Evening vote planned on warplane sale

Vol. 50, No. 67, Daily 15¢, Sunday 35¢

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, after talking with several senators, is predicting that the Senate tonight will refuse to block his plan to sell sophisticated U.S. warplanes to Israel and two of its Arab neighbors. The Senate vote this evening will come after 10 hours of debate today that includes a two-hour closed-door meeting of the Senate to discuss classified aspects of the pending sale.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. who asked for the closed session, said he wants the lawmakers to discuss the security implications for "the entire Middle East" of the presence in the area of Soviet-backed Cuban troops.

Even if the Senate should vote to kill the sale of planes to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia, the proposal would survive if the House refuses to block the sale, too

Such proposals are automatically approved unless both the Senate and the House vote to reject the sales.

On the eve of the Senate showdown vote Carter lobbied his $4.8 billion plane sale proposal with several sen-

Two opponents, meanwhile, predicted a close vote.

the assistant Democratic leader, Sen. Alan Cranston of California, said the situation in the Senate was "extremely fluid." ## 3,500 evacuees return to homes

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — About 3,-500 persons evacuated when railroad tank cars carrying volatile chemicals derailed returned to their homes in this east Texas town today.

Police said an evacuation order was lifted at midnight Sunday, about eight hours after 16 cars of a 117-car Southern Pacific freight train went off the track. Eleven of the 16 cars burned following three explosions, and nine were still smouldering today, said Southern Pacific spokesman Joe

About 180 persons evacuated from two nursing homes were not brought back until this morning, the spokesman said.

About 35 persons — mainly law enforcement officers and firemen were treated for smoke inhalation and released. The four train crewmen escaped injury

Some of the cars were known to contain highly corrosive acetic acid and butadiene, a flammable chemical used in making rubber.

There were three explosions after the derailment, witnesses and officials said, and billowing black smoke could be seen for miles The evacuation order covered a two-mile radius of a business-residential area on the southeast side of the city, whose population is 24,000.

Cause of the derailment was not known immediately.

Meanwhile, 90 miles to the northwest in Walton where a gas well began leaking deadly fumes over the weekend, officials said it may be two or three days before residents would be allowed to return home.

Firefighter Red Adair's crew capped the well after the deadly hydrogen sulfide fumes had caused a 300-square mile weekend evacuation. No one was injured in that incident.

Although several of the 16 derailed cars of a 117-car Southern Pacific freight train which derailed near Nacogdoches Sunday continue to smolder, most evacuated residents have been allowed to return to their homes. Witnesses said the fire broke out following three explosions among the derailed cars. Some were known to contain acetic acid and butadiene. (AP Laserphoto)

In the area of Trent, the northeastern city where Red Brigades leader Renato Curcio spawned his terrorist philosophy, partial returns from Sunday's voting showed the Christian Democrats scoring a strong increase in their share of the vote while the Communists and Socialists lost some Political analysts had predicted a strong sympathy vote for the Christian Democrats after the Red Brigades kidnapped and killed former premier Moro, the president of the party, but the shift seemed to be even stronger than predicted. But had either one taken a week's trip by horseback, maybe there would have been a shift in the stars and the course of their lives would have changed.

That's nebulous perhaps. What's really down-to-earth is an upcoming horseback ride over mountainous trails in southern New Mexico. It's called the annual Billy the Kid Trail' Ride, and it's sponsored by the Roswell campus of Eastern New Mexico University. For $185, it'll make for a fairly inexpensive vacation; an outfitter will pack the equipment and feed the horses and will cook the meals for the trail riders. A wrangler will help with the mounts. In his book published today by Simon & Schuster, "Honorable Men: My Life in the CIA," Colby argues that "whether we would have won or lost," the only way to have sensibly fought the Vietnam war was at the village level as a political struggle against the communists, using only Vietnamese forces.

As CIA station chief in Saigon in 1963, Colby writes of attending a Hawaii conference where plans were discussed to escalate the war. He tried to convince then Secretary of Defense Robert MacNamara that the sabotage teams sent into North Vietnam had disappeared quickly from radio contact and possibly were captured "and that putting such teams into the north did not and would not

Colby wrote that MacNamara "listened to me with a cold look and he rejected my advice. The desire to put pressure onto North Vietnam prevailed, and there and then the United States military started the planning and activity that would escalate finally to fullscale air attacks."

Colby criticizes the late President John F. Kennedy for going along with "what I still consider the worst mistake of the war, the American-sponsored overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem," and writes that earlier two "high ranking" United States officials clearly implied that the CIA should assassinate Ngo Dinh Nhu, Diem's brother and opporient of American plans for reform.

Temperatures in upper 90s should keep fans running

Midlanders might be well advised to keep the fans running and plenty of cool drinks on hand because the weatherman predicts high temperatures will reach the upper 90s through Tuesday in Midland.

Skies should be fair through Tuesday. The low temperature tonight is expected to drop to the middle 60s with southerly winds diminishing to 10 to 15 mph.

Sunday's high temperature was 90 degrees, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal. The overnight low temperature was 59 degrees.

All area towns reported clear skies and unusually warm, early morning temperatures today.

Torrential rains that tied up traffic, disrupted airline schedules and created flash flood threats throughout the Northeast abated today, but intermittent showers were expected to persist until Thursday.

Sunday's rainfall set a record for a May 14 in New York City with an accumulation of 3.38 inches reported Flash flood watches were in effect today for the New York City area, where the rain stopped by morning, and for central Pennsylvania, where the heavy downpour threatened to break a dam near Philipsburg.

In Pennsylvania, the threat of a dam break on Coldstream Creek forced about 25 persons living in lowlying areas to evacuate their homes, state officials said. But officials said the situation eased by 4 a.m. EDT, as the rain subsided.

On Sunday, hundreds of cars in the New York area stalled as streets and highways flooded. Airline schedules were disturbed, with many landings and takeoffs delayed and some planes being diverted from Kennedy and La-Guardia to other airports.

In Massaachusetts, a 72-foot trawler with four fishermmen aboard sank in 8-foot seas Sunday night after striking rocks on the Sow and Pigs Reef off the coast, the Coast Guard said. The fishermen were rescued by a Coast Guard cutter.

Britain joins atomic challenge

By ARTHUR L.GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) - Britain lines up today with its major European allies in a new challenge to President Carter's campaign to limit the production and use of plutonium for nuclear power because it also can be used for nuclear weapons.

The House of Commons is scheduled to give the go-ahead for con-struction of a $1.2-billion nuclear reprocessing plant at Windscale, in northwest England, and a new generation of fast-breeder reactors.

This will put the British alongside the French in rejecting Carter's plea last year to shelve plans for reprocessing and fast-breeder plants until completion and evaluation of the International Fuel Cycle Evaluation Program now under way in Vienna.

The French have already started a reprocessing and fast-breeder project at Cap La Hague, near Cherbourg.

France and Britain contend they must have fast-breeder reactors to avert crippling energy shortages later this century. Carter contends that the reactors will produce a surplus of plutonium that could multiply the number of nations with nuclear weapons or the capability of producing them.

Dr. Walter Marshall, the deputy chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority, disputes Carter's argument.

"The fast-breeder reactor does not use plutonium to 'breed' plutonium like rabbits breed rabbits," he says. 'The analogy is much closer to the way human beings breed human beings in full knowledge of birth control techniques.'

He contended that fast breeders, when properly adjusted and controlled, use up the plutonium they produce

The Carter administration also has failed in its attempts to avert the sale to Pakistan and Brazil of French and West German plants to reprocess enriched uranium after it has been used for nuclear fuel. These plants will manufacture plutonium as a byproduct.

Differences, difficulties and arguments have developed between Carter and his European allies on at least four other major nuclear issues:

1. The French are keeping the European Atomic Energy Authority, com-posed of the nine Common Market nations, from discussing renegotiation of its contracts for the purchase of U.S. enriched uranium. A new U.S. law directs the president to cut off supplies to foreign customers until they agree to new safeguards against use of the uranium for weapons.

2. EURATOM is also stalling on application of new safeguards and security standards formulated by the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna. These include introduction of new tamper-proof equipment, television monitors and other Americandeveloped instruments to control the movement of sensitive materials and account of it. As nuclear weapon powers, Britain and France are exempt. But West Germany and other EURATOM members argue that their safeguards are as good as IAEA's or better.

3. British Nuclear Fuels Ltd., the government company that runs Windscale, has offered to sell Brazil a "hex" nuclear plant transforms uranium oxide into uranium hexafluoride, a gas used in enriching uranium for civilian or military pur-

4. Because of the new U.S. law, Brazil has contracted to buy a supply of enriched uranium over the next 10 years from a British-West German-Dutch consortium known as Eurenco.

'Tougher' Carter toreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Will the real Jimmy Carter please stand up? He certainly will - and the American public will notice the difference, says Carter's chief political adviser, Hamilton Jordan.

Jordan, in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report, said Americans are going to see a much tougher president in the future. They'll see more of the Jimmy Carter who pointedly attacked doctors and lawyers during his recent tour of Western states "In the first year or so in office, maybe we were a bit too accommodating," Jordan said. "We were the new guys in town, and we were trying to get along with everybody.

That learning process is over, and from now on I think you're again going to see the real Jimmy Carter. Tougher, yes ... because that's the way he really is."

Jordan said Carter's drop in public opinion polls indicates the president is 'a little bit out of sync with the country."

"My own reading of the political situation is that we've got an activist president when the mood of the country is somewhat passive. Americans want it both ways: they want to pay less taxes and have less government interference, but they want more government services. They want detente, but they want us to be tough with the Soviets. They want us to have more weapons systems, but they want us to cut the defense budget."

Hostages released

CARSON, Calif. (AP) - Three gunmen released five supermarket employees unharmed and surrendered to sheriff's deputies today after a sixhour standoff following an apparent holdup attempt. Sheriff's spokesman Jim Borland said authorities negotiated by telephone with the gunmen, who made no demands except that they should not be photographed by the media when they emerged from the store, 15 miles south of Los Angeles.

All three gunmen and a fourth accomplice, who was taken into custody when he came out of the supermarket earlier, were booked at the Carson sheriff's substation for investigation of robbery and kidnapping. The four were identified as George Levingston, 24; Curtis Cuberson, 38; Greg Speech, 22, and Tyrone Washington, 24, all of Los Angeles.

Jim Borland, sheriff's information officer, said the gunmen barricaded themselves inside the supermarket Sunday night after two California Highway Patrol officers, on-a coffee break nearby, thwarted an alleged robbery attempt.

Borland said two men entering the supermarket aroused the suspicion of the CHP officers. When one of them emerged a few minutes later armed with a shotgun, the CHP officers took him into custody, he said.

the Health Department's Bureau of Long Term Care, will begin at 10 a.m. in The Midland National Bank build-

The proposed rules on orientation and training of nursing home employees will apply to any employee who has direct contact with residents.

The rules specify the number of hours of orientation and training and prescribe the basic curriculum to be followed.

Other rules to be aired deal with annual medical examinations for nursing home residents. The proposals would require each patient to be examined at least once a year by a family physician or other designated

These examinations must be documented by written reports as well as must other physician visits, according to the proposed rules.

The Midland public hearing, one of six statewide, will be open to any interested person, the Health Department says.

Health seminar slated Tuesday

A seminar on health insurance needs and problems of senior citizens will be held Tuesday, beginning at 9 a.m. in the youth lounge of the First Christian Church.

The seminar, sponsored by the Senior Services Offices, Midland Association of Life Underwriters and the Better Business Bureau, is free. Speakers will be Don Crawford, Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas; Hugh B. Gilmour, Equitable Life Assurance Society, and Allen L. Beatty, Better Business Bureau of the Permian Basin, Inc.

The speakers will cover such topics as what to look for in a policy, how to purchase Medicare Supplement insurance, sources of information about insurance companies, what to insure against, causes of complaints, what kind of information a salesperson should provide you with, how to avoid being victimized and where to go for help.

A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

The seminar is designed to help senior citizens evaluate their own insurance needs and how best to meet them, said Marion Fisher, director of Senior Services.

Senior citizens wishing to attend should preregister by calling 682-7577, if possible, Mrs. Fisher said.

The Cuban contingent in South Yemen, which the State Department official said has been there since the early 1970s, was increased earlier this year during the Soviet-Cuban buildup

Neither the State Department official nor the president, during a meeting with Hispanic journalists on Friday, made any reference to the strategic importance of the Soviet-Cuban presence on the Arabian Peninsula opposite the Horn of Africa, where they now are operating in strength.

But Sen. Henry M. Jackson, DWash., said on Sunday that it "quite clearly indicates the Cubans have become surrogates for mischief in Africa and now the Middle East."

The Soviet-Cuban deployment in South Yemen, he said, "is part of an encircling effort to deny oil to West-

Carter mentioned the Cuban presence in South Yemen as an example of 'unnecessary and excessive use of military forces by Castro" overseas, primarily in Africa but "to some degree lately in the Middle East, like in South Yemen."

The State Department has said Cuba has between 38,000 and 39,000 military personnel and 6,000 civilians throughout Africa, including an estimated 17,000 military personnel in Ethiopia, situated on the Red Sea, is about 300 miles west of South Yemen and its port of Aden, once a major British base guarding the eastward route to India. The Soviets are known to have been operating from South Yemen for some time.

The 17,000 Cubans and an estimated 1,500 Soviet advisers in Ethiopia have backed that country in its war with neighboring Somalia. They also are believed preparing to help the Marxist regime in Addis Ababa in its battle against secessionists in Eritrea prov-ince in northernmost Ethiopia.

Two founders of the Georgian branch of Orlov's also went on trial today in Tbilisi, but Tass said they pleaded guilty to the charges of anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda. Like Orlov, they could be sentenced to seven years in a labor

A CONTINUED COMMITMENT

In September 1976, the Elks Club property was purchased with plans of building a total family recreation and health facility. After many months of careful planning and study these plans have been completed. The new facilities are to include separate health spas for men and women containing Nautilus exercise equipment, steam/sauna baths, whirlpool, inhalation rooms, massage, sunrooms, and vanities. The spas will also include an indoor pool with a banked jogging track, an outdoor jogging track, game rooms, a conference room, and a nutrition center.

The complex will also contain four handball/racquetball courts with glass backwalls, and tiered seating for 200 spectators.

In addition to the spas and the handball/ racquetball courts the complex will maintain the existing 5 tennis courts (which will be resurfaced and lighted) and construct two new clay courts.

All facilities at the complex will be available by private membership and will be maintained by the professional supervision which only the Paul Thorpe Spa system can offer,

We have a president, who is not only incompetent, but a demonstrable liar; four times, that is, according to William Safire, with respect to Marstongate. Further, President Carter lied to the governors of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana when he assured them that he would work to deregulate natural gas.

Limitation agreement is termed national suicide

By CHARLEY REESE

Sun Belt Syndicate
ORLANDO, Fla. — The tentative agreement reached by the Carter administration and the Soviet Union to limit the total number of Soviet and American bombers and missiles to 2,250 each is national suicide.

CHARLEY REESE SAYS:

You don't have to be an expert to figure that out. Think for a moment. What is the purpose of our bombers and missiles? To deter a nuclear attack by the Soviet Union.

What is our policy on a pre-emptive first strike? We reject that. That means that we have a policy of accepting a nuclear surprise attack and then retaliating. And that means that what counts, in terms of deterrence, is not the number of bombers and missiles we start with, but the number we have left after a Soviet attack.

So up front, if we start off "even Stephen" we start off in the hole since we are committed by our own policy of accepting some losses before we push the button.

Ofcourse, too, there is no way in the world to verify this or any other arms agreement with the Soviet Union. The Soviets operate a closed and secret society. There will be no on-theground inspections, you can bet on

So the only clues we'll have will be satellite photography which cannot: (1) account for mobile missiles; (2) reveal what kind of missile is in the silo; (3) measure refire capability, or (4) keep track of submarines.

That means you will have to take the Soviets' word that they are abiding by the agreement and if there is any group in the world whose word is more worthless than Jimmy Carter's it's the Soviet leaders.

But there's more bad news. Soviet military doctrine, unlike ours which was created by civilians, is based on the following premises: (1) nuclear war is likely; (2) nuclear war can be won, and (3) in a nuclear environment, the pre-emptive first strike is

If you match that doctrine with their actions, you can see why they have: (a) spent considerable sums on civil defense; (b) developed large megaton warheads, the only logical purpose of which is to destroy our missiles in their silos; (c) deployed the world's most extensive aerospace defense force, and (d) outrun us in developing orbital bombs and antisatellite weaponry.

It doesn't look good, folks.

Now, while they have been building up their military power, we have been tearing ours down. We have no air defense worth the name. There are about 330 fighter-interceptors, 57 radars, and zero surface to air missiles and zero anti-ballistic missiles. In contrast, the Soviets have 6,500 radars, 2,600 fighter-interceptors, and 12,000 surface to air missiles. Around Moscow, there are 64 anti-ballistic

How much bad news can you take? The Soviets have over 800 strategic and medium bombers capable of reaching the good old U.S. while we have just over 300 B-52s that are 15 to 20 years old.

You see, we've either been hiring foxes to guard the hen house or have discovered the dumbest breed of watchdogs in the history of the animal kingdom. We'd be okay if it were really true that arms races lead to war because there is hardly a race anymore, but the trouble is that isn't true. War comes when one side wins the arms race and the Soviets are sprinting toward the finish line. A few of us have been trying to wake people up to the fact that they'd better pay attention to politics and that there were more important issues that the Equal Rights Amendment or whether a nightclub comic can cuss on television. When the bombs go boom, I hope I'm around long enough to say, "See what we

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Labor racketeers infest unions

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Two decades ago, the late Sen. John McClellan, D.-Ark., the embodiment of righteous wrath, held hearings that shook the labor movement. He exposed links between labor bosses and crime lords. His investigation led to the conviction of Teamsters President Jimmy Hoffa.

The flamboyant Hoffa has been liquidated, according to underworld informants, by the mobsters he befriended, and McClellan has succumbed to old age. But little else has changed. The labor racketeers still infest the unions.

We have sought to bring the story of labor racketeering up to date. The Teamsters, for example, brought in the former All-American football player. Daniel Shannon, to clean up its Central States Pension Fund. which allegedly has made illegal loans to gangsters. Last year, he testified before the Senate Investigations Committee about the mobsters he had discovered in the shadows. He blasted Allen Dorfman, a convicted racketeer, by name. Intelligence documents in our possession describe Dorfman as "the man to see to get a loan. Shannon was forced to resign as a pension fund trustee, say our sources, because he dared to stand up to the mob. Now we have learned that Shannon has received death threats. In view of Hoffa's experience, these cannot be dismissed lightly. The Justice Department and Senate

Investigations Committee are conducting a low-key investigation of the death threats. The federal authorities will try to determine whether they are related to Shannon's previous testimony and are intended to prevent him from testifying again. Since he is still under Senate subpoena, it would be a federal crime to prevent him from testifying. Our sources believe this should deter any underworld hit men. But as a precaution, the government is protecting him.

We have also been checking into Local 210 of the International Laborers Union, a brass-knuckles local, which controls the construction industry in Buffalo, N.Y. We have identified Local 210 as the power base of the late Stephano Magaddino, who has been named in Senate testimony as the former boss of Buffalo's 'powerful, well-entrenched organized crime syndicate." The syndicate's "principal remaining source of power," according to the Senate testimony, "is complete control of a single, though important union local." We have determined this is Local 210. It was run by Victor Randaccio whose brother, Freddy, is listed in federal records as a Mafioso. A Mafia killer, whom our sources have identified as Dan Domino, is carried on the union payroll as a 'custodial" worker. "He specializes in enforcer-type activities, end he is believed to have been responsible for some four unsolved murders."

testified Robert Stewart, who heads the federal organized crime strike force offices in Buffalo and Newark. Earlier, Domino was "convicted of bank robbery in 1968."

Labor Department records show he started out as a "business agent" for the notorious Local 210. But the Labor Department forced the union to oust him after he was convicted of "making a false loan application to a federally insured bank." The local immediately rehired him for two 'custodial' jobs, paying him a combined annual salary of $18,500.

A companion local in Niagara Falls. according to Senate testimony, is also dominated by an organized crime figure. Without naming the union, Stewart testified: "There have been persistent rumors over the past five years of extortionate demands upon industry, acts of property destruction and assorted misconduct.

"Authorities have found it impossible, however, to develop a viable prosecution because the atmosphere of intimidation is so complete that no one is willing to testify." We have identified this racketeer-ridden union as Local 91, which is run by Michael "Butch" Quarcini.

Stewart summarized the problem in urgent language. "Unless there is a drastic improvement in the enforcement capabilities of the federal government," he declared, "the trend created ... by the labor racketeering problem cannot be reversed.'

Footnote: Our associate Marc Smolonsky tried without success to get comments from the two locals. An attorney for Local 210 said only: They "didn't know what Stewart was talking about." An official of Local 91 "There is no one here, and I can't talk to you." He refused to put Smolonsky in touch with anyone else who could speak for the union.

ANSWER TO MARCOS: We recently reported that Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos had secretly started to recover the World War II booty that the Japanese buried in the Philippines. The treasure allegedly was stolen by Japanese conquerors when they occupied China, Burma and other Asian countries.

Marcos' former ambassador to the United States, Amelito Mutuc, admitted to us over the trans-Pacific telephone that he had participated in the fabulous treasure hunt. But Marcos denied our story, calling it our own "concoction."

Now we've learned that Marcos admitted at a 1970 press conference that he possessed some of the treasure:

Expanding clout of Human Rights Office questioned

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - The State Department's Office of Human Rights has now reached such policymaking eminence that a protest from its boss, Pat Derian, raised the possibility of postponing Vice President Walter Mondale's recent visit to Manila. Actually, Assistant Secretary of State Derian fought hard not just to postpone Mondale's trip, because it came so close to the much-criticized presidential election there, but to cancel it altogether.

"We wanted to postpone it to July. a top aide in Miss Derian's office told "Pat kept asking, why in God's name does he have to go to the Philippines anyway?

In the end, Mondale went as scheduled but first received a onehour briefing from Miss Derian on how to handle the delicate human rights question raised by allegations of massive electoral fraud by President Ferdinand Marcos.

The expanding policy-making minence of Miss Derian's Human Rights Office is raising some prominent eyebrows on grounds that human rights activists are jeopardizing other U.S. foreign policy objectives, particularly among con-servative and right-wing governments with intimate ties to the U.S. Linked to this concern about ever wider ramifications of President Carter's justly praised human rights initiative is the switch from loud to quiet administration handling of nonhuman rights in the Soviet Union and other Communist states.

A case in point was Secretary of State Vance's recent mission to Moscow on strategic arms limitation (SALT) talks. Vance spokesman Hodding Carter was permitted to inform the press that Vance privately complained about Russia's African adventures in his talks with Soviet leaders. But Carter was not authorized to tell the press that Vance also privately brought up human rights with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Evans

President Carter's human rights peratives are embarrassed by this dramatic change to an iceberg policy on Soviet non-human rights after the gaudy publicity Mr. Carter deliberately invoked early in his administration by inviting Soviet dissidents into the White House. They are claiming now that they can achieve more by concealed pressure. a claim that so far defies objective

But in the non-Communist world. the unconcealed emphasis on human rights is making troubling noises across Latin America and South Asia. Using the clout of presidential directive No. 30, secretly issued to government agencies by the National Security Council on Feb. 17, State's time. Human Rights Office has systematically rejected amost every single request from U.S allies for such routine civil law enforcement equipment as tear gas, .38 caliber pistols for police forces and handcuffs.

What makes this secret presidential directive so virulent, in the view of career diplomats privately fighting the entangling web of human rights restrictions, is this: Miss Derian's office is using it to reject requests, no matter how routine. even from countries such as Singapore never remotely charged with a "consistent pattern of gross violations" of human

The presidential directive officially inserts human rights into every policy decision. It orders American representatives on all international lending institutions, such as the Asian Development Bank, to vote against most loans for countries with a single human rights blemish. The dire implications of this new presidential directive are now being quietly tested throughout the government.

For example, an appeal is in the works to reverse a human rights veto of routine police equipment for Singapore (officially described by the State Department as "free from corruption"). In the case of similar rejections for Taiwan and South Korea, weeks have been consumed in the appeals' process. One appeal went to the desk of Vance himself. who bucked it back to Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, top human rights coordinator. Adjudication of Miss Derian's decrees are consuming an inordinate amount of bureaucratic

What is happening to U.S. allies in Asia afflicts longtime U.S. allies in Latin America at least as sharply Meanwhile, the Communist world, which is generally beyond the commercial or political reach of the U.S., is untouched by the unpublished presidential directive.

This trend in Mr. Carter's human rights crusade is seldom publicly criticized within the administration. Terence Todman, who is about to leave his post as Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American affairs, did raise pointed questions about it in a New York speech three days before the Feb. 17 presidential directive. But for warning against human rights moves "without calculating the likely reaction and responses" abroad, he was rebuked by high officials at State.

That shows the clout of Pat Derian. the sincere but total advocate of making the U.S. the conscience of the non-Communist world.

Poverty levels confusing guide

By CHRIS DONNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) - Milo Sunderhauf watches the Consumer Price Index, like many other people both in and outside the government.

But he keeps a closer eye on the index than most, for his job at the Commerce Department includes figuring out each year where the government draws the line on the poverty

The figure is updated annually to reflect increases in the Consumer Price Index, which is put out by the Labor Department. For millions of families, where the poverty line is drawn is a key factor in determining whether they get aid from the govern-

But Sunderhauf says that when the poverty figure is revised upward, as it was recently for the non-farm family of four to $6,200 from $5,850, it does not automatically add legions of people to the welfare rolls.

"If anything, what happens is the poor fall behind, and this brings them up closer to date," said Sunderhauf, of Commerce's Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards. The information is always at least one year old, he notes.

The poverty line helps determine eligibility for such key programs as: -Head Start, which provides preschool training for 400,000 children

-Comprehensive Employment Training Act programs in the Labor Department, including summer job programs for youth and job training and public service jobs for adults.

-Food stamps. The poverty line helps determine whether a family qualifies for food stamps; the Agriculture Department uses a more complicated formula to determine how much recipients must pay for the stamps.

-Legal Services for the poor. -Home insulation aid from the Department of Energy.

-Community Action programs run by the Community Services Administration, formerly the Office of Economic Opportunity. The Consumer Price Index, not the poverty line, also turns the benefit levels in the Social Security program and the Supplemental Security Income program for the needy. They are going up 6.5 percent on July 1 to reflect last year's jump in consumer prices.

The poverty line does not directly affect a person's eligibility for the government's biggest welfare program, the $11 billion Aid to Families with Dependent Children. The individual states determine their benefit. levels, which vary widely.

There are actually two sets of poverty levels floating around the government that are very close and a third set put out by Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics that is considerably

The one that really counts is the one that Sunderhauf computes for the Office of Management and Budget. Until a reorganization last October, he was in OMB.

OMB passes on the new poverty levels to the various departments that use them and they, in turn, announce the revised poverty guidelines.

The second set of figures comes from Bureau of Census, also in Commerce. The only difference is that for OMB, Sunderhauf rounds off the poverty figures and evens out the steps between family sizes.

For the typical non-farm family of four, the latest Census poverty figure is $6,190, just $10 under the OMB

Why two sets?

"Ours get used by practically everybody. They are the official historical series to show whether poverty increases or decreases over the year," said Census statistician Carol

'We want to give people an idea of the size of the poverty population and who's in it ... We have nothing to do with deciding benefit levels or anything of that kind.'

By its lights, Census found nearly 25 million Americans living below the poverty level in 1976.

The third, much higher set of figures is the Bureau of Labor Statistics' estimates of what income it takes to maintain a low, average or higher standard of living in various regions throughout the United States.

In its latest estimates last month, it pegged the national "lower" income standard for a family of four at $10,-481; the intermediate at $17,106 and the higher at $25,202.

Labor allows a person to qualify for its CETA program if they are below the poverty line or if they are below 70 percent of the lower income standard. The bureau's standards attempt to do something that the poverty income levels generally disregard: they take into account differences in the cost of living in various regions. The poverty income levels are the same nationwide except for Alaska and Hawaii, where they are 25 percent and 15 percent higher respective-Frank Morris, a policy analyst for the Community Services Administration, called the higher bureau figures "considerably more realistic." "Those poverty guidelines limit participation ..." he said. "There are probably millions of people who are not eligible because the figures are what they are. Some of the great inequities involve people who are just marginally above the poverty level.' Morris would like to see poverty figures broken down by regions and updated at least twice a year. He also complains that the Consumer Price Index, although it now takes into account increases in a variety of goods, was built around the price of food. "The assumption is that these standards were adequate in the first place, but they were heavily oriented toward food costs," he added. Sunderhauf admits that and says studies are under way in the government on seeking alternate ways to revise the poverty guidelines. When the Social Security Administration drew up the first poverty guidelines in 1964, it based them on a 1955 survey of food consumption the latest then available - that estimated the average family spent 33 percent of its income on food. It multiplied the cost of an economy food budget by three to get the poverty

Today families spend only about 20 though the poor usually spend a higher percentage

Sunderhauf said, "The original weights given to food in the budget is still the weight that's being used today. If people were spending their money in the same way as in 1955, this is the way they could live.

Sunderhauf and others in OMB and Commerce don't like the Bureau of Labor Statistics family budget figures, which he said involve making "many judgment calls and are not very objective."

Three states ratify Red River agreement

DENISON, Texas (AP) - It was a long time coming, but officials adopted an agreement Friday for dividing the waters of the Red River and its tributaries between Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

It took 22 years and 60 meetings to hammer out the terms of the compact that members of the Red River Commission said assures an equitable distribution of the water between the four states.

Legislatures in the four states now nust ratify the measure before it becomes effective.

Commission members said a bill already introduced in the Louisiana Senate could speed up passage of similar legislation in the remaining states when their legislatures con-

However, final approval by the president of the United States is not expected before 1980.

"The signing of this compact gives assurance that downstream folks will not be denied an equitable amount of good quality water," said Maj. Gen. Robert C. Marshall, chairman of the commission and president of the Mississippi River Commission.

The energy crunch is very evident today, but the water crisis is just around the corner," the general said. "There is no question of the need to manage our water resources to be sure we get the best and the most beneficial use."

Texas' Fred Parkey of Wichita Falls said he is pleased with the final effort of the commission. "I am more than happy over working out a 50-50 division of the water in Lake Texoma between Texas and Oklahoma. Now prime water use negotiations can be on an equal basis."

Oklahoma member Oville B Saunders of Altus said the agreement helps make certain Altus and Jackson counties will not run dry. He said the measure guarantees up to 48,000 acre feet per year in Lake Altus and water to irregate 47,000 acres.

"This was the first measure approved by the compact," said. Saunders. "I think it really got theball rolling for the last 18 months when we finished it all up.

Randy Young, deputy director of the Arkansas Water Board, said "I can only say that I think that what the upstream states have done is most considerate. I think Arkansas got what it needed and it will be acceptable to our legislators."

Pain of shingles difficult to ease

Dear Dr. Solomon: My mother had a bad case of shingles about two months ago. The blisters cleared up after a week, but she is still in a great deal of pain—even though she takes aspirin to relieve it. Do you have any idea how long this is apt to last?-Grace McK.

Dear Grace: In some patients, especially older people, the pain of shingles (herpes zoster) may last for months or even years after the skin eruptions have gone. It is a condition called post-herpetic neuralgia. There has been no specific therapy for either shingles or the neuralgia, but there is an encouraging report from Dr. Murugiah Mani, chairman of clinical anesthesiology at Cook County Hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Mani and his colleagues injected a local anesthetic into the infected nerves of 10 patients with acute shingles and achieved immediate and lasting pain relief in each case. The nerve block also provided complete relief to four out of seven other patients who were suffering from postherpetic neuraglia.

According to Dr. Mani, there have been occasional reports on the effectiveness of this treatment for 30 years, but it is still unfamiliar to many physicians. Your mother might ask her doctor if he thinks it would be useful to try it.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I'm thinking of having my teeth straightened. It should have been done when I was small. My regular dentist says straightening is no problem, even though I'm almost 30 by now. But as it will cost at least $1,000, I want to be absolutely sure that it is a sensible thing to do when you are my age.-Edith B.

Dear Edith: My dentist friends tell me that there is a big increase in orthodontics for adults—and not just to improve their looks. Crooked teeth. are more likely to get loose and to decay than well-aligned ones. They may also cause a bad bite and all the problems this, in turn, can lead to-poor chewing, discomfort, even pain.

Adults are more difficult to treat than children, of course, because they have finished their growth and it is not so easy to move their teeth around. However, the new plastic braces at least make the whole process less unsightly than it used to be.

Why not have your dentist refer you to a good orthodontist who will go over your problem with you and tell you how long straightening would take and how much it would cost?

(If you have a medical problem, see. your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M. D., 1726 Reisterstown Road. Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

Brzezinski to depart for Peking Thursday

By GEORGE GEDDA

WASHINGTON (AP) President Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, leaves this week for a three-day visit to Peking at a time of heightened concern in the United States and China over Soviet strategic objec-

The implications of expanded Soviet influence in Africa and the Soviet arms buildup in Eastern Europe are expected to be major topics in Brzezinski's discussions with Chinese lead-

Administration officials say Brzezinski, who leaves Thursday, also is prepared to discuss the possibilities of an exchange of ambassadors between Peking and Washington, although no breakthough on this point is likely. The two countries have main-

For their part, U.S. officials privately do not take seriously Carter's recent expression of hope that the process of normalizing Sino-American relations can be completed "over a period of months."

After an overnight stop in Tokyo, Brzezinski will arrive in Peking on Saturday morning. On his return to Washington, he will visit Japan and South Korea to report on

The Chinese have long been skeptical of America's ability to remain steadfast in the face of what they perceive as Soviet expansionism. But in Brzezinski, they will be dealing with the Carter administration's most prominent anti-Soviet hardliner.

Brzezinski, for instance, has taken a more alarmist view than Vance of Moscow's successful efforts to bring Angola and Ethiopia into the Soviet sphere of influ-

Horse whipping may have merit

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

AP Special Correspondent NEW YORK (AP) — A bankrupt railroad has argued before the Su-preme Court that it should be paid off in revenue losses for not building a 53-story office tower on top of Grand Central Terminal.

Well, in lieu of a horse whipping, that might be one solution. Pay them to go away and not inflict another architectural monstrocity on the Big Apple, which already is rotten to the core with glazey high rise vulgarities protruding from its innards.

Still, despite the ruling of the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, there is a lot to be said for horse whipping, especially of architects, developers and people who run railroads.

More than 100,000 people turned out for the public whipping of a couple of rapists in Pakistan recently. New York hasn't seen that kind of a crowd since a gifted gelding named Kelso was unfailingly rewarding the $2 supporters of better horse breeding at Aqueduct nearly two decades ago. Even the incomparable Pele in his farewell address to the soccer ball didn't pack that many into the Jersey

Imagine how many cheering New Yorkers would turn up at the Big "A" or Meaowlands for a horse whipping of the architects who dreamed up those ugly tower blocks on the New Jersey Palisades, of the developers who inflicted Co-op City on the Bronx and whichever rail executive is responsible for the chronic "equipment trouble" on Conrail's 7:03 out of Brewster?

Reviving horse whipping as public retribution for bureaucratic bungling or corporate greed came along too late to save Penn Station, an architectural gem modeled after the Roman Baths of Caracalla, but it's not too late to flagellate in behalf of Grand Central Terminal, which has been designated a historic landmark by the city, as time-honored and immovable as most of its trains

And let's not fret over the breast beating those Eurocrats in Strasbourg did over the behind beatings administered with birch rods for noble reasons by the noble pedagogues on the Isle of Man.

I have been to the Isle of Man, and it is a most civilized place. Except for random bleats of hard rock from transistor radios permanently at-tached to their earlobes, its urchins pursue civilized ways, which may or may not be attributed to some remedial birching or even head start (behind start?) birching now and then.

Not long ago in New York City, a 12-year-old boy threw a 93-year-old grandmother to her death down a tenement staircase in a robbery attempt. It is alleged here that if more 93-year-old grandmothers were permitted the disciplinary application of a 40-inch birch rod, the length favored by the Manx educators, on 12-year-old muggers, fewer of the former would wind up D.O.A. at the bottom of a stairwell and fewer of the latter would be inconvenienced in Family Court for an hour or so.

By a 6-1 vote, the seers sitting unbirched on the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg condemned the school master's rod on the Isle of Man as a "degrading punishment that must be banned." Unlike the walrus for the oysters, the Strasbourg judges weep profusely for the woes of this world without sorting out the larger ones: genocide in Cambodia, Idi Amin's butchery, birchings on the Isle of Man, it's all in a daygldocket. Unfortunately, more British politicians will rend their garments on the floor of the House of Commons over the Manx spankings than the Asian and African slaughters.

Agreed, birching is degrading. That's the whole idea. What punishment isn't meant to be degrading? Having a kid stand in the corner or waltz off to the principal's office isn't meant to be a minor variant of canon-

I have been to Strasbourg, on the Ill River, no less, which bodes something. In addition to its Eurocrats, it is also famous for its overstuffed geese and ducks.

The geese are stuffed to death to provide pate de fois gras (liverwurst to the masses) for the cocktail hour delectation of bureaucrats, architects, railroad magnates and the like in Strasbourg, London, Paris, New York and wherever serious consideration is given to overstuffed planners proposing to inflict more towering atrocities over the few remaining architectural treasures left in our cities.

It beats me why a good birching isn't in order for the poulterers and provisioners who make a profit out of stuffing the craws of harmless geese and ducks?

The poultry involved find it very A public hiding of the pate stuffers

South was shocked by the bad heart break, but the 5-1 break occurs about once every seven hands. Nothing shocking about that. CAUTIOUS PLAY South should lead a club to dummy at the second trick in order to lead the first heart from dummy. If East has no hearts at all he can ruff, but South will be able to play one of the low hearts instead of a top card. As it happens, South manages to get one top heart safely cashed. Then he should lead a low heart.

The idea was to give up one low heart and ruff the other two low hearts in dummy. When that has been done, South can draw any trumps that are still out and then cash the remaining top heart.

It's a cautious way to play the hand, but nobody will blame you for playing a slam hand carefully

Soviets producing oil above rated capacities

TULSA, Okla.—The Soviet Union is forcing its largest western Siberian fields to produce above rated capacities in order to meet crude oil production targets, the Oil & Gas Journal

In a special April message to oil workers in Tyumen and Tomsk provinces, President Leonid Brezhnev called on western Siberia to produce a least 5.08 million barrels a day during 1978. Earlier reports set this year's Siberian goal at slightly less than 5 million barrels a day.

The move puts more pressure on supergian Samotlor field and other mature fields in the Middle Ob region, the Journal says.

Samotlor reached its projected peak production rates of 2.6 million barrels a day last year. But the USSR's Ministry of the Oil Industry has ordered an intensified development drilling program aimed at boosting the field's 1978 output to 2.8

million barrels a day.

Without this added flow from Samotlor, western Siberia and the Soviet Union as a whole probably would fall far short of 1978 crude oil produc-tion goals, the Journal says.

The country had had little success in generating major crude-production gains in other frontier areas. And it is becoming increasingly expensive for the Soviets to stem production declines in older regions, such as the Ukraine, Azerbaijan, Turkmenistan and most Volga-Ural districts.

*LAlso, the country failed last year to place on stream the planned number of medium-to-small western Siberian

In hiking western Siberia's goals, the Soviets made no mention of in-creasing Russia's overall 1978 production objective-11.5 million barrels a day of crude oil and condensate. This indicates total output in other areas of the country is declining faster than had been expected.

Siberian officials, however, insist the shift in activity to Tyumen and Tomsk provinces is not an emergency measure to meet the 1978-80 production plans. They say the move actually is long overdue and is based on sound economics.

One official pointed out that the current Soviet Five-Year Plan calls for crude and condensate production in western Siberia to climb 103 per-cent to 6 million barrels a day in 1980 fr9om 2.96 million barrels a day in 1975. Total output for other areas in the Soviet Union is expected to remain about flat at 6.8 million barrels a day in 1980, compared with 6,86 million barrels a day in 1975.

Soviet reports claim western Si-beria's output ran well ahead of plan during the first quarter of 1979. The area's oil flow now is more than 4.8 million barrels a day, compared with an average of 4.37 million barrels a

But some Russian officials are concerned about increasingly heavy de-pendence on a single area for attainment of national production goals And the Soviets are having to invest heavily to keep Samotlor and other developed fields at higher than pro-jected production leves!.

They are rushing rigs and experienced crews into western Siberia from Volga-Ural area fields but some from as far away as the Ukraine and

And logistics problems are mounting. Most new western Siberia production must come from small, re-mote fields, each requiring its own support facilities. Transportation and supply problems are becoming increasingly difficult and costly to

WALTON (AP) - Thoughts of easy money may have swayed some of the backers of an exploratory well that spewed out poison fumes last week, according to the man who owns the land on which the drilling rig sits.

Red Adair and his crew of oil and gas well firefighters capped the runaway well Saturday night but some officials have expressed concern over the reliability of the cap.

More than 400 residents in a 300square mile area had to be evacuated beginning last Thursday because of the lethal hydrogen sulfide gas leaking from the well. Most were reported still in motels or at neighbors' homes

Sunday morning. Dedmon said he sought an injunction last December to keep N.F.C. Petroleum Corp., an Oklahoma City-based company, from putting "Rig No. 12" on his property.

There had been another well about 3,000 feet away that had leaked and people had to be evacuated that time, too," said Dedmon. "I own some other land near that well (No. 12) and they're not going to drill on that."

State District Court Judge Tom Crofts of Terrell said he denied the injunction "on the basis of the evidence presented." An N.F.C. attorney said testimony from the witness stand indicated the well could be drilled safely provided "every precaution"

By SOLL SUSSMAN

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A Texas architect says the nation can solve its energy crisis by going underground, not for fuel but for housing.

Frank Moreland is the organizer of a gathering this week in Fort Worth that he said may represent the start of serious committment to earth-covered construction as a solution to energy and social crises.

Moreland, director of the University of Texas at Arlington's Center for Energy Policy, said an upturn in interest has taken place since the last conference three years ago.

"It's really only been in the last couple of years that people have begun to be interested," he said. "Twelve years ago, it was slim pick-Moreland attributes the change in interest to earth-covered construction's "extraordinary ability to conserve energy.'

The U.S. Department of Energy is sponsoring the 1978 conference Wednesday through Saturday. Earth-covered construction's method is simple and durable. Dirt is piled as deep as 15 feet in some locales on top of a concrete hull. The hull's bottom is about three feet below ground, leaving most of the house itself above ground and allowing a space for windows to be cut through the concrete and dirt.

The top of the pile absorbs heat in the summer. And the dirt filters the heat through the pile down to the house just in time for winter. Cool temperatures on top in winter sink to the bottom by summer to provide natural coolness.

"Heating and cooling costs will be less than any other building type, with a few exceptions," Moreland said. For example, the technique is not useful in hot and humid coastal areas.

"If we can get some of these things built, I think we can demonstrate that the United States has enough to gain to buy it," he said. "I think this thing would set the stage for a sense of community."

While earth-covered buildings are surprisingly numerous around the na-tion, few have been built as part of a community plan. Moreland proposes rebuilding entire neighborhoods under earth, and he says the result would not be bleak vistas but rather lush park surroundings.

Net loss reported

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -Commonwealth Oil Refining Company, Inc. (Corco) today reported a consolidated net lost (unaudited) of $12.7 million — 87 cents per primary share — for the first quarter of 1978. This compared with a net loss of $6.3 million for the first quarter of 1977. Sales for the 1978 quarter were $197.7 million compared with $260.8 million in the first quarter of 1977.

Gary Davis, president and chief executive officer, said a reduction in "plant throughput" that resulted in a drop in revenue of $63 million, was the principal reason for the losses.

Davis blamed the decreased throughput on the company's unsta-ble financial condition and a major fire and explosion that occurred Feb. 19. Lack of working capital made it impossible to obtain sufficient feedstock to operate Corco's plants properly, he said.

the mineral rights to the affected land, likened the hearing to a "Chinese fire drill" and said a chance for some easy money may have swayed the thinking of some of the proponents of the venture.

'I may get shot for saying that, but this morning I don't much care," he said. "Everybody likes to make money, but when you have human lives involved it's another story.' Jack Fontaine of the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration said he was told the hydrogen sulfide content from the leaking well was about 600 parts per million, "way above the fatal dose. Ray Miller, district manager of Texas Railroad Commission — the agency that regulates oil and gas production - said the well was inspected last April to insure specified safety measures were being main-tained. He said another well 3,000 feet from No. 12 suffered pipe failure due to the corrosive effects of hydrogen sulfide and could not be completed. Miller, however, pointed out that proximity is no way to gauge what might happen at another well.

"You can't take two holes and even come close to having the same thing in them," he said.

Meanwhile, some residents of this oil-rich, East Texas area said the evacuations are getting to be a regular, if wearing, routine.
"This is the third time (in the last year) we've had to evacuate, and I'm getting damn tired of it," said Hen-derson County Attorney Bill Bandy, a former oil driller. "There's just no sense in it.

"I think they're moving in people from other states who are not familiar with what we've got here (hydro-gen sulfide gas). We've got a unique situation — they don't have anything like this in Louisiana or Oklahoma.

"They're going to have to be a hell of a ot more careful than they've been being. If they're not, I'm going to consider a class-action suit against them. They're going to keep jacking around up here until somebody gets

Grandy does in Dodgers

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Just when Tall City merchants were beginning to think that there would be a mammouth run on white towels sometime today by the Mid-land Cubs, Eric Grandy started seeing red, and that meant it was all over for the San Antonio Dodgers Sunday night at Cubs Stadium.

Grandy blasted a bottom of the ninth, game winning homer off of San Antonio's Dave Patterson to give the Cubs a thrilling 10-8 victory over the Dodgers to even the Texas League series at 2-2 heading into tonight's 7:30 game between the same two

Since the Bruins have had their troubles against the Dodgers this year, losing eight of their first nine meetings, most of Sunday's crowd just knew the Dodgers had pulled another one out of the fire in the top of the ninth when solo homers by Kelly Snider and Myron White had given San Antonio an 8-7 lead, their first lead of the night. But with one out and runners at third and first, Grandy ended it all on a happy note with his winning blast that cleared the left field wall on a line drive course. It also hung out the Dodgers to dry in clothes-line fashion. No surrender was necessary.

"When I got good wood on the bail, I just thought I had done my job," Grandy stated after hitting his second homer of the year. His first came son) fed me some kind of breaking pitch, and I hit it good /I just wasn't thinking about it being a homer.'

This one started out like a romp for the Cubs as they held leads of six runs on two different occasions, but those pesky Dodgers and their power prone bats just kept coming back. It's just never easy beating the Dodgers. Midland took a 6-0 lead after two innings with three runs in each of the first two frames behind some power of their own from Jim Buckner and Duane Gustavson.

SPORTS

The Cubs scored three in the first with a run scoring triple by Buckner and run scoring singles by Aaron Randall and Brian Rosinski. They came back with three more in the second when Buckner hit a two-run blast and Gustavson followed with a solo shot. Steve Macko produced another tally in the fifth on a single before the Dodgers started playing catchup in earnest fashion.

Buckner, who has hit safely in 28 of his last 29 games and currently on a 12-game hitting binge, homered, tri-pled and singled twice. His triple in the first was off the green monster in center, and he moved the ball over 15-feet in the second for his long blast. He lacked only a double hitting for the cycle, and he felt that he could have obtained the cycle if the situaeighth to move the score to 7-6. In the ninth, Snider greeted pitcher Larry Groover back to Midland from Wichita with a solo shot to right to knot the score, and White, who has been a thorn in the side of Midland this series gave the Dodgers the lead at 8-7 with a homer to right. White came into the game with eight hits in 10 trips to the plate against Midland, and he was hitless through his first four at-bats before he connected off Groover, Groover, however, was credited with the win after Grandy bailed him out in the bottom of the frame.

After only four hits against the Dodgers' Mike Tennant Saturday, it was good to see the Cubs come roaring back with 14 hits Sunday. In addition to Buckner's four hits, Kevin Drury, Macko, Rosinski and Grandy each had two hits.

This was one for the offensive minded fans as Midland and San Antonio combined for seven homers, but Grandy's was last, and counted the

'Broadway Vitas' captures WCT crown

By GREG THOMPSON

Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Newly-crowned World Championship of Tennis titleholder Vitas Gerulaitis has a message for one of his teammates on the World Team Tennis' New York Apples: Take that Billie Jean King. "I know this will show Billie Jean, because she says I never work hard enough," Gerulaitis joked Sunday after quickly dispatching a ragged and struggling Eddie Dibbs 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 for the WCT crown.

"I'm gonna go back and tell her, 'I'd like to see you go out and win that tournament,'' quipped Gerulaitis, who has never had a reputation as a hard worker on the practice court, perhaps because of his conscientiously-groomed playboy image. The well-rested Gerulaitis got into the finals on a default Friday by injured, top-seeded Bjorn Borg and hadn't played since Wednesday night. He needed only an hour and a half to overwhelm Dibbs with his deadly volleys and newly-strengthened serve.

"I was never in the match with the guy," said Dibbs, who played Thurs-day and Friday night. "I couldn't get going. The racquet felt like it was dead or the strings were dead. My forehand was really bad. It was usually my big snot in the last two

And in a weak attempt at humor, Dibbs added, "I don't know what it was. Maybe somebody switched racquets with me or something."
Dibbs, who had won all four of his matches against Gerulaitis, had swept into the finals without losing a set, largely on the strength of his hypnotically-flawless baseline game.

But Dibbs was continually plagued by mistakes on his shots Sunday, many of the errors being forced by Gerulaitis' whistling serves and crisp play at the net. Dibbs lost 55 points because of errors on his shots.

"I knew what I had to do. I just played a sound game. I didn't do anything spectacular," Gerulaitis said. "Eddie didn't play well, but I didn't give him a chance. There's not much he can do if I'm serving and volleying well."

Dibbs agreed, "He (Gerulaitis) was exceptional. He's very quick, very tough to pass. He comes to the net very well. His serve got better, especially his first serve. It was very Apples' Coach Fred Stolle told Gerulaitis last month that he needed a stronger serve if he wanted to become one of the world's three top players. Gerulaitis has been developing the serve and double-faulted 14 times in his Wednesday night quarter-final victory over Raul Ramirez.

Rebels host Wichita Falls

The Coyotes, District 6-4A cham-pions, tangle with the Robert E. Lee Rebels at 4p.m. at the Lee diamond in the first game of the best-of-three series in the Class AAAA state bi-district baseball playoffs.

Lee and Wichita Falls join 32 other Class AAAA outfits that will be trying for the final four spots in the state tourney in Austin in two weeks on the Univiersity of Texas campus.

Other teams in the Region I play-offs include El Paso Andress (18-8), El Paso Riverside (21-5), Amarillo High (17-4), Lubbock Monterey (26-4), Arlington Sam Houston (19-11) and Fort Worth Western Hills (22-6).

Teams in Region II include Dun-canville (28-2), North Garland (21-7), Dallas Jefferson (13-11), Dallas Sun-set (17-6), Richardson (22-11), Lufkin (21-3), Waco Richfield (13-7) and

The winner of the Lee-Wichita Falls series will move on to the regional playoffs against the winner of the Western Hills-Sam Houston series." LEE'S REBELS take a 21-8 record against Wichita Falls' 17-5 reading into the opening game Tuesday with junior righthander Terry Willis (6-2), set to pitch for Coach Ernie Johnson's crew. On the mound for the Coyotes will be their ace, senior hurler Eric McDougle (13-4). He has been the workhorse for the Red River crew in winning 13 of 17 games it has won this year. McDougle has an earned run average of 1.35 and the Southwest Conference scouts are high on him and senior shortstop Kerry Hargrove. Hargrove is the leadoff hitter and owns a .403 season batting average. He has stolen 15 bases, knocked in 14 runs and hit four homers for the Coyotes.

Joining McDougle and Hargrove in the starting lineup will be Mark Massie at first base; David O'Neil at second and Tobey Stone at third. In the outfleid it will be Dan McDonald in left; Ruben Nieto in center and Wes McKenize in right with Rick Ledford handling the catching chores.

The Coyotes like to run and rely on a good defense and strong pitching, according to assistant coach Tim Whalen who watched them beat Wichita Falls Rider, 4-1, last week in the final 6-4A game of the season.

JOHNSON WILL start Doug Schmidt at first base; Don Rasure at schmidt at first base; Don Rasure at second; Steve Pitts at shortstop with Craig Van Horn at third. Then the starting Lee outfield will be made up of Todd Clements in left, Pat Moore in center and John White in right. Clay Calhoun will catch with Richard Josefy hitting for White as the designated hitter. The Coyotes sometime use Dwain Coffey as the designated hitter in the place of

The Coyotes are only hitting .252 as a team so Johnson is hoping to get strong pitching from Willis and good defense since his team is hitting the ball at a .331 clip in 29 games. The Rebs have pounded out 52 doubles, 20 triples and seven homers in knocking

Moore leads the hit parade on the The Wichita Falls Coyotes come to season with a .409 average with 10 doubles, two triples and 19 runs-batted-in. Next comes Tyler Alcorn, ju-nior utility outfielder with a .400 average with 11 RBIs and Josefy with a .378 mean.

Van Horn is hittting at a .351 clip and has 25 RBIs to lead the team in that department while Clements and Calhoun follow with averages of .345 and .333, respectively.
NO LESS than eight Rebels have 10 or more RBIs on the year, giving Johnson one of his more balanced hitting teams in his 18 years with the Rebels. This is the fifth time for Johnson's Rebs to be in the state playoffs.

Wichita Falls, too has been in the playoffs several times in its longer history with 1957 being the closest they came to winning the state cham-pionship, losing to Abilene, 9-2, in the finals.

Other teams in the other two regions opening playoffs game this week include Spring Woods (17-7), Houston Bellaire (30-8), Scarborough, Milby, Baytown Sterling(20-2), Port Arthur Jefferson (20-3), Pasadena Dobie and Texas City in Region III while in Region IV, it has Victoria Stroman (24-3), a state tourney participant last year along with Austin Anderson (23-3), Corpus Christi Moody (23-4), Mission (15-15), South San Antonio (12-6-2), San Antonio Marshall (16-10), San Antonio Jefferson (22-5) and San Antonio Roosevelt

Bears take SWC crown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Baylor's storybook Bears don't like to mess with a good plot, so they won the Southwest Conference baseball tournament Sunday night similar to the way they did it last year. Finishing third behind Arkansas and Texas A&M in the regular season, Coach Mickey Sullivan's crew swept through the tournament without a defeat, clinching the championship with an 11-3 rout of the Houston Cougars.

"We sure enjoy this tournament," smiled Sullivan after the Bears had clinched a trip to Arlington this weekend to play in an NCAA regional tournament for the right to go to the College Baseball World Series in Houston ousted Texas A&M 17-10 Sunday afternoon to get a shot at Baylor in the double elimination tournament. The Bears, who had defeated Houston in an earlier game, scored eight runs in the first two innings, and it was turn out the lights.

Manuel Ordones cracked a three-run triple and Jaime Cocanower, who had been struggling all year, went seven innings and permitted only three runs and seven hits.

"Cocanower sure came through at a good time," said Sullivan, who had seen the ace of his pitching staff, Burl Coker, felled by an injury Saturday night.
Coker was hit in his pitching arm by a wild throw as he beat out a grounder and his status for the NCAA regionals is questionable.

The four teams for the tournament have yet to be announced, but Southland Conference champion Louisiana Tech is expected in the field along with possibly Pan American, a top independent, and an at-large team. Miami of Ohio was an at-large team

"I just kept jabbing away," he said. "I think I played it very smart."

Pate knifed through the pack with a closing 5-under-par 65 to tie Jerry Heard at 272 for second place. The consolation prize was $18,000 apiece.

Heard, the only serious challenger in the stretch run, slipped in with a 68 after a bizarre turn of events at the 14th and 15th holes that ended a tense duel in the Texas sun

"The turning point was the 14th," said Trevino, who was nursing a 2shot lead, flirting with a bogey five and looking at Heard's second shot

"Everything was up for grabs until the 14th hole," he said. "It looked like Heard was going to get even and instead he went three down." Trevino holed out from 30 feet and

Heard, the 1972 Colonial champion, missed his 10-footer.

A double bogey at the par-4-15th ended the Heard threat.

"I looked at the board when I stepped on the 16th tee and I had a 6-shot lead," Trevino marveled. "That was it, I put my marbles away... I bogeyed the 17th but by then it was all over."

"I'll take a 2-shot lead anytime. That's the position I like. I like to be in front. I don't remember but one tournament where I was leading in the

Perhaps the most interesting sidelight to Sunday's televised show involved Tom Watson, who started the last 18 three back of Trevino, two behind Steve Melnyk and one in arrears of Beard. A triple bogey 7 at No. 5, the most treacherous of the Trinity River spread, bumped Watson from title contention but he salvaged a 68 and a tie for fourth with Melnyk, who

Tom Weiskopf's 65 hurdled a healthy portion of the field and gave him sixth place and $7,200, precisely $200 more than Palmer got for winning here in 1962.

Nuggets hanging tough

DENVER (AP) - Some minor adjustments, such as a switch in defensive assignments, and one major change, an effort to set picks for superstar David Thompson, helped extend the Denver Nuggets' season at least another game.

With Thompson regaining his shooting touch and his confidence to score 35 points, the Nuggets held off a second-half Seattle comeback and beat the SuperSonics 123-114 Sunday in their National Basketball Association semifinal playoff series.

The triumph reduced the Sonics' lead to 3-2 in the best-of-seven Western Conference finals. Game 6 will be played Wednesday night in Seattle. Game 7, if necessary, would be played Friday night in Denver.

The winner of the series meets the Washington Bullets in the championship round, which begins next Sunday at the home of the Western champion.

"Now the monkey's on their back," said Thompson after the Nuggets bounced back from three straight defeats to stay alive in the series. "Seattle has to win up there. I'm sure they don't want to come back here for the seventh game. We can go up there Wednesday and be loose, just play our game."

From an historical standpoint, Denver's task would not appear to be quite that simple. Only two teams in NBA playoff history have rallied from 3-1 deficits to win a series. In addition, the Sonics are no pushovers at home, having won 19 straight games at the Coliseum

"They're still in the driver's seat," admitted Denver center Dan Issel, who scored 27 points and pulled down 10 rebounds as the Nuggets held a 55-40 rebounding edge Sunday over the taller Sonics. Issel said winning the sixth game "is a pretty good size hill to climb, but stranger things have happened.'

Denver Coach Larry Brown said Thompson, who had kept busy guarding Seattle guard Dennis Johnson in previous games, switched to the lessactive Gus Williams because "we didn't want David working so hard at both ends of the floor."

Offensively, Thompson said he benefitted from "a change we made to set more picks so I could get free for my jumpers.

Arkansas beaten

By The Associated Press Eastern Conference leading Arkansas suffered a 9-6 setback to Tulsa Sunday night in Texas League action.

The Drillers managed to score eight runs in the bottom of the seventh to take the lead over Arkansas and finally the victory.

Don Lyons hit a tworun homer in the second inning to give El Paso a 7-4 win over Amarillo. The winner was Dave Steck, who captured his third victory of the season. He has two losses.

Juan Monasterio sur prised Shreveport with a leadoff homer in the ninth, giving Jackson a 5-4 win over the Captains.

Tonight's action finds Jackson at Shreveport, Arkansas at Tulsa, El Paso at Amarillo and San Antonio at Midland.

Lopez red hot

LUTHERVILLE, Md. (AP) — Nancy Lopez re-tains the refeshing innocence of a rookie, even while threatening to dominate the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

After winning the $65,-000 Greater Baltimore Golf Classic by 3 strokes Sunday, increasing her first-place ranking to $66,448 in earnings for the year, the 21-year-old allowed as how winning is more important to her than money. She declined to complain about horrid weather or bumpy greens, and contended it would have been a shame to win by having the scores revert to Saturday's two-round

Lopez, the only multiwinner on the tour with three victories, also revealed a competitive desire to know the standings during the round — as opposed to runner-up Donna Caponi Young's preference to avoid such self-induced pressure.

Just before approaching a five-foot putt on the ninth green, Lopez checked and found that the 4-stroke lead she brought into the final round had been cut in half by Young. Unfazed, she dropped the putt and added birdies on the 11th and 14th holes to hold off the mild threat.

Playing the front nine in intermittent rain and the back nine in a steady downpour, Lopez shot a 1-under 72 on the municipal Pine Ridge course and finished with a 54hole total of 212, 7 under

Young, who started the round 6 strokes off the pace, fired a 71 for a 215 total. Defending champion Jane Blalock, the only other competitor to better par of 219, was third at 218 after a round

Bob Sykes seems to have A's number

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Having Bob Sykes around is like having your own copying machine. Sykes, you see, appears to be in something of a rut. It seems all he can do is pitch four-hit shutouts against the Oakland A's.

Since coming back to Detroit from the minors, the 23-year-old lefthander has made two appearances eight days apart with similar results. He blanked the A's 6-0 with a fourhitter in Oakland on May 6 and Sunday he repeated, this time by a 15-0 score as the Tigers pounded out 20

"The past two games have been unbelievable," said Sykes. "The guys have been making super plays and double plays when we need them. Today I got in about five good jams. I said, 'Bobby, you know what you gotta do.

"It used to be when I was in trouble I was just a thrower and not a pitcher. Now I'm a pitcher."

Sykes had plenty of batting support from Jason Thompson, Lou Whitaker and Ron LeFlore, who drove in three runs apiece. Thompson, Milt May and Rusty Staub all homered as the Tigers ended a three-games skid.

After the Tigers scored seven runs in the eighth inning. Manager Ralph Houk kidded Sykes. "You think you got enough runs now?" "Hey," replied Sykes, "I'll take one

Royals 10, Yankees 9 Clint Hurdle opened the bottom of the ninth with a double and scored on a double by Amos Otis, who swung away after failing to sacrifice. Otis double was the 10th of the game and followed an intentional walk to Dar-fell Porter, who homered earlier. Hurdle and Porter drove in three runs

Fred Lynn hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning and Dennis Eckersley won his third consecutive game as the redhot Red Sox posted their 10th victory in 11 games. With the score knotted 2-2 and one out, Lynn lined Minnesota reliever Mac Scarce's first pitch into the right-field bleachers for the decisive three-run blow. Carlton Fisk also homered for Boston while Willie Norwood and Mike Cubbage

California scored three times in the eighth inning on three walks, a hit batsman, an error and Tony Solaita's two-run pinch single while Frank Tanana won his sixth game with lastout help from Paul Hartzell. Tanana allowed seven hits in 82/3 innings and blanked the Indians until the ninth.

'Kong' finds a home on the coast

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
At 6-foot-7, Dave 'Kong' Kingman is a giant among baseball players. Whenever he visits Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles, he looks even taller. As a member of the New York Mets two years ago, the hard-hitting out-fielder smashed three home runs and drove in eight runs in his favorite hitting park.

As a member of the Chicago Cubs Sunday, he did the same thing. "I consider this my home," said

Kingman after leading the Cubs to a 10-7, 15-inning victory. "I can recall a lot of times coming here to end a long

Kingman's second homer of the day was a two-run blast with two outs that sent the game into extra innings tied at 7-7. His third homer was a threerun shot in the 15th inning that broke the tie in the marathon, five-hour

"I wasn't going for a home run the last time up," he responded to an obvious question. "Just a single, that's all we needed. In the ninth inning, yes, I was going for a homer.'

Kingman wasn't only a hitting star for the Cubs Sunday, but also made a diving, game-saving catch of a line drive by Dusty Baker with two runners on in the Dodger ninth.

"Some people around here don't think I can play defense," said King-"Maybe this will change some

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds 7-4; the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the San Diego Padres 1-0; the Atlanta Braves edged the Montreal Expos 2-1 and the San Francisco Giants took a doubleheader from the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4 in 12 innings and then 4-3 in 10. A doubleheader between New York and Houston was rained out.

Kingman's first homer, in the sixth inning, was a two-run shot off Los Angeles starter Doug Rau. His second homer, a 430-foot blast, came after the Dodgers had scored twice in the bottom of the eighth to take a 7-5 lead. In the Chicago 15th, with Rick Rho-den — the sixth Dodger pitcher — on the mound, Mick Kelleher singled with one out and Steve Ontiveros walked. After Bill Buckner forced Ontiveros, Kingman connected. They big left fielder has four home runs in his last eight at-bats and seven for the Each club used 21 players in the Home runs by Mike Schmidt, Richie Hebner and Greg Luzinski carried Philadelphia over Cincinnati. Schmidt's solo home run and Hebner's two-run blast highlighted the Phillies' three-run sixth and Luzinski's bases-empty shot in the eighth provided the Phillies with their final run and a safe 7-1 lead.

George Foster drove in three runs for the Reds, one in the first with a single and two in the eighth with a triple.

Rookie right-hander Don Robinson hurled a four-hitter to pitch Pittsburgh over San Diego. The 20-year-old nson struck out seven and didn't walk a batter in improving his record to 3-1 Randy Jones took the loss. Jones and Robinson each pitched Cito Gaston led off the Atlanta seventh with a single and moved to second on Biff Pocoroba's sacrifice before scoring the winning run on Gilbreath's double.

Giants 5-4, Cardinals 4-3 Terry Whitfield's two-out homer in the bottom of the 12th inning led San Francisco to its first-game victory over St. Louis and then Whitfield doubled and scored the winning run in the 10th inning of the nightcap to complete a doubleheader sweep for the

The dramatic victories gave the Giants a five-game winning streak and improved their lead in the National League Western Division to 11/2 games over the Cincinnati Reds and two games over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Monkey off Gilliam's back now; shows up at Poke tryout camp

DALLAS (AP) - The monkey on "Jefferson Street" Joe Gilliam's back is gone now, but overcoming a drug user's reputation may, in many ways, be as difficult as kicking the habit.

Gilliam, an angular 6-2, 185pounder, was last active in the National Football League with Pittsburgh in 1975. The last time he suited up for a professional game other than preseason was during a 21-17 Steeler victory over Dallas in Super Bowl X.

The irony of it all hit home Saturday when Gilliam surprised everyone and showed up at the Cowboys free agent tryout camp in Texas Stadium.

Yankees are at it again

CHICAGO (AP) - The battling New York Yankees are at it again. On the airplane ride here from Kansas City, where the team lost two of three games, Manager Billy Martin and catcher Thurman Munson engaged in a shouting match and each had to be restrained, it was reported by late Monday editions of the New York Daily News.

According to The News, Martin and Munson began shouting at each other after Munson made several trips through the aisle of the airplane. The Yankee manager asked Munson, 'What's your argument? I don't have any argument with you. If you have an argument with me, you can meet me in my room." "I don't care about these other Gilliam, a star quarterback at Tennessee State, served the Steelers from 1972-1975. His best year was 1974 when he won the starting job in preseason, set two passing records and led the team to a 4-1-1 getaway. Pittsburgh finished the year 10-3-1 and beat Minnesota in Super Bowl IX behind Terry Bradshaw.

The next year, Gilliam appeared in only four games. By the summer of 1976, he was on waivers. New Orleans picked him up in June and cut him loose in July.

Indianapolis has its freeloaders

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I think you could say we have a few entries this year you could classify as not too sincere," said Tom Binford, chief steward for the 62nd running of the Indianapolis 500.

A record 92 cars were entered for the May 28 race, but 35 of them had not shown up by the first weekend of qualifying. Many may not show up at

"Entering a car here has become a social thing. It only costs $1,000, and for that you get silver badges (pit passes), a place to entertain your friends all month, and the notoriety of having a car entered for the big race," Binford said. "Why pay $30,000 for one of the suites in the second turn, when $1,000 will get you in the Binford predicted officials will act before next year's race to deter the bogus entries. Raising the entry fee, which has been the same for years, to $2,500 or more, is one of the first steps, he added.

He also expects screening of entries to make sure they are for real cars with real engines, with enough speed to have a chance of qualifying. "We have more entries now than we

"We have more entries now than we have garages available," Binford said. "Expansion of the garage area is inevitable, but limiting the area each competitor is allowed is of primary importance.

"After all, why should someone like Jim Hurtubise have three garages? Or five for Roger Penske? Janet Guthrie almost had to garage her car off Speedway grounds. Fortunately, George Bignotti gave her one of his garage spaces."

Hurtubise enters his archaic Roadster each year and generally takes it out for a 160 mph trip around the track, to the delight of fans. But one of his other garage spaces is converted to a wet bar with an old car supporting the bar. One garage is occupied by the heirs of the late Jim Robbins, whose will provided that a car be entered here in his name. The car shows up — something a lot of "insincere entries" don't do — but it is shod with tires at least as old as its 11-year-old chassis.

Parts suppliers who provide accessory services like wheel balancing also take up garage space.

take up garage space.

"It would be nice to move them out of the garages, too, but since they provide legitimate, essential services, other space would have to be provided for them in the immediate area," Binford added.

In anticipation of greater demand, for second turn suites, which are currently sold out despite their stiff price for 30 days occupancy, more suites will be built, according to Joe Cloutier, the new Speedway president.

Conference cage tourneys: a blessing or a ripoff?

By MARK PURDY

The Los Angeles Times
Those crazy college fads. First there was goldfish eating. Then streaking. Then coed dorms. And now, the latest: postseason conference basketball tournaments.

They're everywhere, in case you hadn't noticed. The people most directly affected certainly have. With predictable reactions. Some coaches say tournaments are the best thing for the game since low-cut sneakers. Others say they're the worst thing since NCAA investigations. Whatever, some say within two years, most major conferences will be deciding their champions through playoffs instead of regular-season games. Just this spring the Southeastern and Mid-American Conferences voted to hold tournaments, joining the 12 leagues that already have them. Seven of those 12 have switched to the tournament format in the last three years.

The Southeastern Conference returned to playoffs for the first time since 1952 despite less than unany mous support among the league's coaches. Kentucky's Jóe B. Hall sáid tournaments exploit players by taking them away from classes for even longer periods than usual. And Mississippi State's Ron Green (now at Murray St.) was only half jesting when he suggested that the coaches all should receive a pay raise because of the season extension.

of the season extension.

Only five holdouts remain — the Pacific 8 (Pacific 10 next season), Big 10, Western Athletic Conference (WAC), West Coast Athletic Conference WCAC) and the Ivy League. And some of these may yield. A possible tournament is on the agenda when Big 10 athletic directors meet later this month. And Washington State coach George Raveling is lobbying hard for a Pac-10 tournament.

"All the other conferences have left the gate and we aren't even out of the starting blocks," Raveling says. "I will request that we consider a tournament when the coaches meet this month. I think the coaches are in favor of it, 9-1, or possibly 8-2. I'd say it has about an 85 percent chance of succeeding."

Raveling may be too optimistic. An informal survey indicates only two schools — Washington State and Arizona — seem to solidly favor the idea. Still, those schools seem to think the others may change their minds eventually, no matter what they say now.

For the moment, though, UCLA and USC oppose a playoff to decide the Pac-10 representative in the NCAA tournament. So does Arizona State, which with Arizona joins the conference next fall.

Oregon State, Stanford and WAshington seem doubtful.

The Pac-10 coaches and athletic directors meet Friday and Saturday in Eugene, Ore. In order for a tournament to become a reality, both groups must approve it. The topic was reportedly discussed earlier this month at a meeting of conference athletic directors, and not much support for the idea was generated. "It doesn't seem to be a hot issue at this point," one source says.

"I don't want to say I'm closed-minded," says Cal athletic director Dave Maggard. "But I'm not so sure a tournament wouldn't be anticlimactic. The west coast is different from other parts of the country in that it has so many recreational opportunities year-round. Unless you have a super attraction, I don't think you would draw huge crowds."

Raveling and the other pro-tournament forces obviously have selling to do. But they ask, doesn't the Atlantic Coast Conference's postseason tournament draw more people than the population of Luxembourg and earn more than the gross national product of Yugoslavia?

"We don't release the financial breakdown," says ACC commissioner Robert James. "But it doesn't take too much to figure it out. We charge $40 for a ticket to all the sessions, and there are 16,800 seats in the Greensboro Coliseum and it's always sold out." That totals $672,000, so the share for each of the seven ACC sohools would be less than six figures.

However, the fee for television rights is shared by all participants, and there are the special "donations" some schools require of ticket buyers. Raveling doesn't say the Pac-10 would make as much as the ACC. But he does say it would be hard to lose money, and thinks everyone else will realize this sooner or later.

"I fail to see how an athletic administrator could turn his back on a possible extra $30,000," Raveling

The dollar sign, however, is not the only reason he and others support the idea. They say a playoff would:

--Keep fans and players interested

—Keep fans and players interested in the season, even after their team is eliminated from the league-championship race, because each team could redeem itself in the tournament.

—Give more teams a chance to get into the NCAA tournament. Since 1975, when the NCAA began a policy of inviting two teams from most major conferences, the Pac-10 has suffered. The last two years, only UCLA has been invited. Conferences with playoffs have received two invitations. Often, the regular-season champion is defeated in the tournament but still receives a bid along with the tournament winner.

Those who oppose the idea have arguments, too. Among them:

—The Pac-10's present home-andhome double-roundrobin schedule is a fairer way to determine a champion than a single-elimination tournament.

—A tournament would not really make much money after expenses for traveling and housing are deducted.

—Playoffs would impair the scheduling of nonconference games, since the NCAA permits only 27 regular-season contests. A tournament would count as one regular-season game, meaning teams would have to give up one nonconference date.

—A tournament would make regular-season conference games less meaningful, and interest would actually decrease instead of increase at least until the tournament.

"Next year, with 10 teams in the conference, a roundrobin schedule gives each team 18 conference games," says USC athletic director Dick Perry. "That means only nine nonconference games. With a tournament, that number would be eight. That gives you pretty limited exposure to opponents from other parts of the country.

"I disagree entirely with the principle of a postseason conference tournament. It's not fair to a team that's worked hard all year to run into a team on a hot night and get upset and lose the championship."

Other opinions:

—Arizona State athletic director Fred Miller: "A tournament would be fun but I don't think it should negate the regular-season standings. That's why I'm opposed."

—Washington coach Marv Harshman: "I question whether a tournament would be a big moneymaker. With 10 schools it would be less of a financial boon than for a seven-team conference like the ACC."

Oregon athletic director John Caine: "I'm not saying we would support a tournament or wouldn't. We are not interested in having one just because other conferences are doing it. We would consider it carefully, based on three aspects — the revenue, the television package and whether it would help two conference teams get in the NCAA tournament. If the conference carefully evaluates it and finds it a good thing, I'm sure we would support it."

—Oregon State coach Ralph Miller:
"If it would make as much money as the ACC's tournament, we should consider it. But...unless there is a lot better evidence than I've seen, I wouldn't support a tournament."

—UCLA athletic director J.D. Morgan: "One reason the ACC makes so much money is because it has little travel expense. Many of the schools can ride a bus to Greensboro. Two years ago at the Pac-8 meetings we voted against a tournament because we didn't think it would be the bonanza some thought."

—Stanford athletic director Joe Ruetz: "I suppose I could support the idea under some circumstances...There's no doubt that college athletic departments have dollar problems. But my general teeling is that the conference regular-season champion should not have to play for the championship again."

Most of the concerns clearly are about money. A Pac-10 tournament would cost much more than an ACC or Big 10 tournament because the Pac-10 is one of the most geographically spread-out conferences in the coun-

Raveling wants a tournament at a neutral site, such as Portland, which would mean flying in eight of the 10 teams and putting up 150 or so players and coaches at hotels for three or four nights. Some believe that these expenses, plus the rent for the arena, would eat up much of the profit.

Other conferences have eased travel expenses with a different tournament format: First-round games are on the home courts of some schools, with final-four teams advancing to the home court of the regular-season champion for the semifinals and finals. The Big Sky; Southern and Missouri VAlley conferences use this plan or a variation.

There does, however, appear to be considerable support for an alternative to a 10-team tournament.

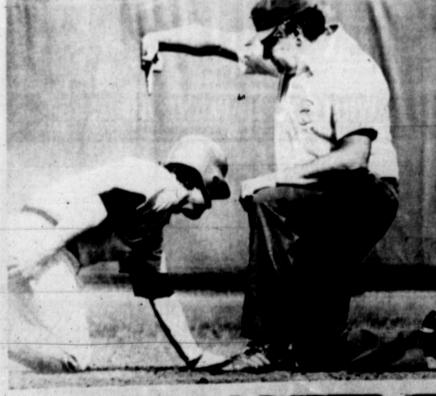

Most Pac-10 coaches say they would favor a tournament for all schools but the regular-season champion, with the winner receiving a spot in the NCAA playoffs. Washington's Harshman and USC's Bob Boyd advocate this.

"I think the NCAA should guarantee two spots to our conference and seven other top conferences," harshman says. "That accounts for only 16 of the 32 spots. The NCAA could then give eight spots to other conference champions, give four spots to independents, and still have four spots to play with."

"That would make it a six-team tournament," says Boyd, "which is a much more workable number than nine. It would be cheaper and would give a team incentive for finishing higher in the standings."

"I don't want to say I'm closedminded," says Cal athletic director Dave Maggard. "But I'm not so sure a tournament wouldn't be anticlimactic. The west coast is different from other parts of the country in that it has so many recreational opportunities year-round. Unless you have a super attraction, I don't think you would draw huge crowds."

Oklahoma State big on autos

DALLAS (AP) — Last August before he reported to preseason football practice at Oklahoma State, Houston blue-chipper Dexter Manley stopped off in Pryor, Okla., and picked up a new Mercury Cougar.

Manley, listed as first-string linebacker at the end of spring practice April 29, claims he bought the car in Houston with money earned from a hometown summer job and from insurance benefits resulting from his father's death last June.

However, he said he doesn't remember the name of the construction company or the name of the Houston car dealer. His mother said she has no idea where he got the car. She said the insurance settlement was a "very small amount" and added that Dexter's summer job was news to

The Oklahoma motor vehicle records show the car was bought from Jim Phillips Ford in Pryor — 120 miles from Stillwater, home of the university. Last Jan. 9, Oklahoma State was placed on two-year probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for recruiting violations.

Phillips said Manley came into the dealership alone Aug. 19, 1977 and paid for the car with a $6,850 draft from the First National Bank at Still-

"I've never heard of Pryor, Okla."
Manley said. "I don't know who is saying I bought the car there. I bought the car in Houston and I paid cash money for it. I worked for a construction company last summer, but I can't remember the name of it. But I made good money, $9 an hour."

Part of the NCAA's report included five charges that athletes were driving cost-free automobiles furnished by various university backers and representatives.

A Dallas Times Herald investigation reported the following:

—At least six Oklahoma State ath-

-At least six Oklahoma State athletes are driving late model Cutlasses, all bought from Jackie Cooper Oldsmobile in Yukon, 80 miles from the school.

-Three of the Cutlasses are fin-

Three of the Cutlasses are financed at Yukon National Bank, whose president, Clarence Wright, is one of 19 OSU "representatives" restricted by the NCAA from recruiting athletes.

—Two of the Cutlasses are financed with "balloon loans" where athletes only pay on the note during the summer. Asked about the loans, Wright said, "I am going to give a loan to anybody I want to give a loan to. The NCAA is not going to stop my business..."

Jim Stanley, OSU head coach, said he spoke with Manley about the car but did not ask him where he got it. Athletic Director Floyd Gass said he doesn't believe the school or its representatives are buying cars for football players.

Steve Hammond, one of the three athletes driving a Cutlass financed with Wright's Yukon bank, at first denied having a car but added later, "they're telling us not to answer those type of questions. They (NCAA) busted a whole lot of people up here and everybody is a little scared."

Hammond would not say who told him to keep quiet.

Last year, in March, between 2,000 and 5,000 Katangan exiles crossed the Angola-Zaire border 300 miles west of Kolwezi and advanced toward Kolwezi along the Benguela-Kolwezi railroad. They occupied about a third of the province, but the intervention of Moroccan troops bolstered the Zaire army, and the invaders were driven back across the border in called in the ambassa-dors of the United States, Belgium, France, China and Morocco Sunday and appealed for help. There was no immediate response from foreign goverments.

During last year's invasion, Morocco sent Mobutu 1,500 troops, France and Belgium furnished air support, and the United States sent communications and transport equipment.

"We are in touch with our diplomatic personnel in that part of the world," said a State Department spokeswoman in Washington."
