Tests Back Prospect Of Second JFK Assailant

WASHINGTON (AP) — New acoustics tests indicate a second gunman may have fired on President John F. Kennedy, a finding that would support theories of a conspiracy in the assassination, a House committee was told Monday.

Dr. James Barger, chief scientist for a Massachusetts acoustics firm, told the House assassinations committee that the tests he conducted for the panel disclosed the possibility that four shots were fired during the moments Kennedy was slain.

Barger's analysis involved comparing gun-like sounds on a tape recording of the assassination with the sound of test shots fired in the same locations in Dallas last month.

By comparing the sounds, he said, the scientists concluded that there was a 50-50 probability that four of the sounds on the original tape were gunshots.

If the four sounds were shots, Barger said, one of them came from Kennedy's right — near a grassy knoll where some witnesses said they heard shooting — and not from Lee Harvey Oswald's position.

Barger said the tests also showed that two of the four suspect sounds occurred too close together to be shots from a single gun.

Testimony that four shots were possible contradicts the Warren Commission, which concluded there were only three shots. Conspiracy theorists have contended a fourth shot was fired and that a second gunman was involved.

The Warren Commission concluded that Oswald acted alone in assassinating Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, as the president rode in a motorcade in Dallas.

Three shell casings were found in the Texas School Book Depository window from which Oswald was said to have fired at Kennedy's motorcade.

But some eyewitnesses contended they heard shots from the grassy knoll and conspiracy theorists have contended that a second gunman fired from there.

In his testimony, Barger said he and his staff analyzed a Dallas police tape recording made when a motorcycle officer accidentally left his radio transmitter on for about 5½ minutes. During those minutes, Kennedy was killed.

Barger spent nearly two hours leading the committee through a complex explanation of how he got his results from analysis of the police radio recording and comparison with tests made in Dallas' Dealey Plaza last month. During those tests, acoustical experts recorded 2,600 rifle and pistol shots fired at sandbags.

He said the tests indicate the police motorcyle was about 120 feet behind Kennedy's limousine.

Barger is chief scientist with the acoustics firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newa, which also analyzed recordings of Ohio National Guard gunfire at Kent State University and the infamous 18½-minute gap on Richard M. Nixon's Watergate tapes.

In other testimony, a photoanalyst told the assassinations committee that tests indicate Abraham Zapruder reacted visibly to two shots while taking his famous motion pictures of the Kennedy assassination.

Dr. William Hartmann said three different photoanalysts got the same results from studying blurs in the Zapruder film, concluding that Zapruder reacted once before Kennedy was hit in the throat and

Power Bills May Drop Next Year

ELECTRICITY, as well as taxes, may come cheaper for Lubbock residents next year if the city council approves an Electric Utilities Board recommendation.

The board voted Monday to support a 3 percent reduction in the fuel cost adjustment (FCA) passed on to electric customers. The reduction would mean a total savings of more than $1 million for Lubbock Power and Light and Southwestern Public Service customers.

Another $145,800 of the FCA charged LP&L users would be retained by LP&L to establish a capital improvements fund under the recommendation.

Currently 8 percent of the FCA charged LP&L customers is transferred to the city's general operating fund each year. Last year that meant an additional $792,000 to the city and should mean an additional $1.1 million next year.

Eight Percent Cut Urged

It had been suggested that the city reduce the FCA by that 8 percent, thus reducing the electric bills of both Lubbock Power and Light and Southwestern Public Service customers.

One reason cited for a reduction in the FCA is the "windfall profits" being reaped by SWPS on the FCA.

Since the fuel adjustment is based on the actual cost of fuel for LP&L, SWPS should receive a bonus of $1.6 million next year because it has access to cheaper fuel.

"It's morally wrong," electric board chairman George Meenaghan said. "LP &L is working at break-even, while the competition is making a windfall."

Last month Meenaghan was successful in convincing the council not to set the city tax rate until all the ramifications of the FCA reduction were explored.

Tax Rate Boost Seen

An electric board ad hoc committee which studied the suggested reduction found that an 8 percent FCA reduction would require a four-cent increase in the tax rate tentatively set by the council.

The additional $540,000 the city will have next year because the tax roll was higher than expected would take care of 4 percent of the FCA reduction. The remaining 4 percent would have to come in an increase of the $1.12 per $100 valuation tax rate tentatively set by the council.

However, there would be no actual tax "increase" since the $1.12 rate represents a 29-cent decrease from last year's $1.41 rate.

Under a second option considered by the electric board, the FCA would be reduced by 4 percent, leaving the tax rate at $1.12. All 4 percent would be returned to electric customers through lower bills.

Another option would have allowed LP&L and SWPS to continue to bill customers for the full value of the FCA and 4 percent of the FCA collected by LP &L, or about $540,000, would be retained by the utility for a capital improvements fund.

LP&L would have retained nearly

Two School Strikes In Big Cities End

SCHOOL OPENED Monday for 250,000 Philadelphia youngsters who got an extra week's vacation because of a teachers' walkout. In New Orleans, teachers who settled a nearly two-week walkout prepared to resume normal classes today for 91,000 pupils.

Labor disputes elsewhere, however — mainly over wages — continued to disrupt education for several hundred thousand children.

Announcement of a tentative settlement in New Orleans came early Monday, and the teachers voted soon afterward to accept the pact. Normal classes were scheduled for today, and teachers started reporting to schools during the noon lunch hour Monday to make preparations.

Philadelphia's 13,000 teachers were back on the job Monday after accepting a two-year contract calling for a 15 percent increase during the second year of the pact. Starting pay will go from $10,070 to $11,580 and the average salary will rise from $19,600 to $22,540.

The New Orleans contract, reached after all-night negotiations, provides a 7 percent wage boost — about $700 a year at starting scale — for the 4,500 teachers and a $600 annual raise for 800 teachers' aides. The teachers had demanded 8 percent and the school board had offered 4 percent.

The walkout began Aug. 30, the day school had been scheduled to open for the district's 91,000 pupils. School has been in session during the strike, with substitutes and some non-strikers staffing the classrooms, but attendance varied.

Cleveland Strike Continues

Students in Cleveland missed their second day of school as a continuing strike by 5,000 teachers and 5,000 non-academic employees forced principals to send students home. Money is at the center of the dispute. The city had to borrow money last year to meet its payroll and the stri-

Carter Steps Up Effort To Bridge Summit Gap

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Carter has begun an "even more intense effort" to bridge differences between Egypt and Israel but "neither optimism nor pessimism is justified at this point," spokesman Jody Powell said Monday.

The president is trying to refine areas of apparent progress and trying to find compromise approaches in areas where Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin are apart, Powell said.

The process began Sunday at a 65-minute meeting between Carter and Begin. It continued Monday when Carter met for two hours with Sadat.

Powell, briefing reporters for the first time in more than 48 hours, said Carter had no immediate plans for a three-way meeting with the Egyptian and Israel leaders. Earlier, Israeli sources had said such a session would be held by the end of the day.

Powell said it would be inappropriate "to draw the conclusion of a stalemate" from the fact that there has been no triangular summit session since last Thursday.

"You are barking up the wrong tree," the spokesman said.

He said the summit had grown "even more intense" and the discussions were being conducted in a more "detailed fashion."

"It is certainly a more intense effort by the president," Powell said.

The Israeli sources, asking not to be identified, said the talks had moved from the exploratory to the operative stage. The president was understood to have made "suggestions" to Begin at their

Fighting Rages In Nicaragua

MASAYA, Nicaragua (AP) — Fierce hand-to-hand street battles erupted in Masaya and other Nicaraguan cities Monday as government troops fought rebel forces seeking to topple the government of President Anastasio Somoza.

Unofficial sources said as many as 200 persons may have been killed in the fresh outbreak of civil strife that has raged since late Saturday night.

"There is no longer any doubt. It is a civil war," said Alvarro Chamorro, vice president of the anti-Somoza Conservative Party.

Masaya — a rebel stronghold — reverberated with the crack of small arms and the thud of cannon and machinegun fire as 300 national guard soldiers rolled into the city in trucks. Reporters trying to enter the city were fired on twice by troops of the national guard, which serves as Nicaragua's army and police force.

Dozens Of Bodies Seen

No official casualty figures were available, but refugees fleeing Masaya said they had seen "dozens" of bodies, both of civilians and national guardsmen, in the city hospital and the morgue.

Somoza, whose family has ruled the Central American nation for 41 years, declared martial law in the Masaya, 18 miles southeast of the capital, and Esteli, 90 miles to the north, giving troops the right to shoot on sight.

Smoke rose from scattered points throughout Masaya, a city of about 40,000. The courthouse on the central plaza, many private homes and even some of the buildings set afire over the weekend were burning late Monday.

Death Tolls Speculated

Red Cross officials said 36 persons had been killed since Saturday and the wounded numbered more than 100. One Red Cross official said the number of casualties "may be much higher once the bodies are retrieved."

A highly placed opposition source said his contacts told him at least 200 people had died in fighting in Managua over the weekend and there were many more killed outside the capital.

Intensive gunfire in the cities hampered Red Cross ambulances and volunteers from retrieving victims, said one volunteer.

He described the Masaya and Esteli as in "a bloody situation."

People fleeing the center of Masaya said the Sandinista Liberation Front guerrillas, with red and black bandannas covering their faces, controlled most of the downtown area. The guerrillas had the guard bottled up near its command post on the city square.

One rebel who manned a national guard machinegun perched over sandbags on the back of a truck said he had deserted the country's 7,500-man national guard and had stolen the machinegun and the piles of ammunition stacked beside him.

In the capital, heavily armed troops patrolled the city. Sporadic gunfire was heard through the night in working class districts.

Red Cross, business leaders and other sources said damage in Managua since the uprising began late Saturday night is estimated at more than $2 million.

Military jeeps with heavily armed guardsmen patrolled the streets of Managua and numerous roadblocks were to be seen at key intersections — especially near the center of the city where Somoza lives and works.

Soldiers also manned roadblocks and searched vehicles and people at all access points leading to the Nicaraguan capital.

Heavy fighting was reported in Esteli, where at least five persons were reported killed over the weekend.

Sources said the fighting in Esteli was as violent as that in Masaya, but telephone lines to the city were out and the reports could not be confirmed.

The national guard has not released any details of casualties or action against the rebels except to say that it had begun "the neutralization and capture of subversive elements in the cities of Masaya and Esteli."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said all parties to the political crisis in Nicaragua should make "appropriate concessions and sacrifices" to avoid further bloodshed. Hodding Carter said the appeal was not intended as a U.S. call for the resignation of Somoza.

"We urge all sides in Nicaragua to engage in discussions toward creating a national consensus for a peaceful, democratic solution," Carter said.

He added that the United States is not considering recommending at this point that the some 5,000 Americans residing there evacuate the country.

The current crisis threatening Somoza began Aug. 22 when Sandinista guerrillas, named for a guerrilla leader killed fighting the U.S. Marines in the 1930s, took over the capitol building, held about 1,500 hostages and forced the president to free 59 imprisoned Sandinistas, pay the guerrillas $500,000 and let the prisoners and their liberators leave the country.

A nationwide strike, called by opposition political parties and joined by the country's major business organizations, began Aug. 25.

The businessmen who support the strike say that they fear continued rule by Somoza will drive moderate Nicaraguans to the radical left. Also supporting the strike is the opposition Conservative Party, the traditional foe of the Somozas, and other left-wing groups.

GOP Leaders Plan For Earl Butz Visit

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

LUBBOCK County Republican executive committee members Monday night laid plans for the Sept. 27-28 Lubbock visit of former Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz.

Republican county chairman Ruth Schiermeyer said Butz has been scheduled to appear at a county GOP fund-raiser reception prior to his speech at the West Texas agricultural chemicals conference the night of Sept. 27.

The former cabinet member under Presidents Nixon and Ford will speak at a $125 per couple reception at 5 p.m. Sept. 27 at the University-City Club at 2601 19th St.

He will meet party volunteer campaign workers from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. that day at a place to be determined later, Mrs. Schiermeyer said.

Meeting With Farmers

Butz will conclude his Lubbock stay with a 7:45 a.m. breakfast for farmers Sept. 28 at the University-City Club.

In an hour long meeting Monday at 2606 Boston Ave., party headquarters, 15 executive committee members heard reports on the Republican state convention last weekend in Dallas.

They also approved the Monday mailing of a newsletter, "The Campaigner," to 4,000 Lubbock County residents who voted in the 1976 and 1978 party primaries.

Mrs. Schiermeyer said the state convention reflected in attendance and in the number of resolutions proposed statewide, the initiative the party is taking to elect more candidates this year. "I saw very few empty seats on the convention floor, and that is very unusual," she said.

An estimated 3,000 persons attended the Dallas Convention Center gathering.

Telephone Operation Okayed

The executive committee approved a 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. telephone operation beginning Monday at party headquarters to pinpoint support in the county.

Volunteers will be calling Monday through Saturday in an attempt to determine voter preferences on various area and statewide candidates.

Committee member Bill R. Neel won approval of a resolution opposing "plans of the Carter administration to build up the strength of Communist China by giving them sophisticated equipment like the C-130 military aircraft, computers, radar, anti-submarinewarfare equipment, sattelite reconnaisance equipment and other advanced technology."

The resolution, drafted as an appeal to Congress, also called for continuing support of the Republic of China on Taiwan.

The election of two recently resigned precinct chairmen was delayed for lack of a quorum.

CD Funding Of City Projects Proposed

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

THE Community Development Advisory Committee Monday recommended that the Lubbock City Council allocate $156,600 in CD funds to residents of the Stubbs School Area in southwest Lubbock and the Meadowbrook Villa Area in northeast Lubbock.

Earlier this year the money was allocated to the Overton South Neighborhood, which recently returned the funds to the city after it was decided a better use could be found for the funds.

Although the main purpose of Monday's CDAC meeting was planning the allocation of $3.7 million in CD funds which become available June 1, the 23-member committee found itself weighing requests for the money from six neighborhoods.

The city's Urban Renewal Board supported using the $156,600 in the Stubbs School Area to make low interest government loans available for housing rehabilitation.

The Stubbs area, which recently was designated a CD area, is bounded by 34th Street, Slide Road, Quaker Avenue and 42nd Street.

The Urban Renewal recommendation of how the funds should be allocated sparked the board's first controversy of the year.

The Rev. A.L. Davis, a board member, questioned why Urban Renewal vice chairman Tommie Stevens and Urban Renewal director Orville Alderson felt the money should not be spent in the Phyllis Wheatley Addition in southeast Lubbock.

Davis said the addition is the location of "the most substandard houses in Lubbock. Phyllis Wheatley is in grave need of something being done to it. More than 17 years I've worked to get something done" without results, Davis said.

Alderson explained that the Phyllis Wheatley additon would require "heavy demolition and removal of houses" at an estimated cost of $2.3 million "to do what is needed to be done."

The Stubbs School Area, which contains about 950 single-family residences, contains about 40 houses which would have to be demolished, with the remainder considered rehabilitable.

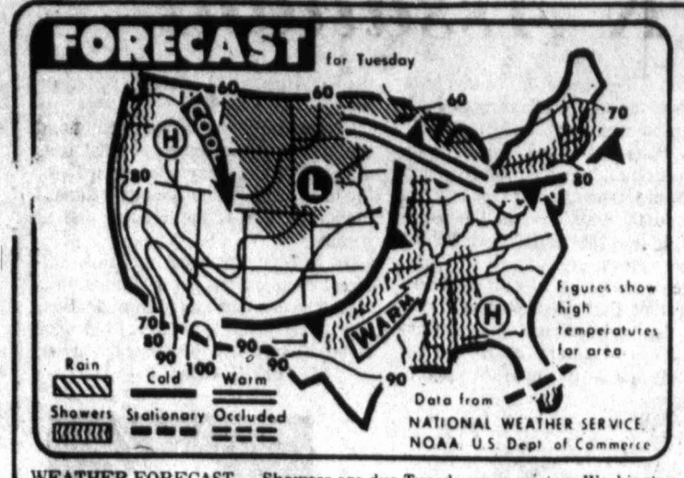
The Urban Renewal Board favored CD funding for the area because the blight is at a reversible stage.

Bob Gschwend Jr., who requested CD funding for the Meadowbrook Villa Area, said that neighborhood contains about 65 homes, about 40 percent of which are owned by low or fixed income persons.

Located west of Estacado High School, the Meadowbrook Villa area also will become eligible for low-interest federal loans if the CD funds for the area are approved.

PRISON POPULATION SOARS

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Texas' prison population, which was 24,422 on July 31 has reached an "alarming level," Texas Board of Corrections member Ruben Montemayor said Monday. The prison census has increased by 3,300 since July 31, 1977, he said. The prison system is building new units to cope with the growing number of prisoners.



WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are due Tuesday over western Washington and Oregon, south Florida, the Gulf Coast north into Kentucky and from Texas north to the Lakes Area where it will blend into an area of rain extending west to Montana and Wyoming. It will be hot in the Southwest and cooler elsewhere. (AP Laserphoto)

Fair Skies Expected To Continue

A weak cold front expected to move into the Panhandle today, should have little effect on the Lubbock area as temperatures will continue to hove near 90 this afternoon.

Winds are expected to blow from the southwest today at 10-15 mph. Tonight's low should be near 60.

Fair skies are expected to prevail over West Texas through Saturday bringing no significant chance for rain. Forecasters are predicting that temperatures will remain in the upper 80s during the afternoons through Saturday as overnight lows remain near 60.

Monday, Lubbock's high reached 92, only one degree short of the state's warmest recording of 93 at Amarillo and Dalhart.

Partly cloudy skies remained over the Hub City early Monday as the low dipped to 67. Winds blew from the south at 10 to 15 mph.

While the western third of Texas enjoyed fair skies and warm temperatures in the 80s and 90s, the National Weather Service issued flood warning for four rivers as a tropical depression dumped three to four inches of rain on the area between San Antonio and Houston.

The depression, which moved ashore late Sunday, threatened to cause overflowing along the bottom lands and flood plains of the Navidad, Lavaca, San Antonio and Guadalupe rivers.

In East Texas, a tornado warning was posted for southern Nacogdoches and San Augustine counties Monday when a funnel cloud was reported on Sam Rayburn Lake. No damage or injuries were reported.

A heavy storm near Baytown early Monday caused several streets and Texas 146 to flood near Houston. The highway was closed for about two hours.

Official Nixon Visit To Australia Opposed

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser said Monday it would be "offensive and wrong" to deny Richard Nixon a visa to enter Australia if he wishes. But he made it clear he does not favor Nixon making an official visit.

Speaking in a nationwide television interview, Fraser said, "There have been all sorts of suggestions he (Nixon) could be denied a visa.

"We cannot stop him. I think it would be offensive and wrong. A private visit is a private visit."

Fraser's conservative government turned down a request by Nixon two weeks ago to make an official visit and meet with the prime minister. Nixon said through an aide he planned to go anyway. He has been invited to address a cattlemen's group, whose leaders say they believe he can tell them how to fight proposed legislation in Congress that would limit Australian beef exports.

Officials, who asked not to be named, noted that it would be difficult for Nixon to make a genuinely private visit.

Wilmington Busing Goes Well; L.A. Starts Controversial Plan

By The Associated Press

About 21,500 students in Wilmington, Del., and its suburbs were bused to classes Monday with little sign of resistance to a court-ordered integration. And in Los Angeles, school officials prepared for the startup of a controversial busing plan in the nation's second-largest school district.

Wilmington school officials reported no major problems in implementing a federal court-ordered integration plan that consolidates the city's 11 districts into one district with 65,000 students. Integration of the city's schools had been the subject of court battles for 22 years.

Only a few demonstrators were at the Wilmington schools Monday, and officials reported attendance was higher than normal for an opening day of school.

"I'm delighted at what's going on today," said Earl J. Reed, a member of the Wilmington school board.

"No problems, everything is going smoothly and I don't want to talk about it," said Jack Brandt, principal of suburban Glasgow High School.

A cross was burned at Glasgow and three other sites during the weekend, but there were no arrests or injuries.

Last year, about 37,000 students were bused to school in Wilmington. Of the estimated 47,000 scheduled to ride buses Monday, 21,500 were driven in from the suburbs to the 92 schools.

The consolidated school district, created by U.S. District Judge Murray Schwartz' desegregation order, is about 23 percent black.

In Los Angeles, anti-busing forces predicted 5,000 persons would attend a rally Monday night in the predominantly white San Fernando Valley on the eve of the opening day of school. More than 62,000 youngsters are to be bused as part of the controversial plan that takes effect Tuesday.

Mayor Tom Bradley held a news conference Monday to urge, as he has repeatedly in the past, that parents peacefully comply with the law. A group called the Council for Peace and Equality in Education has waged an extensive public relations campaign on the same theme.

The Los Angeles Police Department said it will have 15 helicopters in the air Tuesday, and a squad car will be outside most schools affected by mandatory desegregation. Most buses will be equipped with two-way radios.

The $120 million integration plan, designed in response to a state Supreme Court order that the Los Angeles Unified School District desegregate, has drawn sharp opposition from many parents because of some bus rides that exceed two hours roundtrip.

The Board of Education had said travel times would be limited to 45 minutes each way in the 711-square-mile school district. But critics contend they will be much longer and cite bus pickup times that are as early as 5:10 a.m. Most are between 6:30 a.m. and 7 a.m., according to district spokesmen.

In a series of last-minute court maneuvers, anti-busing forces in Los Angeles succeeded in delaying the start of mandatory aspects of the plan only to be turned back by higher courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court.

The plan, affecting grades four through eight, calls for mandatory busing of 32,000 of the district's 570,000 students. An additional 30,000 youngsters will be in voluntary programs.

White students make up 34 percent of the enrollment in the 570,000-student Los Angeles school district and have been in the minority since 1971. The district is 35 percent Hispanic, 24 percent black and 7 percent Asian.

Elsewhere, in Chicago, with the nation's largest school district, classes began last week with about 1,500 elementary school students attending schools outside their neighborhoods as part of a voluntary desegration plan. A minor egg-throwing incident and some picketing occurred on the first day of school, but otherwise the program has gone smoothly.

In Fresno, Calif., two high schools with enrollments consisting primarily of minority students were desegrated with students bused from the opposite end of the city. Fresno's plan involves the busing of 3,000 youngsters to achieve racial balance among the 20,000 students of junior high and high school age.

A school district has delayed the start of a desegration plan in Seattle, and court-ordered plans have been delayed for the time being in Cleveland, where teachers also were on strike, and Columbus, Ohio.

Kamikaze Frogmen Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japan had a force of 800 kamikaze frogmen trained to blow themselves up alongside American ships during the closing months of World War II, according to secret documents released by the National Security Agency.

The documents also said the Japanese navy recruited 1,000 "human torpedoes" who would sit on torpedoes and guide them into the hulls of American warships.

The secret documents were recently released by the NSA to the national archives and were reported on by the Washington Post.

One cable sent to Japanese military commanders near the end of the war instructed that "the emphasis in training will be on improving suicide aircraft and surface and underwater suicide strength. Air strategy is to be based on total suicide air attacks."

Another decoded Japanese cable says at least two human torpedoes were used in an attack on the destroyer USS Underhill. The Underhill was lost off Okinawa on July 24, 1945.

The documents said the Japanese navy was ordered to equip all submarines and destroyers with as many as five of the suicide torpedoes. These torpedoes were to be used as a main line of defense against attacks on the Japanese coast.

GINSENG EXPORTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says ginseng exports in 1977 were valued at a record of $26.5 million, up 48 percent from $17.9 million in 1976. Ginseng is an herb reputed to have sex rejuvenation properties and other medicinal values. About 386,164 pounds were sold last year, mostly to Hong Kong and other Asian markets. That was an average price of about $70 a pound.

State Primaries Generate Political Activity

By The Associated Press

Fourteen states and the District of Columbia hold primaries Tuesday, with governors in New York and Connecticut opposed by their own lieutenant governors, and acting governors facing challenges in Wisconsin and Maryland.

In other races on the busiest primary day of 1978, Minnesota voters pick nominees for the Senate seat once held by the late Hubert Humphrey, and voters decide whether to renominate the mayors of Washington and Providence, R.I.

Other states with primaries are New Hampshire, Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Nevada, Vermont, Utah and Wyoming.

Here is a rundown of the major races:

NEW YORK: Lt. Gov. Mary Ann Krupsak charged Gov. Hugh Carey with ignoring her and challenged him in the Democratic primary. Carey is favored to win and run against Assembly Minority Leader Perry Duryea, the Republican candidate in the close general election.

In a congressional race that attracted national attention, Rep. Fred Richmond of Brooklyn, who acknowledged last spring he solicited sex from a male teenager in Washington, was challenged in the Democratic primary by Bernard Gifford, a former school administrator.

CONNECTICUT: Lt. Gov. Robert Killian challenged Gov. Ella Grasso, who was thought to be in trouble a year ago but is expected to win the Democratic nomination. The winner will face the unopposed Republican nominee, Rep. Ronald A. Sarasin.

MINNESOTA: Humphrey's death and the appointment of his widow, Muriel, to his seat, set off the biggest squabble in more than a decade in Minnesota's once-dominant Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party.

Mrs. Humphrey is not seeking election, and her seat is sought by both Rep. Donald Fraser and Robert Short, a millionaire businessman who was once treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Lawyer David Durenberger leads a five-way Republican race for the seat. His only major opponent is Malcolm Moos, former president of the University of Minnesota.

In Minnesota's other Senate race, incumbent Wendell Anderson faces only token Democratic primary opposition, but polls show him trailing Rudy Boschwitz, a businessman who is expected to be the Republican nominee.

In the race for governor, Democratic incumbent Rudy Perpich and Rep. Albert Quie, a Republican, are favored to win their primaries.

WISCONSIN: Acting Gov. Martin Schreiber, who took over a year ago when Patrick Lucey became ambassador to Mexico, is challenged in the Democratic primary by David Carley, a former Democratic national commiteeman. The Republican race is between Rep. Robert Kasten and Lee S. Dreyfus, on leave as chancellor of the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point.

MARYLAND: Blair Lee, who became acting governor when Marvin Mandel was convicted on bribery charges, is in a tight race in the Democratic primary with Baltimore County Executive Theodore Venetoulis and two other candidates.

On the Republican side, former U.S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall Jr. is favored over former state Sen. Louise Gore, who was the GOP nominee four years ago.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA: In an eight-way race for mayor, only three Democrats are given a chance. One is Mayor Washington, who was appointed 11 years ago under the home rule act and won the first mayoral election four years ago. Polls show him running neck-and-neck with City Council chairman Sterling Tucker and with Marion Barry, an at-large member of the council.

RHODE ISLAND: Providence Mayor Vincent Cianci, considered an up-and-coming Republican, was the subject of an article in New Times Magazine which said that as a law student in Milwaukee 12 years ago, he had been accused by a woman of raping her at gunpoint.

Cianci vigorously denied the allegations, pointing out he was never charged by police, and is expected to win the primary over Robert A. "Skip" Chernov, a former rock concert promoter. There is also a four-way Democratic primary contest.

Derailed Train Wrecks Home, Three Die

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP) — When Michael Call saw the derailed freight train hurtling toward his home, he "turned around to yell for everyone to get out." But it was too late — his month-old son and two friends were killed in the crash.

"With all the hundreds of millions of miles of track in this country, who could have thought it could have happened in front of my house," Call said Monday as he watched workmen cleaning up the debris.

Two cars from Sunday's Conrail derailment ripped through the rented duplex that Call and his wife Donna had moved into a week before. Their infant son, Michael, was killed as were Kathy Anne Barkalow, 17, of Miamisburg, and Linda Humerick, 26, of Germantown, Ohio — friends with whom the Calls had been playing cards in the living room.

"I remember someone saying here comes the 5:30 and it sounds like she's going awful fast," said Call, a 22-year-old auto mechanic. "I heard the first car go off the track and I went out the door.

"I saw what had happened and as I turned around to yell for everyone to get out of the house, the whole wall just came down on top of me."

Call wore a wrist cast as he watched work crews gather spilled freight from the train, put wheels on the damaged cars and right them on the tracks. He and his 20-year-old wife were among seven persons treated at Grandview Ambulatory Center for minor injuries.

Authorities said the 25th car in the 83-car train, bound from Buffalo, N.Y., to Cincinnati, broke an axle and left the track, starting a chain reaction that caused cars to pile on top of one another. A total of 20 cars derailed.

Conrail officials said a preliminary investigation showed that the train was moving about 35 mph.

Most of the cars piled into an abandoned brick feed mill, but two pushed into the Call residence on the other side of the tracks, just a few feet from the rails.

Call said he and his wife had just unpacked all their belongings and were playing cards in the kitchen with friends.

"It (the train) must have come through the living room," he said. "The two girls (Mrs. Barkalow and Miss Humerick) must have raced for the baby which was only a few feet away. They said one of the girls was holding the baby when they found him."

Dale Tucker, who lived in the other side of the duplex, grabbed his 6-month-old baby and handed it to his wife before plaster knocked him down. The Tuckers' four other children had been playing in the front yard and ran across the street to safety.

"It was something you got used to," Tucker said of the heavy train traffic that passed his home. "But every time I heard the train whistle I automatically went out and checked where the kids were. That's what I was doing when I saw the train go off the track."

The side of the house in which Tucker lived was not destroyed. Firemen took his possessions away on trucks.

All Call had left was a cedar hope chest. "Everything else is gone," he said.

Carrillo Guilty Of Fraud Charge

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The son of former State Rep. Oscar Carrillo of Duval County pleaded guilty here Monday to felony theft charges.

David Homero Carrillo, 37, had been charged with improperly drawing $7,526 in salary from the Duval County Water Reclamation and Restoration District.

State District Judge Darrell Hester said Carrillo testified he performed no services for the district while employed in 1976.

Hester sentenced Carrillo to a two-year probated sentence. The judge said Carrillo agreed to make full restitutions.

Three other theft charges pending against Carrillo were dismissed in exchange for the guilty plea, Hester said.

AN EDITORIAL:

A Costly Hidden 'Pay Hike'

AS IT TURNS OUT, the Legislature may have done neither the state nor its employes a favor by disguising a pay raise that went into effect Sept. 1.

In haste last year, the Legislature voted to begin paying the Social Security taxes on the first $16,500 income of all state employes.

The idea was to give each employe a 5.85 percent pay raise up to a maximum $965 without them having to pay federal income taxes on it.

In theory, this would give the employes more take-home pay and cost taxpayers less than would be the case if a straightforward pay increase were granted.

CRITICS AT THE time, The Avalanche-Journal among them, warned of hidden pitfalls and objected to distorting state pay scales in such a fashion.

Objections also were raised that relieving public employes of the obligation to pay their share of Social Security taxes would lead to pressures from a big non-paying group for higher benefits out of the bankruptcy-threatened Social Security fund.

In the something-for-nothing euphoria that often pervades legislative bodies, however, SB 20 was approved with a minimum of debate.

Now comes the Internal Revenue Service, which says it will disallow the gimmick of not counting the employes' share of Social Security taxes as taxable income.

State officials are appealing that ruling and the special session of the Legislature rewrote some technical provisions designed to strengthen the state's hands.

Pending final resolution of the appeal, the state will deduct federal income taxes on the Social Security contribution from employes' paychecks.

LOOMING AHEAD is an even bigger jolt, from the point of view of the state employes.

The pay raise via the Social Security subterfuge will not count as income for purposes of figuring employes' future retirement benefits, as a direct pay increase would have.

Thus, as things now stand, the employes will lose more in longterm benefits than they will gain in shortterm savings on their income taxes even if the state wins its feud with the IRS.

To correct that "oversight," the Legislature can be expected to "make up" for the losses in retirement benefits. When it does, the so-called savings it effected last year will be more than wiped out and the taxpayer, as usual, will get it in the neck.

There are still other ramifications of the "indirect" pay increase that were not examined fully, according to the Texas Research League.

We won't go into those at this time. We'll just indulge ourselves with an I-told-you-so and remind the Legislature of an old homily: Act in haste, repent at leisure.

AN EDITORIAL:

No Handouts--Just A Hand

UNTIL THE federal government begins to grant greater flexibility and decision-making authority to state and local governments, we are going to continue to find gross examples of wasted and misdirected federal resources fanning the fires of destructive regionalism.

Conferees at a just concluded Boston brainwashing session blamed federal policies and programs as a major factor in "sectional contentiousness." Rather than encouraging cooperative efforts, Washington's involvement at state and local levels was criticized as tending to feed wasteful rivalry for federal dollars.

Conferees not only identified the problem but came up with a solution. They didn't suggest that Washington pick up its dollars and go home, but they did propose that disposition of funds be primarily a matter for decision by local government.

WASHINGTON SHOULD do more in meeting local problems, particularly in the way of funding, but should have less say in local government followthrough. Nice work, if you can get it.

But the flow of power to Washington has been underway virtually throughout the Republic's history. It became a rush during the Depression and ensuing decades.

The public and its grass-roots authorities, the least potent of the many layers of government, increasingly turned to Washington as state capitols proved insensitive to or incapable of dealing with their problems.

Federalism, as once conceived and practiced, has declined as a consequence. But this has been offset somewhat by the growth of regionalism, since in developing and applying programs, Washington has tended to take a broader focus.

FOR EXAMPLE, water resource development has promoted common Western regional interests. Farm programs tend to tighten Midwestern bonds.

And energy, currently a contentious regional issue between Northeast and Southwest, is likely to become even more so when or if Washington's executive and legislative parts get together a national program.

Regionalism has been in the long run a healthy development, which is fortunate because it also has been inevitable as public interests and problems have transcended political boundries.

But attempting to limit Washington to a maximum of financing and a minimum of direction may be a futile effort to repeal what might be called the Golden Rule of Government: "He who supplies the gold makes the rules."

ART BUCHWALD:

Lobbyists Must Have New Senate Building

WASHINGTON—I must admit I was as critical as most people when I heard that the Senate's new, ornate office building, originally budgeted for $45 million, would now cost an estimated $122 million, and that the way things were going might well climb to $200 million by the time it was completed in 1981.

But then I talked to a lobbyist who persuaded me that the building was absolutely essential, no matter what it cost.

"It's impossible," he told me, "for lobbyists to do their work in the two Senate buildings now in existence.

"We have no place to sit while waiting to see senators. I've been in offices where there have been so many lobbyists that half of us had to sit on floor."

"WHAT ABOUT the halls?" I said. "I thought that's where you people buttonholed most of the senators and their staffs."

"The halls used to be okay for lobbying," he replied. "But you don't realize how the lobbyist population has exploded in the last few years.

"We have lobbyists lobbying lobbyists. The halls of the two buildings are mob scenes.

"You'll start working on a senator and another lobbyist will suddenly elbow you out of the way and without so much as an 'excuse me' start making his pitch for some other bill.

"Government can't operate under these conditions. That's why it's essential that we have this new Senate building no matter what it costs."

"CAN'T YOU LOBBY away from the Capitol at a nice restaurant or club?"

"No way. You have to be where the action is. When a bill is being debated on the floor you have to move in right away and warn the senator about the pitfalls in it.

"If you can't get to him immediately he might not realize how dangerous an amendment is to a lobby's cause."

"You're in a tough business,', I said.

"Of course I'm in a tough business. But that's what I'm being paid for. At the same time we're being impeded at every turn. If it was just the lobbyists clogging up the halls I wouldn't mind.

"But now you have amateurs coming in every day wanting to see their senators, and the television and press people keep getting in your way.

"IT'A A JUNGLE up there in those old senate offices and the only thing that is going to save us is a new building."

"But everyone feels that with the cost of government skyrocketing the Senate should be more careful about overruns on its own offices.

"Some taxpayers worry that if the senators get more office space they'll hire larger staffs."

"Larger staffs mean more efficient legislation. The extra space will make everybody's work easier.

"For example, it isn't generally known, but a great deal of the legislation in this country is originally drawn up by lobbyists. If we could have a place to work in a senator's office it would speed up things tremendously."

"I IMAGINE the private restaurant on the top of the new Senate office building will be very helpful for you people, too," I said.

"That was my idea. I lobbied it through at the time," he said.

"I pointed out that as long as they were spending so much money on a new office building, the least the senators could do would be to have a restaurant with a view.

"It's one thing to vote money for the departments of government, but it brings the reality much closer to home when you can actually see them."

"You make a strong case for spending so much of the taxpayers' money for another Senate building."

"If I couldn't make a strong case,,' he replied, "I wouldn't be here."

Letters to the Editor

Reader Says Cleanup Is Needed In House, Senate

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

If the American people fail to do a thorough housecleaning job in the U.S. Senate and House at the earliest opportunity, then they can blame themselves for the (1) Continuing debasement of our savings and currency (2) Increasing jeopardy of our National Security and (3) Continual inroads against our liberties.

There may be a few members of both lawmaking bodies who are representative of their constituencies. Who knows?

But it must be manifest to any thoughtful and observant person that the great majority of both Houses are at wide variance from the mainstream of public opinion on a substantial number of vital issues from the busing of school children, the Panama Canal matter, to the gross mishandling of public funds and the all but incredible mismanagement of our foreign policy by the President.

The Senate must take heavy responsibility for foreign policy matters since its advice and consent is constitutionally involved.

The Presidency doesn't seem to have a very good "press" of late. This may be a charade or it may be "for real."

It seems likely to me, however, that the President is doing what the Establishment that put him there wants him to do concerning the Canal, China, Africa, Middle East and Far East Policies, monetary and energy matters and international trade, ad nauseum.

But of course the Establishment Media can and will give him a "workout" now and then if for no other reason than to remind him of what the Establishment did when Richard Nixon began having ideas of his own as to timing, methods etc., and wandered too far from the Establishment "Script."

The U.S. Congress used to be known as "the greatest deliberative body on earth." If you take the definition of the "greatest" to mean the largest and the most highly paid, it may still be.

But if I can still hear thunder and lightning, there are many, many people who, after giving thorough housecleaning a chance and still don't get what they want, need and deserve, might then be in the mood to substitute the jury selection method for the present elective process wherein legislators would then be chosen by chance and against their will, instead of by fraud and against the will of the rest of us, as now.

In my view we don't really have two major political parties; rather two branches of the same party and I could just as easily call them Demopublicans and Repubocrats.

Vandals Not Students At Monterey, Writer Asserts

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

In the Friday morning, Sept. 1 paper, you reported an incident of vandalism at Monterey High School. Somehow, it was mistakenly implied that the vandals attended Monterey this year.

The general attitude at Monterey this year is one of complete unity; within each class, among the entire student body, and with each of the faculty members. I can assure you that the students at Monterey would not participate nor condone these actions.

You have done Monterey High School a gross injustice by not completing the story by reporting the angry and frustrated reactions of the student body.

Yours in Pride and Spirit.

Brownfield Mishap Victim Says 'Thanks' To Police

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

Recently I was involved in an automobile accident in Lubbock. This experience was made far less traumatic by the prompt and courteous service of the Lubbock Police Department.

I would like to cite, in particular, the actions of Patrolman Nesbit. He was very helpful at the scene and later took time to come by the hospital.

Lubbock is indeed fortunate to have police officers such as the ones that assisted me.

Lubbockite Claims Public Employes Unfairly Blamed

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

"I take my pen in hand":

Somehow this salutation, common a century ago, seems more appropriate than "Dear Sir" when addressing an unknown writer whose prejudicial viewpoint has the potential of being highly detrimental to a group of people who are dedicated, generally industrious and extremely underpaid.

I address my remarks to the continuing vendetta conducted in several recent editorials published in The Avalanche-Journal relating to alleged greediness, pressure tactics and inefficiency imposed upon taxpayers by the public employes of this state and nation.

In the state of Texas, where public employes have traditionally refrained from joining organized labor and have relied upon recognition of honest efficient public service as the best means of obtaining a fair salary and equitable compensation, it seems incredible that this sector of the citizenry should have to endure the barbs and innuendos periodically directed at them by this and several other publications throughout the state.

In many other states the salaries and benefits of public employes have, in some degree, kept pace with inflation.

In Texas, this has not been the case. It is sad and ironic that in a state where the economy is booming and bank deposits are at an all time record high the executive and legislative branches of our state government evidently take heed of ill-advised news media allegations and consequent public opinion that public employes requests for pay adjustments are exorbitant.

One last thought. Perhaps the type of criticism public employes are receiving may be a blessing in disguise.

If the only hope they have for fair and equitable treatment is with organized labor then, at last resort, the time has come for this group to organize. After all, the unions have always been successful even though their methods are sometimes drastic and controversial.

M. Wilson, Lubbock

Slaton Man Says Rising Prices Threat To Nation

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

I think and know now that had we all listened to your Editorials before the onset of the last presidential election, we all would be in a far better shape today.

We should have re-elected Ford. Inflation and prices have risen something terrible since that election.

And the worst thing about it is, our present President and his cabinet care nothing about inflation which is eating us all up alive.

He's more interested in "his Human Rights issue," a cover-up for Inflation. We are going to have to get Carter out of there on the next election. He hasn't helped the farmer, rancher, businessman or wage-earner.

My prices haven't gone up since 1970. But many have. A simple roll of gummed shipping tape is one example. One year ago it was 49 cents. Three weeks ago it was 69 cents. Yesterday the same roll is now $1.09.

So I did some checking to find the manufacturer had not gone up since 1974. But the wholesaler advanced 12 cents a roll, and the store had added 40 cents a roll. I will buy no more.

A well known bottle of aspirin was $4.95 two weeks ago. Last Friday it had gone to $6.98. That's a 45 percent increase, while our prices and wages remain the same. There is no equal balance.

Have you gone to a doctor lately? The time has come we must have a National Health and Medical Program run by the government, or we cannot survive. I say run the National Health Program out of our Income Taxes, all pay at rate of $5 out of everyone's payments per year.

And stop giving our Dollars to Foreign Countries who only waste it on the bullets they shoot back at us later. I only ask to live and let live, without all the price hassle.

The Middle class is soon disappearing. Soon there will be the Elite rich and the poor, a two-class system, which should be only a one-class system. Not Socialism and not Communism, but real first-class United States Democracy at work for the good of all.

Stinson R. Behlen, Slaton

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Kemp On Truckin'

WHEN A BUSINESS, already heavily in debt, starts to go broke, it borrows more money, reshuffles its operations to increase growth, and crosses its corporate fingers that new profits will roll in fast enough to pay off the loan.

And sometimes they do.

Would that work with this federal government? Lord knows its 1979 budget is in terrible shape. Some $60 billion in the red, the last anybody heard.

Now Congress is talking about cutting taxes, borrowing from the public to make up for the decreased revenue, and crossing its federal fingers that the tax cuts will spur enough economic growth to pay off the debt—and balance the budget, too.

SOUNDS TOO GOOD to be true, doesn't it? And maybe it is. But, greatly simplified, it's the theory behind the Kemp-Roth bill now being pushed in Congress.

And being opposed by those who say it's madness to cut income taxes that much (30 percent over the next three years), because that will lower revenues so far that the deficit will never get wiped out.

The sensible way to balance the budget, they argue, is to force the government to stop spending money it doesn't have. Then maybe it'll be time to talk about tax cuts.

Not so, say Kemp and Roth (both conservative Republicans, by the way).

A juicy tax cut now will spark all kinds of economic growth, which will create more jobs, which will broaden the tax base, which will bring in more than enough revenue to cover the initial budgeting gap.

THAT'S WHAT THE complicated (and controversial) "Laffer Curve" is all about.

Its theory is that tax cuts increase government income. Believe it or not. So far, a lot of people do. And mostly because that's how it's worked out every time for the past 33 years.

Since World War II, we've had 11 tax cuts which reduced government income quite a bit. But, surprisingly, within a year revenues were up again. And without any compensating increase in income taxes.

Except for 1948. That time it took two years for revenues to fill in the gaps.

Politicians don't quite understand why it works this way, and neither do a lot of so-called "academic economists." (They're the ones who spend their time plotting lines on graphs and who reject any theory that can't be squeezed into "macroeconomic quantification.")

BUT THOSE WHO do understand say it's all part of the dynamics of political economy. They admit the balance-the-budget-first idea makes sense on paper, but that's not the way it works out in the real world.

The lengths to which a business (or a government) goes to jolt its operations out of the red may not always fit any accepted economic formula. It's what's called "entrepreneurial innovation"—and it's risky.

If that businessman pulls it off, he's blessed by his stockholders as a "genius" worthy of a fat bonus. If he doesn't, well...his next step is bankruptcy court.

WHICH BRINGS US to the most worrisome thing with any tax cut: where does the government get the money to carry on while it waits for the Laffer Curve to do its thing?

Actually, there are two prominent sources, and both of them are bad:

* It can crank up its handy-dandy press and print its own money.

Except that every time it does this (and the money-machine has been red-hot lately) it also cranks up inflation. That's mostly why we're in the dangerous double digits right now.

* It can fund a new debt by borrowing from the public in the form of high-interest bonds, which in the short run slows the economy down, and in the long run is inflationary.

THIS STRIKES A lot of experts as just one more "hidden tax."

It may help the budget problem, but it adds to the national debt, which, on an honest accounting basis, is already an astronomical $3 trillion, give or take a billion or so.

(When you're that far in the hole, a few zeroes more or less don't make a whole lot of difference.)

And who, they ask, is going to have to pay off that debt? Well, by now, we all know who. We also know how: with future taxes.

There is, of course, a third alternative.

The Senate can stop spending money...the House can stop spending money...and President Carter can stop spending money.

This solution hasn't yet filtered through to our fearless leaders.

They'd rather take a chance on throwing us a curve—and all we can do is hope it turns out to be a Laffer. (Pun intended.)

L.M. BOYD:

...Pass It On

"THE GOLDEN SUN burst through the dawn mist, casting a luminous glow over the tranquil scene, as a hush was broken only by the distant melody of church chimes, the murmuring of rustling leaves and the lullaby of a mother sparrow trilling to her young."

So wrote David Goldman. And why did he write it, you ask? To try to put into one sentence what Wilfred J. Funk designated as the 10 most beautiful words in the English language: chimes, dawn, golden, hush, lullaby, luminous, melody, mist, murmuring, tranquil.

Among the several things that could exempt a man from military service in the ancient Jewish army was "confessed cowardice."

TEEN VOWS REVENGE — Sixteen-year-old David Pintorn, of Dallas, holds a gun by his side at his back door Sunday telling reporters, "They're gonna get a one-way ticket," apparently in reference to a gang that has been fighting with Pintorn for some time. Two 15-year-old boys were shot and killed and three other persons were wounded during the weekend when a neighborhood feud erupted into gunfire. Police believe the shootings are the result of a feud that goes back to the spring of 1977. (AP Laserphoto)

Mother Relieved At Addict's Death

MIAMI (AP) — Vicki Holtz says "no one could have helped" her 18-year-old son, who died after getting high on drugs in what had become virtually a daily habit. "I feel relieved. That is my main feeling," she says.

"I sort of feel like his life with us ended quite a while ago. I think he ceased to exist in my feelings," Mrs. Holtz said as she watched her son buried.

As Steve Holtz' friends and relatives tell it, the night of Aug. 25 started much as nearly every night had for the past three years. He snorted cocaine with friends then staggered home.

Steve spoke little, and then incoherently. He went into the bathroom and his brother and their friends gathered around to watch him pour a small cellophane bag of "angel dust" on a mirror. He inhaled the white dust through a rolled $10 bill.

When Mrs. Holtz arrived home, she found Steve passed out on the living room couch. She was angry and exasperated. "I won't put up with this stuff anymore. This is the end," she snapped.

She told her sons Michael, 14, and Eric, 12, to carry Steve out to the back yard to sleep it off. Three hours later he was dead.

Mrs. Holtz said that for the past three years Steve had been high nearly daily and used a variety of drugs, including angel dust, cocaine, Quaaludes, hallucinogenic mushrooms, speed and marijuana. When unable to raise drug money by stealing, he fashioned makeshift drugs from household items, his brothers said.

Friends said Steve's drug habit worsened after an auto accident in 1974 that killed his father, James Holtz, 41, a professor of finance at Florida International University. Mrs. Holtz also was in the accident, spent four months in the hospital and suffered brain damage that left her with a limp, slurred speech and a partial memory loss.

"This once was an attractive, intelligent American boy. He had so much potential. But then came the accident, and it didn't seem like anyone could save him," said Margaret Via, a social worker and family friend.

Mrs. Holtz said Steve had begun smoking marijuana in his early teens. By age 15, he no longer attended classes at Palmetto High School, where he once made A's and B's.

"By then, I could see he was changing. But I thought he was such a good kid that he'd change back. But he didn't," said Mrs. Holtz. "He became a vegetable. That's what we ended up calling him, 'the vegetable.'"

In late 1976, Steve spent three months at the Okeechobee School for Boys for a number of thefts. He was jailed five times after his 18th birthday last November.

"When he was in jail, that was my breathing time. It got him out of the house," said Mrs. Holtz, who herself once turned him in to police.

She had tried to have Steve committed to a mental institution but doctors said he was sane. She would lock him out of the house, but he would sneak back in.

"Always, he'd come back. I felt so angry. And yet I felt so sorry for him. If he was on his own, what would he live on? I'd still have to give him money to feed himself," she said.

His brothers tried to shame him. But, said David, "Steve would just say, 'Look at me. I'm happy, aren't I?'"

Man Kills Ex-Employer, Two Others

EDISON, N.J. (AP) — A disgruntled former employee walked into a perfume factory Monday and, without a word, shot to death the company president and two plant foremen before killing himself with a sawed-off shotgun, authorities said.

Two of the victims — the company president and one foreman — had testified against the man, identified as Robert Mayer of Plainfield, in a federal court suit he brought against the company alleging safety violations. The suit was thrown out of court in June, authorities said.

Barnett Hoffman, first assistant prosecutor for Middlesex County, said Mayer, 37, walked into a shipping area of the Alpine Aromatics International Inc., plant Monday morning and shot foreman Albert Restivo, 54, of White House Station.

Mayer then walked to the nearby perfume mixing section, and shot shipping foreman Zoltan Shagi, 62, of North Brunswick, Hoffman added.

He then drove about one-eighth of a mile across the plant parking lot to the general office area. There, he shot open the door to the purchasing office, entered and shot company president Raoul Pantaleoni, 62, of Metuchen.

Mayer then shot himself, Hoffman said.

"Apparently Mr. Mayer did what he had to do without a lot of talk," Hoffman said. Contrary to initial reports, police said no hostages were involved in the incident.

Nine company employees were treated for shock.

Restivo, Pantaleoni and another employee testified against Mayer in the suit. Mayer had charged that the ventilating system of the plant was endangering the health of employees, officials said.

Authorities said Mayer had been fired at the plant in October 1975 after working there for more than a year, and filed the suit shortly afterward. The firm manufactures perfume bases for industrial products, such as cleansers.

Little was known about Mayer, said authorities, who declined to release information about his wife and two children.

"He just came in shooting," said one plant worker. "We didn't ask any questions."

Feminists Happy With Approved Textbooks

AUSTIN (AP) — Feminists, who have protested for years that math books portray females mainly in traditional roles, are happy with 10 books approved by the State Textbook Committee.

The 15 member-committee continues its balloting today on books for 20 public school subjects that will cost the state an estimated $40 million.

Seventh and eighth grade math texts were approved Monday. The final decision on textbook adoptions will be made by the State Board of Education after a hearing in November.

Conservative and traditionalist textbook critics were largely silent about math, a subject where protests have been lodged in the past, particularly over "new math" content.

"Math is a real pleasure this year. These are the kind of books we asked for five years ago. .... They are good in every way. They have really rewritten these books. There are very few instances of stereotyping, women buying fabrics and men buying houses," said Twiss Butler of Nassau Bay.

Mrs. Butler, a housewife with five children, is coordinator of the Education Task Force of Texas NOW (National Organization for Women).

One of the few math protests was made by Mrs. John Graves of Fort Worth, who objected to Scott Foresman's "Mathematics Around Us" for 7th graders, a book that got 11 out of 15 possible votes.

A photo of rolling dice, used to illustrate the concept of probability, "encourages disobedience of the law in the state of Texas where gambling is not permitted," Mrs. Graves' written protest said.

Alice Kidd, the Texas Education Agency's program director for mathematics, said some of the math books recommended by the committee are "computationally oriented. ... This is how you do it. Get the answer."

Others, she said, are oriented toward "understanding the way the number system works.

"We moved away from the modern math in 1965, so this adoption won't affect that at all," Mrs. Kidd said.

Math books that were recommended are the 7th and 8th grade editions of Macmillan's "Series m," Harcourt's "Growth in Mathematics, Silver Burdett's "Mathematics for Mastery," Addison's "Mathematics in Our World" and Scott Foresman's "Mathematics Around Us."

Feminists lost a round with approval of Scott Foresman's "D'Nealian Handwriting" for first graders. American Association of University Women members in the Bryan-College Station area attacked the reliance on line drawings to depict characters.

Bank To Display Indian Artifacts

FRIONA (Special)—An exhibit of Indian artifacts, collected over 20 years by J.G. Baker of Friona, will be on exhibit Thursday and Friday in the Community Room of the Friona State Bank.

The exhibit, containing artifacts from more than 50 Indian tribes of the West and North, may be viewed from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days in the Friona bank.

On display will be approximately 200 woven baskets. Some of the baskets in the collection are 100 to 150 years old, Baker said.

Also contained in the collection are sand paintings, blankets, moccasins and cradle boards used for infants.

Baker said he exhibited the collection several years ago at the State Fair in Dallas. He added that he became interested in acquiring the artifacts about 20 years ago when traveling.

The Friona resident, who has lived in the South Plains town 26 years, is a custom combiner. He added that he started his collection of Indian artifacts while following the harvest trail through the West and North.

Baker said that he makes side trips to buy the Indian artifacts each year while following the harvest trail. He said that the artifacts come from all along the West Coast and the Rocky Mountain states, as well as the northern states.

PUBLIC NOTICE
SUMMARY OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 7, 1978

"The Tax Relief Amendment"
(H.J.R. 1)

H.J.R. 1 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing the legislature to exempt intangible personal property, requiring the legislature to exempt certain household goods and personal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property homestead from state and local property taxation.

The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation of farm and ranch land on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation of timber land on its productive capacity.

The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65 and older to include certain disabled persons.

The amendment grants an exemption from public school property taxes of $5,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homesteads of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.

The amendment prevents local governments from increasing property taxes unless the governing body provides public notice and conducts a public hearing. The amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.

The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' estimated economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.

The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."

NUMBER ONE
(S.J.R. 50)

S.J.R. 50 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to delete an archaic reference to the "Deaf and Dumb Asylum." The amendment would allow the State of Texas to purchase products and services done by handicapped individuals in nonprofit rehabilitation facilities without complying with bid requirements applicable to other state contracts. The amendment also would eliminate the formality of the approval of certain state contracts by the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment deleting the archaic reference to the 'Deaf and Dumb Asylum,' allowing certain products and services of handicapped individuals to be used by agencies and departments of state government, requiring the procurement of other products and services required in the operation of state government to be made under bids awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, making all such procurement processes subject to laws enacted by the legislature, and eliminating the requirement that the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts of Texas be personally involved with such transactions."

NUMBER TWO
(S.J.R. 55)

S.J.R. 55 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to permit local governments to issue bonds for the reconstruction or acquisition of facilities (land, equipment and improvements) designed to develop employment opportunities. These bonds would be payable solely from the revenue from the sale or lease of these facilities. The building or acquisition of such facilities must be determined by the local government to be necessary to develop employment opportunities.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide that the legislature may permit political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities for its citizens."

NUMBER THREE
(S.J.R. 44)

S.J.R. 44 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would allow the legislature to authorize cities and towns to issue tax increment bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas. The bonds are to be paid solely from revenue from municipal tax increments. Payment cannot be made from the revenue of municipal taxes, utilities, or other services.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to give the legislature the power to authorize cities and towns to issue bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas and prohibiting any city or town from granting its money or lending its credit for such purposes."

NUMBER FOUR
(S.J.R. 53)

S.J.R. 53 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to exempt from taxation solar or wind-powered energy devices.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from taxation solar and wind-powered energy devices."

NUMBER FIVE
(H.J.R. 37)

H.J.R. 37 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to grant exclusive jurisdiction to justices of the peace in civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed $200, except where the legislature gives exclusive jurisdiction to another court.

The amendment grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with county courts where the amount in controversy is between $200 and $500, except where the legislature gives the county court exclusive jurisdiction.

The amendment also grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with both county and district courts where the amount in controversy is between $500 and $1,000, except where the legislature gives the county or district court exclusive jurisdiction.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to extend the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in civil cases."

NUMBER SIX
(S.J.R. 45)

S.J.R. 45 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to expand the number of judges on any court of civil appeals. Presently courts of civil appeals are limited to a chief justice and two associate justices. The amendment also would allow the courts to sit in sections, with the concurrence of a majority of the judges sitting in the section necessary to decide a case.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to increase the number of justices on a court of civil appeals, permitting a court of civil appeals to sit in sections, and requiring a concurrence of a majority of justices to decide a case."

NUMBER SEVEN
(S.J.R. 48)

S.J.R. 48 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution eliminating the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund. The authority of the State Building Commission has been transferred by law to the State Board of Control.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to repeal the constitutional authority for the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund."

NUMBER EIGHT
(H.J.R. 42)

H.J.R. 42 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing certain political subdivisions or districts in the state that can presently issue bonds or other indebtedness or otherwise lend its credit to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or otherwise lend its credit to support such activities.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendments authorizing certain districts to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or other indebtedness or to issue bonds or otherwise lend their credit for fire-fighting purposes."

SWING WING BIRD — The F111D aircraft based at Cannon Air Force Base will be a highlight of Cannon's open house Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. The aircraft are scheduled to fly a close air support precision demonstration at 2 p.m. Topping off the aerial portion of the day's events will be the performance of the Thunderbirds at 3:30 p.m. (Air Force Photo)

Cannon Sets Thunderbird Air Show

CLOVIS (Special) — Cannon Air Force Base, home of the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing, will observe Community Appreciation Day Sunday with the Thunderbirds and Cannon's own F-111D performing overhead.

Gates open at noon and close at 5 p.m.

The Air Force's demonstration team, which is celebrating its 25th birthday this year, will begin their aerial show at 3:30 p.m. They will be flying T-38 Talons.

Col. Joseph D. Moore, Cannon wing commander, will be in attendance. Moore became commander of the Thunderbirds following a combat tour in Vietnam. He guided the team through its conversion from the F-100Ds to the F-4Es in 1969.

Lt. Col. Daniel Taylor, former commander of Cannon's 524th Tactical Fighter Squadron, was recently named to become the new leader of the Thunderbirds. He currently is in training to assume command later this year.

At 2 p.m., just before the Thunderbird finale, the crowd will see a demonstration of the F-111D to show its versatility in precision maneuvers.

The F-111D is a low-altitude, high-speed craft capable of delivering unguided weapons more than eight miles with the accuracy of other fighters operating directly over a target in visual conditions.

It is a tactical fighter with unique capabilities for long range, adverse weather, day or night weapons delivery.

Other aircraft from the military inventory will be on hand as well.

Fire Nearing Denver Suburb

DENVER (AP) — Flames raged through dry, hilly, timber and brush southwest of Denver on Monday as firefighters watched the wind, hoping to contain the blaze before it crosses a road into clusters of expensive homes.

"It's inching closer to the Deer Creek Canyon Road, and if it jumps across, we're in deep trouble," said one of more than 250 firemen and volunteers battling the blaze, which has burned 1,800 acres of timber and rangeland.

Scores of homes up and down the road were evacuated on Monday.

Clouds of smoke swirled across the western edge of metropolitan Denver, and ashes from the flames floated down on city suburbs.

"Those (fire) lines are in pretty good shape. They should hold if we don't have too much problem with the wind," said Don Young, assistant information officer for the Colorado State Forest Service.

The fire, which started on Sunday, was in areas of dry pine, spruce and scrub oak.

Young said the worst part of the fire appeared to be about half a mile from the headquarers and research center of the Johns-Manville building materials company. Winds in the area were gusting to 40 mph. The firm's 1,600 employees were told to stay home on Monday.

Curtis Linke, public relations director for the firm, said on Monday that the company's $70 million headquarters appeared to be out of danger.

He said there was some smoke inside the structure, but added that the fire was controlled in the area of the office building, and "there's no way the fire can get to us now."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. My husband and I are both 29 and have two small children. Our income is about $25,000 a year. We had a $100,000 term life insurance policy on my husband. The premium was $21 a month. Recently, we dropped that and bought a $100,000 whole life policy, the premium on which is $138 a month.

We did this mainly because we have trouble saving money and figured this will be forced savings. Did we do the right thing? Our savings account is not substantial, because every time we get some money in the bank we take it out and spend it. We do, however, put $50 a month into the stock of the company where my husband works and we are buying small amounts of U.S. Savings Bonds.

A. You're the kind of people for whom whole life insurance comes close to being a necessity of life. If it's the only way you can save, you need it. Some people would never put a dime aside, if they weren't paying fat premiums for whole life policies.

Term insurance — which is protection pure and simple — is much less expensive. So, on the basis of cost, term is far and away the better buy.

Whole life insurance provides protection, savings and some other features — all of which run up its cost.

If you had stayed with the term policy and regimented yourselves to put the difference in premiums into almost anything else — such as a savings account or U.S. Savings Bonds — you would come out way ahead.

It's not too late to switch back to term. But I would advise you to do that only if you will put the premium savings someplace where you won't reach in every time you get the urge to spend.

Q. In December 1959, I invested $500 in a mutual fund. Then, for about 10 years, I put in $50, $100 or $200 at various times, for total additional investments of $1,750. I also reinvested all dividends and capital gains. I now own 412 shares.

I am now retired and would prefer to get income from my investment. Would I be ahead by cashing in my fund shares and investing in common stocks — preferably utilities?

A. I'd advise you to do just that — as long as you stick with common stocks of utility companies. You can get 9 percent or better in dividends from good utility commons these days. And that's certainly the kind of investment you should be and are looking for.

That mutual fund hasn't done all that badly over the years. But it certainly hasn't been a world-beater. More important, it doesn't pay high dividends. Good utility stocks do. Your reasoning is sound. Do what you have in mind.

Q. I am in the process of handling the sale of my mother's home. After expenses, it should bring about $50,000. My mother, a widow, is in a nursing home. The interest on the money will be used to help pay her bills.

I have considered putting the money in an eight-year, 8 pereent savings certificate. But, because inflation may raise the nursing home costs, I hate to have the money tied up that long. Would one of the new six-month savings certificates, with interest pegged to U.S. Treasury bills, be a better place for this money?

A. I'd call those six-month certificates an excellent haven for that money. Put that money there, as soon as you get it. While your mother's money is earning the high interest now being paid on such certificates, you will have time to decide what to do for the long haul.

I'm sure you realize that the interest on $50,000 will not pay for all of your mother's nursing home expenses. But, if your objective is to keep that $50,000 intact, my suggestion is to keep it in savings certificates — the six-month type while interest rates are sky-high and longer term certificates if and when interest rates fall.

Egyptian Leader Confers With Shah

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat took time out from a Mideast summit at Camp David, Md., to telephone the Shah of Iran and express support for his government, the shah said in an interview Monday.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi told ABC News' Barbara Walters that Sadat called him last weekend.

The Iranian ruler was telephoned last week from Camp David by President Carter. The shah said he told Carter he wants continued public friendship and support from the United States in order to stave off a communist takeover of his country.

The shah said in the telephone interview Monday that clashes between anti-government demonstrators and Iranian troops do not pose a serious threat to his rule.

He said the uprisings, which have claimed 1,000 lives in the last eight months, were "quite amazing" to him, and that their impact was "unexpected."

Powell Disputes Reporter's Version Of Vesco Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Jody Powell said late Sunday that fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco tried but failed to win help with his federal legal problems from key advisers to President Carter.

Powell said representatives of Vesco approached Cyrus R. Vance, the secretary of state, and apparently sought out Attorney General Griffin B. Bell.

In addition, he said a would-be approach to Hamilton Jordan, the president's principal adviser, was deflected by Richard Harden, a lower-ranking Carter aide.

Powell made these statements to reporters here after syndicated columnist Jack Anderson reported Vesco directed a "high pressure lobbying campaign" at Jordan and Atlanta attorney Charles Kirbo. Carter aides branded the Anderson report a "lie."

Anderson's column, distributed to newspapers last week for release on Monday, originally began by saying that "President Carter's two closest confidants, top aide Hamilton Jordan and Atlanta attorney Charles Kirbo, have been linked to a $10 million political fix."

But Anderson sent newspapers a revised version of the column over the weekend, eliminating the reference to Jordan and Kirbo being "linked to a $10 million political fix."

Anderson said Sunday he rewrote parts of his column because the Justice Department later provided him new information about its efforts to get Vesco back to the United States. "An additional reason for dropping (an extradition attempt) was a change in strategy. They decided to try explusion (from Costa Rica) instead of extradition. This is an important fact I didn't have and one I felt I should have," Anderson said.

Anderson also said he offered to "go to the White House and compare evidence. I have offered to work with them. So far they haven't accepted," he said.

He repeated that "there was no hard evidence they (Jordan and Kirbo) lifted a finger to help" Vesco. "But on the question of whether they were contacted, there are telephone messages and letters."

Anderson's original column appeared in the early editions of the Chicago Sun-Times. The later version appeared in an early edition of the Atlanta Constitution.

The column triggered angry reaction from Jordan and Kirbo. Jordan called Anderson's story "an incredible fabrication and despicable lie." Kirbo called it "an absolute lie by an irresponsible reporter."

Both denied having made any effort to intercede on Vesco's behalf and said they had not even been asked to do so.

Anderson's revised column added "there is in fact no hard evidence that either man lifted a finger in Vesco's behalf with Attorney General Griffin B. Bell or the president.

"But letters, telephone messages and sworn affidavits gathered by us during a six-week investigation documented the extensive campaign aimed at both Kirbo and Jordan by the Georgia-based intermediaries for the Vesco fix."

Anderson said the Justice Department "quietly switched tactics in its longstanding pursuit" of Vesco during the spring of 1977. "That decision was to drop the until-then fruitless course of formal extradition and seek instead his immediate expulsion from heavily-guarded refuge in Costa Rica."

Anderson said that the then-U.S. ambassador to Costa Rica, Terence Todman, was preparing a new extradition request for Vesco but quoted Todman as saying "we never got the formal request from Justice to present that request."

Todman was later named ambassador to Spain. Anderson said "Vesco took the abandonment of the extradition effort and the removal of Todman as a signal that the fix was in. Shortly thereafter, he began the machinations that transformed a $42,500 payment into a multimillion-dollar stock deal."

Anderson said "documents in our possession show the two ringleaders of the Georgia group were R.L. Herring, now in jail under $500,000 bond awaiting trial on unrelated fraud charges and Spencer Lee IV, who claims he merely acted as Herring's attorney. Herring had the connection with Vesco, and Lee was a close personal friend of Jordan."

Anderson said Herring has sworn under oath "that he arranged with Lee to get Hamilton Jordan to intervene. Declared Herring: 'Spencer said he called Hamilton, and everything would be all right. He also said Hamilton told him that they would maneuver Todman out.'"

Kirbo said in a statement that the Anderson account "is an absolute lie by an irresponsible reporter. I have never been asked to participate in any scheme with respect to Vesco or anyone else and I have never discussed Vesco's problems with anyone in the government at any level."

Jordan's statement, distributed by Powell, said that "Jack Anderson's column, which links me to R.L. Herring and Robert Vesco, is an incredible fabrication and despicable lie. I have never met, talked with, or corresponded with R.L. Herring or Vesco. I have never been approached in any way by any person in behalf of Vesco or Herring."

FAULTY SHIP

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Navy says the Tarawa, a new-class amphibious assault ship, "is too automated and at times it does not work," according to a newspaper report Monday. The San Diego Union said that the Tarawa, largest ship in the Navy below an aircraft carrier, "has required constant modifications to keep it functioning" since being commissioned in 1976 at Litton Industries in Pascagoula, Miss.

AVISO PUBLICO

UN RESUMEN DE LAS ENMIENDAS PROPUESTAS A LA CONSTITUCION ELECCION GENERAL 7 DE NOVIEMBRE DE 1978

LA ENMIENDA PARA ALIVIO DE IMPUESTOS

(H.J.R. 1)

H.J.R. 1 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas permitiendo a la legislatura que exente propiedad personal intangible; requeriendo que la legislatura exente ciertos artículos caseros y efectos particulares; y permitiendo a la legislatura que exente todo o parte de la propiedad personal del hogar seguro, de la imposición de impuestos estatales y locales sobre propiedad.

La enmienda requiere a la legislatura que disponga la imposición de impuestos sobre tierras agrícolas y rancheras basada en su capacidad productiva en vez de su valor de mercado y permite a la legislatura que disponga la imposición de impuestos a bosques de madera basada en su capacidad productiva.

La enmienda permite a los gobiernos locales que extiendan la exención actual de no menos de $3,000 del hogar seguro residencial para personas de 65 años o más de edad para incluir ciertas personas incapacitadas.

La enmienda concede una exención de $5,000 en el valor de mercado del hogar seguro residencial en los impuestos para escuelas públicas sobre propiedad. Autoriza a la legislatura que conceda una exención adicional de los impuestos para escuelas públicas sobre propiedad de una cantidad que no exceda $10,000 del valor de mercado de hogares seguros residenciales de personas 65 años or más de edad y ciertas personas incapacitadas. Si la persona de 65 años o más de edad es elegible para esta exención la cantidad total de los impuestos para escuelas públicas sobre el hogar seguro de aquella persona no puede incrementarse.

La enmienda previene que gobiernos locales incrementen los impuestos sobre propiedad a menos que el cuerpo administrativo provea aviso público y lleve a cabo una audiencia pública. La enmienda requiere a la legislatura que disponga por ley que cada propietario reciba aviso de la revaluación de su propiedad y la cantidad de incremento en sus impuestos.

La enmienda limita las apropiaciones de los ingresos de impuestos estatales en una cantidad que no exceda la tasa de crecimiento económico estatal, que se anticipa, con la legislatura autorizada para conceder exenciones de emergencia.

La enmienda prohibe la valuación de propiedad inmueble a través del estado para los fines de impuestos sobre propiedad. Se requiere que la ejecución de normas y procedimientos uniformes para la valuación de propiedad con el propósito de impuestos sobre propiedad, se origine con la autoridad que impone los impuestos sobre propiedad.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional disponiendo alivio de impuestos para hogares seguros residenciales, personas mayores de edad, personas incapacitadas, y tierras agrícolas; extenciones de bienes muebles; la verdad en procedimientos tocante a la imposición de impuestos, incluyendo participación de ciudadanos; de nuevo definiendo la base de impuestos; limitando los gastos del estado; y la administración de impuestos sobre propiedad."

NO. 1

(S.J.R. 50)

S.J.R. 50 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas para eliminar la referencia arcaica al "Instituto de Sordos y Mudos." La enmienda permitiría al estado de Texas que compre productos y servicios de individuos incapacitados en facilidades de rehabilitación no lucrativas sin cumplir con los requisitos de oferta que se aplican a otros contratos estatales. La enmienda también eliminaría la formalidad de la aprobación de ciertos contratos estatales por el Gobernador, el Secretario de Estado, y el Contralor de Cuentas Públicas.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional eliminando la referencia arcaica al "Instituto de Sordos y Mudos," permitiendo que ciertos productos y servicios de personas incapacitadas sean usados por agencias y departamentos del gobierno del estado, requiriendo que otros productos y servicios requeridos en la operación del gobierno del estado sean obtenidos por ofertas concedidas al postor responsable que ofrezca el precio más bajo, haciendo que todos los procesos de procuración sean sujetos a las leyes establecidas por la legislatura y eliminando el requisito que el Gobernador de Texas, el Secretario de Estado, y el Contralor de Cuentas Públicas de Texas participen personalmente en tales negociaciones."

(S.J.R. 55)

S.J.R. 55 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas para permitir que gobiernos locales emitan bonos para la reconstrucción o adquisición de facilidades (terrenos, equipos y mejoras) con la intención de desarrollar oportunidades de empleo. Estos bonos se pagarían solamente de los ingresos de la venta o arriendo de estas facilidades. Gobierno local debe de determinar que la construcción o adquisición de tales facilidades es necesaria para desarrollar oportunidades de empleo.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional para disponer que la legislatura puede permitir que las subdivisiones políticas emitan bonos de ingresos, para desarrollar oportunidades de empleo para sus ciudadanos."

NO. 3

(S.J.R. 44)

S.J.R. 44 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas que permitiría que la legislatura autorize a ciudades y pueblos la emisión de bonos de impuestos incrementados para financiar el desarrollo de areas deterioradas. Solamente se pagarán los bonos de los ingresos de los incrementos en impuestos municipales. No pagos se pueden hacer de los ingresos de impuestos municipales, servicios públicos u otros servicios.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional que da a la legislatura el poder de autorizar las ciudades y pueblos para expedir bonos para financiar el desarrollo de areas deterioradas y prohibir cualquier ciudad o pueblo de conceder su dinero o prestar su crédito para tales fines."

NO. 4

(S.J.R. 53)

S.J.R. 53 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas para permitir que la legislatura exente de la imposición de impuestos, aparatos para energía o de viento.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta, tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional autorizando a la legislatura para exentar de impuestos aparatos de energía solar o de viento."

NO. 5

(H.J.R. 37)

H.J.R. 37 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas para conceder competencia exclusiva a jueces de paz en causas civiles cuando la cantidad en controversia no excede $200, a menos que la legislatura conceda competencia exclusiva a otra corte. La enmienda concede a jueces de paz competencia concurrente con cortes de condado cuando la cantidad en controversia sea entre $200 y $500, a menos que la legislatura conceda a la corte de condado competencia exclusiva.

La enmienda también concede a jueces de paz competencia concurrente con ambas cortes, cortes de condado, y cortes de distrito, cuando la cantidad en controversia sea entre $500 y $1,000, a menos que la legislatura conceda a la corte de condado o distrito competencia exclusiva.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional para extender la competencia de los jueces de paz en causas civiles."

NO. 6

(S.J.R. 45)

S.J.R. 45 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas para permitir que la legislatura aumente el número de jueces en cualquier corte de apelaciones civiles. Al presente, cortes de apelaciones civiles están limitadas a un juez presidente y dos jueces asociados. La enmienda también permitiría a las cortes que sesionen por secciones, con la concurrencia de una mayoría de los jueces en la sección siendo necesaria para decidir una causa.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional permitiendo que la legislatura aumente el número de jueces en cualquier Corte de Apelaciones Civiles, permitiendo que Cortes de Apelaciones Civiles sesionen por secciones, y requiriendo la concurrencia de una mayoría de jueces para decidir una causa."

NO. 7

(S.J.R. 48)

S.J.R. 48 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas eliminando la Comisión de Edificios del Estado y el Fondo de Edificios del Estado. La autoridad de la Comisión de Edificios del Estado ha sido trasladada por ley a la Junta de Control del Estado.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional para abrogar la autoridad constitucional de la Comisión de Edificios del Estado y el Fondo de Edificios del Estado."

NO. 8

(H.J.R. 42)

H.J.R. 42 propone una enmienda a la constitución de Texas permitiendo que ciertas subdivisiones políticas o distritos del estado que al presente pueden emitir bonos u otras deudas o de otra manera prestar su crédito participen en actividades contra incendios y que emitan bonos o de otra manera prestar su crédito para sostener tales actividades.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta tal como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional autorizando que ciertos distritos participen en actividades contra incendios y emitan bonos o de otra manera presten crédito para tales propósitos."

Justice Division To Study Grants

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Texas Criminal Justice Division will consider two grants for $500,000 to build the new Lubbock County juvenile detention center, county commissioners learned Monday.

Lloyd Watts, administrator of the county juvenile probation department, said the CJD juvenile delinquency prevention committee will take up the grants Oct. 6 and the corrections committee on Oct. 13.

The applications are for $150,000 in already budgeted South Plains Association of Governments money and $350,000 in a separate allocation.

Watts will attend both meetings to deal with complications if any arise, he told the commissioners.

He said the grants especially need to be approved in October because the committees do not meet again until December. "If these funds come through, we'll be ready to start letting bids," Watts said. "I think it'll go; but there's a lot of work to it and a lot of people to, persuade."

SPAG already has approved the project and grant applications.

The $1 million center on nine acres of county-owned land at North University and Loop 289 also would be paid for with $500,000 in federal revenue sharing money allocated by the county commissioners.

Commissioners also approved the receipt of a $66,834 as second-year funding of Project Intercept of the juvenile probation department of Lubbock schools.

Housed in the north wing of Sanders Elementary at 610 Third St., the project is for the education of school students with behavior problems too severe for them to be taught in regular classrooms.

One hundred students were assigned to the program last year, Watts said, and 42 remained in it at the end of the school year.

Secretaries Plan Leadership Meet

Lubbock Legal Secretaries Association President Gloria Martin will meet with other chapter presidents around the state during the Presidents' Roundtable segment of the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries in Tyler Sept. 22.

Participating legal secretaries will meet Sept. 22-24 at Tyler's Sheraton Inn for legal seminars, a luncheon, board of director's meetings, a reception and banquet. Tyler chapter members will serve as hostesses.

Vegas—Second Time Around" is the theme for the board of directors' meetings. Lubbock chapter members scheduled to attend the board meetings are Karol McVay, Kathy Moore, Janice Davis and Jeri Bryce.

Chairman Of Bank Board Named

R. Ransom Gallaway of Spur has been named chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Texas Bank, according to a joint announcement by Gallaway and John Grist, current president.

Gallaway purchased a block of stock from a previous director, B. R. "Rip" Griffin, to acquire, with Preston Smith and Dr. Royce Lewis, majority interest in the bank.

Grist will continue with the bank during a transition period.

The new chairman is a native of Coleman County, and has resided in the Lake Ransom Canyon community since January. He is a 1942 graduate of Texas A&M University.

Gallaway worked with Midland Production Credit Association following graduation, and later was involved in the investment security field.

Commodity Credit Eyed

By RODERICK TURNBULL
Kansas City Board of Trade

KANSAS CITY --A large percent of the sales of motor cars in the United States are made on credit--that is, the buyer takes two, three and sometimes even four years to pay.

An important percentage of U.S. sales of farm commodities overseas are made in a similar manner with the government playing a crucial financial role. It is all done under what is called the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) export credit sales program.

This is not a give-away; in fact, it is not even a concessional sales program such as Public Law 480. Importers pay the full price for the commodity; actually they pay more because they have to pay interest on the loan. But, just as with motor car buyers, they don't have to lay all the cash on the line at the time of delivery. They can pay it in installments to their banks over periods ranging from 6 to 36 months.

The U.S. government role, in effect, is to guarantee payment to the exporter.

The program isn't new--it was inaugurated by Congress in 1956--but apparently this fiscal year is going to be the biggest in volume in the 22-year history of this activity.

For the press and others who get news releases from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, including the Kansas City Board of Trade, it is almost a daily routine to get reports on new credit authorization under the CCC export program. To pick just a few examples from a whole handful of recent releases there is one providing $4 million of such credit to Uruguay to finance the purchase of seed potatoes; $1 million dollars to Portugal for soybeans and soybean meal; $5 million to Poland for wheat plus an additional $3.5 million for feed grains $58 million to Pakistan for wheat.

Although a total of 35 farm commodities now are eligible for CCC export financing, the bulk of such business is in grains, soybeans, cotton and tobacco.

To date this year, 31 contries have availed themselves of the U.S. credit. Over the years, more than 75 couhtries have been involved. The list changes all the time, depending on circumstances. Since the program began back in 1956 through last year, the total credit offered amounted to $5.5 billion dollars. This fiscal year, commitments are expected to reach a record $1.943 billion, Kennard O. Stephens, an official of Washington in the export program revealed, and this would bring the overall total to around $7 billion.

The CCC export program is rather simple in operation. In essence, importing countries make purchases from American exporters in the normal manner. The request for credit may be made directly by the importing country or with the help of the exporter.

The importing country must provide a letter of credit from an approved bank in the United States or a foreign bank covering the total amoung of the purchase. When approval of the credit is given by the U.S Department of Agriculture, a public announcement is made. This is the source of the USDA news release concerning CCC credit exports.

Once the exporter has delivered the commodity to the importer, the CCC will purchase from the exporter his account receivable arising from the transaction. Thus his payment is "guaranteed."

The CCC later obtains payments on the loans when due by drawing drafts on the letter of credits extended by the banks.

Interest rates charged are maintained above the cost of money to the Commodity Credit Corp.

Through all the years, there have been and still are some instances where payments were late in coming, but there have been no bad debt losses, Stephens said.

Thus the program could be described as self-sustaining.

The reason for the CCC credit export program are several. A major one is that it permits U.S. exporters to compete with other suppliers such as Canada, Australia and France, countries which also supply credit.

In its early years, Stephen recalled, the program helped re-establish Japan and Western Europe as the prime cash markets which they are today. More recently, the program has been helpful in maintaining, expanding and developing many U.S. markets in Eastern Europe, North Africa, Latin America and Asia.

Through the CCC program, many countries have graduated from the concessional sales of P.L. 480 to commercial purchases.

Examples of this are Brazil, Ecuador, South Korea, India and Pakistan.

Exporters obviously like the program because it makes additional sales possible. For importers, the program obviously provides them more credits to buy. For American farmers, the program opens up new markets and increases overseas sales.

The demand for the CCC credit varies from year to year depending in part on the competition prevailing on world markets. In other words, when there is a strong cash demand for all grain available for export less credit will be offered than in a year when many nations are competing strongly for export business.

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

By DUANE HOWELL

COTTON PRODUCTION PROSPECTS now are rated at 1,812,000 bales in the 25-county High Plains area by a committee of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange.

Standing acreage is estimated at 3,601,000 and the yield at 242 pounds per acre. The estimate a month ago was for a crop of 1,949,000 bales off 3,535,000 standing acres and a yield of 265 pounds per acre.

The acreage estimate was revised upward on the basis of farmer certifications in some southern counties.

Officials emphasized the crop estimate is predicated on what would be "normal" weather for the balance of the season. But they added that "bad weather would hurt the crop more than good weather would improve it." This, it was said, is due to the lateness of the cotton.

CONTINUED DETERIORATION IN DRYLAND prospects was primarily responsible for the reduction in the estimate from a month earlier.

A crop of the size now said to be in prospect would be down from the all-time high output of 3,215,400 bales per acre last year when yields averaged 424 pounds per acre off 3,638,000 harvested acres.

The prospective yield would be the lowest since only 200 pounds per acre were harvested off 3,633,700 acres in 1952, a year of severe drought. That was just prior to the massive development of irrigation facilities.

Only three times since the drought of the 1950s have yields been below about 350 pounds per acre. All were when disastrous conditions hit the irrigated crop.

IN 1974, FARMERS HARVESTED ONLY 274 pounds per acre. Drought prevented the planting of an estimated 775,000 acres that year and virtually the only cotton left by the end of August was the irrigated crop.

Cold, wet weather developed in late August of 1974 and persisted for the balance of the season. There was very little fiber development from late August until the killing freeze.

In 1975, a freakish leaf desiccation erupted on a widespread scale in mid-September and depressed yields to 279 pounds per acre. The effect on the crop was similar to that of a desiccating frost.

In 1971, a wet, cold fall and heavy infections of verticillium wilt, a costly late-season disease, produced a crop disaster and a yield of only 264 pounds per acre.

BOLLWORM DAMAGE IN IRRIGATED COTTON this year has been described as the greatest in at least 10 to 15 years. This plus the effects of drought on dryland and semi-irrigated cotton may reduce yields by 138 pounds per acre below the 1968-77 10-year average of 380 pounds an acre, according to the committee estimate.

At the other end of the scale, the record yield per acre is 513 pounds in 1965, followed by 498 pounds in 1973 and 496 pounds in 1968.

Ranking behind last year's record crop in total production are 2,888,700 bales in 1973 and 2,443,900 in 1961.

Caution Observed In Cattle Futures

By REUTERS

CHICAGO — Cattle futures ended up 27 to off 27 points with January leading the advances, Monday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The market traded in narrow ranges partly due to caution ahead of this week's cattle on feed report. Volume was 23,384 cars.

Increased arrivals led to early weakness, but declines were gradually erased on higher cash markets and firm tone to carcass beef under continued strong demand. Despite selling by a cash connected commission house, most contracts gained late in the session on local buying.

Wholesale beef was unchagned to up one cent at 81 1/2 to 82 1/2 cents a pound, f.o.b. river points, for all weights. Cash cattle were steady to up $1 with the best top at $55.50 per hundredweight at Joliet. Omaha's top was $54.75.

Slaughter was 143,000 head. Receipts at the major terminals today are expected to be 15,900 head.

Feeder cattle futures closed up 115 to off 25. January was the strongest. The market posted new contract highs in all months for the second consecutive session. Final prices were in the upper end of trading ranges as the market recovered from a mostly lower opening. Total volume was estimated at 1,953 contracts

The market followed live cattle futures throughout the session with sharply higher cash feeders a source of support. Technical buying was also noted.

Cash feeder cattle were steady to up $4 with the best top $98 per hundredweight at San Antonio. The major markets expect 1,700 head today. There were 46 deliveries.

Hog futures closed off 40 to up 10 with the nearby contracts leading the declines. Most contracts ended at daily lows with late pressure attributed to expectations for heavy runs this week as the hot weather subsudes. Sales totaled 5,112 cars.

The market opened about steady before edging lower. Prices then flucuated near Friday's settlement before commission house profit-taking and local selling exerted pressure and forced the nearby contracts lower.

Wholesale hams were unchanged to up two cents at 86 1/4 to 89 cents a pound, f.o.b. river, which is a two-week high. Cash hogs were off 50 cents to up 50 cents with the best top $50 per hundredweight.

Kill was 316,000 head. About 28,500 head are expected at the six major markets today.

Pork belly (bacon) futures finished off 47 to 10 with March leading the declines. The market closed near lows of the day after posting gains of as much as 65 in May. Estimated volume was 3,449 cars.

Despite gains in cash bellies and hogs, futures were pressured late in the session on expectations for heavy hog runs today and continued large slaughter. Both local and commission house liquidation was noted in the final hour with a prominent commission house a large seller.

Wholesale bacon was unchanged to up 3/4 cent at 55 1/2 to 62 3/4 cents a pound, f.o.b. river, which is a three-month high.

Water Usage Regulation Possible

LAS CRUCES (Special) –"By 1983, agri-businesses use of water could be strictly regulated by Section 208 of the Water Pollutioin Control Act," says Dr. Garrey Carruthers, agricultural economist with New Mexico State University's Agricultural Experiment Station.

Carruthers explains that Section 208 is "geographically comprehensive because the courts have decreed that the Environmental Protection Agency must have 208 plans for 'every square inch of the United State' including those areas that were not previously designated.

"Section 208 is here to stay," the economist says, "and it is essential that agribusiness people attend 208 hearings to help develop the water management practices which will regulate their use of water."

Carruthers explains that Section 208 requires the nation's waters to be clean enough for fishing and swimming by 1983. He also explains four options for planning and implementing programs under Section 208.

According to Carruthers,"Section 208 attributes water pollution to either point or non-point sources. Point sources are easily identified because the pollutin comes out of the end of a pipe."

As examples he cited water from a city's sewer system or water from an industrial complex.

On the other hand, the economist says non-point sources are diffuse or area wide and are much more difficult to define and manage.

Again he cites examples: runoff from farms and feedlots, sediment from construction, mining or forestry activities, urban storm runoff and seepage from rural septic systems.

"New Mexico's agricultural industry is the state's largest water user, having rights to approximately 90 percent of both ground and surface water," Carruthers says.

In addition, agriculture has been identified as a major contributor of non-point pollution. Hence, agriculture's stake in 208 planning is high.

"Soil erosion and pollution of return flow water, through the use of fertilizers, herbicides, and insecticides, are often noted as major agricultural non-point pollution problems," Carruthers points out. The problem with Section 208, as it relates to agriculture, is a lack of information on causes of and remedies for non-point pollution.

Carruthers also explains some of the options which will permit New Mexico to meet the spirit, and begin to meet the requirements, of the law while not subjecting citizens or industries to undue or uncertain water quality regulations.

The so-called Betsy Ross flag of 13 stars on a blue field and 13 red and white stripes was made in May or June of 1776.

Speaker Urges Cooperatives Push Marketing

OMAHA (UPI) — As farmer cooperatives grow and change, increased emphasis must be placed on marketing and training in marketing, John Harling, president of the Omaha Bank for Cooperatives, said today.

He said he will bring that message to 17 annual meetings the bank serves in four states — Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

"Many agricultural specialists are saying that agricultural producers must become as expert at marketing as they have at production," Harling said. "It's going to take trained, dedicated people to get the job done."

An indicator of coming changes, he said, was the lending activity by the Bank of Cooperatives during the past fiscal year. The bank's loan volume peaked at a record $745.6 million and loan funds advanced totaled $1.04 billion.

Much of this was caused by the backlog of grain created by the rail car shortage, he said, adding that another factor was the addition of 29 borrowers, which pushed the bank's average daily loan volume to $520 million.

He said he expects similar growth patterns for the bank and its more than 550 stockholder cooperatives.

Area Breeders Set For Hall Of Fame

Three area cattle breeders were inducted into the American Cattle Breeders Hall of Fame at Crystoval this month.

Howard Fowler of Levelland, Bob Lokey and E. E. Lokey, both of Lubbock, were honored for their individual efforts and contributions to the Char-Swiss breed.

Fifty men from across the state were installed. The recipients are the first to be inducted into the newly established Hall of Fame.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn and soybean prices posted gains while wheat and oats edged mostly lower Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

While trading was mostly quiet in anticipation of today's release of an Agriculture Department survey of expected corn and soybean yields, soybeans gained 2 to 5¼ cents.

Early commission house selling depressed prices and local traders began technical buying to cover short positions. Nearby months posted the greatest gains in the absence of any significant harvest activity yet in the corn and soybean belt and on reports of commercial buying.

Corn prices rose slightly amid reports of a drop in country corn sales early Monday. Anticipated technical selling in advance of the harvest failed to materialize, and cash prices held mostly steady.

Wheat prices were mostly lower in the wake of last week's price increases spurred by export sales.

Oats prices showed slight losses on selling by large commercial users.

At the close, soybean prices were 2 to 5¼ cents higher, with September contracts quoted at $6.53½; wheat was ¾ higher to 2½ cents lower, September $3.34¾; corn was 1½ to 2¼ cents higher, September $2.15; and oats were ¼ to ¾ cents, September $1.33½.

HIGH PLAINS COTTON
U. S. Department of Agriculture

Trading in the Lubbock spot cotton market was slow. Supplies of cotton for sale were heavy and demand was weak.

Growers offered 1978 crop contracts at around 1,400 to 1,500 points over the 1977 loan rate. Contracting was inactive all last week.

The Lubbock Cotton Exchange's spot quotation declined 40 points.

Market Stalls

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market proved unable to hold onto a big early gain Monday and finished only slightly higher with the Dow Jones industrial average winding up unchanged.

Analysts said the market was held back by investors seeking to profit from Friday's big gain and worries about what steps the Carter administration or Federal Reserve might take to control the economy.

"When I saw the volume figures in the first hour I knew it couldn't hold up," said Larry Wachtel, an analyst at Bache Halsey Stuart Shields. "It was only 12 million shares when it should have been 20 million."

The market had finished with a bang on Friday, the Dow rising 14.03 as investors were cheered by news that the wholesale prices and the money supply had taken unexpected dips.

It seemingly picked up Monday where it had left off, jumping ahead 6 points. But the rise stalled in midday as investors sold for quick profits and the Dow Jones industrial average finished unchanged at 907.74.

Although the Dow stayed steady, other market indicators rose.

New York (AP) — Monday's national prices for New York Stock Exchange issues as of NYSE close. Prices and volume consolidated for securities also traded on other markets.

Carter Boosts Effort Toward Mideast Pact

meeting and presumably was doing the same with Sadat.

There was no public word about what the suggestions were.

Carter Seeking Compromises

Carter is seeking compromises from both sides to break the Mideast impasse. Sadat is said to be looking for far more than a framework for negotiations at a lower level after the summit.

The Egyptian leader is known to want hard results from the conference. But there was no way of knowing whether Begin was yielding to his demand for full withdrawal from lands taken by Israel in the 1967 Six-Day war and for recognition of Palestinian "rights."

"We need another two or three days to crystallize things," Ezer Weizman, the Israeli defense minister, told an Egyptian reporter Sunday as Carter guided Begin and Sadat through a tour of the Civil War battlefield in Gettysburg, Pa.

So far, Carter, Begin and Sadat have met together for a total of seven hours. In separate meetings Carter has spent more than 13 hours with Begin and about one-third less time with Sadat.

Decisive Stage Signs

The first clue that the summit has reached a decisive stage would be a three-way meeting of the foreign ministers — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel.

That would indicate drafting of documents had begun. But so far no such meeting has been announced.

Carter's meeting with Sadat was supplemented by a scheduled meeting in the evening between U.S. and Egyptian officials.

Since the Israelis were not involved in either session, the day's attention was focused on Sadat and his delegation. But Powell cautioned against drawing inferences from the "pattern" of the talks.

"I don't know how you read the pattern," he said.

Final Disclosure Assured

The spokesman, responding to other questions, offered assurances that despite the secrecy imposed by Carter the administration would convey the results "in general" to the public and Congress.

"I don't think there is a chance any agreement will be reached here that would not be fully disclosed at the appropriate time," he said.

Outside press headquarters at an American Legion post in Thurmont, Md., six miles from Camp David, more than a score of demonstrators called for the ouster of the Shah of Iran.

"The American people must know that it is the U.S. government which brought the Shah to power through a CIA-coup in 1953 and has maintained him there ever since," said a handbill distributed by the demonstrators.

One carried a placard reading: "Long Live the Palestinian People."

Opponents of the Shah held a demonstration here Saturday. On Sunday, Carter telephoned the Shah to restate U.S. support for the monarch, who is trying to cap a revolt in his country.

In London, Arab diplomats indicated Jordan's King Hussein might join the peace process if Israel agrees to withdraw from Arab territories and recognizes the right of Palestinian self-determination.

But a U.S. official, declining to be identified, said: "There are no plans for King Hussein to join the summit."

Energy Debate Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid an intensive search for votes by both sides, the Senate opened debate Monday on a natural gas compromise President Carter has said is crucial to meeting the nation's energy needs at home and its financial stature overseas.

With a conclusive vote likely by Wednesday or Thursday, the natural gas pricing issue has become a critical test for the president's energy program, first sent to Capitol Hill more than 16 months ago.

All counts showed the emotional battle narrowing to an extremely close vote on an issue which has come before the Congress several times over the last 24 years.

An unofficial Associated Press survey showed 39 senators either firmly in support of or leaning toward voting for the compromise, worked out over 10 months of delicate House-Senate negotiations.

There were 38 senators counted against the bill, which is opposed by an unusual coalition of liberal consumer advocates and conservative Republicans and oil state senators.

That left 23 undecided senators, who are targets of one of the most concentrated lobbying efforts in the current session of Congress.

The president picked up two important Republican votes Monday when Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan and James B. Pearson of Kansas announced their support.

Pearson has long been identified with proposals to deregulate gas prices.

And Democratic leader Robert Byrd said it was likely that Griffin, as an influential Republican from a gas-consuming state, would bring wavering GOP members into the administration camp.

"I am increasingly optimistic," said Byrd of West Virginia, who favors the compromise.

But neither side was makimg flat predictions of victory.

Opening the natural gas debate, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., declared the compromise "would produce more natural gas at less cost to consumers than no bill."

In opposition, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said, "This bill means intolerable pressure on consumer budgets. "This is a bill whose greatest supporters rate it no higher than C minus."

The gas bill is far different from the proposal Carter made as part of a comprehensive energy plan announced in April 1977.

Carter supported maintaining federal controls at lower prices. Nonetheless, the president now describes passage as crucial to the stability of the dollar overseas and the successful search for new domestic gas reserves.

The president originally described a multi-billion dollar tax on domestic crude oil as the most important portion of the energy plan. But the tax is now considered dead for this session of Congress.

If the congressional compromise report is approved by the Senate and then the House, it would lift federal price controls over natural gas as of Jan. 1, 1985.

In the meantime, however, gas producers would be permitted substantial price increases, more than doubling by 1985 the current federally controlled price of $1.50 per thousand cubic feet of gas. Even with continued regulation, it is conceded that prices would likely double over the next seven years.

How Senators Stand On Energy Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a Senate showdown expected this week on a natural gas pricing compromise, here is a rundown on how senators are currently lined up based on an Associated Press survey:

TOTAL SENATORS FOR OR LEANING FOR COMPROMISE (39):

Senators for compromise (30):

Schools Across U.S. Remain Closed Due To Teacher Strikes

kers have not had a raise in two years. The teachers, who make from $9,100 to $18,650 a year, are seeking a 20 percent pay boost. The strike, affecting 100,000 pupils, began Thursday, the day before schools were scheduled to open.

Contract negotiations in Fall River and Chelmsford, Mass., broke down early Monday morning, prompting strikes in both cities. A union spokesman in Chelmsford said the negotiators reached an impasse on the issue of competency guidelines for teacher layoffs. Students were sent home, but officials said that classes, staffed by substitute teachers, would be held today for the 8,300 pupils. The school system has 500 teachers.

Doors opened as usual Monday morning for the 14,500 students in Fall River, but youngsters at several schools were sent home because of the teachers' strike — the first in the city's history. The union which represents the system's 850 teachers has asked for pay boosts of 6 to 8 percent this year. The school committee offered the teachers a choice: a 2.5 percent increase this year, followed by increases of 6 and 7 percent in the next two years, or no raise this year and 7 and 8 percent increases in the next two years. Top pay for teachers now is $15,476.

Norwalk, Conn., teachers were back in school Monday after voting to accept a three-year contract and end their four-day strike against the 14,000-pupil system. Details of the contract were not announced.

Teachers in Connecticut's largest city — Bridgeport — remained on strike for the fourth day, disrupting classes for 22,500 pupils. A superior court judge ordered negotiations for the school board and the Bridgeport Education Association, representing 1,250 teachers, to resume talks under a judge's supervision.

Teachers in Cranston, R.I., voted Monday to stay out on strike, despite a state Supreme Court ruling upholding a lower court's back-to-work order. The 800 teachers, who walked off their jobs last Tuesday, now earn from $9,400 to $16,800 a year and have a rejected an offer of a 5.9 percent increase in the first year of a three-year pact, with 6.5 percent increases in the second and third years. The strike has affected 12,500 students.

Schools in Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., with a total of 86,000 students, have been shut since Wednesday because of strikes. A settlement with some non-teaching employees in Seattle was reached Sunday, but the teachers remained off the job.

Michigan Strikes Reduced

Striking teachers in two Michigan school districts reached settlements early Monday and teachers in a third district agreed to submit to binding arbitration. Teachers in seven other districts remained off the job, however, and were joined on the picket line by teachers in an eighth city — Durand. The settlements came in the Huron Valley and Bear Lake districts which have a total of 10,480 students. Arbitration was agreed on in the Berkley School district, a 6,200-pupil system in suburban Detroit.

Two strikes ended in Illinois over the weekend as teachers in Collinsville voted to ratify a new contract and teachers in Waterloo agreed with the school board and a service workers' union to seek federal mediation. The nine city colleges in Chicago remained closed, however, due to a strike by 1,450 teachers demanding improved working hours. The colleges have 112,000 students.

Overflight Causes Uproar In Bonn

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The flight of a Soviet military air formation over West Germany caused a political stir Monday. The conservative opposition accused the government of letting the Russians spy on military installations.

Navy Capt. Kurt Fischer, spokesman for the Defense Ministry, told a news conference Bonn allowed a Tupolev 124 bomber and six MiG-23 jet fighter-bomber escorts to fly over West Germany to France last Monday and return via the same route Friday to their base in Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet airmen were returning a friendly visit to Russia the previous year by a French formation as part of a long-standing Soviet-French exchange program, Fischer said.

Agency Restricts Painkiller Drug

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced Monday it is placing tighter restrictions on a pain-killing drug known as Talwin.

The Drug Enforcement Administration said the prescription drug will be controlled through strict accounting and record-keeping procedures by manufacturers, drug wholesalers and pharmacies, and presciptions will be limited to five refills within six months.

Illegal distribution of the drug, which is also known by its chemical name, pentazozine, would bring up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine for the first offense and double that for repeated offenses.

The new restrictions were published in the Federal Register and will take effect in 60 days.

PARR RULED 'HEALTHY'

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Former Duval County Judge Archer Parr has been deemed healthy enough to stand trial on state charges, State District Court Judge Darrell Hester said Monday. Parr, 52, is serving a 10-year federal prison term for perjury. He was convicted of lying to a federal grand jury when asked about the income tax returns of his uncle, George Parr. He was to have been tried in 1977 on state charges alleging misuse of county funds and equipment, but a bout with tuberculosis prevented his return then.

Cut In Costs Of Electricity Proposed Here

$440,000 for such a fund under City Manager Larry Cunningham's proposed budget. But the fund was a casualty of the council's budget-cutting efforts.

Without such a fund, any capital improvements for LP&L must be financed by a bond issue which board member Jack Powers described as "always walking a tightrope."

The compromise recommended by the electric board gives "something to everybody," Meenaghan said.

Electric customers would pay cheaper bills, LP&L would retain a portion of the FCA for capital improvements and the city would continue to receive 4 percent of the fuel adjustment collected by LP&L.

However, the most attractive quality of the compromise to the board members was that the $1.12 tax rate would not have to be revised upward.

If the adjustment were reduced by 8 percent, Meenaghan's committee discovered the city would lose about $1.2 million in revenues and customer's bills would be reduced by $2.8 million.

The city council will consider the electric board's recommendation Thursday when the council is expected to set the tax rate for the coming year.–SYLVIA TEAGUE

Hussein May Join Mideast Summit

LONDON (AP) — Arab diplomats indicated Monday that Jordan's King Hussein might join Egypt's President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin in the quest for Mideast peace if Israel makes certain concessions at the Camp David summit.

The diplomats said Hussein — in London on a private visit — might agree to join the peace process if Israel agrees to withdraw from Arab territories and if the Jewish state recognizes the right of the Palestinians to self-determination.

On the surface, it appears those conditions could be met only if Begin abandons his stated policies. But there have been persistent reports Begin went to Camp David for talks with Sadat and President Carter ready to compromise on the basis of limited understandings reached in secret meetings with Jordanian and moderate Palestinian representatives.

The understandings reportedly relate to the future of the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, territories occupied by Israel since the 1967 Mideast war.

Open Skies Plan Faces First Test

BONN, West Germany (AP) — President Carter's "open skies" policy to lower world air fares through increased airline competition faces its first test against stiff West German opposition in air agreement negotiations opening here Tuesday.

Bonn government officials have made plain that West Germany disagrees with most U.S. proposals to be discussed in the talks, which aim to modernize a 1955 air traffic agreement between the two countries.

"I can well imagine that the negotiations will be tough," said Transport Ministry spokesman Axel Holst.

Lengthy Discussions Foreseen

Bonn officials said the discussions, headed by James Atwood, U.S. Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Transportation Affairs, and senior German Transport Ministry official Georg Rehm, could last for up to a week.

"I shouldn't think they'll reach agreement in this round," one source said.

At issue are proposals unveiled in Washington last month by Civil Aeronautics Board chairman Alfred Kahn, aimed at encouraging lower fares between the two countries by throwing open U.S. and West German skies to more airlines and more planes flying to more destinations in each country.

With pressure on the negotiators increased by the importance the Carter administration attaches to his "open skies" policy, the proposals are designed to help improve the U.S. payments position by giving U.S. airlines greater access to the German passenger market, the second-largest in Europe.

Model For The Future

Seen by the Carter administration as a model for future agreements with other countries, the proposals would let U.S. and West German airlines fly to any city in the country of destination and give them greater flexibility to pick up passengers there for onward flights to other countries.

Five Killed In Clashes By Iranians

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Clashes between troops and anti-government demonstrators, defying a martial law ban on public gatherings, reportedly killed five persons Monday in two of Iran's major Moslem centers.

The new bloodshed came as mourners buried 97 persons killed Friday when soldiers leveled their weapons on rampaging protesters in this capital city.

According to unconfirmed reports reaching here, three persons died Monday in Mashhad, 440 miles northeast of the capital, and two were killed in Qum, 75 miles southwest of Tehran. No details of the clashes were available.

There was no immediate government comment on the latest fighting in a growing civil revolt against Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's efforts to Westernize this predominantly Moslem nation.

Several thousand embittered mourners bore the coffins of Friday's dead through a cemetery ringed by troops on the outskirts of Tehran. They chanted slogans against the shah and carried banners proclaiming, "We gave you love, you gave us coffins."

Soldiers stationed at the Behsht-Zahra cemetery did not interfere with the funeral, one of the few public gatherings allowed under martial law restrictions imposed shortly before Friday's demonstration in Tehran.

Eight months of social and political unrest in Iran has claimed at least 1,000 lives. On Sunday, President Carter put in a personal call to the shah to "express his deep regret over the loss of life and his hope that the violence would soon be ended." A presidential spokesman also said Carter voiced support for the shah and said he hoped "the movement toward political liberalization would continue."

In an interview broadcast Monday in New York by ABC-TV, the shah said the demonstrations have had an "unexpected" impact but he plans to continue his reform program. He also said he and his family were safe.

The shah clamped a lid on his opponents after failing to win them over with a series of moves, including a government shakeup that put a devout Moslem in as prime minister.

Two Suspects Sought In Gas Station Holdup

Police late Monday were looking for two suspects involved in the early afternoon strongarm robbery of a service station attendant at 2801 Clovis Road.

Seventy-three-year-old Roy Robert George, owner of the station, told police that shortly before 2 p.m. two men entered his office, one of them asking for a dollar's worth of change.

George said he opened the register and made the change, but before he could close the register the man asked him for a tire patch.

As the attendant bent down to get the patch, one of the men grabbed George from behind forcing him to the floor while his companion took $65 from the register.

George told officers that both men fled on foot to a vehicle described by a witness as a late model grey Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

George described the two as Mexican-Americans, 18 to 25 years old. He said one of the men was short and of medium build while the other was heavy-set and of medium height.

In other activity, police early Monday arrested a man in connection with the attempted burglary of a residence at 2722 29th St., Apt. A.

Viki Yvonne O'Connor told officers she had been plagued by prowlers recently and had asked her sister and brother-in-law to watch her house early Monday.

The couple parked their car at the southeast corner of Canton Avenue and 29th Street at about 5:30 a.m. and observed a man prowling around Miss O'Connor's home.

Her brother-in-law, who was armed with a pistol, told police he walked over to the house and saw the man stick a small, long object through the window screen.

The man then told the suspect to lay face down on the ground until the police arrived.

When officers arrived at the scene, the suspect told them he had run out of gas and was just crossing the yard on the way back to his house to get some gas.

Police found the suspect's car about three-fourths of a block north of the residence and after testing, found that it appeared to be running normally.

Police recovered a piece of long, thin metal pipe at the scene.

Joe Ines Montalvo, owner of a club at 1108 25th St., reported that sometime between 12:10 and 12:25 a.m., someone entered the establishment through an old air conditioner and made off with an undetermined amount of money from the office.

Manuel Lopez Moreno reported that $300 in damage had been done to his car's front and rear windshield, while it was parked at a club at 5200 34th St. between 7 and 11:45 p.m. Sunday.

Investigating officers discovered that apparently a small caliber weapon had been fired through the rear window, with the bullet also striking the front window.

The Red Raider Inn was the site for two apparently related car burglaries early Sunday.

Ben Gonzalez of Pecos reported the theft of a CB radio, valued at $165, while Michael Bryant told officers that a $2,000 surveying instrument had been taken from his pickup.

Burglars apparently entered both pickups by prying open the left door window.

A 71-year-old man who insisted he wanted to visit a 91-year-old woman about 4 p.m. Sunday at the Pioneer Retirement Hotel, 1204 Broadway, was arrested when police said he caused a disturbance in the hotel's lobby.

The retirement center's manager told police the man walked into the lobby and was using loud and profane language. When told to leave, the man instead went upstairs to visit the elderly female tenant, reports indicated.

When police arrived, the suspect returned to the lobby where he was again told to leave. However, he ignored the officers, went back to the woman, and reportedly took her arm in an attempt to lead her out the building.

The elderly woman wanted nothing to do with the man and told him to get away from her, according to reports. The suspect was then arrested by police and transported to County Jail.

Earlier Sunday, police went to a 16th Street address where they arrested two women for prostitution and operating a massage parlor without a city permit.

A police detective, posing as a prospective customer, said he called the parlor and asked two prices over the telephone.

He said he went to the location about 1:15 a.m. where he was met by a 21-year-old woman who led him to a bedroom and told him to undress. The officer said the woman told him that for more money she would provide him with sex.

Reports show the detective gave the woman the money and, when she accepted, she was arrested. A 27-year-old woman also was taken into custody at the parlor for operating the business without a permit, police said.

A large Mexican-American man in a blue pickup was being sought by police in the reported Sunday burglary of Martin Garcia Valdez' 2701 Duke St. residence.

Valdez' father told police he saw the suspect enter his son's house about 6:30 p.m. Reported missing were a television and grandfather's clock, totaling $600.

Obituaries

Mary Berry

Services for Mrs. Mary Berry, 92, of Lubbock will be at 2 p.m. today in the W.W. Rix Chapel.

Dr. Dudley Strain, pastor emeritus of the First Christian Church, and the Rev. Wayne O. Perry, chaplain of Highland Hospital, will officiate. Burial will be in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Berry died at 10 a.m. Monday in University Villa.

The Benjamin native married the late J.W. Berry in Benjamin in 1909. They moved to Ropesville in 1924 and to Lubbock in 1964. He died in 1965.

Mrs. Berry was a member of the First Christian Church and a life member of the Order of the Eastern Star in Ropesville.

Flood Arraigned On Federal Perjury Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., who is seeking election to his 16th term in Congress, was arraigned Monday on three federal perjury charges in a case involving thousands of dollars in alleged payoffs.

He is accused of lying when he said he didn't know of one payoff and when he said he didn't receive two others. If convicted, he faces up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count.

Flood, a normally loquacious former actor, said nothing as he made his way through a crowd of reporters at the federal courthouse.

His local attorney, Richard M. Coleman, said Flood "has said he is innocent of the charges, and he has every confidence the judicial process will demonstrate that."

Flood was indicted by a federal grand jury a week ago on charges he lied before a grand jury and at the trial of his former aide, Stephen B. Elko.

Elko, who was convicted of taking $25,000 in bribes to influence Flood, is serving a three-year prison term and is cooperating with federal authorities. He has accused Flood of taking more than $100,000 in payoffs.

The 74-year-old Flood, who sports a waxed handlebar mustache and is usually flamboyantly attired, was clad in a sedate blue suit at his arraignment on Monday.

Flood's case was assigned to U.S. District Judge Malcolm Lucas, who is on vacation until Sept. 25. A hearing for plea and trial setting was scheduled for that date.

The case is being heard in Los Angeles because the alleged perjury took place here. The indictment says Flood lied on Oct. 11 when he testified at Elko's trial that he did not know about a $5,000 bribe given Elko by William F. Peters, a former trade school operator.

The indictment alleges that the congressman knew of the bribe within a few days after Elko took the money in the spring of 1972.

The indictment also charges that Flood lied to the federal grand jury when he denied receiving $5,000 from Peters in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

It also accuses Flood of giving false testimony June 2, 1977, when he denied to a grand jury that he received $1,000 in Washington from former lobbyist Deryl Fleming. With Peters, Fleming was named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Elko case.

Flood, chairman of the House labor, health, education and welfare subcommitttee, exerts influence over the billions of federal dollars allocated to schools and hospitals.

The case against Elko, who was convicted of conspiracy, bribe solicitation and perjury, centered on letters he sent on Flood's stationery to the U.S. Office of Education seeking accreditation for Peters' West Coast Trade Schools, based in Los Angeles.

Such accreditation would have made the five schools eligible for further federal student loans. When the schools folded in 1973, federal auditors said lending institutions were left holding $6 million in federally insured loans.

So far, Flood's political career has not been seriously hurt by the allegations against him. He won a comfortable primary victory this spring two days after New York City Rabbi Leib Pinter pleaded guilty to paying Flood $5,000 in bribes.

He also is under investigation in connection with his efforts to push through federal financing of a construction project at Philadelphia's Hahnemann Hospital, according to federal investigators.

One major reason for Flood's popularity among constituents in the Wilkes-Barre area is his role in bringing federal troops and helicopters to the region after Hurricane Agnes struck in 1972. He set up a disaster command post, and is reported to have told Navy officers: "This is going to be one Flood against another."

On Monday, he was released on a $10,000 personal recognizance bond, and the magistrate dropped a requirement that he remain in California — allowing him to return home to campaign. Assistant U.S. Attorney David Hindent had no objection.

Former CIA Agent Requests Stay Of Injunction On Book

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Frank W. Snepp III asked a federal district judge Monday for a stay of an injunction against him imposed because he wrote a book critical of CIA conduct during the fall of Saigon.

An attorney for Snepp filed papers saying the former CIA agent has written two magazine pieces, a short story and an essay, in which Esquire and the Atlantic Monthly are interested. But under the injunction Snepp is not even allowed to tell them anything specific about the articles, the court papers say.

U.S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis ruled in early July that Snepp should forfeit all his profits from the book "Decent Interval" because, the judge said, Snepp had violated a secrecy agreement he signed when he joined the Central Intelligence Ageny in 1968.

Lewis also enjoined Snepp from publishing anything further based on his experiences while he worked for the CIA, if it violates the original secrecy agreement.

Mark Lynch, a staff attorney with the American Civil Liberties Union who is handling the case, asked the judge Monday to lift the temporary restraining order pending an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va. The larger issue of Snepp's right to publish the book is also being appealed there, and attorneys anticipate that the case will go to the Supreme Court.

Snepp has contended that nothing in his book disclosed any confidential information. The CIA did not seriously dispute that, but said publication harmed its prestige by disclosing information about agency operations which should not have been made public.

At the trial last summer, attorneys estimated that Snepp's profits from the book amounted to about $60,000, but an accounting filed with the court since then put the amount at about $37,000, which may increase. All the money has been impounded under court order pending a final ouctome. If Lewis' ruling is upheld by higher courts, the money presumably will be turned over to the U.S. treasury.

A hearing on the motion for a stay of the injunction against Snepp's magazine articles is scheduled for Friday.

Reporter Wounds Wife, Kills Self

OAK LAWN, Ill. (AP) — George Bliss, whose investigative reporting for the Chicago Tribune won three Pulitzer prizes, shot and seriously wounded his wife and then killed himself Monday, authorities said.

The shootings occurred in the bedroom of the couple's home in this southwestern suburb of Chicago, according to authorities.

Bliss' wife, Therese, 51, underwent surgery and was in critical condition Monday. Both were shot in the head.

Bliss, 60, was suffering from "severe mental depression" and had received medical treatment and institutional care, said Clayton Kirkpatrick, editor of The Tribune.

"The terrible burden of mental illness compounded by an awareness of its presence ultimately proved too severe," Kirkpatrick said. "The tragedy that followed ended the career of a man who undoubtedly was the foremost investigative reporter in the nation."

Bliss, who estimated his stories over the years resulted in prison terms for 100 persons, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1962 as a labor editor uncovering scandals in the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

As chief investigative reporter since 1973, his work led to Pulitzers won by the Tribune in 1973 for election fraud, and in 1976 for exposing wasteful spending by federal agencies in the housing industry.

"He was a perfectionist who never was satisfied with his stories," Kirkpatrick said. "He agonized over details of the brilliant investigative work that resulted in three Pulitzer prizes."

Authorities said Bliss' pajama-clad body was found on the floor of his bedroom and a .38-caliber revolver was nearby. His wife was shot while in her bed.

Oak Lawn Police Capt. Frank C. Gilbert, called the shootings an "attempted murder-suicide."

The gunshots awakened two sons sleeping in the home, who notified authorities.

Bliss was born in Denver, where his father was a reporter for the Denver Post, and moved to the Chicago area as a boy. His father was a labor editor for the now-defunct Chicago Herald Examiner.

Bliss began working for the Chicago Evening American in 1937 and joined the Tribune in 1942. He left the newspaper in 1968 to become chief investigator for the Better Government Association, a citizens' watchdog group, which later worked closely with him on his stories when he returned to the Tribune in 1971.

Bliss began a disability leave from the newspaper on Oct. 20, he returned to the paper last May.

Bliss won numerous awards in addition to the Pulitzers. His last major storly revealed a pattern of union shakedowns at McCormick Place, the lakefront exhibition hall named after the former publisher of the Tribune, Robert R. McCormick.

The horsepower, a non-metric unit used in mechanics, is equal to 746 watts.

Lubbock Tax Rolls Exceed Previous Records

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The tax equalization board Monday certified the largest tax rolls ever for the City of Lubbock and the Lubbock Independent School District. The rolls will be used in tax bills that go out in October.

According to assessor-collector John Brooks, the school district's 1978 roll totals $1,324,852,083 — a record 20 percent increase over last year.

The city's new roll of $1,324,852,733 represents an 18 percent jump from the previous year. The increase is not as big as the school system's because the city now is offering a higher homestead exemption ($10,000) for the elderly than is the school district ($3,000).

Most of the growth was attributed to the real estate portion of the rolls, due primarily to recent revaluation of homes in Lubbock's southwest quadrant.

Both actual tax-roll totals are significantly more than the estimates plugged into the city and school budgets for the 1978-79 fiscal year.

Since neither governmental body has set a final tax rate yet, public officials will be able to use an exact tax base — instead of a projection — in calculating their tax levies and rates.

For instance, the city council, which will adopt a tax rate Thursday, based its original budget on an estimated roll of $1.25 billion. The actual higher-than-expected roll would give the council more than $500,000 in additional revenues to work with, city officials said.

The school board built its new budget on a projected $1.3 billion roll. The actual roll, however, would generate about $330,000 more tax money than is required by that budget.

Both the city council and school board tentatively have approved reductions in their tax rates. The city has proposed cutting its rate from $1.41 per $100 valuation, to $1.12; the school district, from $1.58 to $1.38.

By using the windfall produced by the difference between estimated and actual tax rolls, the city and school system still have a chance to trim their rates even more. Or they could use the extra revenues to take care of expenses not included in their respective budgets.

Some school trustees, for example, say the district should use the $330,000 to pay for school crossing guards — who previously were provided by city government — and for expenses related to declining enrollment this year. They also want to beef up the district's contingency fund, which had been cut low to free up money for tax relief.

The tax equalization board, appointed by school trustees and the city council, unanimously certified the rolls as correct. The city roll now must be approved by the council, and the school roll, by the school board.

The school board meets Sept. 21, at which time it is expected to set a final tax rate.

Deaton Rigsby, equalization board chairman, commended his colleagues for their service. He noted that the job this year was tough, because of the many complaints from homeowners angry about reappraisals.

"All I have heard has been about the efficient and courteous way in which this panel did its job," Rigsby said.

Brooks said this tax year is a "new experience" for his office because the state's "truth in taxation" law recently took effect. The law, which applies only to school districts, "should give citizens a better idea of how their taxes are figured," he said.

Under the law, Brooks had to subtract from the tax roll the $50 million of new construction and calculate a rate th at would give the school district the same amount of local tax revenue ($17.5 million) as the district sought last year.

Brooks' calculated rate came out to $1.38 per $100 valuation — ironically, the same rate tentatively set by the school board. In other words, according to Brooks' computations, the district's temporary $1.38 rate would be sufficient to return to taxpayers the bonus revenues that would have been collected as a result of property reappraisals.

Another feature of the "truth in taxation" law is that the tax office has redesigned its tax bill forms. Each property owner's bill give the 1977 and 1978 school tax information on the property's market value, assessment ratio, assessed value, tax rate and total taxes.

Also new this year is that the tax office has completed the process of phasing in more accurate — and higher — values for automobiles. Consequently, for the first time in several years, almost all cars will go down in value as a result of being a year older, Brooks said.

"It's a much more sophisticated system," he said. Instead of lumping automobiles into weight categories for tax purposes, each car will be assessed according to its exact make, model and year, Brooks said.

The school district's roll includes $954,963,750 in real estate values and $369,888,333 in personal property (autos, boats, business equipment, etc.) values. In contrast, the district last year had $757,764,320 in real estate values and $348,801,450 in personal property values.

The city's 1978 roll includes $941,202,840 in real estate and $368,040,893 in personal property. Last year, those figures were $761,704,740 and $346,803,170 respectively.

In past years, the city's roll had been about $2 million higher than the school district's. But the school district now has a bigger roll because the city must subtract more in exemptions.

The city's $10,000 homestead exemption for persons over age 65 reduced the city roll by $35 million. The school district, which offers only a $3,000 exemption, saw only a $13 million reduction. Both the city and school district provide about $1.5 million in exemptions to disabled veterans.

Brooks said that while property reappraisals contributed most to the tax-roll increases, there were other factors. A significant one, he said, is that with the settlement of tax suits last year, South Plains Mall and some other properties have been added back to the tax rolls.

Ordinarily the tax rolls increase only about 10-12 percent from one year to the next. The record 18-20 percent jump this year was in part because southwest homes — which had not been revalued since 1973-74 — were raised an average of 50 percent.

Brooks said that after final tax rates are adopted, his staff will print the rolls and get tax bills in the mail on Sept. 29. Taxes are due by Jan. 31, 1979.

Head Of China News Agency Urges Moscow Confrontation

NEW YORK (AP) — Tsent Gao, director of the Hsinhua news agency, said Monday the United States and China should unite to confront Moscow and added emphatically there need be no fear of a foreseeable Chinese rapprochement with the Russians.

He also said there should be a 100 percent increase in journalistic exchanges so that the two countries can better understand each other.

The former ambassador to France said this at a luncheon hosted by the Wall Street Journal for an 11-member Hsinhua delegation touring the United States as guests of United Press International and The Associated Press.

Tseng said that though the United States was more powerful than China he doubted its ability to overcome fear of the Soviet Union, which he described as "the northern polar bear."

When one of the news executives reminded him Peking and the "polar bear" had once been in close embrace and asked whether that might happen again, he replied with considerable warmth that in Stalin's day the Russian and Chinese social systems were the same but that now they were different.

He said there was no possibility even after Russia's Communist chief Leonid Brezhnev leaves office that there would be a change unless the Soviet people overthrew the regime. He said friends of China should not be deceived by the occasional exchange of polite messages between Peking and Moscow.

Two years ago, he said, after the death of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, he had to go to some length to reassure the French that Sino-Soviet relations would not improve.

Tseng's promise to step up exchanges of journalists comes at a time of increasing visits to the Chinese mainland by U.S. tourists but no appreciable swelling in the number of American correspondents allowed to report on the scene.

He said he had assured UPI of greater coverage opportunities and would do the same for the AP.

The Hsinhua people began the first day of their tour as guests of AP with visits to New York City, including the stock exchange, an institution whose frenetic activity excited considerable curiosity.

William M. Batten, the exchange's chairman, explained painstakingly how the system operated but was hard put to say exactly what he did on a daily basis.

He elicited smiles and appreciation when he said he attended meetings and followed Mao's advice to keep them short.

Both the Chinese and Batten, a former member of the U.S. Committee for Trade with China, expressed wishes for greater trade now that the Chinese have embarked on an ambitious program of industrial expansion.

The Chinese visited the waterfront, where they were gratified to see an old four-master sailing ship called "Peking," and paused to examine the graffiti on the stone arch at Washington Square which contained criticism of the American system, the Shah of Iran, Jesus freaks, the Moonies and yippies. After these last three were explained, a lady member nodded and said: "Just like our big character wall posters."

Odessa Approves Treatment Plant

A-J Correspondent

ODESSA — Voters here approved one of three propositions in the city's bond election held Saturday, giving the go-ahead for a major sewage treatment plant to be built in Midland County with a 4,293 to 4,003 margin.

The city of Odessa will be allowed to dump up to 5.2 million gallons of treated effluent into the Monahans Draw in Midland County when the plant is completed.

A $2 million bond for a new water distribution system in the county, and a $5.7 million general obligation bond for construction of a new police and municipal courts building were defeated.

Jury Selected For Murder Trial

A six-man, six-woman jury was selected Monday to hear evidence in the Kenneth Wayne Herndon murder trial.

Testimony in the trial, being conducted in Judge Thomas L. Clinton's 99th District Court, was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. today.

Herndon, 36, is accused of murder in connection with the Christmas Eve slaying of William Drew Young III, 28.

Young's body was found stuffed inside the trunk of his burning auto about 10 p.m. Dec. 24, 1977. The car was located near FM 1585 and South Avenue P.

FUEL ADDITIVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Aviation Administration investigation has shown there is no safety hazard associated with the chemical toluene in low lead fuels used in general aviation aircraft. The investigation was undertaken following reports that the chemical might soften some plastic components of an aircraft's fuel system. The concern was that a piece of the softened plastic might become lodged in a critical part of the fuel system.

COTTON PROMOTION — Members of the District Cotton Promotion Association discuss area "Sew It With Cotton" contests, which will be held throughout September. Promoting the contests, are, from left, Jo Carol Long, vice president of the organization; Wanda Thompson, chairman of the district ways and means committee; and Bonita McDowell, district publicity chairman. Anyone interested in entering an area contest should contact the sponsoring organization in each county. First place area winners will enter the district contest at Tahoka in October. Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

This is a little idea for those of you who have to wear glasses when driving.

There have been several times that I have forgotten them at home, or left them someplace and I really don't like driving without them.

For one thing, we all know it is against the law to drive without your glasses if you are supposed to wear them while driving, and for another, depending on your eyesight, it sure isn't a safe idea to drive blindly.

When I got my new pair of glasses, I put the old pair in their case and placed them in the glove compartment.

If I ever walk out of the house without my glasses, the old ones are always in the glove compartment for me to use.

And, by the way, don't do what I did. Be sure to put them back for the next time. I wore them into the house, and forgot both pairs one day.

Isn't it always like that.

You have a nice day, and if the sun isn't shining where you are, I will send some of mine your way. — Hugs, Heloise

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:

Wrap seldom-used evening slippers for storage in aluminum foil. Keeps dust away, and mildew and tarnish from forming.

They'll be fresh and sparkling when you're ready to step out again. — A.M.

• • •

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

I have always read your column and wondered who in the world would ever put all of your hints and ideas to use.

I got married and now I know... — M.G.M.

Ain't it the truth! — Heloise

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:

To remove scratches from black man-made patent shoes, take a black felt marker and go over the spot to be covered. It will leave a line of ink, naturally.

Then take a cloth dipped in liquid furniture polish and rub the ink line. The scratch you had will now be gone!

This should work on other colors of shoes, too, provided you can find a marker to match. — Patricia Ciaflone

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:

I would like to share a hint for those nasty runners you get in your nylons when you least expect them, and there is no clear nail polish available (which I normally use to stop them).

The other day at work, I started getting the dreaded runner and, naturally, no one had any nail polish.

One of my co-workers told me to go to the ladies room and wet the corner of a bar of soap and rub it over the runner.

I did. It worked! The runner stopped. — Delia

Fantastic! And we all get those runners...at one time or another. — Heloise

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:

I work outside the home, so must make every minute count. When I make meatloaf, I mix up a huge amount and freeze it in meal-sized portions in those round containers like whipped topping comes in. This shape fits perfectly in my slow cooker.

Later in the week, I remove the mixture from the container, place it in my slow cooker, surrounded with unpeeled potatoes, and when I come home from work, lo, a meal is waiting. — LuEtta White

An extra five minutes mixing up a double batch now will save you precious time when you need it.

Love your idea! — Heloise

SAVE ELECTRICITY

Save electricity by allowing dishes to air dry in the dishwasher.

After the final rinse cycle, turn off the dishwasher, open the door and let dishes stand until they are drained and dry, recommends Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our son Jimmie was 14 in May. He has been hassling his dad for the last six months. He wants to shave. There is nothing to shave. He would only cut himself.

Every night he brings up the subject. It's the same old routine, "Why can't I shave? All the guys in my crowd do it." His father has tried to explain that shaving isn't fun. It's a nuisance and once he starts he'll be sorry.

Last night my husband said, "Why don't you write to Ann Landers and see what she says?" I told him you could not give us any help with this problem unless you saw the boy. He replied, "So — we'll take Jimmie to Chicago. It's a nice ride from Springfield."

If we bring Jimmie to Chicago, will you see him? We would appreciate it very much. — Anguished Parents

Dear Parents: I'd love to, but my bosses won't let me. They say I have all I can do to put out seven columns a week. In fact, just to make sure I wouldn't be tempted they wrote it into my contract — "No personal consultations."

I did check with two excellent psychologists, however, and they both said, let the boy shave. It can't hurt him and it is sure to heighten his self-esteem. So — there's your answer and look at all the money you saved on gasoline!

• • •

Dear Ann Landers: I am a happily married woman but you'd never know it if you could tune in on the dreams I've been having lately.

In the past three weeks I've dreamed about romantic interludes with the butcher at the supermarket, the young man who came to fix the TV, my next-door-neighbor (he's old enough to be my father), two movie stars and a United States Senator.

So help me, I have never had an affair and am not interested in having one. My husband is wonderful and I would never cheat on him.

In the morning when I get up, I remember my dreams vividly and am filled with guilt. What does all this mean? What can I do about it? Please give me some guidance. I am — Afraid To Go To Sleep

Dear Afraid: Dreams are uncensored thoughts and desires that run loose in the subconscious. Freud said they are the disguised fulfillment of suppressed wishes. Robert Louis Stevenson once wrote, "We all have thoughts that would shame hell." Some of these feelings come out in our dreams.

But it's how we conduct ourselves and not what we dream that counts. So — relax, honey, and get a good night's sleep.

• • •

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17 years old and flat-chested. I very self-conscious.

I've heard about a doctor in town who gives silicone shots. Are there any side-effects? How much does it cost? — I Got Plenty Of Nuthin'

Dear U. Got: If the legal authorities hear about the doctor, he will be in serious trouble. Silicone shots for breast augmentation are illegal. This is a dangerous procedure. Some deaths have occurred because of it.

Silicone implants, are however, a safe procedure when done by a competent plastic surgeon. Consult your family doctor — when you are 19.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY
DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that when a woman stops using the birth control pills she stands a chance of having twins? — Mrs. O.T.

Apparently so. At least the chances of having twin birth do increase. A study by a doctor at the Harvard School of Public Health shows a connection between bearing twins and women who become pregnant shortly after they discontinue the Pill. Dr. Kenneth J. Rothman studied 1,609 mothers, all of whom had been on the Pill for at least six months and became pregnant within a month after discontinuing its use. He reports 25 twin births, representing a rate of 1.6 percent compared with the 1 percent expected normally. He also reports that twin birth possibilities tend to rise with the length of time the woman had used the contraceptive pill before discontinuing it.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a daughter, 34, who visited us recently. Both my husband and I noticed a change in her eyes (the eyeballs). They bulge. She was not aware of this but has had her eyes checked and new glasses prescribed within the past few months. I am very concerned, because I have seen this eye symptom with persons who had thyroid problems. I would like her to go to a gland doctor, but I know she would think it's unnecessary and that we are just getting silly in our old age. But its difficult to stop being a mother. What do you suggest? — E.C.

Some persons can have slight eyeball prominence without any glandular disturbance. Obviously, this may not be the case with your daughter, since you noticed the change recently. There apparently is a good rapport between you two. I'm sure if you discussed the possible thyroid gland connection she would heed your advice and be seen. It is strange that the eye doctor said nothing about the prominent eye condition. If you want to study my booklet, "How Your Thyroid Gland Works for You," send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy to Dr. Thosteson, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Treatment for such conditions is available.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.S. — Granuloma inguinale is a sexually transmitted disorder featured by painless red lumps in the groin. It can be verified by scrapings from the area for cells called Donovan bodies. There's nothing you can do yourself about this, so see your physician to have it verified.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just read the letter from the mother having problems potty-training her three-year-old. Maybe this bit of advice will help. I had problems with my son, and all the hints from my mother and mother-in-law that I wasn't trying hard enough — well, it was enough to frustrate anyone. So, I got some iron-on transfers and applied them to several pairs of training pants. My son liked them so well he didn't dare wet them because he knew he would have to take them off. It took just a few days and he was doing great. Sewing lace or some ruffles on the training pants works well with little girls. — Mrs. K.A.H.

Well worth the passing on. Thanks.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can the drug Atromid-S ever have any side effects? I have been taking it for a year and it has brought my cholesterol count down beautifully and with no apparent side effects. — V.W.

Atromid-S (a brand of clofibrate) is usually well tolerated. It may cause nausea, digestive disturbance, and rarely, disorders in the blood count. I am sure this would have been noticed during the past year. It should not be used by a person who is taking anti-coagulant medicine unless the blood is being monitored periodically.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it normal not to have a menstrual period while breastfeeding? It has been four months since I had my baby. And is it true that you cannot get pregnant while breastfeeding? — V.S.I.

It is not unusual for periods to be delayed until breastfeeding has ended. You can get pregnant while breastfeeding.

• • •

If afflicted with problem fingernails or toenails, learn the practical, medically correct form of treatment. Write to Dr. Thosteson, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill., 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Solving Your Nail Problems," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Tune In Tomorrow

By JON-MICHAEL REED

NEW YORK — First the bad news. "Search For Tomorrow" has lost one of its finest young actors.

Michael Nouri, the dark, brooding man who has portrayed Steve Kaslo on the series for the past several years decided a few months ago that he was ready to move onto other career goals in lieu of signing another contract with the show. The character of Steve had been in remission from a disease for over a year. Rather than replace Michael, who was enormously popular in the role, the writers and producers went out on a limb by having Steve's condition worsen. For two months the "Search" audience has watched as Steve deteriorated physically. Critical conditions on soap operas usually terminate in miracle cures. The writers and producers of "Search" were brave enough not to phoney up their story and allowed Steve's live to be cut short. Last week Steve Kaslo died.

The tragedy was compounded by the fact that with Nouri's departure serialdom also lost one of its finest, most sensitive young actors. Audiences can be confident that Michael Nouri, who displayed his singing talents on the "Search," will soon pop up on theater screens or Broadway boards.

Now the good news. "Search" is intensifying its efforts to do more location shootings. Last weekend Mary Stuart (Jo), Peter Ratray (Scott), George Shannon (Chance), Lewis Arlt (David) and Billie Lou Watt (Ellie) were shipped off to Manakin, Va., outside Richmond, where they were involved in exterior shootings that involve an auto accident. Sorry, you'll have to tune in this week to find out who's involved terminally as a result of that. The "Search" cameras also taped the exterior of a Manakin hotel, the Foxhead Inn, which will serve in the "Search" story as the facade of the fictional Hartford Inn.

Back to the bad news. "Search" is undergoing sweeping cast dismissals. Expect them soon. In their place two newcomers are adding spice to the longest-running TV serial. Blonde Megan Bagot appears as Laine Adamson, manipulator Ted Adamson's sexy daughter who will probably spark a flame for Scott Phillips. Christopher Goutman will be a regular as Marc D'Antonio, the volatile drama professor who may help shy Kylie bloom. Other additions are on the way, so stay tuned.

Speaking of location shootings, "Ryan's Hope" recently took its crew to the Solar Gym in Manhattan for an all-night shooting that involved Michael Levin (Jack Fenelli) and Tom MacGrevey (Tom Desmond). That episode airs September 4 and will depict Desmond working out with a sparring partner to vent his anger about the loss of his wife's baby. Interestingly enough, MacGrevey is a former boxer himself and knows his way around the ring. The character of Pat Ryan, whom Desmond blames for the miscarriage, had better be prepared.

SHORT TAKES:

At "All My Children," the role of Eddie Dorrance, Kelly's nefarious agent, has switched actors. Warren Burton replaces Ross Petty.

Sad to see that "Edge of Night" killed off two of its most intriguing and gifted actors, Kiel Martin (Raney Cooper) and the most charmingly sinister soap gentleman who has ever graced the daytime tube, Mr. Louis Turenne (Tony Saxon).

From "Guiding Light" comes news that Jobeth Williams (Brandy Shelooe) has been signed for a major role in Dustin Hoffman's next film. And "GL" castmate Cindy Pickett (Jackie Marler) will be learning a few new tricks when she goes in front of the cameras in director Roger Vadim's next movie, "Night Games." Vadim directed two of his previous wives, Brigitte Bardot and Jane Fonda, in several provocative flicks. And since Cindy is as talented and as lovely as Bardot and Fonda...well, tune in tomorrow.

Here is yesterday's hand with one little red card change. North and South are now cold for six spades and modern experts have two ways to get there.

Both depend on one modern gadget. The use of a reverse bid by the original bidder as a one-round force. Thus, when North rebids two hearts he knows that his partner won't pass.

South's two-spade rebid merely shows that he has at least a five-card spade suit. When North made his reverse bid of two hearts, he promised that he would not drop the bidding below three clubs — the level in his first bid suit he had forced by bidding two hearts.

North's jump in four spades says, "Partner, I could have jumped right to four spades, but I wanted to take time out to show you that I hold a singleton diamond."

This should be enough for South to go right into Blackwood since South knows that all North's strength is where South wants it to be. North shows three aces and South bids the slam happily.

What is the other expert way to get to six? Splinter bids will be discussed in next week's articles.

We open one diamond. We can bid spades twice later on if we wish to do so. It is important to show that diamonds are the longer suit.

Yeast Bread Provides Breakfast Treat

EAST HANOVER, N.J. — Homemade bread, especially Bran 'n Date Cinnamon Bread, adds a gala touch to breakfast or brunch. Served piping hot with butter or cream cheese, its aroma will have mouths watering in anticipation as you cut into the loaf.

Dates, the fruit of the date palm, are known to supply almost instant energy. They are one of the oldest fruits known to man. It was a Mohammedan belief that the palm tree was created from earth left over after the creation of Adam. For centuries, wandering nomads of the dessert lived primarily on a diet of dates, milk and honey.

Bran 'n Date Cinnamon Bread is not only delicious but also nutritious. The bran adds flavor and texture and nutritionally provides important B vitamins and essential minerals. It also contributes bulk to the diet, now recognized as essential to good health.

Baking yeast breads used to be considered a culinary art, to be taken on only by experts. Now, with the refrigerator method, yeast breads are easy to do and well within the capabilities of even the novice. Instead of tedious kneading, the dough is refrigerated for as short a time as two hours or as long as overnight.

Treat your family and friends to Bran 'n Date Cinnamon Bread. Its combination of fruit and cereal is perfect for breakfast or brunch.

BRAN 'N DATE CINNAMON BREAD

¾ cup milk
½ cup butter or margarine
2 tsps. salt
½ cup granulated sugar
1½ cups bran cereal
2 envelopes active dry yeast
½ cup warm water
1 egg
3½ cups all-purpose flour
2 tbsps. granulated sugar
2 tsps. ground cinnamon
1 (8 oz.) pkg. chopped dates

Scald milk; stir in butter or margarine until melted; then add next three ingredients and blend well. Let stand 5 minutes. In a large warm bowl, sprinkle yeast over water; stir until dissolved. Add bran mixture, egg and 2 cups flour; beat until blended. Stir in remaining flour to make a stiff batter. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Refrigerate dough at least 2 hours. Divide dough in half. Roll each piece on well-floured surface into a 12X8-inch rectangle. Combine sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle half of cinnamon mixture, then half of dates over each rectangle. Starting with narrow side, roll each into a loaf. Turn under ends. Place on greased baking sheet, seamed side down. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Makes 2 loaves.

Dough may be kept in refrigerator overnight.

HOMEMADE BREAKFAST TREAT — Homemade Bran 'n Date Cinnamon Bread, made with chopped dates and bran cereal, adds a gala touch to breakfast or brunch. This homemade treat is not only delicious but nutritious.

I walked into Pat Walker's Figure Salon in Lubbock a few months ago, ready to try one more time to lose weight. I had tried everything else, even to having surgical staples put in my ears.

After my courtesy treatment, the counselor explained the Pat Walker figure correction program to me. When she assured me that the program was guaranteed, I felt I had finally found the solution to my figure problems.

When I began my program at Pat Walker's Figure Salon, I weighed 178 lbs. and wore a size 20 dress. Today I weigh 126 lbs. and wear a size 8 dress. My life style has changed completely because today I can do "skinny" things. I can't wait for summer so I can lounge around the pool in my new size 8 bikini!

Ms. Clifton is now Manager in Pat Walker Salon in Garland, Tex.

Rhodesian Leaders' Conference 'Dead'

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Rhodesian guerrilla leader Joshua Nkomo declared Monday that an all-party conference with internal Rhodesian leaders is now "dead." The United States and Britain have endorsed such a conference as the key to a peaceful shift to black rule in Rhodesia.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the United States still hopes to arrange an all-parties conference. But, privately, administration officials conceded recent events have erased the likelihood of such a meeting soon.

In Salisbury, the capital of embattled Rhodesia, security police continued a roundup of Nkomo's locally based supporters. Josiah Chinamano, vice president of the Zimbabwe African People's Union in Rhodesia, said 30 of 360 ZAPU executives had been detained in 24 hours.

The developments were the latest fallout from the shooting down of an Air Rhodesia Viscount near the Zambian border Sept. 3 by ZAPU guerrillas using a heat-seeking missile.

Addressing a crowded news conference at his headquarters in Lusaka, Nkomo reiterated that his men downed the plane but denied they killed survivors of the crash.

Rhodesia says 48 of the 56 persons aboard died in the crash, and witnesses say 10 of the 18 survivors were gunned down by guerrillas.

Nkomo claimed Rhodesian planes were being used to carry military men and equipment, and warned that more would be brought down.

"Smith means war," Nkomo said. "If he means war, we are ready to fight and to remove the regime. That regime is dead."

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith announced plans Sunday in a nationwide broadcast to introduce partial martial law and to "liquidate" local affiliates of the two externally-based guerrilla movements, ZAPU and Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union.

The two guerrilla groups are linked in a tenuous alliance known as the Patriot Front. Nkomo's forces are based in Zambia and Mugabe's troops in Mozabique.

Smith's speech was relatively moderate, in contrast to his angry reaction to the downing of the plane and promises of tough new action. Significantly, he did not rule out another meeting with Nkomo, with whom he met secretly in Lusaka two weeks ago.

But Nkomo took a hard line, saying he was not interested in any more talks with Smith, the white leader governing Rhodesia in an alliance with three black moderates working toward black majority rule.

"If he says surrender, okay," Nkomo said. "But I don't think there is anything else to talk about."

In Salisbury, many white Rhodesians expressed disappointment with Smith's low-key response to the incident. "After the big buildup of the last few days, the prime minister's speech was too full of generalities for many Rhodesians," the white-owned Herald newspaper said in an editorial.

Nkomo said Rhodesian forces were killing 30 to 40 "of our people" each day. "I hope that Ian Smith and his co-perpetrators understand that after these deliberate massacres we cannot contemplate working with them," he said.

Soviet Families May Be Let Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced Monday that his meeting last week with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev likely will result in 18 Soviet families receiving permission to leave the country.

Kennedy said the families include those of Dr. Benjamin Levich, a renowned physical chemist, and of Mr. and Mrs. Boris Katz, whose infant daughter Jessica attracted widespread concern in the United States because of her inability to digest normal food.

"I talked to General Secretary Brezhnev about Dr. Levich (and the other cases) and received a positive response from him," Kennedy told a news conference.

The two-hour conversation between Brezhnev and Kennedy in Moscow was a highpoint of Kennedy's visit to the Soviet Union, where he also attended an international conference on health care.

Kennedy said that while in the Soviet Union he brought up a large number other families, most of them Jewish, who have expressed the desire to emigrate.

"Some of these cases will be pursued over the longer term," he said.

"But I am pleased to be able to report that the Soviet government has already agreed to review the cases of 18 specific families," he said. "I have every expectation that all of these families will be permitted to leave for the United States or Israel in the very near future."

He said that in addition to the Katz and Levich families, the indications are that eight other families will be permitted to join relatives in Massachusetts and eight will be permitted to emigrate to Israel.

Levich, a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, has been invited to accept a post at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Kennedy said.

The case of Jessica Katz attracted attention after Soviet authorities initially refused permission for the child to receive medical care in the West.

Kennedy said he views what he called the high emigration rates permitted by the Soviet Union this year as a "positive signal" and a "hopeful sign" that Russia may be ready for somewhat warmer relations with the United States.

"My hope is that both Congress and the administration will be able to seize the moment and use the current fragile thaw to achieve the successful conclusion of the SALT talks and to move forward on all the other areas that concern us," he said.

Kennedy said Brezhnev indicated the Soviet Union remains committed to making progress in the arms limitation field and that the Soviet leader expressed disappointment that the SALT talks have not moved more rapidly.

In another area, Kennedy said Soviet officials with whom he spoke said they would have no objection to the normalization of relations between the United States and the Peoples Republic of China.

"But they warned sharply against any anti-Soviet manipulation by the United States of our developing relations with China," Kennedy said.

Methodone Called Latest Drug 'Curse'

HOUSTON (AP) — A Seton Hall University psychologist Monday called the drug Methodone a "curse" and said it was selling on the streets at $6 to $10 a dose to addicts wanting a high.

Dr. George Gubar, speaking at the annual conference of the International Narcotics Enforcement Officers Association, said there is an increasing use of the drug by young people who have never used another drug and now are addicted to the narcotic.

Gubar, a consultant for a Hackensack, N.J., Methodone center, said the blessing of the drug as a treatment for heroin addiction "is becoming a curse."

Much of the illegal supply of Methodone, he said, is coming from treatment clinics and unless tight controls are established "this drug come become another heroin."

At opening session of the convention Sunday, Houston Police Chief Harry Caldwell said more cooperation between various law enforcement agencies and telephone wiretapping are keys to stopping the distribution and sale of illict drugs.

He said police agencies should lobby for increased use of wire taps to solve narcotic cases.

The police chief said budgetary constraints also hamper many agencies from investigating large-scale operations. "There is no way some agencies can buy a kilo of cocaine even hey wanted to. They simply don't have the money," Caldwell said.

CONVICT 'TIRED'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A convicted murderer who escaped twice from the Monterey County jail has surrendered to Oakland police, telling them "he was tired of running around," authorities said. Officer C. Charles Thomas said Edward W. Johnson walked into the station over the weekend and said he wanted to give himself up. Johnson, 33, who was convicted of second-degree murder for killing a man during a fight in a motel last year, was being held in the Oakland jail.

'Antiquarian' Book Seller Sports Unique Collection

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — John McLaughlin doesn't like the term "used books." Instead, he prefers "antiquarian" — rare books — to describe the more than 20,000 volumes on the shelves of his Orange County bookstore.

Although a 1962 pulp novel can be had for less than $3 in the upstairs section of "The Book Sail," much of the stock commands a heftier fee.

"I think it's a crime when someone advertises 'rare books' when all he really has are old $1.25 paperbacks," complained McLaughlin, a bearded 36-year-old ex-New Yorker. "My books come in all price varieties, but we cater to the true collector."

For the one-of-a-kind buff, McLaughlin has a first edition King James Bible, published in 1613, for $1,200. Nearby is the first known edition of "Gulliver's Travels" by the 18th Century author Jonathan Swift. It's $255.

For fans of the bizarre, McLaughlin has a 1910 copy of "Pilgrim's Progress" bound in human skin — $650. "I bought this one from an English bookbinder," he explained. "It's a little ghastly; I keep it mainly as a promotional item. I've been given two explanations — one that it's from the upper thigh of a convicted criminal hanged to death, or that someone had a limb amputated and wanted to keep it around."

McLaughlin, who originally wanted to teach English, has been in the rare book business 10 years and at his present location three years. His specialty is illustrated books.

"Disney is a big thing with me," he said, pointing to shelves and glass cases of cartoon books, manuscripts and paintings.

His treasures include the original Walt Disney "Robin Hood" painting for $1,500; Carl Bark's "The Family Album" featuring Donald Duck and friends for $10,000; and the illustrator's dummy for "Pinocchio," $600.

Houston Banks Seek Informants

HOUSTON (AP) — Financial institutions in the Houston area, hit by a rash of robberies in the first nine months of the year, are offering $5,000 to persons who supply information that results in the arrest and indictment of anyone involved in such a holdup.

Fred J. Redeker, executive vice president of the Houston Clearing House Association, said the identity of informants will be kept confidential. He said a siliar program in Detroit had resulted in a lowering of bank robberies.

Houston Police Chief Harry Caldwell said Monday there had been 30 robberies of financial institutions in Houston during the first nine months of 1978.

"So far this year," he said, "the count is crooks 17, police 13," indicating that 17 of the holdups are still unsolved.

Charles E. Price, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Houston, said there had been 43 robberies of financial institutions in Harris County and neighboring counties this year.

INTRODUCING HI-LO
"AN ALL NEW CONCEPT IN TRAVEL TRAILERS"

- *HI-LO achieves the best gas mileage.
- *HI-LO is much safer to tow because of its low height and low center of gravity.
- *HI-LO handles better than any other trailer in tow (Ask an owner!)
- *Hi-on Living; LO on gas.
- *HI-LO totally metal construction

Work-Related Cancer Estimates Revised

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new scientific study indicates at least 20 percent of all cancer in the United States may be work-related, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano said Monday.

That is much higher than the previous estimates of only 1 percent to 5 percent, the head of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare told an AFL-CIO conference on occupational safety and health.

Califano said the new study by scientists at the National Cancer Institute and the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences concludes:

"If the full consequences of occupational exposures in the present and the recent past are taken into account, estimates of at least 20 percent appear much more reasonable and may even be conservative."

Califano said, "this means that at least 20 percent of all cancer in the United States, and perhaps more, may be work-related."

He said the full study would be released later this week.

A five-page summary of the study said asbestos was to blame for the largest number of cancers incurred on the job.

It said that up to 11 million workers were exposed to asbestos, including 4.5 million who worked in shipyards during World War II.

Califano said, "an estimated five million American men and women — workers in asbestos plants, insulation workers, construction workers, steamfitters, carpenters, tile setters, auto mechanics and the like — breathe significant amounts of asbestos fibers each day."

He said asbestos may figure in 10 to 15 percent of all cancer deaths in the United States each year.

The study's summary said 1.6 million of four million heavily-exposed workers are expected to die of asbestos-related cancers. That's 67,000 a year for the next 30 to 35 years.

"Such numbers would represent about 17 percent of all cancers detected annually in the United States," the study said.

It also cited these figures for less well-known cancer risks in the workplace:

— Arsenic: About 1.5 million workers potentially exposed; they run a 3-8 times greater risk of lung cancer. An estimated 2,100 to 7,300 excess cancers will be caused each year.

— Benzene: Two million workers potentially exposed, with the risk ratio 2-7 times greater for leukemia. It will caused an estimated 240 to 1,400 excess cancers per year.

— Coal Tar Pitch: About 60,000 workers potentially exposed, to risks 2-6 times greater than normal for cancer of the lung, larynx, skin and scrotum. Excess cancers estimated at 160 to 800 per year.

— Coke Oven Emissions: 2.3 million workers potentially exposed, with risks 200 times, 4 times, and 1.5 times higher respectively for hemangiosarcoma, brain and lung cancer. Excess cancers estimated at 1,940.

The study said 13 percent of the cancers occurring in a year will be associated with these four substances.

It also cited possible excess cancers caused by chromium, iron oxide, nickel and petroleum distillates, but said it was less certain how many workers had been exposed. These four substances could account for 3 percent to 18 percent of the cancers occurring in a year, the study said.

"Thus the total excess (cancer) incidents would be from 21 (percent) to 38 percent. We choose to use the figure 20 percent in order to be conservative," it said.

The government study also listed a number of occupations showing excess cancer risks that have not yet been linked to any one chemical. These were:

Coal miners, who incur stomach cancer, 40 percent more than usual; chemists, whose rate of cancer of the pancreas is 64 percent above normal and 79 percent of lymphomas; foundry workers incur lung cancer 50 to 150 percent more than normal; textile workers at a 77 percent excess cancer rate of the mouth and pharynx, while newspaper printing pressmen have a 125 percent excess rate for the mouth and pharynx.

Metal miners have a 200 percent excess rate of lung cancer; coke by-product workers, 181 percent excess rate for cancer of the large intestine and 312 percent for the pancreas; cadmium production workers, 135 percent excess for lung cancer, 248 percent excess for prostate cancer; lead workers, 30 percent excess for lung cancer. In the rubber industry, the study cited an 80 percent excess stomach cancer rate and 140 percent excess leukemia rate for those involved in processing; an 88 percent excess bladder cancer rate and 90 percent brain cancer rate for those in tire building, and a 61 percent excess lung cancer rate for those in tire curing. Also, leather and shoe workers have a 5,000 percent excess rate for cancer of the nasal cavity and sinuses and 150 percent for the bladder.

But the study also noted, "most cancers have multiple causes; it is an error to attempt to assign each cancer to an exclusive single cause."

Inmates Say County Jail Poorly Kept

A-J Correspondent

BIG SPRING — Inmates of the Howard County jail have filed suit against the Howard County Commissioners Court alleging improper jail conditions.

The suit was presented Friday to 118th District Court clerk Peggy Crittenden, but was not officially filed until a proper oath was signed by several of the inmates.

The original petition, signed by Hollis Moore and 10 other prisoners, alleges that the jail does not meet federal and state standards. The suit charges the commissioners court with "sandbagging" jail repairs in favor of "lights for the county fair barn, bicycle trails and parks and flowers."

Grievances listed included the need for a visiting doctor at least once a week; a wall buzzer to allow prisoners to contact jail attendants in the event of an emergency; additional jail attendants because there "would not be enough jail personnel to evacuate the inmates" in case of fire; a new ventilation system in the jail because the old one is "non-functional," according to the inmates; replacement of shower stalls and toilets and a recreational facility or some opportunity for inmates to get fresh air.

According to one county official, the jail does not presently meet state standards. The facility did comply in 1975, but a stiffening of jail regulations left the jail short of compliance shortly thereafter.

According to Sheriff A. N. Standard, many of the state violations have been corrected and the commissioners have been kept informed of all current jail shortcomings.

Hollis Moore, the first signee on the petition, was in the Lubbock County jail in January 1977. According to chief deputy Albert Smith, that was shortly after three inmates there filed a class action suit against Lubbock officials over jail conditions.

Moore, who has twice been convicted of burglary, is in the Howard County jail under $7,500 appeal bond. He was sentenced to eight years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

HIRING PLAN

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. said Monday it will give experienced United Auto Workers employees preference in hiring at its new plants, apparently removing a potential problem in upcoming contract talks. UAW said the announcement means GM is abandoning its "Southern strategy," an alleged anti-union policy of building plants in the South to avoid union bargaining.

Murder Charge Results From Shooting Death

A 50-year-old Carlisle man was charged Monday with murder in connection with the Sunday shooting death of his son-in-law.

Named in the charge was Matilde Reine Ybarra. The Criminal District Attorney's office recommended a $1,000 bond.

Ybarra is accused of murder as a result of the early Sunday shooting death of Eddie Joe Palacio, 19, of 909-B 40th St.

Deputies investigating a report of an approxmate 4:45 a.m. shooting arrived at a Carlisle residence to find Palacio lying on the living room floor of the residence with a gunshot wound to the left side of the neck.

Deputies recovered a .22-caliber pistol at the scene.

Rosary for Palacio will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Henderson Funeral Chapel. Requiem Mass will said at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Christ the King Catholic Church, with the Rev. James Comiskey, and the Rev. Ron Krisman officiating. Burial will be in Peaceful Gardens Memorial Park.

Palacio's survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Palacio of Lubbock; eight sisters, Mary Rodriguez, Minnie Rodriguez, Arleen Orta, Diana Palacio, Joan Palacio and Betty Jean Palacio, all of Lubbock, Dora Lara and Nancy Garcia, both of Killeen; and two brothers, Raymond and Ernest Jr., both of Lubbock.

Swimmer's Death Called Accidental

The early Saturday morning drowning of a San Francisco, Calif., man at Buffalo Springs Lake has been ruled accidental by Slaton Justice of the Peace Arvin Stafford.

Joe Rodolfo Saenz, 36, was pronounced dead at the scene about 2:40 a.m. by Stafford. Lake manager Jim Segrest said Saenz apparently drowned while attempting to swim across the upper lake with his brother, Oscar of Idalou.

Segrest said the drowning was reported about 12:45 a.m. by the victim's brother, and the body was recovered about an hour later.

The Saturday morning mishap marked the first drowning this year at the lake, where swimming is prohibited.

Embezzlement Trial Set For Clovis

A-J Correspondent

CLOVIS, N.M. — The embezzlement trial of former Curry County commissioner Calvin Stout will begin at 9 a.m. today in Ninth District Court here with Judge Roy G. Hill of the Seventh Judicial District in Sierra County presiding.

Stout is charged with embezzling more than $100 but less than $2,500 for allegedly using a county-owned jeep for his own use from Feb. 21, 1977, to Dec. 1, 1977. A grand jury earlier indicted Stout for the fourth-degree felony charge.

Stout completed his four-year term as county commissioner near the end of 1976, but continued to serve as surplus properties officer of the county for a period of time after his term ended.

'Bama, Hogs Retain Top Two Grid Spots

By The Associated Press

Alabama and Arkansas held the top two spots Monday in The Associated Press college football poll, while Missouri's stunning victory over Notre Dame catapulted the Tigers into the Top Twenty and dropped the defending national champions from fifth place to 15th.

In the first regular-season poll, Alabama received 51 of 63 first-place votes and 1,247 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Crimson Tide was idle last weekend after opening with a 20-3 triumph over Nebraska.

Arkansas, which begins it season Saturday, received 11 first-place ballots and 1,128 points. The other first-place vote went to Penn State although the Nittany Lions slipped from third place in the preseason poll to fifth.

Oklahoma, a 35-29 winner over Stanford, climbed from fourth to third with 1,044 points, while Michigan, which hasn't played yet, jumped from sixth to fourth with 933.

Then came Penn State, which defeated Rutgers 26-10 but was far from impressive. The Nittany Lions received 922 points and were trailed by Ohio State, up from seventh to sixth, with 891 points.

The Buckeyes open against Penn State Saturday.

Texas, which also opens Saturday, rose from eighth to seventh with 833 points, while Southern California, a 17-9 winner over Texas Tech, went from ninth to eighth with 780 points.

UCLA's 10-7 victory over Washington lifted the Bruins from 12th to ninth with 777 points, while Texas A&M jumped from 16th to 10th with a 37-10 drubbing of Kansas. The Aggies received 544 points.

Missouri's 3-0 upset over Notre Dame vaulted the Tigers to 11th place. Nebraska, which lost its opener to Alabama, dropped from 10th to 12th despite a 36-26 triumph over California last Saturday. Rounding out the Second Ten were Louisiana State, Pitt, Notre Dame, Florida State, Kentucky, Washington, Iowa State and Maryland.

The previous Second Ten consisted of Washington, UCLA, LSU, Pitt, Kentucky, Texas A&M, Florida State, Clemson, North Carolina and Iowa State.

Maryland, which trounced Tulane 31-7, was the other newcomer to the Top Twenty, while Clemson and North Carolina dropped out. Neither team has played yet.

IRS Permits TV Exemptions

DALLAS (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service advised officials of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association and the Southwest Athletic Conference Monday that television and radio revenues of the Cotton Bowl Classic are not taxable income.

"We are delighted with the decision and know other bowl associations will react accordingly," said John P. Thompson, president of the Association. "It has been under consideration a long time, and we appreciate the many different technical angles to the question the top officials of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington had to consider."

The Association was advised by the IRS that is is "entitled to retain its status as exempt from federal income tax under section 501 (c) (3) of the code and income from the sale of radio and television rights is not subject to the tax on unrelated business income imposed by section 511."

Vikings Win In Overtime

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Free agent placekicker Rick Danmeier booted a 44-yard field goal — his fourth of the game — with 2:56 elapsed in overtime, lifting the Minnesota Vikings to a 12-9 National Football League victory over the Denver Broncos in a nationally televised game Monday night.

Denver's Jim Turner had sent the game into the extra period with a controversial 25-yard field goal as regulation time expired, tying the score 9-9.

Tommy Kramer replaced starter Fran Tarkenton as quarterback for Minnesota starting the overtime period and engineered a 56-yard drive that set up Danmeier's winning kick. Kramer connected with Robert Miller for 14 yards on a third-and-10 situation and Denver was slapped with a 15-yard piling-on penalty on the next play, giving Minnesota a first down at the Denver 31.

Reserve quarterback Norris Weese, who replaced starter Craig Morton in the third period, led Denver on a 50-yard drive to the Minnesota 5 in the waning seconds of regulation time. Weese was tackled on the Minnesota 8 with three seconds remaining and the Broncos out of timeouts. But the officials stopped the clock to allow the teams to line up and Turner got his kick away as the final second ticked off.

Bright Spots Out West

IT WAS MIDWAY of the second quarter, and the Raiders were holding a 6-0 lead. The crowd was quiet, because this wasn't supposed to be happening to its Trojans.

Quarterback Paul McDonald had just rifled one 18 yards to wide receiver Dan Garcia, but, thanks to a couple of setbacks on the two previous plays, the Trojans were still a yard shy of a new set of downs at the Tech 41.

McDonald brought his troops to the line, then yelled a couple of signals, bobbing his head for emphasis as he did so. A Tech defender reacted slightly, then returned to his down spot.

Three, four, five seconds passed, as McDonald continued to bark and bob, but the Raiders' defense held its spot. Finally, the defenders began waving their arms; they knew what was taking place. And finally, the refs' flags dropped. Too much time.

Southern Cal retreated to the huddle, then came out ready to punt.

It was a bit of strategy which an inexperienced defensive unit might fall for, jump offsides, and USC would get a first with very little effort.

But, the fact his troops stayed in their positions had to be a comforting feeling to Rex Dockery, standing just a few yards away on the sidelines.

• • •

THERE WERE SEVERAL comforting areas for Dockery, in that 17-9 loss to Southern Cal. The poise in that situation has to be one of them. Many a more experienced line has jumped offsides, as the Trojans had both hoped for and expected.

No moral victory, Dockery said later. That wasn't what he wanted, or even expected at the half. There was surprise in the crowd of 50,000 at halftime. There was even a solid round of boos when, with three seconds left in the half, McDonald took a snap (at his 32) and simply fell to the turf rather than deliver a bomb threat. Maybe he was just being safe, since on the previous play, the Trojans had bobbled the football. But the fans didn't want this; they wanted the Trojans in front.

But, many of the bright spots for Dockery came on defense, an area where Tech showed the best.

• • •

AFTER THE GAME, USC coach John Robinson spoke of not being able to get in on four tries from inside the 5-yard line just one drive following that offsides experiment. Robinson remarked that later in the season, he might have considered going wide, to use the speed factor and the moves of tailback Charles White. But, he wanted to experiment a bit.

The experiment didn't work. Four stabs at the middle failed to reach the Raiders' belly. With Curtis Reed, Jamie Giles and Johnny Quinney playing key roles, it was never close on any attempt.

On one of the plays, Reed didn't make the tackle, but he shoved two Trojans back into the ball carrier, creating the situation for a teammate to make the tackle.

Dockery admitted after the game that the defense had played better, but he added that it was the more experienced of the two units.

But, in the second half, playing most of the time, the defenders became tired and USC went to speed outside. And no coach will debate the virtues of speed. Offensively, the Trojans displayed that speed and talent with their backs and wide receivers. Defensively, they overtook Tech receiver Godfrey Turner late in the first half when he caught a pass over the middle and had 21 guys behind him. "Then, here came those 4.4 guys," Turner remarked later.

• • •

IT WAS A CONTRAST of offenses. The Trojans, with two returnees in the backfield at fullback and tailback, fumbled nine times, and Tech had nary a bobble. And Tech combined a fullback (James Hadnot) who had been at the position only two weeks and a sophomore (Don Earl) without a down of varsity experience. It's assumed the Trojans weren't taking Tech too seriously, in their preparations, however.

Dockery had expressed concern about how freshman Maury Buford would react to a stadium filled with folks, and not the crowds of 5,000 or so which watched Mount Pleasant perform. But, Buford, standing at his goal in the first half, drilled one out 57 yards and finished with a 45.8-yard average.

There was a bit of inconsistency, in distance, but the overall performance proved that the freshman will be an asset.

Adding to the kicking game were the three field goals by Bill Adams, "And those weren't chip shots either," commented Dockery. "Everyone was just as true as could be."

Adams was not supposed to kick off, that chore assigned to freshman Ron Reeves. But, Reeves left his kicking shoe in Lubbock and could not obtain one on the coast, so Adams stepped up and opened with a shot to the end zone.

But, even with the efforts, Dockery came to work as usual Monday morning. His coaches — with Tech having an open date Saturday — scattered to their recruiting territories and the players took the day off. But, Dockery guzzled coffee, scribbled on a pad and worried and fretted about Arizona.

Even with the bright spots, Dockery saw areas for emphasis.

Can Muleshoe Overtake Littlefield To Win 3-AA?

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Will there be a change in royalty in District 3-AA?

Four years out of the last seven, coach Jerry Blakely has taken his Littlefield bunch to the playoffs as district champs. Last year it came down to a coin toss to decide between the Wildcats, Friona and the upstart Muleshoe Mules (who, by the way, had beaten Littlefield 18-7 in the regular season).

Tradition won. This year that might not be the case.

Muleshoe came up with a surprising 20-14 win over Portales, N.M. in its opener, while Littlefield ekes out an 18-14 squeaker over Frenship.

"We played pretty good," said Mule coach Mike Wartes, who, fittingly, is in his first year. "We've had some surprises this year and most of them happened on Friday night.

"Before they (Portales) came over we just kinda hoped that we could stay on the field with them. They think they've got the best bunch they've had in a long time over there.

"We played real well. We really matured a lot. You know, we only had three returning starters on offense and we got something like 350 yards total offense. I'm real happy about that," he said.

And well he might be. The Mules went into the game with no proven players at the skill positions and only two returning starters across the offensive line. But a couple of late scores made them the victors.

"I'm real happy about that," Wartes said again. "Our kids played so poised. We scored with a minute left in the half and with 28 seconds left in the game. In order to do that you've got to be playing with a little poise about you.

"Hopefully this will help boost us into next week with Floydada. That's one of the best football traditions in the state."

Quarterback Mike Northcutt was one of Wartes' more pleasing surprises. The senior had missed most of last year with an injury and because of illness, but he came on strong when he got the opening, throwing one scoring pass and running for two more, including the clincher.

"We knew he had a lot of natural talent, but he was unproven," Wartes said. Consider yourself proven Mike.

Also coming in for praise from the coach was the defense. "Our defense was experienced. We had seven starters coming back back there. But in the second half we only allowed them, I think, something like one first down and 11 yards total offense.

"You've got to be pleased when your defense does that."

Blakely, on the other hand, didn't have as much to be pleased about.

"We were very, very fortunate to win that game," he said. "We didn't play good enough to win. We couldn't get anything going. They took the football and it looked like they weren't going to let us play with it at all.

"We returned a kickoff for a touchdown and returned a punt for a touchdown. Without that we would not have been in the contest."

Inexperience is the problem in Littlefield.

"I think the biggest thing holding us back right now is of the seven people we line up on the offensive line of scrimmage, only one had ever snapped up one play of varsity football.

"I think we're going to get better. I know we're going to get better. I don't know how soon, but soon we'll be a good football team.

"I felt like Friday night was a great learning experience for our players. We grew up a great deal. Even though we were outmanned and whipped we never gave up and when we had a chance to win it, we did.

"When we finally had an opportunity to win the game we did score to go ahead and then our defense managed to hold Frenship for the last two or three possessions.

"We're very young," he continued. "When you realize we suited up three seniors, that will tell you how young we are.

"But we're going to be good. We do have some potential and some possibilities and I think we're going to get better."

In case it comes down to a coin toss again, Mule coach Wartes sends some flowers.

"I think Littlefield has probably got the best football tradition in the district," he said. "That's what we're trying to build here."

CHAMP AND CHUMP-That's what Friday night's heavyweight boxing match will decide. Both current champion Leon Spinks and dethroned king Muhammad Ali will be discussing who is which until the fight actually takes place. (AP Laserphoto).

Spinks Expects Ali To Pressure

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "Back off, back off ... I gotta breathe," Leon Spinks commanded newsmen crowding around him following a workout.

The writers backed off, which is something Spinks doesn't expect Muhammad Ali to do Friday night when Spinks defends the World Boxing Association heavyweight championship in the Superdome.

"I expect him to come stronger (apply pressure) than he did last time," Spinks said Monday. "He wants it back bad.

"I want to keep it just as bad."

Spinks has been under pressure ever since he won the title from Ali on a split decision last Feb. 15 in Las Vegas, Nev. It's the pressure of succeeding a legend and being constantly compared with Ali. Spinks has added to the pressure by having several scrapes with the police, mostly over traffic violations.

And now there is the added pressure of proving his victory was not a fluke. Many people feel it was and a visitor to this storybook river city gets the immediate impression that Ali is the champion and Spinks the challenger.

"It did bother me in a sense," Spinks said of people's reluctance to accept him as a champion. "But then I said to myself, 'Why let it bother me?' I don't want it to mess my head up."

Outwardly, the 25-year-old champion is calm — confident, not cocky. "There's no difference between this fight and the first one," said Spinks, whose first title defense will be just his eighth pro fight. "Except this time I'm trying to keep it, not get it."

So Spinks goes determinedly through workouts under the eyes of his trainers, forming a strategy to beat Ali while scoring a knockout for boxing over culture.

Painted on a rim above the balcony in the New Orleans Municipal Auditorium, where Spinks and Ali train, are the names of such giants in music, literature and philosophy as Mozart, Bach, Beethoven, Tolstoy, Chaucer, Schiller, Goethe and Confucius.

But when Leon Spinks takes over the stage to train, it's not what Confucius say, it's what George Benton and Sam Solomon say, and everything is done to the thundering accompaniment of rock music. As Spinks' fists pound the bags, bouncing off the walls are the sounds of such classics as "I Love You, Mary Jane," "I'm A Girl Watcher," and "Hey, I'm Gonna Gitcha."

The smart-money people like Ali's chances against Spinks. But Mozart has no shot at all.

O'Donnell Has 'Hosses' To Win

By BOB BAJACKSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

O'DONNELL—Most West Texas citizens are aware that the late Dan Blocker is the most famous person ever to have lived in O'Donnell.

Now, Coach Odis Summers is not trying to challenge Blocker to a popularity contest. But he would like to bring a little fame himself to O'Donnell. How? Like winning a district football title.

"You can't get ahead of yourself," said the Eagle mentor. "We're just going to take it one game at a time."

Summers' (not taking anybody for granted attitude) is based on experience.

"If you check the record, you'll see that the winner of our district (5A) has always done well in the playoffs," said Summers.

Last year, the Eagles posted a 5-4-1 overall record. O'Donnell was 1-3 in district play.

"We've got our program going in the right direction," said Summers. "This year we have more kids out for football since I've been here." O'Donnell has had 50 kids show up for workouts.

Summers is optimistic about the Eagles chances this season because of increased experience. O'Donnell only lost five lettermen. The Eagles have 16 lettermen returning.

"We have our entire offensive backfield, our ends and line returning on offense," said Summers. "The only spot on offense that lacks an experienced player is at center."

In fact, Summers believes three of his players have enough experience now to receive All-State consideration. They are halfback Jon McLaurin (148,Sr), guard Brent Sherrill (190, Sr) and tackle Jearld Moore (190, Jr).

Defensively, Summers feels his linebacking corps is the main strength of the unit.

O'Donnell has been trying to build over the past three years the ingredient that has made the other 5A teams successful —a tradition.

"I'm not trying to say that we don't have dedicated fans," said Summers, "because we do Tradition comprises both mental and physical character. Like from building a strong mental attitude to developing an off season weight program so our players can stay in shape both mentally and physically the year round."

Slowly, but surely, Summers seems to have been able to accomplish the task. In Summers' first season as head coach in 1975, O'Donnell finished with an 1-9 record. Two years ago, the Eagles concluded winless at 0-10, before last season's 5-4-1 finish.

FOLLOW THE LEADER — Eagle quarterback Mike Reao hands off to fullback Tony Acosta, who follows halfback Jon McLaurin through the hole during an O'Donnell workout. The Eagles finished 5-4-1 last season and opened this season with a 6-0 win over Wilson last Friday night. (Staff Photo)

Though Summers admits it takes a little luck to win district championships, the Eagle coach is added, "those schools that win make their own breaks."

Then Summers turned the attention to his own players: "If football to our players is important enough to their high school years to make some sacrifices, then we could have a very competitive club".

So, if O'Donnell reaches its climatic peak this season, then there is a chance that West Texas residents will talk about Summers and the Eagles in the same breath as Dan Blocker. Summers wouldn't mind being known as the coach who brought the 1978 5A district title to O'Donnell.

'New Kids On Block' Pull Upsets

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The new kids on District 4-AAAA's block all got off the right step during last week's season openers.

The old timers, it seems, were the ones with the woes.

Greg Sherwood of Plainview, Don Compton of Hereford and Jack Quarles of Coronado—all new to the 4-AAAA scene—came out smelling like a debutante after their teams opened with victories Friday evening.

Sherwood's Bulldogs thrashed Estacado 40-6, while Compton's Herd nipped Pampa 13-7. Meanwhile, Quarles guided the Mustangs to a narrow 9-6 victory over always-tough Wichita Falls High.

James Odom of Monterey and Lubbock High's Rusty Talbot, the only "old timers" left in the revamped loop, which saw three head bosses resign last year, both had their opening nights spoiled, in a way.

The Lubbock High group barely lost to Borger 14-6, while Canyon played Monterey to a 6-6 tie.

For Quarles, the victory was one made in heaven.

"Yeah, I was a little nervous," the Coronado boss admitted. "I wanted our club to do well. And they did."

The Mustangs had to rely on the three field goal performance of kicker Richard Davis, all from outside the 20, to escape the Red River Territory with the victory.

"I had confidence in him all along," said Quarles. "He's been kicking awfully well in practice."

But it wasn't Davis' field goals that drew all Quarles' praise. It seemed the defensive group, led by linebacker Randy Lusk, was in for a double helping of back slapping.

"We played very agressively on defense," he pointed out. "Our offense was a little slow, but we expected that this early in the year."But it was our super defensie that helped us win this one."

Except for the Coyotes lone TD, a 61-yard stroll by quarterback Carlos Morgan, Wichita Falls managed to cross the 50-yard line only twice against Coronado's D.

"Their touchdown came on a busted played," said Quarles. "And then we had at least six chances to catch him. If it hadn't been for that, we'd really played a fine defensive game, all right."

Also standing tall for Coronado were Dennis Pusser with six solo tackles and three assists. But it was Lusk, with eight unassisted jobs, that led the way for CHS.

Lightning Kills Football Coach

WHITMAN, Mass. (AP) — Lightning struck on a high school athletic field Monday as the football team was completing practice, killing a coach and injuring 18 youngsters, officials said.

"It was one sudden bolt.... It happened so fast," said Laura Haas, executive secretary to the superintendent of Whitman-Hanson Regional High School.

Assistant coach Dennis O'Brien, 29, of Whitman, was killed.

The injured students were taken to several hospitals, where officials said none appeared to be seriously hurt.

LCC Adds Women's Volleyball To Sports List

A new chapter in Lubbock Christian College's sports annals unfolds today as the women's volleyball team sees its first action ever.

The newly-formed team will travel to Portales for a 2 p.m. dual match against Eastern New Mexico and Panhandle State.

Larry Rogers coaches the 12-member Lady Chaparral squad.

Probable starters for today's match will be attacker Diane Fogarty at the No. 1 spot; setter Cheryl Skaggs at the No. 2 spot; alternate attacker Bridget Biggers at the No. 3 spot; attacker Janice Wilkey in the No. 4 spot; setter Era Estrada, a freshman from Lubbock High, in the No. 5 spot and alternate attacker Carol Mason in the No. 6 position.

Remaining team members include Christi Edinburg, Helen Ford, Lyn Miller, Linda Russell, Karen Kauffman and Sarah Watson.

Coach Rogers admits the weakest part of LCC's attack is in the area of ball handling. "We've worked sPeciiically on that area throughout most of our work hours," he pointed out.

"We could be strong in the alternate attack area and average on defense. But you've got to remember none of these young ladies have played together before and it takes some time to get inside each other's head and to play together.

"Granted, we've improved some since we've started working out, but we've still got a long way to go."

The Chaps, who have only six-footer, are "just average" in height, according to Rogers.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 12-Eastern New Mexico/Panhandle State at Portales; Sept. 16-West Texas/Abilene Christian/Hardin-Simmons at Abilene; Sept. 21-Hardin-Simmons; Sept. 22-McMurry at Abilene Sept. 29-Tarleton State Tournament at Stephenville.

Home Runs Lift Boston To 5-4 Win Over Orioles

By The Associated Press

Jim Rice clouted his 39th and 40th home runs of the season, the latter breaking a tie in the eighth inning Monday night, leading Boston to a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and giving the Red Sox a one-half game lead over the idle New York Yankees in the American League's East Division.

Rice smashed the first pitch of the eighth inning off Baltimore reliever Joe Kerrigan, 3-1, into the center field bleachers. That snapped a 4-4 tie and halted a skid that included a four-game humiliation by the Yankees last weekend.

It was, however, only Boston's third victory in 12 games.

Baltimore starter Jim Palmer had allowed solo home runs by Carl Yastzemski, Butch Hobson and Rice. Then Kerrigan gave up the fourth Boston run when Dwight Evans executed a squeeze bunt that scored Carlton Fisk in the sixth inning.

Bob Stanley, 14-2, won in relief of Luis Tiant, who lost a 4-1 lead in the Baltimore eighth.

The Orioles scored a run in the fifth on two hits and Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly. They tied it in the eighth on four consecutive hits.

Mark Belanger singled, Rich Dauer and Rick Dempsey hit doubles and Ken Singleton tied the game at 4-4 with a base hit off Stanley.

RANGERS 1, ANGELS 0

Ferguson Jenkins shackled California on three hits and moved into the top 10 on the all-time strikeout list night as the Texas Rangers scored a 1-0 victory over the Angels.

Jenkins' five strikouts raised his career total to 2,584, passing Bob Feller with 2,581 and Warren Spahn with 2,583 and placing him ninth on the all-time list.

Mike Hargrove's fifth-inning single scored Toby Harrah with the Texas run. Kurt Bevacqua singled off Paul Hartzell, 6-10, to open the inning but was forced on Harrah's attempted sacrifice. Harrah moved to second on Bump Wills' groundout before Hargove singled.

Jenkins, 15-8, retired the first nine men he faced before allowing back-to-back singles to Rick Miller and Carney Lansford in the fourth.

PHILLIES 10, PIRATES 3

The Philadelphia Phillies erupted for six runs in a fifth-inning bat-around, including a two-run homer by Bake McBride, to defeat Pittsburgh 10-3.

The victory boosted the Phillies' National League Esat margin to five games over the runner-up Pirates.

Steve Carlton, 14-12, gave up seven hits and three runs in the first three innings, then settled down. Rookie Don Robinson, 12-6, took the loss, snapping a personal seven-game winning streak.

The Phillies, who have won seven of their last eight, took a 1-0 lead in the first on a single by Garry Maddox — extending his hitting streak to 16 games — and Greg Luzinski's run-scoring double.

Pittsburgh coming off a three-game wipeout by the New York Mets and now in the throes of a five-game losing streak, tied it in the second on Dale Berra's fifth home run of the season.

In the third, Willie Stargell's 24th homer of the season, a two-runshot, gave the Pirates a 3-1 lead off the shaky Carlton.

ROYALS 7, A'S 2

Darrell Porter cracked two home runs and Amos Otis hit one, backing Marty Pattin's four-hit pitching as the Kansas City Royals rolled to a 7-2 victory over the Oakland A's.

The 35-year-old Pattin, making only his third start of the season, had a perfect game until the seventh when Mike Edwards led off with a single to left center.

The triumph, coupled with Texas' 1-0 victory over second-place California, increased the Royals' lead to 1½ games over the Angels in the American League West.

Pattin struck out two and walked none in boosting his record to 3-2. He lost his shutout in the eighth when the A's got consecutive singles from Mitchell Page, Dave Revering and Taylor Duncan for two runs.

INDIANS 6-1, BLUE JAYS 4-7

Former Indian Willie Horton drove in two runs and scored three more and Don Kirkwood pitched shutout ball for the final seven innings to give the Toronto Blue Jays a 7-1 victory over Cleveland and a split of their twi-night doubleheader.

In the opener, Gary Alexander's two-run homer in the fifth helped Rick Waits, 12-13, to a 6-4 triumph for his fifth straight victory.

REDS 9, ASTROS 8

Ken Griffey's two-run pinch-hit single in the ninth inning sparked the Cincinnati to a dramatic 9-8 victory over the Houston Astros.

Trailing 8-7, the Reds' winning rally started when Dan Driessen and George Foster walked off reliever Joaquin Andujar, 5-5. Johnny Bench sacrificed, then Griffey hit the first pitch from Astros reliever Dan Warthen for a single to short left field. Driessen scored easily, and Foster raced home ahead of left fielder Wilbur Howard's throw.

TWINS 3, WHITE SOX 1

Roy Smalley's two-run homer in the fifth inning powered Minnesota and Geoff Zahn to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Glenn Borgmann singled with one out in the fifth and Smalley followed with his 19th homer off Ken Kravec, 11-14.

CUBS 9, METS 4

Bobby Murcer smashed a three-run homer to help the Chicago Cubs down the New York Mets 9-4, keeping the third-place Cubs 6½ games behind first-place Philadelphia in the National League East.

Murcer, who has eight straight hits, collected two singles before hitting his home run in the sixth. He also walked twice. The league record for consecutive hits is 10, achieved four times.

Vikings Win Overtime Game

The victory was Minnesota's first of the season after an opening-game loss. Denver also is 1-1.

Danmeier, who spent 1977 on Minnesota's injured reserved list, hit from 24 yards in the first quarter, then connected from 44 and 21 yards in the third period, giving the Vikings a 9-0 lead.

A blocked punt by Denver's Lyle Alzado led to the game's only touchdown. A high snap from center delayed rookie Mike Wood's kick, which bounced off Alzado and was recovered by Barney Chavous at the 50-yard line.

Weese scrambled out of trouble and hit Riley Odoms with a 13-yard pass to the Minnesota 27. He connected with Rich Upchurch on a 12-yarder and Otis Armstrong then gained 21 yards on three carries to bring the ball down to the 1-yard line.

Jon Keyworth bulled over from the 1 for the touchdown with 6:40 remaining in the game, but Alan Page then blocked the conversion attempt by Jim Turner.

The Vikings took the second-half kickoff 44 yards to set up Danmeier's second field goal. Fran Tarkenton hit Sammy White with a pass, which bounced off the hands of runningback Rickey Young for a 13-yard gain to the Denver 34 to highlight the drive.

Minnesota cornerback Nate Wright intercepted a Morton pass intended for Haven Moses and returned it 28 yards to the Denver 27 midway through the third period. Two Denver penalties and short runs by Chuck Foreman and Young took the ball to the 1-yard line, but Foreman was stopped for no gain on the third down play and Danmeier booted a 21-yard field goal.

MHS Claims Second Win

BROWNFIELD (Special) — With Janice Rhea scoring 16 points on serves and spikes, Monterey volleyballers posted a 4-15, 15-7, 15-4 verdict over Brownfield Monday night.

Monterey girls, now 2-0 for the new season, will play hostess to Estacado tonight in both varsity and junior varsity contests.

In addition to Miss Rhea, Melva Namken scored on 95 percent of her setups.

Monterey won the JV contest 15-10, 13-15, 15-3.

Lubbock Nips Estacado Fems

Lubbock High scored the winning point with one second left in the third game after going to game point three times as it downed Estacado 14-16, 15-13 and 15-13 in an exciting girls volleyball match.

High scorer for the winners was Nora Fina with 12 points. She was followed by Melanie Brookes with 11. Joy Gayton led Estacado with 13.

Lubbock will be in action again at 11 Friday morning in the San Angelo tournament.

MONTEREY BOOSTERS MEET

The Monterey Boosters Club will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Films of last week's 6-6 tie with Canyon will be shown, and Plainsmen coaches will report on this week's opponent, Wichita Falls Rider.

The meeting is open to any person interested in MHS athletics.

EXPOS 3, CARDS 1

Left-hander Ross Grimsley pitched 7 1/3 perfect innings and finished with a three-hitter as the Montreal Expos snapped a four-game losing streak with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis.

George Hendrick's double to right-center broke up Grimsley's perfect game and was followed by an infield hit by Ken Reitz and a single by Keith Hernandez to produce the 3t. Louis run.

Dracula Clan Floods London With Fog, Fun

LONDON (UPI) — Wolves howled in Shaftesbury Avenue the other night, thunder crashed from a cloudless sky and the sound of bats fluttered over the box office as Dracula came back to his home town.

"The Passion of Dracula," a joyous load of ripe American corn, is the first of a flock of vampires flooding into defenseless London.

The Broadway "Dracula" arrives soon, there's a "musical extravaganza" on the Dracula theme just out of town, plus a new historical survey of "The Vampire" and a Yorkshire jet carver selling a nice line of Dracula jewelry in coal-black jet.

It seems the blood-drinking undead are coming home to roost. For this is where the Dracula clan began.

Count dracula was from Transylvania; historically he stems from a 15th century Balkan prince infamous not for drinking blood but for impaling his enemies on spikes. But Bram Stoker, the man who really made Dracula immortal, lived in London's Chelsea district when he wrote the book which started the whole Dracula industry.

Bram (for Abraham) Stoker was a character odd enough to step from one of his own seven novels.

As a child he was so crippled he didn't walk until he was seven. Yet at Dublin University he was an outstanding athlete and soccer player. He was a civil servant for 10 years, then abruptly latched onto the great actor Sir Henry Irving. For 27 years, until Irving's death, he was the actor's manager and right hand, even accompanying him on his American tours.

Stoker was 40 when "Dracula" appeared in 1897. He wrote only one other novel on the theme, "Dracula's Guests,"—which wasn't published until two years after his death in 1912. He never knew what he had started.

There have beem more than 50 Dracula movies, with another coming soon. Lord Laurence Olivier, no less, has been cast in a movie version of the Broadway "Dracula" which starts shooting here this fall.

Stoker didn't entirely invent Dracula. The vampire myth has been around since the ancient Greeks and in 1821 there were eight vampire plays running simultaneously in Paris. Stoker took the old legend of Vlad the Impaler and grafted the vampire theme onto it.

Playwrights Bob Hall and David Richmond have done something similar in "The Passion of Dracula." They've adapted Stoker's tale to stress every hoary cliche, larded with lines Queen Victoria herself might have found corny.

"She could have had me any time," declaims the stiff-upperlip British lord, bloody-handed after driving a wooden stake through the heart of his own true vampire love, "but she could not have England."

It's an evening of flapping bats, a professor with a funny accent, howling dogs and a pure but deranged heroine. Throats are ripped out, crosses and garlic flourished and every time doors fly open onto a crystal-clear night fog comes flooding in.

Off Broadway this was small-scale hokum. Here all the stops are out: topflight director Clifford Williams, a cast of Royal Shakespeare Company and National Theater actors, an amazing set and Broadway's George Chakiris as the count in swirling velvet capes and fangs for the memory.

They play the ridiculous melobrama as straight as a Shakespeare tragedy, and the result is funnier than any sendup would be. If the rest of the Draculmania is as pleasant as this, London has little to fear.

Administration Seeks Rhodesian Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration still hopes to arrange an all-parties conference on Rhodesia, the State Department said Monday, despite guerilla leader Joshua Nkomo's declaration that the idea is "dead and buried."

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the United States does not regard its initiative with Great Britain as finished. "We believe our efforts must continue."

Carter declined comment on white Prime Minister Ian Smith's declaration of martial law on Sunday, saying Smith's statement was too vague about the details of the martial rule.

Carter said the department was encouraged that Smith did not rule out the possibility of going to an all-parties conference or of holding separate talks with Nkomo, as he did secretly last month.

Privately, administration officials conceded that events of the last two weeks have at least temporarily destroyed the chances of getting the various feuding factions to sit down and arrange a peaceful settlement to the expanding war.

But they said they hoped that new circumstances might arise that would once again make the conference a possibility.

One event was the shooting down of a Rhodesian airliner by guerilla troops. Survivors of the crash said guerillas subsequently killed some of the passengers, a claim the guerillas deny. The incident has hardened white anger at the guerillas.

Another was the revelation of Smith's meeting with Nkomo, a meeting that indicated he may be ready to abandon his black "partners" in transitional government in Salisbury and make a deal with Nkomo.

The leading black member of the transitional government, the Rev. Abel Muzorewa, has been resisting the idea of an all-parties conference that would include guerilla leaders Nkomo and Robert Mugabe.

Nkomo and Mugabe have branded the transitional government and the constitution that goes with it as a sell-out to the white minority.

Anne Bancroft's permanent numbers are 49, 61, 45

Step 1 — Year of birth. Read down the left hand column to find the last number in the year of your birth then go across to the appropriate decade. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B; this will be used for Step 2.

Step 3 — Day of birth. Enter your day of birth three times in the figure chart, once each for Physical (P), Emotional (E) and Intellectual (I).

Add the three columns to derive your permanent biorhythm numbers for your Physical, Emotional and Intellectual cycles. Now you can refer to today's biorhythm readings.
