Ray denies confession attributed to him by Scotland Yard official

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Earl Ray told a Scotland Yard inspector before his return to the United States in 1968 that he killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and expected it would make him "a national hero," according to surprise evidence unveiled Friday.

Ray denied making any such confession during his incarceration in England while awaiting extradition to America, but he said "That is probably the most damaging statement made against me," Ray's attorney, Mark Lane, declared the allegations lacked credibility.

Rep. Samuel L. Devine, while Ray was on the witness stand for the third day of interrogation by the House assassinations committee, revealed a recent interview by the panel's staff with the former Scotland Yard official, now retired.

Devine, R-Ohio, quoted Alexander Anthony Eist as saying he was Ray's nearly constant guard during the weeks of his imprisonment in London, and thus became something of a friend of the fugitive.

Eist, now a pubkeeper, was asked by the committee's investigators on Aug. 4 whether he recalled Ray actually admitted killing King, or, instead, merely acknowledged a connection with the murder weapon.

"Oh, no, no, no," Eist replied. "During the course of the conversation, he definitely, he didn't actually come out with it, but it was there in the conversation that he'd done it."

At another point, Eist said, "He was telling me that after the shooting (on April 4, 1968), when he left this place he panicked and threw the gun away. I mean there isn't any doubt from the conversation that he told me that he was admitting to me that he had done the murder."

Asked if Ray expressed a hatred of blacks — something Ray has long denied — Eist said, "There wasn't any doubt at all. He just hated black people. In fact, he said he was trying to go to Africa to try to shoot some more," when he was arrested at London's airport on June 5, 1968.

Eist said that Ray predicted he would make $250,000 to $500,000 for the killing because "he would have no shortage of friends, no shortage of fundraisers. He would get them to go on TV and... he could write books."

After the entire interview was read into the committee's record, Ray was asked to respond and said simply: "That is probably the most damaging statement made against me... It is false." Ray then charged that the interview of Eist was evidence that the panel "intends to crucify me."

Lane, his attorney, returned to Ray's side about that time and said he had just placed a call to a barrister in England who denounced Eist as corrupt and called him "a disgrace to the England police force." Lane said his British contact told him Eist had been forced off the job for unlawful conduct.

Ray's attorney said that for the panel to have sprung Eist's statement on Ray was unjustified. "I have never, in 28 years of practicing law, seen anything as terrible and as outrageous as this," he said.

Memphis mayor tells of strike settlement

By RICHARD LOWE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Wyatt Chandler announced Friday night that a settlement had been reached with striking police and firefighters, ending a week-old labor dispute in Tennessee's largest city. He then lifted a 10 p.m.-to-6 a.m. curfew.

The final hours of negotiations between Chandler and union officials were filled with confusion.

Stomping and yelling, the 1,100 members of the Memphis Police Association and 1,400 members of the International Association of Firefighters had ratified two-year agreements earlier Friday, only to have Chandler question provisions of the contracts.

Even while the mayor and union leaders were meeting to iron out last minute differences, police returned to work for the start of the 4 p.m. shift.

However, David Baker, Memphis Police Association president, ordered them back off the job about two hours later in response to a snag in the talks with Chandler.

After the two sides reached final agreement, Baker said police would return to work at midnight. Firefighters were planning to return to work at the start of the 7 a.m. shift Saturday.

"The one thing we have proved to the man uptown is that we are united," Baker said, telling some 500 angry policemen that the last-minute contract dispute had been worked out.

The policemen, many still in uniform and carrying their pistols, gathered at a city park near the Board of Education building after being pulled back off the job. Some of them had stripped off their uniform shirts and gunbelts and pulled worn picket signs from the trunks of their cars as they arrived.

When Baker arrived, he assured his members the dispute had been settled in their favor.

Baker said the dispute had centered on contract language involving a wage reopener clause in the two-year contract. "We wanted a one-year wage reopener," Baker said. "They can play word games if they want."

The bitter strike cut sharply into the number of tourists who had been expected in town for the first anniversary of Elvis Presley's death on Wednesday.

Chandler imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew which helped keep the peace. Some looting was reported Tuesday night, when the city was blacked out because of a power failure blamed on a security guard's vandalism.

The contract approved by the strikers allows them to return to their jobs without penalty. This had been a stumbling block in the negotiations, with Chandler insisting the strikers should return to work as rookies.

At 8 a.m., hundreds of policemen ratified a contract that had been hammered out the night before by a group of labor, civic and business leaders, then presented to union and city officials.

Baker was greeted with thunderous applause as he entered the stuffy, smoke-filled auditorium. Baker was to have appeared Friday morning before a state judge on a contempt citation, but the charge was dropped by the city once the union ratified the contract.

Two hours later, Kuhron Huddleston, president of the 1,400-member Local 1784 of the International Firefighters Association strode to the stage with a standing ovation and presented the contract to his members.

The contracts call for policemen and firemen to receive a 6 percent pay hike retroactive to July, plus a $30-a-month across-the-board raise in April 1979. Wages could be renegotiated — with non-binding arbitration if necessary — next July.

The police contract included a negotiated settlement of damages that occurred since policemen walked off their jobs at 11 p.m. Aug. 10. Huddleston said his organization would donate $10,000 toward the city's fire prevention fund.

Major energy bill progress claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter claimed a major legislative breakthrough Friday on energy legislation, one month after he told world leaders that the United States would face up to its fuel supply problems.

Carter and congressional energy leaders said they have obtained agreements on a natural gas compromise, which they expect to inject new life into the president's stalled energy program.

At the Bonn economic summit last month, the president had assured the leaders of six other non-communist industrialized nations that the United States would soon take measures to conserve its consumption of oil and other energy resources.

Carter and Vice President Walter F. Mondale personally persuaded two reluctant House members to sign a congressional conference report Thursday night, allowing the Senate to begin final congressional action on the conference.

James Flug, director of the consumer organization Energy Action, said bill would cost residential users $50 billion over the next seven years.

However, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said the cost would a maximum of $4 billion for consumers by 1985.

The agreement calls for natural gas prices to be deregulated in 1985, with a series of increases over the next seven years.

Natural gas is currently priced at $1.47 per thousand cubic feet, but under the compromise the ceiling would rise immediately to $2, with an additional 10 percent over the next seven years.

Schlesinger said the measure would result in inflation being reduced because the bill would encourage some domestic producers to release supplies of natural gas. Some producers in Louisiana and Texas are refusing to ship gas outside their states because doing so would submit the gas to regulated federal prices, which the producers claim are too low.

Democratic Reps. Charles Rangel of New York and James Corman of California had been steadfast foes of the compromise until Thursday, when they were summoned to the White House.

They had both objected to the compromise as being too expensive for consumers and too generous to natural gas producers.

Building costs should be in rate hike, PUC told

AUSTIN — The cost of building Texas Electric Service Co.'s new power generating plants should be considered in the company's 24.4 percent rate hike request, a TESCO officer contended Friday in testimony before the Public Utility Commission.

The proposed hike would generate $110 million yearly in additional revenue and would help pay for proposed power plants to be fueled by lignite coal and nuclear energy, according to TESCO officials.

TESCO is trying to reduce its dependence on natural gas and oil, according to a spokesman.

Midland, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and other TESCO customers have joined the Texas Municipal League in opposing the full rate-hike proposal.

The PUC staff has recommended that the company be granted only a $37 million increase.

David Kelch, TESCO's secretary-treasurer, Friday touched on the controversial issue of whether current work on TESCO's lignite- and nuclear-fueled power generating plants is a legitimate expense that can be passed on to consumers.

The PUC had approved some $155 million for on-going plant construction in a previous rate hike, Kelch testified.

Kelch said including the construction costs in the company's rate base improves the quality of the company's earnings by increasing the amount of money generated from within the company and decreasing the amount which must be paid on interest for loans. That makes the total cost of the system projects lower, he said.

Testifying in behalf of TESCO's rate-hike request, banker Eugene Meyer said the company is in a declining financial condition and will be unable to construct the new plants unless it gets additional revenue.

"It is my opinion that without the amount and type of rate relief requested, the company's financial results will be such that it will be unable to finance its construction program on a reasonable and consistent basis," Meyer said.

Meyer, vice president of the investment banking firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., was the sixth of nine witnesses scheduled to testify for the company.

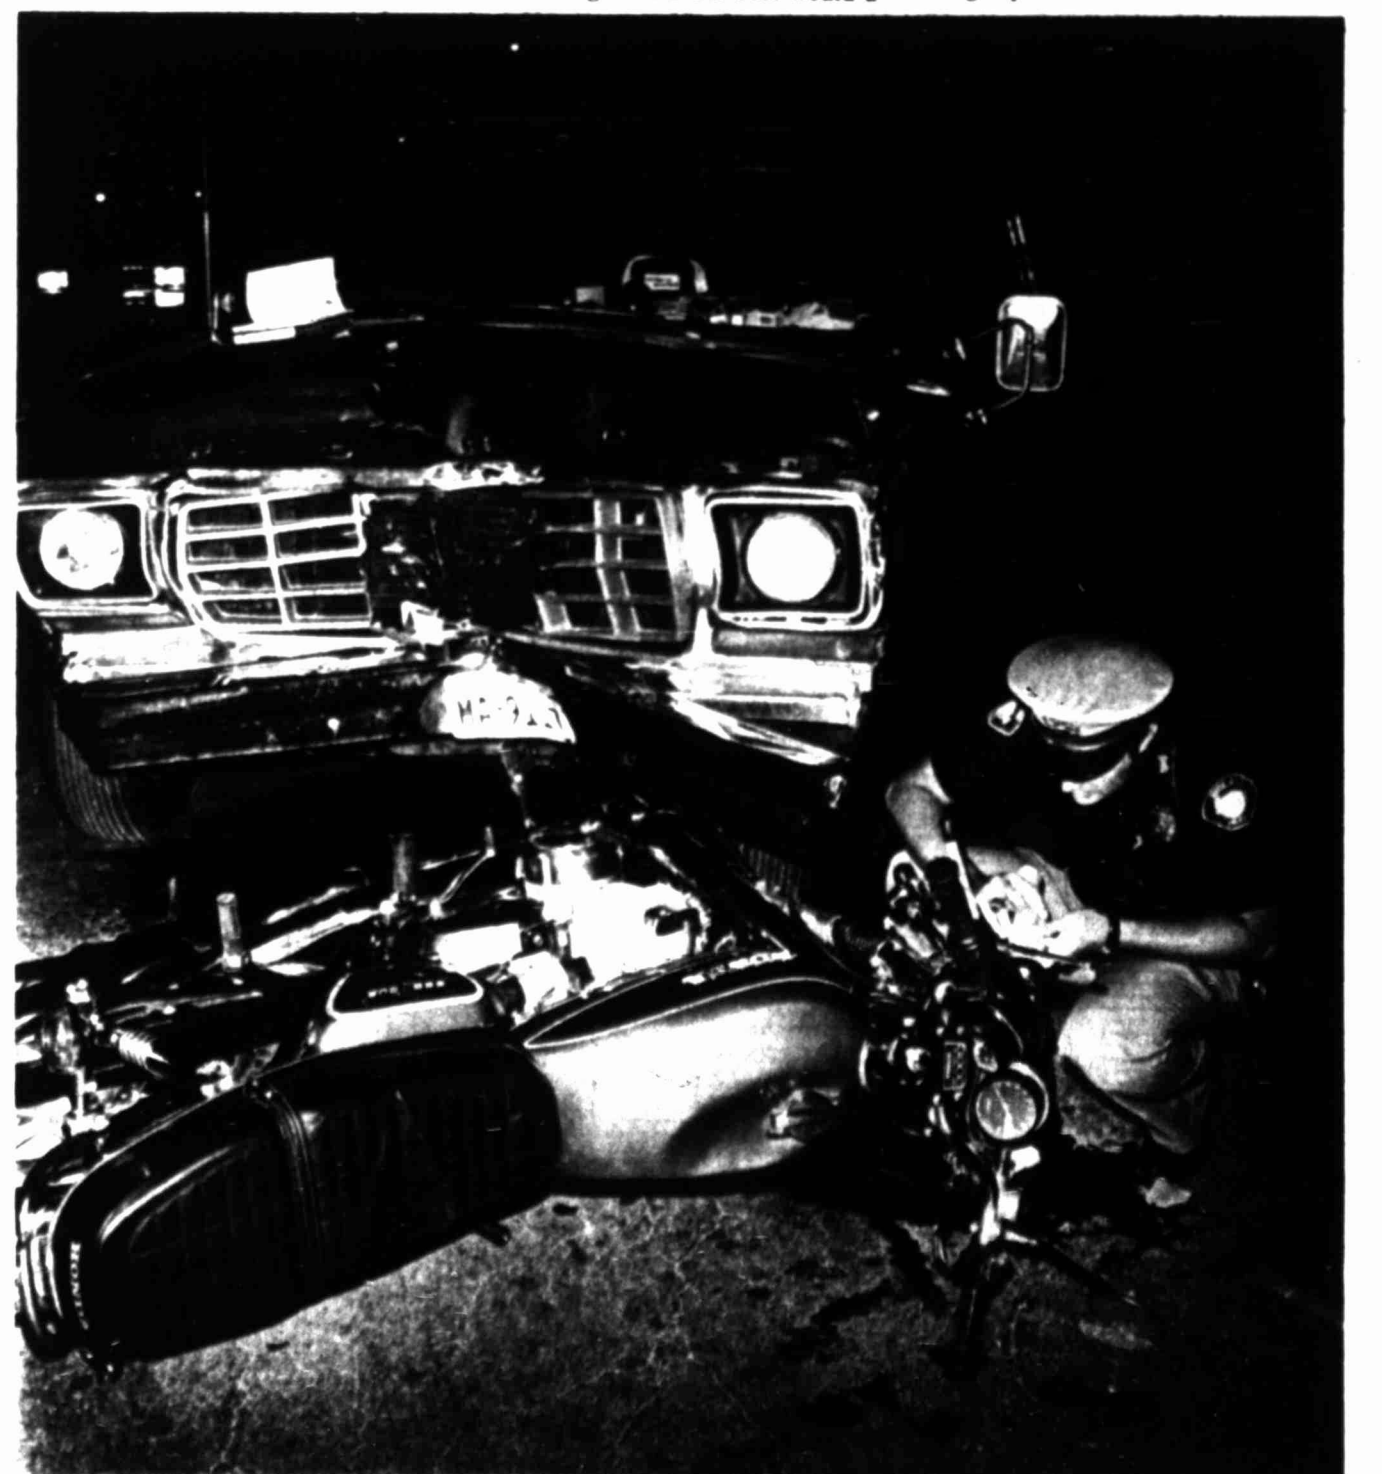

Additional revenue via the rate hike is necessary if TESCO is to keep its AAA bond rating, he said.

And electric bills of TESCO customers will be lower over the long term if the company can keep its top credit rating, Meyer said.

TESCO is now "a very risky bond" investment, Meyer said.

"Unless it (the company's financial condition) can be improved, the AAA rating will be lost," the financial expert said. "I would not invest in an AAA TESCO bond today unless I had an expectation its financial condition would improve."

"It is my opinion that, without the amount and type of rate relief requested, the company's financial results will be such that it will be unable to finance its construction program on a reasonable and consistent basis," Meyer said in a written testimony filed with the PUC.

Engineer didn't add flood control

AUSTIN — The engineer who designed the proposed Stacy Reservoir and Dam testified before the Texas Water Commission Friday he did not consider adding flood control features to the project planned to supply water for municipal and industrial uses in West Texas.

Bob Thompson, an engineer with the Freese and Nichols firm in Fort Worth, said the project sponsor, the Colorado River Municipal Water District, had only asked that the $50 million project be designed for water supply.

He added that CRMWD General Manager Owen Iyle had instructed him to design the reservoir to operate at a constant level. A 10-foot rise — that which would occur in a 100-year frequency flood — would flow over the proposed dam spillway, Thompson said.

An attorney for opponent Lower Colorado River Authority noted the 10-foot rise maximum apparently is related to the district's desire to prevent the flooding of a Texas Utilities power plant which will be built along the reservoir.

Texas Utilities Service Inc. has agreed to finance construction of the project for the district in order to reserve 25,000 acre-feet of the reservoir water for annual power plant cooling needs.

Thompson agreed that if the power plant had to be located at a higher point than currently proposed, the power required to pump cooling water up to the plant would increase the cost of the power facility.

On cross-examination, Thompson further acknowledged that flood control had been a consideration for a dam at the Stacy site on the Colorado River when the project was first planned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers several decades ago.

He said representatives of the Corps had discussed with him the district's plans for the dam and inquired about any plans for flood control capacity that might be built into the project.

Corps officials further told Thompson they would have to consider whether the public interest would be served by construction of a dam without flood control attributes, the engineer testified.

The Corps must issue the district a so-called Section 404 dredging permit before construction can begin.

Thompson added, however, that Corps officials did not suggest any specific amount of storage that should be built into the plans.

"You made no investigation of possible flood damage below the spillway?" LCRA attorney Larry Smith asked.

"It was of no concern," Thompson said, adding that he was told to design the dam and reservoir for municipal and industrial uses, not flood control.

Thompson said Corps involvement in water projects usually amounts to a 20-year venture. The district planned to begin construction of the Stacy Dam by September 1981.

Summer's end means more than start of school; can mean burglary increase

The end of summer traditionally has meant the start of school for many a Midland area youngster.

But it can also mean an increase in residential burglaries.

Sgt. E.M. "Lalo" Camarillo of the Midland Police Department said the start of another school year also means that houses which have been occupied by members of the family staying home from school for the summer will be left unattended during the day. "This is especially true where parents work," he said.

Camarillo, head of the Crime Prevention Unit, said statistics show that on school days residential burglaries occur more frequently. He said such incidents usually happen in between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. "This indicates that our thieves go to work while both husbands and wives are at work and their kids are in school."

It was also noted in Thompson's testimony that Freese and Nichols would receive 4.75 percent of the $50,534,000 construction cost plus a portion of the $360,000 fee for resident supervision.

Systemic cancers curable

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Cancer research centers are now curing "systemic cancers" such as those that have spread to the bones, Dr. R. Lee Clark said Friday.

"I've never said that before," asserted Clark, president emeritus of the University of Texas Cancer Center in Houston — which operates M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

Clark gave a report to the Legislative Budget Board on "The Impact of Cancer in Texas" and later talked to reporters.

"I can say now... we are curing systemic or generalized cancer with a combination of treatments," Clark said.

He said it now appears that about 50 percent of those treated in major cancer centers for bone tumors will survive five years. This is the time commonly used for pronouncing a patient cured.

"Five years ago that figure was 8 percent," Clark added.

He also said five-year survivals are recorded in 70 percent of the cases of kidney tumors in children and muscle tumors, where the rate was only 10 percent a decade ago.

Fifty-five percent of children with leukemia now remain free of the disease five or more years after treatment, compared with none 30 years ago, Clark said.

The breakthroughs in treating systemic cancers have been largely through chemotherapy and immunotherapy — using drugs that exploit the body's own immune responses to attack tumors, he said.

Clark told the budget board the incidence of lung cancer is higher in Texas than the national average and is "almost epidemic in proportion." Lung cancer accounts for one in every four cancer deaths, he said.

A detailed national cancer survey of 10 major cities showed the Dallas-Fort Worth area — used as one of the samples — had a higher than average incidence of leukemia, melanoma, Hodgkin's disease and cancer of the pancreas, cervix, oral cavity, ovary, kidney and thyroid.

"Make it a daily routine of checking all your windows and doors, including overhead garage doors. See that they are locked before you leave the house. Report any wrongdoing around your home and neighborhood," he said.

Unlocked doors and windows are the "main targets for our everyday burglar," Camarillo said.

"Department records show almost half of our home burglaries in Midland took place where the owner either forgot to lock one of the doors or to secure a window," he added.

He said people with good locks on their doors should use them. If they do not have good locks, he said, they should buy some. "Don't wait until you become a victim of burglary before you decide to secure your home," he said.

Emphasis is on changing the physical environment in Midland with the goal being to make such crimes "more difficult for the potential criminal," Camarillo said.

He said those citizens in doubt about the security of their home may call him between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 683-4281, extension 338.

66 wild animals missing in city

Somewhere in Midland, 66 wild animals are at large.

But they're not running loose. They're too stuffed.

The stuffed animals of assorted species were swept away in a large brown box just behind Service Drug Store, 122 Northland Center, sometime Thursday, according to police.

The missing animals were among a shipment of six boxes of stuffed creatures for sale at Christmas.

The boxes had just arrived by motor freight from San Francisco, said Don Haynes, owner of the store.

"They were brand-new. Just hit the back door," Haynes said Friday of the 66 lost ones, which he valued at $197.25. The theft was discovered Friday afternoon, he said.

Haynes said he has "no idea" why someone would want 66 toy animals.

"I want them back," he said. "I've got to pay for them."

"If you see any animals running down the street," Haynes said in a good-natured plea, "be sure and get them."

Nurse indicted on charges of murdering four patients

BALTIMORE (AP) — A registered nurse was indicted Friday on charges of murdering four terminally ill patients at Maryland General Hospital.

Mary Rose Robacznski, 24, of Pasadena, Md., was accused in the deaths of three women and a man in the hospital's 13-bed intensive care unit between last Dec. 26 and March 8, said Baltimore's state's attorney William A. Swisher.

Mrs. Robacznski, who was recently married, was indicted under her maiden name, Mary Rose Kaisler.

The indictments were returned after a four-month investigation begun when hospital officials called authorities about "suspicious deaths," Swisher said.

The investigation was prompted by a rumor circulating at the hospital that a former nurse had disconnected a respirator from a terminally ill patient who later died in the special care unit. Authorities would not dismiss the rumor Friday.

Swisher declined to discuss details of the case and refused to use the label "mercy killings" in describing the deaths.

"We don't have a crime called mercy killing," the prosecutor said. "Our crime is murder."

Mrs. Robacznski, a 1975 graduate of Maryland General's nursing school, voluntarily surrendered to authorities. She has not worked in health care since leaving the staff of the 365-bed hospital shortly after March 8, according to Swisher.

Judge Robert Karwacki released Mrs. Robacznski on her own recognizance after a bail hearing in Central District Court. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Sept. 6.

Mrs. Robacznski was charged with killing Markene Smith, 45, Catherine Womack, 40, Louvenia Reed, 49, and Harry Gessner, 48, all of Baltimore.

101 almost hits record high mark

Both clouds and temperatures were high over the Permian Basin Friday, as temperatures reached 101 degrees.

Skies are expected to be fair again today, but the high temperature is expected to be about 10 degrees lower than Friday's high reading, which was recorded between 4 and 7 p.m., the weatherman said.

Friday's high missed by one degree tying the record high of 102 degrees set in 1970, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

The high today should be near 90, and the low tonight should be near 70, the weatherman said. Sunday's high should be in the mid-90s, he said.

Northerly and northeasterly winds of 5 to 15 mph are expected to decrease some by tonight.

Other cities in the Permian Basin shared Midland's hot and fair weather Friday.

Budget board hears report on prison crowding

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas prisons are so overcrowded that 700 inmates sleep on floors, the director of the penal system said Friday.

W.J. Estelle told the Legislative Budget Board the Texas Department of Corrections needs $130 million over the next two years to construct space for its mushrooming convict population.

He said a slowdown in granting paroles swelled the prison headcount to 3,000 more than it would be if the State Board of Pardons and Paroles were working at last year's pace.

The board also heard that despite the state surplus and growth revenue, the Legislature probably will have little money for new expenditure programs.

"There is no room for any new programs or increases except those caused by inflation," observed Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, board chairman.

Board members instructed the staff to draft 1980-81 spending recommendations starting with a 5.1 percent annual pay raise for state employees. This would add $421.5 million to payroll costs for the next biennium.

New prison construction could be a victim of the present freeze on new taxes and legislative decisions to cut state revenue by $491.4 million by repealing the sales tax on utility bills.

Estelle's proposal includes $83.5 million for a brand new prison unit, which would be built at a still undetermined site. When the board of corrections tried to buy Monte Cristo Farms near Edinburg, Attorney General John Hill ruled the purchase violated provisions in the 1978-79 general appropriation bill.

Asked by Hobby where the board now plans to build the new prison, Estelle said, "Somewhere within the confines of the state of Texas."

He said he also wants $750,000 to build temporary housing for 700 inmates who are, in effect, the third men in cells designed for one prisoner.

"We've got to do something to get these people off the floor," he said.

He told the board that paroles are down 35 percent from a year ago, or 3,000 inmates. Paroles are granted by the governor on advice of the board of pardons and paroles.

Estelle later told reporters the prison system houses 24,358 persons, or 3,500 more than a year ago. He acknowledged the growth figure would be only 500 if paroles had been granted at last year's pace.

Asked if he had ever pushed the board to speed up paroles, he said, "We have had discussions, but it is not my role to challenge their wisdom or decision-making process."

He said he no longer stands by his statement that 40 percent of the prison population were good candidates for immediate parole.

"That was five years ago. The inmate population is different now. I wouldn't make that statement today," Estelle said.

He described prison inmates as younger, "less motivated, harder to motivate, harder to manage" and more intelligent, with more convicted of violent crimes.

"We don't know what a true first offender is like. Everybody we get has been on probation once or twice," Estelle said.

Reviewer continues long list of book objections

By SUSAN STOLER

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Edgar Allan Poe's "gruesome" poem, "The Raven," does not belong in a ninth grade classroom, conservative textbook reviewer Norma Gabler declared Friday.

"You don't need to see television. You can get enough gore and violence in the classroom," she told the State Textbook Committee. "We don't object to Poe as a writer. He does write other things, though."

The Longview critic marked her 17th consecutive appearance at the annual textbook hearings where books proposed for adoption are assailed by reviewers and defended by publishers.

The hearings end Tuesday, and the committee makes recommendations Sept. 11 to the State Board of Education, which adopts books Nov. 11.

"I think it's time we tell our young people that there's something good about America," Mrs. Gabler said about one of several American history texts she found objectionable.

"The American Adventure, Vol. 2" by Allyn & Bacon publishers devotes too much space to the Vietnam War, Watergate and farmworker leader Cesar Chavez, while leaving out temperance leader Carry Nation, Mrs. Gabler said.

In response, company representative Frank Cronin said the book was balanced and "definitely within the (state textbook) proclamation that the problems of America be discussed."

During a morning session, Mrs. Gabler went through detailed objections to 28 history, literature and reading books. Her pre-filed objections and the publishers' responses filled almost 16 volumes of material.

Her complaints ranged from objections to pop art pictures of the Mona Lisa with a mustache, to the way a publisher addressed her in written responses.

"Fifteen times, the publisher has referred to me as a 'Ms.' The publisher knows I'm an 'M-R-S,'" she said of Houghton-Mifflin Co.

During a break, the textbook hearing veteran complained that this year's batch of proposed texts is "worse" than previous years.

"There's so much of the problems of America included, and not enough of the achievements," she said, adding that none of the history books proposed for adoption passed her standard of fairness.

"We don't object to violence," she said of several objections to "gory, gruesome" literature selections. "That's a part of life, but we do object to a steady diet of it, particularly for seventh and eighth grade students."

MTA's vice chairman likely to resign his post

HOUSTON (AP) —

The vice chairman of the newly created Metropolitan Transit Authority says he will probably have to resign because his home city voted not to join the transit system.

on his status.

"It appears to me that the intent of the legislation is that somebody should represent those cities that became a part of it," Black said. "I will probably submit my resignation next week."

Six of the 23 cities eligible to join the system approved the proposal. Deer Park voters rejected participation 395-725.

The 1977 legislation that allowed creation of the transit authority is ambiguous on whether

Black must resign his seat and a new appointment be made, said William Moran, assistant counsel to the transit board.

He said he will confer with Jonathan Day, board counsel, when Day returns from vacation.

They will then make a recommendation to Howard Horne, chairman of the transit board.

In another matter, Moran said attorneys have not decided how to determine which board members will initially serve one-year terms and which will serve two-year terms.

Moran said members who served on the interim board, now the official board, will conduct a salvage $2.3 million by settling its differences with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare over alleged shortcomings in its bilingual education programs.

HISD will file a waiver with HEW stating the purported violations have been eliminated, Superintendent Billy Reagan said Thursday.

The waiver would include "total disclaimers" that the district's procedures for screening bilingual students were purposely discriminatory.

Reagan had said last month that HISD would not file a waiver because it would be an admission of guilt. He said HISD agreed to submit a waiver after HEW agreed the district's stiffer procedures to screen students with difficulty speaking or understanding English would comply with federal bilingual guidelines.

Houston schools to ask waiver in bilingual education issue

HEW officials have indicated the district's waiver would be accepted and the federal funds under the Emergency School Aid Act would be forwarded by September, Reagan said.

For now, he said, many teachers in ESAA and other federally funded programs will help fill the 450 vacancies in the regular teaching staff and be paid with district funds.

HEW officials have said a waiver represents an agreement that the violations no longer exist and will not recur. It had threatened to withhold the $2.3 million if the district did not file and receive a waiver from HEW.

Acoustical experts to record gunfire in plaza in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Acoustical experts will record gunfire around Dealey Plaza Sunday morning in a sound simulation of the Kennedy assassination for the House Select Committee on Assassinations.

Police and the Federal Aviation Administration were asked earlier this month to do everything possible to limit noise in the area from 5:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

Dallas police sharpshooters will attempt to recreate the sound of the bullets that killed President John F. Kennedy almost 15 years ago.

Experts from Bolt, Beranek and Newman of Boston will record the gunshots fired from the Texas School Book Depository. The firm is the same which analyzed the 18 1/2 minute gap on President Nixon's White House tapes.

They will try to determine if more than three shots were fired at the presidential motorcade Nov. 22, 1963. The sounds caught Sunday will be compared with a Dallas police tape recording made the day of the assassination, which some say indicates a fourth shot was fired.

About 30 police tactical officers will seal off the area.

"This is not really going to be a time when public relations for police improve," said officer Dave Beidelman. "But we've got to have the area secured, and we're going to be very strict about it. The major reasons are to keep down noise and prevent any danger from ricocheting bullets."

Police are expected to fire Italian rifles, similar to the one allegedly used by Lee Harvey Oswald, at sand traps in metal boxes placed in the street. No automobiles will be used in the simulation.

District judge says man fired on legal grounds

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue has ruled that the former No. 2 man in the federally funded Harris County Manpower Agency was fired legally and not entitled to damages.

Bue's ruling, handed down late Thursday after an earlier three-week trial, also rejected a move by Ernest Fuentes to be reinstated to his $18,192-a-year job.

Fuentes, 36, who was dismissed in January 1976, sued the county for $225,000 in damages. He claimed he was fired because he was a Mexican-American and because his boss, H.N. McElroy, thought he had been talking to reporters about alleged abuses in the department.

Bue, in a 27-page opinion, said the relationship between Fuentes and McElroy had grown "so bad that this reason alone was more than sufficient" to warrant the firing.

Trial scheduled October 7 for Tison gang members

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — An Oct. 17 trial was scheduled Friday for three members of the Tison gang, accused of the grisly shotgun murders of an Omaha, Neb., Marine and his family.

Rick Tison, 18, and Raymond Tison, 19, grinned and smickered as they pleaded innocent to all charges before Superior Court Judge Douglas Keddie. Convicted killer Randy Greenawalt, 29, another gang member, also pleaded innocent and faces trial with the Tisons.

Special police assault teams were poised on rooftops near the courthouse as helicopters hovered and sheriff's deputies searched everyone entering the building.

Dorothy Tison, the boys' mother, attended the arraignment, sitting in a back row of spectators. She said nothing and showed no emotion.

The Tison brothers were taken to the Pinal County jail and Greenawalt was returned to the Arizona State Prison, following the arraignment. The trio faces a preliminary hearing Monday in Florence, Ariz., on charges related to the July 30 escape of Greenawalt and the Tisons' father, Gary, 42.

Greenawalt and Gary, Rick and Raymond Tison were indicted Thursday in Yuma on four counts each of first-degree murder and kidnapping, two armed robbery charges and a car-theft count.

The charges stem from the Aug. 2 slayings of John F. Lyons, 24, his wife Donna, 24, son Christopher, 22 months, and niece, Teresa Tyson, 15, of Las Vegas, Nev.

A game warden found the bodies of the Lyons family on the desert near Quartzsite in southwest Arizona on Aug. 6, a week after Gary Tison and Greenawalt, both convicted killers, broke out of prison.

Gary Tison's sons are accused of smuggling sawed-off shotguns into the Florence facility.

Eighteen empty shotgun shells were found near the bodies of the Lyons family, who were leaving the Yuma area on vacation when they apparently stopped to help a motorist with a flat tire. The motorist allegedly was a member of the Tison gang, investigators said.

Lyons' car apparently was used by the gang for a trip to Flagstaff, but the suspects eluded a sheriff's posse and roadblocks set up in that northern-Arizona community the weekend of Aug. 4, investigators said.

Greenawalt and Rick and Raymond Tison were arrested Aug. 11 when a stolen van crashed through a roadblock south of Casa Grande, in southern Arizona. Another of Gary Tison's sons, Donald, 20, was shot to death in the ensuing gunbattle but Gary Tison was believed to have fled into the desert.

A five-day manhunt turned up no trace of the elder Tison. Searchers also scoured the southern-Colorado mountains after the surviving Tison brothers said the gang obtained the van at a campground near South Fork, Colo.

James and Margene Judge of Amarillo, Texas, who were driving the van on their honeymoon in southern Colorado, have not been heard from since Aug. 9.

Newspapers report members of Tison gang admit killings

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two members of the Tison gang, led by killer Gary Tison, have told authorities the gang killed six persons in the days after a July 30 prison escape, two newspapers reported Friday.

While Arizona Department of Public Safety officials and other law enforcement officers would not confirm or deny the reports, The Arizona Daily Star and the Tucson Citizen quoted unidentified sources as saying Tison's two sons have given details of the killings.

"We've had a half-dozen different stories told us by the defendants and other people," said DPS Sgt. Allan Schmidt.

The Star said in a copy-right story that Raymond Tison, 19, and his brother Ricky, 18, told authorities their father Gary and fellow escapee Randy Greenawalt shot and killed four members of a Yuma family near Quartzsite, Ariz., after taking the family's car.

The four were Marine Sgt. John Lyons, his wife, their 22-month-old son and their teen-age niece. Their bodies were found near Quartzsite last week.

The Citizen said Ricky Tison told officers that gang members killed a honeymooning Amarillo, Texas, couple and took their van. It said he told authorities the bodies of James and Margene Judge, who have not been found, were dumped in a ditch somewhere in southwestern Colorado or northeastern Arizona.

When the two Tison sons and Greenawalt were captured near Casa Grande, Ariz., last week, they were in the van. A third Tison son, Donald, 20, was killed in a shootout with law officers when the gang tried to run a roadblock.

The Star said the surviving Tison sons also told authorities that their father was in the van at the time they tried to run the roadblock. But in the darkness and confusion, he disappeared into the desert.

Intensive searches in the desert this week turned up no sign of the escaped killer and there were no concrete leads Friday to his whereabouts.

FBI officials said they were approaching the investigation from two points of view, that Gary Tison fled from the van and that he had split from the rest of the group earlier.

Two employees killed in chemical plant blast

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — An explosion leveled part of a chemical plant at shift change Friday, killing two employees and injuring 23 people, authorities said.

Hours after the morning blast, firemen and police in protective gear were searching rubble at the Stauffer Chemical Co. 40 miles south of Chicago.

The dead workers were identified as Antonio Stanislawski, 47, of Park Forest South, and James Hanchett, 52, of Markham. Eight employees were injured, four of them admitted to St. James Hospital where attendants said their condition was satisfactory.

Soviet closing of libel case sets new precedent

By DAN FISHER
The Los Angeles Times

MOSCOW — A Soviet judge Friday ordered that a libel case against two resident American correspondents be closed, dropping a demand that their respective newspapers print retractions of articles about the televised confession of a convicted dissenter.

The action appeared to defuse a situation that for nearly two months had added significantly to the tension in Soviet-American relations.

It left in place, however, a legal precedent for what sources here have called an "ominous" new type of harassment Soviet authorities can use against western journalists who write articles that displease them.

Craig R. Whitney of The New York Times and Harold D. Piper of the Baltimore Sun were accused in late June and convicted July 18 of libeling the state radio and television organization in articles reporting that friends of convicted dissident Zviad Gamsakhurdia suspected that his broadcast confession had been fabricated.

Under protest, the two reporters paid fines and court costs totaling $1,647 each, which resulted from their conviction. Their newspaper, however, refused to print court-ordered retractions of what Whitney and Piper maintained were "fair, balanced and accurate" dispatches.

The Carter administration had warned the Kremlin that any further action against the two correspondents could result in the closure of a Soviet news bureau in San Francisco and the expulsion of other Soviet journalists from Washington. The decision Friday from Moscow city court Chief Judge Lev Almazov thus appeared to sidestep a dangerous escalation of the confrontation.

The judge told a courtroom full of Whitney's and Piper's Western colleagues that he felt compelled to report to the Soviet Foreign Ministry — which accredits foreign correspondents here — that the two had shown a "certain disrespect to the court" during the case.

That move was seen here as a face-saving action that was unlikely to result in anything more than a lecture to the correspondents from Foreign Ministry officials.

The two offended Almazov by refusing to appear in court for their trial a month ago, and by ignoring a summons to show up at Friday's 13-minute proceeding. Soviet law did not require their appearance, and the two reportedly had decided that to show up would only appear to legitimize what they saw as a strictly political case.

"I'm glad that the case is finally closed, though I deplore the fact that it went as far as it did," said Whitney after hearing of the decision.

"The important thing to me about this case is that a Soviet court has failed to dictate to newspapers in the United States that they may print," The New York Times reporter added. "I hope that the way this has turned out will discourage any attempt to do this to other newspapers in the future.

"Piper downplayed the threat that now hangs over correspondents here as a result of the precedent set in the case. "This is the kind of action that cannot be used too often without making the Soviet Union look ridiculous," he said. "I don't think this is going to become a condition of work here — that we will be in court every time we write something they don't like."

Almazov ostensibly discontinued the action against the two correspondents at the behest of the plaintiff, the state radio and television committee.

He said he had received a letter Thursday from the acting director of the television program on which Gamsakhurdia's confession was broadcast, saying committee officials believed a retraction "is no longer necessary."

The official wrote that the July 18 trial had been widely publicized by both the Soviet and Western press, including both The New York Times and the Baltimore Sun. "As a result, the world public had an opportunity to see for itself that Mr. Piper's and Mr. Whitney's articles were libelous and Gamsakhurdia's televised confession was genuine and voluntary."

Gamsakhurdia appeared at the July 18 proceeding under guard, and testified that his confession had not been fabricated. He is serving a three-year sentence for anti-Soviet activities.

"The reluctance of the defendants to publish a retraction of their slanderous articles despite the evident facts is interpreted by us as their futile yearning to try to rescue their reputations," said the letter, which was read to the court Friday.

The letter also noted that both correspondents had paid their fines and said, "we regard this as an indirect avowal by the defendants of their guilt."

Whitney had made it clear when he paid the fines on behalf of himself and the vacationing Piper that he was doing so under protest and without implying any admission of guilt.

No fear of veto exists, insiders telling Congress

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) — If any members of Congress think President Carter is reluctant to use his veto power, they're wrong. That's the message the White House is sending to Capitol Hill these days.

The loudest signal yet came when Carter, angered by Congress' inclu-airplanes, tanks and ammunition, nuts and bolts.

Carter's announcement of his decision at Thursday's nationally televised news conference presented an image the White House has been trying increasingly to project: a president in firm control of his administration, taking decisive action, and maintaining a balance with Congress.

It is a side of the president that aides say has existed all along but has not been presented accurately to the public.

Previous presidential decisions that have brought Carter into conflict with Congress have been criticized not only for the decisions themselves, but for the way the White House reached them and made them public.

So far, that has not been the case with Carter's latest veto — the fifth of his administration and one that had the most potential for direct conflict with Congress.

When the veto was revealed publicly by Carter, it came as no surprise to Capitol Hill, and there was little talk of Congress reversing the president in what could be a politically damaging vote for the president.

"The staff work started early enough, all the right people were involved," said Powell.

Recent opinion polls have shown lingering public doubts about Carter's "toughness" and his ability to deal with Congress.

An Associated Press-NBC poll showed that 66 percent of those questioned thought that Carter was "not tough enough" as president and 68 percent said his work with Congress had been "only fair or poor."

Having vetoed the spending bill, said Powell, Carter has "the advantage of being in a position that a reasonably astute student would conclude that if he'd veto that bill, he'd veto any bill."

In fact, Powell suggested, the veto could have some beneficial impact by convincing Congress the president is quite willing to use his veto authority more frequently.

Rather than presenting a new picture of presidential "toughness," the move provided "a glimpse of a side of the president that everyone who knows him knows is there, but that others haven't seen as much as they will," said Powell.

An analysis

sion of a $2 billion for a new nuclear aircraft carrier, decided on his apparently unprecedented veto of a weapons authorization bill.

The president's decision to turn thumbs down on the $7 billion military procurement measure could have ramifications well beyond the spending of money for things like

MELINDA Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Richardson of Midland, has received a gymnastics scholarship to attend Odessa College this fall. The scholarship covers books, tuition and fees. Supreme Court declines say in Abilene's wet-dry battle

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court Friday refused to get into the Abilene wet-dry election controversy.

Attorneys for both sides said later they were unsure what effect, if any, the ruling would have on the complicated case.

The Supreme Court denied Sherman McBeath, administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, authority to ask the court for a mandamus that would ban District Judge Charles Mathews of Austin from taking part in the case.

However, the high court said it was not expressing any opinion on Mathews' jurisdiction in the case.

Initial results of a June 17 local option election in Abilene, which has been dry for many years, showed voters favoring sales of liquor and beer by about 100 votes. However, the Taylor County commissioners court threw out one voting box when they made the canvass July 10 and said the dry forces won. Abilene District Judge Don Lane ordered the commissioners to count the box and a second canvass on July 20 showed the wet forces won.

Then Mathews ruled that Lane should not have ordered the second canvass, which left the July 10 tally for the drys in effect. He also issued a temporary restraining order to stop the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from issuing any liquor and beer permits for Abilene. On Aug. 14 Mathews said the restraining order would be extended for another 10 days while lawyers submitted more legal arguments.

Rhodesian leader says new negotiation plan discussed

By MAUREEN JOHNSON

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said Friday the bi-racial transition administration is discussing with U.S. and British envoys an agenda for new settlement talks with nationalist guerrilla leaders.

In Lusaka, Zambia, a meeting between guerrilla leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo ended suddenly Friday when Mugabe left for Nigeria. The talks were believed to deal with entering the settlement talks.

It was not known why the talks broke off. They are expected to resume Saturday.

Diplomatic sources say Nigeria has played an important role in working for a peaceful settlement to the Rhodesian problem.

It was Smith's most flexible stance yet on the all-party conference Britain and the United States are trying to organize to bring peace and black rule to Rhodesia.

But he stressed that he and the three blacks in the administration have made no final decision.

Church Calendar Work Force

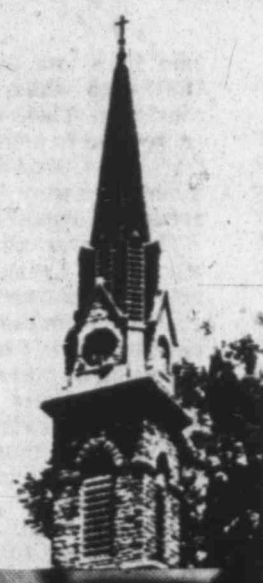

You can make good money at things like riveting or welding, but it isn't always a fun job. There's a tension to it that takes its toll of nerves and muscles.

Lots of jobs aren't fun, aren't even fulfilling. They're just necessary, both for the doers and for the rest of us, who profit by their services.

So what comes after work? Staying home and watching TV, or perhaps a little bit of nothing. It shouldn't be that way, not at all that way, certainly.

People do have three facets—mental, physical and spiritual. It's the spiritual part that is the most apt to get shortchanged today, more's the pity. Because that's where the miracles begin.

Start finding that out by going to the church of your choice.

Most Native Americans believe in binding force

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

In the native religion of American Indians, the great, all-pervasive spirit of Wakan Tanka—the "big holy"—is regarded as animating and binding together in brotherhood all the creatures and elements of the universe. Belief in this inclusive kinship of all beings—the people, the animals, birds and insects, the moon, stars, rocks, rivers, wind and thunder—gives the Indian faith a special reverence for the earth. That quality has a particular relevance in the present-day concern for safeguarding nature from industrial ravages, conserving its resources and maintaining the delicate ecological balance of forces. "Helpers," Indians call the mutually inter-acting orders of nature, communing with them as counterparts of human existence, assuming they, too, share in the mystery of knowing bestowed by the Great Spirit on all life. "The Indian has something to contribute to our society in teaching us about the sanctity of nature," says artist Martha Eagle of Oklahoma City, a Caucasian painter of Indian life and student of it. "Our age is being compelled to come to terms with our close relationship to the natural world, and our need to respect both its vulnerability and its bounty—something the Indian has always realized." However, some Indian religious practices in recent times have encountered government restrictions and interferences—obstacles that a newly adopted Congressional resolution seeks to eliminate. Passed both by the House and the Senate, it directs that U.S. policy and procedures of all federal agencies be shaped to "protect and preserve" traditional Indian customs. "There have been increasing incidents of abrogation of the religious rights of American Indians," says Sen James Abourezk, D-S.D., head of the Senate Select Committee on Indian Affairs and sponsor of the measure. It got final approval in mid-July at the same time that hundreds of Indians gathered in Washington at the end of a 3,000-mile "longest walk" across the country to plead for defeat of 11 other bills pending in Congress. "The civilized world wants to destroy us," said Sioux Chief Ojon-Jon-Wakon (Ernie Peters), 52, a medicine man and spiritual leader from a reservation near Morton, Minn. "But in 500 years, it has not destroyed the Redman. They want our land." The pending bills, now considered to have little chance of passage, would abrogate historic treaties between the U.S. and Indian nations, restrict tribal government, end Indian hunting-fishing rights and close Indian schools and hospitals, Indian leaders say. But they had high praise for Congress' resolution in behalf of their religious rights, celebrating it with prayer ceremonies on the Washington Monument grounds, their singing chants rising with the smoke of sacred peace pipes. "The only way mankind will survive is by understanding the spiritual nature of all life," said Chief Orrin Lions of the Iroquois Six Nations Confederacy. The House-Senate action calls traditional Indian religion "unique in all the world" and promises freedom for its practices, including access to "sacred sites" and rights to use such objects as peyote beans, eagle feathers and animal pelts considered sacred. In many cases, abridgments of Indian religious rights, including arrests and confiscations, have resulted from "insensitivity and inflexible enforcement" of otherwise sound laws designed to protect wilderness areas and endangered species, Abourezk says, objectives always backed by Indians long before others did so. But he adds that such regulations too often have been unjustly applied against Indian religious practices, including seizure of medicine bags, pine leaves and turkey feathers by suspicious officials, intrusion into private ceremonies, banning of various dances misunderstood by officials and preventing Indians access to certain sites regarded sanctified on government land. This "is analogous to preventing a non-Indian from entering his church or temple," Abourezk says. But an end to such infringements is ordered by the resolution which assures the "inherent right of freedom to believe, express and exercise the traditional religions of the American Indian," including "access to sites, use and possession of sacred objects and the freedom to worship through ceremonials and traditional rites."

Vatican preparing for conclave

By HILMI TOROS

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The smoke signal works, tailors have completed an assortment of vestments for the new pontiff and the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church who will elect the successor to Pope Paul VI are preparing for what many believe may be a short conclave. On Friday morning a curl of white smoke rose from the chimney in the roof of the Sistine Chapel as Vatican workmen tested the system that will announce the election of a new pope to the world. Once the conclave convenes next Friday behind the locked doors of the 15th century chapel, pilgrims, tourists and reporters will begin a vigil in St. Peter's Square to await the puffs of smoke that will come from the burning of the cardinals' ballots. White smoke signals the election of a new pope and black means the cardinals failed to reach a two-thirds majority. Whomever the cardinals choose from among their ranks, a set of vestments has been readied for him by the Gammarelli family, tailors for the popes for over two centuries. Robes tailor made for a short, stout pope, and two sets for a tall, thin pontiff went on display Friday at the Gammarelli's shop in Rome. The vestments, including cassocks in lightweight wool and silk, capes, skullcaps and red satin shoes, will be delivered to the Vatican a day before the conclave starts. The Congregation of Cardinals, in their daily gathering Friday, decided to start the secret deliberations next Friday at 4:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EDT), 30 minutes earlier than originally planned. The timing raised the possibility the princes of the church might actually begin voting the same day they are sealed in the Sistine Chapel. They had not been expected to start balloting until Saturday, the day after the conclave begins. The cardinals also decided that before they begin deliberations they will celebrate Mass in St. Peter's Basilica to seek "the help of the Holy Spirit" in electing a new pontiff. It will be the first joint celebration of Mass before the cardinals are sequestered. The current consensus among Vatican experts and some cardinals is that the voting will be over within three or four days, if that long. "Many cardinals feel that the conclave will be a short one," said one Vatican source. Pope Paul VI, a heavy favorite, was elected on the third day and John XXIII, an outside choice, on the fourth in conclaves in which the cardinals voted twice a day. The strongest contenders usually mentioned are Italians, including Cardinals Sergio Pignedoli, 68, Sebastiano Baggio, 65 and Giovanni Benelli, 57. Among the non-Italians cited as "papabili" are Eduardo Pironio, 57, of Argentina and Johannes Willebrands, 68, of the Netherlands.

Church leaders to meet on social injustice

CLEVELAND (AP) — Almost 1,000 leaders of Roman Catholic religious orders in the United States will consider the church's response to social injustice around the world at a historic conference here beginning Aug. 27. The Rev. Donald Clifford, a spokesman for "Convergence 78," said the conference will focus on what Latin American bishops described 10 years ago as "institutionalized violence."

system of suppression of the masses in Colombia 10 years ago, there has been a growing controversy over the role of the church in world affairs. The Latin American bishops will meet in Mexico later this year for the first time since that gathering.

"A special effort will be made to show the linkage between certain practices of the United States government and business corporations to specific instances of injustice and oppression in developing nations abroad," Clifford said in a telephone interview from Philadelphia.

Special services slated for weekend at church

Catholic religious leaders from developing nations will relate personal experiences of social injustice, seeking to create awareness and exert influence on Congress to withhold military assistance from oppressive governments, he said. Since the bishops referred to an institutionalized

Church congregation marking 25th birthday

The congregation of the Fort Worth and Jax Streets Church of Christ is marking its 25th anniversary. The birthday observance began Friday and will continue through Sunday at the church, located at the corner of Fort Worth and Jax streets. Special guests of the congregation for the homecoming event are former members as well as former ministers. Services during the anniversary event feature preaching by former ministers as well as by men who received training while they were members of the Fort Worth and Jax congregation and now preach elsewhere. The congregation was organized in August, 1953, with 171 members. Jay Channel of Gainesville served as the first evangelist, and other resident ministers of the congregation in following years have included David Allan, Leroy White, Austin Diburt, Bob Mize, Bryan Bost and Gary Bodine. Present ministers are Clyde Freeman, Don Mitchell and Grant Standefer. First elders of the church were Truman Blair, Jolly Myers and Dale Woolard. Today, the 300-member congregation is served by nine elders: R. G. Anderson, Truman Blair, Bill Crozier, Bill Green, Goodrich Hejl, Leonard Jobe, Audie Porter, Preston Washburn and Dale Woolard. Thirteen deacons assist in the work of the church and approximately 60 members serve as Bible class instructors. The anniversary celebration began with a service Friday evening at which Clayton Young of Meridian and Clay Mims of Wichita Falls were the speakers. A service at 1:30 p.m. today will have Gary Bodine of Dublin and Kenneth Dudley of Midland as speakers, while a 7:30 p.m. service will have Bud Hale of Colleyville as the speaker. Sunday services will include one at 9:30 a.m. at which Mike Washburn of Corsicana will preach, and another at 10:30 which will have Jolly Myers of Glen Rose as speaker. A covered dish luncheon will be held Sunday noon at Midland Christian School. A devotional service will follow the meal to conclude the anniversary celebration. All services and events of the celebration will be open to former members and friends of the church, as well as the general public.

Midland minister receives doctorate

The Rev. John Long, minister of Midland's Memorial Christian Church since 1973, received the Doctor of Ministry degree at summer commencement exercises of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. BRIDGE

Strange expert play may startle players

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

We conclude our week-long study of the safety play with a maneuver that that will startle the average bridge enthusiast out of a year's growth.

North dealer. North-South vulnerable

NORTH: ♠ K 6 2, ♥ 7 6, ♦ A K Q 10 2, ♣ Q 10 5. WEST: ♠ J 10 9 5, ♥ K, ♦ 9 8 3, ♣ A K J 9 3. EAST: ♠ 8 7 3, ♥ J 10 9 8, ♦ 6 4, ♣ 8 6 4 2. SOUTH: ♠ A Q 4, ♥ A Q 5 4 3 2, ♦ J 7 5, ♣ 7. Opening lead - ♣ K

West take the king of clubs and then shifts to the jack of spades.

The average declarer wins in dummy in order to try a finesse with the queen of hearts. This loses, and South must lose two more trump tricks. Down one.

The expert never goes down on this kind of hand. He wins the spade and leads the ace of hearts. When the king drops he has no further problem.

LOSES NOTHING

If the king didn't drop the expert would get to dummy in order to return the remaining low heart. Since this will develop a trick for the queen of hearts whenever a heart finesse would have worked, South loses nothing by playing the ace first.

Leading the ace first makes a difference only if West has the singleton king, and this will happen only about three times out of a hundred hands of this kind. Still, as long as the precaution costs nothing, why not take it?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next play passes. You hold: S K 6 2; H 7 6; D A K Q 10 2; C Q 10 5. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. Avoid an immediate jump to 2 NT when you have a strong suit of five or more cards. If partner raises diamonds enthusiastically you may make a slam in diamonds instead of going down at no-trump. If partner fails to raise diamonds, you can bid 3 NT at your next turn.

Some day you might rue that great tan

By B.D. COLEN The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — You're really proud of your tan. All summer long you've basted and baked, slathered in greasy junk. And now, as the sun heads for the equator and summer heads for the photo album, you're on your way to the lake or beach for one last lost weekend of soaking up the rays.

But wait! Do you really want to do it? The more reason you have to be proud of that tan the more reason you have to worry that you may become a cancer statistic, or at least that you may get saggy, wrinkly, skin that's old before your time.

Tanning in the normal course of summer events is fine, say the experts, but making a fetish of tanning is not, particularly if you're a blond or a redhead or have blue eyes.

According to Dr. John Potter, director of Georgetown University's Vincent T. Lombardi Cancer Research Center, blonds, redheads and people with blue eyes account for 80 percent of the victims of skin cancer. And there is very definitely a correlation between excessive exposure to the sun and disease, he says.

It is no mere coincidence that the greatest incidence of the three major types of skin cancer occurs in the South and the area known, for obvious reasons, as the Sun Belt, says Potter. "There's no doubt about the general fact that excessive exposure to sunlight will increase the chances of skin cancer," he said.

The least worrisome of the three types is called basal cell skin cancer. "It's a type of cancer that arises in the skin in the basal cells. It's an indolent form of cancer. It grows very slowly," Potter explains. "If it's treated properly you can almost guarantee a complete cure."

aged very successfully by appropriate measures," which may include surgery and radiation therapy.

Both basal cell and squamous cell cancers usually appear as small, open, sores that refuse to heal, says Potter. As is the case with any other sore that does not appear to be healing properly, the person with such a problem should seek immediate medical attention.

The third, and most serious, form of skin cancer is melanoma. "Usually a pigmented tumor, it's usually a bluish-blackish color. It can spread to the rest of the body. This type of cancer is definitely a significant form of cancer," says Potter, who adds that most melanomas will "arise in a pre-existing mole, although not all moles can turn into melanoma."

Even with treatment, victims of this form of cancer have only about a 50 percent five-year survival rate. Although there are only six to eight new cases of skin cancer each year for every 100,000 persons, Potter points out that those with fair skin, and particularly blue eyes, are far more susceptible and therefore should be much more careful about exposing themselves to the sun.

"I can see no advantage to prolonged sunbathing and sunbaking," he says. "I think you can develop a tan and should in the summer time, but you can only tan so much. To continue to bake after a tan is achieved is counterproductive. You're aging your skin."

Both Potter and Dr. Peter N. Horvath, director of the division of dermatology at the Georgetown University School of Medicine, believe it's impossible to say exactly how much exposure, other than to warn that burning is not a good idea.

"We do know that excessive sunbathing and burning, particularly for women, will age the skin. It gives it a muddy appearance, uneven," says Horvath. "This didn't happen to our Victorian grandmothers because they stayed out of the sun."

Horvath says that women who make a fetish of tanning, who work at achieving an almost ebony hue by summer's end, "look 45 if you look at them at 40, and at 50 they look 55 or 60." Baking in the sun "ought to be discouraged, or if you're going to do it you ought to use a sun screen," which filters out the sun's burning and tanning rays.

Sun screening agents and blocking agents are commercially available. The screens simply decrease the amount of burning, or tanning rays — depending on the product — reaching the skin, and the blockers are supposed to provide total protection.

Some products now in pharmacies carry rating numbers as part of a new system for determining what proportion of the sun's rays are filtered out. A No. 2 product, for instance, halves the rays that reach the skin without the use of the cream.

Fewer millionaires evade taxes

By PENNY GIRARD The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — The Treasury Department Thursday reported a "dramatic" drop in the number of wealthy Americans who do not pay income taxes — only 22 managed to do it in 1976 compared with more than 10 times that number the year before.

The Treasury attributed the decline to the 1976 Tax Reform Act that tightened rules for deducting certain unearned income and imposed new limitations on tax shelters.

According to a Treasury Department report, the number of people who paid no taxes on adjusted gross incomes of more than $200,000 immediately dropped 92 percent — from 260 returns in 1975 to the 22 in 1976. The 1976 figures were the lowest since the Treasury began keeping such records in 1966.

This means that for every 2,000 high-income tax returns filed in 1976, only one involved no tax payments, compared to one out of every 130 high-income returns filed in 1975.

Adjusted gross income, on which these tabulations are based, includes an individual's salary plus interest from investments excluding tax exempt bonds, Social Security benefits and certain capital gains.

A slightly different method of computing personal income, called expanded income, also used by Treasury, places more Americans in the $200,000 plus income bracket. Treasury said in its report that this method, which includes adjusted gross income plus certain tax preference items such as dividends from domestic corporations, produced similar "dramatic" decreases in the number of nontaxpayers.

Testifying Thursday before the Senate Finance Committee, Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said that despite the drop in these figures, there still are many well-to-do Americans who do not pay their fair share of taxes.

"For every nontaxable high-income return," he said, "there are still 10 or more 'nearly nontaxable' returns where income has been reduced by more than 80 percent by use of preferences, deductions and tax credits."

In 1976, based on adjusted gross income, the 41,761 high-income tax returns represented only one-twentieth of one percent of the total 84,700-

000 income tax returns filed in this country.

But the report warned that because of inflation and rising levels of real income, the number of high-income tax returns has increased significantly. Using adjusted gross income figures, the report said that the number of high-income returns had increased seven times above the 5,889 high-income returns filed in 1960.

The report also said that in 1976 there were a total of 500 people who paid either no taxes or paid taxes at rates lower than those of a typical middle or lower-middle income family. This is about twice the number reported in the late 1960's, the report said.

Officers grab vessel, grass

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — The Coast Guard said officers have seized a 111-foot coastal freighter off the coast of Texas and are escorting it ashore with a cargo of 35-40 tons of marijuana, with an estimated value of $25 million.

The vessel, the "Superfly Two," was first boarded two days ago about 210 miles east of Brownsville, Texas, the Coast Guard said. A spokesman said Coast Guardsmen only Friday received permission to seize the boat.

The Coast Guard said all 16 members of the crew claimed to be Colombians. They were expected to arrive in Brownsville at noon Saturday, where the crew members will be turned over to Customs agents and U.S. marshals, the Coast Guard said. A spokesman said the cutter "Durable" picked up the freighter on a routine patrol. He said it apparently was headed to Texas.

Prisoner writes book on drugs

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Nicholas Padula is doing his part for humanity.

An inmate at the Federal Correctional Institution in Texarkana, Padula has worked five years to develop a reference book of dangerous drugs. His book is scheduled for publication later this year and Padula is enthusiastic about what's happening to his work.

"I think I've done something to help part of humanity. This book is the only contribution I probably will give to mankind," the intense, gray-haired man said.

Flipping through a color-coded, loose-leaf notebook that is the original manuscript, Padula, 56, points out that he has listed more than 3,000 drugs that can kill. In the book he gives a description of each drug, symptoms of overdose, common drug terminology and antidotes for overdose.

The book, his first, is designed for physicians and emergency personnel who may come into contact with overdose victims and need to find out quickly how to counteract effects of the drugs.

The nearest existing publication to Padula's is the "Physicians' Desk Reference," which is published annually and gives detailed information about every drug marketed.

Padula focuses only on drugs that can kill, drugs that are "out on the streets ... that the kids are using." He includes all the dangerous drugs in the PDR but has added marijuana, LSD and other drugs omitted from the standard reference because they are not manufactured by official drug companies.

Padula has listed drugs alphabetically and coded them so that referring to an antidote in another section of the book takes little time. He categorizes drugs, gives their nicknames and includes descriptions of what happens to those taking an overdose. All information is cross-referenced.

Padula, an emergency medical technician, started his work five years ago after a close friend died of an overdose of heroin. He wrote more than 400 pharmaceutical companies to get descriptions of their products, their uses, hazards and antidotes.

He walked the streets in "every state and Canada," talking with drug users and decoding the language of drug users. He paid for the services of physicians to analyze and break down drug components.

Padula has been at the Texarkana institution for five months, serving a five-year sentence he received in 1977 for illegal possession of U.S. mail.

The book was well on its way to publication when he arrived at the institution.

"I've done the biggest part of my revisions here because I've had the time," Padula said. "I've done more in the last five months than in the last year."

Padula, a slight man wearing a white laboratory jacket, said printing costs would be covered by sales.

The main purpose of Padula's 285-page publication is to list antidotes for drug overdose that can be referred to in 30 seconds or less — time enough to save a life.

Padula, a worker in the lab at the FCI Hospital, calls drug abuse the No. 2 national problem. He says the economy is No. 1, "but if we don't do something, it (drug abuse) will be No. 1."

Padula advocates using films of overdose victims to shock students. "If they would realize what effect drugs have, what they do to the body, I think they would do away with them," he said. "If they see a person overdosed and dying, a morgue and an autopsy, I believe it would cure them."

Student must face court for abortion

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — A 22-year-old college student has been ordered to stand trial on a charge of performing an illegal abortion on herself with a knitting needle.

The case is believed to be one of the first in the nation in which an expectant mother, with no involvement from physicians, has been charged with aborting her own fetus.

Trial is scheduled to start Aug. 28 for Maria Pitchford. If convicted, she could be sentenced to 10 years to 20 years in prison.

Miss Pitchford, from nearby Scottsville, Ky., is a psychology major at Western Kentucky University here. Authorities say she apparently was 20 to 24 weeks pregnant at the time of the June 9 abortion.

She was taken to Bowling Green-Warren County Hospital, where Dr.

Roy Slezak treated her and called police.

Miss Pitchford was indicted June 14 by a grand jury on charges of first-degree manslaughter and performing an illegal abortion. The manslaughter charge was dropped at a pre-trial hearing this week by Circuit Judge J. David Francis on grounds that a fetus is not legally a person.

At the hearing, public defender Flora Stuart maintained that the abortion statute under which Miss Pitchford is being prosecuted was intended to prevent quacks from performing abortions. The law was passed after the U.S. Supreme Court's 1976 ruling that restricted the power of states to interfere with abortions.

Francis ruled earlier this week that a statement Miss Pitchford gave police at the hospital may be admitted as evidence when the trial begins Aug. 28. Francis ruled that police photographs of the fetus may not be introduced, but that a picture of the knitting needle is admissible.

A number of women's rights organizations, including the National Organization for Women, and the American Civil Liberties Union have offered to support Miss Pitchford's defense.

Miss Stuart has said she will base the defense on a claim that Miss Pitchford was suffering from temporary insanity when the abortion was performed. In addition, the lawyer said she will argue that the penalty of 10 years to 20 years in jail is cruel and unusual punishment.

City offers dog classes

Dog Obedience Classes will start Sept. 11 and will meet from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays for 10 weeks in the city of Midland's Parks and Recreation Gymnasium located at 300 Baldwin Street, said a spokesman.

The classes, sponsored by the city's Department of Animal Control and the Parks and Recreation Department, will be taught by Dalton Byerly, director of the city's Animal Control Department.

Registration will be at the Department of Animal Control before Sept. 11, with a $35 fee which must be paid in advance.

Officials said dogs must be at least six months old. Dogs are not to be brought on the first night of the class.

The classes will concern basic obedience, including such commands as heel, sit, stay, down and come.

During breaks in the classes, educational films will be shown, and discussion sessions will be held on care, grooming, recognition of illnesses and diseases.

Officials said more information may be obtained by calling the Department of Animal Control at 683-2941.

The classes are designed to train the owner to train his dog. Byerly said home practice sessions are very important. These should average 30 to 40 minutes per day, he said.

Dogs to be involved in the classes must have all required health vaccinations before enrollment in the class, Byerly said.

Water district costs increase

BIG SPRING — Operating expenses for the Colorado River Municipal Water District rose 24 percent over the last seven months, according to an official water district source. This was due mainly to the rise in energy costs, which went up 38.5 percent, he said.

Efforts to conserve municipal water resources by cutting off surface water as a source for oil companies has resulted in a decrease of $11,355 in total receipts through the month of July. This occurred despite an increase of $213,225 in total sales to the cities.

SURE IT'S A LONG way from Texas, but El Morro National Monument, located off Interstate 40, 43 miles from Grants, N.M., is where nearly 375 years ago a Spanish explorer stepped ashore at Plymouth and carved a message in a soft sandstone cliff which can be read by today's visitor. But even before the first European arrived to the cliff, it had seen the human form. For prehistoric man had lived on and around the rock. Atop it are ruins of two pueblos and on its face are carvings of men, goats, winged serpents and birds.

games he had hoped for coming into the series, but enabled El Paso to catch an 11:20 p.m. plan flight to the Border City.

Midland had threatened to force the game into extra innings by pushing over a run in the eighth to snare the score at 7, the third time the resilient Bruins had battled back to draw even. Bill Evers beat out an infield hit, moved to second on Jim Tracy's sacrifice and to third on a single by Kurt Seibert. El Paso's third pitcher Charlie Phillips, a lefthander, uncorked his second run-scoring wild pitch to tie the score.

Extra innings meant the Diablos would miss their flight and that's when Peters stepped in.

El Paso won it in the ninth when lefthander Larry Groover, working his second inning of relief, walked Stan Cliborn to lead off and intentionally walked Bob Clark with two out. Groover worked the outside corners to reach a 3-1 count and then had to come over the plate against Peters. Jay pulled his fourth homer of the series and 19th of the season over the right field fence.

AS A result of the 4-1 sweep, El Paso goes home only 3 1/2 back of first place Midland, lot its half game lead when Amarillo lost to San Antonio, 7-6 in 10 innings, and will face the Dodgers and Cubs in a 10-game stand that could decide the race.

As far as Bob Clark, the outfielder who slugged three homers, a triple, and single while knocking in eight runs in El Paso's 20-8 win Thursday, is concerned, it's the first half West Division race all over again, a race which, incidentally, El Paso won.

Western Henrico, Denison are unbeaten

Western Henrico, Va. and the Denison All-Stars move into today's finals in the National United Girls Softball Association Tournament at Lancaster Park.

Both the Virginia champions and Texas representatives go into the finals unbeaten in tourney play in Division III and Division IV of the big meet which finally winds down today in championship games.

The Virginia champions have polished off Odessa, 6-1 and the Midland All-Stars, 10-8, to move into the finals at 9 a.m. today against Midland. The Tall City outfit must beat the Virginians two straight to win the overall championship today.

In Division IV, Denison's nifty All-Stars face the Hobbs, N.M. All-Stars at 11 a.m. Denison already holds a 12-3 win over the New Mexico entry, so like Midland, Hobbs must take two in a row to take home the coveted national crown.

Midland kept its hopes alive, bouncing back from a 10-8 loss to Western Henrico Friday morning, to eliminate the Abilene South All-Stars, 12-3.

The other Midland entry in Division IV, lost 8-3 as Hobbs, N.M. tallied five big runs in the sixth inning to break open a 3-2 tilt.

THE STARS during the uprising were Mike Risinger, Kym Varner, Janet Warren, Darla Gardin and Glenna Armstrong who all had base hits. All were singles and two walks added to the rally which eliminated the Midlanders.

Hobbs took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with an error and two hits paving the way and Midland came back for one run in the bottom of the inning on a base hit by Jean Lanier.

Midland got single runs in the sixth and seventh inning, but it was too late after Hobbs exploded for five runs in the sixth.

MIDLAND HAD eliminated a strong Snyder team, 16-14 in an afternoon game in which Julie Minton picked up the win on the mound as Midland had 12 hits. Julie Ochsner had another hit to give her five hits in her first seven trips to the plate in the tourney, but the big blow was Deborah Kittle's three-run homer for Midland in the sixth inning when the Tall City girls took the lead for good.

Miss Minton and Sherry Tidwell knocked on two runs each for Midland while the losing pitcher for Snyder was Truddy Hatway.

Kittle had four runs-batted-in during the hard fought game which was played in 103-degree weather.

In other games Friday morning, Western Henrico downed Midland, 10-8 in a wild game which saw the hosts score four runs in the bottom of the seventh before losing. Susan Nix started things off with a hit along with Jance Littlefield. Sandy Alvarado and Suzanne McGaha also had singles during the rally which just fell short.

West Henrico took a 6-0 lead in the first three innings and increased it to 10-0 before the jittery Midlanders finally scratched.

In another Division III game, Abilene South eliminated Odessa, 5-3, in a well-played game with Linda Jones the winner and Gina Jordan the losing hurler. Rosa McKenzie and Lisa Young slammed doubles for the Odessans, but Abilene took a 4-0 lead in the first inning to ice the contest early.

ODESSA MANAGED 12 big hits and Abilene only five, but the 12 hits were not timely ones for the losers who dropped from the tourney with the defeat.

Denison flexed its muscles in whipping Hobbs, 12-3 in a Division IV game Friday afternoon as the power-hurler rapped out 12 base hits and Pat Wallace went all the way on the mound while striking out seven Hobbs batters.

Denison took a 5-0 lead in the first with three walks, a single by Juanita Cambell and double by Sissy Luper, the big blows.

Shortstop Pokie Braxton singled in the second and three walks aided Denison in a one-run rally to make it 6-0. Six more runs crossed the plate for the winners in the third with Wallace' two-bagger the telling blow along with hits by Paxton, Cambell and four walks.

FOUR WALKS in the fourth helped the New Mexicans to a three-run outburst, but it wasn't nearly enough. Mike Risinger and Varden also had hits in the inning for Hobbs.

Dallas to battle Houston tonight before 65,000

DALLAS (AP) — Thanks to needles and whirlpools the Houston Oilers will probably have their starting backfield ready for tonight's big National League exhibition contest against the World Champion Dallas Cowboys, who are as healthy as their record.

Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini underwent acupuncture treatments after suffering a blow to his left thigh Monday night from Philadelphia linebacker Bill Bergey in a 28-10 loss to the Eagles.

"There is no comparison to the way the leg feels now and the way it felt Tuesday," said Pastorini.

Even on two good legs Pastorini may be in trouble with the way the Cowboy defense played in defeats of San Francisco and Denver.

Pastorini was cheered to learn that running backs Rob Carpenter and Ronnie Coleman, who missed the Monday night game with various hurts, will play tonight. In fact, rookie Tim Wilson was the only half back available against the Eagles.

Earl Campbell, the Heisman Trophy winner from Texas, has been shuttled from fullback to halfback. He'll play halfback against the Cowboys in the 8 p.m. game at Texas Stadium which will draw a sellout crowd of 65,000.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he will go with his starters for at least three quarters and that is basically the plan of Houston Coach Bum Phillips.

Landry said "I think it's going to take a couple more games to get our offense moving the way we want it to."

Landry has been disappointed with his running game and Houston wasn't exactly overwhelming in its last outing against Philadelphia. Rookie Steve Stropolo of Nicholls State was the leading Oiler rusher with a mere 21 yards.

Dallas is 2-0 in the preseason while Houston is exactly the reverse. The Cowboys own an 8-3 lead over Houston in preseason games for the mythical "Texas Professional Football Championship" and are 2-0 over the Oilers in regular season meetings.

Phillips said there is a tense rivalry with the Cowboys but added "we play our preseason games to get ready for the regular season. We don't play Denver or Dallas. We try to play the best we're capable of playing and let the scoreboard take care of itself."

Landry said "We jelled last year in the fifth and sixth preseason games. The preseason is just too short."

The regular season begins for the Cowboys Monday night Sept. 4 when they play Baltimore.

Tom Landry

Texas title on line tonight

By The Associated Press

Champions of the world after winning the Super Bowl last January, the Dallas Cowboys now go after the National Football League's state of Texas title.

The Cowboys, unbeaten in their first two preseason games, host their intrastate rivals from Houston in one of eight NFL exhibition games scheduled for tonight.

In other exhibition tilts tonight, Pittsburgh visits the New York Giants, Chicago is at Cincinnati, Tampa Bay plays at New Orleans, St. Louis visits Green Bay, Atlanta hosts Philadelphia, Denver is at Buffalo and the New York Jets play at San Diego.

On Sunday, Oakland plays at San Francisco and Kansas City is at New England with Detroit at Cleveland Monday night completing the third week of preseason games.

The weekend got off to an early start Thursday night with the Los Angeles Rams treating new Coach Ray Malavasi to a 26-7 victory over the Seattle Seahawks.

Dallas owns an 8-3 edge in the preseason series against the Oilers which began in 1967. But a year ago, Houston scored a 23-14 victory in this game and it upset the Cowboys so that they took it out on the rest of the league for the remainder of the season.

The Cowboys have beaten San Francisco and Denver in their first two preseason games but Coach Tom Landry remains concerned over what has been a sluggish ground game so far.

"Usually, after two preseason games we're not moving the ball too well on the ground," he said, "but it's a shorter preseason this year. Our offense is a coordinated unit and it's not the fault of one guy, but of the whole unit that we're not running better at this time."

Dallas has rushed for 278 yards in its two victories with rookie Todd Christensen's 58 tops on the club.

Houston has lost its first two games, bowing to Philadelphia and Denver. But veteran defensive end Elvin Bethea is hopeful about his team.

"We've got talent, desire and aggressiveness," said Bethea. "We're gonna win and earn a lot of respect. I'm not usually an optimistic person, however, because the last time I said we'd have a great season, we went 1-13 in 1973."

Two other interconference games are set for tonight with the Giants of the National Conference hosting American Conference Pittsburgh and NFC Chicago at AFC Cincinnati. The Steelers are 2-0 and the Giants 1-1. Chicago and Cincinnati have both lost their first two exhibitions.

Besides Dallas-Houston, the weekend's other big geographical showdown is Sunday's Oakland-San Francisco matchup. The Raiders are 1-1 and the 49ers 0-2 after losing to Seattle 20-6 last week.

"It was not exactly a step in the direction we were hoping to take," said freshman 49er Coach Pete McCulley. "We just had too many breakdowns."

Lisa McGee of Western Henrico Va., heads for home.

It's a bird, no its Sutterman

Former Midland Cubs' relief ace Bruce Sutter not only is the hottest fireman in the National League, but he's the hottest article at the Wrigley Field souvenir stands.

Complains one stand operator outside the ball park, "I can't even keep 'em in stock, referring to a T-shirt with a huge red 'S' and the word 'Sutterman' printed across it."

Another T-shirt, declares, "Only the Lord saves more than Sutter."

Sutter is the guy most folks contend is keeping the Chicago Cubs alive in the National League pennant race, especially the fans and, less enthusiastically, rival batters.

Says Philadelphia's Larry Bowa, "Without a doubt, Sutter is the best relief pitcher in baseball."

Another testimonial from the Mets Lee Mazzilli, another former Texas Leaguer, "I don't think I've even gotten a loud foul off the guy. He's their main man and he's the toughest I've faced in the majors."

When the eighth inning rolls around at Wrigley, the fans pay tribute with a sing along that sounds like "Plop, plop, fizz, fizz, oh what a relief he is," their anthem to Sutterman.

BASED ON last year's records, the Rice Owls have the toughest non-conference schedule played by SWC schools, facing Iowa State, Oklahoma and LSU, teams that were a combined 26-7-0 last year. Baylor's three non-league foes will be no picnic. Georgia, Kentucky and Ohio State were 24-9 while SMU's foes, Florida, Penn State and Ohio State were 25-7-1. Texas' non-league foes were 23-9-1, that would be Wyoming, Oklahoma and North Texas State.

Easiest? That would be Arkansas, which faces Vanderbilt, Oklahoma State and Tulsa, an unfrightening 9-24 last year.

Although Texas Tech opens up

Running scared against Southern California, the Raiders' three non-league foes, USC, Arizona and New Mexico, were 17-18 last year....

Roger Staubach's pet peeve? No, it's not a back missing a block that makes him minceeat for a blindsiding Lyle Alzado or Joe Greer. It's show biz and sports personalities expounding their political beliefs on talk shows. "Just because a person becomes famous in one field doesn't qualify him as an expert in others."

WHY DO pro baseball teams issue socks when the players would much rather wear sanitary socks with a little soup spilled down the sides?... And how about an automatic fine for the batter who walks up to the plate before the game and systematically removes the lines defining the box while the umpire stands by and tells him if he misses anything? And make it payable to the groundskeeper, right, Lee...

Every time Tim Derryberry, the Amarillo Gold Sox outfielder, came to Midland this summer, something just didn't seem right. Apparently, it was the same with some fans who seemed to enjoy ribbing him, like they did Carney Lansford with El Paso last year. Then, all at once, came the realization that his folks had missed the boat when they named him. Tim should be Gerald Terrance, then he would be Jerry Terry....

Oh, Lansford? The fans were right. He's no longer with the Diablos. They say he's still hanging on in the game and plays in a ball park near Disneyland....

TO GIVE you an idea of the kind of slump Midland's Judy Rankin has been in, it was "news" when she won a tournament a couple of weeks ago. Until this year, it was "news" when she didn't win....

The best part of Johnny Williams' trip to California this summer was that the Midland High football assistant got to see his son Mike graduate from law school at USC. Mike is back in Midland with the DA's office....

And just to prove there's a silver lining to every dark cloud, when the Mrs. heard that El Paso had hit nine homers in beating Midland's Cubs 20-8 Thursday night, she said, "When I heard about all those home runs, I was glad to hear the other team hit them. With that many, our fans would have gone broke," she observed, referring to the West Texas tradition of the fans awarding green-back bonuses to the home player after each roundtripper.

Moses nabs track win in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Olympic gold medalists Alberto Juantorena of Cuba and Americans Edwin Moses and Arnie Robinson were among the winners in the Ivo Van Damme Memorial track and field meet Friday.

Juantorena, the 1976 Olympic 400- and 800-meter champion, won the 400 in 45.30 seconds, beating American Maxie Parks, timed in 45.89, and Belgian Eddy de Leeuw, 46.12. Juantorena had suffered his first loss in the 800 in a long time earlier this week, placing sixth behind James Robinson of the United States.

Moses, who won the 400-meter intermediate hurdles in Montreal, won his specialty Friday in 48.51, beating American James Walker, 49.42. But Moses was beaten in the 110-meter hurdles by world record holder Alejandro Casanas of Cuba. Casanas ran 13.57 to Moses' 13.64, with American Charles Foster third in 13.72.

Arnie Robinson won the long jump with a leap of 26 feet, 7 inches. Jacques Rousseau of France was second at 26-4 1/2, followed by Ronald Desruelles of Belgium at 26-1.

Benn Fields of the United States took the high jump at 7-4 1/2, upsetting Olympic titleholder Jacek Wszola of Poland, who was second at 7-3. Belgium's Guy Moreau was third at 7-1 1/2.

Both the men's 100 and 200 meters were run in heats. American Charlie Wells won one heat of the 100 in 10.56 while Olympic champ Hasely Crawford of Trinidad-Tobago took the other heat in 10.35.

In the 200, Silvio Leonard of Cuba won a heat in 20.36 and the other heat was taken by Adrian Rodgers of the United States in 21.12.

In the 800, Britain's Sebastian Coe clocked the best time of 1978, 1:44.3, breaking his national record by eight-tenths of a second. The world record of 1:43.4 is held by Juantorena.

Mark Nevens of Belgium won the 1,500 meters in 3:38.1, edging Francois Gonzales of France, who was clocked in the same time.

Rod Dixon of New Zealand won the 5,000 meters in 13:21.08, followed by Marty Liquori of the United States in 13:23.04, Willy Polleunis of Belgium in 13:24, Jos Germens of The Netherlands in 13:24.09 and John Treacy of Ireland in 13:26.05.

The shot put was won by American veteran Al Feuerbach at 66-7 1/2. Second was Pete Schmock, U.S., 63-10 1/4.

Another American, Larry Jessee, won the pole vault at 17-4 1/2. Patrick Desruelles of Belgium was second and Bob Rullard of the U.S. third, both at 17-0 1/2.

The women's 1,500 was won by Mary Purcell of Ireland in 4:13.08.

Aurelia Penton of Cuba won the 400-meter women's race in 51.62, with Lea Alaerts of Belgium second in 53.02.

The women's 800 was won by Anne Marie van Nuffel of Belgium in 2:02.3, followed by Anne Marie Buerki of Switzerland in 2:03.3.

France's Chantal Rega took the women's 100 in 11.51, upsetting Poland's Irena Szewinska, who finished second in 11.58.

The 400-meter relay was won by France in 39.43, with a United States team second in 39.84.

The 1,600-meter relay was won by a United States team in 3:06.06, with a French team second in 3:07.19.

Jets acquire tackle

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets of the National Football League announced Friday they have acquired rookie defensive tackle Joe Pellegrini on waivers from the Oakland Raiders.

Pellegrini, 6 feet 2 and 270 pounds, had signed with Oakland as a free agent.

Garvey paces Los Angeles over Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Garvey drove in four runs with a single and a three-run homer Friday night, as Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander Tommy John continued his mastery of the New York Mets with a 7-3 triumph.

The Dodgers had pulled to a 6-0 lead by the time John, 14-9, gave up a two-run homer to John Stearns and an RBI double by Elliott Maddox in the fourth inning. The Dodgers left-hander ran into trouble in the eighth inning when Steve Henderson and Willie Montanez singled with one out, but reliever Charlie Hough preserved John's ninth victory in 10 career decisions against New York.

Nino Espinosa, 9-11, contributed to his own downfall with an error that led to two first-inning runs and four consecutive walks which made it 3-0 in the third.

An inning later, John singled but was erased on a strange play one out later. Bill North lined a shot which caromed to second baseman Doug Flynn off Espinosa's foot. Flynn grabbed the ball 10 feet from John but missed the tag. He threw to first too late to get North but first baseman Montanez' throw to second was in time to get the sliding pitcher.

Reggie Smith followed with a single, then Garvey launched his 17th homer of the year over the fence in left center for a 6-0 Dodgers lead. Two more Mets error in the seventh — New York's third and fourth of the game — led to the Dodgers seventh run which John delivered with his second single of the contest.

Wilson Ranch reaches finals

Wilson Ranch will play in the finals of the National Polo Association meet in Milwaukee Sunday after defeating Smallwood, Columbia, S.C., 13-12.

Team captain Willie B. Wilson of Midland was out due to an injury suffered Sunday, but replacement Tommy Higgins scored one goal. Fortunato Gomez, Argentina, scored 3 goals. Tommy Wayman, nine, and Augusto Gomez completed the team.

For Smallwood, Keith Manning, Jr., scored one goal. Paul Rizzo two goals. Tom Harris three goals and Podger El Effendis had three goals.

Sabo nabs 2nd round lead in Westchester golf

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Ed Sabo, who seemed embarrassed by what he had done, swept past Jack Nicklaus with birdies on his last two holes, finishing off a three-under-par 68 that gave him the second-round lead Friday in the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

"What can I say?" the engaging Sabo said after taking the first lead of his career with a 135 total, seven shots under par on the tight, 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course.

"I'm happy to be where I am, one up on him. But, he's the best there ever was, the best there'll ever be."

"We've just got started. There's two days to play yet."

Sabo, 29, in his third year of tour activity, hasn't finished higher than 16th since his rookie season and currently ranks 136th on the 1978 money winning list with $8,837. Nicklaus, generally considered the finest player the game has known, winner of the British Open and three American tournaments this year, managed a 69 for 136.

Andy North, the defending titleholder and U.S. Open champion, had a 71 for 143. Leading money winner Andy Bean fashioned a 71 for 142.

The long-shot Sabo said he figured he had played fairly well this year, making 15 or 16 cuts. "I think that's real good, make maybe 15 cuts in a year and Jack goes four or five years without missing one," he said.

He was only one-under par for the day when he went to the last two holes.

"I told my caddy we'd better make some birdies or we'll be playing with him tomorrow," Sabo said.

He got a nine-iron shot within five feet for a birdie on the 17th hole and chipped to two feet for the birdie on 18 that put him in the lead. It also put him in a position where he will not be paired with Nicklaus in Saturday's third round.

"He's a great gentleman. I played with him only once before. I like playing with him. But, all the people that are going to be out there..." Sabo said.

Oh Belts 30th home run

TOKYO (AP) — Sadaharu Oh belted his 30th home run of the season Friday, making this the 17th consecutive year in which he has hit 30 homers or more, as the Yomiuri Giants beat the Yakult Swallows 4-1.

The homer, a tie-breaking two-run blast in the seventh inning, was the 796th of Oh's career. The 38-year-old lefthander trails Adrian Garrett by 5 in this season's home run race.

Former San Diego Padre Dave Hilton homered for Yakult, his 16th of the year.

St. Louis tops Atlanta Braves with Hendricks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — George Hendrick's two-run single capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning, sending St. Louis to a 5-1 triumph over the Atlanta Braves for the Cardinals' 11th success in 14 games Friday night.

Cards right-hander Pete Vuckovich, 11-9, spaced eight Atlanta hits through seven innings before he was relieved by Tom Bruno. Vuckovich lost his shutout bid in the seventh inning to Rowland Office's two-out RBI double. The Braves' Preston Hanna, 7-12, suffered his seventh straight setback and 11th loss in 12 decisions.

Shut out on one hit through four innings, St. Louis was ignited by Wayne Garrett's leadoff double down the right field line.

Garrett advanced to third on Jerry Morales' single in front of the mound, and Mike Phillips hit a sacrifice fly to snap a scoreless deadlock.

Vuckovich grounded out, but Garry Templeton doubled following a walk to Lou Brock, and Hendrick completed the rally with a single up the middle off the glove of Braves second baseman Chico Ruiz.

Hendrick's RBI were his eighth and ninth in four games, boosting his total for the month of August to 18 in as many contests.

Ken Reitz' pinch-double broke home the Cards' other run in the sixth.

JIM MURRAY

Gene Klein is too tall

By Jim Murray
Los Angeles Times

You can see right away what's wrong with Gene Klein as an owner in the National Football League. He's too tall. Owners should be no more than 5-11. Gene is 6-5. He's the "Too Tall" Jones of the owners.

carpet for drug use. It was said that San Diego was the only team in the league to play the game four feet off the ground. It wasn't a team, it was a clinic.

Suddenly, Eugene Victor Klein realized he would be better off owning a Mafia branch station in Marseille. His team was in the cellar and he was in the commissioner's office constantly with his lawyer.

First of all, he got rid of the shrink, then the coach, then the troublemaker, then the pills. Then he sold his other businesses. He became a full-time 6-5, 240-pound owner. What a guy who owned Modiglianis wanted was the San Diego Chargers is something for his accountant to figure out.

UP UNTIL the time he got the Chargers, Eugene V. Klein had been a typical American success story. A graduate of NYU, he flew B-7s in the Pacific theater as an Army Air Corps captain in World War II. He came to Los Angeles and opened a car agency in the San Fernando Valley — foreign cars. It was like shoveling money. He became a philanthropist, and an art collector. In 1961 National General Corp., a theatrical exhibition company with 250 theaters, was slowly going broke when Gene Klein became president. He kept the theaters — "Sound Of Music" came along to keep them full, running 2 1/2 years at one, in the Fox Wilshire. He bought Bantam Books, and an insurance company, and, when he sold it, National General, which had lost $8 million the year he took it over, had a net worth of $76 million.

STILL, OWNING the San Diego Chargers is a job for a short, temperamental man whose feet hurt and whose hair keeps falling out. Gene Klein has more hair than Little Orphan Annie, and has never been known to fire a coach. The Chargers, as a result, are a team that beats Oakland and Miami, and loses to Detroit and Kansas City. They have an identity crisis. Already this year, they've beaten the Rams — and lost to Seattle.

FIRST WIN by new Los Angeles Ram coach was a good one as they beat the Seattle Seahawks Thursday night in Seattle after losing two straight exhibition games. Coach Ray Malavasi looks on during the 26-7 victory. He took over the reigns when George Allen was fired after losing to San Diego, 17-0. (AP Laserphoto).

Rangers top Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Texas Rangers, aided by two Kansas City errors and a wild pitch, scored four unearned runs and beat the Kansas City Royals 4-3 behind Doc Medich Friday night.

The Royals scored three runs the fifth with help from throwing errors by Medich, 7-6, and center fielder Juan Beniquez, who fielded a single and threw the ball into the Royals' dugout.

Richie Zisk struck out but reached first on a passed ball and eventually scored the winning run.

Mike Hargrove singled leading off the Texas first and took second on a wild pitch by rookie Rich Gale, who suffered only his fifth loss in 18 decisions. After Jim Sundberg beat out an infield hit, both runners scored when first baseman Pete LaCock threw wildly to second base on a double-play attempt.

In the Texas fourth, Bobby Bonds singled and took second on a throwing error by Fred Patek. Then Zisk struck out but was saved by the passed ball. John Lowenstein singled home Bonds and Zisk, who moved around to third, came home on a ground ball by Toby Harrah.

Medich scattered eight hits, struck out four and walked two.

The victory, Texas' 11th in 14 games, drew the Rangers to within 4 1/2 games of Kansas City in the American League West.

With one out in the Royals' fifth, U.L. Washington tapped a slow roller back to Medich, now 7-6, who threw wildly to first base to allow Washington to third.

George Brett singled Washington home and Hal McRae followed with another single. Pete LaCock then singled to shallow center, scoring Brett.

Beniquez, trying to throw to second, missed second baseman Bump Willis and catcher Jim Sundberg, who was backing up the play. The ball bounded into the Royals' dugout behind first base, McRae scoring. LaCock was awarded third base on the play but could advance no further.

With one out in the eighth, Hurdle doubled off the left field wall, and was replaced by pinch runner Willie Wilson, who made it to third on Al Cowens' slow roller.

Sundberg, a Gold Glove catcher, made an outstanding stop of a pitch to keep Wilson from tying the game and then Medich retired Amos Otis on a ground ball to end the Royals' final threat.

MIKKELI, Finland (AP) — The West German team overtook the Americans to become the first-place team in the world military track and field championships.

West Germany had 171 points, the U.S. team 160, Finland 150, France 74, Belgium 60 and Algeria 56.

OTARU, Japan (AP) — Japan's veteran pro Kikuo Arai shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday to take a one-stroke lead after the second round of the $135,000 Japan professional golf tournament.

One stroke off the pace going into the second round, Arai had a 2-round total of 136 over the 7,118-yard par-72 Otaru Country Club course.

Along in second place was Isao Aoki, who finished in a seventh place tie in the 1978 British Open, at 137 after shooting a 68. Tied for third place with 6-under-par 138s were Tadamu Ueno and Toru Nakamura. Ueno shot a 69 and Nakamura a 68 Friday.

Defending champion Tsuneyuki Nakajima was alone in fifth place with a 5-under 139.

Diablos whip Cubs

and we took four of five at San Antonio and then went home to sew it up. This time it seems like a replay, only Midland is the team that got way ahead of us."

The Cubs after finishing the home stand 5-5 travel to Amarillo and must regroup on the road. If they can, they stand to pick ground on somebody, since the Dodgers and Diablos go at it head-to-head.

THE CUBS trailed 3-0 after the first, 6-3 after 6 1/2 innings and 7-4 going into the last of the eighth after Steve Whitehead rifled his 11th homer of the season to right.

If there was a key inning, it was the seventh when Midland rallied for three runs and had runners on second and third with none out, yet came out of it with only a 6-6 tie instead of the lead.

Tracy, who had belted his sixth homer for Midland's first run in the third and later scored after singling on a Steve Macko single in the fifth, walked to lead off against Rick Foley, who had relieved starter Ralph Botting after the first inning when the El Paso pitcher complained of arm trouble.

Kurt Seibert singled and Macko again sent Tracy home with a base hit to left-center. That brought in Phillips, whose first pitch was a wild one that let Seibert score. His next pitch was a single by Kevin Drury that scored Macko. Eric Grandy walked and then a double steal put runners on second and third and the Cubs were on the verge of breaking the game open.

But, Phillips settled down and Redskins edge past Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joe Theismann hit Reggie Haynes on two passes for 57 yards in the fourth quarter, the second an 18-yard scoring toss, giving the Washington Redskins a 17-16 victory over the Baltimore Colts in a National Football League pre-season game Friday night.

The Colts, winless in three preseason starts, had an apparent 29-yard scoring pass nullified by a holding penalty midway through the final quarter, and then scored on Ron Lee's five-yard run with 2:59 remaining. But Toni Linhart's extra point attempt failed after hitting the left upright.

Veteran Billy Kilmer, in his first preseason action, was the Washington quarterback during a 10-10 first half. Bert Jones started for Baltimore, before giving way to Bill Troup in the second half.

Baltimore took a 7-0 lead on a five-yard pass from Jones to Mack Alston, and then needed a 43-yard field goal by Linhart with two seconds left in the first half to forge a tie.

Mark Moseley booted a 36-yard Washington field goal early in the second quarter, and a two-yard run by Mike Thomas gave the Redskins, now 2-1, a 10-7 lead with 40 seconds remaining in the half.

Pickets line up today

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pickets go up Saturday and a suit will be filed in federal court Monday seeking to stop the 200-mile television blackout of the Muhammad Ali-Leon Spinks heavyweight title fight, said Miami attorney Ellis Rubin.

The fight is scheduled in the state-owned Louisiana Superdome Sept. 15. Some years ago, Rubin fought a lengthy court battle in an effort to stop blackouts of National Football League games.
