Plan CC Campaign

Muleshoe Chamber Launches Membership, Financial Drive

Starting with a board resolution last week to effect re-evaluation of dues investments, action of the Muleshoe chamber of commerce has now assumed the proportions of a major rebuilding and expansion program. Seeking to muster more money and manpower and improve their facilities, chamber leaders have set projects to obtain dues increases and new memberships, with other plans expected to follow.

Meeting yesterday, chamber directors studied initial results of their efforts to obtain greater revenue from existing members. Over $800 in anticipated annual income was reported, with several firms doubling the amount of their investment in their "community-building" organization.

Charles Lewis, president said, "Our chamber of commerce has been involved in so many good things happening in the Muleshoe area through the years, and we believe the people will recognize its value and respond to this urgent call for more support." The officers and directors themselves are making personal contact with members seeking dues increases.

A campaign for new members will be launched Monday under the leadership of Eddie Faust, membership chairman.

"A big city can get along with only a fraction of its citizens involved in civic affairs, but a small town needs ALL of its people working together for the common good," Faust said in announcing the drive. Workers will seek to enlist every business and as many individuals and farmers as possible in the organization.

The board will meet again at dinner at 6 p.m. tomorrow night to review their progress and interview an applicant for the manager's position, being vacated by Roy Davis on June 1.

The need for better office facilities was discussed Wednesday, and the group voted to begin monthly payments to eliminate remaining indebtedness on the present property and move toward larger, improved quarters. They also decided to put up for sale a 17-acre tract of land owned by the chamber three miles east of the city.

Official Count Little Changed From Original

Bailey county Democrats turned out in fair numbers (around 1500) and picked Don Cihak as county judge over Calvin P. Calvert by the slim margin of 693 to 654, and named Merriott as the first district clerk for the county. She got 944 to Thursie Reid's 408. (District and county clerk posts are being separated for the first time.)

R. P. McCall retained his seat as county commissioner, defeating two opponents, Charlie J. Tiller and C. C. Snitker. McCall got 206 votes, Tiller 94 and Snitker 55.

Those were the only races which saw opposition. All other (Continued on page 6)

Dog Days Due; Bargain Fees!

"Bargain rabies vaccination and a $1 city fee which will give dog and cat owners a $3 package was announced Wednesday by City Manager Albert Field and veterinarian Jerry Gleason. Regular fee is $4.

The "bargain" day has been set for Thursday, May 19, from 1 until 5 p.m. at the city hall. License fee will be $1 and Dr. Gleason will cut vaccination costs for the four-hour period to $2.

But the bargain will be offered only that afternoon and dogs caught wandering around without both the city license tag and the vaccination tag will be picked up by the city pound after that date, Field warned.

Commissioners Stiffen Rules for Indigent Aid

Transients who drop into Bailey county and apply for county welfare will find the commissioners turning a cold ear to their pleas unless those seeking money have been in the county at least six months. And starting right now, the commissioners will not provide funds for maternity cases, regardless.

Non-Farmers Now On Farmers Home Borrowing List

Residents of Muleshoe are now eligible for housing loans through the Rural Housing Program of Farmers Home Administration.

Last fall Congress passed legislation making loans available to farmers and non-farmers in towns up to 5500 population. This information comes from Clinton Kennedy, the local county supervisor.

The law provides that funds to finance the new program will be furnished by private lenders with the government guaranteeing the loans.

Another change permits loans for the purchase of previously occupied houses. Also loan funds can be used to build a new house or to remodel or enlarge an existing building.

A farm owner can borrow money to build a tenant house or a barn in addition to building the loans.

Junior Olympics Set for Grades This Weekend

Fourth annual "Junior Olympics," an intra-mural track and field meet for the three Muleshoe grade schools, will be held Friday and Saturday at the Benny Douglas football stadium, it was announced Wednesday.

Preliminaries for track events will start at 9 a.m. Saturday with seven different events slated.

More than 450 ribbons will be awarded in addition to a trophy. Admission will be 25 cents for each of the preliminaries and the finals.

Third, fourth and fifth grades from Mary DeShazo, Richland Hills and Hilltop will compete for ribbons with the top total score as the basis for the awarding of the trophy.

The sixth and seventh grades from junior high also will compete for ribbons.

Specifically the two orders read:

"1. Effective May 9, residential requirements for people moving into the county will be fixed at six months in order to qualify such people for county welfare assistance. It is thought that this policy will enable the county to do a better job of helping those of our people who must have help, and

"2. Effective May 9, it will be the policy of the county not to assist in maternity cases.

The court also awarded a contract to Jake Diel Dirt & Paving Co. to pave the new parking lot on the courthouse lawn at a cost of $1.20 per square yard for 1-1/2 inch topping. The cost will be paid out of the courthouse and jail fund, the work to be done immediately.

Junior High Band And Choir Give Annual Concert

Muleshoe Junior high school presented its annual band and choir concert with "The Mikado" as a featured part of the program. Directors were Bob Breckenridge and Leasel Richardson.

Taking part in the Mikado were Jim Mardis, who portrayed the Mikado; Larry Meason, Leland Farris, Stan Hickerson, Dana Damron, Esther Alvarado, Cathy Mardis, and Rebecca Phelps. Pianist was Nelda Finley, and junior choir formed the chorus of men and women of Titipu.

The sixth grade choir presented five selections, "The Fisherman's Farewell," "Loch Lomond," "A Capital Ship," "America the Beautiful," and "The Sound of Music."

The sixth grade band was presented in "Choral Medley," "The Clarinet Polka" with a clarinet ensemble; "Española Waltz," and "Old McDonald Swings."

Senior Citizens' Week Proclaimed

Bailey county by proclamation of his honor the mayor will pay honor to its senior citizens the week of May 23 with a luncheon and special programs, it was announced Wednesday by the Rev. J. Frank Peery, advisor to Muleshoe Area Senior Citizens Organization (MASCO).

Said W. B. LeVeque, Muleshoe mayor: Muleshoe has always recognized the existing or potential contribution of Texas' older population and realizes the debt owed by all Texans for their role in building Texas and Muleshoe into the great state and city they are today.

"We must utilize this vast reservoir and talent, ability and experience through which our senior citizens can continue to play in our everyday lives as: Parents, uncles and aunts; older brothers or sisters; cherished friends; counselors; and fellow citizens.

"Since not everyone is blessed with the gift of long life, those who are so endowed should occupy a place of special honor among us.

"Therefore I, as mayor of Muleshoe, do hereby designate the month of May, 1966, as SENIOR CITIZEN MONTH in Muleshoe and urge all persons to join in honoring their fellow citizens who have attained the years of counseling among us, and further urge everyone to participate in observance, 1966."

Mr. Peery said the theme for this year's observance will be "AGE IN ACTION" and ministers in town will be asked to mention the theme from their pulpits Sunday, May 22. The same theme will be used Monday, May 23 when MASCO holds its regular monthly meeting in the form of a luncheon in Fellowship Hall of First Metho-

It is with a grateful heart that I write these words of "THANKS" to the citizens of Bailey County.

To me, it is a great honor to be given the confidence of my fellow-man. There were those of you who drove long distances to the polls, those among the elderly who made a special effort to go, and those who took time from their work on such a busy day to exercise our privilege of voting.

I also appreciate the words of encouragement throughout the campaign and the warm wishes after the election.

Truly, I have had a wonderful experience in meeting so many of the people of our county and have enjoyed the hospitality shown me.

As your District Clerk, I will perform the duties of the office to the best of my ability and will always try to be of service in any way possible.

Again, my sincere "THANKS".

Mahon to Plead For Irrigation For High Plains

On May 10 Representative George Mahon appeared before the House Committee on Interior to press for inclusion of the High Plains of Texas in a proposed study of the possibility of supplementing the water resources of the posed study of the possibility of supplementing the water resources of the southwestern United States with water from the Pacific Northwest. The Committee will be conducting hearings on legislation dealing with this subject.

Congressman Mahon explained that a bill is pending in Congress which provides for a study of the feasibility of transporting surplus water from the Columbia River in the Pacific Northwest to the Colorado River, which supplies water to several states, including Arizona and California. "A study of this type is necessary," Mahon said, "because the river's water flow is not adequate to meet fully the present needs of this southwestern area, and there is alarm as to how long-range needs can be met. This has triggered the strong demand in the Arizona-California area for the study."

"As the bill is now written, our area would not be included in this study, but there has been a well supported move from people in the High Plains of Texas to include our area, and I am working toward this objective. For many years I have been concerned, as have others in West Texas, with the need for expanding our water resources. Economic growth in the High Plains, as well as in many other areas of our nation, depends in large part upon the securing of an assured water supply. We must seek to explore every avenue of approach to this vital problem, and we, therefore, should be included in this study. For this reason, I am appearing before the Interior Committee to urge our inclusion."

Mahon pointed out that there is sharp opposition to the inclusion of the High Plains. For various reasons the seven states most directly associated with the Colorado River oppose a broadening of the study. Many officials from the Pacific Northwest oppose the study for any of the southwestern area, the Congressman said. "They say that if industry in the Southwest needs water, then industry should move to the Northwest, where the water is. Officials also want to be assured that the transportation of such surplus waters will not ultimately create a water shortage for them." He also pointed out that some Interior Department officials are skeptical about the participation of Texas in the study, claiming that the water would have to be brought over the Rocky Mountains and that the expense would be prohibitive.

"The fact remains," Mahon said, "in spite of these protestations, that the underground water table in the Phoenix-Tucson area is receding and that area is confronted with a growing water problem, which must be solved. The water table is also receding in the High Plains of Texas, and many believe, as I do, that over the long pull we must find a way to bring surface water from outside the area to meet our expanding needs. Not only does the Southwest need water for its emerging industry, but it also must have water for agricultural purposes. It may be that transporting water from the Columbia to the Colorado and from there to Texas is not the answer, but I feel we would at least have the opportunity to determine the feasibility of the idea."

Representative Mahon also enumerated other ideas which present possible solutions to the problem. He explained that a number of years ago he tried unsuccessfully to have a study made of the possibility of bringing water from the Missouri River basin to the Texas plains. "I still believe that this proposal holds promise for the long-range future. Some people believe that an even better source would be the Mississippi River, which is about 600 miles from the High Plains."

AGGRESSIVE GLACIER
GREYMOUTH, N. Z. (AP)—For years the Franz Josef Glacier, on the west coast of New Zealand's South Island, has been retreating. Tourist interests lamented because this glacier is a most spectacular one, dropping steeply from alpine regions to only 600 feet above sea level, where it can easily be visited by tourists.

During the last winter the glacier ended its long retreat up the valley and began pushing forward again at a rate of nearly three feet a day. Latest measurements by geologists show that it has speeded up still further and is rumbling forward at the remarkable pace, for a glacier, of 5 1/2 feet daily, engulfing everything in its path.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on the weather more or less in his letter this week.

Dear editor:
According to an article in a rain-soaked newspaper which I dried out on a rope on the back porch a while back and am just now getting around to reading because I was tired of having it hit me in the face, a lot of people are wondering if there has been a permanent change in the world's climate.

The article points out that a drouth in the U.S. Northeast is the worst in several hundred years; that the worst winter storms in history hit the Midwestern plains this year; that sunny California was hit by floods; Texas was swamped by rains; drouths have hit India, Australia and South Africa; a Siberian-type cold wave invaded Northern England this spring; torrential rains and floods have hit Brazil; a water shortage has developed in the Philippines, etc.

As a result, after looking at all these reports, some people are concluding that the world's climate is undergoing a drastic change and are hunting for scientific reasons to explain it.

People who think that way have been listening to too many weather reports and not spending enough time looking out their windows.

As far as I can tell, drastic changes in the weather have been going on all my life.

A year's weather is about like a session of Congress. You know when it'll start and about when it'll end, but you don't know what's going to happen in between, and trying to calculate this year's action by either one on what happened last year and the years before is the best way I know to get wet and taxed simultaneously when you least expect it.

The other day I saw the long-range weather forecasts for the month of May in two different farm magazines, and one said May around here will be dry, the other said it will be wet.

This convinces me that if a man wants to get at least one accurate forecast he'd better read two magazines.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
