Beirut has a night without casualties

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A peace blueprint recommended by Syria and five other Arab states generated an initial de-escalation of hostilities in Lebanon today despite mixed reaction from Lebanese political leaders.

The Beirut police department and a Christian militia spokesman reported a decrease of cease-fire violations since the Arabs announced their eight-point program Tuesday night.

"It was a rare night without casualties," said a police spokesman, though the predawn stillness was broken by a few volleys of machine-gun

The Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said Syrian snipers killed a Christian teen-ager and wounded two others this morning, but that sniping had decreased at the northern and eastern approaches to Beirut's Christian sector

The command of the Syrian-dominated Arab Deterrent Force did not comment on security conditions but said, "a slight redeployment of peacekeeping forces" was imminent to minimize Syrian Christian friction.

Informed sources and newspapers close to President Elias Sarkis said the move would bring Saudi Arabian troops into hot spots in the Christian

The Arab conference resolutions received unexpected support from the United States when Washington joined France in warning the top Christian leader, Camille Chamoun, against breaking the 12-day-old cease-fire or provoking fresh hostilities with the Syrians.

The truce ended 10 days of the most savage Syrian-Christian fighting in eight months. The syrians make up the bulk of the 30,000-strong ADF, which polices the 23-month-old civil war armistice between the Christians and an alliance of Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas.

Chamoun dismissed the conference resolutions as "mere words." His principle ally, the Phalange Party, said the peace program was "vague and needs clarification."

Maj. Saad Haddad, commander of Christian forces in southern Lebanon, rejected the conference's decisiops in advance, saying "The Arab countries don't want the good and well-being of Lebanon.

All Moslem factions declared unreserved support for the conference's decisions, however, and called on Sarkis to enforce the resolutions quickly and firmly.

The resolutions empower the president to disarm all Lebanese private armies and to close down rival clandestine radio stations in an effort to create a central authority in this nation of 3 million.

Although similar decisions had been taken in the past to no avail,

Reagan says party 'out of step'

By LINDA HILL R-T Staff Writer

The national Democratic leadership is "out of step with the rank and file" of the party, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said in Midland

Some of the best Republicans I know are Texas Democrats," said Reagan at a press conference.

Reagan, in Midland to campaign for area Republican candidates, told his audience at a $100-per-person cocktail party to beware of President Jimmy Carter:

'A man who tells you he enjoys a cold shower in the morning will lie about other things, too.

The well-beseled audience which filled the Midland Hilton Civic Room responded enthusiastically to Reagan's bantering style.

"We know that the president won't serve hard drinks in the White House. But the staff is probably on pot. It's probably the only administration we've ever had that's high and dry," Reagan quipped.

Reagan accused recent congresses of effectively repealing the 10th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution through regulations. That amendment reserves for the states powers not delegated the federal government in the Constitution.

The former governor advocated returning responsibility for programs them. One way to do that would be to return a certain percentage of the

such as welfare back to the states,

along with the tax money to finance

state, he said.

Putting control of welfare programs back at the state level would allow "deservability" to be determined more effectively, he said.

Reagan said Americans are "recognizing at last...that the government is doing things it shouldn't be trying to do."

The message of Proposition 13 in California, he said, is "you can fight city hall....Uncle Sam and that great leviathan in Washington.

Although calling for "better balance" between the parties in Congress, Reagan acknowledged Republican gains may not be significant this year. He said at his press conference gerrymandered congressional districts make it "an uphill fight" for any Republican candidate.

Reagan claimed in recent years more people have voted for Republican candidates than Democratic ones, although more Democrats were

Poerner critical of enforcement

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

The Midland office of the Texas Railroad Commission has come under heavy criticism from one of the commissioners for what the commissioner called a lax attitude in enforcement of pollution regulations governing oil companies John H. Poerner said Tuesday the agency's West Texas field staff has been instructed to be more aggressive in seeing that Railroad Commission laws are being carried out.

The commissioner said he particularly is displeased with evidence which tends to indicate West Texas staff members are not doing a thorough enough job in overseeing brine disposal methods which could harm ground water and wildlife.

'The situation is going to be corrected or else there is going to be an attitude change of some kind," said Poerner in a tc'ephone interview from his Austin office

"It's (West Texas) the only place in Texas that's giving us trouble, and that doesn't have to be tolerated.

Bill Thompson, a public affairs official for the Railroad Commission said today that he regards Poerner's comments as "rather strong," but did indicate that there have been meetings over the lake situation this week

Bob Harris, chief engineer of oil and gas operations for the commission, and Mack Wallace, the chairman of the commission, referred inquiries about Poerner's statements to Thompson's office. But Thompson said the two probably would not be making any comments at this time. Poerner said he is concerned about the great potential for ground water contamination in West Texas because of unregulated disposal operations.

Although there have been several reports received by state agencies about oil field waste discharges contaminating ground water, nobody knows the accuracy of the allega-

However, Poerner said the Railroad Commission and the Texas Department of Water Resources are expected to receive federal funds for a joint in-depth statewide study of how the water aquifer may be affect-

WASHINGTON — Unlikely as it seems, Saudi Arabia is running short of cash. Although the world's leading oil producer isn't likely to go broke anytime soon, it does have a serious cash-flow problem — at least

As a result, the government has begun a significant belt-tightening program to help make ends meet. Beginning in May, the Saudis started quietly cashing in short-term investments such as bank certificates and notes they previously had been renewing automatically. Latest estimates are that the total transferred from portfolios to government coffers since then may have exceeded $1.2 billion. Other Arab oil-producing nations are said to be in a similar bind. The reason for the Saudis' financial problems has been the worldwide oil glut, which has dampened demand for crude and forced sizable production cutbacks throughout the oil producers' cartel.

Today, the Saudis are producing about 7 million barrels of oil a day, well below the 8.5 million-barrel-a-day pace needed to bring in enough revenues to keep the government's budget balanced.

During boomier days, the Saudis had imposed an 8.5 million-barrel-aday ceiling on their production, in part to mollify Arab critics who wanted lower output levels and higher prices.

At one point last summer, Saudi production levels dropped to 6.7 million In the face of all this, the Saudis have run into a sizable - albeit temporary - cash-flow squeeze. Sources say the transfer of funds out of short-term investments and into the treasury has reached several million

The difficulty is strictly a cash problem and has not yet affected the Saudis' foreign exchange position. Official statistics show the Saudis still have $26 billion in foreign exchange, and private estimates double that. U.S. officials have forecast the Saudis' trade-and-investments surplus will drop to $18 billion this year, declining further in 1979 and beyond.

Overall, there is no evidence the country is going under financially. Nevertheless, the cutback in oil revenues has forced some visible belt-tightening in recent months. Besides cashing in some of their short-term investments, the Saudis also have cut back in other areas.

-At the start of last summer, the Saudi Council of Ministers ordered a $4.5 billion spending cut that amounted to 10 percent of the government's total budget. Since then King Khalid has bosted the reductions to -On the royal family's order, the government held up for two months a relatively modest $400 million in advances to contractors for a $2 billion gas pipeline being built from the Abgaig oil field to the industrial city of Yenbu. -Recently, the Saudi Finance Ministry proposed that the Arabian-

American oil Co., of which the Saudis own a majority and are negotiating to take over, finance all of its big new expansion program from a scant 50 cents a barrel on oil sales.

If the Saudis hold firm to that restriction, it could slow plans to enlarge Aramco's production capacity. Current programs are aiming for a 12 (Continued on Page 6A)

New Haven shaken by slayings of six black women

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - It is just a short walk from Yale, this other New Haven. After dark, six blocks of Chapel Street take on a tawdry glow from the bars, the all-night luncheonette - and the autos with white customers for the black hookers on the

It is a street not accustomed to security.

But now something new is happening, something more sinister.

In two years seven black women have died suspiciously in and near New Haven. Police know six were killed, and think the seventh may have been. Four had prostitution records; three died within a month.

No one knows for sure if the deaths are linked, and police don't even characterize all the victims as prosti-

But the hookers see a pattern, and they feel a fear

That, in turn, is drawing the ghetto's law-abiding and its desperate together — making allies of police and prostitutes, putting even Gov. Ella Grasso on the same side as the hookers in this case

For it is no longer a question of morals. It is a question of the equality of everyone - even those on the fringes of the law — when it comes to the right to life itself.

Chapel Street is a short distance from New Haven's black ghetto. At any one time on a normal night, a dozen hookers, most of them black, can be seen flagging down cars on the street. In the cars that stop, most of the customers are white men from the suburbs

But now the girls have become less active. And when some do go out, they have at their sides for part of the time a "Soul Patrol" of young black men who would normally shun them.

"We walk with the girls. Wherever they go, we go. It kind of cuts down the action," says Donald Morris. He organized a patrol of 15 men Sept. 23 after Terry Williams, 23, of New Haven was found nude and shot to death in a motel. Police say she was a prostitute who apparently went there with a man who picked her up down-

The patrol does not accompany all the girls all the time. Mostly, it watches for clues, tries to make the girls feel safer. It notes plate numbers of cars; it sometimes urges prostitutes to stay off the streets. At first, it got a cold shoulder from the girls — but now is accepted, Morris says, by the fewer prostitutes in

'Truth Squad' predicts upset

A member of Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements' staff Tueday predicted Clements will pull off an upset victory Nov. 7 over Democrat John Hill.

"I can't believe that the electorate is as gullible as it is, just because he (Hill) is a Democrat," said Omar Harvey, head of Clements' "Truth Squad.

In a Midland Regional Airport press conference attended by two reporters and Harvey's assistant, Bob Feather, Harvey said "people in this state" are either "afraid" of Hill or 'they just don't trust him.

"I'm not afraid of him," Harvey said. "But I hasten to add, I don't trust him either.

Harvey termed Hill a "liberal law yer politician" and viewed Clements as a "conservative business execu-

In further lashing out at Hill, Harvey, a long-time friend to Clements, accused Hill of: —Wasting tax money. "He's the Meanwhile, Police Chief Edward Morrone says New Haven, West Haven and Orange police are working hard but have no leads. What they do know adds up to a confusing case. In addition to Miss Williams:

-Sharon Liburd, 22, who police said had a prostitution record, was found shot to death in August 1976 outside her West Haven apartment.

-Helen Montgomery, 20, of Waterbury, was beaten to death and left in a New Haven park last October.

Sixty-five percent of the students were enrolled in academic courses, while 35 percent enrolled in vocational or technical classes.

Enrollment in community service non-credit courses jumped to 6,239 this year, an increase of some 800 students.

Some 250 courses were offered and filled, and 1,100 students enrolled in adult education courses, including 261 in Adult Basic Education, according to James Bramlett, director of the Trustees also approved the final contract with Ogden Food Service for concessions at Chaparral Center.

Under the terms of the three-year contract, the college will receive 10 percent of the revenues on sales of up to $200,000. The college's share increases as concession revenues increase up to 27 percent of sales of $350,000 or more

Ogden Food Service handles concessions for the Astrodome in Houston and the Superdome in New Orleans.

A committee of three trustees was appointed to study the proposed Midtran plan and report to the board.

John Schafer, transportation coordinator for the city of Midland had asked the trustees to pass a resolution in favor of the plan. The committee plans to gather information from students and report to the board before the scheduled Nov. 2 public hearing on the Midtran plan.

In other business, the board approved the use of Chaparral Center for next year's Shrine Circus and approved the tax rolls for the college

-Brenda Jean Austin, 22, a West Haven woman, was beaten and stabbed and her body found Sept. 6 in a shopping center in Orange.

There is but one common denominator: all were black women

The slayings have made New Haven's blacks increasingly agitated, especially since Ms. Williams' death, the latest. It may have coincided with a radio talk show about the earlier six

At one point, rumors began to spread — reports of two slayings that never happened, for example. So when the Soul Patrol formed, Chief Morrone welcomed it. "Peer pressure," he says, can cut crime, and "there's a little bit of fear when there's a Soul Patrol doing it.'

As Morrone and West Haven Police Chief Joseph Malinconico tried to calm citizens, Gov. Grasso offered a $20,000 reward for information, Mayor Frank Logue issued a statement backing police and urging citizens to fight crime, and State Treasurer Henry Parker, a New Haven black, went to meetings to muster black community action.

But they have not found complete harmony. While they and the citizenry agree something must be done about prostitution and crime in general, blacks have been pressuring for more police attention.

Rhodesian troops launch more cross-border raids

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) -Rhodesian troops launched more cross-border raids today against black nationalist guerrillas in Mozambique — the second major thrust within the past four weeks, the military reported.

A terse communique said only: Rhodesian security forces today launched a self-defense operation against ZANLA bases in Mozambique. Additional communiques will be issued later on.

ZANLA is the Zimbabwe African National Liberation Army headed by guerrilla leader Robert Mugabe. It is the larger of the two insurgent armies fighting to topple the biracial transition government.

The announcement came two days before Prime Minister Ian Smith and independent observers believe the new blueprint basically offers a way out, provided the combatants want to end Lebanon's four years of multiple conflicts.

One conference resolution called for the cessation of Christian collaboration with Israel, threatening action against the militias.

A three-nation followup committee consisting of Syria, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait has been set up to help Sarkis enforce the peace program, which also proposes a Moslem-Christian dialogue on political reforms to bring about a national reconciliation.

Saudi Arabia and Kuwait are the main financiers of the ADF.-Its mandate expires Oct. 26, but is expected to be renewed.

The United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Sudan and Lebanon also took part in the three-day conference, at the historic Beiteddin palace, 15 miles southeast of Beirut.

The Syrians prevented a Christian defeat when they intervened in the Lebanese civil war, but the Christians refuse to disarm unless the Lebanese Moslems and the Palestinian guerrillas give up their arms also, and the Syrians have done nothing to accomplish this. The Syrians have been trying since February to bring the Christians under their control. Although Israel sent gunboats to shell Moslem West Beirut during the last Syrian attack this month, its chief concern has been to keep Haddad's men armed so they can keep the Palestinian guerrillas away from the Israeli border.

campaign manager for Krueger distributed a copy of a columun in the Karnes City, Texas, Citation.

The Tom Anderson column did not name Tower, but tells of a man "who ranks high in the U.S. Senate, and low in the ranks of nice women who avoid getting on Senate elevators along with Krueger said the material was distributed by his campaign manager and "I see nothing wrong with printing things that the press prints. Perhaps the article is not flattering, but it isn't libelous.

Tower told the gathering Krueger "has brought this campaign to a low level not to be admired by anyone. I won't dignify the kind of campaign he is conducting by appearing with him again. He has circulated a smear

Krueger later told newsmen during a brief interview, "Sen. Tower wants to buy his little TV advertisements and say what he wants to say without answering to me or to the voters."

The congressman said a poll taken two weeks ago showed him slightly ahead of Tower. The incumbent senator said, "I am not going to play the poll game. You know the old thing, I am behind, I am gaining, I am even, I am ahead. I haven't conducted a poll in five weeks.'

The candidates agreed on several issues, such as a need to take court action in an effort to halt the recently passed national energy bills and the need to solve agricultural problems for Texas farmers.

More of same fare forecast

"Much of the same" seems to be the fare for Thursday's weather bill. A weatherman at Midland Regional Airport called for fair skies through Thursday with chilly nights.

The low tonight is to drop into the mid-40s, which will be in the neighborhood of today's overnight low of 48

The mercury is to nudge up to the mid-70s Thursday.

So far this month, not a trace of rainfall has dropped into the National Weather Service's gauge at the airport. Last month, however, 5.02 inches of precipitation was recorded.

The year's rainfall so far is 12.31 inches, and the yearly average through October is 12.50. Norm for the year is 13.51 inches.

Winds tonight are to change from southerly and southwesterly to easterly at 10 to 15 mph, the weatherman A cool front moved into the Texas elected. That's because Republican voters are concentrated in fewer districts, he said.

The former Republican presidential aspirant predicted "quite a woods-full" of Republican presidential candidates will emerge before the 1980 election.

Whether he will be among them, Reagan said, is something he will announce in 1979. On the energy bill passed last weekend by Congress, Reagan said the legislation is "an unworkable government interference into the free market place.'

The only way to solve the energy problem, he said, "is for the government to get out of the way" of the free enterprise system.

The former governor said nuclear energy is probably "the only chance we have" to avoid energy shortages in the next 10 to 15 years. But, he said, " government regulations cause it to take four times as long to build nuclear power plants here as in most other He said he believes nuclear power to be safe, with the odds against a fatality caused by an accident at four billion to one.

Reagan said he has not studied the issue of whether states should have the right to regulate or prohibit transportation of nuclear waste materials through their territories, but said he would "start from the standpoint of states' rights.'

Asked about the tax bill passed by the Congress, Reagan said it "was a compromise for the administration."

Although it accomplishes some needed things, such as capital gains tax reductions, it will not even offset Social Security tax increases for the average worker, he said. The Republican-sponsored Kemp-Roth bill, which called for cutting income taxes by 30 percent over a three year period, would have provided more stimulus to the economy, the politician added.

"I think the possibility of the threat (ground water contamination) is there, and I think it's time we need to take a look at it."

Poerner criticized the local com-mission field office for its recent monitoring of brine disposal at Whalen Lake in Andrews County.

He said the case turned out to be "an embarassment" to the commis-

Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife last week released chemical test results suggesting excessive amounts of petrolem materials were being discharged into the lake despite the insistence of Railroad Commission staff in Midland that Whalen Corp. of Dallas was disposing "acceptable" amounts of wastes.

'It just upsets me to no end. Quite frankly, it was a great embarassment to me," Poener said.

"I do not want to have the Parks and Wildlife people bringing to my attention the fact that the pollution ever again. It's the responsibilty of the Railroad Commission to make sure that it's doing the job. I am not going to let this happen again.'

The Department of Parks and Wildlife tests showed readings of 176.2 parts per million and 52.2 parts per million on tests taken Sept. 28 and Oct. 4 resepectively.

"We generally say 20 parts per million is acceptable. Anything above 20 is way too much - 50 is 21/2 times too high," Poerner said.

If petroleum materials are discharged into the lake over a fivemonth period at the rate of 176.2 parts per million, there would be about 35 barrels being dumped into the lake, according to Parks and Wildlife Department figures.

There would be 10 barrels of oil discharged into the lake each month if the agency's 52.2 parts per million reading were applied.

Whalen Corp., a subsidiary of Triton Oil and Gas Corp. of Dallas, will seek a a renewal of its discharge permit at a Railroad Commission hearing set for Oct. 26.

"We've told our people they better not take the tests of the company any more. We've taken our own tests this time and should know the results soon," Poerner said.

The official, who was appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the commission after it granted a permit to Whalen Corp., said he was alarmed about the high readings from Texas Parks and Wildlife and already has viewed evidence to be convinced that migratory birds are being threatened by disposal of petroleum materials into the

"The time has come to clean it up, and I plan to see it gets cleaned up this time, or I'm going down there (Whalen Lake) to clean it up myself," Poerner said.

he got his in Washington.' White said he expects Attorney General John Hill to file suit against the natural gas pricing bill passed by Congress. He said he will follow through on any existing suit or file one himself if one is not in progress by January. The candidate said he takes a "reasonably optimistic view" that Texas can fight successfully what he called unfair treatment, which the state would receive under the bill, on the basis of the state's right to regulate its intrastate commerce.

Under the provisions of the natural gas bill as passed, "We're going to be visited now in our own state with all the problems that the rest of the nation has had."

Asked about the Texas penal system, White said the attorney general by law is the Texas Department of Correction's defense lawyer. He said he thinks the prison system generally is well run, but is overcrowded as a result of action in 1973 and 1975 to strengthen the penal code.

The Legislature must consider building more prisons to accommodate the larger prison population, White said.

On charges leveled by his opponent that White was a "big spender" while secretary of state, White said the reason for budget increases during that period was increased duties for the office.

The Legislature took the view, "Let Mark White do it because he'll do a good job," White contended.

He said Baker "can't hide" the fact that White returned $4 million of the money appropriated for the Secretary of State's Office.

What makes the problem so touchy is that there is nothing very dramatic the Saudis can do about it.

As U.S. officials argued to Khalid last month, any sizable increase in oil prices now could hurt major Western economies and send the dollar plunging further. Ultimately, it could dampen demand for oil even The Saudis also could cut back on foreign imports, which have mushroomed since the Arab oil embargo five years ago. That would mean curtailing new industrial development programs - a step they are reluctant to take now. A third option would be to step up their oil production, either by boosting the cartel's overall output or by insisting on a larger share of the cartel's total production. Analysts say the difficulties being faced by the Saudis could have broad implications for other Arab nations and for the effectiveness of the oil-producing cartel as a whole. In the past, the Saudis have played the swing-man in the cartel. trimming their production levels in order to bail out other producers without raising the overall price of oil. That kind of "absorption" now seems at an end. How well the Saudis will be able to cope with the current squeeze may depend on several factors, the most important of which is whether the world oil market firms enough. Recent weeks have shown firming in spot

For now, most analysts believe the cash-flow squeeze the Saudis are in will be temporary, and that the budget-paring done so far will be enough to tide the government through to a reversal early next year.

The oil-producing nations have scheduled a meeting at the end of this year to decide whether to raise prices in January. In anticipation, the major oil companies are expected to step up their purchases, aiding the

Like the United States, the Saudis easily can defer millions of dollars in relatively minor construction projects without jeopardizing construction of major port facilities, so little serious disruption is expected. Meanwhile, however, the cash-flow problem is bolstering the views of signs of cracking. While the current dilemma is far from a turning point, economists point out that the cash squeeze finally is forcing the Saudis to consider boosting production levels - a move that should help avert a major price

If the oil producers can't work out the problem of how to divide their shares of the oil-revenue pie, it could spur private discounting or other sales gimmicks - all to the benefit of oil consumers.

He said, "The problem is you, the consumer, pay for this crime in increased prices for goods and services locally and in lost taxes."

Rick Cooper, assistant manager for Furr's Market in Midland, said he estimates the "hot" check problem costs his store "in the neighborhood of $50,000 in losses for 1977, alone. That's just bad checks."

The unusually candid employee said the firm may lose anywhere from $2,000 to $2,500 per month because of bad checks.

Angry taxpayers still streaming into New Bedford's City Hall

Mass. (AP) - They're no longer marching by the thousands, but angry taxpayers are still streaming into the tax assessor's office here to beef about increases in tax assessments, ranging from $400 to $4,000, and tax boosts of up to

"They're frustrated," said Michael Kearney, one of the three New Bedford tax assessors who have been dealing with irate property owners filing for abatements.

The tax bills, which were mailed out last week, reflect this fishing port's first property tax re-valuation in 50 years, and they mean increases for some of the city's 100,-000 residents. Assessments were raised on about 13,000 properties, many of which are located in New Bedford's Portuguese neighborhoods.

On Monday, about 4,-000 residents, led by a country music disc jockey, marched on City Hall to complain. Police were called to contain the crowd, and Mayor John Markey closed the building early.

Disc jockey "Cuzzin" station WBSM, who suggested the march on a weekend talk show, said Tuesday that he does not plan any other rallies at

"They've gotten caught in a re-valuation that's complicated by other factors like state mandated programs, binding arbitration decisions and fiscal autonomy for the school committee, and that bottom line on the bill kills you,' Kearney said.

Lawyer tells of Austin's possible dilemma

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - An attorney for the Lower Colorado River Authority Tuesday predicted residents of Austin might have to choose between "taking a drink or turning off the lights" if the proposed Stacy Reservoir is built and substantially reduces downstream flow.

LCRA attorney Larry Smith suggested that possibility during the continuing hearing before the Texas Water Commission on the application by the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a permit to construct Stacy Reservoir on the Colorado River in Concho, Coleman and Runnels counties

The LCRA, city of Austin, downstream irrigators and others are opposing the CRMWD application.

Smith, cross-examining CRMWD engineer Bob Gooch, suggested that Austin's Town Lake on the Colorado River could never have its level reduced without running the risk of allowing temperatures in the lake rise. to such an extent that the two cityowned power plants, cooled by the lake, would be unable to operate.

One of the city's three drinking water treatment plants also is located on Town Lake, Smith noted. Gooch agreed Town Lake probably should not be lowered. Smith also said that if the city's primary water supply, Lake Austin, was lowered to a level such as that which would likely occur in a critical drought with Stacy Reservoir in place, the remaining water in the lake its two other water treatment plants. Smith said the LCRA has power plants on the upper Highland Lakes, and that the LCRA and Austin both have a share of "off-channel" power plants which are being constructed below Austin would be below the city's intakes for

With priority to be given to municipal water needs in times of water shortage, Smith said, "the people of Austin would be faced with the choice of taking a drink or turning off the lights, wouldn't they?"

"What you're suggesting is not going to happen," Gooch responded, noting that Austin and the LCRA are tied into the Texas Interconnected System and could purchase power from other utilities in the state should water levels drop so low in the Colorado that cooling reservoirs were drained and power plants shut down.

Smith asked if Gooch had studied just how much more it would cost electric customers of the LCRA and Austin to purchase power "in 2030" compared to the price of the power if it were generated in Austin-or LCRAowned plants.

"No," Gooch replied, but quickly added, "You're asking if it would be a choice between water and electricity and you know very well it's not!"

Smith also challenged Gooch's prediction of a 60 percent return flow of municipal water by the city of Austin to the Colorado, observing that historical evidence would indicate an average of 54 percent and that a Depart-

Inmate in wheelchair testifies in TDC hearing

HOUSTON (AP) - A wheelchairbound inmate has accused the Texas Department of Corrections of crippling him through medical neglect and preventing him from showering for nearly five months this year.

Steve Stevens, 40, made the accusations from his wheelchair Tuesday. but later softened his charges, admitting that prison officials had allowed him to marry and to accrue 77 hours of college credits while confined in Texas prisons.

Stevens testified Monday and Tuesday in a federal class-action suit filed by eight prisoners against the Texas Department of Corrections. The suit alleges treatment in TDC units is tantamount to cruel and unusual pun-

The Mineral Wells native, serving 40 years for robbery, said he was denied medical care after he fell in the shower and hurt his back, depriving him of the use of his legs.

He also claimed that for nearly five months earlier this year he received neither a shower nor a tub bath, and that authorities would not permit fellow inmates to help him to the shower or bathroom.

He said prison officials refused to give him a wheelchair, forcing him to drag himself around his cell. The wheelchair from which he testified was provided by the Harris County iail, he said.

However, under cross-examination Tuesday before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, Stevens said he had been to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston where surgeons told him there was nothing organically wrong with his back and that his problem was psychosomatic.

ment of Water Resources report indicates only a 43 percent return.

Gooch said his predictions based on U.S. Geological Survey records which were not used by the DWR. The 60 percent return is justified, he said, by the "historical trend" of return

Smith asked if Gooch had "studied the Austin waste water treatment system" and was certain about its

The engineer said he is "familiar" with the Austin system.

$500 MILLION WORTH REDEEMED LAST YEAR!

Four Out Of Five Families Do!...

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, WED., JULY M. 1978 U.S. consumers cashing in coupons to save cash

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Clip and cash.

That's the motto for millions of Americans who are clipping, collecting and cashing in coupons in an effort to cut grocery bills.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that four out of five families - 80 percent - use coupons today. In 1970, a survey by the Nielsen Clearing House division of the A.C. Nielsen Corp. showed 65 percent of all households using coupons.

Manufacturers alone are expected to issue almost 70 billion coupons this year, according to the USDA, up from 62 billion in 1977 and 46 billion in 1976. Those figures do not include the millions of coupons issued by retailers, usually in newspaper advertisements.

The more than 2 billion coupons redeemed last year had a face value of $500 million, the Agriculture Department says.

New York's Reggie Jackson ...show off swing on two-run clout

Yankees capture second straight World Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The miracle New York Yankees capped the most improbable of all baseball comebacks by winning the final game of the 75th World Series with a pitcher who was supposed to be washed up and a puny infielder who was written off as a major leaguer.

CATFISH HUNTER found one more victory in his relic of a right arm, while second baseman Brian Doyle made major offensive and defensive contributions, leading the Yanks to a 7-2 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday night for their 22nd World Championship.

By winning Game 6, the Yanks beat the Dodgers in the Fall Classic for the second year in a row. And the team that was 14 games behind Boston July 20, beat the Red Sox in a one-game playoff Oct. 2 and defeated Kansas City for the American League pennant won the World Series the hard

The Yankees became the first team in World Series history to win four straight games after dropping the

'Nobody's ever done what this club did," said Yankee owner George Steinbrenner, who has won three AL pennants and two world titles since taking over the club in 1973. "This is as great a Yankee team as there ever was. I don't care about the '27 Yankees or any other of the great Yankee teams. This team overcame every-

THAT HUNTER could start the sixth game, pitch seven innings and win the final game of the 1978 season was a medical miracle. His right shoulder, so painful in June that he swore he would never pitch hurt again, was manipulated by Dr. Maurice Cowan. The treatment, a stab in the dark at best, worked, allowing Hunter to fuel the Yanks' late-summer comeback with a 9-3 record down the stretch.

"All I had was control," said Hunter, who was relieved by Rich Gossage in the eighth after giving up six hits, including Davey Lopes' leadoff home run. (Catcher Thurman) Munson came out and told me I didn't have anything, that I should just hit his Hunter zeroed in on the target and allowed his double play combination of shortstop Bucky Dent and Doyle to do the rest. Doyle's backhand stab began an inning-ending double play, with Dodgers on first and second and trailing only 3-2 in the third.

"THAT WAS THE biggest defensive play of the game," said Dent, the Series' Most Valuable Player, who batted .417 with seven runs batted in, including three in the finale. "I'm very happy for the little man

'I feel like Cinderella," said the little man who toiled six years in the minors and was only added to the Yankee roster because Willie Randolph was hurt.

Brian Doyle made us not miss the best second baseman in the AL," said Reggie Jackson, who smacked a tworun homer against Bob Welch, the winner of the classic Jackson-Welch confrontation in Game 2. Doyle's double, his first extra base hit in the majors and only his second RBI, tied the game 1-1 in the second, The next batter up was Dent, hitting in the ninth position, and he singled in two more runs

DENT AND DOYLE both drove in runs again in the sixth and Jackson creamed Welch's first pitch for a two-run homer to end the scoring in

Doyle bats .438 in leading Yanks to World crown

He wasn't even listed in the New York Yankees' press guide last winter and he didn't go to spring training with them. He probably would have been back in Cave City, Ky., if All-Star second baseman Willie Randolph hadn't missed the American League playoffs and the World Series with a pulled hamstring.

But there he was in the clubhouse of baseball's world champions Tuesday night, big as life, all 5-foot-10 and 165 pounds of him. And if you believe those numbers from the Vankees publicity department, then you probably also believe the improbable Brian DOYLE'S CUBICLE in the clubhouse was the one nearest the runway to the visitors' dugout at Dodger Stadium. And as the world champion Yankees clattered up the runway, one by one each of them - each and every one - hugged Brian Doyle.

And then they poured champagne over the skinny little infielder with the innocent choir boy face, the big chaw of tobacco in his cheek and the guts of a burglar who batted a mere .438 in the World Series and fielded his position flawlessly

"World champions," Doyle said with a look of amazement as he rubbed the champagne in his hair and on his face. "World champions. Man, world champions.

For years, the Yankees' M&M boys - first Mantle and Maris, later Munson and Murcer - terrorized the opposition. Tuesday night, it was D&D - Doyle and shortstop Bucky Dent, the eighth and ninth hitters in the lineup — who killed Los Angeles.

"THE DODGERS probably didn't even consider them seriously in their meetings," said Manager Bob Lemon, who took over a floundering team in late July after Billy Martin resigned and led it to the world championship, the first American League manager ever to turn that trick.

Doyle, who rapped out three hits in Sunday's pivotal 12-2 fifth-game rout, drove in the Yankees' first run Tuesday night with a second-inning double - his first extra-base hit and second RBI in the majors - and scored what proved to be the winning run when Dent followed with a two-run single.

And with the Yankees clinging to a 3-2 lead in the sixth inning, D&D delivered consecutive two-out RBI singles. Then, of course, Reggie Jackson, Mr. October, took over with a mammoth two-run homer off Bob Welch - what a difference a week makes - in the seventh inning for the

Doyle, the Cave City Couter, led the Bronx Bombers in hitting, with Dent right behind at .417 and seven RBI in the six-game triumph that made the Yankees the first team ever to win four straight World Series games after dropping the first two.

Dent, who spent a good chunk of the season on the sidelines with a pulled hamstring, was the unanimous selection of a nine-man committee as the Series Most Valuable Player. It was Dent who yanked the Yankees from East Division one-game playoff against Boston with a three-run

"WINNING THE MVP was obviously my biggest thrill," he said. "I feel I did not contribute to the ballclub because I was hurt for much of the season, so coming back and winning the MVP award was a thrill." But like all the Yankees, Dent considered Doyle something special. "Brian Doyle is a tremendous competitor," the shortstop said, "He was put in a very tough situation and he came through for us against Boston and in the playoffs and he did a great job in the Series. Just like Dent. "When you get in the playoffs and World Series, it obviously means more, so you concentrate more," he said. "They threw me a lot of breaking balls and that's what I got most of my hits on. "I won the Southern League MVP award in the All-Star game, but that was a long time ago. I can't really say it in words how I feel. I suppose in a few more days it will sink in, but I think that everybody on this ballclub did a job and I think there could be nine most valuable players in this Last fall, the 23-year-old Doyle was back home in Kentucky, far removed from the World Series "I watched a total of maybe six or seven innings the whole Series," he said. "I just didn't want to watch baseball during the offseason. That would have been like a mailman taking a walk on his day off."

This one, of course, was different. "I just wanted to go out and do a respectable job for the team," Doyle said. "I never felt any pressure - and I thank the Lord for that. I felt very comfortable out there." If Dent couldn't find words, Doyle took care of that, too. "World Champions," he said. "World Champions."

Landry more relaxed

DALLAS (AP) - You get a fat lip if you mess around with Coach Tom Landry's play selec-

At least that was the message the Dallas Cowboys coach conveyed to quarterback Roger Staubach - all in good fun -Tuesday.

Landry was discussing his offensive linemen and said they couldn't be blamed for a blow that knocked Staubach dizzy in Sunday's 24-21 National Football League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Staubach also suffered a bloody lip.

"He took a hit and it was his fault," said Landry, a big smile on his face. "He switched off (the play that Landry had sent in) and he shouldn't have ... every time he looks in the mirror at that split lip it will remind

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Disappointed and downcast, the Los Angeles Dodgers tried to look forward to next year, but they even had trouble doing that.

"We were against a team a little better than we were," said Dodgers captain Davey Lopes after the 7-2 New York Yankees victory that won the 1978 World Series.

"Two years in a row - you can be lucky one year, but not two years in a

A year ago, the Yankees also beat the Dodgers in six games.

"There's nothing to be sorry about," said third baseman Ron Cey who came up with two fielding gems in the finale. "It's disappointing to get this far and be outplayed the last four games, one way or another.

"Just about everybody in their lineup hit the ball well ... Dent and Doyle, those two guys hurt us with the bat. We didn't anticipate that. Nettles hurt us with those plays in the third game. We were out-pitched, out-hit, out-defensed. They didn't make any mis-

Cey defended the much-maligned Los Angeles infield, which did not have a good Series.

New York Yankees refused to

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent LOS ANGELES (AP) - "The team that refused to die.'

That was the tag put on the 1978 New York Yankees by one of the spear carriers, veteran outfielder Paul Blair, who shared in only a two-inning stint of the 7-2 World Series-clinching victory Tuesday night over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But it echoed above the din of the velling, cork-popping dressing room and it poured electronically throughout the land. 'These guys didn't know how to quit," said Jim (Catfish) Hunter, the

"A team of destiny," commented one of the all-time Yankee greats, Joe DiMaggio. "This is not a powerful team like the Yankees of old but every man produces. They can beat you to death with singles. "The little guys stood 10 feet tall," said Al Rosen, the club president. Rosen's reference was to shortstop

Bucky Dent and rookie second baseman Brian Doyle, a last-minute replacement for the injured Willie Randolph. Both batted better than .400 and, between them, lashed out a dozen hits in the final two games. Dent was voted MVP. "Dent deserved it," said Reggie Jackson, who poled a prodigious home run - his ninth in World Series play - to settle a score with the s schoolboy fireballer, Bob Welch, who struck him out with all the world watching in the Series' second game.

Owner George Steinbrenner acted as if he wanted to give every man on the team a $20,000 bonus.

"It's amazing what these fellows did in the face of all kinds of adversity," the Tampa, Fla., shipbuilder said. "We lost two of our top pitchers, Andy Messersmith and Don Gullett, at the start of the year. Dent was lost for two months. Mickey Rivers twice went on the disabled list. Willie Randolph suffered a groin injury just before the Series. Chris Chambliss was lost during the Series when he was hit on the wrist.

"At one time (July 20) we were 14 games behind the Boston Red Sox. Our pitching staff was shattered. We changed managers in midseason. Nobody thought we could make it, and even I began to doubt. 'But they showed me something.

This is a tribute to sheer guts." Few men could relate the travails and triumphs of baseball's world champions more graphically than Blair, the stringy 34-year-old outfielder who came to the Yankees in January 1977 from the Baltimore Ori-"This team doesn't get the respect that it deserves," the fleet, suregloved outfielder said in modulated tones, unintentionally drawing on a favorite phrase of comedian Rodney "They say we bought the pennant. Rot. That is a holdover from 1977.

"We're not thinking about making any personnel changes," said Lasorda. "It's too early to think about that. I'm going to take a vacation, I think and just think about the season and the World Series.

Relief pitcher Terry Forster, the only free agent signed by the Dodgers, will have surgery in November for bone chips and nerve damage in his pitching elbow. He said, "We're disappointed. We had a good year. The Yankees have a great ball club. I'm not sure they're better than us, they caught every break.'

Fans happy over victory in Series

NEW YORK (AP) - The ball seemed to be taking its sweet time dropping into Thurman Munson's glove. At Charley O's bar in Rockefeller Center, beer mugs nervously hanging in mid-air suddenly shot up, and the place exploded in a thundering cheer: "All right!"

For New Yorkers, who love being the best, the Yankees' second consecutive World Series win was a matter of pride. Modesty? Forget it.

On behalf of the grateful people of the City of New York, I congratulate the 1978 New York Yankees for proving what they were all along — the best baseball team in the world," said Mayor Edward Koch. A ticker-tape parade down Broadway to City Hall is planned for Thursday

And Gov. Hugh Carey, apparently hoping for his own second straight victory in November, sent a telegram to Yankees owner George Steinbrenner: "Oh wow! What a great night for New York and New Yorkers. May I also say that two straight victories are an inspiration to anyone.

The Yanks were far from home, but their jubilation in Los Angeles spilled from television sets all over the city. In the jammed Rockefeller Center bar, about 50 men and women jumped at the final moment, cheering, hugging and slapping each other's

"It's the greatest thing to happen to New York," said David Roskin, a Brooklyn salesman. "We needed a shot in the arm. It's a miracle."

"Fantastic!" shouted David Oswald, a young bartender who had wandered over to Charley O's in search of a TV. "The thing about them is the way they play under pressure. There was no Most Valuable Player. It was a team effort.'

Actually, shortstop Bucky Dent won the Most Valuable Player award.

Oozing New York City chauvinism, several bar patrons felt uncomplimentary remarks about New Yorkers by some Los Angeles Dodgers "made this game a little sweeter," said Nick Romano of Manhattan.

Romano, fresh from the Frank Sinatra concert at nearby Radio City Music Hall, said "Sinatra was good but he's a Dodger fan.

'He was excellent," agreed a beaming Elaine Voviox, also of Manhattan. "But this was better."

the seventh. After touching home, Jackson tipped his cap twice to the Dodger fans who had booed him. The homer, his ninth in World Series competition, moved him into sixth place on the all-time list.

Big hits are expected of Jackson, who was on his fifth world championship team. But no one expected Doyle to have seven hits in 16 at-bats, except the 5-foot-10, 165-pound infielder from Kentucky

"I know why I was in the minors for so long," said Doyle, who shuffled between New York and the Yanks' top farm club in Tacoma, Wash., all season. "I don't have outstanding speed. I don't have an outstanding arm. And I don't have outstanding power. What else do the scouts look for?

"I've believed all along there's a the man who can do the fundamental things and make the routine plays.' At 5-11, 181 pounds, Dent is another one of baseball's little men.

"Bucky Dent's heroics weren't a surprise to me," said Jackson. "He has come through in the clutch consistently. My hits might be more noticeable because they're so loud, but Bucky is just as consistent.

IT WAS DENT'S three-run homer that was the big blow in the Yanks' 5-4 playoff win over Boston and, two weeks later, he's the star of the se-

"Winning the MVP was obviously my biggest thrill," said Dent. "I was happy to do something because I was injured for much of the season and didn't make much of a contribu-

Dent suggested the Yanks' real spot for the little man in this game, MVP this season is Manager Bob Lemon, who replaced Billy Martin at midseason.

"The last three months we really came together as a ballclub," Dent said. "Money can't buy that. Lemon is responsible for changing the whole attitude of the team."

THE YANKS' great infield play, particularly that of third baseman Graig Nettles, helped expose the Dodgers's defensive weaknesses. And the Yanks' consistent and clutch hitting exposed the Dodgers' weaknesses there, too. The Yanks set a record for most hits in a six-game Series, 68, while the Dodgers bats fell silent in their four losses, especially cleanup batter Steve Garvey, who had no RBI in the entire Series.

'They kept us down. They didn't allow us the big inning or the big home run," said Garvey.

Bobcats easy for Lee

I'm still trying to get over that easy 42-0romp over the San Angelo Bobcats last Friday night in Memorial Stadium. I was told that game was supposed to be tough as nails for the Lee Rebels, and pure fear was supposed to strike the strongest heart in town. I WENT to the game with palms properly sweating. The forehead was ringing wet, and lumps ran up and down the throat. Why, with all those Lee injuries, I thought the Rebels were going to take a nose dive that would make Sonny Liston's crash to the canvas look like swan dive on a spring

I thought the Rebels had a doctor on 24-hour call, and a hospital wing rented just in case things got worse. I was ready to send flowers to the Rebels, and already had a congratulatory letter written to Coach Smitty Hill and his Bobcats. It seemed to be a dark hour. ALL WEEK John White and

Steve Pitts were limping around like they were trying out for the role of Chester in a "Gunsmoke" remake. I was told they might play some, but they couldn't possibly be very effective. Their names were removed from the starting lineup and I feared the

MNB to hold tennis tourney

The Fifth Annual Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Midland National Bank to benefit youth development tennis programs s scheduled for Oct. 27-29. Participation is limited to 64 teams to compete for six trophies.

Yvonne Garton, tournament chairman, announced an Oct. 23 deadline for entries, which will be accepted in order of application. Teams may contact her at 683-1529. Entry tickets are $15 per team, with proceeds going to the support of a year round tennis program for young people in Mid-

"Anyone may enter the tournament, and we're also selling sponsor tickets at $15 each to those who wish to support Midland junior tennis but are not interested in playing," Mrs. Garton said. She added that proceeds also defray administrative expenses in gathering and disseminating tennis information.

Team and sponsor tickets will also be available from tournament committee members Celeste Fasken, Helen Bellows, Jean Henderson, Louise Patterson, Pat Innerarity, Linda Powell, Connie Scharbauer and Iona Vasicek.

This past year tournament proceeds were used to sponsor eight free tournaments for youths 15-and-under. A summer tennis instruction program at Park Center YMCA reached about 75 youngsters. Instructors included Tim Baird, Amy Tompson and Tex Groves. The mixed doubles tournament will start Oct. 27 and will be played on courts at Lee High School, Midland High School, the Racquet Club and Midland Country Club. The first day's play will determine A and B flights, and eliminations begin on the next day. A loss on the final day of the tournament will send a team to the consolation bracket.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in each flight, and to the winners of each consolation bracket. Last year's champions were Pam Diepraam and Jim Hill, both of Midland, "A" flight winners were Mary Morgan and Kell Cahoon of Midland and "B" flight winners were Cindy Williams and Mike Hicks.

'Tennis players from all over the Permian Basin are invited to participate," Mrs. Garton said. "We always have a good turnout of Odessa players, as well as from other towns in our

Sealy's Dickerson has another banner contest

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

The Sealy High School football team's offense is built around the feints, bursts and dashes of 6-2, 205pound Eric Dickerson and Coach Ralph Harris is proud of his offensive line's efforts.

But on those occasions when all else fails, Dickerson takes over.

on tickets

LOS ANGELES (AF) - The UCLA Athletic Department apparently has violated NCAA rules by repurchasing complimentary game tickets presented to members of the varsity football and basketball teams, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported

Staff writer Scot Paltrow reported that former football team members said that Angelo Mazzone, the assistant athletic director, regularly repurchased complimentary tickets for home games directly from them as recently as the 1976 season, and that he sometimes paid as much as "four and five times" the face value of the UCLA Athletic Director J.. Morgan said he has asked the Pacific-10 Conference to make an investigation of ticket policies at his school.

"Several weeks ago I started to get calls from former players and even former coaches that Paltrow had contacted them regarding UCLA's athletic ticket policy," said Morgan. "His statements and questions to these players and coaches as reported to me were unusual, to say the least.

"As the questioning persisted and rumors began to surrface, I contacted the Pac-10 office and ased that it make an investigation of UCLA athletic ticket policies. This study is still in progress and until it is completed I have no further comment."

The Herald-Examiner story said: Mazzone denied that he had ever purchased players' tickets as a paid UCLA employe, but "I would tend to think that when I was a football manager I may have.'

Current players said the tickets still are being repurchased but they now are bought at face value and the transactions were handled by a student manager of the team.

Basketbali players said that Don Sawyer, who makes public address announcements at Pauley Pavilion, regularly bought back players' tickets and paid above face value for CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten football coaches other than Bo Schembechler and Woody Hayes are taking the double upset of Michigan and Ohio State last week with cautious exuberance.

"I think it's not good for Michigan and Ohio State but good for everyone else," said Minnesota's Cal Stoll.

"We mixed coverages but there's no way you can stop a kid who can jump like that," said Teaff. "He's just a great athlete.'

Tolbert, a junior wingback from Little Rock, Ark., caught 13 passes, four ofthem for touchdowns, and gained 134 yards Saturday as Southern Methodist chargedfrom behind to nip the Bears 28-21 in a Southwest Conference game.

It earned Tolbert The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week award inthe SWC.

Hilton cracked a two-run home run with two outs in the top of the ninth inning today, giving the Yakult Swallows a 6-5 victory over the Hankyu Braves and tying the best-of-seven Japan series at two games each.

The Swallows, the Central League winners, trailed 5-0 going into the sixth before 20,000 spectators in Nishinomiya, western Japan, and Braves right-hander Yutaro Imai had given up only two singles.

But Swallows pinch-hitter Yasunori Nagao led off the sixth with a single, Hilton followed with another single, an error loaded the bases and Tsutomu Wakamatsu, a .341 hitter, singled in a run. The Swallows went on to cut the deficit to 5-4 in that rally.

With two outs in the ninth, Takao Ise singled for the Swallows and Hilton followed with his first home run of the series. In the regular season, his first in Japan, Hilton, formerly with the San Diego Padres, batted .317 and hit 19 homers.

Venturi said "I've always felt anyone is capable of beating anybody, anywhere, anytime. Michigan State has the run-pass balance that everyone would like. For years, we've called Purdue the Spoilermakers (instead of the Boilermakers), so that didn't surprise me. I was amazed at the yardage Ohio State gained (507 vards) in a loss.'

Corso was least impressed by the double upset and considered it somewhat of a coincidence.

"I can't get excited," said the usually excitable Hoosier coach. "I don't consider it a breakthrough. We're only two weeks into the conference season. All the money is on the last two games. I picked Purdue to beat Ohio State on my TV show but I didn't think Michigan State would beat Michigan.

"I've learned in this conference that you shouldn't be too happy when you beat somebody and you shouldn't be too unhappy when you lose," said Corso. "Just keep your balance.

players in the Southwest Conference. Yeoman's understanding begins with UH defensive tackle Leonard Mitchell. "It has to be an intense experience for Mosley when he takes off for the sideline and finds out he can't outrun a big black mountain," Yeoman said.

The mammoth 6-foot-5, 250-pound Mitchell pursued Mosley from sideline to sideline, met him in the middle and on four occasions tackled him for losses, including three times on third down in UH's surprising 33-0 shutout of the Aggies, then-ranked sixth, Sat-

Yeoman also sympathizes with Mosley's attempts to deal with UH linebacker David Hodge and defensive tackle Hosea Taylor, who took turns treating Mosley just as rudely

When the game was over, the UH defense had held Mosley to a minus 16 yards on 17 rushes and stopped Curtis Dickey, the No. 3 rusher in the nation, with 25 yards on 14 carries.

For their efforts against the Aggies - No. 3 nationally in total offense going into the game - Mitchell, Hodge and Taylor were named national and Southwest Conference codefensive players of the week by The Associated Press.

Hodge, a key figure in Houston's SWC championship in 1976, left school and gave up football last season, saging he was burned out. But he burned the Aggies with 12 total tackles and intercepted Mosley once to set up Houston's fourth touchdown.

Taylor had five tackles, including three for losses totaling 23 yards. In the second quarter he decked Mosley for an 8-yard loss on second down, then forced him to fumble on third down to set up Houston's second

"He's even better than before," Yeoman said, "because he's got his enthusiasm back."

"This is by far our best defensive effort," said the soft-spoken Hodge, who received honorable mention on one publication's All-America team last year even though he didn't play. "It's all a matter of concentration and we are really together now.'

Cougars face SMU next

Eleventh-ranked Houston already has dismantled one passing team this season but UH Coach Bill Yeoman says Saturday's date with Southern Methodist and their Mustang Mania following definitely will be tougher.

The Cougars, 4-1 and ranked 11th nationally after last week's 33-0 victory over 12th-ranked Texas A&M, defeated pass-minded Florida State 27-21 earlier this season, although UH had to hang on after taking a 27-0 lead.

SMU, 3-1-1, is led by the volatile passing combination of quarterback Mike Ford and receiver Emanuel Tolbert. They lead the Southwest Conference in passing and receiving and have kept Yeoman from celebrating last week's victory.

SANITARY

HOUSTON (AP) - Florida State's good receiver (Jackie Flowers) plus they have more team speed they have a physically bigger quar-terback," Yeoman said. Estimates of 60,000plus fans in the Cotton Bowl also have caught Yeoman's eye. "Don't you know it's going to be a thrill going into a situation like that," Yeoman Yeoman said Houston's defensive performance against the Aggies was the first time this season that the Cougars had really come together as a unit but he's not ready to go overboard on predictions. "People too often try to base how good you are on one game and you can't do that," Yeoman said. "We've played two good games out of our last three but you can't just "Tolbert is better than play two good games.

that Ford was not a scrambler but that wouldn't help the Cougar defense much 'You can hit him but

Seattle topples New York five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Seattle SuperSonics don't seem to miss Marvin Webster at all. "We're a better club now than we were last year," contends Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens, whose team raised its record to 3-0 with a 120-109 decision over the New York Knicks Tuesday night.

The victory was especially sweet because it was the Knicks who wooed Webster away from Seattle, the club he led to the National Basketball Association playoff finals last year. But the 7-foot-1 center, who became a free agent and signed a five-year, $3 million contract with New York, had just seven points and 10 rebounds in his first game against his former Seattle teammates.

"I played badly," Webster conceded. "I felt bad when we were losing by 20 points to my ex-teammates."

On the other hand, Lonnie Shelton, part of the compensation package that Commissioner Larry O'Brien awarded to Seattle after the Knicks signed Webster, had 20 points and 10 rebounds in just 22 minutes for the Sonics.

"I was nervous coming back to New York," said Shelton, "But it all turned out well, just like I had hoped. I really wanted to do well in this game, and to win. It's more fun being on a winner.'

In other NBA games, the Portland Trail Blazers topped the Kansas City Kings 115-112, the San Diego Clippers defeated the Chicago Bulls 99-94, the Washington Bullets edged the New Jersey Nets 113-109, the New Orleans Jazz defeated the Detroit Pistons 114-109, the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the Los Angeles Lakers 113-111 and the San Antonio Spurs edged the Phoenix Suns 110-107.

"We never relied on one player to score for us," said Wilkens. "We still have balanced scoring. We still have guys who can get the ball off the boards. We're playing better individual defense and gambling less because we know Marvin is not back than the best-selling brand's best washer.

there to make up for any mistakes. And this year we have more depth and more experince than last year."

Shelton came in with four minutes to go in the opening period and helped Seattle outscore New York 28-11 over a span of 101/2 minutes. The Sonics methodically built the lead to 26 points in the fourth period and only a late burst by the Knicks made the final score respectable.

Fred Brown and Dennis Johnson also had 20 points apiece as eight Seattle players scored eight points or

Capitol Hill's routine holds true to form

The president tells them that they've done fine and yes, by all means, go ahead and adjourn.

night, he replied with high praise of the 95th Congress, which has given him an ample supply of headaches over the past two years.

He called it "one of the most courageous and constructive congresses in the history of the coun-When Senate leaders called, Carter told them that Congress "stood up to the issues and produced a record of which the nation can be proud. What it produced was far short of what Carter proposed.

Carter got an energy bill, but it was a pale imitation of the program he originally sought. .. congress has given us an energy plan that will advance our national security, insure our freedom of action in foreign affairs and protect our economic interests at home and abroad," the president said. .. We have declared to ourselves and the world posed government targets. Carter got a tax cut but, again, it didn't look much like his original proposal. It made only mino changes in a federal tax code Carter long ago described as a national disgrace. His promised top-to-bottom overhaul of the tax code is still just that, a promise.

He won an overhaul of the law that governs the federal civil service, but he didn't get far with his call for major revisions of the welfare system.

No quick sampler can adequately reflect the work of any Congress, but when the product of this one is weighed against the campaign promises Carter brought to office, it is hard to see how the administration can claim great satisfaction in it.

Appraising the energy bill, Carter said "this is not the end of the road, but it is a beginning and an important one. He didn't apply that description to the rest of his program, but it fits. For Carter's successes in the closing days of the 95th Congress may well strengthen him when the 96th convenes next year. He used the veto adroitly and successfully, winning two tough fights late in the session on defense and public works spending, and gaining some of the changes he wanted in the tax bill by threatening veto it, too. There is an energy bill, as Carter had promised the country and the world, even if it falls far short of the terms the administration originally recommended. At first, Carter acknowledges, "I was maybe a little overly hesitant about using my own influence and authority" in dealing with Congress.

But now, he says, "I think I have got a good division of my own authority versus that of Congress. I think we have a good mutual respect.'

In a scant three months, a new Congress will arrive to test that.

you think coffee is bad for person's heart? My husband drinks as much as five or six cups a day, sometimes more. And I keep worrying that maybe it could lead to a heart attack. How do you feel about this?-Roberta

Dear Roberta: Caffeine, the chemical in coffee which provides the lift, stimulates the central nervous system. If you take large amounts of it, this tends to speed up during the day. When we the heart beat, and asked him about it, he the heart beat, and perhaps cause slight irregularities in the rhythm. It may also raise the blood pressure a cars. Is this practice very trifle. But the latest studies reviewed recently by "The Medical Letter" do not establish that drinking coffee increases disease. If your husband does not seem to be having any ill effects from his coffee, I would not worry too much about it. Tea, of course, is less of a stimulant, although it too-as well as another less potent stimulant called theophylline.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Our daughter wants to take up horseback riding. She is very busy thinking up reasons why it is an ideal way for her parents to spend money! And one of her pet arguments is that riding is marvelous exercise. Is this true? I assumed the horse did all the work.-Helen N. daughter actually has a arm or thigh.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Do point. According to the experts, horseback riding exercises many different muscular systems in the body because of all the maneuvers the rider goes through. So much so that it is being used as physical therapy for handicapped children at about 50 riding centers throughout the country.

> Dear Dr. Solomon: We noticed the other day that our son, who is a motorcycle fan, was using the headlight said it is safer that waybecause it increases motorcycle's visibility to common? It seems like a good idea.-D.L.

Dear D.L.: It is—there are studies showing that the risk of cardiovascular it helps cut down on fatal accidents. So much so that 17 states now require that motorcyclists keep their headlights on during the day.

Collisions with other motor vehicles account for at least two-thirds of contains some caffeine, all fatalities among motorcyclists, and according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company this is due partly to their low visibility. So brightly colored clothing, reflective strips-and headlights-can make a big difference.

Odessa man dies after accident

ODESSA - An Odessa man died Tuesday afternoon as a result of injuries he received in a four vehicle accident west of here, according to a spokesman for the Department of Public Safety.

Robert Dunn, 79, died at 5 p.m. following the accident which took place shortly before 2:20 p.m., said authorities.

C. Monroe Garland, 66, of Odessa, was injured in the four-vehicle incident, said officials. He was reported in good condition early today in Medical Center Hospital here.

Authorities said a pickup driven by Garland and a pickup driven by Dunn collided in the westbound lane of FM2020 with a pickup driven by Steve L. Shandley of Odessa and a 1973 pickup driven by Victor C. Bodine of Monahans.

Shandley and Bodine were not injured, according to the investigating

Overall crime drops 3 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Crime in the United States dropped 3 percent overall last year although violent crime increased, the Justice Department says.

FBI statistics released by the department Tuesday show 10,935,800 reported offenses in 1977, down from 11,304,800 in 1976. Preliminary figures reported earlier by the FBI had put the decrease at 4 percent.

The overall drop has continued this year, dipping another 2 percent during the first six months of 1978, the agency said. The FBI statistics - based on local police reports - show property crimes falling 4 percent in 1977 but violent crimes increasing 2 percent. The biggest decreases were 6 percent for theft and 4 percent for robbery, while the largest increases were 11 percent for rape and 6 percent for aggravated assault.

Reported crimes have increased about 25 percent since 1973, including a 27 percent rise in property crimes and 15 percent in violent crimes, the

And in Lanett, Ala., a 13-year-old boy shot his junior high school principal in the jaw and the groin after the principal paddled the boy for disrupting a classroom, authorities said.

Larry Ward, 18, faces three charges of assault and a charge of flourishing a deadly weapon in the shooting incident at University City High School Tuesday, police said.

"I chased him down the hall but right before I leaped to tackle him he started shooting wildly into the crowd," said assistant principal Franklin McCallie, 38.

McCallie said the shootings occurred after he escorted Ward from school grounds because he was fighting with students. "We didn't expect him to grab a gun and come back, said McCallie. "You never expect Injured were Carl Triplett, 18, who was hospitalized in critical condition with chest wounds; and Angela Darden, 17, and Jennifer Pride, 16, who were hospitalized in satisfactory condition with gunshot wounds.

Police said the gun, believed to be a .38-caliber revolver, flew out of Ward's hands when he was grabbed by McCallie. Students then apparently made off with the gun, and police were searching for the weapon. Ward was held on $50,000 bail.

Juvenile charges were planned against the 13-year-old who shot Lanett Junior High School Principal Lewis Hoggs Tuesday, according to Lela Powell, chief juvenile probation officer for Chambers County. The boy's name was not released because of his age.

Hoggs was hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Police Chief W.F. Dorman said the seventh grader apparently got a .22caliber pistol from home after being paddled by Hoggs.

North Sea Projects pushed to completion

TULSA--More than 10,000 workers pushed 21 oil development projects toward completion in the North Sea during the April-through-September period of fair weather this year, the Oil & Gas Journal reports.

The massive effort was somewhat overshadowed by the British government's proposals to raise the petroleum revenue tax ans tighten offshore leasing regulations.

Many offshore operators tell the Journal the government's tough line on the tax and leasing procedures may mean the North Sea never again will se as intense a development effort as the one undertaken during this summer's "weather window."

A major push was in progress to keep on schedule the big onshore terminal at Sullon Vie in the Shetland Islands. Ther terminal will be the reception point for pipeline from Government goes too far, Edwards says

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Gov. Edwin Edwards says the federal government has gone too far in grasping for Louisiana's natural gas, but he's not sure a court fight would do any good.

"I believe, too, that the federal government has overstepped its bounds, but I also believe we are in a day when such an occurrence is an every day affair." he said.

Edwards and officials from other gas producing states are upset over the new Federal Energy Act - an act they argue will put federal controls on gas which until now has been under state control. State Attorney General William Guste said Tuesday that he expects Louisiana will file suit to block the act, whether acting alone or in conjunction with other states. Edwards, who has talked with Oklahoma Gov. David Boren about attacking the act, said he would have to study it before deciding on a course of action. He said, in a telephone interview, that the federal government continues to "unrealistically look to a few states for energy," but added that a court fight might not be the way to

He would not elaborate on other avenues were open to him but implied that negotiations with federal officials may be in order.

Guste said the act exceeds the federal government's authority to regulate interstate commerce as spelled out in the U.S. Constitution. "The Commerce Clause gives Congress the right to regulate commerce among the several states, but the gas that is brought under this regulation is wholly produced in Louisiana, wholly processed in Louisiana and wholly sold in Louisiana," he said. After talking with Edwards and with officials from Texas, Boren is-sued a statement saying he was ready to file suit to block the act and expected the other states to join him. Guste and Edwards said they planned to meet with officials from Texas and Oklahoma, probably on Thursday, to decide if Louisiana would join in that suit. "I can say this," Guste said. "Regardless of what come out of the meeting Thursday, our office will file suit on behalf of Louisiana."

But Edwards, who is Guste's boss. was not so sure. "I will make a decision after meeting with the attorney general and the others," he said. In announcing his state's intention to file suit, Boren said the act would mean higher utility bills for his constituents. He said it would "cost Oklahoma consumers an additional $5 billion in unility costs in a very short time" by increasing utility bills by 43 percent.

Carter gets at least part of plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Presidential press secretary Jody Powell says President Carter got at least part of what he wanted in most major bills passed by the Congress in its waning hours last weekend.

Powell came to Ohio Tuesday as a stand-in for House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., to campaign for James L. Baumann, Democratic candidate for Congress but spent a news conference answering questions about the recent Congress.

The energy package, he said, will be modified in the years ahead. "But the major step has been taken," he continued. "I see it (energy legislation) as perhaps the major thing."

Powell said he believes Carter will sign the tax bill, "but I can't say because he is studying it very close-

He said it is not just what the president wanted.

"The judgment the President will have to make is, on balance, is it better than no tax cut," Powell said. He said he "didn't like to brag ahead of the ball game," about chances of Democrats gaining more congressional seats next month but "I see a very successful off-year election for the Democratic party. I think we will do very well." Carter telephoned Ohio Republican Rep. Samuel Devine recently to ask help in fighting inflation but Powell said this did not constitute endorse-"I'm not aware of a president's call to members of Congress to ask them to do what's right was an endorsement for re-election," he said. He said Republican presidents had called on Democrats for help in past years. Carter, he said, feels the Humphrey-Hawkins full employment bill "is a responsible piece of legislation." "It allows the executive branch and the Congress flexibility to deal with the changing economic situation,' Powell said.

He said the administration will have to target its jobs program because while the general economy has improved there are pockets of unemployment, particularly among min-

"In addition, we are dealing with very serious inflationary pressures and the fact is the employment program is not inflationary," he said.

42-inch pipeline now open in storage area

HACKBERRY, La. (AP) — A new 42-inch pipeline has been opened as part of the government's $20 billion project to put a billion barrels of crude oil in underground storage cav-

A crew turned the valves at an oil terminal near Nederland, Texas, to send a water flush through the 42-inch underground pipeline extending 42 miles southeast to the Hackberry storage caverns.

The first crude oil was pumped in behind the water flush and began creeping, at less than one mile an hour, through the line. Testing will take two or three days.

If all goes well, oil will begin pouring into the Hackberry storage caverns on Friday. A month ago, Hackberry was the scene of a spectacular fire that killed one man and burned for several days after the pressurized oil blew out. Hackberry is the showpiece of four major Strategic Petroleum Reserve storage areas along the gulf coast in Louisiana and Texas. Caverns, some bigger than 10-story buildings, are scoured out deep inside huge underground salt domes. Oil does not dissolve salt, so the cavern forms a sort of giant storage bottle. When complete, the Department of

RUNNELS TRY

E. B. Fletcher of Dallas spotted a 3,900-foot wildcat in Runnels County, 1/2 mile southeast of Wingate.

It is No. 1 Grace Smith, 7,178 feet from northwest and 3,135 feet from southwest lines of L. Forsythe survey No. 450. It is in the depleted Sanford (Fry sand and Gardner) field. ECTOR EXPLORER

John H. Hendrix Corp. No. 1-41 J. L. Johnson is a Grayburg wildcat operation in the Donnelly (San Andres) field of Ector County.

A re-entry project, it originally was drilled by Forest Oil Corp. as No. 1 J. L. Johnson and plugged at 9,500 feet in Hendrix will cleanout to 4,350 feet for tests of the Grayburg. Location is 760 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 41, block 43, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Test, well announced

Mobil Oil Corp. No. 31 Louise Shackleford has been completed as a pumper in the Spraberry Trend Area of Midland County, 13 miles southeast of Midland, and Petro Explioation & Development Funds, Inc., has staked a Spraberry Trend Area project in Howard County. The new Midland well finaled for a dailypotential of 56 barrels of 41.1gravity oil and 97 barrels of water, through perforations from 8,476 to 8,946 feet after 6,000 gallons of acid. The gas-oil ratio is 1,268-1.

The total depth is 11,000 feet and the plugged back depth is 8,950 feet. Location is 3,960 feet from north and east lines of section 27, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

HOWARD TEST

Petro Exploration & Development Funds will drill No. 1 Flanagan five miles southeast of Big Spring in Howard County.

The Spraberry Trend area project will be dug to 6,500 feet, 990 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 24, block 32, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Energy project would provide a safety margin against another Arab oil boycott. Officials said it would offset a boycott for six to nine months.

The pipeline connection from tanker terminal to cavern marks a major change in the delivery system. Heretofore, crude oil from the Persian Gulf arrived at Nederland by tanker and was pumped into 30,000 barrel barges. Towboats shoved the barges along the canals to Hackberry, where they were emptied into the caverns.

So far, about 27 million barrels have been put in storage. A spokesman said plans call for 250 million barrels to be stored by the end of 1979, rising to 325 million by 1980

During testing, 4,500 barrels an hour were pumped into the new Hackberry line. It will take 360,000 barrels of oil simply to fill it up.

The mile-long water flush was herded through the line under 13,000 pounds of pressure between two mechanized cylindrical scrapers known as pigs. Progress was controlled and monitored by electronic sensors.

At full flow, it is estimated that the pipeline will fill Hackberry's present 51-million-barrel capacity by early spring. However, additional caverns will be created here to boost capacity to 160 million barrels

Warren well finals

Warren American Oil Co. of Midland announced completion of a new well in the Gin (Spraberry) field of Dawson County.

The well, five miles southwest of Lamesa, completed for a daily pumping potential of 27 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 33 barrels of water, through perforations from 8,202 to 8,217 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 3,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000

The gas-oil ratio is 600-1. The total depth is 8,400 feet and 4.5-inch casing is cemented at 8,350

The wellsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 29, block 36, T-5-N, T&P survey.

Scheme falls through

By JAY MATHEWS The Washington Post

HONG KONG - The scheme of a Soviet-owned bank to finance secretly a major development at China's back door has fallen through, producing investigations of other Russian activities here and igniting far-flung court battles.

Financial experts and diplomats still wonder whether the plan of the Moscow Narodny Bank to finance a 1,500-acre resort development on Lantau Island here was a premeditated effort to infiltrate Hong Kong and spy on China or just an unfortunate financial blunder

Moscow Narodny, backed by capital from a number of Soviet financial institutions, has ben headquartered in London since 1919, yet it did not become a force in Southeast Asia until it opened a branch office in Singapore in 1971. Businessmen and bank documents say the branch began to make a flurry of loans to land developers throughout the area, including financier Edward Wong Wing Cheung, who wished to turn a huge chunk of largely rural Lantau into a vaction spa.

Then in 1975 and 1976, the Soviet bank, in response to a sudden collapse in land values, foreclosed on many of its loans, forcing borrowers to surrender property that had been purchased. Businessmen and bankers said the bank eventually gained control of more than one million square feet of land in Singapore and a majority interest in the Lantau project.

Sources here close to the Chinese government, whose anti-Soviet policies are religiously observed by Hong Kong's British authorities, say the whole scheme was designed to give Soviet agents a unique vantage point near the mouth of China's Pearl River and subvert overseas Chinese businessmen for use later against the

Hostage to violence

The feverish Middle East continues to preempt the news and history of our time.

The outlook appears good for success in constructing a peace treaty out of the broad Camp David understandings recently reached by President Carter, President Sadat and Prime Minister Begin.

Reports from Cairo indicate President Sadat would like to sign the treaty at Mt. Sinai on or before Nov. 19, the first anniversary of his precedent-shattering peace pilgrimage to Jerusalem. President Carter already has accepted an invitation to be on hand.

Even with all the uncertainties attending Middle Eastern affairs, Egyptian optimism is believable and, therefore, a reasonable source of encouragement. This is so because it reflects a basic decision by President Sadat and his government which led originally to the Jerusalem visit and has been reaffirmed subsequently by the Camp David agreements; that was Egypt's determination not to submit the peace it so desperately needs to the veto of either Arab extremists or the Soviet Union.

The Egyptians and Israelis were spurred into bilateral negotiations last year by prospect of a Geneva conference, with full participation by the Russians and members of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, which was being supported by the Carter administration. Whatever President Sadat failed to accomplish originally on his trip to Jerusalem, he succeeded thereby in freezing out the Soviets and the PLO from the peace negotiations.

Recently in Cairo, President Sadat spelled out his Egypt-first policy in the strongest language he has yet used: "I shall never put the destiny of Egypt in the hands of those children, those murderers" (the Syrians and Palestinians), he said.

But the Middle East, fragmented by the Arab-Israeli struggle and opposing Arab factions is, nevertheless. strangely interlinked in such a way that any one element affects all of the others. The danger now, and perhaps the one thing which could derail an Egyptian-Israeli settlement, is the crisis in Lebanon.

Syria, for the moment at least, has pulled back from an all-out drive by its 35,000-man peacekeeping force to crush Christian irregulars - the last effective resistance to complete Syrian domination of Lebanon.

The Syrian bombardment of East Beirut has ceased under pressure from a strong United Nations resolution and the threat of Israeli intervention.

By diplomatic word and military deed, the Israelis have served notice that they will not abide Syria's conquest of Lebanon and the military threat this would pose along the once peaceful northern border.

A war between Syria and Israel over Lebanon could very well abort Egypt's peace treaty with

Thus, despite unusual optimism in Washington over the construction of a treaty which could end 30 years of bloodshed in the Sinai, peace in the Middle East is yet hostage to violence.

This uncertainty should make the world all the more grateful if President Carter, President Sadat and Prime Minister Begin are able to consummate a treaty as planned in November.

The eyes of the world most certainly will remain glued on the turbulent Middle East, which has known nothing but war for generations, despite the optimism which has spread far and wide in recent weeks. The prayers of the Christian world are for a lasting peace in the Mideast.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Press knows Burger's feeling

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON Among the dubious legacies left by Richard Nixon is the virulent almost pathological hatred he felt for the

The Nixon gang, of course, no longer rules the Executive Branch. But an heir to the former president's distaste for reporters is still solidly entrenched in a position of power. He is the man Nixon appointed to head the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Warren Burger.

In an earlier column, we detailed some of the astonishing - and disturbing - evidence of Burger's malevolence toward the press. In conversations with newsmen he openly gloated over the jailing, without trial, of a New York Times reporter in a First Amendment case that is expected to come before the high court. The atmosphere of mutual distrust and ill will that poisoned relations between the press and the White House during the Nixon years has now enveloped the marble majesty of the Supreme Court. The petty vindictiveness that Nixon visited upon members of the press who displeased him has surfaced again in Burger's treatment of reporters. Despite his frequent wailing that routine duties consume too much of his time, there is one small chore the chief justice is rarely too busy to oversee personally: the seating assignments for the press section of the courtroom. More than one reporter told us that after they had filed stories critical of the court, they found themselves assigned seats in the rear, where they could neither see nor hear.

Barrett McGurn, the court's press officer, is the Ron Ziegler of the Burger regime. Like Nixon's loyal press secretary, McGurn is a faithful reflection of his master's view that the press should be given only what Burger wants them to have, not what they ask for.

McGurn's technique, when confronted with a question he doesn't want to answer, is a form of Nixonian stonewall: Instead of refusing comment, he answers a different question, as if he hadn't understood the real one.

One reporter, thinking McGurn might not have heard him correctly, kept repeating his question. The press officer, like a telephone-answering tape recording, just kept repeating his irrelevant, unresponsive reply.

As another victim of McGurn's non sequiturs put it: "Your first impression is that they're putting you on. Your second impression is that they're insulting your intelligence."

Reporters also complain that when McGurn does deign to answer a question, the information is not always dependable. The physical health of the justices, most of them elderly men, is a matter of legitimate public concern. Yet according to the senior court correspondent, Lyle Denniston of the Washington Star, "I can't remember a single illness in the last three years where at least one fact was not given in a faulty man-

McGurn regularly underplays the seriousness of any injuries or sicknesses that befall the justices and exaggerates the bright side, according to Denniston. When reporters try to get the straight story from other sources, such as hospitals, they are referred back to McGurn.

One of Richard Nixon's first actions after taking office was to wiretap members of the press in an attempt to discover - and dry up - the sources of information leaks. McGurn is widely believed to be Chief Justice Burger's "human wiretap."

Although they offered us no proof, some reporters are convinced that McGurn spies on them for Burger. He listens to the reporters' conversations in the press room and whips off a memo to Burger whenever one of the newsmen makes a disparaging remark about a member of the court. The belief is so strong that newcomers are warned that whatever they say in McGurn's presence could be passed on to the chief justice.

McGurn did not deny that he has written such memos. He told us only that he would "not discuss the internal workings of the court.'

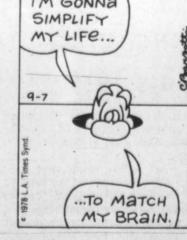

Any member of the Nixon staff who hobnobbed with the press was instantly suspect, so few took the risk. The same attitude seems to prevail in the Burger empire. Court employees are afraid to talk with reporters, or even to be seen near them.

One reporter recalled a court employee moving out of a line to avoid standing next to him. When the reporter asked why, the employee said, "Somebody got in real trouble the other day for sitting with (CBS correspondent) Fred Graham.

Footnote: In fairness, the chief justice has introduced several procedures to make it easier for reporters to interpret the court's decisions. It should be pointed out, however, that this was also a standard practice of President Nixon's press advisers. They went to great lengths to see that reporters' 'creature comforts' were taken care of while denying them the hard information they sought. Burger's defenders, however, insisted that he is a "dedicated" and "conscientious" jurist

The 'PLO' and 'Zionism' are misunderstood labels

WASHINGTON - Recently I heard two disparate groups - the Palestinian Liberation Organization and Zionists — characterized in terms that disturbed me, even more so because one of the descriptives was uttered by James Earl Carter Jr., 54, President of the United States. Mr. Carter, responding to a question, compared the PLO with the Ku Klux Klan, the Communist Party and Nazis, and remarked that, "It would be nice for us if they would just go away." But he defended the PLO's 'right to speak" in the U.S. About the same time, some visiting Arab journalists asked me about the

'powerful influence" of Zionists in the U.S., particularly, as they put it, "in the Zionist press. Since we're going to be living with

Palestinians and Zionists for a long time, it might be helpful to consider these simplistic labels. The term, PLO, causes most Americans to envisage bluebearded desperados wielding knives, guns and grenades, as they commit mayhem and massacre. It is true, that there are several fedayeen ("sacrificial martyrs") groups loosely connected to the umbrella organization called the Palestinian Liberation Organization, with Yassir Arafat the more-orless chairman.

These fedayeen organizations and other Palestinian groups have committed all manner of atrocities, killing people wantonly and brutally. Israel is the prime target, although other nations have suffered this vio-

But the PLO, while often beating its chest, is such a scattershot outfit that its single purpose cannot accurately be described as terrorism. The PLO makes loud noises about how it will one day establish an Arab-dominated state of Palestine, where Moslems, Jews and Christians will live side-byside in secular peace.

With a membership of 350 on its central and national councils, whose meetings are infrequent and chaotic, the PLO is indeed a melange which Arafat has small control over. And yet virtually all 3.2 million Palestinians in the world feel that the PLO represents them, and are happy that it has been given observer status at the United Nations. In a sense, the PLO is a vicarious state of mind. It operates a research center in Beirut, as a political section. A Red Crescent (like the Red Cross) maintains schools and orphanages, publishes clandestine newspapers and operates a radio station - all as though it were a legitimate state, which it isn't. Now, President Carter realizes it was unfortunate to liken the PLO to the Nazis and Ku Klux Klan, though the terroristic factions in the PLO are just as brutal as those monstrous political movements.

The Arab world deeply resented

Mr. Carter's characterization be-

Palestinians were killers. In truth, only a tiny percentage of Palestinians are active in either military or terrorist units. In terms of atrocities, it was much cause it gave the impression that all the same with Zionists 30 years ago when small numbers of them used terrorist tactics in the struggle to establish Israel. They were regarded as bad guys then - the Irgun ad Stern Gang — but today they are celebrated as "freedom fighters." The point is that all Palestinians are not terrorists, nor were all Zionists.

A Zionist, as I tried to explain to the Arab journalists, must roughly be regarded as a person who believes in the creation and existence of a Jewish state. In that sense, nearly all Americans, including me, are Zionists. One could even say that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is too, because he now recognizes Israel.

As I also told the Arab journalists, the charge that "Zionists" control the American press is specious. The quick target of this nonsense has been the Sulzberger and Ochs families of the New York Times, and Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington

But The Times and its owners always strongly opposed Zionism, and only accepted Israel after it was established. As for Mrs. Graham, her father, Eugene Meyer, was born Jewish but did nothing to sustain such affiliation. Her mother, Agnes Ernst, was Lutheran and married Meyer in a Lutheran ceremony. Meyer never allowed the Post to champion the Zionist cause, and today it finds many occasions to criticize Israel.

Beyond that, there are many Jewish Americans in the media, but virtually all practice the trade with no bias for Israel. Indeed, some catch unholy hell from the Jewish lobby for their work. No question that Jewish Americans use our political system as anyone can - to influence the Congress and the Excutive Branch on behalf of Israel. But that's fair game

For my money, it's unfortunate these terms, "PLO" and "Zionist," carry such emotional dynamite, and make it difficult for many to think clearly about the Middle East. The Israelis and the Palestinians are, ironically, much alike - intelligent, well-educated, earnest, and individualistic. What a combination they would be.

For a long time now, both have nurtured burning dreams about a homeland in Palestine, and that is the source of the continuing, tragic conflict which Camp David did not

Late 95th Congress had its highs, lows

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

WASHINGTON (AP) - Highs and lows of the two-year life of the 95th Congress in the history of the United States:

The unquestioned emotional peak was the night a joint session of Congress heard President Carter outline the Camp David accords while Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel and Hollings, D-N.C. President Anwar Sadat of Egypt sat in the gallery and then embraced as they left after the speech.

Also among the finer moments of the session were the numerous occasions Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., demonstrated he belongs in the top rank of Senate orators. The same applies to Sen. Ernest F.

Among the lows were the numerous occasions Congress did its imitation of a beached whale, unable to move except to thrash about in agony and frustration.

And there were many simply curious moments.

There was the April night in 1978 when Tongsun Park gave a party and nobody in Congress came. By then the South Korean businessman had lost much of his appeal on Capitol Hill. He had returned to Washington for questioning by a grand jury investigating his generosity to members of Congress.

There was the day during the Panama Canal treaty debate that Sen. Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., waited outside the Capitol for a White House car to take him to a meeting with President Carter. The car never showed up.

And who wants to remember Sept. 27, 1977, when Sens. James Abourezk, D-S.D., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, staged their allnight filibuster against the natural gas bill.

That was the night Hollings responded to a quorum call by entering the Senate chamber in a bright green and blue jogging suit. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., padded into the chamber in stocking feet and Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., wore slippers.

The sight of members of the House cheering as they watch totals flash on the screen of the electronic roll call system.

The time Abourezk objected to the Senate taking up the energy tax bill. Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd jumped to his feet and said, "I move we proceed to consideration of the bill." He called for a roll call on his motion. The first name called was Abourezk. He voted in favor of Byrd's motion. They looked at each Byrd burst out laughing.

The vote that was lost for lack of the vice president. During the final days of the session, the Senate took up the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. To the surprise of the strongest supporters of the measure, one of their amendments lost on a 43-43 tie vote. Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who could have broken the tie, was out of town. "We didn't expect any ties," a labor lobbyist said later. On the final day of the session, Abourezk named Dick Tuck, the political prankster, an intern on his staff. Tuck earned his place in political legend by harassing Richard Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign. At the start of the final day's session, Abourezk, who is retiring from the Senate, routinely obtained permission for an aide to be on the Senate floor. The next thing anyone knew, Tuck was ensconced in a seat next to the senator. It may have been Abourezk's way of waving farewell to the institution he often found too stuffy, to exit laughing.

Defensive Bath Coup can defeat contract

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When the opening lead is the king of a suit, declarer may craftily play low from A-J-x or A-J-x-x. If the suit is continued, the jack wins the trick. This type of play, called the Bath Coup, is equally helpful to a defender.

South takes the first heart and tries the trump finesse, losing to the king. East returns the nine of diamonds. In this situation East would return a low diamond only with such a holding as three or more diamonds headed by the jack or better. East returns the nine rather than the deuce of diamonds to make it clear that he cannot support a return lead.

South puts up the king of diamonds, and West must refuse to win the trick. This is a defensive Bath Coup.

Declarer draws trumps and loses the clubs finesse. East returns another diamond, and now West defeats the contract by taking the ace and jack of diamonds.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT South would make the contract if West took the first diamond. West would have to return a different suit since a diamond return would give South a trick with the ten. East would later win a trick with the king of clubs and would return a diamond. But South would take the queen of diamonds, draw trumps and run the clubs to discard the losing dia-

People often come to Scott and White on referral from areas where specialists are unavailable. A patient coming to the clinic for tests and diagnosis normally would first see an internist.

After examination, the internist calls in whatever specialists are needed. A patient could see seven or eight doctors in a three-day period. If surgery is needed, the hospital is just down the corridor from CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Like many residents, Bob Wise Jr. thinks the state's big land and mineral companies should begin paying a little more for the privilege of owning a chunk of "wild, wonderful West Virginia.

But unlike most West Virginians, the dark-haired bachelor attorney does more than just think about the problem. He also spends quite a few of his waking hours trying to increase the taxes on property and minerals held by these corporate giants. 'While Proposition 13 in California was a reducion of personal property taxes," Wise says, "West Virginia's version must be an increase in corporate property taxes." And it's not that Wise simply is motivated by a perverse desire to pester these big companies. No, indeed. As the director of West Virginians for Fair and Equitable Assessment of Taxes, Inc., he says corporate tax reform is the key that will open the door to better schools and services for state resi-

"To illustrate what I mean," he said, "just look at our coal counties. They are the richest in terms of mineral properties and the poorest in terms of services for people.

state aid to education has been steadily increasing over the years because the counties haven't had the funds to meet their educational needs. "In short," he said, "this means that we all are being called upon to subsidize the counties, to supply the money that should be coming from the corporations that have huge land and mineral holdings in

'Now, consider that 70 per cent of the property tax dollar in our counties goes to the schools and that

Wise said he decided to wage the tax fight about two years ago, while working as a legal aide in Mingo County, trying to help people find land and housing after a flood. "We found out that the Cotiga land company, which owns 39,000 acres in the county, was paying taxes of about 52 cents an acre on this land because it was undervalued.

"The assessor had valued the land at between $18 to $20 an acre and this was particularly outrageous because when the state tried to buy some of this land, Cotiga wanted $4,500 an acre," Wise said. A short time later, plans were laid for formation of the citizen's action group to change the state's corporate property tax structure.

"Our first priority," he said, "is to organize groups in each county. The members are supposed to contact their assessors and county commissioners and demand a full and fair valuation on corporate

Brussels Belgium, September 29, 1978: The first American ham to win an international gold medal for excellence.

The Gooch Golden Award Ham.

Now an American ham has earned worldwide acclaim.

European hams have been favored by chefs — until now.

For centuries, fine hams have been a tradition in the Old World. Connoisseurs, gourmets and great chefs have ranked European hams as the best in the world.

But now an American-made boneless ham challenges that ages-old reputation. Now the Gooch Golden Award Ham has won the coveted Monde Selection Gold Medal to earn international acclaim and start an American tradition.

Made the Old World Way for Old World Flavor.

Everything that is best in European hams goes into the Gooch Golden Award Ham to give you an Old World flavor that compares with the finest hams you can buy.

Only the choicest, leanest, most tender parts of select hams are chosen. The ham is carefully boned and excess fat and gristle removed.

Massaged for extra tenderness.

After the choicest portions of the ham have been delicately seasoned and cured, the meat is gently kneaded and massaged for 16 hours before it is cooked.

This tenderizes the ham even more and holds in the natural protein. The result is a delicious, protein-rich, supremely tender precooked boneless ham. It's very lean, with a sweet, hint-of-smoke taste everyone in your family will really enjoy.

And now the price. Prepare for a surprise.

The Gooch Golden Award Ham costs only pennies more than ordinary hams which are not as lean and tender. So why settle for less? Get the gold — the Gooch Golden Award Ham.

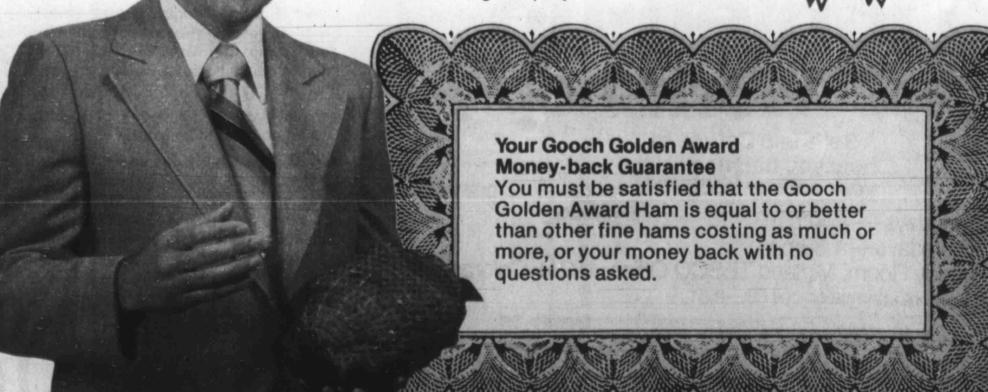

"We want you to try the Gooch Golden Award Ham. We're so sure it will be the best you've ever tasted, we guarantee your money back with no questions asked if you aren't satisfied."

Robert Gooch, President

STOCKS 65 Stocks loses

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market slumped again today, resuming the sharp drop of the past two days amid speculation that the Federal Reserve might be tightening credit further.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had fallen 30.75 points Monday and Tuesday, was off another 7.89 at 858.45 by noontime today.

Losers outnumbered gainers by better than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Analysts said the sharp drop in the prices of many issues since the start of the week had attracted some cautious buying at the outset. But the effort at a rally drew little support. And as the morning passed Fedwatchers began to conclude that the central bank might have decided to encourage interest rates to rise a bit further.

The Fed's policy-setting Open Market Committee its monthly meeting held Tuesday.

The committee doesn't make the minutes of these meetings public until several weeks after they take place, but analysts watching the trend of activity in the money markets today said there was a good chance the Fed had raised its interestrate targets another notch or two.

Archer-Daniels-Midland led the active list, off 1/8 at 161/2. A 133,400-share block traded at that price.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .38 to 56.51, and the American Stock Exchange market value index lost .38 to 161.90.

Volume on the Big Board totalled 13.89 million shares as of noontime, against 16.98 million Wednesday.

Stock New attitudes market mark thinking on investment

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - A couple of rather new investment attitudes have been circulating among the pros in recent weeks, and perhaps it might pay to The first is that sooner or later, and maybe not too much later, it is the stock market's turn to inflate. Everything else has risen in price, the theory goes, so why not stocks? The second falls into the category of contrary thinking. If everyone is talking up housing as an investment, the assumption goes, then you should be wary of housing as an investment. Neither attitude is based in science. Indeed, the pros can be as wrong as amateurs, and even more so.

The fire

But since they are iistened to, if only because they shout the loudest, you might as well hear the First, the stock market. While prices of food, real estate, art, collectibles, gold and most everything else have soared in the past decade, the Dow Jones industrial average remains stuck. Eventually, it is said, this situation will correct itself as investors recognize that the industrial superstructure of America is available at bargain basement prices.

This viewpoint assumes the bargains will be recognized, not just by institutions, but by millions of liquid individual investors who for several years have been reluctant to have anything to do with stocks.

Adding more thrust, according to this approach to the market, is a growing distrust of currencies, not just dollars, by wealthy foreigners who already have lost too much by holding paper.

Foreigners have been active in the U.S. real estate market over the past few years, buying not only commercial real estate but private residences, too. In doing so, they have forced up prices wildly.

In search of better buys elsewhere, it is said, they will discover that in relation to earnings, some of the world's finest companies are selling for only half what they might have sold for by 1965 standards.

In the market, it is said, investors can benefit doubly: By the eventual recovery of the dollar and by the recovery of the market itself.

To a degree, the assumptions made in theory No. 1 overlap those in No. 2. Because of its annual 10 percent to 12 percent appreciation in the past five years or so, residential real estate is believed to have drawn considerable money that otherwise might have gone into stocks. Some stock market analysts now say the appreciation in housing is approaching a temporary peak, with buyers rebeling against asking prices that have doubled in six years or less. In many instances, it is said, the buyer is in a position to resist because, already owning two or three houses, he is not forced to buy to put a roof over his head. His interest in housing is as an investor.

If the anticipated return is not good, the analysts argue, the residential real estate prospector will not put up his money; he will search elsewhere for an investment and let the house rot on its lot.

There are those, however, who claim stock market people are poor real estate analysts, that while they might know what is going on in Wall Street, they have no understanding of what is happening on Main.

Among other things, these critics say that demographics, lifestyles, geographic mobility, and control and security of investment provide an unsinkable concrete base beneath the real estate market.

Maybe so, but perhaps it does not even matter that much. In order to be right, professional analysts need not produce the most penetrating and correct reasons for their assumptions.

Longshot lovers bet on Czarists

By FLOYD NORRIS

NEW YORK (AP) Looking for a longshot investment? How about betting on the Czars staging a comeback in Russia? Some investors seem to be doing just that by purchasing Imperial Russian bonds - issued in dollars when the Czars ruled Russia and repudiated after the Bolshevik Revolution. The bonds, like those from Cuba and what now is East Germany, are unlikely to pay off anytime soon. But that was what they said about bonds from other Eastern European countries. Those nations since have repaid investors partially for their securities. Before those settlements, "the bonds could be had for as little as 2 to 5 cents on the dollar. Ultimately these bonds were worth 30 to 40 cents on the dollar," said Jack Golden, a vice president at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis. The Russian bonds, in two issues totaling $75 million, were issued in 1916 - a year before Imperial Russia ceased to exist. The Soviet government has never shown any inclination to make good on the bonds, but that hasn't stopped the specu-"After the war (World War II), people had the idea maybe Russia was going to make good because we helped them during the war," said Stanley Roggenburg, the president of Deltec Securities. Prices rose to as high as 22 cents on the dollar. Prices fell with the Cold War. But indications of friendlier relations in the mid-1960s sent prices as high as a dime on the dollar.

"There are all sorts of psychologies involved,' said Golden, adding, "I personally don't think the chances (of the Russians offering a settlement) are even remote.

"We're hopeful, but we're hopeful to the extent that hope springs eternal," said Daniel Collier, a vice president of Carl Marks and Co., a firm that has long had substantial holdings of many defaulted bonds, including the Russian Pressure by the American government appears to have played at least some role in persuading such Eastern European countries as Hungary, Poland, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria to settle on bonds issued by predecessor governments between the two world wars. But there is little indication that, with all the issues pending between the U.S. and the Soviets. the United States has much concern about speculators in Czarist bonds. Some people see hope in the Foreign Sovereignties Immunities Act of 1976. By some interpretations, that law would allow the holder of some Czarist bonds to sue the Russians in U.S. court and seize a Russian asset, say a cargo of grain, as security. But the law has never been tested.

Although Korchnoi gets $200,000 as runnerup, his chief aide, British grandmaster Raymond Keene, said the defeated challenger would file a protest with the International Chess Federation against "the intolerable conditions which Viktor has been subjected during the match.'

"Right before Thanksgiving, Susan said to me, 'Brian (McCartney) and I would like to get married, but before we do that, I'd like to go live in Vail and find out if it's really what I want," Mrs. Ford writes in excerpts of her upcoming autobiography that appear in the upcoming issue of Ladies Home Journal.

NEW YORK (AP) - The U.S. government was secretly assured that the marriage of Christina Onassis to a Soviet citizen would not endanger American interests, according to a magazine article.

"The U.S. government was worried because Onassis' companies frequently carry out (U.S) government contracts, and four of the Onassis ships are registered in the United States,' according to the article, which appears in the latest issue of McCall's magazine.

The article quotes Constantine Gratsos, who was the closest friend of Aristotle Onassis and is chief of Onassis operations in the United States.

According to the magazine, Gratsos secretly traveled to Washington just before Miss Onassis' marriage to Sergei Kauzov. Gratsos also flew to Russia, where he received assurances from officials that Ms. Onassis would be able to move in and out of the country freely.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) -Ronald Reagan has made a decision on a presidential candidacy in 1980, but he isn't saying what that decision is, according to a published report.

Group plotting moves to obtain N-report

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Legal moves were being plotted today in an attempt by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to obtain a copy of a closely-guarded General Electric in-house report on the company's nuclear technology.

Tuesday, spokesmen for GE said the company could not comply with a commission order that would have made the 1,000-page Reed Report available to opponents of Public Service Co. of Oklahoma's Black Fox nuclear plant.

The commission's Atomic Safety and Licensing Board is conducting hearings here this week on Public Service's request for final approval to construct the $2 billion plant, which will use two GE boiling water reactors.

Citizens Action for Safe Energy, a group of Black Fox opponents, has requested the Reed Report for examination by its attorneys and expert witnesses. The in-house report reportedly deals with 27 safe-

"The inspection will not be a detriment to GE's competitive position because inspection will be conducted under the aegis of a protective order," the Tuesday that GE provide the Reed Report to the board order said.

Wolfe said intervenors would further be forewarned that they could not broaden issues nor propose new contentions "absent, the strong, com-pelling showing to the board's satisfaction that the Reed Report has revealed pressing, critical safety issues that are relevant to Black Fox Station."

But cemetery officials' hoped that the area would yield no graves and thus could be used for new projects ran counter to a legend that about 10,000 paupers had been laid to rest in unmarked graves.

"We were hoping nobody had ever been buried in that area," said Jim Whitnel, an assistant sexton at Oakland Cemetery. If the field were clear, the cemetery could sell new plots or build a columbarium - a sort of high-rise mausoleum - to finance restoration and preservation of its old tombs.

A group of friends of the municipal graveyard, Historic Oakland Cemetery Inc., hired two Georgia State University anthropologists - Roy S. Dickens Jr., 40, an archaeologist, and Robert L. Blakely, 33, a specialist in physical anthropology.

To get started, the professors borrowed a road grader from the city and shaved a layer of soil from north-south and east-west strips laid out in a grid on the 10-acre tract.

"We had the motor grader then carefully strip a couple of inches at a time until he reached subsoil, Dickens said. A tight pattern of deep red rectangles emerged, as the original sandy clay subsoil contrasted with red clay brought up when the graves

"We were overwhelmed to find them laid out like this." Dickens said. "We were expecting to find nothing, or scattered graves."

Analysis of the sample strips placed the total of gravesites at 10,000 to 11,000. They chose to excavate 13 graves, choosing a mixture of large and small rectangles spread around the field. Children were buried in the small graves.

They tried to salvage the Nunn amendment with a fallback proposal that would have retained the tax cut and spending restraints, but empowered the president to cancel any year's tax reduction by declaring on the previous Nov. 1 that economic conditions were not right for it.

That didn't go anywhere, either. It didn't take much political savvy to see that the GOP proposal would have given a Democratic president the task of deciding just before election time whether to cancel an income tax

Indochina monsoon flood victims face starvation

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Destructive monsoon floods and rains across the Indochina peninsula have left thousands facing starvation and millions more in need of emergency

The floods also have destroyed vast quantities of the vital rice crop and stalled postwar reconstruction in an area scarred by generations of bat-

The loss of life, by official count, has been relatively small over the three months of monsoons - 74 in Vietnam, about 40 in Thailand and more than 30 in Laos. Cambodia, under the control of the tight-lipped Khmer Rhouge, hasn't reported ca-

The unusually severe rains and the high waters of the mighty Mekong River - which drains all four countries — have innundated more than one million acres of rice fields in 28 of Thailand's 73 provinces and destroyed 550,000 homes, according to Thailand's interior ministry.

ernment report on the flooding says half a million Laotians are threatened with starvation.

Even Cambodia, which rarely reports on anything resembling problems within its borders, said its rice crop had been "greatly impaired" by the flooding.

The monsoon rains, floods and typhoons have also cut a swath of destruction in the Philippines, Hong Kong, India and other parts of Asia over the past three months.

Thailand government officials said the flooding has been the worst in memory. The Voice of Vietnam has reported that virtually the entire tions officials said that only four times in this century had the Mekong River risen to this year's height in southern Laos.

With the waters due to recede late this month, some countries have begun to tally their emergency needs.

Laos, one of the world's poorest nations, needed 113,000 tons of imported food grains last year to make up a food deficit stemming primarily from a devastating drought. This year's flood-created shortage has been calculated at more than 120,000 tons. According to United Nations officials, some international aid is al-

Vietnam, heavily hit by a series of natural disasters last year, will also have to hunt for large doses of aid. Annual grain shortages in Vietnam over the past few years have amounted to between one million and two million tons and official statistics reported by the Vietnam News agency and the Voice of Vietnam indicate that the deficit this year will be a record one.

The Vietnamese government has said that 4.8 million people - or nearly 10 percent of the population were in need of "emergency relief." Tuesday, the government announced had been launched to curb hunger.

tions officials in Bangkok said that the damage has hampered Vietnam's efforts at postwar reconstruction. Their rebuilding efforts had been slowed by a border war with Cambodia and troubles with China, which cut off all aid to its former ally earlier this year. Thailand, a fast-developing country with a solid economy, will probably not need large-scale international assistance.

But government officials said any major setbacks to agriculture will certainly have considerable impact on the entire economy. Thailand is one of the world's largest rice export-

For instance, when he gets a complaint concerning a dog who "does his business in the corner every night while the family is sleeping," he finds that the problem can probably be traced to feeding habits.

Schutte recommends delaying feeding until shortly before bedtime. He advises taking a dog for a short morning walk before the morning feeding and then letting the pet outside again about 15 minutes later. Schutte said he became interested in dog training about 40 years ago when he began having problems with a Boston terrier named Buggs.
