAS (UPI) — Since age 12, Wes Pool has been in politics.

His training began in 1962 when he and his brother stormed the state as "advance men" for their dad, State Rep. Joe Pool, who was making his first bid for a congressional seat.

Since then Pool, now 27, has worked other campaigns for his father — who died during his third term in Congress of a heart attack at Houston's Hobby Airport in 1967 — and other candidates. In 1976 he worked for the election of Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Texas, and until recently worked on his staff.

And now Pool is making his first effort at political office. Despite his political savvy and experience, he knows politics has changed since the days he was a pudgy 12-year-old kid jumping out of pickups to nail "Pool for Congress" posters on telephone poles on rural roads.

The elder Pool defeated 12 other candidates in 1962 to become Texas representative-at-large. But he — unlike his son — never ran against a Mexican-American and three blacks in a district composed of 50 percent black, 33 percent white and 17 percent Mexican-American.

But the younger Pool feels he has a chance to beat out the field in the May 6 Democratic Primary for District 33-C representative. The favorite is the incumbent, Rep. Sam Hudson, who Pool said "was an embarrassment to the people of this district."

Hudson made headlines during the 1977 Texas Legislature with 45-day hunger strike in an effort to call committee attention to almost 100 bills he introduced.

"A representative shouldn't have to go on a hunger strike to draw attention; it's an embarrassment," Pool said. "Besides, he only passed two bills and he missed 34 of 74 roll call votes."

Pool doesn't really know if he can win, but said: "I want Sam out. I'm working hard to win this thing."

Money has been tight and Pool has resorted to the traditional pounding-on-the-door, soaking-hands technique.

"In this district you have to. It's made up of so many transients. People moving in and out all the time. It's the only effective way to campaign."

Pool thinks his district, cutting across the heart of Dallas, is unique. It stretches from the downtown area to the Fair Park-Cotton Bowl area, across free-wheeling Oak Lawn and on to Love Field.

"If you wanted a slice of America, this district would be it," said the Southern Methodist University political science graduate. "There are rich whites, poor whites, rich blacks, poor blacks, professionals, laborers."

"And I'm concerned about this district. They need real representation. I know some people remember my father as a staunch conservative. Well, that was him. I'm not that way."

As the campaign winds down, Pool and his only full-time campaign staffer are spending longer days and evenings pounding on doors.

"It's the only thing I can do," he said. "I have to, the money is really tight."

"But I've been encouraged by some of the contributions I've gotten from people. One man sent me a dollar."

"You know, that means more to me than if someone had sent me a $100 contribution, because I know that man couldn't afford that dollar, but he sent it and asked me to send him a yard sign. He's the most loyal supporter I'll ever have."

Jeff Carter Confident Of Father

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jeff Carter believes his father will run for re-election, and he is confident he president will win despite his current declining popularity polls.

"The polls always go down," the younger Carter said in an interview with UPI, but "it doesn't cause any consternation" in the first family.

"He's not up for re-election this year — that's when the polls count," he added. Furthermore, Carter said the president has given Congress some "tough" issues to resolve and "the press arbitrarily set a one year deadline" for their solution.

By the time Carter is ready to run again, Jeff said he will have had several of his controversial proposals passed by Congress, including a comprehensive energy program, and the yet to be proposed national health insurance plan.

Jeff, 25, is the youngest son in the Carter family and will graduate on May 7 with honors from George Washington University where he majored in geography and computer science.

He said his mother and father wanted to attend his graduation, but he has decided to skip the ceremonies.

"They wanted to go," he said. "But if I go there'll just be a big scene ... too much."

"I told Dad that I had crammed four years of college in seven years," Jeff said, adding "I think he was amazed" that his son was graduating.

Jeff has encountered the same problem that has confronted other presidential children — the difficulty of landing a job that will not be construed as "patronage or nepotism."

"They're putting in a new computer system in the White House and I would have liked to have worked on it," he said. "It's what I worked on in school."

He said he faces the same problem as his predecessor Jack Ford did when Ford wanted to join the U.S. Forest Service. Jeff said he may sound out Carter's personal pollster Pat Caddell on whether he needs a computer specialist.

He and his wife Annette are planning to move out of the White House after he finds a job. "I think that's about the right time," he said. "I'm ready to get away. It's been a lot of fun. We've met hundreds of people we never would have met."

HOT DOGS — It seems obvious that the only things getting the sun here are the "dogs" as this elderly couple relaxed on Miami Beach. The "fun in the sun" capitol of the U.S. is apparently the place to be whether it's soaking up the sun in a bikini or just relaxing under an umbrella listening to the waves breaking along the surf. Nixon Saved Tapes As Protection From Aides

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Alexander Butterfield shocked the nation in 1974 with the revelation that Richard Nixon's Watergate conversations were preserved on tape, Nixon realized his presidency would not survive.

But he decided against destroying the tapes that ultimately drove him from the White House, fearing some close aides would turn against him to save their skins and the tapes provided him "at least some protection."

The second installment of his memoirs appeared today in The New York Times, the Chicago Tribune and other newspapers. The excerpts are from "RN: The Memoirs of Richard Nixon," being published May 15 by Grosset and Dunlap and selling for $19.95 for the regular edition, $50 for a deluxe edition, and $250 for a leatherbound, autographed edition.

The first two excerpts break no new ground in the scandal, although some of Nixon's details conflict considerably with previous data.

Since the second installment ends with Nixon's departure from Washington, presumably these are the last words from the former president on Watergate and the rest of his memoirs would deal with matters unrelated to the scandal.

Nixon wrote that three months before Butterfield told the Senate Watergate Committee about the White House taping system, he had told his chief of staff,

H.R. Haldeman, to destroy the recordings. But Haldeman did not consider it an order.

On July 16, 1973, while Nixon was recovering from viral pneumonia in Bethesda Naval Hospital, Butterfield dropped his bombshell.

"I reflected ironically that just a few months before, I had told Bob Haldeman ... to get rid of all the tapes except those dealing with national security events," Nixon wrote.

"In the hospital, I raised the idea of whether we should not destroy the tapes now. Finally, I decided that the tapes were my best insurance against the unforeseeable future.

"I was prepared to believe that others would turn against me just as John Dean had done, and in that case the tapes would give me at least some protection."

Nixon's explanation for one of Watergate's great mysteries — why he did not simply burn the incriminating tapes — conflicted with his answer last year during his television interviews with David Frost.

Nixon said then he did not believe the tapes ever would be made public, and if he burned them it would have given the appearance he was hiding something.

But in his memoirs, Nixon blamed his fears that others in his administration would turn on him to try to soften their own Watergate misdeeds.

"I now believe," Nixon wrote, "that from the time of the disclosure of the existence of the tapes and my decision not to destroy them, my presidency had little chance of surviving to the end of its term."

In June 1974, the Supreme Court ruled 8-0 Nixon had to surrender a batch of his tapes to Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski. Among them was the so-called "smoking gun" tape in which he had discussed with Haldeman using the CIA to end FBI investigations of the Watergate break-in.

"On Thursday, Aug. 1, I told (chief of staff Alexander) Haig that I had decided to resign," Nixon writes. "I took a yellow pad from the desk. At the top I wrote, 'Resignation Speech.' Working quickly, I filled several pages with notes and outlines."

"Things are moving very fast now," I said, "so I think it should be soon (rather) than later. I have decided on Thursday night."

"We fell silent. Finally I looked at them and said, 'Well, I screwed it up for good, real good, didn't I?' It was not really a question."

American Freed In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Convicted Soviet spy Robert Thompson was exchanged today for American student Alan Van Norman, who was freed from an East German jail to complete a three-way international swap of prisoners.

Thompson, 43, arrived from New York earlier in the day to finish the transaction that included Van Norman, 22, of Windom, Minn., and Israeli pilot Miron Marcus, 24. He was released last month by Mozambique.

A statement from the U. S. Mission, where the new exchange was carried out behind closed doors, said Thompson and East German lawyer Wolfgang Vogel then crossed to East Berlin.

Van Norman was reunited with his mother, who left Windom last week to meet him. He was arrested last Aug. 2 in East Germany and sentenced January 17 to 2½ years imprisonment on charges related to helping East Germans cross to the West, the mission said in a statement. The East Germans reportedly were a doctor, his wife and son.

None of those involved in the exchange was available for comment immediately afterward.

Thompson had taken a commercial flight from New York to Frankfurt and changed there to a plane for Berlin. On arrival at Tegel Airport, he was picked up by car from the U.S. Mission.

"I was a spy for the U.S.S.R.," Thompson declared moments before he boarded his flight in New York. But he refused to confirm reports that he is a major in the Soviet secret police.

Thompson was released from Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary in Pennsylvania Sunday after serving 13 years of a 30-year term for espionage. He was accompanied to Europe by his East Germany attorney, Vogel, who helped arrange the prisoner exchange.

Family In Tennessee Awaiting Word From Kidnapper, Girl

McKENZIE, Tenn. (AP) — Somewhere between the Carroll Lake Golf Club, at the end of a narrow, winding tree-lined road, and the home of a cousin two miles away, 18-year-old Jodie Elizabeth Gaines disappeared.

The lights burned late Sunday night in the front room of the Gaines home as the family awaited some word about Jodie. The Gaineses, who issued a statement to a presumed kidnapper through reporters Sunday, said they would hold a second news conference today.

Jodie has been missing since Friday night, when she left her family after dinner at the golf club. The following morning, an unidentified caller told Ludie Gaines that her daughter had been abducted and reportedly demanded a ransom of $250,000.

"It was a very short conversation," said Ben Gaines, the young woman's father. "A man called, trying to disguise his voice — a slight brogue if that's the right word."

Nothing has been heard since.

On Sunday, Jodie's elder sister, Patti, 31 — in a choking voice and holding back tears — read a statement to reporters from the front porch of the family home:

"We, the family, appeal to those who have Jodie to contact us immediately. We are fully prepared to act as instructed with no interference on the part of anyone. The money is ready now and we are prepared to pay the ransom. All we care about is Jodie's safety."

Standing beside her as she read the statement was her mother and a brother, Ben Gaines Jr., 20.

"Please, all we want is Jodie ... Please bring our daughter home," Mrs. Gaines said through tears before ducking into the house.

The family concluded the news conference by distributing color photographs of their smiling red-haired daughter.

"She's the finest, sweetest person ... never been involved with drinking or drugs," Gaines told reporters two hours later, again on the front porch. "She's not a party girl, she's a family girl."

Gaines is president of Gaines Manufacturing Co., one of this small western Tennessee town's main industries. The plant produces motel furniture.

"All I've done is sit by the phone praying the guy would call and say what to do," Gaines said.

Gaines said he saw his daughter last as she drove away from the country club. She was to visit a cousin, Yvonne Montgomery.

"I started feeling something was wrong about 11 p.m.," Gaines said, noting Jodie usually returns home early. He called police when he learned his daughter had never arrived at her cousin's.

Economic Indicators Dip Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government measure of future economic trends declined for the second time in three months during March, the Commerce Department reported today.

The index of leading indicators dipped 0.1 percent after rising 0.5 percent in February. The index declined 1.3 percent in January for the largest drop in three years, mainly because of severe winter weather.

The figures showed that the economy is not in as bad shape as it was at the start of the winter. However, they did little to reinforce Carter administration predictions of a booming second quarter.

The nation's output of goods and services in the first quarter declined 0.6 percent, particularly because of the coal strike, the weather and declining automobile sales.

Lingering thunderstorms dissipated around midnight in North Central Texas.

Nighttime skies were generally fair over the western two-thirds of the state and cloudy and foggy in South Central Texas and the coastal plains.

The Lubbock area forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and cooler temperatures near 70 today, in the mid-40s to night and in the low 60s Tuesday.

The wind will be northeasterly at 15 to 20 miles an hour today and 10 to 15 miles an hour tonight.

The extended forecast for West Texas predicts partly cloudy skies and cool weather through Friday with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in the eastern parts of the region Thursday.

New Mexico should have mostly cloudy skies and scattered showers with a few thunderstorms through Tuesday, the National Weather Service said today.

Showers might be mixed with snow in the mountains of northern New Mexico tonight and Tuesday.

Precipitation so far this year in Lubbock has totaled only 2.42 inches or more than four inches less than the 6.79 that had fallen here through May 1, 1977.

May is normally a good rain month for Lubbock with an average of 3.17.

Lubbock County Agent Ken Cook said last week that a two- to three-inch rain is needed to get South Plains farmland into shape for cotton planting.

The South Plains agricultural forecast this morning said showers probably will produce up to a half-inch if they come.

smoked bacon today will cost $2.03. The cost has increased in steady increments since last May, when it was $1.53.

And the cost of a one-pound chicken fryer shows a steady increase, rising to 60 cents compared to 54 cents last month. Fryer costs have fluctuated wildly over the past 12 months, ranging from a low of 45 cents in August to 69-cent high in June.

The remainder of the items checked — some of which increased drastically in price last month — cost the same in May.

Round steak, which jumped in price 50 cents a pound in April, held at the same $1.89 per pound price this month. In March, the same amount of meat would have cost $1.39.

A pound of coffee, which is tagged at $3.49, held its own, as it has since last November, when it dropped a dime in price.

A 12-ounce jar of creamy peanut butter is holding steady at 82 cents, while the cost of a 49-ounce box of laundry detergent remains constant at $1.63.

Iceberg lettuce costs 59 cents a head, many of which weigh about a pound. This time last year it cost only 29 cents per pound, a price not seen locally since last August.

Staples such as a 10-pound bag of potatoes and a five-pound bag of flour continue to cost $1.19 and 85 cents, respectively. Both items have shown increases this year, when the potatoes jumped 20 cents in cost and the flour price increased 6 cents to their current prices.

For the second consecutive month, the cost of a pound of stick margarine held at 61 cents. In January, the cost had been 70 cents.

The cost of a large loaf of white bread also remained 61 cents, while a gallon of homogenized milk stayed at $2.04 for the second consecutive month.

Bread and milk at this time last year cost 59 cents and $1.92, respectively.

Stock Sale Announced

AUSTIN (AP) — Communications Properties, Inc., has announced that two of its principal shareholders have reached an agreement with the Times Mirror Co. to sell 53 percent of CPI's common stock to the Times Mirror.

The announced purchase price is $17 per share, in cash.

"The transaction is conditioned upon the negotiation and execution of a definitive agreement, obtaining necessary regulatory approvals and the satisfaction of certain other conditions," CPI said in a release.

CPI, with headquarters in Austin, said it owns and operates cable television systems with approximately 300,000 subscribers in a number of states in the East, South and Middle West.

CPI said Times Mirror also has agreed that upon completion of the purchase of 53 percent of the common stock, it will make a cash tender offer for all remaining shares of CPI's common stock at the same price.

The court's vote was 7-0. Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Lewis F. Powell Jr. did not participate in deciding the case.

Although the controversy involved a newspaper report, wording in Burger's 16-page decision clearly extended such First Amendment rights to broadcasters as well.

Goldwater Defends General's Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that President Carter rather than Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub should have resigned from office following Singlaub's public denunciation of the president's foreign and defense policies.

"In his (Singlaub's) differences with President Carter, I say the wrong man resigned," said Goldwater, a retired major general in the Air Force reserve.

Singlaub agreed last week to accept early retirement from the Army.

He had been summoned to the Pentagon for blasting Carter's decisions to cancel production of the B-1 bomber, for delaying production of the neutron warhead and for signing the Panama Canal treaties.

In a speech on the Senate floor, Goldwater said: "I associate myself personally with everything General Singlaub has to say and ... I believe President Carter has yet to make a correct decision in the field of military strategy or foreign policy."

Goldwater, R-Ariz., described Singlaub as "a brave and courageous man."

Singlaub was recalled as commander of U.S. Forces in Korea last year after he publicly opposed Carter's plan for the withdrawal of U.S. troops there.

He was reassigned and was serving as chief of staff of the Army's training command in Atlanta when he made his second blast at Carter before a college audience.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd said, Singlaub "was permitted one indiscretion... In this situation, two strikes and you're out. In my opinion he ought to have been retired on the first strike."

In his brief statement, Goldwater made no reference to the tradition of civilian control over U.S. military policies and a policy of uniformed officers avoiding public criticism of those policies.

Instead, Goldwater said, Singlaub was "willing to stand out alone among his fellow officers and declare what he feels to be right."

Byrd said for high-ranking military officers to go around the country criticizing policies set by a civilian president "would lead only to confusion, chaos and misunderstanding."

Primary Care Emphasized

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — For the first time in recent years, more primary care physicians than specialists are being trained in California.

The figures, compiled by the California Medical Association, suggest there will be a turnaround in the declining percentage of primary care physicians in practice.

In fact, a "cautionary note should be sounded so that the production of primary care physicians does not create an imbalance in future years," said Michael Jones, association director of research.

Primary care physicians are general and family practitioners, internists, pediatricians and obstetrics-gynecology specialists.

In 1970, there were 3,401 physicians in training in the state, and 1,331 (39.1 percent) were in primary care. In 1976, there were 3,282 physicians in training, and 2,743 (83.6 percent) were in primary care.

Two Industries Angered By Book

By MARTIN MERZER
 NEW YORK (AP) — A new book written by the youngest captain in the U.S. Merchant Marine is sending waves of anger through the natural gas and shipping industries.

Peter van der Linde's book, called "Time Bomb," details what he and co-author Naomi Hintze believe to be the dangers associated with the transport of liquefied natural gas (LNG) from overseas to U.S. storage tanks near densely populated areas.

"My experiences at sea — and salt water has been our dinner table conversation for as long as I can remember — all lead me to believe that accidents are the one thing we can be sure of," said van der Linde, a thin, intense 28-year-old who had never had anything published before "Time Bomb."

"If there is an accident like we visualize in a populated area, literally millions could be killed."

LNG is natural gas that has been chilled to minus 260 degrees Fahrenheit, a process that shrinks its volume and allows huge amounts to be transported by ship and then stored. Last year, about 16 billion cubic feet of LNG — most of it from Algeria — was imported by the United States, and officials predict that within 20 years, 3 trillion cubic feet of LNG will be shipped here.

Currently, there are two LNG storage facilities in operation, one in a desolate part of Cove Point, Md.; the other in densely populated Boston. Another facility has been completed in Staten Island, N.Y., but local objections have kept it from opening.

Critics charge that LNG, if a leak should occur, spreads quickly and is highly volatile. A draft version of a U.S. General Accounting Office report scheduled for official release in a few weeks says that a serious storm, earthquake or terrorist attack could result in the deaths of thousands of Americans.

Just one truckload of LNG, when exposed to the air, is enough to fill 110 miles of sewer line or 15 miles of a subway tube, the report said. One spark would set off massive explosions.

The draft report charged that the federal government has failed to act prudently and "has not adequately protected the public health and safety."

Industry officials, however, point out that more than 2,800 cargoes of LNG have been loaded and handled during the past 13 years and over one million miles of operations have been conducted without a single serious accident.

But van der Linde, who currently is the captain of an oil tanker, said that an incident involving LNG is inevitable.

"As long as you have human beings involved, there eventually will be an accident," he said. "One morning, someone will wake up on the wrong side of the bed, not be thinking, and there it will be."

"One of the greatest dangers is terrorism. The security on these tankers is almost non-existent. If a terrorist group took control of an LNG tanker and pulled to the foot of New York harbor, the whole city could be held hostage."

What van der Linde and some other critics are calling for is tighter security at LNG tankers and storage facilities and legislation forbidding LNG storage tanks near populated areas.

But industry spokesmen say that's not necessary.

"Most of the tanks being planned already are in desolate areas, and besides, we believe there are enough safety factors built-in so it's not so critical that they always be built in such areas," said

David Moorehead, a spokesman for the American Gas Association.

The book begins with an account of what might happen if an accident occurred at the Staten Island storage facility. In the fictional account, millions die and miles of the East Coast are destroyed.

"It was overdone and pretty hysterical," said Moorehead. "We think that's a little outrageous."

Van der Linde, whose father and brother were seamen and who has been at sea since the age of 12, also includes some sharp criticism of the shipping industry and its safety record.

"I haven't been told by the company I work for that I've been fired, but I have sensed a kind of coolness," he said.

He still goes to sea every few weeks and has been checking on book sales when he returns. The book has received generally favorable reviews, including one in the New York Times, and a section of it was published in a major magazine.

"I'm a seaman, not a writer," van der Linde said. "I'm not a cause person. I just want people to learn about this stuff before it's too late."

INDIGESTION — Texas A&M student Susan Lunn from Houston prepared to swallow jalapeno pepper number 24 while competing in a campus-wide Jalapeno Eating Contest recently. The contest was sponsored by the Recreation Committee. Miss Lunn ate 40 of the spicy peppers, but was edged out by Robert De La Garza of San Antonio, who ate 41 in the hour-long contest. Automakers Report Decline In Profits

DETROIT (UPI) — Inflation and sluggish car sales socked the Big Three automakers in the pocketbook early in the year, cutting their combined first quarter profits 16.4 percent from a year ago to $1.2 billion.

Ford Motor Co. completed the round of financial reports with first quarter earnings of $466 million, down 3.5 percent from its record $483 million profit last year.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. also reported fallen earnings with Chrysler posting a $119.8-million loss — its worst first quarter performance ever. GM's profits totaled $870 million, down 3.7 percent.

Each of the companies blamed inflationary pressures of rising labor and production expenses and a slower sales pace during the hard winter months for biting into their earnings. Last year, they amassed a combined profit of $1.46 billion — an all-time record for the first quarter.

Ford's earnings came on record income of $9.96 billion from worldwide sales. But the number of Ford cars and trucks sold in the period declined from 1,639,000 a year ago to 1,625,000 this year. Factory sales by GM and Chrysler, reported earlier, also were down.

Chairman Henry Ford II said the decline in earnings "primarily reflected a less profitable mix of vehicles" sold in the United States and Canada, higher labor costs and major investments in new product programs.

He said those negative factors were partially offset by gains in the exchange of foreign currencies associated mainly in the company's European operation.

The No. 2 auto firm's earnings amounted to $3.93 a share, compared with a record $4.10 per share profit a year earlier. Ford said the profit margin after taxes amounted to 4.7 percent, a decline from the record 5.3 percent margin last year.

The company's North American operation earned $232 million in the first quarter, down from $301 million last year. Ford operations outside North America earned $234 million — a strong improvement over the $182 million a year ago which, Ford said, came primarily in the European operation.

Earlier this month, the company declared a second quarter dividend of 90 cents a share.

Israel Entering Time Of Celebration, Trial

By BARRY SCHWEID
 WASHINGTON (AP) — It is a time of celebration for Israel, this 30th anniversary season, but also a time of trial as President Carter considers his next moves in the Middle East.

Friends and foes alike are counseling "flexibility" as Prime Minister Menachem Begin hop-scotches the country to attend parties marking creation of the Jewish state in 1948 out of the ashes of World War II.

It is pressure, not so much advice, and it may prove unnecessary if Carter wins his fight with Congress over the sale of jet planes to Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Israel's strength in Washington lies mostly with Congress, but if Carter can break the back of resistance to the weapons sales his hand will be strengthened considerably, making the next fight easier for the White House to win.

For Carter this is a time of frustration — and some political danger.

Begin has given a little ground on a role for Palestinian Arabs in peace negotiations. For the most part, though, he has not buckled.

He will not commit Israel to a withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan River. He does not accept the notion that 19 years of occupation by King Hussein's government somehow establishes Jordanian sovereignty while almost 11 years of Israeli occupation does not.

Begin says he is prepared to negotiate the West Bank's future and other key issues with Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon, and that Palestinian Arabs will be heard at that time.

But he does not intend to negotiate with Jordan through Egypt, or the United States, and it is highly unlikely Carter can get this stubborn old man to change his mind.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, asked last week if Israel had revised its stand on the U.N. Security Council resolutions in dispute between Washington and Jerusalem, responded without qualification: "No, not in any sense."

And yet Vance also said the administration is not about to put forward a peace plan of its own.

What this means is that Carter will keep pushing uphill, hoping that world opinion and a possible victory in the arms fight with Congress will shove Israel into concessions to the Arabs.

Should he reach a final dead-end the President then might have Zbigniew Brzezinski and other advisers formulate an American plan. This would have to look for an imposed settlement, confirm Israel's underdog role, and might prove unsuccessful anyhow.

Not to be discounted by Carter is the potential effects on the voter.

He has already lost much of the support he had from American Jews when he campaigned on a strong pro-Israel platform. If he is ineffective in seeking a Mideast settlement he will lose the backing of millions of other Americans as well.

It is not a very comfortable time for the President, for Begin or for Israel, which is heavily dependent on U.S. support to survive another 30 years.

There may be a way out of the dilemma, though, if Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat conclude that their countries cannot afford to drift in endless uncertainty.

This would be to resume where they suspended at Christmas in Ismailia — in direct Israeli-Egyptian negotiations. The risks for both leaders and both countries would be great, but there also would be a real prospect of peace.

Begin and Sadat would have to decide finally whether Jewish settlements are to remain in Sinai and under what security safeguards. Meanwhile, Israel would lose the buffer of a desert between it and the largest Arab state.

Reaching terms with Israel would isolate Sadat in the Arab world. But he was isolated last fall when he offered peace to Israel and survived, confounding the many Cassandras.

His people are clearly behind him. Peace would give him the place in Egyptian history he so much covets.

Texas' Jordan To Join Firm

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barbara L. Jordan, D-Texas, has accepted an invitation to join the board of directors of the Mead Corp. in 1979.

The announcement was made by board chairman James W. McSwiney during the firm's annual meeting recently.

Miss Jordan, 42, said she believes the public needs "a better understanding of corporate responsibility where that responsibility is exercised."

However, she cannot join the board until a director retires or shareholders elect her at the 1979 annual meeting.

"After two very extensive conversations with Mr. McSwiney, I decided this might be the place for me to begin my learning," the congresswoman said in a telephone interview from her Washington office.

"I think Mead is on the cutting edge" of positive, corporate citizen activities, she said. "They relate management policies to problems as they are defined by the community, soliciting from workers their ideas and their judgements about management actions," she said.

The three-term congresswoman, who was mentioned as a possible vice presidential candidate in the 1976 Democratic National Convention, said she does not intend to seek re-election.

She said she would be able to join the Mead board after Congress recesses in October for the November election. She also said she had discussed directorships with other corporations but declined to name them.

Mead is a diversified paper products manufacturer.

The Greek poet Pherecrates invented a meter, known as Pherecratean, which is found in the choruses of Greek tragedies as well as in works of Horace.

The Almanac TODAY IN HISTORY

 Today is Monday, May 1, the 121st day of 1978 with 244 to follow. This is "May Day."

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning star is Mercury.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Mars, Venus and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Taurus.

American entertainers Kate Smith and Jack Paar were born May 1 — she in 1909 and he in 1918.

On this day in history:

In 1873, penny post cards went on sale for the first time.

In 1884, work began in Chicago on a 10-story building called a "skyscraper."

In 1931, the Empire State Building — 102 floors, rising 1,250 feet — was dedicated in New York City.

In 1977, hundreds were arrested in Seabrook, N.H., in a protest demonstration against a nuclear energy plant.

A thought for the day: American humorist James Thurber, in a cartoon caption, said: "Well, if I called the wrong number, why did you answer the phone?"

Ole! Now we're talking real gusto! Just dice these extra-delicious nutritious, Piggy Wiggly garden vegetables; add a dash of love and green chili. Simmer them lightly and you have somethin' real special! A vegetable dish that is a delicious companion to just about any entree I can think of. And healthy? You betcha!

1/2 cup olive oil
1 garlic clove, crushed
1 lb. zucchini, diced kernels cut from four ears of corn bunch of scallions with green tops, sliced
1 4-oz. can chopped green chiles

1 green pepper, diced
1 red pepper, diced
1 T salt
1 T pepper
2 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and diced

Heat 1/2 cup olive oil in a large skillet; add garlic and saute over low heat for a couple of minutes. Add all vegetables except the tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Simmer the vegetables, covered, over low heat for about 15 minutes or until the vegetables are tender, but still crisp. Add the tomatoes and cook one minute longer.

State Campaigns Head Into Final Week

By The Associated Press
 Airport rallies, helicopter tours, a lakeside picnic, a tennis match with former candidate and former President Gerald Ford and a virtual deluge of television commercials are on tap in Texas this week as the campaign for the primary elections draws to a close.
 The politicians must put it all together this week prior to Saturday's elections. The fury of last-week campaigning was put into perspective by one campaign strategist.
 "They'll all be campaigning clear down to the last dollar," he said.
 Much of the attention is expected to center where it has throughout the campaign on the race between Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Attorney General John Hill for the Democratic Party's gubernatorial nomination.

 GOP attorney general candidate Jim Baker plans a tennis match with former President Ford to attract attention to his campaign.
 Gov. Briscoe, who normally dines on white linen with candlelight, is inviting supporters to a lakeside noon picnic in Austin.
 Hill will be carrying around a special rubber stamp with the word "VETO" in 4-inch letters to emphasize that he would not approve an income tax.
 In the battle for the Democratic Party's U.S. Senate nomination, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger expects to be called back to Washington for two of the final crucial days to vote on a budget bill and an emergency farm bill.
 But most of the candidates plan to cross as much of the state as they can during the final few days.

 Here generally, subject to frequent change, are the plans of top statewide candidates for the final week:
 Hill planned to be in Dallas and East Texas today and plans to be in Houston, San Antonio and the Valley Tuesday; in West Texas, Waco and back to Dallas Wednesday; hit the Panhandle, South Plains, El Paso and Midland-Odessa Thursday, and on Friday give a final fling at Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. The Hills will vote in Austin and there will be an election watch party at the Driskill Hotel.
 Briscoe had a 14-hour schedule set today in Dallas. Tuesday it will be Austin, Houston and Baytown. Wednesday he will be in Houston and the Valley. Thursday, he is back to Dallas, and back to Houston. Thursday it's Houston, Galveston, Texas City and the area before returning to Austin. There will be an auto tour of South Central Texas Friday, ending with a rally in San Antonio and a final hometown rally in Uvalde. The Briscoes vote Saturday in Uvalde and will watch returns at the Uvalde headquarters.

 Bill Clements, GOP candidate for governor, was to be in Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Amarillo today; in Houston and Dallas on Tuesday; in Houston, San Antonio and Austin on Wednesday; back to Austin, Dallas and Houston on Thursday; in Midland, Amarillo, Lubbock, Fort Worth and Dallas on Friday. The Clements will vote in Dallas and watch returns at the Baker Hotel.
 Ray Hutchison, Sunday began his final trek across the state from Austin. The Hutchisons will vote in Dallas and will meet supporters election night at the Hilton Inn.

 Krueger planned an East Texas swing today, ending up in Waco and Dallas. Tuesday he will be in Houston, Austin and Dallas. Wednesday and Thursday he expects to be in Washington for his congressional duties. Saturday he will work the polling places in San Antonio, an election day tradition in that city. He will spend part of the night in his hometown of New Braunfels, later going off to the Driskill Hotel in Austin.
 Krueger's opponent, Joe Christie, was to be in Austin, Waco, Fort Worth, Houston and the Golden Triangle today. Tuesday he goes on to Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and the Valley. Wednesday he will be in Corpus Christi, Austin, Waco and Dallas. Thursday he's back to the Golden Triangle, Houston, San Antonio and Austin. Friday he finishes his campaign with a trip to San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth. The Christies vote Saturday in El Paso. Then they will spend most of the day in Austin, before going on to Houston to watch election returns.

 Baker, who has no opposition in the Republican primary, is to meet the former president in "A Star-Spangled Night of Tennis" on Tuesday in Houston. Ford and Baker will be joined in a doubles match with tennis professionals John Newcombe and Dick Stockton.
 Mark White, a Democratic candidate for attorney general, will vote in Houston Saturday after his final campaigning.

Students Learn Medical Spanish

By CANDY SAGON
Avalanche-Journal Staff
 Texas Tech has the only medical school in the country where learning to say, "Donde duele?" is required of all sophomore level medical students.
 "Where does it hurt?" and other basic Spanish phrases necessary for a doctor to know are taught in a crash course in medical Spanish taken by all second-year medical students.
 Since their junior year is spent as interns in El Paso, medical school administrators feel it is critical that the students have a working knowledge of Spanish in order to be able to communicate with the Mexican-American patients there.
 And because so many Mexican-Americans live in the West Texas area served by the Tech medical school, the school also has begun advising entering freshmen medical students to have a working knowledge of Spanish before enrolling.
 Those freshmen who have no knowledge of Spanish will be required to take a year of the language at the undergraduate level in addition to the medical Spanish course in their sophomore year.
 Dr. Roberto Bravo, an associate professor of Romance languages, has taught the medical Spanish course since it began last spring.
 When the 40 sophomore medical students assemble in his classroom on the first day of the semester, 60 percent of them will have no or very little knowledge of Spanish, Bravo says.
 In approximately 10 weeks, he must teach them the Spanish names for all the anatomical terms and illnesses they have just become familiar with in English during their first year of medical school.
 The students also must learn how to ask a patient's family history in Spanish, how to conduct a physical exam, how to ask a patient to perform simple tasks, such as sitting up or looking in a certain direction, and how to ask patients questions about every major area of the body.
 Bravo hands out about 25 pages of materials to the students, listing all the terms and phrases they need to know. Students also learn what Bravo terms "vital verbs" in Spanish, such as "breathe," "open," "close," "stand up" and "cough."

The course, he says, "is the practical, easiest, fastest way of learning Spanish." Grammar is not stressed. Instead, Bravo works toward teaching the class fluency in spoken Spanish. "I want them to be able to communicate with their Spanish-speaking patients. I gear the whole course to be understandable by people in everyday life."
 Bravo says he teaches the students "Tex-Mex," or popular Spanish. He does not teach the formal medical terms for illnesses and conditions, but the terms commonly used by Spanish-speaking patients.
 But in addition to the language, Bravo also teaches his students something about their future patients' culture and daily way of life.
 "Language can't be taught in a vacuum. As doctors they must know something about the Mexican-American culture," Bravo says.
 So the sophomores are taught about Mexican-American family structure, diet, religious beliefs, ideas about folk medicine, crime, alcoholism and how it feels to be a member of a minority.
 "Many of the Mexican-Americans these students will treat will have deep inferiority feelings — they won't feel they deserve to be seen by a doctor," Bravo explained.
 All the materials used by the class have been assembled by Bravo himself. "I couldn't find a book suited to my purpose," Bravo said, so he collected several books, both in English and in Spanish, and set about making up class materials from which the students could learn.
 "I followed the procedures doctors must go through, translating them to Spanish. There are plenty of doctors in my family, so I know the necessary phrases," Bravo said.
 The class meets twice a week for 1 1/2 hours. After Bravo lectures, the class is split into small groups to work with tutors who drill the students on the day's lesson.
 "The response of the students this year has been excellent. They're very eager to learn," Bravo said.
 He added that he is working on developing cassette tapes for next year's class, so students can get more exposure to hearing spoken Spanish.

Charges Slated In Park Fight

DALLAS (UPI) — Attempted capital murder charges were expected to be filed today against a 22-year-old man in connection with a fracas between police and several persons at a city park Sunday.
 Homicide investigator Loyd Richey said the incident began when park policeman A.L. Flowers issued a parking ticket to an individual who tore it up, threw it to the ground and began cursing.
 Flowers then arrested the suspect, and several persons began fighting with Flowers and his partner C.J. Ledbetter.
 One man, not the person who had been ticketed, grabbed Flowers' gun, knocked the officer to the ground and threatened to kill him, Richey said. Ledbetter tried to wrestle the gun away, but the suspect managed to jerk away from Ledbetter, who then fired four shots, wounding the suspect in the leg, Richey said.
 Richey said the suspect ran from the scene and was arrested later at Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas.
 Flowers and Ledbetter were treated for minor injuries received in the fighting.
 Richey denied witnesses' reports that Ledbetter's shots were fired into the crowd of onlookers.
 Police were searching for the man originally ticketed, for investigative purposes, Richey said.

LHS Class Of '48 Plans Reunion

Lubbock High School's class of 1948 is planning a reunion for Sept. 15-17. Those interested should contact Iris (Jeffcoat) Chetty at 799-3181, or Maxine (Boyd) McKelvy at 799-1985, for registration.
 Also helping with the reunion are Billie (Foster) Rutherford, Wilda (Nichols) Stone and Shelly (Furr) Hall.
 The classes of 1946, '47, '48, '49 and '50 are also invited. Any who were teachers at Lubbock High during the years mentioned are requested to contact Mrs. Chetty or Mrs. McKelvy at the above numbers.
 Anyone wishing to help should contact Dot Lawson, who also is collecting written information. Her address is 4504 54th Street, Lubbock, Texas, 79414, phone 795-6347.

Conservationists Rate State Congressmen

By MILLER BONNER
 WASHINGTON (AP) — There appear to be only two Texas congressmen who are very conservation-minded — at least in the eyes of the League of Conservation Voters.
 In a point system devised by the organization, Bob Eckhardt of Houston earned an 87, making him the Texas House conservation champ for the third consecutive year, and Jim Mattox of Dallas received an 80. Both are Democrats.
 But their ratings contrasted sharply with those of retiring Democrats W.R. "Bob" Poage and Olin "Tiger" Teague, who received zeros.
 In a report issued today by the league, the average score for all 435 House members was listed as 47, based on votes cast on 20 environmental issues in 1977. The votes covered such topics as strip mining, air pollution, water projects, nuclear power, solar energy and energy conservation.
 According to the report, the 24-member Texas delegation voted "correctly" on conservation legislation only 25 percent of the time.
 In third place with 47 points was Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, followed by Reps. Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, 45; and J.J. Pickle, D-Austin, with 40.

 Three other Texas Democrats with the lowest scores were George Mahon of Lubbock with a 3, and Dale Milford of Grand Prairie and Sam B. Hall, Jr. of Marshall with 5's.
 Both Texas Republicans, Bill Archer of Houston and Jim Collins of Dallas, scored 30. House-wide, Republicans averaged 28.5 percent, compared with 56 percent posted by the Democrats.
 Ratings received by the rest of the Texas delegation were:
 Ray Roberts of McKinney, 9; Jack Brooks of Galveston, 21; Jack Hightower of Vernon, 11; John Young of Corpus Christi and Omar Burleson of Anson, 14;

E. "Kika" de la Garza of Mission, 15; Barbara Jordan of Houston, 35; Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, 30; Senate candidate Bob Krueger of New Braunfels, 18; and Robert White of El Paso, Bob Gammage of Houston and "Chick" Katzen of Laredo, 20.

The Slim Gourmet

There are few main course items a waistline-watcher could choose that are less fattening than codfish. At only 360 calories, a whole pound of codsteaks or filets has fewer calories than a single hamburger. Because cod is so low in fat and high in protein, a whole pound of fish makes four servings. That brings the calorie count to only 90 a serving. How many main course choices can you name that are under 100 calories?

Today, we've got a trio of savory ways to bake codfish. If you're using frozen fish, allow it to defrost in its wrapper overnight in the refrigerator.

OVEN-BARBECUED COD
1 pound codsteaks or filets, in 4 serving pieces
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon onion flakes
1/8 teaspoon instant garlic (or to taste) salt and pepper to taste few drops liquid hot pepper sauce
Arrange fish in a single layer in a baking dish just large enough to hold it. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread over top of fish. Bake in a 375-degree oven 15 to 25 minutes depending on thickness of fish. Baste frequently. Fish is ready when it flakes easily. Serves four, 115 calories each.

CRISPED COD
1 pound cod filets, in 4 serving pieces
1/2 cup crushed high-protein cereal, or corn flakes
2 tbsps. diet mayonnaise salt and pepper to taste
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder, or to taste
1/8 teaspoon paprika
1/3 cup skim milk
Defrost fish, if frozen. Place in single layer in non-stick baking dish. Mix cereal, mayonnaise and seasonings thoroughly. Spread evenly over surface of filets. Pour milk around filets.
Bake, uncovered, about 20 to 25 minutes at 375 degrees, until fish is white and opaque. Do not overcook. (Time will vary depending on thickness of fish.) Makes four servings, 120 calories each.

SPANISH COD BAKE
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 teaspoon olive (or other) oil
4 tbsps. dry sherry wine
1 onion, minced
1 green bell pepper, seeded and diced
1 small bay leaf
1 clove garlic, minced (or 1/8 teaspoon instant)
16-ounce can stewed tomatoes, well broken up
1 pound cod filets or steaks
Combine mushrooms, olive oil and 2 tablespoons wine in non-stick skillet. Cook and stir over high heat until mushrooms brown. Stir in remaining ingredients, except cod. Simmer, uncovered, 5 or 6 minutes. Remove bay leaf.

Arrange cod in a single layer in shallow non-stick baking pan. Cover with sauce. Bake uncovered, in a 375-degree oven 15 to 25 minutes, basting occasionally, until fish flakes easily. Makes four servings, about 155 calories each.

Fish is brainy food, because it's nutritious and non-fattening. For more seafood slimmers, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents to SLIM GOURMET NEW ENGLAND FRESH FISH DISHES, in care of this newspaper, Sparta, N.J. 07871.

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦Q ♠KQ1076 ♦A83 ♠J1072

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♣ Pass 2 ♠
Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

A.—Since partner made a vulnerable overall, he should have reasonable values. Therefore, your hand merits one more try for game. The bid that comes to mind is two no trump.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦K92 ♠Q1075 ♦AJ83 ♣84

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Dble. Rdbld. 2 ♠
Pass 3 ♣ ?

A.—Bid three hearts. It would be foolish to pass the decision around to partner because he may have no convenient rebid. So you must act now, and the recommended action describes your hand perfectly—good support for partner's suit, but a minimum in terms of your re-double.

Q.3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦A8 ♠AKJ1062 ♦95 ♣872

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

A.—Partner's two-over-one response has not improved your hand. You still have the same minimum opening bid you started with, and the only way to show that is to make a simple rebid of two hearts.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦A10976 ♥5 ♦Q85 ♠J762

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Dble. ?

A.—You do not have enough to re-double, but a pass now has nothing to recommend it. By the time the auction gets back to you, you may not be able to compete with any degree of safety. We suggest you bid one spade now. If the auction develops favorably, you can show your support for partner's suit later.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦AK10865 ♥AKJ982 ♦9

Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond. What do you bid now?

A.—There is no question that you want to play in one of your suits. Therefore you must make sure that you get the chance to show both suits. A double could accomplish that, but it runs the risk that partner might pass for penalties. We prefer a cue-bid of two diamonds, to make sure that partner responds and then keeps the bidding open one round to allow you to describe your hand.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦852 ♥954 ♦763 ♣AJ95

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠
2 ♥ Pass Pass 3 ♠
3 ♥ Pass ?

A.—Partner must have a pretty good hand to bid all the way to the three-level on his own when vulnerable, and your club holding will be a pleasant surprise for him. Nevertheless, we suggest you pass. Partner didn't open with a demand bid and did not take advantage of the various opportunities he had to force you to bid. Therefore, your values should be just about enough to enable him to make his contract.

Q.7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦AQJ7 ♥A83 ♦AKQ5 ♣Q6

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♣ Dble. Pass 4 ♥
Pass ?

A.—The heart suit must be solid—partner must have the other high honors for his jump to game when you are looking at the ace. Slam is a very live possibility, providing your side has no more than one club loser.

If partner has a singleton club or the king, slam will, at worst, depend on a finesse and the odds are that it will succeed because of East's opening bid. Bid five hearts to ask partner about his club holding.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦Q7 ♥Q10 ♦K952 ♣AJ985

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♥ Pass Pass 1 ♠
2 ♣ Dble. 2 ♥ Dble.
Pass Pass Pass

A.—It sounds as if dummy is going to come down with short clubs, two or three hearts and little or nothing in the way of high-card strength. Declarer will hope to get a couple of club ruffs in dummy. Your object is to prevent this by getting trumps out of the way as soon as possible, and the best way to protect your club tricks is to lead a trump right away.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" S. Nelson is perhaps one of the more spectacular examples of the stunning results that may be attained through Pat Walker's Figure Perfection Salons International. Read what she has to say about the program that has benefited millions throughout the world over the past 26 years:

"I hated myself fat, and every new year I promised to really get with it and lose; however, it never happened. Finally my doctor advised me, tactfully, to stay out of his office until I decided to lose weight. He just couldn't help me. Out of desperation, not believing, I called for a courtesy treatment at Pat Walker's. This was the turning point in my life. With a loss of 51 pounds and several inches, I began to enjoy my life with my friends and family, especially my three grandchildren. The Pat Walker program gave me a positive approach to everyday living."

How's your approach to life?
Now the national director for Pat Walker, Ms. Nelson firmly believes the program can upgrade the life outlook of the overweight as surely as it makes them slimmer, trimmer, more confident of their appearance—and themselves.
In the elegant atmosphere of a Pat Walker salon (where there's none of the noise and confusion you may have encountered at gyms and spas), you can reduce IN ABSOLUTE PRIVACY. Moreover, you have assistance from interested professional counselors (who also conduct their counseling, by the way, in complete privacy).

Another difference: SYMMETRICON
Symmetricon is the equipment, exclusive to Pat Walker's, providing passive exercise that gently shapes and firms your figure while it also improves your circulation and helps correct posture. You wear your regular street clothes during treatments. At Pat Walker's you can lose weight (and keep it off) ON YOUR OWN INDIVIDUALIZED PROGRAM—without strenuous physical exercise or stringent diets.

'Copter Firm Eyes New Sales Market

BY BRUNO V. RANNIELLO
STRATFORD, Conn. (UPI)—When a new S-76 helicopter touches down on an offshore oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico, the economic recoil goes all the way to the board room of Sikorsky Aircraft.

Since the late Igor I. Sikorsky flew the world's first practical helicopter here in 1939, military markets have been the firm's bread and butter. But Sikorsky is now aiming its helicopter program, spearheaded by the S-76, at the lucrative fields of offshore oil explorations and travel for average commuters and corporate executives.

Sikorsky currently has more than $410 million in military contracts and projected sales for another $3.6 billion that alone will create income and thousands of additional jobs for the next decade.

In the past 14 months, Sikorsky has landed three Defense Department contracts that will almost double its work force to 11,000 workers by 1981 and pump millions into the area economy.

But the firm is anxious to compete with the fixed-wing aircraft market and its vast sales potential worldwide. Sikorsky has orders from 39 operators in 14 countries for 138 of the $1 million twin-turbine engine S-76 that carries 14 persons and travels up to 175 mph over a range of up to 675 miles. The first S-76 will be delivered in July.

The thrust of the firm's renaissance is spearheaded by its president since 1973, Gerald Tobias, a 52-year-old native of Minnesota with more than three decades of aerospace management experience.

Tobias is credited with being the impetus that has solidified Sikorsky's position as the world's leading helicopter builder.

The upswing has brought about a $100 million retooling and modernization program at the 250-acre Stratford plant and the firm has opened a development flight test center in West Palm Beach, Fla. Expansion also is underway at Sikorsky's Bridgeport facilities, where that city rents airport space to the firm.

Tobias has more projects on the burner, including a helicopter able to fly as fast as 345 mph forward and up to 45 mph in reverse. Known as the Advancing Blade Concept, the double-rotor helicopter combines the advantages of a low speed helicopter with those of a high-speed aircraft without a wing.

Competitive bidding also is going on to supply the Coast Guard with a short range rescue and recovery helicopter derived from the S-76.

The S-76 is a far cry from 1919 when Sikorsky fled Russia to the United States, barely able to speak English and with just $600 to his name. He was the son of a psychology professor and a mother who fired his imagination with stories of Leonardo da Vinci's attempts to fly 400 years earlier.

Sikorsky put together his company in 1923 with money invested by friends — including the composer Rachmaninoff. He relocated here from Roosevelt, Long Island, N.Y., in 1929, the same year he merged with United Aircraft Corp., now United Technologies Corp.

When he came to America, Sikorsky temporarily put his dream of rotary flight aside to develop and produce the successful Clipper seaplanes that became famous during the 1930s.

Finally, on Sept. 14, 1939 he flew his VS-300, and the world had its first practical helicopter. The VS-300 was a four-cylinder, 75 horsepower aircraft with a three-blade rotor only 28 feet in diameter.

Sikorsky lifted the open seat helicopter several inches into the air while men held it close to the ground with ropes attached to the landing gear struts. As more confidence was gained, the ropes were dropped and the first free flight was made in May 1940.

After his death in 1972 at 83, UTC's chairman of the board and chief executive officer, Harry Gray, brought in Tobias.

Tobias wasted no time in working to land military contracts, but his most ambitious project is the S-76, the world's first helicopter developed solely as a commercial helicopter.

With the predicted boom in off-shore oil drilling, Tobias sees the S-76 as the prime practical mode of transportation. He's also confident it will begin penetrating the small fixed-wing propeller aircraft market.

Marina Owner Says Brine Dangerous

LEEVIIE, La. (UPI) — A Lafourche Parish marina owner says shrimp and other fish in Bay Marchand could be sentenced to death if the Louisiana Superport is allowed to dump brine in its waters.

"I'm no shrimp," said Charles Hardison last week. "But I'm just going by what the old people tell me — that a great number of your shrimp come along the beach and lay their eggs. But if their eggs go through that brine they're going to come out on the other side pickled. There's no way for them to hatch."

Hardison, who owns a deep sea charter service in Leeville, La., said the Louisiana Offshore Oil Project (LOOP) should be forced to dump the salty water farther out in the Gulf of Mexico. He said he would sue if LOOP officials went ahead with their disposal plans.

"I'm 1,000 percent in favor of the Superport but I'm 10,000 percent against them dumping that stuff in the bay," Hardison said.

Hardison said the brine would kill all types of seafood from Racoon Point to Timbalier Bay.

LOOP, a six-company oil consortium scheduled to build the Superport 19 miles off the tip of the Louisiana coast, plans to store 32 million barrels of oil in underground salt domes near the coast.

The salt domes will be flushed out with water to create eight separate cavities to store the oil. The salt-saturated water that results from flushing operations will be dumped in Bay Marchand, but LOOP officials said the salty water will be virtually harmless to marine life.

Dail Calicott, environmental affairs director for LOOP, said a recent study done by Louisiana State and Nicholls State Universities indicated the salinity of the water 100 feet from the waste line would only increase 2½ parts per thousand.

That would be enough to kill certain "bottom dwelling, nonmobile animals," Calicott said, but not enough to harm the shrimp population.

Nigerians Making Move To Restore Democracy

By LARRY HEINZERLING
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Despite bloody political upheavals in its past and deep tribal divisions in its present, Nigeria's soldier-rulers are moving decisively to restore democracy in black Africa's most populous nation.

Civilians are scheduled to regain power later this year under a U.S.-style constitution that will end more than a decade of military rule. If the transfer goes smoothly, this oil-rich nation could become a model to dozens of other tribally-divided African states plagued by military coups, counter-coups and palace revolutions.

Since 1966 when soldiers seized power from the former British colony's first and only civilian government, Nigeria's 80 million people have witnessed the assassinations of three heads of government, a bloodless coup and a civil war that took thousands of lives.

Weary of fratricidal political infighting stemming from deep tribal divisions, the Nigerians are seeking a new path to national unity.

Few Nigerians oppose an end to military rule, but mostly junior ranking officers in the 221,000-man army are said to be unhappy about relinquishing their power to a civilian government.

Two fears emerge, however, in casual conversations with Nigerians.

One is that the existing military government may be toppled before civilian rule is restored. The other is that the nation's politicians, notorious in the past for their corruption and tribal squabbling, may be overthrown by the army only months after they have assumed power.

Addressing 228 delegates at the opening session last Oct. 6 of the elected constituent assembly debating the draft constitution, head of state Gen. Olusegun Obasanjo urged Nigerians "never to repeat the mistakes of the past, but rather to draw from their experiences."

He added: "A country with the best form of government in the world is that country with a constitution that respects individual liberty, protects minorities and promotes the rule of law, justice, peace, harmony, integration, prosperity

"We believe, God helping us, that we will succeed."

At the heart of Nigeria's past woes is the rivalry among the nation's three main tribal groups, the Moslem Hausas of the north, the Catholic Ibos of the east and the Christian and Animist Yorubas of the west.

Since the country's independence in 1960, the struggle for power has revolved around these three groups juggling for supremacy, with the north usually maintaining dominance. The registration of 47.7 million voters has just been completed with 52 percent from northern states.

So far, the effort to restore civilian rule has taken this disruptive political fact of Nigerian life into consideration.

Members of the constituent assembly meeting in the old parliament building include Nigerians of all tribal and political allegiance.

One measure of the depth of the country's sincerity in seeking national unity is the presence of Pius Okigbo, an Ibo and former minister of economics under the break-away Biafran government.

Biafra's abortive secession from Nigeria in 1967 plunged the nation into a 30-month civil war and its people faced a multitude of problems arising from the rebellion, including massive starvation.

The draft constitution itself has unique Nigerian features aimed at promoting national unity at several levels.

Political party membership must "reflect the federal character of Nigeria," according to the constitution. The cabinet, appointed by the president, must include members from each of Nigeria's 19 states.

The predominance in the federal government or its agencies "of persons from a few states, or from a few ethnic or other sectional groups shall be avoided," the constitution says.

The creation of 19 states in itself is an attempt to decentralize political and tribal allegiance in a country which was originally made up of a federation of the three main tribal regions.

In addition, the constitution insists that the president must not only gain a majority of votes in a national election but secure not less than 25 percent of the total number of votes cast in each of at least two-thirds of all the states.

This provision makes it impossible for a candidate in the populous north who might win a majority of votes to become president without support in other tribal regions.

Foreign observers here say political activity, still officially banned, is beginning to surface as groups quietly jockey for support.

Some of Nigeria's old-guard politicians, such as Yoruba Chief Obafemi Awolowo, are reviving old party machines. Younger, political unknowns are also emerging.

But the winning combination could be a coalition of Hausas and Ibos in the proposed 450-member House of Representatives. It was this coalition that ruled in the early days of independence under Prime Minister Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, killed in the first of two coups in 1966.

Church Group Eyes Use Of Satellites

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Southern Baptist Convention demonstrated recently a way of converting "exotic space communications technology" to practical use for missions and religious radio and television programming.

A signal was beamed from the Southern Baptists' Radio and TV Commission's television studio in Fort Worth to the First Baptist Church of Nashville, Tenn., via a satellite 22,300 miles above the earth.

Officials said the launching of the space shuttle program in 1980 will open the way for transmission of the commission's 3,406 radio and television programs weekly to 2,386 radio and television stations in the nation and world, transmission of missionary programs to remote overseas villages and transmission of the annual Southern Baptist conventions to key cities, saving travel time and money.

Davy Crockett's Death At Alamo Wins Support

AUSTIN (UPI) — A writer has come to the defense of Davy Crockett, contending that there is no proof Crockett did not die in the battle for Texas Independence from Mexico.

John Knaggs, author of "The Bugles are Silent", challenged conclusions in another new book which says Crockett either surrendered or was taken prisoner at the Alamo on March 6, 1836, and was executed by Mexican soldiers.

That book, "How Did Davy Die?", by Dan Kilgore, past president of the Texas State Historical Association, quotes the diaries and recollections of six Mexican soldiers who said Crockett had been executed — not killed at the Alamo.

Knaggs said the Mexican soldiers who contended Crockett was executed were not in Santa Anna's inner circle and their ability to identify Crockett was questionable.

He said Francisco Ruiz, the mayor of San Antonio at the time of the battle, and Mrs. Almeron Dickerson, wife of a Texas artillery commander, identified Crockett's body in an open area near the Alamo chapel shortly after the battle.

"Ruiz and Mrs. Dickinson knew Crockett — the Mexican soldiers who said he surrendered did not know him," Knaggs said. "If Crockett had been executed, it's highly likely that Ruiz and Mrs. Dickinson would have learned of it."

Knaggs said Crockett "probably was cut down with most of the Alamo defenders when the old mission was stormed by General Santa Anna's soldiers."

Maine Now Willing To Accept Settlement

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Maine Attorney General Joseph Brennan, who has argued against a negotiated settlement of the Indian land claim case for months, now says he will pursue an out-of-court deal so long as the federal government pays the bill.

Brennan met last week with Gov. James B. Longley and Thomas Tureen, chief lawyer for the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy tribes. Afterwards, Brennan said he had agreed to seek an out-of-court settlement of the Indian claim to two-thirds of Maine's territory, a course that has been urged on him by the federal government.

"We feel we have a responsibility to all the people of Maine to make every effort to pursue an equitable resolution of this matter and this meeting was designed for that purpose," Longley said in a statement released after the meeting. Longley's remarks differed markedly from many of his previous statements on the case, in which he sharply criticized Tureen and the idea of a settlement that would give land to the Indians without a court test first.

Brennan, a gubernatorial candidate who has gained wide publicity for his strong stand in favor of a court battle, maintained that his position on the issue had not changed. He said he still believes the state could successfully defend itself against the land claim in court.

The two tribes claim that two-thirds of Maine was taken from them wrongfully because Congress did not approve the land transfers as required by the federal Non-Intercourse Act of 1790. Brennan has argued, and Longley agreed, that the Non-Intercourse Act did not apply to Eastern Seaboard tribes.

Even if it did, they said, then it was the federal government's mistake, not the state's, that opened the door to the claim.

Under terms of a three-part February White House proposal for an out-of-court settlement, the tribes agreed to cancel their claims to all land except that belonging to 14 landowners with more than 50,000 acres. In exchange, the Carter administration agreed to ask Congress to appropriate $25 million for the two tribes, which now number about 4,000 Indians.

The tribes also agreed to cancel claims against the land held by the 14 largest landowners — half of whom are paper companies — in exchange for the right to buy 300,000 acres at $5-an-acre and options to buy another 200,000 acres at market value.

Land and damage claims against the state would be settled, the tribes agreed, in exchange for continuation of the current $1.7 million annual state support payment for 15 years.

Diver Thinks Crew Will Find Treasure

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Mel Fisher's summer will be the best of his life, he says, now that he doesn't have to worry about privateering government agents looking to plunder the $600 million in lost Spanish gold and silver he hopes to recover.

The 55-year-old Fisher's divers need the steady summer weather to hunt the bulk of the gold, silver, jewelry and rare artifacts from the Spanish galleon Nuestra Señora de Atocha, hidden somewhere beneath tons of mud on the ocean floor.

"This is going to be the best year of our lives," Fisher said. "I can see the clear blue sky on the legal end and everything else. I've finally got some treasure I can sell."

Mel Fisher and his Treasure Salvors, Inc., hunted seven years before locating the Atocha four years ago. Since then gold and silver and artifacts valued at $18 million have been brought to the surface.

They only hint at a king's ransom totaling between $100 million and $600 million still at the bottom, Fisher says.

Fisher predicts his crew will find the mother lode, the midsection of the ship, this summer.

"We haven't located it, but we have done so much towards locating it that we're hot on the trail and the discovery is imminent," Fisher said. "For sure there is another several tons of treasure that we've located by digging test holes every 100 to 200 feet. It's just a question of moving in there with larger horsepower and dusting the area off."

The Atocha lies scattered 40 miles of Key West where a 1622 hurricane sank it. The years have buried the remains beneath 12 feet of mud in water varying from 20 to 50 feet deep.

In 1975 divers pulled up a 1,400-pound bronze cannon which bore marks listed upon the Atocha's manifest, thus proving the identity of the wreck. Three days later, Fisher's rusty salvage boat Northwind rolled over in a heavy sea while its crew slept. Three persons, including Fisher's son and daughter-in-law died.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES PROPOSED TITLE XX SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN Public Comment Invited May 1-June 14

The proposed 1979 social services program for Texas residents has been prepared by the Texas Department of Human Resources in cooperation with citizens throughout the state.

COMPREHENSIVE ANNUAL SERVICES PROGRAM PLAN FOR TEXAS

October 1, 1978 to September 30, 1979

The Texas social services program helps residents support and take care of themselves, adjust to independent living, and offers them protective care.

SERVICES OFFERED—The services include day care and protective services for children, services for adults (including homemaker and chore services, and family care for aged and disabled persons), family planning, and employment services.

Most of the services will be available throughout Texas, but some may be limited to pilot projects, and others may be limited by the amount of funds. Some of the services may be expanded as funds become available.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?—Recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), and recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) are eligible.

Some services will be provided people whose incomes are below 55 percent of the state's median income, adjusted for family size. (For example, the income of a family of four must be less than $798.42 monthly.)

Only protective services and information and referral will be provided people whose incomes exceed 55 percent of the state's median income.

STANDARDS FOR FACILITIES SERVING SSI RECIPIENTS—The plan gives information about standards for residential facilities (other than those certified for Medicare or Medicaid) which serve SSI recipients. It includes the names and addresses of the agencies which will answer requests for information about standards, their enforcement, and waivers. If requested, the agencies will identify deficient facilities.

SOURCES OF ESTIMATED FUNDS—Total budget for 1978-79: $203,843,667. Sources: Federal $155,249,734; Non-federal $48,593,933.

GETTING COPIES OF THE PLAN—The complete plan may be read or reviewed in the DHR offices listed below, or obtained free of charge by writing to the Title XX Information Center. (See address below.)

QUESTIONS AND COMMENTS—Questions about the plan can be directed to the DHR offices listed. Solar Energy Industry Interests Investors

NEW YORK (AP) — The potential social and economic benefits of solar energy will be heralded in speeches, ceremonies and scientific demonstrations this week with the observance of "Sun Day" May 3.

At the same time, the financial possibilities of a solar energy "industry" are also sure to be on the minds of countless American investors schooled in the Wall Street tradition of looking for the investment opportunity in every development.

Few dispute solar's growth prospects as a business. As Standard & Poor's Corp. noted in a recent study entitled "Solar Energy — Dawning of a Growth Industry":

"Private spending on solar energy, less than $100 million last year, could pass the billion-dollar mark by 1982 and soar to over $30 billion a decade later."

It is, in fact, the kind of story Wall Street loves, offering a dream of vigorous and long-term growth, just as computers and office copiers did in the 1950s and 1960s.

But even some of the strongest believers in the future of solar energy are quick to caution that it holds potential pitfalls as well as profits for unwary investors.

"The situation has been made to order for the birth of hundreds of small businesses across the United States which are manufacturing, assembling or installing solar devices," Standard & Poor's observed.

"Architects and general building contractors are also getting into the act. Larger companies have been slow to take the plunge, but many are gathering information and making tentative moves into the market."

"It is a typical birth period for a new industry...but history indicates that few of the backyard entrepreneurs will grow large enough to be significant to investors, and no one can know which they will be."

"While many of the big companies will eventually fatten their books with solar business, only a handful are likely to get a significant share of sales and profits from it. For a while yet, solar investments must be viewed as sheer speculation."

SP counted more than 90 present publicly-held companies with solar-energy interests. They extend from over-the-counter companies with annual sales in the $30 million to $100 million range to the biggest industrial concerns in the country, like General Motors, Exxon, International Business Machines and Du Pont.

Though solar energy is seen as an infant industry, a good many aggressive investors have long been busy digging out stocks that might benefit from its growth — a factor of which investors looking now for a chance to "get in on the ground floor" should be aware.

For instance, two stocks recommended at prices below 10 last year by investment adviser Yale Hirsch, who has been emphasizing solar-energy research for more than a year, are now trading in the mid-20s.

Hirsch, who says he remains a "whole-hearted" believer in solar's growth prospects, nevertheless voices concern that "the media focus this week will lead many investors to stampede into 'solar stocks'. We urge extreme caution."

While some such issues may indeed offer great promise for the future, he suggested, there may be others whose current prices have already run far beyond what their realistic potential would justify.

His advice to would-be buyers: "Investigate any 'solar stock' very carefully."

Comedy Meager In New Drama

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Chaos and comedy are a familiar stage collaboration that turns meager and mild in "The 5th of July."

The play, about a group of weirdos who gather one Independence Day twilight on a Missouri farm, is being staged by off-Broadway's Circle Repertory Company.

The production is the 21st collaboration between author Lanford Wilson and director Marshall W. Mason, and its modest effectiveness may say something about protracted partnerships.

Its zany characters bear some resemblance to those in the team's most successful prior exhibit, "The Hot I Baltimore." Repetition of the formula is weakened, however, by coincidence beyond their control.

Four of the people in "The 5th of July" represent veterans of the Berkeley campus turmoil of the 1960s — and that is the period that has been getting much rueful nostalgic attention recently in scripts by other members of the younger playwrighting generation. Alas and alack for lost dreams, they all keep mumbling. The fad is getting tiresome.

Wilson never has been a man to let one word do the work of a half-dozen, so repetitious prolixity along with overworked profanity accentuate monotony.

The plotting involves a paraplegic Vietnam soldier, his sister, a copper heiress and a raunchy pal who completed the militant quartet of yore; plus a precocious lass of 13 addicted to screaming; someone's nice old aunt who keeps her husband's ashes in a candy box; a homosexual buddy for the ex-soldier; and a guitar-bearing visitor who keeps saying "Far Out!" The complexities defy terse recap.

Mason's resident players show increasing satisfaction with their ability to speak over each other and avoid crisp diction. And, as usual, an elaborately detailed setting of a country house has been provided by John Lee Beatty.

"The 5th of July" is a date to forget.

Tomorrow's Horoscope
 By Bernice Bede Osol

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) As long as you don't get careless, follow any hunches you get tomorrow regarding ways to add to your income. Your instincts will be keener than usual.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A serious dilemma can be solved tomorrow through discussions with several friends. Focus on the problem. Don't let unrelated riddles sidetrack you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't make assumptions based upon partial evidence tomorrow. Take time to study conditions carefully. Your chances for success will be excellent.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Tomorrow will be a good day to talk directly to persons who can help you achieve your goals. Don't deal with go-betweens.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be careful tomorrow in sharing confidential information. Someone with selfish intentions may try to steal your thunder.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A meeting of the minds tomorrow concerning an important venture can be achieved provided you don't pretend to know more about a subject than you really do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Tomorrow will be harvest time for the fruits of your labors. The crop could be disappointing if you're convinced that more was due.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you'll be quite explicit regarding your aims tomorrow, a misunderstanding still could arise because of the unusual way you conduct yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be so wrapped up in your efforts to provide for your family that you ignore a plea from someone in urgent need of your help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might be in such a convivial mood tomorrow that you could take a flyer on a person you know little or nothing about. Don't.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You can accomplish that which you set your mind to tomorrow with satisfying results, provided you remain realistic about your goals.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will take a no-nonsense approach in your dealings tomorrow, which will get things done. However, you could offend someone if you're undiplomatic.

Your Birthday

A State Income Tax. A Hangman's Noose For Texas.

If you think taxes are choking you now, consider the possibility of a State income tax. It would be a noose around your neck. Around the neck of every Texan. And around the future of Texas.

A vote for John Hill is a vote for:

- bigger government.
- more government spending.
- more inflation.

AND FOR A STATE INCOME TAX.

A vote for Dolph Briscoe is a vote for:

- fiscal responsibility
- less — not more — government.
- continued economic growth.

AND FOR NO NEW TAXES.

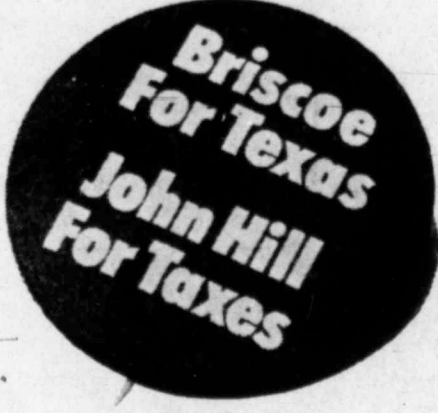

- We don't need New York-style government in Texas.
- We don't need Washington-style bureaucracy in Texas.
- And we don't need a big spending liberal activist as Governor of Texas.

LET'S KEEP DOLPH BRISCOE AS OUR GOVERNOR.

"We are already footing the bill for run-away government in Washington. As Texans we should not have to foot the bill for run-away government in Austin."

"I don't think Texas should spend itself into a state income tax. That is exactly what will happen if Mr. Hill fulfills only some of his political promises."

TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Dow Jones Pushes Up To 840.87

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, once again ignoring inflation worries, rising interest rates and other adverse economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which climbed more than 10 points on Friday to its highest closing level of the year, added another 3.55 to 840.87 by noon today.

Gainers led a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market's sharp rise on Friday came in the face of a 0.8 percent jump in the consumer price index and the decision by New York's Chase Manhattan Bank to raise its prime lending rate from 8 to 8 1/2 percent.

Today several large banks in the Midwest matched that increase in the basic charge on blue chip loans. And the government reported that the index of leading economic indicators dropped 0.1 percent in March.

But stock prices showed none of their usual tendency to drop on such news. Analysts said the market's sharp rally since mid-April apparently had produced a surge of optimism among investors that didn't need favorable economic news to sustain it.

Eastman Kodak rose 1 1/2 to 52 1/2 in active trading, aided by favorable comment from the company from Barron's magazine.

The NYSE's composite index gained 21 to 54.11. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 37 at 136.73.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 13.78 million shares at noon, against 13.14 million at the same point on Friday.

PROTEST DISMISSAL — Large crowd turns out in Salisbury, Rhodesia, Sunday to protest the dismissal of Byron Hove from his post as co-minister of justice in the Rhodesian government. A faction in the biracial government demanded Sunday the reinstatement of Hove, but wavered on whether to quit the interim government over his firing. (AP Laserphoto)

Reinstatement Of Hove Urged

By JUDY YABLONKY SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Bishop Abel Muzorewa, considered the most popular black member of Rhodesia's new transition government, is threatening to quit the ruling executive council unless ousted black cabinet minister Byron Hove is reinstated.

Muzorewa and other leaders of his United African National Council met for four hours Sunday and demanded Hove's reinstatement as co-minister of justice. "The party is reviewing the whole question of its continued participation in the transitional government," said a statement.

The statement also demanded the dismissal of three white members of the council: Hove's co-minister and critic, Hilary Squier, for alleged breach of collective ministerial responsibility, and the army commander and police commissioner "for meddling in politics."

Hove, a Muzorewa appointee, was fired Friday after refusing to withdraw public demands for a better deal for blacks in the white-dominated police force and judiciary.

He told reporters in London that Muzorewa's resignation from the four-man executive council "could mean the collapse of the interim government."

Drug Agents Seize Large Haul Of Pot

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Narcotics agents here and in Washington — partners in efforts to cut the Colombian drug pipeline to the United States — are elated by the weekend seizure of a "mother load" of more than 500 tons of marijuana. They say it's the biggest bust ever.

Washington officials estimated the haul at 574 tons. But Interior Minister Jaime Serrano told reporters that dozens of Colombian police and troops grabbed 680 tons in a series of raids Friday and Saturday in the Guajira Peninsula village of Los Pajaros, 900 miles north of Bogota.

Austin Reinstates Police Officer

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin patrolman Robert Gross was reinstated Sunday night to regular duty status following the Saturday night shooting death of Clarence Davis, 31, Austin.

Police Chief Frank Dyson said Gross was placed on an off-duty status temporarily. He said the shooting would be investigated further today.

Investigators reported that Gross fired the single shot that killed Davis after he and Davis struggled over a gun. Gross and another officer went to a filling station to investigate a report there was a man holding a woman at gunpoint in the back of a van.

Gross climbed in the back of the van. There was a shot fired from Davis' gun. Gross drew his revolver and ordered Davis to drop his gun. Investigators said Gross fired one shot when Davis pointed the gun at the officer.

Woodpecker Wealthiest Among Cartoon Birds

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Though peevish Donald Duck and loud-mouthed Daffy Duck may dispute the claim, the world's richest bird is certainly Woody Woodpecker who earns several million dollars a year.

The unimpeachable source for this information is Woody's father, cartoonist Walter Lantz, who keeps the redheaded bird's accounts.

According to Lantz, who has only wispy gray hair himself, Woody's annual fortune is based on his starring role in 260 six-minute movies made between 1941 and 1974 and merchandising.

Woody's likeness appears on neckties, T-shirts, pajamas, games, jewelry, shoes and dozens of other items. Woody books bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Now, and this is difficult to believe, Woody has become a star in fine art. Paintings including his portrait sell for as much as $17,500 a canvas.

Of course, the work must be painted and signed by Lantz. The paintings are superb landscapes in their own right and would sell briskly without Woody, but for less than half the current price tag.

Lantz, a pioneer animator, has painted as a hobby for 40 years, selling his paintings for $1,500, mostly to acquaintances. Three years ago he painted Woody into one of his landscapes and was astounded at the reaction of people who saw the canvas.

Lantz, who has been a film cartoonist for 57 years, began including his other character creations, Oswald Rabbit, Chilly Willy and Andy Panda, in his paintings, all of which were quickly bought.

He copyrighted his combination of fine art and cartoons under the name of Happy Art and has sold some 75 or 80 canvases.

"At the age of 78 I'm starting a brand new career," said Lantz, whose name is an immigration official's corruption of his Italian surname, Lanza.

Not that Lantz has been out of action. He is the only independent cartoonist who has maintained ownership of all 400 of his cartoon movies. Only Disney Studios, according to Lantz, owns a larger store of original animated cartoons.

He's in his busy office every day putting together syndicated television packages and making deals even though his last Woody cartoon was made four years ago.

Lantz does all the cartoon editing himself. At the moment, 185 Woody Woodpecker cartoons, many of which have never been seen on television before, are syndicated on 32 stations.

Sixty-five countries now beam Woodypecker cartoons on television and another 72 nations still run the shorts in theaters. Additionally, Lantz annually reissues 13 cartoons to 12,000 theaters in the United States.

Income from these sources, plus the merchandising, have made Lantz a millionaire many times over.

Almost all of his new Happy Art paintings are sold through the Center Art Gallery in Honolulu, which also handles Red Skelton's paintings which, incidentally sell for as much as $35,000 a canvas.

"This whole new popularity of my paintings began as a whim," Lantz said.

"I drew Woody into a painting just as a gag. I can't understand why it caught on the way it did, but I'm mighty happy about it. Nobody was more surprised than I was when requests came in for more of them."

"I'm the first artist to combine cartoons with serious painting, and I'm the artist who has the rights to use Woody."

"I sent five Woody paintings to the Defense Department with Woody in the original uniforms of the Navy, Army, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Air Force. They hang in each of the offices of the chiefs of staffs."

"I'm having my own one-man art exhibit in Hawaii May 13. But I'm not advertising because the paintings have already been sold."

"I donate all the money from my paintings to charity. That's the real fun and enjoyment of painting to me."

Lantz is primarily a weekend painter and would like to produce more Woody Woodpecker cartoons, but finds it economically impossible.

"I never produced cartoons for television," he said. "Every one of my films was made for theatrical release. Now I simply can't afford to make them anymore."

"Four years ago it cost me $45,000 for six minutes. Today it would cost $85,000 because of the increased cost of labor. As a result no one makes cartoons for theaters."

"I was the last one to throw in the sponge. Theaters pay only about $15 a book for three days rental of a cartoon. I'd never live long enough to recoup $85,000. That's why other cartoon outfits only produce for television."

Lantz recently donated five truckloads of research, drawings, cells, storyboards and film to UCLA to establish the Walter Lantz archives.

"It's the largest, most complete animated film research facility in any university in the world," Lantz said. "It makes me feel as if I have really contributed something worthwhile to the arts."

Jacques Cousteau Searches For Lost Island 'Atlantis'

By JAY SHARBUTT
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's said those who forget history are destined to get a show about it from Jacques Cousteau. Indeed, he has two afoot, both about the famed legend of the "lost" island of Atlantis.
 The title: "Calypto's Search for the Atlantis." PBS offers them for public TV display tonight and Tuesday (but as the Titanic's captain said when his ship went bump in the night, check local listings).
 The legend began circa 355 B.C. when the Greek thinker, Plato, wrote of a powerful, advanced empire vanishing one day when a mighty blast caused the island of Atlantis to sink beneath the sea.
 The legend has made explorers and such seek traces of Atlantis around the world without result. In kind of a thinking man's "Sea Hunt," Cousteau Co. try their luck in this two-part proceeding.
 Cousteau's shows usually are absorbing. Alas, these two, each an hour, seem padded, even dull at times, and might have been much more effective if boiled down to one 60- or 90-minute effort.
 Program No. 1 is the better one. It intelligently lays out the origins of the Atlantis legend and starts by showing how far afield the legend has gotten — namely, in shallow waters off the Bahamas.
 There, Cousteau's son, Philippe, flying an old PBV amphibian of World War Two fame, investigates a curious underwater road shaped like a reverse "J" to see if it has any ties to Atlantis.
 He and historian-explorer David Zink establish the mysterious road is doubtless man-made. But the Atlantis question remains unanswered amid a thought-pro-

Rabies Vaccine Shows Promise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government veterinarian says he expects a federal license to be issued this year for a new rabies vaccine that offers greater immunity than the vaccine currently in use.
 Dr. William Winkler, of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said the vaccine "interferon" is currently available only on an experimental basis.
 Derived from a virus grown in human cells, "interferon" doesn't cause the adverse reactions some people get from the current vaccine extracted from duck embryos.
 "Interferon" can be administered in five weekly shots in the shoulder, instead of the present dose of 14-to-23 injections given under the skin of the stomach, lower back or thigh.
 The current, painful rabies injections are given to some 30,000 Americans each year at a time when the disease is increasing among wildlife.
 There is no cure once symptoms appear, and it is believed to be nearly always fatal.
 The duck embryo vaccine is developed under a process started 20 years ago, but not widely used until 1972. The duck vaccine replaced the original and more dangerous injections developed by Louis Pasteur from the brain matter of rabbits exposed to rabies.
 The rabbit vaccine, which also was painful to administer and could cause severe reactions including paralysis or even death, was the one responsible for the awful reputation of rabies shots.

Water Filter Units Pass Million Mark

LOMBARD, Ill. (AP) — In 1977, the production of filters for household water filtration systems passed the one million mark, according to the Water Quality Association, but wasn't enough to meet demand.
 "Production of three to five million units is expected in the years immediately ahead," said Douglas R. Oberhamer, executive director of the association.
 "With the number of American households at 72 million, it is going to take at least 10 million units annually to catch up with market needs."

Show Takes New Look At Windsors

BY ROBERT MUSEL.
LONDON (UPI) — The story most of the world believes is that King Edward VIII gave up his throne for love of an American divorcee and their subsequent life together as Duke and Duchess of Windsor confirmed the depth of the feeling between them.

This is not, however, the version that Britain's Thames Television is now filming in what it calls a "dramatic reconstruction" of the events between 1930, when the then Prince of Wales was introduced to Mrs. Ernest Simpson, and 1936 when he abdicated and sailed into self-imposed exile.

Both the late Duke of Windsor and his Duchess, now 82 years old and ailing in Paris, have written books about their romance. But Thames TV prefers the conclusions contained in a biography of Edward VIII by Frances Donaldson, wife

Rare Wines Called Good

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Several cases of Albany's cache of rare 19th-century French wine were opened, and the initial findings were "very good."

The cache was discovered in an abandoned wine cellar of a historic mansion more than a year ago, but it was only recently that efforts were made to determine its value.

After opening several cases, Alexander McNally, a wine expert, called the discovery, "Better than I expected. The coloring is good, the body is good and the wine is up to the shoulder of many bottles."

The cache could be worth $125,000 at auction if the Albany County Historical Association, owners of TenBroeck Mansion, are willing to sell the bottles, he said.

McNally termed the cache "the largest and most important collection of 19th-century golden age vintages ever discovered."

of Lord Donaldson, Minister of Arts in the present government.

It is, to put it mildly, somewhat sentimental.

The series, to be called Edward and Mrs. Simpson, takes the view that he surrendered the crown through weakness, that he wanted happiness but didn't find it, while his Duchess wanted power but didn't get it. Edward was, in Lady Donaldson's opinion, a man obsessed with making a twice-divorced woman his wife, thus precipitating what became known as The Abdication Crisis.

"The scripts are being scrupulously researched," said Andrew Brown, who also produced Jennie, the successful series based on the life of Sir Winston Churchill's mother. "We cannot afford to stray from the truth. Edward and Mrs. Simpson will be a dramatic re-creation of the facts as we know them."

The series actually opens two years before the Windsors met to set the scene for the later events. There is a distinguished cast — Edward Fox as Edward, American Cynthia Harris as Mrs. Simpson, Dame Peggy Ashcroft and Marius Goring as Queen Mary and King George V, Andrew Ray as the Duke of York, forced by duty to succeed to the throne after his brother's abdication, and Amanda Reiss as his Duchess, now Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Edward and Mrs. Simpson will be another of the TV reconstructions of landmark events in vogue on the medium at the moment. Most producers and writers, Brown among them, are keenly aware that time can distort the shape of an affair as it was perceived by those who lived or observed it. That's the challenge of reproducing history.

Thames apparently believes Lady Donaldson has correctly assessed the events before the marriage in 1937 that made Mrs. Simpson Duchess of Windsor.

I didn't know them then. But I did spend some time with them years later. Whatever the truth of their feelings during the Crisis, the aging couple who served-me tea and talked of other days seemed to have a warm and comfortable relationship.

He was obviously proud of her. And she was very attentive — almost too attentive, I thought. But I didn't know then, as she apparently did, that his slight limp was not simple bursitis and he was already under a medical sentence of death.

Arthritis Victim Given New Life

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rosemary Valencia recently peeled seven apples in one day. The experience left her exhausted but gratified.

Miss Valencia, 47, has had rheumatoid arthritis since she was 14. She hasn't stood on her feet, baked a pie or performed any ordinary household task in nearly 25 years.

Within the last two years, she has made radical improvement. Now, through a combination of surgery and physical and occupational therapies, she is fulfilling many aspirations she had as an adolescent.

NUCLEAR PROTEST — Demonstrators at the Rocky Flats weapons plant near Denver cross over into posted land to block railroad tracks leading to the plant. The protest was organized to oppose nuclear development and to demand the closing of the plant. (AP Laserphoto)

Nuclear Plant Protest Continues In Colorado

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — A small knot of people, including Daniel Ellsberg of Pentagon Papers fame, maintained a vigil today on a railroad spur leading to the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant. "We will stay as long as possible and if a shipment comes in, block it," Roy Young, a spokesman for the group said late Sunday. Rockwell security guard Clarence Crews said the track is rarely used.

The railroad sit-in was part of a week-end of protest at the plant, which manufactures plutonium for all the nation's nuclear weapons.

An estimated 5,000 people — double the expected number — protested Saturday at the plant, located 16 miles northwest of Denver. It is operated by Rockwell International under contract to the federal government.

Speakers at the demonstration told of the health dangers of plutonium, called for a halt to the arms race and urged that the plant be closed and jobs found for those employees put out of work.

The smaller group endured a hard rain and temperatures barely above freezing Saturday night to maintain their camp. Catherine Harrington of the Rocky Flats National Action said a doctor had ordered many to leave during the night.

Additional demonstrations are planned at Rocky Flats in late summer or early fall and organizers are talking with members of Congress concerned about low-level radiation, said Mike Jendrzeczyk, a member of the Fellowship for Reconciliation, one of the protest organizers.

Outside Barnwell, S.C., more than 200 members of the Palmetto Alliance against nuclear power marched today to the gates of the Allied-General Nuclear Services plant, where organizers said the protesters intended to be arrested for trespassing.

It was the second day in a row anti-nuclear groups had marched to the gates. On Sunday, some 1,200 persons marched to the plant and demanded that officials close the plant, which was built by private industry to reprocess spent nuclear fuels so they could be used again.

President Carter told Congress a year ago that he opposed nuclear reprocessing. The AGNS plant is being operated on a $13 million federal grant as a research center while the government makes up its mind about the facility's future.

The protesters released several hundred helium-filled balloons which drifted off on gusty winds. Palmetto Alliance organizer Brett Bursey said each balloon bore a card to inform the finder that the balloon had been carried on winds passing the AGNS plant and which could carry a radioactive cloud in the event of a nuclear accident.

Blind Music Education Major Has Gift For Hearing Students

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lon Sitton can't see his students. But he has a gift for hearing them — and that, after all, is what teaching music is about.

"You don't have to have sight to tell what sounds good. You just have to listen, and listen very carefully," said Sitton, 23, a student-teacher in the music department at Coronado High School.

He is blind. You wouldn't know that, however, when he stands before youngsters in the Coronado choral room.

"There's no difference: Lon still has to do everything I'd expect from a person with sight. And he does his job very well," choral director Jerry Neuschwander, Sitton's mentor at the high school, said.

"The kids have learned a lot from him. They always try to test a student-teacher, no matter who he is, to see what they can get away with. But Lon has their respect. He's a very fine musician, and the students realize he has much to offer them," Neuschwander said.

Sitton, who "sang in church choirs as far back as I can remember" during his childhood in Idalou, is a music education major at Texas Tech.

A university senior, he has been student-teaching at Coronado since mid-January.

"College courses are great, but you really don't know what teaching is like until you're out in the real world working with kids. Before you get up in front of a group of students, you have to know exactly what you're doing," Sitton said.

"I have to have the music all worked out in my mind. When I stand to direct a choir, I've got to know how I want each note to sound before the students open their mouths."

For a person who is blind, that takes extra work. "Obviously I can't read the score. So I have to memorize it," Sitton said. He said he has someone play the music for him or listens to the music on tape. Some scores, he said, are in braille, but they are scarce.

If Sitton is unsure of something in the music, he asks his students for assistance.

"Once I have the music in my head, I practice the conducting. You don't really need sight for that. I can do the conducting, the hand gestures, as well as anybody — I mean, as any student-teacher," Sitton said.

Another part of choral teaching is advising young singers what they might be doing wrong.

"If you can look at your students, it might be easier. But there are many things you can tell about the way a person sings without looking at him," Sitton said.

When Sitton hears a voice that is off key or not as full as it should be, he tries to duplicate the sound himself. "That way, I can tell what you might be doing wrong. Maybe you're singing flat, or you're not opening your mouth or dropping your jaw enough," Sitton said.

"Teaching takes practice. I'm not as good as I want to be. I've got a long way to go. But I'm getting there."

Sitton will make his public debut with Coronado May 18 when the school hosts a pops concert. "Close Encounters of the Choral Kind." The concert, which will feature four Coronado choirs, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Sitton will direct a sophomore choir and a group composed mostly of juniors with some seniors. Neuschwander will direct another sophomore choir and a group composed mostly of seniors with some juniors.

Tickets for the concert — $2 for adults and $1 for students — may be obtained from any Coronado choir member.

Neuschwander said instructing Sitton in the art of directing a choir has one small difference: he must demonstrate conducting by guiding Sitton's hands through the various gestures, instead of simply showing his student-teacher what movements to make.

"It's tactile rather than visual," said Neuschwander, who is in his second year as choral director at Coronado. He said he is especially impressed with Sitton's dedication. Sitton takes an early-morning bus to Coronado from his northside apartment, and while he is assigned there only until noon, Sitton often stays late in the day.

Sitton graduates from Texas Tech this term. He said he hopes to get a job as a choral teacher at a high school in West Texas.

Sitton is a 1972 graduate of Idalou High School, where he was in choir all four years. "We had a good high school choir, and that really inspired me to teach," he said.

Beaumont Lawyer To Head State Bar

AUSTIN (UPI) — Beaumont prosecutor Tom Hanna will be named executive director of the financially troubled State Bar of Texas.

Representatives of the State Supreme Court and State Bar workers also were to begin counting ballots from the state's 30,300 lawyers at 7 a.m. today in a crucial referendum over whether attorneys will pay assessments to meet a $3.8 million note on the group's headquarters building.

The job has been open for four months after the resignation of H.C. Pittman. Hanna will have a salary of $5,500 less than Pittman, whose salary had been an issue with legislators.

More than 21,000 attorneys mailed in ballots in the referendum ordered by the Supreme Court, a "very high" turnout, said Cullen Smith of Waco, bar president-elect.

"We will have the viewpoint of the lawyers," he said. "Whatever it is, we will abide by it."

Bar directors asked the Supreme Court to order the referendum for attorneys to vote on a proposal to impose a special assessment on lawyers to pay off the note on the new $8 million Texas Law Center.

The proposed assessments would amount to $138 for most attorneys. Lawyers in practice three years or less would pay $96.

The fees would be in addition to the mandatory dues attorneys are required to pay to practice law — $65 for most, $13 for lawyers in practice three years or less.

Under Texas statutes attorneys must belong to the State Bar and pay dues to practice law.

For the special assessments to be implemented, a majority of the attorneys voting in the referendum must favor the proposal.

Publicity over the expensive new office building and the high salary paid to former executive director Pittman has caused criticism of the bar and a move by legislators to oversee its spending.

Although the bar is technically a state agency, bar directors set their own spending guidelines and determine salaries of employees without consulting with the legislature or going through the normal appropriations process for government agencies.

Smith said Hanna's salary will be $48,500 a year, without a car.

Pittman, who resigned Dec. 31, 1977, was paid $54,000 a year — more than the state pays any other official except the governor. In addition to his salary, Pittman received a $3,000 bonus in 1976, use of a Lincoln Continental and a paid tab at three private clubs.

Bar directors voted at a recent Corpus Christi meeting to offer the executive director's job to Hanna, but delayed making any announcement to allow him time to announce his resignation as district attorney.

Hanna, 39, is a graduate of Baylor University and the University of Texas Law School. He served as assistant district attorney of Jefferson County in 1964-66, was in private practice during 1967-70 and became criminal district attorney for the county in 1971.

Texas Man Killed In Auto Mishap

WATONGA, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma authorities have identified a man killed Saturday in a traffic accident near here as Walter G. Lusk, 59, of Canadian.

Lusk died late Saturday night after the pickup truck he was driving collided with a semi-tractor trailer truck east of Watonga on Oklahoma 3, state Trooper John Massey said.

April Grocery Price Increase Lowest Of Year

By The Associated Press
Grocery bills went up again last month, but the rate of increase was lower than it has been so far this year, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1972 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

The latest survey, taken at the end of April, showed that the bill for the list of items increased at the checklist store in nine cities last month, rising an average of 1.5 percent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in four cities, dropping an average of 1.5 percent. Overall, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores at the end of April was 0.5 percent higher than it was a month earlier.

months of the year, the marketbasket total increased by more than 1 percent a month, with a boost of near 2 percent in February alone.

Comparing today's prices with those at the start of the year, the AP found the marketbasket total at the checklist store increased an average of just under 5 percent during the first third of 1973.

Government economists have been predicting that food prices alone will rise 6 percent to 8 percent during the year, although the rate of increase has been much faster than that so far. The latest Consumer Price Index, released last Friday, showed food prices went up 1.3 percent in March.

Rising meat prices have been responsible for much of the increase and the pattern continued in April. The AP survey showed the price of a pound of chopped chuck went up at the checklist store in six cities and frankfurters increased in price in seven cities.

Increases in retail beef prices have been caused by a decrease in the supply of cattle coming to market. As supplies went down, prices paid to ranchers went up.

Richard A. McDougal, president of the National Cattlemen's Association, said recently that cattle prices probably are "reaching some sort of plateau" and could level off soon. That means retail beef prices also should level off, he said.

Variations in the prices paid to the people who raise our food are not always reflected on the supermarket shelves, however. Such items as labor, packaging and transportation often have a greater impact on price than the cost of the raw product itself.

Political moves in Washington — or the fear of them — also can play a part in food prices. Supermarket News, a trade publication, recently quoted a food industry source as saying manufacturers are boosting prices in anticipation of possible price controls. Manufacturers contacted by Supermarket News said the increases were due to higher costs, but one store executive was quoted as saying that 40 percent to 60 percent of the boosts at the wholesale level were not justified by costs.

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed slightly fewer increases during April than during March. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

	Mar.	Apr.
Up	33.0	30.2
Down	17.6	17.6
Unchanged	46.7	48.4
Unavailable	2.7	3.8

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percentage of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the overall total.

The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that eggs cost more one place than another. Comparisons were made only in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 percent in one city and 6 percent in another.

The USDA marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its report, says the figures do not correspond to actual family food spending and are used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

The items on the AP checklist were chopped chuck, creamy peanut butter, frozen orange juice concentrate, center cut pork chops, coffee, paper towels, laundry detergent, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Here is a city-by-city breakdown of what happened during April:

ALBUQUERQUE: The total for 13 available items went from $15.04 to $15.01, down two-tenths of 1 percent. Increases in the price of frankfurters and sugar were offset by decreases in the price of orange juice, detergent, milk and eggs. One item, butter, was temporarily out of stock at the checklist store on the latest survey date; other items were unchanged.

ATLANTA: The total went from $15.44 to $16.18, up 4.8 percent, partly because of a jump in the price of coffee which went from $2.88 to $3.38 a pound at the checklist store. Chopped chuck, orange juice, detergent and frankfurters also increased; eggs and peanut butter decreased; the remaining seven items stayed the same.

BOSTON: There was little change with the marketbasket going from $17.12 to $17.13, up less than one-tenth of 1 percent. Tomato sauce increased; eggs decreased and everything else was unchanged.

CHICAGO: The total for 12 available items went from $12.34 to $12.45, up nine-tenths of 1 percent. Tomato sauce was on sale at 17 cents for an eight-ounce can, instead of the regular 22-cent price. Milk also decreased, while chopped chuck, orange juice, paper towels and frankfurters increased. Coffee and fabric softener were unavailable at the checklist store in the requested size and brand; the other six items were unchanged.

DALLAS: The total went from $16.41 to $15.95, down 2.8 percent largely because of decreases in pork chops — which went from $2.09 to $1.89 a pound — and frankfurters — which dropped from $1.45 to $1.19 a pound. Chopped chuck, coffee, eggs, tomato sauce and sugar also decreased; orange juice, paper towels, butter, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener and milk all went up.

DETROIT: The total went from $16.19 to $15.97, down 1.4 percent. Eggs were on sale at 57 cents a dozen, down from 79 cents. Pork chops, butter and detergent also decreased; chopped chuck, orange juice and paper towels went up; everything else stayed the same.

LOS ANGELES: The total went from $15.08 to $14.82, down 1.7 percent, largely because of a sale on frankfurters which went from $1.29 to 99 cents a pound. Paper towels and eggs also declined.

chopped chuck, orange juice, butter and milk went up; other items were unchanged.

MIAMI: The total went from $16.31 to $16.35, up two-tenths of 1 percent. Increases in the price of orange juice, paper towels, detergent and frankfurters were just about offset by drops in the price of chopped chuck and eggs; other items were unchanged.

NEW YORK: The total for 13 available items went from $17.92 to $17.95, up two-tenths of 1 percent. Orange juice, butter, detergent, milk and frankfurters all increased, but the boosts were small and were almost offset by a drop in the price of sugar. Medium eggs and the requested brand of fabric softener were unavailable at the checklist store on the survey date; the other items were unchanged.

PHILADELPHIA: The total went from $17.20 to $17.49, up 1.7 percent. Chopped chuck, pork chops, paper towels, butter, frankfurters and milk increased; eggs and sugar decreased; other items were unchanged.

PROVIDENCE: The total went from $16.30 to $16.48, up 1.1 percent. Butter, eggs and frankfurters increased; everything else stayed the same.

SALT LAKE CITY: The total went from $16.51 to $16.73, up 1.3 percent. Pork chops, orange juice, paper towels, detergent, tomato sauce, milk and sugar increased; coffee and eggs decreased; other items stayed the same.

SEATTLE: The total for 12 available items went from $11.90 to $12.24, up 2.9 percent, largely because of a boost in the price of chopped chuck, which went from $1.39 to $1.79 a pound. Orange juice, tomato sauce and sugar also increased; pork chops and eggs decreased; the requested sizes and brands of coffee and paper towels were not available at the checklist store on one of the survey dates. Other items were unchanged.

Counseling Project Aids Storm Victims

By STEPHANIE S. COOKE
BOSTON (AP) — Rosa Simmons, age 5, pointed to a picture she had drawn of a boat surrounded by water and told her mother she was afraid of the waves "chasing" them.

Rosa has been frightened of water ever since her parents' three-story colonial house in Revere was flooded during the February blizzard, the worst to hit the state in a century. Her mother, Evelyn, 42, says that since the storm she has had trouble sleeping.

They and more than 150 other victims of the storm are being counseled by government-paid social workers under "Project Concern," a six-month program involving seven counseling centers in the Boston area.

"We've talked to people who haven't cried since the storm, or who haven't slept since the storm," said Karen Allphin, a counselor at a center in Revere, just north of Boston.

She said parents have called "at their wits end" after living with their children in single motel rooms for weeks waiting to return to their homes.

"Project Concern" has a $380,000 price tag — the most ever awarded by the National Institute of Mental Health since Congress authorized such expenditures in 1974.

Dr. Calvin Frederick, chief of disaster assistance and emergency mental health at the National Institute of Mental Health in Washington, says the problems experienced by Mrs. Simmons and her daughter are common to disaster victims.

"Sleep disturbance is one of most severe problems," he said. "The incidence of psychological depression is increased, — the fear that the disaster will occur again."

"In the San Fernando Valley (Calif.) earthquake, children hid under beds and were afraid to go to school."

The Buffalo Creek flood in West Virginia, he said, made people "like zombies." "The people began to manifest these problems in a loss of interest in their jobs. They'd stay awake at night when it rained because they were afraid of another flood," he said.

Frederick said $13.5 million awarded in a class action suit against the Pittston Mining Co. in the 1972 flood set a precedent in acknowledging the need for post-disaster counseling, because $6 million went directly for psychological counseling.

Earl Scudday Drafting In The Dark

ON THE EVE of the National Football League draft of college seniors, which this year may be dubbed The Great Easter Egg Hunt because of the scarcity of top talent, all is confusion. Houston will take Texas' Earl Campbell to open the show, unless Oiler owner Bud Adams has a seizure, but after that it is anyone's guess.

Even Gil Brandt, the canny scouting director of the Dallas Cowboys, claims that he doesn't know the probable order of selection after Houston grabs the Tyler Rose. That is quite an admission from Brandt, since he usually is able to tab the first dozen picks with amazing accuracy. He undoubtedly could make some pretty good guesses, even in this Year of the Longshot.

The '78 draft is not totally devoid of prospects, of course. There are just fewer standouts than normal. But any of the clubs would be happy to get running backs Terry Miller of Oklahoma State, Johnny Davis of Alabama and Elvis Peacock of Oklahoma; offensive linemen Chris Ward of Ohio State and Gordon King of Stanford; defensive linemen Ross Browner of Notre Dame and Art Still of Kentucky; and receivers such as Florida's Wes Chandler and Alabama's Ozie Newsome.

With 28 NFL teams splitting the crop, though, it looks like tough sledding for clubs needing a heavy infusion of new talent.

TEXAS TECH HAS a number of players rated as prospects by the pros, although the injury to Dan Irons and Rodney Allison's decision to go to Canada skimmed the cream off the top. Dan would have been a high draft choice, but his knee surgery makes him a very long shot. A team might take him, somewhere down the line, on the faint hope for his eventual recovery.

Running back Billy Taylor obviously has size and speed, although some scouts whisper questions about his toughness and dedication. In a lean draft year, he looks better and better.

There are other possibilities in the Raider ranks, but only those with access to pro scouting reports know how seriously they are being considered. To a layman, it would seem that Mike Mock, Jim Krahl and Sammy Williams are among those with NFL potential.

We'll all know by Wednesday night.

THAT WEEKEND TRADE sending Houston running back Don Hardeman to Tampa Bay for Anthony Davis, the former Southern California All-American, shows how risky this draft business can be. The Oilers used an early first-round pick in 1975 to grab Hardeman, the muscular fullback from Texas A&I, and here he is on the trading block.

Area grid fans may remember Hardeman because of his participation in the Coaches All-American grid classic three years ago. Don came on the scene like gangbusters, despite his small college background, with a surplus of confidence and enthusiasm. He predicted he would score a touchdown for every seven times that he carried the ball — a boast he could not live up to at Jones Stadium.

When Hardeman reported to the Oiler training camp his mouth still was in motion, which quickly earned him the nickname "Jaws." Don asserted that he would relieve the pressure on battered quarterback Dan Pastorini and lead the Oilers to championship glory.

What Hardeman did was get the mumps, to the delight of a lot of the Houston players and press corps.

When the bulky fullback did get into action, he never lived up to his advance billing. His weight ballooned until he looked like a defensive tackle, and he never was a contender for league honors.

SO NOW JAWS goes to Tampa Bay, presumably to be used as a blocking back for the heralded Ricky Bell. That will be the big bull backfield of all time, with Hardeman weighing from 240 to 250 pounds and Bell tipping the scales at about 230, no matter what the program says.

The ol' Power Right play will gain new life with that duo of elephants and the shock waves should register at seismic stations all over the country. What it will do to the Tampa Bay side of the scoreboard remains to be seen.

NO DOUBT, SHE'S A WINNER — Second-year pro Janet Coles runs to the outstretched arms of her caddy after sinking 6-foot birdie putt on third hole of sudden death playoff Sunday in Lady Tara Golf Classic. (AP Laserphoto)

Coles Captures Tara Playoff

ATLANTA (AP) — Janet Coles, a 23-year-old Californian who was on crutches last month, fulfilled her boyfriend's prediction.

"He wrote it down and everything, but he still was shocked," Miss Coles said Sunday after knocking in a six-foot birdie putt on the third hole of a playoff to capture the $75,000 Lady Tara Golf Tournament.

It was her first victory since joining the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour 14 months ago. And it was only her third start since overcoming a kneecap injury suffered in a basketball game.

"That puts me up there where I can compete against the big ones, and that's what I want," said Miss Coles, who had a closing 70 for an 8-under-par 211 total over the hilly, 6,353-yard Brookfield West Country Club course.

The birdie putt on the third playoff hole enabled her to dispose of veteran Gloria Ehret, who led or shared the lead each round. Defending champion Hollis Stacy also was in the playoff, but fell away on the first extra hole when she bogeyed.

The champion was quite an athlete in college, playing golf and basketball during her career at UCLA. Her boyfriend,

Bullets Zap 76ers

By The Associated Press — Elvin Hayes predicted that if push came to shove, his Washington Bullets would more than hold their own against the highly favored Philadelphia 76ers. "They're not the physical team that some have made them out to be," Hayes said of the 76ers. "We have the muscle to rebound with Philly."

The Bullets, led by Hayes' 28 points, 18 rebounds and 6 blocked shots, matched the Sixers pound for pound under the boards and beat Philadelphia 122-117 in overtime Sunday to grab a 1-0 lead in their Eastern Conference playoff finals.

It may have been a costly victory, however.

The most muscular of the Bullets, 245-pound center Wes Unseld, injured his right ankle with 55 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter. He played briefly after that but was limping badly and after the game his ankle was encased in a soft cast. X-rays were to be taken today.

In the Western Conference semifinals,

Milwaukee and Portland remained alive with victories Sunday.

The Bucks beat the Denver Nuggets 119-91 to even their series at 3-3 and the defending National Basketball Association champion Trail Blazers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 113-89 to cut their deficit to 3-2 in the best-of-seven series. Seattle will try to oust Portland tonight at Seattle, while Milwaukee and Denver meet in their deciding game Wednesday night in Denver.

Kevin Grevey added 26 points and Bob Dandridge 22 for the Bullets, who handed the Sixers only their fifth loss at home in 44 games this year.

Washington led 109-106 with nine seconds left in regulation, but Darryl Dawkins hit a follow-up shot, George McGinnis tied up the Bullets' Tom Henderson and won the ensuing jump ball and Doug Collins connected from 20 feet at the buzzer to force the overtime.

Dandridge put the Bullets ahead with the first basket of overtime and they were never caught.

"The big difference was that we crashed the boards," said Hayes. "We got the ball inside when we wanted to, went outside when we had to and took the best shots."

"I think we caught the 76ers down a little," said Bullets Coach Dick Motta. "They were rusty after being off for a week."

The Sixers had the week-long layoff after eliminating the New York Knicks in four straight in their first series. Washington, meanwhile, upset San Antonio four games to two in their series which ended Friday night. Sunday's victory erases Philadelphia's home-court advantage.

Bucks 119, Nuggets 91
Reserve forward Alex English scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as Milwaukee's benchmen outscored Denver's reserves 53-24. All five Bucks started.

String Runs Out For Player

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Just as he'd predicted, the string ran out for Gary Player.

"With everybody and his grandmother asking Gary if he thought he could win four in a row, it put tremendous pressure on him. I don't know how he played as well as he did," said Lon Hinkle, who parlayed power and precision into a final round 66 to win the New Orleans Open Golf Tournament Sunday and snap Player's victory string at three.

"You can't go on winning every single week," Player said. "Winning three in a row, in this day and age and against this competition, it's something I'll remember all my life."

"I've won six of my last 10 tournaments

(three in South Africa) You can't be too greedy."

House Plants, Related Items Excel At 'Greenhouse' In Mall

The Greenhouse certainly lives up to its name! Specializing exclusively in house plants, The Greenhouse stocks a fresh, healthy, wide array of house plants including many native to the area and others from South Texas, California and Florida. "We sincerely believe that we offer the best selection of house plants in the area" is the word from George and Tody Davidson, husband-wife owner-operator team of the popular store in South Plains Mall, and a lot of customers throughout the region will agree to the selection found here. The Davidsons have been at The Greenhouse since its opening back when the Mall opened, and since January of this year they have been sole owners. A very able staff assists, including Susie Rampy and Monterey seniors Terry Davidson and Lyle Cox. Full Price Range Not only is the selection outstanding at The Greenhouse (located just west of Chick-fil-A in the west wing of South Plains Mall, but pricing is most competitive. One may select from a range extending from cacti and succulents in 3-inch pots at just 88 cents to the big and beautiful 485 dracena marginata ... and everything in between! The quality and selection is evident even from a casual view at the store's entry way. Note the gorgeous tropicals, the fantastic array of house plants of all types, and the accessories and decor pieces. Beautiful, functional macrame hangers are stocked. And ceramic and clay pots. Hanging baskets are much in evidence and much in demand. There are grow lights, brackets, chains, choices in baskets, and more. "Plant food and everything for plants we have it at The Greenhouse." Visa and Master Charge purchases are welcomed, and The Greenhouse stays open from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m., six days a week.

Boston Fern Arriving New arrivals continually are added, such as the Boston fern in hanging baskets due to arrive this week. Plants are potted for customers at a nominal fee. "As one of the highlights of your next South Plains Mall visit, browse and select at The Greenhouse as residents throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico have done. The word gets around when quality and selection, plus friendliness and convenient location, dominate; we at The Greenhouse appreciate the kind expressions and the growing patronage that has enabled our current stock and services. "May we serve you, too, whether for gifting, for selection for your own home decor or for special occasions such as Mother's Day, just a few days away?" It all is at The Greenhouse, South Plains Mall (with the shop about midway between the fountain and Sears), phone 792-5597.

Miniatures, From The Little Shoppe, Seen As 'Wanted' Mother's Day Gift

There are new arrivals at The Little Shoppe in Cactus Alley, most of which could well be an ideal Mother's Day gift... especially if mother is intrigued by miniatures, decor pieces, "how to" books, and more. Though already stocking miniatures by the literal thousands, The Little Shoppe has added more, including: There is the butcher block, with tools; candle stand, wig stand, even a Victorian wash stand. And two of those intriguing greenhouses are on their way, due to arrive before Mother's Day. (First come, first served.) And to fill the greenhouses there are miniature plants... that never die and never need watering! See the metal miniatures, ready for you to paint, including musical instruments, typewriters, doctor's bag, stethoscope, water cans, double-barrel shotguns, baseball bats, boots, tiny airplanes, tennis racket, milk cans, etc.! Don't fail to see the wicker bed tray for breakfast in bed, complete with miniature eggs 'n toast on tray, with newspaper, too; and the wicker bed and end table. Then, there are dozens of new oriental rug kits stocked for great needlepoint work. Books are stocked showing how to make fruits and vegetables, kitchen furniture, flowers, needlecraft, shaker furniture, and even on how to light a dollhouse. Three new kits of pre-cut dollhouses are available; with simple gluing all that is necessary. These include an English tudor, Little Victorian and Early American Victorian. There are house plans for a general store and three dollhouses, also. The Little Shoppe has greatly added to its doll house components, with available supplies now including mouldings, baseboards, quarter round, half round, picture frame trim, cornice boards, chairs, gutters, stair stringers, wallpaper, thresholds, clapboard siding, veneer, shingles, wallpaper paste and all! (Observers "in the know" report that The Little Shoppe actually has greater choice and more discriminating selection in miniatures than even the finest shops of the type in the Dallas-Ft. Worth metroplex.) An added note about the new-model Early American and English Tudor homes: One can easily build these by the step-by-step pictures and the pre-cut materials. It is like a course in miniature construction, with unique materials that allow many variations. Only requirement is for hand tools; no power tools are necessary! Also just received are miniature toys, in greater assortment than ever, for the miniature children's rooms. For the hobbyist, for the collector, for the amateur or more advanced "miniature" aficionado, The Little Shoppe has assembled the most complete selection of houses, furnishings, material and all—in all West Texas! There are furnishings by the hundreds for every miniature room, all in intricate detail, perfect in scale and workmanship. One cannot enumerate all that is The Little Shoppe. Pages could be written listing and describing the miniature copper cookware, the furnishing for every room of a miniature mansion, etc., but one can only comprehend the completeness of the stock through a personal visit. The location: in Cactus Alley, 2610 Salem Ave., just south off the Brownfield Highway in Lubbock.

Tick Tock Clock Shop Solves Gifting Situation With Sale

What better Mother's Day gift could there be than a quality clock from the Tick Tock Clock Shop? Or repair of a present fine clock? Tick Tock Clock Shop, in Monterey Center, is thinking ahead to Mother's Day and Graduation, and not only has stocked accordingly but has made a special announcement: "From now until May 13, as a Mother's Day special, we are marking every clock in our huge inventory at 10 per cent off!" Imagine, such saving on really great gift items... clocks to be appreciated for generations. So... don't delay in checking now with Tick Tock, at 50th Street at Flint Avenue, phone 797-4569, in Monterey Center. There are hundreds of clocks from which to select at Tick Tock. New shipments have added to the already extensive and prestigious choices.

"We service what we sell, with in-store service provided," is further advantage at this better clock shop. Actually there is more than clocks at this fabulous store. See the new hour glasses, the paper weights, desk ornaments (including limited-edition brass and silver plate reproductions of the old Mack truck, specific trains, steam engines, etc.) and even gorgeous, functional sundials. One may select from the Gazo line from the Gazo family clock factory. These are "top of the line" and the wall, mantle and floor models all are masterpieces of gorgeous wood carving. Other lines include Ansonia, Trend, Howard Miller, Colonial, Ridgeway, Decor, Hamilton, Herschede, New England, Seth Thomas, and more. Locally owned and operated by Al and Shirlene Juno, the Tick Tock Clock Shop is a family operation. In-store financing is available.

Business & Industrial Review

'ON THE TEAM, TO YOUR BENEFIT' — Keeping abreast of new situations, improvements in the industry and pertinent items affording better customer service, key staffers at Hughes Services meet regularly in the firm's training room for "rap" and training sessions. Shown at a recent Monday morning meeting are (from left), back row: Robert Hughes, Jesse Evers, George Hughes and Bill Jones; and at front, Jim Stratling, Donna Strange, June Lange and Craig Hughes.

Hughes Services 'Goes Second Mile' In Fullest Assistance To Customer

For full janitorial services with "plus-benefits that we like to prove", the name to know in Lubbock, Amarillo and throughout the South Plains and Panhandle is Hughes Services, Inc., 101 Sherman Ave. in Lubbock.

(And for purchase of professional maintenance supplies, at the same Lubbock location, there is HUCO Products, Co., taking pride in stocking the very best in equipment and related needs.)

Hughes and HUCO each "go the extra mile" in assisting the customer, helping in maximum benefits from both the services and equipment selection and use.

Customers have long profited from the learning and experience, plus capacity for service, of the Hughes and HUCO personnel. Offices are maintained in both Lubbock and Amarillo, and counties throughout the area are well served by Hughes (with current accounts noted in Levelland, Slaton, Hereford, Canyon, Plainview and other area points.)

"Are you included?"

Assistance That Counts

Hughes Services has a record of customer assistance... such as supervision to assure the right procedures and results for each account.

"If your building has a problem in janitorial servicing, there is no charge from Hughes for an in-depth survey and recommendations."

And if a housewife has a problem on floor care within the home, we are glad at Hughes and HUCO to tell what use and how it should be used.

All this is made possible by "the right products, the devotion to service, and the training that is a continuous procedure for all staffers."

Demonstrations, films, on-job training — all are part of the Hughes and HUCO concept of fullest service, and in keeping with a record of foresight and achievement that might be dated from establishment of Hughes Service back in 1954 and the addition of HUCO Products in 1970, with numerous additions to products and services marking the intervening and ensuing years.

In explaining HUCO Products, president George Hughes puts it this way: "We believe a professional wants strictly professional merchandise; hence any product we sell is used in our own professional maintenance business; we have tested it before recommending and selling it, for sure."

Among the products available from HUCO are Hillyard floor treatments including gym finishes and concrete seals. (One can run a new slab and just as soon as it is dry for walking, a spray seal can be applied to keep it from ever getting stained. How great for a commercial building, or even for the home owner who can seal the garage or even the residence floor before carpeting.)

All types of hospitalization chemicals are stocked.

And Dynasurf products, L&A pressure washers and associated chemicals.

Plus National Super Service floor machines.

(Be sure and learn of the electric powered 20-in. buffer with brush speed of 1,070 rpm, three times as much as usually expected for buffing units. And it is simple enough and easy enough for any woman to run. Imagine, buffing 10,000 sq. ft. per hour! And the finishes last longer with a "wet look" finish that resists soiling.)

Actually, for finest in cleaning equipment and related products, all thoroughly proven, one can with assurance depend upon the progressive HUCO Products Co., 101 Sherman Ave. in Lubbock.

And who cannot benefit from patronizing Hughes Services, Inc., at the same address!

Specifics Cited

Briefly, eight prime reasons are itemized here to be considered in knowing the Hughes firm better:

- (1) Hughes services banks, school office buildings, manufacturing plants, churches, public utilities and more.
- (2) As the oldest janitorial service company in Lubbock, Hughes has been in business since 1954 — 24 years of service.
- (3) Free estimates at no obligation are gladly given.
- (4) A maintenance program "for you" can be professionally and correctly planned by the qualified staff.
- (5) References are gladly furnished.
- (6) Hughes Services, Inc., is insured and bonded.
- (7) Employees are thoroughly trained by demonstration, training films and regular rigid inspection.
- (8) And not the least of the considerations is equipment: Hughes has the best equipment and cleaning supplies to be found.

"Get the idea?"

"Hughes wants to have a part in your future."

At Hughes, one can be assured of such benefits as all labor, all supervision, all cleaning equipment, all supplies, all machines, all payroll taxes, insurance, etc.

Hughes crews are at work most every day throughout the area, even to the Oklahoma border. With more than 100 employees, Hughes has the manpower and financial strength to serve well.

Hughes is equipped and manned to take care of any type residential or business cleaning and maintenance need or problem.

Gift Of Carpet From Tuftwick Explained Thoughtful Gesture

This year, give mother carpet from Tuftwick!

Seriously, what better, more appreciated and lasting gift could be received than carpet, providing beauty in the home for years to come?

"Mother would like it."

Newest colors, patterns and materials are the rule at the big Tuftwick Carpet firm in Lubbock, making for easy selection.

To further assist in Mother's Day gifting, or carpet purchases for any reason, remember these facts about Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., at Brownfield Highway and Slide Road in Lubbock, phone 795-5251:

Hours are 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, with evenings by appointment. Saturday hours are 9 a.m. until ...?

"Easy terms are available, with no money down and with up to 36 months in which to pay."

"It all is proof that Tuftwick goes all out to pass fantastic buys on to you, our valued customer, making everything as convenient for you as possible, while still emphasizing quality at low, low prices."

A shopping trip to Tuftwick is worth the trip from anywhere in the area, and the current sale makes this doubly so.

Extraordinary savings, even for Tuftwick, are presently enabled. Don't delay, shop now at Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., at Slide Road and Brownfield Highway to your profit, selection and complete satisfaction.

All the carpet is first quality, as traditional at Tuftwick.

FLOWERS TODAY: UNIQUE AND INVITING

Flowers Today, At Slide Road Location, Invites Comparison

"Wouldn't these days of pre-Mother's Day planning be an excellent time to make or renew acquaintance with Flowers Today, in a class by itself at 5308-B Slide Road?"
 The firm's assertion that "we're here to serve you, to do it the way you want it" is most evident even upon initial entry to the beautifully stocked and appointed shop on the west side of Slide Road, with plenty of off-street parking.
 Not only does Flowers Today have a most enticing and wide selection of potted plants, green plants, silks, fresh flowers, tropicals, etc., but it stocks a discriminating choice in accessories.

 Note the really fine crystal pieces (including antiques and imports), brass and copper ware.
 Whatever the decorative item selected at Flowers Today, a fern stand, baker's rack, or other, one can be assured that value is the word.
 Owners-operators Tim Tippit and Winifred Hill would have it no other way.

 The firm was purchased by the duo back in November of last year, and word seems to have spread rapidly regarding the type shop, the concept of service, and the merchandise variety provided.
 "Serenity" likely is first and correct impression of the so-beautiful shop — from its fern wallpaper to the plush carpet and attractive floral arrangements.
 "It all purposely says 'we're glad you're here.'"

Advanced Data Providing Tomorrow's Services Today

For modern, efficient tax and bookkeeping services, all at reasonable fee, one should learn now of the scope of advantages at Advanced Data, No. 31 Redbud Square (Slide Road at 13th Street), phone 792-6325.
 James R. "Jim" Johnson, Lubbock resident since back in '59, is the owner of Advanced Data, and he correctly points out several advantages of the firm:
 (1) Pick up and delivery of the client's records is available.
 (2) Before transacting business, representatives of Advanced Data conduct a survey of one's business, determining the fee before services are commenced, at no obligation to the prospective client. One knows what the charge will be.
 (3) There are no contracts to sign.
 (4) A system is designed "just for you".

(5) Correct and modern bookkeeping, as afforded by the computerized bookkeeping services of Advanced Data, helps you be ready for next income tax time.
 (6) We at Advanced Data do it all: payroll check writing, accounts receivable, general ledger, document preparation, etc.
 Bookkeeping and tax services to any desired extent is afforded.
 Johnson and his staff are glad to do an analysis within one's business, and with their background and knowledge in tax and business procedures, regulations and rules, they can be of extreme benefit to the individual or to a business of any size.
 "Make it easy on yourself. Turn it all over to Advanced Data for excellence in bookkeeping and tax service."

Bouquets
 Fresh bouquets for Mother's Day is one of the apt suggestions of Tim and Winifred.
 Floral needs for weddings are met, professionally and beautifully.
Delivery In City
 City-wide delivery is a service of the firm.
 A lot of silks and dried arrangements are stocked.
 In decor pieces, it is pointed out that many are one-of-a-kind items, including handpainted china.
 For a new experience in floral shopping, for selecting from stock or ordering a custom arrangement, Flowers Today, phone 795-9333, at 5308-B Slide Road, is heartily recommended.
 It is strongly advised, however, to order early for Mother's Day and other occasions, due to the rush experienced at last minute without fail.
 "Remember, we're here to serve the public; may we include you among our valued customers?"

House Of Shades & Lamp Repair Aids New Look For Any Room, Any Season

"Don't neglect the interior decor when spurred by spring fever to start all those new projects!"
 New lamps and/or shades can do a lot for brightening the home for spring and summer, so why delay?
 A visit to the House of Shades and Lamp Repair, 2710 50th St., can be the convenient solution.
 Even for those familiar with the House of Shades and Lamp Repair, a visit there at this time will reveal added services, newest shades and a full staff to afford every customer consideration.
 Unique lamps of distinction, quality lamp shades, replacement lamp parts and glass, expert lamp repair, custom building, re-wiring, re-design and re-finish (to make your lamp a shade better) in essence comprise the business scope of this better lamp house.
 Some months ago the House of Shades and Lamp Repair made giant strides, doubling its floor space, as example, to better serve. Consequently, more merchandise was stocked and more convenient display was enabled.
 From an outsider's viewpoint, it is noted that actually the expansion in physical facilities was simply another step in many progressive moves at this popular Lubbock firm.
 "Come on out and let us personally thank you for your trade and confidence that has made our steady growth possible."
 Even at its beginning, this Lubbock firm recognized the needs in its field, and stocked and served accordingly. Since that date, even more has been learned of customer preferences, and consequent growth and expansion has followed. Yes, the House of Shades and Lamp Repair is here to stay!

 Owners Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Houchin report that continually they are able to get more and better stock.
 The House of Shades has complete facilities for lamp wiring, repair and re-building. One's favorite antique, bottle or vase can be professionally converted to a lamp to specifications. "We'll make a lamp out of any old thing!"
 Mr. and Mrs. Houchin point out:

Shades, though a most important part of any decor, do get soiled and worn. A new shade or repairs on present ones present the solution.
 "Now, when we say 'lamp shades', we are not talking about only the conventional hardback or stretched shade as many people might think. There are glass shades in many sizes and colors, ball shades, small shades for chandeliers, wooden, silk, metal shades, etc. We have them all."
 Special pride is taken in custom shades and in custom lamp building.
 "Simply bring us your idea and we will do the rest."

Lee's Custom Jewelers Urges Early Mother's Day Ordering

"For mother, why consider less than a gift of jewelry?
 "And where better could one select a cherished gift than at Lee's Custom Jewelers, 2115 50th St.!"
 Even though Mother's Day is just a few days away, on May 14, Lee's will take special orders through May 8. Ordering of family rings at the very earliest time possible is advised.
 Lee's Custom Jewelers, in Oakwood Center, has a very good selection of mountings, with an equally impressive choice in diamonds and colored stones.
 Gift certificates are available, too, and might in many instances be the proper Mother's Day consideration.
 A very good selection of Longines,

Wittnaur, Seiko and Technos fine watches is stocked.
 Actually, something for everyone, and for all ages, is evident in the most attractive displays at Lee's Custom Jewelers (a great place in which to select for graduation remembrances, for sure).
 From watches and bands to quality diamond jewelry of all types, Lee's is assurance that whatever the selection, one can be sure that quality has been the foremost consideration of the firm, passing on this quality at sensible prices.
 Watch repair receives expert attention at Lee's Custom Jewelers, with qualified watchmakers including owner Lee Tyler Jr. on the job. All repair work is done right in the store, with none "sent out," thus assuring both personal and expert attention.

 Lee's is open from 10AM until 6PM, Mondays through Fridays, with Saturday hours 10AM until 2PM.
 Master Charge and Visa purchases are enabled.
 Lee Tyler Jr., a Lubbock resident of some 12 years, purchased the firm six years ago, and he and his wife, Wilene, head a staff dedicated to quality merchandise and finest service.
 "For jewelry items sure to please, for Mother's Day, graduation and other situations, and for repair of all major watch brands, one can turn with confidence to Lee's Custom Jewelers, phone 744-4814, in Oakwood Center, Lubbock."

Lock Assortment, Tools For Garden, Home, Builder, All At Childress Firm

"Security" is very much in the minds of most people today. And properly so. It would be foolish, and likely impossible, to seriously consider security for the home or business without attention to the locks... such as dead bolts, etc.
 And this is where Childress Hardware comes in. For Childress for years has stocked the finest in security hardware. The knowledgeable personnel there will be glad to discuss one's door fastener needs, providing the right lock for the situation at hand.
 Not only at this time when crime seems to dominate in so many news reports, but for the entire past half-century, Childress Hardware, at 902 Main, has stocked needs for every season, the practical hardware items appreciated throughout the region.
Outdoor Tool Needs
 "It also is pointed out that just as soon as the winter weather abates, most of us are anxious to turn attention to the challenges for house, yard and garden improvements; a busy outdoor time of year has arrived!
 The correct tools and equipment can be the big item in convenience and accomplishment, whether the task is lawn and garden work or even a remodeling job for the home."

 For these tools, one can rely with certainty on the Fred Childress Hardware Store.
 This is a store that meets the season's needs.
 For example, do these items have a function in your plans:
 Pruning saws, garden hose, sprinklers (from the smallest to the most elaborate), reels for the garden hose, fertilizer spreaders, walking garden plows, rakes, hoes and spades, shears, trimmers, hose, etc.
For Home Improvement
 Then for the home handyman or even the professional builder who appreciates good hand tools, there is a wide stock, including the respected name of Stanley, Crescent, Thorson, Nicholson, Bluegrass, Disston, Lufkin, Plumb and others long associated with quality and integrity in tool-making.
 On and on the list could go in enumerating the lawn and the building needs provided at Childress Hardware, but suffice it to say that "if it is in the hardware line, you can get it there."
 One can purchase an old-fashioned sprinkling can or a lawn watering device that negotiates your yard; a well pulley or a lamp chimney; actually more than 10,000 different items.

 Childress Hardware continues as a popular place with carpenters and craftsmen, who make if head-quarters for nails of all sizes, as well as a wide range of other fastenings including stove bolts, capscrews, carriage bolts, machine screws, metal screws, wood screws and brass screws, chain, rope — you name it, for home, industrial or farm use.
Cabinet Hardware
 The Fred Childress Hardware also stocks one of the most extensive line of cabinet hardware in the city, with latest designs in hinges, pulls and latches attractively displayed. Here again brands such as Stylecraft, Christensen, Phytrick and Pfantstiel are indicative of top quality and design.
 With all this stock, one might have the wrong conception — that the store is messy and ill-arranged — but this is not the case. At Fred Childress Hardware, 902 Main St., the entire stock is grouped for easy viewing and selection. It is a neat, attractive store in which the wife can enjoy shopping.

Business & Industrial Review

NOVEL IDEA MAKES SENSE — Benito Romo of Maxey Home Improvement Center is shown here with a Genie garage door opener display, pointing out that such automation would be a most suitable Mother's Day Gift.

Genie Garage Door Opener, Finest Storm Doors 'Appreciated By Moms'

Would mother appreciate the convenience, safety and the "thought behind the gift" in receiving a Genie automatic garage door opener for Mother's Day?

"Would a beautiful, functional storm door be the 'different' gift she would enjoy?"

"Or a gift certificate?"

If the answer to any of these questions points to a great solution in your own situation of Mother's Day giving, then make a bee line to Maxey Home Improvement Center, 120 N. University Ave., phone 765-7736!

Genie Features Pinpointed

In selection of Genie, by Alliance, one can be assured of such features as latest in residential design, popular price and incorporation of many features of more expensive units.

With Genie, you just touch the button on your portable transmitter, and Genie opens the door, turns on the light and lets you drive right in. An exclusive new light option switch allows you to choose whether the light stays on for two minutes 16 seconds and then automatically turns off after the door is opened or closed, or remains on as long as the door is open.

The AT 55 transmitter has a personal code card inside to lock in the secret signal.

(There are many more features of the Genie automatic garage door opener system; the folks at Maxey Home Improvement Center welcome the opportunity of going over these with you.)

Storm Doors

Values continue in storm doors, with prices as low as $89.95 (no speakers) and $109.95 with speaker. Installation and delivery charge in the Lubbock city limits is only $1! These doors are available in 14 models on display, with gold, bronze or white finish, safety glass, heavy extruded corners and other features. (Also ask the Maxey salesman about a complete line of storm windows.)

Special prices are now in effect for all lighting fixtures, 3-wire extension cords for those outdoor Spring needs, marble top vanities, TCI paint, tub enclosures, and more.

For any building and hardware needs, chances are that one-stop shopping at Maxey Home Improvement Center and the Maxey Lumber firm on the 100-block N. University Ave. will meet the need . . . in selection, quality, service and economy.

Maxey makes special effort to stock the "hard to find" but needed items, with full attention of particular needs of the season.

"Are you having trouble with CB units or other signals operating your garage door?"

"If so, a wise suggestion is to contact Maxey Home Improvement Center, 120 N. University Ave., phone 765-7736, and find out how conversion can be made at a nominal fee . . . ending this irksome problem. It is just that simple."

Many other items and services from this Lubbock firm can be of equal benefit.

Skylights

"Did you realize that skylights are stocked, in both single and double dome, in white or bronze, for residential or commercial use?"

"Maxey Home Improvement Center, 120 N. University Ave., wants you to have the very best at a price you can afford!"

Hence, the firm not only "holds the line" on prices throughout its stock, but it arranges specials whenever possible, such as those now in effect to greatly aid in most every home improvement endeavor.

Look at some of the items that likely are coming in for one's special consideration at this time:

Check the large selection of Amerock cabinet hardware.

And Skil and Black & Decker power tools.

Plus, a tremendous selection of lighting fixtures, plumbing and electric supplies, and just about anything in the building line.

Maxey Home Improvement Center is glad to help one locate the hard-to-find items, getting them or telling where they may be found.

The center is open every week day, from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and until 5 p.m. Saturdays.

El Paso Wholesale, Lubbock Division, Serves Wide Region

"El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division knows that it can make the entire year more profitable and certainly more convenient for retail firms throughout the region, ultimately saving for the consumer . . . you and me."

There are a number of carefully planned factors that make this statement possible and true:

Selling wholesale only, the El Paso Wholesale Company in Lubbock is the city's complete wholesale firm.

Customers include grocery and hardware stores, auto supply houses, service stations, toy stores, sporting goods stores, etc.

Located at 206 23rd St., phone 747-1841, in Lubbock, the El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division carries and stocks a full selection of hard line merchandise.

From time to time partial lists of the products have been published on these pages of the Avalanche-Journal, and readers have noted that the products and brand names are ones that can be appreciated, together with the completeness of this wholesale firm.

Among the benefits area merchants find foremost at El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division, aside from the selection, is the freight situation.

Doesn't it make sense that savings are enabled through the regions by virtue of the big-stock Lubbock warehouse that features faster, shorter delivery transport? Let this Lubbock wholesale firm prove it to your own benefit with products such as:

- Guns by Remington, Marlin and H. and R.; ammunition from Federal and Remington; and gun accessories such as Outer & Hoppes solvents and gun cleaning kits.
- C.B. radios by Midland and Cobra, with the Fuzzbuster radar detector; plus Mr. CB accessories and Antenna Specialist antennas.
- Of course there are lots of quality housewares, including Corning Ware and Pyrex, Nordic Ware and Rubbermaid.
- Among the many appropriate items for young birthdays are toys by Fisher-Price, Mattel, Playskool, Tonka and Marx.

Electronics

In the electronics field, select from television sets by G.E., Midland, Hitachi and Sony; and stereos by Soundesign and Hitachi; plus miscellaneous items including eight-track and cassette recorders, walkie talkies and TV video games.

Quality cameras and supplies include Polaroid and Kodak cameras, projectors and film, and accessories such as camera cases, viewers and film reels.

Sporting Goods

Diversified sporting goods items include . . . for the fishing enthusiast there are the famous lines of Diawa, Garcia, Zebo, Mr. Twister, Fleck Lures and Mepps.

For camping, select from Coleman, Igloo, Ray-o-Vac batteries and Nelson

Sales camping accessories, and Buck knives.

For outdoor sports, the lines of Rawlings, Spalding, Wilson and General Sportscraft are represented.

And there are Daisy and Crossman BB guns and Huffy bicycles.

Small appliances are stocked in abundance, including coffee makers by Norelco, Mr. Coffee and Protector-Silex; and pressure cookers from Presto and Mirro Aluminum; and Hamilton Beach, Waring, G.E. and Sunbeam appliances, together with such lines as Dazey, Munsey, West Bend, Oster and Rival.

Hardware is not neglected, either, and includes Stanley Tools, Black & Decker power tools, Crescent wrenches and Nicholson files, Peerless and Hancock Gross plumbing supplies.

Gift items include the quality Cross pens, Zippo lighters, watches by Timex and Texas Instruments, clocks and calculators.

In the personal care category, there are hair dryers by Gillette, Clairol, Conair and Sunbeam; and hairsetters and make-up mirrors by Clairol, Gillette, G.E. and Hamilton Beach; and Water-Pik, too.

Automotive items include Hollywood and Cal custom accessories, Fram Filters and Autolite tune-up accessories; and Rubbermaid, Lifetime and Robert automobile accessories.

And more!

DON'T LIFT IT.

Business & Industrial Review

"THEY'VE HELPED A LOT OF MOTHERS" — Louise Bills, seated, and Pat Nixon, both of Sonotone-Lubbock, aptly suggest gifts of better hearing for 'the mother in your life'.

Sonotone-Lubbock Independent Dealer Suggests Newest Hearing Aid As Gift

The folks at Sonotone-Lubbock not only have a long record of efficiency and service, but they are a sentimental lot! And possibly at no time is this sentimentality, or concern, if you please, more evident than in their appreciation of Mother's Day.

"You only have one mother," Louise Bills, certified hearing aid audiologist, points out. "It has been one of my prime pleasures, since back in 1952, to serve so many mothers of this area, helping them enjoy life more fully with better hearing, and in working with family members in consideration of mother, dad and others with hearing impairments."

"In these pre-Mother's Day weeks, we again remind you that a gift for mother, one to help her enjoy life, could be the finest thing you could do. And we would like to help."

Whether the consideration is a new hearing aid for mother, or even a check of a current aid, Sonotone-Lubbock, at 2318 Broadway, phone 762-5469 (an independent dealer) can be of real assistance.

New Models

Attention is called to the advantages of the new binaural aids, actually seven times better than the single unit, Louise Bills and staff report.

"The new Starkey CE-3 all-in-the-ear models have been received and could open up a new world for the hard of hearing in your family."

Features include volume control with no on-off switch, as this function is by battery door swing-out for more reliability. The volume control cap has raised ribs for easier user manipulation, too. The swing-out battery door allows the user to remove the battery in two different ways.

And in event of damage, the swing-out door may be easily replaced by the dispenser.

A sub-miniature electret microphone permits construction of smaller aids and also offers greater high-frequency response, and an extended range receiver provides additional high-frequency emphasis.

The flexibility of the CE series custom fitting is retained, with optional features enabled.

'Act New'

"So . . . in thinking of Mother's Day and the gift to please her, now and for days and years to come, consideration of a hearing aid from Sonotone-Lubbock is heartily suggested. Think about it, and do something about it! See Louise and the fine folks at Sonotone-Lubbock for the solution."

"If you have not become acquainted with the group, now would be a very good time to do so. Each staff member exemplifies the firm's concept of service in every contact."

Huntington Recuperating

Manager Louise Bills, newest staff member Pat Nixon, and veteran Ralph Huntington can be of exceptional service. (It is pointed out that Ralph is recovering from open heart surgery and is believed progressing satisfactorily. He expresses appreciation for the many acts of remembrance during and since his hospitalization and he looks forward to again serving on full time basis, working with his friends throughout the region.)

"Professionalism with a human touch" at Sonotone-Lubbock has earned appreciation and acclaim of customers throughout the area. Small wonder these people at Sonotone-Lubbock, 2318 Broadway, phone 762-5469, have made life richer for hundreds.

Individual hearing tests, at no obligation, personalized fitting, frequent check-ups, and the interested care of a Sonotone-Lubbock consultant is the service one can expect without exception at this service-oriented Lubbock firm.

"If you have a hearing problem or suspect that you may have one, that visit or call you make to Sonotone-Lubbock may be the most important one you will every make."

Lubbock Travel Wisely Urges Early Plans For Vacationing

'Tis travel time!
"And travel advantages at least effort on your part is the beneficial situation at Lubbock Travel, Inc., phone 792-3237, at 4214 50th St., Suite A."

"Your Travel is Our Business" is the realistic motto there, and a highly professional staff is fully qualified to aid in travel across Texas or around the world! These staff members, headed by Jean Bachman, president, travel extensively, determining first hand how finest travel pleasure can be assured every customer.

Early Bookings Advised

Jean and staff aptly point out that summer travel bookings are heavy, and one should make full arrangements just as soon as possible to avoid disappointment of delay.

"Let Lubbock Travel, Inc., plan ahead for you."

"We can help with the highly restricted Super Saver air fares," it is pointed out, but here again one must act at earliest time possible.

And again:

"Cruises may now be the very best buy in the travel picture, and it would be wise to book now for these exciting cruises.

Tours to Hawaii still are excellent buys, and Lubbock Travel, Inc. welcomes inquiries regarding the details of these trips with announced costs including transportation, lodging and even transfers . . . a price surprisingly low.

Alaska trips also are a very good buy now, and one is invited to book now for cruise-flight combos.

Motor coach tours are popular and economical, leaving from Amarillo and Dallas.

Even Amtrak tickets are sold right at the Lubbock Travel, Inc. offices! (Ask about the free fare for kids involving box tops.)

And there are the Amtrak U. S. Rail Path plans.

Plus good tours to Europe and Africa.

Whatever the destination, whatever the mode of travel, a Lubbock Travel staff member most likely has been to the very spot you wish to visit and can help immeasurably in your planning.

"And there is absolutely no charge to you for this valuable aid."

Assistance is given with airline reservations and tickets, hotel reservations, rental cars, resort reservations, tours, cruises, charters, passport and visa information, fare quotations and excursion fares.

Lubbock Travel, Inc., represents all major airlines, cruise companies and tour operators.

Business & Industrial Review

ASSUMES ASSISTANT MANAGER POST — Kent Sweet, right, is shown being welcomed to the Lubbock Woolco store by manager J.G. Treadaway who has expressed his pleasure in having Sweet come to Lubbock as assistant head of the store. Sweet is a native Texan, having been reared in Dalhart. He is a graduate of Dalhart High School and holds a bachelors degree in finance and accounting from WTSC, Canyon. He and his wife, Carol (who also is a Dalhart native), have two daughters, Lorie, age 5, and Stacy, four months. The Sweets come most immediately from Amarillo where he was with Woolco for two years, formerly serving in Oklahoma City and Enid in his six year history with the company. Professing real appreciation for Lubbock and for Woolco, Sweet relates his enjoyment of retailing, citing people contact and operation coordination as his interest. He is an "outdoors" person, enjoying outdoor sports and "cooking out".

LINGERIE, ALWAYS AN APPRECIATED GIFT

FASHION, UTILITY, ECONOMY IN SHOES — Albert Sepulveda, new head of the Woolco Shoe Department, calls attention here to a segment of the wide selection offered. Special note is made of the good choice in men's and boys' jogging shoes and the large group of girls' sandals. Albert, a native of El Paso, has received special awards for biggest sales increase in 1977 for the shoe department there, and he has been with Woolco for 2 1/2 years. A graduate of Austin High School in El Paso, he attended the El Paso Community College for two years before commencing his career with Woolco.
