Radicals Arrested By PLO

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat began a massive crackdown today on radicals who launched assaults that left three U.N. peacekeepers dead and 12 wounded, reliable Palestinian sources reported.

They said Arafat ordered the arrest and court martial of everyone involved in mortaring the French military barracks near the biblical port of Tyre, ambushing two French patrols in the city and shooting the French commander, Col. Jean Germain Salvan.

The sources said military police units of the Palestine Liberation Organization converged on Tyre, 50 miles south of Beirut and 12 miles north of the Israeli border, and began the arrests this morning.

The sources would not give the number, identity or nationality of those arrested for the most serious attacks on the U.N. force since it arrived in March to oversee an Israeli withdrawal from southern Lebanon.

"But they are all known to us," one source said. "A committee formed by the PLO completed an investigation into the clashes Wednesday and reported the outcome to Chairman Arafat along with a list of the culprits."

The U.N. Security Council authorized 2,000 more troops for the 4,000-man force in Lebanon at a meeting in New York Wednesday. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim had requested the reinforcements before the fighting Tuesday night, and approval had been expected. But the clashes made council approval a certain-

The council resolution deplored the attacks on the U.N. force and demanded respect for the peacekeepers. It also called on Israel to complete its withdrawal from southern Lebanon "without any

The Israeli forces who advanced 12 to 18 miles into southern Lebanon in mid-March to drive the Palestinian guerrillas from Israel's northern border still hold a security belt six miles deep along the frontier. But after the fighting this week, they are not likely to pull back more until the U.N. force demonstrates it can control the Lebanese Moslem extremists and radical Palestinians allied with them.

Both the PLO and Dr. George Habash's radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine denied any part in the attacks on the French in Tyre. It was believed that a splinter group called the Popular Resistance Front was to blame and that it attacked to revenge the killing of two of its members on Sunday at a French roadblock.

The U.N. force said its casualties included two French paratroopers and a

A twister also was reported near San Antonio in neighboring Pasco County. Details on that tornado were sketchy. And earlier in the day a tornado hit Gainesville, Fla., causing considerable damage to a residential area, shopping

The tornado struck hard at the Castlegate Mobile Home Park outside Gainesville, destroying several house trailers and damaging others. It touched off several small fires at the park.

Mrs. Clark said electric power was off in large areas of Gainesville and wasn't expected to be restored until early evening, "if then."

Civil Defense officials joined with the Red Cross and Salvation Army to establish shelters for the homeless.

Schools were closed throughout Alachua County and many roads were closed to all but emergency vehicles.

Another tornado ripped across Jacksonville's westside late Wednesday night.

Food Prices Soar Again; Stocks Skid

prices jumped 1.3 percent in April, the piggest increase in 31/2 years, as the inflation outlook failed to improve, the government reported today.

Wholesale prices of consumer foods rose 1.9 percent, continuing a four-month surge that has hit shoppers' pocketbooks. The figures, compiled by the Labor Department, measure the prices of goods paid by retailers and others just before they reach the consumer. The higher prices usually show up at retail stores shortly afterward. The April increase of 1.3 percent was the biggest since a 1.9 percent rise in November 1974, also at a time of rising food prices. Wholesale prices of finished goods had risen 0.6 percent in January, 1.1 percent in February and 0.6 percent in March before the latest 1.3 percent

The wholesale price report was blamed for a sharp drop in stock prices today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dipped 10.74 to 818.09 in the first hour, but later recovered slightly. Government economists are counting on volatile food prices to ease up later in the year and for the inflation rate to be about 7 percent for 1978, up from an earlier estimate of about 6 percent. Even with the big increases so far this year, wholesale prices have gone up only percent since April of last year. The government said 30 percent of the entire April increase was caused by higher jewelry prices, reflecting a sharp in-crease in the price of gold.

The wholesale food prices rose 1.1 percent in January, 2.9 percent in February and 0.8 percent in March before gaining 1.9 percent in April. Because of a downturn in prices last summer, finished con sumer food prices were 8.5 percent higher in April than they were in April 1977.

Prices for processed poultry and pork turned up in April after declining in March, the Labor Department said. Fresh and dried fruits and vegetables and dairy products rose more than they had the previous month.

Prices for beef and veal and processed fruits and vegetables continued to increase, but less than in March, Milled rice and refined vegetable oil declined at Prices rose more than in March for jewelry, automobiles, floor coverings and household furniture and appliances.

The department did not provide precise figures on the jewelry increases but said they fluctuate each month and have, a big effect on the overall wholesale price

Prices also rose sharply in April for shoes, tires, health products, gasoline and home heating oil.

Colorado's 'Wheelchair Mayor' Hero At Conference On Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) - William Mitchell lost his face and hands in a fiery 1971 motorcycle crash. Four years later, he was forced into a wheelchair by a plane crash that left his back broken.

Today, despite his multiple disabilities, Mitchell is gainfully employed - as mayor of little Crested Butte, Colo. He is also the hero of a nationwide conference here on jobs for the handicapped.

"You are a symbol of what this meeting is all about," declared Harold Russell, chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, in a tribute to Several thousand people at the annual three-day conference are discussing their progress and problems in finding jobs for the disabled, exchanging information and getting prospective employees together with would-be employers. About a third of the participants are disabled. The others come from government, business, educational institutions

Mitchell. 35 and billed at the conference as "the only mayor in the United States in a wheelchair," was elected to a two-year term last November by the 1,200 residents of Crested Butte.

He works about 60 hours a week serving as mayor and helping to advance the cause of the handicapped.

'It's natural for able-bodied people to see me in a wheelchair and think of me as handicapped. But I don't think that way of myself," observed Mitchell, whose bright, dark eyes shine from behind his reconstructed face. "I have seen a lot of crippled people walking, and a lot of healthy people going around in mental wheelchairs."

The government estimates there are more than 11 million Americans aged 16 to 64 with permanent work disabilities that range from high blood pressure to mental retardation and paralysis. Of that group, about 58 percent are unem-

Disaster Aid Sought By New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A day after some of the worst flooding this sea-level city has seen in 50 years, high water stood in suburban homes, abandoned autos littered the streets and four persons were dead. Estimates of the damage run as high as $60 million.

The mayor said he would request immediate federal disaster aid.

About 9 inches of rain fell Wednesday on this city, much of which sits several feet below sea level and relies for drainage on an intricate pumping system that was overtaxed by the deluge.

The water was gone from the central business district, French Quarter and grand avenues of the uptown area in to-day's bright sunshine. But new problems also cropped up - from snakes slithering in the street to drinking water which couldn't be drunk. At the hospital Hotel Dieu, flood waters roared in the basement, knocking out power and damaging the kitchen and pharmacy. Several patients were evacu-ated from the at their doctors' request, but officials said they were able to keep most services going.

Years Away For U.S. WASHINGTON (AP) - American nuclear scientists are still years away from producing a "clean" tactical nuclear bomb which could destroy targets with intense blast and heat without poisoning the environment with lingering radiation.

Scientists are now working on the concept, using devices which are far from actual weapons. But sources say the scientists have gone a long way toward mastering the key process which would result in total combustion of nuclear materials in an explo-

Older nuclear bombs and warheads now ready for combat use would leave considerable amounts of nuclear materials unburned, producing radioactivity that would contaminate wide areas for many years. For that reason, they are considered "dirty."

As part of an effort to replace these weapons of the early 1960s, research on a proposed Reduced Residual Radiation, or RRR, nuclear weapon has been under way for several years. It was discussed last month by Energy Department officials at a House subcommittee hearing.

The Energy Department develops and manufactures a variety of nuclear weapons for the armed services. Nuclear weapons are tailored for differing missions, so their characteristics vary wide-

Military officials say the RRR bomb would be dropped by Air Force and Navy tactical fighter-bombers and exploded at ground level. The bomb is designed for targets - airfields and railroad yards, for example - which can be crippled most effectively by blast and heat.

Another possible mission would be to block mountain passes and delay an enemy advance.

Along with heavy blast and heat in the vicinity of the explosion, these bombs would produce what is called "prompt radiation," which scientists say would disappear quickly.

In contrast, the neutron warhead carried by a Lance missile or field artillery shell would emit heavy doses of radiation to achieve its main objective - stopping enemy tank columns by penetrating their steel armor plate and disabling or killing their crews.

The "enhanced radiation" bomb would be deadly within less than a mile from center of the above-ground explosion. Blast and heat from the neutron bomb would be limited to the immediate area. sparing buildings and the lives of civilians and friendly troops farther away from the target.

President Carter decided last month to defer possible production of the neutron warhead after it was denounced by some groups in the United States and Western

James Marshall Drops Action Against Local Airport Bonds By PAULA TILKER on file with the court and that it will bind for to every citizen in this city," Marshall

Avalanche-Journal Staff

Only a week after losing an appeal in a lawsuit against the city, James Marshall voluntarily has dropped another lawsuit blocking the sale of $1.73 million in airport revenue bonds.

At Marshall's request, Judge John McFall of the 237th District Court dismissed the suit without prejudice Wednesday afternoon.

In this country, Iranian students engage in a wide range of academic pursuits, But they also participate in political activities that, thanks to the presence of SAVAK, are undertaken only at great risk of danger to themselves or relatives back home. However, others believe Iran's oil wealth contains the seeds of revolution.

Few Iranians are willing to stand up and be counted as among the dissidents, whose activities include up to 10 percent of the nearly 30,000 students in America and thousands more non-students. Using a variety of tactics, the shah of Iran endeavors to deter Iranian students from political involvement while they are being readied, often at government expense, to become part of Iran's emerging technocracy.

Clearly, the student movement's importance lies in its numbers.

Iranians began attending U.S. colleges and universities in small numbers before World War II. By 1969, they had reached a population of only 2,500. Then came the oil boom

In eight years, the Iranian student population in this country increased tenfold. Most came to the United States because the buildup of Iran's educational system could not keep pace with the injection of oil profits into Iranian society.

The sudden influx had a pronounced impact on American higher education.

Educators quickly joined industry in competing for petrodollars. The shah, in line with the social revolution he envisioned for his nation, became a philanthropist for higher education, pumping millions of dollars into more than 60 American colleges, according to the American Council on Education. The motive: ensure that gifted Iranian students receive the education they need to become business and industrial leaders

Many of the programs financed by the shah were geared toward specific needs of a country seeking to rise above thirdworld status. Among them:

-A 1975 agreement with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to put 54 Iranians through a rigrous two-year graduate program in nuclear engineer-

-A $500,000 contract with MIT and Boston's Wentworth Institute to help establish the Shiraz Technical Institute in Iran, envisioned as "the MIT of the Per-

-A $1 million endowment to George Washinhton University, where Professor Philip Grub holds the shah's Aryamehr Chair of Multinational Management.

Large schools like the Iranian money but insist they don't need it. At small schools, the situation is different.

At one such institution, West Institute of Technology, Iranians comprise 10 percent of the 2,000-student enrollment, and President Robert Nelson said he would have to furlough faculty if the Iranians suddenly left. Nelson last year asked the Iranian government for $50,000 so the college could cope with the influx of stu-

The boy, whose name was withheld because of his age, saw the truck unlocked with the key in the ignition, so he and a 6year-old buddy climbed in late Tuesday night to drive the rest of the way home.

After a security guard noticed the truck being driven from a lot, he called police, and a squad car stopped the boys before they got home.

The boys had sneaked out of their houses and walked a quarter of a mile before they tired of their adventure, around midnight, police said.

'Clean' Bomb Years Away

For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - American nuclear scientists are still years away from producing a "clean" tactical nuclear bomb which could destroy targets with intense blast and heat without poisoning the environment with lingering radiation.

Scientists are now working on the concept, using devices which are far from actual weapons.

But sources say the scientists have gone a long way toward mastering the key process which would result in total combustion of nuclear materials in an explo-

Older nuclear bombs and warheads now ready for combat use would leave considerable amounts of nuclear materials unburned, producing radioactivity that would contaminate wide areas for many years. For that reason, they are considered "dirty.

As part of an effort to replace these weapons of the early 1960s, research on a proposed Reduced Residual Radiation, or RRR, nuclear weapon has been under way for several years. It was discussed last month by Energy Department officials at a House subcommittee hearing.

The Energy Department develops and manufactures a variety of nuclear weapons for the armed services. Nuclear weapons are tailored for differing missions, so their characteristics vary wide-

Military officials say the RRR bomb would be dropped by Air Force and Navy tactical fighter-bombers and exploded at ground level. The bomb is designed for targets - airfields and railroad yards, for example - which can be crippled most effectively by blast and heat.

Another possible mission would be to block mountain passes and delay an enemy advance.

Along with heavy blast and heat in the vicinity of the explosion, these bombs would produce what is called "prompt radiation," which scientists say would disappear quickly.

In contrast, the neutron warhead carried by a Lance missile or field artillery shell would emit heavy doses of radiation to achieve its main objective - stopping enemy tank columns by penetrating their steel armor plate and disabling or killing

The "enhanced radiation" bomb would be deadly within less than a mile from center of the above-ground explosion. Blast and heat from the neutron bomb would be limited to the immediate area, sparing buildings and the lives of civilians and friendly troops farther away from the target.

President Carter decided last month to defer possible production of the neutron warhead after it was denounced by some groups in the United States and Western

Man To Help Ill Scouts

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) -A 76-year-old scoutmaster says he will fight to his "dying day" to try to overturn the Boy Scouts denial of Eagle Scout awards to two teen-agers suffering from muscular dystrophy

Edward Mattern says the Boy Scouts national headquarters is discriminating by denying muscular dystrophy victims Steven Cerbasi, 17, and Frank Burrell, 19, the scouts' highest honor because they can't pass the physical standards.

"We're fighting for them. They earned it the same as the other boys. They passed all the requirements except the physical part," said Mattern, who has received hundreds of letters in support of the youths, both of Toms River. He said that as their scoutmaster, he will "fight to my dying day" to see that the youths get the awards. They were nominated for the award by the Ocean County Boy Scout chapter in 1975.

The recommendation was forwarded to the national office in North Brunswick, where an extensive investigation concluded Cerbasi and Burrell had not passed the physical requirements. "We've always followed the policy to mainstream (handicapped) boys, put them in regular units where possible and make no concessions for them," said Boy Scout spokesman Russ Bufkin.

Iranian Students In U.S. Acquire Political Power

At nearly 30,000-strong, Iranians comprise the largest contingent of foreign nationals studying at American colleges and universities.

In this country, Iranian students engage in a wide range of academic pursuits, But they also participate in political activities that, thanks to the presence of SAVAK, are undertaken only at great risk of danger to themselves or relatives back home. Thus, they wear masks to conceal their identities, always conscious of the control their government holds over them, even thousands of miles from home.

High-ranking Iranian officials - in cluding Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi (Utah State University, 1950) - believe once educated, these tens of thousands of students will shape a modern society with comforts rivaling those in Western

However, others believe Iran's oil wealth contains the seeds of revolution.

Few Iranians are willing to stand up and be counted as among the dissidents, whose activities include up to 10 percent of the nearly 30,000 students in America and thousands more non-students. Using a variety of tactics, the shah of Iran endeavors to deter Iranian students from political involvement while they are being readied, often at government expense, to become part of Iran's emerg-

Clearly, the student movement's importance lies in its numbers.

Iranians began attending U.S. colleges and universities in small numbers before World War II. By 1969, they had reached a population of only 2,500.

Then came the oil boom. In eight years, the Iranian student population in this country increased tenfold. Most came to the United States because the buildup of Iran's educational system could not keep pace with the injection of oil profits into Iranian society.

The sudden influx had a pronounced impact on American higher education.

Educators quickly joined industry in competing for petrodollars. The shah, in line with the social revolution he envifor his nation, became a t thropist for higher education, pumping millions of dollars into more than 60 American colleges, according to the American Council on Education. The motive: ensure that gifted Iranian students receive the education they need to become business and industrial leaders

Many of the programs financed by the shah were geared toward specific needs of a country seeking to rise above thirdworld status. Among them:

-A 1975 agreement with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to put 54 Iranians through a rigrous two-year graduate program in nuclear engineer-

-A $500,000 contract with MIT and Boston's Wentworth Institute to help establish the Shiraz Technical Institute in Iran, envisioned as "the MIT of the Per-

-A $1 million endowment to George Washinhton University, where Professor Philip Grub holds the shah's Aryamehr Chair of Multinational Management.

Large schools like the Iranian money, but insist they don't need it. At small schools, the situation is different.

At one such institution, West Institute of Technology, Iranians comprise 10 percent of the 2,000-student enrollment, and President Robert Nelson said he would have to furlough faculty if the Iranians suddenly left. Nelson last year asked the Iranian government for $50,000 so the college could cope with the influx of stu-

Aside from the questionable academic productivity of some of these educational programs, exiled Iranian writer Reza Baraheni says the joint ventures radicalize the Iranian students.

"It's not only radicalization, it's politicization," says Baraheni. "They were used to thinking non-politically and now suddenly...they learn they are from a backward country that is a dictatorship. That's where SAVAK comes in.'

The dissident Iranian Student Association (ISA) contends the shah uses philanthropy as leverage. They claim that schools receiving large doses of Iranian aid discourage political activity among exchange students to avoid jeopardizing a major source of revenue. And SAVAK is an effective tool for discouraging pol-itical discussions, Iranian and U.S. officials say.

Still, the dissidents remain active, sometimes in the most unlikely loca-tions. SAVAK monitors those demonstrations, photographing participants and threatening reprisals on families in Iran, who — unlike the students in this country - remain vulnerable to arrest

The anti-shah movement was presented in vivid color last November when to hide their identities and were arrested on a rarely enforced law prohibiting the wearing of masks on city streets. Defense attorneys argued the students faced a very real risk of reprisals without the masks.

Police in Fulton, Mo., last year cracked down on an anti-shah demonstration by forcing Iranian students to charge a fee for leaflets given to passersby. The list of incidents is a long one, and scores of Iranians have been jailed including 93 in Houston and 57 at small Navarro College in Corsicana for their anti-shah protests.

SAVAK is not the only spy unit interested in Iranians. The files of the Chicago Police Department include reports of underçover operations directed at the ISA in 1974. one's language has become a matter of inreasing political sensitivity in the Soviet Union as three of the USSR's constituent republics have rebelled at new draft constitutions which propose to establish Russian as the official language.

In rapid sequence, Georgia (the one without Plains), Armenia and Azerbaijan have pressured Moscow through public protests to reinstate their native tongues.

All three are in the Caucasus, which has a long history of its own preceding modern Russian hegemony and takes notable pride in its independent cultures.

THIS DOESN'T make them unique; mereby the vocal tip of a Soviet cultural and ethnic iceberg. While western eyes tend to see the USSR as a massive monolith, it is in fact the last of the big time multi-racial empires. The dominant Russians currently comprise 53 percent of the population, about 133 milion in round numbers. The non-Russian Soviet citizens are a heady mixture of Ukrainians, White Russians, Baltic peoples, Kazakhs. Uzbeks and a laundry list of smaller

NO, VIRGINIA, even if parimutuel betting is approved by Texas voters Saturday it won't go into effect soon enough to post the odds on the horse race in the 28th state senatorial district.

Five hopefuls are bunched in the homestretch for the Democratic nomination. With no clear leader having broken out of the pack, a June runoff is a certainty.

The uncertainty is over which two will make the finals.

The field includes three former state legislators, a former Lubbock mayor and a man who has set some sort of record for simultaneous service on state and local governmental boards.

In alphabetical order, they are: Jesse T. George, Delwin Jones, E.L. Short, Morris W. (Moe) Turner and Don Workman. State Rep. Joe Robbins, unopposed on the Republican ticket, is slated to meet the winner in

"THE PLUNGERS" in political circles are willing to bet that Turner and Workman will be in the runoff-but they aren't giving any odds. Many tab Jones as the dark horse, pointing out that his narrow losses in his last three outings may be misleading, particularly in a crowded

Two years ago, for example, Jones suffered from a heavy cross-over of conservative voters into the Ford-Reagan Republican primary.

Others see Short as the sleeper. He's the only non-Lubbock resident in the race and presumably will benefit if he can run strong in rural areas and towns he formerly represented while the Lubbock vote is being split.

Still others see George as one of the top two finishers, on the basis of campaign strategy. A former representative from Brownfield, he has

ONE MAN'S OPINION

HARDLY ANYONE would bet, though, that the runoff won't find either Turner or Workman or both-fighting it out.

Most of the other candidates themselves name Turner as the odds-on favorite to lead the ticket. The former Lubbock mayor has campaigned as a man of action who would get things done in Austin as he did at City Hall

Workman, the only man in the race who never has held elective office, has emphasized his service on such boards as the Texas Youth Council and the Texas Tech Board of Regents. He projects an image of comparatively quiet effectiveness in working with the governor and other sen-

It would be nice if the two who survive to make that race might run it without having to prove what they can do on a muddy track.

Besides the state senate race, interest in the Lubbock area has perked up in the gubernatorial derby and in the Kent Hance-Morris Sheats ConDolph Briscoe, John Hill and Preston Smith all

ON THE REPUBLICAN side of the racing stands, Presidential politics may be at play in the Congressional race.

It's no secret that George Bush is seriously jockeying for a shot at the GOP nomination in 1980. A win by his son, George Jr., in the 19th Congressional District would be helpful in convincing party leaders that the Bush name is mag-

That may be the real reason Ronald Reagan reversed an earlier decision to stay neutral in the primary and, instead, endorsed Jim Reese. Reagan, despite his age, still has possible Presidential ambitions of his own.

Add in the old Ford-Reagan battle (Reagan supported Reese against Mahon two years ago; Bush is a Ford man) and the possibility of a Ford-Bush ticket and the interest peaks.

Joe Hickox, the Third Man in the congressional race, is hoping he'll benefit from the fallout.

The Congressional primary also has elements of the old Midland-Odessa jealousy. Reese is a former mayor of Odessa. Bush is a Midland product.

With only a part of Odessa in the 19th Congressional District, and with Lubbock's interest centered on the Democratic primary, many observers are putting Bush in the favorite's chair

Don't Be Misled By Nursing Home Name

(First Of Two Columns)

LIKE MILLIONS OF other deeply troubled for collecting its debts, and Panama isn't likely to Americans, you've tried just about everything to ease the physical and mental limitations of your aged loved one: group housing programs, day 10, 20 years, will pull a Nasser, nationalize the care centers, visiting nurses, therapists, homecanal, forbid American shipping, and what's left makers and home health care aides, outpatient care, "meals on wheels" to your loved one's 'Pronounced intervention," said the Traveler. Finally, you're faced with the brutal task of finding a nursing home that will give your relative or friend affectionate and top-notch care.

But you're far more frightened about this than you would have been a few years back, before the scandalous revelations about nursing home abuses, the unscrupulous actions and outright cheating of proprietors, the high costs concealing horribly inadequate care.

What can you, what should you do?

FIRST, YOU MUST learn thoroughly the kinds money, personnel and sophisticated technology in of nursing care available to you and conditions under which Medicaid and Medicare will pay the costs and to what extent.

You'll find homes that specialize in personal care, others that focus on health and nursing care, still others that cater to residents with a wide range of needs.

Rarely will you find the home's services clearly defined in the name of the facility.

For instance, two frequently used terms in the professional health care field are "skilled nursing facility" and "intermediate care facility"-terms springing from the U.S. government's Medicaid and Medicare programs under which bills for a majority of nursing home residents are paid.

TO BE MORE specific, Medicaid pays for an intermediate care facility, which caters to those who need health care service plus some nursing supervision along with assistance in eating, dressing, walking and other similar essentials. There is no reimbursement from Medicare for intermedi-

Medicaid also pays for care in a skilled nursing facility where round-the-clock services are available. A physician must approve this type of care for an applicant to be eligible for this phase of the Medicaid program.

Medicare will assist in paying up to 100 days in a skilled nursing facility after a patient has spent at least three days in a hospital and a physician has recommended admission with ultimate Medicare approval.

Medicaid may pick up charges after 100 days for those eligible for both programs.

* IN SHOPPING FOR a nursing home, ask to see the facility's licenses and certificates. Examine them. Are they current?

* Since all states require licenses, avoid any home that isn't licensed. Also avoid any home where the administrators fail to produce a current license on your request. And request licen-

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB young people who get too obese. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 15year-old girl and I'm hoping you will give me some information on losing weight. I'm 5-feet-8 and weigh 155 pounds. Baby fat is fat. That gentle rationalization of parents and friends does not alter the fact that fat is fat, and it will not go away until your body uses more calories than you expend. SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - In the of the Redwoods vs. the Freeways, an Assembly committee has killed a northern California attempt to split the state in Assemblyman Barry Keene, sponsor of the measure to create a new state of Alta California, sought the surgery because he said state government has grown too big.

And, the Eureka Democrat said, he feared "the north-south conflicts over water and other natural resources are only going to escalate and get uglier in the coming years."

The vote this week in the Governmental Organization Committee was 4-2, one short of passage. But Keene, who is running for a North Coast state Senate seat, said he hoped his bill - even when dead would prompt discussion of northern California needs.

His proposal would split the state at the Tehachapi Mountains, just north of Los Angeles, but he said he would consider other borders.

"We Alta Californians don't mind sharing our natural resources with our southland friends," he said. "But we do object - strongly, loudly and constantly - to attempts at naked ripoffs of our resources.'

Southern California gets much of its water from northern California, through the canals of the state Water Project. Other resources such as timber and farmland are largely located in the north. Keene said the new Southern California state would still be the second most populous in the country and Alta California, which means upper California in Spanish, Attempts to split the state date back to 1859, when it was the southerners who felt they were outvoted by the more populous north, he said. A bill was passed then, but the U.S. Congress rejected the idea because of fears it was related to the Southern states' secessionist movement.

Numerous similar bills have been introduced since then. One, in 1965, was passed by the Senate but died in the Assem-

President Carter approved the sale last week after the Nuclear Regulatory Commission deadlocked on the issue. Carter said he had been assured the Indian government would use the fuel only at the Tarapur station, and not for weapons.

Carter said a refusal to export the fuel "would seriously undermine our efforts to persuade India to accept full-scope safeguards, and would seriously prejudice the achievement of other U.S. nonproferation goals."

India's agreement to operate the station exclusively on fuel supplied by the United States means that it must meet safeguards stipulated by the United

In a letter to Congress, Carter said: "The government of India has given us its commitment to use our exports only at the Tarapur atomic power station and not for any explosive or military purpose, and I have the highest confidence that it will honor these commitments."

The Rev. Turner is pastor of the nearby Camp Creek Holiness Church. He's been the pastor there for 25 years and began using poisonous snakes in services about 16 years ago.

"I'm 57 now and I've been saved for more than 30 years," said the husky. gray-haired, retired miner. "I started out as a Baptist but I didn't have no spirit. Then, I got the spirit of the Holy Ghost and the Lord led me to handling serpents. That was back in 1962. A group from Gauley Bridge came down with some snakes one night and we just began handling them."

Since that eventful night, Turner, who says several of his 10 children follow his beliefs, has experienced "victory over the serpent" hundreds of times. But he's been bitten on nine occasions.

"See how my fingers are all crippled up?" he said, holding out his left hand. "That happened four years ago and it was only the second time being bitten had ever bothered me. I was in bed the other time for 14 days but I've never been

Scouts Give Badges To Ill Youth

NEW YORK (AP) - Boy Scouts and former Boy Scouts from around the nation have been sending letters - and their hard-won Eagle badges - to a cerebral palsy victim embroiled in a battle to get an Eagle badge of his own.

'Allow me to share my medal with you," wrote a Florida man who enclosed the badge he earned 15 years ago.

"He is certainly more deserving of the Eagle Scout award than I or anyone I know," said a letter accompanying a California youth's medal.

Some 100 letters of support and five Eagle badges had been received at the Long Island home of Gregory Wittine by Monday, eight days after an Associated Press story on his plight.

Wittine. 23, who is confined to a wheelchair and communicates by pointing to letters on a board, completed work toward the highest scout rank last fall. His projects included a 10-mile hike, accomplished on his hands and knees and in his wheelchair.

Although a local scout council approved issuing the award, it was denied by national Boy Scouts of America officials because Wittine was 22 at the time

- past the cut-off age of 18. An official at scout headquarters in New Brunswick, N.J., said Monday the organization had received "quite a bit of calls, most entirely in favor of Greg," and that he hoped the issue would be resolved later this month at a national scout conference in Phoenix.

Wittine and his scoutmaster, Manhattan attorney Richard Golden, hope to attend the Phoenix conference although they have not been invited.

We may go anyway, not only to argue Greg's case but that of scouting's approach to all handicapped persons, Golden said.

Golden believes that physically handicapped boys, like those who are mentally retarded, should be allowed to continue in scouting past age 18. And he argues that special consideration should be given to boys who cannot complete Eagle requirements during their teen-age years. Scout figures indicate that about 25,000 of the nation's 2 million Boy Scouts achieve the Eagle rank each year. Of those, between 10 and 25 have handicaps. Wittine used his letter board to indicate that he appreciated the support from other scouts but intended to return the medals he has received. "I don't deserve the medals from these eople," he said. "I want my own. I want

Reports indicated the girl was waiting for her father when the man, believed to be about 50 years old, drove up and asked if she had seen another girl in the area. When she replied she had not, the driver reportedly displayed a pistol and told her to get inside the auto. When the man saw her father's pickup enter the lot, he left the scene.

A 16-year-old Lubbock boy was arrested late Wednesday on suspicion of pulling two burglaries in a single neighbor-

An officer said he spotted a young man carrying what appeared to be a car bat-tery in North Lubbock about 10:30 p.m. After noticing a car with the hood up, the policeman circled back to another auto which contained a man slumped down behind the steering wheel.

When he arrived at the parked car, he found the suspect sitting in the back seat and noticed a battery on the floorboard. The youth reportedly gave a false identity. However, police arrested him after they discovered a battery had been removed from the other car.

One of the officers at the scene then responded to another burglary call in the neighborhood and was told by the comthat he had seen a suspicious looking stranger run by his house earlier. When the description matched that of the youth just arrested, police took him to the residence and the occupant identified him as the suspected burglar.

In other recent break-ins, Eddie Mann of 2110-B Ave. L said whoever kicked in his kitchen door and ransacked his apartment Wednesday made off with $1,100 worth of property, including stereo equipment and a saxophone.

According to Farris Cage, someone broke into his 3419 E. 17th St. home Wednesday and stole his television and stereo, together valued at $900.

Three men described as gypsies reportedly walked into Talkington's at 2010 Broadway Wednesday afternoon and left a short time later without paying for six vested suits.

A salesman at the store told police the trio was left to try on the suits, and as the employees got busy, they managed to leave without being spotted. Reports indicated the empty hangers later were found behind a dressing room mirror.

The haul reportedly was valued at $1,-

Lubbock investigators were seeking an armed robber Wednesday in connection with the mid-afternoon holdup of a retiree at a local retirement hotel.

Sheats Remains Atop Spending

Morris Sheats continues to outspend his Democratic opponent in the race for U.S. Congress, but Kent Hance has maintained his first place position in most money raised.

On the Republican side, George Bush has collected and spent the most money followed by Jim Reese and Joe Hickox.

Reports filed with the Federal Elections Commission 10 days before Saturday's election show the candidates have collected and spent the following amounts: -Hance, $136,011.50 in contributions, $105,863.57 in expenses. During the period of this report, April 1-21, Hance, collected $19,640 and spent $47,479.47. -Sheats, $114,946.73 in contributions,

$110,981.25 in expenses. During the first three weeks in April, Sheets collected $17,722.46 and spent $18,204.22. -Bush, $86,342.06 in contributions, $65,787.55 in expenses. Of those amounts, $10,169.74 was collected and $15,278.93 alleged Soviet human rights violations. But the march disintegrated in a squab ble between organizers and uninvited right-wing German participants, and a subsequent rally addressed by a dissident former Soviet general was marked by scuffles between the two groups of anti-Soviet protesters.

The 71-year-old Brezhnev was the first of the 150-member Soviet party to step down from his Ilyushin 62 jetliner. A military aide lightly held Brezhnev's left arm as he lumbered down the gangway to be greeted by Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and President Walter Scheel.

Brezhnev's step appeared stiff as he and Scheel inspected the honor guard. A West German television commentator drew a contrast between the Soviet leader's careful walk and his bounding stride at his welcoming by then-Chancellor Willy Brandt on Brezhney's last visit here in

But Brezhnev seemed to perk up when he saw a group of women from the Soviet Embassy carrying small hammer-and-sic-kle flags. He shook hands with each one and joked with several.

The Soviet president them was whisked off in a Mercedes limousine to Gymnich Palace, the government guesthouse 20 miles from Bonn. As he returned to Bonn later in the day for talks with Scheel and Schmidt, the Soviet leader's limousine had a flat tire and he was transferred to another Mercedes.

Brezhnev's most recent trip to the West was to France 11 months ago.

His visit here, originally scheduled for last September, was repeatedly postponed for health reasons. Brezhnev is said to have an irregular heartbeat and to wear a pacemaker. He was wearing what appeared to be a hearing aid behind his left ear on arrival.

About 10,000 police were brought in to provide security.

Many were on hand as demonstrators organized by the German League of Human Rights gathered on the bank of the Rhine River for a "silent march" to protest the treatment of dissenters in the Soviet Union.

Many protesters carried placards with pictures of relatives unable to leave the Soviet Bloc and signs condemning the Soviet regime.

But when more than 100 young members of the extremist right-wing National Democratic Party joined the ranks, organizers appealed for police to keep the rightists from marching. The radicals, who carried banners appealing for a reunified Germany and freedom for convicted Nazi Rudolf Hess, held their ground. Police did not intervene.

Organizer I.I. Agrusov then announced the march was being cancelled and called on the demonstrators to walk in small groups across a bridge to a downtown Grigorenko was drowned out at times by shouts and taunts between human rights organizers and the rightists. Several scuffles broke out. One person was taken into custody for distributing pam-phlets of the Maoist Communist Party of Germany, describing Brezhnev as an international terrorist. Police said 1,500 persons attended the rally, but organizers said there were were least 2,500.

'Moonies' Win Injunction Bid

U.S. Dist. Judge Halbert O. Woodward has granted a temporary injunction barring the City of Dumas from interfering with public missionary work of the Holy Spirit Association for the Unification of World Christianity.

Plaintiffs filed suit in U.S. District Court here April 14, claiming a Dumas solicitations ordinance is unconsitutional.

The religious group, more commonly known as the "Unification Church" or 'Moonies," after the Rev. Sun Nyung Moon, filed a similar suit late last year challenging a Lubbock ordinance. Woodward also granted a temporary injunction in that case. Woodward's order in the Dumas suit prohibits the city during the pendancy of the suit from arresting church members for violation of the solicitations ordinance when they are engaged in dissemination of religious literature or solicitation of donations on public sidewalks or

Panama Debate 152 Years Ago Ended In Duel

WASHINGTON (AP) - The recent Panama Canal treaty debate was bitter at times, but 152 years ago an issue involv-ing Panama caused a U.S. secretary of state and a senator to fight a duel.

The duel between Secretary of State Henry Clay and Sen. John Randolph ended without bloodshed. It took place after they sharply disagreed over the wisdom of sending an envoy to Panama for a

The Clay-Randolph encounter was one of at least four occasions when shots rang out at nearby dueling grounds after the Code Duello took the place of Roberts' Rules of Order.

The year was 1826, the Good Neighbor Policy was over a century away, isolationist sentiment ran high, and Randolph more than insinuated that a pro-conference letter was a fabrication perpetrated by Clay.

Randolph charged in a speech on the

FASB Law Results In Uncertainty

NEW YORK (UPI) - Like another well-known path, the road to accounting chaos often is paved with good inten-

Take FASB 8, the rule that requires American companies to value their foreign obligations and some other results at current foreign exchange translation prices. It was adopted by the Financial Accounting Standards Board to keep big conglomerates from manipulating foreign currency translations in order to make their profits look better and perhaps bolster their stocks artificially.

But Columbia University Professor Nathaniel Leff says FASB 8 has added new and vexing uncertainties to the bottom line for American corporations with large overseas operations. Professor Leff says these uncertainties are enough to make American companies consider getting out of direct operations in some foreign countries and simply offering their technology and m know-how on a consulting basis only As the dollar weakened, FASB 8 became an actual nightmare for some companies with subsidiaries abroad, particularly smaller firms.

For instance, it forced Quality Inns, Inc., of Silver Spring Md., to sell a profitable motel at Ratingen near Duesseldorf in Germany, which Quality had built only three years earlier.

Quality Inns President Joseph W. McCarthy said although the Ratingen motel actually was making money it showed paper losses under FASB 8 because its debt had to be constantly "written up" as the dollar fell against the mark.

In consequence, Quality Inns had to report a loss of $1.7 million for the first half of fiscal 1978 even though it actually had a 75.5 percent gain in operating profit to $1.36 million

"The loss was purely on paper, moaned McCarthy. "It isn't any good for tax purposes and it doesn't come out of anybody's pockets, but it makes us look awful to our stockholders and this has been going on for about seven quarters."

If Quality Inns were a bigger company and could get stories in the financial press with a full explanation every quarter, it wouldn't matter so much, McCarthy explained.

But all we rate is three lines in a table of earnings with no adequate explanation, and we are small enough so that our stock is vulnerable and volatile and our image is really hurt.

The only way McCarthy could figure to cure the situation and be free to report his operating results effectively was to sell the German motel.

"Fortunately, a British firm made us a good offer," he said. "But I think we would have had to sell even or less. If we were a big company like Marriott or Holiday Inns, we wouldn't feel it so, but on our sales of about $50 million a year we actually had bigger paper foreign curren-cy translation losses this year than Marriott, a $1 billion a year outfit."

Ninety seconds later he was dead. The death brought about a District of Columbia anti-dueling law. Now, it's a felony to fight a duel, with punishment of up to 10 years in prison.

A bloodless congressional duel had taken place just two years before Cilley's death. On June 17, 1836, Rep. Jesse A. Bynum, D-N.C., and Daniel Jenifer, a Maryland Republican, faced each other with weapons in hand.

Cause of the dispute: a marathon speech given at the wrong time.

It was hot in Washington that summer,

The reluctant congressman chose to deliver a long, tedious speech. Members, who'd been in session all night, became impatient. Eventually, shouts of "Question" filed the air.

10 Women To Climb Mountain

WASHINGTON (AP) - When Arlene Blum came down from Mt. Everest after an unsuccessful attempt to become the first American woman to reach the top of the world's highest mountain, she knew her next step would be to organize an allwomen's Himalayan climb.

Women must have the chance to be leaders and be in decision-making roles if they are to succeed as serious climbers," said Miss Blum, who was one of two women along with eight male members of the American Bicentennial Everest Expedition of 1976. Two men reached the

Besides being the first all-woman American Himalayan expedition, it is also the first American attempt on the 26. 545-foot peak, which has been successfully climbed only three times. The women also plan to try for the summit along a new and difficult route.

For the first time, female Sherpas, those intrepid mountaineers essential to the success of Himalayan climbs, will be climbing members of the party, and not just porters.

A female camera crew will record the adventures of the expedition and female guides will lead treks for tourists through the Nepal countryside to base camp at 14,300 feet during the three months it will take to reach the summit.

And now, in the final stages of preparation for the climb, it is women who are volunteering their services as lawyers, accountants, T-shirt designers and publicists to help raise the $80,000 needed for expedition expenses

The climbers, aged from 20 to 50, include an artist, physicist, physician, computer programer, earth science student, and a physical therapist - all joined by their love of mountains, although none of them has ever climbed an 8000 meter (26,000 feet) peak before.

It's a dream come true for Miss Blum, 32, who helped organize the first allwoman ascent of Mt. McKinley back in

An enthusiastic climber since she was an undergraduate at Reed College in Ore gon, she remembers with some chagrin those early days when male mountaineers said to her that a woman climber was neither a woman nor a climber.

And while the women's Himalayan expedition has received much encouragement and support, there are still vestiges of that prejudice against women in this traditionally male dominated sport.

"I am concerned about the expedition," said Miss Blum, a biochemist with the University of California at Berkeley, who was in Washington recently for a National Institute of Health seminar.

"If a man doesn't make it to the top, nobody says, well, men can't climb mountains. But there's so much focus on our attempt I worry. For us the expedition will be a success if no one gets

Birth Defect's Impact Gains Significance

HOUSTON (UPI) - Rapidly icreasing survival rates have converted the common birth defect spina bifida or open spine into a social problem "greater than polio," a mother said recently

"The impact of spina bifida in public health terms is already greater than polio ever was," said Peggy Miezio, "and is becoming more significant with the rapidly increasing survival rates.'

She and her husband, Dr. Stanley Miezio, of Madison, Wis., are parents of an 11-year-old daughter, Dana, born with the defect. Mrs. Miezio is president of the Spina Bifida Association of America which met in Houston recently. As recently as 20 years ago, she said the defect - in which the lower vertebrae fail to develop completely prior to birth, leaving central nervous tissue exposed - killed most victims. But Mrs. Miezio said improved treatments for hydrocephalus (too much spinal fluid on the brain), nervous system infections and urinary and bowel problems have raised the spina bifida survival rate to about 80 precent. She said a major problem now is overcoming myths associated with the sometimes crippling ailment.

"We were like most other parents," said Mrs. Miezio, who is a registered

Experimental Newspaper Heavy On Sex, Sports

By CHRIS ROBERTS
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Journal, the first new daily newspaper in town in 30 years, is heavy with sports and sex and never goes to bed before midnight.

The bold experiment was hatched late last year by Pierre Peladeau, a French-Canadian who owns nearly three-quarters of Quebecor, a Montreal-based publishing house. In its four months, the Journal has failed to make money in competition with the town's three established papers - the Evening Bulletin, the mid-day Daily News, and the morning Inquirer, Peladeau said.

"We're not making money at this time," Peladeau, 52, acknowledged. "But we're not losing more than we expected to lose. You can't open the doors and the next day make money. He refused to discuss the newspaper's financial situation further.

Quebecor publishes Canadian dailies and 16 weeklies and owns eight printing plants, an ink-making plant, a paper plant and a photo film factory. The Journal is Quebecor's first American venture.

The morning tabloid is heavy on sports and crime news. Its headlines are provocative and most of its copy concise. On page 7 each day, there's a pinup reminiscent of Betty Grable's classic World War II picture. The third pinup was 36-25-35 Beth Treston - today Peladeau's secre-

The paper is published Monday through Saturday and sells for a quarter. The town's other three dailies are 15 cents the copy.

The Journal's type and page plates are produced across the street at the Bulletin. The pages are shipped 30 miles to the Trenton (N.J.) Times for printing. Peladeau said he's not trying to lure readers away from thre city's other papers, rather tapping a new market. "We are looking at the people who are not buying papers, the people who are watching TV and listening to radio. I think there's a tremendous market there.

"There are eight million people living in and around Philadelphia. The circulation of the town's other three newspapers accounts for 1.2 million readers. There are a lot left over for us."

He put the Journal's daily circulation at a little over 50,000, an increase of 3,000 copies a week since the middle of February. He blamed bad weather and a sixweek delay in obtaining street sale boxes for what he said was a closure growth. for what he said was a slower growth than anticipated. The Sunday and Evening Bulletin has a

WASHINGTON (AP) - The recent Panama Canal treaty debate was bitter at times, but 152 years ago an issue involv-ing Panama caused a U.S. secretary of state and a senator to fight a duel.

The duel between Secretary of State Henry Clay and Sen. John Randolph ended without bloodshed. It took place after they sharply disagreed over the wisdom of sending an envoy to Panama for a meeting of American states.

The Clay-Randolph encounter was one of at least four occasions when shots rang out at nearby dueling grounds after the Code Duello took the place of Roberts' Rules of Order.

The year was 1826, the Good Neighbor Policy was over a century away, isolationist sentiment ran high, and Randolph more than insinuated that a pro-conference letter was a fabrication perpetrated

Randolph charged in a speech on the Senate floor:

"The letter from General Salazar, Mexican minister to Washington, submitted to the president by the Senate, bears the earmarks of having been manufactured or forged by the secretary of state."

He added, "I denounce the administration as being a puritanic, diplomatic black-legged coalition. Furthermore, T hold myself responsible for all I have

Those were strong words in any day. And in saying he held himself responsible, Randolph virtually invited Clay to challenge him. The secretary reluctantly

An exchange of shots resulted only in a hole in Clay's coat, and a few days later the two traded cards and were friends, with Randolph buying his opponent a

Another congressional duel, on Feb. 24, 1828, did not end as well. Rep. Jonathan Cilley, D-Maine, was killed by Rep. William Graves, a Kentucky Whig.

FASB Law Results In Uncertainty

By LeROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) - Like another well-known path, the road to accounting chaos often is paved with good inten-

Take FASB 8, the rule that requires American companies to value their foreign obligations and some other results at current foreign exchange translation prices. It was adopted by the Financial Accounting Standards Board to keep big conglomerates from manipulating foreign currency translations in order to make their profits look better and perhaps bolster their stocks artificially

But Columbia University Professor Nathaniel Leff says FASB 8 has added new and vexing uncertainties to the bottom line for American corporations with large overseas operations.

Professor Leff says these uncertainties are enough to make American companies consider getting out of direct operations in some foreign countries and simply of-fering their technology and managerial know-how on a consulting basis only

As the dollar weakened, FASB 8 became an actual nightmare for some companies with subsidiaries abroad, particularly smaller firms.

For instance, it forced Quality Inns, Inc., of Silver Spring Md., to sell a profitable motel at Ratingen near Duesseldorf in Germany, which Quality had built only three years earlier.

Quality Inns President Joseph W. McCarthy said although the Ratingen motel actually was making money it showed paper losses under FASB 8 because its debt had to be constantly "written up" as the dollar fell against the mark.

In consequence, Quality Inns had to report a loss of $1.7 million for the first half of fiscal 1978 even though it actually had a 75.5 percent gain in operating profit to $1.36 million.

"The loss was purely on paper, moaned McCarthy. "It isn't any good for tax purposes and it doesn't come out of anybody's pockets, but it makes us look awful to our stockholders and this has been going on for about seven quarters."

If Quality Inns were a bigger company and could get stories in the financial press with a full explanation every quarter, it wouldn't matter so much, McCarthy explained.

But all we rate is three lines in a table of earnings with no adequate explanation, and we are small enough so that our stock is vulnerable and volatile and our image is really hurt.

The only way McCarthy could figure to cure the situation and be free to report his operating results effectively was to sell the German motel.

"Fortunately, a British firm made us a good offer," he said. "But I think we would have had to sell even or less. If we were a big company like Marriott or Holiday Inns, we wouldn't feel it so, but on our sales of about $50 million a year we actually had bigger paper foreign currency translation losses this year than Marriott, a $1 billion a year outfit."

TRAVEL ON A BUDGET

Research Can Help Improve Vacations

By BARBARA McDOWELL

It's nearly impossible to miss the Eiffel Tower when you visit Paris or to bypass the Capitol when in Washington, D.C.

But if you skimp on pre-vacation research, you'll surely miss less clearly visible sights. Fortunately, a wealth of free and low-cost information is available to would-be travelers.

A good place to begin is with the U.S. Travel Service, an agency of the Department of Commerce. For free information on tourist attractions, accommodations and transportation facilities in any area of the country, call the Travel Service's toll-free "hotline," (800) 942-4833.

The Travel Service also offers a number of free booklets. Most practical is a packet of seven consumer-oriented brochures covering such topics as "How to Get Hints for the Older Traveler," "Traveling with Pets" and "Travel Tips for the Handicapped."

feet above sea level, closer to the tops of the mountains, even, than Aspen, only 12 miles away.

Here is a recreation center with volleyball, paddle tennis, and a swimming pool. But this last is not unusual, for there are no less than 17 swimming pools in Snowmass and you can take your pick, since all are free.

You think that this is it. You plan a week of pool-hopping, maybe you'll take in some tennis and golf, try riding at the stable. But you are in for a big surprise.

In summertime, the snow melts, and along with the snows the physical boundaries, too, melt away. The surrounding mountains, in winter forbidding entry, open up in summer and reveal their traditional pathways. Skiers seldom see Snowmass in this light; summer visitors can appreciate the proximity to the Continental Divide in ways undreamed of when the mountains are walled in white.

One way to do this is to hop into a fourwheel drive vehicle and head for the hills. Jeeps can be rented in the area; the Snowmass Recreation Office runs daily jaunts and is the proud owner of a vintage World War II troop carrier which makes its tours unique. Twelve fullygrown adults and who knows how many kids can pile into the open-air back of this four-wheeler. The carrier is used to cart groups up to Mount Larkspur. This is a half-day jeep trip which takes you past acres of rolling ranchland and by the old mining town of Lenado. Mount Larkspur is about 15 miles past Lenado, and when you get to your destination you're more than 10,000 feet high in the Rockies.

The view is spectacular enough to evoke praise from the guides, who see it often enough to be inured to its charms. From Larkspur a panorama encompassing every ski mountain in the entire Snowmass/Aspen area spreads out before you. You can see each ski run, uncharacteristically garbed in green.

The trip to Mount Larkspur is smooth as jeep trips go, unlike a more primitive trek which climbs 5 miles along an old wagon road to Taylor Pass. On the way to Taylor you pass Ashcroft, another old mining town, which in 1880 showed even more promise than Aspen; the road over Taylor Pass was then a major thoroughfare for hauling the precious silver ore. A few buildings are still standing at Ashcroft as relics of those days.

Taylor Pass is worth the bumps. It sits supremely above tree line at an altitude just under 12,000 feet. There you are, high on an alpine plateau where the Rocky Mountain equivalents of edelweiss, the Swiss alpine flower, abound. Columbine -Colorado's state flower -Alpine forget-me-nots and sunflower blossom briefly in the summer months. An ancient wooden sign post points the way to Crested Butte, but the guide informs you that there are much better ways to get there.

Still a third tour curves up Aspen Mountain past piles of silver ore tailings and under silent ski lifts, and culminates in an alpine meadow behind the ski mountain's topmost restaurant. This winds up Snowmass' repertoire of regular tours, but custom journeys -within reason -can be arranged.

Another good way to appreciate the Rockies is to climb up on horseback. Snowmass Stables, a family-run operation, handles a multitude of such trips and is hard put to fill the tremendous demand. One of the more popular of these is an exciting two-hour ride up a ridgeway behind the stables and adjoining ranch. The ridge stands upwards of 10,-000 feet high, connects two valleys, and overlooks a vast number of surrounding peaks. The early-morning breakfast ride is a shorter version -but the grub more than compensates. When you reach the campsite, bacon and eggs cooking over a fire and all the rest are already there waiting for you.

But one gets closest to the mountains on foot. Here each person can express his individuality: The nature lover can feast on a treasure trove of wildlife; the high climbing mountaineer can look down on the valley from the top of the mountain; others go simply for the exercise. The miles of mountain trials emanating from Snowmass cater to this individualistic streak in human nature by providing widely varied terrain. A guidebook available at the Recreation Office aids with valuable maps, information and tips for hikers; while free guided hikes embark every morning from the Snowmass Information Booth

As the snow melting on the mountains releases them to all sorts of summer activity and exploration, the ice cracking brings life back into the rivers. The valley grew around these arteries; the road tracks close by them. Spring's ceremony of ice-breaking assures rafters that the rivers will be ready. This will be a long and full rafting season, as the snowfall last winter was heavy, and the water is likely to be 10 times as plentiful this year as last.

Snowmass whitewater offers half and people on a dozen rafts on a given day. The Colorado River winds past the town of Glenwood Springs and through part of Glenwood Canyon, a cool natural beauty with glant pinnacles of rock jutting up on both sides of the river. This 17-mile trip has moderate whitewater, which means some excitement combined with mellow stretches of calm sunbathing. On the way you see a natural hot spring where the mineral water comes gushing right out of the ground.

There is heavy whitewater just above the lower section of Glenwood Canyon at Shoshone Rapids. Separate trips will be run over these rapids, and also on the Roaring Fork River. The valley in which Snowmass sits takes its name from the lively Roaring Fork, and in high water Snowmass Recreation has its own sail-boat on Lake Ruedi, which is available with or without lessons. Ruedi is several miles away, but the trip is another one that's worth taking just for the ride.

you can put on, that is embark, right at

It passes through the town of Basalt and on through the cool valley along the Frying Pan River. Red rock rises high on the left; the river rushes on the right. This river is a veritable storehouse of brook trout and is a popular spot for anglers -you will probably see several on the way. The Frying Pan and Roaring Fork, which cross near Basalt, together make up a river complex which has made this area famous for trout fishing.

The brochures tell you that there is an 18-hole golf course at Snowmass; 11 tennis courts; and 17 swimming pools. But numbers alone cannot begin to describe Snowmass outdoors. It expands through a bountiful national forest that opens up new challenges to outdoors people, and a a hotel with pool and sauna is never too far away. But the fact is that Snowmass outdoors stretches out farther than the eye can see. And in summer, it's there for the taking.

Although Snowmass is the perfect spot for the nature lover, strains of dance music and children running around in pink tutus give you your first clue that something other than nature also happens here. Over the past several years, the resort area has built a solid ongoing tradition of arts, crafts, and music, with the great outdoors providing a unique and soothing backdrop behind it all. For instance, Ballet West, the largest ballet company between the two coasts, has called

From July 19 till August 19, the ballet' company's members will live and practice here. These pint-size prima donnas are students of the ballet, and they are likely coming from the open-air pavillion behind the Mall which is one of their main practice areas. Three week sessions focus on instruction in classical ballet, but also include character and jazz dance. Ballet West's performances, reflecting this versatility, include such full length classics as Coppelia and Swan Lake, while similarly incorporating a strong sampling of original interpretive and modern pieces.

The green and white striped Snowmass pavillion is another summer landmark. On balmy nights in July and August, music fills the air as the Snowmass Pop Festival jumps with country, rock, and jazz. Last year, the Amazing Rhythm Aces packed the tent, as did local Jimmy Buffett. Other major lights who have played here in the past include Bonnie Raitt, Jose Feliciano, Paul Williams, and Gordon Lightfoot.

The Anderson Ranch is another extension of the tradition of arts in the mountains which has become a Snowmass trademark. The ranch is located on 1½ acres, with eight rustic log buildings which have been adapted into studio facilities for woodworking, ceramics, fiberwork, photography and the like. Summer courses, open to all interested, are scheduled from June 19 through the end of August, while two and three day workshops are also available.

Early risers get to see a truly awe-inspiring sight when the annual Snowmass Balloon Race takes off at the Snowmass Country Club. Anyone who has never seen the baby blue morning sk light up with every color of the rainbow has an adventure in store when this event hits Snowmass in late July.

In nearby Aspen, June spearheads a typically exciting summer with the opening of the famous Aspen Music Festival, which fills the area with classical and contemporary sounds of the highest caliber every day through August.

Sure, Snowmass has its quiet side, and room to enjoy it. But don't be fooled by the serenity of the mountains — There's action afoot in them thar hills. For more information pertaining to accommodations and events, write to Snowmass Resort, P.O. Box 5566, Snowmass Village, Colorado 81615.

Proposed Gun Rules Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) - New firearms regulations proposed by the Treasury Department will not place additional restraints on the ability of private citizens to purchase guns, a House Judiciary subcommittee was told today.

Richard J. Davis, an assistant treasury secretary, declared that the regulations will not, as critics have claimed, lead to a national gun registration system.

"They are aimed at identifying the criminal who uses a weapon and those individuals who are his sources of supply,

Davis cited statistics from 1976 showing that 12,000 murders, 190,000 robberies and 120,000 aggravated assaults were committed with firearms Another government witness, Rex B. Davis, director of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, testified:

'The goal is to permit us more efficiency in the tracing of crime guns. At the same time, with the information available, we should be able to chart any changes in major commercial movements of firearms to particular sections

The National Rifle Association promptly challenged the Treasury officials' statements.

Neal Knox, director of the NRA's legislative arm, charged in prepared testimony that record-keeping and quarterly reporting requirements in the proposal are the first large step toward computerized electronic dossiers on all lawful firearms ownership in the United

Another proposed rule which calls for a "unique" serial number on all new guns would be "costly to consumers and totally unnecessary," Knox said.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police endorsed the regulations. Executive director Glenn King said they would help "prevent the misuse of firearms by criminals and will not affect the use of guns which are in the lawful possession of private citizens.

Congress has given the Treasury agency authority to write and enforce firearms regulations, but the subcommittee is reviewing the proposed rules to make sure they are not a form of gun control which Congress itself has not approved.

More than 120 members of the House have signed a joint resolution that would block implementation of the regulations. In addition, a House Appropriations subcommittee has voted to slash the agency's budget by $4.2 million.

The Treasury agency is accepting public comments until May 22, when final gun regulations will take effect. Among the provisions

- Each licensed firearms dealer would submit written quarterly reports showing how it had disposed of firearms. No names or addresses of customers would

- Dealers would report both loss or theft of firearms and recovery of lost or stolen weapons within 24 hours. - Each firearm manufactured in or imported to the U.S. would bear a unique

- Military personnel must obtain permission before bringing into the United States firearms purchased abroad.

The Citizens Committee for the Right to Keep and Bear Arms described the ls as a "deceitful, treacherous and dastardly attempt by a bureaucracy to circumvent the intent of Congress"

sary to accomplish his goals in education. Hill said the Briscoe advertising campaign against him has backfired against the governor and brought Hill new support by persons who were offended by it. Hill said also that he has a good chance to win the primary without a runoff.

Former Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock is also making the race, and some political observers have said he could have enough impact on the race to force it into a runoff between Briscoe and Hill. As he has throughout the long, expensive campaign. Hill criticized Briscoe for seeking 10 years in office as governor, and he promised to be a more active governor than Briscoe.

"The time has past when you can spend just a few hours in the office and the rest of the time at the ranch." Hill said.

Asked if he would be at a fund-raising disadvantage against Briscoe if the race went into a runoff, he said two fund-raisers have brought more than $700,000 in his campaign and that another one bringing in $320,000 or so would be enough to finance a runoff campaign.

Hill added that his campaign "is totally

"PEGGY DAVIES"

continued today to press the Carter administration for changes in its Mideast jet sale proposal as a means of avoiding a bruising fight on Capitol Hill.

Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., who has avoided saying which way he might vote on the proposal to sell jet fighters to Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Israel, said: "I have discussed this matter with high administration officials. I'm awaiting a reply from them."

Pressed whether that meant he was opposed to the jet sales as they now stand, Baker said, "As you know, I have advocated flexibility. Meanwhile, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee met in closed session to question CIA Director Stansfield Turner about the arms sales. Top administration defense and foreign policy officials were questioned closely on Wednesday about the proposed sales and later, committee members seemed determined to press for changes in the proposal. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told reporters there are several areas in which the administration might compromise to satisfy the panel's concerns. Church mentioned these possibilities

- Altering the proposal to increase the number of F-15 fighters sold to Israel. While questioning administration witnesses, Church suggested increasing that number from 15 to 25. - Accelerating the delivery dates for the planes sold to Israel. Obtaining assurances from Saudi Arabia that it will not purchase additional sophisticated aircraft.

- Limiting the type of armaments that would be sold to the Saudis for use on the

Asked if he would insist on written guarantees that the Saudis would restrict the use of the fighters to defensive missions, Church said, "Verbal assurances are not adequate." The administration opened its formal campaign to gather support for the arms sales by sending Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, Deputy Secretary of State Warren

Brown, disarmament negotiator Paul Warnke and Air Force Gen. David C. Jones, acting chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to the Senate committee. The questioning throughout the hearing was skeptical and there appeared little indication that the witnesses had succeeded in picking up the votes needed for majority committee support.

Church said he thought the committee would vote early next week - probably on Monday - on a resolution to disapprove the proposed sale. Before the sale can be blocked, both the House and the Senate must adopt resolutions rejecting the plan. Those resolutions must be written by May 28 to meet the 30-day limitation from the time Carter sent the package to Congress.

The administration sent the deal to Congress for its scrutiny last Friday. Carter wants to sell 75 F-16s and 15 F-15s to Israel; 60 F-15s to Saudi Arabia and 50 F-5Es to Egypt. He has said he would withdraw the entire package if Congress substantially changes the proposal or rejects any part of it.

Vance and Brown emphasized the administration view that the sales were vital to U.S. interests in the Middle East and were part of the diplomatic effort toward resumption of peace negotiations between Israel and Egypt. Most of the questioning centered on the

Saudi sale with senators taking a skeptical view of Jones' testimony that the F-15s are not well suited for offensive mis-Of the senators present, only chairman

2) Enforcement of bail denial for those out on bail for previous crimes and arrested for other crimes. 3) Creation of a division of forensic medicine at the Tech Med School. 4) A Battered Spouses Act with both lo cal and state funding for shelters, counseling, and prosecution. 5) Creation of a civil rights commission to insure both law enforcement officials and those apprehended for crimes are as-

To reduce the crime rate I would favor legislation guaranteeing longer sentences and quicker trials. Also, I would like to see bond refused to any person who has been convicted of a major crime and who is a chief suspect in another similar crime or to someone who already is under bond for a serious offense and is a chief suspect of another similar crime. In dealing with juvenile crime, I would want to see more regional detention centers - which I have already proposed through the Texas Youth Council - to cope with children in need of supervi-sion. These centers would handle children with problems without subjecting them to serious and habitual offenders in state training schools. Also it would allow an alternative to releasing an offender before trial.

I do not favor registration of hand guns.

How would you propose maintaining, or increasing, the funding for Texas Tech University and the Tech medical school?

Persuasive power must be exerted with other Senate and House members. This persuasive element must work to maintain existing funding and achieve continual and on-going funding for the med. school at Tech. An effective state senator will also work diligently to acquire necessary state funding for a School of Nursing

The present system is adequate-Tech funding was my top priority during my eight years service. I led in getting authority and/or funding for: dormitory constuction, classroom construction, medical school, law school, museum, Textile Research Center and operating funds. Tech never was "short changed" while I was in office. It won't be if I am

Most of the money coming to Texas Tech is spent in this area. Maintaining and increasing the funding to Texas Tech is vital in three areas: 1) provides the student a good learning environment, 2) enables us to upgrade the quality of instruction, and 3) continues to create an economic impact on the community. I would try to obtain a seat on the Finance Committee and work closely with the legislative budget board for special consideration of Tech funding. We do not need property tax reform nearly as much as we need controls on government spending.

Work hard toward goals set by board of To aid Texas Tech University, I would regents and legislative experience is the encourage more state funding for agricultural research, especially in the areas of textile spinning, solar energy and feed

Eventually the state will have to accept more responsibility for the education of medical doctors. To meet this demand I would encourage a program of more shared expenses in the training of doctors and medical equipment and facilities.

Do you feel property tax reform is needed in Texas? If so, how would you propose to change the tax structure?

Property tax relief is needed in Texas, and I will work to see that come to pass. Changing the tax structure is a complex undertaking, but I do believe assessment and collection should remain under local control. I would initiate a move to establish zero-based budgeting. The Texas Legislature should assist the farmer by: Removing the sales tax from utility bills; taking the lead in a comprehensive multi-state water importation program, initiating a cost-sharing formula among municipal, industrial and agriculture usage; enact a Young Farmers Investment Act of Family Farm Security Plan which would provide long-term, low-interst loans to the family farm unit or to young farmers who want to remain in agricultural production. Texas needs to exert stronger leadership on statewide, national, and international scenes in terms of seeking improved and expanded markets for our products and restrictions on imported beef, fruits and vegetables.

The Texas Agricultural Department should: (a) enforce present laws to stop illegal Mexican imports and (b) push for expanded sales worldwide through the T.A.P. program which I authored.

The legislature should work with the Commissioner of Agriculture to set up the machinery to find new markets, to encourage federal farm legislation, and be ready to help this important industry.

To help agriculture, the state should not cause fiscal tax impact on locals - cities, schools, counties and special districts. We have a staff in Washington to lobby for Texas. We need some agriculture people on this staff. Elect knowledgeable agriculturalists to the legisla-

First of all, I would favor a measure to prohibit state-owned natural gas from being sold out of state. Also, I would encourage the Texas Commissioner of Agri-culture to promote Texas products over-seas and nationally, as well as inside Texseas and nationally, as well as inside Texas. Third, I would urge the Texas Department of Agriculture to assist the state's farmers in developing markets, particularly in fruits and vegetables, while giving them some protections from both international and national imports. Finally, I would like to see accurate data developed on generate and imports of agricultured. oped on exports and imports of agricul-tural products into and from Mexico.

I always voted the majority sentiments of my district during my eight years in office.

I've been a resident of West Texas more than 44 years so I don't think I'll have difficulty determining the way this district feels.

I always vote my district and for eight years made it my business to know the people's thinking.

I would vote as the majority of my constituents feel, unless it violated a basic principle of good government or individual freedom. Then I would cast the vote as directed and ask not to be re-elected.

What legislation would you most like to see passed by the state legislature?

I also see the need for a strong DE-CEPTIVE PRACTICES ACT to protect the public from the deceptions in politi-cal advertising. I would propose legisla-tion requiring that candidates or agents of candidates be prohibited to air or print political advertising tending to deceive the often gullible viewing audience. Re-form legislation would also establish a ceiling on campaign contributions and expenditures. I would support state fi-nancing to some degree of public televi-sion debates for state or district offices.

Place teachers' salaries in the general appropriations bill. This would be better for all concerned.

1) Vital to Lubbock County is a permanent financing plan to aid the County Teaching Hospital. Since 25 to 40 percent of the teaching hospital budget is used in teaching medical students, I feel the state should fund that amount (25-40 percent).

2) I would work to abolish the unfair auto tax we pay in Lubbock. I tried to accomplish this as a city councilman, but we did not have the jurisdiction. As a state senator, I will try to abolish this tax.

Texas is in good shape — the only legis-lation needed is progressive change to keep her that way.

The legislation I would like most to see passed is one promoting water importion to the High Plains of Texas.

Judge Tells Mall To Pay Higher Tax

By JEFF SOUTH Avalanche-Journal Staff

A state district judge finally has settled three years' worth of lawsuits by South Plains Mall against local city-school-tax authorities. The mall was ordered to pay a total of about $870,000 in taxes.

That amount is considered to be a compromise. It is approximately $180,000 less than tax officials sought, but $335,000 more than the mall originally felt it should have to pay.

The judgment also exceeds by about $125,000 an earlier compromise owners of the regional shopping center had proposed, sources said

The ruling brings to a close what government officials believe to be the biggest series of tax suits against the City of Lubbock and Lubbock Independent School District

South Plains Mall had sued the cityschool tax department in 1975, 1976 and 1977, complaining that the values placed on its property by tax officials were too

Attorneys for the mall said the property values imposed by the tax office and tax equalization board were "grossly excessive, discriminatory, invalid and

For each year involved, the mall said, the tax equalization board "nearly doubled the taxable values rendered" by the owners of the southwest Lubbock center. In 1977, for example, the mall protested that the values set by the tax office and ratified by the board "would result in the plaintiff having to pay taxes (on property totaling) $5.6 million in excess of market valuation."

However, attorneys for the city and school system argued that their values on the mall were indeed "fair, reasonable

City-school lawyers shrugged off the mail's contention that it was being appraised on a basis different from other local shopping places. "There is no reasonable comparison between South Plains Mall and other shopping centers," tax officials said in court documents.

They said the mall is "unique...specially designed to be attractive to customers and tenants; in truth and in fact, construction of (the mall) has depressed values of other shopping centers" and thus warranted higher values. In 1976 and 1977, four of the stores that rent space in the mall joined the shop-See JUDGE ORDERS Page 16

Indictments Name Murder Suspects

A man accused of seizing approximate-ly $1,000 from a plush Lubbock restaurant and of locking its employees in a coldstorage vault was indicted Wednesday for aggravated robbery.

The indictment was returned against Danny Burtist Eoff, a former club employee who West Texas authorities allege enjoyed his biggest paydays at restaur-

It was among 63 indictments returned by a county grand jury to Judge William R. Shaver's 140th District Court.

Two murder indictments were returned, and three men were indicted in connection with the alleged gang rape of a 14-year-old girl.

Eoff, 23, of 2139 74th St., was indicted in connection with the April 2 holdup of the Smuggler's Inn, 1915 50th St.

Eoff reportedly was out of jail on an appeal bond after a Midland jury found him guilty of the April 7, 1977, armed robbery of a Sonic Drive-In Restaurant

He also has been charged with the aggravated robbery earlier this year of the Nantucket Lobster Trap Restaurant in El Paso in which he allegedly got over $1,-

In the Smuggler's Inn incident here, Eoff was arrested after a masked gunman made off with a reported $999 in

The robber reportedly confronted an employee leaving the building about 3 a.m. and ordered her back inside. The witness said the masked man led her into the dining area where several employees were gathering after work and ordered them into the cold-storgage vault.

After money was placed in a sack, Sandell said, the bandit ordered employees on the barroom floor into the vault, took Sandell's vault key from him and locked the group inside.

Unknown to the robber, two of the imprisoned workers had called authorities. Sheriff's Deputy Dean Bohannon was waiting outside and a suspect was arrested after a brief chase.

A murder indictment was returned against Alan Joe Jenkins, 28, of 1920 E. 15th St., accused of murdering Robert Humphreys, 33, of 2727 E. 9th St.

Humphreys was fatally shot about 1:20 a.m. April 23 at a club in the 3000-block of E. Main Street.

Witnesses indicated Humphreys had been arguing with another man. The man - whom two witnesses said they knew as "Gene Autry" - reportedly left the club, but returned a short time later.

One witness reportedly said he saw pistol in the man's hand and thought the man shot three times. Another witness reportedly indicated he saw Humphrey fall after seeing what appeared to be flashes of fire from the man's right hand

Reports indicate Humphreys, who died at a hospital about seven hours after the incident, was shot twice with a small call-

Turner, Jones Level Charges

Avalanche-Journal Staff With just two days remaining until Saturday's primary election, Democratic state senate candidates unleashed a barrage of charges and counter-charges at each other Wednesday at a Lubbock County Democratic forum.

Before a crowd of only 20 persons, former Lubbock mayor Morris Turner accused former state Rep. Delwin Jones of 'taking credit when credit shouldn't be given" for many of the accomplishments of the city and Texas Tech University and demanded that Jones publicly apologize... Turner said Jones is "taking credit for everything that happened at Texas Tech, the state school and the 137th District Court" when in fact "hundreds of people were involved in passing those pieces of

If he had thought of re-digging Yellowhouse Canyon, he would have taken credit for that," Turner charged.

Turner said he was in office "when a lot of the projects were started" and said lots of people were involved."

Turner said Jones "owes an apology to a lot of people" for taking full credit for the legislation and "needs to explain (that) others who were involved helped develop the legislation." The former mayor attributed Jones's claims to the political season in which 'people are prone to stretch the truth." Jones, in turn, labeled Turner's charges "typical of a faction that's losing to at-

Jones said "it would be foolish for me to take full credit for the achieve but said he was the leader in the fight to the legislation for which he claims credi

Former state Rep. Jesse George denied past charges he had "planted" questions for other candidates and said he has "serious questions about the motivation and moral background of one of the candidates." When asked which candidate George singled out Turner.

In response, Turner said George was resorting to amateurish campaign tactics of a loser.

The only real issue discussed was that of limiting the amount which could be spent on a campaign for the legislature or state office.

George said he favors such a limit, while former state Rep. E.L. Short said he was opposed to a spending limit.

Jones said he favors shortening time a person can campaign and shortering the time between the primary and the general election. "I'm not so concerne about a limit on the spend to run for office," he said.

Texas Tech Regent Don Workma agreed with Jones and said it sh be necessary for a person to take a who year to run for office.

Times have changed greatly since the first American Mother of the Year Award was given in 1935. Its sponsoring organization is in step with the times.

The New York City-based American Mothers Committee still doesn't take sides on such political subjects as abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment. SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "I can feed my family of three for $2 per day and that's eating well," says Harry Fries, who has been involved with Chinese cooking for the past 20 years.

"It's not sumptuous Chinese dining. but it's a healthy diet of fresh vegetables, some meat and spices." he added in an interview. "All it takes is a wok, the basic Chinese cooking pan, and a hunger for adventures in cooking

Fries is editor of a bi-monthly newsletter-cookbook on the subject and a partner in a mail order corporation that sells Chinese ingredients, vegetable seeds and utensils. He started the eight-page, taboid-size publication in San Francisco last

PROTEIN PLANNING Relying solely on vegetables and fruits to provide all essential nutrients we need each day requires careful planning. The most obvious nutrient we must consider is protein - one of the main contributions of meat. poultry and fish - but widely available in legumes, grains and nuts. Eight of the 20 amino acids (building blocks of protein) must be supplied by the diet. These essential amino acids can only be used by our bodies when present in the foods we eat at approximately the same time. A vegetarian meal must be selected from a wide variety of foods, including combinations of beans, whole grains and nuts, each bringing with it its

Women's News Service WASHINGTON (WNS) — If you are an attractive, well-educated, energetic young woman of exceptional ability and think that is all that is needed to work your way to the top of a corporation, forget it!

It is a lot easier for a man with these qualities but he may not make it either, says 35-year-old Rosabeth Moss Kanter, professor of Sociology at Yale University and a partner in a corporate consulting firm called Goodmeasure.

There are two types of executives in most companies - "the movers" and 'the stuck," Mrs. Kanter says, and most women are slotted into the dead-end jobs and remain stuck in them for life.

She was the keynote speaker at the windup of a two-day conference here on Women in the Corporate World, sponsored by the Educational Foundation of the American Association of University Women and half a dozen large American corporations:

The "movers" (also known as 'superstars" or "water-walkers") who reach the top are in jobs that give them an opportunity to show imagination and creativity and to turn a bad situation into a profitable one for the company.

Fortunately, a lot of people who are 'stuck" have a "stuck" mentality and are happy there, Mrs. Kanter said. She cited Gerald Ford as such a person. "He never thought of running for the presidency until he found himself placed in

Because of their different training and education, not necessarily their different natures, women simply haven't learned how to play the corporate game the way men have and that poses problems:

Men get moved up frequently because they have sponsors among the senior Such sponsors (called godfathers," "rabbis" or "angels") form what is known as the "old-boy network" that creams off top positions for friends. Women getting into corporate management don't have such sponsors and may not have anyone up there pushing them for another generation.

According to Dr. Kanter, myths about women that must be broken down include: "No one wants to work for a woman boss."; "Women are more detail-conscious but can't see the big picture." 'Women really fear success." A recent poll taken of persons who have actually worked for women bosses does not reflect a bias against them, she said.

No more than 3 percent of those executives earning over $25,000 a year are women and most women executives work in the service industries.

Because there are so few of them, vomen executives are highly visible and, therefore, very uncomfortable in many of their relationships with their colleagues. They sometimes try to out-achieve the men they work with or alternatively try to woo them by turning against other "I never thought I would find myself being in favor of quotas," Dr. Kanter told the group. "But I really think men and women executives in a corporation will only be comfortable with each other when at least a third are women. In small off-the-record workshops, the

er than men, usually between the ages of 30 and 33 years. The mid-30s is a particular time of crisis for career women because of child-bearing, child-rearing or the decision not to have children at all. The top-level management woman is usually unmarried - at the time, any-

Men are more apt to concentrate on

think of their jobs as "here and now."

Men are more competitive and risk-taking than women. As boys men learned the importance of winning as a team while girls think more in terms of individual ability. Men who dislike each other personally manage to hide it in corporate relationships. Women find this difficult. Women also seem to be less tolerant of their fellow workers.

Women must give up passivity, and become assertive, but not aggressive in the corporate board room. They must learn how to deal with sexual aggression by men and realize that some men actually fear sexual aggressiveness by women. Women should feel free to express their feelings and deal forthrightly in a confrontation situation. Women should help each other to win attention and respect of their male colleagues.

Both men and women who lack power in their jobs tend to be more punitive and tougher on the people who work for them. Finally, both men and women are becoming more androgynous, less sexually oriented and more role-identified.

Conferees, most in the middle-level management jobs, were drawn from 25 different corporations, foundations and universities.

lower four-card major. Once the spade fit had been located, cue-bids in the red suits were followed by a general grand slam try of five no trump by South. North, with two of the top three trump honors and the ace of clubs, was happy to cooperate.

West led a trump and declarer saw no problem. He won and drew two more rounds of trumps, then set about running the clubs. When that suit broke 4-1, declarer had to use dummy's last trump to ruff a club and set up a long club. That forced declarer to fall back on the diamond finesse for his grand slam. Unfortunately. West held the king of diamonds, and that meant down one. Declarer was unlucky to find both four clubs and the diamond king in the West hand, but foresight would have enabled him to bring home his contract despite the distribution. He should have realized that a 4-1 break in either black suit could cause problems, and set about trying to neutralize that threat. Declarer should win the opening lead in dummy and cash the king and ace of hearts. Now declarer should ruff a heart, then re-enter dummy with the ace of clubs. Next declarer ruffs dummy's last heart with the ace of trumps and overtakes the. jack of trumps. When both defenders follow, the contract is assured. Declarer simply draws the last trump, discarding the queen of diamonds from his hand. He cashes the king-queen of clubs and ruffs a club to set up the fifth club. His last two cards are the ace of diamonds and a club, both of which are high.

By KEN HERMAN EDINBURG (AP) — He's 65 and she's a few months younger. They came to the Rio Grande Valley from Iowa in November and headed back north in April. The retired couple owns a travel trailer and spent $106 a week in the valley. They enjoyed their winter stay and plan a return visit next year. They are, according to a Pan American University study, the quintessential Winter Texans. The main use of the data is for the description of the winter visitor. It tells us something about where to direct promotional efforts," said Dr. Carl H. Rush Jr., director of Pan Am's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

The survey, compiled by distributing forms at area trailer parks, does not represent questioning of a random sample. Nevertheless, several interesting aspects of the Winter Texan developed.

For one thing, they are fickle. When asked what they liked most about the valley, 57.8 percent said the weather was the best feature.

When asked what they didn't like about the valley, the weather was was again the most popular answer - 42.5 percent said it was the worst thing about the region.

"The survey was conducted during some of the worst weather of the 1977-78 season and newcomers responded to this much more frequently than long-timers who are apparently more tolerant of what they have learned to be temporary weather conditions," the introduction to the survey states.

The survey also proved what every valley resident ever caught in Winter Texan traffic already knew - the visitors come from just about everywhere.

Included among the 2,842 persons responding were representatives from 46 states (only Alaska, Hawaii, Arizona and Rhode Island were not represented) and six Canadian provinces.

Iowa was the champion provider of Winter Texans with 12.5 percent of those responding. Minnesota was half a percentage point behind. Almost 4 percent of the sample group was from elsewhere in aide Hamilton Jordan is assuming a broader role as adviser to the president on foreign and domestic policy issues and trimming back many of his routine coordinating duties, sources indicated.

Sources said Jordan's position as a presidential adviser will be enhanced and his day-to-day handling of telephoned communications and other White House coordinating chores will be turned over to Tim Kraft, the president's appointments secretary.

deputy appointments secretary and a native of Plains, Ga., will be promoted to replace Kraft as the No. 1 doorkeeper.

The personnel shifts were mapped out at Carter's session with his Cabinet and top staffers at Camp David. The meeting included a group assessment of the administration's performance and the reason for the president's drop in the popularity polls.

Earlier, Carter tabbed Anne Wexler, a longtime Democratic party professional, to improve political contacts and communications with local grass roots organizations. She holds the rank of a senior domestic adviser. Press secretary Jody Powell had indicated the changes to tighten up Carters' White House operation and to strengthen his political lines of communication

Although refusing the title, Jordan has appeared to be working as the traditional White House chief of staff in recent months. But that day-to-day operation was apparently not what Jordan wanted. Instead, Carter has broadened Jordan's sibilities to focus heavily on controversial foreign policy issues with emphasis on their domestic political impact. He was the key White House aide invole in pushing for ratification of the Panama Canal treaties, and he sits in on all the president's top-secret briefings.

Iceberg Drifts

Into Atlantic

LONDON (AP) - A 768-square-r

iceberg is adrift off the tip of South

America, but it poses no danger to ship-ping. British scientists and Defense Ministry officials say.

They explained that it is not traveling in any of the recognized lanes and should break up when it hits warmer waters.

The iceberg is in the South Atlantic about 200 miles northwest of South Georgia Island, and the nearest point of Africa is more than 4,000 miles away, Christopher Doake of the British Antarctic Survey at Cambridge University said.

"This iceberg originally broke off from the Antarctic mass 10 or 11 years ago but just kept drifting around down there.

Then in the last year or so it got out into the open sea. It is now on the edge of the Convergence, where the cold Antarctic water meets the warmer waters away

Tiny Mining Town Takes On Huge Copper Firm

NEW YORK (AP) - Amid glares and stockholder wrangling over profits, a del-icate 81-year-old woman with lace at her throat and flint in her voice stood up in the Grand Ballroom of the Plaza Hotel.

Calmly, the former school teacher answered a shricking stockholder who said she could not speak because she held no stock, no stock in the company that wants to raze her tiny mining town.

Yes, we are stockholders. We are stockholders in human lives," she said into the microphone. "My name is Hilda Grabner and I am from Lark, Utah."

Then Mrs. Grabner, a bespectacled ex-Britisher who wears' her silver hair in a crown, reproached Frank Milliken, chairman of Kennecott Copper Corp., the na-tion's largest copper producer.

Book Tells 'Secrets' Of Carters

By WILLIAM COTTERELL

ATLANTA (UPI) President Carter's cousin writes in a book published this week that first lady Rosalynn Carter was "hurt" by her husband's famous remark about lusting for other women and that Billy Carter once drank a cup of bait minnows he mistook for bourbon.

Hugh Carter of Plains also wrote that Mrs. Carter has stoically tolerated considerable "abuse" from her mother-in-law,

Carter sent a pre-publication copy of "Cousin Beedie and Cousin Hot" to UPI recently. Their fathers nicknamed the boys "Beedie" and "Hotshot" when they were growing up in Plains and the president's nickname was shortened to "Hot." In a chapter headed "Buckshot Billy," Carter wrote the family has many stories about Billy's drinking.

"One that Billy himself enjoys telling concerns the time he had been drinking heavily at a friend's house prior to a fishing trip. As the evening ended and he prefrom the table, one containing his bourbon and one containing the minnows he was taking with him on his fishing trip. In the night, he got thirsty.

"In the morning, when he woke up, the cup with his bourbon was still there, but the cup with the minnows had been drained dry," Carter wrote.

He said, however, that the president's famous brother is "one of the most capable and smartest businessmen that I know" and a shrewd early observer of the Carter White House.

"Billy really understands his brother more than his brother knows and he has a sixth sense about things. Even while Cousin Jimmy was enjoying the 'honey-noon' period in the White House, when 65 percent of the public was shouting its approval of his first 100 days. Billy was predicting within the family that Jimmy would not be an extremely popular presi-

Hugh Carter said when candidate Carter spoke of "lust in my heart" in a Playboy magazine interview, "the public did not know how misleading this statement was or how hurt Rosalvnn was by it."

"My analysis was that Jimmy had wanted to sound like a 'regular' guy and n not a saintly or 'holier-than-thou'

Carter wrote of "a family feud" between Rosalynn and Lillian Carter, saying "there has always been a slightly tense situation when the two women who must share Jimmy come together." He sympathized strongly with the first lady. "If there is anyone who is a hero or a heroine in the Carter family, I would choose Rosalynn," he said. "She has done the most adventurous campaigning. been the most self-effacing and modest and taken the most abuse from her mother-in-law, Miz Lillian."

The company owns the land and Lark would be one of seven towns already closed by Kennecott. Residents had believed they could stay on until 1992 under an agreement with UV Industries, which owned the town before Kennecott.

Today, the population has dwindled to 350, about 55 homeowners and 65 renters: Kennecott has offered to compensate the homeowners $7,000 for their homes, but has made no offer to the renters.

The Lark delegation says the average value of homes in the area is $59,000. They are asking $45,000 for each homeowner and, according to Housing and Urban Development guidelines, $5,500 for each renter.

Standing with Mrs. Grabner was Elaine Trujillo, 31, a $90-a-month Lark renter and mother of three who fell silent and wept. She and her husband Bernie, who works as a miner for nearby Anaconda Copper, held hands during the meeting and shook their heads at the haranguing.

ate negotiator says there still may be hope for President Carter's embattled crude oil tax.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the finance committee, said the tax may not be dead after all - and he claimed one way of rescuing it could be to give rebates to consumers in the form of energy company stock instead of cash.

That would both provide the industry with additional production incentives while giving taxpayers the chance of a financial return on their "investment," Long said.

Congressional action on the president's energy legislation, submitted on April 20, 1977, has been stalled since December because of House and Senate differences on natural gas pricing and the crude oil

Used Auto Cheaper To Operate

10,000 miles a year for three years can be half as costly to operate as a new car under the same conditions, a nationwide

The Hertz Corp., in a study released this week, found the cost of keeping a used car on the road for three years averaged 16.2 cents per mile compared with

"As with a new model, the longer a used unit is kept, the less expensive per mile it becomes to run," the car rental firm said.

The cost survey included such expenses as depreciation, fuel, insurance, maintenance and repairs, the company said. Hertz, which also calls itself the world's largest retailer of used cars, said a used vehicle driven 10,000 miles a year for three years "is only half as costly to operate as is the same car purchased new and likewise driven three years."

"Even though maintenance costs rise in later years, this extra expense does not offset the higher initial depreciation rates on cars," Hertz said.

"To achieve maximum potential savings, a used car should be kept at least three years at an assumed 10,000 miles per year of travel," the firm said.

The study found the typical purchase price of one-to-four-year-old used cars range from 20 percent to 80 percent below the price of new cars, while operating expenses ranged from 10 to 50 percent of typical new-car costs.

Hertz aid three out of four U.S. passenger cars bought for personal use are secondhand. Over the past 10 years, 13.5 million used cars were sold annually, the company said.

Hertz said the study also found U.S.built cars "may last longer - and travel farther - than generally believed in the past. It shows that even after 10 years of operation, 40 to 45 percent of the units are still on the road.

Hospitals Cited As Wasteful In Purchasing

CHICAGO (AP) - Sloppy hospital buying practices waste nearly $664 million in tax money nationally each year, congressional investigators say.

Describing the situation as "almost un-believable," Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., told a news conference Monday that a General Accounting Office study of purchasing at 14 Seattle hospitals found that the hospitals paid widely ranging prices for identical goods. The GAO found the hospitals were charged more than twice as much for the same item when they bought in large quantitie

A medical supply company sold mor-phine tablets for 11 cents each in quantities of 700 and increased the price to 26 cents in 1,400-tablet lots. Florescent light bulbs cost 99 cents for a lot of 576 but $1.37 each from the same supplier to a hospital that bought nearly 1,000, Tal-

He said some hospitals paid as little as 94 cents for 1,000 aspirin tablets while others paid $4.50.

The same size oxygen cylinder ranged among hospitals from $2.20 to $5.50, and a medical handsoap ranged between $7.33 and $15.99 a gallon, he said.

Talmadge was in Chicago to address a convention of the Health Insurance In-stitue, a business group.

"It was almost unbelievable to me that there could be such a discrepancy," Talmadge said.

He said the GAO started pts study in 14
Seattle hospitals, but expanded it to four more cities when first results indicated as much as $664 million in state and federal tax money from Medicare and Medicaid programs is being wasted. He would not identify the other cities.

Insurance Companies Gamble On Liability Policies For Casinos

By BRENDAN RILEY CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Insurance companies are gambling in Nevada's glittering casinos by selling liability policies to the clubs. So far, the bets generally have been safe ones.

The policies, which cover a wide range of items, protect the clubs against lawsuits from the millions of tourists and gamblers who parade through their

Major companies in the casino liability business include the New Hampshire Insurance Group, Fireman's Fund, Hart-ford Insurance, Travelers Insurance and

State Insurance Commissioner Dick Rottman, who oversees the industry, says there's "a whole host of things" such as insurance protection from lawsuits by people who might swallow a fish bone in

And there are even cases where a gambler who has lost might file a false suit claiming there was inadequate casino security and he or she was robbed as a result, Rottman said. Claims range from routine to bizarre.

In one case, a $150,000 claim was paid to a man hurt badly when he was hit in the head by a piece of metal flipped into the air by tires of a bus that had pulled up to a casino in Las Vegas. There have been multi-million dollar claims in cases where entertainers were hurt, or patrons got drunk in clubs and got into auto wrecks later, or where alleged rapes occurred in hotels.

So far, most of the big companies that provide such liability insurance coverage have found the business profitable. But for the firms will only go as far as saying they're "cautiously optimistic."

Stuart Laird, western divisional officer for the New Hampshire Insurance Group, which insures several major hotel-casinos in Nevada, says the business "is a very specialized business."

But he adds "it's a reasonable risk that we feel we can make a profit at writing." So far, anyway. He says that there is a long "tail" in such policies, meaning claims can be filed years after an accident occurs and a payment could result. Laird says there are aspects of casinos that make them different than big hotels in non-gaming areas. For example, complimentary drinks are handed out to gamblers in some clubs, and there's always a chance "a guy could get enough and fall

With large sums of money in clubs, there's always the chance "some guy could run in with a gun and it could go off," he adds. There have been instances of shootings in clubs.

On the other hand, he said, clubs have 24-hour security, and the fire risk, among other things, is less than it would be else-and slot machines. But he says the 24-hour aspect distinguishes the clubs from hotels, and the insurance companies realize they must depend on "good management" by club

He says some insurance firms get into the hotel-casino business in a big way while others do not, mainly because "it's a matter of knowing the territory.

But Laird points out that with the expansion of casino gambling into New Jersey and possible expansion elsewhere in this country, "the whole picture might change" as more and more markets open has always acted in the best interest of Lubbock and West Texas.

From the time in 1944 when he left to represent us in Austin to the time he became Governor of Texas, he did not forget us.

During his long and courageous career in state government, we have enjoyed many advantages. Better schools, better highways, improvements to Texas Tech and a new medical school. Preston Smith worked for all these things.

Texas teachers have the nation's most progressive salary schedule. Preston Smith worked for them.

We have more vocational schools. more industry and more parks, including our own new canyon lakes project. Preston Smith worked for them.

He has protected us, too. Against an increase in the gasoline tax. against an income tax, against sales taxes on food and medicine and from those who would break the law.

Governor Preston Smith has helped Texans live better with lower taxes. We pay less taxes then the people in 48 other states.

Saturday, it's our turn. We in Lubbock and West Texas must not forget Preston Smith and all he's done for us. Saturday, we must ask ourselves which is more important: Political accusations? Promises of candidates? or is Preston Smith's long and courageous career of accomplishment for all of us.

Cancer Fails To Keep Young Couple From Getting Married

that has invaded the 26-year-old bridegroom's body leaves the couple's future in question, but Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nottingham believe they can better face the unknown as husband and wife.

"We don't care what the future has for us, we want it to be together," Carolyn Nottingham, 27, said. "I think Johnny will make it if he just stays in there. I don't know how long, nobody knows that. We'll just take it one day at a time."

The couple met about three years ago at a local restaurant. He ran his own exterminating business and she later went to work for him. 'We had thought about getting married and we kept setting a date and then putting it off," said Nottingham.

Wedding plans had already been made when he found out in March that he had

He entered St. Francis Hospital for brain surgery and the date was pushed back until after his scheduled release. Even though complications forced him back into the hospital about a week ago,

"We just got tired of putting it off so we decided to go ahead with it," Nottingham

The Rev. Tim Hutton, a friend of Nottingham's, performed the ceremony after asking two people he found on an elevator to serve as witnesses.

Because of tubes and bandages, Nottingham could not get dressed for the ceremony. So his bride placed the blue Tshirt across his chest.

"I made it for him," she said. "I wanted to have his name, 'Johnny' printed on it, but he said, 'No, I want it to say, 'I love you, Carolyn. Nottingham's physician, Dr. Kenneth

Stanley, said cancer spread into Not-tingham's lungs and abdomen after beginning in a testicle. Surgery removed a malignant brain tumor that was discovered shortly after the cancer was detected in March.

Stanley, a urologist, said although the cancer is spread "pretty bad," he believes a new type of chemotherapy that was started with Nottingham three weeks ago may arrest the disease and "bail him out of this."

BEDSIDE VOWS- Johnny Nottingham and Carolyn Doggett, both of Wichita, were married in St. Francis Hospital recently, where he is undergoing treatment for widely spread cancer.

CB Convac

By INK DIPPER Be prepared for price increases on citizens band radios in the near future.

And plan for them to stay higher than they have been in the past two-to-three Last fall, you'll recall, we commented that yo-yo pricing of CBs was causing serious turmoil in the manufacturing, distributing and retailing areas of the business. The over-supply of CB units was good for CBers because we benefited in the market place. But it got so bad for manufacturers that some of the better ones like HyGain and Pierce-Simpson went into bankruptcy. Production was reduced by all manufacturers in an effort to regain profitability. We predicted then that probably there would only remain about five strong builders as a result of the shakeout

President Carter has asked Congress for a temporary levy on citizens band radios being imported primarily from Japan, Taiwan, South Korea, and Hong Kong. He proposed that, for a one-year period, the tariff on imported CBs be boosted from the current 6 percent to 15 percent, than reduced by 3 percentage points in each of the following three years.

HyGain, Motorola, Pace, Johnson and Pierce-Simpson had all asked the International Trade Commission for some protection against imports, claiming they were slaughtering the pricing of CB radios. This put the EIA (Electronics) Industries Association, which represents most of the manufacturers and suppliers of CB components) in a very ticklish spot. They couldn't take a position for or against the ITC action because many of their members were buying components or whole units from overcase to get a competitive edge. EIA squirmed, pucker factor on high. The ITC responded to the petitions by asking for a 30 percent tariff increase for a five-year period. The president obviously felt this was

Who is going to be affected by all this? The CBers. Who will benefit? That's a good question.

Reportedly there would be job layoffs of 1,300 people this year if this restriction had not come about. Who knows whether this figure is accurate . . . one man's poison is another man's pleasure.

This column has stated repeatedly that CBers deserve the best unit possible for the most reasonable price. Making a profit is a perfectly legitmate and realistic objective. But profits should derive from innovative design, aggressive selling and creative marketing - not government restrictions. Profits should mean achieving lean manufacturing methods and quality products, coupled with distribution systems that benefit both the buyer and the stockholder.

Certainly with the effects on the new FCC specifications for the electronic design, and the increased use of microprocessors, digital keyboard entry systems, smaller and more compact radios, the CBer will benefit from this newer generation being produced. Yet it appears to this writer that these aspects of citizens band radio represent very little advance in the state of the art. They are only embellishments. Perhaps they'll make the higher prices more palatable

By EDWARD K. DeLONG

United Press International Writer It is Day Two of Year One of the solar

By almost any measure, Sun Day must be judged a huge immediate success.

Tens of thousands of Americans marked it from Maine to Hawaii in sun and rain and snow. Millions saw and heard accounts of it on radio and televi-

President Carter increased the budget for solar energy by $100 million and said he'd spur its use.

But whether the festivities of the day were enough to make the solar dream a reality remains a question.

The dancing and singing, the trumpet fanfares at sunrise services and the solarpowered rock concerts in the evening were great fun. But people, many of whom had considered solar energy a curiosity, also learned from hundreds of speeches and displays the possibilities the sun's power offers.

President Carter, responding to widespread criticism that he has paid only lip service to sun power in the past, announced a $100 million increase in the federal solar budget for next year and ordered the initial planning for a comprehensive solar energy strategy which the United States now lacks.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., an advocate of developing solar instead of nuclear power, created a new state agency and a citizen's council to further the development of solar energy in his

Beyond the immediate success Wednesday, however, lay the larger question of whether Sun Day will bring about the permanent change its organizers

"The light we are celebrating isn't going to come easily," said environmental author Amory Lovins in Washington, where an estimated 11,000 people gathered for perhaps the nation's largest Sun

'There's no free lunch, although some lunches are a lot cheaper than others,' he said. "Energy transition is going to take patience and passion, caution and commitment. It's going to need tolerance, trial and error, a lot of hard work.

"It's going to depend on your efforts because if you are not part of the solution you're part of the problem," Lovins said.
Sun Day was patterned after Earth

Day, the 1970 celebration that launched environmental awareness as a solid national movement and resulted in farreaching legislative changes.

Mixed through the days's festivities Wednesday were many criticisms of Carter and Energy Secretary James Schlesinger for appearing to slight solar energy and favor oil, natural gas, coal and atomic power - all viewed by solar enthusiasts as undesirable, polluting, costly, monopolistic forms of energy.

Criticism came from such members of Congress as Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., and Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., as well as from such solar activists as Barry Commoner and actor Robert Redford.

nine Americans is now a senior citizen who typically can expect to live another 16 years, has a family income of about $6,300 a year and is more likely an illiterate than a college graduate.

According to the Senate Committee on Aging, the U.S. population aged 65 or older increased by 18 percent between 1970 and 1977. By contrast, the total U.S. population grew by only 5 percent.

In its annual report on the status of elderly Americans, the committee hailed Social Security as the economic backbone of older citizens but urged Congress to consider reducing reliance on the payroll tax to finance the system.

The panel concluded that Social Security keeps 10 million persons, including 7 million who are 65 or older, out of poverty and accounts for half the income of 70 percent of beneficiaries.

While the typical under-65 family head has pre-tax income of $12,702, the 65-orolder household head averages $6,292 a year, the report said. After taxes, the disparity is almost as wide - $10,728 for under-65s and $5,764 for those over.

Adventurers Tour Caribbean In Kayaks

MIAMI (AP) - They capsized three times, just missed a waterspout and cringed while an 18-foot shark rammed them. Other than that, four adventurers say their 2,100-mile ocean odyssey in slender kayaks was just fine.

'All you need is a helluva lot of determination," said Beatrice Dowd, who with her husband and two companions paddled their 17-foot, 6-inch kayaks on an eight-month journey from Venezuela to Florida.

Besides, it was a nice way to see the Caribbean," she said Monday.

The travelers began the trip in two kayaks Aug. 11 at Cristobal de Colon, Venezuela. They arrived in Miami last week-

The Dowds paddled one of the 3-foot wide shells. In the other were Britons Ken Beard of Burton-on-Trent and Stephen Benson of Sussex. Benson became ill with a blood infection off Haiti and was replaced by Richard Gillett of Oxfordshire, England.

Dowd, 33, is a native of Auckland, New Zealand. Mrs. Dowd is originally from Montreal. They say they travel so much they have no permanent residence.

With only their paddles for power, the two couples found that despite seas up to 15 feet, they could handle large swells in the open sea with little trouble. It was closer to shore that they found trouble, when waves became "steeper," said Dowd.

The biggest problems, he said, were three open-sea crossings of more than 30 hours apiece. One long crossing was too much for everybody, and the exhausted party hitched a ride into the nearest port aboard an ocean tug.

Even the sharks did not pose much of a problem, except for one.

'We'd seen dozens of sharks - they'd all just run away," said Dowd, relaxing at a Miami hotel. "But this one came at us, as different from the others as a sparrow is from a hawk.

He said it appeared to be a white shark. The encounter occurred as the adventurers paddled across the Tongue of the Ocean, between New Providence and Andros Island in the Bahamas chain.

"It was about as big as the boat," Dowd said. "It hit us on the side three times - first with its nose. I hit it with the paddle at the same instant and made it close its mouth. Then it hit us with the fin and tail as it went underneath. Eventually the big shark swam away.

"It could have made a nasty bite in the boat," said Dowd, "That would have really upset us.

Students' Hoax Almost Works

dents recently pulled an elaborate hoax that fooled the president of the Universi-ty of Pittsburgh at Titusville, a newspa-per, and almost — but not quite — the Quaker State Oil Refining Corp.

in western Pennsylvania's oil country would react to an impressive — if fake — entourage of rich Saudi Arabian oil barons travelling around in public.

To stage the hoax, the students spent

$1,000 on costumes, makeup, stationary, flags and a rented car.

All but one of the students attend the Titusville campus in Crawford County. Two of them, who live in the Philadelphia area, discussed the hoax in an interview with UPI.

Christopher Krysinski, 19, who came up with the idea, contributed $600 to the

'We just thought it would be fun," he said. "Some people go to Walt Disney World and spend a thousand dollars. We just did it in Titusville.

Krysinski played the ficticious Crown Prince of Geptwab, Saudi Arabia. His en-tourage included Chris Rasmussen, 20, as his chauffeur, and four others who impersonated Bal Shey-tar, the prince's secretary; his halfbrother; a bodyguard; and

"We just walked around and apparently people believed us," Krysinski said.

On April 7, the group fooled a curious policeman at Greater Pittsburgh International Aiport who had asked them where they were from. When told that "security reasons" prevented them from talking about it, the officer "couldn't apologize enough for detaining us," Krysinski said. After the group spent the weekend rid-ing around Titusville, Erie and Oil City, ty's Titusville branch, however, had; ferent impact. It said the prince had "rudely insulted by students on a and found the school's housing facil "His Excellency was planning to a his nephew to your university because its close association with the oil ind try," the letter continued, "but this v

Herald published a letter in which prince called Titusville an "exceller cation to live, work and invest." I porter said the newspaper took the g good humor and said the group har come "folk heroes" to their fellow

"I had visions of $2 million going do the drain when I read that letter," school's president, Joseph Ball, told Heraid. But he added, "It was a good-tured spoof of self-viewed importance."

Krysinski and Rasmussen also said hoax sparked rumors that the Qual State Oil Refining Corp. in Oil City wou be sold to Arabs. On Sunday, April 9, t retinue took pictures of the company headquarters, hoping people would this they were considering buying the firm.

However, Quentin E. Wood, presider and chief executive officer, said the on thing the group did was attract the affection of a security guard who called police

If anyone was interested in be Quaker State, Wood said, "they was show up at 11 o'clock on a Sunday n drawing both stares and insults from peoing to take pictures of the building.

Judge Orders Mall To Pay Higher Tax

the higher tax values. Arguments in the three related years' cases were heard last month by 72nd District Judge John McFall. The properties involved in the suits vary slightly from year to year. But briefly, according to court documents, the dispute looks like this:

In 1975, the mall rendered its property at an assessed value (60 percent of market value) of about $5.5 million. On that basis, city-school taxes would have been

The tax office put the mall's assessed value closer to $15 million, which would have meant a tax bill that year of $465,-000. The tax equalization board settled on $11 million as the mall's assessed value - which would have resulted in taxes of During its protest to the tax board, owners of the mall indicated they were willing to accept an assessed value of about $8 million (yielding $250,000 in taxes). In his ruling, McFall fixed the mall's

1975 assessed value at $9.3 million - resulting in a $286,000 tax bill. In 1976, the mall rendered its property at $5.8 million (a $184,000 tax bill). The alization board set a value of $11.3 million (a $358,000 bill). The mall came

$7.8 million (a $245,000 tax bill). And McFall set the mall's 1976 assessed value at $9.4 million, resulting in a tax bill of nearly $300,000 McFall put the mall's 1977 assessed value at $9.6 million, resulting in about $288,000 in city-school taxes.

PROGRAM DEFENDED

WASHINGTON (AP) - Officials in charge of President Carter's plan to find iobs for Vietnam era veterans say they're confident their 100,000-job goal can be reached by Sept. 30. The Labor Department defended the program before a House committee hearing Wednesday after testimony that little had been done to make a success of the jobs plan.

A sister of the defendant said she and another woman went to the North Avenue S residence the night of the shooting to help the defendant repair a door which allegedly had been kicked down by Flores the preceding night.

Reports indicate the defendant led her companions to a bedroom to show them other damage Flores had allegedly done when Flores suddenly appeared inside

The sister said Flores tried to grab the defendant, and that she pushed him away and shot him.

The three men indicted for rape of a child in connection with the alleged gang rape of the 14-year-old girl are Armando Pena Flores, 21, of 2110 Ave. L; Jerry Don Thomas, 18, of 917 E. Kent St. and Crespin Orosco, 17, of 109 Uvalde Ave.

Three juvenile males, youths 16 or younger, also were alleged to have taken part in the reported March 26 incident.

The eighth grade girl told police she accepted an invitation to go riding with one of the juveniles March 25, and that two other juveniles were also in the vehicle, a pickup truck. She said three other males were eventually picked up to join the group and that the group switched to another vehicle, a car.

The car was reportedly driven to a dirt road in Northeast Lubbock.

The girl said that her clothes were back with an offer to accept a value of pulled off her and that five of the six males had sexual intercourse with her inside the car.

> The girl indicated she was then driven to a garage apartment. She told police some of the males again had intercourse with her there.

The girl reportedly walked home about 3 a.m. March 26 and told her family of the alleged incident. Three persons were no-billed by grand jurors and thereby cleared of any allegation of wrongdoing in connection with the incidents considered. James Wesley Parker, 27, of 312 E. 34th St., was cleared by no-bill of a possession a prohibited weapon allegation.

Many Activities Slated During Military Week

A joint services speaking team and a combined display at South Plains Mall will be putting the current military picture before area residents for Armed Forces Week May 15-21.

A youth recognition day, with an awards luncheon and a commander-for-aday format, will highlight the week's activities at Reese Air Force Base.

Anything the public would like to know about the military or a variety of other subjects will be on agendas for special teams of speakers - the joint team with members of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps; a special youth oriented team; and officers and enlisted personnel briefing teams.

Films will be used for a variety of subjects suitable for any group.

Military gear, large and small, will fill much of the mall display area all week. At Reese, where the observance also fills the week, May 17 will be geared to a special salute to youth with three outstanding citizenship awards to be presented at a noon lunch at which Lubbock

Deadline for the luncheon is May 8 with other deadlines set for May 10. Other week activities include a turkey shoot May 20, sponsored by the Reese AFB Rod and Gun Club, and the Reese Partnership Golf Tourney which unwinds

Running in conjunction with the week's activities is an accellerated membership drive for the Air Force Association, a mixture of military and civilian members dedicated to the support of the Air Force and national defense.

Maj. Gen. Charles L. Donnelly Jr, commander of the Sheppard Technical Center at Sheppard AFB, will be speaker for the May 13 AFA banquet.

AFA information may be obtained from Capt. Ken Hamlin at 885-3387 or Gordon Treadaway at 763-4601.

Lubbock County Needs JOHN T. MONTFORD

as Criminal District Attorney

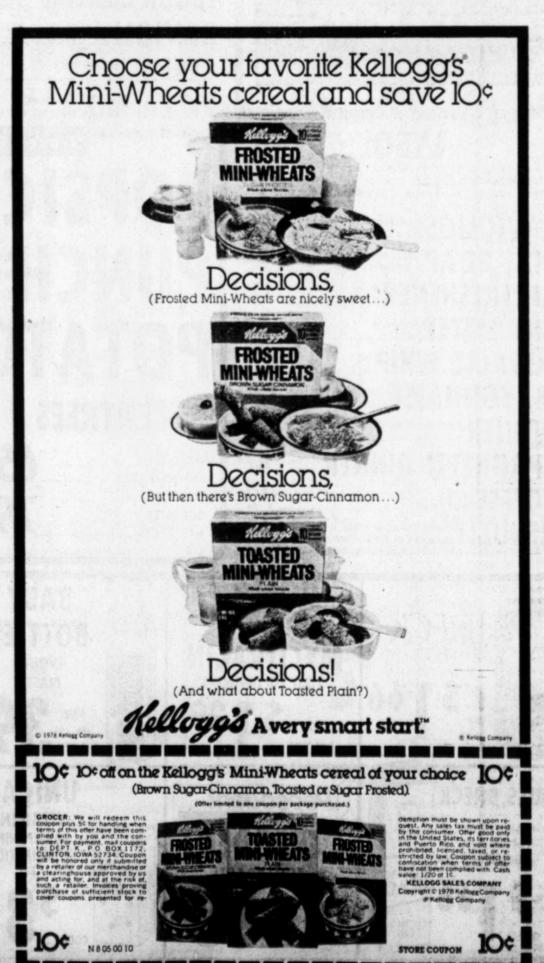

I speak from experience as an ex-Lubbock police officer, having been assigned to all phases of uniform and plain clothes assignments and testifying as a witness in many trail proceedings. For two years I was assigned to the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration Task Force in Lubbock, a Law Enforcement Agency in which the present Criminal District Attorney has expressed a lack of confidence.

With this lack of confidence in our law Enforcement Agencies, and a lack of cooperation and training, how can a Criminal District Attorney be effective in combatting the criminal element in Lubbock County.

The principle reasons for my resignation from the Lubbock Police Department, were the frustrations of dealing with the repeat offenders many times and the lack of a strong forceful prosecutive stand from our Criminal District Attorney.

As a concerned citizen of Lubbock County I ask you to vote for John T. Montford for Criminal District Attorney on May 6.

Fed Draws Fire From Loaners

matic transfer from savings accounts to checking accounts.

"Our lawyers have been meeting since yesterday," said a spokesman for the U.S. League of Savings Associations. 'They're deciding where to file, when to file, the wording.

Has the Fed, that august, austere, proper body that determines the nation's monetary policy, actually violated the law? Can the Fed, powerful enough to challenge the president, be forced to re-

And why the fuss over what appears to be little more than another convenience for depositors in commercial banks? The first question is for the courts to decide, but the people at the Savings and Loan League say the language of "12 U.S. Code Sect. 371 (A)" is clear. They read it:

"No member bank (of the Federal Reserve system) shall, directly or indirectly, by any device whatsoever, pay any interest on any deposit which is payable on de-

But the Fed decision, say the savingsand loans, would contravene the law and usurp the powers of Congress by permitting anyone to keep his money in a savings account, draw interest, and write checks as well.

This, they insist, would be destructive competition by the already powerful commercial banks, in that it would threaten to attract money from the savings and loans. It might also endanger housing markets.

Home mortgages, the associations remind us, are supported largely by the thrift industry, made up of S & Ls and mutual savings banks. If thrifts don't have the money to lend, they warn, housing might tumble.

It doesn't matter to the associations that the commercial banks already have encouraged regulators to permit the thrifts to do the same thing, - offer interest-bearing checking accounts.

The associations don't want them, and they don't want the commercial banks nosing into their territory either. They fear it's part of a plot to make all financial institutions look alike.

If the commercial banks succeed in forcing such accounts (now permitted in New England only) on the associations, it is argued, they will then seek a quid pro

And that, the associations say, would involve their prized differential.

The differential as much as any one thing separates the thrifts from commercial banks. It is a one-quarter of one percent interest advantage the thrifts are permitted to offer on savings accounts. It is prized.

Remove that differential, they say, and the thrifts, committed by law to financing the home mortgage market, would be unable to compete for money with the various attractions of the powerful commercial banks.

The thrifts enjoy their specialized func-tion, and they don't appreciate the invitation into direct competition with their larger, powerful neighbors. And they have no intention of accepting.

On Monday, the very day the Fed act-ed, Stuart Davis, president of the U.S. League, addressed the American Bankers Association and told them flatly that his members were content with their spe-

"The savings and loan business in the future will continue to be a specialized financial institution, with the specialty being the extension of residential mortgage credit," he said.

They fear that distinction, that specialization, is threatened by the action of the Federal Reserve Board, and they intend to bring the courts and Congress into the

The three year contract reached early Tuesday for the Toledo Federation of Teachers includes an immediate 13.5 percent pay raise. Starting pay for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is now $9,750. The three-year pact with Council 8 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees calls for an immediate raise of 62 cents an hour.

The rules require only that pictures be taken by members of the association, whatever the location. They need not have been published, although most of them were.

The winners, in 11 categories this year, have been displayed for several years at the Library of Congress, repository of one of the world's most extensive collections of photos, maps and documents.

The White House News Photographers Association was formed in June 1921 with the aim of promoting and protecting the rights of those who cover the president photographically on a daily basis.

The original membership in the Warren G. Harding years was 24; it has grown to 300 whose assignments take them around the world. The annual contest was inaugurated during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who served as one of the first judges. Judges now represent newspapers and magazines. Spring Bad Time For Football?

LET'S FACE IT. It's difficult for most of us to get really fired up about football in the springtime. Most fans will admit it; most media types will admit it; and most players will admit it in unguarded moments. Football is a game for the fall, not for the spring when the skies are clear and the temperatures balmy

Even the spring games, those annual affairs that are intended to conclude spring training periods on high notes, are often poorly attended. Alabama and Arkansas have had gatherings in excess of 30,000, but those are exceptions. Most spring games are intrasquad scrimmages (some are varsity-alumni battles), and those are exciting only to die-hards.

Okay, that's the criticism, so here's suggestion for improving the situation: allow schools to play other teams in spring games. Unquestionably, interest would increase in, say, Texas Tech's spring game if the Raiders played a team the caliber of Oklahoma or Arizona State. The same would be true at any uni-

Currently, this is illegal because the NCAA allows teams to play just 11 games against outside competition in one calendar year. Such a spring game arrangement, of course, would account for a 12th contest.

THE ADDED-INTEREST angle appeals to Tech head coach Rex Dockery.

team on a home-and-home basis. If we played someone like Oklahoma or Alabama. I'm sure our stadium would be full or nearly full for the game. I bet the players' interest would be better, too. It would be a money maker.' Tech defensive end Andy Thomas and placekicker Bill Adams concurred.

There would be a lot more excitement than if we were just playing an intrasquad game," Thomas said.

Adams added. "If we were playing another team, everybody would play harder. It would be more of a game situation. Dockery believes that a coaching staff could better evaluate its personnel in this type of situation than it can in an intrasquad game. He would prefer to have less days of practice in the spring and more in the fall. Teams are allotted 20 practice days in the spring, including the spring game.

Most coaches agree that the bulk of progress is made in the first 12-14 workouts. After that, it becomes harder to keep the players' enthusiasm high. "IF WE COULD bring players in earlier in the fall, it would give us more time to evaluate our incoming freshmen," Dockery said. "With the 30-and- 95-scholarship limits, we have less players, so we have to count on freshmen more. "There's no way to properly evaluate them in three weeks of fall practice. It takes five weeks or longer. In that time, a freshman can at least learn what he's

Also, if the fall practice period was lengthened, there would be more carryover of knowledge on the players' parts. Currently, there is a segment of NCAA schools, led in part by North Texas State's Hayden Fry, that is in favor of of adding a 12th game to the regular-season schedule to increase income. However, playing a spring game versus an outside opponent would add to revenue without lengthening the season.

"THE SEASON IS long enough as it is," Dockery said, reviving a complaint of many. "I would be much more in favor of having a spring game against someone else than playing a 12th game in the fall."

Tech assistant athletic director John Conley agrees that the season is long

"When you have 11 games and two open dates, that's 13 weeks. That's pretty long. But, when we run out of money, then we'll have to do something, and adding a game is a way of upping revenue.

Conley called the spring game idea "a good one," but believes that there are some disadvantages.

"I don't think all the coaches would be for it. When you're getting ready to play another team—I don't care if it's in the spring or not—you want to win. So they might neglect some of the things they would do in the way of teaching. Spring training is for teaching. You want to concentrate on teamwork and polish and other basic things."

And Dockery noted another disadvantage: If a team gets defeated badly in the spring game, its fans may lose interest in the upcoming regular season.
"But the idea has a lot of things going for it," he said. "I think it would be for

Pokes Say Draft Talent Weak

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe Gil Brandt and Tom Landry were right, after all. Brandt, the man charged with assembling the best available talent for the Dallas Cowboys, and Landry, the man charged with molding rookies and veterans into the best team around, gazed at the list of collegians up for grabs in the National Football League draft.

And they shook their heads in dis-

"It was probably the weakest draft in a long time as far as over-all talent goes," said Brandt, the Cowboys' vice president in charge of player de-

"It's the weakest draft I can remember," interjected Landry, who took the players Brandt gave him and coached them to a Super Bowl victory. "After you get past the first two rounds, everybody's just searching . . . Normally a first-round pick is a sure-fire star, but you couldn't say that this time."

All the big names — the Earl Campbells, Art Stills, Wes Chandlers, Chris Wards and the rest of the nouveau riche — were grabbed early Tuesday, when the balcony surrounding the Grand of the Roosevelt Hotel was packed with vociferous onlookers, the hard-core off-season fans who chart all the nuances of a team's development... or disintegration.

Through much of Tuesday and virtually all of Wednesday, the reading of a player's name usually brought forth a response like, "Who?" or "How do you spell it?" or just deafening silence from the rapidly emptying balcony.

The only "name" player mentioned Wednesday was Ernie Holmes, the Pittsburgh Steelers' six-year defensive tackle. The 6-foot-3, 260-pound one-time mainstay of the Steel Curtain defense that won two Super Bowls was dealt to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers for a pair of draft choices, one in the 10th round and one in the 11th. With them the Steelers picked Northern Arizons place-kicker Tom Jurich and Florida State defensive tackle Nat Terry.

In another swap, San Diego sent third-year wide receiver Larry Dorsey to Kansas City in exchange for defensive end Wilbur Young, a 6-6, 290-pounder entering his eighth season.

By the end of the 12th round, after 17 hours and 16 minutes, 334 players had been divided up among the NFL's 28 tearns. It started with Campbell, the Heisman Trophy-winning running back from the University of Texas and signed by the Houston Oilers to a six-year, $1.4 million contract, and ended with Lee See LATE CHOICES Page 5

what does Larry Hays expect his Lubbock Christian College Chaparrals to gain from the four game series with Southwest Conference champion Texas A&M?

"We'll try to win, naturally," Hays said of the four-game series which opened with a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader today, "but our main goal is playing people and trying to prepare for the people we'll be

That next week is the District VIII (NAIA) Tournament at Arlington, which features Texas Wesleyan, University of Dallas, Jarvis Christian, Dallas Baptist and Midwestern in addition to the Cha-

LCC's first appearance in that doubleelimination meet will come at 3:30 p.m. Monday against the winner of the UD-Midwestern contest.

But here today, Hays' worries will be on A&M, which has set numerous school records en route to a 32-12 mark and a second straight SWC crown.

And the Chaps will be facing one of the top southpaws in the nation, Mark Thurmond, today. Thurmond is 11-0 with a 1.63 ERA. He was 8-0 in SWC play with eight complete game victories and five shutouts, including a no-hitter against Texas Tech. The Houston Spring Branch

> He will be opposed today by Oscar Acosta, the high-kicking LCC freshman who has compiled a 10-3 mark. Tonight's nightcap will be a battle of the Rosses, LCC junior John (7-3, 3.17 ERA) and Aggie junior Mark (8-3, 2.84 ERA).

Friday's hurlers will be Gary Swann and Richard Nixon for the Chaps, who bring a 42-18 mark into this series, and senior right-hander David Pieczynski (4-4, 3.36) and either senior lefty Jim McWilliams (2-2, 1.82) or freshman Perry Swanson (2-1, 4.36).

Both teams have excellent defenses, with A&M having pulled a school record 56 double plays, including 32 in SWC action, and LCC 45.

Strange as it may seem, the Aggies are playing only .640 ball in their new 5,000 seat stadium (16-9) and .842 ball on the road (16-3). However, the Cadets opened with Southern Cal and Minnesota at home, so that accounts somewhat for those nine setbacks.

"We've got to make sure we use all of our pitching this week," Hays pointed out, then quickly added a footnote, "but See CHAPARRALS Page 6

The optimisim is just spilling over in Oakland these days - and you can't blame the A's or their fans for feeling that way. So far it's been a fairytale season for Charlie Finley's no-name bunch, and Alexander continued the improbable scenario with another game-winning homer Wednesday night.

"We might just run away with this thing if we're not careful," exclaimed Oakland's present hero after leading an 11-3 rout of the Toronto Blue Jays. "We're going to put pressure on Kansas City. We really are.'

Perhaps it is a little early in the season to look at standings, but the inexplicable A's do hold a 31/2-game lead over the defending American League West champion Royals. Alexander has had more than a little to do with Oakland's first-place stature. He's had eight home runs, six of them game-winners.

"I've been hitting mostly solo shots," he said, "but tonight I had a man on base for a change. I'm not that big but I've got to admit it: I'm strong.'

In other American League games, the Detroit Tigers whipped the California Angels 7-4; the Texas Rangers edged the Baltimore Orioles 2-1; the Milwaukee

4-0; the New York Yankees nipped Kansas City 6-5; the Boston Red Sox outscored the Minnesota Twins 11-9 and the Cleveland Indians turned back the Seattle Mariners 10-5.

Alexander sent Oakland ahead with a two-run drive in the fifth inning. The A's designated hitter tied Milwaukee's Larry Hisle for the AL home run lead as he delivered a game-winning homer for the third game in a row.

With the score tied at 3-3 in the fifth, Toronto starter Jim Clancy walked Mitchell Page to open the inning. Alexander then drilled the next pitch over the right field fence. Alexander also singled in the seventh when the A's scored four more runs. Tigers 7, Angels 4

Rusty Staub, Steve Dillard and Ron LeFlore all hit two-run doubles for Detroit as the Tigers whipped California and handed Frank Tanana his first loss of the season after five victories.

Briefly GENERAL

NEW YORK — Ray L.M. Boe, principal owner of the New York Islanders and the New Jersey Nets, won a four-week adjournment Wednesday of a $18 million damage sulf filed against him by Thomas J: Thornton, a limited partner in the National Hockey League franchise. Meanwhile, financial records of the hockey team were subpoenaed for examination as part of Thornton's sulf filed in Supreme Gourt in Adineola, N.Y. In the action, Thornton charged Boe with diverting $3.3 million in Islander funds to himself or the Nets of the National Basketball Association, The action also alleged that Boe concealed financial information from the other partners and called on them for additional cash investments to "cover up," for the cash drain.

Boe denied Thornton's claims, saying he had not diverted any monies to himself and he is making argaments for Nets debts to be repaid to Nessau Sports, the Islanders' ownership group, "to the extent possible." Boe also said no loans have been made by the Islanders to the Nets since November 1977.

competing in the Lubbock State Qualifiers Meet, to be held at Texas Tech's allweather track Saturday.

And Lubbock Public Schools officials, who are sponsoring the meet, said entries would be accepted today. Officials plan to meet tonight to draw up heats and lane assignments.

Hollis Gainey said latest entries came from Slaton, following the Tigers' Class AA regional championship performance at the Tech track last weekend.

Slaton will have John Johnson in the 100-yard dash, and its mile relay turned in a time of 3:21.0. Also among the latest entries was Abilene Cooper's Tim Prine, who cleared 15-6 in regional. Levelland's Jim Faulkner, who set a regional record of 15-0 at Odessa, will be in the field also. Mark Hawthorne, who cleared 6-51/2 in regional, and teammate Clifford Bailey of Tahoka in the high hurdles are entries. The 440 has added Ronnie Huddleston points and 14 rebounds a game last year for a 15-10 Gallup, N.M., squad. He was twice MVP at the Roswell Tournament and once at the Gallup Tournament. The other newcomer is 6-2 guard Bruce Carver, who is transfering from Odessa College where he saw limited action this year. However, as a senior at Eunice, N.M., High School, Carver led the Land of Enchantment in scoring with a 33points-per-game norm. LCC's signees include three guards and

The mile relay will have the Fort Stockton unit which ran 3:17.7, along with

Odessa Ector which finished second in that Class AAA race in 3:18.8. Currently, entries have been received from Slaton, Abilene, Andrews, Rotan, Tahoka, Clyde, Klondike, Whiteface, Levelland, Seymour, Amherst, Crosby on, Stamford, Wellington, Panhandle

Memphis, Crane, Gruver, Cooper, New

Deal, Marfa, Cotton Center, Denver City,

Pecos, Fort Stockton, Post, Lockney, Colorado City, Ector, Brownfield, Muleshoe, Farwell, Dimmitt, Lazbuddie, Spearman and the city high schools. The meet will be held at the Tech track, with no preliminary competition. If more competitors are on hand than can be handled in one heat, a second heat will be added. There will be no team points main-

Draft Call Surprises Irons; Jets Tab Mock

the fourth and fifth Texas Tech players to be drafted by National Football League teams.

Mock was drafted by the New York Jets in the eighth round. The Jets had acquired the pick in a trade with Philadelphia. Irons was chosen in the 12th and final round by San Francisco.

Tuesday, the New York Giants had taken Tech running back Billy Taylor and defensive tackle Jim Krahl in the fourth and fifth rounds, respectively, while

New Orleans tabbed cornerback Eric Felton in the fifth round. Mock, a two-time all-Southwest Conference selection at linebacker, was surprised at his selection.

"Before the draft, I'd kind of figured that I would get drafted because Oak-land, Dallas and Houston said that they had me on their draft list, and I had been to New York to get a physical from the Jets.

"But by this time, I was beginning to wonder some. Then someone called me and told me I was drafted, and I was stunned because they (the Jets) hadn't got-

"I'm glad to get the opportunity. I don't know what the Jets have exactly, but I just want to go up there and make the team."

Mock, a 6-1, 225-pounder, was voted the SWC's best linebacker by Texas Football magazine following the 1977 season.

Irons was quite surprised at his selection, since he missed nearly half of last season with a knee injury and will miss the next season because of a subsequent operation. He has had three knee operations since the spring of 1977.

"I told San Francisco that I was going to sit out a year, and I didn't think they'd draft me then," the 6-7, 260-pounder said, "but they called me Wednesday and said they were going to take a chance on me. I'm really surprised, but

Irons, who made four All-America teams following the 1977 season despite his problems, said he will move to San Francisco this summer and undergo rehabilitation from 49er trainers for a full year.

Late Choices:

George Halas, LA Coach's Son

The players most in demand were defensive backs. Fifty of them were selected, followed by 47 linebackers, 44 running backs and 41 wide receivers. Florida was the most popular school with the pros, losing 10 players, followed by Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Nebraska, Southern California and Washington State with eight apiece. And the South-east Conference had 36 players selected to win those bragging rights, followed by the Pacific-8 with 34 taken.

Typical of Landry's observations about the paucity of scintillating players was Michigan State defensive end Larry Bethea, the Cowboys' own No. 1 pick, the 28th and last in the opening round. He was the most valuable player in the Big Ten Conference as a junior, yet most fans have never heard of him, Landry pointed

"We went in looking for a cornerback or an offensive lineman, but the field was so depleted by the time we got around to picking that we had to draft for the best available athlete and not for need," he said. "We couldn't fill the positions we wanted to. There just wasn't anything there.

And, as if to bolster his own comment about the lack of sure-fire stars, he observed: "Bethea's a heck of an athlete but he's no cinch."

Bruce Allen, a punter from Richmond and the son of Los Angeles Rams Coach George Allen, was drafted in the final round by the Baltimore Colts.

But if there was a real "name" player to go Wednesday it was Seattle's 11thround selection, an otherwise obscure linebacker from the University of Miami, a distant relative of a man who had more than a minor involvement with the NFL for more than a few years. The player: George Halas.

NL East Lead

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Expos have never been to the World Series, but Ross Grimsley has — and he'd like to go back.

Grimsley, who spent three years with Cincinnati and four with Baltimore before signing with the Expos as a free agent last winter, raised his record to 5-0 Wednesday night by scattering 11 hits as Montreal clobbered the Houston Astros

The victory, in chilly 40-degree weather in Montreal, boosted the Expos into first place in the National League East with a 12-8 record.

"Getting into first place - that's the biggest thing this year," said Grimsley, a 28-year-old left-hander who was voted the National League's Pitcher of the Month for April. "Our goal is to get into the World Series. I was in it once (with Cincinnati in 1972) and it was fun. I want to get back and do it again.

In other National League games Wednesday, the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 12-3, the San Francisco Giants blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs 9-5 and the San Diego Padres defeated the Pittsburgh

Pirates 7-5. New York at Atlanta was rained out.

Grimsley, 5-0, gave up a two-run home run to Cesar Cedeno in the third inning and a run-scoring single to Bob Watson in the seventh. But since Montreal scored eight runs in the first three innings, he was never in trouble.

"If we get the early runs, it makes a big difference," said Grimsley. "I had a little trouble getting loose. I was struggling and forcing it a little bit, but I made some good pitches to get out of trouble. It wasn't a night for baseball - the weather was really bad - but as the game went along I loosened up."

Gary Carter led Montreal's attack with five runs batted in on a grand slam home run in the third inning and a run-scoring double in the fifth. It was the first grand slam of his career for Carter, who had 31 homers last season -22 of them with the bases empty.

Grimsley helped his own cause by driving in Montreal's final run with a groun-

Option Seats Still Available

Although a great percentage of the option seats in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium have been taken. some are available in all areas. Tech officials reported.

However, deadline for purchasing options on stadium seats this vear is May 31, reported John Owens, who has headed up the option

Tech officials reported that 81 percent of the $300 option seats in the stadium have been purchased since the new option program began in 1976. The $300 seats are all in chair-back areas between the 30-

In the $200 option areas, more than 64 percent of the seats have been sold. These chair-back seats on the west side of the stadium are between the 10-and 30-yard lines and between the 45-yard lines on the east side of the stadium.

The largest group of remaining seats is in the $100 option areas, and these are located on the west side of the stadium.

Options purchased this year will run for nine years, beginning with the 1978 football season. Persons interested in the option purchases can contact the Tech athletic office for additional details.

"I want to throw Sanders for an inning or two, so we may split up the fourth

'We've got to start playing well . . . and right now," Hays said. "If we play lousy and get beat or even lousy and win, then I'm going to be extremely worried going into the district tournament. But if we play well, even if we lose down here, I think it will put us in the proper frame of mind. It rained almost two inches here Tuesday but cleared off Wednesday afternoon and was expected to be bright and clear today. The games will follow the normal SWC pattern, one seven and one nine-inning tilt per day. Until now, LCC has played only seven-inning games.

The Aggies are hitting only .270 as a team and have only two men listed about .300, leadoff man Robert Bonner and Kyle Hawthrone.

Bonner is hitting .339 and tops the team in hits with 56 plus has 11 doubles and five homers. His 126 assists at shortstop set a new school record and he established an SWC mark with 73.

Hawthorne is hitting .311 with 14 homers and 45 RBIs and his 94 total bases is five away from a school record.

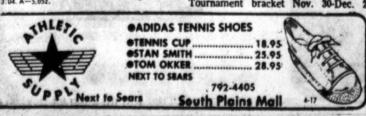

The Aggies, who beat the Houston Astros 1-0 in an exhibition contest, enter this series as the No. 5 team in the NCAA and LCC is No. 7 in the NAIA.

GAMES NEEDED

PLAINVIEW (Special) - Plainview basketball coach Richard O'Hara needs one girls team and two boys teams to complete the Plainview Invitational Tournament bracket Nov. 30-Dec. 2.

All last year, Montreal's left-handed pitchers were 8-14. Already this year the Expos' left-handers - led by Grimsley -

Reds 12, Phillies 3

Pete Rose singled and doubled to move within two of the 3,000-hit mark for his career while Fred Norman raised his record to 4-0 with relief help from Manny Sarmiento and Doug Bair. Backed by a 15-hit attack, Norman raised his record at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium to 42-17.

Giants 4, Cardinals 0 Jim Barr raised his career mark against St. Louis to 10-3 with a five-hitter and Larry Herndon led the Giants' offense by driving in two runs with a triple, scoring once and stealing two bases.

Dodgers 9, Cubs 5 The Dodgers snapped a three-game los-ing streak as Reggie Smith had a triple, a double, two singles and three runs batted and Rick Monday slugged his ninth homer and doubled in another run. Doug Rau, 4-0, got the victory with relief help from Charlie Hough and Terry Forster.

Padres 7, Pirates 5 A two-run pinch-hit homer by Jerry Turner highlighted a four-run sixth inning that helped San Diego beat Pittsburgh. Two nights earlier Pirates relief pitcher Jim Bibby had struck out Turner, but Wednesday night San Diego's pinchhitting specialist - he's 5-for-13 -

"Two days ago, Bibby got the ball exactly where he wanted to," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner. "Tonight he had his problems.'

If Pampered Racehorse Best, Watch Affirmed

Associated Press Special Corres LOUISVILLE, Ky. - Affirmed poked his white-blazed forehead out of stall 21 in barn 42 at horsedom's Churchill Downs Plaza, and Patrice Wolfson quickly broke away from a cluster of inquistitive newsmen.

"Look," spoke excitedly to Juan Alantiz, the groom. "His ears are twitching. He must be hungry. Hurry up. Juan, and get him some oats." You would have thought that a child had just spilled his cereal all over the dining room table.

"Yes, ma'am, feeding him right away," replied Juan. "Don't think I get panicky," the pretty, petite mistress of Harbor View Farm apologized to her uninvited backstretch guests. "I don't like to see him get impatient for his food. If's good he's got such' an appetite after a good workout, don't you think?

When Affirmed sneezes, there is a hand always ready to wipe his nostril. When he itches, he gets scratched. When he gets fractious - and that's not often - the whole household moves to soothe his nerves.

If a racehorse responds favorably to being petted, pampered and loved, watch Affirmed's dust in Saturday's Kentucky Derby. He is a 7-5 co-favorite with Alydar.

"We're a family - a team," said Mrs. Wolfson, daughter of the late well-known trainer Hirsch Jacobs, "from my husband and I to Laz, Steve, the groom and, of course, the horse

Laz Barrera, the trainer, saddled Bold Forbes in a Derby victory in 1976. Steve Cauthen, 18, who scored 487 victories for more than $6 million in purses in a sensational 1977 season, is the jockey.

Patrice's handsome, sun-tanned husband, standing a few feet away, beamed at his wife's interest.

"She has been around horses all her life," said Louis Wolfson, millionaire financier and breeder. "She adores this ani-

"I think we should win Saturday," she said, "but a lot of luck, as you know, enters into a horse race. A lot of good horses have been beaten in the Derby — Native Dancer, Bold Ruler and others.

"Affirmed is an exceptional horse." The lady of Harbor View Farm in Ocala, Fla., said she thought the sleek chestnut colt and his young rider made a perfect combination

"Both are mature well beyond their years," she added. 'They both are very cool, alert, bright and extremely competitive. Steve has developed a beautiful rapport with the

qualities to her favorite pet.
"He's quite unusual," she said. "He is a natural athlete with an innate zest for running. Yet he can be so sensible and professional at times.

"He knows when he is going to race. He loves attention. He knows he is something special. He really perks up when you start braiding his tail. It's as if he thinks he's going out in Madison Square Garden on display.

"He is very deceiving. In the stall, he looks so huge. Yet in the paddock, with his head down, he really looks small. He looks as if he is in deep meditation. But he never gets edgy. Before the Santa Anita Derby we went to his stall. There he lay on the hay, stretched out, fully relaxed."

Patrice's high regard for Cauthen, a third choice to ride the two-year-old champion, is shared by her husband.

"Cauthen is the most mature 18-year-old I've ever seen," Wolfson said. → He is very conscientious. There's nothing phony about him. No double-talk. No gimmickry. He just wants to ride and win races.

"Until we went to the Coast this spring, he was always around older people. On the Coast, he lived with Laz. Laz has a son, 18. The two boys watched TV, went to movies and did things together. Laz treated Steve like his own son.

"I was really amused. We went to dinner together one night and met Jimmy the Greek Snyder. When Jimmy left, Steve said, 'Nice meeting you, Mr. Greek.' A man in the saddle, he's still a kid at heart.'

uggets Whip Bucks, Gain West Finals

DENVER (AP) - Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson, obviously shaken by his team's loss, wasn't surprised at the 37point performance of Denver's David Thompson. "We expected a great game from David tonight," said Nelson. But one thing Nelson wasn't counting on was his young Bucks team being beaten on the boards. Denver, rebounding with authority, held a 57-44 carom edge over the Bucks in Wednesday night's 116-110 victory in the seventh and deciding game of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

Denver now advances to the Western Conference finals against the SuperSonics. That series begins here Friday night.

"If you can point to one thing that decided the game, it was that they controlled the boards," said Nelson.

heard that old line about the player who performed so well he did everything but sell tickets.

Well, the Philadelphia 76ers' Steve Mix did it all Wednesday night, including getting into the ticket act.

Mix, who substitutes for Julius "Dr. J." Erving or George McGinnis, came in and collected 22 points, grabbed six rebounds, handed out six assists and made two steals in a 110-104 victory for Philadelphia over the Washington Bullets.

The triumph evened the National Basketball Association best-of-seven-game each. The third and fourth games are at the Bullets' Landover, Md., home court Friday and Sunday.

Mix was interviewed after the game on a radio as the star of the game, and began by thanking the sellout crowd of 18,276 for coming out.

"I know the price of tickets is high," said Mix, "but we thank you, and we'll come back here next week with at least one victory in Landover. We appreciate your support. Please come back.

Mix, of course, didn't forge the 76ers' first win of the series by himself. Doug Collins led the scoring with 28, and Erving contributed 22 points, 11 rebounds and four assists. Henry Bibby handed out nine assists.

Washington coach Dick Motta said Grevey had difficulty moving his neck Wednesday night, and it got worse as the game progressed. He took himself out of the game in the third quarter.

Washington jumped to an early 12-4 first quarter lead, but the Sixers erupted on a 16-4 spurt to lead 20-16, and held on for a 28-26 advantage after one period. Washington rallied through the first seven minutes of the second period, outscoring Philadelphia 21-9, and twice built 10 point margins. But the Sixers snapped back to trail only 54-52 at halftime. Philadelphia, however, surged 12-1 at the start of the third period, with Erving scoring seven and Collins two in the quick second half getaway. The Bullets never caught up although three times they rallied to within one. They fell behind 84-76 after three quarters on a 14-7 Philadelphia spurt in the last five minutes of the period.

In the fourth quarter, the 76ers built their margin to 13, at 95-82, and 98-85 with 5:48 left in the game. Washington kept pecking away, never getting closerthan the final six point margin, and that on a last second shot by Larry Wright.

By MICKEY HERSKOWITZ And STEVE PERKINS

Q. I want to know if the NFL is going to do anything about closing the loophole whereby Washington could sign the Cardinals' Jim Otis and not have to give any compensation. It's a most point since St. Louis decided to match the Washington offer, but won't this same kind of deal come up again?

- Eddie Wheaton, Indianapolis

A. For those who didn't keep up with the Otis case, Washington was going to pay him $80,000 a year the first two years, $79,000 for the third and $30,000 for each of the last two years of a five-year contract. The object was to reach an average (below $60,000) that would require no compensation in terms of draft

This ruse is permissible under the NFL's agreement with the Players Association, but pro football executives all over the league are hopping mad at the Redskins. "They violated the spirit of the law," one fellow said. "It cost us $105 million to get this agreement, but if our people pull stuff like this, that money is out

Otis has been in the league eight seasons, so it's obvious he intends to retire after three more. A player nearing the prime of his career would not gamble on such a contract, so the situation is not likely to come up very often.

The biggest puzzle is why the Redskins thought Otis was worth $80,000 a year. The Cardinals matched the offer because they've had rocky public relations since last November.

Q. Can you tell me how many Cubans played major league baseball before Jackie Robinson came along, and how many of those were of Negro descent? Also, who it recognized as the best player to come out of Cuba in those days? - W.J. Klinger, West Palm Beach, Fla.

A. In all the years prior to 1947, a total of 47 Latin Americans made it into the majors, including 39 from Cuba. As far as we are concerned, they were Cubans, period. The highest achiever of them all was Adolfo Luque, who won 193 games and led the majors in 1923 with 27 wins for Cincinnati.

Q. Will you guess how high in the NFL draft Rodney Allison of Texas Tech will be selected? Do pro scouts see him as a quarterback or a running back? - Deniz Imhoff, Tulsa, Okla.

A. Allison will not be taken in the draft because he has already signed with Toronto of the Canadian League. The Argonauts rate him as a quarterback, to compete against starter Chuck Ealey and backup man Clint Longley.

Q. What years did Jack Cannon play at Notre Dame? As I remember, he played the whole season and did not wear a belmet. Please check the story. - Norman Atkins, Lawrenceburg, Ky.

A. Cannon played in 1927-29 and was All-America as a senior. Grantland Rice noted: "He could be spotted, headguardless, all over the field." That '29 team, under Knute Rockne, was acknowledged the national champion. Cannon later became a successful florist in Columbus, Ohio, and died there about six years

Aeros

HOUSTON (AP) - An official of the Houston Aeros says the dismissal of most of the World Hockey Association club's front office staff is a step toward possible entry in the National Hockey League.

Burrell Cohen, president of the Arena Operating Company, also said Wednesday it was an exercise in business economy by the owners.

Coach Bill Dineen, assistant coach Jack Stanfield and office manager Jennifer Hyde are all of the office staff that remains. The rest were dismissed Wednes-

"All we've really done is reduce our staff until we have a better idea of what the future of hockey is in Houston," Cohen said. "We kept all the people that havesomething to do."

He said the employees were dismissed because there was nothing for them to do until the Aeros owners know if their 30day campaign to sell 7,000 season tickets is successful. Schnitzer's ticket drive was to end at Aeros President Harrison Vickers resigned. Vickers would only say he resigned because he had philosophical differences with the owners but sources said he disliked being retained when the rest of the staff was being fired.

Since the NHI has no plans for expansion, Schnitzer hopes to purchase an existing NHL franchise and move it to Houston. Denver and Cleveland are leading candidates.

HS Funds

PORT ARTHUR (UPI) - Alleged fraudulent use of athletic department funds at Jefferson High school will be investigated by a Jefferson County District Attorney investigator.

"We'll check out the facts and apply them to the law," investigator Calise Blanchard said Wednesday.

Blanchard said the district attorney's office received the results of an investigation conducted by Jefferson High School Principal Rouel Rothenberger and approved by the school board.

The Port Arthur News, in a copyrighted story Wednesday, said the school's investigation found that in at least three cases coaches who worked on the staff while Bob Burris was head coach submitted expenses reports for payments not made. The amount of money involved did not exceed an estimated $350.

Burris resigned April 1 to take a coaching job in Ardmore, Okla. The paper said he returned to town Tuesday, but would not comment on the investigation.

The Port Arthur Independent Uchool District board issued this statement Tuesday:

"The board has been advised allegations of irresponsibility in the management of the athletic fund at Thomas Jefferson High School in the past months. In order that these allegations may be thoroughly investigated the enire matter has been referred to the Jefferson County District Attorney who has promised a prompt investigation."

Rangers

BALTIMORE (UPI) - Texas second baseman Bump Wills said if teammate Richie Zisk had been a Ranger last year, they would have won it all.

"You can't expect Richie to be hot all year," he said of Zisk, who drove in two runs as Texas defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 Wednesday for its seventh straight victory.

"Richie is clutch right now, he is consistent and is driving in a lot of runs (22) but he is going to get some help from guys like Al Oliver and Toby Harrah. If we had Richie last year we would have won the whole thing.

Zisk, who was acquired as a free agent over the winter, is batting .333 in the last 10 games with 13 RBIs.

Zisk doubled across the tying run in the sixth inning off Jim Palmer and singled in Wills with the game-winning run in the eighth inning after two men were out.

Wills had coaxed a walk off relief pitcher Don Stanhouse and stolen second base, his eighth theft in nine attempts. It was the first run Stanhouse, 0-1, had allowed in 12 innings this season.

Ex-Oriole Doyle Alexander, 2-1, threehit the Orioles as Texas crept within a single victory of tying their club record of eight straight wins.

'We've won 10 games and Richie has five game-winning hits, in addition to playing an excellent right field for us," said another ex-Oriole, Ranger Manager Billy Hunter.

Zisk, whose .321 batting average leads the Rangers, is pleased with his start.

'There's a lot of talent on this club, a lot of guys who can swing the bat so I'm glad to contribute. It doesn't take just one guy to win, it takes 24. As long as we win, that's what's important.

Mondale Says Indochina Still Vital To America

By DENIS D. GRAY
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The United States retains "vital security interests" in Southeast Asia, Vice President Walter F. Mondale declared as he arrived in Thailand today for the second stop of his five-nation tour through the Thirty-three young girls dressed in colored silk sarongs and blouses sprinkled rose petals and rice busks for good fortune in Mondale's path as he left his plane to be welcomed by Prime Minister

Kriangsak, a military man who seized power in a coup last year, said Thailand and the United States "have now entered a new era in Southeast Asia." Mondale's visit demonstrated continued U.S. "interest and commitment" in the region, he Mondale in reply said his visit underscores the importance President Carter attaches to America's relations with the nations of Asia and the Pacific.

A spokesman told reporters travelling with Mondale during the flight from Manila that his top priority in his talks with Thai leaders would be security, followed by the fate of the 100,000 Indochinese refugees in Thailand, narcotics trafficking and, to a lesser degree, human rights.

The spokesman said Mondale would tell the Thais the United States will sell them 18 more F-5E jet fighter-bombers and would also invite Kriangsak to visit the United States early next year.

In Manila, the vice president said Carter is determined that the United States will "continue to play a strong role in the Pacific." But some Thai Foreign Ministry officials expressed doubts privately about how specific Mondale would be sbout U.S. military aid to Southeast Asia in times of emergency.

'It would be a good thing to learn from Mondale the definite U.S. policy with regard to the region," one diplomat said. Thailand has been in a difficult position since the end of the Indochinese wars. It has been accused of being a front for the

Thailand was a major rear base for American forces in Indochina, and pro-American feelings are still strong.

The English-language newspaper The Nation said editorially this week that the United States is still bound by the Manila Pact of 1954 to help defend Thailand against aggression. It said although American troops are no longer needed, the country wants American weapons at 'concessional terms" and a clear statement from Mondale of American aims and policy toward the Association of Southeast Asian Nations.

The drug traffic through Thailand figure high on the agenda because experts say as much as two-thirds of the world's supply of heroin passes through the country from the opium fields of the "Golden Triangle," the area where Burma, Thailand and Laos meet. The Thai government has pledged to step up efforts to eliminate trafficking,

"That was a very successful visit," said Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos as he said goodbye to Mondale in Manila. U.S. officials accompanying the vice president said he performed "the toughest balancing act in American diplomacy" in his talks with the Philippine dicta-

On the one hand, the officials explained, Mondale was trying to pressure Marcos to stop violations of human rights. At the same time, he was trying to give impetus to the negotiations for new leases for the important U.S. naval and air bases in the Philippines.

Marcos didn't commit himself to any remedial action in the human rights field, but he did tell a news conference he is ready to review "any claims and allegations of injustices committed."

Mondale and Marcos announced in a communique that they agreed on principles to govern the bases negotiations.

rent to be paid and jurisdiction over American servicemen charged with vio-lating Philippines laws. But American of-ficials were hopeful it meant Marcos would try to move the negotiations for-

Marcos also met with half a dozen pol itical opponents of Marcos and vis Corregidor, at the entrance to Manila Bay, where thousands of American and Filipino soldiers and sailors died in

After his 24-hour visit to Thailand, Mondale will visit Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand.

Crash Kills Stunt Pilot

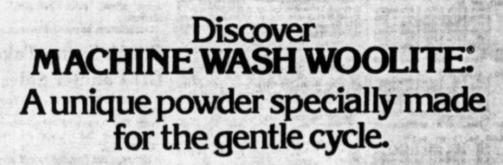

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alberta (AP) -A stunting Canadian air force pilot was killed Wednesday night when his Tutor jet fighter came apart as 3,000 spectators

The pilot, Capt. Gordon deJong, was a member of the Snowbirds, an eight-plane Canadian Forces aerial acrobatic team that was participating in an Armed Forces Day program at the Grande Prai-

Witnesses said DeJong had been flying upside down. As he righted the plane, wing fell off, then the tail came away and the rest of the plane crashed about two miles north of the airport runway.

Debris hit an automobile in the airport parking lot, and a woman in the car was taken to a hospital. She was reported suf-

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) - Corn futures edged a shade higher, wheat prices dipped slightly and soybeans finished mixed on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday.

The overriding factors continued to be clear weather that allowed Midwestern farmers to catch up with delayed spring planting and rains in the Southwest that benefited winter wheat crops.

But farmers sold limited amounts of grains, partly because of their preoccupation with fieldwork, and that removed some of the pressure from corn and sov-

Dog's Speed Fails To Prevent Ticket

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (UPI) Ronald Dillon, 23, of Parkersburg, told the judge he could not have been driving 45 miles per hour in a 35 mph zone.

A dog was chasing his car at the time, and no dog can run that fast, he argued. Dillon even cited the encyclopedia which says the fastest dog is a greyhound and that it can only run at 35 mph, "and you see this was an ordinary mutt. Municipal Court Judge Anne McDonough was not impressed. She found Dillon guilty and fined him $40 plus costs.

Demand For Cotton Low, PCG Told

By KETH HENLEY

Avalanche-Journal Farm Writer The possibility of "strong price pressure" on 1978-crop High Plains cotton from competing growths was raised at the 21st annual meeting of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) here Wednesday at the Southpark Inn.

John McNutt, director of international marketing for Cotton Inc. in New York, noted that consumer demand for textiles in Western Europe and Japan currently is "extremely low" and that demand for cotton in 1979 is not expected to significantly improve.

Cotton consumption likely will be close to the same level as it was in 1977, he said, and competing producers of short staple cotton - mainly Russia, Turkey, Pakistan and Argentina - probably will turnout about the same quantities of cotton this year as they did the year before.

"Consequently, with a good supply of short staple cotton and without an increase in demand, we may be under some strong price pressure," said

One solution, he noted, however, would be the production of superior strength fiber, particularly in light of the current emphasis on open-end spinning.

The relatively new technique in some instances produces a stronger yarn at a lower production cost with a short staple. Butter Production fiber than the traditional ring frame can spin with a longer staple type. McNutt said there are approximately 1 million open-end rotors in operation in the free world, consuming almost 3 million bales of cotton each year. Almost 45 percent are in Western Europe, 20 percent in Japan, 20 percent in the United States and the remaining 15 percent in other Far Eastern countries. Certain cottons grown on the High Plains produce high-strength fiber, the

Soviet Wheat Just Average

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wheat Inted last fall in the Soviet Union appes to have come through the winter in a tage shape, but rainy and cool conditionave delayed planting of spring crops, acrd-ing to the Agriculture Department. Spring weather and soil moisture "Le been generally favorable" in the nin crop areas of the Soviet Union, the partment said Wednesday in a weekly

The arrival of spring was two to thre weeks earlier than usual in most area but abnormally cold weather in early April occurred in much of the European part of the Soviet Union, the report said.

"The rainy weather, wet soil conditions, as well as the cold April weather have been delaying spring grain planting." it said. "Winter grain prospects currently appear favorable. Winter kill damage (of fall planted crops), including the effects of cold weather in April, is judged to have been about average.

Last year the Soviet Union harvested 195.5 million metric tons of grain, historically a bumper crop but well below Moscow's 1977 target of 213.3 million tons Consequently, the Soviets have bought large amounts of U.S. wheat and corn to help make up the shortfall in last year's harvest

TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Dow Jones Drops 8.49 To 820.34

NEW YORK (AP) - News of the sharpest rise in wholesale prices in more than three years pinned the stock market with another broad loss today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 11.35 on Wednesday, fell another 8.49 to 820.34. Declines outnumbered advances by close to a 4-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed

Trading remained heavy.

Early today the government reported that wholesale prices of finished goods - the next-to-last link in the distribution chain before merchandise is priced for retail sale - jumped 1.3 percent in April.

It marked the biggest monthly increase in that measure of inflationary pressures in more than three years.

Analysts also said the market's declines of the past two days seemed to have convinced many traders that the spring rally that set trading-volume records last month had run its course.

American Telephone Telegraph, the most active NYSE issue, dropped 1/2 to 621/4. A 200,000-share block traded at 61% Other actively traded blue chips included General Motors, off ¼ at 64%; Eastman Kodak, down % at 51 1/k, and Exxon, 5/k lower at 47. The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks lost 43 to 53.29. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .42 at 137.65. Volume on the NYSE reached 16.21 million shares by noontime, up from 15.40 million at the same point Wednesday.

In Gaines Kidnapping McKENZIE, Tenn. (AP) — The brother of one of two men already in custody was arrested today in connection with the quarter-million-dollar kidnapping of a wealthy businessman's daughter.

The FBI said Harvey Douglas Dixon,
19, was picked up at the home of his stepfather near Springville, about 15 miles northeast of here, and jailed in Paris, where his brother and a friend were in

A state warrant identified Dixon as the mysterious "Jo-Jo" who had been sought since the 18-year-old Jodie Elizabeth Gaines escaped from her captors Tues day. The warrant charged him with kid-

Paris, Tenn., near the Kentucky state line, is about 20 miles northeast of McKenzie, and 10 miles northwest of FBI agents said Dixon was arrested early today by officers from the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, the Tennessee Highway Patrol, the Henry County sheriff's office and the FBL.

A General Sessions Court bond hearing already was scheduled in Huntingdon, for the two men already arrested on state charges of kidnapping for ransom, a crime which carries a 20-years-to-life prison term with no parole. Unemployed truck driver David Michael Wilson, 24, and Andrew Dixon, 22, Harvey's brother, were charged Wednes-day in Carroll County where Miss Gaines was abducted Friday. She was driving from a country club dinner with her par-ents, Ben and Ludie Gaines, to a cousin's house when men posing as police narcotics agents grabbed her.

At the kidnappers' mercy for 90 hours, she escaped Tuesday morning by pound-ing apart an iron-frame bed to which she was handcuffed. She had been abandoned in a remote concrete-block cabin Monday night while her parents made an unsucessful pay-off attempt.

The kidnappers had bickered several times over whether they should murder her. The one abductor against it pre-

Carroll County Sheriff Lawrence Garrett said that one of the telephone calls by the kidnappers Monday was traced to the McKenzie Oil Co., a combin service station and ice cream parlor on U.S. 79 along the northern edge of the

The receiver was removed Monday by FBI agents, apparently to be checked for fingerprints.

Interviewed in his jail cell by Nashville Banner and Paris Post-Intelligencer re-porters, Wilson said, "I was at home Friday night with my wife watching televi-

Charges Not To Be Filed

Asst. Dist. Atty. David Nelson said Wednesday he anticipates no charges to be filed against any of 38 persons who were detained by police April 27 in connection with an alleged gambling op-

Nelson said insufficient evidence had been presented to the Criminal District Attorney's office and a case could not be made "at this time" against any of those

He said subsequent investigations might provide enough information for charges to be filed, although he stressed that for the moment no charges are expected.

"We would have to have proof of operation," Nelson said, "and there was

Police had received confidential information early on the evening of April 26 that heavy losers in previous gambling games might be planning to rob a game that night at a South Lubbock motel. Detectives staked out the motel about 9:30 p.m. April 26, then intervened about 1 a.m. April 27. Police found evidence that gambling was being done in two rooms and the names of 30 Lubbock men and one local woman were taken. Eight other persons from North Texas towns and Houston were detained, police said.

He essays an occasional country singer who runs a motel in

Oddly, acting is what Miller, 42, wanted to try when he came here in late 1963, a discouraged Nashville picker who'd had little luck selling his songs in years of door-knocking along Music Row.

But he was waylaid by an album he cut to finance the trip. It included "Dang Me," a hit followed by more hits like "Chug-a-Lug" and his 1965 biggie, "King of the Road," still heard today.

"I moved here to be an actor, but when the music got successful, I forgot about it," Miller said by phone. "The music got in the way of the acting.

(Roger, a genial gent who loves wordplay, paused to shut a door at home, explaining: "The maid's suctioning up the first floor.")

Though his albums are in "country" racks at record stores, some music critics have cited strong jazz influences in his singing. Miller shrugs off such talk thus-

"Well, I just do my music. I never aim it at anybody.

Born in Texas, raised in tiny Erick, Okla., he says when he was a tad, "the music I listened to mainly was Bob Wills, Lefty Frizzell and Hank Williams," three deities of country music. "But, sure, I heard some good jazz, also," added Miller, a fan of jazz giants like Stefan Grapelli and the late Django Rein-"I'd drive around, switching radio sta-

Could've done better." Speaking of Nelson, Miller said he plans to co-produce and appear with Nelson, Waylon Jennings and Kris Kristofferson in kind of a country jam session called "Old Friends."

Said TV special, in which "we're going to just sit around picking and having fun," began as an idea prompted by NBC's airing of a special called "50 Years of Country Music," Miller explained.

Jazz Festival Returns To New York City

NEW YORK (AP) - The Newport Jazz Festival will celebrate its 25th anniversary in New York, despite earlier announcements to the contrary.

Entrepreneur George Wein said this week, "We found out the meaning of the expression 'when you leave New York City you ain't goin' nowhere."" Wein had announced last year that the festival would move to Saratoga Springs,

But Wein said he changed his mind primarily because the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co., a sponsor of the festival for 12 years, told him, "If you leave New York, you don't have us as sponsor any more.'

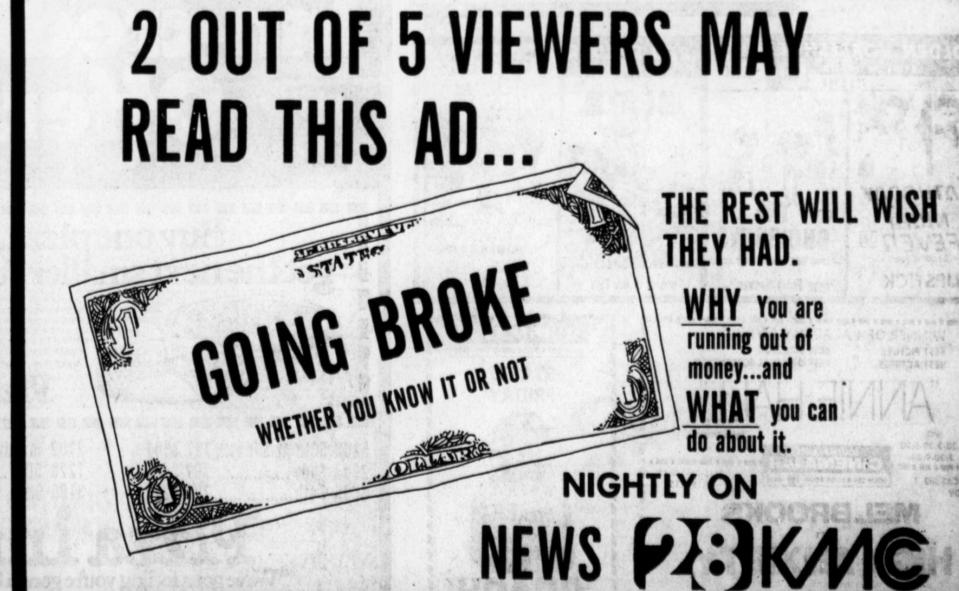

Wein said the 25th anniversary festival would be held June 23 to July 2. However, Saratoga "to whom we made obligations," still will get "two fantastic programs," Wein said. On Saturday, July 1, a lot of jazz musicians who have had hit records will perform jazz without their jazz-rock groups at Saratoga. They include George Benson, Chick Corea, Dizzy Gillespie, Herbie Hancock, Jean-Luc Ponty, Flora Purim and George Russell. The band which played with Charles Mingus on his last al-burn will play a tribute to Mingus. A big band bash will be held the next day, featuring Count Basie, Mercer Ellington, Maynard Ferguson, Woody Hermann, Thad Jones, Mel Lewis, Stan Kenton and Buddy Rich.

Wein said this year's New York program would start with a concert by Sarah Vaughan in Carnegie Hall and the New Orleans Preservation Hall Jazz Band in Waterloo Village at Stanhope, N.J. Second night events will include Ella

Fitzgerald in Carnegie Hall, Jazz Latino in Avery Fisher Hall, followed by midnight concerts by Ornette Coleman with Cecil Taylor and Count Basie. "I Remember Clifford," a tribute to Clifford Brown, will be presented the third night at New York University.

STARS IN COMEDY SERIES - Lawrence-Hilton Jacobs, who is one of the regulars in the TV series "Welcome Back Kotter," is set to star in another TV show "The Comedy Company." The show deals with the suffering and struggles of a young comic trying to survive the night club circuit. Jacobs spent six weeks with teacher-actor Jack Albertson learning how to put a joke across. 'Clumping' Slated For Fall TV

By JAY SHARBUTT LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hate to say it, but it seems we face a rash of clump series next fall. A clump series is where they clump together two or three young and attractive stars.

The idea is to get the prime, freespending 18-to 35-crowd so appealing to advertisers to see the clumpees and buy the goods.

Clumping really began as a network art form with ABC's "Charlie's Angels," whose three lady gumshoes jiggle while they work. Then came "Three's Compa-' two gals and a guy, all roommates.

They'll be back in 1978-79, ditto "Laverne and Shirley" and "Starsky and Hutch," plus a new opus, "Mork and Mindy," where a lad from planet Ork meets pretty young Mindy of Earth.

CBS' new schedule, emitted this week, shows even that once-discreet network is taking a serious whirl at clumping next

It'll bring back one of the better clump series, "One Day at a Time," with its attractive mother of two appealing daughters, while adding to the clump count with two new epics.

The one all serious students of acting will enjoy is "Flying High." It's about three pretties laboring as airline stewardi, or flight attendants, if you are of postfib persuasion

Only one of the three has an acting credit. One credit is what she has. All are models picked for their beauty, personality and sense of humor, CBS quotes prodpeer Mark Carliner as saying

'What I wasn't looking for was a lot of acting experience," Carliner says, and that, as the trombone player said when he missed the bus, should rest his case.

Also clumping in on CBS next fall is 'The American Girls." It's about two lovely young ladies who do research for a TV news magazine show. No, handsome Dan Rather isn't the co-star.

But in another arena, pretty Phyllis George, who clumps on football with Irv Cross and Brent Musburger at CBS, has a second clumping effort coming to CBS next season.

It's "People," a show similar to, but not based entirely on, everything and everyone you've read about in "Us" maga-

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) - Mikhail Baryshnikov's final gala with American Ballet Theater became a glorious last hurrah this week when he starred in the New York premiere of his own splendid version of "Don Quixote."

Baryshnikov will dance with ABT again before leaving it to join the New York City Ballet, but this was his last gala. The evening, for which Metropolitan Opera House ticket prices went up to $150, netted $150,000 to be used against a National Endowment for the Arts matching or 'challenge" grant. ABT believes it is the largest amount raised by a ballet company in one evening.

Three times a week his mother takes him to a Sydney swimming pool and tosses him in fully-clothed.

It's a heart-stopping event for those who see it for the first time, as fairhaired Christopher sinks to the bottom of the pool, rolls over, slowly rises to the surface and lies there on his back spluttering but apparently all right.

It's all part of a controversial survival course which has brought thousands of suburban mothers and their babies to half a dozen swimming centers around Sydney and which may soon be taken to the United States.

The backyard pool is a much-soughtafter status symbol for the middle-class families of Sydney's sprawling suburbs. In New South Wales, Australia's most populous state with about one-third of the country's 14 million people, officials estimate there are about 600,000 private

Until two years ago, an average of 30 children under the age of 5 drowned each year in New South Wales. Officials said this figure had now been halved to about 15 a year. They attribute much of this drop to an increased public awareness of pool safety through government and private programs and survival courses.

A less rigorous state government-sponsored learn-to-swim for preschoolers has attracted nearly 10,000 parents and their children in its first year.

Many housewives at the centers come from homes where there is a pool or one nearby. They all express a common fear of accidental drowning

CBS Sets. New Fall Schedule

By MALCOLM CARTER NEW YORK (AP) - Mary Tyler Moore is back. Tony Randall and Bob Newhart are gone. That's the new look of CBS, as announced in the network's new fall television schedule.

The network said it was replacing 61/2 hours of programs, shuffling another two hours of existing shows, retaining Thursday's schedule and dropping such fare as Baby I'm Back," "Celebrity Challenge of the Sexes" and "Captain Nemo."

"Kojak," which dropped far into the ratings after its early, popular years, also is departing, along with the Friday night movie, "Spiderman" and "Shields and Yarnell

"Dallas" and "The Incredible Hulk," both of which tested well this year, remain.

Among the so-called new shows is one that won't quit. As a pilot on NBC a while back, "People" bombed. In a CBS pastiche of gossip and newsfeatures, a similar show called "Who's Who" also bombed. And now Phyllis George will be head host of "People" Mondays at 8 p.m. She and two unnamed co-hosts will be, CBS says, "reporting on the chic, the current and the glamorous aspects of the world around us." The new programs also include Mary Tyler Moore in an hourly variety show following "60 Minutes" at 8 p.m. Sundays, and John Houseman playing the role for which he won an Academy Award in "Paper Chase."

Also on the schedule is a show starring Priscilla Lopez and McLean Stevenson, who struck out on NBC last season. As Father Cleary, Stevenson plays opposite what is described as the "divergent personality" of Sister Agnes in "Just the Be-

Bundy Helped In Escape

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) - Authorities say Theodore Bundy had help, either planned or inadvertent, in his cross-country journey to Florida after escaping the Glenwood Springs, Colo., jail.

Officials are sure Bundy received assistance, but have not determined whether the aid was arranged in advance of the escape or stemmed from unintentional acts by unknowing persons, said Pitkin County investigator Mike Fisher Tues-

Bundy is currently in custody in Florida as a suspect in two slayings at Florida State University and the death of a girl in

Bundy, charged with murder in the slaying of a Michigan nurse in Aspen, escaped from the jail New Year's Eve by crawling through a hole for a light fixture. Fisher said the former Utah law student stole a car and drove to Edwards,

Fisher said Bundy abandoned the car, hitchhiked 12 miles to Vail where he took a bus to Denver. From Stapleton International Airport, Bundy has said he flew to Investigators said Bundy, a suspect in numerous killings in the West, said he went to Michigan and then Florida by way of Atlanta, Ga., where he claimed to have stolen another car.

Lt. W.K. Perry of the Atlanta Police Department said Bundy's directions led authorities to a missing car, but they were unable to link the escapee to the vehicle or a murder committed during the time Bunday was in the area.

survive a fall into a pool. Their teachers call them "superbabies."

"I hear a lot of stories about kids drowning in backyard pools," said Christopher's mother, Mary. "I feel safer hav-ing little Christopher know how to feel comfortable in the water.'

Another mother, Janine Duckett, who brings her 6-month-old son Craig to the center, expressed similar feelings.

"I brought Craig down here so I would feel more secure. We have a pool at home and one on either side of us. I've still got to watch him, but at least he'll know how to survive.'

But Christopher and Craig are just beginners. Nearby, 11-month-old Timothy Miller was confidently floating around the pool on his back, fully clothed.

"That fellow is almost ready for the graduated superbaby class," said Alex Bory, 42, who pioneered the survival method with his wife. "He is at the point where we are simulating an accident situation. The object now is to keep him in contact with the water. Keep him feeling comfortable. Then we can teach him how to swim."

tralia as champion swimmers on the Hungarian team in the 1956 Melbourne Olympic games which coincided with the abortive revolution in their home country. About half the 110-member team defected in Australia and the couple found themselves looking for work. After a few years of coaching and teaching, the pair opened their first swimming center in 1967.

Bory said the object in the course was for the babies "to learn a respect for the water, to feel at home and relax." Much of the fear of water, Bory said, is planted into children by their own parents.

Bory and his wife said they'd never had superbaby who didn't learn how to float. "Some children take three weeks, others six weeks," Bory said. "But we offer a guaranteed 100 percent result.'

The Borys' program is not without its critics, however, who say that throwing a youngster into a pool can permanently traumatize a child from ever wanting to swim. They also say the program gives a false sense of security to parents, especially around unheated pools in the cold winter months.

The superbabies go through three half-

Over the years, the Borys have expanded to eight centers around Sydney and Melbourne, many in suburban shopping malls. In the past 10 years, the centers have taught more than 15,000 Australian children to swim, at an average of $7 a lesson. The Borys are now scouting out the possibility of opening up similar schools in the United States.

"In many ways, it's what you'd call a swimming supermarket," Bory said. "We are ready to supply any kind of swimming - from the youngest to the

Insurance Executive Predicts Exploitation Of Outer Space

NEW YORK (UPI) - The exploration of space already is a multi-billion dollar enterprise but some well-informed persons are starting to believe it soon will become a huge and viable commercial in-

Gerald E. Frick, a vice president of Marsh & McLennan, Inc., major insurance brokerage, predicted in a recent speech in London that outer space exploitation might become a $30 billion a year industry by the end of this century.

Frick said this figure would be the total for military and governmental uses of outer facilities and commercial uses such as data and television and radio transmis-

Frick was addressing an audience of insurance people including more than 100 prominent European underwriters and much of his talk naturally was about the opportunities for new insurance revenues held out by the possibilities of space ex-

Frick said the space shuttle, or Space Transportation System, program may include missions with a high proportion of commercial users on board that will require as much as $100 million in insurance coverage for the shuttle portion of the mission. At present, the total insurance coverage available in the world market for a space launch is limited to about $50 million. Frick said if business for commercial and government account does reach a global volume of $30 billion a year, "this would require a lot of insurance, much of it probably in types of policies not yet de-

Space operation insurance already has come a long way, Frick said. When the first telecommunications satellite, the Early Bird, was launched in 1965, insurance was available only for the prelaunch operations from companies engaged in writing aviation policies.

Marsh & McLennan got into the space insurance business early, working with various companies to provide coverage for the Intelsat III series in 1968. In 1975, the company wrote a three-year policy to insure the active life of three RCA satel-

In addition to the military and communications operations of space satellites that could produce profitable insurable commercial operations, Frick sees satellites becoming important in solar energy, in advance geological exploration for oil and other resources, and to create "space hospitals" with conditions especially favorable for some kinds of surgery such as spinal cord fusion.

Most exciting of all, Frick envisions the possibility of substantial space industry early in the next century.

Asked why he believes space travel might become popular, Frick said curiosity could cause people to take "space vacations" even by the end of this century.

And taking a cue from the science fictioneers, he said "the earth has a finite amount of living space, so if science finds a way to make the surface of some of the planets habitable for man, it is quite possible full-time living colonies will be established there to exploit mineral and other potential wealth.

Death For Espionage, Treason Constitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department said last week a federal law permitting the death penalty for treason and espionage would be constitutional even though no lives were taken by those committing the crimes

A department official added, however, that this conclusion is less clear in regard to espionage than in cases of treason.

Mary C. Lawton, deputy assistant attorney general in the office of legal counsel, testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee on a bill reinstating apital punishment for 13 types of crime.

Except for traitors and spies, prisoners could be executed only if their crimes had led directly to the loss of human life. The bill was introduced a year ago by Sen. John B. McClellan, D-Ark., and 19 co-sponsors. McClellan has since died. Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, one of the co-sponsors, presided at the hearing. Hatch said opponents of the bill would be heard on May 11.

Hatch said he assumed that the bill, if enacted, would be tested in the Supreme Court. But he said he saw "no reason to refrain from enacting it ... if it is possible o predict with reasonable confidence" that it would be upheld. The Justice Department was asked for its view in the light of a Supreme Court decision last year that the death penalty for the rape of an adult woman was disproportionate to the crime.

Miss Lawton agreed with Hatch that the court's ruling did not mean the death penalty could never be imposed except when human life had been taken, since the justices left open the question of capital punishment for rape of a child.

The bill would permit the death penalty for persons convicted for the second time of treason or espionage creating grave risk of death to people and of substantial danger to national security.

A person could be executed for espionage if he supplied a foreign government with information involving nuclear weapons, spacecraft, war plans or other specified military subjects, with the intent of injuring the United States.

Miss Lawton said it "seems probable that the Supreme Court would uphold the punishment.

'It is less certain whether a court would reach the same conclusion with reto espionage, but, limited as it is ... it is our view that it too would be found to serve appropriate goals.

Treason was subject to the death penalty in the United States from 1790 until 1972, when the Supreme Court ruled that the capital punishment laws then on the books were unconstitutional. In 1976, the court followed this up by ruling that the death penalty for murder is not inherently unconstitutional and spelling out the procedures which should be followed. The McClellan bill was introduced in reponse to this ruling.

Miss Lawton said more than 100 nations permit the death penalty for trea-

sion that the penalty is not grossly disproportionate to the offense," she told the committee. She said that "the result is less clear" with regard to espionage, since the death penalty for that crime was not authorized in the United States until 1917 and not as many other nations permit it.

The bill also would reinstate capital punishment for destruction of an aircraft or vehicle resulting in death, assassination of a member of Congress or kidnapping a member with death resulting, explosives law violations resulting in death, first degree murder, murder of a foreign official, kidnapping resulting in death, presidential assassination or kidnapping resulting in death, bank robbery resulting in death and aircraft hijacking resulting

Official Terms Pigs Intelligent Animals

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) - The watch hog, loyally guarding his master's tractor, could be a fixture on farms of the future, an official of the National Pork Producers Council says.

"Pigs are good animals to train and are very smart." said Marvin Garner, executive vice president of the pork council. 'And more and more people are successfully training them.

Garner pointed to experiments that have shown pigs respond to unfamiliar sights and stimul "I am not really sure if we have a watch hog yet in Iowa. But, particularly in the case of the young child, a hog will notice a stranger and react to it," Garner said. "They really can't run after it and bite it, but they can react and notice it."

The hog also is somewhat of a music critic. For years, hog men have used music in breeder pens and feeding areas to keep the troops happy

'It keeps them from fighting and feuding and generally keeps peace in the pen." Garner said.

There does not appear to be any universally held top-40 list among the hogs. "No one has done any research on that. It doesn't really seem to matter what the music is, as long as its noisy and loud,' he said. "It seems to keep them together, keep them eating and have a quieting ef-

John McNutt, 26, a farmer who lives near Iowa City, said his pigs prefer classical and folk music played on local FM stations. He discovered when he piped in AM rock and roll, the hogs often grew restless. When he recently built a new farrowing pen, he switched to classical

"I decided I wanted something better to give them more consistent quality,"

During the day, the hogs in the farrowing house - often up to 600 sows and pigs listen to classical music and folk songs and at night they hear easy listening. Once, the radio broke down and
