SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - All Terry Sundkvist wanted was his $50 cleaning deposit re-funded. Now he "owns" the $1.5 million apartment complex where he once lived.

Using his knowledge of small claims court and a corporation's unwitting cooperation, Sundkvist was able to pay $449.31 at a county marshal's auction and receive a certificate of sale for the 95unit Laura Dawn Manor.

The former owners, Sacland Investors, are trying to settle with Sundkvist so they can sell the complex. Sundkvist, now an attorney in Portland, Ore., says he has refused an offer of $10,000.

The firm also is disputing his claim in Sacramento Superior Court, calling the acquisition an "extraordinary windfall."

It all began in 1973, when the then 23-year-old McGeorge Law School student and his wife moved from their apartment.

Sundkvist says that when the manager said the cleaning deposit would not be returned although the apartment had been left clean, he wrote to the firm's legal agent, Patricia Lapan of San vaguely remembers instructing the manager that Sundkvist was not entitled to a refund. On March 13, 1975, Sundkvist filed suit in small claims court, seeking $50 plus costs and $200 in punitive damages.

Mrs. Lapan was served with a summons May 4, 1976, but she ignored it, and on June 1, 1976, a default judgment of $312 was awarded to Sundkvist.

When he could not get Sacland to pay the judgment, Sundkvist requested that the county mar-shal's office auction off the complex to meet the

The sale was scheduled for Sept. 17, 1976, at the county courthouse and notices were sent to the parties involved. Only Sundkvist showed up and he was advised by marshals to bid for the property at $449.31, the amount of his judgment plus marshal's fees and interest. He got a certificate of sale of real estate.

Sacland had a year to pay the judgment and re-deem title to the property, but the notice of the marshal's sale was returned unopened.

But Sacland took notice in August 1977, when it attempted to sell the property for $1.5 million and a title search turned up Sundkvist's claim.

U.S. Inflation

Although August's increase in the Consumer Price Index was slightly higher than the 0.5 percent climb in July, it equalled the second lowest advance of 1978. Prices had soared 0.9 percent between April and June before tapering off

Since January, the Labor Deha-partment said, consumer prices have ris-en at a 9.5 percent annual rate, considerably above the administration's year-end target of about 8 percent.

In the period January through June, prices had climbed at an annual rate of more than 10 percent. But the moderation of inflation during July and August has pushed the annual rate to below 10

The Labor Department's index that measures food and beverages prices advanced only 0.2 percent and the cost of food purchased in groceries was un-changed from July. Fresh vegetable prices dropped sharply, beef fell for the second straight month and poultry prices declined for the first time in 1978.

The somewhat encouraging inflation news, however, was offset by a separate Labor Department report which showed that the average American's buying power fell 0.6 percent last month and was down 2.5 percent from August, 1977.

The government said its price index for all urban consumers, which includes about 80 percent of the population and is stood at 197.8. That means goods nd services that cost $100 in 1967 were priced at $197.80 last month.

The Labor Department said that the stable food price performance was mainly responsible for the overall moderate increase of 0.6 percent.

Other sectors - such as housing, clothing, and transportation —turned in about the same performances as in July. However, medical costs soared 0.9 percent, the largest gain of the year.

In the food sector, the department said fresh vegetable prices fell 6.7 percent.

and bakery products.

Charges for medical care services rose 0.9 percent in August, about twice the rate of increases in the past. Charges for hospital rooms rose 1.5 percent, dental services went up 1 percent and doctors fees advanced 0.8 percent.

Both the clothing and entertain dexes went up 0.5 percent.

The housing index rose 0.7 percent, the second smallest of the year. The department said bome purchase costs were smaller in August than in recent months, but mortgage interest rates, property tax-es and prices of home maintenance and repair rose sharply.

Charges of electricity declined slightly for the second straight month, but charges for natural gas rose 1.4 percent twice the rates of June and July, the declined in the second straight month. partment said.

Bakke Attends Class

Outside, protesters chanted and picketed. Inside, students reported later, Bakke got a friendly greeting from his 100 classmates, who include 20 minority students.

Bakke had little to say when he arrived, telling reporters only: "I'm very happy to be here." Asked later how his first molecular and cellular biology class went, he replied:

A civil engineer from Sunnyvale, Bakke applied for admission to the school in 1973 and 1974 but was rejected. He filed suit charging discrimination because the school reserved 16 places in each class of 100 for disadvantaged minorities, many of whom had lower test scores than Bakke.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in June that Bakke should be admitted. The court said race could be used as one of many criteria in admissions, as long as no numerical quota is set for minorities.

Brown Doubtful About 1980

"Kennedy is very strong and Carter is getting strong himself," Brown said. Of his own chances, he said: "I don't know. It looks very remote."

New CB Radio Devices Threaten U.S. Security

WASHINGTON (AP) - A government intelligence agency says four inventors can't sell their new CB radio device because it's a threat to national security. Such a threat, in fact, the inventors can't talk about it, and the agency won't say what's so secret.

The inventors say they took special care to stay away from touchy security areas when they designed a device to protect CB radio conversations from eavesdroppers. And Sen. Warren Magnuson says they're not being treated fairly.

"The inventors have not been given an opportunity to refute the government's decision or even to learn the basis for that decision," the Washington Democrat said in a letter to Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps.

The inventors are trying to reverse a secrecy order issued by Mrs. Kreps' department at the request of the National Security Agency. Unless they succeed in overturning the order, they will be barred from selling their device or licensing others to do so. The invention uses an unrevealed tech-

Once Patten's hearing is completed, all four members will have had the chance to publicly defend themselves against the allegations filed against them by the com-

German Overseas Sales Beat U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - West Germany's sales abroad have for the first time topped United States' exports and likely will sty ahead the rest of the year, U.S. News World Report said Monday.

The news magazine, quoting figures compiled by Frankfurt's Commerzbank, said German exports in the first half of 1978 reached $67.1 billion dollars, slightly ahead of the $66.9 billion credited to the United States. Part of the edge reflects the continuing upward valuation of the German mark, which tends to boost the weight of German shipments in dollar terms, the magazine said.

'Nonetheless, one economic institute in Cologne is now estimating that Germany's share in world markets for all of 1978 will reach 10.8 percent, beating out the U.S wih 10.5 percent. Next: Japan, with a 7.5 percent slice of the export pie," the magazine said.

It also has accused him of unbecoming conduct because of his acceptance from Park of the $3,000 and his earlier acceptance of a $1,000 gift and a silver tea set valued at $500.

WHILE THE Mideast Peace conference has been in the headlines of late, the Big Worry in most persons' minds is still on the domestic front.

In the latest nationwide survey, Inflation came up as the major problem among 21 current headaches facing the nation.

Considering that most citizens have a daily reminder of what the cost of living is doing to their weekly paychecks, this should come as no surprise.

When handed that list of "things which need to done," a whopping 69 percent of the citizens say that "getting inflation under control" comes first.

And as an indication that perhaps the electotate is becoming more sophisticated in what causes the ailment, 31 percent say that 'keeping federal government spending under control" ranks second in their worries.

CLOSE BEHIND is another cost of living factor, 28 percent citing soaring health costs as the next headache on their list.

Fairly high comes "reforming welfare," and farther down "controlling air and water pollution.

What all this says is that the vast majority of American citizens are now sufficiently alarmed about what is happening on the economic front to start seeking some of the

Whether this can be translated into meaningful results at the polls-such as election of those candidates espousing conservative approaches to governmental fiscal policies —remains to be seen.

UNFORTUNATELY, if the past is any indication, many voters talk about holding down the cost of living then go out and support candidates and policies which feed in-

Until the average voter realizes that he, or she, in voting for those who promise "something for nothing" is really reaching into his or her pocketbook to pay for it all, then Inflation and federal spending will continue to be top worries.

Even the minorities, special interest groups and other blocs sooner or later will pay dearly, because in the final analysis when it all comes to a screeching halt, it is they who will suffer the most.

Inflation is everyone's enemy. And it is going to take everyone to do something about it.

What'd We Do Without Sam?

WASHINGTON-Let me reminisce for a moment, if I may, about how things were 30-odd years ago, because it ties in with how things are in Washington today and it all leads up to a rhetorical question: How did we ever get along without Sam?

Sam is Sam Brown, the one-time hot-eyed radical activist who cooled off a bit, became state treasurer of Colorado, and landed in the Carter administration as director of ACTION, the dogood outfit.

Congress is about to give Sam three lovely little new bureaucracies. The prospect takes me back, it truly does, to a time before Sam Brown was came to Richmond, Va., as a cub reporter for the News Leader in the spring of 1941.

Before long, I inherited what was known as the Main Street beat, a collection of banks, brokerage houses, miscellaneous federal agencies, the post office, the federal courts-and the Community

It was an experience worth remembering.

THE COMMUNITY Chest was housed in an old building down around Seventh and Main, with a rickety open ironwork elevator that ground majestically up and down. The offices were shabby, but they radiated a kind of joy.

Except for a small paid staff, volunteers ran everything. Richmond was still a totally segregated city, but the Chest offices provided a cheerful exception. Blacks and whites worked together and together they got things done.

This was a totally voluntary operation. There was nothing institutional about it. No tax funds ever were involved anywhere. The people of Richmond, through their Community Chest, looked after the people of Richmond.

WELL, THE WORLD spins around. This month, Congress will vote to establish three new programs, under the spreading wings of ACTION. These are the Urban Volunteer Corps, the Good Neighbor Fund and the Urban Crime Prevention

These are three little bureaucratic seeds. Given a year or so to get their roots established, they will grow like crabgrass and pokeweed. This is how Sam Brown explains it: "The Urban Volunteer Corps would mobilize professionals to share their managerial and technical services on a part-time basis with fledgling ommunity associations...

"The Good Neighbor Fund would bring seed noney, quickly and without the usual bureaucratic red tape, to local non-profit groups that are seeking to start a food co-op for the poor or a mobile health clinic for the aged... "The Urban Crime Prevention Program would seek to involve everyone in the community in re-

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Tenure Loving Care

NOW THAT HE has everybody's attention, Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton might want to modify and strengthen his attack on lifetime job guarantees for college faculty members.

Clayton has adopted as his own a suggestion -long floating about in higher education circles -that tenure be abolished in favor of a system of renewable term contracts.

Under such a plan, faculty members who already have tenure rights would keep them. Faculty members hired in the future, though, would get a 5-year or a 10-year contract after a probationary period but no lifetime job guarantee. A staff report prepared for Clayton argues that college and university professors under contracts will work harder at doing a better job than do those under a tenure system. Well, now, let's take a closer look at that prem-

FACULTY TENURE policies were instituted as a way to protect professors whose views might become unpopular with the powers that be.

A typical tenure policy also pays lip service to each professor's responsibilities to good teaching. to students, to the institution, to research, to society and to a jolly old etc.

It also provides for a way to dismiss a faculty member who fails to live up to his responsibili-

In practice, however, it is as rare as a September snow in Texas to hear about a faculty member losing his job for not doing it.

This has given rise to a widespread belief, not without supporting evidence, that tenure is a haven for the lazy or borderline teacher who "quits trying and quits growing" the moment he's made it to full professor with lifetime job security.

THE CHALLENGE, then, is to find a way to periodically evaluate tenured faculty members. This is a job, parenthetically, that the Legislature should encourage but which it should leave to Boards of Regents, which in turn need to leave it to administrations.

Clayton seeks to force a periodic review of each faculty member's performance by giving him a term contract. At the end of the term, the contract could be renewed or-in theory-not re-

The "catch" is that, the way the courts have been ruling, it'd be impossible to refuse to renew a professor's contract without having a good reason. That's as it should be, but what then has a term contract accomplished? In essence, you still have a tenure system under another name. The only change is that you have forced the professor's superiors to at least go through the motions of evaluating him.

THAT BEING THE case, the main value of Clayton's suggestion may be in the shock effect it. has on the academic community.

As for a lasting solution, though, periodic-and meaningful-evaluation of tenured faculty members could be accomplished without abolishing the tenure system per se. A study into how this might be accomplished is underway right now, involving at least one major university in Texas and several in other states.

One immediate advantage would be that evaluations would include currently tenured faculty members, not just those who in the future would be put under term contracts if Clayton's plan were implemented.

If a tenured faculty member were found to be lacking in effort or performance, he could be given a year to shape up and then be evaluated

Then, if the Legislature will back up the regents and administrators by letting them give merit pay raises-instead of across-the-board salary increases-the better professors can be rewarded and the poorer ones can be shown how to improve or find another line of work.

IF SPEAKER CLAYTON is serious about giving the taxpayers more for their higher education dollar, giving the students a better education and giving faculty members an incentive to do a better job, he should consider this alternative.

"There should be some method of making it (tenure) work better, of bringing to task those who don't perform well," Kenneth Ashworth, Texas commissioner of higher education, asserts. He is right. The academic community merely needs to be required to find that "some method." Maybe Clayton's interest, properly focused, will be just what's needed to get action.

Repayment Graduates After Student Does

A NEW PHENOMENON has emerged during the 1970s as the costs of graduate and professional schools have skyrocketed and federal support for graduate fellowships and grants has dwindled: the borrowing student who finds repaying grams so tough in the first years after graduation that default becomes the only way out. Borrowing by students to finance college and graduate school expenses is now approaching a huge $2 billion a year-with half of 70,000 graduate students recently surveyed reporting that they were relying on loans to finance some portion of educational expenses running as high as $15,000 his or her loans under existing federal loan pro-

Repayment schedules, the students also reported, run as high as 15 to 25 percent of their takehome salaries during their first year out of school —a hardship that has forced many of them to de-fault on payments, despite their basic integrity.

WHAT ARE THE yardsticks against which to measure the ability of a consumer student to repay loans?

Young students can make repayments on educational loans of only about 6.5 percent of their average after-tax incomes and still have adequate funds for essential purchases, a new study by the Educational Testing Service (ETS) of Princeton,

The 6.5 percent is a shocker against today's steep 15-25 percent repayment demands. The solution, then?

The adoption of a Graduated Repayment Option (GRO) plan, which the ETS suggests, would permit you, a student, to repay your loan over 15 years and would tie loans to a sliding repayment

INSTEAD OF paying back your loans in equal monthly installments (today's practice), your repayments would grow each year, along with your ncomes and your capacity to repay. (1) A sliding repayment schedule, such as the GRO, with lower payments during the lower in-come years, would be much more manageable for a heavily indebted student borrower than today's system.

By making initial payments more bearable, there would be less likelihood of student default.

(2) IF YOU, A graduate student, were allowed to repay your loans over a 15-year rather than 10year period (the current payback span for many federal loans), your upper loan limit could be

If the GRO were available, a graduate or professional student could borrow between $16,000 and $19,000 today and still be facing only a comfortable load of repayments.
At 7 percent interest on a $19,000 loan, your initial payments would be only $98 a month (6.5 percent of after-tax income). When five years into your repayments, your monthly payment would have risen to $139; by the 15th year, $328 per month.

(3) BY RECOGNIZING that students entering different careers (law, medicine, engineering) will have varying projected incomes, and thus a varying capacity to repay loans, more realistic borrowing limits that a student truly can "afford" could be established. For instance, a typical medical student today can "afford an equal monthly installment loan of only $7,500, because of low earnings during internship and residency. With the GRO and 15 years to repay, the student could "afford" a 7 percent loan of $25,000 to Graduated Repayment Options are not as administratively complex as many institutions (rely repayment plans) think Also, the reluctance of the institutions is not responsive to the reality of the needs of the students. There is relatively little federal aid for the graduate or professional student

BUT, AS Dwight H. Horch, ETS director of College and University Programs, and author of the ETS study, emphasizes:

"With the cost of a graduate education always increasing, many graduate students have no other options but to take loans.

"If the laws were changed to lengthen the repayment period for student loans to 15 years and to establish separate loan maximums for students in selected professional programs (and if GRO plans were made available), then students could get the maximum loans possible at manageable

EPA To Study Methods To Slow Farmland Loss

measures are being put into effect to help slow the loss of prime farmland to urban development and other non-agricultural

The Environmental Protection Agency said Monday it will look over its own regulations and programs to see if it can reduce what the agency called the "disturbing rate"of loss inflicted on the nation's most productive farmland.

EPA administrator Douglas M. Costle said roughly 31 million acres of produc-tive farmland have been lost to development or other uses in the last decade.

"The causes of this agricultural vanishing act are many," he said. "They include private development of new homes and shopping centers, higher costs for farm

"But some of the responsibility lies with the federal government."

Farmers now are cultivating about 400 million acres of cropland, down from 431 million in 1967, Costle said.

can earn from cultivating." At the same time, he said, developers "often are pressuring the owner to sell." And many owners do because of financial difficulties.

Costle said EPA's agricultural landprotection policy will require employees of the agency to:

- "Support state and local farmland protection efforts and strengthen technical assistance to state and local governments for the protection of agricultural

- "Consider in agency enforcement actions the local significance and economic value of farmlands to communities.

- "Encourage regional water quality management and solid waste disposal plans that safeguard fertile soils. - "Identify additional areas for research on the environmental roles of farmland.

- "Increase public awareness of the environmental value of agricultural

Costle said EPA influences farmland in a number of ways including "decisions on the location of sewage treatment plants" and related facilities, rulings on where new sources of pollution may build up and financial assistance to local governments to plan wastewater treat-

"The practical effect of the new policy will be to limit the adverse impacts our programs may have on farmland," he said in a statement. "EPA does not want to subsidize the creation of additional environmental problems which require additional funding to resolve."

Thus, Costle said, EPA regional heads and program chiefs have been ordered "to consider during their rulings and decisions whether they are having a good or bad effect on farmland loss. Where the effects are negative...we will consider other courses of action if possible."

Kent Hance Cites Need

By CERTIS BURTON

"The man who replaces retiring George Mahon from the 19th Congressional District must be a man who is effective and knows agriculture," Democratic candidate Kent Hance told a group of Lubbock County farmers. Monday night.

"I grew up on a farm. I was active in 4in office when I'm in Washington, I'll fight such a policy because it is detrimental to the agriculture program, the farmer and every American consumer, Hance "I grew up on a farm. I was active in 4-H. I now own a farm. I know the problems in agriculture. And I can be effective," the Lubbock attorney said.

Hance, who will tace Republican George Bush in November, spoke to approximately 40 members of the Lubbock Agriculture Club at the Precinct One Clubbous.

Abilene Police

A 46-year-old Abilene man was held for questioning today in the abduction of that woman at gunpoint from her office. Police said the gunman, a former resident of New Hampshire, gave himself up Monday after talking by telephone to a police chief in Derry, N.H., and in person to a local Roman Catholic priest.

Police said the hostage, a former girlf-riend of the gunman's, was abducted from her office Monday morning and taken to the motel.

He said that large multi-national corpo-rations are looking for new areas of en-deavor, and they are looking at farms Clubhouse.

"An effective representative is needed," said Hance, "because only 85 of the 435 Congressmen in Washington actually represent rural and agriculture areas,"

Hance, hitting on issues, said the Farm Bloc today is a minority bloc, "and yet agriculture is the number one industry America has going for it."

The state senator from the 28th district said the number one issue facing farmers

"If you have depressed prices and high inflation," said Hance, "over the next five years you are going to see a situation where you may wake up and find 70 percent of the farms in this country owned by love occurrents.

cent of the farms in this country owned by large corporations.

"And that is the time the American consumer would really take it on the chin because it would be extremely easy for a few people to organize and have extremely high prices," he added.

Hance's solution to solve low prices is to (I) decrease acreage, (2) increase loan rates, and (3) expand exports with prices. Hance hit hard at the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OS-HA) which is proposing strenuous dust level standards for gin operations.

If ginners are forced to comply with the standards, he said, they will be forced to pay the high cost of new machinery, resulting in even higher costs of cotton production.

ABILENE (AP) — Hearing a gunshot inside, police rammed a motel door with their rifle butts. But the gunman, who had fired into the ceiling, opened the door and surrendered without a struggle. A woman held hostage in the motel for several hours was released unharmed.

Hance noted that the upcoming Nov-mber election will determine a new rep-esentative for the district for the first

Gun-Wielding Bandit Robs Lubbock Food Store

A mustachioed Mexican-American entered the Town and Country Food Store at 2025 Clovis Road about 2:45 a.m. today and robbed it of between $50 and $75, according to police.

Assistant store manager Don Ray Kennedy said the man first entered the store and bought cigarettes, then left.

Several minutes later, he said, the suspect returned, this time wielding a long-barrel, blue-steel revolver and demanding money from the cash register.

Kennedy said he complied with the bandit's demand, and the suspect left the store on foot. But before leaving, the suspect reportedly warned the employee not to call police, because "I would hate to shoot you.

Police this morning were looking for a man of medium build about 25 years old. He was last seen wearing a brown coat and blue pants.

In other matters, a 16-year-old girl told police Monday night she was raped Sept. 17 by her boss at a fast-food restaurant. The teen-ager said she did not report the 2100-block of E. 30th Street. assault earlier because she was afraid of what might happen to her.

The victim's mother, who also did not know of the alleged rape until Monday, said she called police after becoming suspicious when her daughter refused to go to work Monday.

The girl said she had gone to work about 7 a.m. that Sunday, along with her boss. The suspect, described as a 24-yearold Mexican-American, allegedly locked the doors of the restaurant, ordered the girl into a back room and raped her.

The victim said that after the assault, her boss ordered her to go and get him some breakfast. She said he had made advances toward her in the past. A reported shooting Monday afternoon of 2204 E. 29th St., had still not been located by early today, according to police.

Police arrested a 16-year-old boy about 3 a.m. today in the 2300-block of 5th Street after witnesses reported they saw the teen-ager looking through bedroom windows, attempting to break into an apartment and taping obscene notes on the front door of a nearby residence.

In one of several reported burglaries, James Robert Ashley of Spur said his car was burglarized while it was parked in the 900-block of E. Parkway Drive Monday afternoon and two rifles, a pistol and ammunition was stolen. He reported the loss at about $730.

Mae Pearl Johnson of 2925 E. Bates St. said $746 in household goods, stereo equipment, a shotgun and $100 cash were taken when her home was burglarized between 6:25 a.m. and 6:35 p.m. Monday. Police were investigating $625 in tools and a tape player reportedly stolen Moners' residence at 408 45th St., No. A.

Reports show $400 in cash was apparently found by a burglar Monday in a bedroom at June Pinkston's 2705 56th St.

Police late Monday were looking for two men who robbed a 34th Street radio supply shop of $143, shortly after 10 a.m.

Joe Hart, manager of the Radio Shack at 1918 34th St., told police the men entered the store soon after he opened. One of the suspects flashed a .22 caliber pistol and told him, "Just hold it right there, give me the money.

Hart said the men then took him to a back storeroom where they tied him loosely with cord and told him not to get up until he was told to.

After taking the loot, police say, the suspects fled the store on foot, leaving behind a van parked behind the shop.

The late-model van, according to police, had been reported stolen from a LubDarla Fisher, a secretary for Globe Life and Accident Insurance located next to Radio Shack, said the suspects came into her office shortly after 10 a.m. and asked when Hart opens the shop.

Mrs. Fisher said one of the suspects, a tall black man with a bushy Afro, possi-bly a wig, came in and asked her, "What time does Radio Shack open?" She said she told the man about 10 a.m. and he replied, "Well, I guess I'll just have to Several minutes later, Mrs. Fisher said, Hart came into the insurance office and said, "Hi, I just got held up. Can I wait here until the police come?"

Hart described the two men as black and in their early 20s. He said one of the suspects was a tall, heavy man with an

By EDWARD R. RICCIUTI

Every parent should remember that the plants which are edible under some conditions and menacing under others are not restricted to those picked by people out in the boondocks.

Some of the vegetables and fruits served everyday in our kitchens and grown commonly in our gardens can be extremely poisonous.

Bear in mind, for instance, that tomato and potato belong to the same family as the deadly nightshade, mandrake and datura favored by witches and poison-

Eating the wrong parts of tomatoes and potatoes can have results as grim as those caused by the consumption of their more notorious relatives. Poisonous alkaloids in the vines, leaves and sprouts of these two food plants can cause serious stomach illness and even heart failure.

Even such fruits as apples, apricots, peaches, plums and cherries can be dangerous - but only if one eats considerable quantities of their pits. They contain hydrocyanic or prussic acid, otherwise known as cyanide.

At least one man is known to have been fatally poisoned from eating a heap of apple seeds. The kernels of apricot pits are a popular tidbit in some parts of the country, and occasionally people who eat them are poisoned.

The kernels of apricot pits are the source of the glycoside Laetrile, claimed by its backers not only to cure cancer but also to prevent the disease. ce the repute of Laetrile has grown, apricot-pit preparations have appeared on the shelves of many health-food stores. Some of the preparations are in tablet form, while others are the kernels overdose of Laetrile tablets themselves can cause cyanide poisoning, as shown by a case reported in the Aug. 8, 1977, issue of the Journal of the Ameri-can Medical Association.

Between one and five Laetrile tablets were accidentally swallowed by an 11-ear-old girl whose cancer-stricken fath-r kept the tablets mixed with vitamins a bottle. Within a half hour after she came listless and vomited. When the youngster experienced difficulty breath ciousness, she was taken by her mother teas and almost 200 herbs are blended ly to save the girl, but 72 hours after

Lost Traveler Visits Bangor

BANGOR, Maine (AP) - Erwin Kreuz, the West German brewery worker who left his heart in Bangor while trying to find San Francisco, is back in town. This time, however, townsfolk are making sure he doesn't get lost. The affable, ruddy-faced Kreuz flew in Monday night and celebrated his second visit by downing a beer. The 50-year-old bachelor speaks no English but said through an interpreter at the airport he was overjoyed to be back in his "hometown."

Last October, Kreuz mistakenly got off a chartered flight to San Francisco during a stopover in Bangor. He spent three days wandering around Bangor before he realized he was not in California.

When his dilemma became public, Kreuz turned into an instant celebrity. He eventually made his trip to San Francisco, courtesy of the San Francisco Examiner, but admitted he preferred Ban-

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL-Tuesday Evening, September 26, 1978-Hill Favors Tax Freeze

State Spending Limits

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Texas should set an example for the federal government in the fight against inflation through a freeze on state taxes, inflation through a freeze on state taxes, a state spending limitation and the return of budget surpluses to taxpayers, Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Hill said here Monday.

Hill, in Lubbock on the last leg of a six-day, 22-city, campaign kickoff tour, announced his six-part anti-inflation program saying, "government at all levels should take the lead in holding down the cost of living."

The attorney general piedged to veto any state tax bill and to tightly manage the state budget "to cull our low priority programs and have more available funds for our public school problems so that we can cut down on property taxes."

"If we do this, we're going to be able

"If we do this, we're going to be able to live within our means and can return some of our surplus every two years in the form of tax relief," he said.

Hill said the state spending limitation would be accomplished if the proposed "tax relief" amendment passed by the special session of the legislature is approved by voters on Nov. 7.

Other elements of Hill's fight against inflation include:

- Tax relief for elderly, and all other homeowners. Hill specifically supported the proposed amendment's provision of a $5,000 homestead exemption for all homeowners and an additional $5,000 exemption for elderly homeowners.

-Utility bill rate relief. Hill said utility bill increases should be "minir by a closer review of rates by the state Public Utility Commission" and by op-position to increases in railroad coal hauling rates charged to power plants and passed along to consumers.

If his anti-inflation plan is followed, Hill said Texas "will have high credibility and can show the way to lead Wash-ington to pass a constitutional amend-ment and get the national government on a pay-as-you-go, deficit-free pattern.

"Then we can really say we in govern-ment are doing our part to control inflation," he said.

tion," he said.

Queried about a plank in the state Democratic Party platform supporting the right of public employees to organize and bargain collectively, Hill expressed his unwavering opposition to the plank.
"I simply do not support collective bargaining for public employees," he said. "I don't think we need it."
Hill said collective bargaining by publi-

He accused Republican opponent Bill

He accused Republican opponent Bill Clements of taking the "meat ax approach" in his suggestion that 25,000 state employees ought to be eliminated. Rather, Hill said he plans to "insist on productivity in state government from all employees. When they give it, there we should give fair compensation," he said. "When they don't give it, they should be dismissed."

Hill said he is reserving judgement on President Carter's proposed solution to the problem of illegal aliens, which Clements has severely criticized

"I appreciate the national adm tion addressing this problem since it is a national problem," he said. "I'm willing to give them a chance to see how those programs work."

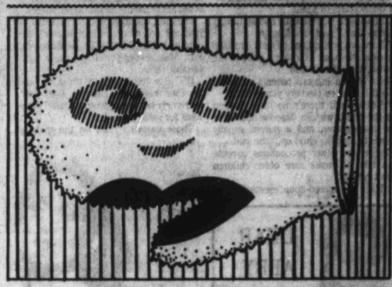

The Globe announced that Greenway, 43, will supervise its New York and Washington bureaus and all overseas and national reporting.

Hill did say he is "disappointed we've not made more progress" on finding a solution to the problem and said he is "hopeful" Congress will begin work in earnest on it after their recess.

"I'll wait until early in my administration to see how things are coming along," Hill said. "If I'm satisfied they're making progress and working towards a sensible solution we can all live with, I'll support it."

But if the progress is not satisfactory and "if I feel they're totally failing. I'll address it as a state issue. At that point I'll outline the way I think Texas can address it as a state issue," he said.

Also Monday Hill defended his selection of Houston businessman Billy Goldberg as state Democratic chairman against Republican charges Goldberg is

The excitement of that first Ferris wheel ride fades quickly for the two-yearold who suddenly finds himself in an ocean of adults with no sign of his mother. Fortunately, the Lost Children's Division of the South Plains Fair can come to

Each year children wander away from parents and find themselves lost, with no place to turn, explained Mrs. Karen Martin, R.N., director of the first aid and lost children's booth at the fair.

With the help of local Camp Fire Girls, lost children are entertained and cared for until their parents can be notified on the loud speaker.

Policemen, firemen and other volunteers are continually on the lookout for any child under 12 years of age who doesn't seem to know quite where he's going, according to Mrs. Martin.

Usually a lost child is brought to the station by volunteers, before the child ever really starts to panic.

'Most of the kids usually end up having a good time," said Mrs. Martin.

There are precautions parents can take to avoid the panic of losing a child in the crowd, Mrs. Martin said.

Mrs. Martin suggests parents put some identification on the very young child.

"But even if there's no identification on the child, we can describe him over the loudspeaker, and a parent usually comes to pick the child up," she said.

There are other precautions parents can take to make sure older children don't get lost.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I work at a motel, and I hear complaints daily about the high cost

Following is a partial explanation for the benefit of the innocent, who are unfairly penalized, and guilty, who go un-punished. I speak on behalf of all motel and hotel owners who have no choice but to increase their rates.

I am convinced that honesty has become as out-dated as high button shoes and buggy whips.

Our motel has 170 rooms. When a guest checks out, it's not unusual for the room to be partially or wholly stripped of all towels, wash cloths, toilet tissue, Kleenex, light bulbs, and even bed spreads, sheets, pillows and cases!

On the average, we lose $2 per room per rental. This does not include the cost n time, labor and paper work to replace the stolen items.

Perhaps if the public were informed of these facts, they might think twice before collecting souvenirs and household supplies. If not, the next time they visit our fair city, they can expect the rates to be even higher than before.

DISGUSTED IN S.C.

Dear Disgusted: Thanks for a good leter. Also for reviving some vivid memories of my high school days.

My twin and I learned a lesson in honesty after returning from a football game at Sioux Falls, S.D. (We made the trip with about 100 other Central High School students on a special train from Sioux City, Iowa.)

When our parents discovered that we had brought home several "souvenirs" from a hotel in Sioux Falls (ashtrays, silverware, bath mat, etc.), they ordered us to pack up all the loot and mail it back to the hotel manager with our apologies. (We had to pay the postage, too!)

We also got a long lecture on honesty, and we have never forgotten it.

DEAR ABBY: I was an only child. When I was growing up, my parents moved around a lot, so I was practically raised by my grandparents. I really think of their family home as my family home.

They are getting along in years, and even though I am now married with children of my own, when I go to visit my grandparents I notice a lot of household items that bring back wonderful memories of my childhood. For example, an old water pitcher that was always on their table. It's not particularly valuable, but I'm sentimental about it.

I wouldn't want my grandparents (or anyone else) to think I am grabby, but I would just love to have that pitcher one day. My problem is, I don't know how to go about asking for it.

SENTIMENTAL

Dear Sentimental: The next time you see your grandparents, let them know that you are sentimental about that old water pitcher, and if your grandparents are like most grandparents, you'll have it where the kids can go if they get lost," advised Mrs. Martin. "If the children do wander off or don't show up at the designated place, then check with the lost children's area, located across from the cattle barn.' To avoid crowds try to go earlier in the day, Mrs. Martin said. Evenings are very crowded and children are lost more easily than earlier in the afternoon. Parents should also arrange to leave a little before closing time to avoid the rush when the fair closes.

If a child is left behind, a volunteer staffer will arrange to return the child to his home. Although children are rarely left behind, occasionally a child is not

"We never leave the fair without making sure all the children have been returned to their parents," Mrs. Martin

Adjacent to the area for lost children is the first aid station, at which minor injuries are treated and an EMS volunteer is available to handle serious emergencies. The most common problem reported to first aid volunteers is foot blisters, according to Mrs. Martin. To avoid blisters. Mrs. Martin suggests visitors wear comfortable shoes. It's also important to dress for the weather, noted Mrs. Martin, Last year, extremely hot temperatures caused problems for some visitors. Those enjoying rides on the midway should also be aware that motion sickness can be a problem, she added.

According to Mrs. Martin, more than 25 registered nurses will be on hand in the first aid and lost children's station at the fair this year. Camp Fire Girls and other volunteers will also be available to assure visitors an enjoyable and safe visit to the sail safely into port. Opposite a partner who had passed, East decided to make life as difficult as possible for his apponents by preempting at the four-level. But South was not to be spades, and West felt that Christmas had arrived early this year.

West attacked with the ueen of diamonds and continued the suit, which declarer ruffed. Without the double, declarer would certainly have drawn a couple of rounds of trumps, and gone down. But since West was marked with long trumps for his double (he certainly wasn't doubling on high cards), declarer was content with cashing only one high

Next came the ace of hearts. When that fetched the jack from East, declarer applied the Principle of Restricted Choice and ran the ten. After that held, declarer cashed the ace and king of clubs and repeated the heart finesse. He then discarded his club loser on the king of hearts.

Both West and declarer were now down to nothing but trumps. Declarer led a club from dummy and ruffed low. West overruffed, but did not enjoy the prospect of being on lead. He tried to exit with the queen of trumps, but declarer countered by allowing him to hold that trick. Now West was forced to lead from his J-9 of trumps into declarer's K-10 tenace, and the defenders scored only one diamond and two trump tricks.

hand or are able to buy it economically, tell us they like to "put up" fruit butters for later thrifty use. But some of them feel, as we do, that the old-time way of cooking fruit butters on top of the stove takes a lot of time and effort. That's because as the fruit mixture cooks down it needs to be stirred constantly for quite a long period to prevent spattering and

Well, we've come on an easy way to make these fruit butters - in the oven. The fruit mixture is poured into a shallow pan and needs to be stirred only twice during the first hour of its cooking and finally once more when, about a halfhour later, it is ready to be put in jars, and processed. If you want to try this easy way with peaches, here's a foolproof

PEACH BUTTER

5 lbs. ripe cling or 1/2 cup water 4 cups sugar

Rinse peaches but do not remove skins. If the cling variety, cut flesh away from pits in as thin and even slices as you can. If freestone, halve, discard pits and slice thinly. There should be about 9 cups. In a 5-quart saucepot, over moderate heat and stirring occasionally, cook the peaches with the water until soft - about 20 minutes. Puree through a food mill, discardbe about 61/2 cups puree. Pour the puree into a 13x9x2-inch aluminum, stainless steel or procelain-coated baking pan. Thoroughly stir in the sugar.

Cook in a 350-degree oven (no need to preheat) until thick - about 11/2 hours; stir twice during the first hour and once again, especially around the sides of the pan, after removing from the oven. At once spoon the hot peach mixture into clean, dry, hot 1/2-pint wide-mouth canning jars with two-part lids, leaving 1/4-inch headspace. With a damp towel, wipe the top edge of each jar; cover with caps, add bands and screw tight. Process in a boiling-water bath for 5 minutes. Place jars on a wire rack to cool. Label and store in a cool dark place. Makes about seven 1/2-pint jars.

Note: if you like, you can add a cinnamon stick (broken in half) to the peaches when you cook them. Remove the cinnamon before pureeing the peaches.

Between their travel and hers, the intinate, petty, painful or banal exchanges that constitute much of family life occurred on paper, in letters.

Somehow, most of the letters survived. And the children survived. They are adults now and Dr. Bernard, a chipper 75 and busy as ever, has turned her professional eye on her own life as a mother and produced a book drawn from these 20 years of letters.

What results is a document about the compromises a mother makes and the sacrifices a single-parent family makes when she is devoted to her career.

Working mothers will read it and nod. "I used to laugh at myself for running all over the country to talk to other people about their families while neglecting my own," she says. "And I seemed to demand all too much reassurance from them that I was not neglecting them.

During an interview in her book-filled Washington apartment, Mrs. Bernard told of some of her struggle writing the book. None had been more difficult, she said: the job became so stressful she had to walk away from her typewriter from time to time.

Mrs. Bernard says she was humiliated when she read some of her letters. She was often inconsistent, often uncertain about what to do. Money was no prob-lem, but she scolded the children for over-spending, yet wanted them to have

Faculty members remarked on how she would be writing a book, suddenly stop to look at her watch, rush off to teach a class and return to complete the sentence she'd been writing.

One episode in Mrs. Barnard's struggle to raise a family by mail involved Doro-thy Lee's desire, while at a Quaker boarding school, to spend $35 on a formal dress. Back and forth went the shots:

Nov. 30, 1955, mother to daughter: .Are you sure you must have a $35 dress? I can hardly believe a Friends school would require that. A 14-year-old girl doesn't need a $35 dress. I have had only one dress in my life that cost that much. Let me look around State College (Pa.) to see what they cost here. I would say that you should not pay more than $15 at most.

Dec. 1, mother to daughter: "I asked Jean Taylor what girls wore here and she said they didn't wear formals yet...

A few days later, daughter to mother: 'I am sending you back your letter. I don't want to ever have to look at it again. It makes me very angry. You can't get a formal for $15...Everyone gets them. I am getting one my way. I need it for the 15th and I won't have you getting one for me. If you get me one I will not wear it. I can get my own clothes."

Dec. 3, mother to daughter: "If you have already spent $35 for a formal, I think that at least $15 of it should be repaid out of your monthly allowance. Dec. 5: "I got my formal and it's the most beautiful one I have ever seen. It cost $17.95 and the shoes cost $4.95. I am very proud of myself." Dec. 7: "Yes, darling, I am very proud wonders, in retrospect, what all the excitement was about. More painful - to her - was the battle over Dorothy Lee's spelling.

In letter after latter, she listed the words Dorothy Lee misspelled.

"It was a festering issue between us for many years and the one topic that brought tears to her eyes," she writes. Compiling the letters she was shocked to see how harsh she'd been on this.

Mrs. Bernard reveals the agony of trying to arrange an abortion in the late autumn of 1949, when the operation was illegal everywhere in this country. Her dying husband was appalled at her third pregnancy; he insisted on terminating it.

Late in the pregnancy's second trimes-ter, she went to New York, pursuing the names of doctors via the women's gra-pevine. None would do it. Too late, they

And so David was born.

Mrs. Bernard confesses, that even today she does not know whether she has done a good job raising her children. They tell her she has. After reading her manu-script, the children said she had been too hard on herself, she says.

A family normally does not record its day-to-day hassles on paper. The children said her childing of herself — in her letters, and in her book — can only suggest she is dissatisfied with the outcome of her childraising.

Not so, of course. The children survived life's bumps.

The costs of divorce, which vary with each individual situation, break down into two large categories: alimony - child support and legal fees.

Alimony and child support generally amount to about 50 percent of the hus-band's income in a family with several growing children. This means the hus band suddenly finds half his income is gone. Or the converse: he can look forward to halving his standard of living. The wife's own financial situation, her of the children will be taken into account.

Legal fees inevitably depend on the income bracket of the divorcing couple,

The price still has a long, long way to go to get back to its levels of a decade ago, when it peaked at $515,000.

But, to look at the situation from a shorter-term perspective, it has tripled in the past year after hitting a bottom of $35,000 last October, and now stands at its highest level in three years.

One primary reason for this rebound is the simple fact that business has been brisk, to say the least, at the Big Board lately

Last Thursday, reported NYSE volume for 1978 reached 5,364,138,051 shares, breaking the full year's record of 5,360,-116,000 set in 1976 with more than three months to spare.

Since the price of an NYSE seat serves as a sort of thermometer of conditions in the securities industry generally, it seems to be suggesting that the outlook for Wall Street has brightened up a bit lately.

Carolyn Cole, an analyst at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, reached a somewhat similar conclusion in a report on the industry, although she noted that it still faces many familiar problems - such as the intensified competitive pressures that have led to so many brokerage-house mergers in recent years.

"The past year has been a year of further consolidation and concentration within the brokerage industry - a trend which will probably continue in force over the foreseeable future," she wrote.

"The problems and uncertainties facing the industry have not moved any closer to resolution.... However, there are secular trends developing that could have positive long-term ramifications for capital markets and, by implication, for the securities industry.

"Specifically, we see the emergence of a possible swing back to capitalism" as demonstrated by such things as proposals to cut capital gains taxes and California's Proposition 13 limiting property taxes. Weighing all sides, we come away with a more positive view of the securities industry than we had last year. One major issue in the industry's future is the ultimate shape of the centralized national market which Congress has mandated, and the role that established institutions such as the NYSE will play in Mrs. Cole also foresees an eventual continuation of the merger trend among brokers after the current respite that has resulted from a booming stock market. At the same time, she noted, a number of large firms are seeking to broaden their bases by expanding into other financial-service fields such as insurance and

Now, if the artery is blocked all the way down the leg, there is no open artery you can detour the blood to. An operation is of no value in that case. These operations only work for people who have localized blockage with pretty good arteries beyond the blockage. In your relative's case, as the fattycholesterol build up continued in the artery below or above the detour graft, the circulation would be blocked again and the symptoms of poor circulation would return. Surgery is great to detour around the localized blockage but it is important to realize the basic disease, the accumulation of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries, is still there

news background

Analysts said there was nothing particular in the economic news to stimulate buying interest. In fact, they noted, the market has had to absorb several negative developments of late.

The government reported this morning that consumer prices rose 0.6 percent last month, after seasonal adjustment, or the equivalent of a 7.2 percent annual rate.

That represented a continued moderation since mid-summer of what had been a two-digit annual rate in April, May and June. But analysts said it represented no big break in the battle against infla-

Brokers noted that the market also was faced with a continued rise in interest rates. Two banks raised their prime lending rates Monday from 91/2 to 93/4 percent.

Psychiatrist Says Powell Not Insane

AUSTIN (AP) - A psychiatrist has testified that under the circumstances of possible arrest on drug, theft and gun charges, David Lee Powell's machinegunning of Patrolman Ralph Ablanedo was "goal directed."

Dr. Richard Coons of Austin said Monday he found Powell, 27, to be legally sane, contradicting testimony by a Detroit psychiatrist who has specialized in

A psychologist, George Parker of Austin, also said he believed Powell was

Parker acknowledged, however, that his written report said Powell "probably needs environmental help (such as incarceration) to provide the degree of control that would manage his impulses for

Powell could be executed with a lethal injection if the jury finds he killed Ablanedo deliberately and without provocation and that he would pose a continuing threat to society if allowed to live.

Ablanedo died in a burst of fire from an AK-47 automatic rifle, the kind used by Communist troops in Vietnam, after stopping Powell's red Mustang on May Prosecutor Steve Edwards set up a "hypothetical situation" of a man with outstanding arrest warrants, several hot check charges an driving a car whose contents included $5,000 to $14,000 worth of methamphetamine - "speed" - and several illegal weapons, including the AK-47.

Would the reaction of killing the policeman indicate that person is mentally ill?" asked Edwards.

"It certainly could be considered goaldirected behavior that could lend itself most readily to the interpretation of avoiding arrest," Coons said.

Asked about the diagnosis by Dr. Emmanuel Tanay of Detroit that Powell was a paranoid schizophrenic, Coons said, "I saw no evidence of psychosis. I saw no evidence of paranoid schizophrenia." Tanay said Powell, valedictorian of his senior class at Campbell, began showing signs of mental illness at about age 16. Asked by defense lawyers whether Powell felt remorse for the Ablanedo death, Tanay testified: "He believed he was in a fire fight - a Vietnam-type fire fight. He describes it as a military encounter. There was a war. He was prepared for it. He had a machine gun and grenades." Tanay said.

Tanay said he asked Powell how he felt about "killing an innocent human

"He said, 'Death is not tragic. Life is tragic," "Tanay related.

Chess Champ Offers Draw

BAGUIO CITY, Philippines (AP) -World chess champion Anatoly Karpov of the Soviet Union and Soviet defector Viktor Korchnoi settled for a draw today in the 26th game of the 13th world chess championship Karpov, leading 4-2 in the series, offered the draw after the 27th move and three hours and 45 minutes of play. The first player to win six games is the champion and wins $350,000. The loser gets $200,000. Twenty games have ended in draws.

Karpov offered the draw "directly to Korchnoi who immediately accepted it," said Lothar Schmid of West Germany, chief arbiter of the match. Karpov, who played white and started with an English opening, accepted an inevitable queens' exchange on the 26th move, forcing the draw. "Now we know he's (Karpov) not playing for a win," British international master Harry Golombek said after Karpov captured the challenger's queen. Many thought it would be another hard-fought battle as they started the game aggressively with Korchnoi using a rare Dutch defense Following is the move-by-move play in today's 26th game.

Begin Will Resign If Accords Rejected

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said he will resign if parliament rejects the Camp David accords because they are "the way to peace." Egypt vowed to negotiate a settlement even without Jordan.

Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who signed the two historic documents nine days ago, began drives Monday to transform the summit's "framework for peace" into peace treaties.

Both leaders met opposition - Sadat from Arab hard-liners Libya and Algeria who boycotted a diplomatic meeting in Cairo, and Begin from both radicals of his own Herut Party who disrupted a parliament session and protesters outside who shouted "Begin traitor."

Begin opened the debate on endorsing the accords, the most crucial legislative because this is the way to peace The 65-year-old Israeli leader said he would have to submit his resignation if the vote goes against him, but he maintained this was not a threat.

Sadat's diplomatic drive to gain support for the accords was kicked off by his acting foreign minister, Butros Ghali, who told 30 African ambassadors Cairo will do "its utmost" to secure Jordan's participation in the peace talks.

But Ghali, who took over when Mohammed Ibrahim Kamel quit in displeasure over the accords, said if King Hussein refuses to take part in the talks, Egypt will forge ahead and negotiate with Israel the future of the West Bank and Gaza as well as the Sinai.

lines were up at the Santa Fe Railway station. A state union official in Amarille also refused to comment, saying union officials had received instructions not to talk to anyone about the strike.

Elsewhere in the nation, the strike against 44 railroads snarled rail traffic across the country and left thousands of commuters stranded.

Amtrak, the national rail passenger line, said service was normal along its heavily traveled Northeast corridor between Boston and Washington. But all other operations were shut down this morning except for one train running on the West Coast. Amtrak operates some 250 trains a day.

Conrail, the nation's largest freight carrier which also operates some commuter passenger service, was not affected by the picketing.

The union, which gas been on strike against the Roanoke-based Norfolk Western Railway for more than 11 weeks, said the picketing was against railroads that connect with the NW and that have been aiding the NW during the strike by moving goods for the struck railroad.

Fred J. Kroll, president of the clerks union, said in a statement that the action was being taken to "bring increasing pressure on the NW to start negotiating a settlement in good faith and with a sense of realism that so far has been lacking."

Commuters in Chicago were not as lucky as those in the Northeast. The clerks union struck at least three commuter lines in the Chicago area early to-day, forcing up to 100,000 daily riders to seek other means of getting to work.

"The major battle would then be won," Mrs. DeHaven said. If the House, and then Senate, give the amendment a twothirds majority, the proposal would be sent to the states for ratification. Mrs. DeHaven said state legislators have estimated it would take only about six months for the amendment to be passed by the minimum 38 states.

Mahon, 77, Lubbock's retiring congressman, said he supports the anti-busing measure. But he has said he won't sign the discharge petition because judiciary committee members then may be prompted to work against the proposal on the House floor.

Mrs. DeHaven said she doesn't buy that argument. Besides, she said, Mahon is not seeking re-election and thus would not have to bear a backlash from pro-busing colleagues.

Mrs. DeHaven, who has testified before Congress 23 times on anti-busing matters, said busing has wasted energy, drained tax monies and inconvenienced parents and students, she said. Moreover, due to white flight, busing has "resulted in more segregation, not less."

We the People members voted to affiliate with Mrs. DeHaven's association and change their name to NANS of Lubbock. Seale said the local anti-busing group has retained attorneys "to see what can be done" about local busing. And to dramatize the protest, he said a "sickout" day is being planned.

Health Cost Bill Pushed By Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Less than a week ago President Carter acknowledged his proposal to contain hospital costs probably was dead for the year. Now he is making the bill a priority item in the waning days of the 95th Congress. Carter planned to meet in the White House East Room today with 250 representatives of state, city and local officials as well as private insurance firms that deal with health costs. On Monday, Carter urged his Cabinet at the weekly meeting "to make an allout effort" for passage this year of the bill, a central part of the president's antiinflation program.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate health subcommittee, told reporters at the White House the Senate will vote on hospital cost containment before adjourning this year.

But he said the Senate lacks "the number of votes" necessary for passage of a strong administration measure, although a "more modest" bill would get more of Carter's wishes for action this year and was critical of the Republican team that has flown across the country in support of cutting income taxes. "If the Republicans are really interested in doing something, instead of just saying something, they'd stop bouncing around the country on this junket which has a lot of hot air to it ... stand up and be counted for something like hospital cost containment," Califano said.

Califano said Carter's decision to push for the legislation this year followed conversations with Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd and House Speaker Thomas O'Neill.

Assault Charge Names Two Local Men

Two brothers were formally charged with aggravated assault Monday in connection with a Sunday morning shooting in the 400-block of North Hartford which injured seven persons.

Charged were Lonnie Morin Jr., 20, of 2717 Emory St., and his 19-year-old brother, John, of the same address.

Authorities said the shooting, which occurred about 3:30 a.m., was the apparent result of a family feud. The incident sent Alex Mojica, 19, of 2803 Auburn St. to St. Mary's Hospital with a bullet wound to the neck. He was listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

The six other persons injured in the shooting were also taken to St. Mary's where they were treated and released. John Morin remained in the County Jail early today. His brother was released Monday afternoon in lieu of $2,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Charles

In an unrelated matter, a 50-year-old Lubbock man was charged with theft after deputies reportedly recovered about $13,000 in stolen goods from his home

Sheriff's Capt. J.B. Douglas said the property, which could solve as many as 10 burglaries in the city and county, was found at Thomas O. Martinez' residence at 3224 Bates St., after deputies acquired a search warrant.

Douglas said a 33-year-old man was also arrested at Martinez' residence. The suspect was taken into custody after he drove up while deputies were conducting the search, Douglas said, adding that property thought to be stolen was found in his car.

Nicaragua Accepts U.S. Offer

U.S. offer to help bring him and his oppo

President Carter's offer of assistance was relayed to Somoza by William Jou den, the U.S. ambassador to Panama, as a 90-minute meeting Monday. A government statement said Nicaragua accepted the offer "to help in finding peaceful solutions to the current situation in Nicaragua with the participation of interested political opposition groups."

There was no immediate response from the Broad Opposition Front, the coalition of political opposition Front, the coalition of political opponents of Somoza which called earlier for mediation by Mexico, Colombia and the Dominican Republic to end the Somoza dynasty's 41-year rule.

However, William Baez of the Nicaraguan Development Institute, one of the business associations backing the strike, claimed most shops outside Managua were still closed. Public and private schools also reopened Monday, and no fighting was reported anywhere in the country.

Baez said the opposition is considering asking businesses and people to refuse to pay their annual income taxes due Oct. 15. He said the government is in a "difficult economic position" and yery low on cash reserves, and that the central bank is considering a 20 percent tax on all ex-

The strike started several days after the leftist Sandinista guerrillas seized the National Palace in Managua along with 1,500 persons in it at the time. CARTER AT IMF - President Carter spoke to the International Monetary Fund Monday in Washington saying that he will soon announce measures to promote exports, control inflation and help build a stronger U.S. economy that will support the dollar. (AP Laserphoto)

Carter Eyes Increase In Exports

By R. GREGORY NOKES WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying his rep-utation as a world leader is at stake, President Carter says he will soon unveil new measures to control inflaton and boost exports as part of a campaign to strengthen the economy and support the

While he gave no hint in a speech to world finance leaders what anti-inflation actions are planned, he said they will be 'specific and tough" and will be followed by other measures later.

Carter is expected to announce some of the measures within a few weeks. It is considered likely they will include voluntary guidelines for wage increases next year of about 7 percent and price increases of about 5% percent.

"These next steps will certainly not be an end, but a renewed beginning. ... My administration will continue that struggle on a wide variety of fronts until we succeed," Carter said Monday. The president addressed about 3,500 delegates from 135 nations gathered here for the 33rd annual joint meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

Carter repeated the pledges he made at the Bonn economic summit conference in July to work to expand exports, cut oil

The program to boost exports is aimed at reducing the huge U.S. trade deficits, which, along with inflation, are considered the chief causes of the steep decline in the value of the dollar over the last 18 months.

Carter said the program will concentrate on removing hindrances to U.S. exports, such as cumbersome federal regulations and paperwork.

With respect to both inflation and trade, Carter said, "We will not shrink from the hard decisions and persistent efforts that are needed. We are determined to maintain a sound dollar.'

He said actions already taken and those still to be announced should result in a significant improvement in the nation's international trade and payments deficits next year. The United States is expected

GAS SUSPENSION AUSTIN (AP) — The railroad-commis-sion Monday ordered a 120-day suspension of proposed gas service rate increases by Lone Star Gas Co. in unincorporated areas near Lancaster, DeSoto and The Colony in Dallas County. The suspension was ordered because the three cities have not acted on the proposed rate hikes this year.

There seems to be growing support among many foreign delegations for the U.S. view that the dollar's difficulies can be solved only by attacking so-called fundamental problems of inflation and trade imbalances.

The new IMF managing director, Jacques de Larosiere, told the delegates that stability of the dollar and other currencies "has to be based primarily on the correction of imbalances in the domestic economy, and that monetary arrangements and intervention can play a useful role only if the more fundamental policies are appropriate."

De Larosiere said nations with rapidly expanding economies, particularly the United States, should slow their growth, while the slower growing economies of Japan and Germany should be stimulated, to help reduce the economic imbalances hurting the dollar.

West Germany's finance minister, Hans Matthoefer, said in an address that the Bonn government has recently taken steps to boost its economic growth by cutting taxes and increasing spending a total of $6 billion.

But he said the measures have caused such serious concern in Germany and, "The limit has clearly been reached."

SoonersReplace Bama As No. 1

University of Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer appears a little apprehensive about his team's new position at the top of The Associated Press college football

"There are a lot of tough people out there waiting for us," he said Monday. 'We're as good as anybody right now, but it is too early to really tell how anybody stands.

Switzer's Sooners replaced Alabama as the No. 1 team in the poll, while defending national champion Notre Dame took its second loss in as many outings and slipped out of the Top 20.

I am a little surprised that we jumped up to No. 1. We haven't really been tested Oklahoma, 3-0, got 27 first-place votes and 1,235 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of 66 sports writers and broadcasters. The Sooners moved up from a third-place tie-last week with Penn State following a runaway 66-7 victory over Rice.

Oklahoma's effort was aided by Southern California's 24-14 upset of previously top-ranked Alabama and a fairly close 19-7 Arkansas win over Oklahoma State that kept the Razorbacks in second place.

Arkansas, 2-0, kept the race close by getting 17 first-place votes and 1,208

Reeves Set To Start Against Longhorns

Executive Sports Editor Ron Reeves found himself with a new full-time job Monday as Texas Tech geared up for Saturday's Southwest Conference opener against the University of Reeves, the spark of last Saturday's 41-26 victory over Arizona, got the job as head coach Rex Dockery announced Monday that he would go with the freshman from Monterey. And while Reeves was working with the first unit, Dockery concentrated defensively on some areas where the Raiders came up short last Sat-

Ever since the surprising thumping of Arizona, Dockery has been admitting his Raiders didn't do well on punt and kick-trying to impede progress, Dockery worked on stopping those runbacks. Tech had total offense from scrimmage of 350 yards, to Arizona's 190. But, the Wildcats brought back punts and kickoffs for 249 yards and a touchdown.

Dockery took his team outdoors Monday, and he was hoping for a clearing trend in the weather so he can get a full week of work on the AstroTurf in preparation for the SWC opener. Against Arizona, Reeves came in with less than two minutes left in the first half, guided the Raiders to a touchdown, then guided the offense to 27 more points in the last half.

Dockery said Reeves doesn't seem to mind pressure. "He seems to do rather well under pressure. He's been there before. Ron is a good athlete. Even if he weren't a quarterback, he could make our traveling squad as a linebacker. "He learned a lot the past two weeks when we had an open date. He was not ready for the Southern Cal game. He knew it and we knew it, but the past two weeks really gave him a chance to im-

"He even was able to audible a few times which shows he understood the coverages.

Tres Adami, the starting quarterback, had been hurt earlier, and Dockery said the senior from Freer will be able to return to work either today or Wednesday. Adami sustained a deep thigh bruise.

"Texas has great team speed, and Russell Erxleben is as good a kicker as there is in the country. But, Blade Adams is as important to our team. He kicked two critical field goals against Arizona.

"He's five-for-five in field goals this year and kicked all the extra points. "But, we have to improve our kickoff coverage. This was in coaching, and we can coach that. They (Arizona) had a good return scheme, and we weren't able to bust the wedge.

Dockery said he felt that Texas' defense "is as good as last year - maybe

"And Erxleben always turns the ball over to them (opposing teams) deep, which helps the defense. Texas also ha Monday, even with a slight drizzle great pass rush, and an excellent second-

> Dockery, asked to compare USC, which defeated Tech 17-9 in the opener, and Texas, said that UT has a better kicking

"Texas is not as big, but it has more overall speed on defense. I doubt if Texas has a back like Charles White, but with Lam Jones they have someone who can break on any play."

The two teams will collide in Jones Stadium Saturday night at 7:30 p.m., a return to the regular starting time for games at Tech. The Arizona game began at 8 p.m., because of radio commitments.

In their last six home games, Pittsburgh has drawn over 10,000 only once: on Friday, Sept. 16, when 15,146 massed at Three Rivers to watch the Pirates' 6-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The other crowds, in series against the St. Louis Cardinals and Expos have been: 6,398; 5,294; 8,079 and 8,544.

"We refuse to be embarrassed. We refuse to go out and drop our heads," said Pittsburgh slugger Dave Parker, who ontinued his remarkable season with hree hits and two RBI against the Ex-

"The pleasures are here," observed Manager Chuck Tanner. "We play for the eople who are here. But I can undertand. Maybe they don't have the money o come out.

Apparently, and inexplicably, they ion't have the interest. Montreal and St. ouis - fourth and fifth, respectively, in the division - may not be the biggest draws, but that isn't a problem in Los Angeles. In that West Coast city, attendance recently passed three million, while in Pittsburgh, cumulative crowds are down some 250,000 from last year's 1.2 million.

The Pirates' triumph helped them keep pace with the Phillies, who beat the Expos 3-2 in 12 innings before a similarly anemic 11,651. In the other NL game, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the New York Mets 3-0 before 3,697 at Shea Stad-

Phillies 3, Expos 2

Two home runs by Gary Carter had given Montreal a 2-0 lead it nursed until the ninth, when the Phillies tied it on a walk, a single, an error, a wild pitch and Mike Schmidt's triple.

Then, in the 12th, Larry Bowa's single scored Orlando Gonzalez to reduce Philadelphia's magic number to four for a third straight East Division title.

The Phillies have won five in a row, 15 of their last 20 and 21 of their last 30. Cardinals 3, Mets 0

Silvio Martinez, who opened his major league career with a one-hitter against New York last May, held the Mets to two hits in carrying the Cardinals to victory.

Other than bringing the season one game closer to completion, the victory virtually assured that New York would finish last in the East. The Mets are four games behind the Cardinals in the all-important loss column with five games to

"Next question," Tarkenton replied when a reporter asked in jest how it felt to have the starting job nailed down. But what about the speculation that Kramer might start? 'Did Bud (Viking Coach Grant) tell you that?" Tarkenton shot back.

"In 18 years I've read what all you guys have said and I understand how you live," he told a crowd of reporters pressing in on him at his locker. "You go from week to week" seeking reasons for a team's loss and the coach and quarterback usually get the blame."

With the game just 2:49 old, he hit Sammy White with a 33-yard scoring strike. Less than five minutes later it was 14-0 as Chicago quarterback Bob Avellini fumbled the center snap and Mark Mullaney recovered and lateraled to Matt Blair, who romped 49 yards to score.

"I think we had to let them know right away which way we wanted the game to go," said White.

With nine straight regular-season victories, including three this season, the Bears seemed ready to threaten the Vikings stranglehold on the Central Division. But Monday night's victory evened the Vikings record at 2-2. The Bears are 3-1 and tied with Green Bay for the division head coach at San Diego State for 12 years, now is in familiar territory after being chosen by the Chargers to succeed

Tommy Prothro. Prothro resigned as the National Football League team's coach Monday, one day after a 24-3 loss to the Green Bay Packers. "I'm pleased with the opportunity to coach again in San Diego," said the 53year-old Coryell, who went from San Diego State to the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals in 1973, where he coached for five seasons. "It's like a dream come true." Coryell became the Cardinals' coach after directing San Diego State to an outstanding 104-19-2 record from 1961-72. At St. Louis, where he coached through last season, his teams were 42-27-1 and qualified for the playoffs three times. Coryell was not rehired after the Cardinals lost their last four games in 1977 and finished 7-7. But he still had two years remaining on his St. Louis contract. In order to obtain his services, the Chargers agreed to give the Cardinals their third-round draft choice in 1980. "I certainly hope I'm worth it," said Coryell. "I thought I could take the year off without coaching football but I started to get itchy when I attended a Dallas-

San Diego rookie scrimmage in July. "I haven't seen the Chargers play this season except on television, but with a few breaks the team could be 4-0. When I walk into the dressing room I probably won't recognize most of the players.

"I don't know them personally but I do know there is tremendous personnel with the Chargers."

One familiar face to Coryell will be Jackie Simpson, the Chargers' defensive coordinator. Simpson was an assistant coach under Coryell with the Cardinals in Coryell said he plans to keep the staff of assistant coaches and noted that the offensive philosophy of the Chargers, both offensively and defensively, was very close to his own.

Terms of his contract with the team were not divulged. Coryell said, "We really don't have any agreement. He (Chargers' owner Gene Klein) just told me to come to work."

It had been rumored for months that Coryell would succeed Prothro as the Chargers' coach. Prothro, 58, was in his fifth and apparently final season as the Chargers' coach.

Cowboys WASHINGTON (AP) - To the Washington Redskins, the Dallas Cowboys represent some of the best and worst of the National Football League

The two NFC East powers resume their rivalry Monday night as the Cowboys attempt to blemish the Redskins' unmarked record.

And although the regular season is only four weeks old, Dallas has been on the minds of the Redskins since before the season began.

In an informal, preseason poll conducted by Washington Post sportswriter Leonard Shapiro, the Redskins displayed both respect and contempt for the Cowboys. Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach epitomized the love-hate relationship between the two teams. Staubach was listed third behind Chicago runningback Walter Payton and Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones as the first man the Redskins would pick to start a franchise.

But he also was listed as one of the most overrated NFL players by the Redskins. Staubach was listed fourth behind New Orleans guard Conrad Dobler, Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini and Dallas safety Charlie Waters.

Waters' teammate in the Dallas secondary, Cliff Harris, was listed behind Dobler as the "dirtiest NFL

But the Cowboys were also voted by the Redskins as having: -the "classiest" uniforms in the

NFL. -the best stadium locker rooms in the league -the best artificial turf (Houston, incidentally, was voted as having the worst). -the best coaching strategist in Tom Landry, who also was named the "best all-around coach in the NFL" ahead of Don Shula, Bud Grant and George Allen.

-the two most underrated NFL players in runningback Robert Newhouse and defensive tackle Jethro

Dallas was also rated second only to San Diego as the Redskins "favorite city on the road."

Accordingly, the unanimous Redskin resonse to the "team you enjoy beating most" and the "coach you enjoy beating most" was Dallas and

RoyalsPostpone Big Celebration

Thanks, but no thanks, says Manager

Whitey Herzog of the Kansas City Royals. The Royals have clinched at least a tie for their third straight American League West title, but there won't be any serious clubhouse celebrating for now.

"I can't see any sense in throwing champagne over each other," said Herzog after the Royals thumped the Seattle Mariners 7-2 Monday night and reduced their magic number to one

"Besides," he reminded, "we gotta win it first.

In the other American League games, Texas trimmed Minnesota 3-2 in 11 innings and Chicago bested Oakland 6-2. The Kansas City clubhouse has been the scene of wild celebrations the past two Septembers, but Herzog has not forgotten that playoff losses to the New York Yankees followed both parties. The clubhouse mood Monday night was happy but subdued. The only beverage seen being consumed was the usual post-game beer. Right-hander Dennis Leonard, 20-17, held Seattle to six hits as Kansas City recorded its 11th consecutive victory over a year ago and now the first Kansas City hurler to post consecutive 20-game seasons - it marked another remarkable finish to what appeared to be a dismal

"I knew he was going to get 20 of some-thing," said Herzog. "I just didn't know which it was going to be."

Leonard was 3-8 at one point and the Royals struggled accordingly. Herzog once suggested, in jest, that Leonard take a train instead of the team flight to one

"But I'd get there too late," said Leonard.

"That's the idea," said Herzog. But the durable hurler - he has 37 decisions and 20 complete games in 39 starts - has won eight of his last 11 decisions and four in a row during Kansas City's stretch drive. He is 15-5 at Royals

In 1977, Leonard went 4-8 before winning 16 of his last 20 decisions.

The order by U.S. District Judge Constance Baker Motley applied to Melissa Ludtke, a Sports Illustrated reporter denied access to Yankee Stadium locker rooms during the 1977 World Series.

Akers Predicts Better Showing Against Tech

caused two fumbles, recovered one and broke up a pass.

"Time after time we rose up when we had to and shut 'em down," Akers said.

Lost to the defense, however, was starting defensive end Tim Campbell, a 1977 all-Southwest Conference player and brother of last year's Heisman Trophy winner, Earl Campbell, a senior and the best pass rusher on the team, suffered a severed Achilles tendon and had to undergo surgery.

dergo surgery.

Offensively, Akers said, the line charge was so inconsistent that "it looked like popcorn going off. But that's mental, not physical... Some of it is youth and uncertainty."

Akers said Little "is getting closer and closer every ballgame" to being prepared to play — "and he's doing well."

Campbell's injury will push junior non-letterman Richard Slaydon up to second team. Sophomore non-letterman Ken-

AUSTIN 'AP) — Texas could only punch out 187 yards offense against Wyo-ming, but Coach Fred Akers says part of the reason was that he wanted Texas to work out the kinks in its running game.

He told a news conference Monday that although he was concerned about the offensive tearn, he was "not ready to commit suicide" over its performance in the 17-3 Texas victory.

Texas weets Texas Tech at Lubbock on Saturday, and Akers said Tech is a better football team than Wyoming.

Asked if Texas might look past Tech, which has defeated Texas twice in a row at Lubbock, to the Oct. 7 game against Oklahoma, Akers replied:

"I can't imagine anybody looking ahead of Texas Tech. We are concerned about this one (Tech)."

"I expect us to be better this week," said Akers. "We were determined (against Wyoming) to work out the execution of our running game. We could have dropped back and thrown the ball all night."

Akers said there probably would not be any changes in the starting lineup for the Tech game but added that blue-chip freshman quarterback Donnie Little would move up from third to second team in practice and would play more.

Quarterbacks Randy McEachern and Mark McBath were unable to move the offense against Wyoming. The output was so low that Texas coaches voted senior kicker Russell Erxleben as the outstanding offensive player. Erxleben kicked two of three field goals, two extra points and boomed eight towering punts for a 44.5-yard average, with a return of minus 12 yards.

Junior linebacker Lance Taylor and junior tackle Steve McMichael shared the honor as outstanding defensive player with 16 tackles each on a unit that held Wyoming to 150 yards on 71 plays.

SAN ANTONIO (Special) — Two Lub-bockites placed in the state racquetball tournament held here over the weekend. Dick Lupia won the men's senior consolation title, the senior division being for men 35-45.

Lupia then teamed with F.A. Underwood to finish second in the B doubles competition. A total of 64 teams competed in B doubles.

Dies In Plane Mishap SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Alan Tetelman, a UCLA professor and one of of aviation's top accident investigators, always flew commercial planes because they were safer than private aircraft, says a colleague Tetelman, 42, was on his way to investigate a Navy crash Monday when the Pacific Southwest Airlines jet he was aboard collided with a single-engine Cessna, killing all aboard both planes and at least 10 persons on the ground.

Tetelman's colleague, Anne Gardner, said he flew PSA about once a week. He "refused to fly in private aircraft because he knew of their problems," said Mrs. "He knew because of the work he's in that commercial aircraft are statistically very safe," she added. Tetelman helped determine that the 1974 crash of a Turkish Airlines DC-10 outside Paris was caused by an improperly latched cargo door. The early morning flight from Sacra-mento is often filled with influential persons. Other victims included Richard Horne, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles County schools and a brother of Metropolitan Opera singer Marilyn Horne, and Valerie Kantor, a Beverly Hills attorney and wife of a former campaign manager for Gov. Edmund Brown Mickey Kantor managed Brown's un-successful 1976 campaign for the Demo-cratic nomination for president. Brown canceled his schedule in Los Angeles and flew to San Diego to join Kantor.

Other victims were 38 PSA employees and at least 11 middle-and upper-man-agement state officials. These included two engineers with the Division of Safety of Dams, a highway department archae-ologist, a loan fund officer of the Departopment, and at least five auditors.

Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally had planned to take the flight, an aide said, but decided to go the night before. Another who changed plans was Don French, Republican candidate for state treasurer.

The airline employees included seven members of the regular crew, 18 off-duty members of other flight crews and 13 employees and executives either on personal trips or going to PSA's headquarters for meetings or assignments.

"We've lost a lot of good people. We never had anything like this," said PSA spokesman Don Simonian.

Joseph Glover said he saw a piece of wing fly into an apartment 150 yards from where the jet crashed.

"I saw the wing hit the house," he said. "It exploded in midair and pieces went down like fiery meteors."

Clifford said as soon as the plane crashed, he headed to the scene, several blocks away. "I got into a car with a Baptist minister and we administered general absolution after we got to the scene,' he said. "There were bodies and parts of bodies everywhere. Everything was in flames in the street."

Pilot Group Criticizes Air Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of a House panel looking into airline safety said today that Monday's air disaster that killed 147 persons in San Diego "per-haps could have been avoided" had the government required a proposed colli sion avoidance system.

In the testimony, ALPA President John J. O'Donnell called for a number of safety moves by the Federal Aviation Administration, including requiring the collision avoidance system.

tive relationship between the FAA and the manufacturers it regulates. O'Donnell said, "The FAA is still years away from certificating an operational collision avoidance system to prevent mid-air collisions even though the technology has been available for many years. "Hundreds of airline passengers have died in mid-air collisions in the past 20 years due to deficiencies in the present air traffic control system and its dependence on the 'see-and-be-seen' principle," he testified.

O'Donnell's written testimony was prepared before Monday's collision of a Pacific Southwest Airlines jet and a singleengine private plane in the worst disaster in U.S. aviation history. O'Donnell charged that the technology for on-board collision warning devices has been available for years but that the FAA has insisted on further testing. However, an FAA official said today that further tests are needed to iron the bugs out of current systems including a tendency to sound alarms when there is no danger of a collision. "I don't feel that we are foot-dragging." FAA spokesman Bruce Chambers said in a telephone interview. "We are trying to find good, solid solutions and not come out with something that would not work and would mislead the pilot and mislead the public." O'Donnell complained that in addition to imposing air safety duties, the law orders FAA to "encourage and foster the development of civil aeronautics and air "Thus, safety is bound to suffer when the FAA attempts to balance it against such economic factors as the costs of airplanes," he said. An FAA spokesman in California said both pilots in Monday's crash had been warned they were in the same area, and each said he could see the other plane. A federal investigation was under way.

O'Donnell insisted ground-to-air warning systems — favored by FAA — are not completely satisfactory, and he said the agency has relied too much on "the outmoded see-and-be-seen concept."

He said technology for an on-board collision warning system has been available lision warning system has been available for several years while.
