Six Flags gondola falls 70 feet; 3 dead, 1 hurt

By ROBERT BURNS

EUREKA, Mo. (AP) - A gondola ride carrying four passengers 70 feet above an amusement park slipped off its cable and plunged to the ground when a support arm on a tower broke. Two girls and a man were killed and a third girl was critically injured.

About 60 persons were stranded in the 15 remaining cable cars in operation at the time of the accident Wednesday at Six Flags over Mid-America park. All were rescued without further incident. The last passengers reached safety four hours after the accident

The steel cable car, a mass of gnarled metal, was whisked away to a storage room nearby.

St. Louis County Fire Marshal James Holdinghaus said safety devices on the cable ride prevented the other cars from falling. Some parts of the ride are as high as 100 feet above the park, which was filled with about 20,000 persons at the time of the accident, officials said.

The ride had operated for eight years without incident, a park spokesman said. More than 15 million people have ridden safely in the Swiss-made ride, he added. He called the accident

Firemen and police from 10 surrounding communities used cranelike snorkel units to rescue the riders. It took a 100-foot aerial boom to reach the last few cable cars that swung gently in the humid 94-degree summer breeze at the attraction located about 25 miles south of St. Louis.

Less than an hour after the final person was snatched from the suspended cable car, high winds and torrential rains pummelled the 503acre park.

Two girls, Trisha Weeks, 10, of St. Louis, and Kristen Johnson, 15, of Barre, Vt., and her uncle, Clark F. Johnson, 25, of Rivesville, W.Va., were killed after one of the ride's 28 cable cars snapped loose when the support arm gave way about 2 p.m. Only 16 cars were in the air at the Jennine Weeks, 12, a sister of Trisha, was in critical but stable condition today after surgery Wednesday night at a nearby hospital. The uncle and niece were visiting the Weeks family at their St. Louis County

A spokesman for the park, Bob Kochan, said that the ride could hold 112 persons. The three killed and one injured were the only occupants of the

The ride, runs across most of the width of the park. Passengers are carried in 28 small cars suspended on a moving cable. Kochan said the cable car ride would not be used again until an engineer from Six Flags over Georgia, a sister operation, arrives for an investigation.

Dave Kaplan, a spokesman for Six Flags over Georgia, said Six Flags, Inc., operates five theme parks and two wax museums. Besides Six Flags over Mid-America and Six Flags over Georgia, they are Six Flags over Texas, Astro World in Houston and Great Adventure in Jackson, N.J.

Dick Tyler, spokesman for Six Flags Inc., said by telephone from Los Angeles that the other Sky Way rides at Six Flags' parks in four other states were shut down immdiately after the accident here for precautionary reasons. Company structural engineers will begin their investigation of the disaster sometime today,

Last April 15, four persons were killed and 30 injured when a cable sprung free and slashed through a ski tram gondola at Squaw Valley, Calif. On Tuesday, a preliminary state re-port blamed high winds for that acci-

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Min- receive them back here happily," he with Israel "at any level" if Israel ister Menachem Begin said Egypt's said. expulsion of a standby Israeli delegation from Cairo is a minor matter and chances for peace are still excellent.

The delegation of military men, which stayed in Egypt after peace talks between the two countries broke down in January, was to return home today by Egyptian airliner. President Anwar Sadat asked the Israeli delegation to leave "since there was no need for their presence." the Egyptian government television service announced. Begin in a TV interview said he received a telegram saying the 10man delegation should be recalled, and agreed to bring it home.

The delegation accompanied Defense Minister Ezer Weizman to Cairo in January when he began discussions with Egypt's defense minister of Israeli withdrawal from Sinai. The talks were suspended when parallel negotiations on the future of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip collpased in deadlock in January, but Weizman's team remained in Cairo to await the resumption of negotiations. There have been reports that the delegation was used occasionably to transmit peace feelers. After a meeting of Egypt's National Security Council, at whichHthe expul sion of the Israelis apparently was decided, Foreign Minister Mohammed Ibrahim Kamel said his government would resume peace talks

And Begin said in spite of the Egyptian move, he sees "excellent chances for the peace process." He noted that U.S. mediator Alfred L. Atherton is now shuttling about the area and that Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance is to visit Cairo and Jerusalem next

"I believe peace will come out of all this, though it may take some time," the prime minister said.

His rejection of Egyptian demands for Israel's withdrawal from the West Bank and the Gaza Strip and self-determination for the Palestinians in the two territories was bolstered by an overwhelming 70-35 vote of confidence Wednesday in the Knesset, the Israeli parliament.

Two men, two boys survive long night of thunder, lightning, sharks

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) - Two men and two boys tossed into the Atlantic when their 28-foot pleasure boat exploded survived a night floating 300 yards away from where several sharks were tearing at the body of a dead female companion.

As they waited for rescue, bolts of lightning knifed through the sea

"Visibility was down to about zero," Coast Guard Chief Boatswain's Mate John Langhorn said Wednesday, hours after the four survivors were brought to Edisto Beach, S.C., where they refused medical treat-

An Edisto Beach resident had reported seeing the explosion Tuesday night at 8 p.m. The survivors were rescued about 12 hours later.

The lightning may have saved the survivors from the sharks. "It surprised me these four stayed together and didn't get attacked by sharks," said Deputy Sheriff James

Craven. "Maybe the only thing that saved them was the sharp lightning we had." Lightning struck the water near the survivors several times during the night, Coast Guard officials Craven said the explosion threw everybody but Larry Coyle, 65, of Charleston from the boat. He jumped in when it was apparent the boat would sink, said Craven.

The survivors tied themselves toether in a circle, with lifejackets and floating cushions from the boat. They saw that the woman had been killed in the explosion and cut her adrift, Cra-

The crew of a 41-foot search boat found the survivors still tied together and floating about 5-to-8 miles off Edisto Island.

A Coast Guard helicopter pilot spotted the woman's body later. Crewmen stood on the helicopter's rescue plat-form battling sharks with a boat hook until they were able to retrieve the body of Barbara Ann Woodham, 58, of Charleston County Coroner Ray Shokes said the woman's body was severely mutilated.

Petty Officer 2nd Class David Giza said he was told by one of the survivors that the woman had died when a gas line on the "Miss Anne" exploded and the vessel caught fire.

Besides Coyle, the survivors were identified as Sam Boger, 39, of Summerville, owner of the boat; his son, Earl Boger, 15, and Jay Johnson, 12, of Summerville.

Despite persistent storms, Coast Guard officials say the search vessel and the 95-foot cutter "Cape Morgan" searched for survivors or debris all Tuesday night. The only helicopter

Hill declines comment on Larry Lozano case

R-T Staff Writer

RANKIN — Texas Attorney General John Hill, declaring that he is dealing with issues and "not . . . fit personalities," said in a press conference here Wednesday that he doesn't "intend to comment" on the Larry Lozano case since it's before a federal

But he said John Green, the Ector County district attorney who has been claiming Hill interfered with his probe into the case, "may well be correct" in predicting that the federal grand jury will not return any indict-

"I don't have prognostications to make," said Hill, the Democratic Party's gubernatorial candidate who was here to address the semi-annual general membership meeting of the 17-county Permiam Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Hill, 55, said he wasn't "privy" to the grand jury's investigations, which he helped launch. He said he was confident that the probe would be thorough and exhaustive.

Hill, in the question-and-answer ress conference, tabbed "completely false" a television news report that he reportedly plans "a close examina-tion" of the power structure in Ector County government.

That report, broadcast July 17 by News Director Paul Pryor of KMID-TV in Midland, also said "...it ap-pears that Green is the main target of Hill's investigative efforts."
Hill said he has "no intentions" of investigating Green or the Ector County government power structure. "I'm not investigating Mr. Green," said Hill. "I'm investigating the death of a human being...Larry Lozano."

Lozano, a 27-year-old MexicanAmerican salesman, died Jan. 22 in the Ector County Jail following a struggle with sheriff's deputies. Lozano, whom deputies says went "ber-serk," had been arrested 12 days earlier for resisting arrest by two deputies following a pickup truck

In April, an inquest jury, before which Green presented evidence, ruled that Lozano's death was "accidental." And earlier this month, a federal grand jury in Midland started its probe to determine if Lozano's civil rights had been violated during his confinement in the jail.

Last Monday, Green declared the Lozano case was closed in Ector County after a county grand jury in Odessa returned no indictments fol-lowing its own probe into Lozano's

The federal grand jury, which is in recess, interviewed 66 witnesses during a five-day session, but has not released its findings; that investigation reportedly is continuing.

The Ector County grand jury was in session one day on the case but listened in on the two-day inquest hearing held in April.

Hill said Wednesday he is investigating the case in a "profession way" and that he is "not dealing

Carter's allies prepared to fight proposed capital gains tax cut

By EDMOND Le BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) - Indications are increasing that Congress may vote deep capital gains tax cuts opposed by President Carter, but the president's allies are laying the groundwork for a fight on the House

Rep. Joseph L. Fisher, D-Va., whose compromise bill is favored by the administration as the least objectionable of several options, said he does not expect the House Ways and Means Committee to accept his plan. But Fisher, a committee member, said he will press for committee action on his proposal, saying he expects to make a strong enough showing to insure a chance to substitute his version when tax legislation reaches the House floor. The plan has the backing of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, dealt a painful blow Wednesday to the administration's hopes of minimizing reductions in the capital gains tax. The tax applies to profits on sale of stocks, real estate or other assets held at least a year.

Long proposed the deepest capital gains tax cut - a 19.5 percent maximum rate - advanced so far by any highly placed member of Congress.

The measure given the best chance of clearing the Ways and Means Committee would set the maximum tax at 35 percent. A strongly-backed Republican proposal would set it at 25 percent. The maximum in Fisher's version would be 37.25 percent, with much of the benefit directed to home owners and investors in new businesses. The theoretical top rate for the that could reach the area ran out of fuel and had to return to base.

Two helicopters returned to the scene early Wednesday. The survivors were taken off the search boat by helicopter.

Craven, who investigated the accident, said the "Miss Anne" had left Edisto Marina Tuesday around 6:30 a.m. to go fishing in the Gulfstream. 50-to-60 miles offshore.

"They fished all day and were on their way back in, when they ran into problems with the fuel pressure in one of two tanks built into the boat," said

"The engine sputtered and backfired. That's when the explosion occurred."

Alibi 'solid,' reports indicate

WACO, Texas (AP) - A lie detector test was to be administered today to a Waco man being questioned about the Oklahoma slayings of six restaurant employees, but police said he appears to have a solid alibi.

The man was arrested Wednesday morning in Waco on a traffic violation. He was driving an Oldsmobile Vista Cruiser station wagon that matched the description of a vehicle sought by Oklahoma authorities.

"It looked good for a while, but now it appears the alibis are checking said police Lt. Robert McCollum, who said the man consented to take a polygraph test.

tax under present law is 49.1 percent, but the treasury says few persons pay more than 40 percent. Long said in a talk to the National Press Club that his committee, which will consider any tax legislation passed by the House, "will recom-mend a large cut in the tax rates on capital gains," regardless of what the House does.

The ultimate legislation, unless tax revision bogs down completely, will be shaped in a Senate-House confer-

Praising the late President John F. Kennedy's 1963 tax cut program as a tonic for the economy, Long said part of it which was not enacted at the time should be revived now. He pointed to imum capital gains tax rate at 19.5

Long also endorsed a substantial across-the-board tax cut for both individuals and corporations, but stopped short of embracing the plan for a one-third cut in tax rates as advanced by Rep. Jack F. Kemp, R-N.Y:, and Sen. William V. Roth Jr., R-Del., a proposal which has been endorsed by the Republican national leadership.

The Ways and Means Committee Wednesday rejected a series of proposed amendments, several of which would have limited the deduction for business entertainment, though not as drastically as Carter has proposed.

Meanwhile, the results of an early May survey released on Wednesday by the Roper Organization showed that 43 percent of the 2,007 adults polled believe that taxing half the gains made on the sale of stock or property is reasonable, while 40 perlled it a tax loo rest having no opinion.

But when the query was limited to the capital gains tax on homes only, 55 percent called it reasonable with 31 percent declaring it a loophole.

February completion date set for new bank building

It's not every day that a group of friends who also happen to be businessmen can start their own independently owned bank. However, that's exactly what Mid-landers W. J. "Bill" Mewhorter, John under construction in north Midland, is expected to be completed by Feb. 18, 1979, said Mewhorter, president and currently the only officer. He said the bank, located at 4309 N. Garfield St., is expected to be open for business as soon as possible after that.

"The five of us, longtime Midland businessmen, felt there was a need for another bank, especially in the northern part of the city. So we got together and decided to start scheduled to work today on their separate versions of a package of constitutional amendments designed to ease the burden of real estate taxes. House members worked seven hours on their proposal Wednesday, quitting at 7:30 p.m. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said the package before the Senate, along with bills repealing the state sales tax on utilities and increasing inheritance tax exemptions, would save Texans $1 billion over the next three fiscal

"This will give some genuine relief to taxpayers, and we can go home," Hobby said Wednesday.

Each version would tax agricultural land on productivity instead of market value; give taxpayers some leverage against local property tax increases; drop the rarely obeyed constitutional requirement that intangibles - such as cash, stocks and bonds - must be taxed; and provide some kind of homestead exemption from school taxes.

If the voters are to have a chance to make a decision on property tax relief at the Nov. 7 election, both chambers of the Legislature must approve a single package with a two-thirds vote in each house.

House decisions on various changes could make it more difficult to win

A key House vote Wednesday was the 144-25 roll call against tab Galveston Rep. Doug McLeod's amendment prohibiting a personal or corporation income tax.

The amendment then was approved Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, tried to cut corporations out of the amendment, leaving only a ban on a personal income tax. "Business taxes ought to be available as an option" for future legislators, he said. "We are all aware of why Texas is prospering so much. The reason industry is coming to this state is because we don't have a corporation income tax," McLeod replied. Rep. Froy Salinas, D-Lubbock, won voice vote approval of his amendment exempting one automobile per family from property taxes after the House refused, 89-47, to table it.

Postal Workers Union was scheduled to vote on the accord today, providing a barometer of support by the APWU's 280,000 rank-and-file mem-

A close vote was expected. "I wouldn't bet on the outcome of this one," said one union official, asking not to be named.

Leaders of the APWU were anxious to win the committee's support, but intend to submit the accord to the membership for ratification even if the local leaders vote their disapproval, said one union source.

The tentative three-year contract, which covers 554,000 postal workers represented by four unions, has been criticized as inadequate by a number of local union leaders, who have called for its rejection.

A "no" vote by a majority of the APWU's advisory committee would increase pressure on the union's leaders to try to renegotiate the agreement with the U.S. Postal Service.

APWU officials said their union's constitution requires that the advi-center was 90 percent for the Wednes-day morning shift, McLean said. The Postal Service has sent letters of dismissal to 92 employees at the three centers for participating in the walkouts, which are prohibited by federal law. More dismissals were likely, said McLean.

He added that processing of pack-ages and second- and third-class mail was running close to normal despite the walkouts. However, postal officials in New York said the walkouts there had created a three-day backlog in processing the mail.

First-class mail is not handled at the centers.

The new agreement, reached early Friday, continues a ban against layoffs and provides a 19.5 percent wage increase, including cost-of-livng adjustments, over three years.

Some local leaders have complained that the wage increase is not high enough. Others have expressed dissatisfaction with work rules dealing with mandatory overtime and the size of mail routes

Many of the sharpest attacks have come from the nation's largest local, the New York Area Postal Union, which led an illegal strike in 1970. The union has scheduled a strike vote for next Monday, and other locals have indicated they may follow a New York-initiated strike.

Other locals have taken straw votes calling for a rejection of the contract. But the votes are not recognized by the leaders of the APWU, National Association of Letter Carriers and Mailhandlers division of Laborers' International.

The three unions hope to mail official ballots to the membership by next week. It would be at least another three weeks before the votes could be tabulated

Soleri pegs away at building Arizona dream city

By MIKE McCLOY

PARADISE VALLEY, Ariz. (AP) The country's supply of youthful idealism dwindles, but visionary ar-chitect Paolo Soleri continues to build his dream city.

"We once had 350 students a year," Soleri, 59, said. "Now we're down to about 150."

The students pay $430 to help raise the Arcosanti prototype city at Cordes Junction, about 70 miles north of this Phoenix suburb. The fee covers five weeks of meals, primitive housing, hard construction work and an hour or two a week with Soleri.

"Young people are becoming more security minded," said Soleri, whose project was begun in 1970. "Instead of thinking about creating a new world, -they're worrying about where the money is coming from for the next day or two."

Work goes on, however, with a cafe, several homes, a foundry and ceramics studio completed on the 860 acres of high desert.

'We could not do what we are doing without the affluent young person," the native Italian said. "The youth in this country might be spoiled, but it is less cynical than in many other coun-

A concrete shortage which has pushed back the construction schedule, Soleri said, "was unexpected. "We can buy some cement for $3-$4 a bag," he said, "and on the black market, you can get as much cement as you want for $12, but we can't afford that.'

The project is designed to provide housing and facilities for 5,000, with energy and food from the sun and giant greenhouses. It combines ecology and architecture and eliminates automobiles.

Lacking public or foundation funding, the project survives on $250,000 to $500,000 a year, mostly from workshop fees and the sale of Soleri's books, windbells and drawings.

"I've been proposing Arcosanti as an alternative to Las Vegas and Disneyland — as an alternative to those kind of thrills," he said.

Cultural festivals are staged at the project every fall, Soleri noted. "We also want to develop a cultural center with some impact, perhaps as sub-stantial as Walt Disney in his field."

Arcosanti rises up the side of an arroyo. Four acres of inclined greenhouses will capture the sun's energy. for horticulture and heating. On a plateau above the greenhouses, curved concrete buildings provide space for culture and commerce.

The main housing structure will rise as a wide pyramid behind the cultural center. Current emphasis is on construction of the East Crescent, to provide housing on the plateau for 60 persons who will work on the 25story main structure.

While Arcosanti is a concrete expression of Soleri's vision of people drawing close for harmony with their environment, it also speaks to his theological beliefs. He considers it a

Insurance ads trigger lawsuit against firms

By DEBORAH MESCE

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) —
"And now the big winners in today's lawsuits ..." begins an Aetna Life & Casualty advertisement. In the background is a television logo for a hypo-thetical program called "Liability Aetna says that ad and others in a series are designed to tell the public about issues that contribute to the rising cost of insurance premiums.

But a Bridgeport law firm, believing the ads are "misleading" and "deceptive," has filed a class action suit against Aetna and three other major insurance firms. The lawyers say the ads constitute jury tampering.

"What they're asking is for jurors to violate their oath ... Jurors are supposed to evaluate a case not on the basis of their own self-interest but on the facts and the law," said Theodore

Suggestion

Besides Aetna, others named in the suit are Travelers Insurance Cos. of Hartford, St. Paul Cos. Inc. of Minnesota and Crum and Forster of New Jersey and its subsidiary, the North River Insurance Co.

The suit, filed early this year in Superior Court on behalf of four Connecticut residents involved in damage suit litigation, claims the ads have hurt the plaintiffs' chances of receiving monetary awards from juries.

Filed by the Koskoff, Koskoff & Bieder law firm, the suit claims the ads are "unfair, deceptive, untrue and/or misleading." It seeks an un-specified amount in damages, attor-neys fees and corrective advertise-

The case probably will go to trial in Most of the 13 ads, which ran in newspapers, magazines and other publications, linked rising jury awards and increased premiums. One Aetna ad begins: "Too bad judges can't read this to a jury." An accompanying picture shows a judge with a note reading: "When awarding damages in liability cases, the jury is cautioned to be fair and to bear in mind that money does not grow on trees. It must be paid through insurance premiums from uninvolved parties, such as yourselves."

The Aetna ads end with: "Aetna wants insurance to be affordable." A St. Paul Cos. ad begins "You really think it's the insurance company that's paying for all those large jury awards?"

In defense of the ads, an Aetna statement says, "We feel we have a right and an obligation to publicly comment on issues affecting the rising costs of liability insurance."

The suit says "despite the over-all implication that insurance companies are losing money left and right ... assets of property and casualty companies have continually increased since 1952."

High jury awards "was only one of a myriad of things" contributing to the rising cost of insurance premi-ums, said George Hinckley, vice president of marketing services for Tra-velers. "We're not trying to single out one cause of high costs."

The issue involves "corporate freedom of speech," he said. "The system was being explained rather than being accused of any-thing," Hinckley said.

Koskoff disagreed, saying the ads "tamper with the judicial system. "It's all right to explain the system provided you're truthful about it."

But he said the ads contain "lies" and "half truths."

"Furthermore when they are doing it for the purposes of influencing juries, under the cloak of the 1st Amendment, and not for the purpose of debate, it's dishonest," he said.

"It's about time there was a complete overhaul of the insurance industry. They've had a license to steal too long."

'Official business' tag doesn't apply to families of staff By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Togetherness among President Carter's official family sometimes carries a hefty price tag — to the private chagrin of some of Carter's key advisers.

In question is the price exacted by Carter economizers each time someone flies to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., without enjoying official-business status.

That means, for example, that if the president invites assistant Frank Moore to bring his family to Camp David for a weekend with the Carters. Moore can expect to get a bill for the 30-minute helicopter flight from Washington.

Moore won't be billed for himself, because even the hardnosed chief economizer, presidential cousin Hugh Carter Jr., assumes Moore was invited because of his official position as the chief White House lobbyist with

But Moore can count on getting dunned for a transportation charge for his wife, Nancy, and their four children.

With a family of that size, accepting a presidential invitation to relax in the beautiful Catoctin Mountains can be an expensive proposition.

Hugh Carter figures a Camp David trip by helicopter is worth close to $50 a head. In the Moore example cited, multiply that by five.

The Moore example isn't theoretical, either. He and other members of the White House senior staff actually were invited last year to spend an autumn weekend at Camp David with their families and the Carters.

The mountaintop gathering, which coincided with the escalation of Carter's manifold problems and erosion of his standings in the polls, was seen at the time as an effort to pull the White House staff closer together in the face of adversity To an outsider, that might seem to fall into the category of official busi-

But Hugh Carter wasn't about to confer official status on wives and children. So helicopter bills were sent to Moore, press secretary Jody Powell and such other key Carter aides as Stuart Eizenstat, Hamilton Jordan and Tim Kraft because they were accompanied by kinfolk. It's a fairly well kept secret that some of the bill recipients were outraged and stalled for weeks before paying up.

In a nutshell, they didn't expect to have to pay as much as $200-plus, in some cases, for the pleasure of accepting a generous presidential invi-

Some of the aggrieved aides doubt the president knew they were billed for the journey. But each one questioned said he wouldn't think about raising the issue in the Oval Office; Carter has more important matters to Hugh Carter Jr., told a reporter he simply applied guidelines drafted at the start of the administration to carry out Carter's insistent demand that no one in his White House be accused of joy-riding at the taxpayer's expense.

In fact, the presidential cousin said Carter himself is billed regularly when daughter Amy takes a playmate with her to Camp David. "I think Rosalynn writes the checks," said Hugh Carter.

The bills are sent out, at Hugh Carter's direction, by the White House Military Office, which helps arrange military transportation for the president.

Checks are payable to the U.S. Treasury and the monies collected are added to the general fund, Hugh Carter said. He reported there is no means of directly reimbursing the military units that provide the heli-

ST CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP)-Marilyn Ewart, a former member of St. Clair Shores Historical Commission, drove by an abandoned, boarded-up house and decided to investigate. When she removed a section of the building's clapboard siding and found that underneath it all was a log timber framework, she knew it was no ordinary building.

Research showed that the saltbox structure was built in about 1850 and was originally owned by German immigrants, John and Mary Schelinske.

Wives upset over sales team fishing retreat

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This year, as in previous years, my husband has invited his sales team to our mountain cabin for a weekend of fishing.

This year, unlike previous years. his sales team now includes a young. unmarried woman who happens to be very attractive. (All the men are married and middle-aged.)

Abby, would you believe that some of the wives are making a big fuss because they feel that it is improper for a single girl to sleep under the same roof with their husbands?

Our cabin is a six-room chalet with sleeping accommodations for 12, and this trip involves five men and one

All the wives respect your opinion. so please tell us what you think .- D. M.'S WIFE

Yet with the nagging setbacks, USOC officials say the short-order extravaganza is a success just because it has come into being, and they hope that in future years it will realize the potential they envision as a way to bolster this country's sagging Olympic fortunes.

They started off optimistically enough Wednesday night as the symbolic flame was lit atop the summit of nearby Pikes Peak and carried by relay runners into Memorial Park where the torch was ignited, balloons released into the balmy evening sky and the festival officially opened.

Teaff had nothing but praise for Bubba Sledge, 255-pound guard from Midland Lee. "Sledge is one of the quickest pulling guards in the SWC, and we look for the junior to have a great year during the 1978 season,'

Sledge played for the Rebels in 1974

QUOTES FROM coaches Wednes-

Baylor football coach Grant Teaff: "I'm sick and tired of hearing about Arkansas and all of its problems. If they (the Razorback officials) don't like the Southwest Conference, they ought to get out. If they want out, don't let the door hit them in the rear. If they like it, they should shut up and get along.'

South All-Star basketball Coach Bob Latham of Houston Westchester: We have a game plan, but I've seen enough all-star games to expect a game that will see every player play-ing for himself."

Al Oglesby, Odessa Permian bas-ketball coach and headmaster of the North All-Stars: "Our game plan is pretty well set as we plan to run with the South. They know pretty much what we are going to do, and we know what they are going to do since we watch each other's drills every

Doug Ethridge, South football coach from Port Neches Groves: "We have better running backs than I expected and they have some surprises for the North. Tom Randal of San Antonio Churchill has been a pleasant surprise along with Adrian Price of Galveston Ball. They have given us a balanced attack."

North football Coach Don Beck: "Temple Aday, running back from Arlington, has been very impressive for us along with Willie Wright of El Paso Burges, Clarence Davis of Seagraves and Brad Beck." Brad is the Perryton coach's son.

tarnish Allen's happiness

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) -George Allen has said repeatedly that he's glad to be back as coach of the Los Angeles Rams, but that joy has been tarnished during the early days of the team's preseason training

Allen, hired to coach the Rams earlier this year after being fired by the Washington Redskins, has seen five players leave the National Football League team's camp at Cal State Fullerton since last Friday. Three have returned, but Allen is still

"I've never had players who had contracts just take off without explanations," said Allen Wednesday. "I think considering we have a new coaching staff here, we've made a lot of progress, and I feel pretty good. But the guys who left camp haven't made much progress.

"I'm real happy to be out here and I'm looking forward to the new challenge," he continued. "But we're not going to baby anybody. We're going to have a good football team whether those guys are here or not."

Veterans Ron Jessie and Monte Jackson and rookie Mark Manges have returned to the Rams' camp, but Isiah Robertson and Doug France remain absent with the team's preseason opener just nine days away.

Jackson and Jessie showed up Wednesday morning after Manges, a quarterback from Maryland, returned Tuesday night.

Jackson, a four-year veteran defensive back, left camp last Friday night and has asked to be traded. Manges also left Friday, reportedly saying he was homesick. Jessie, a wide receiver who has played eight professional seasons, walked out Saturday morning, asking that his contract be renegotiated.

Robertson and France walked out earlier this week, linebacker Robertson saying he "wanted to get his head together" and offensive tackle France saying he wasn't happy with the contract he signed recently. All four veterans involved are considered starters. "I'm glad they realized they made a mistake," Allen said of the three who returned. "I think this team has more ability than the teams I had in Los Angeles before, if all the players are here. I've never had this kind of experience '

Allen coached the Rams from 1966-1970 before going to Washington where he guided the Redskins for seven years.

Ironically, Duane Thomas showed up at the Rams' camp Wednesday to watch a controlled scrimmage between Los Angeles and the San Diego Chargers. Chatting amiably with a reporter, he said he is not negotiating with the Rams, but that he is having discussions with several other NFL teams. Thomas, once a Super Bowl star for the Dalls Cowboys, played under Allen in Washington.

Allen's penchant for picking up veterans was obvious again Wednesday, as cornerback Robert James signed a free agent contract. James, played six years with the Buffalo Bills and was accorded All-Pro honors. But mainly because of a knee injury, he has not played since 1974.

Vikings' White may not report

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Offensive guard Ed White says he may not report to the Minnesota Vikings training camp Thursday because it "does not look good" that he will come to contract terms with the club.

"I am willing not to play if it comes to that," said White, who walked out of camp last year over contract problems. "That's why I went through all the trouble of becoming a White, an all pro, did not receive any offers from other National Football League clubs after playing out his option and now has two choices under the NFL players agreement. He can play at 110 percent of his 1977 salary, reported to be about $65,-000, or take the last written offer made to him before he became a free agent. Playing at 110 percent would make him a free agent again next He cannot begin training with the club unless he signs.

Optimists

ANDREWS - The Midland Breakfast Optimist are still alive in the Sophomore playoff tournament here after dropping their first game of the meet Monday.

Wednesday night, the Optimist were leading the Odessa Police Department, 5-2, through five innings when rain forced a halt to the play. The game was to be resumed at 10 a.m. today. The winner was to meet Andrews at 1 p.m.

The Midland team lost an 11-0 decision to Odessa PD on Monday, but came back Tuesday to defeat New Deal, 5-3, behind the two-hit pitching of Randy Pepper. Pepper also had 11 strikeouts in the contest and Joe Carrasco and Chris Parker blasted homers.

In their next outing, Midland routed Odessa Tesco, 6-0, as Jay Motter tossed another two-hitter with 12 strikeouts. Jimmy Martin aided the cause with a homer.

Midland's Kiwanis is now out of the tournament. The Eastern League team dropped a 10-4 decision to Odessa Beets Diesel Monday, and then forfieted the second game against another Odessa team after a dispute. Kiwanis was trailing, 6-3, at the time.

Cowboys work long hours THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -

The Dallas Cowboys, in the longest practice sessions of summer camp so far, worked on goal line situations and held passing scrimmages Wednesday between the first offensive and defen-

The National Football League champions ran a total of 45 plays from scrimmage, with the first 15 being goal line carries by fullbacks Robert Newhouse and Scott Laidlaw and tailbacks Tony Dorsett and Doug Denni-

Running back Preston Pearson sat out Tuesday's two workouts with strains of his back, groin and hamstring, team officials said.

In passing drills that followed the goal line workout, the Cowboys' veteran defensive unit, working on its 4-0 alignment for passing situations, picked off five aerials — two each by Cliff Harris and Thomas Henderson

During the passing drill, tight end Billy Joe DuPree, already practicing with a fractured left thumb, had to leave the workout when he split the webbing between two fingers on his right hand while catching a pass. Although the injury required nine stitches, DuPree is not expected to miss much action, doctors said. Free agent kickers Ove Johansson and rookie Jay Sherrill, bidding to replace missing All-Pro kicker Efren Herrera, concluded the afternoon workout with field goal attempts. They did not distinguish themselves, observers said. Herrera still has not reported to the Cowboys' camp at California Lutheran College. He was due last Thursday evening and is being fined $500 for each day he is absent. Herrera wants to renegotiate his contract, which is in its option year.

Oil resale investigation to continue into 1979

HOUSTON (AP) - U.S. Attorney Tony Canales said Wednesday a grand jury investigation of allegations some lower priced crude oil is being resold as high priced "new oil" could continue into next year.

"We are not working on a target," he said. "I will not be rushing to return a premature indictment.'

Canales first revealed the investigation on June 22, saying attorneys from his office were being aided by FBI agents.

The investigation, he said, focuses on allegations that certain small companies have purchased "old" oil obtained from wells that were producing by 1972 and resold it as "new" oil from wells that began production after 1973. Canales said he has proof some quantities of crude purchased as old oil have been resold as new oil. Under federal two-tier price controls, the so-called old oil sells at about $5.25 while the so-called new oil brings about $11.90 a barrel. Canales said his use of the word "certain" when referring to the small companies under investigation is important in that "there is nothing imposed if fraud were proven. As had been indicated in June, Canales said any prosecution that might develop could be carried out under federal racketeering statutes in that they cover such crimes as bribery and mail fraud.

"I am not sure when we will get an indictment," he said, adding he is not ready as yet to present a case.

He said one assistant is now assigned to the investigation full time and another probably will be assigned. He said as many as six FBI agents are assigned to the probe and the number could be increased.

He described the investigation as strictly local, saying "We are in a unique situation in Houston because there are so many oil companies

"We are not going to harass the oil companies or anyone else," he said.

Shell reports earnings up

HOUSTON (AP) - Shell Oil Co. reported a 2 percent increase in second quarter earnings Wednesday, saying benefits from higher prices and sales volumes were largely offset by inflation induced increased costs. Refined products revenues were up 8 percent while chemical revenues were up 17 percent. Earnings the first half of the year were up 4 percent, an increase attributed to improved revenues for refined products and natural gas and reduced purchases of high cost foreign crude oil. The lower oil imports were said to have resulted from a refinery intake decline the first quarter because of major maintenance activity. Second quarter earnings of $179

Lightning hits again

. HOUSTON (AP) - Although it did not strike in the same place twice, for the second day in a row lightning hit a refinery storage tank Wednesday, causing a spectacular fire but no injuries.

The blaze at the Charter International Oil Co. near the Houston Ship Channel spread to four tanks containing highly flammable solvents, according to police.

Police Chief Harry Caldwell said a few residents who live close to the tank area were evacuated.

The Ship Channel area was in no danger, according to the captain of Cities Service Co. No. 1-CY State Communitized, project in the Winchester, North (Morrow) area of Eddy County, is waiting on calculated potential after running four-point tests in the Wolfcamp zone.

The Wolfcamp strike flowed 465,000 cubic feet of gas per day through an 11/64-inch choke, with tubing pressure of 909 pounds. A one-hour flow through an 18/64-inch choke produced gas at the rate of 710,000 cubic feet per day. A one hour flow through a 22/64-inch choke rated 1,030,000 cubic feet per day, and the final hour flowed gas at the rate of 1,300,000 cubic feet per day, through an 30/64inch choke with a tubing pressure of 842 pounds.

The production is through perforations from 9,133 to 9,167 feet. During the four-hour test, the well flowed 89 barrels of 60-gravity distillate and three barrels of water.

China hikes oil search

Agence France-Presse PEKING - China exploited

600 more wells producing oil and gas in the first quarter of this year than a year cearlier, New China News Agency reported Tuesday.

In the same period drilling operations were 70 percent up. New oil-bearing areas and a dozen gas deposites were found in southwest Szechuan Province, the agency said.

Reporting on foreign trade in the first quarter, NCNA said exports were up 28.5 percent and imports 60 percent. The export boost stemmed largely from oil, coal and cotton goods. Imports also jumped, with an increase in contracts with foreign firms for entire plants. China recorded a "small surplus" in foreign trade during the first half of the year.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -Standard Oil of Ohio signed a contract with the federal government Wednesday to build part of a pipeline to carry Alaskan oil from Long Beach to

But the project is still a long way from final approval. The major obstacle continues to be pollution rules for a tanker terminal at Long Beach, where the oil is to be shipped from

The agreement between the company and the U.S. Bureau of Land Management will allow construction of about 50 miles of pipeline segments on federal land in California, Arizona and New Mexico.

The pipeline could "alleviate the glut of oil on the West Coast" by making it available to the Midwest at

A.D. Dorris, vice president of the Sohio Transportation Co., the subsidiary building the project, said the pipeline's capacity will be 500,000 gallons

He said that is about equal to the amount of Alaskan oil now being shipped to California that California's refineries cannot handle The final pipeline will be 1,026 miles long, including about 800 miles of gas transmission lines not now being used by the owners, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Southern California Gas Co. Sohio needs to reach agreement with those companies on use of the pipe-Both federal and state approval is needed for Sohio to convert the gas pipeline to crude oil.

The company is also getting ap-proval to build connecting pipe over some private land, Dorris said. Sohio applied for the federal permit in September 1975. "This underscores the long lead time involved in getting these permits, and I think it raises serious questions about how the entire pro-cess could be shortened," said Robert Schaadt, a company spokesman in

No. 10 SMGSAU Tract 4, way, 8,900. yon)—Saxon Oil Co. No. 1 High court reverses retirement verdict

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After he dies, a man's adult children are not entitled to share in the civil service retirement benefits earned by the man's wife, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday in a San Antonio case.

The court opinion by Justice Price Daniel said such a case had never been considered before in Texas. Court records show Lillie Valdez had worked as federal civil service employee for over 29 years when she retired in 1971. For all but a year of her employment, she was married to Tomas Valdez Jr. In 1973, Valdez died, leaving Olga Ramirez and Tomas Valdez Jr., his adult children by a previous marriage as the heirs to his half of the community The children sued to recover a portion of Mrs. Valdez's retirement benefits, based on her late husband's community interest in the benefits. The trial judge awarded the children one-half of most of the retirement benefits that Mrs. Valdez had received since her husband's death and that she would receive in the future. The appeals court affirmed the decision, but the Supreme Court reversed the ruling. 'It would be contrary to the whole contract, policy. and plan of the Federal Civil Service Retirement Act for nearly one-half of Mrs. Valdez's monthly payments to be taken from her and awarded to her north and from most deceased husband's adult children," the Supreme
