On third day, summit shows potential for peace

By BARRY SCHWEID

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) - President Carter met separately Friday with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in a search for new approaches to a Mideast settlement.

SATURDAY WEEKENDER

While there was no official word on whether Carter had made progress during his three days of summitry, it was learned that some potential areas of agreement were being mapped

"It's a whole new ball game," said one diplomat close to the secrecyshrouded discussions.

A notch below the summit top, key advisers to all three governments began exploring details, with the main focus understood to be the future of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

Carter was said to have established new rapport with Begin, and relations between Begin and Sadat were reported to have improved.

The negotiating atmosphere was described as good, with all three participants speaking frankly and dealing directly with the fundamental issues in dispute

Jody Powell, the White House spokesman, told reporters they could this mountain retreat. Then after a assume Carter had some thoughts to convey to Begin and Sadat. But Powell declined to provide any de-five-minute break, Carter went to see Sadat at his Dogwood Lodge.

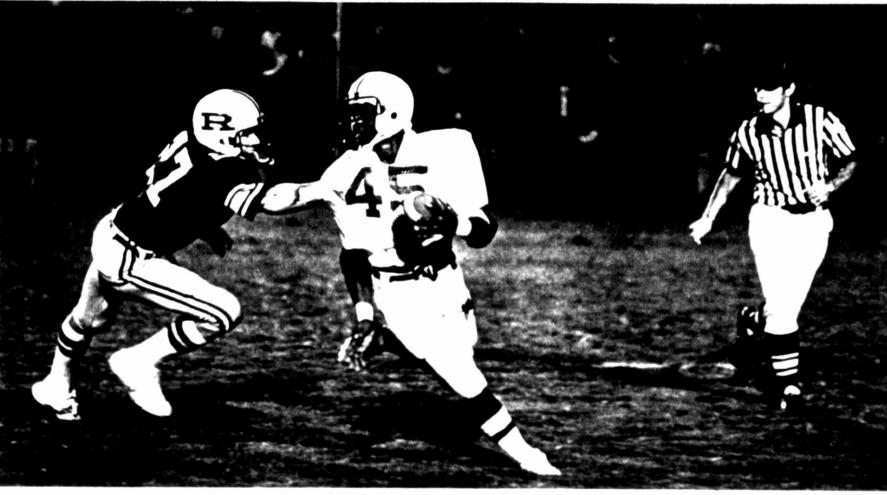

When the three leaders are together, it was learned, Carter sometimes sits back and lets them deal directly with each other. The net effect is that direct negotiations, broken off by Egypt eight months ago, have been resumed

Cairo had said there would be no direct dealing with Israel until there was a commitment to withdraw from territories captured from the Arabs in the 1967 war.

Powell said no three-way meetings of Carter, Begin and Sadat are likely at least through Saturday.

Israeli sources said Begin would observe a "total break" for the Jewish Sabbath beginning with services at sundown Friday.

If investors could be confident that we would reduce our domestic inflation they would expect our trade deficit to decline and would be willing to hold more dollars at current exchange rates and the depreciation of the dollar would be limited,"

Bush says election of Republican vital

By LANA CUNNINGHAM R-T Staff Writer

"There goes my constituency. I must follow them for I am their leader." said James Michael Curley, five times mayor of Boston in the 1920s.

Using this quote from Curley. George W. Bush summarized his feelings Friday about running for the 19th Congressional District seat against his Democratic opponent, Kent Hance of Lubbock. The Midland independent oil man spoke at a Midland Jaycees

George Mahon, D-Lubbock, is stepping down from the 19th District post after serving the people of West Texas 44 years.

Bush described the 19th as vital because of its oil and gas in the southern region and agriculture in the northern sector. This combination makes the area unique, he said, and pertains to why he feels a Republican should be elected to represent same balance of Republicans to Democrats (2 to 1) remains in Congress after the November elections, he will take it as an endorsement of his policies," Bush told the Jaycees.

'President Carter has said if the

'If you want a change in the way Congress has been run, send someone who will be independent from those who will run the Congress.

During his talk and during a subsequent question and answer session. Bush attacked the Democratic Congress and Carter's policies on the nuclear defense bill, cutting of the budget, tax rate reduction, the energy bill and agricultural policies.

The congressional hopeful described the energy compromise bill as unacceptable to both liberals and conservatives. Those against it say it is way too complex. He said free enterprise can not operate under uncertainty "and that is what the energy bill does.

Lack of an energy bill has been listed as the reason for the decline of the U.S. dollar on the world market. noted Bush, but he claimed the decline is because "Congress won't bite the bullet to cut down on deficit spending 'Japan is thriving and they don't have an energy policy," said the 32year-old Midlander "They run the country the way it ought to be run. We're taxing productivity, taxing profits and subsidizing welfare. I say 'hogwash' to passing the energy bill

Instead, suggested Bush, Congress should run the country in the manner of businessmen.

this way

Carter's policy of importing import cattle is hurting the country and the 19th District in particular, Bush

'The president says you're allowed to take risks and take losses, but you get no rewards

He proposed the government send agriculture producers overseas to negotiate sales of U.S. products.

Government policies have been discouraging incentive, he said. 'The government needs to work with the people, not against them.' Bush said he would have voted against Carter's veto of the defense

"We need a defense posture that is strong," he said. "The veto was based on a nuclear carrier and I feel it (the carrier) was important.'

The government's budget has been growing faster than the rate of inflation, according to Bush, who suggested cutting it on a priority system instead of across-the-board

He said his proposed system would start with cutting the lowest priority

When questioned as to where to begin on cutbacks, Bush answered by giving an example of a child nutrition program. It first was initiated to help malnutritioned children in school, he

"When they couldn't find enough malnutritioned' children in school, they expanded the program to mean education for all kids in the U.S. What's wrong with the parents or the local people doing this (nutritional program)

He said Friday he feels a tax rate reduction will be the best way to put money back into the public's pockets. but warned the audience to be careful of more Proposition 13s. 'Be cautious when you start re stricting services at the local level. It (Proposition 13) needs to be applied on a national level, not local.

The nuclear waste facility being studied for placement near Carlsbad. N.M., does not meet with Bush's approval. The proposed site is within 30 miles of Midland's future reserve underground water supply.

He said "to have plutonium near a water supply worries me. I would rather see White Sands (N.M., in a central part of that state) get it over Carlsbad.

But nuclear power eventually will be the ultimate source of energy for the United States, he said.

Mahon's recent endorsement of Bush's opponent, state Sen. Kent Hance, involving a promise on the part of Mahon to support the Democratic ticket, prompted Bush to remark: "Mahon is letting the people make up their mind.

The days of lengthy stays in Congress, such as that recorded by Mahon, are over, Bush said.

But he has no plans, he said, to serve just one two-year term and then

"If I do a lousy job, I have faith the voters will toss me out."

And if he wins the November elec tion and stays in Congress, Bush said, he "will follow my constituency.

Mediation move favored

WASHINGTON (AP) - Venezuela appeared Friday to have majority support in the Organization of American States for its call for an OAS foreign ministers' meeting to mediate the political crisis in Nicaragua

Diplomatic sources, who declined to be identified, said at least 10 countries favor the proposal and that these will be joined by at least six or seven more before the issue comes to a vote next Tuesday. A simple majority of 13 is needed for approval

The sources said that no member country has indicated opposition to the proposal but that Argentina. Paraguay and Uruguay are known to have reservations

These three countries are said to be worried about the establishment of a precedent for OAS intervention in nations undergoing political disturbances

The foreign ministers' meeting probably would be convened on Sept 19. For the most part, the 25 nations would be represented by their OAS ambassadors, although some foreign ministers may wish to head their

Soviet trial offers 'rare insight'

MOSCOW (AP) — The trial of three Soviets prosecuted along with American businessman Francis J. Craw ford provided a rare insight into the seamy side of Soviet life and the people who make the black market

Vladimir Kiselev, a file clerk with a penchant for gambling, testified he turned to crime to pay off his debts and eventually became head of the international currency-manipulating gang the Russians claimed involved

Kiselev was one of the three Russians tried with Crawford, who was given a suspended sentence for allegedly changing money on the black market. Crawford, 37, left the Soviet Union Friday, insisting as he had since hi4s arrest in June that the charges against him were trumped up. Kiseley, who admitted he was the gang's ringleader, was sentenced to five years in a labor camp.

According to trial testimony, Kiselev turned to crime in 1971. Before that, he attended a school for waiters, received excellent marks and was popular with students and teachers. He also studied English and German, which later proved useful in his illegal currency dealings with foreigners and dozens of Russians.

He worked at the large Rossiya Hotel in Moscow as a waiter and there were "no complaints" about him, the court was told. Then he was imprisoned in 1971 for currency manipulation and released in a general am nesty for criminals two years later. He returned to wheeling and dealing soon after his release. Kiselev, 39, told the court he had a mountain of debts from betting on sports and "more energy than was required in my work." So he turned to money-changing - rubles for German marks, French francs for Swedish kronas, Austrian schillings for U.S. dollars. He got the foreign currency from foreigners interested in getting a better exchange rate than the banks allow, and reaped thousands of dollars in profits from the cash transactions

To escape the notice of Soviet authorities, Kiselev resorted to elaborate security precautions, including clandestine subway meetings and whispered conversations at restaurants or hotel rooms. The money was kept in his apartment kitchen. Cash was stuffed into gas ovens, teapots, kitchen cupboards and even placed in savings accounts. Also part of the deals were goods that foreigners and Soviets alike prize highly - suitcases full of Westernmade bluejeans, earrings, antique coins, French perfumes, and luxuri-

Kiselev's wife, Ludmila, helped her husband in his currency manipulating but claimed she never took the initiative in setting up deals and acted only as a courier

At 25, she looked like a woman 10 years older - crease lines in her face, strands of hair graying at her temples. Her life has been hard. Her parents' marriage was never registered under Soviet law, and her father abandoned the family soon after her

Then someone came to the house when I was five and my mother told me to call him father," the seamstress told the court, sobbing.

She was imprisoned in 1971 for living in Moscow when she wasn't allowed to, and served a year. She worked as a cleaning woman until July 1977, and then stayed at home taking in occasional seamstress work until her arrest on last June 9.

Consumers enjoy inflation relief as wholesale food prices decline WASHINGTON (AP) - Sharply mal reports, the Carter administra-rising at at annual rate of nearly 10

wholesale prices down 0.1 percent in August, the first decline in this key measure of inflation in two years, the government said Friday

Average grocery prices in retail stores already had declined last month for the first time in four years. The decline at the wholesale level means consumers will continue to enjoy some inflation relief in weeks and months ahead since price trends at the wholesale level, especially for food, eventually are reflected in lower consumer prices.

Wholesale prices had increased 0.5 percent in July and were up 7.7 percent over the 12-month period ending in August. The Labor Department said consumer food prices at the wholesale level dropped 1.5 percent in August, the biggest drop in two years.

But even as the inflation news brightened a bit after months of dis-measures to toughen its anti-inflation program within the next few weeks.

Carter's chief adviser on inflation problems, Robert S. Strauss, told reporters the administration probably will propose other anti-inflation steps after the first of the year

While he gave no clue as to what is planned, he said, "We are looking at everything short of wage-and-price controls." It is known, however, that wage-and-price guidelines probably will be among the measures.

The decline of 1.5 percent in consumer food prices at the wholesale level was the largest since a 1.8 percent decline in August 1976. The Labor Department said prices of goods other than food rose 0.4 percent, the smallest increase since February.

The increase in consumer prices has been especially severe this year,

Among foods, there were sharply lower wholesale prices last month for processed poultry, fresh and dried fruits and vegetables and eggs, all of which had increased in July. Coffee, beef and veal prices also declined

The declines occurred at the consumer level, meaning the goods are ready for sale to the consumer. Food prices also declined at two other processing levels, signaling a continuing favorable trend. They dropped 3.4 percent at the intermediate level, the biggest decline in a year and 1.3 percent at the crude level.

The Labor Department said its pro ducer price index for finished goods, the name now given to the old whole sale price index, stood in August at 195.3 of the 1967 average of 100, meaning that goods priced at $100 in 1967 had increased in price to $195.30 last

Lee Band begins fund-raising effort

The Lee High School Rebel Band and the Robert E. Lee Bandoliers, a band support organization, will initiate an annual magazine and records sale this week

According to Marion Frazier and Jo Ann Boulter, Bandoliers co-chairmen for the sale, this year's fund-raising effort is the largest ever undertaken for the band

A goal of $25,000 has been set, to be achieved through new and renewal subscriptions of magazines and sale of LP records and tapes.

The campaign co-chairmen say that more than 300 magazines are available by subscription, along with a wide variety of popular records and

The spokesmen also explained that 40 per cent of the proceeds of students' individual sales goes directly to his or her spring band trip assessment, which this current school year will be approximately $140. Persons who would like to order magazines, tapes or records through the band organization may telephone Mrs. Frazier at 682-5647 or Mrs. Boulter at 697-2385. The drive will continue through Sept. 25.

BOSTON (AP) - Hundreds of wealthy Americans, including prominent athletes and show business figures, invested $20 million in a Wyoming coal mining venture that the federal government says is fraudulent

The Securities and Exchange Commission, in a complaint filed Thursday in U.S. District Court here, alleged fraud involving the selling of $112 million in unregistered securities were the late Elvis Presley, New York Knicks basketball players Spencer Haywood and Earl Monroe, television personality Allen Funt, entertainer Alice Cooper, model Margaux Hemingway, actor David McCallum and Warner Bros. President Frank G. Wells

The SEC charged that the scheme involved sale of limited partnership interests in a coal-mining venture in Gillette, Wyo. It said most of the coal is owned by the federal government.

The complaint charged 33 defendants, including individuals and corporations, with violating registration provisions of security law and 23 of them with violations of anti-fraud provisions of securities law. The SEC sought preliminary and permanent injunctions against the defendants. None of the investors were listed as defendants.

says little chance for more

The rains let up early Friday morning, giving way to clearer skies and brighter prospects for weekend plans than on the late unlamented Labor Day holiday weekend.

More than an inch of rain has dropped on the Permian Basin so far this month, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. And although the weatherman is predicting clear to partly cloudy skies today, the forecasts call for little chance of rain through Sun-

The rain that had spattered Midland off and on for much of this week ended shortly before 3 a.m. Friday. The total rainfall so far in September is 1.05 inches, according to the National Weather Service.

The temperature reached a high of 78 degrees in Midland Friday. The record high for Sept. 8 is 97 degrees set in 1964. The overnight low dipped to 63 degrees. The record low for today is 53 degrees set in 1956.

Cool, autumn-like temperatures, which the Permian Basin has been receiving in recent days, are expected to continue through Sunday.

The high today and Sunday should be in the middle 80s. The low tonight is expected to be in the middle 60s, the weatherman said

Judge dismisses charge; Forceable abduction not part of the scheme

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - A conspiracy charge against Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis was dismissed Friday after a defense lawyer argued the alleged plot did not include forceable abduction of the purported victim.

McInnis, 62, had been indicted by a federal grand jury here in June on charges he plotted to have a friend's ex-busband kidnapped and killed.

But U.S. District Court Judge Robert O'Conor of Houston dismissed the indictment against McInnis and Patricia Parada, 24.

Defense lawyer Frank Maloney of Austin represented McInnis.

He also argued Friday against perjury indictments against the pair. Those charges arise out of testimony by McInnis and Miss Parada to a federal grand jury. The defense ar-

The defense team claimed the matter was out of jurisdiction of federal authorities.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Woods, however, argued that McInnis and Miss Parada had planned to use "a decoy and deceit" to lure Villanueva. Prosecutors have claimed that tape recordings show that Miss Parada agreed to meet her ex-husband in the Mexican border town of Reynosa.

She allegedly was not going to keep the appointment and Villanueva was to be kidnapped.

But O'Conor said "it seemed that Villanueva was to willfully cross the border." The judge said he could find no conspiracy to kidnap Villanueva by causing him to cross the border.

'Causing, it appears to me, is when I grab you and put you in the trunk of my car and take you across the river," the judge said.

Woods again unsuccessfully argued that McInnis "caused" the border crossing by "promising a meeting in Reynosa that never was to take

Council stands by recommendation for speedy jury selection resolution

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Judicial Council stood firmly Friday by its stance that judges should limit the time lawyers take to question prospective jurors.

One member blasted a prominent criminal lawyer who had criticized the speedy jury selection resolution.
The council indicated it would decide in December whether to recommend to the Legislature a constitutional amendment designed to do away with election of judges on the basis of name identification.

Council members also voted to recommend that the Legislature remove county commissioners' discretion over the salary supplements many counties pay-district judges. But Supreme Court Justice Charles Barrow said this wasn't a proper concern of the council, which was set up to seek ways of making justice flow more smoothly.

Emmett Colvin of Dallas, a prominent criminal defense lawyer, sent the council a copy of a letter criticizing its June 9 resolution advising judges to speed up attorneys' questioning of prospective jurors. The resolution said that "in too many instances" the questioning was more extensive than necessary for a fair trial. It said the examination "may be validly, reasonably and de-sirably reduced through extensive and forceful exercise by trial judges of their inherent discretion in the jury selection process."

East discards the three of spades, and South wins the first trick. There is no need for a hold-up play since East has no clubs to lead if he later wins a trick. In fact, a hold-up play would be dangerous since it would give West the chance to shift to hearts (the suit he should have led in the first place since his hand is entry-less).

EARLY HOLD-UP Declarer immediately leads the nine of diamonds for a finesse, and East must refuse this trick.

If East wins the first diamond and returns a heart, South wins and leads diamonds until East takes the ace. South can get back to dummy with the ace of spades to run the rest of the diamonds, winning 11 tricks.

When East refuses the first diamond, South goes down. East takes the second diamond and leads a heart. The hold-up play has removed diamonds from the South hand, and South cannot set up the diamonds and also get back to cash them. He makes only three spades, two hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

Attorney General Griffin Bell and GSA Administrator Jay Solomon isgreed over what Kirbo would do.

But after hearing Bell's position, Solomon's statement was changed to remove the conflict.

The disagreement between the two is symptomatic of the friction between the GSA and the Justice Department over who is running the probes into corruption at the $5 bilion-a-year agency.

"Mr. Kirbo has no role in any investigation conducted by the Department of Justice," Bell said in his statement. 'His function is to offer counsel and Wide-ranging investigations by U.S. attorneys in several cities, federal grand juries and a GSA task force have turned up evidence of corruption in many areas of the agency. Allega-tions of fraud, extortion and theft are being investigated.

Many eyes on race in Brooklyn

By MARC ROSENWASSER

NEW YORK (AP) - For the first hour, it could have been a debate between a pair of congressional candidates anywhere in America. The topics ranged from foreign policy to welfare to leadership capability. The audience response was mild.

Then a middle-aged black woman stood up and with a single angry comment demonstrated why the Democratic primary contest between Rep. Fred Richmond and challenger Bernard Gifford is no ordinary race - and why many outside Richmond's district will be watching how his Brooklyn congressional district votes Tuesday.

What's to be learned is whether a two-term congressman from a largely liberal, ethnically polyglot area can survive an electoral challenge less than a year after being arrested for, and admitting to, soliciting sex from two males — one a 16-year-old

It was only seconds after Willie Williams shouted at the white millionaire congressman: "How can you ask me as a black mother to vote for you? I consider what you did an insult to black people," that the crowd turned from polite to unruly, from quietly divided to loudly divided. There were boos and

And the twin issues of sex and race had been injected into the campaign for yet another night.

Not that the issue of race wasn't there already. Richmond is Jewish, his opponent black. The district is made up predominantly of poor blacks and Puerto Ricans but also includes some of the wealthiest sections in Brooklyn, a conclave of orthodox Hasidic Jews and a large Italian community. The Jews and the affluent liberals from Brooklyn Heights have been known to vote more than blacks and Puerto

As Richmond goes about the 14th district in the last days of this volatile race, he is still answering questions about what is known as "the incident." He notes that had it not occurred, "there would be no election at all" and campaigns as if it never

At subway stops and on the street, at cocktail parties and coffee klatches, Richmond talks the 'issues," big and small - about his involvement in food stamp legislation, about the ineffectiveness of the White House, about problems constituents are having quieting neighborhood kids and setting up garden cooperatives.

He insists: "People judge me on the basis of the work I've done. I've delivered and that's all they care about.

But the "incident" persists, as was shown recently when a supporter listed the 54-year-old Richmond's political achievements, then angrily declared: "Congressman Richmond has never molested a child in his entire life.

Richmond refers to his arrest - and subsequent psychiatric treatment in a first-offender program as "one isolated incident."

In fact, the congressman was arrested after he had solicited sex from two males - the second an undercover policeman, who had been sent to Richmond's home after authorities received complaints from the black youth's parents that Richmond was harrassing him.

In a letter to his constituents the day after columnist Jack Anderson broke the story, Richmond acknowledged that he had solicited "a young man beginning almost a year ago, and, as a result of those solicitations, last February, I made further solicitations with payments of money, in my own home to a man who, unbeknowst to me, was an undercover police officer. Nothing more happened."

- which Gifford says would have been the honorable thing for him to do: not run.

As the primary approaches, Richmond is seen as a

Hua seeks peace, aid for China

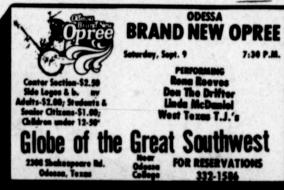

WASHINGTON (AP) - Communist Party Chairman Hua Kuo-feng told Yugoslavia's President Tito Tito that China will rely increasingly on Western that China needs 20 years of peace and help from Western nations to achieve its modernization goal, U.S. intelligence sources said Friday.

They said Hua told this to Tito in private talks during the Chinese leader's unprecedented visit to the Balkans in late August. The sources, who declined to be identified, would not say how they learned the content of the discussions.

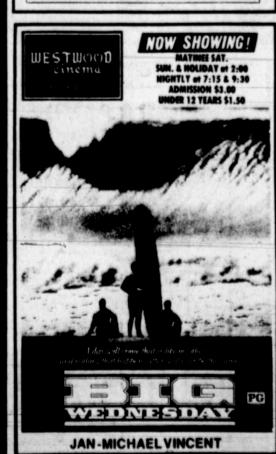

Carter administration sources hope Hua's reported stress on the need for long-term peace will reassure the Russians, who maintain more than 40 army divisions and other heavy forces facing the Chinese frontier and who apparently are deeply concerned about Peking's intentions.

Russia's Siberian lands long have been considered a possibly tempting military target for China, with its enormous and growing population pressures. The one-time communist allies have been unable to settle ongstanding border disputes and China's relatively limited nuclear missile force obviously worries Mo-

U.S. intelligence sources said Hua also indicated to nations to help overcome its lagging development, which he was said to have blamed partly on "mistakes" of Chinese leaders in the recent past. It was unclear whether Hua's criticism was aimed at the late Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

If the Houston Oilers and the Texas Longhorns can get all of that mileage out of the Tyler Rose, how far can the Midland Lee Rebels go with the Cac-

Jeff McCowan, the West Texas version of Earl Campbell, ran over, around and through a helpless Snyder defense Friday night at Memorial Stadium to lead the Rebels to a 32-8 victory over the Tigers in the season debut for both teams.

The Cactus Flower ripped off 167 yards rushing in 20 carries for over eight yards per carry and scored three touchdowns, one covering 63 yards on a bust right up the Snyder

If McCowan was all the Rebels had to rely on, however, it might be a different story, but Gil Bartosh's new offensive attack showed a lot of power as tailback Ricky Johnson added 84 yards on 14 carries and quarterback Gary Butler completed five of eight pass attempts for another 70 yards. In all, Lee pounded out 350 yards of

And while the Lee offense was doing its thing, the Stonewall Brigade de fense gave up only 124 yards total to the AAA Tigers, 85 rushing and 39 passing. Safety John White came up with two interceptions, and almost had a third. White also recovered a fumble for a bang-up performance. Doug Crawford, Paul Speight and Brian Briscoe were also especially bright on the defensive crew.

The rough edges are not completely out of the Rebels' attack yet or the Tigers would have been sent limping ome in even worse condition. Th Rebs were penalized 10 times for 103 yards, and that alone stopped a few drives goalward, and they also coughed up two fumbles, one of which, set the Tigers up for their only score of the night.

Lee struck first in the battle with a footnote to history. The Rebels marched 65 yards the first time they got the ball with McCowan cracking off tackle from four yards out for the first period tally. So, Lee put points on the board to welcome Bartosh the first time they had the ball. Lee made it 12-0 in the second period when Johnson scored from four yards out after White's fumble recovery set Lee in motion at the Snyder

The Rebels also scored the first time they had the ball in the third peirod as McCowan scored from oneyard out for an 18-0 lead.

Things tightened somewhat after that when McCowan's fumble at the Lee six by Toby Neves of the Tigers. On the next play, Snyder quarterback Clay Johnson scored and passed to Richard Crayton for the conversion and cut the margin to 18-8 early in the fourth period.

Cactus Flower then bloomed again with his 63-yarder in the middle of the fourth period to put the game away. McCowan just blew past the Snyder middle and then outfoxed the Snyder secondary with a couple of good moves for the score. Gary Butler later scored from two yards out to complete the TD parade, and Billy McPherson kicked two straight extra points after McCowan had missed a couple PATs earlier.

Johnson led Snyder with 68 yards rushing, but he paid dearly for nearly all of them and the highly touted Crayton managed only 15 yards in 11 carries.

McCamey struck first, driving 85 yards in eight plays to score in the pening quarter with Paul Arana ssing to End Allan Prather for the TD. Arana's extra point try was wide with 50 seconds left in the quarter.

The Yellowjackets scored on an 18yard field goal with 1:25 left in the half with quarterback Donny Hanna doing the honors. Then on the last play of the half, Hanna showed his versatility to tossing a 25-yard TD strike to halfback John Nicholas. Hanna then converted and McCamey was down 10-6.

The Badgers responded to the chal-lenge by marching 90 yards, a light-ning-like two play strike. Arana ran for 17 yards and then Luna went all the way. Arana ran the two-pointer and McCamey led 14-10 with 7: 49 left in the period.

Luna was the standoutHball carrier for the Badgers, lugging the pigskin 30 times for 167 yards.

AMARILLO- Denny Hays' coaching debut was successful. His Midland High Super Dogs took a hard fought 7-6 victory here Friday night over the Amarillo Tascosa, Bebels here in Dick Bivins Stadium. "I sure was proud of our youngsters tonight. We played with a lot of people hurt, but still came through with a victory and that's what counts." He went on, "I think that it was a team victory, but I've got to especially point out our defensive

Although the Rebels had a large lead in the statistical end of the game, it was the ability of the defense to come up with big plays that made the difference. The Purple Pack recovered four Rebel fumbles to shutdown the awesome rushing attack, which netted 312 yards.

It was a Mexican standoff for the first period, but lots of things happened in the second when all the scoring was done.

MIDLAND KICKED off to start the game and the Rebels were unable to move the ball on their first possession, but Midland marched to the Tascosa 17 before a pass from sophomore quarterback Michael Feldt to end Jerry Hollums was too

Feldt had dialed Hollums' number earlier with a 17-yard pass to the Rebel 17 on a fourth and 11 situation.

Besides the 17-yard pass play, fullback Jeff Robnett, who rushed for 71 yards in 16 carries, had runs of 16. seven and eight yards during the

Sam Driskill made a key defensive play for Midland early in the second period when he almost picked off a pass by Rebel quarterback Louie Cardwell nd he had clear sailing if he could have held on to the football.

Late in the second period, Tascosa started a march from its own 48 to the Midland 10 where safety Jimmy Zachry picked off a mid-air fumble by Cardwell and raced 70 yards to the Rebel 20 where Cardwell caught the 190-pound senior from behimd, saving a touchdown.

The Bulldogs cashed in on Zachry's great defensive play in going 20 yards in six plays with Robnett ramming his way over from the two with 2'30 left in the first half.

ROBNETT ALSO had runs of three and eight yards to set up the score. Bobby Stovall split the uprights for a 7-0 lead, which later proved to be the difference in the game.

Not to be outdone. Tascosa marched 67 yards in only eight plays to score and that came with no time left on the clock when tailback Ray Scott raced in over the flag in the corner.

Scott, gaining 143 on 22 carries for the Rebels, with 133 of those coming in the first half, led all ball carriers. Bobby Slade, barefoot kicker, missed fire on the extra point as the two teams went to the dressing room with Midland on top 7-6.

Midland Lee, Midland High, Odessa Permian, Abilene High and Abilene Cooper came away with victories Friday night as five of the District 5-4A squads came away with a fast start on Football Friday.

Lee pounded Snyder, 32-8, while Midland High escaped Amarillo Tascosa, 7-6. Permian opened up with an easy 37-7 romp over El Paso Coronado.

The Abilene schools also came out on top as Abilene High blasted Wichi-

STANTON - Tahoka coach A.D. Shaver was bold enough to boast before the start of the season that his fullback, Clifford Bailey, may be the best running back in the state. After Friday night, he probably wouldn't get too many arguments from the people in Stanton.

Stanton was at a disadvantage before the game even started. Just prior to game time it was announced that

Buffalo tailback Todd Smith would not play because of an ankle injury. Buff coach David Thompson expects Smith back in action soon, but his absence from the lineup Friday crippled the Stanton offense.

The Smith-less Buffaloes managed only 57 yards rushing and could get only 70 more through the air. The bulk of the passing yardage came on a halfback pass from Bobby Mims. Buff quarterback Tommy Morrow found the pocket crowded when he went back to pass as the Tahoka defense sacked him five times. Morrow finished with only four completions in 13 attempts and had a pair of his aerials picked off by the Bulldogs.

Bailey scored two of Tahoka's last period touchdowns, one a nifty 90 yard job with 3:18 left to give the Bulldogs a 28-7 lead. He added the final tally of the night with a two-yard blast with only 18 seconds left to add insult to injury.

Actually, except for a couple of bad bounces, Stanton might have been able to pull out a win in that final period. After Tahoka drove to the Stanton three at the onset of the final quarter, a horde of Stanton defenders mauled Jerry Hatchett at the one, causing him to cough up the ball. Stanton recovered and down only by a touchdown they seemed in good

But, after moving only seven yards in three plays the Buffs had to give the ball up. Hatchett fielded Morrow's punt at the Stanton 40 and sailed down the left sideline for a touchdown.

On their next possession, Stanton moved to the Tahoka 36 via a 21-yard pass interference call. On second and 10, Morrow lofted a pass down the left sideline to a wide open Paul Sparks. The ball hit Sparks on the shoulder pads, however, and instead of six points for Stanton, Bailey found the ball bouncing into his hands to set Tahoka up at the four.

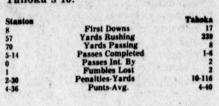

Quarterback Todd Brown's first down run moved the ball to the ten and then Bailey dashed all Stanton hopes with his 90-yard jaunt.

Though Bailey was perhaps the brightest star on the field, he was by no means the only one. Hatchett picked up 93 yards rushing and scored a pair of long distance touchdowns. One was his punt return to paydirt, the other a 34 yard interception return for a TD in the second quarter.

The Bulldogs' first touchdown of the night came at the end of a 12 play, 75 yard drive on their first possession of the ball game. Bailey provided the capper by covering the final nine yards on a sweep around the left side of Stanton's defense.

Stanton's lone score came in the second quarter on a five yard pass from Morrow to Ben Bowlin. The score was set up by Mims' 46-yard halfback pass to Sparks. That play moved the Buffs all the way down to Tahoka's 10.

ANDREWS - Andrews tailback Johnny Lopez scored two touchdowns and set up a third with an interception as the Mustangs opened the 1978 season with a convincing 27-7 thrashing of Big Spring.

Lopez opened the Andrews scoring with his first score of the night, an 18-vard pass reception from quarterback Jay McWilliams. A missed PAT kick left the score at 6-0, but Andrews quickly widened that to 12-0 when Van Pearcy scooped up a Big Spring fumble and rambled 44 yards for a touch-

Hisle's 30th paces Brewers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - Ex-Twin Larry Hisle reached the 30-home run, 100-RBI plateau with a homer in Milwaukee's three-run fourth inning Friday night, backing the three-hit pitching of Andy Replogle and powering the Milwaukee Brewers to a 3-0 victory over Minnesota.

Replogle, 8-2, allowed just one runner as far as second in recording his second shutout of the year and third complete game. The right-hander struck out one, walked one, hit a batter and was assisted by three double plays.

Hisle became a free agent last fall after playing out the option year of his Minnesota contract. He collected his 100th and 101st RBIs of this season with a 400-foot homer to left off Gary Serum, 8-7.

The homer came the pitch after Cecil Cooper doubled on Serum's first serve of the fourth. The Brewers added an unearned run when right fielder Hosken Powell misplayed Ben Oglivie's sinking line drive into a three-base. One out later, Robin Yount doubled.

TORONTO (AP) - Rich Dauer's third hit of the game scored Kiko Garcia in the seventh inning and Doug DeCinces' double delivered Eddie Murray in the eighth, sending the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-4 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays Friday night.

Toronto had tied it 3-3 in the sixth, but Garcia singled off Tom Underwood, 6-13, and raced to third on catcher Rick Cerone's passed ball. Then Dauer singled to right, making it 4-3 and giving the Orioles their 15th victory in 19 starts.

DeCinces plated Murray in the eighth to insure Baltimore's first victory at Exhibition Stadium after six losses this season.

Nelson Briles, 4-4, relieved Mike Flanagan in the fourth after Toronto had tied it 2-2.

Briles gave up a ninth-inning homer to Dave McKay, bringing the Blue Jays within 5-4, and was relieved in the ninth by Don Stanhouse. Stanhouse picked up his 21st save.

White Sox nip Mariners

CHICAGO (AP) - Greg Pryor hit the first two home runs of his major league career Friday night, leading Rich Wortham and the Chicago White Sox to a 3-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

Pryor, a rookie, had batted 175 times with the White Sox this season and eight times with the Texas Rangers last season. He hit his first homer in the first inning and connected in the third after Claudell Washington had doubled.

Both blows came off Jim Colborn, 4-11.

The Mariners took a 2-1 lead in the second off Wortham, 2-2. Ruppert Jones singled and Lee Stanton doubled. Jones scored on a wild pitch and Stanton scored on a double by Kevin Pasley.

Wortham then allowed only an infield single to Bill Stein in the fourth until the Mariners threatened with CINCINNATI (AP) - Ozzie Smith CINCINNATI (AP) — Ozzie Smith drove in the go-ahead run and Gaylord Perry, with relief help, posted his 17th victory of the year as the San Diego Padres defeated the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 Priday night.

Perry's victory came just one week short of his 40th birthday, improving his season record to 17-6 and his career record over Cincinnati to 19-10. Smith's blow, driving in Gene Tenace with the go-ahead run in the seventh inning, drove Cincinnati starter and loser Mike LaCoss, 3-7, from the mound.

Perry allowed three hits through the first five innings before being tagged for a run on three hits in the sixth. Bob Shirley came on in the seventh inning and Rollie Pingers pitched in the ninth for the Padres, gaining his 32nd save.

The Reds had tied the game at 2-2 in the sixth inning on an RBI single by Dan Driessen.

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mon-tanez drove in all three runs with a pair of singles and a tie-breaking, eighth-inning double Friday night, lifting the New York Mets to 3-2 vicory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The loss, combined with Philadel-phia's double-header sweep against St. Louis, left the second-place Pi-rates three games in back of the Phillies in the National League East.

With background like this, who could worry?

Why would anyone worry about a football opponent that once claimed an undefeated season by beating the Alliance Athletic Club twice or once went 0-1-1 against Occidental and Cal

Or, for that matter, is only 5-4 in its lifetime series against St. Mary's College and once went 7-0-1 against opponents that included Long Beach, Chaffey and San Diego high schools plus Pomona, Rdlands, Whittier, Cal Tech and Occidental, a year so successful that it felt there were no more fields to conquer on the gridiron, so turned to rugby for the next three years.

How could anyone take seriously a football foe that once was led in rushing by Inky Wolkyns, who sounds like a refuge from a chocolate factory, or a Morley Drury, who must have stepped right from the pages of Dickens?

What kind of terror would such as Grenny Landsdell, Don Doll, Ambrose Schindler, Cotton Warburton, Aramis Dandoy, Damon Bame and Ward Bondnow there was a real meanystrike into the hearts of paralyzed foes? What kind of a powerhouse is it that makes a legend of a Doyle Nave, a fourth string quarterback?

Rex, in his first chore as head coach, couldn't have picked a tougher opponent, and, rest assured if Dockery had had his choice, he would have preferred the Alliance Athletic Club.

The Trojans are the biggest name outside of the Southwest Conference that the Raiders have ever played and it couldn't have come at a more inopportune time. masked riders of the South Plains without being confronted by the imposing spectre of the Trojans, who are the favorite haunt of pro football scouts.

Ask Texas A&M about USC. The Aggies caught the Trojans coming off their worst season, four-loss disasters, in years in bowl games in 1975 and 1977 and lost 20-0 and 47-28.

If there is a silver lining for Dockery, it's that the Trojans are extremely young. Coach Johnny Robinson claims, "It's a team that has great potential, but in six years as assistant and head coach here, it's the youn-gest USC team I've ever been associated with.

"If our young players develop like we think they will, we've got a great future. But it's also scary right now, because we don't know how well they'll play while they're getting that experience. Some people become experienced players in two months, some in two years. Hopefully, we'll mature in a hurry and be outstanding this season. For sure, we're very excited about 1979."

ACTUALLY, PLAYING USC in the season's first game isn't a bad spot. The Trojans lost to Missouri in 1976, 46-25, and in 1974 to Arkansas, 22-7, in openers. On the other hand, USC won national championships in evennumbered years-1972, 1974 and finished second in 1976. This is 1978, so it's got to be the Trojans, say 35-10.

In other games Saturday, SMU 21, TCU 14, there was a time when this one was the season-ending climax which more often than not carried championship overtones; Texas A&M 31, Kansas 0, Aggies loaded while Jayhawks were decimated by graduation; UCLA 10, Washington 7; Oklahoma 22, Stanford 13; Penn State 28, Rutgers 0; Iowa State 20, Rice 0, Cyclones one of Big Eight's stronger teams; Arizona State 27, Pacific 10 and Brigham Young 23, Oregon State 7.

Oh yes, Nave became a USC to the 1939 Rose Bowl game in the last few seconds and uncorked a touchdown pass to Al Krueger. It not only won the game, 7-3, but ruined an unbeaten, untied, unscored upon season for Duke.

Pam Shriver, 16-year-old, advances to U.S. Open finals. (AP Laserphoto)

Pam Shriver upsets Navratilova

NEW YORK (AP) - The dream

continues for Pam Shriver. Just 16 years old, about to begin the 11th grade at McDonough High School in Lutherville, Md., the poised and charming youngster finds herself just one step away from the U.S. Open tennis championship.

"It's been fantastic - absolutely nothing has gone wrong the last two weeks," the slender 6-footer said after upsetting top-seeded Martina Navratilova 7-6, 7-6 in the semifinals Friday. "I never figured I'd get this far - who did?"

Who, indeed, could have forseen that she now would be just one victory away from becoming the youngest U.S. Open champion in history. At 16 years, 2 months, Shriver is nine months younger than Maureen Con-nolly when she won this event in

HER OPPONENT in Sunday's final will be either defending champion Chris Evert, the No.2 seed, or fourthseeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia. Their semifinal was postponed by rain with Evert leading 3-1 in the first set. That match was to be completed

The men's semifinals were scheduled for today, with No.1 seed Bjorn Borg meeting No.4 Vitas Gerulaitis and No.2 Jimmy Connors playing No.15 John McEnroe.

An insight into the type of youngster Shriver is came at the end of her match with Navratilova. After winning the second-set tie-breaker 7-3 in posting the biggest victory of her career, there was none of the childish excitement one might expect - no jumping up and down in exhultation, almost no emotion.

"I was feeling great, but I didn't want to make a big scene," she explained. "For some reason, I thought of Martina then, and I didn't want to rub it in. I know how it hurts when people do it to me, and I didn't want to do that to her."

IT IS precisely that poise and composure, combined with a marvelous serve and volley game that fully utilizes her height and reach, that have carried her into the final.

"When I look across the net I look up," said Navratilova, with a smile.
"Her age doesn't really have anything to do with it. She plays like a grownup 25-year-old. She plays like a The 16th-seeded Shriver broke game, but the Czech expatriate broke right back. The set went to a tiebreaker, which Shriver won 7-5.

The second set was interrupted twice by rain, once for 50 minutes and again for 30 minutes. It also went to a tie-breaker, after Navratilova earlier had fended off three match points. Shriver took the second tie-breaker

"I couldn't get it going when I had to," said the 21-year-old Navratilova, disappointed but composed after the match. "I had my chances and I just didn't take advantage of them. When it got down to the tie-breaker she got her first serves in and I didn't. That was what won the match.

If you watched Dallas' cheerleaders cavorting about last Monday night, you probably noticed a couple of things.

When ABC's cameras weren't ogling the girls, you saw the Cowboys clobber the Baltimore Colts 38-0.

When they were, you saw sex ism officially kicking into high gear in the National Football League, to the chagrin of some of today's more outspoken

Cheerleaders have always been a part of football, from the peewees to the pros. But, as the name implies, they're supposed to get people to cheer, not saliThese days, in the NFL, sis-boom-bah has been replaced by bump-and-grind. The big numbers used to be 6-6, 265. Now they're 38-24-36. Some pro teams have had women prancing along the sidelines for many years. But it was the Cowboys who, a few seasons back, mated pro football and Charlie's Angels.

Since then we've witnessed the creation of the Denver Broncos' Pony Express, Philadelphia's Liberty Belles, the Houston Oilers' Derrick Dolls, Chicago's Honey Bears, the Seattle Sea Gals, the Cincinnati Ben Gals, the St. Louis Cardinals' Big Red Line and more, including - heaven help us - the Los Angeles Rams' Embraceable

In many instances it's becoming a case of less and less uniform and more and more cheerleader - and those aren't pompons the girls are shakin' at

"I think it could get out of hand but I don't think it has to this point," says Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "I think the clubs tention and I think for the most part they've handled that part of their show in good taste. I think they've become increasing aware of the importance of conducting it with good taste.

"I don't think there's a chauvinism involved ... you've al-ways had pretty girls at football games as cheerleaders," Rozelle points out."

Says Shannon Baker, one of the Cowboys' cheerleaders: "A lot of people have said, 'We don't need those girls on the field, but, hey, there's also a lot of nice looking men on the field — the

"If anything, we're getting away from the sexual thing, ne adds. "Our uniforms might be revealing, but I've done professional dancing and I've danced in a lot less. It's all in good taste."

But that, quite frankly, begs the question.

"It's just another example of the stereotype," says Gloria Steinem, one of the nation's most outspoken feminists. "You know, like it used to be the servants were always black and the employers were always white. These days the stereotype is that the women are always the secretaries, the researchers - yes, and the cheerleaders, too - and the men are always the principals.

"You'll notice you don't see sports events.

"I personally think it's very offensive to see," Steinem says of the NFL's growing crop of pneumatic females. "It's obviously a form of exploitaion ... but if they don't mind doing it, that's their right."

Says Lynn Mutchler, former Texas state coordinator for NOW (National Organization for Women): "I believe a lot of people wouldn't go to the games if they didn't put on this kind of show, especially here in Houston, where they don't have a very good team ... And the women are being exploited. I would like to see them get paid as much as the players if they are going to have as much po-

What does Baker think of that

"We're not getting our bodies pounded out there like they are," she said - which may be the best news of this or any football season for sexists, chauvinists and the rest of the nation's girl-watchers.

Boryla wants Bucs quarterback job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Quarterback Mike Boryla gets his first start in two years Saturday night, and he plans to ensure that Doug Williams and Gary Huff have to wait at least as long before they get their next starts.

Boryla, who missed all of last season with a knee injury, will lead the Tampa Bay Buccaneers against the Detroit Lions here. He had been bothered by swelling in the knee during preseason and was overshadowed by Huff and rookie Williams. But both of them were unimpressive in the Bucs' 19-13 opening National Football League loss to the New York Giants

"I don't feel amazed that I'm starting," he said. "I've felt all along that I'm the No. 1 quarterback. I did well in the two preseason games I

"I was having some swelling in the knee and my other leg was getting banged up. I kept hurting myself. Now I feel good.

This will be the first time a Texas Longhern football game has been shown on closed-circuit TV here.

Coach John McKay noted that he doesn't want to get into a "musical chairs game" at quarterback.

"You'd like to have an outstanding quarterback," he said. "I thought last year they had confidence in Mike Boryla and still do. But there was no way I could play him before now because he was going to get killed.

"I can't say who is No. 1 until I see Mike Boryla in a game," McKay said.

In three seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles, Boryla started 18 games and completed over 50 percent of his passes every season. He made the Pro Bowl in 1975.

BORYLA, WHO directed the Eagles to three straight victories in three starts during his rookie season, said he wasn't surprised to see Williams start slowly after a promising exhibition season.

"There's a big difference between coming in in the second half of an exhibition game and starting a regular season game. One difference is all week long, you're talking to reporters. There's a lot more pressure," Boryla said.

Williams probably will not play at all Saturday because of a bruised

Boryla feels the Bucs may have an important advantage over the Lions on the offensive line. The Lions lost to Green Bay 13-7 in their opener.

"THEY'RE STARTING a young line (quarterback Greg Landry was * sacked eight times), where our line has improved 100 percent. I can't emphasize enough how important that line is to a quarterback. "I only got sacked twice in preseason. You can't imagine how important that good protection is. Without it, you can't read defenses, you can't pass well, you get beat up," he said. But, Boryla added, "We're not really at the position where we can look at anybody aand say they're not good enough to beat us."

Bill Walton ... focuses on new team.

Clippers enter Walton bidding

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The owner of San Diego's new National Basetball Association team said Friday he will continue negotiations to sign center Bill Walton of the Portland Trail Blazers.

"It's no secret that the San Diego Clippers have a tremendous interest in signing Bill Walton," Irv Levin told a news conference.

The former Mt. Helix High School star from suburban La Mesa has said he wants to be traded by Portland and has named several teams as his wouldbe future employers.

The 6-foot-11 center, who starred at UCLA, was at odds with the Blazers over the use of pain-killing drug injections he feels contributed to last spring's foot injury that still has him in a cast and hobbling about on crutches.

Pacers sign Kentucky's Robey

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Indiana Pacers signed their No. 1 draft pick Friday, Rick Robey of NCAA champion Kentucky, and Coach Bobby Leonard predicted his last-place team of a year ago would be a contender for a National Basketball Association playoff berth this season.

"I'm gonna put myself on the spot," Leonard said at a news conference to announce the signing of the 6-foot-10½ Robey to a long-term contract. "We're gonna win 40 games. I don't know how many over 40 we'll win, but this club will win at least 40. And that should be enough to get in the playoffs."

The phone rang insistently in the office of Dodger vice president Al Campanis. The caller was polite, concerned. How was the family, the diet, the ballclub? Al waited patiently to see what trumps were going to be in this hand. He soon found out.

'Al, I've been thinking about that infield of yours. You need an experienced hand with all those kids." "What did you have in mind," Campanis sparred. "how about Wayne Garrett for Steve Garvey?" the caller wondered. Al Campanis hung up gen-

Although Missouri is something of a

IT IS the duty of a general manager to get Sandy Koufax for an old cigar box if he can, or a Triple Crown winner for three benchwarmers and a player to be named later. Some deals have been downright catastrophic. Babe Ruth was sold for $125,000, if you can believe it. Joe Morgan was traded to Cincinnati by Houston for a whole bunch of people who are no longer with Houston - and some are not with

They used to say of George Weiss, the alligator-tempered, unsmiling ivory dealer of the old New York Yankees, that "He'd trade his mother if it would help the club." Campanis went him one better. He sold his son. It was his first official front-office act. Al couldn't resist the price - $100,000 - for a guy with a lifetime big league batting average of .147 (47 points higher than his old man, at that).

A LESS likely candidate for a job as major league general manager could hardly be found. Campanis was born on the Dodecanese Island of Kos, the son of a Greek mother and an Italian father, a captain in the Bersagliere, an elite corps of the king of Italy's troops, who looked great in parades, and went into battle with cock feathers in their helmets.

English was his third language when Al's mother moved him to New York, where she sent her young son to school in a Hell's Kitchen neighborhood in a pongee shirt and velvet suit with high socks and button shoes. He looked like Little Lord Fauntleroy on a pirate ship, and his clothes didn't go with the black eyes he came home with - but he soon did learn to fight.

He was a good enough halfback at NYU to be offered a contract by the New York Giants, but he signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers, where he got to bat 20 times in the big leagues (he made two hits), but was a pretty good Triple-A infielder, one of whose jobs was to break in Jackie Robinson as a second baseman at Montreal. "He learned all you had to know in two days," ruefully remembers Al. "Anything that could be done with a ball, bat, gloves and feet, he was born to

He caught the eye of Branch Rick-ey, who launched Al on a 30-year

THE GENERAL manager's art is not in recognizing Steve Garvey as a winner after he had won four Golden Gloves, two All-Star games, an MVP and a few World Series games, but in recognizing it in the days when Steve was filling the first base dugout with throws from third. The art of a general manager is getting an All-Star outfield for a bunch of guys who will be playing in Japan or Seattle within two years. It's easier for a manager to hug a .600 team than a .300 one.

But the main art is to sift through the sweet talk and cigar smoke, such as when Texas offered him a deal a few years ago. The Rangers wanted Don Sutton for a 10-12 pitcher named Jim Umbarger. When a local newspaperman phoned Campanis to check the deal for Sutton, he was puzzled. "Did you say they offered a 'hamburger' or a 'Humbugger'?" he wondered. "Well," said Al, "to tell the truth, it was a little of both."

New facility one answer to Rath's money trouble

ment of $67.8 million has been recommended for construction of a new processing and slaughter facility for the Rath Packing Co. by a federally funded study of the company.

The report considers solutions to the financial problems of Rath, the second-largest employer in Black Hawk County. Rath also has facilities in Texas, Indiana and California.

The report, released Friday by the Iowa Northland Regional Council of Governments, recommends construction of the new facility as the last of eight means to avoid bankruptcy and to "assure a long-term, viable solution" for the financially troubled com-

The $60,000 report, commissioned by the U.S.-Department of Housing and Urban Development's Economic Development Administration, was conducted by two private firms -Development Planning and Research Associates Inc., Manhattan, Kan., and Globe Engineering Co., Chicago.

One of the initial recommendations in the report is the immediate investment of $6.5 million in short-term aid at the Waterloo facility.

"It was ... concluded that the shortterm changes recommended for Rath must be implemented to assure continued operation over the next three years," the study says.

"Over the long term, the Rath-Waterloo plant cannot be renovated to produce meat at economically competitive levels. In general, its age, construction characteristics and general layout, and its maintenance and operating costs are all critical and will likely lead to a plant closure in three to five years at best.

"Thus, for the long term, Rath or concerned parties should consider and initiate the construction of new facilities for Waterloo.'

The $67.8-million price tag for the new facility includes the investment of $40.2 million for a processing section. Of that sum, $26.2 million is needed for the plant, and $14 million for working capital.

For the slaughter division, the study gives a total price tag of $27.6 million — $19.2 million for the plant and $8.4 million for working capital.

Although the report lists no definite source for funds, several alternatives are offered. Locally, either industrial bonds or the issuance of additional capital stock by Rath could raise the

Funds could also be obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration under the Title IX Special Economic Development and Adjustment Assistance Program. Either the city of Waterloo, the Black Hawk County Economic Development Committee or the Iowa Northland Economic Dement District could obtain the Title IX grant and lend the money to Another possible source for funds is the Urban Development Action Grant Program of the U.S. Department of

- Restructure marketing and sales - Restructure and reduce management staff.

- Obtain short-term financing

- Improve financial reporting and information system. - Make plant modifications and

Renewed fighting in Iran provides opportunity to answer questions

EDITOR'S NOTE - George Krimsky, an AP Middle East correspondent based in Lebanon, was in Iran last week to report on the growing conservative Moslem revolt against the government of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. After returning to Lebanon he put together the ing Q-and-A to explain what's chind the revolt and how it is af-

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's shortlived attempt to pacify hardcore Moslem religious leaders spearheading a revolt against his efforts to break the clerical grip over Moslem Iran, ended Friday in the bloodstained streets of Tehran.

The shah shuffled his government Aug. 27 and sanctioned free expression in a bid to mollify the growing challenge to his rule

But when 100,000 demonstrators, defying a government ban on rallies, massed in the capital Thursday to demand his resignation, the shah's government replied with a declaration of martial law.

Demonstrators took to the street again Friday and were met by the army. Troops fired first over the heads of the crowd, then lowered their sights into mass of angry rebels. Unofficial reports said as many as 100

Here are some insights into the conflict:

Question. What set off the recent protests that have resulted in more than 1,000 deaths in clashes with authorities this year?

Answer. The demonstrations evolved gradually, rather than erupted, as Moslem religious leaders became increasingly angered over the Shah's 1977 liberalization program, which they regarded as an affront to Islamic precepts. The mullas, or priests, of the Shiite Moslem sect -Iran's largest religious group - have been chafing at the invasion of Western influences in national life, especially the influx of sexy or violent movies and the increased freedom for women ordered by the shah. They organized their first mass demonstration in January, a protest that led to nine deaths. A rally after the 40-day period of mourning for those victims set off the growing cycle of violence.

Q. Are religious conservatives the shah's only opponents?

A. No, but others have used the religious issue as the spearhead for their own grievances. The most extreme opposition comes from leftist radicals labelled by the government "Islamic Marxists," an underground group of several hundred dedicated to the shah's overthrow and blamed for numerous acts of terrorism over the past five years. There is also a large body of students and intellectuals, at home and abroad, opposed to the shah's autocratic rule. Economic grievances are also widespread: despite a 15-year-old literacy program and a jump in per capita income from $160 to $2,200 a year fueled by Iran's oil wealth, more than half the population is extremely poor and illiterate.

Q. What does the opposition want, and are the various opposition groups

A. the opposition goals are extremely diverse. Religious leaders want a return to strict Islamic law in governing Iran. Liberals want democracy, and the radicals seem bent on transforming Iran into a socialist state. For the moment, these groups are not airing their differences and are loosely joined in an unspoken alliance.

Q. Is there any evidence that foreign powers are playing any role in the disturbances?

A. The government claims outside communists are behind the troubles, by implication Moscow and its allies. There is no independent evidence that the Soviet Union or any other country is playing a direct role in the troubles, but Western intelligence sources say they have traced funds to the Iranian Marxists from the pro-Soviet regime in Libya. Also, Iranian Marxists have been seen training with radical Palestinians in southern Lebanon.

Q. Who are the Shah's supporters? A. In the current atmosphere of dissent, they are more difficult to identify because they are mostly keeping quiet. But he has support of the privileged classes on two key issues: fear of Islamic puritanism and fear of communism. The powerful military, well-paid and the best armed in the Persian Gulf, seems solidly behind the shah. Rural peasants - more than half Iran's population of 34 million — have not taken part in the protests and have reason to be grateful for the land reform program which gave them property taken from big landlords and the clergy. Peasant devotion to the shah is much like the unquestioned loyalty Russia's peasants gave to the czars before the Bolshevik Revolution, but some observers believe they could be alienated if the influential Moslem clergy takes steps to whip them up.

Skilled laborers and oil workers, better paid than the average Iranian, so far are uninvolved in the protests.

Q. What stake does the outside world have in Iran's future? A. In addition to being the world's fourth largest oil producer, Iran is strategically located to control the flow of oil from the entire Persian Gulf. Iran and the sultanate of Oman have joint responsibility for guarding the narrow Strait of Hormuz at the neck of the gulf, through which 80 percent of Mideast oil moves by tank-

Washington has sold the shah more than $18 billion in sophisticated arms over the past 20 years and regards Iran as a crucial buffer against Soviet expansion into the oil-rich Persian Gulf. Conservative Saudi Arabia and the other Arab states in the region have become alarmed by leftist takeovers in Afghanistan and South Yemen, and generally support the

Retirement dreams can sour without planning

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Are you ready for retirement?
Millions of Americans who look forward to retirement find their dreams turn sour and the problem often is lack of preparation. A new federal law delays the mandatory retirement age for most workers until 70, but it does not delay the need for retirement planning.

Where will you live? How much money will you have? What will you

Many people don't think about these questions. "All these things suddenly dawn on people," said a spokesman for Action for Independent Maturity (AIM).

AIM was established in 1971 by the American Association of Retired Persons to develop programs to help peo-ple plan for their retirement years. The group helps companies, educa-tional institutions and community or-ganizations conduct retirement seinars and it provides guides for

Start planning for retirement when you are still in your 40s. Learn about common retirement pitfalls and how to avoid them. Among the major haz-ards, according to AIM officials,

FINANCES

Many retirees run into trouble be-cause they lack a sound financial program that takes inflation into account. As a general rule, you will need approximately 70 percent of your after-tax, pre-retirement earnings to maintain your standard of living in the first year of retirement. You will have to increase your income in successive years to cover inflation.

Sit down and figure out your average monthly expenses and estimate what you will need when you retire. Find out exactly how much money you will have coming in from fixed sources like Social Security or a company pension program. Plan now for ways to supplement that income with investments or a part-time job that will help you keep pace with infla-

Hasty decisions regarding housing and locale can be dangerous. Many people dream of retiring to a warmweather climate or resort area. They pull up stakes and move without investigating costs and without thinking about what the move will mean in terms of lost friends and familiar

Separate the myth from the reality. Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, noted in a recent report that few areas in the United States - or elsewhere - have that "perfect" climate people look for. Warm, sunny places may be uncom-fortably humid during part of the year, for example.

The simple, inexpensive lifestyle you look for also may be an illusion. "The cold fact," said Citibank, "is that living costs in the United States in the past decade have become fairly even across the country in major metropolitan areas. True, living costs in non-metropolitan areas can be lower. There, however, you must be doubly sure that the essentials a senior citizen needs are available." ACTIVITIES

What will you do with the 40 hours you used to spend on the job? Boredom can set in easily unless you have some non-work interests. Retirement will require changes in your relationships with your family and friends.

If you are married, plan together to make sure each spouse understands what the other wants. Share work and responsibilities. Just because one person always did a particular chore doesn't mean it has to continue that Don't overdo the togetherness. One retirement bonus is extra time spent with your husband or wife. The bonus can turn into a penalty if you insist on keeping track of your spouse for every minute of the day.

Seek a mix of hobbies. Select an area where you can continue improv-ing your skill and have contact with other people. Plan your leisure time the same way you planned your career goals.

Do not confuse retirement with aging and inactivity. Most people today in their 60s and 70s are much younger in terms of vitality and phys-ical fitness than their grandparents were at the same age.

Students Ioll, teachers Dr. David Fraser, one of the chief stroll in 13-state picket

By ROBERT GLASS

Students in Cleveland lolled outside vacant school buildings and band members and cheerleaders rehearsed last year's routines while their teachers walked picket lines for a second day Friday.

Throughout the country, the opening week of school ended with more than 35,000 teachers on strike in 13 states and 625,000 students enjoying an extended summer vacation.

A spokesman for the National Education Association in Washington said teachers in 56 school districts were either on strike or being "locked out" of classrooms by Friday, raising the number of strikes so far this year to 75, nearly double the number through the comparable period last year.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said the primary issues in this year's disputes are wages and class size.

Cleveland school officials said they had no attendance figures available, but a survey of 40 of the 182 schools in the 100,000-student system showed all but one was closed.

The city's school board went to court to seek an injunction against the 10,000 teachers and school employees. Judge Harry A. Hanna of Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court delayed until Tuesday, at the earliest, a decision on whether to order the school employees back to work.

Cleveland teachers and other school employees walked off the job Thurs-day, one day before the schedule start of school, saying they would not return to the classrooms for a third straight year without a pay raise. The school district, which received a $20.7 million state loan to operate the schools this year, says there is no money to give them.

The annual pay for Cleveland teachers ranges from $9,100 to $18,650. School employees have asked for a 20 percent raise, which would cost the school system about $24 million.

In New Orleans, contract talks between representatives of the 4,300 striking teachers and the school board resumed Friday for the first time in two weeks. The strike, which began Aug. 30, has cut attendance by two-thirds among the 91,000 students at 140 public schools.

The teachers are seeking an 8 percent increase in salaries, which now range from $10,096 to $15,000.

In Marion, Ind., where seven union leaders were jailed, teachers ended an 11-day strike with approval of a new three-year contract Friday.

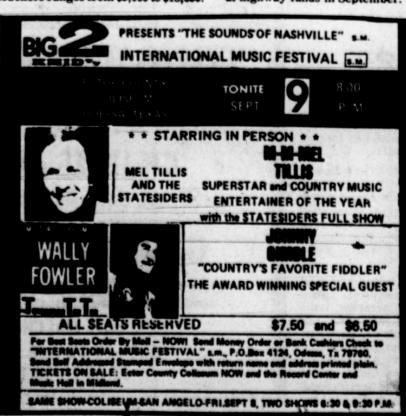

Strikes also remained in effect in Seattle, where classes were closed to 55,000 students, and Chicago, where nine city colleges with an enrollment of 112,000 were struck Aug. 18. School districts in dozens of other smaller cities and towns also were hit by labor

Highway projects may come to halt

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas highway construction projects being built with federal aid will be brought to "a screeching halt" if Congress djourns without passing the Surface Transportation Act, the president of the Texas Good Roads Association said Friday. Eugene Robbins told the association's board of directors that $300 million in highway funds, which Texas would receive in the next fiscal year, is at stake

Robbins advised the directors in writing that the state highway department will use the last of its federal highway funds in September.
