

It's spy

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spies are supposed to be furtive and stealthy, right? So how come we can't pick up the newspaper without reading about one who's newly dead, caught in the act, or embarrassed?

The Case of the Deadly Bumbershoot in London, a near miss in Paris. Russians on trial in New Jersey. A Russian defector showering his honey with CIA money.

Spies are simply bursting in from the cold.

An alleged double agent is electrocuted by a bare wire wrapped around his arm. A State Department employee is convicted of sneaking secrets to communist Vietnam.

A CIA retiree is found shot in Chesapeake Bay, his waist girded by diver's weights. A security clerk for a Los Angeles defense contractor sells secrets to the Russians. A former CIA watch officer is arrested in Chicago on charges that he peddled a manual about a top secret spy satellite. All real, on and on, the stories go.

Is there involvement, we may well ask, by SPECTRE, CHAOS, SMERSH, Has Smart been Got? Was Q Branch informed? Has U.N.C.L.E. sent The Man? Has reality overtaken fiction when the FBI uncovers an alleged plot to steal a nuclear submarine? Have we taken a page from the Day of the Jackal when the CIA reportedly inveigles a Mafia boss into a scheme to try to murder Fidel Castro. Ian Fleming, are you jealous up there in spy heaven?

No, the above mentioned fictional spy organizations were not involved. And the effect of fiction on fact remains unclear.

We begin a brief tour of recent spies in the news with the story of The Poisoned Parasol. London, of course. A microscopic pellet fired, one thinks, from an

Was the death of Vladimir Simonov less than a month later connected? He also was a Bulgarian defector; he too worked for the British Broadcasting Corporation's service to his homeland. He choked to death on his own blood from a broken nose at the foot of the stairs in his home. Was he pushed?

How does it tie in with the attack on Vladimir Kostov, head

First time in 455 years

Cardinals elect Polish pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today elected 58-year-old Polish Cardinal Karol Wojtyla as pope, the first non-Italian in 455 years to lead the ancient, 700-million-member church.

He took the name John Paul, the same as his predecessor.

Wojtyla, little-known archbishop of Krakow, is the 263rd successor to the Throne of St. Peter. The election of a prelate from a communist nation will doubtless have vast repercussions on relations between Rome and the East bloc.

White smoke, the traditional signal that a new pontiff is chosen, billowed into the night from the Sistine Chapel at 6:18 p.m. (1:18 p.m. EDT). "It is official, the pope is elected," the Vatican radio said.

The 111 cardinal electors, meeting for the second time in two months to select a pontiff, made their decision in the second day of voting in their secret Sistine Chapel conclave. It came on what was apparently the seventh or eighth ballot.

The new pope, born in Wadowice, Poland, on May 18, 1920, was elevated to cardinal by Pope Paul VI eleven years ago and is a member of several Vatican congregations — Sacraments and Divine Worship, Clergy and Catholic Education.

He was born the son of a chemical factory worker, and has a good working relationship with the communist government of Poland.

He studied philosophy and theology at the seminary in Krakow and after his ordination went to Rome to take courses in philosophy at the Angelicum College, where he earned a doctorate in philosophy in 1948.

After his return to Poland, which coincided with the rise of the new communist government, he worked under severe restrictions as parish assistant in his archdiocese of Krakow.

At the same time, he acted as student counselor at the local university.

In an interview to Italian television just before the conclave, he said, "We try to be always close to the people. We share their worries. This creates confidence and it is the indispensable condition to fulfill our duty and our mission."

The last non-Italian pontiff was Dutchman Adrian VI, who reigned in 1522-23.

Big Spring contract is probed

By MARK VOGELER
R-T Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — The Texas Department of Water Resources has launched an investigation to determine whether proper procedures were followed in the awarding of $165,000 in federal funds to drain a natural lake here.

Some opponents to drainage of One Mile Lake in the city's northwest section have claimed city officials had approved the project without a proper environmental assessment, and that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's grant constituted a misapplication of funds.

Raymond Mittel, director of the regional water resources office in Lubbock, said he has asked the agency's legal division in Austin for an opinion as to whether the project complies with all state regulations.

Meanwhile, The Reporter Telegram has learned an official from HUD, the agency that funded the lake drainage project, has contacted the water resources office in Lubbock to ensure HUD complied with all state regulations in awarding the funds.

Mittel said his office's investigation was sparked by a citizen complaint which alleged the city had not followed proper procedures in planning the project, and that federal funds were being used improperly to drain state-controlled water off privately owned land.

The HUD official reportedly asked Mittel's office what governmental body controlled the water and to what extent the state Department of Water Resources should have been involved in the project.

City officials said Saturday drainage of the lake, which is part of a major drainage improvement project along Beal's Creek, is expected to begin soon and should not be affected by the latest development.

City manager Harry Nagel said he had been interviewed Thursday by Bill Mayes, an investigator from Mittel's office.

"I spoke with him (Mayes) for about five or 10 minutes. He was just checking to see whether they (Department of Water Resources) have any jurisdiction over it, which they don't," Nagel said.

"We're going to drain Beal's Creek. The same individuals who have protested to HUD have probably protested to the state."

Nagel said the project should begin within two weeks.

However, there are several issues attorneys for Department of Water Resources are now considering, including the question of who controls the water in One Mile Lake, and, if the state has control, is it proper to use

'Hot' check cost predicted at $1.5 million

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series on the "hot" check problem and its impact on Midland and Ector counties. Part 2 will discuss the cost impact of misdemeanor cases in Midland and Ector counties.

By GUY SULLIVAN
R-T Staff Writer

So-called "hot checks" may cost

Midland and Ector counties an estimated $1.5 million by the end of 1978.

That is what district attorney officials said about one of the nation's costliest "hidden" crimes.

Little is written about checks which turn out to be valueless because of insufficient funds, an account closed, payment stopped or an unauthorized or irregular signature.

However, virtually everyone pays the price resulting from this crime.

Consider the following local examples of the problem.

A small businessman in Midland spent about $300 trying to receive restitution on a $50 "hot" check during 1977. The businessman succeeded, but it took 5½ months to do so, he said.

The manager of a major chain food store in Midland reportedly lost an estimated $50,000 in 1977 because of "hot" checks.

Dewey Lee, an investigator for the Midland County District Attorney Office, said so far this year he has collected $150,000 in felony "hot" check restitution.

And the veteran investigator sees

Tower gets 'clean-billed' by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower was given a clean bill of health today by the Senate's Select Committee on Ethics. That panel has been looking into allegations of illegal influence buying by Korean rice dealer Tongson Park.

In its concluding report, released today, the committee said, "There is no credible evidence that Tongson Park ever made any campaign contributions or gifts of money or other valuable gifts to Sen. John G. Tower, his family, his staff or campaign committees, or that Sen. Tower ever performed any official acts at Mr. Park's request."

Tower was a member of the ethics committee, but disqualified himself from participating in accordance with committee rules. Tower had listed Park as a "social acquaintance," while in testimony before the committee, Park referred to the Texas Republican as "a personal friend."

The committee report lauded Tower for his "prompt and thorough" response to the committee's request for documents, noting that "the cooperation shown by the senator and his staff throughout this inquiry was exemplary, whatever the exact nature of their relationship, there is no dispute that Sen. Tower and Tongson Park saw one another relatively frequently for a period of several years."

"However, unlike other senators, it appears that Sen. Tower was never asked to write a letter on Mr. Park's behalf to anyone."

When he's clowning around with the kids in his colorful get-up, he's Squeaky the Magical Clown.

When he's the coattails and top hat magician for grown-ups, he's the sleight-of-hand expert, Bob Dale.

And when he's at home building magic acts, he's just plain Bob Miller, the only professional clown in Midland and much of the Permian Basin, or so he says. He hasn't been around that long.

"Actually, I'm 30 going on 12," Miller said the other day, as he was about to go on stage as the red-nosed, red-haired, and powder-white faced Squeaky.

His socks were yellow, his two-toned shoes were flappy and too long, his britches were in red and white stripes, and his coat was black with red trim. He wore a black top hat, coattail and a painted-on smile.

It's a job, and one he likes, even if he has to be his own agent, bargainer and has to fend for himself to be paid for his clown and magic acts. That's show business.

He came on stage in the auditorium at South Elementary School in Midland. As 300 kindergarten and elementary school boys and girls watched — sometimes restlessly, sometimes intensely — Squeaky went through see-and-disappear routines, which featured red balls and cups, a white dove named Hocus-Pocus, a magical sword trick, streams of ribbons flowing from the mouth, and changing something "to a bit of nothing."

Actually, Miller had volunteered to pull off his act to help the Midland Fire Department sparkle in its Fire Prevention Week programs.

So, instead of using films, Fire Marshal Herb Bloomer and Assistant Fire Marshal Jerry Petree opted to let Squeaky give his show a try.

They didn't pay him a dime, though both Squeaky and his alter egos Miller and Dale like to see that money come in.

"Wouldn't it be terrible if you woke up one day and found a fire?" Squeaky asked the kids at his 15th performance. Yeah, they seemed to agree, and apparently knew the right response.

The clown asked how many of them had eaten breakfast that morning. Not many hands were raised.

He asked them how many brushed their teeth. Not many hands went up.

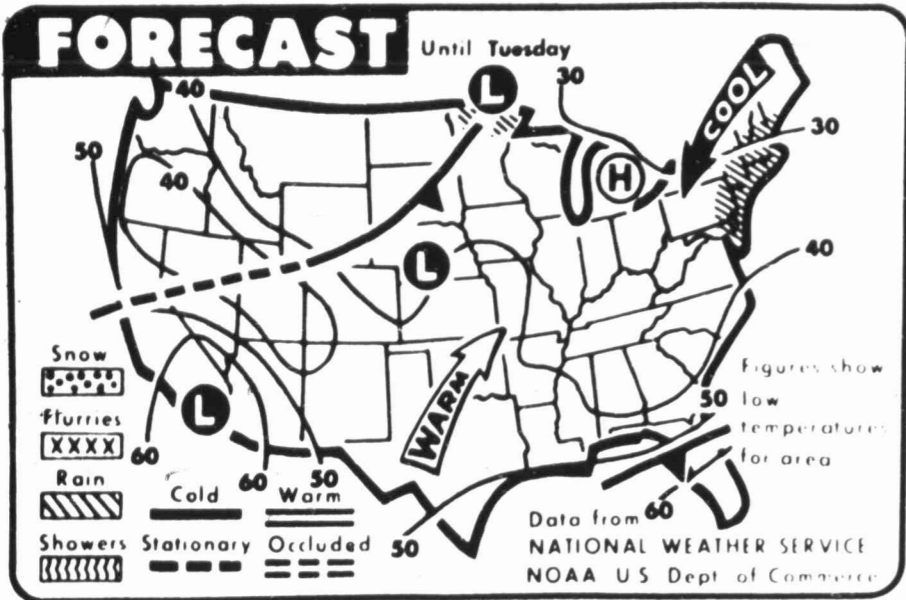

"How many have fire hazards (at home)?" he asked.

Many hands were quickly raised high.

Did senators break laws?

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is no evidence a single senator was influenced by South Korean money but up to three senators or their aides may have broken laws in taking it, the Senate Ethics Committee says.

In a final report scheduled for release today, the committee concludes:

—The Justice Department should investigate "substantial credible evidence" that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., or an aide broke a law by taking money from a lobbyist friend of Tong-sun Park's in the Capitol.

The 1948 law, apparently never enforced, prohibits congressmen from taking campaign contributions on federal property and Bayh denies that he did.

—The late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's 1972 presidential campaign broke a law by not reporting a contribution of at least $5,000 from Park but there is no evidence Humphrey knew about the money.

—The late Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., broke the same law by not reporting a $1,000 campaign contribution he admitted he got from Park in 1972.

The committee says neither McClellan, if he were alive, nor any former Humphrey campaign aide could be prosecuted now because statutes of limitation ran out in 1975.

But it said it is turning all evidence it has in the Bayh case over to the Justice Department for a "determination whether prosecution is appropriate."

The report quotes Edward L. Merrigan, a Washington lawyer and lobbyist, as saying he gave Bayh $1,000, at Park's request, during a meeting in Bayh's Capitol office Oct. 8, 1974.

Park testified he contributed an additional $1,500 to $1,800 to Bayh's campaign, possibly at the same meeting but to a Bayh aide, Jason Berman, before Bayh arrived.

Both Bayh and Berman said they refused to take any contribution from Park and legally took the $1,000 from Merrigan away from federal property.

Merrigan says his memory is that he gave Bayh the money in the Capitol but "if it happened some other way, well then I'm wrong."

The reports say that "if either contribution was received at that meeting, then a crime was committed."

Cool weather expected tonight

Summer daytime temperatures should continue to hold over the Permian Basin for the next couple of days, the weatherman said.

However, days in the 80-degree range should give way to cooler nights, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Fair skies are forecast through Tuesday, with the low tonight to drop into the middle 40s. High Tuesday should be in the middle 80s. Variable winds, mostly from the southeast at 5 to 10 mph, are predicted for tonight.

Rattlesnake attack suspect to be arraigned in LA today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of two men booked in connection with a rattlesnake attack on an attorney was to be arraigned today on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Joseph Musico, 28, was being held on $50,000 bail pending his arraignment. He and Lance Kenton, the 20-year-old son of band leader Stan Kenton, both were booked in connection with the rattlesnake attack on Paul Morantz, who was bitten Tuesday as he reached into his mailbox.

Kenton has been released on $25,000 bail and is scheduled to be arraigned Friday in Municipal Court. He and Musico are members of Synanon, an alternative lifestyle drug rehabilitation organization.

They were arrested Thursday night in connection with the attack on Morantz, 33, who recently won a $300,000 judgment against Synanon. Kenton and Musico surrendered to Los Angeles police detectives at a Synanon-owned camp in Badger, Calif., about 150 miles north of here.

ROUSTIN' ABOUT

"That's terrible." The show went on. He pulled off another act. "You know, that's something that takes a little bit of practice..." The kids, who always are not easily impressed, didn't hurrah. He went through another routine. "Isn't that terrific?" the clown asked. "No," the young ones said in unison. A 6-year-old light red-haired girl named Shelly volunteered to be victim of the "magical" sword trick. Squeaky placed a collar about her neck, and tried to get the sword through without causing Shelly or her neck any pain.

"This is something different. I think this is what the kiddos need," Petree said after the show. "When he (Miller) offered his services, we couldn't pass it by." To make his Fire-Prevention-Week clowning act pay, Miller made the rounds soliciting sponsors. The city had no money for that. The Midland Chamber of Commerce turned him down. The chamber had no funds for clowning around. Oil companies and IMB turned him down. "It's really a sad thing," Miller said.

The telephone company said "No," and explained: "We're a public utility. The public would get upset with us." Then, he went to the money people: the bankers. The banks at first said they would underwrite his $1,500 series of shows over a three-week period, Miller said. Apparently, they decided otherwise. "Unfortunately, I can't do this for nothing," he said, even as he was clowning for naught.

Now, he's looking for a winner of his "Double Fiddle Heel-Drugging Banker's Award." Depending on his "limited" ready cash at time of presentation, it'll be in gold, silver or brass. "It has never been a problem before," Miller said of finding sponsors for his act. I don't really know why we have the problem now. Next time, he'll have more time to find underwriters of his clowning. Regardless, this week he'll be rounding out his commitment with the Fire Department.

"I feel I'm a children's entertainer," Miller said in his Squeaky costume after the show. He only recently returned to Midland to set up his headquarters. (Later, he plans to open a "magic store" here.) For the past five years, he has been up and down the coast of California, where clowning is "very competitive." But in West Texas, "I don't feel I have competition at all." With the latest exception, he said he's "well paid" for his acts. Miller decided to go into the magical clown routine after he had seen a magical show when he was a fifth-grader at West Elementary School in Midland. "It impressed me to the extent I went home and told Mom and Dad what I wanted to do the rest of my life."

"Hot" checks stamped "insufficient funds" come into the offices of the Midland and Ector county attorneys each day. Both district and county attorneys prosecute such offenders and seek restitution for merchants who have been "clipped" by this growing crime. (Staff Photo)

'Hot' checks costly

no end to the problem in sight. Neither do most merchants interviewed.

Officials from both counties' district attorney offices said the problem is so bad, it may cost each of these jurisdictions an estimated $750,000 in merchant losses by the end of 1978.

Both merchants and county officials cited carelessness by store clerks in cashing checks and laxity by bank officials in not checking the background thoroughly of people about to open accounts as major reasons for the problem.

However, both county officials and merchants appear to agree current state laws require changes for more frequent prosecution of this crime to occur.

Lee said the Midland County District Attorney Office sends out a letter to persons accused of writing "hot" checks worth more than $200.

And that occurs only after merchants bring their complaints to that office.

Citizens are told they have 10 days to pay merchants on their own and are warned the penalty for not doing so can be 2 to 10 years of prison and/or a $5,000 fine.

"Faced with that, what would you do? I'd say many local people end up paying for merchandise," he said.

Misdemeanor cases here, as in Ector County, are handled by the county attorney office — not the district attorney office.

Such cases involve literally thousands of people each year who write checks worth less than $200 for goods and services they often cannot afford, or do not make restitution for, according to Lee.

On the felony level, Lee said during 1978 in Midland County "hot" check cases involving insufficient funds or accounts closed increased 50 percent.

When asked why, Lee replied, "I sure wish I knew. I think it's because Midland is growing by leaps and bounds."

He cited an estimate of 85 percent permanent residency and 15 percent transients among the county's population.

But, he stressed the "hot" check writer is not necessarily a transient. In 1976, Lee said, the estimated loss by merchants was more than $400,000. In 1977, that figure surpassed $500,000.

"I expect Midland County merchants will have lost over $750,000 before 1978 ends," said the investigator.

And Dennis Sadra, an assistant district attorney for Ector County, said such figures could apply equally for his jurisdiction.

"A lot of merchants have come to the point where they feel if they turn bad checks over to a collection agency, the businessmen may recover 50 percent of their loss," said Lee.

"So many of these merchants just write off their losses and we never hear of the problem."

"He cited a man who allegedly 'clipped' Gibson's Discount Center for about $4,400 this year using "hot" checks.

"That's a lot of money for an individual to clip one store," Lee said. "We caught him. He is supposed to pay restitution. But when? I've tallied a total of $7,000 bad checks attributed to this guy!"

Lee described the problem as a "vicious cycle" because so many small businesses in Midland receive

"hot" checks and then turn around and pay employees "hot" checks. Sometimes these firms end up going out of business.

Then there are the estimated "10 to 25 professional check writers who come to Midland once a year and open accounts for $50 in local banks, giving phony names and addresses."

"They order checkbooks and checks, and in 2 or 3 days they write anywhere from $2,000 to $2,500 worth of worthless checks. They are usually gone by the time our office ends up with just a name to go by," said Lee.

He said if there are answers, they might come from a "little more scrutiny" by bank employee of people opening accounts.

Lee said clerks should check to make sure people really are who they say they are prior to their opening an account.

"Merchants can help themselves by closely checking the identification of people cashing checks and also their check's account number with the bank," he said.

Lee said Texas "has a check law with some teeth in it," but it could have more.

He said state laws could be more specific on evidence allowable in court to prosecute such cases.

In addition to more careful scrutiny by banks and cashers of checks, Lee said, the problem could be helped if juries would assess prison terms when the offender is brought to trial.

"Juries seem reluctant to send people to prison for writing 'hot' checks," said Lee.

"I don't know why. It's the same crime (as a robbery) — theft. Only instead of holding a gun to a store clerk, these people use a checkbook and a pen as their weapons."

Water board launches probe

federal funds to drain state water off private property?

Another issue concerns whether the project received proper environmental assessment.

"We were assigned to make sure that all the laws which affect this agency are complied with, Mittel said.

"I sent an investigator down to Big Spring to find out what the situation is like. My interest in this thing is to make sure that no laws are violated. We are not taking any sides. We're simply checking out a complaint."

Mittel said, should the agency find that certain laws were overlooked in funding of the project, it is possible that plans to drain One Mile Lake could be affected. He said he hopes the agency's legal staff will have an opinion some time next week.

City officials have for several years pushed for drainage of One Mile Lake, contending it has been a source of mosquito infestation and flooding problems in the area.

However, local environmentalists contend the lake should be preserved since it is a resting spot for migratory birds. A Big Spring couple at one time tried to purchase the lake to convert it into a wildlife refuge.

Critics of the project said the source of the mosquito and flooding projects is along an area of railroad tracks over Beals Creek, and the city should have spent money several years ago to correct the problem instead of applying for federal funds.

Krueger says energy bill 'bad'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Texas, said today the energy legislation just adopted by Congress will raise natural gas prices in Texas and should make it easier for other states to buy Texas gas that might be needed within the state.

Krueger, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, described the energy bill as a "bad piece of legislation" that was thrown together in 90 days, with Congress spending over 500 days trying to improve it.

Krueger called a news conference to announce he would sponsor legislation next session to cut the cost of paperwork, which is "triggered by excessive government regulations."

He said the expense of administering federal regulations has increased from $2.2 billion in 1974 to an anticipated $4.8 billion in 1979.

Krueger said gas now selling for $1.80 per thousand cubic feet in Texas will immediately rise to over $2 under the federal bill.

Cyrus Vance in negotiations

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and four other top Western diplomats met with South African leaders today to try to persuade them to abandon plans to go it alone in South-West Africa and to instead reopen negotiations on a U.N. plan for the delayed independence of the big mineral-rich territory.

Meanwhile, in one of the bloodiest incidents of the 12-year-old guerrilla war in South-West Africa, a landmine explosion ripped through a truckload of blacks returning from church services and killed 17 of them. The blast occurred near South-West Africa's northern border with Angola, where the anti-South African guerrillas have their bases.

South African press reports said fragments indicated the landmine was Soviet-made. The guerrillas are supplied with Soviet weapons.

Vance's spokesman, Hodding Carter, said the secretary "deplores" the Sunday night incident and that it is "precisely to avoid a continuation of violence" that the negotiations here must succeed.

DEATHS

Zula Bradshaw

Zula Mae Bradshaw, 75, of Midland, died Saturday in a Midland nursing home.

Services were to be at 4 p.m. today in Thomas Funeral Home. Burial was to be in Fairview Cemetery.

Miss Bradshaw was born Sept. 12, 1903, in Fannin County, and moved to Midland seven years ago.

Survivors include a twin sister, Zora Bradshaw of Midland; five brothers, T.R. Bradshaw of Midland, Finas Bradshaw of Ovalo, Lester Bradshaw of Plainview, Art Bradshaw of Abilene and Earnest Bradshaw.

DEATHS

C.J. "Red" Davidson

C.J. Davidson

FORT WORTH — C.J. "Red" Davidson, 81, pioneer West Texas drilling contractor and independent oil operator, died Sunday in a hospital here. He was a brother of H.W. Davidson of Midland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the University Christian Church here, with Dr. Granville T. Walker and Dr. Albert M. Pennybacker officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood Memorial Park, under the direction of Harveson and Cole Funeral Home.

A native of Frio County, where he attended public schools, Davidson entered Texas A&M University and, prior to graduation, enlisted in the U.S. Navy during World War I.

He started his oil field career at Desdemona (Hog Town) in West-Central Texas soon after his discharge from the Navy in 1919.

His early activities in the Permian Basin of West Texas were in association with the late Bert F. Weekly, who, with George Church and Bob Fields, discovered the Church and Fields Pool in Crane County in 1926. In 1934, Davidson drilled the discovery well on the Cummins Ranch in Ector County.

Moving north in the Basin, Davidson negotiated with Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. whereby he acquired a sizeable block of acreage in Yoakum County, and in 1935, he joined with Honolulu Oil Corp. in the drilling of the discovery well on the Bennett Ranch. This area now is part of the Wasson Field.

His quest for "wild-cats" continued northward and in 1936, he, together with Honolulu Oil and Devonian Oil Co., drilled the discovery well on the Duggan Ranch in southeastern Cochran County.

In 1928, Davidson and J.B. "Dutch" Shira formed a cable tool drilling contracting firm, and operated throughout West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. Davidson acquired Shira's interest in 1931 and organized Davidson Drilling Co. By 1934 the firm's cable tools had been replaced with rotary rigs. Davidson Drilling Co. was liquidated in 1970, after operating 39 years in the Permian Basin.

In 1935, Davidson organized Cascade Petroleum Co. to handle exploration and production activities. Cascade, in 1961, was sold to Pure Oil Co., which later was acquired by Union Oil of California.

Davidson was a former director of the International Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors and was the recipient of its Meritorious Award in 1959.

Hood County, in 1966, recognized him as "Business Man Conservationist" for soil conservation practiced on his Hood County ranch. He received the "Agriculture Appreciation Award" from John Tarleton College in 1968.

Davidson was inducted into the Hall of Fame of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame at Midland in 1973.

He long had been active in numerous civic and service projects. He created special scholarship funds at Texas A&M and other Texas colleges and universities. He also was a strong supporter of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, Texas Future Farmers of America, Texas Future Homemakers of America, and other organizations.

He was chairman of the Davidson Family Charitable Foundation at the time of his death.

He received a 50-year Master Mason certificate in 1971 and was a member of Moslah Shrine Temple here.

Survivors, in addition to the Midland brother, include the widow, Veeta Hammond Davidson, Fort Worth, and three sisters, Frances M. Davidson and Mrs. A.J. Battaglia of San Antonio, and Mrs. T.C. Blasingame of Corpus Christi.

Active pallbearers will be Ben L. Bird, Hilton T. Ray, John J. Wilson, James Leito Jr., Eddie Deems and Charles W. Woodard, all of Fort Worth.

Honorary pallbearers are H.B. Fuqua, W.A. Monchief, Sr., A. Clayton Luther, H.A. Hedberg, George R. Brown, Charles W. Bedford and Cleve F. Robison, all of Fort Worth, and Jno. P. Butler, W.A. Yeager and George J. Farrell, all of Midland.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to a favorite charity.

Richard Peters

Richard F. Peters, 67, 1602 N. J St. died Sunday of an apparent heart attack while playing golf at Midland Country Club.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. R. Boynton Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park directed by Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home.

He was born Jan. 29, 1911, in Lytlesburg, Ohio. Peters spent his early life in Ohio and was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1932. He moved to Houston in 1933 with Exxon. He also lived in Conroe and Beaumont.

He was married to Allena Milam. The couple moved in 1938 to Midland where he was a petroleum engineer with Exxon. Peters retired in 1968 after 35 years with Exxon. He then worked eight years with the Department of Public Safety before retiring.

He was a member and elder of the First Presbyterian Church. Survivors include his wife; a son, Carl M. Peters of Plano; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Fairman of Villisca, Iowa; two brothers, George W. Peters of Columbus, Ohio and Carl B. Peters of Kingsland, and six grandchildren.

Traps set for red wolves remain empty

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Fifteen traps set on Bull's Island a week ago to catch a pair of red wolves turned loose in January remain empty.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service wants to capture them to find how they fared on the island. Red wolves are an endangered species; fewer than 50 are believed to live in the wild, mostly in western Louisiana and eastern Texas. Another 40 live in captivity.

Ernest Neill

Ernest T.W. Neill, 62, a Midland architectural inspector and a former businessman and mechanical contractor, died Sunday at his home, 1400 Maberry St., following a lengthy illness.

Services were to be at 4 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church with Dr. Daniel Vestal, minister, officiating. Burial was to be in Fairview Cemetery directed by Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home.

Neill was born Aug. 21, 1916, in Wortham, spent his early life in Freestone County and moved to Winters in 1925.

In 1933, he moved to Orange Grove, near Corpus Christi, and then to Midland in 1933.

He was in the beverage business here for a number of years.

Neill established Neill & Co., a mechanical contracting business in 1943, and helped build hospitals, churches and schools across the state.

He dissolved the business in 1968 and became an architectural inspector for various firms in Texas until his retirement, due to ill health, earlier this year.

Neill was a deacon in the First Baptist Church, had served as chairman of the church's building committee and was instrumental in the construction of the present First Baptist Church building.

He was a past member of the Rotary Club, past board member of Howard Payne University in Brownwood, past board member of Buckner Baptist Benevolence of Texas Baptist General Convention, past member of the Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center in San Angelo, past member of Permian Basin Girl Scout Council and an associate member of Allied Mechanical Contractors Association.

Survivors include his wife, Annie Fay Neill; two daughters, Mrs. E. Wayner Mercer of Fort Worth and Mrs. William D. Hicks of Waco; three brothers, H. Paul Neill, Garth D. Neill and W. Martin Neill, all of Midland; a sister, Iris N. Bounds of Midland; six grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were to be Donald Neill of Abilene, Kenneth Neill and Allen Smith, both of Midland, William Garver Neill of Mesquite, Dr. Lynn W. Neill of El Paso, and Charles Smith of Houston.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to the Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic or the Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center in San Angelo.

Trade deficit swells

The imbalance in trade between the United States and Japan contributes directly to the decline of the dollar in relation to the Japanese yen and continuing inflation in America.

But, for some admittedly persuasive reasons, the administration of President Carter is reluctant to impose tariff barriers to reduce the deficit, which this year will be about $10 billion.

Even "jawboning" against the surge of Japanese exports to the United States is considered as possibly upsetting to the nation's chief ally in the Pacific.

Premier Takeo. Fukuda is preparing to play a larger role in Japan's own defense at a time of a military build-up in the area by the Soviet Union. Defense orders placed in the United States are expected to provide some relief to trade problems.

And the realignment in currency values will, over the long run, increase the cost of Japanese imports to the American people and discourage the purchase of Japanese cars, electronic equipment and cameras.

The envisioned relief, however, is purely speculative and experts concede it may require as much as two years for trade figures to be influenced by currency exchange rates.

The acknowledged importance of Japan's value as an ally does not ease the impact of inflation's squeeze on the U.S. consumer.

Firmness in present talks in Tokyo on the part of a trade mission headed by Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps would be justified — and sound.

The drag on economic growth in Japan brought on by the effect of the dollar's decline should be enough to coax Japanese restraint on the flood of exports. A move toward trade balance would be in the self-interest of both nations.

The recent decision by the President to continue to allow the import of wooden clothespins from Communist China, in the face of complaints from the few remaining U.S. manufacturers of the fading product, emphasizes American concern with establishing and maintaining strong ties in Asia.

The links should not be forged, however, at the expense of U.S. economic health.

'HEY - I THOUGHT THIS WAS TOUGH FOOTBALL'

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

So what's a $95,000 airplane?

freedom. His incredible escape has aroused some suspicion that Gardner was in fact a narcotics agent who set up the bust. We have no evidence to support this suspicion, and the State Department flatly denied it.

In any event, Martin and the third person, a woman, were not so lucky. They were convicted and sentenced to five-year prison terms.

Meanwhile, the plane's owners dispatched an investigator to Colombia with proof that Wandering Tiger Corp. had absolutely no involvement in the smuggling attempt. A judge accepted the evidence and assured the investigator, a retired Navy captain named Edward Iglesias, that the plane would be released soon. Iglesias returned to the United States.

Not long after, the judge summoned Iglesias back to Colombia to pick up the plane. But when he and a colleague arrived, they were told that the case had been transferred to another judge. They met with the new judge and he, too, assured them they would soon have their plane.

As the two Americans left the judge's chambers, however, they were suddenly seized by six policemen and carted off at gunpoint to a jail cell in Bogota. After a night in the cell, they were brought before Colombia officials and told, in no uncertain terms, that the Piper Navajo was now Colombia property. Any judge who ruled otherwise, they were told, would be removed from office.

The two men were then ordered to leave the country on the next plane.

Terrorism is employed to accomplish certain goals

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla.—We Americans are products of a revolution, live in a revolutionary age, and yet know almost nothing about revolutionary strategy and tactics. For that reason, we are frequently bamboozled.

A revolution is an attempt to overthrow an existing government from within the target government's jurisdiction. That's simple enough. Where we frequently go wrong and are frequently misled, however, is in thinking that revolutions are more or less spontaneous and broadly based.

That is almost never true. In nearly all cases, revolutions are carried out by minorities. The mass of people are just like the mass of us — inclined to accept the status quo, avoid risks, and concentrate on personal affairs.

To produce a spontaneous and mass uprising of just plain folks would require a combination of unbelievably intolerable conditions and lax security and no dictator is that stupid. Riots and demonstrations, which are often mistaken for mass support, are usually stage-managed by the revolutionaries.

Given a little training, some money and a few helpers, or I could create a riot in most American cities. There are "schools" all around the world which teach you how to start riots. Some of the best are in Cuba, Moscow, and North Vietnam.

One tip-off that a revolutionary group lacks popular support is the use of terrorism against civilians. Terrorism is employed to accomplish three primary goals: (1) to coerce the population into supporting the revolution; (2) to convince the population that the target government cannot protect them, and (3) to eliminate leaders who support the government.

These tactics are visible in Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Nicaragua, Rhodesia and Southwest Africa. Sometimes terrorism works and sometimes it backfires. Mao Tse-tung warned his people to use terrorism judiciously.

The revolutionary has one great psychological advantage. He knows what his goal is and therefore he can pursue with a single-minded ruthlessness his lone objective of bringing down the government.

The government, on the other hand, has to juggle several balls simultaneously. It has to govern. It has to cope with the revolutionaries' terrorism. It has to compete with the revolutionaries' propaganda. Since the revolutionary has no responsibility, he can promise the sun and the stars. The best governments, saddled with coping with reality, can never perform as well as the revolutionary can promise.

Propaganda is an important weapon. Internally, propaganda attempts to discredit the government and to win support from the people. Externally, propaganda is aimed at enlisting outside support for the revolution and undermining the government's relations with its allies.

Since the United States is a global power, virtually every revolution conducts a propaganda campaign inside our country. This was true of the North Vietnamese and it is true of the revolutionaries trying to overthrow the government of Nicaragua and of those trying to seize power in Rhodesia and Southwest Africa.

The Palestine Liberation Organization has two information offices in the U.S. and provides some of the best press facilities in the Middle East in the PLO-controlled sector of Beirut.

The thing to remember about propaganda is that truth is irrelevant. The propagandist is not engaging in a dialogue, but a harangue. To the propagandist, the enemy is without virtue; the revolution is without blemish.

Everytime you read information about a conflict, you should read with your brain and take a heavy dose of skepticism with each paragraph. Reporters are rarely in a position to do eye-witness accounts. Almost everything you read will be based on information provided by one or both parties of the conflict and neither one is interested in telling you the truth.

One final point. As a member of the American bourgeoisie, we are also the targets of revolutionaries even though it is not fashionable to admit it these days.

If you would like to know more about the people who lust to take your life and steal your property, you might read some of the standard works by men like Mao and Che Guevara. You'll find them and other leftwing writers in most college libraries and bookstores.

THE BIBLE CAN YOU QUOTE IT?

By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER

1. In the early nomadic life of Israel, their utensils were made of wood, skins and metals and it was not until after the settlement in Palestine, that the art of pottery was developed. The story of the potter and his wheel is quite an account in Jeremiah 18 and 19. It appears to be symbolized with Jews and Gentiles in Romans 9:25. How?

2. There is only one virgin birth in the Bible, but four miraculous births. Name one. Gen. 16, Sam. 1(K.J.) 1 K. 1(D.) Luke 1:7

3. What is the Nile River called in the Bible? Jer. 2:18

4. Tell the miracle of Nain. Luke 7:11

5. Charity shall cover the -----." 1 Peter 4:8

'Pollution' is right

The war on bureaucratic paperwork declared by President Carter may be foundering simply because the American public is overwhelmed by paperwork statistics on the federal level.

People are unable to grasp the enormity of billions of pages of rules and regulations, just as they find it difficult to comprehend the magnitude of billions of dollars.

But they can understand the plight of the Modesto, Calif., councilman, who in a mere three years has built a 14-foot mountain of documents, totaling 84,000 pages.

Harry Kullijan has written his own report — five pages long — commenting on the delays and resentments in coping with "The Political Paper Pollution."

True, if global warfare could be smothered under tons of guides, manuals and procedural outlines, the criticism would be muted.

But the documents Kullijan accepts from donors who "have a twinkle in their eye and a smile on their lips" do not evoke a like response.

They deal too often with more visible and immediate problems like drainage systems which must "go through 52 agencies" to effect essential changes.

The councilman's clump of paperwork shrubbery is every bit as frustrating as the President's paperwork jungle.

IT HAPPENED HERE

30 YEARS AGO (Oct. 16, 1948):

Iva Noyes of Midland, district director of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, met with the Rankin B&PW Club Thursday in the interest of the district conference to be held here Oct. 23-24.

Congressman Ken Reagan of Midland addressed the Midland Rotary Club Thursday in connection with the observance of "Oil Progress Day."

J. J. "Joe" Kelly, Midland, has announced he is starting a business on his own as an independent landman and tax consultant. He formerly was with Honolulu Oil Co.'s Texas division, with headquarters here.

INSIDE REPORT:

Cozy arrangements within congressional bureaucracy

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The Republican Senate staffer who was fired for supposedly offending ex-Sen. Mike Mansfield, U.S. ambassador to Japan, in fact made the mistake of disrupting cozy arrangements within the congressional bureaucracy that approach political incest.

Just why Dr. Michael Pillsbury was sacked from the minority (Republican) staff of the Senate Budget Committee is shrouded in contradictions, denials and even neo-McCarthyism. But Pillsbury might still be on the job had he not run afoul of hand-holding between staffers of the two parties.

While minority staffers in Congress have multiplied dramatically, they are all too often collaborators with their majority brethren rather than adversaries. Nowhere is this more true than on the Senate Budget Committee where the Democratic chairman, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, and the senior Republican, Sen. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, work as one.

To defense-oriented senators of both parties, the Muskie-Bellmon entente results in restrictions on defense spending in the name of economy without benefit of Republican opposition. It surprised nobody that David Shilling, the minority staff member of the Budget Committee supposedly representing Republican defense views, this year received a Carter administration political appointment in the Pentagon.

His successor was Mike Pillsbury, a Chinese linguist and Far Eastern specialist who most recently was a research fellow at Harvard. After Shilling endorsed him, Pillsbury was sacked. Nevertheless, Pillsbury was ordered home immediately from South Korea and was fired by Boyd on arriving in Washington. In probing the reasons, the story becomes murky, but filled with overtones of covert bipartisan collaboration.

Mansfield's cable to Muskie was hand-delivered by the State Department to John McAvoy, Budget Committee chief of staff, while Muskie was up in Maine. McAvoy took it to Boyd, who then called Pillsbury at home. According to Pillsbury, when he arrived in Washington Boyd told him that McAvoy insisted on Pillsbury's resignation before he showed the cable to Muskie because the senator might act in "an unrehearsed manner" — a reference to Muskie's fabled temper.

Boyd and McAvoy vigorously deny that, and State Department officials insist Mansfield did not cause Pillsbury's fall. Furthermore, Boyd told us there was nothing in his brief tenure on the committee staff to cause his dismissal.

What, then, caused the fuss? Boyd evoked Kafkaesque or McCarthyite overtones by saying he received (after Pillsbury left for the Orient) unspecified derogatory information about Pillsbury's past that revealed "a pattern of behavior that was unacceptable" and "poor inter-personal relations." Just what was wrong he would not say but suggested we ask about Pillsbury's record at the Rand Corp.

Checking with colleagues both in and out of Rand, this picture emerges: Pillsbury is brilliant, innovative but sometimes abrasive. His record was spotless before arriving at Rand's think tank in Santa Monica, Calif., in 1973. While there, according to one ex-associate, Pillsbury performed "some of the most interesting work on China" but proved "inadvertently threatening to jealous colleagues." In short, "his profile was just a little high."

That same grievous shortcoming in the age of the organization man plagued Dr. Pillsbury on the Budget Committee. Some Republican senators on the committee, who agree with the late Robert Taft's admonition that it is the business of the opposition to oppose, believe that Democrats dictated the dismissal of a Republican aide and are outraged.

Senatorial courtesy to Sen. Bellmon, however, prevents these senators from letting us use their names, just as it prevents their openly attacking the system. For that reason, the system that chewed up an innovative though prickly personality and muffles the Republican voice of opposition is unlikely to change.

Don't catch flies when playing bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Haste is useful only when you're catching flies, according to the old Russian proverb. The saying would be helpful if more players knew what they were trying to catch at a bridge table.

Opening lead - ♥ 3

East took the jack of hearts and continued with the ace. South ruffed with the queen of spades.

West hastily overruffed, smugly remarking: "I can't get anything higher for my king." He then returned a diamond to the ace.

Back came another heart, and South ruffed with the jack of spades. Declarer then drew trumps with the ace and ten. The rest was easy.

SHOULD DISCARD

If West discards instead of overruffing at the second trick, South leads a club to dummy in order to try the spade finesse. West captures the jack of spades with the king.

West returns a diamond to the ace, and back comes another heart. If South ruffs low, West overruffs. If South ruffs with the ace or ten of spades, West's eight soon becomes the master trump.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player doubles. You hold: K 8 4, H 3, D 9 7 5 2, C 9 7 5 4 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. Don't bid over an opponent's takeout double just to show weakness is to pass.

Withholding taxes to be cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress has approved a tax-cut bill approved by - Here are major provisions of the $18.7 billion INDIVIDUALS

-Permanent reductions in individual tax rates and other changes would result in 1979 tax relief totaling $12.7 billion. Withholding of taxes from paychecks would be reduced starting in January to reflect the cuts.

-The current individual tax credit of $35 per person, or 2 percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income (a maximum credit of $180) would be repealed. This and the current $750-per-person exemption would be replaced by a $1,000 exemption. The credit is subtracted from taxes owed; the exemption reduces income subject to taxation.

-The $2,200 standard deduction for single persons would be raised to $2,400; the $3,200 deduction for couples filing a joint return would go to $3,400.

-The earned-income credit, which rewards poor working families that include children for staying off the welfare rolls, would be raised from the current $400 top to $500, and some would be available to families with incomes up to $10,000. For the first time, the credit would be paid out periodically as part of workers' paychecks.

-The deduction now allowed for state and local gasoline taxes would be repealed, meaning a small tax increase for the 30 percent of Americans who itemize deductions.

CAPITAL GAINS -Sixty percent, up from the current 50 percent, of capital gains, or profits from the sale of assets owned a year or longer, would be exempt from regular income taxes. That 60 percent, after a $20,000 exclusion, would be subject to a new "alternative minimum tax," which would be paid only if it exceeds the regular income tax.

After the $20,000 exclusion, the next $40,000 would be taxed at 10 percent, the next $40,000 at 20 percent and all over $100,000 at 25 percent. The current "minimum tax," which is added to regular income taxes, would be retained but would not apply to capital gains. The result would cut the current 49.1-percent maximum capital gains tax to 28 percent.

-A person 55 or older who sells his home after July 26, 1978, without buying a new one costing as much or more could - once in a lifetime - exempt $100,000 of profit from capital gains taxes. Any person of any age could continue to defer such taxes as long as a new home costing at least as much is bought.

-A 1976 tax-law

change that would increase capital gains taxes on inherited property would be delayed until Jan. 1, 1980.

-The maximum tax on corporate capital gains would be cut from 30 percent to 28 percent.

BUSINESS

-The maximum tax rate on corporate profits, now 48 percent on earnings above $100,000, would be cut to 46 percent. The lowest rate, 20 percent, would be dropped to 17 percent. There also would be cuts between those extremes.

State backs off bilingual plan

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Following lengthy criticism of a proposed plan to require mandatory bilingual education in grades kindergarten through five statewide, the State Board of Education Saturday backed off from that proposal and gave tentative approval instead to changes which substantially maintains the status quo.

As approved on second reading, the plan now continues required bilingual education through grade three and supplemental English language development instruction in grades four through 12.

E.R. Gregg Jr., Jacksonville, told the board that the committee he chairs on policy, budget, and finance felt that the roll-back of the mandatory bilingual requirement is necessary in light of the testimony which the committee received Thursday from local school administration and other officials indicating intense opposition to the board's proposal.

Board chairman Joe Kelly Butler, Houston, stressed his support of the action, saying any fundamental policy change in this area should be made by the Texas Legislature.

"I think it is right and proper that we move back to a sound program," Butler said. "Anyone who says different is blind to the facts."

But board member Ruben E. Hinojosa, Mercedes, urged his colleagues not to "back down" from their previous position.

He agreed the plan could, as Gregg pointed out, impose a hardship on smaller school districts, but said he was "flexible" in this area and had been willing to work with the committee to find a way around the sticky problem locating qualified personnel and finances for such programs.

"I was willing to compromise," Hinojosa said, "but the committee was not willing to bend. Let's not roll back after taking a giant step to help the children who scored the lowest on these tests (Texas Education Agency tests which this week revealed that Mexican-American children are inferior to their White peers in reading and math skills)."

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Some heart attack stories just myths

Dear Dr. Solomon: My brother had a heart attack about a month ago. He's making a good recovery, the doctor says. But he thinks that having had one attack means that sooner or later he'll probably have another—and a more serious one than the first—and that this will just go on until he is finished off. His doctor has told him that things just don't work this way, and that he can look forward to being just about as good as new if he takes care of himself. But my brother just won't believe this—he thinks it is just talk to make him feel better. What are the facts about the chances after a heart attack?—J.L.

naturally, most codeine is produced from morphine. As compared with morphine, codeine produces less analgesia (pain relief), sedation and respiratory depression. It is widely distributed in products of two general types.

Codeine for the relief of moderate pain may consist of codeine tablets or be combined with other products such as Empirin Compound or APC. Some examples of liquid codeine preparations for the relief of coughs (antitussives) are Robitussin AC, Cheracon, and elixir of terpin hydrate with codeine. Codeine is also manufactured to a lesser extent in injectable form for the relief of pain.

Dear Dr. Solomon: How safe is the German measles vaccine?—A. E.

Dear A.E.: Over 69 million doses of rubella vaccine have been given in the United States. A small number of children (about five percent) experience transient pain of a single joint, often of the knee, after receiving rubella vaccine. This side effect is more common in teen-agers and adults. Other more serious side effects such as encephalitis (inflammation of the brain) or increased bleeding occur very rarely, about one in every million doses of vaccine administered. If a woman is vaccinated in early pregnancy, the fetus can be infected although it is not yet known whether this can lead to birth defects.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

Dear J.L.: As a group, people who have had on heart attack stand at somewhat greater risk than people who haven't had one. But it is only a slightly greater risk. And this is simply a statistical average. It doesn't mean that a second attack is inevitable or even probable. In fact, if a patient like your brother takes good care of himself, his prospects may be actually better than if he hadn't had an attack at all.

Also, it is not true that a second attack if it does occur, is liable to be more severe. And there is nothing to the myth that a third attack is necessarily fatal. Lots of people have had five or six attacks and recovered. So tell your brother to accept his doctor's reassurances—and also to follow his doctor's advice on how to get back to a full and happy life.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What's the story with codeine?—T.S.

Dear T.S.: This alkaloid is found in raw opium in concentrations ranging from 0.7 to 2.5 percent. It was first isolated in 1832 as an impurity in a batch of morphine. Although it occurs

4 Klansmen assaulted during Boston rally

BOSTON (AP) - Nine persons were arrested in connection with a rock-throwing, fist-flying, attack on four Ku Klux Klan members at an anti-busing rally at City Hall Plaza.

Dozens of demonstrators carrying anti-KKK placards and chanting "Death to the Klan" threw bricks and assaulted Imperial Wizard William Wilkinson, Mississippi Grand Dragon Douglas Coen and two unidentified Klansmen just after they arrived for the Sunday rally.

Wilkinson, 36, of Denham Springs, La., and Coen, of Saucier, Miss., were knocked to the pavement and stripped of their robes as police carrying "billyclubs" waded into the crowd to break up the fight.

Arrestment was scheduled today for the eight men and one woman arrested during the 20-minute fracas, which also involved several members of an anti-busing group called the South Boston Marshals.

"We had our hands tied with guys throwing rocks," said Sgt. John O'Brien, who headed a detail of about 10 police officers, including several on horseback. "The Klansmen were thrown to the ground. About 25 people hit 'em with fists and rocks."

Coen, with face bloodied, Wilkinson and the other Klansmen left the scene on foot and were driven away by what Wilkinson said were local sympathizers.

West Texas Association for the Education of Small Children will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Anson Jones Elementary School in the Kindergarten Center.

Presenting the program, "Screening Procedures for the Visually Impaired," will be Susan Habib, consultant for Region 18 Education Service Center.

With fall, Halloween and Thanksgiving near, members are asked to bring an idea to share—a song, art idea, math activity, recipe for classroom cooking—anything for this time of year.

Delegates will be elected from members who are planning to attend the Texas Association for the Education of Young Children's fall conference to be held Wednesday through Saturday in Houston.

Plans will be discussed for activities to support 1979 as the International Year of the Child, as proclaimed by a resolution passed by the United Nations General Assembly...

MUSICIANS CLUB

Early church music and art were featured when the Musicians Club, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, met in the sanctuary of Memorial Christian Church.

Following the welcoming of guests by Jane Parker, president, Erma Underwood presented a survey of architectural and artistic styles from Greek and Roman times to the early Baroque, using slides taken during her travels abroad.

The musical portion began with early organ works by Conrad Paumann, Claudio Merulo and William Croft, performed by Manetta Heckathorne. Dietrick Buxtehude's cantata, "Sing to the Lord a New Song," was presented by Mrs. Parker, soprano; Gloria Steelman, violin; Jane Huddleston, cello, and Kathleen Janssen, piano.

A sonata by Vivaldi for solo violin with cello and organ accompaniment was played by Mrs. Steelman, Mrs. Huddleston and Mrs. Heckathorne. The program concluded with the Handel aria, "So Shall the Lute and Harp Awake," sung by Sharon Hyde, soprano, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Huddleston.

Hostesses were Helen Codington, Mrs. Janssen, Julie MacCurdy and Beverly Wise.

Guests included Caroline Philpy,

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RIGNER

(TUES. Oct. 17)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to make whatever long-range plans are of importance to you. Be prepared for changes in attitudes and activities. Keep on your toes so you can get the best use of new arrangements.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate more clearly how to make more progress in the future. Don't commit yourself to anything important just now. Concentrate on ways and means for adding to income.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to improve both your business and social life. Get rid of annoying situations. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Concentrate on what is best for you. Others can be of assistance in a plan of action you have in mind. Ask for advice, suggestions.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate on pals who can be of help to you and later relieve tense situations. Study personal goals and how best to attain them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make plans that improve your position in the community. Don't lose track of important practical affairs. Credit matters should be handled wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have fine ideas for increasing success, but don't neglect present problems. A new contact you make can be very helpful to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study the practical side of your affairs and get everything working more intelligently. Relieve tensions with an associate and then all works out much better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Confer with associates early, clear up minor points and then get right to work. Steer clear of one who opposes you and could do you harm. Think along constructive lines.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on work you have committed yourself to first and then get into other activities that need your attention. Take treatments for greater strength.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get at home affairs that need your attention and everyone will be pleased. Study a new project that could prove successful in the future. Be careful of intrigues.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find sane and sensible ways of handling problems and then go ahead in a positive manner. Handle correspondence that will bring you benefits. Be courteous with others.

DEAR ABBY

A rift over gifts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, 24, is being married to a 29-year-old man who was married before. (No children.) His marriage lasted less than two years. This is our daughter's first marriage.

The problem: We're giving our daughter a lovely church wedding. The groom's parents (who are socially very prominent) say they will attend, but they prefer not to send any of their friends or relatives invitations to the wedding. Their reason: "All of our friends and relatives gave wedding presents to our son just two years ago—and once is enough."

Abby, what has our daughter to do with the wedding gifts his first wife received? Do you think the groom's parents have a right to cut down on the number of lovely gifts our daughter will receive just because her fiancé was married before?—ANAHEIM

DEAR ANAHEIM: A wedding invitation is a bid for one's presence—not presents. But if the parents of the groom choose not to send invitations for that—or any other reason—it's their privilege.

DEAR ABBY: A girl signed "Under Age and Over Developed" wrote, "Whoever said, 'boys like GOOD girls' is crazy!"

Well, she is dead wrong. I'm a 19-year-old male college student, and when I go out with a girl, all I expect is good company and nothing more. My problem is getting girls to believe that there are a lot of guys like myself who are saving themselves for marriage. They think I'm weird or gay or living in the stone age.

If I thought that women were good for sex only I could save myself a lot of time and money by just picking up a prostitute. Don't get me wrong, Abby, I'm not one of those holier-than-thou characters. I just don't want all the guilt that goes with pre-marital sex. And I certainly don't need to risk getting VD or causing an accidental pregnancy.

Please keep telling girls (and boys) to keep their standards high. I'm still old fashioned enough to want the girl I marry to be a virgin, and I hope there are some girls out there who appreciate the same kind of guy. Sign me...—STILL CLEAN AT NINETEEN

DEAR STILL: There are. And thanks for a refreshing letter.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman and I'm so ashamed of my problem I don't want to ask anybody else, so I'm turning to you.

I am never sure which fork or spoon to use when I am at a fancy dinner. I usually wait to see which utensil the others are using, then I follow suit, but I would like to be sure myself.

Can you help me?—DUMB AT THIRTY

DEAR THIRTY: Please don't call yourself "dumb." You are smart enough to ask. Follow this simple rule: When silverware is lined up on either side of the plate, use the spoon (or fork) that is on the outside (farthest from the plate) first, and work toward the center.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Institute of Arts expects to have its first million-visitor-year since the early 1970s, according to director Frederick J. Cummings.

Do not overcook Brussels sprouts

COLLEGE STATION—When not overcooked, Brussels sprouts, rich in Vitamin C, offer a delectable taste treat, a Texas home economist says.

Overcooking of Brussels sprouts destroys their Vitamin C and detracts from their full flavor, Marilyn Haggard cautions.

Miss Haggard is a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Named after the Belgian city of Brussels where they were first grown in the 13th century, the sprouts grow on a stalk. Actually, they are miniature cabbages, Miss Haggard says.

To buy quality Brussels sprouts, look for small, firm heads.

To cook them, boil them in salted water—or in a small container with only a small amount of water—for just seven or eight minutes.

Then butter, salt and pepper them for a delicious simple side dish.

FROM SIZE 14 TO 8 AND I FEEL GREAT SAYS MIDLANDER, OPAL DUNLAP.

Four years ago I had an attack of gout in my left leg and foot. My doctor told me that unless I lost about 30 lbs. I would never feel good.

I tried all kinds of diets and found myself gaining instead of losing. I saw the Pat Walker advertisement in the paper and decided to try it. Immediately I started losing lbs. and inches. Now I wear a size 8 instead of a 14 and I feel great, thanks to Pat Walker and their personnel. Everyone is so helpful and interested in you as an individual.

Even though I have reached my desired goal, I continue to go because it helps me so much since I am unable to do strenuous physical exercise. I would recommend Pat Walker's to anyone with a weight problem.

Dodgers' jittery defense turns to jelly

By ROSS NEWHAN
(C) 1978, The Los Angeles Times
NEW YORK — The Dodgers continued to perform Sunday as if they belonged farther off Broadway than The Bronx.

Even New Haven wouldn't be far enough.

Taking stock of this company, the Dodgers would seem to belong back in training camp for a cram course in all phases of their art.

The visitors disintegrated, 12-2, under an aggressive attack by the New York Yankees Sunday.

The Yankees now lead this 75th World Series, three games to two, having come back from 0-2 to sweep the three games here.

A Yankee Stadium crowd of 56,448, many of whom roared onto the field after the final out and then dug up more divots than a weekend hacker, saw six-game winner Jim Beattie restrict the National League champions to nine scattered hits while the Yankees assaulted a trio of Los Angeles pitchers for 18 hits, including 16 singles, a World Series record.

could win the two in a row that it will now require for the Dodgers to unseat the Yankees as world champions.

"What do you think I'm going to say to that?" Lasorda asked. "Of course I think we can win two in a row. We'll have the home park advantage, we'll have our own fans. We'll know which way the ball is going to bounce."

Even with that latter edge, it can't be certain the Dodger defense will respond properly. They'll don their protective gear again Tuesday night when Don Sutton faces Catfish Hunter at Dodger Stadium.

Reflecting the Yankee sweep here, outfielder Jay Johnstone said, "I don't think the Dodgers have to be embarrassed. We simply kicked their ass. We're an aggressive team that force the other team to make mistakes. We were in a position where we had to come back again, and we did. The three games here should give the Dodgers some insight into what we went through and how we reacted during the final three months of the season."

THURMAN MUNSON drove in five runs with a double and two singles, while Bucky Dent, Brian Doyle and Mickey Rivers also had three hits each, sparking a relentless assault that first sent Burt Hooton to the warmth of the clubhouse after only 2 1-3 innings.

It was 52 degrees with wind gusts of up to 20 mph, when the game started in the twilight shadows. The Dodger defense, playing as if it was in a twilight zone throughout the three games here, was considerably colder than the October chill.

Los Angeles was charged with three errors, one passed ball and two wild pitches. There were a number of other sins that helped the Yankees keep innings alive and leave the Dodgers closer to another autumn burial.

DODGER MANAGER Tom Lasorda stormed when asked if his team

"PRESSURE?" responded Graig Nettles when asked if it looked like the Dodgers were feeling it.

"I guess so," he said. "It does look like it. But I hate to speculate on what kind of emotion another team is experiencing."

"It's like I've said before, the best thing that happened to us is that we were kept under pressure until the final day of the regular season and

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thanks to the coolness of a Mexican-born kicker, the Dallas Cowboys have climbed back into the middle of a hot National Football League divisional title race.

Rafael Septien, undaunted by an earlier miss, Sunday calmly booted a 47-yard field goal at 3:28 of overtime to give the Cowboys a 24-21 triumph over the winless St. Louis Cardinals.

"You have to definitely be cold in this business," said Septien, whose kick climaxed an eight-play Dallas drive.

"If you let your emotions control you, then you don't have a chance," he observed. "You have to watch the ball and keep your head down. It was the biggest kick of my life."

Houston, SMU clash in surprise SWC showdown

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Back in August, the Houston-Southern Methodist football joust in the Cotton Bowl Saturday ranked somewhere below the introduction of southern fried corn in anticipated thrills at the annual State Fair of Texas.

Suddenly and shockingly it has just as much import in the Southwest Conference race as a little feud some 200 miles down the road at Austin between unbeaten Arkansas and the once-whipped Texas Longhorns.

Houston did a 33-0 number on the previously unbeaten Texas Aggies Saturday night some five hours after SMU had overcome a 21-0 deficit with four Mike Ford to Emanuel Tolbert touchdown passes that resulted in a 28-21 Pony win.

BOTH HOUSTON and SMU are 2-0 in the SWC chase and tied with defending champion Texas which is 2-0.

Arkansas, the preseason favorite which was idle last week, is 1-0.

"We knew we would have a better football team this year," said SMU Coach Ron Meyer. "How much better, I still don't know. Ole No. 10 (Ford) throws the ball in there, but No. 21 (Tolbert) makes things happen."

Speaking of things happening, the Aggies weren't certain of what they had seen Saturday night against

Oilers' 'Ace' formation produces 17-10 victory

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers call it their ace formation and they used it just enough in a game-winning 97-yard drive Sunday to deck the Buffalo Bills 17-10 in a roughly fought National Football League game.

The Oilers' needed an ace Sunday after they fell behind the struggling Bills 10-7 at halftime and the ace formation, with one running back and two tight ends, helped them get going.

"As long as we win, you can't say anything bad about it," said backup fullback Rob Carpenter, who scored the game-winning touchdown on an 18-yard run late in the third quarter.

Houston drove almost the length of the field in the third quarter after Buffalo's Rusty Jackson had punted to the Oiler three-yard line. Carpenter cut behind a block by rookie Mike Renfro to score the winning touchdown.

"I looked up and all I could see was 'Renfro' across the back of a jersey," Carpenter said. "Then all I had to do was cut back and it was six points."

Oiler Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, pleased to escape with a victory, said the one-back formation was nothing new but the Oilers used it more against the Bills.

"It keeps their linebackers off the line of scrimmage and makes their outside linebacker line up on the tight end," he said. It keeps them loose and prevents them from stunting so much.

Carpenter's touch-down run put Houston ahead for good at 14-10 with 1:35 left in the third quarter, and Toni Fritsch added a 43-yard field goal in the fourth period.

The Oilers, 4-3, must prepare for a Monday night struggle against unbeaten Pittsburgh in an American Football Conference Central Division showdown. The Bills dropped to a 2-5 record.

Lopes vows Dodgers will fire all guns on Tuesday

By JACK STEVENSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Second baseman Davey Lopes vowed that he and his Los Angeles Dodgers teammates would fire at the New York Yankees with everything they have Tuesday night to keep the World Series alive.

"I think they feel a lot better than we do and they have momentum now," said Lopes, the Dodgers' captain. "It's not going to be easy, but we're not conceding anything either."

After losing three straight games in Yankee Stadium, the last with one of their poorest performances of the year, the Dodgers left those unfriendly confines and returned today to Dodger Stadium.

Still, the Yankees lead three games to two and need just one victory to repeat as World Champions.

"That was one of the worst games we've played," admitted star first baseman Steve Garvey, who committed an error and struck out twice with two runners on base in Sunday's 12-2 Yankees' romp.

"I've seen worse," Garvey added. "Unfortunately, this one occurred at a time which magnified it."

Spears team captures RHCC couples tourney

Marian and R. L. Spears of Midland Country Club posted a 201 through Saturday and Sunday to win the first annual Fiesta del Ranchero Couples' Invitational golf tournament, hosted by the Women's Golf Association of Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Linda and Buddy Jones of Del Rio took second with a 205. The format was total score of the couple minus handicap on first day and handicap best ball on second day.

Low net was won by Dave Lage of RHCC and Jean Horton of Houston. Special prizes were won by Liz Robinson of RHCC and Johnnie Guelker of Andrews.

Kramer awake

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Vikings' reserve quarterback Tommy Kramer, the heir apparent to Fran Tarkenton, was taken from the field on a stretcher during Minnesota's 34-17 loss to Los Angeles Sunday with a head injury. But a team spokesman said he was "awake and speaking well" at Metropolitan Medical Center in Minneapolis.

SHORTSTOP BILL Russell, who had his share of troubles in the field, said he had no excuses over his error in the first inning and failure to come up with some other balls.

"I just missed it," he said of Roy White's grounder. "But the others were tough plays. I'm getting blamed for the loss, that's what it comes down to. I don't think it's because of any one individual. I don't want to get the blame for the games we have lost."

Our new 721 steel cord. Much stronger and why.

New stronger steel

Our previous steel cord used only five steel filaments. Now there are ten. It's an all new steel cord that starts out with two filaments with seven more wrapped around them. Then, one more steel filament binds the cord together. That's how the tire received its name—seven over two plus one—or, 721.

Montgomery paces Eagles upset win over Skins

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Eagles, led by running back Wilbert Montgomery and defensive end Dennis Harrison, knocked the Washington Redskins from the National Football League's unbeaten ranks Sunday with a 17-10 victory.

That left only two NFL clubs unbeaten after seven weeks of the season — the Pittsburgh Steelers, who whipped the Cleveland Browns 34-14, and the Los Angeles Rams, who defeated the Minnesota Vikings 34-17.

Montgomery rushed for 125 yards on 25 carries, his fourth 100-yard plus running game of the season, and scored the game-winning touchdown for the Eagles on a 12-yard run in fourth quarter.

Harrison, a rookie who only plays in passing situations, had two quarterback sacks, knocked down a pass and caused a fumble against the stunned Redskins.

Washington had tied the score 10-10 in the third quarter on a 3-yard run by John Riggins, who gained 97 yards on 21 carries. But on the ensuing kickoff, Jim Betterson found an opening in the middle and raced 44 yards to the Washington 47. It took just four plays for the Eagles to score, capped by Montgomery's 12-yard run.

TWO FUMBLES by Tony Green killed late Washington threats. With 5:05 to play, Green fumbled at the Philadelphia 3 and Eagles rookie linebacker Reggie Wilkes recovered. Then, with less than two minutes left, Green fumbled a punt and Billy Campfield recovered for Philadelphia at the Washington 43.

Rookie Larry Anderson's 95-yard kickoff return late in the first half put the Steelers in front and they went on to beat the Browns, their closest rival in the American Football Conference Central Division. Terry Bradshaw completed 10 of 21 passes for 175 yards and two Pittsburgh scores.

The Rams' Pat Haden tossed a 3-yard touchdown pass to Lawrence McCutcheon to erase a 17-13 Minnesota lead. Isaiah Robertson then returned an interception 16 yards for a TD and John Cappelletti scored on a 4-yard run, clinching the Rams' victory. Los Angeles' defense limited Minnesota to 39 yards rushing.

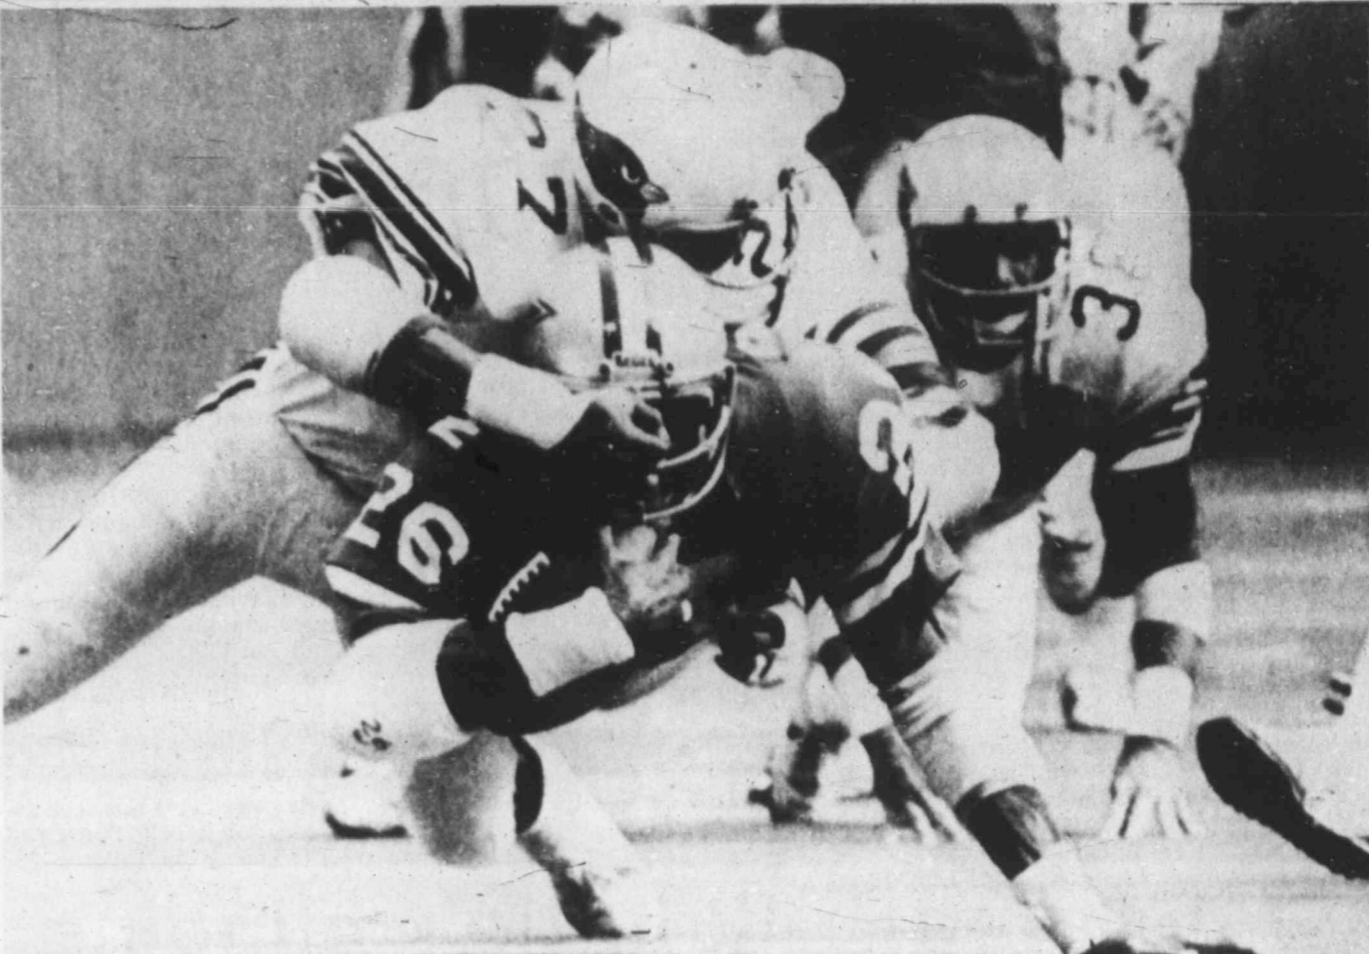

ELSEWHERE, Green Bay's Steve

Odom, who had promised that if he scored a touchdown he would give the game ball to an 11-year-old boy who last week lost both legs in a tractor accident, ran back the opening kickoff 95 yards for a score, starting the Packers on their way to a 45-28 triumph over the Seattle Seahawks. Terrell Middleton rushed for 121 yards and four TDs for the Packers, 6-1.

Linebacker Harry Carson's interception and fumble recovery set up two fourth-quarter touchdown runs by Larry Csonka, vaulting the New York Giants over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 17-14.

Steve Bartkowski fired a 24-yard touchdown pass to Billy Ryckman in the second quarter and Bubba Bean scored on a 25-yard run as the Atlanta Falcons blanked the Detroit Lions 14-0.

SAM CUNNINGHAM'S three-yard run with 6:56 remaining gave the New England Patriots a 10-3 victory over the winless Cincinnati Bengals. One play earlier, officials had ruled a non-fumble at the Bengals' 3 after Steve Grogan lost the ball following a 9-yard run.

Greenwood tops Morton, 24-15

MORTON — Greenwood's junior varsity spotted the Morton JV an early 8-0 lead but then came storming back to capture a 24-15 win to remain unbeaten through five games this year.

Joe Mobley got Greenwood on the board first with a four-yard scoring run in the second period. Mobley then circled left end for the two-point conversion to pull into an 8-8 tie with Morton.

Ronnie Taylor hauled in an eight yard scoring pass from Homer Lopez in the third period to put Greenwood in front for good, 14-8. Lopez added a 32-yard field goal later in the quarter to stretch things to 17-8.

Morton scored again in the fourth quarter to tighten things up once again, but Oscar Lopez put the game away with his 54 yard interception return for a touchdown. Homer Lopez tacked on the extra point giving Greenwood their final 24-15 margin.

Men's singles to wind up meet

Seventh-seeded Jose Rivera of Midland College defeated Pierre DeChaud of Midland, 6-4, 6-1, to earn a berth in the finals of the men's championship singles division of the Midland Coca-Cola Tennis Open.

Rivera's win in Sunday's semifinal round puts him in the tournament finals against top-seeded Kim Ketsel of San Angelo, a 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, winner over fourth seeded Paul Nunley of West Texas State.

The championship finals match was scheduled for 10 a.m. today.

Lisa Yap of the University of Texas Permian Basin was a surprise winner of the championship women's singles, edging 15-year-old Stacy McCaffery of New Mexico Military Institute, 6-3, 7-5.

Yap upset the tournament's third seed, former Midland College player Vicki Kerr, in the quarterfinals, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, and then topped Mary Trendnick of Odessa in the semis, 6-2, 6-2.

McCaffery earned her spot in the finals with a stunning 6-1, 6-2, semifinal verdict over the tournament's second seed, Midland High senior Vicki Vassick.

The top seeded women's player, Karen Schuchard of Texas Tech, was eliminated by Trendnick in the quarterfinals, 6-2, 6-2.

Gordon Davis of Fort Worth captured the men's 21 singles title Sunday, scoring a 6-2, 6-1, verdict over Lantz Mills of Odessa in the finals. Davis had moved into the finals with a 6-1, 6-1, semifinal win over Odessa's Ram Challapalli while Mills had to go to split sets to beat Kevin Andrews of Odessa, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

Old swagger returns to Yankee pin-stripes

Los Angeles Times Syndicate
NEW YORK — It was like old times. The Yankees threw big innings at the Dodgers; they scored on a strikeout with two out; they broke a record for one-base hits in a Series game.

The Dodgers got beat by a 6-9 righthander from the Ivy League — and that's his record not his height — in the first complete game he's ever pitched in the big leagues. The Yankee Stadium crowd gave the Dodger shortstop a standing, derisive ovation over a routine ground ball.

The final score was 12-2, the kind of a Yankee win where you look around for Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, DiMaggio and the old Murderers' Row.

THE FLAGS are flying in Yankee

Stadium again, the old swagger is returning to the bullies in pin-stripes, and the whole team is Mr. October. Every single Yankee regular has gotten a hit in this Series and it's the old story: even the league castoffs rise to the heights when they put on the pin-stripes. There's something about being a Yankee and all that jazz.

This is The-best-Team-That-Money-Can-Buy. It was put together the same way the Taj Mahal was. But it wasn't too many years ago, this team was not Murderers' Row, it was Poverty Row: The Yankee empire had its decline and fall, the pennants were fading on the wall, the monuments were getting weathered and the Yankees were the worst team for the money in baseball.

The glory year appeared gone forever. The team, like the rest of the Bronx, had seen better days, and it was like an old dowager with holes in her glove presiding at a party to which nobody came.

IT WAS in those years that Roy Hilton White, as graceful a player as you will ever see, came to the Yankees and kept a light in the window.

The team that had won 29 pennants and 20 world championships was finishing ninth and 10th. The Broadway crowd deserted the box seats. Madison Avenue wasn't knocking on the door begging the stars to eat Wheaties or shave on television.

Nobody cared whether they shaved or not. A television network owned the club, and they ran it as if it were just another afternoon game show.

Roy White played on this poor, benighted team that played in the gloom of the old tarnished Yankee stadium in comparative privacy, and Roy White played impeccable baseball in these trying circumstances. He hit .290 and about 20 home runs a year. He threw to the right base, he became infamous around the league for leaping catches off the top of the wall. He did nothing to disgrace the memory of Joe DiMaggio. Roy White was a Yankee if the rest of the team wasn't.

THE ULTIMATE indignity came when the team left The House That Ruth Built and became renters at Shea stadium. The idea of the lordly Yankees being tenants was humiliating. They got the second-rate facilities, their lace-curtain audience really deserted them, and if ever there was an excuse to quit and turn into the St. Louis Browns, this was it. It was hard to imagine the legacy of Ruth and Gehrig turning into a bunch of sharecroppers.

Roy White played like a Yankee even in the Mets' stadium. He was like an English lord dressing for dinner in the tropics. I mean, standards had to be maintained, you couldn't just go native — you were a Yankee, dammit. Roy White never let the bars down. He was like a proper sahib in the Punjab. You could jeer at the rest of the team, but Roy White would knock the sneer right down your throat.

When George Steinbrenner bought the Yankees and began to advertise for a team in the Yellow Pages and to spread his shipping money around the Carolina hills and on Reggie Jackson Rolls Royces, Roy White had reason to think that patience, forbearance and a proper respect for manners would finally be rewarded.

ROY WHITE was born in wartime Los Angeles. His father was white, an artist, a painter by trade, German by descent. His mother was black and had three little Whites to raise. As a kid, Roy White became a switchhitter by pretending to be Stan Musial or Ted Williams in the schoolyard games. The streets were fecund with ballplayers. Reggie Smith, Dock Ellis, Don Wilson and Bobby Tolan came out of that era. Roy White was as good as any of them.

The Yankees shelled out millions for the rest of their outfield, but Roy White was a bigger bargain than Alaska. The Yankees got him for small change — less than $10,000. Roy White has never made a headline with anything but his bat or his glove in his life. He never speaks above a whisper. His vocabulary, in a locker room which would have to improve to be rated "X," is rated "G." You get no stream of oaths or obscenities from Roy White's locker. He answers questions politely, quietly. He is a pro's pro, but the kind of guy you could take to the opera.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Chris Evert wins again

Evert defeats Virginia Wade

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — Chris Evert pounded out a 6-7, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Virginia Wade to win the $100,000 U.S. Women's Indoor Tennis Tournament at the Met Sports Center. Evert, in winning the 70th annual event for the first time, picked up $20,000 in first-place money and increased her 1978 earnings to $160,907.

Okker claims Tel Aviv title

TEL AVIV — Top-seeded Tom Okker of Holland defeated Peter Feigel of Austria 6-7, 6-4, 6-2 in the finals of the $25,000 Israel Tennis Center Classic.

Yugoslavia reclaims cage title

MANILA, Philippines — Yugoslavia regained the World Amateur Basketball Championship, edging the defending champion Soviet Union 82-81 in the final game on Drazen Dalipagic's free throw in overtime.

The loss was the Soviets' second at the hands of the Yugoslavs as they finished second in the 14-nation tourney.

Andretti wins at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — Mario Andretti took the lead when Gordon Johncock spun off the course four laps from the finish and held on for victory in the International Race of Champions.

Andretti crossed the finish line 50 feet in front of Cale Yarborough, who was closely followed by Bobby Allison, Alan Jones, Emerson Fittipaldi and Johncock.

Andretti, who took a .968 second victory margin, averaged 100.688 mph, driving a Chevrolet Camaro.

Aoki-Owen win Match Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England — Isao Aoki of Japan and Simon Owen of New Zealand won their semifinal matches in the World Match Play Golf Tournament.

Ray Floyd, the only American left, holed three birdies in a row but couldn't make up enough ground on Aoki, who won 3 and 2 after being 5-up.

Bertolaccini edges Whitworth

DALLAS — Silvia Bertolaccini sank a five-foot birdie putt on the last hole to take a 2-shot victory over Kathy Whitworth in the $75,000 Dallas Civitan Open at the Trophy Club golf course. Bertolaccini finished 3-under-par at 213.

House approves Amateur bill

WASHINGTON — A bill permitting the government to spend $16 million to help amateur athletics was approved by the House and sent to President Carter.

The House action, by voice vote, partially reversed a previous vote that eliminated the original $30 million proposal to reorganize the governing committees of amateur athletics.

Olympic irregularities probed

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — Already stumbling under huge deficits and other problems, the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee is now under investigation for possible financial irregularities in its preparations for the 1980 Winter Olympics.

Beattie's blinding speed pays off in clutch for rookie

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "How do you feel?" Manager Bob Lemon asked his rookie pitcher.

"I'm okay," replied Jim Beattie, the 24-year-old fireballer from Dartmouth University.

"You seem to be aiming the ball. Do you want to stay in?" the manager asked.

"I think I can do it. I would like to finish," Beattie replied.

"I think you're aiming the ball. You've got good stuff, just throw as hard as you can," the manager said. "Stick in there, kid. You can do it."

This was the little off-stage drama in the seventh inning of the fifth World Series game, won by the New York Yankees 12-2 over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was a game of many heroes — not the usual ones — for the World Champion Yankees. But the brightest star of the chilly day was the 6-foot-6, 210-pound right-hander who finished the first complete game of his major league career in a star-spangled setting.

Although he allowed nine hits and faced the Dodgers' most potent bats with the game's lead at stake several times in the early stages, he managed to come through with blinding speed when it counted.

HE CLIMAXED six innings with strikeouts. Twice he fanned the Dodgers' great clutch hitter, Steve Garvey, with two men on base.

Under Beattie's steaming fire, Garvey left seven Dodgers on base. The second time he was fanned, he went down on three straight pitches.

Beattie, who was sent back to the minor leagues at Tacoma, Wash., in tears after a lambasting by the Boston Red Sox June 21, said he was not nervous after falling behind the Dodgers 2-0 in the third inning.

"You don't get uneasy if you're behind only two runs with this club," said the gangling Ivy League. "All you have to do is to stay close. This is the kind of team that pulls you out of holes."

the Cougars.

"I really can't explain what happened," said Aggie defensive lineman Eugene Sanders.

AGGIE COACH Emory Bellard refused to alibi, saying his team was outplayed.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said it was a combination of a young team coming together and remembering the 27-7 thumping at the hands of the Aggies a year ago.

"The kids knew we went down there last year and did not exactly cover ourselves with glory," said Yeoman. "We were embarrassed and they were determined to make up for it."

"This is really the first time our kids came together. They know they can play, but they don't understand how young they are and how much there is to learn."

IN OTHER games Saturday, Texas thumped North Texas 26-16. Rice snapped a 14-game losing streak with a 21-14 victory over Texas Christian and Texas Tech unleashed James Hadnot for a school record 268 yards rushing en route to a 36-23 victory over New Mexico.

Dodgers' Defense turns to jelly as Yanks win

then had to play Boston in a game where there was more pressure than any of us will face again. The result is that now there's none. Even when we were down 0-2 there was none."

Asked about the Dodgers' defensive play, Nettles said:

"Any team that is having problems on defense is going to be in trouble against us because we make contact consistently. The Dodgers will be a different team in their park, primarily because those balls that the Dodgers hit to left center, the ones they depend on for extra bases, are just big outs here."

"We've executed," said Reggie Jackson of the three game streak.

"We only missed a couple of bunts and a couple of cutoff men. The key to winning this thing is that you've got to make the routine plays and let the great plays take care of themselves. We've been doing the routine and the Dodgers haven't."

"Maybe," said right fielder Lou Piniella, "they just don't like to play in this park. Maybe it's psychological. They didn't play well here last year, either."

"THEY ARE an excellent club and they'll regroup. But I think there's a certain pressure on them to prove they can beat us. We did it to them last year. We're the world champions. They know they have to beat us, that we won't give it away."

"The big thing is that when you've been through it, when you're the world champion, you always feel you can reach back and find what you need. It's like a heavyweight boxer who's getting knocked around and suddenly finds his knockout punch."

Hooton, a winner of 15 of his last 19 decisions, was knocked out during a four-run New York third inning Sunday. successor Lance Rautzhan was knocked out during a three-run fourth, an inning that would have been scoreless if shortstop Bill Russell had turned a double play on a difficult change. Charlie Hough was left to mop up across the final 4 1-3 innings, yielding 10 hits and five runs, four of which scored after the final out of the seventh inning.

RIVERS STRUCK out on a wide breaking knuckler that eluded catcher Johnny Oates. It should have been the third out except that Rivers raced to first, and Jim Spencer scored as Oates pursued the ball. Roy White then singled in another run and Munson doubled in two.

That was typical of the way it went for the Dodgers, whose defensive lapses also played a significant role in the previous New York victory.

This time Hooton overcame Russell's boot of a double play grounder in the first, but could not survive the third, which Dent opened by drawing a walk. Rivers and White then singled for the first New York run.

Now the embarrassment began to set in. The sore-legged Rivers and the 34-year-old White pulled a double-steal on a knuckle curve that broke sharply and fell out of catcher Steve Yeager's glove.

Munson followed with a two-run single to right, where Reggie Smith fielded the ball and delivered a throw that Joe Garagiola in the loge-level broadcasting booth had a better chance of catching than Yeager. Hooton failed to back up the plate and Munson trotted around to third, from where he scored on Piniella's single to left.

IN THE Dodger clubhouse later, several players were concerned about how the press would treat this game, saying that a positive approach would help rebuild the team's confidence. In searching for positive crumbs, it should be reported that the Dodgers did end the four-run third by negotiating a double play. The sequence, it is presumed, will be preserved in the club's 1978 highlight film.

Now there was one out in the fourth when Doyle, the rookie who is replacing injured second-baseman Willie Randolph, singled to right. Dent followed with a hard smash that erupted at Russell's feet. A double play would have ended the inning, but Russell was unable to handle it and the ball caromed off his body into left field. Doyle raced to third and Dent to second when Dusty Baker threw to third. Rivers followed with an RBI single that scored Doyle and put Dent on third. White now grounded to first baseman Steve Garvey who stepped on first and then fired to the plate in an effort to get Dent. The throw was wide, however, and far out of Yeager's reach. Rivers moved to third on the error and scored when Munson greeted Hough with a single to right.

All of this was much more than Beattie required, though it helped ease the pressure on the rookie from Dartmouth.

The 6-6, 28-year-old right-hander said later that he was "happy as hell," which is to be expected when you turn your first World Series start into an eight strike-out, four-walk complete game.

BEATTIE STRUCK out Garvey with two on and two out in the fifth, and he struck out Garvey with two on and two out in the seventh. He also struck out Ron Cey with a runner at second and two out in the first and he struck out Smith with a runner at second and one out in the third.

Smith singled in the first Los Angeles run and Russell doubled in the second. devey Lopez scored both after collecting singles in the first and third innings.

Black smoke disappoints crowd

For the children, there was candy dispensed from pinatas as the adults browsed through the San Miguel Square stores during the official grand opening of the center Saturday morning. (Staff photo)

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Three times as large as Rome's big soccer crowd, the faithful surged out of St. Peter's Square without cheering a new pope but with plenty of grumbling about the Vatican's supposedly foolproof smoke signals.

The smoke at noon Sunday from the burning ballots in the Sistine Chapel, indicating that the conclave had failed to elect a successor to Pope John Paul I on the first two ballots, was firmly and clearly black. But the evening signal had the crowd in St. Peter's Square shouting "Bianca! Bianca!" — "White! White!" — while the Vatican Radio was announcing "Fuma nera" — black smoke again.

The fault was not in the new procedure of burning black or white flares for a minute before adding the ballots. The color of the smoke was changed by the two giant searchlights playing on the roof of the Sistine Chapel from the Janiculum Hill and the battery of floodlights atop Bernini's Colonnade around the cobbled-stoned square.

Only 50,000 turned up at Rome's soccer stadium to see Lazioite Atalanta 1-1 Sunday afternoon, but the Vatican's doubleheader drew 100,000 in the morning and 150,000 in the late afternoon. Some rushed directly from the stadium to St. Peter's to swell the twilight turnout.

It was a golden October day at noon with only the one black cloud in the sky to disappoint the crowd. At night a full-faced moon rose over the Tiber and the crowd surged toward the balcony above the main door of St. Peter's Basilica, convinced that the new pope would soon appear.

his blessing, but he graciously came out on the balcony again to hear its serenade.

Throughout the long day there was a Sunday-in-the-park mood about the crowd, with children running, balloons flying, chestnut salesmen raising their own fragrant smoke and old women sitting by the fountains with sun hats made from L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

The seminarians returning to Rome's pontifical colleges for the resumption of classes today were happy that the double dose of smoke-watching turned out to be a non-event.

"Surely they will suspend school opening so we can be out here again watching for history," said Bernard Johnson of Fountain Valley, Calif., studying to be a priest at the Dominican College.

Brother Fabian from Sydney, Australia, the Vatican pharmacist who watched the tall smokestack from the grassy knoll where the Vatican Radio has its studios, hoped that the cardinals wouldn't "take too long at picking their man so things can get back to normal around here."

Bishop Cletus O'Donnell of Madison, Wis., on vacation in Rome, joked about the Vatican's budget problems.

"There's no doubt we outdrew the World Series," said the Rev. Patrick

Clancy, an American priest teaching canon law at Rome's Angelicum College, who said he stayed up "half the night" to hear the Yankee-Dodger game on the Armed Forces Radio.

He had made a promise to himself this time to "stay in the square and not be fooled by those smoke signals."

"When they elected John Paul I in August, I thought the smoke was black and left the square. I turned on the radio as soon as I got back to the room and found we had a new pope. I jumped on a bus again but got caught in a traffic jam and didn't get back in time for his first blessing from the balcony."

Spy vs. spy game heats up

of the Paris bureau of the Bulgarian television and radio network. Yes, yes, he was shot with a poison pellet. It happened near the Arc de Triomphe. Mon Dieu, he survived but now he has dropped from sight.

Scotland Yard plays it cool. "So far we have found nothing to link the death of Markov to that of Simeonov, other than the fact that they both worked for the BBC's Bulgarian section," says Jim Nevill, head of the Yard's anti-terrorist squad.

The Markov assassin's M.O. has not been confirmed, but the victim told fellow exile Teo Lirkoff he had been jabbed with an umbrella while passing a line of people waiting for a bus. Before jumping into a taxi, Markov said, the umbrella man apologized in a thick foreign accent.

Was the pellet fired through the ferrule of the umbrella? Did the ferrule hold a syringe loaded with poison? Did the killer jab Markov with the umbrella to divert his attention while the fatal pellet was fired from a special weapon? The questions abound.

We come now to the Amorous Adventures of Arkady Shevchenko.

Last April 6, Shevchenko traded his well-paid job as U.N. undersecretary-general for asylum in the United States, a new name and $78,000 in severance pay.

He acquired a girlfriend named Judy Taylor Chavez who now simply can't wait to tell the world how he gave her $35,000-$40,000 worth of gifts.

"I was being paid by government funds," said Miss Chavez, at a news conference called by newly found publishers. Her monthly $5,000 allowance, she said, came from the CIA in marked $100 bills and she also got a $14,000 sports car and a vacation in the Virgin Islands. What she did in return hasn't been spelled out.

"It is true that during this period I supported her generously," said Shevchenko. "It was not money received from the U.S. government." And: "I am immersed in very serious work and have neither the time nor the inclination to perpetuate this squalid little episode. Accordingly, this statement will be my last word on the subject."

The Russian defector, who has been living in a luxury apartment building in Washington using a Finnish name, is getting a new identity and presumably a new girlfriend.

Another ongoing mystery could be called The Paisley Puzzle. It involves John Paisley, 55, who was deputy director of the CIA Office of Strategic Research before he quit in 1974 for a life of sailing, leisure and an occasional consultancy with The Company, as the CIA is known.

On Sept. 25 his sloop, the Brillig, was spotted aground near Point Lookout, Md., on Chesapeake Bay. A week later his body was found floating in the bay, a bullet hole above and behind the left ear. Around his waist were two sets of diving weights.

To date, police are calling it suicide. Paisley was not involved in spying activities, says the CIA, and it's just a coincidence that his apartment was on the same floor as that of eight others rented by the Soviet embassy for its employees.

In this murky sphere of cross and doublecross there always are disbelievers. For instance, the Senate Intelligence Committee.

It took note of Paisley's role as a consultant to the CIA, interpreting spy satellite photographs. That set committee investigators to wondering whether there was any connection between Paisley and William P. Kampiles, arrested in Chicago two months earlier. Kampiles, a former CIA watch officer, is charged with selling to the Russians documents that deal with the KH-11 surveillance satellite.

Real-world spy stories crop up everywhere. A sampling of news stories the last two years shows rich variety.

—MOSCOW: U.S. officials discover sophisticated bugging equipment in the American Embassy in Moscow.

—NEWARK, N.J.: Two Soviet employees of the United Nations were convicted Friday of trying to funnel anti-submarine warfare secrets to their homeland. A U.S. Navy officer with whom they dealt turns out to be a double agent for the FBI.

—ALEXANDRIA, Va.: A former federal employee and a Vietnamese expatriate were sentenced to serve 15 years in prison on charges they spied for communist Vietnam.

—WASHINGTON: The wife of an American double agent last seen three years ago thinks the CIA may have forfeited her husband's life to boost the career of another Soviet spy secretly working for the United States.

—LOS ANGELES: A college student on trial for espionage said he was given money in the basement of the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City to steal U.S. secrets.

The real explanations for many of these events are not likely to surface. There is, after all, a venerable and venerated dictum in the Central Intelligence Agency:

"Some things should remain secret from inception to eternity."

New legislation to cut income taxes, but it won't offset higher tax bite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation on the way to President Carter will cut income taxes for 65 million couples and individuals next year. But for most, it won't offset a higher overall tax bite from inflation and increased Social Security withholding.

A four-member family earning $20,000, for example, will get a $167 income tax cut under the $18.7 billion measure Congress passed Sunday. But the effects of inflation pushing people into higher brackets combined with Social Security tax increases which begin Jan. 1 will cost that family $235 — or $68 more than the tax cut.

The Senate passed the bill 72-3 and the House 337-38. The tax changes, if approved by the president, will take effect next Jan. 1 and will be reflected in tax returns due to be filed by April 15, 1980.

Although there was no immediate word from Carter whether he will sign it, the compromise bill appears to meet most of the objections he voiced against earlier versions.

It would cut individual income taxes in 1979 by about $12.7 billion, reduce business taxes by $3.6 billion, and give investors a big break by cutting the capital-gains tax by a net $2.1 billion. Miscellaneous reductions would cost the treasury another $150 million.

"With what we had to work with (the budget allowance for tax cuts) we spread the joy around about as well as we could," Sen. Russell B.

Long, D-La., told the Senate.

Not everyone was happy with the bill, especially Republicans and some conservative Democrats who were upset because conferees had dumped a provision granting $164.5 billion in new tax cuts from 1980 through 1983 if federal spending is held down.

"We are sitting on our hands while middle-income Americans are facing a real tax increase" because of inflation and the Social Security hikes, said Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del.

The individual tax cuts would be reflected in reduced payroll income tax withholding starting Jan. 1.

These cuts include across-the-board reductions in rates; increasing the $750-per-person exemption to $1,000; raising the standard deductions from $2,200 to $2,400 for single persons and from $3,200 and $3,400 for couples, and expanding the earned-income credit for poor working families, to a maximum of $500.

On the other hand, the general individual credit — $35 per person or $180 per family in most cases — and the deduction allowed for state and local gasoline taxes would be repealed.

And, for the first time, some unemployment compensation would be subject to taxation. An estimated 900,000 persons who wind up with annual incomes above $20,000, if single, or about $25,000 for a couple would find a portion of their unemployment benefits taxed.

All told, between 1 million and 2 million couples and individuals would face slight tax increases under the bill.

The $29.3 billion bill passed by the Senate last week would have offset next year's Social Security tax increases and the increased income-tax burden caused by inflation pushing earnings into ever-higher tax brackets.

But a budget squeeze and the fight against inflation prompted the Senate-House conference committee to cut back the package.

As a result, generally only those single persons with incomes around $18,000 and families under about $20,000 would get enough tax cut to offset inflation and Social Security increases.

Because of the structure of the tax package, some persons in the $40,000 income range would come closer to breaking even than would some at much lower levels.

The bill includes a liberalized, once-in-a-lifetime tax break for persons over 55 who sell the home in which they have lived for three of the last five years and don't buy another costing at least as much. The first $100,000 of profit from the sale would be tax exempt.

A person of any age who sells a home and plows all the sales price into another could continue to defer taxes on the profits.

The $2.1 billion net cut in the tax on all capital gains, which are profits from the sale of assets owned for a year or longer, would affect about 5 percent of the nation's taxpayers. It is aimed at making investment in American business more attractive.

Five-year SLA saga ends in court; 6 members are dead, 4 in prison

By TONY LEDWELL

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The end of the five-year saga of the Symbionese Liberation Army came in a subdued courtroom just two blocks from where it all began in a blaze of gunfire.

When it was over, six SLA members were dead, four were in prison and their most famous recruit — taken against her will — was asking President Carter for clemency and release from jail and reportedly talking of marriage.

It was a story written on the front pages of newspapers around the world, launching the most massive search in FBI history, and briefly capturing the fancy of the dwindling ranks of left-wing radicals spawned by the turbulent 1960s.

Now, it has ended. The architects of the SLA, William and Emily Harris, will spend at least the next five years in prison for the 1974 kidnapping of Patricia Hearst and their attorneys say they are turning away from violence as an instrument of political reform.

Two of their comrades-in-arms, Joseph Remiro and Russell Little, are serving life sentences for the November 1973 ambush of Oakland schools Supt. Marcus Foster, a popular black whose assassination stripped the fledgling revolutionaries of black support.

It was left to the Harrises to close the book on the SLA, pleading guilty to abducting Miss Hearst and receiving their sentences last week in an Oakland courtroom.

Although Bill Harris stood up in court for one final gesture, saying softly in Spanish, "The struggle continues. We will win," it was without the stridency of earlier times.

His attorney, Leonard Weinglass, said the Harrises have had a lot of time to think about their methods of the past and intend to "stay out of trouble" in the future.

The SLA achieved its long-sought violent confrontation with the Establishment in May 1974.

William Wolfe, a 23-year-old son of a physician; Camilla Hall, daughter of a minister; Angela Atwood and Nancy Ling Perry.

"What we have is the end of an important era," said Susan Jordan, attorney for Mrs. Harris. "It is over and everybody involved wants to go on with their lives. The Harrises believe it will be up to history to write itself."

For Miss Hearst, born to wealth and raised to adulthood in luxury, the SLA gave her an insight into a world she had never known.

She spent 19 months on the run in the terrorist underground, often living in dingy, roach-infested apartments.

In a copyright interview in Sunday's New York Post, Miss Hearst said she planned to marry her fiancé, Bernard Shaw, a San Francisco policeman and former bodyguard, on Valentine's Day.

Miss Hearst will be eligible for parole next July but has given no indication she will place the last piece into the SLA puzzle, a mysterious year from September 1974 to her arrest in September 1975.

Expenditures for solar development up 10-fold

By J.P. SMITH The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — For years, consumer advocate Ralph Nader and people of like mind have been pressing the government to underwrite the development of solar power as an alternative to the traditional forms of energy...

Finally the government has responded. Spending to aid solar development will reach almost $500 million this year — up ten-fold in five years — and promises to grow by hundreds of millions next year.

But Nader isn't happy. To his chagrin, a group of Fortune 500 giants ranging from Atlantic Richfield to Westinghouse has taken up the solar cause. The large corporations of which he is so wary have become the major beneficiaries of Nader's efforts.

Some solar advocates say this is necessary to press the development and commercialization of technologies at this point which remain capital intensive. A recent DOE study completed by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory concludes that the oil companies and the so-called "systems" companies such as the large aerospace firms are in the best position because of their financial staying power and management.

The fact that corporate America has joined the environmentalists and consumer advocates in backing solar power is seen by DOE Assistant Secretary for Solar Applications Omi Walden as a positive sign.

Obviously, corporate America foresees big profits down the road. "Ten years from now, the solar industry will be a big business," says Sheldon Butt, president of the Solar Energy Industries Association.

At the moment, however, solar power remains largely uneconomic and dependent on subsidies. Still, its promise is such that it has a nearly unstoppable following on Capitol Hill.

"Nobody is anti-solar in Washington in a political sense," says Denis Hayes, head of a national solar lobby coalition and an originator of Sun Day.

A recent Harris Survey found 94 percent of respondents in favor of solar energy development. This popularity is not lost on the Congress.

Last week the Senate approved a House-passed bill under which the government would buy $1.5 billion worth of photovoltaic cells over 10 years — a big shot in the arm for companies such as Solarex, Westinghouse, and Arco Solar.

The Senate also passed a measure that could waive the 4-cents-a-gallon federal motor fuel tax on gasohol, a mix of gasoline and alcohol. Gasohol can be made from grain, wood chips, sugar, even cheese.

There are also tens of millions of dollars in tax credits in the Carter energy plan for homeowners and commercial building owners who install solar equipment.

The fact that corporate America has joined the environmentalists and consumer advocates in backing solar power is seen by DOE Assistant Secretary for Solar Applications Omi Walden as a positive sign.

Program highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, are the highlights of the energy program passed by Congress:

NATURAL GAS — Prices would be allowed to rise by about 10 percent annually until 1985. After then, price lids would be removed from most gas.

SOLAR ENERGY CREDITS — Taxpayers could take a tax credit of 15 percent on the first $2,000 for home insulation, storm doors, storm windows and for other energy-saving equipment — up to a total credit of $300.

AUTOMOBILE TAX — New fuel-wasting cars would be taxed beginning with 1980 models that get less than 15 miles per gallon.

ENERGY CONSERVATION PROGRAMS — New energy-efficiency standards would be set for home appliances.

RESTRICTIONS ON OIL AND GAS USE — Industries and power plants would be encouraged, and in some cases required, to switch from oil and natural gas to coal.

ELECTRIC RATES — State utility rate-making commissions would be required to consider schemes for lower rates to residential consumers who use power in off-peak hours.

PIPELINES — Construction would be expedited on pipelines proposed to carry natural gas from Alaska across Canada to the lower 48 states and from the West Coast across the Northern Tier states to the upper Midwest.

Energy bill awaiting President's signature

By TOM RAUM
WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger was once asked how he would feel when President Carter's energy program was finally approved. "It will be like a death in the family," he said.

That time has arrived. Congress has finished its work. The energy bill is awaiting President Carter's signature. And Schlesinger, who spent the better part of the 18 months roaming Capitol Hill corridors keeping the energy plan alive, is free to return to the Department of Energy to draft what he calls "NEP2," or "National Energy Plan Two."

But even as the administration starts putting together its next series of energy initiatives, due for submission to Congress in 1979, the controversy over the first one lingers.

"There is great disagreement on what it will accomplish. It will demonstrate, even to our critics, that we are able to move on this critical issue," claims Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, who shepherded the complex five-section bill through the House.

"This compromise sends us into battle with a toy gun," said Rep. Laurence Coughlin, R-Pa. "It makes a lot of noise but it feels no one."

The 95th Congress completed work on the package at daybreak Sunday, nearly 18 months after Carter submitted it to Congress as the "moral equivalent of war."

Final passage came on a 231-168 House vote that sent it to the White House and gave Carter the biggest domestic victory of his presidency.

Even so, the compromise version that took Congress so long to forge will affect many individuals and businesses.

It will gradually lift federal price controls from natural gas, provide tax credits for home insulation and solar energy, tax fuel-wasting cars, establish numerous federal energy conservation programs and promote industrial conversions from oil and natural gas to coal.

Most home appliances will have to meet new efficiency standards and ornamental gas lamps — the kind that adorn suburban lawns throughout the nation — will have to be permanently extinguished by Jan. 1, 1982 under the bill.

What the long-debated natural gas pricing section of the plan will cost consumers is one of the controversies lingering.

Various opponents which fought the feature allowing deregulation on most natural gas prices by 1985 claim it will transfer $200 billion from the pockets of consumers to producers over the next seven years.

That could mean increases averaging $100 to $200 a year for typical families who heat with natural gas, opponents say.

Supporters concede that gas prices will go up, but say the additional costs associated with deregulation will be closer to $20 a year for the average U.S. family.

Homeowners faced by rising heating costs might find some solace in another part of the energy plan: a 15 percent tax credit for home insulation and storm doors and windows, up to a total credit of $300.

Seven men rescued after 12-hour ordeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Seven men were rescued in good condition from the Gulf of Mexico early Sunday more than 12 hours after a boat ferrying them to an offshore oil rig capsized as it tried to ride out a storm at anchor, the Coast Guard said.

They brought to 96 the number of persons rescued in four separate incidents within 24 hours after heavy winds churned up rough seas on the Gulf.

The motor vessel Brimstone picked up the seven men in a life raft at 4 a.m. Sunday after spotting a their flashing light and hearing their horn.

Coast Guard Chief Bill Odum said they were in good condition except for fatigue.

Their 115-foot crew boat, the William Compton, capsized Saturday 60 miles south of Cameron, La., after they anchored it to ride out 15 foot waves and winds up to 45 miles an hour, he said.

Odum said the boat left Cameron Friday afternoon to take the men to an offshore rig. But at 2 a.m. Saturday, when the boat was only an hour from the rig, the head of the rig told the ship to return to port because of rough weather, he said.

The search began after a private helicopter spotted the crew boat capsized but still at anchor Saturday afternoon.

The seven were transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Point Hope and were being taken to a Coast Guard station at Sabine, Texas.

Consumers to be touched

By TOM RAUM
WASHINGTON (AP) — The energy bill that crossed the congressional finish line at daybreak Sunday will touch many consumers directly — from higher gas heating bills to tax credits for home insulation.

But even its staunchest backers no longer claim it will produce the changes in lifestyles once suggested by the Carter administration.

Nor is it likely to bring the nation much closer to energy self-sufficiency.

President Carter's original energy plan — a multi-billion-dollar package of energy taxes, fuel-price increases and energy-conservation credits — was designed to curb the nation's enormous appetite for foreign oil.

When the plan was introduced some 18 months ago, administration officials said it would save 6 billion 42-gallon barrels of oil a day — an estimate later reduced to 4.5 million.

The United States currently imports 8 million barrels of oil daily — roughly half its total daily consumption.

What will be the effects of the bill? Administration lobbyists say it has important symbolic significance: showing U.S. trading partners abroad that this country is serious about conserving energy. It may even help to halt the dollar's decline overseas, the White House claims.

But public-interest lobbyists claim the part of the program that gradually lifts price controls from natural gas will transfer $200 billion from the pockets of consumers to producers over the next seven years, increasing energy costs for families who heat with natural gas of more than $100.

Soviet researchers work on new plant

By ROBERT GILLETTE
The Los Angeles Times
MOSCOW — Along with breeder reactors, Soviet nuclear researchers say they are working on a new kind of nuclear power plant to provide steam heat for towns and cities, an application that has received only minimal attention in the West.

Fully 30 percent of all the coal, oil, and natural gas the Soviet Union burns is for heating purposes, Dr. Valery Legasov, deputy director of the Kurchatov nuclear institute in Moscow, explains, "Our task is to replace this organic fuel with nuclear fuel."

In the United States and most other Western countries, where nearly every home, apartment house and office building has its own furnace, the concept of central heating for entire cities has only recently been considered — and would seem to involve an expensive urban plumbing job.

In Scandinavia and West Germany, there are a relative handful of so-called co-generation power plants, which generate electricity and also pipe the waste steam to apartments, shops and offices.

Minister wants double

KUWAIT (AP) — Iraqi Oil Minister Tayeb Abdul Karim warned Sunday of a possible breakup of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries if the oil cartel fails to adopt a "just and logical" price increase when it meets in December.

He said the current $12.70 price for a barrel of crude oil was equivalent to only $4 in real terms because of inflation and the declining value of the dollar.

Spill to miss Irish beaches

MILFORD HAVEN, Wales (AP) — Seventeen vessels sprayed detergent on a million-gallon oil spill in the Irish Sea Sunday, and the leader of the salvage operation said the slick should not reach the picturesque west coast of Wales.

The major oil slick, 10 miles by 6 miles, should be broken up either today or Monday and I don't think there is any danger to the beaches there," said Cmdr. Peter Murison, whose frigate HMS Eskimo is 400 yards from the stricken Greek tanker Christos Bitas.
