2 feared dead, 15 injured in explosion

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Two persons were believed killed and at least 15 others injured Saturday when a series of explosions and a flash fire ripped through a metal alloys plant, authorities said.

Dr. Paul Tam, assistant Berrien County medical examiner, said the badly burned body of one man and portions of what may be another victim were pulled from the smoldering rubble of the Michigan Standard Alloys Inc. plant.

The identity of the victims was not known, and the cause of the explosion had not been determined.

Authorities were unable to say how many people were injured in the explosions and fire that destroyed about 40 percent of the metal alloys plant.

But at least three Benton Harbor men were reported in critical condition with burns over 50 percent of their bodies at Bronson Hospital burn center. They were among the victims taken the 50 miles to the burn center, officials said.

Benton Township Patrolman Kim Fowler said it appeared that a huge metals furnace had exploded, heaved into the air, and dropped in a part of the plant where about 50 persons were working.

The blast "blew a pretty good size hole in the roof," said Benton Harbor police Sgt. Marvin Fiedler. "There were a lot of twisted girders, some of the sidewall panels were hanging and some were blown completely out," said Fiedler.

A Benton Harbor Fire Department spokesman said Fire Chief Harold Gaddie had authorized him to say only that there were "12 to 15 injuries or fatalities" in the blast and fire.

Spokesmen at Benton Harbor Mercy Hospital said some of those injured had suffered third degree burns "head to toe." The hospital said other victims were treated for smoke inhalation.

The explosion jarred this Lake Michigan shoreline community of 17,000 at about 5:30 p.m.

Just because the weather has turned chilly in the mornings doesn't mean a guy can't go out and have a good time. Young Eric Mertens, who wouldn't give his age Saturday, apparently figures a hooded sweatshirt is about right for an pre-noon sliding session at Midland's Dennis the Menace Park. ## Midland parking survey refutes in-town problem

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
R-T Staff Writer

Midlanders are going to have to put up, shut up or get busy and do something about the downtown parking problem.

Results of a parking survey conducted by a task force of the Midland Chamber of Commerce reflect downtown employees' views on the situation, according to Les Riek, who headed the committee.

The surveys were mailed to 1,500 employers downtown who were asked to give mimeographed copies to employees.

The task force received 2,764 replies, representing only about 20 percent of the estimated 10,000 to 12,000 downtown workers, Riek said.

While the task force was set up after numerous complaints about the situation had been voiced, the survey's results indicate Midlanders don't think there is a parking problem, Riek said.

In answer to a question, "Do you have a parking problem?" 60.2 percent answered they did not. Another 39.7 percent said they did.

But, Riek said, these numbers are similar to those who replied to the question of how far they park from their office.

Parking within one to three blocks were 67.1 percent, from four to six blocks 30.4 percent, and from seven to nine blocks, 1.4 percent.

The main downtown area has a radius of about six blocks, Riek said.

While Midland of recent has in a tremendous growth period, the attitudes of the people have not changed, he claimed.

Midland is a burgeoning city, Riek said, "but with small city ideas (to the effect) that walking three to five blocks is a long way."

The survey did not reflect the main problem of not enough in-out parking for customers of downtown businesses, such as those for retail outlets, lawyers or accountants, he said.

Employees have been taking up the metered parking spaces and even raising the parking ticket rates has not stopped it, said Riek.

People just try to remember to "plug their meters" and take their parking tickets in stride instead of paying for monthly parking. The 67 percent who said they had no parking problem are in this category, Riek said.

"One woman wrote at the bottom of her survey that she had paid more than $500 in parking tickets," Riek said.

Midlander dies in crash

A 29-year-old Midland woman was killed when a truck tractor struck her stationary automobile early Saturday morning on Interstate 20 just west of the city, said a spokesman for the Department of Public Safety.

Linda Sue Southard, 29, of 2601 N. A St. was declared dead at the scene about 7 a.m. by Peace Justice John H. Biggs after her body was removed from the wreckage of her car.

A jaws-of-life device was used by Midland City Fire Department personnel to free her, said a spokesman. She was alone in the car, he added.

Authorities said J.T. Chapman of Glencoe, Ala., operator of the truck tractor, was uninjured. He was traveling eastward on I-20 at the time of the accident, said the spokesman.

Ms. Southard's vehicle apparently was parked on the shoulder of the highway, officers indicated.

The car she was in was knocked approximately 700 feet by the impact, the DPS spokesman said.

Pavement taking back seat

By LINDA HILL
R-T Staff Writer

When Texas was more rural and times were simpler, the main purpose of county commissioners was to get roads paved.

But in modern times, the two candidates for a seat on Midland County's Commissioners Court agree that pavement has taken a back seat to managing multi-million budgets.

Democratic incumbent Charlie Welch and Republican challenger Sam Snoddy are squaring off to determine who will represent Commissioner Precinct 2 for the next four years.

Republican Win Brown is unopposed in his bid to continue representing Precinct 4.

The serpentine lines of Precinct 2 take in voting boxes 2, 10, 12, 14, 16, 23 and 25, covering most of the northeast corner of the city, and most of the area to the east and southeast of the city limits.

The two candidates are in harmony on at least one other point: The function of the commissioners is to run the county's business.

Both also view the managing of a budget of more than $4 million as the most important part of that business.

Snoddy calls for zero-based budgeting to eliminate waste in county spending, although he said he "wouldn't pinpoint any department" where waste might be occurring.

"I think there's waste in all governments...in the administration," he said in a recent interview.

Welch contends that the budget as a whole is "in the taxpayers' interest," but concedes in any budget "there are some things any one of us would rather not have."

Commissioners meet most of the day twice a month.

Snoddy, an independent oil operator, said he believes the job as a whole should be a little more than quarter-time. He has called for reducing the $13,144 salary by one-fourth on that basis.

Welch, who oversees a farm and ranch east of town, said he finds the commissioner's job takes approximately three-fourths of his time, although he is "available full time."

election '78

He believes the salary is "sufficient."

One of the issues that's certain to face the Commissioners Court during the next four years is reapportioning the population among the four commissioner precincts.

A U.S. Supreme Court ruling requires the four precincts to be equal in population. Other court rulings have outlawed districts comprised of non-contiguous land blocks, which Midland County has.

Snoddy maintains the population figures are out of balance, basing his statement on numbers of registered voters. He advocates redistricting next year, with the court obtaining its population figures from the Chamber of Commerce.

Otherwise, he said, he fears the federal government will come in and do it for the county.

Welch claims the populations of the four precincts are "close to being equal now...We're not redistricting by registered-voter figures."

The incumbent said recently he does not believe population figures adequate for the task of redistricting will be available until after the 1980 census.

Currently, minority voting strength is split primarily between precincts 2 and 3.

Neither candidate was specific about what action should be taken in

R-T Staff Writer

A group of high school students in Midland are getting a chance to try out kindergarten teaching before they have to make a long-term career decision.

The 19 teen-age girls in the new kindergarten aide program in the Midland schools also are giving kindergarten teachers some help in schools that ordinarily do not have extra helpers.

The new program has been a resounding success for teachers, pupils and aides, school officials agreed late last week.

"I have heard nothing but good comments about this program from teachers and principals," said Marsha Sampanaro, director of early childhood education for the Midland schools.

"And believe me, if there is a problem, I hear about it in my job."

"It's working—that's the best thing about the program," according to Bob Watson, principal of Fannin Elementary School, where two of the aides are working.

"Anytime you have a program like this, that's the best thing you can say about it," he added.

The aides work three hours each day in kindergarten classrooms, reinforcing skills the teachers have taught.

Although the locally funded program was only approved by the school board in August, aides were recruited for all the available spots.

The girls work in schools that do not receive Title I money to pay salaries for kindergarten helpers, Ms. Sampanaro said.

They work through the regular Home Economics Cooperative Education program and earn minimum wage for the three hours they spend in the classroom each day.

In addition to the salary, each aide receives academic credit for the three hour work session. Each teacher grades the aide assigned to her class and each girl also is visited by the vocational teacher who placed her.

The aides allow the teacher more flexibility in teaching, since the aide can supervise one group while the teacher works with another group on a different activity.

They can work with students who have been absent while the rest of the class is going on with its regular work.

In the classrooms, the girls spend some of their time with the youngsters helping with the repetition needed by 5-year-olds.

Depending on the needs of a particular teacher, the aide will help with the record keeping, passing out and taking up materials, supervising groups, help with reading or physical activities.

Response from the girls, all junior or senior students, has been as positive as the response from the teachers they help, said Midland High School vocational teacher Marilyn Baker.

"I talked with one teacher before the program started who was worried about the dependability of teenagers as aides," she said.

"Since the program started, all her fears have gone away and she is very pleased with the program."

The coordinators tried to recruit girls who were interested in working with children as careers—either as teachers or in some other capacity. Some had worked with the vocational program before. For others, this year is the first taste of the working world.

Next year, with more time to recruit the students interested in the program and word of it spreading among the students, the coordinators think screening may have to be even more intense than it was this year.

"We plan to look first at members of the Future Teachers of America club at Lee High School," Lee vocational teacher Ruth Holmstrom noted.

"We were very lucky this year to get such terrific students on such short notice," she said.

Each student aide this year was interviewed by the elementary school principals before being placed with a teacher. The basic purpose was to match students with teachers for the best working partners.

The only complaint heard so far about the program is that the high school girls sometimes find it hard to keep the proper teacher-student relationship with their young charges.

"But after all," asked Mrs. Holmstrom, "what can you do when you have a 5-year-old in love with you?"

Building falls, kills at least 17

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A 100-year-old apartment building collapsed in downtown Montevideo, crushing and killing at least 17 persons beneath the rubble, fire officials said Saturday.

Emergency crews rescued six injured persons from the debris of the four-story building after Friday's collapse and continued to search for more bodies Saturday.

Survivors said the structure collapsed "like a house of cards."

Police said at least four of the dead were children.

The daily newspaper La Manana said a building inspector had called the apartment building "a disaster" after an inspection last year but the government had been unable to convince the tenants of the danger.

Surviving tenants, who paid the equivalent of from $3 to $30 a month rent for tiny accommodations, told reporters they thought the warnings were "tricks by the landlord" to get them to move.

Crane student given company scholarship

CRANE — David J. Bizzak, a 1978 graduate of Crane High School, is recipient of a Getty Oil Company scholarship.

The scholarship is in recognition of Bizzak's outstanding scholarship performance and general personal merit. He has used the scholarship to enroll at Texas A&M University, where he is majoring in mechanical engineering.

Bizzak is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bizzak of Crane. His father is employed in Getty's Crane Area, a production operation of the company's Midland Exploration and Production District.

Two men free, one in jail on charges

Two men were free on $10,000 bond each and another was in Midland County Jail Saturday in connection with alleged possession of cocaine.

Midland County Sheriff's Department narcotics officers said they confiscated one-fourth ounce of a substance believed to be cocaine Friday night at a residence in the 1800 block of Ohio Avenue.

Officers also reported finding several papers of a substance believed to be cocaine in a pickup truck which they said was stopped after leaving that residence.

Gary Michael Teinert, 26, and Craig Hobson Harris, 27, were free Saturday on $10,000 bond each, charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Teinert was arrested in the residence and Harris in the pickup truck, officers said.

A third man, for whom bond has not been set, also was arrested inside the residence, officers said.

United Way agencies battle alcohol problem

An out-of-work indigent spends the last of his money on a bottle of wine and approaches the Salvation Army center for some help and a place to stay.

The bright young executive's weekend binges have been extending into the work week more and more. The company doctor refers him to the Midland Council on Alcoholism.

The drinking problem the mother and wife hides so effectively from the rest of the world is having a serious effect on the rest of the family. They go for counseling to the Family Services, Inc.

These are just three of the thousands of people in Midland with drinking problems who are being helped by United Way agencies.

"There is definitely a drinking problem in Midland," said Robert Evans, associate director of Family Services, Inc.

His organization provides family counseling for those with drinking problems, trying to serve the whole family.

"We find that when one member of the family is hurting, the rest of the family is affected too," he noted.

Many of the people who receive help for a drinking problem come first to the agency for marriage counseling.

"Where there is a problem drinker, you can bet the marriage is in trouble, too," he said.

The professional counselors with Family Services, Inc. also handle teens with behavior problems who are referred to the agency by the school district.

Some of those problems are caused by drinking, Evans noted, since Midland seems to be following the national pattern with an upswing in drinking among teens.

People of any age with a drinking problem can go for help to the Midland Council on Alcoholism, another United Way agency.

Volunteers at the council, many of them recovering alcoholics, man a 24-hour hot line to answer questions or requests for help from area residents.

Like Family Services, the Council on Alcoholism encourages those people with problem drinking to contact Alcoholics Anonymous. Family members are referred to Alanon or Alateen for further counseling.

"We are a referral, education and information center," said executive director Lynne Stoner.

The group can counsel people to find the type of treatment that would be most helpful and then refer the person to the proper agency.

"We try to work with the whole family, because the family is also sick. Their whole lives are so interrupted," she said.

Last year Mrs. Stoner and her more than 200 volunteers handled some 979 referrals. Many of them came from businesses concerned about employees with drinking problems, she said.

Volunteers from the Council on Alcoholism also participate in a radio program each Sunday where members of the audience can call in to ask questions about alcoholism or its treatment of the people on the panel.

The council volunteers also have a speakers bureau to give talks to interested groups throughout the city.

For families in a "crisis situation," because of alcoholism or other problems, the Salvation Army is available to give support services, according to Capt. Bob Vincent.

The Salvation Army can provide temporary housing for a family in need, he noted. For a person with severe alcoholic problems, the agency can refer him to one of three alcoholic centers throughout the state or to one of the local agencies for help with the drinking problem, Vincent said.

The group also provides group counseling and social contact for families with problems.

All three of the agencies are supported by funds from the United Way of Midland. All provide help to those who approach them regardless of income, race or creed.

United Way volunteers are working to collect the 1979 goal of $928,686 by Oct. 27, the victory report meeting date.

Donations given to the United Way support 19 agencies in Midland which provide services in many different areas, from help with alcoholism problems to recreation for youth through the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Boys Clubs, Y's and others.

The United Way cares for the elderly through Casa de Amigos and other agencies and provides help for the blind with the tape lending library.

WIPP protest today in Carlsbad

CARLSBAD, N.M. — A rally concerning the Waste Isolation Pilot Project proposed for a site near here will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday in San Jose Park here.

A group called Citizens for Alternatives to Radioactive Dumping is forming across the state of New Mexico to protest the Department of Energy's plan, according to organizers.

This group, along with the Southwest Research and Information Center located in Albuquerque, N.M., is sponsoring the event.

"It will be a family type affair," said a spokesman with the Information Center. Speakers will include Wendell Chino, chairman of the Mescalero Indian Tribe in New Mexico, and Roxanne Kartchner, organizer of CARD in Carlsbad.

The shipping route for those wastes to New Mexico is through Texas, and specifically through Midland-Odessa, DOE has indicated.

Man dies after stabbing, wreck

ODESSA — An Odessa man died here early Saturday after receiving a stab wound to the chest and being involved in a one-car accident, according to a spokesman with the Odessa Police Department.

Blaz Larez, 22, was driving a car in the 1300 block of South Allegheny when it crashed into a cinder block fence, the spokesman said. After being called to investigate the accident, police discovered Larez had a stab wound in the chest area. Larez died after being taken to a hospital for treatment of the wound and other injuries. The spokesman said there will be an autopsy to determine exact cause of the man's death. The case still is under investigation, he said.

Teatro Chichuahuita will present a skit and Mike Anthony, an Albuquerque musician, will present a show.

"We're just trying to get people to know what is happening there (in Carlsbad)," the spokesman said.

"We want people to know that Carlsbad and Loving, N.M., are going to be next door to the wastes isolation plant."

Round-Up sets record

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The sale of 50 horses at the third and final phase of the Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children raised $13,496 Saturday, boosting the total proceeds from this year's Round-Up to a record $180,102, officials said.

A cattle sale and a special sale earlier had raised other money. This year's proceeds were almost $30,000 more than last year.

Hearst newspapers launch campaign for Patty's pardon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's family has launched a crusade in the Hearst newspapers for a presidential pardon to cut short her 7-year prison term for bank robbery.

Hearst editor-in-chief William Randolph Hearst Jr., uncle of the 24-year-old Miss Hearst who was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army in 1974, led the campaign in front-page editorials prepared for publication Sunday by Hearst newspapers in seven cities.

Hearst wrote he had suffered in "editorial silence," fearing an appeal might be misinterpreted. Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, is president of the San Francisco Examiner, flagship of the newspaper chain.

And Reg Murphy, Examiner publisher and editor, pleaded in a separate editorial in the newspaper's Sunday editions, for a "full pardon" for Miss Hearst.

Hearst's column carried a letter he received from Charles Gould, former Examiner publisher. Hearst said the letter expressed his own feelings completely and better than he could.

Gould urged Hearst to abandon his silence. "You have shown enough restraint," the letter said. "Raise your voice in Patricia's behalf. Speak out as you would if her name were Smith or Jones or Carter or Orrick."

Miss Hearst was sentenced to serve seven years in prison for the bank robbery after her 1976 trial. She has served about 18 months of the sentence, interrupted by her release pending appeal. She will be eligible for parole next July.

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. Is a flashing red light at night the same as a 4-way stop on a regular stop sign? — N. B., Sweetwater

A. Yes. A flashing red light, day or night, means that you must make a complete stop until it is safe to continue. Yield the right of way to vehicles on your right.

Q. I'm confused about how to make a right turn on red. I've seen some drivers treat the red light as they would a stop sign; others treat it as a yield sign. — D.H., Midland

A. Right turns on red are now legal throughout the state of Texas. This means that a driver may turn right at a red light after stopping and yielding the right-of-way to traffic at or near the intersection. Some intersections prohibit right turns on red, so first check to see that there is no sign present saying NO RIGHT TURN ON RED.

The same law holds true for making left turns from a one-way street into another one-way street. First stop at the red light, yield, then turn. Make sure you have signalled your intention at least 100 feet before the turn. And remember, never make a turn on red if a sign at the intersection prohibits it.

If you have a question on driving, send it to:

Gene Autry; A little heavier, much richer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Once he rode astride Champion, guitar in hand. Now Gene Autry sits behind a massive desk piled high with papers. He is 30 pounds heavier and a few million dollars richer, but the folksy touch remains.

Autry considers himself just a country boy still trying to make good in the big city, though to all appearances he has. He operates his baseball-hotel-broadcasting-real estate empire from the studio he owns in Hollywood, the same place where Al Jolson starred in the first talkie, "The Jazz Singer."

The Autry saga can be learned in a new book, "Back in the Saddle Again" (Doubleday, $8.95) which he wrote with Mickey Kerskowitz.

"I didn't tell all," the first of the singing cowboy stars admitted. "There are certain things you don't want to talk about, certain people you don't want to hurt."

"I don't think it's right for folks to write bad things about people they've worked with, the way (Jim) Bouton did. He and his fellow players were teammates together, and there should be a loyalty there. If a fellow starts throwing rocks, there are damn few that can't throw rocks back at him."

Autry even has kind words for Herbert J. Yates, his old boss at Republic Pictures:

"I always liked him. Herb had two personalities; you might say he was a real Jeckyll and Hyde. When he was host at a dinner party, he could be the most charming guy in the world. But if you negotiated with him across a desk, he could be the roughest old bastard you ever met."

In his book, Autry writes about Yates' anger when his no. 1 box office draw enlisted in the Army Air Corps after Pearl Harbor.

"By the time you come back, you'll be forgotten," the studio boss ranted. "And it won't hurt us. No, sir. If we have to, we'll spend a million dollars to promote (Roy) Rogers. A million. And we'll make him bigger than you ever were."

Indeed, Autry returned from the war to find Rogers a big star. But Gene denied they ever feuded:

"That was just a publicity thing. Walter Winchell used to have a feud with Ben Bernie, and they'd exchange insults on radio. Later Jack Benny did the same thing with Fred Allen. The Republic publicity department thought it would be a good idea for Roy and me. But there was no personal feud whatsoever."

"I see Roy quite often. Just a few weeks ago he came to the studio, and we appeared in a television special, "The Saga of the Singing Cowboy," along with Jimmy Wakely and Rex Allen. Tex Ritter's son, John, emceed the show, and he did a fine job."

Autry's wartime duty sparked his future financial empire. He recalled:

"When I went into the air force, I thought to myself, 'Last year' — it was 1941 or 1942 — you made a half-million dollars out of six pictures, weekly radio for Wrigley's, personal appearances, records."

"There's nothing as sad to me as a former big star trying to make a comeback after his prime."

Suddenly it all drops to a tech sergeant's pay of $145 a month.

"If it hadn't been for royalties from my records and endorsements, I couldn't have survived. That should teach a lesson not only to me but every performer and athlete. I was okay as long as I was performing. But supposing my voice went haywire, or I became ill and couldn't work? That's when I decided to get into some kind of business."

His business career blossomed in the postwar years, and in 1956 he quit performing. He says he doesn't miss it.

"I'll do an interview or talk show on TV, but I'd never make another picture. There's nothing as sad to me as a former big star trying to come back after his prime. The same with great football and baseball players. Times change. It's better to get into another business and forget the past."

Autry admitted he had been "pretty fortunate in most of the business ventures I've gotten into." Some of his hotels didn't fulfill his hopes, but he eventually recouped. Patience seems to help. After his player-buying spree, the California Angels lost $600,000 last year. But he expects the American League team to earn nearly $1 million this season.

His business advice:

"Stay in business with people who know what they're doing. Stay out of the kind of business you don't know. Every day I get propositions that 'will make you rich overnight.' They're from promoters that you shouldn't get involved with."

Is Gene Autry as rich as people think he is? "Hell, no. I don't know anybody who can write a check for a million dollars, except Howard Hughes. And he's dead."

Registration set for Y classes

The following sym and gym classes will be available: Water Babies for ages 6 months to 3 years and their mothers; Tiny Tots and Tiny Tumblers for ages 3-4 years; Kinderswim and Kindergym for ages 5-6 years; Polliwog, beginning swimming; Minnow, Fish, Flying Fish and Shark, advanced classes for first grade and up, and Beginning Gymnastics, Advanced Gymnastics and Team Gymnastics for first grade and up.

Adult programming will continue throughout the fall with activities planned to develop physical fitness and sports skills.

Sign-up for the classes continues through Friday. Instructional classes in swimming and gymnastics for youth are scheduled to allow convenient participation in both. Parents may register their children for classes by coming to the YMCA office, 800 N. Big Spring St., or by calling 682-2551 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Registration starts Monday for the Midland Central YMCA's second session of classes which begin Oct. 16 and last through the week of Nov. 10.

The Central YMCA facility includes swimming pool, gymnasium, weight room, four handball-racquetball courts, an outdoor running track, paddle tennis court and ladies' and men's fitness clubs, along with several activity areas and meeting rooms.

Hospital engineer earns certification after test

Midland Memorial Hospital biomedical engineer Andy Savas recently received word of successfully passing an examination and meeting all other requirements to become a certified biomedical equipment technician, hospital Administrator Wayne E. Ulrich announced.

Under sponsorship of the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation, Savas took an in-depth examination after meeting work experience requirements to earn the designation.

Deaf mute tells story of survival after fall

SEATTLE (AP) — Talking with hands still bruised and cut, Joseph Heller, a deaf mute who spent three days at the bottom of an elevator shaft after a fall, says he tried to get help by beating on a door with a stick, "banging, banging all morning and afternoon."

"I walked and sort of crawled out," Heller told reporters in sign language Friday from his bed at Harborview Medical Center. "I was banging on a door with a wooden stick ... No one could hear me."

fell down five floors ... When I woke up, it was three hours later. I thought my neck was broken."

He said he slept twice during the three days but never lost consciousness.

"I just wanted out," he said. Debbie Rostykuy, a therapist skilled in sign language who interpreted for Heller, said he remembered entering the bottom floor of the building and walking up stairs to the fourth floor. There he found the gate to the elevator shaft open.

"His feeling was that it was dangerous, and it could be dangerous to others," Ms. Rostykuy said.

Although he said he can't remember why, Heller got in the shaft and climbed to the fifth floor, tugging on the gate there.

"There was some kind of safety bolt on the gate. He tried to pull the gate open and he fell," said Ms. Rostykuy.

In order to get out of the shaft, he had to loop his belt around a wooden gate and pull until the gate broke. Police said Heller also had to lift himself up to the basement floor, which is several feet above the bottom of the shaft.

"Nobody knows why he went in the shaft," said Myall. "Sounds like it was just curiosity."

Joseph Heller

Asked how he feels now, Heller wrote with a red pencil in a notepad: "Still dizzy very much."

Mydall said Heller probably will recover fully and might be released Tuesday if arrangements can be made for proper care.

"Right now he has wires holding his face to his head," Myall said. "He'll be like that for about six weeks."

U.S. support crucial for Rhodesia

BOSTON, Va. (AP) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith virtually challenged U.S. officials Saturday to support his plan for a black majority government in Salisbury.

In his first interview after arriving on a quasi-official visit to the United States, Smith replied affirmatively when asked whether American support was crucial to the success of his proposed solution to Rhodesia's racial crisis.

"The United States is the leader of the free world. It goes without

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Sixteen flag-draped coffins bearing servicemen who died in a U.S. Navy transport plane crash were flown from here Saturday on the first leg of their trip home. The names of the victims were being withheld until their families are notified.

There was a brief memorial service at the Chilean air force academy in the southern outskirts of Santiago, presided at by Chile's chief military vicar, the Rev. Francisco Javier Gilmore.

Gen. Fernando Matthei, commander of the Chilean air force, and U.S. Ambassador George W. Landau joined pallbearers carrying the first casket to a hearse. The 16 hearse traveled 18 miles on the Pan American Highway through Santiago to Pudahuel Airport.

Midland YMCA offers course in scuba diving

The Midland Central YMCA's basic scuba diving course will run from Monday to Nov. 8. The class will be instructed by Richard Stovall and will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 8:45 p.m.

Instruction will include shallow and deep water check-out dives. Successful completion of the course will qualify each participant for National YMCA Diver certification.

Candidates for the class need to be strong swimmers, 16 years old or older and must furnish their own mask, snorkel and fins.

Fees for the course are $185 for Y members and $200 for non-members. More information may be obtained by calling the Y office at 682-2551.

LWV to tour water plant

Members of the League of Women Voters of Midland plans will tour the Midland Water Treatment Plant during their next meetings at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Also included on the program will be a discussion on whether the state should manage ground water resources or leave control to local management.

The meeting is open to the public.

400 prisoners continue strike

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — More than 400 striking prisoners at the Ellis Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections remained bedded down on the cement floor of the prison yard Saturday as officials and guards stood watch.

Authorities had hoped that chilly temperatures would force them back into their cells.

The strike began Thursday when 148 inmates refused to eat, return to their cells or go back to their jobs.

Spokesmen for the prisoners said they were attempting to gain publicity for a prisoners' class action suit against the TDC, alleging officials have subjected inmates to cruel and inhumane treatment.

Ron Taylor, administrative assistant for the Texas Department of Corrections, said the inmates were gathered peacefully in the prison yard and there had been no physical confrontations or other trouble.

The Ellis Unit, located north of Huntsville, confines 2,388 prisoners.

The inmates who started the strike have not eaten since noon Thursday. Taylor said TDC officials agreed to let other prisoners join the strikers Friday. The work stoppage has not affected Ellis operations, prison officials said.

Taylor also said 339 prisoners that work in the fields at the Ramsey unit near Houston had refused Friday to go to work. He said, however, those inmates complied with TDC requests to go to their cells without incident.

Another 209 inmates at the Darrington unit, near Angleton south of Houston, also struck in sympathy with the Ellis prisoners Thursday but returned to their cells a few hours later. They have been charged with violation of department rules and regulations.

The prisoners' suit is being heard in federal court in Houston, and prisoners have demanded to talk with news reporters from Houston.

Taylor and reporters from the Huntsville Item newspaper met with a group Thursday.

"We are in sympathy with the Ruiz case...and we hope prison officials will not retaliate for this action," said prisoner Dan Kimathy, 28, serving 75 years from Dallas County.

He referred to the class action suit brought by David Ruiz. Ruiz' suit and seven others challenging the way the Texas prison system is operated is being heard by U.S. District Judge

The prisoners complained about what they claimed was a lack of communication, brutality, inadequacy of the legal services room and inferior medical services.

Kimathy said the work stoppage would continue until they saw some "definite differences" at Ellis.

DIRT, SQUIRT & QUIRT

Time to plant shrubs, trees

By CHARLES W. GREEN
Midland County Extension Agent

There is a hint of fall in the air and temperatures are dropping at night, which has implications for irrigated cotton producers. Temperatures are critical to the maturation process of cotton bolls.

For example, lengthening of the boll-maturation period from an average of 48 days to an average of 68 days was found to be associated with decrease from 80 degrees to 71 degrees in the mean and daily average air temperature for the maturation period. A slowing down of boll maturation coupled with an early killing freeze could cause significant reduction in yield on irrigated cotton with unopened bolls.

Orders may now be placed for windbreak seedlings available from the Texas Forest Service. These seedling (one-year) trees are available to private ranchers or farmers (suburban residents can qualify) for use in windbreaks or conservation purposes only. The planter agrees not to use or let others use these seedlings for landscaping or ornamental purposes. The price of seedlings is $10 per hundred.

To be valid, orders must be for 100 or more trees, in multiples of 50 of any one species and accompanied by full payment. Shipment will be made by parcel post or motor freight, whichever is cheaper, and the planter will pay carrier for shipping charges. Species available include Austrian pine, black walnut, catalpa, cottonwood cuttings, green ash, honeylocust, Ponderosa pine, Shumard oak, sweetgum and Virginia pine.

Forms for ordering are available at the County Extension Office, Courthouse Annex (call 682-9481 Ext. 165 and they can be mailed to you). Orders may be placed until the first week in February. Shipments will be made beginning about mid-December and will continue through the first week in March.

With the advent of fall weather, gardeners can begin to think about adding a new tree or a grouping of shrubs to the landscape. Or, perhaps there is an area in the landscape that needs "remodeling" or rejuvenating. Fall planting allows root systems of trees and shrubs to develop and become established. When spring arrives this root system makes it possible for the plant to take advantage of the full surge of spring growth.

Also, fall planting of balled and burlapped plants gives them ample time to recover from transplanting shock before hot weather arrives. Of course, there are exceptions to fall planting. All bare root plants, including roses, pecan and fruit trees should not be planted until the winter.

When you buy plants for your home grounds, be sure to get healthy, well-grown plants. Always buy from a reputable dealer, one who is in the plant selling business year-around and who depends on repeat customers. Beware of plant bargains. They can easily turn out to be real headaches. A bargain is no good if it dies. The price tag—especially the cheapest one—is not the best guide to quality.

Also, remember that it's first come, first served. The best plants are sold first. Don't wait until everything is picked over.

All plants have growing requirements. Think about the plant's needs before you invest. Does it need a wet or dry location? Is it hardy or tender? Some nurseries have this type of information on tags beside the plant. If not, ask the nurseryman.

Of course, always plan before you plant. Whether you are planting a single plant or an entire landscape, plan first, then plant. Good planning is a worthwhile investment of time that will pay off in greater enjoyment through more attractive and useful home grounds as well as increasing the value of your home. It's much easier to move plants on paper than to dig them after planting in the wrong place. A plan may save many planting mistakes.

Plants properly planted should serve a purpose. Ask yourself: Do I want this plant for screening, for privacy or for shade? How large will it be five years from now? If it takes a machete to cut your way through the plant jungle to the front door after three years, you've planted the wrong plant! Plants, like people, grow up. Be sure to provide your plants with the space they require.

Rabbit fanciers' ranks increasing

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Rapidly increasing numbers of rabbits are being raised in American backyards and basements, say rabbit fanciers.

At this year's Utah State Fair, 430 rabbits were entered for show. Fair officials turned away hundreds more when they ran out of room.

"It's a hidden industry," says Bill Lakey, a member of the Wasatch Rabbit Breeders Association.

But why rabbits? "For meat and for fur. Anything you can do to a chicken you can do to a rabbit," said Ray Broadhead, who, like Lake, was busy keeping inquisitive fingers out of rabbit cages at the fair. He said he expected even more people would turn to rabbit meat as an alternative as beef prices rose.

Many of the rabbits sniffing expectantly behind bars at the fair are pedigreed, said Lakey.

"One breeder was offered $250 for a black Rex buck," he said. "I was there when the offer was made. But I don't think he'd part with it for twice that much because he's got five years tied up in it. It's the backbone of his breeding stock."

Comparisons between cattle and rabbits may sound strange at first, but rabbit breeders look upon themselves as ranchers.

"Rabbit meat is better for you than beef because it has less cholesterol," claims Broadhead. Many doctors are urging people to eat rabbit for that reason, added Roger Draper, a rabbit breeder.

"And you can grow more meat for less money in less space," Broadhead said. That's why Europeans have long recognized the value of rabbit meat, he added.

Rabbit runs a close competition with mink and other animals when it comes to furs, said Lakey. At least one western wholesaler buys pelts from hobbyists, some choice ones from specific breeds for up to $15, he said.

Many people raise rabbits expressly for breeding. Draper, who specializes in the Rex breed, recently became the first American to have one of his rabbits named "best of show" in the Italian national competition. Lakey said only a handful of Americans were invited to show their rabbits at the competition, which had over 50,000 entries.

Shows are becoming increasingly popular, said Broadhead. The Wasatch club sponsors three shows a year. "There's a whole western show circuit you can get on," he said.

Expanded air service

Residents of Midland and surrounding cities last Thursday had just cause for rejoicing, upon receiving news that the Civil Aeronautics Board had given "tentative" approval to Braniff Airways to provide service to Midland Regional Airport.

This marked a big step toward easing an emergency situation existing at the airport.

According to information received here, the CAB issued a "show-cause" order, asking for reasons why Braniff should not be given authority to institute service between Midland-Odessa and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Midland civic leaders and Braniff representatives, delighted at the CAB action, are optimistic as to final approval, which they believe could be forthcoming within the next few weeks.

The addition of Braniff Airways to Midland Regional Airport will be a tremendous asset to the airport, joining with the other major carriers - Continental, Texas International and Southwest - in providing coast-to-coast service.

The Continental cutback came in the face of a rapidly increasing number of boardings at the regional airport, thus creating a crisis situation.

Completion of the improvement and expansion program at the airport's terminal building, joined with the expanded service brought about by the addition of a fourth major carrier, will make Midland Regional Airport truly one of the finest, most modern and most serviceable airport facilities anywhere - serving the aviation needs of residents of the vast Permian Basin Empire.

Chamber of Commerce groups made several trips to Washington to solicit the help of government officials in the project. They also conferred with Harding Lawrence, chairman of the board of Braniff, in his Dallas office.

City and chamber officials have called particular attention to the "above and beyond" support and cooperation given by Sen. John Tower and Rep. George Mahon in the project.

This, however, isn't the first campaign conducted to gain authority for Braniff to serve Midland Regional Airport. A move was launched two or three years ago to gain through service to the North and East, with Braniff showing interest at that time.

Braniff, the third oldest airline in the country and the 14th largest in the world, proposes to start service here with six flights daily, providing single-plane service to Chicago, New York and New Orleans, with a single stop at Dallas/Fort Worth.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Problems of Civil Service reforms

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - If President Carter is to keep his campaign promise to reform the Civil Service, he must have not only the necessary legislation, which is working its way through Congress, but also a dedicated, corruption-free Civil Service Commission to act as watchdog.

And he must also, of course, have a determination at the top levels to rid the system of political corruption and to protect whistleblowers who refuse to follow the time-honored Washington maxim, "Go along to get along."

A confidential report, which we have obtained, casts serious doubts on the likelihood of the last two ingredients being included in Carter's recipe for the much-needed reforms.

The report, prepared by Deputy Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert L. Keuch for Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., details the rampant political favoritism and other illegalities that flourished during the Nixon administration. It shows how top Commission officials not only let it happen, but then ordered the evidence destroyed - and explains why, despite these irregularities, the Criminal Division of the Justice Department chose not to seek indictments of the officials involved.

Ironically, the decision not to seek indictments was based on the fact that the crucial evidence of political influence in senior-level appointments was destroyed in a so-called "clean-up" of personnel files.

The officials who ordered and carried out the file-stripping insist to this day that what they did was proper.

The lack of evidence "could severely cripple chances for successful prosecution," the Keuch report informed Congressman Moss, adding: "There appear to be insurmountable hurdles to establishing beyond a reasonable doubt that anyone in the CSC corruptly intended to destroy government property or obstruct the congressional inquiry" that led to the file-stripping in the first place.

Complicating the Justice Department's inquiry was the fact that even the stripped files "have long since been destroyed per regular CSC destruction schedules and the purged material was thrown out," the Keuch report states.

The most fascinating case in the Civil Service Commission scandal involves Wade Burger, son of Chief Justice Warren Burger. He applied for a GS-14 position as special assistant in the General Services Administration in October 1970. The first examiner to rate Burger's application, Robert Shuck, found Burger not only unqualified for GS-14 status, but to rise no higher than the GS-9-11 level, and he refused to yield to pressure from his superiors to certify him," the report states.

But when congressional investigators reviewed the Burger file in August 1974, Shuck's conclusions were strangely missing. Instead, it appeared that the first Commission official to review Burger's application was Charles Ryan, who was in charge

CHARLEY REESE:

Writer speculates about assassination of JFK

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

Charley Reese

ORLANDO, Fla. - Speculating about the assassination of John Kennedy is becoming a national hobby - and since the Congress took it up, an expensive one. Well, I can't resist. I have my own theory. The Russians did it.

I have no evidence, just a little common sense guesswork which I'm happy to share for the price of a newspaper. First, let's clear away the mental rubbish.

Some have speculated recently that there was more than one gunman. Nobody has been able to prove this. Then comes the rubbish. Because there is no proof that more than one gunman was involved, some have concluded there was no conspiracy.

That is a faulty logic. Many a soul has been freed from his body by a lone gunman in the employ of a group. The fact that Lee Oswald was the only man pulling a trigger that November day in Dallas does not mean that he was doing so entirely on his own volition.

It's always a good idea when trying to understand an event to determine who gains by it. It is also helpful to imagine the results if everything had gone down as planned.

Oswald, for example, clearly did not intend to be captured. He successfully fled the area and presumably, except for the entirely accidental encounter with a Dallas patrolman, would have gotten away. From that we can conclude that anyone else involved in the assassination also did not intend for Oswald to be captured.

So let's assume that Oswald was not captured. What would have been the results? Obviously, Kennedy would have been eliminated. The Soviet Union had a motive. Kennedy, by facing them down during the Cuban Missile Crisis, had caused the Soviets to suffer their greatest world-wide embarrassment since the Hitler-Stalin Pact.

Nikita Khrushchev was still in power in 1963 and might well have wanted vengeance. He was certainly capable of murder. He had crushed the Hungarian Revolution. He had played a key role in the Soviet Union's internal murder business. Still, something as risky as a political assassination is rarely undertaken to satisfy a personal drive. What else would the Soviets have gained, assuming Oswald had not been captured? They would have gained an important political objective. They would have destroyed the political Right in the U.S.

Beginning in 1960, the anti-Communist political right began to grow and almost at the same time, the communists launched a huge propaganda campaign against it. In the fall of 1963, JFK's popularity was not great. Sen. Barry Goldwater was driving toward the Republican presidential nomination.

In the same summer of 1963 it was conceivable - certainly by the Soviets who are paranoid about the American Right - that Goldwater might defeat Kennedy in the following year's presidential election. To kill Goldwater would only give the movement they wanted to discredit a martyr. Why not kill Kennedy, whom they didn't like anyway, and blame it on the rightwingers in the U.S.

That, of course, was the immediate reaction. Kennedy had been killed by a rightwing extremist. Only Oswald's unexpected capture blew that story out of the water. Even so, Kennedy's death also killed Goldwater's chances for election even though he had to go through the motions anyway.

I think Jack Ruby was a sleeper agent and the Russians planned to kill Oswald quietly to preserve the myth that the assassin was a rightwinger. When Oswald was captured, it was imperative to silence him and Ruby did it.

As they say in the movies, it does not compute the way the Warren Commission constructs the story. It does not compute a tough night club owner would be so overcome by patriotism that he would waylay Oswald inside a police station.

It does not compute that the Soviet Union, the most tightly controlled nation on earth, would allow Oswald to enter the USSR, marry the niece of a KGB colonel, and then allow them both to leave because "Oswald was disillusioned with Soviet life." Horse feathers.

Oswald and his wife were allowed to come to the U.S. for a reason. That reason became obvious in Dallas. The Soviet Union killed JFK in order to: (1) eliminate a leader who had shown in Cuba and in Berlin that he would galvanize world opinion against the Soviets; (2) to discredit the growing anti-communist movement in the U.S.; and (3) to demoralize the American people.

WASHINGTON - How foolish Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minneapolis Twins, made himself out to be when he told a folk gathering that he moved his Senators baseball team to Minnesota's more Nordic setting because only 15,000 souls of African descent are resided there.

Griffith was quoted in dispatches as telling an almighty audience of Lions at lunch in Waseca, that: "Black people don't go to ball games but they'll fill up a rassling ring and put up such a chant it'll scare you to death. We came here because you've got hard-working white people here."

Ah, the civic club luncheon always delighted Sinclair Lewis, whose growing up year in Sauk Center (half as big as Waseca) gave him the stuff for a clutch of biting novels about smalltown prairie life. George Babbitt and Calvin Griffith are soul-brothers.

Now Griffith is not of this sod, however. He comes out of the sinful East, where his family owned and operated the team which generally was last in the American League. Griffith Stadium, a marvelous old wooden affair, was located (ironically, I think) in the vicinity of Howard University, the nation's leading Negro institution of higher learning. When the stadium was demolished, Howard got the land.

Anyway, it wasn't a shortage of black patrons which gave Griffith financial problems, it was the shortage of fans of any hue. The Senators weren't very good, and were more of an ornament, an occasion for the President to throw out the first ball, than anything else.

By 1960, Griffith figured it was time to light out. He pled with his fellow owners - who had veto powers over any moving plans he entertained - to let him leave Washington. He argued that Washington was too black, and blacks didn't go to ball games. Alas, Bill Furlong, a sportswriter, had secreted himself in a ventilator in the Chicago hotel room, and heard - and later wrote all.

The outrage expressed in the aftermath of Griffith's Lions Club exposition only shows how the times have changed.

As a youth, I went to Chicago's Wrigley Field a generation ago, and when the Brooklyn Dodgers were in town, there were great numbers of black people sitting in the grandstands behind the visiting team dugout because it contained one Jack Roosevelt Robinson, the first black in baseball. Griffith might have done just as well in Washington.

There was no fierce "right on!" stuff in those days, only murmuring waves of deep appreciation when Jackie made a great play, got a hit, or better yet, stole a base, with his hat flying off.

I also remember my days as the callow, but willing, groundskeeper at what passed for a baseball park in

Dubuque, Iowa, my hometown. Vagrant blacks were advised to get out of Dubuque by sundown, as they were in many other habitats across the farmland which once sent Union troops to fight the South. Many Dubuque eateries and saloons, particularly the second-rate kind, had signs in the windows: "We Do Not Cater To Colored Trade."

"Colored" baseball teams, more gypsy than scheduled, would occasionally play in Dubuque. I remember the Indianapolis Clowns and the Texas Spiders. They arrived invariably in late afternoon, by vintage buses, fenders ruffled, with tattered uniforms. The manager would come round to this white kid groundskeeper and ask him where to go for take-out sandwiches.

I would say, why do you want take-out? I know where we can get something to eat. So we would all pile in the rumbled bus, and I would guide them to Main Street and the Coney Island Restaurant run by the father of my friend and contemporary, Jim Kerrigan.

When the team followed me in, the white jaw of customers dropped, and I would tell Jim how these players and we wanted something to eat, and Jim would sit us down at the counter stools. I always ordered a couple of "coney islands" tasty hot-dogs covered with mustard, chili and juicy onions and enclosed by a bun steamed spongy. Delicious. I noticed that the ballplayers ordered hot chicken or beef sandwiches. Afterwards, they quietly said thank you to me, and I thought that some of them couldn't figure me out.

Today, if there was a Texas Spiders team and it came to Dubuque, everything would be all right. My hometown has grown up that way with the rest of the country. I imagine, though, that in the old days Calvin Griffith could have given his Waseca speech, in Dubuque and many other cities, including New York City, delivered with the same purpose. "At times you try to be comical and try to get a laugh and that's it," Griffith tried to explain. "I did get quite a few laughs."

He also got the promise from his super-star, Rod Carew, who just won his seventh American League batting title, to never again play for Griffith's Twins. Carew said he refused to be "a nigger on his plantation and play for a bigot."

"What the hell, racism is a thing of the past," Griffith protested. "Why do we have colored ballplayers on our club? They're the best ones. If you don't have them, you're not going to have a club."

Aw, pshaw, is what George Babbitt would have said, puffing.

Higher education has problems in face of declining enrollments

By BILL KIDD Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Perhaps the one thing everyone might agree on regarding higher education in Texas over the past few decades would be that it has got higher and higher in costs. One reason for that — a reason which hardly needs mentioning — is inflation. The other is the increasing number of Texans going to colleges and universities, an increase both in absolute numbers and in percentages as well. But over the last several years, the numbers have been stabilizing, or even dropping. And that trend has implications, in terms of money and programs, for state-supported institutions. Some of those implications are summed up by Commissioner Kenneth Ashworth, Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, who's probably as well informed and articulate about higher education as anyone in the state. Ashworth sees two major problems which tie in with the declining or stabilizing enrollments of the schools. First: How does an institution implement changes in a period of no or slow growth? Second: How does it maintain quality, in the face of increasing costs? Nationally, Ashworth says, college enrollments in the last decade grew 88 percent, but now that rate has fallen to two per cent. In Texas, growth was at 102 percent — but that rate has gone to 16 percent. As enrollments level off, or shrink, schools will qualify for less state funds — and there will have to be some changes made. For one thing, Ashworth comments, if there's no new money coming in, there won't be any new positions for professors. And with many of the professors who are hired receiving tenure, it will be hard to recruit any new faculty members. In the growth of the last decade, Ashworth comments, many new professors were hired and many of them acquired tenure.

Average age of that tenured group, he reports, is 40-50 — and retirement age is 70. "Over the next 20 years," the commissioner says, "we will have a group of professors growing old together." "It makes it very difficult," he adds, "for new Ph.D.'s to find jobs...and also hard to hire minorities." Another problem Ashworth anticipates is in colleges' abilities to bring in new programs, which he argues are needed ("If they don't change, they get out of touch with the real world."). "Schools have been in the habit of bringing about change by adding on what they've been doing. "As resources become more limited...they may have to abolish some of the things they have been doing." Ashworth anticipates there may be greater reluctance to increase spending for higher education than there has been in the past. It's hard, he notes, to pass on the increased costs hitting colleges and universities as well as everyone else — either by charging higher tuition, or by getting the taxpayer to pay a larger part of the cost. Proposition 13 and its associated tax-relief offspring are factors in the funding of higher education as much as in funding other governmental functions, Ashworth feels. In Texas, he points out, "higher education is one of those elements getting funding at the end of the appropriations process" — and it doesn't have the dedicated funds which some entities have. "If funds run out in the early part of the process, it's hard to get funds. If taxes have to be raised, it appears that taxes have to be raised because of higher education..." Just what higher education will be getting for the next biennium is up to the 1979 Legislature — but the last Legislature provided over $2.89 billion (including funds to junior colleges) while the requested funds came to over $3.4 billion. Those figures aren't likely to be lower this time. But Ashworth is likely to be proven right in his thinking that higher education isn't likely to get much higher, where price is concerned.

Strike-out time back in game

By ART BUCHWALD Los Angeles Times Syndicate

NEWS ITEM — Judge rules that women reporters must be permitted in baseball locker rooms.

It seemed extremely rocky for the Mudville Nine that day; They blew the game in Springfield on a stupid double play. So when a girl reporter walked in their locker room They decided to play ball with her to take away the gloom.

Cooney made the first pass, and he fell upon his face; Burrows tried to sacrifice, but couldn't get to base. Flynn was left in right field, and never got her name; It looked as though poor Mudville would lose another game.

Then from the locker players went up a joyous yell; It rumbled in the showers, it rattled in the dell. It struck upon the saunas, and rebounded on the flat; For Casey, Mighty Casey, was advancing to the bat.

There was ease in Casey's manner, a smile on Casey's face, As he whispered to the lady, "Would you like to see my place?" "Pas ce soir," the lady said, "and please take off your hat." "That's no way to talk," Flynn said, "when Casey's up to bat."

She frowned in great displeasure, a hand upon her hip. She stuck a mike in Casey's face and almost cut his lip. "Strike One," the shortstop called out, as he doubled up and roared. "Casey's swinging wildly and he hasn't even scored."

Casey dug his feet in as he made another pitch. "Let's have a drink at your place and take away this itch." "I have a date," the lady said, "so knock off all the chatter; Tell me why you blew the game as Mudville's greatest batter."

"Strike Two," the catcher shouted as he rolled upon the floor. Casey blushed with anger for he could not take much more.

"I have a brand-new Caddy sitting in the parking lot." The news he shrugged her shoulders, "I guess that's all you've got."

"Fraud!" cried Casey's teammates and the echo answered, "Fraud!" But a scornful look from Casey and the locker room was awed.

They saw his face grow stern and cold, they saw his muscles strain, And they knew that Mighty Casey would not foul out again.

"Look, honey," he said plaintively, "I'll talk about my pain. Let's do it over pizzas and a bottle of champagne."

"I haven't time to mess around," the lovely girl cried out. "I've got to meet a deadline; that's what news is all about."

The sneer was gone from Casey's lips, his teeth were clenched in fear. He put his arm around the girl — she socked him in the ear.

She took her mike and hit his hand, and kicked him in the shin. "Now tell me, when you get your breath, just why you didn't win!"

Oh, somewhere in this favored land, the moon is shining bright, And girls are doing disco in pants that are too tight;

And somewhere men are laughing and drinking Guinness stout, But there's no joy in Mudville — Mighty Casey just struck out.

It's time watchdogs were awake — Congress entering final week

By RICHARD L. LYONS The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Beware of Congress in its final week, which apparently is upon us. This is when public interest watchdogs should be wide awake. The rules are relaxed to permit quick action. Private interest bills that have been hibernating for two years fly back and forth between House and Senate too fast for most to see. You can count on it that late some evening this week a member will arise in one chamber and ask unanimous consent to call up a bill passed by the other body and accept its amendment. If asked to explain, he will say it is a technical amendment. A month later it is discovered to have been a million-dollar tax break for the A and Z Widget Corp.

It is a time to look for shortcuts to move big bills that are stuck. House Democratic leaders have been trying for a week to use the Rules Committee to do an end run around the hostile Government Operations Committee and send the Senate-passed counter-cyclical economic aid bill straight to the House floor. They ran into personality problems in the Rules Committee, but these reportedly have been resolved and the bill should be cleared. To move along his billion-dollar "pork barrel" bill, which got stuck in the Senate Energy Committee, Rep. Phillip C. Burton, D-Calif., pushed the bill through the House a second time last week minus a project that was causing trouble. If that doesn't get things moving in the Senate, Burton has a couple of other versions ready to send over.

Working against an adjournment deadline also helps kill bills. The bill creating a Department of Education may fall victim to this. For the second week in a row, House Democratic leaders were forced to drop the bill from their weekly schedule by the threat of filibuster that would block action on "must" bills. Last week it was first-term Rep. Robert S. Walker, R-Pa., opposing it as creating another costly layer of bureaucracy. He forced the full reading of a 50-page conference report, which ordinarily would be inserted in the record unread, as a weapon to get the bill pulled.

Last Saturday after Sens. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., had risen in the Senate to wish a happy birthday to and say kind words about Sen. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, Matsunaga got up to say thanks a lot but his birthday wasn't for another week. "I make this announcement for the benefit of those senators who wish to make laudatory statements for the record at that time," Matsunaga said. Inouye got Matsunaga mixed up with a Hawaiian congressman who turned a year last week.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., stood in the Senate chamber recently and exhorted business lobbyists to get to work and kill an upcoming "sunset" amendment that would order a congressional review of all tax incentives and kill them unless Congress continues them by affirmative action during the next 10 years. A backdoor tax increase, Long called it.

"There are about 2,000 people in Washington who are paid to try to keep the business community informed," he said. "They better get busy and read what that amendment is. Everyone who is concerned about the fairness of tax laws should be alerted in prospect of a move that may very well result in the largest tax increase in history."

Some of those lobbyists, representing the auto industry and union, were at a meeting of the House-Senate energy tax conferees Wednesday night. House conferees were trying desperately to save part of the administration's tax on gas-guzzling cars. The industry and its union were united in trying to kill it. When Rep. Thomas (Lud) Ashley, D-Ohio, came out of a closed Democratic meeting trying to shape a compromise, he showed it to the lobbyists for the four major auto companies and got their comments. A few minutes later, House conferees voted the compromise to keep the tax but let standards slip back one year.

The White House drive to uphold the public works veto was, for the most part, a tour de force of successful lobbying. But not everything about it was perfect. At one White House session, Carter came up to Rep. Peter Kostmayer, D-Pa., "Steve, we really need you on this one," the President said. Despite the goof, Carter got Kostmayer's vote.

During the 26 years Kennedys have served with Republicans from Massachusetts in the Senate — first John with Leverett Saltonstall and now Teddy with Edward Brooke — they have done little to help Democrats win that second seat. But this time Democrats sense a chance to win it and Kennedy is leading the charge to help Rep. Paul Tsongas pull it off. Kennedy offered to do a TV spot, host a fund-raiser and campaign with Tsongas in the southeast part of the state, where he is weak.

Have you actually found yourself? True and balanced self-assessment is one of the best techniques for gaining a real feeling of confidence. An excellent three-point technique is suggested in a book by David Seabury. It's very worthwhile trying.

First, take a pencil and paper and make an honest analysis of yourself. On one sheet, list all the negative things: weaknesses, failures, faults, doubts. On another, list all the factors that make you most like what you want to be. Then put the first sheet away; keep the second sheet and read it a dozen times each day. Second, pray daily that the Lord will give you strength and guidance to become what you want to be. Third, go out and try to be what you want to be to the best of your ability and intelligence. Do these things and in time you will acquire both confidence and a good measure of success.

Mark Russell says

In an atmosphere of reform Congress is preparing legislation to revamp the Civil Service. This is known as getting tough with your relatives.

The legislation proposes that pay raises be tied to performance instead of length of service. Such a radical concept might not sit too well with some of the old timers who want to be buried in their swivel chairs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR At what price?

To The Editor: Some carping critics say Carter has been working for Middle East peace to improve his image with American voters, for his own political gain. I am sure he honestly and genuinely wants peace in the Middle East. I only wish he had the same concern for the U.S. — its safety and welfare, that Begin and Sadat display openly, even belligerently, for their respective countries.

How did the United States become a "partner" in any Middle East agreement? Why did the United States become a "partner" in this Middle East agreement? Much more important now, since we have apparently become committed, is what exactly are we committed to — legally, financially, and militarily — by becoming a "partner?"

Books 'covered'

To The Editor: Without your comics on the book covers you provided the students of Lee High School, our classes would be boring.

Book covers are very important to students. Without them, our books would be ruined by the end of the school year. When it rains, book covers protect books from getting wet. They also protect our books from getting torn and the ends smashed. On behalf of the Lee High School student body, thank you for providing us with book covers.

POSITIVE THINKING

The 'beginning of wisdom,' end of shyness is knowing yourself

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Each week I receive a good quantity of mail and many of these letters have to do with the unhappy existence of a problem called shyness, especially as it exists among young people. I've never made a study of the derivation of "bashful," but it certainly carries a connotation of shrinking, fearfulness, abashed in the presence of life and doubtful of oneself. And, although the word is now apparently no longer in fashion, the bashful or shy condition in people remains.

Reading some of these letters reminded me of a horrible custom they had when I was a child back in Ohio. In those days when the minister or other company came around to call, everybody got dressed up and the children would be brought in and made to recite a poem or a prose selection. This probably happened in your childhood home as well as in mine, and will no doubt bring such occasions quite vividly back to you, too.

Well, at those moments, I tried never to be where they could find me. I was too scared to speak. Bashful children were not understood too well and some parents allowed their children to continue that way. Many never outgrew bashfulness and as a result were plagued by inferiority feelings all their lives. # Soviet Union's grain crop still on target

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts say the Soviet Union's grain crop is still on target at around 220 million metric tons, the third largest on record.

The Agriculture Department estimate issued Friday was unchanged from similar projections made in August and September.

"The chances appear to be at least 2 out of 3 that the final output will fall within the 210 million to 230 million ton range," the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Next week department officials will meet here with their Soviet counterparts to discuss terms of the long-term trade agreement which commits Russia to buy minimum quantities of U.S. wheat and corn each year.

Thus, what happens to the Soviet harvest — along with this year's U.S. crops — has an important bearing on those discussions and how much grain Moscow decides to import in the coming year.

As of Oct. 2, about 93 percent of the Soviet grain area was cut. About 97 percent of the cuttings were threshed by then, the agency said.

The common practice in Russia is to cut or swath the standing grain, put it into windrows and thresh it later. By contrast, the American grain farmer uses combines to cut and thresh grain in one operation.

Officials said that some three million hectares of grain were still in windrows by Oct. 2. That was "twice as large as that in the past two years," they said.

A hectare is about 2.47 acres and a metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

The USDA estimate of 220 million metric tons would make it the third largest Soviet harvest on record, exceeded by the record of 223.8 million metric tons in 1976 and 222.5 million in 1973. Last year's harvest was 195.5 million metric tons.

The U.S.-Soviet meeting will begin Oct. 11 and will be a semiannual talk specified by the five-year agreement signed three years ago. Last May the discussions were in Moscow.

Under the pact, which took effect with the year that began Oct. 1, 1976, the Soviet Union is committed to buy each year a minimum of six million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn combined.

It also allows Russia to buy up to eight million metric tons annually without further negotiations with U.S. officials. United States approval is needed if more than that is wanted.

About 6.1 million metric tons of grain were provided Russia in the first year of the agreement. In the year just ended on Sept. 30, the Soviets — with U.S. prior approval — purchased about 14.8 million metric tons.

The Soviets have not indicated publicly how much grain they will buy in the current year of the agreement, but some USDA officials have said privately that they think Moscow will want to buy at least 8 million metric tons in 1978-79.

WASHINGTON (AP) — After backing away for four years, China has ordered some U.S. corn.

The Agriculture Department said Friday that U.S. exporting firms reported corn sales to China totaling 276,000 metric tons, but that 200,000 metric tons of it can come from "optional origin" outside the United States.

Even so, the 76,000 metric tons remaining is the first U.S. corn sold to China since 1973-74 when it took delivery on 1.8 million metric tons for delivery that year.

Some corn was sold after that but China canceled those orders and stopped buying corn until now. All 276,000 metric tons of the new order are to be delivered by Sept. 30, 1979.

China also turned to the United States earlier this year for wheat for the first time in four years. About 2.5 million metric tons have been bought so far. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jackson Packing Co. of Jackson, Miss., has been officially designated by the Agriculture Department as a "chronic problem plant" because of unsanitary conditions.

Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman, who oversees food and consumer services, said Friday that the plant "had received unacceptable ratings" in three reviews made by federal inspectors this summer.

Last January Ms. Foreman announced that meat or poultry plants under federal inspection "will be publicly announced as chronic-problem plants if, after being given ample opportunity to correct unsanitary conditions, they continue to have a history of unacceptable compliance reviews."

Sydney J. Butler, acting administrator of the Food Safety and Quality Service, which handles meat inspection, said the Jackson plant is the first to be identified publicly under that policy.

Ms. Foreman said that additional federal inspection has been put into effect at the Jackson plant "to assure that all products bearing the federal mark of inspection" meet government adulteration and misbranding regulations.

The Food Safety and Quality Service is notifying the firm of specific deadlines for making corrections, she said.

"Failure to comply will provide a legal basis for withdrawal of inspection," Ms. Foreman said. "However, recent reports indicate that corrections are under way and progress is being made in correcting deficiencies."

The Jackson plant will be removed from the chronic-problem list if the next two reviews show the plant is operating satisfactorily, she said.

Butler said the plant employs about 400 persons and primarily is in the business of slaughtering cattle and hogs, and processing beef and pork products.

Eastern pulls out

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines has pulled out of the Miami Film Festival because of what airline president Frank Borman said were distasteful newspaper advertisements promoting the event.

The name and corporate symbol of Eastern, one of the festival's largest financial backers, were placed at the bottom of the ad. Eastern was participating in a joint consumer advertising campaign with the festival promoters and offered package tours to Miami.

The offending ad in the current issues of two show business publications, Variety and Backstage says in its headline, "Sex. Violence. Booze. Drugs. Famine. Disaster — Enjoy it all at the Miami Film Festival."

"This is not the kind of image we want our company associated with and we do not want to be associated with anything that puts the Miami community in such a light," Borman said in a news release Friday.

"The damage has been done," said James Ashlock, Eastern news bureau director. "We never even got a chance to review what was supposed to appear, much less what did appear. It caught us completely by surprise."

Festival organizer J. Hunter Todd, who estimated the value of Eastern's support at $250,000, said the Eastern withdrawal would have "no effect whatsoever" on the festival, scheduled for Nov. 10-19.

Todd said "everything is still go" for the showing of 100 films in four Miami Beach and Miami theaters and appearances by Rock Hudson, Anthony Quinn, Mia Farrow, Art Carney, Orson Welles and other entertainers.

"We consider the mistake an unfortunate error on the part of our advertising agency," Todd said. The ad had been rejected for use, but was mailed accidentally to the two publications, he said.

"Everything Frank Borman said about the ad, we said a month ago — we're just as mad as he is," Todd said, adding that when the ad was presented for approval by an advertising agency, "We said that's terrible. It was rejected and all of a sudden it pops up in print. We regret what happened."

Miami Mayor Maurice Ferre telephoned Todd to warn that the advertising may also jeopardize $75,000 worth of support the city tentatively was considering for the festival. Ferre said while he was "shocked and horrified," the city may continue its support if the mistake was an honest "blunder."

Supermarket industry reports higher profits

By KRISTIN GOFF
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the nation's supermarket industry, benefiting from a truce in price wars and food inflation trends, are reporting sharply higher profits this year.

But A&P, which reported a big loss, and Food Fair, which filed for court protection because of its difficulties, offered sharp contrasts. Analysts say both are paying a catch-up price of consolidating unprofitable operations in the wake of new trend toward fewer but larger markets.

Safeway Stores Inc., which in 1972 surpassed the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. as the nation's largest food retailer, said its earnings in the most recent quarter leaped 84 percent to $31.7 million, or $1.22 a share, from $17.2 million, or 67 cents a share a year earlier.

Stock sale announced

Bobby L. Payne, president of ICO, Inc., announced last week that the shareholders of ICO have tentatively agreed to sell the outstanding stock of the company to a new corporation formed by a group of Texas investors.

The investors, represented by Wilford B. Fultz of Fort Worth, and the shareholders of ICO, Inc., have signed letters of intent for an undisclosed price. The letters of intent are subject to certain conditions and asset evaluations which are to be completed on or before Oct. 31, 1978.

In making the announcement, Payne said he would remain with the company in his present capacity and will be a shareholder in the new corporation.

No changes in the current operations are planned, however, the company plans to open a new tubular inspection and coating facility in Houston in early 1979.

ICO, Inc. is the parent company of Rodco, Inc., Spinning Pipe Service, Universal Tubular Service and Spinteco which have operations in Odessa, Denver City and Oklahoma City.

Council will meet

A Dallas insurance executive, James H. Brawner III, will be the speaker for a meeting of the Midland Business and Estate Council Tuesday in the Petroleum Club of Midland.

His topic will be "Fringe Benefits and Executive Compensation—An Endangered Species?"

Council president John A. Bates said the meeting will begin at 6 pm with a social hour, followed by dinner and the program.

Brawner is a graduate of Rice University and specializes, through his Dallas insurance firm, in tax and compensation planning and employee benefit plans.

He is a guest lecturer at Southern Methodist University and is a frequent participant in insurance seminars.

The Business and Estate Council is an organization of lawyers, accountants, insurance men and trust officers actively engaged in estate planning.

Union sets vote meeting

BOSTON (AP) — A meeting has been set for Oct. 15 for a ratification vote on a tentative agreement between International Typographical Union Local 13 and the Boston Globe and the Boston Herald American.

The tentative agreement with the newspapers was reached Friday morning. There was no official announcement on terms of the pact, but the Globe said settlements with other major craft unions this year have provided raises of 72 weekly over the three-year duration of the contracts and for an additional paid holiday.

The printers also will vote on a supplementary agreement between the union and the Globe. That agreement, reached Sept. 29, covers electronic type-setting equipment to be installed at the newspaper.

Henry Vitale, union president, said a major issue in the talks was job security, especially in light of the new electronic equipment.

Degrees to glut market

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bachelors and masters degrees in business administration will continue to be employment gold mines, but a survey of 500 business schools in the United States and Canada reveals graduates with Ph.D. degrees will glut the market by 1981.

Prof. Dick A. Leabo, business administration doctoral director at the University of Michigan, said Friday that his forecast is based on national figures which show 85 percent of Ph.D. graduates end up teaching, while 15 percent enter industry or government.

Winn-Dixie Stores, the fourth largest chain, announced a 35 percent increase in earnings to $19.7 million for the quarter ended Sept. 30 from $14.6 million in the period last year. The Kroger Co., ranked as the third largest in the industry, isn't expected to announce its latest profits until next week. But analysts are expecting

But A&P, which embarked on a major restructuring program several years ago in an effort to recapture its shrinking market share, reported a $6.9 million loss in the past quarter. That followed a $10 million loss the previous quarter.

And Food Fair Inc., one of the 10 largest chains, filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act in an attempt to work out a plan for paying debts without having to close its grocery or retail outlets.

The Philadelphia-based chain sought court protection this past week after it found itself "with insufficient quantities of cash to purchase inventories" in large enough quantities to qualify for volume discounts. In its filing in U.S. District Court in New York, the company described its difficulty as a "temporary liquidity problem."

Under Chapter 11, a company attempts to carry out its business and pay its debts while under court protection from creditors' lawsuits. Food Fair recorded net income of $282,000, or 3 cents a share, on revenue of $2.2 billion in the 40 weeks ended May 3. In the comparable period last year, the chain earned $10.7 million, or $1.45 a share, on sales of $1.9 billion.

Value Line, an investment survey published by Arnold Bernhard & Co. Inc. rates this year as a vastly improved one for the industry.

"Price wars have been virtually non-existent this year compared with 1977's highly competitive atmosphere. And food price inflation is moderating, which will lead to wider profit margins in food stores," says a recent Value Line survey of the industry.

The first week of October proved to be a slow one for building permits as only two permits were issued for new commercial structures. Majority of the rest were for new homes or residential alterations.

Midland College was given a permit to have a $60,000 tennis shop constructed at the college. Jerry's Photo Hut was issued a permit for $4,000 for a business to be constructed at 3308 W. Wall Ave.

The week's total amounted to $663,200, bringing the year's total in building permits to $73,371,563.

Permits for commercial alterations went to Midland National Bank, 500 W. Texas Ave., to move walls on the 11th floor, $3,500, and to Don Hargrove, for interior changes to an office at 2304 N. Big Spring St., $13,900.

Permits for new residences were issued to: Midland North Inc., 2105 Northrup, $54,000; B&B Builders, 301 Oxford, $49,000; J.B. Whittle, 4309 Valley, $75,000; Walt Thibeau, 4508 Eric Drive, $33,500; Walt Thibeau, 4508 Eric Drive, $34,000; Walt Thibeau, 4504

Receiving permits to do residential alterations were: James M. Davis, 2519 Shell, $1,500; Jack York, 606 Harvard, $1,500; Frank Gilmer, 4412 Versailles, $500; Jose Urias, 1000 S. ## Air flights cancelled

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Foreign airlines temporarily cancelled flights to and from Mexico because there weren't enough government traffic controllers to work a third shift in the commercial controllers' strike.

Pan American, American Airlines, Aerolineas Argentinas, Avianca, Air France, Iberia and Texas International were among the airlines affected Friday. They were resuming flights when the 48-hour strike ends at 9 a.m. EDT today.

The walkout, a repeat of a strike staged two weeks ago, has stranded thousands of passengers at Mexico's 40 airports, and Mexico's two airlines had to cancel 80 percent of their flights, claiming "lack of security."

Some 900 commercial controllers walked off the job Thursday to protest a move to put them under contract with a government organization at reduced pay with less fringe benefits. Their union demands the old contract be honored.

Court work order lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal court order that sent striking rail clerks back to work has been lifted after union and industry officials agreed to preserve a 60-day "cooling-off" period.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey Robinson Jr. dissolved his temporary restraining order Friday and called off an Oct. 10 hearing on an industry request for a permanent injunction.

A spokesman for the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC) said the judge's actions came at a hearing that the two sides requested to obtain Robinson's approval of their agreement.

BRAC spokesman Henry Fleischer said the agreement is essentially the same as the order Robinson handed down Sept. 29 to enforce a back-to-work decree issued by President Carter the day before.

The union, which obeyed Robinson's directive, had defied Carter's back-to-work decree until winning court-ordered protection from reprisals.

BRAC shut down two-thirds of the nation's rail system for most of last week when it escalated a 2½-month strike against the Norfolk & Western Railway to virtually every major carrier.

But A&P, which embarked on a major restructuring program several years ago in an effort to recapture its shrinking market share, reported a $6.9 million loss in the past quarter. That followed a $10 million loss the previous quarter.

Committee to study self-insurance trusts

By BILL KIDD
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Self-insurance trusts, which are being eyed by various groups as one way to beat or control rising insurance cost, will be studied by an advisory committee set up by the State Board of Insurance.

That panel is to work with the SBI to draft requirements aimed at making certain those trusts are capable of satisfying their contractual obligations.

Late in July, the board voted to call a public hearing (still not set, apparently) on self-insurance trusts.

Thus far, only the Texas Medical Association has moved to set up such an entity (the Medical Liability Trust) under the new law providing for such operations. TMLT plans to begin operations Dec. 1.

Under the law, self-insurance trusts such as TMLT are exempt from regulation under the Insurance Code and other statutes setting out SBI authority, but the SBI is given authority to set "minimum, reasonable requirements" for their operations.

Deciding what those requirements are to be, and how to apply them, is what the board has to determine—and that apparently is what the advisory committee is to assist with (although the board has indicated it's not committed to adopting any rules at this point).

However, Acting SBI Chairman Ned Price says he hopes the committee will come up with some recommendations which can be presented at the public hearing.

Reportedly, the committee is to include doctors, insurance industry representatives and members of the general public.

Concern has been expressed by some insurance industry representatives that an "unregulated" trust would pose a threat to regulated companies, by giving them unfair competitive powers.

Some concern has been indicated by the SBI that such trusts might make it more difficult for the board to set rates for regulated companies—if the agency can't get statistics and reports from the trusts.

Another effort by the SBI is already underway—with an advisory committee apparently nearing completion of an effort to draft a single policy replacing the commercial property policy and merchant's property policy.

That new policy, to be known as the "commercial property policy," is to be written "from scratch," the agency reports, but will retain most coverages from the old policies.

It's not certain yet when the new policy may be ready, or when it might be approved by the SBI—but it appears that the proposal might be ready in time for the 1979 property rate hearing (or before).

Hearing is set, tentatively, for Nov. 15 for the 1978 rate adjustment hearing on worker's compensation rates—with some other matters on the agenda, at the request of Texas Worker's Compensation Assigned Risk Pool.

One is a request for an increase from $50 to $65 in the minimum premium for which a policy may be written (maximum is $500).

Second is a request for an increase from 35 to 45 in the "premium multiplier," which is used in determining premium.

Anticipated as a possible request is an automatic minimum surcharge for risks entering the pool (that proposal has been rejected twice, with the last request being for an eight percent surcharge).

An official for the SBI says the agency has taken the position in the past that the risks going into the pool aren't generally bad risks—just unwanted ones.

Texas Credit Union Department expects to be mailing out proposed regulations, covering confidentiality of members' records, suspension procedures used by TCUD and prohibition of designated slots for directors, this month.

The proposals are to be sent to State-chartered credit unions and will be filed with the Secretary of State.

Meanwhile, no date has been indicated for hearing in the Houston appeals court action where TCUD and Galveston County Employees Credit Union are involved in a lawsuit in which the Galveston trial court held the TCUD's creating legislation was unconstitutional broad.

Trustees to hear results of tests

Midland school trustees are scheduled to hear two reports on test results at their 1:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday.

One report will deal with a breakdown of achievement test scores by ethnic groups for the 1977-78 school year. Trustees were given results for the standard achievement tests by school at an earlier meeting.

They will hear results broken down further by ethnic groups within each school at this meeting, according to Schools Superintendent James H. Mailey.

Results of the Midland Assessment Program Test given to students in grades 3 through 6 last year also will be reported at the meeting, Mailey said.

Object of the tests, given at the beginning and end of the 1977-78 school year, was to measure specific reading and math skills.

Trustees will hear a report on the number of students who were able to accomplish the skills at the end of the year, compared to the beginning when the first test was given, Mailey said. Board members also are scheduled to let a contract for new equipment for the language laboratory at Austin Freshman School and review the gate receipts from Friday night's Midland High School football game.

Smoking raises heart risks in young women

DEAR DR. SOLOMON: Maybe you could help settle an argument I had the other day with my sister. She was giving me a long song-and-dance about cigarettes causing not only cancer but also heart disease—even in someone who is fairly young. I happen to smoke, and I know that I'm taking certain risks doing that. But I've never heard of a fairly young woman having a heart attack just because she smokes. It seems to me that this kind of scare talk just isn't very convincing.—Joanne T.

DEAR JOANNE: Smoking has long been recognized as one of the major factors in coronary heart disease, so you really can't dismiss your sister's argument as scare talk. And there is an extremely interesting new study that shows clearly just what effect cigarettes can have on women who are still relatively young. The study, done by researchers at Boston University School of Medicine, found that cigarette smoking alone accounted for about three-quarters of all heart attacks in a group of otherwise healthy women under the age of 50.

This survey, which covered 152 hospitals in seven states, is of special interest because it is the first to be limited to women who—except for smoking—did not have any known heart risk. Thus women suffering from high blood pressure, diabetes, high cholesterol levels or obesity were excluded.

Persons taking birth control pills were also excluded. Because the combined effect of oral contraceptives and smoking is known to increase the risk of a heart attack.

In other words, everything was done so that the heart risk effect of cigarettes could be measured in isolation.

Here are some of the detailed findings. Heavy smokers, defined as those smoking 35 or more cigarettes a day, had about 20 times the risk of heart attack as women who had never smoked. Those who smoked 25-34 cigarettes a day had 14 times the risk of nonsmokers. And those who smoked less than 25 cigarettes a day had approximately 4 times the risk of the nonsmokers. In short, the heavier the smoking, the greater the risk.

The study found that the risk for ex-smokers was nearly as low as for women who had never smoked at all—and that in fact is dropped off sharply as soon as a woman got rid of the habit. Whether or not a woman had reached menopause did not appear to be a factor in the study.

Heart attack is rare among young women, but there has been an alarming increase in smoking among teen-age girls in recent years. The Boston researchers say that unless this pattern changes, premature heart attacks caused by smoking will probably increase among apparently healthy women.

The study was directed by Drs. Dennis Slone and Samuel Shapiro, both of Boston University School of Medicine.

It suggested instead that the link between so-

Report on drinking water due to bring new studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Research Council report on cancer and drinking water is likely to spur further debate on a federal proposal requiring unprecedented levels of water purity in major metropolitan areas.

The Research Council report disputes previous studies which found that drinking water contaminated with organic chemicals may cause cancer.

It suggested instead that the link between so-called trihalomethanes (THMs) in drinking water and bladder cancer "was small and had a large margin of error."

"Future studies of this kind are unlikely to lead to more useful information," said the council, which is a branch of the National Academy of Sciences. The Environmental Protection Agency, however, has proposed that major cities be required to install expensive charcoal filters to remove THMs. Some THMs such as chloroform are known to cause cancer in test animals.

Black leader discusses breakthrough on energy

With BOB TIEUEL

The Energy Problem from a Black Perspective: "Dear Bob—Last month the U.S. achieved a breakthrough in experimental fusion that signals an end to temperature of 60 million degrees was attained in a dough-nut shaped magnetic bottle 18 inches in diameter. Black U.S. Congressman Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., commenting on the significance of the breakthrough, inserted this statement in a recent edition of the Congressional Record:

"Miraculously this timetable (about 20 years) coincides with most estimates of when we will reach the end of the world's oil supplies. The implications of this advancement are tremendous. The solution to the world's energy problems is before us. We must seize the initiative and pursue it. This breakthrough compels us to redirect our energy and funnel the necessary funds and attention to the highly promising and vitally important nuclear fusion research."

An aide to the congressional Black Caucus representative told the black press that this brief Congressional Record insertion has gotten "more response than tons and tons of other statements the congressman had entered."

The response may bridge the gap between the NAACP, which has called for an aggressive energy policy, and the Black Caucus, which has had a more go-slow policy toward nuclear power development.

The fuel for nuclear fusion is virtually inexhaustible. It is sea water, from which an isotope of hydrogen is obtained. The energy is cheap, and clean, and will one day sooner or later, depending on funding-become mankind's greatest energy source...Clark Watson, president of the American Association of Blacks in Energy, commented: "The fusion breakthrough puts the nail in the coffin of the Carter-Schlesinger energy package which is more political than scientific and economic." (signed) Roy Harvey.

One of the nice things about wine is the variety of foods that go well with it. Wine and cheese is one of the traditional standards. Just try to get wines and cheeses that go together rather than compete in flavor, taste and aroma. Contrast heavy wines with light cheeses, and light wines with strong tasting cheeses. Then there is wine and nuts. Any nuts, again, will do. Try something unusual like Macadamia nuts or sunflower seeds. There are also an almost infinite number of hours of oysters that are perfect with wine. Try any cocktail fish, shrimp, oysters, sardines, etc. With a good wine, delicious.

House approves automatic price boosts for sugar

By BRIAN B. KING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill that probably would raise the price of a five-pound bag of sugar more than 20 cents over the next four years. It is also looking favorably at a measure that could keep hamburger prices up.

The sugar bill passed Friday would add 1.5 cents to a five-pound bag of sugar this winter and 20.5 cents more by 1982, agriculture experts say.

"There is no possibility" President Carter will sign such a bill, said Thomas Sand, an aide to Agriculture

Secretary Bob Bergland.

The House bill starts at just under the maximum price level favored by Carter and provides automatic price boosts every six months as production costs rise.

But Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said a Senate bill goes farther and he doubts the president would veto the House version if it reaches Carter's desk.

He said the Senate bill has an even faster escalator clause and would drive a five-pound bag's retail price up more than 60 cents in four years.

Both bills rely on import fees, duties and possible quotas to drive up the value of foreign sugar, which makes up about 45 percent of the U.S. supply. The foreign sugar price traditionally sets the price for all sweeteners.

The House action Friday came 13 months after adoption of a renewed sugar price-support program that raised the prices paid to 16,000 producers by 3 cents a pound, or 14.5 percent.

That resulted in a price increase to the nation's 216 million consumers of an estimated 17 cents per five-pound bag.

The 1977 law further mandated a

1.2-cent boost in raw sugar prices this fall, from 13.5 cents a pound to 14.7 cents. That means consumers will be paying $1.29 for a five-pound bag of sugar that cost $1.23 this summer, even if Congress takes no further action.

The boost approved Friday by a 186-159 vote will be on top of increases already due this fall and also in addition to any other increases wholesalers and retailers pass on to customers.

Meanwhile, the House tentatively rejected an amendment to a proposed new meat-import law that would have given Carter flexibility in allowing the importation of meat to offset high domestic prices.

The bill, an overhaul of the 1964 Meat Import Act, would allow increased imports only when ranchers are rebuilding their herds, when supplies of homegrown meat are declining or when retail prices are rising.

Although Agriculture Department officials have no estimates of the impact of the bill it would be less than a similar, but more stringent Senate-passed bill on meat imports that Carter's inflation adviser Robert Strauss has estimated would add 16 to 17 cents a pound to meat prices.

Most of the imported meat, which makes up 7 percent of the U.S. supply, is lean beef that is mixed with excess fat from U.S. cattle to make hamburger.

Bail bonding: Does it live up to reputation?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Allegations about questionable bail bonding practices surfaced during a federal grand jury in Midland in July. The following is another in a series of articles by The Reporter-Telegram on the bail bonding industry.

By MARK VOGLER
R-T Staff Writer

DALLAS—It's a lawful occupation which makes its money off of lawlessness. Every time somebody goes to jail, the bondsman stands a chance of making a buck legitimately.

There also is the chance for loss. All the same, bail bonding, a $1 billion dollar a year enterprise, ranks as one of the more suspicious businesses in the United States, according to at least one Federal Trade Commission agent assigned the task of investigating the enterprise.

Bail bonding thrives on the money of those who break the law and those who are accused of criminal acts.

A nationwide investigation into the bail bonding business will at least determine whether the industry as a whole lives up to a "seedy" reputation, said an FTC agent interviewed recently.

"Why are we doing a national investigation into the bail bonding industry? Because bonding has never really gotten a serious look; there hasn't been much of anything done on it anywhere yet. Basically, it's just started," said Steven E. Weart of the Dallas FTC office.

"Information of a public and private nature came to light which suggested we take a look at it. At this point, we're not sure anything is happening. We may find out that the bail bonding industry is in tremendous need of reform. We may not. We can't make any determinations until after we take a close look. That's the purpose of this investigation."

The scope of the investigation is national. The FTC plans to take a close look at bonding procedures across the country and determine whether there is adequate competition in the business, he said.

The investigation actually has been in the works for about two years, but not until late August did the agency's Washington, D.C., office announce that the probe would be conducted.

The FTC is primarily interested in the area of price-fixing and how it affects competition, according to Weart.

The agency will also examine anti-trust and monopoly activities, unfair credit reporting, false advertising and improper mergers, he said.

"If the business is not functioning at its competitive best, we have an obligation to take a look at it. Price fixing is the key. If there is evidence that this is happening frequently, it means that competition is being restricted," Weart said.

"One of the functions of the Federal Trade Commission is to monitor the market place. We are supposed to promote competition if competition is in the best interests of the public.

"We are particularly interested in the manner in which fees are charged for bail bonds. If people are getting together and setting fees, it's wrong. Any attempt to tamper with fee structures as set by the market place is a violation of law."

The FTC will examine any tactics used to enforce price fixing in the bail bond industry, according to Weart, focusing on possible coercion, boycotting and intimidation among other methods used to set prices.

Generally speaking, he said, any fixed prices would result in higher prices for the consumer — most often the relatives of the person bonded out.

"That's why there's really not a lot of public interest in bonding reform. Most people view the person being bonded out as the consumer. In most cases, the consumer happens to be the relatives," Weart said.

If the FTC finds violations of fair trade practices, the best it can do is order the company involved to stop, he noted.

If the company doesn't comply with the order, the agency can take legal action. Since price fixing also falls under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Justice Department, it is possible that punitive action could be taken against violators cited by the FTC, according to the agent.

Price fixing, although "it's pretty well cut and dried as to what it is in the industry," is not an easy matter to prove.

"So often you don't prove price fixing through documents. It's always nice to have the smoking pistol, but unfair prices don't always prove it," said Weart.

"You have to have circumstantial evidence to show. Or get somebody in the industry who is peeved to spill his guts. We try to find as much information as we can and find somebody who is willing to talk.

"We're interested in what the ultimate charge to the consumer is and whether that's being charged every one else. How are the bonding companies setting prices if they are? Do they do it publicly? Do they do it in private? Do they do it over a cup of coffee in the morning?"

Weart declined to talk further about the specific nature of his investigation, pointing out that it is "nonpublic," and that no information will be released until the investigation is closed or complaints are issued.

However, a review of documents obtained by The Reporter-Telegram through the Freedom of Information Act suggests that the FTC is receiving some allegations of corruption within the industry.

One investigative file reports: "According to (name deleted) bonding companies are routinely failing to notify defendants when they are supposed to appear in court even though it is clearly understood that it is their obligation to do so. Once this happens and the defendant fails to appear, he is rearrested (either by the sheriff or the bondsman) and reincarcerated.

"The bondsman then asks to be released from his bond, a request which is usually granted. Thus, the bonding company retains the fee charged the defendant, and yet the defendant remains in jail. (name deleted) feels that this is very prejudicial to the rights of the defendants. He also complained of excess violence occurring within the industry.

"He stated that many industry members engage in brutality to defendants and damage to personal property when re-arresting non-paying defendants. Many also carry guns. Every effort is made by bondsmen to secure the defendant's recapture prior to the expiration of 20 days after default, as this will prevent forfeiture by bondsman of any part of the bail bond."

Some of the other complaints received by the FTC about alleged improprieties in the bonding business include:

—Instances where sheriffs and county officials are in cahoots with bonding companies to the degree of restricting or even closing down legitimate operations.

—Allegations of setting uniform prices for bonding companies.

—The signing of contractual agreements which restrict fair trade and competition.

Nationality 'neutral' issue, cardinal says

VATICAN CITY (AP) — For the past four centuries popes have been Italian, but a U.S. cardinal said Saturday that nationality is unimportant in the choice of the next pontiff and he sees no reason an American could not be chosen leader of the world's 700 million Roman Catholics.

"If at the right time and place an American had the particular qualities that were sought, he might well be chosen," Cardinal John Dearden of Detroit said in an interview.

Next Saturday evening, Dearden and 110 other cardinal-electors convene in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel to choose a successor to Pope John Paul I, who died of a heart attack Sept. 28 after leading the church for only 34 days.

Dearden said the nationality issue was not important in the conclave that chose John Paul and would be "a neutral thing" in the coming conclave. But there are rumblings for a non-Italian pope this time.

Brazilian Cardinal Paulo Evaristo Arns said, "It's now, more than before, a time to think about a pope from the Third World, but truly from the Third World: an African or an Asian."

In an interview with the Rome daily La Repubblica, he mentioned the name of Cardinal Bernardin Gantin of Benin, the highest-ranking black African at the Vatican. Cardinal Gantin, 56, is head of the Vatican's Commission of Justice and Peace.

Eduardo Pironio of Argentina has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate from the Third World. Pironio, 58, a descendant of Italian immigrants, won praise as a bishop in Argentina and as secretary of the Latin American Bishops' Conference before becoming head of the Vatican's Congregation for the Religious two years ago.

The Third World has 400 million of the world's Catholics. Of those, 300 million live in Central and South America. Those nations will have 20 cardinals in the conclave, compared with nine from the United States, where there are about 50 million Catholics.

ARCO head believes plenty of oil remains

By MAX B. SKELTON—
AP Oil Writer—

HOUSTON (AP) — L.F. Davis says there is still plenty of oil to be discovered despite predictions about running out.

Davis, vice chairman of Atlantic Richfield Co., adds that predictions of running out of oil date back a century or more and that he finds them amusing.

"In 1885 somebody said there was little or no chance for oil in California," he said.

"In 1920 the U.S. Geological Survey said peak domestic production had been reached."

And in 1939, he added, the Interior Department reported U.S. supplies would last another 13 years.

"In physical terms, I don't believe there is any shortage of oil in the world," Davis said.

"Sure, we will eventually run out and we should be prepared for the day when demand exceeds production, but I don't see that day coming in this century and possibly not until we are a few years into the 21st century."

Davis said there are two reasons for his optimism.

He said there has been a tremendous increase in the crude oil finding rate over the past five years in such non-OPEC areas as Mexico, the North Sea, China, and Egypt.

"Another big reason is the drop in world demand," he said.

"In 1955 to 1973 world oil demand grew at an average rate of more than 7 percent a year. Since 1973 annual consumption has grown only slightly more than 1 percent. We are predicting a 2.7 percent annual rate."

"The slowing of the growth in demand," Davis said, "and the rapid increase in non-OPEC resources give hope the OPEC nations will be more vulnerable to consumer pressures in the years ahead."

Davis said that even though it seems likely there will be plenty of oil over the next few decades the sources of supply will not necessarily be convenient to the United States.

"That brings us to oil as an economic and political problem rather than a physical problem," he said.

"The United States is lucky that Mexico apparently has so much oil. Right now we take over 80 percent of Mexico's oil exports and I expect we will depend on Mexico and the Persian Gulf for many years to come."

He said Mexico is talking about having 100 to 200 billion barrels of oil and production there could approximate 5 million barrels a day by the middle 1980s.

Davis rejected recent predictions Russia's oil production will peak this year and that the Soviets will be a major importer of OPEC oil by 1985.

"I would not be surprised to see the USSR production reach 20 to 25 million barrels a day by 1990 compared with the 11 to 12 million in 1977," he said.

"Davis said he cannot buy the most drastic predictions that suggest a worldwide excess of demand over supply in the 1980s."

"In fact, I tend to see a worldwide abundance of oil rather than a scarcity through the turn of the century," he said.

"But no matter where you stand on the issue, whether extremely optimistic or extremely pessimistic, you have to arrive eventually at the same answer that sooner or later the available conventional oil supplies will be used up," he said.

"When that happens we had better hope that alternatives will be ready in sufficient amounts to take up the slack or mankind will be in serious trouble."

He said only time will tell whether the nation is preparing itself adequately to cope with the post-petroleum era.

"Everything considered, I think the proof of the pudding will probably come sometime after the year 2000 when the principal elements of our 21st century energy system, we hope, will be ready to fall into place," Davis said.

"That may seem very distant time but it really isn't."

Clayton Williams Jr.

Williams on program

The Desk and Derrick Club of Midland will hold its regular dinner meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday in the Midland Country Club.

Clayton Williams Jr., Midland independent oil and gas operator, will be the speaker. He will talk on "Where Do We Go from Here."

Williams is a native of Fort Stockton, a 1954 graduate of Texas A&M University with a B.S. degree in Animal Husbandry.

He is involved in oil and gas exploration and is recognized by the agribusiness leaders for his achievements in land conservation and breeding herd development.

He currently is involved in the development of the Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute in Alpine. He is the organizer and president of Scope Oil Co., Scope Royalty Co., Coynosa Co., and Century Production Co., and is a director of the Mercantile National Bank in Dallas.

He served in the Army and sold insurance for New York Life prior to going into business as an independent oil operator in 1957, drilling wells in the Delaware Basin and operating as a lease broker.

Deliveries of gas start

FINDLAY, OHIO—Marathon Petroleum Ireland, Ltd. has received approval of the Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Energy to begin sustained sale of natural gas from the Kinsale Head Field. The company said continuous delivery began Oct. 1.

Bord Gais Eireann has already received some quantities of test gas during startup of the pipeline and onshore facilities.

Marathon accelerated its development program at the request of the government. The original sales agreement with BGE specified April 1, 1979, as the target date.

The field, approximately 30 miles southeast of Old Head of Kinsale, County Cork, was discovered by Marathon Petroleum Ireland, Ltd. in 1971. Reserves are estimated at one trillion cubic feet.

WASHINGTON OIL

Individuals important to successful program

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram
Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Congress, at the behest of the Administration, is on the verge of producing a national energy program of sorts. But the eventual success or failure of that effort is likely to depend on whether enough citizens develop their own personal energy programs.

That is, if this nation is going to make progress on the energy front it will be because individuals and groups take action on their own, either to conserve energy fuels or to contribute to the increase in the supply of domestic fuels.

In other words, the government is not going to solve the nation's energy problems on its own. If there is to be a solution, it will be the result of general public reaction.

For example, if enough of the nation's homeowners decide it is wise to insulate their homes, cut back the thermostat, or buy a lighter, more efficient automobile, then the consumption of home heating oils and gasoline will decline.

Similarly, if major industrial users of fuels find it is to their own benefit to switch to some fuel other than oil or gas or if they can devise methods for reducing their level of fuels consumption, there will be a tapering off of demand.

On the supply side, whether it is the consumer or the producer, the final decision has to rest with the individual, a company or an organization. The government, with all its power, can not reduce the thermostat setting in your house nor determine when and where you will drive your car. Nor can it demand that an oil producer go out and drill more wells.

Furthermore, such decisions will be made on an economic rather than a patriotic basis.

The question now is whether enough people in the United States feel it is to their own benefit, as well as to the nation's benefit, to do something on an individual basis to cope with the energy problem.

For instance, will individuals buy or build a new home demand energy efficiency or opt for other facilities.

There are many other decisions that will be made on an individual or group basis that, collectively, will have a big impact.

One such decision relates to energy facilities in a given community, where the individual has some voice. Thus, it becomes important whether individuals support or oppose the location of a power plant, a refinery or other energy-related facility in his community.

There's a natural instinct to want a power plant or some similar industrial facility located elsewhere, but the individual may decide he wants it in his community if it means his job is at stake or it means that his home or office will not receive adequate energy supplies.

A national public opinion research organization recently did a survey in the West in an effort to determine whether the public's economic concerns are greater than their concerns about adequate recreational facilities or the preservation of inaccessible wilderness areas.

The survey firm, Yankelovich, Skelly and White, reported last week that where voters consider the choice between two priorities—the economy vs. the environment—a substantial majority favors the economic answer.

The survey was taken as a part of the controversy over the public lands bill now being considered by Congress. Among other things, the legislation includes a request by the U.S. Forest Service for comments on the proposal that 62 million acres of U.S. lands be given a wilderness designation. Such a designation would foreclose mineral and other developments.

The survey found that 59 percent of the people interviewed felt it would be wrong to limit access to government-owned land before it is known whether or not the land contains resources which are important to the economy. A large majority, 74 percent, felt there was a definite need to develop government lands and to explore for natural resources.

Over the long run, the individual decisions by citizens will be the determining factor in shaping this nation's energy action—or lack of action.

Lewis Chandler Smith

L. C. Smith leaves firm

Lewis Chandler Smith of Midland retired Oct. 1 after more than 38 years of service with Continental Oil Co. He was senior production engineer in the company's Production Division here.

A native of Dallas and an engineering graduate of Southern Methodist University, Smith joined Conoco's Central Engineering Division as a mechanical draftsman at Ponca City, Okla., in 1940.

He transferred to the marketing department in 1951 as coordinating engineer and moved to Houston the same year.

He moved to Fort Worth in 1952, where he served as construction and maintenance superintendent in marketing until 1964 when he became a senior engineer in the Production Department at Odessa.

Smith moved to Midland in 1967 as production engineer and had been senior production engineer since 1977.

He is a registered professional engineer and has been chairman of the local section of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers and chairman of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME.

He plans to continue to live in Midland.

Proposed regulations 'regulatory quagmire'

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Regulations proposed by the Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration to spur tertiary enhanced recovery of crude oil are a "regulatory quagmire which are to be a total failure as far as augmenting domestic production through enhanced oil recovery," according to a statement presented to DOE by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

The statement was on behalf of IPAA and 19 affiliated state and regional oil and gas associations.

The association, which represents independent producers of oil and natural gas, said that the new ERA proposals need to be evaluated in conjunction with the current program which they are designed to supplement.

That program, announced in a July 27 rulemaking, provides price relief only for "incremental" crude oil resulting from implementation or expansion of a qualified tertiary enhanced oil recovery project, but only if the project or expansion would otherwise be uneconomical.

The IPAA statement contended that the nuclear definitions of this provision cast doubt over which projects qualify.

Further, it notes that the certifying authority will focus solely on the costs of continuing the project, while disregarding investments already made. The IPAA statement adds: "This is rather hard on producers who have sunk thousands of dollars into a project only to find themselves caught in a regulatory 'Catch-22'."

Citing a series of vagaries in the existing ERA tertiary enhanced recovery regulations, the producer association stated that "the entire bureaucratic maze envisioned by the ERA regulations is tantamount to turning over control of a producing operation to the federal government." The association added: "No self-respecting producer in his right mind is going to make a discretionary decision to pursue tertiary activities under such circumstances."

Tertiary enhanced recovery operations of the type affected by ERA regulations are extremely costly, the IPAA said, often running into the millions. Given this factor, the association said, the current provision to reward only incremental production assures that producers will benefit from price relief no sooner than 5 to 10 years after the implementation of the project, when the "incremental crude oil" begins to flow.

The association pointed out that, in the meantime, a producer may have spent millions for capital investments which may never be recovered. According to the statement, "The producer will be exposed to a great deal of risk without a commensurate potential for reward...financial rewards will be only marginal at best."

The proposed new incentives would release some current tertiary production to higher prices, in order to give producers a "loan" which would be repaid through reduced prices on the later incremental production. But, according to IPAA, conditions restricting this provision to projects with heavy preproduction expenditure and uncommon technology "will most likely prevent every independent from participating."

The producer association recommended a series of criteria by which ERA should proceed to implement new regulations.

These included proposals that all production from a qualified tertiary enhanced recovery project—not just incremental production—should qualify for a full market price; that release from price controls should apply to all types of enhanced recovery projects; that regulations must be understandable to all producers; that release from controls must be permanent, not subject to periodic recertification.

And, that release from price controls must apply to existing as well as prospective enhanced recovery projects; that market decisions, rather than administrative decisions, should determine whether a particular enhanced recovery project is economically feasible; and that price relief for tertiary projects should not adversely affect the prices of other categories of crude oil.

All of these can be accomplished under existing law, IPAA noted.

261 active rotary rigs counted in Basin area

In a weekly survey of rotary operations in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico as recorded by Reed Drilling Equipment showed the two-state area with 261 rigs making hole this week.

Last week the Reed survey counted 263 units at work and a year ago at this time 300 rigs were spotted turning to the right.

Eddy County, N.M., topped the survey with 26 rigs, gaining four units over the previous weeks count of 22. Pecos County, the West Texas leader in drilling activity, took second place on the survey as 25 rigs were counted. Last week the survey showed 24.

Gaines County picked up third place as 18 units were spotted making hole, bringing in two more rigs over last week's count of 16. Lea County reported 17 rigs at work, keeping its same total as last week.

West Texas drilling activity showed 10 rigs spotted in Crockett, Hockley and Ward counties.

The Midland office for Reed Drilling Equipment has stopped handling Fisher, Nolan and Stonewall counties and these counties have been omitted from this report. Information on District 7B may be obtained from the Reed office in Dallas.

Reynolds Reproduction's film department can do wondrous things with film and cameras. Take your project to 315 North Colorado and the friendly technicians Colleen Eason, Patrick Cummins, and Fred Coston, pictured above, will be glad to help. Phone 682-7393.

A large and loyal clientele built by twenty-five years' good and honest service to the needs of the oil and business communities of the Permian Basin speaks for itself. Perhaps, though, there are many persons who as yet do not know of the potentialities for home and office decoration made possible by the equipment and technical know-how at Reynolds'.

First, a few words about just some of the machines and instruments used there. About six months ago, Reynolds Brothers acquired a custom-built, room-sized camera with 5'x8' copy holder which is capable of reduction by eleven times in one step, or enlarging 9x original from print in one step. This saves much time, thus saving money for the customer. The camera's versatility makes many varied applications possible. Originals with overlays are made by one-step backlighting. An automatic processor at Reynolds makes a dry print of material fed into it in 90 seconds. The film department has the latest in equipment which enables them to print cards from 3x5 to 18x24 for presentations or exhibits. Also, they make 35mm color slides of any print or picture you designate for slide presentations. They have done work for area museums and political personalities. Many Oil Show booths will be decorated with intricate and diverting displays by Reynolds Brothers.

Murals made from photos of pets, vacation spots, antique maps, or whatever one fancies can be made in 42"x10' strips at a surprisingly low cost. Can you imagine how pleased a child would be with a poster-sized blow-up of the family dog or cat, or a very special friend? An 18x24 in. black and white would cost less than five dollars. The possibilities which could occur to the decorator of home or office are almost unlimited.

Ask for Frank Valles at Reynolds Brothers Reproduction Company at 315 North Colorado. He can tell you in detail how you can have photo murals made from your own treasured photo, a personal poster made for a favorite young person, or an enlarged old family picture. Phone 682-7393.

Cities decaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Maintenance crises of major proportions are threatening many of America's older cities, according to Construction Contracting magazine.

The McGraw-Hill publication said some cities were in such an advanced state of decay they already posed a threat to the communities, "some would even say to the life and limb of their citizens."

It added that cities in need of repair included New York, New Orleans, Detroit, San Francisco and Pittsburgh.

Mike Smith, manager of Mid-West Door and Window, stands outside his office at 904 West Front, holding examples of energy-efficient windows available in custom sizes.

Insulate your home; use Midwest Windows

Energy efficient windows are important both winter and summer. Here's why. Energy efficient windows will cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows of your house. In addition, they will cut in half the difference between room air and window temperature, which produces a cold feeling when you are near a window in the winter and causes cold drafts across the floor.

You will enjoy greater comfort in your home and will be conserving your nation's fuel supplies. If your house is cooled by air-conditioning in summer, all of these statements apply with increased force because energy efficient windows are as effective in reducing heat gain in summer as they are in reducing heat loss in winter. Considering the rising cost of fuel for either heat or air-conditioning, your investment in energy efficient windows will pay for itself.

Let the professionals at Mid-West Door and Window Company, 904 W. Front Street, insulate your windows with custom fitted energy efficient windows. It's important that an energy efficient insulating window fits. Only then will it keep heat inside in winter and outside in summer. The energy efficient insulating windows from Mid-West Door and Window do it. They make sure by custom sizing the window to every window in your home. Mid-West Door and Window offers a complete line of windows and doors for your selection. Call manager Mike Smith at 682-4632 for information. Estimates are available. Call soon and have your home fitted with energy efficient insulating windows from Mid-West Door and Window.

Officers to be introduced

The 1978-79 officer of the Permian Basin Landmen's Association will be introduced at the Tuesday meeting in the Midland Country Club. The event will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a social hour. A buffet dinner will be served at 7:30. The new officers are: Gene Wentworth, president; Rick Farris, first vice president; Ron Pepper, second vice president; Lee House, secretary; Mike Mullins, treasurer, and the directors are Wes Chalfant, Jack Larremore, Bernie Scott, Jack Swallow and John Young. The meeting also will feature a film, "What Is A Landman," a production of the American Association of Petroleum Landmen.

Gulf reports trio of retirements

Gulf Oil Exploration & Production Co., Western Division, Southwest District, with headquarters in Midland, has announced the retirement of three employees. L. E. Weaks of Wickett, production superintendent of the Monahans Area of the Production Department, had been with the company 37 years and 8 months. His first job with the company was in 1941. In addition to his retirement classification, he had been a relief foreman, roustabout foreman, maintenance foreman, drilling foreman and production foreman. Mr. and Mrs. Weaks will make their retirement home in Wickett.

S. D. Armstrong of Midland, senior clerk in the Comptroller Department here, left the company after 32 years and 2 months. He joined Gulf in 1946. He has worked as a senior clerk in the Wickett office and as a clerk in the Monahans area office. He and Mrs. Armstrong will remain in Midland. A. J. Evans Jr., manager of Environmental & Safety, Production Department, Midland, completed 32 years and 10 months before his retirement. His career began with Warren Petroleum Co. in 1945 as a junior petroleum engineer in the Wichita Falls office. He served in that city as a petroleum engineer and drilling superintendent.

He moved to Abilene in 1950 where he was division drilling superintendent, assistant regional manager of production and regional manager. In 1958, Evans became area superintendent of Production in the Abilene Area after Warren merged with Gulf. He also worked in Houston as district production manager. He moved to Midland in 1973 and has served as coordinator of Environmental & Safety and in 1977 was named manager. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will make Midland their retirement home. Each of the retirements became effective Oct. 1.

Bizzak gets scholarship

TULSA, Okla.—David J. Bizzak, a 1978 graduate of Crane, Tex. High School, has been awarded a Getty Oil Co. scholarship in recognition of his outstanding performance and general personal merit. He has begun classes at Texas A&M University, and is majoring in mechanical engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bizzak. His father is employed by Getty's Crane Area, and production operation of the Midland Exploration and Production District. In high school, he was state champion in numbers sense and was named to "Who's Who Among American High School Students." He was also a local club officer of the American Industrial Arts Student Association.

Chairman appointed

AUSTIN—Dr. Milton H. Dorfman has been named chairman of the Petroleum Engineering Department at The University of Texas at Austin. After receiving a Petroleum Engineering degree in 1950 from UT-Austin and working 20 years as a consulting engineer, geologist and independent oil and gas producer, Dr. Dorfman returned to the University to earn a master's degree in Petroleum Engineering in 1972 and the Ph.D. in 1975. He serves as an associate professor. Since 1973, he has authored or co-authored 48 reports and publications and has delivered more than 85 invited papers and lectures. He also is the director of the geothermal division of the university's Center for Energy Studies.

Texas Mid-Continent meeting starts Thursday in Houston

HOUSTON—The 59th Annual Meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association will get underway Thursday at the Galleria Plaza Hotel in Houston. It will end Friday.

An examination of U.S. energy policy and what it means to the oil and gas industry will be one of the chief topics of the meeting. Other important subjects will be study of a plan for reduced federal spending and tax reduction, and nuclear energy between now and the turn of the century. John H. Swearingin of Chicago, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, will speak to approximately 600 oil and gas industry leaders at the general session Thursday. Also scheduled for the Thursday program are Howard Jarvis of Los Angeles, chairman of the American Tax Reduction Movement, and Alexander B. Trowbridge of Morristown, N. J., vice chairman of the board of Allied Chemical Corp. Swearingin, also chairman of the board of the American Petroleum Institute, is immediate past chairman of the National Petroleum Council. He has been chairman of Standard since 1965, chief executive officer since 1960, and also serves as chairman of the company's executive committee. He has been with the company since 1939 when he started work as a chemical engineer. He earned his B.S. degree in Chemical Engineering and an M.S. degree from Carnegie-Mellon University. Jarvis was the co-author of and leading spokesman for California's Proposition 13, a tax-limiting referendum approved by voters earlier this year. Trowbridge, a graduate of Princeton University, was Secretary of Commerce in 1967-68 during the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson. He was named vice chairman of Allied in 1976. He headed the American Management Association from 1968 to 1970. Between 1954 and 1965, he held executive positions with California Texas Oil Co. and with Esso Standard Oil in South America and Puerto Rico. Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m. Thursday and continue to 2 p. m. Committee meetings will be held from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and a reception and buffet for all registrants will be from 12 noon to 1:30 p. m. The public affairs conference, sponsored by the Oil Information Committee, the industry's organized public affairs group in Texas, will be from 1:30 to 3 p. m. James M. Patterson, manager-Public Affairs Operations, Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, will speak on "Hanging Loose in a Tightening Noose."

Symposium scheduled in Hobbs Oct. 30-31

HOBBES, N.M.—The biennial Petroleum Technology Symposium sponsored by the Hobbs Petroleum Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will be held Oct. 30-31. The headquarters will be the Holiday Inn in downtown Hobbs. The symposium will include the presentation of 18 technical papers, and 16 exhibitors have been scheduled. Granville Dutton, director of government relations for Sun Production Co. in Dallas, will be the principal speaker at a buffet luncheon Oct.

30. Meeting registration, including pre-prints of the papers, will be $20 for members, $28 for non-members, and free for student members. There will be an $8 charge for the luncheon. Advance reservations can be made before Oct. 25 by contacting Mark Whitaker, Continental Oil Co., P. O. Box 460, Hobbs, N. M., 88240. The symposium will include three sessions, from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Oct. 30; from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Oct. 30, and from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Oct. 31.

Field work reported in Permian Basin of West Texas-New Mexico

Rial Oil Co. of Midland No. 1-8-E University has been completed in the Barnhart, South (Ellenburger) field of Reagan County, seven miles southeast of Big Lake. The operator reported a daily pumping potential of 35 barrels of 41-gravity oil, no water, with a gas-oil ratio of 1,250-1, through perforations from 9,148 to 9,180 feet. The pay section was acidized with 9,500 gallons. Total depth is 9,200 feet and 4.5-inch casing is cemented at 9,200 feet. The project, the former K. K. Amini of Midland No. 1-8 University, is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 8, block 48. UNION WELL Union Oil Co. of California No. 1-49-6 University has been completed from the San Andres in the Block 49 field of Reagan County. Nine miles southeast of Big Lake, it finished for a daily pumping potential of 38 barrels of 33-gravity oil and 33 barrels of water, through perforations from 2,528 to 2,569 feet. The pay was fractured with 16,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio is 1,132-1. Location is 467 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 6, block 49, University Lands survey and nine miles southeast of Big Lake. Hole is bottomed at 2,600 feet and plugged back to 2,595 feet. IRION OILERS NRM Petroleum Corp. of Midland has announced potentials for three wells in the Spraberry Trend Area field of Irion County. No. 8-B Rocker B was finished on the pump for 84 barrels of 36.7-gravity oil and 40 barrels of water per day, with a gas-oil ratio of 1,440-1. Completion was through perforations from 4,757 to 6,454 feet after 31,700 gallons of fracture solution. The well is bottomed at 6,530 feet, plugged back to 6,490 feet and has 4.5-inch casing set at total depth. Location is 900 feet from south and 1,400 feet from east lines of section 164, block 1, T&P survey and eight miles northwest of Barnhart. NRM No. 7-B Rocker B completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 72 barrels of 36.8-gravity oil and 33 barrels of water through perforations from 4,779 to 6,508 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 1,347-1. The pay was fractured with 69,000 gallons. Total depth is 6,590 feet and 4.5-inch pipe was landed on bottom. The plugged back depth is 6,550 feet. Well site is 1,200 feet from south and west lines of section 164, block 1, T&P survey, abstract 993. NRM No. 6-B Rocker B potentialed on the pump for 78 barrels of 37.1-gravity oil and 37 barrels of water per day, through perforations from 4,720 to 6,386 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 1,461-1. Total depth is 6,515 feet and operator set 4.5-inch casing at 6,515 feet. The plugged back to 6,475 feet. Location is 1,700 feet from north and east lines of section 164, block 1, T&P survey, abstract 993. GAINES WELL Belco Petroleum Corp. No. 6-1 Sessau has been finished in the Seminole (San Andres) area of Gaines County, two miles southeast of Seminole. On 24-hour potential test it pumped 6 barrels of oil and eight barrels of water, through perforations from 5,312 to 5,326 feet. The gravity of the oil is 29 degrees, and the gas-oil ratio is too small to measure. Total depth is 5,420 feet and 5.5-inch pipe is set on bottom. The plugged back depth is 5,351 feet. Location is 2,117 feet from south and 846 feet from west lines of section 15, block C-44, psl survey. IRION TEST Fortune Drilling Co., Inc., of San Angelo No. 1-36 Eckert will be drilled one location east of a producer in the two-well Cal (Canyon oil) pool of Irion County, nine miles southwest of Mertzon. Slated for a 7,500-foot bottom, it is 660 feet from north and west lines of L. D. Yarbrough survey No. 36. Elevation is 2,521 feet. EXTENDER Fortune also announced completion of a 1/2-mile north extender to the Cal, South (Canyon oil) pool of Irion County, nine miles southwest of Mertzon. The new well, No. 1 Eckert, was finished for a daily flow of 144 barrels of 40.6-gravity oil, with a trace of water, through a 12/64-inch choke and perforations from 7,005 to 7,109 feet. The pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 46,000 gallons. Total depth is 7,520 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set a 7,281 feet. Location is 2,246 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 1220, J. D. Ogle survey. It is the eighth well in the field. CROCKETT TRY Southland Royalty Co. of Midland No. 4-67 Todd is a 1/2-mile northeast outpost to the Wyatt (Grayburg oil) pool of Crockett County, 17 miles northwest of Ozona. The 1,800-foot test is 1,609 feet from north and 567 feet from west lines of section 67, block UV, GC&SF survey. MORROW WELL Yates Petroleum Corp. of Artesia, N. M., No. 1-DC Federal has been completed in the Burton Flat (Morrow) area of Eddy County, N. M., nine miles north of Carlsbad. Three-fourth miles south of other production, the well finished for a daily flowing potential of 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations from 10,624 to 10,634 feet after 1,500 gallons of acid. Total depth is 11,540 feet and the 5.5-inch casing is cemented at 11,495 feet. The plugged back depth is 10,700 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 29-20s-28e. HNG PRODUCER HNG Oil Co. of Midland No. 2-9 Woods Communized is a new well in the Malaga, West (Morrow) pool of Eddy County, four miles northwest of Maljamar. Operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 1,498,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations from 12,450 to 12,554 feet. The pay was acidized with 5,000 gallons. Operator bottomed the project at 12,750 feet, set 4.5-inch casing at total depth and plugged the hole back to 12,684 feet. Well site is 990 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 9-24s-28e. BLINEBRY WELL Amoco Production Co.

No. 7-C State has been completed as a gas well in the Hardy (Blinebry) pool of Lea County. The well finished for a daily flow of 2,400,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through a 48/64-inch choke and perforations from 5,219 to 5,231 feet. Stimulation, if any, has not been reported.

The well is bottomed at 5,257 feet and plugged back to 5,240 feet. The 5.5-inch casing is cemented at total depth. Location is 510 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 2-21s-36e. GMW OILER Gifford, Mitchell & Wisenbaker of Midland No.

7 Horseback is a new well in the Comanche State line field of Lea County, N. M. It completed through perforations opposite the Yates from 3,181 to 3,263 feet after a 1,100-gallon acid treatment and a 40,000-gallon fracture job. On potential test it made 18 barrels of oil and five barrels of water. Total depth is 3,285 feet and 5.5-inch casing is set at total depth. The plugged back depth is 3,277 feet. It is 990 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 33-26s-36e and 12 miles southwest of Jal.

Accountants schedule meeting

Earl Groves, John B. White and Ray Talley, all past presidents of the Midland Chapter of the Petroleum Accountants Society, will present the program for the Wednesday meeting of the society at Ranchland Hill Country Club in Midland.

The meeting will begin at 6 p. m. with a social hour. The program will get underway at 7.

The speakers will discuss the Council of Petroleum Accountants Societies of North America (COPAS).

White will give the history of the formation and the objectives of COPAS; Groves will talk about the operation of COPAS, and the accomplishments of COPAS will be reviewed by Talley.

The organization is the central committee consisting of two representatives of each member society which promulgates the collective opinion of these societies.

COPAS was formed because there were many versions of accounting procedures being used in the joint producing operations of the oil industry.

The first preliminary organizational meeting was held on the Southern Methodist University Campus in Dallas in 1961. Representatives of the Midland society attended that meeting.

COPAS was officially organized in Midland April 25, 1961. D. C. Hobart of Houston was elected the group's first president.

Objectives of COPAS are:

Coordinate the work of the member societies.

Study and analyze accounting and other problem areas of the Petroleum Industry.

Formulate generally accepted petroleum industry accounting practices, procedures and pronouncements.

Cooperate with the American Petroleum Institute and other such associations and institutions as deemed advisable.

Improve and sponsor accounting procedures and interpretative pronouncements.

Cooperate in the education of the public concerning the industry.

Assist in educational institutions through contributions for papers, books, speakers and scholarships.

Provide a forum for exchange of information and ideas.

Consideration of other matters relating to petroleum accounting that may be brought before the council.

Scouts plan 'check' meet

W. C. Kimble of Midland announces that the Permian Basin Pioneer Oil Scouts Association will meet Oct. 17 in the Elks Lodge, 711 W. Indiana Ave. in Midland.

The event is the annual "check" held by the organization in conjunction with the Permian Basin Oil Show and the Petroleum Pioneers Celebration.

The meeting will begin at 7 p. m. Membership is restricted to all persons who attended an organized check meeting in West Texas or Southeast New Mexico at any time, including the present.

"If you think you are eligible, you are," Kimball said.

Admission is free to those persons whose $5 annual dues are paid.

Study plans announced

DALLAS—Plans to conduct a comprehensive study of the materials and manpower requirements for U. S. oil and gas exploration and development were initiated Friday by the National Petroleum Council. It was announced by Doble Langenkamp, deputy assistant secretary for Oil, Gas and Shale Resources, Washington, D. C., government co-chairman of the Petroleum Industry Group.

John P. Harbin, chairman of the Board of Halliburton Co., Dallas, conducted the meeting at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas. Harbin is chairman of the group. Vice chairman is C. John Miller, partner, Miller Brothers, Allegan, Michigan.

The study is being conducted at the request of James R. Schlesinger, secretary for the Department of Energy. Langenkamp, DOE deputy assistant secretary for Oil, Natural Gas and Shale Resources, is Schlesinger's representative to the committee.

"An important goal of the President's energy initiatives is to increase the exploration and development of the Nation's oil and gas resources," Langenkamp said. "As the pace of exploration and production increases, constraints may appear from shortages of critical materials and trained personnel."

Dr. William M. Cobb

Reservoir meeting set

The Reservoir Study Group of the Society of Petroleum Engineers will meet at 11:30 a. m. Thursday at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Dr. William M. Cobb of Midland will speak on "Application of Pressure Transient Data to Reservoir Analysis."

Cobb is area engineer, West Permian District of Atlantic Richfield Co. Past positions have included senior research engineer at Plano and staff reservoir engineer in Dallas.

In 1977, he was chairman of the SPE national committee of Formation Evaluation and a member of the SPE Editorial Review Committee.

Operators worried

TULSA, Okla.—Judicial approval of California's coastal regulatory program has U.S. offshore oil operators worried that states soon may have much to say about exploration and development in federal waters.

To the offshore petroleum industry, that would mean a new layer of Outer Continental Shelf regulation and more delays in the race to develop the nation's energy resources, the Oil & Gas Journal says.

Triggering industry concern is a decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert J. Kelleher to uphold U.S. Department of Commerce approval of the coastal management plan developed by the California Coastal Commission.

The plan gives the state commission, which has been hostile toward oil development in the past, up to six months to review all new activity affecting state property even though the activity would take place in federal waters.

Rejection of a project by the commission could be appealed to the Secretary of Commerce. That would delay the project even further.

Moreover, the commission with federal approval can extend its decision deadline on a project by three months.

The California program is the first of many that will be adopted by coastal states under the federal Coastal Zone Management Act. Others may differ, but California often has been a bellwether in oil regulation.

The California Coastal Commission denies an industry challenge that it is asserting broad-based authority over the Outer Continental Shelf and that it is seeking to impede oil development.

Furthermore, a commission spokesman tells the Journal, the new program may actually speed offshore development. Under the new program, he explains, federal and state studies of proposed projects will be conducted simultaneously instead of in sequence as they are now.

And, the commission doesn't intend to take six months to act on permit applications, he adds, predicting normal permit applications should take two to three months. He says the commission has four main concerns:

—Insuring that oil operators take into account nesting, breeding and living areas of birds and mammals in the islands off southern California.

—Maintaining air quality, an issue over which there have been jurisdictional disputes among federal agencies.

—Promoting the use of pipelines rather than offshore terminals to move oil.

The industry had challenged the California program on the grounds that it was not precise and left the door open to wide interpretation and uncertainty. Some of that uncertainty already has put three California projects in limbo.

The uncertainty is over whether parts of the projects are subject to the new California regulations. The projects are Shell Oil Co.'s development of Beta field in the San Pedro area off Long Beach, Chevron U.S.A. Inc.'s development in the Santa Clara unit of the Santa Barbara Channel and Exxon Co. U.S.A.'s Hondo field development in the Santa Ynez unit of the Santa Barbara Channel.

NACE slates Smalley talk

ODESSA—The Permian Basin Section of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers will meet Tuesday in the Western Plaza Cafeteria in Odessa.

Ralph Smalley Jr., production engineer with Amoco at Liberal, Kan., will be the speaker. His subject will be "Application of Solar Energy for Cathodic Protection of Oil and Gas Well Casings."

The meeting will get under way with a social hour at 6:30 p. m. Dinner will be served at 7:30.

Huge field discovered

HONG KONG—(AP)—China has discovered a rich oilfield larger than the island of Britain in the Tsaidam Basin in Western China, says the Hong Kong Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao.

Quoting the Peking newspaper Kwang Ming, the Hong Kong daily said Friday that the field in Chinghai Province contains oil, natural gas, salt, rare metals and chemicals.

Record attendance expected for Oil Show

ODESSA—The Permian Basin Oil Show, with the opening date only 11 days away, is expected to set an attendance record, reports Eddie Durrett of Durrett & Associates in Odessa, who will have the task of keeping track of the number of visitors.

The show will open its four-day run Oct. 18 at the Ector County Coliseum complex.

We had more than a half-million people come through the main gates for the 1976 show," Durrett said, "and if the weather is good I see no reason why that record won't be broken easily this year." The Permian Basin Oil Show has the undisputed claim that it is the largest oil show of its kind in the world. It is devoted almost exclusively to the domestic drilling and exploration business, and millions of dollars worth of equipment and services will be on display.

Larry Byrd, division production manager for Exxon Co., U.S.A. in Midland, is president of this year's show, and Jay Alvey, vice president of Odessa's First National Bank, is the show's general manager for the 22nd year.

The first two days of the show will be for persons directly associated with the petroleum industry or one of its allied industries. The gates will open to them at 10 a. m. Oct. 18 and Oct. 19. They will close each day at 8 p. m.

The oil show parade will start moving at 11 a. m. in downtown Odessa, and opening ceremonies for the general public will be held at 1 p. m., Oct. 20. The grounds will close that day at 8 p. m.

The exhibition grounds will be open at 10 a. m. Oct. 21. A barbecue, served by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang, will begin at 5 p. m.

The show grounds will be closed at 8 p. m. Oct. 21.

Natural gas men to meet

The Natural Gas Men of the Permian Basin will meet Tuesday in the Midland Country Club.

The guest speaker will be Patrick J. McCarthy, general attorney, Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, Neb.

His topic will be "FERC Regulations."

McCarthy has been with Northern 23 years, with most of his tenure in the company's Law Department. Prior to joining the company he was engaged in private law practice in Omaha. He is a graduate of Creighton University School of Law.

The meeting will begin at 12 noon.

Interest purchased

CORPUS CHRISTI—Peninsula Resources Corp. announced the sale of its 50 percent interest in the intrastate Monco Transmission System to Mitchell Energy & Development Corp., Houston, for $1.9 million in cash and notes.

Tejas Gas Corp., also from Corpus Christi, owns the other 50 percent of the system and is the operator.

Monco consists of a 79-mile gas gathering and transmission system running from near Lake Creek in Southern Montgomery County to near Altair in Colorado County. The system has 74.5 miles of eight-inch line and 4.5 miles of six-inch line.

Gas-oil ratio is 3,063-1.

Total depth is 5,500 feet and 5/5-inch casing is set at 4,956 feet. The plugged back depth is 4,913 feet.

The Cisco was topped at 3,150 feet on ground elevation of 2,435 feet. Other tops are Cross Cut, 4,660 feet; upper Harkey, 4,790 feet; and Strawn sand at 5,210 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 56, block H, GH&SA survey.

R-K Oil & Gas Co. of Midland No. 1 McArthur is to be drilled as a 6,400-foot wildcat in Kent County, 10 miles southwest of Spur.

It is 3,018 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 15, block B, psl survey.

The site is one location south of a 6,460-foot failure and three miles north of the Gar-Kent (Strawn) field.

GAINES TEST
Mobil Oil Corp. No. 1-471 H&J has been staked as a rank 6,200-foot wildcat in Gaines County, 16 miles southwest of Seminole.

It is 366 feet from north and west lines of section 471, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

EXTENDER FINALS

Robert M. Wynne of Midland No. 1-15 University has been completed to extend the Farmer (San Andres) field one and one-quarter miles southeast.

The Crockett County well finished for a 24-hour pumping potential of 11.2 barrels of 34-gravity oil, plus 45 barrels of water, through perforations from 2,205 to 2,398 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 3,902-1.

The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Location is 2,400 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 15, block 50, University Lands survey and 18 miles southeast of Big

STEPOUT SET

Blue Ridge Oil & Gas Exploration, Inc., of Detroit, Mich., spotted location for a 5/8 mile north stepout to the Adams-Baggett Ranch (Canyon sand gas) field of Crockett County, 22 miles south of Ozona.

The 5,500-foot operation is 3,960 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block O, W. M. Hewitt survey, abstract 4525.

It will be operated as No. 1 A. Phillips.

MCT offers war play 'Stalag 17'

"Stalag 17," a war play based largely on the actual experiences of a group of American fliers imprisoned in a German camp during World War II, will be the next major production at Midland Community Theatre.

The comedy-drama by Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinski opens Friday night at Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave., with a second presentation scheduled Saturday night and additional performances each weekend through the remainder of October. Seat reservations for all performances are now being accepted at the box office, 682-4111.

"Stalag 17" opened in May of 1951 in New York and had a successful Broadway run, until late June of 1952. During the 1952-53 season, the play had a highly successful tour to Chicago and numerous other cities in the U.S. The film rights were sold for $110,000 to Paramount, which released a motion picture version, starring William Holden, in mid-1953.

This will be the second production of the play at Midland Community Theatre. The theater initially staged "Stalag 17" in the 1953 season as its 50th major production.

The play has a 21 member, all-male cast. The production is being staged and directed by MCT executive director Art Cole. Among members of the cast are Mark Tepperman, Chris Johnson, John Meyers, Bill Coombes, Norm Larson, Jim Hicks, Joe Hill, Al Beatty, W.D. Salt, Rick Belding, Hampton Hodges, Dean McLain, Lynn Durham Jr., Brian Sayre, John McMahon and Charles Luccous.

Piano concert melodic, but tended to dullness

Cameron Grant and James Winn are a capable and technically facile pair of pianists, a fact they demonstrated remarkably well in their concert here for members of Midland Community Concerts Association.

But the expertise of this pair of youthful performers was no guarantee of a brilliant concert and in truth the program tended to dullness on occasion, despite its supremely melodic content.

There are many times when a performer — or performers — talk too much on a program; they simply overdo the chattiness and informality.

A review

However, in the case of Grant and Winn, a little chit-chat might have helped — the pianist seemed disturbingly remote from the audience and rather stiff in their stage manner.

The pianists opened their program with a splendid reading of Chopin's Rondo in C major, Opus 73, which would indicate they have an affinity for the works of Chopin. Then, for a complete change of pace, they offered the Introduction and Rondo alla Bulerca by 20th Century composer Benjamin Britten.

It, too, was well-done (and, incidentally, how many opportunities have we to hear keyboard works by Britten?). Moving on, the artists offered the Variations on a Theme of Beethoven by Camille Saint-Saens, and this may well have been the best thing on the program.

I felt the pair gave the work careful and concise attention — their keyboard diction was impeccable.

The concluding work of the evening, Brahms' Sonata in F minor, Opus 34b, failed to keep my attention or even please me very much. Perhaps I simply was not in the mood for it.

It is a long, drawn-out work and it tended to drag in the performance here. It was, nevertheless, technically well-thought-out, I believe.

For their single encore, the pianists offered a "tried-and-true" work, the old "Flight of the Bumblebee." It was interesting, if not enthralling.

Midland Community Concerts Association's 1978-79 season continues with an appearance here in November of the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico.

Writer Larry McMurry to appear in Abilene

ABILENE — Larry McMurry, the writer who transformed slices of Texas life into stories that became such acclaimed motion pictures as "Hud" and "The Last Picture Show," comes to Abilene for two appearances this week at Hardin-Simmons University.

McMurry College, Abilene Christian University and H-SU are jointly sponsoring the popular novelist, essayist and screenwriter for a formal reading session at 8 p.m. Thursday in Woodward-Dellis lecture and recital hall at H-SU.

McMurry also will lead an informal discussion and question-and-answer session on creative writing at 3 p.m. that day in Room 300 of Abilene Hall on the H-SU campus.

Both events will be open to the public free of charge.

McMurry, born in Wichita Falls in 1936, grew in nearby Archer City — the town that served as model for his "The Last Picture Show."

He graduated from North Texas State University in 1958 and received a master's degree in English from Rice University in 1960.

He later taught creative writing at Rice, Texas Christian University, George Mason College in Virginia and American University in Washington, D.C.

McMurry published "Horseman, Pass By" in 1961 (the movie version, titled "Hud," in 1963, won an Academy Award). A second novel, "Leaving Cheyenne," which came out in 1963, ultimately became the movie "Lovin' Molly." More recent published works include "Moving On," "All My Friends Are Going to Be Strangers" and "Terms of Endearment."

He also has published numerous short stories and his essays and reviews have appeared in such prestigious publications as The Atlantic Monthly, Texas Quarterly, Harper's Magazine and Texas Monthly.

Famous composer-conductor-pianist Burt Bacharach will be featured with the Houston Symphony Orchestra in a special concert scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Chaparral Center of Midland College. The concert, sponsored by the Odessa Symphony Guild, will be a benefit for the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale. Tickets for the event, priced $10 apiece, will be on sale daily this week in all Gibson's stores in Midland and Odessa and, subject to availability, will be sold at the doors Saturday night. Special patron tickets are available at $50 and $75 and may be purchased through the Midland-Odessa Symphony office, 563-0921.

Houston Grand Opera launches new season with Bellini's 'Norma'

HOUSTON — The Houston Grand Opera launches its 1978-79 season this week with a production of Bellini's "Norma."

The opening performance of the famous bel canto opera, starring Renata Scotti in the title role, will be Thursday night in Jones Hall for the Performing Arts in downtown Houston.

HGO's new season, which continues until next May, also will offer productions of Leos Janacek's "Jenufa," Massenet's "Werther," Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier," Verdi's "La Traviata" and Offenbach's "Grand Duchess of Gerolstein."

Season subscriptions for the opera series may be ordered through the Houston Grand Opera office in Jones Hall.

TV forecaster predicts fate of new fall series

By JAY SHARBUTT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Okay, gang, time for the Fearless Forecast in which we predict which of this fall's 20 new entertainment series will prosper or join past victims on TV's treadmill to oblivion.

As in previous years, all predictions are made purely on hunch, without reference to Nielsen ratings, or their equivalent, tea leaves. Without further adieu, here is the outlook:

SATURDAY: ABC's "Apple Pie," a Depression comedy, has a stand-out actor—Dabney Coleman—but a stand-out premise. Out by December, earlier for CBS' "American Girls," a reporter series even Lou Grant would rap. No call for NBC's "Sword of Justice." It starts Oct. 7.

SUNDAY: ABC's "Battlestar Galactica" will go for light years unless it runs out of special-effects money or the Cylons go on strike. CBS' rival "Mary," with Mary Tyler Moore, has a hard struggle ahead, but it'll survive for at least two years, maybe more.

But CBS' "Kaz," a legal matter, will lose its case by mid-season.

MONDAY: CBS' "WKRP in Cincinnati" won't sign off for years. Not so the network's glossy "People." It'll poop out by November unless they get honest and change the title to "Piffle."

TUESDAY: ABC's "Taxi" will keep the meter running at least two years, in the manner of one trip in a real New York cab.

A rash prediction for CBS' "Paper Chase" law school series: It'll give ABC's rival "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley" a stiff fight, if allowed to build an audience. We suspect those shows have had it, and "Chase" might last well beyond a year.

Not so NBC's "Grandpa Goes to Washington," even with Jack Albertson. Grandpa will be out of office before you can spell recall.

WEDNESDAY: ABC's "Vegas" is not a good bet. We give 100 to one odds against it staying on past November. Sad to say, CBS' gentle "In the Beginning" is headed for a fast ending, too.

But another rash prediction: "Dick Clark's Live Wednesday" on NBC may last one season, maybe two, once its mix of "You Asked For It" stunts and rock-version "Where Are They Now" catches on. This doesn't mean it's good. Goodness has nothing to do with it.

THURSDAY: ABC's "Mork and Mindy" gets at least two years, provided the new-star pressures Robin Williams is sure to face—like a blast of guest shots on other shows—doesn't grind him down.

NBC's "W.E.B.," about the nice lady and nasty men who run a TV network, may feature the first TV network in history to get canceled. The ax will fall by the end of November.

FRIDAY: CBS' "Flying High," a stewardess show, will be permanently grounded in mid-November, although you may hear its laugh-track co-starring elsewhere the rest of this season.

At NBC, instant doom faces three newcomers: Joe Namath's wobbly "Waverly Wonders;" "The Eddie Capra Mysteries" and a Las Vegas mess; called "Who's Watching the Kids" (no one, it is said).

will be in charge of crafts staging for the show. Entries for the popular show will be received at Midland College between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday. (Staff Photo)

MAA planning annual fall show

Carson to host Academy Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Johnny Carson will be the sole master of ceremonies for the 51st annual Academy Awards to be presented April 9 on ABC.

This will be the first time that Carson, host of the "Tonight" show, has appeared on the Academy Awards telecast. The ceremony will be held at the Music Center for the 11th consecutive year.

Quinn stars in 'Caravans'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anthony Quinn stars as the leader of a nomadic tribe in "Caravans," from the book by James A. Michener.

Jennifer O'Neill also stars as the daughter of a U.S. senator and Michael Sarrazin as an American attaché sent to find her in the desert. The movie was filmed in Iran.

It also stars Joseph Cotton, Christopher Lee, Barry Sullivan, Jeremy Kemp and Behrooz Vossoughi, Iran's most popular actor.

Midland Arts Association is making final plans for its annual fall regional show.

The exhibition, one of the most popular art shows in the Permian Basin, will open Oct. 17 in the Fine Arts Building of Midland College, continuing there through Oct. 28.

Norma Helm, president of MAA for 1978-79 and general chairman of the upcoming show, said entries will be received from city and area artists and craftspeople between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday at the show site. Eligible for entry in the exhibition are paintings, graphics, sculpture, ceramics, glass, jewelry, weaving and textile arts.

The fall show each year attracts entries from persons from as far away as Abilene and Brady on the east, Marfa and Alpine on the south, Roswell and Carlsbad, N.M., on the west, and Plainview on the north.

All entries must be original, completed within the last two years and never before displayed in a Midland show. There is no limit to the number of entries per person.

Anne Livet of Fort Worth, former curator of the Fort Worth Art Museum in the Fort Worth Art Center, will judge the show. She will recommend cash awards totaling $2,000.

Guest artist with Midland's Thouvenel Quartet in its season-opening concert tonight at Midland College will be cellist David Vanderkooi of Nashville, Tenn. Vanderkooi and members of the quartet will perform Franz Schubert's String Quintet in C major, Op. 163. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building recital hall at MC. Season tickets for the Thouvenel ensemble's five-concert season may be purchased at the doors before the start of the program tonight.

Armed Forces News

Airman Cecilia J. Ryan

Several Midland-area servicemen have been in the news recently. They include:

Airman Cecilia J. Ryan, daughter of Mrs. Jessye L. Myles of Big Spring has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing U.S. Air Force basic training for six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base. She will now receive specialized training in the supply field.

She is a 1971 graduate of Holt High School, Tuscaloosa, Ala. Her husband, Lee, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Ryan of Compton, Calif.

Airman James W. Pinkard, son of Mrs. Bertie Pinkard of Big Spring has been selected for training at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., in the personnel field after completing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base.

Airman James W. Pinkard

He is a 1978 graduate of Big Spring High School. His brother, Thomas Pinkard, also lives in Big Spring.

Senior Airman Johnny B. Hodges, son of retired U.S. Air Force Technical Sergeant and Mrs. William B. Hodges of Big Spring has been promoted to his present rank in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Candy L. Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Cook of Big Lake has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing U.S. Air Force basic training.

She will now receive specialized training in the avionics systems field after undergoing six weeks of training at Lackland Air Force Base.

PBRPC board to consider MidTran grant application

The city of Midland's grant application for MidTran, Inc., is scheduled for consideration when the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Board of Directors meets at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. The meeting will be in the Conference Room at the Air Terminal Building.

Entitled "MidTran Enabling Study," the application outlines need for a public transportation system in Midland. The system would begin with a base of five to 10 van-type vehicles to keep funding requirements at a minimum. Carpool and vanpool programs can begin two to four months after receiving funding. A demand responsive system could start within six to eight months, according to the application.

The city of Midland has another application, for updating the Airport Master Plan for Midland Regional Airport, on the agenda for review.

The application is being submitted to the Federal Aviation Administration, and the city is asking for $48,016 in federal funds. This would be added to the city's $12,004 for a total of $60,020.

Project will be started Nov. 1.

The goal is to prepare five-, 10- and 20-year plans for development of Midland Regional Airport and should be completed in one year.

Midland Community Action Agency is applying to the Community Services Administration for funds for the Emergency Energy Conservation Program for Midland, Loving, Ward, Winkler and Reeves counties. Funding requested is $49,003 with a local match of $11,136.

Also on the agenda is an application from Ector County for funds to continue the Ector County Regional Juvenile Rehabilitation Program. The applicant is requesting $28,808 from the Criminal Justice Division, and the county will contribute $115,233.

Other items scheduled for consideration are a grant application for two high-speed teletype machines for the Crane Police Department and Pecos County Sheriff's Department, an application from Pecos County Community Action Agency to fund a weatherization program and a resolution to accept a priority project list for supplementary funds from the Criminal Justice Division.

SALT negotiations slated to resume Oct. 22 in Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations for an arms limitations treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union will resume Oct. 22 in Moscow, the State Department said Saturday.

Department spokesman Kimberly King said Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko have scheduled two days of talks in the Soviet capital. Vance and Gromyko met for four days last weekend in New York and Washington in an effort to reach a new SALT agreement to replace one which expired a year ago but which has been extended informally by agreement of the two countries.

President Carter has said he hopes to have a SALT agreement by the end of the year.

Top-ranked Oklahoma rips Texas in runaway, 31-10

DALLAS (AP) — Halfback Billy Sims barged for two touchdowns and quarterback Thomas Lott passed for another score Saturday, catapulting the top-ranked Oklahoma Sooners to a 31-10 victory over the sixth-ranked Texas Longhorns in the 73rd renewal of their bitter rivalry.

Oklahoma, boasting the most awesome offense in the country, stung the Longhorns on the Sooners' first possession in this joust of unbeaten and the outcome was really never in doubt before a sellout crowd of 72,032 in the Cotton Bowl and a regional television audience.

The Sooners intercepted three Texas passes and totally dominated the sputtering Longhorn offense, which only notched three first downs in the decisive first half.

Oklahoma charged 77 yards in five plays on its first possession with Sims racing the final 18 yards untouched for the touchdown.

The Texas defense, No. 3 in the nation, was stunned again in the second quarter after freshman quarterback Donnie Little fumbled the ball away at the Longhorn 26. Sims dashed 17 yards and then scored from a yard away on fourth down.

A 35-yard field goal by Ewe von Schamann offset Russell Erxleben's 26-yard field goal as Oklahoma built a dominating 17-3 halftime lead.

Lott, running the wishbone offense to perfection until he sprained an ankle in the fourth quarter, dashed any Longhorn comeback hopes with a 24-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Kimball to give Oklahoma a 24-3 lead early in the third period.

The frustrated Horns finally broke Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones loose on a 25-yard scoring jaunt on an end-around play in the third quarter.

Oklahoma tacked on its final touchdown late in the fourth period when David Overstreet charged across from two yards out.

Oklahoma, of the Big Eight Conference, is now 5-0 while the defending Southwest Conference champion Longhorns are now 3-1.

Texas now leads the series 43-27-3.

Sims rushed 25 times and gained 131 hard-earned yards.

The eight-point favorite Sooners started an all-Texan backfield and they quickly dominated a Longhorn defense that Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer had called the best in the country.

Fullback Kenny King ripped off left tackle for 55 yards before he was hauled down from behind. On third-and-eight from the Texas 18, Sims followed a crisp block by right guard Greg Roberts and sprinted untouched into the Texas end zone.

Little fumbled to alert Sooner defender Reggie Mathis in the second quarter and the Sooners only had to go 26 yards for their second touchdown. Sims tore off 17 yards, but the Longhorn defense stiffened.

On fourth down from the Texas 1, Sims soared into the air and line judge Glenn Lippman singled touchdown, ruling that Sims had scored before he fumbled the ball away into the end zone.

Texas didn't claim its first first down until 11:34 of the second quarter when Little scrambled 16 yards on

Mosley, Dickey trigger Aggies over Texas Tech

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Seventh-ranked Texas A&M pum-meled Texas Tech with a 1-2 punch of quarterback Mike Mosley and Curtis

Dickey, and David Brothers scored two touchdowns to lead the Aggies to a 38-9 Southwest Conference football victory Saturday.

Ron Reeves of Texas Tech fumbles ball

Mosley took command of the Aggie offense in the first half, rushing 99 yards on 12 carries, including a 64-yard touchdown run. Texas A&M took a 17-6 halftime lead despite losing the ball on a fumble and interception on their first two possessions.

Brothers scored on a two-yard run in the first quarter and Tony Franklin kicked a 32-yard field goal in the second period. Tech's first-half scoring came on field goals of 19 and 26 yards by Bill Adams.

Dickey, who had only 18 yards on eight carries at halftime, took charge of the Aggie running attack in the third quarter. He gained 65 yards on A&M's 67-yard touchdown drive to open the second half with Brothers scoring from the 1.

Dickey later scored on a 15-yard run and finished the day with 161 yards on 20 carries for his fourth consecutive 100-yard rushing performance of the season.

Freshman quarterback Ron Reeves engineered Texas Tech to the A&M 8-yard-line late in the third quarter, but the Aggies, ranked No. 1 nationally in total defense, forced the Red Raiders to settle for Adams' 27-yard field goal.

Adger Armstrong tacked on an 8-yard touchdown run for the Aggies early in the fourth quarter.

Texas A&M improved its record to 4-0, while Texas Tech fell to 1-3.

The Red Raiders shocked the top-rated Aggie defense in the first quarter when they took the opening kickoff and drove to the A&M seven before Adams' 19-yard field goal.

Kenneth James returned the opening kickoff 23 yards to start the Texas

Steers are frustrated

DALLAS — Lured by the added treat of the irresistible force and the immovable object, the customary Texas-Oklahoma sellout (72,032) showed up at the Cotton Bowl on a sun-splashed Saturday.

WHAT THEY didn't know or suspect, and stop laughing over there in the corner Missouri and Stanford, Oklahoma had 'em both.

The 4-0 Sooners' heralded ground-consuming offense proved it was legit enough on the Oklahoma's first possession of the game by whacking 77 yards in five plays, eventually springing Billy Sims on an 18-yarder for the score.

Then, leading 14-0, in the second period, the Sooners surprised everyone by demonstrating they had the defense to go with its offense, too, by stopping the Steers at the OU four and compelling the Horns to settle for an unwanted field goal.

IT WAS Vicky Ray Anderson, playing in place of Kenny King, who had been injured earlier, who fumbled at the OU 28 and Texas' Henry Williams came up with the ball, the kind of mistake a defensive club like Texas gleefully scavenges on.

But the Steers, so frustrated in the first period that Coach Fred Akers in desperation switched from senior quarterback Randy McEachern, the hero of last year's 13-6 upset, to Donnie Little, the untested freshman, and it was Little who led the Steers to the four before the drive bogged down.

As it turned out, it was Texas' last chance to get back in the game. By the time Lam Jones took an end-around pitch from Little and cut back against the grain on a 25-yard touchdown run, the Sooners had convinced their boisterous, red-garbed followers in the Cotton Bowl and a lot of undecided viewers in the TV audience, who by then were waiting for the ball games, that OU deserved its No. 1 rating, at least as long as they don't stumble into another Arkansas, but that's another story.

OF COURSE, it was sweet revenge and Coach Barry Switzer was so pleased with the way his defense played that he gave each a game ball. The Sooners previously had surrendered 29 points to Stanford and 23 to Missouri. "But they were super today. They set up 10 points for our offense."

"I told them (the defense) I would give them balls if they could shut out Texas, and they came close to doing it."

The Sooners paid the price for victory, Kenny King, a severe hip pointer, quarterback Thomas Lott, a bad ankle sprain and Steve Rhodes, a shoulder separation while catching a pass at the two-yard line late in the game.

For Lott, a senior from San Antonio, after quarterbacking a tie in 1976 and a loss in 1977, it was a day for retribution despite the ankle, which he insisted wasn't all that bad.

LOTT DISCLOSED that OU had added some inside plays for the game. "They don't respect our passing and we can throw. But every time we started a play-action pass, their safety men came rushing in to stop the run." As a result, Lott completed four passes for 77 yards. "That's how they played us last year and this time they got burned."

Lott said films of early games probably had Texas thinking outside defensively. "So we added some plays up the middle and they worked." Both Lott and Sims said the success of the first TD drive built up the Sooners' confidence in their game plan.

"BESIDES," added Lott, "I couldn't go outside. Every time I tried to cut up field, there was just no cut. The field is awful."

That's something Switzer agreed with. "Our soccer style guy slipped every time he

Yankees, Dodgers in World Series again

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Roy White, often overshadowed on a club of high-salaried stars, ripped a tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning, while Ron Guidry and Rich Gossage pitched the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over Kansas City Saturday night. The Yankees won the American League pennant for the third year in a row.

Graig Nettles also homered for the Yankees, who capped an amazing comeback from 14 games behind at midseason to capture their 32nd AL flag with a 3-1 triumph in the best-of-5 series.

The Yankees, having disposed of the Royals in the playoffs for the third straight year, will play the Los Angeles Dodgers in baseball's 75th anniversary World Series beginning Tuesday in California. The Dodgers beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 earlier Saturday in the fourth game of the National League series.

against Kansas City pitcher Dennis Leonard, but two of them went for the distance.

Nettles, leading off the second inning, erased an early 1-0 Royals lead with the third AL playoff homer of his career. He tagged a 1-1 pitch, driving it into the area beyond the right-center field fence just in front of the bleachers.

The shot brought a shower of paper from the capacity Yankee Stadium crowd of more than 56,356, who had seen the Royals nick Guidry for a quick run in the first inning. The New York ace, who logged a major league-leading record of 25-3 including nine shutouts during the regular season, gave up the run before many of the fans were settled in their seats.

George Brett, hitting star of the series for the Royals, followed his three-home run performance of Friday with a leadoff triple off the right-center field fence on Guidry's fourth pitch of the game.

When it left Brett's bat, the ball looked like it might be another homer. But it fell short of the fence by a few feet.

Two pitches later, the Royals had their run when designated hitter Hal McRae cracked a single up the middle. It was the third consecutive time in this playoff that the Royals had scored in the first inning, and each time, the run was carried home by Brett.

On the first pitch after his RBI single, McRae stole second. Guidry then struck out Amos Otis and got Al

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shortstop Bill Russell's single with two outs in the 10th inning scored Ron Cey and brought the Los Angeles Dodgers the National League pennant Saturday with a 4-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The shortstop's hit off showpaw reliever Tug McGraw gave the defending NL champion Dodgers the pennant a second year in a row and was Russell's third hit of the game.

Tied 3-3 after nine innings, Dodgers reliever Terry Forster retired the Phillies on one hit—a single by Larry Bowa in the top of the 10th. Then McGraw got Reggie Smith and Steve Garvey in the bottom of the frame before Cey walked, and Dusty Baker was safe when the goat of the game, center fielder Garry Maddox, dropped his short fly in center field.

With the runners on first and second, Russell slapped his clean single over second base. The ball went through Maddox, but even if he had fielded it, Cey would have scored.

The crowd went wild, thronging onto the field. The World Series starts at Dodger Stadium Tuesday evening against the New York Yankees again.

McGraw, the fourth Philadelphia pitcher in a game punctuated by home runs in the early innings, took the loss. The left-handed Foster, the third Dodger hurler, gained the victory.

Forster struck out Mike Schmidt to open the 10th inning before Bowa singled to right. Maddox was called out on strikes, then Greg Luzinski, who hit a home run earlier, grounded to Russell, who tagged second to force Bowa for the final out of the inning.

Smith led off for the Dodgers and flied to Maddox before third baseman Schmidt threw out Garvey. Cey walked, and it appeared the inning was over as Maddox came in after Baker's fly.

But the ball glanced off his glove, keeping the Dodgers alive for the blow by Russell. He had been a tough

Baylor drops 20-18 heartbreaker to U-H

WACO, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Danny Davis guided Houston 67 yards in the closing minutes Saturday to spoil a furious fourth-quarter Baylor rally and give Houston a 20-18 victory.

Baylor took the kickoff and drove across mid-field, but walk-on kicker Bill Maness missed a 49-yard field goal attempt into the wind with only eight seconds left to seal the victory for Houston.

It was the Southwest Conference opener for both teams. Houston raised its season record to 3-1 and Baylor is winless after four games.

HOUSTON'S WINNING drive started when freshman Robert Mitchell of Baylor fumbled at the Houston 33 after a 30-yard pass completion and Ken Hatfield snatched the ball in midair.

Davis hit a 38-yard pass to Eric Herring to the Baylor 19 and scored the winning touchdown on a two-yard dive with 3:18 left in the game. It was the only time in the second half that Houston was able to move past its own 42-yard line.

Davis' clutch performance ruined a Baylor comeback led by Steve Smith, the nation's fifth leading passer, who guided Baylor to two fourth-quarter touchdowns on the ground.

STEVE HOWELL ran 24 yards on a Smith pitchout for Baylor's first touchdown, and Howard Fields set up Baylor's second touchdown with a 35-yard punt return. Frank Pollard doveCover from the one for the touchdown.

Smith shrugged off three pass interceptions to direct the Baylor touchdown marches of 60 and 32 yards. He was totally ineffective in the first half, however, completing only three of 14 attempts for 23 yards. He had averaged over 16 completions per game in Baylor's three losses and got hot in the second half with nine straight completions.

Houston scored first when Tommy Ebner picked off a Smith pass and dashed 25 yards to the Baylor four. Randy Love scored from the two with 12:25 remaining in the second quarter.

BAYLOR TOOK the kickoff and made its deepest first half penetration — to the Houston 23 — but two Smith passes fell incomplete. On fourth down, Maness drilled a 41-yard field goal, Baylor's first of the season after four misses by Robert Bledsoe.

Houston came right back with a 75-yard drive for its second touchdown, with sub quarterback Elrick Brown hitting Herring for 15 yards and Hubert Miller for 21 to get it started. On a crucial fourth-and-eight, Davis returned to the game while Brown was getting a new jersey and completed a 19-yard pass to Garrett Jurgajtis.

On the next play, Brown through the ball into the hands of Baylor linebacker Mike Singletary in the end zone, but Singletary dropped it. John Newhouse carried Baylor's Ken Griffin into the end zone on a four-yard scoring run.

If it's any consolation, Switzer, Lott, Sims and Anderson agreed Texas was the best team Oklahoma has faced. Switzer did say Missouri's offense was the toughest OU has faced, "those 220-pound backs are tough."

Akers, a winner last year, was on the other side Saturday. In fact, he was in much the same position as Texas Tech's Rex Dockery a week ago in gambling with a freshman quarterback.

"DONNIE PLAYED the second half because of his speed and his ability to scramble. We were hopeful we could get him outside." His was a rugged debut for the Dickinson freshman in this emotion packed series. He gained 33 yards rushing, but was only four for 14 passing for 45 yards with two interceptions.

"They took advantage of the breaks and opportunities they had and we didn't. We made too many mistakes. We had our chances, but we dropped passes and when you fumble snaps from center, you can't believe it is OU's defense," Akers said.

He went on "They earned the victory. We're hurt, but we are not about to shut down at Texas."

Bobcats capture win in cross-country meet

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo's Bobcats won a District 5-4A preview cross country meet here Saturday morning while Midland High, a winner last week, and Midland Lee finished second and third respectively.

San Angelo had 54 points to win while the Bulldogs produced 65 and Lee 92. Big Spring was third with 99 and was followed by Abilene High, 104; Odessa High, 110; Abilene Cooper, 162; and Odessa Permian, 209.

Cooper's David Nelson took top individual honors by winning with a time of 9:51, 10 seconds better than Lee's Steve Hooper, who finished with a 10:01. Midland High's Gene Tuttle was third with a 10:03.

"I guess the bubble just burst this week," said MHS Coach Ed Nixon. "Last week we got off to a good start, but we didn't today. I hope they learned something from the meet though."

Midland High's Bob Glenn placed sixth while Willie Ross was 14th. Other MHS runners were Edward Sotelo, 20th; Kevin Yates, 22nd; Jack Rodriguez, 26th; and William Hopper, 30th.

Lee's Keevin Harper, a junior runner for the first year, made a good showing with a 12th place 10:44 while Jeff Ryan, another first year runner, was 21st with an 11:02. Other Lee finishers were Robert Samuels, 23rd; David Harwell, 34th; Alan Jones, 37th; and Larry Munson, 38th.

In the junior varsity division, Kevin Wood placed 18th for the best MHS showing while Abelino Garcia was 29th, Sonny Boykin, 32nd; and Jerry Navarette, 34th. Lee's Ramon Molinar placed eighth with an 11:27.

In the girls' division, Lee's Holly Franz was seventh.

SMU deadlocks Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fourteenth-ranked Ohio State survived a final-second missed field goal by Eddie Garcia for a 35-35 college football tie Saturday with Southern Methodist, a two-touchdown underdog.

Garcia's field goal bid from 47 yards out sailed wide to the left with two seconds remaining on the clock, leaving Ohio State's 59th straight sell-out crowd of almost 88,000 limp.

Dave Hill's interception of an Art Schlichter pass provided the Mustangs with their final drive toward the field goal. Hill intercepted Schlichter at the Ohio State 37 and SMU's sophomore passing whiz, Mike Ford, led the Mustangs to the Ohio State 29, setting up Garcia's field goal attempt.

Ford, intercepted seven times in a 35-7 defeat by the Buckeyes last season, completed 36 of 57 passes for 341 yards. He figured in four touchdowns for SMU.

Ford ran three times for 1-yard touchdowns and passed 11 yards to Elton Garrett.

Ohio State rallied from a 21-14 halftime deficit, piling up 21 points in the third quarter before Ford scored a pair of touchdowns in the final 15 minutes. The Mustang quarterback ran for two points that tied the score at 35-35 with 3:41 to go.

The Mustangs had lost seven straight times to Buckeye teams coached by Woody Hayes. The tie left both squads with 2-1-1 records.

Schlichter darted 23 yards and gave Ohio State a short-lived 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Four minutes later, Derrek Shelton bulled for score from a yard out and the Mustangs were even at 7-7.

Garrett then caught his 11-yard touchdown pass from Ford and SMU was on top 13-7.

Ohio State regained the lead when Paul Campbell ran 1 yard on the first play of the second quarter. Vlade Janakievski's placement gave the Buckeyes a 14-13 lead.

However, Ford scored on a quarterback sneak and passed for a two-point conversion to Shelton and SMU owned a 21-14 halftime lead.

Ohio State pulled to within 21-20 in the third quarter when linebacker Al Washington recovered Ken Rosenthal's blocked punt as he crossed the goal line. John Epitropoulos had blocked the punt.

Ricky Johnson ran 11 yards and Schlichter 5 yards for scores to give Ohio State a 14-point lead after three quarters, setting up Ford's heroics in the final 15 minutes.

Ohio State escaped with the tie despite another poor performance by Schlichter. The freshman quarterback completed just three of 16 passes for 50 yards and hurled four interceptions. He now has thrown 12 interceptions in his first four college games.

California takes win over Oregon

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Wide receiver Holden Smith caught a 29-yard pass from reserve quarterback Gary Graumann, their second scoring strike of the game, with 1:25 left as California rallied to beat upstart Oregon 21-18 in a Pac-10 football game Saturday.

Smith, who had eight catches for 174 yards, caught the winning pass in the middle of the Oregon defense and raced untouched into the right corner of the end zone to give Cal the victory in the see-saw game.

Oregon had led 11-0 and then 18-14 with just 3:22 left before the winning touchdown.

But Graumann and the running of Paul Jones brought California back. The final Graumann-Smith touchdown capped a 70-yard, six-play drive.

Alabama barely beats Washington

SEATTLE (AP) — Tony Nathan scored the go-ahead touchdown midway through the third period and Jeff Rutledge passed 36 yards to Rick Neal in the fourth quarter Saturday to boost eighth-ranked Alabama to a 20-17 victory over Washington.

Husky quarterback Tom Porras hit Spider Gaines with his second long scoring pass of the game, this one for 58 yards, with 5:54 remaining in the game to close within three points.

The Huskies got the ball again with 3:37 left and, with the aid of a pass-interference penalty, moved to a first down at the Crimson Tide 36. But safety Murray Legg recovered Joe Steele's fumble at the 32 on the next play to kill Washington's chances and boost Alabama's record to 4-1.

Alabama defensive end E.J. Junior dropped punter Aaron Wilson for a 13-yard loss at the Washington 16, and Nathan rammed over the goal line four plays later to give Alabama a 13-10 lead with 6:15 left in the third quarter. Alan McElroy's attempt for the extra point was wide.

Rutledge, Alabama's starting quarterback who alternated throughout the game with Steadman Shealy, hit Neal all alone near the goal line with 8:51 to play for the Tide's final score.

Major Ogilvie's 13-yard scoring run early in the second period capped a 53-yard, nine-play Alabama drive and tied the game at 7-7.

Washington, now 2-3, had taken a 7-0 lead late in the first quarter on Porras' 74-yard scoring bomb to Gaines. Mike Lansford's 37-yard field goal following a Steve Whitman fumble gave the Huskies a 10-7 lead with 2:36 left in the first half.

The Longhorns cashed a break into a second-quarter 27-yard field goal by Erxleben. Fullback Vickey Ray Anderson, playing for King who suffered a hip pointer, fumbled and Henry Williams recovered the ball at the Sooner 3.

Texas fought its way to the Oklahoma 4-yard line. On fourth down, Texas tried to draw Oklahoma off-sides, and when it didn't work, took a delay of game penalty and kicked the field goal.

Oklahoma's Darrol Ray returned an intercepted pass 45 yards just before halftime to set up von Schammann's 35-yard field goal at the half-time gun.

Oklahoma linebacker George Cumby intercepted a Texas pass late in the fourth quarter to set up Overstreet's touchdown.

Texas had a touchdown called back because of a motion penalty after a 6-yard toss from Little to Lam Jones.

Tulane topples Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Junior quarterback Roch Hontas set two Tulane passing records and fired touchdown passes of 12, 15 and four yards Saturday as Tulane defeated sagging Vanderbilt 38-3 in non-conference college football.

Hontas threw a 12-yard scoring strike to Rodney Holman and a 15-yarder to Marcus Anderson to build Tulane's halftime lead to 21-7.

Hontas hit Marvin Christian on a four-yard pass and Ed Murray kicked a 24-yard field goal in the third quarter to ice the game for Tulane. Defensive back Ricky Dunaway got visiting Tulane's first touchdown when he blocked a first-quarter punt and returned it 23 yards into the end zone.

Tech drive and fullback James Hadnot ran 30 yards to the Aggie 23. Reeves then hit Brian Nelson for 13 yards to the Aggie seven before the drive bogged down.

Armstrong then fumbled on A&M's offensive play and Tech defensive end Jeff McKinney recovered at the Aggies' 11. Adams booted his second field goal after a third-down pass sailed off Godfrey Turner's fingertips in the end zone.

By the fourth quarter, the Aggie defense was asserting itself against the Tech attack. The Aggies, who have allowed only one touchdown this season, forced Adams' third field goal late in the third quarter and stopped another Tech drive at the A&M 16 with 9:37 to play.

Wright leads UNM to win

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Quarterback Brad Wright led New Mexico to two fourth-quarter touchdowns Saturday as the Lobos mounted an explosive rally to defeat Wyoming 19-15 in a Western Athletic Conference college football game.

Dan Christopoulos' three field goals and a 75-yard touchdown run by tailback Myron Hardeman had put Wyoming ahead 15-0 as the fourth quarter began.

Wright then combined passes to Ricky Martin and Mike Foster with his own running to set up New Mexico's first score, a 1-yard end run by tailback Mike Carter with 9:42 remaining. Carter ran for the two-point conversion.

Hardeman's fumble in Wyoming territory two plays later set up a 15-yard pass from Wright to Mark Williams and a 15-yard touchdown run by Wright. Wright then pitched out to Carter, who passed to Walt Arnold for another two-point conversion to give New Mexico a 16-15 lead before the stunned Wyoming homecoming crowd.

New Mexico's Allan Moore then kicked a 31-yard field goal after an interception by Doug

New Mexico is now 1-1 in the WAC and 3-2 overall. Wyoming is 0-1 in WAC play and 1-3 overall.

Arkansas rips Frogs as Calcagni sparkles

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Quarterback Ron Calcagni threw one touchdown pass and guided Arkansas to three other touchdowns as the fourth-ranked Razorbacks opened their Southwest Conference season with a 42-3 victory over Texas Christian Saturday night.

It was the Razorbacks' 20th straight victory over the Horned Frogs, who now are 1-3. Arkansas is 4-0.

Calcagni and the Razorbacks had little trouble getting outside against the Frogs. Calcagni took Arkansas on touchdown drives of 59 yards on 10 plays and 35 yards on three plays the first two times the Razorbacks got the ball.

Arkansas, with Calcagni at quarterback, went 65 yards in four plays on its first possession of the second half to make it 35-3. The drive included a 36-yard pass interference penalty.

The Razorbacks scored touchdowns five of the first seven times they had the ball. One possession ended in a punt, and another ended in an errant field goal attempt.

TCU did not reach its 40-yard line until it was 21-0 in the second quarter.

Running back Jerry Eckwood, a starter in the Razorbacks' first three games, did not start against TCU, but scored Arkansas' first and third touchdowns on short runs.

Whites upset Orange by 8-6

Austin White upset Austin Orange, 8-6, Saturday to throw a little spice in the ninth grade football action.

Edison Purple also came away with a 18-6 win over Odessa Bowie Saturday, but Edison Gold dropped a 14-0 decision to Odessa Hood after two touchdowns were called back in the first period on penalties.

In other ninth grade games involving Odessa schools, Bonham ripped Nimitz, 14-0, while Crockett ran over Ector, 20-6.

There were not too many bright spots on the home front in eighth grade action as all three local teams lost to Odessa schools. San Jacinto dropped a 14-0 decision to Hood while Blackshear blanked Goddard, 16-0. Nimitz also defeated Alamo, 14-6. In the only other eighth grade game, Bowie and Crockett fought to a 6-6 standoff.

LSU hands Gators loss

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — With devastating power up the middle and flashy outside speed, tailback Charles Alexander ran the 11th-ranked Louisiana State Tigers to a 34-21 Southeastern Conference victory over the Florida Gators Saturday night.

Alexander, a leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy and already LSU's all-time career offense record holder, ran through and around Florida for 156 yards in 40 carries, and scored one touchdown.

The Tigers dominated the line of scrimmage on defense as well as offense, forcing three fumbles and intercepting three passes. Quarterbacks David Woodley and Steve Ensminger and wide receiver Mike Quintela joined Alexander in short runs for touchdowns and Mike Conway booted field goals from 42 and 25 yards.

Florida was throttled without earning a first down six of the first seven times the Gator had the ball. LSU built a 17-7 halftime lead.

The Tigers appeared in command with a 27-7 lead late in the third quarter, but a fumble when they appeared about to score again fired up Florida for a last-ditch effort to pull an upset.

Maryland romps past North Carolina State

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A 98-yard kickoff return by Steve Atkins and Steve Trimble's fumble recovery in the North Carolina State end zone on the ensuing kickoff sparked 12th-ranked Maryland to a 31-7 victory over the 20th-ranked Wolfpack Saturday.

The two lightning touchdowns came after quarterback Scott Smith scored for State on a two-yard run early in the third quarter, and broke open the battle between the Atlantic Coast Conference unbeaten.

The Terps have now won nine in a row, including five this season. State had a six-game winning streak broken and is now 4-1 this season.

Atkins, Maryland's powerful tailback, was held to 55 yards in 17 carries as Maryland took a 10-0 half-time lead. But after his long scoring jaunt, he also ran 50 yards from scrimmage on his next carry and finished with 132 yards.

Maryland scored on an eight-yard run by Alvin Maddox and the 38-yard field goal by Ed Loncar on its first two possessions and added a fourth quarter score on a nine-yard pass from Tim O'Hare to Gary Ellis.

State, which advanced beyond mid-field only once in the first half, scored in the third period after recovering a Maryland fumble on the Terp's 33. Ted Brown, State's leading rusher, was limited to 78 yards while playing with a bruised right knee.

Austin College wins

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Kelly Hyde, making his first start after shifting from the tailback position, sprinted for 27 yards for a touchdown that broke a scoreless tie in the fourth quarter as Austin College whipped Sul Ross 17-0 in a Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association football game Saturday.

Hyde's touchdown came with 13:22 left in the game, and Austin College added a 20-yard field goal by Gordon Eiland on its next possession.

Freshman reserve fullback Ricky Turner burst 44 yards for the final touchdown as Austin College improved its record to 2-2 in TIAA action and 2-3 overall. Sul Ross fell to 1-4 overall and 1-3 in league play.

Rebel Express wins 5-4A grid opener; Bulldogs shut out

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Midland Lee won a big one and Midland High dropped an important one, and that just about sums up the opening week of District 5-4A football action.

Lee preserved a 21-20 victory over Odessa High with an important defensive stand on a late fourth quarter two-point conversion play and the Bulldogs lost a 28-0 decision to Odessa Permian as the offense went kaput.

Lee coach Gil Bartosh was pleased with his Rebels' important win over one of the 5-4A contenders.

"Odessa High has a fine football team. They are one of the top teams in the state and Friday's game didn't change our opinion of that," Bartosh said. "It was an exciting game for the fans and for me too. I thought both teams played very well.

"I was pleased with the way our team stuck together and came up with two big plays. We held them on a fourth and one situation and, of course, we made a good play on the conversion attempt. We were ready on the conversion play. They ran sort of a slant sweep and we had four or five players coming into the area. I think three of our guys were there for the tackle a yard short of the goal.

"We were a little disappointed in our tackling, especially on some third down plays. Odessa's backs may have had a little to do with that and maybe the off week contributed to it too. Still, we will correct that this week.

"When we lost linebacker Mike McCrea in the third period, that hurt us some, but our kids held their poise. We had some injuries in the game. Mark Thompson has a concussion and may be out a week, and three or four others have sprained ankles and we will have to wait and see about them. I think most of them will be back.

"It was an important win for us since it was the first district game. It should provide us with some momentum. Odessa threw in some new looks, but we adjusted real well, and I'm just happy with the way things turned out. I know I enjoyed the game, and we had a good crowd for a good game."

It was a disappointing opening for Midland High, but Coach Dennis Hays doesn't want his defensive unit to go unnoticed despite the 28-0 score.

"People who didn't see the game just wouldn't know how well our defense team played," Hays said. "They did everything we asked of them. We stopped Permian so many times in the four down zone, but the defense was on the field for 80 plays and that is just too much to ask. Rick Ankerholz was just super. He may have been the best player on the field. Also Todd Liberty, Link Grimes and Jerry Zachry were outstanding.

"Offensively, our problems stem from the lack of execution. Permian played well, but they didn't shut our offense down as much as they failed to do ourselves. We just didn't execute. Permian didn't do anything we didn't expect, but we couldn't do what we wanted to offensively.

"Permian got some breaks in the game. On one key screen pass they ran, the official threw a flag for an illegal receiver down field, but they never gave anyone a penalty and they never explained why.

"We also needed to get some kind of score there on that first series when we got that fumble deep in Permian's territory. Permian made a good play on third down and we missed a field goal. We feel like we need to score when that type of situation arises.

"We have a young offensive team, and I still think they are going to improve and make themselves heard."

And now for week two.

last Giant victory was 14-6 at Texas Stadium in 1974. The overall series is a lopsided 23-9-2 Dallas margin.

"The Giants are a very good team and this will be one our toughest games to bounce off a Monday night game," said Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

The Cowboys usually give the Giants as big buildup. For example, quarterback Roger Staubach will tell you about their improved pass defense. Staubach's career record against the Giants? Thirteen wins and one loss — and 17 touchdown passes.

Martin only played the first half against the Giants last month. He kicked Giant fullback Willie Spencer after getting hot about Spencer blocking at the Cowboy defensive end's knees. Martin was ejected from the game for the first time in his career.

"I thought they took some cheap shots at me and we'll see how brave they are in our stadium," Martin said then.

The improving Giants also are 3-2 in the National Conference East. They lost 23-20 to the Atlanta Falcons last Sunday.

Coach John McVay said: "We're making big progress but the division is really getting cluttered. Washington is off to a strong (5-0) start. This is a very important game for us but there is still a lot of football to be played."

The Cowboys have again gone into a midseason slump, characteristic of past Landry teams.

For example, the Cowboys were 3-2 in 1973 but went on to win the East Division title. In 1971, Dallas was 3-2 and went on to capture its first Super Bowl. Last year Dallas dropped two straight games at midseason and then won Super Bowl XII.

But he retired John Wathan on a long fly to right field, escaping further damage.

After Nettles tied the score in the second, Leonard and Guidry settled into an impressive pitching duel. The Yankee left-hander eased his way out of a two-on, two-out jam in the fourth.

He also escaped danger in the fifth after Willie Wilson opened with a single and stole second but was thrown out trying to swipe third.

out all season for the Eastern champions.

Through nine innings, the game was a combination of record performances and missed opportunities.

The Phillies loaded the bases in the opening frame off starter Doug Rau, but couldn't score. Schmidt doubled to lead off, Bowa walked, and Maddox singled.

Luzinski, who homered in the third, struck out in the first. Rau got Jose Cardenal on a liner to shortstop and Jerry Martin fouled to the catcher to end the inning.

Cey doubled with one out in the Dodger second and scored on Baker's single to left. Russell also singled, but then Phillies starter Randy Lerch retired the next two batters.

Bowa singled with one out in the third, Maddox flied out, then Luzinski belted his two-run homer 385 feet to left-center field.

Cey's 390-foot homer to left tied the score 2-2 in the fourth.

Schmidt walked to open the Phillies' fifth but was out trying to steal second. In the Dodgers' fifth, Rau was lifted for pinch-hitter Manny Mota, who sacrificed Steve Yeager to second before the final two batters were retired.

Garvey, on a count of one strike and one ball, belted his fourth homer of this championship series over the left field fence. It was the sixth time he had homered in championship series competition, breaking the record of five held jointly by Sal Bando and Reggie Jackson of the American League.

It also was the 12th run scored by Garvey in NL championship competition, bettering the mark of 11 by Cincinnati's Pete Rose.

The homer brought reliever Warren Brusstar in to pitch for the Phillies.

Pinch-hitter Bake McBride, batting for Brusstar against reliever Rick Rhoden, collected a home run in the Phillies' seventh on a 350-foot shot inside the right-field foul pole — again knotting the count.

With two out in the eighth, Rhoden pitched carefully to Luzinski and on the final throw gave him an intentional walk. Cardenal singled, but then Martin struck out to end the inning.

The Dodgers failed to capitalize on three eighth-inning hits. Garvey blooped an infield single but was out trying to steal before Baker collected his fourth hit — a single — and went to second on another hit by Russell.

Pinch-hitter Lee Lacy fouled out to the catcher, ending the inning.

Arlington Lamar in squeaker

By The Associated Press David Cunningham lofted a 50-yard scoring pass to Rich Thompson late in the fourth quarter, lifting 3rd-ranked Arlington Lamar to a dramatic 15-14 come-from-behind victory over upstart Haltom City Friday night.
Haltom City quarterback Tim Sanders tried to stage a comeback of his own, hitting Troy Kates with a 29-yard scoring strike with less than two minutes to play.
But an ineligible receive and the referee's flag called it back.
Carl Robinson sprinted

for two touchdowns and Mark McQueen tossed for two more as Temple, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press Schoolboy
Football Poll, raced to a 35-0 victory over Waco University.
Herkie Walls rambled
63 yards for one score and threw a 40-yard strike for another as 2nd-ranked Garland rolled to an easy 27-0 win over Corsicana.
Both Scott Parks' interception and Mike Chi-twood's mid-air theft of a fumble set up touchdowns as Lake Highlands stunned 8th-ranked Highland Park, 25-15.

Corpus Christi Carroll,
No. 6, thumped Corpus Christi Ray, 21-7; Odessa
Permian, No. 7, trounced
Midland, 28-0; and La-Porte nudged Rayburn,
14-11.
Huntsville managed three fourth-quarter touchdowns to guard its top billing in class 3A with a 21-7 win over Houston Furr.
Quarterback Lloyd Archie galloped 40 yards for Huntsville's first score and set up with the second Hornet score with a nifty 44 yard punt return.

Brandon Carroll rambled for 266 yards and two touchdowns as 2nd-ranked Gonzales crushed Port Lavaca, 56-0. Along the way the Apaches collected 32 first downs, amassed 540 total yards and ground out 466 of that on the ground.
Brownwood, No. 4, trimmed Bowie, 25-7; Raymondville, No. 5, strolled to a 20-0 win over Edcouch-Elsa; Bay City
stomped Hitchcock, 30-3;
Fort Stockton, No. 7, crushed to a 22-0 win over Sweetwater; and 9th-ranked Pecos strolled to a 26-6 win over Alpine.

Friendswood, No. 8, was the only ranked class 3A team to lose Friday, as it was lounded by Brazosport 35-7.
Top-ranked Mount Vernon had the night off and 2nd-ranked class 2A Newtown might as well have, blasting Hemphill 69-6.
Wills Point, its squad decimated by 14 suspensions related to vandalism of its opponents high school, managed to upend Grand Saline 14-7.
In all 29 students were suspended after an estimated $3,000 damage was done to Grand Saline High. Eight of the suspended 14 players were starters.
Bridgeport, No. 3, bombed Granbury, 37-3; 4th-ranked Muleshoe edged Abertown, 26-20; Cameron, No. 5, outdistanced Waco, 32-14; 6th-ranked Port Isabel defeated Sharyland, 33-13; 7th-ranked Sealy
clobbered Rice Consolidated, 44-14; Breckenridge, No. 8, dropped
Clyde, 21-0; Childress,
No. 9, shelled Clarendon,
35-8 and Tahoka, N. 10, crushed Cooper, 41-0.
Tony Don Craddock's four first-half touchdowns led top-ranked Farmersville to a 55-6 rout over Coppell. But 2nd-ranked Grapeland found more than it could handle in Groveton, losing 9-0.
DeLeon, No. 4, popped
Bangs, 42-8; unheralded
Knox City upset 6th-ranked Haskell, 63-3; Wellington, No. 8, beat Electra, 24-14; and 10th-ranked Charlotte rolled to a 26-6 win over Natalia.

Tennessee romps by Army, 31-13

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Quarterback Jimmy
Streater ran for two touchdowns and monsterman
Greg Gaines picked off an interception for another score in a third quarter scoring blitz to give Tennessee a 31-13 victory over Army in a non-conference college football game Saturday.
Streater scored on runs of 47 and three yards and Gaines snared Army quarterback Earl Mulrane's loss for flanker Mike Fahneszack on the Cadets' 31 and streaked to the end zone, giving the Vols their first victory in four games.
Gaines' interception, putting Tennessee on top 31-7 going into the final quarter, occurred on the second play and just 40 seconds after Streater's three-yard scoring punch with 2:05 left in third period.
Streater ran the 47 yards for his first score 4 1/2 minutes after the second half opened.
The Vols opened up a 10-point lead on a two-yard touchdown punge by tailback Kelsey Finch and a 32-yard field goal by Alan Duncan in the first period.
Mulrane brought the Cadets back by sneaking one yard across the goal to climax a 71-yard drive in the second quarter.

Nebraska blanks Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP) —
Quarterback Tom Sorley ran for one touchdown and passed for another and the Nebraska defense shut down 15th-ranked Iowa State's offense as the No. 10
Cornhuskers swept to a 23-0 victory Saturday in the Big Eight Conference opener for both teams.
The victory avenged losses to the Cyclones the previous two years. Nebraska, 4-1, now leads the series 57-14-2.
A stingy Cornhusker defense held Iowa State to just one earned first down in each of the first three quarters and allowed the Cyclones into Nebraska territory only four times during the game.
Nebraska scored on its first possession with 7:47 left in the opening period when Sorley went in from a yard out. The touchdown capped a 10-play drive that began on the Cornhuskers' 44 after an Iowa State punt.
Nebraska made it 9-0 at halftime on a 32-yard field goal by Billy Todd with just two seconds left in the second quarter.

Missouri blasts Illinois, 45-3

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Phil Bradley completed 12 of 16 passes in the first half, one a 70-yard touchdown bomb to Stevie Sly, in driving Missouri to a 45-3 romp over Illinois in nonconference collegiate football Saturday.
The 6-foot Bradley, an Illinois product, plummeted his home-state school by finding the range on 14 of 21 aerials overall. The tosses accounted for 189 yards as Missouri avenged two consecutive upset defeats at the hands of the Illini and boosted its record to 3-2.
The Tigers then increased their margin to 10-0 on Jeff Brockhaus' 21-yard field goal and went in front 17-0 late in the opening period when Bradley and the speedy Sly teamed up on their long pass play.
The victory margin was Missouri's widest in 10 contests against its across-the-river rival. Illinois, which gained only 200 yards to the Tigers' 429, fell to 1-3-1.

Colorado tops Kansas in Big 8 tilt, 17-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado held Kansas on a first-and-goal inside the 5-yard line and then marched 96 yards for a third-quarter touchdown, with fullback James Mayberry.
The Jayhawks trailed 10-0 midway through the third period when freshman linebacker Earnest Hegwood intercepted a Bill Solomon pass over the middle, giving Kansas position at the Colorado 36.
Junior tailback Mike Higgins then dashed to the 2-yard line, but that was as close as the Jayhawks got. Three plays later, on a pitch-out to left side, tailback Bobby Barrow fumbled and Colorado took over at the four.
The Buffaloes then drove the length of the field for their insurance score, highlighted by Mayberry's 25-yard run up the middle and Solomon's 15-yard run on a keeper. Mayberry scored with 3:20 left in the period for a 17-0 lead.
In the final quarter, Kansas put on a long march of its own, going 92 yards for its lone TD. Tailback Dan Wagoner caught a 23-yard pass from quarterback Harry Sydney for the score.
Colorado's earlier scores came on a 33-yard field goal by Pete Dadiotis in the first quarter and Solomon's 23-yard TD pass to tight end Greg Gossett for 12 and 10 yards following a fumble and an interception. All extra points were good.
Colorado now is 5-0 on the season, while Kansas dropped to 1-4.

New York Times to pay in discrimination lawsuit

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times will pay $233,500 in annuities to long-term women employees as part of a settlement of a class action suit charging the paper with bias against women in hiring.

The settlement of the suit, filed in 1974 by six women employees of the Times and later extended to a class action suit on behalf of all women employees at the paper, was announced Friday at a hearing before Magistrate Sol Schreiber. The agreement is subject to a final hearing and approval by U.S. District Court Judge Henry F. Werker.

The Times agreed it would try to place women in a certain percentage of openings in each of about two dozen categories — including top management — over the next four years.

The interim goals range from 12.5 percent in the top category to 40 percent in several sales, office and clerical and technical categories. Spokesmen for the two sides in the suit differed on which side got the better of the settlement.

Harriet Rabb, director of Columbia University's Employment Rights Project, which represented the women, said the settlement was "unprecedented" because it commits the Times "to place women in one out of every eight of the top corporate positions during the four-year life of the settlement."

James C. Goodale, executive vice president of the New York Times Co., called her explanation "poppycock." He said the existing affirmative action plan drawn up by the Times already committed the newspaper to hire women as top executives.

He said that under the existing plan, the Times planned to hire 167 women in all categories. Under the new plan, he said, the number was increased to 168.

Ms. Rabb said the Times offered the annuities, which can be held to maturity or cashed at any time the holder desires, "in an effort to camouflage the fact that they were giving back pay."

However, Goodale said the annuity program "is not a hush-up or a cover-up of back pay," he said.

Goodale said the Times agreed to the annuity payments because it recognized that "society has in the past burdened some women in ways that prevented or delayed career advancement or denied equal opportunity."

Goodale said, "We regard today's announcement as total vindication of the New York Times and as full refutation of the charges against us."

Tournament polo makes Midland comeback

A polo match is an exciting contest between two teams of expert horsemen. Each team tries to score goals by hitting a ball through the opponent's goal posts with long mallets. In the center photo, the player tries to control the ball through close coordination between himself and his horse. A polo pony is especially trained to quickly obey its rider's command to stop or change directions.

High-goal tournament polo is returning to Midland under the auspices of the National Polo Association and the Midland Polo Club. The two groups will be hosting two national polo tournaments Oct. 20-29 at the Midland Polo Grounds.

The first weekend's action will be highlighted by the Inter-Circuit finals on Sunday, Oct. 22, at the Midland Polo Club located on North Garfield St. This tournament will feature teams from Tucson, Ariz., Tulsa, Okla., Wichita Falls, and a team from as far away as Maryland.

Second week's action, the National Chairman's Cup Tournament, a 12 goal competition, has teams entered from Colorado, Midland, Dallas (two teams), Houston (two teams), as well as teams from the Inter-Circuit tournament. Finals for this tournament will be Sunday, Oct. 29.

All games will be played at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. both Sundays. The social highlight of the tournament will be the Polo Ball slated Saturday night, Oct. 28. The Polo Ball will be a charity affair to benefit the Permian Basin Civic Ballet Association.

Private parties will be given throughout the week of guests. Out-of-city guests will be those arriving in conjunction with polo teams and those flying in from around the country just for this event.

Among the guests who will be anxiously awaiting the festivities are Lawrence Marcus, Patty Hunt Williams, Chuck Leatherwood, Robert Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dedman, all prominent Dallas residents; Richard Rivers of Lexington, Ky., producer of new movie being released soon called "Run For Roses"; Simon Millar of London, England, investor coming just for the matches; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Holden of Los Angeles, Dr. Bill Lockridge of Lexington, one of the top veterinarians for race horses in the United States, and "Big John" Hamilton of San Antonio, one of the oldtime movie stars who appeared in the movie, "The Alamo."

A barbecue dinner is planned Oct. 27, by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wilson at their ranch for 123 out-of-city guests and Midland guests. The event begins at 8 p.m. and there will be an orchestra for dancing. The following day there will be a luncheon and that night will be the Polo Ball.

On Oct. 29, there will be polo games all day, with a champagne party afterwards at the Polo Club for sponsors and box holders. For more information, contact the National Polo Association, 684-5567.

Counting Dawna Parrott's trophies, ribbons, saddles and miscellaneous winner's paraphernalia is a frustrating task.

After tallying four saddles, 15 silver belt buckles, 100 plus trophies and 30 blue ribbons in her parent's family room on Andrew's Hwy. she quietly announces her bedroom is also full and some of her winnings are boxed up.

At 14, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Parrott may be setting some kind of record as one who rides, trains and shows her Appaloosa champion horses in competitions throughout the country.

For those unfamiliar with the Appaloosa breed, the chief characteristics are a mottled skin (spots), striped feet and some kind of color.

Dawna began riding at the age of nine on a grade gelding named "Blue." Her current number one horse, Navahoe, is accomplished in the three areas in which Dawna competes—Rail Events (horsemanship), Speed Events (barrel and pole racing) and Cattle Events (break away roping and cutting—in which the horse must separate an animal from a herd and keep it from re-entering. Here the rider must know cattle as well as horses since the animals react instinctively and at a rapid pace).

Dawna now takes three horses with her to each competition to give her talented Navahoe a breather.

When Dawna's parents got Navahoe three years ago, he was two years old and had been ridden a total of 30 days. Dawna learned to ride Navahoe as he was broken in. "I was trained along with the horse so I know what his faults are," says the ninth grader at Edison Freshman School.

The late L.E. Cook, a longtime Midland cowboy who, according to Dawna, "cowboyed when nobody else could make a living of it," gets much of the credit for her current accomplishments. Others include Joe Thorp, Sharon Cobb, Russ Hudspeth and Marcie Stimmell.

Dawna drills Navahoe and her two other Appaloosas when they have demonstrated in competition that they've forgotten part of their training. Otherwise, she just spends her time with them, keeping them in shape by riding them three miles a day. "I probably couldn't start off training a green horse," she said, "but I can keep the ones I have going."

Her teachers have always been understanding about the time spent outside of Midland, she said.

Each school year begins with her mother informing teachers of her competition schedule. The teachers give Dawna her work to take with her and she manages to maintain an "A" or "B" grade average as well as to play on the school's basketball team. Each new competition, Dawna and the three horses are driven to the event by either her father, mother or grandfather.

A few of her accomplishments, which include the title of West Texas Appaloosa Horse Club Queen for two years, are high point in the 1977 Winter National (for high point the horse and rider must place consistently in all events), high point in the 1977 Texas International and high point in the 1977 Youth Congress, all in Waco. High point in the 1978 EPS Charity Show in Odessa, a cut in the Women's West Place in the National Ap-she made the finals in the World Playoff in Oklahoma City, Okla., for the English Hunt Seat, reserve high point youth in Nationals in Billings, Mont., and high point in the 1979 show season in the Heart of Texas Fair.

Dawna shows almost exclusively in Appaloosa competition against both those her age and those in the adult and trainer division.

Mary J. Goodwin, who lives in Midland with her husband, Lemuel, a retired Army major, has written and had published the first of a series of shivery mysteries entitled "The Mystery of the Baroque Pearl."

The author, a writer of short stories, articles and poetry for children, is well qualified to write about the setting, Japan, because she lived in that country for three years and eight months in a house similar to those in the mystery novel.

Ms. Goodwin has worked for several newspapers, both in advertising and as a feature writer, and was acting editor on a weekly where she did everything but society. Her articles have appeared in Beehive, The Retired Officer Magazine, Sunday-Magazines, and her short stories have been in two collections, both children and adult.

The second book of the mystery series is ready to go to print and she is working on a third.

Seventh of Seven Sisters led by female

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) — The brilliant reds and yellows of fall welcome the native's return to a campus she knew differently at a different time.

In 1960, when Elizabeth Topham Kennan graduated summa cum laude from Mount Holyoke College, the falling leaves drifted to a less complicated ground. Now, as the president of the venerable women's institution, she will tread on soil fraught with all the complexities of college administration in the inflation-filled '70s.

Ms. Kennan's inauguration Saturday as the first woman president of Mount Holyoke in 41 years — replacing David B. Truman, who is retiring — marks the first time that all Seven Sister colleges have female heads.

The name was coined for seven exclusive eastern women's colleges — the others are Bryn Mawr, Vassar, Smith, Barnard, Radcliffe and Wellesley. One, Vassar, now has become a totally coed institution.

At Mount Holyoke, Ms. Kennan says she wants to preserve a college that is for women only.

"The difficulty of any coed institution is that it doesn't offer a particular opportunity to face and come to terms with one's identity or offer strengthening to a young woman in her personal or professional development," said Ms. Kennan.

"Women themselves are realizing that by being here they forge an invisible bond with other women who have had extraordinary careers and have made personal sacrifices," she said. "That sense of community with a large body of women is a bond that gives them roots. Those roots are a source of strength."

Wellesley College also is dedicated to preserving itself as a single sex institution, and its president, Barbara Newell, said this decision was made after a four-year study.

"It was crucial in the present social structure to maintain some educational institutions that take their women seriously as individuals," she said. "We also find women's colleges have been far more receptive to women faculty."

Ms. Kennan concedes that women's colleges are not ideal for every woman, but she feels they are an important alternative.

Though strictly speaking she is not a native of Mount Holyoke — she was born in Philadelphia — it was here she began the education that led to her specialty in medieval monasticism and intellectual history. She is a former associate professor at The Catholic University of America and has served on the President's Emergency Advisory Board on University Finance.

One area where Ms. Kennan feels women's colleges have fallen behind coed schools is in women's athletics, and she said more of her $17-million budget eventually will go for a better athletic program.

Another area of improvement she is thinking of is in "strengthening liberal arts rather than diluting" them, which has happened over the past 15 years as more women studied for business and the professions.

The chief administrative problem Ms. Kennan faces is inflation. When she was a student at Mount Holyoke, tuition, room and board amounted to $2,500. Today's Holyoke student annually pays $6,300.

"Every year we try to hold the line on tuition and make tuition increases as little as we can," she said. "Holyoke was always for students who were members of the middle class and it always had a high percentage of scholarship students. Our founder,

Infrared aids in detection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Infrared devices have provided sharp new eyes for focusing on hazards faced by firefighters and airline passengers, according to the National Geographic Society.

Developed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in Boulder, Colo., the devices pinpoint forest fires, warn of clear air turbulence and detect dangerous wind shears at landing fields.

Scientists are testing a scanning radiometer that can see through the thickest smoke generated by forest fires and zero in on the exact location of a blaze.

From 30,000 feet, the device can map almost 4,000 square miles in just 45 minutes, the Society said.

Mary Lyon, wanted a schoolteacher to be able to pay out of her earnings in order to go to school. So she charged $40.

"We've had an elegant frugality from the beginning. We don't want to price ourselves out."

But there's also the problem of setting salaries for faculty and other staff at a fair level, she said, and the threat to the institution's independence posed by federal aid.

Disabled children make music

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. (AP) — When the music starts in Pat Ilika's class, the handicaps don't disappear, they're just forgotten.

Children in wheelchairs — some unable to walk, use their hands or hold their heads up straight — learn they can make music as well as the next child.

Ms. Ilika is a registered music therapist, a specialist who uses music as a tool to promote the physical, emotional and social growth of handicapped children.

At the Courage Center rehabilitation program, she works with 60 preschoolers suffering from handicaps ranging from cerebral palsy to brain damage at birth.

Blonde-haired Holly, strapped into a small wheelchair, joined a group of eight children for music class on a recent morning.

During a song in which the children clapped their hands to the beat of a piano march, the 4-year-old enthusiastically struggled to raise her hands a few inches above her wheelchair tray — as far as she could manage.

"Good clapping, Holly," praised Ms. Ilika.

At a typical session, children might sing, wave scarves to music or make their own music with drums, tambourines, bells, kazooes and other instruments.

"I try to emphasize action," explained Ms. Ilika, 23. "These kids are used to hearing what they can't do, so I emphasize what they can do."

She cited the case of a 4-year-old girl who has no use of her legs. "We were singing a song about stamping feet, so she reached down to grab her leg by the trouser and started moving her leg up and down. That's terrific, because she's stamping her feet as best she can."

"I wouldn't avoid a song about stamping feet just because some kids can't do it the same way. We all have our handicaps we have to deal with as best we can."

Miss Harvey, Jerry Brumley wed in church

Tanya Lynn Harvey and Jerry William Brumley were married at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Fannin Terrace Baptist Church. The Rev. Ben Walker officiated the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Harvey Jr., 3602 Andrews Highway, are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brumley of Stanton.

After a trip to Ruidoso and Red River, N.M., the couple will reside at 4405 N. Garfield St.

Mr. Harvey presented his daughter in marriage. She wore an A-line silhouette of silk sheer and Venise laces. The fitted Empire bodice was overlaid with Venise appliques forming a yoke and scallops edging the Queen Anne neckline. The sheer bishop sleeves were gathered to lace-edged cuffs. Tiny Venise lace traced the waistline and into window pane panels in the skirt. Sata peau bordered the hemline, which was traced with lace the full length of the chapel train. Her mantilla veil of imported French illusion was edged in matching lace and flowed beyond the train. She carried a cascade of tangerine carnations and baby's breath.

Tracy Harvey was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Leta Herzog of Midland, Noni Davis of Houston and Kimberly Vincent of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride. Keely Vincent of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

W. C. "Skeeter" Straub of Stanton was best man. The groomsmen were

Mrs. Jerry William Brumley

Donnie Thompson, brother of the bridegroom, and Darrel Thompson of Stanton and Ramon Meek, cousin of the bridegroom, Tobin Harvey, brother of the bride, and Allan Daggett were the ushers. The ring bearer was Gary Don Thompson of Stanton, nephew of the bridegroom.

Music was provided by Dorothy Matthews, organist, and Lisa Helm and Meek, soloists.

The reception was held in the church.

DEAR ABBY

'Wet Alarm' can solve problem

By ABIGAIL VANBUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate and in tears. I can't take it any more! I have a 7-year-old son who still wets his bed. I have taken him to our pediatrician who sent us to a neurologist. They both said there was nothing physically wrong with the boy. I have spanked him, taken away his favorite TV shows, and even told him he couldn't play outdoors or go any place special if he wet the bed the night before.

I even tried making him wash his own pajamas and the bedsheet, but that didn't help.

To top it all off, my 4-year-old who stopped wetting his bed two years ago has now started in again! I guess he thinks if his big brother does it, it's okay for him, too!

My 7-year-old quit for five days straight before his birthday because he thought he'd get more presents, so I know he CAN quit.

I'm expecting another baby in four months. Then I'll have THREE kids wetting the bed.

I'm ready to give up hope. Please help me, Abby!—HOPELESS

DEAR HOPELESS: If the doctors assure you that there is nothing physically wrong with the boy, try the "Wet Alarm" (Sears' catalogue lists it).

I've had hundreds of readers tell me that this solved the problem when all else failed. I hope it works for you, but if it doesn't quietly change the sheets and make no mention of the wet bed whatsoever. No shaming and no punishments. Just total silence.

DEAR ABBY: I am a former GI, married to a girl from Southeast Asia. My problem is that she keeps after me constantly to send money over there to her family. I have been sending as much as I can, but it keeps me broke.

Abby, we are depriving ourselves of the necessities—like a telephone and new tires for our old car. We can't even pay some of our own bills, and she keeps begging and begging me to send more and more to her people. I work to support her and that's all I can do.

Please advise us both, Abby. And thank you.—30 AND DRAINED

DEAR DRAINED: If you're the only one working in your family (and I assume you are), it's time you learned how to say, "Enough is enough."

Those who have money should help those who do not, but you should allocate a set sum to send to her family—and not a dime more. Explain this to your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I always wanted my husband to wear a wedding band, so I saved up my money and bought one for him. He acted pleased when I gave it to him, but he wore it only a few times.

Every time I asked him why he wasn't wearing his wedding band he'd say, "I forgot it."

I just couldn't believe he was that forgetful, but when I try to get the REAL reason out of him, he gets mad and won't talk, and I end up crying myself to sleep.

I finally came to the conclusion that either he doesn't want to be married, or he doesn't want other people to know he's married.

Outside of this, he's a wonderful husband and father and he says he loves me. What do you think?—HURT

DEAR HURT: If he's a wonderful husband and father and he says he loves you, believe him and don't look for problems where none apparently exists, or you might create one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "YOUNG PHILOSOPHER IN ST."

AUGUSTINE, FLA.": For every maxim expressing one philosophy, you will find another expressing the contrary. Example: "The squeaking wheel gets the grease." And "the quacking duck gets shot."

Women electricians see bright future ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Darlene Mitchell, Mary Jenkins, Pam Burns and Chris Johnson recently started new jobs. The work, they say, lights up their lives but, they hope, it will never be shocking.

They are electricians, the total work force of Electric Unlimited, Co. Steve Hatfield, 27, company owner, had good reason for hiring them.

"I can't find any reliable guys," he said. "These women are just as good as guys on the job, sometimes better — more dextrous. They're willing to work, and we haven't had any problems, except some of the male construction workers getting a little goggle-eyed when they first go out on a job."

The women are taking on-the-job training and Hatfield figures Mrs. Mitchell, 21, is "about ready to go out on the truck by herself."

She got her first taste of the work when she was 17 and a high school friend's father "let me help him on the job as part of a school work-study program."

"Actually, I've always been interested in electricity, maybe because my own father was scared of it," she added.

Mrs. Mitchell said she learned more about being an electrician during three years in the Army before she married Glen Mitchell.

After five weeks on the job, Mrs. Burns, 32, said she had learned "it's not as hard as I thought." She says her husband and two daughters are delighted with her job.

Couples announce engagements

HEWITT-SCOTT

Rainbow Girls install officers

Sharla Dawn Southerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Southerland, 2903 Rebel Drive, was installed as worthy advisor of Norman Read Assembly No. 299, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in a ceremony Saturday in the Masonic Temple.

The opening drill was performed by the retiring officers. The Bible was presented by Jeff Snell, and Brandi Linne presented the emblem.

The invocation and benediction were given by Morrison Brown. Southerland welcomed guests.

Barbara Worrell, mother advisor, introduced the installing officers: Cindy Bledsoe, Debbie McCarty, Lisa Evers, Lori Womack and Penne McAdams.

Installed with Miss Southerland were Elaine Kimbro, worthy associate advisor; Stephanie Young, charity; Paige Worrell, hope, and Wendi Simmers, faith.

Other officers are Pamela Southerland, drill leader; Anja Scrogen, chaplain; Jill Butler, love; Ann Weller, religion; Michelle Eastin, nature; Kristy Sherman, immortality; Kristi Evers, fidelity; Susan Slaydon, patriotism; Susan Pickering, service; Carol Neal, confidential observer; Vicky Robbins, outer observer; Kim Sherman, musician, and Sarah Metz, choir director. Choir members are Cindy Balke, Denice Callen, Holly Newman, Karen O'Grady, Lori Phillips, Brenda Stump, Rinda White, Marsha Southerland, Beverly Knittle, Sherry Cagle and Tammy Cox.

The worthy advisor's Bible was presented to Miss Southerland.

The advisory board was introduced. Kay Tweed is chairman. Serving with her are Rosa Lee Cook, Twana Evers, Frank Quattrini, Peggy Beverly, Alton Bobbitt, Tersie Johnson, Penny Stacy, Frances Highsmith and Mr. and Mrs. Don Harless. The sponsoring chapter is Norman Read Chapter No. 1010, Order of the Eastern Star, with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Womack as worthy patron and worthy matron.

A reception featuring the chosen colors of pink and white followed the ceremony.

Out-of-city guests included Miss Southerland's maternal grandmother, Elsie Rich of Amarillo, and her maternal grandfather, Col. (Ret.) James B. Carvey of Lubbock.

Couple wed in chapel rites

Mary Frances Floyd and James R. Beverley were married at 4 p.m. Saturday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Ray Riddle officiated.

Attending the couple were the daughter of the bride, Kimberly Floyd of San Antonio, and the bridegroom's son, James R. Beverley III of Tulsa, Okla.

Ushering the guests were Bill Adam, Martin Mogford and Eugene Greenwood.

The bride is a teacher at Edison Freshman School. Beverley is with Exxon Co., U.S.A.

The couple will reside at 107 Club Drive.

Teen installs 'turtle' signs

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Responding to a 13-year-old's concern for turtle safety, Wethersfield installed two "turtle crossing" signs on a street.

Elaine Segada had written to town manager Ralph DeSantis and asked for the signs. She said every summer she saw turtles that tried to cross from a brook on one side of the street to mate at a brook on the other side "squished" by passing motorists.

Annual Day slated Friday

The Midland County Home Demonstration Clubs' Annual Day will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday in the Midland County Exhibit Building.

More than 100 different salads will be available for the salad luncheon to be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public is invited.

Special prizes will be awarded to winners chosen from luncheon tickets. Winners need not be present to win.

Each of the home demonstration clubs will have a booth, selling decorative items, Christmas decorations, baked foods and children's items.

Club members will have handmade, baked and canned items for the display from a judging contest to be held Thursday. Members of 4-H Clubs also will have items on display from the Thursday judging.

Participating are Calico, Chaparral, Prairie Lee, Valley View and Westside Home Demonstration Clubs.

Earns degree

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It took 48 years but Grace Brown, 64, earned a bachelor's degree in English literature from John Carroll University.

Mrs. Brown started college when she was 16, but the depression of the 1930s, her family's financial problems and a serious illness forced her to drop out. She picked up her studies six years ago.

She and her husband, a retired lawyer, have two children.

Southside Lions Club auxiliary observes World Service Day

The Dandy Lions, auxiliary of the Southside Lions Club, held their monthly meeting in the home of Janis Kennon, 1411 W. Illinois Ave. Marie Bond presided over the business meeting.

It was announced that today is World Service Day in Lionism and is to be observed as a day during which a particular service is performed toward a less fortunate person.

Zelphia Scoggin, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, gave final details of the Rummage Sale to take place Oct. 21 at the Southside Lions Club Building.

Plans were made to furnish food and clothing on a monthly basis to an elderly person living alone who is ill and in need. This has been adopted as the club project for the year.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Kennon with Laughlin Interiors, showed members through the house. Highlights of the tour were the beautifully fabric-padded walls and the mirrored walls and ceiling of the master bath. The home is being renovated and redecorated and features many innovative ideas.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and two guests, Marsha Norton and Sheri Ellis. Mrs. Dorothy Koons was introduced as a new member.

The November meeting will be a progressive dinner with details to be worked out later.

Kappa Delta alumnae sets scholarship benefit

Kappa Delta Alumnae Sorority announces its annual Needlepoint and Gift Show will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 18 and 19 in the home of Mrs. William Faudree, 2001 Winfield St. Many collectible items will be available for Christmas giving or keeping.

Proceeds will go toward Midland College Scholarship Fund and The University of Texas of the Permian Basin Graduate Program.

Miss Kinnison married to Steven L. Peel

Kelly Marie Kinnison became the bride of Steven Lewis Peel in a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Saturday in Wilshire Park Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Kinnison, 113 S. Dewberry St., are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Peel of Plains.

After a trip to Cloudcroft, N.M., the couple will reside at 100 Howard St.

The Rev. John D. Riggs officiated. Mrs. Joe B. Cates was the organist, and Mrs. John G. Hyde was soloist.

Attending the bride were JayJay Roberts and Donna Sue Boyd, her sisters. Valerie Shelton was flower girl.

The best man was Donald A. Boyd, brother-in-law of the bride. The groomsmen were Richard W. Carter, Wayne Roberts, brother-in-law of the bride, and Kenneth Boyd of Andrews were ushers. Brian Patrick Martin was ring bearer.

Mr. Kinnison presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown in princess silhouette of silk organza, Nottingham, Cluny and Venise laces. Ruffled Cluny lace filled the standup neckline, created the cuffs of the fitted lace sleeves and outlined the deep oval lace yoke. The contoured princess line panels fell into bouffant fullness sweeping to the back in a chapel train. Applied Venise lace motifs enhanced the flared skirt above the deep lace hemline flounce. Her face was framed with matching lace edging her mantilla-length veil of imported French illusion gathered to a lace and pearl Camelot headpiece. The entire creation was in candlelight. She carried a colonial cascade of gardenias, yellow roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Steven Lewis Peel

Julie Rogers bride of Robert Perry

Robert Perry married Julie Rogers in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday in St. Paul United Methodist Church. Officiating was the Rev. Tommy Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rogers, 3919 W. Illinois St., are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William E. Perry, 4519 Pleasant Drive, and the late Mr. Perry.

The couple will reside at 2200 S. Lamesa Road, Space 87, after a trip to Ruidoso, N.M.

Kathy Humphrey was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jennifer Naquin and Melinda Bean.

Adair Rogers, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

John Pace was best man. The groomsmen were Bill Perry, brother of the bridegroom, and Loran Bodnar. Phil McDonald, Greg Talley, Sparky Enders and Doug Ellich were the ushers. Candle lighter was Colten Rogers, nephew of the bride.

Music was provided by Donna Padgett, organist and soloist.

Mr. Rogers gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of silk peau de chine in A-line styling with fitted Empire bodice and bishop sleeves enhanced with silk embroidered medallions within English netting, hand beaded with seed pearls and outlined with silk Guipure scallops highlighting the sheer detail. The deep cuffs created petite points outlined in lace. The high neckline was overlaid with lace. Silk Guipure scallops outlined the soft flowing hemline and chapel train. Her veil also was outlined with the silk lace scallops and fell from a matching lace Camelot. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Rogers, 2803 Emerson Lane, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Couple wed in double ring service here

Rebecca Anne White, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert N. White, 7 Winchester Court, and George M. Hover, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hover of Houston, were married at 6 p.m. Sept. 23 in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Ray Riddle officiated the double ring ceremony.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Michael Cross of Edmond, Okla., and Mrs. L. R. French III of Oklahoma City, Okla., her sisters, and Mary Hover of San Antonio.

Billy Hover of Houston was his brother's best man.

The rehearsal dinner and the wedding dinner were held in the Racquet Club of Midland.

After a trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple is residing at 1603 Harvard St.

The bride is a graduate of Southern

Mrs. George M. Hover

Methodist University. The bridegroom, a graduate of Vanderbilt University, is employed by HNG Oil Co.

Pot inhibits tears' flow

NEW YORK (AP)—Wearers of contact lenses may suffer severe discomfort if they smoke marijuana, according to Dr. Harry Hollander, an optometrist.

Hollander, author of "The Consumer's Guide to Contact Lenses," says the "smoke from pot inhibits tear flow, creating a swelling of the cornea. As a result, lenses don't feel or fit the same, resulting in discomfort."

Production of tears, he says, "provides a much-needed moisture buffer between the eye and contact lenses."

Deborah Ann White wed to Neil Bowman Carpenter

SAN ANTONIO—Deborah Ann White and Neil Bowman Carpenter were married at 7 p.m. Saturday in John Calvin Presbyterian Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Sam White of 1702 Maberry St., Midland, and Jency Nichols of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Neil L. Carpenter of Kerrville are the bridegroom's parents.

The couple will reside in the Courtyard Apartments in Midland, after a trip to New Orleans, La., Miami, Fla., and a Caribbean cruise.

The Rev. Duke Kilgore officiated the double ring ceremony. Music was by Lynn Madlock, organist, and Ross Miller, soloist.

Shelly Standfield of Ruidoso, N.M., was maid of honor. Delia Presley and Karen Bonner of Midland were bridesmaids. Lovelyn Wharton of New Braunfels and Kim Perkins of Irving were bridesmaids.

Bill Carpenter of Lubbock was his brother's best man. The groomsmen were Jim Schuck of Houston, Jim Newberry of San Marcos, Mark Little of San Antonio and Vic Garrett of Hunt. Scott Carpenter and David Carpenter of Kerrville, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory old-fashioned gown with semi-Empire waist outlined with a white satin sash. The high neckline had nylon pleated trim. The gown formed a mini-train in back. She also wore a picture hat with illusion veil and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The reception was held in Northern Hills Country Club.

New York couple turned down on attempt to deduct taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New York couple has been turned down by the U.S. Tax Court in an attempt to deduct sales taxes paid by a contractor doing work for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Porter of Addison, N.Y., had hired a contractor to build a foundation for their home and reimbursed the contractor $89.60 for sales taxes on materials which he purchased to do the work. They then sought a deduction for these taxes.

In turning down the claim Special Trial Judge Murray H. Falk noted that under the state law the sales tax must be paid by the customer.

State law considers sales of materials to contractors as retail sales, subject to sales tax, while it exempts from sales taxes sales by contractors to individuals of a property which is to become part of structures or buildings.

As a result when a contractor purchases materials he is considered the consumer under state law.

"Petitioners did not buy building materials; they contracted for and were furnished a foundation," wrote Falk, "they are not entitled to a deduction..."

Could napping be new sport?

By ERMA BOMBECK

Jogging. It has almost been raised to the elevation of sacrament. That's all people talk about anymore. "Who told you about jogging? Was it your mother or your father or did you learn about it in the gutter?" "Where were you and what were you doing when you heard that Jerome Drayton won the Boston Marathon?" "Sure, I could go jogging with you this weekend — but will you respect me in the morning?" Running around the streets wheezing has replaced handball, which replaced tennis, which replaced biking, which replaced golf, which replaced swimming, which replaced skiing as the national physical pastime. All of those are still in favor, but at one time or another they led the field in popularity. It is safe to assume that jogging will pass and relinquish its trend status to a new sport. And what will replace it? Will there be life after jogging? Of course, and frankly I wouldn't be surprised if "napping" replaced jogging as the No. 1 national sport. The momentum for any pastime is usually the same. It starts with a hero (astronaut, sports figure or movie star) who appears on a talk show and is asked, "How do you stay so thin?" and he or she replied, "I nap at least 30 minutes a day." Small groups start at first. Then, a few stories appear where the AMA, to protect themselves, advises participants to get a complete physical before starting to "nap." Books begin to come out — "The Complete Book of Napping," "The Complete Napper," and "The Napper's Handbook" (a Complete Guide for Men and Women Who Sack Out). Napper's regulation shoes will come out with cushioned inner-soles and fashions will reflect the sport with wrinkle-free slacks and polyester shirts that breathe when your body temperature goes down. As the momentum builds, everything will point to the Napper's Marathon...The Napper's Olympics where nappers from all over the country will compete to see who can sleep the longest. There will be film clips of nappers "packing warm milk," taking deep breathing exercises, and talking of the "dreaded eye-opener" when you're pushing your body into sleep far beyond its limits. I can see Curt Gowdy spotlighting a man yawning and observing, "He's the man to beat." I give "nappers" a couple of years at the top and then we'll be on to another sport — maybe stumbling. Whatever it is, my body is packed with carbohydrates for it.

Tena Ann Lacy becomes bride of John Wilson

St. Paul United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage at 3 p.m. Saturday of Tena Ann Lacy and John Michael Wilson. Officiating the double ring ceremony were the Rev. Tommy Nelson and the Rev. Bob Chandler.

Jim Lacy of 4011 Roosevelt St. and Annie Hall Lacy of Las Vegas, Nev., are the parents of the bride. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mac Wilson, 1104 Sparks St.

Teresa Montgomery, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Leah Fowlkes of Lubbock, Jenny Kelley of Tulsa, Okla., and Kim Collins.

Mitch Wilson, brother of the bridegroom; Curt Denny and Terry Edwards.

Steve Spain was organist, and Doug Brown was soloist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer organza designed with a molded bodice with bishop sleeves. Wide lace and ribbon covered the front and back bodice, waistline, cuffs and encircled the sleeves. The long chapel length skirt was edged in matching lace. Her two-tiered veil was held by a Camelot cap. She carried a cascade of Woburn Abbey roses, stephanotis, apricot kalanchoes and baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

Commission urges unsafe toy ban

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teddy bears and jack-in-the-boxes moved into the crowded area of federal regulation Thursday as the Consumer Product Safety Commission urged a ban on toys considered unsafe for toddlers.

The commission voted unanimously to propose a ban on sale of thousands of toys that are small enough or have parts small enough to be swallowed or choked on.

Under the regulation, which will not be in effect soon enough to affect toys this Christmas, 18 categories of toys and other articles intended for children under the age of 3 would be covered.

To remain on the market, the items would have to be too big to fit into a cylinder 1 1/4 inches in diameter and 2 1/4 inches in depth. Parts that could be detached easily, such as a button on a stuffed animal that a child might pull off, also will bring an item under the ban.

The regulation would not cover many items that children sometimes swallow or choke on, including coins. Coins constitute the leading cause of injuries to children among small items, an earlier commission staff study found.

"But this would cover those items deliberately designed for very young children and put in their playpens and cribs. They especially should be built safely," said Elaine Besson, the commission staff member who prepared the proposed regulation.

Elaine Barksdale Sloan joined the other three commissioners in voting for the regulation, but said it should be broadened to include older children.

Secretary recognized

Nita Turner, CPS, received her Certified Professional Secretary certificate at the seminar for career women luncheon in the Midland Hilton. The seminar was sponsored by the Permian Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) and Midland College.

The presentation to Mrs. Turner, secretary to Joseph W. Burrell, CPA, was made by Doris Gallagher, CPS, chairman of the education and CPS committees of the chapter. Mrs. Gallagher is the CPS study course co-ordinator at MC.

Mrs. Turner was one of 940 new CPSs receiving this recognition during 1978. There are 12,064 CPSs holding this certificate.

The examination consists of six sections based upon an analysis of secretarial work, with emphasis on judgment, understanding and administrative ability gained through education and work experience. It includes skills, techniques and knowledge in the areas of environmental relationships in business; business and policy; economics and management; financial analysis and the mathematics of business; communications and decision making and office procedures.

The examination is administered annually on the first Friday and Saturday in May by approved colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

THE WINE DRINKER Shocking wine

Copley News Service

Whenever a bottle of Chateau Montelena wine from California graces the table, the mind harkens back to that spring day in 1976 when the wine world was shocked into recognition of our so-called domestic wines by the results of a tasting held in Paris.

The panel included representatives of the French wine industry, wine regulatory agencies, great restaurants and a fine chateau in the commune of Margaux. They tasted 12 wines made from the Chardonnay grape, six each from California and France. The winner—over such famous names as Meursault-Charmes, Beaune-Clos des Mouches and Batard-Montrachet—was the 1973 Chateau Montelena Chardonnay. Interestingly, a 1973 Stag's Leap Wine Cellars Cabernet Sauvignon took first among red wines against the likes of 1970 Chateau Mouton-Rothschild and Haut-Brion.

Wine buffs had always picked Chardonnay as the greatest fine wine being made in California. And Chateau Montelena, under the hands of winemaker Mike Grgich, was among the leaders. Today, Grgich has gone to a new winery (Grgich-Hills) and Montelena winemaking is now in the capable hands of Jerry Luper.

Luper, a lanky bearded man who doesn't look old enough to have a child who is approaching 20 years of age but does, is well-known for his work at Freemark Abbey. One of his wines, the 1972 Chardonnay, was sixth in the Paris tasting, just five-tenths of one point out of fourth place. He also had a hand in the incredible Petite Sirahs from Freemark Abbey that were so good they belied the baseness and simplicity of the variety.

Under Luper, the Chardonnays continue to shine at Chateau Montelena, if early tastings are any indication. He has the great raw materials to work with—grapes grown in the northern end of the Napa Valley and in better microclimates of Sonoma—and new rows of oaken barrels. The wines with the Napa appellation come from around Calistoga and have distinctiveness imparted by the soil and the climate. The wines made by Ric Forman at Sterling Vineyard, a few miles away, have similar qualities, all of them good.

At Montelena, Luper enjoys good technical facilities and an out-of-the-way location off Tubbs Lane in Calistoga that is remarkably free of tourists despite the grandiose nature of the winery facade. It was built in 1882 by Alfred Tubbs, a former state senator.

Mary Ann Drennan, Dean Saenger marry

Mary Ann Drennan and Dean Albert Saenger were married Aug. 4 in Midessa Heights Baptist Church. The Rev. Jim Sellers officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ray Drennan of Odessa are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fritz Saenger of Route 3.

Margaret Drennan of Odessa, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Patti Drennan, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

The best man was Darryl Ray Saenger, brother of the bridegroom. Mark Salvo and Clark Salvo of Santa Fe, N.M., cousins of the bride, were ushers. Candle lighters were Edward Sotelo and Dale Kenneth Saenger, brother of the bridegroom.

Kathy Liscum was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess styled floor-length gown of white satin with silk organza overlay. The bodice with scoop neckline was trimmed with Alencon lace and handsewn pearls.

The bishop sleeves were trimmed with lace and pearls. The skirt ended in a chapel train. The Juliet cap held a three-tiered lace trimmed veil. She carried a white orchid surrounded with snowdrift mums and baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

After a trip to Austin, San Antonio and Houston, the couple is at home at Route 3, Box 539.

Mrs. Dean Albert Saenger

Plant now for winter blooms

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

You can bring spring into your house next winter with a little bit of planning this fall. How? Force a few flowering bulbs to grow indoors.

Almost any spring garden bulbs can be forced to bloom indoors — tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, crocuses, muscari, irises or scilla. So when you plant your regular outdoor bulb garden this fall, (preferably in October) save a few bulbs for indoor forcing.

You can even plan the color to blend with your home decor, or for holiday color.

There are tulips in many shades of reds, bright yellow, pastels and simple white. Hyacinths are available in blues and pinks, and they offer fragrance.

All bulbs do not bloom at the same time. So when you pot for indoor flowering, they come through in about three months. Stagger planting times and use several different bulbs for longer color.

For forcing, select plump, healthy bulbs. Plant them in common clay pots, ceramic or plastic bowls, or wooden boxes, all with a drainage hole at the bottom and at least twice as tall as the bulbs. Use loose and crumbly soil, adding sand, peat moss or vermiculite to provide good consistency.

The bulbs have their own food supply. Just fill the container halfway with soil, set in the bulbs, pointed end upward, half an inch apart for tulips and an inch for hyacinths. The number of bulbs will depend on the pot size. Then cover the bulbs with soil so that just the tips show. Water thoroughly. It's a good idea to mark each pot with variety and date.

Roots will form only if bulbs are exposed to cold, but not freezing. Proper temperature is 35 to 48 degrees F for about 12 weeks. You can dig a pit 6 inches deeper than the tallest container outdoors, spread a layer of gravel across the bottom, set the pots close together and cover with 2-3 inches of sand or vermiculite to protect the shoots.

Lacking an outdoor area, you can store bulbs in an unheated garage or basement, on a window sill or in a cold closet and keep them covered. Also mulch with leaves, straw or hay (or newspapers) to keep bulbs from freezing. Water them regularly, if nature doesn't.

After 12 weeks of cooling, check a pot or two to determine whether roots have developed. The bulbs are ready to be forced when sprouts are 2-3 inches high. If sprouting is inadequate, leave them for another 2 weeks.

Old shingles can be reused

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — We will be adding an extra room to the back of our house, but first must open up the wall of our family room. In tearing down the old wall, it is my idea to save the shingles and other materials and use them again on the outside of the new room. In that way, the extra room won't look new while the rest of the structure looks old. Is this a practical idea?

A. — Yes. You will be fortunate, however, if the old materials remain in good condition during the knockdown process and if there is the right amount to cover the new area. But if it can be done, it's an excellent plan. In some cases, people even buy second-hand shingles and the like so that the addition will seem to be as old as the house.

Q. — I hear the credit union where I work will soon make mortgage loans to its members. If this comes about, will the interest charge be the same as a mortgage loan obtained from a bank?

A. — Where such loans have been made (it's a recent development), there are certain regulations that have had to be followed. Interest rates must be competitive, of course, if this new source of mortgage loans is to develop a successful program. The maximum allowed — 12 per cent a year — is on loans maturing in from 12 to 30 years, but this limit is subject to certain state regulations, some of which have a lower allowable maximum interest rate. There are other regulations which must be followed, just as banks, savings and loan associations and other lenders are limited to how such loans can be handled. Credit union home mortgage loans must not exceed 90 percent of the sales price, unless a private mortgage insurance company or a government agency insures or guarantees the loan or that part of the loan in excess of 90 percent of the principal.

Even if your credit union hasn't yet entered the home mortgage loan market, it undoubtedly knows now what regulations it must follow. Why not ask before the program is launched?

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RUGHTER

(Sun., Oct. 8)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Problems facing you now can easily be handled by applying proven methods and principles. Spend some time making plans for the coming week.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Consider well how you can be more practical and thereby more successful in the future. Have consultations with big wigs you know socially and get good advice from them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine new ideas that should be studied well before putting them in operation. Listen to good advice from a wise person you know.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take time to meditate and you know what is best to do in the days ahead. Come to a better understanding with your mate also. Visiting with a good friend or relative can give you a few pleasant hours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study current ideas, projects well and know where revisions need to be made and how to do so. Exchange ideas with partners and come to a fine meeting of minds.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take time to do something thoughtful for those who have done you fine favors in the past, and show you are grateful. Take needed health treatments in your spare time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to begin that creative work you have had in mind for some time. Later, out to the amusements that appeal to you. Make sure you spend wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get your house in good order early and then invite friends. Take time to study a new project that interests you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study into lofty concepts that will make your life richer, more satisfying. Spend some time with friends and relatives and come to a better understanding with all.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan how to make your practical affairs more productive and profitable. You have to think abundance in order to have it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make decision early and know what it is you want to have in the future. Evening is best for social get-togethers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get out of the limelight and enjoy home pleasures, plan for the future more intelligently. Consult with an adviser after you have reached your own decisions and doublecheck on them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what your personal aims are and later gain the backing from right people. Fine for group gatherings and having a good time.

(Mon., Oct. 9)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You will find it difficult in the morning to arrange affairs the way you had planned, but later you can easily gain your aims. Be sure to let associates know you appreciate them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The morning is not good for approaching higher-ups but the afternoon is fine. Avoid one could be a detriment to your progress.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make plans to expand and have greater abundance in the future. You have to be more open-minded to gain your aims.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan business deals ahead of you and then handle them with speed and intelligence. Forget any grudges you may have.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Long talks with your associates now can bring excellent results. Strive for increased happiness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Consider all the work you have to do and be sure to use the best method. Devote yourself to the romantic side of life in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study the details of a recreational program you have in mind before engaging in such. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sure to hand business affairs wisely today. Strive for increased harmony in the home. Express your finest talents.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Concentrate on right ideas and forget those that depress and you get ahead faster. Study ways of getting ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be most precise in the handling of monetary affairs today and get excellent results. Set up a better budget.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may feel unhappy early in the day, but you soon cheer up and can get a great deal accomplished.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A private affair is distressing today, but you can straighten it out if you contact the right persons. Be logical.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) An older person could be annoying in the morning but most helpful later, so be patient. Avoid the social tonight.

A Lifelong Education!

Your hometown newspaper, The Reporter-Telegram, is read in elementary school classes where the Newspaper In Education program helps teachers motivate students to more eager learning efforts. This "real life" textbook is exciting to them and makes the learning process INTERESTING. This means they learn about math, social studies, geography, history, government and other subjects more quickly and thoroughly.

Teenagers accustomed to reading the newspaper in lower grades use the "life situation" textbook to speed up learning, acquire more knowledge and earn higher grades, through their better comprehension of the wider range of subjects and deeper involvement at high school levels.

Young adults have learned to use the newspaper to buy to their greater advantage through retail and classified ads and through the vast source of consumer information offered in newspapers. The same medium provides daily news on more of the subjects in which they are interested: sports, recreation, amusements, lifestyle, travel, health, beauty, fashion and dozens of other areas of concern.

Parents rearing and educating families use newspaper ads, cash-saving coupons, and household tips to help stretch budgets. Child guidance articles help them become better parents. Mini-Page and other children's features entertain and instruct their offspring.

Women's pages and features are a continuing source of help for the housewife in the home and out.

Men and women in business, the professions and all walks of life, find in the newspaper a real treasury of information on business, industry, finance, politics, the economy, local, state, national and international developments in almost every field of human activity.

Senior citizens have in the newspaper a daily companion, bringing news of acquaintances, community events, peer activities, and ever so many helpful articles on coping with their particular concerns. The newspaper helps them keep abreast of Social Security changes, medical and health advice, recreational and social opportunities, shopping advantages and ways to help fight inflation on a fixed income. The Reporter-Telegram's more readable type and clear reproduction is of special importance to them because it is EASIER TO READ.

At every age, the newspaper is the universal encyclopedia, REVISED DAILY.

Lauri Welch, Gordon Smith repeat vows

Lauri Kaye Welch and Gordon Wayne Smith repeated double ring wedding vows in a ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in North A and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Paul Welch of McCoy and Billee Welch of 4300 Tanner St. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Smith of Pasadena are the parents of the bridegroom.

Steve Smith officiated the ceremony. Jodi Kaplan of San Marcos was soloist.

Virginia Busbee, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Sherry Shanks was bridesmatron.

The best man was Michael McLaren. Stanley Shanks was groomsmen, and Doug Welch of San Marcos, brother of the bride, and Franklin Nelson, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Shane Smith of Odessa, cousin of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Gordon Wayne Smith

Mr. Welch gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white satin in Empire styling with a chapel train. The bodice and bishop sleeves were of embroidered Alencon lace. Her launette was of chiffon trimmed with silk Venetian lace. She carried a nosegay of white cushion mums, sandalwood carnations and baby's breath.

Palette club slates portrait demonstration

Stan Jacobs will demonstrate portraits in charcoal and pencil for the Midland Palette Club at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the center, 604 N. Colorado St.

Jacobs has been a member of the Midland College art faculty since September 1971. A native of Kansas, he received his bachelor of fine arts degree from Washburn University in Topeka. His education was interrupted for a four-year tour of duty as a Naval communications officer, serving part of the time in the South China Sea. He returned to the University of Kansas, where he earned his master of fine arts degree, with a major in sculpture. He served as a lab assistant and teaching assistant while a graduate student.

Jacobs has served as president of the Midland Arts Association and president of the MC Faculty Council and member of the exhibitions committee of the Museum of the Southwest. He has drawn charcoal portraits at Septemberfest the past few years and has done caricatures at the Permian Basin Oil Show and The First National Bank picnic, as well as at the Cerebral Palsy Center.

He has received numerous awards at art shows for his sculpture, ceramics, graphics and portraits.

Last summer he was one of two MC faculty members who led a group of students on a tour of Britain and Europe, where they visited many museums and art galleries.

Couple find warm, cozy living in haystack home

ELY, Minn. (AP) — The warm, cozy home that Carol and Walter McElderry built for about $400 smells slightly like a hayloft. But that's not surprising.

It is built out of about 200 bales of hay.

"It is surprisingly cozy and comfortable," Carol said. "The first thing people say when they see the place is, they're surprised it's so livable."

Light filters into the home through stained glass windows and skylights, and plants grow in an attached greenhouse, taking advantage of the southern exposure.

Six posts in the center of the house form a circle around an airtight wood stove. At the peak, spruce poles radiate out like an umbrella. The building is hexagonal, with a dozen outer poles shaping the outside.

Walter built the pole structure from pictures that he'd seen of Manitowoc

Indian earth lodges.

"In the 1860s settlers in western Nebraska built homes out of baled hay," he said. "The soil was so sandy that it couldn't be cut to make sod, and there were no trees or stones."

Carol said the house took only a month to build in the summer of 1977 with a few days of help from friends, and the actual construction wasn't difficult.

The window and door frames are 12 inches deep, and nailed to wood supports for stability. The window frames sit directly on bales of hay.

"We covered the ground with plastic and laid rugs down," Walter said. "We had planned to mortar the walls, but ran out of time. By November, it was getting a little drafty, so we just put plastic up on the inside and outside." The roof has a layer of plastic under the sod and hay and it doesn't leak when it rains.

One of the main advantages of the McElderrys' hay house is that it was planned to be recycled.

They are building a new stone home, and when that is finished they plan to use the hay from their present home as mulch for their garden.

The McElderrys, who both grew up on the East Coast, said they moved to northern Minnesota in an attempt to simplify their lives.

To get the money they need, both have worked as substitute teachers in nearby schools. Carol teaches English and Walter teaches English, filmmaking and theater. They also create and market their own stained-glass windows under the name Rising Sun Stained Glass, and they've done some tree planting for the U.S. Forest Service.

"We're not trying to be entirely self-sufficient," Walter said. "We still have to drive to town."
