City School Integration May Cost $1 Million

Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Lubbock Independent School District has placed a requisition with the State Board of Control for 35 buses to implement the district's integration plan, Superintendent Ed Irons said today.

He said the cost of buying and running the vehicles next year may be about $1 million - much less than some citizens had suspected. The cost to local taxpayers may be even lower because the state shares operational expenses

In an interview, the superintendent also said safety will be "our top priority" in the transportation program...

The Texas Education Agency will assist the district in drawing the safest bus routes, Irons said. He said he hopes to equip all buses with two-way radios to facilitate immediate communication should a vehicle experience mechanical trouble during a run.

Parents in some neighborhoods are forming volunteer corps to ride the buses as aides, Irons said. He called such participation "extremely valuable" in the implementation of the new student assignment plan.

One of the most frequent questions I get is whether children will be required to take the bus to school. Some parents have told me they would prefer to organize car pools and provide their own transportation," Irons said.

Those options, he added, are perfectly acceptable. Irons said some parents en route to work may find it convenient to drop their children off at school Monday night, We the People, an anti-busing organization, estimated that transportation necessitated by the school system's court-ordered integration plan would cost taxpayers $6 million during the 1978-79 school year. The group based its estimate on what it claimed would be the cost of buying and operating 35 buses for one year. Irons said the number of buses is right, but the rest of the information is off base. The actual cost of the transportation program will be only a fraction of what the group claimed, he said.

It's too early to pin down the exact cost, Irons said. But he noted that as an alternative to building schools south of Loop 289, the district last year had considered a busing program costing slightly more than $1 million.

The court-ordered plan, Irons said, probably will have a cost in the same ball-

The integration plan will involve transporting about 2,000 elementary children and several hundred secondary students a day.

Irons said the district has calculated it will need 35 to 40 buses to accommodate those youngsters. He said the State Board of Control, which serves as a purchasing agent on such matters, has been asked to seek bids on a proposed See INTEGRATION Page 14

Teamsters President Accused

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Teamsters disciplinary panel today heard charges that union president Frank E. Fitzsimmons used Teamsters funds for a lavish lifestyle and allowed organized crime to infiltrate the union.

Fitzsimmons did not appear in person before the special five-member panel of union leaders that met behind closed doors to hear the charges, which were filed 13 months ago by two rank-and-file members.

Fitzsimmons' personal attorney, Mozart G. Ratner, said the union president is not required to appear in person under the constitution of the two-million-member union. The Teamster constitution requires the hearing when formal charges are filed by union members

The panel, appointed by the union's executive board, could dismiss the charges or recommend that the board remove Fitzsimmons from office and fine him.

Ratner said Fitzsimmons will respond fully to the allegations of wrongdoing "at the appropriate time.

"These charges are a rehash of allega-tions made publicly in May 1976" when the nation's largest union held its last national convention, Ratner said

"The delegates roundly rejected the charges...by re-electing Fitzsimmons. This is an attempt to get the executive board to overrule the convention delegates," Ratner said

As the hearing got underway, several dozen union dissidents picketed outside the hotel where the meeting was taking place. The Teamsters carried signs calling for Fitzsimmons' removal from off-

Union dissidents who have been pushing for Fitzsimmons' ouster say they expect a whitewash.

"We're seeking justice but we'd be surprised if we got it," said Robert Windrem, research director of Professional group that claims 6,300 union members.

Windrem showed reporters a letter from Ratner which said the union president would be available for the hearing either during the week of May 15 or June

"We feel we have been hoodwinked into participating in a sham hearing," Windrem said.

Fitzsimmons reportedly was at his office in union headquarters here today, but union officials could not immediately confirm that.

The charges were filed by Peter Vitrano of Local 641 in Jersey City, N.J., and William Berryhill of Local 992 in Hagerstown, Md. Both are members of raced through an old three-story residential hotel before dawn today, killing at least 11 people and sending about 20 other mostly elderly residents fleeing through smoke-filled Hallways.

The blaze, which broke out about 2:10 a.m., gutted the Jenkins Hotel, occupied mainly by low-income elderly who rented rooms by the week or the month. The hotel had been cited for eight safety violations in a state inspection March 3.

Police Chief Charles Bruce said 11 persons were known dead, although only 'six or seven" bodies had been found.

Many of the some 30 residents escaped down a back fire escape, and one young man broke both legs when he leaped from a third-story window onto the pavement below

"There could be as many as 15 (dead)," Bruce said. "I don't know for sure until we go through that rubble. It's awfully hot in there right now. I hope that's all we'll find.

Bruce said of the victims, "There's very little of them left. It's not pretty. A spokesman at Jellico Community Hospital said 11 injured residents were admitted. One, identified as Marty Burchett, was in critical condition after leaping through a window. Five others were admitted for treatment of smoke inhalation, and five others were treated and released. One of the occupants, Charlie Foster, 55, said he was in bed asleep. C'Someone velled "Fire! fire! I hit the floor. I got to the fire escape door by keeping next to the floor.

"It happened so quick, I was lucky to get out of there alive."

"I heard people crying," he said. "One boy jumped. I seen him in the window." Dunaway said he fled down the fire escape after ringing the night buzzer to attract attention in the lobby.

"It wasn't in the best of shape, that's for sure," said Fire Chief W.C. Deuel. "There were some fire extinguishers in the building, but there sure weren't Stangel, who retired as dean of what was the School of Agriculture in 1958, was born in Stangelville, Wis., a town named for his father and uncle. The family moved to Texas in 1897, and Stangel was graduated from a Fort Worth high school in 1910.

Stangel completed his studies at Texas A&M in 1915 and received his master's degree from the University of Missouri the next year. He then joined the A&M faculty. He was a full professor at A&M when he gave up the job to join others in teaching the first students to arrive at Texas Technological College in 1925.

Prof. Thomas L. Leach, chairman of agricultural education at Tech, knew Stangel as a student and later as a member of the faculty.

of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said one restriction discussed at the meeting was the so-called Clark Amendment, enacted in 1976, which prohibits the introduction of U.S. military equipment or assistance into Angola, without congressional approval.

Baker said he would support repeal of the Clark Amendment, which applies on-'ly to Angola.

An advancing Pacific storm front may give the South Plains some relief from blistering heat that made two area towns the hottest spots in the state Monday afternoon and set a record here. The strong Pacific cold front brought high winds to the desert Southwest, rain to California and snow from the Sierra Nevada to the Rockies today. Travelers were warned of heavy snow at higher elevations in Montana. Brief showers fell unexpectedly in Lubbock Monday afternoon to break recordsetting heat, and the National Weather Service put a 20-percent chance of rain today and tonight and a 30-percent chance Wednesday into its forecast this morning.

The record here, 98 degrees in 1937, was broken by a reading of 99. Hot though it was, the weather here was almost cool by comparison with temperatures in some area towns. Paducah and Spur both had 197 degrees, the top readings for the day in the state, eclipsing even Presidio's 106. A trace of rain was recorded at Lubbock International Airport. Reports in the city included .15 inch at Fire Station No. 6 at 35th and Indiana, .02 at KFYO-Radio downtown and .01 at Fire Station No. 7 at 17th and Utica. Area reports were .17 at Crosbyton, .01 at Spur and traces at Jayton, Matador and Snyder. A few thunderstorms developed over

West Texas during the night, weathermen said, but dissipated after midnight. The approaching Pacific front should be in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles late Wednesday, forecasters said, increasing the chances for more showers and thunderstorms in the area.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies today, tonight and Wednesday and temperatures in the mid-90s today, mid-60s tonight and mid-80s Wednesday.

Winds will be southerly at 15 to 25 miles an hour and gusty today and 15 to 20 miles an hour tonight. While it was an asphalt-softening 99 in

Moro Death May Curtail Italian Communist Bid

ROME (AP) - Christian Democratic gains and Communist losses in a backlash vote protesting the murder of Aldo Moro by the ultra-leftist Red Brigades appear certain to slow the Communist drive to get into the Italian government.

Official returns from municipal elections Sunday and Monday in which about seven percent of Italy's voters voted gave the Christian Democrats 42.5 percent of the vote and the Communists 26.5 percent, a difference of 16 percentage points. In the 1976 national elections in the same areas, the Christian Democrats got 38.9 percent and the Communists got 35.6 percent, a span of only 3.3 points.

The Communist percentage was slightly bigger than the 25.8 percent they got in the 1972 municipal elections in those areas. But the Christian Democrats' in-"The returns show the maturity of the Italian voters who used the ballot against the gun," said Clelio Darida, the Christian Democratic undersecretary of the Interior Ministry.

However, he made clear that his party does not want the election results to affect its alliance with the Communists which gives Premier Giulio Andreotti's minority government its parliamentary

'I believe the need for national harmony and the reasons that make stability necessary also to fight terrorism is no less stronger, even if debate between the parties may heat up," said Darida.

The Communist Party, which parlayed its 1976 showing into the parliamentary ted: "The terrorist aggression under red insignia has brought about a situation of confusion, provocation and alarm." It deplored the "illegitimate" use of the Communist label by the Red Brigades who kidnapped Moro, the five-time premier and president of the Christian Democratic Party, on March 16 and left his chained, bullet-riddled body in the center of Rome May 9.

In the seven weeks that Moro was missing, the Communists were unwavering in their condemnation of the Red Brigades and their support of the Christian Democrats' refusal to negotiate on the basis of the kidnappers' demand for the release of 13 imprisoned terrorists. The Red Brigades were just as emphatic in their condemnation of the Communist Party for its alliance with the government.

The Socialists and the other two moderate leftist parties in the government alliance, the Democratic Socialists and the Republicans, also gained over their 1976 showing, with a total of 21.3 percent compared to 15.1. The fascists of the Italian Social Movement dropped from 7.1 per-

The rest of the 2.5 million votes in towns of more than 5,000 people were spread among a dozen smaller groups. The trend was the same in smaller towns in which about 900,000 voted.

Police in Taranto, in southern Italy, reported an anonymous telephone caller threatened the Red Brigades would "execute" the mayor and two other persons unless Renato Curcio, the Red Brigades' founder now on trial in Turin, was freed

Police said the same threat was made by telephone to the local newspaper and to the central police station Monday morning. They said they believed the

They are especially irritated with Japan, which "washed its hands" of the matter after contributing $5 million, a member of the Congress of Micronesia told the United Nations Trusteeship Council on Monday.
"It is our firm belief that Japan has both a moral and legal responsibility to accord full restitution to aggrieved Mi-cronesians," said Raymond Setik, a legislator from Truk atoll, which was once a major Japanese naval base.

The Trusteeship Council opened hearings Monday on U.S. administration of the 2,141 islands which comprise the last U.N. trust territory. The central Pacific islands include some of the bloodiest battlegrounds of the war: Majuro, Kwaja-

"The Americans and the Japanese have neglected to meet their obligations," said Stuart Jay Beck, a New York attorney who represents the Palau district legislature. "People literally have not had an opportunity to rebuild from the war," he said in an interview.

The claims commission's awards reflected the values of the still-primitive islands: a 55-cent banana tree; a coconut palm was valued at $4; a sailing canoe was worth $50; payment for the death of a 21-year-old was set at $5,000, 10 times the award for the loss of a child.

Dominican Chief Faces Stiff Election Challenge

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) - President Joaquin Balaguer, seeking his fourth term at 70, faced a tough challenge today from the Dominican Revolutionary Party ousted in 1963. Political observers who called Balaguer a sure winner a few months ago now say the election is "a horse race" between him and PRD candidate Antonio Guzman, a 67-year-old businessman.

The PRD has won support in the business community and is considered a sure winner in Santa Domingo, which has a fourth of the 2.2 million registered voters. Balaguer's sister Ema is running for mayor on the party's ticket.

A new congress also is being elected and there was speculation the PRD would win control of it even if it lost the

BY THE same token, a one-day national direct primary probably could have been won only by a contender already well known and financed, adds Ranney, former professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Probably no formal constitutional amendment would be required to bring about any of the changes sought by supporters, e.g., restricting the dates for state primaries, instituting compulsory state primaries and conducting a one-day direct primary throughout the nation upon completion of which the candidate with the majority of popular votes would be his party's nominee.

"But if made," writes Ranney, resident nees.

JIMMY CARTER would be just another scholar for the nonpartisan American Enterprise Institute, "they would surely constitute as great an alteration in our party system and in our way of choosing our President as the change made in the early 1800s-also without formal amendments-when the rise of political parties converted the electoral college into an instrument for popular election of the President."

> MOST AMERICANS surely would agree that we should not lightly make the change to federalized primaries.

"I believe," concludes Ranney, should not make it at all."

The main objection to federalized presidential primaries is that they would further weaken the political parties, which are already ailing. Dismantling them even further by a universal federalized primary would be a cost far greater than any benefit such a primary could possibly bring.

Torpedoing the system no doubt helps to improve the appeal and salability of presidential nominating politics as a spectator sport. But it is hardly conducive to the negotiations, bargaining and compromises on which strong political parties rely for choosing-and uniting behind-their nomi-

'No Sense' In SS Tax Rollback

WASHINGTON-There will be no congressional rollback of social security taxes this year, according to a private report given the White House by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee and the major obstacle to the rollback campaign now being pushed in the House.

In a White House meeting on taxes, Long notified President Carter that he now has the votes in the Senate to block any rollback even if the House should approve a partial cancellation of scheduled increases in social security taxes as now indicated.

To offset the impact of the higher social security taxes, the veteran senator encouraged the President to continue his all-out backing for at least $24 billion in personal income and business tax reductions. He also wants the President to support an extension of the so-called negative income tax principle.

LONG WAS RESPONSIBLE for passage of the earned-income tax credit, which is regarded by tax experts here as the first step in the introduction of the negative income tax principle into the federal tax structure.

The measure gives people with low income a tax credit equal to 10 percent of their earnings up to an income maximum of $4,000. If a worker owes no federal taxes on his earnings, he receives his earned-income tax credit in cash up to $400. By doubling this earned-income tax credit, the President was told this would offset the social security tax rise for most low income taxpayers and help keep the economy moving forward and unemployment coming down.

While the President made no commitment to Long, he said Treasury officials would be directed to study the impact that an extension of the negative income tax principle would have on the

ON THE QUESTION of over-all tax reduction, the President said he agreed with Long that a $24 billion reduction was the best way to help middle-income taxpayers and business to offset the higher social security taxes.

Despite efforts in the House to limit the tax reduction to about $9 billion, the President agreed not to scale down his tax reduction proposal.

In discussing strategy to head off the social security tax rollback, Long said he believed the. American people want to keep the social security, system on a sound basis and will accept the higher taxes since benefits also will be increasing.

Long stressed that it makes more "political sense" to reduce personal income taxes to offset the rise of social security taxes than to "abandon the insurance principle which has won social security such widespread popular support." "It would be politically risky to destroy the belief that people pay for their own retirement benefits," Long told the President. "If that happens, it could send shock waves throughout the whole tax system and the economy."

AS FOR HIS PROPOSED tax reform propos als, the President was frankly told that they didn't have a chance of passing this year. Long pointed out that the House Wavs and Means Committee already has cut back the administration's proposals for eliminating tax credits for state and local sales taxes, medical and casualty expenses and miscellaneous other tax credits.

The Senate will never go along with the elimination of these tax credits in an election year," Long stated. "These benefits go to middle income taxpayers, most of whom vote in congressional elections.

Note. From $17,700 this year, the level of wages on which workers and employers are taxed would climb in steps to $29,700 in 1981.

The Office of Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is asking for an additional 898 "full-time permanent" staffers—an 80 percent increase in manpower-to wipe out what its officials describe as "a long backlog of discrimination complaints filed by minorities".

THE OFFICE OF Education, another HEW agency, is stepping up its attack on discrimina-tion against blacks and women. It proposes to spend $120 million on an "institutional assistance" program it defines as follows:

"Funds are requested for this program which consists of basic and advanced institutional development components.

This program provides assistance to strengthen academic, administrative and student service programs in schools with high percentages of minority students and students from low-income families, so that these institutions might enter the mainstream of academic life."

The Office of Education, which has no match when it comes to spending money, wants $9 million for "women's education equity" program.

This money, we are told, will be used to support activities to stimulate institutional change and to otherwise promote educational equity for women at all levels of education through the improvement and expansion of innovative ONE MAN'S OPINION-

"Gotta keep up with inflation," they explain, noting that homes in that quadrant of the city haven't been reappraised since 1973 and 1974.

Inflation has, indeed, increased the dollar value -although not the real value-of both business and residential real estate since then, although 50 percent sounds more than a bit too much.

And the four-year cycle for revaluations of residential properties, however controversial, is legally sound and operationally sensible.

But, with regard to the schools, those increased costs have been more than offset by generous new state appropriations. And, with regard to the City, the lucrative sales tax has ridden up right along with inflation, automatically dumping huge new amounts of money into the treasury.

As property valuations go up due to inflation: then, it behooves both the City Council and the School Board to cut the tax rate correspondingly. Rather than let the administrators spend all that additional revenue, how about giving the taxpayers a break and let them keep it in the form of a tax cut?

Pension 'Integration'

ED SMITH, THE 52-year-old president of a modest Chevrolet dealership in upstate New York, recently wrote members of Congress saying that he would be forced to terminate his 14person pension plan if a provision in President Carter's already badly battered and bent tax "reform" package becomes law. Under the proposal, the way many private pension plans-especially small ones with fewer than 26 employes—now operate would be drastically revised to affect the size of the pension check (if any) many of you will receive at retirement. As of today, if the business for which you work has a private pension plan, it may "integrate" it. meaning it may count part of your Social Security benefit when figuring how much you will get from your private plan.

UNDER SMITH'S Chevrolet plan, for instance, covered workers retire with benefits equal to 40 per cent of their final average salaries minus or 'offset" by slightly more than 66 per cent of the primary amount each gets in SS benefits.

A mechanic earning $8,000 a year who retires today with a right to a pension could expect benefits totaling roughly $515 a year. When combined with his SS benefit of $4,028 at present rates, his retirement income would equal about 57 per cent of his pre-retirement earnings.

A sales manager, though, earning $25,000 a year would retire with a total package less in percentage terms (47 per cent of his salary) but $7,000 more in dollars than the mechanic's package.

THE REASONING behind "integration" is that all individuals, regardless of pay level, need roughly the same percentage of pay at retirement to avoid "financial stress," and that combining public and private benefits helps correct the SS system's "bias" in favor of the lower paid.

Carter's tax experts argue that 57 per cent of the mechanic's $8,000 salary or $4,543 a year is not enough for him to live on and that tax subsidies are given to private plans to help provide lower-paid employes with a pension to supple-

Under the Carter plan, Smith could still integrate his plan, but he would have to provide more in pension benefits to lower-paid workers.

If he wanted to keep his pension maintenance cost unchanged, he'd have to cut the benefits of higher-paid workers. Smith also fears that changing the plan would add to fees paid to his ac-

The concentration of adverse testimony, however, seems to have convinced Congress that this proposal, like so many others in the tax package?

is at best ill conceived, and possibly a disaster. Yet, even more dismaying is that Congress is not hearing from employes whose retirement income is at issue. Why?

'integration' in particular are exceptionally complex. Few employes take the time to figure out before they retire what their benefits might be. · And because employes fear they will lose

Dealing With Alcohol

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 53year-old man and have a problem that is beginning to worry me. It's bothering my family and the company I work for

You see I'm getting to be an alcoholic. Every five or six months my nerves take over and I shake and sweat something awful. It usually takes three or four days to get over it by taking Valium under a doctor's

You received a letter from a woman some months ago about her husband, who experienced loose bowel, sex life disappearing, gagging. I don't remember every detail but all these sound just like me. Would it help to talk to my company's doctor?

DEAR READER - You are way ahead of the game because you know what your problem is and want to do something about it. You need something besides Valium during acute reactions to alcoholism. You need to get to the basic reason of why you fink, and learn to stop.

To do that you should take advantage of centers to help people with alcohol problems. These exist in most communities; look in the yellow pages of your phone book under Alcoholism. Your county mental health facility often has a program fo individuals with alcohol problems and you may also get some support from Alcoholics Anonymous. The most important thing is to get started with a program now to get off alcohol and stay off alcohol.

Yes, alcohol will cause all those symptoms you mention plus affecting your personality and ability to learn. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. It will give you more information on how alcohol affects your body. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-address envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My problem is severe leg cramps but only at night. I get up eight to 10 times per night; they are so severe that my feet turn and toes are pulled under so I can barely pull them straight. I have taken Benadryl for 10 months during which I had no cramps. Now they are starting all over again. I am a 69-year-old woman and don't know what else to do. The medication from my two doctors is useless. Please tell how I can get relief as I get very little sleep

DEAR READER - First let me say that anyone who has leg cramps should have a careful medical examination. There are some serious causes for leg cramps that often can only be detected by a good physical examination, including examination of the circulation to the legs.

Many leg cramps - particularly when they occur only at night - are not the result of poor circulation, but you can only tell as a result of an examination.

If Benadryl does give you relief there is no reason why you shouldn't take it. The other thing I would recommend is to wear thick warm wool socks to bed. Many of my readers have educated me about the advisability of keeping the feet warm to avoid leg cramps. Use good long ones, and keep the whole body adequately warmed

While I have commented many times on the useless nature of vitamin E for heart disease it sometimes does help in eliminating leg cramps, so that might be a thought. But do try the warm heavy socks.

Cuba Allowed Within Limit

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Relations between the United States and Cuba may not be warming up on most issues, but Cuba is the only country permitted to fish within the U.S. 200-mile fishing limit for sharks.

The State Department announced last week that Cuba has been given permission to take up to 1,000 tons of sharks a year in the Gulf of Mexico and off the Atlantic Coast.

Cuba is the only country in the world to fish for sharks within the new U.S. 200mile fishing zone. n

"The Cubans are planning to fish for smaller sharks rather than the big, game fish-size shark. They use it for food," said Susan Jelley of the State Department's Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs.

Phobias May Be Hereditary

BALTIMORE (UPI) - People who fear riding in elevators or driving, panic when crossing a bridge or can't face going through a tunnel may have inherited their anxious states, according to a Johns Hopkins University professor.

Dr. Rudolf Hoehn-Saric, an associate professor of psychiatry at Hopkins' medical school, said there is evidence in animals that a tendency to be anxious might be hereditary and he thinks it might also be the case in humans.

A tendency to react to situations with anxiety just runs in families," he said in an interview. "However, early childhood development can increase or decrease such ter.Jencies.

Hoehn-Saric said how the anxious state shows up later on in life depends on a large variety of factors. But he said a tendency to become anxious could develop into a phobia.n

A mother could become anxious while riding in an elevator and her child could produce a similar reaction to animals or when he's left alone

"Hello?" "Hi, it's me." "Marge! I was just thinking of calling you!" "That's funny, I was just thinking of calling you. How are you?" "How are you?" "Is there an echo in here? I called you first, you tell me." "Ha. Ha. I'm fine. That is, I think I'm fine." "What do you mean, you think you're fine?" "Well, it's a long story."
"Tell it. Your stories are always a riot." "Well... at 9:30 this morning, our seventy-two-year-old neighbor, Mr. Phillips, brought over his new deluxe vacuum cleaner." "What?!" "He wanted to demonstrate it, he said, so he emptied it all over my living room floor. Then he proceeds to vacuum not only the living room floor, but also the furniture and the walls, using about three hundred different attachments." "How nice." "Well, you see, he only did half of everything. And since I don't clean as often as I should, everything was half clean. Now the story gets better! "I hope so." "You see, his vacuum cleaner has a special air fre feature. You put it in reverse, fill it up with air freshener and let it rip." "Hmmm" "The only problem was, he had forgotten to empty the bag. So he hits the switch and the entire living room was immediately filled with this black, dirty cloud of dust. Not to mention the smell of perfumed air freshener! I mean, I think the man has lost his mind... He says, 'This vacuum cleaner can handle anything!' and then takes off vacuuming everything in sight! Now in the middle of all this, who should arrive but Jack, coming home for lunch! And what does he do? He goes into the closet and pulls out our vacuum cleaner, and the two of them begin comparing features!" "I don't believe it." Then he challenges Mr. Phillips to a race to see who can vacuum up the mess first. And whoever wins gets the other guy's vacuum deaner!" "Who won?" "Well, let me put it this way. Mr. Phillips has two vacuum cleaners. We have none." "Ha. Ha. Ha." "It's not furnry!" "Yes it is." "Here's the culprit now. Jack, do you want to talk to Fred? He says no. Put Fred on." "Hello? Jack are you there? Jack? Yoo hoo, Jack???" "Yes, I'm here." "Marge tells me you gambled away the family vacuum cleaner." "Yeah, well it was close. I'm challenging the winner to a weight lifting contest tomorrow," "Who's the winner?" "Our neighbor. He's seventy-two years old. I'll tell you, Fred. I don't get any respect anymore." "Now where have I heard that?" "Suzie asked me to take out the garbage last night and I told her I'd already taken out the garbage, and you know what she says? 'Well, then go out and keep an eye on it. "Funny." "Yeah, I bought Jimmy a bat for his birthday and the first day he plays with it he lets it go." "No respect." "No respect at all. I'll tell you we're sending." "Funny." "Yeah, I bought Jimmy a bat for his birthday and the first day he plays with it he lets it go." "No respect." "No respect at all. I'll tell you we're sending Alice to a private school now, you know." "Yes, I know." "It's so private, she won't even tell us where it is." "Ha. Ha. Ha." "Well, now I've lost the family vacuum, cleaner and run out of old jokes, you tell me what's new with you." "Well, not one whole heck of a lot." "Then why are we talking?" "One interesting thing did happen down at the plant." "Are you going to tell me about it, or is this some kind of a test?" "Last week one of the workers asked me if he could take some sawdust home." "Was he going to open a bar, or what?" "So I say sure..." "Maybe he had a new vacuum cleaner he wanted to test..." "...take all the sawdust you want..." "Or make sawdust pancakes..." "Are you listening?" "Yeah. I'm listening." "So I say, Sure, take all the sawdust you want." "You already said that." sawdust home." Was he going to open a bar, or what?" "So I say sure..." "To use aready said that." "And I fill out a form authorizing him to remove the sawdust in a wheelbarrow past the security gud." That was a dull story," "I'm not finished yet." "Weil, hurry up". "So every day for a week this guy takes a wheelbarrow of sawdust out to his car." "Hurry up". "Until yesterday, ore of his fellow workers came up to him and said. "Hey, what's this with all the sawdust." Are you stealing it or what? and the guy looks at him and says "Heck, no I couldn't care less about this stupid sawdust. I'm stealing wheelbarrows." "Now that's furny," "I thought you'd like it." "Great gag." "You know, I have a neighbor like yours. He's an old guy, very lazy. Every day he sits out on his front porth noticing away watching the care go by. And yesterday I was talking to him and I asked him in he ever gut bored—just sitting there." "Yeah? So what?" "And he said," No. I never get bored. Because I have a hobby. I said, "Hobby! You couldn't have a hobby. All you do is sit here all day. What's your hobby?" Bees he said. Takes bees. Well, I couldn't helieve the I said, "Where is the beehive?" He never seen any beehive around here. And he said, "I keep my bees inside?" Isaid, Let me see them! So the old man took me inside and I said. Okay, where are your bees? And he said, "They in in the bedroom. So we went into the bedroom and still no bees. So I said, "Where are the bees?" And he said, "I keep them in the doset." You keep your bees in the closet? I said. And he said, "Yeah, I keep them in a jar in the closet." But if you keep them in a jar, they'll die." And he turned to me and said. "Hey, when are you people.coming back here to visit us?" "Never." "You old surp puss." "You read to go the puss." "You old surp you shad the puss." "I have your garden thes you remember her —" "Yes." "And I waved and said, 'Hi, Sally! How's your handsome husband these days?' And she gave me this strange look and said, You should know, you're holding hands with him." "You know, I did almost the same thing one time." "You did?" "Yeah, Fred and I were given two tickets to a show, but we couldn't use them because we were going out for dinner that night. So thinking fast, I phoned these people down the street and said, 'We have been given two tickets for the show tonight, but we can't use them because of an unfortunate dinner engagement, would you like to have them?' And the gal says, 'Fine, we'd love to go, but we happen to be your unfortunate hosts!" "You're kidding." "Bad, eh?" "That's bad." "Well listen, kiddo, take care of yourself and please try to keep that husband of yours out of trouble." "You, too." "And make him buy you a new vacuum cleaner." "You better believe it. You take care, too. And I hope we'll see you guys sometime." "I hope you'll see us, too." "We had a fabulous time at your house last time we came out." "Well, you're invited any time." "No, you're invited here." "Okay, take it easy. We sure miss you." "We miss you, too." "Bye." "Bye."

Filibuster Expected In Labor Law Dispute

By DAVID ESPO
WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO calls it labor law reform. Businessmen

One side says it will protect workers' rights. The other says it will mean "push-button" unionism.

This is the big casino, at least as management and labor see it this year," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind. The big casino is 1978 legislative priority No.1 for big labor, a bill to revise the

Together, and against each other, labor and business groups have spent mil-tions of dollars on a lobbying campaign.

Next up is a good, old-fashioned Senate filibuster that begins today and is expected to last at least two weeks and may go much longer. After that, if the filibuster is shut off, hundreds of amendments may be debated, stalling a final

Already more than 250 amendments have been filed, an extraordinarily large

Millions of postcards and letters have been mailed by both sides as part of the lobbying campaign - more mail than on the Panama Canal treaties.

Lobbyists by the thousands have visited Capitol Hill. "After the first round, they all sound alike, so he just sits there and nods his head politely," one aide

The bill sets timetables for union representation elections and gives workers fired illegally during union organizing drives 11/2 times back pay

It is backed by the Carter administration as well as organized labor, which set up a special task force to secure passage. But the measure is bitterly opposed by many of the Senate's Republicans and the nation's business groups, who set up a National Action Committee on Labor Law Reform to fight it.

Many of the opponents, including Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah, are first-term Republicans, although Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., is backing

Lugar, a first-term senator, announced last week that opponents have organized three teams to sustain the debate. "We are prepared to debate indefinite-

Backers are prepared to wait "forever" to pass the bill, Labor Secretary Ray That leaves Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., in the middle. He told reporters he believes cloture is "achievable The question is when.

Backers say they have Byrd's promise that he will keep the Senate working on the bill until the filibuster is broken, no matter how long it takes.

Opponents say they can't imagine Byrd allowing the Senate to be tied up for months. "I think it's unfortunate the bill is being scheduled. I think in his heart of hearts, the majority leader thinks this," Lugar said. Byrd's patience is important, since administration and labor lobbyists concede they are not likely to choke off a filibuster on their first, second or possibly even third try. It takes 60 votes to close out a filibuster. 'We have the votes at some point," Victor Kamber of the AFL-CIO said Monday. "There are over 60 senators who have said they will not support a filibuster

"It's very close. We're encouraged by our latest Senate intelligence and think we have a decent shot at stopping the bill with a filibuster. But I'm not making any flat prediction," said John Tysse of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

The measure sets deadlines for union representation elections and calls for 11/2 times back pay for workers dismissed illegally during union organizing drives. It requires businessmen to pay workers for wages lost during illegal bargaining delays and gives union organizers access to workers on company time and in the company workplace if the boss has done the same thing.

It permits the government to bar a company from federal contract work if it is found guilty of violating the labor laws repeatedly.

It also expands the National Labor Relations Board from five to seven members to expedite handling of cases.

Opponents claim the measure, watered down since the House passed it last year, will be ruinous to the nation's small businessmen, confronted with wellfinanced union organizational campaigns.

National Labor Relations Board statistics show that organized labor is trying hard to organize small businesses. More than half of the union represenation elections the NLRB oversaw last year involved 29 workers or fewer.

Backers say the legislation is a "simple" bill, designed to protect workers from the actions of unprincipled, but wealthy businesses who can ignore the law and avoid the legal consequences for years. Their favorite example is J.P. Stevens, a textile manufacturer with over a dozen plants in the South that has been found guilty of violating the labor laws.

New Budget To Face Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Senate-passed tentative budget of nearly one-half trillion dollars faces attack in the House from liberals who want to cut defense spending and conservatives, who want to cut everything else.

The compromise $498.8-billion budget passed the Senate with ease Monday night, by voice vote.

But because the original version of the budget cleared the House last week with only three votes to spare, leaders fear the compromise might be scuttled on the final vote, which is expected on Wednes-

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, called the compromise "a signal to the American people, American business and the world community that ... we are serious about controlling inflation."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, I-Va., who voted against the compromise, said, "The American people are going to suffer very dearly from the inflation caused by this

The budget for fiscal 1979, the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1, anticipates a deficit of $50.9 billion. Mainly because President Carter agreed with congressional leaders last week to scale back his proposed tax cut in an effort to reduce inflation, the deficit is considerably below the $60 billion that was projected in Carter's budget

The compromise would allow a tax cut of $19.4 billion during the calendar year. But during the fiscal year, the value of the reduction would be only $15 billion, compared with the $25 billion originally proposed by Carter.

The budget makes no recommendation on whether the entire $19.4 billion should be used to cut income taxes, or whether some of it might go to reduce Social Security taxes.

The budget-writing committees left it to Congress to decide whether a tax credit or an expanded federal college grant is the preferred way of extending education assistance to middle-income families.

The preliminary budget will serve as a guide for congressional commmittees as they consider spending and taxing bills during the next 41/2 months. Starting Oct. 1, the final figures will become binding. and spending will not be allowed to rise higher nor taxes to fall lower than outlined in the budget.

Since Congress approved the new budget-making process four years ago, House leaders always have had problems winning a majority vote on any budget.

The issues generally are the same as this year: Liberals want to cut defense spending and allow more money for social programs; conservatives advocate broad cuts in federal spending - except for defense - to allow Americans to keep a greater share of their earnings.

The conference committee that wrote the compromise budget reduced Carter's spending plans by about $600 million

The measure would require that the House and Senate approve the transportation secretary's final recommendations before they go into operation. The recmmendations are due by next Dec. 31.

The House bill would give Amtrak $613 million in subsidies for the next fiscal year compared to the present $510 mil-iion. The measure also provides for $130

Miss Hearst, 24, was described as "extremely depressed" at the prospect of returning to prison. Her parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, issued a statement saying they were "devastated." They also assailed what they called the court's lack of leniency. Alluding to their daughter's 1974 kidnapping by members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, the Hearsts said: "She started out a victim because her name is Hearst and it appears to us that she is ending up a victim because her name is Hearst.

U.S. District Judge William Orrick Jr., who passed sentence on Miss Hearst, had agreed in November 1976 to release her on $1 million bail pending appeal. On March 24, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the conviction. Orrick, in an order signed April 26 but kept secret until Monday, refused to reduce sentence. On May 1, Miss Hearst signed a voluntary surrender statement pledging to turn herself in "by 4 p.m., PDT, on May 15." Shortly after a picnic lunch at the family home in Hillsborough, 30 miles away.

Illinois Decides Weddings Legal

CHICAGO (UPI) - Some 200 couples who were married illegally under Illinois law can relax - they won't have to tie the knot again

Cook County Clerk Stanley Kusper Jr. said Monday the state's attorney's office ruled the marriages "valid, legal and totally binding" even though they were performed without the three-day waiting period required by the new state law.

He said his office has received about 1,-250 calls from people asking whether they were properly married.

Kusper said new legislation is needed to curb the activities of so-called "Marryin' Sams" - ministers who frequent the County Building offering to perform marriages on the spot for a fee. He said the "Marryin' Sams" have not fulfilled their legal obligation to inform couples of the required 72-hour wait and were responsible for "a substantial portion" of the 200 questionable weddings.

Air Force Orders New Space Watch System the Air Force late Monday to TRW Inc.,

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Air Force has ordered production of an advanced "nightwatch" system that uses sophisticated telescopes and television cameras to detect and track satellites orbiting thousands of miles out in space against a background of stars.

The new system will be designed to overcome limitations of a nearly 20-yearold space surveillance network consisting mostly of radar sensors. Dr. William Perry, the Pentagon's research chief, has told Congress the present network has limited capability to detect objects "above 3,000 nautical miles altitude and has gaps in the coverage below this altitude. The five stations in the new system will pay $21.4 million more and Ohio $16.4

The proposed changes are in the gov ernment's entitlements program, which is designed to help ease the price disparities created by federal oil pricing regulations. States' Legislatures Have Direct Impact

By United Press International

The House and Senate in Washington get all the national attention, but the state legislature has the most direct impact on your life.

This spring, legislatures around the country dealt with a wide variety of bills involving day-to-day life: whether you can light up after a meal in a restaurant, whether you can buy a drink at a bar. who wears the pants in the family - even whether you can live in the state.

The Hawaii Legislature, for instance, passed two packages aimed at limiting the number of people moving to the island state - and thus limiting its relief bill - by tightening residency requirements for newcomers and giving public job preference to residents.

In Kansas, the Legislature has approved a measure of dubious constitutionality that would allow restaurant customers to buy drinks at a bar or restaurant, subject to local voter approval. It is now illegal in Kansas, but restaurants if they become "clubs" - may provide mixers and dispense alcohol from customers' bottles.

Effective July 9, Kansas diners can drink at a restaurant from aperitif to brandy, unless the state Supreme Court rules the law unconstitutional. The law may not pass the test; even backers admit it is full of technical holes. The New Jersey Legislature is considering whether to overrule an ordinance of the state Health Council banning smoking in virtually all public places in the state - including restaurants and future gambling casinos.

Several legislatures dealt with the irrepressible issue of Laetrile, the purported cancer cure. The legislatures in Maryland, Rhode Island and Idaho passed measures permitting doctors, under various restrictions, to treat their patients with the drug, and Kansas' lawmakers may do the same when the issue comes up next session.

Child abuse in general and child pornography and prostitution in particular are being met by new laws setting special and severe penalties for adults involved.

Utah's Legislature set up a statewide child abuse reporting network that would crack down on everything from brutal parents to child sexploiters. Hawaii and 'Rhode Island set prison sentences of up to 10 years for promoting child sex, and Indiana upgraded from a misdemeanor to a felony the recruiting of child prosti-

Drug abuse is still a growing regional issue. The Michigan Legislature passed a measure in 1972 reducing majority across the board from age 21 to 18, including buying and drinking alcohol. But it turned out that 18-year-old high school kids became booze brokers for younger schoolmates, so the Legislature upped minority to include 18-year-olds for

Marijuana was also the subject of some legislative action this spring. The Delaware Legislature is considering legalizing pot for medicinal purposes - such as treating glaucoma - and Nebraska's lawmakers made posession of small amounts of grass similar to a traffic violation.

As always, crime was an issue in more than a few legislatures, and the focus was more often than not on capctal punishment: The Maryland Legislature reinstated the death penalty and Kansas' Legislature is considering the same; Nebraska's lawmakers killed a bill to repeal its newly reinstated death penalty, but asked the state Supreme Court to study how to improve uniformity in murder sentences.

New York's voted to revive capital punishment, but Gov. Hugh Carey, bucking opinion polls even in an election year, vetoed the bill and the Senate decided it lacked the votes to override. Hawaii's Legislature voted down a bill to reinstate the death penalty

In Idaho, the Legislature made it the third state to adopt lethal injection instead of hanging for executions over the objections of one lawmaker, who said the new method is a poor deterrent because it is merely a "slap on the wrist."

The environment is also an issue in a number of state capitols. New Mexico's Legislature voted that it is too soon for a statewide referendum on a proposed federal nuclear waste disposal site at Carlsbad, and Michigan's lawmakers passed a measure that would keep the federal government from forcing the state to accept a similar site.

The Michigan lawmakers acted even after the state was removed from consideration, but voted anyway in case Michigan is reconsidered.

Coloradans - especially those in Denver, which now sits under an ominous brown cloud - are sick of waiting for Washington to do something about auto emissions, so their Legislature passed a tough measure to help clear Denver's air without the help of the federal govern-

Abortion, too, was prominent on legislative calendars. Utah's Legislature voted down two bills that would have virtually stopped all abortions in the state. The measures would have restricted private abortion clinics out of business and banned abortions at any hospital receiving state funds.

Illinois Congressman Decides To Bow Out Of Social Scene

WASHINGTON (AP) - Enough is enough, says Rep. Paul Simon. He's bowing out, not from Congress, but from the Washington cocktail-dinner party circuit. Family Affair

For the best congressional example of things coming full circle, there's the Georgia congressional seat once held by Rep. Charles Weltner.

Discrepancies Found In Nepotism Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Republicans recently provided a classic in the category of the political pot finding fault with the patronage kettle. GOP national chairman Bill Brock issued a list of eight husband and wife leams earning $100,000 or more working in government and political jobs. This, proclaimed Brock, was evidence of "an unbelievable excess of nepotism in the Carter administration with financial rewards that should outrage the nation's taxpayers. What set off Brock was the announcement that Evan Dobelle was resigning as chief of protocol and his $50,000 job was going to his wife, Kit. Dobelle moved to the Democratic National Committee as treasurer, also at $50,000 a year. Although noting that Dobelle's pay comes from the party, not the taxpayers, the GOP added his salary into the $815,-000 total. That might seem to be a nitpicking criticism of Republican accounting, but there is more. Among the eight couples listed by the GOP are Ellsworth Bunker and Carol Laise. Bunker is a $57,500 diplomat; his wife the $47,500 director general of the foreign service. Both certainly are working in the Carter administration, but it takes some imagination to fit them with the label of Carter "political cronies" Brock used to describe "most" of the eight couples. Bunker has been a top level diplomat under every president since Harry Truman, and his wife has been a career foreign service officer for 30 years

However, the list does include some couples, such as Dr. Peter Bourne of the White House staff and Mary King of AC-TION, who were Carter political associates and probably owe their present positions to that relationship.

But again, more needs be said. It was, after all, only two years ago that Carla Hills was the secretary of Housing and Urban Development and Roderick Hills was chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. A short time before that, although not employed at the same time, William D. Ruckelshaus held a series of federal posts, including FBI director, and his wife Jill was on the White House staff.

And, in the not so dim past, John Foster Dulles was secretary of state, his brother Allen Dulles was director of the CIA and their sister Eleanor was a high level State Department official.

The foregoing three examples, whether of nepotism or of capable people holding federal jobs, occurred during the Ford, Nixon and Eisenhower administrations.

Finally, on the subject of "financial rewards that should outrage the taxpayers," the Republicans may be right about public reaction. But perhaps it should be pointed out that the salary mechanism which boosted top level federal pay into the $50,000 plus level has been in force for 11 years, during which time two Republicans occupied the White House without developing hives over the federal pay system. There is little doubt that some people are pulling down big salaries in Washington as a result of their political association with Jimmy Carter. But when the Republicans are the folks who piously point this out, the clear image of the pot and the kettle cannot be ignored.

President Eyes Hike In Wheat

Carter says he will use the provisions of an emergency farm bill he signed into law Monday to boost the target price on 1978 wheat to $3.40 a bushel, an increase

Carter's action, designed to compenate growers for extra costs involved in idling cropland as a price-boosting measure, could mean $600 million more in income supplements for wheat growers

this season Food prices should not be affected by the federal payments because they supplement what growers receive in the marketplace for their crops. The previous wheat target price was $3 a bushel. When average market prices for a specified period fall below the target. subsidy payments are made to bridge the

The new four-year program will help meet our goal of food and agricultural policies which are fair and equitable for farmers and will maintain our ability to compete effectively in world markets.

Carter said With Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland in Europe, acting secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said the 1978 loan rate for cotton was raised promptly, as authorized in the bill, to 48 cents a pound from 44 cents. This could increase loans upport, but will not bring the minimum Price Rise For Bacon Not Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A new federal order to reduce cancer-causing substances in bacon is vital for health and will not force higher prices for consumers, a top Agriculture Department official says. Carol Foreman, assistant secretary for food and consumer services, said Monday that bacon in grocery stores "is a hazard to health and that's why we're acting" to force a two-stage reduction of sodium nitrites. The first step goes into effect in Sodium nitrites have been used for centuries to prevent botulism and flavor bacon, but they form cancer-causing nitrosamines when bacon is fried. Nitrosummes have caused cancer in laboratory animals, but not in humans, Mrs. Foreman

She said the first step would involve a reduction from 200 to 120 parts per milsaid at a news conference.

Asked if it would cause higher prices, she replied, "We don't believe this action will have any substantial economic impact because the industry tells us they are already manufacturing bacon at 120 parts per million. The second stage involves an even greater reduction - to 40 ppm, to go into

But she said she also believes that would not bring higher prices because there is plenty of time to make the adjustment and "the use of 40 ppm does not involve substantially greater sophistication in manufacturing methods.

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute, which proposed the reduction from 200 ppm to 120 ppm, said the industry will go along reluctantly with the second proposed reduction. He said seminars will be held around the nation to help in the first-stage switchover of approximately 10 percent of 600 bacon manufacturers who have not yet reduced sodium nitrite use.

The initial reduction of sodium nitrites will reduce nitrosamines in fried bacon to 10 parts per billion and next year's cutback will reduce nitrosamines to a miniscule level of 5 ppb. which is barely detectable with current scientific methods.

Mrs. Foreman, who was a consumer activist before she was appointed to her present job, said the government should have resolved the problem earlier.

interfere with U.S. exports," she said.

But Carter called the cotton provision 'an undesirable feature of this bill" that might "create problems in future years." He said he will propose legislation to eliminate the higher loan rate.

The president thanked Congress for rejecting a more costly bill advocated by farmers who have staged demonstrations here and around the country. He urged enactment of a revised crop insurance plan and establishment of a national emergency wheat reserve of up to 200 million bushels.

Wheat farmers were receiving an average of $2.83 a bushel in April for their 1977 crop. The Agriculture Department estimates it will cost them between $2.97 and $3.87 a bushel to produce a full crop this year. Cotton farmers were receiving an average of 50.7 cents a pound for upland cotton last month. Their 1978 target, as opposed to the loan rate, remains at 52 cents. The government estimates if will take between 55.7 cents and 70.6 cents a pound for an efficient farmer to grow it statute Carter signed last Sept. 29.

Lubbock cofton market.

Supplies of cotton for sale were heavy and demand was moderate. High Plains growers sold mixed lots at 800 to 1,200 points over loan rates.

The Lubbock Cotton Exchange's upor quotations closed steady at 53 60 for the base price of grade 41, staple 34, micronaire 3,5-4.9. This was up 30 points from a week earlier. Grain Futures CHICAGO (AP) - Weekend rains and cool temperatures further delayed corn planting in the Midwest, stimulating a LUBBOCK SPOT COTTON

Readings

Quotations are the approximate prices reported to the Agricultural Marketing Service for qualifies equal to the U.S. Official Grade and Staple Standards. Prices are for micronaire (mike) readings of 3 5 through 4.9, in mixed lots, uncompressed, free of all charges in the warehouse in the market.

Price trend: Steady On Monday

SL. surge in those futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday. Wheat futures also were sharply higher, as the strength in corn spilled into that pit. Analysts said problems with soft winter wheat crops, only considered in fair condition, were aggravated by continued wetness. Although the National Weather Service predicted improved weather this week, it noted that several warm, dry days were needed to allow planting to progress

USDA Boss Sees Soviet Grain Crop

MOSCOW (AP) - U.S. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said today he had a much better idea of Soviet wheat producing capability at the end of a week-long visit that took him to two important grain growing areas "I know what they can do and can't do and the problems they face, particularly weather." Bergland told reporters at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport before leaving for Oslo to represent the United States at Norwegian constitutional day celebrations Wednesday.

Later in the week Bergland and his party go to Poland. Hungary and Romania. Bergland said one area he concentrated on in his talks with Soviet officials included exchanges of scientific information: The Soviets reportedly have been slow to comply fully with the provisions of the 1973 U.S. Soviet accord on sharing information about crop sizes. It was designed to prevent serious dislocations in Ameri-. can agricultural markets caused by Soviet purchases In 1977, despite on site visits, reports from agriculture specialists at the U.S. embassy in Moscow and data from satellites, the U.S. Agriculture Department and Central Intelligence Agency miscalculated the actual harvest by 20 million As a result of his trips to the graingrowing Ukraine and the Virgin lands in Kazakhstan. Bergland indicated he would be better able to judge whether the Soviets can reach their goal of 220 million Bergland said his talks convinced him there was "a whole new frontier" where the two nations could cooperate in sharing information on computerized weather forecasting, development of new strains of grain and water management. Bergland said no changes were discussed in the agreement that commits the Soviets to buy a minimum of 6 million tons of U.S. grain annually and up to 8 million if it chooses without consulta-

The United States last fall gave Russia clearance to buy up to 15 million tons this year and so far the Soviets have purchased 12.7 million tons Although Bergland would not say so.

U.S. officials expect the Russians to take the full amount

Bergland, a former Minnesota farmer: said the Soviets displayed a cooperative attitude in discussions on an international grain agreement that would regulate supply in consumer countries while providing a reasonable price for farmers. He said both sides agreed that such a step would be in the interests of everyone and added the Soviets and the United States would continue discussing the isue in Geneva.

Just one Great Lakes freighter can transport over one million bushels of grain, the equivalent of the harvest of 50,-000 acres of prairie farmland.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Local Robbery Case

By FRANK PATRICK)

Avalanche-Journal Staff
John Henry Childress Jr. today struck out in his effort to convince a jury he had nothing to do with an assault and robbery of an elderly man which left the victim with a fractured skull.

It took the jury in Judge Denvil Bevers' 72nd District Court about 45 minutes to convict Childress of aggravated robbery after an emotional final argument by: Asst. Dist. Atty. Cindy Miller, who termed the crime an "outrage." The six-man, six-woman jury which found Childress guilty was scheduled to assess punishment later today

The defendant, 18, of 1504 E. 14th St. was accused of robbing George V. Dirickson, now 70, Dec. 14, 1976. According to testimony, Dirickson was beaten on the head with a baseball bat during the brutal heist.

and was hospitalized about two weeks in

He said a bank bag containing $160 was in a desk drawer of the office. He also testified that personal items, including a watch, billfold and pocketknife, were taken from him.

The key piece of evidence in the trial was a statement signed by the defendant the day after the robbery in which he indicated he was one of the four men present when the elderly victim was attacked.

Childress indicated in the statement given police that he and three other men were discussing money "and someone said something about robbing an old man at the car lot down the street.

She said it was obvious the four men had intended to "muscle" Dirickson whether or not a bat was handy. TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Dow Jones Up 7.45 At 854.21

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market staged another broad advance in heavy trading today, benefiting from strength in the dollar against leading foreign currencies. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which climbed 6.06 points Monday to a seven-month at 854.21 by noontime today. Gainers outpaced losers by close to a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The dollar continued to gain ground in foreign-exchange trading today, encouraging interest among overseas investors in U.S. stocks. Analysts said a Treasury Department official's forecast Monday of a gradual narrowing of the U.S. trade deficit over the next few years helped both the dollar and the stock market.

They also pointed out that the Dow Jones industrial average's move to a new high since last October at Monday's close had attracted additional buvers. Merrill Lynch rose 34 to 21 in trading that included a 399,900share block at that price. Merrill Lynch and other brokerage-house issues have been strong performers since the pace of stock trading accelerated to unprecedented levels last month. The NYSE's composite index rose .31 to 55.49. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .81 to 143.73: Volume on the Big Board reached 21.64 million shares by noontime. up from 14.22 million at the same point Monday.

Vote Count Announced By SDEC

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Democratic Executive Committee said today that Attorney General John Hill took the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by defeating Gov. Dolph Briscoe 932,338 to 753,305 in the May 6 primary.

Republicans also met to canvass their votes from the primary.

The SDEC count was the first complete tally of the primary since the final count of the Texas Election Bureau showed 15 counties incomplete. Other candidates' vote totals in the Democratic governor's race were: former Gov. Preston Smith, 92,088; John Allen Mayo, 20,274; and Donald R. Beagle, The SDEC said it had no final statewide count on the controversial referendum over horserace gambling because its computers were tied up meeting its legal responsibility to canvass returns for statewide office. Chairman Calvin Guest said results of the referendum as well as the straw poll on small loan interest rates would be announced later. The returns in the governor's race showed that 1.8 million Texans voted in the Democratic primary and Joe Christie. 707,738. Lieutentant Governor — Bill Hobby, 1.-070,690; James L. McNees Jr., 138,263;

Results of other contested Democratic statewide races were: U.S. Senate - Robert Krueger, 853,460

Troy Skates, 51.952; and John Hill Westbrook, 277,725. Attorney General - Mark White, 851. 030, and Price Daniel Jr., 778,899.

Treasurer — Warren G. Harding, 816, 334; Harry Ledbetter, 491,615 and C.R. Sanderson, 208:012 Agriculture Commissioner - Reagan Brown, 741.213; Joe Hubenak, 414,161;

Don G. Sewell, 256, 490. Railroad Commissioner - Mack Wallace, 815.606 and John Thomas Henderson 514,603. Railroad commissioner (unexpired term) - Jerry Sadler, 656,069; John Poerner, 408.283; Jake Johnson 213,051: and Ray Lemmon, 164,121, with a runoff June 3 between Sadler and Poerner. Supreme Court, Place 1 - Franklin Spears, 983,041; and O'Neal Bacon, 361,-

Supreme Court, Place 4 (unexpired term) - Robert Campbell, 763,692 and T.C.Chadick, 506.867.

Court of Criminal Appeals Place 2 -Sam Houston Clinton, 732,918 and Jim Vollers, 517,721.

Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 3 -W.C. Davis, 693,499 and Marvin Teague.

Group Claims Irregularities

AUSTIN (UPI) - A group of Texas horsemen today said it would seek an injunction to prevent certification of election results of the Democratic primary referendum on the parimutuel betting is-

Canvass of the May 6 primary results was scheduled for today. Widespread confusion existed in the days following the election on the accuracy of the results reported by the Texas Election Bureau," said a spokesman for the group. Supporters of the parimutuel proposal

Tech Graduate Earns Award

The first Thomas F. Wiesen award, presented to the Texas Tech University graduating senior with the highest grades in economics, was received Friday by May 1978, graduate Robert L. The award was established in honor of the late Thomas F. Wiesen, who was a faculty member of the department of economics from 1940 until 1962. Wiesen was named acting chairman of the department in 1942 and became permanent head in 1946. He returned to fulltime teaching in 1958 and retired in 1962. Jones received an engraved plaque and an honorarium of $50. The presentation was made by Richard Wiesen of Lubbock, son of the late professor Wie-

Two Musicals Open Just In Time To Beat Tony Awards' Deadline

NEW YORK (AP) - Two oddly offbeat but strangely alike musicals opened on Broadway over the weekend, possibly providing too much of a sudden muchness at the boxoffice.

"Runaways" bowed Saturday night at the Plymouth Theater. "Working" came onstage Sunday at the 46th Street play-

"Runaways" tells all about the plight, dreams and indomitable vitality of youngsters who have fled from their homes to the city streets. Based upon first-hand accounts, the show won critical raves when initially done in March at off-Broadway's, Public Theater. Now it has some fancy extra trimmings and an enlarged cast.

"Working," adapted from a best-seller by Studs Terkel, tells all about everyone who has a job, from top-level executive to migrant laborer. It originated at the Goodman Theater, Chicago, and has retained its Windy City milieu in this elaborate expansion.

Although they are totally independent productions, they are much alike in performance method, kinetic drive and visnal intensity

Ultimately, however, there are differences in spectator involvement, with a considerable edge in favor of "Runaways" and the irresistible impact of its mostly teen-age cast.

The show was conceived, composed and directed by Elizabeth Swados. The fervent score ranges from melancholy ballad to reggae exuberance. The material occasionally becomes repetitive, but then along comes a brilliant sketch or sharp satiric number. In vastly larger surroundings than before, some desirable sense of intimacy is lost, and an erratic sound system blurs some of the

Senator Says Draft Needed

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) - Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says although he strongly supported estabishment of a volunteer army, he now believes the draft should be resumed.

Goldwater told newsmen the volunteer army is not "working the way it should." He made the statement prior to ceremonies at which he was presented the Thomas D. White Award for contributions to national defense.

Goldwater, 70, also said he hoped the nation would regain "the guts" to resist military aggression anywhere. He said that as a legacy of Vietnam, "too many of our people are afraid of any involvement anyplace.

"The young people still don't feel that sense of service that their fathers and grandfathers did," he said. "I think it's coming back. We have to completely live out the mistake of Vietnam.

Goldwater, a retired Air Force major general, was the 17th recipient of the annual award, won in previous years by such persons as Edward Teller, known as the father of the hydrogen bomb; Gen. Curtis LeMay and Mississippi Sen. John Stennis viously as the composer of "Pippin" and "The Magic Show," but this time shares melodic creativity with Micki Grant, Craig Carnelia, Mary Rodgers, Michele Brourman and James Taylor.

Their combined efforts anthem the aspirations of blue-collar workers, the boredom of industrialization and the hoped-for dignity of a brighter tomorrow. Songs and sketches refer to a boggling assortment of activities.

To animate the topics, Onna White has provided some energetic though hardly unusual dances. The best of the lot is "Nightskate," wherein a professional hockey player keeps the puck flying for the good old Chicago Blackhawks.

The physical production of "Working" certainly ranks as the most complex of the season, with sliding floor panels, flying scenery, backstage projections on a half dozen panels and at least three elevators, one of which comes up out of the orchestra pit.

The settings were designed by David Mitchell, the quick-change range of chicto-proletarian garb by Marjorie Slaiman, the lighting by Ken Billington.

The reason for the weekend rush was to beat the Sunday night eligibility deadline for this year's Tony Awards. The nominations are to be announced Wednesday and the winners named June 4.

ITALIAN CONTRACT

MILAN, Italy (AP) - The Italian aviation manufacturer SIAE-Marchetti began shipments of 200 SF-260 military reconnaissance and training planes to Libya this month, a company official reported. The value of the contract has been estimated unofficially at more than $22 million, but the company spokesman refused to confirm the figure.

Mexico Hopes PEMEX Will Brighten Future

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - John Paul

Getty once called Petroleos Mexicanos, or PEMEX, "the only oil company I have known that lost money.

Getty's analysis was painfully evident as recently as 1973 when PEMEX spent $22 million more in operational expenses and debt service than its generated income of $841.5 million. The Mexican government, faced with an enormous foreign debt, a chronic bal-ance of payments deficit, and a population growing faster than its economy, is betting that Getty was wrong and that PEMEX soon will have the country gushing towards a prosperous future.

Since PEMEX was founded in 1938 after President Lazaro Cardenas expropriated all foreign oil holdings, the staterun company has been expected to produce only enough petroleum for domestic needs. In the 1950s and 1960s it was chronically short of cash because probusiness administrations provided be-

Beginning in 1972, however, PEMEX began to shed its loser image. Digging below the tropical grasslands of Tabasco state in southeastern Mexico, PEMEX made a strike 11,500 feet below the surface that should make the nation an oil superpower.

PEMEX announced last year that Mexico was sitting atop a sea of possibly 120 billion barrels of black gold, a figure independent experts respect. That would make Mexico second only to Saudi Arabia in oil reserves. The company estimates that out of 2.2

million barrels a day pumped from fields in 1980, one million barrels will be exported, five times more per day than The massive increases in oil exports

PEMEX was doubly burdened by a not just permanently prosperous but owerful union able to demand massive rich," PEMEX director Jorge Diaz Serrano said recently.

One diplomat commented, "Oil will be one if not the major earner of foreign exchange by the mid-1980s. That's the government policy.

Mexico's trade deficit in 1977 totaled nearly $1.3 billion, a terrible strain for an underdeveloped country with an estimated $33 billion foreign debt.

Oil exports, along with natural gas and petrochemical sales, should soon provide Mexico with $8.2 billion a year, more than enough to service its debt and color its trade balance black.

Is PEMEX up to the task of restoring Mexico's economic health?

There are critics who say not. They point to the low productivity record of PEMEX's bureaucracy. In 1974, 81,042 workers produced only 2:940 barrels per capita, while 24,000 Venezuelan workers pumped 37,356 barrels per capita.

Part of the disparity reflects PE-MEX's extensive marketing staff. But most of the difference comes from overstaffing related to cronvism and the tough Petroleum Workers Union, economists and businessmen say.  One critic recently asked, "Are we selling more to lose more?" Supporters point out that PEMEX generated $3.7 billion in 1977, far-above its $1.7 billion in operational expenses. official said.

Thomas, a U.S. drought aid official based in Dakar, said the scope of the drought will depend heavily on the amount and timing of rain in the wet season that starts creeping over the region this month.

'If the rains are good, the people will be able to produce enough to feed themselves by January, although we are bound to have some dead cattle," he said. "If they are bad, we are going to have real trouble.

The Sahel covers a broad chunk of Africa between the sands of the Sahara and the jungles further south. A major portion of the 7 million people caught in the parched landscape are nomadic herdsmen living in remote areas.

Getting the food to the people is one of our major problems," Thomas said "Distance is something we have a lot of in the Sahel."

The transportation difficulties created by this factor combined with emergency aid being diverted by corrupt officials ranked as two of the top problems in the last drought.

Since then, aid officials said, there has been major improvement in transport planning. At the same time, many of the officials involved in diverting the aid grains onto the private market have been fired or thrown in jail.

"We have learned from our mistakes." one official said. "There are trucks available this time and we have checkers to make sure the food gets to the people who need it." In the drought area, Cabo Verde -Portuguese for the Green Cape islands off the coast - has been the hardest hit of the eight affected nations. With the exception of 1975, the islands have had inadequate rain for the past nine years and none at all for the past 12 months. Aid officials said large sections of Senegal, Mauritania, the Gambia and Mali were also drought disaster areas. Nigerthe Upper Volta and Chad have been hit to a lesser extent. Poor rainfall has likewise affected the northern regions of Nigeria, Ghana and Guinea, but this has been offset by better harvests in other areas of these na-

Sleeping sickness was under control; witchcraft and cannibalism had been checked. This potentially rich country, since renamed Zaire, lacked only one thing - a trained leadership.

The Belgians had planned a system of government based on the traditional Western democracies, helped along by a white population of about 90,000, running the businesses, plantations and mines, and guiding the administration as development assistance experts.

But within a week of independence, the Congo exploded in the first of the long series of uprisings, tribal wars, secessions, plots, corruptions and mismanagements that have bankrupted it.

On Sunday the government announced that exile rebels from the former Katanga province, renamed Shaba, had invaded for the second time in 14 months. The govenment claimed that Cubans speaheaded the invasion, with backing from the Soviet Union, Algeria and Li-

With the advent in 1965 of Mobutu, a former colonial army sergeant who rose to the rank of colonel and army chief of staff after independence, Belgium and the West had hoped for an era of stability after five turbulent years.

Mobutu launched many reforms. In his campaign for African "authenticity" he not only renamed the country, but also gave rivers and towns ancient African names, ordered people to change their Christian names into African ones and banned Western collars and ties.

He also nationalized the mines and in 1974 ordered most foreign businesses to be sold to Zaireans. The plan was a failure and two years later the government offered the former owners to take back 60 percent of their previous businesses. But most white businessmen had left the country, the economy was in ruins and two-thirds of its roads and transport had become unusable.

The price of copper, Zaire's main export item, plunged and the state became heavily in debt. Zaire's mineral wealth cobalt, industrial diamonds, gold, silver, tin, radium and uranium - went to waste. Inflation ran at 75 percent.

Once an exporter of timber and agricultural produce such as seed oil, bananas, coffee, cotton, tea and cocoa, and providing its own population with vegetables and meat from the farm areas in eastern Kivu province, Zaire has become an importer of foodstuffs, much of it from South Africa.

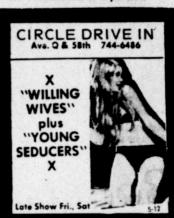

The political stability that marked the early years of Mobutu's reign has turned. into a sleeping volcano, permanently seething with recurrent outbreaks of rebellion and plots, show trials and execu-

Paratroops Battle Rebels

Several hundred Zaire government paratroopers were dropped around the southern town of Kolwezi today in a counter-offensive aimed at regaining the copper-mining center from rebel forces, Zaire's Kinshasa Radio said er John Rhodes said the Shaba fighting was one of the main topics of President Carter's breakfast meeting with congressional leaders today. He said Carter indicated he wants new legislation to ease restrictions on his ability to send U.S. military aid to friendly nations. Zambia denied, meanwhile, that the invasion was mounted from its territory.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter-said there was little first-hand information about the fighting, which began late last week. But sources in Belgium said the invasion army of about 4,-000 exiled Lunda tribesmen had captured Kolwezi, a copper-mining center 25 miles north of the Zambian border, and Mutshatsha, 60 miles west of Kolwezi, and was advancing on Kamina, site of an army base 150 miles north of Kolwezi.

Diplomats in Zambia confirmed that the rebels had taken Kolwezi and Mutshatsha. But the Zairean Embassy in Brussel said there was see-saw fighting in Mutshatsha over the weekend, and the Zairean army had retaken the town. There are an estimated 2,800 Belgians and 400 French citizens in the area in addition to the Americans, Carter said. He said there were no confirmed reports that any Americans had been injured in the fighting.

Carter would not say how the U.S. government might go about evacuating the Americans, but he said it would try to coordinate any efforts with Belgium and

Like the force that invaded Shaba in March 1977, many of the insurgents were reported to be ex-policemen who fled to Angola in the early 1960s when Zaire was the newly-independent Congo, Shaba was called Katanga, and the late Moise Tshombe, the pro-Belgian provincial premier of Katanga, tried to secede. U.N. troops finally defeated his forces.

Last year the Katangans came across Shaba's western border with Angola, 300 miles west of Kolwezi, and were stopped short of the copper mines by the intervention of 1,500 Moroccan troops who bolstered the Zaire army. This year the invaders came across northern Zambia and entered Shaba only 25 miles from Kolwezi.

Zaire's President Mobutu Sese Seko, who has been in power since 1965, has appealed again for help to Morocco, the United States, Belgium, France and China, but so far there has been no response. ter Menachem Begin today expressed his government's "deep regret" over U.S. Senate approval of the Carter Administration's Mideast plane sale package and said the deal violated American commitments to the Jewish state.

"This is definitely a negative development from the viewpoint of Israel's security." Begin told reporters after briefing Parliament's defense and foreign affairs committee on the three-way jet sales to Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Israel.

The United States had made "an absolute and unconditional commitment in September 1975 to sell F-16 warplanes to Israel. There was no justification" for bunching these sales together with sales to Arab nations that "are in a state of war with Israel.

There was no immediate reaction from the Arab world.

An editorial in Maariv said, "The Isra-

Opponents and supporters of the Carter plan crossed all party and ideological lines. In all, 33 Democrats and 11 Republicans voted for the disapproval resolution. Twenty-eight Democrats and 26 Republicans voted to reject it:

In a statement after the vote, Carter appeared to go out of his way to address critics, many of them fellow Democrats, who contend his endorsement of a major arms sale in the Middle East directly contradicts his campaign pledge to oppose such sales.

He said the sales do not violate U.S. arms limitation policy because the United States "stands ready to provide needed assistance when unrestrained arms sales by other nations pose a threat to the security of our friends and allies.

purchase of 35 vehicles for Lubbock.

When the bids are in, they will be studied and a contract awarded by the school district's board of trustees.

Irons said the kind of vehicle the district wants - a 70-passenger school bus - typically costs $16,000 to $18,000. Thus, the district's initial investment could be about $600,000.

The district will have to pick up the entire cost of the bus purchase, Irons said. But the Texas Education Agency will share the cost of the bus' maintenance and operation, he added.

Irons and his staff have come up with tentative ideas for cutting the cost of fuel and personnel in the tran sportation pro-Currently, the district's bus fleet is housed at a storage area near Mahon Elementary on the city's north side. Irons said the district next year may decentralize its bus storage so that the vehicles are kept closer to the schools they serve. For example, the buses that will be transporting eastside children to westside schools may be parked at what is now the Southeast Elementary School campus. And buses transporting westside ehildren to eastside schools may be stored on the school district's farm in West Lubbock. Such arrangements would reduce the number of miles buses must travel during a day - and save fuel, Irons said.

For drivers, the district may revamp the jobs of persons now employed as "monitor aides." These aides presently work four hours a day, primarily to supervise cafeterias. By combining the job of monitor aide with that of bus driver, Irons said, the district will be creating a new full-time position that should be more attractive to job seekers. He noted that turnover of bus drivers traditionally has been high because few earn enough to make a living by working part-time. The possibility of combining the driver and aide jobs still must be taken to the school board, Irons said.

Military Retirees Due Reese Honor

South Plains military retirees will be very important persons during Armed Forces Week at Reese Air Force Base.

We will open our doors for those of you desiring to informally investigate the present state of the art in your active duty career field," read a special invitation to known retireees from Col. Charles E. Bishop, Reese commander.

Former military personnel will be matched with Reese military for as much as a day's look at what modern technology has done to the military ways of yesterday. While on the base, retirees will be learning about a new Air Force program, a Retiree Information/Service Desk to be located in the Family Services Center The new program will provide a point of contact for retirees' questions and will aid in coordination of base services. Getting a head start on other visitors was Dr. Glenn Gay, a dentist, who recently retired from the U.S. Naval Reserve as a captain.

Dr. Gay found the Reese dental clinic quite a change from WW II active duty, when he was getting inductees ready for duty and sometimes repairing the damage war had done to teeth.

Dr. Gay's action time in Korea and Vietnam action was spent wherever he could replace active duty dentists, on ships or on shore.

As his reserve assignment, he headed the reserve dental training clinic in Lubbock, and his annual duty was spent anywhere around globe he was needed.

At Reese for Armed Forces Week, Dr. Gay swapped a few tales about how it used to be while he looked over the system that replaced it.

There was no provision for dentists in the reserves when WW II came along, so, to allow Dr. Gay the year he needed to complete his dental training, the Navy enlisted him as an apprentice seaman

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Social Security trust funds that pay benefits to retired and disabled workers are in good shape for several decades, but the fund that pays hospital insurance under Medicare will go broke by 1990, the system's trustees told Congress today. They said in an annual report that the higher payroll taxes Congress approved last December have "restored the finansoundness of the old-age and disability insurance program through the remainder of this century and into the early years of the next one.

But, as expected, the hospital insurance fund will need shoring up in the next decade to remain sovlent.

The report said that the hospital fund is expected to lose $400 million in 1985 and then "decline rapidly until (it is) exhausted in about 1990.

That prediction is a rosier estimate than last year when the trustees said the hospital fund would go broke by 1987. That figure was revised in 1978 after the refinancing bill passed. The trustees advised Congress to exercise caution in any move to curtail the Social Security payroll tax increases recently approved. Some members of Congress favor using general tax funds to pick up additional hospital insurance costs under Medicare. General tax revenues already are used to

Runner Passes Quarter Mark

OSHKOSH, Neb. (AP) - Fifty-eightyear-old Bill Emmerton has passed the one-quarter mark of his 2,000-mile run to honor the Pony Express riders.

"It's going to be my last long distance run, and I'm dedicating this one to the Pony Express riders," he said. "Those men had tremendous courage, tremendous endurance; they had to stay in shape."

Emmerton, an Australian who now lives in Los Angeles, completed a 46-mile jaunt Monday when he arrived in Oshkosh. That made a total of 540 miles since he started May 2 at St. Joseph, Mo. He plans to finish in San Francisco. "When I finish this run, it'll make 130,-000 documented miles I've run in my career," he said.

"I'm tired, I got sore muscles, sore knees, I'm sunburned. It's 86 degrees, I've got 50-60 mph head winds, I've got driving rain and today I stepped on three rattlesnakes. "But you've got to master control overyourself," he said. "There's nobody here and you're just there. Like someone throwing you on the moon." He said the few people he does see along the road often stop and offer him a ride, asking where he is going.

"People pull up in cars and ask, and he says he's going to San Francisco and they just shake their heads wondering if the poor guy's sane or completely insane. Explaining it still sort of bogs off their minds," he said.

"If you don't bleed to death, you're going to remember me!" the victim said the woman told him callously.

During the brief melee that followed, the victim reportedly suffered a long, vertical wound to his abdomen, then was cut horizontally across the stomach three times. He also received a smaller cut to his right forearm, police reports indicate.

A car approached, frightening the assailants away, the man told police, and the victim walked the several hundred yards back to his apartment intent on getting a gun.

However, he later told police, the man elected to go to an neighbor's apartment instead to phone police.

The victim said he may have recognized the woman who did the cutting. The cut man later was taken by ambulance to Health Sciences Center Hospital, but his wounds were believed to be su-

Ex-University Analyst Indicted Brown, an assistant U.S. Attorney

HOUSTON (AP) - A federal grand jury has indicted a former University of Houston financial analyst and his halfbrother on charges of conspiracy and

Named in the indictment returned Monday were Samuel A. Harwell, fired from the university in November, and his half-brother, Patrick D. Sullivan, 48, of Brea, Calif. Neither was available for comment

The indictment alleged Harwell and Sullivan engaged in wire (telephone) and mail fraud and knowingly conspired with unknown persons to obtain property by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises.

Each was named on four counts alleging conspiracy and mail and wire fraud against the university and the San Jose, Calif., branch of the Japan-California Bank of Los Angeles.

The indictment alleges Harwell placed about $5 million in university funds in the bank and then gave the bank a letter authorizing Sullivan to use the funds as colturned down a request by Sullivan for a restraining order against the university and the bank. He had asked the Los Angeles court to stop the bank from seizing university funds to guarantee the payment of an unpaid $901,000 loan and to stop the university from withdrawing a certificate of deposit that served as collateral for the loan.

A California court earlier this month

University lawyers have said Harwell also engaged in pyramiding short-term funds in government secured bonds called Ginnie Maes, a practice university officials have said is too risky.

Harwell has said through his attorney that he had appropriate written authority for the investments.

University regents have said that as a result of the investments, the university is in the position to suffer "substantial"

Veteran Of War Offers To Pay Graham's Bills

FORT WORTH (AP) - Because John Kopach feels the USS South Dakota saved his life at Guadalcanal in World War II, he has always wanted to pay off what he thinks is a debt. Kopach, of Pomona, Calif., says he has found a way to settle his account - by paying the dental bills of Covin Graham, a 12-year-old sailor on board the South Dakota during that battle in 1942.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - "I want to report a ship at sea in distress. I've just picked up its Mayday signal," Dallas Peyton told an unbelieving Pima County Sheriff's Department radio dispatcher.

"Buddy," the dispatcher replied, "this is a desert town. There isn't a major waterway within a hundred miles of here." But Peyton was not to be put off.

He told the deputy that he had picked up the call for help Monday on a citizens band radio and urged that he check it

The dispatcher relayed the information to federal officials in Tucson, who contacted the Coast Guard in Key West, Fla. A few minutes later, the word came back: "Confirmed message. Thanks Tucson. We're on the way."

The Coast Guard reported later that it had spotted and taken into tow a 30-foot pleasure boat, the Timberlane out of Marathon, Fla., that had begun taking on water with three people on board. 'We didn't hear the Mayday message at all," a Coast Guard spokesman said in Key West.

We got two calls from people in Tucson and one of the callers talked to people aboard the ship for awhile until the signal faded."

Graham said he suffered mouth injuries when explosions on board the South Dakota sent him tumbling through three stories of superstructure.

After the South Dakota limped to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Graham was sent to Corpus Christi and booted out of the Navy when his mother revealed his true age to officials.

The only reason we survived was because of the South Dakota," Kopach said recently after reading about Graham's plight in a hometown newspaper. "He was on the South Dakota."

Jail Term Alternatives Increase In Popularity

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A college president convicted of drunken driving and killing a pedestrian was sentenced by a judge to give lectures on the consequences of drinking and driving.

It was one of a number of recent innovative sentences in which offenders do community service work instead of going to jail. The government said Suhday they are becoming increasingly popular alternatives to imprisonment, particularly in the case of minor offenses.

"Often, jail or fines are inappropriate." said a report done for the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. "Thus a suspended sentence was the only course available to the judge. Now, with an effective court referral program, an appropriate sentence can be given and enforced.

The definition of "appropriate" appears to vary according to the skills of the

The college president's sentence to give lectures was an actual case cited in a study prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration by Abt Associates Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., based on experience in Orange and Alameda Counties in California, and Multnomah County, Ore.

Offenders must volunteer for the alternative punishment.

Other examples were listed: - Executives of a meat packing firm convicted of criminal violations were sentenced to provide 200 hours of service to a youth training program and to hire parolees in the company's job-training program. - A man who ran his own cleaning shop, convicted of petty larceny, was sentenced to provide $250 worth of cleaning services for a home for the elderly. - A judge sentenced some youths to clean up graffiti they had scrawled in a public place

- A defendant convicted on a charge of being drunk and disorderly was sentenced to help with the county parks department's public works program.

A taxi driver was sentenced to provide the poor with 40 hours of transportation to medical facilities.

State Panel Eyes Police Standards

AUSTIN - At the request of Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations is looking at possible revisions to the professional standards for the state's law enforcement officers.

The advisory panel's review coincides with similar studies being undertaken by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education and several lawmakers in the wake of confirmed and alleged incidents of police misconduct, particularly those areas involving urban police departments.

Advisory commission staff member Don Caldwell told the commission members at a recent meeting in Austin he is reviewing a broad area of law enforcement standards, including the various police department policies and procedures, the issue of psychological testing for law enforcement officer recruits and the adequacy of the state's authority to revoke an officer's certification.

In the matter of police department policies. Caldwell said the commission staff is reviewing guidelines pertaining to an officer's conduct during arrests and

It was acknowledged that much of the interest in the area comes out of the publicity surrounding the conduct of Houston police in the controversial death of a Mexican-American prisoner while in the custody of several patrolmen.

Psychological testing, which many police agencies are currently using, is being studied to determine if there should be a statewide standard for such exams. Caldwell said there is some concern a police training program because of his psychological test might have grounds to file a lawsuit challenging test results.

The question of revocation of state certification for police officers also is being studied in light of recent incidents when police officers were convicted of misdemeanor civil rights violations.

Caldwell pointed out that state law now permits the law enforcement officer's certification only for a felony conviction, for any driving while intoxicated conviction or for submitting false information to the commission when applying for initial certification.

He said the law is somewhat ambigous, and that it is unclear whether violations involving "moral turpitude" could be used as grounds for certification revoca-members of the law enforcement standards commission, Caldwell said that group had indicated support for legislation which would give them the power to revoke an officer's certification for certain misdemeanor convictions, such as those involving civil rights violations.

Although it has been suggested that the law enforcement standards group be empowered to conduct investigations of individual police agencies throughout the state, members of that commission strongly objected to taking authority to conduct internal investigations out of the hands of local officials.

Members of the advisory commission also voiced their opposition to the concept of a statewide investigatory panel, telling Caldwell there should be "no doubt" as to what the commission would recommend on that proposal.

Hospital Needs Nursing School

By JEFF SOUTH Avalanche-Journal Staff

On the typical day in April, almost nine of every 10 available beds in the Health Sciences Center Hospital were filled - and that means the new medieal facility soon must open more beds or face the prospect of turning patients

We very much need to open additional beds," executive director Gerald Bosworth Monday told the Lubbock County Hospital District board of managers.

But doing that requires hiring more nurses. And Bosworth doesn't know yet where they will come from.

He said the district will continue its recruitment efforts, but the ultimate hope is that the state legislature next year will appropriate funds to start a school of nursing at Texas Tech University.

Bosworth said the nursing school is the "main factor in the ability of our hospital to open and stay adequately staffed. If you grow your own nurses, they have a tendency to stay in the area. We have everything now with the exception of that school.

Dr. Richard Lockwood, university vice president for health sciences centers, said he believes funding for the new school has a "good chance" during the 1979 legislative session.

"Everyone recognizes the urgent need for a nursing school," Lockwood said. "A number of us will be down there (in

The school already has been authorized by the legislature, but has yet to be funded.

Lockwood said if the legislature passes the necessary appropriation, the school could begin in September, 1979. It would be at least two years, however, before the school would be turning out registered nurses, he said.

Bosworth said the nursing school graduates — and the nursing school students who may be working part-time during their training - would provide the Health Sciences Center Hospital with an adequate supply of personnel.

The need for more staff is evident from the census figures of the 245-bed hospital, the primary teaching facility of the adjoining Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

'Our occupancy percentages continue to rise," Bosworth said.

Since opening Feb. 1, the hospital has had available only 105 beds (including infant beds in the facility's exclu sive neonatal intensive care unit) and 28 bas-Bosworth told the board Monday that the average occupancy for February was 71 percent on the beds and 61 percent on bassinets. In March, he said, the average occupancy was 81 percent on the beds and 79 percent on bassinets.

And for April, the occupancy rate averaged 87 percent on the beds and 64 percent on the bassinets, Bosworth said.

Those are averages, and on many days the number of patients has exceeded the beds availble, forcing an "overflow" into units that have not been officially

Bosworth said he hopes to open a 36ty's third floor for surgical patients. Presently such patients are accommodated in a combined medical-surgical wing. Opening another wing would give the hospital one 36-bed unit just for

In seeking the first fare increase for Southwest in four years, President Herbert Kelleher said Monday Southwest is "solely responsible" for overcrowded parking lots at municipal airport Mayor Carole McClellan had requested creased by 44.2 percent during the first three months of 1978 over the same period last year. The commission approved the higher fares for Southwest, after Kelleher assured the agency that "absent any catastrophic increases in costs" the new fares would hold until the 1980s. The July 1 fare increases would result in 98 percent of Southwest's customers paying $5 more per roundtrip, Kelleher

While Southwest has held the line on increases, he said, air carriers regulated by the Civil Aeronautics Board have had 14 fare hikes.

Kelleher said input costs have risen by 121 percent since Southwest went into operation in June 1971, but the company had offset rising costs with "one of the highest load factors - 66.8 percent - ever experienced by any scheduled car-

He cited higher labor costs, the need to expand facilities in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Austin and the purchase of new planes as reasons for higher fares.

Southwest fares would go up from 7.5 percent to 20 percent, depending on the price of the ticket. The biggest percentage increase would be a $3 increase in the one-way $15 fare.

"This increase is noteworthy only because Southwest never applies for a fare increase," said Kelleher.

'The evidence is clear." he said, "that Southwest holds the line on fares, does not unnecessarily ask for price increases. and, when it can, reduces fares without urging by the commission."

In other action, the commission: Approved an application by Tejas Airlines to add Laredo and McAllen to its nio, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Approved an application by Rio Airways to reactivate its authority to fly from Waco to Houston, which was suspended Dec. 22, 1975. In addition, Rio will add a stop at College Station-Bryan and will have the option of flying into Hobby or Intercontinental Airport at South bid aggressively to reach a good six spade contract. Fortunately, he had the playing skill to back up his boldness in the auction.

Despite the fact that, in terms of point count. South had only a smidgeon more than a minimum opening bid.

he felt that his distribution and key card in his partner's suit merited a "high re-verse" rebid of three diamonds. When South learned that his partner had spade support and second-round diamond control, he barged into slam on the strength of his singleton club.

West led the king of clubs and continued with the ace. Declarer ruffed and all seemed to be plain sailing. But de clarer realized that a bad break in diamonds could endanger his contract, so he planned his play to allow for the possibility of a 4-1 break.

Declarer drew trumps in three rounds and then cashed the ace and queen of dia monds. Had both defenders followed to these two tricks. declarer would have claimed his slam. But when West discarded a club on the second diamond, declarer's foresight in leaving the king of diamonds in dummy was about to bear fruit.

It was now essential for declarer to establish dummy's hearts to make his contract. With nothing to guide him, the percentage play is to cash the king and ace and then ruff a heart. This would

But there were clues to suggest that hearts were not breaking 3-3. West had shown up with a singleton diamond and three trumps. If he held six clubs to the ace king, he might have overcalled. It seemed more likely that he had four hearts and five clubs than three and six.

So declarer cashed the king of hearts and boldly finessed the jack. When East followed to this trick with a low card, the slam was home. Declarer cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart to set up a long card. and the carefully preserved king of diamonds served as the entry to the fulfilling Softer Garments Become (classics. They were once the insignias of

By JOHN MOODY UPI Men's Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - What are the alltime classics of men's clothing?

Having come full circle from the drab sameness of the 1950s to the boundless expressionism of the 60s and now to a preference in the fashion world for quieter, softer garments, what clothes have stood the test of time and deserve the label "classic?"

Not many, says Luciano Franzoni, a noted stylist and cothing consultant who tours the country regularly giving advece to men who want to dress and look better than they do.

Franzoni, 52, is employed by Hart Shaffner and Murx but distributes his advice freely to anyone with questions.

He recently put together a list of the all-time classics of men's clothing, based on the demand for them among welldressed men and their ability to blend with an in between "stylishness" of the

"I don't think people want to get back into the old uniform kind of lifestyle, but they do want to know what they can buy with confidence. They fear being gypped by fads in fashion they can't detect.

Here then is the list of "classics" Franzoni compiled and his reasoning: - The two-button singlevented suit: "It may be gray flannel, pin stripes or a subdued plaid like glen plaid, but it has always been here and it always will be. Over the years, the lapels get a little nafrower or larger, but the basic construction is immortal. - The navy blue blazer: "Versatility is the reason. You can wear a blazer in the morning with a turtleneck or a bandana then change to a white shirt and tie at night. You can travel with the blue blazer and not load yourself down with dozens of accessories. You can sport it up with a brighter color or pattern, or keep it classic with gray flannels. It is the perennial mark of the welldressed man. The navy blue suit: "I saw pictures of my father in one before World War I and it was just as classy on him as it would be today. The ultimate in the elegant suit

- Blue jeans: "They are Americana in its essence," says Franzoni. "Since World War II they have become a mode of dress in the western hemisphere, and in the East too. Jeans command a high price in Moscow. Jeans are worn with sports coats and blazers for dress occasions. I can't say I think they're always appropriate, but they're a fact of life and we have accepted them. - Brown and black loafers: "Obviously when there is too much brass on them they become fashion items and they appear in different form from year to year. But the basic cut of the shoe will always be with us. It is comfortable, it has supplanted shoes with laces because laces break, and they take more time putting on. They are acceptable on any occasions, even with tuxedos.

- The regimental (diagonally striped) tie: "On a plain background, these are finite variations now and they are still in style - The black tuxedo: "I am very vague in this area. The tux business is an industry that, understandably, is trying to put everyone into very colorful tuxedos so they can sell more. I'm not conservative, but the only classic is the black, singlebreasted one button tux. T-shirts: When we wear underwear we wear T-shirts. It's the most common piece of underwear a man wears.

The camel topcoat: "Whether it's cashmere or camel hair as long as it's in the natural color. When you walk into any store where topcoats are sold you will find it there. You can wear it on top of anything

The trenchcoat (tan only); "It has been here since the British officer wore it into the trenches in battle. The brass rings were for holding hand grenades and other accessories of war. It will never wear out. Many now have zip-in linings so that it's an all-year-round coat.

The white shirt "I should also include the pale blue and certain striped shirts. But only the white is really a classic, whether it comes button down or non-button down. It really should be at the top of the list

Black socks: "Most men wear them with everything. I don't go for that, but it's a fact. I'm not saying you have to buy pattern socks if you're not comfortable with them, but there are some very respectable solid colors you could wear besides black. Still, black socks are the clas-

Franzoni estimates that "the great majority of men own these things," and said Those who don't fall into one of two groups: they don't care about clothes or they can't afford them.

I would advise a young man to start his wardrobe with these items. He can add colors and patterns as he makes more money and develops and sophisticates his fashion sense.

Actors Add Humor To Shakespearean Plays

By IKE FLORES

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Shakespeare - as dramatists are fond of pointing out - reaches out and grabs the masses as well as the cultural elite.

The power, of the Great Bard is being proven by a small but determined traveling troupe which brings Shakespeare to Central Florida schools and underdeveloped areas where audiences would normally cringe at the mention of his name.

Dr. Stuart Omans is creator, producer, director and mover of the dozen or so players in the Simply Shakespeare troupe.

Omans, associate professor of English at Florida Technological University, is in his fifth year of demonstrating with the students that Shakespeare can be fun while being serious. Their intent, they say, is to present the "simple humanity of Shakespeare

This year, they are taking scenes from 10 plays with a dominant theme, blending them in with their own-fiction and relating the whole thing to today's world all with costumes and props of the Shakespeare period.

The simplicity of Shakespeare is what the group tries to put across," Omans says. He hopes "we can build an interest if we get them to understand it and relate it to their own lives." The Simply Shakespeare players include undergraduates, graduate students, a local insurance man, some faculty members and Omans himself. Most had never acted before. They build their own props, do their own publ icity and devote great chunks of their time to rehearsals and workshops:

They perform in the morning, at noon or in the evening, in migrant housing areas, schools with tough reputations, at facilities for pupils with learning handicaps and at the university theater for spe cial audiences. The farther out in the 'boonies' we get, the better reception we seem to receive, "says Omans

The players have received numerous accolades from their young audiences, as well as from the teachers.

It must be considered a compliment when cynical, squirmy ninth-graders sit up and take notice of Shakespeare." wrote an English teacher from Orlando's Lyman High School

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Can you help us get the message across to our 17-year-old daughter that it is in extremely poor taste for young people to put on a show of affection in public? I refer to the disgusting manner in which a girl will hang on a boy and let him put his hands all over her Our daughter walks down the street with her arm around her boyfriend's waist and vice versa. And when they drive together in an automobile, she practically sits on his lap!

Our daughter says she sees nothing wrong with it. Maybe you can tell her. We can't Abby, this is silly, because kids couldn't care less how the house looks. I know I don't pay any attention to the housekeepwhen I'm visiting at someone's house. And even if I did notice that a place was a mess. I sure wouldn't go home and tell my mother.

Please put this in your column. My mother never misses it. Thank you. SANDY

Dear Sandy: I never give advice to one who hasn't asked for it, but in your case, I'll make an exception and address this to your mother

There is nothing more reassuring to a mother than always knowing where her daughter is - and with whom. You can insure this feeling by making your daughter's friends welcome in your home anytime. Youngsters take little notice of "housekeeping." In fact, the "perfect" house is not nearly as inviting as the one that looks "lived in."

DEAR ABBY: We have a real problem in our neighborhood. Every morning at 3, our neighbor woman wakes up the entire neighborhood. She is a nurse and has to be at work at 4 a.m., so she leaves her house at 3. When she backs out of her garage, she honks her horn. Then her husband, who is a doctor, waves to her from the window. She honks again, waves back to him and drives off.

This is terribly annoying to everyone, Abby, but these neighbors are such lovely people, we hate to mention it. If you print this, perhaps they will take the hint. I know they read your column. JANGLED NERVES

Dear Nerves: All right, I've done my part. If you get any more honking from Florence Nightingale, call her husband and ask him to give you something for your nerves.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL—Tuesday Evening, May 16, 1978—8-3 Falsified Research On Aging Revealed

Women's News Service Well-publicized scientific reports-along with many books, films and a cover article in the National Geographic -that inhabitants of a South American region lived to be 120 years of more, and remained healthy and vigorous, turn out to be false.

The embarrassing admission was made a few days ago by a professor who attained worldwide renown for such studies, at a meeting co-sponsored by the National Institute of Aging and the Fogarty International Center. The two-day meeting, held at the NIA, was called the International Workshop on the Longevous Population of Vilcabamba.

The professor of medicine, Dr. Alexander Leaf, told some 30 scientists, researchers and film makers who had studied and reported on the alleged phenomenon that his and their work was based on false assumptions.

Among the international participants at the two-day meeting was Dr. Marcelo Moreano, a minister of health from Ecuador, Dr. F. Bourliere of the National Institute of Health in Paris, Dr. Taisaku Katsura from Tokyo and several cardiologists and gerontologists from Florence and Rome. All had been involved in studies of the area.

Instead of a large number of people well over 100 years old, Dr. Leaf said, 'we learned there are no centenarians there.

The revelations, until now a closely guarded secret, stunned the gathering. All in some way had been connected with exploring the alleged phenomenon of the incredibly long lives of the inhabitants of Vilcabamba, the Andean village in Ecuador, one of three areas that attracted attention about five years ago.

The retraction of what had recently passed for scientific fact was triggered by wo American scholars who had visited Vilcabamba in 1974, 1976 and as recently as late February. One was Dr. Richard Mazess, professor of radiology at the University of Wisconsin, who was puzzled by the villagers' bone quality; the other was Sylvia Helen Forman, an anthropologist from the University of California.

'It was Dr. Mazess' sceptism and Dr. Forman's careful review of the old handwritten documents in the church registry that revealed the errors. The names and birthdates were indeed recorded but they belonged to the parents and grandparents of these old Ecuadorians, not to the elderly men and women living there.

The names were used over and over again, Dr. Forman realized. Previous researchers, however, having found written confirmation of the people's names, had assumed the original birthdates applied Contrary to claims of numerous centerians in the small section known as Vilcabamba, now there were none. "The oldest man was born in 1881, and there's nothing unusual about that." Dr. Leaf

Dr. Leaf said he and others had been misled by the high proportion of elderly living in the village. It turned out, he said, that the young people had left to seek work in other areas and that older people, left behind by the migration of their children, had moved to that area. A similar discrepancy is assumed true in claims of longevity in the other regions as well. "We chose Vilcabamba because at least there is a possibility to find the truth out," said Dr. Leaf. In the U.S.S.R. and Afghanistan, government officials would hamper the work, he added. National attention of the presumed longevity among primitive people appeared first as a 28-page cover story by Dr. Leaf in the January 1973 issue of the National Geographic. The headline read, "A Scientist Visits Some of the World's Oldest People: Every Day is a Gift When You

There were color photographs of Khaf-Lasuria, identified as more than 130 years old, Miguel Carpio, said to be one of Vilcabamba's patriarchs at age-123 and Gabriel Chapnian, carrying a pail of potatoes up a hill at 117.

In the meantime, Vilcabamba has irreparably changed. Since the early 1970's when Dr. Leaf toured the three regions, and especially since his findings were published in the National Geographic magazine, streams of curious "scientists" have invaded the tiny village -documenting the food and vegetation, measuring heartbeats, taping interviews with the oldest residents, photographing incessantly, even filming their funerals.

A hotel has been built, modern plumbing and sewage is planned, buses and jeeps rattle down the sandy paths and the natural, normal life-style of the village has been disrupted. While village women pound their laundry on the river rocks, Italian, French and Japanese film crews scour the valley in search of new centenarian story angles.

The Ecuadorian government, happy with the international acclaim but diamayed over the risk of accommodating large numbers of foreigners in primitive conditions, announced on February 28 that it was forming a commission to regulate and coordinate future research activ-

A new section of land south of Vilca bamba, apparently equally as primitive, will be designated as new territory for research, and all investigations must be ap-

Meanwhile, the lessons spread by studies of these "long-living" villagers have already been devoured. Their rugged terrain and their simple diet has led gerontologists to claim that virogous daily exercise, a reduced intake of foods and a high altitude were ingredients for longev-

But now all this must be discarded as unfounded and perhaps untrue. A pity people hadn't followed some intuitions. Dr. Leaf's confidence in the importance of a low-animal-fate, low-calorie diet was witnessed in the other regions was originally shaken by considerable portions of food, wine and vodka he saw consumed in the Soviet Caucasus region.

And the dissident Soviet scientist Zhores Medvedev, on his visit to the United States five years ago, said that claims of longevity in Georgia, in the Russian Caucasus, was just propaganda.

Satirist Turns Hobby Into Career

NEW YORK (UPI) - Claire Bretecher looks like she belongs in front of a camera instead of behind a drawing board. But the fine-boned blonde with long bangs over blue eyes is a moderate feminist and one of France's leading satirists.

The cartoon and the comic strip is her metier, the Paris leftist weekly "Le Nouvel Observateur," her medium. Mrs. Bretecher has turned a childhood love of the "funnies" into a profitable career. She started drawing at age 5, but it wasn't until she was 27, after a long period of knocking on doors for odd jobs, that she realized she could make a living from her art.

Today, 10 years later, her popular comic strip "Les Frustres" (The Frustrated Ones) appears weekly in "Le Nouvel Observateur," and once or twice a year she puts out an album of cartoons. Her books have been published in Italy, Germany, Yugoslavia, the Netherlands, Switzerland and Belgium.

Her cartoons have appeared in Ms. magazine and Esquire, and now the first English edition featuring a collection of her work, entitled "National Lampoon Presents Claire Bretecher," has just been published. It is a collection of her most famous comic strips and cartoons reflecting middleclass life, with particular emphasis on married life, jobs and relation-

Mrs. Bretecher, who has been praised for presenting "a hilarious, savage view of modern life," was in New York at the beginning of a promotional tour which will take her to Toronto, Washington, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The first comic strip she did for "Le Nouvel Observateur" is in the book. It depicts a modern mother pacifying an overindulged son. Other strips in the collection lampoon intellectuals, the avantgarde, male chauvinism, feminism, class structure - in short all the foibles and vanities of her own generation.

"I don't think my generation is the most interesting," Mrs. Bretecher said in an interview. "but it is mine. I don't know anything about people around 20.'

Among her targets is psychotherapy. When asked if she had ever been in analysis, she said no but added that she had "read a lot of books on that subject, and I was very interested and now I am completely convinced that it is a lot of rubbish. And so it can be used for comics.

group Monday to register their protest of court-ordered school integration loudly but peaceably - in part, by electing him to Congress.

The Odessa ex-mayor, who faces George Bush in a June 3 runoff for the Republican Party's congressional nomination, vowed to work for federal legislation that would prohibit "forced busing" to integrate public schools

For the immediate future. Reese told We the People, "We have no choice. We should not do anything but obey the law. I do not believe people ought to break the

"But I do believe that whan people do not like an unfair law, the law ought to be changed.

There are two ways to do that, Reese said

One is to adopt a constitutional amendment. But that route would take eight to nine years, Reese estimated.

Rather, he favors passage of the "McDonald School Bill," a resolution introduced by U.S. Rep. Larry P. McDonald of Georgia to override busing ordered by federal courts.

'Congress has not been living up to its responsibility," Reese said. Lawmakers, he added, have all owed the courts to legislate. He promised to support "congresthe courts" to prohibit busing for school Integration

An estimated 100 persons gathered to hear Reese address We the People, an organization formed primarily over concerns about the integration plan the Lubbock Independent School District has been told to implement next year.

The district's plan would require busing about 2,000 elementary children and several hundred secondary students a

We the People said the plan would cost millions of dollars, resulting in higher taxes. The group said the plan would waste fuel and result in destruction of the neighborhood school concept.

Several members of the group said they may hire lawyers to attempt to fight the integration plan, but Reese said such efforts probably won't do any good.

Transit Board Delays Local Bus Request

The Transit Advisory Board postponed by informal consensus Monday consideration of a request to alter a bus route near the Coronado Apartments

Board members informally shelved Dr. Lester Payne's request for bus service to the apartments at 1017 E. 29th St. after agreeing they do not have enough information to evaluate it properly.

Dr. Payne, who is co-owner of the 200unit complex, told the board that his tenants will rely on bus service. Currently the nearest route stops about three blocks short of the complex.

Without the service, he said, the complex will not develop properly and will remain a slum. If he doesn't get the "adequate bus service," he said, "I lose money, you keep a blighted area. "It's as simple as that." he added

The board, however, indicated the situation is more complex. Staff members said the nearest route's schedule already is dangerously tight. Safety would be a significant factor if the buses had to increase speed to keep the schedule, said Ernie Prenevost of Lubbock Transit Corp. And if the buses ran overtime, the system would lose its credibility with the public, Prenevost added.

Transit coordinator John Wilson added his reservations about the request, saying he recommends no immediate changes in the route.

By consensus, the board requested a staff survey of probable usage on the ex-

The letter from Martinez to Weeks also claims Pena threatened one of the cus-

"Down here you may be the boss, bu out there (pointing toward town), I'm going to get you," he reportedly said. Martinez' letter said Pena "kept walking in front of the entry way" where the customs officer worked An employee at the store where Pena was said to have taken the cigarettes told the investigators he had heard Pena tell customers, "I'm going to take mine. No charges were filed against Pena.

In January of this year he was again investigated and suspended for 30 days after he admitted concealing cigarettes purchased on the Mexican side. Again, no charges were filed. Davila said it was his decision not to pursue the case. The federal prosecutor said he felt the potential penalty (10 years and a $5,- 000 fine) was too harsh. "When he came on, he saw some senior officers doing basically the same thing. A young officer becomes more susceptible to this sort of thing when he sees senior officers doing it," he said

Davila also said he had heard that city officials did not co-operate in the 1976 investigation.

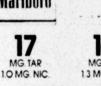

"That bolsters the concept with some of the officers that it's okay," he said.

Seems like every office in town
would like to hire a Reaf Estate Associate. We have 2 openings. But the Reaf Estate business is not a eutopia, not easy and not necessarily profitable. In a very successful near quarter century, we have found out how it works for you & for us, if you would like to discuss a frank appraisal of the reaf estate profession and possibly a common future with great merit.

'Twentieth Century' Dominates Nominations

tieth Century," a lavish musical comedy set aboard the famed Chicago-to-New York luxury train, has captured nine Tony Award nominations, including best musical, to lead the list of shows contending for Broadway's highest honor. It will compete against three plotless musicals - "Dancin," a celebration of just that — dancing; "Ain't Misbehavin," a tribute to Fats Waller; and "Runaways," a rueful account of the joys and woes of growing up.

"Dancin' was nominated Monday in seven categories while "Ain't Misbehavin" and "Runaways," scored with five nominations each.

Elizabeth Swados went one up on Woody Allen, who collected three Oscar nominations for his direction, writing and performance in the film "Annie Hall." Mrs. Swados garnered four nominations as author, composer, director and choreographer of "Runaways."

"Da," a bittersweet remembrance of an Irish father by Hugh Leonard, and "Chapter Two," Neil Simon's comedy about a widower trying to put his life back together, were nominated for best play of the 1977-78 season. They will compete with "Deathtrap," a thriller by Ira Levin about a playwright who considers murder to get one more hit play, and this year's Pulitzer Prize winner in drama, 'The Gin Game' by D.L. Coburn. Each of the best play nominees was named in three other classifications.

Some 76 candidates were chosen in 19 competitive divisions, with 11 plays and nine musicals represented.

A panel of five journalists under supervision of the League of New York Theaters and Producers, sponsor of the awards, selected the nominees.

The winners will be chosen in secret balloting by about 400 representatives of all branches of the theatrieal profession telecast.

The panel decided that work by individuals would be recognized as "outstanding performance," instead of setting up "best actor" and "best actress" catego-

Liza Minnelli, nominated for "The Act," will try for her second Tony award, going against Madeline Kahn who has already left the cast of "On the Twentieth Century," Eartha Kitt of "Timbuktu!," and Frances Sternhagen of "Angel," which lasted only five performances.

Miss Minnelli won a Tony in 1965 for her performance in "Flora, The Red Actresses nominated for their performances in dramas were Anne Bancroft of "Golda," Anita Gillette of "Chapter Two," Estelle Parsons of "Miss Margarida's Way," and Jessica Tandy of "The Gin Game.

The nominations for actors in musicals went to Eddie Bracken of "Hello, Doll-!," John Cullum of "On the Twentieth Century," Barry Nelson of "The Act" and Gilbert Price of "Timbuktu!"

Hume Cronyn in "The Gin Game," Bernard Hughes of "Da," Frank Langella's "Dracula" and Jason Robards in "A Touch of the Poet" were named the top performances by dramatic actors.

For best score, voters will choose music from "The Act" with a score by John Kander and Fred Ebb, "On the Twentieth Century" by Cy Coleman, Betty Comden and Adolph Green, "Runaways" by Mrs. Swados, or "Working" by Craig Carnelia, Micki Grant, Mary Rodgers, Susan Birkenhead, James Taylor and Stephen Schwartz

Named for directing dramas were Mel-vin Bernhardt of "Da," Robert Moore of 'Deathtrap," Mike Nichols of "The Gin Game" and Dennis Rosa of "Dracula."

Bob Fosse of "Dancin'," Richard Maltby Jr. of "Ain't Misbehavin'." Harold Prince of "On the Twentieth Century" and Mrs. Swados of "Runaways" were named for directing musicals.

In a new category of outstanding revival, the 1977-78 productions pf "Dracula," "Tartuffe," "Timbuktu!" and "A Touch of the Poet" were nominated.

Here are the other nominations: Best musical book: "A History Of the American Film," Christopher Durang; "On the Twentieth Century," Mrs. Com-den and Green; "Runaways," Mrs. Swados; "Working," Schwartz.

Featured actor in a play: Morgan Freeman, "The Mighty Gents": Victor Garber, "Deathtrap"; Cliff Gorman, "Chapter Two": Lester Rawlins, "Da."

Seven-Up Agrees To Merger With Cigarette Manufacturer

agreed to merge with Philip Morris Inc., ending one of the shortest recent takeover battles and creating a diversified beer, soft drink and cigarette conglomer-

Seven-Up has been fighting Philip Morris' overtures since the New York-based maker of Marlboro cigarettes and Miller beer announced its intentions two weeks ago. But Seven-Up had appeared to be tiring of the struggle and last week even withdrew a suit to block the takeover attempt after Philip Morris agreed to some changes in strategy.

Under the merger agreement, announced Monday, Philip Morris will offer to pay $48 per share for all 10.7 million outstanding Seven-Up shares, making the deal worth $513.6 million. The offer is set to expire Monday.

Philip Morris originally offered $41 per share, raising that bid to $46 after Seven-

Lawyer Vows To Fight Tape Release

Harris L. Berson, attorney for Raymond L.S. Patriarca, was reacting to a federal judge's decision Monday that cleared the way for deciding which, if any, records of conversations monitored in Patriarca's office will be released to the Providence Journal Co.

"Any time that this kind of massive government intrusion into a private life is allowed it is a setback for any citizen, but we will use any and all legal avenues of redress and appeal that are open to us, Berson said Monday

The Journal's lawyer, Matthew F Medeiros, called the decision by Chief U.S. District Court Judge Raymond J Pettine a "blockbuster."

The ruling establishes significant case law regarding the Freedom of Information Act, the statute cited by the newspaper as the ground for forcing the FBI to disclose its records on its wiretapping of Patriarca, Medeiros said.

Everett Sammartino, the assistant U.S. attorney handling the case, said the decision was under advisement. "We are reviewing it with the Department of Justice and have no further comment at this

Named as defendants in the Journal's suit are the FBI, former FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, the Justice Department and U.S. Attorney General Griffin

The newspaper filed suit after the department refused to make the wiretan records public on the ground that it would "constitute an unwarranted invasion of

The Journal is seeking access to the transcripts because they allegedly show links between Rhode Island public officials and organized crime. The FBI wiretapped Patriarca's National Cigarette Service in Providence from March 1962 to July 1965. Tapes of the conversations have been destroyed, but typed summaries were preserved.

NEW YORK (AP) - Seven-Up Co. has Up balked at the offer and the price of Seven-Up stock, fueled by news of the acquisition attempt, rose by almost 50 percent, to about $43. For Seven-Up, which is based in St.

Louis, it means the end of the tight control exercised over the company by heirs of its three founders. The families own 45 percent of the stock, and Tuesday's announcement indicated that they would tender all of it to Philip Morris. Observers suggested that the heirs might be willing to sell the stock to help pay off inheritance taxes. When Seven-Up rejected private overtures from Philip Morris earlier this month, Philip Morris chairman Joseph Cullman III initiated a tender offer for 51 percent of the soft-drink maker's stock at $41 per share, later raising the ante by $5. Seven-Up filed suit last week in federal court in St. Louis, claiming that the offer violated several Securities and Exchange Commission regulations, including not informing Seven-Up shareholders of the complete terms of the offer.

On Friday, between the time the judge hearing the case indicated he would grant the injunction and the time it was to be signed, however, lawyers for the two companies reached a compromise, and Philip Morris published complete details of its offer in several newspapers last Saturday. In return, Seven-Up agreed to drop the suit. leading some observers to believe that Seven-Up was knuckling un-

Seven-Up is the nation's third-largest selling soft drink, taking 7.2 percent of a market dominated by Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola, and finding itself threatened by the No. 4 brand, Dr Pepper, which has a 6.3 percent share of the market.

Philip Morris is quite successful in both the tobacco and beer fields. Its Marlboro, Benson & Hedges, Merit, Virginia Slims and Parliament cigarette brands make it No. 2 among cigarette makers, and Miller beer, which it acquired eight years ago, has sinced moved from seventh place to second behind Anheuser-Busch Inc.'s Budweiser.

Philip Morris had net income of $334.9 million in 1977 on sales of $5.2 billion, up from $265.7 million and $4.3 billion in 1976, due in part to the success of its Miller Lite beer.

Seven-Up has not done quite as well. with income of $25.8 million on revenues of $251 million last year, slightly up from 1976 figures of $24.8 million and $233.3

Ambassador Urges Hike In Troops

TOKYO (UPI) — Ambassador to Japan Mike Mansfield today urged strengthening of American military forces in the Far East and said the United States must remain an Asia-Pacific power because "this is where the future is."

 Mansfield met with a 25-member party of United Press International directors, the UPI advisory board and wives just before their departure for China on a 17day goodwill visit.

The group is led by UPI President Roderick W. Beaton. It will visit Peking, Shanghai, Chengtu, Chungking, Wuhan and Canton as guests of the New China News Agency.

During the visit Beaton will hold discussions with Chinese authorities on establishment of a UPI bureau in Peking.

Mansfield said that if the United States extends diplomatic recognition to China it should be on the basis of self-interest, and added that President Carter is not prepared to take the step at this time.

"This is where the future is," the ambassador said in reference to trade and economic opportunities for the United States. "You've got the people, the resources and the markets. This is an area we've got to pay attention to."

Mansfield said military bases in the Philippines and Japan are important to the United States and that the American relationship with Japan "militarily couldn't be better."

"The People Republic of China is holding down 44 Soviet divisions at no cost to us," Mansfield added.

He said that despite China's public support for withdrawal of American troops from South Korea. "I don't think they've been averse to our being there over the last few decades."

Mansfield said that for America to recognize China "would be a difficult decision. It would create repercussions and disputes.

"Add that to all the other things on a president's plate and you have an idea of how domestic politics can conflict with foreign policy."

Mansfield said he agrees with President Carter's human rights position "but I don't think it gives us the right to intervene in other countries."

In an interview published in the Asahi

In an interview published in the Asahi newspaper of Tokyo Tuesday, Mansfield said the United States will never hold talks with North Korea without South Korean participation.

The former Senate majority leader said "it would be unfortunate if North Korean leaders continue to refuse a dialogue with the Republic of Korean government."

"Relaxation of tension and perpetual peace on the Korean peninsula should be achieved by the Koreans themselves," the envoy said. "Direct talks between the south and the north are needed in order to achieve them."

OPECCountries Continue To Invest In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Showing that they have not lost confidence in the U.S. dollar, oil-exporting nations are continuing their investments in the U.S., a Treasury Department official says.

Treasury Undersecretary Anthony M. Solomon said Monday that since the four-fold increase in oil prices in 1973, about 25 percent of all OPEC surplus funds have been invested in the United States.

Although Solomon didn't mention a figure, 25 percent of the total OPEC surplus of $194 billion in the past four years is $47 billion, which would be the approximate amount invested in the United States.

Solomon said that "contrary to some press reports," the investments by OPEC nations in the United States are continuing, despite the recent turmoil on foreign exchange markets.

"Indeed, very preliminary information for the first quarter of this year indicates that a high and perhaps even larger proportion of OPEC assets was placed in the United States," he said.

Some OPEC investments in the United States have been in property, but most of it has apparently been in U.S. government securities and in portfolio investments in the stock market.

Solomon also said that the surplusfunds earned by OPEC nations this year may be only about $20 billion, which he said is a "startling" decline from last year's surplus of $35 billion and about $45 billion the year before.

The lower surplus, he said, should help stabilize the international economy. Solomon made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery to a conference in New York.

Solomon said that in addition to the declining OPEC surplus, another factor that will help stabilize the world economy is that economies of other nations should be growing at nearly the same rate as the U.S. economy by the end of the year.

Begelman's Trial Set For June 19

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — David Begelman is to stand trial next month on charges of theft and forgery while he was president of Columbia Pictures.

Begelman appeared in court Monday at a five-minute hearing at which Superior Court Judge Kenneth White set a June 19 trial date, and moved the case back to Burbank, where Columbia is located. Begelman, 57, is charged with forging $40,000 worth checks in the names of actor Cliff Robertson, director Martin Ritt and restauranteur Pierre Groleau. Begelman has pleaded innocent.

Amarillo counters with Mark Hotmann

By TOM HALLIBURTON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff AMARILLO - Monterey returns to the scene of the crime today and MHS coach Bobby Moegle would call it a crime when he remembers last year.

The Plainsmen led 5-2 and needed three more outs in the final game of the 1977 bidistrict series when the Sandies scored four times, captured a 6-5 win and whisked the Plainsmen back home for a longer summer vacation than they had anticipated.

The scene, the Amarillo High field, provides the setting for the first game in this year's best-of-three bidistrict between the same two teams at 4 p.m. The teams will play the second game and the third, if necessary, Friday in Lowrey Field at 2:30 p.m.

Many items seem peculiarly the same about the teams. The first-game pitchers in the 1977 series return to the mound when Kim Sargent (7-1) of the Sandies duels Ron Reeves (11-0) of the Plainsmen. Six MHS bats and five AHS sticks return to the batting orders for Moegle and Amarillo coach Gus Hrncir.

Moegle has explained last year's unexpected downfall to every attentive ear. At times, a listener might think Moegle had a psychiatrist examine the state of his team. At any rate, the 19-year coach notices a different atmosphere in the MHS camp as the playoffs begin this time.

"I think all year long they've looked forward to getting back to the part of the season they missed last year. I think we got into the playoffs last year and it didn't seem to mean much. They worked

The Monterey coach believes his team could compete on a championship level with more strengths than last year's club. Added pitching depth, running speed and front-line pitching maturity are the main

"And I've worked them harder getting them ready this year, too," Moegle added. "We're still not anywhere close to being as good as we could get. Ron (Reeves) is on the same level Larry Horn was in 1974. I'm confident his arm trouble has helped him work to become a better pitcher. But Derek (Hatfield) hasn't pitched anywhere near potential vet.'

Moegle also figures the Amarillo club owns better speed and size than it did a year ago. Monterey outhit the Sandies in each of the two Plainsmen defeats last year (6-5 and 9-6). When Reeves and Hatfield encountered wild streaks, though, Moegle lacked anyone in the bullpen for relief help last year. This time sophs Ricky Pinkerton and Kent Potts have earned their coach's confidence.

William Carey Appears Sure Bet Against Mesa

By WALT MCALEXANDER Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

It's a good thing games are decided on the playing field, because if that were not the case, Mesa (Colo.) State apparently could save itself a long trip for nothing.

The District 7 champions from Grand Junction, Colo. are the only team with a winning percentage below .650 in the Area II (NAIA) Tournament which kicks off at Chaparral Stadium on the Lubbock Christian College campus Wednesday.

Waiting in the wings for the Mavericks, who stand a mere 17-22 for the season, is No. 1-ranked William Carey College of Hattiesburg. Miss., which owns a gaudy 50-9 (.847 winning percentage) record. But the Mavericks' record could be misleading.

Granted, they've won just two of seven games against NAIA nationally ranked teams-Grand Canvon College. to be more specific.

William Carey, on the other hand, has a 5-0 mark against units in the Top 20 and had to unseat No. 3 Jackson State in the District 30 playoffs.

Mesa State, which won the national junior college championship six years back, is in only its third year as a senior college, and this is its first losing season. But of the 20 games against NCAA Division I schools this year, the Mayericks posted a 9-11 mark.

At one time this year, three of the four representatives here were below .500-host Lubbock Christian and William Carey in addition to Mesa, which has been above the .500 level for only a couple of days.

LCC was 3-9 when the Chaparrals started a 27-game winning streak. William Carey dropped its first game of the year, then proceeded to win 28 in a row

However, immediately after being named No. 1 in the nation, the Crusaders dropped four games to conclude the regular season, bowing 5-0, 9-3, 10-7 and 4-3. Both John Stephenson at William Carey and Byron

Wiehe at Mesa State are in their third years as head In their third year under new coach Byron Wiehe, Mesa finished third in the Hawaiian Holiday Classic Tournament, beating out University of Illinois-Chicago Circle and Northwestern, but falling to Santa Clara and the host unit. After whipping Northwestern twice, the Mavericks stood 6-4, but two days later the record was 6-8 and they've never reached the .500 level again.

However, Mesa closed the regular season with two wins over Regis and then won four of five in the district tour-

Prior to this year, Wiehe's teams had compiled 21-12 and 25-20 marks

The Mayericks are led by second baseman Jimie Hamilton, a three-time all-District 7 selection who led the Hawaiian Classic in hitting with a .449 norm and was co-MVP (with teammate Gary Scogin) in the district tournament. Scogin a centerfielder, made two super super catches in the district meet, including one when he crashed into the wall, and knocked himself out while holding onto the ball.

William Carey is in its first year with John Stephenson as coach, but the Crusaders had won 30, 40, 29 and now 50.

games over the bast four seasons. Last year's 29-14 ledge was hampered sby 16 rainouts and three consecutive weeks of inact the season.

Among the Crusaders' stars are centerfielder Alex La-Grone (13 homers, 47 RBIs, .335 average, 41 steals in 44 attempts, second baseman Ricky McMullen (.437), first baseman Randy Ratcliff (14 doubles, 16 homers, 50 RBIs, 368), and left fielder Robby Parker (18 homers, 79 RBIs, Stephenson was a bit miffed at the 18-player limit, saying. "We normally carry a roster of 28 or 30. It's hard to explain to a pitcher who is 6-0 or 5-0 why you have to leave him at home. And we have one of each who is not on the roster.

The Crusaders have ripped 83 homers and are hitting 349 as a team, the best marks of any team in the meet although LCC boasts 79 homers and a 340 mark. However William Carey's pitching staff has allowed only 338 hits in 431 mnings and has a 2.25 ERA.

LCC Third Baseman Langdon Sidelined Langdon, from Albuquerque, has thus

If things keep going at their present rate, Lubbock Christian College coach Larry Hays may not have nine men to put on the field by the time the Area II Tournament is over.

The Chaparrals lost third baseman Clark Langdon for the remainder of the season over the weekend when his left leg, injured in the District 8 Tournament in Arlington, did not respond to treat-

Canadiens Perfect?

MONTREAL (AP) - "I'm in a bad position to talk about it," said Montreal right wing Guy Lafleur, "but I don't think there's any team that doesn't have a weakness." That includes the Canadiens, whom Lafleur has led to consecutive National Hockey League titles.

The trouble is, the Boston Bruins have vet to find a flaw they can exploit. The Canadiens - powered by Lafleur's offensive magic - have won the last seven playoff games they have played against Boston, including Saturday night's opener in the best-of-seven championship se-

Coker hurled a five-hit, 1-0 victory over Arkansas in the Bears' opener, while Randell collected seven hits in the Cougars' four games.

Rangers

ARLINGTON (AP) - The Texas Rangers paid the Boston Red Sox $125,000 in the off season for Ferguson Jenkins, hoping the 35-year-old righthander could help in long relief. Now he's the ace of the staff.

Jenkins earned his fourth victory against a lone loss Monday night with an 86 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers and the only thing that kept him from a complete game was bad sleeping posture.

I slept wrong and put some pressure on my shoulder blade," said Jenkins, who had an ice pack on his back after the game. "I told (Manager) Billy Hunter to TRAVIS get me out after the eighth inning

Jenkins, scattered seven hits and allowed four runs, three of them earned. Sixto Lezcano touched him for a fifth-inning homer, but the Rangers had already buried the Brewers and Bill Travers with a 13-hit attack. Jim Sundberg collected three hits Juan Beniquez and Toby Harrah each knocked in two runs and John Lowenstein cracked his first homer of the year. Travers was making his first appearance of the year after off-season surgery.

The Rangers told me when they bought me that I would be used in long relief and I personally thought it would be June until I could work my way into the starting rotation," said Jenkins, who won 25 games for Texas in 1974.

We lost seven in a row and they came to me and asked me to start. I said, 'Sure,' but I don't think I turned the team around. It was just too good not to turn around." he added.

Jenkins has an earned run average of slightly less than 3.00 and has yielded only five earned runs in his four starts.

Hunter said, "It was nice to get some hits for a change, but that happened to us a couple of days ago and just disappeared. I'm booking for consistency.

FORT WORTH (UPI) - Ty Thomp son, a 6-9, 225-pound forward from Richmond. Ind., Monday was signed to a basketball scholarship by the TCU Horned Frogs

We've signed a 6-9 player who can shoot," head coach Tim Somerville said He played center in high shool but he'll play forward for us. When he goes away from the basket, people will have to go out and guard him.

Thompson averaged 14.5 points and 6.5 rebounds a game last season and was selected to the All-North Central Conference all-star team.

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff A strange thing happened to Spencer Sunstrum. Don Jones and Ricky Thompson on their way to dominating the high jump at the state meet last Saturday.

It turned out that none of the three, considered to be the state's premier leapers, could maneuver over the 7-0 mark. And on top of that they were ambushed by a darhorse, Chuck Perry of Monterey.

Before the state competition in Memorial Stadium, there had been talk of a possible national mark in the high jump. With leapers like Sunstrum of Richardson Pearce (7-114) Jones of Nacogdoches (7-0) and Thompson of Houston Jones (7-(i), it was easy to understand why Sunstrum wound up in third, behind Jim Howard of Alvin, and Jones fourth. And Thompson? Who knows.

Perry, a qualifier for the meet at 6-712, had the sixth lowest mark, heading into the competition.

One of the favorites, he wasn't. As it turned out the Monterey junior was the only one of the eight able to scale the 7-0 height. For his eforts, he won the

NFLPA Says Free Agency Not Working

ness of the free agent system is at issue in a National Football League Players Association case being heard by a federal appeals court today.

The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting at the University of Minnesota law school, heard arguments on whether the system needs further investigation. NFL Players Association Executive Director Ed Garvey says most NFL clubs have not taken part in bidding for free agents under the bargaining agreement approved in March, 1977 Only six players of 93 received offers this year, and objective people must conclude that something is wrong," Garvey

The agreement is not working, said Garvey, because "the clubs are taking the position for the first time that they have a perpetual option on free agents who fail to get offers from other teams." Garvey said the NFLPA vigorously opposes that interpretation of the agree-

On Feb. 1. 126 players became free agents. Thirty-three received no qualifying offers from their old clubs and were totally free to sign with other teams. Another 22 players re-signed with their old clubs and 15 others either are expected to retire or to fail physicals.

Of the remaining 56 players, only six were signed by new clubs "Several teams did-not enter the bidding at all; and several more talked with only one or two players," Garvey said. 'This indicates bad faith on the part of the management. 'In a monopoly like the NFL it won't work if the teams are negotiating in bad faith." he added. Those players who received no offers could become free June 1 if their old teams make them no qualifying offer. But if the team makes a qualifying offer before then (at a 10 percent raise over the 1977 salary), the player must sign with

The Matadors' woes started in the 400 meter relay when, the last exchange, an chorman Michael Sims was unable to ge the stick from teammate Joseph Moore Estacado failed to pick up a point there. In the 100, Sims posted a sparkling 9.7, but when the heat includes sprinters like Mitchell Bennet of Bonham (9.3) and Carl Williams of Columbia (9.3), it be-eomes very difficult to break into the one of the strong mile favorites; came in third but was disqualified for interfering with second-place finisher John Sauerhage of Arlington.

WHAT? - Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark (3) restrains his catcher Bob Boone in the seventh inning Monday night at Houston. Boone was ejected from the game for bumping umpire Bruce Froemming when Froemming started toward the mound. The incident started when Phillie reliever Warren Brusstar disagreed with a ball four call. Umpire Dick Stello is behind Froemming. (AP Laserphoto)

Richard's Two-Hitter Again Stymies Phils

When Houston's J.R. Richard fired a four-hit, 11-strikeout masterpiece to beat Philadelphia 5-1 last week. Richie Hebner of the Phillies quipped that "he's so big out there that when he throws he ball you could almost smell his breath. Monday night, the 6-foot-8 right-hander breathed down the Phillies' necks again are that much better than we are. "There is no easy answer to beating the Canadiens, and we never expected there to be one," added McNab. "But if we win Game 2 tonight, it will change the whole complexion of the series. They'll be the ones that will have to be doing all the thinking since they'll be coming into our building for the next two games. The days since Saturday night's 4-1 Montreal triumph have been full of thought for the Bruins. "If we change our game plan after 80 regular season games and two playoff se ries, we're crazy," said Boston Coach Don Cherry, "I think we'll play better tomorrow night; the only problem is, they
