Authorities directed to gravesites of five missing family members

WINNIE, Texas (AP) — Five members of a family missing from their blood-spattered rural home here since July 1 have been found buried in a wooded area.

uthorities said a former in-law charged in connection with the disappearance directed them Sunday night to the gravesite in neighboring Jef ferson County. Joe Dugas, 31, of Port Acres, has been held in Chambers County Jail in Anahuac in lieu of $500,000 bond.

A prepared statement from the Chambers County sheriff's office said, "Positive identification was established as members of the Phillips family missing from their residence in Winnie, Texas, since July 3."

The victims were identified as Bishop Phillips, 64; his wife Ester, 66; a son Elmer, 31; his wife Martha; and their 4-year-old son Jason. Dugas was once married to a daughter of the elder Phillips

Justice of the Peace Jack Cravy. who conducted a graveside inquest. said the bodies were close together. "The shallowest (grave) was 18 inches and the deepest was 4 to 5

Autopsies were ordered by Cravy. and Jefferson County pathologists took custody of the bodies.

Cravy said authorities were not certain what motivated the killings.

Dugas' brother, Richard Lee, has said in a sworn statement that Dugas told him on July 4 that he had kidnapped the family at gunpoint July and had taken them to a "prepared gravesite.

Dugas had previously denied having anything to do with the family's disappearance

The disappearance was discovered when one of the Phillips' sons returned from a weekend trip to Houston and found the house blood-spattered but vacant.

Briscoe serious about $1.6 billion in tax cuts during next three years

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe prepared to tell legislators today how he wants them to cut

Texas' low taxes even lower. The opening of the special 30-day legislative session was set for noon, with Briscoe tentatively scheduled to address a joint session at 1 p.m. To hear Speaker Bill Clayton tell it, Briscoe was riding by himself on his vast South Texas ranch when he began to get serious about tax relief.

Texas, however, already ranks near the bottom in taxes as a percentage of personal income Briscoe has recommended $1.6 billion in tax cuts over the next three

Clayton says if the governor does not get a substantial part of his proposals approved, he "wouldn't be surprised" to see the governor hold lawmakers in session throughout Au-

Briscoe first mentioned a special session after Californians approved the tax-limitation proposal known as Proposition 13. Clayton said.

Briscoe tried out the idea on a few reporters, Clayton said, and "a crescendo of rumors and speculation" triggered a surge of mail that made Briscoe sense the importance of a

Some fear, however, it may do more harm than good. Newspaper editorials have pleaded for caution. Others have noted that Texas taxes are not nearly as high as those in California.

Briscoe critics claim the governor called the session to satisfy his ego after voters rejected his bid for reelection by nominating Attorney General John Hill as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Additionally, they say, Briscoe does not want to leave a large financial surplus for Hill to carry out ambitious legislative programs in 1979 if Hill should defeat Republican Bill Clements in the November election.

Briscoe's recommendations, according to some tax experts, would wipe out any projected surplus for 1980-81.

Clayton has said "if we go above $1 billion in tax relief, we're asking for

The talk of "Hill-Briscoe" votes has surfaced in recent days. An aide to a Hill supporter in the House said a vote count of the constitutional amendments committee showed that the local taxing and spending limitation and the two-thirds proposal will not get out of committee

There is always pressure, however, to favor tax reductions

"I personally think it's a bad time to be against tax relief and tax limitation," says Clayton

Although he said the two-thirds proposal "really ties the hands of the Legislature," he later noted that the last four tax bills - in 1963, 1967, 1969 and 1971 - had been approved by two-third margins in the House.

The Legislature has not enacted a tax bill since 1971.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said there appeared to be legal precedent for legislators to go far beyond Briscoe's agenda in the special session, but Secretary of State Steve Oaks said Saturday he felt the session could be limited to topics submitted by the governor.

In addition to proposed legislation, Briscoe is expected to ask the Senate to confirm 600 appointments to state boards and agencies.

The most controversial appointee is Hugh Yantis, who was named by the governor as chairman of the state insurance board in September 1977. There has been speculation that Yantis will resign. A reappointment to the board, Durwood Manford, also may face Senate opposition.

Sheriff offers prisoner deal in Lozano case, mother says

ODESSA - An Odessa woman, whose son has been subpoenaed as a witness in a federal grand jury probe into the death of Larry Lozano, has told a U.S. Justice Department official that Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught offered to help her son obtain a reduced sentence in return for favorable testimony, it was learned Anita Molinar, during a telephone conversation with Dan F. Rinzel confirmed that such a conversation did take place with Mrs. Molinar, but declined to elaborate "since I'm bound by law not to talk about federal grand jury proceed-

Mrs. Molinar initially made the allegations Friday night during a meet ing of Concerned Citizens for Justice Committee, a group which is maintaining that Lozano's civil rights were violated during the period following his Jan. 10 arrest until the night he died in the Ector County Jail Jan. 22. Orlando Molinar, still an inmate at the jail, reportedly has told investigators he witnessed violations of Lozano's civil rights and that he was

Transportation key issue at WIPP hearing here

By JIM STEINBERG

The question of transportation safety is expected to be a key issue in Midland Tuesday as the Department of Energy begins the first of three public hearings in Texas on a proposed underground nuclear disposal area near Carlsbad, N.M.

Presenting the DOE's case here for the controversial Waste Isolation Pilot Plant will be Deputy Secretary John O'Leary, the energy department's number two man.

The hearings in Texas are to be what DOE officials call "public information sessions" on a proposal to demonstrate the permanent disposal of up to 1,000 highly radioactive fuel assemblies discharged from commercial nuclear power plants. That's in addition to storage of four million cubic feet of low-level nuclear wastes and 100,000 cubic feet of intermediatelevel nuclear wastes in underground salt domes 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad, near New Mexico State

Hyder said he would be at the public hearing in Midland to "elaborate further"on the transportation hazards of the project. "I'll tell you one thing, if they show the same transportation film that they showed in New Mexico, I'm going to stand up at the hearing and say it's a sham. Because what they are going to ship those nuclear wastes in aren't the concrete and steel cases they show on the film.

In fact they are just now testing the crates they plan to use for nuclear wastes.

Laredo officer tells circumstances of slaying

LAREDO, Texas (AP) - A Laredo police officer who faces murder charges in the weekend shotgun slaying of a Mexican national claims he stopped the man and his companions near the Rio Grande while investigating a robbery that occurred two blocks away.

Officer Antonio L. Elizalde Jr., 32, a five-year veteran of the city's police force, has been suspended from duty and held without bond in Webb County Jail since he turned himself in shortly after the shooting early Saturday in this South Texas border town. He was scheduled to be brought

The Martinez brothers said they were looking for the International Bridge on their way to Monterrey, Mexico, when they took a wrong turn and got lost. Elizalde, who lives near the scene of the shooting, was off duty and was returning from a friend's house when he said he saw a man leave the rear of a gas station in the area about 2:45 a.m. He stopped the four on suspicion of robbery a few minutes later, according to Police Sgt. ### Carter ready on promised anti-crime agency overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is ready with a bill to overhaul a federal anti-crime agency, which was accused by candidate Carter of wasting millions of dollars "while making almost no contribution to reducing crime."

The agency that drew Carter's criticism in 1976, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, has spent $6 billion to combat crime since it starting operating in 1969.

Details of Carter's plan were announced today at a White House ceremony to which congressional backers

Some aspects of the plan became publicly known last week, including a proposed ban on most grants for police hardware or salary increases. The LEAA has been critized for financing such projects as as souped-up squad cars, bulletproof vests, guns and helicopters.

Carter also aims to reduce the agency's paperwork by 75 percent and to increase community participation in LEAA programs.

There would be a new formula for grants that would mainly benefit eastern states and big cities with high crime rates. The formula would take into account population, crime rates, local spending on criminal justice and local tax contributions.

One congressional aide, who asked not to be identified, said the legislation was generally vague. The proposed restrictions against grants for police hardware could be circumvented, he added. A four-year spending authorization would carry a ceiling of $825 million annually for LEAA and its programs. The current authorization is about the same, but the actual appropriation is only $641 million annually.

That done, he relaxes with and sometimes teases the other passengers. He checks the sports page and sees that the Texas Rangers have lost again - a fact which distresses him, since he is a fan.

Except for a dinner in Amarillo, Tower never gives a formal speech during the two days. Instead, after brief remarks about the status of pending legislation, he asks for questions from the audience.

And at each function, from press conference to reception and from Texarkana to Pampa, the questions basically are the same - Proposition 13, inflation and energy come up at every stop. Questions about beef import quotas are asked in both East Texas and the Panhandle. Tower mentions the Labor Reform Act and the military procurement bill in his introductory comments, and often his listeners will ask more questions about the labor law or defense spend-

He answers the questions concisely and states the same views at each

Usually, he is directly critical of President Carter. "Consistency is not one of our president's greatest drawbacks," he quips at one point. And he attacks his Democratic opponent, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, for his vote for the Labor Reform Act.

Talking in his plane between stops. Tower says he has never had a problem with his own beliefs conflicting with the views of a majority if his constituents.

"I can't even conceive of any time when the national interests and the interests of Texas would conflict," he says. After reflecting further, he says such a situation might arise if the time came to choose between a weapons system to be manufactured in Texas and and one to be made elsewhere. Even then, he adds, if the other system were demonstrably superior, its use would be in the best interests of Texas.

During the 17 years he has served in the Senate, he said, lawyers have lost some of their domination of that body, giving it more diversity and perhaps making it a "little less conserva-He notes that neither he nor his opponent is a lawyer. Both, in fact, are former college professors. Tower expects to go back into teaching when he retires from the Senate.

Consistency mark of area weather

If there is one word to describe the weather lately, other than hot, it would have to be "consistent."

The weatherman with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport this morning shortened his forecast to a cryptic: fair through Tuesday with hot afternoons. No chance of rain is predicted.

Midland reported a high Sunday of 96 degrees. The record high for that same date is 103 degrees set in 1974. The overnight low was 70, compared to the record of 64 degrees set in Winds should become light and southerly tonight, the weatherman to aid. He cites increases in minimum wages, which he contends eliminates many unskilled jobs, as an example.

Of the interests of urban and rural constituents, Tower says he does not think they are conflicting in Texas because agriculture is "still our number one industry," and the economic health of many citie depends directly on the health of that business.

Further, he says, the Texas delegation always votes with the farmer when those from other states might vote with urban interests, "and we don't get punished for it in the cities.

The Texas delegation will expand by two after the 1980 census, Tower predicts, because of rising population. The new spots basically will go to Dallas and Houston, he says.

With the retirement of several longterm representatives this year. Texas will lose much of its seniority in Congress. Tower comments that "Texans have appreciated the seniority system more than most states." He believes a congressman who manages to get elected to three terms can count on staying in until he voluntarily retires, "if he doesn't make any major mistakes" and isn't a victim of redis-

Late Saturday night as the plane starts from Amarillo toward Dallas, Tower takes off his shoes, props up his feet and watches the lights of the cities below. The atmosphere is relaxed, as jokes are exchanged and the political situation in the state becomes a topic for general conversation. Sunday, he will go back to Washington, with trips to Texas planned for weekends and congressional recesses through November.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) - You can sit in the Flat Iron Cafe on Poland Avenue here and feel the urban crisis

Down the road, as far as the eye can see, is a yawning, abandoned steelyard - somber reminder of the economic blight that threatens the Mahoning Valley.

The nation's steel crisis - aging facilities, obsolete technologies, foreign competition - is creating an urban crisis in Youngstown.

But where other communities have drifted into decline, Youngstown, seeking federal help, is fighting back. The effort may test President Carter's urban policy, as religious leaders pursue a proposal to purchase, modernize and reopen the giant Campbell Works steelyard. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube

Co. caused the nation's largest-ever non-military plant shutdown when it closed its Campbell Works here last September. About 5,000 jobs were

That was just the beginning.

U.S. Steel says it intends to close some of its Ohio operations before too long. The pending merger of LTV Corp., which owns Jones & Laughlin Steel, and Lykes Corp., which owns Sheet and Tube, will cost more jobs as they consolidate operations.

That spells hard times in the Mahoning Valley, a center of the nation's steel industry for 175 years. Younger workers are taking

'working vacations" in the south and the west, "looking for work that has a future," says union official Gerald Dickey, adding: "It means the death of the valley, if the young people can't find work here.'

"This is not an Ohio steel problem," says a city official. "It's a national problem. We've got to find a way to revive our cities in times of economic

In Youngstown, leaders have created the Mahoning Valley Ecumenical Coalition and are organizing a "Save Our Mahoning Valley" campaign to reopen the Campbell Works. This fall, the administration will decide whether to make the venture a showcase for the Carter urban policy.

The risk is high. The Ecumenical Coalition is trying to do with government help what the steel industry has not always been able to do for itself.

The coalition contemplates community-worker ownership of the Campbell Works. It is seeking money to buy the plant, tapping families, laid-off steelworkers and religious groups. It has union support, even though some steelworkers are skeptical.

But to make it work, the federal government will have to wade in, knee deep. "Washington has got to help, or it won't wash," says Mayor John Philip Richley.

A federal study, still underway, says a $523-million facelift would allow the plant to make money under community ownership. Carter aides are skeptical, but the study is raising hopes all the way from the White House to the Flat Iron Cafe.

The Flat Iron sits down the road from the Campbell Works, across the street from a string of aging steel works threatened with extinction over the next decade.

Economic development, says President Carter, is the way to halt such decline. His interest in Youngstown is clear: When aides sought to demonstrate the value of Carter's proposed National Development Bank, they used the Youngstown steel industry as an example.

Further, the coalition campaign stresses the "new partnership" of government, citizen groups and private interests that Carter seeks.

"This is precisely the sort of local effort we are looking for in developing new federal strategies to support areas that are faced with devastating plant closings." — Housing and Urban Development Secretary Patricia Harris.

"Youngstown was in distress before the layoffs, but the shutdown has brought a crisis, and perhaps an opportunity. We want to see if community ownership can work, and if we can fit it into the urban policy." - John Simmons, HUD.

"We don't want Youngstown to end up like the South Bronx. If we can step in now and turn it around, it's to everyone's advantage." - A Carter

One way or another, the government will have to put big money into Youngstown. If the jobs cannot be restored, unemployment compensa-tion and special jobless benefits will cost $50 million to $75 million in the next few years.

'We'd like to put the money into an investment instead of a handout,' says HUD's Simmons. An airplane manufacturing venture in the area is raising hopes, but remains far from

Gilmore's girl, mother closer after execution

By VERN ANDERSON

SPRINGVILLE, Utah (AP) - Nicole Barrett, former girlfriend of executed killer Gary Gilmore, nearly joined him in death in what authorities believed was an abortive suicide pact. Now, 18 months after a firing squad killed Gilmore, Mrs. Barrett seems to love Gilmore "almost deeper," Gilmore's mother says.

Mrs. Barrett was raised in this community of about 9,000 over which Gilmore's ashes were spread. She moved following Gilmore's execution and now lives in Oregon, where Gilmore's mother, Bessie,

Mrs. Gilmore said in a telephone interview from her home outside Portland that Mrs. Barrett calls her frequently and asks about her son's early

"She asks me about Gary when he was young and could listen to that for hours. She said she wishes she could have grown up with him," Mrs. Gilmore

Mrs. Barrett won't tell friends or business associates where in Oregon she lives. Even Mrs. Gilmore said she doesn't know how to contact the 22vear-old divorcee.

Mrs. Gilmore says she and Mrs. Barrett have struck up a warm friendship since her son's January 1977 execution, the first in the United States in nearly Promoter Lawrence Schiller, who for $25,000 bought exclusive rights to Mrs. Barrett's story, says he doesn't know where she lives.

He said Mrs. Barrett has received nearly $20,000 so far - $10,000 of which is in a trust fund for her children - and would receive the rest upon completion Schiller, who lives in Los Angeles, said author Norman Mailer had interviewed Mrs. Barrett for the book on Gilmore.

Mrs. Barrett would hitchhike the 40 miles from Springville to the prison for daily visits with Gilmore, who was sentenced to death for the murder of a Provo motel clerk. He later admitted killing a service station attendant the previous night.

And it was here Mrs. Barrett took an overdose of sleeping pills two months before Gilmore's Jan. 17 execution in an apparent suicide pact with the man who made world headlines in demanding death over a lifetime in prison.

The 36-year-old Gilmore took a sub-lethal drug dose in his prison cell and would have recovered without aid, doctors said. Mrs. Barrett was found unconscious the same morning on her apartment sofa clutching a picture of Gilmore to her chest.

She was hospitalized in a coma and was later committed by her mother to the state mental hospital in Provo. She remained there until after the execution

Before Gilmore's execution, Mrs. Barrett was quoted as saying Gilmore had killed twice in a rage after she told him she was going back to her husband. "He killed them so he wouldn't kill me," she said. Mrs. Gilmore, who joined efforts to appeal her son's death sentence, said she and Mrs. Barrett never discuss the execution or the events that led to

'We've never bridged that terrible gap...when the whole world turned over," she said.

Conflict of interest

In a news story appearing recently in The Reporter-Telegram, it was revealed that one of the directors of the Midland County Hospital District, Dr. Michael Burleson, was also a financial investor in a corporation which is purchasing Parkview Hospital, a private Midland hospital.

Insofar as we know, there has been no public announcement of any change in the matter.

Because of the nature of the two hospital facilities in Midland, Dr. Burleson's direct involvement in both raises serious questions of a conflict of interest on the physician's part.

Midland Memorial Hospital, which now belongs to the Midland County Hospital District as a result of the outcome of last September's special election, is a non-profit, tax-supported institution. One of its many roles, and one which Midland County taxpayers pay for, is the providing of medical care to those persons in the county who cannot afford to pay for it.

Parkview Hospital, on the other hand, is a private business operated for profit and the benefit of its stockholders. Parkview. however, has no responsibility for the care of the needy.

Dr. Burleson was elected in April 1978 to a two-year term as a director of the hospital district. By his own admission, he joined a group of four other doctors in January 1978 in an effort to purchase Parkview Hospital. However, he did not disclose to the voters prior to the April election that he was financially involved in the private facility.

A conflict of interest would arise when any person was elected by the voters to serve one hospital, then invests in another. But the conflict is even more serious for a physician in this dual role. Almost all doctors take care of a certain number of needy patients in addition to their paying patients. If a doctor owns an interest in a hospital operated for profit, it is only logical that he would send those able to pay their bills to his private hospital. In turn, he would send the needy to the public hospital, in this case. Midland Memorial, where the taxpayers foot the bill.

As The Reporter-Telegram sees it, the best way for Dr. Burleson to avoid such a conflict is to resign as a director of the Midland County Hospital District, particularly since he did not disclose to the Midland voters his outside financial interest in another medical facility. If Dr. Burleson is not willing to do this, he immediately should divest himself of his Parkview Hospital stock. But in no way should he hold both positions when a true conflict of interest could arise with the tax monies of Midland County taxpayers.

Happy Birthday!

West Texas Boys Ranch celebrated its 30th birthday anniversary last Saturday, with a big party, homecoming, barbecue and rodeo held at the ranch, which is located just west of San Angelo.

The ranch was founded in 1947 by a group of civic leaders from this West Texas area, working mainly through the San Angelo Optimist Club and other groups. The property was bought in 1948, and the project was started with one house, one set of home parents, and one boy.

Today, the ranch is one of the most modern and most up-to-date child-care institutions in the nation It is licensed as a private boy-care home by the State of Texas. It is governed by a 50member board of directors. More than 800 boys from over West Texas have "ranched" at West Texas Boys Ranch, which has received national recognition for its high ratio of former residents who are now making "excellent or good" adjustments in society.

Financial support comes solely through contributions from individuals and groups from over a wide area, with no federal funds solicited or accepted.

The Ranch has served and is serving a great and most worthwhile purpose. Here's hoping it will continue to serve for many more 30-year periods in the

Ways of creating wealth explained by columnist

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - In the very old days, the strong and clever put it to the weak and less clever. They still do. The only thing that has changed is terminology.

You can'understand economics and political systems much easier if you keep a few basic concepts in mind. One is that as the old Chinese sage said, God created us with bottomless pits called stomachs which we must spend our lives trying to fill up.

How to fill the pit and keep a roof over it is what economics is all about. Organizing the labor of people is what political systems are about.

Now most of us are accustomed to thinking that wealth is money but it's not. Money is just a medium of exchange and a means of measuring wealth. Wealth consists of things like land, food, buildings, tools, clothes, and weapons.

Money can be created with the stroke of a pen or by pushing the start button on a printing press. Wealth, on the other hand, can only be created by applying human labor to natural resources. You can't eat a fish until you

Now God really did create all men equal or less. We all have just 24 hours in each day and pretty much the same number of days to live. The range in human energy levels is not all that

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Protests pierce Soviet walls

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Soviet rulers are trying to stifle voices of dissent behind prison gates and asylum walls. Yet smothered cries of protest continue to reach the outside world.

We have just received a summary of a manuscript of dissent smuggled out of Russia portraying the torments that a Soviet dissident faces for daring to speak his mind. The author, Alexander Podrabinek, is facing trial and imprisonment.

His book, "Punitive Medicine,,' is an expose of the psychological and physical punishments imposed on those who incur the displeasure of the Soviet hierarchy. It tells a grim story of how the Kremlin uses medical torture to punish critics.

Agents of the Soviet state police broke into Podrabinek's apartment last year and accused him of committing "anti-Soviet fabrications." They seized the manuscript of his book, but a copy was smuggled out of the country. A summary of it has been given to us by the respected Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

Podrabinek has written a stinging indictment of the Soviet authorities for clapping dissenters in psychiatric hospitals and subjecting them to beatings, drug injections and other forms of torture. Many have been reduced to a zombie state.

The brave Podrabinek estimates that at least 1,000 Russians have been confined in "special psychiatric hospitals" merely because they spoke out against the regime. He found the institutions differed little from the Siberian prison camps described by Aleksandr Solzhenitoyn in his "Gulag Archipelago" accounts. They are surrounded by high walls, barbed wire and menacing watch towers.

The healthy political prisoners are assigned to cell wards where they must exist among mentally ill inmates who are prone to violence and dementia. Savage beatings of inmates by orderlies, many of them convicted criminals, are commonplace.

nek tells in his hospital director personally beating four inmates who desperately sought to escape. But he tells about a more insidious form of punishment - the wet pack. Troublemakers are swaddled in strips of wet sheets, which contract on drying to constrict the body of a victim so tightly that he shrieks in pain.

The manuscript charges that at the special political prisoner hospital in Leningrad, some stubborn recalcitrants must endure such punishment every two hours. The torture may be repeated daily for as long as two months Another blood-curdling form of punishment consists of "compulsory immobilization." Inmates are strapped to the frame of a bed and left neglected for as long as the doctor wishes. This may last for hours, days

According to Podrabinek, the use of drugs as punishment is even more diabolical. One commonly used drug is haloperidol. It renders the patient frantic with a constant need to change body positions without ever finding

The doctors also inject inmates with sulfazin, which racks them with intense pain after several doses. The afflicted patient can neither sit nor lie down comfortably. Another drug, a sedative called aminazin, has been given in such great doses that it results in addiction.

The goal of the treatment is to obtain the abject subjugation of the dissident. By suffering, the doctors hope, the critics of the Soviet state anticom munist beliefs, acknowledge they are mentally ill and promise never to repeat their "crimes."

Even on the everyday level, the harassment of the confined dissidents is stolidly pursued by their warders. Podrabinek reports. Inmates are allowed a bath and a change of linen only every 10 days. Sometimes, they are punished by being denied toilet facilities for unendurable durations.

Even under the threat of imprisonment, Podrabinek maintained a jaunty air of defiance for his persecutors. A few nonths before his ailing, the dissident Russian was intercepted by KGB agents for interrogation in the middle of a skiing

He dashed off a sardonic letter to KGB chief Yuri Andropov praising the secret police's "heroic young men who, in fulfilling their civil duty. freeze in cold December nights at the entrance to my apartment, or chase after me during rush hours."

Podrabinek urged the head of the secret police to "provide your workers with skis and sleds" so they could "enjoy the recreation activities of those Soviet citizens whom they are guarding."

He added this footnote: "Next Sunday, I plan to go skating."

DRUG DRIVE: The drug industry is waging a determined campaign to save expensive brand-name drugs. The industry is upset because a growing number of states are passing laws encouraging doctors to prescribe cheaper generic drugs. This, of course, is cutting into their profits.

So the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association has launched a pressure campaign to convince doctors not to prescribe the cheaper brands. They have sent lobbyists across the country to make sure doctors get the message.

They have also taken out ads in medical journals. A typical ad contends: "Substitution is bad medicine. That's why most doctors prescribe brand-name drugs. They don't bargain with your health."

The industry neglects to mention that the Food and Drug Administration has certified most generic drugs to be just as good as the costlier brands.

If that is true, and if wealth can only be created by applying human labor to natural resources, it's reasonable to assume that no one person should be able to accumulate much more wealth than the next.

Yet we know from the beginning of history there have been some people who accumulated a tremendous amount of wealth and some people who accumulated hardly any. How does this happen?

Well, there is just one way in which a human being can accumulate a lot of wealth. That is to figure out some way to acquire a portion or all of the wealth created by the labor of many, many other human beings.

Fundamentally, there are only two ways to do this and so fundamentally there are only two types of political systems. The two ways are trading or robbery and the two systems are freedom or slavery. All political systems are variations of one or the Elvis Presley provides an example of the trading system. Presley accumulated a lot of wealth because millions of people were willing to trade a portion of the wealth they earned with their labor for the pleasure he gave them by singing.

Fidel Castro is a good example of the robbery system. Castro acquired a lot of wealth because he led a group of armed thugs into Cuba and confi scated at gunpoint the wealth created by the labor of the Cuban people. He returned to them just enough to keep them alive so they can continue to labor and produce more wealth for him and his gunmen. Since the beginning, bandits have devised elaborate excuses for robbery. Some claimed their right to rob was hereditary and some who called themselves kings claimed that they had received a franchise from God to exploit a particular group of

As knowledge began to accumulate and gradually filter down to the masses, principally because of the industrial revolution, people became too sophisticated to buy such fables as hereditary rights and special dispensations from God.

More sophisticated rationalizations were required and so today we have all sorts of idelogies like communism. fascism, socialism, and so forth. Instead of claiming to speak for God, today's bandits claim to speak for the state or society or the fatherland or the revolution, none of which exist at all except as mental concepts.

There is no such creature as society or the state or the revolution. There are only individual human beings. It is not the revolution which is getting fat, eating fine food, smoking good cigars and dilly-dallying the girls. It's Fidel himself. The Cuban people supply the food, cigars and the girls.

In our own country, we have a good number of envious little would-be bandits who are just panting for some gunman to come along and hire them as speechwriters, myth-makers, and administrators of loot. Most people call them liberals.

You can identify them because they are always talking about taking the wealth you create with your labor and giving it to society. Unless your name happens to be Society, I'd advise you to give them nothing but a knuckle sandwich.

Remember, there are only two choices: freedom or slavery, but to have freedom we have to be clever enough and strong enough to beat the

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

BONN - The Soviet campaign to cast doubt on the dependability of the U.S. is in full bloom across Europe, particularly here in West Germany which for 30 years has been the root of the U.S. European strategy against

The smell of this Soviet campaign is everywhere, sweetened with the apprehensions of America's NATO allies as to whether the Carter administration really knows what it wants and how to get it.

The Soviet ambassadors and their ample staffs here and in East Germany tirelessly contrast the serious nature of Soviet policies with the erratic political style of President Carter, following the distille of Vietnam and Watergate.

What distinguishes this Soviet propaganda campaign is President Leon Brezhnev's surprising efforts to find an audience among the bad old cold war warriors of the German right like Josef Strauss. There are the leaders of the Christian Democratic Union (CDU) and Christian Social Union (CSU), parties which for the past decade have been in opposi-uon to the Social Democratic party now under Chancellor Helmut

During his visit to Bonn in May. Brezhnev went out of his way both to admonish and to court Helmut Kohl, the CDU leader. As the top opposition spokesman, it wasn't all that unusual for Kohl to be received by Brezhnev for a 45-minute lecture about the

CDU's alleged anti-Soviet tenden-

But Strauss was a different number. Strauss has held a special place in the Kremlin's heart ever since his first election to the West German parliament in 1949, a German revanchist feared and attacked by the Kremlin as a latter-day Attila the Hun. Yet it was with Strauss that Brezhnev exerted his charms to a greater degree than with any other

Strauss is one of the smartest politicians in Europe, and a sly, witty debater of great force and positive views. He listened while Brezhnev read a prepared statement rebuking revanchism and appealing for the conservative's support for Soviet-style European security. Strauss re-plied bluntly.

He described himself as having only one policy for Germany — the same policy proclaimed by Tal-leyrand for defeated France at the Congress of Vienna in 1815: rescue for France whatever can be rescued after the collapse of Napoleon.

There was blame enough to go around for Hitler's conquests, said Strauss, and a large share of it was the Stalin-Hitler non-aggression pact of 1939 which removed the last obstacle for Hitler's wars.

Strauss then told Brezhnev that a conflict is in the making in Africa, an explosion that could exceed the point of no return and lead to a tremendous

From Brezhnev came no harsh response. Brezhnev listened, then insisted - over Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's visible annoyance on walking outside with Strauss and seeing him to his car.

This was unprecedented treatment for Strauss who, despite three decades at or near the pinnacle of West German politics, has never been invited to the Kremlin. Brezhnev was praised in the controlled Soviet press for having tamed and charmed cold warrior Strauss and - at least for now - 30 years of anti-Strauss invective disappeared from the Soviet

Brezhnev's point in courting Kohl and Strauss seems obvious: first, to feed them the suspicion that dependence on Washington is a long-range gamble which may not pay off; and second, to emphasize that Moscow's will and determination will never change - and had better be taken into

Such Moscow-inspired atmospherics have elearly had an effect on Chancellor Schmidt, who is burdened with a virulent left wing. Without clear U.S. leadership for West Germany and other European states, Schmidt will hardly say anything nasty about Soviet adventures in Africa, Afghanistan, South Yemen or elsewhere.

Kremlin.

Kohl, Strauss and the conservatives, with the luxury of being out of power, have no inhibitions - today about offending the Soviets, and no doubts about reasons for doing so. But Brezhnev's subtle dialogue, craftily woven into his speech in Minsk last week, suggests that he may see a change coming. If it does come, it will be pushed forward by worldwide Soviet propaganda about dependability and steadiness of Soviet world politics. But it will be triggered by something else, the perception that Jimmy Carter's Washington either does not understand the game or is too tired to

Uncertain of elusive American leadership, Schmidt for good reason chooses to risk no offense to the

Would you ride a camel for a weekend benefit?

HOOPER, Neb. (AP) - What was a college dean doing atop a racing camel? Probably the same thing the capital city's mayor was doing behind an ostrich: holding on tight, at the Hooper Camel-Ostrich Races.

"I was just crazy enough to do it. Actually, it was sort of fun," said Caryl Steyer, Midland Lutheran College dean of students, after dismounting from Sheiba, the camel that ran away with the victory. The second camel in the race, Valentine, sent Tekamah school principal Bill Anderson tumbling into the dust.

Several thousand fans visited Hooper Downs, formerly a ballpark, during the weekend benefit for community projects in this town of 895 residents.

Besides the featured camel and ostrich races, the entertainment included donkey races and a beer garden Admission was $3 per person, and at the end of the day Sunday, fundraiser Al Croson estimated the town had netted between $7,000 and $8,000.

The money goes into the community fund which over the years has been used to improve parks, medical services and street lighting.

Following the victory, Steyer said he was retiring from camel racing to return to academics.

"I thought it was a put-on when I got the letter asking me to be in the race. I did it because I like this little town," said Steyer, who conceded he was a little nervous before the ride. "I thought I'd just come here, ride the 'dumb camel and go home. But my family came as a cheering section."

Before her race began, Lincoln Mayor Helen Boosalis made a rapid exit from the cart when her ostrich, Boomer, somehow got his feathers ruffled. "It took four or five men to harness them and tie them into the sulky. I had no idea they're such strong birds," she said. Hers was a three-bird race.

Boomer lost by a beak when Jughead, steered by University of Nebraska journalism director Neal Copple, surged ahead at the finish line. Suzanne Masters, managing editor of the Lincoln Star, came in third with a bird named Oscar.

Mike Eagan, publisher of the Hooper Sentinal, said he got the idea for the races from the movie "Doctor Doolittle." Eagan won one of the ostrich races with Boomer, whom he described as "the star. He likes to run and get it over with."

Although it was her first ostrich race, novelty is not new to Mrs. Boosalis. During past fund-raisers, the mayor participated in a goat milking contest, had sponge balls full of water thrown at her head, and rode in the open cockpit of a biplane.

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - Since 585 the Oxford University Press has vatched over literary tastes and the nother tongue with the fastidious oncern of track stewards maintainng proper dress and decorum in the oyal enclosure at Ascot.

Even that refined British spelling of unsavory could not contain my utter disbelief at the source of such ribaldry, until I realized that this was the "New Oxford Book of English Light Verse," chosen and edited by Kingsley Amis, a learned and witty gentleman who writes mystery stories on the sly.

Amis first burst forth on the British literary scene, like fireworks over the House of Parliament, with the publication in 1954 of "Lucky Jim," an acidly funny novel that since has been followed by two dozen volumes of fiction, verse and criticism. Now comes this marvelous compendium of comic stanzas that is not so much a sequel to The Oxford Book of Light Verse selected by W. H. Auden in 1938 as a direct contradiction of it.

Auden in those days was freighted with a political philosophy that governed his choice of what was light verse along lines of what was socially significant and accessible to a proletarian audience. Amis aims lower, toward the belly laugh, which is where light verse belongs, and scores higher, although he admits choosing his handful of naughty limericks with reluctance. Noel Coward and Edward Lear are here side by side splitting with Thomas Hardy, T. S. Eliot; Samuel Johnson and Lord Byron.

Parody, satire, nonsense rhymes, ines from ies find their place, although more space is given to making fun of American poets than quoting many of

There is Lewis Carroll's devastating parody of Longfel-low's "Hiawatha," with the hapless brave portrayed as a photographer taking a family picture in that familiar sing-song meter:

"From his shoulder Hiawatha Took the camera of rosewood..." But strangely, erroneously, another deft knock at Longfellow is entitled

"After Emerson" "Lives of great men all remind us As we o'er their pages turn That we too may leave behind us Letters that we ought to burn." The 50 lines of John Keats' "Ode on a Grecian Urn" have been nimbly summarized by Desmond Skirrow

"Gods chase Round vase. What say? What play? Don't know. Nice, though."

Amis manages to ressurrect a poem I have been hunting for since high school days, the one that begins, "An Austrian army awfully array'd, Boldly by battery besieged Belgrade" and continues all the way through the alphabet without breaking step to its

"Yield, yield, ye youths, ye yeo-men, yield your yell: Zeno's, Zimmermann's, Zorqaster's zeal, Again attract; arts against arms appeal!"

This sort of thing, Amis points out in his introduction, makes much more stringent demands on the writer's technique than so called "high" or classic verse because it admits of fewer mistakes. "A concert pianist is allowed a wrong note here and there;" notes the editor, "a juggler is not allowed to drop a plate.'

Few plates or clinkers are dropped in this sunny anthology, where even Benjamin Jowett, the great Oxford Greek scholar and vice chancellor, is pelted on his pedestal:

"First come I; my name is Jowett. There's no knowledge but I know

We cling to the belief that the English, especially the Victorians, are a prudish lot with no sense of humor, but Lewis Carroll, who among many other delights wrote "Twinkle, twinkle, little bat" and made a laughing stock of the poet laureate, Robert Southey, with his "You are old, Father William," was busy photographing naked pre-pubescent little girls long before Vladimiar Nabokov discovered "Lolita."

And A. E. Houseman, when not engaged in Shropshire lyrics, could be droll on a subject that today would bring the women's libbers down on his

"When Adam day by day Woke up in Paradise He used to say

'O this is very nice.' But Even from scenes of bliss Transported him for life

Don't let anyone bomb me." There'll always be an England and an English literature as long as the Oxford University Press can wrinkle its high brows into a grin configuration and allow the poets to discourse learnedly on the besetting sin of the Bishop of Balham.

Book deals in White House lore

By WALTER R. MEARS AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) - It says here that Billy

Carter is allergic to peanuts. It also says that as a young naval officer, Jimmy Carter used to get seasick, and carried a bucket with him when he went to stand watch. And that Amy Carter is one of about 180 children who have lived in the White House. The first was a 4-year-old granddaughter of John Adams.

There have been more presidents with the name James than any other; Carter is the sixth. James Madison's close friends called him by his nickname, Jemmy. Presumably, some of Carter's Southern pals drawl his name the same way. These are matters of no moment, and there are hundreds of them in Barbara Seuling's new book, "The Last Cow on the White House Lawn and Other Little-Known Facts About the Presidency.

Ms. Seuling's book is aimed primarily at young readers, but it's an almanac of White House lore that could keep a trivia buff going for months.

It's early yet, but Ronald Reagan's political action committee already has sent campaign contributions to 62 Republican candidates for the House, Senate and state offices. The checks go out from Citizens for the Republic, and while many of the contributions are relatively small, $100 in some cases, the number of candidates on the list is evidence of Reagan's 1980 presidential campaign plans.

It represents a shift from an earlier game plan that would have put more money into fewer races. The idea at the Reagan committee now is to spread the support around, reaching as many Republican candidates as possible, on the theory that when and if Reagan enters the 1980 campaign, the beneficiaries won't forget whose outfit helped them in

WASHINGTON (AP) - Backers of the Equal Rights Amendment, who marched by the tens of thousands Sunday in support of the proposal, were lobbying members of Congress today to extend the March deadline for ratifying the measure. The National Organization for Women and more than 300 other groups staged the march and a rally on the steps of the Capitol to dramatize their stand that, even if the proposal dies next spring, the issue will not fade away.

Bella Abzug, co-chairwoman of the National Advisory Committee on Women, told the marchers to "lobby (members of Congress) and make as a condition of support of their re-election a vote for the ERA extension."

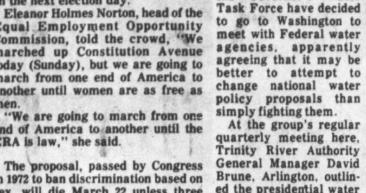

The head of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action, Patsy Mink, told the marchers not to leave Washington "without having a firm commitment, yes or no, from every mem ber" of Congress.

"And if they dare to turn us down," she added, "... we will turn them out on the next election day."

The files that don't have permanent handles aren't all that easy to store. They can't be hung from clips on a pegboard wall. ### Energy plan has 'chance' as Congress gets to work

WASHINGTON (AP) - From breeder reactors to snail darters, Congress grapples with a variety of energy and environmental issues this week as it returns from a 10-day

And there's even a chance of progress on President Carter's longdelayed energy program.

Democratic congressional leaders would like to be able to deliver something - anything - on the energy package this week so Carter won't have to go to the economic summit in West Germany empty-handed.

One strong possibility: a Senate vote on the first part of the president's five-section "national energy plan" to emerge from the House-Senate energy conference, dealing with coal Conference leaders and staff members were trying to put the finishing touches on the measure so it could be brought up in the Senate this week.

The bill would prohibit most future power plants from burning oil or natural gas and encourage increased use

At mid-week, the House will debate some $13 billion worth of Department of Energy programs for the next year - including the Clinch River, Tenn., nuclear breeder reactor that President Carter wants killed but which Congress keeps trying to keep alive.

Support appears to be growing for a proposed administration-backed

'compromise' to allow Carter to scrap the plutonium-producing Clinch River project by agreeing to study the feasibility of a non-plutonium breeder.
Toward the end of the week, the Senate is scheduled to consider extending the expiring, 5-year-old Endangered Species Act. Controversy has been focused on the act with last month's Supreme Court ruling ordering work on the Tellico Dam halted to protect the endangered Snail Darter fish in the Little Tennessee River.

Congressional aides say the Senate may vote to establish a commission to grant future exemptions under the act on a case-by-case basis.

the decisive passing of Proposition 13

in California has shown clearly that that we have been pushed far Americans are still individualists and deserve to be treated as such. We should be allowed to set our own goals, take our risks and contribute to the commonwealth of the nation with a minimum of regulation.

In support of this last statement about our setting goals and taking risks without regulations, let us examine where we stand with regard to regulated oil and gas prices today. As a result of Congressional deliberations resolving the administration's gas regulateion-deregulation fiasco, Senate and House conferees have agreed to 18 separate categories of gas, plus regulations on the price of justments which operated quite simply and effectively in the free enterprise system. Moreover, there is little doubt that confusion will reign well into the 1980's when some of the gas, if there is intrastate gas as well! All this after so many years of free market price ad-

any left by then, is scheduled for deregulation. Now, as for oil, it comes as a surprise to some that intrastate oil prices are indeed regulated and have been since Richard Nixon imposed price controls on everything back in the early 1970s. As a result of regulation of oil prices, combined with increases aattributable to OPEC maneuvers initiated by Saudi Arabia in late 1973, we have today in South Louisiana a lower tier (or old) price on oil of $5.72 per barrel, and an essentially unregulated price of $14.85 a barrel on stripper oil. Prudhoe Bay oil has a regulated price of$10.365 per barrel, which makes about as much sense as any of the figures quoted you. Arabian light crude, FOB Ras Tanura, has a quoted market at $12.60 per barrel. Whether the Arabs did the right thing in increasing the price of their oil, or whether, lacking a proper altruistic concern, they violated worldwide human needs, the fact remains that it is their oil and they can put any price on it they wish. If the world continues to buy, and it will, they will continue to replace camels with Cadillacs. Have you ever reflected upon what would happen if the Saudis decided tomorrow to sell their oil for $8 a barrel, or $6 or any other price substantially below $12.60? The comment has been made that "people would start going out windows." It is not a distortion to hold that our entire wage and price system in the United States is based at present on a price for energy regulated by the federal government. And it seems highly unlikely that the Washington scene could react quickly enough to circumvent a collapse of our economy if OPEC suddenly lowed oil prices. In our own industry there are many firms that have based their life on the economics of the upper tier, or new oil price. Undoubtedly, these firms would perish as a result of such a

would result in mine shoutdowns that could make the new union contract worthless. And so on, in what has been described as the domino top-If energy were suddenly to be obtained at less cost-and Saudi oil reserves can easily last another 100 years-just what would our government do? An obvious counteraction would be to levy a tax on imported oil which would bring the cost up to at least our upper tier price, or higher, thereby causing an automatic price rise, in comparison to world prices, that would make our exports decline drastically. Whether the reduced expenditure on foreign oil would offset the decline in value of exports is mere speculation. You can be sure, however, that the economic shock to this nation would be far greater than that experienced in the Yom Kippur War aftermath. I have said we are heirs to our founding fathers' concepts of individual freedom. Yet we inflict irreparable damage upon ourselves and our own heirs when we assign over to government, either through sloth or diffidence or rank indifference, duties that should remain within the domain of the private sector. A government which lulls the populace into a sense of false security and placates its dissidents with food stamps, grants-in-aid, unemployment compensation, and welfare checks is not a healty state by any means. Look, for example, at Social Security. Those of us not yet close in years to 62 or 65 can seriously question if it will be there when we get there, and, if it is, whether it will even cover the monthly phone bill, federal tax in-

Sad to say, since the 1930s, a generation has grown up that has within its living memory only the experience of an ever exanding welfare state with all its sociological, economic, and political implications. Those of us who have known a far better lifestyle owe to these heirs of state the opportunity at least to choose between the free enterprise system and collective governmental Free enterprise mayappear an endangered species, but even with the restraints imposed upon it from without and within, our national economy still possesses a suberb resillience far in excess of that found in any other country in the world. And this resilience is attributable to the seeds of self reliance and individual freedom which remain as genetic imprints in our constitution. Given the freedon to act, this nation still contains a positive potential energy capable of motivated, dynamic accomplishments. Given the freedom to perform, free enterprise can accomplish what government giveaway programs have failed to pro-

It is not too late to save our republic from either the atrophic vegetation of a welfare state or the entropic castastrophe of revolution. There are still amoung us enough salaried and propertied individuals within the private sector whose vote can bolster the cause of free enterprise. Let us hope that Proposition 13 is onlythe beginning of a long overdue return to political sanity.

Dissidents go on trial

By SETH MYDANS

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Union put two of its most prominent dissidents on trial today despite vigorous protests from the United States. Both pleaded innocent to the charges against them.

Anatoly Shcharansky, 30, a key member of the Jewish emigration movement here, denied allegations that he had spied for the CIA, system atically feeding "state secrets" to known intelligence agents, a representative of the Soviet Supreme Court reported.

Shcharansky is charged with high treason. The maximum sentence is death, but he is expected to get a long term in a labor camp if convicted.

A court official said Shcharansky was accused of supplying agents with state secrets "including information about the locations of a number of defense enterprises which are secret."

Alexander Ginzburg, 41, an associate of exiled author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, went before a court in Kaluga, 100 miles south of Moscow, on the lesser charge of "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda," and pleaded innocent at the opening of his trial.

Western reporters were barred from both court-Ginzburg's wife, Irina, who saw her husband for the first time since his arrest 17 months ago, told Western reporters, "He refused to testify but made this refusal conditional on what witnesses said." Officials of the three-judge court, in a pink and yellow former mansion, said Ginzburg told the court ne might revise his plea if his guilt is proved. They said he was accused of distributing and preparing anti-Soviet literature containing "slanderous fabrications defaming the Soviet Union," including works by Solzhenitsyn. Mrs. Ginzburg said the indictment mentioned Solzhenitsyn's "Gulag Archipelago," among others. Ginzburg, like Shcharansky a Jew, managed a fund Solzhenitsyn finances to aid the families of Soviet political prisoners. Two other trials also got under way today, one involving Lithuanian human rights activist Viktoras Pyatkus and the other a mystery figure accused of spying and indentified by the Soviet press only as "A. Filatov." Members of the dissident movement said they had never heard of him.

Shcharansky, a computer expert, also was charged with giving a foreign state assistance by conducting hostile activities against the Soviet Union and with anti-Soviet agitation and propagan-

The U.S. Embassy sent second secretaries to the Shcharansky and Ginzburg trials "to show our concern and the concern of the people of the United States in these trials." Both were barred from the courtrooms and stood outside with foreign reporters and members of the dissident movement.

In Studio City, Calif., a group of 82 people who said they are relatives of Shcharansky gathered at a reunion Sunday and sent a telegram to President Carter asking him to continue his support of the defendant. The State Department in a statement Friday approved by President Carter warned that the fate of the two human rights activists will have an impact on the "constructive development" of Soviet-American relations. To emphasize its disapproval, the Carter administration canceled visits to Moscow by a scientific arise if the London talks headed by Carter's chief science adviser and by an official of the Environmental Protection Agency

But a State Department official said Vance would also deliver a message from Carter to said Israel had not Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev expressing U.S. concern over Soviet treatment of dissidents.

Vance on Saturday said Shcharansky and Ginzburg were being tried for "asserting fundamental human rights - to speak out." Both men were active in the Helsinki human rights group formed to report on Soviet violations of the human rights provisions of the 1975 Helsinki accords on European security and cooperation. The founder of the Helsinki group, Yuri Orlov, was sentenced May 18 to seven years at hard labor plus five years of Siberian exile. Shcharansky, who turned to active dissidence after he was denied permission to emigrate to Israel in 1973, is accused of feeding information to the CIA via diplomats and news correspondents. About 100 policemen guarded the Proletarsky Regional People's Court in Moscow where Shcharansky was tried, but only four police in a jeep were outside the Kaluga courthouse The police allowed Shcharansky's brother Leonid to enter the courtroom but barred his 70-year-old mother, Ida Milgrom. Ginzburg's wife and his mother, Ludmila, were both admitted to his trial. About 35 reporters, a dozen members of the dissident movement and the U.S. Embassy representative, Raymond F. Smith, stood behind the barriers around the Moscow courthouse. At Kaluga, there were only two Western correspondents, a few dissidents and the embassy representative, second secretary Benjamin Tua. Ginzburg faces a maximum sentence of 10 years plus exile because it will be his third conviction. He was convicted on the same charge in 1968, serving five years, and was sentenced to two years in 1960 for publishing unauthorized literature while still a ournalism student. Ginzburg was arrested in February 1977 and Shcharansky the month after. Both have been held

The government rejected a plea from Shcharansky's mother to allow appointment of a French defense attorney and assigned a Moscow attorney to the case.

Over the weekend, Tass, the official Soviet new agency, accused the U.S. press of trying to "bring pressure to bear" on Soviet courts. It implied that correspondents might be prosecuted for trying "to influence the courts before they pronounce their

Rioting cancels bull running

PAMPLONA, Spain (AP) - Pamplona's runnin of the bulls was called off again today for the second day because of political rioting in which one person was killed and at least 135 hurt.

Riot police patrolled the streets, and officials said it had not been decided whether to cancel the remaining three days of the annual Fiesta of San Fermin. But 150,000 frightened tourists fled from the

The government feared more violence as friends prepared to bury German Rodriguez, a 21-year-old leftist slain Saturday when police fired into the crowd of 20,000 spectators during a clash between rightists and leftists in the packed bull ring.

Eight of the injured were reported to be in serious andition. None was identified, and it could not be determined if any were Americans.

Rosinski paces Cubs to 5-4 win in 12th

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

The Midland Cubs were holding their noses and going down for the third time so many times Sunday night at Cubs Stadium that it looked like the ship was lost in the high choppy Texas League seas.

Fortunately, however, there was one calvaryman left to ride to the rescue some three hours and 40 minutes after the seige had begun by the San Antonio Dodgers, and the Cubs pulled out a miracle 5-4, 12-inning victory on the heroics of Brian Rosinski, the only one left with a life preserver in a slowly sinking ship.

ROSINSKI GROUNDED an eyeseeing grounder between first and second bases with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the 12th to drive in two runs to give the Cubs the margin of victory.

That was a job well done in itself, but it was Rosinski that the Cubs had to thank for there being a 12th inning in the first place. It was his two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth that tied the game at 2-2. Before that, the Cubs had zilch on the scoreboard and were cruising on shutout course. In all, Rosinski drove in four of the five Cubs' runs with three hits in six trips. For his next act, he will pull a rabbitt out of the hat and take a bow.

IT WAS a great ending to a rather zany contest that featured a triple play by the Cubs, some faulty base running, an argument or two, some brillant defensive plays and some quality pitching that would have made Sandy Koufax proud. It was all in this one, and Brian Rosinski was the bottom line.

The first eight innings was a thing of beauty as Midland's All-Star pitcher Randy Martz teamed up in a bangup duel against San Antonio newcomer Bill Swiacki. Swiacki seemed to have the Cubs in motion sickness through eight innings while Martz allowed only two runs in the first and eighth frames. Martz, who was pitching his last game for Midland before heading to AAA Wichita, was pitching well, but it looked like he might suffer

MARTZ GAVE up a run in the first when Jack Perconte, who had four hits, scored from third on a grounder other run in the eithth when Perconte scored from third on a base hit by Mickey Hatcher.

Martz was in trouble in the eighth with one run in and runners at third and first and no outs. The Cubs bailed him out with a triple play. Nothing fancy, mind you, just your simple triple play. The Dodgers' Kelly Snider hit a fly ball to left fielder Mike Gatlin, who then gunned down Bobby Mitchell at the plate and catcher Greg Keatley then fired to Kurt Seibert to nail Hatcher trying to take second. Inning over, and pass the bisquits

AND THEN the fun started, and there wasn't much time for a party to begin with the bottom of the ninth curfew facing the Cubs, who hadn't gotten anything off Swiacki. Gatlin drew a walk off Swiacki to open the last ditch effort, and then San Antonio manager Don LeJohn may have made his most fatal error of the night--he yanked Swiacki.

THEN ENTERS lefty Mike Williams against lefty Rosinski, and then exits baseball over the left field wall for a 2-2 tie.

"I just got a fast ball and it went out," Rosinski explained simply. "We had a lot of luck out there to-

Actually, the Cubs should have won it in the bottom of the ninth, but that's when the faulty base running came in. Javier Fierro walked off Williams and moved to third on a sacrifice and grounder. Pinch hitter Eric Grandy then delivered a single down the left field line and Fierro had the throw from Ed Santos beat at the plate, but SA catcher Hilario Soriano successfully blocked the plate and Fierro didn't slide and missed the base. Pitcher Gerald Hannahs, who had just come in to pitch to Grandy, yelled at Soriano to tag Fierro, and when the job was complete, the Cubs and Dodgers were in extra innings.

SAN ANTONIO tried to put out the Cubs' stadium lights again in the top of the 12th with two runs off Larry Groover, who just replaced Martz. Groover gave up three hits in the inning, including the big single by Jack Perconte which scored a couple of runs after the Cubs mishandled a throw in from the outfield.

In the Cubs' 12th, Keatley opened with a double down the left field line to chase Hannahs and Kurt Seibert lined a right field, one out double off reliefer Augie Ruiz, who earned a save against the Cubs Saturday night. Ruiz then gave up a walk to Steve Macko before Dave Patterson came on the scene, still seeking his 20th from that goal for the second time in as many nights when he walked Gat-lin and yielded Rosinski's two-out game winning single to right.

Lee Elder takes win over Trevino in sudden death

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lee Elder, once again an automatic qualifier for the prestigious Masters and Tournament of Champions, readily admits that the real winner was the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

The reason, Elder said, is the class of Lee Trevino, whom Elder defeated Sunday in an eight-hole sudden-death playoff for the title in the star-slighted GMO and a $30,000 first prize.

"I'm sure Lee tried as hard as he could, but I believe that if he hadn't been in a hurry to meet his wife in Chicago and catch a plane for En-gland for the British Open, it could have been a different story," Elder

"I think the fact that Lee came here and played as hard as he did when he planned to go to England right after-ward says something about what kind of man he is," Elder said.

TREVINO, WHOSE $17,100 check for second place plies for the year at the tour's earnings list for the year at $198,420, as usual was one of the few big names to play in this tournament, which many stars skip in preparation for the British Open starting Wednesday.

Trevino said that despite his defeat - assured when his 6-foot putt rolled dead at the lip of the cup on the 197-yard, par-3 eighth extra hole for a bogey — he will continue to support the GMO.

"I'm very happy for Lee Elder and for the tournament," Trevino said. "This is probably the best thing that could happen to the GMO. All week long I felt I could win this thing, but it just wasn't meant to be. But I'll be back next year." Elder started the final round tied for the lead with Bob Lunn at 206, 10 under on the 7,010-yard, par-72 Tuckway Country Club course.

He birdied four of his first eight holes to go 14 under, 2 strokes ahead of Trevino. Elder lost a stroke when he bogeyed No. 16, and Trevino forced a playoff when he sank a 20 foot birdle putt on the 18th. The two were tied at 13-under 275 for 72 holes.

"I thought, 'Not again,'" said Elder, beaten by Trevino in a 1972 playoff at Hartford, Conn. "He did pretty much the same thing in 1972 when he sank a 15 or 20 footer on the

ON THE EIGHTH extra hole, Elder

drove the green and 2-putted for par. Trevino hit into a bunker and blasted to 6 feet before putting short.

"I felt I could win on each extra hole, but I got a little tired on eight, and the ball had no legs and went into the bunker," Trevino said.
Elder said he muffed his chance to win in regulation when he let his mind wander before he bogeyed the 16th.

"I let my mind get away from the job at hand, and that was playing golf," he said, "I was thinking that I had a lead with two to play, and then I thought of all the things I wanted so badly - the chance to play in the Masters again, the Tournament of Champions, the top 60, the chance to reach my goal of $100,000 this year."

Elder and Trevino parred the first five playoff holes, birdied the par-5 sixth and parred the No. 7. Trevino shot a 68 and Elder 69 in the final round. Miller Barber shot a 68 for third at 278. Lou Graham, Tim Simpson and Dave Barr tied at 279.

Hebner ruins Montreal with bat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dave Johnson's injury made Richie Hebner's day and Hebner's booming bat ruined the Montreal Expos' day. With southpaw Dan Schatzeder pitching for Montreal, the leftyswinging Hebner was scheduled to ride the bench while Dave Johnson played third base for Philadelphia. Hebner and Johnson have been filling for the injured Mike Schmidt. But when Johnson showed up on crutches Sunday, the result of a bone bruise suffered Saturday night when he fouled a ball off his left foot, the Phillies had to go with Hebner. And all he did was drive in five runs with a pair of two-run homers - one off Schatzeder — and a game-winning bases-loaded single off lefty Darold Knowles that capped a two-run rally in the bottom of the ninth and gave the Phillies an 8-7 triumph over the

'If it wasn't for Davey Johnson, I wouldn't have had any kind of day, said the 30-year-old Hebner, who called it the best game of his 10-year career. "I had two home runs and knocked in four runs the day before the All-Star break, I think, in 1974. And I had four RBI against Houston

In other National League action, the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the San Francisco Giants 8-2, the Houston Astros downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1, the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Mets 4-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 6-1 and the Atlanta Braves defeated the San Diego Padres 5-2.

The Phillies needed Hebner's heroics because Steve Carlton, making his fourth bid for his 200th victory, was tagged for home runs by Dave Cash, Ellis Valentine, Gary Carter and Andre Dawson. Carter also hit a three-run shot off Rawly Eastwick to put the Expos ahead 7-6 in the eighth before the Phillies rallied.

Martin, AL determined

Manager Billy Martin leads an American League All-Star team determined to shake the loser's image it has developed over the last two decades into Tuesday night's 49th matchup against the National League All-Stars.

The Americans have dropped six straight games and 14 of the last 15, turning a once close series into a 29-18 deficit. There has been one tie

Martin, manager of the New York Yankees, also was in charge of last year's AL stars who dropped a 7-5 decision to the NL at Yankee Stadium. He likes to point out, though, that he also lost the 1976 World Series in his first shot at it, but bounced back to lead the Yankees to the world championship last season — the second time around. To break the NL stranglehold on this game, Don Baylor, among the Martin has assembled a AL leaders in homers team that has raised some eyebrows.

The fan vote supplied an AL starting lineup of Rod Carew, Don Money, Fred Patek and George Brett around the infield with Jim Rice, Reggie Jackson and Richie Zisk in the outfield, and Carlton Fisk catching. Martin filled out the rest of the roster, adding infielders Roy Howell, Frank White, Rick Bur-leson, Craig Reynolds, leson, Craig Reynolds, Larry Hisle, Jason Thompson and Eddie Murray, plus outfielders Chet Lemon, Fred Lynn and Dwight Evans, re-placing Carl Yastrzems-ki, who is injured, and catchers Jim Sundberg and Darrell Porter, the latter replacing Thurplaced Graig Nettles, who was injured.

Among the missing were Rusty Staub, the league's No. 2 RBI man,

Mike Flanagan, Matt Keough and Jim Kern. Guidry, who lost his first deicison last week after and RBIs all season, and Mike Cubbage, Sixto 13 straight victories, is the likely AL starter. Lezcano and Lou Whitaker, all among the leading hitters.

Burleson, the Boston shortstop, also wondered how the Red Sox, playing close to .700 baseball all season and with a whopping lead in the AL East, could rate only five slots on the AL team - none of them going to pitchers.

"I've won 59 of 62 matches this year," she said Sunday after being welcomed by a cheering crowd of about 100 at Boston's Logan Airport. "I think that makes me No. 1."

After she defeated Chris Evert in three sets for the Wimbledon crown Friday, Navratilova returned to Boston to resume playing for the divi-sion-leading World Team Tennis Bos-ton Lobsters. She is presently the top-ranked women's singles player and leads in several other categories

Navratilova said she is going to savor her victory at Wimbledon before beginning to think about the U.S. Open at Forest Hills later this sum-

"First I'm going to enjoy what I've done," Navratilova said at the airport. "I'm on cloud nine. Everyone's going to be trying twice as hard to beat me, but when the U.S. Open comes along, I'll worry about it

Navratilova, who defected from Czechoslovakia three years ago, said Czechoslovakian newspapers published just one paragraph about her Wimbledon victory "and they didn't even mention my first name."

The match was blacked out on Czechoslovakian television but Navratilova's parents saw it on a German telecast.

"I was thinking about them from the beginning of the match. Winning here can only help bring us together.

"Right now, I'm so high, it doesn't matter whether I play in front of 20 people or 20,000," Navratilova said. "I was like a football player getting ready for the Super Bowl, I was so psyched up.

"It was the best tennis I ever played when it really counted," she said of her rally after trailing 4-2 in the third set against Evert. After the match, Navratilova said:

"I feel so many different emotions ... I don't know what to do first — laugh, cry or scream." Navratilova swept through the women's professional tennis circuit last winter and then won the tour's championship event to go with her Wimbledon title.

"I played nearly perfect golf. I only made two or three mistakes and that's what you have to do to win on this golf course," said Blalock, who added an even-par 72 to earlier rounds of 68 and 67 to set a tournament scoring record of 207. That was two strokes better than Debbie Austin's winning total here last year and is the largest margin of victory in a 54-hole LPGA tournament this sum-

Kathy Martin, rebounding from a second-round 76, shot a 2-under-par 70 for a 216 total and second place. Carner, Penny Pulz and Joyce Kazmierski tied at 1-over-par 215 for third place. The best round of the day was turned in by Taiwanese pro Ai-Yu Tu, who shot a 3-under 69.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - The United States held four new meet marks today in the United States-Soviet Union track and field competitions with sprinters Evelyn Ashford, Patricia Jackson and Steve Riddick leading the Americans to their third overall victory

The United States seized three women's meet records from the Soviets in winning overall for the first time since 1969 by a margin of 190-177 in the Friday and Saturday events.

Goltz throws gem against Oakland, 7-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The face wasn't familiar before, but Dave Goltz now may remember Mike Edwards for a long time.

Goltz, a 20-game winner last season, hurled 7 1-3 innings of hitless ball en route to a three-hitter Sunday, leading Minnestoa to a 7-0 victory over the Oakland A's and extending the Twins' unbeaten streak to eight

"It was hard to pitch to the A's because they have so many new faces," said Goltz, who missed a couple of turns in the Twins' pitching rotation this season after burning his hand on a barbeque grill.

"It seemed like a whole new lineup from the last time I faced them." Edwards gave Goltz something to remember, however, when he singled to center field in the eighth to ruin the right-hander's no-hit bid. "It was a high fastball — a good pitch for him to hit," said Goltz, who pitched a one-hitter last year. "I didn't have great stuff all day, but I kept adjusting."

Edwards may have been the one who adjusted to Goltz in the eighth. "I was going to swing at the first good pitch, I didn't want him to put pressure on me by getting ahead in the count," the rookie shortstop said. "Hell, it would have been embarrassing to have a no-hitter pitched against Goltz allowed ninth-inning singles to Tony Armas and Mitchell Page before nailing down the victory.

"After Edwards got the hit, I relaxed a little - I just wanted to get the game over," Goltz said.

Goltz, 8-5, retired the first 13 batters he faced before walking Taylor Duncan on four pitches with one out in the fifth innning. He walked three and struck out three in chalking up his third shutout.

Singles by Rich Cliles and Glenn Adams and an infield out gave the Twins a 1-0 lead in the second. Hosken Powell homered off A's starter Pete Broberg, 9-7, in the third and Rod Carew delivered an RBI single in the fifth to give Minnesota a 3-0 advan-

Indians 7, Red Sox 1 Buddy Bell belted a grand slam home run to back the pitching of veteran Rick Wise as the Cleveland defeated first-place Boston.

Bell's homer, his fourth career grand slam and fifth homer of the season, followed a single by Duane Kuiper, a sacrifice and walks to Rick Manning and Johnny Grubb.

Wise, 7-11, who came to Cleveland from Boston in a preseason trade, blanked his former teammates over the first 71-3 innings.

"The win was very gratifying," Wise said. "I was aware Boston hadn't been shut out this season and I wanted to be the first."

Rangers edge Tigers in 13th inning, 4-3

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers aren't where manager Billy Hunter thought they would be at the All-Star break, but Hunter believes the law of averages has to work to his team's advantage during the second half of the American League baseball season.

Hunter predicted in the spring the Rangers would be the best team in baseball and atop the AL West. He stuck his neck out when he said he should be fired if the team didn't win

Jim Mason's single with one out in the 13th inning Sunday night scored Mike Hargrove from third base with the winning run as the Rangers edged Detroit, 4-3, to stay above the .500 mark for the year.

But, despite their 42-41 record, the Rangers are still battling for the top in the AL West, where they are 21/2 games behind front-running Califor-

"If we could go to Boston after the break and beat the Red Sox badly two games, I think we'd be on our way, Hunter said Sunday night. "Maybe we can play the second half of the season like Boston has the first

And, Hunter knows that if the law of averages holds true the free-agentstudded Rangers have a lot of hits coming their way in the next several Players like Toby Harrah are hitting far below their lifetime average and Hunter figures that the law of averages owes many players a good second half.

Jim Umbarger, 4-6, held the Tigers scoreless after relieving Fergie Jenkins to start the 11th inning

Detroit got a superb relief effort from Jim Slaton, 8-6, who came on in the fourth inning and allowed only one hit until Hargrove led off the 13th with a single. John Hiller relieved and intentionally walked Toby Harrah after Hargrove was sacrificed to second. But Hiller also walked Kurt Bevacqua, unintentionally, to load the Flanagan had been pursuing North American Soccer League goal-scoring leader Giorgio Chinaglia of the Cosmos for 21 matches. After Flanagan's 22nd match, it's Chinaglia turn to do the chasing. The high-scoring Englishman tied a NASL record for goals scored in a game with five Sunday as he led the Tea Men to a 5-2 triumph over the California Surf. Flanagan, in his first season with New England, has amassed 27 goals — the NASL record is 30 for one season set by John Kowalik and Cirilo Fernandez in 1968 - and holds a two-goal lead over Chinaglia in the individual scoring race with eight games re-

The five goals by the elusive forward tied the mark jointly held by Chinaglia, Steven David and Ron Moore. Flanagan, however, would not take all the credit for his feat. "It's nice to be No. 1 in goals," Flanagan said. "But a forward needs

McCordic seeks bowling crown

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Pete McCordic is looking forward to winning his first Professional Bowlers Association championship after taking the lead Sunday night in the $60,-000 Salt Lake Open.

McCordic, a six-year veteran on the PBA tour, came close in two previous tournaments this year, finishing second and third.

Going into the final 16 games Monday, McCordic's 222 average leaves him 51 pins ahead of second-place John Handegard of Eugene, Ore. "It's going to be tough for the next two rounds," the Houston pro said. "I don't think it's going to get any ea-McCordic won four of his eight matches in Sunday night's fourth He defeated Handegard 213-194 in the opening match and outscored fourth-place Steve Martin 258-247 in another crucial match. "I felt like I bowled pretty well, but I'm disappoined in my won-lost rec-ord. My opponents shot pretty well against me though," he said. McCordic shot games of 213, 258, 223, 199, 224, 192, 210 and 254 for 1,773 during the round. His four victories gave him an additional 120 bonus pins at 30 pins per victory, raising his total Handegard's total was 5,841, and third place Wayne Chester of San Mateo, Calif., had 5,747.

Martin, the PBA rookie of the year from Kingsport, Tenn., had a 5,668 total, while Carmen Salvino of Chicago was fifth was 5,621. Salvino is the only PBA champion among the top five.

Richard, the major leagues' strikeout leader, tossed his second consecutive four-hitter while rolling to his seventh straight triumph over the Dodgers as the Astros dropped Los Angeles, 5-1, Sunday.

"I'll probably visit my sister who just had an operation," said Richard, 8-9, who also contributed a two-run single. "I may do some fishing, but I really haven't made up my mind

The veteran right-hander hurled five innings of no-hit ball before Bill Russell lined a sharp single to center to lead off the sixth inning. Russell moved to second on Ron Cey's grounder and scored on Steve Garvey's double to account for Los Angeles' only run off Richard as Houston broke a four-game losing streak.

Richard walked six and struck out 12 to raise his season strikeout total to 157 and he says he's throwing harder this year than last year when he won

"I'm getting the ball over the plate more and I'm throwing with more velocity than I did last year.

"I got erratic out there today. Six walks can blow a game open sometimes."Houston jumped on Dodger starter Don Sutton, 9-7, for a first-in-ning run on doubles by Terry Puhl and Jose Cruz and added a third inning run on a single and stolen base by Puhl and Enos Cabell's RBI single to center. Art Howe's run-producing single and Richard's two run bloop single to right highlighted a three-run Astro uprising in the sixth inning as Hous-ton broke the Dodgers' four-game winning streak and Sutton's personal five-game winning sreak. Although his team lost the game, Los Angeles outfielder Reggie Smith believes his team won its "weekend war" with the Astros.

"We beat them three out of four," Smith said. "The feeling that we're going to win every series is back. The Giants are looking over their shoul-ders. We know we have the better ball club and we're just going to have to go out there and prove it."

Serrano is anxious to fight Arguello.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) -World Boxing Association junior lightweight champion Samuel Serrano of Puerto Rico says he is ready to challenge World Boxing Council champion Alexis Arguello to put the division's crown on one head.

Serrano retained his version of the title Saturday night when he knocked out top-ranking contender Oh Young Ho of South Korea in the ninth round at San Juan's Roberto Clemente Coli-

"Now I'm going to try to get a fight with Alexis Arguello and unify the title," said Serrano after the fight. Arguello, of Nicaragua, won the WBC junior lightweight title from Puerto Rican Alfredo Escalera last

"My technique is enough to beat Arguello," said Serrano. "I only want a good purse for that fight." The champion took home $100,000 after Saturday's match while Young Ho received $10,000. In his sixth defense of the title won by unaninmous decision from Ben Serrano floored the top-ranked contender late in the ninth round with a left hook to the face, but Young Ho was up by the count of eight. But Serrano floored him again with a right-hand chop. A moment of confusion arose when Villaflor of the Philippines in 1976, the bell rang as referre Luis Subaran ended the 10 count.

"It was a knockout. There was no need for the bell. When the bell sounded to end the ninth round, I had already counted to 10 and the fight was over," Subaran later said.

"I thought he was going to go the distance becasuse I hit him some goods shots to the head and he always kept coming. Later in the fight I noticed he didn't like to get hit underneath so I tried going to the body more often and it paid results," the lanky Serrano said of the 5-foot-1

75th Trans-Miss golf opens today

DALLAS (AP) - A handful of collegians commanded the attention today as a field of 400 amateurs teed off at two courses in a bid for 64 qualifying spots for the 75th Trans-Miss golf championship.

Lindy Miller, an Okiahoma State University star who was low amateur in the 1978 Masters and the 1977 U.S. Open, was among 200 playing at hilly

Doug Clarke, a Stanford University player who won the Trans-Miss two years ago at Pebble Beach, Calif., was among the other 200 in the field playing at Brook Hollow Golf Club.

The players will change courses Tuesday for their final 18 holes of medal qualifying play. The Trans-Miss championship will be decided by match play, with the player firing the best qualifying score teeing off first Wednesday at Brook Hollow's No. 1 tee. He will be paired head-to-head with the No. 33 qualifier; the No. 2 qualifier will go against No. 34, etc. Clarke, after playing a practice round on both courses, predicted scores will be noticeably lower at Las Colinas.

"Brook Hollow is one of the finest golf courses I've ever played in. I'd have to rank it in the top 10. It's a fun course. Very tight. You have to hit every shot, hook the ball when you need to and fade the ball. You can't just go out and hit every shot the same," he said.

Clarke, who was 17 when he won the Trans-Miss in 1976 by beating Dr. Ed Updegraff 2-up in the 36-hole final, said he used his driver on only three of Brook Hollow's 18 holes, "and I might be going down to two." Brook Hollow is reasonably short at 6,550 yards, but the fairways are narrow, and when Clarke missed three or four of them he was in trouble, he said, and ended up about 4 over par for the round 'Five yards off the fairway, the rough is small, and then all of a sudden it's two or three inches deep. You get in there, you can't hit a normal shot out of it," Clarke said.

Las Colinas, on the other hand, has undulating fairways "and is almost wide open. You can use a driver all over the course. The two are almost opposite of each other. The lower scores will be shot at Las Colinas,"

Bjorn Borg best in tennis world

All of the men's pro tennis world, unlike Caesar's Gaul, is divided into two parts - young Bjorn Borg and the rest of the 200 to 300 court gypsies who travel the international circuit.

The 22-year-old, long-haired Swede now stands apart. He is on one towering tier and you need binoculars to see those just below him - Jimmy Connors, Guillermo Vilas, Ilie Nastase and Vitas Gerulaitis.

Another wide gap separates the others.

Borg's crushing 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Connors in the Wimbledon final projects the Scandinavian into an elitist society spoken of by tennis buffs only in reverential terms.

If he never wins another match and there's no doubt he will win many more and take home additional trophies in abundance — Borg already has earned the right to be bracketed with such greats as Bill Tilden, Fred Perry, Don Budge, France's Four Musketeers, Jack Kramer, Pancho Gonzales and Rod Laver.

"No doubt about it," said Perry, the last man to win three consecutive Wimbledons back in the mid-1930s and now a British radio commentator. "What has he won now?" Perry paused to answer his own question, 'Three Wimbledons, three French and two Italian. And he's just start-

"With it, he's a great boy." The British expected the Wimbledon men's final to be a knockdown, drag-out battle between the game's two heavyweights - Borg, a sledgehammer hitter with an almost inhuman faculty for insulating himself against all outside distractions, and the fiery, feisty Connors, a street fighter in knee-high socks and white pants and a Little Lord Fauntleroy hair style.

An even-money bet with London's legal bookies, it was advertised in Britain's flashy tabloids as the court battle of the century.

Borg turned it into a travesty. The young Swede's thunderbolt service, topspin forehand and ripping two-fisted backhand reduced Connors' normally aggressive, slambang attack to complete impotence.

The American was left to appreciate how aging Ken Rosewall felt in 1974 when he was wiped out by Connors' flashing steel racquet, first at Wimbledon and then at Forest Hills, winning only eight games in six sets.

Now Borg has beaten Connors five of the last six times they have met and has given up only 12 games in the last six sets they have played. Counting the last set of the tournament at Boca Raton, Fla., and a match in Tokyo, the sets read like this: 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

The strong, quick-moving Viking has completely dominated Vilas, who has proven himself to be a one-surface performer - clay. No other player on the scene can begin to challenge the recognized king of the courts.
