Long-sought rain, temperature both fall quickly

Long-sought rain came to Midland Sunday in the form a deluge - in excess of two-and-a-half inches within an hour in some places.

It was the worst flooding city of Midland Public Works Director Fred Baker remembers in the eight years he has lived here.

People waded through foot-high water in some apartment parking lots, cars stalled on Midland streets and some less-than-worried souls made the water an occasion for a nautical party, taking their boats to flooded parks.

Wadley Avenue from I Street to Midkiff Road and Midkiff from Boyd and Mamar avenues were closed at one point after the rain. Baker said barriers also were erected at Scharbauer Drive and A Street.

However, said Baker, the flooding was not as disastrous as it might have been because of a storm drainage system installed last year along Scharbauer Draw. Sunday's downpour demonstrated the effectiveness of the system, he said, in that the system cleared Scharbauer Drive within a few minutes after the rain stopped falling.

Midland Drive also was flooded, with the area around the access road to U.S. Highway 80 closed to traffic. Pavement buckled on Midland Drive just south of Comanche Street.

Behind the new Midland Community Theatre building on Wadley Avenue, workers had put the caliche base on a new street. The rain washed

And Golf Course Road was "curb to curb" with water

According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, the rain began at 4 p.m. and ended at 6:13 p.m., with the heaviest rainfall between 4:15 and 5:15.

The weather service recorded 1.96 inches of rainfall at the aiport, with much of northwest Midland receiving about the same amount. Eastern portions of Midland and the Greenwood community reported up to one and a half inches of rain.

The 1.96 inches recorded by the weather service was the most to fall in a single day since May 29, 1971.

The water was too much for many cars, which stalled along flooded streets. But some Midlanders took to boats in Midland's parks-turned-intolakes. Rubber rafts and canoes were spotted at Wadley-Barron Park at A and Cuthbert streets, as well as Mamar Park at Gulf Avenue and Midkiff Street and Cowden Park at Ward and Princeton streets.

Along with the rain came unusually low temperatures. The 53 degrees recorded by the weather service during the storm was the lowest July temperature since July 14, 1936, when a 50-degree reading was recorded. The previous record for July 23 was 61 degrees, set in 1947. Even Sunday's high was a relatively cool 87 de-

The weatherman said there is a slight chance for more rain today and tonight, with the probability 30 percent today and 20 percent tonight. Partly cloudy skies are expected through Tuesday, according to the National Weather Service.

The low tonight is expected to be in the upper 60s, with a high Tuesday in the mid-90s

Midland seems to have received more rain than other area cities. Andrews today reported that a small amount of rain fell Sunday, as did Big Lake and Stanton. Crane received one and a fourth inches of rain, but Lamesa received none at all, according to

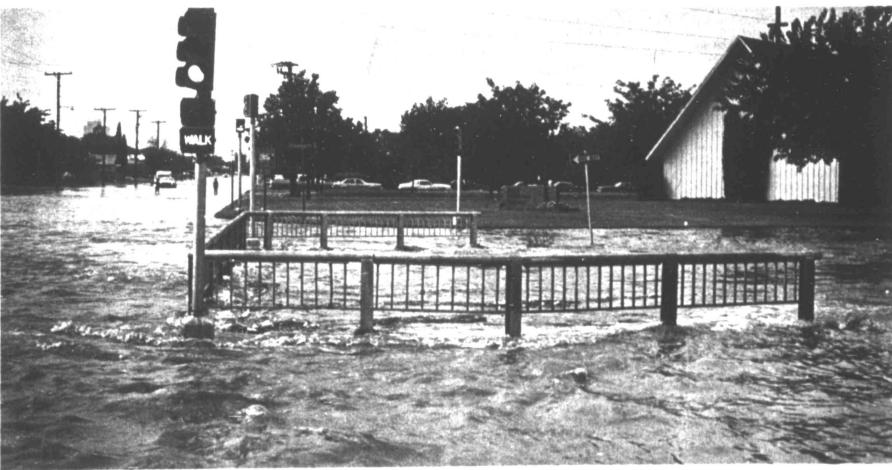

However, portions of Midland County reported as little as .2 inch. Minter McReynolds, county executive director of the federal Agricultural Stabilizatin and Conservation Service, said the far east portion of the county received only .2 inch and south of the city the amount was .4 inch.

receiving substantial amounts of rain, McReyolds said, the drought cannot be said to be broken. "This rain really won't do us any good unless we have some followup rain within a week or 10 days," he said.

Forecasts called for more scattered thunderstorms today for all of Texas except the northwest section. Skies were to be partly cloudy and highs were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s. No mention was made of 100-degree or above temperature readings.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s with extremes ranging from 63 at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 81 at Galveston on the coast.

The rain also dropped temperatures at Dallas, where the high Sunday only reached 87.

"You gotta be kiddin" would have been a suitable reaction on the part of any would-be pedestrians Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Scharbauer Drive and A Street. But then, Midland traffic signals can hardly be expected to boast "swim...don't swim" instructions for those rare instances in which they are needed. An emphatic downpour Sunday produced varied rain-gauge readings, with some areas of the city reporting an estimated and unofficial three inches of rain within a two-hour time frame. See related photos, Pages 2A and 7A.(Photo by Gary

Ector County jury convenes today

ODESSA - The Ector County Grand Jury, in an apparent follow-up to a federal grand jury probe of circumstances surrounding the death of inmate Larry Lozano, convened this morning with only one witness known to have appeared by noon today.

'Showdown' expected in Congress this week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, having enjoyed only middling success with its legislative program this year, faces two important showdowns on Capitol Hill this

The Senate is expected to vote by Tuesday on whether to lift the threeyear-old arms sales embargo against Turkey — an issue President Carter calls the "most important" foreign policy question still before Congress this session.

In the House, meanwhile, a move will be made to join with the Senate in voting to prohibit Carter from imposing an import fee on foreign oil.

Carter has threatened to impose a fee of up to $6 a barrel if Congress fails to approve his crude oil tax

Considerable White House prestige was riding on each of the issues, regarded by congressional leaders as too close to predict the outcome.

Dayan says Israel ready to discuss sovereignty

JERUSALEM (AP) - Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan told parliament today Israel is prepared to discuss the question of the ultimate sovereignty for the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

Israel also is willing to discuss a territorial compromise "if a concrete proposal is submitted," Dayan told the Knesset as he opened a debate on the Mideast situation.

The cabinet on Sunday rejected President Anwar Sadat's proposal that Israel return two areas of the Sinai Desert to Egypt as a good-will gesture, but said it was willing to negotiate a trade for the northern coastal town of El Arish and Mount

"Nobody can get something for nothing, and this will be the policy of Prime Minister Menachem Begin told reporters after the cabinet meeting. "No unilateral step is feasible by any country.'

Dayan gave a 45-minute report on his meeting last week in Leeds Castle, England, with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Ibrahim Kamel and U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus R.

being appraised accurately in each It also includes a 5 percent annual limit on property tax increases and would require a two-thirds vote of a local governing body to exceed the limit on increases. Peveto, a Democrat from Orange, Texas, has agreed, however, to drop those provisions to win approval of the House Ways and Means Committee. The same bill will be heard by the Senate Finance Committee. A scheduled hearing of Briscoe's controversial appointment of Hugh Yantis as chairman of the state insurance board was postponed to July 31 at the request of Austin Sen. Lloyd Doggett, an outspoken critic of Yantis.

Doggett has said he will ask the Senate to reject Yantis' nomination as a courtesy to Doggett.

Still on the agenda for the Senate Nominations Subcommittee are such appointments as Morris Atlas of Hidalgo County to the alcoholic beverage commission; Glen Roney of Hidalgo County to the water development board; Bobby Barnes of Harris County to the industrial accident board; and Newton Gresham of Harris County to the Texas College Coordinating Board.

Movement may produce more than tall grass

Let the green, green grass around your home grow at will. Let it wildly roam.

You'll be doing a service to nature and, perhaps, a disservice to your neighborhood...unless your neighbors join you in a no-mow-the-lawn movement and are not overly-conscious about trim 'n' tidy lawns for appearance's sake.

The fruit of your non-labor may be

Anyway, prior to Sunday, it's been too hot to give a thought to doing anything around the yard except to turn on the sprinklers and stand beneath them

Let Green Grass Grow Abolish Lawnmowers

Non-conformists crop up the world over. Many are what you call nutty, eccentric, even a bit touched, and, often quite imaginative.

There's a cause called the Fruitarian Network which would fit nicely into that odd grouping. The Fruitarians have published a broadside advocating the free growth of grass and the abolishment of lawnmowers. They may be frivolous or downright earnest, but the Fruitarians have given 14 reasons "to consider" for not mowing your lawn. And they are, to wit:

1. Mowing wastes billions of gallons

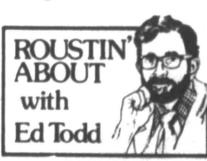

2. Mowing wastes billions of hours of human energy. 3. Cutting grass destroys sapling

4. Cutting grass removes air-purifying greenery. Uncut lawns protect the water table by storing water. 6. Mowing destroys baby birds, butterflies, toads, bumblebees, (and) causes suffering to creatures caught in the machine. 7. If you did not mow your lawn, it would become a meadow, then a thicket and then a forest. 8. When areas are unmowed, it becomes possible simply to toss fruit seeds among them, and have the seeds grow into fruit trees through a non-till, energy-saving method of agriculture...a source of free food. 9. Unmowed areas become a wildlife habitat.

10. Mowing causes 55,000 human accidents and fatalities yearly. Most common are severed fingers, toes and 11. Mowing with fuel supports big oil companies. 12. Not mowing helps prevent ero-13. Not mowing provides a green buffer of noise prevention. 14. Unmowed areas provide more shade in summer and heat in winter.

The Fruitarians may well mean what they say. Certainly, there is manifold beauty in wilderness . . . even if it's in your own front or back

You can write The Fruitarian Network, P.O. Box 4333, Washington, D.C., 20012, and get more enlighten about the free-run - with built-in controls - of nature.

Here's three recommendations this lot offers "to further the cubic footage of greenery" in the world:

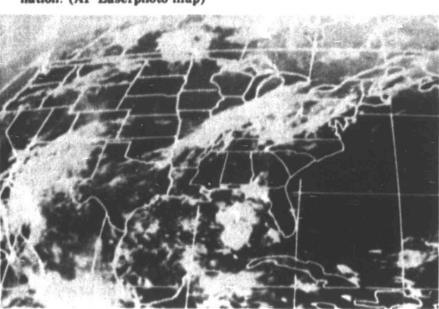

-Plant fruit and nut trees, -Stop mowing lawns. -Eat the products of trees - apples, oranges, pears, peaches, etc.

— to help forests grow.

Trash collection begins amid taunts

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - About 150 garbagemen began partial trash collections today amid taunts from pickets representing 106 of their fellow workers who were fired for striking. Police were on hand, and officials of the nation's 10th largest city - with a population of 800,-000 — said they would provide protection for non-striking workers if necessary.

Meanwhile, the first 52 replacements for the ex-garbagemen, who struck because of a wage dispute, began taking physical examinations in preparation for starting work Tues-

Huebner said trash collections were planned today only for the south side of the city, which recorded 98-degree temperatures Sunday. Other residents were told to take garbage to the city landfill or to three public parks where trucks were to be

Prisons quiet after weekend frenzies

By The Associated Press

Georgia officials said today that a riot at the State Prison may have been prompted by an uprising one day earlier at an Illinois prison. A total of four guards and two inmates died in the two disturbances.

Both the Georgia institution at Reidsville and the Pontiac Correctional Center in Illinois were quiet today. "Tense but under control" was the description given by one Georgia official after Sunday's riot.

"Our feeling is this occurred because of the incident Saturday in Pontiac, Ill.," said Sara Passmore, spokeswoman for the Georgia Department of Offender Rehabilitation. She said it appeared from the outset that the riot was directed at the prison administration.

Two inmates and a guard died in the Georgia riot.

At the Illinois prison, three guards were killed and $3 million in damage was done in a seven-hour rampage by several hundred inmates. A clean-up of clothing and trash that littered the prison yard began.

The Georgia prison, beset by racial troubles and overcrowding, has suffered earlier outbreaks in which two inmates were killed and some 30 others injured.

On July 5, U.S. District Cort Judge Anthony Alaimo ordered inmates separated by race

But Mrs. Passmore said Sunday, 'There are not enough facts' to determine the cause of the riot. But, she added, since the riot broke out simultaneously in two wings, "it's apparent it was planned. The violence erupted at 4 p.m. as inmates in two adjacent wings of the sprawling facility were being escorted to dinner.

According to Mrs. Passmore, a group of black inmates overpowered four guards - three white and one black. The three victims and another guard who was seriously injured were

Mrs. Passmore said the facility is percent 60 to 65 percent black.

After taking the guards hostage, inmates set fire to "bedding and things like that" and unlocked dormitory doors with keys taken from the Guard Dan Harrison was found stabbed to death. Guard Preston Foskey, 32, was taken to Tattnall Memorial Hospital with at least 10 stab wounds in the neck, head, chest and arms and a collapsed lung. Foskey was reported in serious but stable condition early today.

The other two hostages were unharmed, Mrs. Passmore said.

The body of one slain inmate was found in a hallway of one wing shortly after the rioting inmates were subdued, she said. The other was found at the rear of a dormitory in the other wing an hour later.

The inmates' names were withheld pending notification of families.

Norman Cavender, a member of the state Board of Offender Rehabilitation, said agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation had questioned the prison's 2,480 inmates, but he declined to say whether they had determined the cause of the riot.

Pontiac guard Jack Conkle said he was uncertain whether he would return to work at the Illinois prison. He is worried he might treat prisoners unfairly, knowing some of them murdered his brother.

Robert Conkle, 22, was one of three guards stabbed to death Saturday. William Thomas, 49, and Stanley Cole, 47, also died.

Three other guards and three inmates were injured. Prisoners also burned three buildings. Warden Thaddeus Pinkney said about 20 inmates took part in the assault and about 200 participated in the riot.

Officials said prisoners will be locked in their cells until a state police investigation is complete.

"I really like the job but I don't know if I can treat them fairly or not," said Conkle. "I'd be frightened but if someone came up to me and said something about my brother, I don't know how I'd react.

Conkle said inmates who worked in certain shops had access to sheet metal and could make knives like the ones used to kill his brother, who was stabbed in the back several times.

A search of all prisoners turned up about 100 knives, mostly handmade,

Israel needs to accept West Bank withdrawal

By DON OBERDORFER The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said Sunday that the Middle East peace negotiations will bog down unless Israel accepts, at least in principle, the withdrawal of its forces from the West Bank of the Jordan River.

Vance, calling withdrawal "the most difficult of all the issues," said there had been no progress toward resolving it at the recent Leeds Castle talks of Egyptian and Israeli foreign ministers He added that it remains to be seen whether any progress can be made during his newly announced mission to the area early next

Saying that personal attacks are "not useful," Vance ducked the chance to comment substantively on Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's verbal attack Saturday on former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg. Sadat called Goldberg a Zionist and claimed that "we wouldn't have suffered what we are suffering today" if President Carter had been in office at the time of the 1967 Middle East war and Goldberg had not been at the U.N. at the

Speaking on the (ABC) television program "Issues and Answers," Vance said that Goldberg is "one of the finest public servants this country has ever had," and that Goldberg acted "in a measured and balanced way" at Washington's direction in negotiating United Nations Security Council Resolution 242 in the aftermath of the 1967 war.

Resolution 242, which provides a territory-for-peace bargain concerning areas occupied by Israel in 1967, is "the cornerstone of our policy and the policy of others" in seeking a settlement of the Arab-Israel dispute, Vance said. He reiterated the U.S. view that this bargain applies to all fronts, and thus requires Israeli withdrawal to some extent from the West Bank in the context of an overall settlement.

Until Begin became prime minister in the spring of last year, Israeli governments had approved the principle of some withdrawal from the West Bank but strongly conditioned its nature and extent on the requirement for "secure and recognized boundaries" that is also set forth in Resolution 242. Reversing this stand, Begin has opposed any withdrawal from the West Bank, which he considers part of "the land of Israel" by historic right.

Vance said the security requirements of Israel in connection with a withdrawal from the West Bank are "fundamental" to the diplomatic bargaining, and that he drew guarded encouragement from the extensive discussion of this question at Leeds Castle last week. For the first time. the two sides went into detail about the elements of future Israeli security. "You cannot deal with this issue until you get down to the nuts and bolts," he said.

Vance took the opportunity of the TV interview to set forth the Carter administration's case for lifting the U.S. arms embargo against Turkey imposed by Congress and refusing to lift the U.S. trade embargo against Rhodesia imposed in compliance with United Nations decisions. Both the embargo questions are scheduled to be voted on this week in the Senate, and both votes are expected to be Concerning the strategic arms talks with the Soviet Union, Vance reported "slow and steady progress" despite the setback to superpower relations of the trials of dissidents in the U.S.S.R. He said a summit meeting between Carter and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev is important but "very unlikely" until there is a positive accomplishment such as a new strategic arms treaty.

Vance said he had differed strongly with recent remarks about U.S. "political prisoners" by U.S. ambassador to the United Nations Andrew Young, and the secretary of state said he did not expect such an incident to happen again. Vance conceded that he'd had differences with presidential assistant Zbigniew Brzezinski but suggested that the extent of the disagreements had been exaggerated.

The president has made it clear that two people - Carter himself or his secretary of state - would speak for the United States in foreign affairs, Vance said.

Lull befalls the latest Beirut fighting outbreak

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)-The latest outbreak of Syrian-Christian warfare in Beirut subsided into an uneasy lull at dawn today after nearly 36 hours of firing

Christian spokesmen reported nine Christians killed and 62 wounded in 48

hours

The firing started a few forest fires in the pine woods between the presidential palace and the residence of U.S. Ambassador Richard Parker, five miles east of Beirut. But a police spokesman said the fires were quickly extinguished, and neither the palace nor the embassy mansion 500 yards away were damaged. The fighting began Saturday night in Hadass, subsided briefly at daybreak Sunday and erupted again in the afternoon. Shortly before dusk it spread to the Ashrafiyeh and Ein Rummaneh districts and the port

The Syrian command reported early today it was pounding Christian neighborhoods because militiamen were firing mortars from concealed

The Syrians accused Christian militiamen of starting the trouble Saturday by shooting two Syrian soldiers on patrol. The Christian commands said their forces came under unprovoked fire from the Syrians.

One Christian spokesman said the Syrians were "fomenting the clashes on threadbare pretexts." Al Amal, the Phalange Party newspaper, said the Syrians "invented the sniper story, then shelled residential quarters indiscriminately." The Syrians also accused the National Liberals and the Phalangists, the two biggest Christian parties, of 'deliberately provoking Syrian forces as part of rightist plans to partition Lebanon" into Christian and Moslem states. President Elias Sarkis contacted the commander of the Syrian forces and demanded an immediate ceasefire, the Phalangist radio station re-

Christian civilians moved mattresses and other household items into basements and other shelters Sunday night, and some residents were reported taking refuge in northern Lebanon. "We are bracing for a hot night," said one man in Ein Rummaneh. "This time we will be much better off than last time. We have replenished our stocks of food and fresh water."

The Syrian army, which intervened in the Lebanese civil war to save the Christians from defeat, now is trying to bring them under its control and end their cooperation with the Israelis in southern Lebanon.

Nearly 200 Christians were killed in Syrian-Christian fighting in Beirut in the first week of July.

Postal workers vow defiance By The Associated Press

At least 80 striking postal employees have been fired in New Jersey, while in San Francisco union dissidents planned a campaign of roving picketing to show their discontent over a new contract.

Nearly half the morning shift workers at facilities in Jersey City and Kearney refused to work today, and union officials planned an afternoon meeting in New York to decide whether to sanction the wildcat strike, according to Robert Knoloe, a spokesman for the postal workers' union

Roy Braunstein of Trenton, legislative liaison for the New Jersey Postal Workers Association, said the state organization at first did not sanction the wildcat walkout. But "now that brothers in the union have been terminated, we will have to reassess our position

Twenty striking employees at the New York Bulk and Foreign Mail Center in Jersey City were fired Sunday and 60 more were fired over-

Meanwhile, postal workers vowed to send roving pickets to San Francisco area post offices in defiance of a judge's order to halt their wildcat

The protesting workers are upset at a tentative three-year pact reached early Friday, averting a nationwide postal strike. The contract calls for pay raises of about 10 percent, with cost-of-living protection boosting that to 19.5 percent. The present average salary is $15,877. Dissidents say the new pact does not raise pay enough and permits too much overtime scheduling.

An order temporarily enjoining 'any further strike activity" at the San Francisco Bulk Mail Center, issued Sunday by U.S. District Judge Stanley Weigel, is "basically an intimidation tactic to try to break the strike and scare other workers," said Irwin Lum, shop steward for one of two union locals at the center.

"We'll be out there strong," he said, promising to surround the center, located in Richmond, Calif., with picket lines today.

Despite termination notices reportedly sent to at least 50 workers, union officials said they would increase picketing today with "roving pickets" at various bay area post offices.

Ten union stewards were ordered by Weigel to appear in court today on the government's motion for a preliminary injunction against the strike. But Lum said the officials would be on the picket lines, with their attorneys representing them in

'Jim Hall Day' slated for Wednesday observance

'Jim Hall Day," sponsored by the Midland Downtown Lions Club, will be observed here Wednesday.

Highlighting the event will be the Lions Club luncheon in the Midland Hilton, at which Hall will be the guest of honor and principal speaker.

Hall, the long-time Midland resident and auto racing enthusiast. whose Midland-based "Chapparal-Lola," driven by Al Unser, won the prestigious "Indy 500" at Indianapolis last May 28, will be introduced by Jno. P. Butler, veteran Midland banker and Lions Club member.

Lion Duke Jimerson, who is in charge of arranging and staging the observance and program, quoted Mayor Pro Tem Thane Akins as saying the mayor's office will prepare a resolution proclaiming "Jim Hall and other features honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hall are in the planning stage. the program chairman said.

"Jim Hall has honored Midland in numerous ways and has brought it international fame by the prowess of his Midland-made racing cars on leading tracks around the world," Jimerson said, "and the Downtown Lions Club is taking this means of expressing congratulations on his "Indy 500" victory and of showing our appreciation for everything he has done for Midland through the years."

Accident claims Odessan's life

A one-vehicle accident in south Midland County late Saturday night claimed the life a 49-year-old Odessa man, Department of Public Safety officials said today.

George Andrew Wilcox was pronounced dead by Judge Robert H. Pine about 10 p.m. Saturday at the scene of the mishap.

Troopers said Wilcox's truck was eastbound on FM 1787 about 28 miles south of Midland when it apparently missed a curve and overturned twice. Wilcox was thrown from the truck, troopers said.

Who picks them up?

When Communist forces marched into Saigon a little more than three years ago, the dominoes - South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia - began to fall just as many Americans feared they would.

But the end of the prolonged struggle between Communists and non-Communists to decide the future of Southeast Asia did not bring peace to the tortured Indochinese - not even the peace of the conqueror, which the departure of American troops was supposed to help assure.

Instead, Southeast Asia has become a battleground between competing Communist camps, which are exploiting ancient animosities for their own purposes. Long-held hostility between the Vietnamese and the Cambodians has led to open warfare along their borders. Vietnam, which was once a part of imperial China, has turned to the Soviet Union for help out of fear of Chinese domination.

As the Russians have moved in with substantial material and military assistance for Vietnam, the Chinese have committed increasing support to Cambodia. Consequently, the border fighting between Vietnam and Cambodia has become a proxy war between the two competing Communist superpowers. Obviously, this is a hazardous situation.

China has good reason to fear the encirclement that an entrenched Soviet presence along its southern borders would pose. And the Russians have been busy indeed. For example: Moscow inducted Vietnam into COMECON, the Soviet-dominated Communist trade group; this makes the Hanoi government a participating member of the Soviet bloc along with Laos, which Hanoi dragged along as a vassal

Russians, East Germans, Poles, Cubans and Soviet satellite advisers are increasingly active throughout Laos, installing missile sites, radar networks and military communications systems.

Meanwhile, China's worsening relationship with Vietnam has been aggravated by the harsh mistreatment of 1.2 million ethnic Chinese living in South Vietnam, who were engaged mainly in small businesses. They have been displaced by the North Vietnamese conquerors and their personal wealth confiscated; more than 140,000 ethnic Chinese "capitalists" have crossed the border from Vietnam into China and thousands more are said to be awaiting sealift from the land of their ancestors.

But expediency has dictated silence from China over the cruel fate of 500,000 ethnic Chinese driven out of Cambodia's leading cities after the Communist takeover in April 1975. They were part of a much larger tragedy - a bloodbath without parallel in modern times, with perhaps a million deaths from mass executions, deliberate starvation and forcible evacuations.

The West would be well advised to steer entirely clear of this struggle. A case in point is the recently announced $28 million loan to Vietnam by the International Monetary Fund, of which the U.S. government is a large contributor. Such assistance is a slap at China just at the time when Washington is strengthening relations with Peking to offset Soviet aggrandizement around the world.

The ongoing disorder in Southeast Asia, in the final analysis, is a dangerous extension of Sino-Soviet rivalry; the Chinese advantage of proximity is offset by the greater and more sophisticated resources of the Products of slave labor have no place in America

By CHARLEY REESE un Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - Some months ago an Orlando, Fla., man bought a sweatshirt from a major department store chain. He discovered it had been made in communist Poland and took it back.

More Americans should do the same thing. There is no excuse for an American firm to buy the products of slave labor even if, as in this case, the store claims that the U.S. government approves the purchase.

It's yet another example of doublestandards that the people who are so hot to keep the U.S. from buying Rhodesian chrome or South African products have kept their traps zipped about the burgeoning U.S. business with the communist states. You should understand that in a communist state there is no private ownership of industry. Therefore all trade is conducted with the government. All benefits of that trade accrue to the government. There is no benefit to the people inside the communist country. In fact there is, as Alexander Solzhenitsyn pointed out, definite disadvantages. The communist governments use the benefits of western trade to strengthen their police state apparatus, to further oppress the people.

That's why American firms which sell to communist governments or lend them money are making a direct contribution to the enslavement of human beings and to the potential death and destruction of you and your family. What makes any American think the Soviets don't intend to kill us? Have they reduced their aramaments as we have been doing unilaterally since 1962? No. Since the first SALT talks began in 1969, Soviet defense expenditures have increased by more than 50 percent, both absolutely and as a share of the Soviet gross national product. They now exceed us in missiles, submarines, ships, tanks, artillery, armored personnel carriers, tactical aricraft, air defense missiles, and you name it. Their momentum continues. Soviet aircraft production rates are four times our production

Have they refrained from expressing unceasing hostility to America in their speeches and government propaganda? No.

Have they honored even one of the human rights planks in the Helsinki Agreement? No.

Have they refrained from violating the SALT I treaty? No.

Have they allowed the people in the Soviet Union free access to western information? No.

Have they made any attempt to divert some of their huge resources to raising the standard of living of the people which is miserably low? No.

Historically, has trade with a potential enemy resulted in avoiding war? No. Russian-German trade reached its highest points in 1913 and 1939 respectively on the eves of wars between the two nations.

Our is a diverse society. Some people in positions of authority are stupid, some are naive, and some in private business are pathologically reedy. In this respect we are no different than any other nation now or in the past.

What is different is that for the present we are free to do something about it. Each of us, out of respect for human freedom, should refrain from buying any product made in a communist country.

We should urge our congressmen to pass more restrictive legislation. The present laws have loopholes large enough to admit truck factories and advanced computers.

If you really want to fight this form of national suicide, you might care to write: Projects Director, Young Americans for Freedom, Route 1, Box 1002, Woodland Rd., Sterling, Va. 22170. They will send you a free kit of information on U.S. trade with communist nations and suggestions on how to stop it.

It's your life these greedy clods are endangering. You can already thank an American firm for the fact that if the Russians attack, their missiles will land within one-tenth of a mile of where they aim.

Maybe you think I'm too harsh. Maybe you ought to look at your children and visualize how they will look with radiation burns.

INSIDE REPORT:

Jimmy Carter finds himself trapped by Andrew Young

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Having announced a "rebuke" to Ambassador Andrew Young, President Carter finds himself in a political trap built by two immutable facts that are fully appreciated though never publicly admitted in his administration.

Fact No. 1: Young's interview with Le Matin of Paris, equating op-pressed Soviet dissidents with U.S. "political prisoners," was no aberra-tion but followed a pattern begun when he came to the United Nations. Instead of newsmen enlarging Young's every utterance as apologists claim, they have ignored most of his heavy rhetorical output. So it is fair to expect more of the same, although slightly softer. That happened the very day after the presi-dent's "rebuke" when Young rei-terated to the International Herald Tribune the essence of his Le Matin

Fact No. 2: No Carter administration official is more fireproof than Young. White House daydreams about easing him out were quickly obliterated by massive support for him from blacks. Carter political ad-visers concluded that to sack Young would risk the president's black constituency, still strong while other support crumbles.

The president, therefore, is trapped by Andy Young. While Young's mere presence antagonizes many voters (quite apart from the liklihood of his future philosophizing), Mr. Carter dare not sack him. Having acted in haste to name a glamorous UN envoy, the president can repent in leisure bout a no-escape dilemma.

'Outrage" was the most common word describing their reaction to Young's Le Matin interview among State Department officials, even McGovernite liberals. Yet what Young said was identical in substance to what he has been saying for 18 months, usually without anybody taking notice.

"I see my country as vulnerable as anybody else's around the table," Young commented last year as he addressed the UN Human Rights Commission (representing the world's most barbarous despotisms). While the Kremlin persecutes dissent-ers, Young pointed out, "many of our own students were shot down on their

But in describing the Communist world, he sometimes voices the axiom of Radio Moscow and Radio Havana that political freedom is subordinate to economic security. "For the most of the world," he declared on Human Rights Sunday last Dec. 11, "civil and political rights come as luxuries...that are far away in the fu-ture." In the Soviet Union, he added, "human rights are essentially not civil and political, but economic." While Young is unforgiving about right-wing dictatorships, he is lenient toward Communist tyranny. This climaxed in May 1977 in Mozambique, a Marxist regime with 100,000 citizens in forced labor camps. "East and West alike look to this nation with new hope and with new courage," Young said. While welcoming Communist Vietnam into the UN by praising its "struggle for independence," he ignored repression and genocide in the new Indochina.

These quotations and many more are recounted in a forthcoming 'Commentary' article by Carl Gershman, executive director of the Social Democrats. He comments on "Young's apparent lack of commitment to political freedom and his ability to turn a blind eye to oppression" by Third World "progressive" regimes. Gershman reaches this conclusion: "Young finds himself today for the most part on the side not of the oppressed but of the oppressors." Since Young's philosophy conflicts with stated U.S. foreign policy, why is he not removed? The reason given at both State Department and White House is his successful conduct of African policy, particularly negotiat-ing a peaceful settlement in Namibia outhwest Africa). In fact, the Namibian question is far from settled, and preliminary success should not be attributed to Young. Prospects for peaceful transition to a pro-Western regime in Rhodesia have not been helped by Young's rhetoric, most recently unsubstantiated charges that Ian Smith's government was behind the massacre of missionaries. Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the moderate black Rhodesian leader, arrived in Washington last weekend furious over

The real reason Young is fireproof is found not on the African continent but on the House floor. "You heard as well as I did what John Conyers said," a White House aide told us. When Michigan's Conyers and other members of the black caucus took the floor July 13 to defend Young, they implicitly threatened the president if he changed UN ambassadors. Pro-Young rallies of blacks followed around the country that weekend. Some Carter officials talk of bringing Young into the White House or sending him abroad as an ambassador, but most feel they are stuck with him at Turtle Bay. Any move, they fear, might deface the extraordinary seal of approval from Young attesting that Jimmy Carter is "free of racism." They are left with only hope. While the president's men cannot expect Andy Young to change his world be ignored by the media as it often has in the past.

Unknown illness reason for Pecos prisoner's death

PECOS - There was "no foul-play" involved in the death of a 28-year-old Mexican national federal prisoner early Saturday, according to U.S. Marshal Steve Balog of Pecos.

The prisoner, whose name has been withheld, pending notification of relatives in San Vicente, Mexico, of his death, reportedly died en route to Reeves County Memorial Hospital. His body has been transported to Dallas for an autopsy. Balog said today the prisoner died of an undetermined illness. "There is no foul play involved so far as I know," he said. Balog indicated local authorities are worried that the illness may spread to other prisoners in the jail.

He described the Reeves County Jail as "a model" facility, saying that a roving jailer is on hand at all times and television screens monitor prisoners inside the building.

In addition, Balog said he had contacted Hipolito Saltillor, Mexican Consulate General in Presidio, who told Balog that he would do all he can to contact relatives of the prisoner.

Sheriff Raul Florez of Reeves County earlier had said, "There's not a pathologist in West Texas who would touch it (the autopsy) because of the (Larry) Lozano case.

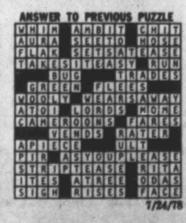

Dual burglaries reported to police

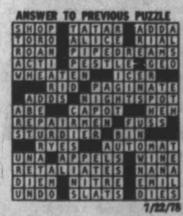

Two reported burglaries have resulted in the loss of an estimated $1,548 in personal property, according to Midland police.

Ava Young of the 1600 block of Delmar Drive, told police Saturday afternoon an estimated $648 in items such as a CB radio, bicycle and camera were removed from her residence sometime between July 15-16 while she was away, according to authorities.

Police reported that the back door to her home was open, as was the door to a backyard storage shed. In addition, police said Keven

Fincher told them early Saturday night of the apparent theft of a tool box containing an estimated $900 in tools, which he said were removed from the rear of his home, located in the 2400 block of Elizabeth Avenue.

Residence controversy delays water board appointment

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, said today former Sen. Dorsey Hardeman should not accept his reappointment to the Texas Water Commission because he lives in Austin but claims to be a resident of San Angelo.

Chairman Peyton McKnight of the Senate Nominations Subommittee told Schwartz the subcommittee would not take up Hardeman's appointment until Schwartz has checked an affidavit he has requested from Hardeman.

New Manpower trial begins today

Texas (AP) - Brownsville insurance salesman Robert Massey, charged with stealing $10,000 from a Harlingen-based union fund, went on trial today.

Massey is the second of several Rio Grande Valley defendants whose trials were moved to Corpus Christi following a court of inquiry into the misuse of federal manpower funds last December in Brownsville.

The charges center on Massey's involvement with Don and Clarence Gray. Don Gray is the business manager of a Harlingen plumbers union. His brother is the director of a Harlingen CORPUS CHRISTI, trade school. Both men have pleaded guilty here to charges of stealing manpower funds.

> According to testimony at the court of inquiry, Don Gray gave Massey $32,000 in union certificates of deposit to establish a union health and welfare fund. Massey told the panel all but $10,000 was spent administering the program. He said the remaining funds were deposited an account at a Brownsville bank titled 'Massey and Associ-

Texas Electric engineer Damon Holditch: "We burn 55 pounds of lignite to generate the electricity to run a three-ton air conditioner for a day."

Last year, using lignite coal saved Texas Electric's customers $48 million. It's a step in the right direction.

"Prior to 1972, Texas Electric made all your electricity by burning natural gas and oil. By last year, lignite coal had replaced gas as boiler fuel for about a third of this. In dollars and cents, here's what that meant to you, our customers:

The cost of lignite burned in 1977 was about $20.5 million. Had that same amount of electricity been generated using natural gas at then-current market prices, it would have cost $107.7 million. That's $87.2 million more than the lignite cost!

Even after deducting the annual cost of the new lignite plants, Texas Electric saved its customers $48.4 million last year because of the switch to lignite.

And that's just the beginning. As gas prices continue to rise, Texas Electric plans to become less and less dependent on this increasingly scarce fuel. By 1983, lignite coal and nuclear-fueled plants are scheduled to provide more than half of our customers' electricity.

It gets harder all the time to provide dependable, economical electricity. But this has always been Texas Electric's goal. And it always will be.'

Lady calls the police. "A skunk! Heh-heh-heh. We catch lots of them. Is it the two-legged kind?"

Lady calls the Volunteer Fire Company "A skunk? Gee, it wouldn't be fair to call the boys out for something like that. They been up most of the night saving the abandoned brick factory. Why don't you just tip the can over?"

Lady phones the game warden. "A skunk? I'm afraid that's not classified as a game animal. Now if it was a deer or a fox or a mountain lion, we'd get right on it.'

"It would have to be a pretty small mountain lion

"What would?"

"I mean to fit in our garbage can." "Gotcha, lady. But you'd be surprised where we get 'em. Last spring a deer got jammed in a phone booth on the Old Danbury Road. And during that January blizzard, a guy found three racoons under the hood of his car, warming themselves on the engine block."

You can't turn the clock back, lady. But look, call us anytime. That's what we're here for. And good luck with that skunk.

Oh yes, about that skunk. The lady threw an old blanket cautiously over the side of the can and it got out without government intervention.

Occupational health field drawing more male nurses

NEW YORK (AP) — While women are working in jobs once designated "for men only," more and more men are entering at least one profession formerly regarded as "woman's domain" - occupational health nursing

That's the report of Dorothy M. Saller, registered nurse and executive director of the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses This na organization is made up of approximately 10,000 registered nurses employed by business, government and industry to protect the health and safety of the U.S. work force.

"Men are being readily accepted into the profession by their female co-workers," Miss Saller said, pointing to the fact that male members of the group are being elected to positions of high responsibility in

Library's record collection great

LONDON (AP) - It's a record collector's dream. Abba, Albinoni or Louis Armstrong, a million discs from the earliest Edison wax cylinder to the latest LP - all in the BBC Gramophone Library, the biggest record collection in the world.

Rivaled only by the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., the collection includes an astounding 600 different versions of the "Blue Danube" waltz and 104 recordings of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony.

If that's not to your taste, the card catalogue is 4 inches thick under Bing Crosby - remember "An Apple for the Teacher" that Bing recorded for Brunswick Records in 1939?

Other gems on the BBC's shelves include the first scintillating 78s made by Enrico Caruso, the voices of Robert Browning and Henry Irving recorded in 1888, and a disc 1-inch in diameter made for Queen Mary's doll house in 1924 with Peter Dawson singing

"God Save the King." "We believe it's the biggest collection in the world," Derek Lewis, BBC Gramophone Librarian, said in an interview. "The only one comparable is at the Library of Congress, but certainly no other broadcasting organization has anywhere near as many records.

At last count, the Library of Congress had 623,253 discs, while the Guinness Book of World Records put the BBC collection at over 750,000 last year. Lewis said the current total is closer to one million, although most records are bought in duplicate, so the number of different items is about 500,000.

"We have standing orders for every new record released in Britain, and select from the best foreign recordings as well," said Lewis. The library's annual record budget is $91,000, buying at wholesale prices and with a fair sprinkling of promotion copies.

The library buys, catalogues and loans out records — at the rate of 600 per day — to the many diverse departments of the British Broadcasting Corp., the publicly financed radio and television service in Britain.

This includes supplying 20 local radio stations around the country, background music for the two BBC television channels, and music from Bach to the Moody Blues for the BBC's four national radio networks, including the all-classical "Radio 3."

Tall, crowded stacks house the collection near London's bustling Oxford Circus in a building alongside BBC Portland Place studios. Some 350,000 irreplaceable 78s have been moved into cellar storage nearby - more than 5,000 of them have no known matrix or master disc.

The stacks are closed to all but the library's staff of 50, but the vast card index is open for use seven days a week. Records are listed by title, artist, composer and lyricist.

IS COMING! IN AUGUST

For example, registered nurse Larry Hannigan, divisional manager of nursing services, IBM Corp., Franklin Lakes, N.J., has been elected to both the national board of directors and presidency of the New Jersey Association. Men are also serving in the top office of other state and local associations.

ment, Daniel J. Bennett, 29, comments on the rolereversal question from everyday first-hand experience: "No problems whatsoever." Bennett, employed by Chrysler Corp. Warren Truck Assembly Plant, Warren, Mich., has been in occupational health nursing since 1971.

While there is no record of the very first male occupational health nurse in this country, a sprinkling of men have been members of the association since its founding in 1942. The '70s, however, saw the beginning of a significant increase in the number.

Between 1970-71 and 1974-75, the number of men awarded bachelor degrees in nursing went from 253 to 1,095, according to Department of Health, Education and Welfare figures. And, Miss Saller said, this increase has been reflected in the growing number of men in occupational health nursing.

What attracts male nurses to occupational health nursing? The same things that attract women.

Among them: regular hours and the benefits of being on a company payroll. Diversity of responsibilities - for instance, screening and testing for early detection of diseases, rehabilitation, counseling, health education, working with programs in special areas such as alcoholism, drug abuse, obesity and behavior problems.

Teaching and caring for ambulatory patients are spects of occupational health nursing to the liking of Mark Stauder, 32, Southwest Industrial Clinic, Palos Heights, Ill. He became interested in this nursing specialty while caring for industrial patients in hospital emergency rooms, and recognized the need for a better method of handling industrial injuries.

Today his nursing responsibilities are coupled with administration of the clinic, which provides occupational health care services for companies and municipalities not large enough to maintain their own medical units.

"Nursing gender matters little to the patient receiving proper care," Stander says. "And mutual respect between males and females in the profession is certain to eliminate any role-reversal conflicts."

Dean W. Clemans, 33, Grand Island, Neb., says he welcomes the opportunity to help people cope with their problems and to be independent and make the decisions that go with operating a one-nurse medical unit. He is employed by Sperry New Holland, a farm equipment manufacturer with 1,100 employees, both men and women.

A former wildlife biologist, Clemans finds his present position much more satisfying, and he sees his future in the field of occupational health nurs-

In light of the ready acceptance of male nurses by both colleagues and employees, as well as the special appeals of the profession, says Miss Saller, she foresees more and more men entering occupational

"And like those already in this field," she says, "They will have a great deal to contribute to the protection of the health and safety of our country's work force."

Letter says Ray political prisoner PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, still trying to win a new trial for the 1968 killing of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., has asked the help of United Nations Ambassador Andrew

Ray sent a letter - in which he said he is a political prisoner — to Young after meeting Friday at Brushy Mountain State Penitentiary with four congressmen on the House Assassinations Committee.

'Since Memphis is a lot closer than Moscow, I ask you to meet with President Carter and ask him to request that I be given a new trial," Ray said in his letter to Young. "Those trials in Moscow may be unfair and completely political but at least the defendants there have a trial. For 10 years, that is all that I have asked for."

Water puddle in refrigerator could mean bad gasket

By AL CARRELL

About this time of year, you might begin to notice a puddle of water in the bottom of the refrigerator. If you have kids, it's probably because the door has been opened too often and moist air from the house gets in and condenses. However, it's also possible that the gasket around the door lets air in. If the gasket or the surface against which it fits is dirty, this could prevent a good seal. Loose door hinges could also be letting air in

If you ascertain, however, that the gasket is shot and needs replacing. it's a simple job most people can do themselves, at a considerable saving. Your first problem may be in getting the replacement, but after this, here's all you have to do. The gasket is held on by screws in a retaining strip which is usually hidden under a flap on the old gasket. Remove only the top half and replace with the new, as the screws often also hold the inner door facing in place. Then replace the lower half. The new gasket may have been crimped in packing, and you usually can smooth out the old kinks by rubbing with a hot towel. Check to be sure it seals all the way around. Now you'll have no more puddles and start saving on energy use.too.

You recently passed along a hint from a guy who used his two-wheel golf cart to haul tools around the yard. I used mine when I had to move large pieces of sod. I just cut a wide scrap of lumber, positioned it on the cart as a bed and strapped it in place. I'll use it for lots of other awkward, light hauling chores. - M.M.

Another use for that stick-on type foam weather-stripping tape is to stop rattles. In a car, almost all metal-tometal rattles can be silenced with a tab or two. It also quiets down things that rattle in the house or workshop.

A SUPER HINT - Lots of types of rope have a tendency to unravel at the ends. If you chop off the unraveled part when you use the rope, that solves the problem temporarily. However, after a year or so, a 50-foot rope can end up being only three feet long. Cowhands used to whip the ends. which means they wrapped them with a strong cord. The modern, easy way to stop unraveling is to dip the ends into a blob of silicone sealant. When this dries, the rope will never unravel.

A damp basement is often given a coat of sealer, and after all the time and expense, the basement is still damp. The reason is because lots of people think the walls are letting moisture seep through when really the culprit is condensation. A quick way to check before you paint on the sealer is to tape a plastic trash bag to the basement wall. Run tape around all four sides. Check the bag the next day. If there is moisture on the inner side next to the wall, it's from seepage. If it's on the outside, it's from condensation. It's possible you'll have both, and if so, you have to seal the wall. But if the moisture is only on the side facing the room, you need to cut down on the humidity within the basement. - A.W.S.

HANDYPERSONS: Q: The conventional methods of using a plumber's friend or a closet auger have not solved the problem of my partially clogged toilet. I think I'll have to remove the unit and attack the problem from underneath the toilet bowl. What type sealant do I use around the bottom when I reinstall it so it won't leak around the floor?

A: There is a special wax ring that newspaper.

costs about a buck or so. This will replace the old plumber's putty that will probably be between the bowl and the floor flange to which it's attached. This provides a seal. No caulking or adhesive is needed unless you want to caulk for looks. Ask your hardware dealer for instructions on the wax

Several changes made by Western Company

The Southwest Region office of The Western Co. in Midland has announced several recent personnel promotions and additions.

Vithal J. Pai has been named regional technical sales manager of the region, replacing William S. Wright who was promoted to regional sales manager of the Gulf Coast Region in

Pai is a graduate of the Indian Institute of Technology with a B.S. degree in Chemical Engineering. He earned an M.B.A. degree from Texas Tech University. Prior to joining Western as a technical sales engineer in 1974, Pai held engineering positions with Electronic Data Systems, Inc., and Johnson and John Wright was graduated from Wichita University with a B.A. degree in Geology and was associated with Cardinal Chemical and Dowell-Schlumberger prior to joining Western in 1973 as a regional sales representative. He has been technical sales manager in Midland since 1976.

Joseph M. White has joined Western as a regional sales representative in Midland. White was graduated from The University of Texas in Austin with a degree in Banking and Finance, and previously held positions with Cardinal Chemical, BJ, Drilco and Baroid.

Charles C. Kelley has been promoted to district manager of Western's Rankin District facility. He was district engineer at Western's district at Hobbs, N. M. He was graduated from Austin College at Sherman with a degree in Business Administration and has done advanced work at Eastern New Mexico University. He has been with The Western Co. since

Bill Halepeska has been assigned to the Southwest Region office as city sales manager, in charge of special projects.

Halepeska, a Western employee since 1952, previously was city sales manager in Western's Southern Region office in Shreveport, La. Prior to that, he was regional sales manager, regional technical sales manager and barrels per day.

a barrel this month.

AUSTIN-Marathon Oil Co. claims

The Marathon counsel said the increase sought on behalf of operators representing 99 percent of the Yates production would have sold for $11.95

"If you reduce the rate in this field down to 75,000 barrels daily, you reduce the average price of Yates crude a dollar a barrel,"Leach stated. "You are going to reduce the price at the higher rate (of 125,000 barrels daily)

waste drew a stroing of rhetorical questions from Chairman Wallace that emphasized the Commission's mandated responsibility, historically, has been limited to prevention of physical waste in Texas oil and gas operations.

Marathon's application is opposed by heirs of Ira Yates on whose West Texas ranch the enormous petroleum province was discovered in 1926.

Representing the heirs in Thursday's two hours of oral arguments was Lloyd Muennick, Austin engineer-attorney. Some of the heirs have urged a reduction in the Yates MER to 75,000 barrels daily, while another wants the MER held at the present 100,000 barrels per day level.

The Yates Field has produced more than 675 million barrels of oil in 52 years. The Marathon counse! told the Commission that an MER of 125,000 barrels daily will result in ultimate recovery of an additional 244 million barrels, or 44 million more than anticipated under the present MER of

An Oil and Gas Division hearing on the Marathon application was conducted last Nov. 8-16 by then Chief Legal Counsel Fred Young and Technical Hearings Director Billy D. Thomas. Both Young and Thomas recommended the Commission increase the MER to 125,000 barrels daily in their proposal for decision in the case. Chief Engineer Bob R. Harris of the Oil and Gas Division also recommended approval of the application.

The oral arguments evolved around contentions of Marathon that the higher MER is supported by the hearings record and that increasing the output would be a conservation measure that would result in additional recovery of 44 million barrels of oil. For the Yates heirs, Muennick countered that an MER of 125,000 barrels daily would accelerate the encroachment of water and gas into th eoil reservoir and would result in waste since optimum oil recovery would not be achieved as oil would be left behind as increasing water and gas moved through the reservoir.

Muennick represented Sandra Winokur, Tom Yates, Mac Yates, Lillian Yates, Jon Yates Bottinghouse, Harry Gaston, Jim Roberts, Leland Miller, Lucille P. Yates, Louis A. Yates Jr., John T. Yates and the trustee for another Yates heir.

Retention of the 100,000 barrels daily MER is supported by Polly Blanton Brooks Cayman Trust, while Sandra C. Winokur and other Yates heirs recommend the MER be set at 75,000 barrels daily.

Leach told the Commissioners that water encroachments have been occurring erratically in the field for a long time at different elevations. Tests by Marathon, operator of the Yates Field unit, show one barrel of water is produced with each four barrels of oil at low rates of producion, he related.

On the other hand, Leach said, at the 100,000 barrels daily rate of producion, eight barrels of oil is produced per one barrel of water and at 125,000 barrels daily almost 11 barrels of oil is produced per barrel of water.

"We are saying we can get an additional 244 million barrels of oil from this reservoir if you will let us manage these (reservoir) drive mechanisms," Leach told the Commission-

Leach denied Muennick's claim that Marathon had forgotten the western portion of the Yates Field to produce the better portion of the reservoir. He cited seven pilot water-flood projects that Marathon has underway on the west side of the field. "If we are permitted to operate the field in a fashion to manage these drive mechanisms, we will evaluate all parts of the field," the Marathon counsel stated. "If we are not allowed to manage the mechanism, we are not going to be able to get this ultimate recover (244 million barrels) from the Cities Service Co. No. 1 Blair has been completed as the second well in the Payton (Mississippian gas) field of Ward County.

It was finaled for a calculatted, absolute open flow potential of 1.650,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 6,414 to 6,519 feet. Pay was acidized with 2,832 feet. No liquid was produced with the Total depth is 6,872 feet and seveninch casing is set at 6,660 feet. The plugged back depth is 6,580 feet.

The new well is one location southwest of production and 467 feet from northwest and 539 feet from southwest lines of section 5, block 32, H&TC survey and two miles southwest of Grandfalls.

Winkleman, a re-entry project, has been completed as a pumping well in the Spraberry Trend Area field of Midland County.

It originally was completed in the Azalea (Strawn) field.

On 24-hour potential on the Spra-berry, it made 83.91 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,263-1. The well also made 50 barrels of water during the potential test. Gravity of the oil is40 degrees.

Completion was through perfora-tions from 7,894 to 8,945 feet after 2,000gallons of acid and 154,750 gallons of fracture solution.

Total depth is 10,527 feet and 4.5inch casing is set at 10,522 feet. The plugged back depth is 8,985 feet. Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block 38, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Chinese increase U.S. contacts on exploitation of its reserves By SUSAN LINEE

HOUSTON (AP) - For the past several years Chinese delegations interested in seeking the technology firsthand have been quietly visiting oil fields, production platforms and petrolem executives here.

But industry sources say over the past six months there has been a marked increase in contact that could signal a major shift in the role U.S. companies will play in the exploitation of China's estimated 20,000 million barrel reserves.

In May the China Council for Promotion of International Trade issued an invitation to four major U.S. petroleum producers to visit China to discuss offshore oil exploration and pro-

A 14-member delegation from Pennzoil led by board chairman J. Hugh Liedtke returned to Houston July 12 after 18 days of touring oil fds and refineries, but a company spokesman was characteristically reserved in giving details of the visit.

"We're kind of letting them (the Chinese) handle the deal," said Les-

Representatives from Phillips Petroleum Co., the Exxon Co. and Union um Co., the Exxon Cp. and Union Oil of California are expected to visit China next month.

Christopher Phillips, whose Washington-based National Council for U.S.-China Trade handled the contacts for the Chinese liason office, said the significant aspect of the meetings "is the possibility these in-vitations could lead to contractural relations between American oil com-

China, whose crude oil output doubled during the five-year plan ending in January 1976 and is presently estimated at 1.7 million barrels a day, purchased exploration and drilling equipment from U.S. firms such as Baker Trading Co. and Geo Space Corp. of Houston and Rucker Oil of Oakland, Calif. several years ago to be operated by the Chinese themselves. "One has to distinguish between buying equipment and technology," Phillips said "Up to now the Chinese have been very reluctant to have anything approaching forein participation. But recent political changes seem to signal a high priority on the development of their oil resources and an indication more foreign participation might be necessary.

China's only known offshore field is in the Gulf of Pohai, off the Takang Field east of Peking.

David Crawford, vice-president of marine operations for Marathon Manufacturing Co. whose Singapore yards have contracted to build two jack-up drillin rigs for the Chinese for delivery in early 1980, said he assumes the Chinese are seriously interested in offshore exploration.

"They've ordered a total of five brand new rigs. We're talking about a $120 million investment," Crawford said. "We aren't sure, but by virtue of the class of rig, it's our suspicion they'll be used in the Gulf of Pohai." China began to export oil in earnest in 1973, primarily to Japan, the Philli-pines and Thailand, after developing her petroleum industry from scratch when the Soviet Union slashed oil shipments in 1959. In May 1977 Hua Kuo-feng said

China must built at least 10 more major oilfields to satisfy domestic needs as well as meet exports. And when Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., visited China in January, he suggested the Chinese might trade their oil for advanced U.S. technolo-

Phillips stressed that U.S. petrole-um companies' dealings with the Chinese are "only in the talking stage." "The council has had at least three oil industry exchanges (with China) in the past year," he said. "The Chinese hoped it could be done rather quietly initially." Digital Resources Corp., a Hous-ton-based subsidiary of Applied Devices Corp., has been trying since last October to fulfill its $3.7 million contract to supply seismic computer systems to China.

The federal government, however, is withholding approval of an export permit because of what it calls the 'sophisticated nature' of the equipment which processes geophysical data compiled in oil exploration. National Supply Co., a division of Armco Steel Corp., is "trying to get finalized" two offshore production platforms it has sold the the Chinese for $15 million, according to a company spokesman.

The fixed platforms designed for use in shallow water are being built in National's Houston yards and were originally scheduled for delivery this

There was the early, spectacular 6-under-par 65 — by two shots the best put on the board by the pretty, slender Little. score ever fired in this tournament -

There was the steady, grinding pressure exerted by the veteran Carner, playing in the last twosome with Hollis.

But in the end it was the fiercely

It finished off a final round of 1over-par 72 and enabled her to make a successful defense of the title she won a year ago in Minnesota. She finished with a 289 total, 5-over par on the rain-soaked, 6,115-yard Country Club of Indianapolis course.

CARNER, TWICE a winner of this title and a five-time women's national amateur champion, and Little were a single shot back at 290.

Rutherford fumes when Unser quits

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) - On a team with Mario Andretti and Tom Sneva, it's hard to believe that after 10 races this season, unheralded Rick Mears would have won two races while his illustrious teammates were shut out.

But that was the case after Sunday's 150-mile Indianapolis-style car race at Atlanta International Raceway, where Mears, who only drives for the Penske team part time, pulled out a cliffhanger from Johnny Rutherford with the help of a caution period on the white flag lap.

It was Mears' second victory in three starts, the second of his career and the second for the team that Mears rather reluctantly decided to drive for in 1978.

"I just happened at the last minute to go on a motorcycling vacation that Roger Penske also went on last year," Mears said. "I got a chance to get to know Roger, and he offered me the ride. I wanted something full time, but I knew he has a first class operation and great cars.' Mears showed what he could do in practice for the first race of the season, joining Sneva and Andretti at lap speeds over 200 mph in a backup car that wasn't supposed to race. He didn't get in that race because Sneva's car broke down and he had to jump into Mears' car.

Mears followed up a record breaking 200 mph qualifying run for the Indianapolis 500 with a second at Mosport, Ont., and a victory at Milwau-

The next week he was benched while Andretti returned to drive the car at Mount Pocono, Pa.

Mears returned last week at Cambridge Junction, Mich., to qualify third but his race lasted one lap because of a broken engine. But then he bounced back this weekend, becoming the first driver to officially break the 200 mph barrier.

Asked if he was chafing under the part-time assignment and might look for a full-time job next year, Mears said, "I'm not even worrying about that. I consider myself lucky to be able to learn from great drivers like Mario and Tom. "It's helped me get off to a good start and I'm just interested right now in doing the best job I can.' Mears performed admirably Sunday, battling wheel to wheel with Rutherford much of the final twothirds of the race.

The 26-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., driver, who says his hobby is water skiing and who won a ski boat for leading the most laps of the race, took over the lead the last time with 18 laps left in the 100-lap contest.

He had Rutherford snapping at his heels with two laps to go when the third caution period of the race came out for a tow-in of Al Unser, who had run out of fuel on the course. Rutherford was livid about the development, claiming it cost him the

Unser, who took a lot of criticism for not pulling off the course so the race could finish under green, commented, "I didn't know how many laps were left. I certainly wouldn't have stopped there to deliberately cost anyone the race." Unser, driving the Midland-based

The Kansas City Royals and Boston Red Sox have passed this way before. The Royals are enjoying the "deja vu" effect but, for the Red Sox, it's like the recurrence of a nightmare.

The Royals won their ninth straight game Sunday, completing a three-game sweep of Boston with a 7-3 victory. The triumph moved Kansas City three games ahead of California in the American League West. The Red Sox, meanwhile, dropped their fourth game in a row and seventh in their last 12. Their AL East lead over Milwaukee, once a solid 10 games, shrunk to a shakler five games when the Brewers topped "This is what happened to us last year," said Royals Manager Whitey Herzog. "We had that 10-game streak

As Kansas City took control of the West once again, the Red Sox might have been looking back at last season, when they built a solid midseason lead before wilting down the stretch.
"I think their club has more to do with it than my club," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer of the three losses in Kansas City, where Boston has won only two games in three years. "They're good hitters and have speed. And they keep the ball out of the air. That's a big thing on this artifical turf. It's a different story in

Pete Rose can tie record tonight

By The Associated Press

It seems everyone in the National League is pulling for Pete Rose, even the man against whom he could tie the league record for hitting in consecutive games.

Pat Zachry, a former teammate at Cincinnati who came to the New York Mets in the Tom Seaver deal, will face the Reds tonight as Rose goes for a hit in his 37th straight game. That would tie him with Tommy Holmes of the old Boston Braves, who set the NL mark

"I hope he gets a hit, and I hope we win," says Zachry, who has lost his last three decisions since the All-Star

Rose came within one game of the record Sunday night, going 2-for-6 and driving in the winning run with a 14th-inning sacrifice fly in Cincinnati's 5-4 victory over Montreal at Rose's first hit, a single, came in the sixth inning in his third time at bat against Expos starter Steve Rogers, the man who earlier this year yielded Rose's 3,000th career hit. And he doubled off reliever Darold Knowles in But as far as the Reds were concerned, his most important appearance at the plate came in the 14th inning. Pinch-hitter Rick Auerbach led off the inning with a walk, went to second on a wild pitch and took third on a sacrifice bunt. Rose then sent a long fly to right fielder Ellis Valentine to score the winning run and give the Reds a three-game sweep of the se-

The Reds had taken a 4-0 lead on an infield hit by Mike Lum in the third and Dan Driessen's three-run homer in the sixth.

The Expos came back for three runs in their half of the sixth on Andre Dawson's triple, an infield out by Valentine and Warren Cromartie's RBI double. And they tied it in the eighth when pinch-hitter Sam Meijias singled home Cromartie.

"This is the toughest park in the league to hit a ball in," said Rose, who was referring specifically to day games. "I've talked to all their players and they don't like to play day games here.

Rose said that in the sixth inning, when each team scored three runs, the sun receded briefly, allowing the hitters to see the ball. "One time today the sun went down and you could see pretty good," he said. "That's when Driessen hit the home run and that's when they came back with three runs.' While Rose was extending his hitting streak to 36 games, San Francisco's Jack Clark was quietly sneaking

Clark said he's enjoying the shadow that Rose has cast over his effort.

"What Rose is doing is good for me," said the 22-year-old Clark. "Pete's getting all the attention and I'm just trying to win games. If I get up around 30 games, people might start noticing.

ters, including three in the first inning, but got out of a couple of jams with some timely strikeouts and ground balls

Vuckovich, asked when he first considered the possibility of a no-hitter, first answered facetiously: "About the first inning.

At Whitemarsh, Nicklaus built a three-stroke lead after two rounds, tying the course record the second day with a 64. He slipped to a 1-overpar 72 on the third round, falling one stroke off the pace. Then, Sunday, he caught up with Bruce Lietzke, passed him and held on to win.

Lietzke shot 74 the final day, stumbling with a double bogey and bogey on the front nine. When it was over, Nicklaus nipped

Morgan, who was two strokes ahead of Jerry Pate and Hale Irwin, each with 273.

Birdie putts on the 11th and 12th Sunday were listed as the key to victory by Nicklaus, although the winning shot was a 30-foot downhill putt on the 16th for a bird. Morgan couldn't make that one up.

After the top four came Hubert Green, who had a hole-in-one on the final round and finished at 274, and Mark Hayes, Lee Elder, Miller Barber and Lietzke, all at 275. The tour's leading money winner, Andy Bean finished at 276, while U.S. Open Champion Andy North carded four rounds of 1-under 70 for 280.

Simpson gets Chaos hits Yanks again

CHICAGO (AP) - New York Yan-SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - O.J. kees Manager Billy Martin, who su-Simpson, whose age is one year short spended slugger Reggie Jackson for of his famous uniform No. 32, has defiance, may receive similar treatbegun preparing for his featured role ment - or worse - from his boss in with the San Francisco 49ers' ofthe wake of his tirade against Jackson and biting remarks slung at owner "I don't think I can carry the load at George Steinbrenner. 31 like I did at 26," he said Sunday.

Martin, who held his temper and his tongue when Jackson returned from a five-day suspension Sunday, lost control of both at O'Hare International Airport mere hours after the Yankees had recorded their fifth consecutive victory.

"The two of them deserve each other," Martin told the New York Times, referring to Jackson and Steinbrenner. "One's a born liar (Jackson), the other's convicted (Steinbrenner). "I am stunned," Steinbrenner told

The Times when informed of Martin's remark, which apparently referred to Steinbrenner's conviction in 1974 for illegal political contributions. A clause in Martin's contract with the Yankees prohibits him from making public comments critical of the outspoken New York owner. Martin's statement was in direct contravention of the clause and Steinbrenner told The Associated Press, "I'll have further reaction Monday morning."

That reaction seems certain to include severe punishment, possibly even Martin's firing, in view of the manager's contract violation. The statement came in the manager's second burst of fiery, expletive-filled comments made — apparently with-out instigation — moments after the team arrived by bus at the airport for a flight to Kansas City.

Jackson was suspended after last Monday night's 9-7 loss to the Royals for bunting after a bunt order had been retracted — by signal and by verbal command - during the 10th inning of the 11-inning defeat.

Ultimately, Jackson popped out while bunting on a 1-2 pitch. Martin insisted the defiance of orders had been intentional though Jackson said Sunday after returning from the suspension: "Knowing what the consequences were, the suspension and the amount of publicity it generated, I probably would have swung. I just figured this would be the best way of moving the runner over, but I'd have rather struck out (swinging) and

Martin maintained, in his first diatribe, that Jackson knew he was being defiant. "I have never, in my career as a manager, given orders to bunt when there were two strikes on the "He (Jackson) knew it (that he was being defiant intentionally) and every one of the others knew it. Why else would he take his glasses off when he came back to the bench?

"He did that because he expected me to punch him and it took the most control it ever has taken in my life not to," said Martin.

The two nearly came to blows in the dugout at Boston's Fenway Park last season after Jackson - in Martin's estimation - failed to hustle while fielding a hit by Jim Rice of the Red

Neither appeared to make any attempt to communicate with the other Sunday after Jackson returned from exile, and that was fine with Martin.

Cubs home against Tulsa

Midland's Cubs left for a 10-game road trip with a 9-5 record and com-fortably entrenched in first place in the Texas League West Division race. Tonight Manager Jim Saul's Bruins return to Cubs Stadium after a disasterous 3-7 tour of the East and, believe it or not, are still in first place.

Of course, that won't last long unless the Cubs get things turned around and Saul hopes to start tonight at 7:30 when Midland hosts Tulsa, the Texas Rangers farmhands who beat Midland three out of five at Tulsa.

Jeff Albert, 5-8, probably will get the call against the Oilers. The second-year pro from Oceanside, N.Y., beat Shreveport, 4-1, in his last start, pitching a four-hitter.

"Bases on balls have been killing us," Saul said, plus the fact that the roster has undergone several changes since the team left home. Ace pitcher Randy Martzwas promoted to Wichita along with Mike Martin; first baseman Aaron Randall was released and catcher Duane Gustavson left the club suddenly on the trip. The Cubs picked up George Riley and Darrell Turner from Wichita while Mike Allen, a third pitcher, also was added to the staff.

Corbett's rage on rise

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - For all of Brad Corbett's millions, he's having trouble buying happiness in the American League.

And the beefy majority owner of the Texas Rangers certainly wasn't a picture of joy early Sunday morning as he sat behind manager Billy Hunter's desk, trying to explain the latest nosedive of his high-priced talent.

Slumped over Hunter's desk after tongue-lashing his millionares who have found it difficult to hit and catch grounders and pop files, Corbett tried to find some peace within himself before a group of writers he had chased out of Hunter's office earlier.

Corbett has been here before. Last July he threatened to sell the team which he described as "dogs on the field and off the field."

Rams' move still remains mystery

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) - The Los Angeles Rams have neither confirmed nor denied a report that owner Carroll Rosenbloom will announce Tuesday that the National Football League team is moving to Anaheim.

"We have made no public announcement of a press conference," said Jerry Wilcox, responding to a story published Sunday by the Santa Ana Register saying that Rosenbloom will hold a press conference Tuesday morning at Anaheim Stadium to announce the move. "There's nothing else to say about the matter at this Corbett said he offered Hunter a five-year extension on his contract and told his manager: "The first guy you don't want on this ball club, I don't give a damn what kind of a contract he has." Hunter told newsmen, "I told Brad I just want to play it one year at a MET
