

Sadat Vows To Sign Separate Peace With Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Declaring "I have had enough," President Anwar Sadat said today he is finished trying to negotiate on behalf of Syria or Palestinians because of "their ingratitude and obscenities."

Sadat, speaking to a meeting of Egypt's Supreme Judiciary Council, also blasted Syrian action in Lebanon calling it, "murder for murder's sake."

Sadat, in a major shift from his previous position that he would represent the interests of other Arab nations in negotiations with Israel, said he would move ahead with forging a separate peace between the Jewish state and Egypt alone.

"In the name of the Egyptian people, I did my duty (at Camp David) in regard to the principles governing the Palestinian question and (Syria's) Golan Heights," Sadat said.

"As for the details, they will have to go and negotiate them for themselves. I would have liked to do it on their behalf, but their ingratitude and obscenities have gone beyond all limits."

"I have had enough," Sadat said of his Arab detractors. "Let everyone keep his size and his place from now on."

Turning to Lebanon where Syrian forces have been locked in fierce fighting with Lebanese Christian militias, Sadat said:

"What is happening in Lebanon goes beyond any imagination. It's murder for murder's sake. It's bloodshed for bloodshed's sake. The fate of nations is being played with, just as children play with toys on the streets."

"I shall never put the destiny of Egypt or the Arab cause in the hands of those children, those murderers," Sadat said to the applause of dozens of jurists attending the meeting called to mark the fifth anniversary of the latest Arab-Israeli war.

"I shall never wait for them, but we shall carry on (toward peace) with Israel," he said.

Sadat spoke hours after an Egyptian delegation, led by Defense Minister Lt.

Gen. Kamal Hassan Ali, left for Washington for peace treaty negotiations with Israel opening Thursday.

Sadat said his directives to the Egyptian delegation at a briefing Monday were that "everything is negotiable except matters relating to (Egyptian) territory and sovereignty."

The Camp David accord on an Israeli-Egyptian treaty called for total Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula in two stages stretching over two to three years, and establishment of normal relations after completion of the first phase covering about 60 per cent of the territory.

Sadat said that should there be any trespassing on Egyptian sovereignty or land in the Washington talks, the Egyptian negotiators "would have to collect their papers and return home."

But he expressed confidence in Israel's attitude, saying, "I believe the other side is all set on the basis of the principles we agreed on at Camp David in order to achieve peace."

TOURS BATTERED BEIRUT — Guarded by armed Christian militiamen, former Lebanese President Camille Chamoun tours the shell-blasted streets of East Beirut during a lull in the firing. ## Gunfire Shatters Truce In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy gunfire broke out today at the main crossroad between Beirut's Moslem and Christian sectors, imperiling a three-day-old cease-fire between Lebanon's Christian militias and Syrian peacekeeping troops.

All roads between the two sectors were closed as machine guns blazed and rocket-propelled grenades exploded, sending vehicles and pedestrians fleeing in panic. Witnesses said other crossing points between the two sectors came under heavy sniper fire.

Reporters near the scene described the outbreak as the worst violation of the truce since it began Saturday night.

The Israeli radio reported today that the Soviet Union had evacuated all of its nationals, including its embassy staff, from Beirut, and that the Syrians were bringing additional artillery units into Lebanon in preparation for a major attack on Beirut.

The movement of the Russians out of Beirut was considered especially ominous, since the Soviets evacuated both Cairo and Damascus on the eve of Egypt and Syria's surprise attack on Israel in October, 1973.

An official at the Soviet embassy in Beirut confirmed that Russian dependents had been evacuated aboard a special Soviet Aeroflot jet Monday, but denied Israeli reports that the diplomats themselves had fled the capital.

Beirut's Christian radio station reported that Israeli gunboats shelled Palestinian guerrilla camps in southern Lebanon during the night.

The Voice of Lebanon said the guerrillas returned the Israeli gunboat fire. No other details were given, there was no confirmation of the report, and the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv refused to confirm or deny the report.

Last Thursday, Israeli gunboats shelled Moslem West Beirut, some 50 miles north of the Israeli-Lebanese border, to warn the Syrians to call off their war against Israel's Christian allies in East Beirut.

A cease-fire took effect in Beirut on Saturday after 10 days of fighting that left 1,300 dead and 2,000 wounded by Lebanese police count.

The Christian radio said Syrian snipers were still active in the Quarantina bridge area on the northeast side of the city.

The bridge is on the supply highway from Jounieh, the Christian port 15 miles north of Beirut, to the Christian half of the city. The broadcast said because of the sniping, the bridge remained closed to traffic.

The Christian radio also charged that the Syrians were maintaining their "food blockade" of East Beirut, preventing international Red Cross vehicles from bringing food and medicine to the survivors of the Syrian artillery, rocket and machine-gun fire. But foreign reporters in Beirut saw vehicles entering the Christian sector from the north on Monday.

Lebanon's moderate Moslem leadership criticized President Elias Sarkis for launching his peace initiative with Syria without consulting them. Sarkis, who negotiated the cease-fire with Syrian President Hafez Assad last week, is on a visit to three Arab governments that contribute troops to the Arab League peacekeeping force in Lebanon. Syria supplies the bulk of the peace force.

"We have neither been consulted nor represented," said Prime Minister Selim el-Hoss, a Moslem. He said Sarkis would not be able "to take any major decisions without consulting us."

The mandate for the peacekeepers expires Oct. 23, and it was believed that Sarkis was seeking agreement for an extension.

Shaw Alleges Fund Misuse

The Lubbock Opportunities Industrialization Center (LOIC) contract with the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) for classroom training was placed in jeopardy today when Lubbock County Judge Rod Shaw, a SPAG board member, expressed concern about a forthcoming audit of the $236,000-per-year program.

Judge Shaw said the Oct. 15 audit will show that class participants were paid improperly for classes they did not attend.

The SPAG board empowered its executive committee to meet prior to the next regularly scheduled board meeting and take whatever action it considers appropriate.

Truett Mayes, SPAG executive director, said the alternatives might include proposing a new contract with a policy of absences not being excused under any circumstances or taking away the classroom training program contract from LOIC.

During the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, records show 347 persons were paid minimum wage for a total of $236,997 while attending vocational training classes under the supervision of LOIC counselors.

"One of the unacceptable activities is that staff members of OIC have changed time sheets on many participants to reflect that their absences were excused after the Adult Learning Center had correctly recorded the absences as unexcused, resulting in overpayment of wages to participants who weren't attending classes for which they were being paid," Shaw said in a formal statement to the board.

Shaw said he became concerned after attending a post-audit conference between SPAG staff members and Kelly, Cole and Company auditors last week.

He said he did not know how much money might have been paid out for improperly excused absences.

The audit was ordered by the Texas Employment Commission, which released AUDIT Page 14

Garza Judge, Clements Camp Feud Over Photo

By SYLVIA TEAGUE

Garza County Judge Giles Dalby this morning denied he ever supported gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements and said he didn't intend to authorize the use of his picture for Clements campaign purposes.

However, a representative of the Clements campaign said later this morning Dalby signed a release allowing the use of his picture with the full knowledge of what he was signing.

Dalby claimed this morning he didn't know what he was signing when he signed the release form. His picture later appeared in a Clements tabloid entitled "The Texas Spectator" under a headline "Key Democrats and Independents Join Campaign to Elect Clements."

In the tabloid Dalby is quoted as saying, "I am voting for Bill Clements because he is honest, forthright, and I can trust him in Austin."

However, this morning Dalby denied ever supporting Clements, denied ever saying "I can trust him in Austin" and said he thinks he was "set up" by the Clements campaign.

"I repudiate the use of the picture of myself in the tabloid," Dalby said.

He said he was recruited for the Clements' campaign in July after serving as Garza County coordinator for Gov. Dolph Briscoe's reelection. "I refused," Dalby said.

"I feel John Hill is the very best candidate. I offered my support and Attorney General Hill accepted it."

Dalby has since been named the coordinator for the Courthouse Officials Organized to Support the Election (CHOOSE) John Hill Committee for all counties under 50,000 persons.

But late last week Dalby learned from Hill that his picture was in the Clements tabloid being sent out by direct mail to Texans.

This morning Dalby recounted the events which ended with his signature affixed to a statement which reads:

"I hereby give my consent to the Clements for Governor Campaign Committee to use my name, photograph, and/or statements in advertising materials, both printed and broadcast on radio and television, to help elect Bill Clements governor of Texas."

The judge said he was asked to attend a Clements reception in Post on Aug. 10 "as executive officer of the commissioners court to pay respects to the former Deputy Secretary of Defense."

"We were late getting in and he was already into his talk," Dalby said. "Clements shook my hand, then a person came from the left and asked if I thought he (Clements) was honest and forthright."

"With somebody right in front of you, you don't like to say no," he said. "I never said I could trust him in Austin. I never

Bullock Aide Quits, Charges Cover-Up

AUSTIN (UPI) — A third aide to Comptroller Bob Bullock has resigned, accusing top-level assistants to the comptroller of falsifying airplane flight logs and attempting to cover up questionable travel expense vouchers for Bullock and Deputy Comptroller Ralph Wayne.

Jim McNabb, a former broadcast newsman who had been working in the comptroller's office about a year, said today he submitted his letter of resignation Friday after one Bullock assistant indicated he had made changes in flight logs of the comptroller's office airplanes, and two others hinted travel expense vouchers were screened before they were handed over to reporters investigating travel expenses in the office.

Two other aides, former reporters Bill Collier and George Kuempel, resigned from Bullock's staff last week. The two refused at the time to discuss their reasons for quitting, but the Austin American-Statesman reported today their joint letter of resignation had asked Bullock to fire chief deputy Ralph Wayne, then resign himself to avoid "the inevitable scandals that will one day envelop the comptroller's office and everyone who works here."

The letter from Kuempel and Collier to Bullock said they had repeatedly informed Bullock and Wayne of actions in the office that could be considered morally or legally wrong.

"However, you have shown yourself incapable of correcting these matters more than temporarily or cosmetically. Moreover, your recent actions show that your arrogance toward the law and disrespect for the public trust placed in you is worse than ever. In short, it's clear that we're fighting a losing battle," Kuempel and Collier said.

McNabb said in the week after Kuempel and Collier left Bullock's office, "I became increasingly aware they were circling the wagons, as it were, in the comptroller's office."

"I had told lots of friends I wasn't sure what Collier and Kuempel's reasons were for leaving, but if I encountered anything that looked like illegalities or even unethical behavior in the comptroller's office, I would also leave," McNabb said.

He said during conversations with Wayne and Glen Castlebury on Friday, the subject of expense vouchers for Wayne and Bullock requested by reporters of the Houston Chronicle came up.

"It was my inference from what was said in the conversation that those things had been sorted through and any damaging or uncomfortable vouchers had been removed from the stack of those I handed over to the media," he said.

"I didn't like being used," McNabb said later in the day Friday.

High Court To Rule On New Mexico Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to judge the validity of a tax New Mexico imposes on electricity generated within its borders but transmitted for out-of-state use.

The justices said they will review a New Mexico Supreme Court ruling that the tax is constitutional.

The New Mexico Electrical Energy Tax Act became law in 1975 and was soon challenged by five public utility companies, who produce electricity at New Mexico generators but sell that power in other states.

Those firms suing the state were Arizona Public Service Co., El Paso Electric Co., Salt River Project Agricultural Improvement and Power District, Southern California Edison Co. and Tucson Gas Electric Co.

The tax law, which imposes a levy of four-tenths of one mill for each net kilowatt hour of electricity generated in New Mexico, costs the five firms about $5 million a year.

Because of offsetting tax advantages under the law, no additional tax liability is imposed on electricity which is generated and consumed within the state's borders.

After losing in the state's highest court, the five power firms sought the Supreme Court's help. They argued that the law violates the Constitution's commerce clause and a 1976 federal tax law.

In urging the court to reject the appeal, state Attorney General Toney Anaya argued, "If New Mexico electricity were not available to the (companies) and they had to generate the equivalent amount of electricity at their next-most economical plants outside New Mexico, their costs would increase by a minimum of $124 million a year."

Anaya said that overall "New Mexico's tax structure imposes a greater tax burden on electricity generated and sold in New Mexico than on electricity generated in New Mexico and sold elsewhere."

In a friend-of-the-court brief, New York, New Jersey and Maryland urged the justices to grant full review to the power companies' contentions.

Officials for the three states said the outcome of the case could affect a similar tax law enacted in Pennsylvania last year.

Because the Pennsylvania tax imposes higher costs on electricity generated there but sold in New York, New Jersey and Maryland "the burden of this new tax would fall exclusively on (the three states') consumer residents," their joint brief said.

The Supreme Court today also agreed to decide whether government employees who give hiring preference to military veterans are discriminating against women.

The justices said they will review a decision by a three-judge federal court in Massachusetts which in 1976 outlawed such preferential treatment as unconstitutional sex discrimination.

The court's eventual decision will carry broad impact.

A veterans' preference is fostered by law in the federal government's hiring practices.

Bourne Against Tougher Laws

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Peter Bourne, who resigned as President Carter's chief adviser on drug abuse, says that while cocaine should not be legalized, the government shouldn't fight it.

"I don't think we need a massive law enforcement crackdown," Bourne said. "We can't enforce the (drug) laws that we have on the books now. So that I don't think the interests of the American people would be served by having more stringent laws."

He spoke Monday in an interview taped for the Dick Cavett show to be aired on Public Broadcasting Service stations later this month.

Bourne said he had never used the drug, and denied he knew of White House staffers using it or smoking marijuana. Such reports were attributed to him in July, about the time he resigned.

Wallace To Join School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace will become director of development for rehabilitation resources for the University of Alabama school system, a spokesman said.

Wallace, who will be based at the UA's Birmingham campus, was partially paralyzed in an assassination attempt during his 1972 campaign for the presidency.

His duties are expected to include fund raising, consulting in rehabilitation, working for federal grant agencies and lecturing. He will assume his duties after Jan. 16, when the next governor is inaugurated.

Dropping A Bundle

BAYTOWN (AP) — A Baytown man had his faith in human nature renewed and his anger at his wife erased by a high school youth who returned $2,200 found in the middle of a Liberty County road.

The Lighter Side Of Today's News

High school junior Kerry Jones was driving home from his girl friend's house Sunday night when he spotted "something green" lying in the middle of the road. It turned out to be a money bag.

"I opened it up and saw all the money along with some checks and a telephone bill," the 17-year-old said.

After a few phone calls, Jones tracked down the owner of the money, John Ruse, who said the cash was part of his profits from the sale of a truck stop near Baytown.

Ruse's wife, Wanda, placed the money bag on top of their car Sunday as they were leaving from a visit with her mother in Hull.

"We must have driven about 15 miles before I realized I had left the money on top of the car," Mrs. Ruse said.

They backtracked frantically to her mother's house and were relieved to find that Jones already had called.

Ruse said he was "very surprised" anyone would return the money, and he gave Jones $100 for his honesty.

"He said he didn't want the reward," Ruse said. "But I told him that if someone else had found it, I wouldn't have gotten my money back. I didn't think there were people like that left anymore."

McGovern's Wife Sees Senate Term

MITCHELL, S.D. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's wife says she might quit politics in 1986 but wants another term in the U.S. Senate first.

"He would like to serve one more term in the Senate, but after that, I think he would be ready to retire and teach somewhere," Eleanor McGovern said in a weekend interview. McGovern's current term will be up at the end of 1980.

Mrs. McGovern repeated earlier statements by her husband that he has not seriously considered a bid for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination. McGovern was the Democratic nominee in 1972.

She predicted President Carter would be the Democrats' 1980 candidate. If not Carter, she said, probably Sen. Edward Kennedy.

Staff Hates To See Visitor Go

By ANNE PERRY

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The maids, bellmen, housekeepers and manager held a party when Alan Krauss checked out of the Marriott Inn's room 524.

It wasn't that they were happy to see him go. Just the opposite. The 45-year-old Krauss had occupied the room so long he had become a permanent fixture.

Krauss, vice president and general manager of Electra Co., an electronics firm, moved here from Los Angeles in October, 1977 and checked into room 524 for a short stay, but the room ended up as his temporary home. He is moving into an apartment a short distance away.

In honor of Krauss' lengthy stay, the motel staff gave him a send-off party Monday, complete with a cake, two mugs from the coffee shop, a "Guest of the Year" plaque with his room key mounted on it and a quilted motel bedspread.

"To our knowledge no one has stayed longer," said Dolores Parker, the motel's resident manager. "He's your typical traveling executive. He's a nice man — we had no complaints about him. He passes the time of day with the clerks and staff."

Living in a motel for a year hasn't been unpleasant, Krauss said.

"When you think about checking into a motel for a short stay and being there more than a year, it could be a traumatic experience, but actually it's been delightful," he said. "I have enjoyed the last year more than anyone believes. It's more fun for a bachelor away from home than a lonely apartment would have been. I'll miss the friendly people and the ease of things.

"I almost feel like asking if I can have a continuing 'carry out' package where they come to my apartment, wipe down the tiles and keep the bath spotless, turn down the bed and do all the little niceties I have become used to."

Krauss says his biggest challenge during the year was remembering where he'd parked his car the night before.

"It's not like putting your car in a garage or driveway every night," Miss Parker said. "He admitted to me several times that he had lost his car in the parking lot."

The cost of a year's stay? About $8,470, says Miss Parker, not counting meals.

Papal Workload Seems Too Much For One Man

By HILMI TOROS
VATICAN CITY (AP) — The sudden death of Pope John Paul I is again raising the question of whether the papal workload is too much for one man.
 But for the time being, long workdays seem to be in store for the new Roman Catholic pontiff the 111 cardinals will start voting for on Sunday.
 "One doesn't only need typewriters, but also a reading machine," John Paul is reported to have told aides during his 34-day reign.
 Some prelates say the burden of the office may have been a cause of the heart seizure that killed the 65-year-old "pastor" pope who admitted knowing little about administrative matters.
 When found dead in his bed Sept. 29, he was holding study papers in his hands. On his last workday, he granted 13 audiences, read six Roman newspapers and studied reports on the Christian-Syrian fighting in Lebanon and abuses of human rights in various countries.
 "In the hands of the pope — and on his shoulders — there is unequalled concentration of power and responsibility," the Turin newspaper La Stampa commented. "Seven hundred million Roman Catholics turn to him. He is head of a state recognized by over 100 countries. He is the administrator of a unit that has universal proportions."
 The Vatican Curia, the church's central bureaucracy, is sizable and immensely skilled, but it can't do much without the pope's consent. No document issued by the Holy See has legal validity without his signature.

 Multiplying Vatican departments only means more work for the pontiff.
 "Not only is the work too much for one person but it is getting worse, and there is nothing one can do about it without changing the concept of the papacy," says one observer of Vatican affairs.
 Questions currently raised include whether the papacy should be switched from the time-honored "absolute monarchy" system to one with clearcut division and delegation of power and responsibility, and what that change would mean to the authority of a pope.
 In addition to the cardinals and other prelates who head the Curia departments, popes consult other cardinals and bishops. But such consultations only consume more time, and the pontiffs must still make their decisions in the solitude of their office.

 "The time has come to reduce the heavy burden of pontifical work, delegating some papal functions so that work will not extend beyond human toleration," Cardinal Franz Koenig of Vienna said after the death of John Paul.
 John Paul went to bed around 10 p.m., but he got up around 4 a.m. to get ready for the heavy administrative workday he never anticipated he would face.

 His predecessor, Paul VI, often worked from 6 a.m. until 2 a.m., with only a brief afternoon nap to interrupt his labors. But he was a Vatican veteran with a liking for administrative detail, to the extent of changing punctuation marks.
 Five years ago, with Paul's frail health waning, there was active talk of a "deputy" pope. Nothing came of it since creation of the post would have meant a mafor break with tradition. That, too, needed careful and time-consuming study.

 Despite his health, Pope Paul survived the papal work load for 15 years and died at 80, the retirement age he made mandatory for the rest of the church's bishops. But he did not extend the retirement mandate to himself and once was quoted as saying: "Kings can abdicate, popes cannot."

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through the county office of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Ralph E. Griffiths, FmHA county supervisor, said.

Lubbock County had been designated for emergency loans due to the prolonged drought.

Griffiths said information may be obtained concerning the emergency loans by contacting the Farmers Home Administration office at Room 211, Federal Building, 1205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, 79401.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings, (including homes) lost through this disaster.

Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts.

Other loans, beyond actual losses, can be made for annual operating expenses or make major adjustments in a farming or ranching operation.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," Griffiths said.

"Loans covering actual losses are made at an interest rate of 3 percent and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible, consistent with the applicant's reasonable ability to pay. Loans beyond actual losses have various maturities, depending upon the purpose of the loan."

The interest rate for short-term loans for farm operating purposes is 8 1/2 percent. Long-term loans are being made at an interest rate of 8 1/2 percent.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster and be unable to get credit from other sources.

Emergency loans can be used to help the farmer restore damaged farm operations and additional loans based upon the emergency designation can be used to reorganize the farm for greater efficiency and better production.

Photographers Pick Three New Officers

The South Plains Professional Photographers Association recently had a regional meeting at South Park Inn to present a program on studio techniques and install officers for the 1978-79 year.

C. Edward Finney of Tahoka, a veteran of over 50 years in the photography business and a founding member of the association, was presented a lifetime membership award and plaque for his contributions to photography in West Texas.

New officers installed by Ronnie Shafer of Muleshoe, 1977-78 president, included: Lonnie Adrian of Plainview, president; Joe Don Buckner of Lubbock, first vice president; and Ron Stubbs of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer.

Shafer will assume the position of chairman of the executive committee, which was chaired during 1977-78 by Bob Bishop of Lubbock.

Awards in a membership print competition were presented in several categories. First place for a color portrait went to Buckner, with second place in that category taken by Adrian. In the wedding candid classification, with no first place awards, second place went to Buckner and third to Floyd Payne of Lubbock.

Best of Show award was presented to Buckner, and Best of Year award was presented to Adrian.

Speakers for the seminar included Fred Potter of Amarillo and Sandi Blauvelt of Arlington.

The association has scheduled its next area meeting for Feb. 3 and 4 at South Park Inn.

"Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," first published in 1865, was written by C.I. Dodgson under the pen-name Lewis Carroll.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

A Punch In The Noise

DEMOCRATS have kept a majority in Congress for most of the last 50 years because they're better politicians than are Republicans.

This was never put into better focus than by a Harris Poll which shows that, by a 42-26 plurality, voters believe the Democrats will do a better job than will the Republicans in "giving some tax relief to taxpayers."

One has to look no further back than this summer to see an illustration of how this feeling applies to a practical political situation.

CALIFORNIA Gov. Jerry Brown, a Democrat, fought tooth and nail against voter approval of that state's Proposition 13. He warned of dire consequences if the proposition's promised tax cuts were effected.

But as soon as the voters approved Proposition 13 despite the governor's warnings, Brown leaped out front to lead the parade. He began, overnight, to sound like it had been his idea originally.

Well, thanks to a huge surplus in the state treasury, it's going to be possible for Californians to get big tax breaks without any immediate wholesale cutback in services.

By the time the crunch comes in a year or two—when the hard choices will have to be made between cutting services or raising taxes—Gov. Brown likely will be safely re-elected and maybe even be a serious Presidential contender as the "hero" of the very tax revolution he opposed.

AT THE FEDERAL level, liberal big spenders—who tend to be Democrats although there certainly are conservative Democrats—have been adept since Franklin D. Roosevelt's days at sounding like fiscal conservatives while rolling up huge budget deficits year after year.

Let the taxpayers begin to make noises, as they did when John F. Kennedy was President, and a "tax relief" bill is hurriedly pushed through the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Because Congress doesn't even try to balance the budget, these tax cuts aren't matched by cuts in spending. Congress just okays an increase in the national debt and continues to give the voters all the goodies they were promised.

Thus, the people who get handouts vote for the big-spending Democrats and Republicans because of their "concern" for the disadvantaged, and the taxpayers vote for them because of the tax cut.

Yep. Good politics. Bad practice.

Between The Devil And The Deep...

Paul Scott:

No Luck On Fisher Expedition

WASHINGTON—Some of the most responsible investigating reporters covering the capital are hard-working journalists whose by-lines the average newspaper reader never sees.

One of these is Paul A. Fisher, veteran reporter for the National Catholic Register, Los Angeles, who daily prods away at uncovering the truth despite some past heart problems.

One of his many scoops is his story that the White House regards itself above the law when it comes to the Freedom of Information Act.

Because of the national significance of his exclusive report, we asked permission to give a wider circulation to his account.

Responding to a Register request for a list of the number of ethnics employed in government, a spokesman for President Carter states that the Freedom of Information Act "does not apply to the White House office" despite the fact that the President's office is explicitly covered by the law.

PARAGRAPH (E) OF section 552 of the Act states: "...the term 'agency'...includes any executive department..."

The official and authoritative publication which defines the history, development and function of all the department's agencies and offices of the Federal government is the Government Organization Manual.

This book lists under Executive Office of the President "White House Office" and all special assistants to the President, as well as the Office of Management and Budget, the National Security Council and many other administrative and advisory bodies.

The Register first contacted the White House personnel office in August (1977) following issuance by President Carter of a memorandum to the heads of all federal departments and agencies in which he expressed his commitment to "affirmative action" in employment in his administration.

THIS MEMORANDUM directed the White House personnel office to require all departments and agencies to provide a monthly listing of the ethnic background of each person occupying "non-career" (political) positions.

Following an initial Register written request under the Freedom of Information Act for a copy of the report on ethnic employment, James Gammill, Director of the Presidential Personnel Office, furnished this newspaper statistics on women, blacks and hispanics employed in non-career positions.

No information on the number of Austrians, Germans, Irish, Poles, Italians, French or other ethnics—required by the White House memorandum to be listed—was furnished.

IN RESPONSE to a second request, Michael H. Cardozo, Senior Associate Counsel to the President stated:

"The Freedom of Information Act, which you have cited as the basis for your request, does not apply to the White House office."

The importance of Catholic ethnics in American politics was set out in a memorandum to the President, shortly after his election, by Patrick H. Caddell, the President's principal advisor on political strategy. Caddell wrote:

"Carter did have a nagging weakness with (Catholic) voters and perhaps more apply with 'urban ethnics' rather than simply with Catholics.

CONTINENTAL Airlines, bless 'em, gets Today's May Bouquet for seeking permission to provide non-stop service between Lubbock and Los Angeles, Lubbock and Houston, Lubbock and Austin and Lubbock and Denver.

It's also wanting to offer through-plane service to Las Vegas, with a stop in Albuquerque. Mark up a plus for the Chamber of Commerce for each route activated.

Atty. Gen. John Hill called a Dallas Morning News story about him "gross, unfair, false and phony."

But other than that, Mr. Hill, how did you like the story?

Although Hill had yelled "fowl play" when GOP nominee Bill Clements tossed a rubber chicken to him at a luncheon in Amarillo earlier, the flap over allegations that the attorney general had not been diligent in investigating the Laredo street department sparked life into a dull gubernatorial campaign.

It just goes to prove what a hot potato will do, even to those who say it's only half-baked.

Howard Swindle, who wrote the controversial story about Hill, had just transferred to the News from the Dallas Times Herald. He worked for The A-J on three tours of duty.

LETTER FROM Texas House Speaker Bill Clavner:

"I was quite interested to read your (Sept. 26) column on faculty tenure. I believe that you have some interesting ideas that are worthy of review.

Holmes Alexander:

Crane's Pause Full Of Claws

WASHINGTON—Congressman Phil Crane, 48, very much wants to be elected President in 1980 and it wouldn't be a bad thing.

Today is far too early to get locked in as an avowed supporter, because we have other ambitious Republicans and Democrats to hear from, but thus far Crane looks the answer to many a God-save-America prayer.

I asked him whether he regarded the Presidential War Powers Act as conveying the right of a President to fire a preemptive barrage at the enemy if he felt the time was H-hour minus one.

"Would you do it," I asked him directly, and he thought a moment before answering, "Yes, I believe I would."

Try and find another serious Presidential candidate to speak the affirmative to this vital question, and I think you will draw a blank.

MY BET IS that some men, if President, would make preventive war, but none would make it a campaign policy to say so.

Crane may not say so repeatedly, or loudly, but all Presidential aspirants should in carefully-chosen but unweaving words.

It's even-steven whether such a message is more needed to reassure the American people that they won't have to live through a nationwide, multimegaton Pearl Harbor, or whether the warning of "Don't Tread On Me" needs to be heard in Moscow.

Americans would get some peace of mind, and the Russians would get a very good reason for meeting us with good intentions about SALT II.

A better guarantee for the Churchillian "peace by mutual terror" does not exist any more than the improbable situation of both major party platforms and their candidates telling the world that somebody else will have to shoot second—it won't be us.

CRANE WENT ON to say that among the post-war Presidents only John Kennedy made known that it would be Target Moscow, not Target Havana, in past, present and future missile crises. Whether JFK would have done the deed, who knows?

But Crane has a believability image that we haven't seen since Goldwater campaigned.

Crane's civilian background is that of an educator, and he is well-read in political philosophy, perhaps more so than befits a practical politician, which is another of his assets.

Like Goldwater, Crane calls himself a conservative first, Republican second, a candor likely to gain him more disenchanted Democrats than it will lose him left-of-center Republicans.

"Your assessment that what is needed in higher education is improved evaluation of faculty is right on target. This has been my opinion for some time.

"Hopefully, the Legislature will be better able to deal with the merit salary issue more effectively in the future. I will do all that I can."

No, Virginia, the Chamber of Commerce did not invite Henry Kissinger to speak at its annual banquet because it hoped he'd put a soccer franchise here.

TEXAS TECH law professor Rodric Schoen, supporting the Equal Rights Amendment, likes the ratification process to being "really like a contract."

This is an unfortunate analogy for his side. "One can refuse the contract, then accept it if it is still open," Schoen says, "but once one has accepted a contract, he can not reject it."

He means by that that a state can vote repeatedly to change its mind and ratify the ERA but that, once it has ratified the document, it can't change its mind again.

Let's say a document is drawn up requiring you and me and 36 other guys to sign it before it's binding on any of us. It does not become a contract until all 38 have signed it and it becomes null and void if it has only 37 or fewer signatures on it within seven years.

Let's say I sign it and you reject it, in writing, and then I decide I don't like it, either. I then notify all parties, in writing, that I've changed my mind. After that, you change your mind and decide you'll go for the deal. Can you change your mind but I can't?

 I ain't no lawyer like the purfessor is but if the law let's you change your mind after you've formally rejected a deal and before everybody else has rejected on the dotted line but won't let me change mine, then like they say "the law is a ass."

BUT LET'S SAY, for the sake of argument, that you steamroller me and won't let me back out of the deal.

Now, the seven years expire and only 35 of us have signed the "contract." I don't believe any law based on justice is going to let 34 of you bind me to the agreement against my will for another three years while you twist three more arms into accepting it.

If a proposed contract, by the terms under which it was offered, is null and void if not consummated within a certain time, then it's no longer binding on any party who signed it unless he agrees to keep the offer open.

SO, IF DR. SCHOEN'S analogy that the ERA is like a contract is appropriate, the amendment won't be binding if any state which has previously ratified it wants out of the deal after the original seven years has expired without the required 38 acceptances.

In my view, despite Congress' extension of the time for ratification and its refusal to permit rescission, Texas or any other state that has ratified the ERA can kill the whole deal if its Legislature notifies Congress that it won't be bound by any ratifications after the seven years expire next March.

The Illinois Congressman believes a double standard exists between anti-Communist nations, some of which are simon pure or almost so in political justice, and another group which are un-speakable.

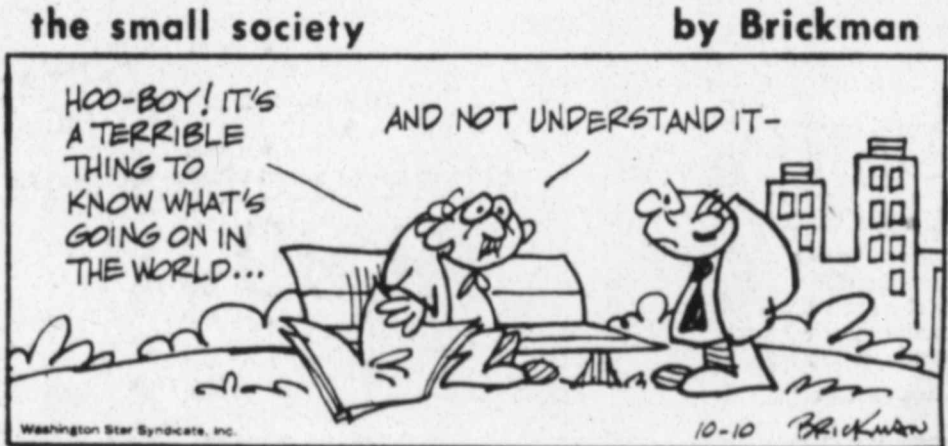

We should support the first group, but not the second, with arms and aid, but wherever U.S. national interests are involved, these come first.

Thus, the Shah of Iran, and the President of Nationalist China, would have our support regardless of internal repression.

Crane sees governmental over-regulation and over-zealous environmentalism as belonging on the Never-Would-Be-Missed list.

If Crane has a handicap it is only that he is much of a kind with Ronald Reagan—enough to give many conservatives a pause—but this is a drawback that is not very hard to live with.

Sylvia Porter:
 Take Deduct Even If Your Support Is Low

(Second of 10 columns)
 MORE AND MORE sons and daughters are getting together to contribute to help their parents make ends meet. And while they are happy to do it, this can create a tax problem for the children.

Say you, your brothers and sisters are contributing most of your mother's support, but with none of you individually contributing more than half.

The basic rule is that you can get a dependency deduction for your mother only if you provide more than half of her support.

Q. Is there anything you can do before yearend so that one of you can claim a dependency deduction for your mother?

A. Yes. Act now to arrange a "multiple support agreement, under which you, your brothers and sisters decide which of you can take the exemption.

You can trade off the exemption so that, over the years, each of you gets the chance to claim it.

THE REQUIREMENTS, according to a Prentice-Hall study:

(1) Your mother must have received more than half of her support from you, your brothers and sisters;

(2) Your mother must have less than $750 in gross income for the year (Social Security payments are not included);

(3) No one of you can contribute singly more than half your mother's support;

(4) If you're the one selected to take the exemption, you must contribute more than 10 percent of her support;

(5) Anyone else who gives more than 10 percent support must agree not to claim an exemption for your mother in the year you claim it.

Now, consider 1979. Say you, your brother and two sisters will furnish most of the support of your mother next year.

YOU EACH contribute $1,000. Since each of you provides more than 10 percent but less than half of your mother's support, any one of you can qualify for a dependency deduction under a multiple support agreement.

If it's your turn to take the exemption:
 * Review the requirements with your family now, in 1978, and make sure all the rules will be met for 1979;

* Have your brother and two sisters each fill out IRS Form 2120 stating that they will not claim your mother as a dependent;

* Attach all the Form 2120s to your own income tax return when you file and claim the $1,000 exemption.

TAX-SAVING TIP: Try to have as much of your support go to your parent's medical expenses as possible, for this rewards you with a medical deduction on top of the dependency deduction.

In the above example, if your $1,000 support payment goes entirely to your mother's medical expenses, you pick up a $1,000 medical deduction—and wind up with a total of $2,000 in deductions for your own payment of $1,000.

You can deduct medical expenses for someone who isn't even your dependent, too.

Say you pay your sister's medical expenses, but you can't claim a dependency exemption for her because she has too much income from dividends, interest, etc.

But those medical expenses are treated as yours and you may be able to deduct them, despite your lack of support.

For instance, your sister's investments give her an annual income of $3,000—not enough for her to live on, so you, her loving brother, contribute another $3,200, including $700 for her medical bills.

Your sister's income is too substantial for you to claim a dependency deduction for her.

But since you provide more than half your sister's support, you do qualify for a deduction covering the $700 you paid in medical bills for her.

TO MAKE SURE all these deductions are above question and are safe for you, now is the time to act!

If you intend to pay more than half the support of a relative, make sure you—and not the person you are supporting—pay the medical bills for that relative.

Pay by check! Then you have the proof that you made the payments you claim in 1978, if you are questioned. And of course, follow the identical careful procedures in future years.

Tomorrow: IRA plans now are more attractive than ever.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybean prices rose Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade on a lack of harvest-time selling and expectations of strong export demand.

Across-the-board advances by soybeans and corn were unexpected after the past weekend of heavy harvesting activity throughout the Midwest.

Local and speculative buying aided the price gains, as did forecasts of scattered rain in the corn belt and light cash sales of grain. Continued holding of grain by farmers has supported soybean and corn prices for several weeks.

Reports that Brazilian drought may damage new soybean plantings there, in the wake of drought damage to last year's crop as well, led to some buying in soybeans.

News after the close on Friday that the People's Republic of China has bought 276,000 metric tons of corn, with 76,000 tons identified as grown in the United States, aided corn prices.

Wheat trading was quiet, with light local and speculative buying on expectations of continued strong export demand accounting for price gains.

At the close, soybeans were 1 to 1½ cents higher, with November contracts quoted at $6.67½; wheat was 2 to 3 cents higher, December $3.46½; corn was 1½ to 3½ cents higher, December $2.29½; oats were 3¼ to 4 cents higher, December $1.49¾.

CHICAGO (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 closed 50 cents a bale lower to 55 higher Monday.

Futures prices rose in featureless trading, brokers said.

Small-Gauge Railway Boasts Own Museum

RAVENGLASS, England (AP) — One of the world's smallest-gauge public railways (15 inches) in England's Lake District now boasts its own museum.

Situated at Ravenglass, at one end of the famous Ravenglass and Eskdale Railway, the museum exhibits the railway during its first 100 years via relics, models, photographs and slides.

Seagoing mammals can function under water without breathing for up to 30 minutes.

WATER ARSENIC — Val Roberts, a 37-year-old Deseret farmer, kneels beside the well he had drilled on property where he wants to build a home. The trouble is, he can't get a federal housing loan because water from the well exceeds state and federal arsenic standards. (AP Laserphoto)

Utah Man Puzzled By Rules

DESERET, Utah (AP) — Val Roberts is puzzled because the federal government says it can't give him a loan to build a house since there's too much arsenic in his well water.

He's confused, says Roberts, because the arsenic level in nearby Hinkley is higher than in Deseret, although folks in Hinkley can get the same type loan he wants.

Roberts said the root of the problem is "regulatory agencies enforcing arbitrary rules... regardless of how it affects you."

"I don't think it's right," said the 37-year-old father of six. "If arsenic is really harmful to us then we don't want to drink it. But we don't think it is."

The Farmers Home Administration says the water in Roberts' well contains arsenic at a level just over 100 parts per billion — twice the level of 50 parts permitted by the state and the Environmental Protection Agency. Arsenic is a heavy metal that can be fatal in much higher doses.

Hinkley has a central water system built in 1965 with state Division of Health approval. Tests of the water a few years later — the first to be run — showed arsenic levels of about 200 parts per billion, or four times the standard set by EPA.

Gayle Smith, state Bureau of Water Works director, said building loans are being approved in Hinkley because the state has given the town's water system a "classification pending" rating while awaiting results of an EPA-funded study of arsenic and its effects on area residents. The two-year study will be completed early next year.

Unless EPA allows state officials to grant a variance, Smith said, "It's just a matter of time before we'll have to rate the water system in Hinkley as not approved." Last year, the National Science Foundation recommended EPA not relax its arsenic standard.

By JOE EDWARDS
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Dolly Parton began her reign as country music's entertainer of the year by sewing up a dress she tore "all the way down the front" on live national television.

The statuesque Miss Parton ripped the low-cut, pink and white dress as she sat in the audience at the Grand Ole Opry House just moments before she was chosen top entertainer at the Country Music Association's 12th annual awards show.

Miss Parton, whose big hit this year was the million-selling "Here You Come Again," held a black coat in front of her as millions watched her accept country music's top award.

After the show, she dashed to her dressing room and an aide, Denise Patrick, sewed up what may become country music's most talked-about tear.

"I busted it all the way down the front — wide open," she told reporters later. "It was just a strain on it. It was real thin material."

About 5,000 singers, songwriters, musicians and music industry officials chose Crystal Gayle female vocalist of the year for the second straight year and Don Williams top male vocalist, breaking a two-year hold on that award by blind pianist

Ronnie Milsap.

Grandpa Jones, a veteran banjo player, guitarist, songwriter and comedian on the "Hee Haw" television show, was selected the 31st member of the Country Music Hall of Fame.

"I never thought it would come to this," Jones said.

The Kendalls' "Heaven's Just a Sin Away" was picked single of the year and "It Was Almost Like a Song" by Milsap won top album. Songwriter Richard Leigh won song of the year for "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue," recorded by Miss Gayle.

The Oak Ridge Boys won vocal group of the year, displacing The Statler Brothers, who had won it six straight years. The Oak Ridge Boys' band was named top instrumental group or band.

Roy Clark, a co-star on "Hee Haw" who plays eight instruments, was named instrumentalist of the year and Kenny Rogers and Dottie West were named the No. 1 vocal duo.

Tammy Wynette did not perform as scheduled because she was concerned about bruises on her face, show spokesman Carl Wolfson said. Miss Wynette has said she suffered the bruises when she was struck by a man she said abducted her Wednesday in Nashville, then released her 80 miles south near Pulaski, Tenn. No arrests have been made.

Miss Parton said she was "very flattered and happy. It's been a good year."

Merchant Seaman Named In Assault, Mutilation

SPARKS, Nev. (UPI) — A merchant seaman was arrested Monday in the apartment of his ex-wife and charged with kidnaping, raping and chopping off the hands of a runaway teen-aged hitchhiker.

The 15-year-old victim, identified only as "Maria," was recovering from her ordeal in a Modesto, Calif., hospital, not far from where her attacker had left her for dead. Authorities said she had been reunited with her mother, who remained at her bedside.

Police Lt. Barry Toney said Larry Singleton, 51, was charged with attempted murder, sexual assault and mayhem. The question of extradition back to California would be resolved sometime today, he said.

Officers arrested Singleton at the apartment of his former wife. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Detectives also found a van parked nearby that may have been used in the abduction of the girl, whom they described as a runaway from her home in Las Vegas, Nev. One of seven children, she had been hitchhiking through California after living for some time in the San Francisco Bay area.

"Maria" was found Sept. 29, wandering dazed and nude, near Modesto. Both arms were chopped off below the elbows.

She told police a man she said used the name "Larry" gave her a ride in Richmond, Calif. A police artist sketched a picture of the suspect, which was instrumental in locating the suspect, a sheriff's spokesman said.

Officials at Scenic General Hospital in Modesto, said "Maria" was "doing very well." She was reunited with her mother and father during the weekend, they said.

Mrs. Davis Tells Of Discussing Arrangements For Security

HOUSTON (AP) — Priscilla Davis returned to the witness stand a second day and testified today she had met with the owner of a Fort Worth karate school to discuss "the security I would need for the upcoming divorce case."

Mrs. Davis was testifying in the pretrial hearing for her husband, Cullen Davis, charged with soliciting the murder of Fort Worth Judge Joe Eidsen, who had presided during the long and bitter divorce proceedings. Eidsen later removed himself from the case.

Mrs. Davis underwent about one hour of questioning from defense lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes concerning her conversations with Pat Burleson, who operated a karate school. She said several Fort Worth policemen guarded her home on their off-duty hours but that she had talked to Burleson "to arrange other security services."

As Mrs. Davis left the witness stand, Haynes said she may be recalled later in the week.

On Monday, Mrs. Davis was on the stand about 90 minutes. After questioning her about her financial dealings the past two years, Haynes asked her if she had ever attempted to contact anyone in an effort to have her estranged husband killed.

She answered quickly and firmly, "no sir." The defense and prosecution are plodding through a thick stack of motions, 83 from the defense alone, before State District Judge Wallace Moore.

Also testifying Monday was Ron Jannings, an FBI agent, who was asked if there were more tape recordings than the four previously mentioned by the prosecution. Jannings said there were no more tapes.

The tapes, first presented in court during an August bond hearing for Davis, allegedly involve the Fort Worth industrialist in a kill-of-hire contract on the life of Eidsen.

The defense questioning also involved fingerprints taken from some $100 bills allegedly paid to FBI informant David McCroly for the killing of the judge.

Jannings said none of the bills contained prints of T. Cullen Davis.

Early Monday, Davis, pale from almost two months in prison but dapper in dress and impassive in appearance, pleaded innocent to all charges.

Mrs. Davis, hesitant sometimes in her testimony and often stating she couldn't remember exact dates, was questioned over and over by the defense as to the money she had loaned or the loans or gifts she had received in the past two years.

Bank statements for the months of May, June, August and September of this year from Mrs. Davis' account were brought into court.

The pretrial hearings are expected to last throughout the week.

Moore has set Oct. 16 as the tentative date for the beginning of the trial.

SCHOOL BUS OVERTURNS — A fireman hoses down a school bus near Bloomfield, N.M., following an accident that left 18 persons injured. The bus was carrying 43 children from Bloomfield to Navajo Reservation homes when it ran off state Highway 44, slid down an embankment and tipped on its side. ## Secretaries To Hold Seminar

A mock rape trial and a one-day seminar featuring the use of hypnosis in law enforcement will be highlights of National Legal Secretaries Court Observance Week Oct. 8-14.

Joining the Lubbock Legal Secretaries Association in sponsoring the events are the Lubbock County Bar Association and the Texas Tech University Division of Continuing Education.

The seminar and the mock trial are scheduled Saturday at the Texas Tech Law School.

The events are open to attorneys, legal secretaries, law enforcement officers and anyone interested in legal education, according to the sponsors.

The morning session will include the use of hypnosis in the law, with Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson and Amarillo police detective Jim Lafavors, both certified forensic hypnotists, as the speakers.

The men have been instrumental in solving many murder and rape cases on the South Plains and also have used hypnosis to draw out exacting details in civil cases.

The afternoon session will include a mock rape trial involving an authentic Lubbock County case, with Criminal District Attorney-elect John T. Montford prosecuting and George Gilkerson as defense attorney.

Judge Denzil Bevers will preside and others participating will be Lubbock police officer Randy Ward and actors and actresses from the Lubbock Theatre Centre.

The fee for the all-day seminar is $12.50 or $7.50 for the morning session only. Registration information may be obtained by calling Doris Dye at 763-4617.

PUNCH LINE — Sheri Rosenow, 15, a Monterey High sophomore, votes in her school's homecoming queen election while "precinct judge" Betty Stanley supervises. Monterey became the first school in Lubbock to use punch-card voting equipment in a school election. The student council borrowed 20 voting machines from the Lubbock County Courthouse. # MHS Borrows Voting Booths

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

In past school elections, Monterey High students were having the same problems with paper ballots that other Lubbock citizens used to face in voting for public officials.

Paper ballots, explained student body president Paul Hancock, took too many people to count and were prone to error. Also, desk-top voting lacked privacy.

"You did not necessarily have a true secret ballot," Hancock said. "Everybody in the room could watch which name you circled."

So in the annual homecoming queen election today, Monterey became the first school in the city to borrow Lubbock County government's punch-card voting machines — complete with built-in voting booths and a tabulating computer.

The most important reason for using punch-card equipment, Hancock said, is "educational. A lot of seniors are already 18 and will be eligible to vote in the general election in November. We figure this school election would be a good way to introduce students to punch-card voting."

But there are other advantages, too.

By tradition, the name of the winner of the homecoming queen election is supposed to be kept secret until she is crowned at halftime of Friday's homecoming football game.

When Monterey was using paper ballots, it took a crew of 10 persons to tally the votes — and the results sometimes slipped out before the game.

Said Hancock of the punch-card voting system: "Because fewer people handle the ballots and no one knows the winner until the reader (the tabulating computer) is programmed to release the results, confidential election information cannot leak out as it has in the past."

Moreover, tabulating punch-card ballots with the suitcase-size computer is "much more accurate" than counting paper ballots by hand, Hancock said.

Monterey students voted for homecoming queen during homeroom period. Homerooms were grouped into 20 voting precincts, and each precinct had its own punch-card voting machine, Hancock said.

He and other school officers said County Judge Rod Shaw and County Clerk Frank Guess were "very cooperative" in making the election equipment available to the school.

"County Clerk Guess stated that many new voters are not familiar with the use of the voting machines. Guess expressed hope that prior exposure to the machines would encourage young adults to take advantage of their right to vote," Hancock said.

Nominees for homecoming queen are Stephanie Brown, Sharon Collier, Connie Dickey, Cathy Gaschen, Lisa Hensley, Robin Igo, Vicki Jacks, Terri Luskey, Terri McMillan, Malinda Milam, Sheryl Sanders, Mary Sue Stiles and Kelly Woolam.

The queen will be crowned at halftime of Monterey-Pampa football game at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Lowrey Field.

Library Of Congress Loaded

By HOWARD K. OTTENSTEIN
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Shortly after its founding in 1800, the Library of Congress was burned to the ground — along with much of Washington — by the British. Fortunately, it was rebuilt, and has since grown to a size that librarians of 150 years ago could hardly have envisioned.

Today's Library of Congress houses 18 million books, 4 million pieces of music, 8 million photographs and prints and 250,000 reels of motion pictures. And the library's collection is growing at the astounding rate of 7,000 new items each working day.

You don't even have to visit the library to take advantage of its vast resources.

Is there a question — on almost any topic — that has you stumped? Write the Library of Congress for the answer. Address inquiries to the General Reference and Bibliography Division, Reader Service Department, Library of Congress, 10 First Street S.E., Washington D.C. 20540.

The research librarians ask, however, that you solicit their help only after you have exhausted all local and state information sources.

If your question is of a scientific nature, the library's National Referral Center for Science and Technology will help you get in touch with the individual or organization that has the answer. Write the Referral Service in care of the Library of Congress at the above address.

The Library of Congress has a special Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped that records or prints in braille some 2,500 different written works and musical compositions annually. The books and records are then distributed to about 150 state and city libraries.

For more information on the library's services for the handicapped, write the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, 1219 Taylor St., Washington, D.C. 20542.

The Library of Congress doesn't just collect books. It publishes them as well. Among its diverse offerings are "The Civil War in Pictures," "Journals of the Continental Congress (1774-1789)" and "Detroit and Vicinity Before 1900." The library also sells such recordings as "Folk Music of Puerto Rico" and "Robert Frost Reading His Own Poetry."

Railroads In Poor Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department said today the nation's freight railroads are in poor financial shape because of past government policies, such as over-regulation, and recommended several changes to save the industry.

In a report to Congress, the department said that unless the problems are corrected, the railroads will face a capital shortfall of between $13 billion and $16 billion in the next decade.

The report said that if the railroad industry is to improve its financial standing and remain in the private sector, "changes must be made in the structure of the industry and in government policy towards railroads and other modes, both in regulatory policy and in financial assistance."

In an accompanying letter, Transportation Secretary Brock Adams said, the situation "has developed because traditional rail markets have shifted, and the railroads have not fully held their own against the new technologies of air, highway and inland waterway transport."

"Also, the government's policies on regulation and financial assistance have not been equal for all modes of transportation," he said. "Many government policies were developed when the railroads were the dominant mode — a circumstance that is no longer the case."

The report concludes that continuation of current trends and policies would result within the next decade in an industry facing enormous financial problems, competing only for bulk shipments of low-value goods, lacking the resources needed for safe operation and quite possibly operating under the financial control or ownership of government agencies.

To counter these trends, the report recommended:

—A cutback in Interstate Commerce Commission regulation of the industry, including allowing the railroads more flexibility in setting rates and exempting it from regulation where other forms of transportation are not regulated.

—Continuation of actions to restructure the railroad industry by encouraging coordination agreements, market swaps and joint use of track and terminals to save operating costs.

—Improvements in the railroad's management of assets and of regulations between labor and management.

—A continued program of federal financial assistance.

Federal Railroad Administrator John M. Sullivan stressed the need for change in the industry and government policy to warrant it, noting that the industry makes significant contributions to the nation's economy.

"I believe it can be returned to health," Sullivan told a news conference. "But that will require a major national commitment to the principles of decreased regulation, fairness in policies toward all modes of transportation, elimination of unnecessary or excessively costly services and prudent use of taxpayer resources," Sullivan said.

The report is preliminary. Its recommendations will be discussed in Congress and in public hearing before a final report is submitted early next year.

The schedule for public hearings is: Boston, Nov. 28; Atlanta, Nov. 30; Philadelphia, Nov. 30; San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 5; Seattle, Dec. 5; Chicago, Dec. 7; San Francisco, Dec. 7, and Washington, Dec. 12.

Mishap Injures Local Woman
A Lubbock woman was in critical condition today at Methodist Hospital following an early morning traffic accident at 10th Street and Avenue X.

The 1:50 a.m. mishap critically injured Virginia Jo Hanson, 27, of 3117 31st St., and sent two other persons to Methodist Hospital with minor injuries.

Police said Miss Hanson was a passenger in a car traveling west on 10th Street, when it was in collision with a vehicle northbound on Avenue X.

Peter George Davis, 27, of 3117 31st St., the driver of the car Miss Hanson was in, was treated and released at Methodist. The driver of the other vehicle, Jack George Raines, 22, of 1915 Ninth St. No. 3, was also treated and released.

Reports indicate the collision caused Raines' vehicle to ram an unattended car parked on 10th Street.

News Briefs
Edwin Dabroski, 20, of 5401 4th St. was in serious condition today at Methodist Hospital with head injuries sustained when he was struck by a pickup truck in the 5800-block of 4th Street about 6:45 a.m. Monday. The vehicle was driven by Monty Pinnell of 5716 2nd Place, according to police. Dabroski reportedly was jogging to Reese Air Force Base, where he is a fireman, when the mishap occurred.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET
Stock Prices Fall Back To 891.46

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, leveling off after Monday's sharp rally. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which had climbed 13.17 points Monday for its biggest gain in more than a month, slipped back 1.73 to 891.46 by noon Tuesday.

Gainers led a very slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts had found little in the news to explain Monday's upsurge. For a while, it seemed to generate its own momentum, but today it apparently ran into some skepticism.

President Carter was scheduled to hold a press conference at the close of the market this afternoon. And brokers noted that traders often tend to move cautiously in advance of such pending matters.

Citigroup topped the active list, unchanged at 27 1/2. Most other issues showed only modest price changes.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks dipped 0.5 to 58.85. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .06 at 171.55.

The trading pace picked up as many traders returned from a Columbus Day holiday. Volume on the Big Board totaled 11.17 million shares at noon, up from 7.76 million at the same point Monday.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Keep your willingness to share with others within reasonable bounds tomorrow. Be generous, but not in a way that you'll later collect giver's remorse.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A desire to put your personal stamp on things that are going well without it could work against you tomorrow. Let sleeping dogs lie.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your self-confidence may be too negatively affected tomorrow by what you think others think of you instead of what you think of yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Unless you know exactly what you're doing tomorrow you could end up in the unusual situation of being a winner who loses in the process.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When it comes to conceptualizing tomorrow, it's very likely you'll produce brilliant ideas. When it comes to executing them your grades are much lower.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Get an early start tomorrow. Do what needs doing as speedily as possible. Procrastination lessens your self-confidence considerably.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Where your self-interests are at stake tomorrow, try not to yield too much control. Others could perform poorly on your behalf.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be prepared to make adjustments on short notice tomorrow regarding a major goal. One you count on for help may not be sympathetic to your cause.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Much of your success will be dependent upon how well you can manage others tomorrow. Be firm, but don't be arrogant.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're warmly received by friends tomorrow, but you must guard against doing impulsively foolish things that could create some shock waves.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) As long as you abide by your logical judgment you'll keep everything under control tomorrow. If you let your emotion make the decision it will be another story.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your chances for personal gain are very good tomorrow. Don't do anything not in accord with your highest standards, even though a temptation presents itself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The coming year should be a fun one for you socially, and a rewarding one materially. It will be necessary, however, that you set up a budget and live within your means. # Califano Says Americans Cover Up Death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American society has tried to hide death in the same way Victorian society tried to cover up sex. HEW Secretary Joseph Califano says.

"And by banishing the idea of dying, we have too often banished the dying — banished them to physical and emotional isolation, to denial of reality, to unnecessary pain, both psychic and physical," he said.

"We modern Americans are singularly uncomfortable with the idea of death, and that diminishes our ability to comfort the dying and their families."

Califano's remarks were made Thursday during the announcement of an experimental program under which federal money will pay for services for the dying, such as pain killing drugs and in-home care, not now covered by Medicare or Medicaid.

The British already have developed a similar program for treating dying people.

Califano also said he will convene in Washington next year a national conference on the care of dying patients, and will direct the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to develop grants and contracts to train health personnel to deal with terminally ill patients.

Califano said the traditional hospital may not be able to meet the special needs of the dying because standard medical practice is to subdue pain, not to control it.

He noted there will be 41 million Americans age 65 or older — nearly twice as many as at present — by the year 2000. Cancer continues to devastate, taking one life in America every 80 seconds, or 1,000 persons every day, he said.

"In the months that we have been at work, a strong consensus has emerged that the hospice approach is medically valid, humanly sensitive and operationally sound," he said.

"We will issue in the near future an invitation for demonstration and evaluation projects in hospice care," Califano said. "Under these special demonstration projects, we will waive limitations that now prevent reimbursement under Medicaid and Medicare programs for hospice services."

He noted those restrictions now provide for no reimbursement for custodial care at home, no payment for bereavement counseling and no reimbursement for pain controlling drugs used at home.

Lack Of Cholesterol Bad News For Bones

SEATTLE (AP) — Banning Mr. Cholesterol from the dinner table might be good news for your heart, but bad news for your bones, a doctor says.

Dr. Jennifer Jowsey told a hospital seminar that low-cholesterol diets — with reduced intake of calcium-rich dairy products — can lead to osteoporosis, a condition in which bones become brittle or soft. And she said many diets are high in phosphorus, a mineral which binds up available calcium. Miss. Jowsey said the

Food Stamp Benefits To Rise Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — New federal food stamp regulations ordered by Congress last year will take effect by Jan. 1 and will include elimination of a current requirement that poor families spend part of their incomes to get benefits, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said today.

Meanwhile, the rising cost of groceries will mean a further increase in government food stamp benefits on Jan. 1, Agriculture Department officials said.

Bergland told a news conference that the theme of the new law and the regulations "is to eliminate those who should not be receiving food stamps, while assurings that we do get food stamps to those who are truly in need."

In July, the most recent month tabulated, about 15.3 million persons benefited from food stamps, he said.

Bergland said an estimated 3 million persons not now getting food stamps will be added to the program as the new rules take effect, mostly low-income working people and elderly persons.

But the tighter restrictions will probably eliminate a million higher-income persons from getting stamps, he said. That means a net of about 2 million persons may be added to food stamp rolls because of the new regulations.

A Bergland aide, Bob Greenstein, said the food stamp program for the new fiscal year that began Oct. 1 probably will cost about $6 billion, compared with approximately $5.5 billion in 1977-78.

Greenstein said part of the expected increase will be due to a boost in food stamp allocations that will take effect Jan. 1.

Although the increases will not be announced until next month, preliminary calculations by the Agriculture Department indicate they will go up at least 5 percent.

The law requires adjustments in food stamp allocations twice a year, based on the cost of a "thrifty food plan" compiled by the department.

The monthly food stamp allocation for a four-member household was raised July 1 from $174 to $182, a 4.6 percent increase.

At present, a family has to pay for some food stamps and then gets bonus coupons free, depending on family size and its monthly income.

For example, a four-member family with an adjusted monthly income of $250 to $270 a month now buys $71 worth of stamps and gets $111 worth of stamps free to spend like cash at grocery stores, a total of $182 a month.

When the new regulations are put into effect, the qualified family can get just the bonus coupons and not have to buy any with its own money.

Thus, using current rates, the same four-member family would get $111 of free food stamps without having to buy any.

On the average nationally, food stamp recipients now pay about $4 of their own money to get $10 worth of coupons.

By law, the thrifty food plan for September will be used in setting the food stamp allocation beginning Jan. 1, 1979. It will be calculated after the Labor Department reports September consumer prices on Oct. 26.

But the cost of the August thrifty food plan as reported by USDA was about $192 a month for a four-member family, including two adults and two elementary school-age children.

Thus, the August food plan cost about $10 a month more than the July 1 food stamp allocation for a four-member household, a raise of about 5.5 percent.

Last week the Labor Department reported a rise in wholesale food prices for September after declining for two months this summer. That signaled a possible new round of grocery store increases — and another boost in the cost of the thrifty food plan used to figure food stamps.

Senators Vote To Trim Business Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Senate has its way, there'll be no tax cuts in future years unless Congress holds down the growth of federal spending.

On the other hand, a successful fight against rapid spending increases would reward Americans with new tax cuts totaling $64.5 billion between 1980 and 1983. That would mean a tax reduction of about $453 over those four years for a typical four-member family earning $20,000.

There is no assurance that the tie between future tax cuts and reductions in federal spending growth will be accepted by the House.

But the fact the amendment won such broad support, 65-20, in the Senate Monday night indicates the election-year concern about inflation.

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., a sponsor of the proposal, said that while there is little doubt Americans want tax relief, "I do not believe that they would welcome tax reductions at the expense of increased inflation, continued deficits and profligate government spending."

The Senate voted today to cut back slightly on one business tax reduction approved by its Finance Committee. An amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., allowing the first $25,000 worth of machinery purchased each year to be written off over a three-year period was approved, 62-25.

That provision would cost about $200 million less in 1979 than would the committee version, which would have allowed quicker write-offs of all purchases, under the Asset Depreciation Range law.

The Nelson amendment aims to help small businesses.

With final action on the overall bill expected tonight, some of the biggest battles on the measure were still to come.

The Senate was faced with efforts to scale back the capital-gains tax cut recommended by the Finance Committee and attempts to include some of President Carter's tax-revision proposals that were rejected by the panel.

A big roadblock to final Senate passage of the bill — and to congressional adjournment for the year on Saturday — was removed Monday when the Senate voted, 62-28, to bar non-tax amendments from the bill.

That vote could end any chance of enacting this year either the Humphrey-Hawkins full-employment bill or legislation to control hospital costs.

Passage of the tax bill also may be expedited by the fact the Senate has already enlarged the tax cut to the point where there is no room in the budget for a bigger reduction.

The bill, which came out of the committee with a $22.9 billion price tag, now is valued at $30 billion. The budget limit on revenue losses will rule out any additional cuts unless they are accompanied by other revenue raisers.

The budget squeeze is jeopardizing the current tax deduction allowed for state and local gasoline taxes. The House voted to repeal the deduction, as did the Finance Committee.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., is leading a fight to retain the deduction, as the Senate has voted consistently to do in recent years.

When it was pointed out that the $1.2 billion cost of keeping the deduction would break the budget, Helms agreed to put off a vote.

Third Aide To Bullock Quits Post

Assistant Comptroller Ed White asked him if the Chronicle reporters had accepted as satisfactory the flight logs for fiscal 1976 and 1977 for the comptroller's office.

"I said 'yes,' and he said, 'That's great because I haven't got anything to back them up,'" McNabb said. "He indicated later he had 'made a few typos' on them or something like that. That indicated to me those flight logs, if not fabricated, were at least doctored."

The logs, however, formed the basis of a Sunday story in the Chronicle that said recent logs indicated a high percentage of flights with only one or two passengers.

During the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, the logs indicated 47 flights on which Bullock was the lone passenger and 26 on which Wayne was the only passenger.

In his letter of resignation, McNabb said he had seen excesses in operation of the comptroller's office, but indicated the excesses involved staff members rather than Bullock.

"During the past year, I have seen what I deem to be excesses in this agency. I attempted to close my eyes, hoping they either did not exist or they simply would go away," the letter of resignation said.

"It was not until I witnessed what I will call 'cover-up' and 'fabrication,' that I reached the point of not wanting to be a part of it all," the letter said.

McNabb told Bullock, "To maintain the respect and trust of your employees and the people of Texas, I believe you must rid yourself of those who — in spite of their best intentions — would do you and your office harm through irresponsible deeds and bad advice."

He said later he referred to White, Jack Roberts and Wayne as those Bullock should remove from his staff.

McNabb said he had discussed his resignation with Kuempel and Collier, and said today, "They have a good deal of information they compiled over a long period of time, and they turned it all over to the American-Statesman."

When newsmen reached Bullock for comment on the charges, he said he had no idea what the former aides were talking about when they asked him to resign to avoid "inevitable scandals."

"I'm sitting here trying to wiggle a dagger out of my back and figure who's Brutus?" quipped Bullock.

Judge Objects To Photo Use

er indicated to anyone my support for him."

About the same time, Dalby said someone was taking his picture. "Two people were talking to me and a young lady handed me a clipboard and asked me to sign here."

The judge, up for re-election in Post, said he assumed he was signing a registration form which everyone else in attendance already had signed.

"They converged on me," Dalby said. "It was a little more than I could comprehend at one time."

Early in September Dalby said he sensed something was amiss when he received a $1 check from the Clements campaign as a "modeling fee for a news release."

On Sept. 12 Dalby returned the check with an attached message: "I cannot accept the check as I do not wish to act as a model for news releases."

The judge said he didn't learn his picture was being circulated all over Texas in the tabloid until Friday. "I was shocked to find out I had made the tabloid," he said.

"I was set up," he said, adding he thinks the Clements campaign "can be blamed" for the set-up. "They had ample time to retract my picture from the tabloid" after the $1 check was returned, he said.

"I have never, nor will I ever support Clements for governor," he said. "I'm running for re-election also and I want them (constituents) to know who I'm supporting."

However, at a news conference immediately following Dalby's and in the same room, Clements representative Omar Harvey emphatically denied Dalby had been tricked.

As former head of Clements' effort to recruit Democrats and independents into the Republican nominee's camp, Harvey said he talked with Dalby on several occasions last summer to enlist his support for Clements.

"He said at that time 'I'm interested — I'm philosophically more aligned with Clements,'" Harvey recalled.

But Dalby stopped short of endorsing Clements at that time, Harvey said.

After several conversations Dalby "re-assured me he was still supporting Mr. Clements, but said he was having problems coming out in the open."

During one conversation, Harvey quoted Dalby as saying "Omar, you can't believe the pressures I'm getting put on me" not to support Clements.

Although Harvey was not present when the release was signed, he talked to the Clements campaign worker who was there.

"Dalby came (to the reception) as a supporter of Clements, just as everyone did," Harvey said.

During the reception Harvey said Dalby was asked "May we take your picture? I'm assuming you're supporting Clements?" Harvey said, Dalby replied "I am."

Harvey said Dalby was asked why he was supporting Clements and he said Clements is "conservative, honest, forthright and I can trust him in Austin."

As for Dalby's claim that he didn't know he was signing a release, Harvey said it couldn't have been mistaken for a registration form because "there's no place for anyone else to sign."

"I can't justify the fact that a county judge would sign something he didn't know what it was."

Harvey said he has "no earthly idea what prompted the judge to change his mind," but suggested it probably was the result of "pressure put on him" by the Hill campaign.

"It's like the judge changing his mind about your sentence two hours after you were executed," Harvey said.

Harvey said it was impossible to remove Dalby's picture from the tabloid after he returned the $1 check because the advertisement "went to press immediately," although Harvey didn't know exactly when.

Harvey said he agrees with the judge that he's been set up — but "on the other side of the fence." "When he had the photograph taken, Dalby knew what he was doing," Harvey said. "I'm absolutely confident Giles Dalby knew what he was signing."

High Court To Rule In Tax Controversy

unlocked suitcase in a car trunk. Past Supreme Court rulings have made an exception for automobiles, because of their mobility, in requiring search warrants.

—Agreed, in a case brought by Ford Motor Co., to decide whether prices charged for food in an employer's cafeteria or vending machines are subject to union bargaining.

—Agreed to judge the constitutionality of a 1973 Arizona law setting guidelines for collective bargaining by farm laborers, who are excluded from coverage by the National Labor Relations Act. A federal appeals court has ruled that several provisions of the law infringe on free speech and free association rights of farm workers and unions.

—Refused to review the appeals of four persons, two in Florida and one each in Georgia and Texas, who were sentenced to death on convictions of murder. In each case, the appeals alleged trial or sentencing errors.

In the veterans preference case, the disputed Massachusetts law first reached the Supreme Court a year ago, when the justices set aside the invalidation and told the lower court to review its ruling in light of a 1976 Supreme Court decision.

In that landmark ruling, called Washington vs. Davis, the high court said a class of persons charging it had been treated unequally by some act of government must prove not merely an adverse impact but that the challenged act had a discriminatory "intent."

The court in Boston did restudy the case in light of the Supreme Court ruling, and once again struck down the state law.

The panel ruled in May that the high court's decision did not apply to a veterans' preference law because the law was not "facially neutral" — that is, its wording clearly showed a bias against women.

Helen Feeney, a Massachusetts state employee who worked as a clerk and personnel coordinator from 1963 to 1975, challenged the veterans' preference law.

On three occasions, Mrs. Feeney had taken civil service tests as an applicant for better paying government jobs. Each time her ranking was lowered because veterans — always men — with lower test scores were elevated ahead of her when the veterans' preference formula was applied.

Mrs. Feeney has been unemployed since she was laid off her state job in 1975.

In her lawsuit, she claimed the veterans' preference law violated her rights to equal treatment as guaranteed by the Constitution's 14th Amendment.

Moro Aftermath Shakes Italian Government

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
 ROME (AP) — Via Aldo Moro: streets all over Italy now carry that name. Medals and monuments, too, honor the former premier, turning him into a popular hero four months after his death at the hands of terrorist kidnapers.

But fallout from this Moro-mania also threatens to unglue the political alliances that held together so firmly during Aldo Moro's long captivity by Red Brigades terrorists.

At least three books will go on sale soon in which major authors examine Italian terrorism and the handling of Moro's kidnapping by the government and its political allies.

Recent publication of new letters written by Moro during the 55 days he was held has also touched off a political storm. The letters, kept secret until now by police investigators, are viewed as damaging to the Communist Party. It is not known who leaked them to the press.

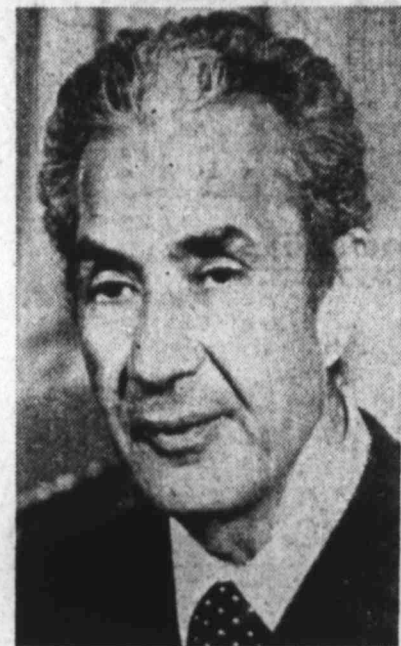

As happened in the United States after President Kennedy's slaying in 1963, many Italian cities and towns renamed schools, streets and squares following the abduction of the five-time premier in an ambush in Rome on March 16 and the discovery of his body June 9.

A table-tennis tournament in Genoa, a cycling race near Rome and a gymnastics exhibition in Naples were all renamed for Moro as part of the recent trend to honor him.

The trade fair in his hometown of Bari in southern Italy sold Moro coins valued at 5,000 lire each — $5.50 — that were accepted as money at the fair. And the annual festival of his Christian Democrat Party issued Moro stamps for use in sealing letters.

Italians still make pilgrimages to Via Michelangelo Caetani, the narrow street, a stone's throw from the Communist and Christian Democrat parties' headquarters, where Moro's body was found stuffed in the back of a car. They pray and leave flowers and such notes as "Man dies but the ideal remains, the blood of martyrs is the seed of Christianity."

But some critics say the rush to create a Moro myth is in bad taste and is merely an attempt to make political capital out of his death.

"It's not the bocce tournaments that are offensive," says Vittorio Cervone, a senator who was a close friend of Moro, "but the bad faith of those in the party who always held Moro in contempt but who now have realized that he is merchandise which sells well."

Moro's widow, Eleonora, and family friends have cut ties with the Christian Democrat Party, which along with the Communists supported a hard-line stance and ruled out any negotiations with Moro's captors. Some reports say Mrs. Moro will join the Socialists, the one party that urged no door be closed in an attempt to save Moro's life.

Socialist leader Bettino Craxi recently was given a bullet-proof Alfa Romeo, protection Moro was without when he was grabbed by gunmen who killed his five bodyguards. Craxi said the donors included friends of the Moros.

The government's no-deal stance, applauded at the time by Italy's allies and Italians themselves, is now subject to considerable second-guessing.

And the press is filled with reports of various schemes to free Moro that were said to have been under consideration by top officials — despite their proclaimed hard-line stance — such as releasing one jailed terrorist and giving the Red Brigades "recognition."

Noted Sicilian author Leonardo Sciascia in an upcoming book disputes the contention that Moro's letters were not "morally attributable" to him but were written by a man under duress or perhaps drugged. He claims Moro was abandoned or betrayed by his allies for their own political reasons.

Other critics say the refusal to recognize the letters as indeed those of Moro "the politician" is merely an attempt at myth-making.

Moro wrote several dozen letters from captivity, addressed to political and governmental leaders and friends, urging the government to make a deal to save his life.

"I die if my party so decides, in the fullness of Christian faith and in the immense love for an exemplary family I adore. But this bloodbath will not go well for (party secretary Benigno) Zaccagnini, (Premier Giulio) Andreotti, the party. Or for the country. Each will have to bear his responsibility," he wrote in one letter.

In another letter published for the first time just two weeks ago, he accused the Communist Party of giving him the death sentence "as a reward after the long march." This appears to be a reference to the political deal he had engineered just before his kidnapping to open the doors to political power to the communists for the first time in 30 years, though denying them cabinet seats.

The Communists claim the publication of the letter is an attempt to discredit them and set back their chances of entering the government of this NATO-member country.

Paradoxically, the wave of Moro-mania is coming just as police appear to have made a breakthrough in the hunt for Moro's kidnapers with the arrest of Corrado Alunni, the reputed leader of the Red Brigades.

Ching-Kuo Addresses Nationalists

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) — President Chiang Ching-kuo today exhorted Taiwan's 17 million people to stay vigilant against communism and said Nationalist China's foremost goal still is to recover the Chinese mainland.

Chiang spoke following a military parade that for the first time included rocket launchers and missiles made in Taiwan. Today is the island republic's national holiday.

More than 30,000 people, including overseas Chinese, local and foreign dignitaries, heard Chiang speak from in front of the Presidential building in a sporadic light rain.

It was Nationalist China's first military parade in a decade and the first reviewed by the Chiang since he became president last May.

Chiang called on the 17 million people of Taiwan to follow "our courageous and unconquerable forefathers and national martyrs" in the fight against communism.

He said they must "undertake any sacrifice in our sacred cause by taking up the responsibility for struggle against Communism and for national recovery."

"We are convinced that we shall succeed by rallying ourselves to support this overall objective, unifying our will, strengthening our convictions and demonstrating the sincerity and solidarity of our struggle," Chiang said.

The Nationalist Chinese disclosed last week that they had built their first ship-to-ship and air-to-air missiles, manufactured in Taiwan with technological know-how from the United States and Israel.

Also joining the parade of tanks and artillery were 12,000 troops, cadets, reservists and self defense units from Quemoy and Matsu, the islands which directly face mainland China.

Government officials said that while Nationalist China maintains diplomatic ties with only 22 countries, more than 2,000 foreign guests from throughout the world attended the celebrations, which observed the 67th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Republic by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Taiwan has been the seat of the Nationalist Chinese government since the regime headed by the late President Chiang Kai-shek was driven out of the mainland by the Chinese Communists in 1949.

The Chinese Communists consider Taiwan an "unliberated" province and have vowed to "free" it by any means.

Egyptian Paper Reports Firing Of Arms Head

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Ashraf Marwan, the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser's son-in-law and a former confidant of President Anwar Sadat, has been fired as head of the Arab arms manufacturing consortium, the newspaper Al Akhbar reported today.

The report said Marwan, 34, was demoted to the Foreign Ministry because of dubious practices as head of the Arab Organization for Industrialization, or AOI.

"It is not expected that he will be given important work at the Foreign Ministry," Al Akhbar said.

The paper said Marwan turned AOI "into a state within a state," paid some of his employees very high salaries not justified by their work, and "tried to give color television sets to a number of public figures, but they gave the sets to the organizations for which they worked or refused the gifts."

Saudi Arabia, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates and Egypt set up the AOI with a capital of $1.1 billion to produce weapons for Egypt and other Arab countries. Marwan's last big deal was an agreement last month with a French firm to build the Alpha jet trainer plane in Egypt.

In an interview with the Associated Press last spring, he said he was operating AOI independent of Egyptian laws. He said he had transferred 1,600 workers from Egyptian war plants although Egyptian law does not allow employees to be fired. He said his organization also was not subject to currency restrictions or customs duties.

Western military observers in Cairo said Marwan appeared to be running AOI efficiently without the bureaucratic interference that afflicts most public enterprises in Egypt.

Ag Movement Plans More Tractorcades

By SHAUNA HILL
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Lubbock will be one of eight starting points for an American Agriculture Movement tractorcade which will converge on Washington, D.C., in January.

In a repeat performance of last winter's protest against low farm prices, American Agriculture leaders say at least 1,000 tractors will roll toward the nation's capital as soon as the December harvest has ended.

"The purpose of the tractorcade is to inform Congress that the situation is worse," said Gerald McCathern, American Agriculture leader from Hereford.

"Our cotton crop is not near as good as last year's, the corn crop is only a little better, and inflation and higher prices have destroyed about 30 percent of our purchasing power.

"We are at about the same level below parity as last year, about 63 percent below," he said.

Parity is a theoretical price at which crop prices and production costs are in balance. The 1909-1914 production period is the last time parity is said to have existed.

"We feel we will be successful if we can get 1,000 tractors in Washington," McCathern said. "We hope to pick up 300-400 tractors at each of the eight locations stretching from Bismarck, N.D. to Houston.

"Denver, Amarillo, and Dallas are other cities designated as starting points," he added. "We plan to have several miles of tractors stretching along the nation's main highways."

Tractorcade participants will meet at one of the starting points, travel on major highways through major cities, and meet in Washington while the legislature is in session.

"We plan to get on our tractors every morning and go see our Congressmen during the rush hours," McCathern said. "Those people are not going to appreciate our slow tractors in fast traffic, but tractors will be the only transportation we have once we get there."

Participants in the tractorcade plan to pull travel trailers behind their tractors, camp out in Virginia, and commute to Washington.

"We plan to cook our own meals and not leave a lot of money in Washington," McCathern said.

Some of the participants are planning to take their families. A few Colorado farmers already have contacted teachers who will travel with the tractorcade and keep the children caught up in schools.

"We'll stay until we find out if Congress is going to act or close its eyes to our problems," McCathern said.

Jerome Friemel, an American Ag leader from Hereford, said most farmers would stay in Washington at least a month, maybe two months.

One Texas farmer at an American Agriculture meeting in Lubbock this past weekend said, "I'll stay for the duration, until something gets done."

Insisting that Congress put enough pressure on the administration and the president and calling for enforcement of the present farm bill (Farm Act of 1977) was one of the primary concerns cited by McCathern.

"The secretary of agriculture has the power to set parity rates at 90 percent under the current law, but the president will not let him. The law is being enforced at its minimum, and we want it at its maximum," he said.

McCathern explained that a new law would not have to be passed, but that a concurrent resolution calling for enforcement of the current bill would be needed.

Someone to represent agriculture producers within the Department of Agriculture and legislation calling for identification of all foreign imports are other items supported by the American Agriculture Movement.

"My wife, if she had a choice, would buy goods that said 'Grown in a hot house in the U.S.' rather than goods that said 'Packaged in Mexico,'" McCathern said.

The unsanitary packing conditions and use of chemicals followed in the U.S. and reasons for the growth in choice, he said.

On a local level, American Agriculture members plan to have public rallies and "educational meetings." A December tractorcade to Austin, a warm-up for the national demonstration, is a possibility being considered, Friemel said.

"If the president sees fit to do something constructive for agriculture we may not go. But if he continues to take the attitude he has taken since taking office — we're going to Washington," McCathern emphasized.

American Agriculture members have used the tractorcade effectively in the past, most notably when they surrounded the South Plains Mall, blockaded 44 Lubbock businesses, and surrounded a Plainview meat packing firm in December of 1977.

Smith Airs Hot Check Threat

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Justice of the Peace Charles Smith said Monday he will begin turning away certain requests for prosecution of hot check cases because county commissioners have refused to provide him with an additional secretary.

After the commissioners' decision Monday, Smith said he and Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy of Precinct 6 have been overburdened for about three years and that even the total of five secretaries he asked commissioners for would barely be adequate.

He said two or three persons per day likely will be turned away. Most will be owners of small businesses, clients "that we have never heard of or seen before."

Smith said he handles 35 to 50 persons with hot-check complaints daily and most of those individuals bring five to 10 checks at a time. He said that figure did not include large clients like grocery store chains.

The Precinct 1, Place 2, Justice of the Peace said his office has collected about $300,000 in restitution, mostly for hot checks, this year.

He said his comments were "to draw attention" to what he termed the commissioners' failure to provide him with the necessary help.

"I don't have anything to lose, really," he said.

Smith had told the court he needed a full-time secretary to replace the CETA or federally financed one he lost recently, and Commissioner Alton Brazell said he would not approve a fifth secretary because the county could not afford it.

County engineer Arnold Maeker reported that payment is being held from a contractor until requirements are met for the paving of a 64-space parking lot between Avenues F and G and next to the alley between Broadway and 13th Street.

Maeker said Strong Paving Co. has not been paid the $25,000 called for in its contract because of potholes in the paving and bumper alignment markings that need to be redone.

County employees have been using the lot, however.

Maeker also reported that two drill piers were accidentally omitted from blueprints for the new jail now under construction.

He said Furr's Construction Co., the general contractor has been instructed to install the foundation piers and has estimated the extra cost at $2,000.

The commissioners approved raising rates paid by the county to foster parents in line with state increases planned for Jan. 1.

Tom Purdom, an attorney who belongs to the Childrens Protective Services board of directors, and Jonette Walker, supervisor of the Lubbock County organization, made the request.

The rates will increase from $5 to $5.50 per day for children to 9 years of age and from $5.50 to $6.50 for those 10 to 17.

Some children come under the jurisdiction of the county because they or their parents fail to meet requirements for state funding, Mrs. Walker said.

All, the cousin of Mohammed, was famous among ancient Persians for the beauty of his eyes.

FIREMEN AT WORK — A burning match or cigarette thrown in a trash can is believed to have started this fire Monday night at Furr's Family Center at 4426 34th St. The blaze began about 8:35 p.m. in the northeast portion of the center and it took firemen about 10 minutes to squelch the fire. A fire department spokesman said smoke damage has been estimated at more than $1,000. No one was hurt in the incident. (Staff Photo by Holly Kuper)

Dunbar-Struggs High Principal Joins Students' Jam Session

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff
The principal of Dunbar-Struggs High admits he "turned a few heads" when he walked into his school's jazz-rock class, picked up a saxophone and started jamming-with the students.

But Roy Roberts, an accomplished musician, is that kind of guy. And the jazz-rock program, the only one in Lubbock, is that kind of course. The emphasis is on improvising — and bringing together a variety of talent.

"I think the students were fascinated when they realized, 'Wow, here's our principal playing our music.' Music has been a big part of my life. That's why I am so excited about having jazz-rock offered at Dunbar-Struggs," said Roberts.

The jazz-rock program, one of the Dunbar-Struggs' "magnet" features, will make its first public appearance at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday. The class will play for students in the auditorium of the Dunbar campus.

Teaming up with the jazz-rock class will be the 12-member Panjammers, Dunbar's widely acclaimed singing group.

Thursday night, the students will perform about five selections at a Rotary Club function in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Stage bands at local high schools have long performed some jazz and rock music. But the Dunbar-Struggs course is the first in which such music has been made a formal part of the high school curriculum.

Besides performing, students in the class have an opportunity to develop skills in writing and arranging for jazz-rock groups.

"This is new territory," said Mike Cantwell, Dunbar-Struggs' new band director and jazz-rock instructor. "It's more an intimate group," he said, allowing students to adapt the music — both standards and modern songs — to their own styles.

The Dunbar-Struggs course is offered to sophomores, juniors and seniors throughout the school system. Students may commute to Dunbar-Struggs on a part-time basis (transportation is provided by the school district), or they may schedule all their classes at Dunbar-Struggs.

Cantwell said 21 students are enrolled in jazz-rock, which is offered in the afternoon.

"This is such a critical course, not only for students but also for the school district as a whole," he said. By drawing students, especially whites, from across the city, jazz-rock and other magnet courses set up by the district's court-ordered desegregation plan help achieve a racial balance voluntarily at Dunbar-Struggs, he said.

Because of the importance of the jazz-rock course, Cantwell said, "It's nice to know the administration is behind us. Principal Roberts gives us tremendous encouragement and support — he's got a special interest in the music program."

Roberts played in bands in college and in the Navy, and was a professional musician before and during his career in public education. In fact, Roberts was ready to join a band in Denver when he was sidetracked to Oklahoma and decided to accept a job as a high school band director.

While director of the Dunbar band in the 1950s, Roberts organized the Dunbar Combo and later the Roy Roberts Combo.

Jazz, he says, "relies on the closeness of people working together. Just like any team, the players must depend on one another."

That quality is what makes the jazz-rock program "such a good drawing card" as a magnet course at Dunbar-Struggs, Roberts said.

Cantwell said jazz-rock fits in well with the Dunbar-Struggs courses in piano, also a magnet program, and in music theory. The programs are designed for both beginning and experienced musicians.

James Price is assistant in the jazz-rock program. Director of the Panjammers is Chris Shinn.

Prison Inmate Starving Self

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Doctors have forced a death row inmate sentenced to die for the murder of a policeman in an effort to keep him alive until his execution.

David Lee Powell, 27, condemned to die by lethal injection, had not eaten in 13 days and was trying to commit suicide by starving himself, his attorney said Monday.

Prison officials, saying it was their responsibility to keep Powell alive until he is to be put to death, transferred him to the prison hospital Monday and inserted a tube down his throat to his stomach.

"At 5 p.m. doctors force-fed him by pumping liquid nourishment into his stomach, and his condition has improved," said prison spokesman Ron Taylor. "He is now taking liquid on his own."

Taylor said he did not know if Powell resisted the tube, but said Powell was in a "weakened condition" when taken from his death row cell at the Ellis prison unit, 18 miles from here, and hospitalized.

His attorney, Edith Roberts of Austin, said the former high school valedictorian was "very suicidal. He wants to die. The instructions he gave us during the trial were to argue for the injection."

Powell pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to the shooting death of policeman Ralph Abanado, 28, who had stopped him for a traffic violation.

His execution date has not yet been set, and Taylor said the appeals process probably would delay any execution for years.

"He wants to die now, but we have the responsibility to maintain his health" until he is to be put to death, Taylor said.

Powell began his fast Sept. 27, the day he was convicted in Austin. He was transferred Friday from the county jail to Ellis' death row.

Defense attorneys said Powell became a University of Texas honors program student and a "speed freak" and drug dealer. They said he was not responsible for his actions.

Texas last used the electric chair in 1964. Lawmakers changed the method of execution to death by injection in 1977. Prison officials have yet to use the new method, which calls for a lethal dose of sodium thiopental injected into the prisoner's bloodstream.

the other is that East will be short in diamonds, forcing you to ruff high in dummy, which will promote a trump trick for the defenders if hearts happen to break 4-0.

However, you can avoid both these pitfalls with a loser-on-loser play. First, to prevent the defenders from shifting the attack to diamonds, you should win the first club, then immediately lead a spade to the ten. Assume East finds the best defense of rising with the ace of spades, cashing the king of clubs, and shifting to a diamond. Win the king of diamonds, cross to the jack of trumps and lead the queen of spades. On this trick you discard a diamond from your hand. West wins the king of spades, but that is the last trick for the defense. You win any return, cross to the king of trumps and discard your remaining low diamond on the jack of spades. Now you draw trumps and claim.

Lubbock PTA Groups Provide Variety of School Activities

By FRANCES LOWE
Family News Editor

With Lubbock schools six weeks into the year, Parent-Teacher Associations, the backbone of parent involvement in the schools, are gearing up for a year of activity.

While the staple of the PTA program is the familiar meeting at which, after the salute to the flag and the reading of minutes, Mrs. Jones' fourth-grade class presents a program of songs and skits, PTA activities encompass many areas of concern to students, teachers and parents.

Without the fund-raising projects of the PTA, few schools could provide such "frills" as landscaping, outdoor learning centers or public-address equipment.

At Evans Junior High School last week, PTA members approved the purchase of a telephone message system, a book return cart and new mats for the gymnasium — such gifts are typical of PTA contributions.

Most elementary schools in this area have already had their first meeting of the year, usually a get-acquainted session with a talk by the principal, introduction of teachers and the opportunity for parents to visit their children's classrooms and admire their artwork.

At many elementary schools, safety programs are a major contribution of the PTA. At McWhorter, for instance, Gerald Judd, assistant principal, oversees a model safety patrol program, while a fire safety inspection by parents and PTA representatives, teachers, administrators and health department officials, will be done this month.

The "Eagle Eye" program in use in several local schools is another example of PTA safety consciousness.

The major source of funds for many local PTA's, and a highlight of the year for children, is the Halloween Carnival. Designed to provide safe entertainment and keep the children off the streets, the carnival has grown in popularity. Typically, parents tend the booths and games and provide homemade goodies for sale or prizes.

Bayless Elementary School plans a fall festival rather than a carnival, but the purpose is much the same — to provide an evening of safe fun. Most carnivals are for elementary school children but Thompson Junior High is also planning one for Halloween.

Early in November, children and teachers will begin work on programs for the holiday season. Bean Elementary School plans a Thanksgiving program by the kindergarten classes. A few weeks later, a "Santa Claus" shop will open, with inexpensive gifts for the children to buy.

At Hardwick Elementary School, the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will present a musical program in November. Rush Elementary School students plan a program on "The Meaning of Christmas," with songs, choral readings and speaking parts on the customs and history of the season.

Wheelock Elementary School students will decorate the school and learn Christmas songs for their program on "The Magic of Christmas," while Parsons Elementary School will sponsor a festival of lights, with a "living Christmas tree" and old-fashioned carolling.

Parkway Elementary School children are already looking forward to "Mr. Grumpy's Toy Shop," which they will present at Alderson Junior High School.

Most PTA officers are just beginning to plan their Spring programs, but Brown Elementary School has already scheduled the annual spring concert by its sixth grade, while Parkway plans to celebrate Public Schools Week in March with a patriotic program.

Among the more ambitious spring projects will be Bayless' "Super Spectacular," an all-student performance titled "Texas" in March. Neal Wright Elementary School plans a spring festival, Hardwick a spring carnival and DuPre Elementary School students will participate in an all-school entertainment in March.

Neal Wright is also planning a "games day," when parents will be pitted against teachers and students will be spectators.

Upper-level PTA's generally begin later and meet less often than elementary. Most junior high schools have their first meeting sometime this month, usually an open house when parents follow a "mini-schedule" of their children's classes, meet their teachers and learn first-hand what passing period is like.

Junior and senior high school bands, choruses or choirs frequently entertain at their meetings, talent shows are also popular. At Estacado High School, for instance, the Christmas program will feature the school band and choir.

Monterey High School plans a teacher appreciation day, an annual custom, for the spring. At Smylie Wilson Junior High School, a spring open house will feature a display of student work in shop, art, home-making and science classes.

Teachers' talents are on display this week at Lubbock High School, where art work, needlecraft, leathercraft and other handmade items are being shown.

Besides the carnivals and festivals which form the bulk of their fund-raising activities, PTA's raise money by selling school yearbooks and shirts, identification jewelry and, of course, school pictures. In addition, some schools plan events like the pie sale at Bowie Elementary School this fall, Roscoe Wilson Elementary School's spaghetti supper in the spring or Parson's rummage sale later this year.

A relatively new PTA project is the outdoor learning center, which has grown in popularity of late, and involves teachers, students and parents. In Lubbock, Maedgan's Elementary School was the first such learning center, and still is a model. Overton Elementary School and Bayless are among the schools currently working on the new learning centers. In fact, Bayless plans to use funds raised this year for both an amphitheater in the learning center and a permanent stage in the school cafeteria.

DEAR ABBY: I have many comments in mind when I read various letters in your column, but I must write about the newly coined word, "clergyman" in lieu of "clergyman," — in order to avoid offending women.

I think the funniest feminist term I ever saw was in a college newspaper that referred to a freshman as "freshperson."

MARION F. IN PHILLY

Dear Marion: Thanks for another for my collection. I still think replacing "manhole" with "personhole" takes the prize.

DEAR ABBY: Never in my life have I been so miserable. I am writing this as I sit in a hospital corridor where I have been for six hours waiting, waiting, waiting until a 12-year-old boy comes out of surgery.

Last night I was driving my car when I suddenly struck something. It was this boy on a bicycle. He was directly in front of me without a light anywhere on his bicycle. He was wearing a dark shirt and dark trousers. I had no idea that he was there until I hit him. I wasn't going fast, but this poor kid was badly injured, and I was told that his chance for survival were slim. And if he does live, what his mental condition will be is anybody's guess.

You can't help me — or this boy — but maybe if you print this, parents will see it and make sure their kids have the proper lights on their bikes so that accidents like this can be avoided.

Thanks, Abby.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am Wife No. 2. My husband's previous marriage ended in divorce seven years ago. (They had three children.)

My husband's ex-in-laws recently invited him (and me) to their 50th wedding anniversary party. He accepted even though he has not been part of their family for seven years.

Of course, his ex-wife and their children were at this party. When Wife No. 1 asked my husband if he would mind posing for some "family" pictures with her, their children and the grandparents, my husband posed for "family photographs" of a family he is no longer a member of.

Was I, Wife No. 2, out of line to object to the picture taking bit under the circumstances?

WIFE NO. 2

Dear Wife No. 2: Yes. Even though your husband is no longer married to the mother of his children, perhaps the golden wedding couple (and conceivably your husband's children) would treasure a picture of three generations (of which you are not a part).

A giant shark costume for Halloween is just the thing for the kid who has seen the movie five times — and for all its size and drama, it's quite easy to make.

A yard of light gray muslin or canvas (or spraypaint a white or beige piece gray), some white plastic tape, glue, a sheet of clear red vinyl, and two pieces of black poster (22"x28") are the ingredients.

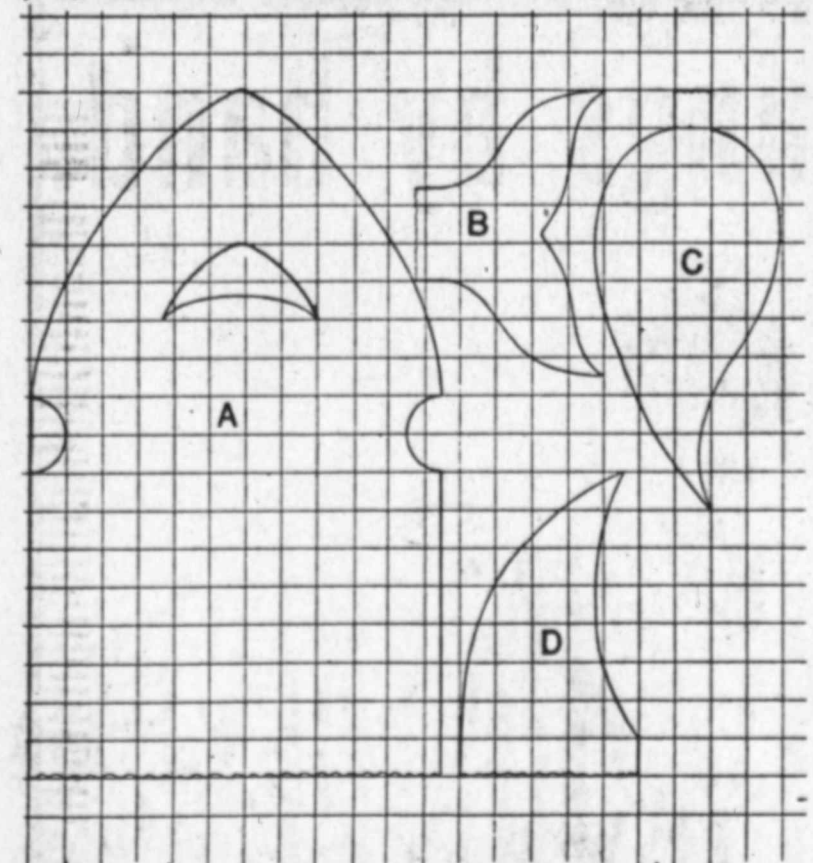

Make a tube of the cloth by lapping the selvage edges one over the other and gluing. Press the tube flat with seam at center back. Cut the shape of the shark's snout at the top of the tube. Turn tube inside out. Join the back and front of snout together in a lapped seam with glue. Draw the mouth outline on the front of the costume 6-8 inches down from the top. Cut out and tape red vinyl over the opening. Cut half circles in the double tube for arms at a comfortable height for the child.

When glue is thoroughly dry, turn shark suit to right side. Cut teeth from white plastic tape and arrange around holes. Punch a few air holes between teeth. Cut eyes from circles of black cloth or plastic tape and glue in place.

Stuff snout with crumpled newspaper or tissue paper, to raise it above child's head so his face can peer through from the mouth and breathe through the holes. Cut flippers out of black poster paper. Bend the tabs on the flippers and glue them to the top inside of armhole. When child puts on the costume, make slits at the lower end of each flipper; run cord through and attach to child's wrists so flippers will cover and also move with his arms. As a final touch, if you want, you can cut and glue on a tail and dorsal fins on the back of the costume.

Armed with fish net, your candy-eating monster will be ready to scare the neighbors!

FREEHAND PATTERN — A man-eating shark costume is one that can be done freehand. A giant mouth with savagely pointed teeth will give you the vicious effect you want. For those who like a pattern, here are the various parts based on making a body and head, 22 1/2"x36". Each square is 2". The parts are: A, body; B, tail; C, flippers (make two); and D, dorsal fins (make two).

Consultant Offers Decorating Advice

TRaverse City, Mich. (Special) — People furnishing a home or apartment on a limited budget generally ask two questions: "What do I really need first?" and "How do I keep my place from looking bare?"

To help answer these questions, decorating consultant Mary Ann Wills offers the following advice:

1. Start with a sofa and two chairs, plus a bed, and don't skimp on quality. Buy the best you can afford.

2. Rely on accessories to make up for lack of furnishings. With careful shopping and placement, you can achieve a decorator look at little expense.

"It's important when working within a budget to formulate a plan of how you want your home to look when it's completed — even if home is a one-room studio," Miss Wills said. "This will tell you what pieces you need, though not necessarily how much to spend."

The objective is to make your money go as far as possible, according to the consultant for a major furniture company. That's why she emphasizes quality in such items as a bed and living room seating pieces.

"Not only will they be around for a long time; they'll also take heavy use, day in and day out," she explained. "Rather than settle for something that will break down and have to be replaced in a few years, budget most of your dollars for these basics and start out with the best."

In other furnishings, temporary solutions can often make good sense. Instead of fine dining furniture, for example, you might consider a well-styled dinette set that will work in a kitchen later on. If the "perfect" living room lamp is beyond your purse right now, look for something less costly that can wind up in your bedroom. The same might apply to an area rug, if carpeting isn't provided.

When it comes to occasional pieces, consider inexpensive accent tables such as a wicker-look group and plan to use them for a future den or patio. Or check second-hand shops for usable bargains, but beware those that need repair beyond your ability or spare time. Unfinished furniture can also be a bargain, if you have the time, patience and space to do the required work.

As to overcoming the dreaded bare look, this is where accessories come in. They needn't be expensive to be effective, and many are adaptable to a wide range of decorating schemes and purposes. When they've served the purpose in one room or area, they can be shifted to fill a void elsewhere.

'Creative' Cook Wins National 'Cook-Off'

CHICAGO (Special) — "Home at the range" is where Mrs. Charlotte Granville of Silver Lake, N.H., says she spends much of her time. At the recent National Beef Cook-Off she proved it was time well spent when she walked off with first place and $1,500. "Buffet Butterfingers in Brandied Mushroom Sauce", chuck top blade steak styled for the gourmet, was her winning entry at the fifth Cook-Off held in Oklahoma City recently.

Creative cooking is a favorite hobby of Mrs. Granville who has won several other cooking contests. She also won the New Hampshire state contest last year and participated in the 1977 National Beef Cook-Off. Mrs. Granville's other hobbies include golf and bridge.

Picking up the second prize of $750 was Miss Rena Head of Idabel, Okla., for her novel dessert entry, "Hearty Party Beef Tarts" featured spicy mince meat served in pastry shells and topped with whipped cream, maraschino cherries and pecans. "Zesty Beef Salad", a hot beef creation sprinkled with peanuts, won Mrs. Jesse Landhuis of Fort Dodge, Iowa, the third prize of $500.

The Cook-Off is sponsored annually by the American National Cowbelles and the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. It is open to anyone not connected professionally with food. The contest serves to demonstrate the appetite appeal and versatility of the more economical beef cuts. Recipes must use cuts from the chuck, round, rump or fresh brisket of beef.

BUFFET BUTTERFINGERS IN BRANDIED MUSHROOM SAUCE

12 boneless beef chuck top blade steaks, cut 3/4-inch thick
"Please DO Eat the Daisies" Garnish
1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter or margarine
1 1/2 lbs. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1/2 cup warm brandy
2 tbsps. Madeira wine
2 tbsps. dry sherry
2 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
Salt and pepper
Chinese Hot Oil, if desired
3 tbsps. water

Prepare "Please DO Eat the Daisies" Garnish. Divide each steak into 2 pieces, following natural seam and removing connective tissue between pieces. Refrigerate. Cook mushrooms in 1/4 cup butter or margarine in large frying-pan, stirring gently, for 8 to 10 minutes. Add chopped green onion (reserved from garnish); continue cooking and stirring 1 to 2 minutes. Add warm brandy. Ignite; shake pan until flame is extinguished. Add Madeira and sherry; stir in flour, mustard, garlic salt and pepper. Cook slowly, stirring, until slightly thickened. Stir in salt and pepper to taste. Keep warm until needed or reheat slowly. Quickly brown steaks (a few at a time) in 1/2 cup hot butter or margarine in large frying-pan to medium-rare turning to brown evenly. Allow about 2 minutes for each side. As steaks are cooked, remove to warm platter. Add 1 drop hot oil to each steak, if desired. Add water to drippings in frying-pan, stirring to combine. Stir in the warm mushroom sauce; ladle over steaks. Scatter onion daisies over steaks and serve immediately.

Note: If preferred, steaks may be brushed with melted butter and broiled (about 2 inches from heat) for about 2 minutes on each side.

"PLEASE DO EAT THE DAISIES" GARNISH

12 green onions
12 slivers carrot (1/2 x 1/16-inch)
Cut each green onion into 6-inch length; chop green ends only and reserve for sauce. Remove outer skin from onions and carefully cut off tip of bulb. Cut slits lengthwise in bulb of each onion to fringe, forming "petals." Insert a sliver of carrot into the center of each fringed onion (for the "stamen"). Place onions, blossom side down, in water and refrigerate (to crisp onion and curl petals).

SECOND PLACE WINNER: Miss Rena Head, Oklahoma.

HEARTY PARTY BEEF TARTS

2 lbs. boneless lean beef chuck, cut 1 inch thick
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 cup water

1 tsp. ground cinnamon
16 maraschino cherries with stems, if desired
48 pecan halves, if desired

Cut beef in 2 x 4-inch pieces. Mix flour and salt in brown paper bag; add beef and shake to coat. Place beef on rack in 12 x 8-inch baking pan. Add water to pan. Cook, uncovered, in hot oven (400-degrees F.) for 15 minutes, turning as needed to brown. Lower oven temperature to 325-degrees F., cover pan tightly and continue baking 45 minutes. Let beef cool. Lower oven temperature to 200-degrees F. and place pecans in shallow pan in oven for 20 minutes. Cover raisins with boiling water. Pour apricot brandy over pineapple. Put beef through food chopper, using medium coarse blade. Grind pecans to a meal. Combine brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon in large bowl. Add apple juice, apple butter, ground beef, pecans, raisins (drained) and pineapple with brandy, stirring to combine. Place frozen tart shells on baking sheet and pierce with fork. Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees F.) for 10 minutes, until golden brown. Combine 3 tablespoons sugar with 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Whip cream, gradually adding sugar mixture, until it stands in peaks. Fill each tart with 1/2 cup beef mixture and top with whipped cream. Garnish each tart with 1 cherry and 3 pecan halves, if desired. Yield: 16 servings.

THIRD PLACE WINNER: Mrs. Jesse (Kim) Landhuis, Iowa.

Fry green onions until transparent in oil remaining in pan; add beef strips and continue frying about 3 minutes on high heat, stirring constantly. Spoon hot beef mixture on top of tomato and onion slices. Sprinkle peanuts on beef mixture and top with salad dressing. Serve immediately. 6 servings.

Food, Gifts Featured At Festival

Altrusa Club of Lubbock will sponsor a Food and Craft Festival to benefit its new Language Bank Saturday at the Lubbock Christian College Field House.

The festival, to be held from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., will feature gifts and art and foods from many countries. There will also be, from time to time during the day, live music and exhibitions by karate and gymnastics teams. Mrs. Christine Pappas, chairman of the International Relations Committee of Altrusa, announced.

Many international groups in the community have reserved booths for the festival and will be selling foods, gifts and native crafts from their countries.

The Language Bank is a new Altrusa program to benefit visitors and new residents in Lubbock from other countries. A "bank" of volunteers will be available to assist such persons by serving as interpreters in situations in which they find it difficult to communicate.

Mrs. Pappas said the bank has already had several urgent requests for interpreting services. Volunteers are encouraged to join the program.

BILLBOARDS AGAINST CHARTER CHANGE — Billboards visible from many of Philadelphia's main thoroughfares advise voters to vote against proposed change in the city's charter to allow a mayor to run for more than two consecutive terms. Those favoring the charter change say the people should be able to vote for anyone they want as often as they want. Those against change say two terms for total of eight years give a mayor enough time and power to be effective. (AP Laserphoto)

Local Tax Collector Cites Filing Errors

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Many Lubbock property owners are reading their city-school tax bills wrong and giving the tax office fits. David Whitmire, assistant collections supervisor for the City of Lubbock-Lubbock Independent School District tax department, said Monday he has had to assign two staff members "solely to the task of trying to straighten out the situation."
"Part of the problem, he said, is that this year's tax statements contain "much more information than we've listed in the past. People seem to get lost when they try to find exactly what they are to pay."
Inclusion of the additional information was necessitated by the state's new "truth in taxation" law and because the city and school district now are offering different homestead exemptions for the elderly.

Texas Inmates Jeopardizing Early Release

HUNTSVILLE (UPI) — Several hundred Texas inmates participating in a sit-down strike protesting prison conditions could be jeopardizing their chances to earn credit toward early release, says one prison official.
Texas Department of Corrections spokesman Ron Taylor said Monday charges of violating prison rules would be filed next week against the striking convicts, more than 100 of whom remain outside in an exercise yard at the Ellis unit north of Huntsville.
"Next week we will begin to file the appropriate charges and go through the due process hearing," Taylor said. "In this instance it could mean solitary time. It could mean a loss of good time. It could mean a loss of class."
"A loss of class means a reduction in the inmates' ability to earn good time applied against the serving of their sentences."
Taylor said the inmates Monday showed no sign of ending their protest of prison conditions.
The rest of the inmates in the nation's largest prison system observed Columbus Day, a work holiday.
The inmates began their protest at noon Thursday. Prison officials adopted a "wait-them-out" position and supplied only water to the assembled protesters. Food has been denied and the inmates have maintained their outdoor vigil during the fall's first cool front.
"They are just sitting. From time to time they are talking with one another," Taylor said of the protesters. "But it's basically the same situation we've had for the last four days."
Inmates who left the strikers earlier in the weekend remained in their cells, awaiting administrative punishment.
Taylor said the TDC planned also an investigation of the wounding of three inmates at the Angleton facility during the first phase of the prisoner strike last week.
The three prisoners received superficial wounds from a shotgun blast at the Darrington Unit on Thursday. They were treated and returned to their unit later in the day.
Taylor confirmed Sunday the men had been injured, contradicting earlier reports from the unit that no one was injured when guards fired warning shots at a group of inmates moving toward them.
"I can only apologize for not being properly informed about this matter," Taylor said. "I failed to receive all the proper information and I guess it was really a lack of communication."
"TDC is investigating the incident."

Vandals Set Fire To Texas School

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jay High School students, who got an unexpected two-day holiday after a Sunday night fire blamed on vandals caused more than $100,000 damage, will probably return to class Wednesday, according to school officials.
"It's the worst case of vandalism in the district's history," said Northside School District Superintendent Ed Cody, who added that the vandals also damaged other portions of the school. "If (the damage total) could be substantially more than $100,000."
"It was definitely arson," said Assistant Fire Chief Reyes Lopez. The fire had been smoldering for several hours before it set off an alarm about 6:30 p.m. Sunday, he added.
The blaze began in the science laboratory of the 3,000-student school on San Antonio's north side.

The NAACP executive committee will convene an hour before the meeting of the general membership.

All Interest On Charter Campaign

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — In the nation's fourth largest city there appears little interest in the race for governor of Pennsylvania. Overshadowing that election is a bitter, racially-tinged struggle led by Mayor Frank Rizzo to change the 27-year-old City Charter so he can seek a third term next year.
"They say we are making it a black and white issue," said Rizzo in a recent campaign stop. "It's not a black and white issue. I'm the mayor of all the people. I've said it a hundred times. But you never read that in the newspapers."
But it was there. And what the news media also reported was Rizzo's controversial "vote white" rhetoric in a city that is nearly 40 percent black.
When that racial message was sharply criticized, the 57-year-old former police commissioner backtracked and conceded he should have said "vote Rizzo." He then accused the media of distorting his position.
"The power of the press frightens me," Rizzo said. "They won't give you a fair shake. They have the presses and they're responsible to no one."
A Gallup poll commissioned by a local television station reported anti-charter change forces will beat Rizzo's effort by 2 to 1, and the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin in another survey found the amendment going down by a substantial majority.
Rizzo attacked the poll results, just like he attacks all opposition against him, and quotes supporters' claims that he's ahead: "I knew they'd be dropping polls on me that said I'm behind. They tried the same thing in 1971 (his first mayoral race)."
He's also lashed out at black reporters, whom he labeled prejudiced, and against black leaders for allegedly urging supporters to "vote black."
"What we need are some Italo-American reporters, some Polish, some ethnics who might represent us and get our side," Rizzo said.
"They call me a racist. It's unbelievable. I've done as much for blacks as I have for whites. The ultra-liberals? I'm more liberal than all of them when it comes to human rights."
But then Rizzo goes into white neighborhoods, always avoiding the city's black sections, and pledges to stop public housing, or the busing of school children.
This racial rhetoric, getting shriller as the Nov. 7 election showdown draws closer, has been sharply condemned by two major candidates for governor, by the Fellowship Commission, and by religious leaders.
The Fellowship Commission, a human rights volunteer agency, charged Rizzo injected "fear-mongering and hate-mongering" into the charter debate. And the gubernatorial candidates — Democrat Peter Flaherty and Republican Richard Thornburgh — echoed that view, calling it "sad and wrong."

The city charter limits a mayor to two consecutive four-year terms, and Rizzo supporters said this restriction denies the people the right to choose who they want for as long as they want. Opponents to amending the charter insist two terms are enough time and enough power.

KIDS ONLY CLUB Balloon Games Can Be Fun

By SHARI LEWIS
I'm crazy about balloons. I love their squishiness and bright colors, their ability to float and fly, the remarkable change they make from limp lump of rubber to bouncy blown-up balloon. I even like the shocking disappearing act balloons do when they burst!
Here are two good games to play with balloons!

1 — BOUNCE—A—BUNCHA —BALLOONS. Toss up five or six round balloons. Bat them about with your hands and see how long you can keep all your balloons up in the air.
2 — BALLOON ROCKET. Blow up and tie a long balloon. Stick your pointer finger (watch your nail now!) into one end of the long balloon, and twist your finger around once or twice. (Your finger will stick to the balloon and will twist that part of the balloon around with it.) Now hold that balloon up in the air and let go — see how far it shoots.

TODAY'S BRAIN TWISTER: Almost all rivers flow from north to south. In America, there is a river that flows from south to north.

Kennedy Wants Violent Teens Justly Tried

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says states should get tough with violent juveniles, bringing them to trial in adult courts and sentencing them to "significant punishment."
"The idea of independent juvenile courts ... has backfired," the Massachusetts Democrat said. "There has been a notorious lack of rehabilitation. The violent juvenile is often let off with a slap on the wrist."
In a speech this week at a convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Kennedy for the first time endorsed moves to try youths accused of violent crimes in adult courts rather than in the more protective atmosphere of juvenile courts.
"Some significant punishment should be imposed on the young offender who commits a violent crime," he said. "This should translate into jail in a special juvenile facility for the most serious violent offender."
Kennedy takes over next year as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles most federal anti-crime legislation. His hard line on juvenile crime surprised some listeners accustomed to the senator's liberal voting record.

Kennedy said the nature of the crime, rather than the defendant's age, should determine which court handles the case.
"Age cannot justify treating the 17-year-old rapist or murderer differently from his adult counterpart," Kennedy said.

Israeli-Syrian Border Still Potential Hot Spot

By MICHAEL PRECKER
RAMAT MAGSHIMIM, Golan Heights (AP) — Five years after Syrian tanks overran this Jewish settlement on the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights of Syria, the bullet holes are neatly patched, the battle-ravaged apple orchard blooms again and reorganized defenses present a stiffer challenge to any future invaders.

Last week, after Israeli naval vessels shelled Moslem West Beirut in the midst of Syrian attacks on Christian positions in the continuing conflict in Lebanon, there were fears of another war between Israel and Syria. In any such conflict, the Golan Heights and such settlements as Ramat Magshimim would be the front line.

When Israel was attacked on two fronts on Oct. 6, 1973, Egypt's successful assault across the Suez Canal into the Sinai Desert attracted most attention. But while Israeli troops fought a holding action on the southern front hundreds of miles from population centers, an outgunned tank force clung desperately to the Golan Heights to block a Syrian thrust into the heart of Israel.

The attack was repulsed in some of the fiercest fighting of the 30-year Arab-Israeli conflict. But five years later, while Israel prepares to make peace on its southern front with Egypt, the Israeli-Syrian border still simmers with the potential for another explosion.

Syria leads the opposition to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's peace initiative and refuses to join negotiations. Israel insists on keeping at least part of the Golan Heights from which Syria shelled Israeli villages in Galilee until 1967 and rejects Sadat's contention that the Camp David principle — peace in return for captured Arab territory — could apply to the strategic plateau.

Should war resume, the Israelis are confident they have learned the lessons of the Yom Kippur War of October 1973, when a surprise attack on Judaism's holiest day found 180 Israeli tanks facing an invading tank force of 1,400.

Israel's civilian settlements in the 400-square-mile sector captured in 1967 were evacuated when fighting erupted in 1973. Now they have become key elements in what the military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Raphael Eytan, calls "territorial defense."

Speaking of this settlement two miles from the frontier, Eytan said, "Had Ramat Magshimim been then what it is today, the Syrians would not have even managed to get close to it."

Military censorship forbids a full description of Ramat Magshimim's defenses, but the settlement has fortified bunkers, and its communal bomb shelter is covered with boulders that look impenetrable.

"If a war broke out, the women and children would leave and the men would stay and fight," said Mrs. Dina Moses, adding that the army "taught us new ways to fight."

Although the number of troops in the area is limited by the 1974 cease-fire agreement, the army isn't far away.

"Now and then soldiers will knock on the door and ask to come in and take a shower," Mrs. Ephraim Zohar said. "And every Friday we bake cakes for the troops."

The settlement of several hundred religious Jews hardly looks like a military camp. The families live separately but work collectively to grow cotton and wheat, raise cattle and operate an auto garage.

The simple concrete homes are surrounded by flowers and greenery. Work proceeds on a new synagogue. The clusters of children playing on the lawns present a pastoral scene a visitor might not expect to find so close to Syria.

The residents nearly found themselves caught in the crossfire on the Yom Kippur Saturday afternoon five years ago.

"We were getting on the bus at two o'clock when the shelling started," Mrs. Moses recalled. "Everyone grabbed a kid and went down to a shelter. We just sat and listened to the shelling. Nobody knew it was a full-scale war."

During a lull that night, women and children were taken to a kibbutz in Galilee.

"The men stayed and finished praying, but we went with just what we had on," Mrs. Moses continued. "As we were going down the Heights there were flames burning on either side of us. We saw all the soldiers going to fight. It was a terrible feeling. We felt like refugees."

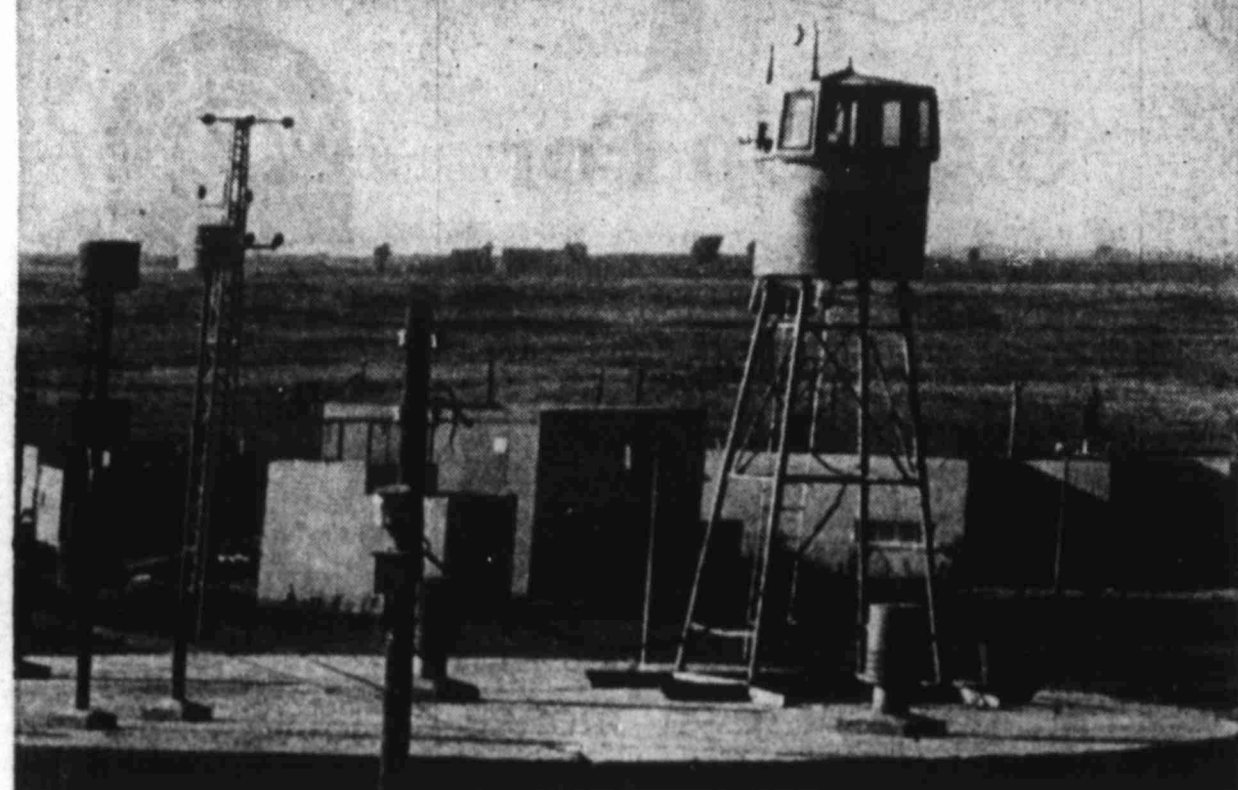

The men left early Sunday morning. Later that day a Syrian column reached Ramat Magshimim, which is on a key road curving around the eastern edge of the Heights down to the Sea of Galilee.

The Syrian advance was stopped after 36 hours. By the war's fifth day Israeli troops had driven the Syrians back to the 1967 line. The ensuing counterattack pushed to within 25 miles of Damascus, the Syrian capital, but the Israelis later withdrew under the cease-fire worked out by then-Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The Golan War's toll was heavy: 772 Israelis and an estimated 3,500 Syrians killed, 250 Israeli and 1,300 Arab tanks knocked out.

The Heights were blackened by the war. Some of Ramat Magshimim's buildings were damaged, "and the tanks ran back and forth over our apple orchard and destroyed it," Mrs. Moses said.

But the Syrian soldier "didn't touch anything" in the settlement. "They probably thought, 'Why destroy anything? We're coming back to take it over anyway.'"

A STIFFER CHALLENGE — An unoccupied watch tower overlooks the Jewish settlement of Ramat Magshimim in the Occupied Golan Heights. It has been five years since Syrian tanks overran the area in some of the fiercest fighting of the 'Yom Kippur' war. The potential for another explosion exists as the Israeli-Syria border still simmers with hatred, and the Syrians lead the opposition to Egyptian President Sadat's peace initiatives. ## Three Bandits Enter City Man's Home, Take Cash, Stereo Unit

A Lubbock man reported to police that he was confronted by three armed bandits at his home about 11:45 p.m., ordered to lie on the floor and robbed of $150 cash and a stereo system.

Richard E. Smith of 2432 23rd St. said two of the suspects had sawed-off shotguns and the third man wielded a pistol. The robbers were described as black and wearing ski masks.

Smith told police he and three friends were ordered to lie face down on the floor while the suspects made off with the money and stereo.

In other reported crimes, a 42-year-old woman was rushed to West Texas Hospital about 10:30 p.m. Monday after she was stabbed at a Idalou Road cafe.

Fulla M. Green of 1618 18th St. was listed in satisfactory condition this morning with stab wounds in the stomach and leg.

The woman said she was wounded during a domestic quarrel at the cafe. A suspect has been questioned in the case.

Reports show a Fort Stockton police officer in Lubbock early this morning was propositioned by two women suspected of being prostitutes.

The officer said he was offered sex by the two women for $40. He reportedly held the women until Lubbock police could arrive. However, no arrests were made.

Denise Keller of 1505 Bradley St., No. 4, said a man who escorted her home Monday morning stole $500 cash which was on a table at her home.

She said she noticed the money missing about 7 p.m. Monday and said the man she was with earlier was the only person at her house that day.

Two men were booked into Lubbock County Jail Monday in connection with the burglary of a residence at 2123 Duke St. earlier that day.

Josephine Cruz told officers that the men had removed a $195 stereo system from her apartment at about 9 a.m.

A 13-year-old girl in the apartment said she heard the two suspects talking near the back door and hid in a hall closet.

When the girl peeked out of the closet, she told officers she saw the men carting off the stereo system through a kitchen door.

Mrs. Cruz told investigating officers that she thought the two suspects lived on Emory Street. Police questioned two men who were standing in the 2100 block of Emory Street, but they denied having any part in the incident.

Some Airlines Cancel Flights

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Foreign airlines canceled some flights to and from Mexico City and delayed others after aviation officials banned takeoffs and landings between 9 p.m. and 9 a.m. because of the air traffic controllers' strike now in its sixth day.

The airport operations office said Western Airlines canceled two flights from Mexico City to Los Angeles, one from San Francisco to Mexico City and another from Los Angeles to Mexico City.

It said Pan American and Texas International canceled their Mexico City-Houston flights, Iberia delayed its Madrid-Montreal-Mexico City flight and Varig delayed its Rio-Mexico City flight.

Foreign airlines also canceled flights Friday and later modified their schedules.

Mexico's two national airlines, Aeromexico and Mexicana de Aviacion, have cut their domestic and international flights 80 percent, and the Mexican pilots' association has compiled a list of errors it claims were made by substitute controllers brought in by the government.

The walkout, similar to one staged last month, is in protest against the government's attempt to make the 900 commercial controllers join a new government-controlled organization and sign individual contracts that would reduce salaries and fringe benefits.

The controllers' union demands that the old organization which held the contract for air traffic control in the nation's 46 airports be reinstated along with the old contract.

MUSIC AWARD

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The University of Hartford's Hartt College of Music has established the second annual Holikamp Award competition for composers of organ music. Deadline for receipt of manuscripts is Feb. 15, 1979.

However, the young girl identified the men as the burglars, and the two were arrested and booked into jail.

In assault activity, Mary Jimenez of 2903 E. Broadway St. reported that a 24-year-old Mexican-American male had beaten her Sunday night. Miss Jimenez said the man went to her home about 9:30 p.m. and began beating and kicking her.

Lubbockites also complained of property thefts and break-ins.

Burglars carried off $900 worth of goods from two offices at the Highland Baptist Church at 4316 34th St. between 1 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday. Richard Waters, pastor of the church, said the stolen property included a dictating machine, travel clock, paperweights, a briefcase and statues.

Maxine Gouddy, owner of the Circus Inn Motel at 101 E. Slaton Highway, said that sometime Sunday or Monday morning someone made off with a $325 color television from one of the motel rooms.

Thieves took a $400 air conditioning unit from an apartment complex under construction at 3108 Vicksburg Ave. between 6:30 p.m. Thursday and 2 p.m. Friday. The unit was taken from the yard of Building 8, H.M. Bourgeois reported.

In another break-in, thieves, apparently eager to do a lot of writing, took 500 sheets of notebook paper, pencils and crayons from McWhorter Elementary School at 2711 First St. early Monday. Ramon Orsoco, a teacher at the school, estimated the loss at $30.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts showers for areas of Arizona, Montana and Wyoming and showers in the South extending up to the Great Lakes states. Clear weather is predicted for the rest of the nation. (AP Laserphoto)

Brooke Investigation Remains Unfinished

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigation into the financial affairs of Sen. Edward W. Brooke will not be completed before the Nov. 7 election, the Senate Ethics Committee says.

The committee said Monday the investigation could not be completed until Brooke, R-Mass., turned over requested information to its special counsel. Meanwhile, Brooke aides said the senator was cooperating fully with the committee.

Brooke, who is running for re-election, is being investigated by the committee to determine if he filed a false Senate financial disclosure statement.

DR. LAMB Weightlifting For Women

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
 DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing to you because many people who have problems do and I have one. I am 25 years old and only weight 95 pounds. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall.

As you can see, I am very skinny, and don't ask me to go see a doctor because I have, and they all say I am OK. They give me a bunch of vitamins that won't help me to gain weight and I am very worried about this. On the other hand, my mother's mother was skinny, but not as skinny as I am, and the rest of my family is OK. Please help!

DEAR READER — In the first place, you are absolutely right about taking a bunch of vitamins. They won't help you gain weight. Vitamins do not contain calories. If you are already on a balanced diet and get an adequate amount of vitamins, taking additional ones won't help at all.

Most of the vitamins that you would be interested in for this purpose serve simply as catalysts to break down your food. The energy is in the food, not the vitamins. If you already have enough catalysts to break down the food you eat, adding more catalysts won't help.

You'll be surprised at my suggestion. Why don't you take up weightlifting? You don't want to get fat. That's not very appealing. You want to develop your muscle size. Women who take up weightlifting find that it helps them a great deal. It will develop your strength and muscle size, and you can be shapely at the same time. You don't need to worry about becoming an Arnold Schwarzenegger because you don't have to grow large bulging muscles in the process.

Weightlifting for women is an idea whose time has come. Women do not tend to grow the large muscles that men do. In fact, Jandrena Irwin is a champion in the women's powerlifting group for the United States. She is in the 132 pound class and is a shapely, blond high school senior.

Jandrena comments that training has been geared for boys but, "girls can do their thing, too, if they want." The improved development of your body and increased strength may make you feel better, too.

The only way you can increase the size of your muscles is by working them under load. The larger the load a muscle has to contract against, the larger the muscles will become.

So, my advice to you is very simple.

Eat enough calories to support all your daily activities and develop an exercise program that helps develop your muscles. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training For Energy and Weight Control.

Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue will tell you what you need to know about weight training to help develop muscles.

You can use strength exercises either to develop muscles or to maintain your muscles. Through strength training you can help to avoid obesity. How you do it depending upon your goal.

My advice to you does not apply to all readers because the first requirement for anyone who is skinny, or has lost weight, should be to have a medical examination and to be sure there is no underlying medical problem. Since you have already done this, I feel that you can safely follow the program I have recommended.

Morning Ground Fog Curtails Visibility Around West Texas

A-J News Service

Dense, patchy ground fog cut visibility to less than one mile in the Midland-Odessa area of West Texas early this morning, but forecasters said partly cloudy skies would dominate Texas by the afternoon.

Fog also formed in parts of South Texas.

A stationary front extended across the state from near Childress southwestward to El Paso at dawn and skies were partly cloudy in East Texas and clear elsewhere.

The front was expected to weaken and dissipate today as a high pressure system builds over the area from the northwest, but little change in temperature is expected through Wednesday.

Lubbock's high today was predicted to reach the mid-90s. Slightly cooler weather, with a high in the low 80s was forecast for Wednesday. A low in the mid-50s is expected tonight.

Good drying conditions should prevail both today and Wednesday, with southwesterly winds of 10 to 15 mph.

The extended forecast for Thursday through Saturday calls for a chance of scattered showers and thunderstorms in northern and eastern portions of West Texas.

Lubbock's low this morning was 56 degrees after a Monday afternoon high of 86.

Early morning temperatures ranged from a cool 43 at Dalhart in the extreme northwestern Panhandle up to 69 degrees at Galveston on the coast. Other readings included: Austin 64 and fog, Brownsville 68, Dallas-Fort Worth 68, Houston 57 and Beaumont 60 and fog.

The National Weather Service Forecast called for partly cloudy skies across the state today. Afternoon temperatures were expected to be mostly in the 80s, except near 90 degrees in the Big Bend area.

Scattered rainshowers and occasional thundershowers fell early today from eastern Oklahoma and northern Arkansas into southern Minnesota and southern Wisconsin.

Showers and thundershowers also were scattered across Florida and the southern Atlantic Coast. And there were showers over the lower Great Lakes and in the Pacific Northwest.

Elsewhere, skies were partly cloudy or clear, allowing temperatures to drop. Early this morning, frost had reached portions of New England and northwestern South Dakota.

Temperatures around the nation at 1 a.m. CDT ranged from 31 in Rome, N.Y., to 82 in Yuma, Ariz.

Today's forecast called for scattered rainshowers and isolated thundershowers from the upper Great Lakes through the eastern middle Mississippi and western Ohio valleys into Arkansas and in Washington State and Florida east of the Panhandle.

Mostly sunny skies were expected along the middle and north Atlantic Coast into the upper Ohio Valley and from the southern two-thirds of the plateau across the central Rockies into the central Plains, mid-Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys.

The forecast called for cool temperatures from the Missouri Valley through the Ohio Valley, the northern portion of the east Gulf Coast and north along the Atlantic Coast. The rest of the nation was expected to have seasonably mild readings.

Crewmen Forced Off Flaming Oil Vessel

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An oil industry crewboat caught fire off the Louisiana coast, forcing the 10 men aboard to abandon the vessel, but all were rescued a short time later, the Coast Guard said today.

Lt. Tom Pearson, a Coast Guard spokesman, said the Mr. Walter had left the Marsh Island area and was heading for the mouth of the Atchafalaya River — about 30 miles away — when the fire broke out late Monday night.

The six crewmen and four offshore workers abandoned the 85-foot vessel as it burned, but were picked up about two hours later by the tugboat The Dad. Some were in life-jackets in the water, some were in life-rafts, Pearson said, and all were reported in good condition.

The men on the tug extinguished the fire, which they said apparently started in a paint locker.

Play Ball! Yanks, Dodgers Set For 75th World Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Right-hander Ed Figueroa, starting a World Series game one year later than he expected to, faces left-hander Tommy John, who was never supposed to pitch again, when the Fall Classic opens tonight between the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

This 75th anniversary Series, a rematch of last year's showdown won by the Yanks in six games, has its seeds in an ancient subway rivalry that often pitted the Bronx Bombers against the Brooklyn Bums.

On the eve of the Series, the Dodgers have lost one of their most beloved members. Jim Gilliam, who spanned the Brooklyn and Los Angeles eras as a player and a coach, died Sunday night of cardiac arrest. The Dodgers are dedicating the Series to Gilliam, whose funeral will be Wednesday.

whose funeral will be Wednesday.

Davey Lopes, the Dodgers' fiery second baseman, warned newsmen not to emphasize the team's memorial to Gilliam.

"If they beat us, they beat us cause they're a better team," said Lopes, one of the heroes in the Dodgers' four-game National League playoff victory over Philadelphia. "The death of Jim Gilliam will have nothing to do with it."

Third baseman Graig Nettles, whose fourth-game homer and sparkling glove work sparked the Yanks to a third straight American League playoff triumph over Kansas City, suggested that the Dodgers' testament to Gilliam might work against them.

"They might have that on their minds so much, they might forget what they have to do on the field," said Nettles.

Victory is the only thing on the minds of tonight's starting pitchers.

Figueroa, a born-again pitcher since Bob Lemon replaced Billy Martin as the Yanks' manager at midseason, credits his new boss with turning his and the team's season around.

Figueroa, 20-9, worked more regularly under Lemon, and he will be debuting in the World Series and facing the Dodgers in real competition for the first time.

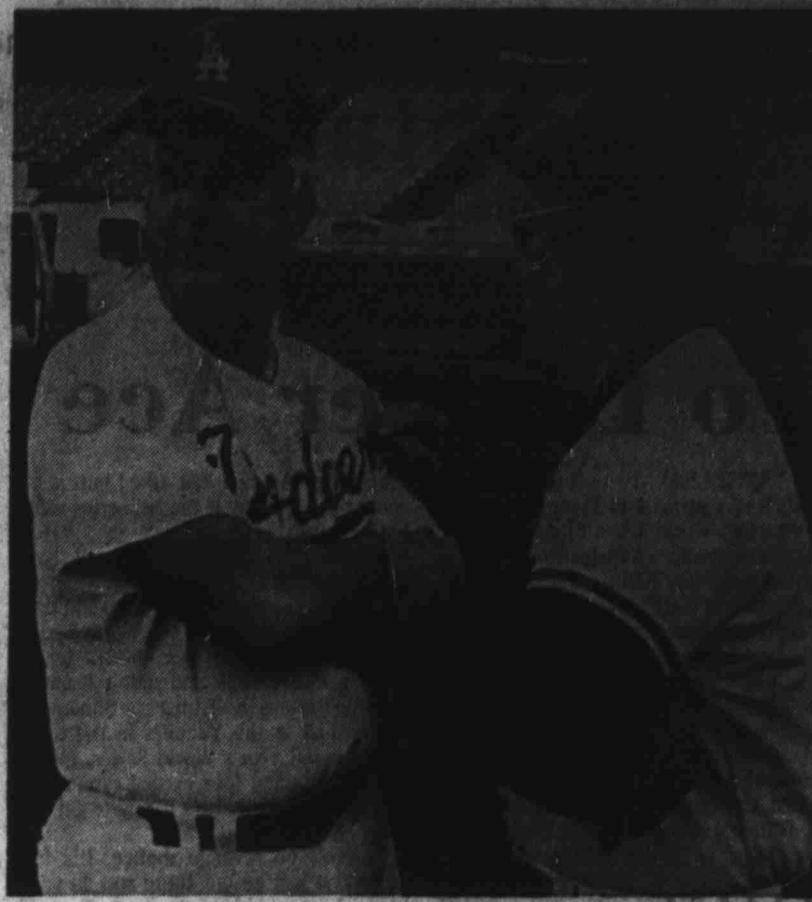

"I was supposed to pitch the sixth game (last year)," said the first and only 20-game winner from Puerto Rico. "I walked away (left the team) because of the way Billy treated me. He told me I would pitch and I didn't."

"After Billy resigned, Bob Lemon came. Then we became a family."

John's head has always been squarely on his shoulders, it's his arm that has needed help. A unique tendon transplant turned a disabled pitcher into a scientific miracle.

"My arm is better and stronger than before the operation (in 1974)," said John, who was surprisingly tabbed by Los Angeles skipper Tom Lasorda to get the opening-game ball.

"I thought they would go with Burt Hooton," said John, 17-10 in the regular season. See DODGERS Page 2

Johnson Moved To Tailback Slot

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor

Mark Johnson made his first move as a tailback Sunday. Now, he will have plenty of chances to carry the ball.

And, so will another Mark... Olbert.

At his Monday press conference, Texas Tech head coach Rex Dockery announced that Johnson, hero of last year's 10-7 win over North Carolina and alternate quarterback this fall, was being shifted to tailback. The move, said Dockery, would give the Raiders better speed outside.

At that same press conference, he said that Olbert, the freshman from Edmond, Okla., will be starting at tailback next Saturday when the Raiders line up in Albuquerque against the University of New Mexico.

"We're still searching for the right combination in the backfield," Dockery admitted. "And the type of speed that Johnson has exhibited over two seasons is one of the things which could strengthen the position."

But the first move came from the junior from Corpus Christi.

"I went to them and asked to be used at tailback," Johnson said following Monday's workout, his first at the new position. "I feel I have too much talent to be sitting on the bench. I think I can play at tailback."

The development came as Johnson was playing behind freshman Ron Reeves and senior Tres Adami. Dockery re-emphasized Monday that Reeves was No. 1. Tech had started the season with Adami and Johnson running 1-2, but Reeves earned a starting spot in leading Tech to a 41-26 win over Arizona.

"Mark (Johnson) will give us good speed outside. He runs well laterally, too. It'll take him a while to learn how to play the position. But he knows the plays."

Johnson sprinted 45 yards on an option play against Arizona, playing quarterback in place of Adami who had been injured in the first quarter. After asking for the change Sunday, Johnson was working with third team backfield in workout.

The move leaves Tech with three quarterbacks, Reeves, Adami and sophomore Ricky Ethridge.

Olbert carried the ball once in Saturday's game against A&M, picking up 8 yards. He also caught one pass for 13 steps, but his work drew praise from Dockery. He will be the third performer to start at tailback, with Don Earl and Phil Weatherall splitting the previous four starting assignments.

"I'm glad they thought I played well enough for it (the promotion)," Olbert said Monday. "They told me today that I was being moved up. I've just tried every day in practice, and I'll try to do as well (as a starter) as I can."

Olbert was on campus last year but was hurt and got the year of eligibility as a freshman because of the injury.

HERSKOWITZ

Hope For Stingley

By MICKEY HERSKOWITZ And STEVE PERKINS

Q. Have doctors given up hope of Darryl Stingley ever walking again? Do you know of any other players who have come back from the same kind of injury? What kind of insurance coverage does Stingley have?

—Eleanor Watts, Indianapolis, Ind.

A. Doctors have not given up on Stingley because he still feels some sensation in his legs. Ex-Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Jim Finks, who now runs the Chicago Bears, once suffered a neck injury, wore a body cast for 19 weeks and came back to play four seasons. Charley Taylor, the Washington receiver, suffered a broken neck in college. Don Klosterman, general manager of the Los Angeles Rams, a pro quarterback for the LA Dons in the All-America Conference, broke his spine in a skiing accident, still does not have sensation in his legs, but plays golf, dances and lives a helluva life.

Oddly enough, according to Chicago columnist Bill Gleason, Stingley's father and brother suffered a broken neck and a spine injury, respectively, and recovered. If Stingley never plays another game he will receive $1,000 a month for life as per the contract between the league and the NFL Players Association. Of course, he collects all of his $55,000 salary for 1978 and most of that for 1979. All his medical bills are paid by the NFL insurance plan.

Q. If the runner is on base, has a good lead and is attempting to steal and the pitcher throws a wild pitch, would the runner be credited with a stolen base?

—Michael Stanfield, Dallas

A. The key phrase there is attempting to steal. If in the official scorer's judgment the runner was going, then he'd get credit for the stolen base.

Q. How much do major league umpires get for expenses?

—Dave Whitworth, Abilene, Kan.

A. They get $52 a day, no matter how they blow it.

Q. Is the NFL going to put in a rule next season to prevent the travesty that robbed San Diego of its win against Oakland — the Kenny Stabler-to Pete Banaszak-to-Dave Casper parlay? I mean, is anything good going to come of this?

—Frank Shaw, Anaheim, Calif.

A. There were enough rules in the books to cover the situation, if the officials had been more alert. Stabler's forward fumble was illegal and so was Banaszak's batting the ball.

But, yes there will no doubt be some new rules added to cover this and other circumstances. It's likely that the current fourth-down rule, wherein a fumble inside the 10-yard line can only be recovered for the offense by the player who fumbled the ball, will be expanded to further yards and will cover a game-ending play.

There will also probably be established an appeals procedure to cover obvious erroneous action — such as a 12th player running off the bench and into the end zone to catch a touchdowns pass in sudden death overtime, when his illegal presence goes unnoticed by game officials.

Series Start No Surprise To Dodger Ace

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It didn't come as much of a surprise to Tommy John or the baseball world when Manager Tom Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers appointed the sinker ball specialist to pitch today's World Series opener against the New York Yankees.

"If he told me Sunday, yeah, I would have been surprised," John said. "I didn't know he was thinking toward me. But then I heard some rumors on radio and television," John said.

John shut out the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 last Thursday in the second game of the National League championship series. John said the Dodger pitching coach, Red Adams, had asked him if he could pitch Sunday if the NL series went to five games.

"I said, 'Yes,' but I didn't know how long I could go."

That was the first inkling John had that he might be pitching in the World Series opener. The Dodgers won the NL series three games to one and didn't have to play the Phillies in a fifth game Sunday.

John lost to the Yankees in the third game of last year's World Series, giving up nine hits and four earned runs in six innings. He admits he's happy to get another chance.

"There's no revenge motive. It's fun now. You just go out there and do your best," John said Monday.

Since he underwent surgery to rebuild his ruptured ligament in his pitching arm, John has been called the man with the bionic arm. In an operation that was the first of its kind, Dr. Frank Jobe used a tendon from John's right forearm to re-build the left elbow.

Jobe also told John he would never pitch again.

When the Dodgers lost to Oakland in the 1974 World Series, John was in uniform, but his arm was in a full length cast. John also missed all of 1975, but returned to win 10 games in 1976 and that year's baseball "comeback of the year" honors.

"It's a great honor that they think so much of me to have me start this game," John said Monday. He is still unsigned for 1979 and could become a free agent.

He's sought a three-year contract, while the Dodgers have offered him just two years. The Dodgers and John reportedly have agreed on an annual salary of $275,000.

But John must face the Yankee batters before facing the Dodger front office.

"I think these two teams are as equal as any in baseball," John said. "I think we are better prepared this year than last year, mentally and physically. Lots of times last year we didn't have to play hard but this year we had to fight, scrape and claw to get up."

In 1977, before the Dodgers lost to the Yankees four games to two in the World Series, they had gone out to a big early lead in the National League West. In 1978 the Dodgers trailed both San Francisco and Cincinnati at times, until surging to the front in August and September.

The return from the operation was heart-warming for the 35-year-old southpaw. "Every time I go out there to pitch, it's a sense of accomplishment. It makes me feel good. A lot of people were praying for me."

John appeared headed for a 20-victory season this year, but suffered an injury to his left calf Sept. 9 and missed several starts. He posted a 17-10 record after being 20-7 in 1977.

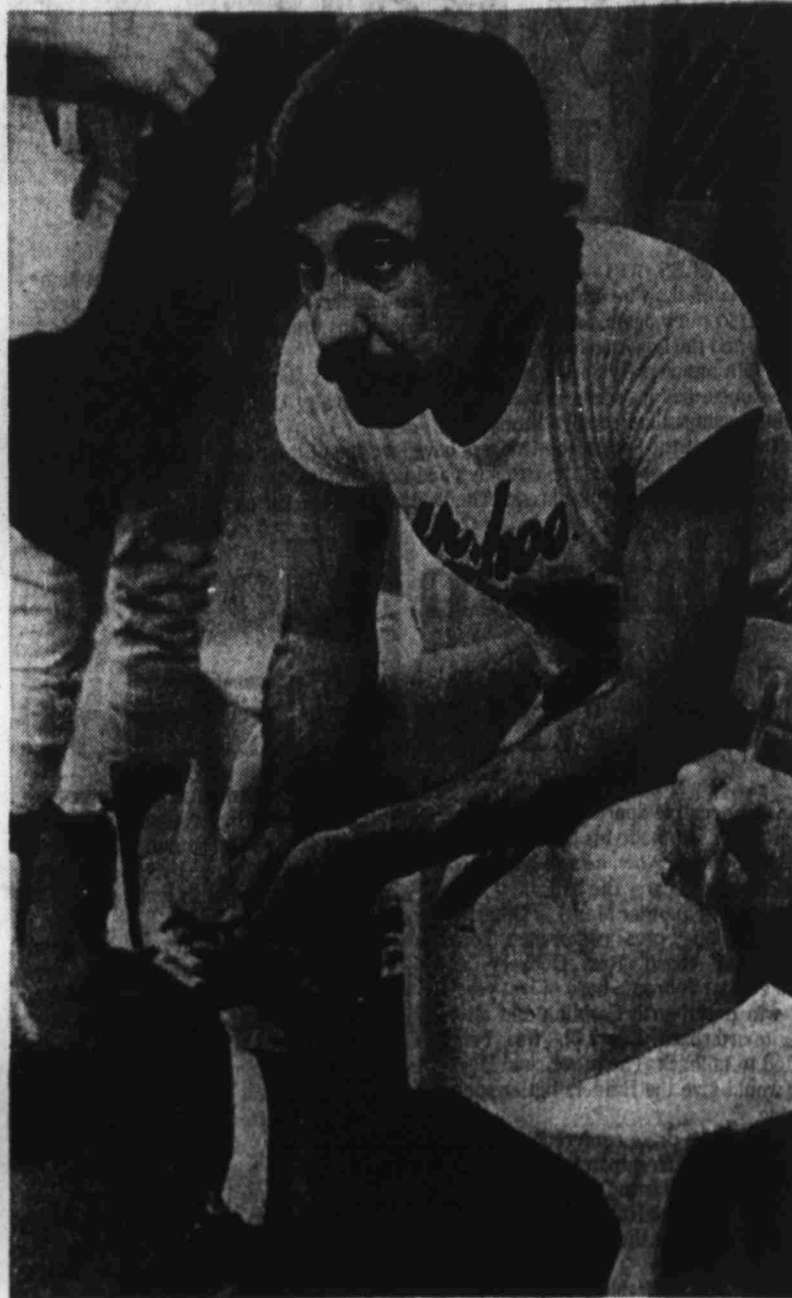

"My arm is better and stronger now than before the elbow injury," John said. "It's probably because I do a lot of exercising and more things physically. It's helped my shoulders and chest."

John isn't too happy that the American League's designated hitter rule will be used for this World Series, saying, "I like to hit myself."

Yankees talks to reporters prior to a workout Monday. The two will face one another tonight during the first game of the 75th World Series.

Gilliam Recalled By Campy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "That makes four. Now Pee Wee is the last one of the infield that's still living," Roy Campanella said sadly.

The ranks of the fabled "Boys of Summer," memorialized in Roger Kahn's excellent book on the old Brooklyn Dodgers, were further thinned overnight Sunday by the death of Jim Gilliam, former second baseman and a coach for 13 years of the team that found a new home in Los Angeles.

Death now has taken four members of that great championship team of the late 1940s and 1950s — Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges, Billy Cox and Gilliam, all infielders — leaving Pee Wee Reese as the lone infield survivor. Reese is a businessman in Louisville, Ky.

Gilliam's passing was particularly hard on Campy, a longtime personal and family friend, the once rugged all-star catcher who himself now is confined to a wheelchair, his hands and legs paralyzed by an automobile accident in 1958.

"I knew Junior — that's what we always called him because he looked so young — when he was 15 years old, playing in the Negro National League," he said. "Junior, Joe Black and I all came up together from the Negro League."

"Junior — he was a great one." Campanella received the news as he and his wife were preparing to fly here for tonight's opening World Series game between the Dodgers and the New York Yankees.

"We had our annual reunion this summer," Campy said. "Mr. O'Malley (Walter O'Malley, chairman of the board) gets us all together once a year. Junior was here in great spirits. So were most of the other guys."

Campanella speaks feelingly but without maudlin sentimentality of the chairs that were not occupied.

Robinson, who played second, third and the outfield as the first black in the majors, was almost blind when he died in the fall of 1971. First baseman Hodges died of a heart attack at spring training in 1972 while managing the New York Mets. Third baseman Cox recently died of cancer.

"People talk of a jinx following this team," Campanella said. "Bosh. People die every day."

Dodgers Seeking Revenge Over NY

and a shutout winner over Philadelphia last week. John, a loser against the Yanks last October and a former American Leaguer with Chicago, says his record against New York over the years is around 500. "With the White Sox, how could it have been good?" he said with his usual smile.

Neither the Yankees nor the Dodgers look like the White Sox on the field. In fact, they look very much like the Yankees and Dodgers of 1977. The only major differences are the additions of a quality relief pitcher for each club.

Rich Gossage, AL leader in saves with 27, and Terry Forster, top Dodger fireman with 22 saves, are former teammates with the White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates who were signed as free agents following the 1977 season.

"We're two evenly matched teams," said Nettles. "Both clubs went out and got a relief pitcher, that's all."

However, the Yanks may not be playing with their fine second baseman Willie Randolph, who suffered a pulled left hamstring 11 days ago. Lemon will make a decision before tonight's game whether Randolph or rookie second baseman Brian Doyle will be on the Yanks' 25-man roster.

"I'm hoping and praying for a quick recovery," said Randolph. "I busted my butt all year. I don't want to sit down now. I want to be there."

Reggie Jackson, Mr. October, whose three consecutive home runs on his only three swings in last year's dramatic Game 6, will be swinging a bat again but probably won't get to use his glove. He'll be the Yanks' designated hitter, the AL wrinkle which will be used in the Series this year.

"I'm not crazy about it," said Jackson. "But what Lemon says I go along with. Winning is the bottom line."

The Yanks appreciate Jackson's bat but aren't thrilled with his glove.

"We've got our best defense on the field now," said Nettles, referring to Lemon's use of Jackson as a DH.

Lee Lacy will be the Dodgers' DH tonight, and he's happy about the job.

"A lot of guys can't come off the bench cold and keep a rally going, but I can," Lacy said.

Jackson's five Series homers last year left their imprint on the Dodgers, particularly slugger Steve Garvey, who whacked four homers against Philadelphia last week.

"That was the greatest individual performance in a pressure situation I have ever seen," said Garvey.

But the Dodgers say last year doesn't mean anything when the Series opens tonight.

"They beat us in every phase of the game last year," said Lopes. "They were the best team. But that was last year."

Jackson agreed that no baseball team can rest on last year's statistics.

"A team is better only if it wins," he said. "That's what counts."

'Bum Rap' Still Haunts Figueroa

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ed Figueroa believes he's taken a bum rap. The 29-year-old Figueroa — he'll celebrate another birthday in three days — is tired of the insinuation that he develops a lump in his throat in postseason baseball competition.

Figueroa is the starting pitcher tonight for the New York Yankees in the opening game of the World Series against the Los Angeles Dodgers. He's nearly consumed by the desire to prove he can pitch with the eyes of the world watching.

Why would people say and write that a guy who won 20 games, his last eight in a row, and helped the Yankees make the greatest comeback in the history of baseball, can't take the heat in the kitchen?

The six foot, 190-pound Yankees' right-hander has read it, has heard it. It makes him cringe. It makes him angry.

"Tomorrow (tonight) is an important game for me," said the native of Bayamon, Puerto Rico, before a New York workout Monday at Dodger Stadium. "I'll show people I can win in the World Series. I'll try and show people I can pitch."

Figueroa explained that he really hasn't pitched that poorly in postseason play, despite his 0-3 record — two playoff losses and one World Series defeat.

"In the 1976 playoffs I was ahead 6-3 in the eighth inning when (Grant) Jackson came in and threw a three-run homer and Kansas City tied it up. In the 1976 World Series, I was leading 3-2 against Cincinnati, when (Dick) Tidrow came in and threw a two-run homer to Johnny Bench.

"It's not that I haven't pitched good, but I haven't been that lucky," Figueroa said.

Unlike Billy Martin, who resigned as the manager of the Yankees last July, new skipper Bob Lemon showed complete faith in Figueroa, who came to New York in 1975 with outfielder Mickey Rivers from the California Angels for Bobby Bonds.

"After Billy (Martin) left and Bob Lemon came, then we (the Yankees) became a family," Figueroa said. "You didn't read in the newspapers anymore about one (Yankee) talking about another."

Figueroa said Martin used him every seven or eight days, while Lemon gave him the ball every fourth day.

"That's a big difference. That's why I started winning," Figueroa explained.

Figueroa hasn't forgotten how Martin told him he would pitch the sixth game of the 1977 World Series, then didn't keep his word.

"I walked away. I wasn't happy. I want to be traded. I didn't like the way Billy treated me. He told me I pitch, then I don't," Figueroa said.

Figueroa said he has never pitched against Los Angeles except in spring training, but knows they are a fastball-hitting team.

"I have five pitches, but they can expect the curveball and the sinker," said the Yankees' pitcher. "I throw the breaking pitch on 3-and-1, or 3-and-2. I like to pitch against good ball clubs. That's why I like to pitch against the (Boston) Red Sox. The better the team, the more I bear down. I always pitch well against these type of teams."

Lemon said he had no concern about Figueroa.

"He's not a thrower," said the Yankees' manager, himself a Hall of Fame pitcher. "He's a good pitcher. He has command of his pitches. He knows how to pitch. He won 20 games, he can't be all bad."

That's Figueroa's whole point — that he isn't bad at all.

Lemon Never Stopped Believing In Yanks

By The Associated Press

At that moment, on a sunny July Tuesday in Kansas City, the New York Yankees' future was as cluttered as the breakfast table in Al Rosen's hotel suite. There were plates of half-eaten eggs, cold bacon and untouched fried potatoes, unfinished cups of tepid coffee and a virtually ignored platter of glazed pastry with jelly filling.

Across from the white-haired Yankee president, who still was wearing his suit from the day before, sat a heavy-set man who just had finished lighting one of the innumerable menthol cigarettes he would smoke that day.

The breakfast guest was Bob Lemon, a man who would walk to the exit if someone yelled "fire" in a crowded theater. His left leg crossed over his right, the smoldering cigarette in his fleshy left paw, Lemon sat in that suite and pondered the first hours he had spent as manager of baseball's most unsettled team.

"I tend to be lazy," he said, looking down at the floor, where there lay a front-page account of Billy Martin's resignation the day before. "It's a helluva lot easier to have things go smoothly than to have to be on your guard all the time."

But things were not going smoothly that bright midwestern morning. The Yankees — though they had won five of the six games so far on that road trip — were a polarized, fragmented team stuck in fourth place. Reggie Jackson was just returning from a well-chronicled five-day suspension.

First place? A fantasy. When Lemon said, "I don't think Boston's won it yet ... the newsmen in the room filed the words away for anything but publication. He couldn't have been serious; the Yankees were 10½ games behind.

"Being realistic," he continued, "on the plane coming here, I was thinking that every club goes through injuries and Boston really hasn't had their share yet. I just hope they've run their route with this team."

He had arrived in Kansas City from his California home at 3 that morning, after accepting the job during a telephone conversation with Rosen — his buddy and teammate on the Cleveland Indians decades earlier. He couldn't have had much sleep — "I wouldn't dare get players up this early," he mused — and there wouldn't be time for any until much later.

Ron Guidry was pitching that night against the Royals. Lemon still had to finish his meeting with Rosen. "I don't know whether he's going to put me on a weekly, daily or monthly contract," said the new manager of baseball's world champions.

Scorecard/Monday

Sports In Brief

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bulls have obtained forward John Brown from the Atlanta Hawks in return for a future draft choice.

Bulls General Manager Rod Thorn refused Monday to disclose the position of the draft choice given to Atlanta.

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe, who spent the first quarter-century of his professional hockey career playing for the Detroit Red Wings of the NHL, bought space in a Detroit newspaper Tuesday to say "Thank You" to his fans for their reception at an exhibition game last week.

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons announced Monday star center Bob Lanier has purchased 100 season tickets that will be distributed to area youth groups, charities and community organizations.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Stingers said Monday they have cut from the team, John French, a center obtained 18 days ago from the Indianapolis Racers.

The cut brings to 23 the number of players in the Stingers training camp. The WHA club opens its regular season Friday against the Oilers in Edmonton.

NORWALK, Iowa (UPI) — The president of the Echo Valley Golf Course was killed by lightning Monday during play on the course. Edward Coppola, 56, of Des Moines, in his 50s, was in the middle of the course when he was struck by the bolt of lightning. Police Chief Mike Richardson said.

DENVER (UPI) — Further medical tests will be made on the right knee of the Denver Broncos' No. 2 quarterback, Norris Wiese, to determine the extent of a knee injury suffered in the Broncos' 23-0 loss to San Diego.

Wiese's injury initially was diagnosed as a dislocated knee cap and he was expected to be out for up to four weeks. But Coach Red Miller said Monday additional tests would be made on the knee to determine if there was ligament damage that might require surgery.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Capitals Monday obtained left wing Rod Schutt from the Montreal Canadiens and sent defenseman Pierre Bouchard, who was obtained from Montreal earlier in the off-season, back to the Canadiens.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Prospects for the Cleveland Cavaliers getting off to a fast start in the National Basketball Association this season dimmed considerably Monday with the disclosure of a center. The Cavs will have "minor surgery" Wednesday to remedy a knee problem that has plagued him through preseason.

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Bruins Monday traded goal-tender Ron Grahame to the Los Angeles Kings for a 1979 No. 1 draft choice and future considerations.

The Bruins will get the Kings' top choice in the 1979 amateur draft and "other considerations."

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Penguins Monday acquired defenseman Dale Talton from the Chicago Black Hawks for a choice in the 1980 amateur draft.

Bob Paradise and Randy Carlyle are out of action with injuries, and Penguins' General Manager Baz Bastien said the team "could not afford to start the season without an experienced defenseman on the left side." The Penguins open Wednesday at home against Toronto.

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota North Stars optioned veteran center Bill Hogboom to Oklahoma City of the Central Hockey League Monday, cutting the North Stars squad to 28 players.

No Minnesota players were claimed in the National Hockey League waiver draft Monday in Montreal.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers sent three players to the Maine Mariners of the American Hockey League Monday, reducing their roster to 22.

A Flyers' spokesman said defenseman Glen Cochrane and Terry Murray and center Blake Dunlop were sent to the Mariners, the Flyers' top farm club. The Flyers open their season Thursday in New York against the Rangers.

OU Still Top Team In AP Poll

By The Associated Press

After losing to Oklahoma on Saturday, Texas Coach Fred Akers voiced the opinion that the Sooners, indeed, were deserving of the nation's No. 1 ranking.

The Sooners solidified their position atop of the The Associated Press poll Monday by collecting 52 of 63 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters for 1,260 points.

That widened their lead over Southern Cal's Trojans, who were idle over the weekend. The country's No. 2 team received five first-place votes and 1,144 points. Last week, Oklahoma's lead was 1,226-1,166.

Michigan dropped from third to fifth despite a 21-17 victory over Arizona and relinquished the spot to Arkansas and Penn State, which tied for No. 3 with 1,071 points and three first-place votes apiece. Arkansas crushed Texas Christian 42-3 while Penn State trounced Kentucky 30-0.

Michigan didn't get any votes for first place this time and accumulated 1,040 points.

The defeat by Oklahoma cost Texas a six-place drop in the standings — the Longhorns falling from No. 6 to No. 12. Southwestern Conference colleague Texas A.M. meanwhile, moved up a notch to No. 6 with 931 points following a 38-0 rout of Texas Tech.

Alabama climbed a spot to No. 7 after beating Washington 20-17; Nebraska moved two spots to No. 8 following a 23-0 beating of previously undefeated Iowa State; Pittsburgh whipped Boston College 32-15 and held on to No. 9, and Maryland climbed from 12th to 10th with a 31-7 shelling of North Carolina State.

The second tier consists of Louisiana State; Texas; Colorado; UCLA; Florida State; Ohio State; Houston; Stanford; Missouri and Iowa State.

Akers Expected To Select QB

By United Press International

This is "Select a Quarterback Day" in Austin and a few hundred miles to the north Hayden Fry thinks he knows who that quarterback will be.

In Dallas, meanwhile, people are standing in line to buy tickets to a college football game and that hasn't happened in a long while.

And in College Station, Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard is ready to admit that his current team might be his best.

Fred Akers, whose Longhorns have been ranked on offense all season, plans to announce today whether senior Randy McEachern or freshman Donnie Little will start at quarterback Saturday night against North Texas State.

McEachern, the Texas hero of 1977, was replaced by Little in the second quarter of the Longhorns' loss to Oklahoma last week. Little stayed in the game despite fumbling the ball three times and throwing two interceptions.

"I thought Donnie did well," Akers said Monday. "He had some errors that were painful to him and to us, but the only way he is going to learn is to do it. He also showed that he has a great deal of ability."

Fry, whose North Texas club has compiled a 5-1 record and has tried to peak for its meeting with the Longhorns, indicated he thought his team would see a lot of Little this week.

"You have to prepare for Little," said Fry. "When he scrambles he is really dangerous. He just had not played much prior to Oklahoma. But he is going to be a good one."

Akers also said he would continue to make occasional use of Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones in the backfield and would probably play freshman running back A.J. Jones more.

At SMU, meanwhile, the Mustangs plan to get more use out of their ticket sellers.

Strock Leads Miami Win, But Crowd Likes Griese

MIAMI (AP) — Don Strock has hardly been a Cinderella story as the Miami Dolphins' quarterback, but he can take pride in his accomplishments as the clock nears midnight in his starting tenure.

Strock tossed two touchdowns Monday night and nose tackle Bob Baumhower returned a fumble 13 yards for a touchdown as the Dolphins blanked the winless Cincinnati Bengals 21-0. Strock, who has been booed each home game, yielded to Bob Griese in the fourth quarter.

The crowd greeted Griese, making his first appearance since a knee injury in the final exhibition game, with a thunderous ovation. Griese opened with a 17-yard pass completion, finished two of four, and indicated he's ready to pick up where last season — the best of his career — ended.

"It felt great to be in there. I'm able to set up, throw, and the knee feels fine. It's hard to answer how much more time I need, but it's mainly just timing now," said Griese, who quarterbacked the Dolphins' final two possessions.

Coach Don Shula said he won't decide until Thursday whether Griese will start at San Diego Sunday, but added, "It goes without saying how good it was to see No. 12 back on the field."

Griese's return to the starting position will mean Strock's return to the bench where he's languished most of his 5-year career.

"I've made my share of mistakes, but the offense was moving tonight. Our goal has been to make the playoffs. As far as who's quarterback, that doesn't make any difference," Strock said.

He reflected, "We're 4-2 and we're tied for the lead. I kept us in the race. I've got to be happy about that."

Strock completed 12 of 20 passes for 154 yards against the Bengals. As he was being hit by Reggie Williams in the first quarter, he hit a 4-yard score to Duriel Harris.

The Dolphins took a 14-0 lead in the second quarter on a 27-yard Pottstown-to-Pittston pass. Strock is from Pottstown, Pa., and the recipient, rookie Jimmy Cephalo, is from Pittston, Pa.

Strock has thrown nine touchdown passes.

"I thought he made a lot of good plays overall. He missed a couple people and that kept him from an outstanding performance tonight," Shula said of Strock.

The victory kept Miami tied with New England, 4-2, atop the AFC East. Shula was encouraged by his defense, sometimes inconsistent this season.

"It was a great defensive effort. I enjoyed it standing on the sidelines watching. It was the aggressive, swarming defense we felt we had all along, but it was a long time coming," he said.

Homer Rice, Bengals' coach since Bill Johnson's resignation last week, said, "We were not embarrassed."

"This team has had a lot of things happen to it. Something happens and you say, 'There it goes again...' We'll work on that," he said.

"It's the same old story," said quarterback Ken Anderson. "We're making mistakes and stopping ourselves."

A&M End Garners AP Honor

By The Associated Press

Last spring, the Texas Aggie No. 1 defense got a heavy dose of meeting one of the nation's most explosive offenses head-on. While it made a lot of grown men wince, it also helped the green Aggie defense grow.

At least that's the opinion of left defensive end Jacob Green, who has teamed with left tackle Eugene Sanders to make that side of the Aggie interior line something akin to crossing Central Expressway in Dallas at 5 p.m. on a Monday.

Green made 11 tackles, caused two fumbles, deflected a pass, dropped ball-carriers for losses six times, and notched three quarterback sacks Saturday in a 38-9 Southwest Conference football victory over Texas Tech.

It earned Green The Associated Press SWC Defensive Player of the Week award. The week before, Sanders was accorded similar honors.

"It was a tough spring," recalled Green. "We did everything Coach (Emory) Bellard asked us to do. He worked us hard."

"I guess the big difference this year is the attitude of the players. We have our mind on winning. Everyone on this team is trying to do the right thing."

Green earned a starting berth last year against Houston in a nationally televised game. He was named the player of the game after the Aggies' runaway victory.

"I guess you could say I rely more on my quickness than I do power," said Green. "I use power rushes but I would prefer to set somebody up with my quickness."

Green said he ran a 4.7 in the 40-yard dash when he was a sophomore.

The 6-foot-2, 235-pound junior from Houston Kashmere earned four letters in high school as a junior. He was All-State and made several All-America teams.

"I think this could be the best overall we've had since I've been here," said Green. "We have a good balance between the offense and defense."

Talbot's Bunch Winning Again

By JIM FERGUSON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Putting together anything that even resembles a lengthy win streak has not been an easy task for any of the five teams in District 4-AAAA.

Don't look now, but the current number of consecutive games won by either Monterey, Plainview, Lubbock, Coronado or Hereford is two.

That's not a bunch, but it beats the heck out of losing them. Just ask Lubbock High coach Rusty Talbot.

The Westerners started the season on something less than a high note, losing their first three games out of the gate.

But now, five weeks into the '78 campaign, Lubbock High has put together back-to-back wins. Only potent Plainview, with wins over Amarillo High and Clovis during the past two outings, can match the Westerners in consecutive wins.

Plainview started the year by winning its first two games, but was ambushed by Midland Lee 16-14 on the third Friday night of the season.

"We're just getting to be a little more consistent on offense," is how Talbot explained Lubbock High's recent win (Over Dunbar 7-6 and then Ector 17-8. "It may not show it on the scoreboard (point wise) but we're a much better offensive team than we were at the start of the season."

During Lubbock High's first three games (loses to Borger, Estacado and Amarillo), the offense managed only two touchdowns.

Last week's 17-point outburst against Ector, matched Lubbock's point production (17) for the entire year.

But the offense isn't the only unit drawing Talbot's praise, the defense led by noseguard Herman Carter also got a couple of slaps on the back from the head coach.

"We've been making good progress on defense, lately," said Talbot. "I think getting Herman (Carter) back has helped quite a bit there."

Then there's this little thing about giving up a touchdown with less than 30 seconds to go before halftime. That happened to the Westerners, not once or twice but three straight times. And each time, LHS ended up losing the game.

"That was driving us crazy," said Talbot. "We'd hold someone almost to the end, then give up a touchdown at the very end of the half."

"It really hurt us mentally."

But the jinx has been broken and now the Westerners are off and running...and passing...and winning.

But two games does not a season make. Lubbock still has five games left in the season—four of them loop games.

"The key for us really is doing well this week (against Caprock Thursday night in Amarillo)," explained Talbot. "If we can get a win there, it will really help us as we go into district play."

Lubbock High opens loop play against Coronado.

"You can just tell the difference a win makes," said Talbot. "It carries over to the workouts...everything. It also helps your confidence quite a bit. We know now we can win."

Herzog Displeased With Pact

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Whitey Herzog said Monday he was displeased with a one-year contract offer to continue as manager of the Kansas City Royals.

Herzog's future as Kansas City manager has been uncertain since the New York Yankees handed Kansas City a third straight defeat in the American League playoffs.

"I received an offer for a one-year contract and I'm thinking it over," Herzog said. "But I'm not very happy with the offer."

He declined further comment.

Herzog said several times during the last week of the season he was resentful of not hearing any word from team management until after the playoffs, which has been the case for three straight years. "They haven't said a word about me or my coaches for next year," he said. "I think they should tell me something."

"I offered Whitey a one-year contract this afternoon," Joe Burke, general manager, said Monday. "We had a long conversation and talked over a lot of things. Whitey said he would get back to me."

Burke also said silence on the part of the front office should not have been construed as disapproval of Herzog's managerial ability.

"I never said anything about Whitey coming back because I assumed he'd be back," he said. "I feel when a guy is doing a good job he doesn't have to hear he's coming back. When nobody says anything different, I would think he's assume we wanted him back."

LCC Receives New Blood

Six lettermen are among 15 Chaparrals beginning basketball drills at Lubbock Christian College this week under the watchful eye of coach Larry Hays.

One of the lettermen, sophomore Edwin Miles of Houston Kashmere, will be redshirted, according to Hays, who is starting his second time around as LCC basketball coach.

The Chaps will face their first scrimmage Oct. 20, hosting Odessa College.

LCC has more height than in recent campaigns, as assistant coach Darrell Price was able to land four prospects standing 6-5 or taller. One of these, 6-5 Tim Moore of Waterflow, N.M., will be redshirted, however.

Price signed four junior college products, 6-2 Bruce Carter of OC, 6-6 Kevin Wharton and 6-34 Keith Gardner of Hill
