Arabs attack PLO Paris offices

The PLO official, 40-year-old Izziddin Qalaq, was slain with 16 bullets, police said. He had been in Paris as the PLO representative since 1972 and was known as a supporter of PLO chief Yasser Arafat in his struggle against Iragi-backed extremists who reject any idea of negotiations with

The second PLO employee died after a grenade explosion blew off his leg, police said. An anonymous caller later claimed Palestinian radicals were responsible.

One of the raiders fled soon after the initial attack and was caught minutes later, police said. After a tense two-hour siege, the second was overcome by employees of the Arab League's Paris office, in the same building as the PLO, was forced to release a hostage and then was turned over to French officers, police said. The two terrorists, one with blood running down the side of his head.

Hill country floods kill 15 persons

By GREG THOMPSON

BANDERA, Texas (AP) - Floodravaged residents of the Central Texas Hill Country awakened to more rain this morning as the death toll from the two-day torrent reached at Kerrville policeman Bill Fackelman said that scattered reports came in "all night long" about deaths and missing persons "We've got nine (bodies) out of Bandera, four out of Comfort and two out of Center Point," Fackelman said. He said at least nine persons were missing from Center Point and Comfort.

Overnight rains up to 12 inches added to 20-inch amounts that fell beginning early Wednesday morn-

Hundreds of persons were evacuated from low-lying residences and several summer camps along the swollen Guadalupe and Medina Rivers.

Waters began receding late Wednesday and many evacuees returned to their homes, only to be moved again this morning.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked that all three counties be declared disaster areas and made eligible for emergency assistance funds and programs.

Claribel Lovelace, 80, built her sturdy rock house in 1934, a respectful 700 yards from the sometimes stormy Medina River. On Wednesday the Medina paid a terrifying visit — with eight feet of churning, muddy flood-breath for two hours. But she sur-

"My mouth was against the ceiling and my hair was in the water," said the frightened Mrs. Lovelace, who was plucked from the water by rescuers in an Army helicopter. "I only had six inches of air to breathe.

Entrances to the LBJ Ranch near Stonewall were blocked by the raging floodwaters of the Pedernales River. Rising waters failed to reach the house, but came within feet of the stone fence circling the family cemetery where the late President Lyndon

B. Johnson is buried. The water ripped through Clint Dowell's automobile dealership about 150 yards from where the Medina normally flows, tossing dozens of new and used cars around like fishing corks and demolishing the building.

When the waters receded, Dowelling inventory was scattered up and down the Medina or stacked like cordwood in the mud-covered parking lot. He estimated the damage at more than

Bandera's lucrative Medina River dude ranches were the hardest hit. Army helicopters rescued many vacationers from trees or rooftops, among them the 1977 Miss USA, Kim Tomes of Houston

A spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety said the list of confirmed dead included two women at Bandera, two men at Comfort, and three adults and a 12-year-old boy at Center Point, between Comfort and Kerrville

The Medina reached a record flood stage, cresting at 45 feet. The previous record was 43 feet set in 1919. The usual level of the river is 10 feet.

In Comfort, police said the Guada the town. The local football stadium was under five feet of water. As the flood began to recede about noon, cars and trucks were standing on end, tangled in lifeless power lines. Appliances floated downriver.

Thunderstorms wet Permian Basin

While Midland is miles from the Texas coast and even farther from Canada, weather from both areas combined over the Permian Basin early today to form a cloud cover and bring some rainfall.

With rain being so scarce this summer, Midlanders were not objecting to some relief from sunny, hot days. Rainfall amounts varied throughout the Permian Basin. While Midland College reported receiving .25 inch of rain, the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport received only a trace. Texas Electric

Service Co. reported .48 inch at its station in east Midland, .23 inch in Odessa and .81 inch at the Sprayberry switching station located south of

Area towns reporting some rainfall including Rankin and Big Lake. Big Spring had .10 inch. While other cities received no rainfall, overcast skies were reported

The cloud cover should lower temperatures somewhat Friday, as the weatherman said the mercury should hit only in the low 80s. Low tonight should be in the middle 60s.

High for Monday was 93 degrees, according to the weatherman. Record high for that day is 106 degrees set in 1944. Record low for today is 60 degrees set in 1971, but today's low was much warmer at 71 degrees.

More cloudiness and rain is expected through Friday, the weatherman said. Today's 60 percent chance of rain will be decreasing to 30 percent tonight and Friday with cloudiness continuing through Friday.

Winds should be easterly tonight at 10 to 15 mph, becoming gusty in areas of thunderstorms, according to the weather service.

SHOWERS predominate the National Weather Service forecast today and Friday, with precipitation predicted for parts of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi and for the East Coast, from Maine to Maryland and the western parts of Virginia and North Carolina (AP Laserphoto Map)

DENSE CLOUDS associated with thunderstorms are seen throughout the Southwest in today's satellite cloud picture, recorded at 4 a.m. EDT. The cloud line that extends from western Tennessee to the eastern Great Lakes is associated with a cold front. Also visible is variable cloud cover over southern Georgia and Florida. (AP Laserphoto)

Begin repeats Israel's refusal to meet Sadat's conditions

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin says he is convinced President Anwar Sadat wants peace "but on his conditions," and Israel is not going to meet those conditions

Begin told a public meeting Wednesday that to meet Sadat's demand for the return of all territory taken in the 1967 war would put all of Israel within cannon shot of the Arabs and place the Jewish state "in direct danger of being destroyed.'

Turning to Sadat's offer to guarantee Israel's security, he said it would be "the highest expression of irresponsibility to rely on such guarantees instead of real security.

Begin said the world news media have "suddenly discovered" that Sadat "zig-zags, frm the point of view oof peace negotiations, and that he proves intransigent, and that his policies may be an obstacle to peace.

'That is the beginning of the reopening of the eyes of public opinion," the prime minister declared.

Until two weeks ago, he continued, the foreign press reported that "Egypt wants peace, President Sadat is the peacemaker; Israel does not want peace, Israel wants land, and I am an obstacle to peace.

He said that was a "travesty of justice and a distortion of truth.

In Cairo, a top Egyptian policymaker said Egypt would continue peace negotiations with the United States as an intermediary but would not agree to direct negotiations with Israel because the Israelis are "negotiating in bad faith.

Dr. Osama el Baz, who helped draft Sadat's speech to the Israeli Parliament last November, said Israeli policies threaten "the peace option in general" and that if Israel shows no sign of flexibility by mid-September, Egypt may "consider a reassessment of its position.

Senate approves compromise plan of Texas and to my desk a series of

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senators today approved, 28-0, a compromise bill giving Texans $491.4 million worth of tax relief over the next three years by repealing the state sales tax on gas and electric bills and raising inheritance tax exemptions

House members planned to vote on the measure when they returned from a long lunch break at 3 p.m.

The two chambers were expected to set up a joint conference committee on a package of constitutional amendments (HJR1) easing property taxes, which won House approval Wednesday night, 113-20.

Senators had approved their own different version of the measure.

Also pending in the House was a bill making a $450 million promise to reimburse school districts for revenue lost to property tax cutting provisions of the constitutional amendments package

The $491.4 million tax relief compromise bill approved by the Senate was signed by all 10 members of a conference committee Wednesday. It abolishes the 4 percent state sales tax on gas and electric bills and raises the inheritance tax exemption from $25,-000 per heir to $200,000 per estate, rising to $300,000 in 1985.

Cities could also repeal their sales taxes on utility bills

The school tax reimbursement bill is part of a compromise engineered by House Speaker Bill Clayton to secure approval of the constitutional amendments package

Clayton, who promoted the special session on tax relief after Californians cut their own taxes through Proposition 13, bargained and persuaded to salvage the constitutional amendments.

Some said his prestige was at stake after the House twice refused to produce the 100 votes needed to send the package to the Senate.

"I am confident that through the legislative process, which at times is slow and cumbersome, members of the Legislature will send to the people proposals in which they can take pride," Briscoe said in a statement after the House voted Wednesday

"It appears a consensus is building in the Legislature, and I am pleased to see such a consensus develop," he

Clayton gained some liberals and lost only a few conservatives in the compromising that brought success to his constitutional amendments package. A major change added language requiring the Legislature to establish statewide standards for appraising real estate for taxation and creating countywide appraisal offices. The new provision embraces the essentials of Orange Rep. Wayne Pe-about greater uniformity in property taxation throughout the state. Rep. W.S. Heatly, D-Paducah, objected strongly to putting the "Peveto language in the guts of the Constitution, where we'll never get rid of it veto's thrice-defeated bill to bring in the state.' "I'll tell you, he (Peveto) is smarter than he looks," Heatly said. Peveto just grinned.

and it will bankrupt every landowner

"I suggest you look at it again and wipe off your glasses," said the constitutional amendment's sponsor, Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad.

Chief provisions of the House-approved constitutional amendments Drop the rarely obeyed mandate that intangible property, such as stocks and bonds, be taxed. - Require the Legislature to exempt up to $10,000 of the assessed value of each homestead from school taxes, plus another $10,000 exemption for the elderly and disabled. The school district reimbursement fund would finance the $10,000 exemption for the elderly and disabled and a $3,500 exemption for other homeowners, Von Dohlen said.

 Tax agricultural land on its income-producing ability, not its real estate value. The school district reimbursement fund would have $125 million for this purpose.

- Exempt one car per family from property taxes.

- Limit the growth of state spending every two years to the percentage by which Texans' total personal income has grown. Excluded from the limit would be spending to reimburse school districts for property tax

- Require an absolute majority of the Legislature — not just of those voting - to pass tax bills or cut exemptions.

- Mandate public notice and hearings before local governments can increase revenue from property taxes, including through revalua-

No longer in the House package are provisions allowing voters to roll back property tax increases and setting up statewide initiative and referendum - the method Californians used to cut their taxes. Also cut from the proposal was a ban on state personal and corporation income taxes. Clayton, who started his compromise efforts Tuesday night, said if the measure goes to conference, "I am going to appoint conferees that will stick hard and fast" to what the House approved.

The school district reimbursement fund bill and the $491.4 million measure cutting sales and inheritance taxes would spend close to $1 billion of the state's expected surplus and growth revenue.

But they would leave $2 billion for new spending by the 1979 Legislature and the new governor.

Jurors assess 99-year sentence in rape case

A Midland County jury Wednesday night assessed a 99-year prison sentence against Perry Lance Curtis, convicted earlier Wednesday of the aggravated rape at a convenience store clerk June 22.

Longtime courthouse observers said the sentence was the heaviest they can remember a Midland County jury assessing.

The seven-woman, four-man jury took less than an hour to find Curtis guilty, but deliberated about four hours before assessing the sentence.

During testimony Wednesday, the prosecution introduced, over repeated defense objections, a confession Curtis, 19, gave Midland police.

In the statement, Curtis said he originally decided to take the 22-yearold clerk into the country and leave. her so he could come back and rob the store. However, he said, he later decided to rape her. The only major area in which his statement varied from the victim's testimony was that Curtis claimed he kept the pistol in his pocket during the ride to the country, after he showed it to her in the store. In his statement, Curtis claimed he then laid the pistol down beside the victim's head during the. rape. The victim had said he kept the gun pointed at her the entire time.

The prosecution also introduced into evidence the pistol used in the

The defense contended that the confession had not been given voluntarily. Four defense witnesses attempted to establish an alibi for Curtis.

The trial began Tuesday in 238th District Court. Assistant district attorneys Charles Seltzer and Richard Davis presented the prosecution's case, and Robert Evans was Curtis'

The Palestine Liberation Organization in Beirut, Lebanon, earlier claimed responsibility for this morning's Tel Aviv attack, in which a bomb exploded under a stall selling T-shirts and children's clothes in the open-air Carmel market. Israel Radio said 26 of the 49 reported injured were seriously hurt. Police earlier reported one person had been killed, but this later was said to have been a mistake

Blood-soaked T-shirts and children's clothing were strewn about the maze-like alleys in the center of the market, and police strung barbedwire around the area and collected bits of shrapnel from the explosive

Vita Meshulam, the owner of the stall where the blast occurred, said the area had been crowded with shop-"I was standing across the way, and suddenly I felt a blast on my legs, but I wasn't hurt," Meshulam said. "I went running over to see what I could Meshulam and others in the area said they had given first aid to the wounded before the ambulances arrived. He said he had briefly noticed a black bag under his table before the explosion but hadn't thought about what it might be.

Police detained a number of Arab suspects from a sector of the market where many Palestinians from the occupied Gaza Strip come with produce, and Israel Radio said a crowd of angry Jews shouted, "Give them to us! Death to the enemy!

The police restrained the crowd and took the suspects away for question-

In Beirut, a terse statement distributed by the PLO took responsibility for the blast but did not name the specific guernilla group that planted the explosives. A spokesman at the PLO-run news agency WAFA, said a detailed statement will be issued later. The PLO is made up of the six major groups of the Palestinian guerrilla movement.

Israeli Interior Minister Yosef Burg went to the scene of the bombing and said, "It's another example of how, instead of working for cooperation and understanding between the peoples, they are sowing hate."

The last serious terrorist explosion in Israel was at another open-air market, in the Mahane Yehuda quarter in Jerusalem, on June 29. Two were killed and 47 wounded in that attack, which was the 20th of the year in Israel.

Before today's bombing in Tel Aviv, 13 persons had died and more than 120 had been wounded in bombings in Israel. One of them occurred at the Carmel Market in July 1977, leaving 11 persons wounded.

The worst terror incident in Israel's history occurred last March 11 when seaborne guerrillas commzndeered a bus and directed it down the Haifa-Tel Aviv highway. Thirty-five Israelis died when the attack ended in a flaming explosion just north of Tel Aviv.

In London last Friday, someone tossed a bomb under the limousine of the Iraqi ambassador to Britain. He narrowly escaped injury, although two passersby were hurt. Police apprehended a woman suspect. In the Monday attack in Paris, a terrorist held hostages at the Iraqi Embassy for 81/2 hours. The Iraq news agency said he demanded the release of the woman held in Britain. When he surrendered, Iraqi security guards opened fire on him and French police. One policeman and an Iraqi guard were killed, and the terrorist and three other persons were wounded. An embassy guard was wounded in the initial terrorist attack. In Karachi, Pakistan, on Wednesday, two men identified as South Yemenis shot and wounded a diplomat and police guard at the Iraqi Embassy. Police said they killed one of the attackers and captured the other. Terrorists also struck today in Israel, exploding a bomb in an open-air market. Police said one person was killed and about four dozen wound-

Today's claim that the same group was responsible for both the Qalaq assassination and the attack on the Iraqi Embassy in Paris confused the general interpretation of the week's events in this shady underground

Guerrilla sources in Beirut, Leba non, had said that the embassy raid was staged by pro-Arafat PLO guerrillas striking against Iraqi support of the radicals. Qalaq, born in the city of Haifa before it became part of the new Israel in 1948, held a chemical engineering doctorate from the University of Poitiers, south of Paris. He was described as an urbane, soft-spoken man, fluent in French.

The moderate PLO representative in London, Said Hammami, was assassinated in his office Jan. 4 and Scotland Yard detectives expressed belief Palestinian extremists were responsible.

Threat of explosion averted when gas pipeline ruptures

A liquified petroleum gas pipeline ruptured at about 9:30 a.m. today on the Midland Polo Club grounds in North Midland, when the sharp edge of a front-end loader dug into it, said spokesmen for the Midland City Fire Department which responded to the call with one fire engine.

Threat of an explosion ended as Mobile Oil Pipeline Co. officials moved swiftly to cut off the supply of liquified petroleum gas to the eight-

Officials considered evacuating the area southwest of the site of the reputure, which occurred on the Polo Club grounds just beyond Road 868. How-ever, both Midland police and Midland County sheriff's deputies indicated no evacuation was necessary since the danger of a potential fire was minimal.

County employee Sammy Garcia was operating the piece of equipment when he struck the pipe while burying a horse which had been shot after receiving a broken leg. "We just a hit a line. I could feel it, and I could see that white vapor shooting straight up

He explained that when liquified petrleum gas escapes to the surface it becomes a gas and could cause an explosion. "It appears we were able to get in there and repair the line quickly. We had our Kermit liquified petroleum gas production plant shut down. We also had our valves closed in order to isolate this line," he noted. The horse was being buried with county equipment on the grounds "as a precauitionary health measure," said Albert Stewart, superintendent of county roads and bridges.

Odessa police still seek woman

Odessa Police Department detectives still are searching for a 19-yearold Odessa woman who was reported missing on the evening of July 20.

Catherine Ann "Fifi" Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy of Odessa, was reported missing by her father. Chief of Detectives Capt. Jack Fillivaw, said police have "checked a bunch of leads and done more aerial search (by helicoptor) since last

However, police indicated they have no further leads to produce concrete evidence concerning the woman's disappearance.

Miss Murphy was last seen leaving a local night club, The Other Place, located at 815 N. Grandview, on the night of July 19. She left the nightclub with her boyfriend, drove him to his home and left there shortly ater midnight.

Police first launched the helicoptor search for the girl and her car the day after she was reported missing. Eventually, the car was found in a parking lot at 27th and Grandview.

Murphy described his daughter as being 5 feet 2 inches tall with brow-nish blond, shoulder-length hair. She weighs approximately 120 pounds.

Police request anyone having seen or knowing any information concerning the whereabouts of Miss Murphy to call Fillyaw at the Odessa Police Department.

Tighten the screws

Unfortunately, there was more symbolism than substance behind the heartening headlines announcing President Carter's decision to limit exports to the Soviet Union in reprisal for the dissidents' trial and harassment of U.S. citizens in Moscow.

All Mr. Carter did was to cancel a $2 million computer system and require the licensing of future sales of oil production equipment. He merely reserved the right to review such sales in the future, but canceled nothing now.

This is a mosquito bite which will anger the Russians but not in!ure them. Too bad. Retribution by the United States should hurt enough to constitute punishment for present misbehavior and instruct against future misdeeds.

Still, it is encouraging that a donothing president where the Russians are concerned has, at least, done something to underscore his rhetoric and get attention. As has been stated here previously, words don't mean much to the Soviets. They understand action.

Mr. Carter's defiant little gesture is all the more disappointing when compared with the punitive options available to him. As a starter, he might consider the advice of California Sen. Alan Cranston, the Senate whip: "We are way ahead of the Russians technologically. These are things they badly need, badly want from us, and can't get elsewhere. That's where we should hit them."

High on the list of things the Soviets badly need and want from us is $144 million worth of plans and equipment for manufacturing high-quality oil drilling bits. The Russians need our oil know-how to tap their Siberian fields in order to earn badly needed foreign exchange through petroleum exports; otherwise, the West doesn't need or want much of what trade the USSR has to offer. Moreover, the Russians need our machine tools and capital goods to boost their sluggish economy, which is dragged down by their massive military establishment which consumes 12 percent of their gross national product.

Sen. Cranston is correct. The Soviets would know they'd been hit if we denied them this technology.

Other screws the President should consider tightening to dizement in Africa, Asia and the Middle East include cutting off credit which is helping to finance foreign adventures and warmaking potential. Moscow now owes Western banks and governments approximately $16 billion and is seeking additional loans.

Finally, as Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., urges, the administration should try to change the site of the 1980 Moscow Olympics, which the Russians already are exploiting for their own nationalistic ends.

Meanwhile, the Soviets themselves, in their usual blatant fashion, have focused attention on the real rationale for U.S. sanctions against them. They have accused this country and the West of violating the Helsinki accords which assure human rights. Moscow's signature on this international covenant makes its persecution of dissidents a legitimate international concern and, therefore, not an interference in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union.

The Carter administration has unrealistically sought to avoid linking repugnant Soviet actions with detente. And even though linkage is unavoidable, as recent events have proved, the President at this point would be well advised to have the more effective concept of leverage replace his preoccupation with linkage.

What is needed now is a longrange, credible U.S. strategy which makes maximum use of this country's ability to influence Kremlin policy through punishments as well as rewards.

The U.S. is in a position to exact a price - perhaps an unacceptable one - for Soviet misdeeds and it is foolish if it fails

5A airplane, parallel mine in every way, and I am certain if the government looks on the Lockheed loan favorably they will find a way to get me off the hook, too."

This is how Harvey tells his story: "About a year ago, a section of the Defense Department was having a farewell party for one of their employees who was leaving to join an aerospace company. They asked me to develop a new type of sandwich which would give the party a big boost. But they wanted me to bring it in for a reasonable price.

put my designers to work on it, and we came up with 'The Goldfinger,' which consisted of boneless all-white meat, deep-fried chicken fingers topped with cole slaw, Russsian dressing, and pickle slices on a double-twist seeded roll. We estimat-ed we could make the sandwich for $1.25 each, which would include a reasonable profit of 10 percent.

'The food committee giving the party approved the design and ordered 150 sandwiches to be delivered in 30 days on the afternoon of the

"I ordered the ingredients, but a few days later I got a call from a secretary. She said that while the Army liked the sandwich as it was, the Navy was wondering if, instead of a double-twist seeded roll, the sandwich could be made with rye bread.

"I explained that regular rye bread would not be able to support the weight of the chicken fingers, and I would have to add a heavier rye bread with a reiforced crust, which would add another 20 cents to the sandwich.

"She said it didn't matter because the Navy said they wouldn't come to the party if they had to eat double-twist seeded rolls.

"A week went by and the secretary called again. She said the Air Force had just got around to studying 'The Goldfinger' sandwich, and they wanted something more sophisticated than just chicken fingers with cole slaw and dressing and pickle slices. Was it possible to add either a slice of ham or a slice of cheese to the sandwich to give it a better taste?

"I told her it was always possible, but if you're going to add to a sandwich you have to pay for it. It meant hiring an extra person to cut the ham or cheese, researching where the best place was to put it, testing it and retraining my employees in an entirely new sandwich concept. I couldn't see how I could bring 'The Goldfinger' in for less than $2.25.

"She said it was perfectly okay as long as the sandwich did the job. "A week went by and I had a visit from the secretary. She told me the Army personnel in the department felt that 'The Goldfinger' should also have lettuce and tomato on it. I explained that if you added lettuce and tomato you would have to have larger slices of rye bread and heavier caraway seeds, which would bring the cost of the sandwich to $2.95.

"She approved it, but the next day I got a call saying that because of the overrun they wanted to cut back on the order of sandwiches from 150 to 50 and asked if I would eliminate the chicken altogether. "I told them I was stuck with $300 worth of merchandise and would have to lay off four employees because of the cancellation of 'The Goldfingers.' They said that while the Defense Department would recommend a loan to tide me over, it was up to Congress to decide whether I would get it or not. But first they had to get the Lockheed problem out of the way."

NICK THIMMESCH No 'free lunch' in salons where cocaine is sniffed

WASHINGTON-Dr. Peter Bourne's little series of sins in writing a forged prescription for a "recreational" drug has stirred a fuss here among those who see themselves as part of the "drug culture" or at least understand it.

The Washington Post in particular has gone into a high over this story. While its editorial page scolded Dr. Bourne and coldly rejected his alibis, the news pages have run acres about how we are becoming a nation of pot smokers, and users of other drugs which provide escape.

There was a time when marijuana was outright considered bad, probably because "reefers" were smoked mostly by Mexicans, other Latins, and, as they were called in those days, "Negroes." But then came the youth revolution, and ways to stay out of Vietnam, and make political statements like smoking pot in public or maybe even blowing it in a professor's face. Those were the Jerry Rubin days.

Marijuana thus became the proprietory interest of the young, white bourgeoisie, and heavens, as one liberal writer moaned at the time, "Those are our kids" (who tore Chicago apart during Hubert Humphrey's hour of agony in 1968, and got beat up by the cops in the

Ah, time passes, and the tumultuous youth of 1968 are now 30 or beyond and some are in Jimmy Carter's administration, drawing in big money and puffs of marijuana smoke as well. Some have even gone to "the champagne of illicit drugs" — cocaine, as Dr. Bourne himself re-

Nick Thimmesch

Now the Post labors over the dilemma of these poor young souls in the White House and on Capitol Hill. They want their marijuana and cocaine along with a high-salary and the power to lay expensive programs on the American people. But they don't want their reputations damaged.

The "different world" outside Washington, one such soul is quoted as saying, will think "that a bunch of wild-eyed freaks on acid are running the country. They'll say, 'No wonder the government's screwed up.' It'll destroy credibility for our programs.

Tsk, tsk, and too bad. If these aging youths who raged against the double standards in the Nixon Administration now think they can live and work by the same measure, we do indeed have a mushy-minded, naughty scout troop presided over by a naive scout-

The primary question isn't whether the youth culture graduates can re-tain their vices while in the employ of the most celebrated born again citizen in the country. No, the basic question is, are grown-up people honest enough to admit that the steady use of marijuana and other drugs eventually inflicts a penalty on the body and mind? Ever since The National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse issued an ambivalent report in 1972, the prints have tipped toward pieces on how marijuana isn't addictive or dangerous. It isn't addictive, but, taken in large amounts or frequently can be quite dangerous, as an array of medical specialists has testified

Those who defend marijuana or want to legalize it, usually admit that the long-term consequences of its use aren't determined. But there are studies galore showing that, used in substantial amounts, marijuana can cause brain damage, including psychosis; renders its users more susceptible to infectious disease; can contribute to lung and bronchial disease and early emphysemia; can lower the sperm count in males and retard sexual development in pubescent boys.

This whole story was brought out in hearings conducted by the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security back in 1974, but the consequent report was ignored by the "big"

media. One of the best arguments made in that report came from Prof. W. D. M. Paton of Oxford University who pointed out that the body eliminates the drug, alcohol, in a few hours, but holds the chemicals in marijuana for weeks or months; that few people decide to get drunk and then drink alcohol until they reach that goal, but that users of marijuana and other drugs take them for the specific purpose of getting "high"; and that while alcohol leads to hangovers, regular use of marijuana - though not addictive - often leads good souls into hashish, cocaine, mescalin, and nowadays, into that dangerous stuff called "angel dust."

If people want to smoke pot, sniff cocaine or use other drugs, they probably will. Similarly the majority of Americans will be disturbed to hear any reports that some in Jimmy Carter's crew use drugs. All right.

But it is not clear-minded to use drugs and ignore the knowledge that they can be very harmful, or to assume that being part of the righteous team which got elected in 1976 assures

Immunity from criticism from the millions of Americans who don't use "recreational" drugs. There is no free lunch in saloons these days, or in salons where cocaine is sniffed.

Old chemical dump closes American institution

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) -Pregnant women and families with small children have been urged to leave a 16-acre area so contaminated by chemicals leaking from an old dumping ground that the state declared a health emergency.

State Health Commissioner Robert Whalen declared the emergency and recommended the evacuation Wednesday after studies revealed that the number of miscarriages in the Love Canal area is about 50 percent higher than the national aver-

The department said it found five children with birth defects in the area, but it did not say whether the rate was higher than the national

Whalen said an investigation showed that more than 80 chemicals - many toxic and 11 linked to cancer - have been leaking from the abandoned dump in the bed of the old Love Canal in the southeast corner of this city. The chemicals include benzene and chloroform.

Health Department investigators said chemicals have contaminated the water and released vapors which have polluted the air.

Residents, whose houses were built along the old canal's banks after the dump was filled in, said the chemicals first began surfacing two years ago heavy rains.

They said chemicals have seeped through basement walls. Air monitors placed in homes by the Environmental Protection Agency registered some chemicals at 250-to-5,000 times the level considered safe.

Specifically, Whalen recommend--That about 20 families with children under age 2 and any pregnant women move out. -That the 99th Street School not be opened this fall because of the contaminated vapors.

-That area residents avoid using their basements.

He said he stopped short of ordering an evacuation because he did not of the question of state aid, according to Health Department spokesman Marvin Nailor.

In an interview, Nailor said the state has not yet allocated funds for such an evacuation. But Gov. Hugh Carey's office hinted Wednesday that it may provide aid to some of the 97 families in the area. The governor issued a statement promising residents "the full support of my administration in restoring normalcy to their lives" and announcing formation of a task force to study the problem.

The dump was used principally from 1930 to 1953 by the Hooker Cheming to Hooker and residents, the Army, which reportedly dumped wastes from a former chemical warfare plant here.

In a statement released Wednesday, Hooker said it "does not believe it has any legal obligation or responsibility for the situation that has

Sen. Humphrey urges extension aid Mrs. Franof ERA deadline By W. DALE NELSON

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Muriel Humphrey, D-Minn., urged Congress Wednesday to extend the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to clear the way for "an unmistakable signal to the courts on the will of the American people with respect to equal rights for women." Appearing as the lead-off witness in a three-day hearing on the time ex-tension, the widow of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey described herself as a member of a "minority of two" - one of only two women in the Senate.

Among the members of the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on the Constitution listening to her testimony was Sen. Maryon Allen, D-Ala., a declared opponent of the time extension. The two women chatted amicably before the hearing.

Time for ratifying the ERA, which would prohibit discrimination based on sex, runs out next March 22 unless extended by Congress. The House Judiciary Committee has voted to extend it to June 30, 1982, and action by the full House is expected soon.

The bill being considered by the Senate subcommittee is a seven-year extension, but its principal sponsor, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the subcommittee chairman, said, "I would be prepared to go with what the House recommended."

Indications are that the extension could run into a filibuster when it reaches the Senate floor.

Mrs. Humphrey said the time limit should be extended because "a majority of Americans have already expressed their support for this propos-al," because "the forging of a national consensus on any important issue takes a long time and because "despite progress in the area of women's rights, the ERA is still needed."

"Clearly, enactment of the Equal Rights Amendment is needed to give an unmistakable signal to the courts on the will of the American people with respect to equal rights for women." Rep. Harold L. Volkmer, D-Mo., told the subcommittee that he favors extension only if it is accomplished by a two-thirds vote rather than a simple majority. Volkmer is expected to make this same argument on the House floor.

The ERA must have the approval of

The amendment has been ratified by 35 states, although the legislatures of Kentucky, Tennessee, Idaho and Nebraska later rescinded their action. The Kentucky vote was vetoed by the state's acting governor. It will be up to Congress to determine whether those states are counted as having ratified the proposal.

Patricia M. Wald, assistant attorney general in charge of legislative affairs, told the panel the Justice Department believes Congress has the power to extend the deadline by a simple majority. Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, said that unless the extension measure sent to the floor allows states that have already ratified to withdraw their approval "I believe it is my duty to support those efforts, under the rules of the Senate, which will provide for a thorough debate of the many issues surrounding extension." This would be the first time that Congress has extended the time for a proposed amendment to be ratified.

Board of Equalization approves 1978 tax rolls

Tax rolls for 1978 for four Midland County taxing bodies have been approved by the Board of Equalization.

Tax rates now must be set by each of the districts: the city of Midland, Midland Community College District, Midland Independent School District and Midland County Hospital District.

The hospital district, which includes the entire county, has the highest amount of assessed property on the lists with $1,161,307,380. Other assessments are city of Midland, $752,-462,830, and Midland Independent School District and Midland College, each $1,104,127,700, according to the lists in the office of Virgil Jones, city tax assessor-collector. The four bodies use the same tax office for assessment and collection purposes. Assessment list for the City of Midland shows real property totaling $604,591,010 and personal property $147,871,820, giving the city a total of $752,462,830 in assessed property.

Real property for the Midland Inde-pendent School District and Midland College, which share the same boundaries, totals $873,448,090, according to the board's final figures. This is broken down into $168,584,480 for oil roll, $100,272,600 for acreage, and $604,591,010 for real property inside city limits. Personal property is assessed at $230,679,610. This figure includes $71,706,860 from the oil roll, $11,100,930 from personal property outside city limits and $147,871,820 from pesonal property inside city limits. Combining the personal and real properties gives the school and college districts each their $1,104,127,-

Property in the Midland County Hospital District has been assessed at $1,161,307,380, according to the tax assessor-collector's office. Real property totals $921,195,600, with $201,726,-840 coming from the oil roll, $114,877,-750 from acreage and $604,591,010 from real property inside city limits. Personal property in the district added up to $240,111,780. The figure includes $80,567,370 from the oil roll, $11,672,590 from personal property outside the city limits, and $147,871,- 820 from personal property inside city limits.

This year's assessed values are higher than last year's, according to Jones. The city's values are higher by $53,900,920, and the school and college districts by $137,338,100.

In compliance with Senate Bill 1, the tax office is publishing the assessed value for the school district, how much revenue would be produced at the current tax rate on the new assessed value and what the tax rate would be to produce the same revenue as last year. The letter has been mailed to school administrators, also, Jones said.

In the letter Jones advised the school officials the new assessed property values are $1,104,127,700, compared to 1977's assessed valuation of $966,789,600. The current tax rate of $1.17 per $100 asessed valued produced a revenue of $11,311,807 for 1978, Jones said. "An equalized tax rate of $1.075 will produce a revenue of $11,317,308.93 for 1978," Jones said

Don Ferguson, business manager for the Midland school district, said the final assessments came within $6 million of what the tax assessor-collector had estimated earlier this year. The school board has not set a tax rate yet, but Ferguson said the board has considered raising it a few cents to meet the district's estimated ex-

If any taxpayer still is not satisfied with the final decision of the Board of Equalization concerning the City of Midland taxes, the person may appeal to the City Council within five days after the tax rolls have been certified by the board, according to the Midland City Charter. B

SE

If the taxpayer is not satisfied with the council's decision, he can "contest any such decision in any court of competent jurisdiction," according to a provision in the city charter.

The school board will conduct a public hearing in August on the school tax rate, according to Ferguson.

Brilliant ideas seem to abound on Capitol Hill

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. William Proxmire became a grandfather last week and appropriately, the child was named Jason, after the pursuer of the Golden Fleece of Greek mythology.

For those who came in late, the Wisconsin Democrat bestows his Golden Fleece Award each month to the government agency he regards as guilty of the most outrageous waste of public money. The dubious award, grown to be a Washington institution, is announced each month in a press release from Proxmire's office.

The same was true of the birth of Jason Zwerner, the son of Proxmire's daughter and son-in-law. "I'm delighted that little Jason - name of the great mythical pursuer of the Golden Fleece - carries the name," said the Proxmire news release. "And may he take on the problems of life with the same success as his mythical namesake.

"And while little Jason is growing into a taxpayer may the Golden Fleece help pave the way for a world in which taxes and inflation will not so load down Jason Zwerner and all the other babies born in these times.

"Eighteen years from now when Jason reaches his political maturity, I hope the Golden Fleece will help this just-born Jason to live in a more prudent, thrifty and hard-working

Sen. James O. Eastland likes small rooms. At least, when the Senate Judiciary Committee, which he heads, meets to draft and vote on legislation, it convenes in a small office behind its regular hearing room.

At a recent session, the room was jammed with staff aides and reporters. Sen. William Scott, R-Va., shouldered his way through the crowd to the committee table.

Scott looked around and announced: "This room is too crowded to do business in. One senator is not going to stay here.

"Would you folks let me out, please," pleaded the senator as he shouldered his back out of the room.

We're going to miss the New York City aid bill. No issue so stirred members of Congress to rhetorical heights than the nation's largest, most financially troubled city.

Here are a few of the parting bites

at the Big Apple:

"I think there is no city in the world like New York, that can really compare with it," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis, "Of course, Milwaukee, Madison, Racine and La Crosse are better cities, but they are not more important cities

"We forget about all the smells, the dirt, the crime - which, after all, is bigger and stronger in New York City than any other place." Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., described the city as "the finan-cial capital of the world," to which

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, replied: "Aha! If it is then the financial capital of the world, why is it that it cannot manage its own fiscal affairs? Why does it not have the resolution to deal with its problems?" "Well," said Moynihan, "one of the reasons is that the people who run the financial institutions are not the people who run the political institutions, and that is not a bad arrangement."

'My distinguished friend, Senator Moynihan," said Tower, "is a product of the London School of Economics and Political Science and is a man of superior intellect.'

"In spite of that," quipped Proxmire. The English school is known for staunchly liberal economic philosophy it espouses.

Krueger poll shows campaign neck-and-neck; Tower skeptical

AUSTIN - U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger today released poll results which indicate he and U.S. Sen. John Tower are neck-and-neck in their race for the U.S. Senate seat Tower currently holds.

Krueger, a Democrat, had 41.2 percent of the vote, according to the poll, compared to 42.6 percent for Tower.

A spokesman for Krueger told The Reporter-Telegram today the poll was conducted by Pat Caddell, pollster for President Carter and the Democratic National Committee, and John Henson, Krueger's pollster.

The $30,000 poll was based on personal interviews with 600 registered voters throughout the state, the spokesman said.

Poll results showed 3.2 percent of Administration gets shaky start on reshaping of tax relief bill

By EDMOND Le BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration, trying to reshape a $16.2 billion House tax cut bill, is off to an unpromising start with its last minute efforts to shift tax relief back to lower-income brackets and decrease planned cuts in capital gains taxation.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, President Carter's tax envoy, took the proposed changes to Capitol Hill on Wednesday where Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, called the proposals unacceptable. Ullman's panel has written the tax plan now being considered in the

But the chairman said discussions were continuing on a possible Treasury Department-Ways and Means Committee compromise to permit consideration, Cat least, of the amendments in the House.

That procedure is considered unusual because the House traditionally, when considering tax measures. takes up only proposed floor amendments already considered and rejected by the Ways and Means Commit-

Up to now, Ullman said, he has no plans to ease pressure for passage of his committee's bill with no provisions for the Carter amendments.

Although exact details of the administration plan have not been worked out, Blumenthal's discussions showed concern for:

-Directing individal tax relief to families with incomes below $40,000. -Cutting back capital gains reductions by boosting from 10 percent to 15 percent the committee's proposed

'alternative minimum tax. That proposal would replace the current 15 percent minimum tax on one-half of the capital gain, which is not normally taxed. The minimum tax is imposed upon those who would otherwise escape taxes altogether.

The principal author of the committee bill, Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., said he doubted the administration amendments would receive the support sought. But he insisted he was open-minded and would discuss possibilities with other members.

Jones said that if the bill were reshaped to Carter's liking, it would lose all or nearly all the Republican support he said it now enjoys. Although Democrats have nearly a 2-1 majority in the House, a substantial number are believed to favor the Jones bill's relatively lenient treatment of capital gains. The basic tax relief in the Jones bill would rise sharply with income. For example, estimates by congressional specialists are that a hypothetical family of four with $15,000 income and deductible expenses of 23 percent with $40,000 income would save $486. The Blumenthal proposals would skewer the relief more toward the lower tax brackets would save $77, while such a family

Another administration proposal that could be expected to please the AFL-CIO would increase the tax credit in the present law from $35 a person to $100. The labor federation had proposed an increase to $150.

The Jones bill would abolish the credit, but increase the personal exemption from $750 to $1,000. An exemption or deduction is more valuable to a taxpayer in a higher bracket. A credit, subtracted directly from tax owed, has the same value for everyone.

Take a Roman Holiday with Italian Cuisine

If you long to travel and your bank account says, "No, No," then let Italian imagination and ingenuity bring interesting cuisine to your table. It's the next best thing to flying to Rome and countryside!

Start the dinner with antipasti, those casual appetizers of salted fish, meats and olives. Proceed to the pasta, in this case Pesto al Burro, the famous Genoese specialty of fresh herbs, nuts and sharp cheese (Parmesan), blended into a paste and tossed with noodles.

Chicken is a popular item, especially in this style from Northern Italy's Piedmont region where Swiss cheese and red sauces flourish. Contrast this with a fresh green salad, adding sliced oranges and crisp onion circles, if desired.

A favorite dessert is as good as it's beautiful. It's a giant bowl of fruit accompanied by a tray of cheeses. Some American cheeses like sharp Cheddar and Blue go well with apples, pears and grapes. Crisp, salty Fontina in lovely red-coated wedges and Gorganzola, of Italian origin but American made, are also a good choice for those fruits. Mild, creamy Colby or Monterey Jack in nibblable sticks will appeal to many.

Top it off with quaint, colorful Sesame Seed Cookies and Coffee Cappuccino capped with whipped cream and chocolate. You'll feel as though you'd been on a Roman holiday.

PESTO AL BURRO 4 servings

1 cup snipped fresh parsley 3 tablespoons basil, crushed 1 tablespoon pignolias (or 2 whole blanched almonds)

6 blanched whole almonds

1 clove garlic

1/2 teaspoon salt 6 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled 3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

10 ounces spaghetti cooked,

Place parsley, basil, pignolias, almonds, garlic and salt in blender container. Blend at high speed, scraping down ingredients frequently towards bottom of blender container with rubber scraper until all ingredients are finely chopped. Add melted butter and blend at high speed until mixed. Pour mixture into small mixing bowl and beat in cheese. (Do not refrigerate.) Before serving pesto, add 1 tablespoon of hot water in which spaghetti was cooked; mix well. Place hot spaghetti in warmed container; spoon pesto sauce over spaghetti; toss with two forks to coat well.

CHICKEN BREASTS, PIEDMONT STYLE

6 servings

Red Sauce 2 tablespoons butter 1/2 cup finely chopped onion 2 cloves garlic, crushed 1 can (28 oz.) Italian-style

Chicken Breasts 3 chicken breasts, split, boned and skin removed 1/4 cup all-purpose flour 1/2 teaspoon salt

(about 1 oz. each)

1/4 teaspoon white pepper 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter 1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, 2 teaspoons basil, crushed 2 teaspoons sugar 1 tablespoon butter 6 slices Swiss cheese 1 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon white peppe

For sauce, melt butter in heavy saucepan; saute onion and garlic until tender but not brown. Coarsely chop tomatoes; add to onion along with liquid from can. Add tomato paste and seasonings. Simmer, uncovered, 30 minutes. (Yield: 31/2 cups).

For chicken, pound chicken breasts between sheets of waxed paper to 1/4-inch thickness. Combine flour, salt and pepper; coat chicken breasts. Melt butter in heavy skillet; saute chicken over medium heat until golden brown and done, 5 to 6 minutes per side. Remove to shallow, heat-proof platter. Saute mushrooms lightly in 1 tablespoon butter; arrange on chicken breasts. Top each breast with a slice of cheese. Place under broiler; broil just until cheese melts. Spoon a few tablespoons Red Sauce over each chicken breast. Pass

Note: Leftover Red Sauce may be frozen. It is excellent over hot cooked pasta.

SESAME COOKIES

Yield: about 6 dozen cookies

1 cup (2 sticks) butter 1 cup sugar 3 1/2 cups all-purpose flour

2 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt Sesame Seed Red and green candled cherry halves

Cream butter; gradually add sugar and cream until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture; mix thoroughly. Chill dough several hours or overnight. Preheat oven to 350° F. Shape dough into 1-inch balls; roll in sesame seed. Place on unbuttered cookie sheets; press a candied cherry half into each. Bake 15 to 18 minutes or until lightly browned.

COFFEE CAPPUCCINO

Yield: 1 quart

2 cups boiling water 3 tablespoons instant Espresso coffee powde tablespoons powdered

2 cups milk

Combine boiling water, coffee and chocolate. Heat milk just to boiling. Combine with coffee-chocolate mixture. Pour into heated cups. Top with a dollop of whipped cream; dust with

Foods closely associated with our human emotions

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT Registered Dietitian

Copley News Service

Food is closely associated with our emotions. It is deeply rooted in our subconscious and our attitudes toward food have been nurtured since

Much of this emotional approach has been influenced by our parents and by ethnic mores.

We are born with instincts, but without formed habits. Habits begin to develop in infancy. To demonstrate this, observe how fussy and irritable a baby becomes when its routine is varied even slightly.

The warmth and love so needed by the baby are naturally provided by the mother, as well as the truly perfect food-milk. As the baby grows, his experiences with a variety of foods also are linked to emotions.

Many foods evoke memories of the seasons. "Strawberry time" means spring and early summer. Turkey is associated with fall and so are pumpkins. "Spring lamb" is habitual, asis watermelon, in the summer.

However, they look rather lifeless because the walls are so plain and there is no architectural detailing — just a plain box for a room.

A. You have a problem often encountered in new apartments and condominiums. In the case of no fireplace, you need to create your own focal point and this can be done by clever furniture arrangement and some attractive decorating devices.

For example, in a small room you can introduce color and pattern with an attractive fabric or wallpaper. You could cover your walls with wallpaper and leave an expanse of wall which you might cover in AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - "PID" is an abbreviation for pelvic inflammatory disease, and a state health official says for women it can stand for pain and trouble.

PID - a serious infection and inflammation of the organs in a woman's pelvic cavity - may be associated with numerous organisms, says Dr. Charles Webb Jr., but he noted that it is a late complication of

Webb, chief of the state health department's bureau of communicable disease services, said in a state-

"Gonococcal PID has predictably severe consequences, and I consider it the most important infectious disease problem in Texas today."

He said 9 to 15 percent of all women with untreated gonorrhea develop a case of acute PID. The consequences include sterility, which is caused by scarring of tissue in the Fallopian

In about 4.5 percent of all cases of chronic PID, Webb said, surgical removal of the reproductive organs is an unavoidable result.

He said since gonorrhea in females usually produces no early symptoms, the health department strongly recommends that sexually active young women request gonococcal cultures during routine pelvic examinations.

In 1977, he said, gonorrhea increased 4 percent in the 20-24 age group, 17 percent in the 30-34 age group and 11 percent in the 35-39 age group. There was a 6 percent decrease among Texans, age 15-19.

He said the health department attributes the decrease among the younger age group to school education programs about venereal disease and to gonorrhea screening of women,

Last year's figures also show a 3 percent increase in infectious syphilis, compared to a 14 percent drop nationwide, Webb said.

walk in the woods or an extended backpacking trip, a venture into the wilderness should be planned with care. Most since you can't call the family doctor in the event of a medical emergency, it is wise to be familiar with basic firstaid techniques.

More important, you should be aware of your own skills and limitations as a hiker and camper. Gordon Peterson, an authority on wilderness safety for the Sierra Club, said the most common problems in the wilderness involve lack of judgment on the part of hikers rather than lack of equipment or lack of knowledge.

"We had a case of a party of hikers who were roped up to descend a steep slope," Peterson said. "The weather started turning cold. The rope was hindering their progress in getting down the slope quickly. The real danger was the weather, not the slope." Peterson said the hikers could have negotiated the trail without a rope in an emergency. As it was, one of the five in the party eventually died of exposure as the weather worsened quickly.

Asbestos: a lifesaver that also takes lives

By DON LEARNED Copley News Service

Once upon a time, asbestos was civilization's answer to the discovered perils of fire, acid and electricity.

It rebuffed heat.

It was impervious to acid. It stopped electricity.

You could wrap it around steam pipes. You could build fire walls. You could cover your body in it for protection. In the fevered shipbuilding of World War II, it saved lives. Now it is taking lives.

In the United States of the 1970s, asbestos has become a health horror - a killer that works so slowly, so subtly, that most of its victims will never

Unseen on the jangling light of wartime shipyards, asbestos unleashed billions of tiny fibers - tasteless, odorless, invisible, indestructible.

The workers inhaled them. And over the years - 15 to 30 years of minute inflammation in the lungs and the healing-over of scar tissue - the fibers have become deadly, slowly cutting off the passage of oxygen to the blood, slowly shutting down the lungs' reserve.

The researchers now know that the shipyard workers who labored so hard to turn out the asbestos-laden Navy ships of World War II are in danger of being killed by the fibers.

"They are walking time bombs," says Dr. Ruth Heifetz, who works in occupational medicine at the University of California at San Diego.

And though the war is long gone, the asbestos struggle is far from over.

The shipyard workers are not

Asbestos is all around us. The government warnings have gone out to secretaries, schoolchildren, construction workers and office workers.

More than 800,000 tons of the fibrous material is used in the country each year. It has more than 3,000 commercial uses.

It is found in the home, in the office, on most job sites. It is used as insulation in heating and air conditioning systems. It is used for electrical insulation. It is used in cement, floor tiles, plaster, ceilings, roofing, car gaskets and even pot holders. Auto mechanics work with it in brake relinings. Painters work with it in spackle, in asbestos-containing drywall. Insulation workers and construction workers wrap it around almost anything that gets hot.

It has so many uses that even scientists are not sure where all the airborne asbestos comes from. But they say no one escapes some exposure.

Just what the dangers are at various levels of exposure no one knows.

Researchers can only say there is no known safe level of exposure.

There have been cases where a few months, or even one day of heavy exposure, have proven deadly. There are others exposed for years who appear

The picture of what can happen to heavily exposed workers surfaced in a 1963 study of New York-New Jersey insulation workers by Dr. Irving Selikoff. It compared their death rates with the normal population.

Doctors would have expected to find 31 cancer deaths among heavily exposed workers. There were 95 instead, three times-

They would have expected six lung cancer deaths. There were 42, seven times normal.

Plan adventure trips carefully

—If the cut is small and shallow, a simple Band-Aid-type strip will do the trick. But be sure to wash the cut, preferably with an antiseptic or a saline solution, before covering it. You can prepare such a saline solution by adding 2 level teaspoons of salt for each quart of boiling water. Use the solution after it has cooled. For larger cuts, it is important to stop the bleeding. The firm pressure of a compress will usually be sufficient. Don't use a tourniquet except where absolutely necessary. If you must use one, be sure you are familiar with the procedures. After washing, press the edges of the cut together and fasten with adhesive "butterfly" bandages. Cover with sterile gauze and adhe-

Deep puncture wounds - created by a sharp instrument such as a nail, knife, fish hook, or needle - are often more serious and require prompt attention. (To avoid the risk of tetanus, you should be sure that you have an up-to-date shot before you go hiking). Remove the puncturing object, if possible to do without causing further damage. Wash the wound and cover with a sterile gauze. If it's serious, seek medical attention as soon as

Snake bites - Many hikers have unwarranted fears of snakes. Snakes tend to avoid humans. Most bites occur when the snake is cornered and strikes out in self-defense. Most bites are by nonpoisonous snakes. Except for the problem of infection, there is little risk. There are two principal groups of poisonous snakes native to the United States — coral snakes and pit vipers, which include rattlesnakes. It has been estimated that rattlers cause about 60 percent of the venomous snake bites in the country while coral snakes cause no more than 2 percent. Even among the posisions snakes, most bites are not lifethreatening. The old first-aid remedies - applying a tourniquet, making criss-cross cuts over the bite and sucking out the venom - are frowned upon now by many medical authorities. They favor keeping the victim quiet and in stable condition while being transported to a hospital or aid station. But if you are going to an area where you will be 12 hours or more away from a hospital, you should carry a snakebite kit and know how to

Insect stings - With the exception of those who have allergic reactions to insect stings, most people have few problems in the wilderness with bees, hornets or wasps. If the stinging insect is a honeybee; it will leave behind a stinger, which should be removed by carefully scraping the skin with a ROAST, b . . clean knife or razor blade. For any insect bite, apply cold compresses to control swelling. Or if time has elapsed, apply hot compresses. Do not scratch the bite. It will only aggra-vate the situation and may trigger infecion. Some authorities say that you can discourage bee stings by dressing in light, solid colors or linear patterns. The insects seem to be attracted to dark shades and brightly colored floral patterns. Scents from cosmetics, hair sprays and so forth also can draw the insects.

Water safety — In addition to the usual precautions about swimming, remember that at higher altitudes your breath tends to be shorter and fatigue comes sooner. The water in a mountain lake is cold and cramps may occur more readily. So get accustomed to the water slowly and stay close to shore.

Sunburn - At higher elevations, the ultraviolet rays of the sun can do damage more readily. So be alert to overexposure. Carry along a sunscreen lotion containing PABA para-aminobenzoic acid.

What medical supplies should you take on a backpacking trip? It de-pends on whether you will be traveling with a professional guide who is well-equipped with first-aid gear. But Peterson suggests the following items: first aid manual; Band-Aidtype strips, adhesive tape and "but-terfly" adhesive strips; sterile gauze— squares; anti-bacterial liquid soap; a remedy for diarrhea and stomach upset; an antibiotic ointment, such as Neosporin; an iodine solution, such as Betadine; aspirin; scissors, razor, needle and thread; Ace bandages; snakebite kit.

First-aid manuals are available through your local Red Cross chapter for $2.10. Also, the American Medical Association recently updated a shorter first-aid manual which can be obtained by sending 45 cents to the Order Department, American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St. Chicago, Ill. 60610.

IRA blamed in new killing

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - Gunmen in a passing car shot and killed a 30-year-old police reservist late Wednesday night at Ballymena. 25 miles northwest of Belfast, police reported.

No group claimed responsibility, but police blamed the Irish Republican Army, which is fighting a guerrilla war to free Northern Ireland from Britain and unite it with the Irish Republic.

The policeman was the 1,854th reported death in the nine-year-old Protestant-Catholic war in the prov-

Animals serve as blood donors

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Ten years ago, an undistinguished puppy of German shepherd and other undetermined heritage was brought into the office of Dr. Raymond Pahle.

The owner did not want the pup and asked the veterinarian to put it to sleep. The veterinarian asked whether it would be all right if, instead of killing the dog, he kept it alive and used it to help keep other dogs alive.

And that's what happened. The once-unwanted dog became a blood donor to other dogs at Pahle's clinic. The clinic also has a cat named Joey who is a blood donor.

Just as a human being, a dog or cat can be in urgent need of a blood transfusion, but there are no animal blood banks. So it is practical to keep donors as permanent residents of animal hospitals, the veterinarian said.

The Reporter-Telegram photo staff has set aside specific periods when the presidents of participating clubs may have their photographs made at the newspaper office at 201 E. Illinois Ave. Those times are: Wednesday, Aug. 9, Thursday, Aug. 10 and Friday, Aug. 11 between 9: 30 a.m. and noon; Saturday, Aug. 12 between 9: 30 a.m. and noon; Wednesday, Aug. 16, Thursday, Aug. 17 and Friday, Aug. 18 between 9:30 a.m. and noon, and Saturday, Aug. 19 between 1:30 and 4 Each club president should make an appointment to have her picture made during one of those times, by phoning the Lifestyle Department.

Appointments will be necessary to avoid long waiting time. Special arrangements have been made to make these particular photographs during the times listed above. It will not be possible for the photo staff to handle drop-ins at other times. Club presidents can submit commercial studio photographs for consideration, with acceptance at the discretion of The Reporter-Telegram. In addition, the president of each club will need to complete a form outlining her club's history, special projects and current officers. The forms should be picked up and returned no later than time of photographic appointments. Forms are available in Lifestyle Department anytime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"Women With a Purpose" will be published as a tabloid supplement to

The Reporter-Telegram's Sunday edition on Sept. 17.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - At the public library they're developing a system to teletype the latest news, weather, job listings and other data to the homes of the deaf.

Under the program, which is supposed to be the most extensive of its kind in the country, home teletype machines are to be connected by telephone with an automated information center at the library. Using an acoustic coupler, the deaf can dial a special telecommunication number at the center and get a printout of various types of information.

Library officials hope the information can include up to 41 minutes of local, state, national and international news, current weather forecasts, up to 2,000 job listings, public service announcements and possibly texts of speeches and news conferences conducted by government officials.

"We're the first in the country to do this on this level," project coordinator Steve Terry said in an interview. "No one else is providing the amount of local information that we will."

Terry hopes the service will be free, but those participating may have to buy the teletypes - which cost up to $1,400 new and $300 used. The machines can be purchased from a commercial manufacturer or from a local deaf man, who reconditions them for

Western State Bank elects new directors

Five new members of the board of directors of Western State Bank have been elected, report John B. Billingsley Jr., chairman of the board, and Boley B. Embrey, president.

They are William H. Jowell, Harlan C. Michael, A. Lee Miller, W. C. "Os" Osborne and H. Gene Sledge.

Jowell is a native Midlander and serves as an agent with New York Life Insurance Co. He attended Southern Methodist University and is a member of the Million Dollar Round Table, a past president of the Permian Basin Estate Council, past president of the Midland Association of Underwriters, a director of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters and a member of the Midland Business and Estate Council.

Michael, who serves as executive vice president of the bank, attended Hastings College in Hastings, Neb., before entering the banking business in Denver, Colo.

He later joined a bank in Midland and has more than 22 years in the banking field. He attended the National Consumer Credit School and has been past regional president of Installment Lending.

He also served in various capacities in the United Way, YMCA and the Salvation Army. He is a member of the Evening Optimist Club.

Miller serves as president of STM Corp. of Midland. After graduating from Baylor University he joined STM as executive vice president. He also has served on the board of directors of STM the last five years. The company is engaged in seismic work and has offices in Midland, Houston, Arlington and Denver. Osborne is a native of Arkansas and is an independent consulting geologist who has lived in Midland 32 years. He received a B.S. degree in geology from Centenary College of Louisiana. He is a member of the West Texas Geological Society, American Association of Petroleum Geologists, a director of the Midland West Corp. and the Green Tree Country Club Estates. He is a Scottish Rite Mason.

Sledge is the president and owner of Gene Sledge Drilling Corp. of Mid-iand and has been a resident here 14

By SUSAN SWARD SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - The California condor, a soaring giant with a 9-foot wing span, is "rapidly declining to extinction," says a nationwide panel of bird experts. California condors now number certainly not more than 40, possibly fewer than 30," the panel, named by the National Audubon Society and the American Ornithologists' Union, reported Wednesday.

The panel advocated a captivity breeding program to bring the California condors, which live in a 20,000square-mile mountainous area north of Los Angeles, up to several hundred

The condors have yellow heads, coal-black bodies and distinctive white marking under their wings.

Their wingspread averages about 9 feet, the largest of any North American bird.

Panelists urged that as many nonbreeding adults and immature birds as possible be captured and placed in an aviary where scientists can regulate their food and incubate their eggs for a while.

The National Audubon Society's condor naturalist, John Borneman, termed the plan "one of the most far-reaching" ever proposed to save an endangered species.

Under the captivity plan, it would be 20 to 40 years before scientists would begin releasing the condors back into the wilds, he said.

Over the last decade, Borneman estimated California condors have been declining by about one bird a year, dropping from a population of

DETROIT (AP) - The U.S. auto industry hits a production low this week, with 19 plants and two car assembly lines at a 20th shut down for model changeover, an industry journal reported Wednesday. Automotive News reports that the week's planned production is 105,281 cars, down almost 19 percent from last week and a decline of nearly 4 percent from the 109,643 assembled during the comparable 1977 week.

For the year-to-date, the industry has built 5.6 million cars and 2.2 million trucks, the publication said. That's a decline of about 2 per cent from the 5.7 million cars assembled during the comparable 1977 period.

The major automakers — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors — produced 580,539 cars dur-ing July, down about 12 percent from July last year, and planned to build 528,500 for August, up 2.6 percent from the 514,579 built during August 1977, Automotive News said.

Truck production this week - 65,858 — is down about 7.9 per cent from last week but nearly 10 per cent more than the 1977 truck production in the same week last year.

Chryler has closed three plants in Detroit and one each in St. Louis and Newark, N.J., for the changeover. Closed Ford plants include one each in Atlanta, St. Louis, San Jose and the General Motors closed plants in Arlington, Va., Baltimore, Doraville, Ga., Lakewood, Ohio, Linden, N.J., Southgate, Calif., St. Louis, Van Nuys, Calif., Detroit and Lansing, Mich., and the LeMans and Grand Prix lines at the huge GM plant in Pontiac, Mich.

Car and truck assembly by Canadian plants to date are 678,979 and 408,775 respectively, down slightly from the comparable 1977 totals of 755,277 cars and 358,217 trucks.

Tanker truck, car collide; toxic spillover averted

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - There were a few uneasy moments for police Wednesday night after a tank truck carrying a potentially toxic chemical collided with a car on Interstate 240.

Authorities were able to move the damaged tanker within two hours of the accident, however, without spilling any of the chemical, identified as benzene phosphorus thiodichloride.

"It was towed off the interstate so it could be examined for leaks," Capt. Jim Sinclair, police command duty officer, said. "There didn't appear to be any leaks."

The chemical, which is dangerous only if mixed with water, was being transported from Stauffer Chemical Co. in Mount Pleasant, Tenn., to Pasadena, Texas, by Schwerman Trucking Co. of Milwaukee, police said.

The truck was northbound on Interan it collided with the car state 240 W entering at South Parkway, police said. The car was pinned beneath the tanker, but there were no injuries.

None of the parties involved were identified.

Police said they were ready to evacuate the area around the accident as a precaution in case the tanker began leaking, but it was not necessary.

Crane nod climaxes scrambling for cash

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Philip M. Crane's announcement for the Republican presidential nomination is climaxing a week of scrambling among conservatives for campaign

Crane, a 47-year-old Illinois politician with an academic and strong conservative background, became on Wednesday the first to formally an-nounce for the 1980 big-stakes political competition.

But just a week earlier, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan had held a closed-door meeting in the Capitol with conservative fund-

At that session, Reagan reportedly said he would also become a candidate from the Republican right. He is said to have been seeking to hold the money-gatherers in line.

On Friday, the conservative magazine Human Events quoted Reagan as telling the meeting about his plans for running that, "On a scale of one to ten, I'm ten and a half.'

Fund-raisers who were interviewed, all asking not to be named, voiced concern about two moneyraisers who had been asked to attend the Reagan affair but didn't.

They are Paul Weyrich of the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress, and John T. Dolan of the national Conservative Political Action Committee, both closely allied with Richard A. Viguerie.

Viguerie, who raised millions of dollars for the White House drives of Georgia Gov. George C. Wallace, began, 12 hours before the Crane annoucement, sending out the first direct-mail appeal for dollars to finance Crane's run. He asked 100,000 conservatives to join the "Friends of Phil" organization by donating $25 to $100.

Patricia Hearst appeals, condemns F. Lee Bailey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst is asking the federal courts to overturn her 1976 bank robbery conviction on grounds that F. Lee Bailey turned the trial into "a mockery, a farce and a sham" when he acted as

A motion to discard or reduce Miss Hearst's seven-year sentence was filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday by attorney George Martinez who replaced lawyers Bailey and Albert Johnson last May.

Accompanying the motion was a declaration signed by Miss Hearst July 30 which contends, in part, that Bailey's judgement seemed "im-paired" and that during her trial "it was necessary for him to ingest what I consier 'hangover medicine.' "

Miss Hearst also said that during closing arguments in her marathon trial, Bailey "spilled a glass of water down his leg" and shook "so violently that he had to grip the lectern and put his hands in his pockets."

In response to an inqury by Martin-ez, juror Mary Nieman said she also was "disturbed at the closing argument given by Mr. Bailey ... the argument was short and like a peashooter compared to Mr. Jim Browning's, which was analytical and like a cannon in its effect."

In the motion, Miss Hearst complains of the failure of her former attorneys to seek to have the trial moved away from San Francisco due to prejudicial pretrial publicity.

She also says she took the witness stand against her wishes.

Neither Bailey nor Johnson could be reached for comment.

Kidnapped by terrorists in February 1974, Miss Hearst was convicted and sentenced in September 1976 for joining her captors in a San Francisco bank robbery 10 weeks after her ab-

She was released on bail two months later pending appeal, but then sent back to jail five months later after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review her case.

She will be eligible for parole in July 1979 if Judge William Orrick, who sentenced Miss Hearst and who will rule on this latest motion, refuses to set aside her conviction.

After drawing trumps declarer should cash both top hearts and then lead dummy's jack of clubs, discarding his own last heart. This gives the opponents a club trick but deprives them of a heart.

ADVANTAGE
The advantage of this exchange of tricks is that West cannot get out safely. If West leads a third club, dummy ruffs while South discards a diamond. If West can lead a third heart (whether the queen or the ten), dummy gets a trick with the jack of hearts; and South will get rid of a dia-

West's only chance is to lead diamonds in the hope that South doesn't have the king; but this gives South a diamond trick and his con-

Gifford, Mitchell & Wisenbaker (formerly Exxon Oil Corp.) No. 1 Tishman-Federal was completed as a discovery in the Yates for a daily pumping potential of 14 barrels of oil and 106 barrels of water.

Completion was through perforations from 3,203 to3,262 ffeet afrter a 1,900 gall-acid treatment and 20,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

Total depth is 3,646 feet and 5.5-inch casing is set at 3,350 feet, the plugged back depth.

The strike is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of sectidon 5-26s-36e and four miles north of Bennett. It is 3.5 miles northwest of the Comanche State Line field. *

GAS OPENER

HNG Oil Co. No. 1-3 Shoe Bar Ranch Unit, five miles northeast of Buckeye in Lea County, finaled as a discovery in the Morrow for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 8,688,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 59,000-1 and a shut-in wellhead pressure of 4,047 pounds.

Completion was through perforations from 12,839 to 12,948 feet. Total depth is 13,060 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set on bottom. The strike is three miles southwest of Morrow gas production in the Shoe Bar, North field and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 3-17s-35e and 15 miles southwest of Lovington.

OIL DISCOVERY

Supron Energy Corp. No. 2 State of New Mexico, five miles northeast of Maljamar in Lea County, was finaled as an Atoka oil discovery through perforations from 12,97d8 to 12,984

On 24-hour potential test the well flowed 450 barrels of 47.9-gravity oil, through a 14/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio is 5,888-11 and tubing pressure is

2,700 pounds. Total depth is 13,100 feet and 5.5-inch pipe was landed at 13,100 feet. The opener is one mile southeast of 11,500-foot Pennsylvanian oil production in the Maljamar field and 3/8 mile southwest of 10,700-foot Wolfcamp production in the Maljamar, Northeast field. Operator suggest the field be named Sanmal (Atoka).

Wellsite is 1,650 feet from south and west lines of section 33-16s-33e and five miles northeast of Maljamar.

EDDY PROJECT

Harvey E. Yates Co. of Midland announced location for an 8,200-foot Bone Spring wildcat in Eddy County, 19 miles east of Loving.

It is No. 1-3 Jones Ranch-Federal, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 3-24s-31e and one mile southeast of dual Atoka-Morrow gas production in the Sand Dunes field.

It is seven miles southeast of Bone Spring oil production in the Forty-Niner Ridge field.

OTERO PROSPECTOR

TransOcean Oil, Inc., of Houston No. 1 Goerge J. Ablah is to be dug as a 5.500-foot wildcat in Otero County, N. M., 45 miles south of Sacramento.

Location is 1,900 feet from south and west lines of section 15-25s-13e and about 60 miles southwest of Phoenix Resources' recent Morrow gas discovery in West Eddy County.

LEA TESTER

Energy Reserves Group, Inc., No. 1 R&S State is to be drilled as a 9,500foot Abo detrital project in te Vacuum area of Lea County, 16 miles southwest of Lovington.

It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 18-18s-35e and one location north of the same operator's No. 1-A Amoco-State, active wildcat.

UNDESIGNATED AREA

Yates Petroleum Corp. of Artesia, N. M., staked location for a 7,000-foot Atoka project in an undesignated area of Eddy County.

It No. 1-JW Divide-Federat 1.5 miles northeast of Beard Oil Co. No. 1 Hagstrom, recently completed Atoka discovery, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 4-17s-24e and 12 miles northwest of Artesia.

Newsletter reports oil price hike in mill

PARIS (AP) - The world's oil producing nations will recommend an "effective" oil price increase of 10 percent for the last three months" of the year and promote a move toward a basket of currencies for pricing oil, a weekly newsletter reported Wednesday.

"Arab Report and Memo," an English-language newsletter published here, said that Sheikh Ali Khalif Al-Sabab, the oil minister of Kuwait, will call a meeting of the ministerial council of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in September to discuss the

The newsletter said that "one outstanding question of significance" about adopting the basket system is whether the dollar should be included. "A move toward a basket of currencies...could increase the dollar value of oil by at least 10 percent. But if the dollar should continue its slide, the increase could be much more than that," the newsletter said.

Oil prices currently are set in dollars, but several OPEC members favor using a group of currencies because of the recent decline in the value of the dollar .Another Paris-based publication, "Arab Oil asnd Gas," reported Wednesday that crude oil production in OPEC member countries fell 9.1 percent in the first five months of the year from the same period a year ago.

The publication said overall output in OPEC countries currently is running at 27.78 million barrels a day compared with 30.58 million bar-

The greatest decline came in Saudi Arabia, where daily output has fallen 16.6 percent to 7.6 million barrels from 9.1 million last year, the publication said.

DOE accused of hiding shortage memorandum

By LARRY KRAMER The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The chairman of a congressional watchdog committee Wednesday accused the Department of Energy of withholding an internal memorandum indicating that under current leaded gasoline phase-out plans, "significant gasoline shortages could develop in 1980, with or without

In a letter hand-delivered to Deputy Secretary John F. O'Leary, Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Oversight and Investigations subcommittee, sharply criticized the department for withholding the memo - which never left the draft stage - during congessional questioning over DOE efforts to end price controls on gasoline.

"I am becoming more and more convinced," Moss wrote, "that the issue is no longer just gasoline decontrol, but the competence and crediment of Energy is in possession of information that points to a potential critical gasoline shortage in 1980, greater even than the 280,000-barrela-day gasoline shortage that resulted from the 1973 Arab Oil Embargo."

The internal memo predicts the possibiliy of a 400,000-barrel-per-day shortage by 1980. In the past, DOE spokesmen have said only that no shortages were foreseen thru 1979.

"A 400,000-barrel-per-day shortage of gasoline in 1980, as based on DOE's own internal forecast," Moss wrote, 'will increase the price of gasoline, in the absence of controls, by an estimated 20-40 cents per gallon, $20-40 billion a year, while raising the specter of a possible national emergen-

The critical portion of the memo was written by Doug Robinson, assistant administrator for regulatory and emergency planning.

"The memo was prepared for Bar-din's (David Bardin, administrator of the Economic Regulatory Administration) signature in the event that a decision was made by DOE to recommend gasoline decontrol to Congress, but was never sent," Robinson said in an interview Wednesday. It was, however, given to Moss' staff.

DOE was on the verge of recom-mending to Congress that gasoline prices be decontrolled about a month ago, but the plan was postponed when the Environmental Protection Agency and several environmental groups balked, claiming that the price of unleaded gasoline would soar, and many motorists would thus ignore laws mandating they use unleaded gas. Such a situation would result in a worsening air pollution problem, the environmentalists warned.

The DOE is now soliciting opinions on whether or not it should now do an Environmental Impact Study on its plans to decontrol gas.

Composer-professor also is P.D.Q. Bach

By ROBERT BARR

NEW YORK (AP) - Does a bassoon make you giggle? Ever snicker at a harp or smile at a symphony? Peter Schickele stands ready to take umbrage - or embrace you as a fellow spirit. All depending, of course, whether he is Peter Schickele, 43, serious composer; Professor Peter Schickele of the University of Southern North Dakota at Hoople, or the pedant's greatest - or most regretable - discovery, P.D.Q. Bach (b.1807-d.1742).

In his various personnae, Schickele is responsible for the "No, No, Non-"Fanfare for the Common Cold" and the "Toot Suite"; religious music, including a setting of the mass; some music for the long-ruhning nudie musical, "Oh, Calcutta"; 14 film scores and dozens of other compositions - serious and silly. His idols are J.S. Bach, Mozart and Spike Jones.

It is all music, he insisted in a recent interview, but it can confuse an audience. "The one big goof I made in all this is in not using a funny, phony name for the professor," he said. "Not as a secret, but as a signpost: to say that if your hearing Professor Goosebaum or whoever it was going to be, you knew that as the P.D.Q. Bach stuff, and 'Peter Schickele' would be saved for my other composing.

The problem now is that people hear the name Peter Schickele they assume it is going to be funny."

Anyone who was once the lone bassoonist in Fargo, N.D., and later the only music major at Swarthmore should be hardened to that sort of thing, especially anyone who once opened a concert by swinging Tarzan-

"Pervertimento" for bagpipes, bicycles, balloons and strings. Schickele, indeed, is no frustrated tragedian in baggy pants and squirt-ing flower, disdaining every pie he like to the stage, or who wrote a throws. 'Very often when you get to know some celebrity a little bit, you find out that they are frustrated somet elses. The trouble with me is that I like P.D.Q. Bach too much," says

Which does not mean, however, that he will always indulge those who laugh at bassoons.

"My serious music is not thorny, I'm not an angry person, but it is also very quiet, very pastoral and ... just not funny," he says.

Schickele takes some pains to separate his masks. P.D.Q. Bach emerges at Christmas each year in New York, flits across the country and then goes to earth in the spring. Schickele res-serves his summers for quiet work, in his Brooklyn brownstone or at a sum-mer home in Woodstock. His summer projects include a chamber opera and a concerto for brass quintet and orchestra. Another P.D.Q. Bach album — "P.D.Q. Bach in rehearsal"— is in the works. Schickele's message - if the word is not too pompous — is that the listener should relax and enjoy the music. "So long," he adds, "as it is understood that I very much believe in the passion and the intensity of music. "There should be no brick wall be tween serious pieces and not so serious pieces. There should be a continuum, a rainbow, there should be a lot of things in the middle."

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market continued its powerful surge on the heaviest first hour volume ever before steadying later in the day.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange climbed to a torrid 34.06 million shares by noon, more than double its 15.58 million shares the previous day. In the first hour alone, 20.13 million shares changed hands, topping the previous record of 17.58 million set during the spring rally on April 25. The Dow Jones average o

Analysts said the euphoric mood which produced such dramatic gains was inspired by hopes of a downturn in interest rates and widely followed Wall Street doctrine known as the Dow theory.

That theory supposedly shows a "buy signal" when both the industrial and transportation averages establish new highs for a significant period of time. Still, some analysts said the sheer momentum which began late Wednesday carried over into early trading today.

"Its a combination of things and its partly psychological. But it isn't as if this rally came out of the blue, the market has been building up to it for a period of weeks," said Larry Wachtel, an analyst at Bache, Halsey, Stuart &

Small business about to come back into own

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - Ever since World War II, when the growth of Big Business was spurred by the need for huge amounts of armaments, Small Business has felt neglected and even discriminated against

Now it is beginning to feel better. As one small business advocate put it: "The time seems right for a compensatory period of growth of the entrepre-neurial, independent small enterprise part of the

In the past month the House Ways and Means Committee approved a tax bill that delights Small Business, the White House scheduled a Small Business Conference, and Congress approved a Small Business advocate.

Milton Stewart is the advocate. Nothing new in that, say friends who have listened to him denounce than 12 points in early the stranglehold of Big Government, Big Business and Big Labor. Those are his words quoted above.

What is different now is that the Small Business Administration has an executive, the first ever, who at 892.07 in what analysts will argue before other government agencies the said reflected the leveling wisdom and justice of keeping Small Business in mind.

Why should they? Self-interest, for one thing. Small Business is the primary creator of jobs. Small Business is innovative and inventive, whereas Big Business sometimes turns sterile and beaucratic. Stewart, who once headed a venture capital firm and later the National Small Business Association, cites figures showing that between 1969 and 1976 about 9 million jobs were created in the United "Three million of them were created by state and local government" he said, the remainder by small business. The one thousand largest industrial concerns began with 16 million and ended with that." One of the best jobs of compiling Small Business statistics is by the National Small Business Association, a private group, which earlier this year pre-sented testimony before a House committee that:

"First and most generally, small business is 98 percent of the nation's business concerns, 37 percent of the nation's national product, 43 percent of the nation's gross business product.'

You get the idea; Small Business is more important than many of us realize. It is even essential, as a supplier, to the survival of Big Business. But its needs often are ignored, even by government.

"Small business gets crumbs from the federal procurement table," the Small Business Association, a private group, testified. For each $10 of federal procurement, Big Business gets $7.61, Small Business $2.39, it claims.

One of the problems in discussing Big Business vs. Small is in determining where the line is drawn. The Small Business Administration — that is the government agency - places the cutoff at 500 employees. While this criteria is widely used, it is not universal, and some of the numbers cited by various groups spread more confusion than light. Uniform government figures, therefore, might be one of Stewart's

With a Small Business advocate appointed, there is the suggestion that the Small Business fight is just beginning. But in fact it has considerable momentum. President Carter, for example, was enlisted as an ally while he was still a

Now that he is president, Small Business supporters will not let him forget. Nor are there indications he has. The president's letter to Cabinet heads regarding the White House conference made that

In the letter he told them to appoint "either an assistant secretary or personal aide to deal directly with the Honorable A. Vernon Weaver," administrator of the Small Business Administration.

Carter was firm in what he desired, saying he wanted them to be able to tell not about plans but accomplishments in improving the climate between small business and the administration. Weaver, a former Little Rock, Ark., insurance broker, and his deputy, Patricia Cloherty, a former financial executive, will conduct 12 regional forums to prepare for the conference, to be in January "It represents probably the opportunity of a century for small business to express itself," said

Disturbed jurist resigns at Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Suspended Superior Court Chief Justice Robert M. Bonin, censured by the state

Supreme Court and facing ouster by the Legislature, resigned from the court Wednesday. "The Legislature has spoken," Bonin said in a written statement delivered to the news media and the governor. He is the first chief justice to leave under fire in the state's history. Bonin, who called the resignation "a bad precedent," said: "I hope it will not be a prologue to future actions against other judges. The media played a role — they thoroughly pre-tried me."

A spokesman for the governor said, "The governor will accept Justice Bonin's resignation. He regrets the events of the past several months, but is relieved that the matter has been finally resolved. The Legislature voted overwhelmingly - the House on Monday and the Senate on Tuesday - in favor of a petition to remove Bonin as chief justice. Bonin was censured by the state Supreme Court July 8 for attending a lecture by author Gore Vidal held to benefit men awaiting Superior Court trials on various sex offenses.

The state Senate's Judiciary Committee, which recommended the ouster, had also cited Bonin's acceptance of a car leased by an insurance company as an example of improper conduct. The Supreme Court did not find any impropriety in the arrange-

The committee majority chose not to believe Bonin's testimony before the Supreme Court in which he claimed he did not know the lecture would be connected to defendants awaiting trial in his court. The court found there was insufficient evidence to prove Bonin was aware of the link.

Gov. Michael Dukakis, who appointed Bonin 11/2 years ago and recently demanded his resignation, needs only the consent of the Executive Council before removing the 46-year-old judge from the Bonin's attorney, Paul Sugarman, said he was considering appealing the Legislature's action to federal court, saying the vote for removal was "smacking of unconstitutionality."

House votes to cease U.S. economic aid to Syria

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House wants to wipe out U.S. economic aid to Syria in the next fiscal year to protest what one congressman calls massive shelling of defenseless civilians in Lebanon.

Lawmakers voted 280-103 Wednesday night to eliminate the $90 million aid program for Syria after rejecting an earlier call for a $45 million cut and pleas by others in the House to withhold punitive action altogether.

foreign policy, the House:

—Approved 229-180 a move to end this country's participation in a United Nations trade embargo against old punitive action altogether.

In other key votes involving U.S.

Rhodesia. To ensure the embargo is lifted, the Rhodesian interim government must keep a promise to hold free elections by year's end.

—Voted initially to halt U.S. arms shipments to Chile, and then reversed itself after strenuous objections from the Justice Department. The proposed cutoff was designed to force Chile to extradite three men indicted here for the murder of Orlando Letelier, a former Chilean ambassador to the United States.

The vote on Syrian aid was part of a $7.3 billion foreign assistance bill, while the Rhodesian and Chilean amendments were attached to a $1 billion foreign military aid authorization. Both measures are headed for

House-Senate conference commit-

Rep. Edward Derwinski, R- Id., sponsor of the Syrian cuttoff for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, charged, "Syria has been waging a massive, indiscriminate shelling of a defenseless population resulting in hundreds of civilian deaths' and thousands of wounded and homeless."

Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., failed to round up support for a substitute amendment that would have slashed the aid by $45 million—enough, he said, to "send Syria a message."

But others felt the cutoff was the wrong action. Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., noting the new U.S. ambassador to Lebanon would be holding talks with Syria's foreign minister, said:
"The stakes are too high for 435 members of the House at 9: 15 at night to play secretary of state."

About 25,000 Syrian troops comprise the bulk of an Arab peacekeeping force in Lebanon that arrived in 1976 after a bloody civil war. For several months, however, the Syrians have been fighting Christian forces mainly in the Beruit area and have killed several hundred.

The House vote to end participation in the Rhodesian embargo follows Senate approval of a similar bill last week. But senators added a requirement that the embargo end only after the president certified that Rhodesia had made a good-faith effort to negotiate with all parties including the Patriotic Front guerrillas.

Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., and other House members argued that forcing Rhodesia into all-party talks would give undue recognition to communist groups and undermine the internal settlement that has brought moderate black leaders into the Rhodesian government.

The aid cutoff for Chile was proposed by Rep. Thomas R. Harkin, D-Iowa, who wanted to halt al $28 million in military materiel in the pipeline until the three Chileans are sent to this country. The plan was adopted by voice vote.

But shortly afterwards, Justice Department liaison officers began contacting House members to raise objections. They argued that the formal request for extradition hasn't been made yet, and the Chilean judicial process hasn't had a chance to consider the case.

Later, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., moved to reconsider the Harkin amendment and it was over-

A federal grand jury on Tuesday indicted eight persons in connection with the 1975 murder of Letelier, whose car was blown up on a Washington street. Among the eight were the three Chileans: Gen. Juan Manule Contreras Sepulveda, former head of the Chilean secret police; and two secret police employees, Pedro Espinoza Bravo and Armando Fer-

Dollar makes strong showing against yen

By JAMES R. PEIPERT

LONDON (AP) — The dollar recovered strongly on the world's money markets today, reversing at least temporarily the steady slide that took the U.S. currency to record lows against the Japanese yen and Swiss franc.

The dollar closed Wednesday at 184.65 yen. That was the eighth consecutive record closing low for the U.S. currency since it slid below the 200-yen mark

The price of gold, which investors turn to in times of monetary instability, was spurred by the decline of the dollar. It breached the psychologically important $200 barrier last Friday and reached an all-time high of $207.50 during trading Tuesday.

A London dealer said Japanese authorities had been buying the dollar and that there also was a large commercial order for the currency.

He said there also is a growing opinion on the foreign exchange market that the dollar's weakness over the past few weeks has been overdone. Speculators seem to be buying dollars with the hope that its fortunes are changing.

One Tokyo dealer said the dollar's downward trend had been broken. But he added a note of caution, suggesting that the rally may be temporary and that the U.S. currency may be headed for a period of "wide fluctuations."

Mideast problems probed by speaker

Max Galillee, a citizen of Israel who now is residing in the United States, told members of the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon: "Your lifestyle in the future will be affected by what happens in the Middle East" in the next few years. He added that the borders of the United States do not end at Mexico or Canada, but extend on to the Sea of Mr. Galillee, who was introduced by Lion Duke Jimerson, spoke on the subject "Israel and the Middle East." He also was the speaker today noon at the meeting of the Downtown Rotary club in the Hilton.

The speaker reviewed briefly the history of his native land and the events leading up to its creation in 1948. He also cited the tremendous contributions made by the Jewish people of Palestime to the Allied nations during World.War II.

Stating his belief that the United States is morally responsible for continuing its support of Israel, Galillee stressed the fact that whatever happens in the Middle East, the U.S. "is morally and spiritually responsible," because "you created the second

"If you sell Israel down," he continued, "you will be selling yourself down."

He added that by supporting Israel, the United States will have an ally which can be counted on.

He also urged his listeners to "support your government" and assume world leadership, by example, in the conservation of energy. He also warned against overspending and deficit financing by the federal government.

Galillee described conditions as they exist in Israel today and invited Americans to visit his country. He told what Israel is doing in the way of industrial and agricultural development and of the progress which has been registered in recent years. He said that the electronic industry is a big thing in Israel today.

Midland Cubs sweep Shreveport series

BY TED BATTLES

The Midland Cubs concluded a 10game homestand in first place, exacty where they were when it started. The big difference is that they no longer have to feel guilty about it.

Coming off a disillusioning 3-7 road trip, the Cubs were tied for first, but with an embarrassing 12-12 record. The Cubs weren't alone in their misery. The East Division had so mistreated all the West Division teams that they were thinking of renaming them the First and Second.

But after winning nine of 10 against Tulsa and Shreveport, the last eight in a row, all that has changed as the Cubs prepare to return to intra-division skirmishing at San Antonio Fri-

Midland is 21-13 for the second half Texas League chase and has managed to open some daylight over the

Midland concluded the sweep of the Shreveport Captains with a 9-4 victory Wednesday night at Cubs Stadium as third baseman John Hartin, the heretofore silent member of the Cubs entourage, went 4-for-4 with a triple and two runs batted in to lead

AN IDEA of the kind of offense Midland has been generating at home is reflected most accurately in the runs column. Through 10 games, Midland scored 101 runs.

The Cubs pitching hasn't needed that kind of support, but they aren't complaining.

The string of four straight complete games was ruptured Wednesday, but Lee Smith still managed 6 2/3 innings of six-hit bail before turning it over to Mike Allen, who finished up in runless style. The win leveled Smith's record at 8-8. Lee left leading 8-4, but had thrown a lot of pitches and the big cat from from Jamestown, La., was beginning to labor and with bullpen beginning to show signs of rust, Manager Jim Saul didn't hesitate to go to the bullpen.

The defeat was pinned on Randy Tate, 2-5, the former major leaguer make it home on Steve Macko's single to right, which was no way to start a rally. However, a walk to Joe Her-nandez loaded the bases and Eric Grandy lined a vicious sinlge off Tate's leg to score one run. The other tally came home on a wild pitch.

A walk and Dick Walterhouse's 12th homer tied it in the fourth, but the Cubs were just warming up. With two out in the fourth, Hartin tripled to the fence in center, Seibert spiked a hit to right-center and when the defense took its time relaying the ball in, limped into second with a run scoring double. Macko's single then scored Kurt, still hobbled by a sore hip bome after being hit by a pickoff throw in

The Cubs got three more in the fifth off Shreveport's ace reliever Bob Weismiller. Once again Hartin contributed a key hit. Kevin Drury opened the inning with a single and stole second. Evers singled up the middle for one run and Hartin moved him to third with his third hit, and the run scored when third baseman John Dean's throw to second in an attempt to catch Hartin advancing wound up in right. Seibert then singled off the right field fence to plate Hartin. Midland's final run came in the eighth when Drury singled and came around on hits by Greg Keatley and

IN THE midst of the streaking Cubs' success, the sick bay list is the only disturbing note. Third baseman Javier Fierro, hit in the head by a pickoff throw in the second game of the series on Sunday, still remains under observation. Outfielder Brian Rosinski remains out with a pulled hamstring muscle and, of course, Seibert is playing while ailing.

Still, the fillins, Tracy in right, Bill Evers, the reserve catcher, on first, and Hartin at third, have combined to ease what could have been a disaster. Not only are they doing the job in the field, but are pulling their weight at the plate. What's more, all three are rookies who just joined the club from Pompano Beach in the last few

CUB CUBES-Pitcher James Overstreet, who came up from Pompano, was returned to Pompano and then came back to Midland a few weeks later, is gone again, this time to the Wichita Aeros. He left for his home in Indianapolis by car just before Wednesday's game and will join Wichita there...Jack Ledbetter, who has been languishing on the disabled list and was beginning to wonder if he'd ever get back on the roster, was reactivated. TORONTO (AP) - Rookie quarterback Rodney Allison came off the bench in the third quarter and fired a fourth-quarter touchdown Wednesday night, leading the Toronto Argonauts to a 16-11 comeback victory over Montreal Alouettes and sole possession of first place in the Eastern Conference of the Canadian Football League. He is a former Odessa High standout.

Allison, a graduate of Texas Tech, hit slotback Slade Willis on a 31-yard touchdown pass on the first play of the fourth quarter to give Toronto a 13-10

Ian Sunter later added a 31-yard field goal at the five-minute mark and from that point on the game was controlled by the Toronto defense.

The win gives Toronto a 4-1 record, while the loss leaves Montreal at 3-2 and in a second-place tie with Ottawa Rough Riders, who hold a game in Montreal took a 10-6 lead in the third quarter after Dickie Harris recovered a Mark Bragagnolo fumble on the Toronto 33.

during AAU competition THE WOODLANDS, Texas (AP) -Teen-age women swimmers Tracy Caulkins, Kim Linehan and Cynthia Woodhead are taking up the same record-breaking chorus at the Amateur Athletic Union Long Course Championships that they played in April at the AAU Short Course meet. And the East German women likely are listening.

Caulkins and Linehan set world records previously held by East Germany Wednesday night and Woodhead issued a warning that the U.S. women are serious about international swimming competition.

We don't care if the East Germans are taking steroids or lifting weights or what, we're not afraid of them," Woodhead said after setting a meet record in the preliminaries of the women's 400-meter freestyle.

Linehan, 14, reeled off a world record 4:07.66 in the finals of the 400 freestyle and Woodhead, who was on a world record pace early in the 1 ace, finished second.

Caulkins, the 15-year-old Nashville, Tenn., schoolgirl, followed with a world record of 2:15.09 in the 200 individual medley.

"I'd like to go to the World Championships and break the record again," said Linehan, the 1976 Junior Olympic champion in the event. "I'd at least like to see someone from the U.S. break it."

Caulkins set five individual American records at the AAU Short Course Championships in April and Woodhead broke two others.

Steve Lindquist, Jonesboro, Ga., set a world record in the men's 200-meter individual medley with a 2:04.39 clocking but he couldn't keep pace with Jesse Vassallo in Wednesday night's finals.

Vassallo won the event in 2:05.90 and Lindquist, the 1976 Junior Olympic champ, finished second in Jeff Float, Sacramento, Calif., upset world record holder Brian Goodell in the finals of the men's 400 meter freestyle with a time of 3:54.32. Bill Forrester, Auburn, Ala., the fastest qualifier into the finals, was second and Goodell finished fifth.

"I'll have a time in mind when we go to the World Championships," Caulkins said. "But there are so many good swimmers there that we'll be racing against people instead ef

Williams predicts Jackson gone

When Billy/ Williams heard the announcement that Billy Martin would return as New York Yankees mana.ger in 1980, his immediate reaction was "That means Jackson is gone.'

Although Billy set a National League record for consecutive games played while with the Chicago Cubs for most of an illustrious major league career, Williams' interest in the Plights and Perils of the Yankees' turmoil-torn Reggie was more than casual. After all, they had been close at Oakland in the final years of Billy's playing career.

'He couldn't communicate with the other players on the team. He was getting so much rnore than they were and his problems differed," Billy reflects. "There was the pressure of the press and demands of the other media, so they arranged for us to have adjoining rooms with a door between so we could communicate on road trips."

Williams continued, "They felt since I had gone through those pressures at Chicago I might be able to help. And it's something Ernie (Banks) and I discussed often, the constant demands. Sometimes you wouldn't believe it. That's one reason Pete Rose's batting streak is so pressure enough, but I know what he's going through off the field and it's surprising he has any concentration left.'

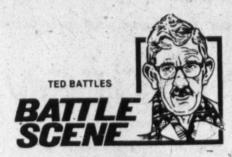

According to Williams, "New York is the worst place of all. I ran into it one year when I was hitting .400 in June when we hit New York. You can take your hotel room phone off the hook and they still put calls through." But that's New York."

NATURALLY, BILLY is sympathetic to Jackson's situation because of their friendship and his appreciation of Reggie as a competitor.

He agrees Reggie seems to thrive on chaotic conditions in which he is involved. When the world is crumbling around him, Reggie seems to be at his best. It's almost as if it were a necessity.

"He's an emotional player, a fierce competitor, but most of all he's a winner.'

"In fact, all of those Oakland players were highly competitive, Bando, Jackson and the rest. They left the clubhouse fights, and they had some dandies, in the clubhouse. On the field, they did their job. When they needed the clutch hit, they got it. And no one was tougher in a big game than Ken Holtz-

man. He's the kind of guy you liked to see with the ball when you had to have a win.

He's not the same kind of pitcher now that he was then. With Chicago the first time and Oakland, he was a power pitcher. Now, he'll curve you and changeup. He's been inactive for a year and a half and it's going to take him a while with Chicago and those National League hitters like to wait for that changeup."

RETIRED A couple of years now, Williams' career spanned the era of the old parks to the current crop cut-from-thesame-mold stadium and talking to Billy, one gets the impression he still has a soft spot in his heart for the relics of yore.

"What they have done is move the fans back away from the field. They are no longer as much a part of the game as they were. I never played in Ebbets

Field, but I played in most of the old parks as well as new, even the Polo Grounds where the Mets played when they first came into the league. For a fly ball pull hitter, it was a paradise with its short foul lines (257 to right and 279 to left), but if you hit straight away, it was like Grand Canyon.

"I liked to hit in Shibe Park (Philadelphia) and Wrigley Field, although it wasn't as easy as some think to hit one out. Crosley (Cincinnati) had that terrace in left and many a fielder, including me, slipped going up that thing.'

Billy's emotions are mixed about Boston's Fenway Park. "I'd like to be a righthanded hitter there. For a lefty, it's not that easy to get a hit to right, that's a big field out there. If I played in Fenway, I'd hit a lot of doubles because I didn't hit that many fly balls. I was mostly a line drive hitter."

Williams regards County Sta-dium in Milwaukee as the fairest park of all to both hitter and pitcher. "Make a good pitch and the batter is out. Make a mistake to a batter and he can put it out."

AS A batting coach for the Chicago Cubs minor league clubs, Billy gets a chance to see all the young players in the organization and noted that moving former Midland Cub Ed Putman up from Wichita should benefit Chicago. "He's swinging the bat well and can help at third, first and behind the Almost magically, Putman played third one game and had a game winning hit as a catcher the next.

Billy's criteria for judging a good hitter is the fastball. "If it's waist high, he'll make solid contact every time, whether or not it's a hit. The poor hitter will pop up the same pitch more often than he'll make good contact. And the good hitter will hit the hanging curve, too.'

And if Midland Cubs GM Bill Rigney, Jr., is still trying to figure out who got the first major league hit in Houston, our trivia question earlier in the week, it was Billy, the first game in old Colt Stadium. Admittedly, it was a tough question because one just doesn't associate Williams and trivia in the same thought procedures.

Yankees, Bosox in 5-5 standoff in 14 innings

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) - It all depends on your point of view, so the Boston Red Sox acted like they won Wednesday night's game while the New York Yankees wore the mien of losers.

The scoreboard, however, read 5-5 when play was halted after 14 innings at 1:16 a.m. today. The game will be completed before tonight's regularly scheduled contest. The Red Sox, who have been slumping of late, felt like winners because they trailed 5-0 after three innings, caught up with two runs in the fourth two in the sixth and one in the eighth and survived New York threats in the 12th and 14th.

And the Yankees felt like losers because they helped the Red Sox rally by contributing three wild pitches and a pair of bases-loaded walks and wasting a 12-7 hit advantage.

"What they got we gave them, damn near all of it," said Manager Bob Lemon.

Don Zimmer, whose Red Sox have dropped 11 of their last 14 games and have seen their American League East lead shrink from 10 games on July 8 to 4½ over the Milwaukee Brewers — the Yankees trail by 6½ and the Baltimore Orioles are 71/2 out - isn't about to throw back anything these days.

"We got a few breaks," he conceded. "A couple of wild pitches and walks went in our favor. We were lucky to get five runs. On top of that, when it's 1:15 in the morning and you can't win, you've got to be satisfied with a tie.

In other AL action, the Orioles edged Milwaukee 6-5 in the completion of Monday night's suspended game, but the Brewers took the regularly scheduled contest 5-3; the Cleveland Indians downed the Kansas City Royals 5-2; the California Angels trounced the Oakland A's 8-2 and the Seattle Mariners defeated the Minnesota Twin's 3-1.

The Yzınkees jumped to an early lead over the Red Sox, scoring four times off Andy Hassler in the second inning on Lou Piniella's single, a walk, a two-base error by left fielder Jim Rice, Graig Nettles' two-run single and Willie Randolph's RBI double. They nicked Tom Burgmeier for a run in the third on Piniella's double and a single by Chris Chambliss.

But the Red Sox began chipping away in the fourth, scoring twice on a walk, the first of Jerry Remy's three singles, a wild pitch, Rice's RBI grounder and Carlton Fisk's single.

New York starter Dick Tidrow left in the sixth after singles by Rick Burleson and Berny and a walk to Rice loaded the bases with none out. Rich Gossage walked Carl Yastrzemski to force in a run and, after retiring Fisk on a foul pop and fanning Fred Lynn, he also walked Jack Brohamer, making it 5-4.

Boston tied it in the eighth on Rice's leadoff double, Gossage's wild pitch and Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly.

Burgmeier, Bill Campbell and Dick Drago held the Yankees to six hits and no runs over the last 11 innings. Gossage allowed two hits and was charged with one run in seven innings and Sparky Lyle hurled two scoreless

"The way we hit tonight, I'd have to say I'm happy to be tied," said Zimmer, whose suddenly impotent sluggers managed only seven hits and haven't homered in six games. "We didn't exactly knock the ball all over the place.

The Red Sox received a big boost from Campbell, whose sore elbow had Itmited him to 291-3 innings before Wednesday night. He came on in the seventh, pitched out of a first-andthird, one-out jam and worked 52-3 innings, allowing two hits and striking

"My elbow still hurts, but that's the best I've felt since last year," he said. "I felt loose, even after the rain The game was held up for 35 minutes in the top of the eighth and again for 18 minutes after 12 innings. Orioles 6-3, Brewers 5-5

Hat trick wins for Portland

By The Associated Press

John Bain provided the first hat trick in Portland history as the Timbers defeated the Colorado Caribous 3-1 in North American Soccer League action Wednesday night.

Bain put the Timbers on the scoreboard at 28: 49 with assists from Clyde Best and Willie Anderson

Jomo Sono scored for Colorado at 49: 02 but Bain put the Timbers ahead again at 53:29 when he converted a penalty kick resulting from Tommy Lang's foul in the penalty area. Bain then put the match out of reach with an unassisted goal at 76:08.

The Timbers are 20-10 and the victory insured them a homefield advantage when the NASL playoffs open next week.

In other NASL action, the Cosmos beat Washington 2-1; Detroit blanked New England 1-0; Tampa Bay routed Toronto 5-1; Philadelphia edged Rochester 3-2; Chicago nipped Houston 2-1 in overtime; Memphis shut out California 3-0; Minnesota whitewashed Los Angeles 5-0 and Seattle edged Oakland 2-1 in a shootout.

Vladislav Bogicevic scored early in the first half and Washington defender Jim Steele booted the ball into his own net for another goal as the Cosmos defeated Washington. Paul Cannell scored for the Dips in the 59th minute with a diving seven-yard header off Ray Graydon's perfect Trevor Francis scored with less than 10 minutes remaining and De-troit goalie Steve Hardwick stopped Chris Turner's penalty kick with five minutes left, leading Detroit over New England. Francis has now scored 19 goals in just 17 games.

Jimmy Husband scored three goals as Memphis beat California and assured itself of a playoff spot.

Arno Steffenhagen scored at 3: 45 of overtime, leading Chicago over Houston, ending the Hurricane's playoff hopes. Houston needed the win to stay in the running for the wild card playoff spot, which the Memphis Rogues

Pat Fidelia scored two goals and Rochester defender Nelson Cupello kicked the ball into his own net with 2:10 remaining as Philadelphia defeated Rochester. Fidelia, who entered the game with 21 minutes to play, scored at 81:30 with an assist to John Giles and again at 87: 13. David Robb scored three goals and assisted on a fourth as Tampa Bay beat Toronto and moved into a firstplace tie in the American Conference East with New England with one game to play.

Charley George scored two goals as Minnesota moved past Tulsa into first place in their division and handed Los Angeles it seventh straight loss and 12th in the last 13 games. Ace Ntsoelenge, Mark Moran and Alan West scored for the Kicks in a span of 5:01 in the second half to put the game out of reach.

Mike Cave scored one goal in late in the first half and added another during an overtime shootout Wednesday night as Seattle beat Oakland. Cave scored at 43:11 to give Seattle a 1-0 lead but Johnny Moore scored for Oakland at 66:04 to tie the match at

NL honors Rose for play in July

NEW YORK (AP) - Pete Rose, whose recently ended 44-game hitting streak was the second longest of alltime, was selected the National League's Player of the Month for July, league President Chub Feeney announced Wednesday.

On the final day of the month, Rose tied Willie Keeler's NL mark of hitting in 44 straight games, but was handcuffed by Larry McWilliams and Gene Garber of Atlanta on the first day of August.

Rose's figures for the month were a batting average of .379 on 44 hits in 116 at-bats, 17 runs scored and eight runs batted in. Rose's sensational month carried him to the league leadership

Other NL players who had an exceptional month were Jack Clark of San Francisco, who set a Giants record for consecutive games with a hit - 26; Reggie Smith of Los Angeles, who hit home runs in four straight games; Bill Buckner of Chicago, who hit .373 for the month; Cincinnati's George Foster, who had nine homers and 27 RBI in July; Oscar Gamble of San Diego, who batted .394.

Vilas superb in win

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) - Guillermo Vilas of Argentina has opened defense of his 1977 championship in the $75,000 Grand Prix tournament at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club with an effortless victory over Butch Seewagen. quarter-finals by defeating Lito Alvarez 6-1, 6-2.

Vilas, the 1977 U.S. Open winner who has not made a strong showing this year, defeated the Columbia University coach 6-2, 6-0 Wednesday night, winning the last 11 games.

Earlier in the day, John McEnroe battled with officials but won his match to move into the quarterfinals. The tempermental McEnroe was booed from the stands as he left the court Wednesday, a 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 winner over Keith Richardson.

McEnroe, a 19-year-old rookie pro who is seeded second behind Vilas, was incensed over calls from the third game of his match to the end. He spent almost 25 minutes of the two-hour match arguing with officials. Tournament director Gene Scott intervened at one point to calm the youngster.

"I can't take it," said a discouraged McEnroe after the match. "This was the worst. I used to think it was right when I questioned a call which I thought was wrong. But I guess I just must be wrong because of the way the fans react.

Third-seeded John Lloyd of England also advanced to the quarter-finals, beating John James of Australia 6-1, 6-0. Balazs Taroczy of Hungary, seeded No. 4, started slowly but overpowered Alvaro Betancur of Colombia 7-6, 6-0 in a first-round match.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - "He has the best serve in tennis," said Rick Fisher of top-seeded Roscoe Tanner after Tanner disposed of him 6-1, 6-2 in a $75,000 Grand Prix tournament at New Orleans. Fifth-seeded Vic Amaya also advanced to today's

In other top singles matches, second-seeded Dick Stockton beat Marcelo Lara 6-3, 6-4 and sixth-seeded Brian Teacher beat Trey Waltke 6-2, 6-2.

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP) - Top-seeded Eddie Dibbs has moved into the third round of the $175,000 international tennis tournament at Mt. Cranmore Stadium.

Dibbs overpowered Van Winitsky Wednesday, 6-1,

In the tounament's first match involving two seeded players, No.7 Wojtek Fibak of Poland eliminated No.10 Arthur Ashe 0-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In other second-round matches Wednesday, defending champion John Alexander of Australia, the No.9 seed, downed Chris Sylvan 6-4, 6-2; secondseeded Brian Gottfried beat Pat DuPre 7-5, 6-3; No.3 seed Manuel Orantes of Spain downed Mike Fishback 6-1, 6-0; fourth seed Corrado Barazzutti of Italy defeated Francisco Gonzales of Puerto Rico, 6-1, 6-2; unseeded Tom Gullikson upset No. 15 Bob Lutz 7-5, 6-4, and No. 5 seed Harold Solomon stopped Sweden's Doug Palm 6-0, 6-1.

Nicklaus likes faster green for PGA play

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) - The greens are groomed for speed in golf's 60th PGA Championship. Jack Nicklaus ® will drink to that. Lanny Wadkins

"The faster the better. Anytime you have fast slick greens you eliminate an awlful lot of fellows," said Nicklaus, who sipped cold orange juice after Wednesday's final practice

But Wadkins wasn't toasting the putting surfaces at Oakmont Country Club, where championship play begins today.

I got here, saw the greens, and decided I wasn't going to have any drinks or coffee all week," said Wadkins, the defending PGA champ who's failed to make the cut in eight of 20 tournaments this year.

"It's just going to be a case of how good your nerves are, and I figure I'll need all the help I can get," added Wadkins, who was to play in a threesome with Nicklaus and U.S. Open titlist Andy North.

Nicklaus, coming off consecutive victories at the British Open and the Philadelphia Classic, is bidding for his fifth PGA title. That would tie him with Walter Hagen for the all-time

After playing here two days last week. Nicklaus skipped all but the final practice round this week.

"I found the greens to be faster last week. They put a little water on them, and I think they needed a little water," he said.

"I like fast greens, but I was hoping they weren't overreacting to a 63 shot here in 1973 and trying to make the golf course so nobody could play it." Nicklaus referred to the final-round 63 that Johnny Miller shot here to win the 1973 U.S. Open. The score, still a record for Oakmont and the Open, came on a day when the greens were slow and mushy due to heavy rain-Since then, the Oakmont Country

Club has reconditioned the greens, working sand into the roots of the grass to make the putting surfaces harder, more resilient to rain, and

"The course is fine," Nicklaus said

Wednesday. "I like the fast greens because the better players win on fast greens. I've had lots of times when I've had trouble with fast greens. But when I'm' playing well, when I'm right, then I feel I'm usually right up there with this kind of course.

Arnold Palmer would agree with that. He remembers when he lost to Nicklaus here in the 1962 U.S. Open.

"Jack has a knack for putting these greens which is not common among most of the players," said Palmer. I recall in 1962 he 3-putted only once in 90 holes, and that in itself is a major accomplishment.' That's why Palmer regards Nicklaus as the obvious favorite here.

't know that there is any who merits the favored position Nicklaus does, " said Palmer, who has never won the PGA. "You can talk about the other guys,

Tom Watson and the guys that have played good recently, and you still have to come back to Jack. Beyond fast greens, the PGA has a

"I've got to learn to putt these greens a little better," the long-hitting Floridian said this week.

"They're faster than what we're used to, but I'm going to work on it a couple of hours a day and see what I can do.'

Second on the money list is Nicklaus with $243,622, followed by Watson at $222,729 and Lee Trevino at $203,920. During practice this week, Trevino winked at the gallery, then gently tapped a downhill putt of about 12

Cowboy kicker demands to be traded away

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -Dallas placekicker Efren Herrera who is being fined $500 each day he is absent from the Cowboys' training camp, has asked the team to trade

Herrera, who already owes the Super Bowl champion Cowboys $6,500 for his absence so far in camp, said Wednesday the team has failed to offer him a salary commensurate with his standing as the top kicker in the National Football League.

"At this time, I'd like to be traded, "said Herrera. "If they don't think as highly of me as I think of myself, it's time to move on.

'It's gone too far. I don't think they have any plans for me here. Maybe it's time to move to another team which appreciates me more than the Cowboys. Herrera was believed asking a salary of about $80,000. The Cowboys have offered an estimated salary of $45,-

Herrera said there is no way he would report to camp without a new contract, but said he doesn't want to

Tex Schramm, president and gen-eral manager of the Cowboys, said that if the Cowboys can accommodate Herrera and at the same time benefit the team through a trade, it would do

The Cowboy position is that Herrera is under contract for an additional soption year, and is in violation of that contract.

"His union bargained an agreement which provided for him becoming a free agent and offering his services on the market," said Schramm. "Our postion is he should fulfill his contract and the union agreement."

Houston tops girls competition during national rodeo contest

HURON, S.D. (AP) - Linda Houston of Armuchee, Tenn., took the lead in the girls all-around standings Wednesday night with an upset win in the barrel race during the final hours of the first go-round of the National High School Rodeo Finals.

All top times in the five timed events were toppled during the night as new leaders emerged in team rop-ing, steer wrestling, calf roping, breakway roping and the barrel

The first of six performances in the second and final go-round was scheduled to start today and run through Saturday.

By winning the barrel race Wednesday night with a time of 17.41 seconds, Miss Houston moved former event leader Kerri Beaman of Colorado Springs, Colo., down to fourth place.

In addition, the 17-year-old junior, competing in four events, finished the night leading in the girls all-round standings with a total of 173.71 points. Candy Thoreson of Gruver, Texas, was the runnerup with 168 points. J.R. Clark of Alliance, Neb., continued to dominate the boys all around standings with 194.29 total points. The 18-year-old senior, competing in three events, finished the night in third place in bull riding and second in bareback.

The runnerup in the boys all-around standings was Danny Salisbury of Vici, Okla.

Two fast times considered equivalent to professional times were set in the boys team roping.

Spike Guardipee and Dick Powell of Browning, Mont., completed the event in a time of 8.88 seconds while the team of Barry Rose and Mike Oden of Yuma, Ariz., turned in a

DiMaggio almost hit in 73 straight games

The Los Angeles Times

On the night of July 17, 1941, 67,468 fans buzzed with excitement as a majestic figure wearing No. 5 on the back of his pinstriped uniform came to bat, took his splay-footed stance and hoped for a fast ball.

For 56 straight games, Joe DiMaggio found a way to get one or more hits from the flower of American League pitching. But now it was the ninth inning before the largest crowd ever to see a night baseball game in Cleveland, and the Indians' relief pitcher looked nervous. There were men on first and second with one out. Joe DiMaggio was down to his last out. But he had been down to his last out

Williams put on probation

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) -Dwight Williams, Providence College's play-making guard, has been placed on unsupervised probation for a year after pleading no contest to a charge that he assaulted a fellow student with a knife.

Wednesday after hearing the young basketball star say he would not contest the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Williams, 20, of Buffalo, N.Y., had earlier pleaded innocent to the assault charge and a related charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a knife. However, McKiernan dismissed the second charge.

said his client planned to finish his education at a school nearer to his home in Buffalo. However, Pisano did not say which school it would be.

Williams was suspended from Providence College on April 13 after Providence police charged him with assaulting Raymond Romagnola, 22, Somerset, Mass., in an argument jured, was a catcher for the school's baseball team.

Last season, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association named Williams player of the year in New England's District I. He was also an honorable mention choice to The Associated Press All-American team.

and one, he threw a mediocre fastball inside. DiMag hesitated. He should have let it go. Bagby would then have had to come in with two strikes. DiMag swung. He rolled one to the shortstop. Lou Boudreau turned it into a double play.

THE STREAK, baseball's best continuing drama and nightly cliff-hanger for the summer, was over. Jolting Joe had hit .408 with 91 hits in 223 times at bat during that streak, scored 56 runs, hit 15 homers and batted in 55 runs. He had taken the team from .500 ball (14-14) to a runaway position in the pennant race. The Yankees would win the pennant by 17 games.

The next day, DiMaggio went out and got a hit again, starting a streak of 16 more consecutive games. But for a couple of great backhand stabs by third baseman Ken Keltner, the consecutive-game hitting streak could have been 73 games.

It doesn't matter. Fifty-six is enough. No one will bother that first mark. Now that Pete Rose couldn't match it, we don't have anyone who can. It's as safe as the Mona Lisa.

It's funny, but when DiMaggio started on his record quest, the National League record was thought to be 33, set by Rogers Hornsby. The American League's was George Sisler's 41. But when DiMaggio passed Sisler, a San Francisco sportswriter, Jack McDonald, discovered that Wee Willie Keeler had hit safely in 44 straight games back before the turn of the century. That was in the days when a foul didn't count as a strike and the catcher caught the ball on the bounce.

No matter. Pete Rose couldn't break Wee Willie's mark. Pete Rose hit .376 during his streak, scored 30 runs, got 70 hits in 186 times at bat, had no home runs and batted in 11

The pressure may have been greater on Rose. The record was not your everyday household-word American record when DiMag set out on the spoor of it. Not till he began to nose around Hornsby's 33 did anyone bother to rummage through the record book to find what it was. Only when he broke Sisler's record did anyone discover Keeler's.

It was different for Rose. When Pete came along, DiMaggio's record was up there in lights, one of the awesome milestones in sport's history. Pete had Channel 4, Monday Night Baseball, a traveling troupe of baseball writers, agents, radio types, and the whole media circus hanging on his every time at bat.

The world was at war when DiMag set his record. Paris had fallen, the blitz was on, the Germans were in Russia, relations with Japan were deteriorating and the draft was installed. There was no television. Radio was more interested in Hitler than in hitters.

DiMag, a much more private person, might not have been able to handle the media blitz that Pete Rose carried cheerfully around on his

Rose bunted for a few of his hits. DiMag always hit away. But that might be to Pete's credit. The same force that made Caruso a tenor made DiMaggio a hitter. Pete Rose didn't get that much outside help. Nature gave him mediocre speed and more determination than coordination. Di-Maggio's streak was a graceful, inevitable thing (he had done even better in the minor leagues). Pete got his hits the way he got everything through scrap, hustle, aggressiveness, alertness, and running like hell.

If DiMaggio was a sleek 747, Pete was a World War I biplane, held together with chewing gum and piano wire. Pete was emptying the ocean with a spoon. He scraped his streak together; DiMaggio just glided to his.

DiMag's mark sits up there in high letters of gold. But Pete's is in a nice high gloss of silver. Pete's record goes to the Hall of Fame with a dirty uniform and no cap, DiMaggio's is in fresh-laundered whites. DiMag got a lot of his hits in the seats. Pete didn't get a single one he didn't have to run out like a kid stealing pies. DiMag might not have been all that sorry to see his come to an end. Pete wanted his to go on forever. Pete loves a parade. The game owes both of them a great deal. They set a high stan-dard, and we'll want to examine sternly the credentials of anyone who dares to come along and encroach recklessly on their place in history.

Berlioux to give answer to LA bid

By KENNETH REICH The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES -Monique Berlioux, executive director of the In-Committee, Wednesday dashed hopes of Los Angeles representatives for an immediate response to the city's latest Olympics contract proposal, saying it will be 10 days to two weeks before an IOC answer.

In a telephone interview from IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland, Mme. Berlioux explained the newest contract proposal must be translated into French, reviewed by IOC legal and financial advisers and possibly relayed to nine members of the IOC executive board, who are scattered around the world.

If two weeks passed before an IOC response to the contract proposal which reportedly contains a new way of awarding the 1984 Olympics to Los Angeles without financial liability to the city - it would be Aug. 16, just five days before the new deadline IOC President Lord Killanin has set for Los Anratify the contract.

And she suggested at one point, that perhaps the City Council could ternational Olympic ratify the proposal even before the IOC responded to it. The implication of this remark, and the tone of Mme. Berlioux's words Wednesday, seemed to be that she thought there was a considerable chance of a favorable IOC response to the contract proposal. At one point, the executive director remarked cryptically that when the Los Angeles-IOC negotiations on an Olympics contract are over, she would be willing to speak publicly of some factors in the background that have not been altogether evident up to now.

There have been insistent reports emanating from Europe that one reason why the IOC has

Palmer, Nicklaus cross like two ships at night

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent
OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Like two ships in the night, the paths of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer crossed just outside the PGA press tent, and an enterprising photographer leaped to the occasion.

"Mind if I get a shot of you two guys?" the cameraman asked. "Our office pulled an old picture when you were in the Open playoff here in 1962. Arnie, how about patting Jack's stomach — he was a little bigger then."

"Yeah, about 30 pounds," Nicklaus said good naturedly. "Hey, Arnie, you haven't changed much."

"Ten pounds maybe," acknowledged Palmer, now a jolly but trimlooking 190 pounds.

Harking back to that historic playoff 16 years ago which abruptly altered the course of golfing history, Palmer remembers mainly his harrowing experience on Oakmont's marble-fast greens - 11 three-putters in total - and Nicklaus recalls almost nothing at all.

"I was just a kid wanting to win my first golf tournament," Nicklaus, a 22-year-old pro rookie at the time. said. "It wasn't until years afterward, looking back, that I realized the significance of it. I said, 'Good grief, I beat Arnold Palmer, the legend, and in his his own backyard.' It was a sobering thought.' It was not for a decade or more that the full impact hit home to golf observers. It was the that humid weekend in June, 1962, that the curtain started falling on the fabulous Palmer era and the blond, fat kid from Columbus, Ohio, began his scension to a peak that may never be scaled again. Nicklaus, now 38, lean, poised and handsome as a matinee idol, goes after a record-tying fifth PGA championship today and his l6th major title covering also the Masters, British and U.S. Open classics. Palmer, never regaining his old last-gasp magic, has drifted gracefully into the background. "That big strong dude," Palmer said of his arch rival. "I knew he was pretty good. He had come close when I won the Open at Denver in 1960. But I never seriously considered him as the man who was going to take over

"Beating me as he did here in the Open certainly had to have a great deal of influence on the game - more from his standpoint than from mine. It gave him a tremendous confidence. If I had won, I might have been able to hold him off a few more years."

Magcobar eliminated

from Hi-Junior meet

PARIS - District IV champions Tyler stifled Magcobar of Midland on only three hits to blank the Lions 3-0 in the State Hi-Junior playoffs here Wednesday, eliminating the local squad from the tournament.

Mark Hewitt turned in an outstanding pitching performance in Magcobar's losing cause, giving up only seven hits and striking out 12 Tyler batters.

Macobar was sent to the losers bracket in this double elimination tournament Tuesday, dropping an 11-0 second round decision to District III champion Waco. Waco blasted Tyler 19-0 in an opening round matchup. Macobar rolled past Victoria, 12-5, n their first contest in the losers bracket. Lions pitcher Mike Young spun a six-hitter and struck out 11 to ck up that win Wednesday morn-

Young also blasted a double in the Victoria game, aiding his own cause. Larry Latch collected three singles in four trips to the plate against Victoria and Cliff Collier added a two-base Seaver's words - "almost saintly." Rose would never accept such a flowery tribute. "If you always give your best, and you really know that you have, then, hell, man, you deserve what you get. Go ahead and enjoy it," Rose said.

Noblese oblige comes naturally to Rose. He would rather talk baseball with the guy on the next luncheoncounter stool than chant mantras or study EST.

When sked if a dozen interviews a day did not exhaust him, make him loose sleep, Rose said, "Those aren't interviews. They're conversations. . .Reporters don't make me lose sleep. . I'm not sleepin' with any of 'em.

"In fact, I'm gonna miss somebody buying all my meals. . .ABC for breakfast, NBC for lunch, CBS for dinner," said Rose. "Yeah," he said, looking over theassembled media, "I'm gonna miss all you bleepbleeps.

The above dissertation was doubly interesting, doubly typical of Rose, since it was carried live on cable TV into parts of 40 states. Unexpurgated Rose is always best; leave a few thorns in the bouquet.

The euphemism is unknown to Rose, who, like Thurman Munson in the American League, is the master of the needle - baseball's truth told in

For others, that needle often turns back in the form of publicly self-inflicted wounds. The world champion Yankees have mastered the trick. But for Rose, the joke almost always works. No face ever looked less like a rose and no player ever needed Agua Velva more to cover his hustling scent. Yet Rose is surrounded by a sweetness that comes directly from a gentle, compassonate disposition.

Rose fights to keep a certain childlike exuberance. When asked where he grew up, Rose loves to say, "I was raised. I never did grow up. From every team against which Rose extended his streak, the same comments were heard. "What Rose is doing brings our game into focus for people who never appreciated it before," said Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt.

Baseball's greatest charm may be it's relations actors' faces are always visible, always recognizably human in every

For the last two weeks of his streak. every Rose night was a four-hour play with distinct acts: Rose's batting practice performance ("Is he still hot?"), fellowed by the mounting tension of his four or five at-bats.

Where football means hidden faces, camouflaged cruelty, where basketball is a welter of action, sometimes canceling itself out, baseball - at its best - is a titillating buildup to an inescapable crisis.

Rose brought the perfect day-to-day dramatic form - the long hitting streak - to the perfect stage, the clear focus of pitcher's mound and batter's box.

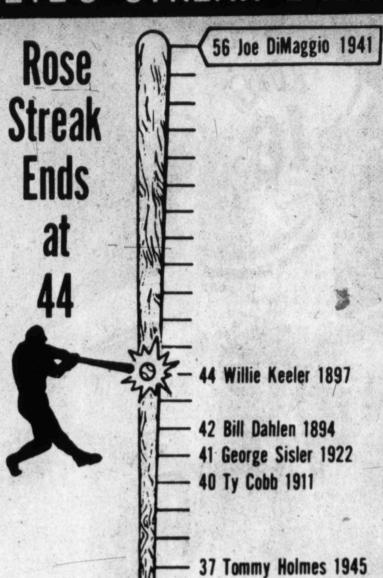

Baseball, so simple, so out-in-theopen, is only brought to its finest stage of appreciation when every detail, every slider low-and-away is studied in the midst of a crackling tension.

Rose brought that intensity, that passion for baseball's richness of detail and subtlety, with him to the plate everyday for nearly seven weeks. Even in his final swing-and-miss that ended his streak, Rose illuminated theelaborate, unwritten codes of the game - what is permitted, what is "bush," and what will get you a fastball in the ribs.

By complaining that Brave pitcher Gene Garber, working with a 12-run lead, had tried too hard to get him out in his last at bat, Rose gave himself a small black eye.

Blue Bombers capture win

WINNIPEG (AP) — Quarterback Ralph Brock fired touchdowns of 70 and 90 yards and Bernie Ruoff added three field goals Wednesday night as the Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated the Saskatchewan Roughriders 23-13 in Canadian Football League game.

Brock went the distance and con nected with 70 and 90-yard pass-andrun plays to Richard Crump and Mike Holmes for touchdowns in the first half. Ruoff converted after both touchdowns and hit from 43, 37 and 23 yards on the field goals.

The victory was the Bombers first in three games. The Riders now are winless in three games.

Saskatchewan took the opening kickoff and marched 64 yards to the Winnipeg 18 before settling for a 25-yard field goal by Bob Macoritti.

Roughriders quarterback Ron Lancaster struck early in the third quar-ter for a 19-yard touchdown pass to Frank Russell. Macoritti kicked the convert and added a 20-yard field goal in the third quarter to close out the scoring.

Cabell inks pact

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros announced Wednesday that third baseman Enos Cabell has signed a new five-year contract with the National League baseball team that runs through 1982.

Cabell, who came to the Astros in December 1974 from Baltimore in the American League, was batting .294 going into Wednesday night's game and his 129 hits ranked second in the league behind Pete Rose. Cabell, 28, was leading the Astros in runs scored, was tied for the club lead in stolen bases and was third in four other offensive categories.

Staubach likes schedul

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach says the newly expanded 16-game National Football League schedule will take its toll on players, but adds that he doesn't want to miss any of the contests.

"It figures to increase the aches and pains of everyone," Staubach said, resting in his room on the campus of California Lutheran College, where the Super Bowl champion Cowboys are training for their 1978 preseason opener against the San Francisco 49ers Saturday night in Texas Stadium.

"But you want to play every week in this game," added Staubach, regarded by many as the premier quarterback in football. "I can see taking a breather if we got far enough ahead.'

Staubach has no qualms about his backup, Danny White, who was a star in the World Football League before coming to Dallas three years ago.

"Danny definitely is capable of coming in if I'm hurt," said Staubach. "And he needs more playing time as he matures."

Missing from the line will be a familiar figure for 13 seasons at tackle for the Cowboys. Ralph Neely finally retired after the Super Bowl victory over Denver last January.

"Although Ralph will be missed, we are lucky because Rayfield Wright looks healthy again," noted Staubach. 'Rayfield missed the whole 1977 season with an injury. But he's looked good so far in practice.'

Pat Donovan, who stepped in for Wright last year, also figures to be in the starting lineup, according to Stau-

"And Andy Frederick, who had a good rookie year in 1977, is a solid backup," said the 36-year-old quarterback. "So without belittling Neely at all, I think we're in good shape at Staubach thinks that experience will make the offensive line as strong or stronger than last year.

'We're not going to be relying on so many rookies this season," he noted.

"That should be a plus for us." He believes in depth as he approaches the 1978 season.

"I think depth is important to every team, more so this year because of the 16-game regular season schedule. The teams without depth figure to be Staubach is aiming for the opening regular season game against the tough Baltimore Colts. It's a Monday night affair, Sept. 4, at Texas Sta-"Our schedule appears to be tougher this year," he said. "Besides Baltimore, we're going to be playing Los Angeles, Miami, and Minnesota outside our division. Staubach continues to be one of the most versatile quarterbacks in the game, averaging more than 350 passes and 50 rushes each of the past five seasons.

How long can he go on?
'I can't predict," he answered.
"But I really enjoy playing, and I'll keep on doing it until it's no longer

Septien seeking All-Pro slot

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) - He says confidently that he intends to be All-Pro this season, and although a longshot for that honor, Los Angeles Rams kicker Rafael Septien has a knack for getting what he wants.

A few years ago, Septien decided he wanted to leave his native Mexico City and get a free college education in the United States. A soccer player, he practiced kicking an American football for two days, took a plane to Louisiana, and booted a couple of 60-yard field goals for the Southwest Louisiana coach, securing his college education.

Septien, a darkly handsome 5-foot-9, 170-pounder who has made movies and commercials in Mexico, went on to gain All-Southland Conference honors his final two years at Southwest Louisiana.

New Orleans selected him in the 1977 National Football League draft, but he was cut - a momentary setback that led to what he now considers bigger and better things. After being released by the Saints, Septien joined the Rams less than a week before the start of last season. Showing composure rare for a rookie, he moved into the regular kicking job, finishing his first pro campaign with the fourth best field goal percentage, .600, in the National Football Conference. He hit 32 of 35 extra point tries, including a stretch of 26 "I couldn't have asked for things to work out much better than they have," said Septien, 24. "I know I was disappointed when New Orleans cut me, but it turned out to be the best thing that could happen. I'm here with a winning team, have a year's experience, and am confident about my kicking.

'I know it seems like I've been lucky, but I believe you create your own luck."

Last season, Septien proved he had good range - frequently kicking off into the end zone - but had trouble making field goals from outside the 40-yard line. He was 16 of 18 from inside the 40, but made just two of 12 attempts from beyond there. "It's important that the center, holder and kicker have experience working together," he said, "some-thing that we didn't really have last season. But the biggest thing on long kicks is the mental aspect. You've got to think positive, and I seemed to get a sort of mental block beyond 40 yards last year."

Septien said that, in addition to working on his kicking during this past off-season, he tried to cement his standing as a member of the Rams'

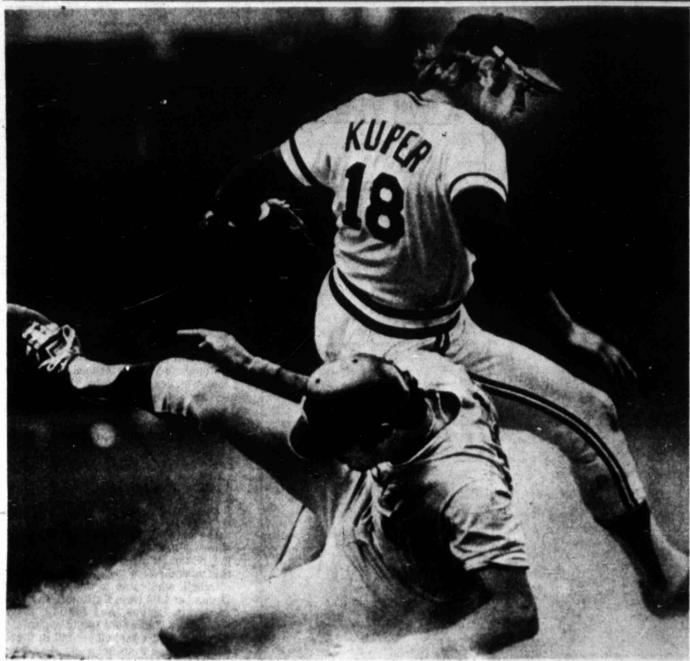

"It's difficult for a kicker some times because the rest of the players don't seem to consider him a real member of the team," Septien said.

RYE, N.Y. (AP) - Beth Daniel has no doubt she can make a living on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, but the two-time U.S. Amateur Champion dislikes being called "the next Nancy Lopez."

Daniel, from Charleston, S.C., leads the United States against Great Britain in the 20th Curtis Cup matches that start Friday at the Apawamis Country Club.

The Furman University graduate. along with Cynthia Hill of Colorado Springs, Colo., is the only holdover from the squad that defeated the British 111/2-61/2 two years ago to take a 15-2-2 lead in the international amateur rivalry that started in 1932.

For Daniel, being called the "next Nancy Lopez," is understandable, She has twice won the U.S. Women's Amateur crown, and in gaining that title in 1975, eliminated Lopez in the second round.

"I don't consider myself good enough to do what Nancy has done,' said Daniel Thursday after a practice round. "In addition to being a very good player, Nancy's a very good

"Golf is about 80 percent between your ears. That's where Nancy has it all together. You have to believe you

But Daniel, who helped Furman capture the national collegiate championship two years ago, is not in awe of Lopez, currently the leading winner on the women's pro tour.

"I know her," said the slender Daniel. "We've played together in lots of tournaments, so I don't put her on a pedestal:

"The thing that surprized me was her winning five consecutive tournaments. I know if I were in that position, I'd be wondering if I could really

What are Daniel's plans after the Curtis Cup?

"Win the U.S. Amateur again, and then turn pro," replied Beth. "People tell me I hit as long as JoAnne Carner, who has always been my idol.

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. — Top-seeded Eddie Dibbs overpowered Van Winitsky 6-1, 6-6 in a second-round match at a $175,000 international tennis tournament at Mt. Cranmore Stadium.

Defending champion John Alexander of Australia, the No 9 seed, downed Chris Sylvan 6-4, 6-2. Second-seeded Brian Gottfried beat Pat DuPre 7-3, 6-3 and seventh-seeded Wojtek Fibak eliminated 10th-seeded Arthur Ashe 9-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Third-seeded Manuel Orantes downed Mike Pishbach 6-1, 6-0 and fourth seed Corrado Barazzutti defeated Francisco Gonzales 6-1, 6-2. In other second round action, unseeded "JoAnne won the U.S. Amateur five times before joining the pro ranks. Rose also faced rookie Larry McWilliams three times — walking, lining out to the 24-year-old lefthander and grounding out to short-

McWilliams said no one had sent him messages of any kind.

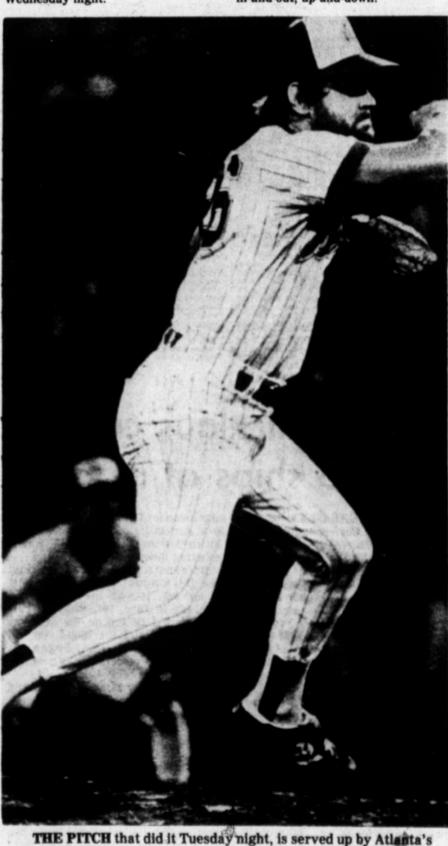

"There was no hate mail," he said. "There hasn't been time for it to get here from Cincinnati.

Rose, the scrappy Cincinnati Reds' third baseman, said Wednesday he believed he could have gotten a hit off McWilliams had the youngster stayed in the game.

"I thought I would hit Garber, too," he said. "He's not the best reliever in baseball. He probably doesn't think I'm the best hitter in baseball.

"I'm not saying anything about him bearing down. I just said he should challenge somebody. I had one pitch to swing at that was a strike. Most guys in baseball just challenge a guy in that situation. He was just trying to in-and-out, up-and-down.'

New child actor may be 'champ'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Spontaneous applause on a movie set is a totally rare event. The other day at MGM studios it happened for a towheaded, blue-eyed actor named Ricky Schroder - he is eight years old.

Franco Zeffirelli is directing Ricky, Jon Voigt and Faye Dunaway in "The

Champ," using the same stages where the father-son story was filmed 47 years ago with King Vidor directing Jackie Cooper, Wallace Beery and Irene Rich. The tale was also remade as "The Clown" with Red Skelton in

The climactic scene in the latest "Champ" would have been an ordeal for any actor, mush less an eightyear-old. Voigt lay dead in an arena dressing room, having succumbed in his comeback fight. Rickey as his unbelieving son urges the dead boxer to wake up, then frantically seeks help from the stunned bystanders in the room. They included such veterans as Jack Warden, Strother Martin and Elisha Cook Jr.

When Ricky completed the scene, those behind and in front of the camera broke into admiring applause, then wiped away tears.

"Where does that talent come from?" mused Zeffirelli in his onstage trailer before taking his ritual lunch-break siesta. "How was Mozart able to write a symphony at the age of five? Some things are unexplainable. Ricky is simply God's gift, sent to us from heaven.

Franco Zeffirelli is a chunky, goodnatured Italian of 55 who responds wryly when asked how he happened to choose "The Champ" as his first American movie. It is, after all, far removed from his other films: "Romeo and Juliet," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Brother Sun, Sister Moon" and the telvision epic, "Jesus of Nazareth.'

"I do not believe that a person must be one kind of director; that would be like putting him a prison cage," Zeffirelli remarked. "Or like telling Rossini he should stick to comic opera, in which he had been successful. If he had taken that advice, he never would have written 'William Tell,' which is a

"Like Rossini, I have the right to do other things. As a director, I have led a Jekyll and Hyde career. Americans know only the Jekyll side of my work. not the Hyde. They don't know that I introduced Edward Albee to Europe, directing 'Virginia Woolf' and 'A Delicate Balance.' On the stage, I also directed Arthur Miller's 'After the Fall' and plays of Peter Shaffer.

"Mr. Hyde's life is full of such Zeffirelli had long wanted to make an American film and searched for "a classic structure in a contemporary context." A year and a half ago he found it while finishing "Jesus of Nazareth" in London. "The Champ" of 1931 appeared on television.

"I remembered it vividly from having seen it as a boy of seven in Florence," the director recalled.

"Two films made a great impression on me: 'The Champ' and 'The Jazz Singer' with Al Jolson. Both were father-son stories, and I had just lost my mother."

Coincidentally, Zeffirelli was offered a contract by MGM production chief Richard Shepard, who immediately reacted to the suggestion of a new "Champ." Ryan O'Neal was first cast as the fighter, then he withdrew in a pique when his son wasn't cast in the Jackie Cooper role. With his career on an upswing from "Coming Home," John Voigt stepped in.

"The biggest problem was casting the boy," Zefirelli said. "I knew that I must have a superb child, just as Cooper was an extraordinary child."

His assistant found Ricky Schroder in New York, where the Staten Island boy had appeared in television commericals. Said Zeffirelli: "I knew that Ricky was good, but I didn't realize the span of his talent. He will be a big any names.

By FRED BARBASH The Washington Post

WASHINGTON -Hamilton Jordan, President Carter's closest adviser, Wednesday night portrayed the president as "relaxed and comfortable" amidst the plummeting public opinion ratings, resignations and otherwise trying times of the past few months.

But Jordan predicted Carter would "never be highly popular" because of the "tough issues" he is tackling. In a rare television in-erview on WETA's McNeill-Lehrer report, Jordan acknowledged, 'We have not done a job telling our story." He outlined briefly new steps taken by the White House to remedy that. But he said he saw no "quick fixes" or 'substitutes for solid success."

Jordan did not detail the new steps, but interviews with other White House officials suggest the administration has undertaken in the past few weeks what it regards as a major new effort to revamp its media coverage. Part of it includes an aggressive campaign to impose "discipline" throughout the White House and the executive branch. Cabinet secretaries, in addition to Carter staff members, have been told to clear major public appearances with White House media aides.

RECENTLY, AC-CORDING TO one White House official, several unidentified administration aides whose superiors thought they spoke out improperly have been disciplined.

The president and his wife, Rosalynn, have become personally inin the effort by holding a series of small White House dinners with executives and editors of major news organizations, including Time magazine, the networks, The Washington Post and Newsweek magazine. The media campaign will be taken outside of government as well, officials say, through efforts to encourage private businessmen and academics to speak out on Carter's behalf when they agree with his posi-

"We've had significant success in a number of areas," Jordan said Wednesday night. "But we simply have not gotten credit for it and have not been very good at taking credit for it."

Among the successes are several important foreign policy victories for Carter in Congress the lifting of the Turkish arms embargo and retention of economic Costanza - disciplined sanctions against Rhode-months from a longer list: Ambassador Andrew Young's comments on political prisoners, the resignation Monday of adviser Midge Costanza, the sharp encounters with House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, and the Peter Bourne affair with its embarrassing followup, a stern presidential directive to White house staffers to obey the drug

The polls, meanwhile, give the president one of the lowest favorable response ratings in recent

"WE HAVE PROB-LEMS," Jordan said Wednesday night, "but we understand the reasons for them and we have set out to do something about them."

Gerald Rafshoon, the Atlanta advertising executive brought onto the White House staff July 1, is to "sit back and take a look at the big picture and see that our programs are properly pre-sented," Jordan said.

they received word from Rafshoon's office last week they are to "clear" major public appearances with the White House. White House staffers were so instructed two weeks ago, spokesman Jody Powell has said.

Sources in the Cabinet-

level departments said

Both groups are also being given suggestions on what to say when they do appear on television or give major interviews. Rafshoon's office believes administration spokesmen must reflect agreed-upon views and stick to important issues of immediate concern to the administration.

There is a new "gettough" approach to those who step out of line, sources said. One official said there have been several persons — beyor

HE WOULD NOT ID-NETIFY them or their offenses, however. "They are people who, first, opened their mouths; second, didn't know what was going on, and three, screwed up."

The cancellation by Rafshoon of Costanza's scheduled appearance on "Good Morning America" -last week exemplifies what one official called a new toughness. 'I think the people in the country are ready to see the president show some toughness in deal-ing with his own people," the aide said. "It is not a bad thing for someone to bring some order."

Jordan said Wednesday night that he 'couldn't imagine any administration being more open, more tolerant of a variety of views, even dissent, up to the point the president makes a decision." Then, he said, "It's reasonable to expect people in his administration to support and reflect that policy in public statements.

"That is one of the things Gerald Rafshoon will be doing. We have no apologies about that,"
Jordan said.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Pesticides offer very little risk

DEAR DR. SOLOMON: Is there any danger in the pesticides that remain on the fruit and vegetables we buy? A friend of mine claims that they can be quite hazardous .-- Franny G.

DEAR FRANNY: Many controls are applied in the United States to make sure that any pesticides residues on fruits and vegetables are so slight that they are harmless. There are guidelines for application levels set forth by the Food and Drug Administration as well as the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Most pesticides break down rapidly into harmless compounds. Also, farmers must refrain from using them for a certain period before harvest.

Of course it is a good idea to rinse fruit and vegetables before use, just as a sanitary precaution. But there is enough to worry about in life without taking on pesticides as well.

DEAR DR. SOLOMON: We keep hearing about how healthy fresh vegetables are for you. Why is it then that Americans seem to be eating less and less of them ?-- W.D.

DEAR W.D.: As a matter of fact, consumption of fresh vegetables has been going up slowly but steadily during the past six years, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It seems to be due to changing eating habits emphasizing health and fewer calories. Salad bars in restaurants used to be something unusual-but now they're commonplace. And vegetables are eaten raw more often than before.

DEAR DR. SOLOMON: My husband has been having trouble with one eye, and his doctor wants to have some special pictures taken-a process that involves injecting a kind of dye into the blood. Is this test safe?--

DEAR DOROTHY: This is a safe and effective method of examining the blood vessels in the back of the eye to see if there is any leakage. The technical name is fluorescein angiography. The pupils are first dilated with special drops-as they are in an ordinary eye examination. Then the eyes are examined. After this, a fluorescent dye is injected into the arm and rapidly gets to the eye. A series of pictures of the eye are then taken with a special camera.

The dye produces a yellowish color in the skin for a few hours, but this is of no consequence and goes away by itself. The patient will notice the color in the urine as it is cleared out.

The test has become widely available only during the past few years and is an excellent diagnostic tool-enabling the eye doctor to examine the blood vessel structure in greater detail and with greater preci-

Humor writer serious about work

By PHIL THOMAS AP Books Editor

NEW YORK (AP) - Writing humor is no laughing matter. Especially if you have to do it while taking care of the baby.

"It was rough, very rough, trying to write between Jake's feedings," Andrew Ward recalls with a laugh. "My wife was out of the house nursing or teaching nursing, and it was up to me to take care of Jacob. One good thing, though, it really got me disciplined in learning how to write when I had the Things are different now, says Ward, a tall, bearded, 32-year-old. "Jake goes to nursery school, and I can write steadily." The result is Ward's recently published first book, "Fits & Starts."

Subtitled "The Premature Memoirs of Andrew Ward," the book - written because "my complexion began to clear up this year, and I bought myself a sweater vest, so it seemed a good time to write my memories"-is collection of 18 funny pieces in which Ward recalls some of the incidents that happened, or could have happened, to him as a very young

While Ward's words flow humorously along, the New Haven, Conn., writer is quick to point out that getting them to do that does not come easily to him. "Each sentence I do has to be perfect," he says. "I work long hours but very few words get written down during those hours.

"I consider it a good day if I get down 250 words. You see, I'm not the kind of writer that can write a long, rough draft and then go back and polish and repolish. From what I've read, a lot of humorists work this way it has to be right before you go on to the next sentence. Maybe it's because verbal fat shows up more in humor than it does in other kinds of writing. Humor is very punishing writing, but I consider myself a humorist and — while it may sound pretentious — I like calling myself because it imposes a clear-cut criterion on me: my work has to be funny or it fails to justify

"I guess I do humor because I've found that I have to have distance from what I'm writing about. But with distance comes detachment, and I get so detached that I can't take things very seriously. So, when my work reaches a certain pitch, I tend to go for the gag line rather than the Olympian heights. Maybe that's because humor sounds like me to me while the serious stuff I've done sounds like someone else.' Ward has been writing full time for four years and part time for a few years before that, but it took him a while to realize he wanted to be a

After a variety of jobs — "I was a soda jerk, folk singer, machinist, janitor in an old folks home, art teacher, tutor, puzzle cutter where I ran a machine that cut out jigsaw puzzles"

— Ward was sent to-India by a foundation to do a photographic study of a village and its people

"But," he recalls, "I found that I couldn't say in pictures what I really wanted to say. So I wrote text to go along with the pictures. When I got back to the United States, I decided to try my hand at a short story. I wrote it, sent it to a magazine and it was accepted. I wrote two more stories and they also were accepted. It wasn't long before I got more and more interested in writing and less and less in photography.

"I still take pictures when I'm not writing - although I'm always thinking about writing - but I also do other things, such as carpentry. I built a porch for our house. You might say that I like to putter in my middle-aged

"I guess the only peculiar thing I do. is I never throw any of my writing away. I like to fantasize that some-

Boeing operations to Italy

ROME (AP) - Aeritalia and Boeing will soon sign a contract for Italian participation in production of the U.S. aircraft manufacturer's medium-range 767 aircraft, a spokesman for the state-controlled Italian company said today.

Alfredo Mingione said the contract, under a collaboration agreement dating to 1971, is being finalized and will be signed within a few weeks.

Mingione declined to go into details but Paolo Barbi, undersecretary of state industry, said Aeritalia would build a factory near Naples employing about 1,000 persons to build part of the airplane's wings. He said operations will begin within 14 months. Financial details were not disclosed but Aeritalia reportedly would have between 15 percent and 20 percent of the joint venture.

The Boeing 767 will have a capacity of 200 passengers.

The venture is described as the first in which an Italian company helped build a major non-military airplane.

Italian police kick off search for Red Brigades

ROME (AP) — Police have aunched a nationwide search for two convicted members of the Red Brigades, Italy's most feared terrorist group, who disappeared from the small towns to which they were exiled

Nadia Mantovani, 28-year-old girlfriend of Red Brigades founder Renato Curcio, and Vincenzo Guagliardo, 30, both were sentenced to five years Imprisonment at the same trial where 13 other Red Brigades leaders were convicted of subversion.

The two were released after the trial for time already served in preventive detention, but both signed documents obliging them to report to police once a week.

Miss Mantovani was living in Sustinente, a village of 3,000 near Mantova in northern Italy. Guagliardo was living with his wife at his mother-inlaw's home in San Pietro Vallemina,

Italians planning longest bridge

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON

ROME (AP) - Seeking to fulfill a century-old Italian dream, a group of industrialists wants to link Sicily and the Italian mainland by building the world's longest suspension bridge.

The 10,800-foot span across the Strait of Messina would be more than twice the length of the Verrazano Narrows Bridge at the entrance of New York

The proposal to link the two areas is being given serious consideration by the Italian government despite concern over already high public spend-

Its sponsors contend the bridge would help end the social and political isolation of Sicily and spin off economic benefits to both sides of the waterway.

'This project will undoubtedly contribute to resolve economic and social problems of our Mezzo-giorno (the south of Italy)," says Alberto Capanna, president of the state-controlled steel company Finsider, largest shareholder of the Group for the Messina Bridge. Other members include Fiat, the automobile manufacturer; Montedision chemicals, and the Pirelli rubber company.

The 24-mile-long Strait of Messina, about two miles wide at its northern end, is an ancient graveyard of ships. Passage between Reggio Calabria on the mainland and Messina on the Sicilian side is now accomplished by a 50-minute ride on ferry boats carrying private automobiles and railway cars.

Seven years after Garibaldi landed at Sicily in 1860 to complete the unification of Italy, the government in Rome asked an engineer to study the possibility of bridging the strait. But the idea was shelved as too difficult and costly.

This century various ideas have been put forth ranging from tunnels to a steel tube to carry railroad tracks above the ocean floor, but the project really began to take shape in the 1970s when the government authorized the formation of a group to find a solution.

Recently the Messina bridge group presented scientific body, and the suspension bridge project emerged as the most feasible.

The plan envisions a single-span bridge for railway tracks and cars 210 feet above the water. The sponsors say they can build it in seven years at an estimated cost of $1.4 billion.

It would be a formidable engineering task. In addition to being twice the length of the world's longest suspension bridge, the structure will have to withstand the strong currents which have been the

> The area is also earthquake prone. A severe quake in 1908 leveled Messina.

Another problem is financing.

The sponsors say they are already in touch with American bankers and they suggest-that Italian-Americans may be interested in helping to float
